SCHOLARSHIPS Aggies Set Annual Feast For Thursday

Did you hear about the Aggie who had a barbecue and forgot to cook it?

Not really, but there is this business of the Aggies who planned their annual scholarship banquet and nearly forgot to remind their friends about it.

All of which points up the fact that the big event is set for Thursday evening at the City Park Amphitheatre.

Serving will begin at 6 p.m. and will continue until everyone has been fed. A highlight of the evening will be the announcement of the scholarship winner by Jim Bill Little, president of the Texas A&M Club.

Tickets ($1.50 for adults, all children under 12 are admitted free) are being offered by members of the Aggie Club, or may be had by calling Little or Paschal Odom at (267-7341).

The Aggie scholarship barbecue is famed in these parts. Plates are heaped with barbecue and all the trimmings, and there is a bountiful supply of beverage.

Net proceeds from the affair go to paying for a scholarship for four years for some deserving young man. Last year's winner was R. J. Englert of Big Spring.

Nab Escapees From Eastland

LOXOK, Ark. (AP) — Officers arrested two escapees from the Eastland County, Tex., jail Tuesday on Interstate 40 near Loxoke when the two stopped their car to pick up two women hitchhikers.

Loxoke Police Chief Curtis W. Lowery identified the two as Leroy Mangum, 18, and Kendall W. Seeboarn, 20, who escaped the Eastland jail May 25. State police said they were each serving 10 years for rape.

Two homemade knives and a rifle were found in the car, Lowery said.

The women, who were hitchhiking to Memphis, were released.

An agent of the Arkansas Commerce Commission saw them stop to pick up the women and relayed a message about them to the National Crime Information Center in Washington and the center confirmed they were wanted, Lowery said.

Gauges Catch More Moisture

An additional 1.4 inch of rain pattered down on Big Spring early Wednesday morning. Over the county, even heavier falls were reported. Lomax, already saturated by heavy rains of the spring, had from 3 to 5 inch.

On the Wilkerson Ranch, west of town where some of the heaviest rains of the year have occurred, another half inch was reported last night. Elbow had from 3 to 5 inch.

As on other recent occasions, lighter rains fell in the north half of the county. Knott had a sprinkle and none fell at Luther. Luther farmers would like to have a little share of the generally prevalent showers. Crops are looking well, the farmers said, but a little moisture would be of great help in continuing their flourishing condition. Just a sprinkle fell at Vealmoor.

Here in Big Spring, the U.S. Experiment Station's gauges showed 1.4 which brought to 22 inches the total rain for the first three days of June. It also pushed the year's total close to 12 inches. The figure today was 11.94 for the first five months of the year.

Temperatures continued to remain low and the high Tuesday was 73 degrees. Low last night was 59 and Wednesday was equally cool. Partly cloudy skies were still in evidence at 11 a.m.

Sulphur Queen Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — A lawyer seeking damages for survivors of the men drowned when the Marine Sulphur Queen disappeared in 1963 contends the Coast Guard failed to properly inspect the ship.

The statement — read from a Coast Guard hearing report — was made Tuesday in the court suit by relatives of the victims.

Another witness said the tanker may have been sent to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico by a freak sea.

Donald E. Klein, the plaintiffs' lawyer read an excerpt from a Coast Guard investigation report of Aug. 23, 1963, which said Coast Guard inspectors "failed to make a sufficiently detailed inspection of the cargo tanks, tank fittings and surrounding void areas."

Klein said the report added, "A more careful inspection . . . should have been made by the Coast Guard inspector to adequately assess the condition of the vessel."

Couple Young Cubans Stow Away On Jet

MADRID (AP) — Two young Cubans stowed away above the wheels of a Spanish jetliner in Havana Tuesday night, but one apparently fell to his death a few minutes after the plane took off.

The other stowaway, 22-year-old Armando Socarras Ramirez, fell unconscious and half frozen from his hiding place behind the DC8's left wheel after it landed in Madrid. He was reported in grave condition.

Socarras rode for seven and a half hours at 29,000 feet, with no breathing aids and only the wheel cover protecting him from a temperature outside estimated at 40 below zero.

After regaining consciousness, he told hospital officials that he had a companion who hid behind the plane's right wheel.

The pilot of the Iberia Airlines plane, Cmdr. Valentin Vara del Rey, had said earlier he noticed nothing unusual about the flight. But later he told officials his right wheel didn't retract properly after he took off.

Vara del Rey said he notified the Havana tower of this, but he said a second attempt brought the wheel up without any trouble. Officials theorized that Socarras' companion fell out when the pilot lowered the wheel for the second retraction try.

Hospital officials did not immediately disclose the identity of the second stowaway.

Sen. Fulbright Rips Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright said today the system of budget priorities that puts 10 times the amount into military spending that is invested in educating and training young Americans is "cock-eyed."

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told a Senate House economic subcommittee:

"The greatest threat to peace and domestic tranquility is not in Hanoi, Moscow and Peking but in our colleges and in the ghettos of cities throughout our land."

"I believe there would be far less unrest and divisiveness in our society today if the Congress were as willing to vote $85 billion for rebuilding our cities and creating a better life here, as it was to finance the disastrous war in Vietnam," he added.

Urging a congressional crackdown on military spending, Fulbright said the time has come to re-establish national priorities "which will give America's young people hope for the future."

"Congress has it within its power to give assurance to our nation's youth that they do have a future," he said, "a future in which their government puts the happiness and well-being of its citizens above Pan Americana and foreign adventures."

In other testimony, history Prof. James L. Clayton of the University of Utah said the Defense Department is "grossly undervaluing" the cost of the Vietnam war.

He said department figures indicate military Vietnam expenditures will have totaled $110 billion by the end of the next fiscal year.

"But the most striking thing," he added, "is that the greatest costs are yet to come" including veterans benefits and interest payments on the war debt that he said could bring "the ultimate cost to three times the initial cost."

INSISTS ITS FORCES STILL OCCUPY 'ADVANTAGEOUS POSITION' Reds Disclose Battlefield Reverses

SAIGON (AP) — Piles of captured documents show the Communist high command in Vietnam is acknowledging grave battlefield reverses but insisting its forces still occupy "the most advantageous position."

Plans have been drawn for a series of summer and fall campaigns which the Reds hope will drive that latter part home to the United States and to the world.

Extensive documentation indicates that the prime fear of Hanoi's war strategists is that a strong government may emerge in Saigon behind a shield of

Calls For Resurgence Of American Idealism

Wants Army To Wipe Out Deadly Gases

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A former congressman went to federal court today, seeking to force the Army to get rid of deadly gases it has stored at Rocky Mountain Arsenal, near Denver's busy airport.

Included in the suit was a scientist's report contending the Army has stored enough lethal gas at the arsenal to wipe out the world's present population many times over.

Former U.S. Rep. Byron L. Johnson, a member of the University of Colorado faculty, and four others brought the suit as a class action on behalf of all residents of the area.

They asked a federal judge for an injunction prohibiting the government from storing "chemical and biological warfare agents in any shape or manner" at the arsenal.

Defendants are Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor and Lt. Col. John A. Bryan, commander of the arsenal.

The memorandum included an exhibit in the suit, signed by two University of Colorado physicists and three other scientists and an attorney, quoted Lt. Col. S. J. Elnor, commander of the arsenal in 1954, as saying:

"The gas from a single bomb the size of a quart fruit jar could kill every living thing within a cubic mile, depending on the wind and weather conditions . . . a tiny drop of the gas in its liquid form on the back of a man's hand will paralyze his nerves instantly and deaden his brain in a few seconds. Death will follow in 30 seconds."

The report said steel canisters shown in a 1963 newspaper photograph could contain enough poison gas to kill the entire present population of the world 33 times.

Plane Crash Hurts Three

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP) — Three persons injured in an early morning crash in the rugged hill country of northwest Kerr County were brought to a Junction hospital for treatment.

The Department of Public Safety in Austin said identifications and extent of injuries were not immediately available.

The two passengers in the private plane were evacuated from the crash scene to a little grocery store at the junction of US 83 and Texas 41, about 40 miles west of Kerrville.

After examination and preliminary treatment the two passengers and the injured pilot were airlifted one at a time to a Junction hospital, the DPS said.

Officers said the first word of the crash came from the injured pilot, not identified at once, who used the craft's compass and mad his way to U.S. 83. A motorist picked him up there and took him about 25 miles north into Junction.

Navy Abandons Search For 73 Crewmen Missing

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — The Navy has called off its search for 73 seamen missing from a U.S. destroyer cut in half by an Australian carrier during SEATO maneuvers.

"We have absolute confidence that we have picked up all survivors," said a Navy spokesman in announcing the end of search operations by 10 ships from three nations.

Most of those given up for lost — nearly a third of the destroyer Evans' crew — were presumed sleeping in their bunks in the forward part of the ship when it was hit by the carrier Melbourne, flagship of the Australian Navy, in pre-dawn hours about 650 miles southwest of Manila in the Philippines Tuesday. The forward section quickly sank in 5,400 feet of water.

Seas were calm and skies clear at the time of the collision and remained so during the rescue efforts.

Adm. John J. Hyland, Pacific Fleet commander, ordered a court of inquiry similar to the Navy's probe into the seizure of the intelligence ship Pueblo.

The still-floating stern section of the Evans was being towed to the Philippines by a fleet tug late Tuesday when the Pentagon began releasing names of the casualties.

Among the lost were the three Sage brothers of Niobrara, Neb. — Boatswain's Mate 2-C. Gary, 22, Radarman 3-C. Gregory, 21, and Seaman Appren, Kelly, 19.

Fireman Lawrence J. Reilly Jr. of Costa Mesa, Calif., perished; but his father, Senior Chief Gunner's Mate Lawrence J. Reilly Sr., was a survivor.

Navy headquarters listed 199 Evans survivors and one dead in addition to the 73 missing. The Melbourne had no casualties.

One of the survivors was Seaman Marcus Rodriguez, 20, Fresno, Calif., who was flown to a hospital in Cam Rahn Bay with a broken leg.

"I still can't believe it," he said. "The only thing I recall is a helicopter taking me somewhere."

Other survivors were enroute to Subic Bay, the Philippines, aboard the carrier Kearsarge. They included the skipper, Cmdr. A. S. McLemore.

A sunset memorial service was held aboard the Kearsarge before the carrier headed for Subic Bay.

The 705-foot Melbourne's bow was badly gashed above the water line and its flight deck damaged.

It set course for Singapore, where it will undergo repairs.

In Sidney, officials said the collision occurred when the destroyer was moving from a position forward of the Melbourne to one astern.

U.S. naval officials refused to speculate on the cause.

The collision came as some 40 warships of six Southeast Asia Treaty Organization nations were on maneuvers.

On Feb. 10, 1964, the 25,000-ton Melbourne cut in two an Australian escort destroyer, the HMAS Voyager, with a loss of 82 lives.

Nixon Admits Isolationists Offer Formula

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — President Nixon told graduates of the Air Force Academy today that the nation needs "a resurgence of American idealism" to counter new isolationists who have declared "open season on the Armed Forces."

In an address prepared for the academy's commencement exercises, Nixon told the young men entering military service that "potential adversaries abroad were never stronger and your critics at home were never more numerous."

The President said the critics are for a return to isolationism and that their appeal with such slogans as "Let's first solve our own problems and then we can deal with the problems of the world," should never be underestimated.

He said they offer a simple formula, that "touches a responsible chord with many an overburdened taxpayer." But he said that adoption of their views would be disastrous for the nation, would leave the world "living in terror" in the kind of peace "that suffocated freedom in Czechoslovakia."

Nixon said, "I believe a resurgence of American idealism can bring about a modern miracle — a world order of peace and justice."

While some see the nation's commitments around the world as a form of militarism he said abandonment of them would be "to have America turn away from greatness." The commander in chief said:

"Skeptics do not build societies; the idealists are the builders. Only societies that believe in themselves can rise to their challenges. Let us not, then, pose a false choice between meeting our responsibilities abroad and meeting the needs of our people at home. We shall meet both or shall meet neither."

Nixon stopped overnight in Colorado Springs before heading west to his new California home, and, on Sunday to Midway Island for a summit conference with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

At no point in his academy address did he make any substantive reference to the Vietnam war.

The President said his remarks about new isolationists did not refer to "those responsible critics who reveal waste and inefficiency in our defense establishment, who demand clear answers on procurement policies, who want to make sure a new weapons system will truly add to our defense."

Agents Seize Guns, Ammo

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal agents raided the headquarters of the militant Black Panthers today, arrested eight persons and seized a quantity of weapons and ammunition.

About 35 FBI agents conducted the early morning raid on the two-story headquarters on the West Side, at 2559 W. Madison St.

A number of city police were stationed nearby in case of trouble in the predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Marlin W. Johnson, special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, said the agents were seeking George Sams Jr., a fugitive from New Haven, Conn., who is charged with murder and kidnaping.

Sams was not among those arrested.

The agents cordoned off the area around the headquarters and then, using a bullhorn, called on those inside to come out. The agents were armed with machine guns, shotguns, rifles and pistols. Several took up positions on the roof of the headquarters.

A Devotional For The Day

God forbid that I should sin against the Lord in ceasing to pray for you. (1 Samuel 12:23)

PRAYER: "O Thou who settest the solitary in families, help us to strengthen one another through the ministry of united prayer. Remember especially today our loved ones separated from us. Bring us all at least to that home which Thou hast prepared for us; through Him who is the resurrection and the life." Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Key To Peace Talks

The Midway Island meeting this weekend between President Nixon and South Vietnam Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu probably will be much more crucial to the Paris peace negotiations than its laconic announcement suggests.

On the surface, the Saigon regime has appeared in full accord with the negotiating stance that the Nixon administration recently adopted, though that involved concessions that the Thieu government has heretofore resisted and posed responsibilities that it may not be politically prepared to meet. The scheduled one-day summit meeting, however, indicates that Nixon may have some delicate but imperative personal persuasion work to accomplish.

That conclusion is strengthened by the fact that Thieu and his advisers have been in close consultation with the adult and experienced U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Secretary of State William P. Rogers for days, but still consider a meeting between Thieu and Nixon essential, or at least expedient. There would seem to be only two reasons for that.

One apparently is that the Saigon government wants further assurance that any U.S. troop withdrawal will not be, from the viewpoint of its own military capabilities, either premature or excessive. And perhaps they need Nixon's face-to-face confirmation of U.S. determination to end its participation in the war as soon as possible in order to decide to make the all-out effort they must to ready the South Vietnamese forces for full responsibility for their national security.

The other reason is that the Thieu government must want a clearer idea of what it will be up against if the Paris peace talks succeed to the point where a mutually satisfactory political settlement must be made within South Vietnam. The Saigon regime may well doubt its political popularity to meet the challenge of free elections, internationally supervised, while also questioning what effect the Nixon proposals might have on its constitutional legitimacy.

The drama of the "summit meeting" is somewhat dampened, of course, by the fact that it can only discuss questions that will remain hypothetical until and if both Hanoi and the Viet Cong revise their positions sufficiently to make a settlement likely. But a Nixon-Thieu agreement at Midway must be the forerunner to any further progress in Paris toward peace in Southeast Asia.

No Representational Criteria

There is no constitutional, ethical or logical reason why there should be any racial or religious representation on the U.S. Supreme Court. It is well that this point should have been clearly made by the one man who could not be charged with prejudice, or lack of objectivity, in making it.

Former Associate Justice Arthur Goldberg, one of several Jewish justices to sit on the high bench, said "I'm very much against a Jewish seat on the court," and that he did not consider his appointment as such. The former U.N. ambassador properly went further: "There is no need in our democracy to appoint a man to any institution of government to preserve a so-called racial balance."

Associate Justice Thurgood Marshall was hailed as the first Negro appointee to the U.S. Supreme Court, but that was not because there should be a "Negro seat" — or Mexican-American or Italian or Polish or any other ethnic representation — on the court. The point is that the Marshall appointment marked the end of prejudicial exclusion of Negroes from the court, as did the naming of the first Jewish justice.

Also, there is no reason why there should be any geographical representation on the Supreme Court, because that is irrelevant to the court's task. It would be naive to think that a president does not include political considerations in his court nominations — including racial, religious, geographical and partisan, though presidents of the major parties have appointed opposition-party members. Character, integrity, legal authority, and a judicious temperament, however, should be the determining factors.

Actually, we do not think that the future shape of the U.S. Supreme Court, or the nature of its decisions, can be positively determined, or even greatly influenced, by any representational selection of justice nominees. Membership on the court invokes a mystique that makes a justice's future attitude unpredictable.

Governor Of Texas Might Add Code Of Ethics To Agenda

By GARTH JONES

It's a good bet that when Gov. Preston Smith gets around to calling a special session of the legislature, either this summer or next, he will consider adding a code of ethics to the agenda.

Despite Smith's recommendations in his first speech to the first legislature, despite Senate approval and despite recommendations of a House committee, House leaders refused to let representatives debate a code of ethics bill in the final days of the legislature.

THE HOUSE leaders stand, which reversed House stands on such bills in three previous sessions, undoubtedly will be discussed at length before the vote on legislators' pay raise Aug. 5 and possibly before legislators are re-elected next June.

In his Jan. 23 speech to the new legislature, Smith said he thought voters turned down a pay raise for legislators in 1968 because of "conflict of interest" arguments. Smith recommended a Constitution change that would clearly define, and prohibit, conflict of interest entanglements by legislators and state officials. And Smith recommended an appointive, non-legislative watchdog commission to administer the code.

THE GOVERNOR'S recommendation is tion was pigeon-holed quickly in a House committee, along with several other House conflict of interest proposals. Not a one was ever allowed out for floor debate.

The Senate was slow to act on several code of ethics bills but finally the Senate bill was approved 21-0 May 26 and sent to the House. The House State Affairs Committee got the Senate-passed bill May 29 but it was not until May 31 that a quickie session of the committee cleared it for floor debate. That call for debate never came in the two days remaining of the session.

The Senate-approved bill said generally that it should be "the policy of the legislature that no officer or employee of a state agency, member of the legislature or legislative employee should have any interest, financial or otherwise, direct or indirect, or engage in any business or transaction or professional activity or incur any obligation of any nature which is in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his duties in the public interest."

SPECIFICALLY the Senate bill would require legislators to file before Jan. 30 of each year a statement giving the names of any relatives employed by the state government plus the details of any business transactions between the legislator and any state agency.

Additional pressure likely will be brought on legislators this summer as lawyers and judges all through the nation consider their public image in light of the Abe Fortas controversy. Twenty of Texas' senators are lawyers and so are 58 of the 150 House members. A few are former local judges.

The American Bar Association is preparing a new code of professional responsibility that will be submitted for adoption to the ABA's house of delegates in August. If approved it will be binding on the association's 130,000 members who are practicing lawyers and judges. The proposed code says "A lawyer should avoid even the appearance of professional impropriety."

THE ABA'S canons of judicial ethics, applying only to judges, say that a judge's "personal behavior, not only upon the bench and in the performance of his judicial duties, but also in his everyday life should be beyond reproach."

Billy Graham

My husband is drinking more and more and I am afraid that he will become an alcoholic. What can I do to help him before it is too late? R.F.

Go to God and He will show you if there is anything in your life that could tend to "drive" your husband to drink. If you are cross and everything is disagreeable at home that could be a contributing factor. If you are thoroughly right with God yourself and are living a spiritual life, the Scripture gives you great promise that through you he will be attracted to Christ.

I would suggest also that you pray continually and watch for an opportunity to speak to your husband. I would move heaven and earth and never quit until he is genuinely converted to Christ. A genuinely converted man will have power to overcome any habit.

Hal Boyle

Hal Saves Just About Everything

NEW YORK (AP) — I cannot understand people who like to throw things away.

A friend of mine, as soon as he gets this week's issue of a magazine, immediately takes last week's issue and thrusts it into the incinerator, whether he has finished reading it or not.

Another friend, when he buys a new pair of shoes, has the habit of discarding an old pair. He follows the same policy with suits, neckties, hats and girlfriends.

When I ask him why, he says in surprise:

"WHY NOT?" Who wants to clutter up his life?"

Well, for one, I do. I believe that clutter is one of the few things that make life meaningful.

It is my philosophy that when a person throws away anything that has belonged to him, he is discarding his own immortality.

One of the happiest men I ever met was a string collector.

He would sit into a great ball several feet thick and put it on display outside a filling station he ran in a small Kansas town.

"People think I'm a bit odd," he said cheerfully. "But so far as I know, this is the second biggest ball of string in the whole wide world."

"THE ONLY guy who has a bigger ball is getting pretty well up in years, and I think in time I'll beat him. Meanwhile folks who have heard about my ball of string come from miles away to see how much it's grown, and while they're here they usually have me fill up their gas tanks, so it's good for business."

So far I haven't become a specialist in saving like that string collector. I save just about everything—old friends, old enemies, old love letters, old menu cards, and old clothing.

I still keep and wear a sweat shirt I bought in 1939. I still keep and wear an overcoat I bought in Canada in 1941. I still have one of the good luck combat boots I wore through the World War II and took later to Korea. The reason I don't have both of them is that the other one was stolen from me by a housemaid in Tokyo who thought that if one was missing, I'd leave the other behind.

John Cunniff U.S. Savings Bonds Misnamed

NEW YORK (AP) — In a strictly financial sense, U.S. Savings Bonds are misnamed, for those who purchase them lose rather than save. The reason is clear: Bonds pay 4.25 per cent, while inflation takes away 5 per cent.

Even that 4.25 per cent is misleading, for nobody earns it unless they retain their bonds to maturity. On Series E bonds no interest at all is earned in the first six months, and only in the fifth year is 4 per cent earned.

Better investments than bonds include savings and loan association shares at 4.75 per cent to 5.25 per cent, blue chip stocks that might rise in value as well as pay dividends, mutual funds and real estate.

THE ARITHMETIC of the situation is not overlooked by the American public, which has reduced the per cent of total savings going into bonds from 26 per cent at the beginning of the 1960s to just 12 per cent last year.

In addition, redemptions have been catching up with sales. In some months, in fact, more bonds have been cashed than purchased. In all 1968 the purchase balance was only $67 billion—on sales of $4.97 billion.

There is some question if even this small balance could be aligned without the payroll savings plans, under which bonds are deducted from paychecks automatically.

And the reasons for the success of the payroll deduction plan have been questioned. Accusations of coercion have been made from time to time by employees of federal agencies and especially by members of the military.

SO WHY NOT raise the interest rate? That's just what a panel of 67 of the nation's leading economists suggest that Congress do, for it is Congress which must act to change the 51-year-old rate ceiling on government bonds.

Suggestions for lifting this ceiling have been numerous during the past two years, but recommendations of the economists' panel may have an impact greater than all the others. Although they have no official standing in government, panel members do have much influence, both directly with members of Congress and the Nixon administration and indirectly by the weight of their reputations.

Included among them are Henry C. Wallace, an adviser to the present administration, Walter Heller and Raymond Sauter, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, and Murray Weidenbaum, who has been nominated for the job of assistant Treasury secretary.

The panel is concerned not only with the contrast between government bonds returns and other rates, and the resulting damage to the savings bond program, but for more complicated reasons also.

FOR EXAMPLE, the inability of the U.S. Treasury to borrow money for long terms—because the ceiling prevents it from offering competitive rates to lenders—has forced it into the shorter term markets.

To Your Good Health A Short, Sweet Rule For Pimples

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 13 and sometimes get a few pimples. My mother thinks she should pick them, to get the pus out, and I feel they should be left alone. What is right? S.M.

If the pimple is a red bump, leave it alone. Trying to pick or squeeze it can spread infection — the redness indicates infection.

But if there is a definite white "head" gentle pressure to expel the pus is all right. Don't squeeze hard enough to injure the surrounding skin. If gentle pressure doesn't work, wait and try again in a few days.

After the material is out, dab the area with rubbing alcohol.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a national diabetes organization? My husband, a diabetic, passed away. I would like to send some money, which was given as a memorial, to diabetes. I am sure that is what he would have wanted.

MRS. H. R. Association, 18 East 48th St., New York, N.Y. 10017. They can put such gifts to good use. Or you can check in the phone book or with your physician to see if there is a local unit in your city.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You say don't try to claim you caught a venereal disease from a toilet seat. People are people everywhere and I know that neither you nor anyone else will believe me when I say I do not know how, when, or where I got syphilis. My family, myself, and God know I speak the truth.

I would rather be remembered as a suicide than as syphilitic. So I beg you to answer three questions.

1 — I have had two series of penicillin treatments, and the blood test still shows. Can anything more be done?

2 — Is it possible to get syphilis from a blood transfusion?

3 — Will I die a horrible death?

DESPERATE. Stop being so desperate. It is possible, although rare, for the syphilis germ to enter the system in ways other than sexual contact. If your conscience is clear, what difference does it make? Your answers:

1 — Two series of treatments have undoubtedly subdued the infection, and you should forget about hunting for further treatment. There are some cases in which the blood test remains positive in spite of any amount of treatment — but the disease is gone. There are, also, a few conditions which, with some types of tests, give false positives. If you are that much concerned, a different test may show a negative response — in which case you may never have had the disease.

2 — Blood used in transfusions is always tested for syphilis before being used.

3 — No, you aren't going to die a horrible death — unless you worry yourself to death, which I hope you will not do. You've had adequate treatment.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only "minor" but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim It's Better Now

When you pile your belongings into the family car and hit the open road, for your vacation, thank your lucky star that things aren't as they were just half a century ago.

PRIOR TO World War I, most sensible people caught the train if they wanted to go any distance. Only adventurers, visionaries and fools dared to go cross country in cars.

This is difficult to understand in an age when you can zip down a well-engineered paved road at 70 miles an hour, listen to soft music, relax in air conditioned comfort, and scarcely ever feel a bump. In less than an hour, you can cover a distance that would have required a long day's drive in the days when the automobile and highways were just beginning to come of age. Besides, now there are service stations, motels and eating places every where — none of this hunting up the blacksmith shop or wagon yard.

THE "PIONEERS" of that day had a frail piece of machinery for a car. Today's compacts turn up much more horse power than the best of the early cars, which usually were four cylinder affairs depending upon their magnetos (attached to the fly wheel) to kick up enough spark to fire the engine. The power went through a set of coils to give the spark sufficient zip to do the job, and the points on the coils were forever striking.

Gasoline was fed by gravity to the engine, so that the motor would fire naturally through the radiator, and that wasn't really fast enough to keep it from boiling away. So a standard piece of equipment was a shovel, for primitive roads frequently dim rut or cow trails across pastures, or at best a hump of dirt scraped out of virgin sod and filled with roots and thorns, had vast sand dunes and, in season, mudholes.

ALSO A JACK, tire tools, tire patch and pumps were standard equipment. Tires were small and nearly as tender as baby's skin. If they had a blowout, (a big hole as distinguished from the small hole of a puncture) a boot was inserted inside the casing. This gave a bump every time the wheel turned over and made riding comparable to walking with a rock in your shoe. If all else failed, drivers "ran her on the rim," for there was no paving to scar, and besides the rim was about as sturdy as a wagon wheel.

ASTUTE MOTORISTS carried along a few strands of bailing wire for miscellaneous and emergency repairs. They generally included an extra container with a few gallons of gasoline, and perhaps one with lube oil (oil petcocks below the crankcase and transmission were forever getting knocked open by high centers of the road).

Air conditioning consisted of two choices: One was a set of window curtains — canvas affairs with elastic glass-covered narrow slits that passed for windows — which was supposed for wintertime to keep out the cold in the winter. The only heat came from the front floorboards. In the summer, some flipped the upper half of the windshield to a horizontal position. The sporty ones let the entire cloth top of the touring cars down. You got all the air (along with dust, bugs, etc.) that nature had to offer.

If you were lucky and didn't have a breakdown, you might make 60.75 miles a day. And what did you do — collapse and complain? No, sir, you huddled over with enthusiasm, bragging about what good time you made.

—JOE PICKLE

Holmes Alexander Nixon Should Start A Divorce Mill

WASHINGTON — This writer friend from New York City was in town to research an Esquire piece called New Men Around Nixon, and he was hating the assignment.

"They're all boring," he told me. "There're no real talents, soft pressure, salesmen, efficiency engineers, with an occasional do-gooder like George Romney. They don't have any Republican personality as we had in Barry Goldwater."

STILL, I TOLD HIM it was a vast relief in an Inaugural Year not to have the Golden Boys of JFK or the Strenuous Can-Do Men of LBJ. The Nixontones may be somewhat boring, but they're restful.

My suspicion was, I told him, that the Nixontones are boring because they're stuck with so many left-over projects which are unnatural to a Republican regime. We haven't had a Republican war since McKinley, and haven't had Democratic peace-time since Cleveland.

"The Republicans are going to get a GOP Supreme Court but what they need is a good divorce lawyer," said a twice-divorced visitor. "They ought to get the kind of programs that Republicans can happily live with."

THAT WAS TRUE, I agreed. There aren't enough Supreme Court seats to accommodate all the Republican lawyers that the President admires. The remainder might be formed into a legislative divorce mill to liquidate the Democratic harm that clutters up the statute books.

"Like foreign aid which started with Roosevelt and Truman," he said.

Foreign aid, I agreed, was a wife-in name only to a Republican President like Richard Nixon. He couldn't have any affection for a program that has become a wrinkled old hag, and ought to have died with the Marshall Plan.

"FARM SUBSIDIES is another old crone which ought to be divorced," he said.

Farmers, I agreed, had stopped voting Republican long ago, and it was their defection to Harry Truman that upset Thomas Dewey in 1948.

"The War on Poverty is a Democratic husvy whom the President could well divorce," he said.

RICHARD NIXON, I admitted, had been elected by the well-off suburbanites and by the Southern bourbons whom Strom Thurmond had been able to take away from George Wallace. But the Democrats had made such an institution of Poverty that it's established bag-and-baggage in the political house. Mr. Nixon has reduced some of the Poverty programs, but he has started some others. He has moved in to the Democrats and started the un-Republican program of giveaway food. It'll be remarkable if less people ever do another stroke of work in the United States. Is that a Republican ideal?

"NIXON SHOULD divorce himself and his party from all these Democratic camp-followers," my visitor said. "What an article I could write for Esquire about the New Men Around Nixon if they were all at work liquidating the Democratic harm that is still keeping house in this Republican Administration!"

David Lawrence An Aid To Industrial Growth

WASHINGTON — There has been a good deal of talk in Congress lately about repealing the 7 per cent investment tax credit which has been granted to companies for industrial expansion under a law passed in 1962. Just because it looks on the surface that corporations are getting a break, it becomes natural for voices to be raised with the argument that special favor is being given to a group.

Actually, the investment tax credit, instead of proving to be inflationary, may in the long run turn out to be a stabilizing influence in the national economy.

FOR WHAT THE government started seven years ago in revising its depreciation rules on taxes was to stimulate the continuous growth and modernization of industrial production. This eventually can bring lower prices on some products and also can help certain industries which at present are being injured by foreign competition.

Thus, the steel industry is finding that Japan and other countries can sell their products in the United States at lower prices because even adding the charges for transportation, their labor and production costs are less than those of American companies. In 1962, for instance, steel imports entering the United States amounted to only 5.6 per cent of domestic steel consumption. But now they have risen to an all-time high, and in 1968, represented 17.960,000 tons, or 16.7 per cent of domestic steel consumption.

THE FACT IS that more steel is coming into America than is being sold to customers abroad by steel companies of the United States. This means, of course, that job opportunities for steel workers in this country are being adversely affected.

For the time being, many of the companies are already committed to some expenditures on projects that are in process of completion. So business spending in these particular operations is not going to be terminated at once. But those corporations which have been planning to undertake new programs of modernization will be discouraged from initiating them, and the total effect on the economic situation of the United States will be adverse.

THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY also has troubles with foreign competition. If there should be some more inventions which would enable textile manufacturers to cut their costs, they would be materially helped if the investment credit for capital expenditures were available.

WHAT MAY NOT be generally realized is that the United States is deeply involved in a commercial contest with many countries where labor costs are very low. Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans declares that the administration is determined to negotiate some form of textile import controls which would be on a voluntary basis. But some members of Congress are insisting that mandatory restrictions will be necessary if the negotiations for voluntary action are not successful. In this case, there is no demand for a cut-off of imports, but merely that quotas be established which will maintain the existing amount of imports from foreign countries. This may make even more necessary methods of cutting costs in American production.

BECAUSE THE average person is not usually well informed on these subjects, the tendency is to assume that corporations are getting some kind of advantage to which they are not entitled. Yet the 7 per cent investment credit was decided upon after careful consideration of the national as well as international factors. To repeal it now is certainly going to prove a discouraging development in American industry, particularly for the durable goods companies, which make the tools and machinery which are so essential in efficient production.

IN ANY AREA WHERE IT BEGINS PUTTING FREE TV OUT OF BUSINESS

Pay TV Will Be Yanked Off Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pay television will be yanked off the air in any area where it begins putting free TV out of business, says Rosel H. Hyde, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Hyde said in an interview, however, that fears of the proposed authorization of pay-TV would spell the end of free programs are unjustified.

In two months, the FCC has received about 150 letters from TV fans who believe—as opposition advertising suggests—that free TV is in danger.

Last Dec. 13, the FCC issued general rules for permitting pay-TV service, in which a broadcast signal is transmitted in a scrambled form that can only be unscrambled on the home TV set by use of a rented decoder.

The rules take effect June 12, but this does not mean an immediate start on pay-TV.

An appeal by the National Association of Theater Owners and Joint Committee Against Toll TV is under consideration by the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals, and the FCC has agreed not to authorize any pay-TV operations for 60 days after the court decision.

The National Association of Broadcasters also has expressed its opposition to pay-TV.

The FCC will permit one pay-TV station each in areas which already have at least four free commercial TV signals available, not counting educational stations in any area where it begins putting free TV out of business.

"We could even put them on a one-year license if we wished, to provide more frequent review of circumstances," he speculated, "but I'm not sure that would be necessary. Three years (the normal life of a broadcast license) might be enough."

This didn't satisfy a spokesman for the NAB who said "The rules won't work. The FCC will either alter them or abandon them. Either we stick with the present system or we'll wind up with all-pay television."

Hyde bridled at the thought.

He agreed the FCC might tighten up rules if loopholes were found but added, "The suggestion we might modify the rules to conduct siphoning off (programs from free TV) is repugnant to what was always our policy."

Forces, Planes, Artillery Kill 945 Reds In Highlands Fights

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops and heavy American air and artillery strikes have killed 945 North Vietnamese in three weeks of fighting around Dak To, in the Central Highlands military spokesman reported today.

The South Vietnamese and their American advisers also suffered heavy losses. More than 700 casualties were reported, including 157 government troops and 13 Americans killed, 453 South Vietnamese and 32 Americans wounded, 71 government soldiers and two Americans missing.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, troops of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment clashed twice with North Vietnamese forces while sweeping an enemy staging area in War Zone C, 55 miles northwest of Saigon. The Americans, who were operating in tanks and armored personnel carriers, said they killed 43 North Vietnamese. Americans suffered three wounded.

Twenty-two Vietnamese civilians were killed and 27 wounded in two incidents in the Mekong Delta today. A bus hit a mine 66 miles south of Saigon, killing 17 civilians and wounding seven. A Sabre jet was shot down deep in the delta 161 miles southwest of Saigon and the pilot was killed Tuesday. ## Rains Swamp In West Texas

By The Associated Press.

Showery weather lingered across Texas today and locally heavy rains all but swamped some areas.

One of the heaviest downpours descended in West Texas around Midland, where a thunderstorm dumped 2.42 inches during the night. For a time high water blocked Texas 158 northwest of town but Midland streets remained open.

Rainfall amounts elsewhere included Victoria 1.79, Abilene 1.46, College Station 1.12, Austin 1.02, Presidio 8.3 and Palacios .51. Many points received around one-half inch or less.

By this morning skies were clear in extreme West Texas, and the Panhandle, but showers and occasional thunderstorms provided a broad stretch of South Texas and parts of East Texas.

Weather Bureau observers looked for still more thunder showers to develop in western areas of the state and travel eastward across northern sections of Texas. Much of the shower activity was in prospect east of a line linking Laredo, San Antonio and Temple.

By evening forecasts called for a fresh round of thunderstorms of course from Northwest through North Central and Northeast Texas.

Low hanging clouds held temperatures below normal at many points Tuesday. The mercury climbed to only 63 degrees at Mineral Wells and 66 at Dallas and Fort Worth. Coult's high of 93 was the warmest.

May Chalked Up As One Of Wettest Months In History

PEOPLE'S RIGHTS

The operation, named People's Rights, is providing a test of U.S. plans to turn over more and more of the war to South Vietnamese forces so American forces can begin withdrawing from Vietnam.

Last month, with 7.15 inches of rain, goes into the record books as the fourth wettest May in the 69 years rain records have been maintained at the U.S. Experiment Station here.

The wettest May of all time was in 1928 when 10.10 inches of rain fell at the station. Other rain records which top the 1975 inch report were in 1968 when 7.99 inches were guaged and 1.61 fell on May 1957 when the month scored 7.96 inches.

rainfall for May is 2.75 inches which makes the month just ended 4.30 inches over.

It averaged a rain every three days in May — there were 10 occasions on which measurable reports were entered in the rain record at the station.

First rain fell on May 2 with 1.04 to start off the month. On May 4, an additional 1.40 was reported when 5.44 inches were guaged and 1.61 fell on May 5, May 7 report shows a trace. May 14 had .66 inch. The persistent rains of May brought the year's total to 11.72 on May 16, the gauge picked inches which is 5.10 inches up on and on May 24, an additional .03 was reported. The 70 year average same amount fell on May 25 8.93 average for 54 years.

Postpone Attack On Pocketbook

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators and representatives spent most of the 61st legislature talking about new taxes then passed none of them. But the one-year appropriations bill with no new taxes hasn't stopped the work on tax bills at the old pink granite capitol.

"We've got all our files from previous sessions," said Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation committee on state and local tax policy.

"We've got about 82 different tax bills ready to go at the drop of the hat. When we're needed we're ready."

Although the regular session of the 61st closed out without new taxes, there was constant comment on future needs.

Gov. Preston Smith said a two-year spending bill should be passed with about $29 million in new taxes and revenue.

Speaker Gus Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Len Barnes set for a one-year bill with no new taxes after considering a $270 million two-year tax bill that would have included the state's first income tax.

Smith's initial tax recommendations to the legislature in February included several innovations in revenue gathering, including a $10 penalty for moving traffic fines that would produce $38.5 million and a $71.6 million increase by transferring income from public school lands.

He also recommended increasing the state cigarette tax from 11 to 14 cents a pack for $45 million, an increase in the tobacco tax $6 million, placing personal services including auto repairs, laundry and dry cleaning, and cable television under the state sales tax for $48.8 million; putting liquor and beer under the sales tax for $40 million, including equipment rental under the sales tax for $9 million; and increasing fees to the secretary of state for $2.6 million.

The increased fees to the secretary of state was Smith's only tax recommendation to win final approval. The attorney general vetoed Smith's first effort to transfer income from oil and gas leases on public school lands from the permanent school fund to the hike in the state cigarette tax, available school fund, then veered for about $70 million $48.8 million by putting services under the state tax and about $60 million more by an amusement tax, a 25-cent increase in the value corporate franchise tax and other chemical products manufactured in Texas for an estimated $35 million.

The chemical tax idea raised almost as many objections as a "use tax" on state college students and by transferring $14 million out of the motor vehicle inspection and driver license funds.

In the final stages of the one-year vs two-year appropriations bill feud, Mutscher came up with a $270 million two-year tax bill that relied largely on a corporation's federal income tax for an estimated $93 million in 1970-71. The plan got no support from either the governor or fellow legislators and Mutscher decided to go along with Barnes on the one-year plan.

New Heart For Sooner

HOUSTON (AP) — Dwain Shannon Marlow, 52, was reported in satisfactory condition early today at St. Luke's Hospital, where he is recovering from a heart transplant operation.

He was the 31st person to receive a new heart in Houston. Dr. Denton A. Cooley led a surgical team through the two-hour operation that started at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A hospital spokesman said Marlow had suffered many heart attacks.

Marlow, a native of Okemore, Okla., worked as a hairdresser. He came to Houston Saturday not knowing that he would undergo a heart transplant, said a niece Mrs. Kenneth Wayne Boone of Broken Arrow.

He had another heart attack early Tuesday, she said, and was told that he had only 30 days to live without the heart transplant.

It was the first such operation at St. Luke's since the Cooley team implanted a totally mechanical heart in the chest of Haskell Karp, 47, on April 4. Karp, from Skokard, Ill., lived 65 hours with the artificial heart but died April 8, one day after the replacement of the device with a human heart.

Cooley has headed 20 heart transplants. Three patients survive.

In another part of the Texas Medical Center, at adjacent Methodist Hospital, Dr. Michael F. Dubakey, has also performed 11 heart transplants. Two of those patients survive.

Marlow and his wife Virginia have a daughter, Shalita, 2. He first suffered a heart attack at the age of 41, Mrs. Boone said, and came to Houston because his condition had not improved since November, when he underwent surgery.

Delegates Reject Blacks' Demands

HOUSTON (AP) — The annual Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church approved Tuesday a merger with the Gulf Coast Conference, an all-Negro group, while at the same time nine black militants demanding $23.9 million disrupted the meeting.

The delegates voted unanimously to reject the blacks' demands.

Three of the black students interrupted a morning session, causing Presiding Bishop Kenneth W. Copeland to adjourn the session.

James Shorten, 21, a student at Texas Southern University, identified himself as the leader of the group. He and the others attended an afternoon meeting with the executive committee of the Conference Board of Christian Social Concern.

A photographer was roughed up when the tense afternoon session ended. The struggle occurred when the photographer tried to take pictures of Shorten.

Federal Judge Woodrow Seals who presided at the afternoon meeting said, "My strange friends, we won't try to manipulate you or use you, and we want to be fair to you."

Shorten responded, "We aren't strange. We are human beings, and we represent the black people of the community."

"We want to call attention to the racism and hatred in the Methodist Church," Shorten said earlier before he was cut off by Bishop Copeland.

Shorten charged the Methodists had "murdered, raped and maimed black people since the first slave ship." He said that the Christian church in general is a racist, barbarian institution.

"You have used Jesus Christ in a hypocritical position to jeopardize oppressed people every day. You have said that it is God's will that black people should be enslaved," Shorten said.

The young black leader accused the Methodists of using "social Darwinism" to support the racist cause, teaching that all colored people throughout the world are inferior to the white people.

The spokesman said he is connected with the Black Economic Development Conference headed by James Forman, who publicized the "black manifesto" movement.

On April 27, Forman first read a demand calling for $500 million in reparations for alleged Christian maltreatment of blacks. However, the demands across the nation have now reached $850 million.

Shorten also told the committee that Methodist facilities throughout Texas should be made available to programs designed to help Mexican and black people in need. He said the institutions would be needed until "the blacks get their own facilities."

Judge Seals told the nine the executive committee could not act for the Board of Christian Social Concern, and that the board itself would not meet until October.

Chute Jumpers Score High

Terry Garrett and Bob Johnson of Webb AFB won first and third places respectively in the First All-Texas Invitational Water Accuracy Parachute Competition at Coleman recently.

The object of the competition was to jump from a plane at 3,600 feet, freefall 10 seconds, open the parachute and control it to land on an inner tube floating in the middle of Hoardes Creek Lake. Each contestant started with 200 points as he left the plane. If he missed the tube, he lost one point for every second from the time he hit the water until he swam to the tube.

In two jumps each, Garrett accumulated 379 points and Johnson picked up 340 points. Each made one jump on Saturday and one on Sunday.

Health Care Cut Attacked

BOSTON (AP) — Federal funds for health care should have priority over outlays for the Vietnam war, Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., said.

"Health care should be primary and military ventures should be last as far as budget considerations go," Yarborough said in a speech Tuesday night to the International Conference on Chronic Disease.

He criticized the Nixon administration for cutting $61 million from the public health care budget despite what he called "urgent needs and shortages of doctors, dentists, nurses and other professions."

Yarborough, chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, said there is an estimated shortage of 32,000 doctors in the United States and yet under the administration's revised budget there's a $5 million decrease in student assistance in the medical profession.

6. Aid for surveillance of various areas in case of a riot or civil disorder.

"The DPS is desirous of expanding its services to the people of this state and to the city police departments and sheriff's departments," Browning said. "We feel this is a splendid opportunity to provide them with better and more versatile service."

Pilot for the helicopter is Sgt. Joe Herring, a native of Weatherford who graduated from Weatherford Junior College, and joined the Department of Public Safety in February, 1963, assigned to the Highway Patrol in Kirbyville for two years.

Herring then transferred to Arlington where he was assigned to the Turnpike detail four years. He was promoted to Highway Patrol Sergeant as part of the directors staff, Aircraft Division, March 15, 1969. Sgt. Herring obtained his commercial certificate with airplane and rotorcraft ratings, then attended 80 hours of training in use of the DPS helicopter. Herring, his wife and daughter, moved to Midland April 16, 1969.

The DPS helicopter is specially designed for police work with a 265 HP engine. It is equipped with both police and regular aircraft radios, having landing lights, an auxiliary gasoline tank and stabilizing kit which increases the cabin load to 110 pounds and boosts the maximum speed from 95 to 105 MPH.

Major Browning said the usefulness and versatility of DPS helicopters have been demonstrated numerous times since the DPS started using these aircraft. He cited these examples:

In April of this year the helicopter was used in the apprehension of a man that had stolen a Highway Patrol car near Snyder.

In March of this year, a DPS helicopter crew was instrumental in flushing a bank of six burglars out of a heavily wooded area near Bandera and into the hands of sheriff's officers and a Texas Ranger. Within 10 minutes after arriving at the area, one of the suspects was spotted in the woods. The others suddenly broke out of the brush and began running with the helicopter about 10 feet overhead. When they were ordered to halt and didn't, the crew fired a few bursts over their heads with a semi-automatic rifle. The copter then landed and one of the crew chased one of the suspects to the road where other officers were waiting. The helicopter pilot stayed in the plane and with it chased the others to a similar fate.

In September, 1968, DPS Narcotics Agents and U.S. Customs Agents at Van Horn called for the helicopter to assist in a narcotics investigation. A cache of about 200 pounds of marijuana had been found in an abandoned building at the nearby airport. The agents called the copter crew on the radio and advised that it had been loaded into a car and gave its description. They believed the car to make contact with another vehicle to transfer the load.

This did not happen and it was decided to go ahead and stop the car. The agents in their car began to give chase, the helicopter overhead. The chase lasted for 53 miles, running up to speeds of 120 mph. The copter crew radioed for a Highway Patrol roadblock, gave the escape car's description, and when it was stopped by the roadblock, landed and assisted in the apprehension.

In March of last year, the craft was used for surveillance of a remote area near Abilene where narcotics suspects were known to be in a car. The vehicle was spotted on a dirt road. Under observation of officers in the helicopter, two people got out of the car and walked into a field. The officers alerted ground units when they observed the men burying something in the ground. They landed and found a plastic bag containing one and one-half pounds of marijuana. The officers on the ground apprehended the suspects.

Browning stated these were just a few instances in which the helicopters have been used to serve the people of Texas.

'A Promise Is A Promise'

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Chatham County commissioners had told the public that a newly constructed bypass would be open to traffic June 1.

About 100 motorists took them at their word—and were given traffic tickets. Sunday and Monday for driving around barricades at each end of the road.

Commissioner P. E. Clifton later relented, saying, "a promise is a promise."

By L. A. WILKE

LIVINGSTON — Completion of a three-mile dam across the Trinity River this year turns a new page in the more than 100-year history of water development in Texas.

The dam, seven miles southwest of Livingston, creates a reservoir 52 miles long. When it fills with nearly two million acre-feet of water, it will be the second largest lake in Texas. Nearby Sam Rayburn Reservoir is only slightly larger. Lake Livingston will have 82,500 surface acres with a timber-covered shoreline of 450 miles devoted mostly to recreation.

It is the first "down river" project of the Trinity River Authority which eventually will provide water behind locks and dams for barges to ply between Houston and the Fort Worth-Dallas area. Exactly 100 years ago barges were operating on the river, with its modest lock system. During the 1860s season the barges moved approximately 15,000 bales of cotton, but history of the area dates back even farther. It was 130 years ago when the settlement of Swartwout was established, with a ferry across the Trinity. Since then Swartwout has become Livingston, and instead of a ferry, there is a new multimillion dollar bridge with a high span.

In the meantime the impoundment will provide domestic and industrial water for the two million population of Houston. With this contract from Houston, the Trinity River Authority sold sufficient revenue bonds to finance the total cost of more than $70 million.

Length of the dam is 13,500 feet with an average height of 52 feet. It is 300 feet wide at the base and 24 feet across the top. It has a controlled spillway of 546 feet, with 12 tainter gates, 32.5 feet by 40 feet and a conduit to yield 1,200 million gallons of water per day.

While the lake was financed on the basis of the water it would provide for domestic and industrial purposes, Lake Livingston will become best known to the public because of its recreational features.

Within the 75-mile immediate influence zone the lake provides a new inland playground for more than two million persons, according to the recreation plans now being projected by the Trinity River Authority.

There's already good fishing. The numerous small streams of the four counties containing a portion of the lake through the years have had good population of black bass, crappie and catfish. In addition the Parks and Wildlife Department has planted several hundred thousand fish from its nearby hatcheries.

Currently the lake waters stand at an elevation of approximately 100 feet above sea level. When finally completed the water surface will be 130 feet at normal operating pool. Engineers say a long study of the river flow indicates a fairly constant level, with water fluctuating very little except in extremely dry years. This will add greatly to its recreational features.

The Livingston dam is located in Polk and San Jacinto counties at about the 128 mile upstream on the meandering Trinity. The reservoir covers portions of Polk, San Jacinto, Trinity and Walker counties. The principal thoroughfare to the lake east and west is US 190, which crosses it with a new State Highway Department structure.

The recreational development plans call for creation of 17 general use areas, with two additional small boat ramps on the upper reaches for the use of hunters and fishermen.

The final plans cover the development of approximately 3,000 acres. This will be in addition to the facilities provided by private developers with the location of subdivision marinas and launching ramps. Some of these are now being put in. Although the dam will be entirely completed this year,

PREHISTORIC TUSK
One of the largest known uncovered in Caverns

Largest Known Tusk Found

GEORGETOWN — One of the largest known prehistoric elephant tusks discovered in the Southwestern United States was unearthed near here recently in the Inner Space Cavern.

Wolfgang Lehnhardt, an amateur archeologist from Austin, was sifting through rubble at the base of a sink hole which was an entrance to the cavern thousands of years ago when he came across the 13-foot, six-inch tusk.

University-based archeologists in Texas estimate the tusk to be between 25,000 and 45,000 years old. It was found only a few steps from a museum collection of fossils located inside the cavern.

Also found near the tusk were two teeth from the woolly mammoth. The teeth each weigh 15 to 20 pounds. One tooth still remains imbedded in the lower jawbone of the huge animal.

The bones are much too fragile to be moved so the archeologists will complete the excavation work and leave them. Cavern general manager Doyle Clawson said the bones

Blasts Shatter Book Of Thought

NAIROBI (AP) — Four blasts blew a huge hole in a wall at the Chinese Embassy here Tuesday. No one was hurt but a showcase with pictures of Chairman Mao Tse-tung and his book of thought was shattered.

It was the third explosion at the embassy in less than two years.

have been lighted so people touring the cavern can see them from the trail.

Archeologists from throughout Texas and other states are regular visitors to Inner Space, Texas' newest cavern attraction which is now entering its third tourist season. In addition to several prehistoric elephant discoveries (two of which are currently being excavated), other finds include rare species of the peccary, bat species not found anywhere else in the world, giant sloth, dire wolf, and extinct forms of the horse, camel and sabre-toothed tiger. One unusual creature found in the cavern is the "glyptodon," a Volkswagen-sized armadillo with a spike-studded ball at the end of its tail.

Inner Space Cavern is the only cave in Texas discovered by the Texas Highway Department. A highway department crew was drilling test holes for the construction of an overpass in 1963 for the new Pan American highway segment when a drill bit opened up what is now the Outer Cathedral Room of the cavern.

A 24-inch hole was drilled and the smallest member of the crew rode a drill rod down into the inky hole to become the first modern man to view the cavern's unspoiled beauty of the centuries.

The highway crew went ahead with its plans to build the overpass at that location since the cavern was more than 30 feet below the surface. Now one of Texas' busiest highways, Interstate 35, passed directly over the main portion of the cavern to make it one of the most accessible tourist attractions in the state.

To make the cavern even more accessible, a "scenic subway" was installed to take visitors from the ground level into the cavern where the hour-long tour begins.

Inner Space is the first and one of the only commercial caverns in the United States which uses the "Son et Lumiere" European sound and lighting technique to create intense dramatic effects. The technique is used at the "Lake of the Moon" and at the "Flowing Stone of Time."

The cavern is located one mile south of Georgetown and 27 miles north of Austin. It is open daily with guided tours every half hour from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. effective June 1. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children 6 to 12 years old, with children under 6 admitted free with parents.

WATER FOR HOUSTON AREA

Dam To Impound Lake Livingston

unless there is an unusual amount of fall rain, it may not fill for many months.

The entire area is steeped in history, with the Alabama-Coushatta Indian reservation on US 190, only a few miles east of Livingston. Plans call for tent and trailer sites, concessions, washroom facilities and playgrounds. Bathing beaches also will be provided at suitable locations.

A staff of the Trinity River Authority now is working with the State Highway Department. The program is being put together in the TRA office in Huntsville under the direction of experienced workers.

All of the fill of the dam is protected by stone riprap. The job required 266,000 tons. The tub-size stones are carefully put in place with giant cranes. It came from quarries near Burnett and Palestine.

The total approximate cost of construction, land acquisition, relocation of pipelines and highways is slightly more than $70 million. Investor activities will put the total price of the project to around $100 million.

Another project yet to be built is the dike of from 4 to 12 feet high around the Ellis Prison Farm in upper Walker County. This $14 million farm is not within the boundary of the lake, but it would be subject to overflow with backwater of the Trinity during flood stage. It covers some 6,000 acres of farmland and buildings.

On the banks of the lake are numerous early villages of Texas. Chief among these is Swartwout, where a monument has been erected near the dam site. It was established in the 1830s when cotton farmers brought their bales to the steamboat wharves. Lumbermen sent their branded logs floating down the river to Galveston. The great and prosperous trading center dreamed then, now is coming to life.

Thus the first major step in harnessing the Trinity for future shipping has been taken. This movement was started more than 40 years ago.

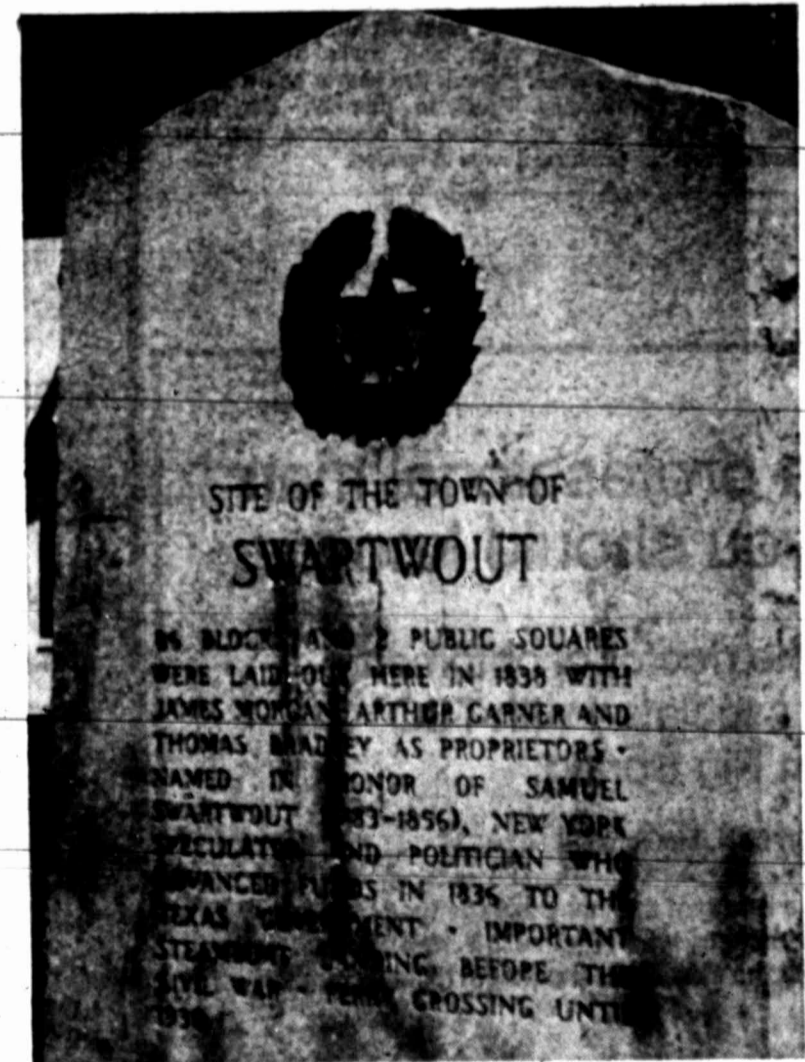

The Trinity is 550 miles long, splitting down across Texas from the Fort Worth-Dallas area to the coast where it flows into Trinity Bay and then to Galveston Bay. The three main forks of the river — East, Clear and West — rise in Grayson, Montague, Cooke, Archer and Parker counties to join with the Elm Fork in Dallas county. The Trinity basin has more population and more industrial development than any other stream in Texas.

The upper basin already supports several reservoirs, the largest of which is Garza-Little Elm, formerly Lake Dallas and water projects in the state. Other lakes include Lake Worth, one of the first large municipal Eagle Mountain, Bridgeport, Benbrook, Grapevine and Lavon in southeast Collin county.

Just below Lavon is the new Ray Hubbard lake. Near Waxahachie and Corsicana is the Bardwell reservoir and further on is the Hogsett reservoir near Trinidad. There are numerous other smaller impoundments on tributaries, and more are projected, including a huge impoundment at Tennessee Colony.

GATEWAY FOR WATERS
These huge gates will protect the flow of water during flood stages.

WHERE FERRY CROSSED
Once it was Swartwout, where a ferry crossed the Trinity. Now it is Livingston.

Harder-Hitting Yankee Guns To Be Developed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faster-firing, harder-hitting guns are being planned for U.S. jet fighters because of dramatic progress made by North Vietnamese pilots against American planes.

Air Force work on developing the gun will start in the coming fiscal year and the weapon will be installed in the F15, a jet fighter designed to provide clear U.S. superiority over any Russian-built jets in the 1970s.

Dr. John S. Foster, the Pentagon's research chief, disclosed recently that North Vietnam's fighter pilots were battling U.S. war planes on almost even terms in the latter stages of the

Blasts Public Works Whack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., said Tuesday that delaying reclamation projects by shoving their budgets is no saving in the long term because construction costs and interest rates will rise each year.

He testified before the House Appropriations subcommittee on public works.

Harris suggested revisions in President Nixon's public works budget affecting Oklahoma.

These included: raising from $20,000 to $100,000 a study on the Red River above Denison Dam; an initial $100,000 to plan Boswell Reservoir in southeast Oklahoma; $700,000 to build Lukfata Dam and Reservoir; and raising by $100,000 a $1.1 million request for the Waurika Reservoir in South Central Oklahoma.

Harris recommended also a $59 million appropriation for the Arkansas River Basin project, $1 million higher than budgeted but less than the $68.2 million the Corps of Engineers said it could use.

Harris said he felt budget cuts to other Arkansas River projects should be restored, including those at Crutcho Creek, Optima, Kaw, Birch, Copan, Sand, and Skiatook reservoirs.

Burger Nomination Receives Panel OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two ranking senators, enthusiastic about the appointment of Warren E. Burger to be chief justice say they want a man just like him named to the remaining Supreme Court vacancy.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., voiced the recommendation Tuesday as the Senate Judiciary Committee unanimously approved Burger's nomination.

Both Dirksen and Eastland said they hope when President Nixon chooses a successor to Abe Fortas, it will be a man with a background and record similar to that of Burger.

Dirksen said he hopes for a nominee in the law and order image of the chief justice-designate.

The remaining court vacancy was created by Fortas' resignation under fire, which led to Senate forecasts that any new nominee would undergo searching examination before confirmation.

In Burger's case, that meant one hour and 45 minutes before the Judiciary Committee, followed by immediate approval.

"I think it was as searching as it had to be," said Dirksen, senior Republican on the committee.

He said Burger's 13-year record as a federal appeals court judge supplied all the record needed. "You don't have to probe very deeply," he said.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, who had said extensive investigation of appointees was likely after the Fortas affair, found the committee hearing adequate. He said advance investigation of nominees is the important thing.

Eastland said he had done some advance checking of his own. He said there was no inquiry by the Judiciary Committee staff.

"I've known the man for 15 years," he said. "He's a very able judge."

There was a standard, advance check by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Under committee procedures, only Eastland saw the report on that inquiry.

The Judiciary Committee will advise the Senate formally Thursday that it has approved Burger's appointment, and the nomination may be confirmed by the Senate next Monday.

Mansfield said he knows of no opposition to Burger. But he said that would provide time in case anyone does want to raise an objection.

"I don't think we ought to rush it too much," he said.

Burger is to succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren at the end of the current court term later this month.

There was no hint of criticism as the committee heard Burger testify, and there was steady praise, much of it from conservative Democrats and Republicans who have been critical of the Warren Court.

Burger testified that in his view the court has no power to amend the Constitution or to legislate.

But he avoided classifying his judicial philosophy in any specific terms.

"I have never thought of it in terms of a pattern," he said. "I have decided cases as they have come before the court."

Drive Against Pornography

DALLAS (AP) — Two Dallasites were indicted for possession of obscene magazines Tuesday at the same time Dallas County Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said "filth" in the mail and on the newsstands here is on the increase.

Roy Lee Urban and Roy Lee Urban Jr. were indicted on two counts each. Wade said a petition has also been filed for an injunction to restrain the pair, owners of the Commerce Street Newstand, from allegedly violating a state article prohibiting sale of obscene material. The injunction is expected to come up today in Judge Dee Brown Walker's court, Wade said.

A third man, Fritz Lucian Stultz, an employee of the Urbans, was also indicted for selling an obscene magazine.

The younger Urban was convicted of possession of an obscene magazine Jan. 31 and was fined $1,000. The conviction is on appeal.

Boys' State Plans Made

Big Spring will be the rallying point Saturday for about 70 Boys State delegates on the way to Austin from the West Texas area according to Dr. Halvard Hansen, local commander.

Big Spring delegates will be Gary Hinds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Hinds, 1306 Kentucky; Lynn Cauley, son of Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Cauley, 524 Scott; Joe Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Moss, 1604 Osage; and Gary Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Hughes, 2900 Lawrence.

Investigators Sift Debris For Clues

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Investigators sifted debris in a south side suburb today, hunting clues to what caused a series of explosions that injured nine persons and left scores homeless.

An estimated six explosions ripped through a 10-square-block area of the Glen Park suburb in about 15 minutes Tuesday. Officials said six homes were demolished and concussion and fire triggered by the blasts damaged 19 other residences.

Damage was estimated at $340,000 by Gary Fire Chief Alfonso Holliday.

The exact cause of the blasts was under investigation, but Mayor Richard G. Hatcher of Gary said, "One thing is very clear—that is there was a build-up of gas pressure in this particular area which created several explosions. As to why they occurred, we don't know."

The worst damage appeared to be in houses where no one was home and windows were closed, firemen said. They said gas could have built up extreme

Smith Talks Oil Depletion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The governor of Texas made it clear Tuesday in talking with a House committee chairman that he favors keeping the 27 1/2 percent oil depletion allowance just as it is.

Gov. Preston Smith also met with Texas Democratic congressmen. He gave what he called a grass-roots view of how their districts might be hurt if the allowance is lowered.

The governor whipped in and out of town in a total of about four hours.

His Washington representative, Alton Lee, said he gave statistics to the Texans of how much the state's permanent school fund has benefited from oil and gas proceeds.

Another statistical breakdown concerned a study of 400 school districts which drew at least some tax funds from oil and gas leases in their areas.

Why we don't call the Volkswagen on the left the Volkswagen Station Wagon.

Just because the Volkswagen on the left looks like a station wagon, some people have concluded it actually is the Volkswagen Station Wagon.

How rash.

Its storage capacity is much too modest. (Even with its seats folded down it's just 42 cu. ft.)

Its seating capacity is much too conventional. (4 passengers is nothing to write home about.)

And the size of that door in the back is much too commonplace. (A mere 42.7" by 25.4")

But unstartling as these features are in a station wagon, they're very startling in a sedan. And that's exactly what this squared-off car on the left is. A regular sedan for people who irregularly need a little station wagon.

We call it the Volkswagen Squareback. Now look at the monster on the right. Its loading capacity is an incredible 176 cu. ft. It can seat up to nine—yes, nine—very tall passengers. And it doesn't content itself with just having a door in the back. It also has a kind of sliding side gate that measures an awesome 3 1/2' by 4'.

Now that's what we call a station wagon. Settled?

Majestic Prince Not Seen As Shoo-In At Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Take it from Eddie Belmonte, Majestic Prince won't sweep racing's Triple Crown by winning the Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday.

Arts and Letters won't win the Belmont, either, in the opinion of Belmonte who has come to the fore in the past year as a leading jockey.

The winner of the Belmont will be Dike, Belmonte said Tuesday after working out the Caliborne Farm colt.

"He won't be beat Saturday," Belmonte said without ifs or buts after dismounting Dike, who finished third in the Kentucky Derby to Majestic Prince and Arts and Letters after winning the Wood Memorial, had worked a fast seven furlongs in 1:23.3-5 and galloped out 1 1/4 miles in 1:53.1-5.

"He went smooth as anything you could ask and finished real strong," Belmonte enthused. He repeated "He won't be beat Saturday."

Johnny Longden, trainer of Majestic Prince, grinned when he heard of Belmonte's remark about Dike.

"Well, he's been beat before," Longden said.

Longden, who rode the unbeaten Majestic Prince in a 1:51.4-5 for 1 1/4 miles in a Sunday workout, merely galloped the big red colt around the 1 1/4 mile oval Tuesday and declare The Prince "is looking better and better every day."

Arts and Letters, who won the Metropolitan Mile Handicap at Aqueduct last Friday, also galloped the 1 1/4 miles. "He's coming up to the race very well," said trainer Elliott Burch.

As of today a field of six is probable for the Belmont. In addition to Majestic Prince, Arts and Letters and Dike, Prime Fool, Rooney's Shield and Distray are expected to be entered.

Horse Last Laugh?

Distray, the King Ranch entry in the Belmont Stakes, with Johnny Rotz aboard, pauses after a trial time to give his impression of those who think Majestic Prince will sweep the field, Eddie Belmonte, a leading jockey of the year, concurred in Distray's prediction.

Disc Stops Ace Pitcher

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Chris Short expected to win 20 games for the Philadelphia Phillies this season. Instead, he pitched a total of 10 innings. He isn't sure whether he can pitch again this season.

The 31-year-old southpaw was a lonely figure in the press box Monday night watching the pitching-poor Phillies lose to the St. Diego Padres. He was on leave from Temple University Hospital where he has spent the better part of three weeks in traction.

Short, who won 19 games last season and was rated by most experts the top left hander in the National League, hurt his back in the first game of this season. He tried to pitch again eight days later but couldn't take the pain.

Doctors say he has a herniated disc. The disc in his back about the size of a quarter, developed a bubble which filled with fluid. The bubble burst and the disc slides around in the fluid. When it hits a nerve-pain.

The doctors are trying to move the disc back into place through traction. If this doesn't work it means an operation. Although he still is undergoing treatment, Short plans to make the Phillies' coming road trip to the West Coast. He's going to try and pitch.

"I don't know what will happen with the back but it has felt better the past three or four days and I'm going to try and pitch," he said. "If I can, fine. If not, something has to be taken out and I'd rather get it done now and have until spring training next year to recuperate."

Short isn't concerned about getting into physical shape. "My arm doesn't take long. Heck, I'm usually ready to throw hard the first day of spring practice. As for the rest of my body, it takes about 10 days. I've only put on about three pounds."

Randy Hundley Means To Play

CHICAGO (AP) — Because of 4-2 victory over Houston as the Cubs stretched their current streak to five straight.

Hundley also boosted his average to .311, tops on the club.

Warned that it would be physically impossible to hit .300 and catch the entire season, Randy smiled and drawled, "That's not the object. The object is to win ball games."

During the first week of the season Hundley sprained an ankle trying to avert a tag. Manager Leo Durocher wanted him to stay off of it for a few days so that it could heal quicker.

Hundley would have no part of it. He played for the next three weeks all taped up.

"There's nothing I can do about it," said Durocher. "He came to play. I put him on the bench a couple of times last year and he drove me crazy. I want no more of that."

Retire? Not Old Arnie!

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, reduced to the point of having to qualify for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament, scotched reports today that he is considering early retirement.

"What about the rumor that you're going to quit after you've won one more big one?" Palmer was asked after he shot rounds of 70-68-138 to lead sectional trials for next week's Open at Houston.

"I don't know where that rumor got started," Palmer replied. "I really haven't thought about quitting. I think if I won another big one I wouldn't be happy until I won still another one."

This failed to satisfy the post-match inquirers.

The man who personally has made more than a million dollars on the tour and helped build the circuit into a $6 million enterprise looked anything but a washed-up has-been Tuesday as he whipped over the hilly par 72 Voughton Country Club course twice with only a single bogey in 36 holes.

Arnie was inspired by members of Arnie's Army, 4,500 strong, who poured out to the Western Pennsylvania hills to cheer their man in one of the toughest tests he has faced as a pro golfer.

"Sure, I was nervous," Palmer said. "I've been playing pro for 15 years. I get nervous every time I tee up the ball. When I don't, I will quit."

Yanks Wash Out Giants, 7-3

The Yanks used a four-run second inning and rain to wash out the Giants 7-3 in a Sophomore League game Tuesday evening.

James Lacey doubled in two runs in the big second and Sammy Rodriguez's double was the big lick in a two-run fourth inning for the Yanks. Roy Osborne held the Giants to one hit while the Yanks were raking Elias Villa for seven.

The box score:

Nicklaus Favored To Win Western Open Tourney

MIDLOTHIAN, Ill. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus seeks a record third consecutive title in one of this country's oldest golf tournaments, the Western Open, beginning Thursday with Arnold Palmer the only major name missing among the challengers.

Palmer, the game's all-time leading money winner, took the week off to (1) qualify for the U.S. Open in sectional tests at McKeesport, Pa., and (2) work on his spotty game for the national championship next week at Houston.

Palmer, forced to qualify for the first time in a decade, made it with a score of 70-68-138 Tuesday.

Nicklaus, like most of the erage of 69.8. It was the fifth time he had taken it, tying him with Ben Hogan for the top spot.

That first tournament, incidentally, was played on the site of this year's event, the 6,654-yard, par 71 Midlothian Country Club course, and this marks its first return.

Among the top contenders for Big Jack's title are South African Gary Player, a flamboyant Lee Trevino, PGA champion Ju-

Panola Wins National Juco Baseball Crown

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Pitcher Doug Ault was scored when the Mesa junior college national baseball catcher was called with interference while the bases were loaded.

Although Mesa managed only three hits, the team rallied for victory over Mesa, Ariz., in the fifth inning of Tuesday night's championship game. The Texan added to Mesa's rally by committing two errors, both in the double-elimination tournament.

Ault pitched Panola to an 8-6 victory over Mesa, Ariz., in the fifth inning of Tuesday night's championship game. The Texan added to Mesa's rally by committing two errors, both in the double-elimination tournament.

Mesa's five runs came on three walks, a single by Dale Goodman and a double by Phil Better.

Mesa beat Panola Monday night to force the tournament into an extra championship game. Glendale, Ariz., was the national champion last year but lost to Mesa this year in regional playoffs.

Grid Owners Face Sticky Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — The 26 pro football club owners met jointly today, tackling rules and procedures that will be involved in inter-league trading in 1970 — which could help solve the O. J. Simpson cases of the future.

Simpson, of course, is the Heisman Trophy winning running back who has been drafted by the Buffalo Bills and been unable to reach satisfactory contract terms with the American Football League club.

The impasse revolves around Simpson's demands for a $650,000 contract and the Bills offer of $50,000 per year for five years. Simpson recently asked to have his rights traded to another team and Buffalo owner

ON WAIVERS Gent Is Playing Waiting Game

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys flanker Pete Gent has proved his efficiency in both football and basketball, but he is playing now in the toughest of all — it's called the waiting game.

Gent has been waiting since the Cowboys head coach Tom Landry notified him last week he was being placed on waivers in an attempt to attract a trading offer or give him his outright release.

For Gent, a five-year National Football League veteran who started at flanker for the Cowboys in 1966, it was something like being blindsided by a defensive halfback.

"It happened so fast I hardly knew what was going on," Gent said. "The whole thing took only about four minutes. Coach Landry just said there wouldn't be a place for me on the team this year and I was being placed on MONTREAL (AP) — Maury Wills has finally decided that he can't steal first base.

The 36-year-old shortstop, one of the great base stealers in Bogged down with a .198 batting average, Wills informed the Expos of his decision to end his career after a decade in which he stole 514 bases, including a modern major league mark of 104 in 1962. He had 12 steals this season, fourth best in the National League.

Red Kelly Parts With LA Kings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Red Kelly is happy he is no longer coach of the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League even though he feels the Kings might be contenders for the NHL championship next season.

Kelly was hired to coach the expansion Kings in 1967-68 after a successful career of 20 years in the NHL with Detroit and Toronto.

Expos Do It Again-- Drop 17th Straight

By The Associated Press

Gil Hodges feels good and hopes to feel better. Gene Mauch has felt better and knows what it's like to feel worse.

Therein lies the tale of two expansion clubs—the New York Mets playing like no Met team has ever played before and the Montreal Expos playing like only one Met has ever played before.

It all came about Tuesday night when the Mets trounced Los Angeles 5-2 and went over the 500 mark after the first week of the season for the first time in their eight-year existence.

The Expos, meanwhile, were bombed by San Francisco 9-3. It was their 17th straight loss, equalling the major league record for expansion teams set by the never-to-be-forgotten fledgling Mets of 1962.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis stopped Atlanta 5-2, Cincinnati shelled Pittsburgh 7-3 and San Diego shaded Philadelphia 6-5. The Chicago Cubs tripped Houston 4-2 in the only afternoon action.

"Being over .500 feels good," said Met Manager Hodges after their sixth straight triumph boosted the New Yorkers into second place in the National League East with a 24-23 record, one percentage point ahead of Pittsburgh. "Being two games over will feel even better."

Mauch isn't concerned with the .500 mark. He'd just like to win a game, something the Expos haven't done since May 10.

"I've felt better and I've felt worse," he said. "I feel like we're too good for this to be happening."

Six more losses and the Expos will have tied the modern major league losing record of 23 by the 1961 Phillies—managed by none other than Gene Mauch.

"I've won 500 games since the thing in Philadelphia," Mauch remembered. "I've forgotten about it. We'll win a couple of games and they'll forget about this one, too."

Helping Hands

Three ushers tug on a rope as an unidentified youth scales the left field wall at Wrigley Field during a between innings affair yesterday. The ball game between Chicago and Houston was moving right along until the seventh inning when three youths jumped from the stands and started running round the infield. The ushers came and the youths went. Two were apprehended but this one escaped into the bleachers.

San Francisco gave Montreal the willies. Willie McCovey knocked in three runs with a double and his 17th homer and Willie Mays hit the 53rd circuit of his career.

Vada Pinson and Joe Torre each drove in two runs and Steve Carlton hurled a five-hit, six-run, 10-inning game for St. Louis turned back Atlanta. It was only the seventh victory in 24 home games for the Cardinals. The only runs off Carlton were solo homers by Orlando Cepeda and Hank Aaron.

Red Sox Stop Reminiscing And Start Reliving Triumphs

By The Associated Press

Those were the days, my friend ...

When Carl Yastrzemski was getting the key hits and Jim Lonborg was pitching the clutch victories, and the Boston Red Sox were pulling the miracle of Fenway Park by winning the 1967 American League pennant.

Yes, those were the days ...

When Rico Petrocelli was playing like the best shortstop in the league.

Those were the days ... and the Red Sox spent all of 1968 reminiscing, but no more. Now the Sox are too busy reliving them.

That's the way it was Tuesday night when Yastrzemski rapped a single, triple and homer. Petrocelli added another homer and Lonborg pitched his first complete game since last August as Boston blasted the Chicago White Sox 8-2.

The victory left the Red Sox only 3 1/2 games behind first place Baltimore in the East Division of the American League after the Orioles outlasted Oakland 3-1 on 11th inning homers by Frank Robinson and Boog Powell.

In other games, California dropped world champion Detroit 8 1/2 games back with a 4-2 victory over the Tigers. Minnesota halted the New York Yankees 4-0. Kansas City defeated Washington 5-3 and Cleveland trimmed Seattle 3-1.

Robinson and Powell, looking like the ballplayers they were in 1966 when Baltimore won the pennant, slammed consecutive homers to open the 11th against Lew Krause. It was Robby's 13th, boosting his average to .328, and Powell's ninth giving him .39 RBI.

Reggie Jackson of Oakland had sent the game into extra innings with his 17th in the seventh before the Orioles won for the 14th time in 17 games.

Aurelio Rodriguez broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning with a homer and Jim Hicks added a two-run shot in the sixth as California beat the Tigers behind Andy Messersmith's six-hitter for his first triumph after five losses.

Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva homered for Minnesota and Dave Boswell protected the runs with a two-hitter before giving way to Ron Ferrarosi in the eighth when a blister on his pitching hand forced him out after another hit.

Wally Bunker, 2-2, with a five-hitter, hurled his first complete game since last August for Kansas City.

Luis Tiant, backed by homers from Duke Sims and Lou Klimchuck, continued his comeback with a four-hitter before Juan Pizarro and Stan Williams got the last three outs in Cleveland's triumph.

Bruce Ashworth of Humble was only two shots behind, with a fine 69 on the Par 71 course. Brownfield is a junior at the University of Arkansas. His father—Charley—shot a 74.

At one-under par 70s were Richard Ellis of Bryan and John Mehaffey of Kerrville.

Gary Frankfield of Fort Worth and Wayne Fenack of Humble were at even par 71. At 72 were Richards Stimets, Houston. Mike Bowersock, San Antonio. David McCauley, Lubbock and Robert McKinney, Lubbock.

Dutch Tennis Star Advances In French Open

PARIS (AP) — Tom Okker, the Dutch tennis star who never stops training, has topped $20,000 in prize money in four months.

The 25-year-old passed that figure Tuesday night when he defeated John Newcombe in a five-set thriller to reach the semifinals of the French Open Championships—and there could be more to come before the tournament at the Roland Garros Stadium is over.

Okker made sure of $1,800 as a semifinalist. He can make $7,000 by winning the title.

With Wimbledon and Forest Hills, N.Y. to come, and the prizes on offer on the promoter-controlled professional circuit, Okker could break all money-making records in his first year as a pro.

Okker defeated Newcombe 5-7, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2 in the best tennis match seen here since the tournament started. A crowd of 2,000, shivering in overcoats around the center court in a chill evening, were kept on edge right up to the last stroke—an ace service by the Dutchman.

The French fans will see next whether Okker's speed and machine-like backhand are enough to topple Rod Laver, 39-year-old Australian, who last won this title in 1962.

Laver defeated Andres Gimeno of Spain 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 Tuesday.

Okker and Laver are scheduled to meet in one semifinal while two more Australians, Ken Rosewall and Tony Roche, are paired in the other. Rosewall, 34, is the defending titleholder.

Brownfield Is Leader

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — Chuck Brownfield of Stamford made the birds sing in the rain to take a first round lead in the Texas State Amateur Golf Tournament Tuesday with a four-under-par 67 over the soggy River Plantation Country Club course.

Brownfield, playing the backside first, birdied seven consecutive holes—Nos. 18 through 7—with putts ranging from two inches to 10 feet.

The 27½-year-old field was so massive that about 40 players failed to complete their rounds. They were scheduled to complete the first 18 holes this morning.

Bruce Ashworth of Humble was only two shots behind, with a fine 69 on the Par 71 course. Brownfield is a junior at the University of Arkansas. His father—Charley—shot a 74.

At one-under par 70s were Richard Ellis of Bryan and John Mehaffey of Kerrville.

Gary Frankfield of Fort Worth and Wayne Fenack of Humble were at even par 71. At 72 were Richards Stimets, Houston. Mike Bowersock, San Antonio. David McCauley, Lubbock and Robert McKinney, Lubbock.

Controversial Archbishop Lucey Resigns

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Controversial Archbishop Robert E. Lucey, friend of former President Lyndon B. Johnson and a crusader for liberal causes, announced his resignation today after Pope Paul VI named his successor.

The archbishop for nine months had been the center of a dispute started by a group of priests in the diocese. They demanded his resignation, taking their plea to the Pope.

Archbishop Lucey became 78 years old in March. His only public reply to the priests was to ask for unity and to read canon law forbidding dissent.

The sprawling diocese contains 500,000 Roman Catholics and 448 priests.

Sixty-seven of the priests signed a letter last Sept. 16 asking for the prelate's resignation, saying he was too old for the job and that they objected to some administrative policies. They said there was a communications gap.

The Pope announced that Bishop Francis J. Furey of San Diego, Calif., will succeed Lucey.

The archbishop apparently had put down the dissent by transferring some priests and reassigning others to lesser posts. Some resigned and four married in the face of church doctrine against wedlock for priests.

The Rev. William A. Killian, archdiocese spokesman, announced the retirement.

Father Killian said he presumed the archbishop submitted his resignation to Rome when he turned 75 and that it had required three years to be approved.

The dispute led to rallies by laymen and investigations by outside representatives of the church.

The Rev. John Paul Klein, 29, the fifth-ranking official in the archdiocese, resigned in October saying "for me, the working conditions become unbearable. He was one of the dissenters and indicated he no longer would function as a priest."

Father Klein said he objected to the Roman Catholic Church's stands on birth control, mandatory celibacy and marriage.

Archbishop Lucey has held the post for 27 years. He was an outspoken supporter of New Deal policies, particularly those for improvements of working conditions and wages.

Later he supported the surge for racial equality, particularly for Mexican-Americans who comprise a large number of Roman Catholics in his diocese.

Beautification Problems Talked

A long-range program to beautify Big Spring was discussed in a Pride Committee meeting Tuesday at the courthouse.

"Whether as an individual householder or businessman, everyone has an incentive to make it a beautiful city," said Dewey Ray, who presided in the absence of Jack Worsham, chairman.

"We want to make Big Spring grow, insure property values and increase business interests," Ray said.

Approximately 25 of 70 invited persons attended the meeting. Representatives of most civic clubs were asked to the meeting. Organizations represented were the Washington and College Heights PTAs; the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Four O'Clock and Rose Bud garden clubs, the Morning Optimists, the Rotary Club, the Civitan Club and Mt. Bethel Baptist Church.

Mayor Arnold Marshall, Mayor Pro Tem George Zachariah and City Manager Larry Crow were on hand to express city backing of beautification.

Ray expressed an interest in cleaning up the main highway entrances into Big Spring "because what people see as they come into town is an introduction to the city and the people."

Tom Eastland, Chamber of Commerce manager, showed slides of deserted buildings and overgrown lots located on Third and Fourth streets.

"Nobody is going to consider a town for a business if the town looks like it's going out of business," Eastland said.

He outlined a six-point program to get the community involved in the beautification project. A successful program would have to involve individual incentive, civic clubs government enforcement, special awards, garden clubs and neighborhood participation, Eastland said.

Larry Smith, city administrative aide, explained the city's program to remove hazardous structures and junk cars.

"However," he said, "government enforcement is the worst method of all in cleaning up a city. Individual involvement is the best method."

Smith said city-wide support would make the project go faster and would "get Big Spring a lot cleaner, a lot sooner."

Ray said beautification of the city would probably take one to five years to really accomplish anything.

"This is an extensive project and will not be accomplished overnight," he said.

P.T.A. workers suggested programs in the fall when school starts to get the children involved.

"The best way to involve the parents is to involve the children," one woman said.

Ray asked those present to report to their organizations and ask for suggestions for the program and commitments from the organizations to aid the committee in getting underway.

Three Injured In Collisions

Minor accidents Tuesday sent three people to local hospitals where they were treated and released.

George Gossett, Big Spring, and Aurora Paradez, 709 N. Drive, were treated and released at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. They were passengers in cars driven by Lindy Williams, 710 Pine, and Johnny Duron Paradez, 709 N. Gregg, involved in an accident at Northwest Fourth and Lamesa Drive.

Pamela Sue Dewees, 1904 Alabama, was injured when her automobile was in collision with a motorcycle driven by Preston Daylong, 1317 Park Street. She was treated and released at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Three cars were involved in a minor accident at Fourth and Main. Cars involved belonged to Earnest Welch, Box 667; Joyce Jones, 2404 Carlton; and Don Edward Stone, Webb Air Force Base. Stone's car was slightly damaged when he veered off the road to avoid the collision between the other cars.

Darlene B. Moore, 1300 Nolan, and Ned Richard Arbagast, 1500 Idlewood, were drivers of cars in collision at 1001 Scurry.

Juveniles Held

Four juveniles — three boys and a girl — from Florida were being held here Wednesday by Jones, juvenile officer, pending arrival of their parents.

The youths were picked up by the sheriff's office on a request from Florida authorities.

Police Department's Vice Squad Paid Off By Gamblers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials have charged that gamblers in Columbus, Ohio, have "had almost every member of the city's vice squad on their payroll."

Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson in testimony Tuesday before the Senate subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures spoke only of a "major midwestern city" when he said that "low-level officers were reported receiving $250 per month and their superiors as much as $500" from local numbers operators.

But other federal officials later confirmed Wilson had been talking about Columbus. And it is a federal crime to conspire to obstruct enforcement of local law and state criminal laws in order to promote an illegal gambling business.

Wilson told the subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., that the Justice Department had "uncovered evidence that local numbers operators had almost every member of the city's vice squad on their payroll."

He also said "the involvement of the police went so far as to include pressure by the chief of the squad put on a dissident gambler to bring him in line with his fellow numbers operators."

Wilson appeared before the subcommittee on behalf of President Nixon's proposal to make it a federal crime to conspire to obstruct enforcement of local law and state criminal laws in order to promote an illegal gambling business.

Mexia Baton Twirler Murdered, No Arrests

MEXIA, Tex. (AP) — A had been dead only a half-hour when Masters, following automobile tracks easily seen in drizzle-covered grass, found the body. The brownette was one of eight twirlers with the 130-piece Mexia High School band. She attended school Tuesday morning but did not return after lunch.

Masters said he did not see an automobile enter or leave the area where the body was found.

Bonner said the body was wrapped in a quilt and the victim was partly disrobed.

"She was stabbed 18 times that we know of from her neck to her abdomen. It was probably a small, sharp pocket knife. The stab wounds didn't look very big," Bonner said.

The tires of the vehicle involved were designed for use in mud and a pickup truck was sought, officers said.

Thieves Make Big Hauls

Police are investigating two burglaries and the theft of four tires and two tire tubes Tuesday.

Thieves entered Cedar Crest School Tuesday night and took a $200 movie projector, a $50 record player and 75 rolls of movie film valued at $75. Police said entrance was gained by cutting through a screen and lifting a window on the south side of the building. Dusks were ransacked and papers and books thrown on the floor. A large davenport in the lounge was slashed.

A burglary at Vaughn's Doughnut Shop, 508 Gregg, netted thieves $25 to $30. Police gain attempts were made to gain entry at two back doors, but thieves finally entered by knocking out a window in the southwest corner of the building. A stepladder was placed outside the window and broken glass had been put on top of the ladder, police said.

Ronald Reed, 2004 Scurry, reported four tires and two tire tubes had been taken from the front porch of his house where they had been chained to a post carried away with the tires.

Registration Starts Out High

Howard County Junior College got off to a good start Tuesday with first-day registration for the first six weeks of the summer session.

A total of 264 had cleared the business office early Wednesday morning, said Don Shoemaker, business manager, and 10 others were on hand waiting to be cleared. Registration will continue to next Monday, but college officials urged prospective students not to waste time in signing up. Because summer classes involve intensive study, it is important not to miss any more classwork than necessary, they said.

Fees for the courses are $10.50 per semester hour (but with a $18 minimum for one course), plus $2 fees and an $8 lab fee where science courses require this.

Last year, the first six weeks registration totalled 299.

Left Stranded By 'Fast' Firm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An air travel company accused of stranding hundreds of tourists abroad faces $300,000 and possibly far more than that in informal complaints police Sgt. Warren G. Hamblly says.

International Tour Inc. closed the doors of its Los Angeles agency May 20. In Hawaii and Mexico tourists said they were left stranded without a way home after paying the company for round trips.

Hamblly said Tuesday police were looking for the president of the company for questioning. Auditors of the district attorney's office have been examining the books.

Airlines returned many of the travelers home without cost.

Green-Thumbers Clinic Scheduled

A clinic on insects and diseases of trees, yards and grass will be held Monday at 10 a.m. in the extension service offices in the courthouse.

Dr. Bob Berry, area plant pathologist, and Dr. Billy Clymer, area entomologist, both from the agricultural research and extension center in Lubbock, will conduct the discussions, said Paul Gross, county agent.

Everyone interested is urged to attend. Much helpful information will come from this, said Gross.

There will be a plant clinic in the afternoon when persons may bring in plants for diagnosis. Individual yard problems will be discussed.

Fire Snuffed

Firemen answered a call Tuesday to 806 Willera to a reported fire. They extinguished a small blaze in a tar machine.

Car Recovered

A car reported stolen Tuesday afternoon was found abandoned in the 1500 block of Mesquite by police. R. D. Thomas, said Springs, reported his car was taken from a service station at US 80 and Harding.

Says Rocky's Visit To Brazil Still On

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's foreign minister, Jose de Magalhaes Pinto, Tuesday lamented the interruption of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's Latin-American fact finding mission but said the U.S. government already has the facts it needs. Magalhaes said the New York governor's three-day visit to Brazil beginning June 16 is still on. Uruguay and Chile are reported considering cancellation of Rockefeller's trips to those countries, and Argentina is in the midst of an internal political crisis.

The first two legs of the four-part mission for President Nixon were marred by protest demonstrations and at least 10 deaths. The trip was cut short Sunday after Peru had said Rockefeller was not welcome because of curtailment of U.S. arms aid, Venezuela asked him to stay away because of the threat of violence, and the Bolivians wouldn't let him out of the La Paz airport.

Tuesday night, about 500 rock-throwing students battled police in Montevideo, the Uruguayan capital, and two senators called for Rockefeller to cancel his trip there. Some 200 high school students stoned the U.S. consulate in Santiago, Chile, in protest against the Rockefeller mission.

Author Expires

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — James Paul Warburg, 72, banker and author of numerous books on American and European foreign and economic policy, died Tuesday. Warburg was deputy director of the Office of War Information overseas branch during World War II.

Poher Refuses To Quit Race

PARIS (AP) — France's Gaullist party today called for the nation to unite behind its presidential candidate, Georges Pompidou, after runnerup Alain Poher refused to quit the race.

The executive committee of the Gaullist Union of Democrats for the Republic (UDR) said: "The very strong lead Pompidou achieved in the first heat of the election gives him a mandate to unite all Frenchmen who believe in political efficacy, public liberties, social progress and national independence and peace."

Pompidou, De Gaulle's premier for six years, ran far ahead in the field of seven candidates Sunday but failed to win a majority by more than 14 million votes.

Poher, who ran nearly five million votes behind Pompidou, had to get the Communist vote to have any chance of winning the runoff June 15. After the Communist party's central committee called for a boycott of the second round vote, some of his own supporters called for the provisional president to pull out. But Poher refused, saying that would pit Pompidou against Communist party leader

Poher is backed by a loose alliance of his own Centrists and Socialists.

Poher, who won only 23.3 per cent of the vote to Pompidou's 44.5 per cent in the first round, indicated he had little hope of victory but was determined to put up a fight.

$20,000 To Get Baptists Involved

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Baptist (Christian Life Commission) has $20,000 to spend getting Texas Baptists involved in government as a result of a Tuesday meeting.

The expenditure was authorized by the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

An additional $25,000 was placed in reserve to allow the agency to cooperate with any other organizations working toward the same government results as the Baptists.

A third item in the package was $1,000 designated for the Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education Agency to assist in employment of qualified legal counsel.

Six pastors and two laymen were named to the executive board during its meeting. The pastors are Russell Pogue, First Baptist Church of Peetersburg; John Gillispie, First Baptist Church of Crowell; Gerald S. Perry, First Baptist Church of Mineola; Jack T. Harris, Calvary Baptist Church of Texas City; James W. Evans, Crestview Baptist Church of Midland; and W. G. Perdue, First Baptist Church of Sweetwater. Laymen named to the board are Norman Wright of Plainview and Chester Young of Port Arthur.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I don't know how many wives get bawled out every week for spending too much money on groceries, but I am one of them.

I spend about $40 a week on groceries. Is that a lot? There are four of us. My husband, two children ages 4 and 5, and myself. My husband takes home about $150 a week, and we are only $300 in debt.

Now, here is why I hate to spend so much for groceries. My husband has to have meat, potatoes, and gravy every night of the week. He won't eat left-overs, and he doesn't like casseroles. The only vegetable he'll eat is corn. He has to have REAL butter on everything. He demands a milkshake with EVERY meal! This means he consumes nearly two gallons of ice cream all by himself every week.

He insists on cake or pie and candy and cookies in every lunch, in addition to two sandwiches. In case you think he's a big man, he's not. He's 5 ft. 9 inches and weighs 160 pounds. Don't tell me to tell him to do the marketing. He won't go inside a store. He says that's my job.

What would you do, if you were me? PENNY PINCHER: Tell him out when he complains. Then invite a sharp life insurance agent over to sell your man a policy that will provide handsomely for you and the children after he has eaten himself into the grave. From what you say, it won't be long now.

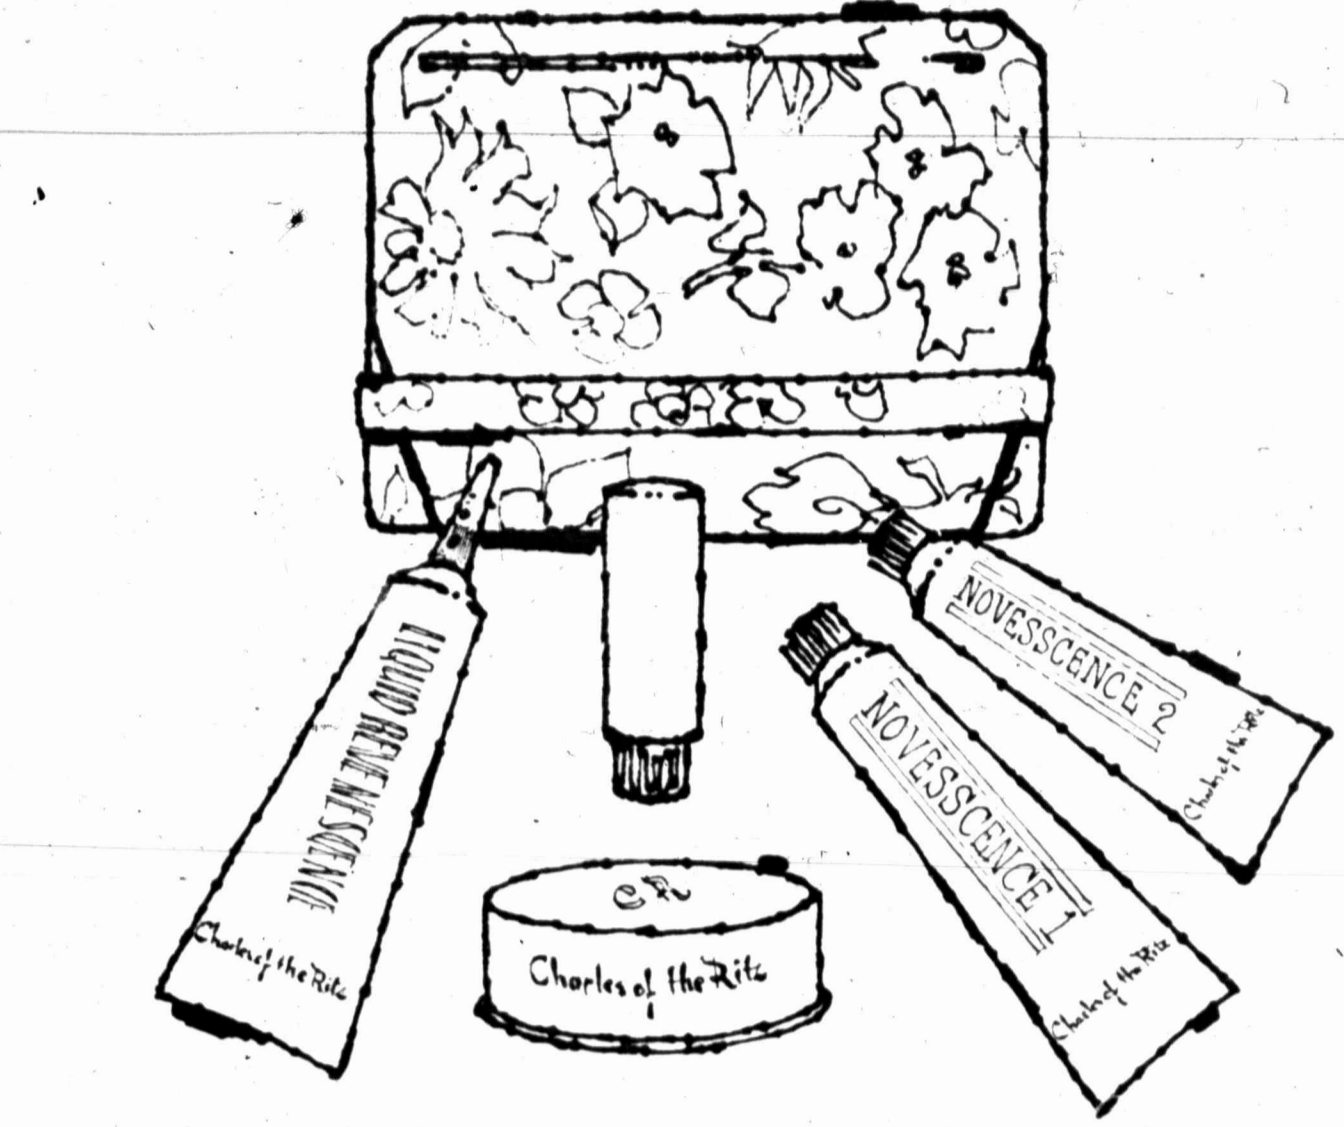

DEAR ABBY: How can I possibly tell my pastor to please develop a firmer handshake? He is a wonderful man, but when he shakes your hand you feel as though you have been holding an old dishrag. ANNIE

DEAR ANNIE: It may not be necessary to TELL him if you show him. Next time YOU give HIS hand a good firm grip. Many men are reluctant to give a lady as firm a handshake as they'd give a man. It's a mistake. I don't recommend a bone crusher, but a firm handshake is the only meaningful kind.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are presently house-hunting in a fashionable suburb in Connecticut. Friends who have lived there have told us that there's a real swinging crowd of socialites living there.

They said that one of their neighbors used to throw wild parties and one of their favorite games was the "key" party. All the women would toss their housekeys into a hat, and a man would pick out a key and go home and spend the night with the lady whose key he got. Can this be true? HOUSE HUNTING: A real swinger wouldn't take a chance on getting his own wife.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Black Capitalism Project Involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal poverty agency is investigating reports that staff members of a foundation granted nearly $1 million under President Nixon's black capitalism project were involved in violence at a North Carolina college last month.

The foundation was given $900,000, funded under OEO's Special Impact program, to develop black capitalism projects in Durham, N.C. It also received $60,000 from the Commerce Department's Economic Development Administration.

Gambling Down

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — State revenue from gambling was down more than $2 million for the first three months of this year. The drop "was caused primarily by the most severe winter in years blocking main routes into Nevada" Chairman Edward Bowers of the Nevada Gaming Commission said Tuesday.

But many of Durham's white leaders have protested to the OEO not to release money through the 15-month-old foundation, an outgrowth of the North Carolina Fund. Jim Holsouser, chairman of the North Carolina Republican party, has urged that federal funds "not be used to feed the fires of unrest which cross North Carolina today."
