SHOOTS ONE WITH SUBMACHINE GUN; WILD CHASE IN LOUISIANA

Daring Man Captures Three Texas Jail Escapees

NATCHITOCHEs, La. (AP)—A daring man whose family was terrorized by three armed, escaped prisoners held two of them at bay and shot a third with their own submachine gun Sunday night to end an hours-long chase by hundreds of police.

13 HOSTAGES

The action capped more than 15 hours of freedom for the 13, who had held and released 13 hostages in several parts of the state.

The three were James Marion Sumner, 28; Garry Robert Williams, 22; and Luther Pettitt, 29, all of Houston, Tex. They escaped from the Gregg County jail at Longview, Tex., early Sunday with a deputy sheriff and the jailer as hostages.

Sumner and Williams were brought to the Natchitoches Parish jail early today. Pettitt was taken to the Confederate Memorial Hospital in Shreveport for a wound in the left side of the chest.

Sheriff Sam H. James said Sumner and Williams were charged in Natchitoches with the armed robbery of Mrs. Jesse Brossett. He said the fleeing men took $17 and shot-gun shells from the woman's home north of Natchitoches.

FAST TALKER

The FBI said federal charges of kidnaping, interstate transportation of a stolen car and violation of the federal firearms law were lodged against them at Longview.

A fourth escapee was believed to have remained in Gregg County.

The three led Texas Rangers, state police, the FBI and deputy sheriffs of eight parishes (counties) on a chase through north and central Louisiana.

At one point, Gov. John McKeithen hopped in his private plane to try to meet with them. By phone, he talked them into releasing five hostages.

Martin at Flatwoods, in the Kisatchie National Forest.

"They stormed the house," said a shaken Martin, 60. "They ramm'd a gun into my girl's back and came in."

He said the escapees were eating dinner with him, his wife and 16-year-old daughter when Pettitt left the room at the sound of an approaching car. Another momentarily put his submachine gun down.

'MY CHANCE'

"That was my chance," Martin said. "I grabbed it up and held it on the other two and made them sit down on the floor. The tall one (Pettitt) came back in and as he walked through the kitchen door, that's when I let him have it," said Martin.

"Them others saw I meant business and I didn't have no more trouble out of them."

But Martin's terrified wife picked up an automatic shotgun and "she went wild and filled the kitchen full of holes," Martin said.

Martin said he released Sumner and Williams with their weapons with the promise they would not hurt his wife and daughter. The pair was captured a short time later.

Here is a chronology from escape to capture, as related by police:

As jailer William Brown brought a mop and bucket into their cell, they took his gun and (See ESCAPEES, P. 6-A, C. 4)

SPECIAL MESSAGE

Nixon Cites Drug Abuse Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today it must act against the drug abuse problem now as "a serious national threat to the personal health and safety of millions of Americans."

Outlining the dimensions of the problem in a special message, Nixon cited an increase of nearly 800 per cent in seven years in juvenile arrests involving use of drugs.

Nixon called for new legislation, including an interim measure to correct what he called constitutional deficiencies of the marijuana tax act. It was on the basis of these that the Supreme Court struck down parts of the marijuana laws in May.

Other Nixon proposals:

Development by the Justice Department of a model state narcotics and dangerous drug act.

Strengthened international cooperation to stop production of contraband drugs abroad. Most illicit narcotics and high potency marijuana consumed in this country is produced in other countries.

The stepping up of efforts to intercept illegal entry of drugs, involving more manpower for the customs bureau to combat smuggling.

The throwing of more men and money into the battle at home against illicit traffic in drugs — with no numbers or amounts specified.

Steps to close an information gap on the drug problem.

Three Astros To Tell U. S. How It Feels

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins pause in their training tonight to tell the nation how it feels to be going to the moon. The preparation of their spacecraft was ahead of schedule for Wednesday's launch and the weather is expected to be ideal.

As supercold oxygen and hydrogen flowed into some of the command ship and lunar lander systems, the space agency reshuffled its built-in "holds" to provide time for two additional quality control tests of the liquid hydrogen system as the 9:32 a.m. EDT launching nears.

The three astronauts, after last-minute rehearsal at make-believe flight controls, planned to work out in the gymnasium later in the day before going on television and radio at 6 p.m. (Big Spring time.)

They'll be questioned by a panel of four newsmen on a program to be carried on all networks.

On pad 39A, the manifold tasks to ready the Saturn 5 rocket for its 9:32 a.m. launch Wednesday were two to three hours ahead of schedule.

"No problems have been encountered," the space agency reported Sunday night as the countdown resumed after a scheduled 16-hour stoppage.

At just about the time Apollo 11 lifts off to the moon, an unmanned Russian spaceship called Luna 15 should be arriving there.

The Soviets announced Luna 15 "was launched to the moon from the orbit of an artificial earth's satellite." True to tradition, the announcement made no mention of specific mission only that Luna 15 "will conduct further scientific exploration of the moon and space near the moon."

There was speculation the Russians might attempt to land Luna 15 on the moon, have it scoop up soil samples and return them to earth. Neither the Soviet Union nor the United States ever has returned a vehicle from the moon's surface.

"It will be a great feat if they can do it," said Apollo 8 astronaut Frank Borman, who has just returned from touring the Soviet Union. "An unmanned machine certainly will not take the edge off Apollo 11." Borman said he thought returning soil samples was the purpose of Luna 15.

After a relaxing Sunday, the astronauts returned to make-believe flight controls today for some last-minute practice. Armstrong and Aldrin in the lunar lander and Collins in the command ship.

Atty. Gen. Mitchell Defends Wire Taps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said today the Nixon administration has used electronic surveillance more sparingly than prior administrations.

"There are fewer taps on now than when we came into office," Mitchell said.

At a wide ranging news conference, Mitchell's first since Jan. 21, he also spoke out for the first time on his role in the controversy surrounding the resignations of Associate Justice Abe Fortas from the Supreme Court.

Mitchell said his only activity in the matter was a meeting widely publicized at the time — with Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Fortas resigned after disclosure that he had accepted and later returned a $20,000 fee from the family foundation of financier Louis E. Wolfson.

"Mr. Fortas was never the subject of a Justice Department investigation," Mitchell said.

However, he added, the department did consider the question of possible obstruction of justice in connection with the affair, and that matter "has not been disposed of" yet.

On the subject of wiretapping, Mitchell defended the use of electronic surveillances in matters that affect the internal security of the nation and said he expected the courts to sustain that argument.

That question, which marks a major expansion of past government claims on wiretapping rights, comes before a federal judge in Chicago this week.

While contending snooping devices have been used "very, very sparingly," Mitchell said those that have been installed have been effective.

He cited one instance where he claimed a tap "broke one of the largest narcotics rings we've had in this country in a long time."

On other matters, Mitchell said the administration is not giving up on its voting rights proposal despite some congressional opposition.

The administration is seeking to extend nationwide the major provisions of the 1965 voting rights law now applying to six southern states and parts of a seventh. Strong civil rights advocates are seeking a simple extension of the 1965 law.

Mitchell also denied that new school desegregation procedures would retard the pace of integration in the South.

The administration has put more emphasis on lawsuits and less on a cutoff of funds to achieve desegregation, contending a fund cutoff hurts minority group children more than it helps. Opponents contend court action is slower.

Sniper Fire In San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — One person was shot fatally during an outbreak of sniper fire, arson, robberies and looting touched off after arrests in the predominantly Negro southeast section of San Diego Sunday night.

Police said Willard Tracy Bryant, 27, San Diego, was killed by a shotgun blast fired by an unidentified owner of a liquor store being robbed shortly before midnight.

When the trouble area returned to normal in early morning, officers had arrested 41 adults and 23 juveniles on various charges, including attempted murder, assault with a deadly weapon and failure to disperse.

Dangling From Rope

PINEDALE, Wyo. (AP) — A team of expert mountain climbers headed for a two-mile-high peak in western Wyoming today in an attempt to rescue a climber who reportedly has been dangling from a rope over a sheer drop since Saturday afternoon. The Fremont County sheriff's office said John Hagen, Salem, Mass., was reported hanging from a rope attached to a piton, or climbing spike, over a drop of about 1,600 feet.

AMA Urged To Withdraw Endorsement Of Medicaid

NEW YORK (AP) — South Carolina delegates to the American Medical Association convention have urged the AMA to withdraw its endorsement of the federal-state Medicaid program.

AMA's endorsement of Medicaid "could lead to the expansion of the Medicaid program," the South Carolina delegation said in a resolution.

It was among 130 resolutions introduced Sunday at the tumultuous opening session at the Americana Hotel, during which a New York psychiatrist seized the microphone to denounce the AMA for what he said was neglect of the poor.

The South Carolina resolution said Medicaid backers thought "the Medicaid program could and should be expanded to include all inhabitants of the United States."

It also said the current program had placed "an unbearable financial burden on states that have fully implemented it."

The 242-member House of Delegates will act on the resolutions Tuesday or Wednesday.

About 22,500 doctors are expected for the five-day convention. The AMA with 217,000 members, says it represents two-thirds of the nation's doctors.

The opening of the 118th annual convention was disrupted immediately after the National Anthem, when Dr. Richard Kunnes of New York City walked to the lectern and said, "I hereby declare this meeting illegitimate, null and void."

He told the doctors, "You have delivered your services on the basis of people's ability to pay and not on the basis of their health needs." About 75 protesters joined him on the stage while he burned what he said was his AMA card.

Some doctors in the audience threw ashtrays at the demonstrators, while others yelled: "Shut up!" and "Go to hell!"

Outside the hotel, about 100 doctors, nurses and medical students picketed and chanted, claiming the AMA does not represent the people.

A few minutes after Kunnes left the stage, Dr. Roger C. Egeberg, newly confirmed as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, told the gathering that organized medicine "has created a distribution of medical care that suits us and the middle class"—to the neglect of the poor.

Astronauts Will Stake Their Lives On Engine

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— Sitting in their landing craft on the lunar surface, two Apollo 11 astronauts will stake their lives on a single engine that must work perfectly at least six minutes to rocket them safely away from the moon.

And because of the way the landing craft is built, it will be impossible to test-fire the motor before that critical moment.

Called an ascent engine, the motor is located at the base of the lunar module (LM) landing craft's cabin section, where astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. will be quartered.

Until the time of blastoff from the moon's surface, the engine is blocked by the LM's bottom section, containing a braking rocket and landing legs.

The landing section, called the descent stage, is to remain on the moon, serving as a launch pad.

"This engine has to work to get the crew back into a safe orbit where they can rendezvous" with astronaut Michael Collins in the Apollo 11 command ship, said mission director George H. Hage.

The 3,500-pound-thrust ascent engine is to be fired at 1:55 p.m. EDT July 21 for 7 minutes, 18 seconds. Sixty-nine seconds before Armstrong and Aldrin blast off, Collins will have sped directly overhead in the command ship.

If all goes well, the ascent engine will propel the two moon explorers into an initial egg-shaped orbit ranging from 11 to 52 miles above the moon. For the first 14 seconds, the LM will climb straight up. It then is to tip over to an angle of 52 degrees and rocket into orbit at a speed of about one mile per second.

Small thruster rockets could propel the LM into orbit if the main ascent engine fails after six minutes—"but we must burn at least six minutes," said a space agency official.

Collins will be in a circular path 60 miles above the lunar surface. He will be prepared to lower his altitude to rescue his crewmates if LM engines fail and Armstrong and Aldrin are left in a low orbit.

But if the ascent engine shuts off before six minutes, the two LM pilots would not have enough speed to achieve orbit and would instead be on a ballistic path that would send them crashing back onto the moon before Collins could save them.

The total sequence from lunar liftoff to rendezvous between the LM and command ship is expected to take 3½ hours. After using the ascent engine to fly into the 11 by 52 mile orbit, smaller maneuvering rockets will be fired periodically to carry Armstrong and Aldrin up to the command ship's 60-mile-high altitude.

Rogers Says U.S. Prepared To Shift Vietnamese Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers declared today the United States is prepared to shift its Vietnamese aid program toward peacetime development if the war can be ended or scaled down in the months ahead.

Rogers testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in support of President Nixon's request for $2.6 billion for military and economic assistance for the next fiscal year. Included are $375 million for military assistance and $2.2 billion for various forms of economic assistance.

Without help from the wealthy powers to the underdeveloped countries, he said, the cold war split between Russia and the West could be followed by a global division between the rich and the poor countries.

The aid program includes $440 million for economic assistance to South Vietnam.

"In Vietnam," Rogers said, "we are prepared to shift the aid program toward greater emphasis on economic and social development if there is a resolution of the conflict or a significant de-escalation of the war in the months ahead."

U.S. programs to aid Laos and Thailand, Rogers said, are largely "an outgrowth of the hostilities in Vietnam and will depend in form and amount on the course of the war there."

Rogers said that India and Pakistan provide "a testing ground of whether man can check the ravages of malnutrition and escape from the grip of poverty."

He noted that over two-thirds of the proposed development loan program in the Nixon aid package, apart from funds for Latin America, is destined for India and Pakistan.

As for Latin America, Rogers said "continuation of our assistance obviously is essential to constructive changes in an atmosphere of purposeful cooperation."

The administration's program, he reminded the committee, calls for $1.1 billion in development loans, $515 million for "supporting assistance" almost entirely for Vietnam, Laos and Thailand, $463 million for technical assistance, and $115 million for an emergency fund, administrative expenses and the like.

Rogers said that 86 per cent of the development loan program would go to eight countries—Brazil, Chile, Colombia, India, Indonesia, Korea, Pakistan and Turkey.

NATIONAL SENSE OF PRIDE MAY BE MOST IMPORTANT

What Is The Value Of Space Program?

By HOWARD BENEDICT AP Aerospace Writer CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — As America prepares to land two astronauts on the moon after a decade of space flight, many persons ask: What is the value of the space program? How has this nation benefited? Where is it leading?

important single thing the establishment of the goal of a manned lunar landing really did for the nation was to give it a sense of pride and sense of accomplishment at a time when there were not many things which provided that sense of achievement.

ing? A. I do not think that anybody who saw the picture, through the eyes of the Apollo 8 and 10 astronauts, of how small the world is in this vast ocean of space can ever again feel quite the same way about the purpose of small conflicts on the earth's surface itself, but rather that we are together on a very small planet and we had best find ways of working together.

Q. There are many who say that the $24 billion we have spent on the man-in-space program could better have been spent solving problems on earth. How do you answer these critics?

NATIONAL WEALTH A. I know of no more effective way of spending $24 billion in advancing the basic productivity and basic advances in technology that are essential for creating the national wealth.

that will in turn make possible these kinds of programs in cancer cure and elsewhere. Our basic economy depends on the creation of new technology and in turn new science to form the basis for that technology. Without it, we will lose our competitive position among the nations.

Security State Offers Warm, Friendly Service

For banking convenience ask for a loan for commercial or private uses, for a car or for a house. Security State Bank, 1411 Gregg, is the place to go. Modern facilities and a warm friendly atmosphere make banking easy and pleasant.

Larson Lloyd, president, said Security State offers every kind of service available in any bank; and a new electronic burglar alarm provides 24-hour protection. The system incorporates the latest in modern technology, making it almost impossible for anyone to burglarize the place.

Another example of the bank's efficient service is the PBX, a machine that automatically routes incoming calls to the right department.

Among the bank's services is the issuing of BankAmericard, which many establishments honor and which may be used in some foreign countries. Travelers' checks are available too if desired.

The institution also handles savings accounts, time certificates, safety deposit boxes and checking accounts with personalized checks for its customers.

Loans are an important part of any bank, and Security State offers all types. A person may project included three new drive-in windows for easier customer banking, and construction of a new basement for better record keeping and storage.

The bank's drive-in windows have porcelain paneling, and tellers enter from a stairway in the basement where the book-keeping department is located. Each teller is able to regulate heating and cooling individually.

Ever since Security State was opened in 1956, the customer has been in prime concern. The bank was located and built for convenience, away from heavy traffic to allow easy access to personnel once a customer is inside.

So, if getting to a bank has been a problem because of traffic, try Security State at Fifteenth and Gregg, where there is spacious parking and courteous personnel.

Complete Supply Of Building Needs

Ray Smith and Joe Lusk move materials at Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., which stocks everything needed for building or repairing the home. Higginbotham-Bartlett employees can also offer expert advice on how to do the work.

Everything Needed For Repair Jobs Around House

When it comes time to do those odd repair jobs around the house, don't waste time traipsing around from store to store. Stop by Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., 300 E. 2nd, first, and find everything you need in one place.

Higginbotham-Bartlett stocks all materials and tools needed for repair, and its employees can offer expert advice on how to do the work. It carries only the best materials and prides itself on both the size of its stock and its quality.

The company is known for its knowledge of the famous "Title I" loan program and can make the task of the homeowner who needs work done much easier. If a loan is needed to finance the job, Higginbotham-Bartlett can work out all of the details. If workmen are needed, Higginbotham-Bartlett can help find competent workmen for the job.

If summer storms have battered the roof, get estimates from Higginbotham-Bartlett before you close the deal to replace it. It is quite possible you will save yourself money and it is assured that the roofing you buy will be the best possible.

Higginbotham-Bartlett features Sherwin-Williams Paints — the kind that "covers the world." They have found that this product is excellent for this country and has given complete satisfaction.

All of the brands handled by the company have been carefully tested in this area and have been stocked only when it was proved they were good for this part of West Texas.

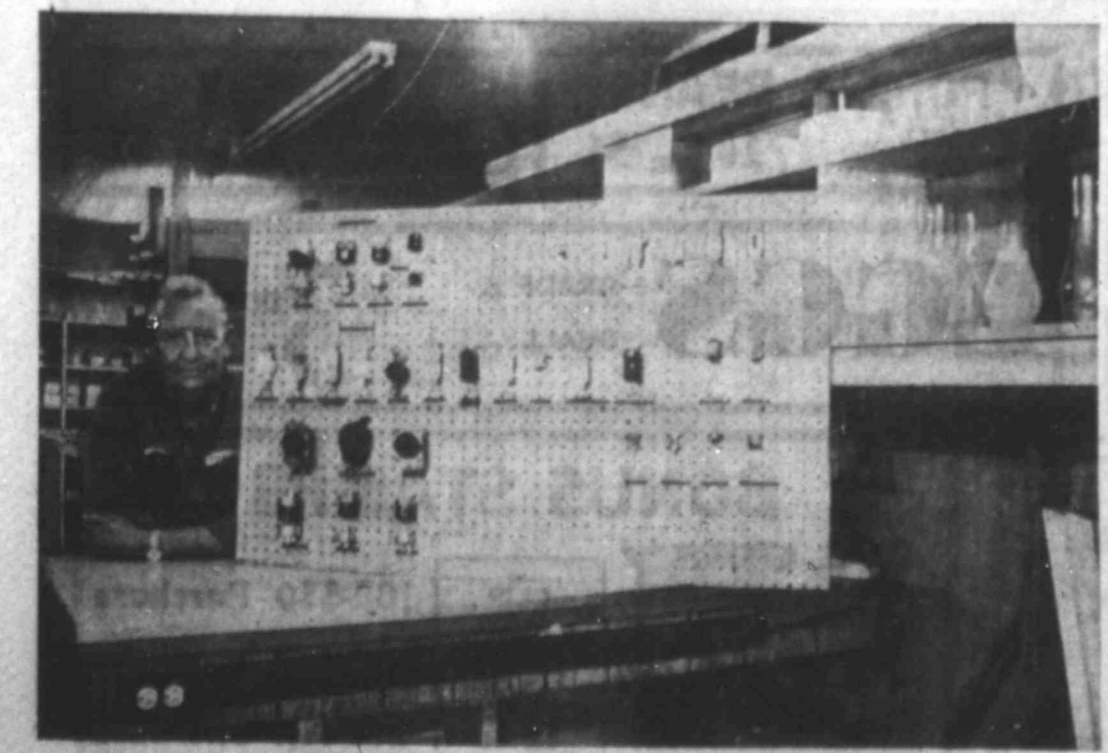

A phone call to Higginbotham-Bartlett — 263-7441 — will provide the homeowner with the information he may need to guide him in his plans to repair or improve his home.

If additional rooms are needed or a new residence desired the company is in a position to render excellent help.

The yard is open until noon Saturday which is a matter of importance to many people who have no opportunity during other days of the week to confer with the yard experts.

This is the ideal time to make repairs which will protect the home during the hot summer months and have it ready for fall and winter weather irregularities.

The many years this widely known company has served this community is proof of the quality of the service it provides and the personalized interest it takes in the community and the residents.

Durbin's Pre-Trial Hearing

Clyde Durbin Jr. enters court today for a pre-trial hearing to lay legal groundwork for Durbin's July 28 trial in the slaying of John Albert White, a University of Texas student. Durbin is also charged with the death of Keitha Morris, another UT student. At right Durbin's attorney Frank Maloney resists photographers' attempts to take his picture as he enters the courtroom.

Precinct Lines Being Studied

Howard County Commissioners Court is digging into the thorny problem of readjusting voting precinct lines in such a way as to more equally balance the voting strength in each of the commissioner precincts.

This is in accordance with recent rulings of the courts. The court is faced with the problem of making the revisions based on the 1968 registration totals which vary considerably from the 1969 figures.

Studies made showed that Commissioner Simon Terrazas' Precinct 1 has only 20 per cent of the total registered voters in 1968. Under the 1969 registration, he has only 18 per cent.

Ray Nichols, Precinct 2, had 33 per cent of the 1968 voters and 34 per cent of the 1969 total.

Bill Crooker's Precinct 3 had 25 per cent of the voters both in 1968 and 1969, and Billy Tume's Precinct 4 had 22 per cent in 1968 and 23 per cent in 1969.

In 1968, there were 14,312 registered voters in the county. Precinct 1 had 2,790 of these; Precinct 2 had 4,767; Precinct 3 had 3,575 and Precinct 4 had 3,180.

Current registration rolls show Precinct 1 with 2,203; Precinct 2 with 4,095; Precinct 3, with 2,983, and Precinct 4 with 2,706. The total registration for 1969 was 11,986.

The shifting of precinct lines to reduce the heavy percentage of voters in Nichol's precinct and raise that of Terrazas to more equally match the voters in other precincts will be a difficult assignment.

The court will continue study of the problem and seek a workable solution.

The court also appointed its official list of precinct judges and assistants for the ensuing year at its meeting today.

Lines Shorted

Police answered a call early today to Giant Foods when a garbage truck driven by Eules Johnson, 1107 Johnson, came in contact with guide wires to utility poles, causing the lines to short out and burn.

Five Mishaps Investigated

Police investigated five accidents during the weekend, none causing injuries.

A car belonging to Lilah Coleman, 3217 Drexel, sustained light damage when it was involved in an accident while parked at the College Park Shopping Center. The other car left the scene unidentified.

Cars driven by Willis S. Hooper, 2300 Grace, and Bonnie J. Hartley, 806 Marcy, Apt. 3, collided in the parking lot of the Safeway Store on Gregg in the VA Hospital parking lot, cars driven by Debra Adkins, 1808 Settles, and Johnny D. Sherrod, Garden City, were involved in a mishap.

A car belonging to Mrs. E. H. Hartin, Krum, was involved in an accident with a car driven by Ralph J. Neill, Gail Route, while it was parked at Sixth and Elgin. A car driven by Dorothy W. Creswell, 500 Owens, was involved in a mishap with a car belonging to M. A. Viera, 113 NE 9th, while it was parked at the Dairy Queen on East Fourth.

News Briefs

Agent To Help Investigation

A special agent from the State Insurance Board is due in town today to confer with Sheriff A. N. Standard on the recent operations of a forgery gang here.

The trio said to have perpetrated the forgeries used the use of pretending to be insurance agents. By this means they got inside residences. Once inside they managed to steal personalized check forms and

Hunt Returns From Meeting

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, returned Sunday evening from a meeting of the executive board of the Texas Association of Colleges and Universities. He is chairman of the group's commission on college and school relationships. One of the prime items of business held

Heavy Docket Of Teenagers

Keith Jones, juvenile officer, had a heavy docket of teenage referrals from the police and the sheriff's office to look into Monday.

During the weekend, two girls, 16 and 17, were picked up for theft in a grocery store; a 13-year-old boy was held for the sheriff's office to look into the stabbing of his brother as

Man Wanted Here Named In Odessa Murder Charge

An 18-year-old Odessa man, wanted for questioning in Big Spring regarding an assault, was arrested Sunday in Odessa and charged in the stabbing death of another Odessa.

Macario Estorga was arrested Sunday and charged with the murder of German McGregory, 54. Mr. McGregory was found in a South Odessa alley about 10 p.m. Saturday and was dead on arrival at Medical Center Hospital with a stab wound in his chest and one on each side of his abdomen just below the Police said a woman told them she heard a commotion in the alley and looked out to see one man lying on the pavement and another man bending over him. She said the man ran from the alley while she was calling police, and she could not identify him.

Police said Mr. McGregory was seen Saturday night with two men in several bars on the south side of Odessa, but they were not seeking the second man. Police said Estorga had just moved to Odessa from Big Spring.

Big Spring police Saturday issued a warrant for Estorga's arrest in connection with the stabbing of Ismael Juarez, 1003 NW 2nd. Juarez was reported in serious condition but improving satisfactorily today at

Lawhorne Gets TCU Position

Dr. Clifton Lawhorne, formerly a member of the Herald's staff, will be the new head of the department of journalism at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

He has been named to the post by Dr. E. G. Newcomer, chancellor of TCU and is due to report for duty Sept. 1.

In 1952, Lawhorne came to the Herald as a reporter upon graduation from the University of Texas where he had earned his master's degree in journalism. He also did graduate work at the University of Minnesota and took his bachelor's degree at Hardin-Simmons University in 1951. He completed work on his doctorate at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill., this spring.

After leaving the Herald, Lawhorne went to the Corpus Christi Caller-Times in 1956. After approximately a decade on the paper there, he became an instructor at Del Mar College before earning a fellowship to work on his doctorate.

A native of Abilene, he served as a staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force from 1945-48, spending two years in Europe as a cryptographic technician. He began his journalistic career as a summer intern at the Marshall News-Messenger in 1950, and the following summer he edited a small weekly newspaper in Austin. At Southern Illinois he also edited the Grassroots Editor, a state professional paper. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi and other professional organizations.

Adobe Pegs Wolfcamp Try

Adobe Oil Co. of Midland has staked No. 1 McEntire 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 8-23-H&C survey for exploration of Wolfcamp at 7,400 feet. The wildcat, located 10 miles northwest of Sterling City, is 3/4 of a mile northeast of the two-well Credo (upper Wolfcamp) pool.

Cities Service Oil Co. recompleted No. 2-C Kendrick, a former lower Spraberry producer in Dawson County, as an oil well from the upper Spraberry and as a 1/2-mile east outpost to the Felken multipay (Spraberry) region, seven miles southeast of O'Donnell.

It yielded 60-71 barrels of 38.9 gravity oil and 50.22 barrels of water per day pumping from perforations between 6,838-88 feet with a gas-oil ratio of 576-1. The section had been stimulated with 650 gallons and a rupture of 10,000 gallons of fluid mixed with 20,000 pounds of sand.

It is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 9, block 1, J. Poltevent survey.

Cities Service originally potentialized No. 2-C Kendrick in July, 1961, from lower Spraberry shot holes at 7,494-512 feet to flow 173 barrels of 36-degree crude, plus five per cent water, on a 1/2-inch choke after treating with 500 gallons of mud acid and 10,000 gallons of fracture fluid. Gas-oil ratio was 1,000-1.

Webb Copter Finds Two Bulls, Rounds Them Up

It was copter vs. cowboy, and the copter was an easy winner.

A two-weeks hunt for two valuable Hereford bulls, reported missing from the R. V. Fryar place near Elbow, ended Sunday morning in a pasture on a ranch about two miles north of Fryar's. The two bulls, safe and sound, had been found.

Patient Landed At Webb Sunday

Ralph H. Cross, a retired lieutenant colonel, was resting well in the Webb AFB Hospital Sunday afternoon, following an apparent heart attack suffered during a flight from El Paso to Webb.

His wife, Louise D. Cross, was pilot of the Beechcraft Bonanza in which the couple was flying from their home in El Paso. A few miles west of Webb, Cross suffered an apparent seizure, whereupon Mrs. Cross radioed Midland air terminal for instructions to contact Webb. The Webb tower guided her in for a landing here at 12:15 p.m.

A Webb ambulance, directed by Capt. (Doctor) Arnold S. Friedman, met the plane and rushed Cross to the Webb hospital, where he was resting comfortably Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Cross reported.

Two Blazes Out

Firemen investigated two minor fires during the weekend, causing no damage. A tree stump behind Nichol's Laundry, 209 NW 2nd, caught fire Saturday from unknown causes, and a grass fire at 1000 W. 6th was extinguished Sunday. Firemen said the fire possibly started in a junk car and spread to the nearby grass.

HELLO, GOVERNOR

With Brown in another stolen auto, they fled over twisting La. 1 southeast to Cloutierville, about 70 miles away.

At Cloutierville, they held Jack Starnes, his wife and four others as hostages.

Again the escapees talked to the governor. And again he told police not to follow immediately, but he warned the escapees: "There's no way in the world for us not to know where you are."

With jailer Brown driving, the escapees cut across a cotton field to get back to paved roads.

Near Flatwoods, the trio pushed Brown out of the car. The trio then headed into the desolate national forest. Police set up roadblocks at all exits the escapees could use.

But it was Martin, who said he knew one of the men as an ironworker in Houston, that finally put an end to the flight. Pettitt was captured at a roadblock as Martin was driving him to medical care.

Second Half Registration Set Tuesday

Howard County Junior College will register for the second half of the summer term Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the college library.

Classes will begin Wednesday morning. Both day and evening classes will be offered, and most of them are a continuation of the classes in the first half. In addition to biology and zoology 402 (second half) the first half 401 course also will be offered. There will be a few first half courses, such as freshman English (composition).

Over 1,000 Attend Opening Night Of Starlight Specials

Approximately 1,200 people attended the Gospel Sing-Song Sunday for the opening program of the "Starlight Specials" in the City Park amphitheatre, according to Joe Dunn, master of ceremonies.

Choirs from East Fourth Baptist, First Methodist, and Trinity Baptist sang, and musicians from Trinity Baptist presented music during the offering.

Barbara Murphy and Daphne Smith, Westside Baptist, and Ralph and Joan Barris, Baptist Temple, sang duets. A group from Iglesia Bautista La Fe sang several selections in Spanish. A quartet from Birdwell Lane Baptist Church, including the Rev. Robert Lee, Charles Grizzard Sr., Charles Grizzard Jr., and Nile Cole, also sang.

The program opened with congregational singing led by David Elrod, Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ. Other song leaders were Ralph Barris, Baptist Temple; Raiford Dunagan, East Fourth Baptist; Larry Stanley, First Methodist; Leonard Moody, Trinity Baptist; Ben Ealy, Webb AFB; and Bill Norwood.

Youth groups from Baptist Temple and First Baptist presented the Starlight Special Youth Night program at 8:15 p.m. today. A Christian folk musical "Good News," presented by Baptist Temple, and "Christ In You The Hope," a folk musical presented by First Baptist will highlight Youth Night activities.

A sextet including Sharon Andrews, Debbie Dunlap, Jan Morehead, Cathy Carlile, Barbara Long, Mary Driks, and Betty McCann, accompanist, from First Baptist will also perform. Directors of the musicals are Bruce Hudspeth, Baptist Temple, and Bob Friddy, First Baptist.

Other events during the week include Drama Night, Tuesday; Western Night, Thursday; Musical Variety Show, Friday, and Teen Night, Saturday. Tickets are 25 cents each, with preschool children admitted free, and performances begin nightly at 8:15 p.m.

Baptist Temple Hippies

A Christian folk musical "Good News," presented tonight as part of the Youth Night activities of the Starlight Specials, involves a group of hippies who unsuccessfully try to persuade a young man from joining a church choir. Included in the cast are Albert Carlie (left), Johnny Tonn, Jerre Tonn and Gene Lee.

Crippled Children's Clinic Set Saturday

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, in cooperation with the Howard County Easter Seal Society, will conduct a crippled children's clinic Saturday. All children up to 21 years of age, including those outside Howard County, are eligible to attend; no fee will be charged for services. Parents who wish to have their children seen should have them referred by the family physician. If they do not have a physician, they should contact the center, 267-6387, or register the children at the center before noon Saturday. The clinic will be under the supervision of the center's medical advisory committee, composed of Dr. B. Broadrick, Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., Dr. Nell W. Sanders, Dr. Louise Worthy, Lt. Col. Parker, Dr. Pete Rhymes and Dr. Jim Roberts. Dr. Thurston Dean, orthopedic surgeon from Midland, will be the clinic's medical director, assisted by Dr. Rhymes, an orthopedic surgeon also. Dr. Worthy will be the clinic's pediatrician. The purpose of the clinic is to offer a diagnostic and evaluative service to crippled children through a team approach, consisting of an orthopedic surgeon, a pediatrician, a physical therapist, a public health nurse, and a brace man. The team approach should determine best what kind of treatment a child needs, according to Jim Thompson, director. The clinic will also help to locate children who have not started treatment. Children who are eligible for the state crippled children's program have to be seen by a physician who is a member of the board of physicians approved by the state crippled children's division, before they can be placed under the program. Dr. Dean and Dr. Rhymes are both on that board.

Cops File Suits

Police, Troops On Alert After Rioting in Ireland

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police and troops were kept on alert throughout Northern Ireland today after a weekend of rioting and gunfire in which at least 87 persons were hurt. Police spokesmen said the fighting was the worst since the civil rights campaign against the government touched off violence last autumn between Northern Ireland's Protestants and Catholics. In Londonderry, long a center of religious feuding, eight policemen fired in the air to scatter a mob who had trapped them in a side street. Civil rights leaders blamed the weekend riots on reaction to Orange Day parades Saturday at which Protestants celebrated the victory of King William over Catholic forces at the Battle of the Boyne almost 300 years ago. "This has nothing to do with civil rights," said Eamonn McCann, one of the more extreme leftists in the civil rights movement. "The old primeval instincts have come to the surface. It is a religious war, aggravated by the massive Catholic unemployment in Derry and by the bad housing conditions in the Bogside." Londonderry's

Demo Unmoved By GOP Request

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The chairman of Pennsylvania's Democratic State committee has received a letter from Republican National Headquarters asking for a $10 donation to the GOP. The letter, headed "Dear Fellow Republican," was sent to Thomas Minehart, asking financial support as a sustaining member of the national committee. Minehart wrote back, asking the GOP to subscribe to "The Pennsylvania Democrat."

A LOVELIER YOU

Choose Airy Scent For Summertime Use

By MARY SUE MILLER

The scent a lovely uses should be chosen, like her dress, to fit the occasion and the season. Just as you would not wear a satin suit to a picnic, you would not wear a femme fatale perfume to business meetings or informal social gatherings.

By the same token, you would avoid overpowering scents in hot, humid weather. Those who do otherwise make a poor show of taste and manners.

Meant to give pleasure, what a pity that fragrance should ever give offense. To sidestep the possibility, you need only to fit the scent to sense and sensibility.

Generally speaking, the fragrances that match the mood of summer fashions and activities are light and airy — a delicate floral, a fern-fresh blend, a spicy bouquet. Such scents, what's more, keep their cool better than the exotics in summer when heat and humidity intensify all fragrances.

A light fragrance, in cologne form, gives instant refreshment. A splashy rubdown with chilled cologne keeps you frosty for long periods. Perfume, the strongest scent, is not for splashing. But when it is truly delicate, it may be applied liberally without fear of offending. Actually, it must be applied liberally if your skin is dry. Oily skin retains fragrance much longer than dry skin.

Do take a purse flacon on your daily rounds. Beats the heat!

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Party

Miss Linda Fenley, bride-elect of Jackie Bowen, was honored Friday evening with a gift shower in the home of Mrs. A. L. Cooper, 1600 Wood.

The honoree, attired in a blue crepe dress, was presented a white carnation corsage as was her mother, Mrs. W. I. Fenley, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. James Bowen.

Guests were served refreshments from a table covered with a floor-length white lace cloth with an underlay of white satin. Blue and white spring flowers formed the centerpiece, and the white cake was decorated in blue. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Hostesses, who presented Miss Fenley with a toaster-waffle iron combination, were Mrs. Bill Coats, Mrs. Virgil Smedley, Mrs. Ray Parker, Mrs. W. J. Shepherd, Mrs. Earl Kelley, Mrs. Hubert Gilbert, Mrs. Wayne Salmon, Mrs. Ben Daugherty and Mrs. Wallace Napper.

The couple will be married Aug. 9 in Phillips Memorial Baptist Church with the Rev. Alf F. Skognes of Abilene officiating for the service.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I always dreaded making cupcakes because whenever it would come to filling the cupcake tins, I would have nothing but one big mess.

I tried all methods of filling the tins, without success. Then one day I put the batter into a small pitcher and poured it into each cup from there.

The batter doesn't drip down the sides or onto the tops of the tins.

I don't mind baking cupcakes at all now since I've found this solution. Jean Stewart

Dear Heloise:

Mrs. Bob Griffin Honored Recently With Gift Shower

Mrs. Bobby Griffin, the former Sherry Stroup, was complimented recently with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, 704 Highland.

Hosting the affair were Mrs. Perry Cotham, Mrs. Duke Pierce, Mrs. Carlos Humphrey, Mrs. Frank Mullican, Mrs. David Elrod, Mrs. Curtis Mullins, Mrs. Charles Havens, Mrs. Owen Ivie, Mrs. H. B. Perry, Mrs. Ray Richie and Mrs. Morehead.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru cutwork cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. The multi-color floral arrangement was of daisies, gladioli and carnations. Miss Nancy Ivie and Miss Teresa Lynn Griffin, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the table.

The honoree was attired in an apricot knit dress styled with a dropped waist and belted with a jeweled buckle. She was presented a corsage of yellow feathered chrysanthemums, and white mum corsages were received by her mother, Mrs. Walter Stroup, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Jack Griffin.

The couple was married June 28.

Troy Lankfords On Colorado Trip

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lankford are vacationing in Colorado.

George Sweatt Jr. of Lubbock spent the weekend with his parents.

The Hollis Bledsoe family of El Cerrito, Calif., former local residents, visited this week with the D. A. Oglesbys, Mrs. Frank Oglesby and the George Davsons. Another guest of Mrs. Frank Oglesby has been her niece, Rhonda McGowan, who has returned to Hobbs, N.M. with her parents.

J. E. Salley of Houston is visiting his parents, the Herman Salleys of the Spade Community.

Utilize Space Area When Remodeling

Whether you're remodeling an old bathroom or building a new one, take advantage of every inch of space you have available to make it as large as possible. The Tile Council of America recommends taking advantage of the huge selection of American-made ceramic tiles in colors, sizes, shapes, designs and textures that will make your bath a design center in your home.

Defrost If Needed

For best operation, a refrigerator should be defrosted when frost becomes one-fourth inch thick on the freezing unit.

Bridal Shower Fetes Mrs. Bobby Blalock

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. Bobby Blalock of Stanton, the former Maritha Oden of Westbrook, was honored with a bridal shower Thursday at First United Methodist Church.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. D. Iglehart, Mrs. Clyde Chambers, Mrs. L. M. Scroggins, Mrs. Willis Clemmer, Mrs. Keith Williamson, Mrs. Curtis Clemmer, Mrs. Leroy Miller, Mrs. Bill Apperson, Mrs. Rex McKenney, Mrs. C. E. Ranne, Mrs. D. A. Oglesby, Mrs. Ralph Bryant, Mrs. W. A. Bell and Mrs. Troy Lankford.

Others in the house party were Miss Sue Bell and Miss Patricia Bell who served, and Miss Carole Bell who registered guests.

Blue and white were used in decorations, and corsages were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. E. A. Oden, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Lois Blalock of Stanton. The hostess' gift was a set of cookware.

Out-of-town guests were the honoree's grandmother from Sweetwater, Sherrill Hendricks and Eileen Hendricks, both of Roswell, N.M., and Mrs. Billy Blalock of Stanton.

The couple, who was married June 14, is residing in Stanton. Both will attend Sul Ross College this fall.

moves away, either to college the service, or gets married they really appreciate being kept informed of the happenings of their school friends.

A Devotional For The Day

The spirit comes to the aid of our weakness. We do not even know how we ought to pray, but through our inarticulate groans the Spirit himself is pleading for us. (Romans 8:26, NEB)

PRAYER: Lord Jesus, where in my prayers I ask amiss, correct me. Where through my lack of faith my prayers cannot reach Thy Father's throne, carry them with the voice of Thine intercession, O Thou whom the Father always hears. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Tip On Watering

Water consumption is running at a peak for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, and it's likely to continue until we get a break in the weather — or until the water bills come out.

One contributing factor to the big jump locally has been the use of air conditioners around the clock instead of cutting them off in the evening and night as is the normal practice. Too, rains in May and early June left yards in good condition, and residents are trying to keep them that way.

There is one tip that will help everyone — the suppliers and the consumers. Water less often, but water more thoroughly. This gets the water down into the root section where it will do the most good and away from the surface where it is more subject to evaporation.

Touching A Sore Spot

Gov. Preston Smith has summoned officials of a number of insurance companies to confer over the projected 11.4 per cent increase in automobile insurance rates. He terminated the increase "catastrophic."

There is little prospect that he can do anything about the imposition of the new schedule slated to take effect next month. Some observers see this as a shrewd move to get his foot in the door for some hard punches in 1970 when insurance buyers also will be more mindful voters.

Be that as it may, the governor has put his finger on a sore spot with the public. From the time that insurance was made compulsory by Texas, premium rates have climbed progressively and often time sharply. The latest hike falls into that category, and piled on top of increases of former years, it is doubly rough.

Insurance companies plead that their records will show they are losing money because the ratio and cost of claims continues to be higher and higher. They can't continue to pay out as much or more than they receive in premiums, they argue with considerable logic.

As a general thing, there no longer is an art of repair, but rather it is a business of replacement. High labor costs simply won't justify repair, operators contend. Somewhere, something has got to give, or else there will be a clamor for the state to get into the business.

Farm Program Far From Perfect

By REP. OMAR BURLESON, M.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — There was a time when the problems of agriculture could hold the center of the stage in Washington. This was the day when the so-called "farm bloc" had great influence simply because of numbers. In recent years this number has steadily decreased to the point that relatively few members of Congress are directly interested in the farmer and rural areas. We have turned from an agricultural oriented economy to an industrial economy. It has been a natural evolution, but it has also aggravated problems, not the least of which are social. The concentration of population, according to all studies, has greatly contributed to problems of transportation, sanitation, health care, schools and other social conditions reflected in the things we see and read about in the big cities.

THE FARM program expires at the end of 1970. Next year the Congress must face up to either extending the various programs in their present form or devise other methods in an attempt to keep a healthy agricultural economy. The Agriculture Committee of the Congress is to begin hearings in the very near future as a predicate to studies of specific recommendations to be developed before the expiration of the present law. The administration has not yet come up with proposals but some are expected within the next month. Actually no legislation of any substantial nature

Billy Graham

I am in serious trouble brought about by one of my children and can't see any way out. I have prayed about it but it does not seem to help. What can I do? P.L.

Regardless of what the trouble may be, God is sufficient for every need and able to solve this problem for you. Let me suggest a procedure for you. If you decide to build a house, you first make your plans, make the necessary financial arrangements, get a contractor and begin the house by laying the foundation first. Make this plan: turn over everything to God and determine in your heart that you will do His will, regardless of the apparent cost. Lay the right foundation by asking God to show you every step you should take. This may mean discipline of your child. It may mean making restitution for something he has done. It may mean acknowledgment that you yourself have failed both God and your child. But, regardless of what it is, determine to follow God's leading in the matter. When you do this, you will have fulfilled God's requirements and you can rest assured that He will help you and lead you to the right way. God can use this trouble to bring you and your child both to Him. The Apostle Paul tells us that nothing, absolutely nothing, can separate us from the love of God. Sin separates us from God but not His love. Surrender to Him completely and He will give you peace.

His Ally!

John Cunniff Mutual Funds On Skid Row

NEW YORK (AP) — Many highly regarded mutual funds that less than a year ago were the rage of the stock market are now performing so poorly that their losses far exceed the decline in the market as a whole. Their performance—or lack of it—seems to puncture many widely held beliefs regarding the ability of funds to outperform the market. In fact, the poor showing of the funds seems to have intensified the recent market drop.

MANY OF THE declines in asset value per share were more than 20 per cent during the first half of the year, and some losses even exceeded 30 per cent. In the same period the N.Y. Stock Exchange Index fell only 8.1 per cent.

Heavily emphasized in the funds' sales literature is the assurance that money invested in their shares will be professionally managed, the inference being that the investor will have more protection than if he invested on his own. A fee is charged for this management.

SO POOR HAS been the record of the majority of funds that the compilation of "best performers" is really a list of funds that have suffered the smallest losses. Only one major fund seems to have managed a gain in the six months.

Some of the severest declines were suffered by funds that not many months ago were surrounded by an aura of certain success after seemingly cracking the code that marked the route to profits.

The highly touted Enterprise Fund, which in 1967 ran up an astonishing gain of more than 113 per cent, dropped 29.3 per cent in asset value per share during the first half of 1969.

THE FLETCHER Capital Fund and the Fletcher Fund, which are managed by the same firm that guides Enterprise, registered losses of 24.8 per cent and 27.6 per cent respectively. These losses have deepened since June 30.

Statistics compiled by the Nuveen Corporation, a brokerage house, reveal a story that apparently belies some of the popular claims of the funds, such as their alleged ability to cushion losses for small investors.

Nuveen analyzed the performance of 327 funds with assets in excess of $1 million. Of these, only the Templeton Growth Fund managed to increase its asset value in the six months, advancing by 8.7 per cent. The other 326 declined.

IN FACT, only 51 of the funds managed to do better than the Dow Jones Industrial Average; that is, they managed to hold their losses to less than 7.5 per cent.

The performance of funds also influences strongly the per share valuation of stocks in which they invest, and in this manner, it can be argued, their recent poor performance has deepened the sharp market decline of 1969.

Hal Boyle Worth Remembering

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Illness or disability causes the average employe to miss 5.4 days of work yearly.

HOW MUCH do you spend on your pet dog? Probably about $115 annually — unless you are one of those owners who like to splurge by ornamenting their pooches with $25 rhinestone collars and mink coats that range from $150 to $1,000. Some $3 billion will be spent in 1969 caring for the nation's 26 million canine pets.

What are the chances that you will suffer some kind of injury this year? Slightly more than one out of four. So—take care.

POOR PEOPLE are more likely than the wealthy to develop arthritis. On the other hand, people with reasonably high incomes but low education levels are more likely to take their own lives. A recent study found suicide rates excessive among machinists, plumbers, carpenters and electricians.

Boating has become probably America's fastest growing recreation. About 42 million will take to the water in boats this summer. The number is expected to rise to 97 million by the year 2000, when it may become as hard to find a place to park a boat as it is now to park a car.

SEW SEW: Last year women home sewers stitched out more than 300 million garments—an amount equal to a third of all the dresses, coats, suits, slips and blouses turned out in factories.

To Your Good Health Can A Person Die Of Allergy?

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: On a radio "talk program" it was asserted that "no one ever died of allergies." What about people who die from the sting of a bee? Or after injection of certain medicines? Aren't these considered allergy deaths?—Mrs. B.A.

Technically, such deaths are from anaphylactic shock. The term allergy is generally understood to refer to the lesser sensitivities causing hives, swelling, itching, and so on.

Anaphylactic shock is an extreme reaction in an allergic individual. However, "laryngeal edema" (swelling of the voice box area) can result from a severe allergic reaction, which, although it is short of anaphylactic shock, could shut off breathing. It could be fatal. Therefore I cannot agree that "no one ever died of allergies."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 12. My weight is 96 pounds and my height is four feet 10 inches. Nobody thinks I am heavy, but I think I could stand to lose 10 pounds. Could you prescribe something for me?—J.P.M.S.

You are about 10 pounds heavier than ideal weight for your age and height.

If by "prescribe," you mean suggest some reducing medication, my answer is no. Absolutely not.

But if you want me to tell you what to do, yes. Get plenty of exercise — get the habit of exercise, no matter what kind.

Eat a little less than you do — and especially limit sweets and fats, and avoid fried foods as they are heavy with fat.

Don't try to lose several pounds in a hurry. Just change your eating and exercise habits so you'll lose your excess weight gradually, and at the same time build up habits that will keep your weight normal.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. Piratical Pressures

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Church and State are paying blackmail to the rioters of 1964-68, hoping they won't do their thing again.

THAT $15,000 check handed over in the Washington Square (New York City) Methodist Church to a shirt-sleeved Negro militant had the look of the payoff. Perhaps the impression was heightened by the piratical beard of the recipient, James Forman. He called his demand for money a Black Manifesto, and he vowed an end to "the white racist capitalistic structure." He may not have intended to look like a buccaneer, but he talked like one.

FORMAN'S TAKE was only a down payment on the $500 million which he says is owed to the Negro community for reparations. This country paid in 700,000 casualties, 1861-65, to achieve emancipation for a race which was enslaved long before we had self-government. That was reparation of sorts. Until recent years we had an all-white Supreme Court and an all-white Senate which did much for the Negroes that Negroes couldn't do for themselves. White taxpayers have let themselves be mercilessly taxed to train and sustain the Blacks. These were reparations, too, voluntarily made, democratically arrived at.

IT WAS conscience-money, if you like, but different from paying blackmail under threat of violence and political reprisal. "Not one cent for tribute," has been a national policy since 1797, although we've sometimes breached the rule, as when we exchanged medical supplies with Castro in return for Bay of Pigs captives. Some will say we're letting ourselves be taken. President Nixon brought Black militants into his administration, and he's under pressure to outdo his Democratic predecessors in job-finding for Negroes.

SOME WILL SAY, again, it's about time. The President promised Black capitalism in his campaign, and a well-paid Black labor force is part of it. But the Constitution requires "equal protection," and doesn't say a word about preferential protection. What? Is Mr. Nixon yielding to blackmail by the Black militants? Keeping In Touch

WASHINGTON — A lot of criticism has been uttered by Democrats in Congress that the country is witnessing a "do-nothing" administration.

President Nixon and his cabinet have been charged with failing to furnish Congress with important legislative proposals that could have been acted on in the last six months.

But a counter comment is made the Republicans — namely, that the country is witnessing a "do-nothing" Congress. Although some committees have worked hard.

YET IT IS true that hardly any major legislation has been enacted. If the subject is examined more closely, it will be found, however, that constructive activity has also been going on during the last six months in the executive branch of the government. For when an administration changes, the incoming president and his cabinet must familiarize themselves with each problem and get a picture from the inside before they can concentrate on how to make improvements in established practices.

The executive branch of the government under President Nixon is in fact a "work-hard" administration. It is reluctant to act impulsively or come to conclusions without a thorough analysis of the merits of the pro-and-con of controversial subjects. This takes time.

CONGRESS ITSELF has an obligation to enact laws dealing with vital problems, and there is nothing in the Constitution which says that either the House or the Senate or both must wait for recommendations from a President before starting to legislate. It is significant, therefore, that neither the House nor the Senate has initiated and passed important legislation in recent months.

Not long ago, a group of 23 Republicans from the House of Representatives went around the country to find out firsthand something about the campus riots. They brought back a lot of interesting information which was presented in a report to the President. This is the kind of contact that could be made on other kinds of governmental problems, too.

WHILE EACH house has committees which specialize in particular subjects, not many members of either House can find the time to read thoroughly all the printed reports.

If each house could send around the country a group of 20 members and if each group could spend a few weeks studying a particular topic, the information gathered would be invaluable to Congress. Members who go back to their own districts or states too often find themselves importuned for jobs or favors.

SPECIAL GROUPS really could learn what the American people are thinking about — their reactions to the crime wave, their feelings about busing children from one school district to another, and their views on ways and means of getting better quality education for people of all races. The anti-poverty program, for instance, and the impact of the medicare program are but two of the many important issues that are before the government and on which the thoughts of citizens should be obtained.

Government is a far more difficult operation than it has ever been. States and cities as well as the Federal Government have never had to deal with one of the biggest challenges today — how to redistribute the population. Virtually 70 per cent of all the people are concentrated in urban areas occupying less than three per cent of the land in the United States. (Copyright, 1969, Publishers - Hall Syndicate)

Who Happened

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — There was a mighty confused rooster here recently. Hopkinsville Community College student John Wright used his aunt's pet rooster in a sex-hormone experiment in biology class and changed the bird into a hen.

The student was worried about how he might explain the situation to his aunt, but the biology instructor assured him the injections of female hormones would wear off.

"You think you're confused," Wright told a friend. "How do you think the poor bird felt?"

Astronaut Collins: Lonely Lifeguard For Apollo 11

(AP WIREPHOTO)

He Grew Up

Michael Collins of the Apollo 11 crew looked like this at various stages of his life before becoming an astronaut. At top at age 6 with the family dog, Punch, at Governor's Island, N.Y. In center as a member of the St. Alban's baseball team in 1948. He attended St. Alban's School, an Episcopal boarding prep school in Washington, in his final pre-college years. At bottom as a member of the class of 1952 of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. The 38-year-old Collins is an Air Force lieutenant-colonel.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The wags are saying that Michael Collins is like the guy who stayed on the Santa Maria while Columbus went ashore.

While Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. take man's first steps on the moon early on July 21, Collins will pilot the command ship alone in moon orbit 60 miles above them.

"Well, I think I would probably be less than honest if I said I thought I had the best seat of the three," says Air Force Lt. Col. Collins.

'I'M HAPPY'

"On the other hand, I can also say with complete honesty that I'm happy with the seat that I have. I like to feel they couldn't be doing what they are doing unless I were there doing my third of the part."

"I don't feel the slightest bit frustrated. I couldn't be happier than to be where I am."

A slender, cheerful man of many dimensions, Collins, 38, is neither awed by his destiny nor unduly impressed with the importance of his role in the epic adventure.

"Well, of course, just my own personal viewpoint, I'm not going anywhere that a couple of previous crews haven't already gone," he said in a recent interview.

"It looks to me that if you took Apollo 11 and the four preceding manned Apollo flights—the five flights altogether—it's sort of like if you took five guys six feet tall and you told them they had to get over a 30-foot wall."

"I feel sort of like the piece de resistance in a way—if all goes well. But we're really just that last guy getting over that 30-foot wall, and if he didn't have the shoulders of five people under him to stand on, he wouldn't be there."

THEY UNDERSTAND

When Armstrong and Aldrin separate from the command ship July 20 for the descent to the moon, Collins in effect becomes the lonely lifeguard of the Apollo 11 mission.

If trouble develops aboard the fragile moonship on the way down, he holds the only hope of survival for his colleagues.

But he cannot land the command ship on the moon. So if rescue is impossible, he must fire his rocket and return a quarter-million miles to earth alone, leaving Armstrong and Aldrin stranded, to die on the moon.

"I think it's an extremely remote possibility but those are the facts of the matter, as we all know," Collins said. "I'm sure Neil and Buzz understand."

While the "best possible job" has been done to insure crew safety, he said, danger is inherent in such a mission.

"If, for example, a micrometeorite of sufficient size hits, or if a crack develops, well then air leaks out, and that's just an inescapable fact," he said.

WEAK LINKS

"And there are other equally weak links in the chain. We hope they won't break, those links, and we've made them as strong as humanly possible, but if one of them breaks, it's broken."

He does not welcome the prospect of becoming a national hero.

"I don't know," he mused. "Unfortunately, it's one of those things you'll never know until it happens, if it happens. And by that time it'll be too late."

"If you don't like it, it'll be too late. You know what I mean? You don't have any chance of backing out. I... I think I would prefer to remain anonymous."

"You know, I'm not really big on parades and speeches and that sort of thing. I enjoy going where I want to go when I want to go, without people following me around."

"You know?"

Moon Men Will Dine Royally

NATICK, Mass. (AP) — Compared with early spacemen, astronauts Michael Collins, Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. will dine royally in Apollo 11 as they fly moonward this month.

Thanks to a team of food technicians at the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories — NLABS — the space menu has grown from rather bland and limited pastelike food, to far more appealing edibles.

Shrimp cocktail, a salad, beef pot roast, brownies, strawberry cubes and a cup of tea might be a typical dinner for a member of the Apollo 11 team. But that is only one of dozens of variations he may choose. Chicken and gravy, beef and vegetables, meat and spaghetti, a wide variety of sandwiches, desserts and soft drinks are also among the 52 foods approved by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Sterilized, dehydrated and packaged in plastic vacuum bags, much of the food looks like a kitchen sponge. But after adding water the vegetables expand to look like vegetables and the beef and chicken dishes give off a home-cooked aroma.

It's not home cooking by a long shot, but it tastes surprisingly good. And at the prices, it should taste good. The food budget per day for each astronaut ranges from $150 to $300, with every bite custom-designed to appeal to the spacemen's appetites.

Space Info At-A-Glance

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 11 lunar module, which will land the first man on the moon, is the fourth to fly. The command module is the sixth of its type to fly, as is the Saturn-5 launch vehicle.

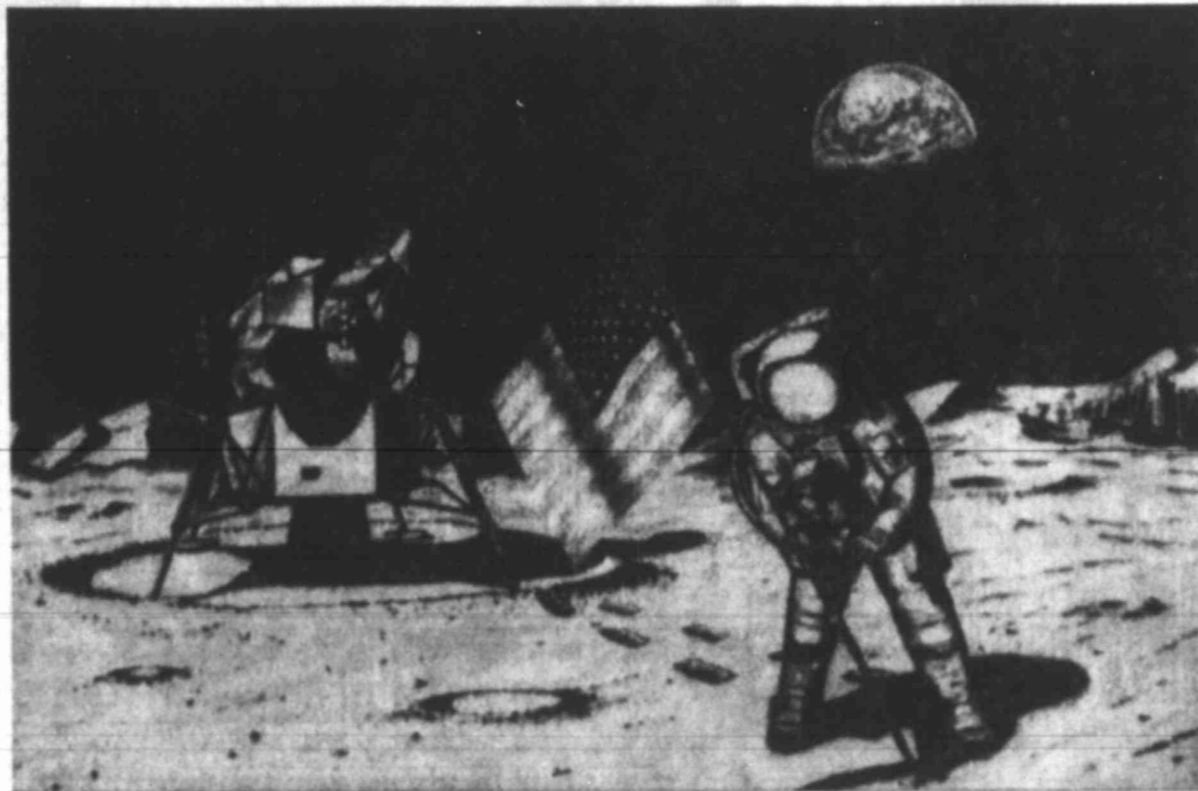

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — While on the moon, the Apollo 11 astronauts will collect samples of lunar soil down to 10 to 12 inches below the surface.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A timer, set to operate in two years, will turn off a seismic experimental package left on the moon by the Apollo 11 crew.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The lunar module of the Apollo 11 will have a touchdown velocity of from 4 to 8 feet per second—roughly 3 to 6 miles an hour.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The temperature on the moon varies 500 degrees. In sunlight, the temperature is about 250 degrees Fahrenheit, in darkness it drops to about 250 degrees below zero.

A special water-cooling unit in the portable life support system will protect the astronauts from the extreme heat. Their suits are insulated against the cold.

Plant The Flag

This is AP artist Ben Valdivieso's conception of how Apollo 11 astronaut Neil Armstrong will plant the American flag in the moon's soil after stepping onto the lunar surface. The flag will be made of nylon, three by five feet, and will be attached to an eight-foot-long staff.

Legal Side Of Moon

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Although the moon is international territory, there is no question about the legal rights of the Apollo 11 astronauts to land and explore it in the name of the United States.

The only major requirements are that it be done according to international law and for the benefit of all countries.

Legal experts say the 1967 space treaty clearly recognizes the role of individual countries in the exploration of celestial bodies even though it refers to astronauts as "envoys of mankind."

The 1967 pact, which deals specifically with the moon and other celestial bodies, guarantees the free access of all countries and declares there must be complete freedom of scientific investigation.

There is nothing in space law to prevent astronauts from displaying or planting their nation's flag. There is nothing to require them to carry any international symbol, such as the United Nations flag.

The Soviet Union, in fact, already has set a precedent by sending a Soviet hammer and sickle emblem to the moon in an unmanned capsule which made a soft landing on Feb. 3, 1966. At that time Soviet officials declared it had not claimed ownership of the area where the landing took place.

The space treaty says the "outer space, including the moon and other celestial bodies, is not subject to national appropriation by claim of sovereignty, by means of use or occupation, or by any other means."

Not many other restrictions will apply to Astronauts Neil A.

Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. They must exercise care that they do not contaminate the moon or bring back substances which might have a harmful effect on the earth environment. They must provide full information to other countries. And they must confine their activities to peaceful pursuits.

The major prohibitions in the treaty are not likely to have any bearing on this initial landing, since they deal with the placing of nuclear weapons on the moon, the building of military fortifications and the carrying out of military maneuvers.

The Apollo 11 crew could establish any sort of facilities or installations necessary for peaceful exploration. The only limitation on such facilities is that free access be granted to astronauts of other countries.

What happens if the Apollo 11 or succeeding astronauts should discover rich deposits of precious metals or gems? The treaty contains no prohibition on bringing back moon products. The only provision which might apply in a general way is a stipulation that all countries, exploring the celestial bodies, should conduct all their activities in space "with due regard to the corresponding interests" of other parties to the treaty.

Why These Three?

Wives Of Astros

The wives of Apollo 11 astronauts are, from top, Janet Armstrong, Joan Aldrin and Patricia Collins.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The crew of Apollo 11 got their chance to make man's first moon landing more by chance than anything else.

The original man-to-the-moon program called for Apollo 10 to be the spacecraft to put men on the lunar surface but troubles, particularly with the lunar module, forced a delay in the landing attempt until Apollo 11.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins were merely selected as the crew for a mission called Apollo 11. Only later did it turn out that 11 was to be the historic one.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration procedure for picking Apollo crews has been to take the backup crew from one flight and make it the primary crew for three flights ahead. Thus the backup crew for Apollo 7 became the primary crew for Apollo 10, and the backup crew for Apollo 8, the crew for next Wednesday's Apollo 11 flight.

NASA says it selects crews for space flights on the basis of personal compatibility and the proper combination of skills to manage the spacecraft and carry out the particular mission assigned to the flight.

"We're certainly glad it worked out the way it did," Armstrong, a civilian, 38, said recently. "It's a great honor to be selected for any mission in the Apollo program, this one, of course, in particular."

The three were named to the Apollo 11 crew in January. Even though it seemed likely at that point that they would be the first to try to put man on the moon, they could not be sure. If something had gone wrong on Apollo 9 or 10, they would have had to fly a repeat of one of those tests, pushing the landing off to Apollo 12 or even later.

Chance played an even more important role in Collins' berth on Apollo 11. He was originally scheduled to fly in Apollo 8 but was replaced last year after he underwent surgery for the removal of a bone spur on his spine.

"Particularly in my case, it's a matter of circumstance," Collins, 38, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, said recently. "I don't think there is any Apollo mainline crew that couldn't take over and do the job of the first lunar landing."

It Has Taken $24 Billion

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — It has taken almost $24 billion to give Neil A. Armstrong a chance to walk the moon for two hours, 40 minutes.

While he's doing it, the nation's first civilian astronaut will be earning only about $33 for his time.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has received $23.915 billion for space flight since the agency was created 10 years ago.

The money has gone for hardware, salaries, construction and training in a massive national effort to make the first man on the moon an American.

Armstrong, highest paid of the flying astronauts, gets $27,401 a year.

Based on a 40-hour week—although he usually works longer than that—the Apollo 11 commander will get $32.92 for the two hours 40 minutes he spends walking the moon. If he had to pay for the space suit he'll be wearing, it would cost him most 12 years' salary. The complete lunar surface outfit cost about $500,000. The two other Apollo 11 crewmen are Air Force officers. They get only what flying officers of their rank would receive in any other job.

Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., an Air Force colonel, receives $18,622.56 a year, including base pay, quarters and subsistence allowance, and flight pay.

Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins gets $17,147.76 a year, including the fringe benefits.

Apollo 11 itself is costing NASA $350 million. This includes $55 million for the command module; $41 million for the lunar module and $185 million for the Saturn 5 launch booster. It will cost $69 million for mission support, the most spent yet for personnel, fuel and other earthbound expenses.

Putting men on the moon has been expensive in another way, too.

Eight American astronauts have lost their lives since the space program began 10 years ago.

Three of them, Virgil I. Grisom, Roger B. Chaffee and Edward H. White II, died in a spacecraft. The trio were burned to death in January, 1967, when a fire, feeding on a pure oxygen atmosphere, flashed through an Apollo command module while they trained on a launch pad at Cape Kennedy.

Four astronauts lost their lives in airplane crashes while flying between the far-flung NASA facilities.

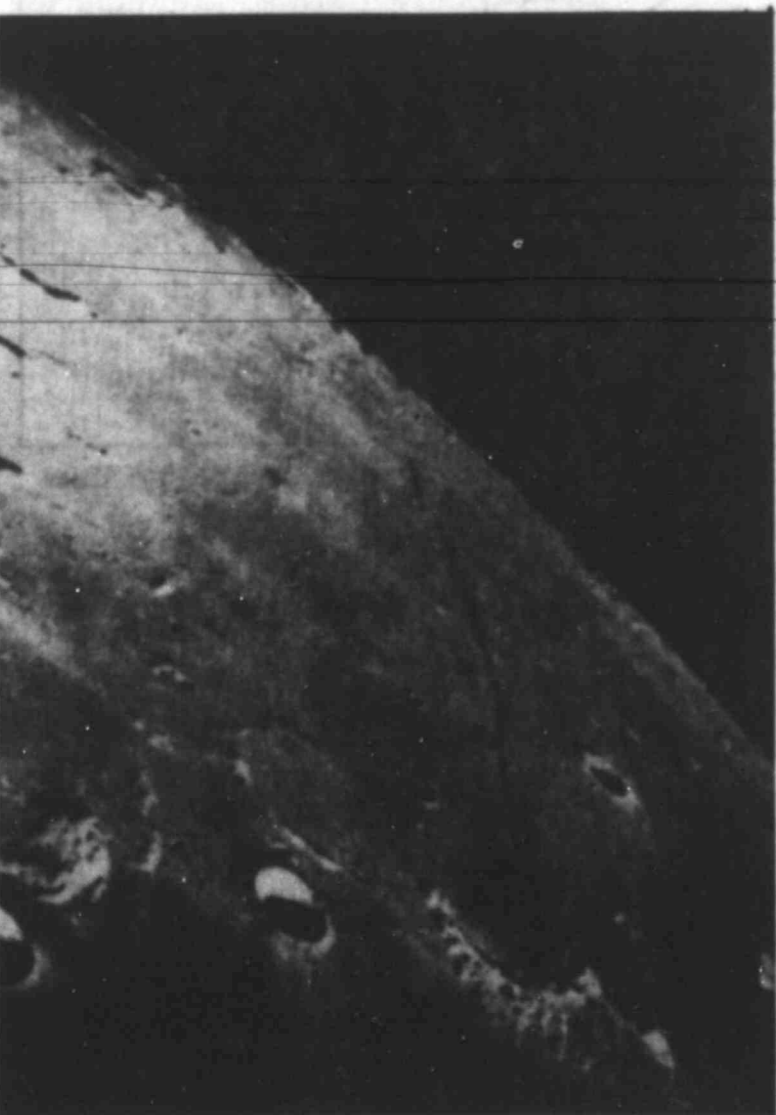

Charles A. Bassett II and Elliot H. See Jr. died in February, 1966, when their two-seater jet crashed on landing in St. Louis.

Theodore C. Freeman was killed in October, 1964, when his plane crashed near Houston after colliding with a goose.

Clifton C. Williams Jr. died in October, 1967, when his jet went out of control and crashed into a hilltop near the Florida-Georgia border not far from Tallahassee.

Another astronaut, Edward G. Givens Jr., died in a Houston traffic accident in June, 1967.

Only one man is known to have died during space flight. He was Russian cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov who was killed in April, 1967, when the parachute on his spaceship failed as the craft returned to earth. He was the first Russian to go twice into space.

Debbie Tired Of Winning, Looking For New Fields

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Debbie Meyer, who holds four world freestyle swimming records, has some good news for long-suffering freestylers. She's getting tired of it.

After winning her third event at the three-day Santa Clara International Invitational Swim Meet Sunday, Debbie said she was looking for new fields to conquer—in this case the individual medley.

The 16-year-old Sacramento, Calif., gal who won three freestyle gold medals at the Olympics last year and holds world records in four of the overhand events, indicated she has a hard time getting excited about her specialty any more.

She won the 1,500 meter free-

Namath Mystery Delayed For A Few Days More

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP)—The Joe Namath mystery case had another chapter today following an "automatic" called by the unpredictable quarterback at the line of scrimmage that delays for at least another 36 hours any revelation of his plans.

The line of scrimmage, manned by some 35 news media representatives, and hundreds of interested onlookers, was set Sunday at the Tower C dormitory on the Hofstra University campus here, where the New York Jets veterans were required to report by 6 p.m.

Persistent reports had speculated that Namath might show, but he slept through a noon celebration ceremony, at which the Jets of the American Football League received their championship rings, finally rose, drove out to pick up his girlfriend at the airport and then stepped off at Central Park for a softball game.

But, at 4 p.m., Namath changed the play, and Tower C buzzed with the news that he put in a call to Coach Weeb Ewbank.

"He stated he has a business deal to finalize and he will do that, then get back to me Tuesday night or Wednesday," Ewbank explained. "He was apologetic that he wasn't here and I got the impression that when he finished his business he would be ready to go."

'READY TO GO'

Ewbank, however, said he did not know whether the business involved concerned Bachelors III, the swinging East Side night spot reportedly frequented by gamblers, that is at the center of the dispute between Namath and pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle.

$102,000 VICTORY

Figonero Imported, Wins Race Over Heavy Favorite

By The Associated Press

Figonero imported from Argentina might sound like a delicacy. And it was for C.L. Hirsch.

Hirsch brought the 4-year-old colt to this country at a cost of about $80,000, and last Saturday Figonero won the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap by a length over Gene Giff's heavily favored Nodouble.

The victory was worth $102,000.

Eimendorf's Verbatim scored in a wire-to-wire victory in the $113,800 Amory L. Haskell Handicap at Monmouth Park; Neil Hellman's Gleaming Light also led all the way in winning the $81,150 Dwyer Handicap at Aqueduct, and Mrs. Whitney Stone's Shuvee took the $55,200 Cottillon Handicap at Liberty Bell Park.

Figonero, ridden by Alvaro Pineda, held off a strong stretch run by Nodouble in covering the 1 1/4 miles of the Gold Cup at Hollywood Park in 1:58 4/5.

W.R. Tawn's Poleax was third in the field of six.

In returning a winning mutual of $13.20, Figonero carried 115 pounds, three less than Poleax and 14 less than the high-weighted Nodouble.

Pete Anderson sent Verbatim, $27.20, over the 1 1/4 miles of the Haskell in 2:02 1/5 for a five-length victory over Lazy F Ranch's San Roque, with C.V. Whitney's Champion third in the field of 11.

Beard Credits Par As Turning Point

EDINA, Minn. (AP)—Frank Beard, spurred on by a common fly, was elated at last, weary and far from satisfied in the wake of his victory in the $110,000 Minnesota Golf Classic.

"You have certain goals," the articulate, intelligent man from Louisiana said after his resounding triumph. "One win doesn't do it. You have a lot to prove. You win one and you want to win two or three more before the year is over."

"I never had any doubts about my game or about myself. But I was beginning to wonder when I was going to win again."

He referred to a two-year victory drought — he'd finished second six times since the last title in June, 1967 — that was broken Sunday on the 6,913-yard par 71 Braemar Golf Club course.

And when he broke it, he did it convincingly with a final 66 for 269 — 15-under par — and a seven-stroke margin, matching the biggest victory margin of the year.

Oddly enough it was a par-one he almost didn't get—that Beard cited as the turning point of his round.

"It was on the fifth hole," he said. "I had about a 30-foot birdie putt. Just as I was about to strike the ball, a fly landed on it. I stepped back and brushed it away. Then, just as I hit the ball the fly landed again and I jumped just a little and I left it six feet short. But I made that putt for a par."

"Even though the margin turned out to be pretty big, that was the catalyst. That gave me the momentum. If there was a turning point, that was it."

He had five birdies and not a bogey in his steady, almost mechanical round. He reached two par fives in two and two-putted, birdied two par threes from six and 12 feet and pitched to within four feet on the ninth hole for a bird that gave him a five-stroke lead.

The victory was worth $20,000, pushed his earnings past $95,000 for the year, put him in sight of his third consecutive $100,000 year but came at a cost.

"I'm very tired," he said. "It will be worse at Philadelphia (this week). I'd much rather be home but I've got a wife and three kids to support."

Tommy Aaron, with a closing 68, and South African newcomer Hugh Ings, with a 70, tied for second at 276 and were trailed at 277 by Labron Harris, 70, and Dave Stockton, 73.

BRITON WINS Big Three Didn't Figure In British Open Rounds

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Astros are "brezing along with the breeze," with the opponents feeling the wind of the strike ball.

The Astros romp over the Cincinnati Reds 9-4, Sunday marked the 22nd time this season the pitching staff has gotten 10 or more strikeouts per game.

They've now registered 664 strikeouts in 91 games. The record is held by the Reds who got 1,122 in the 1964 season.

The Astros put the big bat to work in the seventh trailing 4-2 as they got seven runs in almost put the game on ice. It turned out to be a doubles match pitting Astros John Edwards, Hector Torres, Doug Rader and Julio Gotay against each other to see who could hit the farthest ball.

The Reds were almost able to rebound in the eighth. Whitfield got a home run off pitcher Jack Billingham, who replaced Jim Ray, scoring May ahead of him.

Fred Gladding came on the mound at this point to save the last two innings.

The Astros are now one game over the 500 mark at 46-45, their best showing in the standings since 1966.

Tonight they go up against the Dodgers, who are leading the National League West, to bring their current homestand to a close.

Denny LeMaster (7-9) is due to pitch.

Optimists Near Crown

The Optimists moved within a game of wrapping up the Hi Junior League with a 11-3 romp over the Indians Saturday evening.

Dave Duncan hurled three-hit ball for five innings and mowed down 13 Indians by the strikeout route before he retired after five innings. He also helped his cause with a homer in the fourth with two aboard. Oriol Olague gave up only eight hits, including three to Jim Pope and two for Jeter Grant, J. T. Smith and Henry Hard each had two hits for the Indians. The Optimists now are 11-1, the Indians 4-8. The box score:

Searing Sunshine

By The Associated Press
Scorching heat maintained its grip on Texas today. As usual forecasts held out hope for a few brief showers over the coastal plains and in Southwest Texas. None was expected to exert any cooling effect. Predictions covering the next five days promised farmers and ranchers only continued drought and searing sunshine. Top temperatures Sunday ran as high as 109 degrees at Wichita Falls. The mercury reached 103 at Childress, Texarkana and Waco, 102 at Cotulla, Dallas, Del Rio, Fort Worth and Laredo, 101 at Abilene, Alice, San Angelo, Tyler and Wink, and 102 at Amarillo, Childress, El Paso, Lubbock and Mineral Wells.

Miss Texas Does Her Thing
Dana Dowell, Miss Texas 1969, is shown doing her trap drum solo during Miss Texas Pageant in Fort Worth Saturday night. The 18-year-old beauty entered the pageant as Miss Longview.

Being Second Just Not Enough For Miss Texas

FORT WORTH (AP) — For the new Miss Texas, being second is just not enough. That's how Dana Dowell feels about the Miss America contest she will enter after winning the Texas crown Saturday night here. The 18-year-old beauty from Longview won her title over 62 other Texas girls to take the crown. During a news conference Sunday, the brown-eyed, brown-haired Miss Texas was asked if she would be satisfied to reach the semifinals in the Miss America contest. Her answer: "No!" "I hope to bring back the Miss America title for Texas," she said. She won her first victory as preliminary swimsuit winner Wednesday night during the week long pageant. She measures 36-23-36. In talent competition, she played a trap drum solo. She began playing the drums in the seventh grade and was to be featured drummer for the Kilgore Junior College. "The drum is the heartbeat of the band. It sets the pace, and the pace has a lot to do in the mood of the pageant. "With a drum you can express just as much as with any other instrument," she said, but she did not know if she will perform the same presentation at Atlantic City. Miss Dowell will receive a $2,000 scholarship as Miss Texas, and said "My father was real happy about this. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Dowell of White Oak. Drum major at Kilgore Junior College, she plans to use the scholarship to finish her education toward being a dermatologist because it helps "make people beautiful."

Borden Junior Rodeo Slated

The annual Borden County Junior Rodeo, sponsored by the Borden County Junior Livestock Association, will be held at the Borden County Arena, Gal., July 31 through Aug. 2. Over $500 in trophies, which include best average (three places in each age group) and all-around (one place in each age group), will be awarded. There will be two go-rounds, and activities start each day at 8 p.m. The fee is $5 for each event entered; entries close 4 p.m., July 30. Events in each age group are 12 years and under: barrel race, pole bending, flag race and breakaway roping; and 13-15 years and 16-19 years: barrel race, pole bending, calf roping, steer riding and breakaway roping. There will also be a boot scramble for youngsters eight years and under.

Check Of Voters' Roster Ordered

HOUSTON (AP) — A check of the voters' roster against the voters registration list has been ordered by Dist. Judge Wilmer Hunt to see if ineligible voters were cast in the May 10 Clear Creek Basin Authority election. Results are being contested by Richard Werlein, who was defeated by incumbent Don Raluto 61-60. A hearing on the results of the check is scheduled July 23. Clear Creek is near the Space Center.

Bridge Test

—CHARLES H. GOREN

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(c 1959; by The Chicago Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ855 ♠AQJ543 ♣Q8
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♦ Pass 2♣ Pass
2♥ Pass 3♦ Pass
? What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. This definitely shapes up as a slam, but in order to investigate the full limits of the combined holdings we suggest a rebid in hearts to clarify our distribution to partner. He will know that we have six diamonds and five hearts.
Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠7 ♣64 ♠K842 ♠A952
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1♥ Pass 2♦
Pass 3♥ Pass 4♣
Pass 4♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—This is a good hand for a partner who could open the bidding and then jump. We would not abandon hopes for a slam and recommend a raise to five hearts. This will indicate our concern about the spade situation. If partner can guarantee no more than one spade loser, a six contract will be a reasonable undertaking.
Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQ973 ♠AK82 ♠AQJ ♣3
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♣ Pass Pass 1NT
Dblc. 2♣ Pass Pass
? What do you bid now?
A.—Double. While it is clear that partner has very little if anything in the way of high cards, he might have a medium of distributional values—enough even to produce a game. In any event, your hand is too rich in high cards and support for all unbid suits to sell out so cheaply.
Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠752 ♠K82 ♠AJ1886 ♠AT
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1♣ Pass 1♦
Pass 1♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. While we are not enthusiastic about jumping in this kind of suit, no alternative call is available, if partner can stop the spades, a good play for nine tricks at no trump should be available.
Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠97 ♠A6 ♠92 ♠AKQ18542
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♣ Pass 2♣ Pass
2♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four no trump intending to go all the way if partner shows two aces and two kings.
Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ8542 ♠A9 ♠K652 ♣8
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
2♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. Due to the ragged nature of your suit, a jump in spades is not recommended. Since the picture is not quite clear at the present moment, a further postponing bid is in order. If partner rebids his suit again, you can raise it with assurance.
Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K10 ♠AKJ93 ♠J4 ♣8653
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 2♣ Pass
2♥ Pass 2♠ Pass
3♥ Pass 3♦ Pass
? What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. Partner is obviously fishing around for big things and he is doing so in the face of our minimum pronouncements. Because we have been careful to show no enthusiasm, one forward move is in order.
Q. 8—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:
♠AQJ102 ♠AQ65 ♠AQJ3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
4♥ Pass Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—Five hearts. This hand is worth 23 points in support of any suit partner can bid. Because as little as a king or a long suit in his hand will probably produce a slam, a mere double on your part would be placing too much pressure on him. You must take matters in your own hands and force him to speak.

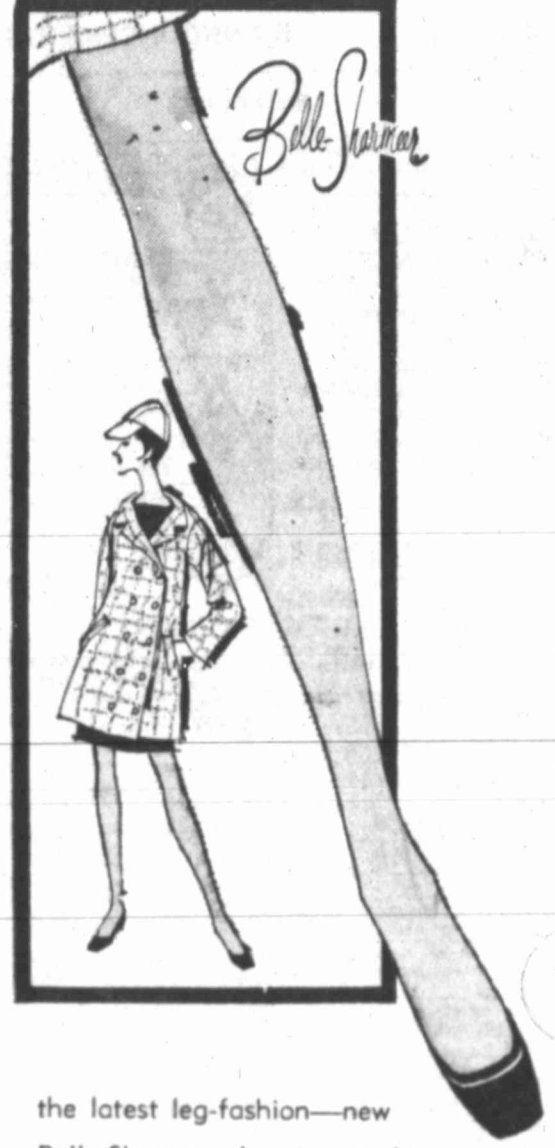

Enemy 'On The Move' Northwest Of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. forces fought a series of skirmishes with enemy forces "on the move" in provinces northwest of Saigon where American officers say a new Communist push may be developing, the U.S. Command said today. A total of 52 enemy were reported killed in the encounters, including 10 in the second day of fighting on the lower slopes of 3,232-foot Black Virgin mountain, which dominates the rice plains around Tay Ninh City.

LIGHT CONTACT
Light, scattered contact also was reported from other parts of the country as the first large contingent of U.S. Marines boarded ships at Da Nang to pull out of the war zone. The 2,800 men of the 9th Marine Regiment's 1st Battalion are part of the 25,000 Americans slated to leave South Vietnam by the end of August under President Nixon's withdrawal order. The U.S. Command also announced that additional elements of the 9th Infantry Division and a National Guard unit, the 650th Medical Detachment, will leave for the United States on Tuesday. The first large body of troops in the withdrawal were 814 men of the 9th Division who flew home July 8. The sharpest fighting reported today occurred Sunday afternoon as armored troops of the 1st Infantry Division probed the lower slopes of Black Virgin mountain.

The 1st Division men had reported killing 32 Viet Cong on Saturday when they went in to check the results of B52 strikes on enemy positions on the jungled slopes. Artillery and fighter-bombers pounded the mountainside again Sunday as the armored troops fired at areas where enemy troops were holed up in bunkers, caves and trenches. Sgt. Peter Copeland of Houston, Mo., said the mountain was "like a rotten log." "You beat on it and the bugs come bouncing out," he said. "It must be awfully noisy up there."

A search of the area late Sunday produced the bodies of 10 more enemy who had been killed by small arms fire, bringing to 42 the total claimed in two days. There were no U.S. casualties the command said. The U.S. Command also announced the launching of another Marine sweep along the coast south of Da Nang, the third such operation in that area in two months. The headquarters said men of the 26th Marines made a helicopter assault from aboard ship to seven miles south of the city on July 10, and 21 enemy have been killed. Seven American wounded were reported.
