Guarantees Nixon's Safety

BERLIN (AP) — Mayor Klaus Schuetz declared Saturday the dignity and security of President Nixon is guaranteed for his Feb. 27 visit to West Berlin.

The mayor gave this assurance in an interview with the newspaper Morgenpost on a day marked by further street demonstrations by the city's rambunctious New Left.

The leftist student leadership at the Technical University of Berlin called on students and young workers Friday to demonstrate against the U.S. chief executive when he shows up here on his European tour.

A U.S. presidential jet, a Boeing 707, practiced landings at the mid-city Tempelhof airfield despite snowy weather. Witnesses said it touched down and rolled in three times.

Tempelhof is ringed by high apartments and the runway of about 5,000 feet is shorter than those at the outlying Tegel airfield. But if Nixon could land safely at Tempelhof it would save time on his tight schedule.

Reds Denounce Reds

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Italy's Communist party ended its 12th national congress Saturday with a near-unanimous vote insisting on independence from Moscow and denouncing the Soviet Union anew for the occupation of Czechoslovakia.

In his closing remarks, the ailing 69-year-old party secretary, Luigi Longo, made a statement that could only irk the Kremlin. He said the week-long congress marked an "important step forward in our philosophy of independence . . . before everyone . . . in Italy and outside Italy."

Chopper Downed Here

Mechanics from Webb AFB were sent to the scene Saturday afternoon to help get a downed Marine helicopter to the base for repairs.

The disabled craft was forced to land eight miles south of Big Spring, and a Webb copter of Detachment 18, Western Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center, picked up the crew and returned them here. There were no injuries.

Officials said the Marine copter landed after a rough-landing engine made it unwise for them to continue.

Flies To Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon flew to Camp David Saturday to spend the weekend. It was his first visit as chief executive to the presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

The President was accompanied on the 60 mile trip by his wife, daughters Tricia and Julie, Julie's husband David Eisenhower, and Charles "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., a family friend.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

We've seldom had a better opportunity for rain than last week, but we had to settle for about a tenth of an inch or so. We had a couple of days of southeast wind, a buildup of clouds, promise of a cold front to run into this. In the end, however it was the same story — the front slid to the southeast and so did the rain. Unless we get a good one, however, it may be just as well. Those light rains could melt down clods in the plowed fields and invite blowing.

Missing a rain doesn't mean the country is going to the dogs. No indeed, not with the record of the police department's animal division for the past week or so. Reports show that 200 stray dogs have been picked up in that interval. The campaign is aimed at thinning the stray population before the sap rises in the spring.

8 Arrested Following 12 Bombings

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — Eight persons have been arrested following a dozen bombings and more than a score of harassments in communities south of San Francisco, police said Saturday.

BOOKED

The eight, including a woman, were booked Friday night on charges of aiding in unlawful acts of violence to effect political change, said Police Chief Victor Cizancas. Bail was set at $12,500 each.

A ninth person was being sought.

The eight arrested were linked by Cizancas with conservative political and anti-gun control groups.

The investigation covered about 40 incidents dating back to last October. Cizancas said. No one was injured in the incidents, he said, and damage was not serious.

PEACE MEETINGS

He said the bombings occurred at meetings of Concerned Citizens for Peace and the Peninsula Free University of Menlo Park and at bookstores owned by peace advocate Roy Kempley in Menlo Park and Los Altos and the home of Kirk Comstock, Palo Alto councilman.

ALLIES IGNORED COMMIE CEASE-FIRE

Cautious Tet Truce Declared

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam, with the consent of its allies, announced Saturday a 24-hour truce covering Tet, the lunar new year Monday, and warned it is ready to strike back if the enemy attacks.

The Viet Cong's seven-day cease-fire opened at 7 a.m. but the allies ignored it, pressing 60 large offensive sweeps looking for the enemy and raining more air blows along Saigon's approaches.

EXPECTED

Several minor enemy incidents marked the opening of the Viet Cong's truce, and more were expected. But allied sweeps failed to flush any sizeable enemy forces.

Wary lest the enemy lose an onslaught as it did during a Tet truce last year, the South Vietnamese government had delayed announcement of its own cease-fire.

"Prompted by the love of peace and the respect for the sacred traditions of its people, the government of the Republic of Vietnam declares a 24-hour truce on the occasion of the Ky Dau lunar new year, effective from 6 p.m. Feb. 16, 1969, to 6 p.m. Feb. 17, 1969," a Foreign Ministry statement said. "No offensive operations will be conducted during this period.

"The allied governments have been consulted in this matter and have endorsed the above decision.

NOT COMPLIED

"Experiences in previous truces have shown that Communist North Vietnam never complied with the truces. On the contrary, they took advantage of these occasions to attack our armed forces and population, as was the case during the Tet Mau Than (1968).

"In case of violations of the truce by North Vietnam and its auxiliary forces, the government of the Republic of Vietnam will take appropriate measures to assure security for the state and the population."

U.S. officials quickly concurred in the truce, a spokesman saying: "United States troops will observe the period of the suspension."

As the Viet Cong cease-fire began at 7 a.m., two guerrillas fired machine gun bursts at U.S. positions guarding the Y bridge on the southern edge of Saigon. There were no casualties.

TERRORISTS

Terrorists set off a bomb near a police guard post in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese quarter. A policeman was wounded.

Two terrorists killed a hamlet chief and a militiaman near Bong Son, a town 280 miles northwest of Saigon.

Previous holiday cease-fires have been marred by enemy violations. The worst was at Tet last year. Taking advantage of the fact that half of the South Vietnamese army was on holiday leave, the enemy launched the biggest offensive of the war against Saigon, the old imperial capital of Hue in the north and more than 120 other cities and towns.

This time, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops ranged throughout the countryside probing enemy base areas and searching for munitions caches as part of the strategy to preempt any enemy offensive.

TONS DROPPED

U.S. B52 Stratofortresses in another day of heavy raids dropped thousands of tons of explosives on likely enemy attack routes around the capital.

A government spokesman told newsmen that "according to intelligence reports, they (enemy) have been trying to attack us."

Anti-U.S. Riots Flare In Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Anti-American demonstrations flared into violence in three Turkish cities Saturday. More than 130 students were reported injured.

fought each other with clubs and stones at Trabzon on the Black Sea coast and with makeshift firebombs at the Aegean port city of Izmir. The fighting interrupted rallies protesting a visit to Istanbul by a unit of the U.S. 6th Fleet.

In Ankara about 6,000 marching teachers protested foreign influence on Turkish education. Later, a group of students attempting to demonstrate at American installations clashed with police. Several students were injured.

In Trabzon about 100 students were reported injured in a wild two-hour fight in a main square. Military troops were called in when riot police were unable to stop the melee.

It was the worst of several incidents in Turkey since four warships of the 6th Fleet, the carrier Forrestal and three destroyers arrived in Istanbul last Monday. The ships are on a week-long visit to this North Atlantic Treaty Organization partner.

In Izmir, about 30 students were injured after leftists burned a model of a U.S. warship and chanted anti-American slogans.

One reason for anti-American sentiment in Turkey is a belief that the United States failed to back this country in its dispute with Greece over Cyprus several years ago.

NOT ALL

Not all the violence in Turkey was provoked by anti-American feeling. Police patrolled the streets of Konya, about 150 miles south of Ankara, after a riot Friday in which police killed two persons and injured four others. Officials said a mob wrecked three police vehicles and attacked and burned a police station, claiming police had beaten a driver.

homes and house trailers. Police radio in Winter Haven and radio Station WJPC in Lake Wales were silenced when antennas toppled in the wind.

Just behind the front, angry tides struck along the Gulf Coast, leaving streets and vacation cottages awash.

HIGH WAVES

John R. Harrison, president of the Lakeland Ledger, said a wave four feet tall smashed ashore at Longboat Key, a resort island where he and Mrs. Harrison were spending the weekend.

"The tide moved cars as much as 100 feet, rushed into cottages and left two feet of water standing in the area," Harrison said.

One injury and no deaths were reported. Brevard County officials said a chunk of wind-powered plywood broke the leg of 7-year-old Saul Guerra of Palm Bay.

At Lido Key, residents estimated the height of the flood tide at four and one-half feet. John Barnes, general manager of the Sheraton Sand Key Hotel, said there was six inches of Gulf water in his lobby.

On Siesta Key, William H. Snow said, "The water came up three feet in a minute and a half. My living room floor is five feet above the mean high tide and I've got water in my living room."

TOSSED

One tornado hit the Pinewood Inn at Fort Malabar, tore off chunks of the roof and knocked out most of the windows. A barmaid said one customer dived under a pool table and one took cover behind a piano. The twister tossed lawn furniture and garbage cans around in the area.

Another tornado near Titusville broke tree limbs, flipped over a house trailer, and overturned a boat in the Indian River. Four persons in the trailer escaped unharmed.

Winds were clocked at 63 miles an hour at Cape Kennedy but blew only a short time and no damage was reported to the Space Center.

A house was unroofed, trees blown down and house trailers damaged at Lakeland.

In St. Petersburg, a dock near the Skyway Bridge collapsed.

Midland Pair Dies In Wreck

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A collision between a Texas & Pacific freight train and an automobile killed two children and injured two other persons Friday.

Dead at the scene was Mary Alberta Kennemer, 12, her brother, Jimmy George Kennemer, 13, died several hours later in a Midland hospital.

Taken to a hospital in what attendants described as very critical condition were Bettie Louise Kennemer, 17, and Franklin Elijah Padgett, 50, both of near Midland.

Officers said the eastbound train struck the automobile, driven by Miss Kennemer, as she attempted to cross the tracks on a city street. The automobile was dragged four blocks before the train came to a stop.

Ayub May Yet Lose His Post

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Demonstrations against Mohammed Ayub Khan and scattered violence continued in Pakistan's chief city Saturday, rousing speculation as to how long the embattled president can hold on.

The new outbreaks, including a reported attempt on the life of Ayub's chief political foe, came a day after a violent nationwide general strike protesting government policies. Five persons were reported killed Friday in riots and gun battles in Lahore, Karachi and Hyderabad.

Admirals Tour A Ship In Pueblo Investigation

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher's civilian attorney said a Navy court of inquiry's two-hour tour of another intelligence ship Saturday gave its members "an appreciation of the situation on the Pueblo" at the time of her capture by North Korean forces.

FIRST TIME

The visit to the USS Palm Beach—it was the first time any of the court's five admirals had been aboard an intelligence ship—was "educational and instructive," E. Miles Harvey told newsmen.

"It adds to the court's storehouse of knowledge in evaluating testimony," he said.

Harvey, who accompanied the court members on the ship tour, said, "You can see where they (the Pueblo's crew) destroyed publications . . . where the Korean guard stood . . . You could understand the difficulty in going topside . . . the exposure of the gunmounts. . . We had thought the Pueblo's research spaces were larger than they turned out to be. We know now how crowded the Pueblo was . . . adding to the confusion."

His tour of the Palm Beach, Harvey said, made him "more sympathetic with the problems Cmdr. Bucher (the Pueblo's skipper) was faced with."

Recalling Bucher's testimony that he had picked up the wrong telephone prior to the Pueblo's capture by the North Koreans, Harvey said, "Today aboard the Palm Beach we saw how easy this was to do with two identical phones side by side in a crowded space."

Harvey summed up the tour of the Palm Beach this way: "This was one of the most beneficial days we've spent."

The ships, the Pueblo, the Palm Beach and the USS Banner are the only intelligence ships in their class. The Pueblo and Banner are nearly identical, but there are substantial differences between these two and the Palm Beach.

The Banner is berthed in Japan, and the court members did not want to travel as far as Japan to inspect her.

The Pueblo and Palm Beach both were converted into intelligence ships at the same time in the Navy shipyards at Bremerton, Wash.

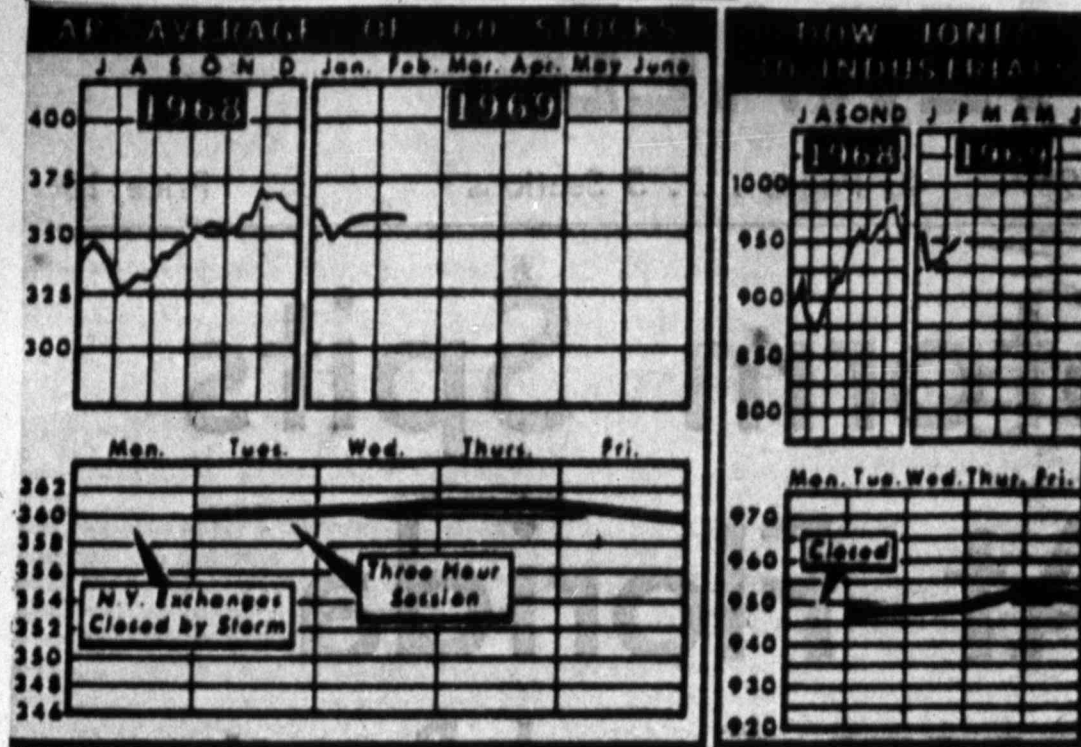

Members of the court, who flew to Norfolk from California Friday, departed on their return flight shortly before noon.

On Monday the court will begin its fifth week of hearings. Court sessions are expected to last about three more weeks, said Capt. Vincent Thomas, the court's public affairs counsel.

Thomas told newsmen, who were not permitted aboard the Palm Beach, that the first 30 minutes of the tour was spent in briefings on the ship's characteristics by her officers. The court was not briefed on the ship's mission.

Thomas said the five admirals were conducted "on a very thorough tour" of the Palm Beach. Among the things they saw were water soluble paper on which classified material is written and equipment for the destruction of classified material.

An Atlantic Fleet spokesman said some of the equipment was installed aboard the Palm Beach after the Pueblo was captured in January, 1968. It is designed to permit quicker destruction of more material by fewer men.

Stock Market Off Slightly, First Drop In Five Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock exchanges this week were affected by many more stories of heavy snow which snarled traffic in the New York area. The market was off slightly, its first drop in five weeks. Essentially, the market was continuing a consolidation phase in which it appeared to be groping for a point of departure. No great stimulus came to spur stocks one way or the other. Although more stocks fell than rose during the week on the New York Stock Exchange, averages told different stories. Helped by strength in several of its component blue chip stocks, the Dow Jones industrial average advanced 4.10 to 951.95. On the other hand, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped by a minor .3 to 359.8.

RURAL CHILDREN DEPRIVED OF GOOD EDUCATION School Plan Battle Shapes Up

AUSTIN (AP) — Battle lines are forming over a blue ribbon committee's plan for Texas to grab what it called a chance for first-rate public schools. Former Gov. John Connally's Committee on Public School Education made dozens of recommendations in its ambitious 10-year plan, but almost all of the noise is about two of them. —Require all but a handful of school districts to have at least 2,000 pupils or countywide boundaries. —Equalize school taxing efforts and determine a local district's burden of the cost of basic programs according to the actual market value of land.

him and the report was not unexpected. "I suspect his rather forceful exposition of the rural point of view will wake up some of the people in the other areas about the issues involved," he said. Ivy said he had made public appearances only at the request of organizations that wanted to know more about the report.

ENTHUSIASTIC

Neither of the chairmen of the House and Senate committees that will consider the plan is particularly enthusiastic over the consolidation feature. Sen. A. M. Aiken, Senate Education Committee chairman, is from Lamar County (Paris) which would lose 10 of its 11 school districts. House Education committee chairman George Hinson's home is in Wood County (Quitman), which would be reduced from six districts to one.

INCENTIVES

He called Barnes' proposal of incentives for voluntary consolidation an "interesting suggestion." "One of the things that would give considerable impetus to consolidation would be to take away the subsidies to small districts," which get extra aid and teachers, Ivy said. "If they had the same allocation formulas as the rest, they would lose some of their incentive to stay small."

Valley Folk Hunt Down Killer Beasts

Editor's Note: By any name, he's a killer. And while Red River Valley folk hunt down the big, dog-like beast they call the coyote, some argue about whether they are wolves or coyotes.

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Although there's a haggle over whether to call them coyotes or wolves, there's no doubt that the animals are causing a lot of trouble for Red River Valley ranchers.

The oldtimers in the area insist they are wolves, but Gary Spencer, a game biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, says wolves are extinct in that area of Texas. "I'm no expert on wolves," Spencer said. "But we know from every survey, every description and by actual observation that these animals in the Paris area are coyotes. They're just not big enough to be red or timber wolves, and besides, those wolves just don't range up here."

Spencer said that in pioneer days, there were three kinds of wolf-like animals in the Red River Valley—the gray or timber wolf, the red wolf and the coyote.

"The timber wolf was the first one to go," he said. "He lives only in Old Mexico now, although one or two wander across the Texas border now and then.

"The red wolf once ranged throughout East Texas, Eastern Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, but he is nearly gone too. There are none in the Red River Valley."

That leaves only the coyote in the Paris area, Spencer said. "These animals up here just aren't consistently big enough to be wolves," he added. "They're usually 30 to 40 pounds. The biggest I've seen was a 50-pound male."

Despite Spencer's facts, most of the ranchers in the area continue to insist the animals are wolves.

"I've trapped hundreds of coyotes in South Texas," said W. W. Carpenter of Belk. "And these animals are wolves, no doubt about it. They're bigger and meaner than the cowardly coyotes."

Spencer said Coyotes are not so cowardly as many people think they are. "A coyote will run when accosted by humans but he's mean when he's cornered," he said.

"The coyote is a wary animal, normally a plains animal," Spencer said. "And when the woodlands opened up in this area, he moved in large numbers."

Carpenter has publicly declared war on the animals and managed in January to trap 22 of them. His final count for his 1968 hunting was 55 dead "wolves."

Although a name for the animals cannot be agreed upon, everyone agrees that the animals are on the increase and moving closer to town. And the fight against the mystery animal of the Red River Valley will continue.

Would Continue Tax Surcharge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Gerald Ford Jr., R-Mich., says the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge should be continued "as long as the fighting continues in Vietnam and as long as the battle against the rising cost of living remains unwon."

Ford said he disagrees with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York who wants the surtax set aside for education and welfare.

SAM BASS LIKED IT Pilot Knob Is Still A Pretty Place To Visit

Editor's Note: In Denton County, to the north of Dallas, there exists a high island of rock that has an unusual geological formation, and an even more unusual history. One of the more frequent visitors there in years past was the famous Texas cowboy, Sam Bass. Here is a story of Bass and his hideout.

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — On a clear day you can see forever — at least from Pilot Knob.

And that was just what Sam Bass, the legendary outlaw, had in mind when he stepped out among the sandstone rocks and fingered his curly moustache. Perhaps he was planning one of the train robberies he and his comrades became famous for in the 1870s. Or perhaps he was following an approaching visitor down the sight of a rifle.

If Bass could have avoided his fatal meeting with the Texas Rangers and lived another century he could have stood at the historic vantage point today and seen the outline of growing Denton eight miles away—and if it was a really clear day, the tops of Dallas skyscrapers.

Travelers on the new Interstate 35W will be able to view the thick scrub oak growth surrounding Pilot Knob and cattle grazing in the fields at its foot.

Few will know as they pass that the Bass gang supposedly buried stolen loot from their train robberies there or that it once served as a conspicuous landmark for Indians and pioneers.

And even fewer will know that the knob is a woodbine outlier—a unique geological formation.

A woodbine is a deposit of sandstone which forms a resistant layer that acts as a capstone over a softer underlying formation of thin lime and marl.

The harder sandstone of Pilot Knob has acted as a protection for the soft marl beneath during centuries of weathering and stream activity. The immediate surrounding area has worn away and left it sticking up in the plain.

At 538 feet above sea level, it is not the highest point in Denton County but it is the most significant geological land form.

A beautiful spot and heavily timbered, Pilot Knob was once a popular place for picnickers. Students from the two universities at Denton have carved hundreds of initials and names into the rock formation on the western side of the knob where the sunset is an extraordinarily beautiful sight.

In the spring there is a multitude of poisonous copperhead snakes, making hikes up the knob hazardous.

With this in mind, or perhaps the thought that some of Bass' treasure is still hidden in the cave on the side of the knob, the current owners of Pilot Knob Ranch have closed the location to visitors.

Pilot Knob has not changed much since the days of Bass but the land around it is constantly undergoing modification.

The entire landscape in the area has evolved from materials deposited in a former sea-floor which covered Denton approximately 100 million years ago during the Cretaceous Period.

Ice played no part in the formation, however, since there has never been any glaciation in Texas.

Sam Bass knew nothing of the geological history of Pilot Knob. He didn't care. He just knew, like visitors today know, that it is a lofty sanctuary where you can see for miles in all directions.

Sulphur Brings Boom To Pecos

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — The new sulphur operations in West Texas have turned Pecos into a boom town reminiscent of the oil and gold rushes—but in a much more orderly and law-abiding manner.

Pecos is beginning to bulge at the seams as sulphur companies move in to lay the groundwork for large-scale mining of the yellow mineral.

Pecos is actively seeking the advantages of new business arising from mining operations in nearby Culberson County.

The Culberson sulphur field is in a triangle bounded by Pecos in Reeves County, Van Horn in southwest Culberson County and Carlsbad, N. M.

Little of the mineral has been found in Reeves County itself, but Pecos has taken the initiative to lure company headquarters and construction workers to the city.

Officials of the Duval Corp., which announced plans last year to build a $65 million sulphur processing plant in Culberson County, have said they would prefer to have headquarters in Pecos if good roads are built to the sulphur fields.

Reeves County voters approved a $750,000 bond issue for 31.5 miles of all-weather roads from Pecos to the Culberson County line, six miles from the site of the Duval plant.

Duval agreed to build the additional six miles of roads to the plant and to assist with construction of the Reeves County roads.

Furnished houses and apartments in Pecos have become almost impossible to find as temporary employes move in for construction work on the plant.

Motel space, too, usually is filled every day with company officials who come in on business for a few days. Motel owners say some construction workers have rented rooms for weeks at a time because no other accommodations were available.

In anticipation of permanent employes who will be coming to Pecos after the plant is finished, contractors have been building blocks of homes on the south side.

City Hall records in Pecos show that building permits in 1968 were up almost 600 percent over the previous year. The city issued over $2.6 million in permits in 1968, compared to $570,535 in 1967.

The Pecos Independent School District is also preparing for the anticipated increase in population. Remodeling and enlarging of every school in the district has been begun to take care of increased enrollment that has already occurred and enrollment expected when sulphur workers move in.

The telephone company in Pecos also is planning for growth. The company will build a new central office to accommodate added equipment for phones in new homes and is installing a mobile telephone system which will reach to the mine fields.

The West Texas sulphur boom started about two years ago when promoters and prospectors started vying for sulphur leases in Reeves and Culberson counties. It got its biggest push when one section of land was sold for a seven-figure price.

The first economic boost from the new industries came when the construction and pipeline companies came in to build the new plants. The H. B. Zachry Co. has about 325 workers in the Pecos area laying gas and water pipelines.

Zachry is currently working on three pipeline projects in the Pecos area and is using Pecos as headquarters. To accommodate the projects, the Pecos City Council passed a special ordinance to permit construction of a railroad spur within the city limits from the T&P tracks to Zachry's pipeyard.

The sulphur industry will cause an increase in the natural gas industry in West Texas also because the gas will be needed as a heat source for extracting the sulphur.

A new spurt of drilling for natural gas has begun in the Canyonosa gas field south of Pecos.

It looks as though the sulphur boom has not yet reached its peak in West Texas and Pecos is continuing to expand to accommodate the expected growth.

Award Made For Webb Addition

Frank Miller Construction Co., Fort Worth, has been awarded the contract for construction of an addition to the wing headquarters building at Webb AFB. It will house the data automation branch of the comptroller division.

There were five bidders on the government estimate of $66,124. Contract time period is 125 calendar days. When completed, the computer and the support equipment will be installed in the addition. Twenty computer and administrative personnel will work there.

THE WEEK

the football field, add music building, and paved parking. One of the major items would be eight brick veneer teacher-ages.

The City of Big Spring, facing an interim period of six months until the new fiscal year takes effect, asked for budget suggestions from the public. Only eight people showed, but these contributed some good ideas.

Local FFA members made a good showing of their swine at the San Antonio show last week. Ricky Harris, Big Spring, had the first place pig in the heavyweight Duroc class; Guy James, Coahoma, had first place in crossbred pigs. Several other entries ranked high.

Clyde McMahon Jr. succeeded Harold Davis as president of the United Fund at the annual meeting and Harry Sawyer was named vice president. This means that Sawyer will be directing the fund campaign this autumn. Some money is still trickling in from McMahon's drive, and the total already is past $103,000 and could add upwards of a thousand more. That would put it within two or three per cent of the target. Meanwhile campaign economies and reserves have assured agencies they will get their full allotments.

For a time last week, it seemed Big Spring would be without emergency ambulance service. Alert Ambulance served notice it was withdrawing from this service and the city prepared for firemen to bridge the gap. Meanwhile, another arrangement was made with Alert to continue.

After an absence of nearly 15 years, the U.S. Border Patrol is back in Big Spring on a permanent basis. Kermit D. McKnight arrived to be in charge of the office, and additional personnel is expected later.

Big Spring Steer basketballers, after a long and frustrating drought, broke into the win column for the first time in district play, beating Midland 74-64. They almost did it again Friday, leading Abilene for three quarters before dropping a close one. HCJC, meantime, played up to its potential and battered Amarillo 103-76.

In one of those quirks of fate, A. J. Crawford, 101-year old Carlsbad, N.M., businessman, died on the day that the local hotel building which bore his name, had the last part of its top floor super-structure battered down. They went down together.

Grayson Enterprises was approved as purchaser of KVVM-TV in Monahans last week. The firm, which also operates KWAB-TV here, is due to announce plans when the 30-day period for effectiveness is up. Operators are apt to beam in on bracketing the Permian Basin from east and west.

City and Big Spring school officials are to confer this week on the proposed Airport (school) park project. The school board tossed in some ideas of its own last week, proposing that the area be cut from seven to 4.6 acres. In addition to costs estimated from $16,000 to $17,800, there is the problem of who will share in or bear the maintenance costs.

Big Spring Concert Association directors have lined up a series for next year that will include the New Orleans Philharmonic orchestra, the Norman Luboff choir, the Norwood Puppets, and the Preservation Hall jazz group. On the arts front, Larry Evans, a Big Spring product, impressed with a concert here. He's an outstanding pianist. Mildred Jarratt tells how in the Junior Music Club years ago, Larry was always volunteering to play; he still loves to.

We have our own troubles with sandstorms in the spring, but other areas have worse problems. Dr. K. R. Thompson clipped this out of the Carson (N.D.) Press, his home town newspaper. "My farm up for sale: As soon as deal is closed, me and my sweetheart will pack and shoulder our little bundle and get the hell out of here. At the time of writing this ad, the forecast for Bismarck area was 48 below, partly cloudy with colder for next night, and day. I can't stand that."

Horoscope Forecast FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW —CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very adverse day and evening — not only the dark of the moon but other configurations also indicate it's best to accept nothing of its face value. Drive carefully into every phase of whatever arises to be sure you understand it accurately. Then wait for a good day to put your plan into action.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Try not to be forceful with associates or with your boss. Use your own good judgment and get that problem solved wisely.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Take care you don't do anything that could be upsetting to others, especially those in a superior position, or you lose what is most valuable, show others that you have charity in your heart. Be alert when dealing with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Take care you do not lose your temper with others or there could be a real frost now. Show your value, be a person of character and honor. Take care you do not chastise some close friend unduly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You are tempted to make changes that would not be good for you, so stick to the proven, but make improvements. Avoid being sarcastic with one you really like. Show that you are indeed devoted.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): A fascinating talk or a good plan but if really is not feasible to all, so turn it down. Be scrupulous in keeping promises you have made. Why not drop in at that new place of amusement that you enjoy so much?

VRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Be very willing to do something nice for a person who has done you many a favor in the past. Find out what the other person would most appreciate. Try not to get impatient with the new week wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Put on that smile this morning, make your friends cheering others and helping them in any way that you can. Drive away their depression. Then enjoy the love that hobby you don't see extraneous.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Show your head and remain cool. There is some sudden emergency arising today. Don't let any pressures bother you. Be careful you say or do nothing that could annoy others at home or you disturb the equilibrium there.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): When you visit an overcast day, you may find misunderstandings with those who are in a lumpy mood. Drive with utmost care is important since accidents can occur very easily. Be watchful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Show your appreciation to those who have good practical sense and have done you many favors in the past. Learn how to get more abundance in the future. Get your property repaired but take care you don't get misled, etc.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Although you are in a contentious mood toward those of home or at group meetings, control your temper. Take care of those health treatments that have proved helpful in the past. Be strong.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): With all those chores ahead of you, you should know where to begin. Just start on the important one first, and you will come out all right. Be sure to assist one who is feeling down. Be calm.

MONDAY: The spirit of the day finds you very uncertain just how to handle conditions in your life. Don't worry for the afternoon, just wait for the confusion of decision. You will be able to put into practice a course of action that can quickly bring you the answers and the results for which you have been searching.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Some conditions that arise this morning seem very difficult to work out, but later a clever friend will give you the solution. Do not get into a depressed mood. Stay calm and cool and you will win.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): If you criticize a good deal this morning, you will regret it very much later on. Social matters do not work out well until after 6 p.m. Be sure that you give attention in a meaningful way to make a wonderful impression on others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Begin the week properly by taking care of every responsibility in a precise way. Make big improvements in the work ahead of you. Show that you have ability. Then reward yourself by indulging in the hobbies you like with complete abandon.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Get busy and complete the work in front of you and then be off to the fascinating new interest that takes you out of the doldrums. Make an appointment with that new contact later in the day. Then all works out fine.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Others can give you the data you want but you have to be in close contact with them. Handle your responsibilities during the day. Then forget about that friend and have a good time doing what pleases you most.

VRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You will find it difficult to get backing from associates in the morning but later all will be fine. One associate has not been acting properly. A pleasant talk will result in a reconciliation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Accomplish those dull chores this morning. You'll have free time later for whatever you really please and interests you. Take some treatment that increases your health.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Plan such activities today that will give you more spare time. You need to free yourself from your worries, since you are too much under pressure. Don't change your plans. You should be very happy in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Forget selfish fun today and do whatever makes your family happier and more certain of the future. Get out of those situations in the morning that cause much trouble later on. Be very clever.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): In the morning associates may appear to be in a peculiar mood and don't forget those important letters. Did you do the shopping yet? Get by.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may feel that you are not in a good financial position at all, but if you re-analyze your position, you may find you are better off than most. Show others that you are a practical person. Get a check.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Get rid of whatever it is that is keeping you from advancing as you want to, and then get out with good friends and something to insure appearance before you meet that important one in your life.

SMASHED WINDOWS TO COST $1,000

Vandalism Increases At Schools

By TEX ROGERS

Vandalism will cost the Big Spring school system at least $1,000 this year in replacing windows smashed in school buildings.

Don Crockett, school business manager, cited an increase in vandalism this year on school property. He said that steps may have to be taken in the future to curb acts of destruction or else take on highly expensive insurance.

He noted that last Saturday night someone armed with a BB gun broke more than 100 window panes at Park Hill School. The week before windows were shot out of a portable classroom, and an aquarium in the building was broken and the water spilled on the floor.

Two months ago, vandals entered and ransacked classrooms at Bauer School, turned over library shelves and threw cartons of milk on the cafeteria walls, he said.

STEAL AND BREAK

Lakeview School has also been entered at least twice this year, and last year more than $1,000 in visual aids equipment was stolen, he said.

At least four tinted glass doors to the entrance of Big Spring High School have been shattered this year, at a cost of $76 each, he said. During the Christmas vacation, 21 window panes were broken by rocks and BB pellets at Rummels Junior High.

"Vandalism is becoming a costly problem here, as well as across the nation," he said. Solving the problem is another matter, however.

"We have gone into an extensive lighting program so that most of the schools are fairly well lighted. A night watchman would almost be prohibitive because of the number of campuses," he said.

District has 18 campuses in the system, and 16 of them are within the city limits of Big Spring. One night watchman would be inadequate to cover such a large territory, he said.

EXPENSIVE REMEDIES

"We may have to think about using unbreakable glass for every window in every school, or an insurance policy for vandalism to school systems," he said. Both items are very expensive.

Crockett noted that when the system's budget was set in the past, there were never provisions for loss of property due to vandalism. Future budgets may have such a provision in them.

Sam Anderson, school superintendent, said that destruction of school property also occurs during school hours in classrooms and restrooms.

"Restrooms bear the brunt during senior high school hours," Anderson said. "Lavoratories and soap dispensers may be torn off the walls, or ceilings and tile floors may be ripped out."

The administration's biggest problem in curbing vandalism during the day is lack of teachers to provide supervision.

"We have 2,000 high school students changing classes, and that's when most vandalism occurs," Anderson said. "We simply do not have enough teachers free to supervise the students."

MORE THAN SCHOOLS

While the local school system is plagued with destruction of its property, so are Big Spring residents.

Jay Banks, Big Spring chief of police, said that both public and private property here are being continuously hit by vandals.

"Vandalism isn't really on the increase in the city," he said. "But Big Spring has more than its share all the time. It's just too steady."

Banks noted that both the City Park and State Park have to be closed at night because of destructive acts in the past by vandals.

The chief said that several youngsters have been caught in the act, and nearly all of them are turned over to the juvenile probation officer, John Syrios.

Action by the juvenile department here may take in supervision of a youngster through conferences with him and his parents.

"If the offense is serious enough, or if a youngster has a continuous record of violations, he may be taken to juvenile court," Syrios said.

OPTIONS FOR OFFENDERS

Juvenile court action may place the child on probation and under the supervision of Syrios, or it may declare the offender a delinquent, which would be a ticket to the state training schools.

Syrios said that when police are through investigating a case of vandalism, records are turned over to him. He then determines whether the offense is a felony or misdemeanor, and the problems which the child involved may have.

In all cases he attempts to get the parents of the child to pay for the damage done in vandalism.

School officials think that most destructive acts are caused by only a slim minority.

"We realize that 99 per cent of our students are good," Crockett said. "It's that one per cent that does all the damage and they're hard to catch."

The Dentures Don't Fit

DEAR ABBY: There is an old saying, "The family that prays together, stays together." I wish they could say the same for the family that EATS together.

I've had my store-teeth for about two months, and it takes me twice as long to chew my food and get it down as it did when I had my own teeth. But nobody seems to realize it. They keep a steady conversation going at mealtime, and ask me questions, so I have to stop chewing and answer them. Well, before I know it, everybody else has finished eating and I'm about half-way through.

Please put this in your column (but don't mention my name) so folks will be a little more patient with those of us with dentures. Thank you.

GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: You don't need patience on the part of others. You need a better fit! Go back to the dentist who made your dentures and put the bite on him for an adjustment.

OUR PROBLEM: One of the gals in our club has a small child who she purposely keeps up for this meeting. The child is darling, but a chatterbox. She monopolizes the conversation and is the center of attraction the entire time. She doesn't just make an appearance, she is allowed to stay ALL evening.

How can we tell this member without hurting her feelings that her child should not be included?

SOME MEMBERS: If she sees this, it might not be necessary to tell her anything. But in case she doesn't, one of you "gals" ought to tell her that children should be neither seen nor heard when mama entertains.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Entries Signed For Miss HCJC

Seventeen girls have already signed for the third annual Miss HCJC Pageant sponsored by the college press club to be held March 1 in Municipal Auditorium.

To qualify as a contestant, a girl must be enrolled for the spring semester at the college, either part-time or full-time, and must never have been married.

Any young woman fulfilling the required qualifications may sign up in the El Nido office in the west wing of the Student Union Building. Local businesses will pay the sponsor's fee.

Theme for this year's contest program is the "Oil Patch," which will feature scenery and displays familiar to West Texas.

Each girl will compete in three categories — modeling of campus fashions, presentation of talent, and a bathing suit review. Dresses and swim suits will be provided by Thelma's Dress Shop.

In the talent division, each contestant may give a presentation whether it be a hobby, favorite pastime or a field in which she possesses extraordinary abilities. In the past, most of the girls have limited themselves to playing a musical instrument, singing, dancing, performing a skit, reading a dramatic selection, or doing a combination of talents.

Tickets for the contest will be $1.25 per adult and 75 cents per student and may be obtained prior to the event or at the door.

"Profits from the pageant will be used by the Press Club to send delegates to the Texas Intercollegiate Press Convention to be held in April at San Antonio," said Dal Herring, club sponsor and pageant director.

"The club is going all out to produce an even more unique contest."

Found Treasure Of Old Coins

COLCHESTER, England (AP) — Building laborer George Purvis swung his shovel at what looked like a rock, and dug up a sealed lead bucket containing 10,000 13th century silver coins worth at least $25,000.

If a coroner's inquiry finds they were accidentally lost, Purvis, 37, will keep them. If they are ruled to be treasure trove—deliberately hidden—they go to the British Crown and Purvis gets a reward.

Big Entry List For Spelling Bee

By SAM BLACKBURN

With nearly 1,000 boys and girls trying for classroom Spelling Bee titles, the prospects are that the seventh annual Howard County Spelling Bee, set for April 19, will produce some of the best spellers the bee has had in its career.

Sometime in the near future, Keith Swim, coordinator for the spelling bee in Big Spring elementary and junior high schools, will set a date for all schools to submit the names of their champions.

When the schools hold their classroom eliminations and determine school champions is a matter for the principal of each school.

Usually, the school champions are selected and announced at least two weeks ahead of the county spelling bee. This enables the champion to have a little time to study up for the county competition.

Each school is also asked to submit the name of the second best speller that its own bee produces. This speller will be the alternate and will be called upon to present the school, should the champion be unable to compete.

In addition to the Big Spring city schools, the students at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School are preparing to select a champion and alternate. Forsan Junior High School is also expected to have representatives at the county bee.

No announcement has been made whether St. Mary's Episcopal School will compete. In other years, this school has produced some spectacular spellers. Last year's runner-up in the county bee, Paul Talbot, was a former champion of St. Mary's. Last year, however, he was champion of Park Hill School.

Tentative plans for the county bee call for it to be held in the high school cafeteria. The winner will be sent to Lubbock May 3 to compete against the champions of 22 other West Texas counties for the regional title. If he wins the regional bee he gets an all-expense paid trip to Washington, to try for the national spelling title.

The winner in the county bee receives an engraved plaque as a memento of his accomplishment. All of his expenses on his trip to the regional bee will be paid by The Herald, which sponsors these annual spelling bees in this county. The custom is for the runnerup in the county bee to be given a dictionary.

All school champions and alternates receive special pencils, and blue-white ribbons.

Things Change

Post of May 1912 and final edition of magazine published for 148-year old journal show vast appearance alteration.

Wilbanks Adds Last 'Post' To Collection

By SAM BLACKBURN

Big Spring has its full share of collectors but apparently few of the clan have any faith that the final issue of Saturday Evening Post, which appeared on the newsstand last week, has any great potential as a collector's item.

The newsstand operators said that the demand for the Feb. 8 issue of the Post — officially announced weeks ago as the final edition of the periodical — are in slow demand. Three or four copies were still unbound Thursday.

The Feb. 8 issue, according to those who have examined it, makes no reference to the demise of the publication. Martin S. Ackerman, president of the publishing firm, however, said in a statement to the Associated Press about a month ago that the magazine was folding effective Feb. 8.

One Big Springer, however, did buy a few copies of the last edition. He wants to add them to the sizable file of Posts, dating back to 1912, which he already has.

SIXTY-YEAR SPAN

He is Lester C. Wilbanks, who has a big collection of antique weapons, antique gadgets and other Americana. Included in his collection are a dozen copies of the Saturday Evening Post of nearly 60 years ago. He wants to add the final issue to the older (and more eye-catching) volumes he already has.

The disappearance of the Post from the magazine field will leave a gap in the American scene. The Post has been a feature of American life since the days of President James Monroe. The Post for years carried a legend on its front cover to the effect that it was "an illustrated weekly founded A. D. 1728 by Benjamin Franklin."

Franklin did establish a Post in that year, but there was a considerable interval between the able Ben's efforts and the appearance of the Post as it has been since 1821.

Nearly all of the more famous writers of American literature have been printed in the Post over the years. These include such giants as O. Henry, William Faulkner, Mark Twain, Edgar Allen Poe, Rudyard Kipling, Sinclair Lewis and hundreds of others.

MAGAZINE GRAVEYARD

The Post will go to the magazine graveyard already marked with the tombstones of Collier, which died in 1957 after nearly 80 years; Woman's Home Companion established in 1873 and folded in 1957; American Magazine 1876-1956; Liberty Magazine, 1924-1950 and others.

Incidentally, Wilbanks also has aged copies of most of these now defunct publications.

His collection of Posts is particularly interesting because of their almost mint condition. They are displayed at Wilbanks' Old West Museum at 1206 Harding.

He said he acquired most of the magazines in a single lucky purchase in the Northwest. A man found the periodicals stored in a trunk in an attic and sold the lot to the Big Spring collector.

1912 ISSUE

The oldest copy that Wilbanks has is the issue of May 25, 1912. It was selling at a nickel a copy in those days. The dying issue now on the stands costs 50 cents plus tax.

The May 25, 1912 issue announces that Mary Roberts Rinehart's newest mystery "Jane" begins that issue.

The last issue ballyhoos "Anybody want to Buy Chicago?" "Peace in Vietnam" and "Soul Music — where it comes from."

In the old days, anyone who was anyone subscribed to the Post. Budding authors aspired to get copy in the Post.

Like the Vaudeville performers of the same era, who felt that the crowning mark of success was to appear at the Palace, the Post was the literary Matterhorn of the scribblers.

Bosses Night Set Thursday

The Big Spring Jaycees' annual Bosses' Night Banquet will be held Thursday with Congressman Omar Burleson as the speaker. Tickets are $3 per person to the affair which will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Big Spring High School cafeteria.

Awards to be presented, according to Ben Faulkner, president, are Boss of the Year, Jaycee of the Year, plus awards to the outstanding patrolman and educator of the year. A Jaycee Faith in God Award also will be given.

Faulkner said that the banquet will be an all-male function, and persons desiring tickets may contact him or Max Moore, banquet chairman.

Although about 250 invitations have been sent to men in the community asking them to attend, the dinner is open to any man who wants to hear Congressman Burleson speak, Faulkner said.

Congressman Burleson, Anson represents the 17th Congressional District, which is comprised of 31 West Texas counties. He has been a Democrat in the House of Representatives since 1946, and is currently on the House Ways and Means Committee. He ranks with the top 10 per cent of the members of the House in seniority, and was chairman of the Committee on House Administration.

Air Force Leaves Base To Amarillo Development

Editor's Note: The Army Air Corps and the Air Force made fine use of facilities of Amarillo through three wars. Now the Air Force has left the fine base but greater things may be in store for the facility under direction of the city.

AMARILLO (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of young men have poured through flying facilities in Amarillo for military instruction. Now they are gone but the facilities are far from being out of use.

From about the first of the year, the Air Base has kept only a skeleton crew at the base, wrapping up final details of the withdrawal.

The city of Amarillo took title to a large portion of the base most recently occupied by a Strategic Air Command unit.

The city's plans are well along for a new air terminal there and construction is scheduled to begin in the summer.

The city also is negotiating toward establishment of a technical school under Texas A&M University's direction such as the transfer of the military resulted in a new technical school at Waco.

The city also is negotiating for other properties. Already it has been named manager for the Air Force of the Capehart Housing Unit.

The facility has had its ups and downs. When airmen were a part of the Army, the installation was called Amarillo Army Air Field.

It became Amarillo Air Base when the Air Force emerged as an entity. Its name was changed to Amarillo Technical Training Center later.

The end of World War II seemingly ended the military use of the base in 1946.

Then came the Korean War and the military returned to look at the field.

What they found wasn't much. The majority of the structures had been sold or stripped in five years and it held the aura of a ghost town.

But the possibilities were there. A crash construction program resulted in 750 buildings rising on 5,000 acres.

By that time, jets were the thing and the renamed Amarillo Air Force Base had the distinction of being the Air Force's first all-jet mechanical training facility.

The base became a training ground not only for mechanics but for fliers and for guided missile units. It contained many other schools.

Additionally, the base received the function of rehabilitating Air Force prisoners.

And it became the base in 1969 for units of the Strategic Air Command and later headquarters for refueling of planes in the air.

But the needs of the Vietnam War sent the planes from the base to areas closer to the action and some units were deactivated and the men and equipment sent to other outfits.

The bombshell fell Nov. 19, 1964, when the Defense Department announced the base would be closed. The original target date was June 30, 1968.

Efforts were made at every level of government to keep the base in operation as such.

One revival occurred when the base was selected as a training site in 1966 for basic airmen to ease the huge load placed on Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio caused by the Vietnam War.

Strangely, the facility had its highest number of personnel in history from 1966 until its closure with 18,000 airmen and civilians on hand.

But keeping the base as a military installation was not in the cards in Washington. Now the city of Amarillo will keep it breathing lustily.

Finch Draws A Distinction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court's school decisions outlaw deliberate racial discrimination, but not segregation as such, says the Nixon administration's key official for domestic affairs.

Robert H. Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, drew the distinction in an interview with The Associated Press.

"If you look at the Supreme Court decision, segregation, in fact, is not prohibited by law," said Finch.

"What is prohibited is deliberate discrimination," he said. "And so, you have to find hard evidence that someone, the people in a community, are deliberately creating situations which lead to discrimination."

"If segregation in fact were prohibited by law, what are you going to do with all the solid Negro schools in solid Negro areas in northern cities?"

Finch made the comment in discussing federal desegregation guidelines which, he pointed out, the new Republican administration inherited from its Democratic predecessor.

"And so far as I'm concerned as secretary, until I'm satisfied that these guidelines are either inaccurate or not fully relevant, I have to respond to the clear intent of Congress and the Supreme Court."

Finch, who has cut off federal funds from eight Southern school districts for failing to meet the guidelines, said "this doesn't mean the guidelines shouldn't be examined. We are re-examining them."

Asked if he was consulted by the Justice Department before it filed lawsuits against school discrimination in Houston and Louisiana, Finch replied, "As a matter of fact, I was not."

He said the timing and nature of the action were entirely under Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell's control, but added that "I think down the road, we're going to have to have a greater interface between the two—Justice and HEW—in this whole compliance area and this whole area."

Y Campaign Nearing Goal

Both divisions of the YMCA membership campaign are jam against their goals. Frank Hardesty, general chairman, said he was hopeful that they could reach the target by Tuesday evening when the board meets.

The participating membership division, under leadership of Mike Hull, is at $12,131 on a $12,500 goal. The sustaining division, headed by K. H. McGibbon, reached $9,337 on a $10,000 goal.

"This has been one of the most successful membership programs in years," said Hardesty, "and I want to thank not only Mike Hull and Chub McGibbon, but everyone who helped in the enlistment. The spirit has been wonderful."

"There must be many who want to be and should be members of the Y, and I urge them—even though they might not have been contacted, to call the Y and let us explain the options. Membership growth is one of the best things that can happen to the Y."

Club Gives Old Park Equipment

Big Spring Kiwanis Club board of directors has voted to donate the playground equipment in a small park near Airport school, to the Airport PTA, if the proposed city-school park and playground in that area is developed.

The club installed the equipment a number of years ago on a small tract near the school. The PTA informed the club that the material would be of much help in the plans for a larger park at the school. Jim Thompson, president of the Kiwanis Club, reported the request to the directors.

The cars for people who believe that style never goes out of style.

When the conversation turns to cars, a Cadillac owner is seldom asked the model and year of the one he drives. The fact that he drives the car of cars is sufficient. For a Cadillac, regardless of its year, is the most universally desired of all motor cars.

This is because the beauty, craftsmanship, luxury and performance inherent in a Cadillac never go out of style. A case in point is the 1966 model shown above. Its Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, variable-ratio power steering and other refinements have only recently become available on some lesser cars.

A great many late-model, previously-owned Cadillacs also have a Tilt and Telescope steering wheel and Automatic Climate Control. For a richly rewarding investment in motoring pleasure, see your authorized Cadillac dealer's attractive selection of new and previously-owned Cadillacs today.

Olympians Are Set For Show In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — World record holders Bob Seagren, Bob Beamon and Willie Davenport will be on display again Friday night for the U.S. Olympic Invitational track meet.

The trio will again be attempting to duplicate their feats at the Mexico City Games, where each captured a gold medal.

Also on hand for the meet at Madison Square Garden will be seven other gold medalists and a top flight foreign contingent from six countries.

Bill Toomey, the decathlon winner and three members of the U.S. relay team, Larry James of Villanova, Vincent Matthews of Johnson C. Smith College and Mel Pender of the U.S. Army, highlight the men's field.

Women's Olympic champions here include Poland's Irena Kirzenstein Swezinka who took the women's 200 meters and Madeline Manning of Tennessee A&I, the women's 800-meters champion, along with Barbara Ferrell, who earned a gold on a winning U.S. relay team.

Among the international champions are Andrej Badenski, Olympic 400 meters finalist from Poland, Jamaica's silver medalist in the 100 meters, Lenox Miller, Canadian Bob Finlay and the world record holder in the steeplechase, Juoko Kuha of Finland.

Seagren of Southern California, the premier pole vaulter in the world, recently upped his world record indoors to 17 feet 6 inches. He also has the outdoor mark of 17-9.

Playoff Set For Tuesday

SNYDER — Westbrook and Highland will tangle in a "sudden death" playoff at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday night to determine the District 10-B representative in the Class B basketball playoffs.

Highland upset Westbrook in overtime, 76-70, here Saturday night to force the Wildcats into a playoff. Westbrook had a chance to win the game with a free toss with three seconds left in the regulation game but missed.

Wayne Allen hit from all sides, scoring 33 points to lead Highland. Bo Jackson counted 24 for Westbrook. The Wildcats now have a 30-7 record.

Gene Littler New Phoenix Leader

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gene Littler exploded a nine-under-par 62 Saturday and surged into the third-round lead of the $100,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament which he has won twice before.

Littler, 38, carded eight birdies, and an eagle on the 18th hole, en route to equalling the Arizona Country Club competitive course record set Friday and matching the best competitive round of his pro career dating back to 1954.

The San Diego star, winner of the U.S. Open in 1961, finished the 54 holes in 197, 16 strokes under par, and one stroke in front of Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga. Royer shot a 65 for his 198 total.

Littler goes into the final round of the Phoenix Open in the same leading spot he held at San Diego, where Jack Nicklaus beat him in the final round. Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper, aren't playing in this event.

GENE LITTLER

Jerry Abbott, of Boca Raton, Fla., shot one of the day's three scores of 63 to move into a four-way tie at 199. Also there were Don January, who bogied the last two holes to take a 67, Billy Maxwell, 68, and Jack Ewing, the newcomer from Bakersfield, Calif., who fired a 66.

Frank Beard, who shared the 36 hole lead with Maxwell, faltered to a 71 and 202.

Littler won the Phoenix Open in 1955 and 1959, both times at the Arizona Country Club, and holds the tournament record here at 268.

Dave Hill and Tommy Jacobs were the other pros who carded 63s, but both started well back in the field of 78 who qualified for the final two rounds. Hill wound up at 202 and Jacobs, who's younger brother John has commanded more attention the past couple of days, was in at 203.

John Jacobs, a co-leader of the first round and one stroke off the pace for the second, faded to a 74 and a 206 total.

Littler grabbed his lead on the 18th hole with an eagle 3. His second shot, with a No. 2 iron on the 42nd test, landed 15 feet behind the pin and he sank his putt.

"I just putted super," Littler declared. "The only possible way I could have been any better would have been not to three putt the 18th."

Littler, carded a 31-31. He birdied the second hole with a 12-foot putt and then hit the green on the par-5 third hole with his second shot and two putted.

On the sixth, he dropped a six-foot putt and needed only a tap of 18 inches on the par-5 eighth for his final birdie of this outgoing round.

Coming in, Littler sank birdie putts of 2 1/2 feet on the 10th, 16 on the 11th, 30 on the 14th and 5 on the 17th before finishing with his birdie.

Gola Steers LaSalle Five To 19 Wins

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Tom Gola and his LaSalle College basketball team are taking their frustration out on the opposition.

Gola, the one-time LaSalle All-American and former pro star in the National Basketball Association, was brought back last year to restore basketball prestige at his alma mater.

Almost before the rookie coach could learn the names of his players, the NCAA stepped in and lowered the boom on LaSalle. A two-year suspension was inflicted for violations of certain scholarship regulations.

Despite this psychological blow, Gola has put together a team which has won 19 of 20 games and ranks fifth in the latest college basketball ranking. The Explorers are acknowledged as the best in the East right now.

Gola rates his team better than the 1954-55 LaSalle national champions which he led as player. He only wishes it could have the chance to go to the post-season NCAA tournament to prove it.

Asked how he managed to keep his players' spirits high with the suspension hanging over them, Gola observed: "An athlete is a dedicated individual. He usually is the kind of fellow who doesn't want to waste all of those hours of practice and hard work. He's dedicated to the sport. Nobody, though, is going to take any suspension sitting down."

"My team was a little mad about it. They wanted to go out and have an undefeated season. But South Carolina beat us in the holiday tournament here. They feel they have to finish with one of the best records in the nation to prove where they belong."

Computer Course Has Oriole Experimenting

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dave Johnson of the Baltimore Orioles, who tries more stances than a nervous go-go dancer, has now taken to juggling his team's batting order.

It all started as an outgrowth of Johnson's off-season course on computers at Johns Hopkins University and his part-time job with Lition Industries, which runs the Institute of Computer Management.

But after programming eight different line-ups and determining that the most productive had him batting in the second spot, the Baltimore second baseman may get serious about his project.

"The third best line-up had me hitting third," Johnson noted. "Maybe if I spread the word around, I'll get to the plate more this season."

In 1968, Johnson was used mostly in the sixth or seventh spots in the batting order. He hit .242.

Johnson said he would show the results of his labor to Orioles' Manager Earl Weaver and "hope for the best."

"I spent a lot of hours trying to get this programmed correctly," the 26-year-old Oriole said. "Now I know what a manager has to go through."

At the outset, Johnson made a major error in the feeding of data to the computer and for 100 games the Orioles averaged about 100 runs on 70 or more hits, while leaving only seven men on base.

When he stopped laughing, Johnson correctly set up a table for eight players who figure to be Baltimore regulars this year, using last year's batting averages in the programming.

The most productive line-up had catcher Andy Etchebarren leading off, with Johnson second, followed by Frank Robinson, Boog Powell, Don Buford, Brooks Robinson, Mark Belanger, Paul Blair and the pitcher — with the averages of Dave McNally, Tom Phoebus and Jim Hardin lumped in the ninth spot.

That line-up averaged 3.826 runs per game on 8,504 hits, while leaving 8,273 man on base.

Norm Wintermeyer Leads Christians By Raiders

FORT WORTH (AP) — Led by Norm Wintermeyer's 28 points, Texas Christian broke out of its scoring shell to bomb Texas Tech 99-79 Saturday afternoon for its second Southwest Conference victory.

This was a new high for TCU this season. Wintermeyer, who got his starting assignment five minutes before game time, hit nine of 15 from the floor and 10 of 11 free shots for his 28 points.

James Cash had 21 points and 19 rebounds as TCU outshot Texas Tech 53.0 to 40.6 and had a 46-31 rebound edge.

Jeff Harp's sharp feeding enabled TCU's fast break to crack open the game in the second half after the Frogs built a nine point halftime lead.

Sox Workouts Washed Out

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Two more rookies showed up Saturday, placing 23 mainly inexperienced battermen in the Chicago White Sox camp as a heavy squall line washed out the club's second day of spring training.

Pitcher Gary Peters, Sox player representative and among 10 veteran battermen boycotting the club's early training start said he doubted approval would be given in a weekend poll on the latest owner proposals in baseball's pension squabble.

"A few points look pretty good, but it doesn't look like a settlement will be accepted in its present form," said Peters.

The six of the White Sox player turnout for the early start of their training camp has been regarded as a test of strength in the pension dispute.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association which has threatened a strike over pension financing, will report to management Monday in New York on the result of polling player representatives on the latest proposals for settlement.

Danny Lazar, left-handed pitcher up from Hawaii, and a non-roster catcher, Howard Wood, were the latest to report. That gave the Sox 13 rostered hands in uniform with veteran catcher Russ Nixon and relief pitcher Dan Osinski the only established players in camp.

The Teen-Age Baseball association here will hold a business meeting in the National Guard Armory at 7 p.m. Monday.

One of the purposes of the meeting is the election of officers for the approaching season.

FRIDAY NIGHT Classy Klondike To Host Champs

KLONDIKE — One of the basketball classics of the season is scheduled here next Friday night when the Klondike Cougarettes, coached by Bill Brown, square away with Spring Lake in a practice game. Starting time is 7:30 p.m.

Klondike was runner-up in the State Class B tournament at Austin last year and has a fine lineup back. The Cougarettes are 30-2 and 10-0 in District 13-B, having lost over to Class AA Spearman (No. 1 in the state) by seven points and Class AAA Slaton (No. 2 in the state) by seven points.

Klondike has been beaten only once in two seasons at home, that time by Gail last year.

Three years ago, Spring Lake was state runner-up in Class A and has won the state championship the last two years.

Klondike has three sets of sisters play the same position.

They are senior Margie and junior Roxanne Minter, senior Barbara and junior Patsy Nell and a senior Gayle and sophomore Joyce Wilcher.

Margie Minter, who stands 5-8, is averaging 28 points a game this season while Joyce Wilcher is hitting a 23-point norm. She stands 6-0.

The Cougarettes meet Grandfalls in bi-district play at Wink at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 3. A victory there would send Klondike to the Region I tournament at Levelland, where its chief competition likely would be Quitaque, which won 26 of its first 29 starts.

In advancing to the state finals last year, Klondike forged a 35-5 record.

The Klondike gym seats 1,100 and has been filled several times this year for Klondike games.

Deming Boosted To Head Post

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Deming, an assistant football coach at the University of Buffalo for 10 years, was elevated Saturday to head coach.

Deming, 33, succeeds Richard "Doc" Ulrich, who resigned recently to become head coach of Northern Illinois University.

Deming played three years of collegiate football, as a full-back, at Colgate University. After his graduation, he served as an assistant coach to Hal Lahar at Houston for two years before joining the Buffalo staff in 1959.

He had been a defensive backfield coach for the Bulls since 1961.

Player Is Easy Durban Winner

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Gary Player, with a record eight-under-par 64 over the last 18 holes, raced away to an easy victory in the South African Open Golf Championship Saturday.

It was his fifth successive victory in the event.

The black-garbed South African had rounds of 67, 70, 72 and 64 for an aggregate of 273 and won by six strokes. Trevor Wilkes, also of South Africa, was second.

Ponies Warm Up To Win

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Southern Methodist outscored Arkansas 17-3 in the last seven minutes of the game to take a 76-68 come-from-behind Southwest Conference victory from the Razorbacks in a regionally televised game Saturday.

Arkansas hit 50 per cent of its field shots in the first half to lead 42-34 at halftime, and by as much as 11 points early in the second half before running into foul trouble and a cold shooting spell.

The Razorbacks did not score a field goal in the final seven minutes of the game. Arkansas outscored SMU from the field 25-24 but SMU hit 28 of 37 free throws to 18 of 25 for Arkansas.

Lynn Phillips, the Mustangs' 6-foot-7 center, hit 22 points for game scoring honors. Bill Voight added 20 for SMU. Robert McKenzie paced Arkansas with 21 points and James Eltridge added 15.

The taller Mustangs outbounded Arkansas 55-44. SMU now is 7-2 in SWC play and Arkansas is 3-6.

Players' Union Studies Latest Pension Offers

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's 24 player representatives Saturday studied the latest proposals made by the club owners in an attempt to reach agreement in their dispute over pension contributions.

While the representatives and their chief negotiator, Marvin Miller, mullied the new proposals, all eyes began to shift south to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where the New York Yankees' advance camp is scheduled to open Monday.

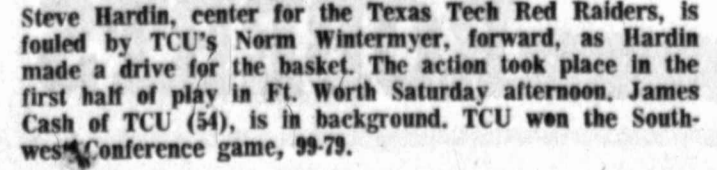

The Chicago White Sox opened their advance camp Friday with several notable battermen such as Gary Peters, Joe Horlen and Duane Josephson absent. The Yankees will be the next team to find what affect negotiations will have on players reporting.

Many players have agreed to stay away from training camp sites until the dispute with the owners is settled.

The dispute between the players and the owners revolves around pension benefits. The players contend they are entitled to a percentage of broadcast revenue for their pension plan while the owners say no.

The owners, however, have offered a $1 million increase to $5.1 million in contributions to the pension fund and Thursday the owners negotiating committee submitted its proposals in writing. Miller and the representatives immediately met to discuss them.

The next negotiating session is set for Monday.

NEW YORK (AP) — When the major league ball players report to spring training, they will find several switches in camp sites to accommodate the four new expansion teams and two teams that have moved their bases.

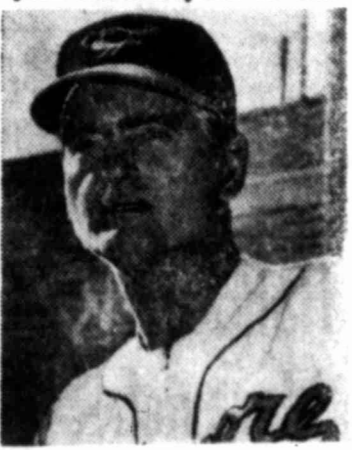

Most of the clubs are due to have at least a first squad in camp this week. The last is Cleveland with a Feb. 25 date at Tucson, Ariz. Pitchers and catchers are scheduled to lead the parade in many cases although several teams have asked the entire squad to report at the same time. The final reporting date for a full squad is March 3 when all the California Angels are expected to be at Palm Springs, Calif.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Shires Planned His Own Parade

By TOMMY HART

Elwood Kettler, the Texas Tech coaching aide who stopped in here the other night to sign Cliff Cook, says he left football's best high school job when he quit at Nederland to join Bear Bryant at Alabama. Thanks to that time-out rule started last fall, high school football games are now running three minutes longer than they did two years ago—another argument for 7:30 p.m. starting times in District 3-AAAA.

PAUL RICHARDS

J. B. Gibbs is retiring as a football official but agreed to work a game involving Big Spring this fall when approached by coach Spike Dykes of Big Spring. Melvin Robertson, the University of Houston coaching aide, says head coach Bill Yeoman is working on future schedules that would involve games with Wisconsin and Southern California. Gerald Loyd, the local assistant who took the head coaching job at Stanton recently, and Wade Turner, the Angelo State college aide, were roommates at both ASC and Stephen F. Austin College. Los Angeles has become so saturated with sports that turnstile counts have dropped alarmingly. Attendance is down more than 70,000 at the Santa Anita race track; track meets are luring half what they did in previous years and the Los Angeles Lakers' support has skidded near 1,000 a game.

Emory Bellard, the Texas coaching aide who stopped in here the other day, didn't object when his son, Emory Jr., decided to accept an Oklahoma State scholarship. He says it creates problems for both a boy and a father when they are associated with the same team, especially when the son is a quarterback. Emory Jr. led Austin Reagan to the Class AAAA State championship. Emory Sr. sat silently in the stands and experienced a little bit of Heaven and a little bit of Hell when his namesake was going so well with Reagan. Let it be said he let Travis Raven do all the coaching on the Reagan team. After he hit .341 his first year in the big leagues, the late Art (What-A-Man) Shires returned to Dallas, rented an entire coach of an interurban line that ran to his native Waxahachie, hired a band and had signs proclaiming "The Great Shires" pasted on the car. When the party arrived in Waxahachie, Shires led the band in a parade down Main Street, welcoming himself home.

Paul Richards, now with Atlanta and a resident of Waxahachie at the time, was among the spectators at the parade. Does sportscaster Bob Bell ever sound to you as if he were recorded on 33 and played back on 45? The story is that Texas Tech was making overtures to coach Harry Miller of Eastern New Mexico University about the basketball coaching job (which is almost certain to be vacated by Gene Gibson after this season) until someone learned that Miller was strong for adding Negro talent to the Red Raiders. That is one of the big things wrong with Southwest Conference basketball: The schools never make a big effort to cross the color line. Miller has fine credentials, having formerly coached at San Diego State and the University of New Mexico. He's built a fine team at Portales, too. It appears now that Tech will summon Gerald Myers from Houston Baptist to assume the job. Big Spring has won the Andrews Invitational Baseball tournament the past two years but can't go back due to commitments within the league. The Steers will be replaced in the meet by Odessa Permian. In 1921, when the great Babe Ruth slugged 59 home runs for the New York Yankees, the entire American League drew only 4,620,328 paying customers. In 1927, when Ruth hit 60, the league's total draw was but 4,612,951. The American League has topped the 10 million mark in attendance five times during this decade while the National League played to over 15 million in 1956. Who was it who said interest in the sport was waning? One of the passengers on a plane that recently was diverted to Cuba by a sky-jacker was Darrell Rosenow, who numerous times has pitched softball here. He was bound for Puerto Rico at the time. The Houston Astros have players from 23 states on their spring training roster, along with natives of England, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Mexico, Dominican Republic and the Bahamas. Don Wilson, who stopped in here Friday, is the only Louisianan on the team, now that Rusty Staub has departed.

ASTRO NOTABLES IN VISIT HERE Host Jim Baum (L), with Don Wilson and John Mullen

Astros Outlook Bright, Mullen Tells ABCers

Two members of a Houston Astro baseball party on a good visit to West Texas, star hurler Don Wilson and assistant general manager John Mullen, climaxed a whirlwind trip here Friday with talks made before a banner turnout at the American Business Club's luncheon at the Settles Hotel.

The two were invited to Big Spring by Jim Baum, local radio man, who ushered them around town and later drove them to Odessa where they rejoined other members of their party.

Wilson predicted that peace would shortly be restored between striking players in the big leagues and club owners and said he did not believe that the lowering of mounds around the National league would handicap his pitching to any degree.

On the contrary, he added, the lowered pitching areas might be a boost to him, since he is primarily a fast-ball pitcher. Wilson won 13 games last season, more than anyone else on the Houston club, and said he had designs on a 20-game season this year.

The star hurler also predicted that the new divisional setup in the circuit would be a boon to baseball and he foresees

Houston making a serious run at first place despite the fact that the Astros are in the same setup with San Francisco and Atlanta.

Mullen discussed the trades the Astros had made during the winter and also predicted a rise in the fortunes of the club. He pointed to the fact that the Houston team had skidded into the cellar with the material it had and Astro officials from owner Judge Roy Hofheinz on down felt that something drastic had to be done in order to bring interest among the fans.

The most discussed trade the Astros made, Mullen said, was the one which sent star hitter Rusty Staub to Montreal for Jesus Alou and Donn Clendenin. The Astros swapped power for speed in that deal, Mullen said, an arrangement that has helped to make the Texas-based team one of the fastest in baseball.

Perhaps the most significant trade the Astros made, however, was the acquisition of catcher John Edwards from St. Louis. Edwards is the most complete catcher the Astros have ever had, Mullen stated.

Curt Blefary, a Baltimore outfielder, and relief hurler Dooley Womack were among other players acquired since last season.

It was Ladies Day at the club and the largest crowd in many weeks was on hand. Among guests was Jim Zapp, himself a former baseball player. Club prey Bill Bradford said that a vice president of the ABC National organization would be in attendance at next week's meeting.

An old film, "The Movie Queen," locally made prior to World War II, was screened for the benefit of those who hadn't seen it.

SHARE TOWN

The Montreal Expos will share West Palm Beach, Fla. with the established Atlanta Braves and the San Diego Padres, the National League's other expansion club, will be at Yuma, Ariz.

The Seattle Pilots have selected Tempe, Ariz. as their first training camp and the Kansas City Royals, the other American League expansion team, will be at Fort Myers, Fla. The Royals found Fort Myers open because of a double shift of established clubs. The Oakland A's, who have trained at Bradenton, Fla., for years, moved west to Mesa, Ariz., and the Pittsburgh Pirates, long time winter visitors to Fort Myers, took over Bradenton.

Florida is the most popular spring base with 17 major league clubs, nine from the National League and eight from the American League. Arizona has six clubs and California has one, the California Angels.

The Chicago White Sox' advance camp opened Thursday at Sarasota, Fla. The New York Yankees' first squad is due to be at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and the Washington Senators at Pompano Beach, Fla., both on Monday. Others are due every day the rest of the week.

MAUCH IN MONTREAL

Gene Mauch returns to the scene as manager at Montreal and Preston Gomez, former Los Angeles Dodger coach, moves down the coast to boss the new San Diego entry. Clyde King has succeeded Herman Franke with the San Francisco Giants.

Joe Gordon takes over at Kansas City at Joe Schultz, former third base coach for the St. Louis Cardinals, is the manager of the Seattle Pilots. St. Andrews Now Has Stop Lights

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — They're putting up the traffic lights at St. Andrews to control the golfers.

It's a revolutionary step by any standards and even more revolutionary at the hallowed home of world golf. Reason: Drives off the first tee could be a danger to life and limb of people crossing "Granny Clark's Wynd", the road crossing the first and 18th fairways to the car park and the beach.

That road is a right of way across the Old Course, the world's most famous course which is owned by the local council.

Lights will be erected at the road with appropriate green for go, yellow for caution and red for stop.

The lights will be controlled from the starter's box on the first tee. So, golfers on the first tee will have to wait until the lights turn green before they can tee off. A notice will be erected at the wynd—a Scottish name for road—saying: "Please do not cross at yellow or stop."

The cost of the installation will be around $720. In Granny Clark's day such a move never was necessary. The numbers of people crossing the road were small compared with today. The number of golfers playing the Old Course were a drop in the ocean compared with the thousands who now make the pilgrimage to St. Andrews.

Granny Clark had a house just off the first fairway. That was in the middle of last century. And that's how the road got its name. For the record book a donkey was killed on Granny Clark's Wynd in 1887. A ball from a drive by a man called Robertson hit the donkey and down the animal went—dead. From then on Robertson was known as "Kill-the-Cuddy Robertson." Cuddy, by the way, is scot slang for a horse or donkey.

Sands Whips By Raiders

Slow to warm to the challenge and down by 11 points at one stage, the Sands Mustangs came on strong to defeat Lueders-Avoca, 62-57, in a practice basketball game staged in the HCJC gym here Friday night.

The win left James Blake's team with a 23-2 record. Blake is seeking to line up at least one more practice game for the Ponies before they meet Barstow in th playoffs. Sands hit only 32 per cent of its shots the first half but warmed to 48 per cent the final two rounds. The Ponies finally took the lead with five minutes remaining in the game.

Ronnie Taylor had a big night for Sands, scoring 18 points. Bruce Kemper tossed in 14 for the winners.

Gary Henderson paced the Raiders with 20 points. SANDS (82) — Maxwell 23-4; Hoover 5-0-10; Fryar 1-3-5; Lewis 1-0-2; Taylor 4-0-18; Kemper 7-0-14; Herm 3-1-7. Totals 55-12-67. LUEDERS-AVOCA (57) — Davy 25-9; Cowan 3-0-4; Warrick 3-1-7; Henderson 9-2-20; Lankford 1-0-2; Buckman 3-3-11. Totals 25-11-57.

Engineers To Observe Special Week

Wayne Vaughn, president of the Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, Jim Dale, program chairman, and Ernest Lillard, director of public works for Big Spring and a chapter official, watch Mayor Arnold Marshall set aside "1969 Engineers Week in Big Spring."

Plains Cotton Crop Sets Quality Record

LUBBOCK — The U.S. Bureau of Census reports that 21 of the 23 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, through Jan. 16 had ginned 1,528,870 bales from the 1968 crop.

Borden and Deaf Smith counties were excluded from the bureau's report to avoid the danger of revealing individual gin totals.

PCG estimates production in these two counties to be 17,500 bales, bringing the area total through Jan. 16 to 1,546,370.

Another 16,584 bales have been classed by the Lubbock Classing Office since Jan. 16, and Bill Crockett, market information specialist at Lubbock, says that will just about wind up the crop.

This would bring the area total to around 1,563,000 bales, only 20,000 bales below the Dec. 1 estimate compiled by PCG and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange of 1,583,000 and an increase of 33 per cent over the final 1967 figure of 1,186,572.

Planted acreage in 1968 was approximately 1.6 million, up from 1967's 1.3 million planted acres, and cotton officials are projecting that acreage will again be up in 1969, probably to around 1.8 or 1.9 million.

Quality of the 1968 crop was far above anything the Plains area had produced before. Staple average, according to PCG's final quality report issued on Jan. 8, came to 32.3 thirty-seconds of an inch, with 67.7 per cent stapling an inch or longer. Corresponding figures for 1967 were 31.6 thirty-seconds and 39.2 per cent.

Strengthwise, 1968 showed an average Pressley of 82,400 pounds per square inch, with 90.2 per cent 75,000 pounds or above. In 1967 these figures were 79,100 pounds and 67.1 per cent respectively.

The table below shows county production totals for 1967.

City-Building Theme Marks Engineer Week Observance

A round of special events, climaxed by the annual Texas Society of Professional Engineers banquet - Saturday in Odessa, will mark the observance of "Engineers Week."

In Big Spring, the growing population of engineers will supply panelists to visit the high school and junior college to talk about engineering careers. There are 42 registered professional engineers here now, plus nearly as many awaiting licensing.

Friday, at Webb AFB, engineers in this area will be honored at a luncheon at the Officer's Club.

Dr. John J. McKetta, dean of the college of engineering at the University of Texas, will be the speaker at the banquet affair in Odessa when the chapter is made. Two Big Springers—O. H. Ivie and the late Col. E. V. Spence—have received the award in the past.

Mayor Arnold Marshall has proclaimed the week of observance, which will be carried out this year under the theme of "Engineering... Partner in Rebuilding Urban America."

IMPROVE MAN'S LOT
"The work of engineers is devoted to improving the welfare of mankind around the world, seeking to purify the water we drink and cleanse the air we breathe, and improving man's surroundings," said the mayor.

"For a brighter and happier future for our cities, I urge every citizen to honor engineers and encourage others so inclined to investigate the possibility of a career of service in this field."

Nationally, President Richard Nixon has proclaimed the week, noting that "our nation's urban problems will not be solved merely by applying more resources; we must apply our existing resources more effectively. Engineers will be prime movers in shaping our cities and uplifting the urban way of life."

A high government official noted that "you (engineers) may build cities well, or you may build them carelessly, but either way or another you and your fellow citizens will build an entire new urban environment... The end of this century will say whether your building represents a civilization worthy of respect."

TO VISIT SCHOOLS
Wednesday from 9:45 a.m. to 10:25 a.m., there will be a panel of local engineers at the guidance office in Howard County Junior College to visit with students who are interested in embarking upon studies which might lead to an engineering career. This will be repeated Thursday from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Big Spring High School. At least four engineers, representing basic fields of engineering, will be on hand to discuss engineering and to answer questions.

Wayne Vaughn, who is president of the Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, will preside at the banquet in Odessa. Tickets may be obtained from him, Don Hurton or Ernest Lillard.

Dean McKetta, son of immigrant parents, could speak only Ukrainian until he entered school, but he has risen to be recognized as one of the outstanding engineering personalities in the nation.

Denies Request To Revoke Parole, Protected Woman

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A judge has denied the federal government's request to revoke the parole of a fugitive who was captured because he sought to protect a saleswoman during a store robbery.

Judge Virgil Pittman of U.S. District Court said Friday that Fred Adam Opalinski deserved a reward for his heroism and so refused to return him to federal prison.

However, Opalinski remains in jail because of detainers filed against him by other states on bad check charges.

He was in Elliott's Jewelry store when two gunmen entered and demanded cash and jewelry. A saleswoman placed watches and rings into a pillowcase one of the men handed to her.

One of the bandits then placed a pistol against the head of another employee, Mrs. Mary E. Sherrer, and said, "I'm going to kill you."

Opalinski, standing nearby, said, "No, No." The gunman beat him to the floor with blows on the head with the pistol.

The other robber demanded money from customer Eddie Hoskins, 38, a father of six. Hoskins scuffled with the man and was shot to death.

Memorial Set

LAMESA (SC) — The Dawson County Commissioners Court has issued a call for bids for a courthouse square memorial in honor of the county's veterans of military service and those who gave their lives in defense of the nation. With an estimated cost near $3,000, the proposed granite marker will carry the inscription "Dedicated to all who rendered service to our country." It also will bear the insignia of the U.S. Air Force, Navy, Marines and Army.

Make Way For Spring

Makes no difference what the calendar says, this almond tree belonging to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Preston, 610 E. 15th, has rushed headlong into spring. The venerable tree, now 22 years old, has been around long enough to know better. The Prestons say it always is the first out in the spring, and generally makes a crop of nuts. All over town, other fruit trees were swelling, and some were popping timidly or boldly into bloom.

Hoodlums Get Blame For Closing Of Negro Center

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A Wilmington, Del., Negro's dream to make a success of a black-owned and operated shopping center is unfulfilled as his 10-store complex shuts down just one year after it's opening.

"The insurance was canceled after the place was broken into for the 16th time in one year," said one of the proprietors, Harry H. Young Jr.

"I'm closing the entire shopping center," he said. "It's all over. There's no other way."

"I've spent $6,000 alone just to fix busted windows," Young said. "I am in debt to the hilt and have lost around $33,000 in savings."

The center—the first in Delaware financed, owned and managed by Negroes—opened Feb. 8, 1968, after Young and three partners took over a $110,000 mortgage from the previous white owners.

"We never got fully occupied," Young said. "The residents wanted to help, but young hoodlums, most of them under 18, wouldn't give us a break. They pushed and shoved customers, and broke into their cars."

Young said he's scrapping the whole operation in a letter to Gov. Russell W. Peterson.

Gifts Deductible

Gifts to approved charities may be deducted on 1968 Federal income tax returns by persons who list deductions.

In addition to cash, gifts of new or used clothing, furniture or other property can be deducted, explained Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas. For these items, the amount to deduct is the fair market value, he said. Good records (checks, receipts) should be kept.

OJT Award Named At Webb

The Deputy Commander for Operations (DCO) complex at Webb AFB has earned the quarterly on-the-job-training (OJT) award at the base. Col. Robert Casey, deputy commander for Operations, accepted the OJT trophy at a recent wing-staff meeting. Second place in the quarterly competition went to the Air Base Group, which qualified 91 per cent of the airmen attempting upgrade. DCO received the award for achieving the highest cumulative rating during a three-month period in OJT training at the base. DCO qualified 100 per cent of its airmen seeking upgrading during the quarter.

Cotton Official Says Major Changes Needed In Industry

LAMESA (SC) — The chairman of the board of the National Cotton Council told a Lamesa audience Friday he believes the cotton industry must undergo "some major revolutions" if it hopes to continue to maintain its current economic importance to the South Plains economy.

"However, I am convinced this can be accomplished," he added, "just as the producers, the ginners, the mills and the other ingredients of this area's cotton industry have always been among the leaders in progress for the cotton industry."

Speaking was Roy Davis, Lubbock, who also is manager of Plains Co-Op Oil Mill and who this year is serving as chairman of the board of the National Cotton Council after serving as president of the NCC during 1968.

"The year 1968 was something of a disaster for the cotton industry," Davis told listeners at the Lamesa Rotary Club.

Cotton exports hit a modern-day low of less than three million bales, about half of what the U.S. industry must have to maintain anything resembling decent demand for the cotton produced, Davis said.

He said exports of five to six million bales are required for a "healthy" cotton market and pointed out that exports of the past five years have averaged about four million bales "until we really got into trouble last year."

In addition, demand for domestic cotton also hit a slump during 1968.

"We lost half a million bales of domestic cotton sales . . . not because there was a smaller demand at the textile mills, but because this was the amount we lost to man-made fibers," Davis continued.

Davis asserted, however, that from his dual vantage point as manager of the world's largest cotton oil mill and as a National Cotton Council official, "I believe we have enough things going for us to change this picture in the months and years to come."

"The first thing we have to do," Davis said, "is to restore confidence in the fact that we are in the cotton business to stay. Some of the international concern has been generated by the fact that our cotton program provides subsidy only for domestic cotton . . . although it is a fact of life that about 65 per cent of our nation's total cotton production must be exported."

"And when you get right down to it, it seems the number one topic in the cotton industry is what the government is going to do to help us. But government cannot be depended upon to keep us in the cotton business indefinitely. The thing which should be paramount on our

Twelve At Webb Get Promotions

Twelve officers at Webb AFB will receive promotions before the end of the month, making the February promotion list at the base one of the largest ever. The list includes one new captain and 11 new first lieutenants. Some of the men have already been promoted; others will change ranks on their effective dates of promotion.

The month's sole promotion to captain, John Bray, pinned on the twin silver bars Monday. The men already promoted to first lieutenant this month are Ronald Laboe, Richard Schneider, Steven Reynolds and Charles Dendy. Norman Slocum became a first lieutenant Saturday.

Other second lieutenants yet to be promoted this month and their effective dates of promotion are Manuel Pereira, George Reich, Theodore Rossoman, Lewis Shaw II, Mark Winstel, all Feb. 21, and Larry Funk, Feb. 26.

minds is whether or not we can compete in the world fiber market," Davis said.

"I am convinced we can compete. But we cannot compete in the world market at our current costs of production, ginning and processing.

"We are going to have to see some revolutions throughout the entire industry if we are to stay in business," Davis said.

He displayed a 12-inch-tall cotton plant with one single stalk and five bolls of cotton, an experimental variety which supposedly will provide high yield, quality and grades plus an inch-or-better staple. It may be planted in 10-inch rows instead of conventional 40-inch rows. There are many other developments which promise hope for the cotton industry, he said.

MRS. T. J. ROWLAND

MRS. ARCH CARSON

— Flower Power —

By JO BRIGHT

Where have all the flowers gone?

Sometimes it's hard to wait for spring — especially when a lady looks out her window and sees only winter's weary landscape. In other days, women waited for gardens to grow before bouquets of blossoms could brighten their homes. Not so with the modern woman. Instead of waiting on nature's whims, she simply makes her own flowers.

There are many women in Big Spring whose nimble fingers are fashioning flowers for table arrangements or party decorations. Among them are Mrs. Adolph Swartz, who makes plastic posies; Mrs. T. J. Rowland, who brings beauty to burlap; Mrs. Robert Stripling, who antiques artificial flowers; Mrs. Larry Cheatham, who fancies feather pot plants; and Mrs. Arch Carson, whose pretty paper creations are a festive touch to any room.

Miss Jane Carolyn Cowper Weds Bart Sanford Henson

The wedding of Miss Jane Carolyn Cowper and Bart Sanford Henson was solemnized Saturday evening in a candle-light ceremony at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Bennett Gray Cowper, 902 Mountain Park, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward William Henson of Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Carl Baker was organist, and the bridal party entered to "Trumpet Voluntary" with Glen Matlock playing trumpet. The recessional by Mendelssohn was played by Mrs. Baker. Altar vases held large arrangements of carnations in melon shades, interspersed with emerald fern, and standing candelabra, arranged with fern, were placed in the chancel.

Miss Cowper's traditional gown was fashioned of white satin, and the skirt, sleeves and cathedral train were trimmed with Chantilly lace appliques reembroidered with seed pearls. The sweetheart neckline was topped with a marquise yoke and collar of lace and pearls, and the long sleeves tapered to petal points at the wrists. The same gown was worn by the bride's two married sisters. Her veil of illusion fell from a lace Camelot headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis accented with miniature ivy.

ATTENDANTS
Attending the bride as matron of honor were her sisters, Mrs. Bruce Smith of Irving and Mrs. Rodney Sheppard of Austin. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Hurst of Lufkin and Mrs. Ewing Werlein, Miss Mary Elizabeth Hyde, Miss Jan Wright and Miss Arabella Miner, all of Houston. They were attired in white crepe dresses styled with Empire waists and slender, long skirts, and their headbands were adorned with iridescent sequins. Each carried a cluster bouquet of cerise carnations backed with avocado velvet and streamers.

The junior bridesmaids were Miss Jan Ferguson, Whiteville, Tenn., and Miss Mary Cunningham, Durham, N.C. Their white voile dresses featured long sleeves and ruffled necklines, and they carried pink cluster bouquets. The flower girl, Celeste Sheppard of Austin, wore a maxi-length dress in hot pink voile with long sleeves and Empire waist. She carried a white basket of flower petals.

The bridegroom's father, who was unable to attend the wedding, due to illness, and serving in his place was J. Charles Lockwood of Atlanta, Ga. Groomsmen were William W. George, Washington, D.C.; Richard W. White, Baytown; Michael C. Allemang, New York, N.Y.; Bayard Cowper, Atlanta, Ga.; Rodney Sheppard and Bruce Smith, both of Austin; and Bennett Cowper of Big Spring. Christopher Cowper of Atlanta, Ga., was the ring bearer, and the altar tapers

Dancing followed the reception, and a pink and white canopy covered the bandstand which was accented with two poodle trees of pink carnations. A matching carnation tree was placed at the end of the receiving line, and the bridesmaids

Tot Has Meaning For Different Cries

It's a wise mother who learns to distinguish her baby's different cries. Night-time cries are usually those of hunger, anger or discomfort, pain or nightmare. A cry of pain is often a shrill, high-pitched shriek, and comes in intervals. A cry of hunger or discomfort is a steady and persistent signal for attention.

A LOVELIER YOU Teen Entertains At Soup Dunking

By MARY SUE MILLER

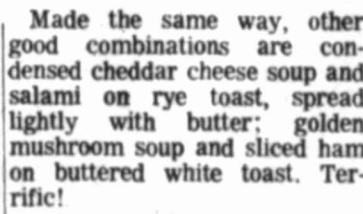

A Teen Lovely wants to know: What can I serve to eight of my friends after a Friday night basketball game? It should not be too fattening, too hard to make or too expensive.

The Answer: How about Dippy Dunking Souper Sandwiches? It's a brand new idea and pretty much meets your requirements. You just make some sandwiches while heating condensed soup for dunking. Cut the sandwiches into one-inch, bite-size pieces and pour the hot soup into bowls. With his own fork, each guest dips a sandwich bit into the soup dunk. And it's delicious!

Served with tossed green salad and topped off with cold apples, ginger snaps and a no-cal beverage, the repast is filling, fun and sufficiently calorie-frugal. Here's a recipe for a Dippy Dunker.

Peanut butter and bacon: Combine two cans (10 3/4 ozs. each) condensed tomato soup with one cup water. Heat, stir, spread now and then. Meantime, spread eight slices wholewheat toast with peanut butter and top with broiled bacon slices; cover with eight slices toast. Cut into bite-size pieces. Pour soup into bowls and start dunking. (Serves eight.)

MIDRIFF SLIMMERS. To solve the riddle of extra inches around your middle, send today for my leaflet, "Midriff Slimmers." It contains quick, easy reducing exercises for slimming diaphragms, waist and abdomen. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Made the same way, other good combinations are condensed cheddar cheese soup and salami on rye toast, spread lightly with butter; golden mushroom soup and sliced ham on buttered white toast. Terrific!

MRS. DAVID WAYNE STROUP

Wedding Held On Saturday

Miss Janice Lynn Anderson and David Wayne Stroup were married Saturday at College Baptist Church with the Rev. Byron Orand as officiating minister. The altar was enhanced with gladioli and palms of emerald foliage lighted by wedding tapers in seven branched candelabrum. Family pews were marked by white satin bows and boxwood.

Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, accompanied Danny Johnson as he sang "Because" and "Ave Maria."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. Floyd Anderson, 2302 Roberts, and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Stroup, 2501 Cindy Lane.

The bride was attired in an A-line Empire dress with petal point sleeves and scooped neckline. The gown was made of peau de soie with appliques of French lace on the bodice and front hemline. Seed pearls accented the appliques on the train, and her headpiece was a water lily of pearls with a veil of silk illusion. She carried a triangular bouquet of yellow roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Karen Wilkinson was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Suzanne Hardison and Miss Pam Dewees, and bridesmatrons were Mrs. Thomas Lee Bell and Mrs. Billy F. Anderson, sister-in-law of the bride. Miss Kendra Dewees was junior bridesmaid. All were attired in lemon faulle taffeta gowns styled in an A-line with back panel that flowed from the shoulders. They wore headbands accented with seed pearls and carried colonial bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with avocado ribbon.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Horace Blackshear, Mrs. Cecil Suttles, Mrs. Shirley Walker, Mrs. Cliff Balzar, Mrs. Gorman Rainey and Mrs. Bill Blalack.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over organza and trimmed with bows and wedding bells. The centerpiece was a branched silver candelabrum, and the tiered cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The bridegroom's table was covered with an olive green cloth and centered with a chocolate cake and silver coffee service.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie L. Anderson, Dallas; Mrs. Leola Anderson and Jerry Anderson and Mrs. Neal Anderson, all of Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Smith and children and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Wheeler and family, all of Hobbs, N.M.; Donald Anderson, San Diego, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stroup and sons, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. James Stroup, Irving; Mr. and Mrs. Manning Stroup, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Winterrowd and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Winterrowd, all of Balmorhea; Miss Beth Mason, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Brown Salinas, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stroup of Paradise; and Mr. and Mrs. L. Mrs. Clyde Angel Gives Talk On Plants And Gardens Of Bible

Biblical history came alive Wednesday as members of the Planters Garden Club listened to Mrs. Clyde Angel present the program, "Plants and Gardens of the Bible." The theme was chosen because this is the season in Palestine when gardens are at the height of their beauty. The speaker prefaced her descriptions of famous gardens with the observation that in Biblical lands, the rains are from October to April, and that the sunshine comes by February.

"After this, the hills are tapestried with the glory of brilliant blossoms," said Mrs. Angel. She explained that in Biblical times, gardens were hedged by stone walls or anything else that could give protection.

GARDEN OF EDEN

"The first garden was the Garden of Eden," continued Mrs. Angel. "This was made by the Master Gardener, creator of all things, and this was the one perfect garden; all necessities were provided."

The speaker then told of Naboth's garden, the finest in Samaria. King Ahab wanted this garden and went to great lengths to get it. In speaking of the King's Garden in Kedron (owned by David and Solomon), she said that figs, olives and pomegranates grew profusely there.

Mrs. Angel said the famous Hanging Gardens of Babylon were a square 15 miles in area, and the surrounding wall was 300 feet high and 87 feet thick, with numerous brass gates. This was considered one of the "wonders of the world" and got its name, not from hanging baskets, but from the manner in which the plants and trees grew from arches, ledges, rocks and stairways, some 300 feet in height.

Officers Slate Named By Forum

Mrs. James Owens was elected president at Thursday's meeting of the Progressive Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. B. J. Whitten, 1602 Osage. Other officers named were Mrs. Roy Cederberg, vice president; Mrs. Max Green, secretary; Mrs. Whitten, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Hugo Campbell, treasurer. Plans were made to assist with the Western District Texas Federation of Women's Clubs convention to be held here March 28-29.

Buy Fabrics That Resist Wrinkles

Wrinkle resistance has been defined as the property of a fabric that causes it to recover from folding and creasing either in wearing or washing. If a fabric has high wrinkle recovery, it will recapture its original smoothness without heavy ironing after being washed; a fabric with low wrinkle recovery must be ironed to remove wrinkles.

The Garden of Joseph, as seen from the Mount of Olives, was detailed by Mrs. Angel who said that it was to this tomb that Mary went to anoint the body of Christ and received the news, "He is not here — He is risen."

She said the greatest plant catalogue in Scripture is found in the "Song of Solomon" which has 74 references to plants, apple blossoms, lilies, sweet herbs and beds of spices; all set in pomegranate orchards, vineyards and palm trees.

"When Jesus paid his lovely compliment to the 'lilies of the field,' he referred to all spring flowers," said Mrs. Angel, "and this included fern, anemone, daisies, tulips, cyclamen and Star of Bethlehem."

ROSE OF SHARON

Continuing, Mrs. Angel explained that the anemone are wild flowers related to the buttercup, grown profusely in Palestine in brilliant reds, pinks, purple and white. There are acres near the Sea of Galilee of the poppy-like "queen of the meadow," which Jesus referred to as more gayly attired than "Solomon in all his glory." The crocus are sometimes called "Rose of Sharon," as were the white narcissus or red tulip. Other flowers that are associated with the time of Christ are the hyacinth, Madonna lily, water lily and lotus. The Cedars of Lebanon grew to over 100 feet high and were used in Solomon's Temple. From the olive tree came oil and food, and the almond tree provided spice and medicine.

During the brief business session, guests introduced were Mrs. Ruby Billings, Miss Shirley White, Mrs. Ginger Wydel and Mrs. Wynell Collins. A garage sale was slated in late March, and a standard flower show will be held in April.

Mrs. J. W. Trantham provided the arrangement which is given each month to the Veterans Administration Hospital. It was an abstract arrangement entitled "Space."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. J. O. Murphy, 700 E. 12th. The next meeting will be hosted by Mrs. J. A. Andrews, 1204 Benton. Mrs. Trantham will present the program, "Sticks and Stones."

MR. AND MRS. LEE H. WESTCOTT, TRACY AND KENDRA

Company Transfers Zone Manager Here

By RHODA LEMONS
The attractive new family that recently moved into the house at 2502 Cindy in Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Westcott and their daughters, Tracy, 2, and Kendra, 8½ months. Westcott is farm equipment zone manager in the West Texas area for International Harvester Company. His work takes him out of town almost every day in covering a large territory. The Westcotts were married over five years ago in Fort Worth, where he was a coach and science teacher in Irving High School, and she worked in reservations for Central Air Lines, now known as Frontier Air Lines. Westcott changed his career (although he liked coaching and teaching) because he wanted a more lucrative field. He is associated with the Dallas office of International Harvester. Westcott was born and reared in Seminole, the son of Mr. and

Mrs. C. T. Westcott, who still reside there. Mrs. Westcott (Dee) was reared in Carlsbad, N.M., and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Welch. Westcott got his BS degree in physical education and his master's degree in education from McMurry College. Also, he attended Southwestern Missouri State and Moberly Junior College. After they were married, Mrs. Westcott attended McMurry for a semester. Later, while he was teaching, he received a science scholarship to Sacramento State College from the National Service Foundation. He and his wife lived in California during this period and traveled extensively over the West Coast. While living in Dallas, Westcott had many opportunities to teach his favorite sport of fishing, but he will have to wait and see how much leisure time he has here before he can participate in that hobby. He and

Mrs. Westcott like to camp and they did a great deal of this, as well as traveling, before the children were born. Both Mr. and Mrs. Westcott play bridge. Mrs. Westcott would like to join a woman's bridge group as soon as she gets settled. "I have done one oil painting that I wouldn't mind hanging," said Mrs. Westcott, who in the past, has done a great deal of painting. She took a "few" lessons and enjoys it as a hobby. She sews and has made her clothes since she was in high school. The Westcotts have found the people here "most courteous and helpful," and they are looking forward to making their home in the community. "It is completely up to the company and my potential how long we remain in Big Spring," said Westcott, "but it looks like a nice place to live and rear a family."

Altrusans Meet For Luncheon

The entire Altrusa Club membership was present for Thursday's luncheon meeting at Cooker's Restaurant. Mrs. Willard Hendrick was the presiding officer. Mrs. Milton Knowles reported on Todd Swinney, a surgery patient in a Denver hospital who has been assisted by the club. Expressions of appreciation were read from his family. "A 'Lincoln-Washington' theme was used in decorations. One table was accented with a cherry tree, and pictures of the presidents were placed on another. Miniature flags and logs with hatchets were used as place favors. Mrs. Hendrick spoke briefly on how the lives of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln effected the nation. It was reported that nominations must be completed by the meeting on Feb. 27.

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Avery of Stanton announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Scherry Ann, to Douglas Jack Carder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Carder of Big Spring. The prospective bridegroom is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. The couple has planned a March wedding in the Stanton Church of Christ.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Press refrigerator cookie dough into clean empty frozen juice cans (with both ends cut off); chill. When you're ready to bake the cookies, push out the cookie dough at one end, so it extends about one-eighth inch, and slice off.

When a recipe directs you to "flour" a cake pan, rub the bottom of the pan with shortening; dump in a tablespoon or two of flour and tap the pan, one side at a time, to distribute evenly. Turn the pan over to dump out excess flour.

Pie meringue looks best, as a rule, when it's put on in swirls. Make the swirls, if the meringue is very smooth after it's spread, with the back of a spoon.

Sandwich know-how: professional sandwich-makers sometimes use two thin slices, instead of one thick slice, of poultry or meat as the filling. For eating ease!

Duck giblets, alone, simmered in water do not give a rich broth. Add some of the duck fat (cut from the bird before roasting and you'll have a more robust broth.

Use either a spatula or a straight-edge table knife for leveling dry ingredients you are measuring in cups or spoons.

Need to know the depth of a pan? Measure by placing a ruler down the inside of a side. It's a good idea to keep a steel ruler - available at art supply shops - for kitchen measuring. When you use such a ruler for measuring rolled-out pastry dough, for example, you can easily wash the ruler before putting it away.

To concoct an interesting accompaniment to fish, mix commercial sour cream with salt, sugar and vinegar to taste and add thinly sliced pared cucumber slices.

Drain canned small white onions and heat in a skillet with a little brown sugar, butter and water until the onions are nicely glazed. Good to serve with pork chops.

Some cooks like to add extra salt pork to canned baked beans when the beans are to be heated in a bean pot or casserole in the oven. If you want to do this, cut the salt pork into one-fourth-inch cubes and partially fry before adding to the beans.

Skimmed milk that is reconstituted must be treated exactly like fresh milk. Store it in the refrigerator.

Ever add a little rum flavoring and some plumped raisins to vanilla pudding? Serve in sherbet or parfait glasses and top with whipped cream and grated orange rind.

Explains Making Burlap Flowers

Mrs. Mary Cole, guest speaker, demonstrated the making of burlap flowers at Tuesday's meeting of Lees Home Demonstration Club in the Lees Clubhouse. Mrs. A. W. White was hostess.

Mrs. Eugene Smith presided. A trip was planned to the Museum of the Southwest, Feb. 25, in Midland, and the district THDA meeting will be held March 13 in Kermit. Mrs. Benjie Blizzard was elected delegate, with Mrs. William Hull as alternate. The Lees HD Club will conduct the 4-H workshop at the district meeting, and leaders are Mrs. Blizzard and Mrs. E. B. Lowe.

The next meeting will be March 11 in the home of Mrs. J. J. Overton.

Air Mattresses

Don't make the bed without first turning back the covers. Then stand up the mattress so air from wide open windows can get at both sides. This should be done at least once or twice a week.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: Putting a nylon slip over the pillow at night to keep from messing up a fancy hair-do was good. But here's my solution for keeping my hair style in place at night without using the usual nets, crepe paper, tissues, etc. etc.

Buy one yard of satin and make a pillowcase to sleep on. It's fantastic. Not a hair out of place come morning . . . Fanny

Some ideas that come in are pretty wild and I wondered if this would work as well as a nylon slip. But satin IS smooth . . . and I'm willing to try any idea.

So I made a pair of pillowcases from some beautiful pink satin. They are very cool and slick as an ice pond. They work great. When I toss and turn at night, my hair slides with me and needs very little fixing the next morning.

So our deep appreciation and thanks to Fanny for tipping us off to her idea.

Those of you who have an old satin evening dress that's way out of style, why don't you think of ripping it up and making a couple of pillowcases. After all, why shouldn't deserving housewives sleep on satin?

If you don't have any satin around the house that you want to use for this, buy just enough for one pillowcase at the remnant counter next time you go to the store. You'll love it . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My husband has some wash-and-wear trousers that were always sliding off the hanger rod.

I bought a thin sheet of foam rubber, cut it into two-inch-wide strips, and taped them over the cardboard on the bottom of the hanger.

Now the trousers don't slide or fall off the hangers and the foam strips are enough cushion to prevent sharp creases . . . Mrs. Solomon Seibel

Dear Heloise:

To me, oven-fried chicken is an easy and tasty dish. But making really delicious gravy from it has been something else.

Keeping the chicken warm while the crust was scraped, fat poured off, and liquid added - then stirring and stirring used to take lots of extra time.

Now, I freeze the crust and grease from the time before I just get this out of the freezer and fix the gravy while the chicken and other food is cooking! Everything is hot and ready at the same time.

The crust and grease left from the present batch go back into the freezer . . . Lolly

New Styles Discussed By HD Club

Mrs. John Affleck was named president of the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary during the monthly luncheon held Thursday at Big Spring Country Club. Serving with Mrs. Affleck will be Mrs. Raymond Torp, vice president; and Mrs. Ramzi Botros, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. W. R. Cashion, retiring president, conducted the election, and the guest speaker was Chaplain Lee Butler of Big Spring State Hospital whose topic was "Personal Identity." Mrs. Butler was a guest.

The hostesses, Mrs. P. W. Malone and Mrs. J. P. Darby, used the valentine motif in decorations. Pink cloths covered the tables, and the centerpiece was a pink net valentine arranged with pink carnations.

It was announced that Mrs. Travis Smith of Abilene, state auxiliary president, will be an honored guest at the local luncheon on March 13. Tentative plans were made to observe "Doctor's Day" on March 30.

Sgt. Perry, a graduate of Lewiston High School in Lewiston, Maine, attended the University of Maine. He served a year in the Navy Reserve before enlisting in the Air Force and just recently completed a tour of duty in Thailand.

LACE GOWN
 The bride was attired in a formal gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted, dropped waist and full skirt accented with a flat satin bow topping the detachable train. The bodice featured belled sleeves and mandarin neckline enhanced with seed pearls and sequins. Her veil of illusion fell from a queen's crown outlined with seed pearls, and she carried a Bible and bouquet of white French carnations, centered with red carnations and backed in tulle and satin leaves.

Mrs. Steve W. Lakin is matron of honor, and Mrs. Anthony D. Fisher of Odessa served as bridesmaid. Their A-line gowns were of white moire taffeta, designed with bell sleeves and mandarin collars adorned with red bead and sequin trim. Their brief veils were attached to red rose headpieces.

The best man was Anthony D. Fisher of Odessa, and S. Sgt. Steve McNaught of Webb Air Force Base was groomsmen. Dusty Choate and Jo Bart Best, both of Sand Springs, were ushers. Marsha Sue Spruill was flower girl, and Danny Spruill served as ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by Putman Choate and Randy Phillips.

RECEPTION

reception held in the Pioneer Gas Flume Room, and members of the house party were Mrs. Glenn Cantrell, Mrs. Willie McDaniel, Mrs. Parnell Garrett, Mrs. Walter Osborne, Mrs. Marshall Spruill, Miss Nancy Phillips and Miss Julie Choate.

The refreshment table was covered with white satin, overlaid with white lace edged with red ribbon. At the front of the skirt, wedding bells were tied with a red bow. The centerpiece was of red carnations, and silver appointments were used. The tiered cake was topped with silver wedding bells.

Buckles Return To High Fashion
 Buckles, one of the oldest types of fasteners, have returned to high fashion. You'll see them on belts, on shoes and garments as fasteners or for purely decorative purposes.

For a wedding trip to Austin, New Orleans, La.; and Biloxi, Miss., the bride wore a three-piece white knit mandarin suit with matching accessories. Following the trip, Sgt. and Mrs. Perry will reside at the Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas.

The rehearsal dinner was held Tuesday evening in the bride's home, and the couple presented gifts to their attendants. Rice bags were distributed by Rosemond Kay Garrett and Laurie Choate.

Houston Show Has Record Entry List

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo opens next Wednesday with a record number of entries.

The 37th annual show runs through March 2. The exhibits will be in the Astrodome and the rodeo in the Astrodome.

The exposition building is being made ready for more than 16,130 entries. Exhibitors and rodeo contestants will compete for record premiums in excess of $233,000.

The previous record of entries was 15,610 in 1967.

Exhibitors from 200 Texas counties and 35 states will be showing 10 breeds of beef cattle, four breeds of dairy cattle, 11 breeds of sheep, five breeds of swine, five breeds of horses, angora goats and numerous breeds of poultry and rabbits.

There are two distinct divisions of the show, the open event which will welcome breeders from throughout the world, and the junior show which is open to Texas 4-H and FFA members.

One of the big events will be the night of Feb. 27 when the grand champion steer of the show will be named. Last year's winner, a Hereford owned by Henry Musselman, 14, of Albany, Tex., sold at auction for $15,700. The show record is $20,500 paid for the 1964 winner.

The show officially gets underway with a huge downtown parade Wednesday in which some

Capt. Bonner Transferred

Capt. Walter Bonner, Webb's chief of security police for the past 14 months, left Friday for a similar position at Lowry AFB, Colo. The move to the Colorado technical training center will mean an increase in responsibilities, where he will be in charge of the base's 117-man security police force — a 70-man jump over Webb's 47-man force.

1st Lt. Paul Christiansen will temporarily serve as Webb's chief of police, until a permanent replacement arrives.

Capt. Bonner replaced Capt. Louis Fought, currently chief of administration, Air Base Group, as chief of police in December, 1967.

Capt. Bonner is a 17-year service veteran who originally entered the armed forces through the Marine Corps. He spent 11 years as an enlisted man before receiving his commission six years ago. He came to Webb immediately after receiving his master's degree in police administration from Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich.

Capt. Bonner is a Vietnam veteran who helped build Phan Rang AB, Vietnam. When he first arrived there in 1965, "there were 12 people sitting in the middle of the jungle," he said.

Capt. Bonner is a native of Portland, Ore. His wife, the former Bety Fittrup, is from Vancouver, Wash. The couple has two boys.

Winter Drouth Bites Deeper Over Most Parts Of State

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Drouth over wide areas of Texas hurt farming and ranching further during the week.

The need for moisture, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is general from Central Texas west and south. Only the eastern half of the state has adequate to surplus moisture.

Dryland wheat on the High and Low Plains, despite warmth, is making no growth. In Central Texas some late grains are in bad shape, said Hutchison, due to the lack of moisture.

Conditions in the more favored areas is much better with rains and clovers providing increasing grazing, he said. Dry forage on ranges in the drier areas is being rapidly depleted and fires are a major threat, he added.

Livestock are being fed in all sections and producers are maintaining their stock in fair to good condition, Hutchison noted. Plowing is nearing completion in most areas.

At midweek, windy and warm conditions with no rain left the Panhandle seriously short of moisture. Dryland wheat has stopped growing, forcing removal of cattle from fields and increasing feeding. Irrigated wheat made good progress. Livestock generally are in good condition and calving is under way. Major activities were plowing, fertilizing and irrigating wheat.

High winds and blowing dust hampered field work but plowing over the South Plains (Lubbock) is nearing completion. Dryland wheat is in critical need of rain. Irrigated fields look good. Feeding is heavy in some areas. Most vegetable land has been prepared. Moisture is needed throughout the area.

Rain is needed throughout Far West Texas. Cattle are still in good condition, calving is almost complete, and feeding is necessary. Lambing has started and goat shearing is in full swing. Irrigated grain is making fair growth but that on dryland needs moisture.

Soil moisture, except in Taylor County (Abilene), is short to very short throughout West Central Texas. Grains, due to the lack of moisture, have not responded to the warmer temperatures. The same is true of weeds and grasses on ranges.

Red Cross Services Soar To High Post-War Mark

WASHINGTON — The cost of American Red Cross services to the American people in the 1967-68 fiscal year totaled $122,457,011, according to the organization's annual report which was released last week.

The expenditures were the highest in any year since World War II, and exceeded the organization's 1966-67 fund outlay by $14,251,944.

This increase was due mainly to the constantly mounting demands for Red Cross services to military personnel, occasioned by the war in Vietnam, and by a series of unpredictable natural disasters, the report points out. Expenditures for aiding the armed forces totaled $48,440,467, and the cost of assisting disaster victims came to $15,008,986.

These two activities alone during the year increased expenditures of the national organization — as distinct from those of the 3,300 local chapters — by some $9.5 million over 1966-67, and required the national organization to spend $2,494,269 more than its 1967-68 income.

In transmitting the annual report to the Secretary of Defense, E. Roland Harriman, American Red Cross chairman, and Gen. James F. Collins, president, said the organization was able to meet the challenge of 1967-68 and to "accomplish our goal of caring for human needs only through the strong and continuing volunteer participation and support of the American people."

In the largest Red Cross activity, services to the armed forces and veterans, one in every three members of the U.S. Armed Forces received help from Red Cross, the report said. Each month, at military installations and hospitals, an average of 107,600 servicemen got assistance. In their home towns, 733,100 servicemen's families and 103,200 veterans' families received aid from Red Cross chapters during the year.

The report states that victims of catastrophe were given assistance in a total of 19,100 disaster situations, with 58,800 families receiving long-term help in returning to normal living. This included rebuilding, repairing and refurbishing homes, medical and nursing care, replacing tools and equipment, and family maintenance.

The 57 Red Cross regional blood centers served areas with a population of 122,200,000 persons. They collected a record 3,008,400 units of blood from voluntary donors and distributed it, as whole blood or as products extracted from it, to more than half the nation's hospitals. Net expenditures for the Blood Program were $16,526,004.

In its nation-wide program of safety instruction, the Red Cross issued 2,748,900 certificates for completion of courses in water safety and small craft safety, and 1,226,300 certificates for completion of courses in first aid. In addition, some 7,242,100 persons were given informal safety instruction through demonstrations, film screenings, and lectures. Red Cross chapters also had 30,500 highway first aid stations, detachments and mobile units in operation. Safety Programs expenditures were $6,648,638.

The American Red Cross joined with its sister societies in other countries and with the International Committee of the Red Cross in channeling aid to the starving populations of Biafra and Nigeria. In refugee camps in South Vietnam, the American organization and the South Vietnamese Red Cross cared for nearly 60,000 civilian refugees from the fighting. In the Middle East, another large refugee operation was supported by the American Red Cross and other national Red Cross societies for victims of the Arab-Israeli war.

Panel With An Opportunity

This week, a community planning committee has been convoked for what promises to be a series of meetings looking toward some plan of concerted action on the basis of most readily agreed-upon priorities. This is not something new; in fact it takes up along the trail followed a few years back by the chamber's long range planning committee. The format has been employed many, many times.

None should take this as an indictment of it, for indeed the vehicle has proven so successful over the years that it is still a good one. In fact, it strikes us as better than the super-series, which relies on numerical participation and ballyhoo. These sessions will deal first of all with a series of reports from the main public agencies of the community, each detailing where it is today and where it thinks it should go tomorrow, and then in the long run. Later, the meetings will involve other aspects of the community life. Finally, the panel will be asked to make an evaluation of the projections, and then, if possible to come up with some sort of a table of priorities. These may not necessarily be in chronological order, for it will be impossible to get all of the things we need to do only one at a time. But there may be some things which loom so large on the list of needs that their sheer urgency will commend them to immediate action.

Perhaps in this panel can peg or suggest some responsibilities so that the attacks can be launched. If we have shown a weakness in the past, it is not in facing up to our needs and our problems, but rather in marshaling forces to tackle them. This committee has a great opportunity if its philosophy is one of look and do.

Reduce Its Appeal

The Federal Aviation agency's chief psychologist, Dr. John D. Dailey, propounds an interesting and perhaps potentially useful theory as to what motivates those who hijack aircraft. Most of the hijackers, he thinks, see this conspicuous act of piracy as giving them one great moment "of power and glory in a life of failure."

Dr. Dailey's views are based on the FAA's studies of what prompts men to force airline pilots to fly to Cuba. He finds that reaching that destination is not always the hijacker's chief goal. Often getting to Cuba appears secondary to what the psychologist describes as the "kick... sense of achievement" that goes with diverting a plane to an unintended landing.

If Dr. Dailey is correct, it seems a reasonable conclusion that even providing free passage to Cuba for those bent on going there would not end the rash of hijackings. This is a disappointing thought. For the most promising suggestion yet made is that such passage be offered on return flights of planes which bring refugees to this country from Cuba, thus making piracy unnecessary.

The FAA psychologist suggests something else that might in the long run prove effective, however. He would spread the word that far from being considered "a big shot in Cuba," many of the hijackers get poor treatment and may even wind up in jail. This appears to be true. Perhaps intensively publicizing it would persuade some would-be hijackers that they'd better look elsewhere for their kicks.

David Lawrence The 'Standards' Of Desegregation

WASHINGTON — The American people have been reading about threats to cut off federal funds from schools which allegedly practice racial discrimination. Few citizens know about the subtleties and distortions of the law which have been used in the last 4½ years as a form of blackmail by federal agencies in order to secure what is termed "compliance" with so-called "standards" of desegregation.

But what does the "law of the land" actually say? The Congress of the United States, on Oct. 11, 1968, passed an appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, which declares:

"NO PART of the funds contained in this act may be used to force busing of students, abolition of any school, or to force any student attending any elementary or secondary school to attend a particular school against the choice of his or her parents or parent in order to overcome racial imbalance.

"No part of the funds contained in this act shall be used to force busing of students, the abolishment of any school or the attendance of students at a particular school in order to overcome racial imbalance as a condition precedent to obtaining federal funds otherwise available to any state, school district, or school."

THE SUPREME Court of the

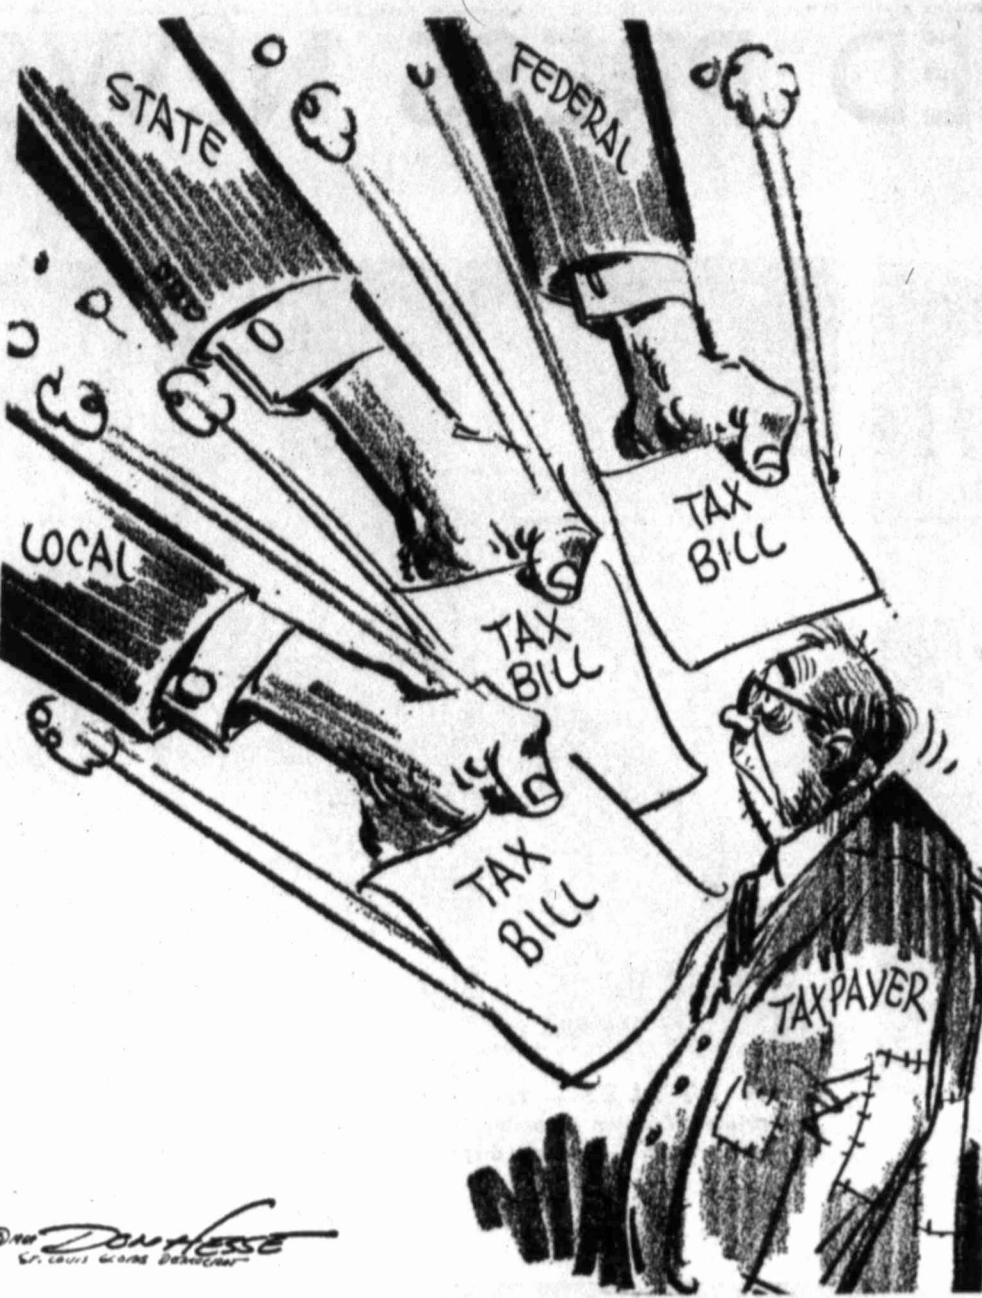

Billy Graham

I don't understand what a friend of mine meant when he said he "accepted Christ." Will you please explain?
E.B.
The term "accepted Christ" is one which we use for Christian conversion. This means that we are willing to accept Him for all that He claims to be. What does He claim to be? First and foremost, He claims to be the Saviour. On that first Christmas the angels said: "Thou shalt call his name Jesus for He shall save His people from their sins."

Now, right here is another part of this "acceptance." You must not only accept Him for what He is, but you must accept yourself for what you are, a sinner. If you do not realize you have sinned, you will have no need of a Saviour. It is only human to put our best foot forward, and to defend our weaknesses. But when we accept Christ, we must accept the fact that "all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." We must change our mind about ourselves, God and our fellowman. This is called "repentance." Most of us, in fact all of us, are unable to cope with the evil within our lives. When we accept this as fact, and put our trust completely in the Lord Jesus, we have accepted Him as our Saviour. And when we do that, a complete new outlook upon life unfolds to us. Christ comes along side of us and helps us to fight life's battles.

Economy Shows Signs Of Cooling Somewhat

NEW YORK (AP) — Government officials feel the economy is cooling off after three years of overheated activity.

They said they saw the results of the 10 per cent corporate and individual income tax surcharge and a tightening of control over the nation's monetary policy.

The evaluation of U.S. economic conditions was made last week by Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers; Andrew F. Brimmer, a governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and Paul A. Volcker, deputy secretary of the Treasury for international monetary affairs.

They gave their reports at a meeting in Paris of the economic policy committee of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

"In general we are on the right course," McCracken said. "The budget is back under control and the course of monetary and credit policy is tracking about right."

TAKES TIME
"After three years of overheating it naturally takes time to regain equilibrium," Brimmer predicted that the rate of economic growth between the fourth quarter of 1968 and the fourth quarter of 1969 would be three per cent or a little less. This would compare with a gain of more than five per cent in 1968.

Volcker declined specific comment about the outlook for U.S. balance of payments but said the country wouldn't benefit this year as much as last year from inflows of capital.

STEADY THERE, NOW

- Tax surcharge, tighter money seem to be taking effect
- Economists predicting fourth quarter rate to be slower
- Inflow of foreign capital due to take dip this year
- Stock exchange faced with storms of snow, paper work
- Unemployment at 3.3 pct. low, steel output still gains

European investors funneled funds into Wall Street last year at a rate that more than offset a sharp drop in this country's international trading account. This resulted in a small surplus in U.S. international payments.

The Labor Department reported this past week that the unemployment rate in January held at a 15-year low of 3.3 per cent of the civilian labor force.

STORM HURTS
The weather belted business activity in the Northeastern United States with a gigantic blow this past week. Heavy snow crippled transportation, slashed retail sales and briefly paralyzed New York City's financial hub.

The New York and American Stock Exchanges and commodity markets were forced to close Monday because personnel couldn't get to work. The stock exchanges opened one hour late Tuesday for the same reason.

And as the effects of one "blizzard" subsided, the exchanges focused their attention on another "blizzard" that has refused to melt away.

The exchanges Wednesday announced they had hired two space-age planning firms to help solve the problems behind the continuing paperwork mess on Wall Street.

The Rand Corp., described as the "think tank," and North American Rockwell Corp. will develop systems to better handle the clerical work created by the buying and selling of stocks and bonds.

TRUCKERS HIKE RATES
Another industry joined in the trend of rising prices when truckers announced their third rate boost in less than two years.

Two of the major rate-setting bureaus of the motor carrier industry approved increases of three to five per cent. The bureaus intend to publish the increases in late February or early March in order to provide the required 30-day notice to make them effective about April 1.

Steel production last week rose two per cent to 2,654,000 tons — the highest level in seven months — from 2,604,000 tons the previous week.

Around The Rim Some Memories Of The Crawford

The more the Crawford Hotel has been reduced to the rubble pile, the more people sort of come forth with their own recollections of happenings around the place which once was the heart of the city's commercial and social affairs.

They don't always talk freely, as if wanting to savor some of the thoughts to themselves, but when a couple of old-timers get together, eventually there will come out some of those conversations sprinkled with the phrase, "do you remember?"

IF YOU'VE BEEN around here long enough, you had some experiences around the Crawford. I remember some:

—By happenstance, the first night I ever spent in Big Spring was in the Crawford. I got a room there the Sunday I came out as a brash, self-fancied young newsbaw to work for The Herald, and stayed on for a few weeks. The room, as it comes back to memory, was on the dismal side, and I shared the bathroom facilities with the guy next door, but after all, in those depression years, nobody was paying to go first class.

—THERE CAME a time when that suave and handsome manager, Cal Boykin, did some remodeling in the coffee shop, and, among other things, installed one of those electric-eye doors. You stepped on a mat and the thing swung open. First time one of those gadgets had been seen around here, and wasn't that something!

—WHEN THE town's first radio station (owned by The Herald) went on the air, its studios were installed in a parlor area down the corridor to the ballroom (later occupied by the Book Store); it's offices were across the lobby in what had been a storage room. By today's standards, the radio facilities were primitive, but at least something was going on the air every day.

—MY MEMORY of the Crawford "ballroom," among other things, is associated with an annual Christmas party that the late Joe Flock and some of his friends had for the kids in town. Joe, a bachelor at the time, loved the youngsters, and threw a whirling dervish for them, complete with tree, Santa Claus and presents. There are people around today who will recall among childhood delights those public kids Yuletide parties.

—THE UNFAILING kindness and courtesy of Mr. Ernest Dorsett, who was night clerk at the hotel for no telling how many years. A slight fellow with a quiet voice, Mr. Dorsett certainly saw to it that everyone was accommodated.

—THE APPEARANCE around the lobby of Jo Anne Boykin, then a beautiful tot who charmed everyone who walked in. Jo Anne had a little puppy at one time, although Mr. A. J. Crawford (and he too, has passed on, along with his hotel) laid down a rule against dogs in the hotel. There was the time Mr. Crawford walked in on an unannounced visit, but little Jo Anne was sharp enough to react just as Mr. Crawford sighted the pup. She promptly proclaimed in a loud voice, "My goodness, I wonder whose puppy that is and how he ever got in here?" Thus free of all responsibility, she had no fear of Mr. Crawford.

It must be just as well that Mr. Crawford or none of the Boykin family have been around to see the destruction of what was part of their hearts.

Changes Coming In The Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — The winds of change blowing across this capital threaten in the not-too-distant future one of the most changeless institutions. The Supreme Court of the United States, having long ignored the hot breath of angry critics, faces the prospect in the next four years of an upheaval promising a court entirely made over by the new President.

CHIEF JUSTICE Earl Warren, who is 77, leaves the court in June, having acceded to the request of President Richard M. Nixon to postpone his retirement originally set for last September. Warren, having cordially agreed to swear in the new President, received a call from Nixon the following day asking him if he would delay his departure, since to leave the court in the middle of the term might be disruptive.

THE VETERAN of the court, Justice Hugo L. Black, will be 83 on Feb. 27. Next October he will have served for 32 years. Since the court's birth in 1790 only four justices have served longer. John Marshall, Stephen J. Field and John M. Harlan all were on the court for a record 34 years. Joseph Story was on the supreme bench for 33 years.

The brethren on the court believe that Justice Black means to set a record. Serving for 35 years — he is presently in excellent health — he would not retire until October of 1972. This is the kind of benchmark that in the history books puts stars after a man's name.

BLACK HAS himself executed a shift so radical as to be virtually a 180-degree turn. From having been perhaps the most liberal of the justics, repeatedly championing the cause of civil rights and rebuking those who would invade the sanctity of the individual, Black has recently denounced the court for usurping the authority of Congress, the lower courts and the states. He has thereby won the applause of conservative critics who have been saying those same things about the supreme tribunal.

THE JUSTICE with the next longest term of service is William O. Douglas, who is also one of the most controversial judges. In April he will have served 30 years, having been appointed by Franklin D. Roosevelt when he was a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Douglas some time ago underwent an operation for the insertion of a pacer to control an irregular heart beat. He is 70 years old.

In point of age Justice John Marshall Harlan, grandson of the record-holding Harlan, is next. At 69, he will have served 15 years next month. He was elevated by President Eisenhower from the Court of Appeals to the supreme bench. In recent years Harlan has had serious eye trouble.

MERELY LOOKING at the actuarial tables, the likelihood is that President Nixon will name three justices in addition to the Chief Justice. Far more than any other appointees he will make, this promises to determine the shape of things to come for a long time into the future.

The reach of the court being so long, there is the possibility that with eight years in the White House Mr. Nixon might well name four or five justices in addition to the chief.

When A New Regime Moves In WASHINGTON — One of the most moving things to see in Washington is a new presidential appointee taking over a department of the government.

The appointee arrives all fired up with ideas on how to streamline the department and run it on a more profitable, businesslike basis.

The civil service employes, who eat presidential appointees for breakfast, always look forward to the first meeting between themselves and their new boss.

I attended one the other day in the department auditorium and sat in the audience with 2,000 employes.

THE PRESIDENTIAL appointee, after being introduced by the career officer of the department (the officer used the same introduction given for Warren Harding's appointee some years back), got up and said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, first I would like to say how happy Mrs. Secuire and I are to be in Washington. I don't believe there is anything more challenging than the work we will have to do together.

The man in front of me said to the friend, "I give him six months."

THE SECRETARY continued: "I am aware that I cannot do this job alone. I will have to depend on each and every one of you to help me achieve the goals that the President and the country are expecting of us."

"I'll give him three months," the friend replied.
"I am not one of those fellows who comes in as a know-it-all, I'm willing to learn, and I'm willing to listen, and I'm willing to get all the facts."

The man in front said, "Next he's going to say his door will be open to us, any time."

SINECURE CONTINUED, "My

door will be open to any of you, any time."

The man behind me whispered to his friend, "I think he really believes it."

"I have been working day and night studying reports of this department, many submitted by you, and I assure you that while I have nothing critical to say about my predecessor, we will have to make many reforms and changes if we ever hope to rectify the errors of the previous administration during the last eight years."

The man in front of me said, "He hasn't said anything about serving the people."

"OUR JOB IS to serve the people," Secuire continued. "We owe it to the American taxpayer to do away with waste and duplication and get this department on a business footing again."

The friend of the man in front said, "Wait until they ask him to cut his budget."

"I am also concerned about morale. You people cannot do your job unless you are backed by me, and let me say, ladies and gentlemen, you will have my backing."

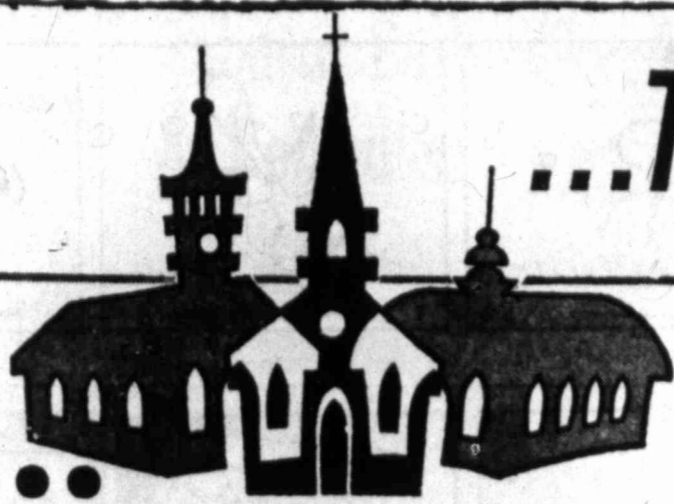

THE MAN behind said, "I guess he hasn't been behind a congressional committee yet."

Secuire kept going: "This is a bright new day for the department. The dark clouds that hovered over this building for the past eight years will disappear and it is my fervent prayer that you and I will walk together in the sun once more. Now, I'll accept questions."

The man behind me stood up. "Since Washington's Birthday falls on a Saturday," he asked, "can we still take off Monday and be paid for it?"

a prayer for everyone

"Tonight, I want you to ask God to bless everyone in the whole wide world.

"On World Day of Prayer, children in every corner of the globe, grown-ups too, will pray that God will make this world a better place.

"Remember last summer at camp when you called out at the edge of that cliff and your echo came answering back? Well, imagine all the people in the world calling out at once in prayer. Imagine how big the echo would be, and how much it would please God to hear it.

"You are lucky because you live here in America, because you have your Church and the right to attend it. So tonight, thank God for things like that, darling, even if you don't entirely understand them. And when you've finished . . . ask Him to bless everyone."

'PENDULUM' George Peppard (right), and Richard Kiley, Marj Dusay

Peppard Starred In Cinema Film

If there is such a thing as a "road" to stardom, then it is full of detours. And tall, blond George Peppard, currently starring at the Cinema Theatre with Jean Seberg and Richard Kiley in Technicolor, probably has taken every single one of them.

He's been a construction worker, taxi driver, football player, bank clerk, building contractor, student engineer. He is a disc jockey and a fencing instructor and a United States Marine. Currently, Peppard plays a tough homicide detective accused of murdering his own unfaithful wife.

Most of Peppard's "detours" occurred while he was studying at the Cinema Theatre with Jean Seberg and Richard Kiley in Technicolor, probably "break." A high school football and track star in Dearborn, Mich., he enlisted in the Marines after graduating and before entering Purdue University major in civil engineering.

At Purdue, he discovered the theatre, wrote sketches and performed at the Purdue Playshop. He transferred to Carleton College in North Dakota, where he graduated with a fine arts degree.

Griffith Cast As Minister At Ritz

ANDY GRIFFITH

One of TV's most famous modern-day sheriffs having completed a highly successful eight years in a program named for him, Andy Griffith comes to the big screen in a comedy in Technicolor, "Angel in My Pocket." The fun-fest will open Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. Co-starring are Jerry Van Dyke, in a change of pace role, Kay Medford, Henry Jones, Lee Meriwether, Edgar Buchanan and Gary Collins.

Tailored to fit him, Griffith plays the role of an ex-Marine brick-yard worker, who is the head of a family of assorted characters. He has just completed seminary studies and been ordained. "Angel in My Pocket" is the story of his ministry to a church in a small mid-western town.

In a way, it's an easy role for Griffith. As the former TV star points out, "I very nearly became a minister in reality, instead of just playing one in a motion picture. I studied for the ministry back in North Carolina before I got started in show business."

Jerry Van Dyke drops the "nice-guy-next-door" characterization he has always had on the screen or television to play a pampered mama's boy. Griffith's shiftless, sponging brother-in-law. It's more than a change of pace; it's a complete transformation. Television viewers who know Jerry as a stylishly dressed, clean-cut type will have difficulty recognizing him in the unusual role.

Former Miss America Miss Meriwether, in the role of Griffith's wife, also has a change of pace. She is seen most of the picture padded out by the wardrobe department to show late pregnancy. And most of the time the beauty contest winner is dressed in inexpensive maternity clothes.

Kay Medford is the meddling mother-in-law, while Henry Jones and Edgar Buchanan are two pillars of the congregation.

Stella Flies Location Skies

Stella Stevens adventured into the skies over Acapulco, dangling from the end of a parachute during a day off from her role opposite David McCallum in "Sol Madrid." It plays Saturday at the Jet.

The parachute ride is a famed innovation in Acapulco. The brave-at-heart is fastened into a harness and lifted off the beach via the parachute, towed by a speedboat.

After a trip clear around the harbor, hundreds of feet in the air, Miss Stevens was set gently back onto the sand almost at the point from which she took off. She got such a kick out of it that she immediately went up for a second flight.

But it was her last such thrill for the duration of "Sol Madrid." Producer Hall Bartlett, grounding his feminine star, said "No more. Let's not push our luck!"

Wants Hippies To Join Force

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A group called the Better Berkeley Council is campaigning to get hippies to apply for 26 vacancies in the Berkeley Police Department.

The group is passing out leaflets asking for "peacemen, not policemen."

"It would be a sacrifice for many young people to join the department," said Al Silbowitz, the group's chairman. "Cops have rocks thrown at them by all sides."

"We're very interested in seeing new people," said Police Lt. J. R. Crooke, a department personnel officer.

"But the department does have a regulation that all men must be clean shaven."

FIELD AND RANGE FFA Extolled As Agency For Education And Leadership

By TEX ROGERS

More than 450,000 young men throughout the United States, including 48,000 in Texas, will be taking part in Future Farmers of America Week today through Saturday.

Theme of the FFA this year is "FFA: An Opportunity for Youth," and that is true. The FFA supports and supplements training for those involved in production agriculture as well as those processing and distributing agricultural products. Many people are employed in agricultural occupations such as engineers, scientists, management personnel, sales and service personnel and educators.

However, as the population in the United States increases, and requirements of food and fiber soar, there is even a greater need for young men in the agricultural community. There are more than 60,000 desirable openings each year for farm operators, farm engineers and full-time farm labor.

MEMBERSHIP GROWS

Future Farmers of America membership in Texas is steadily growing, despite the migration from rural communities to larger cities, with 28,643 in 1950 to more than 48,000 in 1969. In a study conducted by George Hunt, state director of vocational agriculture, it was found that over 60 per cent of the agriculture students who graduate from high school and are available for employment are in full-time farming or in farm-related jobs.

What is the end result of vocational agriculture and the Future Farmers of America?

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, a former Future Farmer, says that education, of course, is of high importance, but just as necessary is the development of individual character, moral fiber and self confidence — leadership training.

Many school activities provide a certain amount of opportunity for personal achievement, and these are important, he says. However, the FFA is an area unto itself as a means of building personal responsibility, character, integrity and other qualities for effective leadership. Youngsters also learn to be competitors.

HORSEMEN PLANS

Howard County Youth Horsemen Club have scheduled a full summer of activities including playdays each month beginning in June and three trailrides.

Club playdays will be held one Saturday each month through October, and the first trailride will be in June. Also coming up is a fund-raising project in which a half beef will be given away on April 5.
