Campaigning For New Image

John Belindo, executive director of the National Congress of American Indians, speaks in Los Angeles as the organization began a nationwide campaign designed to improve the image of the Indian.

Indians To Stage Uprising Against Stereotype Image

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American Indians — to improve the image of the American Indian. When the group finds something it considers derogatory — in a TV commercial, say, or a newspaper story, or a motion picture — it plans to send an official written complaint. "Nothing violent, nothing pressure-group, just a polite mention of what we regard as offensive," explained John Belindo, a Kiowa who is executive director of the Indian congress. In keeping with this nonviolent approach, there wasn't a ceremonial head-dress in sight, nor a war whoop to be heard, at the news conference. The campaign and its slogan, "The American Indian — A New Awareness and Readiness," will feature TV spot announcements and billboards in such major centers of nonreservation Indians as Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Dallas, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Washington, D.C., San Francisco, Oakland and Oklahoma City.

Secret Negotiations Led To Guilty Plea By Ray

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Buford Ellington concurred. Notes on telephone calls made by the prosecution and information from a New York attorney's office confirm that Mrs. King was informed of the potential agreement and apparently approved it. But Mrs. King also made it clear that she did not want it thought that she believed Ray acted alone. After Ray entered his plea, she said: "This plea of guilty cannot be allowed to close the case or to end the search for the many fingers which helped pull the trigger." Information now becoming available also showed that Ray at first wanted to take his chances in court, but agreed to the 99 years when presented with the evidence against him. Ellington was not available for comment.

UT Regents Rule Down Meeting Of SDS Group

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas said Saturday that the national council of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) will not be allowed to meet on the campus March 28-30. Members of the group had said the meeting was expected to draw 1,000 to 1,500 from across the nation. The local SDS chapter asked the university to hold the meeting on campus. University regents ruled against the request Friday night. University President Norman Hackerman issued a statement saying the school "has for decades stood for the principles of free speech, the exchange of ideas, and has insisted on the right of students to hear diverse views and diverse personalities."

Candy Barr Is Indicted

BROWNWOOD (AP) — Ex-stripper Candy Barr was indicted by a Brown County grand jury Friday for unlawful possession of narcotics. Dist. Atty. George Day said Judge Joe Debrill of Coleman has not set a time for arraignment or a pre-trial hearing. Miss Barr, charged Tuesday with possession of marijuana, has been free from the Brownwood City Jail on a $10,000 bond was arrested at a home in the city earlier. The former Texas strip-teaser had previously served three years of a 15-year sentence for a drug conviction in 1959 in Dallas. Sometime after her release, she received a full pardon. An examining trial set for Wednesday was, in effect, canceled by the indictment.

HD Workshop

STANTON (SC) — Martin County was in charge of the health workshop at the District 6, THDA meeting held Thursday in Kermit. The workshop was given by a panel from the Big Spring State Hospital with Mrs. Mary Cochran, volunteer coordinator as leader. The theme of the meeting was "The Key is in Your Hand." Those attending from Martin County were, Mrs. D. E. Ory, Mrs. W. J. Harlow, Mrs. N. E. Holloway, Mrs. W. T. Wells, Mrs. Stanley Barnes and Mrs. James Eiland, county HD agent.

Traffic Toll Soars Higher

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Traffic deaths hit an all-time high of 3,481 last year, up three per cent above the 3,367 deaths recorded in 1967, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday. The death rate per hundred million miles, however, was down to 5.5 deaths, compared with 5.8 in 1967, because of an eight per cent increase in total miles traveled. December's 369 deaths topped the previous December record of 363 in 1965. Accidents last year totaled 940,268, compared with 885,289 in 1967. From 1960 through 1968, the United States has had 1,721,754 traffic deaths, compared with 1,161,007 American deaths in all wars from 1775 through 1958. The economic loss of Texas accidents last year was an estimated $36,802,000.

ANTI-HEROES OF SORTS

Astronauts Share Success Credit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 9 astronauts safe after the riskiest space flight yet, are anti-heroes of sorts. They don't like to take much of the credit for the 10-day globe-circling venture, praised by experts here as one of the nation's most successful. "As you know, each flight is done by a lot of people, not just the pilots," Apollo 9 commander James A. McDivitt 39, father of four, said modestly after the crew's arrival here. This was the man who entered the Air Force, without having even flown, after leaving his job as a water heater repairman in Kalamazoo, Mich. "I'd never been up in an airplane or anything," he said of entering the Air Force. "I was already accepted for pilot training and had been in the Air Force for four months before I really got a ride in an airplane." David R. Scott, 36, the son of an Air Force pilot, called the Apollo 9 flight "another pretty good step forward" in landing men on the moon. "I don't think we've ever had so many things work so well together," Scott said in his airport arrival speech here. "And the reason it did was because everybody did their part and put together a tremendous effort that we all appreciate."

Scott and McDivitt, both Air Force colonels, were making their second space flight. Scott recalls his first airplane flight vividly: "I'd watched the airplanes go by for 12 years and I'd always wanted to fly and I finally got my chance. It was on my 12th birthday and I remember that was the big thing — to fly in an airplane." Civilian Astronaut Russell L. Schweickart, the father of five who had never before flown in space, couldn't contain his glee and praise for others when he returned. "You all know we've seen a lot of welcome and beautiful sights in the last few days," said Schweickart, who tested the Apollo's moon capsule and took a space walk. Not the least of these welcome sights, he said, were the parachutes that let them land safely in the Atlantic, "and then the recovery forces and getting back to the Cape (Cape Kennedy) and seeing all those wonderful people that did so much work to get us up here." The crew also has more than modesty and space experience in common. They're all glad to be back home. "I tell you, there's no place at all like home," McDivitt said, putting into words the thoughts of his fellow astronauts. McDivitt, who graduated from a Jackson, Mich., junior college, became a combat pilot in the Air Force. He flew 145 combat missions in Korea. In 1957 he enrolled in the University of Michigan, studied aeronautical engineering and finished two years later at the top of his class. The Air Force test pilot school came next, followed by a year in the Air Force aerospace research pilot's school. He applied and was accepted in 1962 when the space agency opened its doors for its second group of astronauts. McDivitt is a veteran of the Gemini 4 mission of 1965, which included America's first space walk. Scott, father of two, son of retired Air Force Brig. Gen. Tom W. Scott of San Antonio, Tex., graduated fifth in his class of 633 at the U.S. Military Academy in 1954. After flight school and four years as a pilot at an air base in the Netherlands, he earned two master's degrees in aeronautics and astronautics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After joining the select group of astronauts in 1963, he piloted Gemini 8, a flight that malfunctioned and lasted only eight hours. Quick thinking by Scott and Gemini 8 commander Neil A. Armstrong enabled them to make an emergency landing in the Pacific. Schweickart, 33, is a New Jersey farm boy. He always wanted to fly and when he finished high school enrolled in MIT, where he later entered for advanced study between Air Force service. He joined the astronaut team in 1963 along with Scott. Schweickart appeared to enjoy being a rookie on Apollo 9 with two space veterans. "The rookie says that looks beautiful!" was among his first words after liftoff from Cape Kennedy. But he was not new to the dangers of flying. He once had to bail out of an F86 jet when it blew up on takeoff.

C-C Leader's Workshop Scheduled Wednesday

The Chamber of Commerce Leadership Workshop will get under way at the Cosden Country Club Wednesday morning, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. "The meeting is a workshop type session as there will be a separate session for chamber officers and directors, committee chairmen and committee members, and managers," Chamber Manager Tom Eastland said. "After the workshop, the voluntary chamber leadership should be better acquainted with the duties and responsibilities of their offices." The result will be a more effective operation of local chambers, he said. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m., with Burvin Hines, vice president of the Midland National Bank and a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, presiding over the opening session at 10 o'clock. W. H. Collins, editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, past president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce and a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will bring the keynote address. Collins will preside over the workshop session of the chamber officers. Other chairmen of the sessions will be Buddy Byars, manager of the Monahans Chamber of Commerce, and Harry Cowan, district manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The afternoon session will be under the charge of Jack G. Springer, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Gene Garrison, executive vice president of the Odessa chamber, will discuss program of work. Membership and finance will be discussed by R. T. Wilson, assistant general manager of the Abilene chamber. At the conclusion of the workshop, the participants will have the opportunity to question the speaker, Eastland said.

Smothers May Quit

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Smothers says that unless changes are made in CBS censorship of "The Smothers Brothers Show," he and brother Dick won't return next season, even though CBS renewed its option on the show. Smothers said Friday, after CBS announced it was extending the program's run, "We assume they're going to make some changes because they picked up the option."

He said he would meet early next week with CBS television network president Robert D. Wood to discuss their differences. "If he says the network will maintain its same enforcement of continuity acceptance, then we definitely won't perform," Smothers said by telephone from Hollywood. The brothers' problems with CBS were climaxed last week when the network replayed an earlier show in place of the scheduled broadcast. A network spokesman said late delivery of the show's tape, and not its content, were to blame. Smothers insisted the network had wanted to trim the remarks of two guests on the show, comic Jackie Mason and Joan Baez, the folk singer-nacifist. CBS rescheduled the show for March 30.

The absence of such a trial with its full presentation of evidence has added fuel to the controversy of whether Ray was merely part of a conspiracy to kill King. Phil Canale, Shelby County district attorney general who headed the prosecution team, and Hugh Stanton, the public defender, both confirmed that talks leading to a possible guilty plea began in December. But they differed over who instigated the negotiations. Canale said that in a telephone conversation with the U.S. civil rights division of the Department of Justice on Dec. 19 he outlined the procedures which would be followed under Tennessee law. "The key points to the agreement were a plea of guilty and a sentence of 99 years," Canale said. Stanton said he talked with Canale about a possible guilty plea "at least a week before Christmas, and as I remember, he said he wanted to check it out with his associates."

Stanton said the defense investigation had prompted a feeling that Ray faced a possible death sentence if the case went to trial, and that a deal could be made for the 99-year term. Canale, on Dec. 31, called Harry Wachtel, a New York attorney for Mrs. King and Dr. King's family, to see what Mrs. King's reaction would be. Wachtel called back Jan. 3 and said Mrs. King wanted it made clear that such a deal did not mean that she and others in the family thought there was no conspiracy. But, Wachtel said, Mrs. King and other family members were "opposed in fact and in principle to capital punishment and would not wish to see Ray executed in the electric chair." After the original call to Wachtel, Canale also discussed the matter with Ellington, who said he had no objections to the deal. On Jan. 3, Canale called the Justice Department again, and was informed that Clark had given his approval to the plan.

C-C Campaign Report Slated

A report luncheon is set for noon Monday at the Holiday Inn for participants in the Chamber of Commerce membership enrollment. Only a few of the workers have so far reported, but informal checks indicated a good response to the campaign under the title of "Let's Make A Deal."

Panel To Meet

The Chamber of Commerce advertising and promotional committee will meet at 5:15 p.m. Monday in the chamber conference room. The committee will organize and set goals for the coming year, according to Bob Crowell, chairman.

PYTHIANS HONOR PIONEER MEMBER OF BIG SPRING LODGE Robert Hill, treasurer; Dwain Leonard, deputy grand chancellor; Bascom A. Reagan, knight; David J. Hopper, acting Chancellor Commander

KP Lodge Honors Pioneer Member

By SAM BLACKBURN

Frontier Lodge 48 of the Knights of Pythias paid honor this week to its pioneer member. He is B. A. Reagan, 92 years young.

In addition to having been a member of the Knights of Pythias continuously for 57 years, Reagan also holds the distinction of being one of Big Spring's oldest living native sons.

Reagan followed the footsteps of his father, the late W. A. Reagan. It was in pursuit of work as a carpenter that the elder Reagan moved with his family to Big Spring following the westward march of the railroad.

B. A. Reagan says he has built scores of residences all over town in the three score years and longer that he was a contractor-carpenter.

He also built or help build a large number of downtown business structures. "One I built," he said, "is the present home of the Texas Electric Service Co. I built that one sometime during the depression for Joe and Bernard Fisher."

Mr. Reagan was married in 1913 to Miss Eugenia Perot of Shreveport, La. She has since died, but they had seven children, all of whom are still alive and six of whom live in Big Spring.

Reagan is a man who has pursued many hobbies. He was once an avid photographic bug and has an enviable collection of fine cameras.

He also is an expert at making flint arrow heads — so adept at it that he would probably be able to fool a Comanche.

Among guests present for the meeting were Jerry Arnold, Brownfield; Whitney Reynolds, Richard Pachall and T. A. Camp.

Other officers on which the membership will vote include Ralph Barris, first vice-president; Derrell Pittman, second vice-president; Ernest Lillard, third vice-president; plus three sergeants-at-arms, DeWitt Bunn, Bill Patton and Bill Estes.

Bradford lauded club members for their untiring work in connection with the recent Region V Basketball tournament. Bradford said the club would show a small profit in the meet, although all bills are not yet in.

He makes his home at 1810 Main Street, where he lives with his son, Earl T. Reagan and his daughter-in-law, Earl Reagan works at the post office.

Rev. Strother Bids Farewell

Rev. Tom Strother gave his valedictory to fellow members of the American Business Club at their noon luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

A slate of new officers will be elected within the ABC Club March 28, prexy Bill Bradford announced.

Nominated to serve as president of the board of directors was Jim Butler.

'Peter Grimes' Pretty Foggy

NEW YORK (AP) — The sea premier of the Benjamin Britten opera "Peter Grimes" was nearing its conclusion at the Metropolitan Opera Thursday night when a malfunctioning prop almost disrupted the final soliloquy by Jon Vickers, playing the title role of an English fisherman.

The scene was foggy English seacoast, and the fog rolled in on schedule from the wings.

Then it rolled on out over the orchestra, over conductor Colin Davis, and into the theater.

Some of the audience laughed. Others, perhaps reacting psychologically to the odorless water vapor, coughed. Vickers nonplussed, sang.

Finally, assistant manager Francis Robinson ordered air conditioners activated, and the fog was cleared up.

Cosden Hikes Crude Prices

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company Friday sent notices of price increases it will pay for crude oil.

Effective 7 a.m. March 15, Cosden announced it was increasing the price it pays for West Texas sour crude by eight cents a barrel.

This will apply in all fields where Cosden purchases, except the Westbrook and Turner-Gregory fields in Mitchell County.

At the same time, Cosden announced that it has increased the price on West Texas intermediate crude oil by 10 cents a barrel in all fields where it purchases except in the Luther and Big Spring (Fusselman) fields.

In the latter fields, increase will amount to 15 cents a barrel. Approximately 6,500 barrels per day will be affected by this change.

The boost, which tracks the pattern of increase posted recently by Mobil, means that Cosden will be paying $2.88 per barrel for 30-gravity sour crude and $3.26 per barrel for 41-gravity intermediate crude.

The schedules generally add two cents per barrel for each upward degree of gravity.

In posting a 15-cent per barrel increase for oil in the Luther and the Big Spring (Fusselman) fields, Cosden wiped out a differential which had existed for several years.

Texaco kicked off the parade of increases Feb. 25 when it made an across-the-board boost of 20 cents per barrel. Since then most companies have responded in varying degrees, leaving the price situation fluid.

Gulf raised 19 cents a barrel, Humble and Pure five, Cities Service 10. Some operators have made two price adjustments within the past fortnight.

That reader survey taken recently by Farmer-Stockman magazine revealed a clear picture of what farmers think about the current farm programs.

Most large farmers, the survey showed, would like to see the present farm program continued or expanded, while relatively small farmers would like to see it reduced or abolished.

Some 46.2 per cent of the farmers answering the survey with operations of more than 500 acres expressed a desire to continue the program, and another 4.4 per cent said it should expand.

On the other hand, 20.8 per cent of the farmers with less than 100 acres favored continuation, while 33.6 per cent desired a reduction, and 38.7 per cent wanted the program abolished.

A practical course on emergency care and transportation of the sick and injured is scheduled March 28-29 in the Midland County American Red Cross Building in Midland.

The course is free, and diplomas will be issued to those completing the course.

Dr. James B. Mason, assistant director of the American College of Surgeons say that 25 per cent of those permanently disabled in traffic accidents would not be crippled with proper care and transportation after the accident.

Whether an injured or gravely ill patient will survive and whether he will lead a useful and happy life may depend on the way the first persons treat him after the onset of the emergency.

The Texas Health Department, Midland Medical Society, and Midland Red Cross Chapter are sponsoring.

Base Gives Mishap Brief

Approximately 50 civilian law enforcement officials attended an Air Force accident briefing at Webb AFB Friday afternoon.

Among those present were city managers, civil defense directors, fire chiefs, safety directors and police officials from Big Spring and other neighboring communities.

The annual briefing describes the release of information concerning aircraft accidents and explains civilian action at the scene of such accidents.

Also on this year's agenda was a movie entitled "Night of Jack Rabbit Mesa." In the film, civilians are the first to reach the scene of an airplane crash which occurred during the night.

It showed how the people reacted to the incident.

The briefing began with a luncheon in the Webb Officers' Open Mess. Two hours later, guests were taken on a base tour.

The group witnessed a simulated fire suppression exercise of a downed Webb aircraft, visited static displays of the T-38 Talon and the T-37 Tweet, and toured the Webb helicopter rescue facility.

COLD FARM SCENE Far West Texas Needing Rain

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Cold and wet describes the Texas farm scene, especially in the eastern half of the state.

Moisture in the eastern half of the state is fully adequate to excessive, Hutchison said. Farmers, he added, are being forced to do outdoor work on a catch-as-catch-can basis.

Wheat made good growth on the South Plains (Lubbock) with improved moisture. Greenbugs are still a problem in some areas.

Pre-planting has started. Pre-plant irrigation is on in many areas and livestock generally are in good condition.

It's wet and cold in North Central Texas where most counties now report surplus moisture.

Moisture has been light in West Central Texas. A shortage still exists in the northwest counties.

In favored counties grains are growing but cold has slowed the rate. The frost and freeze damage to early blooming fruit trees has not been determined.

South Texas moisture is adequate except in Dimmit and Maverick counties. Onion growth was good.

Citrus is steady and a good bloom is evident. Ranges were above average and livestock are in fair to good condition.

Seven Guilty Pleas Expected

A parade of seven guilty pleas is scheduled for 118th District court this week, but none of the numerous cases set down for disposition will go before a jury.

As a result, the jury panel which had been notified to report to the court for duty Monday, will not be needed.

Warrants were named for Robert Lee James, forgery, three counts; and Norma Elaine Brown, possession of marijuana.

Warrants were issued for Felix Jones, DWI second, and A. J. Mize, DWI second, both of whom did not answer when their names were called.

GUILTY pleas were expected from Robert Mesker, rape; Merlin Eugene Clemons, possession of narcotics; Carrol Wayne Follis, forgery, three counts; Margarito Escovedo, indecent exposure; Alberto Ortiz Gonzales, DWI second; and Narciso Juarez, DWI second offense.

All of the others informed the court they would enter guilty pleas.

Passed for the week were cases against D. W. Day, Jerry Williams and Bob Wells, burglary; David Tubb, rape; Bennie Eugene Hatfield, murder with a motor vehicle.

Attorneys were named for Robert Lee James, forgery, three counts; and Norma Elaine Brown, possession of marijuana.

SMITH TAKES ANOTHER SHOT AT IT

Tax Squeeze Back In Limelight

AUSTIN (AP) — The state's tax squeeze gets renewed attention this week as Gov. Preston Smith prepares to recommend new revenue possibilities.

For those not intrigued by the dry details of state finance, there is strong likelihood of Senate debate on liquor by the drink as well as scheduled house hearings on lowering the voting age and setting a minimum wage.

The two-month-old legislative session, which has shown more inclination to deal with minor issues than to grapple with the big problems, gets a little deeper into emotionally laden questions this week.

Smith said Friday he would ask the legislature to set a date "as soon as possible, probably by the middle of next week" for a joint session to hear him make "further suggestions for finding revenue sources to meet the expenditures I have already proposed."

Speculation centered on recommendation of some sort of tax on industry, possibly a natural resources tax such as an increase in the natural gas levy.

The governor's address is occasioned by an attorney general's opinion last Friday that Smith's plan to ease the pressure on tax revenue by using oil and gas income from submerged, state-owned school lands was unconstitutional. Smith had looked to this source for $52 million over the next two years for current educational expenses.

Education costs could push the size of the tax bill even higher than the $261 million Smith has recommended. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said late in the week.

Barnes said the Senate Finance Subcommittee writing a proposed State Budget is already running as high as $50 million over Smith's spending proposals due to higher education. A Senate vote on appropriations could come in a couple of weeks, he added.

House budget writers, meanwhile, are taking their time and have done little work since their appropriations hearings ended last month.

Senate liquor by the drink sponsors planned to use the weekend to poll other Senators to determine whether they have the 21 votes needed to bring up and pass their proposed constitutional change authorizing local option sales of mixed drinks.

Sen. Joe Christie, El Paso, said he had 20 firm votes and hoped the poll would show he had gained the additional one supporter he needed for the liquor amendment.

"I also had 20 votes two years ago," Christie said ruefully, bringing up memories of liquor by the drink's failures in 1967 when Gov. John Connally was working for its passage.

"More and more Senators are interpreting the proposal as something other than a wet-dry issue. I feel that some senators in dry areas will support it. What fairer way could you do it?" Barnes said.

House sponsors said they needed "less than 10" votes in that chamber.

The House has a busy schedule for Monday, including action postponed from last week on a bill giving the governor power to declare an emergency and impose curfews and other controls on areas struck by riots and natural disasters.

Also on the House calendar is a final vote on a bill tentatively approved Friday stripping away the centuries-old doctrine of governmental immunity to lawsuits, at least those arising from motor-vehicle accidents.

House members are scheduled to vote on a bill allowing Texas

Gondolamobile

Absentee Voting To Begin Monday

Absentee voting for two places on the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees opens at 8 a.m. Monday in the office of the county clerk at the Howard County Courthouse.

April 1 is the last day voters who will be out of town for the April 5 election, will be able to cast their ballot absentee.

Seven candidates are seeking the two positions. They are Grant Boardman, A. K. Guthrie, L. D. Hayworth, Max Moore, Sidney T. Clark, Wendell Stacey and Mrs. Patteann Daniel. Boardman is the incumbent.

Meanwhile, one vote has been cast absentee in the city commission election slated for April 1. Two seats on the commission are to be filled.

Deadline for absentee votes in the commissioners' race is March 28 for those voting in person at the City Secretary's office in city hall and midnight March 29 for having ballots in the mail and postmarked.

Blaz Bailon, George Zachariah, Garner McAdams and Eddie Aciri are seeking the two positions. Zachariah and McAdams are seeking re-election.

County Gets Completion, New Tests

Two locations and a completion were noted for Howard County Saturday.

Walsh and Watts, Inc. No. 11 Abrams will be located 330 feet from the south and west lines of section 45-50-1S, T&P, three miles east of Coahoma.

Projected depth to test the Clear Fork is 3,200 feet.

Sun Oil (DX Division) No. 3 Duncan Roberts will be 990 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west lines of section 128-129, W&NW, one mile east of Forsan. The test is to go to 1,500 feet.

Basin Oil Co. No. 4 A. H. Heusinger, 330 feet from the south and 1,650 feet from the east lines of section 67-29, W&NW, showed for an initial pumping potential of 77 barrels of 28-gravity oil per day.

Operator bottomed at 2,600 feet on a ground elevation of 2,600.9 feet. A 1/2-inch string on bottom and perforated from 1,954.2-3,315, then acidized with 1,500 gallons and fraced with 3,000 pounds of sand.

Water Injection Cycle Finished

The Colorado River Municipal Water District has terminated its winter injection program for the season. Since last fall, the district put 271,721,000 gallons of water from Lake J. B. Thomas in storage in the de-watered zones of Martin County.

This water is recovered during summer months in periods of peak demand.

Monday at 9 a.m. with a House juvenile delinquency committee hearing on Dallas Rep. Joe Golman's bill allowing public release of information in juvenile cases involving felons committed by second offenders.

The House Constitutional Amendments Committee will hold a hearing Tuesday night on two voting age proposals, one lowering it to 18, the other to 19.

The minimum wage issue, which became a major cause during the 1966 Rio Grande Valley Farm Workers' March on the Capitol, gets a hearing Wednesday night before the House State Affairs Committee.

The proposed bill would start out at a $1.25 hourly wage floor, coming to $1.00 in 1972.

Liquor by the drink bill, based on the assumption held by some legislators that mixed drinks can be legalized without a constitutional amendment, is set for hearing Tuesday night before the House Liquor Regulation Committee.

Eight bills designed to help implement the $10 billion, 50-year, Statewide Water Plan will be heard Wednesday night by the Senate Water and Conservation Committee.

Oldest Active Indictment Is Dismissed

The oldest active indictment in the files of 118th District Court, a murder case dating back seven years, was dismissed Friday.

The case is styled State vs. Jerry Lee Parker. It recalls a sensational murder of Aug. 26, 1962, in which Stanley J. Williams, pioneer resident and a man near 80 years of age, was brutally beaten to death.

Intruders forced their way into his home on the northeast edge of town. They battered the old man to death, presumably demanding money. His aged wife was also beaten, but survived.

Parker was one of a number of suspects checked out by the officers. He was finally indicted for the crime and, on one or two occasions, the case was called for trial — the last time in 1964. Parker offered testimony by witnesses that he was in church at the time Williams was killed.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, in his motion to dismiss the case, pointed out that the testimony of these witnesses had not been refuted and that all investigation tended to corroborate their stories.

Since 1964, the case has been kept on the docket, but has remained dormant.

The last efforts made by investigators to solve the whereabouts of the defendant on the night of the crime was a search for an itinerant preacher. This man, it was said, could confirm or disprove Parker's alibi and a search for him was waged over a wide area.

Officers referred to the preacher as "Santa Claus," because he wore a long white beard.

He would be heard of in some distant city and the officers would put inquiries into operation. By the time the legal machinery was functioning, "Santa Claus" would have disappeared.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jack Vaughn, who was appointed director of the Peace Corps by President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966, says he will soon bow out of the job.

Monday at 9 a.m. with a House juvenile delinquency committee hearing on Dallas Rep. Joe Golman's bill allowing public release of information in juvenile cases involving felons committed by second offenders.

The House Constitutional Amendments Committee will hold a hearing Tuesday night on two voting age proposals, one lowering it to 18, the other to 19.

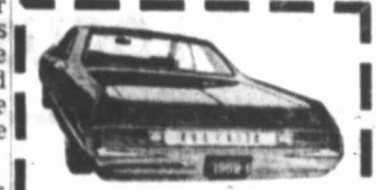

The minimum wage issue, which became a major cause during the 1966 Rio Grande Valley Farm Workers' March on the Capitol, gets a hearing Wednesday night before the House State Affairs Committee.

The proposed bill would start out at a $1.25 hourly wage floor, coming to $1.00 in 1972.

Liquor by the drink bill, based on the assumption held by some legislators that mixed drinks can be legalized without a constitutional amendment, is set for hearing Tuesday night before the House Liquor Regulation Committee.

Eight bills designed to help implement the $10 billion, 50-year, Statewide Water Plan will be heard Wednesday night by the Senate Water and Conservation Committee.

Russians Shade U.S. Tracksters

MOSCOW (AP) — America's Leon Coleman twice tied the world indoor record in the 50-meter hurdles and Gennady Bliznetsov of the Soviet Union cleared 17 feet in the pole vault Saturday as the Russians outclassed a pick-up U.S. squad in an international track and field meet at Lenin Stadium.

Most of the American Medal winners in the 1968 Olympics left home for this renewal of a rivalry between the two big athletic powers.

The Russians, with a squad of 200 men and women, captured 10 of the 17 events on the indoor track, with the other seven titles going to the United States. Teams from Cuba, Bulgaria, East and West Germany also competed.

Coleman, from Winston-Salem, N.C., first tied the world record of 6.4 seconds in his semifinal heat in the 50-meter hurdles, then he matched the mark again in beating out teammate Gary Powers of Los Angeles in the final. Powers clocked 6.5.

Bliznetsov, a 28-year-old physical education major from Kharkov, vaulted 17-4, setting a Russian record. Then he tried at 17-6 1/2 in an attempt to break the world indoor mark but missed three times.

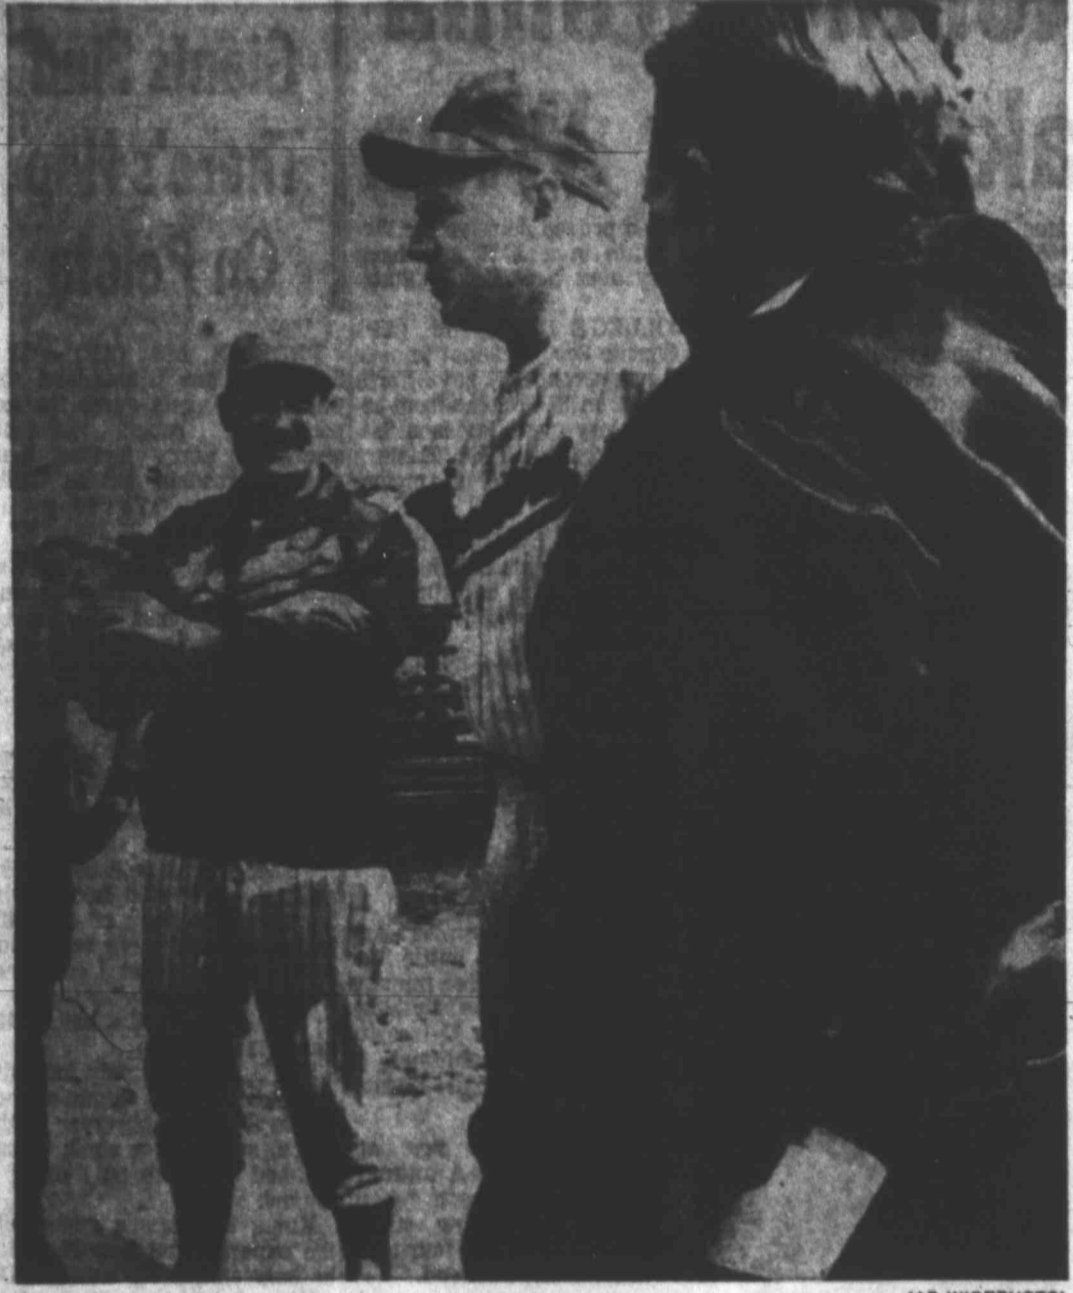

Peter Chen, the U.S. hope in the pole vault from Washington, D.C., managed only 16-1 and placed fourth behind three Russians.

America's victories Saturday in addition to the hurdles, came in the men's 400 meter race, won by Jim Camp of Long Beach, Calif., in 4:7.5; the women's 50-meter dash by Mildredta Netter of Alcorn College, Lorman, Miss., in 6.2 and the women's 400 meters by Jarvis Scott of Los Angeles in 56.3.

The Russians scored in the men's 1,500 meter run, triple jump and high jump in addition to the pole vault, plus the women's 800 meters and shot put. The Russians won four and the United States three events Friday.

Howard Ends Holdout

Slugger Frank Howard stands with Washington Senators manager Ted Williams, left, Saturday in Pompano Beach after announcing he had signed his contract with the team.

Howard's contract sticks out of Senators' owner Robert Short's hip pocket, right, at the news conference just off the spring training field.

Samoan Is Boosted As New York Great

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — For the first time in his life, Solaita's entire world consisted of bananas, sugar cane and cricket, played on the pristine white sands of a Pacific island just 78 miles long and 43 miles wide.

Baseball never intruded on his thoughts, surrounded as his horizons were by the endless miles of Pacific Ocean that brushed up against American Samoa and the code, culture and traditions of the Polynesian way of life.

But it is for just that reason that the pudgy 6-foot, 222-pounder who was the home run king of organized baseball last year may be the leading heir apparent to Mickey Mantle's role as the No. 1 bomber and main gate attraction of the New York Yankees.

For nothing—absolutely nothing—is going to interfere with Solaita's dedication to becoming a major leaguer. That's the way his father wants it. And when a Samoan father wants something, he gets it.

HE'S STILL SINGLE

"When I first signed a baseball contract," Solaita explained

as he sat in the Yankee training quarters, "I promised my father I wouldn't get married until I made it to the big leagues. In America I thought I would, and it would bring me headaches."

"He wanted me to clear everything out of my mind and concentrate on playing ball."

Solaita's father, Tulafono, who lives with his other two sons and two daughters in San Francisco, is a Methodist minister. But more, he is a Samoan, and he has both earned and demanded—and received—the complete respect of his children.

It is this upbringing which Tolia Solaita feels is one of his strongest weapons, possibly even more important than his bat, in the challenge he faces in winning a spot with the Yankees.

"When I first came to America I didn't understand any of the American way of life," Solaita explained. "The main difference is that in Samoa you don't have to work for a living like here—most people own plantations.

"There also is a different attitude towards old people. Samoan people all get along real well together. We consider everyone a brother. Some people in America lack respect for older people. They stress respect on the island."

"My father stresses that even more now that I'm a ball player. He hates for me to do anything that would stand in the way of my playing. Whenever I leave home he reminds me to respect the managers and the coaches just like him."

"Not because I should be a flunky or anything like that. But because it's respect."

And Solaita always listens, just as he did when he was just a little boy playing cricket on Samoa.

"My father wasn't strict, but firm," Solaita explained. "But he only told you once. Then he kept me straight with his belt."

So Solaita grew up with respect, particularly the seat of his pants.

Life, at that time, consisted of a two-story brick and wood house set on a small plantation of sugar cane and banana trees. The joys in Solaita's life were fishing and cricket.

"I never had a thought about baseball," Solaita pointed out. "American soldiers had played ball on the island, but none of our people understood how to play baseball. Our form of baseball was cricket."

BACK TO SCHOOL

"All I wanted to do at that time as far as I can remember was finish high school. My father stressed the point that education is a good thing so even now when I go home I go back to college."

It was while playing cricket that Solaita first found he had the power to hit the long ball.

"I always hit the long ball in cricket," he said. "The houses weren't too far from where we played. I would hit the ball up in there and we would always have to climb up and chase it."

Then, suddenly, Solaita's horizons widened when the family moved to Hawaii—and he got his first introduction to baseball by way of the Little League.

"Maybe I was just born to play baseball," Solaita said in searching for some answer to his development. "Maybe God showed me the way. It started out as a joke with me because I didn't know a thing. I didn't know what a glove was for."

"But as I learned I got more interested. And my father let me go. He didn't get in my way."

"And so as Solaita's horizons grew so did he, blossoming into the strong, left-handed hitter that the Yankees signed in June of 1965.

Three years in the minors found him at High Point-Thomasville in the Carolina League in 1968, and he proceeded to hit .302 while collecting 51 home runs—more than the combined total produced by the Yankee infield he is trying to crack as a first baseman.

"I want to be known as a hitter," he said.

Conigliaro gripped a bat and started up to the plate for batting practice. Before he left, he had one final thought.

"I think . . . Yes, I know. I'm going to be back."

Things Looking Up For Tony C

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Tony Conigliaro's nightmare may have a happy ending. The 24-year-old Boston outfielder, whose career appeared ended a year ago due to eye trouble, is waging a dramatic comeback battle.

A year ago in spring training Tony tried to make it back—some six months after he was knocked unconscious in a game when hit by a pitch in the left temple.

At first he had headaches and got dizzy.

"I struck out three times and I didn't even see the ball," he said.

"I figured I was through when I went back to Boston and was examined by Dr. Charles Regan (an eye specialist at the Reelin Foundation). He said the hole in the eye had enlarged. He feared a detached retina. I had only 20-300 vision in my left eye."

At the time, Conigliaro said he was "not going to quit and somehow someway there will be good days again."

As the season wore on with Conigliaro on a special emergency disabled list, he toyed with the idea of making a comeback as a pitcher. He had pitched successfully in high school at St. Mary's in Lynn, Mass., compiling an 18-2 record.

"Darrell Johnson (Boston pitching coach) worked with me in the summer," said Conigliaro. "He encouraged me to try it. I knew him well enough to know he wasn't just being nice to me. So I decided to try it in the Flor-

Cousy Calls It A Career In Basketball

NEW YORK (AP) — Six years ago Bob Cousy, Mr. Basketball, made a wish before he ended his sensational playing career with the Boston Celtics.

"If I were given one more wish," he said in 1963, "I'd like to go out with a championship team. I would like to go out a winner."

He got his wish as the Celtics went on to win the National Basketball Association title that year. And he burst into tears when the Celtics staged a Bob Cousy Day before he left for a coaching job at Boston College.

Now, this week, Cousy is about to leave BC after six years, leave active basketball after 25 years as player and coach.

TEAM IN NIT

The beginning of the end starts Sunday when Boston College plays its first round game in the National Invitation Tournament against Kansas. Victories could prolong his retirement until Saturday's final.

"I'm glad I'm bowing out at Madison Square Garden," said the 40-year-old native New Yorker. "New York is my town."

When the final game does come, it is certain to be filled with emotion, although maybe not as great as that day in Boston, because even Cousy is not certain if he can stay away from the game that has meant so much to him.

He has numerous business enterprises in public relations, he might do some announcing and he has his boy's basketball camp in New Hampshire during the summer, but "for the last 24 years all I've known is competition, and when that's gone, I don't know . . ." he said.

"When I was at the camp, I would just be sitting around, not competing. I realized objectively it was something that could happen to me," he said, "but I would smoke more and get edgy and irritable. I would go through horror."

"I hope I'm not like Ted Williams or Vince Lombardi, who found they could not live without that competition. I'd hate to think that to stay at a competitive edge I'd have to return to the pros."

During his years at BC, where his teams compiled a 114-57 record entering the NIT, his fifth post-season tourney there, Cousy said he has had six offers to coach in professional basketball. "But none of them was a serious offer because of my lack of interest. Traveling eight months a year with the pros is too much."

Although coaching at BC doesn't take him away from his family for games nearly that much, recruiting is a time-consuming, traveling business.

"I felt it was time to get away from the scene for a year or two to think things over," he explained. "I might get back into college coaching in the future, but not now. I just wouldn't want to move my family. Returning to the pros is pretty remote."

The situation in Boston also presents problems, should Cousy ever decide to return. While he was very happy at BC, "let's face it," he said, "Boston is a hockey and football town, even with the Celtics."

WOULDN'T MOVE

And Cousy would dislike uprooting his family to move some place like the South, which is more basketball minded.

"It's not just me," he said. "I've had my glory. But the lack of recognition hurts the kids."

For example, he talked about Terry Driscoll, BC's 6-foot-7 ace with a 24-point a game average and the No. 3 rebounder in the country.

"He was overlooked on the All-American teams, but we think he's an All-American," Cousy said. "The pro scouts will hear out our opinion, he'll be a No. 1 draft choice."

When Cousy announced his retirement early this season it was Driscoll who called a meeting of the team, and the Eagles haven't lost since.

"It was a calculated risk, announcing my retirement when I did," said Cousy. "I didn't know how the kids would react, but I wanted to give the school a chance to find a new coach so he could get started recruiting."

"We were 5-3 at the time, silent and morose," he laughed. "But when I announced I was leaving at the end of the season, the kids were howled and went out on our opinion, he'll be a No. 1 draft choice."

That streak might be enough for most, but not for Cousy, an All-American at Holy Cross, a 13-time All-Star in the NBA and a member of five championship teams with the Celtics. It isn't enough as long as there is one more game to play.

Manager Of Champs Digs Human Nature

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Guiding heavyweight champion Jimmy Ellis may have earned Angelo Dundee boxing's Manager of the Year award, but he says it's his little black book and salesmanship that put paydays on the calendar regularly.

Champions—he's managed seven—just supervise, says Dundee. "But the kids gotta get education and they're like any other new product—you gotta make 'em salable."

While the novices are getting polished up or polished off, Dundee says he watches them for that something that makes them different. "You gotta nurture all the personality angles."

When the new product is ready, "I look to sell 'em to the promoter, press and public."

Here's where the little black book comes in.

"A lotta managers are not versed in the way of getting fights; I know 'em all. I know who is looking for who and what at any time."

MAIL HEAVY

"So managers write me they have such-and-such a fighter; get him some work. So I handle 'em, book 'em and work with 'em."

And, of course, "I take a percentage for handling the business."

Dundee says he writes to 110 promoters twice a month and "when I write these guys I mention all the fighters in the area whether they're mine or not."

There are usually 35 to 40 in the Dundee string. And they're better fighters than those thumping when Dundee left his aircraft inspector job in a Philadelphia factory in 1948 to work as a trainer.

"Today's athletes are fantastic. What's a four-minute mile now and look at the high jumps and home run hitters. All sports have advanced and today's fighter is a better fighter," he said.

Boasting boxing comes naturally to Dundee. "It's the only gig I got," he says.

Besides Ellis, champions that have passed through Dundee's 5th Street Gym on the way to market include, heavyweight Cassius Clay; light heavyweight Willie Pastrano; middleweight Carmen Basilio; junior middleweight Ralph Dupas; welterweight Luis Rodriguez; and featherweight Sugar Ramos.

ONE STILL ACTIVE

Rodriguez is the only one still active. Dundee calls him the No. 1 middleweight contender and says champion Nino Benvenuti is afraid to fight him.

"He dreads Luis so much he'd rather go against light heavies," Dundee says.

The bantamweight bookmaker-manager says he will never use ducking tactics with Ellis.

"Jimmy Ellis is a champion and acts like a champ should and he'll fight the No. 1," Dundee says. "Frazier is No. 1 and I've been passing up other offers."

Joe Frazier holds the portion of the heavyweight championship not included in Ellis' title.

However, there's no date or site. "California wants it. The Astrodome in Houston wants it. And I've been getting soundings from Atlantic City."

While Dundee tests the soundings, nothing steps back at the gym. "I've got guys training guys," he says.

The dozen or so trainers he listed work with the young fighters on a daily basis making them do the same things over and over again, says Dundee. "You need repetition. Kids don't pick these things up in a day or a night. It takes years."

Dundee says he has no system for keeping energetic young battlers in line. They know I'm trying to help them, he says, and they listen.

Some listen real good. Up-and-coming heavyweight Al Jones says of Dundee: "If he says jump on Joe Palooka, I do it. If he says jump on a gorilla, I do it. That's my payday."

We are proud to say that school spirit is not dead at Howard County Junior College. When we see something we like, we show approval. When we see something we do not like, we show our disapproval. This is only human nature. We are not out to debate the visiting team or our guests. When the occasion arises, we voice our opinions just as anyone would. Therefore, Howard County should serve as an example to Big Spring instead of a disgrace.

Sincerely,
MIKE MCCrackEN

Pro Leagues Likely To Spat This Week

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The nearly three-year-old marriage of the American and National Football Leagues has not even been resolved by the time the 26 owners and their assistants leave this California desert football family in a resort Friday.

The argument won't necessarily be along league lines. The agenda, officially or unofficially—such as the site of the Super Bowl, the two-point conversion rule, the Boston stadium situation and possibly expansion.

KNOTTY PROBLEM

But the bulk of the owners' time and interest at this joint winter meeting will be consumed by the knotty problem of what to do in 1970, the year the 1966 merger takes final form.

The fun will start Monday or shortly thereafter when the joint committee that's been working on the problem presents its proposal, or proposals, to the combined meeting.

No matter what the committee has devised, with the help of Commissioner Pete Rozelle, there is sure to be disagreement from one area or another.

For example, the current thinking is the recommendation will be that the leagues stay the way they are now—16 teams in the NFL and 10 in the AFL—with the addition of a profitable portion of interleague games, possibly four or five for 1970.

The NFL owners would go along with this idea as would a number of AFL chiefs. But there are some AFL owners who would hold out for complete realignment—a complete shuffling of all 26 teams.

Prominent among these are Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals, Gerald Phipps of the Denver Broncos and Joseph Robbie of the Miami Dolphins. Brown, who coached the Cleveland Browns for 17 years, is eager to go up against the NFL again while Phipps and Robbie would like to get into some of the lucrative NFL markets such as Chicago, Baltimore and New Orleans.

The San Diego Chargers are much stronger financially than the Broncos and the Dolphins, but they, too, would like to become intermingled with the NFL.

The Chargers, for example, feel they would have a better rivalry with the Los Angeles Rams than, say, with the Dolphins. Curiously enough, though, Charger fans, in a mail poll, have strongly indicated they prefer the AFL to remain intact.

Those AFL owners who favor the status quo argue that it is important for the league to retain its identity, especially after the New York Jets' Super Bowl victory, and it is important to have the champions of two separate entities clash in the Super Bowl.

The opponents of the status quo contend the merger agreement calls for complete realignment. They point to a paragraph in the agreement which says:

"In connection with such future realignment of the league, factors of geography, natural rivalries, stadium size, gate attendance, weather circumstances, team strength and conflicts with baseball in the use of league stadiums shall all be taken into consideration in such fashion as not to prejudice unfairly any franchise of the realigned league."

The other owners, however, argue the intent of the agreement can be carried out by having interleague games.

FIVE WITH NFL
For example, one plan that's been mentioned would have each AFL team play two games with each team in its division, one game with a team in the other division and five games with NFL teams, making the regular season total of 14.

Depending on how stubborn any one group can be, the issue conceivably could not be resolved at the Palm Spring meetings. Officials have said they will not go past Friday if a decision hasn't been reached by then but rather adjourn to a later date and another place.

Rozelle has said in the past the leagues' structure must be decided by the start of the 1969 season because a television plan would have to be devised and a schedule for the 1970 season would have to be worked out.

As far as television is concerned, CBS has first negotiation rights with the NFL and NBC with the AFL. Both networks most likely want to retain their leagues, but a third TV outlet might move into the picture because Rozelle has been talking of a Monday night schedule, and the networks don't appear to be joyful about that.

The entire television schedule probably will come up for discussion at the meetings, too.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

HC Foe Has Vet Quint

By TOMMY HART

Murray State of Tishomingo, Okla., first round opponent of the HCJC Jayhawks in the National Juco Basketball tournament at Hutchinson, Kan., this week returns virtually its starting lineup from last year with the exception of the 6-7 freshman, Greg Northington, who was dumped in 22 points when the Oklahomaans bombed HC in a practice game here last year, 85-67.

LOU HENSON

Curt Blefary, who'll likely be cleanup for the Houston Astros this season, has never hit in that position before, even in Little League. Blefary should be popular with the Houston fans because he's got a lot of desire. When Athens High School brought its great basketball team here in the early 30's (and lost to the Steers), its mascot was Pete Lammons Sr., whose son became a star end for the University of Texas and the New York Jets.

Gary McDaniel, killed recently by an assassin's bullet, was a fine athlete at Garden City High School. He played football under Bill Richardson and was perhaps the fastest boy on the team. Ever wonder how Fred Davis, a California Negro, wound up playing for Howard Payne College?

He was recruited by Lou Henson, the New Mexico State coach after playing a couple of years of AAU ball. Lou, however, learned that Davis had played a year of junior college ball before moving into AAU circles. Realizing the boy would have but one year of NCAA eligibility at NM State, Henson called coach Glen Whitis of Howard Payne and told him to bring a moving van to Las Cruces. Whitis thought at first that Henson was kidding him when he said, "Do you want the finest basketball player I've ever seen?" Pete Cook, the local official, worked six games in the recent State boys' basketball tournament, including two involving Odessa High. In one contest, he had to eject two boys for fighting.

Jack Hosley, the former HCJC cager, is playing football and baseball for Weber College in Utah. Claude English, who helped the CCSW team win the Region V tournament here last year, is now enrolled at Rhode Island University. Centenary College, Shreveport, La., and Howard Payne College are making overtures to Robert Jackson, the HCJC basketball ace. The Abilene Christian College track book is out and, as usual, it's the best of its kind.

The thing is put together by James Norman Tommy Treadwell, who brought the Lubbock High baseball team here recently, formerly played football with Fran Tarkenton at the University of Georgia. Gene Riley, who recently set a pole vaulting record for ACC by soaring 16-2/4, is a cousin to ACC's former record holder, Billy Pemeton. Garden City has only one football regular back next fall but he is a good one—QB Steven Hirt.

Miles Community College will be the first Montana team ever to play in this week's National JC Basketball tournament at Hutchinson, Kan., while Rhode Island has its first team ever to meet in Johnson and Wales JC College of Business from Providence.

The Oakland Coliseum will have to be re-oriented for the AFL Raiders' three pre-season football games because the Athletics will still be playing baseball there.

During the pre-season the football field will run north and south rather than east and west, as it usually does. Like winner of the NCAA outdoor track and field meet this year is San Jose State, although Kansas could make it close.

USC, the usual titlist, will wind up around sixth, according to informed sources. Two local boys, Joey Baker and Billy Burchett, were vying for positions on the defensive unit when the University of Houston started spring football workouts last Tuesday. Both are sophomores. The Cougars are going to be hit hard by graduation on defense but return eight of their first nine rushers.

All Set For State Bowling Meet

Pictured here are the Bee Gees, a junior bowling team of Big Spring, who recently finished first in a TABY Regional tournament in El Paso to earn a berth in the State finals, which will be held in Corpus Christi April 12-13. The Bee Gees had a score of 2926 at El Paso. TABY is a brainchild of the

Porsche Facing Big Challenge In Race

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—The Porsche sports car racing team from Germany, hoping to shake off a bad luck plague extending back to mid-1968, faces a formidable array of challengers in the 12 Hours of Sebring Endurance Race Saturday.

Ferrari from Italy returns with a pair of new lightweight 12-cylinder buzz bombs and a driving team headed by Mario Andretti and Chris Amon.

The Ford GT40 duo from England that surprised by taking the 1968 manufacturer's championship over Porsche is on hand with improved versions of the same machinery. Jackie Ickx and Jack Oliver are the top drivers.

Alfa-Romeo, the Italian factory with an outstanding bank of drivers headed by John Surtees and Lucien Bianchi, believes it has the bugs out of the so-far disappointing and especially noisy three-liter 733 model aimed as a direct challenge to favored Porsche.

Lola Chevy, armed with new confidence off its unexpected victory in the 24 Hours of Daytona, made some impressive laps in early practice. Mark Donohue, who paired with Chuck Parsons to win the Daytona opener of the 1969 sports car world series, will share Roger Penske's Lola with Ronnie Bucknum.

There will be five factory Porsches, just as there were at Daytona when each unexpectedly dropped out because a small $10 part in the engine failed. A recent 30-hour test indicated that problem was ironed out.

While the same type 3-liter engine will power Porsche, the bodies for the flat 5.2-mile Sebring course will differ greatly from the long-tailed coupes built for Dayton's high banks.

Here Porsche has a model called the Spyder, with an open cockpit and stubby tail with two air spoilers to aid road traction and brakes.

Porsche drivers, as usual, include the best of Germany and a handful of international stars, including Vic Elford, Joe Siffert, Hans Herrmann, Joe Buzzetta and Brian Redman.

In a recent practice session, Siffert turned one lap at an unofficial 114.770 miles an hour in a Porsche and Donohue came right back at 115.910 in a Lola. The official record of 111.832 was set by the late Mike Spence in 1967.

Andretti, admitting the speeds were impressive, said when his Ferrari arrives it will make the other hustle to keep up. He said it has been "posting times equal to Ferrari grand prix cars" in Italian tests and that was with an aluminum body. It is getting an even lighter fiberglass body for the Sebring race, he said.

There won't be any preliminary races this year. All Thursday and Friday attention will be on sports car practice and qualifying. The race starts at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Three Area Boys Included On All-District Quintet

Two Forsan boys—and one representing Garden City were named to the coaches' District 11-B boys' all-star basketball team.

Terry Wooten and Clayton McKinnon were the Forsan players named while Rusty Carter represents Garden City on the first unit.

Coaches, in reality, picked all-opponent teams. No player on either the boys' or girls' contingent was a unanimous choice, although Joy Wood, Water Valley forward, missed by only one vote.

Gloria Dodd of Forsan was named to a first team berth on the girls' team while Belinda McKinnon of Forsan and Judy Ann Halfmann of Garden City were selected as first string guards.

The poll was taken by Garden City officials.

Thoroughbreds Are More Than Beasts, Says Man

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Thoroughbreds are more than animals to Doug Davis Jr., the leading trainer at Oaklawn Park.

"They're individuals with their own ailments and problems. You can train horses up to a certain point then you'd better start recognizing the individual," he said. "There are high-strung ones, balleys and even cowards."

"You've got to watch the horse's over-all personality and train that individual," Davis said. "It's very personal. They have all the juvenile ailments children have," he added, sounding more like a parent than a trainer. "They get respiratory infections. They get hurt their shins and want to scream bloody murder like a little kid that stubbed his toe."

Davis is renowned for his success with 2 year olds and given a choice, he wouldn't handle anything but the young horses. "I like to fool with 2-year-olds," he says. "It gives you a certain satisfaction, taking a roughneck, working hard and six months later producing a real shiny racing machine. You can also depend on 2 year olds more."

"They're like high school athletes," he said. "They'll give a 110 per cent effort. Three-year-olds are like college athletes. They'll give you enough to win, but maybe not 100 per cent. "As the horses get a little older they become pros," he said. "They do what is necessary to hold their job."

Davis says winning is what racing is all about. "Anybody in racing that is not a competitor doesn't have any business in it," he said. "I have a lot of friends in this business, but when we enter the paddock the friendship ceases."

"If I can win and beat you 100 yards I will," he said. "If I can't win I damn sure want to be second and if I can't be second I insist on being third."

Davis said that through March 8 he had started 84 horses and had 27 winners. He had 16 seconds, 15 thirds, eight fourths and seven fifths.

"I've done everything with horses that you can do—show horses, saddle horses. I've played polo, ridden over fences, drove harness horses. My uncle even had the world champion pulling team."

Davis, who says he'll be training horses as long as he's alive, says convincingly that he envies no man. "My work is my hobby," he says. "If I inherited $10 million tomorrow, it wouldn't change my plans for tomorrow."

Padres Likely To Get Better

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Preston Gomez, manager of the new San Diego Padres, is nothing if not realistic about his club's chances. Still, he says, the Padres are not likely to break any of the New York Mets' first year records, either.

"As the year goes by, we should improve," says Gomez. "We should do better than the first year."

The Padres put the accent on youth, players who might be several years away from playing on other major league clubs when they drafted from other teams during the winter.

CLUB IS YOUNG
Their lineup, thus, is nearly free of players with only a few years left to play. Even the veterans are relatively young.

The one place where the Padres are reasonably solid is in the outfield. Gomez says, in fact, that many other clubs have approached San Diego about a trade and admits that one could be made before the opening of the season.

The only one not available for a trade, says Gomez, is Ollie Brown, the big, moody, but potentially great outfielder obtained in the draft from the Giants. Brown, says Gomez, will be the starting rightfielder.

Tony Gonzalez, who hit .339 with Philadelphia in 1967 but fell off last year, is likely to be in left with rookie Clarence Gaston, who has been impressive during the spring, a solid contender for center.

Other outfielders on the club—all with major-league experience—are Larry Stahl, Al Ferrara, Ivan Murrell and Ron Davis.

In the infield, Bill Davis, obtained from Cleveland in the deal that sent Zolto Versailles to the Indians, will play at first. "If he can hit the way we hope he can," says Gomez.

PENA AT SHORTSTOP
Second base is a question mark with Jose Arcia, drafted from the Chicago Cubs, battling with rookies Jerry Davanon and Rafael Robles. Roberto Pena, a .260 hitter with Philadelphia last year, is set at short and Ed Spezio, acquired from St. Louis, is the likely third baseman.

Rookie Danny Eresden is the No. 1 catcher at this point, though 20-year-old Fred Kendall may have the job in a year or two.

Hawks Leave Today For National Tourney

Howard County Junior College's colorful Jayhawks leave today for Hutchinson, Kan., where this week the 1969 national championship of the National Judo Basketball tournament goes up for grabs. HC will be one of two Texas-based teams in the tournament. The other representative of the Lone Star State, San Jacinto, is the defending titlist and the favorite to repeat.

Despite its imposing 29-3 record, HC ranks as a slight underdog to Murray State of Tishomingo, Okla., in its opening test. The two teams come to grips at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The Hawks, who beat Christian College of the Southwest in the finals of the Region V tournament here last week, have an 11-game winning streak going for them. The Big Spring collegians haven't lost since Jan. 31, when they dropped an 89-86 decision to New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell.

Controversy about that particular game is still going on. The officiating was suspect, rabid rooters of the local school insist. Be that as it may, the Hawks avenged the loss in a replay here, then humiliated the Cadets in the Region V tournament.

The Hawks didn't lose a game at home all season. They yielded to Northeastern College of Sterling, Colo., by an 80-78

Padres Play In New Park

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego Stadium, a 50,000-seat multi-purpose arena in Mission Valley, opens its doors to major league baseball next month.

The new San Diego Padres of the National League will be playing in a ballpark once described as "impressive, functional, major league in every respect" by former Baseball Commissioner William C. Eckert.

"We have the finest dual-purpose stadium in the country," says Padre President E.J. "Buzie" Bavasi. "We haven't had a chance to play much baseball in it but I'm certain sure it is one of the finest."

Among the newer facilities in the major leagues, San Diego Stadium cost $27.75 million to build after gaining 72 per cent voter approval in 1965.

The stadium was completed in time for use in 1967 by the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League. The then minor league Padre baseball team switched to the stadium last season.

An architect has called the stadium a "supercircle" something between a circle and a rectangle.

"As a result," the architect says, "people coming to San Diego Stadium will be much closer to the action, be it football or baseball."

Baseball fans will be only 60 feet behind home plate in the lower box seats. The distance from the farthest seat in the stadium to a foul line is only 227 feet.

Five rainbow colored tiers of seats surround the playing field, except in right field, where a $1 million scoreboard, with animation capability, is located.

Lighting in the stadium is considered excellent. Uniquely absent are the normal light standards. The stadium is crowned by a $1 million ring of 35 concrete light bays.

The stadium also has futuristic-looking spiral walkways, escalators and elevators. City officials said two years ago that the $78,000 landscaping budget provided more trees and plants than any other sports stadium in the country.

The 17-foot concrete fences are uniformly 350 feet from home plate in right and left fields and 420 feet in center.

Padre Manager Preston Gomez plans to field a youthful team emphasizing speed to take advantage of the stadium dimensions.

The ballpark favors line-drive hitters who may be able to stretch more doubles into triples when they hammer the ball between outfielders.

Waiter, Grid Star Are One And The Same

NEW YORK (AP) — Diners at the swank 21 Club in mid-Manhattan frequently stop for a double take when they see a broad-shouldered young man in a steward's jacket hustling platters and helping pop champagne corks for the customers.

"Hey, haven't I seen that guy before?" a patron inquires of a companion.

"Probably," the friend replies. "That's Pete Gogolak. He kicks field goals for the Giants."

If the curious gourmets stayed around longer, they might see the former Cornell football star setting fire with brandy to a pan of lobster in the kitchen under the eye of head chef Tony Predetti, pinching a hunk of beef with head steward Ed Quigley or going over the books upstairs with co-owner Pete Krienderer.

"I TOOK A POST-GRADUATE COURSE in hotel management at Cornell," Gogolak explained. "I like it. I expect to be playing football for quite a few years more, but when I call it quits I think I'd like to get in the restaurant business."

Gogolak, whose salary with the Giants is believed to be between $35,000 and $40,000, is doing the most menial tasks for the most modest of paychecks at the 32nd Street bistro.

"I warned Pete he would have to start at the bottom and work his head off," Krienderer said. "I go to football games, but I'm not a real fan. We wouldn't hire anybody just because of his name. But I was really impressed with this kid. He's eager to learn."

Gogolak is one of two brothers whose parents whisked them out of their Hungarian homeland after the unsuccessful 1956 revolution and who later made names for themselves as soccer-style placekickers.

Pete, 26, was the first to succeed with the unorthodox style of approaching the ball from the side and booting it with the inside instead of the toe. His brother, Charlie, who played at Princeton, is now the placekicking specialist for the Washington Redskins.

"THE ONLY WAY"
Although the Gogolak brothers and Norwegian Jan Stenerud of the Kansas City Chiefs are the only soccer-style kickers in pro football, Pete believes it is the only way to put the ball through the uprights.

"I think you can kick it farther and you have much more control since you use a greater area of the foot," Gogolak said. "A lot of high school kids are trying it now. I think the trend will be toward soccer-style kickers."

Pete led the Giants' scoring last season with 14 of 24 field goals and 3 extra points with a miss for a total of 78. Charlie had nine field goals and 30 extra points to top the Redskins scoring.

The placekicking job is one of the most specialized and softest — as well as most important — in pro football. The placekicker is in the game no more than a couple of minutes altogether. He seldom gets hit. He seldom has to hit.

Aren't the other guys a little resentful of such a gravy train?

"Oh, we get kidded quite a bit," Pete said, donning an apron and getting ready for another shift. "But when those three points go on the board, the other fellows like it. After all, it's more than half of the scoring."

Fem Golfers Play Tuesday

Golfers in the Permian Golf Play Day Association gather at the Big Spring Country Club Tuesday for a round of activity and lunch.

If the size of the field permits, prizes will be awarded to those achieving low gross, low net and the least number of putts in each flight.

All women of the club are being urged to take part in the play and help greet incoming players.

Entries are expected from Midland, Odessa, Andrews and Gaines County.

MEET CALLED OFF Kelley Shatters Own 440 Record

ODESSA — The West Texas Relays were cancelled Saturday due to snow and freezing weather.

Officials said no attempt would be made to reschedule the event because of prior commitments made by the competing teams.

In preliminaries Friday, both HCJC and Big Spring High School entries did well although neither team scored a point in any of the final events held.

Charles Copeland, William Fogle and Ronald Choice of HCJC qualified in the junior college division of the 100-yard dash.

Fogle and his team-mate, James Irving, made it to the finals in the 440-yard run.

In the 220-yard prelims Choice was among the qualifiers.

Gary Kelley of Big Spring had a 50.1 in the Division I high school 440-yard run preliminaries.

Kelley broke his own record. He covered the distance in 50.6 here last year.

Seven records were broken in the meet Friday.

New Mexico Junior College was leading the junior college division with 28 points, followed by NMJC, with 14, when the end came.

In Division I of the high school competition, Amarillo Palo Duro was out front with 18 points, followed by Odessa Ector, which had 15, and San Angelo, with six.

Charles Rodriguez then powered home Martinez with a one-baser and Hutto brought in Hinds with a single.

Four Girls Are Qualified For Powder Puff Event

SUNLAND PARK — Four girls qualified for Sunland Park's upcoming Powder Puff Derby by passing a "starting-gate" test this week.

The dry run caused considerable interest around Sunland Park, drew a crowd of onlookers to both the paddock and backstretch, and even caused a 10-minute interruption in the racing office.

When the four girls mounted up in the paddock and began filling onto the track the trainers and owners in the racing office came out to watch the girl riders in action. At the time of the practice run, racing secretary A. C. Kemp and his staff were busy taking entries for Saturday's races.

Starter Dean Turpitt launched the four-horse field from the half-mile pole, and each of the girls — although admittedly a bit nervous — broke cleanly from the gate and raced down to the wire in a driving finish.

Detective Sues Cop Department After Reprimand

CHICAGO (AP) — Detective Jack Muller sued the Chicago police department Thursday, charging it violated his free speech by reprimanding him for statements he made on a television program.

Muller, the center of numerous controversies over the last 10 years, charged in the federal court suit that a rule forbidding policemen from criticizing the department was unconstitutional.

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet military newspaper said today that U.S. hawks favoring a new escalation of the Vietnam war might be encouraged by the current Soviet-Chinese dispute. But it maintained that America should not think it can win the war.

Aging Panel Organized

A Howard County Committee on Aging has been organized here with Mrs. William R. Cashion as chairman.

Purpose of the organization will be to the varying needs of elderly people; to seek to provide services and activities which will help serve these needs; and to alert the public to be involved in creating conditions which will make old age a fruitful time of life.

The committee said that it wanted to get responses from people in this area who are interested in this sort of ministry; to get suggestions of what might be done to make the latter years meaningful and as pleasant as possible for the elderly.

Those who have ideas on the subject are urged to write to Mrs. Catherine Crawford, Howard County Home Demonstration agent, at PO Box 121, Big Spring, 79720.

In convoking the committee, County Judge Lee Porter pointed out that there are now 3,500 people in Howard County who have reached retirement age. The number is increasing steadily.

Among those taking part in the initial meeting were Jack Powell, VA Hospital manager, Mrs. Jewel Hyer, B. M. Keese, Mrs. Mary Cochran, Mrs. W. A. Hunt, Miss Bessie Love, Harold Canning, Judge Porter, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Cashion.

SAIGON (AP) — Despite a warning from President Nixon the enemy sent seven rockets slamming into Saigon and its environs early Sunday but they caused relatively little damage.

First reports could account for only one wounded, a guard at a warehouse, despite the fact authorities said some of the rockets struck in populated areas.

Three of the rockets hit a Shell petroleum dump at Nah Be, five miles from downtown Saigon and caused a big fire. The flames were brought under control within an hour.

It was the fifth rocket attack on Saigon since the enemy offensive began Feb. 29, but the others killed a total of 52 South Vietnamese and wounded 148.

Only Friday Nixon recalled at a news conference that he had said March 4 there would be an appropriate response for enemy shellings of Saigon and other civilian centers.

"It will be my policy as President to issue a warning only once, and I will not repeat it now," he said. "Anything in the future that is done will be done. There will be no additional warning."

Edgy Saigon had expected a rocket attack, and a ranking U.S. officer said: "We all knew it was coming tonight. Now we'll just have to wait and see what happens."

A military spokesman said: "It was just a miracle these things didn't cause more damage tonight. They don't have any real control over those things. If just one had landed a few yards one way or the other the results could have been tragic."

That was because one hit in the shantytown 9th Precinct across the river from downtown Saigon and two others struck the teeming 4th Precinct on the south side, which took heavy casualties in the previous attacks. The other rocket landed harmlessly in the Saigon River.

"Despite the low casualty figure," an officer said, "it goes into our records as another indiscriminate attack on a population center."

When the first blast rocked the city at 2:32 a.m. untold numbers of people were awakened and took what shelter they could—some in home bunkers and others in concrete buildings. Most people could only sit and wait.

The rockets were fired from the nearby warrens and pad-y fields east of Saigon.

Only Saturday the enemy had launched the most intense shelling of the current offensive, firing rocket or mortar barrages at 70 bases and towns throughout South Vietnam. They followed this up with two ground attacks on the approaches to Saigon.

Enemy forces tried to overrun two bases manned by the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and South Vietnamese paratroopers 37 and 45 miles northwest of Saigon on one of the main invasion routes to the capital.

Supported by artillery and fighter-bombers, the allies beat off both attacks.

U.S. spokesman said 40 enemy soldiers were killed in the two engagements, four prisoners were captured and 28 weapons, including a flame thrower, were seized.

One U.S. soldier was wounded, and the South Vietnamese reported one killed and several wounded.

To conserve manpower, the enemy so far has relied largely on the shelling to inflict a maximum number of casualties on Americans and has avoided large-scale ground attacks. Superior firepower from allied artillery, fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships make ground attacks costly.

With this weekend, however, U.S. officers expect something bigger, for the moon is dark and that allows the enemy command to move its troops and launch attacks without feeling the full fury of allied firepower.

The main enemy effort is still expected to be directed at Saigon, although the capital has been hit so far only by rockets fired from a distance.

In related reports, the U.S. Command said 60 enemy soldiers were killed late Friday in Mekong Delta areas south of Saigon by ground troops supported by helicopter gunships.

U.S. 9th Infantry Division troops reported 24 were killed about 30 miles south of the capital. U.S. casualties were three wounded.

Deeper in the delta, South Vietnamese ground forces aided by U.S. Army helicopters reported they killed 36. Spoken- men said 30 South Vietnamese casualties were reported and U.S. casualties again were three wounded.

While allied forces pushed operations in efforts to counter the new offensive, U.S. Air Force B52 bombers carried out eight more strikes.

Most of them centered in provinces around Saigon with targets again listed as troop concentrations, base camps, bunkers, weapons positions, storage and staging areas. The closest strike to Saigon was 22 miles northwest of the capital.

U.S. headquarters reported the loss of an Air Force F100 fighter-bomber and a Marine helicopter in separate actions Friday.

The fighter-bomber was shot down 19 miles southeast of Dak To in the central highlands. The pilot was wounded but was rescued. It was the 348th plane lost in combat in South Vietnam.

The Marine helicopter was shot down by a rocket-propelled grenade as it was evacuating wounded from two days of fighting near the demilitarized zone separating the Vietnams. Three Marines were wounded. This raised to 2,431 the number of U.S. helicopters lost in the war.

Big Political Battle Shapes Up Over Antipoverty Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major political battle between the Nixon administration and Congress is shaping up over the future of the Office of Economic Opportunity and its antipoverty programs.

President Nixon's plan to peel off the popular Head Start program and the Job Corps from OEO and leave it with little more than the controversial community action programs faces strong resistance in the House Education and Labor Committee, which is responsible for the legislation.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., sees the move as a politically inspired decision aimed at killing the OEO but putting the onus on Congress.

He is convinced the House would never pass a bill prolonging the OEO if the only program left in its jurisdiction was community action.

"We're going to put Head Start and the Job Corps back in the OEO," he said in an interview. "And we're going to repeal the provision giving the President authority to make transfers out of the OEO without congressional approval."

Perkins is counting on the support of nearly all the Democrats on his committee and thinks he can bring such a bill to the floor.

There the fate of the OEO will probably be determined by the extent to which southern Democrats join up with the Republicans. With a Republican President in the White House and the GOP gathering strength in the South, the southern Democrats might not be quite as willing as in the past to team up in a coalition with their party rivals.

Except for declaring his intention to move Head Start and Job Corps out of the OEO, Nixon has not disclosed his over-all plans for carrying on the campaign against poverty launched by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

But Democrats in Capitol Hill report hearing from OEO officials that the administration is planning to cut down sharply on Job Corps operation.

A proposal reportedly has been prepared in the Labor Department to shut down 22 Job Corps centers at a saving of $54 million. Some $12 million of that would be put back into a new program of job skill centers in slum areas. The plan is said to be awaiting Nixon's approval now.

The struggle over the future of OEO should come out into the open in the Education and Labor Committee when Congress comes back from its Easter recess in mid-April.

'BRING A RAKE' Newcomers To Help Cleanup Campaign

"Bring a rake," some newcomers were told when they asked what they should bring to the cleanup day program March 29 at the old "big spring."

Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Torp, who have lived here less than a year, plan to be on hand to donate one hour toward getting the spring cleanup effort off to a good start. The program is being sponsored by the Garden Club Council and the big spring development committee.

All volunteers are urged to be on hand from 9-10 a.m., and considerable enthusiasm for the project is being shown.

Patrolman Held In Wife's Death

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Wallace Pientl, an eight-year veteran of the Texas Highway Patrol, was charged with murder Saturday in the death of his wife, Janice, 32.

Pientl was arrested last Saturday as he returned from his wife's funeral.

The complaint against Pientl was filed by Texas Ranger Capt. Clint Peoples of Waco in the court of Justice of the Peace C. W. Turner.

Vietnam, Sentinel System Issues Provide Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battle lines between President Nixon and top Senate Democrats are becoming clear with two issues providing conflict: Vietnam and the decision to deploy a revised Sentinel antiballistic missile defense system.

Eight weeks after Nixon took office, Senate war critics have stepped up their criticism of the lack of progress towards a settlement of the Vietnam conflict. This is virtually certain to increase in coming weeks as others speak out.

And the chief executive's announcement Friday that he plans to scale down the ABM and move it away from the cities appears to have made little dent in the solid opposition of the Senate's major prominent Democrats.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who has been virtually silent since the start of the year, was out with criticism of Nixon's decision even before the chief executive's news conference was over.

McCarthy was followed, before the day was out, by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., in the renewal of a battle quite likely to be fought on two levels; in Congress, where funds will be sought, and in the country at large.

Thus Nixon might well win his fight for funding of the revised Sentinel system—the outcome will not be clear for some time—but at the same time come under the same heavy criticism as former President Lyndon B. Johnson felt on Vietnam.

As for the war, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, broke the silence of congressional doves with sharp ly critical comments on Nixon's course.

Nixon, asked about the war at his news conference, gave one reply in particular which may form the basis for conflict with the war's Senate opponents.

Asked about the recent Communist offensive, and the possibility of some sort of U.S. retaliation, Nixon said, "Any escalation of the war in Vietnam has been the responsibility of the enemy."

But Fulbright and others say that what really happened is that U.S. escalation on the ground after last October's bombing halt forced the enemy offensive.

Nixon said intelligence information is that the Communists have been planning the current offensive for six months.

But the offensive did not begin until after Nixon took office, time enough, some critics contend, for the enemy to see that the new administration intended to continue stepped-up ground action.

Webb surveys indicate that a number of military families have been unable to find suitable accommodations, and that some increase in demand might be expected. Student officer classes have been expanding, and the junior officers in these classes particularly have been encountering housing problems. The Base surveys indicate a sizable waiting list, at the Webb housing referral office.

This is the office to which most new military arrivals go for reference, and military leaders are hoping better liaison can be established between this service and those in the community having rental properties.

Rental Meet Set Monday

A discussion on the rental-housing situation in the city, as it relates to Webb Air Force Base personnel, is scheduled for Monday evening at the Base Officers Club beginning at 7:30.

The meeting is open, and all interested persons, particularly realtors and those having property for rent, are urged to attend.

Jeff Brown and Col. Donald Jones, co-chairmen of the Housing-Commercial Committee of the Base-Community Council, will direct the session, and stressed that full discussion will be welcomed.

Webb surveys indicate that a number of military families have been unable to find suitable accommodations, and that some increase in demand might be expected.

This is the office to which most new military arrivals go for reference, and military leaders are hoping better liaison can be established between this service and those in the community having rental properties.

Nixon Stand On Missile Force Comes As Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration probably will refrain from adding to the U.S. offensive missile force unless arms control talks with the Soviets should fail, sources said Saturday.

This comes as something of a surprise in the light of President Nixon's campaign charges that previous administrations had created "a gravely serious security gap."

Nixon's security planners believe that moves to build up American land-based or submarine-based missile strength would spoil chances of getting agreement with the Russians on limiting nuclear weapons.

Instead, the new administration's approach is to increase the survivability of the present land-based retaliatory force of 1,654 intercontinental ballistic missiles and 646 bombers.

The aim is to insure that enough hydrogen warheads would get through to inflict unacceptable civilian casualties on the Russians—and to make sure the Russians know this, so they will be deterred from any notion of surprise attack.

The present calculation is that about 300 hydrogen warheads, targeted on Soviet populated communities, would be enough to do this. That represents only a fraction of the 4,200 nuclear warheads arrayed in U.S. ICBMs, 41 Polaris submarines and strategic bombers.

Nixon has chosen to reinforce the survivability of the deterrent force by installing antimissile batteries and radar to shield U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile launch bases from knock-out by Soviet attack.

Also in the plan is the superhardening of Minuteman ICBM underground launch silos to protect them further against shock and blast from enemy warheads.

The Sentinel ABM system's radars facing seaward would also give added warning time in event of a Soviet submarine-launched missile attack, so that U.S. bombers would have a better chance of getting off the ground and escaping destruction.

Fitting in with this concept is over-the-horizon radar which would give alarm against a fractional orbital bomb strike.

It is considered impossible to save the U.S. population from staggering losses if the Soviets launch a massive missile attack on cities. The experts calculate that even a 2 per cent leakage in U.S. missile defenses would result in millions of U.S. civilian deaths.

However, they said the ICBM defenses can stand such a leakage because of the relatively small percentage of U.S. warheads that would be needed to survive an enemy first strike and still hit back at Russian cities.

The basic philosophy of the new administration in terms of the nuclear deterrent was indicated in Nixon's announcement Friday that he had approved a

There's more to Volkswagen economy than 27 mpg.

It's only the beginning. Volkswagens take pints, not quarts, at oil changes. And average 40,000 miles to a set of tires. You can skip the expense of anti-freeze and broken water hoses, too. VWs are air-cooled. Then there's something you may not give much thought to right away. Depreciation. Give it some thought. VWs don't change every year like domestic cars. So you can sell a 2-year-old Volkswagen for more money than some domestic cars that cost more new. Even if you kept it as long as 5 years, you'd still sell it for more than you'd get for that domestic car. So anybody who tells you how much money VWs save you on gas isn't telling you the whole truth.

Even Sponsor Opposes 'Back To Africa' Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring they are Americans "win or lose," five Negro congressmen have given a cold reception to a bill which would provide government financing for members of their race to resettle in Africa.

Those who commented Friday indicated opposition to the proposal, and two of them told of rejecting requests that they introduce similar legislation.

"Win or lose we are part of this country," said Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., the first Negro woman elected to Congress.

"Despite problems, America is part of our heritage." Even the sponsor of the measure, Rep. Robert Nix, a Negro Democrat from Philadelphia, said he is opposed to the bill and sponsored it at the request of a constituent.

He said it came from a "black American" who calls himself Mustapha Hashim, head of a Philadelphia group known as the Repatriation Committee. The bill would have the U.S. government provide transportation, land in Africa, health care and up to $7,000 per year income until resettlement for Negroes who wish to surrender their U.S. citizenship.

"I don't anticipate any rush to my door for this sort of thing," Nix said, but he does plan to ask for a Judiciary Committee hearing on the proposal.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., poked fun at the proposal during a news conference.

"The whole business about a return to Africa," said Powell, "if you went to the organization sponsoring it, you wouldn't find anyone there wanting to go."

Rep. Bill Clay, D-Mo., said he strongly opposes any back-to-Africa movement.

"We are American citizens,"

Clay said, "and I will work to improve the condition of black people in this country. Anyone who wants to leave may do so at his own wishes — and expense."

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, said he was contacted by the same person who got Nix to introduce the bill and also rejected the plan. Stokes declined comment directly on the bill but said he opposes such movements.

The other Negro congressmen, William Dawson, D-Ill., Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., and John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., were not available for comment.

Community Unit Has Law Program

STANTON (SC) — The Martin-Glasscock Community Center held its third community informational meeting recently.

Honor Degrees OK'd At HS-U

ABILENE — Hardin-Simmons University trustees Friday recommended the awarding of three honorary doctor's degrees at spring commencement, May 26.

Recipients, all H-SU graduates, will include John Earl Seelig, assistant to the president at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth; the Rev. William David Ray, pastor of the large First Baptist Church of Lubbock; and Clyde E. Smith, superintendent of the Bexar County School System.

W. Marvin Watson, former United States postmaster general, will be the speaker.

Judge Orders Limited News Coverage For Durbin Trial

BURNET, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge Jack Miller granted motions Friday limiting news coverage of Clyde Durbin Jr.'s trial in the slaying of a University of Texas coed.

Durbin, 31, of Dallas, is accused in the murder of Ketha Morris, 19, of White Deer on Jan. 8. He is also accused in Travis County in the slaying of John Albert White, 21, of Corpus Christi, a UT junior. White, whose body was found Jan. 8, was Miss Morris' date for a picnic.

Judge Miller banned picture taking of Durbin in or near the courtroom during pre-trial or trial. He also forbade pictures of Durbin as he is taken to and from the jail across the street from the courthouse.

Officers, witnesses, court attendants and lawyers on both sides were ordered to make no comment to newsmen, but the judge refused to order newsmen not to publish or broadcast evidence in the case.

Durbin sat impassively near the lawyers' table as defense attorney Frank Maloney put on witnesses from news media in support of his motion to move the trial to Travis County on the ground that pre-trial publicity has made it impossible to get an impartial jury from Burnet County's small population.

During a six-hour period an Austin radio station news director read into the record 175 broadcast scripts. Jim Ray of KNOW was asked by Maloney at one point to repeat one broadcast in which Travis County Sheriff T. O. Lang reportedly said, "We may have a maniac on our hands."

Ray was followed to the stand by Dick Pickens, KNOW technical director, who testified about the extent of his radio station's penetration into Burnet and adjacent counties.

Bill O'Connell, news director for KOKE, was reading bits and pieces of approximately 200 radio scripts covering the case when Judge Miller recessed the court at 10 p.m.

Testimony on the change of venue motion was to resume today and is expected to extend into next Tuesday. Several other newsmen have been called in the case.

While Durbin sat with his chin pulled in and his eyes frequently moving from side to side under a motionless brow, the dead girl's father sat within 15 feet in the jury box. Miss Morris' father, John Morris, is superintendent of schools in White Deer.

Rejected during the session was a motion by Maloney to exclude Travis County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith from the courtroom and order Burnet County Dist. Atty. Louis Crump "to take the lead" in the prosecution of the case.

Judge Miller said he would hear arguments in his chambers on defense attorney Maloney's motion to suppress certain evidence at the trial, conceding that the subject matter may be "extremely prejudicial to our efforts to secure a jury."

Schools Closed

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton schools were closed Friday because of the excessive number of students absent from school because of illness. A total of 150 students were reported absent Wednesday, according to Russell McMeans, superintendent. He said classes would resume on Monday.

AF Junior Officers Plan Conference

The first Air Training Command Junior Officer Council (JOC) conference is scheduled to be held at Webb AFB, beginning March 28. The three-day conference will bring about 35 representatives from each ATC base to Webb.

"The conference," according to Col. Robert L. Bennett, ATC deputy chief of staff for Personnel, "will provide discussion of personnel policies, procedures and programs as they relate to officer retention. U. S. Air Force and ATC headquarters personnel will present briefings and seminar sessions. According to Capt. Richard Rossmiller, Webb JOC local chairman, problems between junior officers and the Air Force will be considered and the results forwarded to Lt. Gen. Samuel Maddux, ATC commander.

Such conferences have been held in other commands, and ATC planned what is hoped will become an annual conference. Webb officers requested the base be selected for the first meeting. It will move to other ATC bases in successive years.

Representing Webb at the conference will be Capt. William Hodley and Capt. Robert Lawrence. Other Webb officers will serve as sponsors. Plans call for conferences, panel discussions, a banquet and a special evening at Richard Anderson's Muleshoe Ranch. The program opens with a welcome breakfast, and include a briefing by representatives of the Military Personnel Center, Randolph AFB.

Three conferences during the day will concern problems gathered from the various bases. Webb will suggest changes in the Officer Effectiveness Report, and upgrading T-37 instructor pilots to T-38 status.

A banquet that evening in the Webb Officers' Open Mess, will have Brig. Gen. Ernest T. Cragg, ATC deputy chief of staff for Operations, as guest speaker. Officers of the Air Force Association and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce will be guests.

Conference panels will meet the following morning to organize results of the conference, to be presented to command representative at Withycombe Hall during the afternoon. One command representative is Col. Charles W. Johnstone, command executive officer, headquarters ATC, Randolph AFB.

Saturday evening, the conferees will move from business to entertainment as the chamber of commerce will treat the officers and guests to a barbecue at the Anderson Ranch.

Entertainment includes a junior rodeo, in which youngsters will demonstrate barrel racing and cattle roping, a square dance demonstration, and a question-and-answer period on ranching by Anderson is planned.

Webb officers who had an active role in planning, include: 2nd Lt. Charles K. Kenamond, 2nd Lt. Paul R. Procaccini, Capt. Douglas Allen, Capt. William Oberlin and 2nd Lt. Thomas Travis.

Convention Call

By JO BRIGHT

PICTURED HERE this week during a planning session for the convention are Mrs. Gerald Fugitt, district secretary; and Mrs. George Churchill, district treasurer. They will be among the many out-of-town club women arriving in Big Spring Friday.

Club women from over 20 cities will gather in Big Spring Friday and Saturday for the twenty-third annual convention of the Western District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. The convention call was issued by Mrs. Richmond Dublin of Odessa, district president, and among the honored guests will be Mrs. Henry F. Shaper of San Antonio, state president.

The convention is being hosted by the seven local federated clubs, including the 1948 Hyperion Club, 1905 Hyperion Club, Woman's Forum, Modern Woman's Forum, Big Spring Progressive Forum, Junior Woman's Forum and the Spoudazio Fora Study Club.

Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr. is general chairman, and working with her will be Mrs. W. N. Norred, assistant chairman, and Mrs. Jerry Barron, junior club chairman. Others in key positions are Mrs. Clyde Angel, president's page; Mrs. R. J. Ream, registrar; Mrs. Merle Stewart, registration; Mrs.

H. W. Smith, exhibits; Mrs. Hugh Duncan, doorkeeper; Mrs. L. B. Maulden, transportation, Mrs. Lloyd Wasson, hospitality; Mrs. Rogers Hefley, platform and house; Mrs. Harwood Keith, credentials; and Mrs. Roy Cederburg, pages.

An innovation will be what Mrs. Dublin terms "no dull reports — just fine, informative programs." The programs will be presented by all eight departments in the federation structure, from fine arts and education to home life and international affairs. Highlighting the Friday evening dinner will be an address by Dr. Munos Monola of Valencia, Spain.

Mrs. Shaper, TFWC president, will present her message at the concluding luncheon on Saturday. Convention headquarters will be the Holiday Inn with the business sessions and Friday dinner scheduled at Big Spring Senior High School. The activities will begin Friday with an executive board luncheon at Holiday Inn.

PINK PAPER POSIES will bloom abundantly on dining tables when convention delegates are entertained here next weekend. Most of the pretty flowers were created by Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr., left, general chairman for the convention. With her are Mrs. Jerry Barron, Junior Woman's Club chairman, and Mrs. W. N. Norred, assistant convention chairman.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Brown and white and polka dots were some of the outstanding colors and designs, and pants, with tunic dress that could be worn alone, or pants with pleats and flared bottom, were shown for women who accompanied their husbands to San Antonio to attend the convention of the Wholesale Beer Distributors of Texas.

MRS. DON BOHANNON and MRS. CLIFF PROFFITT were among the many women at the luncheon-style show put on by Frost's, Inc., with the New York designer doing the commentary . . . (to Mrs. Bohannon's disgust she can't remember his name).

In the particular line shown, most all dresses had matching long pants. The most cleverly-designed pants were some that were pleated somewhere between the hip and knees. Others were flared or bell bottomed. The dresses were a tunic type that could be worn alone . . . Of course the hemline is somewhat higher than older folks wear them. The outfits were shown in cotton, crepes and other soft materials . . . but few dresses were shown that didn't include pants.

One of the finest things to see when visiting in Sarasota, Fla., I'm told, are the Ringling Museums which are among the foremost cultural centers in southeastern United States. When the JOHN DAVISES were making their recent "Trailer Tour," which included the southern states and Florida's lower west coast, they took the occasion to visit the museums.

The museums consist of the Museum of Art, famed for its outstanding collection of Baroque art, the Asolo Theater, only original 18th Century theater in America, the Ringling residence "Ca'd'Zan," a $1,500,000 Venetian Gothic palazzo, and the Ringling Museum of the Circus, the first museum dedicated to the history of the circus.

The 65 acres of tropically landscaped Florida, was a gift to the state from John Ringling.

After visiting in the homes of MR. and MRS. FRIEND TALBOTT and MR. and MRS. PAUL SOLDAN, their relatives, the E. B. JEWELS, left Friday for their home in Chester, Neb.

MR. and MRS. C. E. SUGGS are visiting this weekend in Dallas with Bobby and his family and will go on to Houston to visit James and his group.

Happy to know of the arrival of a son to MR. and MRS. PHIL PUCKETT who live in Houston. The baby arrived on March 9 and is the grandson of MR. and MRS. OLEN PUCKETT.

MR. and MRS. E. B. COMPTON have been visiting in El Paso with their son, BENNIE, his wife and their daughter, Alicia.

MRS. HARVEY ADAMS underwent surgery Wednesday in Gaston Episcopal Hospital in Dallas and is reported to be making good progress . . . MRS. LEE WARREN is a patient in M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

Miss Helen Ewing Hostess At Dinner

Miss Helen Ewing entertained 34 members and four guests of the Mary Martha Sunday school class, Wesley United Methodist Church, Friday with a dinner at Holiday Inn. The invocation was by Mrs. R. O. Browder, and Mrs. Ellery Phillips gave the devotion. The class will assist the church in presenting a gift to the Rev. Tom Strother, who is transferring to Odessa.

MRS. JAMES CHAPMAN JONES II

Candise Carter Married To James Chapman Jones II

Miss Candise Carter became the bride of James Chapman Jones II in a candlelight ceremony held Saturday evening in the Western Heights Christian Church at Garland.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Carter, 101 W. Ave. C, Garland, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Jones, 1407 E. 19th, Big Spring.

The Rev. Roy Tomlinson performed the double ring nuptial service before an altar enhanced with branched candelabra holding white tapers and entwined with greenery.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of silk imported dotted Swiss trimmed with lace daisies, and the daisy motif was repeated on the border of her chapel-length train. Her veil of silk illusion was topped by a crown of daisies and seed pearl hearts. She carried a bouquet of gardenia and daisies tied with satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Cindy Carter attended her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Perry and Miss Karen Hill. They wore formal-length gowns of pale yellow designed with daisies edging the short trains. Each carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies.

Ray Tollett of Big Spring served as best man, and groomsmen were Sammy Jones, brother of the bridegroom, and Dennis Knopp, both of Big Spring. Ushers were Roger Terry, Big Spring, and Jack Gardner, Fort Worth.

A prelude of traditional wedding selections was presented by Mrs. Clodius Hill, organist, and Johnnie Bragg who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Marcia Schulgen registered guests. Miss Kay Reynolds and Miss Becky Polchinski served the wedding cake and Miss Georgia Ann Chamberlain and Miss Nan Chamberlain presided at the punch service during a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride, a 1967 honor graduate of Garland High School, is attending East Texas State University where she is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. The bridegroom was graduated from Big Spring Senior High School in 1966 and is now a pre-law major at East Texas State University.

The couple is delaying a wedding trip until spring holidays when they will travel to New Orleans, La. They will reside in Commerce while continuing their studies.

REHEARSAL DINNER
Parents of the bridegroom

hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening in the Garden Room of Wyatt's Cafeteria in Garland. Members of the wedding party and immediate family were seated at a table centered with a mixed spring bouquet. The couple presented gifts to their attendants.

Election Held For Altrusa Officers

Mrs. G. C. Broughton Jr. was named president of the Altrusa Club during a Wednesday luncheon at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Broughton will be installed in July, along with her fellow officers, Mrs. Roy H. Black, vice president; Mrs. Homer Petty, recording secretary; Mrs. Ethel Stockton, corresponding secretary; Miss Ilene Barnett, treasurer; and Mrs. W. H. Kay, trustee.

Mrs. Milton Knowles, past president, presided. The next meeting will be March 27 at Coker's Restaurant.

Effects Of Environment Described By Speaker

"We're not primarily put on this earth to see through one another, but to see one another through," was the thought presented by Mrs. E. B. Low at Tuesday's meeting of Lees Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. J. J. Overton was hostess.

Mrs. James Elland, Glasscock County Home Demonstration agent, gave the program on "The Effects of Environment on Daily Lives", and she listed 15 examples of environmental differences. Some of them were physical, social, economical, governmental and geographical.

Mrs. Bennie Blizzard and Mrs. Low will attend the Texas Home Demonstration Association district meeting in Kermit on March 13 at the First Baptist Church. Members made plans to sell birthday calendars as a fund-raising project.

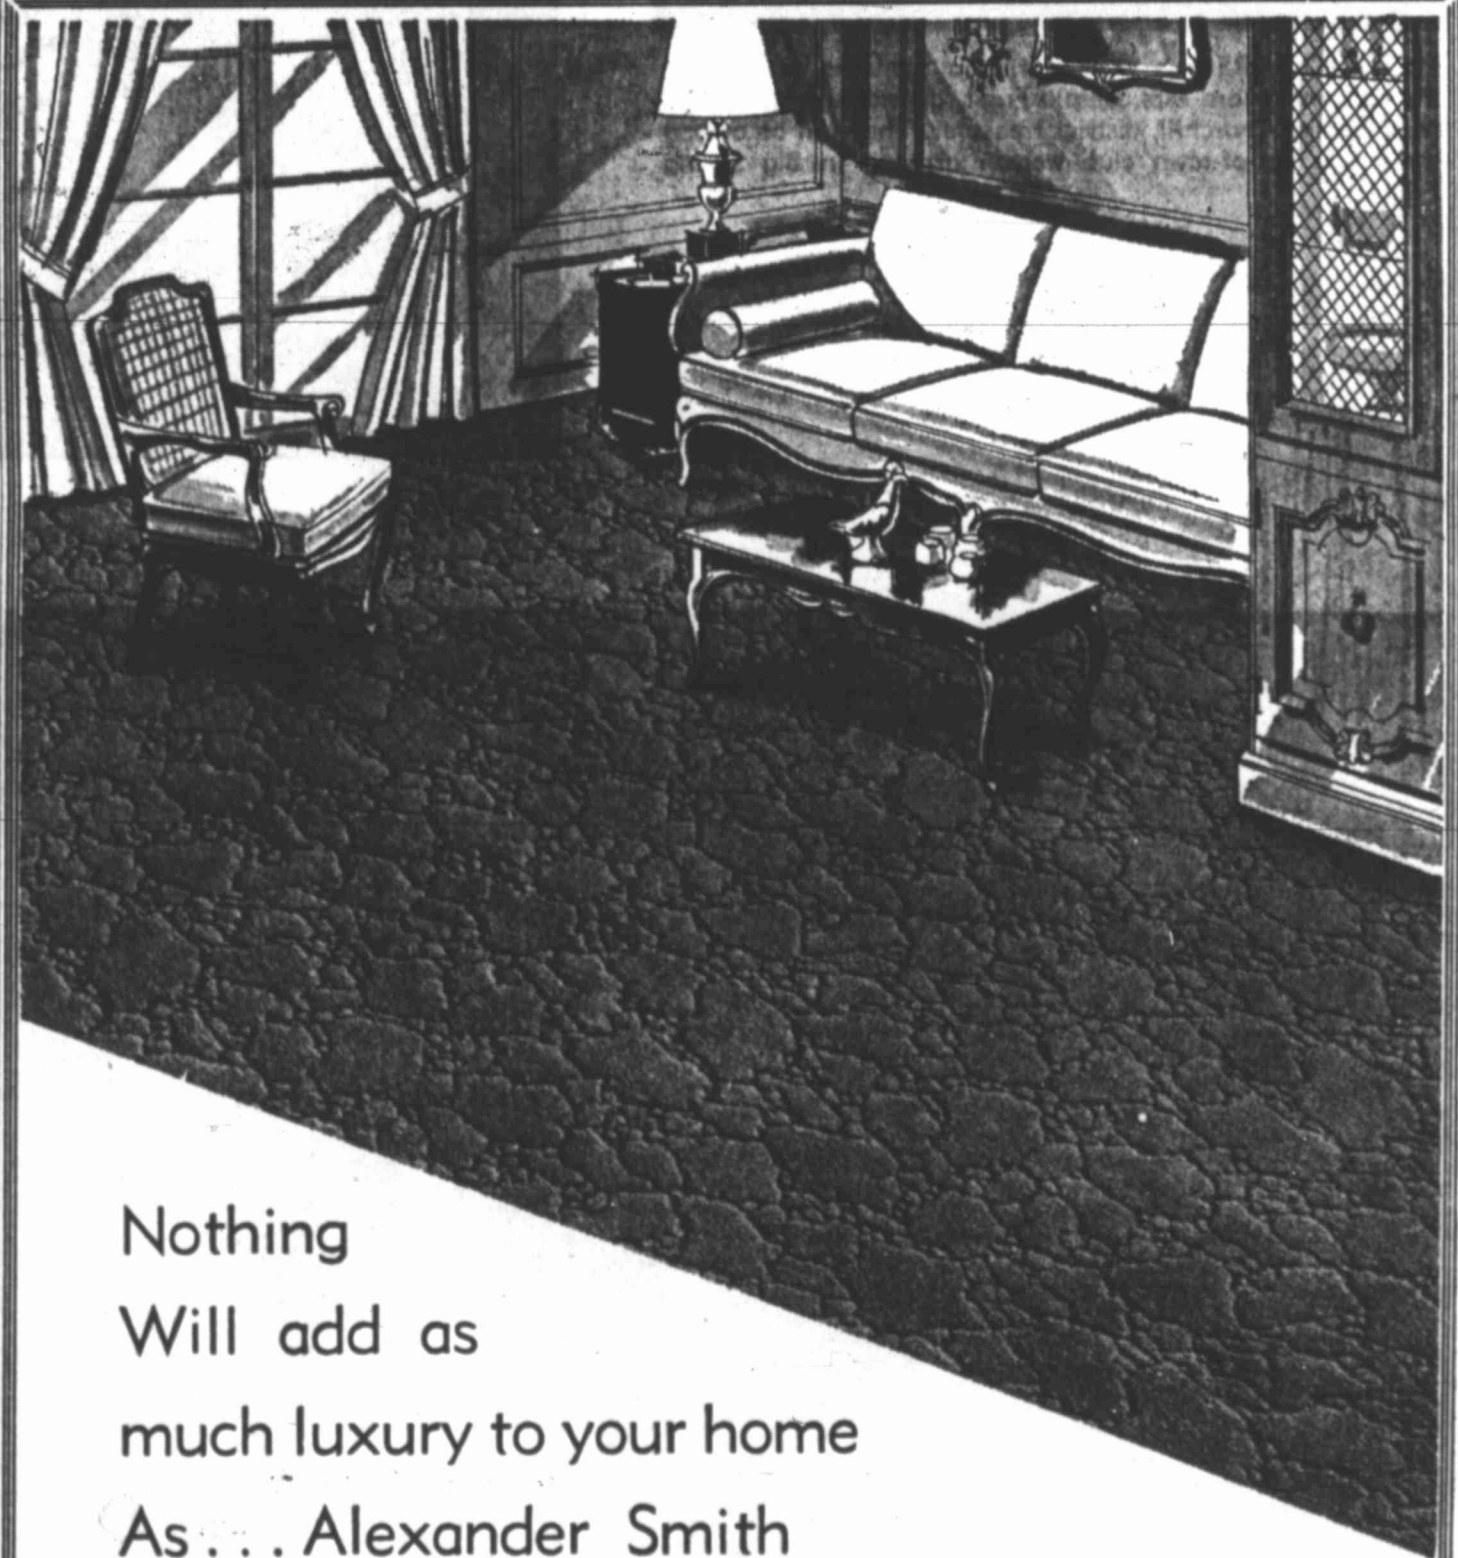

The next meeting will be a community affair in Lees

Clubhouse, and all persons interested in the progress of the community are invited to attend. Club members will serve as hostesses.

Two guests were introduced. They were Mrs. Charles Leek and Mrs. Gilbert Turner, both of Big Spring.

R DON'T CONFUSE CANKERS WITH COLD SORES

Cold sores are on the outside of the lips and are caused by a virus. Canker sores are on the inside of the mouth and not on the gums.

The cause of canker sores is not definitely certain. A form of strep germ has been found in such ulcers. Some experts blame injury to the tissues, caused by a tooth brush or hard foods. Others blame them on an allergic reaction. If you are often troubled by canker sores consult a physician.

Luncheon Honors Medical Auxiliary Dignitaries

Texas Medical Association Auxiliary officers were honored guests Thursday at a luncheon meeting held by the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary in the Gold Room at Big Spring Country Club. At center is Mrs. W. R. Cash-lon, local president, and seated are Mrs. June Melton of Midland, District Two director, and Mrs. Travis Smith of Abilene, state auxiliary president.

State Officers Guests Of Medical Auxiliary

"Citizens should do all in their power to preserve the free enterprise system," said Mrs. Travis Smith of Abilene, state president of the Texas Medical Association Auxiliary, when she spoke here Thursday. Mrs. Smith was guest speaker for the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary luncheon at Big Spring Country Club.

"We are becoming a social nation by giving up our responsibilities, as surely as a man losing one hair at a time will eventually be bald," continued Mrs. Smith, asking the question, "Are our young people growing up to believe in politics without principle, pleasure without conscience, knowledge without effort, wealth without work, business without morality, science without humanity and worship without sacrifice? If they are, you and I have failed as citizens and as parents."

The speaker concluded by saying, "Let us not scoff at patriotism and pride in America. Perhaps, for too long, we have been too reticent to let our loyalties show and so have presented the image to our children that we do not care. 'I, for one, do care, and I think each of you join me in pride of being an American.'"

Other honored guests for the luncheon were Mrs. R. B. Johns of Abilene, state corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. L. Haag of Abilene, state chairman for schools of instruction; Mrs. June Melton of Midland, auxiliary director for District Two; and Dr. Louise Worthy of Big Spring, president of the Permian Basin Medical Society.

Mrs. W. R. Cashion, local auxiliary president, presided, assisted by Mrs. Robert Tinley, secretary-treasurer. During the business session, the group agreed to aid the American Cancer Society by distributing "backboard" contribution containers, under the direction of Mrs. George Peacock. Plans for the observance of "Doctor's Day" on March 30 were announced by Mrs. Floyd Mays, and the women volunteered to provide cookies for a bake sale held Saturday by the Future Nurses Club at Big Spring Senior High School.

The head table was accented with a mixed spring bouquet which was presented to Mrs. Preston Harrison.

Gleaner's Class Hears Devotion

Mrs. Alline Woodard gave a devotion on scriptures and thoughts at Thursday's meeting of the Gleaner's Sunday school class of Baptist Temple. Mrs. Ora Martin, 505 E. 13th, was hostess. Mrs. Nannie Garrett presided and introduced Mrs. Bertha Davidson, a guest. The next meeting will be April 3 in the home of Mrs. Ely Jackson, 1112 Lloyd.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This may sound silly, but I have five banks — one real and four "piggy" — in which I save money for certain things.

For our Christmas Club I put in two dollars every week and when Christmas comes, am I ever glad to have this!

The first "piggy" bank I use to save pennies for the license for our car and dog.

I do a lot of canning, so every time I open a can, regardless if it's a pint or quart, I put a quarter away. Then, when canning time comes, I have money to buy more fruits and vegetables.

In another little bank I just sip in a coin once in a while so when there is a gift to buy, there's money, without cutting into the grocery fund.

I have one more place for slipping a dollar away every week and use this on vacation or some other unexpected expense.

This may sound like a lot of fuss, but really it's sort of fun. Mrs. Hollander

STARS
I don't think this is the least bit silly, doll, but a wonderful idea. A penny saved is a penny you-know-what... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My toddler grabbed a corner of the tablecloth to steady himself (naturally, he had a good sit-down anyhow!) and spilled a pitcher of cream on the cloth. Oh, what a spot!

Since that tablecloth is a favorite of mine, I wonder if you have any suggestions as to how I can remove the stain... Elizabeth

Oh, Elizabeth, try this: Soak it in warm water, then launder as usual. If spot remains, use cleaning fluid. Or take it to a do-it-yourself dry-cleaner. Great.

Or, rub detergent into the spot and let set for awhile. Then wash as usual. Always be sure to spot test first and to follow instructions and cautions on any container... Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I hope the ladies will not be offended if a mere male offers a comment on their housekeeping habits?

But... did you know that a large number of ladies are wasting time and energy performing a task which not only is unnecessary but is downright undesirable?

I refer to the unsanitary habit of taking a dish-towel and drying their dishes after washing them!

If dishes and glasses are properly washed and rinsed, they will dry naturally with a gleaming polish which cannot be accomplished with the old, unsanitary towel and elbow-grease!

This should settle the old argument which I understand disturbs some families as to who should wash and who should dry!... Larry Maynard
Dear Heloise:
I wonder if other mothers

make cloth bags for their children to use? They can be made from scraps or remnants of corduroy, denim, drapery material, or any other heavy cloth.

Small drawstring bags (a folded-over rectangle sewed up on both sides; with a short string for the drawstring) are great for marbles.

Larger drawstring bags (20-inches square) make fine gym bags and save buying an expensive, short-lived one.

I make these bags in assorted sizes according to the need; my son uses one to carry the mule for his trombone, and another to protect the lovely inlaid box to his chess set... Mrs. G.C.D.

Patrolmen Give Program For Center Point Club

Patrolman Stewart Dickson and Patrolman Lee Justice of the Big Spring Police Department gave the program, "Drug Addiction," at Tuesday's meeting of Center Point Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Garland Sanders, 1701 Johnson, was hostess and gave the devotion.

"The first step in using drugs is taken by kids looking for kicks and a way out of boredom," said Justice. "The first experience usually costs nothing, but after a youth becomes addicted, the expense can amount to $100 a day."

Dickson pointed out that at this time the young people may become law breakers, resorting to almost any crime to sustain their drug habit. He showed a film on the effects of drug addiction, which resulted in suicide.

The club made plans to sell home articles as a fund-raising project. It was reported that the club supplied two workers, seven pies and 16 pounds of beans for a barbecue at the 4-H stock show.

Meringue Hints Noted By HD Club

Mrs. Clyde Cantrell and Mrs. W. D. Caldwell gave the program on meringues at Friday's meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club in the Cantrell home on the Snyder Highway.

Mrs. Cantrell gave instructions for making perfect meringues. She said to have eggs at room temperature, use proper equipment; add sugar slowly while beating, spread meringue on cream pies while still warm, and bake quickly in hot oven for soft meringue, and longer in a low oven for a hard meringue.

Mrs. Carl Gum presided, and Mrs. A. W. Page gave the devotion. Mrs. Reeves Moren was welcomed as a new member, and Mrs. Melvin Choate was a guest. Mrs. Page received the attendance prize.

The next meeting will be March 28 in the home of Mrs. Grady McCrary, 1611 E. 17th.

Tells Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Landrum, 616 Eleventh Place, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Diana Lynn, to Skip Burcham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Burcham, 887 Aylford. The couple plans to marry May 1 in the Anderson Street Church of Christ.

Cool As Cucumber

The cucumber is nature's own astringent, but it must be fresh cucumber. Cut off three juicy slices. Rub one piece over the brow, cheekbones and chin... cool. Five minutes later your face should look and feel sparkling.

Book Reviewed

Mrs. Pete Rhymes reviewed the book, "The Christian Agnostic," at Thursday's meeting of St. Monica's Guild at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Mrs. Ralph Caton served refreshments to 12 attending.

Couple Pledges Vows In Stanton Ceremony

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Vicki Beeson and William S. Willis Jr. Saturday in Forsan Baptist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Virgil Drewery.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Willis, 1103 E. 15th, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beeson of Forsan.

The altar was adorned with twin baskets of white gladioli flanked by candelabra accented with white ribbon. Mrs. W. R. Cregar, organist, accompanied Mrs. Oscar Becker who sang "More" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was attired in a white satin gown overlaid with white lace and designed in an A-line with rounded neckline and petal point sleeves. A white satin ribbon accented the Empire waist. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations with white satin streamers.

Teenage Alcoholism Seen As New Danger

"Teenage Alcoholism" was viewed as a modern day danger by Shelby Parnell, rehabilitation technician at Big Spring State Hospital, when he was guest speaker Thursday for the Airport Parent Teacher Association.

"Not all who drink become alcoholics," said Parnell, "but one in ten does. Young people must be taught that it is socially acceptable to say they do not drink."

Parnell went on to say that most teenagers try drinking on a dare or because of curiosity. Later, they may continue to do so out of guilt, or fear of being found out by their parents. A question and answer period followed.

Discovering the Lone Star State with... FRANK OLIVER

The Cities of Texas — No. 3
Corpus Christi

With the unabating zoom of economic activity in recent years, Texas suddenly finds itself on the threshold of industrial, technological and sociological opportunity, the possibilities of which are profound. This is now. The state has become a willing mecca for millions, eager for our fresh, exciting way of life. Texas' population will double in the next 30 years.

Corpus Christi is an eye-opening example of this new Texas frontier. As a tiny settlement, it slept for centuries in its jewel-like setting on the sandy shore — ever since Alonzo Alfredo de Pineda discovered its beautiful bay in 1519. As a Texas trading post, it became a town in 1852. The Mexican War gave it a push, but that was short lived. The bountiful cotton and grain produce of the fertile valley kept port activity moderately brisk; but it was after the turn of the century when gas and oil were discovered in the area that Corpus Christi really took off. Aggressive and dedicated Corpus Christians took opportunity by the horns and helped catapult the area forward. Today it stands a third-million in population and 10th port in the nation. And, after exactly 450 years, this is only the beginning.

Corpus' streets have long been paved with gold. And, gold-minded citizens, eager to do some treasure hunting themselves, are aggressively selling a hungry world what they have been reaping in for centuries... sun, sea, sand and surf. A mushrooming industry of tourism flourishes on superb facilities for communication and transportation. Hotels, motels, convention halls and restaurants are out of this world while prices, still, are not. Leisure minded Texas and America see another Miami Beach in the making, both being in the same latitude, but with Corpus offering so much more in its proximity to Mexico.

Corpus Christi — one of the loveliest cities in America — luxuriates in a lush profusion of semi-tropical foliage. A pandemonium of color against the perpetual backdrop of green is everywhere, year 'round. The city is warm in the winter and cool in the summer, both conditions being welcome dividends of its relation to the blessed, glistening Gulf. Everywhere, too, is reflected the art and exquisite taste of its Spanish ancestry, and the warm hospitality of its people. The city embraces a number of cultural societies, a University and several colleges, a Symphony Orchestra and a Little Theatre. Buccaneer Days festivities are worth a special trip.

The red carpet is out. This, too, is YOUR Texas.

ANNUAL ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Three Top Students To Be Named

Not one, but three outstanding students in Howard County high schools will be named this year in the fourth annual Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Awards.

The program to recognize active youth leaders is being broadened by the sponsors. While in the past nominees from Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan High School have been considered for one award, this year the honor will be extended to include a winner from each of the three schools.

Public recognition at a banquet to be held in April, and presentation of a large trophy and an engraved watch will go to the students (senior or junior) chosen individually from Big Spring, Forsan and Coahoma nominees.

Nominations will be open in each school, and forms to be used in submitting names will be appearing in The Herald for several days.

The Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Award is designed to recognize a boy or girl (at the junior or senior level) from each of the county's schools who has made unusual contributions to his school and community.

Public recognition is given to those young people who give time and talent to making their church, school and community stronger, who maintain good grades in school, and yet express a concern for the welfare of others. Such traits as leadership, dependability, resourcefulness, respect for others, scholarship and religious reverence will be considered by a panel of judges, as will school and extracurricular activities, hobbies, achievements and other areas of good citizenship.

The fact that a special Achievement Award will go to an individual in each of the three schools is expected to attract more nominations than ever before.

Legion Oratory Contest Set

ODESSA — The 32nd annual American Legion oratorical contest for the State of Texas will be held in Odessa High School Friday at 9:30 a.m., department chairman John C. Scherer has announced.

Winners from the four divisions of Texas will compete in this contest.

The state winner will be eligible to enter the national contest to compete for $8,000 given in scholarships to the four finalists. The four national finalists first have to hurdle their way through local, district, department, regional and sectional contests.

The first place winner in the national contest will receive a $4,000 university scholarship; second place, a $2,500 scholarship; third place, a $1,000 scholarship; and fourth place, a $500 scholarship.

Rehab Center Is Certified Under Medicare Program

Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center has been officially approved to render treatment to Medicare clients.

Jim Thompson, director, said he has been informed that the local establishment is one of 15 centers in Texas approved by the Health, Education and Welfare Department to serve such patients.

Actually, Thompson said, the center has dealt with 31 such patients since last July 25, when it was first selected by the HEW. The formal certification has now been received. It classifies the center as qualified for outpatient physical therapy. This service will be compensated through the Medicare program (Blue Cross and Blue Shield).

Thompson said the 31 Medicare clients who have been served by the center were aided for strokes, arthritis, emphysema, fractures, degenerated discs, strains, sprains, brain tumors, (post surgery) and bursts. The number of such patients will undoubtedly be increased in the future.

Thompson said all such clients must have referral from physicians. It is also required the patient be re-evaluated by his physician every 30 days, in order for the Medicare to make proper payment.

These services are available, Thompson said, under Part B of Medicare which is voluntary. Under Part B, there is a $50 annual deduction for the calendar year. After the $50 deductible is met, Medicare pays 80 per cent of the charge and the patient 20 per cent.

There is no time limit, Thompson said, set on treatments as long as the doctor states the treatments are medically necessary. Braces, wheelchairs and other medical appliances are available under Part

B, on prescription of the physician. Persons who are receiving Old Age Assistance will have their $50 deduction and 80 per cent co-insurance paid for by the program.

Thompson said the center has given 740 treatments to Medicare clients. He said the approval of the center for Medicare outpatient service would be of financial importance to the center, as well as of convenience to Medicare patients who need such treatment.

DEAR BOSS:

Maybe That Groundhog Knows What He's Doing

DEAR BOSS: You know, Boss, the groundhog is just about to make a convert of me.

Last year, if you will remember, he saw his shadow on Feb. 2. His adherents immediately sounded off there would be six weeks of cold weather before Spring would arrive.

And you know what? — by gosh — he was just as right as could be. Remember all that snow and stuff, Boss?

Again this year — look at the record, as the politicians say. On Feb. 2, a bright and very pleasant day, Mr. G. certainly saw his shadow. Since Feb. 2, consider what we've had weatherwise. Look at the blackened buds on your over-optimistic shrubs and flowers, and remember how nice your overcoat has felt nearly every bloomin' morning.

The six weeks since Groundhog Day ends today. I don't allege that Spring will run right in as soon as the six weeks is over, but I will say that it sure hasn't made its debut so far.

Officially, Boss, as you doubtless are aware, Spring will arrive on the Texas scene at 1:08 p.m. next Thursday — March 20. It will replace Winter, which will have held sway 2,212 hours and eight minutes. (To save you the trouble of looking it up — Winter began on Dec. 21 at 1 p.m.)

Simply because the Vernal Equinox shows is certainly no guarantee in these parts that Winter has been dumped in the ashcan. It can still be cold as the dickens.

I am beginning to believe in the old adage about the Groundhog and his shadow, but I am yet to be sold on the infallibility of the Equinox and the "Easter cold spell." The Equinox can usher in Spring, all other things being equal. There could be a cold snap ahead of Easter. Easter, I am advised, occurs this year on April 6, which is eight days earlier than last year. This increases the chance of a belated cold period.

My official guide-post, Boss, on the proof that Spring is really at hand, has nothing to do with cold spells ahead of Easter, the thickness of fur on the family cat, nor the falsity of the family cat, nor the falsity of the Punxatawney Pa., ardvark.

My reliable, never-failing, barometer of the vernal season, Boss, is that weatherbeaten old mesquite tree on the southwest corner of the First Methodist Church block. When it pops out all buds, Boss, I know that Spring has sprung and that winter has given up the ghost. I have just looked that old — veteran mesquite over. Boss. There's nary a bud, nor a promise of a bud. I have interviewed a couple of Mimosa trees, too. From neither source have I received even the slightest clue that Spring is here. My crape myrtle confirms these findings.

As a result, I have delayed putting my overcoat in mothballs; I have not as yet had a serviceman check out my air conditioner; and I haven't the slightest intention of cutting off the furnace.

When the old mesquite begins to show buds and when those Mimosas cease to look like they've been dead for a year, I'll begin to look for the first robins, the crocus, and the other harbingers of the season.

Meantime, button up your overcoat, Boss. It's still a lot like winter.

SAM BLACKBURN

Sick, Injured Tax Pay Hints

A taxpayer kept on a company payroll while he is unable to work because of illness or injury may not have to pay tax on this income, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said today.

Wage payments received in these circumstances may be wholly or partially tax free depending on the amount of the payment and the time the taxpayer is off the job. If a taxpayer gets over 75 per cent of his regular weekly pay while he is out because of accident or illness then he has a 30 day waiting period before any of his pay is exempt from tax. After 30 days, he may exclude up to $100 in wages a week from his taxable income.

If the sick pay is 75 per cent or less of his regular wages the waiting period is reduced to seven days. This waiting period is eliminated if the person is hospitalized at least one day.

No more than $75 a week in wages may be excluded during the first 30 days in which the taxpayer is eligible to claim the exclusion. Thereafter, the maximum is raised to $100. Taxpayers claiming this sick pay exclusion should fill out Form 2440, Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay, and send it in with their return.

Bill To Create Permian College

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Pete Snelson, Midland, has introduced a bill to create Permian State College as an institution offering junior, senior and graduate courses.

Snelson said he was not recommending in the bill a site for the proposed school.

The House State Affairs Committee was in session past midnight last Monday hearing a bill by Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa to create the Permian State School. The measure went to a subcommittee, where Pickens said a site for the college would be offered.

"A state college for the Permian Basin remains the most important challenge ever to confront our area," Snelson said.

Plan To Screen Workers For Killer Diseases

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A nationwide plan to screen millions of workers for hidden killer diseases—using mobile clinics on factory parking lots—is under development by the City of Hope Medical Center.

The "Preventicare" program is based on negotiations under way with labor and management to include in new contracts about one cent an hour for annual health checkups that would cost up to $150 in a physician's office.

Norman Sobol, director of the project, says this clause has been incorporated in one union contract and will be part of proposals for several others.

The first contract to include Preventicare, he says, was signed recently between the International Association of Machinists Local 315 and the Air Reduction Co.'s welding division at Union, N.J., for 500 workers.

Sobol said discussions now under way would cover more than 200,000 workers. He said he expects the total eventually to be in the millions.

Sobol says the screening program in the early stages, with only a few thousand people involved, will cost about $35 per worker, or 1.75 cents per hour over a year. With hundreds of thousands covered, he says the cost should drop to $20 per cent an hour.

For this the worker will get a checkup including 23 tests for major diseases such as cancer, emphysema, diabetes and heart-and-artery ailments.

"A surprising number of adults have diseases which they do not learn about until too late," he said. "When 1,000 people are examined, 20 to 24 will have diabetes, about 90 will have high blood pressure, 25 will have emphysema, eight to 13 will have cancer, 180 to 250 will have heart, vein or artery disease."

The City of Hope's trailer clinics will be equipped to take electrocardiograms, chest X-rays, pulse and blood pressure, Papanicolaou smears for cancer of the cervix, plus tests of eyes, ears, lungs, throat, blood and urine.

A Holiday For St. Patrick

Among the other blights in the life of yours truly has been the inability to discover (although with no great searching) more than a smidgen of Irish blood in the veins.

IN TRUTH, the books tell us, Saint Patrick was a man of mighty energy and considerable executive ability. He is said to have founded no less than 300 churches, baptized with his own hand 12,000 people, and ordained many priests.

EVERYBODY who is anybody knows that Saint Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland, and the toads, too. These bits of folklore to this day surround the life of the great man who made such an impact on the Emerald Isle.

SO IT IS no wonder that the Irish march on this day of their patron. To use their own warm expression: "And may the wind be ever to your back."

THIS SORT of status is enough to make the gentleman a patron saint of the lovely little isle which occupies so unique a place in the world's geography and in its history.

ON NOTING this at this particular season, I inwardly have felt that the Irishmen should arise, and shout, "Begorra, we want Saint Pat's Day always to come on a Monday, too."

The Supreme Court And Demonstrations

high court, Dick Gregory had been charged with and convicted of disorderly conduct. The Chicago police commanded him and the other demonstrators to disperse, but this demand was not obeyed.

THE COURT's opinion says that to require a permit or a license which may be granted or withheld at the discretion of a public official is unconstitutional and in violation of "freedom of speech" under the First Amendment.

"THESE FACTS" disclosed by the record point unerringly to one conclusion, namely, that when groups with diametrically opposed, deep-seated views are permitted to air their emotional grievances, side by side, on city streets, tranquility and order cannot be maintained even by the joint efforts of the finest and best officers and of those who desire to be the most law-abiding protesters of their grievances.

JUSTICE STEWART, who wrote the Court's majority opinion, said that, while the foregoing is true, the decisions of the high court "have also made clear that picketing and parading may nonetheless constitute methods of expression, entitled to First Amendment protection."

But the big question is how, in view of these rulings, anybody now can write a law that will effectively prevent all the different kinds of disorder which result from street demonstrations.

Garbage Disposal Problem Solved With Burial Plan

By SAM BLACKBURN
Speaking of garbage — did you provide your full per person share of 72.2 pounds in the month of February? If you didn't, then someone else grabbed off part of your quota.

Like the weather, everyone seems to talk a lot about garbage and garbage disposal but no one appears to do much about it. Ernest Lillard, public works director for the city, says that Big Spring's residents are not quite as garbage prolific as the nation at large.

"Our per capita daily average of garbage," he said, "is 2.6 pounds. The national average is 3.4 pounds."

Regarding the 35,000 (estimated population) residents of the city massed a respectable 2,527,140 pounds of miscellaneous trash and garbage in February.

Of this ponderous pile of discarded material, 60.8 per cent or 768.4 tons came from Big Spring residences.

Since February is a short month, the garbage total for the month was probably lighter than an average for any other period in the year. Assuming, however, it was on a parity with its fellows, then the people of this community accumulate 30,336,000 pounds of refuse every year. This mountain of material has to be disposed of in some manner to safeguard the health and welfare of the people.

Lillard's office is able to keep a close tab on the garbage problem due to the cooperative project the city has with the federal government in a so-called "landfill" demonstration east of town. Every pound of garbage and trash which goes into this landfill is weighed.

The records show that 2,037 vehicles hauled waste material to the landfill area in February. Of this total, 503 were city-owned vehicles. The other 1,534 were privately owned cars and trucks. The public hauled 964,520 pounds of the total for the month, or 31.8 per cent. This means Lillard noted that the average privately owned vehicle serving as a trash wagon hauled 69 pounds of rubbish to the landfill.

GARBAGE CANS POSE MAJOR PROBLEM TO MUNICIPALITY

City has to dispose of 30 million pounds of refuse each year

Residential garbage handled in February by city-owned and private vehicles accounted for 768.4 tons or 60.8 per cent of the total. The remainder, Lillard said, was made up of miscellaneous trash, tree limbs, weeds and so forth. Forty per cent of this refuse accounts for 60 per cent of the volume in the landfill.

The landfill is important. Effective July 1, Lillard points out, a law, enacted by the last legislature to combat air contamination, forbids any individual or agency to burn rubbish and trash. This means that municipalities, which have made it their custom to dispose of their garbage and rubbish by burning it on the dumpgrounds, must find other methods.

Burying trash and garbage was started here several years ago by the city. First, this was done at the old grounds; then this was shifted to a privately-owned tract on North Birdwell Lane. Now it is being done on the federally-financed demonstration project on IS 20. The current project is being sponsored here by the city, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and other agencies. The city has a lease on an eight-acre tract of deeply eroded and ravined land near the Cosden refinery. All trash and garbage collected by the municipality, (including the accumulation from Webb AFB), is hauled to this tract and shoveled into the ravines and ditches.

The accumulated refuse is leveled off and buried under several feet of soil. The project is financed and expected to last the city for three years. One-third of the available area has been absorbed in the first year's work. At the end of the three-year period, the municipality will move back to the dump grounds or find other terrain for the program.

When the lease terminates, the land will revert to its owner. When he gets it back instead of being eroded and gullied, it will be level, arable terrain. This is the feature that interests the soil conservation agencies. If the method opens a workable way to restore worthless land, and at the same time provides a solution for the problem every municipality faces of disposing of its waste material, the program will be doubly worthwhile.

The critical need of effective handling of garbage and other waste material in any municipality increases in ratio to its population.

The strike of garbage collectors in New York sometime ago and the created problem, was not only an insult to the aesthetic aspects of the community, but a threat to general health as well.

Big Spring has 175 miles of streets. In order to keep the town free of rubbish, the four residential trucks and the one truck devoted to the business district must never miss a day of normal operation. Two pickups a week are scheduled in the residential areas and one daily in the downtown district.

There are 17 employees in the garbage pickup department. Each of the residential trucks is manned by three workers. One operator handles the downtown pickup.

Twenty per cent of the trash total comes from the business district, and 28 per cent from the residential district. There are perhaps 8,500 houses in town. Stops are made at each of these twice weekly.

In addition to the regular truck pickups, flat bed trucks are in constant service cleaning up alleys. These trucks provide 18 per cent of the gross trash collection.

This handling of rubbish is an expensive enterprise and $150,000 a year is budgeted for the sanitation department. This does not include the alley cleanup operation. Superintendent of this operation is Grady Grantham.

In addition to the sanitation feature involved in this constant effort, a second aspect is the importance of clean alleys and streets and the attractive appearance of the community.

Lillard warns that much unsightliness stems from the lack of adequate garbage receptacles in alleys and (in some instances) on the streets where the containers are kept. Already an effort is being made to force residents to do more to avert trash littering alleys and streets.

Garbage cans must be secured where they cannot be overturned by stray dogs or blown over by the wind. They must have lids that fit.

A campaign is under way in this direction. Garbage cans which are consistently in violation of these requirements are being tagged with warning notices by inspectors. Failure to correct the problem could lead to further difficulties for the resident.

The town is ahead of the game in the matter of having already replaced the old open burning of trash on its city dump. Lillard says. Now it seeks to get ahead of the other communities by enforcement orders that garbage cans be such as will prevent refuse from cluttering alleys and streets.

Veteran Owes His Life To Prompt Aid, Action

By SAM BLACKBURN
Rosendo Morelon, 76, 607 N. Goliad, met Russell Tidwell, Texas Electric Service Co. residential salesman, Friday morning and was very glad that he had the opportunity to do so.
If it hadn't been for Tidwell and a training course that the salesman had recently completed in first aid and life saving. Morelon would likely have been dead for the past four days. The World War I veteran probably owes his life to the prompt action of Tidwell and the ensuing efforts of the drivers of the Alert Ambulance. As things worked out, Morelon is now well on his way to complete recovery and Friday was feeling fine, he told Tidwell.

The incident began Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. Morelon had come to the TESCO office to pay his electric bill. As he started from the office, he suddenly staggered and fell. Mrs. Latha Hill, a cashier, called to men in the office for aid. R. J. Krause, collector, raced to the victim's side. Russell Tidwell and others joined him.

"I felt for his pulse," said Tidwell. "There was none. His heart was not beating. He was not breathing. To all outward appearances he was dead." Tidwell began massaging Morelon's chest in an effort to start the stalled heart beating again. An associate of Tidwell's was holding the man's wrist. "I feel a pulse starting to throb!" he told Tidwell after several minutes. Tidwell continued the massage.

An Alert Ambulance had been called. By the time it arrived, Morelon's heart had begun to beat. The ambulance men placed him in the vehicle and began administering oxygen and continuing the heart massage. At the Veterans Administration Hospital, he suffered a second seizure. The ambulance attendants were able to revive him a second time. Under treatment in the hospital, he regained strength and Friday was apparently well toward recovery.

"It is very good," said Morelon, "that this man (Tidwell) knew what to do. He saved my life, I think." TESCO officials said it was a dramatic demonstration of the importance of life saving and first aid knowledge.

roommate had her boyfriend over to the apartment and he complained about some sore muscles he had from playing touch football, so I gave him a massage. In a few days he asked if I'd give him another massage, but this time he insisted on paying me. Since then he has sent me four other clients, and now I'm massaging regularly. I enjoy doing this and I also like the extra money, but someone told me I am breaking the law! Is it true a person can't massage without a license? we've been expecting you

Copyright 1969 Keister Advertising Service, Inc., Strasburg, Va.

On a busy night in New York—or any other city—it pays to be expected. After our wanderings we crave welcome.

There is somewhere else we are expected . . . and welcomed!

Here is an aspect of religious concern which isn't emphasized enough: Whatever you've done about it, you are conscious of the fact that you need God. But are you aware also that God needs you?

Or, putting it another way, do you realize that one of the churches in our community has been expecting you—waiting for you to add your strength to that of your neighbors, your brothers in faith?

You don't need a reservation. Only a reverent heart.

COLUMBIA PICTURES presents AN IRVING ALLEN production TECHNOLOR

'CHARRO' Elvis Presley in new role Presley Film Held Over Here

For the first time in his 29-year picture career, Elvis Presley was able to venture into public without being recognized. He sported a beard for "Charro!", western drama filmed in Apache Junction, Ariz., and friends reported he went out to buy gifts for his wife and baby several times. "Charro!", held over at the Ritz Theatre through Wednesday is like nothing Elvis has ever done. He doesn't sing a note. He wears only one costume — faded and ragged western outfit — as opposed to the usual 10 to 12 wardrobe changes. No bikinis. No guitars. In fact, leading lady Ina Ballin doesn't wear even one low-cut gown.

Despite temperatures up to 126 degrees, rattlesnakes and scorpions, friends said Elvis has never enjoyed his work more. They claimed he digs the straight acting bit.

Nymphomania Is Topic In New Cinema Feature

The complex psychological area of nymphomania is tackled by Roman Gary and deftly presented with his wife, Jean Seberg, as the subject in "Birds in Peru," in color coming Friday to the Cinema Theatre. Co-starring with Miss Seberg are Maurice Ronet, Pierre Brasseur and Danielle

In the concept, as writer of the screenplay from his own short story, Gary derives the title of "Birds in Peru" from a particular stretch of beach on the Pacific Ocean where gulls, terns and other ocean birds, for reasons unexplained, die when they arrive there. This, too, is the fate decreed for Miss Seberg when she arrives there with incurable nymphomania.

'BIRDS IN PERU' Jean Seberg and Maurice Ronet

Her husband, played by Pierre Brasseur, is extremely wealthy and has taken his wife to medical men in all parts of the world in search of a cure. There is a pact between him, his wife and his chauffeur, Jean Pierre Kalton, that the latter will kill Miss Seberg if she continues to stray. Maurice Ronet is one of the many lovers she becomes involved with as she travels the short stretch of relatively deserted beach.

Iowa-born Miss Seberg made her film debut in "Saint Joan" portraying the martyred woman and his chauffeur, Jean Pierre Kalton, that the latter will kill Miss Seberg if she continues to stray. Maurice Ronet is one of the many lovers she becomes involved with as she travels the short stretch of

Goodby Meters In Waxahachie
 WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP)—It's goodbye to parking meters in Waxahachie.

An ordinance will remove the parking meters permanently following a five-month trial basis which proved the merchants and motorists want the meters to disappear.

During the trial period, the city has been using a two-hour free parking plan with motorists violating the system being subject to $2 fines. During the time, there have been fewer overparking violations but the revenue on fines remained about the same due to the increase in the amount of fines from 25 cents if paid within an hour to the present $2 figure.

Time Short For Car Inspections

AUSTIN (AP) — Only one month remains for motorists to get their cars inspected, Col. Wilson Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, said Saturday.

An estimated 2.8 million vehicles have their state inspection stickers, leaving some 3.2 million to go before the April 15 midnight deadline, Speir said. Of those inspected so far, 42.2 per cent required mechanical adjustments, frequently a realignment of the headlights, Speir said.
