Nixon Changes Mind About Tax Credit

BY CHIEF BANKS

Narcotics Program Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's announcement Monday that he favors repeal of the investment tax credit marked a complete flipflop from the administration's policy of just a week ago.

One after another, top administration officials who met with AFL-CIO leaders in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., last week recited to newsmen the reasons why the credit should not be repealed.

The labor chiefs disagreed. So did Democratic leaders in Congress. They charged that the tax credit, created in 1962 as a stimulus to business investment, was stoking the furnace of inflation.

Until the past weekend, when it became clear that President Nixon's advisers were having a rush of second thoughts, the official replies were always the same.

The credit, which lets a businessman chop from his tax bill 7 per cent of his outlays for new machinery and equipment, is a long-term inducement to investment and growth. In more years than not it will be needed as a job-creating stimulant.

Its repeal would be equivalent to a $3 billion tax increase. On top of existing anti-inflation restraints, it would provide too much squeeze, might cause a recession.

A repeal would disrupt industry's investment planning; it's not fair to change the tax rules in the middle of the game. And it would be an administrative nightmare for the Treasury.

All those arguments could be heard from the secretary of the treasury, the budget director, the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers—even from economist Arthur F. Burns, counselor to the President, when he talked to newsmen just one week ago.

So what changed things? It wasn't last Thursday's report on national output. It showed, by a $16 billion rise in the first quarter, that the economy was still overheated; that was already known, and a few more recent indicators suggested that the long-awaited slow-down is coming.

Nor were there any doubts about the potential effectiveness of killing the tax credit. It was suspended in 1966, for the same reason. The result was messy, but the capital investment boom was quickly deflated. Everybody knew that, too.

So what persuaded the White House, finally, to move? Obviously, it occurred to somebody that if you wiped out the investment credit, which was no longer needed, you might persuade Congress to replace it with an incentive that is needed.

Nixon's answer to the ills of the cities—his central economic strategy, in fact—is a tax credit to induce private companies to build plants in ghettos and give job-training to idle stum dwellers.

A special program for parents worried about narcotics has been announced by Police Chief Jay Banks.

Any parent finding an unknown substance, pills or capsules in the possession of their children, may obtain an analysis and be given a confidential report. In addition, at the request of the parent, the police will make an investigation.

Banks said parents wanting such an analysis should call either him, or Detective Capt. Stanley Bogard.

Suspected narcotics turned in under this program will be sent to Maj. E. K. Browning, regional commander of the Department of Public Safety at Midland, for analysis.

"Such an analysis can provide some relief," Banks pointed out, "if the capsule or powder turns out to be just a headache remedy. On the other hand, it can help a parent discover a problem and begin taking steps to rectify it."

Narcotic pills, capsules and some marijuana (in various forms) are showing up in the schools here, Banks said, adding that a number of parents have noticed unusual behavior on the part of their children and become concerned.

"We have no known local outlets here, but many youngsters are bringing in narcotics from border cities," Banks said. "Some powder substances given us by a parent recently were analyzed in the DPS lab and found to be narcotic."

Kingsville Controversy

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Brown Power push lost some of its punch Monday night when a markedly small crowd of Mexican-Americans failed in an attempt to meet with the school board over a list of grievances.

Leaders promised still more action as the controversy swirling around Gillett Junior High School continued into its second week.

Some 50 Mexican-American youngsters and a few adults rallied on the steps of the school district administrative offices for about 45 minutes before returning peacefully to the Mexican-American Youth Organization MAYO headquarters to map out more strategy.

Police said it was "all quiet" on the Kingsville front after the rally. It was one of the smallest demonstrations here in days.

MAYO members, including some pupils at Gillett, are demanding that Spanish be allowed to be spoken on campus without harassment from teachers; more books on Mexican-American culture and contribution; bilingual education, and more Mexican-American teachers, counselors and administrators.

JURY CONTINUES TO WEIGH SIRHAN'S FATE

Life In Pen Or Death By Gas?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I beseech you," said the defense lawyer, "to spare Sirhan Sirhan's life—it would carry forth the brave spirit of Robert Kennedy's compassion."

"We have lavishly expended our resources for the sake of a cold-blooded political assassin," said the prosecutor, not once mentioning death. "Sirhan was entitled to the fair trial which he has received. He has no special claim to further preservation."

Those pleas first, then Judge Herbert V. Walker's instructions to conscientiously consider "whether this man should suffer the death penalty or shall be permitted to remain alive," set the Sirhan jury to its final task Monday.

After two hours in the same room where they convicted Sirhan of first degree murder last week, the jurors adjourned for the night without a verdict in the penalty phase of the 15-week old trial. They have only two choices: life or death.

Grant B. Cooper, who delivered the impassioned final plea for the 25-year-old Jordanian Arab, walked out of the courtroom shaking his head in dejection.

"I don't like it, I don't like it," he said. "The longer they stay out, the more I sweat. I think if they were going to give him life, they would have come in this afternoon."

John E. Howard, who spoke for the death penalty without direct reference to it, said "it's going to be closer than a hound's tooth. This jury is going to take a hard look." He would have worried, Howard said, about a quick verdict.

Sirhan, pale from 10 sunless months since the assassination June 5, appeared hollow-eyed and nervous as the case wound to its conclusion. He chewed gum, gnawed at his fingernails and drummed on the defense table.

Youths Roam, Steal, Smash In Alamo City

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — As many as 1,000 youths, mostly Negro, roamed parts of downtown San Antonio Monday night, smashing windows, rushing the Alamo and HemisFair, stealing weapons, goading police and seeking to disrupt a river parade, part of the annual Festival.

It was the second time in two years that disturbances broke out during the river parade.

Police wearing riot helmets and carrying nightsticks forced the remnants of the crowd down a side street and ended the affair about two hours after it began.

One youth suffered cuts on the knee and wrist from a broken shop window. Apparently there were no other injuries.

Police never clashed with the crowd.

The 1,000 figure came from Police Chief George Bischoff.

The chief said, "We had enough men to bring the activity to a conclusion anywhere along the line but we would have had to use force and make mass arrests." Only two arrests were made.

The crowd, roaming down one side of the street, chanted "oink, oink, pig, pig" at the officers on the other side of the street.

From six to eight pistols were believed stolen when crowd members smashed the window of a pawn shop and entered.

Display windows of four firms were smashed, HemisFair Plaza was broken into and glass doors at the HemisFair Convention Center were shattered.

The crowd sought to charge into the Alamo but police halted the effort. Another attempt to charge the Tower of the Americas at HemisFair nearby also was stopped and the elevators of the towering structure were run to the top and kept there.

Several police said they were told not to use force or make arrests unless they were under personal attack or were authorized by Bischoff.

Police kept their riot helmets out of sight until the door panes were broken at the Convention Center.

The downtown march began about 9 a.m. with about 35 or 90 in the main body followed by 50 or 60 others. The crowd grew larger and noisier as it marched.

Present to prevent trouble were police, sheriff's deputies, the sheriff's auxiliary and Texas highway patrolmen.

Israeli Warplanes Streak Over Jordan

Wisecracks Galore

AUSTIN (AP) — Levy in the appropriations room? About as easy to imagine as wisecracks in a bank board of directors chamber.

But the men who make big decisions about spending billions of dollars on state agencies break up about as easily as anybody else.

Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale, was explaining his bill to give the last 21 Confederate widows in Texas a pension increase and noted their average age was 94.

"If the average age is 94, and the Civil War ended in 1865, will you explain the arithmetic that I just can't understand?" asked Rep. Bob Slater of Gatesville.

"Well, you'd have to say some of these veterans married some pretty young girls," Kubiak said.

"Well, I still don't understand it," Slater said.

"You will," interjected Chairman W. S. Heatley, 57, who never seems to have much trouble getting a laugh from the committee.

Then Rep. Jamie Bray of Pasadena was trying to convince the committee that Harris County (Houston) should get a bigger share of the license plate fees it collects each year.

Bray said his bill would give the Harris County commissioners $2 million per year for road maintenance.

"Are you honestly willing to turn your Commissioners Court loose with that much money with no strings?" asked Rep. Cordell Hull of Fort Worth.

After a moment's hesitation and a plea not to have to answer such a question, Bray said, "Yes, I would."

"Well, I'm not sure whether I'd want to let mine loose with that much money or not," said Hull, getting sympathetic chuckles from other committee members.

County Commissioners Apply For Federal Airport Funds

Howard County Commissioners Court applied Monday for $500,000 in Federal Aviation Agency matching funds in 1970-71 to improve the Howard County Airport.

The application for the funds is for financing in the 1970-71 Congressional fiscal year. The commissioners said arrangements will be made at a later date for the county to provide its share of the project financing.

The commissioners also heard from representatives of the Planned Parenthood Association who told of plans for a Family Planning Center and Well Baby Clinic in Big Spring.

Mrs. Marvin Dixon, president, told the commissioners that the Big Spring City Commission had approved such a project, and that up to 75 per cent of the cost could come from federal funds.

The local group was originally interested only in a planned parenthood center, she said, but with federal funds, a baby clinic could be added with little extra cost. Several towns in the area are starting such programs, she said.

She said a family planning center would cost about $6,000, with the state purchasing all equipment and supplies. The county and city could participate in the remainder of the cost, she said.

Ray Nichols, commissioner of Precinct 2, suggested that the county could possibly contribute up to $2,000 for the family planning center, but the court delayed approval until more information of the total cost of the project could be presented.

In other business the commissioners granted permission to place a review stand on the east side of the courthouse for the Armed Forces Day parade, May 17. They also set July 18 as the day for the oil equalization board to meet with Eritchard and Abbott, appraisers, and July 8 as the meeting day for the county board of equalization.

The commissioners approved the purchase of glass for the beacon at the county airport, and agreed to pay for repairing lights in the district courtroom.

A contract for a rental of a hanger by Central American Airways Flying Service at the airport was extended one year, with payment remaining $400 per month.

The court also set April 30, at 4:30 p.m. as the time for the quarterly Big Spring Chamber of Commerce government program, with the county officials as hosts in the county courtroom.

Early Warning Radar Sites Knocked Out

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli warplanes streaked over Jordan again today, and an Israeli military spokesman said they knocked out the major part of Egypt's early warning radar network. Amman Radio said it was Israel's heaviest air attack in more than a year.

A senior member of the Israeli general staff said the attack on two Egyptian radar sites in south Jordan was a partial answer to Egyptian artillery bombardments over the Suez Canal during the past month.

"There are still a lot of options open to us, and I think we will make use of them in due time," he added in a warning of further action.

Egypt meanwhile reported that its patrols crossed the Suez Canal again during the night to attack Israeli positions on the east bank.

Israel said its planes also hit two Arab guerrilla bases in north Jordan.

The Israelis said one plane was shot down and the pilot was presumed dead. Jordan said two other Israeli jets were damaged, and Red Crescent officials said they had been told the pilot of one parachuted into southern Jordan and was captured by Saudi Arabian troops stationed there.

The Israeli spokesman told a news conference the radar sites hit today were Egypt's sole watch points in Jordan for Israeli aircraft and had compensated to some extent for the loss of the Sinai Desert during the 1967 war. Another spokesman said the sites blanketed Israeli air activity from Tel Aviv south to the Suez Canal.

It was believed Egypt's only radar stations left are within its own boundaries west of the canal. Jordan said seven Arabs, including four soldiers, were killed, and 22 persons were wounded in the series of air strikes.

The Israelis gave no details on the length of the raids or the number of planes taking part.

Cairo Radio reported that Egyptian troops crossed the canal during the night, clashed with Israeli defense positions and fought their way out of Israeli ambushes. The report said the Egyptian patrols killed five Israeli troops and returned with only two men wounded.

Meanwhile, Israel planned to celebrate the 21st anniversary of independence today under strict security precautions and without a full-scale military parade for the first time since the state was created in 1948.

Instead boys in the paramilitary Gadhna Youth Brigade were to march unarmed through Jerusalem.

Tax Reform Aimed At Flaws, More Basic Changes Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration spokesmen told Congress today President Nixon's wide-ranging tax reform proposals are aimed at quickly repairing pressing flaws in the system and more basic changes are planned.

Of equal importance to immediate reform, Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker told the House Ways and Means Committee, are "basic structural changes that go beyond reform" which, however, must be approached more slowly.

He noted in his prepared testimony that the President has ordered a cellar-to-attic review of every aspect of the tax system to point up the areas where simplification—a major goal—may be possible.

Walker and Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, repeatedly used terms such as "interim" and "first stage" to describe the lengthy list of changes Nixon outlined in the tax message he sent Monday to Capitol Hill.

"The most critical problems, which we believe should be dealt with promptly," Cohen said, "are first, maintaining confidence in the tax structure by curbing the excessive use of tax preferences by some wealthy taxpayers and, second, removing the burden of the income tax from those who are below the poverty level."

Over-all, Treasury officials said, revenue losses and gains will cancel each other out at roughly $4 billion each, though there should be a net increase in receipts after the first two years.

The big revenue-boosting items, they said, will be the repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit, tightening up on use of "tax preferences" by high-income taxpayers to shield much of their income from taxation, and correction of a lengthy list of abuses.

On the other side will be the revenue lost by cutting the present 10 per cent income tax surcharge to 5 per cent next Jan. 1, elimination of income taxes for single persons and families earning less than $3,500 a year, revenue-sharing with states and local governments and tax incentives to bring more businesses and privately run manpower training programs into poverty areas.

Some of the changes are designed to take effect immediately, others by stages, the Treasury officials said. Action on revenue-sharing and the tax incentives programs would not be firm for at least a year, they said.

Once the program ending federal taxation of those below the $3,500 line is fully operative, they said, the cost will be $665 million a year.

Another revenue-loser, liberalizing income tax deductions for moving expenses, would carry a price tag of $110 million this year and $100 million a year thereafter.

The limit on deductions for charitable contributions, currently 30 per cent of income for all but a few taxpayers, would be raised to 50 per cent at an annual cost in lost revenue of $10 million.

State Of Active War Now Exists

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant declared today the U.N. cease-fire along the Suez Canal sector is almost totally ineffective "and a virtual state of active war now exists there."

Thant made the statement in a special report to members of the U.N. Security Council.

He did not request a council meeting, but the urgency of the report indicated that members of the 15-nation council would now enter into consultations on what course to follow.

Flood Crest Of Ole Miss Hikes Danger

By The Associated Press
The flood crest of the Mississippi River pushed southward today heightening the danger to cities in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri while farther north the waters were receding.

Concerted efforts by the entire populations of some towns, and by elementary, high school and college students at others, had fought back the worst of the flooding.

In Minnesota and the Dakotas, the flood crest had passed, and evacuated residents including more than 12,000 in Minn. N.D., waited for the water to drain away so they could return home.

In Neche, N.D., on one of the few rivers still rising—the Pembina—workers reinforced crumbling dikes.

STILL TO COME
La Crosse, Wis., officials said the situation was under control, and Mayor Warren Loveland said "Our dikes are so strong, and so secure we should have no more trouble unless we get a real bad storm."

Downstream at Prairie du Chien, the riverside section of the community of 5,000 was under several feet of water and residents were evacuated. The US 18 highway bridge to Marquette, Iowa, with an approach under about two feet of swirling water, was closed to all but high-wheeled traffic.

Along Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, the Mississippi rose with a major crest still to come.

St. Louis, a few miles downstream of the junction of the Mississippi with the water-swollen Missouri, expected a crest of 32 feet—two feet over flood stage—by Wednesday. But the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said the crest would not cause extensive damage around St. Louis or points south.

WARNING HORN
Waters covered a wharf section of St. Louis and farm land near Alton, Ill., but little damage was reported.

At East Dubuque, Ill., in the extreme northwest corner of the state, a flood warning horn was installed to alert outlying residents if pumps behind the dikes cannot handle the heavy rain waters.

Downstream at the Quad Cities—Moline and Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport and Bettendorf, Iowa—high schoolers helped strengthen dikes in preparation for the crest expected next week.

In Andalusia, Ill., 15 miles south of Moline, the whole town of 1,100 turned out to help build a two-mile-long dike to protect the community from the Mississippi. The residents expected to complete the 15-foot-tall dike by tonight.

People from neighboring towns brought in food and equipment while the women of the village manned Andalusia's fire station.

Elsewhere around the country, Eastern and Southern states were keeping a watchful eye on rising rivers and streams.

COLD SNAP
In New England, a cold snap slowed the snow melt, relieving flood pressures in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

Possible heavy showers predicted for today presented some flooding danger, and minor lowland flooding was expected to continue along the Connecticut River for several days.

Minor overflows were reported in Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina and Florida, with farmers moving livestock to higher ground along the Savannah River in Georgia and the Apalachicola in Florida.

TEXANS PAYING HIGHER PHONE, GAS, POWER BILLS?

'Wichita Lineman' Labeled Lucky

AUSTIN (AP) — That "Wichita Lineman" singer Glenn Campbell has made so popular better be glad he's working in Kansas and not Texas, according to the statistics of a senator working for a state agency to regulate public utilities.

Sen. Charles Wilson, Lufkin, told the Senate State Affairs Committee Monday a lineman in Wichita makes $3.94 an hour, but in El Paso—about the same population—only $3.69.

Wilson used dozens of illustrations like that to promote his bill to set up the nine-member public utility regulatory agency. He was matched figure-for-figure by utility company spokesmen until the committee chairman, Sen. W. T. Moore, of Bryan, adjourned the hearing until Wednesday, because he said, a quorum was not present.

Only a few of the 21 members were at the table, but many hearings are held even though the committee's attendance has dwindled.

Monday's hearing was the third on Wilson's bill: His witnesses testified at length March 19 and March 26, and Wilson capped his presentation with a 45-minute speech Monday.

PHONE RATES
Chart-after-chart shown by Wilson indicated Texas residents are paying higher telephone, gas and electric bills than residents of other states.

He said the highest electrical rate his staff has found in the nation is $24.74 per 1,000 kilowatt hours at Brownsville.

Wilson said it costs $2.50 to make a 3-minute long distance call from Laredo to Texarkana, but only $2.35 from Laredo to St. Louis, "and that's twice as far." A one-party resident phone in La Joya, Tex., costs $12.10 a month, he said, but only $4.20 in Napa, Calif., of the same population.

He said the average monthly gas bill in Houston for 100 therms is $8.69, but only $7.32 in Cleveland and $6.10 in San Francisco.

TEXAS BRAG
Southwestern Bell Telephone's rate of return in Texas is 9.1 per cent, the highest in the nation, Wilson said.

The opponents of Wilson's bill, which include former House speakers Claud Gilmer of Rock Springs and Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, were still trying to refute his charges against telephone companies when Moore cut off the hearing.

Any delay in completing the hearing tends to make it more difficult for Wilson to win approval of his proposal.

Sam Holcomb of Dallas, assistant vice president of Southwestern Bell, said, "The disparity that exists in Texas between intra- and interstate rates is also present in every other state in a nationwide regulatory agency... The disparity between intrastate and interstate rates is logical and justifiable."

One reason for the difference in rates, Holcomb said, is that the average cost per mile of intrastate circuits in Texas is $67, and the average cost per mile of an interstate long distance circuit is $31.

He said the average monthly gas bill in Houston for 100 therms is $8.69, but only $7.32 in Cleveland and $6.10 in San Francisco.

SIX STREETS ALMOST DONE
Work on six streets receiving pavement under the city's paving program has reached the point where all that is left is installing the actual pavement coat, according to Director of Public Works Ernest Lillard.

"There are several other streets which are being worked for sign up and utility adjustment," Lillard said. "The program is moving well at this time. Further progress reports will indicate whether or not the concentrated efforts regarding payment of back taxes has helped."

The streets thus worked are Lancaster, from First to Second; Northwest Ninth, from Gregg to Lancaster; North Scurry, from Aylford to San Antonio; Sixteenth, from Seventh to IS 20; Northwest Sixth, from Aylford to Douglas; and Austin from Fourth to Fifth.

Sixty-five blocks were included in the program.

BAND GETS FIRST IN SIGHT READING
GAIL (SC) — The Borden County High School band received a first place in sight reading at the UIL band contest held at Coahoma last week. This marks the first year for the Coyote band to receive a first in sight reading. The band also received a third in concert playing.

SIGNS ARE FIXED
A total of 80 sign posts on city rights of way were repaired or replaced during March, along with 120 stop signs.

Doctors Going To Medics' Meet

Two local doctors will be among the official delegation to the Texas Medical Association annual meeting in San Antonio May 1-4.

Dr. Roscoe B. G. Cowper will be the voting delegate, with Dr. B. Broadrick serving as alternate.

A total registration of 4,000 physicians and guests is expected for the four day program of intensive postgraduate medical education.

More than 250 speakers will participate in this 102nd annual scientific meeting of the association. Topics will range from motorcycle injuries to heart transplants to sex education and nearly every medical subject in between.

REFUSE BURIED
A total of 1,647 cubic tons of refuse was taken to the landfill site and covered during March by city dump trucks, according to Director of Public Works Ernest Lillard.

COPTER PATROLS IN LA SCORE BIG
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It says Gillen, "and the copter does just that."

The copters—two now are in use—cruise at 1,000 feet in daytime and 1,300 feet at night, looking for anything suspicious.

So far copters have played key roles in several burglary arrests, lost child searches and stolen vehicle recoveries, he says.

Many businessmen are painting their addresses on building roofs in 7-foot-by-3-foot letters to aid copter crews in identifying neighborhoods.

Gillen reports there have been six complaints about the nose of low-flying night flights; none about those in daytime.

After police explain what they are doing, the complainants say there's all for it, he adds.

"This is a police helicopter," boomed from their loudspeaker. "Come out with your hands in the air."

A second or so later a man sprinted from the store, hoping to elude them in nearby shrubbery. The copter crew easily kept him in their light, and officers in the patrol car, arriving five minutes later, made the arrest.

"It must have sounded like the voice of God to that fellow," chuckled Capt. Paul J. Gillen, West Valley division commander. "He was still shaking like a leaf when they booked him at the station."

The copter patrols began on an experimental basis a month ago.

The West Valley division covers the high-income San Fernando Valley, a suburban complex that would be the nation's seventh largest city if it weren't part of Los Angeles. It is 55 miles across and surrounded by towering mountains.

Homes of many wealthy families nestle in mountain cul-de-sacs. It can take quite a while to reach them. "The key to good police work is fast response,"

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon.

It looks that way doesn't it? But the fact is, this top hat is just as wide as it is tall. Check it with a ruler. It's just a famous visual illusion. Which proves you can't always believe what you think you see. Nor are you always aware of what you hear.

Take Muzak, for example. It is a musical environment, only people don't really listen to it. They react to it—psychologically and physiologically. We design it that way. Muzak is scientifically programmed to motivate people and increase their efficiency. That's like money in the bank when you consider the high cost of recruiting, training and keeping employees happy on the job these days. # Delay In ABM Action Sought WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper, the leading Republican critic of the administration's Safeguard program, says President Nixon should delay deployment of the antimissile system for a year and try for a disarmament agreement with the Soviet Union.

"It is difficult to oppose the President and I hope that he might agree to take another year to see if we can get some kind of disarmament agreement with the Russians rather than pushing the matter to a vote now," the Kentucky senator said in an interview.

Cooper and other Safeguard critics—Republicans and Democrats alike—maintain that the Safeguard system might recharge the arms race between the two superpowers.

"The President has put us in the position of disagreeing with him on a matter dealing with the security of the country," Cooper said. "This is always difficult to do.

"But I think those of us who oppose deployment of the ABM at this time think as I do—that unless we make some move to put an end to the arms race it will accelerate out of all reason.

"If the President would just take a year to look at it, to see if there is some chance of getting an agreement with the Soviets, he could still go ahead if these efforts fail."

Besides, the senator indicated, if Nixon tries to push for a vote now, he would lose, at least in the Senate, so he might as well agree to the delay.

Such a postponement would not put the United States in a secondary position to the Soviets in missile capability, Cooper said.

On this point, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, in disclosing Monday that the Soviets had tested a huge, multiple-warhead SS9 missile into the Pacific, said deployment of the ABM could not be delayed.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has cited the development of the SS9 as a prime reason for going ahead with Safeguard. He called it a nuclear first strike vehicle which could seriously impair U.S. ability to retaliate after a surprise attack.

Rogers previously had expressed doubt that the Soviets were seeking a first strike capability.

It was followed by "Doctor Zhivago" and the James Bond movie, "You Only Live Twice." # RIOTERS THROW GASOLINE BOMBS Irishmen Looking For Fights BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland's embattled prime minister, Terence O'Neill, was reported ready today to agree to the principle of "one man, one vote" in local elections in an attempt to calm the turbulent crisis.

Supporters of O'Neill who reported this said the concession would be accompanied by a postponement for at least a year of the local elections due in 1970.

STONE POLICE
 At present the veto in local elections is confined to property owners and their wives, a system that the Roman Catholic minority contends keeps Protestant governments in power in towns where the Catholics have a numerical majority of the population.

The same voting system prevailed in the rest of the United Kingdom until 1948.

Rioters stoned two police barracks Monday night in Belfast, and three flaming gasoline bombs in the streets, but British troops guarding key installations in Northern Ireland stayed out of sight.

Police scattered the crowd of about 100, and by midnight the city was quiet. There were no casualties.

BETTER HOUSING
 More than 200 British soldiers were stationed at power plants, fuel depots and similar plants to guard against saboteurs. In London, Home Secretary James Callaghan stressed the troops would not be used to maintain order in the streets.

Earlier Monday, Roman Catholic demonstrators in London derry battled police for the third day despite appeals by civil rights leaders for the crowds to disperse. Northern Ireland's Catholic minority contends it is discriminated against.

Fighting also flared at Lurgan between Catholics and Protestant extremists who oppose Catholic demands for more jobs, better housing and abolition of property requirements for local voting.

The British government announced that Prime Minister Harold Wilson will meet soon with Prime Minister Terence O'Neill to grant more concessions to the 500,000 Catholics, one third of Northern Ireland's people.

BOMB EXPLOSIONS
 Officials of the Catholic civil rights movement issued a statement supporting the use of British troops and warning their supporters to stay off the streets to prevent more violence and bloodshed. The Civil Rights Oxford Committee sent a telegram to Wilson warning that civil war was possible and asking for further British intervention.

Prime Minister John Lynch of the Irish Republic announced after an emergency cabinet meeting that he was seeking a meeting with Wilson and was sending Foreign Minister Frank Aiken to confer with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant about the situation in Northern Ireland.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army denied charges by the police in Northern Ireland that the IRA was responsible for a weekend wave of bomb explosions. The IRA said the police had staged the bombings to rally the fearful to the side of the government, emulating the Nazi firing of the Reichstag building in Berlin.

Albaugh Chalks Another Strike

Ray A. Albaugh, Big Spring independent oil operator, has another wildcat discovery to his credit.

His No. 1 Reed, 467 feet from the north and east lines of section 4-20, W&NW, in northwest Sterling County, had been completed for a calculated 24-hour potential of 754 barrels of 42 gravity oil and no water from 6,914-70 in the Wolfcamp.

The venture is approximately four miles north and slightly east of the Crede (Wolfcamp) and approximately the same distance south and slightly west of the Triple M (Wolfcamp) field. Albaugh has filed for a new field designation, suggesting the name of Albaugh-Cole.

Top of pay was picked at 6,914 on a ground level elevation of 2,564.3, and the hole was drilled to 7,535, then plugged back to 7,032. The perforated section of pay was washed with 1,500 gallons of acid. Operator flowed for 12 hours to recover 377 barrels of oil. Flowing tubing pressure was 625, the gas-oil ratio 520-1.

TAX

widely used by the wealthy include imposing a 50 per cent ceiling on the amount of an individual's total income now sheltered from taxation by exemptions and loopholes.

The LTP plan would tax income now exempted because of allowances for accelerated depreciation on real estate, certain farm losses and intangible drilling expenses in the oil industry.

Designed to be phased in over a three-year period, the LTP reform would eventually bring in $80 million a year, according to Treasury estimates.

An even bigger revenue boost, $500 million a year, would result from requiring a taxpayer with more than $10,000 in tax preferences to allocate his itemized deductions between taxed and untaxed income.

Thus, if 40 per cent of an individual's income was nontaxable, only 60 per cent of his deductions—rather than 100 per cent—could be used to cut the size of his taxable income.

The administration also proposes treating mineral production payments as loans, increasing revenue after the first year by $200 million annually.

Cracking down on "multiple corporations"—corporate groups that remain fragmented in order to cash in on special tax breaks for small businesses—would eventually bring in $235 million more per year, revenue estimators said.

The question of tax preferences will receive further close scrutiny in coming months, Treasury sources said Monday. For the moment, they said, the most obvious need was to attack the more obvious abuses of preferences as tax shelters.

The President's reform recommendations bought generally favorable initial reaction in Congress, although the proposal to repeal the investment tax credit generated some criticism.

Rips 'Headless Fourth Branch Of Government'

NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Schick Jr., president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said today that Congress should re-examine the role of federal regulatory agencies, which he called "the headless fourth branch of government."

Schick said there are 60 or more regulatory agencies in Washington. Their influence, "good or bad," has grown "beyond comprehension," he said.

Schick, publisher of the Baltimore Sun, spoke at the 83rd annual ANPA meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Schick said the First Amendment prohibits Congress from enacting legislation that would abridge freedom of the press but that rulings of the agencies and the execution of the rulings "threaten to do what Congress itself is prohibited from doing."

"By the failure of Congress to spell out its intent exactly, by a usurpation of power by the regulatory agencies, a dangerous point of view has been allowed to develop," he said. This point of view, he continued, allows the administrative agency to develop its own policies regardless of congressional intent.

Schick cited as an example the interpretation of "the public interest," a term he said had never really been defined. He said the Supreme Court's 1964 civil rights ruling had as its intent prohibition of discrimination according to sex. But, he said, "when a ruling obstructs easy access of both men and women to jobs offered in the ad columns, is this in the public interest?"

He said that several recent Federal Communications Commission decisions affecting interests of daily newspapers had been based on "no known statute and certainly no expressed intent of Congress."

As an example, he cited the March 27 FCC proposal that the future no income of a broadcast facility—television, AM or FM—be permitted to purchase another broadcast facility in the same market. This proposal was followed by a statement from the Justice Department urging this approach cover newspaper-broadcasting combinations existing as well as contemplated.

"Their view seems to be that newspaper ownership of a station in the same market is bad because it implies monopoly," he said. He called it a false premise.

Schick reported that last year for the first time newspaper advertising revenues exceeded $5 billion, an increase of six per cent over the previous year. Daily newspaper circulation rose to 62.5 million copies per day last year, an increase of 1.5 per cent, he said.

Smith Signs Vo-Tech Act

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith signed into law today the Technical-Vocational Education Act, which he predicted would become "a landmark in the history of education in the state."

Smith also said the law makes Texas the first state to implement fully federal guidelines set down several years ago. The governor warned that the law would do no good unless backed up by adequate financing, which he said has not been included so far in the two separate appropriations bills passed by each house.

"The future of Texas lies not in increased welfare benefits and longer welfare rolls but in increased education," Smith told about 100 persons gathered for the signing.

"By molding educational curricula, particularly in technical, vocational education, to the needs of students and to the needs of the state which will shorten the welfare rolls and bring healthy, productive citizens into the mainstream of society."

Smith has recommended spending $23 million the next two years expanding vocational education, $10 million in high schools and $13.2 million in junior colleges and adult programs.

The first step of the new law establishes a 21-member advisory committee, appointed by the governor, to recommend and evaluate courses and programs of the various levels of vocational education. It also has the task of providing employees with statistical data on employment opportunities throughout the state.

More Clouds In West Texas

Clear skies over the state today were marred only by some high cloudiness in West Texas and some fog in South Texas, otherwise the weather looked like summer.

Fog and smoke were both reported by Houston at dawn today. Corpus Christi, Victoria, Dalhart, Lufkin and Beaumont-Port Arthur also reported fog. In some locations along the Gulf Coast, visibility was reported at less than a mile.

Meat Inspection Costs Estimated

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators completed action today on a bill setting up mandatory statewide meat inspection for the first time.

House members passed the Senate bill last week, 133-12, and senators accepted today a House amendment providing overtime pay for meat inspectors called out after hours.

The measure was required under the U.S. Wholesome Meat Act of 1967. Otherwise, all Texas slaughter houses and meat packing plants would be placed under federal inspection, even those dealing exclusively in intrastate commerce.

The bill now goes to Gov. Preston Smith for signature. Cost of the state inspection system will be $3.6 million over the next two years.
Sponsors said packers and slaughter house operators favored the measure because they preferred to deal with Austin rather than Washington.

Texas has had a voluntary inspection system since 1945, with packing plants and slaughter houses paying the costs. There is no statewide meat inspection system.

About 60 cities now operate meat inspection systems under the State Health Department's general supervision. Federal authorities said in 1967 about 85 per cent of the meat sold in Texas had been inspected by federal agents.

A federal spot check that year of both unregulated plants and those outside of federal supervision but under some form of regulation revealed flies, maggots, dirt, peeling paint and evidence of rats in some plants.

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Martha Widrow bought a $200 check raffle ticket last year and won a baby blue Lincoln Continental.
This year, the Wydee Dydee Diaper Service, which is owned by Mrs. Widrow's husband, Walter, bought one of 500 tickets. The company won the Continental.

Permian State College Measure Skips Hurdle

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. Ace Pickens of Odessa stood before the House State Affairs Committee, his hands raised high above his head, and remarked: "Thousands of Permian Basin residents thank you."

Committee members smiled. Pickens obviously was happy over the committee's acceptance of a subcommittee report Monday night setting up a college at Odessa which would offer junior, senior and graduate courses under the supervision of the University of Texas regents.

NEW TYPE

The proposed co-educational, state-financed school would be known as the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

The bill, approved without opposition by the committee was a complete substitute for Pickens' original bill, which proposed a three-year, upper-level school to be known as Permian State College. That measure and one elevating Odessa College to a four-year state-supported school were sent to the same subcommittee after a three-hour hearing that lasted until early morning March 11.

Presents India's Development Plan

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi presented India's fourth five-year development plan to Parliament Monday, three years late and still incomplete because of Communist-led disagreement about how much revenue should be allotted to India's 17 states.

Details of the allotments have been deferred for another eight months following complaints from the Communist-run states of Kerala and West Bengal as well as several non-Communist states that they have not been consulted enough.

The plan calls for a total expenditure of $32.5 billion to meet the needs of a projected 1974 population of 596 million India's present population is 527 million.

It envisages annual increases of 5.5 per cent in national income, 5.5 per cent in agricultural output (from 98 million tons of food grains to 129 million tons), 8 per cent in industrial production and 7 per cent in exports.

"This proposal has no resemblance to the original bill," Pickens said of the subcommittee proposal by Rep. Neal Solomon of Mount Vernon.

"You may wonder why the (proposed) school has been put under the University of Texas," Pickens said. "It's a new type of institution... and it was felt in the minds of Rep. (Dick) Slack (of Peecos) and others that since it is an innovative school it would stand a much greater chance of immediate success if it was placed under an existing board rather than a new nine-member board."

"It would be easier to attract faculty. The University of Texas already is equipped to handle such an institution... UT could provide a first-rate institution with a minimum of cost."

TUG OF WAR

The bill referred specifically to a site for the proposed new school, over which some Midland and Odessa residents had a tug of war at the March committee hearing.

The bill states that the site shall consist of 200 acres or more, "unless otherwise specifically acceptable to the board" and must be easily accessible and a reasonable distance to the present site of Odessa College.

The site, the bill says, shall be in Ector (Odessa) County, which is joined on the east by Midland county. However, the bill states, if the Ector County site is not "suitable," the regents may acquire "a similar site in whole or part in an adjoining county" if the site is not more than a 12-mile radius from the present Odessa college campus.

The land shall be acquired by Dec. 31, the bill specifies, and any decision on land that varies from the bill's provisions will be null and void.

Near Journey's End

Robin Knox-Johnson waves from the bow of his 32-foot yacht "Suhail" as he passes Bishop Rock Lighthouse off the Scilly Isles near Great Britain, yesterday. The 30-year-old sailor is expected to dock at Falmouth today, to win the London Sunday Times golden globe trophy for the first nonstop solo round-the-world voyage by a yachtsman.

Man's First Known Solo Nonstop Trip

FALMOUTH, England (AP)—British yachtsman Robin Knox-Johnson battled his way through a near gale into this Cornish port today to complete man's first known solo nonstop voyage around the world.

A harbor cannon boomed a salute to the rugged 30-year-old merchant marine officer as he crossed the finishing line in his 32-foot ketch Suhail after spending 312 days at sea—longer than any sailor alone on record—on a 29,000-mile expedition.

High winds and a heavy sea foiled his attempt to sail directly into Falmouth harbor. North-easterly winds forced him to zig zag over the last few miles, delaying his entry by over seven hours.

The mayor of Falmouth, civic officials and crowds of Britons gathered to honor the man who suffered incredible hardships for 311 solitary days at sea. A golden globe and possibly $12,000 in prize money awaited him.

was lucky to have survived. He was one of the greeters waiting on shore.

"His boat is not very suitable for the job," said Chichester. "A bad storm could have bashed in the cabin."

Robin Knox-Johnson set sail from Falmouth last June 14. His two-masted ketch was sighted two weeks ago 500 miles off the Azores after being given up for lost. Until then he had not been heard of since passing New Zealand in November, and an international air-sea search failed to find him.

The Golden Globe trophy was the first prize offered by the Sunday Times newspaper that sponsored the nonstop round-the-world race. Robin Knox-Johnson also is contesting for $12,000 offered for the fastest circumnavigation.

Behind him is Nigel Tetley, a retired naval lieutenant commander in a 40-foot trimaran, and Donald Crowhurst in a ketch.

French adventurer Bernard Moitessier, who led the race for months in his ketch Joshua, quit the contest off Africa last month and headed for the Pacific, apparently trying to sail around the world twice.

Despite his ragged garb and the battered condition of his rusty boat, Robin Knox-Johnson looked fit and cheerful as he strode the deck Monday night, shouting to his three brothers in a circling press boat.

"I could use a beer," he yelled to well-wishers.

The captain of the Royal Navy warship Warsash lined up his crew to give Robin Knox-Johnson, a reserve officer, three cheers. He also read a welcoming message from headquarters.

Storms on the 29,000-mile expedition smashed the Suhail's rudder and broke her self-steering gear. Most of the fresh water supply was contaminated when the ketch capsized last September, and he had depended on rain water since then.

Sir Francis Chichester, who sailed around the globe alone in 1966 but made one stop, in Australia, said Robin Knox-Johnson

Welfare Ruling Reaction Mixed

The Supreme Court ruling ending residence requirements for welfare recipients will add $125 million to $175 million a year to relief costs around the nation government sources have estimated.

The high court's decision Monday, however, could result in savings on the part of states who pay lower benefits through migration to states offering higher payments.

EXTRA LOAD

Between 100,000 and 200,000 persons around the nation will benefit from the decision, which strikes down all one-year-or higher-residency requirements in order to receive welfare. Forty states and the District of Columbia have them. Some of the states affected have residency requirements of up to five years.

Secretary of Welfare Robert H. Finch, commenting on the decision, said the 40 states "really are going to have to scramble to meet the extra budgetary load."

The federal government pays about 55 per cent of the total welfare load.

Officials in such states as Mississippi and Arkansas foresee a migration of poor people from their states to others paying higher welfare rates.

"We will not have much of a problem... because we have mostly outmigration," said a spokesman for the Mississippi Public Welfare Department.

Arkansas Welfare Commissioner Len Biaylock commented, "Quite a few of the people who are on welfare in Arkansas may want to migrate to a state where the welfare benefits are here."

NO DOUBT

Reaction was similar in Georgia where a state official said, "Georgia is not one of the high payment states. If anything, there would be a tendency to migrate out of this state."

However, Louisiana Welfare Commissioner Garland Bonin declared, "There is no doubt that it will increase our rolls and cost us more money."

Welfare directors in Michigan, Oklahoma, Washington State and Indiana said they feared their states would suffer financially and, in some cases, result in a cutback in the amount of assistance.

"This is going to raise the cost of welfare beyond our ability to pay," said Earl Schoenberger, chairman of the Florida Welfare Board, adding: "It's going to make it more difficult to pass Medicaid, even though Medicaid deletes residency, because there will be a mood of antagonism toward social welfare legislation among members of the legislature."

The Supreme Court's ruling dealt specifically with residence requirements in Pennsylvania, Connecticut and the District of Columbia.

Pennsylvania and Connecticut earlier dropped their one-year residency requirements after they were struck down by lower court rulings.

The District of Columbia suspended its one-year requirement Jan. 2, 1968.

Dear Abby

The Time Of Pregnancy . . .

DEAR ABBY: This is for that soldier who didn't see how his girl friend back home could possibly be carrying HIS baby. (His mother had written that his fiancée was four or five months along, and he had been in Vietnam for six months.)

Tell him for me that if he loves the girl not to take his mother's word for how far along she is.

I am living proof that all babies don't take nine months. My first baby was born early in February, having been conceived during a three-week period in June when my husband's ship was in port. My mother-in-law practically wore her fingers out counting up that one. (Actually, I don't think she really doubted me, but some of her friends couldn't count.)

My next child, according to my doctor's calculations, was premature; yet she weighed 6 1/2 pounds and had long fingernails. My third was way off schedule—a 10-month baby!

The point I am trying to make is that not all women's pregnancies are alike, or according to the book. Thank you.

better fathers than younger men who are so busy breaking their necks in the climb for success that they hardly know their children.

I am 35 and have been married for two years to a man who is 64.

My first husband dropped dead at age 36 with ulcers, emphysema, and other complications. He was a chain smoker and heavy drinker and was in poor health all the eight years we were married. We wanted children, but were not able to have any.

My present husband is a non-smoker and non-drinker and is in top physical condition. I recently presented him with a son, and we're not through yet.

When my husband was 53, he walked up and down the Grand Canyon in one day. His 20-year-old companion had to send for a mule to finish the trip up. He couldn't make it. At 60, my husband walked to the top of the Washington Monument in 39 minutes.

Clean living and exercise are the main factors in a man's health, not age. Sign me . . .

WIFE OF A 64-YEAR-YOUNG MAN AND PROUD OF IT!

BEEN THERE: Many others wrote to say the same thing. So, don't despair. Those who count, don't count!

DEAR ABBY: What would you do with a wife who holds a half-time teaching position which nets her $2,000-a-year, but refuses to save any part of it? Instead she spends it on idiotic clothing and cosmetics until there is no room in the house for more. She takes off on European tours every summer and is now scheduling another one. She wants me to go along and blow my savings at the rate of $500-a-week looking at gardens, museums, and cathedrals from Norway to Italy.

I have pleaded that each of her European jaunts consumes as much as I can set aside in one year, thus putting me that further from retirement. Shall I tell her to buy a GUSTED ticket this time? DISGUSTED: DEAR DISGUSTED: You're the one who is spending money you can't spare on trips you don't enjoy. Be a man, and tell her what's on your mind. She might surprise you and let you stay home.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the 13-year-old "future M.D." who says that men aged 60, 70, and older have no business fathering children:

May I say that I think men in that age group make much

Student Protests Continue On More Than 12 Campuses

By The Associated Press

Sit-ins, strikes and other protests have spread to more than a dozen campuses around the nation, including five Ivy League universities. The protests usually focus on racial or military issues.

About 2,000 students at Yale University voted Monday night to bar the Reserve Officers Training Corps program from their New Haven, Conn., campus.

The resolution is not binding on the university, whose faculty and trustees recently voted to withdraw academic credit from the ROTC. Yale has 8,300 undergraduate and graduate students.

STOP WORK

At Harvard University, members of Students for a Democratic Society and their supporters moved into the administration building for the second time in two weeks. The five-hour sit-in by 100 students ended quietly when the protesters left as the working day ended.

SDS' announced purpose was to stop work in the building, and Harvard officials sent secretaries home and stood about debating the militants. SDS called the "mill-in" after students voted Friday to end a week-long strike, aimed at the administration's use of police to end an April 9 sit-in.

The protesters want ROTC banned from campus. The Faculty of Liberal Arts and Sciences has voted to make the program an extracurricular activity.

staged an hour-long sit-in at Columbia University, demanding that the college open its doors unconditionally to graduates of four predominantly Negro high schools in New York City. Columbia officials promised to meet with the students to discuss the issue, which has been backed by SDS.

Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Princeton and Yale are members of the Ivy League, an informal group of some of the East's top universities.

Two campuses had a brighter outlook: students at Southern University in New Orleans, La., and at Mount St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md., voted to end class boycotts and return to class.

Militant blacks at Southern University went back to classes after Gov. John McKeithen visited the campus, said he thought their demands were justified, and promised to ask the district attorney to drop criminal charges against 21 students.

Mount St. Mary's Board of Review voted to accept student demands for changing curfew and dress requirements.

Four other New York City colleges—City College, Queens, Brooklyn and Queensborough Community, all part of the City University—were hit by demonstrations demanding open enrollment for all high school students and establishment of black studies programs in a separate school.

MORE ACTION

At other campuses: The board of control of Ferris State College placed 261 students under "strong disciplinary probation" for their role in a demonstration last month. The students had been arrested and charged with criminal trespass.

Albany, N.Y.—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller signed a bill requiring all colleges in New York State to establish clear rules for quelling campus disorders or face the loss of state aid.

Lafayette, Ind.—Purdue University officials granted amnesty to 41 students arrested in the administration building, where they had gathered to protest an increase in tuition. About 800 students had remained in the building until amnesty was granted. Among those arrested was Leroy Keyes, the All-American halfback.

Oneonta, N.Y.—Black students at Oneonta State College have demanded a $35 weekly allowance, because their "spending habits are different."

Kent, Ohio—student protesters called a rally today to demand reinstatement of students suspended in earlier protests and official campus recognition for SDS.

New York—Disorders broke out seven public high schools, with seven fires set in three schools. Thirty-two students and a dean of boys were arrested and six students were suspended. The students were demanding an end to suspensions and involuntary transfers.

Lake Forest, Ill.—Seven black students at Lake Forest College have begun interviewing potential black faculty members with the authorization of the dean of faculty, who said several of their choices had already been hired.

U.S. Coast Guard 'Cools' Mutineers

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—A U.S. Coast Guard boarding party took five armed, mutinous crewmen into custody aboard the West German freighter Helga Witt Monday night off the west coast of Puerto Rico, the Coast Guard reported.

At Princeton University, scattered fistfights broke out when about 100 members of SDS blockaded two Marine Corps recruiters into a campus building. The officers were permitted to leave Clio Hall for lunch, but were prevented from returning. Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., remained in a "state of emergency" today, as tension of a demonstration by armed black militant students pervaded the campus.

About 1,100 faculty members decided Monday night that the weekend seizure of a campus building by armed members of the Afro-American Society made discussion of discipline problems from earlier demonstrations impossible.

Cornell President James A. Perkins banned firearms from campus and said disruptive demonstrations would no longer be tolerated.

The faculty refused to accept a pact between the blacks and Perkins that ended the sit-in by dismissing charges against five black students stemming from December disorders. Dean of Faculty Robert D. Miller, an author of the pact, submitted his resignation to Perkins after the vote.

The world's largest sedan?

That little thing? The largest? Well, certainly not in length. And, most assuredly, not in width.

But when you start counting the things you can get inside its trunks, that's quite another story.

Suddenly our little Squareback becomes the world's largest sedan.

Here are the cold hard facts:

The trunk on the largest conventional sedan measures 22 cubic feet. (And some of this room is taken up by a spare tire.)

The Squareback will carry four passengers and 31.2 cubic feet of things. And with the rear seat down you get a giant 48.9 cubic feet of carrying space.

How did we make it so big?

It's really not too complicated. Where most cars have an engine, we have a trunk. (Our engine is tucked behind the rear wheels where all good VW engines are tucked.)

And where most cars have a flashy rear deck, we have more car. (This is what makes a Squareback a squareback.)

But even with all this space, the Squareback is only 7 1/2 inches longer than the bug.

Which makes the world's largest sedan also one of the world's smallest.

Tucker Dodges Death Penalty

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert D. Tucker, 32, an operating room technician, has been sentenced to 99 years in prison in the murder of a Pasadena, Tex., doctor.

Tucker was convicted Monday as an accomplice in the 1966 ambush slaying of Dr. Robert Pendleton, found shot to death outside Red Bluff General Hospital in Pasadena, Tex.

The prosecution had sought the death penalty. An 11-man, one-woman jury deliberated four hours before announcing a verdict.

Dr. Archie H. Burkhalter, who owned the hospital with Pendleton, Tucker and James Oliver Steamberg were indicted as accomplices in the slaying. Three other men were indicted for murder with malice in the case. One man was convicted last November and sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Dist. Judge Dan Walton said he will formally sentence Tucker May 5.

Three Demolished
Three hazardous structures were demolished in March, according to City Fire Marshal A. D. Meador. This brings to 11 the number of such buildings brought down this year, he said. Eight more are being razed.

150 Viet Cong Caught Trying To Cross River

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines caught 150 North Vietnamese trying to cross a river southwest of Da Nang Monday and killed at least 50 of them with the help of artillery and an aerial gunship, military spokesmen said today. One Marine was wounded.

It was one of two ground battles reported by the U.S. Command. The Viet Cong shelled 17 allied bases and towns Monday night, and a delayed report told of heavy material damage to the U.S. air base at Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon, in an attack with rockets and recoilless rifles Sunday night.

ONE WOUNDED
The Marines sprayed the North Vietnamese with machine guns in an area 16 miles southwest of South Vietnam's second largest city as the enemy attempted to cross the Vu Gia River in sampans. Mortar shells and artillery rained on the boats and a Spooky gunship raked them with 6,000 rounds a minute from its mini-guns.

The Marines counted 50 enemy bodies floating downriver after the shooting, and only one Leatherneck was wounded, officers said.

In another action 27 miles northwest of Saigon, North Vietnamese regulars attacked a column of armored personnel carriers from the 25th Infantry Division in night bivouac. But they were beaten back in a 15-minute firefight, leaving 21 dead, the U.S. Command said. No American casualties were reported.

The nightly shelling Monday night hit a chain of militia posts in the Mekong Delta, an American 25th Division artillery camp

Brief Agenda For Officials

A brief routine agenda is on tap this evening for the Big Spring City Commission, meeting at 7 p.m. in City Hall.

Ernest Lillard, public works director, will discuss the need for a new backhoe for the City Cemetery. The item is included in the current budget. Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, will take up the matter of a need to replenish the city's supply of cast iron pipe, at an estimated cost of $3,923.

Two public hearings are scheduled — one for the zone change request for 1900 Birdwell from 1F.2 (single family residence) to NS (neighborhood service). The second is for a special use permit at 3906 Runnels for parking a trailer house.

Second reading will be given an ordinance for on-premises beer consumption at Lillies' Bar.

Emergency reading will be given three ordinances, approved at the last meeting of the commission: increasing fares for taxicabs; changing the speed limit on Birdwell, between Marcy and Twenty-fifth Street; and requiring cars to stop for school buses.

More Cars Are Registered

The Howard County Tax Assessor-Collector's office registered 21,430 motor vehicles between Jan. 1 and April 18, according to Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax assessor-collector.

Mrs. LeFevre said the 1969 registration figure is above the 21,300 registered during the same period in 1968. Total collections in the office this year are $529,722.19, with $175,000 going to Howard County. The State will receive the balance except for a commission of 40 cents per receipt for salaries of the office deputies, she said.

Total collections for the 1968 registration, which ended April 1, 1969, in Mrs. LeFevre's office was $627,671.66, for 23,240 licenses.

Besides registrations, more than 1,100 titles were applied for in 1968, and collections on motor vehicle sales and use tax were $345,148.78, she said.

Mrs. LeFevre noted that her office handled total collections of $2,645,964 for vehicle registrations, taxes and other items in 1968.

"I want to thank all of those people who helped us," she said. "To complete more than 20,000 registrations in two months can only be done with the help of each one who registers a motor vehicle."

"Those who work with me in thanking Newsom's Food Center, Webb AFB Credit Union and Mr. C. J. Lamb in Forsan, who all helped to issue licenses," she said.

Acting President Looks To Future

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — It's not just the faculty and students of both groups of business students. It's a little wonder that Let's get back to the business of educating students. Dr. Derrick told the South-Texas counties are looking for president west Texas State College faculty in a Monday afternoon assembly.

Dr. Derrick became acting president Saturday following the resignation of Dr. James B. McCrocklin. The vice president of college affairs was acting president from last July to January while Dr. McCrocklin was on leave of absence serving as undersecretary of health, education, and welfare.

Pledging his support to strengthen and improve the college, Derrick said he regretted the chain of circumstances that made it "seem desirable for us to meet this afternoon." He added, "I personally feel that we have sustained a great loss both as individuals and as an institution."

Derrick said, "I am not reluctant to serve the college to the best of my ability in any capacity, but I am now more keenly aware of the problems and responsibilities that I am undertaking."

The role of the college president is difficult. The role of an acting president is more difficult. College and university administrations are under attack throughout the nation by minor-

Czech Officials Talk In Moscow

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new Communist party chief, Gustav Husak, went to Moscow today, and his party's reform faction hoped he would return with some Soviet concessions.

Husak was welcomed at Moscow airport by Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev, Premier Alexei Kosygin, President Nikolai Podgorny and other top officials. This red carpet treatment indicated the Kremlin's pleasure that the pro-Moscow Husak had replaced Alexander Dubcek.

Husak formally took over the party controls Monday from the reform leader and left Prague a few hours later to attend a summit meeting of Comecon, the Soviet bloc economic organization. The Prague reformists hope that Husak's energetic efforts to please the Kremlin will result in Soviet approval of a substantial credit in dollars or some other convertible currency to help Czechoslovakia ease its economic troubles.

They also hope Moscow can be persuaded to cease publication of Zpravny, the Czech-language propaganda sheet which the Soviet occupation troops distribute. It is particularly hated by Czechoslovak students and other militants.

Though they realize there is little chance the occupation force will be withdrawn this year, the reformists are hopeful the Kremlin can be persuaded to move its troops to more isolated areas for the summer. Some of the garrisons now stationed in small towns around the country are a constant source of friction.

Communist sources in Moscow said the chief topic of discussion between Brezhnev and Husak was expected to be Husak's plans to strengthen party control over Czechoslovak life as demanded by Moscow.

Before his departure, Husak sent a message to Brezhnev saying the Czechoslovak party "is firmly determined to continue in the policy" of reforms launched last year before the Soviet invasion. "I am personally glad to have found the full understanding and support of the Communist party of the Soviet Union and of you personally in these efforts," Husak added.

Dirt Streets Given Repairs

During March, the city street department graded 375 blocks of streets and 247 of alleys. Four blocks of streets were rebuilt, and 94 blocks of shoulders were cleaned and graded.

Pit caliche in the amount of 588 cubic yards, plus 106 yards of crushed caliche and 79,500 of water were used to maintain and rebuild dirt streets and alleys.

Water Bought

During March, a total of 181,549 million gallons of water was received from the Colorado River Municipal Water District by the City of Big Spring at a cost of 19.976 cents per thousand gallons. Of this, 103,090 gallons were pumped from the plant at an average daily rate of 3.325 million gallons. This is a daily increase over 3,299 million gallons pumped during March, 1968.

The bidding: West North East South
4♠ Pass Pass 5♣
Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Ace of ♠
Altho the defensive campaigns varied when the above hand was dealt in a recent team-of-four match, a swing was avoided on the deal when both declarers in the South seat managed to bring home their five club contracts.

The bidding was the same at each table. West chose to open with four spades as the dealer and when the bidding reverted to South, the latter was unwilling to surrender without a struggle and he took a calculated risk by bidding five clubs.

At one table, West opened the ace of spades and then continued with the queen. Declarer put up North's king, discarding a heart from his hand. A third round of spades was ruffed in the closed hand and trumps were drawn in two rounds, ending up in the dummy.

A small heart was led and when East followed with the deuce, South put in the ten. West was in with the queen of hearts and he had only spades and diamonds left in his hand. A spade lead would obviously present declarer with a ruff and discard, so West led a small diamond. The ten was played from dummy and when this held the trick, South claimed his contract, having lost one spade and one heart.

At the other table, West also led the ace of spades, however, at trick two he switched to the queen of hearts. Declarer played the ace from his hand, drew two rounds of trump ending up in dummy and discarded the six of hearts on the king of spades.

South was convinced that West was short in hearts and he decided to play him for a singleton. He therefore continued with the six of spades from dummy. However, instead of ruffing in his hand, he merely discarded his remaining heart—the ten.

West was in, and like his counterpart at the other table, he was hopelessly endplayed. The diamond return provided South with the trick he needed to land his contract and the result on the deal for the two teams was a standoff.

TO PROTECT RECON MISSIONS OFF NORTH KOREA

Viet Naval Operations Curtailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vietnam naval air operations are being curtailed and the 7th Fleet stretched to the limit with deployment of a 23-ship task force to protect U.S. reconnaissance missions off North Korea.

"We've got no slack," a Navy officer commented after the Pentagon Monday announced assignment of an armada to the Sea of Japan where a Navy plane was shot down by North Korea last week.

One aircraft carrier and possibly other war ships of the 7th Fleet have been pulled from the war effort to form a new Task Force 71 deploying somewhere off North Korea.

Atlantic Fleet carriers have spelled Pacific carriers off Vietnam on occasion in the past.

Officers said the Pacific Command has three other aircraft carriers tied up in training operations off the West Coast. They could be freed, in case of emergency.

The four carriers going to the Sea of Japan include three attack types with some 260 combat aircraft, the Enterprise, the Ticonderoga, and the Ranger. About one-third of their planes are F4 Phantom jet fighters, best available match for the Soviet-made MIG aircraft used by North Korea in shooting down the Navy EC121 last week.

SUB THREAT

Fourth carrier in the task force is the Hornet, an antisubmarine warfare carrier equipped mainly with patrol-type planes which will defend the group against any submarine threat.

Inmates Make Big Contribution

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Nine Iowa penitentiary inmates, without promise of preferential treatment, have made a major contribution to world health, a University of Iowa physician said Sunday.

Dr. Robert E. Hodges said the prisoners contracted scurvy after volunteering to undergo a diet void of vitamin C.

They returned to health when the vitamin C was returned, Hodges said, after making possible findings which will be reported to the World Health Organization.

WTCC Honors 'Displaced'

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, convening here through today, honored eight "distinguished displaced West Texans" at a banquet Monday night.

The list included Houston mayor Louis Welch, formerly of Lockney and Clyde native Ralph Steen, now president of Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches.

Also included were three men who now live in Austin: Reader's Digest editor-at-large Charles W. Ferguson from Quannah, Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon from Stephenville and Higher Education Coordinating Board Commissioner Dr. Bevington Reed from Eastland County.

There were also three men who are now in business out of Texas. They are former West Texas Chamber of Commerce vice president Fred Husbands from Greenville, William Wright from Blackwell and Tom Brown from Lampasas.

The 300 delegates to the convention heard U.S. Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., the chairman of the House Appropriations committee, speak on national finances Monday.

FIRING LINE

Officers said this means the Navy contribution to the U.S. bombing campaign in South Vietnam and Laos will be cut by roughly one-third. The United States has been keeping three aircraft carriers on the firing line in the Gulf of Tonkin; for the time being this will be reduced to two.

The 7th Fleet's remaining four aircraft carriers are going into Task Force 71 along with three cruisers and 16 destroyers.

Thus, officers pointed out, all 7th Fleet carriers are now tied down on two fronts—the Sea of Japan and the Gulf of Tonkin. And officers described the 16 destroyers as a major share of the Seventh's heavy combat vessels.

How long the fleet can maintain both assignments under present conditions is a matter of concern to the Navy. With its six flat-tops occupied, the 7th Fleet has no replacement flexibility.

TIED UP

Officers said that if the task force has to remain in the Sea of Japan for any extended period—a few weeks or more—the 7th Fleet would have to get some relief in the way of replacements from the Atlantic Fleet.

Student Turmoil Will Get Worse?

DALLAS (AP) — A vice president of troubled San Francisco State College said Monday student turmoil will get worse before it gets better unless administrators learn proper limits on free speech on campus.

Glenn P. Smith said every college should have clearly-defined guidelines as to what is free speech and what is open class disruption.

Smith, head of administrative and business affairs at the California school, spoke to the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers.

He said problems at his school centered primarily on a vocal black minority unhappy about a decreasing Negro enrollment. Many black students can't meet stiffer entrance requirements under a master plan for California schools released in 1960, Smith said.

Speaking of San Francisco State President S. I. Hayakawa, Smith said he is so unorthodox, he keeps campus rebels off-balance.

Driver Alert Works This Way

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) — Jack Couper says a device he invented for automobiles is "an inconvenience designed to keep the driver alert, awake and alive."

Couper said the device, called Drive Alert and about the size of an auto radio, works this way.

When the auto reaches 45 miles an hour, a small blue light on the dashboard goes on. If the driver does not press a floor button within 10 seconds, a small speaker emits a loud clang. Within three seconds, if the driver does not react to the sound, the auto's horn goes on and the car's lights start flashing.

If the driver still hasn't switched the device off, the throttle linkage between the gas pedal and carburetor is disconnected and the car slows to a stop.

Welfare Ruling Might Cost Texas Taxpayers

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas is thinking about spending up to $80 million a year on welfare, but First Asst. Atty. Gen. Nola White says Monday's U. S. Supreme Court decision means Texas may have to double that.

The court knocked out residency requirements for welfare recipients. A one-year residency after application for welfare has been required under Texas law.

A constitutional amendment on the Aug. 5 ballot will propose increasing the welfare ceiling by $20 million to a total of $80 million.

"There's no question about it," White said in answer to a question on whether the court's ruling affects Texas.

States with higher welfare payments, such as New York, may be hurt more than Texas, White said, but it still will be a "very serious" problem for Texas.

In a 6-3 decision the high court said, "This court long ago recognized that the nature of our federal union and our constitutional concepts of personal liberty unite to require that all citizens be free to travel throughout the length and breadth of our land uninhibited by statutes, rules or regulations which unreasonably burden or restrict this movement."

South Texans Ask Victoria College

AUSTIN (AP) — A group of South Texans asked the Texas College and University System Coordinating Board Monday for favorable consideration of an upper level college in Victoria.

The school would serve over 5,000 students in a 15-county area, Rep. Dick Cory, Victoria, said. Cory is sponsor of a bill in the legislature creating Victoria State University, an upper level commuter college.

Cory said he had served in the House eight terms but had never supported the Victoria college because he didn't feel there was a "definite need." There is a definite need now, he said.

Conde Anderson, a Victoria attorney, said the request for a senior college "was an area application and not an attempt by the city of Victoria for self-advertisement."

"Our approach to this problem has not been provincial," Anderson said. "We realize the needs of this state as a whole. If we're not included as a top priority project, we won't criticize the board or be offended."

In other business the board said it would consider a proposal to establish a medical information center at Temple.

S. R. Greenwood, a Temple lawyer, said the city had access to 1,000 teaching beds in four hospitals and 19 available unused buildings at the Veterans Administration Center.

In addition, Temple has 108 practicing physicians, many of whom hold instructorships at different medical schools in the state, he said.

The board approved a request by law schools that they be permitted to offer the juris doctor degree as an option for the LL.B.

Board members postponed for consideration a proposal for a common calendar for public junior and senior colleges.

A Devotional For The Day

We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory. (II Corinthians 3:18)

PRAYER: Our Father, keep us at all times in close touch with Thee. Let us not allow the things of this world to obscure Thee or to take us away from Thee. Help us to make Thee the guide and leader of our lives. We pray in Christ's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Congress Should Face Guidelines Issue

The average citizen would be entitled to the belief that Congress has no power to set guidelines for congressional districts. After all, the Supreme Court of the United States has issued the only meaningful new instructions on the subject in many, many years.

The truth is, of course, that Congress not only has the right, but it has the responsibility of legislating on a subject which threatens to bring near chaos to congressional elections in 1970. A reasonably persuasive bill was passed by the Senate during the last session, but foundered in the House.

In its recent decision in a Missouri case the Supreme Court held that the population of congressional districts within a state must come very close to mathematical exactness. This is no great problem among less populous states, but in California or New York it might require residents in one-half of an apartment house to be in one congressional district and the other half in another district.

There is at least suspicion that the Supreme Court was crying "Help!" to Congress when it rendered its decision in the Missouri case. For the court has gone as far as it can. It is now faced with a monumental task of a state-by-state determination (assuming that litigation arises in all states) of the fairness of congressional redistricting measures. The question would almost surely be brought up after every census. The court has entered a legal thicket from which there is no escape.

If Congress is wise, it will act to exercise responsibly its power to set reasonably exact guidelines for congressional districts on such criteria as population, compactness and contiguity.

Matter Of Biennial Sessions

The Texas House of Representatives has approved 101 to 42 a state constitutional amendment for annual sessions of the Legislature. The Senate should, and probably will, in view of Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' favor, also grant two-thirds majority approval and submit the proposal to popular vote. The people probably would endorse the change now, if it does not become involved in side issues as before.

The trend across the nation is steadily toward annual sessions of state legislatures. There are annual sessions in 27 states, with 23 states, including Texas, still having biennial regular sessions.

As the states urbanize and industrialize, state affairs become increasingly complex with accelerating socio-economic changes requiring closer continuing attention of state governments. Furthermore, there is a strong national trend now toward shifting more responsibilities from the top-heavy federal government to state and local governments.

Annual sessions are advocated in state budget-making. In states with biennial sessions, expenditures and tax revenues must be estimated some 30 months in advance; this seems impractical under fluid economic conditions, which have become the rule rather than the exception.

There is no evidence to support the contention of opponents that spending is higher in states with annual sessions. In fact, with the less hasty action of annual sessions and the more accurate expenditure-revenue estimates they allow, the reform might save money. About the most valid argument for biennial sessions is that meeting is an invitation to put new laws on the books — twice as fast as before.

Art Buchwald Alternative To Sex Education

WASHINGTON — There is a big flap going on in the United States right now over the question of teaching sex education in our schools. The educators are mostly for it and the ultraconservatives, including the John Birchers and the DAR, are mostly against it. I usually like to stay out of controversial matters as I hate to answer my mail, but in this case I have to come out for teaching sex education in the schools.

THIS IS A very personal matter with me. I had no formal sex education when I was a student, and everyone knows the mess I'm in. If there had been a Head Start program in sex education when I was going to public school, I might have been a different man today.

When I was going to Public School 35 in Hollis, N.Y., we got all our sex education at the local candy store after 3 o'clock. The information was dispensed by 13-year-olds who seemed to know everything there was to know on the subject, and we 11- and 12-year-olds believed every word they told us.

SOME OF IT, I discovered later on, did not necessarily happen to be true. For example, I was told as an absolute fact that if a girl necked with you in the rumble seat of a car, she would automatically have a baby.

This kept me out of the rumble seat of an automobile until I was 23 years old.

There were some other canards of the day, including one that the method of kissing a girl on the mouth decided whether she would become pregnant or not. Every time I kissed a girl after that, I sweated for months.

THE SEX experts at Sam's Candy Store had an answer for every problem that was raised at the soda fountain. These included warnings that if you did certain things you would go insane. Most of us were prepared to be taken off to the booby hatch at any moment.

There was obviously no talk about birds, bees, flowers or animals. We couldn't care less what happened when they were doing it. Our only concern was what happened to human beings, and from what our 13-year-old instructors could tell us, it was all bad.

THOSE OF US who escaped insanity and shotgun weddings were told we would probably wind up with a horrendous disease that would be passed on to our children and their children for generations to come. There were 25 ways of catching this disease, including shaking hands with someone who knew someone who had it.

NOW THE WORST part of my sex indoctrination was that when I turned 13 I became an instructor myself and passed on my knowledge to 11- and 12-year-olds at the same candy store. They listened in awe as I repeated word for word what I had been told by my "teachers," and I was amazed with how much authority I was able to pass on the "facts" of sex education as I knew them.

Upon becoming 13, they in turn taught the younger students. Heaven knows how many generations of Public School 35 alumni went on through life believing everything they had learned about sex at Sam's Candy Store.

The fact is that, while the sex education at Sam's served a purpose, we were all emotional wrecks before we got to high school.

SO, ON THE basis of my own experience, I don't think we have much choice in this country when it comes to sex education. In order to avoid the agony and pain my fellow classmates and I went through, we either have to teach sex in the schools, or close down every soda fountain in the United States.

'THAT'S MY SIZE, BUT I LIKE PLENTY OF TOE ROOM'

John Cuniff Razzle-Dazzle Financing

NEW YORK (AP) — Fewer miracles may be wrought in coming weeks by the power of corporate debt, which has been the electricity charging the razzle-dazzle financing of some recent mergers.

In the past there have been few limits to what could be accomplished with someone else's money, such as a peanut-size upstart company taking over an elephant-size corporation. Now there is a big limitation.

THE ACTION, which is certainly more important than some financial observers at first realized, was taken within the past week by the New York Stock Exchange.

First, it refused to list certain debt securities of two companies. And then it suggested that in the future, companies that use an abundance of borrowings to buy out other firms ought, under certain circumstances, face delisting.

Motivating the action were requests by General Host Corp. and NVF Co. to list some of these debt securities on the Big Board.

GENERAL HOST had issued $16.3 million of debentures as part of a financial plan to acquire another company. NVF had issued $102.6 million, also in connection with an attempted acquisition of an entirely separate firm.

Now debentures, like bonds are borrowings. But, whereas bonds are claims on the assets of a company — its real estate, for example — debentures are backed by little more than the ability of the borrower.

In refusing to list these securities for trading, the exchange said it feared that earnings would not be great enough to pay the interest on the debt. In other words, the companies would show red ink. "WE THINK it unsound," said Merle Wick, a NYSE vice president. "Here were companies making money and they issue this sort of security that throws them into a loss position."

The exchange declined to delist the common stock of the companies, which is the security most often traded by the public. But it warned that companies using such financing methods in the future might be

Hal Boyle Memory Beams Gleam

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a lamp. It burns by day and by night. You can dim it during sleep but even then its beams gleam fitfully in your dreams, haunting your mind with images from before.

Yes, memory is a lovely lamp whose rays light up the past and keep it alive in the living present. Without that lamp our lives would be merely a blind stumble in the dark from one terror to another. By its help, however, our world has meaning.

Your own memory lamp is working pretty well if you can look back and remember when

NO WIFE ever took an overnight trip away from home without worrying whether she had emptied the pan under the icebox.

A bootblack was pleased to get a nickel tip because that was 50 per cent over what you had paid him for the shine.

The only people who owned two-car garages were those who had converted them from two-buggy barns.

Instead of trying to avoid measles, parents thought it was a good idea for the kids to have them and get them over with.

It was doubted whether the infant commercial aviation industry could succeed if it didn't continue to provide parachutes for every passenger.

YOU COULD buy a pretty good house for what it now costs to send a kid to college for a year.

Whether you had voted for him or not, your congressman on request would send you a free packet of garden seeds each spring.

Children yelled "Beaver!" everytime they saw a white horse or a man with a beard.

Only men told naughty stories in mixed company — and they were frowned on.

Actors and bankers always wore high collars.

Women movie stars hated to admit they enjoyed cooking for fear the public would think them less glamorous.

The most widespread fear among people in rural areas was the dread of having to end their days at the county poor farm.

It was easy to tell which kids wasted their time after classes shooting marbles for keeps in the schoolyard. They had raw knuckles.

Folks hesitated to order fish in a restaurant on Wednesday, figuring it was probably left over from the Friday before.

SOME PREACHERS joined economists in denouncing the five-day fiber of the working classes because they wouldn't know how to use their extra leisure time wisely.

You could turn a neighbor back home green with envy by sending him a postcard telling him you'd driven all of 200 miles in a single day.

There were more enrolled Republicans than Democrats in America, more carpet sweepers than vacuum cleaners, and more lightning rods than television aerials.

Around The Rim What's Time To A Blackburn, Anyhow?

Next Sunday, as I am informed, we resume Daylight Savings Time. As in other years, some folk will be setting their clocks an hour ahead; others will set them an hour back. And there will be those who will forget all about it.

THERE WILL be phone calls to this office, without doubt, asking just how you do this adjustment — "do you set the clock ahead an hour or back an hour?" And our able staff of reporters and editors, probably as fuzzy about the matter as the perturbed subscriber will hand down some learned decisions which, I might add, are not guaranteed to be 100 per cent accurate.

I read a letter to the editor in another newspaper recently which seems to me to bring the whole confused muddle into sharp focus.

"WHY BOTHER with all the clock changing?" queried this letter writer. "Why not just tell the workers to come to work at 7 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. and that they will be off duty at 4 p.m. instead of 5 p.m.?"

To which I echo: "Why not do just that?" Some of the wiser souls with whom I have discussed this proposal have shaken their heads in disapproval.

THE PLAN is not good, they tell me because the psychology of going to work at the unholy hour of 7 a.m. will irk folk.

I am a little dense on these finer points of psychology. The difference between going to work at 7 a.m. — honestly calling the time 7 a.m. — and going to work at the same hour sometime and kidding ourselves we are going to work at 8 a.m. is hard for me to comprehend. It is just as early regardless. And I'll be just as sleepy whether the clock hands are at the true time of 7 or at the Daylight Savings Time of 8.

TIME, AS I understand, is merely a man-devised method of sort of keeping tab on human effort. There is no really logical reason why there should be 24 hours in a day. A 20-hour day would be a lot simpler, not withstanding the earth making a complete revolution on its axis in 24 hours.

Why 60 minutes in an hour — why not 100 minutes — which is a lot easier to divide?

Humpy Dumpty wisely told Alice that his practice was making words work for him and not having words make him work for them.

HUMPTY, for instance, referred to the day as being "superfluous". When Alice took him to task pointing out that word didn't fit, he asked her had she rather be bossed around by a lot of words or boss the words. Humpty made the words mean whatever he wanted them to mean.

While this might make communication even more difficult than it is now, it has a lot of good sense in it. Just as we might be a lot happier if we all thumbed our collective at clocks and decided to operate as we saw fit on a schedule of which we had no concern with hours, minutes or seconds.

ANYWAY, regardless, you had better get that clock ready for Daylight Savings next Sunday. Else you may be (1) early on the job (2) late on the job or (3) right on time on the job. —SAM BLACKBURN

Holmes Alexander A Nuclear Shield Is A Necessity

WASHINGTON — In the matter of the ABM, President Nixon has come to one of those battles which has to be fought, even if lost, in order to win the war.

His fighting thus far has been uninspiring and inglorious, and that is because he has counted too much that "might-makes-right, which it doesn't."

SOFT WORDS like sufficiency and Safeguard (for superiority and Sentinel) have not turned away wrath. The legitimate difference in viewpoint between his Secretary of Defense (the software of diplomacy) and his Secretary of Defense (the hardware of weapons) has not been rendered self-explanatory. Mr. Nixon has given ground but has not gained any adherents. He is back-to-the-wall on ABM, and he must fight, not just for the funding of an anti-missile system. In an unavoidably cliché language he must fight for the minds and hearts of his countrymen.

HE MUST, that is, go over from soft-sell to hard-sell. He must market the ABM not as an end-product but as a high-risk experiment. No matter if the Spartans and Spartans may explode over the United States and kill as many persons as automobiles do, we must have the weapons for the same reason that we must keep on manufacturing motor cars. We cannot turn back to horse-and-buggy, much less can we allow an enemy or domestic agitators to force us to turn back.

NO MATTER if we do spend billions for Safeguards which are then relegated to the museum, we still must spend the billions and buy the technological experience. We need the nuclear shield, as well as the nuclear sword, because those are the weapons with which the enemy is armed.

THE HARD-SELL of a high-risk experiment is a tougher assignment than any politician cares to undertake. But Mr. Nixon is past the point of having a yes-or-no choice. Just this month the objective, authoritative, British-published Institute for Strategic Studies stated what Mr. Nixon must tell the American people in his own words. The institute said that last year marked "the end of the American desire and ability to be the universal and dominant power," and that "the Soviet Union must be treated as a full equal in terms of strategic power." The year of 1968 marked, also, the end of the Kennedy-Johnson regime when "parity" was achieved by letting the Russians catch up. Mr. Nixon now has no option on whether or not to go-for-broke in preparedness. The Soviets' momentum is carrying them to a commanding supremacy.

IT IS A debating challenge such as Richard Nixon never had before. He must intellectually convince an emotionalized people that it is safer and more sensible to do unsafe and unsensible things rather than concede the Russians an insurmountable lead in the technology of world-destruction.

Marquis Childs Higher Education Under Threat

WASHINGTON — As the uproar on the campuses grows with each passing day, the threat to the whole structure of higher education is an ominous cloud on the academic horizon. A little band of extremists in one university after another sets the pace with some form of violent confrontation. All too often bumbling, entrenched authority responds with arbitrary action that enlists the moderates on the side of the extremists.

SO WHAT to do? If the erosion continues there will be more conflict, more violence, with the end result resembling what has happened in Japan. The University of Tokyo, which is rated as Harvard, Yale and Princeton rolled into one, was closed down for nine months with an entering class and a graduating class ruled out. In a highly competitive society this was a blow to thousands of young people.

Rep. Edith Green of Oregon, chairman of the special House Subcommittee on Education, is putting in a bill providing for arbitration of campus disputes. It would create a Federal office that would offer mediation resembling the labor mediation service. A mediator could enter a dispute on the request of any of the three parties of interest — students, faculty or administrators. Without a request a mediator might volunteer his services.

A STUDENT group could be represented once they had obtained signatures of 20 per cent of the student body on a petition. As presently drafted, Mrs. Green's measure carries no sanctions for violation of the mediator's finding in the dispute. Eventually, however, sanctions might be enacted similar to the penalties in the Labor Relations Act for unfair labor practices in a strike.

THE INITIAL reaction to Mrs. Green's proposal among educators and members of Congress to whom it was circulated prior to the Easter recess has ranged from polite hope to frank skepticism. Students on the far left would make every effort to obstruct such mediation. The activists in Students for a Democratic Society hold that government has lost its legitimacy. They carry their fierce opposition to the Vietnam War and the reserve officers' training system in the colleges to every facet of the Establishment. They mean to bring it down, and the assault on higher education is an opening wedge. So, say the doubters, such a measure would be futile.

AT THE OTHER end of the political spectrum doubts are grounded in a conviction that students have no right to demand a part in administration. Authority is authority whether it is exercised by elected representatives of the citizenry administering the affairs of a state university or trustees who have been selected by legal process under duly authorized charter to oversee the affairs of a privately endowed college.

So it appears unlikely that the mediation measure will have much of a chance between these two poles of opposition. It would mean the creation of a new Federal bureaucracy and such bureaucracies have a way of growing with an inner life of their own. Imposing sanctions would mean law enforcement and at the outset certainly a legal challenge and a wrangle in the courts.

ANGER AT the anarchic behavior of the students is bound to take a political form. The shape of that form is increasingly clear. As in California, following the series of blowups at Berkeley, both faculty and students are to be disciplined. Gov. Ronald Reagan is riding high on the crest of the reaction. Liberal Democrats say despairingly that, with the middle mass of the voters enraged at the obstructionism of the small minority of extremists on the Berkeley campus, Reagan is a shoo-in for re-election next year.

A LOVELIER YOU Reducers May Eat Dieter's Sandwiches

By MARY SUE MILLER

A reducing Lovely asks: Is there such a thing as a low-calorie sandwich? It is most always difficult for me to get any other kind of luncheon fare. Yet I am sure a steady diet of sandwiches doesn't help me lose weight.

The answer: Sandwiches need not be loaded with calories. Two slices of bread total a permissible 130 calories, less when you make use of a good quality diet bread. There's a saving, too, in buying unsliced bread and cutting it very thin.

But the secret of keeping the count down lies in low-cal fillings. Among the lowest are such vegetable combinations as tomato and lettuce or water-cress and cucumber. Dressed with a teaspoon of mayonnaise, such fillings could total little more than 50 calories.

This next category comes in at about 100 calories. It includes one slice of meat, fowl or loaf-type cheese; one hamburger patty or frankfurter; 1/4 cup tuna or salmon salad, egg salad made with one egg or sardine salad made with three sardines. Included in the salad counts are two teaspoons of mayonnaise. For a meat, fowl or cheese sandwich, the bread should be spread with mustard, chili sauce or catsup.

Following any of these recipes, you may include beef or tomato consommé on the menu, plus a small piece of fresh fruit. Teens must add a glass of milk. As given, the fare provides sufficient vitamins and proteins to keep you going and enough bulk to satisfy your appetite. At a very acceptable calorie total!

Secretaries Will Be Honored Wednesday

In conjunction with the observance of the 18th annual Secretaries Week, April 20-26, the National Secretaries Association (International) has revealed that NSA has recently conducted a survey of help that among NSA's findings were that: (1) many of these wanted ads in the secretarial were composed in a "too clever" style emphasizing glamorous surroundings to attract personnel to the executive suite and minimizing the basic tenets of the position, and (2) others sought employees at the junior level yet detailed qualifications normally required of a full-fledged secretary.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: For those who are home seamstresses and like to do their cutting-out on the bed, try taking the extension leaves from your dining room table (usually found in a closet 'cause they are seldom used) and putting them together on your bed. It makes a great cutting table.

I have even placed one on a dining room chair to hold my partially stitched pieces. Gives me a great deal of extra room. ... Billie S.

Guild Sees Film On Christian Life

The Rev. Harlan (Steve) Birdwell showed the film, "Why Man Creates," at Monday's meeting of St. Mary's Guild, St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The film dealt with man's beginnings and showed modern examples of Christian living. It explained that even though Christians may "go astray," they eventually return to Christ. Mrs. Everett Lomax brought the devotion, and Mrs. Shine Phillips, president, was hostess.

OWC Will Host Coffee Thursday

The Hi and Bye coffee slated Thursday in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base will begin at 10 a.m. with the wives in Class 70-06 as hostesses. Mrs. Rolly Grounds is general chairman, and the theme will be "April Showers Bring May Flowers."

metropolitan newspapers in the United States and Canada. Mrs. Lenore S. Forti of Detroit, Mich. CPS, NSA's International President, said that among NSA's findings were that: (1) many of these wanted ads in the secretarial were composed in a "too clever" style emphasizing glamorous surroundings to attract personnel to the executive suite and minimizing the basic tenets of the position, and (2) others sought employees at the junior level yet detailed qualifications normally required of a full-fledged secretary.

Mrs. Forti said: "The conclusion we drew from this survey is that there is a secretarial caste system and that too often management is willing to settle for less in some situations or to expect more in training and performance than the job level actually warrants. This results in lower standards and is detrimental to NSA's stated purpose as the standard-bearer of a profession.

"There are those among management who call anyone who sits upright before a typewriter a secretary. A few personnel agencies have less than a stringent testing procedure before sending a so-called secretary out on a job interview. Consequently, some have been given the label of a secretary who are found wanting in even the basic skills essential."

"Better Secretaries Mean Better Business" is the theme of the special week. Locally, Mayor Arnold Marshall issued a proclamation designating the week here, which began Sunday with association members attending services at First United Methodist Church.

On Wednesday, which has been marked as "Secretaries Day," there will be a dutch luncheon at 11:30 a.m. in Furr's Cafeteria. All local secretaries are asked to join NSA members for the luncheon. Those who wish to attend should contact Mrs. W. A. Bryans, 263-3703; Mrs. Frank Long, 263-8216; or Mrs. Richard Thomas, 267-8216.

Mays Back In Old Spot In Lineup

By The Associated Press

The Say Hey kid nestled back into his old spot with success, but it didn't prevent the sizzling Los Angeles Dodgers from breaking an old jinx against Juan Marichal.

The Dodgers, taking advantage of a pair of costly errors, scored five unearned runs in the fifth inning en route to a 7-5 victory Monday night, knocking Marichal out of the box for the first time in 11 meetings. It was the Dodgers' seventh straight triumph.

Meanwhile, Willie Mays returned to his old No. 3 spot in the batting order, after hitting leadoff in the Giants' first 11 games, and responded with two singles in three official trips.

BREAKS STREAK

In action elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis broke its seven game home losing streak with a 4-1 victory over Montreal, Philadelphia edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings, Cincinnati ripped Houston 11-5, and Atlanta checked San Diego 5-2 to maintain its 1/2 game edge over the Dodgers in the West Division.

Marichal, who has a 25-12 lifetime mark against Los Angeles, kept the Dodgers in check until Willie Crawford's leadoff homer in the fourth and Tom Haller's double and Paul Popovich's single produced a 2-0 lead in the fifth.

Then errors by Don Mason and Willie McCovey opened the floodgates for Los Angeles. Mason's error enabled Crawford to reach first, and Bill Russell followed with an infield single.

McCovey sacrificed, but McCovey dropped Marichal's throw to first and Crawford came in. Andy Kosco and pitcher

Bill Singer each produced run-scoring singles and Ted Sizemore singled home two runs before Ron Herbel came in to replace Marichal, who lost his first game after winning two.

Singer picked up his third straight victory, but needed relief help when the Giants scored four runs in the eighth.

The Cardinals ended their string of misfortune at home when Tim McCarver—with two out, the bases loaded and a 3-2 count against him in the bottom of the ninth—drew a walk from Montreal's Dan McGinn.

McCarver was the first man up after McGinn was called into replace Carroll Sembera.

Lou Brock's first homer of the year had given the Cards a 4-4 deadlock in the sixth.

HITS FIRST HOMER

Larry Hise, a rookie center fielder, tagged his first major league home in the fourth inning, then scored the winning run in the 11th on Tony Taylor's single as the Phils dropped the Mets.

The Mets used consecutive singles by Cleon Jones, Ed Charles and Ron Swoboda for a run in the second inning, but winner Woody Fryman permitted only two hits after that until

Still Very Much Factors In 3-AAAA Race

Pictured here are members of the 1969 Big Spring High School baseball team, who now boast a 7-3 league record. The Steers host Odessa High at 4 o'clock this afternoon in an important game. Front row, from left, David Hanson, Felix Martinez, Andy Gamba, Ricky Peurifoy, Gary Hinds, Riley Falkner. Second row, Thomas Ham, Tommy McMurtry, James Newman,

Odds Mount Against BS

Time is growing short for Big Spring in the District 3-AAAA baseball race but coach Oakley Hagood plans to play his opponents "one game at a time" from here on down to the wire.

The Steers, trailing pace-setting Midland Lee by two games in the race, host dangerous Odessa High at 4 p.m. today.

The Longhorns must not only play winning ball and beat Lee in their next to last regular season start but hope to get help from some other club in the race.

Lee is living up to all expectations. The Rebels were beaten by Abilene High earlier in the conference season but have since proved to be invincible.

In their last meeting, Big Spring edged Odessa High 3-2, one of the many cliffhangers they have had since play began.

Either Thomas Ham or Lefty James Newman, probably the former, will get the mound call for Big Spring today. Ham, a right-hander, has been pitching in tough luck but he was very impressive in his last start and coach Hagood reasons he is about ready to start dominating the hitters.

Over-all, Big Spring is 11-6-1 while Odessa High, picked to finish second in the league race, is 6-12. Within the district, the Longhorns are 7-3 — good for third place behind Lee and Abilene High — while Odessa is 3-8. The Broncs must win all the rest of their starts in order to salvage a .500 season.

In their last assignments, Big Spring edged Abilene Cooper in extra innings, 3-2, while Odessa won a 12-inning struggle from Permian, 2-1.

The Longhorns have averaged 4.6 runs a game against district opponents, compared to 3.8 for the opposition.

The Bovines go to San Angelo Saturday for a league game, then catch Permian here next Tuesday.

Lee tangles with Ector in Odessa today and goes to Abilene Saturday to oppose Cooper.

Other starters for Big Spring today include Joe Martinez behind the plate, Newman at first (in event Ham starts), Danny Parchman at second, Jimmy Wilson at third, Felix Martinez at shortstop, Roger Dixon in left field, Andy Gamba in center and Rocky Wooley in right.

In event Newman should go to the mound, Bill Jones will take over at first base.

Palmer On Beam For Baltimore

By The Associated Press

Jim Palmer, restored from the scrap heap, has helped Baltimore's high-flying Orioles to a first place perch in the American League's East Division.

Palmer won his third game of the young season Monday night, limiting Cleveland to four hits in Baltimore's 11-0 romp. It was the second shutout for Palmer, who won 15 games for the Orioles when they captured the pennant in 1966 but was virtually useless for the last two seasons because of arm and back trouble.

Palmer's aches and pains are all gone now and the ones who are really hurting are the Indians, who dropped their fifth straight and 10th in 11 starts this season.

DETROIT WINS

Elsewhere in the American League Monday, Detroit blanked Washington 2-0, Seattle tripped Kansas City 4-1, Minnesota took Oakland 8-4 and New York topped Boston 6-4. Chicago and California were not scheduled.

Palmer's arm trouble limited him to 37 innings pitched last year in minor league stops at Elmira, Rochester and Miami. But he regained his touch pitching winter ball in Puerto Rico and he has been Baltimore's best pitcher this season.

Monday's shutout lowered his earned run average to 1.69. He has allowed just 18 hits in 26 2/3 innings and has struck out 19 batters.

Sports dialogue:
 GOLFER MILLER BARBER

"This golf business is like climbing a ladder, in the beginning you try to make the cut. Then you want to earn more money. Then you hope to win a tournament and, finally, you want to win a real big one, like the Masters or the Open."

GOLFER GAY BREWER:

"I used to play this game from memory, but no more. I mean the muscles did what they were supposed to do instinctively. But now there has to be a reason to get them working again, to make them respond. You've got to get churned up to a particular performance."

Pretty SHARRON MORAN, a touring golfer, discussing her problems getting to know young men who date her:

"Because we're only in town one week, we don't have a chance to get to know someone real well. It's like swinging at a golf ball and quitting on the shot... like there's no follow-through."

WILLIS REED, star center for the New York Knickerbockers, discussing his hawk Walt Frazier:

"The ball really belongs to Walt. He just lets us play with it once in a while."

FURMAN BISHOP, Atlanta scribe:

"I could spend an hour writing about William Earl Casper Jr., but you know all that. How he goes out and kills his own buffalo to put meat on the table for breakfast. How he was fat, and now he is thin. And how he learned that the world doesn't love a thin man any more than it loved a fat man... You know about Bruce Devlin, his career as a plumber's helper, and how he escaped Australia before he flooded it... You know of Jack Nicklaus. Known as 'Fat Jack.' A nice man who wonders what all the world's got against him, and why. He wins a golf tournament, people write their congressman and want it investigated. He gets his picture on the cover of a magazine and town censors want it stricken as pornographic. But the kind of guy you'd like to bring home and introduce to your daughter, if you had one."

LEO DUROCHER, manager of the Chicago Cubs:

"The main trouble with all this expansion is that we've had to add 16 new umpires. I don't see why Hire the Handicapped Week should last all season long."

LUM HARRIS, manager of the Atlanta Braves:

"Houston should have lost Rusty Staub for even thinking about trading him."

JIM FREGOSI, shortstop for the California Angels:

"Last year everybody told us we would win the American League pennant. But did we believe it? Obviously not. Now, Angel players aren't just talking. I feel they believe in doing the job in 1969. Last season was miserable. Nobody communicated with anybody. We just drifted into a state of taking our lumps and doing nothing about it. We needed pride. Now the feeling is this is our own team, developed within our own family. It has jelled and should pay off."

TOM WEISKOPF, after playing in the Masters golf tournament:

"I've never experienced pressure like that. It's hard to describe the feeling of knowing that you have to do something as exacting and difficult as hit a golf ball while realizing that the shot might win you the Masters."

ATLANTA JOURNAL:

"The Masters broadcasting committee enforced some rather strenuous rules on the CBS crew this time around. The ugly topic of money was verboten. Leading money winner Gene Littler should be referred to as "former Open champion." Only classic tournaments, such as U.S. and British Open, could be mentioned, nothing as plebeian as the Phoenix or Pensacola Open. And it had to be the "Masters Tournament," not "Masters GOLF Tournament."

Texas Money Conferees Playing Waiting Game

AUSTIN (AP) — Appropriations conferees apparently played a waiting game today, further delaying talks on the $5.7 billion state spending bill for 1969-71.

"No contact whatsoever," said Rep. W. S. Healy, House Appropriations Committee Chairman, when asked if he had gotten together with Sen. A.M. Aikin of Paris, head of the Senate spending conferees.

It had been a full week since the Senate rejected the House version of the appropriations bill and called for a conference committee. House conferees were appointed Monday.

Healy, when asked what hold up there was in setting down with Aikin to plan the conferees, said, "I presume he is busy. I am too."

However, the two were to gather earlier in the day for a bill signing in the governor's office.

One source said Speaker Gus Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes planned to meet Thursday—after the annual "Speaker's Day" celebration honoring Mutscher Wednesday — to discuss the conference committee's work.

To be adjusted are the millions of dollars of differences between the Senate's $5.77 billion money bill and the House's $5.72 billion substitute, passed last Monday.

Senators have instructed their conferees not to add any new material, not found in either bill, without first getting permission through a resolution.

The House rejected this approach Monday, but told its conferees to report 48 hours ahead of the time when the House will vote on its compromise bill and to submit a detailed comparison of the Senate and House versions.

In what many considered an unprecedented step, the House told the conferees to meet in public.

Despite Barnes' assurance that Senate conferees understand "they are going to meet in public," Aikin said there "probably" would be some secret meetings because "we would never get a bill out if we held all our meetings in public."

Another House instruction could, potentially anyway, keep Barnes and Mutscher out of the conference proceedings. It says House conferees may negotiate only with Senate conferees, unless both sides unanimously grant an exception.

Mutscher appointed these other conferees, besides Healy: Reps. Richard Slack, Pecos; Raul Longoria, Edinburg; Jim Slider, Naples, and Bill Braeckleion, Dallas.

The House spent all of its debate time Monday on a bill designed to facilitate mergers between insurance companies and other kinds of corporations, including conglomerates. After some three hours of debate and several attempts to amend the bill, further debate was postponed until next Monday.

High Court Cuts Power Of Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today cut into the power of police to make arrests for the sake of investigation.

In a 6-2 ruling, the court said a judge's permission must be given before a suspect is seized to be fingerprinted.

The decision upset the conviction of a 14-year-old Mississippi Negro boy in the rape of an 88-year-old white woman. It found his fingerprints should not have been used at trial.

Once again, Justice Hugo L. Black dissented, scoring his colleagues for expanding the protection of the Fourth Amendment. He said they should cut it back to what he called its intended size and "make our cities a safer place for men, women and children to live."

The Fourth Amendment guarantees citizens security "against unreasonable searches and seizures." The court found police are subject to its "constraints" when they obtain fingerprints for use as evidence.

Beyond that, the court, in an opinion by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., warned that the Fourth Amendment applies to police investigations.

He said police are not free to seize suspects without probable cause "to the harassment, indignity incident to involuntary detention."

Brennan added: "Nothing is more clear than the Fourth Amendment was meant to prevent wholesale intrusions upon the personal security of our citizenry, whether these intrusions be termed 'arrests' or 'investigatory detentions.'"

Investigators Check On Wrecks

Three minor wrecks kept accident investigators busy Monday. None involved major damage or injuries.

Locations and drivers involved included: Third at Runnels, Ella Blanch Shoffit, Box 82, and Agustín Rocha Ryala, 509 NE 9th; Eleventh at Donley, Daniel W. Blackwell, 815 Creighton, and Linda M. Phillips, 2304 Merryly; Fourth and Runnels, Charles Stephens Jr., Coahoma, and Lena Mae Wilson, 1826 E. 25th.

Sprinklers Are To Be Installed

The sprinkler heads for the Airport School campus-park project arrived this morning, according to Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, and installation will begin this afternoon by Johnny Johansen's parks crew. The pipe and other work on the system has been completed.

Anderson said Air Force officers will begin planting 32 trees on the park site Friday. The grass will be seeded after the sprinkler system is functioning.

Also, Anderson said, two live oak trees are being installed downtown, replacing one that died and another that was destroyed when hit by a car.

Volunteers For Crusade Needed

A call for volunteers to mount the second front was issued by Mrs. Raymond Torp, Cancer Crusade chairman.

Workers are needed to help conduct a second door-to-door canvass for cancer research and related work, Mrs. Torp said. The campaign will take part Wednesday in the areas of town that were not covered by the crusade last week.

"We still have a large section of the city that needs to be contacted," she said.

The drive will start at 6 p.m. Wednesday from 608 Highland.

Thalidomide Trial 'Deal' Reported

AACHEN, West Germany (AP) — Defense attorneys in the marathon Thalidomide trial said today they are trying to negotiate an out-of-court settlement for the 292 plaintiffs in the 11-month-old proceeding. But they aren't getting very far.

The plaintiffs are children born deformed allegedly after their mothers took the tranquilizing drug during pregnancy. Their suits charge nine officials and scientists of the West German pharmaceutical company that manufactured the drug with negligent manslaughter and inflicting bodily injury. All the children are West German except one Austrian and one American.

Most judicial sources predict the trial will go on until the end of the year at least unless the defense can agree on a settlement and get court approval of the terms.

VA Nurse Transferring

Mrs. Lillian S. O'Brien, R.N., clinical nurse at the Veterans Administration Hospital will leave Big Spring this week to assume duties as supervisor of a 75-bed nursing care unit at the VA Center, Sioux Falls, S.D.

The nursing unit is housed in a separate building but associated with the 270-bed VA General Medical and Surgical hospital at Sioux Falls.

A native of Overly, N.D., Mrs. O'Brien attended Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., and North Dakota State Agricultural College at Fargo, then, deciding on a nursing career, she completed her training at Good Samaritan School of Nursing. Shortly thereafter, she served as a Navy nurse, lieutenant (jg) for two years. Mrs. O'Brien held staff and supervisor nursing positions in several hospitals throughout Texas before joining the VA hospital staff in 1959. While serving as a night nursing supervisor in 1965, she took educational leave and attended Texas Christian University from where she received her BS degree in nursing in August, 1966.

Mrs. O'Brien is a member of Texas Nurses Association, District 24. She resided at 611 Johnson and has three sons, Paul, William and John.

Police Report Minor Incidents

Several minor incidents were on the police blotter this morning.

Donald K. Judd, 1731 Yale, reported a stolen bicycle. The Fina Station, 711 W. 4th, reported about $25 in damage to a door caused by an attempted burglary. Two juveniles were arrested for shoplifting at the Safeway Store on Gregg.
