

Astronauts In Orbit With 'Ugly Duckling'

Apollo 9 Marathon Mission Begins

The 'Spider' On The Fly

Artist's conception shows how LEM, the spider craft designed to land men on the moon on a later flight, coordinates its activities with the Apollo 9 command ship on this, the first day of the 10-day flight. Top left, Apollo pulls away. Spider is still fixed to third rocket stage. Top right, protective "petals" fly off, fully exposing Spider. Apollo swings around 130 degrees in pre-docking maneuver. Bottom left, once command ship is latched to Spider, both are spring-ejected in tandem. Rocket stage stays behind. Bottom right, the docked service propulsion burns to improve orbital lifetime.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Riding the fearsome power of a Saturn 5 super-rocket, the Apollo 9 astronauts hurtled into earth orbit today to start a marathon mission in which they are to qualify a fragile ugly duckling spacecraft to land men on the moon.

PERFECT
The Apollo 9 rode the 36-story rocket, the world's most powerful, into orbit just 11 minutes after the Saturn 5 lifted off the pad. The orbit ranged from 118 to 119 miles above the earth, just about perfect.

"We're real proud of you," Flight director Eugene Kranz beamed toward space. "Everybody here is happy," he said. "So are we," replied Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt, the spacecraft commander.

While hearts beat faster on the ground, the astronauts showed just about the level of excitement that flight surgeons expected, except for civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart, making his first space flight.

McDivitt's heart was beating at 135 beats a minute, and Air Force Col. David R. Scott's heart was beating at 120 a minute. But Schweickart's heart was ticking away at only 72 beats a minute, only about ten beats faster than normal.

He called down to earth, "This is a rookie saying everything is looking beautiful."

CHECKING
Almost immediately, the astronauts began checking out the complex, computerized systems in their $55 million spacecraft.

Ahead are complicated maneuvers between the spacecraft and the lunar module which is making its first flight in space. It is the odd craft that will actually land two men on the lunar surface on future flights.

If the three daring spacemen succeed in qualifying the spider-like lunar module (LEM), they could clear the way for two astronauts to land on the moon in June or July. If the LEM does not work, America's lunar timetable could be set back indefinitely.

A scheduled Friday launch had to be postponed after all three astronauts developed sore throats and stuffy noses. During 10 days in earth orbit they are to thoroughly evaluate the LEM, which has been called a "missing link" because it is the only major piece of Apollo hardware yet to be tested.

The ungainly appearance of the spindly-legged vehicle has earned it the radio code name "spider."

MOST COMPLEX
The National Aeronautics and Space Administration rates Apollo 9 the most complex man-in-space flight yet, even more difficult to carry out than the Apollo 8 moon orbit journey.

On the fourth day, Schweickart is to take the United States' first space walk in more than two years, a two-hour stroll in which he is to practice an emergency transfer from the LEM to the main Apollo 9 ship and back to the LEM.

On the fifth day, McDivitt and Schweickart are to fly the "Spider" 100 miles away from Scott in the main ship, code name "Gumdrop," and then attempt a tricky rendezvous in which they will simulate two astronauts launching themselves off the moon.

McDivitt, Scott, and Schweickart started the crucial journey at 11 a.m. EST on the awesome thrust of a 30-story-tall Saturn 5, the mightiest rocket ever built.

The first two days in space were to be devoted to checking out the operation of the joined vehicles, with McDivitt and Schweickart making their first visit to the LEM through a connecting tunnel on the third day.

KICKED FREE

After three days operating in the spidery vehicle, it was to be kicked free in space for additional ground-controlled engine firing tests. The astronauts planned to send the final five days evaluating performance of the main ship.

If all goes well, Apollo 9 will land in the Atlantic Ocean southeast of Bermuda at 9:46 a.m. March 13 after circling the world 151 times and traveling nearly four million miles.

Veteran space fliers McDivitt and Scott and rookie Schweickart sat side by side in the Apollo 9 command module as the powerful Saturn 5 exploded to life, spraying the launch pad with a dazzling sheet of flame.

Flight director Eugene Kranz reported, "Apollo 9, you're go all the way. You look good."

The LEM rode in a compartment between the spaceship and the rocket. After three hours in orbit, the two vehicles are to link up nose-to-nose.

HOWLED

The 36-story-tall rocket howled on its pedestal for 8.9 seconds as a computer system verified that the mammoth cluster of five first stage engines had ignited properly and generated full total thrust of 7.7 million pounds—equal to the power of more than 500 jet fighter planes.

When the computers sensed all was right, they commanded four 40,000-pound steel restraining arms to flip back to release the 3,243-ton monster. It rose with agonizing slowness, gradually veered over on a southeast heading and sped out over the Atlantic, spewing a tail of fire more than 500 feet long.

Tens of thousands of persons watched the spectacular liftoff from beaches and other vantage points at Cape Kennedy. However, clouds spoiled the view as the rocket quickly disappeared into the low hanging layer.

OBSERVERS
Among the observers was Vice President Spiro T. Agnew who watched from the launch control center. From Washington, President Nixon phoned Mrs. McDivitt. They spoke briefly.

The wives and children of the three astronauts watched the launching on television from their homes in Houston.

After a medical exam Sunday, Dr. Charles A. Berry, the astronauts' physician, reported "all look in a real fine state of health."

McDivitt, 38, mission commander, and Scott, 38, are veterans of orbital flights in the Gemini program. On his first voyage into space, Schweickart, 33, plans a two-hour space walk in which he is to transfer from one spaceship to another.

The 32,000-pound LEM is the only untried piece of Apollo hardware and it is the first manned craft designed to operate only in space.

It cannot re-enter the atmosphere.

If something goes wrong while two of the astronauts are flying it separately from the main Apollo ship, they could be stranded in orbit.

Flight Plan Of Apollo 9

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Here are the highlights of the 10-day earth orbit flight planned by Apollo 9 astronauts James A. McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart:

FIRST DAY
Command ship, lunar module, (LEM) and third stage into 119-mile high orbit. Nearly three hours later, command ship separates, turns around and docks nose-to-nose with LEM. Third stage separates and ground stations fire its engine twice in tests that send stage into solar orbit.

SECOND DAY
Astronauts check out operation of combined space ships, including three firings of main engine which shifts path of orbit to elliptical between 132 and 311 miles high.

THIRD DAY
In first space ship transfer by American astronauts, McDivitt and Schweickart crawl through three-foot connecting tunnel into LEM and activate its systems. They televise a program from the LEM and fire the LEM descent engine while still docked. This engine's designed to lower the craft to the moon. They return through tunnel to the command module.

FOURTH DAY
McDivitt and Schweickart return to LEM. Schweickart dons self-supporting back pack and 25-foot cord, opens hatch and makes his way hand-over-hand on railings to the command module hatch. Scott helps him get lower part of his body into command module. Then Schweickart returns to LEM along reverse route. He stands outside on LEM platform, taking pictures and sending a television broadcast. Total time outside: 2 hours 10 minutes. McDivitt and Schweickart return to command module.

FIFTH DAY
Returning to LEM through the tunnel, McDivitt and Schweickart separate the vehicle and fly 100 miles away from the command module. Executing maneuvers that two astronauts will make in taking off from the moon, they fly a complex rendezvous back to a linkup with Scott. They return to the main ship and kick the LEM free so that ground controllers can test-fire its ascent engine, the powerplant that will lift men off the moon.

SIXTH THROUGH NINTH DAY
Relatively light schedule, with crew making extended checks of the Apollo systems. They conduct navigation checks, "take pictures" and perform experiments with earth-aimed cameras.

TENTH DAY
Astronauts fire spacecraft engine, re-enter atmosphere and parachute to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean 250 miles east southeast of Bermuda.

Nixon Jubilant With New Feeling Of Trust Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has returned from his five-nation sprint across Western Europe, confident that he has established a man-to-man relationship with allied leaders based on a new feeling of trust.

Nixon told the crowd of congressional leaders, administration officials and diplomats who greeted him in the snowy, freezing weather at Andrews Air Force Base that his impression of the eight-day, 10,500-mile trip could be "summed up by the word trust."

"I sensed there was a new trust on the part of Europeans for the United States, growing out of the fact that there are open channels with the United States," Nixon told the shivering crowd.

He went on: "I think there is developing a new trust in the future" based on allied confidence that "together we are going to be able to develop new understanding with those who have opposed us on the other side of the world."

Top advisers who accompanied the President were tired but jubilant after the nine-hour flight home from Rome. They said the mission had set a new tone of confidence in allied capitals.

Nixon himself rested in the cabin of Air Force One during the final leg of a hectic sequence of travels, talks and ceremonies which began a week ago Sunday.

TIGHT SCHEDULE
Like every day of the journey, Sunday was a long and tightly scheduled round of business. It was, because of the six-hour time difference between Rome and Washington, the longest of all.

Meeting the President at the Air Force base in nearby Maryland were his wife, other members of the family, most of his cabinet and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

The vice president suffered a slight cut on his nose when he slipped on the icy cement just after the plane landed. Nixon also slipped as he started to review the honor guard, but an aide caught his elbow and he did not fall.

After the brief ceremony and his equally short remarks, Nixon boarded a helicopter and flew to the White House.

Nixon announced no visitors for today. He planned to devote much of his time at the White House to domestic matters and routine affairs set aside while he traveled.

Tuesday the President was to report to the National Security Council on the European mission. He planned to brief Republican and Democratic Congressional leaders later Tuesday or Wednesday.

CONFERENCE SET
Thursday, Nixon will give his accounting to the nation at large in a statement and an hour-long news conference.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, meanwhile, is to begin within a few days talks in Washington with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. These conferences are to deal with the search for settlement in the Middle East, a frequent topic during the Nixon journey.

But they could also mark the beginning of U.S.-Soviet negotiations on a broadened range of issues, including nuclear arms control and ultimately a range of issues and differences between the two powers.

Nixon made clear to the leaders he saw in the allied capitals that the United States intends to hold such negotiations, and promised that American allies will be consulted on any topics affecting their interests.

As a subsequent step in the Middle East peace effort, U.S. officials said, the United States, Soviet Union, Great Britain and France will confer at the United Nations in quest of a settlement framework.

Senate Panel OKs House Bill On Disrupting Schools

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate committee unanimously approved today a bill making it a crime to disrupt schools. One senator asserted that the measure appeared to "almost challenge" students to do something wrong.

FINES
The bill, hurriedly passed in the House last week, provides fines of $25 to $200 and/or jail terms of 10 days to six months for persons acting together who "engage in disruptive activity" at public or private schools or colleges.

"Shouldn't we write a bill that would apply everywhere?"

asked Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall. "This is directed at the campuses. It also challenges them."

"Get your bill up," replied Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan, chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

"I haven't had time to write it," said Hall. "But I hate to point out one element."

"There was only one witness at the special 9 a.m. committee hearing which Moore said will be "cut off at 10 o'clock and we will vote one way or another."

The hearing ended at 9:35 a.m.

William Roth of Austin, who said he had been a professor and teacher 40 years, testified that the bill "will not cure the maladies of the college and university system today in Texas. . . . Institutions where serious disruptions occur are sick, out of touch with the student body, and my alma mater, the University of Wisconsin, is one of these." Roth, whose gray hair hangs down his neck, had to borrow Moore's glasses to read from a two-page typed statement.

Roth said he was at Wisconsin in 1914-15 and recalled a "mob" hurling stones through jailhouse windows when police refused to free five students arrested for disorderly conduct.

SICK?
"You say these schools are sick?" asked Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells. "But the students have a right to tear up, destroy public property?"

"It's an American tradition sir," replied Roth. "An American tradition?" asked Creighton.

"Yes sir," replied Roth. "That answers my question," said Creighton, settling back in his chair.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston said he would offer an amendment on the floor to cut the minimum fine from $25 to $1. He said violations should be considered in the justice courts, not county courts.

Snow Dumped On Panhandle

By The Associated Press
Winter weather took one more crack at Texas over the weekend dumping as much as seven inches of snow in the Panhandle. The snow came from a low pressure center moving southward with the precipitation turning to rain as it moved across the state.

BORGER
Borger reported seven inches of snow on the ground early today. Children had six inches, Amarillo three and Dalhart two. The snow flurries reached to McKinney in Northeast Texas but little of the white stuff stayed on the ground in North Central and Northeast Texas.

Early today the Weather Bureau said the snow was tapering off in all sections but rain continued to fall across the eastern half of the state. Clear to partly cloudy skies were reported across Southwest Texas to the lower Gulf coast. The snow in the Panhandle created hazardous driving conditions as drifts piled up on major roads, and streets and bridges became slick with ice. But early today police reported most streets open.

The winter weather drove down temperatures across the state.

The Panhandle had temperatures in the 20s early today while readings in the lower 30s were common in North Central and Northeast Texas. Thermometers climbed to the 50s in the extreme south.

WARMING TREND
Forecasters said the cold weather would continue over Texas today and tonight with a warming trend on Tuesday.

But a new Pacific cold front will be moving into New Mexico late Tuesday and could move into Texas, the bureau said.

Recovering From Gunshot Mishap

Randy Vance, 17, 1611 Scurry, was reported in good condition this morning at Cowper Hospital and Clinic, where he was taken for treatment of a gunshot wound early Sunday morning.

Vance told police he thought he heard a prowler at his home, and took a .22 caliber pistol to investigate. Apparently the pistol accidentally discharged, and the bullet struck him in the left side.

Abilene Schools Given Deadline On Federal Aid

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has given Abilene schools until April 1 to submit plans correcting what it calls desegregation deficiencies or face loss of federal funds.

Supt. A. E. Wells said today about $1.7 million is involved. HEW office of civil rights members were in Abilene Feb. 4-6 and reported deficiencies in three areas: maintaining of two racially identifiable schools; operating of an all-Negro bus route transporting Negroes from a separate school zone to a Negro school; and lack of enough progress in desegregation of the schools' professional staffers.

Wells said he expected school board members to meet "soon" to study the situation.

Race Car Mows Down 11 In Crowd

COVINGTON, Ga. (AP) — Bodies lying between the cars. "One man got caught up under the racer," said Jimmy Edwards, 18, of Atlanta. "It must have dragged him at least 100 feet."

LOST CONTROL
The accident Sunday at the Yellow River Drag Strip occurred when a fiberglass Camaro weighing less than 1,000 pounds and traveling around 180 miles-an-hour went out of control about 250 yards from the finish line. The racer crashed into an embankment, went over a wire fence and mowed-down the crowd lining the track. There was no guard rail.

"People were thrown up in the air," said Alice Black of Atlanta. "Some of them fell back onto their cars. When we tried to get out of the area, we saw Several witnesses said the track announcer had warned spectators to move back from the track at the start of the two-car quarter mile race. No one moved, the race went on.

The driver of the wrecked car, Huston Platt, 35, of Atlanta, walked away uninjured. He was later-treated-for shock at a hospital and put to bed at home, said his wife, who added that he was unable to speak to anyone about the accident.

Administrators at four hospitals said five of the 46 persons treated for injuries were in serious condition. Rick Lynch of Memphis, Tenn., director of professional racing for the American Hot Rod Association, who estimated the speed of the crash car at within 20 miles an hour of its rated maximum of 200, said the Yellow River track is not sanctioned by either of the two major drag-racing groups, the American and the National Hot Rod Associations.

DANGEROUS
The accident "further emphasizes that operations outside the framework of organized racing are dangerous and should be stopped," said Jim Kaser, director of professional competition for the Sports Car Club of America.

He was a big, beautiful black cat. I didn't know him at all, but I'm sorry he's dead. When I first saw him Sunday morning, he just seemed to be lolling in the sun at the edge of the pavement near Boydston School. He looked fine, but it bothered me somehow, because cats don't usually lay even on the edge of a busy street. In the afternoon, Bruce and I drove back by on a hunch, and he was still there, head down. We stopped and approached rather gingerly. The pretty thing was still breathing, but too weak to be hostile. Gently, we picked him up and drove to the Highland Animal Hospital, stopping along the way to call Dr. Simpson, whose probing fingers found a broken leg—and maybe more. By that time, the cold had come, so we left him there in a warm bed. This morning, the doctor called to say he didn't make it through the night. If it is any comfort to the owner, we did what we could.

TIDBITS: Big Spring High School has lost a pretty teacher, Miss Arlene Hajek, who will be married March 15 to Laurence Young. They plan to live in Seattle. Mrs. W. D. Caldwell has resigned as vice president of Rosebud Garden Club. Wants to have more free time, since I'm told they will be moving in late summer. Mrs. Glenn Coates finally had to have her tonsils out so she's not talking much today. When Mrs. Fred Hyer held a reception for the Rev. Robert McDermott the other day, she was wearing a hostess dress which she brought back from the trip she and Miss Bessie Love took to the Hawaiian Islands. They enjoyed every minute of the tours, but especially seeing the beautiful plants in bloom. While there, they spent five days at a friend's beach home on Hilo and fished in the ocean, later saw the lava beds and active volcanoes. Our co-worker, Bob Rogers is back on the job this morning after being hospitalized a week. Understand Johnny and Jo Hill, who now live in Granbury, were here for a wedding on the weekend. Didn't know they had sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daniel until Patie was in the office to announce her candidacy for the school board. She's such a lovely, capable woman. We are lucky to have a new member willing to participate this way. Dewey Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Underwood, will be flying overseas for the next year as a director of personal service for Continental Airlines.

While the Lamar Greens were in Las Vegas, Lady Luck smiled on him enough to make him splurge on a new green suit that Mrs. Green says is so green he may have to save it for St. Patrick's Day. Col. and Mrs. Bill McGlothlin entertained a few civilians at the base recently when they showed movies of the trip. The group took to tour the NASA operations in Florida. Let's see, checking the schedule, Clara and Jim Zack are now in Jerusalem for a tour of the Upper Galilee. They have already been in Tel Aviv, the old city of Jaffa for what was called a "folkloric" evening, and participated in the fashion week. Tomorrow (Hebrew Purim) they leave for airport on Al Italia and arrive in Rome for a tour of the fashion houses. Next Saturday, they fly Pan Am to Paris for more of same, then Versaille and a sail on the Seine. They leave Oriv Airport March 10, arriving in New York the same day. My, she'll be too busy talking the next month to sell anything. (Daughter Susan, Mrs. Bob Lewis, is minding the store.)

MORE OF SAME: The Jack Alexanders had a quick trip to Mineral Wells to see 1st Lt. and Mrs. Ray Alexander. He'll be going to Korea. The Walter Greeces will be having a Golden Wedding anniversary coming up soon. Dan Womack, who celebrated a birthday last week (sorry) was in and introduced a new Tesco exec, Bill Goodwin, who replaced Bob Dunson. I enjoyed some delicious fish at the Frog Rogers the other night that Swatzy and the boys brought back from Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Kline were here from Dallas to show off the new son, Gregory. Bennie used to be Roy Rogan's right hand man before he went to work for the City of Garland. Deadline, Call me?

A LOVELIER YOU

Fabric Creates Role In Fashion World

By MARY SUE MILLER

Emilio Pucci, addressing a group of fashion professionals said: "I discovered that an original thought, a creative idea, had to begin practically with the fiber, to be carried from the fiber to the fabric, and from the fabric to the finished idea."

Surely the soft, vamped look, coming on strong for spring, could not be achieved without the beautiful clingy crepes, jerseys and knits. The continuing popularity of citypans depends largely on handsome menswear fabrics in classic patterns and textures.

Actually, it is the ambience of fabric designs that accounts for the enormous diversity in today's end product — the countless looks in clothes to suit your looks, moods and moments. What a plus for flattery and fun in dressing. Better watch what's happening!

Other than the vamped and panty bits, there are all-girl, light weight wooleens, honeycombs, flat tweeds in organized patterns, random weaves of nubs and slubs. There are romantic silky prints in wallpaper and tapestry patterns.

Color seems to follow the texture of the fabric: Neutrals take to the menswear materials; town darks are for city sophisticates and tender pastels for romantics; tapestry tones for pace-setters and red-white-and-blue for everything. And for you!

Check Shirt Size Inside Neck Band

Dress shirt sizes, printed inside the neckband, are indicated by circumference of the neck and by sleeve length. If the neck size needs to be checked, measure around the middle of the neck, allowing slight ease for comfort. For sleeve length, measure from the center back of the neck, across the shoulder and over the bent elbow to the wrist.

Shaw Clubs First Golf Tour Victory

They Meet Hawks Here Tonight

Pictured above are the New Mexico Military Institute Bronchos, who at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the high school gymnasium here square off with the HCJC Jayhawks. The Cadets' defeat the Hawks their only defeat in Western Conference play this season. The two quintets also meet in the opening round of the Region V tournament Thursday night.

MIAMI (AP)—The Doral Open was just another tournament but it produced golf's newest personality boy—26-year-old Tom Shaw.
The exuberant sun-bleached blond from Golf, Ill., chalked up his first tour victory Sunday through a combination of game-ness and superb play that eluded Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and the other big names lured by the $30,000 first prize on the first stop on the rich Florida circuit.
Shaw's talent showed on the front nine of the par 72 Doral Country Club course when he fired six birdies for a six-under par 30. He showed his cool when he failed to let a triple bogey on the 10th hole rattle him out of the lead.
"I don't believe it, but I love it," Shaw quipped after finishing with a 70 despite a 40 on the back nine for a 72-hole total of 276, 12 strokes under par over the 7,928-yard, sun-washed layout.
Shaw shared the lead all the way Dan Sikes, a leader after the first 36 holes, slipped to a 278 for the $10,650 third prize.
Nicklaus, Shaw's playing partner, wound up in a tie for fourth at 279 after charging into second place at the end of 54 holes, and Palmer finished in a tie for 10th.
Shaw's six-year pro career was interrupted in 1966 when he broke his back in an automobile accident at San Francisco. He wore a brace for three months and returned to the circuit—"too soon," he said.
His game was bothered by muscles which hadn't healed and he left the tour to take an assistant's job in Golf, Ill. He resumed competition in 1968 and came in sixth at Philadelphia, Cleveland and Pensacola for his best finishes.
Shaw's $30,000 first prize is more than twice his earnings on the tour last year.
Shaw has an omen now, in the form of an orange shirt.
"My wife Joy gave it to me for Christmas," he said. "I wore it in the third round and washed it out for the final." "Our fourth wedding anniversary is on March 19, and I guess this is a pretty fine present," he said of his first victory.
"I've never been so happy."

Only Second Place Left In SWC Race

By The Associated Press
About all that remains to be decided in the Southwest Conference basketball race is second place, and the Baylor Bears already own at least a tie for that spot on the ladder.
Texas A&M has the championship locked up with a 12-1 mark. Baylor, now 9-4, hopes to give "Coach of the Year" Bill Menefee a clear slice of second place. The Bears had been picked to finish seventh.
Southern Methodist (8-5) must defeat Rice at Dallas Tuesday night while Baylor loses at Lubbock to Texas Tech to share in the second spot.
The Aggies will invade Daniel Meyer Coliseum for a joust with defending champion Texas Christian (4-9) Tuesday night. A&M will return to Fort Worth four nights later to battle Southwest Conference champion Trinity for the right to advance to the Midwest Regional finals March 13 in Manhattan, Kan.
Texas (5-8) is at Fayetteville, Ark. Tuesday night for its final game of the year against the Arkansas Razorbacks who are in the cellar with a 3-10 record.
Texas Tech gave Coach Gene Gibson a sweet win Saturday night when the Red Raiders whipped Texas 82-69. Gibson, who has been fired effective at the end of the season, has a 100-91 over-all mark and 66-45

Announce Engagement

Actress-dancer Joey Heatherton and Lance Rentzel are shown on their arrival in Dallas last night. Rentzel announced they were engaged following a whirlwind five-week courtship. Rentzel said he first met Miss Heatherton several months ago in Los Angeles.

Lance Makes Great Catch

DALLAS (AP) — As far as never seen him play and doesn't understand a thing about football is concerned, he made the best catch of his career last Thursday.
That's when actress-dancer Joey Heatherton agreed to become the future Mrs. Rentzel. "The two arrived in Dallas Sunday."
Rentzel said he first met his future wife several months ago in Los Angeles.
"We went out a few times and then both went our own way. I had to put through a few well-placed phone calls to change all of that."
He said they began to date steadily in the middle of January and have been seeing each other, either in Los Angeles or Dallas ever since.
The couple will live in Los Angeles during the off-season and in Dallas when Rentzel plays for the National Football League team.
But Joey says she has one big problem with Rentzel. She has

Young Eclipses World Run Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Schoolteacher George Young set the record straight in his last track meet while Willie Davenport taught his opponents another lesson in the hurdles.
Young, a 31-year-old Casa Grande, Ariz., science teacher, amazed a screaming crowd of 7,031 by eclipsing the world mark in the three-mile run by almost three seconds at the 81st National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships Saturday night at the Spectrum.
Last week, after tying the world indoor two-mile record, Young announced his retirement from track following the AAU meet.
Davenport, meanwhile, continued his mastery over the hurdles field, by romping to his 15th straight indoor victory in the 60-high as 23 individual champions and five teams crowns were decided.
Young, racing to his 18th consecutive triumph indoors, broke the mark set earlier in the year of 13:12.6 by Australia's Ron Clarke. The silver medalist at the Olympic Games in the steeplechase, was timed in 13:09.8.
The amazing Davenport, an Olympic champion in the 110-meter hurdles, beat back his perennial foe, the 2-4 finishers at the Olympics, Erv Hall of Villanova and Leon Coleman of the Southern California Striders.
"I was going for the record," Young said. "I wasn't running against anybody. I was running to make time."
Young, who lapped six of the nine others in the race, said he will teach until June and then think about his future.
Davenport's only comment

The Howard County Jayhawks will close out their 1968-69 basketball season against New Mexico Military Institute with a game at 7:30 p.m. today in the Big Spring High School (not the HCJC) gym.
The Jayhawks have already wrapped up their third straight Western Junior College Conference title and are 24-3 for the season. The Cadets are 14-10 over-all and 10-5 within the league.
NMMI is paced by the services of two All-WC players, Craig Anderson, 6-3, and Jackie Ortega, 5-10, while the Jayhawks rely on Robert Jackson, 6-3, and Mickey Wilson, 6-2, also all-conference choices.
The Jayhawks will have another week of play with the Region V Junior College Basketball Tournament here Thursday through Saturday.

Bobcats Win 2

DEL RIO — San Angelo Central twice decided the Del Rio Wildcats in baseball play here Saturday, 9-0 and 12-1. Joe Walls and Hunt Batjer were the winning pitchers.

Steers Seeking 1st Baseball Win

The Big Spring Steers, 0-2 in diamond play, will try to notch their first win when they play the Snyder Tigers at 4 p.m. today in Snyder.

Yanks Move Kenney To Mickey's Old Post

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Jerry Kenney, a 24-year-old shortstop with only 170 pounds on his 6-foot-1 frame, has started to make the transition to center field—the same transition made by Mickey Mantle 18 years ago.
With the retirement of Mantle forcing Joe Pepitone to return to first base, Kenney is getting a shot at converting to the same center field post manned by Joe

YMCA Swimmers Place In Meet

The Big Spring YMCA's young swimmers took part in the Panther Boy's Club relay meet Saturday and had to be content with a sixth place in the 200-yard medley.
Although the young swimmers did well, they were bucking some of the toughest competition in the state, said Ernie Hobbs, coach. The next meet will be an individual event at Amarillo March 28-29.
Placing for Big Spring were Brian Jenkins (back), Richard Jenkins (breast), Paul Nabors (fly), Brent Nelson (free). Their time was 3:17.4.
Also taking part were Jim Robinson, Pete Rhymes, Libby Rhymes, Kathy Rhymes, Linda Lester, Sammy Burns, Heddy Danford, Ann Caton, Janice Danford, Jim Nelson and Kirk Nelson.

Queens Win Consolation

Howard County Junior College Queens had a cold first half in the opening round of the women's state junior college basketball tournament in Weatherford and had to be content with consolation.
HCJC dropped the opener to Hill County Junior College, 44-41, then bounced back to nail Henderson Junior College 53-50 on the strength of almost unerring shooting from the free throw line. Ranger, the favorite, won the title over Temple, 52-56.
The game with Ranger here tonight has been postponed until next week. Friday at 7:30 p.m. the Queens will entertain Texas Tech in the Hawk gym.
The Queens poured through 14 points in the third canto against Henderson while the opponents got only eight.
The box scores:
FIRST GAME

The average person reads 225 words a minute — six books a year. The average person can't keep up with the magazines he gets at home; he hasn't got the time! Of course, he hasn't. By the time he gets to chapter 10 of a 28-chapter book he forgot what the first chapter was all about. He reads so slowly, he gets bored with himself. His mind wanders off—he never finishes the book. # MOST OF THEM WANT SWEETER-POT Aces Still Missing In Card Deck

By The Associated Press
What kind of Card game is this with no aces?
That's the question the St. Louis Cardinals might well be asking themselves because if some of those aces don't show up by opening day, the Cards could be playing a losing hand.
Eight aces still are missing from the Cardinals spring training deck, demanding a sweeter pot—a $500,000-plus pot.
The missing include Bob Gibson, who is trying to trump the Cardinals for $125,000; Lou Brock and Curt Flood, who want $100,000 each; Mike Shannon, $70,000; Dal Maxvill, $55,000; Julian Javier, $45,000; and Nelson Briles and Ray Washburn, who each want a healthy raise.
However, Manager Red Schoendienst shrugged off his Card problems, saying "I play the hand I'm dealt. I've lived too long to let worry get to me."

The eight, of course, are big aces counted on to help win a third consecutive National League pennant for the Cardinals, who did manage to sign pitcher Steve Carlton Sunday, the day after the March 1 deadline that makes all unsigned players official holdouts.
Other clubs also are having trouble coming up with aces, but none so acute as the Cardinals, unless it's Minnesota. The Twins still are missing 12 players, including such starters as Dean Chance, Jim Kaat, Tom Uhlaender and John Roseboro.
Sonny Siebert is holding out with Cleveland, Joe Torre with Atlanta, Boog Powell with Baltimore and Rick Monday and Reggie Jackson with Oakland among the other well-known absentees.
The Twins did sign Bob All-

Juan Marichal and Willie McCovey still are unsigned at San Francisco, but Marichal says he will show up in camp Wednesday and McCovey was expected to arrive today. Marichal was asking a raise from the $100,000 he got last year and the Giants say he will get it—if it is not too much.
Los Angeles still was missing seven players, including Don Drysdale, but all were working out with the club. The Dodgers also fined rookie pitcher John Duffie $100 for breaking curfew on his second day in camp.
Another rookie, outfielder Andy Finlay of Atlanta, was hospitalized after an automobile accident at West Palm Beach, Fla., but the club said it believed he suffered only minor injuries.
Powell's holdout could leave him without a job, at least temporarily, even when he does return. Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said Frank Robinson would play first base during the first intrasquad game. Weaver had said earlier that Robinson might play first against left-handed pitchers during the season.
Joe Pepitone was handed the New York Yankees first base spot vacated by the retiring Mickey Mantle. Pepitone was shifted to the outfield two years ago when Mantle moved to first.
On the field, Seattle and Montreal, two expansion teams, played their first intrasquad games ever, the Kansas City Royals second intrasquad game turned into a 13-4 slugfest and Arizona Western University defeated the San Diego B team 9-7.

FACES WORKOUT IN EARTH ORBIT MISSION

Cellophane Space Spider

SPACE CENTER, Houston, (AP) — America's machine for landing men on the moon looks like a giant version of something a housewife would chase with a fly swatter. Or possibly run from.

The machine was originally called a Lunar Excursion Module, or LEM. "Excursion" has been dropped from the official name but astronauts and other spacemen continue to call it LEM. They also call it "the spider" because of its resemblance to that insect.

IT'S UGLY

LEM flies with men aboard for the first time on Apollo 9. Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart will give the space craft a thorough workout in the earth orbit mission.

LEM has none of the slick lines one would expect of a flying machine. It's ugly, clumsy-looking and totally without grace. The outside walls of the craft are a soft, cellophane-like material a man could easily push a foot through.

The spider certainly lacks the look of a noble vessel of exploration. It's more like some weird thing not for this world.

But, actually, the lunar module is both.

The 23-foot-tall, 32,000-pound LEM is the first manned spacecraft designed to operate only in outer space. LEM cannot fly unprotected in earth's atmosphere and would burn up quickly if it tried to land on earth from space.

PIGGY BACK

LEM is a specialist designed to be carried piggy back to an orbit of the moon, fly two men to the surface, support them while they explore, then divide itself and carry the astronauts back to a rendezvous with the command and service module waiting in lunar orbit.

Since it never flies in "air" or atmosphere, LEM has no need for a sleek aerodynamic shape. LEM has two stages, a descent stage which is never manned or pressurized, and an ascent stage, which sits on top and contains the crew compartment.

The descent stage is a 12 by 14 foot eight-sided box with four spidery legs angling down and outward. On the flat bottom side of the box is the bell of the descent engine. A platform and a ladder are attached to the leg on the forward side of the descent stage.

The ascent stage is a collection of circles, squares and triangles on the outside around an airtight pressure vessel for the crew.

TWO HATCHES

There are two hatches and three windows on the ascent stage. A round hatch on the top of the stage is combined with a docking collar and is part of a tunnel the crewmen use to transfer from the command module to the LEM.

A square hatch in front of the vehicle is used by crewmen going to the lunar surface. It is just above the platform and ladder on the descent stage.

Above and on either side of the square hatch are triangular windows which look like eyes on the space spider. A rectangular window next to the round hatch is used for rendezvous.

The lower stage contains the descent propulsion engine, a 9,800-pound thrust rocket which can be throttled. It is used to lower LEM from a lunar orbit to a landing on the moon. The engine can be gimbaled up to six degrees away from the center axis, permitting the crew to steer with the engine.

The ascent engine gives a steady 3,900 pounds of thrust and cannot be throttled or gimbaled.

FEW COMFORTS

The two stages are locked together with explosive bolts. When they separate, the bolts blow apart and the ascent stage engine is ignited.

On the ascent stage also are four clusters of four reaction control rockets. These control the spacecraft attitude, or small movements left to right, around its axis or up and down.

LEM provides few comforts for the crew.

The crew cabin, forward in the ascent stage, is a 92 by 42 inch cylinder. It has no place for the crew to sit or to lie down. If the crew must sleep, they'll have to do it on the bare floor, sitting up and leaning against the bulkhead.

McDivitt said a hammock arrangement was tried in LEM, "but it didn't work worth a lot in hell."

The two LEM crewmen must stand at their controls, the commander on the left, the LEM pilot on the right. Each has controls for the spacecraft's lateral movement, attitude control and throttling.

LIFE SUPPORT

To keep from floating-around while in zero gravity, the crewmen can hook onto a rope and pulley arrangement connected to a constant force reel assembly. The reel constantly gives a downward force of 30 pounds, keeping the astronauts on their feet.

Special equipment aboard the LEM includes two computers, an optical telescope, five communications bands, a cabin environmental control system and alarm system which warns of malfunctions.

Among the maze of communications equipment on the LEM is a television camera designed for use on the lunar surface. Its resolution is expected to be even better than that carried on Apollo 7 and 8.

Other equipment aboard the LEM includes the portable life support systems. These are back packs which keep the astronauts alive as they walk the lunar surface. They supply oxygen, body cooling and communications.

HEAT EXCHANGE

Equipment the lunar landing crew will use on the surface of the moon is stored in compartments in the descent stage. These compartments open to the outside, enabling the crew to unpack equipment while standing on the moon.

LEM's temperature control comes largely from protection provided by thermal blankets made of aluminum sheets and taped on the outside of the spacecraft.

McDivitt said the thermal "a man could push his finger through it." A hard kick anywhere would put a dent or hole in the exterior wall, he said.

A heat exchange system circulating water glycol cools the spacecraft's electronic equipment and the six batteries which provide the spacecraft's power.

METAL SHROUD

ATTACK U.S. MARINE BASE

Rockets Plaster Saigon In Fresh Cong Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops attacked another U.S. Marine base below the demilitarized zone today and shelled Saigon and more than 30 other towns and allied bases in the ninth day of the Viet Cong's spring offensive.

Scores of North Vietnamese troops, blazing away with machine guns and rifles, attacked about 300 Marines at an artillery base four miles southeast of the DMZ. The Marines turned their artillery on the attackers, and the fighting was still going on seven hours after the first attack.

'SOME' KILLED

U.S. headquarters said at least 17 North Vietnamese and "some" Marines had been killed.

It was the fourth time since the enemy offensive began that heavy fighting had broken out just below the DMZ. The area had been relatively quiet since the Nov. 1 bombing halt. Three 100-pound Soviet rockets hit Saigon, killing 12 Vietnamese civilians, wounding 29 others and wrecking more than 30 houses just before dawn. A South Vietnamese spokesman called the attack "savagely, barbarous and bloodthirsty."

One of the six-foot missiles smashed into the ground three yards from a crowded children's hospital ward. The blast sprayed chunks of metal about, ripped through shutters and smashed mirrors and walls, but only one of the 72 children was injured. A 13-year-old girl got a slight cut on her head.

Another rocket tore through the roof of a house in a crowded residential area on the southern edge of the city, killing a family of nine and touching off fires that spread to more than 30 of the small, two-story tin-roofed houses. Three other civilians were killed and 25 wounded.

THIRD ATTACK

It was the third rocket attack on the capital city of three million residents since the offensive began Feb. 23. Two volleys of rockets 14 hours apart on the first day killed 15 civilians and wounded 49.

The new attack on Saigon put pressure on President Nixon to decide whether such shelling violates a tacit agreement which U.S. officials say North Vietnam made in exchange for the end to the bombing of the North last Nov. 1. The Americans say the North Vietnamese agreed to stop attacks on cities and towns, but Hanoi says it made no agreement and promised no concessions.

Texas Officer Killed In Crash

SEOU (AP) — The U.S. Air Force today identified a Texas officer killed in a crash last week.

Capt. Lloyd R. Bunting and Lawrence A. Pelton, assigned to the 347th Tactical Fighter Squadron at Osan Air Base, were killed Thursday when their F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber crashed near Osan, the Air Force said.

Bunting is survived by his father, Sam L. Bunting of Nederland, Tex. Pelton is survived by his father, Merle O. Pelton of Bellevue, Neb., and his mother, Mrs. Lillian A. Leytham of Millard, Neb.

Hire Own Guard To Combat Crime

NEW YORK (AP) — To combat crime, tenants in an upper West Side building now pay $10 a month per family to hire their own guard.

Raphael Rothstein, a tenant in the 66-unit structure at 103rd Street and West End Avenue, said Sunday: "There's a lot of old single women living in the building and now they feel much better."

About two months ago, a 125-family unit on West 90th Street began hiring its own guard. Said tenant Edward Schwarzer, "We've stopped quite a bit of local crime. There's been only one mugging and at least a 40 per cent drop in thefts."

Take Sex Pick

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A biologist says sand crabs possess glands that can change a male into a female.

Dr. Adrian Wenner, associate professor of biology at the University of California at Santa Barbara, lowered 85 males in an escape-proof container into the Pacific Ocean. When he pulled them up about a month and a half later, he disclosed Saturday, 16 had become females. He said that in some crabs the androgenic gland, rather than inherited genetic makeup, determines sex. But when the gland degenerates with age, the sex can change, he said.

EUROPEANS PREDICT

Nixon To Pay Attention

LONDON (AP) — The most remarkable achievement of President Nixon's European tour was his winning the confidence of President Charles de Gaulle, some West European newspapers said today.

But some said months must pass before it becomes clear whether Nixon's personal triumph in five European capitals can be transformed into practical measures to improve contacts between Western Europe and the United States.

NEW SPIRIT

While Western commentators judged the eight-day trip a success, Communist reactions were guarded. The East German news agency ADN reported in a one-paragraph story, "during the trip there were powerful anti-American demonstrations, especially in Rome and Paris."

Pravda, the only newspaper published in Moscow this morning, ran two brief accounts by the Soviet news agency Tass. Soviet newspapers have avoided criticism of Nixon's tour, apparently because the government does not want to endanger negotiations shaping up between the Soviet Union and the United States.

In Geneva, the Independent La Suisse said: "The two days that Nixon spent in Paris show undisputedly that confidence has taken the place of suspicion, intransigence or systematic misunderstanding."

West Germany's Frankfurt Abendpost said Nixon's trip has improved, "the climate of unity between both continents and the special climate between the U.S.A. and France."

Le Figaro, which usually reflects the views of the French government, Nixon and De Gaulle had started examining the world situation together "in a new spirit without reference to what Mr. Nixon called, 'old slogans' and 'old quarrels.'"

But other Paris newspapers said the atmosphere between Paris and Washington may be improved but problems persist. The conservative L'Aurore commented: "Beneath the excellent words of courtesy, it escapes one that the divergences subsist: NATO, European politics, Near East, the proposal for a monetary conference. But finally, between Paris and Washington, there is—let's admit it—a sort of thaw."

ISOLATIONISM

The London Times said: "Nixon seems to have brought off a coup that was beyond both of his predecessors." After nearly a decade of Franco-American discord, President Nixon has founded in General de Gaulle a man he can listen to with interest, whose ideas about Europe are by no means to be brushed aside and whose presence in Europe can be given due weight."

Austria's Die Presse praised Nixon's "sober, positive and friendly approach."

In Brussels, Belgian Senate speaker Paul Struyve wrote in Libre Belgique: "We must rejoice at the results achieved so far. The over-all atmosphere of international relations has much improved. From a human point of view, Mr. Nixon raised sympathy by his direct, human, open attitudes, gestures, statements."

Struyve concluded that the danger of a return to American isolationism has been removed and that "Mr. Nixon looked like a statesman faithful to his electoral commitments, which is reportedly rare."

Real Good Idea

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Daniel J. Davis says it would be a good idea if more preachers went out and played golf on some day other than Sunday, or course.

Most ministers, he said, have no hobby. "They get bogged down, need to get out and meet people ... let their hair down."

Multi-Death Airplane, Car Crashes Increase Toll

By The Associated Press

Multi-death airplane and car crashes pushed violent deaths in Texas over the weekend to a high of 31. There were 19 persons killed in motor vehicle accidents.

Three persons were killed in a plane that crashed into Lake Travis in Burnet County in Central Texas and four more died in a two-car crash near West Columbia.

The count by The Associated Press was taken from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday. Here are the latest deaths reported:

Wilbert H. Chipps, 49, died of injuries Sunday he received in an automobile crash on the east side of his home town of Fort Worth late Sunday afternoon.

Four persons were killed and two others injured Sunday in a two-car crash three miles east of West Columbia on Texas 35. Authorities identified the dead as Thomas Marion Newberry, 26, of Houston; Mrs. Lorena K. Law, 34, Carol Ann Law, 10, and Leslie Connell, 11, all of Harlingen.

Highway patrolmen said an auto driven by Mrs. Beloria Connell, 37, of Harlingen collided with Newberry's car after passing another vehicle. Mrs. Connell and Charlotte Maddix, 24, of Bartlesville, Okla., were injured. A Fort Worth couple and their 16-year old daughter were killed Sunday when their light airplane plunged into Lake Travis, about 30 miles northwest of Austin in Burnet County. They were identified as Billy Joe Brown, 43, the pilot, his wife, and their daughter, Kathy Jean Brown, 17.

MIDLAND VICTIM

Three persons were killed at Coppell about mid-afternoon Sunday when a pickup truck, police said was being driven on the wrong side of a street near interstate 35 collided with an automobile. Killed were the driver of the pickup, John A. Pitts, 56, of Dallas; Grace Lillian Marley, 56, and Bobby Dean Marley, 29, both of Stringtown, Okla. The driver of the car, Sharon Sue Marley, 16, was critically injured.

Jose Rodarte, 22, of Midland was killed Sunday night and his wife, Esther, 18, was critically injured in a one-car accident east of Odessa. Officers said the accident occurred about a mile from the Odessa city limits.

A 23-year-old serviceman stationed at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station was killed Sunday night in a two-car collision near the facility. Authorities withheld his name pending notification of next-of-kin.

SHOT TO DEATH

James Willie Neal, 30, was shot to death in Houston late Saturday night. Police quoted a beauty parlor operator who said she killed Neal after he kicked down the shop's back door and forced his way into the building.

Allen Mitcheison, 57, of Waco died Sunday when a fire swept his home where he lived alone. Mrs. Clara Bradford, a Chambers County farm woman, was killed Sunday when her car failed to make a curve and struck a tree. The site was four miles east of Mont Belvieu.

James Carter, 19, Lewis Wilson, 20, and Kenneth Hubbard, 18, all of Houston were killed Saturday night when two automobiles collided at a Houston street intersection.

Bob Lee Sullivan, 71, of Houston was killed early Sunday when a fire of undetermined origin swept his home on Houston's northwest side.

Edward Frank Verdusco, 1, of Houston was killed Saturday night when a car ran over him in the driveway of his grandmother's home in northeast Houston.

Says It Was Wrong To Order Dive Which Killed Aquanaut

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — One of the aquanauts in Sealab 3, the Navy's deep-sea living experiment, says it was wrong to order the dive in which a fellow crewman died.

A board of inquiry into the death of aquanaut Berry L. Cannon, 33, also was told of a series of mishaps and what the project chief, Cmdr. J. M. Tomsky, called instances of tampering with equipment.

There will "almost certainly" be an investigation, a Navy spokesman said. The current inquiry deals only with Cannon's death.

The aquanaut died Feb. 17, minutes after leaving a personnel transfer capsule in an effort to stop helium leaks in the Sealab habitat on the ocean floor 610 feet deep.

"The dive should never have been made," the investigators were told Sunday by aquanaut Richard Blackburn, 30, who retrieved Cannon. "We were all pushed to a point where mistakes were inevitable. Our bodies had not adjusted to depth ... We had aches and pains in our joints ... Our mental and physical dexterity was affected by the cold."

An autopsy said Cannon died of carbon dioxide poisoning. A breathing apparatus which may have been his later found to be lacking chemicals needed to filter carbon dioxide.

Tomsky said that as the surviving aquanauts were undergoing decompression "on two separate occasions an oxygen valve in the emergency breathing system was opened. Then a third apparent tampering with the valve occurred—the valve was partially cracked open."

If another main valve had been opened, Tomsky said, pure oxygen would have flushed into the chambers and killed the aquanauts.

After the third incident, he said, he posted guards at the two decompression chambers on a 24-hour basis.

For two months before Cannon's death, Sealab had been troubled by mishaps. A personnel transport capsule mysteriously flooded during a repair operation last Nov. 30. That forced a two-month delay. Tomsky, testifying Saturday night, said the capsule was being taken into the well of the support ship when a hoist connection broke without apparent reason.

Then, two power generators on the support ship failed with grounded circuits, forcing power to be cut to the habitat and threatening to flood it.

Ike 'Still Quite Weak', Says Hospital Spokesman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The right medicine—and a tough constitution—seem to be effectively combating the pneumonia that attacked former President Dwight D. Eisenhower during his recovery from major surgery.

But "he's still quite weak," a high-ranking Walter Reed Army Hospital spokesman said. "He's got to eat and get some strength back."

And his doctors reported that "the area of pneumonia in the right lung base is markedly diminished."

He ate a solid, if soft, meal Sunday—his first after nearly two weeks of liquid nourishment.

Pneumonia—the kind often contracted while recuperating from surgery—was a setback for the 78-year-old general as he was recovering from high-risk surgery to relieve an intestinal obstruction.

Antibiotics and oxygen were administered after the attacks Thursday, and his position in bed was changed frequently so that no more fluid would build up in the lung. Despite the lessening of pneumonia Sunday, a hospital official said, he is still on antibiotics.

On a liquid diet since several days before the Feb. 23 surgery, Eisenhower "smacked his lips and had a big grin on his face," an observer reported, after trying a bit of gelatin dessert Saturday.

He was equally pleased Sunday morning when, doctors said, "his gastrointestinal function (had) shown further return to normalcy—so much so that it was possible to increase his diet to include orange juice, a soft-boiled egg, tea and toast."

The guarded optimism about the general was reflected Sunday by his son John Eisenhower who said that if his father "beats this rap, I think he'll have it made."

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus said unto Simon, Fear not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men. And when they had brought their ships to land, they forsook all, and followed him. (Luke 5:10-11)

PRAYER: O God, give us strength and courage to be true disciples of Christ, our Redeemer. Help us to seek Thy kingdom first no matter what the cost, for without Thee we can do nothing. In Jesus' name we ask it. Amen.

Case Of Useless Arms

One of the less inspiring photographs to arise from the Navy's hearing on the loss of the Pueblo came during an inspection of its sister ship, the Palm Beach, docked at Norfolk, Va. It revealed admirals and others inspecting 20 millimeter cannons in dual mounts which have been added to the arsenal of intelligence-gathering ships.

Cdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the skipper of the Pueblo, is on record as opposing even the token .50 caliber machine guns placed on his ship. He suggested that the presence of any weapons on a surveillance craft would be, as he said, "provocative." But he was overruled.

Who in his right mind would believe that 20 millimeter cannon would be much more effective than .50 caliber machine guns against almost any naval vessel except an admiral's barge? Even a motor torpedo boat would be an elusive target for the twenties. The torpedo boats could just stand off at a safe distance and fire its torpedoes. Against modern planes the twenties would be about as effective as pop-guns.

If the Navy and the Defense Intelligence Agency wish to continue joint surveillance work off hostile or potentially hostile shores they would be well-advised to use unarmed ships. Self destruct equipment, perhaps, but futile arms, no.

Unrealistic Ceilings

The Federal Reserve Board's credit restraints, to counter persistent inflationary forces, have pushed interest rates generally to record highs for modern times. The widely influential "prime rate," that banks charge their best corporate customers, has gone up three times in three months to a current 7 per cent.

Once inflationary forces are under satisfactory control and credit demand slackens, as expected before year's end, interest rates may drop off. On the other hand, interest rates may settle for a long time on a higher plateau than previously.

In any event, state and local governments throughout the country, compelled to increase indebtedness to cope with the urban problems of an expanding population, are already running into fiscal trouble. The interest rates on their bonds, though relatively low because such interest income is federally tax exempt, are beginning to bump against legal ceilings, and in many cases are already unmarketable.

Senate Bill 99 in the current session of the Texas Legislature would raise the statutory limit on city, school and special district bond interest rates from 5 to 6 1/2 per cent. It passed the Senate quickly, under Gov. Smith's emergency request, and the House passed it Monday. Although related public works projects may contribute somewhat to inflationary forces, most of these works simply won't wait without damaging social and economic effects.

Actually, there is little virtue in retaining constitutional, statutory, or charter ceilings on interest rates for bonds of the state and its political subdivisions. Such bonds are sold through competitive bidding; and the legal rate ceilings do not protect the taxpayer, but simply make the bonds unmarketable if bids exceed the ceiling.

This Is Biafra Thousands Die, Cities Vanish

By DAVID MAZZARELLA

Associated Press Writer
UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — This is Biafra after more than 19 months of war:

- All its major cities are gone.
- Hundreds of thousands have died of starvation or disease.
- Little fertile land or resources are left.
- The area is still besieged by a well-equipped Nigerian federal army that holds the major towns around this stifling provincial center—Biafra's last capital. The Nigerian air force's Russian-made MIG and Ilyushin warplanes are unchallenged in the sky.

YET BIAFRA is still here, smaller but also better organized — and, its leaders feel, drawing an increasingly friendly eye from the outside world.

Biafrans say morale has rarely been higher since this Eastern Region seceded from Nigeria as the result of bitter tribal disputes and proclaimed itself the republic of Biafra May 31, 1967. Two months later the civil war broke out.

Some Biafrans and foreign observers feel the worst may be over, that Biafra somehow has "made it," that with the United States and other countries becoming increasingly interested in the war, some diplomatic solution will come before the Nigerian army can completely occupy the Ibo tribal heartland.

The future will tell whether this is wishful thinking or sound judgment. But the reality of the situation is that in the last six months the federal offensive into Biafra has slowed and the Biafrans have used the time to consolidate. Their mood has shifted from one of fear, bordering on panic, to one of self-assurance.

AFTER THE RAINY season ended last autumn, the Nigerians captured Owerri, Aba, Okigwi — all within 35 miles in three directions from Umuahia.

Biafra shrank to a fraction of its original 29,000 square miles, and the population in Biafran-held territory dropped to perhaps seven million from the original 14 million.

The Biafrans were preparing for a last-ditch stand in Umuahia. They say the Nigerians made several attempts to break through, but were beaten back each time. The Nigerians say the Biafrans suddenly acquired new firepower, and that the federal army held back purposely, to avoid needless killing.

In any event, the conflict has taken on the characteristics of stalemate. The Biafrans have acquired more small arms and ammunition, most of it French and Czech, but the balance of armament in favor of the Nigerians does not appear to have been significantly changed.

THE BIAFRANS are still getting arms only by night-time airlift from Lisbon and Libreville, Gabon. Apparently one or two planes a week fly in from Lisbon. The smaller Gabon planes are believed to come in more frequently.

Front-line commanders admit their arms supplies have been improving. Soldiers in one action had 50 rounds of ammunition each — several months ago they would have had fewer than 25. A division commander on a southern front said he was supplied with 4,000 rifles in a month, unmarked bolt-action weapons believed to be of Czech origin.

But the Biafrans have few big weapons and still rely heavily on homemade mortars. Their armored vehicles, as far as can be determined, are those they capture from the federales.

ON THE NIGERIAN side, British-made Saladin and Ferret armored cars effectively guard towns taken by the federales and frequently drive the Biafrans out of ground they have taken on incursions.

While the Biafrans have not launched a large-scale guerrilla campaign, they do often move deep behind occupied towns to spring ambushes and harass occupation troops that stick to the tarred roads. They have extensively booby-trapped roads the Nigerians must use for any march on Umuahia.

In addition, the very narrowing of Biafran territory has allowed great numbers of troops, however ill-armed, to be concentrated in a small area for defense. Their supply lines are shorter and they are fighting in areas they know best.

The Biafrans hope these factors will contain the Nigerians, at least until heavy rains begin in two months. But even the bearded Biafran leader, Odumegwu Ojukwu, has conceded, "One mistake on the battlefield could cause great disruption."

A New System For Hourly Workers

NEW YORK (AP) — Last New Year's Day Motorola Inc. abandoned the use of timeclocks as a means of checking on hours worked by production and maintenance employees.

The timeclock said President Elmer Wavering, "is a hang-over."

"All hourly paid production and maintenance employees will convert to the same weekly payroll with office and technical people," the company announced.

IN ADDITION, all factory and office workers were given a "bank" of five days each year. If an employee has perfect attendance he gets a 53rd week's pay at Christmas; otherwise he gets paid for any days left in the bank.

Now, two months later, the new method seems to be working out as well, if not better, than expected. Employees have expressed approval. Tardiness hasn't become a problem.

In fact, Jack Melton, director of compensation for Motorola in the East, said some unforeseen savings and benefits could be realized in addition to the fully anticipated improvement in morale.

THE REAL surprise to the Motorola executives in charge of the new system, however, was the heavy and immediate response from other corporations.

Least the clock people get unduly concerned, let it be recorded that even Motorola cannot get along completely without their services. Thirty-seven clocks have been sold but 10 will be retained to regulate alarms for shift changes and lunch breaks. Workers no longer punch in or out.

INSTEAD, they arrive and begin work each day with little more formality than office workers. Only exceptions to the routine expected of the worker — tardiness, for example — are marked on work cards by supervisors.

These exceptions are shown to employees on the day they are made. Then, at the end of the week the card is signed by the worker and sent to the payroll department.

CAN ANY company do the same as Motorola? Perhaps not with the same ease. Motorola's decision was not precipitous. It was, in fact, protested. Several years ago the timeclock was eliminated at its Phoenix plant.

It is necessary, said Melton, to give lots of thought to the changeover. Other clockless companies can help by relating their experiences but, he feels, "the system really has to be developed by people within the company."

Don't Drive On Saturdays

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It isn't how much a brain weighs, it's what you can do with it that counts. Man's brain slightly outweighs that of women's, but science hasn't been able to prove he's more intelligent—something women have been saying for a long time.

THINK YOU can drink and drive? Well, for your family's sake at least leave the car in the garage on Saturdays. That's the day when most fatal crashes involving alcohol occur.

To get your dime's worth during a three-minute call from a phone booth, talk faster. A slow talker can get only about 400 to 450 words off his chest in that time, but a fast talker can do 600 or more.

SCHIZOPHRENIA, or "split personality," is the most widespread mental disease and occurs around the world in all races and cultures, affecting at least one out of every 100 people. Researchers who believe it is caused by a chemical imbalance report they have had at least limited success by treating it with massive doses of vitamins.

Quotable notables: "The reason why worry kills more people than work is that more people worry than work."—Robert Frost.

WORTH remembering: "The beauty of the old-fashioned blacksmith was that when you brought him your horse to be shod, he didn't think of 40 other things that needed to be done to it."

Nature notes: A whale can dive a mile deep and stay submerged for an hour before he has to surface and blow out stale air. The wild goose is as graceful as an airplane in flight, and about as complicated: it has 12,000 muscles, of which 10,000 control the movements of its feathers. The ant is an insect philanthropist. In one of its two stomachs it digests its own food. In the other it stores food it shares with other ants in its nest.

IF YOU'RE a duffer at golf, make a reservation now for a trip to the moon. On its surface a 150-yard drive would travel half a mile.

It was Knute Rockne who observed, "Most men, when they think they are thinking, are merely rearranging their prejudices."

Several Remedies For Bursitis

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I and several friends are bothered with bursitis at this time of year. I guess there's no cure, but what do we do for relief? I rub on liniment and take aspirin. — Mrs. G.S.M.

Dear Doctor: I was told I have bursitis in my knee. When I kneel or put pressure on it, it swells to the size of a golf ball. I have been treating it with heat, but the doctor said he would give me cortisone shots or remove it surgically. Just what are the dangers of cortisone shots? — Mrs. D.A.L.

Dear Doctor: Are ultrasound treatments of any value for bursitis? — R.R.

Cure bursitis? Well, yes and no. There are plenty of folks who used to have bursitis, and are not bothered with it now. There are others who don't understand the nature of bursitis, so they keep getting themselves in trouble with it.

THE BURSA is a tiny sac, containing a small amount of fluid, and it acts as a cushion where tendons ride over bony surfaces. When irritated by too much pressure, or too much strain on a joint, the bursa becomes inflamed and sore, and the fluid in the sac increases. And that's bursitis — commonest in the knee, elbow ("tennis elbow"), shoulder, and hip.

Give that tender bursa, or

More than one injection may be necessary.

OTHER HELPS
Many times a hollow needle is used to withdraw excess fluid from the bursa. But in some severe cases surgery may be required.

Background also is effective, but in actuality it is just a means of introducing heat into the deep tissues, which is created by energy in the form of rapid vibrations.

But after the doctor has done his work, do your part as a patient. If the trouble is in the knee, kneel on a cushion. If in the shoulder or arm, avoid too much strain.

While rest is essential in an acute stage, motion — but not heavy strain or pressure — is required as pain subsides, to prevent formation of adhesions.

Note to R.M.: No matter if your friend does live in a cabin in the mountains, if he's 66 he is eligible for medicare.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Big Spring Herald requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

It's No Good To Be No. 11

One thing and another: Ratings mean so much to our society, whether a disc-jockey is playing what he trumpets to be the No. One recording, a society matron is included on the List of Ten Best Dressed Women or the manufacturers of a cigarette beat their chests and point with pride to the fact that their brand outsells all others. Even criminals take a measure of pride when they are included on the list of Ten Most Wanted Men. One observer says there is nothing worse in America than being in 11th place.

FOR A BORN LOSER, I give you the fellow who was booked on a flight to Hawaii and had it hijacked to Salina, Kansas. Incidentally, one airline official said recently that, if it were possible, his company would like to advertise the prospect of a free side trip to Havana. It gives prospective customers a vicarious thrill. Florida is enjoying its greatest tourist season in history and there are those who say the hijackings may be contributed to this success.

THE BEST DESCRIPTION of a quill was, I think, offered by Ambrose

Bierce. He described it "as an implement of torture yielded by a goose and commonly wielded by an ass. The use of the quill is not obsolete, but its modern equivalent, the pen, is wielded by the same everlasting presence."

AN OFFICIAL of the American Medical Association says that the average American, if he lives to the age of 70, will eat the equal of 150 cattle, 310 hogs, 2,400 chickens and 26 acres of grain. And lifetime martini sippers will gulp 510 gallons of gin and 1 1/2 quarts of vermouth. Anyone for trading a chicken thigh for a T-Bone?

EXPLAIN TO ME, if you will, why some of our public institutions, in the main paid well for what they do, are prone to take praise for granted, even when not deserved, yet react gracefully to criticism, especially when deserved?

An Effective New Senator

WASHINGTON — It's fun to watch the rookie senators break in. You ask yourself, "Will he shine, or will he fade?"

Hubert Humphrey, elected in 1948, threw his career into temporary eclipse by an impudent assault upon Sen. Harry Byrd Sr., a pillar of the citadel. Bill Proxmire, elected 1957 to replace Joe McCarthy, overreacted to the limelight by trying to upstage his floorleader, Lyndon Johnson, and was sent into banishment for a couple of years.

A NEW MEMBER can play it safe by saying nothing except to answer the roll call. Or he can sound off with opinions that will mark him for much time to come.

Sen. James Browning Allen, the rangy Alabama Democrat who succeeded Lister Hill, chose to leave nobody in suspense. Allen is a take-my-stand Southern Democrat, of course, and at 56 he's been a politician all his adult life; but he's the kind who gives those two breeds a good name.

LAST YEAR, soon after election, he disposed of all stocks and put his savings into government bonds. He also resigned a 33-year affiliation with his Gadsden law firm where his father had been a member before him. He also exceeded the Senate's ethical requirements by publishing a notarized statement of his financial condition, and promising to do so every year of his service.

One of his first acts of identification as a true Senator was his vote to preserve Rule 22 which protects extended debate, alias filibuster, alas minority opinion in the Senate. Lots of incoming Southerners take this position, but I haven't heard of any who did so with better aim and authority.

SEN. ALLEN on Jan. 15, a fortnight in office, drew deadly aim on a live target, Vice President Humphrey, who was about to make a ruling against the rule. Allen pointed out that the Senate should be governed by its regulations and by the U.S. Constitution, not "by the gavel." It was a telling argument.

A week earlier, on Jan. 6, Allen had fired on another notable live target, Sen. Muskie of Maine, Humphrey's Democratic running mate of 1968. Muskie had a resolution to disqualify the "Faithless elector" from North Carolina who exercised the discrimination allowed by the U.S. Constitution. Allen cited the little-known incident from the presidential election of 1872. Horace Greeley, a candidate, died between election day and inaugural day. Allen demanded in debate:

"HAD HORACE GREELEY been successful... would the senator from Maine contend that... electors... would have to vote for a dead man...?"

You seldom hear classy, cogent, documented arguments from beginners, and Allen has yet to take an inconsistent or indefensible position.

ON FEB. 4, observing that he'd run for the Senate with full knowledge of the salary, Allen voted against the 40 per cent pay-rise. He also observed, while he was about it, that he'd prefer to raise the pensions than the salaries of Supreme Court Justices, in order to encourage a reasonable retirement age.

Here's a new senator who didn't waste any time, or mince any words, or create any ambiguities. He's also the kind who keeps his opponents watching for that first and fatal blunder.

Nixon Tackles The European Problem

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has made clear to the Western European nations that the United States cannot "go it alone" in world affairs. He has been trying by tactful and yet frank discussion with the leaders of the various governments to emphasize that more and more, as the burdens of armament increase, there must be collaboration and cooperation between allies, whether through NATO or some other alliance.

Only the Soviet Union has benefited by the discord in the West. Gen. De Gaulle has been following a nationalistic policy which tends to discourage the achievement of a union of the free countries. Yet in two world wars France has been saved through the balance of power furnished by the United States.

A BIG CHANGE has developed, however, since the close of World War II. The increase in nuclear strength of both the Soviet Union and the United States has been a dominant factor in world diplomacy. France possesses nuclear weapons but could not defend itself effectively against Russia without American help.

The universal supposition that nuclear war is improbable has transformed the nature of Western Europe's defense problems. Conventional military forces have not been built up on the theory that a ground war was less and less likely to happen because of the danger that it might grow into a nuclear conflict.

THE TRUTH IS the various countries in Europe have been feeling secure because they were convinced that the United States and Russia would not allow a nuclear holocaust to take place.

The nations of Europe, moreover, have not wished to spend large sums on armament. Even though basic principles that are vital to the preservation of world peace have prompted the United States to put a large army into South Vietnam in order to repel aggression, the Europeans have maintained an attitude of detachment from the conflict in Southeast Asia.

PRESIDENT NIXON, in his talks with officials of the Western European governments, did not indicate just what line the United States may take in connection with the Vietnam negotiations now being carried on in Paris. But it is evident that he does not wish to make any threats or announce any new commitments at this time because he is obviously trying to gain the support of the Western European governments. He may have to agree to maintain a large military force in Europe instead of reducing American participation in NATO.

WHAT MR. NIXON would like, of course, would be to bring about harmony in Western Europe and then approach the Moscow government with a plan for a reduction of armament everywhere. Only a few of the experts in Russian affairs, however, believe that the Kremlin is ready to change its policy and refrain from further intrusion in other countries, which, of course, could be a danger to the peace of the continent.

The invasion of Czechoslovakia has left a deep imprint on the minds of all diplomats in Europe, and they now are more concerned about the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization than they were prior to the recent increase of Soviet occupation forces in Eastern Europe.

MR. NIXON rightly recognizes that the key to peace in the world is in Moscow and that the United States by itself cannot persuade the Communists to change their course. This can be accomplished only if the countries in Western Europe show a readiness to act together in a common defense program that will deter any Soviet military aggression.

Back To Adam

BENONI, South Africa (AP) — An American with the same surname as this Johannesburg suburb wrote the town fathers trying to trace his family background. Giacomo O. Benoni of Cresson, Pa., wanted to know where the man for whom the town was named came from.

The town replied that its name was from Genesis, Chapter 35.

Name Of Game Is Pick Plates

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A practiced military eye can read Irwin H. Blumenthal's license plates and figure him to be Air Force, all the way. They're inscribed "E7 USAF."

Bill Murphy uses his plates to proclaim to all the world that he's an Aggie. The Murphy fleet has tags numbering from Aggie 2 through Aggie 6.

The name of the whole Lamar County game is choosing personalized Texas motor vehicle plates at $10 per set.

Dr. Courtney Townsend registers with "UT Dad 3" referring to that many sons in the University.

H.G. Merritt of Pattonville believes in the direct approach. His plates read "Hi Girl!"

Price Cooks It Slow, Long

Price's Barbecue is Big Spring headquarters of barbecue connoisseurs. Doug and Marie Price, owners and operators of Price's Barbecue, 2000 Gregg, have long been noted as the king and queen of Big Spring barbecue.

Doug is an old hand at preparing mouth-watering foods. He has been in the food business for 40 years.

Barbecue prepared by Price is cooked for many hours over a slow, low fire to preserve the natural juices, and allow the rich flavor of the famous barbecue sauce and wood smoke to soak into the meat. When Price puts a portion of meat to a plate, notice the natural juice that flows. This is the sign of good eating and good barbecue.

Barbecue served at Price's offers the best enjoyment possible when treating the little lady of the house to a night of freedom from the kitchen.

The Baby Didn't See The Rocket

A baby in a bassinet sleeps through the lift off of the huge Saturn 5 rocket which propelled the Apollo 9 spacemen into orbit at Cape Kennedy, Fla., today. Thousands lined the beaches and roadways near the huge space complex to watch the flight but a low-hanging heavy cloud cover blocked out a view of the rocket within a few minutes after the lift-off.

Wifely Thoughts Remain Big Secret Before Liftoff

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "When I'm alone and the house is quiet, I sometimes feel a little frightened," Mrs. David Scott, wife of the Apollo 9 pilot, said once.

Dr. Cecil Mullins Educational Psychologist

A CHOICE OR A MUST?

BIG SPRING, Tex. — Horse and buggy reading methods are no longer sufficient to keep pace in today's space age, according to Dr. Cecil Mullins, inventor of Optimization. The Optimization method has been producing reading speeds of several thousand words per minute for over ten years and has drawn praises and comments from educators and businessmen in every state of the union and many foreign countries. During recent years Optimization has developed to the point where it offers a written money-back guarantee of 1000 words per minute and one book an hour to each of its students. "One of the secrets of our success," said Dr. Mullins, "is that we are firmly committed to the principles that learning proceeds best, only when the students are enjoying themselves. In our classes most of the students have a ball from beginning to end—and along the way, they become the best readers anywhere."

He Has Different Idea About Double-Dating

NAPLES, Tex. (AP) — Rvy Beggs of Naples has a slightly different conception of double-dating than most people. Last week Beggs had an appointment to meet a couple of women he'd never seen before. There was nothing sneaky about it—he even took his wife along with him to Texarkana for the date. Beggs "dates" were his half-sisters. There was a problem of recognition at the train station, because Beggs had no pictures of the two. Instinct might be the only reason the trio got together, but they did. The women, Mrs. Ruby Davis of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Bonita Barbour of Spokane, Wash., started thinking about the trip to Texas when their uncle, Jim Beggs of Naples, became seriously ill.

Asked once about his wife's feelings toward his space missions, Apollo 9 commander James A. McDivitt said laughingly: "She thinks I'm the world's greatest space pilot."

Although chatty and friendly, Pat McDivitt is reluctant to discuss this topic.

Mrs. Russell L. Schweickart, the third Apollo 9 wife, does not frequently speak out on space activities or apprehensions involving her husband.

Schweickart summed it up this way: "None is needed."

She was accompanied by the McDivitt children: Mike 11, Ann, 10; Patric, 8; and Kathleen, 2.

Co-Op Reports Six Finalists

COLORADO CITY — Names of the six finalists in the oratorical contest sponsored by Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, have been announced by James Hull, manager. Winners, whose oratory on the subject "A Youth's View of Our Government," qualified them for final consideration by the committee of judges, are: John Sewart, Westbrook, Mike Britton and Micki Jacks; Loraine, Denise Schneider, Roscoe, Linda Autry and Joe Murphy, Ira. The six young people will be interviewed Friday at 7 p.m. in Lone Wolf Electric Medallion room by a judging panel consisting of James E. Eiland, Stanton, assistant manager, Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc., Chuck Elmore, Stanton power use advisor, Cap Rock, and Joe Sewart, Westbrook, Mike Britton and Micki Jacks, Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, Big Spring. From the group of finalists one boy and one girl will be selected as winners of all expense paid trips to Washington, D.C., from June 6-June 17.

Martin Denies Country Is Sick

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin told the legislature today that Texas are under siege today "just as surely as the defenders of the Alamo were under siege." "It's not a war of extermination or a massacre," Martin told a joint legislative session marking Texas Independence Day, March 2. "The attack is centered in the simple accusation by a good many articulate people that the country is sick." "Well, I'm sick of being told I'm sick. I happen to feel pretty good. This legislature looks pretty healthy to me. But far more important than that, this country looks healthy, except for a few parasites." Martin said Texans in 1969 must be guided by the same instincts that guided the Declaration of Independence writers who said there was a "necessity for self-preservation." "So if I wrote a 1969 Declaration of Independence, it might contain this statement of principles: "That we intend to preserve our Constitution and laws against all assaults by our enemies, foreign and domestic. That we shall not be intimidated by mob rule. "That we shall have free speech for everyone, not just the loudmouths of the New Left. That it is our Democratic right to have protection from crime and lawlessness. That the elected representatives of the people, in the Congress and in this legislature, have the paramount responsibility to preserve laws that are just and change laws that are unjust, by free and open debate in the orderly Democratic system."

David Scott, wife of the Apollo 9 pilot, said once.

Martin Denies Country Is Sick

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin told the legislature today that Texas are under siege today "just as surely as the defenders of the Alamo were under siege." "It's not a war of extermination or a massacre," Martin told a joint legislative session marking Texas Independence Day, March 2. "The attack is centered in the simple accusation by a good many articulate people that the country is sick." "Well, I'm sick of being told I'm sick. I happen to feel pretty good. This legislature looks pretty healthy to me. But far more important than that, this country looks healthy, except for a few parasites." Martin said Texans in 1969 must be guided by the same instincts that guided the Declaration of Independence writers who said there was a "necessity for self-preservation." "So if I wrote a 1969 Declaration of Independence, it might contain this statement of principles: "That we intend to preserve our Constitution and laws against all assaults by our enemies, foreign and domestic. That we shall not be intimidated by mob rule. "That we shall have free speech for everyone, not just the loudmouths of the New Left. That it is our Democratic right to have protection from crime and lawlessness. That the elected representatives of the people, in the Congress and in this legislature, have the paramount responsibility to preserve laws that are just and change laws that are unjust, by free and open debate in the orderly Democratic system."

Demo Coalition Backs 'Rights'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New Democratic Coalition called on the Justice Department and the FBI today "to cease all investigations concerned with the political beliefs and affiliations of dissidents."

The coalition, composed of 1968 backers of Sens. Eugene McCarthy and Robert Kennedy, called on leading figures in the Democratic Party "to support the rights of students and others threatened with political repression."

It warned of growing movement "for the repression of dissent, particularly on campus." The coalition criticized "threats to scholarships of those who oppose certain university policies, reduced appropriations for state universities, the use of military and draft laws to quiet dissent and the growing use of police violence against those who persist."

The utterance, drawn up by former McCarthy leader Sam Brown and adopted unanimously by the coalition's steering committee, singled out President Nixon and the Rev. Theodore Hesburg, president of Notre Dame University, for criticism.

The Rev. Hesburg's strong stand against student protest on the South Bend, Ind., campus drew approval from Nixon and the nation's governors who met here last week.

The coalition political group criticized the Roman Catholic educator's stand.

In addition to calling on top Democrats to oppose "the content of the Nixon's Hesburg's letters," the utterance said "We call on all Democratic Congressmen to oppose any investigation by any branch of the government into the political beliefs of dissidents."

And it called on local coalition affiliates "to take all available steps to protect the right and principle of dissent which has always been the greatest contribution to the ultimate strength and freedom of American politics and society." Brown asserted that "institutions of justice are becoming increasingly the institutions of law and order without regard to justice."

Odessa Woman Hurt In Wreck

An Odessa woman was injured in a one-car accident about 12:45 a.m. Sunday seven miles north of Big Spring on US 87.

Mrs. Shirley Walker, 18, was admitted to a local hospital following the accident and was released Sunday afternoon. Bill Robertson, investigating Highway Patrolman, said the car in which Mrs. Walker was riding was driven by Larry Loftin, 21, San Angelo. The car was traveling north on US 87 when it left the road, struck a reflector post and turned over twice, the officer said. Loftin and two other passengers, Melinda Lynn, 16, and Sharon Adams, 16, both of Odessa, were not injured, he said.

He Has Different Idea About Double-Dating

NAPLES, Tex. (AP) — Rvy Beggs of Naples has a slightly different conception of double-dating than most people. Last week Beggs had an appointment to meet a couple of women he'd never seen before. There was nothing sneaky about it—he even took his wife along with him to Texarkana for the date. Beggs "dates" were his half-sisters. There was a problem of recognition at the train station, because Beggs had no pictures of the two. Instinct might be the only reason the trio got together, but they did. The women, Mrs. Ruby Davis of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Bonita Barbour of Spokane, Wash., started thinking about the trip to Texas when their uncle, Jim Beggs of Naples, became seriously ill.

More Candidates File In Coahoma

Houston Livestock Show Nearly Tops $2 Million

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo says he is pleased with the results of the record-setting show that ended Sunday night.

Total auction sales at the 37th annual event reached $1.98 million, which exceeded the 1968 record of $1.13 million.

"All in all we are quite pleased," said Louis M. Pearce Jr., president of the show. "I don't think there's any doubt about this being the greatest livestock show and rodeo we've put on."

ONLY ONE
"We're the only livestock show in history to ever break $1 million and now we're only about $20,000 short of $2 million," he said.

Mural In Honor Of Cattle King

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An 8 by 14 foot mural in honor of Texas cattle king Ewing Halsell has been hung in the Halsell Administrative Studies Center at Trinity University.

The work is by New Mexico artist Peter Hurd. It depicts the Texas cattle industry.

Halsell, born in 1877, devoted his life to ranching. He founded Amberst and Earth, Tex., and managed 300,000 acres of the old XIT ranch in the Texas Panhandle which his father bought.

His later holdings included land throughout the Southwest.

Organize Plant

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP) — Asst. Mobil Homes, Inc., is organizing a plant here in a 10-acre block in the Eastland Industrial Park adjacent to the airport.

sters spent $297,780, or $62,746 more than last year.

Pearce said although rodeo attendance decreased this year, the general attendance figure will be larger and the number of commercial and livestock exhibitors increased.

Professional rodeo cowboys competed for a purse in excess of $100,000.

Olin Young of Peralta, N.M., won the largest amount—$5,247—for calf roping. Doug Brown of Silverton, Ore., was named all-around cowboy and received $3,358.

Mother Of Sirhan To Speak For Him

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For eight weeks she has been sitting patiently, quietly, as a prosecutor worked to convince a jury her son should be put to death. Now Mary Sirhan is on the stand to speak for him.

It is a tiny voice, made softer by a lifetime of burdens.

It was choked by tears Friday as she began testifying in the murder trial of her fourth son, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, the killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

GREAT COURAGE

She had just said that Sirhan was born March 19, 1944, in Jerusalem, where her family had lived "for hundreds of years, from generation to generation," when her voice broke.

The judge ordered a weekend recess, saying, "I can't conceive a worse set of circumstances under which a mother could be called to testify. I think she shows great courage."

Minutes before, Sirhan had defiantly told the judge he wanted to fire the three attorneys who have worked for him without fee, change his plea to guilty and be executed.

"I killed Robert Kennedy willfully, premeditated, with 20 years of malice aforethought," Sirhan said, out of the hearing of the jury.

Judge Walker denied Sirhan's request and warned if he continued in his frequent outbursts "you will have a face mask put on you which will prohibit you from talking and further, your arms will be strapped to your chair and the trial will proceed."

GOOD FRIENDS

While this was going on, Mary Sirhan shook her head from side to side.

She is tiny—just 4 feet 11. Her gray hair is tied behind her head in a bun. She has been in court every one of the 31 days when there has been a session, usually in the company of her fifth and youngest son, 21-year-old Munir.

The defense team and many of the newsmen call her "Mom."

"You have been good friends to us," she told a newsmen. "You are good people. You understand. You do not try to hurt. There are many good people."

Dear Abby

Misdirected Punishment

DEAR ABBY: I am so hurt. My daughter and her husband have now decided that my two grandsons shall be denied a visit to Grandma's and Grandpa's house until they stop doing this or that.

Our greatest pleasure is a visit from our grandchildren who are 4 and 6 years old.

So now we are told there will be no more visits until Bobby stops sucking his thumb, or Richard comes the first time he's called. Their parents call this "firm discipline." I call it "unfair to grandparents."

Please, Abby, tell us if we are off base for feeling the way we do. Or are the parents? And what should we do about it?
