

TABLE TANGLE
Peace Talks Hope Voiced By Diplomats

PARIS (AP) — Rival Vietnamese clashed over their latest peace conference table shape plans Saturday while U.S. envoys voiced guarded hope for an accord in time to start the sessions before Christmas.
The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front announced another move in the preconference prestige battle: the arrival Monday of Tran Buu Kiem, ranked as "foreign minister," to head its delegation.

Kiam's arrival will give the Communists an opportunity to stage an airport rally rivaling that for Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky's team when it flew in from South Vietnam last Sunday.

By late Friday, North Vietnamese and U.S. negotiators, who a fortnight ago began with competing designs for square and rectangular tables, had geometrically narrowed their differences to the point where both were offering versions of round tables.

A South Vietnamese spokesman made plain Saturday, however, that Hanoi's latest plan—for an undivided round table—was not to the liking of the Saigon delegation.

"The round table is not acceptable to us because we have come here understanding that it was to be a conference of two sides," the spokesman said. "Therefore the seating arrangement must reflect the character of the meeting, which is a meeting of two sides."

Divided-Doughnut
A North Vietnamese diplomat in turn rebuffed as "unacceptable" the latest U.S. compromise offering—a doughnut-shaped table divided in half by two projecting secretarial tables.

The Hanoi delegate offered virtually the same argument in reverse: The divided-doughnut scheme only reflects the allies' claim that the conference is two-sided, he said, whereas the Communists regard the meeting as four-sided.

The delegates are taking the symbols quarrel seriously because it reflects the real issue of the war—who is to control South Vietnam.

The Communists say the conference must be four-sided with equal status for the front, they say, the front—not the Saigon regime—is the true representative of the South Vietnamese people.

Nevertheless, U.S. delegation sources voiced guarded optimism for a break in the deadlock that would permit an opening of the conference within the next two weeks.

The U.S. optimism over compromise possibilities was tempered, however, by the record of past slips in the timetable for the four-way conference originally scheduled to open Nov. 6 under President Johnson's bomb-halt package.

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

Big Spring had another murder mystery on its hands with the shooting of A. D. Blount, pet shop operator, by an intruder Monday night. Officers had a little more to go on this time, for Gary Blount, son of the slain man, got a glimpse of the killer as he pulled a gun after forcing his way into the Blount apartment. The sheriff's office reported finding a .45 automatic pistol, thought to be the murder weapon, and then traced it to its last point of sale. The unravelling pointed to some prime suspects.

Violence in the flats section of northwest Big Spring doesn't seem to be losing any steam. Pablo Viera, 17, was shot three times in the leg, and Clarence Prospero Yanez faced assault charges.

Mayor Arnold Marshall (who, incidentally, escaped with a few broken ribs in a traffic crash) convoked club leaders for a parley on what can be done to take more recognition of returning servicemen. Several ideas were advanced, including a suggestion to help these young men find jobs. If there is any doubt about the continuing sacrifice these men make, consider word that Mike Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pope, was shot through (See THE WEEK, Page 9-A, Col. 1)

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and William Rogers, picked to take over the job in the Nixon administration, share a laugh during a break in a meeting at the State Department Saturday.

Flu Spreading At Fever Pitch

The Hong Kong flu has spent itself in Hong Kong but it continued Saturday spreading at fever pitch across the United States—and the worst is yet to come.

Hospitals in New York City and Indianapolis asked the public to curtail visits to protect their patients. Postal authorities in widely spread areas began warning the flu may take its toll on Christmas deliveries.

The Greater New York Hospital Association tagged the wave of illnesses in New York City an epidemic. But a spokesman at the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., said: "It appears that we're at the beginning of a national epidemic, not at the peak of it."

That should come in early and mid-January, doctors from various spots around the country agreed.

By then, metropolitan areas hope to have supplies of a vaccine developed especially to combat A2-Hong Kong-68 influenza. Washington, D.C., already has used up 20,000 shots of the new vaccine.

New York City expects a supply of 50,000 shots on Wednesday. It will be distributed only to nursing homes, homes for the aged, chronic disease hospitals and chest and cardiac clinics.

In Hong Kong—where it did not all start, according to Hong Kong officials anyway—doctors said Saturday the virus local newspapers call the "killer flu" had run its course after killing 32 persons and contributing to at least 100 other deaths.

So far, 30 states have reported outbreaks of flu and respiratory diseases and the National Communicable Disease Center said A2-Hong Kong-68 had been confirmed in 14 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. North Dakota and Iowa health officials added their states to that list Saturday.

Some colleges and schools in rest and to handle any problems that might crop up.

Astronauts Told Ship Ready To Go

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With a week to go before blastoff on the greatest space adventure yet—a Christmas Eve orbit around the moon—the Apollo 8 astronauts were told Saturday the space ship is ready to go.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders started the day with a medical briefing and then climbed into a spacecraft simulator for several hours to rehearse critical phases of the ambitious mission.

'READY ROOM'
Rounding out the schedule, they huddled with project officials to review the readiness of all systems in the Apollo 8 ship. All received the green light.

The astronauts planned to relax in their "ready room" quarters here Sunday.

Meanwhile, the launch team prepared to start the lengthy Apollo 8 countdown Sunday night, aiming for a liftoff of the Saturn 5 booster rocket at 7:51 a.m. EST, next Saturday on what the astronauts call the riskiest space flight yet.

The so-called pre-countdown is to begin at 7 p.m. Sunday when the clock will read 103 hours. Launch Director Rocco A. Petrone has scheduled eight "holds" in the count, some of long duration, for launch crew

Crackdown Is Ignored By Brazilians

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil took its new political crisis calmly Saturday. People flocked to beaches and soccer fields in balmy weather as the military-backed government of President Arthur da Costa e Silva pursued a crackdown on opposition elements.

The Congress of Latin America's largest nation quietly began its second involuntary recession by government decree in little more than two years.

Freeze Hits North Texas

Temperatures plunged into the 30s in Texas' Red River Valley by dusk Saturday and residents in the state's northern half braced for a hard, overnight freeze.

A high pressure ridge, extending from the Northern Plains to the Gulf of Mexico, kept a steady flow of dry, icy air into the state. No change was seen through the weekend.

Only thin, high clouds marred the blue sky, and those were evident only in western and northern sections of the state.

Late forecasts called for temperatures as low as 24 degrees in North Central Texas and Northeast Texas, 18 in Northwest Texas, 26 in South Central Texas, 28 in Southeast Texas and 25 in Southwest Texas except down as low as 22 in Southwest Texas west of the Pecos River.

The overnight freeze line, which dropped to a Lufkin-San Antonio line Saturday morning, thus could cover nearly all the state.

A slight warming trend started Saturday in the Panhandle with maximum temperatures: Amarillo and Dalhart—often the state's coldest spots—higher than those in the central sections of the state.

WINTER OFFENSIVE Fears Net Curfew

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command imposed a night time curfew on American servicemen in Saigon Saturday following warnings that the enemy was preparing to launch a winter offensive.

The curfew bars U.S. troops from Saigon streets between 7 p.m. and 6 a.m., a command spokesman said. It will remain in force for the 25,000 American troops in the capital through Monday morning.

CLUBS SEALED
U.S. military billets and clubs were sealed up at 7 p.m. Visitors were advised to return to their own quarters immediately.

Despite the curfew, the alert status remain on "condition white" for most U.S. troops. This is a low-grade alert and indicated the command did not believe an attack was imminent.

One U.S. source said the curfew was ordered "to keep harmony with and show our support of the Vietnamese government."

There was no change, however, in the midnight to 6 a.m. curfew for Vietnamese and foreign civilians.

ALL-OUT ALERT
Vietnamese military staffs and police in Saigon have been on 100 per cent alert for several days in response to reports that the Viet Cong was making major efforts to infiltrate terrorists and political agents into the capital.

The U.S. Command earlier Saturday ordered to priority for high altitude B52 bombing strikes along the invasion routes leading toward Saigon in response to reports that North Vietnamese troops are massing to the north for a possible strike south against the capital.

The Stratofortresses mounted 19 new missions Friday night and Saturday morning, dumping 1,800 tons of bombs on suspected enemy positions along the Saigon invasion corridors north and northwest of the capital.

Almost 5,000 tons of explosives have been showered on these enemy positions since Wednesday in the largest B52 operation since the middle of October.

KIDNAPING
In the only significant ground action reported Saturday by the U.S. Command, soldiers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division killed 22 Viet Cong in a seven-hour battle Friday 30 miles northwest of Saigon. American losses were six killed and 14 wounded.

Saigon police, who have arrested nearly 350 suspected Viet Cong agents in Saigon in the past month, said Saturday captured enemy documents called for the establishment of "armed, financial cells" in Saigon.

Police said the cell leaders have been told they must help finance the guerrilla movement by robbing banks, robbing individuals, kidnaping wealthy persons for ransom, collective taxes from local and foreign firms, and selling "liberation bonds" that would be paid back when peace is restored.

Israeli Hero, Nixon Discuss Middle East

NEW YORK (AP) — Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan agreed Saturday with William W. Scranton's appeal for a stronger U.S. role in the Arab world if only to blunt Soviet influence in the Middle East.

The famed Israeli warrior, cornered by newsmen in a Hotel Pierre corridor after he met with President-elect Nixon, said:

"I personally would have liked to see more U.S. influence in Arab countries." But he added: "You don't have to pay in Israeli coin."

'Death' Gun Tests Prove 'Favorable'

Ballistic tests made Friday on a gun which was thought to be used in the slaying of A. D. Blount here last Monday were reported "favorable" by Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Standard took the weapon, a .45 caliber automatic, to the Texas Department of Public Safety laboratory in Austin Friday and spent the day with ballistic experts who tested the gun.

"Preliminary ballistics investigation proved favorable," Standard said. "We should have definite results by Monday. The gun is still in Austin where experts are doing more thorough testing."

GUN FUND
Blount, 40, who had operated a pet shop business here the past five years, was shot to death about 10:45 p.m. Monday in the hallway of his apartment in the rear of the Pet-A-Zoo, one mile south of Big Spring on US 87.

Since the shooting Howard County deputies have obtained an artist's conception of the gunman through a description given by Blount's 16-year-old son, Gary, who saw the assailant before the shooting. A bullet was recovered at the scene, and a gun was found within a mile of the zoo by Standard early Wednesday morning.

Standard said Saturday that several leads are still being checked which may indicate that a hired gunman performed the killing. Deputies are checking with police officers in four out-of-state locations.

ARREST LOOMS
"If the investigation continues as favorably as it has, direct action towards an arrest could be made by the first or middle of this week," Standard said.

The sheriff has theorized from the beginning that someone hired a gunman to kill Blount. Blount received several threats upon his life since before last April from the same person.

Blount had reported the threats to the city police, and had said that the person who threatened him said he would kill Blount or hire someone to do it.

Sensible Gift For Hairy Set
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Hair nets would make splendid Christmas gifts for hippies who drive, a highway safety expert says.

"The appropriateness of such a gift is obvious," said T. E. Pickard Jr., executive vice president of the North Carolina Motor Club.

"The mop tops are a highway safety hazard because they obscure their own vision. In addition other drivers may be scared out of their wits when they see an automobile charging upon them driven by a ball of fuzz."

CAN YOU HELP? Cheer Fund Grows

The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND has enjoyed one of its best days, with organizations and individuals responding to this appeal to help needy children at Christmas time.

One gift was from Col. and Mrs. Charles H. Pierce, now at Randolph AFB, San Antonio and who were at Webb AFB in the early '60's. Regardless of where they have been stationed, they have never forgotten the CHEER FUND, making a gift in memory of their son Bob, who attended high school here and who later was killed in an auto mishap.

Many other people have been generous, too. If, on this Sabbath Day before Christmas you are counting your own blessings, perhaps you would like to have a part in helping the less fortunate. The CHEER FUND money—with not a cent for overhead—helps repair toys (work done voluntarily by city firemen) for poor children. Any surplus is used during the year to provide food or medicine when there is an emergency.

Make your check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and send it to The Herald for acknowledgment.

Webb Graduates 52; Year's Total Hits 424

Fifty-two officers received their silver wings and certificates of aeronautical rating in graduation ceremonies for pilot training class 69-D in Withycombe Hall at Webb AFB, Saturday morning.

The class was originally scheduled to graduate on the base's flightline. But a forecast of cold weather earlier in the week forced the exercise indoors.

The graduating pilots, who marked the end of 53 weeks of jet training at Webb, included 49 Air Force officers. There were two Marine officers and one Iranian Aviation Cadet in the class.

It was the eighth and final UPT graduation at Webb this year, bringing the base's 1968 total pilot production to 424.

At the dining-in Friday evening, class members and guests heard an address by Col. Harry C. Aderholt, deputy chief of staff for Operations, Headquarters USAF Special Operations Force, Elgin AFB, Fla. The colonel has 18 years experience in the special and unconventional warfare operations area. He is a command pilot who holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and Legion of Merit among other military decorations.

Also during the dining-in, awards were made to trophy winners and distinguished graduates of 69-D. Second Lt. Edward J. Sizemore Jr., took the lion's share of honors as he was named the recipient of the Air Training Command Commander's trophy, the Leadership Award, and was selected one of the five outstanding graduates.

First Lt. Willis A. Small received the Academic Award while Marine 1st Lt. Graham E. Tharp was presented the Flying Award. The pair were also selected as honor graduates. Two other officers named as honor graduates were Capt. Robert L. Tidwell and 2nd Lt. Peyton T. Carr IV.

The class will now leave the

base for their first official flying assignment. The Tactical Air Command and the Pacific Air Forces led the assignments list for 69-D, receiving 17 and 15 of the new pilots respectively.

Seven graduates received Military Airfield Command assignments, while six will serve with the Air Defense Command. The Marine officers will return to duty with the Corps, and the foreign student will return to his native land.

The members of the class, their major command assignments, aircraft, and bases follow: Captains Richard J. Conell, TAC, F-105 Super Sabre, Cannon AFB, N.M.; and Robert L. Tidwell, TAC, F-4C Phantom II, George AFB, Calif.

Judge Says Misconduct No Reason To Expell

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Misconduct as the only criterion for discipline is no longer adequate for permanent dismissal of a demonstrator from school, U.S. District Judge James E. Doyle ruled Friday.

The judge, noting "courts have been increasingly disposed to intervene in school disciplinary situations," said a University of Wisconsin regulation under which two students were expelled is unconstitutional.

The university, he declared, formerly having "wide latitude in student discipline," cannot use "misconduct" as the sole factor for determining whether a student should be expelled.

Percy Julian of Madison, an attorney for members of the Students for a Democratic Society, called Doyle's ruling a "landmark decision" in university-student relations because it makes certain universities cannot violate due process of law.

Doyle, however, declined to issue an injunction against use of the misconduct rule although he had declared it unconstitutional.

Robert S. Cohen of Levittown, Pa., and William S. Simons of Larchmont, N.Y., were two of the 10 students originally requesting the injunction.

Both had been expelled after about 70 students and policemen were injured in an antiwar demonstration at the university in October, 1967.

The university had said both were guilty of "misconduct" under a code which says students cannot "disrupt the operations of the university."

Farm Union Wants Corporate Farming Banned

AUSTIN — The Texas Farmers Union is asking that a bill be introduced in the state legislature to outlaw conglomerate corporation farming in Texas, and seeks top executive legislative support.

This was the first item on the statewide farm organization's "target program" adopted at its 65th annual convention last week here.

"We urge members of the Texas congressional delegation to support legislation proposed to close tax loopholes in the Internal Revenue statutes that permit hobby farmers and ranchers and corporations to write off losses sustained in their agricultural ventures against non-farm profits," said Jay Naman, Waco, TFU president.

TFU also backed the Mondale bill for establishment of a national commodity bargaining system; the export wheat certificate program; earmarking grains, peanut and cotton reserves for emergency release only; urge producers to plant only their domestic allotment of cotton for 1969; a 25 per cent advance production payment for cotton entitlement.

Among representatives at the convention were President and Mrs. Gary Seidenberger, and daughter, Linda, of Glasscock County.

Clearly Written Addresses Will Insure Mail Delivery

Bleary eyes are expected for Christmas by Big Spring's postal employees, if our handwriting doesn't improve, Postmaster Frank Hardesty warned today. Illegible handwriting is one of the biggest problems confronted by postal employees.

At Christmastime, when mail volumes surge, the problem is compounded.

The use of ZIP codes helps if the city and state are unreadable, the ZIP Code will direct the mail to the correct post office. Clerks in that post office, being more familiar with local residents, may be able to figure out the person to whom the mail should be delivered.

Poor packaging and illegible or incorrect addressing account for about half a million undelivered parcels each year, Postmaster Hardesty said.

All parcels should be addressed on only one side and should have the address, with ZIP Code, written somewhere on the inside of the package in case the exterior wrapping should come off.

This is a good time to update mailing lists with ZIP codes, said the postmaster, by checking the return addresses of incoming mail and put these in an address book.

Hardesty called attention to two mail changes — parcel weight to first class offices 150 or more apart now is 30, not

IN FAR WEST TEXAS

Wrapup Stage In Harvesting

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas' soil moisture situation is good, except in spotted areas. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said recent rain and snow had delayed the harvest windup in Northwest Texas but that with better conditions last week, harvesting again was increasing. Moisture has materially improved grazing from grains, boosted range plants, supplied needed moisture for land preparation, and improved the stock water situation, he added. Livestock feeding is general but ranges still furnish lots of grazing. As grains improve, much grazing is now available from this source. Hutchison said. Livestock hold their fair to good condition and marketings are about normal, he said. District agents gave Hutchison on Wednesday these reports:

LOW YIELDS
The South Plains (Lubbock) cotton harvest increased after delays caused by weather. Considerable harvesting remains in the north where yields and quality are generally low. Wheat was excellent but moisture is needed in some areas. Wet weather has delayed completion of the castorbean harvest. Livestock are generally in good condition and some feeding is under way.

Moisture in North Central Texas is adequate and most fields are too wet to plow. Only scattered harvesting remains, mostly peanuts and pecans. Better than 95 per cent of the grains are planted. Small grain grazing was good. Ranges are average and the condition of livestock is good.

Moisture in far West Texas is generally adequate and harvesting is in the wrapup stage. Livestock are in good condition. Feeding is increasing. Some grains are furnishing grazing. Plowing is a major activity. The hunting season was very successful.

LABOR SHORT

All West Central Texas now has adequate moisture and grains are improving. Except for some pecans and peanuts, harvesting of all major crops is about complete. Most ranges are furnishing plenty of dry forage and plentiful moisture will stimulate winter grass and weeds. Livestock are in good condition; some are getting feed; and lambing is under way. Marketings were normal.

Pecan harvesting, plowing, livestock care and feeding were major activities in Central Texas. Grains are furnishing some good grazing. Some counties need rain. Livestock generally are holding their good condition. Farm labor is short.

New Cable TV Rules Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — New rules for cable television have been denounced by an industry leader while a government go-ahead for limited pay TV drew both criticism and praise.

Frederick W. Ford, president of the National Cable Television Association, accused the Federal Communications Commission of trying to "halt further expansion of CATV, disrupt the patterns of ownership, curtail any improvement of operating systems and probably destroy the present manufacturing capacity of the industry."

However, Douglas Talbott, general manager of Cox Cablevision Corp. in Atlanta, Ga., owner of 13 CATV systems, said "it will take time to understand its ramifications."

Talbott apologized for what he called the vagueness of his comments, but said he doesn't fully understand the ruling and neither has anyone else he has talked to from the CATV field.

The FCC announced its new rulings on both pay and cable TV Friday.

The CATV rules basically regulate retransmission of programs originating on networks or individual stations, restrict ownership, and require all but the smallest cable TV stations to originate some of their own programs.

The nation's 2,000 or so CATV services began as a means to bring clear signals to small rural areas. Many of the systems have expanded into big cities where tall buildings often block good reception.

The TV regulations would allow subscription television operations in any city, provided such communities already received service from four conventional stations. Only one pay TV station would be allowed in each city.

None of the new rules would go into effect until June, after the FCC hears arguments and, in the case of pay TV, there is review by Congress and the courts.

At present, the only pay TV operation is in Hartford, Conn., where the system was set up in 1962. The station, which considers itself still experimental, reportedly has lost some 2,000 subscribers, but has applied to the FCC for permission to expand its coverage.

Under most proposed pay-TV systems, subscribers would insert a coin in their sets to unscramble special voice and picture signals that would bring them live sports events, first run movies or other entertainment.

The FCC said, however, that to safeguard the free television industry pay TV would not be able to carry for two years live sports or first run movies shown on conventional TV.

"The chairman and the members of the Federal Communications Commission are to be congratulated for taking this favorable action approving subscription TV in the face of all the pressures from the powerful interests who have opposed this decision," said Joseph S. Wright, chairman of Zenith Radio Corp., in a statement.

Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., a former actor, said the decision will bring "exciting developments for the public, the motion picture industry, and the associated arts and crafts."

Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., said, however, that the FCC action was a "direct challenge not only to our committee but to the entire Congress" which he said had the responsibility to set guidelines for pay TV.

Harvey is a member of the House Commerce Committee's subcommittee on communications.

The Supreme Court upheld the authority of the FCC to regulate CATV last June.

Under current regulations, if a CATV station is not in one of the 100 top markets, it can retransmit any signal it wants from anywhere.

Under the new rules CATV systems in the 100 largest markets would be able to carry distant signals within their own 35-mile zone only if they have the express permission of the originating station.

The agency also proposed to limit on a nationwide basis the total number of CATV systems to be commonly owned, based on the number of subscribers and the size of the communities and the regional concentration and other broadcast interests of the CATV operator.

The latter provision would bar common ownership of a CATV operation and a conventional TV station in the same market.

Alive After Being 'Dead'

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Goldie Rheams, 71, was alive in Denver General Hospital Saturday, a week after she was pronounced dead and prepared for a postmortem operation.

"It was a series of mistakes," Dr. David Cowen, chief of the hospital said. "But all understandable."

Mrs. Rheams was admitted last month with a broken hip. She lapsed into a coma Dec. 5, Cowen said, and permission was received from her sister for removal of her lymphocytes, liquids in a human spleen, after her death.

She was pronounced dead Friday by a doctor, Cowen said.

"There was no sign of consciousness," he said. "For practical purposes, the initial pronouncement that she was dead is correct."

She was taken to an operating room for a postmortem, Cowen said, but the rooms were full with "live" patients and a heart stimulant was given to keep the body in good condition.

An hour later doctors noticed she was breathing on her own and wheeled her into an intensive care section.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A look for Carson. Walters said he saw him collapse on the sidewalk, yelling "help me, I've been mugged." Then three men darted across a lawn and out of sight, Walters said.

Carson was dead on arrival at Misericordia Hospital.

Police said they do not have Carson's California street address, but said that his parents live at 203 Constitution Ave. Portsmouth, Va.

Wealthy Cat Dies

Flat Nose, a 20-year-old cat, is shown above with William Fields, 79. Flat Nose died Friday, leaving Fields sole heir to $15,000.

Cat's Death Leaves Him Richer, But Much Sadder

CHICAGO (AP) — A rich Chicago cat died Friday, leaving his owner about $15,000 richer, and much sadder. It's the cat, Flat Nose, not the money, which dominates William J. Fields' thinking as he prepared a Monday funeral for his departed friend. Flat Nose, who would have been 20 on Christmas, the equivalent of 140 human years, was one of five cats left to Fields in 1960 by their original owner,

Mrs. Margaret Montgomery. She left $15,000 for their care which was to go to Fields when all were dead. Two of the cats died in 1963 and two in 1966. All were more than 17 years old. They were buried in the yard of the apartment building Mrs. Montgomery had left to Fields for their lodging. Flat Nose who apparently died of a heart attack in the building hallway, also will be buried in the yard.

With the last of the cats gone, Fields plans to just stay and take care of the building. At 79, he said, he has few friends alive and sees little need for the money. The money, which has gone untouched while Fields and the cats lived on the former hotel walter's Social Security payments and World War I pension, will be transferred from a lawyer to Fields' bank account, where it will stay until he needs it to live on. "After all, I don't figure on dying soon," Fields said. Mrs. Montgomery, a seamstress, at one time had 14 cats. She was a semi-invalid. Fields helped care for her for 18 years before she died.

Imaginative Toys Built For 3 Days Of Parties

DETROIT (AP) — Christmas with pink and green snow and gifts such as an unruly desk chair that cannot be bought in any store, has arrived for children who live around the University of Detroit. Thanks to an imaginative class of 40 architectural students at the Roman Catholic university, the children are being feted this weekend for three days of neighborhood parties. Films and light shows, folk singing, dancing, and an experimental public Mass on Sunday are included in the project, which instructor J. Patrick Kenney explained was started to interest the students in understanding the area, which is becoming increasingly Negro. Three plastic-skinned geodesic domes were built on university property for the occasion, and a snow-making machine was borrowed from a nearby ski resort to provide multicolored snow. The architecture students, as class projects, designed special toys that are being given away. There's the swing-n-sway spring machine built by Dennis Cerreta, 20, of Jersey City, N.J. It is a desk chair without legs and mounted on a heavy duty coil spring, and equipped with a seat belt. If you sit in the chair and lean a little, you dip and tip, swoop to the ground and pop back up again. Or there's a giant swing, hung from a mammoth tripod, designed by Mike Krzyzowski, 18, of Detroit. The seat is round and big enough for three children and you climb on it on a rope ladder. Jerry Flum, 18, of Oak Park, Mich., contributed a "construction" set, containing hundreds of pieces of wood in 20 sizes to be used to build things... and maybe inspire a future architect.

YOUR MONEY

By CHARLES E. BEIL
Through the years there have been many case histories in the entertainment industry, and in athletics, to name just two fields, where highly paid performers ended up long and distinguished careers with nothing to show but memories and trophies. Somehow the big salaries disappeared. We don't mean to single out any group, but only to illustrate the fact that it isn't what you earn that ultimately matters financially, but how much you keep of your earnings. You can "keep it" in savings of some kind, or in physical assets. What you don't keep, you will never see again. This is just as true of moderate incomes as it is of those who have brief, high-salaried careers. Some people do more with less. You can be sure that a sound, regular savings program is part of the planning of those who make their earnings go further. You can be one of them... by opening a savings account now, where you earn higher dividends with safety!

Okinawans Demonstrate

TOKYO (AP) — About 30,000 Okinawans assembled outside the Kadena U.S. air base Saturday demanding immediate withdrawal of B52 bombers from Okinawa. It was termed the biggest anti-base demonstration in the history of the U.S.-administered island. There was no violence. Reports said the demonstrators were made up of members from 139 member organizations, including the left-wing Okinawa Labor Council, the Okinawa Teachers Union and the Prefectural People's Joint Struggle Council to Protect Lives and Properties. Demonstrators also called for suspension of port calls by U.S. nuclear submarines and immediate pullout of all nuclear weapons from Okinawa. The campaign opposing B52s in Okinawa started when a strategic bomber crashed on takeoff and exploded Nov. 19. Meanwhile, informed sources said Saturday the Japanese government is planning to set up a joint Japan-U.S.-Okinawa council to draft a long-range economic development plan for the U.S. administered Ryukyu Islands. The council, to be staffed by 20 Japanese, 15 Okinawan and five American officials, is expected by start functioning next April, the sources said. "The main tasks of the council will be the transfer of the Okinawan economy from consumption to production and diversification of industry," they said.

No Hopes For Early Release Of Crewmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Official hopes have all but vanished for release any time soon of the imprisoned USS Pueblo crewmen although American and North Korean negotiators are about to meet again at Panmunjom. The session will be the 28th since the intelligence ship and its 83-man crew were seized off North Korea last Jan. 23. Although exact timing for the meeting could not be learned, it will come as some authorities in Washington are privately predicting there is no better than a 10 per cent chance that the 82 surviving crewmen can regain their freedom before the first anniversary of their capture. By that time the challenge of the Pueblo will be a priority question for the Nixon administration. Red China has said it would be willing to meet with the U.S. ambassador to Poland at Warsaw Feb. 20, a month after Nixon takes office. But there is only an outside chance that North Korea, which is fiercely independent of both Moscow and Peking, would make a gesture toward the new American leadership. North Korea continues to demand that the United States admit it was guilty of intruding into North Korean waters, apologize for the dead and promise that the action never be repeated. The United States has insisted that the Pueblo was in international waters when a North Korean subchaser approached the Pueblo some 15 miles off the port of Wonsan and signaled "heave to or I will open fire." The Pueblo replied by flag signal that it was in international waters. The ship was boarded by North Koreans and towed into Wonsan port after a brief action in which three Americans were wounded. Unlike North Vietnam, the North Koreans have rigidly refused to permit the delivery of any Christmas messages and packages to the Pueblo.

District Asking Rehearing In Condemnation Case

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will file for a rehearing of the Third Court of Civil Appeals ruling last week reversing and remanding a condemnation case to Coke County Court. James Rosser, attorney for the district, said that the trial judge had erred in including in his charge reference to what the district planned to do to protect mineral interests. O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMW, had testified of the district's plans to construct oil well mounds and provide causeway or barge service to them so that wells could be operated in the dry after the lake above Robert Lee is impounded. The Third Court of Civil Appeals held that this matter, included in the charge, should not have been submitted to the jury as obligations of the district, to be used by the jury in affecting the value of mineral interests owned by Mrs. Willcockson after the taking. This case has widespread interest, especially in view of the release Friday of the new Texas Water Plan, which includes proposals for numerous additional reservoirs.

Pipe Section Is Complete

Work has been completed on the first section of a three-prong pipeline project for the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Howard and Mitchell counties. Approximately 11 miles of 27-inch line has been laid westward from a juncture with the district's Sun Oil water pipeline to Moss Creek Lake. The contractor, Wittman Construction Company of Phoenix, Ariz., now is beginning to lay 16 miles of 21-inch line from the line juncture northeast to the district's side terminal storage northwest of Colorado City. O. H. Ivie, general manager, estimated that this would require about 45 working days, barring bad weather, which would then clear the way for the final section — 10 miles of 42-inch line from Big Spring to Moss Creek Lake. Moss Creek Lake is to become a central reservoir into which water may be pumped from Lake Thomas and the new lake the district will impound next year just above Robert Lee. Moss Creek will be connected with the new lake by a 42-inch line.

Davis Is Unsure Of Retirement

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The 100th renewal of the National Football League's oldest rivalry was scheduled to be the swan song for Willie Davis. Now he's not sure. "When I went to camp last summer, I really had the feeling that we would win a fourth straight championship," the Green Bay Packer defensive end said. "If we had won, this would have been my last year." The Packers slipped under new Coach Phil Bengtson to a 5-7-1 record, their worst in a decade.

Jury Acquits Tijerina Of Shooting Charges

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Reyes Lopez Tijerina, militant leader of a land grant claims group, was acquitted Friday of charges in the shooting and violence at a rural courthouse.

The 42-year-old Tijerina said he plans now to pursue his land grant claims "more than ever." Dist. Atty. Alfonso Sanchez said he had made no decision about whether to try Tijerina on seven other charges involving the violence at the Tierra Amarilla courthouse June 5, 1967. And Sanchez gave no indication whether nine followers of Tijerina who face similar charges would go to trial.

"I feel great," said Tijerina, after his five-week trial in State District Court. "I think we had the best jury New Mexico has ever had."

Tijerina was tried on charges of kidnaping and false imprisonment of a deputy sheriff and an assault on a jail during the gun-shot violence at the Tierra Amarilla courthouse.

While testifying that he had no part in the violence, Tijerina said the "Tierra Amarilla explosion" resulted from built-up frustrations of his Spanish-American followers over their land-grant claims.

The state had asked for a first-degree kidnaping conviction, which carries a penalty of death in the state's gas chamber.

Sanchez told the six-man, six-woman jury he wouldn't mind if it recommended life in prison.

The jury, which included four Spanish-Americans and a Negro, deliberated almost four hours.

Tijerina, 42, a native of Texas and former evangelical preacher, came to New Mexico to form the Alliance of Free City States. The group contends Spanish and

Tijerina Acquitted

Reyes Lopez Tijerina, leader of a group claiming ancient Spanish land grants, kisses his wife, Patsy, after his acquittal in Albuquerque on charges stemming from gunshot violence at a northern New Mexico courthouse last year.

Mexican land grants of a century ago were taken by deceit and fraud from ancestors and the land should belong to them.

Two law enforcement officers were wounded, a deputy sheriff and a newsman were taken hostage, and several persons were beaten during the two hours a small band of armed men held the courthouse, according to trial testimony.

The defense had contended the violence was precipitated by police when Alliance members entered the courthouse to make a citizen's arrest of the district attorney.

Ties Of Friendship Reiterated

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says the friendly settling of a century-old dispute with Mexico should show other nations that borders "are not just lines across which men shake their fists in anger."

The President included this message for nations overseas Friday as he and President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico, standing on a bridge midway between their countries, detonated a dynamite charge that diverted the Rio Grande river and formed a new southern border for the United States.

The blast and the meeting of the two presidents in an atmosphere of joviality and friendship returned to Mexico some 400 acres of land that has been in dispute since great floods of the mid-19th century shifted the Rio Grande's course.

Accompanying the President, who later flew to his ranch for the weekend, was his wife, Lady Bird.

Before the two presidents detonated the charge, they exchanged praises on the length of the friendship between the two countries.

"We have shown that borders between nations are not just lines which men shake their fists in anger," Johnson said. "They are also lines across which men may clasp hands in common purpose and friendship—and we have done so."

President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz reiterated President Johnson's phrases, saying "we will do everything in our power so the people on both sides of this river do everything in their power to become better friends."

Constant reference to the long friendship between the two countries even allowed Johnson to slip in some comment about his grandson Lyn, something he usually tries to do.

Johnson said he had informed his daughter Luci he thought his grandson should learn Spanish as well as English.

"I believe he understands a little more Spanish today than he does English," the President told the audience on the Santa Fe Street International Bridge.

Diaz Ordaz told the audience that presidents are very competitive, especially when it comes to grandchildren.

"My grandson is beginning to learn English," he said. "I speak only a few words. When he hears me speak those words, he always corrects me because he speaks them better than I."

Student Loan Plan Going Into Effect

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas students will be able to borrow up to $1,500 a year for college or university educations under a new federal statute which goes into effect Sunday.

Students whose adjusted family income is less than $15,000 a year will pay no interest while they are in school, according to Dr. Carroll Galbreath, director of higher education for region 1 of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The federal government will pay the interest during school years, he said. The student will be responsible for paying interest on the unpaid principle balance after he has completed school. The repayment period is not to exceed 10 years.

Dr. Galbreath, who attended a series of meetings throughout the state in regard to the state change, noted that a student will not be able to borrow more than $7,500.

Earlier this month, Governor Connally announced that Texas will participate in the federal program to insure loans for college students.

Previously, the state had endorsed a program whereby the United Student Aid Fund, Inc., guaranteed the repayment of student loans.

Dr. Galbreath said the USAF was depleted of funds earlier this fall. The new program will have limitless funds, he said.

"The federally insured loan program is demonstrating its great value to students who need financial help if success is measurable by statistics," Dr. Galbreath said.

Loans may be used by students attending any accredited school in the nation or in many foreign countries, he said.

L. Bob Moorehead of the Garland police said the child was shot once in the back. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray Davis.

Moorehead said a man was being questioned.

Garland, Tex. (AP)—Charlene Deanna Davis, 4, was shot and killed early Saturday as she watched television in the family living room, police said.

Moorehead said a man was being questioned.

Mail Fraud Charged In Cancer Vaccine Promotion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted James Rand III and his Rand Development Corp. on charges growing out of the promotion of an experimental cancer vaccine manufactured by the Cleveland-based company.

The indictment returned Friday charged three counts of mail fraud and three counts of stock manipulation, which carry on conviction penalties of up to 21 years in prison and up to $45,000 in fines.

It was charged that Rand and his company, in exchange for loans on Rand vaccine stock, knowingly made false statements about the vaccine's results in attacking cancer and saving terminal cancer patients.

Rand was accused in the indictment of devising a master scheme to artificially stimulate the stock in order to defraud the Franklin National Bank of New York and Rand Development stockholders.

Rand was reported to be in Florida and no one at his company was available for comment on the indictment. A guard at the laboratory said Rand was last seen there about two weeks ago, "but he doesn't come around much anymore."

The indictment charged that the stock manipulation scheme was tied in with misleading reports on the effectiveness of the vaccine to newspapers and magazines which caused the Rand stock to increase in value.

State Has 66 New Oil Wells

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission reported Saturday that 66 oil and 48 gas wells were completed the past week, bringing the year totals to 4,809 oil and 2,087 gas wells.

This time last year 5,867 oil and 2,311 gas wells had been drilled.

Wildcaters reported three oil and six gas discoveries. Two wildcat oil wells were in District 7B and one was in District 8-A. Three gas discoveries each were in Districts 2 and 4.

With the rise in the stock Rand was able to renegotiate a loan with the Franklin National Bank using the market value of the stock as collateral to get extended credit for a subsidiary company, Universal Fiberglass Corp. of Two Harbors, Minn., the grand jury said.

Universal Fiberglass was closed down last year after the federal government canceled a $13.3 million contract to produce three-wheel mail trucks because the trucks could not be delivered on time.

JESS SMITH TAKES RETIREMENT AT POST OFFICE Ed Staub and Postmaster Frank Hardesty congratulate vet worker

Jess Smith Retiring After 31 1/2 Years With Post Office

After 31 and a half years, Jess Smith is retiring from the postal service.

He was presented with a certificate of honorary recognition Friday afternoon at the post office by Postmaster Frank Hardesty and Ed Staub, superintending engineer. Staub said that Smith's ID card and his badge were being retired. Fellow workers also presented him with gifts.

The Big Spring native can remember well when he went to work, and when he married. He started his service as a caretaker on April 2, 1937, and on the following day he was married to Alta McElhamon.

His immediate supervisor

then was the late John T. Compton, and his fellow worker, Maurice Brown. Smith has continued in the custodial branch since then and retired with rank of fireman. He served under three postmasters — Nat

Five Children Die In Flames

DETROIT (AP) — Five small children perished Saturday when flames swept their two-story frame house on Detroit's West Side. Four others were injured in the blaze.

The mother of the five victims and two of her other children suffered minor burns and smoke inhalation, and a fireman collapsed from smoke inhalation and fatigue while fighting the fire.

Flames enveloped the upper flat so quickly, she said, that she did not have time to rescue all of her children. "My baby (Charles) said, 'Mama, I'm burning,' but when I looked around I couldn't find him," Mrs. James Pac said. Mrs. Pac has been living with her children since obtaining a divorce from her husband two years ago.

Symbol For Slain Officer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The sum of $27.74 became a symbol of sympathy among San Antonio policemen Friday for a fellow officer shot to death last Sunday 280 miles away in Dallas.

That was the amount the San Antonio Police Officers Welfare Association sent the widow of the slain policeman.

An officer of the association said other local law enforcement organizations will be asked to send funds to the widow—each in the amount of $27.74.

The widow is Mrs. Floyd A. Knight, whose husband, 23, was slain by a food store bandit. His paycheck was in his pocket when he died.

The Dallas city auditor's office later asked Mrs. Knight to return $27.74, saying her dead husband lacked two days, four hours and 45 minutes of working the period covered by the check.

Collecting $27.74 among themselves, Dallas friends of the slain officer took it to the auditor's office.

Kids Go For Goy-ee

Goy-ee the Clown headlined the program and the annual Christmas Party Saturday sponsored by the Big Spring Shrine Association for handicapped children at Cosden Country Club. About 30 children and 60 Shriners and wives attended the affair. Goy-ee featured his balloon sculpturing and made animals with balloons for each of the children.

It's Early Merry Christmas For 30 Crippled Children

Thirty area crippled children received an early Merry Christmas Saturday, complete with Santa Claus, turkey dinner and Goy-ee the Clown, compliments of the Big Spring Shrine Association.

The annual party for physically-handicapped children began at noon at Cosden Country Club with about 60 Shriners and wives as hosts.

Goy-ee the Clown entertained the guests with a program which included a magic act, puppet show and balloon sculpturing. The clown's balloon sculpturing featured animals made from balloons, and each child present received a souvenir from Goy-ee.

$12 Million Tax Windfall

CHICAGO (AP) — A U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding the constitutionality of a tax, no longer collected, gives Illinois a $12 million windfall, Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark said Friday.

The 3 1/2 per cent tax collected on leased equipment from 1965 to 1967 was impounded when John Doolin, doing business as National Novelty Co. of Chicago, challenged its validity in court.

Collections on rented equipment such as cars, trailers, trucks and tools amounted to $12 million before the tax was repealed in 1967.

Clark said he has notified state Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson that the impounded funds now may be legally transferred to the state's general revenue fund.

Santa Claus made an appearance and gave each child a gift.

The children feasted on a turkey dinner, complete with all the trimmings, and had ice cream for dessert.

It That Fair?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley received the following letter from a boy in New York: "Dear sir: I am in the fifth grade. I am studying the United States. I need all the information you have please." Kelley's office plans to send the youth information about Michigan laws.

Texas Ranger Captain Denies Brutality Raps

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A. Y. Allee, the tough Texas Ranger captain accused of leading a strike-breaking force in deep South Texas' 1967 farm labor dispute, faced an unruly crowd of Mexican-American sympathizers Saturday and denied claims of police brutality. Despite reports that Allee's life was in danger, there were no major incidents, police said. Allee was booed and jeered by many in the crowd of 500 who heard his testimony before the U.S. Civil Rights Commission in its final day of hearings on Mexican-American problems of the Southwest.

points by members of the Civil Rights Commission. The commission pointed out that the Rev. Ed Krueger of the Texas Council of Churches testified he was mistreated by Rangers when arrested during a striking farm workers' protest demonstration at a Mission railroad crossing in South Texas.

HCJC Yule Play Monday

The drama department of HCJC will give its final performance of "A Certain Star" in the college auditorium at 9:45 a.m. Monday.

The play, a one-act Christmas play by Frank A. Cooper, will be performed under special lighting to emphasize the change in Bethlehem the night the bright star heralded the birth of the Christ child. The play will be directed by Martin Landers, chairman of the speech and drama department of HCJC. The cast includes Teresa Conner as Ruth, Jo Anna Cofer as Esther, David Chapman as the merchant, Jimmie Jones as Dismas, and Donna Herring as the old woman. The cast has also doubled as stage hands building all of their scenes and making all of their costumes. The public is invited to attend this performance. No admission will be charged.

Minor Wrecks On City Blotter

Three minor accidents were reported to Big Spring police Friday and Saturday.

Albert R. McCutchen, Wyoming Hotel, and Robert Brooks, driving cars which collided at 8:32 a.m. Friday at First Street and Scurry.

J. C. Hagle, 1610 Scurry, reported that another vehicle had struck his car Friday night and left the scene in the Cowper Clinic and Hospital parking lot.

PICKETS SHOW

Police said 30 to 35 pickets appeared at Our Lady of the Lake College, scene of the hearings, to protest alleged Texas Ranger brutality. They were allowed inside to attend the hearings, but without their picket signs.

The demonstrators, most of them young Mexican-American, hurled insults at Allee outside as the big Ranger, his wife and friends prepared to leave. He ignored them.

His lawyer, Fred Semaan, had said earlier that police reported tips that Allee might be harmed if he attended the hearings. Asked what precautions he took, Allee boomed:

"Just like I am," throwing open his coat to show he was unarmed. He frequently wears an engraved, silver colored .45 caliber revolver.

About five Rangers were reported seen attending the hearings. Allee said little about security measures.

"LOUD POPOFFS" "If I can't take care of myself I don't have any business being here," he said of the reported danger to his life. "That bunch of loud popoffs don't mean anything to me or any other Texas Ranger," he said after testifying, referring to the crowd.

There were several members of the GI Forum, a national Mexican-American group, in the crowd and they tried to keep the spectators quiet.

As he has always maintained, the veteran Ranger denied charges of police brutality when he was pressed on specific points by members of the Civil Rights Commission.

Allee who is stationed at Carrizo Springs, said Mrs. Krueger was taken into custody because another Ranger warned him that she was about to hit him with a camera. The crowd roared and Allee told the commission: "I appreciate the spectators."

Mrs. Frankie Freeman, acting commission chairman, repeatedly called for quiet.

D.C. AND TEXAS

Asked for comment on the commission's hearings, Allee told newsmen: "I don't have anything to say about the commission. They belong up in Washington and we belong in Texas."

Allee headed a detachment of Rangers in Starr County (Rio Grande City) during the farm labor dispute in the summer of 1967. The detachment was accused of strike breaking by farm labor union leaders. The Rangers denied it.

Allee and other Rangers were later named in a suit alleging they and Starr County officers conspired with farm owners to violate civil rights of union members and sympathizers. A three judge panel has not yet ruled in the case.

Aviation Panel Meets Monday

A called meeting of the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at 5:15 p.m. Monday to discuss the Sentinel Airlines bid to provide commuter service to West Texas. All members of the committee are urged to be on hand, said George McAlister, chairman.

William Leon Langley, Rt. 2, and Jonelle Siles Watts, Fort Worth, were driving cars which collided at noon Saturday at Fourteenth and Runnels streets.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals (not the Texas Supreme Court as originally reported by AP) reversed and remanded (ordered a retrial) the Colorado River Municipal Water District condemnation suit against Mrs. Helen Wilcockson, et al, for 4,104 acres in the new Robert Lee lake basin. The retrial, however, could be several months away even if the state supreme court ultimately backs the appeals court. None of this, however, will affect completion of the lake project.

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company inducted 19 new members into its 25-Year Club, making 143 who have worked 25 years or more for the company. That total will swell rapidly in the next few years, for the mid-forties were the period when Cosden began its phenomenal expansion. When that many stay together that long, it means good people and a good company.

Letters from servicemen, expressing profuse thanks for 214 ditty bags which were prepared and filled locally, have been received by the Red Cross. The attitude of gratitude should be the other way around, but to hear thanks to us from our fighting men is a humbling experience.

Those HCJC Hawks, ranked ninth in national basketball polls for junior colleges, seemed to absorb one lesson they learned at the hands of Central Christian of Dallas and tightened up their defense. Music lovers who are members of the Big Spring Concert Association are in for a big treat Monday evening when Victor Alessandri brings the San Antonio Symphony to town. As for good music, the combined First United Methodist and HCJC choirs, with added voices and the Texas Tech string ensemble, turned in a terrific performance of the "Messiah" a week ago today. They sounded like old pros.

The flu bug — or whatever it is — continued to lay an increasing number low. So far it seems to be hitting the adults more, for school attendance is down very little from normal.

Lee Sattle may let his mind drift back 50 years on Christmas Day to when he was a member of Battery F, 53rd Field Artillery at Camp Cratis. He has an elaborate booklet with an embossed colored American flag on the front. The menu included French baked turkey, oyster dressing, and all the trimmings such as sweet and creamed potatoes, peas, cauliflower, celery, lettuce, stuffed olives, sliced tomatoes, mayonnaise dressing, nuts, candies, fruits, ambrosia, peaches and cream, fruit and chocolate cake, peach and lemon pie, frozen egg nog, rolls, butter, quince jam, lemonade... all topped by Travis Club cigars!

A story out of Texas Tech refers to mistletoe in an oak planted a few years ago near a women's dorm as a miracle. Prof. James W. Kitchen observes that "I've never heard of another mistletoe growing in this immediate area." We find that hard to believe; perhaps a journey to the draws and a hackberry grove might be revealing.

Christmas outdoor decorations are going up all over town. College Park and Highland College Park are hot beds, and South seem to be hot beds, and year's team learns to give that brilliant measure of effort, as did last year's surprising team, then the Hawks could go a

Woman Tells How To Live In Shoe And Make It Fit

RAMAH, Colo. (AP) — That little old woman who lived in the shoe is alive and well in this central Colorado village, tending to her 13 adopted children, several cats, dogs and one pony. Mrs. Olathe Abbott, 58, a widow with six children and 21 grandchildren of her own who live elsewhere, settled here about a year ago with her brood, all but two of them legally adopted and brought here from the Mexican border town of Juarez.

"There's never a dull moment," she said, "it's always very interesting." The odyssey of Mrs. Abbott began five years ago in a small Texas town near the Mexican border. As a self-styled, non-denominational missionary, she had gone to the Southwest to teach underprivileged children. One by one, she adopted youngsters from Mexican families who were too poor to provide for them. They range in age from 2 to 13. "It seemed the best thing to do," she said. "We all had to learn each other's language and in the meantime, we got along with gestures and sort of motioning kind of communication." Mrs. Abbott and the children made an impact on this village, where the population hovers around 100 and the addition of the children more than doubled the youthful population. "It was hard at first," she

Kids Sprinkle Real Sparklers

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — A fortune in diamond jewelry circulated among youngsters this week—until police told them their playthings weren't junk. No one knew what they had and they were throwing diamonds all over the place," Detective A. C. Moen said Saturday. The jewelry, valued at $140,000 retail and $600,000 wholesale, was in an attaché case that an unidentified diamond broker left on the counter of a jewelry store Tuesday. He called back later but the case was gone.

There were reports that a teenager had shared the loot freely with friends. One boy took a ring to a pawnbroker and asked what it was worth. "About $500," the man said. "Holy cow," said the boy. "I've got all kinds of them." The pawnbroker called police, who recovered jewels worth $28,000 wholesale from the boy and $12,000 more from his friends. Moen said he expected most would be returned.

NYC Schools Plan Unveiled

NEW YORK (AP) — After experiments in neighborhood control of slum schools which triggered a 35-day citywide teachers strike, the city school board unveiled on Saturday a tentative plan to decentralize the whole 1.1-million pupil system.

The plan, ordered by the legislature last spring, is subject to revision during 30 days of local hearings. Then it must pass the state Board of Regents and the new legislature.

TRANSFER
It would transfer many of the city board's powers to 33 elected neighborhood boards, effective no later than Feb. 1, 1970. The appointed central board would retain final budgetary control.

The 55,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers struck on opening day, Sept. 9, charging that the Ocean Hill ousters violated the citywide contract.

'NO COMMENT'
The board's tentative citywide plan drew initial "no comment" reactions from the union and Mayor John V. Lindsay.

The Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, chairman of the suspended Ocean Hill board, said: "Where does the Board of Education get the power to tell parents how to educate their children?"

The plan would: —Temporarily retain the three experimental districts, although provide that they might later be incorporated into some of the other 30 local districts.

—Retain the central board's final power over budgets, school construction, minimum educational standards, testing, transportation, classes for the physically or mentally handicapped, adult education and other special programs.

—Allow local boards to set special qualifications for teachers or administrators, with the approval of the state education commissioner.

—Continue "open enrollment," which allows pupils to attend schools outside their districts, increasing racial integration.

So far, the President said, we have failed. "Because we have failed," he added, "we have all the restlessness and the disorder in the cities, because people who cannot eat in a decent place, cannot sleep in a decent place and cannot grow up in a decent place are just not going to be decent citizens."

Accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, the President flew in from the LBJ ranch to a grassy spot on the bank of Lake Austin near the place where the new homes have been erected on land that was open fields about eight weeks ago.

The pilot homes were rushed to completion—and will be occupied by Christmas—in a cooperative project of the University of Texas at Austin and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

HUD provided a $360,000 grant. The cost of the houses, land excluded, ran from $4,975 to $7,000 for a total of $64,400.

Commission Urges Massive Grants To States, Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — After an exhaustive two-year study of domestic difficulties, President Johnson's National Commission on Urban Problems urged Saturday a new system of massive federal block grants to states and cities.

But the grants, which would cost the government an estimated $6 billion extra each year, would supplement—not replace—existing programs of federal aid for specific purposes.

LAST RESORT
But if the existing approach of channeling federal funds through local agencies and groups doesn't work, the commission said, "then, reluctantly, we advocate that the Federal Government become the builder of last resort."

The commission, headed by former Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, rejected the concept often suggested by Republican President-elect Nixon of offering tax incentives to industry to help solve the problems.

PROBLEM
On the racial issue, the commission said "Perhaps the most potentially explosive problem we face in our cities is the fact that the increase of nonwhites in central cities is accompanied by just as big a movement of whites from the center city to the suburbs. The result is an almost unyielding pattern of segregation."

To open the suburbs to the Negroes and the poor, the commission called for rigorous enforcement of the 1968 open housing law. And it urged federal and state requirements that localities agree to build low-income housing if they want to receive other urban aid such as the popular water-and-sewer grants.

The commission also recommended that states give cities the authority to lease housing for low-income families throughout their metropolitan areas, "especially in suburban areas that have opportunities for blue-collar workers."

LARGER ROLE
Along with the block-grant proposal, the commission called for a much larger role for the states in solving urban problems. It said states should authorize housing programs to be carried out by countywide or multi-county agencies. And it said states should use their powers of eminent domain to obtain sites for lower-income housing in communities that haven't built any.

The block-grant proposal of the commission follows the general form of a revenue-sharing plan proposed in 1964 by a fiscal study group headed by Prof. Walter W. Heller of the University of Minnesota and Joseph A.

Scars Warden, Flees Prison

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A convicted murderer attacked State Prison Warden Frederick Reincke today and forced the 69-year-old warden and his wife to drive him to Hartford.

State police launched an intensive search for 33-year-old David F. Mabery, who was described as "extremely dangerous."

Warden Reincke suffered wounds from a short instrument on his shoulder and back. He was listed in satisfactory condition in Hartford hospital.

Mrs. Marjorie Reincke, 63, was examined at the hospital and released.

Mabery, who was serving a life sentence for second degree murder, was a trustee who worked in the warden's home at the State Prison in Somers, north of Hartford.

State police said Mabery jumped the warden at about 1:30 a.m. and forced Reincke and Mrs. Reincke to take him in their car.

The convict left the Reinckes off West Service Road near Interstate 91 just north of downtown Hartford.

Mabery was reportedly carrying a tire iron and a blanket and wearing a white hospital-ordery type uniform with bloodstains on it. He was described as a Negro, 5-foot-7, medium build.

Zale Plans Entry Into Sports Field

DALLAS — Plans for Zale Corporation to enter the vast retail sporting goods field were revealed today. Agreement for Zale to acquire H. Cook Sporting Goods Company of Albuquerque, N.M., was announced jointly by Ben A. Lipsky, president of Zale, and Harold Gardenzwartz, president of H. Cook.

The formal agreement—based on an exchange of stock—is now being prepared. With a sales volume in excess of $3.5 million, H. Cook Sporting Goods Company is the largest sports equipment retailer in the state of New Mexico.

The acquisition will add still another facet to Zale's diversifying operation. Last week the company announced plans to enter the home furnishings field with acquisition of a Texas furniture chain.

'Love' Reminders Trigger Divorce

LONDON (AP) — Sylvia Hall, 30-year-old mother of three, won a divorce because her husband shouted reminders through the mailbox that he was going to make love to her that night.

Mrs. Hall told the court that her husband, Raymond, 34, fixed a rigid timetable of sexual relations three times a week. When he left the house for work those mornings, she said, he would yell a reminder through the letter box on the front door.

"She grew to dread these days and became all tensed up and nervous," said Judge Sir Jocelyn Simon. He ruled cruelty.

POPULATION SPIRALS

Texas' Per Capita Income Gap Widens

AUSTIN (AP) — The gap between per capita income in Texas and that of the rest of the nation has steadily widened over the past decade, a University of Texas business researcher says.

Robert Ryan of the Bureau of Business research reported his findings in Texas Business Review.

$217 BELOW

In 1958, he said, per capita personal income in Texas was $217 below the national average.

"Even with increasing incomes in Texas the margin between the Texas and the U.S. per capita figures had widened to $341 by 1962 and to $433 by 1967," Ryan said.

Texas' per capita income level of $2,704 in 1967 topped all Southern and Southwest states except Florida and Virginia, Ryan said. Over the rest of the country only two other states ranked below Texas, Vermont and South Dakota.

POCKETS

"Certainly in no other state of Texas' industrial stature did residents have lower average incomes. For example, the 1967 levels were $3,149 in Pennsylvania, $3,212 in Ohio, $3,158 in Wisconsin, $2,993 in Missouri and $3,481 in Washington.

Ryan included a map showing 42 counties in which he said 20 per cent or more of all families had incomes over $10,000 and 150 counties in which 30 per cent or more of all families had incomes less than $3,000.

No counties fit in both categories, and 52 fit in neither.

"Though New York has its heavily publicized Harlem and West Side, and Chicago its South Side, those poverty pockets are conspicuous mainly because of their concentration. Texas has low income areas large enough in area to swallow up the entire state of New York," he asserted.

OIL CITIES

Ryan said that in general the state's most prosperous counties have major industrial cities or high-level petroleum or agricultural production. With few exceptions, the rural farm counties without heavy petroleum production fall into the lower income category, he said.

He described three conspicuous low-income zones: The Lower Rio Grande Valley, almost all counties south and west of San Antonio and Corpus Christi; a belt of farmland down the eastern side of the state; and another belt stretching across the state just north of Central Texas.

POVERTY

The primary influence on South Texas poverty "has been the rapid immigration of unskilled Mexicans into South Texas over several decades," Ryan said.

"These immigrants have tended understandably to concentrate in Spanish-speaking colonies in South Texas cities. Handicapped by lack of training and by a lack of facility in English, they have failed to keep pace economically with most Texans.

"Further, many Spanish-speaking families have come rather recently from environments in their native country so lacking in opportunity, or even hope, that they are often resigned to accepting a standard of living that seems shockingly inadequate to most Anglo-Americans."

LOWEST IN U.S.

The McAllen, Pharr, Edinburg metropolitan area ranked lowest in the nation in 1966, with per capita income 42 per cent of the national average, Ryan said.

He said only four Texas metropolitan areas matched or topped the national average per capita income in that year — Midland, Dallas, Amarillo and Wichita Falls.

"It is evident . . . that many families are still unable to live up to the aspirations regarded

Oil Worker
Gains Medal

SWEETWATER — Ronald L. Spillman, 26-year-old gas plant operator for Sinclair Oil Corporation Domestic Oil and Gas division at Sweetwater, was cited at a dinner here Thursday night for saving the life of a fellow employee.

Spillman received the National Safety Council's "President's Medal," and has been recommended for the American Petroleum Institute's life saving certificate and medal and the U.S. Bureau of Mines' Joseph A. Holmes life saving award. The recognition came during a safety dinner honoring all employees of Sinclair's Sweetwater Gas Plant for having worked 5,425 days or almost 15 years without a disabling injury. The record began Feb. 4, 1954, and is continuing.

Spillman was credited with saving the life of Bill W. Rawls, acting plant foreman, on Aug. 12, 1968. Rawls was overcome by gas while efforts were being made to repair a leak in a wet gas line two miles southwest of Sinclair's booster station near Palava.

When Spillman returned from obtaining supplies and drinking water, he found Rawls unconscious astraddle the pipe line in a "bell hole" or excavation. Spillman pulled the heavier Rawls from the hole, administered resuscitation, and took him to a Sweetwater hospital where he fully recovered.

Clubs Volunteer
To Man Kettles

Twenty Big Spring clubs and organizations will man the kettles for the Salvation Army during the Christmas Season, according to Capt. Bart Deggs, local commanding officer.

The bright red kettles will be located at the post office, Woolworth's, Gibson's, Furr's Cafeteria and College Park T. G. & Y.

Participating as bell ringers will be members of the Elks,

Evening Lions Club, Webb Personnel, Salvation Army Corps Cadets, 1898 Hyperion Club, Key Club, Kiwanis Club, State Hospital staff, Civitan Club, Jaycees, Morning Optimists, ABC, Rotary, Shrine Club, Everyready Art Club, Downtown Lions Club, DeMolays, Big Spring Pastor's Association, Rainbow Girls, and Boy Scout Troop No. 2.

Members of the clubs and organizations will be asking for contributions of money which will be used to help needy area families, Capt. Deggs said. All funds will go to make up Christmas food packages.

Capt. Deggs said at present 280 families have asked for assistance in making their children's Christmas merry.

There are several locations still open, and organizations wishing to help with the bell ring project can contact the Salvation Army headquarters, Deggs said.

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — An agent of the U.S. Treasury Department inspected the weapons aboard the battleship USS Massachusetts to see whether they violate the new federal gun registration law.

'THIS IS A CITY OBSESSED BY FEAR'

It's Senseless Warfare

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer
GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A boy named Alan did a careless thing in Glasgow's toughest city. He crossed a street. The street took him into the Gorbals district and within minutes he came out unconscious on a stretcher, his face slashed to red ribbons. Alan belongs to the Tongs, so he should have known better than to cross an unmarked frontier in the territory of the rival Cumbie gang. PAID THE PRICE Surgeons put more than 40 stitches into the wounds that will leave him disfigured for life. At 17, Alan paid the price of breaking gangland rules. Now he's waiting his chance for revenge on a straying Cumbie. So it goes on, the meaningless violence in Britain's toughest city. What happened to Alan—his full name was not disclosed by authorities—is commonplace in the squalid districts where the gangs flourish. The deadliest word in their vocabulary is "chib." Alan, like scores of other youngsters each weekend, was chibbed. It means to be sliced up with a cut-throat razor. Members of Glasgow's 25 to 30 gangs have set a pattern in juvenile terror that causes despair among police and social workers alike. It's the main reason why Glasgow has been rated one of the most unruly cities in the world. ences: The vicious hatreds seem utterly futile. Now the gangs fight it out on a strictly territorial basis. It's one street against another, one district against another. Roman Catholics and Protestants join together in the same bunch, dedicated to vendettas that the outsider can never understand. The names of the gangs often spring from the street where they first emerged. The Drummy was born in Drumlanrig Avenue, the Cumbie in Cumberland Street. Interviews with gang members are rare and often dangerous to seek. "This is a city obsessed by fear," says the Rev. Geoffrey Shaw, a Presbyterian minister working in the notorious Gorbals district, once known as the worst slum in Europe. SIGNS OF PROGRESS A vast program of rehousing has removed that shaming label, but the old slum areas still breed the boredom and discontent that produce the gangs. Gorbals is the territory of the Cumbie, Glasgow's oldest gang but no longer its strongest. That honor is claimed by the Tongs, who hold sway over the nearby Carlton district. The Tongs, broken up into junior and senior divisions, have a reputed membership of about 500 teenagers. At any one time 10 per cent of them can be found in Glasgow's harsh Barlinnie Prison. Signs of progress in dealing with the gangs, however, have been reported by 300 Roman Catholic priests operating what they call a Christian Commando exercise in the slums.

San Antonio Symphony Due Monday In Concert Series

After a too-long absence of a decade, the celebrated San Antonio Symphony orchestra and its conductor, Victor Allessandro, return to Big Spring Monday.

The occasion will be the second in the current series of the Big Spring Concert Association at the Municipal Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Members will be privileged to hear and watch one of the leading orchestras of the nation, and one of the most outstanding directors as well. An added treat will be Drusilla Huffmaster, noted piano soloist.

This is the first major orchestral offering since Oct. 10-27, 1965, when Arthur Fiedler and the Buffalo Philharmonic appeared in a pops concert. The previous year the Midland-Odesa orchestra had been here, and the year before that the Dallas Symphony. The National Symphony also played here in 1961.

So it may be readily observed that symphony orchestras are a favorite here, and so is the San Antonio Orchestra which won wide acclaim in its Oct. 23, 1965, appearance. It was, patrons asserted, as fine an orchestra as had appeared locally. The audience found Allessandro, who was relatively new at the helm of the San Antonio group, a warm, responsive personality as well as a superb conductor.

He delighted his listeners with "Fanfare," a creation of Texan Gid Waldrop; passages from Berlioz's "Fantastique, Op. 14"; the "Seigried Idyl" from Wagner and finally the melodic, colorful "Capriccio Italian" by Tchaikowsky. This brought on a standing ovation. Dr. Allessandro is a native of Waco, who took his bachelor of music from the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester. He studied at Mozartoum Academy in Salzburg, Austria, and at the Royal St. Cecilia Academy in Rome. From 1938-52, he conducted the Oklahoma State Symphony, which was the MBS national network symphony for a weekly series. When Max Reiter, founder of the San Antonio symphony, died, Allessandro was persuaded to succeed him.

He was cited by Columbia University in 1956 for "distinguished service to American Music and received the Alice Ditson award. He has filled numerous guest engagements including appearances with the Boston "Pops" Orchestra, NBC Symphony, Hollywood Bowl Symphony, Minneapolis Symphony, Italian Broadcasting Symphony, San Francisco Opera orchestra, and many others. Only recently, he received unrestrained reviews in the Oslo, Norway, newspapers following his European debut with the Oslo Philharmonic.

Miss Huffmaster, pianist, has been guest soloist with numerous orchestras, among them the National Symphony and National Gallery orchestras, the Dallas Austin and Juilliard orchestras. She also has appeared in recital at Town Hall in New York and had a triumphant European tour. Like Dr. Allessandro, she is a native Texan, and since her debut at age 13, she has received critical acclaim.

Permian Gains Finals By Trouncing Smiley

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Tommy Stewart broke through a swarm of tacklers and ran 57 yards for a touchdown Saturday to lead Odessa Permian to a 22-0 victory over Houston Smiley in the Class AAAA schoolboy football semifinals.

The Panthers will meet Austin Reagan for the state AAAA championship. Smiley held the edge over Permian statistically through the scoreless first half.

First And A Foot

Odessa Permian halfback Travis Wright (45) charged for a 1st down on Smiley's one-foot line in the third quarter at Austin's Memorial Stadium during the class AAAA semi-final game against the Smiley Eagles of Houston. Monroe Scott, a tackle, is blocked by Panther end Garland Childers (85). Odessa won 22-0.

Cards Upset Browns In Season's Finale

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two touchdown passes from Jim Hart to Bobby Joe Conrad and two magnificent goal line stands enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to upset Cleveland 27-16 Saturday. The defeat ended the Browns' eight-game winning streak a week before their National Football League Eastern Conference championship game with Dallas.

Louis defense forced the Browns to settle for field goals. The Cardinals jumped into the lead, scoring soon after the opening kickoff, and were never headed. Cleveland pulled even once—early in the third period on a 45-yard scoring run by Leroy Kelly. The Cards finished with a 9-4-1 record, their best since 1964. With 39,746 fans shivering in 17 degree cold, the Cards' Chuck Latourette wrapped up the three NFL season record during the game—most yards on kickoff returns and most returns handled.

Fruits Of Successful Foray

When the HCJC track and field team ran in the recent Houston Track Meet, it won the only two events in which it was allowed to compete—the sprint and mile relays. William Fogle (far left) and James Irving (far right) hold the awards the Jayhawks earned. Ronald Choate and Coach Jerry Dudley (inside right) are the other two in the picture.

Despite Slip, Hawk Runners Defeat LCC

LUBBOCK.—HCJC's crack mile relay team overcame the handicap of a dropped baton to defeat Lubbock Christian College in a special indoor race here Friday night.

The event highlights halftime entertainment at the LCC-Midwestern JV basketball contest.

Coach Jerry Dudley takes his Jayhawks back to Lubbock Tuesday night to engage in two events—the open 880 and the half-mile relay.

James Irving and Frank Clark will run in the open 880 for the Hawks.

The indoor races here are run on a 220-yard asphalt track.

The Hawks dropped the baton on their first exchange, from Carly Hudson to Charles Copeland. Hudson was timed in 51.7 on his leg, two-tenths of a second slower than LCC's lead performer.

By the time Copeland recovered the baton, which had fallen into the crowd, HCJC was about 40 yards behind. Copeland made his two laps in 51.2 to lose very little ground.

Irving took over for HCJC and made up distance with a 49.1 leg (compared to 50.3 for his opposition).

William Fogle then ran his opponent into the ground on the anchor leg, breaking the tape in 48.7. The LCC anchor man was caught in 51.1.

HCJC's time for the distance, despite the mishap, was 3:22.7, while LCC was clocked in 3:23.3. Last week in Houston, HCJC's time for the distance—a winning effort—was 3:22.6.

The Gobblers widened the gap on a 29-yard field goal by Jack Simcsak later in the opening period. But then the running attack bogged down and the Rebels rolled to their seventh triumph of the year.

Rich Getting Richer In Big-Time Racing

The names were the same in auto racing this year, with the rich getting richer, the crowds getting bigger and the future of the sport looking even brighter.

Some of the major titles changed hands, and a few new names popped up from time to time to claim a share of the spotlight. But for the most part, the 1968 motorsports season found the Donohues, the Pearsons, the Hulmes and the Hills still sitting up there on top.

Most observers view the year as the most competitive in the history of the machine age. The rich United States Auto Club big car championship, for instance, wasn't decided until the final event on the 24-car schedule.

It also was the biggest financial year for the sport—for both drivers, promoters and sanctioning bodies. "If a promoter lost money this year he simply wasn't doing his job," said one observer.

IN BIG BRACKET
In the NASCAR Grand National division—representing the top stock car circuit—two drivers won more than $100,000 each, two others more than $50,000 and three others topped $50,000.

Yet the lucrative driving title which carries an additional $30,000 was still up for grabs as late as Oct. 20 after 48 of the 50 races had been run.

Even balding, 34-year-old A.J. Foyt, bearing more and more scars from burns picked up along the way, found time to win the USAC stock car title for the first time. He also won four more times on the open cockpit championship trail and narrowly missed a sixth driving title there.

Mark Donohue, the driver-engineer from Media, Pa., and Australian Dennis Hulme were two of the major repeaters. Donohue, 32, won his second U.S. Road Racing title in a row, then repeated in the Trans-American series for small 3-liter production sedans.

Hulme, 36, again dominated the rich Canadian-American Challenge Cup series for unlimited sports-racing cars, adding $93,000 to the nearly $100,000 he picked up in 1967. His car owner, builder-driver Bruce McLaren, also of Australia, placed second. Donohue was third.

Bobby Unser, the middle brother in the Albuquerque racing family, finally clinched the USAC championship car title from perennial bridesmaid Mario Andretti in the final race on the schedule Dec. 1.

Unser's five victories, however, included the biggest plum in racing, the Memorial Day 500 at Indianapolis, where his prize money totaled about $170,000.

SECOND TITLE
David Pearson won his second title in NASCAR's Grand National big bore stock division, driving a factory-backed Ford Ford GT40s.

Other major titles went to Tony Lund, Cross, S.C., in NASCAR's new Grand Touring division for 3-liter sedans; Benny Parsons, in the Auto Racing Club of America's late model stockers; Dr. Lou Sell in the SCCA's new pro-formula series for 5-liter open cockpit cars; Larry Dickson and Mel Kenyon in USAC's sprint and midget cars, respectively; and Gary Christensen, the national motorcycle championships.

And finally, 46-year-old Ernie Derr of Keokuk, Iowa, won the International Motor Contest Association's late model stock division title for the ninth time—the last three in a row.

Ole Miss Comeback Bitzes Gobblers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mississippi battled back from a flurry of early scores by Virginia Tech and rolled to a 24-17 victory over the fumbling Gobblers in an explosive Liberty Bowl football duel Saturday.

The Rebels wiped out a 17-0 deficit behind the passing of Archie Manning and an alert defense which pounced on three Virginia Tech fumbles and intercepted two passes.

Manning, a lanky sophomore whom Coach Johnny Vaught calls one of his best, ignited the Mississippi comeback with touchdown passes of 21 and 23 yards in the second quarter. Halfback Steve Hindman put the Rebels ahead to stay on the opening play of the second half with a 79-yard touchdown run.

The Rebels, playing in their 12th straight bowl game, clinched the triumph in the last period when Bob Bailey bolted 70 yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass, and Van Brown kicked a pair of field goals from 46 and 26 yards.

The Gobblers, who had not fumbled in their last five games and boasted a 7-3 season record, produced a touchdown on their second running play. Ken Edwards dashed 55 yards for the score on the play in which the Gobblers huddled on the line of scrimmage, quarterback Al Kincaid walked to the ball and casually pitched it to Edwards.

That touchdown took only 27 seconds, and Virginia Tech scored again two minutes later on Terry Smooth's seven-yard run set up by a Manning fumble.

The Gobblers widened the gap on a 29-yard field goal by Jack Simcsak later in the opening period. But then the running attack bogged down and the Rebels rolled to their seventh triumph of the year.

SWC Scouts Given Break

DALLAS (AP)—The Southwest Conference eased recruiting rules Saturday, raised ticket prices, loosened entertainment restrictions for families of prospective athletes, and allowed autumn baseball practice for the first time since 1927.

Faculty representatives, acting on a recommendation by coaches and athletic directors, passed legislation permitting personal contact of prospective high school athletes outside of Texas and Arkansas at the close of their junior year.

Also, SWC schools can now contact a prospective schoolboy athlete in Texas and Arkansas by letter at the close of his junior year. Personal contact is limited to the close of football season in the high schools of the two states after the prospect's senior year.

RULES LOOSENED
"The NCAA permits contact at anytime and outside competition was becoming so severe that we decided to loosen our rules a bit," said Howard Grubb, executive secretary of the SWC. "We felt the other schools were getting the jump on us."

"We don't go all out to allow unrestricted visitation because it interferes with a student and his high school work. But we feel writing a letter to an athlete to let him know a certain school is interested would pose no problem."

In other action, the SWC: —Raised the minimum price of sideline tickets from $5.00 to $6.00. End zone ducats were raised from $2.50 to $3.00. Students will still pay half price. Grubbs said it was the first price hike in "five or six years" and was caused by "rising costs."

—Approved an entertainment regulation to permit overnight lodging in addition to the meal allowance in regard to expenses permitted for a family or friend of a prospective athlete who provides transportation for him to a school visit.

PRACTICE LENGTHENED
—Passed a resolution that would allow 30 consecutive calendar days of fall baseball practice. The old rule, in effect since 1927, hadn't allowed baseball practice to begin until Feb. 1.

—Adopted the NCAA junior college transfer rule in its entirety. The only new part of the rule that will apply to SWC members is that a junior college athlete who has completed 24 hours with a B average will now be eligible upon his transfer.

—Adopted a new format for makeup of rained out baseball games. The home team can now notify its opponent that a field is unsuitable for play on a weekend and the game can be reset for the next Monday or Tuesday.

—Voted to donate one per cent of the gate receipts of the Cotton Bowl game to a building fund for the national Football Hall of Fame.

—Postponed any action on a recommendation that freshman football players be allowed to start practice the same time as the varsity.

—Postponed a decision on whether to allow scholarship athletes to count summer school work toward regaining eligibility without the benefit of financial aid.

—Passed a recommendation by the basketball coaches that the floor be cleared five minutes before the start of games to allow introductions of the players.

—Postponed any decision on allowing an option in regard to the 1.6 grade point regulation regarding the athletes.

—Retained the policy of allowing television for nine Saturday afternoon SWC basketball games to TV Sports Inc.

Astros To Play At Cooperstown
HOUSTON — The Houston Astros will make their first appearance in the annual Hall of Fame baseball game at Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1969.

Houston will meet the Minnesota Twins at 2 p.m. on Monday, July 28, 1969, at Cooperstown's historic Doubleday Field.

All-Catholic 11 Announced

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Class AAA state champion Houston St. Thomas with six berths and Class AA titlist Fredericksburg St. Mary's with five topped the Texas Catholic Interscholastic League all-state football teams announced Saturday.

St. Thomas had guard Gary Murske and kicking specialist Ricky Azios on the offensive team and tackle Mark Jankowski, end Greg Hall and linebacker Mark Yokubaites on the defensive unit.

Dallas Jesuit, the AAA runner-up, placed guard Larry Morris and running back Art Morrison on the offense and linebacker Gil Gilman on defense.

St. Mary's put guard Michael Evers and running backs Charles Keilme and Steven Jung on the offensive unit and linebacker Preston Pyka and deep back Mike Kramer on the defensive team.

by eliminating the sources of the disagreement.

The settlement returns the touring players to the PGA and ends their plans to establish a separate tour.

The APG, with most of the top pros, including Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper, had signed contracts with 17 tournament sponsors. The combination of top names and a majority of tournaments on the $5.5 million tour would have left the PGA tour out in the cold.

Under the agreement, the tour will continue as a PGA program and those 17 tournaments will be transferred to the PGA, which will honor the commitments.

A tournament players division will be established within the PGA and will be governed by a tournament policy board with full authority over the conduct of the tour.

10 DIRECTORS
The board will consist of 10 directors, including four as yet unnamed tournament players; three PGA officials—PGA president Leo Fraser, Warren Orlick and William Clarke—and three distinguished businessmen.

The businessmen are J. Paul Austin of Atlanta, president of Coca Cola Co.; George H. Love of Pittsburgh, chairman of the board of Consolidated Coal Co.; and John D. Murchison of Dallas, one of the leading financial figures of the Southwest.

One player director will be elected to the PGA Executive Committee as a vice president and all player directors will become members of the PGA's Rules Committee.

The board will appoint a tournament director who will handle financial matters, discipline players, handle television contracts and supervise overall operations of the day-to-day operation of the tour, which begins Jan. 9 with the Los Angeles Open.

FARRIS LEADS TITLE SURGE
The Hobart Bearcats, quarterbacked by ex-Big Spring Ford Farris, won the Oklahoma State Class B football championship Friday night by defeating Hominy in Weatherford, Okla., 25-6.

Farris scored one touchdown and passed for two others in the contest.

Hobart had qualified for the playoff tilt by turning back Stroud, 19-14, in the semifinals.

The win was the 11th of the season for Hobart, compared to two defeats and a tie.

Corporation Acts To Ease Tension

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A plan to head off the ever-increasing number of disputes involving Negro athletes at the nation's campuses has been put into action by a new corporation that has enlisted the aid of some of sport's big names.

A firm known as Points Inc., has been formed with offices in New York, Pittsburgh and San Francisco and it has two goals: —To act as a mediating and dispute-settling agency when troubles involving Negro athletes arise at colleges and universities.

—To help professional Negro athletes get a greater share of endorsements and off-season employment.

Donald Warden, board chairman of Points, Inc., and a San Francisco lawyer, said, "We wanted to do something that would be practical and that the athlete could benefit from and we wanted to do it nationwide."

Warden said he expects the firm to offer assistance to Negro athletes who have grievances at colleges, but that the bill would be paid by the college itself.

"Our purpose would not be to quiet the black athletes," Warden said. "We would not tell them to be Uncle Toms. We would get their grievances, present them to the university and give it our expertise, give it a package program of what can be done."

Warden's plan is to have three-man teams moving into troubled situations. One member of the team would be a well-known athlete who would have the trust of the Negro athletes.

"We are telling black athletes, 'Why make statements that will jeopardize your whole career? You want statements made; We can make them."

Warden said he disagrees with the philosophy expressed by some Negro militants that only by acting separately, without regard to the thinking of the white community, can problems be solved.

"When you shut off the dialogue, you're in the minority and you're going to suffer the consequences," he said. "We're concerned with solutions."

As an example of the kind of mediation he means, Warden pointed to the problems suffered by the basketball team at the University of California last year when Bob Fressley, a Negro was suspended and later reinstated, causing whites to threaten a boycott.

"If the Cal dispute had not been handled right," Warden said, "it would have been one of the biggest problems in the United States because of the people coming to Cal who wanted to take it out of the athletes' hands."

But the problem was settled. The Negroes received special tutoring which led to a dramatic rise in their grades, and they conducted summer sports clinics in ghetto neighborhoods. Of Points Inc.'s second goal,

Warden said, "The professional black athlete's biggest gripe is endorsements. There has been a change lately. There are some black faces on TV, but no voices."

"Maybe the industry thinks this is a compromise, but the speaking parts still go to the Bart Starrs and the Johnny Unitases."

Post-career employment is another problem, Warden said. "A large number of black athletes end up as recreation directors while the whites get public relations jobs with big firms."

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Dec. 15, 1968 3-B

this guy can do that. It would be almost like an auction. We would find large investment projects for black athletes."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Bill Serious About Game

By TOMMY HART

Bill Blakeley, coach of the Christian College of the Southwest basketball team which defeated HCJC in the recent Odessa College tournament, is a fellow who could use a safety belt during a game . . . He once had seven technical fouls called against him in a bout . . . On another occasion, he passed out cold on the bench after his Trojans had been beaten by HCJC . . . Those 124 points scored by CCSW were the most ever yielded by an HCJC team . . . CCSW's early successes point to a great Region V tournament here in March . . . One thing is for sure: The Jayhawks will be ready for the Trojans the next time they meet—the locals have long memories . . . The day after he won the lightweight boxing title from Dick Tiger, Bob Foster said he would demand $100,000 and nothing less for a ring appearance . . . However, Foster will probably earn considerably less than that Jan. 24 when he meets Frank DePaula in New York, even though Frank is a gate attraction in nearby New Jersey . . . Foster is working for 40 per cent of the gate . . . Waco Richfield, heralded as one of the state's basketball powerhouses after its recent win over Abilene High, later dropped a 48-43 verdict to Mexia, which moved up from Class AA to AAA only this year . . . Richfield is coached by Doyle Edmiston, the former Stanton mentor . . . When Lamesa blew down Kermit in basketball recently, 92-34, the Tornados scored 33 points in the opening period . . . The father of Larry Linder, the former HCJC cager who is now playing with the Texas Aggies, is assistant manager of the Heart O' Texas Fair in Waco . . . Coahoma was prepared to declare Big Spring's Memorial Stadium as the site for its playoff game with Sonora but Sonora insisted the game either be played in San Angelo (where it wound up), Coahoma or in Sonora . . . Harold Davis of the Chamber of Commerce sports committee made the offer on behalf of Big Spring and it was as good as any other city extended.

JACK WHITAKER

Howard County JC track mentor Jerry Dudley is prepared to invite seven juco teams here for an April 12 meet, if the American Business Club votes to sponsor the show . . . Cisco, Odessa and New Mexico JC would be among the teams asked in . . . In winning those two first places in the recent Houston meet, Dudley's Hawks weren't threatened in either event . . . William Fogle ran a 48.9 leg on the winning mile relay team without ever being pushed . . . Incidentally, Dudley has new all-white uniforms for the Hawks, complete with "Howard County" in red letters across the front . . . John Conley, the former Snyder coach, is among those being considered for the head coaching job at Baylor . . . Marty Fleckman, the pro golfer, is spending the holidays working in Harold's Men's Shop in Houston . . . Jack Whitaker and Frank Gifford, CBS' ace broadcasting team, will work the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas New Year's Day . . . By using comparative scores, one could rate Texas A&M ahead of USC in football. Here's the ratio: The Aggies beat TCU, which beat Iowa, which beat Minnesota, which beat Michigan State, which beat Notre Dame, which tied Southern Cal . . . Gil Johnson, then of SMU, was known as the most daring passer of his time but Chuck Hixson, quarterback for the Mustangs this year, completed more than twice as many aeriels as Johnson attempted two decades ago (that's right, attempted) . . . Forty-nine Class AAAA schools in Texas will field girl volleyball teams next spring, 19 more than a year ago . . . Don Maynard, the New York Jets' pass-catching wizard, will be honored in his home town, Colorado City, next month . . . Buster Mills, who works in here frequently as a baseball scout for the New York Yankees, probably was one of the two or three best punters in the history of the Inter-scholastic League . . . He once got off a 100-yard boot against Cisco, while playing for Ranger . . . Buster was also an outstanding drop-kicker.

THE TIRE THE EXPERTS HAVE ASKED FOR:

"Looking at our results, it is easy to see why radial ply tires are so appealing. But the more we look, the more we feel that all the advantages are a result of the belt, which stabilizes the tread, and not the radial plies themselves. In fact, the areas where the radial tires show signs of weakness can be related to the radial plies—not the belt. We can't help but think that a combination tire—a cross ply with a belt—would be an admirable solution."

On Civil Defense Program

Civil Defense Leaders Elect

H. M. Nichols, Civil Defense director at Santa Rosa, N.M., was elected president Saturday of the West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council which convened for its quarterly conference at the Ramada Inn here.

The program began with opening ceremonies at 9 a.m., and M. Sgt. Norman Newell, disaster preparedness non-commissioned officer at Webb AFB, gave a talk of the base's disaster control mission.

Both Sides See Recount Win

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Both sides forecast victory with 10 of 36 counties reported in after the first day of Oregon's U.S. senatorial election recount.

The recounted votes showed Sen. Wayne Morse, the 24-year Senate veteran who asked the recount, has lost 22 votes compared to the Nov. 5 total. Republican Robert Packwood, who defeated Morse by 3,445 votes in November, had lost 19 votes.

Protest Acquittal

Beate Kiarfeld, who slapped West German Chancellor Kiesinger in the face recently, speaks to demonstrators protesting the acquittal of a former Nazi judge in Berlin Saturday. Thousands marched through downtown streets chanting "Nazis out of West Berlin."

Democrats In Dandy Shape For Comeback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders around the country see a need for more attention to nuts-and-bolts organizational details and they give top priority to revitalization of the Democratic National Committee.

Both Kennedy and Muskie are laying low and concentrating on their own re-election races in 1970.

HHH AT WORK So does Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has emerged from his defeat in last month's election as the party's titular leader.

O'Brien is concentrating on the makeup of two committees he will name to reform party procedures, appointments which are likely to set the tone for the Democrats in the years ahead.

Like many party leaders interviewed here and by Associated Press bureaus around the country, Humphrey wants O'Brien to stay on to supervise the party rebuilding. The chairman insists he still plans to leave after the National Committee meets next month.

On the whole, Democratic leaders say their party survived presidential defeat in good shape and is in sound position for a comeback in the 1970 congressional and gubernatorial elections and in the 1972 presidential test.

Although Democrats retained both houses of Congress, and did well in some state races, they fell to only 19 of the 50 governorships, making this a major target area in 1970.

But to succeed here, they realize they must beef up their state organizations.

And in many states, younger Democratic officeholders and candidates are emerging as the key party leaders for the years ahead.

long-range presidential possibilities.

A typical view of the national state of the Democratic party comes from Jose Grangle, the 36-year-old Erie County, N.Y., Democratic chairman, who puts it this way:

"The best way to prepare for the 1970 and 1972 elections is to be ready in 1969 and 1971. There needs to be more emphasis on the nuts and bolts of political organizations, on the 'itty gritty'."

While many state leaders talk about the need for better liaison with the national committee, some national leaders feel that many old-style state leaders are out of touch with developments.

They hope that many of the younger campaign workers will become active both in party activities and by running for office.

Another source of future workers and candidates is those who were active in the campaigns of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Others EAGER Some of the leaders of the Kennedy and McCarthy organizations have formed the New Democratic Coalition, seeking to reform the Democratic party from within.

It has incipient organizations in some 20 states and a national steering committee headed by Donald O. Peterson, the Wisconsin McCarthy chairman, and Paul Schrade, a California labor leader and Kennedy backer.

But a recent meeting of the steering committee in St. Louis produced considerable confusion over whether the coalition should concentrate its efforts at the local and state levels, or try to establish a national organization.

In some states, regular Democratic leaders are keeping their distance from the coalition, but in others they are eager to work with it.

Former Commanding General In Korea Dies

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Retired Army Gen. Guy S. Meloy Jr., 65, mayor of the fashionable suburb of Terrell Hills and former commanding general of Fourth U.S. Army, died Saturday.

Gen. Meloy ended his 36-year army career in 1963 when he retired as commander in chief of the United Nations Command and commanding general of the U.S. Forces in Korea. He became mayor of Terrell Hills last May.

During the early stages of the Korean War he earned the Distinguished Service Cross, second only to the Medal of Honor, for leading the 19th Infantry Regiment out of a North Korean trap—despite the fact that he was seriously wounded. He spent four months in a hospital recuperating from his wounds.

In 1958 he was promoted to lieutenant general and for a year commanded the five-state Fourth U.S. Army, with headquarters at historic Ft. Sam Houston here. He became a general in 1961 and took over the posts in Korea which he held until retiring at Seoul, Korea, at age 60.

Other positions the general held included commandant of the Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga., 1953, and commanding general of the 1st Infantry Division, known as the "Big Red One," 1954. He brought the 1st Division from Europe to Ft. Riley, Kan., under Operation Gyroscope. Early in his career he was assigned to the first tank destroyer battalion organized in the U.S. Army.

Gen. Meloy died at Brooke General Hospital, Ft. Sam Houston. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery, an Army spokesman said.

Survivors include his wife, three sons and three stepdaughters, a brother and five grandchildren.

Dr. Sam Given Divorce Paper

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard has been notified officially that his wife, Ariane, is seeking a divorce.

Sheppard, sitting with an attorney in a car parked along a busy Columbus Street, was handed a copy of the divorce petition Friday afternoon.

Sheppard, an osteopath, was convicted in 1954 in the slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, in their home at Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb.

Sheppard spent 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary and after a lengthy court battle, won a retrial and was acquitted. During his imprisonment, he began corresponding with the former Ariane Tebbenjohanns, a native of Germany, whom he married after his release from the penitentiary.

The divorce action was filed Dec. 3 in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court at Cleveland. Mrs. Sheppard seeks the divorce on grounds of gross neglect and mental cruelty.

Cub Pack 63, sponsored by the North Birdwell Methodist Church, held its Christmas party at the church Friday evening.

Bobby Blankenship, new member, was presented with his Bobcat badge. Santa Claus distributed presents to the boys and their fathers, and the Cub and Dads, joined by Mrs. Glenda Williams, den mother, bobbed for apples. The next meeting will be in the City Park Scout Hut Jan. 28 when the pinewood derby will be staged.

May Release U.S. Pilots

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Hanou in a Japanese-language broadcast said Saturday North Vietnam had decided to release some captured American pilots during the Christmas holidays.

Radio Press reported, however, that the broadcast meant to report North Vietnam's decision to allow U.S. prisoners to receive Christmas parcels from their families.

Radio Press, a Japanese agency specializing in monitoring Communist broadcasts, said the broadcast could be a case of mistranslation into Japanese.

The broadcast was repeated twice and gave no details of any release, Radio Press said.

Big Spring, Stanton, Coahoma, Sands and Forsan all dismiss Friday afternoon (ranging from 2:30 p.m. to 2:45 p.m.), and classes will resume the morning of Jan. 2.

Howard County Junior College dismisses with close of classes Friday afternoon, but these students do not have to return until the morning of Monday, Jan. 6.

Car-Wrecker Crash Hurts

A 19-year-old Knott youth was injured in a car-truck accident about 10:15 a.m. Saturday about 13 miles north of Big Spring on the Walter Long Road.

Ronnie Gene Neves was taken to Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital with minor injuries by private car after the car he was driving collided with a Pollard Chevrolet Co. wrecker truck driven by Milton Newton, 49, Big Spring.

The investigating Highway Patrolman said Neves was driving east on the Walter Long Road, and the truck was going north on a dirt road and the two vehicles collided at the intersection.

The Highway Patrol investigated a car-pickup accident at 1:50 p.m. Saturday one mile north of Big Spring on US 87.

Alford Floyd Anderson, Big Spring, was driving a pickup pulling a cotton trailer, and Mrs. Becky Jo Riddle, Big Spring, was in a car, a patrolman said. The vehicles were both traveling north when they collided, causing minor damage.

Lone Wolf Co-Op Sends Out Checks

COLORADO CITY — Checks totaling $20,674.76 will be placed in the mail Monday by Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, representing capital credit refunds to members for one-third of the year 1959. Members who received service from the Co-op in 1959 will share in these proceeds.

Martin Murphy, board chairman of the organization, said dividends are determined on the usage of electricity from the Co-op.

This year's capital credit return, Murphy said, brings to $168,590.13 the amount returned to members for operating years 1956 through 1959.

His Decision May End Vending Machine Probe

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge will decide Monday if a Texas House Investigative Committee can look at the records of a vending machine company.

His decision could stop the committee's work.

B & B Vending Co., with headquarters in Dallas but branches in many areas of the state, filed an action against the House committee investigating ties between vending machine operators and the tavern industry.

B & B lawyers acted after committee investigators sought to examine the company's books.

U.S. Dist. Judge William Taylor Jr. granted a temporary restraining order against the committee Friday, blocking access to records of B & B Vending.

Lawyers for the vending company said the legal authority of the committee, created by a special session of the legislature, lasted for only thirty days.

Rep. Dick Cory, chairman, said a ruling by Judge Taylor supporting B & B would force the committee to call off further hearings. "If the judge rules (against the committee), we don't have authority to conduct them," he said.

The special investigation was started after a Dallas legislator, Jim Clark, charged that some 90 per cent of taverns in Dallas are controlled by vending machine companies.

Should Taylor rule against the vending company the owners could be liable for citations of contempt of the legislature which carries a $1,000 fine or 90 days in jail upon conviction.

THE HALLS OF BENNETT HOUSE echoed the sound of singing this week as Girl Scouts went caroling through the residence, making the holiday more meaningful to all who heard their voices. Here, with their hymns of praise, are Christine Soldan, Melynda Wasson, Vanda Madry and Kim Crowley, and listening are Oswald McCauley, young Leslie Gober and Mrs. Iola Childers.

THE ENTIRE COMMUNITY lends a helping hand when it is holiday time at Big Spring State Hospital. Preparations begin weeks ahead of time as decorations go up and special programs provide entertainment. Every resident is assured of at least one gift, which presents a king-sized wrapping project. Here, helping with the chore, are Mrs. Donald Lester, Mrs. Robert H. Dyer and Mrs. Donald Couvillion.

ONE OF THE BUSIEST areas in the Veterans Administration Hospital is the gift shop which is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Here, gifts are furnished which patients may select for their families at no cost to the patient. The selections are gift-wrapped and wrapped for mailing by such volunteers as Mrs. H. D. Bruton and Mrs. Elizabeth Ethridge of Odessa.

"Christmas Is For Everyone"

THE BIG SPRING SHRINE ASSOCIATION of Suez Temple held its annual holiday party for crippled children Saturday at Cosden Country Club, and following dinner, each child was presented a gift. One of the favorite guests is young Jay Freeze, shown here as he got a preview of the festivities by helping D. A. Brazel, party chairman, and Tip Anderson Sr., Shrine president, decorate the tree.

THERE WAS MUCH EXCITEMENT at the Westside Recreation Center this week as eager hands helped Mrs. Ernest Bauch, director, get the tree trimmed for Thursday's party which was sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Club and American Business Club, with assistance from Church Women United. Holiday refreshments were served, and each child received a bag filled with fruit, candy and nuts.

Student Choirs Sing For PTA Programs

The annual holiday programs were given this week for Parent Teacher Association units which met at their respective schools. Music of the season was performed, along with skits and stories of Christmas.

AIRPORT

Fifty dollars was earmarked for a school workbook fund for needy children when the Airport Parent Teacher Association met Monday. The devotion was by James Rankin and Mrs. Lee Justice presided.

A committee was named to attend the February school board meeting to discuss improving the school grounds, and a Mexican supper and games party, to raise money for the improvements, was slated for 6 p.m., Jan. 17.

Mrs. Raymond Stevenson directed sixth grade students in a Christmas program, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Doe, Mrs. Roger Mize and Mrs. J. L. Hanke.

First place in the membership drive went to Mrs. M. A. Barber's third grade, and second place went to Mrs. Otis Schillingburg's first grade. Room count was won by James Rankin's sixth grade, and the attendance prize went to David Morrison.

BOYDSTUN

Mrs. Geraldine Martin and Mrs. Thelma Smedley's sixth grade classes presented a program of Christmas music at Thursday's meeting of Boydston Parent Teacher Association.

Mrs. Florence Compton directed the program and accompanied the group.

The Rev. John Beard of the First Christian Church gave the devotion. Lorrie and Monnie Walters, Cathy Carille and Janis Myers sang Christmas selections.

Mrs. Bob Driskill presided and gave a report on the state convention held recently in Houston and the PTA City Council meeting.

Mrs. R. F. Davis' second grade won the room count. The next meeting will be Jan. 9, when Miss Bo Bowen, county health nurse, will discuss "Concern About Sex Education."

WASHINGTON PLACE

Mrs. George O'Brien gave the devotion at Wednesday's meeting of the Washington Place Parent Teacher Association at the school.

Mrs. Carl Bradley and Wendell Ware directed the Christmas choir and a skit which featured Donna Brashears, Randy Christian and Larry Carder.

Mrs. D. H. Overman won the attendance prize, and refreshments were served to 125.

TOPS Club Hears Weight Loss Talk

Mrs. Jim Cearley read an article on weight loss at Thursday's meeting of the TOPS Plate Pushers in the home of Mrs. John J. Herbert.

The article was written by Helen Eustis who said for a person to successfully lose weight, he must first find the reason why he has gained and realize that he must want to lose before any diet or medication can benefit him. She warned that in today's society, much entertaining is done by offering food and drink, and it is difficult to resist temptation.

The club Christmas party will be held at 6:30 p.m., Dec. 17, in the Herbert home. A painting will be presented to the person losing the most weight during the past year.

Mrs. Lowell Shortes won the attendance prize, and Mrs. Lillie Hendricks was presented the fruit and vegetable basket.

The next meeting will be Jan. 2.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Buckner, 1904 E. 25th, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Frances Kay Gardner, to Charles Lee Hamlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hamlin of Ruidoso, N.M., formerly of Big Spring. The couple plans to be married Feb. 1 at the College Baptist Church with the Rev. Byron Orand officiating.

Program Offered By Forum Guests

"Miracle For A Christmas Spirit" was presented by two guests, Mrs. T. D. Crossland and Mrs. G. G. Morehead, at Friday's luncheon for the Modern Woman's Forum. Mrs. A. C. Bass, 104 Washington, was hostess.

Mrs. Hugh Duncan, president, presented gifts to the members, and other gifts were exchanged.

The table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with red and green candles. Holiday decorations were used throughout the entertaining area.

Other guests were Mrs. Norman Read and Mrs. Ilene Baird.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

The generation gap has done something for or to me . . . I have never been completely clear as to the phrase but believe I know now. Several years ago when Elvis Presley was rocking or swinging, or whatever, I avoided his records and then his movies like I would the plague. Then there passed what I believe is a generation gap . . . and the psychedelic fellows and the hippie singers (if it can be called that) came into popularity. These I have avoided whenever possible . . . but having been forced to listen on occasion I knew I didn't like them. The 'happening' that made me realize that a change had come over me indeed, was hearing Elvis in one of his old shows the other night and he sounded almost good!

May it never happen that these that sound so bad to me now ever sound good by comparison to what might be coming up in the future!

Friday the 13th was a big day for the secretaries at the VA Hospital and it's that way each time it turns up on the calendar because they make it so. They go on the theory that it is a good luck day for them all so they dress up for it. Friday they all wore red dresses to mark the day and to get into the swing of the holiday season, and besides it makes them all look pretty.

C. J. S. DURHAM of Great Falls, Va., is here visiting his mother, MRS. T. M. COLLINS. He plans to be here through midweek. Other guests of Mrs. Collins the past week were MR. and MRS. M. D. COLLINS of Dallas who also visited other relatives here and in Midland and Odessa.

MRS LOUISE SCHERMERHORN of Dallas has been visiting MRS. HENRY HILL and other relatives here.

My good friend for many Christmases, MISS NELL HATCH, tells me she is going to COMPTONS are getting ready for a big time here with their granddaughter, Alicia, who is coming at the end of the week with her parents, MR. and MRS. BENNIE COMPTON of El Paso . . . CAPT. and MRS. JERRY McMAHEN and their little daughter came in Wednesday from Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Mc Mahen and the baby are to make their home here while Capt. McMahen is in Vietnam for a tour of duty which will begin in January . . . DR. and MRS. RICHARD DEATS and their children will be here from Dallas for the holidays with her parents, MR. and MRS. REX BAGGETT. His mother, MRS. R. E. BLOUNT, and Mr. Blount will come from New Braunfels to join the family and visit other relatives here . . . MR. and MRS. OLLIE ANDERSON will have a short trip to Los Angeles for a visit with their daughter, MISS BETTIE ANDERSON . . . the MILLER HARRISES will also spend Christmas in California with their son and his family, MR. and MRS. JIM HARRIS who live in Lakewood.

Sorority Ritual Held By Alpha Chi Chapter

Mrs. Bob Rogers and Mrs. J. D. Robertson conducted affiliation services for Mrs. Bob Oliver, a transfer member from Kermit, at Thursday's meeting of Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha. The group met in the home of Mrs. Robertson, 1708 E. 15th, following a tour of homes sponsored by the Junior Woman's Forum.

REV. AND MRS. HARLAND BIRDWELL, CYNTHIA AND SCOTT

Jazz Musician Turns To Modern Ministry

By JO BRIGHT

Like Gabriel, the Rev. Harland (Steve) Birdwell has his horn — and it makes a joyful noise.

Matter of fact, in this case, modern jazz may well have paved the way to a modern ministry. Gabriel had a powerful horn, but he may well have been a one-note musician. Not so the Rev. Birdwell, for he was a professional musician for 12 years before entering the seminary. Even now, in the precious, private time he has to himself, he listens to the music of his favorites — Dave Brubeck, Oscar Peterson and Dionne Warwick. And in the time that belongs to others — Rev. Birdwell serves as rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The Birdwell family, which includes Mrs. Birdwell (Charlene), a daughter, Cynthia, 17, and son, Scott, 16, reside at 901 Dallas.

Rev. Birdwell is the son of Mrs. J. H. Birdwell of Snyder where Rev. Birdwell graduated from high school. After spending a year in the Marines, he married a Sweetwater girl, Charlene Smith, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Smith, now reside in Snyder where he operated a pawn business. Charlene and Steve met while she was attending Texas Tech, and they were married Oct. 30, 1949.

For the next 12 years, they lived in Snyder where he worked in a service station before going into the trailer rental and car air conditioning business. The latter he sold in 1962 when he decided to enter the ministry. The family moved to Lexington, Ky., where he attended both the University of Kentucky and the Episcopal Theological Seminary. He earned a BA degree at the university (graduating a Phi Beta Kappa, and received his BD degree at the seminary. It was during this time that the governor bestowed on him the honorary title of "Kentucky Colonel."

Returning to Texas, the Birdwells made their home in Colorado City where he was vicar at All Saints Episcopal Church and served in the same capacity at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Sweetwater. The family moved to Big Spring in August.

While her husband was in school, Mrs. Birdwell served as librarian at the seminary. In Colorado City, she participated in activities of the church women as well as being active in a study club and thoroughly enjoying theater work. She took part in the productions of "The Haunting of Hill House," "Mr. Angel" and "Little Abner."

Cynthia Birdwell is a blue-eyed brunette who is poised and modest. "I'm just kinda here," she said, "but not very talented." Actually, she plays a "little" guitar, has a nice alto voice and is interested in French and biology. Her brother, Scott, is a lanky, handsome young man who plays basketball and lettered in freshman track at Colorado City. Scott, being mechanically inclined, is interested in model cars, and does some coin collecting.

When the word, VIP, is mentioned in the Birdwell home, it means Very Important Poodles — "Bridget" and her baby, "What's It?". When the two of them add their voices to the telephone, door bell, TV, radio and record player — well, that's beautiful music in a happy home.

College Heights PTA Hears Holiday Music

Mrs. Curtis Compton directed 52 sixth grade students at College Heights Elementary School in their annual Christmas music program Wednesday for the Parent Teacher Association. Songs ranged from "Ave Maria" to "Jingle Bells," and the singers were accompanied by other students with various musical instruments. The stage was set with a fireplace and tree and trimmed with paper chains and banners.

Mrs. Harlan Hill, Mrs. Billy Plew and Mrs. Charlie Shanks reported on their attendance at the recent state convention in Houston. Mrs. Hill related "the three R's" as being 1) Remember the PTA objectives, 2) Re-education of parents, and 3) Responsibility.

Mrs. Plew noted that parents should listen to their children, discover things with the child and "teach them young that their body is a temple physically, spiritually and mentally." She noted that bragging on a child is like pouring water on a flower. Mrs. Shanks summed up, from a noted authority on sex education for children, "Teach them the right attitude for their responsibility as future parents."

Mrs. B. R. Fletcher presided, naming a project committee consisting of Mrs. Joe Newham, Mrs. W. A. Riley, Mrs. Charles Bell and J. A. Beam, principal. Beam announced that the school holiday will last from Dec. 20 to Jan. 2. Room count was won by Mrs. Donald Gerber's class.

No beauty column would be complete without a few hints on dieting... 1. Don't try to lose too much too soon — give yourself a goal but don't try to lose more than two pounds a week. 2. Eat slower — chew well. 3. Try to get more sleep so you will feel happier and healthier. 4. Have some low or no calorie foods available for hunger pangs. 5. Have a full project you can concentrate on when the diet gets you down. Financing arranged on approved credit.

Fashion Experts Eye White House Closets

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — As the Lyndon Johnsons clear their closets of LBJ hats, Hickey Freeman suits, Mollie Parnis and Adele Simpson dresses, the American fashion industry ponders what new styles will replace them.

It matters to formalwear manufacturers whether the new president elects to be a boled shirt fan or a black tie and tux man. Not only Washington but the nation will literally follow suit.

It matters to the families of hatmakers whether the top man covers his thinning curls with a topper. And it matters to furriers whether Mrs. Richard M. Nixon abandons her "good Republican cloth coat," as her husband describes it.

It matters to dress designers which of their labels the new First Lady chooses to hang in her wardrobe.

Whether their style is imitated, the fashion choices of the First Family are equivalent in prestige to the British crown's court appointments.

Although the Nixons are not as handicapped in following the Johnsons as the Johnsons were in following the elegant Mrs. John F. Kennedy, they will necessarily develop a greater fashion consciousness.

"I've never known a First Lady yet who did not become more aware of clothes," says Mollie Parnis who has known and dressed the ladies of four administrations. "She becomes more conscious of how clothes look in photographs, how they walk or sit down, or wrinkle, or whether the press might be critical of them."

"In the early days of the Johnson administration, the cattiest of the fashion press meowed at what it considered the plain, slightly overweight, and dowdy dressed teen-aged girls and their mother. Soon enough they were purring with praise for the suddenly slimmer and prettier trio who had wisely submitted themselves to make up and fashion expertise.

As her husband's political star has risen, Pat Nixon's tastes have evolved from fussy little lace debutante dresses with corages on the shoulder to simple and sophisticated garments in the $150 to $200 class.

On the whole, the garment district is pleased with the 56-year-old, Size 10 Mrs. Nixon and her Eastern boarding school-type daughters, Julie and Pat.

"Her daughters will keep her on her toes, keep her with it," observed Vince Monte-Sano, president of the New York Couture Group.

The dean of American couturiers, Norman Norell, was delighted that Mrs. Nixon has appeared in several photographs wearing the same suit, "a classic little thing with cross tabs on the shoulders."

"That's good," Norell said. "She's putting fashion in its proper perspective. A First Lady should not be so enthralled with fashion that she has to wear something different every day."

Although flowers, veils and straw sailors used to cap the once brown now blonde tresses of Pat Nixon, today she seldom covers her casually curled, sometimes teased coiffures.

"I doubt if she would have much influence on the hat wearing habits of women anyway," mused a spokesman for the Millinery Institute. "You have to have a very strong personality to be a trend-setter."

But as Monte-Sano points out, "Jackie had an ethereal quality which was hers alone. The average woman could admire that. Still, they could not really identify with it."

"Mrs. Nixon's good looks are basic. Actually, they are much more attainable than the glamorous Jackie's."

Perhaps the heaviest fashion penalty Mrs. Nixon was said to have paid for her husband's political ambitions, was to give up the public luxury of a fur coat.

As a result of Nixon mentioning her "good Republican cloth coat" in his 1952 television defense of his campaign funds, Mrs. Nixon went without furs—at least publicly—for years. However, she now has an Afghanistan broadtail coat made from pelts obtained during a visit there, and recently she became the owner of a blond mink.

Though President Dwight D. Eisenhower inspired the military jacket, and by example President Harry S. Truman provided the courage to wear gaudily flowered sports shirts, men in public office have not been looked upon as style pacesetters and therefore were fairly free of fashion criticism.

But like his wife, John F. Kennedy cut such a dashing figure that he changed all that. When haters blamed a growing bareheadedness on the Kennedy's disdain for a hat, he obliged by carrying one. On the other hand, he did not give in to the howls of formalwear manufacturers over his refusal to wear white tie and tails.

Johnson's favorite suit was a dark charcoal worsted with a hint of pinstripe. Always a tiny inch-high triangle of a handkerchief peeked out of his breast-pocket. But Johnson has firmly insisted on an elephantine cut of his trousers despite a 15-year trend for slimmer trousers. The next president is not likely to be caught in his shirt sleeves, photographers on his campaign trail discovered. They tried hard to capture Nixon's image "more humanly," as they explained it to his campaign managers. But the subject refused to loosen his tie or peel off his jacket.

Like choosing basic solid grays or blues with medium lapels, cuffed trousers, slimmer than Johnson's, Nixon presents a stable, upper middle class image, one he has not departed from in his rise in Republican ranks.

"I wish I could say he is with it," sighed a spokesman for the American Institute of Men's and Boy'swear. "All I can say is he dresses correctly for statesmanship."

Many leaders in the men's wear industry are hopeful that relaxing in Key Biscayne will thaw out Nixon's inhibitions about sportswear, much as Key West put Truman in the mood for floral sports shirts.

Nevertheless, the fashion industry views the Nixon administration as a return to formality—good for the traditionalists, but a real challenge to those who would like to see the peacock revolution culminating in glorious feathers for the president.

Speaker At Blue Room Luncheon

'Holiday Tables' was the theme of the program presented by Mrs. Dale Smith at Wednesday's luncheon of the Oasis Garden Club in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Smith demonstrated holiday tables and stressed the proper cloths, glassware and china to be used in formal, semi-formal and buffet tables. She noted various methods of using card tables in entertaining and emphasized that good taste settings is more important than cost. She suggested that homemakers practice setting attractive tables for everyday use.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:
Here's a tip for all those who have asked me how to clean lacquered metal lamps.

I have checked this out thoroughly and was told NEVER to use metal cleaners on lacquered metal lamps.

The correct thing to do is to use a cream-type cleaning wax. This will remove the built-up residue without removing your beautiful lacquer finish... Heloise.

Dear Heloise:
Everyone in our family has their own toothpaste tube to squeeze anyway they want to. (I am a squeezer in the middle and my husband is the neat roll-up-from-the-bottom-type.) Now everyone has their own special tube with their initials on it in red fingernail polish. There are enough turnouts in everyday living with a large family than to have frayed nerves over the toothpaste tube!... Dora Gorman

Dear Heloise:
Last year when we bought our BPO Does Plan District Meeting

Plans were formulated for the Texas West District meeting to be held in Big Spring during February, 1969, at Wednesday's meeting of the BPO Does in the Elks Hall. A Christmas basket was prepared for a needy family, and Mrs. A. J. Prager won the attendance prize.

Christmas tree, it had one bare spot but otherwise was very pretty.

So we cut off a couple of the branches at the bottom. Then bored two small holes in the tree trunk where the bare spot was, and fitted the extra branches in.

When decorated, it looked just like the branches had grown there... Kathy Hayes

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:
After a six months battle, I finally found a way to get my son to cut his shaggy locks off. Neither his girl friend nor her father approved of long, long hair. So I asked her if she would help ME by convincing him to get a decent hair cut the next time he went.

She did. Bless her always. Now instead of a sheep dog we have a nice looking son to be proud of again... Mother

Dear Heloise:
If your pet is shedding and your vacuum cleaner doesn't pick up all those stubborn matted-down hairs on your furniture and rugs, try using one of those plastic hair curlers with the small rows of teeth to loosen them.

It sure did the trick for me... Shirley Lowell dispenser. She had put liquid dishwashing detergent in one and keeps it sitting very sink.

It not only looks very attractive, but is oh so handy... M.C.B.

Dear Heloise:
Packaged dessert mixes often require the high speed of the mixer. So I cut a clean grocery bag up one side and put it over the mixer and small bowl. The bag catches all the spatters instead of my cupboards... Wieda Karstan

Dear Heloise:
Quite by accident I hit upon a very simple and delicious confection for the holidays. I happened to have a box of colored butter mints and a box of pitted dates on my pantry shelf.

You've guessed it! The mints are every bit as good as creamy filling and a great deal easier to fix... Marion Bishop

Medical Premiums Usually Deductible

COLLEGE STATION — Premiums paid on health insurance policies usually can be deducted — up to a point.

According to Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist, deductions of insurance premiums as a medical expense are limited to payments which cover medical care. This means any money paid for the diagnosis, cure, treatment, or prevention of disease, for malfunctions of the body or for transportation primarily for and essential to medical care, she explains.

Premiums paid for insurance covering reimbursement for loss of limb or loss of time resulting from sickness or accident are not deductible, Mrs. Myers says. Premiums on insurance that provides only for reimbursement of prescription drug costs are deductible.

The Extension Service specialist at Texas A&M University advises keeping records of all medical costs. One never knows at the beginning of the year if such cost will be large enough to justify itemizing at income tax time.

Altar Society Has Holiday Party

Mrs. Fred Hyer presided at the buffet table and Mrs. W. Ward attended the coffee service. 'Quotable Quotes'

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"They know they're going to be there four or five months and so, they figure, why think about girls too much?"—Actress Tippy Hedren reporting on GI attitudes after a trip to Vietnam.

"Civilizations in the past which have died have died drunk and the American nation will go the same way unless there is a turn in the tide."—Ruth Toose, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, on the 35th anniversary of the repeal of Prohibition.

"It's a good life moneywise, especially for a quarterback because the money comes early."—Mrs. Fran Tarkenton, wife of New York Giants quarterback, commenting on professional football.

"My writing is a result of gratitude to books I have read and to persons I have known and I do not see why gratitude should be given a medal."—Famed American poet Marianne Moore, 81, upon receiving the $5,000 National Medal for Literature.

"The title of Miss World did not help me at all. It brought me money, but also more disillusion than happiness."—Madeline Hartog Bell of Peru, Miss World 1968, after crowning her successor in London.

"I'm absolutely positively normal and I just want to stay that way. I come from a small high school and have friends and relatives like everybody else."—Melissa Babish, 18, of Pittsburgh, after being named the new Miss Teenage America.

"Intellectuals are very touchy. Any noise, any unexpected visitor the smallest break in the household routine drives my husband out of his mind. Evenings, for instance, I join him in the living room, but must remain as quiet and inconspicuous as a mouse."—Mrs. Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, wife of the French writer and newspaper publisher, in an interview.

"It would be very easy for critics and observers to fit one first lady into a mold created by another, a mold which might prove uncomfortable to every one. I would hope our president's wife would always have the freedom to do what comes naturally."—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson in a speech.

"At meals, I find the general conversational level is much higher. The girls gossip less and the guys try to show their different interests."—Joan Lamayson, a Stanford junior and one of 20 coeds who have moved into the once all-male Lambda Nu fraternity house.

"I guess to Aunt Mary, that money was cash on hand. It all depends on the yardstick you use to measure money."—Mrs. Melvin G. Faris upon learning that police had found almost $250,000 in cash, securities and dividends in the home of her deceased aunt.

Senior Citizens Need Hospital Care More Often

COLLEGE STATION — One out of every six older people will enter a hospital during 1969, many because of poor health and safety practices, according to a specialist for aging with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Most people more than 65 years old stay in the hospital an average of two weeks, twice as long as the average stay of younger people. And the bill will be twice as large, adds Dorothy Taylor.

Persons more than 65 years of age often wait to see a physician until it is too late because they have inadequate resources to meet medical expenses, explains Miss Taylor at Texas A&M University.

Some are modest, some hope to avoid charity and others do not want to burden their families. So they put off seeking medical attention and hope the ailment cures itself.

Sometimes senior citizens try to treat themselves. From previous experiences, they feel capable of diagnosing their ailment. They may use home cures, medications from friends or the wrong medicines, warns Miss Taylor.

Senior citizens often are victims of poor diets. Food fads, food habits and lack of interest in eating when dining alone may lead to poor nutrition, says the specialist.

The older person's diet may be determined less by good judgment and more by the cost of the food or the ease with which it may be prepared.

Poor safety habits also can bring poor health. Two out of three accidents in which aged persons are involved occur in the home.

A LOVELIER YOU

Solutions Solve Hair Grooming Problem

By MARY SUE MILLER
What's your hair grooming problem? Solutions are to be found to the usual difficulties in these new handy-dandy gadgets.

In its own zippered tote bag, a miniswinger hair dryer — so small that a child can handle it. The advantages for traveling as well as home use are obvious.

Also in a carrying case, satin pillow slips that help to keep your hair in order while you sleep. Set 'n' stay is the idea. Because of special weaving and blending, the material works to keep your hairstyle in place.

Slips are pastel pretty and hand washable.
Rollers with a new concept: that of magnetic mini-teeth. There's no glide or slide while setting. Teeth grip your hair and, owing to double vents, speed drying time. Sizes meet the needs of current hairdo's. A very small "tousle" size takes care of very short, curly do's.

For do-it-yourself wiggers, home wig kits come on strong. These include a foam wig block, wiglet block, styling stand with a suction base, and wig T-pins. Use just might turn an amateur wigger into a professional.

If these ideas have not touched your grooming problem, watch the column. More to come.

HAVE LOVELIER HAIR
Overcome your hair problems! Send for my booklet, "How to Have Lovelier Hair." Advice includes: corrective care of dry, abused, oily and hard-to-manage hair; expert coloring methods and treatment of tinted hair; hairstyle formulas; tips on perfection cutting, permanents, straightening and grooming. Write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald for your copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Club Hears Choir At Luncheon

Mrs. Grant Boardman's first class at St. Mary's Episcopal school sang Christmas carols at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Child Study Club at Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Boardman explained the Mary Cardin teaching method used at the school.

Mrs. Lester Morton reported a need for children's chairs at Big Spring State Hospital and the club agreed to provide four chairs.

The entertaining rooms were decorated for the holiday season, and the table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a Christmas decoration.

Three new members, Mrs. W. A. Riley, Mrs. Ronald Wasson and Mrs. Larry Stanley, were welcomed. Four guests, Mrs. Alvis Harry, Mrs. Ross Boykin, Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith and Mrs. Louis McKnight, were introduced.

Mrs. Paul Guy Named 'Outstanding Member'

Mrs. Paul Guy was selected "outstanding member" of the Planter's Garden Club during Wednesday's Christmas luncheon in the home of Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, 819 W. 7th.

Mrs. J. O. Murphy created a display arrangement entitled "An Unusual Christmas Arrangement," made from styrofoam balls and toothpicks frosted with artificial snow and decorated with small red Christmas balls. The display was presented to the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Gifts were exchanged from a decorated tree, and secret pal gifts were exchanged. Mrs. Guy worded prayer.

It was announced that the club has decorated the east ward of the VA Hospital for the Christmas holiday. Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales served as chairman. Mrs. Frank Wilson was named nominating committee chairman and other members are Mrs. Perry Dally and Mrs. S.

WIC Holds Party In Blue Room

The Blue Room of Cosden Country Club was the scene Wednesday evening of a Christmas dinner party held by the Women in Construction. Club members exchanged gifts and presented a gift to the president, Mrs. Johnnie Winham. Mrs. Winham gave each member a plate which she purchased during travels in various states.

Lamesan's 'Fiddle' Is Put Safely Away In Bank Vault

LAMESA (SC) — Walter Lentz has removed a violin from 20 years of storage in his Lamesa home and placed it gently into a bank vault after verifying the instrument may be worth a fortune.

The violin is believed to have been made more than 200 years ago by the world's most famous violin craftsman — Antonius Stradivarius.

One authority on the subject, Mattie Fair, Muskogee, Okla., said the instrument possesses unlimited value.

Retaining what was appraised recently as "excellent condition" despite a colorful history on New Mexico square dance floors under the guise of a "fiddle," the violin has been passed down through the generations and has been in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Lentz for more than 20 years.

The now 80-year-old Mrs. Fair supplied Lentz with a letter in which she stated she believes the violin is, indeed, one made personally by Antonius Stradivarius.

Declining to estimate the instrument's market worth, she wrote only: "I value this violin as unlimited (sic) value."

Lentz is not a collector "and can't even play a violin." He said that the instrument is for sale "at the right price."

He declined to name a figure, but he noted that some authenticated Stradivarius violins

WALTER LENTZ AND HIS TREASURE
Old violin thought to be a Stradivarius have sold "for from $50,000 to $80,000," since the death of Nathaniel Crane, Mrs. Lentz' grandfather. Mr. Crane used to make most of his living by playing at square dances all over New Mexico. He was given the violin back when he was a young man in Uvalde County (Tex.) by someone, but we don't know who." Crane operated a ranch near Hope, N.M.

"We knew it had a Stradivarius marking in it . . . but we had never really thought much about it until recently, mainly because we didn't know how to go about finding out whether it was really worth anything."

A chance conversation led Lentz to Mrs. Fair, who attested to its value.

The violin has a small emblem bearing the letters "AS," with a small cross slightly above and between the letters. The three appear in a circle, less than half an inch in diameter, and all are inside the back of the violin along with the inscription "Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis" and "Faciebat Anno 17."

There is a tiny crack down the back, and Stradivarius was one of the few makers who used two pieces of wood for the backs of his instruments. The crack is repairable, and the tone can be restored, according to Mrs. Fair, who said the wood and varnish were in excellent condition.

Reference books note that Stradivarius left some 200 partially-finished violins upon his death, later completed by his sons. While these are valuable, they are not valuable to the extent of those hand-crafted by the master. But Lentz is not taking chances on which his violin might be; hence its storage in the bank.

Don't Call Us, We'll Call You With Complaints

AUSTIN (AP) — The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. hurriedly recovered hundreds of the new Greater Austin telephone directory Wednesday after customers clogged the switchboard with complaints. Seems the first 96 pages of the Greater Houston phone book were included in place of the B, C, and D listings in many copies of the 537-page directory.

With the copies recovered, Southwestern Bell workers dug in to the eye-straining task of finding the incorrect directories from among this year's 278,000 copies.

"We think there are only about 7,000 copies with the Houston listings," a company spokesman said. "At least from our calculations we think there aren't any more than that."

Division Manager Bill Holman said the error occurred during storage of various page sections before final binding.

He said pages are stacked in 96-page sections in collating rows in the Houston warehouse. Somehow, sections of the Austin directory were filed on top of sections of the Houston book and were mixed up when a forklift hoisted them away to be bound, he said.

It's Party Time For Hungry Thugs

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — Thieves stole a stereo player from Benedina School. Along with it they took 30 pounds of hamburger, 40 pounds of flour, 12 pounds of hot dogs, one frozen turkey, one and one-half gallons of honey, one case of fish sticks, two gallons of peaches and a case of frozen vegetables.

Col. Reid Replaces Maj. Nelson In T-37 Operations

The Doctor's Degree of Jet Flight Instruction and the Master Instructor plaques hanging in Maj. William Nelson's office at Webb AFB will be coming off the wall shortly. The T-37 operations officer with the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron will leave Webb for MacDill AFB, Fla., in early January to fly the F-4 Phantom II.

Replacing him is Lt. Col. Robert L. Reid, who arrived at the base in September. Initially a T-37 instructor pilot, he moved up as operations officer Dec. 1. However, he will not officially take over the job until Maj. Nelson departs.

As T-37 operations officer, the colonel will be the over-all supervisor of flying in the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron. This is Col. Reid's second tour-of-duty at Webb. He also served as a T-33 instructor pilot, section supervisor and briefly as operations officer in the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron from 1953 to 1960.

He requested and received Webb a second time after having spent one year in Saudi Arabia where he served as commander of the advisory detachment to a Saudi Arabian fighter unit there.

The 21-year-old Air Force command pilot originally enlisted in the service in 1946. After three years, he returned to civilian life and studied engineering at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan. Two years later, he was recalled to active duty. He entered pilot training at Kinston, N.C., and received his wings at Bryan in 1952.

Advanced gunnery school at Nellis AFB, Nev., came next, followed by his first of two overseas tours. The colonel flew the F-86 in Hahn, Germany, for three years. He returned and was assigned to Webb. Four years later he moved to Randolph AFB as operations officer for the 3300th Support Squadron.

Col. Reid has logged more than 7,000 flying hours. He has recorded 5,300 hours of rated jet time and 4,000 hours of instructor pilot time.

The colonel and his wife, the former Betty Luckey of Glen Elder, Kan., have four children. The eldest, 20-year-old Victor, is a junior at Texas A&M, Vance, 17, is currently attending high school in San Antonio, Daria, 15, and Vernon, 7, are living with the family in Big Spring.

While Col. Reid has spent most of his service time in Texas, Maj. Nelson has served mostly at Hill AFB, Utah, and Yokota AB, Japan.

Maj. Nelson also initially entered the Air Force through the enlisted ranks in 1951. He entered pilot training at Columbus AFB, Miss., in 1952 and received his wings one year later at Reese AFB.

The major, another command pilot, then was assigned to Hill as a maintenance squadron commander. While there, he was the installation squadron commander in charge of the re-opening of Wendover AFB, Utah. The base has since been de-activated. He next moved to Blytheville AFB, Ark., and was instrumental in the opening of the 461st Bomber Wing there, tactical bombers.

An assignment to Yokota AB followed. There the major flew the RB-66 in addition to PACAF reconnaissance duties.

He returned to Hill in 1959 to serve as assistant operations officer for training in the 467th Defense Systems Evaluation Squadron. With his tour completed at Hill, the major again returned to Yokota, this time to serve with the 3rd Bomb Wing, 13th Bomb Squadron. A four-month temporary duty assignment to Vietnam interrupted the major's stay at Yokota. He flew the L-19 and was one of the first forward air controllers to serve in the Vietnamese conflict.

He returned to Yokota to serve as chief of training and assistant chief of the 41st Air Division's standardization-evaluation team after service in Vietnam. The major was subsequently assigned to Webb in January, 1965. He had been a T-37 instructor pilot, flight commander and section commander before assuming the operations officer position in April, 1968.

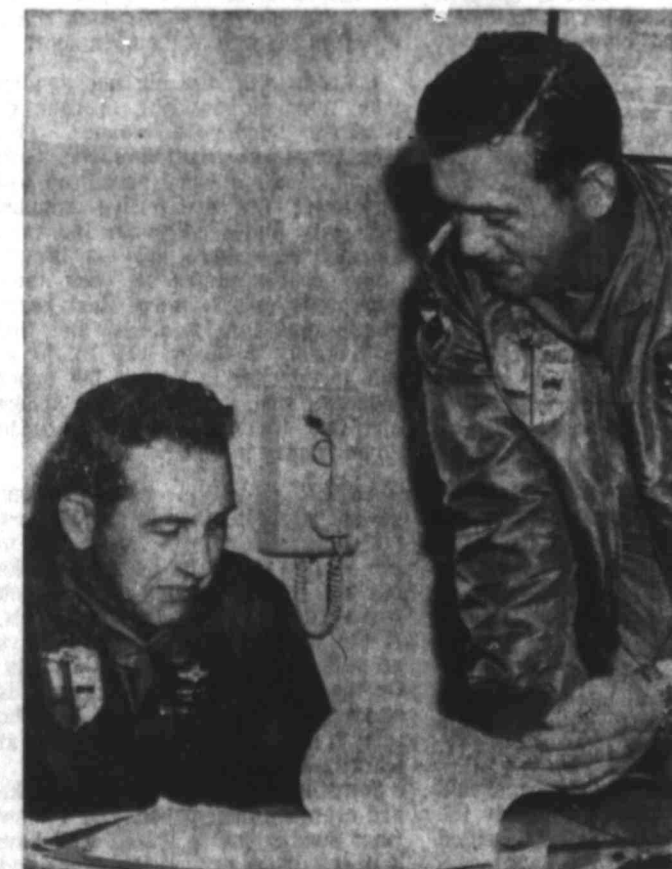

The major has 4,000 flying hours to his credit; 3,200 of which are rated jet time. He and his wife, the former Elaine Potts of Portland, Ore., have two children.

Astro Says Reds Missed Chance

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Astronaut Walter R. Cunningham says the Russians apparently missed any chance to beat the United States in sending a manned spacecraft around the moon.

The three-day Apollo 8 flight is to begin Dec. 21. "The opportunity time this month" for Soviet scientists to send up their own craft is now passed, Cunningham said while visiting schools he attended in his hometown. "We've finally beaten them," he added.

Cunningham, Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra orbited earth for 11 days in Apollo 7 last month as a prelude to the Apollo 8 moon orbit.

A Devotional For The Day

I will deliver thee in that day, saith the Lord: and thou shalt not be given into the hand of the men of whom thou art afraid. I will surely deliver thee, and thou shalt not fail by the sword. (Jeremiah 39:17-18)

PRAYER: Blessed Lord, give us thankful hearts—hearts that see the blessings all around us, hearts that overflow with thanks unto Thee, the giver of every good and perfect gift. In Christ's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Need Is Great, Time Is Short

There is never a dearth of opportunities to give all during the year, and especially at Christmas time. However, we do want to commend to our people one project of long standing.

It is the Salvation Army kettle appeal.

This week the kettles are a week or so late going up, and this was in order to enable the kettles to be operated entirely by volunteers. In this way, every penny will go to the Christmas basket fund.

Every penny that goes to remembering unfortunate families at Christmas must come from the Christmas collection. All other funds go to regular operations during the year.

So, if we do not open our hearts promptly and generously, some 300 families may be slighted when we most want to remember them in Christ's name.

Please, please give as you pass the kettles, and speak a word to friends encouraging them to give. The need is great, and time is so short.

Ban Anonymous Swiss Accounts

Suggestions that the new Congress should outlaw Americans' use of anonymous numbered accounts in Swiss banks should get serious attention. Such legislation should be approved if hearings can help formulate reasonably effective enforcement of such a ban.

There is no essential legitimate reason for American use of that type of account. The Swiss government protects them because it is profitable international business, harmless to that country. But for the United States, the confidential numbered accounts are highly objectionable both as a high road to tax evasion and an open channel for the underworld's "hot money" to invade this nation's business and financial community. An unscrupulous American speculator, bent on tax evasion, can deposit funds in a numbered account in a Swiss bank, direct the bank to buy stocks on the American markets and to sell them if they go up, with the profit remaining in the anonymous account. There is no way, under U.S. or Swiss law, for the Internal Revenue Service to determine the amount of that profit or who made it, much less collect the capital gains tax due on it.

Similarly, high profits accruing to organize crime can be deposited in such Swiss accounts to be anonymously reinvested in legitimate business and industry. Racketeers thus can not only avoid the risk of detection of illegal operations involved in investing hard-to-explain funds but can also evade taxation on their incomes both from crime and crime-financed investments.

The Nixon Cabinet

WASHINGTON — As the problems of government change in scope from time to time, so do the functions of a President's cabinet. Mere announcement by President-elect Nixon of the names of the 12 men who are to be his cabinet secretaries or even a reading of their biographies doesn't tell the real story of how the group will operate under the new administration.

William F. Rogers, for example, appointed Secretary of State, is not a foreign-policy expert. But he is a good administrator and, as a former head of the Department of Justice, he knows a great deal about the organization problems inside a big government department.

WHAT MR. NIXON has done is to pick a cabinet in which certain members will be policymakers and others will be administrators who will carry out the policies laid down by the President and some of the special advisers he will have at his elbow.

Thus, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, as presidential assistant on national security, will be able to give his full time at the White House to the study of all aspects of foreign policy without being encumbered, as a Secretary of State normally is, with the duties of supervision of the assistant secretaries and the heads of the various divisions of the huge department, including its many embassies and missions abroad.

UNQUESTIONABLY Mr. Nixon will make foreign policy based upon the advice given him by Dr. Kissinger and on suggestions that come from his Secretary of State, who will be transmitting ideas submitted by the officials in close contact with day-by-day diplomatic developments.

AS FOR fiscal and monetary policies, Mr. Nixon will depend largely on the recommendations of his Secretary of the Treasury, David M. Kennedy, who is at present chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Company and a member of the federal advisory council of the Federal Reserve System. He was on the staff of the Federal Reserve Board for 19 years and became special assistant to the board's chairman. He later served as a special assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury during the Eisenhower administration. So he has an intimate knowledge of the many technical questions that arise in the Treasury Department.

ON FINANCIAL problems, Mr. Nixon will have, too, the help of Maurice Stans, a former director of the budget, who is now to become Secretary of Commerce, and the assistance of the new budget director, Robert P. Mayo, who worked for the Treasury Department from 1941 to 1960.

There are broad questions of policy involved in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare as well as in the Department of Housing and Urban Development. But the cabinet secretaries of these departments will have the benefit of the advice given by Dr. Patrick Moynihan, who will head up the new office of urban affairs in the White House. The Secretary of Transportation and the Vice President also will be members of this agency.

THERE WILL BE other combinations of cabinet officers and special White House advisers who will work together to make policy — subject, of course, to the final approval of Mr. Nixon himself.

Some cabinet posts, like that of the Postmaster General, are primarily administrative jobs. In the case of other cabinet secretaries, too, the chief requirement is to administer the statutes enacted by Congress which set forth the policy to be followed in the expenditure of public funds.

THE DEPARTMENT of Agriculture, the Interior Department and the Department of Labor are largely autonomous and can deal with their own internal questions without special staffs at the White House.

Mr. Nixon has chosen a cabinet consisting of men who will work closely with him and who will be amenable to the suggestions resulting from their research carried on by the special staff of advisers at the White House whose appointments have already been announced.

Politics As Profession

LUCKNOW, India (AP) — The leader of the right wing Swantrata party, M. R. Masani, wants politicians to undergo special training before they "are allowed to enter the field."

"If training could be imparted to teachers, doctors, engineers and journalists, why not politicians?" says Masani.

Jack Lefler Little Restraint Shown On Bullish Trend

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 76 million Americans are working—a record for this time of year—and they are spending money as never before.

This is the case despite the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge imposed last July 1 in an effort to restrain the economy's headlong advance and to stem ballooning inflation.

The Labor Department reported this past week that total employment rose in November to 76.6 million, up 250,000 from October to a record for the month.

At the same time the unemployment rate fell to a 15-year low of 9.3 per cent of the labor force. The rate in October was 9.6 per cent, the average level for the year to date.

PEAK SALES
Retail sales climbed in November to a monthly record of $29.1 billion, a gain of 1.5 per cent above the October level.

The New York Stock Exchange estimated that consumer spending in 1968 would top the record 1967 total by 10 per cent. And it said consumer income rose 7.1 per cent between mid-1967 and mid-1968.

Economists said much of the rise in retail sales came from consumers dipping into their savings to offset the bite out of their paychecks from the tax increases.

The savings rate fell from 7.5 per cent of income before enactment of the surcharge to 6.25 per cent by September.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York said business activity remains strong and price increases "have continued at an excessive pace."

There was considerable activity this past week on various sectors of the price front.

The steel price picture was muddled by seemingly unrelated moves by producers.

U.S. Steel Corp. and Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. joined in a $7 a ton boost for long-turned sheets, a small item, which was initiated by Armco Steel Corp.

National Steel Corp. raised its price for galvanized sheet $4 a ton after most major producers announced an $8 hike. Jones & Laughlin and Republic Steel joined.

HIKE VARIES
Inland Steel Co. increased its price for fully processed hot-rolled sheets and coils by $17 a ton.

Aluminum Corp. of America boosted prices on two grades of coiled litho sheet and foil by 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound.

Dow Chemical increased prices of dry-cleaning fluids and other solvents. Du Pont Co., Monsanto Co. and Rexall Drug & Chemical Co. boosted prices of polyethylene coating resins used mainly for milk container coating.

And even the cost of a headache may go up. Monsanto said it was boosting its price by 1 1/2 cents a pound its price for pharmaceutical grade crystal and powder salicylic acid, which is used in the preparation of aspirin and analgesics.

PLYWOOD PRICE CUT
Moving in the opposite direction, Georgia-Pacific Corp. and Weyerhaeuser Co. lowered their prices on sanded plywood to $110 per 1,000 square feet from $118.

Control Data Corp. shook up the computer industry this past week by filing an antitrust suit against giant International Business Machines Corp.

Control Data, a younger and much smaller manufacturer, alleged that IBM, with annual sales of more than $5 billion, tried to monopolize the computer business. It asked the U.S. District Court in St. Paul, Minn., to consider breaking up IBM. IBM denied the charges.

Automobile production this past week dipped to an estimated 208,400 passenger cars from 210,259 the previous week but was up from the 200,693 assembled a year earlier.

Steel production slipped 0.3 per cent last week to 2,346,000 tons from 2,358,000 tons the previous week.

Around The Rim Keep Those Cards Going Out, Folks

This corner is not going to knock the Christmas spirit, but let's face it, the business of getting out the Christmas cards is a strain on this very spirit.

I sure wouldn't use my household as an example, but can easily imagine a place where the couple goes about the greeting card chore.

IT USUALLY starts on a Sunday afternoon when the Lady of the House calls to her spouse, "It's time we got the cards addressed." This comes just as Baltimore is scoring the winning touchdown in the last 15 seconds on TV, so he says, "You go ahead and do it, honey."

And she answers, "No sir-ee. Your name is on these cards and you're going to help address them."

The Male of the House says, "Alright, alright, as soon as I get all the final scores. You want to call off the names and let me write, or do you want me to call off the names?"

SHE REPLIES: "Of course I'll have to do the writing. You're too messy. But just don't mumble when you read the addresses."

You can see the Christmas spirit coming forth right here.

They clear a table, get out the cards, look up last year's address list. What they don't know, if they haven't subscribed to the services of a research organization, is that of last year's list, 1.2 per cent have died, 1.4 per cent have gotten divorced, 4.6 per cent have moved without advising of the fact, and 2.8 per cent are names that can't even be remembered.

BUT HERE they go. He starts reading:

"Dorothy and Bill Bradstreet."

She tops. "Are you sure they sent us a card last year?"

"Well, it's on the list, but if you want to cut 'em off it's all right with me."

"No," she says. "If we did that, they might cut us off next year. Go ahead and give me the address."

THEY RUMBLE on, worrying about whether the Orkelsteins still live where they used to, or if the Laberrys are still living together.

"What about the Ashworths?" he asks.

"No," she says. "I haven't seen her in two years."

"But I go hunting with Herb Ashworth every fall," he protests.

"Then get your own card," which is the typical feminine twist.

He finally gets to this one: "Clara and Jerry."

"Clara and Jerry who?" the Lady asks.

"HOW SHOULD I know? It just says Clara and Jerry. They must be friends of yours. Don't mean a thing to me."

"Well, what's the address?"

"It says 'Globe, Arizona.'"

"Are you SURE you don't know a Jerry in Globe? Is he a business acquaintance?"

"I just told you I don't know who he is. Clara is probably somebody you played bridge with last January. You remember all your bridge partners?"

"Don't get nasty," she said. "I'll just go ahead and send the card to 'Clara and Jerry' and see if they get it."

"THAT'S A BIG help to the post office department," he ventures rather caustically.

"Well, if you think I'm going to leave out any of my good friends, you're crazy."

"Good grief," he mutters. And this is where the Christmas spirit gets strained.

Marquis Childs If Johnson And Kosygin Talked—

PARIS — The reports that President Johnson is thinking of a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Kosygin at the conclusion of a grand tour of Europe is received on this side of the Atlantic with decidedly mixed emotions. Well-meaning, yes. But what can be accomplished by a President whose term in office has only six weeks more to run?

THIS IS THE question raised even by those who give the President high marks for noble intentions. If the power of decision in Washington is dubious with a new administration so soon to take over, the uncertainties of decision in Moscow are almost as great. This reporter, talking with Kremlinologists in four Western capitals, both official and unofficial analysts of the mysteries of the little band of men who govern that vast country, has arrived at a picture deeply disturbing in the division of authority it suggests.

THERE ARE three principal areas of doubt. First the top men in the Kremlin — Kosygin, Leonid Brezhnev, Secretary of the Communist party, and the others — are themselves at odds over the course to be followed in policy toward the outside world.

The second area of doubt concerns the Middle East and the Soviet thrust into that region vital to Western interests, both for its oil and its strategic importance. Here, many analysts agree, is the greatest danger to peace today, far greater than the fact of the Czech occupation and the threat that other Eastern European countries may suffer a similar fate.

THE SOVIETS put the highest priority on the reopening of the Suez Canal. That it remains closed 18 months after the end of the lightning Egyptian-Israeli war of 1967 exacts a heavy penalty on Soviet shipping to the Far East. Far more important it puts a crimp in the Soviet plan for a massive naval presence in the Indian Ocean.

In the third area the doubts are greatest and the facts hardest to come by. This concerns conditions within the Soviet Union and the reports of widespread discontent and even overt unrest.

THE PUBLIC PROTEST of a

Art Buchwald How To Bake A Sunday Paper

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when, because of inclement weather and bad pitches by groggy newsboys, your Sunday newspaper may be arriving in a wet or soggy condition. Most people get angry at this state of affairs, mainly because they don't know how to dry and bake a good Sunday paper. Once you know how to do this, you may never fear getting a wet newspaper again.

MY RECIPE for baking a newspaper was handed down in my family from one generation to the next, and even on the rainiest, snowiest, sleetest day our family always has had the crispiest, tastiest Sunday newspaper on the block.

As a public service, it is my intention to pass on this family recipe to my loyal and devoted readers.

First, preheat oven to 300 degrees.

While you're doing that, drain off liquid from the paper and put aside.

Now get a sharp knife and start peeling off the sections of paper — from the front section, then the society, sports, comics and so forth. Wipe each section lightly with a damp cloth, and roll to evenly out.

BY THIS TIME your oven should be hot. If it isn't, you can study the wet football scores or the classified advertisements.

Once your oven is hot enough, arrange the sections of the newspaper handful of intellectuals, courageous men and women like Pavel Litvinov and Larissa Daniel, are dramatic but in a sense irrelevant. The phenomenon that must give the Kremlin nightmares is the reported illusions of the middle level of scientists, technicians, professional men and women. According to reports of observers recently in Russia with an opportunity to make firsthand contacts, they no longer believe in the system.

The greatest disillusion, bitterness actually, is over high prices, shoddy goods and workmanship and promises falling so far short of performance. It is here that Johnson confronting Kosygin might find an opening. For the burden of the cost of modern armaments in a country where 50 per cent of the people are still in agriculture is merciless.

BELATEDLY the Kremlin is said to have come to realize what it would mean to put the antiballistic missile on top of this burden. With an added cost of up to $50 billion the hope of more and better consumer goods and a somewhat easier life would fade into the grey, harsh, continuing austerity which is the existence of most Soviet citizens.

Here for the Western European is the crux of the matter.

HOWEVER MUCH in the pessimistic view they may dismiss a Johnson-Kosygin summit and a grand tour of Europe as a noble and yet futile gesture, they still cherish a kernel of hope. For the conviction is growing that once this fantastic weapon is put in place over the next five to 10 years the arms race will have reached the ultimate point of no return, with the decision on nuclear war, in effect, taken out of human reach with irreversible controls built into those fabulous and yet wholly futile machines.

A small beginning — an agreement to start missile talks at a fairly low level — might just possibly come out of a summit even at this last end of the Johnson presidency. If it happened with the sanction of President-elect Nixon the future would have a slight coloration of hope.

on the racks of the oven, but make sure they do not touch each other or get in the way of the oven door.

I KNOW that the big question on your mind is how long to bake or roast a Sunday newspaper. This depends strictly on the paper. Give 15 minutes for each pound of wet newspaper. But every five minutes turn over the sections on the rack so that they don't get too brown. Some people prefer to cook their newspaper on a roaster which keeps going around in a circle, and this is probably a faster way to do it. But the danger is that if the paper touches flame, it will go up in smoke and that won't leave you much to do on Sunday morning.

AFTER YOU'VE allowed your newspaper first to simmer, then stew and finally bake, you can test it to see if it's ready to be read. Take out the travel section, or the book review, and hold it in both hands.

If the paper seems firm and stays up stiff on its own accord, it's ready. On the other hand, if it sags or falls apart while you're holding it, put the rest of it back in the oven for at least another 10 minutes.

Sometimes people make a mistake and overcook their paper. You'll know your Sunday paper is too well-done if it gets black around the edges and has a funny smell to it.

Southwest Tool Marks 40 Years Of Service Here

Forty years of service in Howard County are being observed by Southwest Tool & Machine Company, 901 E. 2nd.

Nineteen of those years were spent at Forsan in the heart of the Howard-Glasscock oil pool, and the past 21 in Big Spring.

The Johnson family has been connected with the business since its creation, three years before it made its appearance in Howard County. The firm is directed today by James L. Johnson Jr. and his mother, Mrs. C. M. Adams, 1719 Harvard.

Basically, it fills the mission it had when established — to serve oilfield and industrial operators. However, the company does all sorts of machine work, even for the smallest and casual customers. It maintains a regular staff of eight shopmen.

Southwest Tool & Machine Company was organized originally by the late senior Mr. Johnson and L. R. Stroud at Santa Rita near the discovery of the famous Santa Rita No. 1 University which untopped the cork on Permian Basin oil play.

In 1928, however, with the Howard-Glasscock field in boom, a second outlet was established and eventually became the sole operation. While the basic elements of tool and machine work formed the backbone of the enterprise, it did have a large heavy blacksmith department to accommodate the cable tools which were used almost exclusively then.

About the time a second plant was opened in Big Spring, rotary rigs began to show signs of dominating the drilling business, so blacksmithing became secondary. This transition also meant a heavy investment in cable-tool fishing equipment was being left on Southwest's hands.

In a way, Jimmie Johnson didn't mind, for "we never had a fishing job in the day time. If the problem occurred in the day, tool pushers and rough-necks would come to town, discuss it at the tavern until late in the evening and then decide they had to get the tools right then."

Over the years, Southwest has worked with and for hundreds of operators, as well as industrial customers. It has scores of customers among smaller businesses and individuals.

The shop is equipped to do just about anything. A number of years ago when Cactus Paint Manufacturing Company was beginning, Southwest turned out the original mill and equipment for the operators. From the time it brought one of the (if not the) first electric welding machines into the area, it has kept abreast of equipment developments.

As a lad, Jimmie Johnson learned the trade, and although he does not pass himself off as an expert craftsman, he can operate anything in the plant. He assumed management about the time the plant was opened here

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Dec. 15, 1968 5-D

(the Forsan unit continued for a time). Earlier the elder Mr. Johnson had bought out Stroud, who had gone out-of-state to operate mining ventures they owned jointly. Later he organized a rock wool venture in El Paso, but he died just as this was pioneering in the insulation field.

Johnson is married to the former Emma Jean Archer of Fort Worth, and they have three children, Kathy, a teacher at Bauer; Jimmie, a junior business major at the University of Texas; and Jeanie, a freshman in HCJC. He is a member of the First Christian Church, the ABC Club, member of the Chamber of Commerce, and former director of the Big Spring Country Club. His mother has been active in the business since its beginning. Her brother, Byron Lilly, was associated with it for about a dozen years beginning in 1949.

Dear Abby

Better See Doc About Howard

DEAR ABBY: Howard (made up name) and I are both 25, and have been married for three years. We've had no serious problems to speak of until now, and I'm not so sure this is one.

A few months ago we went to a costume party. Howard dressed up in my clothes — falsies, wig, and made-up face. He shaved his legs and wore black fishnet panty hose and heels. He looked like a doll. No one knew who he was, and he got more attention from the men than I got.

Since that time Howard has bought some ladies lingerie and lounging clothes and now likes to dress up in them when we are home alone together. I can honestly say it hasn't hurt our marital relationship in the least. If anything, he seems to be more relaxed and more romantically inclined.

I have mixed feelings about this. Should I worry as long as the rest of our marriage is normal? HOWARD'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You had better have a talk with a doctor who is familiar with such off-beat behavior as Howard has suddenly evidenced. There is something "wrong" with a man who would so casually switch from the masculine to the feminine role and back again. And a wife who doesn't find it disconcerting is also a little odd.

DEAR ABBY: First of all, if you use my letter in your column, do not use my name, or mention the state from which I wrote.

My son who is now 12 has been smoking and chewing tobacco WITH HIS FATHER'S CONSENT since he was five years old.

I know this seems incredible, but it is a heart-breaking reality.

We are country people, but our son goes to a "city" school. I never allowed the boy to have tobacco of any kind, and I kept close tabs on him. But his father, who is a very heavy tobacco user, used to give it to our son and help him deceive me.

Could you send me the names of several doctors who could testify as to the harm tobacco can do a growing boy? My son cannot keep up with the other boys in sports, complains that he is "tired" and his color is bad. I think tobacco is the cause of this. Some of my friends say that I have already lost the battle, but I am not giving up. Please give me what help you can.

STILL FIGHTING

DEAR STILL: If you believe that your husband has been encouraging your son since age five in the use of tobacco, you need a lawyer! You may also need a doctor. For your husband. And if you let this go, with the evidence you believe you have, you may need a doctor for yourself. For goodness sake, lose no time in telling your lawyer the story you have told me.

DEAR ABBY: How does a hostess keep her guests out of the kitchen? It makes me nervous to have other women in the kitchen with me when I am serving a meal. I am well organized and prefer to do things alone, but when women insist on coming into my tiny kitchen to "help" me, I could scream.

They don't even ask. They jump right up from the table when I get up to clear it, and they start collecting dishes and setting them in the kitchen every which way, and there is such a mess I become nervous and upset.

I have seen other hostesses in similar situations, so if you will print this, with some advice on how to keep people out of the kitchen you would help us all.

NERVOUS

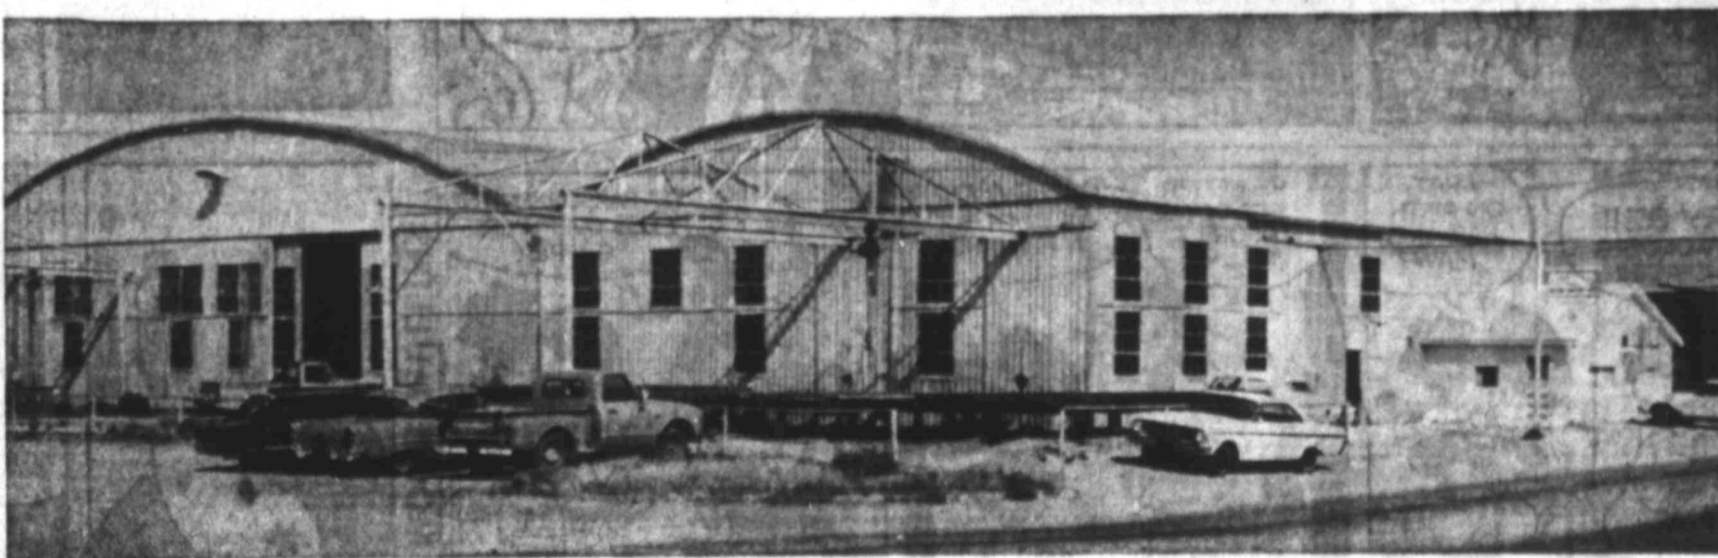

DEAR NERVOUS: You sound like one of those good-natured women who hasn't the courage to speak her mind. Better to build the snow fence before the blizzard hits. Make the announcement in advance that your kitchen is OFF LIMITS, and you neither want nor need any help. If a guest starts to "help" you — tell her AGAIN. If you have to raise your voice a little, raise it. It's the only tone some people take seriously.

'Anzio' Opens Here Tonight

Dino de Laurentis' epic production of "Anzio," World War II drama starring Robert Mitchum, opens today at the Jet Theatre. The release, filmed in Panavision and Technicolor, was directed by Edward Dmytryk. Co-starring are Peter Falk, Earl Holliman, Mark Damon, Reni Santoni, Thomas Hunter, Anthony Steel and Wayne Preston with Arthur Kennedy and special guest star Robert Ryan as General Carson. "Anzio" was produced by Dino de Laurentis from a screenplay by Harry A. L. Craig based on the book by Wynford Vaughan-Thomas.

'DON'T RAISE BRIDGE ...'
Jerry Lewis tries to make a buck

Jerry Lewis Returns In Frenetic Comedy At Ritz

Jerry Lewis recently went to London on holiday. The happy result is "Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River," the release at the Ritz Theatre in Technicolor. A Walter Shenson production directed by Jerry Lewis, "Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River" was filmed from a screenplay by Max Wilk about an American operator whose grandiose get-rich-quick schemes keep him in constant hot water with his British wife, his friends, his enemies ... and with girls. The names are important, not only in their own right, but because they meant that Lewis could concentrate happily on the frenetic type of comedy for which he is most famous. He could enjoy himself acting, and let the behind-the-scenes problems be taken care of by others instead of, as he had been doing in recent years, by Lewis himself.

Instead of "producer" Jerry Lewis, there was Shenson who had made the fantastic Beatles' pictures. Instead of "director" Jerry Lewis, there was Paris, who had directed many of the Dick Van Dyke television shows. Instead of "writer" Jerry Lewis, there was Wilk who also was author of the popular novel on which the film is based.

And, of course, instead of his previous hectic pre- and current production activities, there was a comedian Jerry Lewis alone, a name and a talent to conjure with. "Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River" is considered by the star his most rambunctious performance in years. Incidentally, during one month's shooting of "Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River," 17 hours of television programming in England, France, Western Germany, Italy and the Netherlands were devoted to the star Jerry Lewis as performer, director or in the French Riviera, where he attended the Cannes Film Festival.

'Odd Couple' In Return Run

"I feel very grateful about the wonderful course my career has taken since I picked up an Oscar for my role in "The Fortune Cookie." I teamed with Jack Lemmon to do "The Odd Couple," reports Walter Matthau. The picture opens Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre.

"It hasn't been an overnight thing. The road to the Oscar was pretty rough and rugged as I reflect upon the past. I lived in cold-water flats until I was 23, and had guilt problems about being a success. But acting is a form of self-expression and social adversity frustrates you. So you need to express yourself. Had I grown up in a palace I doubt I would have made much of an actor.

"As a kid in New York I used to lock myself in the bathroom reading Shakespeare for hours at a time. I just liked the sound of words. My father was a sensitive, intelligent man who was completely crushed by the competitive system. He left the family soon after I was born. My mother worked in the garment industry as a seamstress to support my brother and me. I remember always being cold as a kid. Even now I like places that are warm.

"In 1940 I went to work for the WPA as a boxing coach. I had had a lot of fights as a kid but I don't know much about boxing. The WPA instructors showed me a couple of principles like keeping your chin down and your right up. Then they said: "Don't get into a fight with any of these kids. They'll lick hell out of you."

"Streetcar," I saw 186 performances — but only the last two acts. I'd wander inside at intermission and when the buzzer rang, I moved with the crowd into the standing room section and watched Brando. He was one of the great actors of our time.

"It is the actor's job to say what the author has written and to play it the best way he knows how — not to try to bring it into his own squalid little area of experience.

"Every good actor for centuries has used the Method. The Method is simply coming onstage from some place the character might have been — a New York bar, a railroad track. Most actors coming onstage are just actors coming in from offstage. They have no density, no dimension. They are bad actors.

'THE SPLIT'
Jim Brown and Ernest Borgnine

Ex-Grid Star Has Lead Role

Rob the Los Angeles Coliseum of half-a-million dollars during a sellout football game? It sounds impossible. But wait until you see "The Split," filmed with a brilliant all-star cast, including Jim Brown, Diahann Carroll, Julie Harris, Gene Hackman, Jack Klugman, Warren Oates, James Whitmore and Ernest Borgnine.

McClain (Jim Brown) and Gladys (Julie Harris) are the masterminds of the gang of professional criminals recruited to pull off the daring theft, with Bert Clinger (Ernest Borgnine) also importantly involved. After weeks of careful preparation, the $500,000 heist is executed without a hitch.

It has been decided that McClain will leave the money overnight with his ex-wife, Ellie (Diahann Carroll) who is still in love with him and consents to keep it on the condition that after the "split" the two of them will begin a new life outside the world of crime.

But while McClain is away, Ellie's landlord, Herb Sutro (James Whitmore), attempts forcibly to make love to her and in the ensuing struggle she is killed. Discovering the hidden money, Sutro makes off with it. Detective Brill (Gene Hackman), assigned to the case, is able to connect the murder with the robbery and, when the gang accuses McClain of taking the money, he makes a deal with Brill to help track down the killer in return for information about the stolen loot.

When Brill apprehends Sutro, he also finds the money and the temptation to keep it is too great. McClain, realizing that Brill has the money, demands a cut. Brill agrees and takes McClain to where the money is hidden, unaware that the gang is following them. Then, in an action-packed climax, the unlikely team of cop and crook fight the gang for possession of the half-million dollars.

A bare outline of the story of "The Split" cannot indicate the depth of cumulative suspense and taut drama this picture reaches under the perceptive direction of Gordon Fleming, nor of the impact made by its disparate characters. This is Jim Brown's first role on the wrong side of the law and he proves himself a formidable actor. On the touching side is his on-again-off-again romance with lovely Diahann Carroll. And Julie Harris makes the most of her very off-beat role of Gladys, who has seen everything and done everything.

Herman's Hermits Star In Swinger

A rollicking, romantic, song-filled adventure in today's swinging London, featuring the sensationally popular singing group, Herman's Hermits, led by Peter Noone, and the endearing comedian Stanley Holloway, "Mrs. Brown You've Got a Lovely Daughter" adds up to happy motion picture entertainment.

Filed in Panavision and Metrocolor on locations in Manchester and London, the Allen Klein production begins in the former city, where 19-year-old Herman Tulley (Peter Noone) and his budding pop-singers have become disillusioned with their hum-drum lives and yearn for the excitement of the Big Town and the chance to win fame and fortune.

Their opportunity arrives when Herman inherits a sleek racing greyhound which romps into first place in the Manchester heat of the national Greyhound Derby. With the winnings, Herman's Hermits are off to London, after fond farewells to Herman's devoted grandmother (Marjorie Rhodes) and to Tulp (Sheila White), the tomboyish girl-next-door who is hopelessly in love with Herman. Once in London they encounter a series of both hapless and humorous adventures, involving Mr. Brown (Sterling Holloway), a fruit-and-vegetable tycoon, and his wife (Mona Washborne), their glamorous daughter, Judy (Sarah Caldwell), who works as a model, and the Honorable Percy Sutton (Lance Percival), a philosophical tramp who becomes their first benefactor.

In the events that follow, the boys take the greyhound to the White City, London's famed greyhound arena, where the dog wins the preliminary heat for the Derby and is assured of a place in the final race. In the meantime, they are offered a night club engagement — and Herman falls in love with Judy Brown.

Just when it appears that Herman and his friends are nearing their goal of fame and fortune, catastrophe occurs. The dog disappears.
