Possible Triple Murders

WALLIS, Tex. (AP) — Authorities resumed an investigation today into the possible triple murders of a transient carnival worker, his wife and a companion.

One of two partial skeletons found along the San Bernard River was tentatively identified Tuesday as that of Clifton Floyd Bryan, 21.

The other skeleton may be that of Russel Morris Peterman, 22, a friend of Bryan's, officers said.

Both men had been charged with murder in the death of Bryan's wife, Maria Elena Guzman Bryan, 22, whose battered body was found April 6 near Clodine in Fort Bend County.

Fort Bend County Sheriff R. L. Gaston of Richmond said Tuesday he believes the two men were killed at the river bank in Austin County before Mrs. Bryan's death.

The first partial skeleton found was uncovered Saturday night on a sandbar by a fisherman. Officers in a highway patrol helicopter spotted parts of the other skeleton Sunday about 300 yards upstream.

Justice of the Peace Frank Petter of Wallis is withholding a ruling in the deaths of the two men until an autopsy report is released by the Harris County medical examiner's office in Houston.

An autopsy report showed Mrs. Bryan, a former resident of Los Fresnos, had been bludgeoned with a bottle and driven over repeatedly with a vehicle. Gaston said Mrs. Bryan apparently was killed April 5.

Move Into Clutch Of Moon Gravity

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts sped into the clutch of lunar gravity today as they streaked the final miles to the moon, their tantalizing target just hours away.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan were asleep as their spaceship darted into the moon's sphere of influence at 10:19 a.m. EDT and began accelerating toward the moon.

Mission control awakened the pilots half an hour later by playing "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever," a recording that starts with the words "rise up and look around you."

They had rested nearly 11 hours, and Stafford reported: "Everybody's up and everybody feels great."

The climactic moment comes at 4:45 a.m. when the astronauts trigger Apollo 10's engine to steer the craft into an orbit 69 miles above the cratered surface.

'TWILIGHT ZONE'

The firing, behind the moon and out of range of ground stations, will start a perilous 2½-day lunar adventure intended to clear the way for two Apollo 11 astronauts to land on the moon in July.

Stafford, Cernan and Young began an extended rest period Tuesday night still under the influence of earth's gravity. During the night they passed through a twilight zone—an area called the equigravisphere where the pull of earth's gravity and that of the moon are equal.

Apollo 10, which started the trip Sunday at earth escape speed of 24,196 miles an hour, had slowed gradually to 2,027 miles, like an automobile moving uphill.

STREAKING

After streaking through the invisible barrier—235,032 miles from earth and 18,339 miles from the moon—Apollo 10's speed was to increase to 5,700 miles an hour as it sweeps around the backside of the moon.

For 34 minutes, Apollo 10 will be out of contact with ground. Mission Control in Houston will not know whether the engine fired until the craft reappears around the edge of the moon.

Stafford, Young and Cernan have the option to cancel ignition if they detect anything wrong. In this case, or if the engine fails, the spaceship would merely swing once around the back of the moon and head back to earth—one of the built-in safety features of the mission.

The 5-minute, 54-second burst from the engine beginning at 4:45 p.m. is to slow Apollo 10's speed to about 3,700 miles and insert the craft into an orbit swinging from 59 to 196 miles high.

About 4½ hours later, after two circuits, a second engine ignition will refine the orbit to a 69-mile-high circle.

Bill Aimed At Settling War Between Texas Optometrists

AUSTIN (AP) — The House passed and sent to the governor today a bill aimed at settling the 20-year war between independent and chain store optometrists.

The Senate bill was passed on voice vote. It gives the independent control of the state Optometry Board but limits the board to procedural rule making only.

Chain operators will be permitted to advertise but they must give equal prominence to their maximum as well as their minimum prices.

In effect, the bill gives chains 9½ years to break up. After Jan. 1, 1979, fee splitting, practicing under an assumed name and window displays all will be illegal.

Welcome Back To Big Spring

J. B. Thomas, widely known in this area because of a reservoir named for him, is welcomed to Big Spring Tuesday evening by George Zachariah (right) mayor pro tem, City Manager Larry Crow (left) and Lloyd Cline, Lamesa mayor, look on. The occasion was the meeting to explore the possibilities of organizing a Council of Government for the Permian Basin.

Howard County is included in the request for financial aid to the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement, conducted at Howard County Junior College.

'Tool For Cooperation' Outlined For Officials

A Council of Government for the Permian Basin, described by one speaker here Tuesday evening as "a tool for cooperation between governmental units," will be established here sometime after June 15.

Lloyd Cline, mayor of Lamesa who guided the exploratory meeting held at the Cosden Club, announced plans for the organizational meeting at the conclusion of the Tuesday program. Some 70 persons were on hand to hear explanations of the need for regional planning, as well as how councils have worked in other areas.

J. B. Thomas, longtime prominent in West Texas development through his connection with Texas Electric Service Co., explained the challenge of development: Cecil Maves, assistant to the director of the West Central Texas COG (Abilene), described the operation of his organization and some of the problems it has faced.

Clyde Chisum, Odessa Junior College dean, outlined what has been done with the Permian Basin Enforcement Committee; and Charles Crow, coordinator of regional affairs and administration of the Texas Regional Planning Assistance Grant Program to councils of government and regional planning commissions, outlined the background of COG, what the political subdivisions might expect from it, and some of the organizational requirements.

"You have an opportunity to organize a council of government for coordinating the planning of your cities," said Thomas, "but it will take work, sacrifice, and a modest amount of money." He is a member of the executive committee of the North Central Texas COG (Dallas-Fort Worth).

He described the COG as a tool for getting men together to discuss mutual problems, and said there are services of many kinds that can be provided once it is organized.

"The Council of Governments is worth careful study," he said, "and it seems well worth your time."

Maves said the Abilene unit had a tremendous area, similar to the Permian Basin area, and included 17 counties, of which 15 joined when the West Central Texas unit was organized. "We looked to the Housing and Urban Development Agency for help, and it was provided."

"You have to make it work," he told the meeting, "and it is not an easy task." He emphasized that COG is not a vehicle to "chase" federal and state funds.

"You have unlimited potential, and there are many ways you can develop it. It is completely voluntary, and the COG cannot tax, police, or legislate. However, it can represent the people to governmental agencies."

Chisum outlined the work of the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Study committee, which made a survey of needs, then followed through with requests for funds. He said a reaction to the request is expected by the middle of June.

Howard County is included in the request for financial aid to the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement, conducted at Howard County Junior College.

He pointed out the need for some central agency to meet the needs of law enforcement.

"If you are interested, we have to work together to get it, if only to get federal funds."

Charles Crow explained the background of COG, calling them regional councils. He pointed out that the federal government has 581 programs administered through 47 agencies, all with different requirements and many of them in conflict.

"Decisions on local problems cannot be made in Washington," he pointed out. He said the new approach is through "block grants," and that states are being asked to give some program priorities.

Regional councils now represent over half the counties in the Texas and 75 per cent of the population," he said. "The policy bodies are made up of elected officials, as each area has different problems."

"If used right, it can be helpful, and it gives all a chance to participate."

Crow said there is an enabling law which is adopted through resolutions of the various governmental units, and merely states that the agencies are agreeing to cooperate. The proposed Permian Basin council could receive $6,700 in state funds to help set up the organization, he said, and this must be matched dollar for dollar by the participating agencies.

The council cannot approve or deny requests for federal grants in its area, he pointed out, but it does review them.

During the question period, he said it is now required that some sort of regional body review applications for federal assistance made in certain metropolitan areas. Where no COG exists, the governor's office reviews the application. He said this review requirement might be extended to all areas in the future.

Local financing of the council is handled on a per capita basis in most areas, according to Bill Pittstick, executive director of the North Central Texas COG.

Represented at the meeting were hospital districts in Midland and Lamesa, Colorado River Municipal Water District, Odessa Junior College, Howard County Junior College, school districts at Forsan, Big Spring, Snyder, Lamesa, Odessa, and city and county officials from Midland, Pecos, Andrews, Reeves County, Lamesa, Odessa, Big Spring, Howard County, Kermit, Borden County, Dawson County, Snyder, Soil Conservation Service, Soil Conservation Districts, and the Farm Home Administration.

George Zachariah, mayor pro tem, welcomed the visitors to Big Spring. C. A. Taylor, Lamesa city manager, conducted the question and answer session.

Colorado City (SC) — Colorado City civic leaders and service club representatives met at the Chamber of Commerce office Monday night to plan "Operation Face Lift," a boot strap operation by Colorado City, designed to improve its appearance and attitude.

Don Benson, Chamber of Commerce president, acted as chairman and asked the group to point out areas in which Colorado City could be improved. Among "eyesores" named were downtown vacant buildings, entrances to Colorado City, the closed Col-Tex Refinery, sold cars in the residential area, the Mitchell County Cemetery (not the Colorado City Cemetery) downtown and residential sidewalks, littered alleys, weed-covered vacant lots, dirt streets, beer cans and bottles thrown out of cars along roads and streets. Benson said the Chamber of Commerce would select a steering committee to plan for a community meeting within 10 days. The steering committee will obtain speakers and decide what "eyesores," the various clubs would attack.

Love Life Giant Flop

LONDON (AP) — An An, the rejected Russian panda, flew back to Moscow in style today after three years of a love life that never got started.

London Zoo officials finally called off the attempt to mate the willing but never insistent male from Moscow with Chi-Chi, Britain's frigid female.

An An's cage was put in a special compartment of a British airliner, had a doctor and four stewardesses looking after him. He was fast asleep.

Chi-Chi, the always reluctant female, remains at her London Zoo home and no longer will have to share her favorite bamboo shoots with another.

The two giant pandas never expressed much feeling for each other, despite two highly publicized love visits across the Iron Curtain.

Successive failures to mate them — first in Moscow and then here — mean that giant pandas are likely to become extinct outside Red China and North Korea. Chi-Chi and An-An are the only two in captivity outside those countries.

Sirhan Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge was scheduled to sentence Sirhan Bishara Sirhan formally today for killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Sirhan's attorney said they would appeal for a new trial.

Poison Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today it is unloading 170 railroad freight cars containing obsolete war gas, pending a National Academy of Sciences review of methods of disposing of it.

The freight cars, on rail sidings at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado, were to be shipped across the country to New Jersey where their contents were to be transferred to ships for burial in the Atlantic.

By unloading the freight cars, the Pentagon said it will save railroad car storage charges of about $8,500 a day.

Search Locates Injured Youth

A 10½-year-old boy is in "very serious condition" at Webb AFB Hospital with injuries suffered from a 50-foot drop off a ravine Tuesday night.

The youth Michael Hurst, son of Air Force Maj. and Mrs. Robert L. Hurst, 2322 Brent, was found by a search party about 2 a.m. today after he had been missing from his home since about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Webb officials said the boy is very seriously ill with a fractured skull and dislocation of both arms.

Michael, whose father is stationed in Thailand, is expected to be flown to Lackland AFB Hospital in San Antonio for observation, a member of the family said.

The Red Cross has been in communication with authorities in the Far East to request the father's return home for the emergency.

Big Spring police were notified at 10:21 p.m. Tuesday that the youngster was missing, and was last seen on his bicycle about 7:30 p.m.

Search parties of neighbors, friends of the Hurst family and Webb AFB personnel combed the neighborhood, and the boy was found shortly after 2 a.m. in an alley between Brent Drive and Alledale Road, some 250 yards from his residence.

He apparently fell 50 feet into the alley from a ravine. Webb authorities said Police officers said the boy was in shock from injuries and exposure when found.

When it was learned that Michael was missing, search parties were formed by friends and neighbors and Webb personnel who offered assistance. About 30 people other than law officers aided in the seven-hour search until the boy was located.

Israeli jets and ground forces shot down three Egyptian MIGs near the Suez Canal today and an Israeli motorized force rolled into central Jordan to destroy an Arab guerrilla base south of the Dead Sea, the Israeli army announced.

An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said two of the Egyptian fighter planes were hit by Israeli warplanes and one by a ground-to-air missile.

A fourth Egyptian plane was damaged, the spokesman said. He added that the Arab aircraft, all Soviet-made MIGs, had thrust over the canal at two points, one from Port Said and the other from the Great Bitter Lakes area.

The spokesman said that all Israeli planes returned safely. Cairo radio gave a different version. It said the Egyptian jets damaged one Israeli plane and "all our planes returned safely to base."

A Jordanian spokesman in Amman said the Israeli force thrust into Jordan under cover of jet fighters and helicopters. He said the force, estimated to be a company of tanks and another of mobile infantry was involved in the engagement just south of the Dead Sea.

The Senate approved creation of a new state dental school and agreed to a conference committee to work out a measure setting up a University of Texas Medical Branch at Houston.

University regents will select the site for the new dental school. They are on record as favoring San Antonio.

The measure, if approved by the House, would set up Texas' first new dental school since 1905.

Five senators will work with five house members on the proposal creating the Houston Medical Branch. The measure was amended in the Senate to permit regents to pick still another site for the next school after Houston.

Filibusters were expected on bills in the Senate to set up the University of Texas of the Permian Basin at Odessa and the proposed $1.25 an hour state minimum wage.

A one-year spending bill including $610 million from general revenue was scheduled to be completed and sent to the printers today. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said it should be on members' desks next Monday for a vote later in the closing week of the session.

Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan stalled for two hours Tuesday to block Senate passage of a measure establishing an upper-level three-year college at Corpus Christi.

Participants At Rehab Reception

Reception At Center Honors Volunteers

The board of directors of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, along with their husbands and wives, hosted an informal reception at the center Tuesday evening in honor of the volunteers. President of the board is Ernest Welch. Mrs. R. J. Ream was general chairman, assisted by Dr. Dean Box and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon.

The invocation was by the Rev. Robert Polk, and Jim Thompson, director, served as master of ceremonies.

Thompson expressed appreciation to all those assisting at the center and presented certificates of service to members of the auxiliary. A special certificate was awarded to the Easter Seal Society and was accepted by Miss Bo Bowen, president.

Those receiving awards were: Mrs. J. B. Price, Mrs. W. E. Gibson Jr., 25-49 hours. Mrs. H. M. Fitzhugh, Mrs. Ralph Emerson, 50-99 hours. Mrs. Jerrold Walker, Mrs. G. F. Painter, Miss Bessie Love, Mrs. Randall Morton, Mrs. Bob Eiland, Mrs. Merrill Creighton, Mrs. Amos Bennett, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. Lyle Daugherty.

Mrs. Akim Simpson, 100-249 hours. Mrs. F. F. McElreath, Mrs. Roy Granbery, Mrs. Louis Gore, Mrs. Albert Davis, Mrs. Joe Smoot, Mrs. W. L. Harkrider, 250-499 hours. Mrs. Morris Robertson, 1050 hours. Jean Florence, Sarah Guthrie, Mrs. Dwight McCam, Mrs. John Ray, John Wright, Doug Party, Mrs. W. L. Whittington, Mrs. Ray Boren, Mrs. Richard Davis, Mrs. Robert Goodwin, Mrs. Frank Mahoney, Mrs. Jamie Bartlett, under 25 hours. Mrs. E. W. Lowe, Mrs. Donald Richardson, Mrs. Evelyn Wasson, Mrs. Tommy Hart, Mrs. David Elrod, Mrs. Josh Burnett, Mrs. Lester Morton, Mrs. Smith Swords, Mrs. J. W. Tipton, Mrs. Don Lovelady, Mrs. Donald Duke, and Mrs. Lee Bryans, transportation committee.

Following the presentations, Dr. Jim White entertained with a short musical program.

Approximately 75 attended and were served refreshments from a table covered with a floor-length gold cloth and centered with a tall brass container arranged with petunias and greenery. Crystal and silver appointments were used in serving punch and cookies.

Art Of Conversation Defined By Speaker

"The cardinal rule for being a good conversationalist is to be a good listener," said Adrian Randle of the Tumbledweed Toastmaster's Club at Monday's meeting of Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. The group met in the home of Mrs. Bob Lewis, 2720 Larry, with Mrs. Larry Fields as cohostess.

Randle, the guest speaker, spoke on "The Art of Conversation" and stressed "saying what you have to say in as simple and brief form as possible." He cited the need for broadening interests and knowledge in other fields to become a more effective conversationalist.

Mrs. Owen Wormser presided and appointed committee chairmen. They include Mrs. Ted Hicks, social; Mrs. Jerry Sherrill, ways and means; Mrs. Jerry Hewitt, service; Mrs. Charles Boadle, telephone; Mrs. Ron Pettit, program; Mrs. James Tibbs, publicity; Mrs. Robert Von Rosenberg, gifts and flowers; Mrs. Jack Hopper, Phi pal; Mrs. Robert Knight, membership; Mrs. Lewis, scrapbook; Mrs. Jerry Kilgore, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Jerry Foust, yearbook.

Mrs. Gerald Wooten, retiring president, presented a past president's gavel. Two members, Mrs. Garland Braun and Mrs. Robert Knight, were nominated from the Texas Division for "BSP Outstanding Young Women in America." Phi pals were revealed, and gifts were exchanged.

Miss Ryan Honored At Shower

Miss Jane Ryan, bride-elect of Joe Dan Rowland, was complimented with a bridal shower Friday in the First Federal Community Room.

Hostesses were Mrs. Edgar Phillips, Mrs. W. C. Fryar, Mrs. C. M. Newton, Mrs. Don Ray, Mrs. Helen Langley, Mrs. Roy Shaffer, Mrs. D. K. Edens, Mrs. Milton Newton, Mrs. Vernon Kent, Mrs. Ralph Proctor, Mrs. Gatlin Jones, Mrs. Curtis Tomlin, Mrs. A. L. Marple, Mrs. Carme Dixon, Mrs. Vernon Langley, Mrs. Claude Carpenter and Mrs. Weldon McCormick.

The honoree, attired in an aqua dress, was presented an orchid and white corsage. Mrs. Alden Ryan, mother of the bride, and Mrs. J. D. Rowland, mother of the prospective bridegroom, were presented white carnations.

Miss Camella Ryan, sister of the honoree, presided at the guest register. The hostess' gift was an electric mixer.

The refreshment table was laid with white linen and lace cloth and centered with orchid flowers. Crystal appointments completed the setting.

The couple will marry June 6 in College Baptist Church, with the Rev. Roy Collins of Amarillo serving as officiant.

PTA Slate Installed

Mrs. Hilliard Ditmore served as installing officer at Monday's meeting of the Forsan Elementary School Parent Teacher Association.

The new slate includes Mrs. Darel Highley, president; Mrs. Morris McAdoo, vice president; Mrs. W. F. Harrell, secretary; and Mrs. Delmar Hartin, treasurer.

Mrs. M. A. Dunagan reviewed highlights of 1968-69 and displayed the camera purchased by the unit to record activities. A photograph album was also displayed.

Activities in the past year included the fall festival, a workshop at Miles, purchase of a head gear for athletic Christmas trees and decorations, purchase of six record players, hosting the spring conference where the unit received the District 16 membership award, and sponsoring the spring track meet.

W. R. Cregar, principal, was presented a life membership, and he presented awards and plaques to track students.

The meeting date for next year was changed to the second Monday of the month at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Elzada Herring's second grade won the room-count. Committee chairmen and officer's reports were heard, and Brownie Troop No. 126 gave the Pledge of Allegiance.

School Program Honors Teachers

A program dedicated to teachers at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church was held Thursday when the church Mother's Club met with Mrs. Morris Smith presiding. The Rev. William Meagher led prayer.

Winners in a shrine contest were announced by the judge, Mrs. Luis Casillas. The awards went to Theresa Ballash, first grade; Elizabeth Franco, third grade; Richard Jenkins, fourth grade; Jill Wilbanks, fifth grade; and Theresa Smith, sixth grade.

New officers installed were Mrs. Keith Thompson, president; Mrs. Phillip Rain, vice president; Mrs. Luis Puga, treasurer; Mrs. William Sneed, secretary; and Mrs. Tom Lansperry, corresponding secretary.

Following a potluck supper, the group disbanded for the summer.

Lt. Joseph Saint Talks To Guild

Lt. Joseph Saint of the Salvation Army was guest speaker at Monday's meeting of St. Mary's Guild, St. Mary's Episcopal Church, at the parish hall.

The speaker read the foreword, "Born to Battle," written by the late Dwight D. Eisenhower and taken from the book "The Salvation Army in America," by Sally Cherm. Lt. Saint gave the purpose of the Salvation Army and reviewed the services it offers.

Mrs. Thomas Helton was hostess, and Mrs. Terry Bull presided. Mrs. James H. Kreimeyer brought the devotion.

The Les-Girls Investment Club reviewed stocks at Monday's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce conference room. Stocks were bought in RCA, and Mrs. Ralph Baker presided. Approximately 20 attended.

Stanton Organizations Slate Activity For Summer Months

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Home Demonstration Council made plans for a tea honoring 4-H girls at Tuesday's meeting in the Cap Rock auditorium.

The tea will honor girls participating in the county dress revue July 12. Mrs. John Webb Jr. and Mrs. W. T. Wells will be tea chairmen.

Mrs. Albert Pitman presided and appointed Mrs. Leo Payne, Mrs. Herman Lander Jr., Mrs. W. J. Harlow, Mrs. D. E. Ory and Mrs. J. H. Lueb as a committee to plan Achievement Day. The next regular meeting will be Sept. 9.

A Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting was also held, and Mrs. Donnie Jones presided. Delegates were selected for the state THDA meeting slated in September at Dallas. Those named were Mrs. Ory, Mrs. Harlow and Mrs. Lander. Alternates elected were Mrs. Burnell Howard and Mrs. O. D. Green. Mrs. Albert Pitman was elected THDA chairman and will assume office in January.

The Grady Home Demonstration Club hosted a meeting honoring all county home demonstration clubs Monday afternoon in the Martin County Library. Mrs. A. W. Schraeder of St. Lawrence demonstrated the art of cake decorating. Mrs. J. H. Lueb presided, and 26 attended.

Frances Deavenport spoke on appropriate dress at a recent meeting of the Friendship 4-H Club in the county agent's office at the courthouse. Tom Angel, adult leader, introduced the speaker. Miss Deavenport led a discussion on appropriate clothing, hair styles and personal grooming. Nine members and the adult leaders, Angel, Mrs. W. T. Wells and Mrs. Curtis Flanagan attended.

Mrs. Jesse Burns led a pledge service at Tuesday's meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service at the First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Bob Cox presided. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dewey Williams and Mrs. Aaron Donelson.

Durbin Trial Decision Expected In Few Days

AUSTIN (AP) — The Supreme Court is expected to rule in the next few days whether it will hear arguments on the Blackwell said Durbin "demanded a speedy trial for Clyde mands a speedy trial only in Durbin Jr., accused in the slayings of two University of Texas students."

Durbin, 21, of Dallas, is charged in the slaying of John Albert White, 21, Corpus Christi, in Austin. He is charged in the slaying of Miss Keitha Morris, 19, White Deer, in Burnet, 35 miles northeast of Austin.

Blackwell said in his answer Tuesday to an application filed by Durbin for permission Maloney, asked for and got a postponement of the Burnet trial until Sept. 29 after arguing that "several months should elapse" before publicity in the case "would abate."

But Maloney fought a state motion for postponement of the Austin trial, Blackwell said.

Maloney "demands a speedy trial only in Travis County and does not appear to be interested in a speedy trial in Burnet County," Blackwell said.

It has been several years since an Austin jury has returned a death sentence.

Besides, Blackwell said he would be on military duty on June 2 and could not try the case then. Blackwell is a brigadier general in the National Guard.

Wagoner Takes Greenville Job

FORT WORTH (AP) — Ed Wagoner, assistant city manager, resigned Tuesday to become city manager at Greenville June 15.

Trouble in the Greenville city government was climaxed early this year with the mass resignation of a woman mayor and all city councilmen.

Judge E. A. Koenig then was named acting city manager.

Wagoner, 30, joined the Fort Worth staff 13 months ago after being assistant city manager at Abilene four years.

Mrs. Roosevelt Figured 'Another Woman' Around

GENEVA (AP) — Mrs. James Roosevelt, accused of wounding her husband, "was under great stress and convinced that her husband was about to leave her—perhaps the next day—for another woman," her attorney told a Swiss court today.

The eldest son of Franklin D. Roosevelt was in a Swiss hospital with a knife wound in his back as the court opened a preliminary hearing. Mrs. Roosevelt was in Bel Air Psychiatric Clinic, where she was taken after her husband was stabbed at the Roosevelt's Lake Geneva villa last Thursday.

The court set her bail at 50,000 Swiss francs, the equivalent of $11,500. The bail was posted for her.

Telling of Mrs. Roosevelt's tensions, her lawyer, Dominique Poncet, said she had threatened suicide.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been booked on a holding charge accusing her of wounding her husband.

Following the preliminary hearing, the attorney general now has to decide whether he has a case. This is likely to take several months.

Jean-Pierre Horiaud, president of the three-judge court, said she could be tried on one of three charges—attempts murder, causing grievous bodily harm, or simple assault with a dangerous weapon.

Jean Weber, for the attorney general, opposed bail. He said that despite "the great name of Roosevelt", all people should be judged equally "the rich and the poor, the weak and the powerful."

Poncet told the court that Mrs. Roosevelt, 52, the former Gladys Irene Kitchenmaster, said in a statement to the police that just before stabbing her husband she intended taking her own life and had made out a will that same evening.

Referring to the divorce proceedings begun by Roosevelt, Poncet said Roosevelt had resisted his wife's attempt to mend the marriage through a conciliation judge—an obligatory first step in Swiss divorce proceedings.

Hubert Sevretan, one of Roosevelt's lawyers, told the court that his client was anxious that his wife has the best possible medical care and supported the appeal for bail.

State Minimum Pay Showdown

AUSTIN (AP)—Another showdown, possibly its second filibuster, faces Texas' proposed state minimum wage in the legislature's dying days.

The $1.25 an hour proposal would be the first state minimum wage in Texas history if it becomes law.

The measure is now caught in a Senate-House squeeze which may send it to a joint conference committee to work out the conflicts before the scheduled June 2 adjournment.

The Senate Labor Committee voted 3-2, Monday to substitute the Senate version of the minimum wage bill for the House

Gene Gresham Now With IDS In Area Sales

Gene Gresham has joined the sales organization of Investors Diversified Services, and its subsidiary, Investors Life Insurance and Annuity Company. Carmen Ferullo, divisional sales manager, Lubbock, made the announcement.

Gresham is to work out of the district sales office in Midland, serving investors in the Midland-Odessa-Big Spring area, and will be supervised by Edmond L. Mee, district sales manager.

Gresham has been a resident of Big Spring four years, associated with Paymaster Feed Mills. He and his wife and four children reside at 4028 Vicky, and are members of the Baptist Temple. He is a member of the American Business Club. Gresham formerly lived in Abilene and Lamesa.

Gresham will be joining DeWitt Bunn here in distributing Investors Group securities consisting of face-amount certificates issued by an IDA subsidiary, Investors Syndicate of America, Inc., and the shares of six mutual fund associates: Investors Mutual Inc., Investors Stock Fund, Inc., Investors Selective Fund, Inc., Investors Variable Payment Fund, Inc., IDS New Dimension Fund, Inc., and IDS Progressive Fund, Inc.

He also will offer Investors Accumulation Plan, a contractual system designed for the systematic long range accumulation of Investors Stock Fund, Inc. He is licensed to sell life insurance and annuities offered by Investors Syndicate Life.

IDS makes up one of the nation's largest single groups of investment companies, known as the Investors Group. Total assets are over $8 billion.

measure, which was passed by that body last Friday.

The House chose to debate its own bill even though the Senate version had already been sent over last month after extended argument which included a filibuster by Sens. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock and Wayne Connally of Floresville.

"What the dickens is going on here?" asked Sen. J. P. Word of Meridian after committee members mentioned that the House could have acted on the Senate bill.

"I'm getting tired of it. To be perfectly frank with you," Word added.

Word and Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford voted against the wage bill in committee, and Sens. Barbara Jordan of Houston, Ralph Hall of Rockwall and Roy Harrington of Port Arthur voted for the proposal.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, co-sponsor, said supporters of a minimum wage hoped to pass the Senate bill again and either get the House to accept the Senate version or send it to a conference committee.

Consideration in the final days of the session brings up the possibility of another filibuster, which are more effective in the closing days when lawmakers are trying to complete action on their pet proposals and don't want to wait out stalling tactics. Blanchard already has used one common delaying device by "tagging" the bill, which postponed its committee hearing until Monday afternoon.

There are several differences in the Senate and House wage bills, and the Senate bill is generally considered much more acceptable to workers it would cover.

The Senate bill, for example, provides a rising guaranteed wage, which would go from $1.25 on Feb. 1, 1970, to $1.40 the next year and $1.60 on Feb. 1, 1972.

The House proposal stripped all but the $1.25 wage.

The House also added more exemptions, including retail and service establishments that have annual gross sales of less than $150,000 and fulltime college students under 20.

Both bills were similar on farm worker coverage, with workers on large farms to receive about $1.10, or 20 cents less than the federal guaranteed wage for agricultural employees.

Employees of smaller farms—three or four employees—would not be affected.

Desegregation Vote May 29

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Texarkana School District board members Tuesday called for a vote May 29 on whether the system will follow federal desegregation guidelines.

The alternative, board members said, is to face a 66 per cent raise in taxes to provide increased revenue, expected a cutoff of federal funds for non-compliance.

The board last month voted to rescind an agreement with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to integrate schools. They decided instead to follow a freedom of choice plan.

The Texarkana system has been informed by the Dallas HEW office that its freedom of choice plan is not acceptable. The Texarkana case is now before federal officials in Washington.

The system is now receiving about 20 per cent of its budget, or $800,000 through federal programs.

School Busing Defeat Posted

DENVER (AP) — Denver residents have voted against a plan to bus children from one neighborhood to another to achieve racial balance in the schools.

They elected Tuesday two men who have condemned the proposed busing program to vacancies on the seven-member nonsalaried school board.

Frank K. Southworth, a real estate dealer, led the voting with 75,596 ballots. James C. Perrill, an attorney, polled 73,392 votes. Both oppose busing.

A. Edgar Benton and Monte Bascoe, who campaigned as a team in urging mandatory busing as a means of bringing better educational opportunities to children from minorities, ran third and fourth.

Benton, one of two incumbents running, received 31,008 votes and Pascoe 28,944. The second incumbent and the only woman among the 10 candidates, Mrs. Alberta Saunders, was sixth with 4,666.

The school busing plan, proposed to take effect in September, was outlined last month by School Supt. Robert Gilberts. It would involve as many as 65 schools. The proposal was approved by the old school board but Perrill and Southworth said during the campaign this could be reversed.

Strongly Defends Oil Tax Depletion

DALLAS (AP) — The president of Mobil Oil Corp. said Tuesday his firm welcomed any "comprehensive review" of the U.S. Tax structure, but he strongly defended the 27.5 per cent oil tax depletion allowance.

Rawleigh Warner Jr. told stockholders at their annual meeting that critics of the depletion allowance should realize that "oil companies pay far higher state and local taxes in this country than do companies in other industries."

"The relevant measure is the total tax bill," Warner said. Federal tax laws presently allow oil producers to deduct 27.5 per cent of certain taxes because they have been depleting their assets in producing the oil.

The rate of return on invested capital, Warner said, has been lower for domestic oil companies than for manufacturing industries as a whole for the past 20 years, or more.

The cost of gasoline, he said, excluding taxes, has risen only about half as much in the past 10 years as the Labor Department's consumer price index.

MORE FIREPOWER

In the final assault, 91 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and one captured, U.S. spokesmen said, while four Americans were killed and 55 wounded.

During the height of the fighting, Zais told newsmen an option open to him was to pull his paratroopers off the mountain and "bring in more firepower," meaning planes and artillery.

"But you hate to give up the ground you've gained," Zais said then. "You'll have to fight just as hard to retake it. Backing off is one thing that commanders hate to do."

The U.S. Command reported 27 enemy rocket and mortar attacks at various points Tuesday night but said only 10 of them caused casualties or damage.

South Vietnamese headquarters said four civilians were killed and eight wounded when 12 rockets slammed into a populated area 30 miles south of Da Nang.

Headquarters also announced the loss of the 2,651st helicopter lost in the war, an Army UH1 shot down in Tay Ninh province northwest of Saigon. The crew was rescued uninjured.

The South Vietnamese government reported Wednesday that 2,123 "Communist soldiers, political agents and their supporters" came over to the government side in the two weeks of May 4-17. During the same two-week period last year, the spokesmen said, only 348 enemy "rallied" to the Saigon government.

Child Behavior Workshop Slated

LUBBOCK — The "why" of childhood behavior and the important trends in pre-school education will receive special attention at the 12th annual workshop of the Texas Association for Childhood Education June 15-20 on the Texas Tech campus.

The meeting, "Confluence of Education," is being held outside the city of Austin for the first time and is open to teachers, parents, civic workers or anyone interested in the education of children from 2 to 12 years old.

A specialist in the field of motivation, Prof. Jack R. Frymier of Ohio State University, will be the principal consultant for the meeting. Also leading discussion groups will be Elizabeth H. Brady, visiting professor at California State College, on leave from San Fernando Valley State College.

New Angle Of Attack Against Two Range Pests

A major problem experienced by ranchers in trying to control such range pests as mesquite and huisache is basal sprouting. In laboratory experiments, after the tree tops have been herbicide-deadened, too often the result after several growing seasons is thicker brush than ever.

A trio of Texas A&M university scientists has come up with a new angle of attack in an effort to beat the problem. The researchers are Page W. Morgan of the plant sciences department, Robert E. Meyer of the U.S. Department of Agriculture plant physiologist at A&M, and Morris G. Merkle of the soil and crop sciences department.

Their system calls for deliberately forcing underground buds to grow before a herbicide is applied. Then the herbicide is sprayed on and catches both the upper part of the tree and the sprouts. The result is a dead tree from top to bottom.

Against Two Range Pests

It's called Ehrel for short. The chemical is still experimental and is not available on the market.

The first effect, they learned, was defoliation. Then the tops of the plants came on strong with a big increase in number of branches and leaves per node. At the same time, there was considerable sprouting from basal and lateral buds from the bottom of the seedlings.

When these plants were sprayed with a herbicide, they died without resprouting. Morgan emphasized that the system is simply a new principle, one that he hopes will work in the field. There is no guarantee that this approach will revolutionize brush control, he admits that forcing of buds he said.

State Department Denies Simmons' No Help Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. State Department has issued a denial to charges that it did not aid Dykes Askew Simmons while he was in prison in Mexico for 10 years—convicted of multiple murder which Simmons said he did not do.

Simmons escaped from prison last April and made his way to the United States.

In a first-person story told to The Associated Press, Simmons said "The U.S. Department of State had refused me assistance in the most positive manner, and there was no help coming from any source."

The State Department has issued a statement through a spokesman saying representatives talked with Simmons soon after his arrest and within hours were in touch with his parents to urge that a lawyer be retained.

The spokesman said that after Simmons' conviction and all appeals had been exhausted the department examined the whole case to determine "if there had been a manifest denial of justice which would warrant a formal official protest to the Mexican government."

The spokesman added, "The department concluded, upon examination of the full record of the case, that there was no proper basis for a protest to the Mexican government."

The statement went on, "From the time of Mr. Simmons' arrest in October, 1959, until he escaped from prison and fled the country earlier this year, officers of the Consulate General at Monterrey worked unceasingly to assist Mr. Simmons and his attorneys. They also helped in matters concerning Mr. Simmons' personal welfare and conditions of confinement. They made regular and frequent visits to him, and a consular officer was always available to respond to calls for assistance from Mr. Simmons or his family."

The Mexican government has made no effort so far to extradite Simmons although the state of Nuevo Leon where the prison is located has asked the Foreign Ministry to seek to return the United States citizen.

Observers in Mexico City note there has never been an extradition by either the United States or Mexico.

The observers believe Mexico is not anxious to press for the extradition of an American citizen because it would set a precedent for the extradition of Mexican citizens by the United States—among them many Mexicans who joined the U.S. Army, deserted and returned to Mexico.

This does not mean that Mexico is a refuge in all cases. Mexican officers frequently have made arrangements with their U.S. counterparts and simply shoved the wanted man across the border.

Premier Pompidou Leads News Poll

PARIS (AP) — A public opinion poll published Tuesday by the newspaper L'Aurore indicated former Gaullist Premier Georges Pompidou will get 43.5 per cent of the votes in the first round of voting for president June 1, to 36.9 per cent for acting President Alain Poher.

Communist Jacques Duclos was given 10.3 per cent, Socialist Gaston Defferre 6.7 per cent, and Michel Rocard of the Unified Socialist party 2.6 per cent.

In a runoff between the two top candidates, Poher was reported leading with 36.3 per cent to 43.7 per cent for Pompidou.

Houston Vote Probe Sought

AUSTIN (AP) — A House committee chairman has called for a legislative probe of allegations that 10 per cent of the votes cast last year in an election in Harris county (Houston) were fraudulent.

"This might merit a look from the House General Investigating Committee," Rep. John Traeger, Segium, chairman of the House Constitutional Amendments Committee, said Tuesday night.

Mrs. Janice May, director of the Texas League of Women Voters, had just quoted Harris County Clerk R. E. Turrentine Jr. as telling another committee a tenth of his county's votes were fraudulent.

The election was not specified.

Traeger later said he would ask either the investigating committee or some other House interim study committee to look into the allegation.

The committee also approved and sent to the House floor for debate proposed constitutional changes that would:

- Remove the state welfare ceiling and allow the legislature to appropriate money necessary to match all available federal welfare funds. If approved by two-thirds of the House, the Senate measure would go to the voters in November, 1970. Already on the Aug. 5 special election ballot is a measure to raise the annual welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million.
- Allow those 19 to vote, a recommendation of Gov. Preston Smith.

Fisher Heads Managerial Association

Ed Fisher, personnel officer at Big Spring State Hospital, was elected president of the Big Spring Managerial Association, at the organization's annual meeting Tuesday night.

Members had their wives as guests at the installation banquet held at the Big Spring Country Club. More than 30 were present.

Joe Wallis was named vice president and Mrs. Dee Sealey secretary and treasurer. Maj. R. H. Wester was named a director. Fisher succeeds Frank W. Caldwell, personnel officer at the VA Hospital.

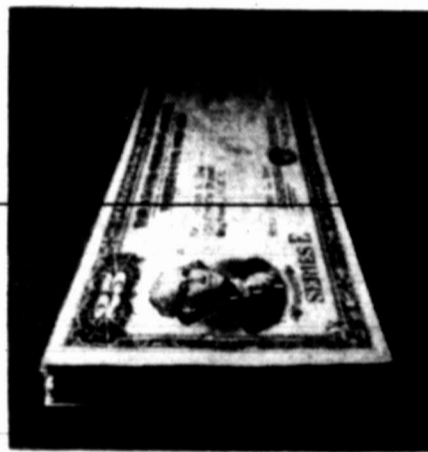

Members heard a talk by Wilfred Watson, Ph.D., of the College of Business Administration, University of Texas at Austin, who stressed that management, like the sciences, is faced with a need to stay updated in a fast-developing world. Management techniques become obsolete, he said, and executives and administrators must adapt to new methods to keep up with changing needs.

Dr. Watson outlined courses being offered by colleges and universities to enable personnel and management people to stay abreast of new requirements in their areas.

This is a summer cottage. Your kid's education. An ocean voyage. Retirement.

Pretty practical way to look at something as patriotic as U.S. Savings Bonds, right? Well, there's nothing un-American about being practical. Which is exactly what you are when you put your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds.

For one thing, Bonds pay back a little over $100 for every $3.00 you invest. And now they do it in just seven years.

Also, the money you put into U.S. Savings Bonds is obviously safe. In fact, even if your Savings Bonds are lost, stolen, or burned, we'll replace them.

And, in case you have to save time as well as money, Savings Bonds are surprisingly easy to buy. You can pick them up at your bank. Or have someone else do the paperwork for you by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

One more thing. Bonds now have a new high interest rate of 14% when held to maturity.

And buying them gives you the privilege of also giving the even higher interest 5% Freedom Shares in combination.

Put your savings in Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares. You could eventually end up with the summer cottage and the college education and the ocean voyage and retirement. And whatever else you want to save for.

Brother And Sister Win Top Honors Award

Patton Brother, Sister Win Legion Post Awards

By SAM BLACKBURN

This year's Big Spring High School winner of the American Legion award for senior boys is John Clifton Patton II. Winner of the same award for senior girls is George Ann Patton, Johnny's sister.

American Legion officials and high school faculty members are wondering if this has ever happened in any high school in Texas before. If it has, no one has record of it.

Johnny and George Ann were formally presented with their awards by Dr. Halvard Hansen, Legion post commander, Monday.

The awards are made to the senior boy and senior girl each year who, in the opinion of the high school faculty, are the best citizens, show the finest aptitude for responsibility, and rate highest as just good all around boy and girl.

Any one of the school's 350 senior class members was a possible choice. The decision was reached by faculty members voting for first, second, and third place boy and girl best qualified to receive the award. The voting was by secret ballot and no conference on the decision of the faculty members was held.

When the votes were tabulated John Clifton Patton II, 19 and George Ann Patton, 18, were the winners. Both are the children of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Patton, 3211 Drexel.

Teachers felt that the selection of Johnny and sister George Ann earlier this year as "Who's Who" members was unusual. It is rare when a brother-sister choice is made in this field.

Now to have the same pair walk away with both American Legion awards has the school agog.

"Those kids," marveled one faculty member "really have something on the ball."

Johnny, in addition to his rating as "Who's Who" and his new recognition, is a member of the boy's choir in the school; he was delegate to Boy's State and he has two letters in football, where he played quarterback. Johnny was born Nov. 8, 1949.

Tiguas Seek $48 Million

EL PASO (AP) — The Tiguas Indians, through their lawyer, Tom Diamond, sued Tuesday to regain the Ysleta Land Grant consisting of 36 square miles in the Lower Valley of El Paso.

The Tiguas also made claims to all lands in El Paso, Huddell, Culberson, Presidio and Jeff Davis counties.

Diamond filed the suit with the U.S. Indian Claims Commission in Washington. His suit contends that the Tiguas and not the Apaches, who claim all of West Texas, control the five counties.

The Tiguas seek either title to or payment based on present values for the land in the Ysleta Land Grant. Alton Griffin, Tigua Indian commissioner, said the tribe wants $48 million if the government does not return the land to them.

In addition, the Tiguas took legal steps to assert their fishing and water rights on the Rio Grande River, claims to salt at the base of the Guadalupe Mountains and hunting rights in the Franklin, Huco and Quitin in the crash at Farm 1015 and man the Organ Mountains of New Mexico.

Crash Kills Three

WESLACO, Tex. (AP) — A car-pickup collision near this Lower Rio Grande Valley town claimed three lives late Tuesday.

Dead were Cruz Alcantar, 45; Carmen Alcantar, 47; and Myrthe Parks, 81, all of Weslaco.

Six other persons were injured in the crash at Farm 1015 and a county road but none was believed in serious condition.

Dble. Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Four of ♠

In the hand presented today, East and West inflicted a severe penalty on an incautious opponent.

West was confronted with something of a dilemma on the opening. With 14 high card points, the hand is a mandatory opening. To bid one spade however, might lead to rebid complications if partner responds at the two level. The one club opening facilitates the rebid—albeit the suit does lack a high honor.

East jumped to three clubs which is forcing to game.

South's vulnerable bid of three hearts has little to recommend it against the strong bidding of the opposition. It can only serve to offer the opponents a flier's choice on the hand, since partner can hardly be counted on to have anything.

West doubled three hearts. With four gilt-edged defensive tricks—it appeared that a penalty might easily prove more profitable than any game that might be scored.

A low club was opened and East covered North's jack with the king. East cashed the king and queen of spades next and then shifted to the queen of diamonds. This was followed by the ten of diamonds and West took the king and ace of that suit as East discarded his remaining spade on the third diamond.

Presbyterian Finale Today

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The week long 1969 General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church reached its finale today with a statement backing striking California grape workers, but not a table grape sympathy boycott.

In a session that ran late into the night, the church's delegates and elders also issued their third appeal in five years for South Africa to give up its apartheid policy of special laws for its non-whites.

The assembly approved by voice vote several steps to let the Church of 32 million Presbyterians exert more public pressure on South Africa, warning that "a violent confrontation in Southern Africa will inevitably trigger a race war of international scope and tragic consequences."

The 840 voting delegates rejected a suggestion in the statement that Presbyterian agencies stop business deals and sell investments in any companies and banks that practice racial discrimination in South Africa.

With actions to come on handling black and brown militant demands for Church money and with the agenda falling behind, measures were approved swiftly Tuesday night and debate was limited.

The stand on grape workers was cast in a conciliatory tone that avoided taking too strong an identification with either growers or workers.

The paper asked that a Church agency "gather facts from growers, workers, and all concerned, and be instructed to counsel judiciously (lower Presbyterian ruling bodies) in a steps of reconciliation and negotiations."

The assembly urged that the entire United Presbyterian Church "support, as a matter of conscience, the demands of farm workers for bargaining rights and legislative protection."

Cesar Chavez, a Mexican-American labor organizer and former migrant farm worker, launched the grape workers' strike in August, 1967.

It was followed last fall by a grape-buying boycott still going on with the support of many liberal groups far from the West Coast.

The draft proposal put before the 840 voting Presbyterian delegates had contained an add phrase asking church members

Wildlife Degree

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech is now offering a bachelor of science degree in wildlife management. The program emphasizes habitat, university officials say.

After 30 Volkswagens, Father Bittman still believes.

In the beginning, Father Aloysius Bittman bought a bug.

That was in 1957 when he joined the staff of St. Anthony's Indian Mission in Mandaree, North Dakota.

Since then, Father Bittman has gone a long way. In 30 Volkswagens.

Owning two or three at a time, the Bittman staff travels 600 miles per week in each. Over dirt and gravel roads and in temperatures that go to 55 below.

A couple of Volkswagens ago, Father Bittman's '65 broke through the Garrison Reservoir ice.

"It was a good time for proving," he said. Luckily, one 255 pound priest and one 1808 pound bug floated to safety. After the ice was chipped away and a quick oil change, the good father and his faithful companion were on their way.

He was a bit peeved about the oil change though. "It set the Mission back $180," complained Father Aloysius Bittman.

New County Oil Field

A new oil field has been opened in Howard County with the completion of an explorer in the Fusselman formation 12 miles northwest of Big Spring, and two more explorers have been staked in the county.

Texaco, Inc., completed the No. 1 H. N. Read in a field suggested as the Read (Fusselman), 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 16, block 30, Township 1, North, T&P survey, 12 miles northeast of Big Spring.

Total depth is 8,815 feet with the hole plugged back to 8,796 feet and 4 1/2-inch casing running to total depth. The well flowed 266 barrels of 43.8-gravity oil and no water in 24 hours through a 10-64 choke from perforations of 8,778-8,791 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 816-1 and tubing pressure was 610. The well was acidized with 18,500 gallons.

Texaco has also announced location of the No. 1-B H. N. Read, another explorer to 9,040 feet in the Fusselman formation, 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 20, block 30, Township 1, North, T&P survey, southwest of the No. 1 Read.

Sheldon Petroleum Co., Lubbock, has also staked the No. 1 G. G. Wright as an explorer to 9,000 feet in the Pennsylvanian Reef, 467 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 40, block 33, Township 3, North, T&P survey, 18 miles northwest of Big Spring. Location is 1 1/2 miles southeast of the Modesta, South (Cisco), and northeast of the Brookings, Northeast (Cisco) fields.

COMPLETIONS

United States-Peruvian Relations Near Collapse

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Relations between Peru and the United States neared collapse today as the Peruvians announced that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would not be welcome in the country and that U.S. military missions should get out.

The government's action late Tuesday followed Washington's suspension of the sale of arms and munitions to Peru's military government in retaliation for the seizure of American fishing boats off Peru.

In Washington, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said no decision on a Rockefeller visit to Peru has been reached, but there will be no visit if he is not invited.

President Juan Velasco's regime issued a communique accusing the United States of violating its 1952 military aid pact with Peru and of "placing in danger Pan-American friendship, one of whose objectives is continental security."

Bulldog Band Slate Named

COAHOMA — Officers and drum majors and majorettes for the 1969-70 school year for the Coahoma High School Bulldog Band have been named. They will assume their duties with the start of the new year.

Anne Crawford, who has served this year as drum major, will return for another year at this post. She will be a senior next year. Her assistant will be Sheryl Myers, who will be a freshman.

Mischa Read was named head majorette; and other majorettes selected were Pam Patterson, Terri Wolf and Sherry Boyles. All will be sophomores next year. The six were selected by a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Tomb and Bob Newman of Colorado City on the basis of fundamentals, poise and routine.

Elected by the band were Alvis Ashley, president; Joe Best, vice president; Susan Bolzer, secretary; Pam Patterson, treasurer; Jimmy Wright and Alan Faulkner, managers of buses; and Gay Clough, reporter.

Wolf badges and arrow points were awarded Ben Hicks, Derek Horton, Thomas K. Gay, Randy Crockett, Glen Boyd, Tony Lane, Trent Fraley, Jim McChristian, Dean Robinson, Alan Markowski, and Jeff Hart. Hart also won a one year bar.

Bear awards of badges and arrow points went to Mike Sebasta, Jerry Dean Hall, Scott Everman, Rod McDonald, and Steve Canon. Dinner badges went to Mike Bassett and Tony Judd, assistant dinner badge to Mike Sebasta and Steve Merrick.

Webelaw awards went to David Stull, Lennie Lloyd, Dallas Crick, Paul Thrasher, and Randy Markowski.

Mrs. Rocky Allen received a three year star. She is Den 3 mother.

American Petrofina, Inc., today announced the election of Richard I. Galland as president. He has been executive vice president and chief executive officer since Aug. 1, 1968, when Harry A. Jackson, who is chairman of the board of the company, retired as president.

Galland, 52, joined American Petrofina, Inc., in 1958 as vice president and general counsel and as president of American Petrofina Company of Texas, a wholly owned subsidiary. A native of Denver, he was educated at Yale University, receiving both BA and LL.B. degrees.

Army Dental Corps Chief Coming For Symposium

Maj. Gen. Robert B. Shira, assistant Surgeon General and chief of the U.S. Army Dental Corps, will be guest speaker at a dental symposium May 27 at the Webb AFB Officers Club.

All area dentists are invited to the affair, sponsored by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration to be used to study the problem of feedlot waste.

The production of cattle on large commercial feedlots is a rapidly expanding industry in the "Southwest." Wells pointed out "Pollution from these lots is extensive and information on the characteristics of wastes is needed as a basis for developing economically feasible means of waste stabilization and disposal to prevent unnecessary pollution.

Lee Is Awarded A Scholarship

Police officer Larry D. Lee has been named the recipient of a scholarship, awarded by the Texas Law Enforcement Officers Association.

He will attend a two week workshop, beginning June 2, at the Institute of Contemporary Corrections and the Behavioral Sciences, to be conducted at Sam Houston State College. Huntsville. His tuition and all expenses will be paid under the scholarship.

Vets Elect Officer Slate

Sid Lowery, Lubbock, was re-elected district commander and Mrs. Lowery of the district auxiliary president at the World War I Veterans and Ladies Auxiliary 19th District annual convention here last weekend.

About 150 members and delegates heard Mike Mullins, Victoria, vice commander of the state department, bring greetings from the Texas organizations of WWI veterans.

Presiding over the morning sessions were Lowery and Mrs. Mary Forrest, Lubbock, auxiliary district president.

The meeting was highlighted by a talk by the Rev. Richard Payne, Stanton, concerning his trip to the Orient. The veterans and their ladies were welcomed by Mayor Arnold Marshall, and Van B. Clark, Littlefield, quartermaster of the district.

Delegates were served luncheon at the IOOF Hall, the meeting place. Plans were made for a large delegation to go to the state convention in San Antonio July 24-27.

Youth Clears Up Many Burglaries

A 16-year-old youth was taken into custody today by police detectives and the Howard County juvenile probation officer, and authorities say about 10 burglaries over the past two months have been cleared.

Keith Jones, juvenile officer, said some property taken in the burglaries was recovered. Working with Jones were police detectives Stanley Bogard and Sherrill Farmer.

Tuesday Jones returned a 15-year-old girl to Big Spring from Andrews, after the girl had been reported Monday as a runaway.

Permit Gets 2nd Reading

The second of three required readings for an on-premises consumption request was approved by the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday, in a brief session prior to the Council of Governments meeting at the Coston Country Club.

Capt. Richard Rossmiller, in asking for the permit at the May 13 meeting of the commission, asked emergency reading so that he could have on-premises sale of beer in time for the opening June 5 of the Silent Woman Inn, 217 S. Main.

At that time the commission gave only first reading approval.

As most of the commissioners were on hand for the COG meeting, they met briefly to read the ordinance a second time. This paves the way for third and final reading May 27.

Mayor George Zachariah presided at the meeting, in the absence of Mayor Arnold Marshall.

Bids Asked For PO Sub-Station

Sealed proposals will be received at the Big Spring Post Office until 5 p.m. Tuesday May 27, for the operation of a contract station in the general vicinity of the Edwards Delights Shopping Center, located on South Gregg Street.

The successful bidder for the operation of the post office substitution will be required to furnish a clerk in charge, provide a bond of $3,000, furnish ample office space, and provide a safe for safe-keeping of government property.

Completed bids should be mailed to Postmaster Frank Hardesty, so they will reach his office before 5 p.m. Tuesday May 27.

Further information may be obtained from Hardesty at the new Federal Building, 501 Main St., Big Spring.

Johnston Wins Gail Award

GAIL — Dalton Johnston, Big Spring, was awarded a contract in the amount of $92,400 for extensive renovations of the elementary and high school buildings here.

Gabbart Company of Abilene was a close second when bids were opened Tuesday night with a proposal of $92,979 other bidders were J. W. Little, Big Spring, $95,686, and Kasch Bros., Big Spring, $110,000.

Involved in the program are painting of both the elementary and high school plants; new lights and ceiling system for the high school, together with new chalk boards, kitchen venting, paneling in the auditorium, heating and air conditioning for the high school. The work will cover about 47,000 square feet.

To be added later under another contract will be carpentry for the elementary and high school classrooms.

Other projects coming to under a $425,000 bond issue approved by voters earlier this year, are a bandhall, shop building, home economics and science departments, and an activities area. This will be new construction.

Architects for the project are Gary and Hohertz, Big Spring.

Mrs. Edna Clark, Formerly Here

Mrs. Edna Clark, 75, former resident of Big Spring, died Tuesday in Fort Worth after a long illness. She is the step-mother of Bob Clark and Mrs. Harold Crawford, Big Spring.

Arrangements are pending at Owens-Brunley Funeral Home in Fort Worth, and services likely will be Thursday.

A native of Alabama, Mrs. Clark lived here many years and her husband died while they were making their home in Big Spring. Among the survivors are three sons, Lloyd Clark, Dallas, and Monroe Clark, California. Among the nephews and nieces are Mrs. Veda Carter and Lawrence Robinson, Big Spring.

Grant Made To Study Lot Wastes

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's Water Resources Center (WRC) was notified Tuesday of the award of a $74,968 grant from the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration to be used to study the problem of feedlot waste.

Soviet Supersonic Plane Lands

People are dwarfed by the TU144 as they surround the Soviet supersonic airliner following its landing in Sheremetyevo airport at Moscow yesterday. The giant aircraft performed its maiden flight last December. This picture is from Tass, the Soviet agency.

'Shadow Figure' Didn't Like Blast

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Larry Roberts notified police recently that he took a shot at a shadowy figure prowling around his home.

He said the next night he went outside and was hurled to the ground and struck by someone matching the description of the "shadowy figure." Roberts thinks whoever it was didn't particularly like being shot at.

ABC To Install Officers Thursday

The American Business Club will hold its annual installation of officers at a dinner scheduled to be held at the Big Spring Country Club starting at 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

Admission fee will be $2 per person. Entertainment will be provided by a girls' singing group.

Jim Butler will formally be seated as president, accepting the gavel from the outgoing chief officer, Bill Bradford. Butler will not formally assume office until July 1, however.

Initiation ceremonies of new members will be conducted in conjunction with the program.

MILITARY SACRIFICING LIVES? Kennedy Triggers GOP Backlash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the Senate's No. 2 Democrat, has come under fire from Republican doves for going beyond attacks on broad Vietnam policy and criticizing battle tactics.

A speech Tuesday by Kennedy, considered a front-runner for his party's 1972 presidential nomination, was supported by some Democratic critics of the war, but drew barbs from Senate Republicans generally opposed to the nation's Vietnam stance.

Kennedy triggered the GOP backlash when he said the 10-day siege of Hamburger Hill, which killed 46 Americans and 303 wounded, is an example of sacrifice "for a false sense of military price."

"I feel it is so senseless and irresponsible to continue to send our young men to their deaths to capture hills and positions that have no relation to ending this conflict," Kennedy said, turning from more general comment on President Nixon's war policies.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., reacted by saying: "I fault the military policy that put them there. I'm not an armchair general who can fault the military tactics of the moment."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., who recently called for a start on unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops, said of Kennedy's speech: "It looks like a little opportunism and I suppose we'll get more of that."

Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee in 1968 and a potential rival to Kennedy for the 1972 nomination, said in Detroit he is generally sympathetic to the idea Kennedy expressed in the Senate.

Muskie said a re-evaluation is required on the kind of American military thinking that reacts to a challenge such as Hamburger Hill by a bloody assault.

One Democratic war critic, Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, said, "I confine my own position to policy questions but I wouldn't want to pass judgment on what Kennedy said until I had an opportunity to study it."

Another Democrat, Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, who ran for the Senate on a peace platform and nominated war critic Sen. Eugene McCarthy for president, defended Kennedy.

A Republican sharing that view is Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey who said: "I don't have any inhibition against commenting on what I think to be right or wrong whether it be tactics or strategy but I didn't hear the speech so I don't want to comment on it at all."

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the GOP whip who has called for a start on withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam, said on the Senate floor it is not for senators to dictate military decisions.

"Unless we protect our forces in the field we might as well accept a total defeat and a complete withdrawal," Scott said.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston of Louisiana, who has called for a complete withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam, said: "I think anything is fair game for Senate debate whether it's tactics or equalization of troops or number of troops committed," Hughes said. "I think there's abundant evidence that criticism of individual decisions may be justified, from Khe Sanh all the way down to Hamburger Hill."

Milk Truck Spills Load

Parts of US 87 and the Municipal Golf Course were turned into a land of milk and ice cream Tuesday, when a Gandy's milk truck overturned and its driver was injured.

The driver, Murray Lee Petty, 42, Big Spring, is in good condition today, at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital with minor injuries, after the truck he was driving overturned at Hearne Street and US 87, south of Big Spring about 2 p.m. Tuesday.

An investigating highway patrolman said Petty was driving east on Hearne, and when he approached US 87 and turned left onto the highway, the truck's brakes apparently failed.

The vehicle struck a guard rail on the east side of the highway and overturned, the officer said.

Milk and ice cream spilled into the ditch and onto the golf course, he said. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $3,000 by the highway patrol.

Complete Negotiations To Buy Florida Papers

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lake City Reporter, published by Taylor Communications, Inc., of Clearwater, Fla., have completed negotiations to buy 10 Florida weekly newspapers and one daily newspaper, the companies said today.

The purchase agreement is pending certain conditions of directors and approval by stockholders of the companies.

Matthew and Taylor have also obtained an option to acquire the Melbourne Daily Times and the Deland Sun-News, with a total circulation of over 17,000.

Taylor Communications has extensive newspaper holdings in Texas and is also a management consultant and a newspaper, radio-TV broker, Bill Taylor Co. is a national newspaper circulation and consulting firm with several newspaper properties in the South.

Taylor and Matthew said the acquired newspapers would continue to operate on a locally autonomous basis, and that no change in management or ownership was anticipated.

The effective date for change of ownership will be on or about the 1st of July, 1969.

The daily newspaper is the July 1, 1969.

Want Ad Pays

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Last week Johnny Moehman, a Manhattan grocer, lost his billfold.

He placed an ad in the Manhattan Mercury's lost and found department. Three days later he had his billfold back, contents intact.

The finder had clipped the want ad from the paper, taped it to the billfold and dropped the billfold in a mailbox. The mailman delivered it to the store, apparently getting the address from the identification card in the wallet.

Tryouts Begin

GAIL, (SC) — Sandra Hancock, Cheron Billeck, Sandra Snead, and Diane Zant began their three-day tryouts for twirler Monday. Results will be given at the end of the week.

Cheerleader tryouts will be held on May 21. Candidates from the eighth grade are Sherry Jackson, Janice Brown and Vickie Newton; from the ninth grade are Mary Anderson, Paula Smith and Jerr Beth; from the 10th grade are Carol Gray and Brenda Jackson; and from the 11th grade are Debby Dennis and Dolores Lankford.

Self-Service Gas Stations Springing Up

DENVER (AP) — The self-service gasoline stations springing up across the country were described as the "marketing phenomenon" of the 1960s Wednesday to delegates of the American Petroleum Institute's Marketing Division.

The group is holding its annual convention at the Denver Hilton.

Frank Breese, editor of National Petroleum News based in New York, said the most active self-service entrepreneurs are independent businessmen with no oil marketing experience.

Breese, and the managing editor of National Petroleum News K. R. Peterson, said at least six major oil companies arc, or have been, involved in the program.

Most of the stations, they said, are west of the Mississippi River with the most lively market in southern California. Another hot spot is the Rockies with activity on an axis from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Tucson, Ariz., East Texas and Baton Rouge, La.

Most of the gasoline outlets sell an average of from 25,000 to 50,000 gallons a month, they said.

Another speaker Wednesday said any change in the mineral depletion allowance would result in higher petroleum prices for consumers.

"It's a simple economic fact," said William A. Fluhr, a Red Bank, N.J., jobber, "that if it is going to cost more to find and produce oil, it's going to cost more when it comes to the marketplace."

He said the attacks against the depletion allowance by the press and Congress indicates "that if ever there was a time for our industry to provide a united front on the issues confronting us, this is that time."

Stanton Lions Honor Students

STANTON (SC) — Linda Holder and Steve Stallings were introduced by J. R. Dillard as citizens of the month of April, at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday, and Doyla Doggett and Weldon Posey for May. Each student received a certificate from Russell — McMeans, president.

Program Chairman Bill Terry presented Sheriff Dan Saunders, who suggested everyone should accept responsibilities in life and set a goal to work toward. He then praised his staff as one of the best in the area. The recent jail break was discussed and he indicated the jail was not designed to hold prisoners for a long length of time. He suggested more prosecutions instead of more law officers and jails. Twenty-five members and a guest, Bill Marshall, San Angelo, were present.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1969

The Army To The Rescue

A Howard University student, identified as W. Bruce Willis, sits on top of a 329 foot Washington television tower yesterday after shedding his clothes and climbing the antenna. An Army helicopter came to the rescue of the nude architecture student and, top right, lowered a sling to lift him from the perch. He was raised into the aircraft and later taken to a hospital for observation.

$1,800 Two-Year Pay Raise For Texas Teachers Voted

AUSTIN (AP) — State representatives have voted an average $1,800 two-year pay raise for Texas school teachers, but the amount may get trimmed in the final rush for a one-year, taxless appropriations bill. A 147-0 vote sent the bill to the Senate Tuesday. Despite the legislative leadership's plans to adjourn June 2 without a tax bill to finance it, the House passed the full $220 million two-year raise asked by the Texas State Teachers Association. The state comptroller's office has estimated the first year of the increase would cost some $68 million. But Rep. George Hinson, the sponsor, said only $61 million could be financed with a one-year budget and no tax bill. This means either the senate will have to write the final bill or the bill will have to be put in a conference committee to await a final budget decision. Hinson's bill would raise beginning bachelor's degree teachers from a current state-supported minimum of $4,734 a year to $5,400 in the coming school year and $6,000 in 1970-71. The second year raise would come about by applying a $600 per month salary over 10 months instead of nine. The length of the school year would not be affected, however. Top-scale bachelor's degree teachers would receive $730 per month the first year and $767 the second year, also on a 10-month basis. Beginning master's degree teachers would receive $660 a month, over nine months the first year and the

Spray Time For Pecans

Pecan growers in the area should begin spraying trees for the pecan nut casebearer, according to Paul Gross, Howard County agricultural agent. Extensive tree banding in the past few weeks indicate pecan nut casebearer larvae are now emerging. Pecan trees should be sprayed to prevent the larvae from entering the nutlet, causing extensive nut loss. The pecan nut casebearer is the number one pest of pecans in Texas, Gross said, and becomes a determining factor in producing pecans, whether on a few trees or in large groves. To effectively control the pecan nut casebearer, it is necessary to prove thorough insecticide coverage of the nutlet clusters during the period when larvae are hatching. This will prevent damage and poor pecan production. Gross said pecan growers can obtain further information on spraying trees and calling or visiting his office.

SEATO Delegates Getting Ready For Viet Conference

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The SEATO allies today endorsed Vietnam peace proposals advanced by the United States and South Vietnam and called on the Communist side in the Paris peace talks to "respond constructively."

Ending their annual meeting, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's Council of Foreign Ministers also warned that Communist "aggression, infiltration and terrorism" still threaten the whole area of Southeast Asia. It declared "this aggression must not be allowed to succeed."

The council's final communique expressed "grave concern" at North Vietnamese military operations in Laos and North Vietnam's movement of troops and supplies through Laos to South Vietnam and to support Red insurgency in Thailand.

The communique ignored assurances brought by Secretary of State William P. Rogers that the United States will continue to fulfill its security obligations to SEATO and will not abandon Southeast Asia. SEATO diplo-

Unborn Lamb Kept Living

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unborn lamb was taken from its mother's womb Tuesday and submerged in a fluid-filled artificial womb after scientists at the National Heart Institute attached its umbilical cord to an artificial lung.

The animal quickly settled into a fetal position as though it had not left the mother's body. About once an hour it would kick slightly and turn and stretch.

The experiment—the 34th in a series—was conducted by Drs. Warren Zapol, Theodor Kolobow, and Joseph Pierce. The latter is a veterinarian.

The lamb will be kept alive as long as possible to test the newly developed artificial lung's ability to supply oxygen and remove carbon dioxide from the blood without damaging the red blood cells.

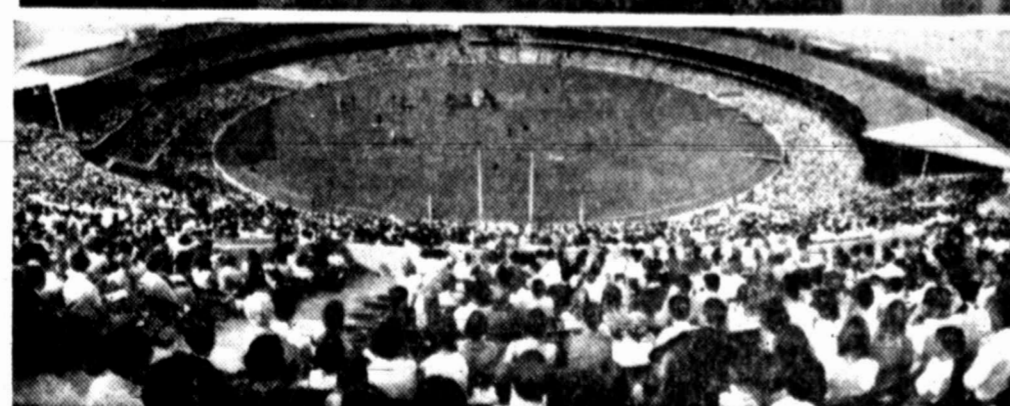

But the experiment, aimed at keeping unborn babies alive and growing outside their mothers' bodies holds many more promises for the future, the scientists said. Such as:

—The artificial lung can be used to treat hyaline membrane disease, which kills 25,000 U.S. infants a year. Included among its victims was Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, infant son of the late President John F. Kennedy. The child died in 1963.

—The artificial womb could be used to shelter test tube babies that scientists may some day create.

—If a fetus is not growing properly in its mother's womb, doctors can remove it, place it in the artificial womb and try to correct defects.

Fresh Winds In West Texas

By The Associated Press
A cold front stalled over northern portions of the Texas Panhandle early today with fog settling over Childress and Cotulla, but elsewhere skies were mostly clear.

The weather bureau forecast partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures over most of the state, with the possibility of a few thundershowers near the frontal zone and around El Paso.

Summertime temperatures were expected to again reach into the high 90s in the Rio Grande Valley and into the 100s in Southwest and West Texas. Early morning readings ranged from 73 at Dallas and Galveston to 63 at Victoria, where fog was also apparent. Fog at San Antonio closed that city's airport for a while.

A trough southward through New Mexico produced fresh southerly winds in West Texas during early morning hours.

Houston Minister New Moderator

BEAUMONT (AP) — Commissioners at the Synod of Texas of the Presbyterian Churches in the U.S. elected a Houston minister as their moderator Tuesday as the synod opened its 114th session.

The Rev. John P. Minter, pastor at the University Presbyterian Church in Houston, succeeds William J. Murray of Austin. Votes were cast by commissioners representing 413 Texas and five New Mexico churches in the synod.

The son of a Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Mr. Minter is a graduate of the University of Texas, Austin Theological Seminary and Yale Theological Seminary. Twice he served as a missionary to China, and he has been pastor of Texas churches in Uvalde, Taft, Cuero and Sherman.

Before the synod closes Thursday, the commissioners will consider the questions of open houses, Mexican-American relations and therapeutic abortions.

A Devotional For The Day

Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. (Hebrews 11:1)

PRAYER: Our Father, be with us and abide in us all that we do. So may we overcome whatever would defeat us and better serve Thee. We ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

Subtle Pressure On Solons

Perhaps more than half of the voters of Texas have made an astonishing discovery: Gov. Preston Smith is not the man they thought he was.

The stereotype was that of a rather modest, unassuming man of good intentions who lacked some of the flamboyant qualities of leadership. The reality has only gradually become apparent.

During most of his previous 18 years in state government Smith had worked quietly, rarely being shoved into the limelight. Even as lieutenant governor, he was overshadowed by the commanding personality of John Connally. It was assumed therefore that he would be a relatively ineffective governor, deferring to the legislature on important issues.

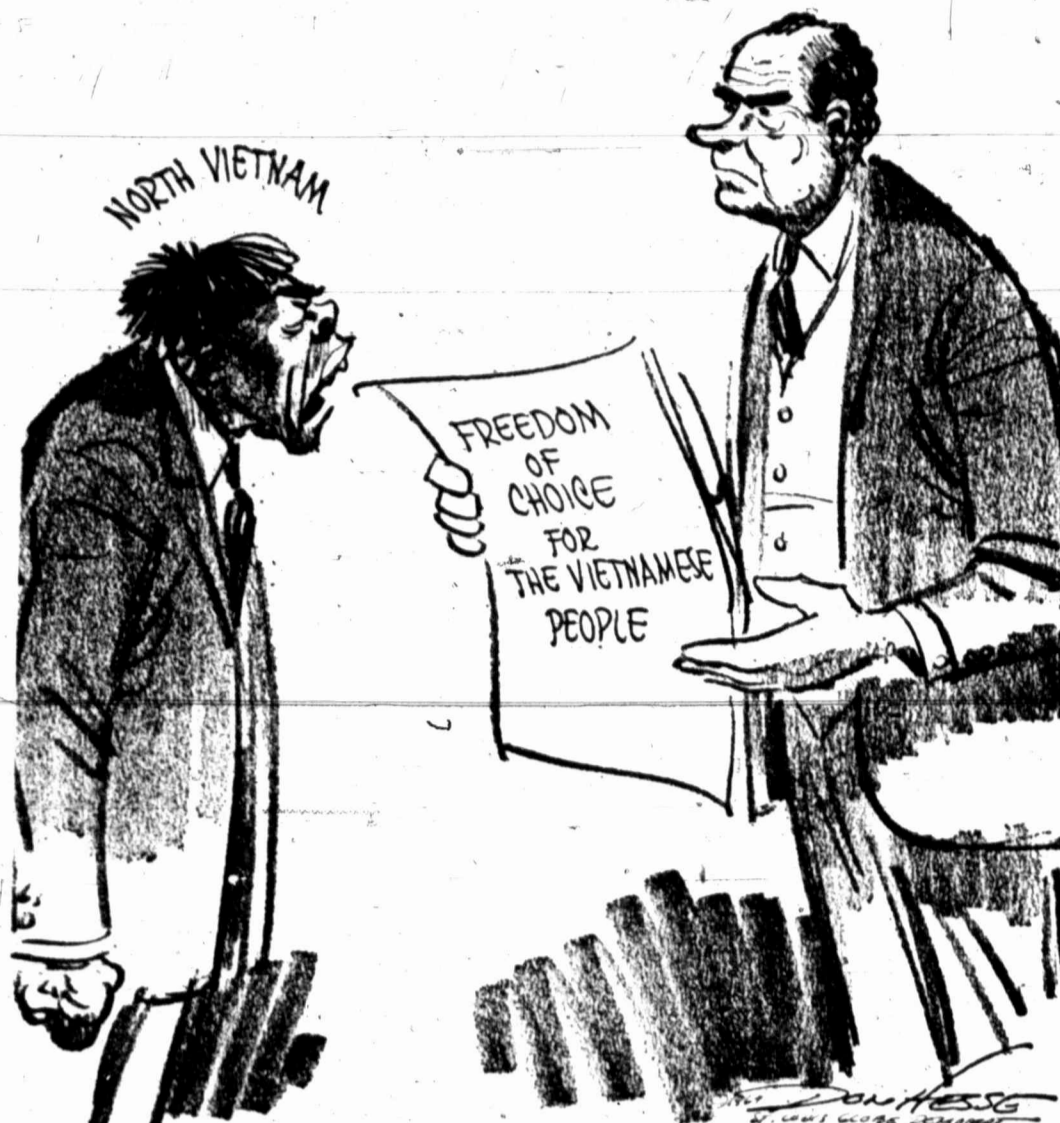

This assumption has to a great extent been shattered over the issue of an annual budget vs. a biennial budget. Gov. Smith has not ranted or raved. He has not threatened to veto a one-year appropriation bill to which both House Speaker Gus Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes now seem committed. But he has continued to assert his preference for a biennial appropriation and tax bill as the only responsible approach to taxing and spending.

Many legislators are now troubled. They are not concerned just about the possibility that Gov. Smith may veto a one-year appropriation and tax bills and they would be called into an early special session to pass a taxing and spending measure.

The more critical question is this: If Gov. Smith accepts, even reluctantly, a one-year bill, when will he call the legislature into special session to complete the two-year budget? Everyone would be happy if the call was deferred, as Connally did, until after the primaries, thereby escaping the onus of passing a tax bill before the nominating process had ended.

But what if Gov. Smith called the legislature back in session in January, February or March of 1970? Many legislators shudder at the prospect. At least there is hope that voters would forget about a two-year tax bill now, almost a year before the first primary. But there is no hope at all that voters would forget about a tax levied just before the primary elections. In an unexpectedly subtle way, Gov. Smith is holding legislators' feet to the fire. They are watching with fascination the metamorphosis of Preston Smith.

THAT'S UNREASONABLE - I'D LOSE

Strengthening Food Aid

When the U.S. Public Health Service's National Nutrition Survey and Sen. George McGovern's Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs first began outlining the scope of hunger in America, there was widespread incredulity and even resentment over alleged exaggeration in many quarters.

President Nixon's special message to Congress on this vital subject should put to rest doubts on the urgency and shamefulness of the problem.

"Despite our material abundance and agricultural wealth," he said, "there can be no doubt that hunger and malnutrition exist in America, and that some millions may be affected. . . (this) is embarrassing and intolerable."

Consequently, despite the strains of war and inflation on the federal budget, Nixon recommended to Congress increasing immediately the outlay for family food assistance — both in food stamp and direct distribution programs — from $1½ billion to $2½ billion. And his message rightly recognizes that more food aid alone is not enough; that must be coordinated with better nutritional education and all related health and welfare programs, especially those dealing with child care.

If Congress approves the President's proposals, including that for a new Food and Nutrition Service to consolidate the food aid programs and improve their coverage and quality, they should move significantly toward his proclaimed objective, "an end to hunger in America itself for all time."

Particularly welcome is Mr. Nixon's declaration that his administration "shall establish" family food assistance programs in the 440 counties, many of them in Texas, now lacking such help to the hungry poor. There can be no excuse for any county in this state to continue without an adequate food-aid program.

Threat To Business Community

NEW YORK (AP) — American industry could be the next institution attacked with disruptive tactics similar to those that have brought turmoil to some of the nation's schools of higher learning.

This is the view of a high-ranking official of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, but it is documented in literature being distributed by the Students for a Democratic Society, sometimes called the core of the New Left.

"THEY INTEND to disrupt industry in the same way they have disrupted the academic community," says William C. Sullivan, assistant director of the FBI.

A study of SDS documents indicates that initial efforts in industry are in the nature of "work-ins," in which young revolutionaries obtain jobs, study worker attitudes and develop contacts among disgruntled workers with the idea of stirring unrest.

An immediate goal is to bring pressure on government and industry to cease supporting the war in Vietnam.

"WORKERS produce and move the goods that are used in the war, and it is they who are primarily forced to fight the war. They can stop it." This is the way the immediate goal is described in a work-in circular.

The ultimate goals, however, appear to be much larger. The circular describes the intention in this way:

"Our goal is not to organize the U.S. working class in one summer. We want to learn as much as we can, and to make friendships that will remain after summer with a few workers . . ."

These goals appear modest beside the means suggested to bring them about. Instructional material abounds on the use of violence to gain ends.

DESCRIPTIONS on how to make bombs and how to use ice picks, pistols, slingshots, ammonia blasts and other weapons are common in SDS literature. Sabotage is suggested through the use of sugar in gasoline tanks and arson. One SDS publication lists this as the long-range aim:

"Our concern is not only the improvement of wages and working conditions for our

One-Way Path To Disaster

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a spate of books today telling us how to live to a ripe old age.

Some of them feature fat diets; others merely reiterate commonsense advice which is as old as the ancient Greek longevity prescription: "Moderation in all things."

This rather reminds one of W.C. Fields' famous cure for insomnia: "Get plenty of sleep."

However, it takes more than a simple diet, exercise and eight hours of sleep nightly to insure you'll last long enough to collect on a pension from Uncle Sam.

YOU HAVE to take the right kind of exercise. Just failing a couple of dumbbells around and bending down and touching the floor a few times is hardly enough.

In this tense and restless world the best exercise you can take to insure survival is to grab your nose firmly with both hands and tug it away every time it feels a temptation to stick itself into somebody else's business. Caution is a prerequisite if you want to satisfy your ambition to become "the first centenarian in your neighborhood."

Here, for example, are a few invitations which, if accepted, lead down that one-way path to disaster:

"All right, men I've explained the situation. Are there any volunteers?"

"NO WONDER the charcoal isn't catching. You're not using enough starting fluid. Why don't you just empty the whole can on the coals?"

"Those two chicks at the end of the bar look like they're pinning for a little action. Do you want to make a play for the tall one, and I'll cozy up to the short one?"

"If you're not sure of the road, let me take the wheel. I only had four or five drinks?"

"Of course, I could give you a written guarantee that there is no defect in the house, but don't you think my word of honor is enough?"

"WE CAN snap it up now at a real bargain. If there is oil all around it, doesn't it stand to reason that there must be oil under it, too?"

"Race you to the raft—it can't be more than a 200-yard swim at the most."

"It's a specialty of my wife's. Here, pass your plate and let me give you some more."

"Let's join the riot. After all, you're one of the dean's pet students. He wouldn't kick you out of school."

"I'm having trouble again with my wife. Can you go home with me and help straighten it out? I'm sure she'll listen to you."

What Happens To That 'White Stuff' For X-Ray

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a person has a stomach X-ray and is given the white solution to drink, I am told that it can harden in the body and cause serious trouble unless the person is given mineral oil.

Would you explain what happens when this white stuff is not passed, and what can be done? — Mrs. N.S.

The white material is a solution of barium compound — given, of course, so it will outline the stomach sharply enough to be seen in the X-ray.

In some persons — but not all — the water in the solution is absorbed, and the remaining barium compound tends to harden, or be squeezed into a solid mass. That is, it becomes impacted.

Therefore, to be on the safe side, it is wise to give patients mineral oil to keep the barium material soft and loose, so it can be passed with ease.

The hardening will not occur in the stomach, since the stom-

Around The Rim

Some People You Can't Afford

Not long ago a contractor had hired a young man to operate an expensive, heavy-duty truck. The job was to haul rock down from a mountain top over a precarious trail.

IN JOCKEYING the piece of equipment around preparatory to precipitous descent, the young driver backed it over a steep slope and over and over it rolled. Miraculously, he had escaped unhurt, and in the aura of thankfulness that only a machine had been destroyed, he was assigned to another truck.

Down he started again. The truck began to increase speed. The driver was convinced the brakes had gone out, and he shifted to compound gear — or whatever is the slowest, ponderous speed. The speed of the wheels, translated back through the gears to engine ratio, was too much for the motor. It flew apart.

WHEN THE GREAT flood of emotion, weighted heavily in favor of mortal or bodily harm, had passed, the contractor said with great restraint: "Son, let's go into town and get your check. I just can't afford an employe like you."

This reminded me of an episode with No. 1 son years ago when we moved into our castle on the Knoll. Convinced he had reached the age of accountability with a pick and shovel, I assigned him the job of digging a tree hole. He carried it down to about 4½ or 5 feet when he struck rock. Just use the spike end of the pick, I advised, and keep pecking away. The rock would chip and crack and then once it had been broken, the hole could be carried down, or at least the roots could penetrate the cracks. He whammed away, and soon emerged with his glasses broken. A chip off the granite-like rock had shattered the glass, but luckily never touched his eye.

SO I MOVED him to the front yard to drive the pick down and loosen rocks to prepare for their replacement by top soil. He seemed admirably suited for this, but before long he was back in the house.

"Guess what?" he hinted. I couldn't guess, so he volunteered: "There must be a water line out there."

I LOOKED out the window to behold as stately a geyser as you could imagine. He had planted the pick squarely in the center of the stick pipe; he could never have done it if he had tried. Of course it was Saturday, and after a long search, we found a time-and-a-half plumber who would help out at that late-hour.

The next day as we sat visiting friends, No. 1 boy did something he had never been known to do before — he slipped out quietly, and like the ox was in the ditch, began to dig out rocks again. Presently the door opened, and in he came wearing a somewhat startled look.

"YOU WON'T believe this!" he said. "Believe what?" I asked. He motioned out the window. There was another geyser. I would have wept except it wouldn't have looked good in front of company. I quietly ordered him off the job, unable to afford further water development.

There is a small postscript to this. Later, doing it as it should be done, I picked out the rocks myself, and darned if I didn't puncture a piece of copper tubing. I slipped into town, got a straddle clamp and shut it off. I never mentioned it. — JOE PICKLE

Job Openings And The Poor

WASHINGTON — There was a murmur of "Tain't so, No, No," in the caucus room when Sen. Javits (R., N.Y.) archly suggested that the American people believed there were plenty of jobs — if only the Poor would take 'em and go to work.

Javits was feeding a line to Dr. Ralph Abernathy, head of the Poor People's March, Chapter Two. Abernathy responded that, if offered jobs, the Poor would prove they weren't "lazy." He said that if industry couldn't supply openings, the government should become employer of last resort.

IN ROUND figures there are something like 2.5 million unemployed as of April, and many more job openings than that. The figures are not interchangeable, but Labor Secretary Schultz has exactly 909,640 "slots" in the nationwide job-training programs where workers can be taught the qualifying skills. Next year the Nixon administration is raising the number of Labor Department training slots to 1,220,280. This doesn't include vocational training by the Health, Education, and Welfare Department and the civilian hiring by the Defense Department. At no time are these training slots completely filled. At no time is the national demand for trained workers completely satisfied. Statistically, there shouldn't be any workless people in the United States.

IN ADDITION to the straight-government training for jobs, there are many management programs for training. One of these programs, the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB), was started by President Johnson and accelerated by President Nixon. The NAB has doubled the job-training opportunities over the past year, bringing its "goal" up to 238,000 slots at the beginning of June, and raising the number of cities where programs exist from 50 to 125.

THE GOVERNMENT repays industry "extraordinary" expenses in training the hard-core, and the Nixon Administration is outspending the Johnson Administration by roughly $200 million to $400 million in this field. Since 1967 farm workers (except migrants) have been getting a minimum wage at $1.30 an hour (industry is a little higher at $1.60). There is a Farm Labor Bill in Congress to allow agriculture workers to unionize and bargain collectively.

I know this all makes a bewildering swatch of figures, but it's intended to document an over-all fact: there are plenty of jobs, plenty of training programs, increasing government-and-business efforts to match work-and-worker.

IT'S TRUE that there are hang-ups. Many farm workers aren't worth the Minimum Wage, so that farmers have invested in machinery. Farmers would rather not bargain with Labor leaders, and will resist unionization, as will many farm-workers. National unemployment remains under four per cent, but the figure among urban Negro youth jumps to more than 20 per cent — the dropouts won't study, won't work.

DR. ABERNATHY'S Chapter Two needs a preface, and needs some footnotes. The preface should say that last year, Chapter One, the Poor got no audience with the President, but this year had over an hour in the Cabinet Room with Mr. Nixon. The footnotes should point out, as above, that the Poor could reduce their own number by signing up for jobs or job-training by the tens of thousands.

Of course, Dr. Abernathy's Chapter Two isn't about jobs; it's about "hunger." He demands stamps, delivered by mail, good for soap, detergents and other keep-clean products as well as food. He demands $2.5 billion more this year than the Administration is offering.

Hen-Reeee!

Henry Aldrich, Where Are You?

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ezra Stone, who played squeaky-voiced Henry Aldrich on radio in 1938-53, paid for his dinner in a smart Hollywood restaurant one recent evening with a credit card.

"Well!" the waiter exclaimed, eyeing the embossed lettering. "You've got a famous name." "Yeah," Stone agreed. "A very good actor."

KNOWINGLY, the waiter remarked: "He's dead now, you know."

Chuckling over the incident, Stone says, "I tipped him anyway."

Stone—or at least, his alter ego, Henry Aldrich—once was famous in deed. Audience surveys indicated 30 million to 35 million tuned in Thursday nights to the half-hour "The Aldrich Family."

The opening was a Nashville native still active in commercials in the East, would cry: "Hen-reee! Henry Aldrich!"

"COMING, MOTHER!" Ezra would reply, his supposedly adolescent voice cracking. He was 20 when he started the series and, incidentally, at 51 still can do a fair imitation of the reply.

Simultaneously with the radio series, he did the Henry Aldrich role on Broadway for two years in the play, "What a Life," from which the air program was adapted. Others replaced him on radio during his six years in the Army, then he returned to the role.

"The play and the radio show were about a kid who was misunderstood by his family and his teachers," Stone reminisced.

"HE DECIDES to run away but never does. He learns more about himself and his mother learns more about him. It was definitely, even then, a play about the generation gap. And it was probably the granddaddy of all situation comedies."

And what has Stone done in the years since he was Henry Aldrich? From fame at the microphone he has faded into successful obscurity as a director of about 600 plays, television shows, vaudeville and night club sketches, pageants and opera excerpts.

His television shows number between 300 and 400, including 36 "Munsters," eight "Lost in Space" episodes, several "Flying Nun," "Petticoat Junctions" and "Laredos" and, most recently, 10 "Julies."

DOES HE FEEL any sense of gratitude to the Henry Aldrich characterizations? "I do—it gives me a marketable name. But it's as if it happened to somebody else in another era. It seems so remote when I think of all the piles of work I've done since and hope to do in the future."

Stone today is a relaxed, roly-poly man with crinkly gray hair, bald spot and a rambling, airy house that perches high on a precipitous slope of the Hollywood Hills.

Mr. Nixon Opens New Peace Doors

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has laid before the world in unmistakable terms the American case in the Vietnam war. He has made it plain that the United States is not fighting just a little war in Asia or seeking territory or other advantages for itself, but is trying conscientiously to find a way to deter future aggressions and prevent a bigger war.

MR. NIXON, moreover, emphasizes that he wants the Vietnam conflict ended "permanently," so that the "hungry brothers of our soldiers in Vietnam will not have to fight in the future in another Vietnam someplace else in the world."

The President obviously is offering proposals that are not so rigid as to prohibit counter-suggestions and modifications. But he does not budge from his fundamental concept that there must be a peace which is guaranteed under some form of international supervision.

MR. NIXON has indicated clearly that, while the United States is not trying to impose "a purely military solution on the battlefield," it will not consent to any "one-sided withdrawal from Vietnam" or the acceptance of terms that would amount to a "disguised American defeat." To abandon the people of South Vietnam, he adds, would "risk a massacre that would shock and dismay everyone in the world who values human life."

The President goes even further — he predicts that the long-term hopes for peace in the world would be threatened unless a satisfactory settlement in Vietnam is assured. He makes it plain that the United States is willing to talk about almost everything, but that "no greater mistake could be made than to confuse flexibility with weakness, or of being reasonable with lack of resolution."

BASICALLY, the President has put greatest weight on the need for some "international supervisory body, acceptable to both sides," which would be created "for the purpose of verifying withdrawals." Such an international authority would begin operating under an "agreed timetable" and would participate in arranging supervised cease-fires in Vietnam. The international commission would also supervise the elections to be held in South Vietnam and would insure that the peace terms are carried out.

Mr. Nixon was right in his decision to make a comprehensive statement at this stage in the negotiations so that all nations would understand the earnest desire of the United States to make peace and would realize, too, that there will have to be a large measure of cooperation by the other side.

Billy Graham

For seven years, the people living next door to us have been making life miserable. They have damaged our property and used abusive language toward our children. What should we do? E.J.

It takes two parties to fight. Are you quite sure you haven't been making some contribution to this unfortunate conflict? If you are a real Christian, you should accept this as a challenge.

The Norwegian writer, Johan Bojer, in the "Great Hunger" tells of a man whose little child was killed by a neighbor's dog. Revenge would not long satisfy this man, so he found a better way to relieve the agony—the Christian way. When a famine had plagued the people and the neighbor's field, explaining: "I went out and sowed seed in my enemy's field that God might exist."

You see, your neighbors do not believe that God exists, and the only way you can know this is through you. Accept this antagonistic attitude on the part of these people as a challenge, and through your Christian reaction, show them that God lives—in your heart.

Editors Note: Dykes-Ankew-Simmons Jr. is Fort Worth mechanic and crane operator, escaped a Mexican jail April 6 after nearly 10 years imprisonment for a crime he swears, continually he did not commit. He was convicted without any evidence against him, he says in this story under his signature. Simmons, who has found sanctuary in Los Angeles, tells of the correct conviction, his views of Mexican prisons, and the cloak-and-dagger escape.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As I drove into Mexico Oct. 12, 1959, I could not have imagined that my planned 10-day vacation would turn into the 10-year nightmare which began just three days later.

Knowing little about Mexico, I asked the border guards at Laredo to direct me to the closest large city. They said that would be Monterrey, about 110 miles south in Nueva Leon.

So I drove directly to Monterrey. That's it. That's all I did.

THAT'S IT

But, unknown to me, sometime during the night of Oct. 12 or the early morning hours of Oct. 13 someone shot to death three members of a Monterrey dentist's family on the highway between Laredo and Monterrey.

When you put an innocent man in prison, he never loses thought of the outside world. Especially if he's in a foreign country, he remembers his people, his way of life. He remembers freedom.

Believing that I could be executed at any time, I decided to attempt escape, an act which almost cost me my life.

I had made friends with some guards, and for a price they agreed to furnish me with a firearm and a key to the number four guard tower where the bars were to be sawed.

On Aug. 1, 1962, a hot day with temperatures over 100 degrees, I unlocked the guard tower door and made my way up the stairs. The guard was sleepy-eyed. He didn't even look up until I showed him my firearm, took his rifle and told him to sit quietly.

Then I began checking the bars to see which ones had been cut. None of them had been cut and I was trapped.

Just then, the guard's rifle approached the base of the tower. He noticed the unlocked door and hurried across the sandy yard to summon help.

Some 150 officers answered that call with tear gas and machine guns, all made in the United States of America.

A two-hour gun battle followed. I tried to surrender because there was no way out. They wouldn't let us surrender.

I was trying to keep the guard alive, because if they shot him they would say I killed him and that would be the end of me. He raised a white handkerchief and it was just shredded, torn out of his hand.

They filled the tower with tear gas and there was nothing else to do but go down. I threw out the guns, threw my hands up to the air and walked out of the tower.

I was shot twice in the left leg. They put a bullet through right above the knee and one in the calf of the leg. The wounds weren't grave, but they just left me there and I nearly bled to death.

For that attempt at freedom I spent eight months in a solitary confinement cell where the rats came up through the toilet bowl at night.

I was still ignorant of that incident three days later when two Mexican secret police officers and an interpreter came to my room in Rio Bravo. They asked if I had any gold teeth. I said no, and they left.

Later, I learned that one of the dying victims had described the killer as a Mexican-American or American, 6-foot-2, 210 pounds, with blond, crew-cut hair and two gold teeth.

At the time of my arrest the next day, I was 5-8, weighed about 160 pounds and had long, dark brown hair and no gold teeth.

I was taken to the police station in Allende. There, the police chief argued over the phone with a secret police officer about my description. But he lost, and I was ordered held for the secret police.

That's when it started. I was led outside to a dirt-floored mud hut with a cell door where the stench of urine was so strong I had to press my nose against the bars to get fresh air.

In a few hours, the secret police arrived. The long ride back to Monterrey started, and there the nightmare truly began.

"You say you shot at these people or we shoot it to you," one of the officers said in broken English. When I protested that that wasn't true, they took me from the car and held a cocked 45-caliber automatic behind my ear.

"Save your life," the policeman said. "Say you shot at these people."

While I was thinking "you can't do this, it's the 20th Century," the threats ended. I was placed back in the car and we drove on to Saltillo where I spent the night in another jail before going on to Monterrey the next morning.

The scene in Monterrey was bizarre. The police had already announced they were bringing in the killer and a crowd of some 7,000 was waiting.

Handcuffed, I was led through the mob to a hospital where the lone survivor of the shooting was dying. Just before we entered the hospital, police had disarmed a brother of one of the victims who had planned to do in the killer himself.

DYING GIRL
In the dying girl's room, the prosecutor put his hand behind my head and forced me down so that my nose was about three inches from her nose. She was lying there unconscious, wrapped in a sheet from head to foot with a tube in her nose.

After several moments of trying to awaken the girl, the prosecutor turned and announced to the doctors and police in the room: "She says, 'That's him. God forgive me if I'm wrong.'"

The girl had not uttered a sound. There were no newsmen in the room, but outside the prosecutor proclaimed to everyone present: "This is the one. He's the one who did all that shooting."

In the hospital corridor were two representatives from the American consul. They said they had been in the room, and I asked them why they didn't protest the prosecutor's actions. They ignored my question and handed me a list of local attorneys. I was led away.

The Nueva Leon State Prison in Monterrey, my home for the next 10 years, was without qualification the dirtiest, filthiest, nastiest place I was ever in.

It's got bedbugs, lice, large rats. The sewage system stops up frequently and human excrement is allowed to flow out of the lines and dry.

It took 17 months for the court to hand down a verdict in my case. I repeatedly refused to sign statements, all in Spanish, and during the 17 months I made only one appearance in court.

In Mexico, statements are taken from witnesses in a case and presented to the court. The court then studies the declarations and issues a decision.

An emissary came from the court to my cell on March 1, 1961. In a very casual manner he told me that I would stand before a firing squad within 48 hours.

I didn't know what to do. I didn't know what to do. How could they line me up against the wall and just kill me? I had had nothing, no due process of law.

The 48 hours passed. I was still alive. It wasn't until later I found that no one had been executed in Nueva Leon in the last 40 years.

My Mexican lawyers appealed to the country's Supreme Court. There, the alleged testimony of the dying girl was discounted and the case sent back to Nueva Leon for retrial. I was convicted again, and for all I knew at the time, the death sentence was still hanging over my head.

The girl who was to become Mrs. Simmons came to Mexico, May 22, 1964, my 36th birthday. Without her I could not have survived the remaining five years, including the beating I received July 10, 1964.

I was pistol whipped and blackjacked because a Texas radio station had made a documentary about my situation.

My future wife found me in solitary confinement, bloody and beaten up. She brought officials from the American consulate who were forced on that occasion to file a protest. My prison life improved as a result.

The legal effort continued, but I decided I was doing slowly and I had to get out. The U.S. Department of State had refused me assistance in the most positive manner, and there was no help coming from any source.

DEATH CELL
Mrs. Simmons and I had been married Aug. 2, 1964, on two boxes in my death cell. I got her out of the country before I began planning my escape.

In November, 1968, I began an intensive study of prison security. I watched the guards, who they were, where they went, the condition of their arms.

Several people, who will remain nameless, were gracious enough to offer help. So, when I had my plan down, I asked them for several things, including a nun's habit.

I had noticed the sisters coming and going at will with the other visitors.

Everything was ready April 6, a Sunday. I had the guards paid off and lined up like I wanted. I had the nun's habit.

Putting on the robes and some pancake make-up, I made my way to the center of a group of women leaving the prison. With a handkerchief held to my face, I walked right through the front gate past guards with two machine guns and two rifles.

A car was waiting about 500 yards down the road. I jumped in and the driver sped off across the desert at speeds reaching 110 miles an hour.

We slowed for a flashing light and I ducked to the floor in the back seat. It turned out to be only a fire and we were waved through.

'ADIOS, AMIGO!'
Reaching the border at Roma, Tex., I paid the Mexican guard the toll and said, "Adios, amigo!"

On the other side I saw the 50 stars and 13 stripes of the American flag and I felt mighty, mighty good.

Now, I hope to resolve this miscarriage of justice very shortly and get back to a normal life with Mrs. Simmons.

There have been reports that I am an escapee from a Texas mental institution. The truth is that I was declared legally insane in 1953 and was committed.

After a period of time, I decided to leave and walked away. I returned to my parents' home in Fort Worth, Tex., and lived for several years under my correct name without any problems with the law.

Then in 1955, I was convicted of auto theft in Oklahoma. I asked to enter a mental institution. Three years later I was adjudged sane and released. The theft charge was dismissed.

What I really hope to do now is enter the professional photography field either as a news photographer or commercial photographer.

For The Birds

Traffic reminder at base of this 40-foot birdhouse tower informs motorists to watch for low-flying birds. The tower, erected on the main street of Griggsville, located in western Illinois, houses 500 pairs of Purple Martins. The town, population of 1,240 people has over 200 Martin houses.

ONLY WOMAN, 1,100 MEN Spent Honeymoon In Simmons' Cell

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Dykes A. Simmons Jr., who married a condemned man and spent her honeymoon in a Mexican prison, now has a hope of a normal life.

Mrs. Simmons said that when her husband-to-be wrote in 1963 asking her to come to Mexico, he was on death row at Nueva Leon state prison in Mexico. They met in the early 1960s when he was in the Army in Virginia.

Simmons had been convicted of slaying three members of a Monterrey, Mexico, dentist's family a crime he says he did not commit.

After I met him again," Mrs. Simmons said of giving up her Cleveland, Ohio, secretarial job to go to Simmons, "I realized he needed somebody who'd stand by him. And I loved him."

The reunited couple told their story to newsmen at the Beverly Hills office of Simmons' attorney Dennis Fredrickson.

They were married Aug. 2, 1964, Simmons said, on two soft drink boxes in his prison cell, an 8-by-9 foot former latrine. That's also where they spent their allowed 10-day honeymoon under Mexican rules which allow conjugal visits.

There were 1,100 or 1,200 men all around us," the 36-year-old Mrs. Simmons said. "I was the only woman there. There were guards outside. There was no door for privacy, just the bars."

Simmons' sentence eventually was reduced to 2 1/2 years in prison. While efforts continued to gain his freedom, Mrs. Simmons remained in Monterrey, visiting the cell weekends.

"The Mexican people were wonderful," she said. "A lot of them believed D.A. was innocent too."

But the legal efforts failed, so earlier this year Simmons sent his wife back to Cleveland, prelude to his dramatic escape April 6. Simmons said that dressed in a nun's habit, he walked from the prison among visitors to a waiting car which sped him north and across the border. He came to Los Angeles to avoid Texas judges he feared might too easily side with Mexican officials seeking to extradite him.

Apparently the only thing standing between the Simmons' and a normal life is the possibility that Mexican officials may seek to extradite him.

In spite of that Mrs. Simmons is planning a second wedding and a second honeymoon, far from Mexico, to Niagara Falls.

School Vandalism Costs Exceed $200 Million

By The Associated Press

The cost of vandalism in the nation's school systems is increasing sharply, with total annual losses now estimated up to $200 million.

An Associated Press survey shows that malicious destruction — ranging from arson to window breaking — increased in several major cities between 1967 and 1968, sometimes by 25 or 30 per cent. Estimates for the current school year indicate still more increases.

Window breakage alone in New York City cost $12 million last year — $200 million more than in 1967 and almost one-fourth of the city's estimated $5 million total loss to vandalism in 1968.

'ROY MISCHIEF'
In Philadelphia, the nation's fourth-largest city, losses from "schoolboy mischief" were set at $1 million, up from an estimated $750,000 in 1967. Washington, D.C., estimated $400,000 in losses last year, up from $250,000. Milwaukee, Wis., estimated $335,000, up from $214,000.

The survey shows no indication whether the figures included damages done by rampaging pupils during campus rebellions. But several schools have reported dissident pupils destroying property while trying to disrupt schools.

One such incident, in New York City, resulted in $4,500 in damages when 200 pupils rampaged through a building, breaking chairs and tables.

To stop it all, officials are turning to more expensive police devices. They are manning the hallways with electronic sensors, hiring private detectives, staffing the school at night.

POOR TAXPAYERS
The National Education Association estimates this is costing up to $200 million annually.

Broken down by cities, the bill for 1968 destruction cost taxpayers in Newark N.J., $3.34 for each pupil. In Boston the cost was $2.30 a pupil; in Cleveland, Ohio, $2.96; and in Los Angeles, 68 cents. Some cities reported there was no increase in vandalism, but at the same time reported a steady high cost.

Charlotte, N.C., estimated annual losses at $35,000-$38,000. Portland, Ore., $60,000. New Orleans, La., $100,000, and Miami, Fla., $269,000.

"Windows are the biggest vandalism," said Millard T. Meets, security specialist in Philadelphia where more than 300,000 panes were broken last year at a cost of $684,000.

In San Diego, Calif., and Buffalo, N.Y., officials also reported their biggest vandalism bills were for glass — $46,591 in San Diego and $61,000 in Buffalo.

Broken windows cost Atlanta, Ga., $97,600, up from the estimated $85,000 in 1967. And in Milwaukee, 1968 glass breakage totaled $150,000, compared to $98,000 the year before.

BREAKAGE
More expensive plexiglass windows are being used to cut down breakage. In Detroit, security chief Robert Potts said the number of broken panes decreased 20 per cent as a result of plastic windows. Officials in Atlanta, Columbus, Ohio; Syracuse, N.Y.; and Denver, Colo., also are trying plastic windows.

Lawmaker Likes Mini Skirts And Sideburns

Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has issued an order banning miniskirts and long sideburns for employees in his department. State Rep. Arthur Vance, left, of Pasadena, disagrees with the order. Vance says "I think it's ridiculous to worry about what people wear or how they look, as long as they don't present a health problem. The mini-skirted capitol secretaries are Becky Boyd, right, and Kathy Lowry.

What's In A Name? Ask Tech Students

Editor's Note: A rose may be a rose, but would Lubbock smell as sweet with Texas State University within its city limits as it would with Texas Technological University? Students, faculty and alumni are split on a new name for the school. But the choice isn't up to them.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — What's in a name?

Enough to put students, faculty and alumni of Texas Tech at each others' throats, bring bills into the state legislature and see threats of boycotts.

The name causing all the trouble is a still unselected one to replace "Texas Tech."

It has split alumni groups from students and faculty. But no matter how much they may yell, the decision probably will be made by five men, not one of them a current or former Texas Tech student.

CANT AGREE

All groups at Texas Technological College are agreed on one thing. They want to add university to the school's name and drop the college designation it has sported for 44 years.

What they can't agree on is how it should be added.

Apparently, some students and a majority of the faculty like Texas State University. But the Ex-Students Association, the Tech Dad's Association, the Ex-Lettermen's Association, and most importantly, the school's board of directors have all gone on record as favoring Texas Tech University.

The Texas Legislature will decide, however, a subcommittee of the House State Affairs Committee now has the matter before it.

None of the five members, Reps. Neal Solomon of Mount Vernon, J. A. Garcia Jr. of Raymondville, Jack Ogg of Houston, James D. Cole of Greenville and Jack Blanton of Carrollton are Tech graduates.

DOUBLE SYMBOL
And the unofficial word at Austin is that they favor Texas State University.

preserve the double TT symbol of the Lubbock school. David Casey, president of the ex-students association, said the association, however, has no plans to lobby before the legislature in connection with the name change issue.

But he says that all groups are well aware of the association position.

Dr. Grover E. Murray, Tech president, wants Tech to be called a university but would like to stay out of the line of fire about the name change.

"In my opinion," President Mur

Pirates Edge Colts, 4-3 In 12-Inning Engagement

In the longest American Little League game of the season, and Vick was also credited with perhaps in history, the Pirates' mound victory after coming edged the Colts: 4-3, here Tues- on in relief.

The Pirates outthrew the Colts, consecutive doubles by Stan 9-7 Vick and David Travis each drove out two safeties for the 12th inning swung the issue the winners.

The Colts sent the game into extra innings by scoring twice in the sixth after which no runners crossed the plate again until the 12th. Vick did not allow a hit in his six-inning start on the hill.

Bryan Broughton and J. Marquez each collected two hits for the Colts.

Willie Horton Gives John The Miseries

If Willie Horton ever gets the urge to roam again, Tommy John will be happy to give him directions—to Morocco or Mandalay.

Horton, who walked out on the Detroit Tigers in the middle of a game against Chicago six days ago, reappeared at Comiskey Park Tuesday night—and promptly sent John and the White Sox on the lam.

The troubled slugger, $1,360 poorer as a result of his game absence, cracked a bases-loaded double in his first at-bat, keying a five-run first inning salvo that routed John and sparked the torrid Tigers to a 7-6 victory.

Horton, who was batting .21 when he strolled out of Tiger Stadium last Thursday night, also beat out an infield hit in the third inning and delivered the deciding run in the sixth with a fielder's choice tap.

While the Tigers held off Chicago for their fourth straight victory, Minnesota snapped Baltimore's five-game winning streak with a 3-2, 13-inning triumph over the Orioles.

The New York Yankees extended their unbeaten skid to six by nipping Oakland 2-1. Washington edged Seattle 6-4 and Cleveland beat Kansas City 4-1. California and Boston were rained out.

Horton, who jumped the Tigers for personal reasons, apologized Sunday and agreed to rejoin them. He was fined $340 for leaving the park in the seventh inning of Thursday's game against John and the Sox, and $340 for each of the three road games he missed.

FINALE SET TODAY Lee Evens Series With Monterey

LUBBOCK — The bi-district baseball series between Lubbock Monterey and Midland Lee is going right down to the wire. Lee saw to that Tuesday by blanking the Plainsmen, 1-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Mike Griffin. Griffin, a sophomore, picked up his fourth victory of the year.

Lee's win evened the series at one game each and set the stage for the deciding bout today at 4 p.m. in Midland. Griffin fanned six and issued three walks.

Jack Darnell started on the mound for Monterey and absorbed his first loss of the year. He had won 11. He whiffed five and did not walk a batter.

Griffin scored the only run of the game after reaching base on an error. He moved up on a sacrifice by Rusty Reddell. Mike Crockett followed with a one-baser that advanced Griffin to third. Mike Cross then singled up the middle to produce what proved to be the only run of the game.

Randy Prince (10-2) will pitch for Lee against Monterey's Glen Palmer (12-2) today.

Monterey had won the opening game of the series, 2-1. Winner of the series takes off Ysleta in regional competition.

Van Breda Kolff Accepts Contract With Pistons

DETROIT (AP) — Bill van Breda Kolff signed a two-year contract as coach of the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association today, just two days after he had resigned as coach of the Los Angeles Lakers.

Official announcement of what was hardly a secret came at a morning press conference called by Edwin E. Coil, general manager of the Pistons.

"We don't want it announced before 9:30 a.m., although it's really no secret at this stage," a Pistons' spokesman said Tuesday night.

Van Breda Kolff, who succeeded Paul Seymour at Detroit on Monday a few weeks ago after the Lakers had been beaten by the Boston Celtics in the seventh and deciding game of the NBA championship playoff.

He had been at odds with big Wilt Chamberlain the Lakers' 7-foot-1 star, especially over keeping Chamberlain on the bench during the closing minutes of Boston's 108-106 victory.

Prior to taking over the reins of the Lakers for the 1967-68 season, Van Breda Kolff compiled a record of 307-109 in 16 years of college coaching.

His latest college job was at Princeton where his teams won 103 while losing just 31 and reaching the NCAA tournament twice. His star at Princeton was All-American Bill Bradley.

Los Angeles, which finished second in the West Division in Van Breda Kolff's first year, won the division title this season only to lose the finals by two points in the seventh game to the Boston Celtics.

The 47-year-old coach is considered demanding, outspoken and often gruff. He is a staunch believer in team play and says, "Give me a group of men who can pass the ball well and we'll win."

Seymour, who took over from Donnis Butcher last December, wanted out of his head coaching job to spend more time with his family and business interests in Syracuse, N.Y.

The Tigers won all three moving over the 500 mark for the first time since April 25, but they missed the stocky outfielder's big bat, which accounted for 36 homers, 85 RBI and a .283 average last season.

"The incident about his leaving the club is all over and past," said Manager Mayo Smith, who decided to start Horton just before the game. "I just wanted to take a look at him in batting practice. He didn't hit any good balls but the swing was there."

"That was the first time I swung a bat since coming back," said Horton. "I hit the ball real good in the first inning. On a warmer night it might have gone out."

Horton's double over the head of center fielder Ken Berry scored Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline, who had stroked singles ahead of a wall to Norm Cash. Jim Northrup singled home two more runs and winning pitcher Earl Wilson lashed another RBI single, finishing John.

The Tigers added two runs in the sixth, the second on Horton's force play grounder, for a 7-1 lead and withstood a five-run Chicago burst in the eighth.

Pitcher Jim Kaat's sacrifice fly, after singles by Frank Quilici, Graig Nettles and Ted Uhlenhuth, gave Minnesota two runs in the 13th and a 3-1 lead. Paul Blair's leadoff homer in the bottom of the inning knocked out Kaat, but Ron Peranowski came out of the bullpen to nail the victory, which broke a four-game losing string for the Twins.

Kaat, 3-2, scattered seven hits over the first 12 innings. Orioles starter Dave McNally, who fired a one-hitter against the Twins last Thursday, allowed three—including Harmon Killebrew's ninth homer—before leaving in the seventh for a pinch hitter.

DENNIS MCCLAIN

Organ Player Confounding Seers Again

CHICAGO (AP) — When Detroit's chances to repeat for the American League pennant were being assessed, two statements became boringly repetitious. "Don't look for Dennis McLain to win 30 games again" or "Don't expect Dennis McLain to win 30 games again."

This deduction was generally accepted in baseball circles despite the fact McLain won 31 games in 1968.

In addition to 30 or more pitching triumphs being logged as somewhat a freak achievement, the last time it was done was by Dizzy Dean in 1934, baseball's rulers went to work to assure that there would be no repetition of 1968 as The Year of the Pitcher.

They decreed a smaller strike zone, lowered the mound and in some cases brought in the fences.

Very good. But so far, Dennis McLain, as could be expected from the brash 25-year-old organ player during the offseason, has confounded the experts as well as American League hitters.

McLain, who didn't win his seventh game in 1968 until May 25, is ahead of schedule and goes for No. 7 this season against the Chicago White Sox tonight.

Although he has lost three already, it should be noted that in two of the losses the Tigers were shut out.

Two successive 30-game seasons? It was last done in 1912-13 by Walter Johnson. And since the turn of the century the only others to accomplish the feat were Christy Mathewson and Cy Young.

Certainly the possibility is there," said McLain. "But it's so remote it's tough to say what the chances are."

"So many things have to happen. The little things which can make you or break you. One thing which might stop McLain from a second straight season of 30 victories is an aching shoulder which has required shots of cortisone."

"The cortisone has done the job so far and I hope it does it all year but if it doesn't, I don't know what will happen," said McLain.

Inceded Gene Mauch Is Vowing Revenge

HOUSTON (AP) — Only former Houston catcher Ron Brand mentioned nostalgia after the Astros spoiled a homecoming Montreal night for a handful of Montreal players.

The Astros handed the Expos their fifth consecutive loss with a 5-0 decision behind the four-hit pitching of Larry Dierker. "We beat this team 17 straight games when I was at Philly and never laughed at them," Montreal manager Gene Mauch said after the Expos' first game in Houston. "And they're not going to laugh at us."

"We're going to try to put some different looks on their faces tonight," he said. "The victory was Houston's third in a row against the Expos following a two-game series last week in Montreal."

Donn Clendenon, the former Pirate in the midst of a controversial trade involving ex-Astro Rusty Staub during spring training, was booed soundly when he entered as a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The din in the Astrodome never ceased as Clendenon went down swinging as Dierker's seventh and final strikeout victim.

"I had a hunch what was coming," Mauch said of the boos from the crowd of 12,686. "So I thought he might as well go out there and get it over with and get ready to play tonight."

Mauch said Clendenon, hitting 238 when the Expos came to Houston, will return to first base tonight in place of Ty Cline.

Staub, the only Houston player ever to bat over 300 for a season, received a mixed reception from the spectators. He went one-for-three for the Expos and also drew a base on balls.

Three other former Astros figured in the Montreal effort. Catcher John Bateman had two of the Expo hits, one a double. Pitchers Steve Shea and Carroll Sembera shut out the Astros over the last four innings, Shea working three and Sembera one. Denis Menke singled in the first inning off loser Jim "Mudcat" Grant to drive in one of two unearned runs and smashed a two-run triple in the third. Norm Miller added a double and a triple for Houston and drove in a run.

Denny Lemaster, 15, will start for Houston on the mound tonight against Bill Stoneman, 33, in the second game of a three-game series.

The first total beauty system 100% allergy tested 100% fragrance free . . .
presents 9 beauty products in search of a woman . . . if you have sensitive or allergenic or simply dull-looking skin, she could be you!

1. Rouge that doesn't burn your cheeks . . .
because there's nothing in it to hurt . . .
Wild Rose Gel rouge is truly transparent, just like a real blush . . . and the color is for everyone to wear, 5.00

2. The makeup that goes on by itself . . .
at least it feels that way! Balanced
Makeup Base contains its own moisturizer, practically weightless, evens out flaws for a perfectly natural looking complexion, 7.50

3. The rinse that reveals your skin . . . the healthy, translucent, smoother skin that's been hidden under the baffle of dead surface cells . . . Exfoliating Lotion,
7.50

4. The lipstick that doesn't bite your lips
. . . instead, new Semi-Lipstick just smooths on fashion's clear, fruit-stained colours that feels as delicious as they look, 4.00

5. The cleansing cream you'll never know was there . . . completely dissolves makeup without a lot of rubbing and cooking . . . Extremely Gentle Cleansing
Cream, 5.00

6. The eyeliner that doesn't make you cry
. . . Solidified Liquid Eyeliner flows on with the ease of a liquid, the control of a cake to define eyes with subtle, lustrous line, 5.00

7. The deodorant-antiperspirant strong enough to work, gentle enough to use
. . . Two-Step Deodorant-Antiperspirant has two formulas . . . one contains deodorant, the other antiperspirant so you can use the one you need most often,
5.00

8. The soap that doesn't dry your skin . . .
Clinique Facial Soap softens and smooths as if it were a cream, yet cleans like soap, 7.50

9. The moisturizer that does a disappearing act . . . The Dramatically Different Moisturizing Lotion that sinks right into your skin, 7.50

directors, which governs the affairs of the three banks — the Federal Land Bank, Intermediate Credit Bank, and Bank for Cooperatives. The three financial institutions provided more than $1.3 billion in loans to Texas farmers and ranchers in 1968 through their Federal Land Bank Associations, Production Credit Associations and participating agricultural cooperatives. Thompson has served as a director since 1943 and has been board chairman 14 years. He represents the Federal Land Bank on the board and was re-elected by the FLBAs for a three-year term in 1966. He operates extensive farm and Hereford cattle interests in the Colorado City area, is president and board chairman of the City National Bank and a member of the law firm of Thompson & Rees. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and the University of Texas Law School, is a member of the Farm Bureau, and is on the board of directors of the Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado City.

Dear Abby

Raises Kids From Office

DEAR ABBY: We have a year-old daughter refused to lend her mother her "good white kid gloves" for a special evening out. I was about that age when I refused to let my mother wear my "good" jacket. I will never forget the hurt look on her face when I told her no. She didn't say a word. She just turned around and left without it. When I saw her through the window wearing her shabby old coat, I could have bitten my tongue off.

She never mentioned it, nor did she ever "punish" me, but it has been 10 years, and my own conscience has punished me plenty. STILL SORRY

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pioneer Stock On 'Big Board'

NEW YORK — Pioneer Natural Gas Company was listed today on the New York Stock Exchange. The company was assigned the ticker symbol "PNA."

C. I. Wall, chairman of the board of Pioneer, was welcomed to the trading floor by Robert W. Haack, president of the Exchange. Following the long established tradition, C. I. Wall bought the first 100 shares of Pioneer's stock to be traded on the Big Board.

Also present at the listing ceremony were B. P. Smith, president and board member of Pioneer, and board members A. F. Cox, K. B. Watson, W. E. Walker, M. E. Purnell, Laurence R. Jones Jr. and J. Harvey Herd. W. N. Lampe, secretary and general attorney of Pioneer, was also in attendance.

Pioneer Natural Gas Company listed 7,207,028 shares of common stock. The company's shares were previously traded over-the-counter. At the end of 1968, there were 11,898 stockholders located in all 50 states and several foreign countries.

Giraffes Due At Abilene Zoo

ABILENE — The only giraffes in West Texas will be formally introduced to the public Saturday at the Abilene Zoo.

The eight-month-old male from the Memphis Zoo and the six-month-old female from Dallas Zoo went on display at Abilene last week after being transported here by special padded truck. The male is about 10 feet tall and the female nine feet, and they can expect to reach 16 to 18 feet at maturity. Zoo Director Dan Watson said.

The giraffe exhibit was built from city bond funds last year. Expanding to revitalize the original high school diploma is John Lee design of the three-year-old Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Jr. will cut a ribbon.

over the "High-neck Bridge" which runs about 12 1/2 feet above the giraffe exhibit, so that visitors can see the giraffes almost face to face.

Two Graduate At Schreiner Institute

Two students from Big Spring are among the 84 candidates for graduation May 26 from either the college or the high school department at Schreiner Institute in Kerrville this month. A candidate for college graduation is Clifton Francis Talbot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Talbot, 409 W. 10th St., Big Spring.

Extending to revitalize the original high school diploma is John Lee design of the three-year-old Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Jr. will cut a ribbon.

Midway School Given To Lions

COAHOMA — The Midway school building is to become a community center. Trustees of the Coahoma Independent School District voted Monday evening to turn the former school plant over to the Lions Club of Sand Springs.

The club will be responsible for control, scheduling and maintenance of the buildings, and Marshall Day, president of the Lions Club, will be official in charge. The transfer was attended to Tuesday by the trustees and the people in that area of the Coahoma school district. The board reserved the right to design of the building if and when it is ever needed for school purposes.
