AGAINST TWO MEN Shotgunning Raps Filed In Denton

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Police filed charges Tuesday against two men in the shotgunning of seven persons in Denton Monday night.

Charged with assault with intent to murder were Grady L. Russell, 27, of Stephenville, Tex., and Thomas J. Sparks, 27, of Carrollton, Tex.

The men were accused of firing into a racially-mixed crowd that was standing on a street near Texas Woman's University. Seven persons were wounded, some seriously. Both charged men are white. Russell was a North Texas State University student and Sparks a non-student.

The crowd had gathered after two persons were shot by a policeman. The policeman had attempted to strike a man with his pistol when it fired. It struck a Negro TWU student, Glenda Hopkins, 18, and a white NTSU student, Ralph Stow. Both were recovering from gunshot wounds today.

After the two shooting incidents scattered fire-bombers were reported in Denton with seven persons arrested by police.

City Clean-Up Effort Urged

A stepped-up program of city clean-up was called for by Commissioner Jimmy Morehead Tuesday night during the meeting of the Big Spring City Commission.

He reminded city officials that three major events are scheduled here in June — a Lion's district and state convention June 13; the State Hospital anniversary program June 22; and the annual rodeo, June 25.

"We should have our city as clean and as beautiful as possible for the visitors who will be here during the month," he said. "We should increase our efforts to eliminate weeds, junked cars, and dilapidated buildings."

"I realize there is not much time to get it done, but we should do the best job we can, at least along the highways." Morehead recalled that a year ago, there was community support for a clean up along US 87, in anticipation of the increased traffic going to HemisFair.

"We didn't accomplish much, in my opinion," he said.

City Manager Larry Crow, in answer to a question by Mayor Arnold Marshall, said city crews would make an effort to press the clean up.

Earlier, Public Works Director Ernest Lillard said frequent rains had hampered clean up activities, in answer to a question from Commissioner Garner McAdams.

Shower—Ho Hum

A sudden shower Tuesday afternoon added still more dampness to an already soggy Big Spring day, but the rains appeared to have limited their effect in a narrow area in the vicinity of town.

There were heavier rains on the south and southwest parts of town than in the north. The U.S. Experiment Station gauged only 1.8 inch, but there were reports of up to nearly half an inch elsewhere.

The 1.8 inch additional rain, as measured for the month at the U.S. Experiment Station, brings the total to 7.13 inches for the wettest May in 11 years. Other heavily saturated Mays in the past were in 1928 with 10.10, in 1950 with 7.99; 1954 with 7.65, and 1958 with 7.96.

Texas Gems Caper

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A 17-year-old East Side Cleveland youth is being held without bond in the Cuyahoga County Jail here in connection with jewelry thefts in Dallas, Tex., and Nashville, Tenn., the FBI reported today.

The youth was arrested by federal agents last Thursday on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with the theft of jewelry valued at $49,000 from Evert's Jewelers in Dallas May 12.

The FBI said the youth also is charged in a federal warrant with interstate transportation of unmounted diamonds valued at more than $5,000 stolen from Morris Jewelers in Nashville on March 7.

Postal-Bribery

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former top level Post Office Department official was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of bribery, corruption and conflict of interest.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said Joseph P. Doherty was accused in a nine-count indictment returned by a special grand jury in Baltimore.

Doherty served as executive assistant to the assistant postmaster general in charge of the bureau of facilities under the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

It's A Happy Sam

Mayor Sam Yorty is all smiles as he talks to campaign workers early today, telling them that it looks good for his election to a third term in the City Hall. Yorty said he appeared certain of victory in his runoff election contest against Councilman Tom Bradley.

Yorty Gains Third Term

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Sam Yorty, an underdog in the polls, rode a record voter turnout to a third term election victory today over Thomas Bradley, Negro councilman who had thumped him in the primary.

Yorty apparently won strong support in the closing days of what was called the bitterest local campaign of modern times.

How do the pollsters explain it? One, Don Muchmore, whose poll for the Los Angeles Times Monday placed Bradley ahead 53 per cent to 36, said: "I feel like George Gallup did in 1948." That was the year Harry Truman upset Thomas Dewey, Gallup's pick.

Muchmore said in a statement there might have been an error in the poll, adding: "We were dealing with the race issue in this campaign and it is traditionally a difficult area to survey."

"It would appear in this instance the sample of respondents was inadvertently not a representative cross section of the population," said Muchmore, who had conducted 673 interviews. "Even though this is our first major error, a complete analysis will be made to determine the exact cause of the discrepancy."

Supporters of Bradley said they had lodged a complaint with the state attorney general's office over a "candidate card" widely distributed in areas where the city's 15 to 20 per cent Negro population lives.

They claimed the card said Bradley votes should be made on hole No. 3 of the punchcard-computer ballot. If voters did so, they would have voted for Yorty.

Bradley, 51, a former police lieutenant who hoped to become the third Negro mayor of a major U.S. city, refused to concede.

He won 42 per cent of the vote to Yorty's 26 per cent in the April primary, but was forced into a runoff when he failed to gain a majority. Pollsters right up to election day had him maintaining a margin.

Semi-official returns from all but 318 of 2,500 precincts Tuesday's runoff gave Yorty 447,000, or 53 per cent, to Bradley's 392,379, or 47 per cent.

For the 59-year-old Yorty, running on his eight-year performance as mayor, the heavy vote turnout appeared the key to victory.

Bradley's 100,000-vote edge in the primary came as 66 per cent of the 1,127,000 registered voters went to the polls. This time the figure was about 80 per cent, much of it from predominately white areas.

Nixon Wants More Foreign Aid This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon asked Congress today for $2.6 billion in foreign aid—some $900 million more than was voted last year—saying the sum is "necessary to meet essential requirements now."

"Foreign aid must be viewed as an integral part of our overall effort to achieve a world order of peace and justice," Nixon said in sending up his first foreign aid program.

The $2.6 billion includes $2.2 billion for U.S. economic assistance to developing countries around the world, $375 million for arms aid abroad and $75 million to help start a public corporation to promote private investment in developing lands.

The Nixon program for the new fiscal year, starting July 1, is about $63 million below what former President Lyndon B. Johnson had proposed.

"This request for foreign economic and military assistance is the lowest proposed since the program began" after World War II, Nixon said, "but it is about $900 million more than was appropriated last year" when Congress lopped nearly $1.2 billion off Johnson's program.

"I consider it necessary to meet essential requirements now, and to maintain a base for future action," Nixon said.

Nixon's new foreign aid chief Dr. John A. Hannah, said the $2.6 billion request was "just right" but acknowledged that Congress has historically tended to chop into the aid packages presented by successive Democratic and Republican administrations.

The initial Nixon program was portrayed as an interim affair—installing some modest changes in the aid effort pending a stem-to-stern review by a private citizen task force to be appointed by the President.

The task force is to report back in time for Nixon's aid presentation to Congress a year hence. Administration officials indicated a more severe overhaul might be undertaken then.

In what he termed his "fresh approach" for the time being, Nixon proposed:

—Creation of an "overseas private investment corporation."

"This public corporation would carry on aid to U.S. private investment abroad now being conducted within the ad-administering Agency for International Development. But it would apply more business-like management under a board of directors drawn from both business and government," Nixon said.

Court Acted Illegally When It Jailed Pickets

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' Supreme Court ruled today a Midland district court acted illegally when it ordered nine union men jailed for picketing Texaco, Inc., installations in Port Arthur in January.

The court ordered the men released from a contempt of court order and assessed all costs of the case against Texaco.

Texaco went to the 142nd District Court in Midland Jan. 3 and obtained an order enforcing what Texaco said was a no-strike agreement effective until Jan. 10, 1969, with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union.

Texaco said the union had notified it there would be a strike

U. S. Paratroopers Give Up Mountain

SAIGON (AP)—American paratroopers moved out from the crest of Dong Ap Bia, the 3,000-foot mountain they seized a week ago, and pushed their search operations today along the nearby A Shau Valley.

"They have completed their search of the mountain and now are continuing their reconnaissance in 'force mission,'" said an officer of the 101st Airborne Division, which seized the mountain.

He added that the troops began moving off the top of Dong Ap Bia shortly after daylight.

Hours later, however, a spokesman for the U.S. Command in Saigon said some American forces, described only as "a considerable group," still were on top of the mountain.

There was no immediate explanation of the discrepancy in the two accounts. The fighting for Dong Ap Bia cost 50 Americans killed and 300 wounded and 600 North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed.

The action has become a matter of political controversy in the United States. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and others did not think the battle and the American casualties were justified.

There are at times conflicts in accounts from the field and from headquarters in Saigon during actions, sometimes because of communications difficulties or other reasons.

GOING TO GET

Spokesmen emphasized that the over-all operation is continuing in and around the A Shau Valley, a longtime North Vietnamese stronghold and a staging area for attacks on Hue and the big U.S. military base at Da Nang.

On the basis of the reports that the paratroopers were moving off the hill after 10 days of bloody fighting, a U.S. command spokesman in Saigon said: "There's no tactical reason to stay there."

"We feel we've gotten everything out of this mountain that we're going to get," another officer said.

Two battalions—about 800 Americans—were reported sweeping southward and westward. One battalion was maneuvering down a draw leading off Dong Ap Bia within 1,000 yards of the Laotian border.

"We were not going after the hill, but after the enemy's forces," a spokesman for the U.S. Command said. "We've now defeated his forces. There wouldn't be any reason to stay on after defeating him on the hill."

KEY POINT

"We're going to look for him wherever his forces are and defeat him in the most expeditious manner. We seek him out wherever he is. It all hinges on seeking out the enemy wherever he is—that's the key point."

U.S. officers said there was no indication that the North Vietnamese were returning to Dong Ap Bia in force "or plan to do so." But some enemy forces were still in the area. Tuesday night, a dozen mortar rounds hit the paratroopers before they began withdrawing and wounded three of them slightly.

There have been other costly hill fights in the war, and when they were over the Americans usually abandoned the hills.

Probably the most memorable was in November, 1967, for Hill 875 near Dak To, in the central highlands. In that 17-day battle, 287 paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade were killed and 1,000 were wounded. The Americans claimed 1,641 North Vietnamese were killed.

Spokesmen emphasized that the operation which produced the battle for Dong Ap Bia—Operation Apache Snow—is continuing in and around the A Shau Valley, the North Vietnamese stronghold which the mountain overlooks.

The valley is a staging area for attacks on Hue, 30 miles to the northeast, and Da Nang, 55 miles to the southwest.

The objective of Apache Snow is to hinder or destroy North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving from Laos into the A Shau Valley.

EXPLOSION

North Vietnamese troops attacked a South Vietnamese regimental command post in the valley about 10 miles north-northwest of Dong Ap Bia. The government said 22 North Vietnamese were killed while South Vietnamese casualties were reported as light.

Another artillery attack was reported from inside the demilitarized zone. U.S. headquarters said North Vietnamese gunners firing from 300 yards inside the southern half of the zone Tuesday slammed 10 rounds of 100-pound rockets into the U.S. logistics base at Cua Viet, five miles south of the eastern flank of the zone. The attack caused no casualties or damage, headquarters said.

A spokesman said a U.S. destroyer just off the coast fired on the enemy firing position, "resulting in one secondary explosion. Enemy losses are unknown."

It was the 22nd rocket and mortar assault reported from inside the DMZ since May 12, when the enemy command stepped up its attacks throughout the country.

House Committee Is Moving To Restrict Free-Wheelers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee is moving to restrict free-wheelers among foundations, and wealthy individuals who wipe out income tax liability with big donations to charity.

These were highlights in the committee's first progress report on its tax reform deliberations.

The report emphasized decisions made so far are subject to review and that much more ground still is to be covered. The committee goes back to work Tuesday.

The Report, which got a mixed but generally favorable reception, also outlined plans to clamp down on a number of presently legal tax shelters.

Targets of proposals already drafted are the use of special farm tax provisions to build up capital gains, lowering a corporation's taxes by reorganizing it into separate but related companies, tax-free operation of businesses by churches and other exempt groups, and bond-stock swaps to each conglomerate mergers.

On the other side of the ledger, the committee proposed a better break for employers or employees who are hit with heavy moving expenses because of job shifts.

Foundations, under criticism in recent months because of controversial grants by some of them, would be hit from several angles if the committee's preliminary proposals become law.

They would, for the first time, be subject to a 5 per cent tax on their income from investments, although gifts they receive would remain exempt.

Foundations would be barred from marking study and travel grants directly to individuals, but they could do so through colleges that selected the grantees.

Foundations also would be prohibited from directly financing voter registration drives.

They would not be allowed to own more than 20 per cent of the stock of any one corporation.

They would be rigidly barred from self-dealing with donors. This provision would stop such transactions as a donor selling property to or buying from his foundation, or borrowing money from his foundation.

And foundations would have to make full public reports.

These requirements would be enforced by stiff penalties on the foundations and in some cases on their management, ranging up to 100 per cent taxes on misused funds.

The Treasury, which had contributed some but not all the ideas the committee tentatively embraced, hailed the report as progress toward a "more equitable and just" tax system and promised to work up more comprehensive proposals.

SAYS JURIES, NOT PSYCHIATRISTS, SHOULD DECIDE

Criminally Insane Punishment

burden to the jury.

After listening to psychiatrists testify, the committee said the jury would be asked: "Based on what you have heard concerning the probable relationship of the accused's disease or defect to his alleged offense, do you wish to hold him responsible for his behavior?"

If the answer is yes, the trial would proceed. If no, the accused would be acquitted "and, hopefully, committed civilly to a hospital for treatment," the committee said.

"There is absolutely no medical meaning to the word 'insane,'" the committee said. "The word has a certain status in the law, the law being fond of linguistic relics generally."

MED INFO

"Sanity is always determined in a court of law, which is fortunate, since it has very little to do with a person's mental condition. Nevertheless, psychiatrists are called upon to make judgments about a person's sanity. Psychiatrists' training is biased against value judgments, as it must be," the committee said.

The psychiatrist is asked to apply his medical knowledge to questions posed by the M'Naghten rule, the committee said. "What is really being asked, disguised by philosophic jargon and legalistic claptrap, is should society hold this man responsible for the misdeeds he is alleged to have committed," the committee said, adding that the jury should answer that philosophical question after hearing expert testimony on the defendant's mental condition.

Among other recommendations made by the committee were ones calling for:

—Establishment of facilities for the care of the emotionally disturbed child and the mentally retarded child who exhibits antisocial behavior. No such facility exists at present.

RISK PATIENTS

—Renovation of some facility near Houston to serve as a treatment center for the Department of Corrections.

—Abolition of segregation of criminally insane persons from other insane persons. Stringent security precautions should be taken to protect the public from high risk patients, whatever the cause of their commitment. High risk patients should be divided into two groups: treatable and nontreatable.

—The establishment of a forensic psychiatry center, where accused persons could be diagnosed and treated, where medical and legal students could be trained, and where judges, lawyers, psychiatrists, physicians and other interested in mental illness problems could meet and exchange ideas.

VIOLENCE ALERT Rocky Talks In Bogota

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Colombia's government enforced tight security measures throughout Bogota today, seeking to prevent a repetition of student protests that preceded the arrival of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Tuesday.

A ceremony today at which Rockefeller was to be awarded an honorary degree was called off after students threatened to sabotage it. A security force of 20,000 men was mobilized in the major cities.

Gen. Luis Leyva, chief of the national security police, said most of the violence Tuesday was quelled before the governor arrived in Bogota to start the second of four surveys he is making of Latin America for President Nixon.

Rockefeller made a brief speech in Spanish, saying he had come "not to give advice but to listen." Then he called on President Carlos Lleras Restrepo at the presidential residence.

About 100 persons were reported injured in clashes across the country. Most of the violence occurred in Bogota, Barranquilla and Monteria, 350 miles northwest of the capital.

Police said five of their number were injured by rocks when they moved in to disperse groups of extremist students who tried to block Bogota streets. The demonstrators burned a U.S. flag, shouted anti-U.S. slogans and waved placards saying "Rockefeller Go Home." At that time, the New York governor had not yet left Washington.

Cars were stoned in Barranquilla and Monteria, and a bus was set afire in Barranquilla.

National University students proclaimed a 24-hour strike to protest the visit, and 1,000

Gravitational Collapse Theory

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — There may be black holes in space resulting from the gravitational collapse of entire galaxies or clusters of stars, two physicists at the California Institute of Technology report.

James R. Ipser and Kip S. Thorne said Tuesday they believe this is the end point in the evolution of massive star clusters.

The gravitational collapse theory envisions galaxies falling in on themselves with their stars drawn closely together by gravitational pull so strong that light and radio waves can't escape.

"The cluster eventually becomes a black hole in space, felled by its own gravity," Ipser said.

The theory previously has been advanced to explain the collapse of single stars, Thorne said, but this is the first time it has been worked out for whole galaxies.

President's Plan Assured Special Delivery To Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's urgent postal reform legislation is assured special delivery to Capitol Hill but its trip through Congress may be slower than a footsole mailman.

Potential opposition from bulk mailers and postal unions—the politicians' version of snow and rain and heat and gloom of night—may stay Nixon's bill from swift completion of its appointed rounds.

The mailers and the unions, who fear the loss of gains they fought for in Congress, pose the greatest opposition to the reform plan.

HOPEFUL NOTE

"The unions are going to have to be convinced that the situation under the new arrangement will be as good or better than what they now have," Rep. Morris K. Udall said.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, however, struck a hopeful note on the union opposition.

"While they haven't formally endorsed it (the reform plan), we did have very fruitful discussions," Blount said.

House Speaker John W. McCormack called the proposal to convert the Post Office Department into a government-owned, self-sustaining corporation "a subject for long-range consideration."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan conceded the administration faces "a selling job on postal employees and the Congress."

Rep. Udall, D-Ariz., a high ranking member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee and a supporter of the President's plan, commented: "I have to say in all frankness the outlook is dim this year."

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., second-ranking Democrat on the Senate Post Office Committee, has announced his opposition to the postal corporation plan.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen said to expect opposition from rank-and-file GOP officials who resent losing postal patronage.

TIGHT CONTROL

Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski of the House Post Office Committee has his own reform plan that would retain tight Congressional control over the postal service.

President Nixon wants these changes for the Post Office with its more than 700,000 employees, $7-billion budget a year and annual mail load of 80 billion pieces:

- Control by a nine-man, appointed board of directors to replace the present Cabinet rank postmaster general.
- Settlement of union wage and benefit requests by the board rather than by Congress.

Nonpolitical appointment of all officers and employees.

- Total responsibility for all financing, including new authority to borrow for capital improvements up to $10 billion.
- Rate setting and mail classification by a commission of experts subject to review by the board and veto by Congress.

The President's proposal parallels the recommendations of Frederick R. Kappel, who headed former President Lyndon B. Johnson's Commission on Postal Reform.

Nine Patrolmen Acquitted Of Federal Criminal Counts

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP) — Nine state highway troopers were acquitted Tuesday of federal criminal charges in the fatal shooting of three young Negroes and the wounding of 27 in the so-called "Orangeburg massacre."

The civil rights violation charge was brought by the U.S. Department of Justice after a federal grand jury in Columbia, S.C., refused to indict the troopers, who claimed self-defense. The trial lasted eight days.

Charles Quantance, a Justice Department attorney, told the jury that the patrolmen opened fire because they thought the Negroes were about to attack them. He said the Negroes should be taught a lesson by the fastest and most effective means.

Defense counsel, state Attorney Gen. J.C. Coleman, said the troopers had shown restraint in dealing with the student violence until they came under sniper attack and were confronted by a mob hurling missiles.

Still pending are $100,000 civil suits filed by parents of the slain youths against Silas N. Pearson, the chief state highway commissioner. The commission has jurisdiction over the troopers.

Yet to be tried also is an acquittal filed on behalf of all Negroes asking the state to supervise police operations to insure that members of their race will be treated in a nondiscriminatory manner.

City To Request Bids On Gasoline, Uniform Rental

Big Spring City Commissioners Tuesday authorized bids on uniform rentals and gasoline.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, said three firms are interested in renting to the city the uniforms used by about 60 employees in 14 departments at a cost of about $12,000 annually, invited the commissioners to take the bus tour of the city with the planning and zoning board Thursday, which starts at 9:30 a.m. Marvin Springer, city planner, will conduct the tour in preparation for final approval of the new zoning ordinance.

Appointment of Billy Johnson, Billy T. Smith, and E. S. Larry Smith, administrative figures on a recent report, is to meet July 8, 9, 10 at the courthouse.

Commissioner George Zachariah reported on making a trip to Washington, as a member of the delegation in support of keeping U.S. 87 as an interstate route through Big Spring. He said the delegates were told the interstate highway program will have no new funds before 1975, during which there will be no changes in the route.

Tom Eastland, chamber of commerce manager, reported on the recent go-kart races held in city park and presented a film show of the race. He said 52 karts were entered and about 5,000 persons attended the two-day event. He said all the head asked about lighting for

T-38 Talons To Get Safer Windshields Installed

Final tests on a thicker, stronger windshield for T-38 Talons were completed Tuesday in the T-75 hangar at Webb AFB.

The new windshield, already used on commercial and fighter aircraft, will protect pilots from "bird strikes." It is cushioned in rubber and is .60 of an inch thick, almost 40 of an inch thicker than the current windshield used on T-38s.

Northrop Corporation, builders of the T-38, had three representatives spend 10 days at Webb observing the modification and taking pressure checks.

They said a four pound bird striking the old windshield at 150 knots, completely shattered it. The same bird, hitting the new windshield at 320 knots, did no damage.

Installation of 1,016 Air Force T-38 windshields is expected to begin in September and last approximately two years. The modification is expected to require 69 man-hours per aircraft. Four new windshields are scheduled to be installed per month at all undergraduate pilot training wings and two per month at Sheppard AFB, and

Farm Bureau Meet Slated

Two issues of importance to farmers and ranchers will be discussed at a District 6 meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau June 3 in Big Spring, according to Bill R. Reid, Lamesa, TFB board member for the district.

The meeting, which will be attended by county Farm Bureau president and policy execution and policy development committee members, will get under way at 1 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

Reid said the purpose of the meeting is to explain in detail the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1969, which incorporates most of the Farm Bureau's farm program proposals, and Senate Bill 8, which provides for extension of the Labor Management Relations Act to agriculture.

Bill Wedemeyer, Waco, TFB research and education director, will outline the provisions of both the farm program proposal and the proposed farm labor legislation. Farm Bureau opposes the extension of the labor act to agriculture.

WELFARE RECIPIENT GETS GOLF MONEY

NEW YORK (AP) — A welfare recipient has received money for golf permits and greens fees from the city because physicians say he needs "special therapeutic... experience."

His bid to buy a race horse with city funds was turned down.

The city Social Service Department admitted the unusual grant Tuesday, but denied a charge by the Bronx district attorney that it had given the client grants to make up gambling losses at the race track.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Burton D. Roberts said David Davis, 31, also had applied for special grants to buy a trotting horse, buy appliances and send his wife to a psychiatrist three times a week.

Davis was in court Tuesday for a hearing on four counts of grand larceny and three of petit larceny. Roberts said the seven charges accused Davis of cashing welfare checks, then claiming he had lost them and receiving and cashing replacements.

Five Ordinances Get City Approval

Five ordinances were given approval by city commissioners Tuesday evening, one of them having been tabled at a previous meeting.

Second reading was approved on a 3-2 vote for Thurman Randle's request for on-premises consumption at Gomez Cafe 405 NW 4th Commissioner George Zachariah made the motion for approval, which was seconded by Garner McAdams and both voted for the motion.

Commissioners Jimmy Morehead and Walter Stroup voted against approval, and the reading was approved when Mayor Arnold Marshall voted in favor of the motion.

Third and final reading was approved for on-premises consumption at the Silent Woman Inn requested by Capt. Richard Ross-miller. All commissioners voted in favor of the motion.

Menswear Fashion Has Snob Appeal

PARIS — Esterel did a great job with menswear and injected a group of casual immaculately tailored jersey middies, tunics and pants. They do have snob appeal and are perfect for chic resort or country weekend wear. He shows them in beige or white jersey, with turtle necklines and insets.

Esterel develops the group into coordinates for the family, and had parents and their youngsters, teenage boys and girls parading in attractive variations. In certain cases, the girl mannequins' tunics and middies were worn with skirts. Hemlines vary from two to four inches above the knees but are no longer authentic miniskirts.

Men's Slacks Have Switched To Color

Pattern and color cut lean is the word on men's slacks shown in the spring market. Those bright light colors that have just been talk for the past few seasons are now here.

Even the staple dark colors have gone shades lighter. Most slacks makers are showing everything from ice cream colors to strong high fashion colors, hot rusts and golds, rich deep purples and vivid blues. Cavalry twills and the return of the sateen finish is also noteworthy.

A multitude of patterns makes for easy color coordinating.

A LOVELIER YOU
Exercise To Remove Unattractive Spots

By MARY SUE MILLER

Spot weight seems to find especially congenial housing under the waist-line, high on the side hips. All uninvited, weight congregates in balloon-shaped pads and puts up a fight against dispossession.

If you're a victim of these pests, you can give them the heave-ho. But it takes will power and this evicting routine:

1. Lie back down on floor with arms extended to sides at shoulder level and legs straight up in air. Keeping legs together, slowly swing them six inches to right and then to left. Repeat ten times without stopping. Relax and repeat again. Throughout, concentrate on rolling weight evenly and smoothly across high-hip pads. Also, keep shoulders and arms flat on floor. Action is in hips and waist.
2. On back, stretch tall and extend arms as before. Now briskly swing left leg across right leg and try to touch toe to right hand. Return to starting position, repeat ten times, then perform with right leg — swinging it to left and rolling weight to left. Again work for ten minutes, send for my leaflet.

REDUCING ROUTINES

You can diet until you become feather-light and still be hip heavy. Reduction in the hipline is assured only by exercise. For a set of quick and effective ones, send for my leaflet.

REDUCING ROUTINES. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin.

A GREAT AMERICAN...

Dwight David Eisenhower was a man of great accomplishment. For the first time, here is the complete biography of the general, politician and statesman who became a legend in his own time. Relman Morin, the AP's two-time Pulitzer Prize winner, provides a detailed and colorful 140,000-word account of the Kansas farm boy who rose to become a hero of World War II and the 34th President of the United States in "Eisenhower: A Gauge of Greatness." Morin, who knew Ike for a quarter of a century, measures the man by the gauge of greatness Ike set up himself.

The result is this handsome volume illustrated by more than 85 pictures in color and black and white. It is available to you through this newspaper at the special price of only $3.

... A GREAT BOOK!

This special edition costs only $3 and contains:

- 140,000-word text written by one of AP's most noted reporters, who had known Ike for more than 25 years and interviewed him personally for this volume.

- It is hard-bound in a handsome green cloth cover and gold lettering, an outstanding addition to your home library.

$85,000 'Kiss' Rule Overturned

MIAMI (AP) — A judge has overturned an $85,000 verdict awarded a former Iowa state senator who testified that he could no longer kiss his wife because of an accident.

A jury had ordered the owners of an apartment building to pay Homard Reppert $10,000 and his wife $75,000 as compensation for facial injuries that Mrs. Reppert suffered in a fall at the building Jan. 30, 1968.

Circuit Court Judge Grady Crawford ruled Tuesday that the amount was excessive and ordered a new trial of the Des Moines couple's lawsuit.

Two Texans Die In Vietnam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-seven servicemen killed in action in the Vietnam war were named Tuesday by the Defense Department.

They included two Texans: Marine Corps Pvt. George C. Melton, son of Cecil P. Melton, General Delivery, Three Rivers; and Air Force Capt. Charles J. Manske, husband of Marie E. Manske, 4212B Speedway, Austin.

Missing as a result of hostile action: Army Spec. 4 Randall S. Ellis.

Plot To Kill Prime Minister

OTTAWA (AP) — Police Director Jean-Paul Gilbert of Montreal says there was a plot to assassinate Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau during a St. Jean Baptists Day parade in Montreal last June.

"We knew a group was definitely after the prime minister after the parade," Gilbert said. He added that police put a heavy guard around Trudeau after learning of the plot from informers.

AMOUNT OF AID TO SUPPOSEDLY NEUTRAL LAOS CLASSIFIED Viet War Cost Nearing $100 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vietnam is fast becoming a hundred-billion-dollar war.

Government figures show the 1970 defense budget will add $25.4 billion to officially admitted expenses dating back to 1965, raising the price of the conflict to $108.2 billion.

Hidden or indirect costs probably add hundreds of millions to the real expense of the war, although the scope of these items is sometimes difficult to assess because of official secrecy.

FOR EXAMPLE: For example, the American government is doling out millions in economic assistance to reinforce such Vietnam border countries as Thailand and Laos which could sway the balance of power in the area.

The Pentagon budget lumps admitted Vietnam war costs under a category entitled "Estimated Special Support for Southeast Asia Operations."

This covers the acknowledged U.S. expenses of maintaining dozens of ships, hundreds of planes and helicopters and 634,000 military personnel in and off Vietnam and outlying areas; certain military assistance in the way of weapons and equipment to not only Vietnam but also Thailand and Laos; and outright grants of foodstuffs and other materials to Vietnam which have totaled over $1 billion since 1965.

NOT TRUE STORY: The Southeast Asia category does not, however, fully reflect some other war-related expenses such as construction of the Thai-owned airfield near Sattahip, Thailand, which the United States built in 1965 to handle KC-135 tankers and B-52 bombers flying missions into Laos and South Vietnam. This base cost well over $150 million.

The general financial bookkeeping for the war back to fiscal 1965, which began in mid-1964, reads this way: In 1965—$103 million; 1966, $6,094 billion; 1967, $20,557 billion; 1968, $26,839 billion; 1969, $29,192 billion; and, proposed for the current year, $30 billion.

The U.S. cost for fighting the Vietnam ranging from $282 million to $424 million during the war years.

THAILAND AID: The budget figures no longer show, however, the old Military Assistance Program costs for Thailand apparently is somewhat less than Laos although it has doubled in the past four years. Officials say military aid to Thailand rose from $3.3 million a year in 1966 to $75 million last year.

Dear Abby: My wife took a secretarial job with an insurance company just to keep herself busy as the kids are grown and gone. Suddenly she announces that she and a man she works with are going on a weight losing contest. The one who loses the most weight in 30 days has to treat the other one to a steak dinner in the best restaurant in town. (Just the two of them.) I trust my wife, but I don't like the idea of her going out to dinner with another man. He's married, too, but I understand his wife is all for it as she'll do anything to get him to lose weight.

Should I go along with this "contest" or not? JEALOUS DEAR JEALOUS: It sounds like a fun kind of contest with a healthy objective. Give them your blessings and may the biggest loser win.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, I overheard my teenage son telling a friend that the two teenage daughters of a good friend of mine were having sexual relations with the two sons of a woman who is a mutual friend of both the mother of the girls and myself.

When I asked my son how he came by this information he said the two boys had been bragging about it at school. My son asked me not to tell anyone but I have not as yet agreed to tell him I would have to think about it.

Abby, I have never believed in interfering in the lives of my friends but I wonder if I would be a true friend to the two mothers if I just kept quiet. By speaking out, I could either be instrumental in helping all concerned avoid a tragedy, or I could lose two friends.

Consequently, I have decided to ask your advice and then follow it. Of course, I do not know that the boys' boasts are even true. But I do know that the boys and girls have been dating. CONCERNED PARENT DEAR CONCERNED: Now would be a good time to tell your son that a man of character NEVER — but NEVER repeats ugly rumors. And if I were you, I'd remain silent.

DEAR ABBY: Now that the summer season is upon us how about some help from you for us poor souls who have summer cottages?

We've had our cottage 10 years and each summer we are more popular than the summer before. Friends and relatives come in droves to enjoy themselves in the sun over our food and drink. They stay anywhere from a week-end to a full week. Of course, they always come empty-handed.

We have even written notes in advance saying "We are sorry, but we can't have you this year" — but they come anyway. Why are some folks so thick? We bought this place to get away from these people.

We don't want to seem cranky, but we'd like to entertain the guests we really want, without all these others "surprising" us. We're tired of running a free hotel, and are thinking of selling. Can you help us?

FED UP IN PITTSBURGH DEAR FED UP: If you're actually written to say you can't have them — and they come anyway — your only salvation is to develop a thicker hide than they have. Greet the unwelcome ones at the door with, "You may stay for a few hours, but when the sun disappears, please do likewise."

Pancake Supper Wants To Reduce Bases In Europe

STANTON (SC) — The annual pancake supper sponsored by the Martin County Chamber of Commerce will be held from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. June 2 in downtown Stanton. Members of the chamber will cook and serve pancakes and bacon

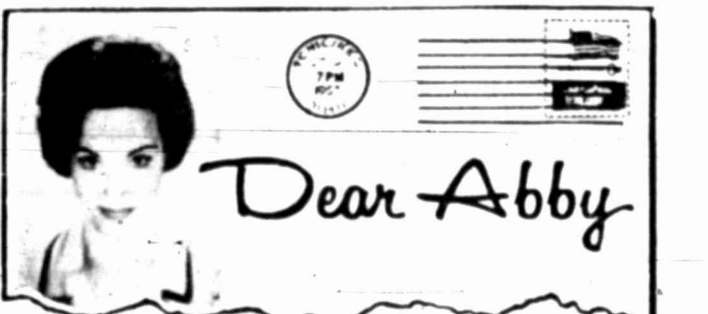

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., chairman of the subcommittee on security agreements and commitments abroad, as well as of Sen. J. W. Fulbright who opposed the original resolution last year.

Fulbright said the administration should cut the number of bases in Europe and reduce its troops' commitment there—the position advocated by Mansfield in a separate interview.

Mansfield said the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, which crystallized Senate objections to his pullback resolution, "appears to be a closed chapter now."

Mansfield said that, before seeking Senate action, he is awaiting a Defense Department survey of the possibility of eliminating some of the 2,700 American bases around the world—229 of them classified as major.

Fulbright says Spanish and other European bases are not as vital to American or Western European security in an era of rockets and missiles.

It makes any sedan as big as our Squareback sedan.

Without it, none comes close. The Volkswagen Squareback Sedan has 31.2 cu. ft. of carrying space. (48.9 with its rear seat down.) The next biggest sedan has only 22.1 cu. ft. (And a good part of that is taken up by the spare.) Of course, we admit the difference doesn't matter if you're carrying only a suitcase or two. But let's say you're out and you find a good deal on an antique chest that's about 5' long. Or a stereo console that's cash and carry. What do you do? With any other sedan, you get a U-Haul. With the Volkswagen Squareback Sedan, you haul it.

NO CLASSES HERE, NONE PLANNED

Trustees Hear About Sex Education

By TEX ROGERS

The Big Spring Independent School District does not have classes in sex education and is not planning a program without the approval of the board of trustees and acceptance by the community.

The trustees and Sam Anderson, school superintendent, assured more than a dozen visitors Tuesday night at the board meeting that no regular classes in sex education are being taught. However, students in high school biology and home and family living, as well as students in junior high health classes, receive some sex education through normal teaching of those courses.

Anderson gave a report to the board on sex education in Big Spring schools, or the lack of it, and said protests have developed recently on sex education by groups in Midland and Odessa.

"A problem has developed in West Texas, and is centered around Midland, Odessa and Big Spring, by groups who know nothing of what is going on in the schools, and are not trying to help the schools," Anderson said. "They want to call attention to themselves."

He said that these groups will come into a community with literature, films and tape recordings of types of perverted sex education, and will allege that local schools are teaching such courses.

Anderson added that a home and family living class was added at the high school as a half-year elective course, and there has been only praise for the class.

When it was explained to the City Council of PTAs, the council said more such classes are needed at the junior high schools," he said.

It was learned at the board meeting that a film was made available in Big Spring from an out-of-town group, and it was viewed by about 40 parents here recently. The film was against sex education in schools, and particularly the Sex Education Information Council of the U.S. (SEICUS), a group formed in 1964 as a "clearing house of information on sex."

Sex education has been branded a Communist plot by some groups.

Mrs. Dale Imel, 602 Baylor, said about 40 women saw the film, and the women were not interested in getting the facts. No accusations were being made at the schools.

"No one in the community is being accused by us," Anderson said. "But if you go beyond the group, there is an organized group in the area that are members of the John Birch Society."

Anderson said the National Parent-Teachers' Association said sex education in schools is a "must" and recommends state departments of education set up courses in it.

"We've been reluctant to go into such programs until we look at all the materials offered and until the people here are really interested," he said.

Mrs. R.B.G. Cowper, a board member, read a statement from the Texas Medical Association and said the family has the responsibility of teaching sex education, but the schools and churches should have supporting roles.

"Sex education won't really solve illegitimacy or venereal disease," she said. "It's a moral problem and I don't think sex education will work."

Anderson said he agreed and that is why Big Spring doesn't have a sex education program.

Another trustee, Roy Watkins, added that each of the trustees had children and are concerned about bad sex education in the schools.

Bruce Wright, 1423 Tucson, asked Anderson if what the John Birch Society is fighting is 100 per cent bad.

"I won't say it's 100 per cent bad, but I will say we won't recommend the material that is bad," Anderson said.

"Well, don't you think SEICUS is Communist connected?" Wright then asked.

"I don't know, but I'm sure you can contact the Communists with anything," Anderson answered.

Mrs. David Hodnett, president of the City Council of PTAs, said the council was not for the SEICUS program, and added that the outside group did cast a seed of doubt against local PTAs and school boards.

After the meeting, Mrs. Hodnett said she was invited to see material on sex education, and said the film was highly contexted, and some parts of it were not even SEICUS material at all, but from pornographic magazines.

One of the films was produced by the John Birch Society, she said.

Before the discussion ended, Anderson assured those present that the school system would not expand current teaching in sex education without approval of the board and acceptance from the community.

The Rev. Pat Bullock pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, said he attended the meeting to find out what was going on, but he wanted to "support the school board and administration in things that are good."

"I'm against sex education in the schools," he said. "It should be taught in the home. Sex education in the schools takes away the Christian atmosphere under which it should be taught, because it is from God."

Forsan's New Post Office Is Lagging

By SAM BLACKBURN

FORSAN — Advance releases relative to Forsan's long promised, and as yet invisible new post office building said bluntly that the completion date for the building would be June 1.

A check of the situation shows that not only will the building not be completed by June 1 — it's not even started yet.

However, it is possible a foul-up in dates somewhere between Washington, San Antonio, Lubbock and Forsan may be the reason.

The original release announcing the awarding of the contract for the new $11,000 structure on March 21, as reported by Congressman Omar Burleson, was that the contractor, Wallace W. Bault General Contractors Inc., San Antonio, had until June, 1962, to complete the building.

On March 26, Postmaster General Winton M. Blount's release reported about the same thing that the congressman had said about the new post office and added the information that completion date for the building was June 1.

A call to the Lubbock office of Post Office Real Estate Officer Bault this week brought additional information.

Bault checked his files and said that his letter to Bault informed the San Antonio contractor the completion date for the Forsan job is Aug. 1.

Meanwhile, the Forsan post office continues in business in the old stand it has occupied since the town came into existence. And Edward Engel, a relief clerk out of the Big Spring Post Office is in charge of the office. He is clerk in charge officially, and will probably continue as such until the long delayed appointment of a postmaster is made in Washington.

If the new post office is built, it will be a dandy — 768 square feet of working space, 80 square feet of platform and 2,000 square feet of paved parking area. The building is modern in every respect, will be air conditioned.

It is to be constructed by the contractor on a lease basis — he is to build it in accordance with postal specifications on a tract of land the post office selected.

When finished, the post office department will lease it from him for five years at $1,290 per year. The lease has three, five-year renewal provisions.

District Gets Fund Grant

The Big Spring Independent School District has received a $11,298 grant for a summer program at Bauer, Lakeview and Cedar Crest schools, the board of trustees learned Tuesday night.

Sam Anderson, school superintendent, reported that the grant was from Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and would be for reading and arts and craft classes for school students and group classes for pre-school youngsters this summer.

In other business, the board approved a budget report for one-half year for the Office of Economic Opportunity, and voted to allow the Runnels Junior High School Student Council to construct a 3-by-7-foot sign identifying the school in front of the building.

Negro Girl's Valedictorian Fight Fizzles

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—A Negro girl's legal struggle to be recognized as valedictorian of her graduating high school class suffered defeat Tuesday. Angie Dickinson, through lawyers for the Dallas Legal Services Project, had claimed that her grade report had been altered to prevent her from receiving the top scholastic honor at Grapeland High School. But U.S. Dist. Judge William Wayne Justice denied her petition that graduation ceremonies be postponed until the matter was resolved. Judge Justice said "The court would not in any way interfere with the graduation itself."

The girl's lawyers, David J. Candish and Ed Polk, withdrew their motion to put off the class ceremonies. The lawyers then announced they had insufficient evidence to show racial discrimination in the matter. That admission and the withdrawal of the injunction motion made it unnecessary for Judge Justice to make any ruling. But there still remains the civil suit brought by the girl. Miss Dickinson is seeking $25,000 for what she called injury, embarrassment, humiliation, emotional distress and anguish. She is seeking another $25,000 for alleged "malicious and reckless disregard" of her rights.

Defendants named in the suit are school principal Howard Wallace, superintendent Jack R. Henderson, and the seven members of the school board.

'Moment Of Truth' For Texas Senators

AUSTIN (AP)—The moment of truth was close today on the controversial one-year general spending bill to finance state government. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who is risking his image as a strong political leader on a one-year proposal, said the thick appropriations measure should reach legislators' desks today. A vote is expected in the Senate Thursday and the House—which must wait 48 hours—Friday, the same day senators are supposed to debate a $61.9 million teacher pay raise. Barnes had no overall total Tuesday on the spending bill, which was still getting the finishing touches. But he said a 10 college building use fee which is expected to raise $6 million toward balancing the budget would be enough. A higher fee had been discussed. Gov. Preston Smith has hinted he might veto a one-year bill and call the legislature back into special session to write a two-year measure. "The word" was that Smith also was considering vetoing the University of Texas at Dallas bill. Any chances that a possible legislative session might be held in July were diminished Tuesday when it was announced that Smith would lead a Texas delegation to the Klondike Days Celebration in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, July 16-20. Both Houses met before and after lunch Tuesday as lawmakers really began to push their bills. Senators tentatively approved a three-member Texas Consumer Protection Department, a new state agency to handle consumer credit complaints. Another vote is needed to send the bill to the House.

Senators also adopted, 29-1, a conference committee report revising the 1967 Texas Water Quality Act. The bill would enable the Water Quality Board to promote regional or area-wide waste collection and disposal systems. The board would be changed from a seven-member group to three of whom are appointed by the governor—to a six-member board, all appointed by the governor. The Senate also passed and sent to the House bills which would: —Legalize free games on pinball machines. —Permit Vietnam war veterans and other members of the armed forces stationed overseas to register late to vote. —Create a Texas natural rivers system. They passed and sent to the governor a bill to open up juvenile records and hearings in felony-type cases involving youngsters who had been de-

Imports Hit Another High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Imports of foreign merchandise hit another all-time high in April, the Commerce Department reported today, topping $3 billion for the first time in history. Despite the surge in imports, a seasonally adjusted $3.2 billion, the Commerce Department said, the United States posted a $177.5 million trade surplus for the month since exports climbed to $3.4 billion. Shipping was still showing hangover effects from the strike of dock workers at East and Gulf Coast ports, a government spokesman said. Although the restriction on rail shipments to the two cities have been lifted, sizable backlog remain, he said.

Enrolling in the program are, left to right, Kay Sayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sayers; Evelyn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Several Area Farmers Get Over $25,000

Farm property owned by 38 individuals or companies in a four-county area around Big Spring received in excess of $25,000 last year in Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service payments. Total payments to farmers who received over $25,000 amounted to $1,291,844. Howard Martin, Mitchell and Glasscock counties. Figures for Dawson County payments were not available. Figures on farmers paid above $25,000 in all states were disclosed by Illinois Republican Cong. Paul Findley, who is trying to write legislation into the Agriculture Department's appropriations bill placing a $20,000 ceiling on what ASCS can pay any farmer. The area farmer receiving the most in ASCS funds was Glen Cox, Lenora, who received $71,922 in payments in Martin County, Delbert Stanley, Big Spring, topped Howard County payments with $45,686. The Texas farmer receiving the highest payment was J. K. Griffith, Morton, in Cochran County. He led the state with 1968 ASCS payments of $320,315. Three other Texans broke

Eastland Jail Prisoners Flee

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP)—Police used dogs late Tuesday in an effort to find three prisoners who overpowered the sheriff and escaped from the Eastland jail. The prisoners beat Sheriff L. E. Sublett and escaped in his car. The car was found late Tuesday about six miles from Eastland. A nearby farmhouse had been burglarized and clothing taken, police said. Sublett was hospitalized with minor injuries. The Department of Public Safety identified the escapees as Jerry Baird, 18, of Abilene, serving a 12-year sentence; Donald Gene Richardson, 22, of Sweetwater, serving a seven-year sentence; and Harry Dale Webb, 18, of Shreveport, La., serving a 75-year sentence for rape. It was the second escape from the jail within a week. Last week three prisoners escaped from the Eastland jail by cutting their way through the roof. They are also still at large.

Sen. Bates Didn't Know 'Flag Man' Was Deputy

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Jim Bates drove away from the filling station without any traffic ticket. Bates said he did not know the man who tried to flag him down Sunday on an Austin street was a deputy sheriff who thought the Edinburg senator was speeding. "He was dressed in vacation clothes and his car had regular license plates," Bates told the Austin American. "He reached back to his hip pocket. I didn't know what the man wanted or why, so I gunned it. It is that simple. My wife and two daughters were in the automobile with me." Bates said city police told him the man was a deputy sheriff and Bates said he answered: "He is a punk." Webb later told the Austin American there was no way he could issue a traffic ticket because "we don't work traffic." Today's Austin American had a lead editorial discussing the incident. The editorial said the question "involved here is not whether the senator was or was not speeding, but who makes the policy that determines whether a complaint should be filed against any person, senator or otherwise, under a justifiable situation. Any deputy he tried to get a ticket but was told by City Policeman James Brown. "We discuss these tickets anyway. I think you are barking up the wrong tree."

Youth Horsemen Plan Playday

The Howard County Youth Horsemen Club will have an open playday Saturday at 3 p.m. Other clubs as well as individuals who are not affiliated with any group are invited to take part in the affair at the club's arena five miles south of town on the Garden City highway. There will be barrel flag and ring racing as well as pointing. Prizes will be awarded for the first four places in each class in each event.

Astronauts Back At Work

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Less than two hours after they got home it was back to work for the Apollo 10 astronauts, helping the space agency prepare for the moon-landing mission in July. Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan spent only a long lunch hour with their families Tuesday. Then all three reported for extensive medical examinations by National Aeronautics and Space Administration physicians. The medical examinations were the first phase of an 11-day debriefing which will provide a detailed account of what they saw, what happened and how they stood up physically on their round trip to the moon. Today's program called for a technical debriefing with Donald K. Slavton, chief of the astronaut office. Further sessions, eight hours daily, are scheduled until June 6. The space trio will pour out information while tape recorders take in every word and save it for later study by experts.

Demos Seek New War Tax

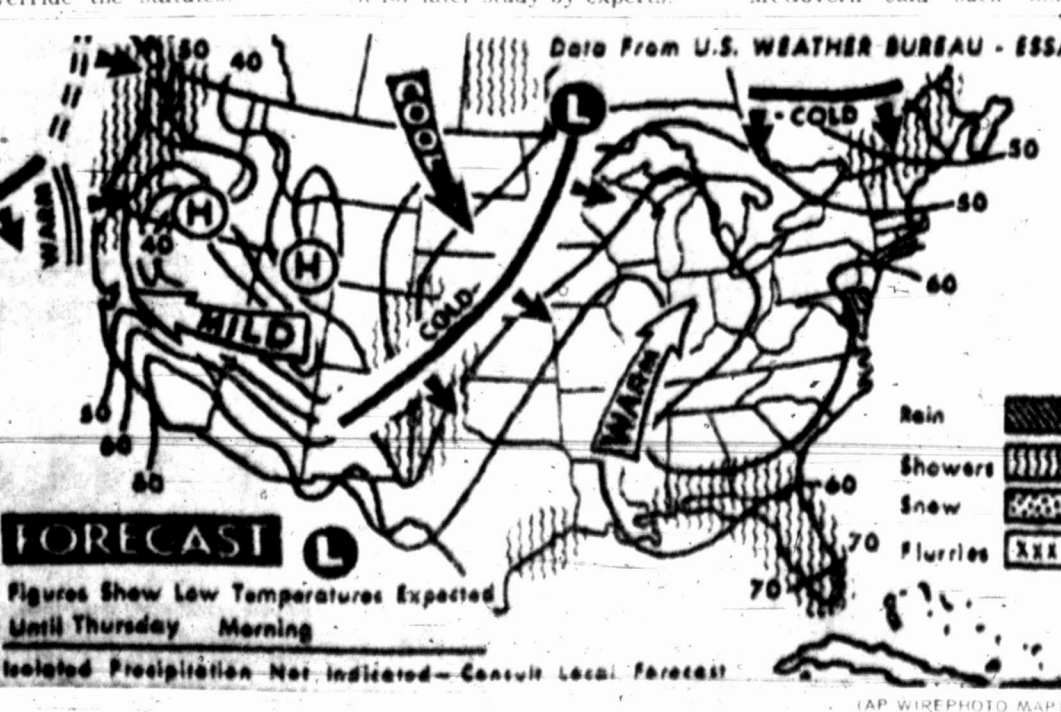

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George S. McGovern and 14 other Democrats are seeking a new 37 percent tax on defense industry profits generated by the Vietnam war, but even promoters of the measure concede they won't get it. A similar McGovern measure in March 1968 failed 74-18. A skeptical Republican said congressional approval of such a measure would amount to an acknowledgment of the war is going to continue for the foreseeable future. "You just don't take that kind of step," said Sen. John J. Pickens, R-Del. "We all hope the war is about over." Williams, ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, said he sees little chance McGovern's measure will generate much support. "It did generate a series of speeches Tuesday with the South Dakota senator declaring that no one should be permitted to make unrealistic profits from war."

Whipping Boy Gets It Again

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Oscar Hollywood's favorite whipping boy, is taking it again. This time it's the directors who are up in arms over an alleged slight to their profession. The Motion Picture Academy made a 56-minute capsule of last month's awards affair for televising in foreign countries. Many of the awards in the two-hour show had to be eliminated, and Carol Reed, named best director for "Oliver," landed on the cutting-room floor.

NOT GOOD
The Directors Guild of America was incensed, even though Britisher Reed was not a member. Academy President Gregory Peck replied that the capsule version had been an experiment and the director award would be included next year.

That didn't satisfy the directors. They insisted on a public apology. The Academy's answer awaits the return of Peck from Europe.

Among the directors who protested individually was George Sidney. "It won't happen again" is not good enough. The Academy membership, its methods, aims, ideals, must be overhauled," he said.

Peck has appointed a committee to look into membership, particularly as it affects the voting for the Oscars. A study of the Academy's membership list indicates that an overhaul is overdue.

"The Academy is an honorary organization of industry craftsmen." So reads the official pronouncement. "Invitations to active membership shall be limited to those persons employed by motion picture producing companies, or credited with screen achievements, who in the opinion of the Board, are qualified for membership by virtue of having achieved distinction in their respective fields of endeavor within the industry."

DUE RESPECT
Somehow the Academy has managed to find slightly more than 3,000 persons who fit that category.

There are 339 Academy members in the acting category, by far the largest grouping. Fully one-third would not be recognized by even close observers of the film scene, including the names: Edit Angold, Parley Baer, Majel Barrett, Argentina Brunetti, Steve Innat, Riza Royce, Than Wyenn, Will Kuluva, Syl Lamont.

'King Of Kings' Star, 42, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Jeffrey Hunter, best known for his role of Jesus Christ in the 1960 production of "King of Kings," died Tuesday after brain surgery. Police said they understood he was injured in a fall at his Van Nuys home.

Hunter, 42, a handsome and youthful looking leading man, had been active in recent years in roles on television and in movies made in Europe.

Officers said he was found unconscious Monday at his home with a swollen right eye and underwent the surgery at Valley Hospital, Monday night.

Police said they heard about the case from the coroner, understood the injury stemmed from a fall, and were investigating. The coroner listed Hunter under his legal name, Henry McKinnies.

Hunter starred for a time in the early 1960s in a television series about a frontier attorney, "Temple Houston."

The actor, 6 feet 1 and athletic looking, realized he ran a risk when he took the role in "King of Kings." H.B. Warner, who played Christ in the silent film version, suffered from a career night blindness. Warner found that producers could see him in nothing but religious roles.

Hunter's career wasn't blighted by the role, but he did not reach the upper echelons of movie stardom.

Born in New Orleans, son of a sales engineer, he studied dramatics in high school and at Northwestern University and after a tour in the Navy studied at the NBC Radio Institute in Chicago. Then he came to Hollywood for a contract with 20th Century-Fox.

Among his films were "14 Hours," "Call Me Mister," "Red Skies of Wyoming," "Dreamboat" and "Princess of the Nile."

In more recent years he made "Vendetta" and "Brainstorm." His widow, Emily, survives.

She's Run Down By Her Own Car

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mary Stenton died Monday when she was run down by her own car in the parking lot of a shopping center, police said.

She was standing in front of the car as a man tried to help start it. The car started, in swimming pool, a wading pool gear, and leaped forward, knocking her down and passing over her.

LBJ Park Will Open

AUSTIN (AP) — A gleaming new visitor center and newly constructed picnic sites at the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park will open to the public Sunday morning, the Parks and Wildlife Department says.

There will be no formal ceremonies, the department said. The park, once the center of controversy, is across the Pedernales River from the former President's ranch, about 65 miles west of here.

The visitor center, which includes a restored log cabin, will be open seven days a week. It contains a display built by the National Park Service.

Mark Gosdin, director of park services, said construction would start soon on a competition size her start it. The car started, in swimming pool, a wading pool gear, and leaped forward, knocking her down and passing over her.

Opening lead: King of ♠ East and West were made to "work for their bread" in today's hand taken from a recent tournament. Deprived of the privilege of playing their five diamond contract by a sacrifice minded opponent, they had to defend with precise accuracy to obtain adequate recompense.

A "slam can" was made in diamonds, however no East-West pair got beyond the game level. A 500 point score is awarded for a vulnerable game in duplicate bridge, so that the score for five diamonds making six is 620 points. South reasoned that if his loss at five hearts could be confined to 500 points—a three trick set—the result would beat all those North-South pairs who defended against a game. Had the opponents made the slightest slip, his judgment would have been vindicated.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace, to which all hands followed. West was aware that a diamond shift might be expected to produce the setting trick, however, unless several additional tricks were forthcoming, his side would not receive sufficient compensation for the vulnerable game which South had denied them by taking his sacrifice.

West realized that the spade suit offered the only reasonable hope for additional revenue, and despite dummy's somewhat impressive holding, he shifted to the deuce of spades. East cashed the top two honors and then underled the ace of diamonds to put his partner in with the king. West returned the third spade which East ruffed for the sixth defensive trick.

This was the trick that hurt, because it spelled out a 700 point set for the declarer, which was more than the value of the game bid of his opponents.

Fresh Batch Of Showers

By The Associated Press

Thundershowers again sloshed through the Panhandle and parts of North Central Texas Tuesday, but began to dissipate around dawn.

Forecasters offered little consolation, though, as they predicted a fresh batch of rain for much of North Texas today.

The Tuesday shower and storm activity produced a killer tornado at Anahuac, just inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Department of Public Safety officers said the twister struck a house and outbuildings near that town, killing three. The victims were identified as T. L. Boudreaux and his sister, Mrs. Gene Renois, 73, of Denard, Ark., both killed at the scene. Boudreaux's wife, Birdie, died several hours later at a Beaumont hospital.

Overnight, San Angelo reported some rain, along with several Panhandle points.

Another line of showers extended from near Stephenville to Killen.

The temperatures across the state early today held steady, mostly in the 60s and 70s.

Today's forecasts called for scattered thundershowers in Northeast and Northwest Texas, as well as the middle and upper Coastal Plains.

The rest of the state was predicted to experience clear to partly cloudy weather, with warm to hot temperatures.

Laotian Troops Locked In Battle For Control

By The Associated Press

Laotian government troops and Communist forces were reported to still be battling today for control of the Plaine des Jarres in northeastern Laos.

Military sources said that government forces had withdrawn from the strategic town of Xieng Khouang but that Communist Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese troops had failed to take it because of heavy bombing by U.S. and Laotian planes.

"The town has been flatly pulled out of Xieng Khouang on Saturday, after occupying it for a month, because they considered further occupation futile. The population of 15,000 has fled to nearby towns in government-controlled areas.

The battle for the Plaine des Jarres has developed in the past month into one of the most serious engagements in Laos in more than two years.

Government losses have not been disclosed. But army headquarters in Vientiane claims more than 500 North Vietnamese have been killed so far, mainly in air strikes.

The United States has consistently denied that its planes are bombing in Laos, but Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma has publicly acknowledged at least twice that U.S. bombing is taking place.

A Devotional For The Day

You, beloved, build yourselves up on your most holy faith; pray in the Holy Spirit. (Jude 20, RSV)
PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us to think and live each day so that the Holy Spirit may work His influence through every decision and action of our lives. Help us to be witnesses of Thy power in the affairs of men and nations. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Crime Tries To Muscle In

American business and industry should be alerted to the infiltration of organized crime into legitimate private enterprise and well-informed on its techniques so that this highly corruptive influence can be effectively resisted.
The infiltration is generated by organized crime's dual need for a "cover" for racketeering and for legitimate outlets for illicit income. It is effected by both guile and intimidation, working its way through both management and labor. And it cannot be checked by governmental law-enforcement and regulatory agencies without fuller cooperation from the business-industry community.
That was an important conclusion the 1967 report of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice (crime-control commission). This commission recognized the independent National Council on Crime and Delinquency as a private organization that could be exceptionally helpful on this problem. And so it is proving to be.
Over the past year, the National Council on Crime and Delinquency has held conferences with chambers of commerce, trade and industrial associations in New York and eight other major cities, and similar informative meetings are scheduled in more cities. Appraising these intensive study sessions, council consultant Ralph Salerno has said: "In most of these cities, the average businessman knows more by the end of the day than the average policeman about how organized crime operates."

Such conferences can hardly be held in all sizable American cities, but businessmen can obtain pertinent informative materials from the council (44 East 23rd St., New York, N.Y., 10010), which distributes its own and others' research and educational publications, as well as from trade publications that are becoming more interested in this threat and from other sources. The threat of organized criminal infiltration, and its great potential damage to the private sector of the national economy and society generally, should be the active concern of every management of vulnerable business, industrial and financial firms.

Dry Them Up

The blessings of rain in this country are legion, and it seems almost like sacrilege to point to an uncomfortable, if not unhealthy by-product.
Fact is that the abnormal amount of rainfall in our vicinity in the month of May has created a wave of mosquitoes. Some of these come from puddles and ponds left by the runoff; some come from marshy patches of grass and weeds which create adequate breeding places and harborage; some come from bottles, cans, old tires, battery cases, etc. left lying around homes and vacant property. And some even come from evaporative air conditioners.

About the best thing that can be done is a concerted effort to clean up the city, and this gets back to the individual resident. The city can, as it is doing, operate its spraying machine in an effort to get at the current mosquito population, and to spray lowlands to get at hatching places. If the insects are deprived of a place to hide and to breed, they soon will pass.

Encouragement To The Judiciary

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, in his appointment of Judge Warren E. Burger as the new chief justice, may perhaps have done more to encourage and stimulate the federal and state judiciary than any President in the last half century. For while there are eminent lawyers who have been selected for the Supreme Court, and they have served meritoriously, the truth is that some of the finest judges on state supreme courts, U.S. courts of appeals and federal district courts have been overlooked.

UNFORTUNATELY, personal or political considerations have again and again influenced Presidents of the United States so that they have often bypassed the best jurists in the country, choosing instead men either from Congress or from their own cabinet or personal or political associates.
There had been rumors for several weeks now that Mr. Nixon would pick someone from the federal bench, and the name of Warren Burger has often been mentioned. In fact, in an informal poll at a recent conference of the eleven chief judges of the U.S. circuit courts of appeals throughout the country, Circuit Court Judge Burger and District Court Judge Henry J. Friendly of New York were voted to be the two men on the bench who would be the best selections for chief justice.

Billy Graham

I have a personal problem that I want to solve God's way, but it seems impossible. Can you help me?
L.T.
First of all, you know that God knows about it. Also, He is concerned that you shall find the right answer. Finally, He will help you find it. The problem reserves itself into two things: your willingness to surrender your own will and desires to God, then, to accept and act on His leading. You do the first by coming to Him in the Name of Christ, asking Him to forgive your sins and to give you a heart completely surrendered to Him. Then you pray specifically that God will give you clear leading as to the solution of your problem. This leading may come as you pray; Bible; or, God may send someone to you who under the leading of His Spirit, will direct you in the thing you should do.
This all may sound theoretical and mechanical, but actually it is just taking God at His Word and expecting Him to honor that Word. In Proverbs 3:5-6 we find these words: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not to thine own understanding; in all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths." Honor God by accepting and acting on His Word and He will surely honor your faith.

any more judicial power than each of the other eight justices on the Supreme Court, and sometimes his opinions are in the minority as a majority decision is reached without him. Only 14 men have served as chief justice since the establishment of the Supreme Court in 1789.
Looking back to 1921, when President Harding, a Republican, appointed a former President of the United States, William Howard Taft, to be chief justice, favorable opinion was widespread because Mr. Taft had been for many years on the bench, including eight years on the U.S. court of appeals.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, an outstanding lawyer, was governor of New York when President Taft appointed him as an associate justice. He was on the high court from 1910 to 1916, and resigned to run for the presidency on the Republican ticket, but was defeated by President Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Hughes was appointed chief justice in 1930 by President Hoover, serving until 1941.
Harlan F. Stone, the next chief justice, was attorney general of the United States when he was named an associate justice in 1925 by President Coolidge, a Republican, and then, after 16 years on the high court, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, appointed him chief justice in 1941.

FRED M. VINSON had long been an influential member of the Democratic party in the House of Representatives, after which he was for five years on the U.S. court of appeals for the District of Columbia. He resigned in 1943 to accept important posts in the executive branch of the government during World War II. He was secretary of the treasury when President Truman appointed him chief justice in 1946.

Earl Warren, named chief justice by President Eisenhower in 1953, had not been on the bench before. He had been a county prosecuting attorney and later governor of California for 10 years. He ran for the vice presidency in 1943 on the Republican ticket after having been an influential factor in swinging the presidential nomination to Governor Dewey.

THE NEW APPOINTEE, Judge Burger, speaks his mind unequivocally and is dedicated to the principles of justice and the Constitution. Some will say he is a "conservative," and others will say he is a "liberal," depending upon their own point of view. As far as Warren Burger is concerned, however, he tries to be simply an honest-minded judge. That is what he will be in the post for which he has just been selected. #### Students 'Squarer' Than Believed

By LISA CRONIN (Subbing for John Cunniff)
NEW YORK (AP) — The militant minority may occupy the campus building and the headlines, but today's average college man attends classes, goes to church and plans to get ahead just as his father did a quarter of a century ago.

Not only are brick-wielding dissidents rare among today's college population, but most students say American society is "basically sound." Only 9 per cent of all students could be classed as "revolutionaries" — believing that existing institutions should be scrapped and replaced.

SO REPORTS a nationwide survey of student and alumni attitudes conducted by Roper Research Associates and commissioned by Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey). During winter 1968, 1,500 students and almost 700 alumni were interviewed.

"I found it a rather encouraging study," said Burns Roper, president of the research firm. "There was a good deal of criticism of the system, but it was mostly 'let's change the system from within' rather than 'let's overthrow it.'"

Some conclusions of the Roper study: —Less than one-fourth of college students have smoked marijuana and only 3 per cent have tried LSD. About 46 per cent would like to make marijuana legal and 7 per cent favor legal sanctions for LSD.

—Belief in some form of god was voiced by about 60 per cent of college students. Forty per cent of the freshmen and 33 per cent of seniors said they believed in the orthodox "Supreme Being who created the earth and who rewards and punishes everyone."

—TWO-THIRDS of unmarried male seniors said they have had sexual relations with one or more women to date—half the freshmen have.

—Although about a third of college students plan to go into the military after graduation, almost as many wish to avoid the draft—25 per cent by legal means and 2 per cent by any means including a stint in federal prison if necessary.
—Not only are college students "squarer" than many worried parents believed, they are also more probusiness than had been assumed. Most plan careers in business and industry. Careers in education, professional work and government service followed in that order.

Business leaders won points among college seniors for competence and progressive views, but they were also seen by many as self-seeking, ruthless and not sufficiently interested in social problems.

Among seniors polled, 59 per cent said "aggressiveness" is the most important quality for business success followed by creative ability, hard work and intelligence. In comparison, students rated aggressiveness, intelligence, "playing the angles" and hard work in that order as requirements for success in government.

THE "MORAL" qualities got short shrift by students planning successful careers. "Idealism" was considered a get-ahead quality in government careers by 5 per cent of students, in education by 14 per cent and in business by only 2 per cent.
Only 2 per cent felt "courage to stand up for your ideas" pays off in business, compared to 20 per cent in government and 13 per cent in education.

On issues involving campus life, the majority of students felt that student activity has had some beneficial effects although 82 per cent said it had gone to extremes—at least in some instances.

What's On Your List?

NEW YORK (AP) — The wonderful thing about life is that it always leaves you something to look forward to.

Whether you have achieved much or little, whether you are young, middle-aged or elderly, there always remain things you haven't seen and things you haven't done. There is no such person as a man or woman who has everything.

HERE'S ONE man's list of things he may still get around to doing one of these days: Set an income tax form to music, and ask Congress to make it the national anthem.

Sail the Atlantic in a paper yacht made from varnished copies of the Sunday New York Times.

Sell Manhattan Island back to the Indians for a keg of whisky and a $24 mortgage.

Solve the poverty problem by giving everyone in America his own private key to Ft. Knox.

Meet a teenager who was allergic to pizza pies, French fried potatoes, and the telephone.

Buy the Eiffel Tower for Howard Hughes, and move it to Las Vegas.

Paint the Empire State Building with psychedelic designs.

Build a 1,000-room cave on Miami Beach for hermits who prefer to live underground.

Carve the head of Benedict Arnold on the Mt. Rushmore memorial, so tourists could have something to criticize as well as praise.

Help a fainting robin into its nest again.

GET GRETA Garbo to put a welcome mat before her front door.
Create a sex-free movie that children could take their parents to without having to worry about the old folks' blushing.
Turn every girl in the world red-haired—so there'd be one for every man.
Give athletes' foot back to the athletes.
Pass a law requiring that all ashtrays be at least eight inches square and six inches deep.
Invent windows made of layers of plastic. Then a man wouldn't have to wash them—he could just peel them clean.

DISCOVER something more to hope about today in modern youth, the "hope of tomorrow."

Around The Rim

Canyon That Grew And Disappeared

Used to be it didn't make me feel old when somebody asked about that canyon in eastern Big Spring, but when they look at you blankly and ask "what canyon?" then it makes you take stock of the years.

BUT COME to think of it, there is a new generation that came on after the canyon was filled in, and there are people who have moved here after that happened.

Well, I happened to have come here before there was a canyon in the first place. The deep cut in the earth ran northwest from a point about where the city's fire tower is located off Birdwell Park and south of the YMCA. It resulted from a wave of progress which gave Howard County some of the best roads on two somewhat primitive transcontinental highways. The county decided to gravel the Bankhead Highway (later the Broadway of America — and later US 80), and to improve the approaches on the Puget Sound to Gulf (or Glacier to Gulf or US 87) highway for a distance of about five miles.

THE HILLS south of our home in the east part of town soon were pocked with pits which were a mystery until contractors moved in to mine gravel. At some prehistoric time, there must have been a creek running through that area, and the deepest cut followed right down the channel.

MEN WITH TEAMS of mules scratched the gravel pockets and others came along with scoops and frescoes. Thus a trench was cut, and this was spanned by heavy timber which had a trap or hole in the floor. Muleskinners dipped their frescoes or slips into the gravel, skidded them screaming to the timber that bridged the trench. Meanwhile, a teamster had pulled his wagon under the trap. The sure-footed mules walked on either side of the trap so that when the slip reached that point, the muleskinner hoisted the handle into the air and spilled the contents through the hole into the wagon below.

YOU'D NEVER think they could dig a canyon that way, but they did — and a big one, too. So lucrative was the lode that the T&P railroad ran a siding across US 80, near where Pollard Chevrolet is now located, southward up the draw to the gravel pits. The contractor moved in a steam shovel — and it was really powered by steam — to take bigger bites from the deposits and hoist them into the rail cars. So the cut widened and deepened.

And suddenly, the project was over and the demand for the gravel was gone. The holes were abandoned. Weather eroded them until they gave the appearance of some natural formation. Years later when the gravel ball park was erected at its present location it was almost on the brink of the canyon, and occasionally cars rolled off into it.

THEN WHEN THE YMCA building project became a reality, this was picked as the site. With aid from various sources, but principally by Dub Caldwell, heavy machinery began pushing dirt off into the canyon until the area was virtually levelled. The YMCA was built on the old solid shoulder, but our first Rehab Center was erected hurriedly below on the fill. Soon, it began to sink and settle and crack, a stern reminder of the day when a canyon had been there. —JOE PICKLE.

A Bill To 'Rebuke' The Court

WASHINGTON — On the Shakespearean theory that the "evil men do lives after them," the Senate will not only restructure the Warren Court by confirming only strict Constitutionalists — the Senate will also aim to expunge the "evil" done by the recent Justices.

THIS IS LARGELY the purpose of an omnibus bill (S-12), Internal Security Act of 1969. It has so many sponsors (17), such a full-throated approval by the Judiciary committee, strong backing by the President and Attorney General that even its toughest provisions can hardly be blocked by the soft-on-subversive and coddle-the-criminal Senate liberals. This bill is extraordinarily long (123 pages), and the concerned citizen had better read it (or read about it) in limited doses.

THE AUTHORS of S-12 deny that their bill is an attack on the Warren Court, but there will be differing opinions about that. The legislative drafters say that, when the Supreme Court has nullified a law, Congress must discover if the need for the law still exists and if so, must write a more invulnerable law to cover the still-existing problem. This is a polite way of rebuking the Court of revising its decisions and of reforming its evil. Polite, but firm.

FOR EXAMPLE, the Court nullified the Smith Act of 1940 which prohibits anybody to teach or advocate the overthrow of the U.S. Government by force or violence. The new law would patch up this Smith Act passage to make it rejection-proof, and also would forbid anybody to teach or advocate the "necessity" for using violence in our society where there are so many nonviolent remedies. The Court has said that freedom-of-speech

(that is, "teaching and advocating") cannot be restricted unless there is a "clear and present" danger of overthrow. The Judiciary committee says that such danger need not be "immediate."

THE SUPREME COURT, quite justifiably, has held that the Constitution defines treason as the "aid and comfort" of giving the enemy "aid and comfort" and only in "time of war." Hitherto it's been impossible to take serious action against radicals who send blood plasma, for example, to North Vietnam, or who otherwise aid-and-comfort the enemies of undeclared war. S-12 would make it a new crime to aid-and-comfort an "adversary" of the United States, whether or not a declared state of war exists. An "adversary" is any nation, or any armed group, engaged in open hostilities with the United States.

S-12 ALSO ATTEMPTS to scrub out the 1967 Supreme Court edict that known Communists have a "right of association" to jobs in Defense plants. And the new Act says that if a foreign nation refuses to receive one of its citizens whom we wish to deport, that foreign nation may not be able to get visas and transit permits for any of its citizens. And the Act would take away American protection for any U.S. citizen who refuses to swear or affirm his allegiance to the United States.

This summary by no means exhausts the provisions of the proposed Act but these samplings make the central point. The 91st Congress and the Nixon Administration are not willing that the past Supreme Court should get away with making this country helpless and ridiculous against its internal enemies. ### Kremlin Aches

Caused By Backlash Of Peking's Heresies

By WILLIAM L. RYAN (AP Special Correspondent)
The Kremlin is about to experience more frustration in its international Communist policy.

This, along with other exasperating dilemmas, is causing speculation in the diplomatic world about the staying power of the current Soviet leaders Leonid I. Brezhnev, chief of the Soviet party, and Premier Alexei Kosygin share the top power with a "collective leadership."

Brezhnev's headaches are caused by the impact of Red China's heresies, by the backlash from Soviet suppression of the Czechoslovak reform movement, and by erosion of the Kremlin's authority over Communist parties abroad. These troubles will be complicated by the international Communist meeting opening in Moscow June 5. A final "preparatory" conference for that assembly is now in progress in Budapest.

KOSYGIN'S WOES apparently come from the old conflict between those who want to expand heavy industry and its potential for war — they are called "metal eaters" — and the pressure for more and better consumer goods, services and housing.

Between the lines of what Moscow publishes one can detect a number of tough debates over internal and external policies.

At home, these center about such matters as how to keep the Soviet public sealed off from foreign influence; how to deal with dissidence, whether a reversion to some aspects of Stalinism is needed to insure the party's dictatorial authority, and whether the military should have carte blanche at the expense of the consumers or whether more should be invested in the consumer side.

On the foreign front, Soviet goals sometimes seem contradictory. There appears to be an urge to keep avenues to the United States open, while at the same time, a need to picture the United States as an "imperialist" enemy whose threat requires constant vigilance and build-up of power.

THERE IS the problem of how to get balky satellites back into line and keep them there. The prime example is Romania, which continues to question Soviet domination.

The disarray of the Communist world must rank high among the causes of unhappiness in high places in Moscow. When the international conference is convened, only about 60 of the world's 99 Communist parties will be represented. Of those attending, some will have strong reservations about Soviet policy. Some will be in outright opposition to certain aspects of it. Red China and perhaps five others of the world's 14 ruling parties will be absent.

THE SOVIET PRESS is testy as it discusses the movement of the situation is awkward, because Moscow is preparing to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth. The Kremlin is in a hurry. It has less than a year to deal with these problems.

As the Communist conference gathers, Mao Tze-tung's supporters, jeering from the sidelines, are likely to do all they can to compound its troubles. The Russians seem to suspect a new Chinese border thrust might be timed to embarrass them during the conference.

To Your Good Health

Keep On Using Iodized Salt

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have always purchased iodized salt because I was told it was needed by children (we have six). Please let me know who should have it and needs it.
— Mrs. R.W.M.

Some parts of the world and some parts of the country are almost totally lacking in iodine — it has been leached out of the soil by millions of years of rain.

The body (the thyroid gland) needs a tiny trace of iodine to be healthy. Otherwise the gland will enlarge and become a "goiter."

The idea of iodized salt was devised back in the 1920s as an inexpensive, simple way to see that people got that tiny trace of iodine—not just children, but everyone. The number of goiters declined very quickly. Modern transportation — shipping produce from farms where there is enough iodine in the soil, and shipping seafood, which is rich in iodine — helps prevent iodine deficiency, but it is still wise to keep using iodized salt, especially in the mountainous areas and in the Midwest which was long known as "the goiter belt."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My niece had some wisdom teeth extracted and I was terrified when she developed trismus, or loss of bite. I never heard of such a case before.

The operation was four months ago and there is no sign of improvement, despite our doctor's efforts to halt the muscle spasm. She has been on liquids and has lost weight. Some people believe only time can bring improvement, but I fear that if it is left alone, it could become permanent. — Mrs. J.M.
Trismus is a muscle spasm that can follow dental extractions, but it is very unusual for it to last four months.

Consultants tell me that infection at the site of the extraction can cause this. It can also be a nervous reaction to the operation.

If infection, antibiotics may be necessary. Otherwise irrigating the mouth with a hot salt solution (one teaspoonful to a pint of water), hot compresses held against the cheek, and antispasmodic medications should be used.

You mention seeing your doctor. What does the dentist say? It might pay to check with him.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Change In Pilots Helpful To A's

By The Associated Press
New skipper Lefty Phillips, with all modesty, will contend it was just a coincidence, but nevertheless the California Angels' ship has finally righted itself.
With Phillips at the helm for the first time since taking over for fired manager Bill Rigney earlier in the day, the listing Angels ended a 10-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over Cleveland Tuesday night.
"We waited for the ship to right itself and it finally became a winner," General Manager Dick Walsh had said when he let Rigney go with a 11-23 record in 12½ games out of first place in the American League's West Division.
"It might only be a short successful voyage with the Angels keeling over again, but the Angels must be satisfied with even a one-game winning streak at the moment."

$10,000 ALLOCATION Board Approves Equipment Order

Big Spring High School athletic director Spike Dykes was given the nod Tuesday night by the board of trustees to order football equipment now for fall grid practices.
Dykes requested an allocation of $10,000 from the 1969-70 budget to order the equipment so it would be received before workouts begin in September. He said, however, that the entire amount probably would not be needed.
The coach and athletic director also presented his entire athletic budget of $95,176.83 for the board to consider, but it was tabled until the trustees take up the entire school budget this summer.
Dykes submitted a list of the equipment needed for the high school and junior high teams. Joe Moss, board president, asked if all the equipment was for the varsity.
It was mentioned that some parents had complained about the junior high players getting old equipment which had been used by the varsity.

"A great deal of the new equipment is for the junior highs," Dykes said. "Old equipment in the junior highs is a misconception, and there is good equipment there. Varsity equipment won't fit junior high players."
He said a lot of money has been put in the junior high football program for good equipment.
Jack Alexander, trustee, told Dykes some people have said the athletic department does not buy enough items locally.
"We try to buy locally when we can, but the local sporting goods dealers are small companies," Dykes said. "We try to buy the best at the lowest cost, and the local sporting goods companies don't have some lines we need."
He added that larger manufacturers offer lower prices, while smaller companies can only offer a school price, less one per cent discount.

Astros Near Club Record

HOUSTON (AP) — Doug Rader's crucial grand slam homer has placed the Houston Astros just one game short today of tying their longest winning streak in history.
Rader's ninth-inning smash Tuesday night off relief pitcher Luis Peraza gave the Astros a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and their ninth consecutive triumph.
Not since the early part of the 1965 season have the Astros enjoyed 10 consecutive victories.
"They don't want a lot," Manager Gene Mauch said of the Montreal fans. "They just want a little. That's about what we're giving them, too."
While Montreal was giving their boosters little, the Houston Astros were continuing to delight theirs by beating Philadelphia 6-2 for their ninth straight victory and 18th in 22 games in May.
In other National League action, Atlanta edged St. Louis 5-3, San Diego nipped the New York Mets 3-2 and San Francisco shaded the Chicago Cubs 5-4. Pittsburgh and Cincinnati were not scheduled.
Tom Haller's homer did Montreal, now 11-28. It came with a man on in the sixth and snapped a 3-3 tie. Coco Laboy sacrificed fly and Gary Sutherland's two-run single had produced three unearned runs in Rick Rechart, moved from left field to first base by Phillips, beat out a bouncer and Morton walked before Johnson looped the winning run-scoring hit to center field.

Hoyt Wilhelm, in relief of Jim McGlothlin, 4-3, blanked the Indians the last two innings and the Angels were home-free.
Sal Bando gave Oakland its victory with a seventh inning homer off reliever Don McMahon, 0-3, that broke a 3-3 tie and gave Chuck Dobson, 4-4, the triumph with a four-hitter.
Barry Moore, 3-1, scattered six hits in his first complete game in 27 starts since 1967 and only the third by a Washington pitcher this season. Brant Alyea backed with a homer and a single for three runs.

Large Crowd Watches Expos Lose Again

Associated Press Sports Writer
Montreal fans aren't asking much of the Expos. That's what they're getting—not much.
What 21,412 got Tuesday night—one year from the date the club was accepted into the National League—was a chance to see the Expos lose 5-3 to Los Angeles for their 11th straight defeat, longest losing streak in the majors this season.
"They don't want a lot," Manager Gene Mauch said of the Montreal fans. "They just want a little. That's about what we're giving them, too."

the fifth that gave the Expos a tie.
Wes Parker also homered and got two other hits for the Dodgers.
Roberto Pena singled in the winning run for San Diego and Ollie Brown produced the other two with a homer and single.
Doug Rader made the big offensive noise for Houston, clubbing a bases-loaded homer in the bottom of the ninth. Rader's third homer, which gave Don Wilson, who struck out 13, a 5-4 mark, came off Luis Peraza who came on for Philadelphia after Bill Wilson walked the first three Houston batters.
Despite Houston's hot play, the Astros still are in fifth place in the West Division, eight games back of first-place Atlanta, which beat St. Louis behind

Player, Littler Are Memphis Favorites

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — weather. So he called Sunday and said he wouldn't be able to make it. But the 49-year-old PGA champ isn't the only leading player skipping this $150,000 Open Golf Tournament, with 10 of other top names among the U.S. missing.

"Boros told me last week he'd be here," tournament director Vernon Bell said, "but he was Archer doing some television filming on Devlin, one of the most successful players on the tour in recent weeks."

All simply are taking some time off.

Australian Bruce Crampton, on the tour regularly, complained of being tired after a practice round Tuesday and asked to be excused from his commitment. Tournament officials agreed.

The field of 144 that will tee off Thursday in the first round on the tight, 6,485-yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course includes such standouts as flamboyant Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open champion; veteran Dan Sikes; Bert Yancey, winner of last week's Atlanta Classic; and defending champion Bob Lunn.

The course is one of the shortest the tourists play, but it's tough and demanding.

"It's not all that long," Bell said, "but actually it's a driver's course. It places a premium on the accurate tee shot. A bad shot can put you in trouble."

AT KANSAS ACADEMY Local Youth Is Named All-Star

An ex-Big Spring resident, Bill Davis, now finishing his senior year at St. John's Academy in Winfield, Kan., was one of four members of his team named to the all-district baseball team.

BILL DAVIS

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. (Billy) Davis, 506 Nolan.

Chosen as a second baseman, young Davis also pitched for the academy team and recently fashioned a no-hit game against the Chillico Indian School of Ponca City, Okla.

In Regional play, he hurled a 6-0 shutout over Rose Hill High School, Rose Hill, Kan. St. John's Academy lost in the state tournament to Victoria, Kan., which proceeded on to the championship. Bill wound up with a batting average of .374 on the year.

Other Academy players American Little League All-named to the all-district team Stars and threw a no-hitter in included Marvin Weber, a championship game at An-Herlington, Kan.; Bobby Briggs, man, Iuka, Kan.; and Kurt Bill will be graduated from Fuqua, Winfield, the Academy Sunday evening.

Bill also qualified for the at which time his parents will in- the broad jump but was. He then plans to enroll at St. unable to compete due to his John's College in Winfield and baseball commitments. will attend there for two years Young Davis was an outstand- before transferring to Fort Young pitcher in Little League and Wayne College, Ind. Sophomore Teen-Ace league. Presently, he has designs on play here. When 14 years of obtaining a degree in Theology ago, he fanned 20 South league from the Concordia Seminary in batters in one game for a rec. St. Louis, Mo., a Lutheran ord that still stands school. ## LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

It probably won't be difficult for Coach Dan LeGrasta to fire up his San Angelo Central football team next Oct. 4 for its third conference game of the year.

The Bobcats visit Odessa that Saturday night to clash with Odessa Permian. The Panthers have been such a thorn in the sides of the Bobcats down through the years the San Angelo boys invariably get high for the test.

Some one in Odessa added fuel to the flames the other night by refusing admission through the gates to three San Angelo coaching aides who dropped in to see Permian's annual spring game.

One of the people denied admission to the game was Ken Fannon, a former Permian coach who now is on the San Angelo Staff.

One of those who should remember the Kentucky Derby Day, 1969, with a great deal of relish is Texan Ernie Koy, now a running back with the New York Giants.

Ernie mistakenly asked for the wrong ticket number on a horse he wanted to bet during the program. Stuck with four $50 tickets on the animal, he tried to peddle them without success.

The hangtall came in—at odds of 24-1. That's paying off to the tune of $4,800.

Don McDonald, who left here to become head basketball coach at Texas A&I, guided the Javelinas to a new school scoring record the past season—2,098 points in 28 games.

One of A&I's players, already in the fold when McDonald arrived there, Chuck Meyer, ended a four-year collegiate career with seven school records. Meyer was one of five A&I athletes named to the Outstanding College Athletes of America list.

When Big Springer Doyle Parker takes up his coaching duties at Devine this year, he'll be matching his moxie against an old 3-AAAA protagonist—Dick Lowery of Carrizo Springs. Lowery formerly was a JV coach at San Angelo.

Pitcher Bob Gibson didn't lose his sense of humor when the St. Louis Cardinals were in the throes of a losing streak recently. Said he:

"The way we're playing, there are times when I feel like getting up in the stands—so I could boo, too."

The Dallas Cowboys must be wondering what effect Richmond Flowers' troubles will have on his ability as a football player.

Flowers' world caved in on him some time back when his father, Richmond Flowers Sr., was convicted of financial wrong doing in high government office. He faces a possible eight-year prison sentence, although his case is on appeal.

Richmond Jr., could have been brooding about his family woes for a long time, because he was tried and found wanting in the last Olympic trials (he's a hurdler). A badly torn thigh muscle put him in dry dock for two months. He returned to action just before the trials at Lake Tahoe against a field he had beaten in its entirety at one time or another. He ran fourth, however, and missed the trip to Mexico City.

Drafted by Dallas in the second round, young Flowers has not yet signed. There are hints he will shuck it all in the states and go to Canada to play football but few believe that.

Richmond is still running the hurdles, which is the big reason he hasn't considered a pro football contract. He would like to break the world record in the highs (13.2) before he packs it in.

Junior Tour Dates Set

Golfers 12 to 17 years of age are eligible to play on a Junior Golf Tour, which begins in Plainview June 2.

The linksters will play Big Spring twice, competing first at the County Club July 23 and the Big Spring Mundy the following day.

The tour, sponsored by the West Texas chapter of the PGA, will be climaxed by a Tournament of Champions Aug. 26-27.

Three age brackets are provided for contestants: 12-13, 14-15 and 16-17. Players must win at least one meet in their age bracket to become eligible for the Tournament of Champions.

Last year's tour provided two $500 scholarships to colleges. Other stops include:

Lloyd Ruby Needs Win For Prestige

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Offy in the Memorial Day classic in 20th position in the 33-car field.

It was one of the worst qualifying efforts in his 10 years at the Speedway.

Ruby has had an illustrious career in almost every phase of auto racing. He has hinted recently that he is thinking of retiring.

But after hearing Laux's remarks, the laconic Texan merely smiled.

"Let's say I'm getting my golf game in shape," he said.

Ruby will be starting his 10th straight 500. His best finish was third in 1964, but he leads all other active drivers in miles driven at Indy, 3,902.5 in nine races.

Laux and the other members of the team had expected the car to do better than the 166.428 miles per hour average it posted for four laps, or 10 miles. Ruby had hit 168-plus in practice, Laux said.

"We're still in good shape, but we'll be half a lap behind at most from the start. Our hope is that the Offy will prove more reliable than the Fords," Laux commented.

Laux and the team had the No. 4 racer completely disassembled in the garage area Tuesday. "We're going through it, checking every minute part," he said. "Maybe we'll come up with something new by race day."

Ruby, at 41 a veteran of 23 years on the tracks, will start his Win's Spitfire turbocharged

Acceleration tests and pit crew practice were the only items on the Speedway agenda today. The acceleration tests will give drivers some badly needed practice on the 2.5-mile course.

Rufneks Book Omaha Pros

MIDLAND — Lou Rymkus, general manager and head coach of the West Texas Rufneks, has announced that the team will kick off the season with a charity game against the Omaha Mustangs in Midland's Memorial Stadium Saturday night, Aug. 16.

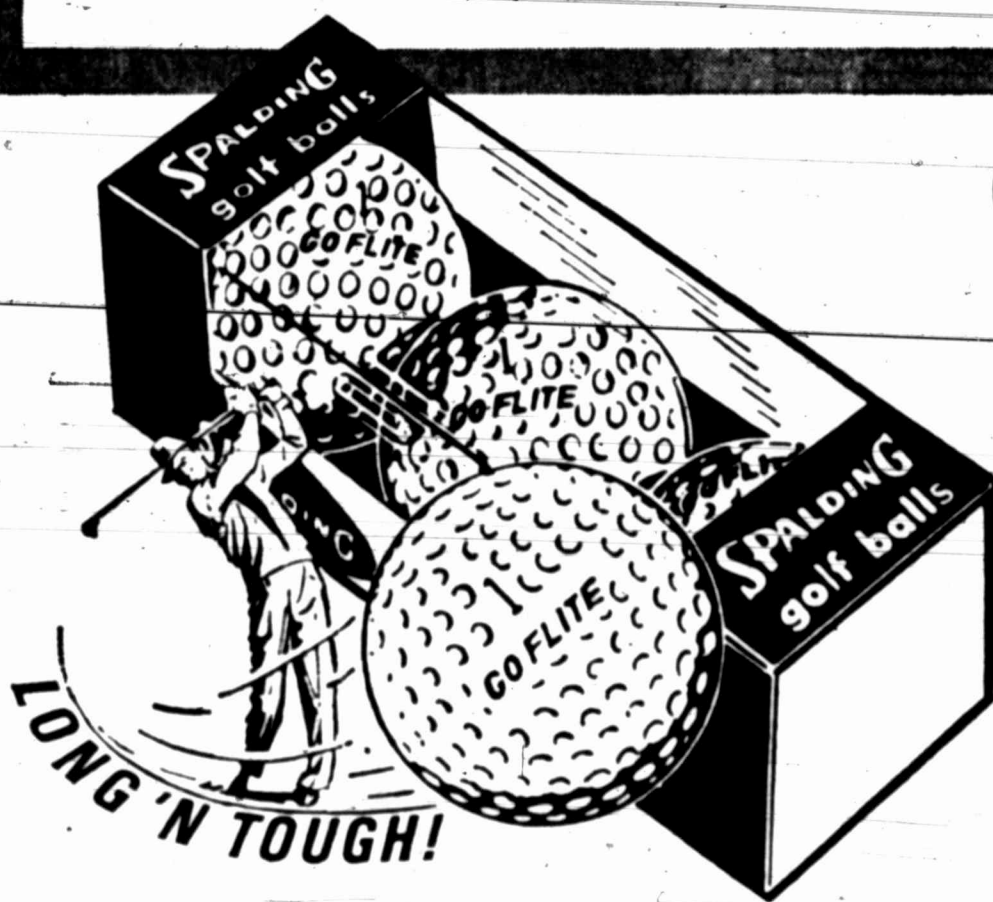

Omaha is in the Continental league. The Rufneks are in the Texas Professional league, which is affiliated with the Continental circuit.

Omaha, noted for its defense, has led the Central Division of that circuit in that phase of the game the past two seasons.

Don Purcell, 215-pound linebacker; and Dick Fitzgerald, 250-pound tackle, are bulwarks in the Omaha line. Other standouts with Omaha include Tandy Holmes, a defensive back; and Bob Antulov, a 6-7 260-pounder, who plays defensive end.

Former Nebraska star Bob Churchich quarterbacked the Mustangs. Last year a rookie in the circuit, Churchich was eighth in the continental league in passing.

Kidnaper Krist Plans 'Deathless Prose' Bid

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — Sharp-tongued and contemptuous, Gary Steven Krist began a life sentence in prison describing himself as "a man of wit, charm and deathless prose."

"I will write a book and contemplate the error of my ways," he said shortly before being transferred from the DeKalb County jail to the state prison system's diagnostic center at Jackson for processing Tuesday.

He added, "I say that somewhat facetiously."

Krist, 24, was convicted Monday of kidnaping Emory University coed Barbara Jane Mackle and burying her in a plywood box from which she was rescued after her millionaire father, Robert Mackle of Miami, Fla., paid a $500,000 ransom.

The jury recommended mercy, saving Krist from the electric chair and making a life sentence mandatory.

"I intend to appeal this case, of course," Krist said Tuesday. "What else have I got to do for the rest of my life?"

Krist still wore the heavy black beard he had during his trial when he was led out of the jail. His legs were shackled.

"In the vague and distant future, when I have rheumatism and gout, I'll step out of the doors of prison and walk on a moving sidewalk," Krist mused during an interview in his jail before his transfer. "I'll dodge a jet-propelled hover-craft and stumble around wondering how I got into the next century."

"Sentencing me to prison was absolutely not the right way to bring about a reformation of my character. In toto, I've been in prison five years and I've not seen a single person—everyone else calls them convicts—reformed by it."

Krist is an escapee from a California prison.

He also had some comments about the FBI.

"I used to think they were the elite of law enforcement," he said. "They totally ignored police procedure in this case. I never was put into a line-up."

He said that when he was arrested on Hog Island on the Gulf Coast of Florida, FBI agents "stripped me stark nude and never gave me a property receipt. Is that standard police procedure?"

"The kidnaper had to be certain that the infallible FBI would find the girl," Krist said. "Yet, despite specific instructions, the dumb-dumbs didn't know where to look."

"They dug her out with tin shovels."

Krist, who has a wife and two small boys in California, was asked if he thought his wife would divorce him.

"I'll leave it to her," he said. "I haven't decided. I'm not the injured party. A marriage is a binding contractual arrangement."

At the foot of a personal history form he filled out before entering the state prison system, there was a space for him to list the names of close friends and relatives.

He wrote, "none."

'Truth In Lending Bill' Bites Dust

AUSTIN (AP) — A "truth in lending bill" that Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado calls a "truth in usury bill" apparently is dead for this session of the legislature.

Patman filibustered the bill in the Senate Jurisprudence Committee Tuesday. He said it would hike allowable interest rates on a $1,000 loan from 19.75 per cent under the original bill to 24.25 per cent under a committee substitute.

Patman called it a "truth in usury bill" and said it hiked allowable interest rates on a $1,000 loan from 19.75 per cent under the original bill to 24.25 per cent under a committee substitute.

Patman filibustered for 50 minutes. The committee adjourned on a point of order that it previously approved a motion to adjourn at 3:15 p.m., 15 minutes before the full Senate opened an afternoon session.

Sen. Charles Herring, Austin, committee chairman, said no more committee meetings are planned.

Sen. Jim Bates, Edinburg, sponsor of the House-passed bill, tried to take the floor away from Patman on a point of order that a bill cannot be filibustered in committee.

"We operate under the rules of the Senate, which permit unlimited debate," Herring said. "The point of order is overruled."

Sen. William Moore, Bryan, said a filibuster in committee had "never happened before and I've been here 22 years."

"There's always something new," Herring said. "I know, you're an innovator," Moore said.

The committee approved bills that would:

—Permit a parking lot operator to remove unauthorized cars and store them at the owner's expense.

—Add LSD to the list of dangerous drugs. This is a corrective bill that repairs a similar one passed in 1967 but which was held invalid by the courts on a technicality.

—Prevent a man from claiming immunity from prosecution because he was under the influence of drugs at the time he committed a crime.

—Permit the Greater Southwest Corp. in Arlington to build and operate a liquor warehouse.

To Celebrate Klondike Days Surviving Quints Don't Even Plan To Get Together

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Preston Smith said Tuesday they will go to Edmonton, Canada, July 16-20 with the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang to help celebrate the Klondike Days' Celebration.

Smith will be honorary marshal of the annual parade July 17 and will officially open the nine-day celebration of the old gold rush days that night.

The Klondike Days Celebration is honoring Texas this year, specifically its sister city of Odessa.

The Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang, a non-profit group of businessmen, will set a new record for serving barbecue with all the western trimmings with 35,000 expected for one featured meal.

MONTREAL (AP) — The four surviving Dionne quintuplets are 35 years old today but plan no special celebrations. They don't even plan to get together about a celebration," explained Germain Allard, who is married to Annette and acts as an unofficial spokesman for her and her sisters Marie, Yvonne and Cecile.

Allard said also his three young sons are studying for their final examinations and "we feel that their exams are more important than celebrations."

Allard said the closest thing to a birthday party would be a "very intimate gathering" Saturday night at his home in suburban St. Bruno.
