THUNDERSTORMS Two Mighty Winds Strike Near Abilene

By The Associated Press

Violent weather again racked Texas, spreading tornadoes and windstorms across the state and killing one man.

Early today, high winds swept through Waco, ripping down trees, power lines and television antennas. Police said the winds, gusting up to 75 miles an hour, caused power failures and broke plate glass windows.

A Cooke County man, Gary David Fluder, 25, of Rosston, was killed Monday night when lightning struck him in a field near Gainesville.

The early morning storm in Waco was the latest of many assaults on the state by the weather.

The storm was only one in a fresh assault of destructive weather on Texas during the night and early day. Occasional tornadoes and lines of thunderstorms swept eastward across the state.

Two tornadoes appeared near Abilene and a third spun to earth briefly about three miles west of Follett near the northeast corner of the Texas Panhandle.

The turbulence, returning after a weekend lull, developed as a weak cool front lingered across the Panhandle near Amarillo.

As storms at times stretched miles wide, the Weather Bureau posted three separate tornado watches — first for 35 counties in North Central Texas, then for a like number in the north central and northeast part of the state, and finally for 18 counties in Northeast Texas.

In between, special tornado warnings went out for an area north of Abilene and repeated alerts for possibly damaging thunderstorms.

The twister near Follett disappeared without causing harm.

Appreciation Day

Dr. John Kinross-Wright, Texas Commissioner for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, returns here Wednesday to speak at a Big Spring State Hospital Appreciation Day.

The Downtown Lions Club is hosting the special day, and Clyde McMahon Jr., president, emphasized that the club is anxious for as many people as can come and thus show their gratitude for the hospital and its ministry to the area. The plate fee is $1.55.

Dr. Kinross-Wright, here Sunday for the 30th anniversary program at the hospital, praised the institution here as one of the outstanding ones in the country. Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, will be among those representing the hospital at the program at the Settles Hotel.

Lucky Odessa Tot

ODESSA (AP) — Jimmy Mahler Jr., 4, of this West Texas city escaped injury Monday night when a car ran over him, but the wheels did not touch him.

The child reportedly got tired while walking with his sisters and curled up in the middle of the street for a nap.

Bad TV Show?

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A man walking along a street saw a man sleeping Monday while perched on the roof of his house.

Firemen climbed up and awoke Otis Williams, 45. Williams told them he climbed up to fix a television antenna. While there, he got drowsy and fell asleep.

'I'm Used To It'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Peter Gottlieb, 74, a gas station attendant, was robbed for the 20th time in four years Monday.

Two thugs slugged him from behind and took $6.

"The robberies don't bother me anymore," he said. "I've been robbed so many times I'm used to it."

Double Tragedy

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — Two men stopped to aid an injured motorist at an auto accident on US 301 and died at the scene. One in an accident and one from a heart attack.

Robert Agnew of Jacksonville, Fla., and Richard Ludlam of Mount Pleasant, S.C., had stopped to aid Thomas McDonough of Mitchellville, Md., whose car had struck a utility pole.

A passing truck hit power lines which were sagging from the pole and the pole snapped and struck Ludlam. Agnew then apparently suffered a fatal heart attack, the coroner said.

Senators Predict Surtax Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, expressed confidence today that the House will vote to extend the income surtax.

After GOP leaders in the House and Senate met with President Nixon, Ford told newsmen that at least 130 Republican members would vote for the extension, which he believed would come before the House Wednesday.

"I am confident that with the cooperation of the Democrats there will be more than enough votes to put the surtax through as it came out of the Committee on Ways and Means," Ford said.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Senate GOP leader, expressed confidence that the Senate would pass the surtax extension after the House takes its action but doubted it would go through before June 30 the date it is to expire.

He said Congress would have to pass a continuing resolution until the Senate can take action on the measure.

The Democratic leadership made final checks Monday and seemed to be satisfied the House Rules Committee would vote the bill out on a "closed rule" basis, which means a straight ye or no vote, with no amendments considered.

Surtax opponents contemplate challenging the "closed rule," but they have been putting their main emphasis on defeating the measure. Earlier, House liberals had attempted to persuade the committee to allow a vote on extending the income tax surcharge for less than a year.

The Nixon proposal, endorsed by a split committee vote, would continue the tax at 10 per cent for six months and five per cent for another six months. The tax expires June 30 unless extended.

If the effort to defeat the no-amendment rule fails, opponents then must work to defeat the measure outright. Passage depends on solid Republican support plus a generous slice of the Democratic majority.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, opposes the bill and he has written to all House Democrats that the measure must be killed to force quicker action on general tax reform.

The Nixon bill will pass, said Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., but "we still will have to get 80 or 90 Democratic votes. I do not believe the Democratic leadership would be so ineffective as not to produce those 80 or 90 votes."

'Blueprint Of Murder' Ires Police Inspector

WASHINGTON (AP) — A San Francisco police inspector charged today that both the Black Panther Party and Students for a Democratic Society are parts of a world-wide revolutionary movement.

The two groups are about to join with others in a coalition to be called the American Liberation Front, Inspector Ben Lashkoff told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

He said a Black Panther coloring book with drawings depicting children killing policemen, is being distributed at a Black Panther breakfast program for children at a San Francisco Catholic church, a Methodist church and a public elementary school.

"It is a blueprint for murder of policemen," protested Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D. "It is dedicated to showing that policemen are pigs."

Lashkoff said there is no law against distribution of the book or the holding of close order drills on the public school playground after the daily breakfast.

Lashkoff said the distribution of the coloring books in Sacred Heart church had been called to the attention of the Catholic archdiocesan authorities.

The response, he said, was an editorial in the Monitor, Catholic archdiocesan newspaper that the priest who gave permission to use the church auditorium for the breakfast, is "maintaining a line of dialogue with the black community."

Earlier police witnesses testified the SDS was dominated by admitted Communists and that the Black Panther Party had plotted terrorist acts and armed revolution against the nation's government.

House Democrats. The bill has the endorsement of the Democratic leadership.

Byrnes voiced the basic administration argument for the proposal, saying the surtax is necessary to fight inflation. "We need to mobilize all our efforts to stop the increased cost of living."

As for general tax reform, Byrnes added that a tax reform bill would be reported out of committee in late July.

Over 80 Cowboys Sign For Rodeo

The 36th edition of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo will open its gates at 8 p.m. Wednesday with an expected record number of cowboys competing for $6,445 in prize money.

Performances will be held at 8 p.m. daily from Wednesday through Saturday in the Rodeo Bowl west of Big Spring on US 80. Admission is $2 for adults, and $1 for children.

By 11 a.m. today more than 80 contestants had signed up for competition in bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, bull riding, and an open girls barrel racing event. Last year 129 contestants were registered.

Activities will get under way with a street dance at 8 p.m. tonight on Main Street, between Third and Fourth, sponsored by local square dance clubs.

The four days of rodeo activity will begin Wednesday with a parade through downtown Big Spring at 4 p.m. The parade will feature riding clubs, officials from the city, county and Webb AFB, floats, the Big Spring High School band, and antique cars.

Malcolm Patterson, parade chairman, announced today that horseback riders in the parade will include Col. W. C. McGlothlin, wing commander at Webb AFB, and Col. Harrison Lobdell Jr., the new wing commander, and his wife, Pat. Tommy Steiner, Austin, rodeo producer, has moved in the stock for the show, and it is ready to go. Steiner's bucking stock has gained a reputation along the professional rodeo circuit of being tough and mean, and many of his orons and bulls have been selected by cowboys to work in the National Finals Rodeo, the world series of professional cowboys.

Early entries in the rodeo include Ronny Sewall, Barry Burk, Olin Young, Denny Wingate and Kenny McMullins. Sewall, Chico, Tex., is currently in second place in Rodeo Cowboys Association calf roping standings with $11,855, followed by Burk, Duncan, Okla., in fourth place with $8,578, and Young, Peralta, N.M., in fifth place with $8,374.

McMullins, a Big Lake cowboy, has done well this year as a calf roper, winning the San Antonio Livestock Show rodeo. Wingate, Leon, Kan., is high in the standings as a bareback rider.

Critics Of Nixon's Missile Defense Program Lash Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense program claim Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has redefined in mid-controversy the Soviets' first-strike nuclear capability in an attempt to support the administration position.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright and Albert Gore made the charges following Laird's joint appearance Monday with CIA Director Richard Helms before a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Laird and Helms were called to testify in the wake of Safeguard critics' claims that the Pentagon and CIA had conflicting views on Soviet missile intentions.

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the committee, and Gore, D-Tenn., said they felt the meaning of "first-strike capability" had been completely changed by Laird's Monday testimony.

Laird now applies the term to Soviet potential for knocking out American Minuteman sites with the new powerful SS9 rocket, the senators said, without considering United States Polaris submarines.

Fulbright said he had always thought the term meant "the capacity to destroy the retaliatory capacity of your opponent — a knockout blow."

"If the term has no meaning other than a particular weapon, then it would seem the justification for ABM dissolves," Gore said.

Fulbright said the secretary's testimony showed less of a threat to the United States from the Soviet Union than was indicated in Laird's first appearance and "less of a reason than ever before, to proceed with the ABM."

Laird said he would stand on his previous testimony about the first strike power of the triple war head SS9 Soviet missile. He also referred newsmen to his recent testimony before the House Appropriations Committee which said the SS9 solely threatens Minuteman.

"I believe that the SS9 that is being deployed in increasing numbers is a weapon that has a first strike capability against hardened missile sites, specifically our Minuteman," Laird said.

Later Monday, in a separate session with newsmen, Laird said one Safeguard would defend some of the silos.

Only a few SS9's are now deployed, Laird said, but by 1975 as many as 420 would be in operation threatening a substantial portion of the 1,000 Minuteman missiles.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said apparent disagreement in views between the defense and espionage establishments arose because the different agencies were speaking out of different time frameworks "and we're dealing with a fast-changing picture."

Frisco Violence Lit By Social Turmoil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social turmoil on the American scene — not the plots of outside agitators — lit the fuse of violent confrontation at San Francisco State College, a report to the government's antiviolen commission asserted today.

The staff study, entitled "Shut It Down! — A College in Crisis," warned, however, that angry public opinion may force that school, and most other U.S. universities, to withdraw behind guarded walls unless solutions and a thorny tangle of national and local problems can be forged.

The 172-page report was made for the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence on the wave of violence that swept over the 70-year-old college during the past academic year.

"It is misleading to attribute the causes of violence to outside agitators," the study group said. "The causes lie much deeper."

"The students see themselves as noble people fighting battles to uplift the nonwhite races and promote reforms or revolution that will produce a better way of life," the report said at one point. "Officials who slow down or interfere with this process are branded enemies of the people."

But the report calls for a recognition by students "that the language of the gutter, the shock rhetoric, a willingness to mount barricades, vandalism and personal assault do not constitute a valid or effective means of getting a better education."

California officials are urged also to restore student and public confidence in the educational process by closely reviewing policies on admissions, curriculum, student discipline and student participation in school life.

The researchers said they found, after interviews with Republican and Democratic state legislators, that violence at San Francisco State and other public schools likely will result in legislation placing criminal penalties on campus conduct deemed unacceptable.

"They feel it is a political imperative, notwithstanding the recognition among most of those interviewed that, realistically, there is nothing the legislature can produce that will give (officials) any greater legal foundation than they already have for dealing with conduct on the campus," the report said.

No unity of opinion was found among legislators regarding the disorders: "Where one legislator sees the unrest as a struggle for Negro manhood, another sees only 'creeps' and 'bums' agitated by a hard-core preaching revolution imported from Cuba."

The report made this estimate of the situation now: "... the groups involved in the conflict are for the most part polarized. The students are committed to the struggle as a generation of students has never been. The faculty is fragmented, often unhappy, and increasingly militant over its rights and responsibilities. The administration is... essentially powerless to act, caught between the conflicting pressures of the other groups."

"The fact is that the 'New Left' openly espouses violence as a key tool in a drive to lock the academic community securely into the general struggle against the community at large," the report said.

"It indicates all higher learning as the uncritical servant of business and the military, rather than helping the poor and the uneducated to advance. It seeks in its extreme form, the destruction of higher education and its visible institutions as they are presently constituted."

San Francisco State and similar colleges are not — but must learn to be — prepared to handle a confrontation that aims at the very existence of the university as an institution, the report said.

Violence at San Francisco State came at the end of a long period in which the school was "a forerunner in educational and student trends," the study said. "The college moved faster than any other... in beginning black studies courses and in accepting the ideal of a black studies department."

But it suffered from a lack of leadership brought on, in part, from the fact it had a succession of seven presidents in eight years, the report said.

The study was directed by William H. Orrick Jr., a San Francisco attorney who served in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations as deputy secretary of state and as an assistant U.S. attorney general.

Wonder What's In This One?

Delona Davis, 26-year-old receptionist for the County Health Department in Los Angeles, is a bit apprehensive as she opens one of the many boxes and bottles arriving daily at her desk. Ever since the great South American violin spider hunt in suburban Sierra Madre, the Health Department has been receiving all kinds of spiders—living and dead—from people who think they've located another violin spider.

She Doesn't Scream, It's Part Of Violin Spider Hunt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man walked in and plunked a spider down on Delona Davis' desk. Her big, gray-blue eyes got bigger and grayer. But she didn't scream.

The critter was in a pill bottle. He was dead. Besides, she was getting used to it. This kind of thing had been going on dozens of times a day for more than two weeks.

As receptionist for the county health office, the little brunette has been deluged with spiders, of all shapes, colors and sizes—dead and alive—since the beginning of the South American violin spider hunt. She prefers them dead.

It started when Mel Thompson, a naturalist, found one of the brown violin spiders—about the size of a dime—in a suburban Sierra Madre park. Drop for drop, the violin spider's venom is deadlier than a rattlesnake's.

Thompson found 54 more in a recreation building at the park. Then researchers from the University of Southern California found a dozen in a nearby women's club and a church.

The county dispatched eight tweezers-packing spider hunters, armed with specimen vials and flashlights.

Building by building, nook by cranny, the hunters turned up spider after spider. Grand total: 13.

Quite a find, since South American violin spiders—named for the light violin-shaped marking on their backs—had been seen but once before in North America. That was six years ago in Cambridge, Mass.

Meanwhile, nearly every time the mailman arrived at Delona Davis' desk, he brought in a batch of spiders, most of them dead, in envelopes. And it seemed every third person who walked in the door had one in a jar, a matchbox or a pill bottle. "They're trying to help," she said. "But some of those spiders are pretty ugly. We get some pretty big ones sometimes. And when they're not dead, forget it!"

Few of the hundreds brought in were South American violin spiders. And nobody has reported being bitten.

William Waldron, county entomologist, said he hopes to learn more about the spiders' life habits—and how they got here from South America.

California officials are urged also to restore student and public confidence in the educational process by closely reviewing policies on admissions, curriculum, student discipline and student participation in school life.

Everytime we go out he makes a fuss over the waitress, has to find out her first name and from then on he's on a first name basis with her.

The last time we went out, we sat at a piano bar and the waitress sat down next to him and complained about how tired she was. Well, he proceeded to rub her back while she "ooohed" and "ahhhhhed" about how good it felt.

Needless to say I was embarrassed to death and every one around was taking it all in. I said nothing but I was very angry and let him know it when we were alone. This led to an argument. He said I was a "snob" and that he was just being "sociable." I should be so sociable with a bartender! What do you think?

'Squares' Hope To Prevent Campus Takeovers Next Fall

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — who call themselves "squares." We're providing an umbrella under which people opposed to tyranny can collect," says a leader of an antiradical group of about 100 students meeting here to develop measures aimed at preventing campus takeovers next fall.

"We advocate the use of whatever force is necessary to combat campus takeovers," said Lee Edwards, assistant chairman of the group of students is in danger of being destroyed over the demands of a few for total personal freedom," former Minnesota Congressman Walter Judd told on panel group.

Judd said the Students for a Democratic Society, a radical group active in many student demonstrations, is "part of the worldwide Communist movement" and urged students to organize to defeat it.

"One thing is certain," said Ed Butler, 34, chairman of the conference, "the revolution cannot be stopped. It can only be won or lost."

The student conference is sponsored by a private educational council in New Orleans, the Information Council of the Americas. The conference says grade average is required. Miss delegates represent schools from across the country. One major convention delegate said delegates are mostly from large state schools.

The group also claims to have broad political representation, ranging from the conservative Young Americans for Freedom to the Young Democrats organization.

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — "Everything let loose. The ship just took a brief roll. I said 'We're dead.' I heard someone else yell, 'Let's get the hell out of here!'" Fireman Terry L. Baughman, 21, of Troy, Mich., said.

He was describing his night of terror June 3 when the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans was sliced in half by the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne during war games in the South China Sea.

Baughman and two Evans shipmates appeared today before the joint U.S.-Australian board of inquiry investigating the collision. All three suffered second and third degree burns in the Evans engine room.

Asked by the board how his injuries were, Baughman replied: "I am alive." Seventy-four of his shipmates went down when the bow section of the Evans sank.

Arab, Israeli Units Continue Battling

By The Associated Press
Egyptian commandos slipped across the Suez Canal for the third time in three days to raid an Israeli army position, Israeli spokesmen reported today.

The Arabs crossed north of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the canal under a covering barrage of artillery fire Monday night. They battled the Israelis with light arms and grenades before retreating into Egypt, the Israelis said.

One Israeli soldier was reported killed. An Israeli Army spokesman said Egyptian casualties were not known.

KILLED IN RAID

On Sunday night three Egyptians were killed in a raid on the same installation. The Israeli radio's Arab language service reported today shrapnel found in the three bodies was from Soviet shells, indicating the Egyptians were killed by covering fire from their own guns.

No casualties were reported from the Saturday raid.

The commando raid followed two heavy artillery battles at the southern end of the canal Monday in which Egypt claimed Israeli losses. There was no confirmation of this from Tel Aviv.

A communique from Cairo said Monday's artillery battles resulted in "the destruction of enemy reinforcements" which the Israelis had set up in the Shatt and Port Taufiq areas. It said there was only light damage on the Egyptian side.

BLAST OIL PIPE

Early today Arab saboteurs blew up an oil pipe at Kishon, a fishing harbor on the outskirts of Haifa, Israel's biggest port city with a population of 210,000. Thick black smoke hung in the sky as the firemen battled the blaze for more than an hour.

Police set up roadblocks around the area and began a search for the saboteurs.

Another announcement from Cairo said President Gamal Abdel Nasser has replaced the top two Egyptian air force officers, apparently in a move to improve air force standards.

The report said Gen. Mustafa el Hennawi had been replaced as air force commander in chief by Gen. Aly Baghdadi and Gen. Hassan Kamel had been succeeded as director of air defense operations by Gen. Mohammed Aly Fahmy.

Baghdadi's former post was air force chief of staff Fahmy had been chief of staff of air defense operations.

Baghdadi, 47, is a former swimming champion who represented Egypt in several international competitions, including the 1948 Olympics. He was graduated from the Egyptian Military Academy in 1942 and from the Air Force Academy in 1958. He was trained in Britain and the Soviet Union, and was stationed in Jordan during the 1967 six-day war.

Three Men, Five Monkeys Training For Moon Flights

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Three men and five monkeys continue heavy training today for flights to the moon and day, Armstrong and Aldrin will work out in the LEM trainer.

Meanwhile five pigtail monkeys are training for a 30-day earth orbit flight one of them is to make starting Saturday.

On Friday, project scientists will select the monkey best qualified to make the flight plus a standby substitute. The substitute will replace the No. 1 selection in case of illness or other problems in the final hours before launching.

A three-stage Delta rocket is to blast the monkey capsule away from earth at 11:10 p.m. The three astronauts today planned several hours in the Saturday.

While the primate orbits 220 miles high, experts on the ground will monitor his ability to perform button-pushing exercises. The main purpose is to determine whether long-term exposure to weightlessness will have any effect on the monkey's capacity for work.

If the monkey pushes the correct buttons in response to certain stimulations, he will be rewarded with food pellets.

After 30 days in orbit, a ground signal will fire a retro-rocket to start the primate capsule back to earth. Its parachute is to be snagged by an Air Force plane high over the Pacific Ocean.

Infantrymen Sweeping To 'Take Pressure Off'

SAIGON (AP) — Bloody fighting raged around the besieged Ben Het Special Forces camp Monday and it sustained its heaviest artillery bombardment since May 1. But U.S. spokesmen said today a convoy broke through the encircling enemy troops with badly needed ammunition and supplies.

The U.S. command said the convoy, the first to reach Ben Het in a week, pushed through by road from Dak To. Previously supplies had to be dropped by cargo planes and only medical evacuation helicopters risked landing because of the daily artillery barrages.

South Vietnamese infantrymen backed by U.S. artillery and planes killed 106 North Vietnamese troops around the camp Monday in some of the heaviest fighting there since May 1. South Vietnamese casualties were five killed and 15 wounded.

North Vietnamese gunners poured in 195 artillery, mortar and recoilless rifle shells into the camp 280 miles northeast of Saigon. The U.S. Command reported some of the American Green Beret advisers and artillery crew stationed there were killed and wounded, but it declined to give figures.

South Vietnamese headquarters said four civilian irregulars and four of their dependents were killed in the shelling.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the infantrymen were sweeping the area around Ben Het to "take pressure off." But despite the convoy break through he said it was still hard to tell who controls the area.

Military spokesmen said a North Vietnamese regiment of up to 2,000 men has surrounded Ben Het and the camp has been under daily bombardment from heavy artillery in Laos, Cambodia and the six-mile stretch between Ben Het and the border.

"The most important thing to remember is that we are free to launch operations and the camps are still there," said the government spokesman.

American spokesmen have said air strikes are not too effective against the enemy artillery because the Russian-made 85mm guns are employed in mountain caves and protected by steel doors when not in use.

But U.S. 7th Air Force tactical bombers found a break in the heavy cloud cover that has shrouded Ben Het for several days and were able to strike North Vietnamese troops encircling the camp Monday. Spokesmen said they bombed within a mile of Ben Het.

"We rolled in again and again, blanketing the area with ordnance," said 1st Lt. Leslie C. Jensen, 25, of Edinburg, N.D., one of the pilots.

In addition to the raids by smaller bombers, B52 bombers dropped 360 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troops and gun emplacements within 2 1/2 miles of the camp, spokesmen reported. They said the Stratofortresses have flown more than 300 sorties—one flight by one plane—since May 1 in an effort to ease the enemy pressure on Ben Het and Dak To.

Farther south along the Cambodian border, enemy gunners shot down a $2.5 million American C130 cargo plane loaded with ammunition as it was coming in for a landing at the Katum Special Forces camp. Four officers and two enlisted crewmen were killed when the plane crashed and exploded.

An Army UH1 helicopter also was shot down as it flew low over the crash site 70 miles northwest of Saigon. It crashed a few yards from the four-engine C130 and the three crewmen were wounded.

The non-newsmakers...

what are they doing?

Publicity and public attention at any price is the farthest thing from their minds. They are not looking for something to complain about. They can see things about them which need improvement and they are willing to tackle the task. But they see some good things too.

They don't believe in criticism and protest without offering constructive alternatives. They believe that soap and water and a neat appearance go hand in hand with health and happiness. They know their strength is in their numbers because they comprise the overwhelming majority of the young people in the world today.

Why are they so inconspicuous? Because they are busy doing things which need to be done. More of them perform works of charity than we ever hear about. They are applying themselves to their educations, going to church every week, participating in sports, furnishing the real leadership in their own groups, and working in ways which contribute to the betterment of society.

Right now they are seeking summer jobs. Thousands upon thousands of them are ready to contribute an honest day's work for a fair wage during the summer months. Groups like this are studying the Want Ad pages daily in search of summer work. Can you use a fine American in your place of business? If you can, let them know of your opening by placing a Help Wanted Ad in The Big Spring Herald. Call 263-7331.

Navy Lt. Adkins Gets Bronze Star

PANAMA CITY, Fla. — The Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in support of combat operations in Vietnam has been awarded to Lt. John C. Adkins, a member of the program staff at the Naval Ship Research and Development Laboratory here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Adkins, Big Spring. He was presented the medal by Capt. James D. W. Borop, commanding officer, in ceremonies at the laboratory.

The award cited him for meritorious service while serving against the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong Communists in Vietnam during 1968. Attached to the security and intelligence division of the naval support activity, Da Nang, as officer in charge of the Marble Mountain Transmitter Site Security Detachment, he was responsible for the security of the facility. The site, during the 1968 Communist TET offensive, was one of the enemy's prime targets in the Da Nang area. On numerous occasions Lt. Adkins led his men in countering all enemy probes made against Marble Mountain. In April, 1968, he assumed the duties of officer in charge of the Sentry Dog Unit. On the night of Aug. 23, he displayed exemplary leadership and courage under fire when the site at Marble Mountain came under two well coordinated enemy mortar and ground attacks.

Opening lead: Seven of ♣
Altho West pulled out every stop in defending against South's six spade contract, the latter had drawn sufficient information from the auction to successfully counter his opponent's moves.

West's take-out double was of the distributional variety. North had the equivalent of an opening bid himself, so he redoubled. East's bid of two clubs does not designate any special high card strength, but merely suggests the best playing place.

North jumped to three hearts on the next round in order to suggest that his trump suit was virtually self-sufficient. Observe that after his redouble, a mere bid of two hearts would have constituted an unconditional force on partner.

South marked time by rebidding three spades and when North raised to four, South decided that he had held himself in check long enough. With first round control of the other suits, he was willing to gamble that North's hearts would produce sufficient discards and he proceeded directly to six spades.

West opened the seven of clubs and East's jack forced out the ace. South ruffed out his other club and cashed the king of spades on which West showed out. Declarer overtook the queen next and led two more rounds of trumps as West disposed of two more diamonds and one club.

The nine of hearts was led and West declined to split his honors, following instead with the seven. [Observe that if he plays the queen, South is in position to bring in the entire suit by permitting West to hold the trick and on a later round, finessing against the king.]

Altho South's nine of hearts held the lead, he was not very pleased with the cheap trick, for West still retained a stopper in the king-queen and with no entry to the North hand, declarer was obliged to give up on hearts.

South held out no hope for a successful diamond finesse, and decided instead to rely on an end play against West. His first step was to cash his last two spades. West reluctantly parted with his remaining club—the king—and then he discarded the seven of diamonds.

A heart was led to the ace and another heart put West in as South shed the ten of diamonds. The forced diamond return away from the king-jack into declarer's ace-queen enabled the latter to win the last two tricks.

Fire Halts Nuclear Missile Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. nuclear missile production has been halted for perhaps the rest of this year because of a crippling fire at an Atomic Energy Commission plant.

This rather stunning situation—still unmentioned publicly by the government—is disclosed in the back section of a 1,400-page volume of official testimony recently released by a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

Government sources also give

'Right Man' Draws Pen Sentence

FORT WORTH (AP)—Robert Wayne Black, 17, a figure in a bizarre case of mistaken identity, pleaded guilty Monday to two counts of rape and was assessed two 40-year prison sentences.

Judge J. E. Winters said the two sentences would run concurrently.

Black also was charged in two other rape cases. Prosecutors said the complaints would be dismissed, however.

Black admitted in a statement introduced into evidence that he attacked two cocktail waitresses at gunpoint on two separate nights, robbing one of them.

On March 26, police arrested a young machinist, Danny Brew, and charged him with rape after one of the four victims identified him in a police lineup.

The victim later saw news photographs of Black, decided she might have been mistaken, and took her doubts to the district attorney's office.

A second lineup was arranged, with Brew and Black side by side, and the victim this time pointed to Black as her assailant. Charges were dismissed against Brew, 26.

strong indications that testing of antimissile warheads may be delayed by the blaze that hit a plutonium-handling facility at Rocky Flats, Colo., May 11. The official AEC position is that Safeguard deployment schedules will not be set back.

The impact of the fire, first serious blaze at an AEC plant, was laid before Congress behind closed doors nine days later when AEC leaders urgently appealed for $45 million to make repairs.

Most nuclear weapons require plutonium to trigger their atomic warheads.

Air Force Maj. Gen. E. B. Giller, assigned to the AEC, told subcommittee members the impact on the weapons production schedule would last "a few months to perhaps a year," according to preliminary estimates.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., asked Giller: "Will this fire retard you in the production of all missiles?"

Giller's immediate words in reply were deleted from the published transcript but then he said: "We are estimating at this moment six months plus or minus three, meaning a maximum of maybe nine."

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, AEC chairman, termed the $45 million request to get the Rocky Flats plant back into operation "very urgent."

"If we didn't receive the additional appropriation it would de-

Buying Habits Staying High

AUSTIN (AP) — Anti-inflationary measures "apparently haven't cut into Texans' buying habits, a University of Texas business analyst reports.

"Consumers are seemingly continuing their past buying habits, ignoring high prices and ever-rising interest rates," said Constance Cooledge, statistical assistant with the Bureau of Business Research.

The bureau reported retail sales in May gained seven per cent over April, but when adjusted for seasonal variation there was no appreciable change from April.

In addition, Miss Cooledge reported that May retail sales were seven per cent over those of May 1968, and the January-May total is five per cent over that of the comparable 1968 period.

Miss Cooledge ticked off sizable April-May jumps in several categories of business, including 11 per cent in furniture and household appliance sales, 16 per cent in general merchandise, 9 per cent in drug stores, seven per cent in food stores and eight per cent in eating and drinking places.

Could Lead To 'Disaster'

VERNON, B.C. (AP) — A young man was given time off from the firelines in British Columbia Thursday after a forest ranger said he posed a hazard to fire and fire fighters.

The ranger dug into his own pocket for $2 so the youth, with shoulder-length hair, could get a haircut.

The ranger, who preferred not to be identified, told the youth his hair could easily catch fire, or on the other hand other fire fighters might mistake him for a woman. Either event could lead to "disaster," he said.

DID YOU READ THAT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME?

A lot of people usually don't see the extra "the" at first reading. Which only goes to prove that you can't believe everything you think you see. The same thing with your hearing. You're not always aware of what you hear.

Like Muzak, for example. Here's an unobtrusive, scientifically programmed musical environment that people don't consciously listen to but subconsciously react to in a positive, functional way. That's one reason why Muzak is so successful in motivating people and increasing their efficiency. Not because we say so. But because companies like your own are proving it every day.

If you would like to see some convincing cases in point on how effective Muzak environments are, just call, or write us.

Top Cowboys Coming For Rodeo

Some of the nation's top professional cowboys will compete for dollars and honors at the 36th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo here Wednesday through Saturday.

Grand entry will open activities daily at 8 p.m. in the Rodeo Bowl, west of Big Spring on US 80. Admission to the event sponsored by the Big Spring Rodeo Association is $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Producer of this year's show is Tommy Steiner, famed rodeo celebrity from Austin, and Tom Hadley, Kerrville, is announcer.

Some 129 cowboys competed for $6,445 in prize money last year in bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and bull riding. There will also be an open girls barrel racing event.

Contestants began arriving today to sign up for events at the Settles Hotel, rodeo headquarters.

The trick riding and trick roping team of Rex and Wanda Rossi, Fallon, Nev., will be featured in specialty acts nightly, along with Janette Bolling, LaWard, a noted trick rider. John Bolling, Janette's husband, will act as rodeo clown and bull fighter.

Rodeo festivities will begin today with a street dance on Main Street at 8 p.m., between Third and Fourth streets, sponsored by the Big Spring Squares and Huff 'N' Puffers, local square dance clubs.

"The Majors and One Minor," a local western band, will provide music, and square dance clubs from the area are invited. Callers will be Roger Fleckenstein, Stanton, and Curtis Thompson, Midland.

Activities Wednesday will begin with the annual rodeo parade at 4 p.m. Eleven riding clubs, local officials, floats and other units will be in the parade. The Big Spring Rodeo Association is offering $100 in prize money to the top three floats.

The parade will gather on Twelfth Street between Main and Scurry. It will travel north on Main to Second Street, west to Scurry, and south on Scurry to Twelfth.

The Big Spring Kiwanis Club will sponsor a barbecue after the parade, and will begin serving at 5 p.m. at the pavilion in City Park and at the Rodeo Bowl. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children. Box seats with seating for six people are being sold at the Chamber of Commerce office for $15 for the season and $6 per night, in addition to the general admission tickets.

General admission tickets are now on sale at the Chamber of Commerce, Ward's Boot Shop, Webb AFB Credit Union, First National Bank, Creighton Tire Co. and Coker's Restaurant.

DARING STUNTS ON A SPEEDING HORSE
Specialty of the Rossi act

Specialty Acts Add To Rodeo Excitement

Wild broncs and rugged bulls should provide enough excitement at any rodeo, but officials of the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion have added something special with the riding and trick roping act of Rex and Wanda Rossi.

Joining the riding and roping Rossis, veteran rodeo performers from Fallon, Nev., will be Janette Bolling, a young trick rider from LaWard, Tex.

The Rossis are not only known from coast to coast for their versatile horse show and rodeo performances, but throughout the world. Highly talented in the art of trick roping and trick riding, they excel in working together with teamwork, along with showmanship, color and speed.

Rex Rossi was born of the rodeo circuit and has devoted his life to being the best trick roper and rider in demand of audiences. He is known for his speed with a spinning rope and precision with the difficult Mexican maquey rope which he displays a series of tricks ending each one by catching a running horse.

Tailstands, summersaults and deathdrags, along with many tricks he has originated, are some of the stunts performed in his trick riding act.

Rossi's wife, Wanda, depends on versatility, showmanship and personality in her trick riding act which features acrobatics on a speeding mount and Roman riding on two racing Palomino horses. She is also a stunt rider

Trick Rider

Janette Bolling, LaWard, Tex., will be featured in one of the specialty acts at the 36th annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion. She is a veteran trick riding performer at rodeos throughout the nation, and her husband, John Bolling, will serve as rodeo clown.

Traditional Parade Opens Rodeo Week

Riding clubs, floats and local officials will be featured in the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo parade at 4 p.m. Wednesday which officially opens four days of rodeo activities here.

Malcolm Patterson, parade chairman, said the parade will assemble on Twelfth Street, between Main and Scurry, and will travel north on Main to Second, west on Second to Scurry, and south on Scurry to Twelfth.

Eleven sheriffs' posses and riding clubs and several floats will be in the parade, along with county, local and Webb AFB officials, a Webb AFB color guard, Big Spring High School band, antique cars, rodeo officials and the Shrine Motorcycle Patrol.

The host riding clubs will be the Howard County Sheriff's Posse, Howard County Youth Horsemen, and Knott Saddle Club.

Other sheriffs' posses will include those from Martin, Fisher, Scurry, Dawson and Garza counties. Riding clubs entered are the Fisher County Junior Riding Club, O'Donnell Junior Gouchos, and San Angelo Saddle Club.

Dr. Bob Morse, San Angelo, president of the American Association of Sheriffs' Posses and Riding Clubs, will be in the parade, along with Janice Allen, Canyon, national queen of the AASPRC.

The Big Spring Rodeo Association is offering $100 in prizes for floats in the parade. Judging will be based on portrayal of subject, originality of idea, and over-all appearance of the float. First place float will receive $50, second will get $30, and third, $20.

Sheriffs' posses and riding clubs will compete for first, second and third place trophies and points in the AASPRC standings.

Year-Round Work Needed For Rodeo

When the last bull is bucked out of the chutes at the 1969 Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion, and winning cowboys are picking up their checks at the pay window, plans for the 1970 edition of the annual event will be under way.

Putting on a rodeo for four days is a year-around job, and the directors of the Big Spring Rodeo Association work hard in all areas of the operations to see that the event is run smoothly when performance time comes.

Head of the board of directors and president of the rodeo association is Charlie Creighton, who oversees the entire operation of the rodeo during its four days in Big Spring. He coordinates the efforts of the association and producer Tommy Steiner, who makes the rodeo go.

E. P. Driver, secretary, handles all advertising, publicity and correspondence between the Rodeo Cowboys Association, Steiner, contestants and specialty acts. He also maintains records throughout the years.

In charge of the parade, which is always a major part of any rodeo, is Malcolm Patterson. He secures riding clubs, floats and other units for the parade. The rodeo grounds, including the chutes, pens and stands, have to be put into shape each year before the big event, and that job falls to Jimmy Taylor.

Leland Wallace is in charge of the ticket sales at the gates, while Kenny Thompson is in charge of the night watchmen and security force. Jack Lewis and H. N. Read Jr. coordinate sales of box seats. Rich Anderson helps Patterson with the parade and is in charge of the barbecue following the annual parade.

All of the expenses in the operation are coordinated through Bob Middleton, association treasurer, who keeps tabs on finances. Vice president Harry Lees has been active in the association for many years and is one of its staunchest supporters.

Contestants Make Best Rodeo Judges

Because knowledge of animals is involved, the Rodeo Cowboys Association has found that the best judges come from among the ranks of active contestants. The association requires that a judge must be a cowboy who has contested within the last 12 months. A longer period of inactivity might dull his ability to evaluate a ride properly.

Each rodeo has two judges, and each scores an animal from one to 25 points on how hard a bronc or bull bucks. The rider, on a similar point spread, is scored on how well he spurs and his degree of control.

Often the word "spur" is misconstrued. To give the animal every advantage, the cowboy is required to do something in addition to hanging on for dear life. His spurring stroke — the lick — is exquisitely timed to the bucking rhythm.

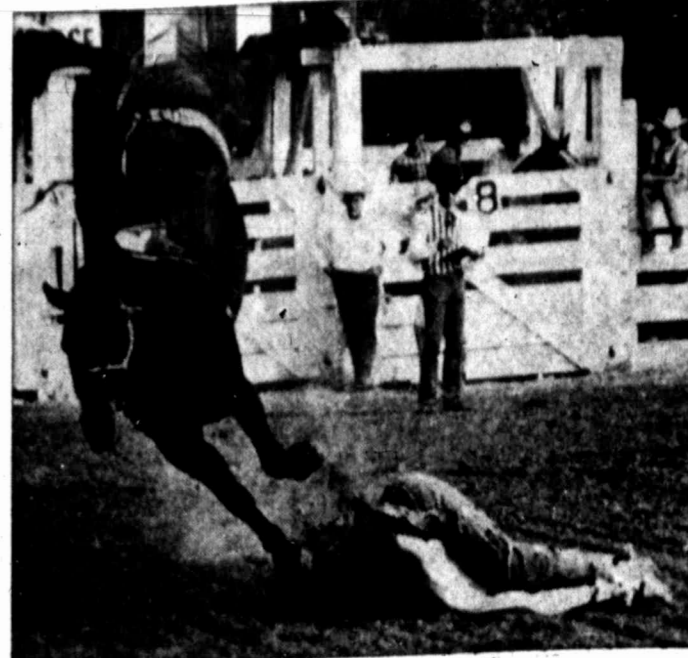

Spurs are dulled by association rules. The cause of many a rider's abrupt departure from his mount has been caused by a spur hanging up in the saddle or entangling in the horse's mane. For this reason riders use a short-shanked spur with rowels no sharper than the edge of a nickel.

Judges stand on either side of the chute, and the first thing they look for is whether the rider's feet are over the point of the horse's shoulders when the animal's front feet hit the ground on the first jump out of the chute. If this doesn't occur, the rider is disqualified.

Judging of the timed events — roping and steer wrestling — requires two men. One is at the starting scoreline, the other on horseback. The latter drops his flag, stopping the timers' watches, when the run is legally completed.

Classic Event

Empty Horse

Professional rodeo's saddle bronc riding is considered the classic event of the sport, stemming from bygone days when cowboys broke their own horses for use on the range. To be successful today, the competitive bronc rider uses a braided rope rein for leverage, a highly-coordinated leg motion called a "lick," and a solid foundation of leg rank, unbroken horses.

Bareback bronc riding offers a world of excitement and some odd professional rodeo action. This rider has been bucked loose from his hold on the handle of the bareback bronc rigging. With head buried in arena turf, the cowboy isn't in position to know that his former mount appears to be relishing the entire affair.

STEER WRESTLING Favorite Of Many Fans

Steer must be caught from horse. If steer gets loose, cowboy may take chase. Steer will be considered down only when it is lying flat on its side, all four legs and head pointing in same direction. (Synovial R.C.A. rules.)

The man who quickly and consistently gets a steer off balance while staying in control himself is usually in the money. As the cowboy catches up to the steer, he reaches with his right hand, scooping up the right horn, and as his horse speeds by, the cowboy snugs the horn into the crook of his right elbow. Simultaneously, his left hand pushes down on the other horn while his horse veers off to the left. The cowboy's heels are dropped ahead of his body and at a 45-degree angle to the path the steer is taking.

Digging in his heels, the cowboy tips the steer's head and pulls it toward the center of a left-hand turn. As the steer stops — his hindquarters having swung around — the cowboy's left hand reaches for the animal's upturned nose. With this hold, he is able to throw the steer on his side.

There is also a second man in this event — the hazer — who rides on the opposite side of the steer. His job is to keep the animal running straight.

Steer Wrestling

Many steer wrestlers claim their event is the most scientific of any in professional rodeo. Exquisite coordination must exist between the steer wrestler and his horse, and the hazer and his mount, as they attempt to catch the steer and keep it running in a straight line. The steer wrestler, outweighed four to one, leaps onto the horns of a charging steer and attempts to wrestle it to the ground in the least time possible.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Edward Swart, a foreman on the construction site of the highest building in Africa, now has two extra charges to watch over.

Swart discovered a pigeon nest in the completed 458-foot central tower of Johannesburg's new Standard Bank building, right inside a slot in which workmen were about to fit an 84-ton floor section. He had himself lowered to move the nest to another slot further down, only to repeat the tricky rescue operation as work proceeded from the top of the tower downwards.

Finally he made the two baby pigeons a home in the tower's storeroom, where he guards them and feeds them with seed. "I keep 20 pigeons at home and I've got what you call a soft spot for them," Swart explained.

Contestants Make Best Rodeo Judges

Because knowledge of animals is involved, the Rodeo Cowboys Association has found that the best judges come from among the ranks of active contestants.

Classic Event

Professional rodeo's saddle bronc riding is considered the classic event of the sport, stemming from bygone days when cowboys broke their own horses for use on the range.

Empty Horse

Bareback bronc riding offers a world of excitement and some odd professional rodeo action. This rider has been bucked loose from his hold on the handle of the bareback bronc rigging.

STEER WRESTLING Favorite Of Many Fans

Steer must be caught from horse. If steer gets loose, steersman may take time to catch him. Steer will be considered down only when it lies flat on its side.

of a steer running at full tilt, the steer, he reaches with his right hand, scooping up the right horn, and as his horse speeds by, the cowboy snugs the horn into the crook of his right elbow.

Simultaneously, his left hand pushes down on the other horn while his horse veers off to the left. The cowboy's heels are dropped ahead of his body and at a 45 degree angle to the path the steer is taking.

Spurs are dulled by association rules. The cause of many a rider's abrupt departure from his mount has been caused by a spur hanging up in the saddle or entangling in the horse's mane.

Steer Wrestling

Many steer wrestlers claim their event is the most scientific of any in professional rodeo. Exquisite coordination must exist between the steer wrestler and his horse, and the hazer and his mount, as they attempt to catch the steer and keep it running in a straight line.

Spacious Bowl Built For Rodeos

Before a rodeo can be held, Spring, a spacious facility built land west of the city, and wide, natural ravine for its bowl go into capital improvement projects of the plant and purchase of livestock, Charlie Creighton, association president.

BAREBACK BRONC RIDING

Horse Has Advantage

One-hand rigging to be used. To qualify, rider must have spurs over break of the shoulders when horse's front feet touch the ground on first jump out of the chute. Horses will be ridden for eight seconds. Rider cannot touch horse with free hand. (Synopsis of R.C.A. rules)

Little Security

A bareback bronc rider has little security, and every advantage is for the horse. The handle on the bareback bronc rigging plus a fine sense of rhythm and coordination, are all that kept this professional rodeo cowboy from hitting the dust.

The wild spurring antics cowboys use in bareback bronc riding often confuse spectators.

The rider who develops a rhythm, and can "jerk his knees," often is doing the only thing that will keep his body against his riding hand. With nothing but a bareback rigging, which has a handle similar to that on a suitcase, cowboys have a problem staying on the twisting, explosive horses.

If a man sat in a chair and thrust both arms forward as hard as possible, it would jerk his chest forward, the same thing happens when he throws both heels out as hard as he can. This will jerk his body forward. Many bareback horses couldn't be ridden if a cowboy merely went to the belly with his spurs and tried to "dummy one out."

Judges look for the difficult horse and the cowboy who is in command. The split second that a rider allows his seat to be thrown back from his riding hand usually foreshadows a launching; the further back he moves — and the straighter his arm is pulled — the more helpless he is.

Top bareback broncs often find their spot in the limelight because they fire better without restriction of saddle and bucking rein. And without the saddle, slightly smaller horses can be used in bareback bronc riding.

The bowl, which is 330 feet long and 113 feet wide, is circled on three sides by concrete bleachers. There is seating for 8,000 spectators in the big structure.

Besides the annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion, the arena is used for many other events.

"We allow use of the rodeo arena to any public organization we feel is good for Big Spring," according to Jimmy Taylor, grounds superintendent for the association.

The association donates the Rodeo Bowl for the annual 4H and Future Farmers of America Youth Rodeo, 4H Club Horse Show, American Association of Sheriff's Poses and Riding Clubs playdays and other western events. It works with other community groups and has donated facilities for the annual Shrine Circus.

Profits from the bowl events Restoration Set

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Cape Town's Malay quarter, housing the descendants of slaves shipped from the old Dutch East Indies, will be reconstructed as a historical relic.

The City Council was told the government would pay about half of the Rand 677,000 ($947,800) costs of restoring some of the white-washed colonial-style cottages.

Bucking Horses Work Less, And Live Better

The professional bucking horses of rodeo work less, live as good, and last longer, than any other working horse in the world.

Even more than the slick thoroughbreds of the racing circuits, the ill-tempered renegade bronc is the pampered prince of the equine kingdom.

Rodeo broncs buck in either eight- or ten-second stretches. Even the busiest bucking horses are rarely out of the chute more than twice a week, or more than 30 times a year. Their "working" year is less than five minutes.

No one can train a horse to buck. He either likes it or he doesn't.

CALF ROPING

Working Together As Team

If cowboy intends to use two loops, two ropes must be carried. Cowboy must throw calf by hand. Cross and tie any three feet. If calf is down when roper reaches it, he must allow calf to get up and then throw calf. The roper holds for six seconds after roper cuts time. (Synopsis R.C.A. rules.)

Calf Roping

Calf roping rewards are the richest of all professional rodeo events. The horses are finely trained animals with individual values running into the thousands of dollars. And the roper must have the unerring aim of a Bob Feller, the timing of Cassius Clay, and the strength of Paul Bunyon. Here the roper has settled his loop, the mount digs in for the stop, and the rider will be catapulted down the rope to catch and tie the calf.

Cruel treatment of bucking animals is a myth perpetrated by misguided animal lovers. Besides being specifically forbidden by rules — written by the Rodeo Cowboys Association in conjunction with the American Humane Association — mistreatment of bucking stock would be a good way to commit economic suicide. Underfed horses simply won't buck.

The average age of bucking horses in pro rodeo is between 12 and 15 years, and nearly every major bucking string has more than one old reliable past the age of 20.

time with thousands of dollars in prize money determined by fractions of seconds.

Horse and rider must work together with teamwork polished to perfection. It requires constant practice.

The contest begins behind the rope barrier, where roper and his mount wait for the calf to be released. The barrier is released automatically by a measured length of twine around the calf's neck. When the calf reaches the end of the twine, the barrier is tripped. If the cowboy rides through the barrier, a ten-second penalty is added to his time.

A good horse will rate the calf, closing on him quickly and holding a steady interval, regardless of how the calf bobs or weaves. Most ropers like their horses to stay a length behind and a fraction to one side to allow a clean throw.

The horse's quick stop is used by the cowboy to propel him down the rope to the calf. On the ground, the roper must throw the calf by hand, a task made easier if the horse keeps the rope tight. The calf may be downed by either "legging" (using a foreleg as a pry to tip him over) or by "flanking" (picking up the animal and laying him on his side).

Once the calf is down, the roper gathers three legs and wraps and ties them with a short length of light rope called a "piggin" string.

BULL RIDING

Most Popular Event For Spectators

Maestro

Professional rodeo's bull riders thrive on the challenge and prize money in their event, but it takes a rare talent to continue in this dangerous action over a period of years. Pictured in Dallas, Tex., is Freckles Brown, Soper, Okla., riding a bull named simply "Number 2."

Riding to be done with one hand and loose rope, with or without hand held. Rope must have ball. Bull will be ridden eight seconds. Rider will be disqualified for being bucked off or touching animal with free hand. (Synopsis R.C.A. rules.)

The most popular event for spectators is bull riding. Nothing compares with it for danger and action. Bulls, with a cross of Brahma blood, are incredibly fast and can be fatally dangerous.

Because bulls will attack a horse, pickup men can't be used and the rider who leaves a bull has only the clown to help him. Clowns often save a cowboy from serious injury and — dramatic as it may sound — death.

Bull riding has the most entries of the three riding events, and there are reasons for this. The number of animals in the draw — on whom a man can win money if he rides them — is far greater in this event. And, for the beginner, there is less embarrassment in being thrown from a bull, which can make a champion look like an apprentice.

A bull rider uses a rope which is looped around the animal's middle. The rider puts his gloved hand in a loop in the rope and another cowboy pulls the slack out of the rope. When the rope's tightness feels correct to the rider, he takes the free end and lays it across his palm, wraps it once behind his riding hand, lays it across his palm again, and clenches with all his strength. When a rider bucks off away from his riding hand, his weight pulls down on the wrap behind his knuckles and he's often "hung up" and helpless until either the clown can jerk the end of the rope free, or the bull finally throws him loose.

Dangerous Situation

Professional rodeo's bull riders compete in the most dangerous of all sports. A bull rider has only a rope-looped around the animal's middle—to cling to.

Illegitimacy Rate Spirals

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — More than one-third of all colored (mulatto) children born in South Africa are illegitimate, said Dr. Sally Woodrow, President of the National Council for Maternal and Family Welfare. The illegitimacy rate rises to eight out of 10 for colored teenage

Union Climbers

DAR ES SALAAM (AP) — The mountain guides of Tanzania's Kilimanjaro, who make their living assisting tourists climb the 19,340-foot peak of Kibo, have become union-minded. At present the guides are registered with two hotels which normally cater to climbers. The hotel pays the porters and guides for each five-day trip up and down the mountain. The guides believe they could improve their conditions — including such fringe benefits as uniforms — if they formed a union. With the aid of Tanzania's National Tourist Board, they intend to start one.

Frazier Destroys Quarry In 7; Challenges Ellis

NEW YORK (AP) — Minutes after Joe Frazier had destroyed game, half-blinded Jerry Quarry in seven rounds of an impressive Philadelphia and WBA champion Jimmy Ellis challenged each other in the Madison Square Garden ring.

It looked like a tight natural in the making for the disputed crown in September between Frazier, the six-state king of the heavyweights, and Ellis, the World Boxing Association's champion from Louisville, Ky.

But Ellis may take on former champion Sonny Liston first in Los Angeles, Houston, or Las Vegas in late July or early June.

Frazier and Ellis had their verbal battle shortly after the ring physician, Dr. Harry Kleiman, had come to Quarry's rescue and ordered the one-sided fight stopped after the seventh round. In New York it was just as a seventh-round technical knockout.

FEARFUL BEATING
Quarry, who had come tearing out in the first round like a hungry tiger after a lamp, was cut and puffed under the right eye in the third round. Unable to see from the eye, he absorbed a fearsome beating to the head and body from then on although he never was dropped.

"He is a helluva fighter," said Quarry, stopped for the first time in his career (31-34). "I couldn't see out of my right eye. I didn't want the fight to be stopped. I wanted to go out punching like a man."

"He was tough but I knew I would get him," said Frazier. "He came to fight."

Frazier's relentless, buzz-saw attack impressed most everyone in the crowd of 16,570 (gross gate $502,518) but it didn't scare Ellis.

Called into the ring for a television interview, he soon was engaged in a shouting battle with Frazier, who still had plenty of fire left.

"He kept hollering 'I'm next and pointed his finger at me,'" said Ellis. "I told him I would beat him and shut his mouth. I want that man."

Frazier said he told Ellis, "You're no champ. You won't fight anybody. A champ's got to fight everybody."

Yank Durham, Frazier's manager and trainer, told Ellis, "We're going to take a tune-up with you and then fight Cassius Clay if the government ever turns him loose. But right now Joe's going to rest. He's had four title defenses in a year."

Although Ellis has more territory to reign over, the aggressive Frazier is the hottest guy in boxing right now.

The 25-year-old muscleman's devastating destruction of the 24-year-old blond from Bellflower, Calif., was his 24th in as many pro fights and his 22nd knockout. His knockout average of .875 is second only among all heavyweight champions to retired, undefeated Rocky Marciano's .878.

JERRY QUARRY'S BIG PROBLEM
Joe Frazier's trip hammer left opens cut under eye

Frazier wears down his opponents like those big iron balls knock down buildings. He is as persistent as a dentist's drill. He keeps coming and punching as if he was afraid he'd be fined for loitering.

HE TRIED
Quarry knew he'd come and predicted that he'd knock out Joe in five. The ruggedly handsome blond tried to do it in one. He surprised the fans, but not Frazier, by rushing to the attack in a sensational and savage first round.

They stood toe-to-toe and

Pro-Am Play Attracts 68
A Pro-Am tourney at Municipal Golf Course Monday attracted 68 players in 17 teams, including 10 professionals.

The foursome of Jimmy Middleton, Charles Marstrand, Jack White and James Petray fired a 59 in low-ball play to take first place. Second was the quartet of Charles Brantley, R. C. Harb, Pauchall, Avery Falkner and Ray Blumh with a 61.

Three teams tied for third place with a 62. They were the team of Val Howard, Dwayne Small, Joel Vaughn and Kirby Brown; the team of Lanny Moore, Jim Hundley, Ron Gilbreath and Joe Connally; and the team of Gidd Faircloth, Pancho McNabb, Tommy Williams and Lawrence Johnson.

Desperate Try, But He's Out

Outfielder Bill Voss of the California Angels goes sprawling and his tag goes flying as the second inning force at second against the Minnesota Twins last night in Anaheim, Calif. It all started when Jim Fregosi tapped to shortstop Leo Cardenas, who pegged to second baseman Frank Quilley for the out. Quilley relayed to first, too late to make it a double play in the game the Angels won 5-2.

Wills, Mota Give Dodgers Seventh Straight Victory

By The Associated Press
Maury Wills is the quarterback who makes the Los Angeles Dodgers go-go-go. . . . but Manny Mota is the No. 1 ground-gainer in their rebuilt attack.

Mota, acquired with Wills from Montreal two weeks ago, drove in three runs Monday night with a single and his first 1969 homer, leading the Dodgers past Atlanta 5-3 for their seventh straight victory.

Wills contributed a single and triple as the Dodgers pushed their National League West Division lead to 1 1/2 games over the second place Braves. With the two veterans battling 1-2 in the line-up, they have won nine of 13 starts in their charge to first place.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs struck for two runs in the ninth inning and edged Pittsburgh 5-4 for a five-game East division lead over idle New York; Cincinnati blanked staggering San Diego 5-0 on Jim Merritt's two-hitter and Houston ran its winning streak to seven with a 9-3 victory over San Francisco. St. Louis and Montreal were rained out in the only other game on the NL schedule.

"The first time Maury Wills walked into our dressing room there was a different air in the clubhouse," pitcher Don Sutton said after beating the Braves for an 11-5 season record with relief help from Jim Brewer. "We knew we had somebody to take charge . . . to bust his tail for us."

"He's the quarterback, and I'm glad to see him come back."

Wills, the 36-year-old shortstop who stole 104 bases for the Dodgers seven years ago and led them to three pennants before being dealt to Pittsburgh in 1967, has batted .350 since rejoining his old mates on June 11. He has hit safely in each of the last 10 games.

Trailing 4-3 in the ninth, the Cubs swept past Pittsburgh on a pinch single by Bill Heath, a bunt single by Don Kessinger, Billy Williams' run-scoring single and Ron Santo's sacrifice fly.

Astros Hit .500 Mark Downing Giants 9-3

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros finally hit the respectability mark — a .500 average — Monday night, winning their 36th game of the season against 36 losses.

Big Don Wilson fired a six-hitter and Denis Menke and Gary Geiger knocked in three runs apiece as the Astros whipped the San Francisco Giants 9-3.

Wilson, who now has a 7-5 record allowed three walks and struck out nine. Starter Ray Sadecki was charged with the loss and now stands 3-7.

The Giants started the scoring in the second inning when Dick Dietz rifled a two-run homer. It snapped a stretch in which the Astros had allowed no runs for 32 innings and just one in 36.

Houston snapped back in the third when Wilson and Leon McCaskey scored on Menke's double. Menke then scored from second on a high bounce by Marty Martinez and put the Astros ahead 3-2.

In the fourth frame Curt Blefary walked, John Edwards singled and Wilson reached first on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Geiger's triple brought in three more Houston runs, and three Morgan singled Geiger home.

Santone May Post Fat Golf Purse

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The San Antonio Golf Association has endorsed a proposal by UniRoyal to sponsor the Texas Open next year and offer a $250,000 purse.

If UniRoyal does sponsor the tournament, the company would negotiate contracts with the Professional Golfers Association for a date.

Under the proposed plan, the SAGA would co-sponsor the tournament with UniRoyal and still raise a portion of the purse.

Log Of Wiretapped Clay Talk Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has admitted the FBI changed—without informing the Justice Department—recorded log of wiretapped conversations involving former heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay.

In disclosing this to Clay's attorneys, the department Monday contended it did not learn of the FBI action until June 13, several days after copies of what were purported to be the original logs were filed in U.S. District Court in Houston.

John S. Martin Jr. and Michael T. Epstein, who are handling the government's case against Clay, said the original record contained the notation "Sum up in memo."

But the hand-written phrase was blanked out on documents submitted to the court concerning a Sept. 4, 1964, telephone conversation between Clay and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

No reason was given for the omission. The FBI had no comment. And special FBI Agent Robert R. Nichols, who supervised the tap on King's telephone, claimed in an affidavit the notation was of no consequence.

"When I initially scanned this log," Nichols said, "I made the handwritten notation 'sum up in memo,' as a flag to myself to consider this as an item to be placed in memorandum form."

"Upon subsequent detailed review of the entire log and evaluation of its contents," he added, "I decided the substance of the information did not warrant the preparation of a memorandum."

As summarized in the record of the conversation which Nichols considered unimportant was one in which Clay advised King to "watch out for them whities."

Clay, sentenced to five years' imprisonment for refusing to join in the armed forces, is seeking further federal court hearings in an effort to overturn his conviction.

Yanks Sniff Title Hopes

Smelling a chance for the National Little League title, the Yankees took it out on the Braves, 15-0, Monday evening. They are scheduled to meet the Cards Thursday evening for the league leadership.

David Guinn held the Braves to four scattered hits while his mates were hammering Jim Zapp for 14 safeties, including three by Simmons and two each by Crittenden, Bradshaw, Boulloum, and a pair by himself. The Yankees are 13-3, the Braves 9-9. The box score:

Beall Calls For Baylor Backers To Be Together

WACO (AP) — Baylor's new head football coach is urging school supporters to stand united.

In a pamphlet mailed with ticket applications, Bill Beall said, "We cannot have any division among the Bear fans if we expect to succeed."

"There must be only one faction—the Baylor faction. A unified effort will get the job done."

"The primary aim of my staff and me is to give Baylor University a first class, winning football program. But it will take all of us (coaches, execs, fans, friends) pushing and pulling together with 100 per cent effort to reach this goal."

Beall came to Baylor from Louisiana State University, which beat the Bears 48-16 last year.

"If you can't beat 'em hire 'em," the pamphlet says.

Baylor was a divided camp when Beall arrived with numerous anti-and-pro John Bridgers camps on and off campus. Beall's statement in the pamphlet is an appeal for the divided ones to forget their differences.

Beall has made numerous changes, including the sprucing up of the athletic plant, changing the green-and-gold uniform to resemble the Green Bay Packers, and giving a new look to the Baylor Bear emblem which now snarls.

Rain Adds To Jitters

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Some of the world's top tennis stars faced jitters today at Wimbledon today after waiting 24 hours to get started. The players, keyed up for the opening of the world's premier tournament, sat around for hours in their dressing rooms Monday waiting for the rain to stop. It didn't—and the whole day's program was transferred to today. The fans wanted to see how the tension would affect some of the big duels in the first round. Arthur Ashe, the reigning U.S. Open champion from Richmond, Va., faced a tough encounter with Marty Riessen of Evans-ton, Ill. Ashe, who is seeded No. 5, has yet to prove that he has got over a bad spell of form which lasted throughout his tour of the Euro-

Cash, Price Pay Off For Tiger Victory

It might have looked like a big gamble, but Mayo Smith's parlay of Cash and Price paid off for the Detroit Tigers. That's Norm Cash and Jim Price, and they were heavily responsible for the Tigers' 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees. Most responsible, however, might have been Smith himself. It was the manager's maneuver that actually brought the Tigers the victory on a night when rain interfered with much of the schedule. In the American League, rain washed out Cleveland at Boston and Chicago at Seattle, leaving Baltimore to trim Washington 5-3 and California to top Minnesota 5-2.

Track Meet Due Saturday

Big Spring will host an area Texas Amateur Athletic Federation here this weekend. Garland Braun announced Tuesday. Last weekend at Fort Stockton, where he had taken a team to compete, Braun learned there was no meet scheduled in this area this week. Hence the Big Spring invitation. As many as 300 boys and girls—even more—could take part here. Competition for girls and boys will be in five divisions, said Braun—the juniors (under 11 years), juniors 12-13, intermediates 14-15, seniors, 16 and with high school eligibility. There will be an open division for those above that class, and the 100-yard, 220-yard dashes and the mile run will be the only events in this class. Competition will be at the Memorial Stadium with preliminaries from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and finals from 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The finals will carry a 50 and 25 cent admission charge.

Blew The Open Barber Confident He'll Win Next One

SHERMAN, Texas (AP)—Now that he's had time to do some pondering Miller Barber figures his U.S. Open experience wasn't so bad after all. He gained a nationally known name—"The Mysterious Mr. X"—and confidence that he can win the next big one. The 37-year-old Barber blew the Open in Houston to Orville Moody with a final round 78 after piling up a hefty three-shot 54-hole lead. He came off the course muttering "I could commit harikari." But Barber has been cheered up by some 500 Grayson County citizens who honored him with a day for bringing distinction and recognition to North Texas. Barber says "I'll be back." He says: "I have a new identity now with the Mister X tag dubbed on me by golf writers at Houston. They even had me on the scoreboard as 'Mister X.' For the first time in 10 years on the tour I could feel a gallery pulling for me to win. It's a great feeling, I'm just sorry that I let them down." Barber says his new "Mister X" identity has opened up dozens of new promotional avenues. "My partner here at Woodlawn Country Club in Sherman-Denison. White Hats Disbanded

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — The head of the White Hats, an organization formed by white citizens to protect their homes after a series of firebombings two years ago, says he has disbanded the controversial group.

Tony Levill, chairman of the group — officially known as the Committee of 10 Million — made the announcement Monday after Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott said State's Atty. Payton Berbling of Alexander County had agreed the White Hats should cease operations.

Firebombings and sniper fire have plagued Cairo from time to time for several months. State police have been assigned to patrol the Mississippi River community at the southern tip of Illinois.

Otepka Good Bet For $36,000 Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy, the Senate's No. 2 Democrat, and his allies in opposition to Otto F. Otepka's appointment to the Subversive Activities Control Board, have all but conceded their fight to block the nomination.

Kennedy said in advance of today's debate that he would speak out against Otepka's appointment to the $36,000-a-year job, but he knew of no organized effort to head off the nomination.

When the appointment was in the Senate Judiciary Committee, Kennedy attacked Otepka because he said he was supported by the John Birch Society and the Liberty Lobby, an ultra-conservative group.

The committee voted 12-3 to send the nomination to the floor with the majority report citing Otepka, who once was fired as a State Department security evaluator, as "a fine example of the best type of career civil servant."

Otepka was nominated by Nixon March 20 to fill out an unexpired term on the 5-member board that runs until August 9, 1970. However, his supporters expect he will win reappointment to a full term.

Former chief security evaluator for the State Department, Otepka has been a center of controversy since superiors accused him of unauthorized disclosure of confidential personnel files to the Senate internal security subcommittee. He was ordered dismissed in November, 1963, over strong subcommittee protests that the department was retaliating for Otepka's testimony charging lax security practices.

In December, 1967, after reviewing the case, the then Secretary of State Dean Rusk changed the dismissal order to demotion, transfer and reprimand.

Revenue Bond Voters Rule

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas voters who own no property can't be turned away from revenue bond elections, says Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr.

Dies said Monday a Supreme Court decision last week in a Louisiana case invalidates the Texas rule in revenue bond elections.

The decision does not extend to tax bond elections, he said, and those may still be limited to property owners.

The high court said a Louisiana law on municipal utility revenue bond elections violated the Constitution's equal protection clause because it excluded property-less voters who were substantially affected by the bonds.

Revenue bonds are backed by anticipated income from facilities to be built or expanded by the bonds, such as municipal water works or electrical systems. Tax bonds are secured by real property.

Dies is Texas' chief election officer and is responsible for making sure Texas' election laws operate uniformly.

Volunteers Call

Thanks All Who Helped In Search

To the Editor,
On May 20, our son Michael Hurst had a serious bicycle accident and was not found for eight hours.
During that period of time, friends, neighbors, and citizens of Big Spring helped in the search. Capt. Dugan of the police department, organized the search. Deputy Sheriff Owens offered the services of the Mounted Posse and the officials of Webb AFB alerted the Security Police and the Air Rescue Squadron. Dr. Black ministered to Mike when he was found and went to the hospital with him. The cooperation of everyone was tremendous. To everyone involved, we would like to thank you again.
When I learned the Air Evac aircraft was full and that I wasn't going to be able to go with Mike, there were offers from private citizens and Cosden to fly me to San Antonio. And I am deeply touched by the collection made by the police department for a pilot. As it turned out I did get on the Air Evac, and again, I say thank you.
The news coverage was accurate and unobtrusive, which I appreciate so much. We are happy to report that Mike is home and doing real well.
We have always thought Big Spring was a wonderful little city, and this certainly proves it.
