ABOUT $10,000 'Cowboy' Robs Bank In Valley

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A man dressed in a straw cowboy hat and dark glasses robbed the First National Bank of Edinburg of about $10,000 today.

Officers said a man was arrested in McAllen a short time later, but state police said it was not known if he was the man wanted in the stickup. The man was soon released.

Teller Joe Gonzalez said the bandit handed him a note written on a First National bank check. The man was being held pending the arrival of FBI agents, Gonzalez said.

Gonzalez said he "forgot" to give the man about $6,000 in large denomination bills in his teller's drawer.

Officers said the man escaped in a light blue 1962 or 1963 Chevrolet. The car also had smoked glass windows such as those used for some air conditioned cars.

Medicaid Chief Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Francis L. Land, a Johnson administration appointee, submitted his resignation today as chief of the embattled medicare program of health care for the poor.

Dr. Land gave no reason for his resignation, which is to be effective Aug. 31.

But it follows by several days the publication of reports that he was being eased out.

Dr. Roger O. Egeberg commented in the wake of these reports that he thought Dr. Land wanted to quit, but Land denied at the time that he either wanted to step out or that anyone was trying to push him out.

Egeberg is the top health official in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Seven Absentee Ballots Cast

Four absentee ballots were cast Thursday in the County Clerk's office, bringing the total to seven ballots cast in the Aug. 5 special election. One ballot has been mailed out, but not received in the office, according to Pauline Petty, county clerk.

The ballot lists nine constitutional amendments. Deadline for absentee ballots is 5 p.m. Aug. 1, and all registered voters who will not be in Howard County Aug. 5 are eligible to cast absentee ballots.

Wage Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 1.4 million workers won wage increases of more than seven per cent in major collective bargaining settlements so far this year, considerably above last year's figure, the Labor Department said today.

The report said wage and fringe benefit increases averaged 7.2 per cent a year in a key contract agreements covering construction, transportation, lumber, metal working, clothing and petroleum industries.

This compared with a 6.6 per cent average in 1968, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

National Job Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — A moonlighting computer is humming and blinking the way toward a national job bank, a system which would tell a man every morning where he could get work, Labor Secretary George P. Shultz says.

By day the second generation computer in Baltimore writes unemployment checks for the U.S. Training and Employment Service.

At night it updates job lists for the area. By dawn it has ready a fresh line-up to 10,000 openings — on the desks at the Baltimore Employment Service and 15 outlying stations.

Shultz, in an article in Business Management magazine, said the computer has been highly successful and that the experiment will be extended to 35 other large cities, hopefully by year's end.

In Today's HERALD Bond Interest Rates

Proposition No. 6 on the constitutional amendments ballot of Aug. 5 proposes to remove interest-rate limitations on certain public bonds. An analysis of the issue appears today on Page 1-B.

QUARANTINED ASTRONAUTS — Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin Aldrin Jr., shown in their quarantine station after arriving aboard the carrier USS Hornet after the crew returned from a successful walk on the lunar surface.

Locked Up Explorers Found 'In Good Shape'

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — Back from the moon but isolated from the world, the men of Apollo 11 today were pronounced in better condition than astronauts returning from previous flights.

After 11 hours of examining the spacemen, Dr. William Carpentier said he found no evidence of contamination from the moon. Despite one man's minor ear inflammation "I think they're in good shape," he said.

The physician said Neil A. Armstrong, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins showed less deterioration in heart and blood vessels than other Apollo men have had. He wasn't sure why.

But he was sure that the inflammation in one of Armstrong's ears was not important. He said there may have been a buildup of fluid in the ear due to the pressures of re-entry and that the fluid was draining.

The men will be under painstaking medical scrutiny for 21 days due to the remote possibility they might have brought to earth some unknown and potentially dangerous germs from the moon.

Actually, no one knows whether there are germs on the moon. Many scientists doubt it. But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was taking no chances.

Confined in a silvery quarantine trailer on the Hornet's hangar deck, the space heroes could barely see the world they had thrilled. But they did call their wives by radiotelephone.

A smiling President Nixon, aboard the Hornet to deliver his congratulations personally, had to use an intercommunications system to converse with the spacemen as they stood at a window of the isolation trailer, called a Mobile Quarantine Facility (MQF).

Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program director, said Apollo 12 will be launched Nov. 14 for a moon landing far to the west of the spot where Armstrong and Aldrin walked on the Sea of Tranquility.

Samples of the moon's crust gathered by the astronauts were expected to reach the Lunar Receiving Laboratory (LRL) in Houston, Tex., today. Tests start immediately in an effort to answer scientific questions that man has been asking for ages.

As Dr. Carpentier delivered his report through the MQF window, Aldrin could be seen behind him, stretched out in an easy chair, his feet up on a table in the dining area.

Carpentier said the spacemen were in excellent spirits and still living on Houston time, which probably meant they were about ready to go to bed though it was midafternoon here.

But Aldrin, looking crisp and fresh in blue coveralls, raised a paper cup and shook his head.

While the spacemen, the doctor, and a technician quarantined with them to keep the MQF systems going, must pass the hours cooped up in the MQF, the world outside heaps tribute upon the Apollo triumph.

Plans for a joint session of Congress honoring the astronauts were announced in Washington. Cables of congratulations from other countries poured into the White House.

Telecasts of Thursday's splashdown and recovery were viewed throughout Europe. Moscow TV carried parts of it live from the Hornet and the Russian president and the 14 Soviet cosmonauts wired congratulations.

The Hornet, steaming for Hawaii, was expected to arrive at about 2 p.m. EDT Saturday.

The MQF will be tucked into an Air Force transport for the long flight to Ellington Air Force Base near the Space Center. There the men shift to the spacious Lunar Receiving Laboratory for the remainder of the quarantine period.

Former Secretary of State John Hill, a committee member, said a collision rate increase could have been prevented by reducing the amount of premiums allowed for company expenses by one fourth, to 30 per cent.

At the committee's first meeting Thursday, both Price and board member Durwood Manford testified at length.

Former Gov. Price Daniel, committee chairman, scheduled the committee's next meeting for next Thursday through Saturday.

The committee will concentrate on factors it thinks might reduce the rate increases recommended by the board staff.

Next week's meetings will cover traffic safety as a factor

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts pleaded guilty today to a charge of leaving the scene of a fatal accident and was given a two-month suspended jail term.

Defense lawyers told the court they had "legal defenses" they could use but Kennedy insisted on pleading guilty and accepting punishment.

Kennedy told newsmen as he left the courthouse that he had requested network television time tonight "to explain to the people of Massachusetts."

His Washington office said the report, on both radio and television would be made at 6:30 p.m. (Big Spring time).

His arraignment was in a courtroom in which the majority of spectators were some 50 newsmen. They were from all parts of the country and representing newspapers and television cameramen.

Kennedy was the driver of a car that plunged off a narrow bridge and into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island last Friday night. A pretty blonde secretary from Washington drowned.

Kennedy's arraignment and disposition of the case took only about 10 minutes in the crowded second floor courtroom of the 150-year-old red brick courthouse.

When Judge James A. Boyle opened the session at 9:01 a.m., Clerk Thomas A. Teller called the Kennedy case first.

Kennedy stood at the rail as Teller read the words of the complaint, the State's charge that "Edward M. Kennedy of Boston did go away after causing injury to Miss Mary Jo Kopechne without making known your name and registration number."

"How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

Kennedy replied in a low but steady voice, "Guilty."

Judge Boyle asked to hear some of the evidence and the prosecutor, Walter D. Steele, called the Edgartown Police Chief Dominick J. Arena.

Arena described how he had gone to the scene on Chappaquiddick Island, recovered the body, and that when he returned to the station, Kennedy "advised me that he was driver of the car, and that the accident happened sometime after 11:15 p.m. (Friday)."

"It was not reported to me until after 9 a.m. the next day," Arena testified.

Defense counsel Robert G. Clark Jr. and Richard J. McCarron said they had no questions.

"Well, I have," said the judge. "Was there any deliberate effort to conceal the identity of the defendant?"

"Not to my knowledge, your honor," Arena replied.

McCarron spoke up. "Your honor, the defense attorneys have advised Mr. Kennedy there are legal defenses he could bring . . ."

"Just a minute," the judge broke in. "Do you now want to plead not guilty?"

"No, your honor. The defendant is adamant in that he wishes to plead guilty to this offense of operating a motor vehicle and going away from the scene of the accident and leave the disposition to this court."

"It is the attitude of both prosecution and defense counsel that confinement to jail is not necessary or proper in this case and asks suspension."

Steele then told the court that the state asked for a sentence of two months—the minimum in the two-month to two-year penalty provided by law.

Steele also recommended suspension. He said:

"Having in mind the character and the reputation of the defendant the ends of justice would not be served by a jail term."

"Considering the unblemished record of this defendant," the judge said, "he has already been and will continue to be punished far beyond anything this court can impose."

"I will impose the minimum and suspend if the defendant accepts the suspension," the judge said, looking at Kennedy.

The clerk then read out the sentence:

"This court has found you guilty of leaving the scene of an accident and orders you to be confined for a period of two months in the Barnstable House of Correction, sentence suspended."

Kennedy left the courtroom by a rear door and went to the first floor. He left by the main front entrance.

Beside him was his wife, Joan, followed by his brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, and a friend, John Driscoll, whose summer home is near that of the Kennedys.

Kennedy paused at the top step for a brief announcement.

"I have made my plea. I have asked for time on the television networks tonight to explain to the people of Massachusetts."

Police pushed back photographers, and Kennedy left in the convertible car in which he arrived.

The accident occurred about midnight last Friday on Chappaquiddick Island, adjacent to Martha's Vineyard, the larger island on which Edgartown is situated.

Kennedy's car went off a narrow, rocky bridge and landed wheels-up in a tidal pond. The senator escaped, but Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, a pretty 28-year-old blonde from Washington, D.C., drowned.

Kennedy originally was to have appeared Monday at a show-cause hearing. The purpose of such a hearing would be to determine whether the state had sufficient evidence to issue a summons and bring the senator to trial.

But Clark said Thursday night in a three-paragraph statement read to about 50 newsmen that Kennedy had waived his right to this hearing and was prepared to accept the summons.

Clark was besieged with questions after he read the statement, but refused to answer them. He prefaced the statement by saying:

"I regret that this is all I can say and no more."

The surprise switch followed a day of conferences between Kennedy and several of his closest friends and political advisers at the Massachusetts Democrat's home on Squaw Island, near the Kennedy family compound in Hyannis Port on Cape Cod.

About 1,500 Attend Old Settlers Reunion

With the smell of barbecue in the air and western music in the background, Old Settlers from Howard and Glasscock Counties met in the Old Settlers' Pavilion in City Park this morning for the 45th annual reunion.

Sam Cauble, 94, and Mrs. J. M. Morgan, 97, were recognized as the oldest man and woman attending. Mrs. Morgan, who has not missed a reunion, was the person who has attended the most reunions, and Jess Cauble, Las Vegas, Nev., was the person who came the longest distance to attend the reunion. He is a son of Sam Cauble.

Jess Slaughter, president of the Old Settlers Association, estimated approximately 1,500 persons were on hand as the lines formed for lunch.

Barbecue was served from noon until 2 p.m. when the Old Fiddlers Contest was scheduled to begin. At 11:30 a.m. Rev. Elra Phillips conducted a memorial invocation for old-timers who have died since the last reunion.

Western music was provided by The Majors and a Minor, featuring 16-year-old Hank Singer, from Midland, on the fiddle. This is the second year the band has provided music for the reunion.

A western dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. tonight at the pavilion and last until midnight. The reunion is financed by donations from persons in the area and persons attending the barbecue are asked to make a donation as they register.

OLD SETTLERS — Old-timers from Howard and Glasscock counties gathered in City Park today for the 45th annual Old Settlers Reunion. Jess Cauble, left, came the longest distance from his home in Las Vegas, Nev., to attend the reunion; and his father, Sam Cauble, 94, was named the oldest man in attendance. The elder Cauble's brother, J. P. Cauble, 82, (right) also attended the reunion.

Questions Still Unanswered On Kennedy Accident

Editor's Note: Questions surrounding the accident that killed a woman passenger in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car are several and varied. The following report by two veteran investigative reporters deals with some of them.

By JOSEPH E. MOHAT
And
DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writers

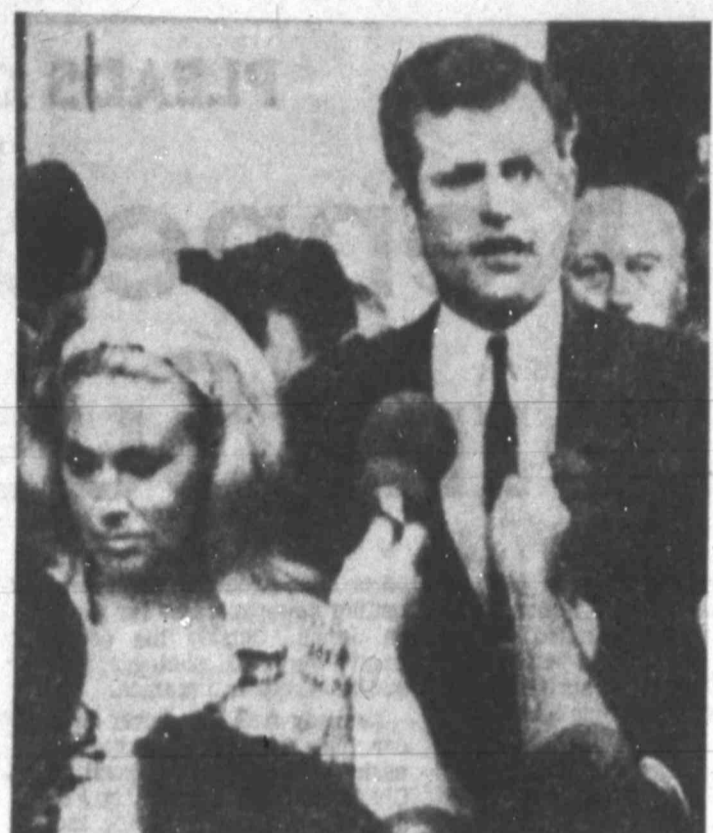

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was no stranger to the tiny Chappaquiddick Island where he made a 189-degree wrong turn down a lonely dirt road that led Mary Jo Kopechne to her death.

In his only statement since the mysterious accident last Friday night or early Saturday that took the 28-year-old woman's life, Kennedy said Saturday: "I was unfamiliar with the road and turned right down

Dyke Road instead of bearing hard left on Main Street (By Main Street he meant Chappaquiddick Road, the island's only paved artery).

However, a college student said he saw Kennedy at least once, possibly twice, before the Friday accident, traveling the paved road on the three-mile-wide island south of Cape Cod. And others said Kennedy had been on the island frequently before.

That Friday evening one week ago began with a nostalgic party. It ended with Miss Kopechne drowned in Teddy Kennedy's automobile, and with the 37-year-old Massachusetts senator, a leading prospect for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, facing a charge of leaving the scene of a fatal accident.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

The five other girls who were at the party stayed generally away from their jobs, telephones and even residences trying to avoid newsmen. One, Esther Newberg, broke her silence Wednesday but her account did little to reduce the number of unanswered questions.

Meanwhile, lovely Martha's Vineyard and neighboring Chappaquiddick have become uptight islands. Dozens of reporters are the only regular link across the 250-yard channel between Chappaquiddick and Martha's Vineyard and who can help account for some of Kennedy's movements of the streets of quiet, wealthy, Republican Edgartown. Television crews and newsmen drive the roads of Chappaquiddick—the natives call it Chappy—trying to reconstruct the fateful night.

The taciturn boatman who plies the two-car ferry that is the morning after the accident, has clammed up. He's tired, he says, of being misquoted.

The college student, who works not far from the ferry slip, asked that he not be quoted by name but readily recounted seeing the easily recognizable Kennedy near the ferry landing twice on Friday.

The first time was about 1:30 in the afternoon and the second occasion was about 6:30 in the evening. That was the day of the regatta, in which Kennedy placed ninth in his 40-year-old Victoria, and of the party that was a reunion of Robert Kennedy campaign workers.

The police station shortly before 10 a.m. and said, "I was driving the car. What do you want me to do?"

Arena recalled that the senator looked clear-eyed. "He appeared depressed but he walked steadily." Another officer said there was no apparent sign of cuts or bruises or other injuries.

Kennedy wrote out the statement in long hand with the aid of Paul Markham, a former U.S. attorney who had been at the party.

For Arena it was to be the beginning of a long ordeal but the chief denies that any of the pressure he has felt has come from the Kennedys.

For several days Arena did his best to answer all the questions. But finally he said he had no new answers and canceled his twice daily briefings. "I am taking tranquilizers because of this thing," he said.

As murky as the circumstances surrounding the accident is the political future of the 37-year-old golden boy who a week ago seemed in a commanding lead to win the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, as his brother, the late John F. Kennedy, did in 1960.

"Even politicians are human and this could happen to anybody," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield—one of the few politicians who would talk for the record about the events. But privately, many voiced doubts that Kennedy could completely recover politically from the questions and rumors generated by the accident.

Kennedy has only a year to overcome any negative political effects before facing re-election, key role in leading opposition to the Senate.

Even before that, however, legislative proposals—deployment of an antiballistic missile system and extension of the sur-assistant Democratic leader of tax reform where he has had a forms.

Kennedy Waived Proceeding

The senator originally asked for a show-cause hearing, and it had been scheduled for next Monday. But late Thursday, his attorneys said Kennedy would waive that proceeding and instead move directly to an arraignment.

As the senator went before the court, questions remained.

Could Kennedy, whose 37 summers have been spent on Cape Cod and neighboring Martha's Vineyard, have been so unfamiliar with Chappaquiddick that he left its only paved road, leading to the Edgartown ferry, for a bumpy, unlighted road leading instead to a dark and dangerous bridge with no railing?

Could he have driven six-tenths of a mile down that road without realizing that he and his passenger were off course?

And how did he spend nine hours, during which he claimed he was in state of shock, before reporting the accident to Edgartown's police?

Investigating these and other questions, The Associated Press has learned:

—A college student working on Chappaquiddick Island says he saw Kennedy earlier Friday, riding in the black car from the ferry along the paved road that leads to the summer cottage Kennedy's cousin had rented for a party. He believes he saw Kennedy make the drive later, alone, after sailing in the Edgartown Yacht Club Regatta.

PLEADS GUILTY—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy talking briefly to newsmen as he left court in Edgartown, Mass., today after pleading guilty to leaving scene of an accident in which a young woman was killed a week ago. He was given a two-month jail sentence, suspended on probation. Wife Joan accompanies senator.

But the only living witness to the accident that took the life of the young secretary who was a Robert F. Kennedy campaign worker is Edward Moore Kennedy.

Except for the day of the victim's funeral, the senator has been in total seclusion with his wife and friends in his summer home on Squaw Island near the famous Kennedy family compound at Hyannis Port. The approach roads are blocked by Hyannis police.

Only such trusted advisers as brother-in-law Stephen Smith, former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, ex-White House aide Theodore Sorensen, attorney Burke Marshall and Reps. John Tunney of California and John Culver of Iowa were allowed in.

Kennedy has made no significant public statement beyond the sketchy account released last Saturday in his name by Edgartown police.

Members of the senator's staff

—except for press secretary Richard Drayne in Washington—have as good as vanished. Drayne has politely and patiently talked to all callers and returned all calls, but has added nothing to the senator's account.

Frequent Visitor To Island

—A regular summer resident of Chappaquiddick says Kennedy was a frequent visitor to the island in summers past.

—An Edgartown policeman says all the Kennedy brothers knew the entire area well.

—A driver traveling from the cottage to the ferry—even in broad daylight—must sharply reduce speed at the T-like intersection for a 90-degree turn, either to the left or to the right. A left turn keeps the driver on the paved road and takes him to the Edgartown ferry. To the right, he immediately leaves the paved-ment and enters the dirt road leading to the narrow wooden bridge from which the 1966 Oldsmobile plunged into dark, swift running tidal waters.

—A reflector sign before the junction guides the driver to the left along the main road. The dirt road is unmarked.

—Kennedy said he was driving only 20 miles an hour, and there was no indication of high speed at the bridge. None was needed. A drive over the hump-backed structure shows that it is treacherous even in daylight at a very low speed.

Small House, Two Bedrooms

The party site is a small, gray-shingled summer place with bright yellow shutters. The interior is plain—a studio couch, two rocking chairs, a dining table and a breakfast bar visible through the front windows; two small bedrooms, each with twin beds and green lawn furniture, in the rear. Today it is immaculate, with no trace of the gathering a week ago.

Kennedy's cousin, Joseph Gargan, had leased the cottage for a week, although it was to be used only that weekend.

Here, according to one participant, Kennedy, Crimmins, Gargan, the men of the sailboat crew, and the "boiler room girls" gathered to barbecue steaks outdoors, enjoy a few drinks, sing, and reminisce about Robert Kennedy's 1968 presidential campaign that ended when Robert was assassinated in Los Angeles.

Ted's wife, Joan was at the family summer home on Cape Cod.

According to Miss Newberg, the gathering was the fourth reunion of the now-dispersed crew. She said the girls arrived at the cottage from their Edgartown motel about 7:30 p.m. The cookout began around eight. "It was strictly a fun affair," she said. "There wasn't a lot of drinking."

Miss Newberg said the girls had planned to return to Edgartown after the party, but they broke up too late to catch the last ferry, which leaves around midnight, although it occasionally runs late for $2 instead of the daytime 75-cent fee for auto-

No Clues In Probe Of Teen's Death

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP)—Calling it a crime with "no rhyme or reason" officers today continued to probe the stabbing death of Caroline Louise Harte, 14, daughter of the San Antonio Express Publishing Co. president.

Nueces County Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell said the eight-man team investigating the Thursday morning slaying had found no motive, no murder weapon and no clues.

Dr. James C. Sharp Sr. of Port Aransas, who performed a medical examination, said the slayer apparently was a very strong person who used a blunt object, about one-half inch round, possibly a piece of pipe or steel reinforcing rod.

Other officials said a large screwdriver may have been used as the murder weapon.

The girl, described by residents of this sandy resort city as sweet-natured and well-mannered, was stabbed in the heart, he said.

She apparently was fatally wounded as she lay in bed at the home of friends, he said.

She probably would have lived if the weapon had pierced her chest just one inch higher or lower, he said. "It would have hit a rib instead of the heart," Sharp placed the time of death at about 2:45 a.m. Thursday.

Sharp said the girl was not sexually molested.

The physician said that it would be difficult to kill anyone with the blunt weapon that apparently was used. "It took somebody pretty doggedly strong to do that," he said.

Dr. Sharp and local justice of the peace Oscar Gillespie said after Sharp's medical examination that they saw no reason for an autopsy. Sharp said the fatal wound was clearly evident.

Miss Harte was found wounded in a downstairs bedroom at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. G. Cameron Duncan of San Antonio, whom she had been visiting since last Saturday.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Houston H. Harte and a member of the family operating the Harte-Hanks group of newspapers in 13 Texas cities, including The Big Spring Herald. Duncan is vice president of Lykes Brothers Inc. of San Antonio which has shipping and ranching interests.

Funeral services were scheduled for 3 p.m. today in San Antonio.

Mrs. Duncan discovered Miss

Harte had been stabbed when she came down stairs shortly after her husband went down when he thought he heard noises. Duncan said he found nothing and returned to his room.

Mrs. Duncan was met on the stairs by her daughter, May, 14, a classmate of Miss Harte who was sleeping in the same bedroom with the slain girl.

She told her mother that Miss Harte had "passed out or fainted" and was lying on the bed.

The Duncan girl later told officers she was awakened by Miss Harte's scream. She was unable to give officers any clues.

Dr. Sharp was called in the case by the sheriff's office. He said a sploch of blood about a footwide and smaller splashes were on the bed. Two or three drops of blood, apparently from the weapon, were found on the floor, he said.

Sheriff Mitchell said there was no lock on the bedroom door and that the room and the girl's night clothes had not been disturbed. "There was no robbery, nor attempted robbery," he said with a flick of the hand.

Sheriff Mitchell added: "There's no rhyme or reason to it."

He said his investigators had questioned 30 to 40 persons including about 10 young men but he refused to speculate on what type of person committed the crime. "I'm looking for a murderer," he said.

Officers said neither the Duncan girl nor Miss Harte had been dating boys during their stay here on Mustang Island. "I understand they were both too young to date and had nothing to do with boys," said Deputy Sheriff Sam Arrington.

News of the slaying, meanwhile, spread quickly over the island, a haven for swimmers and fishermen. It was the subject of conversation in many shops and stores here.

A waitress at a local restaurant, Susan Ruppel of Dallas, a sophomore at Trinity University in San Antonio, voiced fears the killer might strike again. She is a member of a local, religious youth group Young Life, which operates a summer home here. She said the 17 young men staying at the home planned to maintain a watch throughout the night to guard the 26 high school and college-aged girls in the group.

Neighbors Heard Sounds

Neighbors said they heard sounds of a party but it wasn't raucous. A blood sample taken from Miss Kopechne's body, the medical examiner said, showed only a moderate trace of alcohol. There was no autopsy. Nobody has said what Kennedy drank, if anything. He is known to his friends as a moderate social drinker. In the summer-time, he prefers vodka and tonic. At parties of close friends he will relax into easy conversation, take center stage with Irish songs, mimicry and the retelling of funny stories about his friends.

"The senator," Miss Newberg said, "had left earlier with Mary Jo because she wanted to go to her room . . . We were all very tired. We had been sailing in the regatta that afternoon."

Beaches Littered With Wood Chips

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Sixty miles of west Florida's white sand beaches are cluttered with wood chips and shredded bark, causing concern for the Gulf Coast's booming summer tourist industry.

"The chips are coming from paper mills in Florida or somewhere along the Gulf Coast," Jose Fernandez de Castro, industrial waste investigator for the Florida Air and Water Pollution Control Commission, said Thursday.

Minor Mishaps Investigated

Big Spring police investigated two minor accidents Thursday afternoon, neither causing more than $300 damage to the cars involved.

In one accident at 5:25 p.m. a car driven by Norma Weldon Fugus, 15 April Lane, was in collision with an auto driven by Joe Paek Whit, 1408 Oriole on the parking lot of Highland Shopping Center.

Police investigated a rear-end collision Thursday in which a car driven by Violet R. Patterson, 703 13th St., was in collision with an auto driven by James Eldon Griffin, 1320 Stadium. The mishap occurred at 5:21 p.m. at the intersection of Seventeenth and Donley.

Bridge Is Unnerving Drive

Just as the road reaches the wooden planks of the bridge, it jogs suddenly about 30 degrees to the left. Once on the bridge, and climbing its hump, the daylight driver can see only the hood of his car, the sky, and the sand dunes of the lonely beach which marks the end of the road. For a driver not used to it, it is an unnerving experience even at five miles an hour.

Kennedy did not make the hump. The scrapings and splinters of the automobile frame on the righthand support of the bridge show clearly that the car did not make the left bend at all but followed the road's direction straight into the estuary of Poucha Pond.

Of the plunge into the dark waters, Kennedy recalled in his

Ferry Had Stopped Running

His sketchy account gives no indication what else he told his friends or how or when they got him back to his hotel. By then, the ferry had stopped running for the night.

A possible answer lies in a battered red and white rowboat often seen tied to pilings at the ferry slip on Chappaquiddick. Perhaps this or a similar vessel was used by the senator's friends to get him back to Edgartown, where "I remember walking around for a period of time and then going back to my hotel room."

The next morning, sometime after eight, Kennedy returned to Chappaquiddick to meet two friends a few yards from the dock. Then the three took the ferry back across to Edgartown. At about the same time, two boys were fishing from the bridge on Dyke Road. It was a while before they spotted a car in the water below. Their mother called the police.

Edgartown Police Chief Dominick J. Arena went to the bridge, stripped to a bathing suit and dove into the water. He said he couldn't be sure if there was anyone in the submerged car. He noted the license number and a call was made to the registry of motor vehicles to determine the owner. Word came back it was Kennedy.

A diver was called to the scene and it was he who found Miss Kopechne's body. Arena said Kennedy came to SOVIET SHIPS IN HAVANA HARBOR — Two Soviet submarines lie tied up alongside flagship of a seven-ship Russian naval task force that arrived in Havana, Cuba, last Sunday for a week's official visit.

Two Aggie Grid Players Beaten By Gang On Beach

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Two Texas A&M University football players were in the hospital today, nursing injuries suffered in beatings Wednesday night on Galveston's East Beach.

Jerry Minyard, a sophomore defensive end from Port Neches, was in Nederland Hospital with a broken arm and deep forehead cuts.

Allan Wayne Hanson, 20, a junior tackle from Kemah, was in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston with a swollen right eye.

A third player injured in the beatings was treated and released. He is Steve Stewart of League City, a former player at the University of Texas.

Hanson said the trio was beaten with car jacks at gunpoint by some 12-15 young men.

Hanson said, "One guy held a gun on us while the others started trying to mess us up. Then they went to work with the car jack. I ran to a nearby beach patrolman and got help."

Texas A&M football coach Gene Stallings visited both Hanson and Minyard.

Hanson said "He (Stallings) was hoppin' mad. He said he was behind us all the way."

Hanson said the incident began after the two groups had exchanged words.

"Minyard was the one who really got it," Hanson said. "He had to have 50-60 stitches in his forehead."

Hanson, speaking to The Associated Press from his hospital bed, said sight still had not been restored to his eye.

When called by The AP, Sgt. Victor Hegman of the Galveston police department, said police had no record of the incident.

Hanson, told about it, said "Well, they will have. Those guys were drunk and wanted trouble."

HHH Virtually Certain To Run For U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey is rated virtually certain to begin a political comeback bid by running for the Senate next year in Minnesota.

That could be the first step in a Humphrey campaign to win a White House rematch with President Nixon in 1972.

The route opened wide Thursday when Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy announced clearly in Minneapolis what he has been indicating since last fall—he will not run for a third Senate term.

NO DOUBT
Even before McCarthy stepped aside, Humphrey had told friends he might challenge his old colleague—and 1968 Democratic presidential rival—in 1970.

However, for the present, Humphrey was noncommittal. On a European tour, he was questioned by newsmen in Durovnik, Yugoslavia, where he said the McCarthy decision "opens many possibilities."

McCarthy said he had not talked with Humphrey about his decision.

The former vice president, nearing the end of a journey to eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, is to return to Washington Sunday night.

Sources familiar with his strategy said Humphrey would not be announcing his political plans in the near future. But that when an announcement comes, it will be of candidacy for the Senate.

PERSONAL PROBLEMS
But Rep. Clark MacGregor of Minnesota who already has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to the Senate said he does not think Humphrey will run in 1970.

"I think his eye is primarily on 1972 and the presidential nomination," MacGregor said. "I don't see how this could be served by a race for the Senate."

Democratic strategists, however, see the Senate as an ideal base for the start of a Humphrey challenge to Nixon.

Another factor in the Democratic picture is the personal and political problems facing Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts as a result of his automobile accident, which took the life of a 28-year-old secretary.

Before the accident most Democrats had rated him virtually certain to head the party ticket in 1972.

Now the certainty is gone. McCarthy, did not explain his decision not to run and would not discuss his political future.

He said what he had announced covered only his short-range outlook.

He has not ruled out the possibility that he might bid again for the presidency.

To The Editor:

If the voters of Texas fail to approve Amendment No. 2 on Aug. 5, it would mean that the Congress, the Federal agencies, and the states of the lower Mississippi Basin could assume that the people of Texas are not interested in doing what is necessary to provide enough water to meet our needs for the future. It could also mean that Texans are not interested in the possibilities of obtaining water they will need from beyond our borders.

We must show that we are willing to put our money where our mouth is. While it is a $3.5 billion bond authorization, the funds will be used during the next 40 and 50 years, not all at once. No bonds will be sold until the money is needed for construction, and repayments of principal and interest will be well under way long before they are all sold. The money will be used for temporary financing, with none for gifts or grants. Those who use the water will have to pay for it, with interest. The Amendment is vital to the life of Texas.

Sincerely,
ROY FURR SR.

Examine the club suit in today's deal. Ostensibly, there is a guess for the queen of clubs. Actually there is not.

South reached a contract of three no trump. On the combined holding, the play for game is not good but it is rather difficult to avoid the pitfall. North's free bid of two hearts does not meet with our approval. Making a free bid in a higher ranking suit forces partner to speak at an inconvenient level and is consequently a drastic step. A free bid of two diamonds would have done justice to the holding but South, with a double spade stopper and excess values, would have carried on and game would have been reached anyway.

The seven of spades was opened. East put up the queen and South played the king. The heart suit is not available, for West's spades will be established before the hearts. Declarer, therefore, drove out the ace of diamonds and a spade return set up the suit for West.

It is clear that declarer must win four club tricks if he is to bring home the hand. He led over to the king of clubs and returned the ten, letting it ride. West took the queen and then came the deluge. "Sorry, partner, I misguessed the queen," South pleaded.

This was no guess, for as declarer played the club suit, it was not possible against proper defense to win four tricks. If East has four clubs to the queen, he plays low and declarer cannot pick him up. If East has the queen and less than three guards, he simply covers the ten and West will stop the suit with four to the nine or some other spot card.

Declarer's only hope to win four club tricks is to find West with either the Q-x or Q-x-x. He should, therefore, have led a club from his hand and finessed the ten. This was no guess, it was a "must."

LESSON EXPLAINS REDEMPTION; CONCERN OF GOD FOR MANKIND

The International Sunday School lesson this week covers God's delivering His people. Exodus 2:23-25; 3:7-8a; 12:21, 23-27; 14:30-31 give us a clear picture of God's redemption and working concern for men; if a person lives in sin, he is just as much a slave as were the Israelites in Egypt.

When Israel cried out under Egypt's oppression, their prayer reached the ears of God. Though circumstances do not always present reliable data of God's blessings at any given moment, the Father is always ready to listen to the pleadings of His saints.

God not only saves us from sin, but He saves us for a new life which brings fellowship with Him and everlasting joy. This new life was made possible by Christ, who shed His blood on the cross.

Do we Christians spend too little time remembering our deliverance, which Jesus has memorialized in communion? How easy it is to forget the fruits of salvation and the awesome price by which they were purchased.

The proper response to God's working in our lives is seeing and believing. There is no salvation without faith in Christ, particularly in His saving blood (Rom. 3:25).

A LOVELIER YOU Thin Eyebrows Take Special Beauty Care

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: Please tell me how to have pretty eyebrows. Mine are very thin and light in color. I find an eyebrow pencil difficult to use and have it look natural. I would appreciate help.

The Answer: To improve the appearance of pale, skimpy eyebrows, any cosmetic used must be a very soft, lightish brown. Sooty shades can never be made to look natural.

There are several effective cosmetic types. An expert beautician is able to dye the brows, strand by strand. The process must be repeated in due course, like any other dye job.

For home use, pressed-powder brush-on brows give a good effect. As for application method:

1. Groom and shape brows with a conventional eye-brow brush.
2. Begin coloring at the inner corners and color each strand in turn from root to tip. A tiny eyebrow comb would help to separate and lift strands. A wedge-shaped brush is the required applicator.
3. Groom the brows again. This time with comb.

Your brows seem thicker if you pencil the underlying skin before coloring. Make your strokes very short on an upward and outward slant; blend the smudge with a cotton swab.

More width comes from grooming the brows straight up and then trimming the top line crosswise.

It's a painstaking job, but worth effort.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here's a TERRIFIC hint that a friend told me about. It has worked beautifully for me and I'd like to share it with you. When putting on new or freshly laundered nylon hose, there is a crease right down the middle (if hung to dry properly). Pick up the nylon, and as you start to gather it up on your hand to put on, touch the tip of your tongue to the crease in the welt at the top of the stocking. Then hook your garter right in this little dampened spot. Your stocking in on perfectly straight without wondering if you've hooked it in the center! ... Mrs. Clyde Morris

Dear Heloise: A washcloth comes in handy if you have a summer baby. Place it in the bend of your elbow when feeding the little darling her bottle and both of you will stay dry... Mother

Dear Heloise: Instead of using butter or margarine on toast in the morning, try cream cheese. It really makes a very pleasant change for that morning meal... "Avid"

Dear Heloise: We have found another use for nylon net. The idea was thought up by a friend of mine. Instead of zipping the flap on your tent (in our case, the add-a-room on our tent trailer) each time you enter or leave, buy a couple of yards of nylon net (we got green to match ours). Fold the width in half and hem top, bottom and one side. My friend put stones inside before hemming the bottom and when hung on the door, this small amount of weight swings the net back into place when you enter or leave. We snapped clothespins on ours and also used the clothespins on the top to hold it over the door opening. With five children, there is so much wear and tear on the zippers, plus time lost zipping, that we found this idea most helpful... Mrs. Herbert Han-

Dear Heloise: I wouldn't be without those little address labels at my house. They can be used in so many ways. One of my favorites is on a roll of film when it's taken to be developed. It sure beats trying to print around the roll of film and is easier for the cashier to record the name and address. I think they're wonderful... Mrs. Judy Lyall

Dear Heloise: My husband likes a lot of pepper on his food and spends so much time shaking the pepper shaker. I got the brilliant idea of exchanging the pepper shaker top with the salt shaker top and believe it or not, it worked beautifully. The larger holes in the salt top really did the trick... Betty Kaufhold

Dear Heloise: I've found a sure-fire way to put diapers on baby without sticking either you or the baby. Instead of the conventional method of putting your fingers between diaper and baby, just take the diaper where you want the pin to go through and pinch the layers of cloth together. Then with the flinters safely out of the way, stick the pin through the "pinch"... "I Love Heloise."

Lone Objection Heard At Zone Change Hearing

By JEAN FANNIN

City commissioners received only one objection to the revised zoning ordinance in a Thursday night public hearing which lasted a brief 30 minutes.

Following the hearing, members of the Planning and Zoning Commission met in room 207 in City Hall and recommended that city commissioners approve the ordinance. They amended the revised ordinance to maintain retail zoning in an area around the Carleton House on Marcy Drive. The proposed ordinance had changed the area from retail to multiple-family zoning.

The ordinance probably will be considered on the city commission agenda for the second meeting in August, according to City Manager Larry Crow.

Approximately 30 city residents appeared at the hearing, and apparently most of them came to listen, not to comment.

Attorney Lanny Hamby spoke on behalf of Mrs. J. R. Watson, owner of the Carleton House, 2401 Marcy, which is in a retail zone now, but under the new zoning ordinance would be located in a multiple family zone.

"Mrs. Watson feels this change would unreasonably damage further development in this area," Hamby said. He said Mrs. Watson and Ed Fisher owned undeveloped land in this area, "and we feel there is more chance of development in this area under retail zoning than under multiple family zoning," he said.

"No one else will want to build an apartment complex, since the Carleton House is already there. In fact Mrs. Watson cannot afford to sell land to anyone who will go into competition with her by building a complex," Hamby said.

Hamby said several persons are interested in developing the land, but they are waiting the outcome of the re-zoning.

Marvin Springer, city planner, said no plans for development of that area have been filed with city officials since 1961, which was the reason for the change in zoning.

Mrs. Ida May White, 906 NW 4th, asked the commissioners to zone her property retail to enable her to rebuild a cafe torn down by city workmen under the hazardous structure ordinance.

Mrs. White said her property is now zoned for a residence, and Mayor Arnold Marshall said her property had always been zoned residential with her business operating as a non-conformity since it was there prior to the zoning ordinance.

"Your cafe went out of business, and you cannot rebuild it on the same land," Marshall said. "You were allowed to continue operating as a nonconformity, but you will have to abide by the zoning ordinance if you plan to go back into business."

L. E. Holsager, 1322 Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Bishop, 2407 Scurry, asked if there would be any zoning changes in those two locations and Springer said there would not.

Bill Birrell asked whether the redefining of the alcoholic beverages permit would change the application of the permit.

Springer told Birrell the revised zoning ordinance did not change the alcoholic beverages permit application, but clarified the process of obtaining a permit.

"Those who now hold permits will be recognized under the revised ordinance," he said. He also told Birrell city officials are required by state law to notify property owners within 200 feet of the property in question at the time of a public hearing. "We cannot change this requirement."

"The revised zoning ordinance has not changed the basic standards of zoning in Big Spring," Springer said. Three districts have been added, the general residential district is reduced in area, and the parking district is enlarged.

The districts added include an agricultural district, an office district, and a heavy commercial district. Commissioners in the past have had difficulty in deciding whether heavy commercial businesses can be established in a commercial area where only light commercial businesses exist, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works.

Both heavy and light commercial businesses can exist in a heavy commercial district, according to the new zoning ordinance, but in a light commercial district such businesses as building material sales, clothing manufacturers, contractors, shops and storage yards, etc. are prohibited.

It will be an added endurance test for a field of ten two-year old thoroughbreds when the eleventh and feature race is run at Ruidoso Downs, Saturday. The race will be billed as "The American Quarter Horse Association Purse."

French Student Stops Over Here

Alain Francois, 19-year-old student from Suresnes, France, stopped in Big Spring today on his tour of the United States.

The purpose of his trip, he said, is to meet the American people and to learn to speak English a little better. "Americans are highly thought of in France," he said.

Alain has just graduated from the "lycee" (high school) with a "baccalaureat" in economics. The tour is a graduation gift from his father.

There's a bus leaving for Denver today, but he didn't know if he would be on it. "I don't like to make definite plans," he said. He is traveling by himself.

Alain would like to visit Denver, San Francisco and Dallas; he's already stopped in Atlanta, Ga., New Orleans, La., and San Antonio. He has plenty of time, he said, because he won't be returning to France until Sept. 15.

Alain plans to attend Dauphine University in Paris next fall, and will study economics and business for the next four or five years. The buildings at the university used to be the old headquarters of NATO.

Alain's father, Maurice

Water Usage Soaring Higher

Big Spring water usage continues to move toward record highs for usage in one month.

Thursday 10,490,000 gallons of water were received at the water treatment plant, bringing this month's total to 241,207,000 gallons — 44,018,000 gallons short of July, 1966's total of 285,225,000, the greatest amount of water used in a single month to date.

LEGISLATURE BEGINS MONDAY TO IRON OUT PROBLEM

Question Is HOW, Not IF, On Taxes

By BOB WHIPKEY

Into which pocket would you rather reach to dig out your share of new state taxes which will have to bring in from $300 million to $350 million for the next two years?

It's not a question of IF you will pay the taxes, it's a question of HOW.

Commitments already made by the Legislature, largely in the areas of education, which will have to be paid for.

The Legislature convenes Monday in a special session to iron out the tax situation. As far as is publicly known, members have not been making pronouncements as to the sources.

Governor Preston Smith has said that he will outline a tax proposal right after the Legislature gets under way, but not even he has yet detailed his recommendations.

UP TO SMITH

The governor has had a series of informal conferences with various business and professional leaders over the state. The last of these, last week, was with representatives of news media.

At this session he spelled out the requirements, then offered an elaborate series of options. Nobody in the group was bold enough to stand up and make recommendations to the governor, so it is evident that he, by Monday, will have to reach some decision.

aides, nearly $10 million; special education, from $9 to $16 million; vocational education, from $7.4 million to $10 million; summer school, from a half-million to $1.7 million; kindergarten program, possibly $8 million; other programs that could run to $38 million. You get a low of more than $266 million (recommended by the governor) to a high of $300 million, which the Legislature favored.

MORE MONEY

Along with this public school figure, the general appropriations figure must run possibly $1.2 billion. The Legislature has authorized two new medical schools, a new dental school, and three new divisions of the University of Texas — at Dallas, San Antonio and the Permian Basin. If all were funded, there's another $65 million. If the ceiling is raised on state welfare allotments, add another $40 million.

In sum, estimated appropriations run from $1,468,000 to $1,648,000. Estimated revenue available is $1,210,000. That leaves a spread of $258 million to $438 million, but the governor is talking in terms of perhaps up to $350 million.

CHECKLIST

The governor offered his guests a "checklist" of possible revenue sources. It should be emphasized that he did not advocate any one, merely pointed them out as places to go to get more money.

They look like this:

Biennial Revenue (millions)

- Natural Gas:
 - Increase from 7 pct. to 8 pct. and 4.6 pct. to 5.4 pct. on condensates $27.5
 - Exempt lease-use gas 18.0
- Increase Tax on Oil Production from 4.6 pct. to 5 pct. 27.0
- Increase Motor Fuel Tax from 5¢ to 6¢ per gallon 31.0
- Discontinue Appropriation of General Revenue to Farm-to-Market Road Fund 30.0
- Increase Franchise Tax 50¢ 28.0
- Increase Cigarette Tax to 15¢ per pack 77.0
- Increase Tax on Tobacco Products 6.0
- Alcoholic Beverages:
 - Include under Sales Tax 40.0
 - Increase Excise Tax to National Average... 17.7
- Increase Sales Tax Rate to 3 1/2 pct. 170.0
- Increase Motor Vehicle Sales Tax to 3 1/2 pct. 30.0
- Include Services under Sales Tax
 - Laundry, cleaning and dyeing plants, repairs, parking, and cable television service 60.0

- Beauty and Barber Shops 11.0
- Telephone Service... 30.0
- Increase Admission Tax at Amusements, Sporting Facilities, and Recreational Events, and Recreational Facilities 15.0

Then he proffered — for examination only, and not with any recommendation — five "packages" for taxation. Here they are:

I.

- Cigarettes and tobacco products $77.0
- Increase Sales Tax 1/2 to 1 pct. 170.0
- Liquor & Beer to national average 17.7
- Increase Franchise Tax 50¢ for 2 years automatically end 28.0
- Increase Natural Gas Tax 1/2 of 1 pct. for 2 years — automatically end 13.5

TOTAL $306.2

II.

- Cigarettes and tobacco products $77.0
- Increase Sales Tax 1/2 of 1 pct. 170.0
- Liquor & Beer to National average 17.7
- Increase Franchise Tax — 50¢ 1st year; 25¢ 2nd year — automatically end .. 21.0
- Increase Natural Gas Tax 1 pct. for 2 years with exemption for lease-use — automatically end 18.0

TOTAL $303.7

III.

- Cigarettes and tobacco products $77.0
- Increase Sales Tax 1/2 of 1 pct. (including motor vehicles) beginning 2nd year 100.0
- Include services under Sales Tax 60.0
- Beer and Liquor under Sales Tax 40.0
- Increase Franchise Tax — 50¢ 1st year; 25¢ 2nd year — automatically end .. 21.0
- Increase Natural Gas Tax 1 pct for 2 years with exemption for lease-use — automatically end 18.0

TOTAL $301.0

IV.

- Increase Natural Gas 1 pct. with exemption for lease-use $18.0
- Increase Motor Fuel Tax 1¢ per gallon 31.0
- Discontinue General Revenue Appropriation to Farm-to-Market Fund. 30.0
- Increase Tax on Alcoholic Beverages to National Average 17.7
- Increase Tax on Cigarettes and Tobacco Products. 77.0
- Include Services under Sales Tax (laundry, cleaning, repairs, parking, cable TV, and telephone and telegraph) 101.0
- Increase Admission Tax 15.0

TOTAL $289.7

V.

- Increase Sales Tax to 3 1/2

pct., including motor vehicles $200.0

- Increase on Cigarettes and Tobacco Products. 77.0
- Alcoholic Beverages to National Average 17.7
- 1 pct. Increase on Natural Gas with lease-use exemption 18.0

TOTAL $312.7

By the time the Legislature gets through with the whole program, none of these may be valid. A good guess is, though, that you'll see more taxes on cigarettes and tobacco products, on liquor and beer, and an increased franchise levy, plus at least a temporary (if there is such a thing) boost in the natural gas tax. Extending the sales tax to various services is a probability, too.

Two areas did not even come up in the governor's conference: a state income tax or, for the present, a corporation income tax.

The feeling is that a state income tax is strictly a "last resort", and would be where the state would turn in future years if it can't finance itself any other way.

A corporate income tax likely would come first, but a member of the governor's staff said that because of the press of the special session, as of now, there just wasn't enough time to analyze this and come up with a formula.

Nudist Conclave Chases Off Three Peeping Toms

KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP) — It's more or less based on beauty and popularity," Hadley said. Contestants wearing nary a fig leaf will walk the length of a platform. Other nudists in the audience will make known their favorites by applauding.

"Usually," Hadley explained, "the most attractive woman gets the most applause."

Playing within a seven-acre compound almost surrounded by a high, sheet metal fence, the tanned sun worshippers also plan to compete in tennis, volleyball, shuffleboard, ping pong and billiards.

A nudist for 20 years, Hadley said he has watched the average age of nudists grow younger and the pastime gain popularity with families. He said they come from all walks of life.

The impression gained in the meeting last week was that Governor Smith will offer what he dubbed as a "50-50" package. In his terms, that means about half the tax burden will go on business. While there is an axiom that says that in the last analysis the consumer pays all taxes, at least when the governor talks about business levies, he means that they are not directly on the consumer.

Back to the commitments, the Legislature had set up appropriations that looked like this: Teachers salaries, over $220 million; teachers sick leave, over $3 million; teachers

DEAR ABBY: I am a Taurus (born April 24) and I am very much in love with a Scorpio (born Oct. 26).

First, let me explain that before I knew anything about the zodiac, I foolishly married a Sagittarius, so our marriage was doomed from the start.

My Scorpio married an Aries (an impossible union). They would have made excellent business partners, but their temperaments were all wrong for marriage.

Anyway, my Scorpio has left his Aries, but I can't get rid of my Sagittarius. I'd divorce him but I have no grounds, and he won't divorce me, although he has all the grounds he needs.

My horoscope says I should make no important decisions of the heart until after the first of next year, but I just can't see spending another Christmas with this miserable man.

My lawyer says that HE (my husband) should be the one to move out, but my husband says he is happy here and if I'm unhappy I should do the moving. There is a lot at stake (financially) and I don't want to spoil everything. Can you help me?

TAURUS: Being a "Moon Child" myself (July 4) I hesitate to meddle in areas about which I know nothing. Namely, law and the zodiac. Take your cues from your lawyer, lady, and quit stargazing.

DEAR ABBY: I need an unbiased opinion on something. I drove over to my husband's office one night. He has a bedroom there for when he stays in town. Much to my surprise his ex-wife was there! They were in the bedroom with the lights off and the door locked.

He claims they were only "talking." He said the lights were off because he hates her so much he couldn't stand to look at her face.

There is a desk and two chairs for conversation so it wasn't necessary for them to be in the bedroom.

First, would you believe they were only talking? Second, would there be a reasonable doubt in your mind?

ROSITA: First, no! Second, s...

DEAR ABBY: I am about to lose my mind. My father is 73 years old, retired, and he lives in a very nice, modern house. The problem is in getting him to leave his house for him. I quit him one after the other. The last one (a very unattractive, common woman in her middle sixties) was an excellent housekeeper, and I paid her double what she could get anywhere else, and she quit after one week!

When I asked her why, she said she'd rather not say, but she did agree to clean for him daily if I would come over and stay in the house with her, or if my father would get OUT of the house, but she wouldn't stay alone in the house with him.

Now, Abby, I can't imagine my father making improper advances to her, or any of these other housekeepers, but what else am I to think?

What would you do if you were in my shoes?

HIS DAUGHTER: I would get my father to a doctor for an examination from the neck both ways and try to determine the condition of his mind. And in the meantime, I would try to line up a male domestic.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — City vice detectives and federal agents broke up their first still in ten years Tuesday after finding all the needed equipment and 50 gallons of peach mash in a rear washroom of a furniture store.

Police said they found a still, coils and a 20-gallon copper kettle in George's Used Furniture Shop. They said the equipment was being used to make peach brandy, sold at $20 a gallon.

The proprietor, George Hogan, 48, was booked on a charge of violating the state alcoholic beverage control law.

The 50 gallons of mash were flushed down a sewer, police said.

Nine Killed When Gunners Down Chopper

SAIGON (AP) — Seven Americans and two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed when enemy gunners shot down a U.S. helicopter in the Plain of Reeds along the Cambodian border.

U.S. spokesmen said the UH1 chopper apparently was on a trooplift operation in the vast swampy region 35 miles west of Saigon when it was brought down late Thursday. They said the aircraft was destroyed, and there were no reports of any survivors.

It was the 2,878th helicopter reported lost in the war. U.S. headquarters also reported 17 enemy shelling attacks from 8 a.m. Thursday to 8 a.m. today. The command said eight U.S. bases and installations were hit, and 20 Americans were wounded, but no Americans were killed.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

RAIDING VIET CONG HIDEOUT — Dropped by helicopter only seconds before, members of a 9th Division Ranger unit rush in on what was reportedly a Viet Cong hideout in western Long An Province in the Mekong Delta. Small camp had been spotted by an observation helicopter. Viet Cong had fled just before soldiers arrived, leaving hot bowls of rice still on breakfast table.

Nixon Arrives On Guam, Globe-Circling Shaping

AGANA, Guam (AP) — President Nixon said today he will look to America's Asian allies to do more for themselves militarily in the future so that the United States does not get involved in any more Vietnams.

The President spoke to newsmen after a long day during which he greeted the returning Apollo 11 astronauts aboard the aircraft carrier Hornet south-west of Hawaii, then flew to this tiny U.S. island outpost in the Western Pacific.

After an overnight rest, the President and Mrs. Nixon take off Saturday for the Philippines, Nixon's first Asian stop on his globe-circling tour.

After the Philippines, Nixon will visit Indonesia, Thailand, India, Pakistan and Romania. During his stops in Asia, he said, he will be looking ahead to American policy in Asia after the Vietnam war. He said thinking about postwar policy should begin now, so that the United States does not act precipitously when the occasion arises.

He said he feels the United States should continue to be involved in Asia because it is a Pacific power. But he added that he recognizes the nationalism of the Asians who say "Asia for the Asians." The United States should offer assistance, he said, but should not dictate.

The President said the United States, of course, will keep its treaty commitments in Asia and elsewhere, but hopes to cut back military aid, and particularly the supplying of personnel, lest it get caught up in another creeping involvement in war.

He said he did not want to be critical of previous administrations, but felt the United States could learn from its mistakes.

Nixon declined to discuss prospects for further withdrawals of U.S. troops from Vietnam or to assess the continuing lull in fighting there.

However, he said he would be meeting in Bangkok next week with Ellsworth Bunker, the U.S.

ambassador in Saigon, and quite possibly with Gen. Creighton Abrams, the U.S. military commander in Vietnam.

Asked if there was any prospect of withdrawal of some of the 40,000 American troops in Thailand, Nixon said commitments of military personnel in that country and elsewhere are being reviewed and will be discussed with higher officials in Bangkok.

Nixon also said he would sound out the Asian leaders he meets on their willingness to help police a cease-fire in Vietnam and free elections.

As for his Romanian visit, the first to a Communist country by an American president since President Franklin D. Roosevelt went to Yalta in 1945, Nixon said his trip to Bucharest should be interpreted as an affront to the Soviet Union or as being related to Communist China.

The President said he hoped the visit to Romania would set the stage for future openings of this kind in which the United States and the countries of Eastern Europe would find such exchanges mutually beneficial.

Nixon also specified three areas which he said could serve as a basis for summit talks with the Soviet Union, talks he said could be held if both countries accept and prospects for progress are promising.

The three areas were the Middle East, arms control and Vietnam. However, he held out no prospect for immediate summit talks with the Russians on any of these items.

The President said Vietnam potentially was the No. 1 item for a summit agenda. But he added that it was questionable that the Soviets would want to be helpful in that area in such a public fashion.

Nixon said should there be promise of a breakthrough in efforts for peace in the Middle East, that could lead to a Soviet-American summit. But he said he does not anticipate that

He also said he believes arms control for the time being should be discussed at the ambassadorial level.

In talking to the newsmen, the President specified that he could not be quoted directly.

Several thousand friendly, flag-waving islanders and mainland Americans stationed on Guam greeted the President when Air Force One touched down at the Air Force base on Guam.

Pre-Registration For HCJC Slated

Howard County Junior College will hold another pre-registration session July 28-Aug. 1 from 8 a.m.-12 p.m. and 1-5 p.m., according to L. L. Lewis, registrar and admissions officer. There will be no evening registrations.

Those attending college for the first time will have to make a request for their high school transcript, and those students transferring from another college will need a transcript of their previous college work.

Lewis reminds all full-time students they need to take the American College Test before classes start if they have not yet done so. This test will be administered on both Aug. 2 and Aug. 9 at 8 a.m. in Room AS at the college for those who have to make it up.

Spending Cuts Might Reduce Forces Size

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New White House-ordered slash in defense spending may speed reduction in the size of U.S. military forces, Pentagon sources indicate.

These sources also suggested a continued slowdown in Vietnam fighting could help the Nixon administration cut spending for ammunition, B-52 bomber missions and other war-related purposes.

President Nixon has directed federal agencies to come up with further spending reductions totaling $3.5 billion, and Budget Bureau officials forecast the Pentagon will absorb more than half the amount.

Defense authorities, who earlier pared $1.7 billion from the Johnson administration's $7.4 billion farewell military budget, anticipated the new White House order and had been searching for places to cut deep.

"We're going to have to squeeze hard on personnel," said one official.

New U.S. withdrawals from Vietnam, expected late this summer and fall, probably will be translated into total force levels well below the 3.45 million men projected in the budget row before Congress.

The first troop pullouts from Vietnam, now under way, will result in a 15,000-man drop in over-all Army strength and save about $150 million a year.

For each additional man cut from the military rolls, the Pentagon figures to save about $10,000 a year.

Looking beyond the war, defense leaders have been thinking of lowering U.S. armed strength gradually to around 2 million men, thus reaping a saving of about $5 billion a year.

The Defense Department's civilian force also is a likely target for more trimming beneath the level of 1,215,000 now planned for the coming year.

The Nixon administration in April moved to lop 20,000 civilian workers from the payroll at an anticipated annual saving of about $70 million. That cut probably will be deepened.

Officials hinted that, if the level of fighting stays low, they may be able to trim the more than $4 billion in the budget for ground, air and naval ammunition.

Shortly after coming to office, the Nixon administration sliced more than $900 million from the Johnson administration's ammunition request.

The number of B52 sorties is due to slide from about 1,800 to about 1,600 a month, and a continued lull could bring an additional cutback in B52 bomber operations in Southeast Asia.

Local People Urge Support Of Texas Water Program

Six Big Spring residents are among those actively urging support of the constitutional amendment to carry out the state's long-range water plan. These were appointed by Governor Preston Smith to his special committee of 500 to work for enactment of the water program.

The proposal, Amendment No. 2, will appear on the ballot in the special election of Aug. 5. Absentee voting on all amendments on the ballot continues through Aug. 1.

Local members of the Governor's Committee are W. E. Gibson, Kenneth Howell, O. H. Ivie, Frank Parker, Floyd E. Young and R. W. Whipkey.

The water program has been endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce board of directors, and the program is currently being presented to members of various service clubs.

Adoption of Amendment No. 2 would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue $3.5 billion in bonds to finance the state's share of the cost of the long-range Texas Water Plan.

Amith, who is joined by former Governors Allan Shivers, Price Daniel and John Connally as co-chairmen of the committee, stressed that the money would not be used to provide gifts or grants, but will provide temporary financing which will be repaid by the users of the water.

Noting that never before has a proposed amendment to the State Constitution had the support of so many Texas leaders, Smith said the objective of the Texas Water Plan is to provide adequate water to maintain the growth and prosperity of Texas into the next century when it is estimated that the state will have a population of more than 30 million persons.

The program has been endorsed by every state and national agency dealing with water development, Smith said. The plan would provide for the full development of Texas' water resources and the importation of surplus water from the lower Mississippi River for distribution to areas with declining water resources.

The plan will provide water for domestic and municipal uses, for industry, for agriculture, for recreation, for bays and estuaries and for other beneficial purposes, Smith pointed out.

Nixon Gave Pope Notice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration gave Pope Paul VI advance notice of its decision to step up sharply the nation's birth control programs, according to Sen. Hugh Scott, assistant Senate Republican leader.

"I can assure you they told the Pope before they did it," Scott told a meeting of summer congressional interns Thursday.

"They didn't get the Pope's approval," the Pennsylvania senator added, but just informed him a plan was forthcoming to make more birth control services available to more women.

It was merely a matter of courtesy, Scott said.

The pontiff has repeated the traditional Roman Catholic church stand against the use of artificial means of contraception.

President Nixon's message to Congress last Friday included an assurance that federal birth control programs would not be "allowed to infringe upon the religious convictions or personal wishes and freedom of any individual."

He called for the creation of a commission to study the implications of continued rapid population growth in the United States. Nixon also urged increased federal support for existing population control programs at an expense administration officials said would reach $150 million yearly.

Firemen Answer 39 Fire Calls

During June the fire department answered 39 calls, according to the monthly report submitted by Fire Chief H. V. Crocker.

Of the 39 calls, 13 were for fires in automobiles, 11 for fires in buildings, seven for brush or grass fires, and five for other emergencies. Three calls were false alarms.

The fire department has 49 authorized personnel, with 18 actual fire fighters to a shift.

AMENDMENTS EXPLAINED—NO. 6 Removing Interest Limit On State Bonds Proposed

AMENDMENT NO. 6—H.J.R. NO. 7 (Authorizing removal of constitutional interest-rate limitations on certain bonds subject to limitations imposed by the legislature.)

The proposed Amendment No. 6 adds another Section 64 to Article III of the Texas Constitution. This new section authorizes the removal of constitutional interest rates on bonds which may be issued by certain agencies subject to limitations imposed by the legislature. The Regular Session of the 61st Legislature passed S.B. 20, which would set the maximum interest rate at 6 1/2 per cent on bonds issued under constitutional interest-rate limits as well as on bonds and other public securities issued under statutory interest-rate limits. If Amendment No. 6 is adopted, the statutory interest-rate limit in S.B. 20 will control maximum interest rates on bonds whose maximum interest-rate limits are presently set in various sections of the constitution.

BACKGROUND

Several provisions of the Texas Constitution place maximum limits on the amount of interest which may be prescribed by certain public agencies for bonds and other public securities which they issue. Most of these maximum limits are set at less than five per cent.

At the present time, the prevailing rate of interest at which bonds and other public securities can be sold on the open market is higher than the maximum interest-rate limits set by the Texas Constitution. Since the interest rate borne by bonds is an important factor in making them easy to sell on the open market, bonds issued by various public agencies in Texas which bear interest rates below the prevailing rate on the open market are very difficult to sell. The purpose of Amendment No. 6 is to remove the maximum interest-rate limitation so that certain public agencies may raise the interest rates on future bond issues to a level which is at least equal to the prevailing rate on the open market.

Agencies that would be affected by this amendment are the Texas Water Development Board, the Veterans' Land Board, the Parks and Wildlife Department, and the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. Some of the programs that would be affected are the Texas Water Plan, the Texas Opportunity Plan, and the Veterans' Land Program.

ARGUMENTS FOR:

1. Adoption of Amendment

No. 6 would make it possible for certain state agencies now under constitutional restrictions establishing maximum interest-rate limits to provide for higher interest rates on future bond issues thereby allowing the bonds to compete for sale on the open market on even footing with bonds issued by other entities.

2. Failure to adopt Amendment No. 6 would cause many major state programs to be curtailed or discontinued due to a lack of funds. Among these programs are the Texas Opportunity Plan, which provides student loans enabling many young Texans to attend college, and the Texas Water Plan, which is designed to provide Texas with an adequate water supply for the next 50 years.

AGAINST:

1. Removing the constitutional limit on maximum interest rates for bonds issued by certain public agencies would allow those agencies to provide higher interest rates on future bond issues which, in turn, would require increased tax revenues from Texas citizens to pay the added interest.

2. The adopting of Amendment No. 6 would encourage the state through its various agencies to rely even more on creating bonded indebtedness as a means of financing future needs.

Newcomers Playing In Jack's Shadow

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The ominous shadow of big Jack Nicklaus loomed over the shoulders of first-round leaders Bob Mitchell and Terry Wilcox today going into the second round of the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

Mitchell and Wilcox, a couple of relative newcomers, carved out five-under-par 65s in the first round Thursday and spearheaded the most massive assault ever on the rugged South course at the Firestone Country Club.

In all, 27 broke par 70 on the gigantic course, a 7,180-yard layout called by the touring pros the most demanding they play. The previous record for sub-par rounds was 16.

But Mitchell and Wilcox were anything but secure and confident in their spot with the average Nicklaus just one stroke behind at 66.

Bert Greene, Tom Nieporte, Steve Reid and Ray Floyd were tied at 67.

"GETTING BETTER" "I'm not there yet," the powerful Nicklaus said. "But it's getting better."

"For the first time this year I feel I can make a putt and that's better than thinking you can't make anything."

"I'm driving better. My iron is spotty but better. I know I'm swinging better because I'm hitting them further."

Nicklaus, along with Mitchell and Chi Chi Rodriguez, matched the course record 31 on the back nine but credited it all to his putting.

"I putted very well," said Nicklaus, making his first start in this country in a month, "but I really didn't play all that well."

Big Jack, in a slump since the winter tour, had birdie putts of 20, 8, 13, 22 and 20 feet, reached a par 5 in 2 for another and bogeyed twice, once hitting a tree and missing the green the other time.

Mitchell, a 26-year-old from Danville, Va., on the tour 3 1/2 years without a victory, spiced his round with a monster 60-foot birdie putt and had nine one-putt greens.

The crewcut Wilcox, 30, who divides his time between the tour and his club job at the Siwanoy Country Club in Bronxville, N.Y., also is seeking his first tour victory.

He pitched in from 30 yards on the fourth hole, the first of three consecutive birdies, twice pitched inside of three feet, rolled in putts of 25 and 15 feet, for other birds, and had two bogies.

Arnold Palmer struggled to a 75. He missed 19-foot putts on the first three holes, three-putted the fourth and fifth and took four to get down from the fringe at the sixth.

Little Leaguers Hub No-Hitter

PECOS — The Big Spring American League All-Stars, carrying the colors of this district, ran into a pitcher hot as a welding torch Thursday evening and wound up on the short end of a 11-0 score.

They had nothing to be ashamed of for Walker, pitching for Pecos, threw a no-hitter at the Big Spring lads. In fact, he lacked only one man of pitching a perfect game. Barry Canning, pitcher for Big Spring, walked in the third and got to second, where he died. Of 19 men facing him all evening, Walker struck out 13.

He also clubbed a homer in the third that touched off a three-run uprising that sealed any hopes Big Spring had left.

Hernandez hit Canning's second pitch out of the park as the first man up in the bottom of the first, and that was enough for the ball game. A walk, double and wild pitch brought in another tally. Two walks, followed by advances on fielder's choices added two to the second. A single, walk, single and double brought the roof in the fourth.

Chavez, said to be the equal of Walker as a pitcher, played shortstop for Pecos and got to settle for two hits. In winning the district, Chavez had gone wild at bat.

Canning pitched creditable.

Snyder Lad Blisters Munny Links In Junior PGA Play

Glen Ramin, Snyder, fired a three-under-par 70 as he burned up the Munny course here Thursday to wrap up two days of play by the West Texas PGA Junior Tour on both local links.

Mark Slate, Big Spring, who defeated fellow townsman Pat Weaver in an extra hole playoff for second place, fired a 73, but it was no match for the red hot Ramin who had a 35 on both front and back nines in capturing the 16-17-year-old division.

Howard Stewart, Big Spring, Wednesday's winner, went to pieces on the front nine, then shot a brilliant two-under on the back stretch for a 73.

Gary Travis, who had the 14-15-year-old division crown slip through his fingers on a technicality at Big Spring Country club the previous day, made good Thursday with a one-under 72. John Adams, Midland, was hot on his heels with a 74, only one over.

Jimmy Stewart, who had won the 12-13-year-old division Wednesday, fired an 80 and was edged by Bobby Smith, Odessa, who shot a 79.

Fifty three young golfers took part in the play, said Charles Brantley, club pro, and all but two finished. Scott Morgan became ill during the round and had to withdraw, and Steve Ellis had no card turned in.

All boys who win any of the three divisions at anytime during the tour are eligible for the finals which will be played late in August at Andrews.

Results Thursday included:

13-13
Bobby Smith, Odessa, 79
Jimmy Stewart, Big Spring, 80
Mark Edwards, Big Lake, 81
Ken Stover, Big Lake, 81

MORTON THROWS TWO TDS Allie Sherman Is Proving To Be Stern Taskmaster

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Washington Redskins is supposed to be running as tough a training camp as there is in pro football. Little attention has been paid to Allie Sherman, but the coach of the New York Giants is a stern taskmaster, too.

Sherman, determined to bring the Giants back to their once lofty status, uses what some call a modified version of a gullline. That's because it is supposed to let a coach know who's willing to put his neck on the line.

The so-called guillotine consists of two blocking dummies about four feet apart. A defensive man stands between them on one side. On the other side is a ball carrier and a blocker.

When the runner gets the ball he drives straight ahead between the dummies. He is not allowed to go around them. The resulting collision between the linemen and the ball carrier has helped Sherman weed out a lot of candidates in a hurry.

With the first preseason exhibition games only a week off, the San Diego Chargers and New Orleans Saints engaged in a two-hour scrimmage at Irvine, Calif., Thursday. The Chargers scored three touchdowns, the Saints none.

The Minnesota Vikings put in a long contact drill with ends Carl Eller and Jim Marshall and tackles Gary Larsen and Alan Page performing brilliantly on defense. The Vikings also signed their second draft choice, Volly Murphy, a speedy flanker from Texas-E-El Paso.

Craig Morton threw two touchdown passes during a 25-minute scrimmage by the Dallas Cowboys.

The running of halfback Frank Quayle impressed Coach Lou Saban as the Denver Bronco rookies scrimmaged for the second straight day in preparation for their game with the Kansas City Chiefs Saturday night.

The Chiefs said they would start Mike Livingston at quarterback with Ben Hart and Maurice LeBlanc as the running backs in the so-called Grocery Bowl exhibition against the Broncos.

LOCAL HORSE WINS — Orphan Host, a 6-year-old mare owned by Landon D. Burchell of Big Spring, won the eighth race at Ruidoso Downs last Sunday. The chestnut mare was a half-length winner in the five-and-a-half furlong race and paid $19.80, $6 and $3.60. Orphan Host is trained by John A. Dillard, Big Spring, and was ridden by jockey Jack Wallace.

Tennis Stars Moving Up

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Four American Davis Cup stars, including No. 1 seeded Arthur Ashe, advanced to the quarter-final round today of the $25,000 National Clay Court Tennis Tournament.

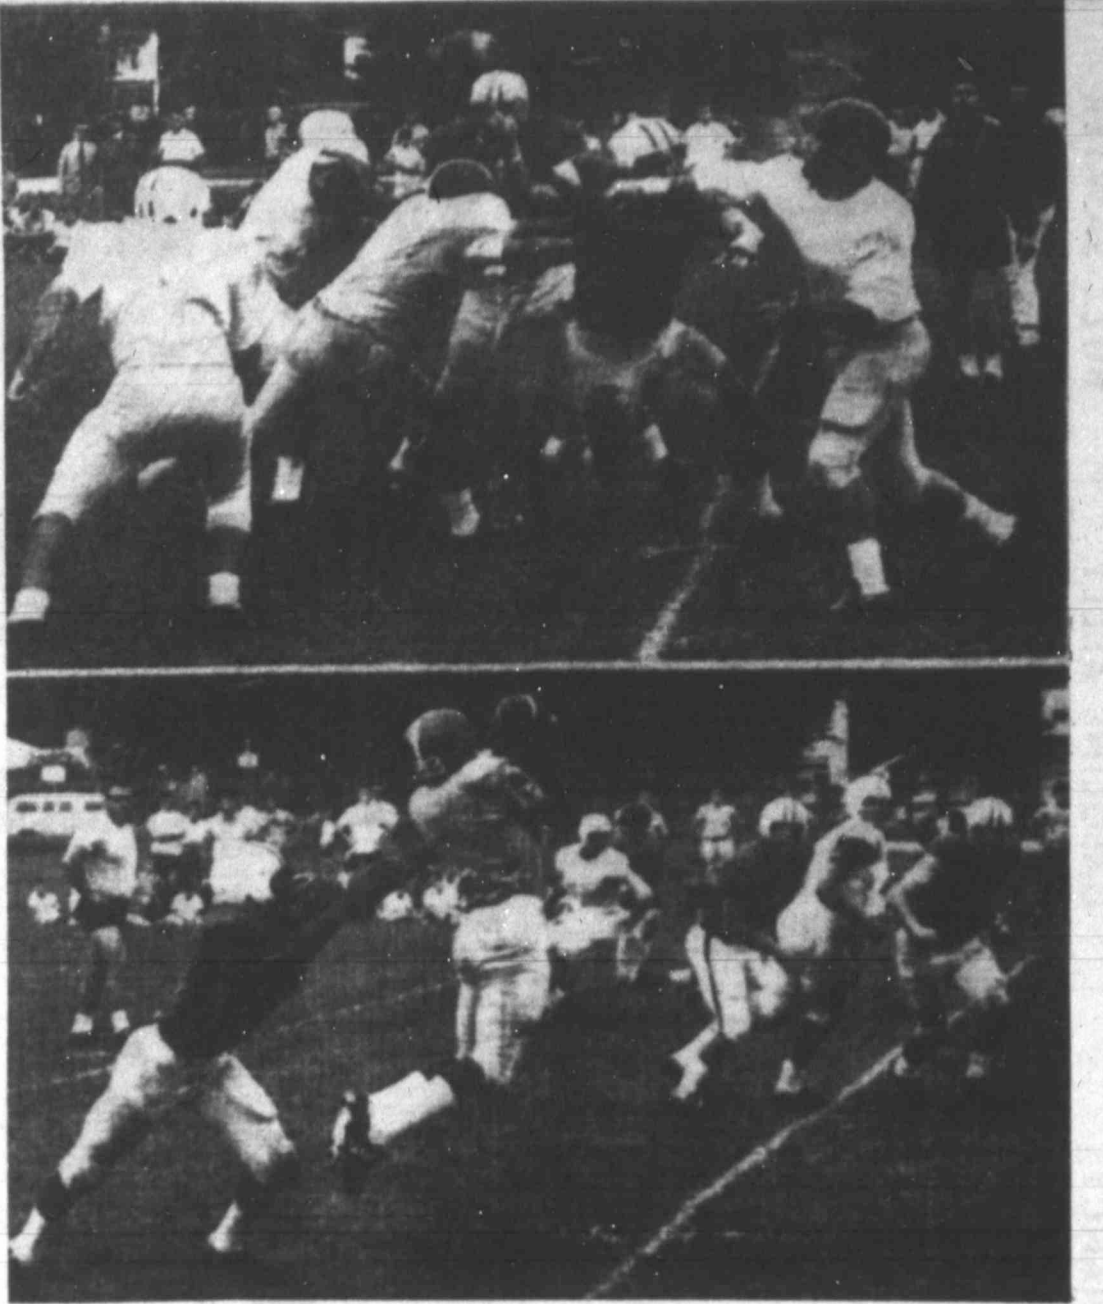

Advancing with Ashe Thursday at Woodstock Country Club were defending champion Clark Graebner, second seeded; Charles Pasarell, No. 6, and Stan Smith.

Ashe, 26-year-old Open champ from Richmond, Va., trying for his second Clay Court title in three years, topped Tom Edliessen of Fort Walton Beach, Fla., 6-4, 6-4.

Graebner, New York, took a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Chile's Patricio Cornejo, No. 8 foreign seeded. Pasarell, of Puerto Rico, defeated the No. 2 foreign entry, Bill Bowrey of Australia, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., beat Jaime Fillol of Chile, 6-4, 6-4, in a match delayed nearly three hours by rain. It was the third day out of four here rain hampered play, and all Thursday doubles matches were rescheduled for today.

Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, top seeded foreign entry, overcame Jim McManus, No. 8 American from Berkeley, Calif. 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

NUTHIN' TO IT — Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty uncorks a long pass (top) to Houston's Paul Gipson during scrimmage at Northwestern University yesterday. Despite pressure by the All-Stars' defense, Gipson pulls in Hanratty's throw (bottom). All-Stars meet the New York Jets at Chicago's Soldier Field Aug. 1.

Slammin' Sam Leads In Canada

MONTREAL (AP) — The rabbits and eager beavers that constitute the bulk of the field in this year's Canadian Open Golf Championship will try once again to match strokes today with seasoned veteran Sam Snead.

In the opening round Thursday, the youngsters spent most of the day chasing the early-finishing Snead—a 57-year-old veteran of 32 years on the pro circuit—but they failed to catch him.

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., fired a blistering five-under-par 67 over the 7,076-yard Pinegrove course at nearby St. Luc to help himself to a one-stroke lead over the field. He put together nines of 33 and 34.

The few other name players in this tournament, which coincides with the American Classic in Akron, Ohio, were within comfortable range to take aim at Snead's slim margin today.

But the list of the 50 top scorers in the opening round was cluttered with unknowns, for the most part hungry youngsters seeking a good pay day from the $125,000 jackpot.

One such newcomer found himself in second place just one stroke off Snead's pace.

Richie's Back, But Phils Show They Lose Anyway

By The Associated Press

Richie Allen might be a strong candidate for Comeback of the Year honors in Philadelphia, but the Phillies seem certain to prove his return can't bring them back.

With the disappointing first baseman in the line-up for the first time since he went AWOL June 24 and was suspended, the Phillies shrugged off his presence and lost again, 7-3 at Houston Thursday night. It was their 10th defeat in 11 games.

Even with him the first 63 games of the season, they rolled down a 26-37 record. When he pulled the latest of his disappearing acts last month that cost him $11,000 in suspended salary, the Phils went on a nine-game winning streak, but then collapsed to 13-18 without him.

The baffling slugger did his best against the Astros with a run-scoring double and a bunt single—he struck out his other two times at bat—but it will take more than Mr. Allen to make the Phillies a winner.

Earlier in the day, the Chicago Cubs showed again it will take more than Don Sutton to make them a loser as they beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3, running Sutton's record against them to 0-13 in four years.

The victory increased the Cubs' Eastern Division lead in the National League to 5 1/2 games over the New York Mets, who dropped a 4-3 decision to Cincinnati in 12 innings.

Atlanta, with Hank Aaron moving into fourth place on the all-time home run list, increased its Western Division lead with a 9-6 victory over Montreal while St. Louis dropped San Francisco and Juan Marichal 2-1.

Pittsburgh edged San Diego 4-3 in 10 innings in the other game.

Allen doubled in the run in the first inning and a homer by another returnee, injured Johnny Callison, helped the Phils to a 3-0 lead. But that was it against Don Wilson, 11-7, who gave away six other hits and struck out 12.

The Astros, meanwhile, took the lead in the fifth with five runs as Denis Menke doubled in two. Menke later singled in three, and Allen must have left thinking "nothing's changed."

Tony Perez' homer in the 12th, following earlier blasts by Bobby Tolan and pitcher Jim Merritt, gave Cincinnati its victory after the Mets had fought back three times to tie, twice on homers by Donn Clendenon and Cloie Jones.

Aaron hit the 535th homer of his career with one on in the seventh inning, breaking a 5-5 deadlock, and Orlando Cepeda hit a two-run shot in the same inning in a game of seven homers. Aaron's blast moved him ahead of Jimmy Fox and one behind Jimmie Mantle.

Jack Jones hit two homers for Montreal.

Nelson Bries, 10-9, outduelled Marichal, 13-5, with ninth inning relief help from Joe Hoerner. Bries also singled in the winning run for St. Louis in the seventh inning, sending the Giants two games back to Atlanta.

Matty Alou doubled with one out in the 10th for Pittsburgh and scored on Carl Taylor's single after Alou's error in the ninth had helped the Padres tie.

Lolich Stranded, Takes Out Anger On Royals

By The Associated Press

Mickey Lolich was stranded in Washington for awhile, but not long enough to suit the Kansas City Royals.

Lolich, left behind by teammate Denny McLain who flew the All-Star coop early, caught an evening commercial flight and got to Detroit in plenty of time to pitch the Tigers to a 3-1 victory over the Royals on a four-hitter Thursday night.

But the Tiger left-hander's feathers still were ruffled by the McLain affair. Denny flew off in his private plane after his brief All-Star appearance, leaving Lolich and his wife stranded without transportation. Mickey had planned on returning to Detroit in McLain's plane.

"Denny pulled a crummy trick on me," complained Lolich. Then he took out his anger on the poor Royals, striking out 13 of them and running his season's record to 14-2.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday, Baltimore rapped Chicago 5-2, Cleveland edged Minnesota 6-5, Oakland nipped Washington 3-1, New York dropped California 3-1 and Seattle tripped Boston 8-6.

Boog Powell teed off on Tommy John, who has become his favorite whipping boy this season. Powell lined his 25th homer and third in six swings against John this year, keying a three-run Baltimore seventh that carried the Orioles past Chicago.

Ken Harrelson suggested a pair of home runs but it was Lou Klimchick's seventh inning triple that drove in Cleveland's winning run against Minnesota.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 29th homer and 11th this month for the Twins.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter pitched a four-hitter and Sal Bando's

The closer you get the better she looks.

You have to get to know a VW to love it.

Look closely at how it's built. The fit of the lining in the roof, the finish in a door jamb.

And our engine. Our shape may not be beautiful, but that engine gets about 27 miles to the gallon. (That's beautiful.)

The Volkswagen sedan. It's better than it looks.

Consider this. How would you like it the other way around?

Stokes Named Scout Exec

Monty R. Stokes has been employed as district executive for the Lone Star District, it was announced by Earl McKeenan, Scout Executive of the Buffalo Trail Council. Stokes will assume this position on Aug 1st and will reside at 607 W. 18th St., Big Spring. He has been serving as assistant Scout executive at Llano Estacado Council, Amarillo, since January, 1962. He was formerly employed by the Buffalo Trail Council as district executive from 1955 to the time of moving to Amarillo.

MONTY STOKES

Stokes has been in professional Scouting since 1947, serving as a District executive in Circle Ten Council, Dallas, and East Texas Area Council, Tyler, before coming to the Buffalo Trail Council in February, 1955.

He was an Eagle Scout as a boy and served in many volunteer Scouting positions, assistant scoutmaster, scoutmaster, cubmaster, neighborhood commissioner, district O&E Chairman, and holds both the Scouters Award and Scouters Key as well as Vigil Honor Member of the Order of the Arrow.

Stokes attended Southern Methodist University and graduated from American Academy of Accountancy, Chicago, Ill. as a public accountant. He is a member of the First Christian Church and has been active in civic and community affairs. He is presently a member of Rotary and the 100F.

Mr. and Mrs. Stokes have a married daughter and son. Their son, Marvin, is a captain in the Army and at present stationed in Vietnam. His wife, Tina, lives in Amarillo but will possibly follow the family to Big Spring. The Stokes' daughter lives in Longview.

EUROPEAN PATTERN Smokers Won't Break Habit Despite Ads Ban?

LONDON (AP) — If the United States follows the European pattern the consumption of cigarettes will rise despite the projected ban on broadcast advertising.

Figures show that Europeans may be induced to switch from one brand to another, or to prefer filter-tipped cigarettes to plain ones, but no blanket ban on advertising has succeeded in making inveterate smokers break the habit.

In Britain, consumption rose in 1968 to 121.8 billion cigarettes — an increase of 2.7 billion over the year before. This was despite a ban on radio and television ads for cigarettes.

In other European countries, the tendency is the same.

Holland bans all advertising of both tobacco and cigarettes. Adults there in 1968 were smoking 1,433 cigarettes per head, up from 1,287 in 1962.

Although the Italians completely clamped down on all cigarette advertising in 1962, total sales of tobacco rose by about 17 per cent by 1968.

In Switzerland 20.5 billion cigarettes were made in 1968, a record despite a complete advertising ban. Abolition of price fixing helped boost consumption.

Even behind the Iron Curtain consumption is rising.

In Poland, where advertising for cigarettes and tobacco is barred, Poles in 1967 smoked 1,840 cigarettes per head a year in 1967, up from 1,790 the year before. In 1939 they smoked 939.

In the Soviet Union there is no advertising and no statistics are published.

Austria has advertising and a 4.1 per cent increase in consumption last year. Spain, Sweden, Norway, Belgium, France, West Germany and Yugoslavia all allow advertising. Their consumption in 1968 in each case topped that of the previous year.

City Court Remodeled

The remodeling of the Corporation Courtroom in the police building — has been finished, according to Chief Deputy Melvin Daratt, bringing more convenience to the room.

Things have been arranged so jurors and officers can get to their places directly from the spectator section instead of going in front of or behind the judge's bench as in the past. One row of juror seats was taken out so all six jurors could sit together; formerly there were two rows of five seats each.

Desks for both the city attorney and the defense counsel have been moved in, and chairs have been provided for witnesses. For easier hearing, the defendant's chair was turned to face both the judge and the attorneys.

A new magnetized blackboard has been installed which makes it easier to reconstruct accidents, et. Also the judge's bench has been lowered.

Future projects, if approved in the budget, Daratt said, would include improving the lobby, getting nicer chairs for the attorneys, and bringing in another bench to seat more spectators.
