Ranch Foreman Killed

A. W. Raebug, 55, foreman of the Duncan Ranch, owned by Dave Duncan, Big Spring, was killed this morning in a traffic accident near Hamilton where the ranch is located.

Raebug, brother-in-law to Chap Coker, Big Spring, was driving a pickup which collided with the rear of a truck, and was killed instantly. He was employed with Duncan 27 years and had visited Big Spring several times.

Running Battle

TEL AVIV (AP) — Eight Arab guerrillas and three Israeli soldiers were killed Wednesday in a running battle up a 1,000-foot mountain west of the Jordan River, the Israeli army reported today.

The skirmish was one of the most serious clashes between guerrillas and Israelis this year. It occurred on the second anniversary of the cease-fire that ended the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Israeli soldiers chased the Arab infiltrators through rugged terrain on the occupied West Bank, pinning them down on the mountain at Kharbet Jarbas, then flushing them out. Kharbet Jarbas is 25 miles northwest of the Damiva Bridge across the Jordan River and four miles from the Israeli-Jordanian cease-fire line.

Unemployment Fears

AMARILLO (AP) — Unemployment could increase in Texas because of the rise of the prime interest rate to 8 1/2 per cent, a Texas Employment Commission member said Wednesday.

"We are hoping something can be done to curb the interest rate," said J. E. Lyles, labor representative of the TEC.

Lyles added, however, that the over-all picture on employment in Texas was good, despite tight budgets and tight money.

Ex-Nun Marries

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A former Roman Catholic nun who won national recognition as an educator has married Paul J. Wexler, a Jewish businessman from New Jersey.

The wedding ceremony was held in the music building at suburban Webster College, which the new Mrs. Wexler, the former Jacqueline Grennan, has headed as president since 1965, first as a nun and later as a lay educator.

Wexler is 49, his bride 42. The groom's two children, Wendy, 20, and Wayne, 18, were among the 50 relatives and friends attending the private ceremony.

Soviet Missile Power Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon predicts the Soviet Union will pour more than $12 billion into its growing force of missile-busting SS9 rockets by 1975.

This figure is based on the latest national intelligence estimate which, according to U.S. defense leaders, projects that the Soviets will have 420 SS9s by the mid-1970s, with 230 now operational or under construction.

The Defense Department prices the SS9, a multigeneration missile, at $30 million each. The smaller U.S. Air Force Minuteman ICBMs range from $7 million to $10 million.

Pentagon officials point to the SS9's big expense as illustrating the Soviet Union's determination to field a missile powerful enough to knock out the Minuteman silos in this country.

They also note that the $12 billion is around $1 billion more than the United States currently expects to spend on the largest planned version of the Safeguard antiballistic missile defense.

Safeguard, designed to shield a portion of the Minuteman force from Soviet attack, will cost $10.8 billion if the Nixon administration decides to deploy ABM batteries throughout the United States.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, in May 22 testimony to Congress, released Tuesday night, declared that if the United States does not deploy Safeguard against the SS9 "the survivability of our Minuteman force as presently deployed would be virtually nil by the mid-to-late 1970s."

Laird told the House defense appropriations subcommittee in a closed session that if the Soviets increase their SS9s to even 420 missiles "and improve the accuracy to a quarter of a mile they could probably destroy 95 per cent of our Minuteman force, leaving only 50 surviving."

Laird said his calculation assumes a Soviet missile failure rate of 20 per cent and credits the Soviets with having the capability to retarget a second missile for those that fail.

The testimony indicated the U.S. intelligence community sharply underestimated the buildup of the Soviet ICBM force beginning in 1966.

Rep. Robert Sikes, R-Fla., a member of the appropriations subcommittee, said that "just three years ago, for example, we were told that they would have 500-800" missiles of all types by mid-1970.

Center Will Continue To Treat Drug Addicts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said today that the Mental Health Clinical Research Center in Fort Worth would remain open indefinitely.

Yarborough's office said Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch told the senators today that the center, which treats narcotic addicts, would not close.

In April HEW had indicated that the closing of the hospital would come soon.

Yarborough, who is chairman of the Senate health subcommittee, held hearings in Fort Worth and has one scheduled in San Antonio Friday on the closing.

Yarborough said Finch told him the center would continue to treat narcotic addicts until adequate numbers of community-based mental health centers are established.

The secretary also said that

Leaders Of Both Parties Back Tax

Surtax Coupled With Allowance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee tentatively agreed today on extension of the income surtax coupled with a special allowance that would take two million low income families off the tax rolls entirely.

The proposal will be voted on formally Monday, Acting Chairman Hale Boggs, D-La., told newsmen. This would permit House action next week.

Boggs' announcement, at the Capitol, followed a White House meeting of House leaders with President Nixon and others.

Following that meeting a White House spokesman said Nixon received unanimous support from Democratic and Republican House leaders for his proposed 12-month extension of the surtax.

CONFIDENCE

It said he was given an expression of confidence that it would be approved by the House.

"I think the House will pass it," Boggs said.

The low income allowance, a Treasury proposal, would consist of a special $1,100 deduction allowed persons generally at or below the poverty level. Above this level, the allowance would scale down and drop off.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles Walker said that in all about 13 million persons would benefit from it.

The provision for low income taxpayers would cost the Treasury about $660 million a year in revenues, he said.

The package the Ways and Means Committee ordered put together for its vote Monday includes:

LOW INCOME

Repeal of the investment credit by which businesses can recoup 7 per cent of their investment in equipment. Boggs said, however, there may be some modification of this provision.

Members have been pressing for continuing some investment credit for small businesses and other special cases.

Postponement for a year of the scheduled drop in telephone and automobile excise taxes.

The account of the White House gathering came from presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Nixon called the bipartisan leadership into an unusual White House meeting this morning with Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy and other top economic advisers in his bid to get passage of the tax extension to help curb mounting inflation.

Nixon has asked a full year's extension of the surcharge—six months at the present 10 per cent rate and six months at 5 per cent.

DISCUSSION

Ziegler said there was a full discussion of everything relating to the tax proposal and tax reforms. However, for any other details, or possible conditions that might be tacked on to the measure, he referred inquiries to the Ways and Means Committee.

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic leader in the House, said earlier that leaders of both parties in the House agreed with Nixon that the surcharge should be extended—but said Nixon was told that his proposal, unless modified, may not pass the House.

Asked whether he thinks the House would pass such a bill without some additions to make it more palatable, Albert said "I doubt it."

Evans Inquiry 'Maneuver'

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — The skipper of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans said today his crew had to use a maneuver procedure different from the one it was used to the night the ship and the Australian carrier Melbourne collided.

Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore said the ordinary Evans maneuver was "quite simple" when it changed stations to act as recovery ship while operating, its usual flagship.

However, he told the investigating board of Australian and American naval officers this procedure had been "disestablished" in working with the Melbourne during the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization exercise.

Ordinarily when operating with an American carrier, the plane guard position when aircraft are launched is assigned to a ship already astern of the carrier, McLemore said. The only action then required is for the destroyer to move in.

The Australian Navy Department has said the collision that killed 74 American sailors occurred while the Evans was shifting from forward of the Melbourne to the plane guard position astern.

Check Coed Killer Clues

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Police are trying to identify a man seen with University of Michigan co-ed Alice Kalom shortly before she was raped and slain.

Miss Kalom, 21, left the Depot House, a rehearsal hall for rock bands, early Sunday with a male companion.

Her body was found a day and a half later about seven miles north of the city. She had been raped, slashed and shot in the head.

Miss Kalom is the sixth young woman and fourth co-ed slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in 22 months. None of the murders has been solved.

The owner of the Depot House who identified himself only as "Al," said Miss Kalom had attended a private party at his place Saturday night.

People who saw her at the party said Wednesday the clothes she was wearing then were same as those found on or near the body. No one could identify the man she left with.

Police Chief Walter Krasny said his men were checking out all her acquaintances.

University of Michigan President Robert W. Fleming defended the school's role in protecting its students.

"We have done all we can think of, cooperated with the police completely and asked their advice as to what we might do," Fleming said.

"I don't know what you can do to protect people. We can't go around taking everyone by the hand wherever they go."

Two Copters Shot Down

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Marine patrol clashed with North Vietnamese troops inside the demilitarized zone, then carried some of its wounded over mountains and through jungles for two days to safety, U.S. headquarters announced today.

Two Marine helicopters were shot down and destroyed as they tried to rescue the patrol of a dozen or more men. All of the helicopter crewmen escaped unhurt, and joined the patrol.

It was the first ground clash reported in the DMZ in nearly three months, and a U.S. spokesman said the two choppers were the first shot down over the zone since the halt on the bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1.

The action began last Saturday near the western end of the DMZ and the last Marines finally made it back Wednesday. Through it all, only seven Leathernecks were wounded, four of them were hit accidentally by fire from an Air Force gunship that was covering the patrol's withdrawal.

The patrol ran into about 35 North Vietnamese troops Saturday morning while on a reconnaissance mission about a mile inside the southern half of the DMZ and nine miles northwest of the Marine base known as The Rockpile.

The Americans and the North Vietnamese exchanged machine-gun and small-arms fire. As the fighting continued, Marine reinforcements were flown up by helicopter and joined in the shooting.

U.S. headquarters said three Marines were wounded in this clash while North Vietnamese losses were not known.

Five hours after the initial contact, a Marine CH46 helicopter trying to lift out the ground troops was hit by machine-gun fire and crashed. The chopper was destroyed and its three or four crewmen were uninjured and joined the Marines on the ground.

Two hours later, another CH46 was hit by antiaircraft fire, crashed and its uninjured crewmen joined the ground force.

American artillery below the DMZ opened up on the North Vietnamese guns that shot down the two helicopters.

During the night the ground force began moving south, heading for another site from which they might be lifted out.

"All the while," a U.S. communique said "a U.S. Air Force C47 gunship was providing covering fire for the group as they moved through suspected enemy locations. During the movement, a number of aerial machine-gun rounds from the AC47 ricocheted, wounding four other Marines in the group."

The communique said the Marines continued their reconnaissance mission as they moved through heavy jungles and mountainous terrain Sunday and Monday. A second patrol joined them Monday the seven wounded men were evacuated by helicopter Tuesday and the patrols returned to their position south of the DMZ Wednesday. No enemy contact was reported during this time.

Water District Bid Awarded

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District today awarded their last major contract under the 1966 construction program, and turned attention toward dedication of the Robert Lee Dam and Lake E. V. Spence Saturday.

H. B. Zachry Co. of San Antonio, was awarded a contract for construction of pump stations at Moss Creek Lake, Spade Ranch, and Lake Spence on a low bid of $769,250.

The dedication rites will begin with a barbecue at the northeast end of the lake at noon Saturday and ceremonies at 1:30 p.m. when Cong. Omar Burleson will speak and Mrs. E. V. Spence, widow of the district's first general manager, will unveil a memorial plaque.

Visitors will be able to drive across the 16,000,000 cubic yard dam one way from north to south, but due to continued construction, they will not be able to go on to the spillway deck. The district will also arrange transportation for those who wish to fly in and use the landing strip two miles west of the dam.

REBEL GOVERNMENT MAKES ITS DEBUT

No New Faces At Paris Table

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's new provisional revolutionary government of South Vietnam replaced the National Liberation Front at the Paris peace talks today without objection from the United States or the Saigon government. The faces were the same.

The change-over took place at the 21st full-scale meeting of the talks when the foreign minister of the newly established government, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, took her seat and formally notified the other parties of the transfer of functions.

After announcing the change, she made this statement: "Today at this session our delegation . . . solemnly declares its will to continue negotiations with the other parties of the conference."

South Vietnamese delegate Pham Dang Lam ignored the switch completely in his prepared statement, but he circulated a statement outside the meeting declaring his government's nonrecognition of the new government. He said the change would not alter the nature of the talks.

Ambassador Lawrence E. Walsh, sitting for the United States in the absence of Henry Cabot Lodge, preceded his main speech with a supplementary statement on the change.

"From the beginning of the Paris meeting on Vietnam," Walsh said, "the United States has looked on these meetings as meetings between two sides. We have recognized that each side may organize itself as it chooses. We continue to regard these meetings as two-sided.

"As far as we are concerned, the spokesmen for your side have introduced changes in name only. We place no significance on the manner in which you choose to style yourselves. Such changes in no way affect the conduct of our business at these meetings.

"Whatever you do for self-serving propaganda does not change the reality of the political and military situation in South Vietnam. Nor does it change the basis upon which these negotiations at the Paris meetings should seek to achieve a peaceful settlement of the war in Vietnam. In this regard we will continue to present constructive proposals for peace in the same spirit which has guided us in the past."

Walsh devoted a substantial part of his main statement to a review of the U.S.-South Vietnamese summit meeting on Midway Island last Sunday. He appealed to the other side to drop its efforts to destroy the Saigon government and to cease attacks on civilian centers.

"If your side wants peace," he said, "that is not the way to get it."

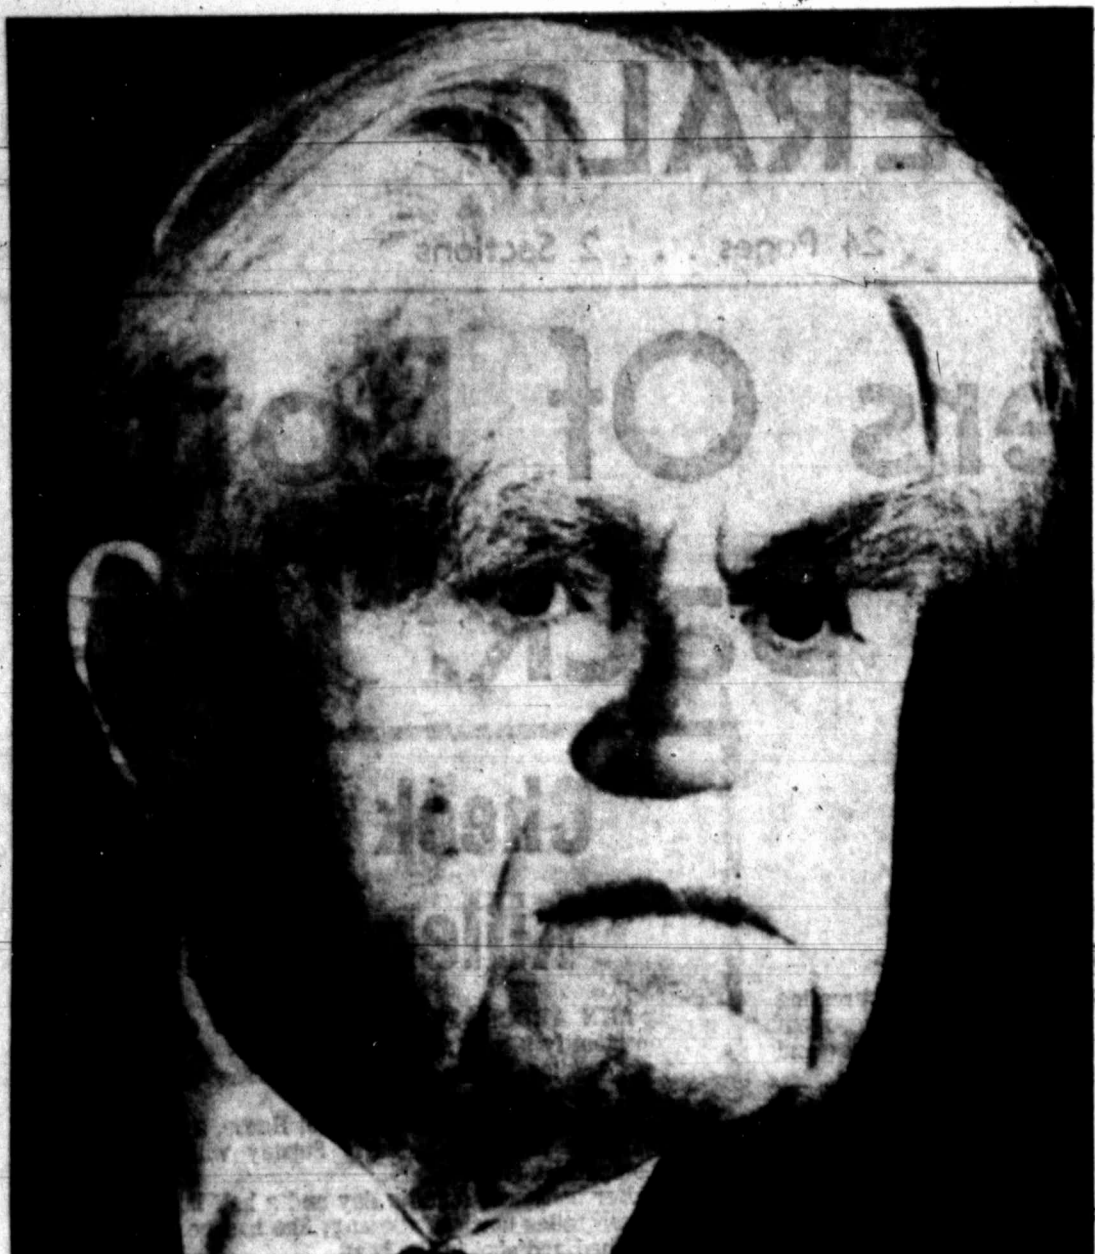

The U.S. delegate stressed that President Nixon's eight-point peace plan was not offered on a take-it-or-leave-it basis and that the United States insisted on no rigid diplomatic formula.

"We are ready to negotiate," he said.

"Your insistence that our side accept your way of looking at questions cannot lead to practical solutions to the problems we face here. We intend to continue to try to exchange views on each other's proposals in the hope that we can find common ground. We would like you to join us in a genuine give-and-take process, which is necessary if negotiations are to be successful."

Walsh substituted for Lodge because that chief U.S. envoy has not returned to Paris from the Midway Island meeting.

Face Of A Fighter: John L. Lewis Dead At 89

Defied Presidents, Titans Of Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis put a spark of light in the coal black future of thousands of miners in the soot-grim company towns and backwoods hollows.

In his time, the unsmiling, bushy-haired labor giant with the leonine head and shoulders like feed sacks, was called a dictator. He was accused of stopping a nation in its tracks.

Now John Llewellyn Lewis is dead. He died Wednesday night at Doctors Hospital where he was admitted Sunday night suffering from internal bleeding. He was 89.

His last words to a reporter five years ago — "Organize the same language he used in leading the United Mine Workers Union and founding the CIO. Harry Bridges, another labor figure and boss of the longshoremen's union, said about Lewis: "He wrote history in news, deeds and action. I've never seen his equal yet, and I don't expect to live long enough to do so."

Lewis could be mean. As a youth in the mines he was kicked by a mule. He brained the mule with a "sprang," the wooden break lever of a coal car. In 1935 he decked an AFL leader at a union convention with one punch.

But the leader of the United Mine Workers for 40 years and moving force in the drive to organize the nation's unskilled workers could also be eloquent and ironic.

In 1949 he told a Senate committee on mine safety that 1,259,081 miners had been killed in the mines since 1930. To ram this home, he said:

"If I had the powers of a Merlin, I would march that million and a quarter men past the Congress of the United States — the quick and the dead.

"I would have the concourse flanked by five weeping members of each man's family, six and a quarter-million people, wailing and lamenting."

When President Franklin Delano Roosevelt refused to support his bid to organize steel workers, Lewis scowled mightily. "It ill behooves anyone who has sipped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor... both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace."

Lewis' contributions to labor were two-fold. He fused scores of scattered, ineffective miners locals around the nation into a 400,000-member phalanx under his leadership and dealt with miners woes and hopes on an industrywide basis.

John L. Lewis' Parting Tip: 'Organize'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Shortly before his 89th birthday, John L. Lewis granted this rare interview to Associated Press Labor Writer Neil Gilbride on condition that it not be published during his lifetime. After his retirement as United Mine Workers president in 1960, Lewis refused all offers to talk for publications or television, and this is a rare account of his views in recent years.)

By NEIL GILBRIDE, Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The parting advice of John L. Lewis to the nation's labor movement was the same as when he began his legendary career at the dawn of this century: "Organize."

"There are 30 million white collar workers and 30 million blue collar workers in this country, most of them unorganized. But nobody is doing it," the retired Mine Workers president told this interviewer.

Unions in modern times, he said, spend too much of their time raiding each other for the same members.

Lewis said he feared that if labor didn't revive the organizing fervor of its early days, many of the evils of the past could return — low wages, social unrest, even child labor.

Lewis criticized the AFL-CIO for expelling the giant Teamster Union on corruption charges in 1955, describing the Teamsters as one of the nation's most active unions.

"It is not the business of labor to expel sin, but to organize," growled the white-haired elder statesman of American labor.

But Lewis, who warred with other labor leaders, the coal industry, politicians and the White House during his 40-year career as Mine Workers president, held his peace publicly in latter years.

"He knows his heyday is past and he sees little value in getting into newspaper scraps with other labor leaders," said an aide.

Lewis for the last nine years of his life deliberately stayed out of the limelight, even declining to go to his union's conventions so as not to overshadow his protégé, Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle. Aides said Lewis refused fabulous financial offers from magazines and book publishers to write his story.

The interview took place in the comfortable club-like lounge on the 6th floor of the Mine Workers' solid, old headquarters building near the office where Lewis continued to handle union business almost to the day of his death.

His mood ranged from thoughtful, to emphatic, to humorous. His features still held that bulldog look of strength which for years had scowled from newspaper front pages in his many battles with the government and mine owners. His mind skipped easily from past to present to future and back again, showing no slowing of age. The only other person present was a Mine Workers aide.

Lewis was in a mellow mood, showing he had a mischievous streak and enjoying twitting his questioner.

Lewis rolled the big cigar around in his mouth and peered from under shaggy, snow-white brows with quizzical amusement, wondering, perhaps, what this 36-year-old young pup of a reporter could possibly know about labor.

"Would he talk for publication?" "Not today," rumbled Lewis, and continued chewing the cigar.

Reporter's next sally: "You've made a lot of labor history and you know where labor has been; where, in your opinion is labor going?"

Lewis — "Chuckles shaking his frame for a long minute. "Young man, that's something all humanity wants to know. It's not just a question of where labor is going, but all of humanity and the world, in the light of the possibility of instant atomic catastrophe."

What did he think about receiving the Freedom Medal at the White House a few days earlier?

His head sunk on his chest and he seemed to take a long, thoughtful look over his half century as one of the nation's most controversial and powerful labor leaders, then he broke into a wry smile.

"So they gave me a medal for doing all those things they fought me for doing all those years," he rumbled.

Did he voice that sentiment at the White House?

His smile widened. "They didn't ask the Freedom Medal recipients to make speeches, but I could have made a speech, couldn't I?" he chuckled.

The Mine Workers at the time had just endorsed President Lyndon B. Johnson for his 1964 White House campaign against Sen. Barry Goldwater, and I asked: "Will you discuss the current political campaign?"

After a long pause, Lewis shook his head, fingering the cigar he had already chewed half its length, but later he got around to talking about labor's role in politics.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Every Memorial Day (or Decoration day as some people still call it) my mother goes out to the cemetery and tears herself apart over the graves of her mother, her father, her brother, and some other relatives who are buried there. I have begged her not to go, but she won't listen to me.

My mother is not a well woman, Abby, and carrying on that way can't help but take a lot out of her. This year when I asked my sister to help me try to talk my mother out of going, she said, "If she wants to go, let her. It does a person good to have a good cry." I say, "If a person can avoid an emotional upset (and believe me, this is one) it is better to avoid it."

Please ask some of your medical consultants for their opinions. A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Three psychiatrists agree that what may appear to you to be an "emotional upset" may actually be a healthy venting exercise. It depends upon the person. It's

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who I am sure does not hear half of what is going on, but she absolutely refuses to admit that she is deaf! Everyone yells at her, and even then they have to repeat what they've said two or three times. I once mentioned that I thought she should have her hearing tested and she exploded in anger. Why is it a disgrace to wear a hearing aid? People who can't see are perfectly willing to go to an eye doctor and get themselves fitted with glasses. Now, what do you do with a stubborn ox like that?

CONCERNED RELATIVE. DEAR RELATIVE: Until this relative is willing to admit that she has a hearing loss, you may as well talk to the wall. There are none so deaf as those who will not hear.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90009, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Firemen Snuff Two Blazes

A house fire at 1214 Lindberg and a fire in the College Park Shopping Center sign were both caused by faults in the electrical wiring Wednesday, according to firemen.

The house fire was confined to the attic and took firemen approximately 30 minutes to control. Firemen said the only damage was to wiring in the attic. The house belongs to Jack Payne.

The fire in the shopping center sign was extinguished in approximately 15 minutes. Firemen cut off the power to prevent reoccurrence.

Daddy Downgrades Americans

Janice Lawrence, 17-year-old blonde, rides a toy scooter in Bradford, England, Wednesday, after being brought home by her father, Tommy Lawrence, from Los Angeles, Calif., where they lived for six years. Lawrence, 43, an engineer, is looking for a Yorkshireman to marry Janice. "Americans may have the money, the big flashy cars, the confidence and the talk," he says, "but in my opinion they are second-rate husbands compared with a sound Yorkshire lad."

Sentence Five Basque Priests

BURGOS, Spain (AP) — A Spanish military court has sentenced five Roman Catholic priests to prison terms ranging from 10 to 12 years for Basque separatist activity, authorities announced today.

The sentences were the stiffest penalties meted out to priests in the Franco government's current drive to break up the independence movement in the three Basque provinces of northwest Spain.

Meanwhile in Catalonia, another hotbed of anti-Franco sentiment on the northeast coast of Spain, six priests were in the sixth day of a hunger strike at the Barcelona diocesan seminary in support of the Basque priests.

The Basque priests were tried behind closed doors Wednesday on charges of military rebellion and dispensing subversive propaganda.

They had sought sanctuary in the headquarters of the Bilbao diocese on May 30 and went on a hunger strike to protest the police crackdown on separatists. Three days later the police invaded the building and arrested the priests despite the refusal of Bishop Jose Maria Cirarda to grant them permission to enter.

At least one other priest has been tried for separatist activities in the government's nine-month-old drive. He was ordered jailed for a year and fined $142 on May 3 after he wrote the mayor and councilmen of Amorebieta warning them not to attend services at his church.

At least 40 priests are reported under arrest, and others have gone underground to escape detention. The Basque fight for independence is centuries old, and priests often have led the fight.

'Hildegard' Homecoming

NEW HOLSTEIN, Wis. (AP) — The signs "Hildegard Lane" were all painted and ready to be erected on a new street during the homecoming for the entertainer who was born Hildegard Loretta Sell in 1906 in nearby Adell and lived in New Holstein until she was 12. Then the city council voted against the proposed street name.

Corkscrew Curls Clipped By Cops

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — John Sinclair lost his hair to the law again.

Sinclair, member of an Ann Arbor rock band, hadn't had a haircut since he was freed in 1966 from the Detroit House of Correction where he served a term on a marijuana conviction. It was in long corkscrew curls.

Now Sinclair is shorn clean. The hair was whacked off Tuesday as he began serving a 90-day sentence in Oakland County jail for assaulting a police officer. He was released on a $2,500 appeal bond after six hours, but by then it was too late.

"They even did it before fingerprinting and photographing," said Sinclair, minister of information for the pro-black militant White Panthers.

Undersheriff Leo Hazen said Sinclair got the same treatment given every prisoner.

The new level of spending by the biggest Protestant denomination in the country will allow a two per cent cost-of-living-increase for the executives and employees of 15 Southern Baptist agencies. It was voted Wednesday at the annual meeting of 15,000 "messengers," or delegates, from 30 states.

The money to be spent next year will come from 34,295, the undisclosed vote count.

Demos Expect To Pick Up $1.5 Million For Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Embattled Democrats, trying desperately to piece together the cross-purposes puzzle of party unity, expect to pick up $1.5 million in 1970 campaign funds in the process.

But two fund raising dinners one in New York tonight and another here June 26, seem likely to find former President Lyndon B. Johnson among the absentees. Johnson, whose Vietnam policies contributed to fragmenting the party, has made his political retirement stick so far.

LEJ'S HABIT

Democrats who remember his habit in the White House of waiting until the last minute to divulge his plans still hope Johnson may change his mind.

and attend the Washington dinner honoring the party leadership in Congress, where he served so long.

The President's club, which required $1,000 in contributions for membership during the Johnson administration, will provide most of the audience at the $1,000-a-plate dinner in New York. Now called the National Democratic Sponsors Club, it no longer can offer its members choice White House invitations. It only can hold out the hope of such recognition after 1972.

As a mark of their efforts to get the Democrats to speak to—and not at—each other, former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, will be the featured speakers in New York. Humphrey, the 1968 presidential nominee; Muskie, his vice presidential running mate, and Kennedy can be expected to ignore their potential rivalry for top place on the 1972 ticket.

Alvin A. Spivak, public affairs director for the Democrats, estimated the dinner will gross $550,000 for the debt-burdened Democratic National Committee's operations.

Neale Roach, director of the June 26 dinner, said he is shooting for a $1 million intake. The net would be used to help finance Democratic senatorial and House campaigns next year, an operation independent of the national committee.

Herbicides Use Is Outlined

Proper timing of postemergence herbicides will keep cotton free of weeds, but producers should not wait too long to begin postemergence applications if preemergence chemicals have been used, according to Fred C. Elliott, Texas Agricultural Extension Service cotton specialist.

Herbicides are designed to help keep a weed or grass problem from developing. Things to consider are size of the cotton, weed or grass that is to be controlled, and the temperature. Texas cotton producers have available to them more postemergence herbicides than ever before.

Elliott emphasized that the farmer should check with the county agent for correct rates of application, and should also ask for a copy of publication B-1029, "Suggestions for Weed Control with Chemicals."

Top Education Officials Called To Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's top education officials have been summoned to Capitol Hill to clear up what some congressmen say are conflicting statements on a bill dealing with campus unrest.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch and James E. Allen, the commissioner of education, were called into the private meeting today by Republican members of the House Education and Labor Committee in order to outline their views on the legislation.

Another provision of the bill would broaden an existing law cutting off aid to students involved in serious uprisings by including students receiving veterans education benefits and social security payments.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., chief sponsor of the bill, told the committee that Finch informed her he would not oppose the bill, although in an earlier appearance before her subcommittee he had said no new federal laws were needed to deal with student unrest.

conversations with him.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., said after talking to Finch he was unsure where the secretary stood. "That's what we want to find out," he said.

Allen has been quoted in newspaper reports as saying the bill would be impossible to administer and would amount to federal intrusion in the internal affairs of a university.

"That's hard to understand," said Quie, "because when Dr. Allen was the New York state superintendent of schools he helped draft a bill that required the filing of similar plans by state institutions."

House leaders are anxious to get a bill passed before the education appropriations bill is brought up in a few weeks. They fear without specific legislation dealing with student violence harsher and less carefully considered measures may be added to the appropriations bill.

Blind Legislator Struck By Auto

HOUSTON (AP) — State Sen. Criss Cole of Houston was treated and released from a hospital Wednesday after being struck by a car while crossing a downtown street.

The blind legislator was treated for minor knee and nose abrasions. His guide dog was not hurt.

Witnesses said the car that struck Cole also sideswiped another car.

Frank Wade, 28, of Houston, was jailed on a charge of felony theft filed in Justice of the Peace Richard W. Millard's court.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"This confirms my faith in the intelligence of the American people, gentlemen... Over two million box-tops sent in and only 29 box-bottoms!"

Introducing a used car guarantee without any "you pay half, we pay half" nonsense.

Most used car dealers sell their cars with 50-50 guarantees. You know the deal: if anything goes wrong, you pay half the cost of parts and labor. And they do the same. Well, our guarantee doesn't work that way. When we guarantee a car, we guarantee the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1000 miles. There's no charge for parts. Labor. Anything. How can we do this? Easy. We fix the things that need fixing before we give them the guarantee. These used cars, for instance. They've all passed a tough, 16-point safety and performance test. They're reconditioned and ready to roll. A car with a 100% guarantee costs no more in the beginning. And won't drive you to the poorhouse in the end.

Presbyterians Will Take Capital Punishment Look

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Synod of Texas, United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., today was expected to take another look at a 10-point report that included a recommendation for elimination of capital punishment.

The report by the committee on evangelism was presented before the body Wednesday but delegates voted to table it for later consideration, which officials said probably would come today.

Only two of the recommendations had been heard when the synod voted to table the report, which deals with such other topics as wages, fair housing, prevention and cure of racial disorder, prison reform, welfare and education.

The synod, which represents more than 55,000 United Presbyterians in Texas and part of Louisiana, earlier this week voted to separate itself from Trinity University of San Antonio, a Presbyterian school founded by the church in 1869. No longer will Trinity be controlled by the synod, although the body will continue to support the school financially. Trustees will elect their own successors, who will be nominated by a special committee. In the past, the synod elected trustees. The nominating committee will include two synod representatives.

Trinity President James W. Laurie called the synod's action a "sign of maturity, strength and mutual confidence."

Three-Vehicle Pileup Kills

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Marie Phillips, 43, of Galveston, Tex., was killed Wednesday in a three-vehicle pileup on Interstate 55 about 13 miles south of Blytheville.

Authorities said her car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Bartley Juel Phillips, 33, of Galveston and that a tractor trailer driven by John P. Vensel of Plano, Tex., piled into the wreckage.

Springer Meets With Officials About Zoning

Marvin Springer, city planner, will be in Big Spring today and Friday to discuss the new zoning ordinance with city officials.

He will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight with members of the Planning and Zoning Commission and the City Commission to discuss a zoning map, as laid out by the committee on a bus tour of Big Spring May 29.

"We will consider possible changes in this map, and when a conclusion is reached, a date will be set for a public hearing," Larry Crow, city manager, said.

Stadium VBS Closes Friday

Vacation Bible School at Stadium Baptist Church will close with a commencement program at 7 p.m. Friday at the church, followed by a salad supper.

Forrest Michael Wilcox was fined $100 plus court costs by Judge Lee Porter and issued a six-month probation sentence. Raymond Keith Sneed was handed a similar sentence and fined $50 plus court costs.

Specialty Acts Signed For 36th Annual Rodeo

The trick riding and roping acts of Rex and Wanda Rossey and Janette Bolling will be featured specialty events of the 36th Annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion slated here June 25-28.

The trio of riding and roping artists appeared here in 1967, according to Charlie Creel, Big Spring Rodeo Association president.

The Rosseys, Fallon, Nev.

Two Guilty Pleas Heard

Two guilty pleas have been heard in Howard County Court this week to charges of driving while intoxicated.

Malcolm Patterson, parade chairman, said the parade will also include more than 200 riders, color guard, bands, floats, the Shrine Motor Patrol and official dignitaries.

Creighton remanded area residents of the $100 in prize money for winning entries in the rodeo parade which kicks off the annual event at 4 p.m. June 25. Prizes of $50 for first, $30 for second, and $20 for third places are being offered.

All clubs and organizations in Big Spring and Howard County are invited to enter floats, and no entry fee will be charged.

Those interested in entering floats may call the Chamber of Commerce. Judging will be on portrayal of subject, originality of idea and over-all appearance of the float.

McDowell was dismissed as head of the state hospital for mentally retarded, southeast of Houston, in June, 1966.

Dr. John Kinross-Wright, state mental health commissioner, said at the time McDowell was dismissed because he "found it very difficult to be a member of the team... he refused to accept the fact that the state has policies of hiring."

Parley Talked

STANTON (SC) — The Lions Club Tuesday discussed the district and state convention in Big Spring this weekend. Glenn Gates, program chairman, introduced B. F. White who talked to the group about his recent trip to Hawaii.

Bride Faces Choice Of Cooking Utensils

By GENEVIEVE S. WOOD

Today's bride faces a choice of cookware that is bewildering in its beauty and variety.

These utensils, in anything but the warm made-to-sell-at-a-price provide unparalleled service. Due to good design and refinements in the metals used, manufacturers, both American and foreign who export to this country, are devoting much attention to cookware beauty.

So, if you are buying for a bride, better find out first of all what color scheme she is using in her kitchen. Some of the porcelain enameled utensils are truly magnificent in their color. Blues in many shades, reds from flame to raspberry, copper-tone, burnt orange, antique gold in solid color and shadings of the same color. Newest development is colorful designs — stylized flowers, paisley and so on.

All these are combined with black plastic handles (don't settle for anything but the oven-proof handles), and many have stainless steel rims that are assets in looks and use.

These porcelain enamels are applied to several kinds of bases — cast iron, cast aluminum, sheet aluminum and aluminum alloys. The porcelain enamel on cast iron is particularly handsome, but the chances are pretty good that the bride Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor and family have returned to their home in Houston after visiting his parents, will find such a utensil pretty heavy. The aluminum bases are much lighter, so are the steel. Present-day porcelain enamel is tougher and therefore less likely to chip than it was a few years ago. However, it still must be treated with care. If food is burned in it, it should be soaked until the food softens. A little detergent or cleaner added to the water is a help.

Mrs. F. Overton Feted At Shower

A baby shower was held Tuesday evening, honoring Mrs. Fred Overton in the home of Mrs. Joe Newnam, 1409 E. 15th. The honoree was presented a pink carnation corsage.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Charles Duggan, Mrs. Bonnie Porter, Mrs. Scott Davis, Mrs. Alvin Harry, Mrs. Frank Pierce and Mrs. Sidney Hart.

Summer Guests Visit In Knott

KNOTT (SC) — Mr and Mrs. C. O. Taylor and family have returned to their home in Houston after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor and family. Mrs. Jewell Smith, Marcellie Airhart of Amarillo is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Airhart.

A LOVELIER YOU

Protect Your Beauty Doing Yard Work

By MARY SUE MILLER

What price a lovely garden, when the gardener goes to seed? The usual toll in grubby hands, weathered skin and a head of straw seems a high tariff.

It need not be paid, you know. There are many ways to keep yourself blooming while tending your blooms.

- To protect your hair and complexion from overexposure to sun, never fail to wear a shading hat and to apply a sunscreen to your face.

- Wear jeans and long-sleeved shirts. You'd never catch a professional gardener working in a bathing suit.

- Whenever possible, wear gloves — cotton for dry work, latex for wet. And do slather on hand cream or lotion before donning gloves. It's a most effortless beauty treatment.

- Prior to performing those few tasks that require bare hands, apply a silicone lotion and run your nails over damp bar soap. Together, soap and silicones form a tough barrier against grime; rinse away easily, too.

- Keep a batch of mild bleach on hand. To concoct, mix two tablespoons each of mild soap flakes, lemon juice, hydrogen peroxide and lanolin skin oil, whip to a froth and decant in a clean jar. Smooth the mixture onto your hands and under fingernails several times weekly. Let set for 15 minutes; rinse with cool water, dry well and massage with hand lotion.

The reafter, "gather ye rosebuds." When they've faded, you'll still be blossoming!

LOVELIER HANDS
Do you have a hand problem? Send today for LOVELIER HANDS, a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed, how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poise and grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, at the mixture onto your hands and under fingernails several times weekly. Let set for 15

If necessary, use a fine cleaning powder in washing, just as you would in cleaning your sink. Porcelain enamel is essentially the same material as your china dishes, so do not use anything that will scratch that glossy surface.

EASY-CARE METALS

The bride who has a job outside her home and performs must make every minute count in her housekeeping chores; may prefer metal cookware, which demands little in the way of special care.

Stainless steel is one of the easiest of all the metals to take care of, although it will change color if subjected to very high heat too long. It can be polished with steel wool (very fine) and fine ground cleansers can be used on it.

Aluminum utensils have excellent heat distribution and also are easy to take care of. Ample directions for special problems, such as burned-on food, are included in the instruction folder in every utensil. But the main secret for keeping any utensil in perfect condition is not to use unnecessarily high heat. Such high heat can cause the bottom of a utensil to warp as well as producing a time-consuming clean-up job of removing scorched food.

MATCHING UTENSILS
Your bride may be interested in a relative new ceramic ware that may be used for cooking, serving, and refrigerator storage. Indeed, now she can buy tableware to match or harmonize with this ware.

Both utensils and dishes are well designed and very pleasing to the eye. There is a choice of colors and designs as well as all white. It should be treated like porcelain enamel. Heatproof glassware is especially nice for oven baking. The bride will have to adjust to the fact that pastries, cakes, cookies, pie crusts and breads will brown more quickly in glass than in other utensils.

Since even heat distribution is one of the important factors in all cooking utensils — and one that can prevent food scorching — many ideas are used to aid distribution of heat in the way of cores, jackets, and plys of various metals. Each has its own merit, so read the manufacturer's explanation, study his caution illustration, then decide which one is for you or the bride.

Here are some of the features of good utensil design:
Straight sides, gently rounded into the bottom of the utensil.
Bottoms of utensils substantial enough not to warp in use.

Snug-fitting lids. Vapor seal lids are an advantage on utensils used for pot roasting and foods that call for long, slow cooking.

Duplicate Games Are Cancelled

It has been announced that Thursday night duplicate bridge games at Big Spring Country Club will be discontinued until further notice. Also, this week's Friday afternoon game has been cancelled due to the tournament in Midland. Winners in Wednesday's session were Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. C. A. Jones, first, and Mrs. Raymond Tollett and Mrs. Joe Herbert, second.

Circle Has Study On Mission Work

Mrs. Alta King, 702 E. 12th, was hostess and presided at Tuesday meeting of Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley Methodist Church. Mrs. Ray Anderson led a program, "First Century Witness" concerning current mission work in Indonesia. The devotion was by Miss Helen Willard, and prayer was led by Mrs. King and Mrs. W. D. Lovelace. The next meeting will be Tuesday in the home of Mrs. M. O. Hamby, 1508 Eleventh Place.

Debutantes Honored At Barbecue

Parents of girls being presented at Webb's first debutante ball hosted a pavilion party Tuesday at Webb Air Force Base.

The host couples and their daughters were Col. and Mrs. Chandler B. Estes and Paula, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert T. Deming and Adele, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Jimmy L. Schneider and Jennifer, Capt. and Mrs. Jessie F. Scarbrough and Carolyn and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert M. Wall and Christine.

Twelve young couples attended, including girl friends of the honorees and their escorts. Other guests were Col. and Mrs. James Malone, Maj. and Mrs. W. D. R. Lund, Maj. and Mrs. Glenn Schaffer, Capt. and Mrs. John Stull, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth Francis and Mrs. Nancy Rouston.

The informal barbecue dinner was prepared by student pilots who will serve as the girls' escorts at Saturday's ball.

Guest Speaks To Rainbow Group

Mary Kay Carter, who holds the post of charity in Rainbow Assembly No. 9 at Augusta, Kans., was guest Tuesday evening of the local assembly and spoke briefly to the group.

The presiding officers were Peggy Grant, worthy advisor pro tem; Vickie Annen, hope; Ester Dennis, charity; and Susan Smith, worthy associate.

Stamless steel is one of the easiest of all the metals to take care of, although it will change color if subjected to very high heat too long. It can be polished with steel wool (very fine) and fine ground cleansers can be used on it.

Convention Business Reported To B&PW

Parents of girls being presented at Webb's first debutante ball hosted a pavilion party Tuesday at Webb Air Force Base.

MRS. RAY WEIR

Chores Wait—Family's First

By RHODA LEMONS
"I don't have time for much activity other than my job and being with my family," said Mrs. Ray Weir, 2712 Rebecca, Mrs. Weir is accounts clerk in the Communications Squadron of Webb Air Force Base. Her husband is staff manager for Prudential Insurance Co.

The couple has two children, Danny, 15, a sophomore at Big Spring Senior High School, and Kay Renee, 13, an eighth-grader at Goliad Junior High School.

"We eat out often because my husband and I both get home at 5 o'clock, and he often has to go back to work until around 9 p.m.," said Mrs. Weir.

"I do most of my cooking on weekends when we have large dinners," said Mrs. Weir. Kay Renee helps her mother keep the house straight, does some of the cooking, and helps prepare sandwiches and light snacks for herself and Danny.

Mrs. Weir has domestic help one day each week. She has her ironing done and buys garments which require only a light pressing.

The family is very sports-minded; all attend baseball, basketball and football games. Her husband is president of the Teenage Baseball Association.

"Whenever the family wants to go, then I go too," said Mrs. Weir. "I want to be involved with them as much as possible, and I don't have any household duties that will not wait for me."

Mrs. Weir used to do all the yard work, but now that her son is older, he has taken over the responsibility for most of it with his dad's help. Mrs. Weir uses her freezer to store seasonal vegetables. In some years, she puts up corn, peas, apples and other vegetables and fruits. They visit his parents in Arkansas, who make their home on a farm, and gather the produce.

"Our vacations are mostly conventions which Ray has to attend," said Mrs. Weir. In April, the family went to a Prudential convention in Mexico City. The Weirs took the children out of school for a week and thoroughly enjoyed the trip. Mrs. Weir especially remembers shopping and seeing the sights of the city. Other vacations have been taken in California and Florida.

"Also, we attend a lot of banquets," continued Mrs. Weir. Her husband is president of the local Life Underwriters and is called on to preside at a number of functions.

"I guess in many ways our social life is rather limited, but we like our way of life," smiled Mrs. Weir. "I just know that my work and my family are the two most important things in my life."

As Father's Day is Sunday, Mrs. Weir has listed a number of the favorite foods her husband likes. The recipes are below.

Substitute Cream

Sour half-and-half may be used in place of sour cream in many recipes. It's suitable for cakes and cookies that contain fat in addition to sour cream.

DELUXE MEAT LOAF

1 egg
1½ lbs. ground beef
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. poultry seasoning
2 tbsps. minced onion
½ cup milk
1 can tomato sauce (8-oz. size)
3 tbsps. grated Parmesan cheese
Beat egg slightly. Add ground beef, bread crumbs, salt, pepper, poultry seasoning, onion and milk. Mix thoroughly. Shape meat mixture into a loaf in nine-inch skillet. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 minutes. Pour tomato sauce over meat loaf. Bake an additional 30 minutes. Sprinkle cheese on loaf and place under broiler, for about five minutes or until cheese begins to brown. Ready to serve.

POTATO SALAD

6 potatoes, boiled in jackets (4 cups cubed)
1 onion, chopped
3 hard-cooked eggs, diced
1 cup chopped celery
1½ tbsps. salt
¼ tsp. paprika
¼ cup French dressing
Mayonnaise as needed
Combine ingredients except dressings; chill and marinate in French dressing four to six hours. Just before serving, add mayonnaise and mix carefully. If desired, add one teaspoon celery seed or one cup grated carrot. Makes eight servings.

EASY BAKED BEANS

2 16-18 oz. cans pork and beans
¾ cup brown sugar
1 tsp. dry mustard
6 slices bacon, cut in pieces
½ cup catsup
Empty one can pork and beans into bottom of greased casserole. Combine sugar and mustard; sprinkle half of mixture over beans. Top with remaining beans. Sprinkle rest of sugar-mustard mixture chopped bacon, and catsup over beans. Bake, uncovered, in slow oven, 325 degrees for 2½ hours. Makes eight servings.

GERMAN CHOCOLATE CAKE

2 cups sugar
1 cup shortening
1 cup buttermilk
4 egg yolks
2½ cups sifted flour
1 tsp. soda (dissolved in some buttermilk)
1 tsp. vanilla
Pinch of salt
4 egg whites
1 pkg. German sweet chocolate (dissolved in ½ cup boiling water)
Cream shortening and sugar; add egg yolks. Alternately, add buttermilk and flour, salt, soda, chocolate. Last, fold in beaten egg whites. Cook at 350 degrees about 25 or 30 minutes. Cake will fall some.

ICING

½ pint cream
1 cup chopped pecans
1 can coconut
3 egg yolks
1 stick butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
Vanilla

Mix all together and cook until thick (about 10 minutes).

COUNTRY VANILLA ICE CREAM

No cooking, just eggs to beat, cream and milk to measure.
4 eggs, well-beaten

2½ cups sugar
6 cups milk
4 cups heavy cream
1½ tbsps. vanilla
½ tsp. salt

Add sugar gradually to beaten eggs, beating well after each addition. When mixture becomes very stiff, add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Pour into gallon freezer. Freeze.

MIDSUMMER PUNCH BOWL

2¼ cups sugar
2¼ cups water
3 cups orange juice
1 cup lime or lemon juice
2¼ cups grapefruit juice
2¼ cups pineapple juice
2 bottles (28 oz. each) ginger ale

Combine sugar and water in a saucepan. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves, then bring to a boil. Cover and boil, without stirring, five minutes. Cool syrup thoroughly. Combine the syrup and fruit juices. Put a block of ice and the fruit juice mixture in a punch bowl. Ladle the mixture over the ice until thoroughly chilled. Pour in the ginger ale. Garnish, if desired, with slices of lime of lemon and maraschino cherries. Serve at once. Makes about 40 punch-cup servings. (You can use fresh, canned or reconstituted frozen juice for the punch).

SUNSHINE SALAD

1 3-oz. pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup pineapple syrup and water
1 tsp. vinegar
½ tsp. salt
1 cup grated raw carrots
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) crushed pineapple, drained
½ cup chopped pecans
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add pineapple syrup and water, vinegar, and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Season carrots with one-fourth teaspoon salt; add pineapple and nuts. Fold into slightly thickened gelatin. Turn into molds or 10x6x1½-inch pan. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Makes six servings.

Spicy Relish Adds Zest To Vegetable

A pantryshelf recipe that all our tasters enthused over.

KIDNEY BEAN AND CORN RELISH

½ cup olive oil
2 tbsps. cider vinegar
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. curry powder
½ tsp. bottled horseradish
1 can (15 oz.) red kidney beans, drained and rinsed with cold water
1 can (16 oz.) very young whole-kernel golden sweet corn, drained and rinsed with cold water
½ cup chopped green pepper
In a medium bowl, with a fork, beat together the oil, vinegar, salt, curry powder and horseradish. Add beans, corn and green pepper; mix carefully to avoid breaking beans. Cover and chill until serving time. Makes eight servings.

GRILLED JUST RIGHT
Just add potatoes and barbecue sauce to Dad's favorite

Serve Dad His Favorite Meal To Show Love, Appreciation

Just plain meat and potatoes" may seem like simple fare, but they are what Dad would call for if given his choice. So why not celebrate his special day with a tender, juicy broiled chuck steak brushed with a speedy barbecue sauce. It may seem unheard of to grill a chuck steak for it has always been considered less tender and so requiring most heat cookery. But now because of a special process which supplements the natural tenderness with vegetable proteins, the chuck steak is moved into the tender category. Now this out, there are a few simple rules to follow. It is important to control the heat so that the meat does not char on the surface before it is cooked the way Dad likes it in the center. If a charcoal fire is being used, let the fire die down and the briquettes turn to white. The entire area under the steak should be covered with coals for even cooking. Often the heat can be regulated by raising and lowering the grill. A chuck steak is compatible with a number of different seasonings and flavorings, so try brushing the steak with our cream barbecue sauce faced becoming or broiling.

Feel Adventurous While Cooking Dad Good Meal

Do you feel adventurous when preparing outdoor suppers in summer? Make a pilaf to serve with skewered lamb or beef cooked on the grill. And make it with rolled oats. This recipe has a surprisingly rich, beefy flavor.

Pilaf is usually made with rice that has been browned in butter or oil, then cooked in stock and seasonings. Cereal Pilaf cooks more quickly, absorbs flavorings just as readily, and provides an interesting change in appearance and texture. With chunky pieces of celery, sliced mushrooms and minced onion added to it, you will have a delicious side dish to make any meal nicely different.

OAT PILAF

1½ cups sliced celery
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup butter
1½ cups rolled oats, quick or regular, uncooked
1 can (4-oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
3 cups water
1 tsp. salt
2 beef bouillon cubes

Saute celery and onion in butter until onion is soft. Add oats and brown lightly, stirring constantly. Add mushrooms, water, salt and bouillon cubes. Heat and stir until mixture comes to a boil. Cover; cook slowly until thickened, about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Yield: Six servings.

Backyard Treat

Oat Pilaf is filled with mushrooms, celery, onion and makes a good rating dish for outdoor suppers.

Bake Peach Of Pie That Tastes Delicious

Peach pie's no longer bound by season. In this quickest version, peach slices either canned or fresh, unflavored gelatin, sweetened condensed milk and cream of tartar are turned into a prepared pastry shell. If a party's in the offing, merely make ahead then refrigerate until it's time for dessert.

DREAMY CREAMY PEACH PIE

1 (9-inch) baked pastry shell, cooled
1 tsp. (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
1½ cups (15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
1½ cups (about ¾ lb.) fresh peaches, peeled and sliced

OR
1 cup (one 1 lb. 1-oz. can) sliced peaches, well drained
In the top of a double boiler, soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Heat over boiling water; stir until gelatin is dissolved. In a large-size bowl, beat egg yolks until thick; blend in condensed milk and vanilla. Stir in gelatin. In a small mixing bowl beat egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff, but not dry. Gently fold egg whites into condensed milk mixture. Turn into prepared pastry shell. Arrange peach slices around outer edge of pie. Chill in refrigerator three to four hours, or until firm. Fresh peach slices may be dipped into reconstituted lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Makes one nine-inch pie.

A Devotional For The Day

"I tell you, Love your enemies, and prayer for those who persecute you, so that you may be sons of your Heavenly Father." (Matthew 5:44, Phillips)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, forgive us for failing to act with love and compassion towards those who are different from us. Today we would pray for them with true concern. Forgive our selfishness and use us to help bring Your peace to the world, in Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room').

Time For Tight Budgets

Budget figures for the next year for both the Big Spring Independent School District and Howard County Junior College have been developed. Both will be subject to public hearing in August.

The school district figure advances to $4,834,495, an increase of $355,811 over the current budget. HCJC's budget goes up from $1,357,182 to $1,424,075.

Trustees of both institutions announce that the advances are represented almost entirely in salary adjustments for teachers and others, and increased operational costs.

Both budgets envision a strong cash balance at the end of the next year, which, of course, is as it should be.

A preliminary look at the over-all figures would indicate that our educational institutions are attempting to "hold the line" for the year; that is, no major expenditures are forecast, and higher costs are governed by higher salaries and other inflationary pressures.

The new valuation program is a subject of controversy, and may have not yet been fully resolved. This will be a factor in next year's financing of our schools. The schools, in anticipating this revenue, can achieve a better acceptance from the taxpayers if they hold to a program of very tight expenditures.

No essential or worthwhile service should be dropped, but it is the year for close examination of every expenditure.

'Guilt By Association'

The analogy may be far-fetched, but it might make a conversation piece.

Here is the glamor boy of professional football, Joe Namath, handed an ultimatum to sell his bar and restaurant or get out of football. The football league commissioner found unsavory characters hanging around the place, and although Joe disclaims any knowledge of them or their activities, he still gets the whistle.

The football powers, in a sense, have made a decision on "guilt by association."

Now take the glamor boy(?) of the Supreme Court, Justice William O.

Douglas. He has had connections with something called the Parvin Foundation, which accumulated much of its holdings from Las Vegas casinos.

Mr. Justice Douglas has said his services to the Parvin Foundation were in the realm of public service, but if Washington officialdom were to exact the same standards as do the pro football fathers, it would seem that Mr. Justice Douglas is liable to that accusation of "guilt by association."

Pro football must keep its ranks clear of the slightest hint of scandal. The Supreme Court must do the same.

How To Treat The Opposition

WASHINGTON — The State Department is now hard at work trying to figure out what went wrong with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's trip to South America.

If they really want to know, I think they should talk to my friend Gonzalez, a South American diplomat who told me what happened the other day.

"You Americans are always going about these things in the wrong way."

"How's that?"

"You think the solution to South America's problems is to send an ambassador of good will down there."

"BUT PRESIDENT NIXON sent Gov. Rockefeller to South America to show the people that the United States has not forgotten them."

"SI, that was your mistake. The South Americans thought you had forgotten them, and they were very happy. It is only when you sent Rockefeller down that they were reminded of all their grievances and decided to demonstrate. You should have left well enough alone."

"YOU CAN SAY THAT, Gonzalez, but the truth is that President Nixon feels very close to South America and he wanted to make a friendly gesture by sending Rockefeller on a tour of the Latin countries."

"Are you certain of that?" Gonzalez asked.

"What are you driving at?"

"Who was the most famous good will ambassador to South America in our time?"

"Richard Nixon, when he was Vice President under Dwight Eisenhower."

"And what happened to Nixon when he went to South America?"

"He was pelted with stones and tomatoes and vegetables."

"SI," GONZALEZ SAID. "Now, having received such a reception there, why would he send Gov. Rockefeller?"

"Because . . . because . . . Gonzalez, you're not implying that President Nixon knew what Rockefeller would be in for?"

"President Nixon has never cared too much for Gov. Rockefeller, has he?"

"I DON'T KNOW if they're warm friends, but I can't believe President Nixon would . . . then again he might . . . Gonzalez, this is a terrible thought you have put in my head."

"It is possible President Nixon may not have done it consciously, but even presidents of a country as big as yours do things subconsciously."

"The old Nixon might do that. But the new Nixon would never do it. I will shut my ears to such blasphemy."

"SENOR," said Gonzalez, "the difference between North America and South America is that in most of our countries we jail or exile our opposition. But in your country, you send them on good will tours. Our method is more civilized."

"All right, Gonzalez, if everything you say is true, then let me ask you this question. Why would Rockefeller take such an assignment?"

"Simple," he replied. "So he wouldn't have to campaign for Mayor John Lindsay."

Highway System Is Nearly Done

Billy Graham

I am making the Army my career, have a family, and am trying to live a Christian life. I find that military life is always to profanity, immorality and irreverence. This is not easy to live with. What can I do? B.D. Soldier, not only is life like that in the Army, life is like that anywhere in the world. The bad is always present to offset that which is holy; and the temptations to be immoral often outweigh the inducements to be good. That is because the world is basically sinful. That is why Communism is gaining and Christianity is losing — we live in a world of deceit, sin, hatred and evil. We live in a world that is pre-conditioned for atheistic Communism, for the hearts of men are open for deceit, for tyranny and rebellion. Right, democracy, freedom and Christianity can never be maintained or obtained cheaply. These are right, of course, but the world is wrong at heart. We must get back to the Bible's concept that the world is "lost," and that God gave His Son that "whosoever believeth on Him shall be saved." The Cross reversed the "conflict" between man and God, and only if we are "in Christ" does this universe make sense.

This is why Christ said, "You must be born again."

CHICAGO (AP) — The Interstate Highway System now is over half completed with more than 27,000 miles open to traffic.

Commerce Clearing House said in its Urban Affairs Report that toll roads, bridges and tunnels built into the system total 2,303 miles.

Another 5,216 miles were under construction by the close of 1968.

In addition to construction on new mileage, another 7,439 miles were in the process of right-of-way acquisition and engineering studies.

Thus 40,000 miles or 95 per cent of the total system was in some form of development or developed. About $34.2 billion has been spent on the system since 1956.

Tell The Credit Terms

CHICAGO (AP) — Anyone extending credit to the consumer will have to tell it like it is beginning July 1, 1969.

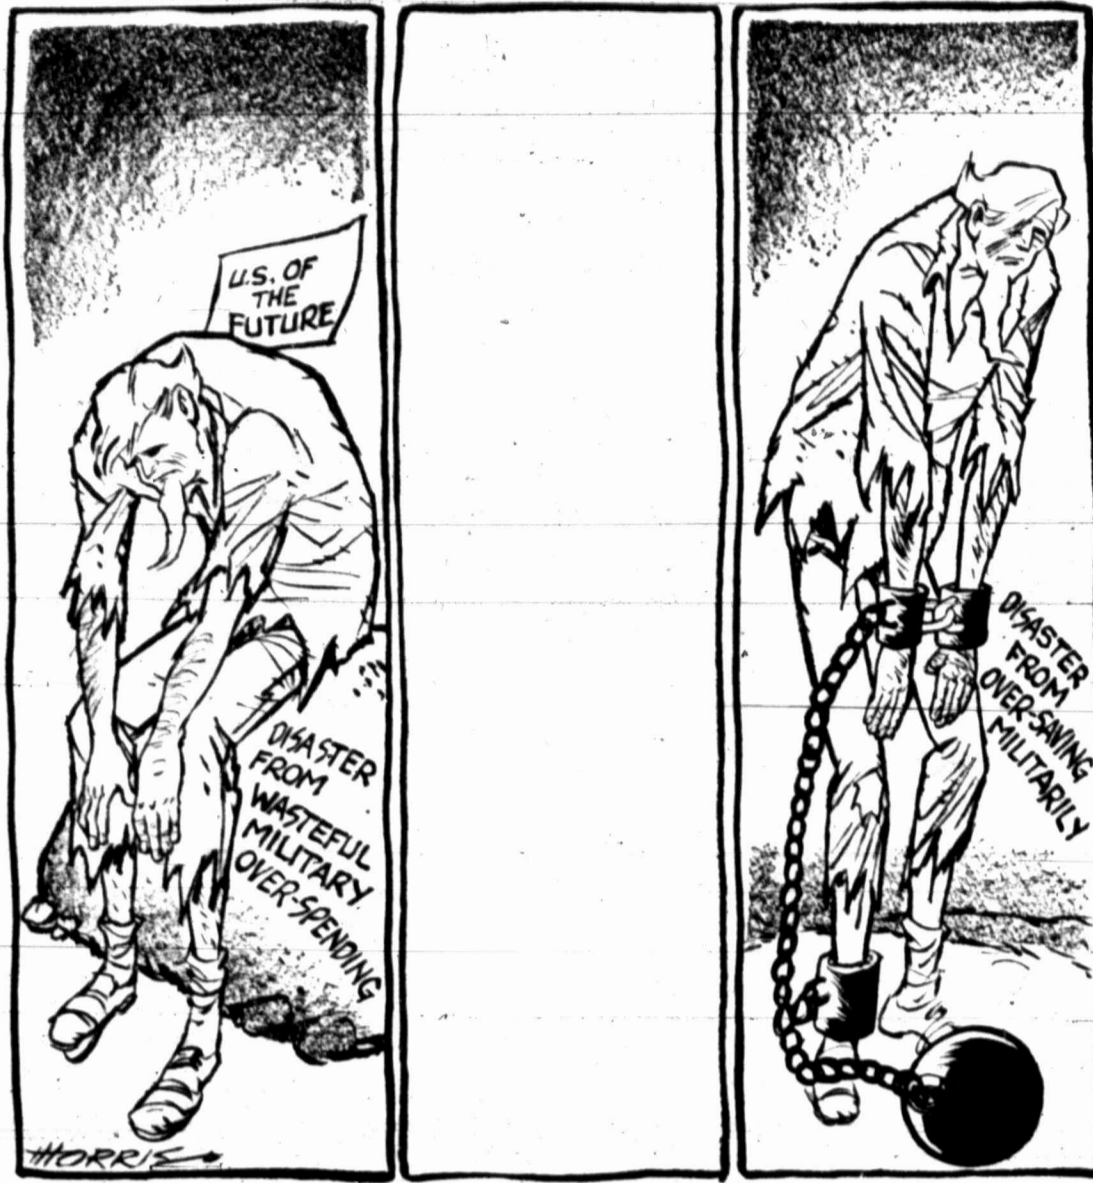

Commerce Clearing House said that's the date when the new Truth-in-Lending Act goes into effect. It requires the disclosure of credit terms on all types of consumer credit.

The Federal Reserve Board is the supervisory agency in setting out the rules that are to be followed in credit transactions generally.

The Great Expansion At Critical Point

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of Americans seem to have forgotten a topic that not so long ago was crowded from government offices, broadcast from studios, issued statistically from banks, even boasted of from pulpits.

Amid all the fuss about the high price of meat and vegetables and the inability to obtain a home mortgage and the war and the revolt of youth, there seems to be less pride in the subject than you'd have guessed a year or so ago.

WHAT HAS been forgotten? Nothing less than the great economic expansion, which has changed the style of life in America as surely as life was changed by its opposite, the great depression of the 1930s.

This is the 100th month of an unprecedented economic surge that began in February, 1961, and which now, in the accepted terminology, gives Americans the highest standard of living ever achieved by man.

Like astronauts, many Americans have been lifted to another world, one never before approached by man. It provokes the question: How do you like it?

A little disappointing, it would seem, although perhaps more exciting than the dull, plaster of Paris landscape seen by the first astronauts to circle the moon. Very likely, many Americans might answer the question like this:

"WELL, ITS GREAT to have a good job and to be able to do the things that money permits, but . . ."

In the strictly financial sphere, the chief gripe is likely to be about inflation, for although many wage earners have received increases far above the rate of inflation, other Americans in recent months have been on a treadmill.

A little inflation might be a good thing, it can be argued, and in the first years of the great expansion it existed at a rate of only 1.3 per cent a year. Now it is close to 8 per cent, and food prices especially are soaring.

The great expansion is clearly at a critical point, and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy warns that inflation could get out of hand and cause the great expansion to roll over the drop off into a recession.

HIS SOMBER WARNING clearly indicates that the nation is in the midst of a new and treacherous economic phase in which it no longer can bound ahead without thinking of the consequences.

An argument can be made for forecasting now a period of reflection for America, a time for considering where the nation is going and what price should be paid, a time for assessing the fabulous and troubled decades of the 1960s.

It must be conceded that the standard of living, narrowly construed, has indeed risen, and very sharply. More people are earning more money from more jobs than ever before. And unemployment remains low at 3.5 per cent.

But many other figures used to prove the case concern themselves primarily with quantities and usually say little about the quality of life.

Don't Flunk Double Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're at loose ends about what to do this summer, why not spend at least part of the time practicing up on your double talk?

Double talk, of course, is the polite conversational art of saying one thing while thinking another. It keeps you mentally healthy and at the same time socially safe.

The more skilled a person becomes at double talk the greater are his chances to marry the mate of his choice, achieve prestige, influence people and become wealthy. It can also be a big help in borrowing or inheriting money.

For the beginner, here are a few typical examples of double talk—followed by a translation of their probable real meaning.

"I CAN get it for you wholesale."—My brother-in-law owns the store, and I get a 10 per cent rakeoff for any trade I bring him.

"No, Ronald, I don't think your whiskers feel too rough tonight."—What does this guy shave with anyway, a Boy Scout ax?

"Would you mind looking up the spelling of it in your dictionary, Mabel?"—I never can remember which letter follows which in the alphabet.

"Our son is staying out of college for a year until he decides what he really wants to do with his life."—He flunked three subjects and was suspended.

... and this cozy little apartment we like to call our junior executive suite."—But only a midget could be happy in it.

"I CAN'T tell you how much fun we had watching those movies you and Belle took on your last trip to Europe, Henry."—The next time you invite us over for an evening remind us to bring along blindfolds.

"No, don't tell me . . . just a moment now and I'll have it, you must be John."—Or Jack or Jim or Jeremiah or Charley, who really cares?

"Well, I'll say one thing. Bosworth, you certainly were the life of the party."—But if you were trying to get attention, why didn't you simply drop dead?

"Actually, I prefer a dimly lit restaurant such as this—it makes me feel more romantic."—And besides, big boy, it keeps you from seeing my wrinkles.

"THAT DIET you're on really is slimming you down, Hazel."—I guess it also helps to wear a girdle so tight you can hardly breathe in it.

"Well, I don't agree with everything you had to say, but your viewpoint certainly is stimulating and refreshing."—It certainly is a long time between drinks in this house.

"Handsome is as handsome does, Joe. No, I wouldn't say you were exactly handsome, but you do have an unforgettable face."—Think of it, haunting your mother all these years!

"Why don't we just let bygones be bygones?"—I can always get even with you later, chum.

Baby's Two Foremost Problems

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son is 20 months old and I am having several troubles which I think may be related.

He refuses to eat. If I get a decent meal down him once in two days, I'm doing well, and it isn't much compared to what other children eat.

Second, and most nerve-wracking, is his refusal to go to sleep. We have been told to let him cry himself to sleep, but we can't do this because he tries to climb out of his crib and has taken several bad falls.

Then he wakes up early, and goes from pillar to post finding what he can get into. Please don't think he's a little devil, for he is not destructive or mean, but very loving.

I have talked to our family doctor and a pediatrician, but have not received any satisfaction. Just recently I read an article on the hyperactive child and am wondering if this could be our problem. Where can we go to find out? — Mrs. D.L.

First child, maybe? You don't reaction — both in him and in you.

This business of falling out of his crib is another matter. Some babies are kept in "snuggle-bunnies," or whatever you care to call them. But once liberated, they are unwilling to go back to them, as a rule.

Children's hospitals solve the problem of "climbers" by putting a broad-meshed net, like a piece of fish net, over the crib. It doesn't shut off air or interfere with the view. The mesh is just small enough to prevent a child from getting through it.

As to the hyperactivity question, I think it is probably pretty early to speculate on that. Your lad sounds to me like an active, healthy one. Very active!

Try giving him his three meals a day and let him decide when he's had enough. And if he gets into things — put breakable or dangerous things out of reach, and be glad that he's healthy enough to be active!

Around The Rim

—Then There's Poor Old Scurry

Congratulations Sam.

By golly it's great to see someone get an alley cleaned up, after pointing out his problem in this space. Now I have a request — turn your attention to the plight of Scurry Street.

FOR YEARS, I have used this space periodically to appeal for some attention to what was once the most heavily traveled non-highway street in Big Spring, all to no avail. Well, one block of it was paved just after the sales tax was voted in, but the condition of most of this thoroughfare has not changed since the state financed the job back when Scurry was the highway through Big Spring. Since annexation into the city, nothing but patching material has been put on it.

PULLING OUT the file on this neglected collection of patches, I find I have mentioned it no less than a dozen times in this space; the city fathers have been advised the street is in such bad shape, it isn't worth spending any money to repair; and it continually turns up as the butt of jokes when street paving is mentioned.

Believe it or not, the last parade we had through the city disbanded short of the published route, rather than go farther up Scurry. Not a single spokesman would say, however that they feared to risk the vehicles and horses on Scurry.

I DON'T know if it is true, but I'm told there is a family that drives all the way from Hale Center annually, so that the father can point out Scurry as one of the major hazards of urban living — one of the evils of the "big city," as it were. To this day, so the story goes, all of his children have decided to stay on the farm.

I WOULD NOT recommend that you scout out the territory, without first finding out if the patching crews have made a recent foray. Holes have been reported along the route that could claim the entire wheel of a big car, the whole chassis of a smaller one. Also, there are places where weeds grow in the street right-of-way. I know you will find it hard to believe that a forest of weeds is allowed to thrive three or four feet out from the curbline, but it is true, though macabre.

Fresh from your alley success, this seems a worthy opponent for your acid wit. I herewith renounce all rights in the fray, if you will take up the cudgel and go forth.

The Facts On Military Contracts

WASHINGTON — Professor John Kenneth Galbraith is one of the smart-alecks of the bust-business bloc.

His day is made when he can catch an erring sister of the private enterprise household in a compromising situation. He gloats like a Peeping Tom if the partner of the sinning sister wears the uniform of our Armed Forces.

HIS IDEA of a heyday is when he can make Americans think that there is a guilty liaison between profit-seeking industry and the Lords of Battle who rule the Pentagon. Seventh heaven to Dr. Galbraith is the proposition that America is rotten through and through.

There ought to be cleverer guys than I to knock this towering mocker off his high horse. The other day he was superciliously chortling his way through a Congressional hearing. To save private enterprise, he said, all companies which do a considerable amount of business with the Defense Department ought to be nationalized. Failing that, he said, there ought to be his kind of a vigilante committee to pass on Defense contracts.

HIS LATEST visit to Capitol Hill coincided with the affair C-5A The Lockheed Aircraft Corp. of Georgia and California manufactured this mammoth transport plane for the U.S. Air Force, and it cost a whole lot more than the company or the government thought it would eight years prior to completion of contract.

"The basic issue before this committee is simply whether the C-5A is good procurement," said Lockheed Board Chairman Charles Haughton. "Leaving Lockheed to prove its point and to make Dr. Galbraith of this baroque example, if possible, I think the American public is entitled to hear more on the general indictment. Is it true or false that Defense industries make exorbitant profits?"

YOU HAVE to be dull, and you can't be clever, in documenting such a statement. The Defense Department has in its possession a study, Defense Industry Profit Review, covering the 10 years of 1958-67. This Review was made by the Logistics Management Institute, a nonprofit organization which ex-Secretary McNamara established to doublecheck on the Pentagon.

THE PROFIT REVIEW makes laborious reading. It examines the books of 40 companies which sell goods to the Defense Department. It compares the profits made in selling military items with the profits made by these same firms in selling commercial items. The Review also compares the profits of these 40 companies with those of 3,500 companies in general manufacturing. Some of the findings:

The commercial market in those 10 years expanded much more rapidly than the military market. When companies were making weapons, their sales increased 50 per cent. But when they were making commercial goods, their sales rose almost 200 per cent. Meanwhile, general manufacturing sales were up 110 per cent.

HIGH PROFIT Defense business is less remunerative than high-profit commercial business. Inflation in the past few years has flattened the profit-curve in Defense contracting. Company investment has reduced the capital turnover on Defense business. In sum, even if Lockheed has done something terrible on the C-5A contract, it won't prove there is general profiteering in Defense industries.

Obstacles Thrown In Front Of Nixon

WASHINGTON — Never before in American history has a President of the United States been so palpably interfered with in his attempts to negotiate a peace agreement that would end a war. Members of the Senate are asserting that they have a right to dictate to the President how he shall conduct negotiations.

SENATOR MIKE MANSFIELD of Montana, Democratic leader, urged a moratorium on criticism at least during the period of the talks at mid-way between President Nixon and President Thieu of South Vietnam. But this had no effect on his Democratic colleagues. Senator Albert Gore, Democrat of Tennessee, for instance, declares that he didn't think it "wise for the President of the United States to journey thousands of miles to a point in the Pacific Ocean to meet a president of South Vietnam in order to determine policy or to coordinate strategy for either war or peace." Mr. Gore said that such a meeting tends to "equate the two presidents."

SEN. J. WILLIAM FULBRIGHT, Democrat of Arkansas, chairman of the all-important Senate Foreign Relations Committee, accused Mr. Nixon of planning to control South Vietnam "by proxy," and tells the world that the crucial point in the Paris negotiations is whether the United States will insist on keeping the regime of President Thieu in power.

In the middle of the parleys, while the President of the United States has tried to work out a peace plan with our ally, the head of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said, openly that he favors the "liquidation" of the South Vietnam government. The Arkansas senator pointedly added:

"I DON'T THINK we can get much help from the present government of Vietnam to liquidate itself."

The Communists interpret such comments as meaning that the President does not have the support of a majority in Congress and that North Vietnam can insist on even stiffer terms because Mr. Nixon will not be able to maintain American forces in Vietnam much longer.

MEANTIME, Secretary of State William P. Rogers told a news conference the United States is not planning to set up any particular regime in Saigon. He said that America merely wants to insure that candidates of all parties are given a fair deal in the balloting, and that the presence of some Communists in a new government would be acceptable. He declared that the United States firmly supports the South Vietnamese president in the latter's opposition to Communist proposals for a "coalition" government to be set up prior to elections.

THE PARIS negotiations are, of course, affected by the speeches being made in the United States.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has announced that there is no "rigid formula" for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces from South Vietnam, but that the United States is interested in "results."

Coincidentally, the Communists have stepped up their assaults, and more American lives are being lost day after day. The cry in Congress for the equivalent of a "peace at any price" plan encourages the enemy.

It's an unprecedented situation and is due largely to the fact that the American people are unaware of the risks and dangers involved in yielding to the Communists in Southeast Asia.

Where's The Danger?

SYDNEY (AP) — There's a book club in Sydney where members are encouraged to attempt public speaking.

One young woman was pretty hopeless, but was persuaded to try again with the subject "The Dangers of Drug-taking." She was fluent, and members asked how she had overcome her nervousness.

"I'm not sure," she replied, "but I did take a couple of pep pills before I began."

Firecracker Issues: Booze, Horse Racing

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Introduce a bill that tampers with children's bedtime or offends a man's religious beliefs and you send legislators running for cover under an avalanche of mail.

The last legislature tried, where possible, to hide such bills away forever in committee or otherwise kill them quietly. But enough got to the floor to provide some of the liveliest debates. One even got enough votes for a final decision.

BACK AGAIN
Two perennial issues were back again—horse racing and liquor by the drink.

They were rivaled in their ulcer-making capacity by daylight saving time, therapeutic abortion and gun control.

After a lot of maneuvering and re-swapping, a constitutional change allowing the legislature at a later date to pass a liquor by the drink law was approved and put on the Nov. 3, 1970, general election ballot.

Liquor by the drink brought in lots of mail, but missing were the crowded, noisy, emotional hearings of the past. Horse racing also seemed like a relic, even though members from heavily Baptist districts got a trickle of mail.

BROAD-MINDED
"There's hardly any mail on it at all this year. Perhaps it's due to these ministers getting more broad-minded," griped Sen. V. E. "Red" Berry of San Antonio, "Mr. Horse Racing" of the legislature.

When Rep. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio finally got to the floor with a pari-mutuel measure it was taken in a spirit of fun, with lots of hooting and hollering, shouts of "amen" and kidding around.

Kothmann offered a constitutional amendment that would have allowed local option horse race betting in Houston, San Antonio, Galveston and Laredo—all of which endorsed it in a non-binding referendum last May. Cameron, Willacy, Val Verde, Kinney, Maverick and Sutton counties were added by amendment.

'NEIGH' VOTE
Kothmann said the measure was his "tax bill" because of its revenue-raising potential.

"Vote 'neigh,'" punned Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls, and the House obliged, burying the issue for another session, 57-54.

Bills and a constitutional change exempting Texas from nationwide daylight saving time without floor debate. The best opponents could do was a resolution that would have authorized a statewide non-binding referendum on the issue.

"This is your last opportunity to really do something for the housewives," pleaded the sponsor, Rep. Hilary Doran of Del Rio, just before the House gutted the resolution, killing its hopes of passage.

The housewives' voices were heard the most against the state's two-year-old experiment with Daylight Savings Time.

Most opposition had a common theme. The kids won't go to bed when the sun's still up, even if it's 8 p.m. Doran said the resolution was killed by the transportation and communications industries, which wanted to keep their schedules in line with the rest of the country.

BLAME BAPTISTS
While the Baptists and Methodists raised the most opposition to liquor by the drink and horse racing, the Roman Catholics fought a winning battle to kill a bill legalizing abortions.

Baptist Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview headed the subcommittee which buried the abortion bill. The subcommittee never met. Wayne said he had personal scruples against abortion.

"It's the political repercussions they fear from the Catholic opposition. Minorities, if they are militant enough and determined enough, can stop things," said Rep. James Clark of Dallas in attempting to explain defeat of his bill. He said he would introduce the bill again in 1971 if he is in the House then.

The House Public Health Committee hearing on Clark's bill was, perhaps, the most dramatic of the session. Doctors who backed the bill showed

Mortgage Firm Stays In Black

DETROIT (AP) — A mortgage firm owned and operated by Negroes has been approved by the Federal Housing Administration.

The firm, Inner City Mortgage Corp., said a group of Negro real estate brokers have all ready promised to send mortgages to Inner City and that this alone should result in business topping $25 million a year.

heartwrenching color photos of babies who were deformed because their mothers had German measles while carrying them.

Callan Graham, director of the Texas Roman Catholic conference asserted, "The legislature has no more right to legalize killing of unborn children than the killing of a one-year-old child or a 10-year-old."

GUN CONTROL
Gun control bills met a similar fate, sparing legislators a tug of war between sportsmen and gun lobbyists and persons who believed gun restrictions would slow down Texas' murder rate.

Reps. Joe Allen of Baytown and Curtis Graves of Houston had gun bills which were buried in the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

Allen's bill provided a 72-hour period before a pistol sale could be completed to allow time for a check of the purchaser's record. Graves' bill prohibited possession or purchase of pistols without an identification card bearing a photograph of the holder, from state police.

"Pistols are made to kill people, not animals. We have got to realize we are no longer living in a frontier state," Graves said.

This session's issues that could be safely buried may be part of future sessions' major agenda for action.

Seeks Annulment From One Of Two Listed As Wife

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — An Oklahoma soldier who recently ended nine months of Viet Cong captivity filed for a marriage annulment Tuesday from one of two women listed as his wife.

Sgt. Kenneth Gregory of Altus, asked annulment of his Sept. 29, 1967, marriage to Eva I. Gregory, formerly Smith, of San Diego, Calif.

The petition stated that Gregory "did not have the capacity to enter into the marriage contract since he had a living wife residing in the state of Colorado."

The petition said no children were born to the couple. Gregory was reunited last week with Patricia Gregory of Pueblo, Colo., and their 3-year-old daughter, Michelle, when he was transferred from Vietnam to Reynolds Army Hospital in Ft. Sill, Okla.

West Texas Telescope To Post Moon Distance

AUSTIN (AP) — With the help of the first astronauts on the moon, the 107-inch telescope at McDonald Observatory in West Texas will be used to measure the distance from Earth to the moon.

Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin Jr. will place a reflector on the moon's surface on July 20. Laser beams will be directed at the reflector from the observatory. The round trip will take approximately 2.5 seconds.

When the exact travel time is ascertained to within a billionth of a second, scientists will be able to calculate the distance traveled, based on the known speed of light.

Dr. Harlan Smith, chairman of the astronomy department at the University of Texas at Austin, said the experiment also will permit several other things to be measured, including how fast North America is drifting from the Eurasian continent.

Accuses HEW Of False Info

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The president-elect of the American Chiropractic Association Wednesday charged that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare supplied false information to Congress "as a premise to exclude chiropractors from medicare coverage."

Dr. Gerald M. Brassard of Beaumont said HEW's opposition to chiropractic benefits for medicare patients would deprive senior citizens of the "basic personal right of freedom of choice as to who will administer their health needs."

Among factors to be fed into the computer will be the Earth's rotation, the refraction of light through the Earth's atmosphere, the wobble of the Earth on its axis, the movements of the moon and the expected location of the reflector.

Son Due Treatment

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Injured while swimming in Alabama, Robert Shivers, 23, son of former Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, was to arrive here today for treatment at Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital.

Mrs. Bentsen Quits Demo Post

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Floyd Bentsen of Houston has resigned as National Democratic Committee spokeswoman for Texas.

Mrs. Bentsen, who was appointed by former Gov. John Connally, said she resigned Monday. She said she wanted to spend more time with her family.

"Politics is a wonderful experience," she said. "I think more women should take interest in it."

Pompidou Still Holds Good Lead

PARIS (AP) — Georges Pompidou still holds a good lead over Alain Poher in the latest voter poll on the race for president of France. But he has lost ground since the last poll.

The poll by the French Institute of Public Opinion, published Wednesday, gave Pompidou 33 per cent to Poher's 45. In a poll published last week it was Pompidou 57 per cent, Poher 43. The election will be held Sunday.

Bell Helicopter Strike Meeting Closed To Press

DALLAS (AP) — Union and company negotiators were to huddle here Thursday in an attempt to end the four-day strike by United Auto Workers against Bell Helicopter Co.

The meeting was scheduled against a background of reports that the federal government might intervene to halt the strike against the company, the nation's top supplier of helicopters for the Vietnam war.

The session, set for 10 a.m. at the Dallas Federal Center, was called by the Washington office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Negotiators were to meet with commissioner Gene Zimmerman, who sat in on earlier negotiations leading to a proposed three-year contract accepted by union officials but voted down by members.

Zimmerman said the meeting would be closed to the press.

Neither side had given any indication of a shift in bargaining position since the strike began at midnight Sunday, several hours after UAW Local 218 members rejected the proposal.

Zimmerman said he received no communications from negotiators about the meeting but was "sure they will be there."

Meanwhile, some 10,200 workers remained idle at the main Bell plant and 12 satellite facilities in the North Texas area.

Interviews with individual strikers indicated the membership rebelled primarily on two issues:

- Pay increases which some union men contended were concentrated in the high seniority bracket at the expense of lower grade employes.
- Provisions for "cost-of-living" increases which some employees contended were too low.

'Roughed Up' Youth Loses

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas youth who charged a Garland policeman roughed him up during an arrest three years ago has lost his case.

A federal court jury that deliberated almost two hours Wednesday said Garland policeman J. R. Burns, 33, did not use unnecessary roughness or deprive Eddie Johnson of his civil rights Aug. 30, 1966.

The jury refused to give Johnson, 20, the $3,000 he asked for personal injury and the $11,000 he sought for exemplary damages.

Johnson filed suit in 1968 alleging that Burns stopped his vehicle for a traffic violation, loaded a gun and threatened to shoot him.

He said the policeman then yanked him from the car, bent his arm back and forced him to lie face down on a concrete street to be handcuffed. Johnson said the alleged scuffle and handcuffing injured his wrist.

'It Would Only Cause Trouble'

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Suharto has denied a request from the second wife of his predecessor, ousted President Sukarno, for permission to help nurse Sukarno through a bout of rheumatism.

The wife, Hartini, is under house confinement in Bogor, 40 miles south of here. Sukarno, 68, is under guard in the mansion of his fourth wife, Ratna Sari Dewi, in Jakarta.

Disclosing Wednesday that Hartini's request to join Sukarno had been rejected, Suharto's special assistant, Brig. Gen. Ali Murpoto, told newsmen: "It would only cause trouble."

More Violin Spiders Found

SIERRA MADRE, Calif. (AP) — More venomous South American violin spiders were discovered Wednesday and a block-by-block search to protect residents may be needed, a Health Department spokesman said.

The spiders, about the size of a dime and reportedly as deadly as a small rattlesnake, were found and taken alive beneath a sink in a women's club house.

Uvalde County Residents Nix Flood Control Dams

ASTIN (AP) — Residents of sparsely populated Uvalde County—due west and midway between San Antonio and the Mexican Border—appear united against a corps of Engineers recommendation to dot their landscape with three dams.

Conservationists and the City of Corpus Christi also dislike the idea, but the majority living in an area overlying the Edwards Underground Reservoir—including San Antonio residents—favor the proposal.

Their views came out Wednesday at a public hearing called by the Texas Water Rights Commission.

The 1965 report by the corps proposes to replenish the underground reservoir and set up flood controls in the Nueces, San Antonio and Guadalupe River Basins.

The Edwards district includes all of Uvalde county, most of Medina and Bexar counties and part of Comal and Hays Counties.

BATTLE CRY

"We're not going to give up without a fight," said Wayne Luce, a Montell landowner.

"We're sure San Antonio needs water, but it can get it other ways instead of throwing up something that will leave a big mudflat when it goes down."

Some 100 Uvalde residents, who had made the 150-mile trip to Austin by bus, burst into loud applause.

The engineers report, which cost $375,000, recommends building:

- Montell reservoir on the Nueces river about 20 miles northwest of Uvalde, with a low channel dam 14 miles downstream from the reservoir and a pipeline for water supply, at an estimated first cost of $32,845,000.
- Concan Reservoir on the Frio River about one mile north of Concan, $15,650,000.
- Sabinal Reservoir on the Sabinal River about 11 miles north of Sabinal, $11,413,000.
- Cloptin Crossing Reservoir on the Blanco River about 2.5 miles west of Wimberly, $24,440,000.
- Dam No. 7 and Reservoir on the Guadalupe River was recommended for construction "by local interests" to be operated in conjunction with Canyon Reservoir, 12 miles northwest of New Braunfels.

NO RUSH

Robert Van Dyke, board general manager, indicated, however, there was no rush in building the reservoirs. "They should be built at some time in the future when their need can be justified," Van Dyke said.

He criticized the conclusion of the report that the Edwards underground Reservoir should be maintained at a level above the elevation of 612 mean sea level. San Antonio gets all its municipal water from the reservoir.

Van Dyke said, "it can be readily seen that if ground water controls were instituted at this time in accordance with the basic premise of the survey report, the growth of San Antonio might be stopped or at least substantially curtailed."

"It seems obvious then that before San Antonio can support and not actively oppose any controls on withdrawals from the reservoir that the city must first have an adequate supplemental water supply."

"You're cutting off our water—that's why we're in opposition," said former State Rep. H. O. Niemeyer, chief spokesman for the Uvalde group.

CAN'T BUY MEMORIES

A petition signed by more than 1,000 Uvalde residents asked the Water Rights Commission to recommend that the engineers' proposals be left out of the statewide water plan.

The Texas Water Development Board said it had proposed the Cloptin Crossing Reservoir in the statewide plan to handle Texas' water needs through the year 2020 and found the development of the other proposals "compatible" with the overall plan.

The highway department reported it would cost $4,148,800 to relocate highways submerged by the proposed reservoirs.

Knippa, a small community in Uvalde County, "could not survive" if the engineers' recommendations are adopted, testified Woodrow Ede.

The Montell dam "would completely inundate the community of Montell," said a letter from Benny Ewing. "there are families which have been here 100 years who would have to move... you can't buy back the memories and traditions that will be buried under the mud."

DEAR BOSS:

Friday Is Another One Of Those Days

DEAR BOSS:
I was flipping through the calendar looking for some date on the first day of summer, Boss, when I stumbled on some thing that shook me. Knowing how you are, I figured you would be shook, too. Did you realize, Boss, that tomorrow is Friday the THIRTEENTH?

We had one in February and I didn't think we would be bothered with another one this year, but lo, here it is at hand.

Any Friday the 13th is bad luck for the superstitious. And if you don't think there is any superstition left, you haven't been watching.

I know that we live in a very modern age when every vestige and taint of our savage forebears are supposed to have been removed. Things which scared the daylight out of your great granddad are taken in full stride. Time was, as you know, when a comet swirling across the heavens was regarded as a sure omen of world-wide disaster. Even showers of shooting stars were regarded as omens of evils ahead.

Prophets used to prosper by telling of the impending end of the world and citing innumerable signs they had seen to back up their guess.

Down through the generations, Friday has been a bad luck day, doubled in spades, when it happened to be on the thirteenth of the month. A lot of hardheaded businessmen won't turn a hand on any Friday the 13th. Millions of folk will look with dread to this new day which we face this week.

Every tragedy which may fall on that date, any disaster large or small, the deaths of acquaintances and friends which may happen on the day—all will be charged by many persons to the bad luck of the date.

What will be overlooked, Boss, is that tragedies and disasters and deaths and mishaps occur every day. No one will bother to compare the statistics of Tuesday the 11th with Friday the 13th but if you took the trouble to look into it, you'd probably find just as many of these unhappy events on that date as on Friday.

Why the jinx on Friday?

There are a lot of explanations. I think that the most acceptable one is that it was on a Friday when Christ was crucified on the barren hills near Jerusalem. And for centuries thereafter the officially accepted date for the hanging, burning and quartering of felons and political prisoners was Friday.

Friday was the day when the bloodthirsty rabble gathered at Tyburn in Old London to watch the hangmen "do his thing."

The bad luck of 13 probably goes even further back into history. Early civilizations made a great to-do over numbers. Seven, for example, was regarded as a special number, generally fortunate. There was the seven-pronged candlestick, the seven planets (there are more but in the ancient days these were not known), the seven days of the week; the seventh day on which the Good Lord rested after having finished the Creation.

Thirteen by the same token is a bad luck number.

It has a firm root, Boss, in the story of the Crucifixion. There were 13 at the table when the Christ presided at the last supper. And thirteen at a table will scare the living daylight out of a lot of hostesses even in these enlightened days.

By the same token there is the reverse type of superstition about Friday and Friday the 13th. Like many folk claim loudly that black cats are good luck; walking under ladders the best possible of all exercises; and ignoring new moons seen over the left (or is it the right?) shoulder bad instead of good luck.

So these folk will be busy starting projects and making big deals, Boss, on Friday. I think they're show-offs; though, Boss, and I'll bet deep down in their little ole hearts, they're worried sick about what they're doing.

Thought I'd better warn you, Boss.

Sgt. Gregg Winds Up 27-Year Career

Following more than 27 years of service, including duty during three wars, C.M. Sgt. Eudis Gregg is serving his last Air Force assignment within 20 miles of where he enlisted Nov. 18, 1941.

A native of Stanton, and a graduate of the high school there in 1937, Sgt. Gregg recently arrived at Webb to assume duties as the T-38 Talon line chief, 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron. It is the second tour of duty here for the chief master sergeant, both in response to his requests.

He is responsible for insuring that every one of the 89 T-38s is operationally ready. He is in charge of 145 men who service and maintain the T-38s.

The sergeant started his Air Force career with basic training at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and completed aircraft and engine school at Chanute AFB, Ill. Following one year's duty as an instructor at Goldsboro, N.C., he was assigned to Eglin AFB, Fla., where for seven years he was engaged in maintenance work on experimental fighter aircraft. The 1943-1950 assignment was interrupted by a six-month temporary duty assignment to Alaska.

In mid-1950, he was assigned to Korea, where he served until January, 1952, with the 7th Squadron, 49th Fighter-Bomber Wing. His maintenance duty while at Taegu was mostly on F-80 and F-84 aircraft.

Upon his return to the United States, the sergeant served three years at Sioux City, Iowa

Assigned to the 87th Fighter Interceptor Squadron, he worked on F-86 D Fighters. Then in 1955, Sgt. Gregg re-enlisted for duty at Webb. For five years he served with the 3560th Flight Line Squadron working on T-33 T-Birds.

Between 1960 and 1963, he served with the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing in Lakenheath, England. For his duty there the sergeant was awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal. The first oak leaf cluster followed for duty as line chief of the bomber-cargo section in a weapons testing unit at Eglin AFB. The sergeant served at Eglin during that tour from 1963 to 1966.

Assigned to Vietnam in 1966, Sgt. Gregg served with the 1st Air Commandos at Pleiku for four months. For another eight months he was a member of the field maintenance squadron for the 37th Tactical Fighter Wing at Phu Cat. It was for this latter duty that he received the Bronze Star.

The sergeant married the former Caroline C. Carson of Des Moines, Iowa. Their son, Peter, is currently serving with the Peace Corps in Bolivia. Peter is a graduate of Drake University with a major in sociology.

Several of Sgt. Gregg's brothers and sisters still live in this area. His mother, Mrs. Cressie Gregg, presently lives in Abilene.

Opening lead: Jack of ♥

A pessimistic attitude was an essential ingredient of South's campaign in today's hand. Only by anticipating everything that could go wrong, was he able to take the steps necessary to protect his four spade contract from an upset.

West opened the jack of hearts and when the dummy was spread, South observed that if the cards divided favorably he might score 12 tricks on the deal. At such moments, the seasoned player will take the time to consider whether there is any distribution of the cards that might threaten the commitment that he has undertaken to fulfill.

South observed that if East held the king of hearts, and if the ace of diamonds was located in the West hand—behind the king—there was a risk of losing three tricks in those suits. Finally, if the trumps were divided three-one, he might also lose to the queen of spades.

In order to protect himself against every adversity, it was necessary to keep East out of the lead, so that declarer's king of diamonds was not subject to attack. As an initial step, South played the nine of hearts from dummy at trick one and the three from his hand, permitting West to hold the lead with the jack. The heart continuation was taken by South's ace.

A spade was led to the ace and the jack was returned from dummy. East followed with the eight and South played the seven. West showed out and on the next lead, East's queen was picked up. Declarer ran five club tricks, discarding two diamonds from his hand, and then he conceded a diamond trick to the opposition—claiming his contract with one overtrick.

Observe that declarer's spade play was made not primarily with the intention of finessing for the queen, but rather to assure his contract. Even if it develops that West has the doubleton queen of spades and wins the trick, he cannot profitably attack South's diamond holding. The defense is limited to one spade, one heart and one diamond, for when declarer regains the lead, he can discard two of his diamonds on the dummy's clubs.
