TO 7.28 PER CENT Home Mortgage Rates Show Sharp Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home mortgage interest rates increased sharply in February, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported today.

The average contract interest rate for all lending institutions providing new home mortgages rose from 7.16 per cent to 7.26 per cent. On existing homes, the rate climbed from 7.18 per cent to 7.28 per cent.

At mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations, the home mortgage industry's mainstays, the rate climbed from 7.08 per cent to 7.23 per cent and from 7.11 per cent to 7.25 per cent, respectively.

Cycle Gang Rivalry Led To Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan's East Village, once the seat of East Coast Hippiedom, is now the turf of tough motorcycle gangs. The gangs' bitter rivalry, police say, led to the fire-torture slaying of a gang member.

Police arrested a gang chief and his lieutenant Thursday and charged them with homicide after an intensive investigation into the death of Ray White, 21, of Dayton, Ohio.

White's nude body was discovered Monday in a tenement apartment, trussed with piano wires he would strangle himself if he struggled. He had been soused with a flammable liquid and set ablaze.

Ready For Rattlers

Don Horton, left, chairman of the Big Spring Jaycee Rattlesnake Roundup, takes entries from hunters in the annual snake hunt which began today. Left to right are Horton, Delbert

Hutchins, hunting guide, Kell Thompson, Dave Cruz, Glenn Duvalle, Stephen Thrapp and Jerry Emmons, all of Webb AFB.

Rattler Roundup Off To Good Start

The seventh annual Big Spring Jaycee Rattlesnake Roundup got off to a good start today — the first rattle out of the box.

More than 15 entries in the three-day hunt were registered by noon today, and 600 pounds of rattlesnakes filled the big exhibition pit in the former location of Lewis' variety store in College Park Shopping Center.

Don Horton, chairman of the Jaycee project, said about 50 hunters are scheduled to enter the meet, which also features a parade at 4:30 p.m. today, an antique car show, carnival, battle of the bands, and a dance.

The parade today was to feature the Shrine Motorcycle Patrol, antique cars, live snake handling demonstrations and Miss Diamondback, Miss Judy Fletcher, who will also award the prizes Sunday.

Activity will open Saturday with registration from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Poisonous snake exhibits and handling demonstrations of live poisonous snakes, featuring Pat Burchfield, Columbus, Ohio, will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the roundup headquarters.

There will be a Rattlesnake Dance at 9 p.m. at Cosden Country Club, featuring the Blue Tweed. Those bringing a live rattlesnake will be admitted free.

Registration Sunday will continue from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Burchfield's snake handling demonstrations will be from noon to 6 p.m. Prizes will be awarded at 5 p.m.

Top prize for the total number of pounds of snakes caught during the roundup will be $50, while second prize will be $35, and third prize, $25. Trophies will go to the top five hunters, and a trophy and $5 per foot will be given for the longest snake caught. There will be a trophy and $1 per rattle for the snake with the most rattles.

The antique car show will be held Saturday and Sunday, along with a "swap meet" for antique car enthusiasts. The show is sponsored by the Big Spring Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America.

A battle of bands from the area will be staged Saturday afternoon at the roundup headquarters, and the carnival will run through Sunday.

Laird Defends New Missile System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird pledged today that if the Paris peace talks fail to end the conflict in Vietnam, "We will have an alternative as far as the war is concerned other than the present conduct."

He did not say what that alternative would be.

Laird made that statement after Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., shifted the course of a Senate hearing away from the hotly contested antiballistic missile (ABM) system with a critique of Nixon administration handling of the Vietnam war.

Fulbright said the question of armaments and their control is linked with that of the Southeast Asian conflict.

"Isn't it possible, Mr. Secretary, to realize that we are not now and never have been winning this war?" he asked Laird.

"If this administration continues and escalates this war in Vietnam, it will soon be Mr. Nixon's war," the senator said.

"I would just like to say that this administration is committed to end the war in Vietnam," Laird said. "We are presently engaged in very important peace talks in Paris."

Then he declared: "I want you to know that we are hopeful that we will be successful in the talks . . . but if we are not successful, and we pray for success, I can assure you that we will have an alternative as far as the war is concerned other than the present conduct of that war."

Laird denied that the administration dropped the old Sentinel missile defense project because of public protests, insisting that the change came "because we have a better system."

Laird said discussion of a shift from city defenses to the Safeguard system, President Nixon's plan to defend U.S. offensive nuclear bases with antiballistic missiles (ABM), was under way even before the public protests against deployment near Boston, Chicago and Seattle.

Sen. Fulbright told Laird it appeared to him the protests had led to re-examination of the missile defense program and the shift to "a completely different mission."

But Laird, defending the administration plan before members of a critical Senate foreign relations subcommittee, said the public protests were only coincidental.

"Is it or isn't it true that just six weeks ago the government was proceeding to install the old Sentinel system?" Fulbright asked.

"That is true," Laird said. "I would like to say they were stopped because we have a better system."

Furthermore, Laird said, the Sentinel deployment launched by former President Lyndon B. Johnson "was potentially provocative" because it was designed to protect cities.

"As such it appeared to us to be a step toward, rather than away from, an escalation of the arms race," he said.

Another critic of the new ABM system, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., told Laird his system was "a defense in search of a mission." And he said the mission had not been discovered.

MORE INCREASES PREDICTED House Prices Skyrocket

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you plan to buy a house this spring, forget about last year's prices and don't laugh when the salesman tells you "this place is a steal at $40,000."

Higher interest charges on mortgages, higher taxes and insurance and rising costs of lumber and other materials have sent house prices skyrocketing. More increases are in prospect.

"Costs have gone up 10 per cent in the last year," said Milton Brock of M.J. Brock & Sons, Los Angeles builder.

Bernard Janis, president of Janis Corp., of Miami, Fla., estimated the cost of a $30,000 home has risen 20 per cent in the past year and will rise 10 per cent more to about $39,500 in the next six months.

"The cost of lumber rose 50 per cent in the past six months," he said. "Why? Who's the one pushing it up? Most of our lumber comes from the big Douglas fir mills on the West Coast, and they're selling to the government and Japan at inflated prices. We've got to pay their prices to get the materials we need."

Advance Mortgage Corp. of Detroit said in its semiannual survey that today's house buyer will pay, compared with a year ago, an average 10 per cent price increase, a 1½ per cent rise in interest rate and a 5 per cent increase in taxes and insurance.

"And," the company said, "he'll have a hard time finding the same house. Builders keep moving to larger, costlier homes to compensate for the shortage of labor and high land costs. Depending on the market, a medium-priced home is now from $30,000 to $50,000."

Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the National Association of Home Builders, said the average mortgage interest rate has risen from 6 per cent to 8 per cent in the last two years.

And the increase of banks' prime lending rate Monday to an all-time high of 7¼ per cent from 7 per cent indicates that home buyers face even higher financing charges.

Sumichrast said that since last November, when mortgage interest rates averaged 7 per cent, the monthly payment on a 25-year 80 per cent mortgage on a $25,000 house has risen from $148.80 to $165.40 because of increased interest rates alone.

Janis, who described himself as "a very conservative Republican," said, "I think we're getting to the point where government price and wage controls might be advisable."

Builders are apprehensive that spiraling costs will dampen demand for houses. Private housing starts in 1968 totaled 1.55 million units. The annual rate rose to 1.84 million last January and slipped to 1.7 million in February.

Campus Disorders Under Study Today

By The Associated Press

Steps to deal with college campus disorders and disruptive students were under study today at the White House, Washington officials said a statement by President Nixon was expected "in the imminent future."

The announcement came as student disorder continued around the country. A two-story science building at Lane College in Jackson, Tenn., was destroyed by a suspicious fire and violence hit at high schools in widely scattered areas.

The longest student strike in the nation, however, ended at San Francisco State College.

The recommendations for dealing with the educational turmoil were sent to President Nixon by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Finch's office said the statement from the President may be made Saturday. If so, it would be made public in San Clemente, Calif., where Nixon is scheduled to spend part of the weekend.

The president of predominantly Negro Lane College, Dr. C.A. Kirkendall, said, "I personally believe it was arson." Lane reopened eight days ago after a 10-day shutdown due to a student boycott, extensive vandalism and other suspicious fires.

Kirkendall said he thought the fire was "triggered" at a campus meeting called by the Black Liberation Front. The fire department reported no injuries in the blaze.

At San Francisco State, the Black Students Union ended a 4½-month strike during which there were fire bombings and mass arrests. A settlement was negotiated with school President S.I. Hayakawa, who said he would announce details today.

The settlement called for a school of ethnic studies and increased enrollment of minority group students.

Officials at Denver West High School said a teacher who was termed a "racist" by students would be transferred at his request, in the wake of a rock-throwing melee that led to more than 20 arrests and three injuries.

Students threatened to strike the 1,800-student high school and two other schools.

Police waded into a crowd of about 300 students and used chemical mace to subdue protesters. A television cameraman was arrested and charged with hitting a policeman.

In Forrest City, Ark., all seven Negro schools were closed today after 200 pupils threw rocks at a junior high school to protest the dismissal of a teacher who had been active in civil rights work.

Ten pupils, all 13 to 15 years old, were arrested and one minor injury was reported in the melee, which left Lincoln Junior High School heavily damaged, said Schools Supt. William Irving.

Series Of 10 Lunar Landings Are Planned

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — If the first manned lunar landing comes off as planned in July, a space official says, it will be followed up by a series of others for "a sum total of 10 voyages to the surface of the moon."

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the Air Force Association convention Thursday:

"If we do make the first touchdown this summer, we'll follow that with three similar voyages, each time increasing the scientific equipment."

Each of the first four moon landings, he said, would leave equipment to measure lunar surface disturbances and to reflect laser beams back to earth.

The six later landings, he said, could be set up in areas of the most significant interest and could include overland exploration.

Paine said the second decade of space exploration which began this year would include a number of probes of Earth's sister planets.

Two probes, one launched last month and the other due to leave next week, will orbit Mars and send back to Earth television pictures of that planet. They also will transmit temperatures, examine the Martian atmosphere and measure light radiation.

"We hope to get a fairly definitive idea as to whether or not conditions on Mars are such that life might exist," Paine said.

Mars orbiters also will be launched in 1971 and two unmanned landings will be attempted in 1973.

During the 1977 to 1979 period, Paine said, it will be possible to launch an unmanned probe which will make "a grand tour" of four planets, using the gravitational pull of each to speed toward the next.

The planets then will be in a lineup that will not occur again in 170 years.

The lineup, said Paine, "will allow us first to go past the gravity field of Jupiter, then swing out past Saturn, then to Uranus and to Neptune."

The voyage would take nine years, he said, and would have to be nuclear powered "to complete the journey and send back the information."

ANGUILLA (AP) — The British government is preparing to pour aid on the tiny Caribbean island of Anguilla, but the islanders show no signs of liking the carrot any better than the stick they're now getting.

About 1,000 Anguillians—one sixth of the island population—paraded past the schoolhouse headquarters of the British command Thursday, led by Acting President Ronald Webster on a motorbike and waving the flag of Anguilla Independence, orange dolphins over an aqua sea.

The British troops seemed fascinated by the gaily dressed protesters, who sang their freedom song to the Battle Hymn of the Republic and carried such placards as "British British Go Home" and "Take Your Troops to Rhodesia."

But the British commissioner for the island, Anthony Lee, told Webster that the government in London recognized neither him nor his declaration of independence.

"The British government view," Lee told newsmen after a confrontation with Webster, "is that this is an illegal situation going nowhere fast."

Webster in turn said the Anguillians would not recognize Lee's authority. The Anguillian leader said he proposed an immediate referendum permitting the people to decide whether they want (1) independence, (2) association with Britain as a state of their own, or (3) a return to the St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla federation, from which the island seceded two years ago.

Lee said he would not rule out the possibility of a referendum sometime in the future but that he planned to appoint an advisory board of Anguillians to govern the island until its status is clarified. He had said earlier the British occupation of Anguilla might last several years.

Meanwhile, the British government resolved to pursue what it calls its "rescue operation" by heaping development and technical help on the rebel islanders.

There are plans to provide power, water, sewers, roads, bridges, schools and hospitals on the impoverished island. The Anguillians say it was the neglect of such services which led them to break away from Britain after more than 300 years of colonization.

An American deported because of his influence on Webster said Thursday the invasion was "the worst blunder the British ever made."

Jack N. Holcomb, a Florida real estate man, said in Miami he was picked up by Scotland Yard agents and British paratroopers on the morning of the invasion Tuesday and expelled as being "prejudicial to the public order and safety."

He denied that he is connected with the Mafia or gambling interests and said his interest in Anguilla was a matter of legitimate hotel development projects.

Tank Zaps Truck, Like A Torpedo

ROANOKE, Tex. (AP) — Propelled by an explosion, a 2,000-gallon tank whirled a quarter mile on the ground "like a torpedo" and wrecked a pickup truck near a burning refinery Thursday.

Truck owner Joe Knowles of Roanoke parked the vehicle 15 minutes earlier and stepped into a field to watch a roaring fire in the Field Oil Refinery Co. plant near here in North Texas.

Knowles and other witnesses escaped injury. Fred G. Taylor, refinery foreman, likened the rolling tank to a torpedo and said, "There's no telling where it would have gone if it hadn't hit that truck."

The flames broke out about 1 p.m. Lack of water forced firemen to let most of the oil in the plant burn before they could cope with the blaze, finally extinguished three hours later.

"The furnace that blew up — I'd only fired it three times," Taylor said, adding that he did not know the cause. He estimated 25,000 to 35,000 gallons of oil burned.

Ogallala Dips Lower

AUSTIN (AP) — An all-time low was recorded in February at the underground Ogallala observation well at Plainview, the Texas Water Development Board reported Thursday.

The board said February's reading was 100.15 feet below land surface, an 11-foot decrease from January.

The agency said conservation water storage in 53 Texas reservoirs in February totaled 19,869,000 acre-feet, or 79 per cent of capacity, an increase of three per cent from January.

Icebox For Eskimos

COLLEGE, Alaska (AP) — Engineers at the University of Alaska are designing an icebox for the 400 Eskimos living in Savoonga, an Alaskan village on a Bearing Sea Island.

When the midnight sun shines 20 hours or more each day during the summer, the islanders lose up to half their annual walrus catch — prime staple of their community — because the meat spoils. The loss is estimated at $75,000 a year.

A mechanical refrigeration system would be too costly and too complicated for the Eskimos, says Phil Johnson, one of the engineers.

Enemy Offensive In Viet Steps Up

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese smashed at American bases with renewed fury today, hitting them with rockets, mortars and infantry assaults that caused serious casualties and losses of aircraft, vehicles and fuel.

SERIES OF BLOWS

In one of the heaviest series of blows since the opening of the spring offensive 27 nights ago, enemy rockets and mortars hit 65 allied bases and towns, and infantry assaults ripped into three of the bases.

It was the largest number of attacks since last Friday, when 70 bases and towns were hit.

All of the enemy infantry attacks were on American bases along the northwest approaches to Saigon, between 31 and 51 miles from the capital. Twelve Americans were killed and 47 wounded, while known enemy losses were 36 dead, U.S. spokesmen said.

Ten of the Americans were killed and 25 were wounded in one attack on an artillery base. Spokesmen said only five enemy bodies were found after an estimated 400 North Vietnamese attacked the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's Fire Support Base White behind a 150-round mortar barrage. However, the Americans said many blood trails and drag marks were found, indicating the enemy took a number of wounded and

Kiwanians Given Picture Of New Robert Lee Dam

Sometime in the next year, Moss Creek Lake dam will be raised sufficiently to increase the area of the lake three times its present size. The enlargement will be made by the Colorado River Municipal Water District which utilizes Moss Creek Lake as a receiving lake for the water to be piped to it from the new reservoir at Robert Lee.

Big Spring Kiwanians Thursday were told of the development of the Robert Lee Lake and shown color motion pictures made of the mammoth construction job which has gone into the building of the reservoir.

O. H. Ivie, general manager for the CRMWD, was the speaker. R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant, was also on hand.

The Robert Lee project, Ivie told the club, is now about 90 per cent complete. Work on the mountainous dam will probably be finished this week or next.

Some water has already been caught in the new lake.

Ivie said that the reservoir will be in a position to retain any run off which could come this spring or early summer and he said the CRMWD hopes that rains will be generous.

Meantime, he said that Lake

J. B. Thomas is at the lowest level it has been in five years, but that even though the volume of water is much reduced, there is, as yet, no water crisis for Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder, the three cities served by this lake.

He told the Kiwanians the Robert Lee Dam is 22,000 feet long and 136 feet above the stream bed in height. It is 28 feet wide at the crown.

The new reservoir will have a capacity at spillway elevation of 488,760 acre-feet. It will cover 14,950 acres at spillway elevation and have a shoreline of 137 miles. The drainage area which serves it will encompass 2,700 square miles.

It is almost twice the size of Lake J. B. Thomas, he said.

NOT THE POLITICAL KIND They're Asking Senate To Settle Ham Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cook, a Baker and a Byrd are on the outs about hams, and they're asking the Senate to settle the dispute.

These aren't the political kind of hams, however—they're cured country hams from Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

The squabble started when Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., wrote to Sen. Howard Baker, Jr., R-Tenn., and Harry Byrd, D-Va., claiming that Kentucky country hams are better than their Tennessee and Virginia competitors.

Cook, predicting "the winner must assuredly be Kentucky country ham," suggested that each senator take some of his state's best hams to the Senate chef—along with personal cooking hints—to be served to the entire Senate as a team of judges.

Baker said he hated to "reveal the inadequacy of the Kentucky and Virginia hams," but accepted the challenge.

"Everyone knows," he added, "that the rich, red Tennessee ham is the best in the country and that red-eye gravy originated in Tennessee when commissaires tired of the dull, brown broth produced by Virginia and Kentucky ham."

Byrd was equal to the challenge, too.

"I have thrown down my gauntlet," he said in a letter to Cook. "You will find it in the Senate chef's kitchen. I will shortly replace the glove with a Virginia ham—the best what am."

Baker had referred to the stately competition as ham fry, to which Cook retorted: "Whoever said this is going to be a ham fry? Is frying a Tennessee ham the only way you can get rid of its anus? This is ham bake, Baker."

There was no word as to when the Senate was going to settle the issue, but a ham dinner may be in the offing soon.

Two infantry assaults were made on the south and east sides of the base within 93 minutes, but they were small, officers said. Thirty enemy troops were repulsed in the first thrust, while 15 to 20 North Vietnamese failed to find an opening in the second assault.

Only 12 of the 38 Americans wounded had to be evacuated. The rest were treated and returned to duty.

The base is one of four artillery and patrol camps along the southern edge of the Viet Cong's War Zone which impedes the enemy approach to Saigon from the northwest.

MAJOR CONTACT

White Base is just north of the Michelin rubber plantation where more than 20,000 American troops and scores of tanks are trying to root out an estimated 7,500 North Vietnamese threatening Saigon. U.S. intelligence officers said the purpose of the attack on the base apparently was to tie down the artillery batteries while North Vietnamese troops tried to maneuver away from American ground forces closing on them.

AP photographer Forst Faas reported from the area that the bulk of the North Vietnamese believed to have been in the Michelin plantation area apparently had escaped to the north and east.

Only one major contact was reported today in the big U.S. counteroffensive, known as Operation Atlas Wedge. Troops of Col. George S. Patton's 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division fought a day-long battle 45 miles northwest of Saigon Thursday, and killed at least 72 North Vietnamese, U.S. headquarters said.

Judge Says Durbin Indictment Valid

BURNET, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge Jack Miller has refused to declare the Texas statute on capital punishment unconstitutional in the pretrial hearing for Clyde Durbin Jr.'s murder trial.

The judge overruled a motion Thursday to knock out the death penalty.

Miller also overruled a motion to dismiss the indictment and refused to make the state choose which means of death Durbin is to be tried on.

The indictment charges Durbin with killing Miss Keitha Morris, 19, White Deer, "by drowning, by beating and striking, or by choking and strangling."

"He knows what he's charged with," said Travis County Asst. Dist. Atty. Bob Huttash.

Defense attorney Frank Maloney called only one Burnet County grand juror to the stand on his motion to dismiss the indictment. Mrs. Annie Mae Gilmp, first woman grand juror in the county's history, refused to say whether the autopsy and the statement Durbin reportedly made to Travis County officers were presented to the grand jury.

She said she took an oath not to reveal the evidence. The judge upheld her refusal to answer, and he ruled that the indictment was valid.

The judge granted a motion to permit the jury to assess punishment at a separate hearing after the trial hearing because the judge had previous commitments.

Still pending is a motion to throw out the seven-page handwritten statement Durbin reportedly made and other physical evidence. Also pending is a motion to postpone the trial from April 14 to next September.

The hearing is scheduled to continue Saturday.

Durbin also is charged in Austin in the slaying of John Albert White, 21, Corpus Christi. White took Miss Morris on a picnic date at Bull Creek near Austin Jan. 8. His body was found in the creek that evening. Her nude body was found floating in Inks Lake, near Burnet, the next day.

Piano May End HST-RMN Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grand piano has turned out to be the unlikely peace symbol that has ended one of the nation's nastiest political feuds—the split between President Nixon and Harry S. Truman.

Over the years, charges of treason, cronyism and political ineptness by Nixon and threats of physical reprisals by Truman have marked relations between the two—with playing the piano the only apparent common point of interest.

Nixon moved to heal the breach when he scheduled a stop today on his trip to California for a visit at the 84-year-old former president's Independence, Mo., home. The chief executive took along the White House piano often used by Truman as a gift.

As an up and coming Republican congressman in the years after World War II who built a political name as a Red hunter, Nixon was never close to the Democratic president.

Any ties between the two came to an end in 1952 when Nixon, running as the GOP vice presidential candidate, charged the retiring president with coddling Communists in the government.

Truman and other Democratic leaders were "traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe," Nixon charged.

Truman reacted angrily to what he considered an attack on his patriotism. He was quoted as calling Nixon an SOB and once said he never wanted to see Nixon because "it would just start a fight. That's the awfulest thing a man can be called—a traitor. When I get started on that, I don't want to swear, I want to punch someone."

Their paths have seldom crossed since. They last met at a Washington dinner in 1964. The rest of Nixon's time after arriving in California late today included a helicopter tour of the Santa Barbara beaches deplored by an oil slick from a runaway offshore well.

Early Sunday Nixon will meet with Ellsworth Bunker, ambassador to South Vietnam, and Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, who is leaving his post as deputy commander in Vietnam to become supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Bunker and Goodpaster then will join the Nixons for their return flight to Washington.

Although the press secretary said that "primarily this is a recreation trip," Nixon will be accompanied by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and National Security advisor Henry A. Kissinger.

Test Shakes With Gadget

SOCORRO, N.M. (AP) — A computer at New Mexico Tech has had the shakes lately, but will recover.

Scientists are merely subjecting it to simulated earth tremors in an effort to unlock one of the planet's mysteries.

The scientists are an explosive engineer and a seismologist embarked on a research project that might lead one day to accurate prediction of earthquakes.

"Learning more about earthquakes doesn't necessarily mean we can prevent them, but it might well lead to predicting them," said Merle Hanson, the engineer.

Hanson and Dr. Allan Sanford, an earthquake specialist, have taught the computer to simulate earthquakes. They have been working on the project for two years.

"There is very little man can do until he understands more about the causes and nature of earthquakes," Hanson said.

"We try to duplicate those things we can't see or measure." To do this, the computer takes a hypothetical block of the earth's crust and induces a shock at one point, much as scientists think a shock in the earth's crust produces an earthquake.

The computer then measures the effect of the simulated shock, printing the results on a chart just as a seismograph measuring a real earthquake does.

When Hanson and Sanford discover a computer earthquake that matches a real earthquake recorded in the central New Mexico area, they study both in detail.

Truman's 'Give'em Hell' Rail Car Sells For $77,000

VERNON, Calif. (AP) — The plush railroad car that carried Harry S. Truman coast-to-coast in his 1948 "give'em hell" presidential campaign will be returned to his home state of Missouri.

On a dusty railroad siding in this industrial Los Angeles suburb, a Kansas City building contractor bid $77,000 Thursday to become the third owner of the midnight blue and gold private car.

"I buy this car on behalf of Alex Barket, who wants to bring it back to Kansas City in honor of the great state of Missouri," cried Robert F. Koste, representative of Metropolitan Construction Co. of Kansas City, as the auctioneer gaveled the lively bidding to a close.

Koste said Barket, board chairman of Metropolitan, called me Wednesday and told me to run over and look at it. We did and he called that night and said buy it."

As he signed a check for $80,850, including tax, Koste said Barket may place the 29-year-old car in an industrial park, Bryans Ford Park.

"It's part of vanishing Americana," he said.

Bidding started at $20,000 and quickly spurred upward. Koste's last competitor, Joseph Ellis, a Del Mar, Calif., trailer dealer, withdrew at $76,000. He said he wanted to take the mahogany-paneled car to the San Diego County Fair as a tourist attraction, charging admission.

Watching the bidding was the seller, Thomas F. Baker, 51,

San Francisco land developer and cotton planter who purchased the car in 1965. He kept it at a siding in Aspen, Colo., where he was able to cast a fishing line from the observation platform into the Roaring Fork River.

A group of women bidders wanted to travel across the country playing bridge in it. Another bidder wanted to donate the car to the Truman Library in Independence, Mo. Another wanted to use it as a cocktail lounge.

Horoscope Forecast TOMORROW

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day of very confusing influences. You would be wise to restrict yourself to conventional and precise activities. Avoid yielding to anything of a secular nature. Also avoid all kinds of deception. The evening becomes a splendid time for gaining the good will of prominent people.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Get all of your practical affairs in fine order today and then plan in the afternoon to do out socially. However, you are right. Do not make mistakes where the result is concerned. Be assertive.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Keep promises made to others in a most conscientious fashion now, and then you can do out socially. However, you are right. Do not make mistakes where the result is concerned. Be assertive.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Certain limitations restrict your activity during the day, but tonight you can get out quickly. Do nothing to add to upsets yourself during morning hours. Dress elaborately in the evening and make a fine impression on others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your goals hardly seem to be working in your favor during day, but you might be mistaken, so take it easy. Wait until evening to socialize. Force nothing during the day or there are bound to be repercussions.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get rid of that temptation to do something foolish that would influence others to think wrongly of you. Evening is fine for sociability otherwise. Be confident. Gather the device you need for your regular work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Are you certain that itinerant you have planned for today isn't like doing off on a wild goose chase? Wait for the evening if you want right results. Listen to this wise in the morning.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Nov. 23) Day hours are not good for assuming new obligations, but tonight you can do so cautiously and properly. Your mate may be upset during day, but by evening everything is fine. Be patient.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid that temptation to argue with an associate in the morning, since by evening all blows over and everything is fine. Being forceful with anyone could be almost disastrous. Control your temper.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be careful for and which a co-worker gives you without doubting his motives. Accomplish what has not been possible before. This, of course, is at whatever cost in the afternoon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have some particular aim which will be realized better in the afternoon. That desire for pleasure is also satisfied then. Keep busy doing routine work during the day and have a cheerier attitude.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't stir up any trouble at home and you can entertain there heavily in the afternoon. Others are in a bad mood during day hours but take no heed. Keep busy at your own duties and all is fine.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Make up your mind to get outside financial and other worries during the day so that your evening can be happier and more serene. Be wise.

If South had tried to draw trumps immediately in today's hand, his four heart contract would have gone on the rocks—for all of the missing key cards were badly placed for him. By leaving the queen of hearts outstanding, while he stripped out the side suits, he was able to uncover a profitable end play against the possessor of that card.

The first round of bidding was routine; however, North was confronted with a problem on his rebid, since there was no completely satisfactory call. We approve of his decision to give South a jump raise in hearts for, although North lacks the required four card trump support, his heavy concentration of high card strength offers an adequate measure of compensation. South carried on to four hearts.

West opened the jack of spades. East put up the ace and returned the five. South was in with the queen. He led over to the king of trumps and cashed the ace and king of clubs. A club was ruffed in the closed hand. The king of spades was played next on which North's remaining club was discarded.

With the black suits completely stripped out of both hands, South led a small diamond and put in the ten from dummy. East won the trick with the queen; however, he was now end played. He could not afford to lead a diamond without sacrificing his trick in that suit. East finally exited with a small heart in the hope that West had the jack, but his efforts were in vain.

South put up the jack of hearts which held the trick. He led over to the ace in dummy to draw the last trump, cashed the ace of diamonds and cheerfully conceded a diamond trick to the opposition. His losses on the deal consisted of one spade and two diamonds.

Notes Growth Of Credit Buying

"The charge card or plate issued by thousands of retailers has been a major supporting factor in the fantastic rapid growth of retail consumer credit," said Mrs. A. G. Eitzen at Thursday's luncheon for Big Spring Credit Women-International. The group met at Hotel Settles.

"The risk of fraud with the use of credit cards goes with consumer credit," continued Miss Eitzen. "Charge frauds have increased with economic expansion in many areas of business."

"Recent surveys indicate that unsolicited credit cards contribute to fraud in many cases," said Mrs. Eitzen, and she recommended that retailers not offer unsolicited credit cards. She warned of the dangers of over-buying and of losing or misplacing credit cards, which contributes to fraudulent use by unscrupulous persons.

She told of a bill now pending before the national legislature that, if passed, would prohibit the mailing of unsolicited credit cards.

It was announced that the Consumer Credit Executive convention is slated May 17-20 in Fort Worth.

Mrs. George Weeks announced that Mrs. Ivonne Marr will talk on the "BankAmericard" at the April 17 meeting. Mrs. Pauline Sullivan won the capsule prize, and the

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
As a wax manufacturer, may we suggest how housewives can do a bit of testing on their own floors when changing from one brand of wax to the next?

Any wax or finish should dry to a smooth, even surface with no ridges or markings.

When spreading liquid waxes, the liquid should not go beyond the path of the applicator and should not dry in spots nor shrink while drying.

After allowing one hour for a wax to dry, the wax or finish should be "lack-free" to gloss paper laid upon the floor surface and should pull off with no sticking.

If water has no effect on the dry film of wax, it should be rated excellent.

Repeated applications of some types of wax on the floor might result in "BUILD-UP". This is called aging. If this happens, the wax must be entirely removed so as to prevent color change.

Hope this helps your homemakers... Jack

Dear Heloise:
My baby's favorite toy is a plastic lemon juice container. When I have used up the juice, I remove the spout plug with a knife, rinse the container and let it dry. Then stick a few pieces of macaroni inside.

I smear some good dependable glue around the edge of the plug, reinsert it and baby has a nice new rattle.

It rolls, makes noise and is practically indestructible... Hilda

Dear Heloise:
For those of you who own cats and find them clawing your furniture (they do this to sharpen their claws)!

A good way to prevent damage to furniture is to cover a cement block or a short log with some thick cloth or a piece of old rug. When you catch your cat clawing on the furniture, pick her up and take her to where you have the "clawing block."

The cat will soon catch on to what you want her to do! Saves your furniture and nerves... Cat Trainer

I sewed extra-wide rickrack over all the stitched parts on the neck, shoulders, and down the front. Used a color to match the slacks I wear it with and it's darling.

My newest one is the best yet. I dyed one shirt olive green to match a pair of my capri pants. At the same time I also dyed some narrow white lace so it would match, and sewed four

Major Revision Of Texas Liquor Laws Approved

AUSTIN (AP) — Major revision of Texas liquor laws—something that the 1968 special legislative session couldn't do—has been accomplished by the state's lawmakers with hardly a breath of debate.

The legislature was off today, starting its customary three-day week.

STATE SPENDING

Some idea of House strategy on state spending was given Thursday by Rep. W. S. Healy, House Appropriations Committee chairman.

He said he wants "the hand to fit the glove," meaning the general appropriations bill should fall within expected revenue from current taxes. This would clearly link any new taxes to special appropriations, such as the $220 million teacher pay raise.

The House passed a Senate-approved bill tightening laws against drinking by minors and making numerous other revisions in the liquor control act. A few minutes later, the Senate swiftly accepted the eight amendments added by the House.

Senators originally passed the bill March 11 with no debate, and the only real House discussion came on an amendment—which was defeated 117-17—that would outlaw private bottle clubs in dry areas.

DEBATE DUE

Although the legislature took prompt action to strengthen present liquor laws there has been no floor debate yet on the ever present question of legalizing liquor by the drink. Committees in both houses have approved a proposed state constitutional amendment that would let voters decide on sale of mixed drinks on a local option basis but sponsors have not pushed for debate. Unverified reports say House supporters have about 95 votes, about five short of the needed two-thirds for passage, while there are reportedly about 20 votes in the Senate, one vote shy.

The liquor bill now awaits Gov. Preston Smith's signature to become law, taking effect

Sirhan Thought He Was 'Savior'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — By killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan "thought he was really more or less the savior of society," says a psychiatrist who has made a study of assassinations.

"He was going to destroy the current political leaders of the country," Dr. Eric Marcus testified Thursday at Sirhan's murder trial, nearing the end of its 11th week. "He thought he knew what was best for society."

Marcus was scheduled to wind up his testimony today. He was appointed by the Superior Court to examine Sirhan soon after Kennedy was assassinated last June 5, but testified for the defense.

The defense said it would call next Dr. Bernard Dymond, a psychiatrist who is considered a leading expert in the concept of diminished responsibility. That's the plea by which Sirhan's defenders hope to save him from the gas chamber.

Dymond, assistant dean in the school of criminology at the University of California Berkeley campus, hypnotized Sirhan to have him recall the shooting of Kennedy.

Grant Cooper, chief defense attorney, said Dymond was the only major witness remaining and that he would be on the stand about three or four days.

Marcus told the jury of eight men and four women that Sirhan "is mentally disturbed and became more disturbed in spring last year. The mental disturbance was relevant and directly related to his political views and feelings toward Robert Kennedy."

Sirhan had written in his diaries that Kennedy, the president and other national leaders should be assassinated.

Sirhan's erratic, irrational and rambling writings, Marcus said, are "very, very typical and similar to the notebooks, diaries and letters of insane people who have written threatening letters to presidents."

In cross examination he agreed with co-prosecutor David N. Fitts that the 25-year-old Jordanian felt himself a part of the Arab-Israeli war. But he disagreed that Sirhan's Arab background and intense nationalism diminished the value of the psychological tests.

"The defendant in terms of psychology and personality is an American," Marcus said. "The tests show his answers are Western-American answers."

—Suspend for 60 days to six months the licenses of liquor dealers who sell to minors. It would be a defense, however, if a youngster presented an apparently valid driver's license, showing his age as 21 or over, and had a "consistent physical appearance" with the photo on the license.

—Allow judges to expunge a liquor law violation from the record of a minor after he becomes 21, if he only had a single violation.

—Open liquor control board records on liquor violations to the public.

TAX HEARING

—Require all applicants for on-premise licenses to be fingerprinted, with the Department of Public Safety screening the prints and reporting to county judges on any criminal records revealed through the prints.

—Require notification of local police chiefs and sheriffs of all hearings on such applications.

—Prohibit anyone convicted the previous three years of a felony or prostitution, bookmaking, gambling, drug offenses, liquor law violations, bootlegging or crimes involving guns from getting an on-premise license.

—Lower from 18 to 16 the age at which someone could check, sack or carry out packaged wine, beer or ale.

On the dollars and cents scene, the chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, said his committee would hold a full-scale general tax hearing April 2. The committee will hear testimony on Gov. Preston Smith's proposals to levy a 1/2 per cent tax on chemical production and a 10 surcharge on fines for moving traffic violations, as well as on an omnibus tax bill introduced by Atwell.

Clouds overhanging the south half of Texas this morning and a little rain fell around Laredo on the Mexico border. It was clear in the Panhandle-Flains and northern sections of the state.

Diffused remnants of a weak Pacific cool front stalled along the coast from Beaumont to Brownsville, posing a prospect for occasional light rain or drizzle tonight and Saturday at many points in the south. Overcast skies were expected to spread into other areas by Saturday.

Forecasts called for temperatures around normal as the new spring season took hold.

Texas Spring Still Rules

By The Associated Press

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Actress-singer Liza Minelli says she was "all a flutter" over a dressing room visit by Australian Prime Minister John Gorton which figured in a row in his country's House of Representatives.

And so were her mother-in-law and sister-in-law, who were present the whole time last July 1, declared the slender, black-haired daughter of Judy Garland in an interview Thursday.

Miss Minelli agreed with the prime minister that any story linking their names in a scandalous way as a result of this date is a pure fabrication. "Vicious lies," was her description.

Speakers in the Australian House of Representatives had said that as they understood it Miss Minelli wrote an article for

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Fri., March 21, 1969 5-A

Liza 'All A Flutter' Over Gorton's Visit the British magazine Private Eye recounting experiences with Gorton at night clubs in Bali and Australia.

Albert James, a member of the opposition to Gorton's Liberal party governments, said it was reported the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had paid $15,000 for the article and peddled it to African, European and American publications. This was flatly denied in Washington.

The House ended by voting not to investigate the matter and Gorton won a standing ovation from his Liberal party followers at a special meeting Thursday night.

"I've never written any article. I don't even have time to write letters," said Miss Minelli.

In Washington, the State Department issued a denial of any official U.S. involvement in the matter.

Twain Not Likely To Be Joined

The current political turmoil in Pakistan brings a new reminder of a built-in difficulty which complicates that country's problems. A thousand miles of Indian territory separate East and West Pakistan. Though lip-service is given to the concept of national unity, as a practical matter it is almost beyond achievement.

Strong elements in Pakistan, indeed, are tugging in the opposite direction. This was made freshly evident by recent comments to two opposition leaders. Both are opposed to the government of President Mohammed Ayub Khan, but in certain other respects they differ widely.

One of these opposition leaders, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of the People's party, has a large following in West Pakistan but is not well known in the east. Though nominated for the presidency, he has offered to defer to Sheikh Mujibur Rahman of East Pakistan, the Awami League party leader who has just been released from two years' detention on political charges.

Bhutto declared he would not "stand in the way of East Pakistan in the interest of national unity and solidarity." But Mujibur, though denying that he seeks secession of East Pakistan, asserted that "the only solution to the problem is regional autonomy in all spheres and self-sufficiency for East Pakistan in all matters."

Since the eastern section has 60 per cent of the population, such an attitude is to be expected. Mujibur's views cannot, however, be construed as giving much support to the idea of "national unity and solidarity." That 1,000 miles of Indian territory between East Pakistan and West Pakistan make it unlikely that the twain will ever be fully joined.

Laudable But Not Sound

One need not search very hard to find examples of silly and dangerous legislative proposals in the various lawmaking bodies of this nation. Congress is not exempt from the introduction of such measures. The state legislatures appear to offer especially fertile ground for the nurture of such folly.

A case in point is a proposal in the Missouri state Senate which would make arrest records confidential. The purported justification for the proposal is that this would protect those who are falsely accused.

On the face of it, this is a laudable objective. But this must be measured against the far greater potential harm in keeping police arrest records secret. As one more perceptive Missouri senator remarked, under such a law the police could arrest a man and tuck him away and no one would be able to find out that he had been arrested. That is a hypothetical danger, but a serious one that cannot be shrugged off. This is a fine example of a legislative proposal which seems well motivated but has not been clearly thought through.

David Lawrence Negroes In The Employment Picture

WASHINGTON — Complaints are coming in not only to management but to labor unions about a "discrimination in reverse" that is developing in the hiring or firing or promotion of employees.

This has arisen because the federal government has assumed the power to grant or withhold contracts to companies on the basis of their record with respect to "racial discrimination" — sometimes construed as a failure by a company to employ a large enough number of Negroes. Various commissions in states and cities have been trying to encourage industrial companies to hire more Negro employees. Often this is difficult because there are not many qualified personnel available from the Negro residents in a given area.

BUT THE BIGGEST protests are heard in the discussions among members of labor unions who feel that a particular job or promotion was given to a Negro primarily to enhance the company's position rather than on merit. This has produced a fear among white employees that, if an economic recession occurs, employers will hesitate to lay off Negroes, as this might lead to a loss of government contracts.

IN NEARLY all union agreements, the workers who have the most seniority are the last to be laid off. Since only in recent years have large numbers of Negroes been added in many companies, they naturally would be the first to suffer if business conditions caused lay-offs. In the automobile industry, the United Automobile Workers have asked Ford Motor Company to let the older employees voluntarily take a lay-off — which, incidentally, means retaining 95 per cent of the regular weekly pay — so that presumably the Negroes at the bottom of the list would be able to continue work. Some of the companies which are confronted with this aspect of the problem are trying to reduce their work-week and are taking other measures that will enable them to retain employees and thus make unnecessary any large number of lay-offs.

IN BUSINESSES where "white collar" employees constitute the bulk of the personnel, it is relatively easy, of course, to set standards and specify qualifications. In other types of work, however, which require less skill and training, Negro employment would naturally grow. In some cities today white workers are scarce, as many have moved to the suburbs, and personnel directors are saying that it is hard to get qualified help of any color. Employers in the large cities are finding also that, even when they hire whatever applicants are available, irrespective of race, efficiency isn't being attained.

PERHAPS ONE of the most perplexing of the controversies has developed in the public-school systems, where demands are being made that more and more Negro teachers be employed. This raises the question whether the quality of education will be maintained if the faculty of a school has to be selected on the basis of race. Lawyers in many communities are struggling now with legal aspects of the problem, and school boards are puzzled as to how they should choose teachers. This "discrimination in reverse" has led also to sharp dissent from teachers' unions.

IF EVERYBODY were selected on merit and without regard to color and if each school hired the best teachers available, there would be no grounds for protest. But, unhappily, confidence in the procedures of school boards is weakened when they are pressured to appoint certain percentages of white or Negro teachers, regardless of individual proficiency.

Lucky All Around

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — While fishing at Lake Cumberland in May, 1968, Mrs. Jack Fitzwater dropped her billfold. The water was deep and the search futile.

In June, 1968, she and Patrolman Jack Fitzwater were married and returned to the lake. Dam repairs had necessitated lowering the water level so Mrs. Fitzwater made another search for the wallet. No luck.

Recently she received a package from Dr. H. P. Thrasher, a veterinarian living near the lake, who explained he had found the billfold almost buried in mud at the lake.

Among the contents was a ticket on horse No. 8 in the seventh race at Churchill Downs May 7, 1966.

That was the Kentucky Derby and the horse was Kaul King. In addition to recovering her purse, Mrs. Fitzwater was $6.80 richer after cashing the ticket.

LAST GRAIN OF HONEYMOON RICE?

John Cunniff Painful Pressures Crunch Inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — At suburban real estate agencies and in corporate offices they call it the crime rate rather than the prime rate, and no more than a couple of years ago the description might have been accurate.

The prime rate today is 7.5 per cent, meaning that is the lowest borrowing rate for a bank's best customers for the very safest purposes. All other rates, for homes, automobiles, travel, boats, rise upward from this base.

RATHER THAN being a crime, however, the situation Americans see evolving each day is a crunch, a shortage of lendable money, a shortage planned by the Federal Reserve and designed to force Americans to spend less.

This is the much heralded fight against inflation. By making money hard to come by, it is hoped that Americans will be prevented from bidding up the price of goods. But it is far from painless, as the Nixon people had hoped.

A crime? Some people think so, but in a strictly legal sense all official rates today are within the law. But only because, usury ceilings were lifted, sometimes hastily, by state governments.

WITH SOME borrowing costs now at their highest since the Civil War, many companies have withdrawn from the market. That's one effect of the anti-inflation plan. But others, for various reasons, must continue to borrow.

Eventually, before deflation begins, this could mean even higher prices for homeowners and others who use the goods and services of such firms. More important, even, is the effect on potential home buyers.

High rates mean at least two things: First, mortgage rates are likely to continue rising. Second, no matter what rate a party is willing to pay for a mortgage, there's a real chance he won't obtain it, especially around cities.

HERE'S ONE reason why. If the prime rate is 7.5 per cent, it is unlikely that a bank will wish to deal in government-backed mortgages—federal housing or veterans—when the ceiling on such loans also is 7.5 per cent.

Because of such rates, because of a shortage of lendable funds and because inflation has pushed $30,000 homes into the $40,000 category in less than two years, an enormous problem now exists in the housing market.

Painful pressures are thus being exerted on millions of Americans in the vast and growing middle class, people whose ambition—and sometimes only way of living gracefully—is to be a homeowner.

IT IS A BIT different with the large corporations, some of which are ignoring the high rates and continuing to borrow, partly on the assumption that what is high now may be higher tomorrow.

A Commerce Department survey indicates that corporate spending for new plants and equipment may rise 14 per cent over last year, or double the estimates of just a few months ago.

Hal Boyle Here's Hal's Sex Hints

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you been embarrassed lately by mistaking a him for a her, or a her for a him?

Well, don't let it worry you. It's happening to everybody. Such mixups are quite normal. Considering how much alike the two sexes think, talk, dress, act and look today.

IT ALL STARTED some years ago when the boys started imitating the girls. Now it is somewhat difficult to be sure who is imitating whom.

However, despite the present complexity of the problem, it is still possible for a careful student of human behavior to determine the sex of most of those he meets. There are always tip-offs of one kind or another.

Here are a few hints to guide the puzzled:

If it can hang by its heels from a playground iron bar, it's a boy. If it likes someone else to carry its books home from school, it's a girl.

Does it wear an itty-bitty watch surrounded by diamond chips? That's a young lady. Does it wear a larger watch with a metal or leather band? That's a young man.

IF IT CAN sew on a button without sticking the needle into its fingers, it's a woman. If it complains about how tired it is from sowing wild oats, it's a man.

So it fixes a tuna fish or peanut butter and jelly sandwich for lunch? Chances are it's feminine. Would it rather have a ham and egg sandwich? Chances are it's masculine.

Does it rush out to the icebox to get a cold beer at every third commercial on a television program? That's the papa. Does it simply murmur acidly, "Sooner or later you're going to turn into a beer can?" That's the mama.

CHOICE OF words is sometimes an indication. If it says it's going to work, it's a Joe. If, preferring to employ a euphemism, it says it "goes to business," it's a career Jane.

If it likes to gossip with its hairdresser while getting its tresses trimmed, it's a girl. If it closes its eyes and dozes the moment it sits down in a barber chair, it's a guy.

Does it count the years, months, days, hours and minutes until it will be able to retire? That's grandpa. Does it say in exasperation, "You know you'd never be happy just sitting around the house doing nothing?" That's grandma.

Around The Rim Abra Cadabra, Kalamazoo

Well, now! All you folk had better treat this old Paste-Pot man with more respect, maybe even reverence, in the future. And I'd better see a little genuine awe in your eyes: awe mixed with a dollop of spine-creaking concern.

IF YOU don't — well, you'd better watch out, see?

In front of me right now is a handsomely ornamented certificate sent me for some reason by The American Society of Witches and Warlocks, whose address is given as 1316 East 6th St. in Tulsa. And that certificate proclaims:

"To all men wherever ye may be:

"KNOW YE that . . . Walt Finley . . . has been found worthy to be numbered as one of our faithful members, has been gathered to our fold and duly initiated into the solemn mysteries of Black Magic, White Magic, Sorcery, Necromancy and Witchcraft, entitled to cast spells, break spells, conjure up devils and visions, predict the future and recall the past.

"All privileges and benefits of the American Society of Witches and Warlocks are automatically bestowed upon the above named (except permission to dance naked on moonlight nights for the purpose of capturing victims).

"THE BEARER of this certificate is hereby given the right to practice the arts of Aeromancy, Astrology, Augury, Capnomancy, Chiromancy, Gastronomy, Hydromancy, Pyromancy and the reading of tea leaves."

THE CERTIFICATE is signed by a Polly Davis — who dots the "i" in her name with a sinister-looking star and who wears the title of Priestess of the American Society of Witches and Warlocks.

So from now on let's have a little more respect out of you guys and gals. Or else, see? I may just whomp up a spell. . . .

A MARRIED couple I know has a financial problem.

It seems she wants a new stove for baking but he wants something to keep the rain from pouring down the front of their house.

I told them, "In times like these, you'll just have to choose between buns and gutter."

A woman who works in this building keeps trying to get me to smile more. "You look better when you smile," she says.

At these prices, why should I look better.

IF BRITAIN devalues the pound, how much will I weigh?

My seventh pair of glasses — about five years ago — had the steel rims and I liked them.

My cousins and other contemporaries said they made me look old. (Would you believe older?) So for my next prescription, I switched to more conventional (i.e. cumbersome) frames.

Now the steel rims are fashionable with the younger set. Although I may actually have started the fad, if I were to wear them now I'm sure friends would say they make me look too young.

What else are friends for? —WALT FINLEY

Marquis Childs The Stoic People Of Saigon

SAIGON — If this is a city under siege, as the potential threat of the latest Viet Cong offensive would have it, the evidence is surprisingly sparse. Here is the surge of traffic, the bleat of motor horns, the crowded cafes and terraces — all the manifestations of a great and teeming city anywhere in the world.

TO THE VISITOR returning after a long absence with the memory of a relatively quiet capital with a strong French imprint, it is an incredible city. The old-timers, Americans here over the years in one capacity or another, take it for granted. That's Saigon — that's the way it is.

In the course of the present Communist offensive perhaps a dozen shells have fallen on the city. Some have done far more damage than others, such as the one that fell in the crowded Cholom area killing 22 people. They fall without warning and apparently with only the most general aim.

SO THE Vietnamese people must live under a form of Russian roulette. That must be put down as the truly extraordinary thing about this conflict: that a people outwardly so gentle, so pacific, have been able for so long to endure war, conquest, unending violence, disruption of ancient ways and ancient attachments.

Beginning in 1941 with the Japanese occupation, it has really never ceased except for brief intervals when opposing forces were preparing new assaults.

Whether the reason is stoicism, fatalism, or merely a weary tolerance of the inevitable, they have endured the Japanese, the French, the Americans, the Communists, and they have survived. While the sum of their suffering is impossible for the outsider to assess, they show it, except in extremis, but little.

IF THE SHELLING by the mortars

was the worst to be endured in the new offensive, it could be shrugged off. Along with it have come a wave of terrorist attacks within the city. And there is the ever-present threat of 15,000 VC and North Vietnamese troops on the immediate periphery of Saigon, with possibly another 45,000 deployed within a radius of 40 miles. The pessimists believe they mean to launch a major attack on the South Vietnamese capital within the next two to three weeks.

MAYBE BECAUSE it has been a day with no shelling (you cross your fingers as you put that down) and no terrorist attacks, the effect of life going on, as in any other city, is persuasive. The gentle dusk comes down. Over the Saigon River the clouds are faintly opalescent. The city lights come on.

THEN, WITH the damp heat of the day somewhat abated, people pour out into the streets. They are in every kind of vehicle — small cars, big cars, battered cars, Hondas — with the motor scooter in the lead. On one scooter is a family of five — small baby, boy about three, girl three or four, father and mother. They look as though they hadn't a care in the world, sailing happily along in a city quite removed from war and violence.

The slender women in their hand-some ao dai, tunics of brilliant solid color over long trousers in black or white, stroll the walks.

ABOVE ALL, what an extraordinary mixture of peoples! The French are still here and doing very well with it, it is reported, a smug smile at the troubles the Americans are having. Only a few GIs are seen in downtown Saigon. And always the Vietnamese themselves as the impassive host for this invasion seeming, if the surface means anything, to tolerate the intolerable.

Holmes Alexander A Man Who Has Won On Principle

WASHINGTON — He would not accept the hidden bribes. He would not bend the knee. He would not yield to threats. He would not accept the upward-and-out promotions that would have saved his dark, handsome, gentle puzzled face.

Otto Otepka's personal honor, his professional pride, his Slavic blood that runs rich with stubborn principle — all these kept him fighting for eight years, and brought him at last to a victory that is a victory for us all — for our freedoms.

"THE RIGHT PEOPLE at the White House know what my position is," Otepka told me. "They have a clear understanding. The State Department made charges against me, and then said the charges were dropped for technical reasons. I don't want that. I want the charges expunged from my record . . .

These are the conditions under which Otepka agreed to accept the "justice" which the campaigning Richard Nixon promised.

OTEPKA GETS more than the $36,000 a year job as member of the Subversive Activities Control Board. He gets the distinction of a presidential appointment. He gets exoneration by Congress when the Senate confirms his appointment.

He gets a chance, he says, to "do something" for his subordinates who stood up for him and were exiled into bureaucratic Siberia.

THERE ARE some right-of-Nixon Republicans who wanted Otto to spurn the SACB post and to hold out for reinstatement as security-evaluator at the State Department. An out-of-a-job Otepka would make it easier to berate the President as a disguised left-winger. A martyred Otepka is a better symbol of Reds-in-government. But Otto took three days to think it over when he was told the White House was "considering" his nomination. He never considered refusing it, provided his conditions were met. He regards the sponsorship of Senators Dirksen, Goldwater and Thurmond as sufficient proof that he isn't deserting the conservative or anti-Communist cause.

BUT THERE was some extra-administration fighting, and there may be more. Mr. Nixon, always the political artist-of-the-possible, might lose a Secretary of State if he forced Otepka on the State Department. There are many Democratic hold-overs there (actually 12 that were on Sen. Joe McCarthy's list of subversives), and they won't stand for Otepka's coming back to take charge of security files. They are numerous enough to make Rogers ineffective, and he might have to quit. Rogers lobbied among senators against Otepka, and to that extent against his friend and boss, the President. Thus far Mr. Nixon has managed to stay superbly above the squabbling.

FOR THOSE WHO like to be around when history provides a landmark case, this is a time to remember. It will be written that Otto Otepka, civil servant, was true to his oath of office. He would not bend the regulations and grant the wholesale "waivers" on security clearances, even at the command of the Attorney General and the Secretary of State. It will be written that Otepka struck a blow for freedom-of-information, and for the Constitution's checks-and-balances, when he gave the Senate what the State Department was trying to hide.

Students Walk Out On Prexy

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — About 20 students, some white and some Negro, walked out of a chapel meeting at Harding College Thursday during the college president's report on the racial situation at the school. The report by the president, Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, was made in connection with recommendations of a student-faculty committee at the Church of Christ School.

The recommendations include the hiring of Negro instructors, requests for black speakers at chapel meetings, initiation of a black history course, expansion of American history courses to include more Negro contributors, appointment of Negro students to the school's student government and a request that the school not interfere with interracial dating.

Ganus said in his report that he "had been prejudiced all right—prejudiced toward helping people regardless of their color."

He said he had been subjected to pressure for assisting Negro students.

One student, Darryl Patterson, said, "They (the administration) are trying to say Harding doesn't have a racial problem, but it does."

A Negro coed complained that Ganus spoke only in generalities and rationalizations. "That's all we got," she said.

The school's enrollment is about 1,000 and includes about two dozen Negroes.

Ganus said he did not oppose interracial dating. He said school policy is, however, to notify parents of students who date members of the other race because parents want to know if their children are involved in situations that could lead to problems.

Four Votes Cast In City Election

With one week left to cast absentee votes in the city commission election, four ballots have been marked at the office of City Secretary Charles Smith.

No ballots have been requested through the mail, Smith said.

Deadline for casting absentee votes for the April 1 election is 5 p.m. March 28. Ballots request through the mail and returned bearing a postmark of no later than midnight March 29 will be valid, Smith said.

Two seats will be decided by the election. Garner McAdams, Blaz Bailon, Eddie Acrt and George Zachariah are candidates for election. McAdams and Zachariah are seeking reelection.

Recording Star Will Reach 104

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The world's first recording star, who in 1887 played the piano for Thomas A. Edison's first phonograph recording, will be 104 Sunday.

Harriet Atwood made the historic recording in West Orange, N.J. Edison sent his young assistant, George Atwood, down the street to get the neighborhood music teacher to play for the new machine on which they were working. Atwood came back with Harriet Hadden, who became Mrs. Atwood.

Mrs. Atwood's husband, who died in 1933, helped Edison perfect the phonograph and then went on to become an electrical engineer with Western Electric. He helped develop the dial telephone system.

McCrocklin's Case Delayed

AUSTIN (AP) — A University of Texas hearing on the controversial doctoral dissertation of Dr. James McCrocklin, president of Southwest Texas State College, has been postponed until May at his request.

UT Graduate Dean W. Gordon Whaley announced the postponement Thursday.

Whaley said he had hoped the hearing could be held this month in view of McCrocklin's statement Feb. 24 that "little time would be needed to accept the invitation" of UT President Norman Hackerman to appear before a UT graduate faculty committee.

"President McCrocklin was invited to indicate dates during the month of March on which he would be available," Whaley said. "However, his reply stated that he would need additional time and indicated that he could not be ready before the early part of May."

That is the same month the board of regents for state senior colleges will consider possible renewal of McCrocklin's contract. Action on the contract was postponed last month to allow new regents time to acquaint themselves with the McCrocklin case.

Ten professors at Southwest Texas have charged that 40 per cent of the sentences in McCrocklin's 456-page dissertation are identical with sentences in a 1934 Marine Corps document by Gen. Franklin Hart on American intervention in Haiti, 1914-1934. Another 16 per cent of the sentences have a one-, two- or three-word deviation from sentences in the Hart report, the professors said.

Nowhere in the dissertation is the Hart report credited, the professors said, although the report was reprinted in a book published from the dissertation two years after McCrocklin got his doctorate from the University of Texas.

McCrocklin's wife wrote her master's thesis at Texas A&I on the same topic. The professors charged that 51 per cent of her sentences were identical with sentences in her husband's work. Another 10 per cent had a variation of up to three words, they said.

McCrocklin served on the three-man panel that approved his wife's thesis.

Loud Auto Theft Campaign Waged

By The Associated Press

Within 150 miles of New York City, you can turn on a radio and hear this:

"What do they call a person who doesn't lock his car?"

Answer: "A pedestrian."

It's not radio comedy. It's a small part of the biggest campaign against auto theft ever initiated in a single part of the country. The goal of the experiment is to cut auto thefts, a large and growing problem across the nation but particularly in and around New York City.

In the city, and adjacent suburban counties 120,000 cars were taken last year. Eight out of 10 were unlocked and four of 10 had keys in the ignition.

The slogan, "Lock it and pocket the key" is bombarding eyes and ears from all media. The campaign is a pilot project of the Anti-Car Theft Committee of the National Automobile

'FALSIFICATION IN NEWS BROADCASTS' CHARGED

The 'Shadow' Knows If It Is Censorship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strongly worded dissents objecting to "the shadow of government censorship" and threats to a free press have been filed against a House committee's suggestions of tougher controls over radio and television station news operations.

"Even assuming that we have the right to impose these restrictions I feel they would tend to throttle a vital element of news dissemination, our broadcasters," said Rep. Louis Van Deerlin, D-Calif.

Van Deerlin, a one-time radio and TV news editor, said he would leave it for legal minds to assess the constitutionality of the series of proposals advanced by the House Commerce Committee.

But Reps. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio; James F. Hastings, R-Mich.; James F. Hastings, R-N.Y.; and Richard L. Ottenger, D-Ky., asserted that "Congress cannot constitutionally legislate a variety of these recommendations."

The proposals were included in a report which found that station WBBM-TV of Chicago staged a marijuana party and broadcast it as a two-part news program to enhance its ratings. The station has denied the charge.

One proposal would extend prohibitions against deceptive practices in radio-TV quiz type shows to include "falsification in news broadcasts."

"But falsification in whose judgment?" asked Van Deerlin. "An FCC hearing examiner? Some district judge? Mayor (Richard J. Daley of Chicago)? I should feel far safer with a few demonstrated liars on the air than I could possibly feel with a government agency going over their scripts."

The other minority report said that while no one would defend intentional falsification of news, "the practical effect of trying to legislate a standard of 'truth' would place in the hands of the government a weapon over the press that is common in totalitarian countries."

All five representatives were critical of another proposal to require stations to retain for six months after broadcast all film edited out of news interview and news documentary type programs so it could be inspected by public authorities.

The majority committee report, Brown wrote, shows "el-ther, a devoted misrepresentation, or a devoted unconcern for the constitutional limitations placed upon the government's power to regulate or interfere with the journalistic functions of broadcast media."

Most recommendations in the majority report would help little in a search for truth, Van Deerlin said, but would discourage "the bold reporting and provocative programming which often make mistakes, but which always help vitalize democracy."

Senate Dean Due Cobalt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgia's Richard B. Russell, dean of the Senate, plans to continue working while undergoing cobalt treatment for what doctors believe is an inoperable tumor on a lung.

"The doctors advised me strongly to continue my work and to wait the outcome of treatment," Russell said Thursday. "I've decided to take that course."

Russell, who at 71 has spent more than half his life in the Senate, said the cobalt therapy will last about six weeks. He will undergo treatment on an out-patient basis a few minutes each day.

In a tape recording played for newsmen by an aide, Russell said doctors discovered a tumor while he was undergoing an X-ray checkup for the emphysema he suffers from.

"It is fair to assume it is malignant," Russell said.

He said the tumor is inoperable because of damage to his lungs from the emphysema. Russell was a three-pack a day cigarette smoker until he quit 10 years ago.

First elected to the Senate at the age of 33, the courtly bachelor rose to become one of its most commanding figures, a general of Southern Democratic forces, the Senate's president pro tempore, chairman of the Appropriations Committee and mentor of former President Lyndon Johnson.

Dismissing speculation about seeking re-election in 1972, Russell said he hoped now to be able to serve out his current term.

The illness strikes at a time when the Republican administration needs his help in getting Senate approval of funds for its controversial antiballistic missile system.

The battle over the funds is shaping up as President Nixon's first major confrontation with Congress with most of the opposition centered in the Senate.

With his appropriations chairmanship and standing in the Senate, plus his strong support of the ABM, Russell is a nearly indispensable ally.

Ripples Of Crash Tragedy Spreading

MEMPHIS (AP) — A shock wave of death hit and stunned the city of Memphis.

Those struck hardest were the families of 15 leading citizens killed in the Thursday crash of a chartered private plane at New Orleans, leaving 37 children fatherless.

But the ripples of tragedy quickly spread through a metropolitan area of more than one million people. The 15 men, most of them owners of their own businesses, knew a lot of people, had a lot of friends.

Gov. Buford Ellington ordered a Tennessee National Guard transport aircraft based at Memphis to go to New Orleans today. Its mission: Return the bodies.

"This tragic accident... has taken the lives of so many talented and dedicated citizens," Ellington said.

"The loss to the city is irreplaceable," said Mayor Henry Loeb.

The flight had started out for British Honduras, where the party planned to take part in a jaguar hunt and fishing expedition sponsored by the West Tennessee Sportsman's Association.

The grief and shock were felt intensely in the close-knit suburban community of Millington, where five families received death messages.

A planned night of gaiety for the Downtown Association at its annual awards banquet and salute to working women was turned into a subdued, memorial to Baber and the other victims.

Five of those who lived through it returned to Memphis Thursday. Dr. Kenneth C. Caldwell, a dentist, described any attempt he and Frederic W. Thirkield III, 19, made to rescue the youth's father:

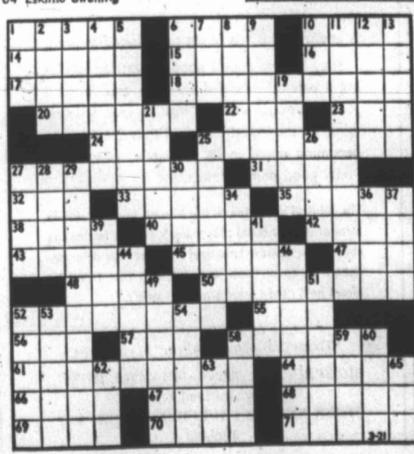

"Standing there with the boy, trying to pull his father out. It was tragic. The flames came in on him, and he waved to his son just before he was engulfed."

Another who helped try to free the elder Thirkield, a mechanical engineer, was Billy Jo Spence, owner of a saddlery and clothing firm.

"That kid is shook up bad," said Spence. "I helped him try to pull his daddy out. We tried to pull him through a window but his feet were stuck. We tried till the flames were all over him."

Shrimp Peelers Can Skip Singing

THUNDERBOLT, Ga. (AP)—Shrimp peelers don't have to sing "The Shrimp Boats are A'coming" if they don't want to, says the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Six shrimp peelers employed by the Trade Winds Co. of Thunderbolt complained, among other things, that their boss made them sing for visitors from time to time.

The commission ruled that mandatory musicals are not a legitimate part of the job.

Police Use Mace After Rocks Fly

DENVER (AP)—Officials at Denver West High School said they "expect to maintain school as usual" today in the wake of a rock-throwing disturbance climaxed by the arrest of more than two dozen persons. Three others were injured.

Complaints over "racist" instruction by a social sciences teacher at the school triggered the Thursday demonstration, along with demand for more privileges and "Chicano" instruction.

Officials of the Denver school district said the teacher involved had asked for a transfer and the request would be granted. A spokesman said the teacher had sought the transfer earlier.

"Of course we hope there will be no trouble," said Robert G. Mohar, assistant principal of the 1,800 student school. "There always is a possibility but we expect to maintain school as usual."

As many as 300 persons took part in the demonstration, begun when some 150 students walked out of classes. Police arrived and fights broke out. Some officers used chemical mace to subdue protesters.

All those arrested had been released on bond by Thursday night, including Rodolfo "Corky" Gonzales, leader of the militant Crusade for Justice, a Hispanic organization. Also arrested was a television cameraman who police said struck an officer with his camera.

Rumors late Thursday indicated a general student strike would be called for West and two other high schools, as well as two junior high schools.

With a police helicopter hovering overhead, groups of students and others marched on City Hall, downtown police headquarters and the State Capitol building after the school incident but there was no serious trouble.

Financial Status Of Agencies Given

By TEx ROGERS

Financial status of the city, county and Big Spring schools without the sacrifice of better education," he said. "If the people are informed as to how their schools are run and their money is spent, they may be more interested enough to help forestall any tax increases, but still provide a good education."

Cape pointed out that from 1956-57 to 1966-67 school year the enrollment of Big Spring schools increased 40 per cent, while the number of school employees increased 78 per cent. Cost for instruction increased from $1,001,297 to $2,674,439 during that period, he said, and administration costs increased from $57,240 to $166,936.

that income from the city sales tax and other income should leave about a $500,000 surplus at the end of this year.

"I have asked the city to cut the ad valorem tax rate from $1.40 to $1.25, which would cut the city's income about $300,000, based on the surplus," he said. "I don't know what the city will do about it until the hearing. The budget is now being prepared and unless someone has a bonafide case to present, the budget won't be changed after the hearing."

"It appears that some money should be saved in the school system," he said. "I realize that it takes money to run the system, and we want the finest education that dollars can buy for our children. But the committee feels that the children can get as much education for less money."

Faulkner presented figures from the county audit report which showed the current tax rate and a combined balance sheet of all funds. The 1969 tax rate for Howard County is $1.05 per $100 valuation, he said, compared to $1.07 the past two years.

After the meeting Watkins said he is pleased with the progress of the committee since its organization and the cooperation received from the city, county and school officials.

"It is gratifying to find more people taking an interest in local governments," he said. "This is what we need for a better democratic process. Our elected officials are just people who have to make their living and do not have the time to devote to their offices. The committee can help them and the officials should welcome the help."

He noted that valuations have increased from $676,317.42 in 1967 to $824,833.12 in 1968, but the tax rate has been reduced.

"I have talked with County Judge Lee Porter and the committee has been invited to attend the Commissioners Court meetings," he said. "The commissioners have been cooperative in providing information."

Faulkner added comments on suggestions concerning county government on a questionnaire circulated at the committee's initial meeting. Suggestions on county operations included more fire protection in the county, better working agreements between the county and city governments, less money for political jobs, better supervision of the road department and long range planning in that department, reducing ad valorem taxes.

Watkins, in his report on city government, presented audit figures which showed increases in ad valorem taxes during the past nine years, and in revenue from public works. Expenses by the city have increased in public safety, public works and water and sewer, he said.

DEAR ABBY: How does this grab you? The other day while visiting my mother-in-law, I noticed two hand-painted plates that were mine. I was shocked when I saw them and asked, "When did I give those plates to you?"

She replied, "You didn't. I saw them down in your cellar during those three weeks you and Tom were separated. I figured they'd just get broken, so I took them."

DEAR ABBY: I'd have told her that now that the danger of "breakage" had subsided, I'd like to have my plates.

DEAR ABBY: In a few words in a recent column you re-focused my outlook on a problem concerning my 75-year-old parents, and relieved me of a responsibility which I now see was not mine.

In their retirement years, my parents have fought and bickered almost continually until it has become a way of life. Our children no longer enjoy their grandparents' company, and I must admit that my patience was worn thin listening to them argue, one against the other.

Well, after I got to the hospital the pains tapered off and nothing happened so they finally sent me home saying it was "false labor."

I got a bill for $43.50. Since it was false labor and nothing happened, do I have to pay this bill? NO BABY

DEAR NO: Yes. (And not in Confederate money, either.)

DEAR "BLUE GRASS": Better find another couple. I can't blame your husband. If you "love" his wife, see her in the daytime.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS"
IMAGINE READING PRAYERS FROM A BOOK!
It's true. Episcopalians base a large share of every worship service on "The Book of Common Prayer," a very uncommon piece of literature.
The word "common," in this instance, means "together." Most churches use a hymnal because they want to sing together. Episcopalians use a prayer book, too, because they like to pray together. No one is ever asked to "lead in prayer," but each finds ample opportunity during the service to frame his own private prayers.
To those who decry written prayers, Episcopalians point out that The Lord's Prayer is just that . . . and yet its meaning to every Christian is undimmed by its being reproduced in print.
They believe there's good reason for following a carefully-planned schedule and form of services throughout the Christian year. For one thing, an individual church is thus spared from becoming mired in its minister's "hang ups." Pretty good point, these days?
The biblical background, the history, and the simple form of the Episcopal prayer book make a fascinating story. Your nearest Episcopal minister would be delighted to cover them in detail with you. Don't be afraid he'll "twist your arm." He won't.
One of a series presented by "Those Crazy Episcopalians" in your area.

Jurors Charge 17 In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating incidents during the Democratic National Convention here last August has indicted 17 persons, including eight demonstrators, eight policemen and a woman newscast employe.

U.S. Atty. Thomas A. Foran said more indictments would be forthcoming as the grand jury continued its consideration of disorder during the convention week, when 677 persons were arrested, many in violent confrontations with the police.

Four of the policemen already were under suspension when the indictments were made public Thursday. Police Supt. James B. Conlisk announced 30-day suspensions for the other four.

One policeman was charged with perjury in testimony before the grand jury, the other seven with depriving individuals of their civil rights. Five of the seven were accused of assaulting newsmen.

Five of the indicted demonstrators are leaders of the New Left movement. All eight were charged, under antiriot provisions of the 1968 Civil Rights Act, with conspiracy to incite violence.

The 17th indictment charged Enid Roth, 38, of New York, a National Broadcasting Co. employe, with "willfully and knowingly" trying to use an electronic device to intercept oral communications.

Specifically, she was accused of hiding a microphone inside a television set in a Conrad-Hilton Hotel room where the Democratic Platform Committee was meeting. She is now under suspension from NBC.

Indicted demonstrators were David T. Dellinger, 53, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; Rennard C. Davis, 28, of Chicago; Thomas Hayden, 29, of New York; Abbott H. Hoffman, 32, of New York;

Jerry C. Rubin, 30, of New York; Lee Weiner, 29, of Chicago; John F. Froines, 29, of Eugene, Ore.; and Bobby G. Seale, 32, of Oakland, Calif.

Dellinger is chairman of the National Mobilization Committee to End War. Hayden is former secretary of the Students Youth International party, a group commonly known as the Yippies.

The perjury indictment was against Police Lt. Carl Dobrich, accused of lying under oath when he denied to the grand jury that he struck anybody during the disorders or saw any other policeman hit a demonstrator.

Mayor Richard J. Daley, who has defended police conduct during the convention uproar, refrained from comment on the indictments. But Jay Miller, Chicago executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union, said:

"The eight and eight sounds like an attempt to politically balance the indictments. However, they are really out of balance since most of the demonstrators indicted are leadership people and most of the police are not."

Brisk Business

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP) — The old west really isn't dead. Buffalo Police Chief John Taffner received a report of a stray horse so he went out, lassoed the animal and returned him to his owner.

He returned to his office and was greeted with a report that another Buffalo resident's pet falcon was loose. So Taffner went out again and lassoed the falcon, too.

Earl Of Snowdon May Stage Strike

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's brother-in-law may find himself on strike one of these days.

The Earl of Snowdon, professional photographer and husband of Princess Margaret, has applied to join the Association of Cinematograph Television and Allied Technicians whose walkouts in the past have paralyzed much of British television.

If the earl, 39, known to his press colleagues as Antony Armstrong-Jones, gets into the union—and the union says he will—he will have to join any strike or face possible expulsion.

Bad Law Frees 32 In Del Rio

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Thirty-two persons, charged with violation of an improperly passed city ordinance, were free of the charge today after a Corporation Court judge dismissed their cases.

Judge Watt Murrah, in dismissing 32 cases against persons who took part in a VISTA demonstration March 15, agreed with the defense attorney, Warren Burnet of Odessa.

Burnet contended that no prosecution is possible under an ordinance that has not been published in its entirety. City Attorney James Simonds and County Attorney John Pettit agreed.

The March 15 demonstration followed a request by Gov. Preston Smith to the Office of Economic Opportunity to withdraw VISTA workers from Val Verde County. Smith said he acted on the request of the county's Commissioners Court.

Smith held a news conference Thursday in Austin after meeting with a pro-VISTA group headed by Dr. Fermin Calderon, president of the Val Verde County Community Action Agency.

The governor told newsmen that the "commissioners court is the constituted authority. . . . They are answerable to the people."

Earlier he had said that "if the commissioners don't want them (VISTA workers), I don't want them."

Pastors Planning Sunrise Easter Worship Service

Program details are virtually complete for the city's traditional Easter sunrise worship on April 6.

The service will be in the City Park amphitheater starting at the sunrise moment of 8:29 a.m. In event weather is too severe, the service will be in the First Baptist Church.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, for nearly a score years pastor of First Baptist here and now in Houston, will deliver the Easter message. A scripture reading is to be given by John Johansen of the HCJC speech department.

A special anthem is to be given by the combined high school and junior college choirs, under direction of Larry Stanley; and a group from the high school band with Bill Bradley conducting, will play the offertory. Mrs. H. M. Jarratt will be the organist.

A fanfare of trumpets will open the service, and the Webb AFB color guard will present the colors. The call to worship will be worded by Chaplain Robert Deming of Webb, who as president of the Big Spring Pastors Association, will be in charge of the program.

Chaplain Deming said the program is being scheduled to last no longer than 45 minutes.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club will serve as ushers, and the city's floral shops are cooperating in arranging special decorations for the stage area.

The City of Big Spring will provide assistance with the public address system and for officers to help with traffic and parking.

The service, customarily attended by hundreds, is sponsored by the Pastors Association, and funds received from the offering help finance the Bible course in the high school.

Mrs. W. L. Armstrong, missionary in Indonesia, will bring the morning message Sunday. Mrs. Armstrong, her husband and three children have been serving as missionaries for five years. They will return to Indonesia in June.

Mrs. Cecil Matthews of the Wesley Student Center at West Texas University, Canyon, Tex., and president of the Women's Society of Christian Service will present the service of celebration Saturday evening. She will be assisted by Mrs. A. W. Reddick.

The Brownfield district guilds will be hostesses for the annual meeting. The conference includes the Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, Pampa, Brownfield, Childress, Plainview and Big Spring districts.

CHRIST PREPARES FOR DEATH IN SUNDAY LESSON MESSAGE

Sunday's lesson deals with Christ preparing for His Death. The Scripture selection comes from Mark 14:22-26, 32-41 with the devotional reading being taken from John 17:1-11.

The scene at Gethsemane shows in a literal way what is true in a figurative way: the flesh is weak. Because it is men cannot change themselves. If they could, Christ would not have to die for the sins of the world.

In the lesson we have the institution of the Lord's Supper. The bread is to be taken as a symbol of His body and a sign of the fellowship with Him in His sufferings and of the partaking of His Life.

The wine is a sacrament of fellowship with the risen Lord. The weakness of the flesh is never more apparent than when we see Peter, James and John falling asleep when they should have been praying with their Lord. Or it is just as apparent when we see or hear of people who are trying to reform their lives or make themselves live the Christian life. A man may want to change, but may not be able to on his own.

Flimsy as a Kite

What is as wonderful as a spring day, with just enough breeze to fly a new kite? It soars higher and higher, a bright blotch of color in the sky. It is a rare individual who won't pause to watch it, and, to most of us, it is perhaps a symbol of unsurpassed freedom.

Yet, in flying a kite there is need for control, or it will soon crash. What was sheer loveliness will become a crumpled heap of sticks and torn paper. This is true of many things that catch our fancies—true also of many of our dreams.

In this life, we need to learn the difference between the things that endure and those that are as flimsy as a kite in the wind. We need to learn control, courage and faith. None of these comes easily, but the first step will be found in the teachings of your church. Have you been going to church lately?

Young Links Nomad Enjoys The Life

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Heard, 21, six feet tall and 180 pounds, quit Fresno State College last fall in his junior year and decided to take out after Nicklaus, Casper & Co. on the $6 million pro tour.

"I've wanted to play on the golf tour since I was 11 years old—I couldn't wait," the strapping young athlete said today. "I came from an athletically minded family. My dad played pro baseball and even had a contract to go with the Cardinals.

"But he got married instead. 'No, I don't intend to go back to college. This is my life now. I think I can make the grade.'"

Heard is one of the brash, new breed of hungry tigers who have abandoned other pursuits—including higher education—and plunged into the rich golf tour.

They look at Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper, and Gary Player and say—apparently—what better way is there to become a millionaire?

Heard popped up among the leaders of a tightly bunched pack after the first round of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open tournament Thursday.

He fired a 68, four under par, which placed him in a tie with six others, just one stroke back of pace-setting Jay Hebert, the 41-year-old veteran from Lafayette, La., leading at 67. Jerry is one stroke ahead of Nicklaus, two in front of Palmer, three better than Casper and four in front of Player—not bad for a rookie.

"These kids have no fear whatever," Lionel Hebert, veteran of 19 years on the tour. "They just tee that ball up and blast away. They are really tough."

"It's not like when I was breaking in," said Gardner Dickinson, the Ben Hogan prototype who has been on the circuit since 1952 and who is tied with Heard at 68 in the first round.

Flychasers For Big Spring High School Steers

When the Big Spring Steers line up against Odessa High in Odessa at 2 p.m. Saturday, coaches Oakey Hagood and Dan Bustamante will be depending upon these boys to man outfield positions. Kneeling, from the left, they are Charley Lewis and Jumbo Martinez. Standing, Roger Dixon, Andy Gambao and Rocky Wooley. The Steers need a win over the Bronchos to retain a share of the lead in District 3-AAAA. Over-all, the Steers are 5-3-1. Jimmy Farris has been nominated to hurl for Big Spring, who play their next home game Tuesday against San Angelo.

Bruins, Boilermakers Await Test For Title

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — due is a vastly improved team. UCLA and Purdue meet Saturday for the national collegiate basketball title, but UCLA Coach John Wooden isn't banking on a repeat of the teams' season opener when UCLA beat Purdue 94-82.

That match was played at UCLA, and Wooden thinks Purdue is a vastly improved team. The Bruin coach, seeking an unprecedented third straight NCAA title and the fifth in six years, was anything but complacent after UCLA held on for an 85-82 victory over stubborn Drake in the semifinals Thursday night.

Purdue gained the champion-

Temple Plays Boston Quint

NEW YORK (AP) — The Temple Owls, who tired of playing third fiddle in Philadelphia all basketball season, are playing perfectly in New York, and now only Boston College stands in their way of top billing in the National Invitation Tournament.

"I don't think we did a thing wrong all night—the perfect game," said Coach Harry Litwack of the overlooked Owls after they pulled away from Tennessee 63-58 in the semifinals Thursday night for their third straight upset.

Their perfect play came after Boston College, the first team picked for the NIT and the one that has received top billing, beat Army at its own control game 73-61.

The results left Temple and BC to play for all the marbles on national television Saturday at 2 p.m. EST, in Madison Square Garden. Army and Tennessee, the 12 defensive teams in the country, meet at noon for third place.

"You have to give the boys credit," Litwack said after the Owls, now 21-8, scored 10 straight points behind a press to turn a 49-44 deficit into a 54-49 lead.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Coaches Oakey Hagood and Dan Bustamante are doing crackjack jobs of teaching members of the 1969 Big Spring High School baseball team the necessity of polishing their fundamental skills in the game.

The two operate a well disciplined camp, too. The idea is very compatible with the kind of over-all program head coach and athletic director Spike Dykes is endeavoring to build within the school.

Casey Stengel tells a story about the time he met one of his pitchers staggering into the New York Yankees' hotel lobby at 3 p.m.

"Drunk again," Casey snarled.

The player paused for a moment, then smiled sheepishly and replied:

"Me, too."

John Mullen, a front office man for the Houston Astros, said on a recent visit here that Dooley Womack figures to be a big help to the National League club because (1) he exudes 'class, perhaps because he spent so much time with the New York Yankees and (2) he's a cool customer under fire.

The relief ace is widely known for his dry wit.

The first time he took the mound for the Astros this spring, he yelled to his 6-4 catcher, Don Bryant:

"Okay, kid, tie yourself down back there."

More recently, a club photographer was on the verge of taking his picture when Dooley asked:

"Is this picture going to include my pirate's treasure — my sunken chest?"

Womack is just shy of six feet in height and weighs a little less than 170 pounds.

Dooley says he first learned about his trade to Houston when a friend called him up and asked him how he was going to like Texas.

Texas placed seven boys, Ohio five and California and Pennsylvania four each on the 21st annual Prep All-America football squad chosen recently by Coach and Athlete magazine.

Among the top ten high school boys in America who played out their string in 1968, only back Joe Wylie of Henderson, Tex., was included.

Forty-four states were represented on the squad itself, and, as usual, backs dominated the team.

"I have always maintained it is far easier to get an interior lineman recognized on all-star contingents simply because most everyone is eager to project a back as a candidate).

Texas, in addition to Wylie, who were included on the elite squad included Mike Bayer, Austin Reagan end; Bruce Best, Houston Smiley linebacker; Eddie Foster, Monahan center; A. G. Perryman, Lubbock Dunbar linebacker; Walter Balsey, Waco Moore tackle; and Bruce Gaw, Dallas Bryan Adams tackle.

Any number of Texans were included on the magazine's Honorable Mention list, among them Jim Montgomery of Midland High and Eddie Lee Reutro, Sonora.

It can now be revealed that Mickey Mantle was exposed to the expansion draft last October but was passed over by both Seattle and Kansas City.

Dick Young, writing in Sports magazine, says that Mantle was offered through the first two rounds of last year's draft only to have his name withdrawn by the New York Yankees. At the time, Mantle had not given any indications he would pack it in as a player.

Marvin Milkes of Seattle, who agreed not to draft the Yankee superstar, said of the offer:

"I want Mickey Mantle to come to Seattle twice with the Yankees next season and fill my ball park."

The Yankees were more afraid that Kansas City would pluck Mantle from the draft list.

Two Coahoma football players, senior Mike Duke and junior Noel Harvell, either have undergone knee surgery or are due such operations at Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital here shortly. Both have had torn cartilages.

Harvell should clock a lot of playing time with the Bulldogs next fall, assuming his knee functions properly. Duke, of course, was one of the most reliable performers for Coahoma's championship club in 1968.

Referring to Purdue, Wooden added, "If they played all season like they played tonight, we wouldn't have beaten them last fall."

Purdue Coach George King was a little happier with his team's performance.

"I don't believe we were looking ahead to anyone tonight," King said.

But when questioned before the second game about the possibility of meeting UCLA, he said he would let his Boilermakers run with the Bruins just as they did in their first meeting.

"We like for a team to pressure us," he said, "so we can develop our running game."

And King added that Purdue has picked up more poise and togetherness in play throughout the season.

But King faces the same large problem he did earlier—UCLA's 7-foot-11/2 Lew Alcindor proved his All-American ranking against Drake with 25 points and 21 rebounds.

"If we had Chuck Bavis," King said, "we probably would play them straight away. But since we don't . . ." He wouldn't say just what Purdue might do.

Bavis is Purdue's 7-foot junior center who is out of tournament play with an injury.

Wooden's chief concern in meeting the Boilermakers is the guard duo of All-American Rick Mount and Bill Keller, who bombed the Tar Heel defense with their outside shooting.

Blake Taking 23 Boys West

ACKERLY — Twenty-two members of Sands High School's 23-man squad will go to Imperial Saturday for an invitational track and field meet.

Only sprinter Steve Herren will be left behind. Steve is recovering from the mumps.

The Mustangs haven't had decent weather in which to work but figure to pick up a few points at Imperial.

Shot putter Jim Fryar and sprinter Ike Lewis may be Sands' best bets. Fryar has put the shot 46-1 this year and cleared 49-5 last season.

Lewis ran the 100 in 10.1 at the state meet last year and has lowered his time to 10.5 in workouts. Lewis likely will run the 440 Saturday, according to coach James Blake.

Sands will take part in its district meet at Sundown Friday, March 28, along with 13 other teams. The Regional meet followed that by two weeks at Lubbock.

Other Sands boys making the trip include:

John Maxwell, hurdler, mile relay; John McCreary, shot put; Ronnie Taylor, hurdles, relays; Lance Hooper, coor and mile relay; Perry Gillespie, sprinter and relay.

Also Robert Herron, hurdler; Steve Herron, hurdles; Gavino Rodriguez, discus; Edward Barrera, shot put; Johnny Peugh, brood jump and high jump; Eddie Newcomer, 800.

Also Bernie Green, mile run and pole vault; Freddie Hendrick, coor; Addi Tony Gillespie, sprints; Marcy Robles, sprints; Randy Clemens, sprints; Rodden Miller, high jumper; Alan Colvio, miler; Bobby Best, high jumper; and Paul Hoover, 800.

Men's WT Cage Meet Slated

The annual Men's West Texas Basketball tournament will be staged in Big Spring March 27-29, with indications of a strong field.

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, through its Sports and Recreation Committee, will sponsor the event as the first project of what promises to be a busy agenda for the year.

Entry fee will be $20 per team and the HCJC gym will be used for most if not all the games.

Those interested can contact either Tom Eastland, Chamber manager, or Delmar Poss of the sports and recreation committee.

Midland Nickel Chrysler, an entry in the recent TAAF state meet, is committed to play and the Ince Oilers of Lubbock, which features former Texas Tech star Harold Denney, probably will come in.

Tompkins Oil and First National Bank will represent Big Spring in the tournament.

All proceeds from the tournament go to charity. Admission prices have been pegged at 50 and 25 cents.

Presenting the world's smartest Volkswagens.

The smart-looking VVs above are the Fast-back (right) and Squareback Sedans. They are the only VVs with brains. The brain is an electronic device that masterminds a fuel injection system. It keeps the engine from doing such unintelligent things as wasting gas. Or contributing heavily to the air pollution problem. And what could be smarter than that?

Joint Revival Services Slated

The congregations of Le Fevre (Spanish) and Hillcrest Baptist (Anglo) will join next week in a new experience.

The will have joint revival services at the Hillcrest Church, 2185 Lancaster, and the Rev. Julian Vigil, pastor of Le Fevre Church, will be the evangelist.

The young people of the two churches will be responsible for the music, which will be under the direction of Mrs. Julian Vigil, assisted by Aaron Crawford, Hillcrest music director. Mrs. Crawford will be organist and Arlene Henderson pianist, along with Le Fevre young people.

Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. daily starting Sunday and continuing through March 30.

The Rev. Vigil is a native of Laredo and was a tilesetter in Houston when he was converted July 17, 1955. The following year he felt the call to preach and studied at the University of Corpus Christi. He is still taking extension work from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. Before coming here from Silverton in July, 1966, he pastored congregations at Cal Allen, San Diego (Tex.), and Sinton.

The Rev. Clyde Campbell, for many years a professor and then pastor at Hobbs, N.M., came here to retire, but Hillcrest members persuaded him to become their pastor.

Oak Cliff Minister To Preach At First Baptist

Dr. James L. Cooper, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Oak Cliff in Dallas, will be guest preacher for revival services at the First Baptist Church, beginning Sunday, continuing through March 28. Dr. Cooper will preach at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday. Weekday services will be at noon and 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Connell Taylor, minister of music and education at the church, will coordinate and lead special music, which will feature the church's adult, youth and junior choirs.

A graduate of Howard Payne College and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Dr. Cooper received the doctor of divinity degree from Howard Payne College in 1966. Women Want Liberalized Abortion Laws

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Women demanding passage of a law to legalize abortion are organizing a campaign of pressure on the state legislature.

"We're rounding up everyone we can to demonstrate, to protest, to do whatever they can to convince legislators that people are really concerned," said Marilyn Ward, spokesman for a study group backing an abortion bill.

"The legislators apparently are afraid of this issue and I don't know why," she said. "Our polls show tremendous support for liberalizing abortion laws. It even surprised me."

Bills that would allow women to have abortions at accredited hospitals under counsel from doctors have been stalled in House and Senate committees since the beginning of the legislative session Jan. 13.

Mrs. Ward said polls throughout the state show as many as 80 per cent of the women questioned favor liberalized laws. She said the lowest rating was 54 per cent support in a conservative Roman Catholic area of Spokane.

If the legislature fails to act on the abortion bills, the issue could go before Washington voters in a referendum in 1970.

"But that's expensive, time-consuming and, in my opinion, wrong," said Mrs. Ward. "This seems to be the appropriate time and place for action."

Doctors and clerics have been divided on the issue with major opposition coming from Roman Catholic Archbishop Thomas A. Connelly of Seattle.

In the Senate Rules Committee, where the bill currently is stalled, nine of 15 members voted to kill the abortion proposal when it was first introduced Jan. 29.

Special Sermons At West 80 Church

John L. Maples, minister of the Iowa Park Church of Christ, will be preaching a series of special sermons at the West Highway 80 Church of Christ March 24-30.

Prior to his ministry at Iowa Park, Maples was for 12 years in Durban, South Africa, where he was instrumental in establishing congregations of the Church of Christ among different ethnic groups. During his ministry in Africa, he also traveled in Europe and Asia and preached in most of the nations on each continent.

For a number of years Maples served as editor of a monthly church paper which is circulated in most parts of the world and was instrumental in the establishment of the Benoni Preacher Training School, which is maintained in South Africa for the training of native preachers.

The public is invited to hear Maples. He will speak at 7:30 each evening and in the regular services of the Highway 80 Church of Christ at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, March 30.

Chimney Tree

Preparations For Gasbuggy Tests Unfold

EL PASO — Completion of a series of three 30-day production tests on the Project Gasbuggy explosive emplacement hole was announced today by the project participants: El Paso Natural Gas Company, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and the Bureau of Mines of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Immediately upon completion of these tests, preparations (drawdown) for a long-term production test of six months' duration were begun, project officials said.

Purpose of these tests is to measure the rate of influx of gas into the explosion-created chimney from the surrounding rock formation. During such a test, gas is withdrawn at rates necessary to maintain pre-selected bottomhole pressures, with a different pressure being chosen for each test period.

Project Gasbuggy is the world's first industry-government experiment in stimulation of a natural gas reservoir by means of a nuclear explosion. The nuclear detonation took place Dec. 10, 1967, at a site in northwestern New Mexico.

Total amount of gas produced during the recent series of tests, including the periods of blow-down necessary to reduce pressures to pre-selected levels, was about 109 million cubic feet. This brings total production from the emplacement hole, since it was re-entered in January of 1968, to about 167 million cubic feet. By comparison, an existing conventionally completed well a little more than 400 feet away had produced 85 million cubic feet of natural gas from the same formation during a nine-year period. During tests, the gas is burned. Radioactivity levels did not constitute a hazard.
