Flower Children 'Do Their Thing'

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Common, last year's haven for thousands of hippies and runaways, is just a quiet park in the center of the city this year, as the flower children have moved across the Charles River to "do their thing" in Cambridge.

Why have the flower children left the Common? One reason is a new set of city rules for the Common including a midnight-to-dawn curfew and a policy against amplified music in the park, plus an abundance of keep-off-the-grass signs.

A more hospitable atmosphere exists in Cambridge Common, where every Sunday afternoon the Cambridge Common Co-ordinating Committee sponsors a public get-together where the square, hip and passers-by can do their thing—usually to the accompaniment of a rock band.

Highland Terrier Attains Championship In 4 Months

Mary Jane Wright, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright, is contributing to the notion that this is the year of the youngsters for members of the Big Spring Kennel Club.

Mary Jane's Ch. Wigtown Lollipop, a West Highland White Terrier, has just finished her championship bid in short order.

Lollipop, a young bitch now nursing a litter whelped June 18 (and sired by the international champion and best of show winner, Monsieur aus der Pierlage, owned by Bergit Zakshewski of Gary, Ind.), finished her championship bid in four months at the age of only 14 months. She accumulated 17 points, two more than required by the American Kennel Club and included three

College Athletics Must Justify Role, Or Get Out

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Intercollegiate athletics had better be in the business of building character or get out entirely, the nation's college athletics directors were told Wednesday.

"Gentlemen, if you're just in show biz and just interested in the won-loss record, then you'd better get out of the university," was the admonition from Dr. Edwin Cady, professor of English literature at Indiana University and that school's faculty representative to the Big Ten Conference.

"If I had a coach," Cady added, "who sneeringly and cynically talked in a losing season about building character, I'd cut him down at the knees."

Cady addressed the closing session of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

It is the purpose of collegiate athletics which must be justified, Cady said, not the existence of big-time sports on the campus.

"Big-time intercollegiate athletics are in show business," Cady said. "The question is: Is this justification enough? The other question is whether intercollegiate athletics serves an educational purpose."

College sports have always been challenged on this basis, Cady said, "and the challenges are going to be much more radical; we'll have to justify our existence."

"If I were to stand up before my colleagues," said the former Fulbright fellow, "and make a rational justification for intercollegiate athletics, it would be very difficult."

"There is nothing, academically speaking, about intercollegiate athletics that is necessary for the functioning of a university."

"All you really need is a student body, faculty and the facilities for teaching. But it's like life. You really don't need a lot to live, strictly speaking, but is it living?"

"Intercollegiate athletics are a real and integral part of the campus community."

The oldest and most proud universities of Europe, Cady said, would be jealous if they knew how much money flows into large American state universities from legislatures, alumni and other sources.

There can be no doubt, he said, that athletic teams contribute significantly to this flow of income.

Kathy Bears Down To Conquer Jinx

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, the lioness of the women's professional golf tour, and Arnold Palmer have something in common.

One major title has eluded both of them.

For the aging general of Arnie's Army, it has been the PGA. For Kathy, it's the U.S. Open crown.

"I make stupid mistakes in the Open," Miss Whitworth said after a practice round for the four-day championship beginning today.

Kathy, the leading money winner since 1965, is making her 11th try for the Open, the most coveted title in women's golf.

"I'm a believer in jinxes," the rangy 29-year-old Texan said. "Maybe the Open is mine. I have trouble concentrating in this tournament, maybe because I want to win it so much."

Kathy has dominated the tour so far this year, winning five of 14 tournaments. Her $24,088 leads Carol Mann, Sandra Haynie and Shirley Englehorn in the major, four best of breed, two best of opposite sex to best of breed, and a variety of group seconds.

Included in Lollipop's major wins are Concho Kennel Club at San Angelo, Texas Kennel Club at Dallas, Salina (Kans.) Kennel Club, Hutchinson (Kans.) Kennel Club, Heart of Plains Kennel Club at Lubbock, and Rio Grande Kennel Club at Albuquerque, N.M.

Mary Jane qualifies as the youngest breeder in the Big Spring Kennel Club.

Among others in the Big Spring KC completing the AKC 15-point championship requirement recently were CH Hirlie's Juliana, a baset hound owned by Sgt. and Mrs. Phil Lang, and Ch. Jandy's Tuff Girl, a Brittany spaniel owned by Lt. and Mrs. Andy Hutter.

Orioles Eke Soph Victory

The Orioles eked out a 3-2 win over the Cubs in a Sophomore League game Wednesday evening. B. Truitt led the Cub batters, who out-hit the Orioles 6-3. For the Birds, however, Jerry Knoepfel got two timely hits. R. Shook was the winning pitcher, and R. Rubio took the loss. Both teams are now 4-3. The box score:

Scorpions Sting Colts By 11-7

The Scorpions stung the Colts 11-7 in an International League contest, but it took an eight-run sixth inning to do it. R. James tied it with a run-scoring single and T. Hubbard tripled to bring in three runs and put the Scorpions ahead. Darrell Jacobson, relieving D. Baker in the bottom of the second, chalked up 11 strikeouts. The box score:

Poss Paces Club To Cage Victory

Team No. 8 clipped Team No. 3 by an 83-61 count in the Citywide Recreation Basketball league Wednesday evening. Delnor Poss set the pace with 24 points for the winners, while Tommy Butler hooped 25 for the opposition.

Today's games include one at 7 p.m. for No. 8 and No. 1, and at 8 p.m. No. 3 vs. No. 5.

Star Wants Rule Change

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Pancho Gonzalez, his 41-year-old-bones aching, said today that tennis matches are getting longer and somebody ought to do something about it. "It's time they started play at Wimbledon at noon instead of 2 p.m.," said the Los Angeles veteran. "And they ought to consider not starting any matches after 5 p.m. — in case the light fails."

Gonzalez had these problems on his mind after winning the longest match in Wimbledon's 92-year-old history. He defeated Charlie Pasarell of San Francisco, 2-2, 1-6, 14-11, 9-7 in a classic duel that started Tuesday, was called because of darkness after two sets, and continued Wednesday before 15,000 excited fans on the center court. "The fact is that competition is getting tougher all the time," Gonzalez said. "Long matches like this are going to become more frequent in future. That's why I think Wimbledon officials should consider revising their schedule."

Gonzalez admitted he was angry the previous night when he appeared three times against the light but had to play through the second set. Pasarell agreed the light was bad.

The Gonzalez-Pasarell marathon was not the only long match. In the first two days of the Wimbledon tournament there have been 14 sets lasting more than 20 games.

San Smith, U.S. Davis Cupper from Los Angeles, lost the first set 20-22 before overcom-

Major And Minor Mamas Play Friday

The Major League Mothers will square off against the Minor League Mothers at the National Little League Park Friday evening.

The mamas will come wildly costumed and determined to show they can wield a baseball bat like it was a skillet. The contest will follow the regular Little League game and estimated time is around 9 to 9:30 o'clock.

Indians Walk To Win Over Bosox

The two Boston pitchers issued four consecutive bases-loaded walks Wednesday night that helped Cleveland to a 7-3 victory after the Red Sox won the afternoon portion of a day-night doubleheader 3-1.

Hawks Sting Cabots, 13-6

The Hawks of the American Little League used an 11-hit barrage to down the Cabots 13-6 Wednesday. J. Shanks went three for four in the winning effort, while C. Thomas had two for four for the losers.

Persistent Pancho

Veteran Pancho Gonzalez, right, and Charles Pasarell shake hands at the net after Gonzalez defeated his younger opponent in Wednesday singles match of Wimbledon Open lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon, England. Gonzalez won, 2-2, 1-6, 14-11, 9-7 in a grueling match. Gonzalez plays out of Los Angeles and Pasarell out of Puerto Rico.

Bunn And King Win 3 Rounds

Stewart Bunn and Karen King stroked their way to the quarterfinals of the Highway 80 tennis tournament at Odessa before being ousted in Wednesday play.

Stewart edged Craig Hubbard, Midland, and Bill Manning, Amarillo, before he was finally taken out by Gary Gurton, El Paso in the third round in a hotly contested match, 7-5, 6-2.

Odessan Wins Second Round

MARFA, Tex. (AP) — Averaging 58.3 miles per hour, Wallace Scott of Odessa, Tex., won the second round of the National Soaring Championships Wednesday.

Scott sailed to victory on a speed triangle course from Marfa to Pecos to Van Horn to Marfa. There are 82 entries in the event which is sponsored by the Soaring Society of America. Other top finishers in the second day of competition included John Brittingham of Ranah, Colo., in second place with 54.8 m.p.h. and Ross Brighen of Adelanto, Calif., and Ben Greene of Elizabeth Town, N.C., tied for third with an average of 50.3 m.p.h.

Lions Nip Wildcats

The Lions had one more fatter inning than the Wildcats and thus captured a National Little League scoring marathon 13-12 Wednesday evening.

ADAM POWELL'S FAVORITE SONG IS A ROUSING GOSPEL TUNE THAT GOES:

'Oh Happy Day—Jesus Has Washed My Sins Away'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell's favorite song these days is the rousing gospel tune "Oh Happy Day."

He leaned back in his chair in his congressional office Wednesday and sang a bit of it. "Oh Happy Day! Jesus washed my sins away!"

It was his first visit to the House since the Supreme Court ruled last week he never should have been excluded from the 90th Congress, and he was in an exalted mood.

"I'm on cloud nine," he said. "My lawyers are on cloud nine. If they ever come down we'll decide what to do next."

What Powell might do next has House leaders on edge. They don't like to imagine the consequences if he presses for back pay or restoration of his congressional seniority and the prerogatives that go with it.

The pay issue will have to be settled by the courts if Powell decides to pursue it. He regards the seniority dispute as already settled.

"That's what the Supreme Court decision meant," he said. "The seniority chain that was broken when the one link of the 90th Congress was taken out has been restored by the court."

If the House leaders accepted Powell's interpretation they would have to deal with the problem of his lost chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee. There is little chance of his getting it back, but to deny it to him is actually the senior member is to question the sanctity of the seniority system.

For the moment, however, these matters are of no great concern to Powell.

"The landmark decision of the court is the real victory," he said. "The rest is inconsequential. The history books may try to make me out a scoundrel but they'll have to put this in too."

Powell, who has been an infrequent visitor to the House this year, indicated he has no plans to change his ways. "I'm a part-time Congressman because I'm a part-time paid Congressman," he said, referring to the $25,000 the House fined him as a condition for seating him in this session.

Even if he should press his claim for back pay and win, he said, he would not keep any of the money. "I'd give it all to my lawyers," he said, "because they have all served without fee."

Powell delivered scores of addresses to college groups last year at an average fee of $1,750 each. He is already lining up speaking engagements for the next academic year. But now his price is up to $2,500 to $3,000 and he has acquired a professional booking agent.

Powell's mood was much more solemn shortly before he talked to newsmen in his office. The first anyone knew he was in town was when he appeared suddenly in the Capitol steps carrying a large Bible to take part in an anti-Vietnam war demonstration by a Quaker group.

With bowed head and closed eyes he led a Quaker prayer of meditation and then delivered a short prayer that concluded the demonstration.

Parking Lot Work Starts

Under clear skies and in 100 degree-plus weather, city workmen this week began grading the downtown parking lot on the site of the old Crawford Hotel in preparation for the paving which has been delayed two months by heavy rains.

Curbing was poured in April, but heavy rains have delayed the paving by keeping city crews busy with routine maintenance work, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works.

The parking lot will have 55 parking spaces and a pavilion, and should be available to the public about July 8, Lillard said.

Four Involved In Car Wreck

Cars driven by David Allan Roman, 501 Nolan, and Tranquilina Rocha, 606 NE 9th, collided at Fourth and Nolan Wednesday, causing Roman's car to careen into one waiting to turn and then into another one parked. The parked car belonged to Larry A. Smith, 2601 Larry, while David Grady Hanson was driving the car waiting to turn. No injuries were reported.

Police also investigated a minor accident on IS 20 involving a car driven by William Perkins, Odessa, and another, owned by himself, he was towing.

A LOVELIER YOU

Pretty Feet Step Out For Sandal Season

By MARY SUE MILLER
If a lovely is on her toes, she's giving thought to her feet. The barefoot and open sandal season is upon us. Sidewalk and sightseeing sizzle is around the bend. The idea of stepping out with unlovely, uncomfortable feet is absolutely cringe-making. Let's not!

A new concept of foot care beautifies while it treats the feet. It starts at bath time with a cream of pumice, fluffy as a soufflé. You simple dot it on discolorations and rough spots and then massage until dead skin sloughs off. After that you take a touchstone, a "gritty" sponge made in Holland, into the tub. Let it float on the water to wet its natural seaweed content; rub it over a cake of soap and go over the stubborn, tough callused areas. Once out of the tub, dry the feet briskly and massage from heel to toe with a cooling, greaseless cream that keeps the feet dry and deodorized. Used night and morning, the finish builds to become positively silky. Nothing more is needed for a pretty pair of understanders but a thorough weekly pedicure. Except, perhaps, a refresher spray. A quart night through your stockings dries, cools and revitalizes hot, tired feet in the midst of the steamiest kind of trek. Now, for feet's sake, can you think of a reason to hobble when you can skip? LEGLINE TRIMMERS If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new leaflet, "Legline Trimmers," which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller, in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long-sleeved envelope and ten cents in coin.

MISS LINDA CRAWFORD

Scholarship Winner Will Study Foods

By RHODA LEMONS

"I will use my scholarship to study food and nutrition at Texas Tech in 1970," said Miss Linda Crawford, who recently won a $500 scholarship at the state 4-H Roundup at College Station.

More than 20,000 girls in Texas are enrolled in 4-H food and nutrition projects, and 90 girls in Howard County have participated on the county level and in project work.

Applicants in the Texas 4-H food show must enter competition in one of four groups: milk, bread and cereal, fruit and vegetable and meats. The contestant must plan the menu, and the food, and emphasizing the category she has entered. She must set the table appropriately for the type of meal being served. She then is quizzed by the judges on her knowledge of the nutritional value of the food group she has selected.

and green. She used matching floral napkins and stainless-steel flatware.

The judges questioned her on the contribution milk makes to the diet; how many servings each age group should have per day and how she prepared her dish.

Another contestant became so nervous that after preparing her recipe, she dropped the dish and spilled it over the floor. The judges allowed her to fix another from the same recipe. She did, and was declared another scholarship winner.

Four scholarships of $500 each were awarded by the Fant Milling Company. There were 12 contestants in each food group.

In the 4-H club programs, the younger girls are taught simple recipes and work with leaders who guide them in learning about fundamental nutritional values. Leaders usually work with small groups of girls. Now 17, Linda began her 4-H club work at the age of 10.

As the girls progress, studies involve more than cooking. They study nutrition, the science of food preparation, and conduct various experiments (such as why leveling agents work) and learn to be smart shoppers. They learn to differentiate between grades of food by comparison shopping, and they learn menu planning for nutritional adequacies, flavors and textures.

The girls are encouraged to put this knowledge into practice, and as they mature they choose the right foods for health and growth. They develop special projects and by study and applied methods, set up goals.

They learn simple table settings and as they progress, more elaborate settings for family dinners, parties and teas. There are programs on learning to be a gracious hostess and how to be well-mannered in a receiving line.

Older girls learn nutritional values of foods, menu planning, and preparation and serving of food. By this time, she usually does it for a grateful mother and enthusiastic family.

Listed below is Linda's prizewinning recipe:

ENCHILADA CASSEROLE

1 1/2 lbs ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion

1 tsp salt
1 10-oz. can cream of chicken soup
1 10-oz. can cream of mushroom soup
2 tbsps. chopped green chilies
1/2 cup enchilada sauce
10 tortillas
3/4 lb grated cheese

Combine ground beef, onion and salt in heavy skillet. Cook over medium heat until redness leaves meat. Add soups and enchilada sauce. Cook until heated through. Cut each tortilla into quarters. Alternate the tortillas and meat mixture with the cheese in a three-quart baking dish, reserving one cup of cheese to sprinkle on top. Bake at 300 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves eight.

Mushroom Omelet

Perfect omelets are hard to learn to make, but with the new mixes and a little practice, most cooks can master the art to "perfection." Delight your Sunday brunch crowd with egg cookery good enough for a chef.

New Mixes Offer Secret For Perfect, Fast Omelet

Almost anyone can make a good omelet but the "perfect" one that looks as though a master chef had prepared it is the result of experience and a few simple tricks. The home economists have outlined the steps for making the "perfect" omelet using the company's new instant omelet mixes. These come in four varieties — mushroom, ham, western and cheese.

The secret of good egg cookery is moderate to low heat, when the mixture no longer sizzles but the "perfect" evaporates. Add butter or margarine until it sizzles. Four part flows under and cooks quickly. The omelet is done when the mixture no longer runs freely.

Dairy Month Indicates Milk Intake

June is dairy month, and milk in 1968 was a bargain in terms of its real cost. Twenty years ago, an hour's wages could buy about six quarts of milk. In 1968 an hour's wages could buy more than 11 quarts.

Sales of lowfat milk products in 1968 increased nearly 16 per cent from the previous year, the third in a row that gains were more than 10 per cent. Total sales of fluid milk products gained slightly in 1968 over 1967. Dairy products accounted for $12.9 billion, or 16 per cent of the total value of food industry shipments in 1967.

In 1968, milk production was the lowest since 1952, although dairy farmers' cash receipts from milk sold to processors were $224 million more in 1968 than in 1967.

There are 365 thousands of milk cows in Texas with a monetary value of cows and heifers estimated at $72,930, and the milk production per million pounds is 2,982. The average production per cow is 8,170 pounds, and the cash farm income from milk is valued at $183,660. The percentage of farm income in Texas from milk is 6.8 per cent.

Milk Products Make Delicious Soups, Stews During Dairy Month

Milk soups can be made with a variety of vegetables, used singly or in combinations. Examples are: asparagus, beans, cauliflower, celery, corn, onions, peas, potatoes, spinach, tomatoes, turnips. Chowders made with oysters or other fish, ham, or chicken or turkey are additional possibilities.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP

3/4 cups cooked or canned tomatoes
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. sugar, if desired
3 cups hot milk

Cook the tomatoes and onion together about 10 minutes. Press through a sieve. Melt the fat and blend in flour, salt, and sugar (if used). Gradually add sieved tomatoes. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Gradually add tomato mixture to milk, stirring constantly. Heat to serving temperature. Serve at once.

Makes six servings. One-half cup milk per serving.

OYSTER STEW

1 pint oysters
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 quart hot milk
1 tsp. salt
Paprika

Look over the oysters and take out any bits of shell. Melt the fat, add the oysters and their liquid, and cook over low heat until the edges of the oysters begin to curl — about three minutes. Add milk and salt, and reheat. Sprinkle each serving with paprika.

Makes four servings. One cup milk per serving.

QUICK CARROT OR TURNIP SOUP

2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. flour
1 quart milk
1 cup grated raw carrots or turnips
Salt and pepper to taste

Cook the onion in the fat until lightly browned. Blend in the flour. Stir in milk, slowly. Add carrots or turnips, and salt and pepper.

Cook, stirring frequently, until the carrots or turnips are tender, about 10 minutes.

Makes four servings. One cup milk per serving.

CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP

1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. flour
2 cups milk
1/2 small onion, sliced
Salt and pepper to taste

Wash and chop mushrooms and cook a few minutes in the fat. Blend in flour.

Add milk slowly and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Heat the onion slices a few minutes in the soup, then remove them. Season, and heat just to boiling.

Makes four servings. One-half cup milk per serving.

Many vegetables taste all the better when cooked with milk — creamed, scalloped, or in dishes like corn pudding.

Here are several recipes for vegetable and milk specials.

CORN PUDDING

2 eggs, beaten
1 cup soft breadcrumbs
2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
2 cups milk
2 cups cook, drained whole-kernel corn
1/2 tsp. salt
Pepper

Combine eggs, breadcrumbs, fat, milk, and corn. Season with salt and pepper.

Pour into a greased baking dish, and set in a pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) 50 to 60 minutes or until set. Serve at once.

Makes six servings. One-third cup milk per serving.

5-MINUTE CABBAGE

3 cups milk
2 qt. shredded cabbage
3 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
1/2 tsp. salt
Pepper

Heat milk; add shredded cabbage and simmer for about two minutes. Mix flour with melted fat and add a little of the hot milk.

Stir this mixture into the cabbage and cook for three or four minutes, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and serve at once.

Makes six servings. One-half cup milk per serving.

Stew Chicken Until Tender And Juicy

Quick way to stew a tender chicken.

BROWN CHICKEN STEW

1 broiler-fryer (cut into serving-size pieces)
3 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
4 tbsps. butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped (2 small) onion
1 clove garlic (crushed)
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 cups boiling water

Wash and dry chicken. Mix together the flour, salt, paprika; coat chicken thoroughly with mixture. Melt one tablespoon of the butter in a 10-inch skillet; add onions; brown lightly and remove. Add remaining three tablespoons of butter to the skillet; when very hot add chicken; sprinkle chicken with any leftover flour mixture. Brown chicken on both sides. Add browned onion and garlic to skillet. Dissolve bouillon cubes in water and add. Cover and simmer until chicken is tender — about 30 to 45 minutes. Any small amount of fat may be skimmed off gravy if desired; it should be only slightly thickened. Makes four servings.

VELVETY SMOOTH
Treat guests to royal fondue cookery

Make Creamy, Cheese Fondue In Elegant Continental Manner

A fondue is fun to make — and fun to serve and eat, too. This is the continental secret being brought back by vacation travelers — and it also explains why fondue cookery is fast becoming a favorite of Americans.

A chafing dish is ideal for fondue cookery and service. However, don't let the lack of such equipment prevent you from trying it. A medium-size double broiler will serve the purpose nicely. But one point is all important: Remember to keep the fondue hot, until the last morsel is eaten.

The real basis for the excellence of the fondue is the cheese itself: Pasteurized process Gruyere (Pronounced Grew-yaire). Choice aged Swiss cheese is used in processing Gruyere cheese, and the result is a high quality nut-sweet cheese.

To make a fondue, first prepare the sauce in the chafing dish. Then, add the shredded cheese, stirring always in one direction until the mixture is smooth. If desired, add just a touch of white wine.

How do you eat a fondue? Traditionally, a long fork is used to dunk crusty pieces of French bread or toast chunks into the fondue, and then to deposit them on a small plate. Let your guests take turns at swirling the speared toast in the fondue, and helping themselves. But instruct them that it's important to keep the mixture always moving or swirling in only one direction.

GRUYERE CHEESE PARTY FONDUE

1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. white pepper
3 cups homogenized milk
6 cups (4 6-oz. packages or 24 1-oz. portions) Gruyere Cheese, shredded
2 tbsps. Sauterne wine, optional

Melt butter in chafing dish over hot water. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually stir in milk. Cook, stirring occasionally, until the mixture is smooth and thickened. Add shredded cheese. Stir slowly 30 to 40 minutes or until cheese is well-blended. Just before serving, add Sauterne wine and stir steadily in one direction until mixture is velvety. Serve accompanied by toasted buttered bread squares or toasted buttered half-slices of French bread. Provide guests with long-handled forks for dipping toast into fondue mixture. Keep mixture warm over gentle chafing dish heat.

A double broiler is fine for making one-half of the above recipe. Makes five cups Fondue or ten one-half cup servings.

Admission fees continue when Gov. vetoes bill

Veto Killed Bill To Stop Park Fee

When Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the one-year budget bill, he also killed the hopes of those who would like to see the admission fee to Big Spring State Park removed.

One of the riders on the budget bill was a proposal that the 50 cent per car admission fee to the local state park be abolished. A number of other smaller parks of the state were also included in the proposal.

State Rep. Temple Dickson, Sweetwater, introduced the proposal, along with several other representatives, in the dying days of the recent legislative session. Unable to get their measure through on special action, they hurriedly attached it as a rider to the budget bill. It was thus approved by the lawmakers, but since the governor blue-penciled the budget plan, the park proposal also dies.

Meantime, W. C. Wisenbaker, the park superintendent, has gone ahead and erected his long-awaited ticket booth at the FM-700 entrance to the park. It will be in use until further notice. It appears doubtful if the legislature will devote much time at the special session to anything but the budget tangle.

Therefore, there seems a good probability that if the admission fees to the state park are to be abolished, it will have to be ordered by the next regular legislative session.

The ticket booth, mostly glass, is a prefabricated structure. It has been on hand at the storage building in the park for some months, but Wisenbaker was waiting for orders to put it in use.

It is now firmly located on a concrete base and will replace the automobiles which part-time helpers at the park have been using as ticket stalls.

Rocks Pelt Fire Trucks In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A sniper shot at a fire chief's car and rocks and beer cans showered onto fire trucks Wednesday night in a predominantly Negro section of Northwest Dallas city firemen reported.

Police said there were no injuries or serious damage.

There was harmless gunfire and several trucks were damaged in the same neighborhood the night before.

Firemen were summoned by reports of flames at a drive-in food store and in two cars, plus a grass fire. They said firebombs started all the blazes.

At least one shot was fired at a district fire chief's car, a spokesman said, while the blazes were being brought under control. Policemen moved in quickly and they reported all was calm within minutes.

Trouble developed in the same vicinity a night earlier as pickets walked outside another food store. A leader said the pickets were protesting the fatal shooting of a man Sunday as he struggled with an employee of that store.

Pause During Rehearsals

Judi Francis, of Kingfisher, Miss Wool of Oklahoma, pauses for a brief rest during rehearsals for the Miss Wool of America Pageant in San Angelo, June 21. She is a recent graduate of Oklahoma State University and one of the 20 finalists in the pageant Thursday night.

20 In Final Wool Contest At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — "It's kind of a spooky feeling, knowing someone's entire life may be changed by your decision," said Gisele MacKenzie as she talked about the 20 girls vying tonight for the title of Miss Wool of America.

The Canadian-born star, along with Al Traina, publisher of Harper's Bazaar Magazine, and Elinor Simmons, designer for Malcolm Starr, will select the new wool ambassador during a nationally televised program. It is to be carried on a syndicated network serving 140 stations.

"The decision involves the total person—her aims and goals in life, as well as her charm and beauty," said Traina.

All three judges agreed the contestants have no trouble expressing their future plans.

"They're so much more grown up than I was at that age," commented Miss Simmons. "They're so intelligent and articulate."

Television personality Art Linkletter, taking a break in rehearsals for the colorful pageant he will host, added more praise to the contestants and talked about his work with youths.

"In college lectures and pageants such as this, I try to impress upon youths a philosophy of doing what they like to do. Real happiness comes from that kind of attitude," he said, "not from concentrating on being rich and powerful."

Academy Award-winning actress Joan Fontaine echoed sentiments of individualism for the younger generation. "My 21-year-old daughter thinks fashion is corrupt," said the star who will commentate when the Miss Wool contestant models the creation of world-famous designers tonight.

"She's a blue jeans girl and it's her own opinion."

Whichever girl is chosen, those who have been working with her this week have no doubt she will carry with her a favorable impression of American youth as she tours on behalf of the wool industry.

Led Back To Cell After Wedding

KOKOMO Ind. (AP) — Judge Robert Kinsey sentenced James Lenoir to 10 years in prison after Lenoir pleaded guilty to robbing a motel of about $200.

Then Judge Kinsey gave Lenoir permission to marry before leaving for Indiana State Prison, volunteered his courtroom for the ceremony when the sheriff balked at holding it in his jail, and waived the three-day waiting period for a marriage license.

Lenoir, 35, was wed Wednesday to Shirley Woodard in a five-minute ceremony performed by Justice of the Peace Venard Johnson. Lenoir was led back to his Howard County jail cell and today he leaves for prison.

Humphrey Urges 'Adult Education'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today proposed the federal government establish a national education trust fund and also suggested that education be elevated to a separate cabinet level office.

Humphrey said the Nixon administration has "placed a low priority on education and libraries" because it doesn't understand the importance of education in a democratic society.

"It is up to Congress to engage in some adult education and correct the mistake," Humphrey said in a prepared speech for the American Library Association convention.

The 1968 Democratic presidential candidate said the national education trust fund could be financed from federally owned oil shale deposits.

THIS THIEF FEARS NOT

LANCASTER, Tex. (AP) — A thief, possessing considerable irreverence and a terrible knowledge of gas gauges, presumably still is driving about with the automobile of Lancaster Police Chief Paul Bond.

Officers said the thief stole a car in Fort Worth Tuesday night but it ran out of gas in Lancaster.

He simply walked a block and drove away in Bond's unmarked sedan.

The chief said he heard the car start but disregarded the matter, believing it was only another driving it away for night patrol duty.

Two Twisters Take Swipe At Laredo

By The Associated Press

Twin tornadoes bounced through Laredo less than three hours apart Wednesday night, but they injured only two persons slightly and inflicted surprisingly small damage.

The twisters swooped into the Mexican border town while nasty thunderstorms belabored a broad stretch of Central Texas with occasionally heavy rain and hail.

This unruly weather developed as a new cool front tried to push past a ridge of high pressure in the Texas Panhandle, meeting a blast of hot air pushed into the state by strong south winds.

Initial inspection indicated no more than one house was unroofed in Laredo, although there was widespread damage to others. Unofficial estimates placed the property loss in Laredo at $16,000 to $21,000, and in Nuevo Laredo, across the Rio Grande in Mexico, at $5,000.

Fragments of glass cut one person as one of the tornadoes hit a small house, and a flying board struck another. Neither was kept in a hospital.

Police dispatcher H. Avalos said the two twisters followed almost parallel courses.

One whipped through the northeast part of Laredo and writhed on to wreck a marina and overturn a cabin cruiser and other boats at Lake Casablanca outside town. The other threw a punch at Nuevo Laredo and coursed on through the southeast part of Laredo.

The owner of the boat concession at Lake Casablanca, David Smith, said damage there amounted to about $3,000.

Knee deep water filled many Laredo streets as 2.02 inches of rain fell, the first 25 pouring down in five minutes after the initial tornado struck. Firemen rescued at least two motorists from stranded cars.

Water also covered US 59 for a time, slowing traffic to a crawl.

Lake Brownwood was a target for one of the heavier thunderstorms crusting from West Central Texas toward the east, and part of the same storm system rumbled through the area between Ballinger and Coleman.

For several hours the Weather Bureau posted a severe thunderstorm watch for 40 counties in a 120-mile wide sector centered on a line from San Angelo to 30 miles southeast of Waco.

As is often the case, Presidio in the Big Bend of far West Texas was the hottest spot in the nation, this time recording a high of 107 degrees.

The mercury climbed to 104 at Abilene and San Angelo, 101 at Abilene and Tyler, and 100 at Del Rio and Wink.

By early morning skies were clear over West Texas and it was partly cloudy in other sections. Brisk south winds still fanned much of the state.

Forecasters looked for the latest cool front to edge slowly into the Panhandle and exert little effect on the heat spell. Fresh thunderstorms were predicted by evening in the Panhandle along with thundershowers in parts of South Central and Southwest Texas.

The doctor said some people develop ulcers and perhaps your hair doesn't grow," explained Miss Sims, who found she was eating less and worrying more as she launched a modeling career.

"I was starving myself," she said. "I wanted high cheek bones. But I simply can't get them."

She gave up on high cheek bones and slicked her hair down close to her head, attached hairpieces and thus created her now famous skull look. She started eating again and gained 20 pounds which went unnoticed on her 5 foot 10 inch frame. She now weighs 135 pounds, and her hair is growing back.

In June, 1967, she came to New York to study design on a scholarship at the Fashion Institute of Technology. She inquired about the possibility of earning extra money and was introduced to a friend of a friend of a photographer. On her first assignment, she made the cover of The New York Times magazine.

After that she was flooded with requests. She signed with an agency and dropped out of school. Almost immediately she commanded $60-an-hour fees.

The first week she worked every day. Then for 10 weeks she didn't work at all.

"I was so worried but then I did a television commercial," she said. "Now I don't worry. I know always there is something around the corner."

Negro Model Made Skull Look Famous

NEW YORK (AP) — Naomi Sims, the 21-year-old Negro model who made famous the skull look, reached the top when she was losing her hair.

"The doctor said some people develop ulcers and perhaps your hair doesn't grow," explained Miss Sims, who found she was eating less and worrying more as she launched a modeling career.

"I was starving myself," she said. "I wanted high cheek bones. But I simply can't get them."

She gave up on high cheek bones and slicked her hair down close to her head, attached hairpieces and thus created her now famous skull look. She started eating again and gained 20 pounds which went unnoticed on her 5 foot 10 inch frame. She now weighs 135 pounds, and her hair is growing back.

In June, 1967, she came to New York to study design on a scholarship at the Fashion Institute of Technology. She inquired about the possibility of earning extra money and was introduced to a friend of a friend of a photographer. On her first assignment, she made the cover of The New York Times magazine.

After that she was flooded with requests. She signed with an agency and dropped out of school. Almost immediately she commanded $60-an-hour fees.

The first week she worked every day. Then for 10 weeks she didn't work at all.

"I was so worried but then I did a television commercial," she said. "Now I don't worry. I know always there is something around the corner."

TO MY READERS: Bill Gargan, a handsome, veteran Irish actor, was saved from fatal cancer of the larynx by surgery. To warn and possibly save others from a similar fate, he has written a book, "WHY ME?" published by Doubleday.

Bill is a friend of mine, and has given me permission to quote from his eloquent testimony against smoking. And I thank him.

"That so many people smoke to me is incredible. That so many children smoke is sickening. By the 12th grade, fully half of our children smoke. Yet it ought not surprise us. We older people like to think we just didn't know what we were doing when we began to smoke in our youth.

"Today, we have the surgeon general's report. Yes, there is a definite link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, a link between cigarette smoking and heart disease, between cigarette smoking and a dozen different ailments, any of which may kill someday.

"When we were young we kept saying we didn't have all the facts. Yet we called cigarettes 'coffin nails.' We knew. We laughed and curled a smoke ring in the sky.

"While talking to a group of teenagers in Anchorage, Alaska, I squirmed with guilt. I had smoked between two and three packs of cigarettes every day for 35 years. These kids, so beautiful, so sturdy and straight, God's images, all of them."

"My father and mother smoke," one child says, "Why can't I?"

"I'm sorry for your father and mother," I say.

"But I'm not worried about them. If they don't have the brains or determination to stop, I feel sorry for them. But I can't help them. It's YOU I'm worried about. If you haven't started smoking, I beg of you — DON'T. If you have started, I beg of you, STOP."

"But why," they ask. "It's 'in' to smoke. Everyone does it. We don't want to look like oddballs."

"Would you rather look like me?" I asked gently. And SOUND like me?"

Bill Gargan's once resonant booming voice has been reduced to a croak. But his message comes through loud and clear. Some readers letters follow:

DEAR ABBY: I want to give up smoking. Maybe I had better rephrase that. I HAVE to give up smoking.

My doctor (who is a personal friend of mine) told me yesterday that if I didn't quit smoking he did not want me to show my face in his office again. And he meant it, too.

Abby, he is a wonderful doctor and I have gone to him for nearly 15 years, and I do not want to start in with another doctor, but I am a three-pack-a-day woman, and it's not all that easy to stop. I have tried to cut down, and I have even tried to quit "cold turkey" and I put on 10 pounds in nearly as many days.

Is there a hypnotist I can go to? I admit, I haven't the willpower to quit on my own. I have heard this really works.

SHIRLEY

DEAR SHIRLEY: The American Cancer society has the word on this. And the word from them is "NIX."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
