MOVE YOUR CLOCK AHEAD Did You Forget DST?

If you forgot to set your clock ahead one hour before going to bed last night, you woke up this morning an hour late.

Daylight Saving Time began at 2 a.m. today. At precisely that hour, time officially advanced one hour to 3 a.m.

For the next six months the sun will be an hour higher in the sky when you get off work or out of school. This "saves" an hour for additional outdoor activity during the warm months.

DST ends at 2 a.m. Oct. 26, when all clocks are moved back one hour.

De Gaulle In Seclusion, Waits Showdown Vote

COLOMBEY - LES - DEUX- EGLISES, France (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle went into seclusion Saturday in his retreat at the muddy end of General de Gaulle street to await the results of a referendum Sunday that some polls say may force him from office.

Only his wife, Yvonne, and a handful of servants were with the 78-year-old president in their modest, walled estate in this distinguished village with a population of 363 on the southern flank of the Champagne region. The street named after him— dusty in the summer—ran with mud Saturday after a long rain. The property was surrounded by police and was separated from green, rolling fields by barbed wire.

This is where De Gaulle will live out his retirement if a ma-majority of Frenchmen vote Sunday against his referendum to loosen administrative centralization by creating 21 new administrative regions, and wrest legislative power from the Senate and turn it into a consultative body.

In a radio-television speech to the nation Friday night, De Gaulle restated his plan to quit if he loses.

A final public opinion poll conducted for the newspaper France-Soir gave De Gaulle only 49 per cent of the decided vote against 51 per cent for the opposition. Immeasurable at this stage was the effect of De Gaulle's last-minute appeal, on undecided voters.

The president's staff in Paris has said that if he were to lose he might never return to the capital. His personal effects would be brought from Elysee Palace to his property, called La Boisseries, or The Grove.

Other sources said De Gaulle had left letters with trusted aides in Paris—including one addressed to Premier Maurice Couve de Murville and another to Gaston Palewski, president of the Constitutional Council which pronounces on election results—announcing his resignation.

A third letter, it was said, was addressed to the secretary of the Senate, Alain Poher, Senate president, would assume the national presidency in case of De Gaulle's departure, and organize new elections.

Since his rise to power, De Gaulle has been accepted here without question, larger than life as a national monument. Colombey-Les-Deux-Eglises has always voted Gaullist.

Task Force Under Sail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy task force hastily assembled in the Sea of Japan to protect American reconnaissance flights is being moved to the Yellow Sea on the other side of North Korea.

The Defense Department confirmed Saturday that Task Force 71 — four aircraft carriers, three cruisers and 22 destroyers — "is proceeding south of Korea through the Tsushima Straits to the Yellow Sea where fleet operations will continue."

Pleasant Job For Nixon

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — President Nixon performed a father's pleasant act Saturday—crowning his daughter Tricia, 23, queen of the International Azalea Festival.

The President placed a circlet sparkling with imitation gems on Tricia's blonde head as she stood on the stage of an amphitheater surrounded by weeping willows, dogwood trees and towering pines. The scene was colored by thousands of blooming azaleas.

Replaced Only Part

HOUSTON (AP) — A doctor said Saturday he replaced only a part of a human eye Tuesday in an operation called at the time the world's first total transplant.

However, his official statement showed that the transplant was far greater than the corneal replacement which has become almost routine surgery.

Dr. Conrad D. Moore told a news conference at Methodist Hospital the recipient received only the front optical portion of the eyeball.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

It has been another of those busy weeks with a crowded ending. Things sort of worked up to the coin show Thursday evening, the opening of Cooks Discount Thursday, the high school choir concert Friday evening and the automobile show and the Big Spring Art Association exhibit Saturday.

We came up against a sickening tragedy during the week. Little Oscar Velasquez, 4-year-old son of Patricia Velasquez, was caught in a closet when flames destroyed the family home in the western end of the city. Firemen found his huddled body there when the fire was subdued.

A project which has been a dream for years began to take substantive form Friday when ground was broken for the new hospital at Webb AFB. When completed within a year and a half, this two-million-dollar facility will be one of the finest of its size in this area.

Oil activity just east of town is hotter than a snake on the stove. Amerada has completed a dual producer in its No. 1 White, a rather prolific Wolfcamp well in its No. 1 Furrh; has two others drilling, both of which had impressive shows; two other operators have tests going in the general area; and two more locations have staked for (See THE WEEK, Page 4-A, Col. 5)

More Negro Demonstrators Arrested, Ignore Police

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Police arrested about 70 Negroes, mostly juveniles, Saturday when they ignored orders to disperse after an attempted march through the business district to demonstrate support of striking hospital workers.

The arrests were made about mid-afternoon after a four-hour confrontation between state police, National Guardsmen and the Negroes.

Those arrested included 11 adults and about 60 youngsters aged 16 and under. Authorities said most of the juveniles are expected to be released into the custody of their parents.

Persons arrested Saturday joined 102 others jailed Friday on charges of violating a restraining order limiting the number of pickets at the struck South Carolina Medical College Hospital and Charleston County Hospital.

The new arrests were made on charges of failing to obey an officer's orders.

The demonstrators, who did not resist arrest, were hauled to the county jail in buses. Bond had not been set by late afternoon.

They attempted the march after a rally at Central Baptist Church.

Police chief John Conroy said the demonstrators could not march because they lacked a permit.

Carl Farris, local director for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said no permit was needed because the right to march was guaranteed by the Constitution.

Conroy said he supported all constitutionally guaranteed rights "but we have the legal right to control massive demonstrations. We have an obligation to the peace of the entire community and must have a method of insuring complete control."

Nearly 100 National Guardsmen and state troopers stood by as the arrests were made.

The hospitals of the State Medical College and the county were struck several weeks ago by nonprofessional workers seeking higher wages and union recognition.

Meanwhile, a circuit court judge refused to relax the terms of his injunction on picketing. Judge Clarence Singletary denied a motion to vacate the order and said the injunction is a "valid action in the public interest."

The injunction allows picketing on a limited basis.

Rains Predicted On Flood Area

By The Associated Press
The swollen Mississippi River was on crest along an 80-mile stretch between Illinois and Iowa Saturday. Officials and residents hoped that predicted heavy rains and high winds would bypass the flood-stricken area.

A spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers, which has been directing the fight to hold back the river, said heavy rains could undermine and weaken the earthen dikes protecting many communities.

The engineers said Friday that rainfall up to an inch or more and winds in excess of 30 miles an hour were expected late Saturday and again Sunday. But the Weather Bureau in Chicago said Saturday the weather might not turn out as severe as predicted. The engineers reported Saturday the Mississippi was on crest from Sabula, Iowa, across from Savanna, Ill., southward to Muscatine, Iowa—an 80-mile stretch that includes the Quad-Cities, an industrial area consisting of Rock Island, Moline and East Moline in Illinois and Davenport and Bettendorf in Iowa.

A company of soldiers from Ft. Riley, Kan., about 80 men, was brought in Saturday to augment around-the-clock dike patrols in the Quad-Cities area. The engineer corps said there was no immediate problem but one could develop if the predicted rains and winds arrived.

"If the rain and winds bypass us or are of minor severity," the spokesman said, "We expect to ride out the crest successfully."

The engineers said winds of 23 to 35 miles an hour could cause wave action that would raise the water level another six inches or more.

Through months of effort the engineers have constructed high dikes along the raging stream, which they estimate have averted at least $1 billion damage.

Upstream the Mississippi was receding slowly. The river was still nearly six feet over flood stage at Dubuque, Iowa, where some industries and a large residential area were surrounded by water; five feet above flood stage at Clinton, Iowa, and just over four feet through the Quad-Cities.

Downstream the Mississippi was reported falling from Windfield, Mo., north of St. Louis, to near Cairo, Ill. All points along the stream were in flood stage except at St. Louis where the river was two feet below flood stage of 30 feet.

Rain Returns

A warm, clear day came to a close Saturday when a thunderstorm moved over Big Spring just before 11 p.m., dumping heavy rainfall and hail in some areas.

FINK, Tex. (AP) — That time when the Finks—and near-Finks—of the world arise is approaching.

National Fink Week opens on a Friday the 13th—this June.

Fink Day began in 1965 after the word entered the general vocabulary as a derogatory term meaning stool pigeon. This failed to disturb the residents of Fink. There are anywhere from a half dozen to two dozen living here, depending on where you arbitrarily draw the boundary line for the unincorporated spot on Farm-to-Market-Road 120.

A former store owner, J. L. Allgood, started National Fink Day.

When Pat and Willard Albright bought the store a year or so later, Mrs. Albright turned it into a memorable day by serving coffee and cookies to all Finks and their friends who dropped by.

More than a hundred did so. Since that time, persons named Fink, Finke and even Funk have helped celebrate. A few with names like Smith came to enjoy the party, too.

Mrs. Albright is mayor. The office goes with ownership of the general store. But Willard Albright refused and placed the crown on his wife's head.

Things sort of got out of hand. Finks wrote from all over the country and even from Germany. Some of them, who had been sort of mumbling their names at introductions, now carry their name proudly, they say.

In fact, more than 50 Finks have been found in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma alone. Finks from California, Illinois and Ohio have indicated they will be present this year.

It now is National Fink Week and features a three-day golf tournament beginning June 13 at Tanglewood Country Club, a mile and a half away.

The tournament's first session last year drew 124 contestants—including five Finks and one Funk.

Frank Fink, a Cleveland,

Ohio, disk jockey, is expected to return for the second tournament as is Houston Post sports writer David Fink.

The residents of Fink obtained a post office many years ago and wanted to name it Georgetown. But for reasons unknown the Postoffice Department decreed the name of Fink.

If you want to get there, just go four miles north of Pottsboro. If that doesn't help, just go to the Red River at Denison and ask the nearest friendly filling station man.

Heavy Storms Skip Across North Texas

By The Associated Press

Heavy thunderstorms raked sections of Northwest Texas and North Central Texas late Saturday and were expected to follow a frontal system into the state's midlands by Sunday night.

Saturday night's storms ranged from northwestern Archer County, near Dundee, to Wichita Falls and into Oklahoma. Only small hail accompanied the heavy rains in the storms.

Showers fell in the Lake Texoma region and light rain was reported in Dallas, Austin and College Station.

The Weather Bureau issued several severe thunderstorm and tornado watches, one to last until 10:30 p.m. in the northern section of North Central Texas. But shortly before mid-evening no severe weather had been reported.

Forecasts called for locally heavy thunderstorms in western and northern portions of North Central Texas late Saturday night, spreading over most sections Sunday and continuing in the southeast portion of the region Sunday night.

Gradual clearing was in progress in Northwest Texas late Saturday night, but thunderstorms in Northeast Texas were expected to last into the early hours of Monday.

The cold front triggering the Saturday night turbulence stretched at dusk from east of Childress southwestward through the Big Bend country. Storms developed in front of the system, which apparently slowed its eastward progress after dark.

By 8 p.m. however, thunderstorms covered 90 per cent of a 25-mile wide area along a line from 20 miles northwest of Breckenridge to 25 miles southwest of Bowie to 15 miles west of Ardmore, Okla., and 30 miles south of Tulsa, Okla.

The line of storms moved to the southeast at 15 miles per hour with individual thunderstorms moving northeast at 35 mph. Heavy rains and scattered hail accompanied the storms.

U. S. Force Wins Grim Race, Lopsided Victory

FRONTIER CITY, Vietnam (AP)—U.S. soldiers won a grim race against gathering enemy forces at this rice paddy outpost Saturday and killed 213 North Vietnamese soldiers in one of the most lopsided victories of the war.

There were no American soldiers slain. Two suffered wounds requiring evacuation to the rear and five others suffered minor wounds but remained on duty.

The race began Wednesday when helicopters carrying a company of 160 riflemen from the 25th Infantry Division dropped into the dry paddy land a mile from the Cambodian border and 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

The tactical purpose of the move, Division officers said, was to provide protection for peasants planting rice. The company suspected it was there as a challenge to the 271st Regiment, 9th Viet Cong-North Vietnamese Division, bivouacked just across the border in Cambodia.

Three mortar rounds greeted the helicopters bringing the U.S. infantrymen into the outpost, dubbed Frontier City. Reports flowed into division headquarters that the enemy was organizing to attack.

The Americans, who could be quickly outnumbered by enemy troops moving in from Cambodia, had to dig in double-time. The Communist command had to move weapons and ammunition forward to pave the way for an assault.

Supply troops of the 25th Division's 1st Brigade won a major part on the battle before the first rifle shot was fired. Minutes after the helicopters landed, cargo-carrying CH47 helicopters set up a shuttle from the brigade's base at Tay Ninh, 15 miles north.

In Washington, available officials said they did not know about the specifics of the incident but they also noted it has been longstanding U.S. policy to allow American forces in the field to fire back when fired upon from Cambodia.

The officials said they know of no breakdown in the U.S.-Cambodian move toward re-establishing diplomatic relations between the two countries. Phnom Penh broke relations with the United States in 1965.

Ground Broken For Base Hospital

Ground was officially broken Friday afternoon for the new Webb AFB Hospital.

Sharing in the initial shoveling of dirt were Col. William C. McGlothlin, Webb wing commander; Lt. Col. Edward Parker, hospital director; Arnold Marshall, Big Spring mayor, and W. A. French, representative for the Kasch Bros. Construction Co., contractor for the hospital facility. Lt. Col. Robert Deming, base chaplain, opened the ceremonies with a short prayer. Col.

McGlothlin made opening remarks.

"This occasion has been brought about by the community, city leaders, and our congressman," the colonel said. "They are getting us the facilities we need to do our job."

Col. Parker, in a brief address, said that the new hospital will become one of the finest small medical facilities in West Texas.

The new hospital facility, which is scheduled to take 560 days to complete, will replace the 27-year-old frame structure currently in use. It will be 180 feet by 256 feet and will be of masonry construction. The site where the ground was broken will become the eventual main entrance to the hospital.

Paraguay Dictatorship Shaken By Two Factors

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — President Alfredo Stroessner's dictatorship is being shaken by student demonstrations—the first in years—and by the blossoming opposition of the Roman Catholic Church.

After months of criticizing social and economic conditions in Paraguay—but seldom the government—the Church now finds itself in open conflict with Stroessner, whose 15-year dictatorship is the oldest in Latin America.

The conflict has included accusations by the regime that one of the nation's 11 bishops is a political agitator and instigator of student strikes, and two

Howard Deputies Assist In Rounding Up Fugitive

An 18-hour manhunt for an alleged drunk driver who escaped in a highway patrolman's car ended near Ira about 12:30 p.m. Saturday on a tip from the Howard County Sheriff's Department.

Billy Joe Boden, 33, Crane, was arrested by Scurry County Sheriff's deputies, along with Lindy Oldfield of the Howard County Sheriff's Department, and highway patrolman Kenneth Maxwell, of Big Spring, shortly after noon Saturday just south of Ira on SH 350. Boden was being held in Scurry County jail Saturday evening on charges of driving while intoxicated in Scurry County and felony theft in Mitchell County.

The suspect's capture came after Howard County deputies received a call from a man about 22 miles north of Big Spring, who said he saw someone come out of a pasture on to SH 350 and catch a ride on a butane truck going north. Deputies here called Scurry officers and the truck was stopped near Ira where Boden was arrested.

Highway Patrolman Harold Kornegay, of Snyder, had apprehended a man for investigation of drunk driving on SH 350 while the patrolman was en route to the scene of an accident near the Scurry-Howard County line.

The patrolman put the suspect in the patrol car and proceeded to the accident scene. When the officer left the car to investigate the accident, the suspect drove away in Kornegay's vehicle.

The search was centered Friday night by highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and other area law enforcement officers in the Lake J. B. Thomas area, where the patrol car was found abandoned after being wrecked. The car was about three miles from the scene of the collision.

Officers theorized that the man ran into a pasture where he spent the night, and then walked back on the highway to catch a ride into Snyder Saturday.

Injured in the two-car collision was Mrs. James Jackson, 40, Odessa, who was driving a car occupied by her husband, who was uninjured. Mrs. Jackson was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by ambulance, and she was reported in satisfactory condition Saturday.

Driver of the second car was Donna Strathy, Kermit. She and two other passengers in that car were uninjured.

Protests Pay Potties

Assemblywoman Karch Fong, Oakland, takes a big swing with a sledge hammer and smashes a porcelain pottle on the steps of the Capitol Friday. Mrs. Fong was the author of a bill which would ban pay toilets in public places in California.

'Pay Pottie Protest' Fails In California

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assemblywoman March Fong smashed a white porcelain toilet on the steps of the Capitol Friday—but her "pay pottie protest" failed to convince an all-male Assembly committee.

Less than three hours after the pottie-smashing, the Assembly's Governmental Organization Committee killed Mrs. Fong's bill to outlaw pay toilets in public buildings.

A crowd of about 300 — primarily men and school children — gathered on the Capitol steps to witness what was billed as the state's first "Pay Pottie Protest Parade" to drum up support for the bill.

Led by a Dixieland band in a red fire engine, some 100 marchers walked through the Capitol area carrying signs saying: "Free Potts," "Put Up or Flush Up" and "We Don't Give a Dime."

Mrs. Fong greeted them at the steps saying: "When I introduced this bill, I didn't think it would have the kind of support it has. Evidently the pressure is mounting."

She said, however, the bill was opposed by the locksmiths, Los Angeles and San Francisco airports, and the League of California Cities.

"Our opposition is coming from the big people — people who can reach over the door and unlock it. We've had some opposition from the little people — but they can crawl under, so it's the middle people who suffer," she said.

Kasch Awarded A&M Contract

COLLEGE STATION — Kasch Brothers, Inc., a Big Spring firm, was awarded a $149,000 contract Saturday by the Texas A&M University System Board of Directors to air-condition the administration building at Tarleton State College in Stephenville. In addition to air-conditioning, the contract includes related remodeling.

The board also appropriated $8,750 to remodel the lounge in one of Tarleton's women's dormitories, approved the promotion of nine faculty members and granted an easement to the City of Stephenville.

The lounge to be remodeled serves Hunewell Hall. College officials said the remodeling is necessary to accommodate the increased number of persons using the facility following completion of the Hunewell Hall addition.

Oil Depletion Report Is Attacked As Non-Factual

DALLAS — A thorough analysis of the $140,000 report the Treasury Department used to advocate a cut in percentage depletion rates for oil and gas producers shows it can be given "no credence," a Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association task force of petroleum economists this week reported to Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Revealed here Saturday at Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association headquarters, the study attacks methods, data, and conclusions of a Pittsburgh firm, Consad Research Corporation, which was hired by the Treasury Department to analyze effects of tax policies on petroleum reserves. The Consad report concluded reductions in depletion rates would have little effect on U.S. oil reserves.

The Mid-Continent rebuttal said the formula was so designed "that it tells us that the industry would find and develop reserves even if price were less than cost." This was called "indefensible" because "no firm desires to invest at a loss."

The Mid-Continent report called attention to numerous doubts raised by Consad researchers to the methods used and admissions of lack of reliable data. Consad itself cautioned that its formula was developed for describing economic behavior of individual firms in manufacturing — not for a complex industry like petroleum.

Consad used estimated and doubtful "stand-in" data on which it predicted the effect of a change in industry taxation for which there is no historical precedent, the Mid-Continent study said.

The report said Consad used factually incorrect statements, such as references to petroleum tax provisions which do not exist.

"If a research company is so unfamiliar with the petroleum industry as to err on basic data and tax provisions," the report said, "it is unlikely to have sufficient knowledge of the industry to be able to develop accurate complex mathematical models for analyzing industry behavior."

An appeal for assistance for the Patricia Velasquez family, whose home was destroyed by fire Thursday morning, has been issued by the Salvation Army.

The fire, which took the life of Oscar Velasquez, 4, destroyed all clothing, furniture and kitchen appliances. Besides the mother, there were three girls, ages 18, 17 and 2, and a boy, 8, living in the home.

Persons with clothing, furniture or kitchen appliances who wish to give may call the Salvation Army at 267-4141, and the items will be picked up according to Lt. Joseph E. Saint.

Godfrey was elected last week in the final business session of the 51st annual convention of the regional chamber of commerce in Brownwood.

Along with Godfrey, other officers elected were: president-elect F. V. Wallace of Amarillo; Harlan Bridwell, newspaper publisher of Bridgeport, vice-president; W. Lee Watson, Brownwood businessman, vice-president; John Freeman, president of World Service Life Insurance Company, Fort Worth, vice-president; and Richard Moore, vice-president, First National Bank, Abilene, treasurer.

Godfrey is a graduate of Texas Tech, a registered Hereford breeder, former auto dealer in Spur, a graduate engineer and active civic leader of West Texas. He served as vice-president and president-elect of the WTCC during the past year.

Wallace is a former mayor of Amarillo and is now executive director of the Amarillo Area Foundation, Inc., which was directly responsible for the recent completion of the Plains Hospital. He was a long time officer of the Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation, serving as secretary of the company for many years. He has also been a director of the WTCC.

J. FIKE GODFREY

Bridwell has served three terms as chairman of the WTCC Tourist Committee and has been instrumental in developing an expanded tourism program within the cities of West Texas. He publishes a weekly newspaper in Bridgeport and Chico.

Watson is general manager of Weakley-Watson Company in Brownwood, one of the pioneer business firms in West Texas. He has served on the WTCC board of directors for several years and was re-elected to the position of vice-president for special elections.

Freeman is an attorney, in addition to serving as president of the Fort Worth life insurance company. He is a native West Texan (Eastland) and has been associated with the life insurance industry for several years.

Moore was re-elected to his position as treasurer of the WTCC. His entire business life has been in the banking profession.

All new officers assume their offices immediately. The new president will call a meeting of the officers soon to make plans and set dates for important meetings for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

Court Acts Upon Two Area Cases

Two area cases were acted upon last week by the Eleventh District Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland. In an opinion written by Judge Cecil Collins, the case of the trial court judgment in the case of J. A. Lane vs. Campbell H. Elkins, et al was affirmed.

The appellant in the Mitchell County case of Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association vs. Isabel Ratliff moved for a rehearing, but it was denied.

Art Show Winners

Odessa Has Show's Best In Art Club Competition

Delmos L. Hickmott, Odessa painter, had the best in show entry Saturday among over 200 paintings and sculpture works in the spring regional exhibit sponsored by the Big Spring Art Association.

The collection will be on display in the First Federal Savings and Loan building today from 1-5 p.m. Winners will remain in the lobby all week.

Scott Darr, Ahlens schools art director, and show judge, remarked on the number of "experimental" works in the show, and the large number of clay sculptures. High school art students created them, which were fired in to bisque, and stained with shoe polish.

Daryle Hohertz, chairman of the exhibit, said more students had turned in entries than in previous years.

In the experienced painter division, winners were Hickmott; Mrs. Dorothy Peterson, Midland, won first; Ron Durham, second; Avery Falkner, third; and honorable mentions went to George Kovach, Odessa, Jane McCarver, Midland, Miles Pageler, Midland, Pat Smith, Odessa, Walker, and Durham (two).

The novice division first place award went to Mrs. Dalton Moore, Sweetwater; Mrs. J. H. (Signor) Holloway, second; Eva Dennis, Midland, third; and honorable mentions went to Dr. Al Densmore, Sweetwater, Don DeViney, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Holloway, and Cynthia Stone.

Awards in the sculpture division went to George Ann Patton, first; Denise Teague, second; Marjorie Carlton, third, and honorable mention, Charles Keene.

Student division winners were Jimmy McHargue, Midland, first; Pandy Nix, Lamesa, second; Larry Crittenden, third; and honorable mentions, Sabra Fuller (two), Lupe Mendoza, and Judy Robinson and McHargue.

Post Gelding Gallops Off With Honors

Easter Ed, a multicolored gelding from Post, galloped away with all-around honors at the record smashing eighth annual Big Spring Paint Horse Show here Saturday.

The five-year-old horse, owned and ridden by Fred Myers, garnered a reserve championship in his halter class, and then showed his performance ability by placing third in senior barrel racing and second in calf roping.

There were 134 entries in the show which attracted Paint Horse breeders from all over Texas, and some from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana.

Grand champion stallion of the show was Yellow Mount, a former world champion Paint Horse sire at halter and owned by the 2J Horse Farm, Iowa Park.

The 2J Horse Farm entries dominated much of both halter and performance events by capturing 14 first, second or third places. However, the Jones family of Smithfield, led by Lisa Jones, Linda Jones and Chris Jones, earned nine ribbons out of the top three in each event.

Paul Harber, Jenks, Okla., exhibited Bon Bon, the grand champion mare, and Cutty Sark, owned by Linda Carmichael, Fort Worth, was the grand champion gelding.

Reserve champion mare was Rebel Rouser, shown by Linda Jones, and reserve champion stallion was Bandit's Banner shown by Karl Edwin, Dallas.

More Sunshine, Warmth Are Needed On Farmlands

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Sunshine and warmer Rains of late last week and daytime temperatures returned the weekend, he said, were to Texas and farmers hope for widespread and again were more of both. It's the kind of heaviest from central areas weather we need, said John eastward and northward in the Hutchison, director of the Texas state. Over-all, he added, moisture ranges from good to sur-Farmers must get back into plus with only spots reporting their fields and make up for a shortage.

Ranges improved and most livestock are in good condition and improving, Hutchison said. Sheep shearing is active while goat shearing is about over, he noted.

Planting is being resumed as fields dry. Much replanting is needed, in hard hit areas. Grain made good progress and grain grazing generally is excellent, the director said.

Wheat in the Panhandle is making rapid growth but green-bugs are causing some damage. Recent showers helped and ranges are greening up. Livestock conditions are generally good. Farm labor was adequate.

South Plains (Lubbock) corn planting was well along. Grain sorghum planting had started and will increase rapidly with warmer, open weather. Wheat and alfalfa were making good growth with most wheat in the boot stage. Considerable acreage is being irrigated. Recent rain and warmth had boosted range grazing.

Light to heavy rains in Far West Texas kept ranges improving and feeding declining. Livestock are in good condition and feeding is about over. Cotton planting has started and grain growth was excellent. Cantaloupes are up in the Pecos area and pecans are budding.

All counties, except Tom Green (San Angelo), in the West Central Texas now have adequate moisture. Grains are making excellent growth. Leaf rust showed up around Kerrville. Early sorghum is making good growth; pecans are blooming and range grazing is plentiful. Fruit trees in Menard County suffered severe damage from hail. Livestock were in average condition with lambs beginning to move to market. The planting of forage sorghums is increasing.

Plan Inspection

STANTON (SC) — The Optimist Club met in regular session Friday. Jimmy Wheeler presided. Final arrangements were made for the bike safety inspection held yesterday at Wheeler Motor Co. on the La mesa Highway. Twelve members attended.

MAC E. ROBINSON

Robinson Gets Master's Degree

Mac E. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Womer Robinson, Big Spring, will receive the master of divinity degree during the spring commencement services at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, May 9. R. Heubin L. South, pastor of Park Hill Baptist Church, North Little Rock, Ark., since 1962, will deliver the main address. The program will begin at 9:30 a.m. in Truett Auditorium on the main campus in Fort Worth. Over 200 students will receive degrees and diplomas from President Robert E. Naylor, including four doctorates.

Higher Demands Push Up Receipts

Revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District increased somewhat during March, thanks to stronger demands by the cities. Sales to oil companies, which have been lagging during the first quarter, were still off but by a lesser amount.

March revenues amounted to $217,135, compared with the $206,873 a year ago. The cities paid in $122,949, which was about $12,000 more than for March, 1968. Oil company revenues of $91,974 were down by $2,000. Reflecting the low level at Lake J. B. Thomas, recreational revenues were $176 or $1,000 under the same month a year ago. For the first three months, cities have paid in $368,597 for water, while oil company deliveries have amounted to $289,864. Recreational revenues of $15,242 are about $6,000 under a year ago.

W. P. Odom, assistant general manager, said that although cool weather and showers rippled demands, consumption has been picking up sharply during the past week. Odessa has passed the 15,000,000 gallons-per-day mark and is averaging over 10 million daily for the month. Big Spring is averaging over 8,000,000 per day and Snyder 1,500,000 gallons per day. All production facilities, including all the city well fields, have been tested and are in good condition for meeting summer demands, said Odom.

The Spring Regional Open Exhibit sponsored by the Big Spring Art Association will be on display today from noon to 5:30 p.m. in the First Federal Savings and Loan building. Prize winners will be marked with ribbons, and will remain in the building the following week. The public is invited, and there is no admission charge.

Lubbock's Baker Collector Gallery, 13th and Ave. L, opens its last major exhibition until mid-summer or later, when three painters of the Southwest will be on hand to greet visitors next Sunday between 1:30 and 5 p.m.

Two Albuquerque, painters, Doris Steider and George Dick, and a Texas Tech professor of art, Dr. Clarence Kincaid, will show collections of their latest works.

Miss Steider works primarily in egg tempera, concentrating on a building commonplace subjects into unique themes.

Dick works in oils, mosaics and sculpture, and depicts wildlife and nature in his works. Dr. Kincaid, who has visited Big Spring art shows as a judge, is an expert watercolorist although he excels in sculpture, jewelry and other media.

The exhibition will continue through June 9, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and Saturdays from 9 a.m. until noon.

"The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams, opens in Midland Community Theatre April 25. Performances will be at 8 p.m. on Thursdays and 8:30 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, April 25 through May 10. A Sunday matinee is scheduled 2:30 p.m. April 27.

Help Yourself When A Tornado Threatens

In April of last year Texas recorded 13 tornados. May's tornado total was 48 and June, 21. These three months accounted for 82 of the 147 tornados recorded in Texas in 1968.

Texas has had 1,659 tornados sighted since 1951. The worst year was 1967 when 232 twisters were charged to the state — half of which stemmed from Hurricane Beulah.

Some twisters have been reported so far in 1969. The Department of Public Safety, looking at the records of the past, is certain there will be more, with numerous reports in May and June. Now that the peak of tornado season is at hand, the DPS has sounded a warning to all Texans to be on the alert for these terrifying and destructive invaders.

The DPS points out that because a city or town has not been struck in the past by a tornado is no guarantee of its immunity from such disasters. Any town can be hit by a tornado, warns the DPS, and all Texas communities should be aware of the danger this season poses to safety.

How do you recognize a tornado? The DPS says: Tornados are usually seen as a dark, funnel-shaped cloud spinning rapidly and extending toward the earth from the base of a thunder cloud. When near, a tornado sounds like the roar of hundreds of airplanes.

The DPS explains that when tornados are possible in an area, the Weather Bureau issues a tornado watch. Once a tornado has formed, and its existence is known to the Weather Bureau, a public tornado warning is issued.

A tornado watch is used to alert the public to the possibility that tornados may develop over a certain area.

A tornado warning means that a tornado has been actually sighted in the area or its presence has been detected by radar. When the weather threatens, the DPS recommends that residents in the area affected keep tuned to local radio or television stations. Information will be issued to such media for relay to listeners. Do not call the police, Civil Defense or the Weather Bureau, the DPS urges, unless you have sighted a tornado and want to report it.

Texas is the nation's leader in the number of tornados per year. That is why the DPS has prepared a circular which stresses basic safety rules of what to do should a tornado threaten.

The rules are:

1. If you are near a tornado cellar and time permits, go to the cellar, cave or underground excavation. Such places should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. The cellar should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas or debris, and there should be a pick and shovel handy. The DPS stresses there is no universal protection against tornados, except underground excavations.

2. If you are in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornados usually move ahead at 25 to 40 miles per hour. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

3. If you live in a city or town, seek inside shelter preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows. If you are at home, the corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers the greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls. Doors and windows on the sides of the house away from the tornado may be opened to reduce the damage to the building.

4. If you are in school, and in a city area, if the building is a firmly reinforced construction, stay inside and away from windows. Remain as near an inside wall as possible. Avoid auditoriums and gyms which may have large poorly supported roofs. In rural schools which do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove the children and teachers to a ditch or ravine if a storm shelter is not available.

5. If you are in a factory or industrial plant, on receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation can be made by moving workers to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

6. If you are in a tornado area, keep calm. It will not help to get excited. People have been killed running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight. Tornados cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornados, though, just in case.

Astronomers Not Impressed By DST

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The sun doesn't change its hours—no matter what earthlings do. So, explains Dr. Edwin Dennis of California Institute of Technology, the astronomers at Caltech's Mt. Wilson and Mt. Palomar observatories will stay on standard time even though the rest of California goes on daylight time Sunday.

"There are too many records we'd have to change to a different time," says Dennis. "Or we'd have to keep two sets of charts — one for summer and one for winter." The astronomical observations are logged by a time based on the sun being dead overhead at noon.

Realignment Parley Is Slated Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP)—The 26 club owners of the National Football League and American Football League will get together Wednesday and try to agree on a new realignment plan for their 1970 merger.

A proposal to maintain the 16-team NFL and 10-team AFL in separate units with inter-league play was rejected last month at the annual meetings in Palm Springs, Calif. This solution has been proposed by the permanent merger committee of the two leagues.

BROWN CHIEF CRITIC

Opposition to this plan, led by Paul Brown, general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals, led to consideration of a wide variety of alternate plans. Most of the plans suggested would call for two 13-team conferences under the banner of the NFL.

Special realignment committees for each league have been working on the problem since the California session. They will resume their meetings Monday and will report to their separate leagues Tuesday.

The AFL committee is made up of Al Davis, former AFL commissioner and managing general partner of the Oakland Raiders; Eugene Klein, president of the San Diego Chargers; Lamar Hunt, president of the Kansas City Chiefs and Brown. Members of the NFL realignment committee are Art Modell, NFL President and President of the Cleveland Browns; Dan Reeves, president of the Los Angeles Rams; Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys; George Halas, Jr., president of the Chicago Bears and Carroll Rosenbloom, president of the Baltimore Colts.

One of the solutions would call for two 13-team conferences split on a 4-4-5 basis with the two four-team divisions in the Eastern Conference of the NFL (Century and Capitol) in the same grouping with the five-team Western Division of the AFL. The two divisions of the NFL Western Conference

Buddy Bradford Clouts Ball Out Of Stadium

CHICAGO (AP) — "That's some pretty good company; let's just say I'm glad to join them," said Buddy Bradford, the Chicago White Sox' slugging outfielder, who Friday night became the 10th man in history to hit a baseball out of ancient Comiskey Park.

Bradford's historic wallop came in the first inning with a man on base to cap a four-run rally, which, coupled with a two-run uprising in the ninth inning, provided the Sox with a 6-5 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Bradford's shot hit the top of the 75-foot roof and skipped out of the park for his fourth homer of the season.

Others who have achieved the feat in the 59-year history of Comiskey Park were Babe Ruth, Jimmy Fox, Hank Greenberg, Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle, Elston Howard, Minnie Minoso, Dave Nicholson and Boog Powell.

If nothing else, the 5-foot-10, 180-pound Bradford is probably the smallest player to propel a ball out of Comiskey Park. Last year in 103 games and 231 times at bat he managed only five home runs and a .217 average with the Sox.

"I'm not doing anything different," said the 24-year-old Bradford. "I'm just playing regularly. That's the only difference."

"Sure I struck out a lot last year and I'll strike out a lot this year, but I'm not going to cut down on my swing just to cut down on strikeouts," he said.

Bradford wasn't sure at first if the homer was the longest he has ever hit. "I hit some pretty good shots at Evansville but I guess that probably was the longest."

In Bushes, Majors Have Their Parody

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Oiler Baseball Stadium in Tulsa is made of wood and feet slap the ramp on their way to the upper deck, producing a hollow sound accompanied by an organ behind home plate.

It looks like the set for Damn Yankees, a prop hurriedly nailed together from what had been crates and broken rocking chairs. Painted over a huge red heart above the entrance is a sign reading The Heartland of Baseball, a gaudy rebuttal to strides football has made on the national pastime.

Opening day in Oiler Park was a parody on the major leagues.

TRIPLE A TEAMS

It was the Oilers and the Denver Bears on this particular night. They are Triple A teams, just a step from the bigs or just a 65 cent phone call from St. Louis.

The President never comes, so a pretty teenage girl tossed out the first pitch and presented a birthday cake to 27-year-old pitcher Chuck Taylor. He was eager to start.

He had a decent spring with the Cardinals if you forget one outing, and is impatient to have his era ready when a righthander falters 65 cents away.

The cake reminded him he is 27.

After Oiler manager Warren Spahn returned to the dugout, the only name remaining on the field was bulky Denver catcher Chuck Weatherspoon, known for missing first base after hitting a home run in Oklahoma City last season. Weatherspoon will be 38 in June.

The club had predicted 4,000 of the 4,800 seats would be filled but announced attendance of 2,300. Regulars knew that if there were 1,200 there it was counting the players. But it was cold and it had rained and three lights were out in right field.

This is the minor leagues, the bushes as major leaguers say, and is more minor this year than ever with expansion bloating the big leagues to 24 teams.

It's a blend of the too young to hurry and too stubborn to die, a mixture of hope and heart but never, never despair. It's having to wear a shirt with Oilers glaring from the front, having to aim for an underseam promotion in left field for a bonus if you hit it.

AN EASY WINNER

Taylor won his game 11-2, getting good defensive backing from the team that won the Eastern Division title in the Pacific Coast League a season ago.

This game was the first in the revived American Association and worth seeing if only to witness Denver catcher Bruce Look run from behind the plate to where the shortstop stands and tag out a Tulsa runner unassisted. He did it twice. Look was up with the Minnesota Twins briefly in 1968.

In the dugout afterwards, the Oilers huddled around a tiny gas stove and rubbed their hands. Any fire department officer would cringe at the sight of the rusty little heater surrounded by so much kinking. It has been reported that without improvements the 35-year-old ballpark will be uninsurable next season.

Celts Are Trailing Los Angeles, 2-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston's Celtics return home in the unfamiliar position of trailing 0-2 in the National Basketball Association's championship playoffs after Capt. Elgin Baylor took charge of his Los Angeles Lakers.

Baylor took a short rest in the fourth quarter of the second game Friday night in the Forum and returned with four minutes and seven seconds remaining and Boston leading, 106-102.

The 35-year-old all-pro proceeded to score a dozen points, 10 of them in the final 2:32, to lift the Lakers to a 118-112 victory before 17,559, largest crowd ever to watch pro basketball in Los Angeles.

"I was happy to see Elgin take charge in that fourth quarter," declared Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff. "He hasn't done that in a long time."

"I think we have played better in Boston against the Celtics than we have against them here. So I'm not worried about going back."

Game No. 3 comes up Sunday afternoon in Boston Garden with a national television audience also looking in.

Baylor, with 18 points in the fourth quarter, wound up with 32. Jerry West, who scored 33 in the 120-118 opener, tallied 41 this time while Boston's John Havlicek tied a career high of 43 and kept the Celtics in contention all the way.

In fact, they led by 10 points on four occasions in the third quarter, bringing the Van Breda Kolff comment. "For some reason our team plays better when their backs are against the wall."

Never since player-coach Bill Russell arrived in Boston as a rookie in 1956 have the Celtics lost the first two games of a title playoff.

"What's it mean being down 0-2," mused Big Bill. "It just means we have to win four out of five, that's all."

Jones and Stallings, both of whom were winners in Regional at Lubbock last week, will compete in the AA division while Lewis will be in Class B.

Jones is eligible for three events — the long jump, 100-yard dash and 220. Stallings is the Regional's mile titlist.

Lewis, who was in last year's State meet, will take part in two races — the 100 and 220.

Jones had a 10.3 clocking in the century dash and was timed in 22.5 in the 220 in last week's Regional. Stallings rolled to a 4:31.8 effort in the mile.

A Gardener's Spring

MRS. R. L. COLLINS
Seeds are for sowing

It is always the gardener whose sharp eye, sensitive nose and eager fingers first ferret out the signs of spring. Eager to be at the soil, they watch the sun, sniff the breeze and feel the budding branches and bulbs that demand their immediate attention.

Sometimes nature takes pity on the anxious ones who spent the winter with crossed fingers to fight the final freeze. Those times, the rains come early, and things that grow, literally burst their shells of soil to show the world their beauty. The gardener's heart is happy—for this is such a time.

Shown today are gardeners who are busy about their chores of trimming lawns, setting out plants and preparing flowers for club shows. The Oasis Garden Club held its show last week, the Rosebud presented its show Saturday, and the Planters Garden Club has scheduled its annual event May 3 at the YMCA.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

I've talked to a lot of people lately who are just plain worried. You know, about all the THINGS that are happening. The only nice part about it is we all seem to be worrying about the SAME things — so misery has lots of company! Seems that worrisome topics never change. You know, wives, husbands, children, friends, money, health, happiness — you've got a nice choice. Go ahead. Pick out one, and worry a few minutes. Now, enjoy the rest of the day, because as long as you care for other people, the problems will be back with you tomorrow.

Thinking about leaving problems behind are Mrs. Isabel Robb and Mrs. V. Worthly who are contemplating taking the Porter Randall tour to Japan, Hong Kong and Siam. If they go ahead and do it, they'll leave June 14, planning to return via Australia to visit Mrs. Worthly's son, Bob. My brother, Bruce, is in the same area now, building a refinery or something. If I can remember to get the letter off, maybe they can get together for an evening or two. Right now, Mrs. Robb is looking forward to a visit from Mrs. E. V. Spence of Corpus Christi (who lived here for so long) and many friends are waiting to entertain her. The new reservoir was named after her late husband who worked so diligently with the CRMW.

Understand the Lloyd Wassons have just returned from that quaint little train trip to Ojibago and Las Mechas, Mexico, and Mrs. E. L. Tollett leaves soon to visit her sister, Nita Reese, in South Carolina.

We're losing another long-time resident next week. Mrs. H. M. Rickabaugh is packed and ready to join her husband in San Antonio. Farewells were said Thursday morning when Mrs. John Hogan hosted an informal Coke party in her honor, with Mrs. Coy Nalley assisting at the refreshment table. Mrs. Rickabaugh was presented a corsage of aqua net and buckeye seed (which is supposed to bring luck) and the home was beautifully accented with Tropicana roses and arrangements of Dutch iris. About 25 attended. Incidentally, when Imogene was in San Antonio house-hunting a couple of weeks ago, she and her husband, who is with the T-41 training program at Gilman Field, ran into one of her childhood friends who is now director of Aero Space Medicine at Brooks AFB.

One of the Herald Angels, Mrs. Joe Pickle, hosted a dinner for staff members the other night as we said goodbye to Mrs. Winnie Unger, who will be moving to Lubbock. The most interesting dish served was a blueberry salad made by Mrs. Thomas Vick. (I'll get the recipe if you like.)

Miss Marie Hall, who keeps a penthouse at Terrace House in Dallas, is dividing her days now between here and there, and spending quite a bit of time in her Permian Building office.

How I admire people like Mrs. Charlene Driver, who's returning to the University of Texas again this summer, but before leaving, will have a visit from Mrs. Jules Johnson and Jody Beth of California.

Dr. and Mrs. Pete Rhymes left yesterday to attend a convention in Plainview, from where they will continue to Amarillo for an orthopedic meeting. Speaking of doctoring, Mrs. Sam Anderson needed just that this week. She fell in the canyon in back of her home and injured an ankle. Might keep her out of school for the rest of the term.

About the middle of May, Will Inkman joins Joe Donegan of Philadelphia, Mrs. Elnor Krupp of Los Angeles and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Weinburg of New York City for a trip through Mexico and to Baja, California. Nice. One of Will's co-workers, (same field, anyway) Doyle Holder of the HCJC faculty, is in Atlantic City for the national DE convention, and another, Mrs. Ivah Lou Ashley, is in Dallas for the state home-makers meeting. Others in Dallas this weekend are Mrs. Carlene Cooper and her sister, Mrs. Gladys Pillow, whose son is opening a new ladies boutique there.

There's more, but it's deadline. Call me!

Ideas On Beauty Change With Time

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder. In the 17th century, it was a double chin; in the 18th century, a tip-tilted nose and white powdered curls. The Victorian beauty had a rosebud mouth, round eyes and curls. Come to think of it that sounds like the latest fashion look today. Now, cosmetics make the rosebud mouth and really great eyes easy for every gal to achieve. And home permanents assure her a head of lovely, long-lasting curls.

Mrs. Mott Gets Award At Webb

Mrs. David Mott has been selected the Outstanding Family Services Volunteer of the Year for 1968 at Webb AFB. She will now compete for the command Outstanding Family Services Volunteer of the Year award.

Mrs. Mott is the wife of Capt. David Mott, a T-38 instructor pilot at the base. She had 250 hours of volunteer service in 1968 while serving as chairman of the office administration committee. She was instrumental in increasing office volunteers from 12 to an all-time high of 22. In addition, the over-all volunteer force increased from 29 to 38.

Though currently serving as assistant coordinator for the base family services unit, Mrs. Mott is active on all committees. She prepares posters, handouts and assists in publicity campaigns.

Mrs. Mott is also corresponding secretary for the Webb Officers Wives Club and has been nominated for second vice president.

Congressman's Communique Details Washington 'Today'

The nation's capital, as described in a newsletter from Congressman Omar Burleson, was the subject of a program given by Mrs. Norman Read for the Altrusa Club luncheon Thursday.

Congressman Burleson's communique contained information obtained from the National Park Service, a part of the Department of Interior, and called attention to the spring season in Washington, D.C. It read in part:

"At this time of the year our nation's capital has a special attraction to visitors. Although it has its seamy side, Washington is considered one of the world's most beautiful cities and in the springtime takes on an extra dimension of beauty.

Blooming trees along the broad avenues seem to leap into bloom almost overnight; magnolia and dogwood trees add vivid splashes of color to the small city parks; grass turns green on the Mall and Ellipse, and the marble and brick of stately memorials and monuments are softened by the famous cherry blossom trees.

"The cherry blossom festival is timed to coincide with the blooming of the delicate blossoms of the famous cherry trees which ring the Tidal Basin and frame the gleaming marble of the Jefferson Memorial. The celebration begins with the traditional lighting of a 300-year old Japanese stone lantern, a gift from the Government of Japan. Our nation's capital is more than cherry blossoms and pretty girls—chosen as princesses from the 50 states. It is our nation's history which encompasses all the facets of our growth as a nation."

"Our origins as a democracy come alive when you see the original Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and Bill of Rights, displayed in the National Archives and then visit the capitol to see a session of Congress. All of America's architectural styles are visible in Washington and the surrounding area, ranging from the serene Colonial pillars of Mount Vernon through the rococo Victorian of the early Smithsonian buildings, to modern glass and steel of Government buildings. The many art galleries trace taste in art from Stuart's portraits of Washington and Jefferson through the outstanding collection of French paintings at the National Gallery.

"History is reflected in the cobblestoned streets of Georgetown and Alexandria and in the winding panoramic vistas of the George Washington Memorial Parkway. America's most famous home, commonly known as the White House but correctly and officially designated as the "President's House," at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, is open to visitors between 10 and 12 every morning except Sunday, Monday and holidays. History seems to leap out when you walk through the meticulously restored rooms containing furniture, pictures and mementos of all our Presidents. History seems more real, too, with a visit to the authentically recreated Ford's Theatre in downtown Washington. Guided tours are conducted during the morning hours by the National Park Service and live drama presented during the evening hours. Time should be reserved to visit the Lincoln Museum in the Theatre's basement and the house where Lincoln died just across the street."

"The suggested way to sightsee in Washington is to walk as much as possible but sightseeing buses are available. The newest service is the Tourmobile recently inaugurated by the National Park Service. The 77-passenger open-air buses tour the Mall from which many of the buildings and monuments can be visited. The Tourmobile is manned by a driver and the narrator who provide a running commentary of points of interest along the way. Our nation's capital is where past and present mingle constantly. In history halls a speech might be heard which will be printed in text books of tomorrow. A sense of past history and history in the making surrounds you in this city unlike any other in the world."

"Finally your congressman would welcome a visit from you and would take pleasure in trying to make your tour of Washington as pleasant and profitable as possible.

National Secretaries Hold Annual Banquet

Don Womack, division manager for Texas Electric Service Company has been chosen Boss of the Year by the National Secretaries Association (International). The announcement was made during the Executive's Dinner hosted by NSA Saturday evening at Big Spring Country Club. Since Womack is presently attending the Edison Electric Institute in Hershey, Pa., the presentation was made earlier by Mrs. William A. Bryans, chapter president, and recorded for playback at the dinner.

Named Tops By Secretaries

Womack was nominated by his secretary, Mrs. Dee Ratliff, who said of him, "Mr Womack believes in NSA wholeheartedly, and has given us his support in many ways. He attended our educational seminar, took pictures and obtained our main speaker for that event. He served as master of ceremonies at our banquet last year. He is interested in our aims and is certainly the greatest boss in the world."

Womack graduated from Texas A&M with a degree in civil engineering and has been with Texas Electric since 1958.

He is a member of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Big Spring Chamber of Commerce (chairman of the Economic Development Committee and Industrial Team), Texas Manufacturer's Association, Big Spring Management Association, past president of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, director of the Rotary Club and a member of the YMCA board.

The theme for the banquet was "Mythology Made Scientific," and this was carried out during the announcement of the "Secretary of the Year" award. Mrs. Frank Long, Secretaries Week chairman, took the name of Mrs. Bryans from a crystal ball and presented her with long-stemmed roses and a certificate denoting her title.

Mrs. Bryans, secretary to Col. Chandler B. Estes, base commander at Webb, was chosen on the basis of her contributions to NSA and her personal development as a secretary. She is serving her second term as chapter president and has participated in all educational phases of NSA. Mrs. Bryans was commended for maintaining high standards in the organization and recruiting new members. She has been accepted for the Certified Public Secretary examination on May 2. As chapter delegate, she will attend the 1969 division meeting in Houston. She also attended the division meeting in 1968 at Corpus Christi. Largely due to Mrs. Bryans' efforts, 16 members will be initiated in May, and in addition, she has attended seminars and leadership clinics in Lubbock and Midland.

The dinner was held for the secretaries, their husbands, employers and their wives. Lt. Col. Robert Deming gave the invocation. Mrs. Bryans extended the welcome, and the response was by Col. Donald Jones, deputy commander of material at Webb.

"Crystal ball" lamps centered the tables, which were decorated with rows of red paper roses. Fortune cookies were distributed, and a large horoscope display explained traits of the 12 zodiac signs.

The event climaxed Secretaries Week. Earlier in the week, NSA members attended church in a group and joined other secretaries for a luncheon. On Friday, tours were conducted for the Future Secretaries Association at Howard County Junior College.

How to give your home a Mediterranean view... Camino Real by Thomasville

Here's furniture with a look you might find in a seaside villa or high in the mountains of Spain. It's an important look enhanced by lavish carving and bold block motifs. Notice the beautifully turned spindles of the bed and the imaginative use of spindles inset at each end of the dining table. Such attention to crafting and detail is typical of Thomasville. And their Camino Real collection is Mediterranean design at its purest and best. The pecan veneers and solids are finished in dramatic Burnished Clove or a subtle Sherry tone. Make a special trip to see Camino Real. It's a marvelous view!

MRS. RICHARD A. WEAVER

Wedding Ceremony Held In Webb Chapel

Miss Dana M. Baker became the bride of Lt. Richard A. Weaver in a double ring ceremony held Friday evening at Webb Air Force Base chapel.

Parents of the bride are Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Baker, 21 Albrook. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Robert Callaghan and Kenneth Weaver, both of Sterling, Ill.

The Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor of First United Methodist Church, served as officiant before an altar illuminated by a candle tree holding votive candles and entwined with garlands of lemon leaf. Fern in tall silver urns flanked the altar, and smaller candle trees completed the altar setting. The bridal aisle was lighted with candelabra holding votive candles and lemon leaf. During prayer, the couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu.

Mrs. Joe Wiser, vocalist, sang "I'll Never Stop Loving You," and "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," accompanied by John Stanley.

The bride was attired in a demure gown of taffeta veiled with silk organza and complemented with a Chantilly lace cape. The gown was styled with a high rounded neckline frosted with seed pearls, and long, lace sleeves tapered to petal points. Scallops, highlighted with seed pearls, edged the cape to create a coat effect and the scalloped hemline swept into a chapel-length train formed from the back yoke. Her train-length veil of English illusion fell from a lace caplet centered with silk roses and trimmed with jewels. She carried a crescent arrangement of gladiolus, white and green dracaena and English ivy.

Miss Ann Heith, maid of honor, wore a white A-line dress designed with gathered panel and trimmed with white eyelet embroidery. Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Jones, Miss Kathy Gyne of Smyrna, Tenn., and Miss Kathy Korpanty of Wichita Falls. Their dresses were identical to the maid's of honor, and they carried purple European baskets holding orchid Majestic daisies and variegated English ivy.

Robert Townsend of Charleston, S.C., was best man. Groomsmen were Doug Baker of the University of Arkansas; Ed Goder, McClellan Air Force Base; and Tom Brockmeyer, Midland. Ushers were Kenny Brown and Gary Johnson. Miss Emy Talbot and Tommy Hussey distributed rice bags.

RECEPTION
 A reception was held in the Officers Open Mess at Webb AFB. Those in the house party were Mrs. Carl Baker, Mrs. Rocky Greenwood, Miss Jane Weaver, Miss Rosemary Baker, Miss Gayle Coleman, Miss Nikki Thomas and Miss Amanda Guess.

The refreshment table was laid with a white organdy cloth and centered with the three-tiered wedding cake. Flanking the cake were silver candelabra holding orchid tapers entwined with English ivy and orchid daisies. Silver punch bowls were placed at each end of the table and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The couple left on a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., Tampa and Miami, Fla. For traveling, the bride chose an orchid sheer dress with long pleated sleeves and white accessories. Her white gardenia corsage was tied with royal purple.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. L. W. Allen and Mrs. J. D. Baker, both of Hot Springs, Ark., grandmothers of the bride; Mrs. E. J. Cummings, Sterling, Ill., and Joe R. Baker and Miss Rosemary Baker, both of Little Rock, Ark.

REHEARSAL DINNER
 A rehearsal dinner was held at Cosden Country Club, hosted by the bridegroom's parents. A bridesmaid's luncheon was held Friday noon at the Officers Open Mess. The table was centered with a bride doll and those attending wore white daisy corsages tied with orchid ribbons.

Lamesa Workshop
 Mrs. Dwight McCann, president of the 16th District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Mrs. Tom Harris, president of Big Spring City Council of PTA, were in Lamesa Thursday to conduct a leadership procedure course for officers of the Lamesa PTA council and school units. Eighteen attended. The women were guests of the council at its meeting prior to the workshop.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

If you are one of the many who flipped a yo-yo, hula hooped, and more recently, skate boarded, you will now probably become a devotee of the whirl and skip action. I think some of the older among us are capable of whirling the ball on the end of the rope and then skipping it — but frankly, I believe it was meant for the young. It takes not only co-ordination but a tremendous amount of stamina.

They tell me the stores are being hard put to keep the gadgets in stock.

The FRED BECKHAMS had a traveling time at the weekend and the beginning of the past week. They were in Garland to visit his brother and family, MR. and MRS. REYFORD BECKHAM. While there they were also guests of MR. and MRS. FRED STITZELL who have recently moved to 2120 Ridgecrest.

While the Beckham men went fishing, Mrs. Beckham and Mrs. Stitzell went to a musicale at the home of the MISSES CRAIG and RUTH LASLEY. Featured was MRS. RICHARD DEATS who gave her graduate recital at SMU this weekend. She is the daughter of the REX BAGGETTS here. Miss Craig Lasley is a former piano teacher of both Mrs. Beckham and Mrs. Deats while they were McMurry students.

After their visit in Garland, the Beckhams went to Lubbock to attend the honors ceremonies for Tech students. Their son, James, is a scholarship student. From Lubbock the Beckhams went to Plainview to visit relatives.

Mrs. Simpson is a journalism graduate from UT and her son, DALE BURROUGH, will graduate from the university this spring. He is a trainee in investment banking on Wall Street and is in New York City at present.

This is the second trip for Mrs. Thompson but this one has been planned for several months. The first time she was notified of his trip to Hawaii, she got her clothes together and was on a plane for the island in a matter of a few hours.

MRS. MONROE GAFFORD is visiting in Ardmore, Okla., with relatives. She plans to be gone several weeks.

Guests in the home of MR. and MRS. BROWN ROGERS are her niece, MRS. CLYDE HOBBS of Whiteville, N.C., and her father, E. J. PIERSON of Fort Worth. They both have visited here often.

Miss Elizabeth Tallent Weds D. A. Springer

MRS. DENVER A. SPRINGER II

STANTON (SC) — Miss Elizabeth Gayle Tallent and Denver Allen Springer II were united in marriage Friday evening in the Tarzan Baptist Church.

The Rev. John S. Rankin read the double ring rites before an altar adorned with a basket of white gladioli flanked by branched candelabra.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lueb of Tarzan, and Mr. and Mrs. Denver Allen Springer of Lenorah.

Mike Springer sang "The Wedding Prayer" and played traditional wedding selections throughout the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of white organza over heavy white satin designed with sweetheart neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The floor-length gown featured a chapel train. Two set-in panels of scalloped lace, adorned with seed pearls and sequins, flowed from the front waist to the hemline. Her waist-length veil fell from a tailored bow, and she carried a white Bible topped with white carnations trimmed with blue ribbons.

Glen Ward was best man. Ushers were Robert Lueb, brother of the bride, and Neil Hull.

Denise Barnes was flower girl, and Lynn Bean was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by J. T. Springer II and Kem Crawford.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Abilene. For traveling, the bride chose a dress designed with pale blue top, checked skirt and companion cape of blue and grey checks trimmed in blue.

The bride, a graduate of Stanton High School, formerly worked at the National Bank of Odessa. The bridegroom graduated from Stanton High School and is attending Howard County Junior College.

Plan Stairway For Extra Storage

Space under a stairway may supply you with some of that storage space you've been needing. You may find a little remodeling can turn it into just the place to store children's clothes, games, mops or cleaning materials. A floor of an easy-to-clean and waterproof material will also make upkeep simple no matter how cramped the space.

A LOVELIER YOU Soft Fashions Need Exciting Accessories

By MARY SUE MILLER
Designed for soft spring fashions, new accessories make an exciting impression. It starts with the shoe and rises, non-stop.

At the foot, you see black and tortoise patent leather or pale to deep shades in reptile and calf. Whatever, the shoe may have a more slender line; it will have a higher heel, but will not be burdened with hardware.

As the eye travels, pale pantyhose comes to view. And sheer, colored nylons matched to shoe or costume. The hand wears a short white glove. The avant garde hand carries a classic envelope purse. Or the shoulder swings a small pouch on long, multiple chains.

Filling throattines are ropes of pearls and twists of antiqued gold ropes. Big, bold earrings, finger rings and bracelets are bejeweled scene-stealers. When there's a belt on a dark outfit, it's white leather. Otherwise it's reptile enamel, meshed metal. Somewhere there's a scarf, if only fluttering from the fingers.

At the top, the hat is butterfly felt or bowed gardenia. But to get the whole picture, you have to see it in color. For instance: With the big smash—a spring-brown coat-dress—a white felt, fedora, white belt and gloves, tortoise patent shoes and envelope, natural sheers, and gold galore. Wowser!

Use Baby Oil To Keep Legs Smooth

If leg grooming is a never-ending process for you, try combining the shaving and softening process. Instead of using shaving cream or soap on your legs, apply baby oil and then shave. The result: Smooth, soft legs in half the time.

Cap Rock Aids Needy Pupils

A scholarship program to help worthy students attend Howard County Junior College was initiated by Cap Rock Electric Cooperative 12 years ago. Since that time 24 students have taken advantage of the scholarship program, which sponsors two students, a boy and a girl, for two semesters, studying any subject they choose. Scholarships pay for tuition, fees and books.

Any student who needs financial assistance to attend college, and whose home is served by Cap Rock Electric Cooperative lines, may apply for a scholarship. Application forms are available at the Cooperative office in Stanton and at the principal's office in most of the senior high schools in the area served by Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

August 10 is the final date for applying for the scholarships to be given for the 1969-70 school year at Howard County Junior College. Winners will be selected by the Scholarship Committee.

to terminate her tenure. When August rolls around, she will begin her 41st year as cook at the Howard County Jail. This is a job she began in 1929, three days after she arrived in Big Spring.

Since then she has served continuously as jail cook. She has never been off the job longer than a few days and never takes a vacation.

"I just sort of save up my vacation time," she explains, "and when some of my kinfolk get sick or need me, I go help them out, regardless of whether it is vacation time or not."

She added that all of the sheriffs for whom she has worked agreed to this plan.

"Mr. Jess Slaughter," said Mrs. Leach, "was sheriff when I came to Big Spring. I had been here just three days — I had come to this part of the country for my health from McKinney — when he offered me a job cooking for the county prisoners."

She served under Slaughter until he was replaced by Andrew Merrick. Her work continued under Merrick, and when he died in office, Mrs. Merrick was named as sheriff to serve out his unexpired term.

Bob Wolfe was the next sheriff, followed by Jake Bruton. Slaughter then regained the office to be replaced by Miller Harris, and then the present sheriff, Aubrey Star, took office with the retirement of Harris.

With each change, most of the deputies of the retiring sheriff were released. The one exception was Mrs. Leach — regardless of who was sheriff there was no thought of replacing her.

"Who would want to replace her?" said Standard, her present boss. "She is a fine woman, a good citizen and exceptionally efficient as cook in the jail. I do not know where I could find anyone who could fill her place if she left. She has been jail cook so long, she knows all of the ins and outs of feeding the prisoners on any given day."

Standard said the reason she has no "fusses" is not necessarily to the credit of her superiors.

"Mrs. Leach is a fine citizen and a reliable, dependable worker," said Standard. "You don't fuss with such employees as she."

She has been around on several occasions when violent prisoners made jail break attempts. One, in particular, still is bright in her memory.

"No, no," she said, "I won't talk about that. It makes me sick just to remember it."

Her record of continuous courthouse employment gives her a major lead over the other veterans on the rolls. On the records she is credited with 473 months employment.

Second in line as a longtime county employe is Dick Todd, a road and bridge crew employe, who has 412 months. Lee Porter, county judge, is third man on the service totem pole, credited with 408 months.

The records of these three were brought to light when the county adopted a pension plan last year, and it became necessary to establish the length of each workers' employment by the county.

Mrs. Leach had been around so long, she was sort of taken for granted.

Carl Sandburg's World Staged

The songs, poetry and prose of Carl Sandburg will be presented today at 7:30 p.m. in the base chapel at Webb by the Alpha-Omega players.

"The World of Carl Sandburg," by Norman Corwin, is based on the theme of life as woven through the eyes of the artist. It begins at birth and takes life's journey from childhood into the world of a man of 80, with the recollections of people, things, ideas and passions encountered.

Marie Caulkins, Judi Curtis and Drexel Riley take the lead roles which have been described as "dry in their wit as a prairie fire and passionate in their conviction as the Lord's prophets."

There is no admission charge.

Base Non-Commissioned Officers Make Busy Start

By TEX ROGERS
When the Permian Chapter of the Non-Commissioned Officers Association was organized here in February, 1968, its members literally "hit the ground running and haven't stopped."

Useful activities for the families of servicemen and residents of Big Spring have been the goal of the association, and during its young life the 340 members of the NCOA have given the community many extra benefits.

In its first year, Big Spring gained a new Girl Scout troop.

and the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Salvation Army and Howard County Welfare Department each gained a new friend.

M. Sgt. Charles Aggen, chairman of the Permian Chapter's seven-member board of trustees, said the association was organized Feb. 29, 1968, with the membership open to all servicemen, no matter what branch of the Armed Forces.

U.S. Air Force personnel comprise the vast majority of the group in Big Spring. Elected to the first board of trustees along with Aggen were M. Sgt. Gerald Blevins, M. Sgt. Ernest Warren, and M. Sgt. Jack Humble. This year Chief M. Sgt. Robert Carier and S.M. Sgt. Ambrocio Sanchez were added to the foursome, which was re-elected.

Sgt. Aggen explained that the Non-Commissioned Officers Association is a fraternal, social and patriotic organization. Members receive legislative representation on a national level, employment counseling, personal affairs counseling, group life insurance for them and their families, a career option plan, auto financing and insurance, and other services.

After the local chapter was launched, Sgt. Aggen put the members to work on a wide assortment of projects.

"Keeping people busy with a lot of projects means greater interest in the organization," he said.

During its first year of operation the NCOA held a fund raising drive and netted $259 by giving a television set. Next it undertook sponsoring a Girl Scout troop at Webb AFB.

The next project was a "Let's Wave the Flag" promotion on the base, and almost 500 flags were sold. Last fall, it sponsored and built the float for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for the United Fund parade.

When the holiday season came, the association conducted a fund raising drive for needy families in Big Spring, and purchased baskets of food for 12 families at Christmas. The members also sponsored a toy pickup for the Big Spring Fire Department in Webb Village, and manned four Salvation Army Cheer Fund kettles for one day.

The year closed with the chapter receiving the "Well Done Award" from Col. W. C. McClothlin, Webb AFB wing commander.

This year began with the chapter presenting a trophy to a member of the Big Spring High School football team that contributed 100 per cent effort both on the practice field and in games. Tommy Switzer, a Steer linebacker, received the award, which will be an annual presentation.

NCOA plans this year call for sponsorship of a Little League baseball team and a bowling team, Sgt. Aggen said.

Besides the 12 baskets of food for the needy at Christmas, the organization sponsored a Christmas party for about 160 needy children at Webb AFB Non-Commissioned Officers Club. A party for NCOA members' children was also held.

Sgt. Aggen added that the group purchases shoes for a needy family in the community at least four times a year, and pays for the school lunches of a needy child at Airport School.

"We believe that we are part of the community, and we should do something to help people in Big Spring if they need it," he said.

The NCOA meets on the third Thursday of each month at the NCO Club of the base, he said. Although meetings in the past have been on subjects about the service, Sgt. Aggen said an effort is now being made to obtain people connected with various aspects of the community.

It's another method of getting the airmen more involved in community affairs.

The Mansion

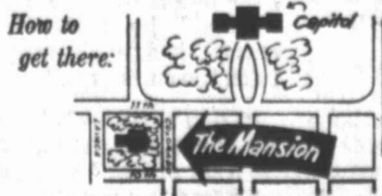

The most famous haunted house in Texas stands just across the street from the Capitol at 1010 Colorado Avenue in Austin—the Executive Mansion.

Much like the White House in Washington, the Mansion has gone through a long history of "evolving". It was designed and built by master builder, Abner Hugh Cook, 114 years ago—33 years before the completion of the present Capitol—to properly house the governors of Texas and their families, as befitting their position. A masterpiece of neo-classic art, it was functionally inadequate and structurally unsound. Experts of the day gave it few years before it would collapse. Down the years, however, succeeding governors have shored it up, added kitchens and baths (the original single bath with a wooden tub was outside and the kitchen had a dirt floor), porches, rooms, an elevator, etc. While not exactly up to 1969 living standards, the Mansion is more livable today than ever. Sporadic attempts to replace the old building with a new one meet repeated failure. Texas likes its tradition.

The Mansion is really a museum, filled with exquisite treasure and trinkets of bygone eras. By custom, each departing governor leaves a personal possession to Texas posterity. Likewise, each First Lady makes some notable improvement or change, as befits a lady, to the grounds or building.

While the Mansion and its grounds are comparatively secluded today, they were for many decades the center of much social activity. Theatricals, formal receptions, huge gatherings and Easter Egg rolls held sway. Parties and dances filled the stately rooms. Eight blushing brides swept down the elegant staircase... one governor died... one governor was kicked out of office and the mansion for refusing to pledge allegiance to the new Confederacy... the venerated father of Texas, Sam Houston. And, there was one suicide, who, according to reliable account, still hangs around.

Come, Texan, and join the every morning tour of these hallowed halls. Exclaim at the priceless memorabilia of the administrations of thirty-four governors. But, keep an eye peeled, too, for empty chairs that rock, doors that open and close by themselves... or the unexpected tap on the shoulder that speaks of an unrequited love of long ago.

A Devotional For The Day

As a hart longs for flowing streams, so longs my soul for thee, O God. (Psalm 42:1, RSV)
PRAYER: Father of every soul on earth, we thank Thee for Thy gift of life-giving water. Send us to every highway and byway to lead others to its source. Help us to share the life and love of Jesus Christ with all who suffer for the lack of Him. In His name. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Encouraging Development

Perhaps we have become conditioned over the years, but we think the budding of a young oil boom on our doorstep is good news for Big Spring.

So far, Amerada has completed two wells in a promising area just east of the Cosden refining and petrochemical complex. One of these is a dual producer from the Wolfcamp and the Fusselman, indicating a possible linkage to the Big Spring Fusselman field about three miles to the north. The second completion was for 747 barrels in the Wolfcamp. Two other tests are drilling, both of which have had good shows in the Wolfcamp. One had some fairly encouraging results in the Spraberry. Still another location has been staked by the same operator.

A mile or so to the south Basin Oil No. 1 Martin is nearing the projected zone for a Wolfcamp test. To the north, a southern stepout from the Big Spring Fusselman field is drilling with unconfirmed reports that it has been acting up. Another location has been started in that area.

Granted that none of this yet guarantees a wave of drilling and new production, it must be noted that the amount of drilling in this locale is the most that we have had going in the county at one time in several years. If subsequent wells prove to be producers, we may expect the rate of drilling to step up substantially since so many of the leases in that area are expiring this summer and are on offsetting tracts. This could be a development that will give us a lot of impetus.

Why Not Get With It?

In the spring, a community's fancy should turn to house cleaning.

We submit, therefore, that now is a good time to peg a date for our annual cleanup, fixup, paintup campaign.

This is something that is needed, and it is something that pays dividends in pride, in health, in safety and a number of other ways.

The recent overwhelming and gratifying response of the community to the appeal to pitch in and help tidy the general area around the historic spring site is indicative of a willingness to extend the project to the entire city.

This takes leadership and organization, a bit of promotion and most of a commitment to a time to get with it.

If eventually—why not within a few weeks?

Integration Not Required

WASHINGTON — Letters from all parts of the country indicate that sentiment is rising against the Nixon administration for its failure to deal with the problem of desegregation on the basis of the law of the land rather than the pressures of politics.

Under the last administration, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare issued "guidelines" which sought to do what the Civil Rights Act of 1964 forbade — namely, to use federal power to correct "racial imbalance." The excuse was that "guidelines" were merely advice and not regulations. Virtually the same attitude now has been adopted by the Nixon administration, which calls the guidelines "statements of policy."

IF THE REASON for this course is that the Negro vote needs to be wooed, it is likely that, unless the present attempt to force "integration" is altered, there will be a much larger "Wallace vote" in 1972 than there was last year. This could help next time to elect a Democrat to the presidency.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 is the law of the land today, it says:

"Desegregation shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance . . ."

"NOTHING HEREIN shall empower any official or court of the United States to issue any order seeking to achieve a racial balance in any school by requiring the transportation of pupils or students from one school to another or one school district to another in order to achieve such racial balance."

Billy Graham

Don't you think there is more to religion than technical theory and doctrine? Did Thomas make a grammatical error when he said, "My Lord and my God?"

B.H. Indeed there is more to Christianity than technical theory and doctrine! "The kingdom of God is righteousness, peace and joy," says the Bible. It is unfortunate that so many people quibble over shades of difference in non-essentials. I have worked with many of the major Christian churches, and I find them in at least historical agreement on most of the cardinal doctrines of our faith, even though all ministers do not now preach it. They agree that mankind needs a Savior, they proclaim that Christ died for our sins, they believe in the fellowship of believers, in the personal return of Christ, in a heaven to gain and a hell to shun.

No, Thomas did not make a grammatical error when he said, "My Lord and my God." Indeed, in his confession, he touched on the most vital point of Christian teaching, and that is that we can all know Christ, personally. It is not enough to know Him as God — high, lofty, and supreme deity. We must know Him in that personal, vital way that makes Him Lord of our lives. When it dawned on Thomas that Jesus was alive forevermore, that He was indeed and in truth all He had claimed to be, there and then, he crowned Him Lord of his life. Doctrine and technical theories are not nearly so important as having a transforming, personal experience with the living Christ.

Industrialists Say Brakes Won't Slow Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Business seems to be maintaining its go-go attitude in face of the likelihood that the tax incentive for expansion of production facilities will be wiped out.

Few industrialists and economists expect that plans for record investment in new plants and equipment this year would be much affected if Congress goes along with President Nixon's proposal to repeal the seven per cent investment tax credit.

The most they concede is that spending programs might flatten out in the second half of this year and show a small decline in 1970.

PLANS MADE Even if Congress — which is receptive to knocking out the tax credit as another step toward curbing inflation — makes the repeal retroactive to April 21, as Nixon asked, economists point out that corporations are now so committed to earlier formulated expansion plans that they are not in a position to back down very much.

The investment tax credit last went into effect in January, 1968, when the government felt corporations needed more money to pump into the then sluggish economic bloodstream. It's estimated that the credit has saved corporations $3 billion a year in taxes.

UP 13 PER CENT Before the proposal to repeal the tax credit, a survey of corporations by McGraw-Hill Publications Co., which specializes in business reports and analysis, indicated they planned to spend a record $7.4 billion on expansion of facilities this year despite earlier government efforts to stem inflation with the 10 per cent income tax surcharge and higher interest rates.

The total would be 13 per cent

IT'S STILL GO-GO

- Business projects $72.4 billion in expansion plans
- Most say that industry too committed for tax shelter to matter
- Majority thinks tax credit loss will slow—but not them
- Others fear that surcharge, plus tax credit loss will overkill
- Cost of living rises during March at peak rate in 18 years higher than the 1968 outlay. But Douglas Greenwald, chief economist for McGraw-Hill, said he felt a more realistic projected increase would be around 10 per cent due to tighter credit and a shortage of skilled labor.

Another survey by a firm of business analysts, Dun & Bradstreet, showed nearly 75 per cent of its respondents predicted repeal of the tax credit would help cool the economy. But the same number of respondents felt their own investment plans wouldn't be affected. Some industrialists felt that repeal of the tax credit on top of the tax surcharge and higher interest rates might prove to be an "overkill" that could become inflationary itself.

SUCCESSFUL WRITING TIPS

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — The secrets of successful writing have been unveiled at Oakland University near Detroit.

Here are three sure-fire tips — from some grade school pupils — on catching the eye of the publisher and getting your book in print:

"Just put a lot of exclamation points after every word," said Jason Weintraub who is in the third grade at Booth Elementary School in Bloomfield Hills.

"Draw good pictures," added another writer participating Friday in The Young Authors' Conference at the university.

"Make the title and first few lines interesting," explained Roberta Shriver, a third-grader from Farmington, Mich.

About 1,200 first through sixth graders from 800 Michigan elementary schools attended the third annual conference. They offered their opinions and listened to the advice of some adults.

Around The Rim Let's Step Out—Hut, Two, Three, Four

This is not for joggers. These people who are out by 6 a.m. ready for a four-mile run around the mountain are too hardy a breed for some of us weaklings.

It is given to our more mature crowd to limit exercise to walking. This is something I attempt with some regularity, and since I am a part-time walker, it automatically follows that I am an expert on the subject; and thus the writer of a treatise.

A few simple rules might be laid down, in event you have any interest in the subject.

1. DON'T WORRY about getting home and changing into more comfortable shoes. If you do this you will immediately decide that it is either too hot, too cold or too windy to walk and will cancel the project for the day. Besides, your feet are going to hurt regardless of the kind of shoes.

2. Don't walk with anybody. The other fellow will either be too fast or too slow for you, or will want to talk. There are times one needs to save one's breath.

3. CHANGE YOUR route occasionally. For long I committed the error of striding over the same paths each day. This was challenging when the dogs didn't know me and greeted me with frantic barks of suspicion. Or when the people in the neighborhood first saw me and wondered if I was off my rocker. Or, when the people who drove in the area thought I was in trouble and needed a lift.

It's more fun to explore a new route. Here, strange dogs provide new interest; new people sitting on their porches wonder what that kook is doing out there in the street; new vistas are opened — that is, new chug holes to watch out for new crumbling curbs and the like.

4. DON'T THINK when you walk. This is not an original rule with me because I never had much problem with the thinking process. But high authorities say part of the walking therapy is to erase all problems from the mind with a serene mind. I'm not thinking as I walked and nearly run down twice.

5. Keep your pace brisk and, more importantly, regular. If you want to be far out, just hum the tune of John Philip Sousa march; and pretend you are in a band following 76 trombones. This will keep you in tempo. This is difficult for those of us who don't know a march from a waltz, but humming anything is better than worrying.

6. DON'T GET discouraged. The first two blocks are the toughest. The first 50 steps out of the house are the toughest. This is when you are tempted to put the whole thing off until the next day. After a couple of blocks, that juice stuff in your knees flows more freely, and you find that you can make another quarter mile, after all.

7. DON'T BE self-righteous. There is a great temptation to arrive back home, a bit sweaty and trembly, and the legs and announce to anyone who will listen: "Man, what an accomplishment. I wonder what's going to happen to those people who never exercise."

These are rules you can live with. Excuse me while I go out and meet a few new dogs.

Republican Rift Over The ABM

WASHINGTON — No one has put it as bluntly but whether the Republican party can contain both Charles H. Percy and Everett McKinley Dirksen is the unanswered question troubling many loyal party members.

By a curious coincidence the two Senators from Illinois dramatize opposing poles of opinion on a great many issues. They are perfectly type-cast for their respective roles. Dirksen is the bravura orator of the past who has made a national reputation as a character actor radiating the noble virtues and the homely humor of another day. At the same time he is a virtuoso wheeler dealer, who knew how to play President Lyndon Johnson's game and still kept a strong hold on the political-business complex of his home state.

PERCY IS a self-made man whose fortune has given him the independence to pursue a career in public life and thereby satisfy his conscience, which was not content with a money success. Much younger in appearance than his 49 years, he has consistently goaded his party into taking positions that dismay the conservative middle mass. They resent him as an interloper, a newcomer, without the comfortable antecedents of a Dirksen.

Currently it is Percy's opposition to the Nixon Administration's stand favoring deployment of an antiballistic missile system that is arousing the ire of the party loyalists. As the ABM is made a test of party faith, Percy is looked on as a defector who might better be outside the fold.

PERCY'S FRIENDS — those in the party who are with him on the ABM — see something like an organized effort to force him out and insure his defeat when he comes up for reelection in 1972.

The issue is, of course, larger than one of personalities or even the opinions of opposing individuals. The new Republican national chairman, Rogers Morton, put it very well in his opening speech when he said that the Republican party had to expand its horizons and attract minorities, the young and others who have long regarded the G.O.P. as a surviving fossil. This was essential, Morton said, if the party was ever to become anything more than a spare tire to which people turned when they were temporarily disillusioned with the Democrats.

MORTON ALSO said that he would work through the national committee to get Congressional approval for the ABM. That dismayed Percy and the other Republicans in opposition who had hoped the missile would not be projected into partisan politics.

The quandary of the Republicans as a minority party is not new. It is only rare that an incoming chairman should look so candidly at the narrow precincts over which he must preside. Since 1933 the party has controlled Congress for only two brief periods. Thanks to an enormously popular hero, the late Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Republican was President for eight years.

PERCY WILL continue to dissent on the ABM issue out of conscience and conviction. His hope is to persuade the President that it is possible to postpone deployment while further research into the ABM goes forward. In a recent speech he said:

"In the 1950s the United States spent more than $30 billion on bomber defenses in two systems that our military experts later admitted were obsolete and totally inadequate even before they were completed. That was $30 billion that might have been spent on better schools, on good housing, on adequate transportation and on the hundreds of other domestic tasks pressing urgently on our society."

The Man Who Gave Up Smoking

WASHINGTON — Many people have given up smoking since all the bad publicity, and in the majority of cases I admire them for it. But occasionally there is an exception.

I'm thinking now of my friend, De Vries, as an example. De Vries is a "2-pack-a-day" man and he was very upset about it. He finally decided to quit and at lunch one day he said he wanted me to be the first to know. "I can do without it," De Vries said. "All it takes is will power."

I wished him well.

A WEEK LATER I saw him and asked him how it was going. "I haven't had a cigarette in seven days," he said proudly.

"Bless you," I said. "Your wife must be very proud of you."

"I wouldn't know," De Vries said. "Why not?"

"I moved out of the house three days ago. And I want to tell you something. I don't miss it at all. What a rat race. She was screaming all the time, the kids were driving me nuts, no one would listen to anything I had to say. Maybe I shouldn't have slugged her but . . ."

"You slugged her?" I said.

"WELL, IT was just a tap. Believe you me, it's been building up for a long time. I mean—I'm amazed I didn't do it before."

I was very disturbed by the news but I went about my business. I didn't see De Vries again for 10 days. Then I ran into him on the street.

"Hey," he said. "You know, I haven't had a cigarette in 17 days. I don't even miss it."

"THAT'S GREAT," I replied. "How are things going at the office?"

"What office?" he asked.

"Where you work?"

"Heck, I quit four days ago. I was sick and tired of putting up with all the stuff they were handing out. They blamed me for losing the Waring account."

"But you had the Waring account."

"I DID until Waring started giving me all the flack about not returning his calls. I told him I had other accounts besides his, and I'd get to his calls when I was good and ready. Boy, did he scream to the old man about that. So I told the old man he had to choose between me or Waring."

"That's terrible."

"Who cares? Ever since I gave up smoking, my tennis game is great and I've been out on the court every day."

I guess I didn't see De Vries for a month. Then he turned up at the house one day. "Well," he said, "I haven't had a cigarette in 47 days. I'm adding years on to my life."

"Swell. What can I do for you?"

"THAT'S A patronizing thing to say. You act as if I was going to hit you up for a loan. Well, I was, but forget it. You're like everyone else, mean and rotten and spiteful and a bore. I have a good mind to punch you in the nose."

"De Vries, I don't know how to say this to you, but as a friend, I think I should go back to smoking. There are some people who should give it up and some people who shouldn't. It's nothing to be ashamed of. Besides, you've proved you can give it up, and that's the main thing."

MY LITTLE sermon worked. De Vries is now back with his family; he has a new job where he's doing quite well; we're friends again; and the last time I saw him he said to me, happily, "I don't know how to thank you. Did you know I'm back to two packs of cigarettes a day?"

Natalie Wood Won Fame In Ritz Film

What can you expect from a girl whose father achieved fame among Hollywood's best-known scenic designers and whose mother was a ballet dancer? You can expect her to achieve a great fame of her own as a movie actress and that's exactly what happened to Natalie Wood, one of the several big stars of 10 Academy Award Winner "West Side Story." It opens today at the Ritz Theatre in Panavision and Technicolor and started with Miss Wood as Richard Beymer, Russ Tamblyn, Rita Moreno and George Chakiris, both of the latter having won Best Supporting Player Oscars for their stunts in the film.

Not that Natalie Wood had been doing badly before. But it took "West Side Story," whose original music is by the great Leonard Bernstein and

Ryan O'Neal Stars In First Picture

"The Big Bounce," which opens on Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre, is a motion picture with a distinctly "now" feeling. In Technicolor and Panavision, it stars Ryan O'Neal, Leigh Taylor-Young and Van Heflin and co-stars Lee Grant, James Daly and Robert Webber.

Locale for the story of youthful love and explosive emotions was the beautiful Monterey, California, peninsula. The area is one of snowy sand dunes, majestic pine forests and a coastline of incomparable grandeur outlined by cypress trees of fantastic, wind-whipped shapes. Flanking the peninsula on which drifter Ryan O'Neal as Jack Ryan finds more trouble than he can cope with are two beautiful cities, Carmel and Monterey.

William Dozier, the veteran Hollywood producer who helped limelight such stars as Dick Powell, Shirley Booth and Inger Stevens, is equally confident about stardom for Ryan O'Neal and Leigh Taylor-Young. Ryan and Leigh are actually man and wife. This suspenseful drama, "The Big Bounce," is Ryan's first film and Leigh's second. She recently starred opposite Peter Sellers in "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas!"

Of Leigh, who now tackles melodrama, Dozier says, "I believe Leigh Taylor-Young will charge from 'The Big Bounce' a major star, as Katharine Ross did from 'The Graduate' and Faye Dunaway from 'Bonnie and Clyde.' Leigh is not only incomparably beautiful but also very brainy."

Of Ryan, he adds, "O'Neal, already a popular television star from his role in 'Peyton Place,' will likewise greatly add to his stature as a result of 'The Big Bounce.' It's his first truly mature part, and he brings to it his four years' experience in the TV series as well as his virility, personality and talent."

Van Heflin also stars in the

Eastwood Plays Lawman In 'Eastern-Western'

A thrill-packed manhunt that takes an Arizona lawman, extraordinarily gifted for his duties in the mountains and sand canyons of his native state, to Gotham with its concrete-and-steel canyons — with plenty of romance along the way — is the exciting story premise of "Coogan's Bluff," coming Wednesday to the Jet Theatre. Clint Eastwood stars in the color-photographed adventure drama assisted by co-stars Susan Clark, Don Stroud, Tisha Sterling, Betty Field and Lee J. Cobb.

CLINT EASTWOOD

Eastwood, who skyrocketed to stardom with the success of three Italian-made westerns ("A Fistful of Dollars," "A Few Dollars More," and "The Good, The Bad and The Ugly") calls the film an "eastern-western." While he wears riding boots and a ten-gallon hat, there isn't a single horse in the picture, even when he tracks an Indian in reservation country. For that, he uses a jeep. In New York, he rides taxis, except for the final chase when he chases his man in a mad motorcycle race through the grounds of The Cloisters.

Miss Clark, a New York Police Department probation officer who keeps her files in her home, and Miss Sterling, the criminal's girl who decides she likes Eastwood, provide story-connected romance. Miss Clark was last seen in "Madigan" involved in an adulterous love affair with Henry Fonda. Miss Sterling has been on the screen, both in features and television for about five years. She comes by acting naturally since she is the daughter of Ann Sothern and Robert Sterling.

Stroud, the hippie killer Eastwood goes to Manhattan to extradite, has had important roles in "Madigan" and "Games." Cobb, who has been in motion pictures since 1937, portrayed "The Judge" for more than five years in the long-running TV series, "The Virginian."

Don Siegel, who produced and directed from a screenplay by Herman Miller, Dean Riesner and Howard Rodman based on Miller's story, proves he knows New York City in the varied backgrounds he uses. With executive producer Richard E. Lyons, some of the out of the way sites Siegel selected for "Coogan's Bluff" are the medieval museum in Fort Tryon Park, the Tavern-On-The-Green Restaurant in Central Park, the Helipoint atop the new Pan-Am Building and the already mentioned The Cloisters.

This picture has been designated "Suggested for Mature Audiences" by the office of Code Administration of the Motion Picture Association of America. The purpose of the designation is to alert and in-

Cattlemen, Sheepmen Battle It Out Again

Guns blaze in a new range war, blasting the quiet of the Santa Cruz country, a cool, green oasis in the sea of parched desert. In cattle country, the word, "sheep," is prefaced by "stinking."

And across the thousands of acres of the old Green Bar Oak ranch, deep in the San Rafael Valley, stamped a flock of sheep where at the turn of the century Col. Bill Green established his cattle empire. As an observer remarked, the scene was one to make the eternal rest of the Colonel an uneasy one.

Even though residents of the Arizona lands were well aware that the sheep signaled movie-making, shocked expressions on the faces of the old-timers attested to the bitterness before the cattlemen and sheepmen before their differences were reconciled.

The vicious feud which raged over the grasslands was restaged for the western, "Heaven with a Gun," the story of a gunslinger who ends the struggle with the help of the gospel instead of the gun.

Glenn Ford is the man who sheds his sixshooter for a sermon and proves that likes and dislikes can live in harmony — the four-footed and the bipeds. But it is the setting which reveals the color of story and stars in this action-paced drama.

Arizona, a land of contrasts and surprises, deserts and mountains, sequestered canyons and miles and miles of rich range lands, plays a vital role in "Heaven with a Gun." Through these lands swirled the early tides of Spanish conquest and the Spaniard, Mexican, Apache and early American pioneer left irradicable footprints in its soil.

Giant color cameras, manned by cinematographer Fred Koenekamp, spanned a 360-degree panoramic view of Tumacacori country, the San Cayetano Mountains, the Santa Catalina Range, and Santa Rita peaks. Included are the great cattle ranches with famous brands, such as the Canoa, El Sopor and the Baca Float. The vast sweep of desert includes the historic Mowry mine and the riproaring town of Harshaw as well as the soft-sounding Sonoita.

Ghost towns here are real, just battered bits and pieces — imagination bait to those who can reconstruct the old days when, as today, the Spanish-Indian names of Fort Huachuca, Sonora, San Javier del Bac, Lochiel, Pena Blanca, Gibola, roll the tongue in rhythmic sounds. All are part of the backgrounds and grandeur for today's westerns, such as "Heaven with a Gun."

TONY ANTHONY

'Stranger' In Comeback

When in "The Stranger Returns," new adventure-thriller, Tony Anthony, who scored a sensational success in "A Stranger in Town," uses a unique, four-barrel, revolving, sawed-off shotgun to pick off, one by one, a gang of murderous cutthroats, is fulfilling the secret ambitions of the movie's spectators who are fascinated by him?

Many psychologists think so, at least to a degree. They have explained the wide popularity of escapist dramas, such as "The Stranger Returns," as the need for human beings to seek wider horizons in an ever-shrinking world.

Others believe that people flock to these adventure-thrillers because they want to be reassured that man is still capable of heroic deeds and that brain and brawn can never be replaced by robots.

Thus, when Tony Anthony takes on single-handedly and overpowers a mob of bandits who plot to steal a shipment of gold to be transported across the Mexican desert in a six-horse drawn stagecoach, the observer (and not only the male viewer) puts himself in his place with an inwardly glowing satisfaction. He refuses to concede that the days of derring-do are a thing of the past.

Then there is a third school which does not concern itself with psychological interpretations but states flatly that movies of the "The Stranger Returns" genre are popular because Mr. Average Man wants to forget about the atom bomb.
