

SON ESCAPES Prayers Answered At Last

CALEDONIA, Mich. (AP) — Spec. 5 Thomas H. Van Putten, 21, is coming home from Vietnam — more than 14 months behind schedule and 64 pounds lighter.

Van Putten made it back to U.S. lines last week after escaping from the Viet Cong, who held him captive for 14 months.

And now his arrival is being happily awaited in his hometown of Caledonia, a village of 739 population about 15 miles southeast of Grand Rapids in western Michigan.

Van Putten's homecoming delay can be traced back to Feb. 10, 1968, only a day before he was to be rotated back to the United States after a year in Vietnam, his mother said.

That was the day the road scraper on which Van Putten had been riding guard was found abandoned off a road in Tay Ninh province about 70 miles northwest of Saigon. He was listed as "missing."

Seventeenth Cavalry troopers riding a helicopter last Thursday spied a GI aground frantically waving. They brought down the helicopter.

"I've escaped from the enemy," Van Putten's command reported were his first words. "Give me something to eat," were his next, and then, "I love you. I love you."

The U.S. Command at Saigon said Van Putten escaped from the Viet Cong "about 18 days before being found" but disclosed no other details.

Spokesmen for the Army said in Vietnam that Van Putten was suffering from malnutrition and dehydration, but otherwise was in good condition, although his weight had sagged from 185 pounds to 121 pounds.

"At times we didn't think our prayers were being answered, but I guess they were," Van Putten's father, Harry, told newsmen today.

"In our hearts, though, we never gave up hope." The parents said they were told the son would be returned to the United States promptly and they could count on visiting him Sunday "at the Army hospital nearest us."

Fast Time Reminder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight time will go into effect at 2 a.m. next Sunday everywhere in the country except in three states—Arizona, Hawaii and Michigan, the Department of Transportation reminded Saturday.

Under terms of the Uniform Time Act passed in 1966, clocks will be advanced one hour until the last Sunday in October.

A state may exempt itself from observance of fast time, but only if it exempts the entire state. Arizona, Hawaii and Michigan are the only states to have done so.

Gunners Trade Fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli and Arab gunners traded fire at eight points along the Suez Canal Saturday in a running duel that flared fitfully for more than 11 hours.

An Israeli spokesman said Egypt opened fire at 7 a.m. and Israel replied with tank and light-arms fire in an exchange that lasted for more than two hours at El Qantara, Ismailia and Port Taufiq.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Meet the new Youth Achievement Award winners — James Newman, Big Spring; Clayton McKinnon, Forsan; and Rodney Wall, Coahoma. The list of activities in which these young men engage is almost endless — and you can say the same for the other 59 nominees for this coveted Zale's-Herald award, now in its fourth year. And meet the new spelling champion, Scott Tyra, who won the county title Saturday in the toughest match to date.

The Big Spring Independent School District got word last week of an immediate payment of $115,000 of a $330,000 entitlement under the federal impact (Public Law 874) program. In recent years, the entitlement has not been paid in full, and officials are apprehensive that it may be cut sharply. Having made capital investments to provide for federally-connected pupils, school officials fear they may be left holding a financial bag.

Jose Rosa, 14-year-old school boy, drowned in the flood control pond at Stanton. He may have not realized that the water was over his head. Near tragedy was averted 17 miles southeast of Big Spring when a heavy pulling rig outfit rolled down an embankment and crashed. James Vernon Anderson, driver, escaped with minor injuries.

Amerada No. 1 White, just east of Big Spring, rated only 25 barrels in the Fusselman for 9,420-27, but it has a gas-oil ratio of 2,000-1. Previously it had completed in the lower Wolfcamp for 117 barrels. Amerada No. 1 Furr, to the southeast, plugged back from 9,350, indicating a poor show in the Fusselman, but prepared to test the Wolf. (See THE WEEK, Page 9-A, Col. 4)

Geraldine Sayle, center, was selected Miss Big Spring of 1969. Miss Ethel Green, left, Miss Congeniality and Denise Estes was named Junior Miss Big Spring.

Geraldine Sayle Miss Big Spring

A medley of love songs from opera to pop helped Miss Geraldine Sayle win the title of Miss Big Spring last night at the city auditorium.

The five-foot-five inch brunette will receive an expense-paid trip to Fort Worth for the Miss Texas Pageant July 7-14, a $100 scholarship, a $200 wardrobe, a diamond watch from Zale's and a $50 gift certificate from T. G. & Y.

Miss Sharon Hicks, Miss Big Spring 1968, limped out on crutches to crown her successor before a packed house and a standing ovation.

Miss Sayle is a sophomore at West Texas State University.

Winds Whip Angelo Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rain, hail and winds that gusted up to 85 miles an hour lashed the San Angelo area late Saturday night as a squall line moved eastward through West Texas.

The Weather Bureau reported sustained wind velocities of 50 miles per hour in the San Angelo storm.

There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage.

The Texas Department of Public Safety said the San Angelo storm apparently was centered about 10 miles east of the city and extended from about 15 miles southeast of San Angelo to Bronte. The DPS said there had been no damage or injuries reported but that minor traffic accidents were numerous.

The storm hit after a day of balmy, sunny spring weather for most of the state.

As the storm line hit San Angelo, other heavy turbulence was reported from 12 miles north of Big Spring. Very strong storms also were lashing the Iraan-Sheffield region of West Texas.

Gun Emplacements Near Laos Spotted

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese have built a series of big concrete gun emplacements near the Laotian border in the central highlands from where they can harass forward U.S. bases, American officers reported Saturday.

U.S. fighter-bombers have attacked the emplacements recently, damaging or disabling three, but heavy antiaircraft fire makes such missions hazardous, the officers explained.

This is the first time such permanent emplacements have been encountered, although artillery is well dug in elsewhere along the border of Laos.

STEEL DOORS
The guns are mounted on railroad tracks in the emplacements, and the exits are closed by giant steel doors.

Such an elaborate setup demonstrates the success of the North Vietnamese in getting Denise Estes, a Big Spring High School junior, was named Junior Miss Big Spring. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Estes, and plans to attend Texas Christian University.

Junior Miss Judy Lane was first runner-up; Sylvia Dorn, second runner-up; Kathy Rigdon, third runner-up; and Wanda Williams fourth runner-up.

The Jaycees sponsored pageant was MC'd by Miss Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964, and Jim Baum of KBYG radio. The two guided the girls through the evening gown competition, the swim suit competition, and introduced them in the talent portion of the pageant.

Miss Axum and Baum also tested the finalists by asking them to express themselves on several questions presented by the judges.

Miss Axum sang "What Now My Love" with the Border Brass, and Al (Mark Twain) Scott provided a change of pace and laughter with his impersonation of the novelist-humorist.

"I'm wondering," he said, "if in the midst of all this beauty you're ready for a dirty old man?"

Other contestants for the Miss Big Spring title were: Dee Gibson, Brenda Eppler, Pat Macklin and Kay Reed.

Linda Kay, Debbie Meeks, Navauda Franklin and Debbie Harris were the other contestants for the Junior Miss crown.

supplies down the Ho Chi Minh Trail despite stepped-up U.S. air attacks on these roads in eastern Laos since the bombing of North Vietnam was halted Nov. 1.

The probable aim of the North Vietnamese is to nullify the forward U.S. bases, by which the Americans keep track of enemy troop movements along the border.

The North Vietnamese have been sensitive about these bases. One is Ban Het, 24 miles west of Kontum and well within the range of the underground guns. The North Vietnamese attacked Ban Het March 3, using tanks for the second time in the war. They were repulsed and two of the tanks were destroyed.

U.S. 4th Infantry Division officers are uncertain about the size of the underground guns, but believe they are 85mm and 105mm.

Nixon Will Order Fast Retaliation Without Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will order drastic retaliation, without warning, for any future attack on U.S. intelligence ships or planes, responsible members of Congress said Saturday.

These sources said Nixon made this statement in reviewing with congressional leaders the reasons he feels it necessary to continue flights of electronics planes such as the one shot down in the Sea of Japan by North Korea.

NOT FAIR GAME

At his Friday news conference Nixon said "when planes of the United States and ships of the United States are in international airspace or in international waters, they are not fair game. They will not be in the future."

The President, grimly noting the apparent loss of 31 American lives in the latest incident, was reported by one of those present to have told the leaders that he means to go beyond the mere accompaniment of the intelligence craft by fighters or warships.

There would be swift retaliation, without warning, against the perpetrators of an unjustified attack, he told the Congress leaders.

In outlining the reasons for continuing the electronic surveillance, listeners said, the importance of keeping a check on the movements of the Communist Chinese air force was brought up. By where Peking stations its planes, intelligence estimates can be made on Chinese-Soviet relations and on possible aggressive intentions of the Chinese, it was explained.

THREATS

Nixon said Friday that continuation of the intelligence flights is necessary because there are 56,000 U.S. troops in South Korea and threats against that country are threats against those troops.

But it seems probable that much more is involved than checking on North Korean movements.

Among senators who approved continuation of the flights, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the basic necessity of keeping abreast of the activities of other countries is involved. He noted that Soviet trawlers with electronic equipment monitor activities within the United States from offshore positions.

"All of the countries of the world of any consequence have intelligence services," he said. "It might be a fatal thing if we didn't gather what information we can."

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said in a separate interview he thinks the flights over the Sea of Japan provide only "middle information" but said that Nixon acted wisely to protect such planes.

"There is no way of protecting real spy missions," he observed.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said that much more intelligence is being collected than mere radio conversations between the North Koreans. Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee previously made a similar suggestion.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., forecast an investigation by the Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is a member, into the cost in dollars and lives of the missions, weighed against the value of the intelligence gathered.

Powell Decision To Trigger Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court moves Monday toward a clash with Congress— or else yield to it—over Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

For two hours the court will be pulled in opposite directions. The Powell camp, represented by two law professors, will try to persuade the justices they have the duty and the power to challenge the House for throwing out the Harlem Democrat two years ago.

MORE ANSWERS

The hearing follows the court's agreement last November to consider Powell's appeal. The justices, having received written presentations since, will be probing for more answers to help them reach a verdict by June 9, the end of term.

The first unsettled question is whether the court will decide it has the authority to make a judgment on the legality of the House's action.

Two federal courts here concluded they did not. Powell's lawyers, Arthur Kinoy of Rutgers University and Herbert O. Reid Sr. of Howard University, have reached back to Madison, Hamilton and John Marshall to press for a judgment on their principal argument: That Powell met all the qualifications for House membership set forth in the Constitution and had a right to be seated.

His exclusion in March, 1967, they say, violates the clear desire of the framers of the Constitution that no one stand in the way of the people's right to send the representative of their choice to Congress.

SLANDER SUIT

And, to allay any concern that the court may have about ordering House officials to make up to Powell the $55,000 in pay he lost, they quote Marshall, the early revered chief justice:

"If one of the heads of departments commits an illegal act, under color of his office, by which an individual sustains an injury, it cannot be pretended that his office alone exempts him from being sued in the ordinary mode of proceedings, and being compelled to obey the judgment of the law . . ."

Bruce Bromley, the 76-year-old former judge who will speak for the House, will pitch his case on the constitutional provision that gives Congress authority to judge the qualifications of its members.

Therefore, Bromley will argue, the House, having concluded that Powell misused $40,000 in government funds and demonstrated "contumacious conduct" toward New York courts considering a slander suit against him, was within its rights in excluding him from the 90th Congress.

Lung Switch Patient Dies

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Joe A. Bunch, 37, of San Angelo, Tex., who lived 10 days with a transplanted lung, died Saturday at Methodist Hospital.

Bunch received the lung of a 16-year-old Lubbock high school boy April 9. The donor suffered a blood clot on the brain while attending Easter services near his hometown.

A hospital spokesman said Bunch was listed in very good condition until about seven hours before his death.

"Preliminary findings indicated the cause of death was pneumonia with a lung abscess," the spokesman said.

It was not immediately known if the abscess formed on the transplanted lung or Bunch's own right lung.

Bunch entered the hospital last Nov. 8 suffering from terminal pulmonary emphysema.

Newman, Wall, McKinnon Win Achievement Awards

They were announced Friday evening as a climax to the banquet which attracted some 200 students, dates and parents to the Cosden Country Club. This was the first time that a winner was selected for each of the schools.

Waggoner Carr, former attorney general of Texas, sounded a challenge to the young people not only to "correct the mistakes of my generation, but clean up the mess your generation already has made."

Ray Vess, San Antonio, regional vice president of Zale's and a former manager of the Big Spring store for three years, congratulated the 62 nominees. "Consider yourselves winners," he said. "We look to you for leadership of the community and nation."

Helping him with the awards were Joe Schuh, Dallas, Zale's director of public relations; Travis Starr, manager of the Big Spring store; and Ronald Reagan, a Big Spring native managing the Los Alamos, N.M., store.

A certificate of nomination, together with handsome gifts, was presented to each of the 48 students from Big Spring and seven each from Coahoma and Forsan.

Dinner music was played by Robert Strain, and a girl's trio of Esther Dennis, Connie Gary, and Maurine Wigginton, accompanied by Anne Morton, sang. Chaplain Robert T. Deming, Webb AFB, offered the prayers, and R. W. Whipkey, publisher of The Herald, presided. He recognized the 12 judges who screened the record field of 52 nominations and then selected the ultimate winners. Carr, who had flown here from New York and who was accompanied by Mrs. Carr, had a surprise. Their son, David, a student at Texas Tech, appeared at the banquet.

ZALE'S-HERALD YOUTH ACHIEVEMENT WINNERS LOOK OVER AWARDS
Rodney Wall, Coahoma; Clayton McKinnon, Forsan; James Newman, Big Spring

He spoke in somber tones to the young people about the world they inherit.

"Dad and Mom have made a mess of our world, and they're not altogether proud of it," said Carr, "but they didn't find it in very good shape. And when you hand it on to your children, there'll be plenty left to do."

"Most of you will prove to be the leaders of tomorrow, but what you do is entirely up to you. You have a tough job correcting the mistakes of our generation. But you first must clean up the mess your generation already has made."

He told of having seen signs of unrest as he left New York City earlier in the day, and quoted from a New York paper how militants had taken over schools and ousted 47 principals and supervisors, forced teachers out in fear of their lives, and how more than 23,000 teachers likely would be moving somewhere else next year. What's happening in New York can happen in Texas, he warned, recalling that the national Students for Democratic Society convention was held recently in Austin.

"You can't love a rattlesnake," he said, urging them not to be taken in by leadership, such as SDS officers. Prepare yourself for leadership and do not commit the plague of our time — the sin of silence.

"Although you live in Howard County, you're not really far from the scene. Make the world part of your thinking, for the world looks to you for leadership, protection of freedom, the good life. We give you all that America offers. You take it from there."

No Local Observance Planned At Library

By SAM BLACKBURN
No particular observance is planned locally of National Library Week in Texas, but the Howard County Library has become the object of some study as result of advance publicity given to the week on a state-wide basis. The week is being observed in the state April 20-26.

A check here shows that Howard County's Library, while performing an admirable role, is operating with a budget which should be much larger.

Even for 1969, with the annual budget for the library, the highest it has ever been — $21,501 — the institution shapes up poorly, compared with the state average per capita library expenditure. Officials bluntly assert that Texas' per capita budget for library needs is far below the national average. The state's figure is $1.24. This compares with California's $3.89 and Massachusetts' $4.61.

Howard County library is functioning on a per capita budget of 54 cents, substantially higher than the 47 cents of 1968 and an even smaller figure in 1967.

The theme of National Library Week in Texas is to stress the values of libraries in a free society; to note the essential need for books, magazines and other readily available information in a world where the sum total of all human knowledge now doubles every seven years.

"Your public library," said David Earl Holt, executive director for the week's observation in this state, "cannot begin to meet the demands of this technological revolution, unless it gets adequate support from the community it serves."

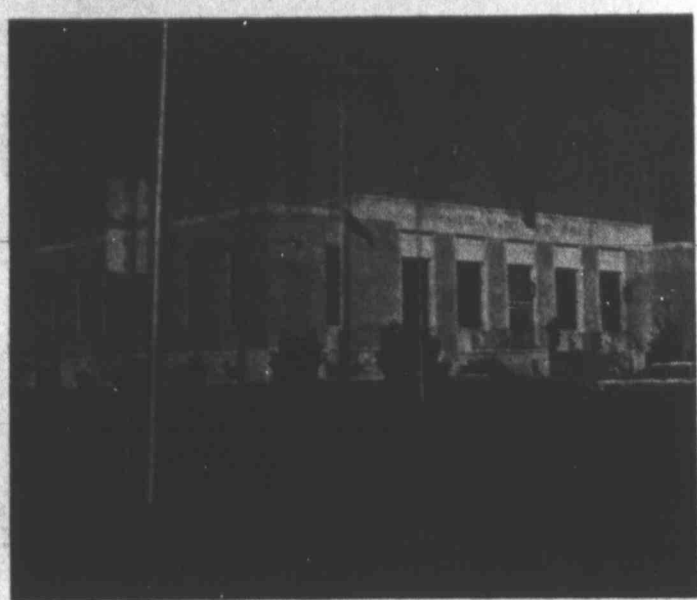

"Your citizens, your children, your student researchers are losing out when your public library is not up to standard."

Last year, the Howard County library spent $3,771 for books and binders. In 1967, the total expenditure for books was only $3,400 — but in either year the book purchases took a deep bite into over-all funds set up for the library.

This year's budget shows $5,000 earmarked for book and binder purchases — nearly one-fourth of the total budget. This year's budget also notes that the allowance for films has been cut from $1,000 to $500. The film service is a relatively new feature of the Howard County library, and has proved extremely popular in the short time it has operated.

Howard County Free Library's sole support comes from money allocated to it by the Howard County Commissioners Court and from the fines paid by delinquent book borrowers.

In 1968, the library had 27,000 borrowers, and 85 per cent of these were residents of the City of Big Spring. No city tax money goes to library support. Actually, if the library had the funds, it could expand its services to the people of the county through employment of a book mobile, to serve communities outside the city.

There are hopes now that sometime in the near future, the county will be ceded the old post office building as a library. If it comes through, and apparently there is no reason why it should not, the available space for the library will be increased. Already, the commissioners court has earmarked $25,000 as initial funds toward renovating the building for library needs when it is turned to the county.

Meantime, Lee Porter, county judge, said he had heard nothing from any governmental agency as to the future plans for the post office building. The proposal that it be turned to the county for a library has the endorsement of all national legislative representatives of the county.

When the post office moved to the new federal building, title to the old structure went to the General Services Agency. A survey was ordered to find if any federal bureau needed the building. If no such need arose, the property would pass to the Health, Education and Welfare department. It is from this agency the county hopes to get the title to the property.

The patrons of the Howard County library are heavy book readers. In 1968 they borrowed 94,114 volumes from the institution. This showed a smart increase over 1967, when the 21,496 borrowers borrowed 83,685 books.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BURN

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and in a pack of trouble. I was arrested for burglary and other charges. This was not my first time, so I am locked up here in Cambridge, Minn., awaiting trial. I would like to express some of the things I have learned in the 121 days I have been here.

One is that you should listen to your parents as they will never steer you wrong. I never got along too good with my dad. Every time he tried to talk to me we got into a heated argument, but now I realize if I had listened to him, I wouldn't be here.

I would also like to tell kids, don't quit school to go out and make money. I did, and look where I ended up.

Also, there are no short cuts. A guy needs all the education he can get. And another thing, don't blame your mistakes on other people. My friends showed me how to break the law, but I am the one who now must take full responsibility for my own actions. I will probably get sent up to St. Cloud, but thanks, Abby, for letting me say this. Also, I want to thank Sheriff Erickson. He is a swell guy. He let me use his typewriter to write to you. Sincerely,

"THE CAMBRIDGE BUM"
DEAR SIR: You're young yet, so don't go calling yourself a "bum." You can pay your debt and still amount to something if you really want to. I talked to Sheriff Erickson, and he told me you had already been sent to St. Cloud. He said he certainly hoped you would straighten yourself out because you had a lot of good in you, in addition to being exceptionally smart. I believe him. I wish you luck.

DEAR ABBY: You always tell girls they should confide in their mothers. Well, I used to, but no more.

First I made my mother promise if I told her something in confidence she wouldn't tell anybody. She promised and I told her. (It was something about a boy I liked.) Well, it got back to this boy because my mother told my aunt, and this aunt just happens to have the biggest mouth in Baltimore, that's all, and she told this boy's mother!

So, please, Abby, tell mothers who can't keep secrets not to feel left out if their children don't tell them anything.

TERRY

DEAR TERRY: You are right, of course. So to all you mothers out there: If you want to keep the lines of communication open between you and your children, never—but NEVER betray a confidence.

DEAR ABBY: Your column has always been welcome in our home. Indeed we called you "the learned judge" — a Second Solomon. Then all that endorsement came to a sudden end when you gave your approval to a mother bathing her baby in the kitchen sink — the same sink in which the household dishes were washed!

Abby, you showed a shocking disregard for the accepted principles of sanitation and disease prevention. The mere thought of eating from dishes washed in the same sink in which a child was bathed leaves a most offensive taste in one's mouth.

We could easily close this chapter by forever boycotting your column. However, we prefer to give you a chance to retract your unsavory judgment.

HELEN A., NORTHPORT, N.Y.

DEAR HELEN: Like I said, if the sink is clean BEFORE AND AFTER the baby's bath what's the difference?

Grand Jury Will Study 16 Cases Starting Tuesday

Sixteen felony offenses with 16 defendants are to be considered by the Howard County grand jury when it convenes at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the county courthouse.

The grand jury is a recall of the January term, which considered almost 40 cases in three days of deliberation. Members of the grand jury are Ike Robb, R. D. Cramer, Mrs. Marie Price, Mrs. Malcolm Patterson, Bob Brock, F. S. Murphy, J. E. Jones, O. L. Bradford, D. Elliott, Clyde McMahon Sr., Harold Davis and Mrs. C. H. Read.

Defendants and the charges to be reviewed include G. H. Miller, worthless check over $50; Walt Davis, theft over $50 and worthless check over $50; Antonio Galaviz, forgery, J. D. Moore, burglary; Jack B. Farris, driving while intoxicated, second offense; and Floyd Coates, possession of prohibited weapon on licensed premises.

Also, Randy Franklin and Pat Murphy, burglary; Darrell Lovd Thomas, DWI, second; Valentin Rey Molina, DWI, second; Ponciano D. Lopez, DWI, second; Jerry Marcus Williams, possession of prohibited weapon on licensed premises; Tommy Lee James, theft over $50; Frank Dutchover, assault with intent to murder; Wilbert Clemens, statutory rape; and Robert Thrallkill, possession of marijuana.

An investigation of child neglect will also be held by the grand jurors.

Ed Fisher, personnel director at Big Spring State Hospital, gave an outsider's view of Civitan, reciting many of the club's accomplishments. Bill Harris, merchandising manager for Montgomery Ward, was inducted as a new member. Wives of Civitan members were guests. Recently, they formed an auxiliary to the club.

Two weeks ago new officers were elected to take office July 1. They are Bill Crooker, president; Don Finkenbinder, first vice president; Tom Hammond, second vice president; Jerry Foust, secretary-treasurer; Eddie Trice; Tom Merrill, and Nick McKinney, new directors; and Jeff Painter, Beade Northcutt, and E. S. Morgan, hold-over directors.

FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CARROLL RICHTER

SUNDAY GENERAL TENDENCIES: You break too easily. Others have found that even though something is important to you, you can't be counted on to carry it through. Don't be used; for now you are a slave to change as perfect you can. Otherwise essential factors could be missing.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) It is important that you drive or walk carefully today, and avoid trouble. Don't say that casual remarks. Check over written material for possible errors. Be precise in all things.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be economical in your practical affairs. Budget like the experts. Take pride in building your savings account. Stop being so self-effective.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) It's far for you to make contacts today. You must use finesse and diplomacy. A friend could be in dire need of your assistance, so give unstintingly. Show your devotion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have certain problems that can be solved easily if you are objective and logical. Don't hesitate to assist those in trouble. Get rid of those feelings of being useless and not accepted.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take care that you choose your words wisely in seeking with your good friends or you can alienate them quickly. Keep calm and do not criticize. Accept them and do not show that you look down on the way they live.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take care in your activity today that you don't ruin your reputation. You have worked too hard to build it up. Make sure you say that important bit right over, as well as handle other pressing responsibilities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) This is the right time to change for something better. There is much to do where you are now. Some new contacts could try to over-whelm you with inflated salaries.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You need to harmonize your responsibilities properly now. Try not to show isolation where your mate is concerned. Be sure of your facts before you make any plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Instead of acting so superior, try to help others. Before you get in operation, make sure your new plan will be effective. Show that you are a thinking person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This is not a good day to present your own ideas. Go along with your associates and you will find this can still be a productive time. Be economical where pleasure is concerned. Don't jeopardize your security.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Don't lose your temper at home with your family, since the planetary influences are tension-producing. Assist family members instead of trying to force your own. Bring out your inconvertible sense of humor.

Has Friendship With Cougar

Cast in the lead in Walt Disney's latest nature-adventure, "Charlie, the Lonesome Cougar," actor Ron Brown plays an industrial forester in the Northwest timber country who adopts an orphaned cougar kitten.

Ron, a rugged athletic guy, saw this assignment as an opportunity to combine acting with his love of animals and the outdoors. He actually took the cougar home with him and was its constant companion.

"The original three months shooting schedule extended itself into 15 months," Ron said, "because of the time and care involved in filming the growth of the cougar."

"By the end of the picture, that cat and I had gotten pretty close. He and I had shared the same food, swimming holes and sleeping quarters. In fact, I could lay a piece of meat on my face or arm and Charlie would just lick it off."

"I just let him take one scrap off my cheek," he added in haste, "because his tongue was like sandpaper and just about took my skin off along with the meat."

"He was a beautiful animal and now lives with the photographer, Lloyd Beebe, who helped raise him."

Survives Crash, But Gets Ticket

LEE, Ill. (AP) — A woman motorist survived a collision between her car and a freight train Friday but got a ticket for not being careful.

A car driven by Minnie E. Shoemith, 71, hit the front of an Illinois Central freight and bounded into a crossing signal standard. She was unhurt.

Police gave her a ticket charging she disregarded flashing signal lights and ringing bells and drove onto the crossing.

Big Spring (Texas) Coin Shows and Numismatics

Numerous exhibits show Thursday at the Center mall will coincide with the National Coin Week in Big Spring.

Already more than 100 exhibits are lined up for the show. More are expected, says Wasson, president of the Big Spring Coin Club.

Theme of the show is "Coins for Peace." The show will be from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Coin Show Will Climax Numismatic Observance

Numerous exhibits in a coin show Thursday at the Highland Center mall will climax National Coin Week in Big Spring. Already more than a dozen exhibits are lined up and many more are expected, said Charles Wasson, president of the Big Spring Coin Club and also chairman of the show. There is no charge for the affair which will be from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Theme of the show will be "Coins for Peace," and there will be coins from 16 nations which have struck them for this year's theme. Most of these carry out the food idea. Only one United States coin could quality, and it is the Lincoln penny with the wheat garland. There will be several exhibits of sets of coins and other specialty collections, including coins of antiquity. During the week said Wasson, several businesses including the banks, Fragers, Mack's Coin Shop and others will have special displays of coins.

Cancer Crusade Is Given $100

FORSAN (SC) — Cancer Crusade collections here amounted to $102 with more expected to come in, according to Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, crusade chairman. The Otis Chalk area, under supervision of Mrs. Ozro Allison, contributed $18. Forsan volunteers were Mrs. Clara Fletcher, Mrs. Ronnie Thorn, Mrs. Elbert Strickland, Mrs. T. J. Wall, Mrs. Don Murphy, Mrs. T. R. Camp and Wanda Beeson.

Rock Show Plans Slated At Odessa

ODESSA — The annual spring rock show, sponsored by "The West Texas Gem and Mineral Society," will open Saturday at 10 a.m. with ribbon-cutting ceremonies and Mayor Jim Reese officiating. The rock show will be held in the Floyd Gwin Auditorium, West Tenth at West County Road. Featured as special exhibits will be "Imaginations in Gold" by Bart Mann, San Angelo; "Spheres" by Bill Caudle of Jal, N.M.; and Opal

Show, and has won awards at other shows for his work. Also there will be exhibits featuring fossils, minerals, silverwork and novelties, as well as working demonstrations on faceting and carving and a fluorescent display. The public is invited to attend the show until 10 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Phone Program For AB Club

Dale Scott, Grand Prairie, a communications specialist with the Bell Telephone Company, provided the entertainment for members of the American Business Club at the noon luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel. Scott gave a demonstration on the touch-tone system now being introduced into the communications world and discussed "holograms" — a project used to produce images through use of the laser beam. Among guests present for the meal were Harry Sawyer and Vernon Cannon. An estimated 60 persons attended the meeting.

Discovering the Lone Star State with... FRANK OLIVER

Camping - Texas Style

In Texas, Summer is sudden. Unlike Fall, when the changing of the seasons dawdles so you might drink in the experience to the fullest, Spring is a lovely, flower-speckled spasm, expressing itself for a brief moment and allowing hardly enough time to switch from sweaters to swimsuits. Invariably the Texan is caught off guard and the resulting case of Spring Fever is acute with such symptoms as severe glassy eye, far-away look and itchy wheels.

Basically and environmentally, the Texan is an outdoorsman. Impatient to shake the cobwebs of winter, he is already taking to the highways in record numbers for outings, week-end jaunts and extended vacations. Roughly one fourth to one third of these vagabonds are Campers... taking their living gear with them. These avid naturalists will have it no other way. They camp for adventure, economy and the pure joy of getting away from civilization. Man never is really more than a sleeping bag away from Mother Nature!

Many Texans are old hands at camping out. Others will be trying it for the first time. All Texans are fortunate to live in a state where the facilities for this sport are unmatched and unequalled in excellence and diversity. After all, it's an old, old Texas custom. Its many scenic attractions—mountains, beaches, forests and lakes—beckon to the camper. The state aggressively encourages the enjoyment of its public lands by its citizens. Camping is permitted in some forty of Texas' 61 State Parks; on all the public beaches of the gulf coast, especially the new Padre Island National Seashore; in all four of the National Forests; high in the cool Chisos Mountains and deep in the trackless desert of Big Bend National Park; along the banks of thousands of miles of streams and lakes; and in hundreds of private camping areas.

Texas campers are encouraged to enjoy themselves, but are also expected to camp by the Golden Rule. Campsites are for all the people, and conditions for their use are posted. First-time campers (and even some old ones) are advised to carefully plan their trips weeks in advance, familiarizing themselves with all conditions and areas they plan to visit. Many excellent manuals on camping are available at bookstores and news stands that fill you in from A to Z. Then, to more fully enjoy the camping trip in your Lone Star State, write for the Texas Park Directory, care of Director of Parks, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

Cowboy List Grows For Roping Contest

A growing list of the nation's top rodeo cowboys will join Ronnye Sewalt and Barry Burk in a combination matched calf roping duel and jackpot contest May 4 at the Rodeo Bowl. The competition will begin at 2 p.m., sponsored by the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion Association.

While Burk and Sewalt, two of the rodeo profession's outstanding young ropers, duel in a matched roping, other cowboys will compete in a jackpot roping with a $1,500 purse. Entry fees are being taken by Jimmy Taylor, and 13 contestants are signed.

Foremost among the jackpot competitors is Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, seven times world champion calf roper and leader in the 1969 standings of the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Other contestants entered in the jackpot event through Friday were Tim Prather, Post; Bob Polvado, Morton; Tuffy Cooper, Monument, N.M.; Kack Kirkpatrick, Post; Dan Riggs, Dryden; Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla.; Buttons Howard, Portales, N.M.; Bowie Wesley, Wildorado; Kenny McMullin, Big Lake; Ronnye Sewalt, Chico; Skipper Driver, Big Spring; and Skipper Duncan, San Angelo.

The matched contest between Burk and Sewalt will bill two of the hottest youngsters on the rodeo circuit with plenty of rodeo blood in their veins.

Burk, 27, is currently standing sixth in RCA calf roping standings with $5,638 in earnings. The six-year veteran is the son of Dee Burk, an outstanding roper in the 1940's, and nephew of Clyde Burk, world calf roping champion four times.

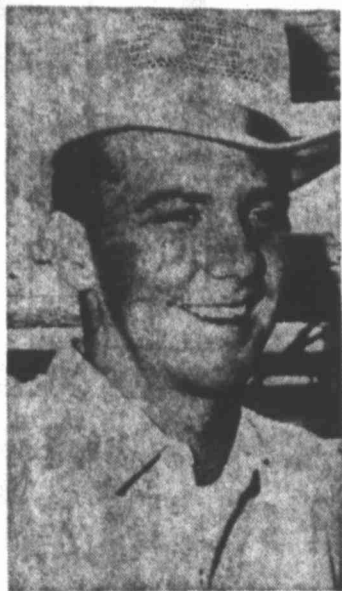

Burk finished second in calf roping in 1967 with $24,832, and sixth in 1966. He garnered $106,218 from 1963 to 1967 roping calves and wrestling steers.

Sewalt, a 10-year RCA veteran, is the son of Royce Sewalt, world champion calf roper of 1946 and one of the foremost roping teachers. Sewalt is running second behind Oliver in RCA standings this year, with $9,772, and is third in all-around cowboy standings with $12,976.

The 28-year-old Chico native placed fourteenth in calf roping in 1967, third in 1966, fourth in 1965 and was runner-up in 1964. During his career from 1957 through 1967 as a calf roper and steer wrestler, he earned $107,115.

Malcolm Patterson is chairman of the contest, which is the first such event to be held in Big Spring in about 10 years. Patterson recalled a matched roping between Toots Mansfield of Big Spring and Troy Fort.

Mansfield, who won the world calf roping title seven times, will be flag judge for the event. Oliver is currently the only active rodeo cowboy who can break Mansfield's record of seven titles in one event. The two men are now tied.

RONNYE SEWALT

Local Motorists Sign Up For Personalized Plates

The State of Texas offers its car owners some small relief from the here's-your-number society brought about by the computer age. It makes personalized license plates.

In Howard County 62 of the custom-made tags have been distributed for the 1969 driving season. Each cost its owner $10 above the regular registration fee.

Most of the personalized plates bear the name or initials of the owners. The Rev. and Mrs. Roy E. Honea drive cars marked HONEA 1 and HONEA 2, while Louie Dean Jr., Webb AFB, sports around with LDJ which has an almost familiar ring.

The Rev. William Roth, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church, requested and received car tags marked REV. Other people who use their plates to advertise their profession are Ben T. Faulkner, president of West Texas Roofing, with WT ROOF; Judy Perryman, Coahoma, who has CINEMA. Daniel C. Porter tells of his pride in KBST 16 with equal time being given to KBYG by William J. Wallace.

Two amateur radio operators have received plates with their call letters, George L. Gatliff with K5KDC and Claude C. William K. Officer drives around in his 1934 Ford that sports FORD 34 tags. Another military man, WO Henry D. Brewer reflects his personal motto through his car's plates. He has had CAN DO for the past five years.

Once the license plates are granted, the same inscription can be used over and over. No one else will be granted use of a plate until the original user no longer requests that combination.

Requirements for ordering the personalized plates starts with the $10 fee. The plates cannot consist of more than six letters nor obscene or objectionable words. The plates can have any combination of numbers and letters, provided the end result does not conflict with the numbering system adopted by the state for normal tags.

Apparently someone at the Texas Highway Department foresaw a flood of requests when the program was started several years ago, for the word PAR was prohibited from the outset.

Post To Send Delegation

Big Spring American Legionnaires will be represented at the district convention in Plainview April 25-27 by a six-man delegation. Two area posts will be honored at the convention.

Representing the local post will be Byron Hill, David Baker, Roscoe Cone, Carl Knappe, Leiland Land and Art Pierce. J. S. Sedberry, Colorado City Post 127, and C. L. Houston, Lamesa Post 330, will be two of 13 post commanders picking up citations for attaining their membership quotas.

Department commander Robert P. Walsh, San Antonio, will be the principal speaker.

At the business meeting, delegates and alternates will be elected Sunday for the national convention to be held in Atlanta, Ga., in August.

'Hodge-Podge' Taxation Hit

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — America's wage earners have fallen victim to a "hodge-podge" system of taxation developed over the years by the two major political parties, former Gov. George Wallace says.

Wallace called on the federal government Thursday to repeal the surtax on income as the first step in a program of tax reform.

The present system "places a disproportionate burden on those of moderate income while permitting the multi-billion- and multi-million-dollar foundations and many individuals rated as millionaires to escape with little or no taxation," he said.

Enemy Seriously Wounded Him, But He Has Survived

The brother and uncle of two Big Spring residents had a face to face meeting with the enemy in Vietnam, and despite the odds against him, he refused to die.

Charles Fonville, Breckenridge, is the brother of Mrs. Troy Milton and uncle of Mrs. Daniel Holden, both of Big Spring.

After joining the U.S. Marine Corps in April, 1968, he was sent to Vietnam. On Dec. 14, he was struck down by the enemy, and then met the Viet Cong face to face, but lived to tell about it.

Fonville was dropped to the ground critically injured with an enemy bullet which entered his thigh and surged upward through his chest, coming out through his intestines. The bullet ruptured his colon and passed out through his rib cage, narrowly missing his heart. And then a grenade hit him in the chin, causing jagged cuts in his face, but causing no damage to his eyes.

As Fonville lay on the ground, a friend saw that he was critically wounded, and came to Fonville's aid, but was also shot. His buddy fell beside him, and as he lay dying, he asked Fonville to hold his hand.

The two of them lay there for some time until Fonville heard noises, and he thought help was coming. He raised his head to ask for help, and when he did, an enemy soldier slammed a rifle butt into his head.

Fonville never lost consciousness during the ordeal, and finally help did come. His buddy was dead, and Fonville was carried to a hospital in Da Nang, where he was kept alive for several days by intravenous injections. Medical Corpsmen did not ever remove his boots, and they wondered how the seriously-wounded man continued to live.

The Marine was transferred to the hospital ship U.S.S. Sanctuary as soon as possible. He asked the doctors if his boots could finally be removed.

Doctors performed surgery, and Fonville began his recovery. He was then taken to a Navy hospital in Corpus Christi, and was then sent back home to his parents. Surgery was again performed at the Corpus Christi hospital last February.

Fonville has already recovered to the point where he can drive a car and walk with ease. He says he feels fine.

He was injured once before in Vietnam, but recovered quickly and was sent back into battle. He has been awarded two Purple Hearts.

and as he lay dying, he asked Fonville to hold his hand. The two of them lay there for some time until Fonville heard noises, and he thought help was coming. He raised his head to ask for help, and when he did, an enemy soldier slammed a rifle butt into his head. Fonville never lost consciousness during the ordeal, and finally help did come. His buddy was dead, and Fonville was carried to a hospital in Da Nang, where he was kept alive for several days by intravenous injections. ### Mrs. Hale Is Given Medal Awarded Son

Mrs. James R. Hale, 1015 Wood, has received the Air Medal awarded posthumously to her son, 1st Lt. William T. Hale. The medal, with numeral six was awarded for strike flights between Sept. 15, 1968 and Oct. 8, 1968. He died on a combat mission as a co-pilot on a United States Marine helicopter flight. He was in almost constant action from the time he arrived in Vietnam last autumn, and he crowded in 60 strikes (a strike is when attacking or when meeting enemy resistance). "His deeds symbolize his dedication and devotion to his corps and to his country," said the citation. "While exposed to hostile fire at close range, Lt. Hale has contributed materially to the success of his squadron. His courage and devotion to duty in the face of hazardous flying conditions is in keeping with the highest traditions . . ."

Action In Blount Murder Case Moves To Courtroom

Work by the Howard County Sheriff's Department in the Dec. 9 fatal shooting here of A. D. Blount finally ended Thursday when the last of three men indicted in the case was put behind bars of the county jail. With the investigation of the case completed by county sheriff A. N. Standard and his deputies, the case is now in hands of the courts. Standard's part in the case, which extended over four months, ended when Bobbie Randal Crain, 22, was extradited Thursday from Kansas City, Mo., to join Rae Bourbon, 76, and Bobbie Eugene Chrisco, 22, who were brought from Kansas City March 12. Ralph Caton, 118th District Court Judge, said Friday that he will confer with attorneys of the three defendants this week to find which route each will take. The investigation began with the fatal shooting of Blount, 40, on the night of Dec. 9 in the hallway of his apartment in the Jackson County jail in Kansas rear of the Pet-A-Zoo, about a mile south of Big Spring on US 87. The pet dealer was shot one time through the chest with a .45 calibre bullet. There was one witness to the incident, Blount's 16-year-old son, Gary, who saw a man pointing a gun at his father before the shooting. Two days after the shooting, Standard recovered a .45 calibre pistol within a mile from the scene, and a ballistics expert with the Department of Public Safety laboratory in Austin said it was the gun that fired the fatal shot. The gun was traced to its last owner in Kansas City, Bourbon, Crain and Chrisco were arrested shortly after on Dec. 19 at the Jewel Box Lounge in Kansas City to end 10 days of investigation that reached into four states. Crain waived extradition at the time of his arrest and was brought to Howard County jail on Dec. 20, but Bourbon and Chrisco decided to fight extradition and they remained in the Jackson County jail in Kansas rear of the Pet-A-Zoo, about a

Lions Charter New Pride

Sand Springs Lions Club Is Granted Its Charter

Ceremonies at Cosden Country Club Saturday night created the Sand Springs Lions Club. The charter for the new civic group was presented by District Governor Conner Scott, Brownwood. Special guests were Deputy District Governor John Woods and past district governor Cecil Bridges. The new organization was sponsored by the Coahoma

Lions Club and had its first meeting March 25. There have been about 10 meetings of the club to qualify it for charter. Upon being presented the charter, the club became recognized by Lions International. Meetings will be held the first and third Mondays of the month at Marvin's Little Village. Officers are president Mar-

Mrs. Bucher Blasts LBJ

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Lloyd M. Bucher says former President Johnson was "remiss in his duty" in failing to bring back quickly the crew of her husband's captured spy ship, the USS Pueblo.

Mrs. Bucher also is critical of the U.S. Navy, former Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the State Department for their dealings with her while her husband, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, was imprisoned.

"I think," she says, "our former president, Lyndon Johnson, was remiss in his duty to bring back our men and in tolerating the illegal seizure of an American naval ship on the high seas, thus permitting a pipsqueak country, North Korea, to embarrass our great nation."

GOOD REASON
"It appears to me," she adds, "that American servicemen everywhere, who are assigned hazardous missions, now have good reason to question whether they will be supported should they also fall into misfortune. It further haunts me that the morale of the American fighting man cannot help but be negatively affected."

Mrs. Bucher's comments are contained in a copyrighted article in the May issue of McCall's, to be released Monday.

President Johnson, Mrs. Bucher writes, did not contact her until a month after the January, 1968, seizure, and then only after she had written to him and called on the telephone. She adds: "I was not exactly being inundated with information or emotional consolation by the Department of State."

Mrs. Bucher says that during her 11-month effort to get information about her husband and the 82 other men on the ship, "the Navy gave me no instructions on how to deal with the press or what action to take to aid my husband."

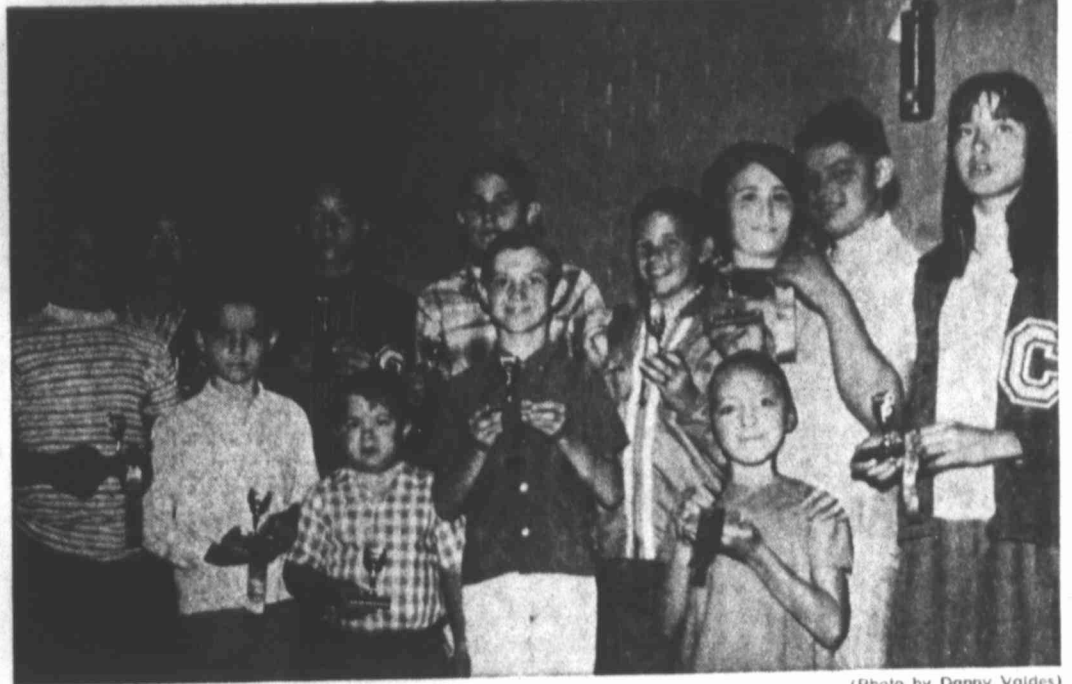

A rumor that her husband had killed himself, she said, "proved the breaking-off point of communication between Dean Rusk and me, on the only occasion we met."

"I asked Mr. Rusk if my husband was alive. I was still very worried about those suicide rumors. I believe your husband is alive," he replied. What proof did he have that Pete was alive? "What proof do you have that he isn't?"

"Mr. Rusk responded to almost all of my questions with another question or referred them to (former ambassador to South Korea Winthrop Brown) who prefaced all his remarks with a heavily stressed 'I believe.'"

"Finally, I asked, 'Don't you know anything for sure?'" Mrs. Bucher also writes that her efforts to get addresses of Pueblo families were continually thwarted by Navy officials.

Cmdr. Bucher's wife went on to say that at one point, when she called the Navy about $500 in back combat pay for her husband, the finance center wanted a detailed account of what she planned to do with the money.

PACKING HOUSE HOPE Union Workers Vote In Favor Of Pay Cut

FORT WORTH (AP) — Union workers at Swift and Co. voted Saturday almost two-to-one in favor of a pay cut which will keep the last of the big packing houses here open at least until April, 1971.

"The vote was 557 for and 244 against accepting the wage reductions," said J. Herschel Morris, president of local No. 6, National Brotherhood of Packer and Dairy Workers.

Morris said Swift and Co. has promised to keep the plant in operation if the workers accepted the reductions.

"The vote by our union today means that Swift can compete with independent packers in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and keep our packing house open," he said.

Morris said he will meet with company officials to work out details "as soon as possible." "There will be no wage increases for our hourly workers during the life of this contract which expires Sept. 1, 1970," he added.

A total of 1,130 hourly workers are affected.

Morris said earlier this week that many of the plant's employees have been here 35 years or more and some would be unable to transfer to other plants.

Terms of the pay reduction agreed on by workers Saturday calls for giving up a cost of living clause which included 30 cents per hour currently being received.

The union also agreed to waive 11 cents per hour due in September of this year and to forego any additional cost of living raises during the life of the current contract.

Swift's plant manager Suggs Jolly said earlier this week, "We have a great future here in the Fort Worth plant if we can be reasonably competitive with local competition."

He noted that Swift had made every effort to keep the plant open although Armour and Co. closed down operations here six years ago.

Scholarship To Be Awarded

SAN ANGELO — Some West Texas Journalism student will be awarded a $300 freshman scholarship in Anglo State College for the 1969-70 school year.

Applications are now being accepted for the scholarship by Mrs. Maxine Henthorn, head of the ASC Journalism department. Deadline for applying is April 30. The award, known as the Millard Cope Memorial Scholarship, is financed out of a $25,000 trust fund established by Mr. and Mrs. Houston Hartle, San Angelo, as a memorial to the late Millard Cope, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times at the time of his death Jan. 4, 1964.

Low Water Dam Above C-City Near Completion

Finishing touches for the low-water dam across the Colorado River, just above Colorado City, are due the first part of this week.

F. M. Thornton Co. has been pouring the concrete cap which will top the row of steel sheet piling across the river channel. This was to have been done a week ago, but rains caused the river to rise enough that work had to be halted. Since then water has gone down and pumps have pulled the river flow down to normal.

The normal flow of the river will be halted by the dam, and the piling will prevent sub-surface seepage of the mineralized water when the river is at low levels. This low-quality water will be boosted into a side storage terminal reservoir, as some 300 acre-feet have to date, and will be disposed of for oil field repressuring.

When a flush flow comes down following rains, massive pumps will kick on automatically up to the rate of 90,000,000 gallons per day until chlorides fall below 440 pph. Then the fresh water will be permitted to go downstream to the Colorado River Municipal Water District's new Lake E. V. Spence above Colorado City.

O. T. Arnold, Rail Engineer

Oscar Thomas Arnold, 77, retired Texas & Pacific locomotive engineer, died in a hospital here at 10:30 p.m. Friday after a relatively brief illness.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the 14th & Main Church of Christ with burial in the Trinity Memorial Park, under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Rick Moses, associate minister at 14th and Main, will officiate at the last rites.

Mr. Arnold, who was born March 1, 1892, in Robertson County, came to Big Spring in 1912 and went to work for the T&P. After 50 years in service, he retired in 1962. He also had been a member of the 14th & Main Church of Christ for half a century.

He was a long-time member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Surviving him are his wife,

L. E. Jordan, Services Today

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Services for Lewis E. Jordan, 76, retired Colorado City businessman, will be held at 2:30 p.m. today in the Kiker and Son Funeral Chapel with Rev. Glenn Roenfeldt, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Jordan died here Friday evening after an illness of several months. He was born in Coryell County Sept. 17, 1892 and came here in 1927. He married the former Mrs. Mary Montgomery May 5, 1928, in Odessa.

Survivors include his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Emory Sweet, Westbrook; Mrs. Bill Carter, Colorado City; a son, O. L. Montgomery, Colorado City; three sisters, Mrs. R. G. Moody, Rock Springs; Mrs. Virginia O'Donnell, Altadena, Calif.; Mrs. J. L. Thompson, Copperas Coves, and eight grandchildren.

A. C. Kloven Sr., Realtor Here

Alfred Clarence Kloven Sr., 68, died in a local hospital Friday at 10:28 p.m.

He was born Nov. 9, 1900 in Kenyon, Minn., finished school at Antlers, N.D., and attended business college at Sioux Falls, S.D. He came to Texas with the Alis Chalmers farm equipment company, traveling the Panhandle area in the 1930s. In 1938, he moved to Big Spring from Las Cruces, N.M., operating a grocery store, then as bookkeeper for the Farmers Gin Co. At his death, he was in the realty business. He attended the First Baptist Church.

He married the former Thelma Parrish April 4, 1935, at Clovis, N.M.

Funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Rosewood Chapel, with the Rev. Robert Polk officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park. Pallbearers will be Melvin Ray, A. C. Preston, H. E. Heaton, Roscoe Newell, Sherman Whitaker, Alvin Thigpen, D. L. Jamison, and Joe B. Masters.

Survivors include his wife, one son, Al Kloven Jr., Fort Worth; a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Jensen, Seattle, Wash.; and one grandson.

Pilot Escapes, Plane Demolished

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A plane belonging to Windecker Research, Inc. of Midland crashed Saturday about 35 miles south of this West Texas city.

The pilot of the aircraft, Bill Robinson, parachuted to safety. The plane, reported to be an Eagle 1 or an Eagle 2, was demolished.

Company officials were not immediately available for comment. A spokesman at the plant said he had been told by the FAA not to make any statements about the crash.

Red Korea Accuses U.S. Of Air Space Violation

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea accused the United States Saturday of trying to "reverse black and white" by stating that the U.S. reconnaissance plane shot down in the Sea of Japan last Tuesday was in international air space.

Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-sun, North Korea's chief delegate to the armistice commission meeting at Panmunjom, reiterated his government's claim that the U.S. Navy plane carrying 31 persons was downed after it violated Red air space.

Lee asserted that U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. James B. Knapp, head of the U.N. Command delegation, "fled" from the meeting because he feared "exposure of the truth" about the plane.

IN A FIX... Lee accused Knapp of a "flagrant violation of the Korean armistice agreement" in walking out. The North Korean Central News Agency, which broadcast Lee's statement, said the walk-out came 42 minutes after the meeting started when Lee asked three times for identification of the unit to which the downed plane was attached.

"Finding himself in a fix where he could not escape the responsibility for this, the senior member of the enemy side let loose a whole string of robber-like sophistry in an attempt to justify the criminal act in sending a spy plane into the territorial air of our country on April 15," said Lee.

"When we brought the U.S. imperialists to task at the meeting for the aggressive act of infiltrating a spy plane into the territorial air of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, the senior member of the enemy side fled from the meeting half at a loss for words."

In Seoul, South Korean President Chung-Hue Park met with top aides to study President Nixon's statements to a Washington news conference on the plane incident.

PROTECTION... Nixon said Friday he had ordered protection against armed

SEVENTH ANNUAL HOWARD COUNTY BEE HOTLY CONTESTED

Scott Tyra Captures Spelling Title

By SAM BLACKBURN Scott Tyra, parlayed his school championship into a county spelling title Saturday...

Anyway, Scott, 13, the Goliad champion in Saturday's Seventh Annual Howard County Spelling Bee, won the right to represent Howard County in the Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock May 3.

Top Spellers Of Howard County

Consumer Aide Takes Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virginia Knauer was sworn in today as President Nixon's special adviser on consumer affairs...

TOUGH FOES Scott's two toughest opponents were David Coates, Runnels champion, and Julia Finfinger, a tiny 11-year-old expert from the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic school.

The three outlasted the field of 15 and went on and on until Mrs. O. T. Brewster, official pronouncer, said she had begun to wonder if she had selected enough words in the official list to determine the title.

However, on the 21st round, Julia failed to field "intolerable" and the match was left to Scott and David.

Julia fell out on the 170th word.

On the 204th word, which was "reminiscence" both the survivors missed. Under the rules when this happens in a bee with only two surviving spellers, a new word is called and the bee goes on until one or another of the contenders falters and the survivor successfully spells the missed word.

"SACRIFICE"

On the 206th word, David failed to handle "resurrection" to the satisfaction of the three judges. Scott dealt with it in a proper manner and clinched his title by spelling "sacrifice."

Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tyra, 2702 Ann. His father is store manager for the National Supply Company here. Scott was born in Borger but has lived here five of his 13 years.

He is an eighth grader at Goliad Junior High School. Scott has three younger brothers — one of whom competed against him in Saturday's spelling bee.

James Tyra, 10, the Kentwood school champion, dropped out in the seventh go-around on the 80th word pronounced by Mrs. Brewster. The seventh round was a bad one for the youngsters — two other school champions, Debra Warren, from Bauer and Mariene Margolis, the Park Hill contender, also failed to finish the disastrous seventh.

PICKED TO WIN

Coates, who is a tall, well-developed 13-year-old eighth grader, gave an admirable performance and many spectators had picked him to win. He is the Runnels champion and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coates, 1204 W. 2nd.

A surprise speller was tiny Julia Finfinger, the Immaculate Heart of Mary title holder. The 11-year-old daughter of Maj. and Mrs. James J. Finfinger, 3803 Calvin, proved herself an adept master of spelling and stayed in the bee steadily until the middle of the 21st round. The board voted pay raises and adjustments totalling $35,800 to remain competitive with others. The margin of increase ranges from seven to 19 per cent.

The 30-day weather map offers some encouragement of precipitation. We are shown in an area anticipating above normal rainfall. It would be wonderful to replenish Lake Thomas and then have a substantial amount of water in new Lake E. V. Spence when it is dedicated, probably May 29.

Volunteers were honored at the Big Spring State Hospital last week. Mrs. Billy Gaskins and Mrs. J. R. Petty each were cited for having put in 1,000 or more hours. There were other awards for 500 hours, 300 hours and 100 hours. In all, these awards represented 9,600 hours — hours that love but not any amount of money could buy.

The All-Faith Chapel at the hospital has now been chartered, and plans are being shaped for a campaign to raise funds to build a Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. The center has moved to establish a trust fund for those who wish to remember this agency in their wills.

The cancer fund house-to-house canvass brought in over $2,000 last week, considerably short of what was needed. One resident, asked for a contribution by a volunteer youth, complained to police. It takes all kinds.

Elicia Keele, who wrote the winning essay on employing the physically handicapped, was honored at a special ceremony at Big Spring High School last week. Lawrence Melton, and other state Texas Employment Commission officials, came from Austin to make the cash award and an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C.

F. Keith Jones, who currently is a Ponca, Okla., policeman, has been named new Howard County juvenile officer. Jones, however, has a considerable background in juvenile work, having been assistant chief of the Ector County juvenile probation section. He assumes his duties here May 1.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District sold its supplemental issue of $4,500,000 in revenue bonds during the week. To realize how things have changed since the project started, it is interesting to recall that the original issue went for 2.48 per cent.

The Howard County commissioners court last week agreed to invest about $1,300 in a radar unit to be used in the Texas Highway Patrol for use on county roads. It's not quite clear to us why the county is obliged to be buying items for use in state equipment.

Peyote Grab Nets Puzzles

GEORGE WEST, Tex. (AP)—Officers faced two puzzles Saturday: What to do with 658 pounds of peyote and what anyone would want with 698 pounds of the stuff in the first place.

Peyote has not caught on well with the pill-poppin' and weed-smoking set. Texas highway patrolmen said they found the peyote—three barrels of it—in a truck which was wrecked in the early hours Saturday four miles north of Three Rivers in South Texas.

The truck driver said he spent four days cutting the peyote buds off cactus plants near Rio Grande City in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the only place in the nation where peyote cactus grows.

Possession of peyote, which causes hallucinations, is illegal in Texas, calling for a sentence of a year in prison and a fine of $3,000.

Excepted under some court rulings are members of the Native American Church, whose members are Indians. The Indians use it in their religious rite.

The man arrested but charged immediately apparently had no connection with the Indian church, said Patrolman B. C. Bagwell, who also said the man has a record of arrests for drug possession.

Bob L. Ghormley, 33, has assumed duties as administrator of Big Spring Nursing Inn, a subsidiary of Monterey Inn, Inc., according to Arthur Taylor, vice president.

Ghormley and his wife, Marian, will move to Big Spring from Beaumont, where he was administrator of the Schlesinger Geriatric Center, a 250-bed medical facility.

He has also served as administrator of a 187-bed nursing home in Chicago, and a 100-bed unit in Clinton, Okla.

On March 1, 1968, President Johnson visited the Schlesinger hospital personally to present Social Security checks representing an increase in payments to some of the patients there.

Ghormley is a member of the Texas Nursing Home Association, American Nursing Home Association, and Texas Hospital Association. He is also a member of the Lions Club. The Ghormleys attend the Presbyterian Church.

He is a native of West Texas and attended public schools in Odessa. He also attended the University of Texas in El Paso.

Early Signs Indicate Good Year For Cotton

By SAM BLACKBURN
More than a million pounds of cotton seed will be planted on Howard County farms between now and the middle of May. The county has been allotted 71,649 acres to be planted to cotton, and observers think every available acre will be seeded.

This year's cotton acreage is less than 200 acres greater than in 1968, but there is a tremendous difference in the cotton outlook now than there was at this same season in 1968.

This year, farmers say that cotton prospects are probably the best ever. The snows of last winter, with some good rains in the late fall, have provided an exceptionally fine backlog of underground moisture.

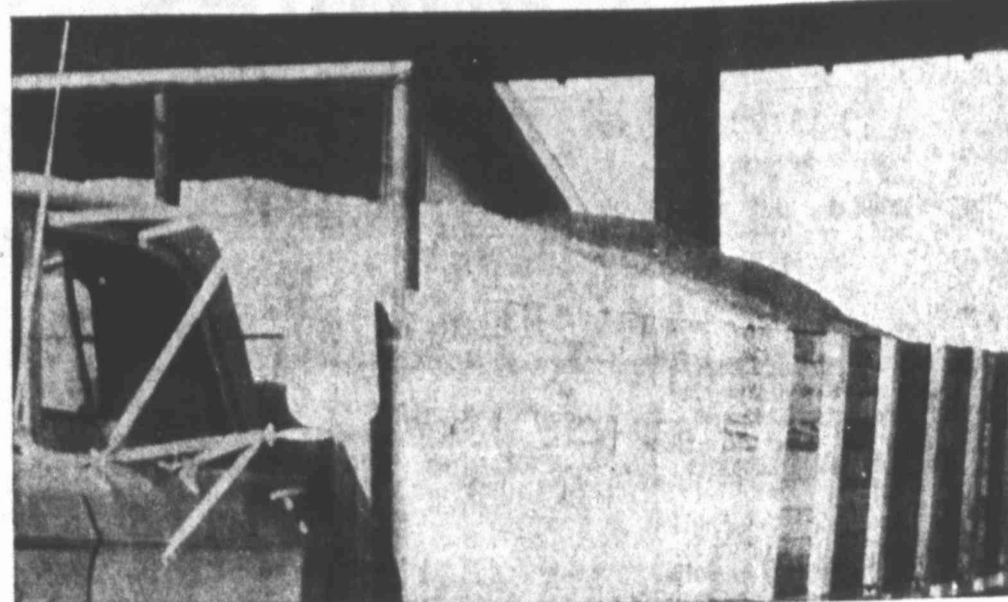

This month's 2.5 inch rain, which fell exactly as the farmers would have had it fall, has capped the climax.

"The fields are in the best shape they have been in years — on top of the ground and under the surface," say old-time farmers. "If we can escape sandstorms, hail or heavy washing, this should be a big year for cotton."

Last spring, farmers were faced with dim prospects of a good season ahead. As a result the original 71,642 cotton acres dwindled as farmers surrendered the claims. The final planting was around 50,000 acres.

For days, the prospects looked about as bad as possible. Then, in a way no one anticipated, there was a change in the weather. The result was one of the best cotton crops — based on the per acre yield — in the history of the county. The shortage of planted acres cut production totals below other years when much larger acreage was seeded, but the bale-or-better — an-acre yield across the county made the total production memorable.

This season, if all continues in the happy state that now prevails, there will be 71,000 acres

TRUCK LOADS OF SEED UNDERGOING DELINTING
Farmers push with preparations to plant 1969 cotton crop

HOW WELL DOES THE SEED GERMINATE?
Mrs. Clay Ingram scientifically tests germination of cotton planted to cotton instead of 50,000. Should the good luck hold and the same happy developments arise that marked 1968, it is probable that we could have the biggest cotton crop in history.

But there are dangerous weeks ahead. There will be need later on for rains at the right season to give the crop a boost. There may be sand storms which could cut the young plants off at the ground or smother them under blankets of dust. There could be heavy rains which might wash the fields and bury the cotton under mud. There could be an early hard freeze.

There is also the threat of insect invasion. Last year's crop was not hard hit by insects. Indeed, it was about the kindest year on record in this field.

However, there is no assurance that the enemy won't be back as he has in other years. Cotton boll worms, grasshoppers, fleahoppers — the entire unholy alliance of varmints — could be back in such numbers as to gravely damage the crop.

As an added problem, the county for the first time in history, is faced with the possibility that boll weevils — the most dreaded of all cotton enemies — may be on hand in sufficient numbers to create a hazard.

The weevils showed up two years ago. They were increasingly numerous last year. Their advance across the county was noted as weevils were found in nearly all sections of the county.

Last year saw Howard County cotton farmers engaging in the widest diversification in cotton varieties in the history of the crop. Many new hybrids were tried, and many proved themselves. Many farmers, though, planted the old reliable Western Stormproof.

Experts note that, as it was for many other kinds of cotton, 1968 was an excellent year for Stormproof. Fantastic acre yields from the old standby were recorded.

As a result, observers are of the opinion that many farmers will be planting this variety heavily and foregoing any further experimentation with the touted new hybrids.

Return From Oil Jobbers Meet

Seven Big Spring oil jobbers have returned home after attending the annual convention of the Texas Oil Jobbers Association in Dallas which ended Friday night.

Attending from here were E. L. Kent of the Kent Oil Company; E. F. Henderson and Tommy Gage of the Gage Oil Company; K. H. McGibbon and W. A. Moore of the McGibbon Oil Company; and R. B. Tompkins and Charles Tompkins and H. C. McEvedy, all of the Tompkins Oil Company.

More than 1,200 oil jobbers and commission agents attended the convention, largest in the association's history. They heard talks by leading national executives and administrators, including F. S. Schwend, president of the Gulf Oil Company, and Bill Jones of Kennett, Mo., president of the National Oil Jobbers Council.

Pre-Schoolers Invited To Visit

COAHOMA — The annual day for pre-schoolers to get a firsthand glimpse of school has been set for Wednesday at the Coahoma primary school.

All youngsters who will be beginning the first grade at Coahoma next autumn are invited to spend most of the day at the school, said W. A. Fishback, principal.

They are to arrive at 9 a.m. and will continue until 1 p.m. at the school. Parents are welcome, but if parents cannot come, then children on the routes may ride the buses with the regular pupils. There will be no special schedules, however, and pre-schoolers cannot return until school is out for other pupils if they ride the bus.

The youngsters will be guests of the school for lunch, but adults will be expected to pay for their meals.

JOE FRAZIER CHECKS ZIGGY'S DENTAL WORK
Two heavyweights meet in Houston Tuesday night

Dave Zyglewicz Gets Big Chance In Ring

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Zyglewicz's biggest boxing purse has been $5,000 but he steps up to big time Tuesday night when he attempts to win Joe Frazier's portion of the world heavyweight championship.

Frazier is recognized as champion in five states and Mexico and Argentina. Since Texas is sanctioning the bout as a title fight six states actually recognize the Philadelphia as champion.

Both men ended their heavy training by indicating the bout will not go the scheduled 15 rounds.

EARLY FINISH?

"The fight won't go more than 10 rounds," Zyglewicz said.

Frazier actually hasn't made a prediction but his comments indicate he believes he can end it quickly.

"I get paid the same amount if I do it in the first round or the 15th," he said. "I'll do my best to end it as quickly as possible."

Frazier, the 1964 Olympic heavyweight champion, is undefeated in 22 bouts and has scored 19 knockouts. He will be a heavy favorite in this third defense of his portion of the title.

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox sent slugger Ken Harrelson, the 1967 American League RBI champion, to Cleveland and obtained right-hander Sonny Siebert Saturday in a six-player deal.

The Red Sox also obtained right-hander relief specialist Vincente Romo and veteran catcher Joe Azcue.

The Indians received southpaw pitcher Dick Ellsworth, a 16-game winner last year, and veteran left-hander Juan Pizarro.

Teens Will Sign Next Saturday

The Teen-Age Baseball Association will register players for the 1969 season between the hours of 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. next Saturday at the Teen-Age complex north of North 12th Street.

Tryouts in the two leagues get under way Thursday, May 1, and continue for three consecutive days. Boys unable to register at the appointed time can sign up the first two days of tryouts.

The Sophomore and Hi-Junior leagues will kick off their seasons May 29 and the schedules will run for seven weeks.

Ray Weir, who is again serving as president of the association, said that one and possibly two managers were still needed by the organization.

The Sophomore league will have eight teams this year, the Hi-Junior six.

Weir said he met with Lou Brahn, Odessa, Teen-Age district commissioner recently and was told that Big Spring had a good chance to host the district tournament in Hi-Junior play again. The Sophomore district meet will be in Midland.

Below is a form which all aspiring players and their parents must fill out and sign before they will be permitted to play.

Duds, Income Make Alworth Stand Apart

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The first thing you notice about Lance Alworth as he hops out of his red Jaguar is his green and yellow flowered slacks.

The first thing? For a few seconds, the slacks are the only thing because they are as dazzling as Alworth when he makes a one-handed catch for the San Diego Chargers.

After the first shock of the pants wears off, the eye takes in the rest of this football superstar turned prosperous businessman, the green V-neck sweater over the darker green mock turtle-neck shirt, the white sneakers, the long sideburns and the hair that falls down over his forehead and creeps down the back of the neck.

And in a sense, Lance Alworth owes it his new look all to Lance Alworth Limited.

"It's something I've always wanted to do," said Alworth, referring to his taste in clothes that runs to the mod and the wildly casual.

"I've never really done it because I could never do it going back to Little Rock every year because, you know, you just wear different clothes back there, more conservative, than you do around here.

"I had an obligation as far as my family and myself and everything was concerned. I didn't want to make the wrong impression back home.

"But when I decided to stay out here I just said, heck, I'm going to wear the clothes I want to wear. I really enjoy it. It's a lot of fun putting things together and deciding how you want things to look.

"I'm sure I wouldn't have done it if I hadn't made a little bit of money because it really surprises you how much money you have to spend on clothes.

"If you want to wear the new look, heck, every year or every six months they come out with something new. It looks great, and you say, I want to go down and have it. It costs a heck of a lot of money to keep that up."

Lance Alworth, football's premier pass receiver, has a heck of a lot of money. At least he does on paper, where his worth is estimated at more than a million dollars.

OWES IT TO LOOK

There's been no official estimate placed on the worth of his company, Lance Alworth Limited, but 20 per cent of the firm was sold recently for $400,000.

Of the remaining 80 per cent, Alworth who is chairman of the board and vice president, owns 36 per cent, and an equal amount is owned by Bill Haskins, a 42-year-old Tennessean who became president of the company March 1.

Another part-owner is Don Augustine, the attorney for the American Football League Players Association.

Right now Lance Alworth Limited has three divisions — Lance Alworth, Minnie Pearl, Roast Beef, Lance Alworth 60-Minute Cleaners and Lance Alworth Royal Inns of America.

Some of the roast beef houses are expected to be ready for business in San Diego County this summer, just about the time Alworth goes to training camp to begin his eighth year with the Chargers.

DISPUTES PREDICTIONS

Zyglewicz has been taking issue recently with sports writers who say the fight is only a tune-up for Frazier who is expected to meet Jimmy Ellis, World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, later this year.

"I'm counting on Frazier taking me lightly and my surprising him," Zyglewicz said.

However, Frazier says he takes no opponent lightly.

"Anytime you go into the ring with a heavyweight with two hands you are taking a chance," Frazier said. "When you're champion everyone is out to beat you. They want what I got."

Zyglewicz became a fighter a few years ago when he answered an advertisement in Ring Magazine and came to Houston for a tryout. The two Houston sportsmen who placed the ad, hoping to develop a heavyweight champion, are now out of the boxing business.

But Zyglewicz is still in—and he feels this bout is the one that is really going to put him on the fistic map.

"This is my big chance and I intend to make the most of it," he said. "I'm ready for the fight of my life."

Nelson Meet Will Help 'Rabbits'

DALLAS Tex., (AP) — Advocates of second Professional Golfers Association tour will beam when they see what's happening before the $100,000 Byron Nelson Classic in Dallas this week.

A 36-hole tournament will be held for the so-called "rabbits" who follow the tour but never quite qualify to get into regular tourney play.

George Walsh, PGA tournament players division executive, said "this little Byron Nelson is the greatest innovation on the tournament circuit in my memory. I know all the players will be grateful to the Nelson Classic sponsors for creating this opportunity for more of the many golfers on the tour to earn some money by their play."

The $5,000 added attraction will include a $1,000 prize for the champion. It will be held at the Northwood Country Club on Tuesday and Wednesday before the regular tourney starts on Thursday.

There will be few, if any qualifying spots, for the classic. However, any lower scorer in the qualifying who normally would have won a place in the classic may elect to stay and play in the "little" Byron Nelson if he feels his chances are greater of winning money.

The event will be the first of its kind in PGA tour annals, Walsh said.

The main tournament itself will be held over the tough Preston Trails Country Club course which places a premium on straightness off the tee.

Nelson, the golf great for whom the tournament is named, has often expressed a fondness for the unknowns trying to win a place in the sun.

Don M. Houseman, tournament chairman, said "Nelson is our inspiration for this action. We have often heard him say the champions of tomorrow are the 'rabbits' of today."

He said "because of all the talk there has been about the need for a second PGA tour, we believe we're taking a step in the right direction which is actually an obligation of all prime tournament sponsors—doing something about second tournaments for the overflow."

Art Johnson Is Elevated To GM Post At Sunland

EL PASO — Art Johnson, Sunland Park's assistant general manager for the past two years, has been named general manager.

The announcement of Johnson's promotion was made by George Rancich, Sunland Park president, following a meeting of the Sunland Park Board of Directors.

Earlier this week, Bob Haysworth announced his intention to step down from Sunland's top job in order to concentrate on his numerous business obligations.

Johnson will officially take the helm on July 1.

Born in Seattle and raised in Portland, Ore., Johnson attended De Paul University in Chicago in 1948 and 1949. But his degree in Business Administration was conferred by New Mexico Highlands University in 1952.

After graduation, Johnson worked in the lumber business at Cimarron, N.M., holding various positions from 1953 through 1957. A long-time race fan, Johnson became interested in a racetrack career through his wife, Shan, who worked in the mutuels department at La Mesa Park in nearby Raton.

In 1957, Johnson was hired by R. Wood Erwin, then general manager of Raton, for the post of maintenance superintendent. While serving in this capacity, Johnson also worked in the mutuels department and in the racing office.

In August, 1959, when Erwin assumed the post of general manager at Sunland Park,

ART JOHNSON

Johnson also made the switch to El Paso and was appointed comptroller. Since Sunland Park's inception, Johnson has held a number of additional jobs, including that of clocker, calculator in the mutuels department, and money-room manager.

During the off-season of 1962 through 1963, Johnson gained additional experience by holding various posts at Ruidoso Downs and the State Fair Track at Albuquerque.

In 1967, Haysworth boosted Johnson into the prestigious post of assistant general manager. While assuming a dded responsibility and executive duties, Johnson also retained his obligations as comptroller.

Deeply interested in sports, Johnson was a professional baseball prospect, but his career as a catcher was interrupted by a World War II tour of duty with the Navy. His baseball interest has not diminished over the years. During the summers, he manages a boys' baseball team.

African Thinks Baseball Should Become Universal

Note: The author of this article, Tony Pitch, is a native of Rhodesia. Before joining the AP in Philadelphia, he worked as a newspaper in Africa, London and Lagos. Here is his account of watching his first baseball game — Bill Tolan's 7-0 no-hitter over Philadelphia for Montreal Thursday night.

By TONY PITCH
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — In Rhodesia we play rugby to throw our weight around and cricket to prove we're British. Baseball we leave to a few screwball misfits.

This week I got a chance to see the great American pedigree sport for the first time.

Someone told me the Phillies were in white and the Montreal visitors in grey. It didn't help much because everybody seemed to be rooting for the Canadians.

I began to think this was the American idea of fair play. But things got out of hand when the Philadelphia fans ran onto the field and carried the Canadian pitcher shoulder high.

Then someone began to talk about a no-hit game . . .

Baseball looks a masculine sport, with beefy hitters holding a tooth-pick size bit of wood as they square up and face a whirlwind pitcher.

It seems to call for plenty of courage. But why is the umpire protected from the players only by a face guard?

I came away surprised the sport hasn't caught on in other countries since it's slick, daring and fast moving. The hitters face only a few balls each, the innings are short and there is suspense in men trying to steal a base or slide in ahead of the ball.

It also has the novelty of a public announcer keeping spectators participation by naming hitters, pitchers and fielders at regular intervals.

Baseball seemed above all to have showmanship like no other sport. The pitcher acts unconcerned until he whips round and throws a ball to a baseman; the batsmen swaguer up, only to walk away humbled three short strikes later; and fielders nonchalantly toss the ball around as if they had nothing else to do.

Yet the spectators are the people who make this game. They could teach those Apache Indians a lesson in homicidal threats and blood-curdling cries. I wasn't surprised to see a fence separating them from the players.

When they ask me back home what's so good about baseball I'll compare it with golf where there is silence as a man lines up his putt. I'll talk about cricket fans who clam up when the bowler comes in for his run. Then I'll talk about what happens when a pitcher prepares for his throw.

Thanks to those fans in Connie Mack Stadium I'll be returning for a lot more of this cabaret.

Gate Is Up In Football

NEW YORK (AP) — Attendance was up in horse racing, auto racing, football, basketball and hockey last year but down in baseball, according to the 22nd annual survey on sports attendance released Saturday by Triangle Publications, Inc. Triangle publishes The Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

The survey lists horse racing, including both thoroughbred and harness, as the country's No. 1 spectator sport for the 17th consecutive year with 68,899,989 including a record 41,517,104 for the flats, or thoroughbreds.

First String Hits Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N.M. — First horseman to arrive at Ruidoso Downs Race Track for the 23rd racing season is popular Colorado Springs trainer Jim Ricken. He arrived this week with a power-packed stable of 10 horses from Uvalde, Texas, where he completed a successful winter campaign.

He currently is conditioning at Bob Scribner's beautiful High Mesa Ranch training track at an altitude of 7,450 feet, and moves the horses to the Down's stable area today.

High Mesa Ranch, 15 miles north of Ruidoso, is about 500 feet higher altitude than Ruidoso Downs Race Track, and Ricken believes in acclimating his horses to mountain racing conditions early.

"I made the mistake of getting here late last year, and it took me longer than I had planned to get my horses in racing shape," he said. "I did have a filly up here last year who was already accustomed to the altitude, and I won five consecutive races with her."

Ricken, who does his training from a wheel chair, has trained such top performers as Fly Away Fails, Tonto Bars Girl, Michata, Sleepy Toe, and the indomitable Roma Charge.

Racing Series Opens On California Track

NEW YORK (AP) — The Sports Car Club of America's newest professional racing series, the Continental Championship for Formula A cars, opens Sunday at Riverside, Calif.

The 13 events, winding up Dec. 28 at Sebring, Fla., will pay at least $200,000 in prize money. All will be for 100 miles or more on road courses.

The cars are single-seater, open-wheeled machines similar in appearance and speed to the championship cars which race at Indianapolis and those which compete in the international Formula-1 Grand Prix events.

With few exceptions, the cars will be powered by mass-produced stock-block pushrod engines not exceeding 5 liters or 305 cubic inches. The minimum weight of the cars is 1,250 pounds.

The SCCA created the division for formula racers in 1967 with a modest five-race schedule. The cars gained immediate popularity and the series was expanded to eight events last year. The Formula A concept since has spread to Canada, Great Britain, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia.

Bisons Third At Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Bronte captured honors in the Class B Regional golf tournament here Friday with a four-man score of 312, beating runnerup Anson by 20 strokes.

Third in the campaigning was David Redwine's youthful Forsan team, which used 356 strokes.

The Buffaloes were playing without the services of senior Terry Wooten, who was involved in the regional track meet.

Charles Bailey Jr. led the Forsan team with an 87 while Marlin Medlin finished with an 88, Gary Hackler an 89, Steve Muddell a 92 and Tom Bill Kuykendall 104.

In all, 16 teams competed for the right to represent the region in the state meet.

Keith McCutchen of Bronte copped medalist honors with a one-over par 72. Par for the layout is 71.

Big Lake won in Class AA with a 307 while McLean was first in Class A with a 314.

Class B results:
1. Bronte, 312; 2. Anson, 322; 3. Forsan, 356; 4. Jovton, A, 357; 5. Metador, 364; 6. Estrella, 379; 7. Anthony, 372; 8. Amherst, Foltz, 381; 9. Lorraine, Fort Davis, 387; 10. Tornillo, 401; 11. Jayton B. Bonker, 401; 12. Grand Falls Ravalli, 407; 13. Meadow, 454.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Snyder Grid Outlook Good

By TOMMY HART

That home run hit by David McGinnis against Big Spring here the other day was Snyder's 18th in 21 games, which, no doubt, is a club record.

Coach Speedy Moffett, who is now getting around with the help of a cane after undergoing hip surgery, has some splendid talent on his Snyder team and only four of his players are seniors.

The Snyder football team is a l s o due to make a strong comeback this fall, will be much bigger than any Tiger team in years.

Coach Wayne Tyrone is making use of Green Bay's pro-type attack. Two one-time baseball standouts at Cosden, Skeet West and Horace Wallin, went into retirement recently. In his prime, West was one of the real gazelles in West Texas.

Skeet went to work at the local refinery in May, 1930. Wallin, a one-time first baseman for the TCU Horned Frogs, dates his association with Cosden from June, 1935.

When the two were feted at the local plant, an old team-mate, Logan (Mileaway) Baker, himself retired for several years, was in attendance.

Another Eddie Nelson, this one from Mineral Wells, has signed to play basketball at Howard Payne College.

The first Eddie was a Big Spring product and he set quite an example at the Brownwood school for any namesake to follow.

The Teen-Age Baseball Association here likely will undertake the job of covering the grandstand in its Hi-Junior park this year.

The project will cost about $250.

The Sophomore league grandstand already has a lid on it.

In the first half of baseball competition in District 3-AAAA, Odessa High lost five decisions by one run.

Bob Dillon, the Odessa scribe and expert on things athletic at Permian High School, recently joined the sports staff of the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

Joe DiMaggio said he never did understand, or ask, why his brother, Dom, stood sideways while playing center field for the Boston Red Sox.

The Stanton school board has hired Bill Jennings, formerly of Duncanville, as a football assistant to its new head coach, Gerald Loyd.

A coach for five seasons, Jennings once helped an ex-Stanton mentor, Leo Fields, at Kress, is a native of Santa Anna and a graduate of West Texas State.

Jerry Bethell, a Big Spring product, will coach on the junior high level at Stanton and he is already in the system.

Loyd is looking for another junior high coach after one he had hired wound up in the Army.

Phil Stovall, the Bufile's basketball mentor, is being retained.

Larry McColloch, the Odessa College cage coach, says other schools recruit athletic talent and then put them to work on summer jobs in Odessa.

He'd like OC to get the same break in its recruiting wars.

Larry also says the Wranglers quit booking senior college freshman teams because often the teams wouldn't even have a coach with them and don't book regular games.

San Angelo Central has now fielded the 100-yard dash champion in District 3-AAAA eight straight years.

John Billizon of HCJC, in school on a basketball scholarship, probably could make it big as a weight man in track if he could dedicate himself to the task.

All pole vaulters get a break May 1 when international rules are changed, making it a fair vault if the pole passes beneath the crossbar.

Joe DiMaggio's streak of hitting in 56 straight major league baseball games was named the greatest achievement in the game's history in a poll conducted by Sports Magazine among former and present players, managers, coaches and scouts.

Babe Ruth's 60-homer season and Johnny Vander Meer's feat of two consecutive no-hit games followed in that order in the balloting while Ted Williams' .406 batting average achieved in 1941 was fourth.

Big Spring's Steve Russell 'had it made' in the District 3-AAAA track meet in Odessa last week until Tom Brahaney's final throw of the day, when the Midland athlete slipped into second place with a discus throw of 149-4 1/2.

Brahaney's fling was just in bounds.

Russell, who wound up third, had delivered the saucer 147-1/2.

Montreal May Bid For Pro Grid 11

MONTREAL (AP) — The city of Montreal, flushed with its success in bringing major league baseball to Canada, now is beginning to make a pitch for pro football, American style—and, with typical French-Canadian enthusiasm, expects to get it. "At a comparable stage there is more enthusiasm here for pro football than baseball," explained Gerry Snyder, the man largely responsible for the National League granting a baseball franchise to this city of two languages. "My thoughts on pro football are mostly the same as on baseball—if the owners judge it on a business-like basis there's no way they can leave Montreal out." IT ALL HELPS Snyder, who carries the title of vice-chairman of the executive committee in Montreal's municipal government, is realistic enough to know that there are three keys to bringing American pro football to Canada—the response to two exhibition games scheduled here, continued enthusiasm for the baseball team and the building of a new stadium. The two exhibition games, which will be played in the 28,450-seat Jarry Park stadium that houses the Expos baseball team, are scheduled for August and September. "Undeniably we have brought these games in to show the interest is here," Snyder pointed out. With temporary seats we probably can increase the seating capacity to 35,000 and I would hope we would sell out. "If anything the enthusiasm for baseball has emphasized the enthusiasm for pro football. Now that we have major league baseball, everybody's asking when do we get major league football? I was asked that several times at the baseball opener. "I got the definite feeling when I spoke to the pro football people that Montreal would certainly be considered. Outside of Seattle, what is there left among the big United States cities to compare with Montreal's 2½ million population?" Among the cities mentioned at various times as interested in obtaining a pro football franchise, besides Seattle, have been Birmingham, Ala., Memphis, Tenn., Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., Phoenix, Ariz. and Honolulu. Montreal has an edge in that it can use major league baseball as a wedge if the sport is successful here because that will be a measuring stick that only Seattle also can provide. "If we have a good year at the gate—and I think we can draw 12 million," Snyder said, "then I think the pro football people will realize the fans will spend the money. "If baseball draws well, then heck, you know football will. If we can support 81 baseball games we can support seven football games. While you can't expect people to get to a baseball game every day, guys will drive 100 miles for a football game on Sunday." STADIUM THE ISSUE So, if the exhibition games do well—which might be expected—and the baseball teams draw well—which everyone thinks will be the case—the critical issue will be the stadium. And that in the scheme of things, says Snyder, is a relatively small problem. "No city can really afford to build a stadium, and afford is the key word," Snyder explained. "But a city can justify building a stadium. There's no way a city can build a stadium only for football. But you can justify building it if you have 81 dates filled by another sport, which we have because of baseball." What form the stadium takes will be determined in June, 1970, when a decision is reached on the awarding of the 1973 Olympics for which this sports-minded city also is bidding. Snyder emphasizes that whether or not the city gets the Olympics is not a determining factor; that plans have been held up to await the decision so that if Montreal is successful in its bid the new stadium will be able to serve that master too. "As of June, 1970, then we can set before the pro football people a schedule for building a stadium," Snyder said, "and from there it stands to reason we're going to move quickly. The sooner we build it the sooner we can accommodate baseball and pro football." As for two other problems—the existence of a Canadian football franchise in Montreal and obtaining backers for an American pro football franchise—Snyder feels those problems can be settled without too much fuss.

Irving Shatters T-Bird Record

HOBBS, N.M. — Two Arizona schools and New Mexico JC dominated the annual Thunderbird Relays here Friday night, Mesa finishing ahead of the field with 91 points.

New Mexico was second with 66 points, followed by Phoenix, with 41; and Howard County JC, which wound up with 12.

The Hawks probably would have done better had not coach Jerry Dudley been forced to scratch his team from the mile relay.

Howard County's lone first place came in the 880-yard run, where James Irving, a freshman from Amarillo, set a new record with a 1:54.3 clocking. Irving had once run the two laps in his high school in 1:54.8 while his previous best time in college was 1:55.8.

William Fogle of the Jayhawks wound up fourth in the open quarter with a 48.5 effort and fifth in the 220, at which time he was timed in 21.8. He had run the furlong in 21.7 in the prelims. Fogle developed a slight strain in one leg after the 220, after which Dudley took his mile relay team out of contention. Frank Clark picked up Howard County's other points by placing fifth in the mile in 4:29.4. John Schiebel of the Hawks ran a 50.1 quarter but didn't qualify. Records fell in the shot put, broad jump, javelin, sprint relay, mile run, 440-yard run, 440-yard intermediate hurdles, triple jump, two-mile run, mile relay and pole vault. Dudley takes his HC team back to Hobbs Friday night for a triangular with Odessa and

Haskins Changes Mind About Job

DETROIT (AP)—Don Haskins resigned as head basketball coach of the University of Detroit only three days after agreeing to take the post, university officials reported today. Haskins, 35-year-old coach at the University of Texas at El Paso, said in a telephone statement that "I made my decision too quickly. I have decided that I cannot accept the job at the U-D because my family is very upset at the thought of moving and I cannot do this to them."

Northern Pike In Lake Waters

Sportsmen could be in for a new kind of fishing adventure at Lake J. B. Thomas.

More than 400,000 Northern Pike have been delivered to the lake, said R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Until a few years ago it was assumed that the pike could not exist outside of northern waters, but lakes in North Texas have experienced remarkable results with the fighting game fish.

Schooling said a good part of the young fish were put in the brood ponds to give them a chance for more substantial growth before introducing them to the lake in the meantime. It is hoped the spring rains will increase the level of the lake which has received no substantial runoff in more than a year.

Tigers To Play In Cee City

Deprived of the chance to open their season last week due to wet grounds, the Big Spring Tigers venture to Colorado City this afternoon for a single game with the Colorado City Lobos.

The Bengals, who are managed by Tom Arista Sr., were to have met Piedras Negras last week in Steer Park.

Celtics Win Over Knicks

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, written off as tired old men just a short time ago, are back in familiar surroundings—the title round of the National Basketball Association playoffs. Acting like the old pros they are, the Celtics won the Eastern Division playoff for the 12th time in 13 years by hanging on for a 106-105 victory over the New York Knicks Friday night in steamy Boston Garden.

The Celtics, who have won the NBA championship 10 times since Player-Coach Bill Russell entered the league and became a defensive genius 13 years ago, managed only one victory in seven starts against New York during the regular season.

Boston finished fourth in the East and the cry went up: "The Celtics are dead." But the Celtics were playing possum in their own way, aiming for the playoffs.

After finishing off Philadelphia in the Eastern semifinals, the Celtics whipped the mighty Knicks 4-2 in the best-of-seven finals. Now Boston will mark time while Los Angeles battles Atlanta in the Western Division. Los Angeles can wrap up the series in the fifth game Sunday.

Baby Fishing Gear, Expert Recommends

NEW YORK (AP) — Are your lines and tackle ready?

Boatmen spend several weeks getting their craft in shape. Hunters polish and clean their guns diligently. But fishermen usually aren't that dedicated.

But don't fret. Here are some quick and easy suggestions from Dick Wolff, an angler of note who also is vice-president of The Garcia Corporation, world's largest fishing tackle company.

Wolff suggests sending the wife and children to the movies for an evening so that the house is yours alone. Put the tea kettle on to boil water. Start with the rods. Get at them with soap and water.

scrubbing with a toothbrush. Then rinse the rods in clear water and let them dry while you work on the reels. Later, come back and grease the reels for easy fitting and to prevent rust and corrosion.

Lubricate and check the operation of every reel. Especially check the drag tensions. Now check the lines, cutting off the first six feet of each to avoid worn spots. Run out as much line as possible to test both the line and the tension settings. By doing this you also will eliminate many of the sets and bends in the line.

Now with a damp cloth, remove accumulated dirt and debris from the line and reel back in.

Next, empty your tackle box. While the wife still is at the movies, use her hand vacuum cleaner to get the inside of the box really clean, then wipe it with an oily cloth.

Toss away all the stuff that you are not going to use—the lures that didn't catch fish last summer, the knife with the broken blade and the rusty can opener.

Inspect your hooks with a small magnifying glass (a handy thing to have in your box all year) for rust. Rusty hooks lose fish but can be brought back to virtual newness with a hook hone. When you are finished, and if the family hasn't returned from the movie, use the wife's hair spray on the hooks as a protection against rusting.

If you use flies and the tea kettle still is boiling, steam the flies and massage lightly. They'll snap back to store-newness in minutes.

Put your hooks in a glass jar, the kind in which you buy instant coffee and screw on the top as another protection against rust. Check the battery in your flashlight. Replenish your first aid kit and tuck all the paraphernalia back in the tackle box.

Permian Wins In Regional

ODESSA — Odessa Permian coasted to a four-stroke win in the regional golf playoffs here Friday. The Panthers posted an aggregate score of 622.

El Paso Coronado was the nearest contender with a 626, while third place went to Abilene Cooper with a 36 hole total of 629.

Four strokes back of the Cougars was Lubbock Monterey with a 633. Amarillo Tascosa fell in behind Monterey at 652 while El Paso Burgess copped sixth with a two round total of 677 and El Paso Ysleta finished last with a 682.

Mark Timberlake of El Paso finished with a 147 to cop the medalist honors.

In the AAA competition the Snyder Tigers, with a 638, walked off with the team title, 15 strokes in front of Andrews.

Jay Kidd of Snyder was the medalist of that division, shooting a 152.

Permian won despite the fact that its lowest scorer, Scott Stegner, was disqualified for practicing on the course after the deadline. Stegner had a

Collectors Dig Daily For Golden 'Bob Wire' In Texas

PRICES RANGE UP TO $100 FOR AN 18-INCH STRIP

Editor's Note: Barbed wire — "bob wire" in parts of West Texas — was one of the great influences in turning the West. That some wire today is extremely valuable as a collector's item.

AMARILLO (AP) — There may be no gold in the Texas Panhandle but some people are digging up metal that sells for about as much.

The valuable mineral already is smelted and processed and is nothing more than barbed wire, the metal that did as much as anything to tame the West.

NOV-RARE

Not the current kind that can get you sent to jail if you're found cutting it. It is the old sorts generally strung before and for a short time after the beginning of the 20th Century.

Orville Howard, farm and ranch editor of the Amarillo News-Globe, reports that hundreds of collectors dig daily along buried ranch boundaries in search of the now-rare kinds of wire.

Depending on the quality and rareness, barbed wire prices suitable for collectors range up to $100 for an 18-inch strip, the usual length sought by collectors.

Howard relates that collectors who once snipped a small piece for their hobby now hoard the strips.

Collectors are not above snipping a piece in current use, but most ask permission of the landowners who, because of their land ownership, also possessed the old barbed wire.

HIRE AIRPLANES

These same collectors have gone up in airplanes so they can recognize old, abandoned fence lines that are not prominent enough to be seen from the ground. These buried fence lines can contain old barbed wire.

There now are several associations of barbed wire addicts and several newsletters, magazines and books on the subject.

Barbed wire may look all the same to the unobservant but there have been more than 100 kinds patented since the first was approved by the Patent Office in 1867. A considerable amount of wire was manufactured before that.

Fights over patents and other matters between the wire developers and manufacturers went on for years.

Nothing was as effective as barbed wire in keeping cattle on their range. Smooth wire, log fences and stone fences either were too expensive or ineffective. And in vast areas of western Texas, no native material was available.

CURBED RAIDS

Barbed wire ended the open range and sharply curbed Indian raiders. It helped tame the West and virtually ended the long cattle drives from southern Texas to northern markets.

Wire did not become established without a fight and wire cutting was so common that ranchers placed explosives that would erupt when a wire was cut.

The end of widespread wire cutting came when specific laws were passed to prevent it and these laws were enforced rigidly.

The worst setback to fencing came not long after they became prevalent in West Texas. Thousands of cattle died when they drifted against the fences in a severe blizzard and perished. It set off a great outcry against fencing the range.

So profitable was wire manufacturing that bootleggers copied the successful styles. These bootleg products now are among the most valuable for the collector.

NOT SO

Howard said the most barbed wire to be strung on one spread is believed that on the Panhandle's famed XIT Ranch. Cowboys built about 1,500 miles of fence around a 10-county area.

By now it would appear that all the fences that can be built have been built. But not so.

Howard's research showed that in 1966, last year figures are available, 902,000 miles of wire were manufactured—enough to build a three-strand fence from Texas to the moon, or enough to circle the earth 36 times.

His Millions Tied Up By Uncle Sam

By RICHARD P. SPRATLING
Associated Press Writer

RENO, Nev. (AP) — In a mansion high on a forested hillside, a tough, proud man talks of a mineral empire and wonders how to pay household bills.

Charlie Steen, the man who discovered a $61-million uranium deposit in the Utah canyons in 1952, is facing bankruptcy action.

NO CASH

Creditors claim he owes them $6 million. But he has no cash. By his own estimate he's worth $19 million. But his assets are mostly in the ground, waiting to be pumped or mined, and the Internal Revenue Service has them frozen there because it says he owes the government $1.6 million.

The Steen establishment—house is not an adequate word—commands a hillside view over the Washoe Valley south of Reno. Five pagoda-style spires poke above the pines. The doors are giant slabs of marble.

LIBEL SUIT

He's filed a $5-million libel suit against one group. "I'm going to survive. After that, I'm going to get even." There is little subtlety. An old friend recalls: "If Charlie liked you, the sky was the limit. If he didn't—forget it."

Now 49, Steen comes on at first like a quiet high school biology teacher—5-foot-9, balding, bespectacled. He wears old trousers and a wrinkled western shirt.

But he soon jars the image. Steen does not just offer a morning cup of coffee; he rips through a kitchen cabinet, snapping: "Can't find the damned coffee. Can't find anything," and storms off to ask Minnie Lee where it is.

In 1952, Minnie Lee was cooking rabbit and deer meat for their four young sons while Steen drummed up money for prospecting in the desolate, red-rock canyons of southern Utah. They lived in a two-room shack with outdoor plumbing.

Steen owed money to the grocery store and anyone else who would lend a loan.

BLACKLISTED

Trained in geology at the Texas College of Mines, Steen had bounced between jobs spending much of his time in oil exploration. He married, lasted two years with the Standard Oil and Gas Co. in southwest Texas. Then "I was fired for insubordination and blacklisted." Uranium called, and Steen hauled his family to the Utah hamlet of Cisco. The tarpaner shack was a bargain at $15 a month when

NO 'PAYDAY'

His staff of five servants was dwindled to a girl who works part time. His ranch manager went 14 months without a payday.

Guests can still breakfast at noon, in a formal dining room where a marble floor bridges a garden-frosted pool. But now Mrs. Steen does the cooking.

"It's frustrating as hell," says wife Minnie Lee. "We had everything. We could go to Africa or South America on a day's notice. Now we don't have enough to run the house. We do without a lot."

Steen appealed the IRS action but it triggered a flood of worried creditors and the case went to federal bankruptcy court.

Referee Russell Taylor held hearings in January and has ordered more. He has said he will give Steen considerable freedom to work needed deals.

Steen maintains he is being conspired against by people trying to cheat him of his fortune, that some are trying to portray him as irresponsible and not worth what he claims he is.

they found it in April, 1952.

Four months of prowling dry canyons turned up nothing. But Steen was convinced uranium lay beneath a big butte that other prospectors had passed by. He got a used drill and started boring for the yellow ore.

All the drill sent up was gray-black rock.

BINGO

One day the drill broke down, and on his way to get repair gear, Steen jokingly put one of his gray core samples next to a friend's Geiger counter.

Bingo. The gray rock was a massive deposit of the rich ore uranium. Steen guessed his find at $1 million, but underestimated by about $60 million. It was the country's biggest uranium strike and he called it Mi Vida—"My Life." He was 32.

The Steens enjoyed instant wealth—built a mansion in the boom town of Moab, threw frequent parties, flew friends around the hemisphere in a private air fleet, converted a British naval vessel to a yacht.

Steen won election to the Utah Senate and in 1961 tried to push a liquor-by-the-drink bill through a legislature dominated by the teetotaling Mormon Church.

SUPPORT DRIED UP

"I received a letter from someone who opposed my views," Steen says. "And she said: 'If you don't like to live in this state, why don't you go to Nevada?'"

"I took her advice. I resigned from the Utah Senate and drove all night, so if I died that night I would die in Nevada rather than Utah."

By 1962, Steen was expanding his business empire. Mi Vida was sold; Steen's share was $12 million.

BIG TROUBLE

With complex interests in oil and mining, Steen decided to diversify into "safer" businesses. He diversified into big trouble.

"When I got out of my field, and have to depend on others," he testified, "I'm a total flop."

Steen said he lost nearly $4 million on an aircraft company, more millions on a cattle ranch, and orange grove, a flying service, even a gourmet pickle made from a friend's Yugoslav recipe. The pickle, Steen says, was "wonderful," but lost $200,000.

By 1966, Steen had had enough of "safe" businesses, and "I got rid of the losers." He obtained a financial adviser, R. C. Thomas, and decided to stick to mining. But his money cushion was gone. His assets were tied to the ground and he needed cash to prime the operation. Loans fell through, an eight-month copper strike crippled some of his mining.

DEMOCRATIC GOD

King Of Tibet

By JAMES M. MARKHAM
Associated Press Writer

DHARAMSALA, India (AP) — His Holiness Tenzin Gyatsho, the 14th Dalai Lama, leader of the Tibetan people in exile, gave a soft, interior chuckle, a sign that a joke was coming.

"Some people say I'm a Communist," he said in Tibetan, using the English word "Communist." His young aide translated.

"I don't care as long as I'm right," the Dalai Lama added, with a relaxed downward swing of his clean-shaven head.

The small joke had a point. For ever since fleeing Communist Chinese-conquered Tibet 10 years ago, the Dalai Lama—formerly the undisputed theocratic ruler of his country—has evolved into a democrat.

FREEDOM

Six years ago the young leader gave his people a democratic constitution, for the day that Tibet becomes free. But the Dalai Lama retained powerful executive authority and was entitled "The Spiritual Head of the State."

Now, the 34-year-old "god king" has decided that all Tibetans must determine whether they want "the system of governance by the line of Dalai Lamas" to continue when and if they wrest their independence from the Chinese.

"After the 14th Dalai Lama dies, another selection may not be made," His Holiness observed, almost casually, in an

FRIENDLY POWER

He expresses an almost religious certainty that Tibet eventually will regain its freedom, though he admits "it is difficult to see how this will come about."

As a Buddhist monk the Dalai Lama does not condone the use of violence; as a realist he admits that no "friendly power" is likely to chase the Chinese off the "roof of the world."

The Dalai Lama, who rises at 4 or 5 a.m., devotes about six hours a day to his various temporal responsibilities.

But he spends another five hours in meditation, reading and study. He plunges eagerly into books on astronomy and gardening—in English, a language he understands well but speaks rarely.

Indian plain-clothes policemen, revolvers bulging under their ill-fitting suits, prowled around the Dalai Lama's compound and follow His Holiness whenever he leaves it. Visitors are searched before entering the residence.

He is patently unconcerned with the possible grandeur of his title and position.

"This name is just a name—the Dalai Lama," he emphasized. "By having this name I don't become taller or stronger or richer."

Push-Button Traffic To Help Motorists

EDITOR'S NOTE: Frustrated motorists take heart. Help is on the way. With traffic congestion reaching staggering proportions, computers are being pushed into the picture. They haven't solved the nation's traffic ills yet but they're working on it and this is only the beginning.

By MIKE COCHRAN
By The Associated Press

Confronted with massive congestion, cities are begging computers to help speed motorists over streets and expressways.

Experiments in a handful of cities have produced a variety of results—mostly modest to impressive.

It's encouraging enough that the U.S. Department of Transportation has jumped on the computer bandwagon, earmarking $200 million in fiscal 1970 to help find cures for the nation's traffic ills.

While not all for computerization, the funds are designed largely for major innovations in traffic control. Computers head the list.

With a $600,000 outlay, the department vowed to give Washington, D.C., "the most modern and effective motor vehicle control system in the world."

Cynics, however, can point to New York City where a veteran traffic commissioner says an elaborate computerized attempt there turned out to be an "engineering fiasco."

The computer concept in New York was not actually abandoned, just redirected.

Among the pioneering cities with computer experiments are San Jose, Calif.; Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Chicago, Detroit and three Texas cities—Wichita Falls, Houston and Austin.

A new, updated system is going in at Dallas. A sophisticated system is in the works in Los Angeles. Others such as Portland, Ore., are turning to computers.

With variations, each uses traffic sensing devices to measure moving or waiting vehicles at critical locations. Information is sped to computers and their vast store of data on local conditions. The computers tell the signals how much "green time" should be flashed in each direction to optimize traffic flow.

"The computer is without a doubt the best tool available today and for the foreseeable future to help solve problems posed by our congested transportation systems," says Ozzie Berman, program manager for International Business Machines in Washington.

"Computers aren't a panacea for our traffic problems but they are beginning to bring us closer to goals that the public and traffic engineers share.

"These include reducing trip delays and vehicle operating costs, improving safety, and, perhaps more important, helping to build a body of knowledge for improved transportation systems of tomorrow."

Despite the cost, which varies widely, the cities that have plunged ahead proclaim at least limited success.

At Houston, the Texas Transportation Institute (TTI) uses closed circuit television and a computer to reduce traffic jams along a 6.5-mile inbound stretch of the Gulf Freeway.

"We're working toward a completely automatic control system which will eliminate the television and monitor all traffic electronically," says Dr. Johann Buhr, a research engineer.

"Ultimately the computer will help us pinpoint accidents, predict the traffic stack-up rate and control signals to warn and guide motorists."

Buhr said the process of controlling access to the freeway—known as ramp metering—has resulted in "smoother traffic flow, less stop-and-go driving and a reduction of the accident rate."

Since ramp metering started, he said, traffic volume has increased 10 per cent yet speeds have gone up 30 per cent and rush hour accidents have been cut nearly in half.

Sensing devices located at intervals along the right-hand freeway lane detect gaps in traffic during peak hours and relay the information to the computer.

"When a traffic gap is detected, the computer turns an on-ramp traffic light green so that a motorist reacting in an average manner will reach the freeway at the right time to merge into the gap," Buhr said.

Via television, accidents and other problems affecting traffic flow can be spotted as they occur and police units dispatched as needed.

Researchers at TTI, an engineering arm of Texas A&M University, reported in January that "the annual peak period savings in travel time and accidents due to control is evaluated at about $262,000."

Houston uses an IBM 1800 computer as do Wichita Falls, Austin, San Jose and Detroit. Chicago uses General Electric and Fort Lauderdale a special purpose computer built by Fisher & Porter Co.

The Detroit and Chicago systems are similar to Houston's. A four-mile northbound stretch of John Lodge Freeway in Detroit is monitored during rush hours. A three-mile strip on Chicago's Eisenhower Expressway is under computerized surveillance.

"The basic objective of the research is to distribute the traffic among the freeways and local arterial streets," says Anthony Freed, traffic research engineer for the Detroit Department of Streets and Traffic.

"It is designed to help encourage drivers to use other routes which are not used to capacity while the freeway is overloaded.

"Ramp metering is considered a useful tool, despite the fact that some people caught on the ramp might dispute this."

Traffic engineers at Wichita Falls, a city of more than 100, 000, say, since the computer was installed, traffic accidents have decreased by 9 per cent while the time waiting for green lights was cut 45 per cent.

Measuring devices buried in the pavement transmit traffic information instantly to the IBM data acquisition and control system which automatically synchronizes traffic lights at 77 intersections.

At Austin, a similar system controls 42 signal lights in the University of Texas area, the first step in a five-year computerized traffic control system.

John Hudson, associate director of traffic and transportation at Austin, says the system has made "tremendous improvements."

"The main advantage that the people have felt," he said, "is being able to travel at a faster and more continuous speed especially during heavy traffic hours in the morning and late afternoon."

"Speed has increased about 10 miles an hour and the number of times you have to stop has decreased. As a result, there have been fewer accidents."

San Jose, a city of some 400,000, contends its "computerized cop" saves motorists $264,000 in travel time annually.

Some 60 signal lights in a 25-block downtown area are computer controlled.

"Our computer is making hundreds of thousands of decisions," said Gene Mahoney, project engineer. "You can't run a system like this with people. They can't react fast enough."

Fort Lauderdale uses a computer that has been essentially limited to inbound-outbound traffic counts, yet has one unique feature.

Twenty-eight lighted, overhead signs, linked by computer to the stoplights, automatically display the speed for which the signals are set.

And so across the country, and in Toronto and London, the computerized war on traffic congestion continues. But, as the publication, Nation's Cities, reports:

"The day when we can drive our car onto a completely automated roadway, take our hands off the controls and turn around to chat, play cards or watch television remains somewhere in the hazy future.

"But great strides are being made by traffic engineers to make the driver's trip easier, more pleasant and safer. New concepts in traffic control and new understanding of human behavior are making these advances possible."

Legislature Is Marked By Coming To Grips With 'Whiz' Issue

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — In six weeks and a day, the 61st legislature's regular session will be history. What has it left undone? What are its prospects? It will go on the books as the session that finally came to grips with the highly emotional liquor by the drink issue by leaving it up to the people themselves. It won't be remembered — so it seems thus far — for any flaming oratory. And it seems at this stage in the game that it won't be remembered for any revolutionary acts to alter the course of education or remedy major social problems. TRIVIAL BILLS Many fear, too, that it may be recalled as one of those sessions where lawmakers backed themselves into a return trip to Austin in the summer because they failed in 140 days to take care of the basic needs of state government — appropriations and taxes. Trivial legislation — the kind that may mean a lot to local folks who want a hospital district or a special game law has little statewide impact — has been passed in droves. But major bills of statewide import have moved slowly. Insiders predict the closing days of the session will be wild. With little time for analysis or debate, numerous bills will whiz through, with legislators accepting on faith the sponsors' descriptions of what they do. Most of the important measures to complete their journeys through both the House and Senate have been proposed constitutional amendments. Seven of the nine measures on the Aug. 3 special election ballot were approved by the legislature only this past week. PAY PROPOSALS Among them are proposals allowing legislative salaries as high as $18,000 a year, boosting the public welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million a year, providing enough state bonds to pay for Texas' estimated $3.5 billion share of the statewide water plan and cleaning out a lot of "deadwood" in the state constitution. One of the most important, if not the most important, issues of the session is education, but legislative rules will hold off floor action until late in the session, possibly as late as May 14. Most bills to upgrade the schools cost money. No expenditure can be considered in the first 120 days of the session, unless the general appropriations bill has been finally passed and the comptroller says it balanced with expected revenue.

Paris Peace Talks Due To Stand Still

PARIS (AP) — There is widespread belief here that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front are re-examining their strategy and that the Vietnam peace talks will remain at a standstill until their study is concluded.

This belief appears to be supported by a number of factors, including what has been generally interpreted as stalling and indecisiveness on the part of the North Vietnamese and the front representatives.

It also is bolstered by the departure of the front's deputy chief delegate, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, on her "mission to Moscow" and certain other capitals, presumably including Peking. She will proceed to Hanoi after these consultations.

Added to these factors is the continued absence of North Vietnam's policy coordinator Le Duc Tho. He has been in Hanoi since the beginning of the February offensive. The belief here is that he will return to Paris when and if Hanoi is ready to unveil any important shift of strategy.

There is no indication how long the consultations in Hanoi will continue. Observers at the peace talks, however, are agreed that such a shift offers the best hope for breaking the deadlock, whether through the formal sessions or through private discussions.

U.S. and South Vietnamese analysts believe the enemy is being hurt in world public opinion by its tough political line and its stepped-up military operations in the face of the allied peace offensive.

CONTRAST This conviction has been reflected both in the statements made by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Pham Dang Lam, South Vietnam's representative, at the peace talks and by conciliatory moves in Washington and Saigon.

In last Thursday's session, Lodge and Lam stressed their own peace efforts in contrast with the apparent policy of the other side to continue efforts for a military victory. Their arguments against further intense fighting seemed to be aimed at the reported Hanoi consultations.

Negro, White Pupils Clash At Cornell U.

Negro and white students clashed briefly at Cornell University Saturday, after members of the Cornell Afro-American Society seized the school's student center on Parents' Weekend.

At the Atlanta University Center, members of the school's board of trustees were released after nearly 29 hours behind chained doors, where they were held by students at the predominantly Negro, six-college complex.

Protest movements on several other major college campuses, including Harvard and Stanford universities, were dormant at the weekend.

The occupation of the building at Cornell was the first at the 400-acre Ivy League campus on the shores of Cayuga Lake at Ithaca, N.Y. Several thousand persons were on the rolling campus for the Parents' Weekend activities.

Shortly after dawn, about 40 Negro students took over Willard Straight Hall. About four hours later, a dozen white students smashed a window and climbed through, into the building.

A scuffle broke out, but campus guards broke it up and ejected the whites. Cornell said three white students and a Negro suffered minor injuries.

The demonstrators evicted parents and 40 employees from the center. The Negro students said they were protesting what they called Cornell's "racist attitudes," the lack of a relevant Negro studies program and reparations to three Negro students for a demonstration last December.

In Atlanta, Ga., there was no immediate comment from the trustees or the students after release of the board, but the students appeared jubilant.

First Graders Roundup Date

Parents of all youngsters who will be entering the Big Spring schools as first graders this September are advised that the annual spring roundup of such youngsters is to be held next Friday. The roundup will be in all of the elementary schools. It will vary as to the hours but announcements of each school's time schedule will be made soon.

The roundup concerns all children who will be six years old or before Sept. 1 and it is most important that they be brought to the school where they are to attend first grade on roundup day.

While the parents are pre-registering their youngsters, the children will be given a brief orientation program on the schools and its premises. It has been shown that these visits do much to alleviate nervousness on the part of the children when school actually opens.

Sen. Kennard Is Governor For-A-Day

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth was governor for a day Saturday and 1,500 Fort Worth and Tarrant County people came to Austin to help him celebrate.

Western paintings hung in the capitol rotunda, temporarily replacing a line of ancient portraits of former governors. And a Western band entertained several thousands on the Capitol's northeast lawn while they ate barbecue and beans prepared by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang.

As Senate president pro tempore, or assistant presiding officer, Kennard becomes governor in the absence of the lieutenant governor.

In one of the few serious moments of the day, Kennard told a news conference that the state's $75 million parks bond program was a failure. He distributed copies of a 49-page report prepared by his Senate interim committee on parks and recreation as proof.

"In the pride about the $75 million bond program for the state parks, we forget that it cannot meet even the needs of our present basic program," Kennard said. "It was designed, in its very size to meet only two-thirds of those needs, the rest is up to the legislature."

Furthermore, we had better face it: the bond program has not worked. As of Feb. 24, 1969, only $5.75 million worth of the $75 million worth of state parks bonds had been sold.

The committee report said that "we can report already in a strong, clear, united voice that we must wake up now or priceless opportunities will be lost to us forever. Areas that all our people should be able to enjoy as long as life goes on will either be spoiled or priced out of reach... now, now is the time to act."

Floating Oil, Failing Dikes Jack Losses

Failing dikes and floating oil heightened the hazards at one critical point Saturday while losses mounted on the midwestern flood front.

Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, who visited some flood areas, said the loss in his home state is estimated at about $100 million. Civil Defense officials have said damage in Minnesota should be about $5 million and should total around $19 million in South Dakota and $7 million in North Dakota.

The Souris River kept rising in Minot, N.D. Many privately owned dikes were broken during the night but the public dikes held.

Twenty-nine service stations in Minot have been closed. Officials said considerable gasoline and oil from the stations and from abandoned automobiles was floating in the flood waters.

As the snowmelt moved downstream, much attention shifted to the Mississippi River. National Guardsmen were assigned to patrol dikes in the Dubuque and Clinton areas in Iowa.

The Weather Bureau predicted the Mississippi would crest in La Crosse, Wis., Sunday at 16 feet, instead of 16.7 feet as predicted previously. The 16 feet level would be 2 feet below the rim of the dikes.

The bridge which carries U.S. 18 across the Mississippi at Prairie du Chien, Wis., still was open Saturday, but water trickled across part of the approaches. Clem Mara, public works director, said damage at Prairie du Chien could add up to $100,000.

Maj. Gen. Frederick J. Clarke, deputy chief of U.S. Army Engineers, planned to fly to Clinton, Iowa, Sunday to check on preparations there and in Fulton, Ill., across the Mississippi.

The Rock Island district of the Army engineers' flood control center in Rock Island, Ill., started operating around the clock.

Pal Of LBJ Quits As STSC President, Issues Defense

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. James M. McCrocklin, former under-secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and a close friend of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, resigned Saturday as president of Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos.

The resignation was accepted at an unscheduled meeting of regents of state senior colleges Saturday in Dallas, then announced later by the regents' office in Austin.

Dr. Leland Derrick was named acting president of Southwest Texas State and the Regents invited application from those who want to be the next president of the school, Johnson's alma mater.

With the announcement, the regents issued a long statement from McCrocklin devoted mostly to the long controversy over his doctoral dissertation that led to his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Texas.

IDENTICAL DATA A group of 10 professors at Southwest Texas State have charged that 40 per cent of the sentences in McCrocklin's 456-page dissertation are identical with a 1934 Marine Corps document on American intervention in Haiti in 1914-34. Another 16 per cent of the dissertation varies by only a few words, the professors have said.

McCrocklin asked in March that a hearing by a UT-Austin graduate study faculty committee be delayed until early May, the date when McCrocklin's contract came before the senior colleges regents for possible renewal.

Action on the contract was postponed in February.

McCrocklin's statement Saturday asserted that the "same destructive elements found nationwide which seeks to destroy and discredit any institution of higher learning" have centered a personal attack on him.

"Fifteen years after my dissertation was approved, 10 years after it was first questioned and 35 years after the Marine Corps files on which I must be judged were finally closed, I am called upon to defend myself by recourse to scattered documents and memoirs dimmed by the ravages of age and passage of time," McCrocklin said.

"I had hopes to find the files intact and positive proof easily available to bring this matter to an early conclusion. To my dismay after going to Washington this past month to obtain these records, I find that the necessary files are no longer available in a central location, if in fact they are available at all.

ON THE PANEL

"I have regretfully but irrevocably come to the decision that I must resign for the good of this great institution and in order that I may devote my full time and efforts to dispelling the false smear upon my personal integrity, the quality of a degree from the University of Texas and upon this great institution."

The regents' announcement said it has "unanimously accepted his resignation with regret."

McCrocklin's statement made no reference to the Master of Arts thesis written by his wife at Texas A&I at Kingsville on the same subject as his dissertation. The protesting professors at Southwest Texas State said 51 per cent of her sentences were identical with sentences in her husband's work. Another 10 per cent had a variation of only a few words, the professors said.

McCrocklin served on a three-man panel that approved his wife's thesis.

Strike Halts Rail Service

ROME (AP) — More than a million civil servants went on strike across Italy today, halting the state-run railroad, closing schools, holding up mail deliveries and delaying the weekly lottery draw.

Nearly all train runs stopped this morning for the 24-hour work boycott called by unions to demand wage hikes and job classification improvements for civil servants.

The government set up emergency rail service on the most important lines and also put on extra buses.

Except for travelers, most Italians appeared unaffected by the strike because it came on a weekend. But the disruption in the national lottery draw disappointed many.

Millions of Italians bet in the lottery and anxiously await the results normally broadcast every Saturday.

The walkout of telephone service employees affected only some long-distance calls and striking teachers closed down only elementary schools.

The walkout also involved court personnel, but Saturday ordinarily is a slow day in the Italian judicial system.

Seven Killed In Big Smash

GEORGETOWN, Ill. (AP) — Two passenger cars collided on Illinois 1 south of Georgetown Saturday killing all seven occupants.

Authorities identified the dead as Charles A. Wells Jr., 21, driver of one of the cars, his passenger, Terry A. Ermilio, 22, Greg H. Doman, 19, Robert Meadows, 18, and Rudi Wobbe, 21, all of Chicago; the driver of the other car, Mrs. Roberta Wise, and her son, Ron, 15, of Olivet.

Fina Chief Visits

Jacques Meens, vice president and deputy chairman of Petrofina, S.A., Brussels, Belgium, made a brief inspection tour of Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's new crude unit and other additions to the plant here. He was conducted on the tour here Saturday by Paul Meek, president of Cosden.

Dazzling Display Of Cars In Dealer Show Saturday

Getting your dreams about a sleek new car into positive action? If you're a normal American, you are, at this season of outdoors and vacation trips.

People in this area have an opportunity to see first-hand the many wonderful 1969 new cars, in the annual Auto Show to be staged next Saturday.

This display will be on the high school parking lot (east of Steer gym and between Tenth Street and Eleventh Place.) and will run from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

All local new car dealers are cooperating in the show, and will have scores of models available for thorough and leisurely inspection. Visitors may register, without obligation, for a color television set, which will be given away free. Registration is for persons 21 years of age and older.

A refreshment stand will be operated during the day by the Band Boosters Club, with any profits going to help support band activities.

Dealers joining in the show are Bob Brock Ford & Lincoln-Mercury, Farris Pontiac, Jack Lewis Buick & Cadillac, Pollard Chevrolet, Dewey Ray Chrysler and Plymouth, Shroyer Oldsmobile, and Barney Toland Volkswagen.

The Herald and the First National Bank are joining the auto dealers as co-sponsors.

Test Pilot Will Address AFA

A test pilot with the aircraft manufacturing firm of Ling-Temco-Vought will be speaker at the quarterly meeting of the local Air Force Association. He will discuss the company's Corsair Second Fighter, and show films on the plane's capabilities.

The AFA session is slated April 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the Webb AFB Officers Club.

Nobody Can Be Perfect

LUTON, England (AP) — Sir Francis Cassel, a baronet who aspired to be a concert pianist, died Friday at 56.

Every year he hired the 3,000-seat Albert Hall in London to give a recital. It cost him $600 each time and some acid reviews.

FIVE STAR READING

Writing to a friend, Dwight D. Eisenhower once mentioned Winston Churchill, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee as great men, and then went on to establish his own scale for weighing greatness.

"It embraced," as Relman Morin writes in his new biography, EISENHOWER: A GAUGE OF GREATNESS, "the qualities of vision, integrity, courage, understanding, and the ability to communicate."

You will be interested in Morin's judgment on how Eisenhower measured up to the high standards that he himself set. This is just one of the insights that Morin, a two-time Pulitzer prize winner, supplies into unknown and little known aspects of the life of the war time commander and peace time president.

For your copy of this first complete biography of Eisenhower (264 pages, 8 1/2 by 11 inches, 140,000 words, over 85 illustrations in black and white and color) fill out the coupon below at once and mail to the address given. The special price through this newspaper is only $3.

You say you've got New Car Fever?

THIS 1929 CHEVROLET sports coupe has provided lots of fun, and a little transportation, for Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Turney and their sons, Jeffrey and Jay Lane. The car which has shiny black fenders and an olive body, was mostly restored when the Turneys purchased it two years ago. They have two other show cars.

MOTORING IN HIGH STYLE is this group who can wave at friends from their 1927 Packard seven-passenger sedan. Mr. and Mrs. James Banks, right, and J. T. Boney, left, are co-owners of the car. The Banks' youngsters are Russell, Toya and Jake. Blue body and black fenders make this classy chassis a show piece.

SUNDAY IN THE PARK for the John Andersons and son, John Jr., involves a short drive in their 1928 Model A Ford sedan. This is the first antique car the Andersons have owned and they have been responsible for most of the restoration. The car has a new coat of paint in its original color, "Vagabond Green."

by the Cooks. Mrs. Kessler and her husband, a captain at Webb Air Force Base, also own an antique car which they have restored to some of its original beauty.

WHAT THE AFFLUENT FAMILY preferred in 1934 is this Master Chevrolet sedan owned by Mr. and Mrs. Rogell Crawford and their sons, Mark and Neil. Costumes of the era blend with the elegant car which has a cocoa brown body and black running board and fenders. The Crawfords own another car, a 1947 Plymouth, which is in the classic model category.

WEEKEND WANDERERS are Mr. and Mrs. Ezell W. Brewer, who have owned a 1939 Plymouth for less than two years. The car is a fashionable black after a painting job done by the Brewers, and the engine purrs like a kitten. The couple hopes to buy other cars, but say the old ones are getting hard to find.

PTA Conference Participants

The spring conference of the 16th District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, was held Thursday and Friday at Forsan High School. Among the participants were Mrs. D. B. McCann, district president;

Mrs. M. A. Dunagan, district first vice president; and Mrs. Robert Halton of Fort Worth, state vice president, who spoke on "Facing Realities With Our Children."

Life Memberships Go To Seven At Meeting

Seven life memberships in the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers were presented during Friday's District 16 meeting at Forsan High School.

The awards went to Mrs. Garland Braun, Kentwood; Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, PTA City Council; Mrs. Byron Nugent, Boydston; Mrs. B. R. Fletcher, College Heights; James Rankin and Cleo Carlisle, Airport; and John Hamilton, Morrison. Seventy participants were registered.

Registration, a board meeting and a dinner honoring state and district board members were held Thursday. The Friday session began at 9:45 with Mrs. M. A. Dunagan, district vice president, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Dwight B. McCann, district president, who was unable to attend.

Following opening ceremonies, the Rev. Mack Alexander of the Central Baptist Church in Elbow worded the invocation. H. D. Smith, Forsan school superintendent, extended the welcome, with response by Howard Armstrong. Mrs. Dwight Newsom introduced the district board, Mrs. Alvie Cole, district parliamentarian, read rules and Mrs. Lyndall Sharp, district vice president, introduced the program. The presentation of the conference theme, "Focus," was by Mrs. Dunagan, and the keynote address was by Mrs. Robert Halton, state vice president. Her topic was "Facing Realities with Our Children."

Mrs. Royce Griffith announced that five year books were given excellent ratings and six were rated as good. Ten historian books were presented by Mrs. Hilliard Dittmore.

The second address was by Mrs. S. L. Canterbury, state membership chairman, who spoke on "How and Why PTA Works."

Following announcements by Mrs. H. P. Wooten, conference chairman, lunch was served by Forsan FHA members.

The conference reconvened at

Rose Annual Available To Public

The world's largest rose tree is 83 years old and covers 1,750 square feet. This interesting phenomenon has been researched and described in the 1969 "American Rose Annual."

A complete report of the 4th International Rose Conference held in London, England, July 1968, reveals many new developments and innovations in the field of roses. One complete section is devoted to descriptions and numerical ratings of all new roses introduced in the United States in the past five years. The 260-page, hard-bound reference book is illustrated with full-color and in black and white. Copies may be purchased from the American Rose Society, 4048 Roselea Place, Columbus, Ohio, 43214, or will be received free with a membership in the American Rose Society.

Will Visit Sister

Mrs. W. D. McDonald, 1603 Eleventh Place, will leave Monday for Atlanta, Ga., to visit her sister, Miss Alice Tingle, who is seriously ill. Accompanying her on the trip will be two nieces, Mrs. Jimmy Welch of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Sherman Tingle of Plains.

Contribute Money to the Holiday Inn. Hostesses were Mrs. Roscoe Newell and Mrs. Noel Reed. Mrs. Billy T. Smith presided.

R INFANTS NEED A MOTHER'S TENDER CARE

Propping a baby's bottle to permit baby's self-feeding, may be the severest form of unintentional maternal neglect, says Dr. Doris A. Howell, a Philadelphia Pediatrician. An infant needs physical warmth, plus encircling and firm support while being fed.

"Supremely important milk can come from either a real or artificial nipple, but cuddling and nurturing can be supplied only by a tender human." There is no substitute for a loving mother.

Reviewer Compares Cultures

Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., dressed in Mexican costume, reviewed the book, "My Heart Lies South" at Friday's meeting of the Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. Paul Kionka, 1610 Pennsylvania. Mrs. G. K. Chadd was cohostess.

The book dealt with the story of an American girl who married a Mexican and how their cultures blended. Mrs. W. N. Norred, president, reported on the Western District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, held here March 28-29. Mrs. Chadd gave a resume of the federation president's speech, "What's Wrong with Our Clubs?"

Mrs. Pete Warren was a guest. The next meeting will be May 16 when new officers will be installed following a luncheon. Hostesses will be Mrs. Arnold Marshall, Mrs. Joe Pickle and Mrs. Charles Harwell.

Speaker Talks On Banking Credit

Mrs. Ivanelle Marr spoke on the "Bank Americard" and told of its advantages and uses at Thursday's meeting of the Big Spring Credit Women-International in Hotel Settles. Mrs. W. E. Moren, president, introduced Mrs. Peggy Grimes and Mrs. Nita McDaniel as guests. Mrs. Moren received the door prize.

Mrs. Tom Phillips Gives Welfare Talk

Mrs. Tom Phillips, Howard County welfare officer, gave a program on the welfare department at Thursday's meeting of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Stewart Anderson. She told how food was distributed to needy families and how persons become eligible for aid. She cited other instances where the department helps, including burials, hospitalization and nursing care. Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes introduced the speaker. The next meeting will be May 1 in the home of Mrs. W. S. Harrell.

Formation Of Club Discussed Friday

Mrs. L. D. Patterson suggested the formation of a purple martin club at Friday's meeting of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club in her home, 611 Bell. The purple martin is a bird that eats mosquitoes. Uniform badges were started for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford Talks On Pro-Ten Process

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent, explained the process of Pro-Ten at Thursday's meeting of the Sunset Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Coy Burt, 2500 Ann. The process was developed by a meat company, whereby, about 20 minutes before a calf is slaughtered, papaya juice is inserted into a major vein. The heart pumps it through the body, breaking down the connective tissue of the protein. This results in tender meat that needs less cooking time. Also, Mrs. Crawford spoke on furnishings in the home. She distributed scale drawings of rooms and furniture and the members practiced decorating techniques.

Harlow, president, announced the May 1 meeting will be cancelled because of the horticulture program April 30.

Mrs. Bill McIlvain reminded members of the leadership workshop at 2 p.m., April 24, in the Caprock auditorium. A discussion on the preparation and serving of casserole dishes was held. Each member brought a dish, and recipes were exchanged.

vocational academic education. Dr. Gee, guest speaker for the evening, chose the topic, "People," stressing that men cannot live alone and will find only the things they are looking for in other people.

CATEGORIES
 The three categories in which Dr. Gee placed people were those who are always "too busy," others who "are always going to but never do" and some who say "Let me at it." He advised his listeners to schedule time wisely in order to accomplish their aims, setting priorities on the most important things that effect their lives.

"Don't put things off," said Dr. Gee, "make the phone call, visit a friend or write that letter before the proper time for it is gone. Think of someone besides yourself, and give your heart, life, hands and best — while there is still time."

The program was opened with an invocation by Charles Kimble, and the welcome was extended by Vicki Morrow, Patti Olsen introduced the guests, other than employers and their wives, including Mrs. R.B.G. STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Tommy Newman presented the program on good taste in clothing selections at Thursday's meeting of the Rho Xi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Henry Watson. The chapter made plans to support Girls' Town at Whiteface for the state project. Plans were completed for the spring banquet, and Mrs. Tommy and Mrs. Blackwell presided.

Birrell, Bud Green, Pete Hull and Curtis Mullins.

An enthusiastic reception was given to "The Trio Plus One," who provided the evening's entertainment. The combo, composed of Coahoma students, were the VOE state winners in talent competition, and played at the national meeting. The musicians were Andy Wilson, trumpet; Tommy Rutledge, drums; Marvin Wright, bass; and Tim Whittington, piano.

The program concluded with Mike Brady expressing appreciation to employers participating in the programs. "We, the students, would like to express our sincere appreciation to you, our employers, for the experience and opportunity you have added to our lives," said Brady. "You have provided us with work experience to correlate with classroom training, this making us better prepared to face the future. Some of us with two years work experience prior to graduation now have somewhere to turn after May 29. In behalf of all the present and future vocational students and teachers, we solicit your support for these programs and say "thank you" for making them possible."

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Fannin of Days Creek, Ore., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Dorothy Christine Earp, to Adrian Errol Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrain A. Porter, Sterling City Route. The bride is the daughter of the late Cecil T. Earp of Big Spring. Nuptial vows will be exchanged in June at the Baptist Temple.

Sets Date

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sikes of Ackery are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sandra Kay, to Don Wesley Gilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gilmore of Sand Springs. The wedding will be held July 3 at the Ackery Baptist Church with the Rev. Jim Hill officiating.

Principal Evaluates Education Processes

C. L. Carlile, principal of Airport Elementary School, spoke on "Family Involvement in Education" at Thursday's meeting of the school's Parent Teacher Association.

He cited three categories, "Why Schools Want Changes," "What Changes Are Being Made Now" and "What Role Parents Play" with which the schools are presently concerned.

"Space, race, leadership and more women going to work have changed family life more than any other factors," said Carlile.

Carlile said that in the present age, most people will have to be trained three times before they find the position they seek. He listed some of the educational aids now being offered as visual aids — overhead projectors, charts, television and slides. "People learn more by observation than by any other method," said Carlile. He advised parents to develop a desire to learn and succeed in their children, and he emphasized that pride, self esteem and acceptance by others is especially important to a child.

Mrs. Lee Justice was re-elected president; Mrs. Dale Ditto, vice president; Mrs. E. H. Carter, secretary; and Mrs. Roger Mize, treasurer. Mrs. J. L. Rankin gave the devotion, and Mrs. Justice reported on use of the park playground at the school. Mrs. Ethel McBride's third grade won the room count, and the door prize was given to Richard Smith.

The next meeting will be May 8, when new officers will be installed.

A LOVELIER YOU Shrink Shoe Size By Losing Weight

By MARY SUE MILLER
A teen Lovely writes: My feet and ankles are too big for my size. And I'm uptight about it. I can't get away with the chunky shoes and thick white socks that my friends wear. What's to do?

The Answer: Fashion provides several good outs this spring. Innovations in both shoes and stockings can be put to work to enhance the look of the foot.

Shoes are not less bulky. But toes are squarer and heels run higher — to two inches. Both features offer a slim, fore-shortened effect. Aiding the cause are such trimmings as large, flat leather bows and perforated designs on the toes. The use of varicolored leathers in a shoe and low-keyed shades also makes for less footage — brown and white spectators, let's say, rather than red and white.

In addition to good fashion, good carriage minimizes your sizing problems. Always avoid fidgety movements with your feet and cultivate a light step. Do reduce if you are greatly overweight. Losing weight actually decreases your shoe size.

YOUR GROOMING

Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for YOUR GROOMING — A to Z, a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bathe for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes, polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. ## Sunday Drivers Like Antique Automobiles

By JO BRIGHT

It happens every spring. New car fever sweeps the nation, and suddenly, the fancy of Sunday drivers turns to something a little fancier.

To satisfy this strangely American urge, car manufacturers market the sleekest, shiniest models in the world. You'd think they would turn the heads of every car fancier. Not so. There is one group that patronizes even junkyards for their preferred mode of transportation.

The Antique Automobile Club of America is composed of a dedicated group of car lovers who lavish their affection on the vintage models, searching far and wide for the rare automobiles that recall the past. The local branch of the club is headed by Lt. Richard Cook, director; Jerry Turney, asstant director; and Rogell Crawford, secretary-treasurer. The club meets on the third Sunday of each month, and manage to take a tour about every two months. The trips are usually less than 25 miles, since the bygone buggies are not all they used to be — despite loving care and restoration.

Car owners and their families get in the spirit of the thing by purchasing, swapping or making clothes which suit the period of their particular automobile, and watching them parade is much like thumbing through the family album. On Saturday, local residents were treated to the sight of some of the famous old models as the club members participated in the Miss Big Spring pageant parade.

Help Chef With Permanent Unit

Building a permanent outdoor barbecue unit and recessing the fire pit in a ceramic tile counter can reduce the patio chef's irascibility by providing a set, things-down work surface that will not get "under foot" as can happen with a portable barbecue unit when the patio floor itself is the only place to put things.

Use Linen Closet For Gift Wrapping

A linen closet can serve as a gift wrapping center if it's properly designed. Build or have built one long shelf that pulls out like a breadboard to use as a work counter. Add a tall compartment for rolls of gift paper stored on end.

Folded papers can go in shallow bins on the back of the door. Put ribbon spools over dowels nailed to a base of 2x4 or plywood and store this on one of the shelves.

Make Toy Train

Wooden cigar and small wooden cheese boxes painted and hooked together make fine toy trains for little boys. Use hooks and then the cars can be taken apart easily. Use a tin can to make the boiler; the smokestack is supplied by an empty spool. Wheels can be made from large plain buttons.

Native Big Springer Initiates Petroleum Abbreviation Book

A native Big Springer, Miss Bettye Hatcher of Monahans, has received an Outstanding Achievement Award from the Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America, which was presented at a dinner held in her honor at the Monahans Country Club. This was the first time an individual member had been recognized for such service to Desk and Derrick.

Miss Hatcher is the daughter of Mrs. Lynn Hatcher of Monahans and the late Mr. Hatcher. She is the niece of Mrs. H. M. Rickabaugh, 703 Edwards, and a cousin of Mrs. R. R. McEwen. Her grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. D. Price of Big Spring. Miss Hatcher received the award for suggesting the idea of an oilfield abbreviations book to assist an employe new to the petroleum industry. The result of the idea was the publication of the "D&D Oil Abbreviator," described as a "key to unlock the mystery of a strange-looking language."

Hair-Do For Day Accents Simplicity

There's no one and only hair-do this year. Just about anything goes as long as it isn't teased and tossed like a bale of hay.

If there is a uniform hair-do for daytime, it's the simple George Washington tie-back, with the ends either flying loose or clubbed at the back of the neck.

The book lists nearly every abbreviation used in the oil and gas industry, supplied by members of Desk and Derrick. Contributions came from members in all geographical areas in the United States and Canada and in all branches of the industry from exploration to marketing. For convenience, the neat little book is divided into sections including Abbreviations with Definitions, Abbreviations with Abbreviations, Abbreviations with Company Names and Abbreviations for Associations and Societies. There is also one page on symbols.

The publication and sale of the book was announced at the recent convention in Chicago, Ill. Copies sell for $2.50 and can be purchased by the public through their local Desk and Derrick Club.

'Quotable Quotes'

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week: "He's at a meeting, natch. The President's always at a meeting." — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon when asked by visiting Republican women at the White House where her husband was.

"I've always said that unless a housewife wears bifocals and carries a small computer, it's almost impossible for her to figure out whether she's getting a bargain in a larger size." — Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's newly appointed special assistant on consumer affairs, talking about standardization of product sizes.

"He made it quite obvious he didn't want me around and I became upset and nervous." — Mrs. Dick Smothers in winning an uncontested divorce from her comedian husband.

"These commercials are cute and funny. I can't see them as sexy. Maybe I do them in a sexy way, but that's what makes them funny. And I think most people see them that way." — Gunilla Knutson, talking about her television shaving cream commercials, which Sen. John O. Pastore objected to as too sexy.

Will Attend Spring Conference

Howard County Home Demonstration Club women will be represented by these five women at the District Two, Texas Home Demonstration Association spring conference slated Thursday in the First Baptist Church at Denver City. Seated are Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes, Mrs. Frances Zant and Mrs. Neil Norred, district director. Standing are Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Omer Decker.

HD District Meeting Slated At Denver City

"The Key Is In Your Hand" will be the theme for the District Two, Texas Home Demonstration Association, spring conference to be held Thursday in the First Baptist Church at Denver City.

Mrs. Neil Norred of Big Spring, district director, will preside at the conference, and Mrs. Frances Zant will serve as secretary. Mrs. Elmo Ellis will be parliamentarian.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. to be followed by a coffee.

General assembly will begin at 10 a.m. Members of the Yoakum County 4-H club, including Jackie McDonnell, Wayne Box and Jerry Brian, bugler, will present the colors. Mrs. Carl Spears will lead the Pledge of Allegiance, and the group will sing the national anthem.

John Ferguson, church pastor, will give the invocation and devotion. Mike Hamilton, president of the Denver City Chamber of Commerce, will give the official welcome.

Others speaking briefly will be Gene Bennett, Yoakum County judge; and Mrs. Tom Box, THDA chairman for Yoakum County.

The response will be by Mrs. Fred Dameron, THDA chairman of Dawson County, after which Mrs. Norred will introduce guests, district agents, HD agents and THDA chairmen.

Mrs. A. E. Hodges of Hereford, THDA vice-president, will be guest speaker, followed by the credentials report by Mrs. A. A. Slaughter, committee chairman. Mrs. O. G. Mayfield, district resolutions committee chairman, will state the resolutions.

The program will include slides and talks on "Focus" by Mrs. Aubrey Russell, district home demonstration agent; and Mrs. Jewel Robinson, Hockley County home demonstration agent.

During luncheon, Doug Hubbard, Bill Knox, Linda Hanneman and Betty Taylor, students of the Denver City High School choir, will sing. Jack Bowers will direct, accompanied by Mrs. Joan Lewis.

Afternoon sessions will begin with workshops in three categories. Lubbock County HD members will direct the program on citizenship, Mitchell County HD members will talk on health, and Scurry County HD members will conduct a session on recreation and cultural arts.

The general assembly will reconvene at 2:45 p.m., with music presented by a quartet composed of Mrs. Carl Spears, Mrs. Clifford Anderson, Mrs. Bo Stephens, Mrs. Cordell Huddleston and Mrs. Jack Palmer.

During the business session, Mrs. Aubrey Russell will discuss uses for 4-H funds, and the final credentials report will be heard. The location of the 1970 district meeting will be announced, and prizes will be presented.

Those serving as pages during the convention will be Tommy Guy Box, Debbie Addison, Matt Squyres and Gail Rucker.

Planning to attend from Big Spring are Mrs. Norred, Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County home demonstration agent; Mrs. Frances Zant, THDA chairman; Mrs. Omer Decker, HD council president; Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes, Elbow Home Demonstration Club president; Mrs. Mary Cochran, Mrs. Carl Gum, Mrs. H. P. Wooten, Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, Mrs. Marvin Sewell, Mrs. Alden Ryan, Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. H. S. Hanson, Mrs. L. A. Griffith and Mrs. C. A. Smauley.

Howard County women will be responsible for an arts and crafts exhibit. District Two comprises 17 cities with active clubs, and approximately 300 women are expected to attend.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

This was the weekend of the young people. A number of them, along with their parents and dates, were at the Achievement Dinner at Cosden, others were involved in an employer-banquet and some of the prettiest young ladies were busy with the Miss Big Spring pageant.

WAGGONER CARR made a most thought-provoking after dinner talk for the Achievement dinner . . . too bad that more were not able to hear it. The talk wasn't one that he had labored to prepare . . . but one he prepared from reading the daily paper he bought just as he was leaving New York to come to Big Spring.

It was certainly timely and straight on the button. We enjoyed the talk and the association with the students and the others who came from Forsan and Coahoma for the affair.

I've never really wanted to belong to the Rotary Club but Tuesday I would like to be among those present simply because MR. DAVE DUNCAN is going to tell the club about his 30 years in the oil business. If anyone can tell of the trials and tribulations and the joy of success it must be Mr. Duncan. In case you want to go, you're welcome. All they expect is that you pay for your meal . . . the meeting is at 12 noon.

In the event any of the congregation of the College Baptist Church have wondered what the woman and young "Japanese" girl were doing going down the outside aisles of the church recently, it is now clarified. MRS. SMITH SWORDS and her daughter got in the wrong church. They were looking for St. Paul's Presbyterian which is also across the street from HCJC . . . the directions they were given. Miss Swords was to appear on a program . . . I think she finally did.

Back from visits in Albuquerque are MR. and MRS. HENRY SEPTON and MRS. J. P. DODGE. The Seftons visited friends, while Mrs. Dodge visited her daughter and family, MR. and MRS. AUSTEN BURCH, Dana Sue and Wayne. The Burches formerly lived at Los Alamos and only last summer moved to Albuquerque in order for the children to attend school there. Last Sunday the group went back to Los Alamos for the day for the children to ski on the last day of the season.

The Seftons and Mrs. Dodge returned here together Thursday evening.

A L. AXTENS left Methodist Hospital in Lubbock on April 16 after having undergone arterial surgery. He is now at the home of a daughter, MRS. L. S. SMITH, 2104 57th St., Lubbock, where he will convalesce for several weeks.

MRS. CAL GUILLIAMS is in Wichita Falls to be with her daughter who has recently had major surgery.

The GRANVILLE HAHNS were to leave today for Los Angeles, Calif., where he will be on business for Cosden Oil and Chemical and she will visit her brother and his family.

MRS. ELVIS McCRARY and MRS. V. A. WHITTINGTON are enjoying a visit with their mother, MRS. THOMPSON, whose home is in Fort Worth.

Have you noticed how thick the buttercups are along the roadsides and how very thick the blooms are on the numerous lilac bushes?

League Has Workshop

"In this land of abundance, let us not starve ourselves in spiritual things, but let us concentrate on the abundant life in Christ," said the Rev. Dean Kelm of Kermit at Thursday's annual Lutheran Women's Missionary League Christian Growth workshop. The meeting was held in Pecos, and churches represented included Midland, Odessa, Kermit, Andrews, Monahans, Fort Stockton and Big Spring.

Mrs. LaRoye Drennen, zone chairman of Midland, directed the workshop and her theme was "The Abundant Life Clinic." Presentations of skits portraying the examination, X-ray and diagnostic rooms were given by Grace Guild of Midland; surgery and intensive care units were presented by the Parish Workers in Midland; therapy by Kermit; post-operative checkups by Monahans parish workers; and pharmaceutical care was led by Mrs. Bill Davis of Big Spring.

The program dealt with the prescriptions given by the Great Physician, who prescribed the following medicine for spiritual growth, including asking God, Bible reading, Bible study, confessing Christ, devotion, example and knowledge.

Mrs. Drennen was named delegate to the International convention to be held July 20-22 in Houston. The fall rally will be hosted by the Kermit Lutheran Women's League.

Those attending from St. Paul Lutheran Church in Big Spring were the Rev. William Roth, Mrs. Bill Davis and Mrs. Walter Pachall.

Ragged Band Won Texas Freedom

ATTENTION STUDENTS
Here Is The Story
You Asked Us About

Two days after the Alamo fell March 3, 1836, with the annihilation of its 145 defenders, Sam Houston was named commander in chief of the Texas Army.

His detractors said it was because Houston was the only man who had a uniform. In any event, it seemed a small honor because the Texas Army consisted of 238 men, most of whom were adventurers. Texas settlers were bitter with officials of Coahuila, Mexico, of which the Texas territory was a part. They had been deprived of any sort of state government, and taxes they considered unjust were enforced by the military. Although they declared independence from Mexico, the matter seemed hardly worth fighting for, thus the army was made up mostly of adventurers. It was described as being little more than a raw mob, inexperienced, untrained, ill equipped and poorly supplied.

Houston arrived in Gonzales to take command on March 11 and had hardly begun to organize his rag-tag band into companies when the three non-combatant survivors of the Alamo brought news of the slaughter at San Antonio. This created panic, but Houston held such a strong hand that only 20 quit.

Nevertheless, the new commander decided on March 12 to retreat. When, 70 miles to the east, he crossed the Colorado River near Columbus, he announced his intention to make a stand. Within three days, as if by magic, some 1,600 men joined his force. Yet, when he ordered another retreat, all but 638 of them went home.

GOLIAD MASSACRE
Col. J. W. Fannin disregarded Houston's order to retreat and was caught by surprise by Gen. Urrea at La Bahia (Goliad). He decided, on promise of humane treatment, to surrender. On Palm Sunday, however, the unarmed Texans were marched to the woods and fired upon. 342 were killed, 20 were spared by the pleas from the wife of a Mexican officer, and 27 or 28 escaped.

Houston and his ragged, largely undisciplined band, continued their retreat eastward beyond the Brazos River at Jared Groce's plantation. When the expected stand there turned out to be another order to retreat, the army was joined by a flock of settlers who made matters all the more difficult. Houston caught it from all sides, including President David G. Burnett and War Secretary Thomas J. Rusk. It seemed plain that he was being backed against the sea and cut off from Galveston Island, the only defensible bastion.

"I have only one army," he sought to explain. "I can fight only one battle with it. And we must win that battle or Texas is lost."

BAD SITUATION
Many thought that he would defend Harrisburg (now Houston), but when the Texans got there, they discovered that Gen. Santa Anna, emperor of Mexico and commander of the Mexican army, had arrived two days before and had captured a few officials, smashed the printing presses of the Borden brothers, and burned much of the town. He had pushed southward in an effort to capture remaining Texas officials before they could reach the sanctuary of Galveston. It was a sickening situation for Houston and his men — they now were cut off from retreat beyond the Trinity River, also from Galveston. The tattered Texans appeared trapped as Houston moved slowly to the east along the left bank of Buffalo Bayou, an arm of water which forked northwest of the San Jacinto River (named for St. Hyacinth). He came to the San Jacinto plain on April 20.

On April 19 he had told his officers, "We'll be going into battle soon," and admonished them to remember the massacres at Goliad and the Alamo. If they thought or hoped that this was the prelude to another retreat, they were sobered quickly by a scout who rode into camp with word that the Mexican advance guard was coming up from the south. Santa Anna had turned back after reaching New Washington and learning that his quarry had fled to Galveston.

Pinned against the bayou at their backs, the San Jacinto River on their left flank, and nothing but the main force of the Mexican army two score miles to the west, the Texans took their stand. When contact was established, the forces exchanged light artillery fire. There was a brief cavalry skirmish in which four Texans were wounded, one fatally. Gen. Santa Anna complained later, "I couldn't get the land thieves (Texans) to come out of the woods."

PITCHED CAMP
So he pitched camp below a rise about half a mile to the south. It was an excellent spot, protected by the river and a marsh on his right, high ground and the woods behind, and his main forces on the left. "I had the enemy shut up," he recalled later. "Everything was favorable for our army and the cause we were defending."

But he had made some mistakes and would make more. Of his main force of 8,000, he had dispatched all but 2,000 to clean up pockets of rebellion around San Antonio and along the Gulf coast. By the time he got to Harrisburg, he had diminished his forces further. After crossing the Brazos River, he sacked and burned the plantation of Col. James Morgan, who was away defending Galveston. Among the servants, Mexican officers appropriated to their personal service a pretty mulatto maid, "Emily," who caught the eye of Gen. Santa Anna. She was made his serving girl.

As Texans and Mexicans camped within sight of each other on the night of April 20, all was strangely quiet. Even at the dawn of April 21, nothing happened. When Gen. Martin Perfecto de Cos marched in after breakfast with 500 reinforcements for Gen. Santa Anna, it seemed Houston had blown his last chance. Some thought he had blown his senses, too, when he sent Erastus (Deaf) Smith, his ace scout, to destroy the bridge over Vince's Bayou. It was the bridge over which Gen. Cos had come and which also was the last hope of escape for the Texans.

COUNCIL OF WAR
Houston's council of war with his officers was inconclusive. Part of them argued for an attack, part urged that the Texans await an attack. Afterwards, alone and brooding, Houston shaped his own plan and gained approval of Secretary Rusk.

Meanwhile, with the Texans bottled up, Santa Anna was in no hurry, especially with 500 additional men at his disposal. Besides, Gen. Cos' men were fatigued by their forced march and could use rest. After noon, Santa Anna surveyed the situation and posted a guard. Then he retired to his silk marquee with more important things to do during siesta time. Some said he took a nap; others said the champagne bottles at his tent indicated he was enjoying the company of Emily. Several other officers were having parties in their marquees. The cavalrymen had taken their mounts to the river to water; rifles were mostly stacked; and a number of soldiers were leisurely cooking.

Around 3:30 p.m., Houston stood up, drew his sword and waved it. Word went out quickly, and a rifle and drum struck up "Come to the Bower." A long two-man line, much like hunters on a rabbit drive, began to snake through the tall grass, obscured by the cover and trees, as well as by rising ground.

"HOLD YOUR FIRE"
Houston, astride a white stud, rode up and down the line, telling his men to hold their fire. At one point there occurred a light exchange of musketry, and Houston profanely yelled: "I said hold your fire."

His horse had been felled, so he took one from a cavalryman and continued to instruct his men not to shoot. When the line moved within about 40 feet of the captured general then announced he was "General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, I place myself at the disposal of the brave General Houston."

He said he presumed he would be accorded treatment befitting his rank, but Houston cut him off by recalling that men at the Alamo and Goliad got no such consideration. This shook Santa Anna.

Allowed to chew a piece of opium, he calmed and heard Houston's demands: an immediate Armistice with Mexican forces pulling back across the Rio Grande, recognition of the Republic of Texas, and ceding of territory east and north of the Rio Grande. This embraced about a million square miles of land in what is now Texas as well as parts of New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Colorado. Santa Anna agreed.

With a theatrical touch, Houston fashioned a garland of leaves and penned a note: "To Miss Anna Raguet, Nacogdoches, Texas. These are laurels I send you from the Battle of San Jacinto."

While partisans and military scholars debated whether San Jacinto was a masterpiece of strategy or a monumental example of luck, a folk song was born to extol another figure who had kept Gen. Santa Anna occupied. It was the "Yellow Rose of Texas," and one of the original lines of the lyrics spoke of "Emily, maid of Morgan's Point."

A Devotional For The Day

"You shall be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria and to the end of the earth." (Act 1:8, RSV)
 PRAYER: Our Father, we are so thankful for Thy presence in our lives. We pray that through our witness we may be able to communicate the winsomeness of Thy love to those around us. By Thy spirit lead them to accept for themselves the redemption offered to us all. Amen.
 (From the 'Upper Room')

Feel Better About Tomorrow

For the first time in the Zale's Herald Youth Achievement Awards program a top young person in each of Howard County's three schools has been cited. This may have simplified matters for the judges to some extent, but not overwhelmingly because there was an abundance of nominees on every front.

The record number of about three score nominees is impressive, but the most impressive thing is the list of accomplishments of the young people whose names were suggested. There was none of this business of submitting a name because "he (or she) is a good kid." They were all that, but much more.

It is amazing the qualities of leadership that most of these young people have shown. The degree of participation, in most instances, is one that would put most of their elders to shame. These youngsters have shown a willingness to become involved, to serve when asked, to broaden their activities beyond narrow, personal interest.

All of this makes you feel much, much better about tomorrow.

Something For The Spirit

A charter has been issued for the All-Faiths Chapel at Big Spring State Hospital, and this opens the way to launch an appeal for support in constructing this needed facility.

After three decades of service by the hospital, it is time that this step is taken. It is not as though there has been no provision for the spiritual well being of patients at the hospital, but the chapel is needed as something apart, something dedicated wholly to worship.

Man is a spiritual being as well as physical, and he requires ministry to this side of his nature as well as to the body. The chapel would give greater latitude and emphasis to it, because it would be the result of private gifts and not public support. The state is properly forbidden from getting into the business of religion because of constitutional guarantees, but this in no way diminishes the need for a chapel. In fact, it increases it because those who make use of it will do so through choice and through a sense of personal need, and those who serve there would face no limitations.

When The Wives Get In The Act

WASHINGTON — The idea of having Cabinet wives attend President Nixon's Cabinet meetings may have several virtues, but it also has its drawbacks. Even if nothing happened at the meetings, I would still hate to be a Cabinet officer when I got home that night.

"Well," the Cabinet officer's wife says, "you hardly opened your trap during the entire meeting."

"But, dear, the President didn't call on me."

did it. That's how much attention they were paying to you."

"You're oversensitive. Everyone in that room knows the job I'm doing."

"You could have said something about the ABM or the Middle East or the poverty program. But what good would it have done?"

"It would at least have let Mrs. Agnew know who you were."

"AND WHY, may I ask, didn't the President call on you? Your department is as important as anybody else's. I was so embarrassed with you just sitting there having nothing to say."

"It so happens that some days I do all the talking. Unfortunately, you were there on the wrong day."

"A likely story. I'm not sure the President even knows what you do. The least he could have done is let you read a report or something. If you don't have any pride, I do."

"I FRANKLY thought the meeting went pretty well."

"Well, you can say what you want to, but I'm not going to attend another one of those 'bring-your-wife-to-the-Cabinet-meeting' sessions until I'm assured that you will ask for the floor."

"To do what?"

(Copyright, 1969, The Washington Post Co.)

What Others Say

YOU'RE OVERREACTING. Several of the Cabinet officers didn't have anything to say either. There's only so much time in a Cabinet meeting, and we have to discuss what the President is interested in.

"Did you see the smug look on Mrs. Laird's face when her husband was explaining the Soviets' first-strike potential? And did you see Mrs. Rogers react when her husband said he didn't believe the Soviets would use it? I just had to sit there like a dummy."

"I THINK you've got the idea of these Cabinet meetings all wrong. The President invited the wives so they will get more interested in their husbands' jobs. I should have thought you would be intrigued with that."

"I would have, if I had found out what you did. As far as I could tell, the only contribution you made to the Cabinet meeting was to spill a pitcher of water when the secretary of the Treasury gave his report."

"Dearest, it was an accident. Bob Finch spilled his water and you didn't see Mrs. Finch get mad."

"I ONLY GOT MAD when I realized that no one had even noticed you

Emerging from the tumult at the two conventions is a question the American people must face: can their governmental system be made adequately responsive to the massive problems of a crowded society seething with change? Are the values inherent in American institutions relevant to modern needs? Which party can answer most affirmatively?

Events in Chicago powerfully dramatized the challenge: the rioting of deeply alienated youth, elaborate precautions against a mass uprising in the ghetto, atmosphere of divisiveness and antagonism, urgent demands to stop the war in Vietnam so that the manpower and treasure being spent there may go to deal with the poverty and pollution, the disorder and general unlivability of American cities.

The Yuppies in Chicago's parks... have concluded that the American political and social system is irrelevant. They reject institutions and social patterns in which Americans have traditionally placed their faith. They rebel against an increasingly computerized and materialistic society.

Numerous studies including those of the Kerner commission have disclosed the depth of racial alienation. Despite civil rights gains de facto discrimination still exists, some unconscious and some deliberate.

Which party, which candidate, can best help these antagonisms? ... to mount the programs that will renovate our cities? ... can best update governmental practices and policies? Shall it be the Democrats, so largely responsible for today's overgrown, cumbersome, uncontrollable federal bureaucracy? Or the Republicans, too often characterized by a nostalgic preoccupation with an irrelevant past?

What is needed is national leadership that will inspire the best elements in the American spirit — a generosity toward one's neighbor regardless of his race or his views; a human concern for the unfortunate; a bold and enterprising "can do" attitude instead of defeatism; a pragmatism and ingenuity that will dissolve practical problems; a recognition that moral and spiritual laws, under one God, must underlie men's relation to each other in order for a society to be really successful.

The year 1968 may be remembered as a year when the American people had to find ways to infuse their governmental system with an imagination to solve a new order of social problems.

Billy Graham

My fiance worked his way through college and graduate school. He just broke our engagement because he believes my education is insufficient. Should this be an obstacle between Christians?

S.T.

Yours is a very difficult question to answer. If two people are genuinely in love, such love will usually overcome most difficulties. The very fact that a difference in educational advantages has broken your engagement would lead me to suspect that this is fortunate for you. Your fiance evidently was more concerned over material and social problems than over his supposed love for you. As you say you are a Christian, let me urge you to ask God to clear up this matter in your own mind. Get out into life and meet other people and do not brood over your disappointment. Remember the wonderful promise in Romans 8:28, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God." Regardless of how hard this may seem for you at this time, as one who truly loves God, just thank Him for what has taken place. He has something and someone better for you and some day you will realize His directing hand and thank Him.

Gradualism Policy Will Continue

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is likely to feel the pressures of inflation for some time to come on the basis of current business performance.

Leading economic indicators continue to reflect a high level of activity.

And while the government has taken steps to stem inflation by tightening monetary and budget policies and indicated its intention to continue to act, President Nixon has espoused a policy of "gradualism" in attacking the problem.

New reports on the consistently robust economy cover the gross national product, industrial production, personal income, consumer spending, inventories, automobile sales, steel production and shipments — and corrugated box production expectations.

The Nixon administration didn't see any reason in these figures to cause it to depart from its announced course.

Commenting on statistics showing March business results, a government economist said, "We aren't setting policy today to take care of March figures but to assure that the figures for October aren't so steamy."

He expressed the opinion that what is required is a "little patience and perseverance" in carrying out the administration's established policies.

But Andrew P. Brimmer, a member of the Independent Federal Reserve Board, suggested the drastic action of increasing the 10 per cent corporate income tax surcharge to possibly 15 per cent if necessary to dampen the capital goods boom. He said in a speech to the American Bankers Association that it would be better than suspending the 7 per cent investment tax credit to corporations.

BOOST TAX?

He said such a boost in the corporate tax surcharge would bring the government an additional $2 billion in revenue a year.

Brimmer warned that the outlook for continued inflationary pressures "must necessarily mean that a substantial degree of credit restraint will have to be maintained well into the future."

The increase of the gross national product — total of all goods and services — in the first quarter of this year had strong inflationary implications. The gain of $66 billion to an annual rate of $903.4 billion was below the advances in each quarter of 1968 but nevertheless was impressive.

INFLATION TO PERSIST

- Administration says it is looking to control by autumn
- Most major indices indicate inflation pressure to remain
- Possibility seen of raising corporate tax surcharge
- GNP shows $16 million gain in first quarter of year
- Market skittish in wake of North Korean plane attack

MARKET SPLIT PERSONALITY

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market spent most of the past week drifting in a fairly narrow range — except for one session in which it took a sharp nose — after the previous week's Vietnam peace-hope rally failed to follow through.

Some analysts had hoped the peace reports which fueled the market to a good gain the week before would continue to stimulate trading activity.

"But no significant peace news broke over the weekend," Larry Wachtel, a Bache & Co. vice president, said, "and the market just sort of drifted. When the North Korean incident came along, it moved into this vacuum and sent the market skidding."

Investor fears, however, were eased Thursday by administration indications that it would deal with the matter through diplomatic action rather than military retaliation, and the Dow posted tiny gains in the final two sessions. Its total loss for the week was $6.64 as it closed at 924.82, compared with a gain of 6.16 in the previous week.

"The market's split personality" Wright said, "now alternates between optimism generated by hope of accelerating de-escalation in Vietnam, and depression stemming from fear of disinflationary 'overkill'."

To Your Good Health

Telling All Your Problems To Your Doctor

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please help me? I am a married woman with five children, age 35. Doctor, I get very bad pains in my ovaries. I get my period twice a month and sometimes three times. I had a D. and C. a year ago but it did not help.

My weight last year was 134 pounds, now I'm 105. I also get a bad pain in my left breast and it goes down my left arm and sometimes my arm goes dead. Could that be caused from the pain in the ovaries?

Please try to help me. I don't like going to doctors because I'm from another country and I think that sometimes the doctor doesn't understand what I'm trying to tell him. I know it's not the doctor's fault, it's mine because I feel ashamed to tell him what I have told you. Please tell me what to do and I'll do it. — X.Y.Z.

There isn't any reason for you to be embarrassed about telling doctor your problems — unless you mean that you are embarrassed because it is hard to make him understand. Perhaps, coming from another country, you have a strong accent when you talk. Is that it?

If so, why not write down what you have told me, and give or send it to your doctor? You certainly express yourself very clearly in writing.

Whatever is causing the trouble with your ovaries and breast, it is something that demands attention. I am disturbed by your loss of weight, too. I would suggest that you go to an internist (specialist in internal medicine). It may be that he will want you to see a gynecologist, too, or perhaps some other specialist, but I do, most positively, want you to see a physician promptly.

Periodically I get letters from readers who say, for one reason or another, that they are embarrassed about telling the doctor what their problems are. Sometimes they are just bashful. Sometimes it is because they don't know the medical or physiological terms.

But if they can write these things to me, they can write the same things to their own doctor — perhaps such a thought just hasn't occurred to them.

Actually there is no reason to be embarrassed at telling anything to your doctor. You aren't going to shock him! Whatever you need to say, it's a pretty safe bet that he's heard the same thing before, or something comparable.

Never be embarrassed about talking to your doctor. And I'm sure other physicians will agree with me on another point, too: many a case, that ought to be solved readily, takes much longer than it should because the patient is holding back some information because of shyness or some other psychological quirk.

This is a problem all doctors have to contend with. For one reason or another, there are always people who can't easily say what's wrong, and you have to dig the information out of them.

It's frustrating for the doctor, but worse than that it delays treatment. Such delay means more expense, too, because of extra visits to the doctor. So don't hold back. Don't go shy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am anemic. What would make me want to sleep all the time? I sleep well at night. — Mrs. E.W.

Anemia can cause many symptoms — fatigue, dizziness, and drowsiness among them — so that could be the cause of your trouble. There are at least half a dozen frequent causes of anemia. You should be examined to discover which is causing your anemia. If you can determine the cause and have it treated, it would make you feel much better.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You And Your Gall Bladder." Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

What Became Of That 'S'?

The boys down at the Chamber of Commerce have taken on a project to get everybody to quit using that plural "s" on the end of the city's name Big Spring (or Big Springs).

They can have some fun and develop some gimmickry out of this if they want to, but I've got news for them: There just ain't no way to get some people to drop that "s."

THIS GOES for a considerable nest of oldtimers who have been on the stomping grounds all the time. It was Big Springs when they first got here, and Big Springs it still is.

There's a veil of darkness around the change of the name, anyway.

The town started out with the "s," and files of The Herald showed that the plural continued to be in use until around 1917 or 1918. Nobody has put his finger on the missing "s." Some say that, all of a sudden, the minutes of the City Council turned up with the name Big Spring. There's another version that the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. changed some of its printing and map materials and the "s" was left off.

STILL ANOTHER tale is that some postal cancellation machines came to the post office minus the plural letter.

In other words, we can't tell who done it, but we were Big Springs for may be 35 years, and now have been Big Spring for perhaps the last 50 or so. It takes longer than a half-century to change the habits of some of us, you know.

A CATCH IS that, of all the hundreds of towns over the country with "springs" in their name, there seems to be no use of the singular. Our town was the only one to lose its "s," you might say. People just naturally talk about springs, which seem to run in groups, or flocks, or something.

There's a town in New York whose name I have noticed on maps, and I always was curious as to whether the inhabitants there had a similar trouble over the spelling. The place is Glens Falls, and I would bet a chunk of that 90 per cent of the uninitiated would call it Glens Falls, which seems to come more natural.

THE CHAMBER might correspond with the Glens Falls folk and offer an extra "s" for use to those people who use the name as Glen.

I used to take affront at all the mail that came with the plural spelling of Big Springs, and to wince when speakers used the final "s," but long ago got tired to it, and now take the position that if anybody feels like saying "springs," let him say it.

THIS IS THE reverse of that old story about the politician who would always tell reporters, "I don't care what you write about me, boys, just spell my name right." I don't care how they spell Big Springs, just so they say something good about it.

In a few years, it won't make any difference. We'll simply be known as 79720. —BOB WHIPKEY

Mayor Lindsay's Difficulties

NEW YORK — Confronting a sea of troubles threatening to overwhelm him, Mayor John Vliet Lindsay nevertheless gives out with a fine show of confidence. In his sunny office in the new official wing of Gracie Mansion he is as handsome, as commanding, as his televised presence that is a principal asset in the television era.

THE MAYORALTY election in New York City is the most conspicuous political contest in the nation this year. If the Democrats could take it, the signal for the Congressional elections in 1970 would be loud and clear. Lindsay's re-election would mean that — with both Senators, the Governor and the Mayor — New York State would be a Republican bastion, with the Democrats demoralized and in disarray.

IN THE CONTEXT of the old politics — New York City as a contest between rivals seeking personal power — the whole business seems as irrelevant as a torch light parade. For this city of 8,000,000 souls teeters on the edge of bankruptcy and breakdown. The ancient labels — Conservative, Liberal, Democrat, Republican — mean little in relation to the desperate needs of the city and its relation to the state and Federal governments.

The turn is to the right and that means cuts by both Albany and Washington in money for services that could rebuild the ghetto, train the jobless, rehabilitate the schools and help in the fight on crime. For Lindsay this is not theory, not a maneuver in the political game, but a hard, painful fact.

GOV. NELSON Rockefeller, running next year for an unprecedented fourth term, knows how the wind is blowing against new taxes and more social services. So he is cutting the budget of state aid for New York City by five per cent. That means paring hospital services, welfare, almost every department down the line in the city's budget that the Mayor produces this week.

Prior to the November election Lindsay faces a primary contest in June. His principal opponent is State Sen. John J. Marchi from Staten Island, a conservative who attacks Lindsay's record. He might be dismissed as an also-ran except for certain dark doubts. The strong suspicion in the Lindsay camp is that Rockefeller would not be too unhappy to see the Mayor defeated.

CAMPAIGNS, even primaries, cost a lot, perhaps in this instance $500,000. Because there are so few registered Republicans — 600,000, which is 140,000 fewer than when Fiorello LaGuardia was Mayor 30 years ago — you have to work all the harder to reach them. And the Rockefeller purse is shut tight.

With the racial confrontation in the school system, the Republicans concentrated in pockets in Queens and the Bronx are more conservative than ever before. They fear the blacks, putting down all crime to the Negro. They grumble that Lindsay has done everything for the black minority, about 20 per cent of the population, and nothing for anyone else.

THIS IS the witches' brew of the old politics. On a reading today of his troubles — the garbage strike, the teachers' strike, the longshoremen's strike — Lindsay is out. Yet he has the power of the incumbent and his salvation could come through the Liberal party, which is another part of the mixture as before. Endorsement by the Liberals or even a clear field in a primary in the Liberal party could turn the tide. (Copyright, 1969, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Risks Of War Pointed Up Again

WASHINGTON — Wishful thinkers have been saying that there's no danger of American involvement in any more wars and that people in this country need not worry about what is happening overseas. But suddenly the shooting down of an American airplane by North Korea at a point at least 50 miles from its coast, with the loss of crewmen aboard, is a grim reminder that America's enemies have by no means abandoned their evil ways.

IT IS A FLAGRANT violation of international law for any plane flying over the high seas to be shot down many miles from a seacoast. Aircraft and ships, armed or unarmed, have the right to travel across oceans without being subject to attack. Reconnaissance planes and ships of the Soviet Union are constantly cruising much closer than 50 miles away from our own Pacific coast. If wanton attacks continue, it will become more important for the United States to seek an immediate agreement with the Communist countries on freedom of the seas and the air than to concentrate on talks about keeping nuclear weapons from being manufactured by non-nuclear countries.

AS SEN. EVERETT DIRKSEN, of Illinois, Republican leader, has just said, there is no reason to advocate military reprisal at present, but it is imperative that the problem raised by the attack on our airplane by the North Koreans be dealt with promptly by "negotiations." Sen. Strom Thurmond, Republican of South Carolina, thinks a naval fleet should be sent at once to the area where the plane was downed. Chairman Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee favors immediate retaliation.

Unfortunately, parleys with the North Koreans have proved fruitless, as happened when the "Pueblo," an American naval vessel, was seized and her crew imprisoned and tortured for several months last year.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT fact is that back of North Korea is either Red China or the Soviet Union or both. There would be no deliberate creation of tension if it were not for the influence of the Communist regimes in Moscow or Peking.

The United States government will be faced with more and more episodes threatening an entanglement in war unless the Soviets and the Red Chinese realize the danger of allowing their puppet allies — like North Korea — to stir up trouble at will.

THE COMMUNIST strategy back of it all is, of course, obvious. The idea is that, if the United States can become embroiled in another war with North Korea, the American government would find itself compelled to spend larger and larger sums of money and perhaps divert its troops from the war in Southeast Asia.

The Soviet Union has in recent years broadened its agreements pledging military aid to the North Korean government. The Soviets openly admitted they had supplied to Red China arms and munitions which were used in the invasion of South Korea in 1950. It is doubtful whether North Korea would take any step — especially the seizure of an American warship or the shooting down of a reconnaissance plane — without a previous understanding with Moscow or Peking.

THE WHOLE SITUATION is indicative of the risks of war that are prevalent in different parts of the world. Certainly there will not be a diminution but an increase in crises if the United States appears irresolute or indifferent to attacks on its own ships and planes. # Paint Horse Show Slated Saturday

Local horse enthusiasts will see a lot of spots before their eyes when the eighth annual Big Spring Paint Horse Show is staged next Saturday at the Rodeo Bowl.

More than 150 entries are expected in both halter and performance competition in the show approved by the American Paint Horse Association and Texas Paint Horse Club. Activities will begin at noon and admission will be free.

Judge for the show will be Alvin Davis, an approved Paint Horse and Appaloosa judge from Levelland. Ring steward will be Tommy Buckner, agriculture instructor at Howard County Junior College.

Attending the local show, other than Paint Horse breeders and showmen from all over Texas, will be Edgar Robinson, Abilene, president of the American Paint Horse Association, and James Wright, McKinney, president of the Texas Paint Horse Club. Ralph Dye, secretary and general manager of the APHA headquarters in Fort Worth, may also attend.

Halter competition will include classes for 1969 fillies and colts through 1965 and older mares and stallions, plus 1965 and after geldings. There also will be halter judging for produce of dam, get of sire, color class, and two youth halter classes for all age mares and geldings.

Grand and reserve champions will be named for mares, stallions and geldings.

Performance classes will include youth western pleasure, junior western pleasure for horses foaled in 1965 and after, senior western pleasure for horses five years and older, junior reining, senior reining, youth pole bending, pole bending, youth barrel race, barrel race, calf roping and cutting.

Kenneth Williams, Big Spring, a director in the THPC and one of the managers of the local show with Bill Kuykendall, said that all horses entered in the

Super Scoop for the Camaro
As engine temperatures escalate, so does the need for air. Hence, Super Scoop, a good-looking addition to the Camaro SS or Z/28 hood shovels up cooler outside air and shoots it to the carburetor to boost performance.

You just push a button and pulsating jets of washer-solvent flush the grime and road dirt off your outboard headlight lenses. A great foul weather friend.

Side Guard Door Beam
Well, now a new Side Guard Door Beam is in every full-size Chevrolet—Caprice, Impala, Bel Air, Biscayne, Kingswood Estate, Kingswood, Townsman and Brookwood. It puts a guard rail on either side of you—inside the doors. And not surprisingly they look a good deal like the ones you see along the road—heavy bars of corrugated steel.

Anti-Theft Lock System
When you take your ignition key with you (and we have a buzz to remind you to do just that) you lock not only the ignition but the steering wheel and transmission selector lever as well.

Headlight washer
Chevrolet also has a slick device you can order that washes your headlights as you drive.

Bigger and better base engines
To keep you out of trouble you need an engine that's as quick as your reflexes. That's why Chevrolet installs the biggest standard V8 and Six in its field on its full-size models.

Now that you know about a few of the ways Chevrolet assists you, why not stop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and learn about a good many more. Nobody is going to spoil your good time, if Chevrolet has anything to say about it.

Members Of All-Star Cast

Stanton Students Place In District UIL Meet

By CINDY DAVIS
STANTON — The district 5 AA University Interscholastic League literary contest was held Saturday, April 2, in McCamey. Scotty Fisher and Dianna Payne won first place in the spelling and plain writing competition. Becky Creech placed second in typing, and Pug Deavenport was second in girls' prose reading and in ready writing. Third place winners were David Greenhaw in number sense, and Kathy Woodrow and George Dean in poetry interpretation.

The Stanton group scored a total of 44½ points, and qualified four participants for the regional meet which was held April 19 on the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock. The Stanton students who qualified for region are Scotty Fisher, Dianna Payne, Becky Creech and Pug Deavenport. David Greenhaw and Pug Deavenport are regional alternates.

Other participants attending the district meet were Cindy Avery, ready writing; Ken Simonek, Chester Kokel, and David Workman, slide rule; Sandy Chandler and Debra Robinson, typing; John Anastasio and David Greenhaw, science; and Don Robinson, number sense.

The Stanton High School band presented a spring concert Monday night in the auditorium. The fifth and sixth grade bands also performed.

Linda Holder was presented the annual Outstanding Bandman award. Linda has been a band member for seven years, and served as drum major for two years. She has been named to the All-District band twice and the All-Region Band once.

Vicki Glynn was introduced as the Band Sweetheart for 1968-69. Bill Currie, band president, presented her with a bouquet. Bill also gave Mr. Walker a surprise gift of appreciation on behalf of the band and choir.

Cheerleader try-outs were held Friday morning during activity period. The student body selected Debra McMeans, Debbie White, Cindy Gregston, Kay Hankins and Teresa Louder. Jo Lankford was named alternate.

Steve Stallings, Alex Rios and David Jones participated in a regional qualifiers meet held Saturday, April 12, in Hale Center. This was to give the boys some experience before the regional meet.

HONOR ROLL
The Honor Roll for the third nine-weeks has been released. Seniors include: Melrae Angel, Benny Avery, Cyndi Clements, Carl Dean, Pug Deavenport, David Greenhaw, Linda Holder, Sheila Manning, Dianna Mims.

Forsan Hosts District Meet

By SHIRLEY COBB
FORSAN — The district PTA convention was held at Forsan, Friday. Mrs. Joyce Baggett's homemaking classes cooked and served lunch to the people attending.

Regional competition was held April 18-19. Terry Wooten and Garry Irwin represented Forsan in track. They were accompanied by Coach Oscar Boeker and manager Larry Moreno.

Marlin Medlin, Gary Hackler, Tinker Bailey, Steve Mundell and Tom Bill Kuykendall went to Lubbock as members of the golf team. Mr. David Redwine is their coach.

Ronnie West and Shirley Cobb attended the regional speaking competition April 19 in Lubbock. Mrs. H. D. Smith is the literary coach.

Activity Week begins this week. Monday is Kid's Day and junior slave auction; Tuesday is grubby day; Wednesday, switch day; Thursday, character day; Friday, dress-up day.

At the end of activity week the high point girl and boy will be awarded $5. A daily coke party will be given during last period to the class that participates the most.

Judging will begin at 8:30 a.m. each morning in the auditorium. Each class will walk onto the stage one by one. A picnic will be held Friday at Moss Creek. Tickets may be purchased from any student council member for 25 cents each.

Aggies Bring Back Western Traditions

By FRANK GRIFFIS
This week the annual Western Week activities will be held during activity period Monday, Wednesday and Friday. All persons without three articles of western clothes will be jailed Monday and Wednesday during activity period. They will be charged 10 cents to be freed. The Aggie Club, which is sponsoring the activities, will hold a beard growing contest and tobacco spitting contest Friday in the SUB. Trophies will be awarded to the winners.

The Time Machine will entertain the students April 25, from 9 p.m. to 12 a.m. as part of the Western Week activities.

HCJC RODEO

Another project of the FFA, a fishing trip to the San Saba River, is scheduled for May 30 through June 1.

Senior graduation announcements will arrive Wednesday, April 23. A list of balances due are posted on the office window, and checks should be made payable to Jim Schillingburg.

CONCLUDE PLANS
The senior class met Wednesday to finalize plans for Senior Day trip, which is scheduled for May 9 to Six Flags Over Texas. Class members voted to purchase a plaque to be mounted on the victory bell, the gift from the senior class. Gaylon Williams and Andy Wilson were appointed to repaint the bell.

The Coahoma High School Band fared well in the Region VI UIL Concert and Sight-reading Contest last week. The group received a first division rating in sightreading and a second division in concert.

A laminating workshop for all teachers in the Coahoma Independent School District will be held Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m. The workshop is being presented by the West Texas Education Agency.

Parents of the Interscholastic League participants will be guests of the Library Club at a meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. Readings will be given by Rob Shive, Terry Meeks and Loretta Drake.

A group of CHS students will travel to Sul Ross Friday for a high school history and government contest. Winners will be selected on the basis of a two part examination containing objective and essay questions.

Forsan Holds Activity Week
By GAYLE MOORE
FORSAN — A week of special activities will be held at Forsan Junior High School this week. Each day the students (and teachers, too) will dress according to the title of that day and will be judged.

Monday will be hobo day. Tuesday is kid day — everyone will dress like 1, 2, or 3 year old kids. Wednesday is ambition day — everyone should dress according to what they want to be when they grow up. Thursday will be slave day. This is a hard day for the girls because they will be auctioned off as slaves to the boy that buys them and they will have to do little chores all day for them. The money paid for each slave will go to the student council toward their project. Friday will be dress up day.

During the first period each day, each class will be the best for each day will be the first place winner.

Windows of the Soul

Eyes have been called the windows of the soul. Clarity, expression and size—all of these are supposed to reveal character. A child's eyes seem innocent. But small, closely-placed eyes may also indicate deception. Some even say that you can tell a criminal by his eyes.

Calling it nonsense, even scientists find it hard to dispel the old wives' tales that have persisted for centuries.

Eyes, in a certain sense, can be the windows of the soul—precious windows through which you look at life. Don't judge another man by his eyes. Look instead through eyes of understanding and compassion, for in God's sight we are all equal. If your inner vision has been a bit faulty lately, why not start going to church next Sunday?

Chosen For Role From 300 Hopefuls

At the tender age of 15, a shy, petite brunette beauty of Argentine-English parentage was chosen for the international screen stardom by director Franco Zeffirelli from more than 300 candidates to portray Juliet in his new Technicolor English language production of "Romeo and Juliet." In technicolor it continues at the Cinema Theatre.

Olivia Hussey is the youngest Juliet ever to act the role professionally. Zeffirelli describes her as "classically beautiful with a husky voice and mesmerizing eyes — perfect! Exactly what Shakespeare would have wanted."

Despite her extreme youth, Miss Hussey has had nearly four years of professional training at London's Italia Conti Drama School, to which she returned after "Romeo and Juliet." For nearly two years she had acted in the London comedy-drama "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." She left the play in early June to come to

OLIVIA HUSSEY

Rome for final tests and for rehearsals as Juliet. She had small roles in two previous films — "The Battle of the Villa Fiorita" and "Cup Fever."

Her pale, olive-complexioned beauty, green eyes and dark brown waist-length straight hair parted in the center, reflect her Argentinian ancestry. She was born on April 17, 1952, in Buenos Aires in a British hospital, to Andreas Osuna, an operatic tenor, and to his English wife Joy Hussey.

A brother, Andrew, was born a year later. Their father died when Olivia was two, and five years later she came to England with her mother. The family still occupies a flat near the Tower of London. Her mother works as a secretary.

On The Wagon For 40 Years

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Jim Saunders has been on the wagon for 40 years. He hasn't touched a drop since he was 73. Jim, born 114 years ago in Charleston, still smokes, chews, likes his candy and yearns for beans, potatoes and bacon fat. Still in good health and with a clear mind, he resides in a privately operated care home.

THE ARTS Show Plans Are Firmed

By WINNIE UNGER

During its meeting last week, the Big Spring Art Association members firmed plans and work schedules toward their production of the annual Spring Regional Open art exhibit, to register 12 to 6 p.m. May 25 in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. Mrs. Daryle Hohertz and Mrs. J. H. Holloway are co-chairmen of the exhibit, and Scott Darr, Abilene, will be the juror.

Sculptors will be interested to know that a new category has been arranged in this field, as a number of requests have been made by prospective exhibitors. A call to either of the chairmen, or a club member, will bring a rules sheet for interested artists.

The Big Spring High School drama department will present "An Overpraised Season" Monday, 8 p.m., in the high school auditorium. The play won honors at the district one-act play contest last weekend in Odessa, taking second place and having three members of the cast selected as All-Stars.

The story concerns the powerful drama of the problems facing today's intelligent and sensitive young people. The program will also include Edward Albee's "The Sandbox" and scenes from "Life with Father" and "Death of a Salesman."

Tickets will be sold at the door, $1 for adults, 75 cents, students.

A high spot in the Odessa Fine Arts Festival is "Hamlet Revisited" in the Globe of the Great Southwest, 7 p.m., April 23. The performers are members of the Globe Academy Adult Class with Charles D. McCally as managing director. The Odessa College Madrigal Singers and an Elizabethan Folk Dance will precede the Shakespearean production.

A "Gay Nineties Song Fest" will take place April 24 in the Odessa College Fine Arts building auditorium. There is no admission charge for either entertainment.

The Eastman School of Music will again hold auditions in Dallas May 2-3, primarily for pianists; but singers and orchestra-band instrumentalists will be accommodated as time permits. High school juniors and seniors will be given preference.

Burl Ives Has Starring Role

During the first week of filming in Ireland of the multi-million dollar adventure comedy "Blast Off," feature beginning on Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, actor-singer Burl Ives worked in a haunted house, was tossed on a swelling Irish sea in an ancient fishing vessel, climbed 1,500 feet up Mount Knockree (part of the Wicklow Mountain chain) and descended a couple of hundred feet below ground in a disused copper mine. Good going for a not-so-slim man in his mid-fifties.

Phineas T. Barnum, the fabulous character Mr. Ives plays, was constantly having to escape pursuing creditors when his ventures failed. But he was always ready to bounce up again with fresh enthusiasm for a new one. This is the key quality which links Burl with Barnum.

And when it came to Ireland, Burl Ives' enthusiasm was unbounded. It is now his second home. To see him, draped in Donegal tweed, sitting in the sun on the mountainside, it is difficult to imagine him in any other setting. He was perfectly at home in this rural setting, but this is not surprising as he comes from farming stock in Illinois.

When asked whether he felt himself to be an Irishman at heart he said, "Well, I've got an Irish grandmother, but hasn't every American who comes to this country?"

It concerns a grandiose scheme on the part of P. T. Barnum to send a manned rocket to the moon in 1875. The cast includes Troy Donahue, Gert Fröbe, Terry-Thomas, Hermione Gingold, Lionel Jeffries, Dennis Price, Dahlia Lavi, Graham Stark, Stratford Johns, Jimmy Clitheroe, Judy Cornwall, Joachim Teige and Renata Holt. It is produced by Harry Alan Towers and directed by Don Sharp in color and Panavision.

'BARBARELLA' Jane Fonda in space epic

Jane Fonda Stars In 'Space Opera'

"Barbarella" opening tonight at the Jet Theatre, recaptures the spirit of the American comic strips of the early days, a time when even the impossible was possible. The film is marked by the same audacity and originality, the same mixture of fantasy, humor, beauty (and) horror, cruelty and eroticism which made the comic book a wide reading favorite.

The physical heroism and the themes of "Barbarella" reflect not only film and literary techniques, but also certain conflicting ideas of our times.

"Barbarella" played by star Jane Fonda, is a beautiful girl with long hair, golden skin and a strange, sweet name. Clothes cramp her style, and so she appears in a bare minimum of apparel. Yet she remains mysterious, fragile and invincible and, above all, maintains a sense of innocence. She is a wild creature, realistic and crafty and the archetype of the modern female.

She is the modern vamp, the very incarnation of eroticism today. She is the liberated woman, who constantly controls her own destiny rather than submitting to the dictates of men and, since she is the mistress of her own fate, she can pick and choose the men she desires.

She's something that "armchair psychologists" would look at with arched eyebrows.

The setting for "the film" is the year 40,000 on planet Lythion, where Barbarella has made a forced landing while travelling through outer space people. How they make out is the basis of a three-act comedy, "Go West, Young Man," to be presented Friday by the Howard County drama department.

The fast-moving production will climax the observance of Western Week, which begins Monday at the college. Fourteen students are in the cast. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Curtain time is 7 p.m.

Martin Landers, chairman of the speech and drama department, is directing the play and is assisted by Jo Anna Cofer.

When Jane, played by Teresa Conner, decides to entice paying guests to the ranch, two romantically inclined stenographers show up along with a wealthy playboy and friend, a nervous businessman, a rich young woman, an excitable count, a sleepy character, and Alkili Al, "toughest hombre west of the Red River."

In the cast are Janeen Haun as Tillie; Bob Bell as Alkali Al; Judy Dudley as Charlott; Sue Bearden as Fran; David Chapman as Harry; Jimmy Jones as Wes; Dwight Fortson as Ken; Pat Fry as Bimsie; Jo Anna Cofer as Edith; Lonnie Vaid as Stanley; Libby Oglesby as Liz; and Carl Van Vleet as Dino.

King Kong Returns To Climb Another Obstacle

Holding beautiful Linda Miller in his massive fur-covered paw, gigantic King Kong climbs a 1,000-foot television tower to wage mortal combat with a man-made robot replica of himself as the hair-raising climax of "King Kong Escapes," in Technicolor, coming Wednesday to the Ritz Theatre. The climactic combat of this all new thriller is but one of several encounters between the live King Kong and the robot replica, constructed by sinister forces, in an effort to conquer the world.

THRILLER Rhodes Reason and Linda Miller

Quite by accident, the live monster is found on an uncharted island in the Pacific Ocean by Rhodes Reason and Miss Miller, members of a United Nations nuclear submarine crew patrolling the area. When the discovery is announced to the world during a news conference at the U.N. New York headquarters, workers for the evil scientist capture the monster. They use tranquilizing bombs to quiet it, and a fleet of helicopters to transport it to their snow-covered industrial complex. There the giant, under a hypnotic spell induced by the scientist, is put to work tearing radioactive material from the ground — work that has jammed the electronic equipment on the robot.

As King Kong claws the material, a reaction sets in causing fission-like eye-searing pyrotechnics, breaking the monster's hypnotic spell. The creature runs away to sea, turning up in Japan, where the scientist and his men have already brought their robot Kong hoping to capture the real animal. The city-crushing battle ends in the climax mentioned above.

William J. Keenan wrote an inventive screenplay which producer and director Arthur Rankin Jr. bring to the screen in stunning realism. Action played in the snow-covered industrial complex points up the creative planning that went into making this exciting and realistic film.

IS 20 REST AREAS TO BE PROVIDED WITH ARBORS
State adds improvements to areas east and west of Big Spring

Workmen Completing Two Of Six Highway Arbor Units

By SAM BLACKBURN
Workmen are putting the finishing touches this week on the first two of six arbor units in the two safety rest areas on IS 20 in Howard County. The first two arbors have been built three miles east of Coahoma. The other four will be placed in the dual safety rest area, west of Big Spring 10 miles.

The safety rest areas, a part of a network of such developments, were provided for IS 20 some time ago. Until now, no structures of any sort were provided. Only parking space on the paved side roads and litter barrels were on the site. Big sign boards advise travelers of the location of the area as the road approaches the sites. The six arbor shelters being built are generally of the design familiar to Texas travelers and heavily used by tourists on every state and federal highway in Texas. A concrete base, a walk leading to the curb, a rugged shelter over a picnic table is the general design. In addition, each shelter is provided with a barbecue grill and an incinerator. Rubbish containers will also be installed. The six shelters in this county will cost $12,000, the State Highway Department has announced. They are part of a general program involving 12 safety rest areas on IS highways in Texas. The total expense involved will be $100,600. Some of the areas are being provided much more elaborate developments than the two in this county. In some cases rest rooms, water supplies and other special features are provided.

Few Seats Left For Jamboree

There are still a few vacancies in the two Scout troops which will go from the Buffalo Trail council to the National Jamboree at Farragut State Park, Idaho, July 16-17. Any Scout with Star rank, regardless of age, is eligible. The schedule calls for departure in chartered buses July 10 with stops in Colorado Springs, Cheyenne, Wyo., Yellowstone National Park, Missoula, Mont., Salt Lake City, Utah, Flagstaff, Ariz., and Albuquerque, N.M. The $350 fee includes transportation, food, insurance, lodging, etc.

Locally, several problems prevented such an ambitious program, officials said. The first difficulty was the lack of a water supply at the sites which would be needed for the operation of the rest rooms. The second problem was the matter of policing such areas and safeguarding them against vandalism.

The shelters are being built by workmen from the state highway department maintenance division.

Similar arbors have been erected, or will be built, in other counties on IS 20. Midland County will have a $12,000 construction on a rest area, about five miles east of Midland. In Mitchell County, arbors have been built three miles west of Westbrook and two miles east of Loraine. Nolan County has been provided with arbors 12 miles east of Sweetwater.

Both safety rest areas in this county get much use. It is rare when from one to half a dozen vehicles are not parked in them. With the installation of the arbors, it is anticipated that even heavier use of the areas will develop.

FIELD AND RANGE Station's Staff Invited To Tech

By TEX ROGERS
The staff of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Big Spring Field Station and its 24-member Research Advisory Board has been invited to hold its spring meeting Thursday at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Bill Fryrear, supervisor of the field station, said Tech's school of agriculture is interested in cooperating with the field station in research, and Dr. Gerald Thomas, dean of the school, has invited the advisory group to visit the Tech campus.

The board will visit the various agricultural school departments and tour the textile mill at Tech.

"We want to look particularly at the agronomy and agricultural engineering departments," Fryrear said. "By learning what other scientists are doing, we can eliminate any duplication of research efforts, and can more effectively plan future studies."

Research efforts can be coordinated between Tech agricultural departments and the field station, and information can be swapped.

The group will leave Big Spring about 8 a.m., and will return after 3:30 p.m. Officers of the advisory board include Jack Buchanan, president; L. R. Cranford, vice president; and Alton Marwitz, secretary.

There could be a heap of truth in this story:

A while back the Farmer-Stockman printed a picture of a deserted farmhouse in a desolate, sand-swept field, then offered a prize for the best 100-word essay on the disastrous effects of land erosion. A bright Indian lad from Oklahoma bagged the prize with:

"Picture show white man crazy. Cut down trees. Make too big teepee. Plow hill. Water wash. Wind blow soil. Grass gone. Door gone. Squaw gone. Whole place gone to hell. No pig. No corn. No pony."

"Indian no plow land. Keep grass. Buffalo eats grass. Indian eat buffalo. Hike make plenty big teepee. Make moccasin. All time Indian eat. No work. No hitch-hike. No ask relief. No build dam. No give dam. White man heap crazy."

Screwworm cases are starting an early buildup in Texas this year with 26 recorded at the end of March. This could be an indication of an even worse year than 1968 when the Texas ranchers were hit hard with 9,877 cases.

The Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program in Mission reported eight cases confirmed during March, all in Texas, which compared to only two during the same month in 1968, and seven way back in 1964.

Texas screwworm cases in March included four in Maverick County, and one each in Starr, Live Oak, Jim Hogg and Hidalgo counties, which are all along the south end of the Rio Grande River.

The arrival of spring is likely to see a big upswing in screwworm outbreaks in many areas, officials at the Mission laboratory warn. Ranchers should continue to check herds carefully, and spray herds and treat all wounds.

How Are You? Gimme, Gimme

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP) — Denise Rutkoskie looked up from her teller's cage at Glendale Federal Savings Co. Thursday to see a bandit. "Hello, Frank," she said. "How are you?"

"Fine," he replied. "Gimme the money."

Miss Rutkoskie, 21, handed $2,371 and called police, telling them her sister's former boyfriend had just robbed her again. She reported he took $745 at gunpoint March 27.

When Frank Sundry, 23, drove into his Santa Monica garage three hours later he was arrested on suspicion of armed robbery. Police said Sundry gave up $2,371—except for $1,500 he used that afternoon as a down payment on his new car.
