CCNY Prexy Resigns Post After Fights

By The Associated Press
Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of strife-ravaged City College of New York announced today he is resigning effective Monday morning.
Gallagher said "politically motivated outside forces" had made it impossible for him to "carry on the processes of reason and persuasion."
Two days ago City College was the scene of a bloody racial clash and on Thursday fighting continued and a major fire heavily damaged a campus auditorium.

GAS ROCKETS

At Howard University in Washington, D.C., riot police sent tear gas rockets into a dormitory after several marshals, putting an end to a six-building sit-in, were cooped with rocks, bricks and cans.
Officials at Indiana University ended a confrontation with black students with the promise of expanded negotiations.
CCNY's Gallagher read a statement to newsmen in his office this morning. It said, in part:

"My own functions as a reconciler of differences and catalyst for constructive change have become increasingly difficult to carry out. And with the intrusion of politically motivated outside forces in recent days, it has become impossible to carry on the processes of reason and persuasion."

NECESSARY

In March, Gallagher had submitted his resignation to the Board of Higher Education to protest proposed cuts in the City University budget, to be effective at the end of this term.
"Men and events have made this earlier separation necessary," Gallagher said.
City College remained open today, despite a faculty senate recommendation that the school be closed in the wake of the two days of fighting, vandalism and arson.

About 200 police moved on to the closed campus, fired six rockets into the dormitory—where about 1,000 students live—then pulled back.
"The marshals were getting stoned and they needed help," Deputy Police Chief Jerry Wilson said. The shower of debris stopped after the tear gas attack.
About 100 marshals armed with helmets, nightsticks and a court order entered the campus at 3:30 a.m. and began clearing the six buildings. At first there was little resistance, but soon they were being pelted with debris. One marshal suffered a deep leg gash.

BURN FIRETRUCK

Police said there were 18 arrests. Earlier, Wilson had estimated that 60 persons were arrested.

Thursday night, police fired tear gas at students who burned a firetruck at the campus, where several fires were set.

A wood-frame building used by the Reserve Officer Training Corps was heavily damaged by fire and several white newsmen were stoned.

President James M. Nabrit Jr. closed Howard after the sit-in began to demand a larger role for students in running the school of 8,200 and a voice for community residents in school affairs.

At Indiana, about 150 black students took over a negotiating session between students and administrators for three hours to demand that trustees join the meeting. They left when officials said they would urge the

SOCK IT TO 'EM, FROSH

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — An 80-year-old Harvard alumnus is buying a freshman a dinner for landing a solid right cross on the jaw of a member of Students for a Democratic Society during a campus skirmish last month.

James J. Cairns of Hingham, a member of the class of 1918, said a news photograph of the encounter pleased him so much he spent two days trying to find the student who landed the punch.

The fistfights occurred in Harvard Yard when the SDS member tried to stop the freshman from removing white crosses planted in the lawn to mark Vietnam dead.

Cairns declined to identify the freshman except to say he is a member of the freshman football and boxing teams.

trustees to meet with students.

BLACKS ROAM

At City College, an executive committee of the Board of Higher Education said it did not have the power to close the 20,000-student school and promised to continue negotiations with black and Puerto Rican students.

The school was open Thursday but few classes were held as bands of black and radical white students roamed the campus committing vandalism and setting fires. Police stepped in with clubs to separate militants and counterdemonstrators.

In Bloomington, Ind., the negotiating session over student demands to rescind a tuition increase set for the fall term was interrupted by black students who entered the conference room and said no one could leave or enter until trustees arrived.

Several hundred helmeted policemen were on the City College campus in the wake of Wednesday's student brawling that sent seven white students to the hospital.

They managed to hold fights to a minimum, but 11 fires were set, including a two-alarm blaze that caused heavy damage in an auditorium in the student center.

Police arrested eight students and clubbed dozens after two groups of students began throwing missiles back and forth.

One group—blacks, Puerto Ricans and white radicals—wanted the school closed until demands were met. The other group, all-white, demanded the right to go to class.

At other campuses around the nation:

Washington, Pa. — Students pressed what they said was a 25 per cent effective boycott at Washington & Jefferson College, but school officials said the protest was a fizzle.

Students are demanding meetings with the faculty and board of trustees. President Boyd C. Patterson said he'd meet with student leaders today.

Lafayette, Ind.—Purdue University officials warned 229 students arrested in a sit-in Tuesday they must face disciplinary hearings that could lead to expulsion. More than 3,500 students have signed petitions asking for amnesty for the protesters, but school President Fredrick L. Howde said no. The protesters at the 24,000-student school were seeking cancellation of a scheduled tuition increase.

Provo, Utah — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said colleges must halt disruptions because "improvement cannot be achieved in a condition of anarchy or uproar." He received long ovations from 10,000 students at Brigham Young University.

Fortas Skips Fee Squabble

BOSTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas pushed aside the questions of newsmen Thursday night about his acceptance and later return of a $20,000 fee from the family foundation of imprisoned financier Louis Wolfson.

Fortas' making his first public appearance since disclosure of the fee last Sunday in a Life magazine article, delivered an address at Northeastern University on the generation gap and campus unrest.

He did not refer to the fee controversy, but said at the outset his speech was "just an ordinary lecture."
"I just can't imagine why all this interest," he said.

In his speech, Fortas said violence, lawlessness and destruction will not solve the problems dividing the country.

He said it would be "dangerous, very dangerous," to ignore the issues which breed dissent. Society is attempting to find solutions to these issues, he said and in many instances the solutions are coming from the "establishment," which so many members of the younger generation seem to resent.

YES OR NO?

Smith Plays Veto Game

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith made it plain today that he has told no one, including Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher, that he will veto a one-year spending bill — "but that is one of my alternatives."

Smith told a quickly called news conference that he will comment further early next week "but it won't be to threaten the legislature with a veto."
Mutscher said Thursday that he and Barnes would try to push across a one-year appropriations bill, with no new taxes, in the 25 days remaining for the legislature's regular session.

Smith denied that he ever told Rep. John Traeger of Seguin, as some published reports said, that he would veto a one-year bill then call the legislature back for a special session on the day after the Aug. 5 special election on nine constitutional amendments.

"I have never told anyone that I have," Smith said. "I have several alternatives."

Cambodia Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today U.S. B52 bombers have conducted recent attacks in South Vietnam near the Cambodian border but termed as "speculative" a report that targets have been hit inside Cambodia.

The Pentagon did not directly dispute the report on Cambodia raids, carried by the New York Times, but its spokesman, Daniel Z. Henkin, told reporters:

Lake Spence Catching Water

Only one of the area's major reservoirs was still catching water Friday.

Lake E. V. Spence, the new lake being impounded by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, continued to rise slowly, reaching elevation 2021.8, an increase of 3 of a foot during the past 24 hours. The river was still running but dropping. After yesterday's 2021.5 reading, the water broke into a borrow pit area and the lake level declined by nearly a quarter of a foot, but it regained the loss and boosted the level during the night.

Lake Thomas peaked at 2229.60 virtually the same as the day before. Lake Colorado City remained the same at 2061.50 as did Champion Creek at 2052.30.

Powell Creek Lake picked up four feet during the week and Moss Creek Lake one foot.

Martin Election

STANTON — Martin County voters go to the polls Saturday to decide whether to authorize a 30-cent tax for lateral road purposes.

The balloting is being done under a statute which lowered the state ad valorem levy and allowed counties, upon a vote of the people, to levy a road tax instead. If the issue passes, it is estimated the yield per year would be $31,620.

Israeli Units Jack Attacks Against Arabs

Air Strikes Rip Houses In Jordan

By The Associated Press

Israel stepped up operations against Arab guerrillas in Jordan in the past 36 hours with a commando raid that killed three Arabs and blew up 12 houses in two air strikes.

Israeli commandos dashed a mile and a half beyond the Jordan River Thursday night in the first such raid in nine months. They attacked houses in Wadi Jabis which Arab saboteurs were believed to have used.

ABANDONED

An Israeli spokesman said the village 20 miles south of the Sea of Galilee was abandoned. He said it had been the target of artillery attacks in the past.

The spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties. Firing broke out again early today between Egyptians and Israelis along the Suez Canal, but Israeli spokesmen said there were no casualties. A spokesman said firing Thursday night at both ends of the waterway killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded three others, but both sides said the exchange was light compared to previous days.

At the United Nations, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik called for the U.N. cease-fire along the canal to be maintained.

Although it included a blast at Israeli leaders, Malik's statement was taken by some observers to be aimed at Egypt, which has said the cease-fire is no longer applicable along the canal because Israel has built up its fortifications there.

In Lebanon, the explosive dispute between the caretaker government and the Arab guerrilla organization, called Al Saika continued. Official sources said hundreds of armed commandos remained encamped in the hills overlooking Hasbaya, in southern Lebanon, where the Lebanese army and the guerrillas clashed earlier this week.

The guerrillas are believed to be members of Al Saika, which is affiliated with the Syrian government, but Al Saika issued a statement saying it had not been involved in the clashes with the Lebanese army. It called for an investigation.

TROUBLES

The Syrian government also denied it was in any way involved in the troubles in Lebanon and said the guerrilla organizations formed their own policies.

'Mary Jane' Mystery

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ten regular smokers of marijuana got the same effects from dummy cigarettes in a laboratory experiment as they did from the real thing, two medical researchers reported today.

At times during the test the young men smoked real marijuana cigarettes. At other times, in the same laboratory, they smoked cigarettes that looked, tasted and smelled exactly the same but lacked the active chemical ingredient in marijuana.

And they could not tell the difference. Both kinds of cigarettes gave them the feeling of being mildly "high" or slightly intoxicated.

The experiment shows, among other things, the unreliability of trusting smokers to judge the potency of the marijuana they use, the researchers said in a report to the convention of the American Psychiatric Association.

The experiments were reported by Reese T. Jones, M.D., and George C. Stone, Ph.D., both of the Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute and University of California School of Medicine, San Francisco.

The results might have been influenced by the laboratory conditions, Jones and Stone said. Another influence could have been the fact that the 10 volunteers were already heavy users of marijuana.

Perhaps, the researchers said, the cues from the taste and smell are so overpowering as to induce the characteristic psychological state in someone primed for it.

Cong Schedules New Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong's high command has called for a summer offensive in South Vietnam to force the Saigon regime to agree to a coalition government and compel the United States to withdraw troops from the country, according to a captured document made public today.

The U.S. mission said the document was issued by the Central Office for South Vietnam, the Viet Cong's supreme headquarters.

"The importance of the summer (offensive) should be clearly pointed out," the document said. "It is a very important phase intended to compel the enemy . . . to accept serious negotiations with us, to withdraw troops, to recognize the National Liberation Front, and to accept a coalition government."

The document gave no timetable for the new offensive, but documents captured earlier have indicated it would start in May or June.

The National Liberation Front (NLF), political arm of the Viet Cong, put forward a 10-point peace program at the Paris talks Thursday. It included a coalition government and withdrawal of all American forces.

The Viet Cong document made public in Saigon outlined these requirements for the summer offensive:

—It must be more aggressive, stronger and more painful to the Americans and the South Vietnamese than the spring offensive launched Feb. 23.

'Meat-Ax Approach' Penalizes Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch denying he is at odds with other top administration officials says cutting off federal funds to schools caught up in campus disorders is a "meat-ax approach" that penalizes innocent students.

"Campus eruptions are a phenomenon and not a conspiracy," Finch said Thursday. "To cut off funds just hurts a great many, and 99 per cent of the students we are talking about here want an education. They are the ones who suffer when you take this meat-ax approach."

CONFLICT

Finch's comments, at a news conference following the swearing in of Dr. James Allen as assistant secretary for education, appeared to conflict with statements last week by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Attorney Gen. John N. Mitchell, both of whom called for tough action against student violence.

But, said Finch, "There is no division of opinion. There is no royal battle going on with respect to hard or soft line." Agnew told a news conference in Lexington, Ky., last week that Congress had a right to cut off funds to schools and students when the actions of any of them "went beyond the limits of permissibility."

A day later Mitchell and two top aides used the forums of Law Day appearances to take what seemed to be a hard line on campus unrest.

Declaring "the time has come for an end to patience," Mitchell called on university officials and police to start arresting and prosecuting the "professional militants" he said were behind campus disorders.

This pronouncement and the others were widely interpreted as a turnaround from the official administration position set down by Finch in March.

Finch, a confidant of President Nixon, spelled out his position in letters to the presidents of all the nation's colleges and universities. He called for enforcement of the law while making sure "the right of legitimate and responsible dissent is fully protected."

After the letters were released Finch was widely depicted as the victor in a hard-line vs. soft-line struggle within the administration.

But reports circulating Thursday had it that Finch was not consulted before the Mitchell-Agnew onslaught and strongly implied that he was displeased. "You might say Finch won the first round and Mitchell won the second, except Finch wasn't even in the ring the second time," one official said.

Whatever the position of other administration members, it was clear from his statements Thursday that Allen and Finch were on the same wavelength. "What we are really after is how to improve the quality of programs for young people," said the 58-year-old former commissioner of education in New York state. "The soul-searching in universities is a very healthy thing."

Allen denied that he disagreed with Mitchell or anyone else in the administration, saying the Justice Department has a role that must be taken into account. "It is not an either-or situation. There must be a balanced approach," Allen said.

Student Center Burns

Smoke billows from Finley Hall, the student-center at New York City College, yesterday after a two-alarm blaze of suspicious origin erupted. Fire officials said that nine other minor blazes were reported on the campus in Manhattan where sporadic skirmishes erupted between students and police.

Sunray Blast Kills One Man

SUNRAY, Tex. (AP)—A leak in the engine room of a natural gas processing plant set off an explosion Thursday, killing one man and injuring eight.

Witnesses said the eruption at 11:09 a.m. engulfed the plant in a ball of fire and smoke. Fire still raged hours later, totally destroying the main building of the Northern Natural Gas Co.

Killed was S. C. Pritchett of Sunray, a town in the upper Texas Panhandle.

"WE ALL RAN"

Floyd Smith, a workman, said all the workmen bolted from the building when the gas leak was discovered.

"We all ran out and most of us made it. We knew it was going to go up," Smith suffered slight injuries.

Where they bolted made the difference between death, injury and safety.

Ethan Noble, another workman, said, "The others went west and I went north." Noble was unscathed.

The explosion ripped off some 400 feet of the roof of the processing plant. The heat melted portions of the steel framework.

Workmen were able to close the valves of gas lines leading from the plant. But open pools of oil continued to burn Thursday.

BALL OF FIRE

Texas Highway Patrolman Darrell Green, three miles away at the time of the explosion, said, "I saw a wide ball of fire all of a sudden surround the plant."

Bill Keehn, a salesman who was driving to the plant, was only 100 yards away when the building went.

"A big ball of fire came out of the middle of the plant and spread," said Keehn. "When it died down, only the superstructure was left. There was a tremendous noise and I felt my car moved by the blast."

A hospital spokesman identified the injured remaining for treatment and their conditions:

L. W. Hutchinson, critical; Jimmy Don McCallie, critical; Ben Collins, satisfactory; Dalton Emmett, satisfactory; Allan Bartel, serious; and Herb Marques, critical.

All were burned. They reside in Sunray or nearby Dumas.

The plant is a relatively small one which processes natural gas for the Panhandle and elsewhere.

Exact cause of the leak was not immediately determined.

Flying Lesson Leads To Jail

VALENTINE, Neb. (AP)—Officers were en route from Plainview, Tex., late Thursday to return a youth accused of stealing an airplane.

The youth was identified by Cherry County Sheriff Jim Ward as James Collier, 16, of Cumberland, Ky. The sheriff described him as a runaway.

He was picked up after landing a plane about 40 miles south of here Wednesday night, the sheriff reported. Ward said young Collier told of taking only one flying lesson.

'Credibility Gap' Clouds Safeguard Missile Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A private study indicates the Safeguard antimissile system's ultimate cost may top $13 billion—66 per cent more than official estimates.

Disclosure of the study Thursday prompted immediate assertions, notably by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., that the massive new program over Safeguard was created a credibility gap for the Nixon administration.

The study, by the Defense Marketing Survey, a McGraw-Hill Service for industrial firms, estimated the cost of Safeguard between 1969 and 1975 at more than $11 billion.

The study did not include $1.2 billion to be spent by the Atomic Energy Commission on nuclear warheads and its cost estimates for Safeguard's radar and Sprint missiles were more than $1 billion less than calculated by other experts.

Critics were quick to point out that adding in these figures would bring the total to more than $13 billion, compared with the current official administration estimate of $7.8 billion.

"In a program as complex as Safeguard," the study concluded, "historical experience indicates costs in the long run are likely to be considerably higher."

Sen. McGovern, a leading critic of Safeguard, said "It has not reached the stage yet of the Johnson administration's credibility gap on Vietnam, but it is reaching toward it."

DECISION

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who has been speaking in favor of Safeguard around the country, told republican governors in Lexington, Ky., last week: "The decision is in your interest as governors—if for no other reason than it is less expensive than the Sentinel system proposed by the previous administration."

10-Point Peace Bid Propaganda Move?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is expected to instruct his Paris envoys to determine whether the Viet Cong's 10-point Vietnam peace plan is a propaganda gimmick or a sign of readiness for serious bargaining.

The 10 points, proposed by the Viet Cong's Tran Buu Kiem at Thursday's Paris session, stack up basically as a combination of elements in the four- and five-point plans long standard in North Vietnam and Viet Cong diplomatic presentations.

GREAT DETAIL
But the new text omitted their customary propaganda polemics, went into greater detail than before, used some different phrasings and left enough ambiguities to whet the appetites of U.S. strategists searching for a break in the lengthening stalemate at the conference table.

It also was noted that Kiem's statement was the first such enemy presentation since the return to Paris of Le Duc Tho, the most powerful member of the South Vietnamese negotiating team, from consultations in Hanoi.

Nixon discussed the enemy plan with security advisers and Henry A. Kissinger at Key Biscayne, Fla., following the news from Paris.

Since the President sees secret talks as the best way to make negotiating progress, the U.S. mission headed by Henry Cabot Lodge probably will try to sound out enemy envoys privately.

SILENCE

Both the Florida White House and the State Department in Washington were keeping silent on any U.S. reaction to the enemy proposal at this time. There was a possibility a South Vietnamese response would come from Saigon following U.S. consultations with the Thieu government.

The 10-point proposition dealt with issues fundamental for both allies—withdrawal of foreign forces and the political future of South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong statement called for a pullout of all U.S. troops unconditionally without pledging a withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces or even admitting they are in South Vietnam. This has been rejected by the allies in the past.

But it also said, without amplification, that "The question of the Vietnamese armed forces in South Vietnam shall be resolved by the Vietnamese parties among themselves." And it proposed "international supervision"—not further specified—of withdrawal of American troops.

POLITICAL FRONT

The United States has been proposing international supervision to safeguard a settlement—and U.S. negotiators would be interested if Hanoi is willing to accept international inspection to insure that its forces go home too.

On the political front, the statement went into detail on proposals to replace the present Saigon leadership with a coalition government which would be succeeded by a national regime based on free elections.

The question here is whether the Viet Cong wording allows enough room for bargaining for a broadened government representation that might be acceptable to the Thieu regime.

He was sentenced to life in prison on each of the murder cases, and to life on a similar sentence on the weapon charge, because of two previous convictions. Rush To Trade Currencies For Marks Remains Hectic

BOON, Germany (AP) — West Germany will not increase the value of its mark, a government spokesman said today. But the rush to trade dollars and other currencies for marks remained hectic across Europe.

There will be no revaluation, a spokesman Conrad Ahlers told a news conference. "There is nothing more to say." But other government sources said the final decision is still to be made in meetings with Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and other officials.

Airlines Report Load Increase

HOUSTON — Texas International Airlines carried 174,800 passengers last month, reflecting a nine per cent increase over the same month in 1968, according to company records.

ers of his Christian Democratic party and their partners in the government coalition, the Social Democrats of Federal Minister Willy Brandt.

Later in the day Kiesinger was to confer with Economics Minister Karl Schiller, Finance Minister Franz-Josef Strauss and Karl Blessing, the president of the Bundesbank, West Germany's central bank.

Schiller has been urging that the official value of the mark be increased, but Kiesinger was reported opposed to any revaluation except as part of a general revision of currency valuations.

A government spokesman said Schiller had written the chancellor some time ago that there is no possibility of trading the mark rose to 25½ cents for a dollar, a multilateral solution to the currency problem.

Dollar selling increased in hectic dealing on the Frankfurt market today, and the Bundesbank announced it had stopped direct dealing in the U.S. currency with foreign banks.

Its purpose was to increase the cost of marks for speculators buying up German currency in hopes of a revaluation and a quick profit.

A desperate maneuver by West at the opening gun backfired disastrously in today's hand, permitting the declarer to bring home a contraband slam.

The supreme irony of the deal is that East and West, with a mere total of 12 high card points, can make a small slam in either spades or clubs. The respective red suit voids held by each partner enables them to get maximum mileage from their distributional fit.

case it may prove essential to get West off to the right lead. For defensive purposes then, it is suggested that East bid three spades with the intention of raising clubs subsequently.

South was deprived by East's bid of the opportunity to check back for aces. In view of his partner's jump raise, however, he felt that a slam undertaking would be a reasonable venture and he proceeded to bid six hearts.

West contemplated his opening lead at great length. If he could put his partner in at trick one, a diamond return would enable West to ruff in and score the setting trick. Inasmuch as East had jumped to five clubs, it appeared probable that he had the king of that suit.

South was marked with at most a singleton club for his slam bid, so West underled his ace.

The first trick was taken by declarer's blank king and after drawing trump, he graciously conceded a spade trick to the opponents.

In view of the somewhat blind nature of the bidding, West perhaps should not have been so pantly in mapping his plan of defense. He might have made allowance for the possibility that a diamond ruff was not the only way to defeat the contract.

A spade bid by his partner would surely have averted disaster, for even if West decided to cash a club trick initially, he still has time to put East in with the ace of spades. A diamond ruff will net a third trick for the defense and a 200 point profit on the deal.

Thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out. (Ezekiel 34:11)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, we confess to having lost a sense of priorities and the right use of time. Enable us to care for those next door who know Thee not. Help us to do that the lambs near us will look up and always be fed, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Only Combat Cover

Another false assumption lies barely concealed in the Navy's decision to use specially equipped warships to carry out electronic intelligence missions in potentially hostile waters. Or perhaps there are some who have forgotten the Benbow and the Repulse.

The Pueblo, as well as the Liberty earlier in the Mediterranean Sea, fell victim to superior force. The Pueblo, with only a .50 caliber machine gun to protect her, was intercepted by North Korean torpedo boats and forced into the harbor of Wonsan. Cmd. Lloyd Bucher surrendered his ship, rather than risk the loss of all hands when confronted with overwhelming fire-power.

Can anyone really believe that a heavily armed Navy ship could fare much better unless it was escorted by one or more aircraft carriers? If so, he has missed the lesson of the battle cruisers Repulse and Repulse of the British Navy, caught off Malaya by Japanese bombers and torpedo planes. History could be easily repeated.

The Navy had best forget the heavily armed electronic intelligence ship bit. The most sensible course is to use the EC-121 plane or variations of it, constantly protected by plenty of combat cover.

No Magic Wand

The Nixon administration's effort to develop a federal policy and guidance program on internal migration is a problem that should have been foreseen and acted upon at least by the early 1950s.

Reportedly the White House has its Council on Urban Affairs and Office of Economic Opportunity and the Departments of Commerce, Labor, Agriculture, and House and Urban Development working on a plan for future "guided migration." Initial proposals include migrant reception centers in major cities to help newcomers adjust to urban life, with programs in rural areas, largely informational and educational, to help channel internal migration to where it can best be absorbed.

These ideas conjure up visions of a huge new nationwide bureaucracy of migration guidance, involving budget outlays of a scope the Nixon administration is in no position now, mind to recommend to Congress. Anything less than that hardly would have any appreciable effect on the powerful economic, social and cultural forces that have been determining the sweeping rural-to-urban, and largely westward, flow of internal migration since World War II.

This great migration has been moved by many factors: Agricultural mechanization, mass communications, technological change, phenomenal urbanization, racial tensions, the lure of affluence and mobility, planning neglect at the state and federal levels, public welfare inequalities among the states, regional disparities between birth rates and job opportunities, and so on. Though the vast movement now seems to be leveling off somewhat, it is likely to continue in large numbers for years to come.

What is needed is realization at all levels of government, in all agencies, of the problems of internal migration and a sustained concern throughout them for the effects of all government policies and programs on shifting population. The Nixon Cabinet committee's findings may be helpful in this regard, but there is no Washington wand that can be waved to bring neat order into the tumultuous evolution of a continental nation.

A Negro Leader Speaks Out

WASHINGTON — For several years now, it has been evident that there would be no lessening of racial friction in America unless white people talked to blacks about the fundamental principles essential to good behavior, and members of the two races then worked together to maintain harmony.

Thurgood Marshall, who is the first Negro to become a member of the Supreme Court of the United States, has just made a speech to a Negro audience at the centennial celebration of Dillard University in New Orleans, in which he said some plain things that both white and black need to take to heart if there is to be stability in the life of the nation.

JUSTICE MARSHALL criticized black militants, as he declared that "nothing will be settled with guns, firebombs or rocks." He admitted, of course, that people were frustrated. But his advice was clear-cut. He declared:

"You are not going to compete in the world until you have training exactly like everyone else, and hopefully better, because when you are a Negro, you have to be better."

MR. MARSHALL graduated at the head of his class from Howard University law school, and as chief legal officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, won the famous desegregation case in the Supreme Court in 1954. He was appointed by President Kennedy to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and was later named by President Johnson to be Solicitor General in the Department of Justice in Washington. In 1967, President Johnson appointed him to the highest court in the land. In the New Orleans speech, Justice Marshall said:

"RACE IS NOT an excuse for not keeping up your house properly, nor is race an excuse for not keeping your children in school, even though they may still be segregated."

While Justice Marshall agreed that he believes "black is beautiful," he doesn't think that it is the only color that is beautiful. He continued:

"I think we Negro Americans have just as many beautiful people in mind and body, as well as skin as any other group — and that we have just as many stinkers as any other group."

"Anarchy is anarchy, and it makes no difference who practices it — it is bad, it is punishable, and it should be punished."

THIS BLUNT WAY of talking will serve as an example for leaders of all races who have an influence in their communities. Not enough has been done to bring peoples of different races together informally to discuss what can be done to diminish the bitterness that exists.

There is, unfortunately, a lack of information about how Negroes and whites who do respect each other get along in the everyday life of the community. Many Negroes who live in the South, for instance, have long had a close friendship with white families.

THE DISORDERS in America today are largely the result of emotions stirred up as the Negro population has grown in size and as schools have been desegregated. Artificial steps to bring about integration have produced uneasiness and hard feelings, mainly because the citizens, both white and black, have not tackled the problem with an understanding of what can be done when there are voices of reason and conciliation.

Justice Marshall has performed a public service in speaking out on the subject of how racial friction is intensified by militants and in pointing to the prerequisite of harmony in any community — the recognition of one's own responsibility, irrespective of race, to be a law-abiding citizen.

Most Popular Narcotic In U.S.? Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions

Work not alcohol or drugs has always been the most popular narcotic in America. We are a work-addicted people, as witness the number of men who fear compulsory retirement at 65 because they feel they'll be lost without the stimulation provided by going to a daily job.

It seems like years since we've seen an old-fashioned hairpin. Don't women ever wear them anymore?

STRAWBERRIES and modern children have one thing in common: the bigger they grow the more tasteless some of them become.

The height of boredom comes when a fellow suddenly discovers he has been talking to himself — but not bothering to listen.

The more scientific we become, the more stubbornly we stick to our time-worn superstitions. If you put a large ladder across a sidewalk, eight out of 10 passers-by will walk around rather than under it. The two who do walk under it aren't any less superstitious than the others — they're just probably showoffs.

People who crave the limelight go through endless maneuvers to become the center of attention at a cocktail party, but the simplest of all ways to do it is to get an attack of hiccups.

THE SUSPICION arises that many folks who attend church today do so because it is the one public place left where they run a minimal danger of being nudged.

There are two good reasons why housewives live longer than their husbands: (1) they can flop down on a couch any time during the day when they are tired, and (2) they avoid the physical wear and tear of the two-and-a-half-Martini lunch, which ages executives quicker than anything.

The biggest problem facing educators today is how to find a way to convince the students that there is a real difference between going to college and going to kindergarten.

THE LONELIEST people I know are those wealthy enough to attend public banquets frequently, but so poverty-stricken in real companionship that they can't think of anything better to do with their time. I always think they'd be happier if they learned to hook rugs and stayed at home with the cat.

The meek may indeed sometimes inherit the earth, but the odds are against them holding it.

Full Employment Woes

NEW YORK (AP) — The shocks are becoming too common, the dangers too great, the efforts to avert chaos too difficult for the present world currency exchange system to remain unchanged.

Once again a crisis exists, the fifth major one in the past 18 months involving the currencies of big international trading nations. Such frequency indicates that crises are built into the system.

THE PRESENT one involves the currency of West Germany, which appears to be undervalued, and the French franc, which may be overvalued. It could also involve the British pound, which has remained shaky despite devaluation.

Criticism of the present system generally has been that it is too rigid; it forces nations to insist that their currencies have been maintained at its stated value when nobody really believes this to be so.

This system of fixed exchange rates obliges a government to step in and support the price of its currency, to buy its own money in order to keep the price within one per cent of the stated level.

Then, when the nation no longer can do so, a crisis develops and devaluation is the only way out. A currency that is worth $2.80 one day might be worth only $2.40 the next. This can be a serious shock to trade.

THIS SYSTEM, arranged in 1944 at the famous Bretton Woods, N.H., monetary conference, was an attempt to avert the destructive nationalistic policies of the 1930s, a decade of depression.

"During these years one country after another devalued its currency in order to obtain a competitive advantage over its neighbor. But the real fatal result was a lessening of world trade."

By keeping exchange rates fixed, the conference members hoped one nation would feel confident when it arranged long-term investments in another nation's economy. And it has worked out that way.

Despite defects, the system of fixed exchange rates has worked wonders, and world trade has prospered. But in the opinion of many bankers and economists, it may not be suited to present times.

There is a reason for this, and it is called full employment. Once nations were willing to rout inflation and pay off international debts by getting their economies in order. This often meant deflation, and deflation meant fewer jobs. No longer is this corrective method acceptable.

NATIONS TODAY seek full employment and full employment often results in inflation, or a dilution in the stated value of a currency. But remember, Realities aside, that currency value is fixed.

Around The Rim

Disorganized And Middle Aged

"You're getting as messy as Joe" said Zeke yesterday afternoon. As if you didn't know, Joe is the managing editor and everybody knows Zeke. (Watch it, Walt!)

I mumbled some lame excuse and put part of the blame on last and flashy Frank Brandon.

Then, friends, I spent about four hours last night looking through my files for something a friend needs, and I haven't found it yet.

But that's not the worst. Obviously, it will take several days to get things back where they were.

THIS USED to worry me. "I've got to get organized," I'd say. Then I'd write a note reading "GET ORGANIZED!"

But the note would get lost among all the disorganization, and I wouldn't do it.

Now I have adjusted, for I suspect if I were the organized type I'd be doing something less interesting.

HE'S A VERY providing husband. Yes, he's always just about to do this, providing he doesn't fall asleep, and just about to do that, providing his back doesn't hurt.

The thought for the day is from the Core Driller.

Watch that smoking in bed. The ashes that fall on the floor could be yours.

MY DRINKING cousin, Bobby Harris, told his wife, "I think our next door neighbor's wife is mad at me."

Why? Arlene asked. "I don't know. She hasn't spoken to me since I ran into her downtown last week."

"What did you say?"
"I just tried to be friendly."
"But what did you say?"
"I just said, 'My, you never know who you'll see walking the street these days.'"

IN ADDITION to free postage, the taxpayer should get a day off — with pay and tax free — the day he mails in his return.

After all, he's the hero — not the guys who spend it.

I have a friend who is having a difficult experience. He's learning to drive from the right side of the front seat.

What's so difficult about that, you ask?

The steering wheel's on the left.

AN ACKERLY woman told me that her husband's idea of saving money was not to work hard enough to need a deodorant.

My chunky uncle, Chester Ladd, Muskogee, Okla., has a related item. "There's a new deodorant which makes you invisible. You still smell, but no one knows who it is."

A J. Vaughn, Big Spring, reports another sign of advanced middle age. "Before you step off the curb, you look down once more to make sure the street is there."

THE DEPTHS of degradation to which middle age and diet can drive one were best illustrated the other day when a pretty girl walked by carrying four Cokes, and after she disappeared, I realized I had watched the Cokes every step of the way.

Too Many Second Thoughts

WASHINGTON — "There was that play about a man who made a political career on second thoughts," said Vernon J. Veritas. "Sometimes Mr. Nixon seems to be rehearsing for that part."

"Mr. Nixon doesn't bumble," said Veritas, the compulsive truth-teller. "But he sure does stumble. The Old Nixon does something like allowing his brother Ed to be illegally appointed to a post-graduate job in Alaska, and the New Nixon has to scrub out the error. He did the same thing by naming Mrs. Willie Mae Rogers, the four-star wonder as consumer consultant, when she wasn't willing to give up her salary at Good Housekeeping magazine."

WAS MR. VERITAS saying that it might be easier to explain President Nixon in a comedy than in a column? "Columns aren't the best vehicle for explaining how such a systematic man as Richard Nixon ever makes a snafu," declared Veritas, who cannot tell a lie. "A comedy writer might show that the President is a thinking machine most of the time, but as Human as Truman when the machine isn't clicking."

IT USED to bring down the house when Truman pulled a boo-boo. Just folks no more infallible than the rest of us. Mr. Nixon has a winning way about him when he admits to an error. He brought Dr. Franklin Long of Cornell to Washington to be named director of National Science Foundation, changed his mind when he found Dr. Long was anti-ABM, then changed it again when he realized he was playing politics with a scientific appointment. It was too late to have Dr. Long's services — he took himself out of the running — but not too late for the President to confess to a goof.

"BUT PRESIDENT NIXON had better not do that too often," said

Veritas. "He isn't cast for the terrific human role. People don't expect a thinking machine to turn up a wrong decision and to try-try-again, which is considered an excusable waste of time in our age of technology."

Like the 29-essed Task Force that the President sent to the Sea of Japan to protect our spying on North Korea, the Kremlin cleared its throat and President Nixon sent the Task Force around the Korean peninsula into the Yellow Sea. He also reduced it in size until it's hardly more than a flotilla. He also decided to back down on seaborne air power and to use land-based air power out of South Korea. These second thoughts are no joking matter. A President ought to be right the first time in his military decisions. If President Kennedy had done the right thing at the Bay of Pigs, we wouldn't have had a missile crisis the year afterwards.

"SECOND GUESSING can make Mr. Nixon look like a second rater and it can make him look like a one-trick pony," said Veritas. "Those flounders he's done on matters like the Electoral College, Home Rule for the District of Columbia and what's left of the War on Poverty don't help his reputation as a feet-on-the-ground administrator."

"IT'S A WISE Republican Congressman who knows what this Republican President stands for. At first Nixon was for the Mundt (R) plan to reform the Electoral College, but later he was agreeable to the Bayh (D) plan. The President's message on Home Rule sounded like something by Hubert Humphrey. It's hard to tell whether Senator McGovern (D) or Agriculture Secretary Hardin (R) is in charge of the Food Stamp plan."

Mr. Veritas was saying it might be more tragically than comedy if Richard Nixon second-guesses himself out of a second-term and lets the Democrats back in.

A Faint Ray Of Hope?

WASHINGTON — It can hardly be called optimism. In fact, there is a firm refusal to use that designation. Yet at the highest level the belief is taking hold that the Paris peace talks are inching toward at least the first faint outline of a settlement.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers will go off to Vietnam next week as the first stop on a 16-day Asian tour with a feeling of confidence. He is confident that the survival value of President Nguyen Van Thieu's government has steadily increased. But neither before nor after the Secretary's four-day visit to Vietnam is there likely to come one of those all-too-frequent statements that things are looking up.

WITHIN THE Nixon Administration is a strong awareness of the errors of the past. Foremost among them was the rosy optimism of the four- or five-day VIP tripper that was given all the military briefings by generals with their best foot forward. With a much higher rating on the roster of errors was the invariable response of the Johnson Administration to a reversal — send more troops and more guns. Rogers will go to Vietnam with a stern eye for the vastly swollen American apparatus and the serrated rank upon rank of support troops who guard fixed installations of almost-unbelievable size.

NOT SO MUCH in the Paris talks as in a careful reading of incidental noises on the periphery is there reason for cautious hope that the Communists are looking to an end of the fighting. Representatives from Hanoi have recently sounded out several governments in Europe on the prospects for trade and aid once the guns are silenced. This is true particularly of the Scandinavian countries. Trade representatives from Japan were recently received in Hanoi.

A NEW and hitherto unpublicized emphasis in the American approach in the Paris talks will also hopefully show results. Hanoi and the National Liberation Front are being told that it is all to their advantage to get a quick settlement. The longer they wait the harsher the terms are certain to be and the stronger and more resistant will the South Vietnamese government and military become.

Another factor that seems peripheral, but on which the Administration puts great stress, is the doctrine of limited sovereignty orchestrated by Leonid Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist Party General Secretary. This doctrine, advanced as justification for the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia, scares the wits out of countries in Eastern Europe that can see their number coming up next.

BUT THE SHOCK of the doctrine, top policy makers believe, extends far beyond the Communist bloc. Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is said to be distinctly nervous as more and more Soviet aid in one form and another pours in with the prospect that he will be told to toe the line or suffer the consequences.

Hanoi can read the signs of the Brezhnev chill. While being careful not to give the slightest public hint, since the Soviets are the biggest war suppliers by far, limited sovereignty — the doctrine of papa-knows-best — could encourage a desire to get out from under the Russian thumb.

THE OPEN ROAD

Six thousand dollars invested by the City of Big Spring in a public relations project five years ago has proved a veritable gold mine in producing friends for the town and favorable publicity, nationwide, for the community.

The project is still paying off and is as good today as the day it opened.

It has gained the city a reputation for hospitality which has resulted in complimentary letters reaching the city hall from all over the nation — and even from abroad.

The odd thing about it is that a great many Big Springers may not even know the project exists and have never visited it.

At the northeastern corner of the Big Spring City Park is a 2 1/2-acre tract cut off from the main park by a cable fence. A modest sign at the gate states that the area is an overnight rest area for campers.

Since it was put in service in December, 1964, thousands of tourists, traveling in trailers, campers and sometimes only in cars, have camped in the area.

The city provides parking pads for 15 campsites. Each site provides the camper water and electricity, and each has a picnic type table, with benches and permanently installed charcoal grill.

In the center of the tract are restrooms which are provided with hot water showers. There are trash cans everywhere. From time to time each night, a police patrol car circles through the area to insure that the campers are not being bothered by vandals or other uninvited visitors.

The city makes no charge for its services — one feature which has been the theme of scores

Each year thousands of American men and women reach retirement age. Many dispose of their property in the towns where they live, free themselves of all obligations, and take to the road.

They travel in small house trailers. They have no real address. Somewhere there is a mail point and from time to time their mail is forwarded from this point to the place where they may currently be found.

For thousands of these people, their temporary addresses are the National Parks. These people literally live in them. They acquire Golden Eagle cards, which cost $7 per annum, which permit them to camp in any National Park free of charge. They can stay in the parks from 14 to 30 days, depending on the season. The camp sites are provided with water and garbage disposal. Some have electricity and sewage connections.

These modern gypsies are a pleasant group of people. They are friendly and gregarious. They live economically and are content with simple pleasures. You find them by the thousands in Florida in winter; they congregate in the Great Northwest in the summer. They can be spotted everywhere; the highways are dotted with their cars and trailers.

Big Spring has earned a warm spot in the hearts of hundreds of these people. And Big Spring has profited well from its effort not only in the money these folk spend here but in the good will toward the community they spread as they travel onward.

nearly every tourist who comes through town knows of it before he arrives.

"They stop in service stations and ask the way to the camp," said Roy Anderson, assistant city manager. "Sometimes they halt a police patrol car and the police often escort them to the camp ground."

In the late spring and summer months, the camp is often filled to beyond capacity. Crow estimated that from 15 to 18 units are camped in the grounds nightly during the height of the summer vacation season.

"There are some nights when 25 to 28 camps are set up on the tract," he said.

He cited July, 1968, as a typical month. During that interval, 481 tourists made use of the facilities. On July 25, 1968, a check was made daily for several days. It showed that 17 states represented by 56 camping units had been in the park. There were four other campers who said they had no permanent address. And one of the campers was from Germany.

The states represented were Illinois, Colorado, Alabama, Louisiana, New York, California, Massachusetts, Florida, Indiana, North Dakota, Ohio, South Carolina, Georgia, South Dakota, Missouri and Michigan. Plus, as would be expected, 15 Texans.

California and Colorado provided the second largest number of campers.

"We have had no instance of transient campers 'squatting' on the campgrounds," said Crow. "The longest known stay has been two weeks — these were folk who had come from distant points to visit sons serving at Webb AFB."

Most campers stay overnight and are on their way. Many, however, remain from two days to a week. Some of these want to rest up after long hard drives; others stay over to tour the countryside.

Letters tell of visits to Webb; to the top of Scenic Mountain, even as far away as the Monahans Sand Hills Park and the Odessa Meteor Crater. With their home base established here and waiting for them, these visitors make short tours of any interesting spots in the area.

The visitors spend considerable money here, as has been determined by a check of stores and service stations. They buy groceries, meat, ice and other commodities. They fill up with gas. A few buy tires. Some have their vehicles serviced or repaired. Others attend theaters, play golf, patronize the municipal swimming pool, or even try fishing at Moss Creek Lake. Easterners like to drive through the ranching country and inspect the cotton fields.

Anderson estimates that the $6,000 cost tag on the camp project may be a little high. The major expenses in building it were the construction of graded and surfaced roads, installation of water and power lines and the restroom building. Each campsite is provided with a safety type electric outlet. Most of the cash spent went for materials — employees on the City Park and street payrolls did the work. Probably the total original investment, Anderson says, was less than $5,000.

Maintenance costs, he said, have been low, thanks to the of enthusiastic letters from tourists who have visited here.

Each morning, the city sends a crew to the campground to police the restrooms, cart away the rubbish, and do any cleaning-up that needs doing.

"It is heart warming," said Larry Crow, city manager, "how little cleaning up is required."

The people who make use of the camp are scrupulous in keeping it neat and free of rubbish. The restrooms are never left dirty or defaced. There is little waste paper, beer cans, or other rubbish on the grounds. The campers pick up any trash they may have and deposit it in the trash barrels before they leave.

The campground is mentioned in the official publication to which trailer travelers and camp tourists subscribe and care the visitors exercise in taking care of the site and its facilities.

"We created the camping area when tourists began to ask for permission to camp in the big park," said Crow. "Since it is the custom to lock up the park at midnight, even had we permitted camping, the locked gates made such practice unsatisfactory."

"By fencing off the 2 1/2 acre tract, we have been able to accommodate our visitors."

"In order to avert possible invasion of the area by patrons of the regular park, we intentionally omitted installing playground equipment at the camp site."

"We have had some vandalism," said Anderson, "but the incidents have been few and all seem to have been perpetrated by local people, and not by our camper guests."

"We had electric lights atop each electric outlet," he pointed out. "Vandals kept breaking these and carrying them away. We finally removed the fixtures and sealed off the top to avert anyone coming in contact with a hot line."

Crow said that other towns have similar camp setups, but the letters which have reached city hall from visitors who have camped in the area indicate that such installations are so rare, as to be almost nonexistent.

Some of the campers have spent nights here on several occasions.

"We plan our itinerary," said one writer, "so we can go through your city and enjoy your fine hospitality and your excellent campground."

'THANK YOUS' LAUD CITY'S TRAILER CAMP
Mrs. Ranette Sheppard, secretary to city manager, holds some of cards and letters from grateful trailer tourists.

Couple Joins Modern Gypsies

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Evans, late of Bath, N.Y., but with their current residence just plain U.S.A., are two of the growing army of Americans who live wherever night overtakes them or where their fancy turns. They are typical examples of the peculiar new trend in this nation.

They are now in their seventh month as "gypsies" of the new variety. They live in a small but exceptionally comfortable camper trailer and their address for a few days recently was Big Spring. They were guests at the Big Spring Overnight Rest Camp at the northwest corner of the City Park.

Their address today? Who knows?

Probably El Paso. They were moving in that general direction and had notified a daughter, Mrs. Frederick Eichorn, Fort Bliss, they would be dropping in on her and Capt. Eichorn one of these days soon.

"She tried to pin me down," said Mrs. Evans. "She wanted to know just when we would arrive. I told her soon. But, of course, that was before we found this camp here in your lovely city. We may be a few days later now in getting to Fort Bliss."

The Evans' only grandson is at El Paso. This, more than anything else, may have accelerated their departure for that city.

The Evans have traveled 13,000 miles in their home on wheels since they sold their residence, furniture and all their property in Bath last October.

"We had an auction," said Mrs. Evans, "and sold the furniture."

"When the auction was over," quipped Evans, who is a retired wholesale tobacco distributor, "all I had left was our cat and my wife." He paused. "I gave the cat away." He shot a humorous glance at Mrs. Evans.

After they had sold their house, they boarded their 1967 Airstream trailer. "We had never tried trailer travel before," said Evans.

Their chief intention at first was to get away from the cold, long winters of New York. Florida seemed to be the place. Both are ardent golfers.

In Florida, they found they could get a membership in a golf club for three months for $60. There was a trailer camp near the golf course, which provided all accommodations and services for $30 per month.

"We played golf daily and it took up so much time," said Mrs. Evans, "we didn't have to spend money for anything but groceries. We didn't see things because we were enjoying golf so much."

In all of their travels the Evans said they had not found a camp such as is operated here by the City of Big Spring.

"Most trailer camps," they said, "are privately owned." That the Big Spring camp makes no charge amazed the former New Yorkers. "We've met nothing like this anywhere," they said.

The Evans planned to spend one night here and head on to El Paso. The wonderful climate here was too much for them. The camp pleased them. The cleanliness of the town impressed them, as did the general friendliness of the people.

The one night stay extended into two nights and then into three nights.

"I needed to get a little work done on the car," said Evans. "I found the service good and the prices reasonable."

He added that he had decided he would buy a new set of tires while he was here. He and Mrs. Evans shopped the stores and replenished their trailer-larder.

"This is our first visit to Big Spring," said Mrs. Evans, "but it won't be our last. We have enjoyed your camp here and we think that your city park is lovely."

"The golf course looks inviting, but we've just about had all the golf we want for a while. The three months in Florida satisfied our golfing needs for the time being."

Trailer living, the Evans said, is both comfortable and economical. They have kept close accounts on their expenses the seven months they have been on the road and their records show they are living even more economically than they were in Bath.

"Your trailer park," they said, "undoubtedly has done your community a lot of good in beneficial publicity. We will tell others of it and I am sure that others have been passing the word ahead of us."

The only problem we have found here and we are sure it is a temporary one — is that the electricity service seems to be fouled up. We have water and ample room. Only the electric lines are out of kilter.

The Evans' trailer is a self-contained unit. Inside its compact 22 feet are two fold-away beds, a kitchen area with a four burner and oven range, a double sink, a gas-powered refrigerator, a bathroom with tub and shower, television, floor furnace heat for cold weather, hot water heater and ventilation fans.

"All the comforts of home and you can move the home where your fancy takes you," said Evans.

"We wouldn't go back to the old way of life for anything," added Mrs. Evans.

Damaged By Twister

This home in Beaver Creek Township, a suburb of Dayton, Ohio, suffered heavy damage yesterday when a tornado raked the area.

Ohio Storms Claim Two, Injure 50

KETTERING, Ohio (AP) — Tornadoes hopscoching across Ohio left two dead, perhaps 50 injured, about 400 homeless and millions of dollars in damage.

Gov. James A. Rhodes flew during the night to the two major scenes of destruction—Kettering and the Cadiz area—offering assistance to victims.

Heaviest damage Thursday occurred at this Dayton suburban city in western Ohio. Rhodes said it might qualify as a disaster area.

Also hard hit was the Tappan Lake region near Cadiz, 175 miles east of here.

Mrs. Harry Fogle, 42, was killed when the storm leveled her house near the lake. It was one of a dozen houses destroyed in the area.

Jefferson D. Miller, 20, of Alexandria, was killed when a tree, split by lightning or wind, fell on his car near Columbus.

The tornado struck Kettering during the late afternoon rush hour. It cut a path 150 yards wide and three miles long through a residential area and into adjacent Greene County.

Thirty houses were demolished and an estimated 185 others damaged, as were an apartment building complex and a nursing home.

No deaths or serious injuries occurred in the west Ohio storm although 25 persons were treated at Kettering Memorial Hospital for cuts and bruises.

Mayor Robert J. Haverstick of Kettering flew over the area in a helicopter and estimated damage "in the millions of dollars."

It Sure Beats Cooking Eggs

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Steve M. Northern, 22, is home from Vietnam with three Silver Stars, five Distinguished Flying Crosses, 15 Air Medals and a Purple Heart.

As a pararescuer, he flew more than 240 combat missions aboard helicopters, rescuing downed fliers being shot at by the enemy. He saved 51 men.

A job as an Air Force cook was first sought by Northern, who will receive the 1969 Aviation Space Writers Association Helicopter Heroism Award next Tuesday at Dayton, Ohio.

"I got to thinking about how boring it would be cooking eggs," he reminisced Thursday. "So I decided to do something more exciting."

Downright Chilly Across Big Chunk Of Texas Today

By The Associated Press
For this late in the spring it was downright chilly across a big part of Texas this morning.

Steady north breezes called attention to the chill as much as the temperatures, which sagged into the 40s at many places in the northern half of the state. Readings farther south stayed in the 60s to low 70s.

The latest cool front had moved into the Gulf of Mexico after kicking up still more tornadoes and thunderstorms headed with hail Thursday in Central and South Texas.

Severe thunderstorm warnings stayed up until midnight for a few counties in the extreme south.

The Laredo area on the Mexican border was the latest to take a pounding from golf ball-sized hailstones Thursday evening before the front's effect faded.

Farmers were assessing heavy crop losses, meanwhile from hail as big as teacups in places around Fredericksburg, Johnson City and Stonewall in Central Texas earlier in the day.

There was smaller hail elsewhere, and Austin and Lufkin each received more than an inch of rain.

At least two harmless tornadoes were watched late Thursday—one reported by police in the air over Northeast Dallas and the other tracked on the ground for four miles by state police near Lancaster, south of Dallas.

Heavy crests still boured down several rivers, meanwhile in the continuing runoff from cloudbursts which hit parts of North Central Texas early in the week.

Officials reported nearly 100

State Dates Set

AUSTIN (AP) — The American Legion's state baseball tournament will be held in Waxahachie, starting Aug. 8 and lasting five days, state Legion headquarters said.

persons routed by high water in Dallas still were unable to return to their homes, and a dozen streets remained closed because of water or washouts.

The Trinity River was dropping slowly at Dallas after hitting a peak of 41 feet, 11 above flood stage. It surged 14 feet out of banks downstream at Trinidad.

Flooding in low areas continued along the Sabine and Sulphur rivers.

Skies cleared by early morning in all parts of the state except the coast, where clouds were thinning rapidly.

Temperatures near dawn were down to 40 degrees at Perryton and 41 at Dalhart, both in the Panhandle. Readings were mostly in the 40s and 50s over the northern two-thirds of Texas, and in the 60s to 70s at Laredo, 93 at Brownsville and warmest spot at 72.

Top marks Thursday hit 92 at Laredo, 93 at Brownsville and 95 at McAllen, while Amarillo and Dalhart shared a high of only 59.

Big Entry Lists Due For Rodeo

More than 150 high school and college cowboys from throughout West Texas are expected to compete in the first annual Howard County Junior College Rodeo Saturday and Sunday at the Rodeo Bowl.

Tommy Buckner, advisor for the HCJC Agricultural Club, sponsors of the rodeo, said that 120 entries had been taken through Thursday afternoon, and the entry books would remain open until 5 p.m. today.

Cowboys from as far away as Plainview, Sonora, Burkburnett and El Paso have entered.

Performances will begin daily at 2 p.m. with admission $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Competition is open to area high school and college students.

Activities will begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday with a parade through Big Spring. Appearing in the parade will be Pat Pierce, Miss HCJC, Freddie Simonton, rodeo queen, and several riding groups from the area, Buckner said.

Events scheduled and club directors in charge are: barrel racing, Terry Denton; calf roping, Lonnie Newton; ribbon roping, Freddy Newman; barrel race, Lonnie Wright; bull riding, Emmett Hataway; and girls' calf dressing, Lindley Utley.

Buckner said a novice bull riding event will be held for HCJC students who do not normally compete in rodeos. Cal Oppegard will be rodeo clown and bull fighter.

Announcer will be Dub Bryant, while David Barr, Bobby Cathey and Jimmy Taylor will be judges. Malcolm Patterson and Hezlie Read will be timekeepers.

Ecaphy buckles will be given to first place winners in each event, and trophies will go to second, third and fourth place winners. An all-around cowboy will be named for the entrant who scores highest in more than one event.

Members of the city's Parks and Recreation board, meeting with Joe Pickle, chairman, and Curtis Mullins, administrator of the Citywide Summer Recreation committee, favored an allocation of $1,800 as the city's contribution to the fund.

During the past two years, when the program had to function without a bus to transport youngsters to the park attendance declined. All school age youngsters are eligible for the program without charge, however, where able, they are encouraged to pay a nominal pool fee to remunerate the city for costs, and for additional craft supplies if needed.

The board also agreed to buy an added $2.1 million worth of Upper Neches River Municipal Water Authority bonds for completion of the project.

This increases the board's share of the reservoir's storage capacity from 50 to 53.25 percent. It increases the state's dollar participation in the project's construction from $5.29 million to $7.93 million, or about one-half.

State purchases of the Upper Neches bonds rose from $4.8 million to $6.9 million.

The cost of the project, and enlargement of Lake Palestine, originally was estimated at $10.58 million. It is now set at $14.83 million. The state first participated financially in the project in 1965.

"Construction costs have gone up considerably. This is what we are faced with all the time," a board spokesman said.

The lake covers parts of Anderson, Henderson, Smith and Cherokee counties and is used by Palestine and Tyler for city water supplies. Ultimately, it will contain 410,000 acre-feet, the spokesman said. An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.

Mia Farrow's Brother Booked

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Actress Mia Farrow's brother, John Charles Farrow, was booked today on charges of possession of marijuana and cultivating peyote, the sheriff's office said.

Farrow, 22, is a self-employed writer.

Officers said they found two marijuana plants and one peyote plant growing in the residence.

Special Session In Kansas Dims

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Gov. Robert Dacking says he won't call a special session of the legislature unless leaders assure him something will be accomplished.

He told a news conference Thursday it would be a waste of money to call a special session if it consisted only of a motion to adjourn.

Docking had threatened a special session because the legislature enacted a $27 million school aid bill and decided to finance it out of his budget balances.

Two Drivers Are Injured In Thursday Accident

Two motorists received injuries and one was hospitalized at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital Thursday.

The mishap occurred at Third and Birdwell and involved Mrs. Bonnie N. Smart, Sand Springs, and Miss Bessie L. Love, 412 Westover. Mrs. Fred Hyer, a passenger in Miss Love's car, was also taken to the hospital, but she was not injured.

Miss Love, according to attendants, received fractures of the collar bone and two ribs, and Mrs. Smart received a face laceration. An Alert Ambulance carried the three women to the hospital.

David W. McDuffie Jr. fell from the rear of a car in the 600 block of South Bell Thursday, but he was not taken to a hospital. Police said he had a cut over one eye. The car was being driven by Carl Ray Hedge, Burnett.

Four minor accidents were investigated during the day. Locations, and drivers involved, were: Bluebird at West Sixteenth, Elmer H. Ohlde, Palmer, Kan., and Mary C. Jabloncki, 1604 Bluebird, College Park Shopping Center parking lot, Dub Bryant, 1602 Tucson (parked), and Kitty McKiskis, 2102 Merrily, Eleventh and Goliad, Bernice P. Walker, 804 W. 14th, and Carolyn H. Sewell, 2111 Grace, 800 S. Birdwell, Mary B. Kenemer, Gail Route, and Shirley C. Royals, 800 Birdwell.

Station Off

It will be several weeks before Channel 6 will be back on the air, officials said this morning. The storm in Dallas Wednesday morning knocked down the station's antenna, and it is expected to take two weeks to repair it.

Boosters Meet

New officers will be installed Monday when the Choir Boosters Association meets in the choral department of the high school at 7:30 p.m. It is the final meeting of the year and all members are urged to attend, as reports will be given on the budget, projects, and the choir tour.

Thefts Reported

Police were notified of two thefts Thursday. Mrs. Gloria Mounkes, 620 N.W. 3rd, reported rings valued at $300 stolen from her purse. Clinton Stewart, 306 W. 5th, said three shotguns, a rifle and a box of ammunition were stolen from his house.

Expect Special Texas Session

VICTORIA (AP) — Rep. R. H. Cory told Victoria teachers Thursday night he expects a special session of the legislature.

He said, "Gov. Smith, I believe, will veto a one-year appropriation bill and will call the Legislature back into session a week later to get a two-year bill."

Cory spoke at a school faculty meeting.

Won't Report For Induction

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Christian Hayden, 20, is refusing for the second time to report for military induction.

Victor Hewitt, salutatorian of the senior class, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hewitt, Lenora. He had an average of 91.82.

Honor members of the eighth grade promotion class are Cynthia Hill, valedictorian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hill, Route 1, Lamesa, with an average of 91.60, and Karen Huse, salutatorian of the eighth grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Huse, Route B, Lamesa, with an average of 91.74. The announcement was made by J. W. Massengale, superintendent.

The 20-year-old actor Sterling Hayden was acquitted in U.S. District Court last year of failure to report for induction and granted status as a conscientious objector.

Hayden refused to accept such a classification and his local draft board subsequently classified him 1-A. He refused to report for a pre-induction physical in March or for induction Tuesday.

Hayden says he regards the induction notice as a "tool of the tyrant, slave master and overlord." His father won the Silver Star for heroism in World War II but has supported his son's antiwar stand.

A spokesman for Selective Service said it would be up to young Hayden's local draft board and the U.S. district attorney's office whether he would be prosecuted again.

Look Out Stork

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A helium balloon will be launched for each baby born in Methodist Hospital next week, National Hospital Week.

A card attached to each balloon asks the finder to write where the balloon came down.

Shows are due Friday night along the entire Atlantic Coast from Maine to Florida. More showers are expected in part of Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota. It will be generally colder in the central portion of the nation and warmer elsewhere.

Optometry Compromise Hints Peace

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate Public Health Committee approved today a compromise bill to settle the 20-year war between independent and chain-store optometrists.

The bill gives permanent control of the Texas Optometry Board to the independents by requiring that four of its six members also be members of the Texas Optometric Association.

It limits the power of the board to passing procedural rules and regulations only.

In 1959, the board, controlled by independents, approved a "professional responsibility rule" that prevented optometrists from practicing in multiple offices under trade names.

The chain-store optometrists have kept that rule under challenge in the courts almost constantly since then.

The compromise bill also permits advertising of prices, but under strict limitations.

Any optometrist who wants to advertise must get an advertising permit from the state board. A list of prices to be charged must be filed with the board.

If the price of any prescription lens is advertised, equal prominence must be given in the ad to the prices charged for the other eight kinds of lenses or the others must be lumped under language such as "all other lenses" and followed by the maximum price to be charged for any of them.

All lenses must conform to standards set by the American Standards Association.

Violation of the law would be grounds for suspension of the advertising permit for up to six months. A second violation would mean permanent loss of the permit.

Ads that say "single lens glasses as low as $12.95" or "we'll meet or beat anybody in town" would be illegal.

The bill is scheduled for floor debate Monday. Its sponsors, Sen. Jack Strong of Loneview and Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, said they also have agreed to introduce a resolution calling for an interim committee to study the problem.

The compromise was worked out between Strong and Creighton with the help of an arbitrator, Dr. Charles LeMaistre, University of Texas vice chancellor for health affairs.

"I hope we can heal some of the scars of the last 20 years with this bill," Strong said. "I hope those on one side will not think all those on the other side are evil."

'I Do Not Plan To Run,' Mayor Daley Tells Okie

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley has declined a challenge from the mayor of Gage, Okla., to compete in a 21-mile cross-country race.

"I do not plan to run," said Mayor Daley, when he learned Tuesday that Mayor Loris Shafer of Gage had challenged him to the foot race May 21 between Gage and the town of May.

The race was billed to promote industrial growth in Gage, a town of 470.

"I understand Mr. Shafer is a young man—only 55. I'll have my four boys run against him," said Daley, who will be 67 on May 15.

Webb Graduates 50 Saturday

Undergraduate-pilot training class 69-G will mark the end of 53 weeks of aeronautical training at Webb AFB Saturday morning when its 50 members receive wings and certificates of aeronautical rating in ceremonies on the base flightline, beginning at 10 a.m.

The class will be the third to graduate at Webb this year. A full wing parade and pass-in review has been scheduled.

Forty-seven U.S. Air Force officers form the nucleus of 69-G. Two other members are Marine Corps officers while a third student pilot is a foreign officer.

Lt. Col. Casper Bierman, commander of the 43rd Tactical Fighter Squadron, MacDill AFB, Fla., will serve as the guest speaker at this evening's class dining-in. The colonel is a command pilot who has logged more than 5,000 hours of flying time, including 355 combat hours.

The class commenced pilot training at Webb with 65 officers May 6, 1968. The men began initial training in the T-41 Mescalero at Howard County Airport May 13. They moved into the T-37 phase of training in "M" and "P" flights June 26. T-38 Talon training began Oct. 31, with class members divided into "C" and "G" flights.

2nd Lt. Michael Kaye was the first in the class to solo in the T-41. 2nd Lt. Lonnie Nelson was the first to solo in the T-37, and Capt. Dennis Fitz was the first to solo in the T-38.

The class, nicknamed the Blue Babes, did not grab any UPT athletic trophies, although several of its class members did excel in sports. 2nd Lt. Walter Wegesser won the base singles tennis championship two years in a row and represented

Webb at the 1968 ATC tennis tournament. 2nd Lt. William Bristol was a member of the Webb all-star golf team and represented the base in the command-wide golf tourney. With 2nd Lt. Kenneth Richter serving as soccer coach and halfback, and 2nd Lt. Bruce Colvin holding down the goalie slot, in addition to other class members playing other positions, the class formed the nucleus on the base soccer team.

Serving as 69-G's class leader was Capt. Robert Murphy, Capt. Robert Carter Jr., who received his third Silver Star and a Distinguished Flying Cross while stationed at Webb, was "A" section's leader. The "B" section leader was Capt. Dennis Fitz, who received his 24th Air Medal, the 25th and 26th single mission Air Medals and the Presidential Unit Citation for heroism while stationed at Webb. Both captains received the medals for Vietnam service.

Capt. Richard Lord initially served as the training officer for the class. Capt. William Dunnivant took over as training officer when 69-G entered the T-38 phase of training and has guided them for the duration of their stay at Webb.

DEFENDANT WINS, CITY JURY TRIAL

A rare jury trial in City Court was held Thursday, and the defendant won his case.

Michael Duncan, named in police charges of drunk and disturbance, asked for a jury trial when his case was called. Melvin Darace, city court chief deputy, rounded up a venire, from which a jury of Warren Wise, Sandra Underhill, Ronnie E. Smith, James Wright, Langford Wood, and Bill Gray was selected.

Toger Brown was attorney for the defense, and Herb Prouty, city attorney, was the prosecutor. City Judge John Burgess presided.

The jurors found Duncan innocent on both charges, then were paid $5 cents each for their services.

To Give Papers

Two staff members of Big Spring State Hospital and one consultant have been asked to present papers at the meeting of the Rocky Mountain Psychological Association May 14-17 at Albuquerque, N.M. The staff members, both psychologists, are Stephen Edwards and Ronnie Coorn, and the consultant is Dr. Joseph Ray, a psychologist from Texas Tech.

July 28 Slated For Moody Trial

Judge Ralph W. Caton of the 118th District Court set the date down for a murder trial of Bruce Cammack on June 7, case moved from Midland to the County, and then took on a similar case from Coleman County.

Judge Caton said that July 28 is the date for the trial of Michael Lee Moody, a former Midland policeman charged in the slaying of two-year-old Lori Margaret Gunn. The judge also said that he will hear the case of Guadalupe Gonzales Diaz, charged in Coleman County for murder, arson and robbery.

The Diaz case was transferred on a change of venue this week to Howard County from Coleman County by 119th District Court Judge Glenn R. Lewis of San Angelo.

Diaz is charged with burning a residence owned by Bruce Cammack on June 7, 1968, in Coleman and in the County, and then took on a similar case from Coleman County.

Vows To Sabotage Peaceful Solution

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The leader of one of the most active of the Palestinian guerrilla organizations has vowed to sabotage any peaceful solution of the Middle East conflict which might emerge from Big Four talks.

George Habash, leader of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, rejects any settlement that provides for the continued existence of the state of Israel.

"We should go out of our way to prevent the conclusion of peace along the lines of the U.N. resolution," Habash said in an interview.

WITHOUT HOPE

"To us, a peaceful solution means injustice. It means we remain in the squalor of our refugee camps, without a country without dignity, without hope. We cannot continue to live as sheep."

The U.N. resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, calls for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territory, an end to Arab belligerence and free navigation for Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal and the Tiran Strait.

Habash's organization has spurned the drudgery of routine day-to-day commando raids into Israel and concentrated on sensational attacks that make headlines. Its commandos hijacked an Israeli airliner over the Mediterranean last summer and shot up two other El Al jets in

GOV. SMITH INSISTS: Some People Want To Live In Slums

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some people want to live in slums, Gov. Preston Smith of Texas said Thursday.

He made the statement at a news conference after leaving a briefing session by Secretary of Housing George Romney.

Smith said he favors a new government housing program during the next 10 years, but added that he doesn't believe that slums will be eradicated.

Low-income housing may be needed in some of Texas' big cities, the Democratic governor said.

"But no matter how many of these (low-income) units you build you still are going to have these slums because people want to live there," Smith told reporters.

"You think they want to?" he was asked.

"Well, they do," he replied.

"In Lubbock a while back we tore down all the slums and built low-income housing units. And people just moved across town and created another slum."

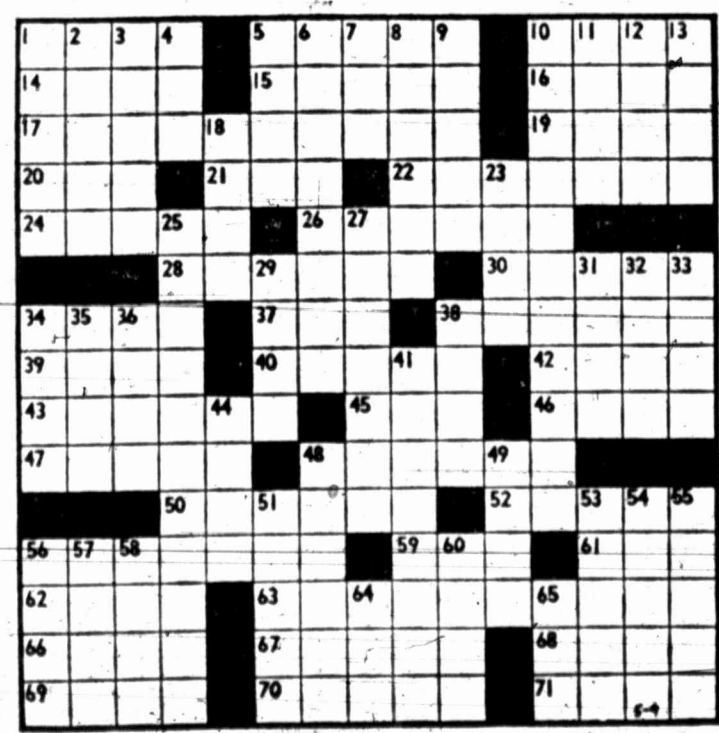

Smith said one of 17 governors meeting with Romney to hear about federal plans to help provide 26 million housing units during the next 10 years.

Smith said he plans to designate one of his staff, probably Fritz Lanham, to draw together these building codes, which vary from city to city, the availability of labor and the market estimates of how much new construction is needed in Texas.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development proposes to offer rent subsidies and low-interest rates for loans, and plans rehabilitation of some neighborhoods.

Delay In Arms Control Talk With Reds Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Joint Chiefs of Staff reportedly are trying to convince the Nixon administration to delay U.S.-Soviet arms talks to allow testing this summer of a new missile weapons system.

The military leaders are said to be concerned that starting the talks earlier would prevent testing the Multiple Independently Targeted Re-entry Vehicles—MIRVs—and put the United States behind the Soviets in deployment of the multiwarhead system.

MOSCOW'S FEAR
Supporters of an early start to the disarmament talks are said by government sources to feel interest in an arms agreement because of Moscow's fear of losing ground to the United States in development of MIRVs.

Defense experts feel the United States is ahead in developing MIRVs at this time.

Such a weapons system is considered the next significant step in the arms race. MIRVs involve equipping existing missiles with several nuclear warheads that can be fired at several targets or used as scatter decoys to confuse enemy radar.

In fact, many of those involved in the current debate over the Safeguard antiballistic missile system feel MIRVs would provide an even greater threat to the world's nuclear strategic balance than the ABM.

PUBLIC POSITION
As one Safeguard opponent put it, if the ABM is planned is susceptible to being flooded by a massive Soviet missile attack, it would be even more susceptible if the missiles were equipped with MIRVs.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers' public position on the start of arms talks is that they

Final Cotton Crop Guess

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced today its final estimate of last year's cotton crop at 10,948,000 bales of 500 pounds each valued at $2,083,000,000.

The previous production estimate made in December was 10,822,000 bales. The new estimate was 47 per cent larger than the 1967 crop which produced 7,458,000 bales.

Last year's crop was on 10,912,000 acres, a 15 per cent increase from 1967, the department said. Harvested acreage totaled 10,160,000 acres which included 67,000 acres of American-Egyptian type cotton.

Officials said preliminary surveys showed the 1968 crop brought growers an average of 22.1 cents a pound for lint, down 3.5 from 1967. The estimated average price received for cotton seed last year was $50.50 a ton compared with $55.20 in 1967.

CONVERSION
U.S. officials have proposed that the Soviet Union and United States ratify the treaty simultaneously, but the State Department said Thursday it had received no response from the Soviets as yet.

The first place the United States plans to put MIRVs is in its nuclear submarine fleet, as it switches from the Polaris missiles to the multiheaded Poseidon.

The first vessel scheduled for conversion, the Andrew Jackson, is currently at the Naval Shipyard at Groton, Conn., with final testing of the Poseidon scheduled this summer.

Thus, a final determination that the weapon is operational could precede the opening of arms talks if they are delayed

Guerrilla War In West Irian

DJAYAPURA, West Irian (AP) — Some 30,000 primitive tribesmen have taken to the jungle in the Enarotali region of West Irian to wage a guerrilla war against Indonesian paratroopers.

Unconfirmed reports said that about 15 Indonesian soldiers have been killed in the sporadic fighting that broke out around May 1.

The 400 paratroopers were dropped around Enarotali, in the central highlands, after the tribesmen damaged the airstrip to prevent planes from landing.

It appeared today that the tribesmen have recaptured the airstrip and the town, relieving a small garrison of troops that had been cut off.

The uprising was part of a series of demonstrations May 1 against the procedure worked out by the Indonesian government to determine in July whether the western half of the island of New Guinea will become the independent state of Papua or remain the Indonesian province of West Irian.

The rebellious tribesmen raised flags of the Free Papua movement and ordered Indonesian officials and teachers out of the Enarotali area. Free Papua flags also were hoisted in Biak and other towns.

The Papuans claim the Indonesian Government is trying to rig the plebiscite, known as the "act of free choice." The inland tribes are angry because advisory boards chosen by the government will vote for them while a popular referendum will

STRIP STRIKE POSSIBILITY

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A dispute between chorus girls and their hotel employers flared today, raising anew the possibility of a strike on the Strip.

Some 700 members of the American Guild of Variety Artists ratified an agreement March 21, that would have given them increases from $193 for a seven-day week to $246 per six-day week by 1971. Principal performers would get $364. But before the contract could be signed, the talks broke down over the wording.

William Campbell, director of labor relations for the Nevada Resort Association said in a news release negotiations had collapsed.

"The owners are adamant against any further concessions," he said.

Club Hosts Webb Class

Abnormally cool weather for the season hampered the program to a degree, but in general the Kiwanis Club hosted ice cream and cake supper for the newest class of Webb AFB students Thursday night was a success.

More than 150 attended the party which was in the pavilion at the Big Spring City Park. Kiwanians and their wives were hosts and the Kiwanis-Anns provided the cake and ice cream.

The class members, many with their wives, found the outing enjoyable.

Special entertainment for the party was arranged by the Big Spring Music Club. The Runals Junior High School stage band was presented. The young musicians were well received.

Mother's Day Rush Expected

Mother's Day means more long distance phone calls than on any other day of the year for Big Spring.

Harry Sawyer, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, says that 4,500 operator-handled telephone calls are expected Sunday. That's approximately 2,250 more long distance calls than on a normal Sunday. He offered suggestions which might help alleviate the Mother's Day rush.

"If possible, customers might place calls on Saturday before Mother's Day."

"On Mother's Day, our peak calling periods probably will be in the evening between 8 o'clock and 12 midnight. If possible, calls might be placed in early morning or the afternoon to more equally spread the load. Direct Distance Dialing is designed to speed calling, we encourage customers to use DDD for station-to-station calls," he said.

Guides Plan For Campout

An overnight campout Saturday is planned for the YMCA Indian Guides. This will be the final activity of the school year for the tribes.

The campout will be on the Boy Scout Campgrounds on the Country Club road. The tribes will move onto the grounds between noon and 2 p.m. and the camp will close after breakfast Sunday morning.

Athletic contests, treasure hunt, rattlesnake exhibition, and Indian dances are on the schedule of events for the outing.

Comanche Tribe, with Morris Holmes as chief, will be the host to the camp. Longhouse chief is Jim Bill Little.

Gin Remodeled

GAIL (SC) — The Vincent Gin is being remodeled. Located one mile north of SH 350 at Vincent, it is being completely rebuilt with the exception of the mechanical parts in the gin. New scales have been put in and there is a slab of concrete which will be the new location of the seed house. The gin is getting a new foundation and a new building will be built around it. The burning pit will be larger and deeper. The gin should be ready for operation in about four months.

Place Eighth

GAIL (SC) — The Gail FFA Livestock Judging Team placed eighth at the State Judging Contest in College Station last Saturday. The team included Rick Hendley, Jimmy Hodge and Ken Don Jones. In the State Dairy Cattle Judging contest, the team of Darrell Taylor, Mike Swinney and Gary Wilkerson placed sixty-fourth.

More than 100 photographs taken by a dozen students at Howard County Junior College are on display in the campus library through Wednesday.

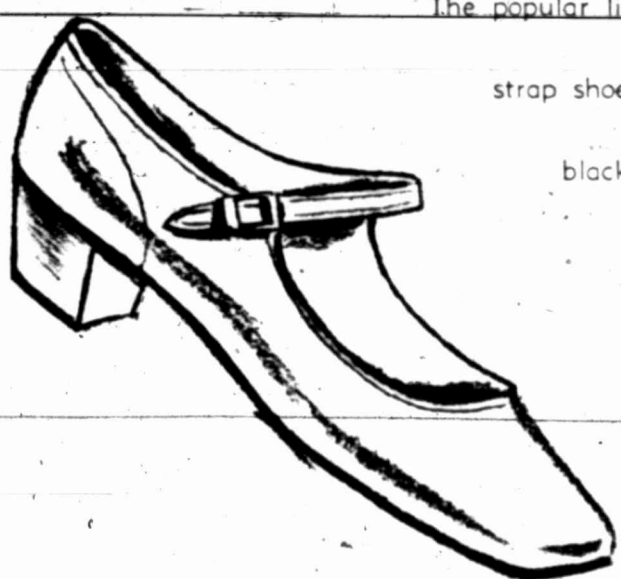

The exhibit is the work of past and present students who have taken photo-journalism 302 at the college. Instructor is Dal Herring.

"We have put on display work done by those students who have submitted 'A' quality pictures," Herring explained. "Most of the photos are at least 8 by 10 inches, and some are in color."

Some of those contributing are Billy Cook, Stewart Thompson, Frank Griffin, Donna Herring, Howard Chancellor, Alan Doelp, and the instructor.

A slide presentation in color is also in progress, automatically showing 30 slides on a projector donated by Gibson's Discount Center.

The public is invited to visit it.

A LOVELIER YOU Try Astral Eye Look For Luring Males

By MARY SUE MILLER

Have you heard? There's a new way to lure the male of the species into your orbit. It's the astral eye, out-of-this-world fringed, featured lashes for both the upper and lower lids.

Dashes for the upper lids are arranged in groups along a fine band and tapered in spiky lengths to create a starry effect. Regular spikies fit along the entire width of the lid. Demis are sized to lush outer corners or centers — wherever you want to turn on more starlight.

Under lashes curve downward in a wholly natural fashion and they are knotted at long intervals along a hair-thin transparent band. Once in place, they look exactly as if you grew them. Best of all, they are so easy to place, much easier than gluing on the individual, one-at-a-time type. You fasten new varieties under your own lashes with lash fix.

Simply dot the fixer behind each cluster — not along the entire band. That way there is nothing to give away your artifice.

What a boon for Lovelies who have practically no lower lash equipment. In such a case, it is possible to wear under lashes without decorating the upper lids — as long as the upper lashes are sufficiently full that is.

What's for certain is that the eye lure of the astral eye is an astromancer, fatal to a male earthing.

EYES OF YOUTH
You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing 15 cents in coin and along, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

What a boon for Lovelies who have practically no lower lash equipment. In such a case, it is possible to wear under lashes without decorating the upper lids — as long as the upper

Congregation To Honor Chaplain Hitt

With hundreds of his friends looking on, Chaplain Clark O. Hitt will be recognized at Sunday morning worship of the First Baptist Church upon his retirement as the chaplain of the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The effective date of his retirement is May 31, but Dr. Gerald Marsh, associate director of the chaplains' commission of the Southern Baptist home mission board, will come here from Atlanta, Ga., to pay respects to Chaplain Hitt at 11 a.m. Sunday.

With the exception of the Rev. Harold Park (Parky) Hitt of Portland, Ore., all six children and 15 grandchildren of Chaplain and Mrs. Hitt will be here to share in the occasion. The Hitts have been extremely active members in the First Baptist Church since they came here in July, 1950.

They plan to continue making their home at 1301 Pennsylvania but will go soon to Glorieta, N.M., where he will serve on the Baptist Assembly staff of the summer at their cabin at Tin Cup, Colo.

Chaplain Hitt has been on the VA staff for 23 years but has spent 28 years in the chaplaincy. He had served briefly in World War I and in 1941 had applied for the Army Reserve because he felt that Baptist ministers ought to do their part in serving the growing Army.

He was called to active duty in July. His church at Lancaster would not let him resign and kept extending a leave of absence over the next three years until he persuaded members to release him.

MILITARY DUTY

He served as assistant chaplain at Lowry Field, Colo., getting his commission six days before his 42nd birthday when he would have been barred because of age. Soon he was group chaplain overseas with the 3rd Reconnaissance Group in England and North Africa under the command of Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President. The day the Sicilian invasion kicked off he was transferred to the States, where, through fortuitous circumstances, he was kept in Washington, D.C., he was kept in the air branch and sent to San Antonio. Destined to go to Lackland, at the last moment he was made chaplain of Randolph Field, then known as the West Point of the Air. He served there until separation from service in 1946. The VA insisted on him beginning service with three months of terminal Army service still remaining and he was sent to North Little Rock, Ark., until he was named the chaplain of the VA Hospital in Big Spring.

In addition to the regular duties of chaplain in visiting, counselling, comforting, etc., he holds three worship services each week (one Saturday evening and two Sunday mornings) at the hospital chapel. Somehow he finds time to fill pulpits for area pastors and otherwise keep up church work. He has served as secretary of the Big Spring Pastors' Association and as Mrs. Hitt, of course, is extremely active in the church. Helping people has always given him a spiritual fulfillment, but his greatest joy has been in guiding a number of patients to find their way to Christ. Perhaps his greatest sense of gratitude came when a young veteran with cancer, told him hours before he died: "Chaplain, I want to thank you. I don't know how I could bear to die if you had not introduced me to Christ. Actually I look forward to dying."

As a military chaplain, an outstanding moment was one he had secretly dreaded. He was called on to serve a young Negro airman convicted of killing a white woman. About the time he received his charge, the prisoner made an ill-fated escape attempt, was shot and critically wounded. While in the hospital, he was converted through the ministry of women volunteers. On the evening of the prisoner's execution, Chaplain Hitt went to the cell block and led a hymn singing and prayer, then returned later to dress the young man and follow him to the gallows erected in a huge hangar. When the door was opened, to his consternation, the place was packed, including next of kin of the victim. Asked if he had a last request, the prisoner said: "Yes, I want the chaplain to pray for me again."

HARDEST PRAYER

"It was the hardest prayer of my life," recalled Chaplain Hitt, "but somehow the Lord gave me strength for the occasion."

Reared in Smith County, Texas, he had surrendered to the Texas when he was 18. His first pastorate was at following year he was licensed to preach and he went to Rusk, Brockenridge. Then he was called to Rising Star in East-shall County, Main Street Baptist Church in Grand Saline, on this team, which is now East Alstynne and at Lancaster. It was there that he entered the Theological Seminary at Fort Worth. He acquired a house and, subsequently, persuaded his Mrs. Mary Alice Hogue, uncle, F. A. Hollis, who had Midland, (Clark O. Hitt) Jr., surrendered to preach after Dallas, Bowling M. Hitt, Fort Worth, in business, to use the Rev. Billy S. Hitt, Lancaster, house and go to the seminary, the Rev. Harold P. Pitt, Port Neches, and Ben P. Hitt, Smith County, and one Big Spring, Bowling and Ben Sunday afternoon he persuaded are deacons, and Harold P. Anna Mary Shank, whom he a general language missionary had known for several years for the Oregon-Washington to accompany him in a Baptist Convention.

Bible is Described as Language of the People

The quarter's series deals with the Bible, book of our faith, and Sunday's International Sunday School lesson deals with the Bible in the language of the people. Scriptures are Acts 2:1-2, with background in Nehemiah 8:1-3, 8 and Habakkuk 2:2.

The account is a familiar one. Some 120 disciples of Christ had gathered, possibly in the same upper room where the Last Supper was held, and, after 10 days of prayer and worship together, "there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house. And it appeared upon them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost."

Wind (power) and fire (cleansing work) were symbols of the Spirit, with which each seems to have been baptized. The central fact of Pentecost is the coming of the Spirit.

Strangely, each "began to speak with other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance." The miracle appears to have been in the speaking but it should be remembered that at this time, Christians did not have the advantage of translations into their own tongues.

The Bible is more meaningful when it is in one's native tongue. But languages change, hence the need of new translations, which are faithful to the original texts, to word the Bible in contemporary language. In this way, the timeless messages of the Bible can be stated in the language of the people, and thus, hopefully, heeded and applied.

Witness Mission

The First United Methodist Church of Coahoma is holding its first Lay Witness Mission this weekend, beginning with a supper at 6:30 this evening at the church. The mission gives laymen an opportunity to share with fellow laymen the reality of Christ in their lives. The public is invited.

Who doesn't like to be remembered? It's natural to feel a certain glow when you receive a greeting card. It means that someone has thought of you, that someone cares.

Yet how foolish it would be for any of us to ever believe that we are alone or friendless. There is always Someone who cares, who cares very deeply... who cared enough to sacrifice His only Son for us.

At times we are all lonesome. Yet we are never really alone. There are few places in the world where we cannot, if we but look, find a church that will welcome us wholeheartedly. God's house is not like other houses. There is always room in it for one more. And when that one more has entered, there is room for yet another.

Start taking part in the life of the Church today!

Fine Field Looming For Local Tourney

The second annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament scheduled Saturday and Sunday bids to overshadow the 1968 meet in interest as well as in talent.

Robb Smith of Odessa defending title, has indicated he will be back.

Contesting him for the championship will be such out-of-town notables as Leonard Perry, Sweetwater; Steve Thompson, Odessa; James Whitaker, a Southwest Conference player attending Texas Tech; Mike Clecker, Odessa; Pat Campbell, Odessa; and Scott Steger, Odessa.

Among local threats will be Jeff Nieto, Mike Moore and Randy Truelove — a Dallas trio who attend Howard County JC; Bernard Rains, Donald Lovelady, Bob Waters, Jerry Baron, Adam Ramos; Harold Hall, Donald Lovelady, Charles Bailey and Jackie Thomas.

C. W. Muller, Abilene; Dave Kemp, Brownfield; and Johnny Phillips, Lubbock, are among other out-of-towners who have stated they would compete.

Spot Cockrell will come from the Big Spring Country Club to take part.

Pro Charley Brantley, who will accept entries through this evening, expects a field of at least 100. Good weather could bring out more than that.

Present plans call for the championship flight to be made up of 32 players. First round losers would then go into the President's Flight and be eligible for all the prizes offered all flight leaders.

Championship round players will play 18 holes Saturday and another 27 Sunday. Entries in all other flights will play 18 holes each day.

Entry fee is $20 per player and the price includes admission to a Saturday night barbecue, scheduled now for 8 p.m. Guests at that event will pay an extra $2.

First place in each flight will pay a set of irons. Flight runners earn sets of woods. Third place winners receive golf bags.

In addition, the medalist will be given a $45 pair of golf shoes. Players will be assigned to flights by handicaps and, in all probability, championship flight entries will carry a six-handicap or less.

Late entries have been Jim Pritchett, Midland veteran; and Marvin Williams, Big Spring — either one of whom is capable of making a run at the title.

A total of 72 had registered by 9 a.m. today.

Jones, Wilson On All-Stars

The Texas High School Coaches' Association has announced the North and South schoolboy all-star basketball teams that will meet during the 37th annual Coaching School at Dallas Aug. 3-7.

The all-star basketball game will be played Aug. 6 at Dallas Memorial Auditorium. The all-star football game will be played Thursday night in the Cotton Bowl.

Bobby Weise of Conroe High School will coach the South team and will be assisted by Lloyd Long of Conroe. Jake Carter and Ed Cason of Dallas Adamson will head the North.

The 12-man teams were selected by the associations' All-Star Selection Committee.

The South team includes: Robert Bailey, Beaumont; Chariton-Pattard, Bill Chislow, Chicago; Gregory, Portland; Willard Ester, Abilene; Carver, Mar's; Freddie Magnolia, Steve Gibson, Deweville; Roger Hillier, La Revere; Mike Howard, Sorino; Branch Memorial, Harry Johnson, Teague; Walter McCowan, Houston; Lee, Frank See, Snook, Howard; Walker, San Antonio; Sam Houston; and Robert White, Houston.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A Georgia junior college fielding one of the better basketball teams in the Southeast—Young Harris—lost its coach, Luke Rushton, recently and decided to discontinue the sport.

Young Harris has been a junior college power in the endeavor for two decades.

The board of education said the game was being dropped "in deference to Mr. Rushton," who will become director of physical education and intramurals at the college.

However, sources close to the situation say that economic strife in the athletic program was the primary reason for dropping basketball. A lot of colleges have dropped football in recent years due to the cost involved but few have scuttled their basketball programs.

In 1962, Rushton was named National Junior College Coach of the Year.

One of Midland Lee's brightest football prospects, Morgan Howell, didn't report for spring workouts due to "family problems." He said he planned to drop out of school.

San Angelo Central has been using a sophomore quarterback, Neil Sykes, at its first string quarterback in spring workouts. Neil has been dividing his time between football and baseball.

Incidentally, San Angelo Lake View's new high school building will be opened about a year from now. Eventually, Lake View will get students from Edison Junior High School but not within the next three or four years. Once that happens, Lake View could be close to promotion into Class AAAA schools.

Baylor has a linebacker named Gilbert Beall but he's no relation to new head coach Bill Beall. Gilbert pronounces his last name as if it were Bell.

Another note from Baylor: Ex-HCJC sprinter Jimmy Jasper had been running on the Bear's spring relay team this spring, which has been clocked in 46.4. Jasper's best time in the 100 has been 9.7 and in the 220 21.8. Ronnie Allen and Clyde Peach are two Bears who have turned in better times in the sprints than Jasper.

Jim has combined with those two and Jack Allen for a 880-yard relay for a 1:24.8 clocking.

Joe Tighe, who was Jasper's teammate here, has cleared 13 feet on five occasions this year in the pole vault and has long jumped 22.04.

The adult volleyball ball tournament scheduled here this weekend by the YMCA and the Civitan Club should offer a wealth of talent, since some of the better teams in Midland, Odessa and Lamesa will be here to combat local contingents. Volley ball is one sport considered much better to play than to watch.

Did you know that a spiker in the game drives a ball downward at 90-100 miles an hour? The sport has changed greatly in the last decade or so.

One observer says the change can be likened only to comparing pro basketball to the old girls' rules of six to a side.

Russia fields the best volleyball team in the world, judging from the records. America finished no higher than seventh in the last Olympic Games, which is two spots higher than it settled for in 1964.

ERA Figures Juiced Up In Majors

The pitching mound isn't the only thing lower for most of the hurlers who helped make 1968 the Year of the Zero in major league baseball. Their records also show quite a drop.

Of the top 10 pitchers in each league a year ago, only Juan Marichal of San Francisco and Oakland's Jim Nash show an appreciably better earned run average and some ERAs are astronomical.

Houston and Philadelphia wreaked more hitting havoc Thursday, with the Astros winning a 9-7 come-from-behind slugfest in the only scheduled game in either league.

They rallied for three runs in the eighth inning and three more in the ninth, wiping out a 7-3 Philadelphia lead and ruining a banner performance by Rich Allen, who walloped a towering grand slam homer, and singled in another run.

Houston fell behind despite a 3-0 lead on Joe Morgan's leadoff homer and a two-run shot by Jim Wynn in the third. But they closed in when Jesus Alou cracked a two-run double and Gary Geiger hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

Norm Miller began the decisive ninth against reliever Gary Wagner with a single and walks to Curt Blefary and Doug Rader loaded the bases with two out. Alou's infield single tied the score and John Edwards drilled a single to right to win it.

"It's taken us a while to get in the groove, to adjust to playing with one another and to get a little confidence," said manager Harry Walker, whose Astros have won six of their last seven games. "We started off bad and then we started to press."

The 12-man teams were selected by the associations' All-Star Selection Committee.

The South team includes: Robert Bailey, Beaumont; Chariton-Pattard, Bill Chislow, Chicago; Gregory, Portland; Willard Ester, Abilene; Carver, Mar's; Freddie Magnolia, Steve Gibson, Deweville; Roger Hillier, La Revere; Mike Howard, Sorino; Branch Memorial, Harry Johnson, Teague; Walter McCowan, Houston; Lee, Frank See, Snook, Howard; Walker, San Antonio; Sam Houston; and Robert White, Houston.

Named to the North team were: Steve Davis, Waffle City; Mike Dukes, Leveland; Rev. Fritz, Nazarene; Bob Gavin, Perryton; Tommy Jones, Crane; Sid Lovelady, Midland; Larry Ledbetter, Hockley; James Lister, Dallas; Mark Walker, Fort Worth; Aronson, Heights; Vic White, Lunders; Avoca, James Williams, Dallas; South Oak Cliff; and John Mark Wilson, Odessa.

The Cardinals ran their National Little League record to 4-1 by blanking the Braves, 6-0, behind the two-hit elbowing of Roger Battle here Thursday evening.

Only Kent Newsum and Mark Taylor connected safely for the Braves.

The Red Birds banded out nine hits and only Matthews of the Cards has as many as two bingles.

The Birds gave Battle all the working margin he needed by scoring three in the first round. The Braves are now 2-3.

The Stars defeated the Hawks' 8-7, in American Little League standings here Thursday night to pull even with the losers in the standings. Each team has a 2-3 record.

Tracy Thompson and Noel Hull divided time on the mound for the Stars, with the victory going to Thompson. Together, they surrendered six hits to the Hawks.

Mullins and Jim Ray each cracked two hits for the winners. The game went an extra inning.

LAMESA — Robert James, first assistant the last five years, has been promoted to the head football coaching position at Lamesa High School, replacing Donald Jay.

Jay retired to accept a similar position at West Orange. James is a native of Snyder and a graduate of McMurry.

He coached at Temple prior to moving to Lamesa. James was given a two-year contract.

The Colts return to National Minor League competition at 5:30 p.m. Saturday against the Drillers.

The Colts won their first league game in three starts by belting the Owls, 11-8, Wednesday.

The Colts won their first league game in three starts by belting the Owls, 11-8, Wednesday.

Ricky Moore, who worked three innings, was the winning hurler. Randle Jones hurled the final three rounds for the Colts and acquitted himself well.

Charley West, a native of Big Spring and an outstanding defensive player for the Minnesota Vikings of the NFL, underwent knee surgery for removal of a torn cartilage in his knee in St. Paul-Minneapolis Thursday. He injured the knee playing baseball.

Longhorns, Eagles In Crucial Battle

Oakey Hagood's Big Spring for a little help from Odessa Steers, sniffing pennant after a high, which squares off with long haul, square off with the co-leader, Midland Lee, at Abilene High Eagles here at the same hour.

By beating Big Spring, in the exciting race Big Spring Abilene can clinch at least a 11-4. The regular season race for the top spot in District ends tomorrow. A three-way tie 3-AAA standings with a 13-3 for the top spot, and that could record. Big Spring not only easily happen, would force a needs a victory over the Eagles-playoff, sometime next week but will be looking for Midland. Big Spring has never before been this close to a baseball title. Had the Steers not been upset by Midland High last week, the Steers would have been deadlocked for first place.

Coach Hagood is still trying to figure out how the locals were taken in that one.

Lee came to town last Tuesday needing only a win over Big Spring to clinch a tie for first place. Lefty James Newman, however, set the Steers down with two hits and led the Steers to a 4-1 victory.

Hagood can rotate his pitchers if he likes since there will be no tomorrow. If the Steers lose to Abilene, there are indications that he plans to start Thomas Ham, a hard throwing righthander and come in with either Newman or unbeaten Jimmy Farris in case they're needed.

The Steers have done so well in recent starts that Farris was told to concentrate on baseball until the season had ended, rather than switch to spring football.

Overall, Big Spring has a 15-7-1 record.

Starters for Big Spring, other than the pitcher, likely will be the Martinez-behind-the-plate Newman at first base, Danny Parchman at second, Jimmy Wilson at third, Felix Martinez at shortstop, Tommy McMurtrey or Roger Dixon in left, Andy Gamba in center and Farris in right.

Year in and year out, a District 3-AAA lives or dies on the merits of its defense.

Dykes says the Steers are going to field a radically different kind of club this fall — a team with personnel that hits and goes downfield to hit again.

Saturday's scrimmage will take place on Blankenship Field (east of the high school complex) and the public is invited to be in attendance.

The game is the early part of the preseason practice held in a bad way and understandably slowed down the Steers.

The workouts will be climaxed with the annual Spring Game the night of May 23, at which time the squad will be divided as evenly as possible.

The Quarterback Club will again take on the job of promoting the game.

Want ads make a world of difference... THE WORLD OVER.

In every country in the world where newspapers are printed, Want Ads provide a means of people-to-people communication for which there is no substitute.

Want Ads stand alongside the telephone, the telegraph and the written letter as major methods of communication on a person-to-person basis. The difference between a Want Ad and these other means of communication is that you may use the name and location of the person with whom you wish to communicate. If that person is unknown, you use a Want Ad. The person who will buy an article you wish to sell is unknown to you until he responds to your Want Ad. The Want Ad provides your only means of communicating with him: People throughout the world have this same need for a low cost means to communicate, and Want Ads throughout the world satisfy this need. If you haven't used a Want Ad lately, dial 263-7331 and let a hard working Want Ad serve you.

A less likely spot than Promontory Summit, Utah, could hardly have been picked as the setting for completion of "America's greatest industrial achievement." Yet, it was on this windswept and barren stretch that this nation was joined by twin bands of steel May 10, 1869.

Ceremonies Saturday at Promontory will re-enact this historic event. All week Union Pacific will be running a train, pulled by an old engine, to Promontory, and Saturday the line's latest Centennial engines generating 6,900 horsepower or 250 times more than the engines which first traversed the road will pull a special train there.

In the late spring 100 years ago, the Central Pacific was pushing eastward from California and the Union Pacific westward from Omaha, Neb. In haste, and possibly in greed for bonuses paid for mileage, surveying and grading crews had crossed paths and paralleled each other for 100 miles. Finally Congress intervened, and as a result the tracks met at Promontory.

Four ceremonial spikes (two gold ones from California, a silver one from Nevada and an iron one with silver bands and crowned in gold from Arizona) were shipped into a highly polished laurel log from California, which then was carefully removed. A regular tie was put in its place. Leland Stanford, governor of California and Thomas C. Durant of Union Pacific then hammered in the last iron spike with a polished head.

An ingenious telegrapher had attached one wire to the spike and another to the mauls, whose heads had been covered with a copper sheath. Thus, as the last spike was hammered home, the blows went over the nation's first "network." At 12:47 p.m. the last blow fell, and a single word was tapped out: "Done."

UP's engine 119 eased over the last spike and touched pilots with the CP's Jupiter, then backed up and Jupiter reciprocated. In Washington, New York and Philadelphia 100 gun salutes sounded, and Chicago had a mile long parade.

The nation's vast western lands had been pried open for an army of settlers, and the nation had been spanned by a railroad track.

There had been dreams for half a century, but in 1830 Maj. Stephen Long scouted the area and in his official report labeled it the great American desert. "The Emigrant," a weekly newspaper published at Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1832 made the first printed suggestion for a railroad to span the territory west of the Mississippi. By the 1850's, the idea picked up steam, but it also got embroiled in the bitter North-South division shaping up in Congress.

When the Civil War came, this issue was resolved with the northern route being chosen and on July 1, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Pacific Railroad Act. This must have been a moment of triumph for Theodore Dehene Judah, or "Crazy Judah," as this chief disciple of a transcontinental railroad was called. Congress appropriated public lands, eventually 19,000,000 accounted amounts were sold in acres of it and authorized $96 public stocks. Still, by 1865 the million in loans. In addition, un-project floundered with only about 50 miles built from either end. Dumont named Gen. Granville Dodge to head the construction, and Dodge organized a sort of civilian army with Jack Casement, a Civil War general, as head of the grading and track crews. Casement was tough on his men — one picture shows him holding a bull whip — but he was tougher on gamblers and other hangers-on who were parasites on the Irish padies who constituted most of the UP's work force.

BIG SPRING HAS CLOSE TIES WITH GOLDEN SPIKE

Big Spring, as a "railroad" town, has close ties with the historic spanning of the nation by the first railroad. Granville Dodge, regarded as the "man who built the Texas & Union Pacific" was hired by Jay Gould to build the Texas & Pacific when it was racing through this area in the early 1860s in its race to beat Southern Pacific to the West. Also, the land grant program which began in 1862 with Union Pacific ended in 1872 with the T&P. In that decade the government had given 150,000,000 acres of the public domain to open up the west half of the country. The story leading up to the "driving" of the symbolic Golden Spike on the first transcontinental railroad is told here—Ed.

Workers got $3 a day for 12 hours of grueling work, but this was better than the CP's $30 a month to some 10,000 Chinese coolies. Henry Stanley, an English journalist, wrote that "Soldiers, herdsmen, teamsters, women, railroad men are dancing, singing or gambling. These are men who would murder a fellow creature for five dollars."

Dear Abby
Crank's Calls Upsetting

DEAR ABBY: After putting my husband (whom I'll call "Jim") through medical school and internship, we separated because of a girl I'll call "Nancy." Jim married her as soon as the ink was dry on the divorce papers. We have three beautiful school-age children, whom I've done my best to raise without a father. Jim has helped some financially, but not a whole lot.

I have never bothered Jim and Nancy in any way. My problem is that Nancy keeps phoning me, identifying herself as a friend of Nancy's, but I know her voice. She warns me that Nancy is going to kill my children when they're away at camp this summer.

I have told Jim about this and he doesn't seem worried. I must admit, I am frightened, but if Jim isn't worried, should I be?

Do you think I ought to send the children to summer camp as planned?

THE SILENT WOMAN
LIVES DOWN TOWN

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have gone steady with this guy. I'll call Jeff, for nearly a year. We are very much in love and now I think I'm pregnant. I am not positive because I haven't been to a doctor yet, but I'm almost sure I am.

Jeff says he will marry me as soon as we graduate from high school. (We're both juniors.)

Ever since I told Jeff that I think I'm pregnant I have begun to doubt his love. He says:
