NEEDLES

No Longer Has Texas Competition

DALLAS (AP) — Rejoice, Needles, Calif. Your biggest competition is due to vanish.

For years, Needles of Presidio, Tex., have more or less shared a stranglehold on the nation's hottest daily weather reporting, popping up on telecasts across the country.

But the Weather Bureau reported Monday that Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harper retired today as weather observers at Presidio after 26 years.

Reports from the area will come after that from Marfa, 2,000 feet higher than Presidio and consequently cooler. It is 59 miles farther north, too.

Despite its usual blistering temperatures, Presidio people don't complain about discomfort. For while the temperature does get up there the humidity doesn't. It sometimes dips as low as 5. Besides, temperatures drop sharply when the sun goes down.

Some places in California and Arizona "could skin us alive every day," says Harper, if they had reporting stations.

Highest temperature ever recorded in Presidio was 117 degrees. But it is not a state record, which goes to Rio Grande City with 123.

Presidio del Norte de la Junta was established about four miles west of the present town by the Spaniards in 1759.

The first Anglo settler was Ben Leaton, who took over the old fort in August, 1848.

Most of the homes are made of adobe, an excellent insulating material.

During World War II, the government decided it needed a weather reporting station on the Mexican border between Del Rio and El Paso, about 350 miles apart by road and nearly twice that by river. The Harpers agreed to become the weather observers.

Fireworks Ban

Exploding fireworks inside the city limits is in violation of a city ordinance according to Police Chief Jay Banks, and parents are held responsible for their children's actions.

"This is our most flagrantly violated ordinance," Banks said, "and we investigate every report." Juveniles are referred to Keith Jones, juvenile officer, and adults are charged in corporation court with violating the ordinance, according to Banks.

Truth In Lending

WASHINGTON (AP) —The truth in lending law takes effect today, enabling consumers to know at the outset how much credit will cost.

It won't make credit any cheaper, but it will more easily allow borrowers to shop around for the best terms.

For the first time, under the law signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson last year, lenders will be required to furnish potential borrowers with complete information on how much credit will cost, with a realistic statement of the interest charge.

'Silent Dialing'

HOUSTON (AP) — Telephone customers in one area of the city received notices recently they were to be blessed with "silent dialing."

Sure, enough, when the phone company's $4 million computerized switching system was turned on, the customers got silence. Dead silence.

Workers scrambled around Monday correcting what company officials blushing called a "computer programming faux pas."

"You will notice few slight differences when you dial a call," the notice read.

"We got four lines and all of them went dead for about a half hour," one businessman said.

"It tested out perfectly," were the famous last words of a Southwestern Bell Telephone spokesman.

And while the modern marvel is being debugged, some customers are being plugged back into the noisy old system — which works.

Cigarette Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeon Gen. William H. Stewart said today it is indefensible for manufacturers to advertise cigarettes "in a context of happiness, vigor, success and well-being" without giving even a hint that they can be deadly.

"The fact is," Stewart said, "that the cigarette advertiser is advertising a dangerous and habit-forming product as though it were perfectly innocent and perfectly harmless."

Stewart endorsed a proposed Federal Trade Commission regulation that would require manufacturers to warn in all their advertising that smoking may cause death from cancer, coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis, pulmonary emphysema and other diseases.

Uncertain Future For Nixon's Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting after a last-minute plea from President Nixon and under strong pressure from leaders of both parties, the House has narrowly passed a bill to extend the income surtax.

The bill approved Monday 210-205, now goes to the Senate where leaders predict consideration may take three months.

Technically the 10 per cent surtax expired at midnight, only hours after the House action.

However, Congress already has voted to continue the withholding rates which include the surcharge through July, and the tax itself can later be extended retroactive to July 1. Senate leaders have said a further 60-day extension of the withholding rates probably will be sought.

Nixon wants the surtax to continue at a 10 per cent rate through December and then at 5 per cent until the end of next June.

Opposition to the bill has come mainly from congressmen who fear any chance for far-reaching tax reforms will be lost if not included in the surtax extension measure.

Just before the close of House debate Monday night, Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford read a letter from the President aimed at swaying such opponents.

"I want to remove any vestige of doubt as to the commitment of this administration to prompt and meaningful tax reform," Nixon said.

Earlier in the day Nixon met at the White House with 28 Republican congressmen, most of them opponents of the surtax extension. All but 10 of these ended up voting for the bill.

In all, Nixon got 154 House Republican votes while 26 GOP members opposed it.

Joining Nixon and Ford in the heavy last-minute pressure for passage were House Speaker John W. McCormack, Democratic Leader Carl Albert, Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., who handled the measure. Boggs said "something approaching panic" could occur if inflation is not curbed soon.

ONE DIES, OTHER COLLAPSES Two Elderly Sisters Wander For Three Days

CLERMONT, Fla. (AP) — For nearly 2½ days, sisters Katherine and Louisa Freidrich drove through a maze of roads in rural Lake County, trying to find their way home.

They began their journey last Friday. Today, Louisa was in a local hospital. Katherine was dead.

Police said the two elderly schoolteacher spinsters drove almost continuously from Friday afternoon until Sunday night, trying to get home from Tavares, 20 miles away.

Sunday night, they turned onto a dirt road that took them into a vast orange grove where their 1966 Plymouth became mired in the sandy soil.

A power company crew Monday found Katherine, 80, dying in the hot sun of heat and exhaustion. Five hours later, searchers found Louisa, 84, lying in the shade, asleep, a half mile from the car.

Exhausted and incoherent, Louisa was rushed to a Clermont hospital in the same ambulance that had taken her sister's body away.

"It looks like they were too proud to stop and ask somebody to take them home," said Clermont police dispatcher A. B. Broyles.

"They just kept driving asking directions, and driving, but the more they drove, the more confused they became."

Louisa was recovering today but Broyles said she didn't recall too much after they turned into the orange grove.

Charles Installed Despite Bombings

CAERNARVON, Wales (AP) — Charles of Windsor, the next king of Britain, was installed as Prince of Wales today amid the rousing cheers of thousands—and the echoes of bombs apparently set off by Welsh extremists demanding independence.

Queen Elizabeth II placed the coronet on her 20-year-old son's head in the court of ancient Caernarvon Castle, handed him the mantle, ring, gold rod, sword and letters patent of his noble rights.

Two men died in the ceremony.

Charles in turn swore allegiance to the crown he some day will wear and pledged fealty, understanding and support for the principality of Wales.

The medieval pageantry of heralds, knights, banners, trumpets, carriages, bards and Druids, choristers, officialdom and foreign guests was carried out in warm sunshine and gentle breeze.

The precision of the lavish pomp and circumstances carried on despite a series of extremist tries to disrupt the ceremony. Two men died for their efforts.

The royal train stopped three times on its way from London overnight because of bomb scares on railway trestles.

NEARLY LYNCHED

One bomb exploded on the tracks near Caernarvon in front of the spot where the royal train had stopped. This shook the train and tore up a section of the track. Two youths were arrested.

Tricia Nixon, daughter of the President, was aboard a train which passed over the track before the bomb went off.

One young man threw an egg at the queen's carriage on her way to the castle. He was nearly lynched by the mob but was rescued by police. They were out in such force that any guess from 3,000 to 5,000 seemed to be close.

Earlier two Welshmen carrying explosives some distance from Caernarvon, but clearly for dangerous purposes, were caught in their own trap. They blew themselves up by accident.

Despite all this the royal family—the queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and above all Prince Charles himself—went through the tedious but highly impressive ceremony with aplomb, smiles, waves of the hand and traditional calm for which they all have been trained.

SECRET LOCATION

The town of 9,200 swelled to a quarter of a million for the first such ceremony in 58 years, demonstrated with rousing cheers. Interspersed boos were drowned out.

Charles appeared for the solemn ceremony, which was watched by television viewers around the world, after spending the night in a secret, heavily guarded location somewhere in northwest Wales.

"Surrounded by nobles of the realm, Welsh leaders, foreign dignitaries and diplomats, Charles knelt in obeisance to his mother.

The heir to the throne then pledged:

"I, Charles, Prince of Wales, do become your liege man of life and limb and earthly worship, and faith and trust I will bear unto you to live and die against all manner of folks."

The queen then presented Charles to the people of Wales.

The town of Caernarvon with a population of only 9,200 swelled to a milling throng of a quarter of a million. The vast crowd waved a sea of Union Jacks, ignoring the Welsh nationalists.

The ceremony, conducted with true British pomp and precision, merely put the stamp on Charles' title. He has been using it since the age of 9 when the queen at Cardiff conferred it and told the Welsh people she would present him for investiture "when he is grown up."

Today Charles was formally accepted.

Only 4,000 chosen nobles and guests were able to squeeze into the castle courtyard, but Britain's television networks covered the entire event.

Charles is only the third prince to be invested in Wales and the first in 58 years. Edward VIII went through the ceremony in 1911, and Edward II endured it in 1301. Others have accepted the title in England.

Between 3,000 and 5,000 police and detectives from throughout the nation mounted the biggest security operation ever attempted in Britain for the protection of one person. People with business in the 13th century castle were searched repeatedly before being allowed inside.

Police said the explosion near the railroad tracks in Abernaw, 46 miles northeast of Caernarvon, apparently was aimed at blowing up local government buildings, but the incident heightened concern for the prince's safety.

BOMB CHECK

A police spokesman said the two men who were killed "were carrying explosives when they blew up. Their bodies were found behind the local government offices, one can assume they had gone there to blow them up."

The royal train carrying Charles, Queen Elizabeth and most of the royal family was halted for 50 minutes while police checked what appeared to be a bomb found under a railroad bridge further ahead on the train route. It was a dummy.

Signal wires and telephone cables along a stretch of the route between Aber and Bangor were cut, but an emergency crew quickly repaired the damage.

In Caernarvon, youngsters slept in the streets to be sure of a place near the castle entrance. Elderly housewives spent the night in canvas deck chairs along the route—fenced off by steel barricades—to be sure of a glimpse of the royal procession.

Trumpeters practiced up to the last minute, and mixed with their fanfares were the voices of a Welsh choir singing: "Among our ancient mountains and from our lovely vales, oh let the prayer re-echo, God bless the Prince of Wales!"

Special Election Affects Martin, Dawson Counties

AUSTIN (AP) — An election to fill the vacancy in the Texas House created by the resignation of Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews has been called by Gov. Preston Smith for July 22.

Pendleton was named last week to head the Texas liaison office in Washington.

If no runoff is needed, Pendleton's successor would serve the full 30-day special session Smith called for July 28.

Pendleton's district comprises Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Martin and Yoakum counties.

Nixons Feel Money Crunch

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon and Pat R. Nixon, his wife, hereafter called the mortgagors, join millions of Americans today in feeling the home financing crunch.

Their first due on the $100,000, 25-year mortgage they took out May 22 on a home they purchased Dec. 19.

The mortgagors, who also have a Washington residence, are paying 7½ per cent interest on the home loan from Greater Miami Federal Savings and Loan Association. That's less than in some areas of the country, but it's the going rate around Miami.

The Nixons paid $127,800 for the house at 516 Bay Lane, Key Biscayne, according to land records, so the mortgage is for 78 per cent of its value. Greater Miami normally loans up to 80 per cent for conventional mortgages.

The house, which was purchased from wealthy Cuban exile Manuel Arca Jr., is a rambling, pale-blue structure 200 feet from the shore of Biscayne Bay. It is surrounded by 10-foot-high hibiscus bushes and the street is blocked to public traffic by the Secret Service.

The mortgage on it isn't Nixon's only home finance headache—his taxes just went up, too.

The assessment on the house was $56,100 in 1968, but was increased in May to $93,070. The assessment on the house next door, which the Nixons also own, went from $60,650 to $75,860 as part of the pattern of skyrocketing Key Biscayne values.

The property tax bill this year on the two houses will be more than $3,700.

Midland, Odessa Press For New College Site

The sticky decision of locating the University of Texas of the Permian Basin today rested in the hands of the University Board of Regents who on Monday heard day-long testimony in behalf of various sites.

The situation boiled down to hot competition between Midland and Odessa. Midland, supported by several other towns, including Big Spring, argued for a 710-acre site between the competing cities, located on IS 20 just south of Terminal. This acreage has been offered free by Clarence Scharbauer of Midland.

Odessa proffered the regents at least 10 different sites, and spokesmen said they would provide the land, arrange for access roads and utilities.

All of these are within seven miles of Odessa, and are principally to the northeast, north and west. The Terminal site is 10

Terrorism, Violence Grow During Rockefeller's Visit

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina was under a state of siege today as terrorism and labor unrest continued to shake the nation during Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's fact-finding visit for President Nixon.

The government broadcast the state of siege declaration Monday night, two hours before a 24-hour nationwide general strike was scheduled to begin in protest against the New York governor's visit and the policies of President Juan Carlos Onganía's military regime.

Rockefeller flew to Haiti this morning after 35 hours in Argentina and talks with Onganía during the fourth leg of his mission to Latin America.

The general strike was called by the strong antigovernment faction of the General Labor Confederation (CGT), headed by printers union President Raimundo Ongaro. Union sources said Ongaro was arrested Monday.

Police closed the labor organization's headquarters Monday night, and a police official said only that the government had agreement, having been told by Sealy (a member of the College Coordinating Board which recommended various new institutions) that "it will be the Scharbauer tract or nothing." He said the violation of agreement came from Midland.

Midland's arguments during the morning were based largely on (1) the original intent to locate the college between the two cities, and (2) the Scharbauer site, by virtue of highways and geography, is the most accessible to all cities in the Permian Basin.

BIG SPRING VIEW

This view was supported by spokesman from Big Spring, McCamey and Stanton. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, said his institution was regarded as one of the major suppliers of students to the upper level college, and that if the new institution is close enough, more HCCJ graduates would be encouraged to attend. R. H. Weaver, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce education committee, cited other Big Spring interests — professional, teachers, military — who could commute if the new college is convenient.

"NOT ON PRAIRIE"

Odessa spokesman, led by State Rep. Ace Pickens, reviewed their long fight to elevate Odessa College (now a junior college) to a four-year institution, and contended that the new upper level college should be placed as near to Odessa College as possible, and also should be developed within a community, so that students and professors would be a part of such community.

"Don't put the college on the prairie and expect the town to grow to it," said Warren Burnett, Odessa attorney. "Put it in the proper community environment."

A number of cities backed Odessa, including Monahans, Pecos, Wink, Kermit and Denver City.

STATE NATIONAL BANK ROBBERY

Perjury Investigation Due

By BOB BRUCE ABILENE - The entire case against two men charged and convicted in the $12,000 robbery of the State National Bank in Big Spring Dec. 12, 1967, will be investigated from the standpoint of perjury, U.S. Attorney Eldon Mahon, of Fort Worth, said here today.

(Morrison) because of an argument — to get back against him," said McDonald. Morrison is serving that term in Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison.

The Moundsville, W. Va., inmate — himself facing 25 years on state robbery charges in West Virginia — said he and Morrison had fought over Morrison's wife and over money.

But McDonald admitted under cross-examination by Mahon that Morrison has friends who could harm him as a "squealer."

DEATHS

CLYDE E. THOMAS SR.

Clyde E. Thomas Sr. Dies, Longtime Attorney Here

Clyde Erwin Thomas Sr., 86, who came to Howard County as a young schoolmaster and then entered upon the practice of law for more than 50 years, died Monday at 2:45 p.m. after a lengthy illness.

Born in Bell County July 19, 1882, he came to Big Spring as a teacher in the newly formed Big Spring Independent School District and was moved up to principal of the high school May 25, 1906, when Prof. S. E. Thompson was named superintendent. A firm disciplinarian, Mr. Thomas found himself at loggerheads with one of the patrons before the year was out, but the board upheld him in issuing a two-weeks suspension to one of his boy pupils. He was made acting superintendent Sept. 10, 1908, when Supt. A. D. Ellis had to take leave for surgery.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the First United Methodist church, with the Rev. Leo Gee, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park, under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home. The remains will lie in state at the funeral home, but the casket will be closed at the church.

John E. Norris, Luther Farmer

John Everett Norris, 76, long-time farmer and rancher in the Luther community, died in a hospital here at 10:20 p.m. Monday after an illness of several months' duration.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Rev. Leslie Kelley, Vestalor Baptist pastor, officiating. The body will be taken to Athens where final rites will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in the New York Community Baptist Church, and burial in the cemetery there. The Rev. E. G. Newcomer, Ackerly, pastor of the Mt. Joy Baptist Church, will officiate.

Israeli Jet Fighters Hit Arab Bases

By The Associated Press

Israeli jet fighters bombed and strafed four Arab bases on Jordan's east bank at dawn and killed one Jordanian soldier, reports from Amman and Tel Aviv said today.

A Jordanian army spokesman said five planes attacked southern Shuneh and Wadi Shaib, 19 miles southwest of Amman and two miles east of the Allenby bridge, with rockets and machine guns.

He said one Arab soldier was killed and one civilian injured before Jordanian artillery "forced the jets to flee."

MANAGERS GATHER FOR FALL MERCHANDISE MEETING T.G. & Y. store heads also view displays by various suppliers

T.G. & Y. Managers Meeting For Fall Buying Talks

The second autumn buying & Y. Family Center in College Park Shopping Center and at & Y. stores in this district was underway today at the T. G. There were representatives from 14 stores under the charge of W. P. Campbell, Odessa, district supervisor.

Several major suppliers had their wares on display at Holiday Inn. Among these were distributors from Lubbock, Dallas, San Antonio and other points as far west as California. Big Spring was selected for the meeting because of its central location and the availability of facilities for showing the merchandise, according to Campbell.

SIGN-UP FOR WORKSHOP

Parents interested in enrolling their youngsters in the Children's Theatre Workshop, to be held during July at the YMCA, are urged to call Mrs. Joy Shaver, 267-7500, instructor for the classes, as soon as possible.

Sponsored by the Little Theatre of Big Spring, the program is geared toward youngsters between second grade and junior high school age. Highlight of the program will be a visit to the Midland children's theatre.

Library's New Home Assured

A telegram confirming the action of the General Services Agency in transferring title of the old Big Spring Post Office building to the Health, Education and Welfare Department has been received by County Judge Lee Porter. The telegram adds that the HEW will now transfer the title to the county for "educational and cultural uses."

The county proposes to transform the building into a new home for the county library. The telegram, announcing the decision of the GSA, was from Cong. Omar Burleson. It did not stipulate how soon the HEW would officially turn the property over to the county. There is $25,000 in this year's county budget earmarked for the start of renovation of the post office building to its new use. This is far from enough money to do the job, officials agree. However, additional funds could be made available in 1970.

The county made application for the old building when the post office was moved to its new home months ago.

Tires Stolen

Lloyd Cordell, No. 9 January Circle, told police four tires were taken from the front yard of his home Monday. Their value is undetermined.

Marilyn Shields Wins Contest

Marilyn Shields, 18, one-time Big Spring resident and granddaughter of A. E. Be Walker of 506 Bell Street, recently won first place in the State DECA Leadership Conference contest sponsored by the H&R Block Tax service, and with it a scholarship.

Now attending Southwest Texas Teachers College in San Marcos, Marilyn will use the scholarship at Sam Houston State College at Huntsville this fall.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mayron Shields. Her father teaches Law and Business at Southwest Texas State. He formerly was associated with the Big Spring public schools. Mrs. Shields is the former Cozarek Walker.

Enemy Pressure On Ben Het Eases

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty American armored vehicles smashed into North Vietnamese troops maneuvering around Tay Ninh City today and raked them for nearly three hours with thousands of rounds of machine gun fire, military spokesmen reported.

Meanwhile, the threat to Ben Het eased, but military spokesmen said U.S. intelligence detected a new buildup of North Vietnamese troops farther south along the Cambodian border.

Letters Likes 'Live Theatre'

To The Editor: Last weekend the Little Theatre of Big Spring presented a great evening of entertainment and there were empty seats — while in many homes there sat restless folks, and words of "what a dull place Big Spring is" were spoken. As I watched "Little Mary Sunshine" with its beautiful scenery, appropriate costumes, fine acting, delightful humor, and superb music, I could not help but feel sorry for all who missed this and other productions. Those in the Little Theatre stage these shows because they enjoy doing them and many more people would look forward to the next performance if they would go out once to see what enjoyment "live theatre" holds. To the Little Theatre directors I say "What's Next?" and "When?" I'll be there.

TAX RECOMMENDATIONS Smith Calls Special Session For July 28

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has called a special legislative session for July 28 to write a "two-year general appropriations bill," hoping the designation shuts off the possibility of another one-year bill.

Smith issued his proclamation Monday.

He vetoed the legislature's $2.8 billion one-year bill June 20. The legislature passed the one-year bill in an effort to avoid new taxes this year.

A special session may consider only subjects submitted by the governor. Smith has said he might submit other subjects if the legislature acts quickly on appropriations. One of the other subjects likely for such submission is a bill creating 27 new district courts. Smith vetoed that bill because it did not reach his desk until seven days after the session.

Smith told newsmen his proclamation binds the legislature to a two-year spending bill, but he said he might open up the call to a one-year bill if voters Aug. 5 say they want annual legislative sessions.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said last week it was questionable whether a governor could prevent the legislature from passing a one-year bill. He left open the possibility of a request for an attorney general's opinion.

Smith said he probably would make his tax recommendations the first way of the special session. They are expected to total more than $300 million.

When a newsman asked his reaction to a statement by Barnes that he does not discount the possibility the governor will recommend some type of state income tax, Smith slammed his hand on his desk. "I don't care what he said. I'm the one talking," he shouted.

He said any talk about his recommending income taxes is "so ridiculous it doesn't even warrant an answer."

Library Receives Two New Films

The Howard County Library has recently received two films which will be available to the public until Aug. 9.

"The Epic of Flight," containing documentary footage of historic flights, is a 50-minute, two-reel history of aviation from the Wright brothers to the modern air terminal, including the impetus of the world wars, early and present day commercial aviation, breaking the sound barrier, and development of the futuristic X-15, XB70 and SST aircraft.

The other film, a children's odyssey which runs 25 minutes, is a color production of the journey of a handcarved Indian in a canoe from Canada's northern forest downstream to the distant sea.

Siboney Adds Compression In Merger

Siboney Corporation has announced that it has signed a formal agreement for the acquisition of Compression, Inc. of Houston and expects that the transaction will be completed on or about July 1. Agreement in principle had previously been announced on this acquisition and the formal agreement, which calls for the issuance of 667,000 shares of Siboney Corporation Common Stock to Compression, Inc., has now been approved by the directors of both companies.

An affiliated company, Compression Fabricators, Inc., was recently merged into Compression, Inc. and the combined operations will operate as a division of Siboney Corporation and will engage in the petroleum industry, Henry W. Harding and Don G. Crawford, stockholders of Compression, Inc., will continue in a management capacity with Siboney Corporation.

Siboney Corporation, based in Dallas, is presently engaged in the manufacture and marketing of industrial and educational computers, plastic sheet, industrial lighting systems, teaching aids and asphalt products. It also holds oil and gas exploration permits covering 1,000,000 acres in the Sverdrup Basin of the Canadian Arctic Islands and in Hudson's Bay in Northern Canada.

Supporters Of Free Food Stamps Lose Close Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of a proposal to give free food stamps to impoverished families have lost a close fight in the Senate Agriculture Committee, but say they will carry the battle to the floor.

The committee rejected the proposal 7-5 Monday.

Supporters of the free food stamp proposal reportedly included Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D.; Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky.; Robert J. Dole, R-Kan.; Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., and James B. Allen D-Ala.

Talmadge had introduced a measure which would set $40 as the minimum monthly income at which the poor would have to pay to receive the stamps which can be traded for food at grocery stores.

This was only one of a stack of complex suggestions made to the committee which hopes to complete work this week on a bill to liberalize and broaden the food stamp program.

McGovern is cosponsor of a bill which would make free stamps available to families with monthly incomes less than $80.

President Nixon has proposed free food stamps for families with little or no income, roughly less than $30 a month.

The government in early March began an experimental program giving free food stamps to families with less than $30 monthly income in two South Carolina counties. This was a turnout in a long-standing government policy which required some payment from any families receiving the stamps.

During the past year the Agriculture Department had reduced the requirements for the extremely poor so that a family of four could pay $2 a month and receive stamps for $58 worth of food. But on a national average food-stamp recipients in all eligible income ranges receive an average of $10 in coupons for $6.

States now set their own guidelines for determining eligibility for the stamps, but the Senate committee reportedly has agreed to change this by giving the Agriculture Department authority to specify the requirements.

The committee also was said to have recommended increasing federal food stamp financing from the present $340 million annually to $1.5 billion by 1971. The Senate already has adopted

Merchants Seek Fund Pledges

Downtown merchants Monday decided to confirm money pledges before purchasing Christmas decorations.

Captains will contact individual stores, asking them to contribute an initial amount this year, ranging from $200-$10, to raise the estimated $6,000 needed for decorations. In coming years merchants will be asked to pay half their initial amount for a maintenance fund.

Foreman Electric, Odessa, one of the companies from whom decorations may be purchased, will be asked to continue the deadline for terminating its discount offer, which was Monday.

Same Rates

North Texas employers were given this reassurance today. Ellis Campbell Jr., district director for North Texas, said, "Since Congress Friday extended the present withholding rates and tables, including the tax surcharge, until July 31, the nation's 4 1/2 million employees will continue to use the same withholding rates and tables which are found in the employers tax guide, circular E, that was mailed last January."

a resolution authorizing $750 million to be spent on the stamps in the new fiscal year starting today.

The administration had proposed that $610 million be provided for the stamp program in the 1970 fiscal year.

A Devotional For The Day

The righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and shall trust in him; and all the upright in heart shall glory. (Psalm 64:10)
 PRAYER: O Lord, I would build my life on Jesus Christ, the one sure foundation. Through Him may the light shine in my life in the night as in the day. In His name I ask. Amen.
 (From the 'Upper Room')

Not Gone Completely To Pot

A recent compilation of "growth occupations" by the U.S. Department of Labor struck a nostalgic note. The elders can recall a question asked earlier in the century: Do you think the horseless carriage will ever replace the horse? Well, the horse business is doing very nicely. The nation now needs at least 600 horse-shoers a year in order to keep up with its horses. It is comforting to know, too, that teletypes and teleprinters have not done away with the railroad telegrapher. The nation needs 1,700 new Morse code telegraphers a year to keep up with the demand. This news reinforces the belief that this country hasn't gone completely to pot, yet.

Time To Go Slow

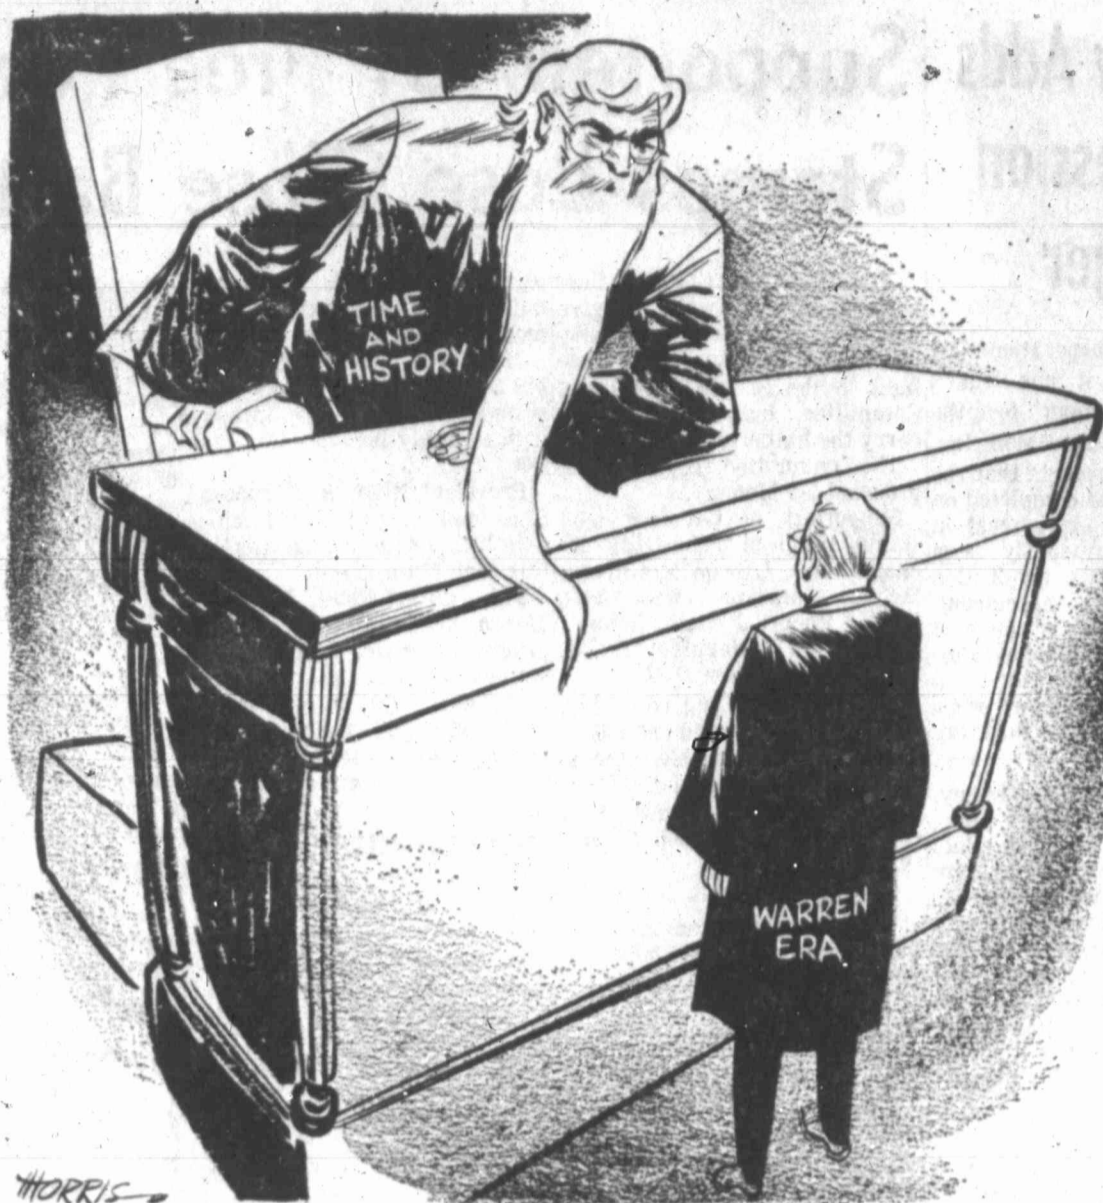

Despite the pleas of conservationists and the warnings of seismologists, the Atomic Energy Commission seems dead set on conducting a nuclear test on Amchitka Island in the Aleutians. A device in the megaton range is scheduled to be detonated underground in October.

The conservationists are pleading for the preservation of the island as a national wildlife refuge, a designation given it in 1913. They warn that the explosion and its after-effects may destroy the unique flora and fauna of the island.

The Committee for Environment Information has issued a statement warning that a tidal wave, known scientifically as tsunami, could be caused by a nuclear explosion triggering an earthquake in the earthquake-prone Aleutian Island chain. Displacement of the ocean floor during an earthquake in the Aleutian Islands has often caused tsunamis to race across the ocean up to 500 miles an hour, barely noticeable in the open sea, but cresting at the shoreline in waves as high as 55 feet which can take a devastating toll of life and property.

The Atomic Energy Commission should accept the recommendation of the Committee for Environment Information: Delay any nuclear test on Amchitka Island until research reveals with reasonable certainty that it would not trigger a devastating chain of events.

A Day To Remember

Observation of Independence Day seems to have degenerated into a mere guessing game on the part of the traffic safety experts on how many will be killed in car wrecks.

HERE AND THERE a half-hearted gesture hobbles up observing the day somewhat as it once was universally noted across the nation. Apparently the old July 4th hullabaloo has dried up.

This, to my thinking, is a sad sort of situation.

Maybe the old ways were corny. Perhaps the music, the noise, the oratory and all of the other elements which were used to build the Independence Day program were overdone.

BUT AT LEAST, for a few fleeting hours, we were reminded that in another day brave men with vision risked their necks that we might have the liberties and blessings which are ours.

It's too soon for the day to be forgotten and shunted into the growing pile of other memorable dates no longer noted.

Only 192 years have elapsed since the signing of the Declaration of Independence. This is a very short time measured against history and even shorter measured against the time man has been on this earth.

IN THESE 192 years many exciting things have happened to the little republic which was outgrowth of that declaration. A nation that had its beginning as a thinly populated strip along the Atlantic Coast has grown to cover the entire land from the Pacific to the Atlantic and from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande.

From a small, insecure collection of loosely allied colonial settlements, we have become the most powerful and wealthiest nation in all of the world, and in all history.

FROM A COUNTRY, which until 50 years ago chose to lead a life of aloofness ignoring the fortunes and fallings of its fellow countries across the seas, this nation has grown into one of the two most influential international powers on the face of the globe.

Therefore, when the day comes around on which the seeds were planted from which this mighty product has grown, it seems there should be some note made about it. Oratory, you say, is stupid. Flag waving, if we are to follow the apparently highly respected views of the hippie generation, is corny. Making any noise about the occasion is frowned on as tending to brand one as a nationalist.

VERY WELL. If these things are not the proper way to celebrate the Fourth, then let's create some other. Just let's not forget Independence Day and what it has provided for all of us.

The Change In The Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — The feast of love and harmony in the Supreme Court's white marble temple sent the justices off for the summer in a glow. The President's warm tribute and the retiring chief justice's frank response helped to erase some of the ugly stains of recent weeks.

Yet the court will return in October under a cloud. The damage done when Abe Fortas was forced to resign following the disclosure of his relationship with a financial operator in trouble with the law — the first time in the history of the court — cannot be quickly repaired.

ENDING A CAREER of 52 years of conscientious, dedicated public service, Earl Warren in his last weeks on the bench tried to set the court on a new course. He called on the brethren to accept the same conditions of disclosure and limitation of all outside financial interests as now apply to the entire federal judiciary. That he failed must have been for the retiring chief justice a keen disappointment.

Four of the sitting justices — Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall, William J. Brennan and Byron R. White — joined the chief in the disclosure agreement. Brennan got rid of his share in a real estate deal that was apparently designed as a tax shelter.

THE SITTING justices who did not sign were Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and John M. Harlan. Both Black, 83, and Harlan, 70, have a strong sense of the independence of the court. They are said to have felt it would be unfitting to enter into such an arrangement.

As for Douglas, his refusal has quite another look. He has had numerous outside activities, including highly paid lecture engagements across the country. He resigned his $12,000-a-year post with the Parvins Foundation in the aftermath of the uproar over Fortas' acceptance of a $20,000 fee from the Wolfson Foundation. The connection with Parvins, with its ties with gambling in Las Vegas, brought

Billy Graham
 The sermons our minister preaches are beyond me and I get absolutely nothing out of them. Should I change churches?
 G.M.
 I wouldn't recommend changing churches, for I have a feeling that your reaction to the sermons of a new minister would be similar. You see, to enjoy anything, we must have a lively interest in it. What are your true interests? Clothes? Art? Music? Sports? I dare say that if your minister spent twenty minutes talking on a subject close to your heart that you would give close attention.

Begin to school yourself in the Scriptures. Develop an ear and a pet for spiritual things. And pray also for the fullness of the Spirit of God in your life. "When He is come, He will reveal unto you all truth."

Having said that, I would like to remind all clergymen that Jesus was a simple preacher. His method of preaching was simple. He preached with authority. He was repetitive. James Denney the great Scottish theologian once said, "If you shoot over the heads of your hearers you don't prove anything except that you don't know how to shoot."

Investments In Core Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — The insurance industry was a bit chastened recently when it pledged another $1 billion of investments in the problem-ridden core cities, and received a listless, almost bored public response.

Just six or seven years ago, they recalled, such a commitment by big business was unheard of. Business could sympathize with social problems, it was popular to say, but its responsibilities were to stockholders.

NOW THE public had accepted casually the idea that $1 billion more—the second billion in less than two years—should be invested in low-cost housing and job producing projects in high-risk areas. The insurers were puzzled.

Perhaps they should not have been, for the responsibilities of business have expanded broadly since those days in the early 1960s when the head of a major corporation expressed irritation at the notion he should promote social change.

The changed attitudes were highlighted in September, 1967, when the big life insurers, who guard their bankbooks like maiden aunts with many heirs, announced they planned to spend $1 billion for slum housing and jobs.

THEIR REASONS were not altogether altruistic. The spending would produce returns, both financial and social, for the insurers have many millions of dollars of property at stake in the cities. The city was their responsibility.

The move was, however, a marked departure from previous "low-risk" investment policies, for the money was to be invested in projects that "because of location or risk, would not be financed under normal practices."

Now, less than two years later, $910 million has been committed or spent, and the insurers like to believe they have spurred and encouraged other businesses to make investments in the core cities.

Among the projects:
 — A loan of $660,000 to finance the construction of 100 multiple-family units for minority occupants in a blighted area of Winston-Salem, N.C. The units will be rented to low income and elderly persons at 40 per cent of market rent.

—AN INVESTMENT of $6 million in major improvements in a hospital in the heart of the Avondale area of Cincinnati, which was the scene of riots in 1967. About 400 jobs will be created.

—Investment of $120,000 to help build a new education facility for a Negro congregation in the core of Louisville. The money will enable the expansion of a day nursery and a program for youngsters.

Obviously the big insurers are happy with the way their investments are turning out, despite the high risks, because in April they announced that another $1 billion would be "diverted" to slums from the usual investment outlets.

As of now, $155 million of that second billion has been spent or committed, and the entire amount is expected to be invested at least as quickly as the first billion.

Space Age 'Scoops'

NEW YORK (AP) — Items from a space age newspaper in the year 2969:

NEW YORK — The insertion of a new spinal column into Roscoe J. Withers, 23rd, today on his 812th birthday made him the universe's champion receiver of human transplants with a total of 56 parts.

Here is a breakdown of his transplants: 9 hearts, 17 kidneys, 4 spinal columns, 16 livers, 8 brains and 2 ears.

"I hardly know who I am anymore," joked Withers, who sat up and began taking bending exercises immediately after the operation.

SEA OF TRANQUILITY, the Moon — A massive escape attempt by 3,869,512 convicts from this satellite's third largest prison was reported under control early today.

Some two million had surrendered. Guards reported that another million who tried to make a last-ditch stand in a series of nearby craters had been exterminated by aerial X-ray attack and added confidently:

"The rest will be rounded up shortly."

All of the fugitive convicts were desperate life-terminers, each of whom had already been imprisoned here for 200 years or more.

CAPITAL CITY, Saturn—John F. Nixon McKinley Roosevelt, 14th, hereditary ruler of the universe, announced today that the solar system's projected $897-billion budget for the year 2970 had been cut by $35 billion.

"We must cut every corner and tighten our belts," he said in a message to the Universal Congress, "in order to avoid a disastrous inflation."

BOSTON, MASS.—A convention of educators at Harvard University expressed alarm today at what they called "a growing tendency" among youths under the age of 200 to quit school.

"These dropouts already constitute a threat to an ordered society," a statement they adopted unanimously said. "In the world of the future any young man or woman who abandons the classroom before the age of 200 to 250 will find himself as a misfit inadequately prepared to hold a responsible job."

CANAL CITY, Mars—Authorities here quietly announced settlement of the long strike by the Interplanetary Federation of Sanitation Workers that has left the solar system littered with debris for the last 45 years.

Although terms of the compact were not disclosed, it was believed each of the 125 million sanitation workers received a $75 million wage hike. Their work week will be cut to five hours and they will be given seven-month vacations.

If Nixon Were In Traffic-

WASHINGTON — President Richard Nixon endeared himself to the American people last week when, after taking a helicopter ride over Washington and viewing morning rush hour traffic, he said on his return, "I'm glad that we don't have to drive to work."

Now there may be some embittered drivers who would compare that remark with Marie Antoinette's "Let them eat cake," but I think they're being unfair to Mr. Nixon. What he really meant to say was that under present conditions it would be impossible for him to be a commuter and also be President of the United States.

SUPPOSE PRESIDENT NIXON had to drive to the White House every day from his suburban home in Virginia.

It's 7 o'clock in the morning. Pat has just made the President his breakfast. "Who has the car pool this week?" she asks.

"Henry Kissinger," the President replies. "I'm Ziegler had it last week, and I've got it next week. It's a bore, but it's still better than taking three cars into work."

AT 7:15 a horn blows. That's Henry Goody. Dear. He'll be home between 6 and 9 o'clock, depending on how the traffic is.

Henry, Ron and the President start toward Washington on Shirley Highway. On the way into town, Kissinger briefs the President.

"You have a meeting with the congressional leaders at 8:30; then at 9:30 the Soviet ambassador is coming to your office; at 11 o'clock you're to greet the president of Zambia; and then you have a National Security Council meeting."

"Henry, stop talking and watch where you're driving."

FIFTEEN MINUTES later the cars are bumper to bumper. "What's the holdup?" the President wants to know.

"I think it's at Langley, sir. The CIA is changing shifts, and there seems to be a bottleneck."

"Ron, make a note to move the CIA to Maryland. Holy smoke, it's 8:15. I'll never make the meeting with the congressional leaders. Is the car phone working?"

"Yes, sir."

"CALL MY SECRETARY and tell her to cancel the first appointment. Wait a minute. There seems to be an accident up ahead. Cancel the Soviet ambassador, too."

AT 10 o'clock they're crawling toward Chain Bridge, still in Virginia.

"Henry, your car seems to be over heating. We had better stop and let it cool off."

"But you'll miss the president of Zambia."

"There's nothing I can do about it. Ron, call the White House and tell them to scratch the president of Zambia. Henry, why don't you try the Key Bridge? Maybe we can still make lunch with the Joint Chiefs."

AT NOON the President rushes into his office and starts reading his cables. An hour later he says, "Get me Kissinger."

"He's not in his office."

"Where is he?"

"He's still trying to find a parking space."

That evening after making the same trip home, the President opens the door of his house in Virginia at 7:45.

"Pat, why in blazes does Tricia have to park her car so she blocks the driveway?"

Mrs. Nixon says, "Well, you don't have to shout!"

Can A Prince And A Pauper Bargain?

WASHINGTON — Except for one added factor, this year's Congressional discussion of the $80 billion military budget is business-as-usual. The new element is that President Nixon hopes to have Soviet-American arms control talks in late summer.

EVERYBODY FAVORS less military spending. It goes without saying that we would like to buy national security as economically as possible. If we reduce and the Russians reduce, the balance of arms would remain unchanged. If we reduce and they reduce, both nations would recover funds for their clamoring consumers in the civilian sector.

Thus it would appear on the surface that the USA and USSR have a common interest. Why can't President Nixon and Premier Kosygin sit down on two ends of the same log and reach a bargain? Aside from the mutual distrust, there are reasons against optimism.

THE NIXON and the Kosygin governments would both like to transplant resources from the military to the civilian sector, but that desire is where the similarity ends. The President's country is a mesa of prosperity with a few patches of poverty. The Premier's country is a desert of poverty, repression and blight with a few green oases which are occupied by the political and military elite.

THE U.S. GOVERNMENT is trying to abolish poverty, but the Russian government has neither the means nor intention of doing so. The White House would thrive on social gains, but the Kremlin would tumble. The Kosygin regime much prefers technological advances to human uplift. The President is answerable to public opinion, but the Premier is subject only to the minimal pressures from his docile and ignorant people.

IN THE United States, though few people comprehend it, we can well afford both social improvement and military security. We can spend on reduction of poverty and on increase of weapons. What we can't afford is extravagance and waste. There is no need for "everybody" to have a new car and color television, pay raises such as Congress and the President have taken and Labor unions are demanding. There is no need for the luxury of private and public tourism, which includes plush travel by American families and interplanetary voyages which will follow the moon landing. We could cut down our high living and have all the necessities. The Russians don't have any such happy choice.

A NIXON-KOSYGIN log-sitting conference would not be a meeting of equals, for the USA is a prince and the USSR is a pauper. The prince ought to live more prudently, but he is not going to give up the protections that surround his privileges. The pauper ought to economize at home, but he is not going to give up his jealous and aggressive policies by which he hopes to overtake and surpass the prince.

People Boom

DAR ES SALAAM (AP) — Tanzania's population in August, 1967, was about 12,312,000 — approximately 80,650 more than the preliminary census figures had indicated.

To Your Good Health

Leg Ulcer That Refuses To Heal

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 68, quite active, and in reasonably good health, but I have varicose veins and an ulcer on one leg.

The doctor recommended raising the foot of my bed two inches. I have already been sleeping with it higher than that — eight to 10 inches, for several weeks.

Someone said this could lead to a cerebral hemorrhage or stroke, by so much blood reaching the brain. Is there any danger? My last count was 148-90. Is that good, fair, or bad, G.M.S.

Raising the foot of your bed will not lead to a brain hemorrhage. Raising your feet at night will be of some help to the circulation in your legs, because having varicose veins means that the "return circuit" of blood in your legs is much impaired. Circulation to the brain, however, will be essentially unchanged, both because of the type and length of blood vessels serving the brain and the fact that you do not have to contend with varicose veins there.

Your blood pressure is good for your age. As to the ulcer — it may take considerably longer than several weeks for the elevated leg procedure to show any effect. Indeed as long as the defective vein (or veins) remains, and you are as active as you are, there is not much chance that the ulcer will heal without more vigorous treatment.

Specifically, in ulcers of this type, usually the only good method of healing, and of preventing subsequent ulcers, is to eliminate the varicose veins by tying or stripping — whatever procedure your doctor chooses — and then applying local treatment to the ulcer. With improved blood circulation, the ulcer should heal readily.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "How To Tame Headaches," for which I enclose 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Also would you explain what a "massive coronary" is? My father passed away and they said that was the cause. The death certificate said "acute myocardial infarction." — Mrs. W.C.A.

Both terms mean approximately the same thing: a heart attack.

"Myocardial infarction" means the heart muscle was damaged by its circulation being shut off, doubtless by a clot plugging the artery. "Massive coronary" means the same thing, except that "massive" implies that a very large part of the heart muscle was involved.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Texas GOP Unified, Says New Chairman

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Republican Party, torn in recent weeks by factional disputes, has a new chairman who says the state GOP is now "more unified than perhaps in many years."

Election of William Steger as chairman and Mrs. Malcolm Milburn as vice chairman, Monday completed a major reshuffle of the party's top echelon.

Although the party announced Steger beat Millard Neptune of Austin by acclamation, an informed source said the vote was 33-30. Neptune made the motion to elect Steger "by acclamation."

Mrs. Milburn outpolled Mrs. John J. Andujar of Fort Worth for the vice chairmanship.

Steger succeeds Peter O'Donnell Jr. of Dallas as chairman, a post O'Donnell held for seven years before his election May 3 as GOP National Committeeman from Texas. O'Donnell won the national post in an emotional meeting of the executive committee in Dallas at which Committeeman Albert B. Fay was forced to resign.

Mrs. Milburn replaces Mrs. Bradley Streeter of Wichita Falls, who resigned.

Both Steger and Mrs. Milburn are veteran party workers, dating their active service from the 1952 Eisenhower campaign. Mrs. Milburn is president of the Texas Federation of Republican Women and Steger was party attorney. They will serve in their new posts until 1970.

Steger, 48, was the GOP candidate for governor in 1960 and ran for Congress in 1962. He was U.S. attorney for the eastern district of Texas from July, 1953, to September, 1959.

Mrs. Milburn was an unsuccessful candidate for the legislature in 1958.

"I think we are more unified than perhaps in many years," Steger said at a news conference. He said he is for open primaries and against hand-picking candidates and declared he hopes the party will not neglect other races next year in its concentrated effort to elect a U.S. senator.

U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough's Senate job is on the block in 1970.

Mrs. Milburn said the party has a good opportunity next year to increase its strength in the Texas House from nine to 30 and its Senate membership from two to four or five.

She said she thinks Paul Eggers is interested in another try for governor in 1970 or 1972. Eggers ran a strong race last year.

The committee also adopted several resolutions, including one praising Tower for his efforts in behalf of an Anti-Ballistic Missile (ABM) System.

Newsman obtained copies of minutes, marked "Confidential" of the May 3 meeting in which Fay resigned under pressure as national committeeman. According to the minutes, O'Donnell accused Fay of using his position to further "his own personal political ambitions," including a possible race for governor.

The minutes show Fay first recommended that both he and O'Donnell step down, with either Tower or one of Texas' three GOP congressmen becoming national committeeman. Subsequently he twice told questioners he would not resign, the minutes reflect. But later, the document says, Fay interrupted the discussion to read a letter of resignation, which he asked the committee not to accept. It was accepted, however, by a 43-21 vote.

A Year Ago, Teacher Says, He Was In 'Bad, Bad Shape'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A 44-year-old Indianapolis school teacher with a 17-year-old heart says he feels like "nothing's ever been changed."

America's longest surviving heart transplant recipient, Louis B. Russell Jr., is paneling his basement walls, bicycles regularly with his children, and recently climbed up on the roof of his two-story home for a repair job.

A year ago, he says, he was in "bad, bad shape."

That was before he entered the hospital at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond where on Aug. 24, 1968, he became the world's 34th heart transplant patient.

Russell resumed teaching industrial arts this spring.

He speaks before local clubs and statewide meetings in Indianapolis. He has made dozens of talks since last January and is booked through next February.

Russell said his checkup this month is an exploratory operation to see if what condition the heart is in.

After being considered for the transplant last year, Russell talked with his wife and four children.

He decided that "if I didn't survive, I'd be asleep. I wouldn't know anything about it. And if I did or didn't survive, look at the millions of people who would have helped. It was a chance for me and a chance for them. I knew they didn't do this unless you're dying."

Russell added: "I am a Christian. I believe the doctors had a lot to do with this, but I believe God had a lot to do with it, too."

A skillful bit of card reading by South enabled him to land a game contract which had been virtually thrust on him by his partner's enterprise during the auction.

North's jump raise to four diamonds may appear quite drastic to some, however it may be observed on his behalf that North had passed originally, and he hoped that his void in clubs would fit in well with his partner's hand. South's actual holding in that suit represented a duplication of values.

West opened his singleton spade and when North followed with the three, East played the queen. With the appearance of South's nine, all of the outstanding spades had been accounted for. East returned a small spade in order to retain control of the suit. Altho South was fully cognizant of the situation, he felt there was little to gain in trying to prevent an overruff, so he discarded a small heart and West trumped in with the jack of diamonds.

With the defensive book in, the shift was to the king of hearts and the ace was played from dummy as East followed with the jack. At this point, declarer has two hearts left in his hand for which he must find a parking place. In addition, he must pick up the adversely held king of trumps, all of which adds up to a stiff assignment.

West's heart play apparently marked him with the king-queen of that suit and declarer decided to allot him some club honors in addition to warrant his free bid. This would leave East with the king of diamonds as well as the ace-queen of spades as essential ingredients for his opening bid.

North's spade suit was the only available source for discards and South decided to work on its development immediately, since he did not have many entries to dummy. West's ruff with an honor in diamonds suggested that the latter was extremely short there as well as in spades—so, even the several trumps were still outstanding, declarer led the king of spades from dummy at trick four. East followed with a small spade and South discarded a heart. When West was unable to trump in, declarer was well on his way.

The jack of spades was played, East covered with the ace and South trumped with a small diamond. The six of clubs was ruffed in dummy and the established ten of spades was led allowing declarer to discard his last heart. The nine of diamonds was now put thru for a successful finesse, and a diamond continuation enabled South to trap East's king and claim the remaining tricks and a well earned game.

Burglars Enter Stovall Home

Burglars forced the lock on the door of a rural residence five miles north of Fairview sometime over the weekend and looted the deepfreeze of a quantity of beef and chicken. Nothing else appeared to have been disturbed.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said his office is investigating the case. The house is occupied by Mrs. W. C. Stovall.

Texas Tech Board Of Regents Named

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has named two former state officials, an ex-mayor and six business leaders to the Board of Regents of Texas Tech University.

Six current members of the nine-member board were removed by Smith's failure to reappoint them.

The governor was given the opportunity to appoint the full board by a bill passed by the 51st Legislature, reconstituting the board of directors as a "Board of Regents" and requiring the Senate to confirm its members.

Appointed were:

- R. Trent Campbell, Houston, vice chairman of the board of Mosher Steel Co.
- Frank Junell, president of Central National Bank, San Angelo.
- James J. Ling, Dallas, board chairman of Ling-Temco-Vought.
- Waggoner Carr, Austin lawyer and former state attorney general.
- Charles D. Mathews, president of Red Ball Motor Freight, Dallas.
- Former El Paso Mayor Judson Williams, president of Uptrends, Inc.
- Marshall Formby, Plainview, a lawyer and former state highway commissioner.
- Roy Furr Sr., Lubbock, president of Furr's, Inc., a chain of supermarkets and cafeterias.
- Retha R. Martin, Lubbock, board chairman of the Dunlap Co., a department store chain.
- Formby, Furr and Martin, all appointed to two-year terms, are the only holdovers from the old board.
- The six board members who were not reappointed are Alvin R. Allison, Levelland; Dr. Faldler Tamney, Dallas; Herbert Allen, Houston; C. A. Cash, Amarillo; Carl E. Riestle Jr., Houston and Harold Hinn, Dallas.
- Campbell, Junell and Ling were named to six-year terms. Carr, Mathews and Williams received four-year terms.
- Smith, of Lubbock, is a Tech alumnus.

Funds To Create Padre Seashore

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved final funds Monday to create the Padre Island National Seashore.

"This means the full 74-mile long Padre Island National Seashore is assured down to the Mansfield Cut," said Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex. Yarborough fought a long battle for creation of the Seashore.

Appropriations of $4,129,829 plus interest to cover the final judgment against the federal government for land taken for the seashore was approved by a 56 to 5 vote.

Yarborough said the seashore will be the longest national seashore in the country, including 100,000 acres of dry land in addition to tidal lands and tidal flats.

Cotton Pest Control Urged

Control of late season cotton pests such as boll weevils, tobacco budworms and bollworms can mean increased profit for growers, reports County Agent Paul Gross.

There are three basic approaches to boll weevil control: early season applications, in-season applications and diapause applications. For large populations of overwintered boll weevils, Gross recommends one or two insecticide applications just prior to the one-third grown square stage.

Earlier applications would be less effective since fewer weevils are present and damage is not significant until one-third grown squares are available for egg laying. Growers should use spot or strip spraying in large fields where overwintered boll weevils are found only in specific areas.

Effective in-season weevil control requires close field inspection so that applications begin before punctured square counts exceed 25 per cent. Larger populations are difficult to control, Gross explains.

Diapause boll weevil control can give satisfactory results through proper planning and total participation in a given area. Late summer and fall applications must be carefully timed and accurately applied, and early crop destruction and plow-up are important in Central and South Texas.

HENNING HANSEN

First Dane Solos Here

Air Cadet Henning Hansen became the first Danish student to solo a jet aircraft at Webb AFB. He arrived at Webb March 19 to begin Undergraduate Pilot Training under the auspices of the Military Assistance Program. Since that time he has completed the course in the T-41 aircraft at Howard County Airport and then the various academic courses in preparation for the jet solo.

On June 18 Cadet Hansen's instructor pilot, Capt. William Norton, told him "it's all yours" and stepped out of the T-37. Finding himself alone in the plane, Cadet Hansen said he was confident about the flight.

"There really is not enough time to be apprehensive," he said. "You start the engines, check the instruments, move into the runway, select maximum power, re-check the instruments, release the brakes and suddenly you are airborne."

Cadet Hansen will now progress into the advanced phases of contact flying and after completing the instrument, navigation and formation phases, he will start all over again in the supersonic T-38 Talon.

It looks that way doesn't it? But the fact is, this top hat is just as wide as it is tall. Check it with a ruler. It's just a famous visual illusion. Which proves you can't always believe what you think you see. Nor are you always aware of what you hear.

Take Muzak, for example. It is a musical environment, only people don't really listen to it. They react to it—psychologically and physiologically. We design it that way. Muzak is scientifically programmed to motivate people and increase their efficiency. That's like money in the bank when you consider the high cost of recruiting, training and keeping employees happy on the job these days. Let us show you what Muzak can do for your business by proving what it is doing so productively for businesses just like your own.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice to Consumers of Certain Broad Spectrum Antibiotics

The State of Texas, through its Attorney General, Crawford C. Martin, has pending a legal action in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York against certain drug companies (Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., American Cyanamid Company, Bristol-Myers Company, Glin Mathieson Chemical Corporation (Squibb) and The Upjohn Company) alleging that those companies violated the antitrust laws in the sale of certain of their broad spectrum antibiotic products within the period 1954-1966. On May 26, 1969, the Court determined that the Attorney General was the proper representative of a statewide class which included all members of the public who purchased the Aureomycin, Terramycin and tetracycline products of those companies in the State during the stated period.

The companies, while denying liability, have made a nationwide offer of 100 million dollars in settlement of all claims that any State or local governmental entity, drug wholesaler, retail pharmacist or member of the consuming public within the United States or Puerto Rico might have against them arising from purchases of broad spectrum antibiotic products during the stated period. On behalf of the State and the governmental entities and consuming public within the State, your Attorney General has elected to participate in that settlement subject to the establishment of appropriate allocations of this fund under supervision of the Court.

Now, therefore, take notice:

1. If you have purchased any of these drugs within the period 1954-1966:

a) The Court will exclude you from the class represented by the Attorney General if you request exclusion in writing addressed to the undersigned at P.O. Box 745, Bronx, New York 10451, and postmarked not later than August 1, 1969. If you elect to be excluded from the class, you will be free to pursue on your own behalf whatever legal rights you may have.

b) If you do not request exclusion from the class by August 1, 1969, you will be included in such class and any judgment, whether favorable or not, including any judgment approving any settlement of this action, will be binding upon you.

2. If you do not request exclusion from the class by August 1, 1969:

a) You may make a claim to receive directly a share as approved by the Court of any funds received by the Attorney General as representative of the members of the consuming public within the State. In order to make such a claim you must file with the undersigned at P.O. Box 745, Bronx, New York 10451 by August 16, 1969, either a verified statement or a statement certified by your local pharmacist or other supplier showing by year the total dollar amount of the Aureomycin, Terramycin and tetracycline products purchased by you; the name of each such product and the name and address of the pharmacy or other place where each such product was purchased; and if you have been reimbursed on account of such purchases, by whom and how much. Your statement must include your residence or post office address and you may later be required to produce written proof of your purchases; or

b) If you do not make an individual claim by August 16, 1969, that will constitute an authorization to the Attorney General to utilize whatever money he may recover as your representative for the benefit of the citizens of your State in such manner as the Court may direct.

3. If you do not request exclusion from the class but prefer in connection with your individual claim to be represented by your own counsel rather than by the Attorney General, you may enter an appearance through your counsel but not later than August 1, 1969.

Clerk of the United States District Court Southern District of New York P.O. Box 745, Bronx, N.Y. 10451

*Tetracycline products are sold under the following names among others: Achromycin, Mystecin, Panmycin, Polycyclin, Jactin, Tetracycline and Tetralin.

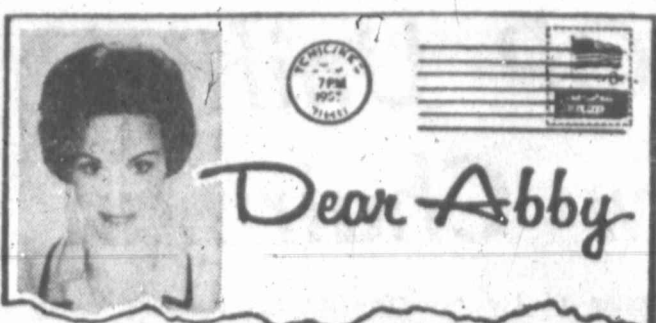

†If you reside outside the State, send your claim to P.O. Box 752, Bronx, New York 10451.

‡The Attorney General of your State will forward claims on account of purchases made outside the State to the Attorney General of the State in which such purchases were made, provided such States are participating in the settlement.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I, like many of your other readers, read your column, but I never thought that I would ever be actually writing to you. I just wanted to know that an article I read of yours in the newspaper about three years ago has helped me more than you'll ever know.

My boyfriend (finance now) was always asking me to "prove my love" to him. I would always refuse and then show him this clipping from DEAR ABBY. As hard as this may seem to believe, it always worked. He is now in the United States Army stationed in Vietnam. It's kind of strange when he writes and says, "I'm so glad that we waited." As soon as his time in the Army is up, we're planning to be married. Thanks to you, what a beautiful wedding it's going to be!

You can disregard my letter, but you would be doing many girls a big favor if you would once again print that same article in your column. Thank you, Abby.

WAITING IN ASHVILLE DEAR WAITING: The "article" you read, clipped and carried for so many years is a reprint from a chapter of my book "DEAR TEENAGER." I am pleased to run it again.

"Girls need to 'prove their love' thru illicit sex relations like a moose needs a hatrack. Why not 'prove your love' by sticking your head in the oven and turning on the gas? Or playing leap frog in the traffic? It's about as safe."

"Clear the cobwebs out of your head. Any fellow who asks you to 'prove your love' is trying to take you for the biggest, most gullible fool who ever walked. That 'proving' bit is one of the oldest and rottenest lines ever invented! Does he love you?—It doesn't sound like it. Someone who loves you wants whatever is best for you. But now figure it out. He wants you to:

Commit an immoral act...
Surrender your virtue...
Throw away your self-respect...

Risk the loss of your precious reputation...
And risk getting into trouble...

"Does that sound as though he wants what's best for you? This is the laugh of the century. He wants what's best for him: he wants a thrill he can brag about at your expense... Love? Who's kidding whom?"

"A guy who loves a girl would sooner cut off his right arm than hurt her. In my opinion, this self-serving so-and-so has proved that he doesn't love you. The predictable aftermath of 'proof' of this kind always finds Don Juan firing of his sport. That's when he drops you, picks up his line, and goes casting elsewhere for 'bigger and equally silly fish."

"If he loves you, let him prove HIS love — by marching you to the ALTAR!"

DEAR ABBY: I want to say a few things to those guys who refer to a divorcee as "used merchandise," or "a second hand rose with crumpled petals."

I married a divorcee with five kids, and it's the best deal I ever made. A woman who has cooked and kept house for a family knows all the stuff other brides spend the first five years learning. A woman who has had to support a bunch of kids alone knows the value of money, too, and can really pinch a penny.

And talk about appreciation! When I carry out the garbage my old lady hugs me and says "I'm the most thoughtful man in the world. When I see those spoiled, helpless, wet-behind-the-ears chicks some of my friends are stuck with, I feel sorry for them."

It takes a gal who has gone through hell to appreciate heaven when she has it.

"LUCKY" AND KNOWS IT DEAR "LUCKY": And so's your "old lady." Congratulations.

Judge Is Gone

Activities in the 118th District Court are at a near standstill. Judge Ralph Caton is on vacation. Jerry Spence, court reporter, is also out-of-town. No cases are set for special hearing.

Drivers In San Antonio Bus System Vote To Strike

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Leaders reported members of the local transit unit voted unanimously today for a city-bus strike unless terms can be reached before Sept. 2.

They voted, despite a state law forbidding municipal employees to strike, after being offered a five per cent across-the-board pay increase.

Wilson Parker, president of Amalgamated Transit Workers Local 694, said 341 of about 400 local members attended the pre-dawn meeting and the vote was unanimous.

He said beforehand that the union would not accept the five per cent pay raise and the company's offer "just made the members more likely to strike."

Other goals of the transit employees include paid sick leave and vacations based on accrued time.

Members of the local left it up to their officers to set a strike deadline in event further negotiations are unfruitful, agreeing that if the dispute is not settled by Sept. 4, no buses will be operated Sept. 4.

Charged With Shotgun Deaths Of Four Texans

POLLOK, Tex. (AP) — Norris James Goodwin, 30, was charged Monday with murder in connection with the shotgun slayings of four persons near a church in this East Texas community. Pollok is about 11 miles northwest of Lufkin.

Deputies said Goodwin, a construction worker, denied being near the scene of the killings, but Justice of the Peace Alvis Barge Sr., ordered him held without bond.

The victims of the Monday shootings were identified as Jay Verdeman, about 65; his wife, Odell; their daughter, Estelle Guinn, and Mrs. Guinn's daughter, Ruby Joyce Guinn, 16.

The slayings were reported by a woman, deputies said, and the incident apparently occurred about a half hour earlier.

Guardsmen In Summer Training

Members of C Battery of the 3rd Battalion of the 133rd Artillery, with home stations in Big Spring and Lamesa, began the second week of summer training Monday at Fort Hood when they moved to field bivouac for four days of firing 155 millimeter howitzers.

C Battery, commanded by Capt. Beade Northcut, 2504 Ann, and composed of approximately 100 men, is one of many National Guard units in training, and is preparing for the Army Training Test which will be completed at summer training next year.

Guard units return to their home stations July 6.

Goodwin was a son-in-law of the Vardemans and was estranged from his wife, their daughter, one officer said. He said that Goodwin is a heavy equipment operator on road building projects.

The officers said the case looks like a "family feud."

Turners Take Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Paul Turner have taken a plane trip to New York following their wedding Sunday afternoon in the Webb Air Force Base Chapel.

The bride is the former Miss Paula Stuteville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stuteville, 900 E. 4th, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Turner of Levittown, Long Island, N.Y.

Chaplain Robert Deming performed the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with baskets of white gladioli and carnations. A smaller arrangement was placed on the organ, and the altar table held an open Bible flanked by white tapers. Mrs. Leonard Moody, organist, accompanied Leonard Moody as he sang "The Twelfth of Never" and, as the couple knelt at the altar, "The Wedding Prayer."

WEDDING GOWN

The bride wore a wedding gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. The bodice was styled with Sabrina neckline, and long fitted sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands. The floor-length gown was appliqued with a scalloped design of lace. A tiara of sequins and pearls secured her lace veil, and she carried a bouquet of feathered carnations, centered with an orchid and showered with picot ribbon.

Miss Sheila Tidwell, the bridesmaid, was attired in a blue street-length sheath fashioned with rounded neckline and three-quarter sleeves accented with crochet. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

The best man was Joe Farriges, and ushers were Thomas Rodemacher and Kirk Caffey. All are of Webb AFB.

RECEPTION

The reception honoring the couple was held in the Texas Electric Reddy Room where Mrs. Thomas Rodemacher presided at the guest register.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a pink cloth overlaid with ruffled net. The centerpiece of mixed flowers was flanked by pink tapers, and the three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting in the house party were Miss Tonia Tidwell, Miss Karen Harris, Mrs. Fred Pickett, Mrs. Alfred Tidwell and Mrs. Donald Rau.

The couple will return to Big Spring the latter part of August, and Mrs. Turner will remain here while her husband is in Vietnam. A graduate of Big Spring High School, she will begin her second year at Howard County Junior College this fall.

She is a member of the Secretaries Club. Turner graduated from high school at Levittown and attended HCJC.

For the trip to Levittown, Mrs. Turner wore a green plaid dress with dropped waist and pleated skirt. Her accessories were white, and she wore the corsage from her bouquet.

Gift Party Is Honor For Bride

Mrs. Leahmon Bryant, the former Miss Sandra Moore, was complimented with a bridal shower Saturday in the Wesley Methodist Church parlor. The couple was married in May at Denton.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Elmer Askins, Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, Mrs. Lige Fox, Mrs. H. B. Hatch, Mrs. Danny Wright, Mrs. J. C. Watkins, Mrs. Jerry Merrick, Mrs. Bill Marlin, Mrs. Zeanna McWhirt, Mrs. Richard Shields, Mrs. V. C. Henry, Mrs. T. C. Richards, Mrs. Luther Coleman, Mrs. Jerry Allen, Mrs. Elvin Bearden, Mrs. Tommy Lovelace and Mrs. R. V. Colclazer.

The bride, attired in a white cotton dress accented with lace, was presented a yellow carnation corsage. Mrs. J. W. Bryant Jr., mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. O. O. Hamby, grandmother of the bridegroom, were given white corsages.

The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Miss Deborah Ray Feted At Shower

Miss Deborah Ray, bride-elect of Sgt. Don Larson of Webb Air Force Base, was honored at a gift party Monday in the home of Mrs. R. E. Hickson, 2708 Crestline.

Cohostesses were Miss Regina Hamby, Miss Debbie Coffee, Mrs. Charles Lacy and Mrs. J. R. Bizzell.

Rice bags were made by the guests, and personal gifts were presented to the honoree. Summer flowers enhanced the entertaining area.

The honoree, attired in a pink linen dress, was presented a white carnation corsage. Her mother, Mrs. Edgar Ray, was given a white corsage.

The couple plans to marry Aug. 1 in the home of the bride-elect's parents at 1801 Choctaw.

Men's Fashions Use Accessories

Accessories are assuming increasing importance in men's wardrobes as the male fashion explosion continues to expand and thunder across the nation. That's what the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear says. Take scarfs. There are silk and woolen ones; there are mufflers that reverse from wool to silk, there are knitted scarfs. And, would you believe — a turtle-neck scarf.

Appears Socially After Long Absence

Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, left, shares a laugh with Mrs. Giancarlo Uzielli, the former Ann Ford, Saturday night, as she makes her first social appearance since the death of her husband, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, more than a year ago. The occasion was a benefit cocktail party for striking California grape workers, a cause which the late senator espoused.

She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi. The bridegroom graduated from Middle Village College in Brooklyn, N.Y., and is a dental technician at the hospital.

Couple Marries In Hospital Chapel Rites

Mr. and Mrs. John Alfred Koettner are residing at 1803 Choctaw following their wedding Saturday in the Veterans Administration Hospital Chapel.

The bride is the former Mrs. Naomi Lucille Hedrick. Clyde R. Campbell, minister of the Hillcrest Baptist Church, conducted the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother is Mrs. Era Denmar of Roscoe, and the bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Anna Koettner, 1210 Main.

Miss June Hedrick, daughter of the bride, was organist and played "Mighty Things," "How Great Thou Art" and "Somewhere My Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her son, Jerrell Hedrick, was attired in a yellow linen dress and carried a bouquet of gardenias atop a white prayer book.

Mrs. Harold Mosser was matron of honor, and Miss Hedrick was bridesmaid. Harold Mosser was the best man, and Hedrick served as usher.

Mrs. Koettner, who took nurses training at Parkland Hospital in Dallas and Baylor University, is head nurse in the psychiatric ward at the hospital.

Weekly Queen Is Named By TOPS

Mrs. Larry Shaw was welcomed as a new member and named weekly queen at Monday's meeting of TOPS Salad Mixers in the Knot Community Center.

Mrs. Dan Brasher presided and directed games. Miss Annette Couch, a 4-H Club member, will present a program in making salads at next Monday's meeting.

Paneled Walls, Easy On Upkeep

Do you hate washing walls? That chore can be eliminated if walls are paneled. When finished clear, vertical grain panel boards are as neutral as white paint, but upkeep consists only of a twice-yearly rubdown with the dust mop.

D. S. Riley Honored At Reception

D. S. Riley, who is retiring as administrator of Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital after 28 years service, was honored with an open house Monday evening in the First Federal Community Room. Calling hours were from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. C. Utley, Mrs. T. O. Whatley, Mrs. David Duke, Mrs. Orville Bryant, Mrs. William Phillips, Mrs. Shirley Silwinski, Mrs. Jessie Mitchell, Mrs. Jess Graves, Mrs. D. W. Culp, Mrs. J. H. Taylor, Mrs. Carmen Padgett, Mrs. Mary Alice Anderson, Miss Rosa Timmerman, Mrs. V. W. Kemper and Mrs. Paul Camp.

Riley was given a carnation boutonniere and his wife received a white carnation corsage. The presentation of a watch to Riley was by Mrs. Kemper, who has been associated with the hospital for 26 years.

The refreshment table was covered with pink linen and centered with an arrangement of red roses. Crystal and silver appointments were used, and the white cake was decorated with red roses and appropriately inscribed. The guest register was placed on a table covered with white linen and accented with red roses.

Guests were members of the hospital board and staff and their husbands and wives. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Knox attended from Midland.

Couple To Marry

Mrs. Lenora Williams, 1403 W. 2nd, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Kay to David Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, 1102 College. The couple will marry July 23 at Trinity Baptist Church, with the Rev. Claude Craven serving as officiant. The couple plans to reside in Houston.

Mrs. Carl Strom and her grandson, Easy Ezzell, have been in the Washington, D.C., area vacationing and looking over colleges. They will be going to Lexington, Va., to see Washington and Leé, and will also visit Virginia Military Institute which Easy's father attended. A highlight of the tour for Mrs. Strom will be a return visit to her school in Washington as well as the White House where she hopes to see the Indian Treaty room. Carl and Easy's mother, Mrs. Gloria Strom Ezzell, are keeping the home fires burning.

By JO BRIGHT

Another June has ended — and I have mentally tossed rice at a hundred bridal couples. Like the mother of the bride, I somehow feel a loss by the time "30" has been typed to their wedding stories. After all, we've been together since the engagement announcement — through the showers, luncheons and final conference to see that uncle so-and-so's name is spelled right.

By no authority whatsoever invested in me, I have even asked some if they are sure — and don't they think they should wait till they finish school and he has a job — or she learns to cook! Certainly, it's none of my business, but you just get that involved.

Of course, my questions fall on deaf ears, and they marry. For happily ever after, I hope. The weddings have been lovely, and to my delight, a couple this season have even mentioned orange blossoms instead of daisies!

husband, Capt. Richard H. Crockett Jr., are stationed with the Air Force. (He has been notified that his promotion to Major has been approved.) The Crocketts will be in Germany for a year and Winifred is already planning to fly there on her vacation next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Morehead and family have returned from a tour of the Deep South, and Charlie thinks Virginia must surely be the most beautiful place in the world. (That's the gardener in her coming out.) She said the fields look like they have been mowed. They were in Washington, D.C., Williamsburg, and saw Mount Vernon. They attended the wedding of her niece, Diane Skaggs, to Robert Rowan.

LaFond Promoted In Gamco Complex

Auriel LaFond, vice president, has been promoted to executive vice president of Gamco Industries, Inc., Harold Davis, president, announced today. The promotion is effective today.

LaFond, who turned an idea into a teaching tool, has been with Gamco since July, 1965, joining the educational supplies company as general manager of its Math Master division.

When Gamco acquired Creative Visuals and decided to move it here when the Prestige aluminum division was phased out, LaFond was drafted to head this burgeoning branch. Within the nine months that he headed it, the division's output was greater in a month than it had been in a year at the outset. He returned to Math Master in 1966 when James Gillespie became part of Gamco to head Creative Visuals.

Subsequently, LaFond was named vice president of Gamco in charge of the Math Master division in April, 1967, and now he is being put in charge of its entire operations. His initial task, explained Davis, is to preside over the moving of Perceptive Development Laboratories from St. Louis, Mo., to Big Spring, a transition that may require several months.

LaFond will be responsible for direction of four major divisions in the Gamco family, the Math Master, Gamco Chalk Board, Creative Visuals and Perceptive Development Laboratories. The Educational Computers branch formerly under the Gamco umbrella, has been made a separate corporate entity.

LaFond's story somewhat parallels that of George A. McAlister, founder of Gamco, in that he turned an idea for a teaching aide into a flourishing business. He was a math instructor in the Ann Arbor, Mich., upper level high school when he conceived what he called Trig-Tracer. He had the lines printed on plastic sheets, then assembled and packaged the entire packet in his basement.

Soon he was selling other educational items with Trig-Tracer, marketing 25 other items under the company name of Lanco. McAlister noticed LaFond's advertisement in National Math and asked him to market through Gamco. This eventually led to his becoming part of the company here.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, LaFond took his masters in math at the University of Michigan. He has about a fourth of his doctoral work out of the way at Cornell and California.

He and Mrs. LaFond, the former Joan Staryk, reside at 703 Texas and have one daughter, Deanna, four months. He is a member of the American Business Club and on its board of directors.

Slaughter Joins WTCC Staff As Projects Officer

Leon Slaughter, presently manager of the Kilgore Chamber of Commerce, has been named to the staff of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as projects director, effective Aug. 1, according to Jack G. Springer, WTCC executive vice president.

"He will concentrate his activities on agri-business, mineral resources and water projects of the area chamber," Springer said. "We are fortunate to have Slaughter join our staff. His BS degree in agricultural education and his MS in economics, both from Texas A&M, fit him well for our needs. His past experience in chamber of commerce work in Littlefield, Sweetwater and Kilgore is also important to us."

Slaughter was a Vocational Agriculture teacher for 14 years before entering chamber of commerce work. He was also self-employed and was extension supervisor for the Exchange Clubs for five years.

Slaughter is past officer of the Chamber of Commerce Executives Association of West Texas, the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association and is active in Rotary, the Texas Industrial Development Council and the Southern Industrial Council.

Mrs. Slaughter is an attorney. She obtained her law degree from the University of Puerto Rico in 1943 and was admitted to the Texas Bar in 1967.

Little Relief From Heat

By The Associated Press

Brow-mopping weather hung on across Texas today as a dry and hotter than usual June gave way to July.

Despite tantalizing showers here and there, no relief from the simmering heat appeared in prospect.

There were occasional thunderstorms or showers during the night and early morning near a weak cool front stalled near a line from the northeast corner of the Panhandle past Amarillo into Eastern New Mexico.

Occasional showers also fell near the Upper Texas Coast. Skies were mostly clear elsewhere.

Along with continuing heat the thunderstorms again by evening in parts of the Panhandle-Plains sector and widely scattered showers over the southern half of the state.

As usual Presidio in the Big Bend country was the warmest spot in Texas, recording 108 degrees Monday on its final day as a weather reporting station. Observations are being discontinued there with the retirement of Oliver Harper, 68, and his wife after filing some of the nation's highest temperatures in 26 years on the job.

Other top marks included El Paso 105, Wichita Falls 102, Cottle, Texarkana and Wink 101, and Laredo, Lubbock, San Angelo, Tyler and Waco 100.

Says Nixonites Illegally Spending Money On ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration was accused today of illegally spending $400 million from funds appropriated for the discarded Sentinel missile defense system on the revamped Safeguard program.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., in a prepared statement, said the Pentagon spent the money on Safeguard missiles and radar equipment although Congress has not approved the project and in spite of a Defense Department promise not to use the Sentinel funds.

"The fact is," Nelson said, "Congress has not authorized or appropriated one cent for the new Safeguard system. The administration's decision to spend Sentinel monies on the Safeguard system is a clear violation of the Congress' law-making authority."

Nixon junked the "thin" Sentinel system, which was designed to protect the nation's major cities, last March and asked Congress to approve the Safeguard system, armed at defending U.S. land-based offensive missiles.

Nelson's blast came after the President had put on his softest velvet glove in an attempt to break the apparent near deadlock in the Senate over Safeguard.

He met for an hour-and-a-half at the White House with five Republican Senate critics of the missile defense system—Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, Marlow W. Cook of Kentucky, James B. Pearson of

TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime finds it possible for you to use up-to-date methods in order to get your affairs in shipshape order. However, the evening brings the need for you to be calm to prevent upsets from taking place that could be followed by trouble.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Good friends do much to assist you during the day with your ideas and plans. There is confusion regarding social activities tonight. It would be well to avoid groups of that time. Why not get down to some good reading?

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) During the day you can expedite those career affairs by adding up-to-date improvements. Tonight, avoid anything that has to do with credit. Study new inventions that can assist you. Be clever.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can study those new ideas very carefully during the morning; then later get down to routines that are not so confusing. Plan that trip during the day, also. Evening is not good for any new activities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get busy now fixing up your surroundings and do something very thoughtful for one who dwells with you. Bring more happiness into both your lives. Be alert to some plan to add to present security.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find out what regular associates expect of you. Set up appointments for whatever important meetings you want to attend. Correspond, make out reports accurately, so over financial statements.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you find more current systems for handling property and financial matters, your whole position in life can be improved greatly. You adhere too much to the old-fashioned for real success. Be sure your bookkeeping is accurate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Contact influential persons who have the right advice to help you add to your present success. Then carry through in a most positive fashion. Have a more interesting social life. Accept invitations extended.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Go to the right sources for that information you need right now. Be precise. Many situations come up that are fine for you, but you have to keep them confidential. Do plenty of studying for best results.
