Flood Damage Soaring, New Areas In Danger

By The Associated Press

Flood damage passed the $5-million mark Saturday and crests rolling downstream endangered new areas of the Midwest, where thousands of persons have been driven from their homes.

The Red River of the North, rampaging along the North Dakota-Minnesota border, surged up almost nine feet in 24 hours. The current swept chunks of ice and tree branches past Grand Forks, N.D.

Two streets were overrun by cold water in Grand Forks. Some low-lying areas were inundated. The Fire Department flooded basements of some homes with clean water to keep out dirty flood water and provide protection against pressure from the outside. The city, which has placed most of the 50,000 sandbags on hand, expects to receive 20,000 more.

Gov. William Guy estimated North Dakota's damage at $4.5 million.

The James River, which pushed through a dike and forced 75 men and women to leave a housing development for elderly persons in Jamestown,

N.D., raised threats of more trouble.

Three tributaries of the James—Forte, Elm and Moccasin—flooded considerable land near Aberdeen, S.D.

M. R. Cheeseman, highway superintendent, placed damage to roads and bridges in Brookings County, South Dakota, at almost $1 million. The Big Sioux River damaged more than 50 bridges, and washed away some of them.

The hazard of explosion and fire hung over Minot, N.D., on the bloated Souris River. Two homes—vacated because of the high water—burned. An accumulation of gas was blamed. Some of the 2,000 persons who had evacuated went back to their homes.

SOFT, SLOW DRIZZLE WELCOMED ON FIELDS, LAWNS

County Gets Over Two Inches Of Rain

Thunderstorms moving across Texas Friday and Saturday lingered long enough to give Howard County almost 24 hours of steady, timely rainfall.

While county farmers and ranchers were elated over showers that dumped from 30 to 80 inches of moisture throughout the area Thursday night, they were taken by surprise at the bonus rainfall which fell steadily from Friday afternoon through Saturday afternoon.

The rainfall Thursday night was the first measurable moisture since March 23 when the U.S. Field Station in Big Spring gauged .20. Thursday's showers, plus the downpour Friday and Saturday, added inches to total rainfall and hopes for good crops.

More than an inch and up to 1.90 inch was recorded Saturday in the county to give a two-day total of more than two inches for all sections of the county.

The field station reported 1.52 inches at 8 a.m. Saturday and another .20 inch when the rain stopped that afternoon. Two-day total, including the .63 inch of Thursday night, was raised to 2.35 inches.

Total rainfall for the year in Big Spring is now 5.01 inches. January had .04; February .68; and March 1.31.

The rains came slowly and consistently to allow the ground to soak up moisture, and little runoff was reported. No winds or hail damage were reported during the quiet night of rainfall.

Paul Gross, Howard County agricultural agent, said the rain came with perfect timing, and should spark a lot of activity in fields throughout the county.

"It was made to order," he said. "It couldn't have come at a better time than just before planting, which should begin within the next two weeks."

"By the time it dries, there should be a lot of cotton and grain seed going into the ground. This rain will guarantee a higher yield than normal, if we get any more moisture during the growing season. We have had good moisture under ground, but it wasn't up to capacity. This should help the topsoil," he said.

John Currie, vice president of the State National Bank expects crops to be better this year after the long rain.

"It was one that you order, but seldom get," he said.

All of the county was saturated. Rainfall reports in the southern areas showed 1.50 inch Saturday at Forsan, 1.60 at Chalk, 1.50 at Moss Creek Lake, and 1.20 at Elbow.

Lomax registered 1.90 inch in the southwest part of the county, and the Wilkinson Ranch measured 1.75. Coahoma marked 1.20 inch, while Gay Hill had 1.70 and Vincent 1.55. In the north, Knott measured 1.30, and Vealmoor reported one inch, while Luther registered 1.80.

The Texas Electric Service switching station near Big Spring marked .85 inch Saturday morning, and the Morgan Creek gauge measured .46.

Although the countryside got a soaking, through Saturday noon there was not enough runoff to change area lake levels. In fact, on the watershed of Lake J. B. Thomas, the rainfall was less than half as much as it was in Big Spring.

Reports from the Colorado River Municipal Water District showed .5 of an inch at the dam of Lake Thomas, .4 at the Big Spring-Odessa intake four miles upstream. The Morgan Creek station, between here and the lake, had .70 of an inch. At the pump station at the north edge of town, the fall measured 1.2 inches, at the station on the Howard-Martin County line 1.4, the station in mid-Martin County 1.2, and at Odessa 1.68. The rain gauge at Moss Creek lake, southeast of Big Spring, showed 1.5 inches, but no appreciable runoff.

Raincoats And Umbrellas

Were the order of the day as Six Flags Over Texas opened its gates for the 1969 season Saturday. Balloons, 1,000 of which contained free passes to the park, were released into rainy skies at opening ceremonies.

INTO CZECHOSLOVAKIA Red Move Invalid

PRAGUE (AP) — Prague authorities announced Saturday more Soviet troops and technical equipment would be moved into Czechoslovakia this month, then two hours later canceled the announcement as "invalid."

There was no explanation of the reversal or what was meant by "changed facts" but there were various interpretations.

School Recess Ends

Parents were reminded Saturday that schools resume Monday, following the long Easter holidays. Buses will run on regular schedules, and lunchrooms will follow normal procedures.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

If there was ever an ideal rain for farmers and ranchers, we have just experienced it. The only flaw was that practically all of it went into the ground, leaving little runoff for stock tanks and lakes. Given a week of sunshine now, tractors will be thick as bugs as farmers take advantage of the perfect season. Already the countryside was greening from effects of a light shower a week ago, but there will be a miraculous transformation within this week.

One early by-product of the gentle rain will be a prolific display of wildflowers. Quite a few varieties already were out, but now dormant ones will sprout a look for the most extravagant displays along the roadsides in some of our sandy sections. One of the best places will be the Hartwells Road, the cutoff between IS 20 and the Andrews Highway.

GEN. L. F. CHAPMAN

Protests Slow Up Recruiting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr. said Saturday antiwar opposition, sometimes in the form of physical obstruction, is cutting into Marine Corps officer-recruiting on campuses across the country.

The Corps commandant said some college administrators not only are failing to control student protesters but also are refusing to provide Marine recruiters adequate time and central locations to sign men on campus.

Chapman said the traditional volunteer service has been forced to start a new recruiting program in junior colleges that drops the college-degree requirement usually faced by a young man seeking to become a Marine officer.

Dismal and deadly weather, laced with violence and death, continued over vast sections of Texas Saturday as forecasters said better conditions were ahead.

A Houston lawyer, Louis W. Graves, 66, drowned Saturday as he and a companion attempted to cross a rain-swollen stream in a tractor on his farm in Leon County.

A loaded school bus skidded off a rain-slick highway near Huntsville, injuring 7 of 47 students from Blinn Junior College en route to Columbia, Mo. Traffic accidents increased as the rains continued.

Turbulence that struck the state 24 hours earlier appeared to be drifting eastward, but late in the day the threat of a few tornadoes and violent thunderstorms continued in middle and upper coastal sections of the state.

Late Saturday night, rains continued to fall over a vast area bounded by points 30 miles north of Wichita Falls, 40 miles north of Paris to 30 miles east of Mount Pleasant, near Lufkin to 20 miles southwest of Brownwood. Other showers fell in a 30-mile radius of Childress in the Panhandle.

Rains of more than 5 inches had drenched the state in the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. College Station's 5.17 was near the top.

A renewed tornado watch was due to expire at 10 p.m. It stretched along the coast from Palacios to Lafayette, La.

Heavy thunderstorms extended from Nacogdoches to 20 miles north of Lufkin and southward to near Conroe. A heavy thunderstorm struck the Austin vicinity with hail and high winds.

Winds that gusted up to 50 miles per hour slapped sections of the state's capital city, blowing in windows, smashing signs, and littering streets with limbs and other debris.

"It was the closest thing to a hurricane I've ever seen," an Austin resident said.

The Saturday turbulence was set off by the circulation of a low pressure system centered near College Station. Cooler air over North Texas sent the warm air aloft to cause cloudiness and rain. Some snow flakes, that quickly melted, fell with showers that hit the Dallas vicinity before noon.

Severe thunderstorms formed before dusk just west of Austin and moved northeastward.

Storm-ravaged Matagorda County and Houston, with its great population and industrial complex, were included in the day's tornado watches.

Residents of Sargent, near Bay City, still were cleaning up after a tornado that left 13 persons injured and some 61 frame dwellings and 117 trailer homes heavily damaged.

Only four of the injured required hospital care. Two trailer park residents reported missing were found unharmed.

"I'm just thankful it happened before all the people got down here for the weekend," said Matagorda County Deputy Sheriff Amos Garcia.

Weekend vacationers flocked to the beaches for swimming, boating and picnicking.

Another county official said the tornado caused the worst damage he had seen since killer Hurricane Carla in 1961.

At least two tornadoes were spotted in black, ominous skies over Bay City near Sargent and Corpus Christi by midmorning Saturday. Both funnels curled back into the clouds without touching down and headed northeast.

A large portion of Southern Louisiana, including more than 25 parishes, were also under a watch.

Severe thunderstorms threatened Bexar County, containing the populous city of San Antonio, Kendall, Atascosa, Wilson, Karnes, Comal, Guadalupe and Gonzales.

Hailstones as large as 2 1/4 inches in diameter pelted the north section of Laredo cracking window panes and denting automobiles.

Victoria, where the heaviest rains fell, also got some hail stones and winds up to 71 miles per hour. Del Rio on the Mexican border, too, was pelted by hail.

DETERMINED TO END INFLATIONARY SPIRAL

Nixon Predicts $5.8 Billion Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring "we have taken the reins firmly in hand" in battling inflation, announced Saturday revised budget figures envisioning a surplus of $5.8 billion in the coming year—the largest black ink bulge proposed since 1951.

Nixon issued a special statement detailing broad results of an intensive budget review which produced significant reductions in planned spending for both military and domestic programs in the 1970 fiscal year that begins July 1.

Back in January, former President Lyndon B. Johnson called for a fiscal 1970 budget surplus of $3.4 billion.

Nixon said he thinks his administration's plan to boost the surplus "will speak louder than any words to the business and labor communities in this country and to the world that the United States is determined to bring a halt to the inflationary spiral . . . ."

The chief executive did not alter Johnson's January estimate of $198.7 billion in federal revenues for the coming bookkeeping year. To produce the planned $5.8-billion surplus, however, he chopped the spending estimate to $192.9 billion.

Nixon said that whereas Johnson estimated spending at $195.3 billion, government experts believe this was too low and that the budget submitted by the previous administration actually would have resulted in spending of $196.9 billion. That would have cut the fiscal 1970 surplus under the Johnson blueprint to $1.8 billion.

This, Nixon said, he is proposing a total slash of $4 billion in outlays, of which $1.1 billion will come out of the defense budget.

In addition, he announced he is asking Congress to cut requests for appropriations and spending authority by $5.5 billion, which he said would result in significant reductions in future federal spending.

The reaction of Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to Nixon's budget-cutting proposals was: "We'll help him cut and go a little bit further."

Mansfield said he thinks Congress and the President together ought to be able to cut spending by $5 billion.

Budget Director Robert P. Mayo told newsmen the administration feels confident its goal of a $5.8 billion surplus will be attained. He held out a possibility the figure might actually go higher should the continuing economic boom result in higher-than-expected revenues. Mayo said the government will not revise revenue estimates until the Treasury makes an analysis of April 15 tax receipts.

MULTI-COMMODITY POSTAL VENDING MACHINE INSTALLED
Automation introduced in big way in local post office lobby

Automated 'Clerk' Coming To Work At Post Office

By SAM BLACKBURN
Automation will soon be in evidence at Big Spring's new post office and federal building. Within a few days, several "self-service" postal vending machines of unusual design will be in operation.

You will be able to thrust a dollar bill into a designated slot, push a certain button, and a machine will deliver you a choice of a $1 book of six cent stamps; a book of 10 cent air mail stamps; a 20 cent insurance booklet; a packet of 10 postal cards; a packet of 10 stamped envelopes or a packet of five airmail envelopes. And the machine will give you back any change you may have coming.

Or, if you have other coins than a dollar bill, you can use them and, if there's any change coming back, it will be returned. A multichanneled stamp machine is already in place and will soon be in service to make it easy to buy stamps of numerous denominations without going to the counter inside the office. If the office is closed, you can serve yourself in the lobby.

Soon there will be equipment in place to make it possible for you to mail parcels at any hour of the day without a clerk being involved. Special scales, detailed instructions on how to determine the postage, and a machine alongside which will provide needed stamps, insurance and other material will make every patron of the post office his own mail clerk.

Most fascinating is a big gadget called a Model 17, Postal Commodity Vending machine. This multichanneled device is the one described above which permits so wide a choice of postal commodities. It will accept U.S. coins from five cent denomination through $1 bill and return any change for a specified purchase. The only requirement is that the dollar bill be inserted into the slot properly.

Edd Staub, superintending engineer, said the machine is dually rigged to scan identifying points on the bill and also evaluates it by reading the metal ink with which the bill was printed.

The machine is five feet 8 inches wide, five feet three inches high, and 18 inches deep. Only the exterior face is in the lobby. One of the delays in putting the machine to work is that an error was made in designing the slot into which it is to fit. Now the machine is here, it is found that the proposed space is a few inches of the required size.

Another machine near the parcel post self-mailing area is a money changer. This machine, like the multi-vender, will accept $1 bills along with coins of other currency down to a dime, and return the correct change to the patron. The change then can be used in the stamp machine for the specific stamps (as compared with the packets distributed by the multi-vending device) to pay postage on the parcel the patron is mailing.

Back of the partition, where the innards of these complicated devices are concealed, it will be Orbin Daily's responsibility, as clerk technician, to keep the machines filled with supplies and functioning.

According to Staub, there are relatively few post offices in this state where these self-service machines have been provided.

Holiday Gives Spelling Champs Study Time

By SAM BLACKBURN

The long Easter holiday has provided the 14 school spelling champions an extra opportunity to pore over the list of words they may encounter April 19 in the Seventh Annual Howard County Spelling Bee. However, no one really believes much extra studying has been done.

Instead, the youngsters will have only one more week in which to do their home work. The spelling bee will be held at 10 a.m. in the Big Spring High School cafeteria.

The 14 school champions will be trying for the right to represent the county against the champions of 22 other West Texas counties in Lubbock on May 3. Alternate champions will compete only if their principal fails to show up for the bee Saturday.

Last year's champion was Greg Parnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Parnell, 3202 Cornell. He is not in competition this year, having passed the grade limit eligibility mark.

Paul Talbot, who was last year's runner-up, is also missing from the lists this year. Talbot did not get a whack at the Goliad Junior High crown this year because of illness on the day of the school elimination.

Some of the champion spellers for this year's bee are champions of schools for other years and some are spellers who have tried in other bees at school level but had not, until this year, made the championship circle.

Girls dominate the chamampionship field for the county spelling bee. Nine of the spellers are girls; five are boys.

The winner gets an expense paid trip to Lubbock to compete in the regional bee. Should he win there (as only one Howard County champion has in the past six years) he will get an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., to try in the National Spelling Bee.

The only Howard County champion to win the regional in the six years the event has been sponsored here by the Big Spring Herald was Don Hickson. He won the county championship two years in succession and in his second year, won the regional crown.

Vets Urged To Write Congress

World War I veterans of Baracks 1474, together with the Ladies Auxiliary, were urged Thursday evening to contact members of Congress regarding veterans legislation.

The regular meeting was held at the IOOF Hall at Ninth and Magnolia. The program was in charge of Mrs. Leighton Mundy and preceded a salad supper served to about 60 members and guests.

Bills of interest to veterans were listed as HR 372, HR 690, 691, 692 and 693. Members were urged to communicate soon so that their congressmen can relay views to those on the Veterans Affairs committee. Representatives for this area are Rep. Omar Burleson, 17th District, Rep. George Mahon, 19th District, and Rep. Graham Purcell, 13th District, all in charge of House Post Office, Washington, D.C. 20515. The address for Sen. Ralph Yarborough and John Tower is Senate Post Office, 20510.

Device Absorbs Impact Energy

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — An energy-absorbing service originally designed for space vehicles is being tested along I-70 in Topeka for traffic crash protection.

Hit by a 4,000-pound vehicle head-on at 60 miles an hour, the unit will absorb about 75 per cent of the impact energy, officials say.

The installations are telescoping tubes wrapped with high tensile strength wire. Once hit they can be removed, pulled back to their original length, and reassembled.

The devices will cost $40,000 with the federal government paying 90 per cent.

'Plain Old Murder' Sirhan Jury Told By Prosecutor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was "plain old cold-blooded first-degree murder," says the prosecution.

Lynn D. Compton, chief deputy district attorney, began the state's final argument

Friday with a bitter attack on the succession of psychologists who testified Sirhan could not have maturely and meaningfully premeditated Kennedy's assassination last June.

"If you buy these so-called experts you would have to turn you don't buy them — as I don't buy them — there's nothing left but a plain old cold-blooded first-degree murder."

Compton, a bear of a man with white hair and crew-cut at 47, spoke quietly and almost diffidently — in sharp contrast to the eloquence of chief defense counsel Grant B. Cooper who had concluded moments before.

Compton spoke only 12 minutes before the trial recessed for the weekend. The judge's instructions follow Compton's presentation and the case could go to the jury of seven men and five women by late Monday — at the start of the 15th week of trial.

Meanwhile, juror No. 1 has asked to be excused because of his father's death. Cooper said both sides would agree to replacing the juror. Ronald Evans, a telephone installer, by drawing the name of one of the five remaining alternate jurors Monday. Early in the trial another juror was replaced after being hospitalized.

"What we really are talking about here are the crazy reasons," advanced by doctors, said Compton.

Hitching up his pants, walking in front of the jury with hands in his pockets, Compton asked: "Does any person who ever perpetuates a crime meaningfully and maturely make a wise decision?"

"Not by your standards or mine!"

Leaning on the edge of the counsel table, Compton looked squarely at the jury.

"Right now, as I stand here, I can't answer what should be the only question."

"Did Robert F. Kennedy, a young, highly successful man, at the peak of his career, a former attorney general, a senator from New York and a candidate for president of the United States..."

"Did he breathe his last conscious breath on that dirty floor in the pantry of the Ambassador Hotel with mops and dirty dishes around..."

Girl In Polka Dot Dress Dead Of Drug Overdose

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kathryn Fulmer, who police once thought might have been "the girl in the polka dot dress" in the Robert Kennedy murder, is dead of what officers called an overdose of a drug.

Miss Fulmer, 23, a go-go dancer, was one of several young women questioned after Kennedy was slain in Los Angeles last June. Witnesses said a girl in a polka dot dress was seen with the gunman, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, just before the killing.

At the time Miss Fulmer was going by the name of Sandy Rossi, police said. She said she was present and wearing a polka dot scarf but didn't know Sirhan.

Although she did not testify at Sirhan's trial, she went voluntarily to police. As the investigation developed, police said, neither Miss Fulmer nor any of several young women wearing polka dot garments at the scene of the assassination had any bearing on the case.

Investigating officers said Miss Fulmer was found in a coma last Monday in a motel

Ten criminal cases on the 118th District Court docket were called Friday, but only one will go to trial as scheduled next week.

The case of Albino Ortega, charged with possession of prohibited weapon by an ex-convict, was dismissed, and the case of Doyle Sanders, charged with worthless check writing and theft, was set for Monday.

The remainder of the cases were granted delays or continuances by District Court Judge Ralph Caton. They included Joe Edward Barron, driving while intoxicated, second offense; Richard R. Green, burglary; Leonard Leroy Moore, burglary; Edward L. Capers, worthless check and theft; Wayne Childs, worthless check and theft; Levy Lee Edmondson, theft; Billy Raymond Brown, burglary; and Fox Henry Miller, DWI, second offense.

Ray Wants Foreman, Huie Pact Nullified

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray has charged in a federal suit that his former lawyer and biographer were more interested in money than in his right to a fair trial.

Ray asked Friday that an estimated $1 million worth of contracts with his biographer, William Bradford Huie of Hartsville, Ala., and his former attorney, Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex., be nullified.

Ray is serving a 99-year sentence in Tennessee State Prison here after pleading guilty to a murder charge in the April 4, 1968, slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis.

The suit was filed by Robert Hill Jr. of Chattanooga, one of Ray's attorneys in civil matters. Later Friday, Hill obtained a federal court order to see Ray after Harry S. Avery, state corrections commissioner, refused to let the attorney enter the prison. U.S. Dist. Court Judge William E. Miller issued the order after Avery said Richard J. Ryan of Memphis, who is seeking a new trial for Ray, is the only attorney of record in the case.

Ray's suit contends he was pressured by Foreman into pleading guilty, the same grounds he cited in asking a new trial.

The suit says: "That after Ray was persuaded to sign over to Foreman whatever rights he had to information about King's death, Foreman had a 'strong monetary interest in having his client found guilty and sentenced to a 99-year term for a crime which he did not commit.'"

—That information in a Look magazine article by Huie "even if... true, which petitioner denies... could have been based upon statements made to his lawyer," thus violating the privileged relationship between Foreman and his client.

—That Foreman was the agent of Huie and "was in fact looking out for their monetary interests, rather than the rights of this petitioner."

Attached to the suit were three contracts which Hill estimated to be valued at around $1 million.

The contracts were negotiated by Ray, Foreman and Arthur J. Hanes of Birmingham, Ala., who was first hired to defend Ray against the murder charge.

The original contract gave Ray and Hanes 30 per cent each the proceeds from any book or movie, with Huie getting 40 per cent. An amendment gave Hanes $35,000, Foreman 60 per cent and Huie 40 per cent and the remainder to Ray and his family if he pleaded guilty "and no embarrassing circumstances take place in the courtroom."

Sleeps Through Bath Of Fire

DETROIT (AP) — A fire in a vacant Detroit building Friday night brought 125 firemen and 25 pieces of equipment. The blaze, which threatened nearby buildings, was brought under control in about 30 minutes.

Then as firemen inspected the smoke-filled bulk they found Jeff Radcliff, 73, he was sleeping on a mattress under a stairway with water four inches deep surrounding his makeshift bed. The worst damage to Radcliff, firemen said, was a liberal sprinkling as water leaked from the second story of the brick building.

H-SU Stages Leadership Training Conference

ABILENE — Up to 1,200 college students from far-reaching corners of the state are expected for the annual Texas Baptist Student Union leadership training conference at Hardin-Simmons University, Friday through Sunday.

Top Baptist leaders and a leading Virginia pastor, formerly of Texas, will be among principal speakers. Nathan Porter, an associate director in the Southern Baptist home mission board's division of evangelism in Atlanta, Ga., will be keynote speaker Friday night. Another key speaker Saturday morning will be Ralph W. Neighbour, staff associate for personal evangelism for the Texas Baptist General Convention in Dallas.

The Rev. Neal T. Jones, pastor of the Columbia Baptist Church of Falls Church, Va., and formerly pastor of the Shiloh Terrace Baptist Church of Dallas, will speak Saturday evening. The Rev. Dan Yearly, college minister of the First Baptist Church of Lubbock and former associate in the Baptist Student Department for the Kentucky Baptist Convention, will speak Sunday morning.

David Jones Is Boy Of Month

STANTON (SC) — David Jones was honored Friday as the Optimist Boy of the Month. He was honored for his all-around excellence in sports.

Jimmy Wheeler presided at the meeting and final arrangements were made for bicycle safety week, April 21-26. On Saturday, April 26, members of the club will safety inspect bicycles at Wheeler Motor Co. at its new location on the Lamesa Highway and will present stickers to the bicycles.

Minor adjustments will be made to the bicycles as necessary. Gerald Hanson introduced members of the Westside 4-H Club demonstration team who presented demonstrations that they were to do in district competition at Odessa Junior College, April 12. They were Jimmy Britton and Frank Atchison on community improvement; Ronnie Henson and Mel Polk on vegetable production; specifically tomatoes; and Larry Butler and Gary Hanson on boll weevil control. Ten members and visitors, Jimmy Henson and Ellis Britton were present.

Finally Pays Off 1937 Debt

DENVER (AP) — A farmer from northeastern Colorado gave the government $250 Friday as payment in full for federal loans of $1,100 he received in 1937.

U.S. Atty. Lawrence M. Henry said the farmer, Albert C. O. Packer, apparently forgot about the debt and so did the government. It wasn't until December of last year that the Department of Agriculture sent a "payment due" notice to Packer, who lives in the small town of Joes, Colo.

"You know how bills are," said Packer. "If you aren't reminded to pay them a person kinda forgets."

50 Dentists At Clinic Here

A clinic on dentistry and mental health was held Saturday at the Big Spring State Hospital for approximately 50 West Texas dentists.

The clinic was sponsored by the state hospital and Permian Basin Dental Society. Featured speaker was Richard O. Sword, M.D., D.D.S., a practicing psychiatrist in Kansas City, Mo.

Dr. Sword spoke on psychoanalytic principals of behavioral science during the morning session of the all-day meeting, and on application of psychoanalytic principals to clinical dentistry in the afternoon session.

Welcome address and introductions to open the meeting were given by Dr. W. B. Hardy, director of dental services at the state hospital; Dr. Preston E. Harrison, hospital superintendent; and Dr. Joe Bob Warren, president of the Permian Basin Dental Society.

Survey Shows Only Small Schools Oppose Tax Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — A teachers' group said Saturday that a survey of school boards shows support among medium-size and large districts for recommendations by the Governor's Committee on Public Schools.

Districts with fewer than 1,500 pupils rejected, 6-1, the proposal to determine the amount local school districts contribute to the budgets on market value as estimated by the Texas Education Agency.

The survey was conducted on what was called "selected" proposals by the committee. It was conducted by the "Texas committee of ten," composed of five representatives each from the Texas Association of School Administrators, and the Texas School Board Association.

The survey, mailed to the 1,218 state school districts, did not include a question on the "forced consolidation" proposal that would require a minimum of 2,000 pupils or make the district county-wide.

The governor's committee recommended that local districts be required to contribute to the support of their own schools by an amount determined by a statewide standard tax rate on actual market value of real estate.

A study conducted for the governor's committee showed 64 per cent of Texas' school districts have an average ratio of assessed value to market value of 39 per cent or less. Average assessment ratios range from 14 per cent on undeveloped land to 41 per cent on banks and private homes.

The committee of ten said 427 school districts answered its questionnaire. It said that among the 102 districts with 1,500 pupils or more that replied, 57 favored the uniform tax rate on market value, 33 opposed it and 12 did not take a position.

The committee said that among the 325 school districts with fewer than 1,500 pupils that answered the questionnaire, 258 opposed the uniform tax rate on market value, 45 favored it and 22 took no position.

Harvard Students Cheer Plan Of Investigation

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Students cheered Saturday as Harvard faculty members promised to investigate student demands and the administration's use of police to expel student demonstrators from University Hall Thursday.

"The faculty decision to appoint its own committee to investigate is of extreme importance," Prof. Stanley R. Hoffman told a gathering in Harvard Yard of several hundred students, most of them apparently not members of the group that seized the hall Wednesday.

"It means the faculty has decided to take important events into its own hands," Hoffman added, followed by a burst of applause.

Hoffman, a noted war historian, said the students must join with the faculty for unity, and that the faculty investigation will take time.

Several students hissed, but Hoffman was applauded when he responded: "The only things that do not take time are hissing and making demands which will never be fulfilled."

Odessa Firm Has Apparent Low Bid For Webb Project

The apparent low bidder for a new flight training building at Webb AFB is Glen W. Casey Construction Company of Odessa.

The firm's proposal was for $304,700. The U.S. Corps of Engineers at Albuquerque, N.M., is analyzing the bids, opened there Wednesday, with the view of making an award.

Takes 10 Weeks To Get Refund

DALLAS — Ten weeks from the date a federal income tax return calling for a refund is mailed, the taxpayer either has his check or a letter explaining why it is held up, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said today.

For this reason, a taxpayer who has not heard about his refund should wait 10 weeks before writing IRS. By waiting this length of time, most taxpayers will find their inquiry unnecessary, Campbell said.

Woman Resents Letter From U. S. Deserters No Quorum At Co-Op Meet

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — A woman they press for an end of the war in Vietnam, thereby showing the same resolution of decision as did President Eisenhower during the Korean conflict."

Write your representatives and senators in Congress and demand that they decisively act to put an end to the Vietnamese conflict," the letter said. "Similarly, turn to President Nixon."

Mrs. Richard F. Keyer Sr. of Xenia said Saturday her letter expressed confidence that the U.S. government would find a way to end the war and that the deserters committee in Stockholm can expect no sympathy or support from her.

"What makes these so-called men believe we would do anything to help them get back to this country?" she said in the letter to Nixon.

Mrs. Keyer received a copy of a mimeographed form letter that the committee apparently is sending from Stockholm Sweden, to relatives of soldiers killed in Vietnam, asking that Acting president Frank Thomas said administrators met Friday and state and city police have joined in the inquiry.

About 35 Negroes went through the store knocking books off shelves after a meeting of the Afro-American student association heard that Dr. Thomas had rejected demands including more black teachers, a black studies program, lower tuition for poor students.

College officials first set damage at about $2,500. They said a further check Friday showed $200 to $300 damage.

Thomas said the top officer of the black student association had resigned after the incident and a new leader, George Johnson, a senior from Port Arthur, would meet with campus officials early next week.

Flags are supplied under contract on request by any VA office or post office. The flag may be given to the next of kin, or, if there is no next of kin, to the closest friend of the veteran following his burial.

The VA allows up to $250 for burial or cremation of any veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable if he served during wartime or after Aug. 4, 1964.

STANTON—Present directors of the West-Texas Telephone Co-operative remained in office after the annual membership meeting in Stanton Saturday because lack of a quorum prevented an election.

A quorum of the membership was not present at the meeting in the Willie Wirt Hand Room of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, so the present directors will serve until re-elected or until someone is elected in their place, according to Charles Elmore, of the co-op.

Nominations for directors were A. A. McKinney and Clyde Denton, district 2; E. G. Gate, and D. L. Rasberry, district 3; and Mrs. Glenn Cox and McGrover Springer, district 6.

McKinney, president of the board of directors, presided over the meeting and a financial statement was given by O. B. Bryan, co-op manager. The system, valued at $1,547,340, serves 1,383 members on 1,054 miles of line in Martin, Glasscock, Howard, Borden, Dawson and Midland counties.

Bryan reported that the Rural Electrification Administration has approved a contract to complete upgrading of the co-op system. Upon completion of the program, all lines will have one, two or four-party service only.

Coy McDougald, operations field representative of the REA, was guest speaker. He told of problems facing rural telephone systems.

PROTECTION HAMPERED BY DISTANCE Volunteers Fight Rural Fires

By TEX ROGERS

There may be many advantages to living in the country, but fire protection is not one of them. Lack of fire protection in rural areas means higher insurance rates for property owners and distance from available fire departments to rural homes and buildings may also be too great to offer much protection if a fire occurs.

Howard County has made efforts to provide rural residents with fire protection during the past year and a half. Equipment for every precinct except one has been purchased and volunteer fire departments have been established.

Volunteer groups have been organized at Knott in Precinct 1, Jonesboro Road and Gay Hill in Precinct 4, and Sand Springs in Precinct 2. Precinct 3 is the only area of the county without a volunteer fire department, but a group in that section may be organized this year. There are also volunteer departments at Coahoma and Forsan.

The county went into the fire fighting business for itself in 1967 after terminating a contract with the City of Big Spring, when a fire truck owned by the county and operated by the city, was wrecked making a rural call. Prior to that, the county paid Big Spring $7,500 a year to make fire calls outside the city limits, plus $100 for each call over 75 fire runs, with a maximum payment of $8,500.

The break came when four city firemen were injured in a wreck July 12, 1967, while making a run to a fire in the county. The truck used to make county runs was purchased by the county for $12,000 in 1959, but was registered to the city for insurance purposes.

After the accident, county officials discovered that the county had no insurance on the vehicle because it was registered to the city, and that no workman's compensation was available because the firemen were on the city payroll instead of the county's. The county paid $6,367 to the injured firemen while they could not work.

The county eventually asked that the fire protection contract be terminated and that the wrecked truck be returned to the county. The city agreed and the county paid the balance due of $5,666, ending the contract.

When the city-county contract was ended, the Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department offered to make fire calls in the county for $1,500 per year.

Since the county began financing the volunteer department, more than $17,600 has been spent in equipment, buildings and maintenance.

Four trucks were purchased in 1967 for $3,000 to get the volunteer groups started. Then $7,499.39 was spent on a truck, building and equipment for a Sand Springs department.

This year a new installation was set up on Jonesboro Road, and $7,443 has been spent for that project.

Other costs include $1,260 for maintenance in 1968 and $950 in 1969. The county also pays $183 each year for insurance on the fire truck owned by the Foran Volunteer Fire Department.

When the wrecked fire truck is repaired, at an estimated cost of about $1,500, it will be sent to a unit in Precinct 3.

The Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department is one of the more elite fire fighting groups in the county with more equipment and experience. Headed by Robert Helm as chief, the Coahoma team makes more than 20 calls each year in the county and has made 12 fire runs this year.

Coahoma's equipment includes a small, 1967 truck with a 400-gallon capacity, plus a 1,000-gallon tank truck which provides more water. The Coahoma group meets regularly for drills and has 15 active members.

Equipment in the rest of the county's installations includes the regular fire fighting paraphernalia and trucks with the capacity to carry 750 gallons of water, plus 1,500 pounds of chemicals.

Lloyd Robinson is chief of the Knott Volunteer Fire Department, which has active participation from the community. The Knott unit, which also has an extra water tank to carry to fires, has made three calls this year.

Gay Hill has about 40 active members in its department, and Neal Spencer is chief. Some practice drills have been made since the department was organized, but the group has been called out only twice.

Tommy Marvin, chief of the Sand Springs Volunteer Fire Department, said there are about 45 members in that group, but they are not meeting regularly.

The newest unit to organize, the Jonesboro Road Volunteer Fire Department, has 25 members and the Rev. Don Bullock is chief. The group was organized in February, and has made one run to a grass fire this year. It meets each Thursday.

Distance is the big problem when a fire occurs in the rural area. No matter how well a department is equipped or its men trained, most of the fire damage is done before firemen can arrive.

County Judge Lee Porter thinks the county's arrangement of providing volunteer fire departments is as good as any.

"The city could only send out a truck loaded with water in case of a fire in the county," he said. "This is what the county provides, but the responsibility is left up to the people in the communities."

Judge Porter said that adequate fire protection is difficult unless a property owner has his own water supply and perhaps a sprinkler system in his home. Cost of such protection could be prohibitive, however.

"I guess the best thing to do is insure property to the hilt and hope no fires occur," he said.

The City of Big Spring provides no fire protection outside the city limits, unless there is a borderline case on one of the additions on the edge of town.

Larry Crow, city manager, said the city could be in liability trouble if firemen answered a call outside the city limits without a valid contract with the county.

"The city would be liable if an accident occurs while making a run to an out-of-town fire," he said. "The city also would be liable for the firemen on the truck, and could be liable for the way the men handled the fire."

If the City of Big Spring provided fire protection in the county, cost per run could amount to a little more than $600 per call, Crow said. This is based on the 100 calls in the rural area during the last contract period between 1966-67, and computed into the 1969 fire protection budget of $345,000.

Crow said that during the 1966-67 fiscal year the fire department expended more man hours, more men and more mileage fighting fires outside the city than inside the city limits.

THE WEEK

his life in service in Vietnam. The Infantry Division has given over 300 of these scholarships to sons of its fallen comrades.

If we thought it was busy last weekend, take a look at what was happening around here this weekend. West Texas dentists came to the Big Spring State Hospital for a clinic sponsored by the Permian Basin Dental Society. A seminar on alcohol education was slated. The Permian Basin section of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, had a one-day symposium on industrial water. A crippled children's clinic was held at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, which was held in cooperation with Howard County Easter Seal Society.

The clinic was under supervision of the center's medical advisory committee, and under direction of Dr. Thurston Dean, a Midland orthopedic surgeon. Attending the clinic with Dr. Dean were Dr. Pete Rhymes and Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., who served as pediatrician. Dr. Dean and Dr. Rhymes are members of the board of physicians approved by the Crippled Children's Division of the Texas Department of Public Welfare and can recommend children to be placed under the state program.

Examinations at the clinic were free, and the Easter Seal Society will pay for any tests and X-rays a family cannot afford, according to Jim Thompson, rehabilitation center director.

Our young people can be flattered that adults do notice and admire what they are doing. The 61 nominees (some of them received nominations from more than one adult) constituted the greatest number the Zale-Herald recognition has received. The top ones from Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan will be given awards Thursday evening.

It just wasn't the phone company's week. Monday a ditcher just east of Big Spring sliced into a buried cable carrying 670 toll circuits. While the finishing touches of repair were being applied the next day, a truck snagged an overhead cable just north of town and knocked out 200 pairs of lines.

Our city will entertain an internationally known personality Thursday when Dr. Elton Trueblood, philosophertheologist-author, comes here for a day of counseling with area pastors. The sponsoring Big Spring Pastors Association invites the public to hear Dr. Trueblood at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church.

When you speak of pioneer cowboys, you refer to a breed that is almost all gone. Another of those rare individuals slipped away last week when Hardy Morgan died at age 98. He rode in a day when there were few fences, and when they followed the chuck wagon and staged fantastic roundups.

Howard County is now looking for another juvenile officer. John W. Syrios resigned to accept a similar position with Tom Green County in San Angelo. He set something of a record for briefness of service, having taken the post here only last November.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District awarded the last of its major jobs under the 1968 construction program. The $2,917,797 proposal of H. B. Zachry Company for 24 miles of 42-inch line was $355,000 more than a similar job went for a month ago. Directors of the district named the new reservoir at Robert Lee for E. V. Spence, the district's first general manager and a leading figure in water conservation.

Northwest Apartments, the new public housing facility on the northern edge of the city, is gradually gaining occupants. So far there are 15 tenants, and the list of applicants is growing.

Telephone Veterans

Three of the "old hands" for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company are shown here with a switchboard they will rig for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for rehabilitation work. At left is W. D. Berry, president of the Far West Club of the Telephone Pioneers; Mrs. Ruby Billings, a retiree who has the longest employment record locally; and Mrs. Carlson (Louise) Hamilton, chief operator.

Phone Pioneers To Be Recognized

Tuesday has been proclaimed by Mayor Arnold Marshall as "Pioneer Recognition Day" for present and retired telephone workers who have more than 21 years of service.

The observation will coincide with similar ones at Midland and Odessa as the area chapter marks the special day set apart by the Telephone Pioneers of America. There are 31 local members, and 30 in the Midland-Odessa district, said W. D. Berry, Far West president.

"The Telephone Pioneers are dedicated to usefulness through service to others," noted the mayor, "and the Far West Club in Big Spring has devoted many hours to public service, has encouraged loyalty to country, and to the ideals of the telephone industry. It is fitting that we recognize the contributions the Pioneers made to a better community."

Berry said The Telephone Pioneers are giving a PBX switchboard to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center this year for training the handicapped and therapy.

A Recognition Day hospitality-social to honor the Pioneers in this area will be held Tuesday at 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. in the Work Center, 309 Brown Street, and at 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the Traffic Lounge, Toll Building, Fourth and Rannels Streets. All telephone employees are invited to attend. There will be displays of the projects the Pioneers here have undertaken.

The Telephone Pioneers of America, comprising the Bell System and Western Electric in the United States and Canada, has a total membership of 302,316. The forecast by 1975 is for 460,000 members.

Far West Club officers term ending June 30, are Berry, Big Spring, president; Pete Morrow, Odessa, first vice-president; Velma Sutton, Midland, second vice-president; and Francis Plowman, Big Spring, secretary-treasurer.

Newly elected officers are: Pete Morrow, Odessa, president; A. D. Tucker, Midland, first vice-president; Bea Mae Dunning, Big Spring, second vice-president; and Lenie Cockron, Odessa, secretary-treasurer.

Young Actors Win 2nd Place

Big Spring High School actors scored Friday their best record since entering 4-AAAA competition when they captured second place in the one-act play contest at Odessa and landed three on the all-star cast.

The troupe, under direction of Dan Shockey, presented a contemporary drama built around teenagers, "An Over-praised Season."

Named to the 10 picked out of 55 actors for an all-star cast were Kerry Gunnels in the role of the director; Mark Shaver, as Larry; and Elizabeth Lipscombe as the mother. Other in the cast were James Newman, Barbara Todd, and Rowan Stevens. Crew members were Sharon Swim and Dwight Brown.

Abilene High won first place with its presentation of Thornton Wilder's "Childhood," and third place went to Abilene Cooper for "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Competition in the one-act play competition was exceptionally keen, said Shockey. "An Over-praised Season" will be presented locally at a date yet to be fixed.

Loretta Lynn And Webb Are Booked

Two established stars in the field of country music will highlight a show being sponsored here April 22 by the Big Spring Police Reserve Association.

Perry Chandler, captain, said that the reserve had booked Loretta Lynn and Jay Lee Webb to highlight the show, which is of the "Grand Ole Opry" type.

Tickets ($1.25 and 50 cents pre-sale) are at Gibson's and the Record Shop. Each will cost 25 cents more at the door.

Miss Lynn and Webb are in reality brother and sister, products of a mining town in eastern Kentucky. She came to Nash-

Car Wrecks Follow Rain

A rash of traffic accidents followed a heavy downpour Friday afternoon in Big Spring, including a wreck which injured a local man.

Bobby Don Goodnight, 26, 3029 Latham, was released from a local hospital Saturday morning after a one-car accident about 5 p.m. Friday on Interstate 20 west of Birdwell Lane. Officers said the Goodnight car was going west on IS 20 when the accident occurred, and about $1,400 damage was done to the vehicle.

Cars driven by Charlie Ray Lewis, 1219 E. 16th, and Cooper Lee Proctor, 1402 Sycamore, were in a collision at 3:25 p.m. Friday at 606 Gregg, police said. A one-car accident occurred about 4:30 p.m. Friday on Interstate 20 near US 87 when a car driven by Robert Lee Jones, Fort Worth, struck a reflector post, officers said.

A car driven by Geymunda G. Martinez, 1510 Oriole, also struck a reflector post on FM 700 near West Seventeenth about 5:37 p.m. Friday, according to police. Rollo Martin Casey Jr., 505 Bell, and Linda Sue Barber Lamesa, were driving vehicles which collided at Northwest Fifth and Lamesa Drive about 8 a.m. Saturday, officers said.

Carolyn C. Draper, Tahoka, was driving a car which struck a street light pole at US 87 and IS 20 about 8:15 a.m. Saturday, according to police.

Officers also investigated the collision of a pickup driven by James T. Washburn, 1015 E. 20th, and a car driven by Margarita Hilario, 1017 E. 21st, at Eighteenth and Donley about 2 p.m. Saturday. Officers said Washburn received slight injuries, but was not taken to a hospital.

Snyder Receives Award, Soars With Civic Pride

SNYDER — This West Texas city, on a comeback from post-oil boom doldrums, was all but soaring with pride Friday. That was the day the city received the All-America City award, and raised a flag over the bright new downtown square to let the award be known.

There was a parade in the afternoon and a banquet Friday night attended by perhaps 1,000 people.

Look Magazine is a sponsor of the All-America city program, and its southwest manager, Lockwood Segar of Dallas, said in making the formal presentation at the banquet held in the Scurry County Coliseum:

"This award is not conferred upon your city as a governmental entity, but upon all the hundreds of people who participated and contributed, and encouraged."

Another on the program was Frank Hoke, Dallas, regional vice president of the National Municipal League, a co-sponsor. He reviewed the awards program and cited at least 26 major projects Snyder citizens achieved — without any state or federal grants — in being a winner.

Congressman George Mahon of the 19th district, spoke at both the afternoon flag-raising ceremonies downtown and at the banquet. Said the congressman: "This thing isn't just skin deep in Snyder; it goes all the way to the bone."

Special recognition was given to Mayor Bobby McCormick in absentia, since he is hospitalized. Mayor pro tem Herbert Reed accepted the honors in behalf of Mayor McCormick and all the people of the city. City Manager George Patterson was singled out for organizing and documenting materials for the All-America city application.

Snyder principally has re-done its courthouse square, with new streets, walks, beauty areas and new store fronts. It has erected a handsome coliseum, has demolished scores of dilapidated and hazardous buildings, and has carried on a continuous clean-up program.

Air Force Hits Enemy Positions Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52s carried out one of the war's closest raids to Saigon Saturday night, blasting enemy positions 15 to 16 miles west of the capital.

The raid was close enough that buildings in downtown Saigon trembled from the ground vibrations of the exploding bombs.

Although it was the nearest Stratofortress attack to the city since the enemy offensive began Feb. 23, military sources said it did not indicate the enemy was mounting a new threat to Saigon.

The targets, the informants reported, were known enemy bunker complexes and a base camp that had been pounded previously by fighter-bombers.

"There is no new buildup," one said.

Six of the eight-engine bombers unloaded 180 tons of explosives on the area due west of Saigon in Hau Nghia Province. Earlier in the day, the B52s attacked a series of base camps and other targets in Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon as the enemy offensive neared the end of its seventh week with a sudden increase in shellings and other attacks on allied bases and population centers.

In Tay Ninh City, 55 miles northwest of Saigon, American and South Vietnamese authorities continued the massive job of cleaning up after the most devastating single attack of the offensive.

The unofficial death count in Friday's rocket attack on Tay Ninh stood at about 35, with 100 wounded and possibly 150 missing, U.S. officers and other officials in the stricken city said.

It was possible that most or all of the missing persons were dead and buried in the rubble of an entire city block, laid waste by an exploding ammunition dump hit by a rocket.

Associated Press Correspondent George McArthur reported from Tay Ninh that half the missing persons may be captured Viet Cong guerrillas and peasants whose papers were not in order. The prisoners were being held on the top floor of an 18-year-old military headquarters building that collapsed.

McArthur also reported that a few rounds still were exploding

Saturday as the ammunition dump cooled. More than 200 tons of heavy and light ammunition had exploded, leveling the Vietnamese military compound and destroying 100 small houses nearby.

One American adviser said it was doubtful that a complete list of those killed in the explosion would ever be known.

"The bulldozers will probably just level part of the area," he said.

The Tay Ninh ammunition dump was the fourth major munitions blast touched off by enemy gunners in the offensive.

Two of them in the early weeks were in Da Nang, where rockets triggered the destruction of a huge South Vietnamese army ammunition dump and an explosion that destroyed two U.S. Navy supply ships at a dock, killing more than 20 Americans.

Another enemy shelling destroyed a major ammunition dump Dong Tam, headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division, 40 miles southwest of Saigon on March 25.

Death Toll Lower

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas traffic accidents have killed 775 persons so far this year, compared with 785 during the same period in 1968, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday. Fatal accidents this year total 627, compared with 663 at this time last year.

Coahoma Science Fair Announced

COAHOMA — Annual Science Fair of Coahoma schools will be held April 18-19, according to Phil Winn, who is again serving as coordinator of this annual event. About 125 entries are expected from elementary, junior high and high school. The youngsters compete for places in their own age brackets.

Last year's fair had about 125 competitors, and Winn said it appears about the same number will be offered this year.

The show schedule is as it has been in the past — the science exhibits will be put in place Friday afternoon and judging will be that night. The exhibits, with their winning ribbons, will be on exhibition until 11 a.m. April 19.

Many of the students engage in highly complex and ambitious scientific demonstrations and experiments. The field covered at the 1968 and the 1967 fairs presented an unusual look into the minds and thinking of younger people.

Details of the judging will be announced later.

Police Capture '007' Vehicle

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — It was just a beatup looking 1957 Plymouth, and police suspected it was sporting stolen tires — but what it really had was: Rocket launchers, a mechanism to squirt enough oil out the back end to cover a four-lane highway for 50 feet, another gadget to set up a smokescreen, a doo-date to put on a psychedelic light show and a secret compartment in the steering wheel hub.

The owner, Ronald L. Crona, was charged with larceny in connection with stolen tires. Crona explained he had planned on making a "007"-type movie.

Legislatures Searching For New Income Sources

By The Associated Press

State Legislatures in session throughout the nation, searching for ways to balance steadily rising budgets, are turning chiefly to new or higher income and sales taxes.

These two taxes figure in the revenue-raising plans of 18 states, a national survey by the Associated Press showed. Four states are considering starting a state income tax, six are considering increases, two may adopt a state sales tax and six are considering increases.

Four states are considering increases in cigarette taxes, three in gasoline taxes, two in liquor taxes.

And in some capitals, tax trends still haven't developed. Legislatures are meeting, or will meet later this year, in 47 states.

The survey showed that tax proposals were directed, in descending order of frequency, at personal income, sales, cigarettes, corporation income, gasoline, liquor, oil and gas production, various licenses, mining and personal property.

Forty-four states already have sales taxes, 38 personal income taxes and 40 corporate income taxes.

The biggest user of the state tax dollar is education, well ahead of welfare and highways. A personal income tax has been formally proposed in Pennsylvania and Washington State, and is under study in Illinois. A tax on personal and corporate incomes has been suggested in Maine.

Increases in income taxes have been proposed in Maryland, North Dakota, Missouri, Georgia, New Mexico and Colorado.

Oregon and Vermont may adopt sales taxes. Boosts in that tax have been proposed in Maryland, Indiana, New York, Utah, North Dakota, South Carolina and Georgia.

Among the handful of states trying to hold the line on state taxation is California.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has pledged that there will be no new taxes this year and plans to propose that much of an anticipated $200 million surplus be used for income tax cuts.

Arizona's legislature, committed to holding the line on taxes, is studying a bond issue or some other means of financing needed university buildings and state offices.

In advance of the April session, Gov. Claude Kirk and leaders of the Florida legislature have come out for a line-holding budget despite record increases in funds sought by state agencies. A special session there in 1968 raised taxes by $228 million a year, mostly for schools.

The speaker of Tennessee's Senate, Frank C. Gorrell, said: "It will be virtually impossible to get a tax increase through this legislature."

But the Tennessee Education Association has waged an intensive drive for more money for schools, and that would require a substantial tax hike.

Indiana's legislative session ended recently with legislators unable to agree on increases in sales and income taxes. Also victims of a deadlock between the state's Senate and House were proposed increases in liquor and cigarette taxes. A jump from six to eight cents a gallon in state tax for diesel fuel and gasoline plus increases in motor vehicles fees did win approval from the legislators.

Ohio's Gov. James A. Rhodes dropped his six-year policy of no new taxes and gave his approval to a gross receipts tax to finance a vocational-technical education program. The governor has refused to allot any more funds for welfare. Instead, he has concentrated on the vocational-technical program in the belief it will reduce welfare rolls.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has proposed to balance state books by raising the sales tax from two to three cents on the dollar and cutting state expenditures by 5 per cent across the board.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania offered eight alternative tax plans. But he indicated his preference for a 3 per cent tax on total income. Two previous governors suggested an income tax for Pennsylvania, but it didn't get anywhere.

The new governor of Illinois, Richard B. Ogilvie, said the state is on the brink of bankruptcy. He asked departments to slash spending as much as 10 per cent and said revenue must be increased, but he won't have his tax program ready until about April 1. An income tax proposal is under study.

Chances of a tobacco tax have been rated good in North Carolina, the largest tobacco producer and the only state which doesn't have such a levy.

A special study commission has asked Alabama's legislature to raise at least $55 million a year for schools.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old girl who is still single. Sure, I wish I were married, but things haven't worked out that way.

Whenever I visit my married friends, it's always the same old story. They can't understand why a nice girl who is pretty, has a good figure and pleasant personality isn't married. They keep insisting I am too "fussy."

This really hurts me and makes me wonder if maybe I shouldn't marry the first man who comes along no matter what he's like or how I feel about him.

I've dated quite a few men.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is sort of a minor executive with a large company which employs mostly girls and women. He has a part in interviewing them for employment, which brings him into close contact with lots of girls.

He is always telling me how girls try to sit close to him and make dates with him and all like that. I'm not the jealous type. At least I never was before he started all this talk.

What do you think is going on that makes him tell me these things?

Optimist Relays Are Scheduled Saturday

The annual Big Spring Optimist Relays, one of the biggest meets of its kind in West Texas, will be staged here for eight days.

Lewis Claims Two Seconds

ROBERT LEE — All that was needed to make an ice rink out of the field was a freeze — there was plenty of water on hand — but the Robert Lee Regional Qualifiers Track and Field meet was staged here, anyway, Saturday.

Sands of Achery scored 25 points in the meet. The Mustangs wound up with three second place ribbons and captured a sixth place.

The Lewis captured two of the second places for the Mustangs. Clocking in 10.1 in the 100, he was closest to Junction's Rain-bridge, timed in 10 seconds flat.

Frazier of Aspermont won the 200 in 23.1 and was followed across the finish line by Lewis, caught in 25.2.

Jim Fryar of Sands was second in the shot put with a toss of 40.4. Dirschie of Wall won the event with a heave of 51.7.

Burdier Kynn Maxwell of Sands was dropped out of the chance to compete in his specialty when all hurdling events were cancelled due to the condition of the track but he placed sixth in the 100.

The Mustangs were preparing for next week's Regional meet in Lubbock.

Royals Smash A's, 9 To 3

OAKLAND (AP) — Joe Keough smacked two doubles and a single, driving in one run and scoring another Saturday as Kansas City whipped Oakland 9-3.

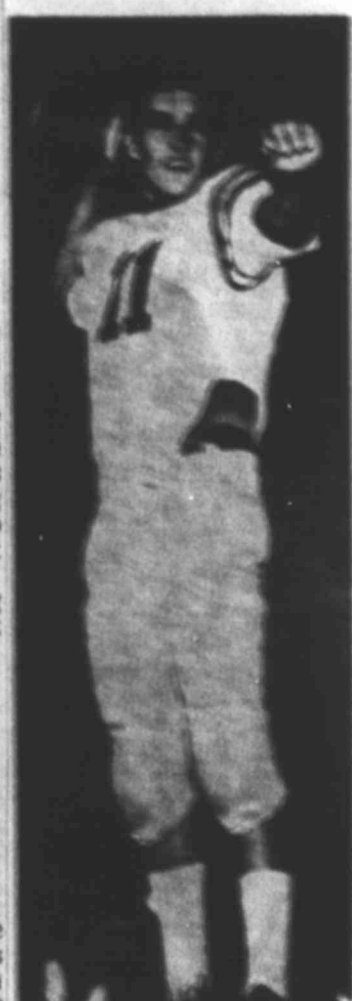

It was the third victory in four games for the expansion Royals.

Keough, who went from Oakland to Kansas City in the American League expansion draft, drove in a run in the fifth when the Royals broke it open with four runs.

Jack Hernandez got the Royals off in front when he singled two runs across in the third inning. Then the Royals added another in the fourth on a double by Jim Campanis and Jim Rice's single. Kansas City knocked out Chuck Dobson in the next inning.

Pat Kelley opened with a walk and moved up on Hernandez's sacrifice. Then Keough's second double brought the run home. Three walks forced another across and Campanis singled for two more.

Jim Baglioni homered for the A's. Oakland knocked out Royals starter Steve Jones in the ninth, but Dave Wickens came on to get the last two outs and nail down the victory.

LANCE HOPPER

Hopper, Fryar Are Named Award Winners At Sands

Quarterback Lance Hopper and tackle Jim Fryar have been named winners of the Daily Herald's outstanding football player awards at Sands High School.

The two were awarded certificates at the Saturday night All-Sports banquet staged in the Sands High School gymnasium.

A versatile senior, Hopper could switch to other positions in the Sands backfield when he wasn't calling signals. The Mustangs upset New Home to finish with an over-all record of 4-4 and Hopper gained 83 yards in 12 carries.

Against conference foe Wilson, Hopper threw a nine-yard touchdown pass and moved his club 84 yards through

Pascual KO'd By Baltimore O's, 9 To 0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dave McNally pitched a four-hitter and home runs by Frank Robinson and Don Buford led a 12-hit Baltimore attack that gave the Orioles a 9-0 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday.

The Orioles came into the game with a team batting average of .168 but broke out of the slump against Camilo Pascual and two relievers.

Robinson had three hits including his homer and Buford, Elbie Hendricks and Paul Blair added two apiece.

Baltimore chased Pascual in the third after Baltimore had scratched a run on three singles in the first and then added another on a single and three walks. Another walk and Mark Belanger's sacrifice fly made it 4-0.

Robinson and Buford connected with solo shots and watched around a three-run, four-hit Baltimore rally in the fifth.

Stottlemire Stops Detroiters, 4-0

DETROIT (AP) — Mel Stottlemire pitched a near-perfect game Saturday, allowing just one hit as the New York Yankees trimmed the Detroit Tigers 4-0.

Stottlemire was the master all the way, pitching perfect ball until Jim Northrup doubled with two out in the fifth. Only two Tigers reached base after that, both on errors.

The Yankees gave the 27-year-old right-hander all the runs he needed by scoring twice in the third inning. Gene Muehleisen and a sacrifice fly by Roy White.

New York's final score came when Stottlemire and Clarke singled through the box and Kenney brought Stottlemire home with a single.

Denny McLain was the loser, evening his record at 1-1.

Former Longhorn Voted Into Coaches' Shrine

Beverly Rockhold, who attended public schools in Big Spring prior to World War II, is one of five Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Honor nominees.

Rockhold is the dean of Texas track coaches. He started his coaching career at Robert E. Lee High School in Baytown in 1957 and has remained in that position since then with the exception of four years he spent in the Air Force.

During his years in Baytown, Rockhold's teams have captured titles in 15 relays, 15 in district, 11 in regional, four second places in state and two state championships.

His teams have also set four state and national records and he had 45 of his former pupils named in the National High School honor roll.

Beverly has always been regarded as a coaches' coach, one who has worked with and for the Coaches Association in all phases of committee work.

He has been assigned on several committees to work with the UIL on track problems and has assigned football, basketball and track members in under-standing each other's point of view.

Rockhold attended the induction into the shrine. The University of Texas where he coached three varsity letters in Dallas coaching school in August.

Dave Giusti Blanks Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Giusti, who was traded to St. Louis twice within two months, pitched a six-hitter and scored the only run, leading the Cardinals past the New York Mets 1-0 Saturday.

Giusti, helped provide himself with the only run he needed when he led off the third with a double off Don Cardwell and scored on Curt Flood's double.

The 24-year-old right-hander first was acquired by St. Louis last Oct. 11 in a trade with Houston. But three days later the San Diego Padres selected him in the expansion draft.

Then in Dec. 1 the Cardinals again traded for Giusti, giving the Padres four players.

Making his first start for St. Louis, Giusti didn't allow a hit for the first three innings.

In the fourth, Wayne Garner and Chuck Jones singled with one out, but Ed Kranepool grounded into a double play and Jerry Grote popped up.

Augusta Galleries Are Well Behaved

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Mas Dan Sikes. "I just take one club some ahead used on the par three holes.
"They'll say so-in-so used a six iron; sometimes it's helpful and sometimes it isn't," Sikes says.
FAN STOPPED BALL
"One year I had a chip for my second shot at the par 3 second and this guy inadvertently stopped it so it rolled closer to the hole," says lanky Al Geiberg, the 1966 PGA champion. "I managed to get a par but I don't know what would have happened if it hadn't been for that fellow in the gallery."
Gary Player, the 1961 Masters champion, says he's partial to the galleries at the picturesque Augusta National course because they don't "scream and shout."
"Shouting is good for baseball but not for golf," the little South African said.
Player, competing in his 12th Masters, says galleries in the United States are "more durt" than in other parts of the world.
"That means more serious," he explained.
Unlike some of the other top stars, Player doesn't notice individuals in the sea of faces that dog him on the tour. Neither does three-time Masters champion Jack Nicklaus.
"I'm more concerned about my score," Player said. "Besides, I'm not limelight crazy."
"Galleries look about the same everywhere I play," Nicklaus said. "I never look at faces. But I remember people inadvertently stopping my ball so many times I can't count them."
But dapper Doug Sanders and Claude Harmon, the 1948 Masters king, admit to momentary distractions on the course.
"I admire beauty in the galleries," says Sanders, a favorite among the ladies. The former Georgia caddy says that at the Los Angeles open a few years ago one spectator in particular distracted him so much that he eventually married her.
TOURNEY PUZZLE
Harmon, playing here for the 12th year, says he notices certain people in the crowd and wonders where they come from and what they do.
"People come here on their vacations," he says. "I see the same faces year after year."
"I remember the year I won I hit my second shot into the par five eighth and it would have hit this woman and stopped 100 feet from the pin if someone hadn't pushed her out of the way. As it turned out, it stopped close enough for an eagle."
The players generally agree that the masters spectators are more knowledgeable and better behaved than anywhere in the world—partly because of the setup of the course and partly because of the rigid marshalling.
When the famed Bobby Jones designed the Masters course 35 years ago, he did so with the spectator in mind. There are 11 scoreboards placed among the azaleas and magnolias dotting the lush layout and an equal number of prime viewing areas.
Admission is by reservation only. Thousands are turned away each year, in an effort to limit the crowd to 50,000.
Through regular attendance and the regimentation forced by 230 arm-band marshals and 80 Pinkerton men, the spectators have become highly educated in golf etiquette.
"I've been assigned here for the past five years and I'm getting to like it," says one security man who would otherwise be covering the Southeastern Fair.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

College 11's More Active

By TOMMY HART

Oklahoma State's Hank Iba has been trying to talk turkey with Stanton's all-state cager, David Jones, but David likes to run and shoot — which definitely isn't Iba's style of play... An Alpine, Tex., sprinter had the misfortune of having a pole vaulter land on him recently during a workout... Steer tennis coach Frank Pulatich says one trouble with Big Spring tennis is that their seventh grade youngsters in their programs whereas we wait a year.
The American Broadcasting Company, which has thoroughly researched the matter, says you see ten per cent more action (or more plays, if you prefer) in college football than among the professionals... The network reports college eleven's average 16 seconds between plays, against 26 seconds for the pros... Pro golfer Arnold Palmer says he fully expects the next five years to be his best in the sport — he's now 39... Tom Arista Sr., who played with the Big Spring Tigers for 17 years starting prior to World War II and who now masterminds the sandlot team, said the 1952 team was probably the best with which he was ever associated... Arista was a stellar center fielder in his salad days... Hank Greenberg, the former major league slugger, has a son, Steve, who is a first baseman for the Yale Bulldogs this spring... Skiers in the U.S. spent $385 million the past season just to run the risk of breaking ankles and legs... As early as mid-March, Donn Clendenon let it be known he would return to professional baseball if he could be traded to Atlanta, where he wanted to keep his hand in the business world... No one in baseball would admit it but high officials in the game, knowing the end was near and inevitable, breathed a sigh of relief when Gen. Eisenhower died on the day he did... Demise of such a national figure two weeks later, for instance, would have disrupted the big league season and the game has already gone through that experience with Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert Kennedy.

When James Newman, ace pitcher of the Big Spring Steers, was ill recently, his weight dropped from 156 to 143... Newman's problems on the hill have been complicated by the fact that some of the arbiters around the league haven't been giving him the corners and Newman has been taught to throw to those spots since he first pulled on a glove and charged the hill... An oddity of a poll conducted among the nation's golf writers to pick a winner in this year's Masters tournament was the fact that not a one went with Arnold Palmer, although eight different men drew support in the balloting... Six of the 27 writers voted for Jack Nicklaus... When Rico Carly, the Atlanta baseball player, strides to bat he wears gloves on both hands... Critics of divisions in the major leagues point out that the American League race is bound to be unbalanced because the first five teams in the final 1968 standings were all in the East... Jack Barber, president of the American Little League here, is an untiring worker in small-fry baseball — he's been on his circuit's board of directors for seven years and remains a devotee despite the fact that his son grew out of the age bracket last year... The four major Little Leagues here are a part of more than 7,000 such circuits which will be in operation this summer... Pete Maravich, the LSU phenom, will probably fetch as good an offer as did Lew Alcindor from the pro basketball leagues after he completes his eligibility next season... Willie Brooks, new head football coach at Midland Lee High School, is married to a Big Spring girl, the former Glendene Phillely... Brooks played football at Midland High with Bill Mims, the hard-luck athlete who was permanently crippled in a scrimmage against Big Spring one fall... It's generally agreed that a Masters golf victory is worth a million to the winner in side benefits but last year's champion, Bob Goaly, insists he netted no more than $30,000 in extra money... Goaly was wrongly blamed when the apparent winner, Roberto de Vicenzo, was penalized for signing a wrong score card.

Diane Crump Takes Fall

MIAMI (AP) — Diane Crump, the first female jockey to race a horse at a major American track, Friday became the first female jockey to fall off a horse at a major American track.

And although she hit hard, she's taking it lightly.

The petite girl jockey was involved in a three-horse spill in the fourth race at Gulfstream Park and was knocked unconscious. But she recovered in time to bound from the stretcher and walk to the ambulance. She was taken to a hospital for precautionary X-rays, but was released later.

Miss Crump was aboard Misquitta when the horse appeared to clip the heels of Micky Rabierre and stumble. Misquitta fell, pitching the slender girl to the ground. Putter Power, under Don Brumfield, fell over Misquitta, throwing Brumfield. Apprentice Bobby Breen on Bouncing Swiftly, veered to the outside and also fell off.

In the hospital emergency room, Miss Crump said, "I was just starting to make my move." She said she could remember nothing after that. "I was out cold for a while," she said, and then added quickly, "I'll be riding again just as soon as I get out of here."

The right side of her face was bruised and scraped and she suffered a cut lip. She left the hospital wearing a neck brace. Brumfield had two cuts on the forehead and a sprained right wrist. He canceled his last three mounts. Breen was not hurt. Undaunted by Miss Crump's mishap, Arlene Dittmore joined the ranks of women jockey in the sixth race. She finished fifth aboard Nickel Sale, a 20-1 shot. Later, she commented, "It's a different than exercising horses in the morning."

Lakers Post 95-93 Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "You try to follow the ball coming off the backboard, but there's a little luck in getting that rebound," explained Mel Counts.

With 24 seconds left in the opening game of the Western playoffs of the National Basketball Association, the 7-footer had the luck and the shot and with a 95-93 victory, his Los Angeles Lakers held a 1-0 edge over Atlanta.

The Lakers trailed 93-92 Erickson shot when Keith Erickson shot. Counts took the rebound and followed with a field goal while being fouled by Bill Bridges. He then sank the free throw.

Atlanta trailed by 15 points on three occasions, but then rallied late in the third period, aided by some frigid shooting by the Lakers, and had gone ahead in the fourth.

Zelmo Beaty scored 29 for the losers as high scorer in the game and coach Richie Guerin commented, "We can come back. If Beaty gets his shots on Sunday, it will be different."

On Sunday, New York plays at Boston in an afternoon game with the Celtics leading the series 2-1, while Atlanta plays again in Los Angeles that night in the best four-of-seven set.

Permian Wins 2nd Spot In Standings

ODESSA — Friday's cold, wet and windy weather dampened the spirits of Big Spring High School's Steer linksters as they fell from second to fourth place in District 3-AAAA play.

Big Spring's squad shot 334 Friday for a 1594 district mark. Third place Midland High edged by the Steers with a 333 for a 1585 total. Permian, moving

Butler, McCutchen Bidding For Jobs

LUBBOCK — The development of an offensive line and the installation of a pro-set offense on an experimental basis are high on Coach J. T. King's menu when the Texas Tech Red Raiders plunged into spring drills last week.

There are plenty of new faces as King lost 17 seniors off the 1968 team which posted a 5-3 record. The drills will end May 10 with the annual Red-White contest in Jones Stadium.

"We've got to find out if we have the personnel to make the pro-set offense go," King said. "Unless we can come up with the type passer and receivers necessary, there's not much we can do to make a pass-predicated offense click."

The offensive line problem was created by the graduation of second team All-America Don King, along with Ronnie Sowell and Andy Reed from the guard posts, and three-year starter at tackle, Mike Patterson. Experienced hands returning include centers Jesse Richardson and Mark Hazelwood and tackles Mike Holladay and Fred Perry.

MOVES GUARD

King added depth by moving letterman Walt Varborough to offensive guard and bringing in Joe Newton, a promising junior college performer who runs the 40-yard dash in 4.7 and has good size. Several players up from the 1968 campaign, has been listed as the number one man under candidate.

Tom Sawyer, who operated behind Matulich last season, will do double duty, working at quarterback and halfback. Lane Wade, a promising junior, will battle for the quarterback position and the flankerback post.

The double duty by Sawyer and Wade will give King and his staff an opportunity to look over some of the freshman quarterback prospects such as Charles Napper, Dale Robold, Mike Nicolle and Sid Mueller.

Another position switch will find defensive back Kevin Ormes moving into a flanker post. Ormes has good speed and could aid the Raider attack. Ormes will be joined by Charles Midland Lee shot 333 for a 1608 total. San Angelo used 329 strokes and 1621. Odessa fired 333 for a 1634 standing, and Abilene fell farther behind with a 350 and a 1664 district mark.

Ronnie Broadrick, Big Spring,

Both Cooper and Permian qualified for Regional competition, which takes place at the Odessa Country Club next Thursday and Friday.

Mishaps Spoil Many A Dream Of Trainers

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Longden and Ray Metcalfe have their fingers crossed.

The trainers of Majestic Prince and Top Knight, the leading contenders for this year's Kentucky Derby crown are hopeful their precautions will keep their colts from becoming the Buckpasser and Graustark of 1969.

Buckpasser and Graustark never reached the post in the 1966 running of America's most famous horse race. They stood out then among the Derby eligibles, just as Majestic Prince and Top Knight do for the May 3 Derby at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky.

Buckpasser, suffered a quartercrack in the 1966 Flamingo at Hialeah and was withdrawn from the Derby by owner Ogden Phipps and trainer Eddie Nely.

Graustark, unbeaten at the time as is Majestic Prince at present, suffered a branch fracture of the coffin bone in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland. The colt was immediately retired for breeding purposes by owner John Galbreath of Darby Dan Farm.

Buckpasser and Graustark thus joined the list of derby standouts of previous years similarly jinxed from going to the post to the tearful strains of My Old Kentucky Home.

In 1962 Sir Gaylord was the game Derby favorite, but a few days before the race he suffered a hairline bone fracture and was declared out of the classic.

Back in 1918 Sun Briar was regarded as a virtual cinch, but he was withdrawn after several poor workouts at Churchill Downs. Exterminator, who worked with Sun Briar, was entered instead.

Old Bones, as he became affectionately known, not only won the Derby, but went on to fame and fortune with 50 victories in 100 career starts.

Stagehand, trained by Earl Sande, won the Santa Anita Derby and Santa Anita Handicap and the 1938 Derby was considered at his mercy. Just one day before the Derby Stagehand came down with a fever and missed the race.

It was perhaps the bitterest disappointment in the career of Sande, a famous jockey who rode three Derby winners before he became a trainer.

Downs Readied For 23rd Year

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Ruidoso Downs Race Track is humming with activity as track and maintenance crews prepare for the 23rd racing season at the mountain oval.

In the tradition of its annual beautification and improvement program, the entire grandstand has been repainted, and improvements made in the Jockey Club and the All American Club.

Major improvements announced by general manager Richard Thompson include expansion of the parking area to facilitate 500 additional cars with faster entrance and exit schemes, along with new walk ways from the parking area to the grandstand.

New drainage systems have been installed in the grandstand, parking and stable areas. The Downs' 28 barns have a stabling capacity for 1,700 horses, plus feed and tack rooms. Stable crews are putting the area into top shape for the April 29 date when horses will begin arriving to prep for Ruidoso Downs' star-studded stakes program.

Track superintendent Roy Abbott described the racing strip as being in "the best condition in its history." An analysis by soil chemists revealed the proper mixture of soils was already present, and it will not be necessary to haul in additional sand, as has been the case in some previous years.

The track is being worked daily with motor graders, harrows and water trucks in an effort to make it lightning fast for opening day May 24.

Pollock Resigns West Texas Job

CANYON — Les Pollock, 35, has resigned, effective July 10, as assistant basketball coach at West Texas State.

He said his future plans were undecided. The Buffaloes won 15 of 26 games this past season and participated in the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

Pollock has been assistant to head coach Dennis Walling for two years, coming to West Texas from North Texas State, where he was an assistant coach for three years. Pollock was captain of the 1961-62 North Texas basketball team.

An all-state player at Valparaiso, Ind., High School, Pollock was also a junior college All-American at Pueblo, Colo., College.

Montreal Is Poised For Baseball Debut

MONTREAL (AP) — Au Jeu Play Ball.

In two languages that's the word from baseball's new frontier here in Canada, where for the first time Monday the Montreal Expos take the field against the St. Louis Cardinals in the first regular season major league game ever played outside the United States.

And, despite difficult weather conditions that threatened to force a delay in the Expos' home debut, all but the last minute touches remain to be applied before the start of the big test that will determine whether baseball can find a home among the predominantly French-Canadian populace.

NEARLY READY

The first major hurdle, refurbishing of tiny Jarry Stadium into a 28,450-seat ball park that will house the Expos temporarily, is virtually near completion as the countdown nears for Monday's 12:35 p.m. CST, opening.

Workers continued to push ahead Saturday, working primarily on the condition of the playing surface with first signs of green just beginning to show in the grass after some 10 days of weather in the 45-55 degree range.

The ball park, itself, is ready for the sellout crowd — actually the opener was oversold and tickets had to be refunded to the fans coming in from as far away as Seven Islands, Quebec, some 700 air miles to the north of Montreal.

All but the bleacher seats have been installed in the park, constructed on a metal alloy, and the seats have been painted in various colors — royal blue for boxes, red for reserved seats and green for grandstand.

There is, however, a problem with the permanent seats in the bleachers and as many as 7,500 folding chairs might have to be brought in if workmen cannot finish that section before the gates are thrown open.

The opener will have a typical baseball flavor, although somewhat of a carnival atmosphere pervades this sophisticated Canadian city that is trying to prove that it can support major league baseball American-style.

Various organizations have scheduled parties and luncheons before the opening that guarantee that the fans at least might get off the ground.

FANS AWAKEN

"There's excitement among the fans," explained an official of the Expos. "There's even excitement among those people who had been negative, who wondered whether we would draw. Now you meet them, and they seem to know everything that's happening about the club."

One reason for that is that the Expos' games are being telecast throughout the country by the Canadian Broadcasting System on 56 stations, 44 in English and 12 in French.

From St. John's, Newfoundland to Vancouver, B.C., and from Windsor, Ont., to White Horse, Yukon.

While the opening will be typically American baseball with the premier of Quebec, Jean Jacques Bertrand, scheduled to throw out the first ball and heading a long list of dignitaries, the flavor of the operation is almost completely international.

From the "bon jour" that greets telephone callers to the flags that will be flying on opening day—Canadian, United States, Quebec and Montreal—the operation has been aimed at appealing to both English and French speaking fans.

The District 3-AAAA baseball game between Big Spring and Odessa Ector in Odessa, postponed for the second day in a row Saturday, has been reset for 4 p.m. Thursday.

"The delay can only help us," coach Oakley Hagood of Big Spring said Saturday morning. "We're about to get well again and we had a good workout Thursday. I think we're about ready to start playing again."

The Longhorns, 8-4-1 on the year, next see action against Snyder at 4 p.m. here Tuesday in a practice game. The last time the two teams played, they fought to an extra-inning tie.

Snyder has since accumulated the best won-lost record in this area.

The Big Spring JV's go to Midland Lee for a game Tuesday and play Abilene High in their next home game April 23. The JV's have won four of their six starts.

Hagood said pitching duties Tuesday will probably be shared by Thomas Ham and Jimmy Farris. That means Jimmy Newman would go against Ector Thursday.

The Steers venture to Abilene last Saturday for a conference game against Cooper and meet Odessa High here in their next home district test Tuesday, April 22.

Pastors Bringing National Figure Here For Conference

Dr. D. Elton Trueblood, an outstanding figure in religion and philosophy, comes here Thursday for conferences with pastors and for an address open to the public.

Dr. Trueblood is being brought here by the Big Spring Pastors Association, which seeks once a year to host a figure of national stature. The meetings, including his public address at 7:30 p.m., will be held at the First Baptist Church.

His visit is under the theme, "A Day with Elton Trueblood," and pastors in this area of West Texas as well as this vicinity, are being urged to avail themselves of the council of one of the contemporary giants of theology.

Dr. Trueblood is no stranger here. Several years ago he visited in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan, close friends of his, and made one impromptu speaking appearance.

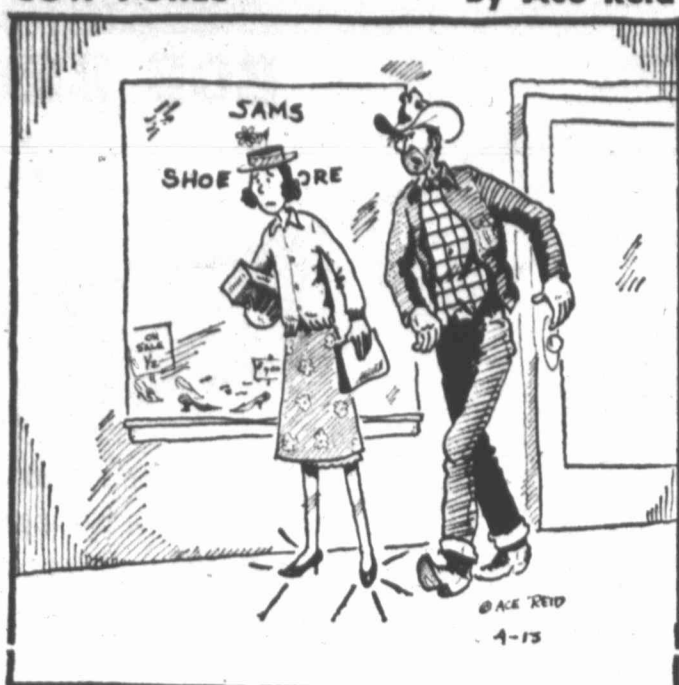

Conferences will begin at 9:30 a.m. between Dr. Trueblood and the pastors, and will resume after lunch at 1:30 p.m. The $3.50 registration fee for ministers includes the luncheon, according to the Rev. David Northcutt, Coahoma Presbyterian pastor.

Dr. Trueblood is an internationally known Christian scholar who was for 20 years professor of philosophy at Earlham College where he now is professor at large. He is founder of the Yokefellow Institute, a center of renewal for church and society, at Richmond, Ind. He is much in demand as a speaker and resource personality, and is author of numerous books, the latest of which is "A Place to Stand." For many years he has stressed the quality of the church, and more recently has turned dynamic emphasis upon personal belief.

Early Education

By JO BRIGHT

Society has long placed emphasis on higher education, but in recent years, far-sighted educators have been taking a second look at "lower education" and its potential value in future school systems. When does a child become "teachable," and what are the benefits of beginning formal education at an early age?

In Big Spring, there are several schools and programs under which the learning process begins when a child reaches the age of three years. This is the pre-school group. At five years of age, the child may begin kindergarten.

Schedules in local schools vary, however, kindergarten hours are generally from 8:45 to 11:30 a.m. In addition to class rooms, the schools feature both indoor and outdoor play areas with recreation equipment.

The readiness programs may include activities such as those illustrated, along with introduction to music through singing and playing simple instruments. In those private schools which offer first grade courses, the curriculum is the same as that in public schools.

Next Saturday, the Permian Basin Pre-School Association and the Texas Department of Public Welfare are jointly sponsoring an annual workshop at the Jack and Jill Kindergarten and Nursery, 2009 Main. Anyone interested in the needs and teaching of pre-school children is invited to attend. The registration fee is $1, and registration begins at 8:30 a.m. at the school.

MATCHING ARTICLES to phonetic sounds becomes an educational exercise that four can play much better than one. Holding the items that represent "m" sounds are Kim Hill, Keith Scudder, Landa Mayberry and Alan Martin.

THE MYSTERY OF matching numbers to fit patterns is an intriguing challenge to these busy youngsters. Kent Franks find he thinks better when biting a fingernail, and Casey Clark welcomes a little help from Kristi Hardy in putting a card in the proper place.

WORKBOOKS WORK wonders in arousing curiosity in young minds. Seeking answers to puzzling questions are Charlette Beil, Karen Wilson, Mark Warren, Mark Mc-Knight and Ricky Hudspeth. The easel in the background displays pictures to illustrate the association of ideas.

THERE'S A LOT to be said for "lower learning" as these tots gather around their table to study sizes, heights and depths. Taking their studies seriously are Jill Safford, Holly Burkholder, Janie Shafer, Billy Bowers, Mark Hoop and Mark Hitt.

Buy Appropriate Wedding Gift For Bridal Couple

Buying an appropriate wedding present is a more delicate task than merely deciding on an expensive piece of silver, properly monogrammed.

It's best to find out about the couple's housing — (cramped quarters, little storage space?) — their permanency (how long will they stay in their first apartment?) — their taste (very modern, chintzy or what?) — and most importantly, the restrictions their budget may make on their pleasure.

With this kind of personal profile in mind, the giver may come up with a totally different — and more satisfactory — present than he had first planned.

Here are some ideas of this different order:

A gift certificate from a record shop for the musically-minded.

Subscriptions to a symphony, an opera or a ballet series.

The cost of textbooks for graduate school students.

Gourmet boxes delivered on a monthly basis, to brighten the hamburger-bean diet.

Airplane tickets to a resort for the first vacation.

Subscriptions to specially desired magazines, American or foreign.

A check for a weekly (or monthly) night out.

The price of a weekly cleaning woman, if both are working and/or studying.

A telephone credit card, with bills to be paid by the giver for a specified period.

their new home at 406 Washington, all is serenity, but inside, it's a different story. The Bancrofts are busy with a major overhaul in converting and refurbishing the home to fit their needs, so for them, it may be a long, hard summer of stepping "over this and around that" until the job is finished.

Bancroft, now associated with the law firm of Brown and Hamby, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ben Bancroft Sr., formerly of San Antonio, but now living at their retirement home at Lake LBJ. The younger Bancroft was born in Wichita Falls, and reared in San Antonio. His sister resides in Houston. After earning a bachelor's degree at Oklahoma State University (where he was an outstanding baseball player) he entered St. Mary's in San Antonio where he received his law degree and was a member of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

During Bancroft's last year in law school he married the former Betty Davis, daughter of Mrs. O. D. Davis and O. C. Anderson of San Antonio. The couple had met during their high school years. She is a graduate of North Texas State, earning a BS degree as an elementary education major.

Their first home was in Alexandria, Va., as he began three year's service as legal counsel in the U.S. Marine Corps, which later took him to Okinawa and Vietnam.

After separation from service, he practiced law with a firm in San Antonio until accepting the position here.

The Bancrofts have two children, George, 4, and Merribeth, 5. Mrs. Bancroft, a slender brunette, was president of Theta Kappa Chi during her junior college years and belonged to an honor fraternity later. Her hobbies are gardening and painting (which will come in handy during the home renovation). More to her liking, however, are the smaller brushes for water coloring, and she has done some charcoal sketching. Her teaching career was limited to less than a year in San Antonio, where she taught first grade.

Bancroft, like most professional men, has less time for recreation than he would like, and his sports activities are almost limited to being an "active spectator." Doubtless, for the next few months, his spare time will be used working on the home and yard.

In San Antonio, the Bancrofts attended the Unitarian Church.

Other officers are Mrs. M. C. Lawrence, vice president; Mrs. Ollie McDaniel, secretary; and Mrs. Richard Mitchell, treasurer.

Mrs. O. N. Green said the invocation, and Mrs. Mitchell gave the devotion. Mrs. Griese was named card chairman for the month, and reports on the sick were heard.

Easter Program Heard By Class

Mrs. Amy Reed gave a devotion, "The Cross and Easter," at Tuesday's meeting of the Dorcas Class, Forsan Baptist Church. Mrs. Joe B. Hoard was hostess. The group continued the study of personalities of the Old Testament, reviewing the life of Samson. Mrs. Carl Tippie presided and gave a report on a donation to a teenager. The next meeting will be May 13 in the home of Mrs. Reed. tette by winnie

Curt Mullins Details City Youth Programs

Curt Mullins, director of the YMCA, discussed youth programs in the city at Thursday's meeting of Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, in the home of Mrs. D. M. Moore, 211 Circle. Mrs. Bill Crow, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker.

Mullins discussed available activities for youth in Big Spring, explaining that many of them are connected with the schools, such as band, school clubs and choirs. He emphasized sports facilities at City Park, community ball parks and several tennis courts. He detailed the YMCA programs and announced that the Lakeview YMCA sponsors a daily child care program for needy families which charges a minimum fee. The money is used to provide lunches for the children.

The District Eight ESA meeting will be held April 20 in Monahan. Attending from here will be Mrs. H. R. Holcombe, Mrs. Jackie Touchstone and Mrs. W. G. Mitchel. New district officers will be elected.

Mrs. Bob Rogers, president, announced that the annual Founder's Day program will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. May 4 at Cosden Country Club.

Exercise Middle For New Fashions

Have you tried a dress with a wide, snug belt as yet? If so, you are aware that only a sleek middle can carry off the fashion. This may come as a surprise to some, like the generation of young girls who have never worn a real belt, at the real waistline. Much less a dress with a full set-in waist.

Regardless of age, you have a sign of middle muddle when a roll of flesh pops over a high rise belt or girdle. Then the place to start slimming is at the rib cage. The following routines smooth the rib cage and also tighten up waist muscles:

Lie face down on floor and rest forehead on backs of hands. Simultaneously raise, upper torso, waist up, and touch heels to buttocks. After a good stretch, return slowly to starting position. Repeat two to 110 times, increasing at own speed.

Make an exercise of good posture. Stand and sit tall at all times — pull that rib cage up and out of the waist. Morning and evening, stand and raise arms overhead. Then stretch arms, alternately, as if inching up a pole. Work hard for five minutes.

But what if the rib cage is large because of massive bones? The answer is a longline bra. And the resolve to keep the structure stripped of flesh.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
After washing, rinsing and towel-drying my hair, I comb or brush the tangles out as usual. Then I moisten it with lemon-flavored gelatin dessert dissolved in a cup of boiling water (which I make up before starting the shampoo so it will be the right temperature).

I catch the drippings in an empty pan and keep pouring it until my hair is thoroughly saturated. Then I squeeze all of it out, brush the tangles and set my hair as usual.

When completely dry, I comb it in my favorite style, spraying each curl with hair spray, but this is really not necessary. Then each night I sleep with a curler cap pinned securely. Little refixing is ever needed before the next washing.

Mrs. D.J.J.

Gals, just wait till you try it! Absolutely astounding! You'll be the belle of the ball!

It's just like the setting gel used in beauty parlors and leaves your hair with lots and lots of body.

The gelatin dessert may be diluted according to your own texture of hair. I used three level teaspoons. Just poured the mixture into a large plastic pitcher, added enough water to cool it, and poured it over my hair right after it had been rinsed. Then towel dried and set it.

Came out like a million! I didn't even need hair spray. One beauty operator told me that back in the depression days they used to set hair in sugar water, so it must be the sugar in the gelatin dessert that does it.

Heloise

P.S. No, the flavor makes no difference, 'cept the strawberry smelled good last week.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:
When my son went into the Coast Guard, I wrote a newsy letter and enclosed a separate sheet with questions that I wished him to answer and left sufficient space for answers.

I was positive I had solved the correspondence gap. Soon I received my stamped, self-addressed envelope, but inside he had placed a new sheet of paper with only the answers to my questions. It looked something like this:

1. Yes.
2. I think so.
3. Maybe.
4. Absolutely not.

How I wish I had made a copy of my questions! Helen Billsten

Dear Heloise:
I used a foam rubber curler, with the insert removed, to protect my badly bruised toe.

Along with an open sandal, it gave me cushioned comfort! Dorothy Averbek

Dear Heloise:
This is something for new mothers to do just for fun. Add your doctor and hospital bills together, then divide that amount by your baby's birth weight to see how much he (or she) cost per pound.

Mrs. D. Lewis

Honey lamb, those little angels may cost more than gold, but aren't they priceless? Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I have a good suggestion for housewives who get something caught in the hose of their vacuum cleaners — things such as hair nets, which you cannot get out by dropping something through the hose or poking with a stick.

Last week my daughter sucked up my hair curler net. I tried to get it out by dropping a knife through the hose and by punching the broom handle through it, but it just went through the net and the net stayed in the hose.

My husband immediately found a solution. He took his rod and reel, dropped the hook into the hose until it caught in the net, then reeled it in just like a fish. A Reader

Planning To Build? Better Be Protected

COLLEGE STATION — Planning to build a home? An Extension housing specialist suggests several ways to help you be protected in your house construction.

First, use an architect if possible, says Laura Russell, specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. And choose one that shares your likes and dislikes.

"We finally got our house finished and it is fairly well built. The builder who designed it gave us strong walls, but the floor plan is a blunderous wonder," one Texas owner reported.

That family will pay for trying to save an architect's fee, says Mrs. Russell.

Second, find a reliable builder. A reputable builder is in business for life, not for a fast buck. Find out how long he has been in business with his current company name and see other houses he has built, advises Mrs. Russell.

Third, think about the steps in building. Get a lot, buy plans and specifications, sign a construction contract with a builder, and get permits for the actual construction and its inspections. Mrs. Russell advises contacting a lawyer about the contract. Every detail of the structure should be spelled out, including the materials and construction methods.

Although you paid the general contractor in full when the house was completed, a sub-contractor may not have been paid. He, then, can file a lien against you.

For protection against liens, says Mrs. Russell, have the general contractor break down each partial payment bill into the various sub-contracting work covered. Then write checks payable jointly to the contractor and the sub-contractor involved. Insist on receipts from each sub-contractor. A completion date should be specified in the contract with a penalty clause if the contractor does not meet it, Mrs. Russell adds.

Reception To Honor George M. Boswells

The Boswells have always been active in the Methodist Church. He is presently chairman of the official board for Lufkin, Watkins United Methodist Church at Llano, and Mrs. Boswell is program chairman of the Women's Society of Christian Service for that church.

Snark Windows With New Colors

There's no excuse for dull windows anymore. Do-it-yourself window shades, alive with color and pattern, are the modern solution.

Main ingredient is simply a bright cotton fabric, flower-splashed, checked, striped, or dotted. To use for a shade, pick a fabric that is firm and closely woven.

Fabric shades can be made in several ways, says the National Cotton Council.

One, you can stiffen the fabric to shade strength with a special spray that gives it a plastic coating. Two, you can get a special heat-sensitive, adhesive-coated shade cloth, and iron cotton fabric onto the shade. Three, you can bond the fabric to a plain shade with a spray adhesive or even glue it on with an ordinary household glue. The bonding process will be more satisfactory, and is recommended for use with cotton fabric on cotton or synthetic shades.

MRS. RONALD FERNS

Nuptials Held In California

A McClellan Air Force Base chapel was the setting recently for the wedding of Miss Vicki Marie Moore and Ronald H. Ferns. She is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. John T. Moore of North Highlands, Calif., and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ferns of Woodland. The bride's grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Moore of Big Spring, and her uncle, Walter C. Moore, resides at 100 Jefferson.

The Rev. Wilbur Choy of Oak Park Methodist Church officiated, and the church was decorated with white stock and chrysanthemums. For the double ring ceremony, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza with peau d'ange lace appliques and a matching cathedral-length mantilla.

Miss Jo Ann Moore, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and wore a pale pink chiffon gown with an avocado band accenting the Empire waistline. She carried an arrangement of pink and white carnations. Dressed identically were the other attendants, Mrs. W. Thomas Rogers, Mrs. Michael Peters, Mrs. Randy Solomon and Mrs. Eric Torguson.

David Ferns served as best man for his brother, and ushers were David Wilson, Eric Torguson, Robert Rhoades and LaVerne Gonzales.

The bride is a graduate of Paris American High School in France and her husband is a graduate of Woodland High School. Both graduated from Sacramento State College. Ferns is employed by the North Sacramento School District, and his wife is office manager for Bankers Life Insurance Company.

The couple received guests in the McClellan Officers Club before departing for a wedding trip to Mexico City. They are making their home in Sacramento.

Get Value In Tots' Clothing

By GENEVIEVE SMITH WOOD
Summer playwear for little boys and girls, up to six years of age, can be practical as well as attractive.

As long as a mother reads the label or hang tag in each garment she can get known value. It's all there... fast color, fully preshrunk, durable press finish... right down to the fiber percentages in the fabric. Save money by taking a few moments to read and evaluate the information.

If it is not mentioned, you can assume that a given factor has not been incorporated into the fabric or the garment. Each of these qualities is an asset and is either required by law to be printed on the hang tag or label or is enumerated as a sales point by the manufacturer.

The durable press finish gives fabric a slightly different feel, a certain stiffness. The use of the man-made polyester fiber, which when combined with cotton results in a better durable press finish, makes for a lighter weight fabric. You will notice this in gingham, chambray and other cotton favorites for children's informal wear.

The recent improvement in the durable press finish, which enables it to shed soil in laundering more easily, is in general use by now.

As you shop for your small fry's vacation wear, bear in mind that the durable press finish is incorporated after the garments are made. So a dress can be shortened but not lengthened.

GARDEN SHOW ENTRY DATE

Non-members of the Oasis Garden Club who want to enter the club's standard flower show April 23 in Highland Center are asked to have entries at the center by 11:30 a.m. on that date. Judging will be held at 12:30 p.m. Entries from non-members will be accepted in both the horticulture and artistic divisions, and schedules may be picked up at Gray's Jewelers in Highland Shopping Center. The public is invited to attend the show, "Out of the Earth," from 3 to 5 p.m.

are the order of the day. Most dresses come with pants or bloomers of matching fabrics. Bloomers are pants cut rather full and elastized.

New looking are their tiny shift dresses with bloomers that are worn below the dress.

In this group you will find good quality gingham, seersucker, poplin and similar weaves, also handsome knitted fabrics (lined) as well as dotted Swiss and lenos for dressier wear.

Another type for casual wear at the beach, in the country, or for play in your own backyard, is the combination of briefs with shorts or slacks. These tops are in the gayest prints imaginable, some ruffled with the solid color material of the shorts.

Then there are the knitted shells and low neck, sleeveless tops in solid colors, stripes, and prints. You may have to look around for the quality you want, for this is almost a universal style for little boys and girls that comes in a wide quality range. Be sure to check whether you are getting a fabric that holds its shape and is fully preshrunk.

Especially good for beach wear are shorts with shells or other styles of toppers made of terry cloth. Here again you want to be careful to get good quality terry cloth. You can check the basic weave of the terry cloth by holding it up to a strong light. It should be firm and close, and the loops should be thick and not long. Terry cloth does not require ironing after laundering, so you will not find it with a durable press finish as a rule.

FOR THE BOYS

Small boys enjoy many combinations of toppers and shorts or slacks. Boxer shorts, elasticized around the top or only across the back, are as practical as they are popular.

They can enjoy color to the fullest. Many of these colors are delightful... strawberry, for example. Weight of material and general quality of garments vary widely. You will want a good weight of material in slacks or shorts especially. Also check to see whether the elastic is guaranteed for the life of the garment.

Some of these outfits come in styles and qualities suitable for more formal wear... such as shirts with scarf-ties to match. Such ties are similar to the wide ties that are a current fashion for Dad. There is a change in the style of little boys' shirts, too — collars are wider and deeper.

You also will find casual shirts with no collars at all, which make a lot of sense for a small boy's wear.

White corsages were presented to Miss Baker and her mother, Mrs. John Baker. Her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Base, Robert Callaghan, was unable to attend. Miss Baker's attire was a red, white and blue dress styled with dropped waist and pleated skirt.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth and accented with an arrangement of lavender daisies. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Miss Baker and Lt. Weaver plan to be married April 25 in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

A LOVELIER YOU Protect Hands With Barrier Of Creams

By MARY SUE MILLER
Oceans of lotion and expert weekly manicures are basic to presentable hands. Everybody knows that. But, for true loveliness, do you know:

● You must protect your hands from grimy contacts. Silicone lotions and creams form an effective barrier between hands and grime, when applied before a nasty job. Work gloves — how often have you heard it? — are the surest hand-savers.

● Before your hands ever become downright dirty, cream them well prior to washing. This loosens soil and helps soap do its rightful job.

● Products containing allantoin, panthenol and other healing elements are specifics for badly neglected, red, sore hands.

● Chap and irritation find a hospitable breeding ground under finger rings. So, make a point of removing your baubles before washing, and lotioning your hands whenever possible. Obviously, it's a good idea to cleanse your rings with frequency.

● In nail health, the old-fashioned process of buffing cannot be overestimated. It increases circulation, natural color and real sheen. Of course, modern cuticle creams and nail fortifiers help to repair weak nails.

● Your wrists and elbows are an extension of hand beauty. You'll see, if you stand in front

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Before everything is cut and dried with the new Downtown parking space I'd like to say my penny's worth. I am in favor of a "People's Parking" space. It would be a space with grass afoot, trees overhead and some benches for tired walkers... those who would like to sit and rest when they haven't completely finished with their downtown shopping. I think it would be a right clubby little thing to have such a place in the downtown area.

Not only would it be a convenience, I should think it would be an attraction, even though right across the street is the county courthouse with its trees and lawn. I don't believe there are any benches about. I like a town that has some green in it... not just the move variety of green. Flowers would be pretty but certainly not necessarily important. And it need not be so large... sort of a "conversation corner" as the home decorators say when they want a place to sound cosy.

MR. and MRS. JIM ASHLOCK and their children, Mark and Tracy, of Lubbock have been the weekend guests of her parents, MR. and MRS. DELBERT ALDREDGE.

MR. and MRS. BOB GARDNER and MR. and MRS. CALVIN DANIELS and their children, Robin and Christopher, are expected to return here this evening after spending several days in Ruidoso, N.M.

MRS. L. B. EDWARDS has returned from a three weeks visit in Houston and Dallas. In Houston she was the guest of the KELLEY LAWRENCE JRS.

One of the pleasures of attending the Monday night meeting of the Desk and Derrick Club was to visit with MRS. ALMA GOLNICK and hear her tell her stories of when she was a secretary in the Fort Worth office of an oil promoter. As Jimmy Durante used to say "she has a million" of them, all funny.

WADE SIMPSON of Austin and his sister, MRS. CLAYTON WILLIAMS of Fort Stockton were here during the week for a visit with their mother, MRS. MODESTA SIMPSON.

MRS. EMMA LURTING will be leaving soon to make her home in Jasper with her son, DR. FRED LURTING, and Mrs. Lurting. I hope the sunsets are as pretty in Jasper as she thought they were in Big Spring. I guess I never paid very much attention to them until Mrs. Lurting said I should. They were prettier than anything she had ever seen. And you know, they are.

MR. and MRS. W. J. BARNES were planning to attend a wedding in Lubbock last night. Their son and his family, the GLENN BARNESES of Carrollton were to join them there. Incidentally, Glenn is now a trustee on the school board in Carrollton.

Expected back from El Paso this evening are MR. and MRS. RAY EBLING who have been visiting CAPT. and MRS. DICK EBLING. Mrs. Ebling went out Wednesday and her husband joined them Friday.

KAY LOVELAND has been visiting her parents, MR. and MRS. ROY ROSENE. She has been transferred by the American Film Institute from Washington, D.C., to Los Angeles, Calif. Kay, a former staffer of the Herald, was with Rep. George Mahon's office prior to joining the AFI a couple of years ago.

Lavell Hansons Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Lavell Hanson, 2209 Prairie, Dallas, are announcing the birth of a son, Jay Todd, at 9:50 a.m., Friday in Baylor Hospital in Dallas. The infant weighed 8 pounds, 3/4 ounces.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Horace Tubbs, Garden City Route, Big Spring, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hanson, 2313 Mishler.

Texas!

Jefferson

J. Frank Dobie once wrote that, because of its great size and divergencies, Texas has the right to divide itself into five states; but that this would not happen because the new states would never agree on who got the Alamo. Such single allegiance of multi-heritage is no more charmingly displayed than in the colorful little town in Texas' northeast corner.

Jefferson, as Texas as Ft. Worth and as Ante-Bellum as Mobile, it remains a delightful outpost of the Old South on the still exciting Texas frontier.

This little slice of Dixie was at one time no little slice. In the several decades prior to its heyday in the 1870's, Jefferson established itself as the funnel through which flowed tremendous activity between the new frontier and eastern markets. It became the state's largest inland port and second largest city.

A natural dam on the Red River, which kept the water level of Big Cypress Bayou navigable, was destroyed, cutting the city's lifeline. But, neither this event nor the curse of Jay Gould, who scribbled "The end of Jefferson" because the city would not allow his railroad tracks through the center of town, reckoned with the ingredient that made Jefferson great in the first place. It refused to die. For nearly a century, the city has met the challenge of events, quietly determined to fulfill the dreams of its forefathers that were so abruptly postponed.

Today, Jefferson stands once again on the threshold of that possibility. Since 1947, heralded by the Jesse Allen Wise Garden Club sponsored Historical Pilgrimage, the city has built an enviable year 'round tourist industry. Each spring—(this year, May 2-3-4) the city turns back the clock to the 1850's and relives the glorious days of its ante-bellum heritage. Visitors from across the nation join in this three-day celebration of tours, parades and gala events. Wonderful, but this isn't all. As if to make up for a low blow, fate smiles another way on Jefferson. It now finds itself smack between Lake O' the Pines and Caddo Lake, two of the largest and most popular lakes in Texas and each just minutes away. Utilizing an existing system of excellent highways, airport facilities and communications, Jefferson again dreams of greater things to come as the center of one of the most attractive vacation spots in this four-state corner—one that attracts more than six million visitors annually.

Come this way, vagabond. Be charmed by the warmth and hospitality of this Gone-With-the-Wind setting... the blue sky, rolling hills, tall pines and stately cypress trees. But, don't be fooled by the soft, southern drawl... these are really Texans!

BIG SPRING STATE PARK TO GET TICKET PAGODA Entrance warning to be replaced by rustic admission office

Ticket Booth For State Park Planned For Near Future

By SAM BLACKBURN
Big Spring State Park will soon have an entrance ticket booth.

Visitors to the park have been paying 50 cents per car admission for several months, but the collection has been on a hit-and-miss basis.

Ed Wisenbaker, park ranger, had no booth at the entrance from which to handle admission fees. The method followed has been for him or one of his aides to collect from any visitor when they happened to meet the car in the park area.

Now, he said, the state department has sent him blueprints for the booth which is to be placed at the gate. He doesn't know exactly when it will be built, but he thinks it will be soon. The ticket house, which is a prefabricated structure, will be mounted on a concrete base.

"Probably," said Wisenbaker, "it will be in the middle of the road. It has windows on either side so that admission fees can be collected readily from two sides."

The ticket booth isn't all of the problem of collecting admission fees to the park, however. Wisenbaker's duties are too widespread to permit him to sit in the booth and await visitors. Sometime, he said, someone may be employed to serve as ticket taker. Since the state adopted admission fees for most state parks, Wisenbaker said the people who use the park appear to have accepted the plan without protest.

"We've had a steady stream of park visitors every week," he said. "We had a large crowd Easter. Folk seem to think that it is quite proper to pay for the privilege of visiting the park."

He has suggested that those who make regular use of this (and other state parks) would do well to buy one of the state's annual entrance permits. These sell for $12 and will admit the holder into any and all state parks as often as he wants to visit for one full year.

A Devotional For The Day

He said unto them, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation." (Mark 16:15, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, our heavenly Father, we thank You for Jesus, our Savior, and for His unforgettable name. Make us responsive to Your Word and help us to share the same with our friends. In His wonderful name we pray. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

Million-Dollar Rain

You can haul out that million-dollar rain appeal for the showers of the past two days without apology. It is that and much more.

The pasture and early crops that it almost assures will qualify for the million-dollar value. But more importantly, the rain assured ample seasoning for planting. Unless hard rains should come along soon to wash out or cover up young crops, we now face the prospect of getting something like 50,000 acres of cotton and probably twice that amount of grain sorghum up to a good stand. And by the time it is dry enough to plant it will be the season of the year almost ideal for planting. It will come also at a time that fields will have sprouted small weeds, and one working will get the seed in the ground and cut down the young weeds.

Until now, this has been an unusually dry winter and spring, but mercifully not a bad one because of relatively small amounts of blowing soil. Coming as it does on the heels of light showers a week ago, the current spell will be of untold value to this area. Let us give thanks.

Fitting Memorial

The new reservoir at Robert Lee will be known henceforth as Lake E. V. Spence as a result of the decision by the directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District here last week. We applaud the decision by the board.

It is a proper and perpetual recognition of a man who contributed much to this area of the state, as indeed he did to all of Texas as a state official. Not only was Col. Spence the first general manager of the CRMWD, but he had taken part in the initial surveys which led to the multi-city water supply concept advanced by J. B. Thomas, whose Texas Electric Service Company served this area. None will dispute in the least that the availability of adequate water from Lake Thomas was the thing that opened doors to unlimited growth in the past decade and a half.

Perhaps this would have been enough within itself to memorialize Col. Spence, but it seems to us the compelling reason was that the new lake was almost solely his brain child. Hardly had Lake Thomas been completed and operations made to run smoothly than Col. Spence began to talk of the necessity of looking ahead to more water for this area. Over 10 years ago he began seriously proposing a second dam on the Colorado. This led to all sorts of difficulty, including a water permit fight so intense that it drained the colonel's last strength. It also brought on control of the disposal of oilfield brings, not at all popular at the time but which Col. Spence tackled with characteristic tenacity. In time, this will prove as important to the state as Lake E. V. Spence will to this vast area of West Texas.

Last November's Dissent Vote

WASHINGTON — It may be wondered whether anybody in the policy-making realm of the Nixon administration has examined carefully and detected the true significance of the vote in the 1968 election in 35 metropolitan centers. A comprehensive summary of the figures has just been issued in a 269-page report by the research division of the Republican National Committee. But aside from a generalization that Mr. Nixon ran stronger in the suburbs than in the cities, no reference is made to the possible meaning of the combined Nixon and Wallace votes in those same areas.

THERE ARE signs that the Nixon administration now would like to cater somewhat to the so-called city vote, which has a majority of Democrats — including a large proportion of Negroes, labor-union members and various groups controlled by local bosses. The tabulations, however, would seem to indicate that the chances of a Nixon victory in 1972 will be dependent upon his ability to preserve the lead he has attained in the suburbs.

The total population in the metropolitan areas, moreover, is nearly 65 per cent of the entire country, as compared with 63 per cent in 1960. The suburbs have 35 per cent, as contrasted with 31 per cent in 1960, while the central cities declined from 32 per cent eight years ago to 29 per cent in 1968.

THE RESEARCH division of the Billy Graham

I like to reason things out for myself, but I am completely confused because of the many contradictions in life and the conflicting opinions in the world. Can you help me?

D.G. God has given us minds with which to reason. He has also given established facts, revealed to us in many ways, and we should make use of all of these things. First of all, remember that we cannot reach out into the air and take an idea and reason it into something which is necessarily true. Let your reasoning about God, for instance, begin with what He has revealed about Himself. In nature you see on every hand the evidences of God's creative power and His marvelous wisdom. Take the Bible and read the 19th Psalm and you will find that nature reveals God. Then look about you, read your morning paper, consider the situation in your own life, your community and the world, and you will know that something is radically wrong. The Bible, which is God's written revelation to man, tells us that the thing wrong is sin in the human heart. And the Bible also tells us that God is tremendously concerned about this sin problem. He sent His Son into the world to clear up this problem for all who will accept His redeeming act. With these simple facts, let your reasoning be guided by what God tells you of Himself in His creation and in His Word. There you will learn to love and trust in His Son and to appreciate His love. This will clear up your confusion.

THE WALLACE ticket had no candidates for Congress, but any impression that the third party was strong only in the South is rebutted by the figures. They show that Wallace polled 34.3 per cent of the vote in the 11 Southern states, but he also got 48.6 per cent of his total vote from the 39 states outside the solid South.

THE DISCONTENTED segment of the electorate — the combined Republican and Wallace vote in 1968 — contains the key to the next election if the policies of the Johnson administration are not changed. Are the Republican politicians right in assuming that they can keep the discontented vote and gather more ballots next time from the central cities, or will they find a third party nominee even stronger in 1972 than in 1968? These are the questions that suggest themselves after an examination of the statistics. It certainly can be expected to merit careful study by the political strategists of the Nixon administration.

Bee Fee

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The state of New Mexico collects at least 127 miscellaneous fees.

Among them is one of 25 cents a beehive up to 50 hives, and 10 cents a hive for over 50.

Estate taxes are examined by a state board for $25 but their licenses to practice are renewed annually for $10.

Record Business Expansion May Spell Trouble

UP, UP AND AWAY

- Building plans up 14 per cent, could trigger recession
- Manufacturer sales up 10 pct. profits increase by 16 pct.
- Lumber prices up 91 pct. prices up to 90 pct.
- Automotive profits after taxes increase 32 pct. in 1968
- Metal producers began another round of price hikes

NEW YORK (AP) — Are businessmen likely to spend this country into a recession?

Some economists think it could happen.

Their apprehension springs from the projected expenditure of a record $73 billion by corporations on new plants and equipment this year. This would be an increase of $9 billion, or 14 per cent, over 1968, when there was a gain of four per cent from 1967.

The $73 billion figure is based on a survey by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Plans for such a huge capital outlay have been made despite the extra bite of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge and the rise of interest rates to all-time highs.

The survey showed manufacturers alone plan to increase their plant and equipment investment by 16 per cent this year. Particularly large boosts have been scheduled by the chemical, petroleum, textile, paper, machinery and equipment, and motor vehicle industries.

FUTURE TROUBLE The U.S. faces the problem of an investment boom that could mean future trouble for the economy, says Chase Manhattan Bank of New York in its current monthly business review.

"Such a boom could feed inflation now — and create a reaction, possibly a recession, later on,"

Chase says the true explanation for such ambitious investment plans "clearly lies in the inflationary climate of the day. Business wants new and more efficient equipment to fight the rapid rise in labor costs. And the prospect of future inflation is an argument for investing now, before building and equipment prices go up further."

First National City Bank of New York says it appears to some officials that the boom in plant and equipment spending "smacks of direct defiance" of the government's anti-inflation program.

POSTPONE BUILDING The Federal Reserve Board, which has been trying to persuade business to cut down on capital spending, set an example on its own part this past week. It said a $30 million annex planned near its Washington, D.C., headquarters has been postponed indefinitely. And the board is asking its district banks and branches to defer or reduce their construction programs.

Herbert Stein, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, described the Federal Reserve's action last week in tightening its money policy as not just "a gesture for psychological reasons" but a "more restrictive stance."

There was new evidence that the tax surcharge's hoped-for slowing impact on the surging economy was puny in the last half of 1968.

The Securities and Exchange Commission reported that in 1968 sales of manufacturers increased 10 per cent to $631.9 billion. And their profits rose 16 per cent before taxes and 11 per cent after taxes over 1967.

Biggest profit gains were posted by the lumber and automobile industries. The lumber industry's profits after taxes soared 91 per cent to $635 million. During 1968 lumber prices jumped by 30 to 90 per cent. Profits of manufacturers of motor vehicles and equipment climbed to $3.2 billion, up 37 per cent from 1967.

The employment situation weakened a bit in March with the unemployment rate increasing to 3.4 per cent of the civilian labor force from 3.3 per cent where it had held during the three previous months. The Labor Department said much of the rise was due to an unexpected increase in unemployment among teenagers.

TAKE THE LEAD OUT Prices rose in various segments of the metals industry this past week. The major development was an increase by major producers of the price of lead by one-half cent a pound to 14 1/2 cents a pound. This was the third boost for lead this year.

Copper Range Co., the seventh-ranking U.S. copper producer, raised its copper price by five cents to 50 cents a pound. Other producers stayed with their price of 44 cents a pound.

Automobile production this past week was estimated at 163,900 passenger cars, up from 142,118 the previous week and from 126,147 a year earlier.

Just Print All The Horrors

WASHINGTON — The editors of Perfect Happiness were sitting around the editorial room the other day in despair.

"Our circulation figures are down, housewives are turning off on us by the thousands. What are we going to do?" one of the editors said.

"Our problem is that we're a magazine devoted to the home, and the magazines that are selling these days are those devoted to sex. Our readers would never stand for our discussing sex in a family magazine."

"WAIT A MINUTE," the art director said. "They wouldn't stand for it if we came out for it, but what if we had an issue devoted to coming out against it?"

"I don't get you."

"Suppose the theme of the issue is titled 'The Sexual Revolution Is Ruining America'?"

"What about it?"

"Don't you see — it would be an excuse to use any art work we wanted."

"Hey," said an executive editor. "That sounds great. We could say we feel it's our duty as a leader of the mass media to show the American mother what dangers await her children in a permissive society."

"RIGHT. WE could get offensive still pictures from 'I Am Curious — Yellow' and 'The Killing of Sister George.'"

"What about a spread on the Broadway musical 'Hair,' showing those horrible nude bodies on the stage?"

"Maybe we could get some photographs from 'Che,' the off-off-Broadway show they closed up after one performance."

"We could do a montage of all the dirty movie advertisements."

EVERYONE WAS excited. "We'll get research to dig up salacious passages from 'Portnoy's Complaint,' 'Couples' and 'Myra Breckinridge.'"

The editor seemed pleased. "Of course, to balance the art work we'd have to have some articles from respectable people who are as shocked about the Sexual Revolution as we are."

"What about Everett Dirksen, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and Al Capp?"

"That's a great idea. We ought to get a few psychiatrists and one Negro writer, too, just so people won't think that only white people are concerned about sex."

"OH, BOY," said the photo editor, clapping his hands together. "Get an issue, I can't wait to get my camera."

The managing editor said, "I think if we showed a couple in the front of the book making love it would hit our readers harder and make them aware of the frightening things that are going on in this country."

"I'm ahead on this, Peabody. I was thinking of using the couple on the cover."

"The cover," said the art director gleefully. "Oh, boy, that will really hit home."

THE EXECUTIVE editor said, "All we're doing is showing the horrors of the Sexual Revolution. We don't want our readers to get any enjoyment out of this issue. Our slogan is still 'You May Not Like It, But the American Woman Has a Right to Know.'"

The European Vacation Goes On

LONDON — The traffic jam on the main auto routes began to build up on the Thursday before Easter and by Friday, seen from the air, there were long, serpentine lines stretching through the countryside. The newspapers were reporting, almost as though it were a matter of national pride, that on Saturday the fatalities had already exceeded those of a year ago.

The London Times reports that motorists consistently ignore the warning signs, as they flash on, indicating an accident just ahead. Five accidents at Leicester led to the warning lights being switched on, but motorists continued to drive at high speed, according to the Times.

EUROPEANS TAKE the Easter vacation with total seriousness. Returning from the four or five-day holiday (depending on how much time you can wangle before and after the long weekend), they will put up not only on the highways but in crowded planes and trains, with even more boring and arduous delays.

The ritual is the same throughout the continent. At dawn on Saturday the auto route out of Paris to the south of France was jammed. This is European recovery in spasms or, at any rate, recovery of a kind. On the upcoming 20th anniversary of NATO it can be taken as a testament to the resilience, the powerful upsurge, of Europe's economy.

THE SURFACE differences are indeed extraordinary. If the economy was as brilliant as the weekend skies, which were as near to being cloudless as English skies can ever be, all would be well. But, even with the belt-tightening enforced by Prime Minister Harold Wilson's shaky government, the British continue to live beyond their means.

In France the steps to check inflation have been largely ineffective. Always a bit behind the official statistics, prices continue to rise. If the big unions have stopped short of strikes on a broad front, it is for fear that the political consequences could mean breakdown and anarchy.

GERMANY IS immured behind the tough, resistant mark and a steadily on-going economy. Some amelioration has come in the measures taken after the currency scare of last November with exports scaled back. Yet, the imbalance remains, contributing to the tension so acute when France barely survived the financial hemorrhage six months ago.

As for NATO, the military organization, it can best be described as a hex sign. It is there to reassure the Europeans and frighten off the Soviets. In times of crisis, such as the invasion of Czechoslovakia, it looms large. When the fever of anxiety subsides it is taken for granted.

AMERICA'S 250,000 troops are far and away most important element. Germany's contingent is indifferently trained and equipped. Britain worries out the cost of maintaining up to 30,000 men, with constant pressure to get more compensation out of the German government. France's contribution is negligible.

A reduction in the American force — scaling down the hex sign — would mean little real change in the situation. Yet it would bring cries of anguish, as witness the tremors over Canada's proposed cutback.

AS THEY STRAGGLE back from the south, from the beaches, from the countryside, these things, one may surmise, are farthest from the thoughts of the vacationers. The summer holiday is not far off. How long lived it may be, this is recovery of a kind hard to keep within bounds.

BS Captures Second Place

By SHARON SWIM
The Big Spring High School one-act play, "On Overpraised Season," placed second at the University Interscholastic League One-Act Play contest held at Odessa High School Thursday and Friday. By this placement, the play is considered as alternate to the regional competition.

BSHS also places three of their cast members on the UIL All-Star cast. They are Mark Shaver for his portrayal of Larry; Elizabeth Lipscombe for her portrayal of the mother; and Kerry Gunnels for his portrayal of the director. Out of eight plays presented, only 10 actors or actresses were chosen for this honor.

Ablene High School placed first with their production of "Childhood." Ablene Cooper High School placed third with their production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

"This play had excellent directing." This is the statement the judges made of Mr. Shockey, director.

Director Picks 'Unknowns' For Shakespearean Picture

Italian director Franco Zeffirelli stunned the screen world when he cast two virtual unknowns to play the "star-crossed lovers" in Romeo and Juliet opening Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre.

From 300 youngsters auditioned during more than three months, the director chose 17-year old Leonard Whiting and 15-year old Olivia Hussey who became the youngest performers ever to play the roles professionally.

Whiting is a handsome London lad who finished school only two weeks before beginning the film. He played the Artful Dodger in the long-running London musical "Oliver!" for 18 months, and for 13 months appeared in the National Theatre production of Congreve's "Love for Love," which toured Moscow and Berlin.

Miss Hussey, age 15, is the daughter of an Argentine opera singer and an English mother. She has been in England for seven years, and until a week before starting Romeo and Juliet was playing a schoolgirl in the London stage hit, "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie."

"They are exactly what Shakespeare would have wanted," according to Zeffirelli. "This is a young persons' 'Romeo and Juliet.' The kids in the story are like teenagers today; they don't want to be, and yet they are, involved in adult hates and wars."

"Romeo and Juliet" is an English language film, photographed in Technicolor.

AT CINEMA
"Romeo and Juliet"

Francis Zeffirelli adapted Shakespeare's play for the screen, retaining all the great moments and speeches but translating dialogue which makes Shakespeare difficult for audiences — into action.

"It is the essence of Shakespeare," told in film terms," explains the director, "what Shakespeare might have done himself had he been able to visualize his play in the quick-moving medium of the cinema."

The Italian nature of the story of Romeo and Juliet is emphasized by the settings by Renzo Mongiardino and costumes by Danilo Donati. Long before Shakespeare's tragedy was first performed in 1597, the names of the youthful lovers first appeared in a story told in Italy by Luigi da Porto about 1530, and later, in 1554 in one by Matteo Bandello. A French version of the latter gave rise to Arthur Brooke's long poem "The Tragical History of Romeus and Juliet," which appeared in England in 1562 and was known to Shakespeare. In choosing his backgrounds, Zeffirelli shot exteriors in the Da Porto-Bandello periods, in the Romanesque church of Tuscania and in the Tuscan hill town of Pienza, built by Pope Pius II in the mid-16th Century to memorialize the village of his birth.

Zeffirelli, himself a talented designer, is an authority on Shakespeare. He directed a celebrated "Romeo and Juliet" at London's Old Vic in 1960, which crossed the Atlantic and delighted the United States.

Comedy To Open Friday

One year after its opening as a roadshow attraction, "Doctor Dolittle," in De Luxe Color, begins continuous performance runs at regular prices Friday at the Ritz Theatre. The production, directed by Richard Fleischer, stars Rex Harrison, Samantha Eggar, Anthony Newley and Richard Attenborough.

Arthur Jacobs, who also produced the spectacular "Planet of the Apes," based "Doctor Dolittle" on Hugh Lofting's classic stories about a 19th-century English physician whose ability to talk with animals in their own languages results in a succession of fabulous adventures.

Honored with nine Academy Award nominations, the mammoth undertaking required nine months of filming on locations in England and in the Caribbean, as well as at studios in Hollywood. This followed four years in the planning stage and a full 12 months of pre-production work.

Unique Whudunit Booked For Ritz

Universal's zany feature in Technicolor, "don't just STAND there!," coming Tuesday to the Ritz Theatre, is as unusual a screen comedy as the unique treatment of the title. In Hollywood's current bent for screen fare that seeks a sole result — to entertain — this story fits the mold. It is a "whodunit" without the electronic gadgets, a hero without super-weapons, a heroine who keeps her clothes on, and a lineup of comic-opera villains who never quite get around to killing anybody.

Heading the cast of the funnest are Robert Wagner and Mary Tyler Moore, ably abetted by British comedienne Glynis Johns, a gorgeous redheaded newcomer who stands 5-feet-11 and calls herself Barbara Rhoades, and comic Harvey Korman.

Hank Williams Jr. Stars In Drive-In Offering

Hank Williams Jr., son of an illustrious father and one of today's leading exponents of the "Nashville Sound" in music, makes his motion picture debut in song-filled "A Time to Sing" in a story beautifully adapted to his multifaceted talents.

Williams Jr. is not only a stand-out singer and composer of western-and-country ballads (he wrote four of the eight songs he performs in his initial movie), he also has an appealing personality and an undeniable acting talent, as evidenced in his persuasive portrayal as Grady Dodd, a young tobacco farmer whose circumstances precipitate into a career as a night club singer and recording star.

Shelley Fabares and Academy Award-winner Ed Begley offer important contributions to the story of "A Time to Sing." Miss Fabares is seen as Amy Carter, a gas station grease monkey, whose inauspicious first encounter with Dodd, when her truck drives his car off the road, blossoms into romance. The veteran Begley has a strong dramatic role as Dodd's Uncle Kermit whose love for his farm is only equalled by his hatred of music and musicians.

But through the efforts of the persistent Amy, aided by her father (Donald Woods), the sympathetic young Negro farmhand, Luke (D'Urville Martin), and Shifty Barker (Charles Robinson), a swinging song and record promoter, the complications are eventually resolved in a climax which holds an unexpected surprise.

HANK WILLIAMS JR.

In writing the screenplay of "A Time to Sing," Robert E. Kent and Orville H. Hampton made certain that their story lived up to its title: Night clubs, song-contest sessions, recording studios and even an outdoor barbecue offer backdrops for the variety of musical interludes in which Hank Williams Jr. is given an opportunity to sing his infectious melodies, and the entertainment is further enhanced by performances on the part of the popular Clara Ward Singers and The X-L's, another favorite musical group. Filmed in Panavision and Metrocolor, "A Time to Sing" was produced by Sam Katzman and directed by Arthur Dreifuss.

FIELD AND RANGE Wary Eye Cast On Food Future

By TEX ROGERS

Dr. Gerald Thomas, dean of Texas Tech's School of Agriculture, is casting a wary eye to the future, and hoping that farmers the world over can meet the demands of the population in the next 20 years.

Dr. Thomas, speaking to more than 100 persons here Tuesday at the Rotary Club, said the next 20 years will be critical for world food production. Population will almost double and there will be severe food shortages in under developed countries.

"We need to explode our food production so that we can meet the needs that will develop in the next 20 years," he said. "We can do this in the United States, but we can't feed the world."

"The problem is for these countries to increase their food production potential themselves," he said.

Dr. Thomas, who is deputy director of Texas Tech's International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies (ICASALS), has developed with the center's director at large, Dr. Thad W. Box, a nine-point formula, which, they say, can serve as a base model for developing countries.

The nine points are: 1. A good system of education and research; 2. development of quality plants and animals through genetics; 3. proper use of agricultural chemicals; 4. application of mechanization and technology to the agricultural industry; 5. adequate storage, efficient processing and rapid transportation of food products; 6. capital and credit availability; 7. encouragement of individual initiative; 8. responsible government programs and policies; and 9. adequate control of environment.

Agri-scientists can provide means to some of the problems, but adequate education, individual initiative, responsible government programs and adequate control of environment will have to come from the people of the countries in trouble.

The population will double from 3.2 billion today to 6.2 billion in the year 2000. Dr. Thomas said. Family planning and population control can reduce the problem of feeding the masses, he said.

There are 30 countries in the world which practice population control, and another 30 countries tolerate such practices, he said. However, there are three countries which forbid the practice.

He noted that several Latin and South American countries are now sponsoring population control programs, which is encouraging. The United States now has the lowest birth rate of any country in the world, he said, but the U.S. is just one nation among many.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has proposed that certain cooked sausage products, such as frankfurters and bologna, be allowed to contain up to 15 per cent poultry without affecting the product name.

USDA would continue to require sausages containing more than 15 per cent poultry to reflect the presence of poultry in the product name. When poultry is included, it must be named in the list of ingredients on the package.

Officials of the USDA are inviting comments from public on this proposal and desire comments from a wide range of interested groups and individuals. Interested parties are invited to make written comments during a 45-day period ending May 26. Two copies of such comments should be filed with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

A Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center will be established at San Angelo, with construction of facilities expected to begin within a year at a cost of about $300,000.

The West Texas center will be oriented toward sheep and goat research, but may be used for other research activities benefiting the Edwards Plateau region.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is prepared by the local office of the Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers.

Q — I've moved and the address is wrong on the label on my return. Should I still use the label?

A — Yes. Correct the information on the label and send it back with your return when you file. Use of the label has helped reduce the number of refunds delayed in processing because of missing or inaccurate Social Security numbers.

Q — The man I worked for last spring has gone out of business and I can't get a W-2 from him. What should I do?

A — Check to see if you have any pay stubs from this job which would enable you to determine your income and tax withholding from this source. Attach a note to your return showing the employer's name and explain why this income is not covered by a W-2. Indicate how you arrived at the income and withheld tax figures entered for this employment.

Q — My tax came to more than I thought it would. Can I pay half now and the rest in a couple of months?

A — No. The tax must be paid in full by the due date of the return. To avoid a similar situation next year, arrange with your employer to increase withholding tax or file an estimated tax declaration and make installment payments of the tax due. If you did not receive an estimated tax declaration

Q — Is money from Social Security ever taxable?

A — No. All Social Security benefits are tax exempt.

Q — I have to pay tax on both my 1968 return and my 1969 declaration. Can I just write one check for the whole amount?

A — It is advisable to write separate checks or money orders for the two taxes to make sure your payments are properly credited. Identify each check with your name and Social Security numbers and indicate the tax the payment covers. The reason for making separate payments is that separate processing operations are involved for the tax return and for the estimated declaration. When one payment is made to cover two liabilities, it is possible that the entire amount could be credited to just one tax. This results in a refund on one tax and bill for additional tax on the other.

Q — My wife's missing signature is holding up our refund. Why is this so important?

A — Tax returns are legal documents and have to be signed to be complete. On joint returns, the signature of both taxpayers are required and both are legally responsible for the accuracy of the return and the tax that may be due.
