Black Panthers Eight Wounded In Chicago Shootout

CHICAGO (AP) — Five policemen and three other persons were wounded early today during an exchange of gun fire outside the Illinois headquarters of the Black Panther party on the West Side.

Four of the policemen were treated and released. The fifth, Richard D. Curley, was hospitalized with gunshot wounds in the right thigh. Three persons were arrested.

The shooting erupted after Curley and his partner, Edward Kendzior, stopped while on a routine patrol on the West Side to question two men they saw carrying shotguns out of the Black Panther headquarters.

Curley said shots were fired at them from the second floor of the building when they approached the two men, both of whom ran inside the West Madison Street building housing the headquarters.

Scores of policemen converged on the scene after Curley called for assistance, and several volleys of shots were exchanged before policemen were able to enter the building. Capt. Paul Gall said the eight officers broke down the front door and two others entered through the rear second story with a ladder.

The three arrested, all Negroes, were identified as Joseph Hayman, 20; Alvin Jeffrey, 25, and Larry White, 25. All three were treated for injuries. No charges were filed immediately.

Police confiscated four handguns at the scene. Gall said officers were investigating reports that two or three men carrying shotguns fled out the rear of the building shortly after the shooting started.

Fire broke out on the building's second floor after the arrests were made, but the blaze was extinguished quickly and damage was minor.

Police injured in addition to Curley were Edwin Baal, 27; Edward Beyer, 31; Dennis Walker, 27; and Henry Bertucca, 21.

Absentee Ballots

Only 31 persons, out of 11,838 registered voters in Howard County, have applied to County Clerk Pauline Petty for absentee ballots in the special election on nine constitutional amendments Tuesday.

Mrs. Petty said this morning 30 absentee ballots have been cast in her office on the first floor of the county courthouse, and one ballot has been mailed to a voter. Deadline for absentee ballots is 5 p.m. Friday.

Surtax Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today for a six months extension of the 10 percent income tax surtax instead of the full year's continuance asked by President Nixon.

The 51-48 vote was to adopt a rider sponsored by the Senate Democratic leadership to a house passed bill providing for the extension to Dec. 31.

However, the Republicans will have a late opportunity to offer an amendment calling for a 12-month extension so the initial result was not conclusive.

The Senate moved quickly into voting in the showdown over the bitterly debated surtax issue. (See Story, Page 1-B)

Safeguard Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both sides in the long Safeguard debate have agreed to a Senate vote next Tuesday or Wednesday on whether to bar deployment of the defensive missile system.

The outcome of the showdown remains in doubt with the Senate divided almost equally on an administration-opposed amendment limiting the Safeguard program to research.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who blocked an earlier vote, said they are ready for a vote next week.

The Senate laid the antiballistic missile — ABM — measure aside late Wednesday for the first time since July 8 in order to work today on the income surtax.

'Generation Of Peace' Is Nixon's Major Goal

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Nixon arrived in India today for a friendly and tumultuous welcome in 96-degree weather, and then sat down alone with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi to discuss the problems of the world's largest non-Communist nation.

Nixon got off to a good start with his Indian hosts by telling them at the airport that the United States wants to work with them "for the goals you believe are best for India, not our goals, but goals in which we all believe."

JUSTICE FOR MAN

The American President also recalled that in 1953 Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Mrs. Gandhi's father, told him that India wanted "a generation of uninterrupted peace."

"Our major goal now is to succeed in that dream Mr. Nehru had then—a generation of peace for India, Asia and the world," Nixon said.

"We want our generation to be remembered as the generation that set foot on the moon and as the one in which we had uninterrupted peace and justice for man on the earth."

Thousands of friendly Indians cheered the President along his route into the city, but at one point about 400 young demonstrators waved black flags at him and shouted slogans against the Vietnam war.

Ignoring the hecklers, Nixon got out of his limousine and shook hands with cheering persons nearby, then returned to the car and drove on as the demonstrators surged toward him.

Nixon saw the second anti-American demonstration of the day as he drove to the Mohand Gandhi Memorial — The Rajhat Samadhi—near the Jumna River to lay a memorial wreath.

Near the memorial, to the leader of Indian independence, several hundred demonstrators waved clenched fists, shouted "go home" and waved black and red flags. Nixon, who stood up in his limousine during much of the drive, sat down while passing the hostile group.

En route to the memorial, Nixon escaped possible injury when he stopped his motorcade to greet a crowd standing behind a concrete fence.

ON HIS WAY

He walked over to shake some outstretched hands. Under the press of the throng, the fence toppled toward him but a Secret Service man pulled him out of harm's way. Nixon remained until he saw that no one was hurt, then went on his way.

After a 90-minute meeting with Nixon, Mrs. Gandhi told a news conference that "I think America has come a long way toward what is our policy" in Vietnam.

"We have said from the beginning that the Vietnamese should be left to decide their own future without any outside interference—that all foreign troops should withdraw," she said.

Mrs. Gandhi added that a Communist takeover of Vietnam would not affect India "very much."

"It's up to the Vietnamese people to decide what sort of government they want," she said. "And of course it depends on what sort of communism. I mean, we have many different kinds in the world and some of them are going toward a certain degree of liberalization."

Mrs. Gandhi sketched India's own ideas on regional security for Asia—a subject she said she and Nixon touched on "only generally."

OLD DISPUTE

Mrs. Gandhi reiterated that India does not believe in the idea that a British or American withdrawal from Asia will create a political and military vacuum in the region.

In the "temporary phase" following the withdrawals or pull-backs, she continued, "perhaps certain big countries could guarantee" the security of Asian nations.

Mrs. Gandhi stressed that her government favors regional economic cooperation among Asian nations—and wants nothing to do with purely military pacts.

Mrs. Gandhi said that Nixon had "not specifically" offered to mediate in India's old dispute with Pakistan, to which the American President travels Friday.

She said that Nixon had said nothing about America's policy on the question of selling or not selling tanks and other arms to Pakistan.

Nixon and Mrs. Gandhi met again Friday morning before the American President and his party fly to Lahore.

Nixon flew to the Indian capital after a three-day visit in Thailand and a side trip to South Vietnam. India is the fourth stop on a global tour that ends Sunday after more stops in Pakistan, Romania and Britain.

The temperature was 96 degrees when Nixon and his wife stepped from their plane and a 21-gun salute boomed. A crowd of about 4,000 applauded as Nixon

'WE DON'T KNOW EXACTLY WHAT WE WILL SEE'

Snaps 'Fascinating' Photos

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 6 flew within 2,130 miles of Mars early today, its cameras snapping closeups that a project spokesman promised would be "fascinating."

What the pictures contain was not immediately known but scientists were so sure the quality was excellent that they ordered them displayed on monitors for newsmen as soon as they are received at Jet Propulsion Laboratory starting at 7:36 CDT tonight.

They earlier had planned to study the pictures for 24 hours and then release selected prints. "We don't know exactly what we will see," a spokesman said, "and some of it may be confusing, but we are sure that many of the pictures will have fascinating details never seen before."

Mariner 6 and a sister spacecraft, Mariner 7, ran into technical problems overnight. Mariner 6's trouble was minor — failure of a device designed to sense the chemistry of the thin Martian atmosphere.

The extent of Mariner 7's difficulty was not immediately determined. It went silent for several hours but technicians later picked up a weak signal after switching to another antenna. The spacecraft also appeared to be rolling.

"We don't know what the trouble is or whether it will affect Mariner 7's ability to send pictures when it comes within camera range Friday," a spokesman said.

Mariner 6, after televising late Wednesday night a series of approach photographs showing that Mars may be as crater-pocked as the moon, made a 17-minute camera run close to the Martian equator shortly after midnight.

Its path was over a band of dark areas thought by some scientists to be vegetation.

Twenty-four pictures were snapped and stored on tape for transmission earthward tonight.

Twelve pictures were taken by a telephoto camera and 12 by the wide-angled camera which made the earlier approach shots. Some of the wide-angled pictures were to cover hundreds of square miles. The telephoto camera was to snap highly magnified pictures of areas within the wide-angle frames, some showing details as small as 900 feet across.

In the field of view of the cameras were vast desert-like areas which earth telescopes show are traversed by thin lines long called canals, and dark areas with curving boundaries which seem to grow green in the spring and fade in summer.

Mariner 6 was not designed to determine whether any form of life presently exists on Mars, only whether life could survive in its apparently hostile climate.

Spending Bill Debate Starts In Texas House

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. W. S. Healy's forces easily knocked down attempt after attempt to amend his Appropriations Committee's $5.749 billion general spending bill.

By 11 a.m., seven amendments had been tabled by lopsided votes and it appeared there would be a final vote by noon.

Senators, meanwhile, agreed to work Friday in order to substitute their own bill for the House bill and get the budget battle into a joint House-Senate Conference Committee quickly.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher gavelled down attempts by Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston, during debate on one amendment, to discuss Healy's rides home to Paducah on state agency airplanes.

The amendment, by Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio, would have prohibited legislators from riding on planes of the General Land Office, with which he is feuding. It also would have required the land office to keep a log of everyone riding on its planes.

Graves listed two Department of Public Safety log items and one Parks and Wildlife Department log item showing trips from Austin to Paducah and return.

"You're not confining yourself to the amendment," Mutscher said as he gavelled Graves into silence.

Johnson's amendment was tabled, 81-50.

Also tabled by a lopsided vote was an amendment by Rep. Dave Allred, Wichita Falls, that would have deleted a rider prohibiting the use of DPS helicopters to enforce traffic laws.

The House bill would require $286.2 million in new taxes, compared with $327 million that would be needed if the budget approved by the Senate Wednesday becomes law.

A conference committee composed of five House members and five senators will work out the final compromise bill.

Neither measure includes the $30 million in additional general revenue that would be needed if the voters approve a welfare increase Aug. 5.

Five More Money Plans

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Tax Committee hears five more revenue-raising plans today before dumping the job of drafting major tax legislation into the lap of a conservative five-member subcommittee.

The special session's two-man tax plans, both laying the burden heavily on consumers, were heard Wednesday.

With less than 24 hours' notice sponsors of proposals to raise the oil, gas and whisky taxes and impose new levies on disposable drink containers, corporate profit and extractive industries get a chance to present their bills today.

After today's hearing, committee Chairman Ben Atwell, Dallas, planned to name a subcommittee to weigh all the proposals and draft a single revenue measure for the house to consider next week.

Atwell's subcommittee choices are a pretty good indication the bill the committee sends to the floor will include some sort of sales tax increase and removal of some sales tax exemptions.

Atwell said the subcommittee members would be himself and Reps. R. H. Cory, Victoria; Forrest Harding, San Angelo; John Traeger, Seguin, and W. S. Healy, Paducah.

"We'd like to get a bill out by next Tuesday," Atwell said.

Wednesday's hearing was on Gov. Preston Smith's $307.5 million tax plan and a $365 million tax bill of Atwell's.

Smith's bill raises the state sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent, increases the motor vehicle sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent, adds 3 cents to the present 11 cents per pack cigarette tax, places alcoholic beverages under the sales tax and raises the franchise tax from $2.75 to $3.25 per $1,000 for a two-year period.

Talk Moon Adventure With Astronaut Corps

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 11 moon men, found free so far of any effects from lunar dust, discussed their moon adventure today with a trio who'll retrace the path they blazed.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins talked with other members of the astronaut corps, including the crew of Apollo 12, scheduled to land on the moon in November.

The Apollo 12 crew, Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean, were among a large group of astronauts who listened as Armstrong and his crewmates told tales of the moon from behind the glass wall of their quarantined quarters.

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins earlier were found free so far of any bacteria that might have come from contact with lunar dust.

Dr. Craig Fischer said Wednesday that almost-completed blood tests of the trio showed them "quite normal" with no changes "due to contact with lunar surface."

Meanwhile, scientists in another part of the lunar receiving laboratory prepared to inject moon dust directly into veins of an earth creature for the first time.

The scientists planned to put pulverized lunar material into a solution and inject it into germ-free white mice. If there are moon microbes in the dust, the mice are expected to respond rapidly.

Sterilized bits of the moon will also be injected into the animals to test possible toxic effects.

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins may spend part of the early evening revisiting Columbia, the space ship that carried them on the lunar round trip.

The cone-shaped craft was brought to the LRL Wednesday to go into quarantine in the crew area today. An engineer isolated with the crew, John Hirasaki, will complete decontamination of the spacecraft's thrusters and other equipment.

Hirasaki said the astronauts might climb into the spaceship, either to recover any personal gear left on board or just to look around. Some mysteries of the moon have begun to unravel.

as scientists work with rocks that the Apollo 11 crew brought to earth and listen to instruments left on the moon.

An Australian scientist at the center completed the first chemical analysis of lunar dust and said, "The geochemistry of the moon shows interesting differences from that of Earth."

Dr. S. Ross Taylor of the Australian National University said measurements showed about 46 chemical elements in pinches of dust he tested.

He added that the soil was not heavily mixed with meteoric matter.

This description lent strength to the theory that many craters on the moon were formed by volcanoes rather than meteors.

Another scientist, Dr. Gary Latham of Columbia University, said a seismometer left on the moon has picked up the tremors of what he believes were moonquakes.

He said the seismometer recorded lunar ground shudders from sources 2,300 miles, 1,100 miles and 270 miles away from where Armstrong and Aldrin left it.

Latham said this could indicate that the moon is layered, much like the earth. It also adds evidence to the theory of volcanoes on the moon.

Lads Lectured

The police department referred seven boys, ages seven to 10, to Juvenile Officer Keith Jones Wednesday in connection with a vandalism incident.

Jones said a counseling session was held with the boys and their parents.

Teddy Will Not Seek Presidency In 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy returned to his Senate duties today and confirmed he will not seek the presidency in 1972.

The Massachusetts Democrat, walking through throngs of tourists up the main steps to the Senate chamber, was asked whether his decision not to run was irrevocable.

"That's right," Kennedy replied. "I intend to fill out my Senate term if I am re-elected. Asked if he would run under any other circumstances Kennedy replied shortly, "No."

The senator said he was returning to take part in the debate over the surtax and the deployment of the proposed anti-ballistic missile.

He held no news conference but talked to newsmen who trotted behind him through the crowds of curious, camera snapping tourists.

Capitol police blocked newsmen from entering the Capitol itself and Kennedy went directly into the Senate floor.

Crowds of newsmen and tourists were so thick that when Kennedy arrived, sitting in the passenger seat of a car driven by an aide, he had difficulty opening the door.

Kennedy, in a statement released Wednesday at his Boston office, said he will remain in the Senate, will seek re-election next year and, if he wins, will serve a full six-year term.

That would rule out any 1972 bid for the presidency which his brother, John, won in 1960 and which his brother, Robert, sought in 1968. Both were assassinated.

Edward Kennedy's announcement: "Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is returning to Washington to resume his duties as United States senator and assistant majority leader.

"He is grateful to the people of Massachusetts for their expressions of confidence and expects to submit his record to them as a candidate for re-election in 1970.

"If re-elected, he will serve out his entire six-year term."

Not all Democrats were certain the disclaimer of 1972 presidential intentions would stick.

"I'm certain Sen. Kennedy was sincere," said Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, "but the party may think otherwise."

If Kennedy is indeed out of the field, it would be cleared for such likely contenders as Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, possibly Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma.

There had been silence but, among politicians, little suspense since Kennedy said in a July 25 television speech he was considering resigning his Senate seat because of his involvement in a fatal automobile accident one week earlier.

Kennedy asked the advice of his Massachusetts constituents. The response was an outpouring of messages, heavily in favor of his continued Senate service.

"So what else is new?" asked George D. Aiken of Vermont, dean of Senate Republicans, after Kennedy announced he would return. "Didn't you expect it?"

"You don't think 30 million Democrats are going to stand by idly and see another Republican senator come here, do you?" said Aiken.

Many Vets Have Not Converted Term Insurance

Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans' Administration regional office in Waco, said today that more than half of the 233,000 Texas veterans who hold $1,877,153,000 worth of government life insurance have not yet converted these policies from term to a permanent plan.

In 1968, he pointed out, Texas veterans paid $29,963,000 in premiums to keep both term and permanent government policies in force.

World War II and Korean Conflict veterans hold most of the term policies, Coker said. Now at an average age of 49.7 years, World War II veterans in Texas who have not converted their insurance will soon find their National Service Life Insurance premiums going up as a result of advancing age.

Permanent insurance costs more to begin with, but the premium rates for permanent insurance never go up. Permanent policies also have loan, cash-surrender, paid-up and extended insurance values, whereas term policies do not.

Veterans can obtain detailed information about the various permanent plans from the VA office in Big Spring at the VA Hospital, Room 104, office hours 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Water Use Clinic Scheduled Friday

LUBBOCK — A one-day Water Use Study Clinic will be held at the Texas Tech Pantex Research Center near Amarillo Friday.

Texas Tech agricultural engineering professor, Willie Ulich, will speak on "Cost of Pumping." Dr. John Shipley, Texas A&M, on "Economics of Water Use." Dr. James M. Osborne of the Tech Department of Agronomy on "Value of Water" and Jack Musick of the United States Department of Agriculture on "Water Use Efficiency by Crops." Other topics include the Texas Water Plan and feed lot wastes.

Only 2 Mishaps Are Reported

Police investigated only two minor accidents Wednesday.

At Twenty-third and Nolan cars driven by Oren O. Brown, 2002 Main, and Betty J. Beck, 1709 Johnson, collided. A car belonging to J. L. Rogers, Coahoma, was involved in an accident while parked at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. The other car left the scene unidentified.

Syrian Jets, Guns Blast

Syrian jets attacked Israeli military positions on Mt. Hermon today while Syrian artillery opened up elsewhere in the Golan Heights, captured from Syria in the 1967 Middle East war.

It was the first time since that conflict that the Syrians had launched a combined artillery and air attack on the Israelis. It followed a strike by Israeli jets Wednesday on Arab guerrilla encampments just inside the Syrian and Lebanese borders, which converge with Israel's in the Mt. Hermon area. Syria reported 11 soldiers wounded.

Case in Hands Of County Jury

The last case on the June term docket of Howard County Court will probably be finished today. Testimony in the trial of Clarence P. Yanez, charged with aggravated assault on a policeman, was concluded Wednesday, and the jurors began deliberation about 10 a.m. today.

Yanez was accused of assaulting city policeman Lynn Williams May 7, when Williams answered a call to a disturbance at 812 W. 7th and attempted to arrest the 45-year-old man.

BILL RUSSELL, SHOW BIZ PERSONALITY — Boston Celtics player-coach Bill Russell, appearing on the Joey Bishop Show in Hollywood Wednesday night, tells guest moderator Chuck Connors the reports are correct — he's quitting basketball. He said he hopes to follow in the footsteps of Connors as a show-business performer. Connors once was a pro baseball player.

Russell Era Is Over In Boston And NBA

BOSTON (AP) — One of the greatest eras in sports history appears ended today with the announced retirement of Bill Russell, but the Boston Celtics still hope to talk their great player-coach into changing his mind and sticking it out for one more season.

General Manager Red Auerbach announced the news which had been rumored for months — that the 35-year-old superstar plans to call it quits after leading the Celtics to 11 National Basketball Association championships in 13 years and revolutionizing the game with his defensive wizardry.

"He means it a thousand percent," Auerbach told a news conference Wednesday, "but by golly I intend to change his mind."

EYEING OFFERS
Russell, plagued by arthritic knees the past few years, has been eyeing movie and television possibilities more and more seriously of late, and has spent much of his time since the end of last season in Hollywood.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The Big Spring Steers, 1969 version, can do nothing but win if:

- Defensive linemen practice the slogan, "Thy Shall Not Pass."
- Blockers become head hunters and rise to seek new game after carrying out their original missions.
- Linebackers live by the credo, "Seek Out and Destroy."
- Ball carriers consistently go only one direction—downfield.
- Passers master the art of going to other receivers if their original targets are blanketed by the opposition.
- Reserves play with the attitude that their merits are so undeniably impressive they are on the verge of being promoted by the coaches.
- The entire team welds its physical, mental and spiritual armor so tight, its very presence in the battle pits serves to alienate the opposition's confidence in his own abilities.
- In less than a month now, the boys will be at it hammer-and-tong. Six weeks from tomorrow, the Black Knights will be playing their first game.
- It becomes a little tougher each year to qualify for the PGA tournament tour.
- So numerous are the applications for the Approved Players School that Joe Dey this year has decreed sectional qualifying first.
- Stock car racing has become lucrative for many of the people involved in it but it will not realize its full potential until it taps the millions available in live television.
- The biggest problem is adapting racing to TV. Races up to three hours in length would fit into television's format. The longer events simply take up too much of the industry's time.
- People in television and racing are working on the problem, however, and may pick up some vents in progress — maybe about midway of the action, after which they can show any highlights from earlier parts of the races on tape.
- Golf makes that sort of adjustment without posing any great problem.

One of baseball's great critics of proposed inter-league play is Horace Stoneham, owner of the San Francisco Giants.

He expresses the hope for three major leagues.

"A game or two with teams in the other league cannot establish a strong rivalry. The natural ones between cities and teams must be in the same league."

Stoneham says executives will eventually have to go to three leagues because economics will dictate it. Transportation costs are becoming unbelievably expensive, he points out.

His own Giants spend $135,000 a season for jet airplanes.

Three leagues might work. Four leagues, each composed of six teams, probably would be even better, so long as the ultimate aim was the World Series.

The San Francisco booster also insists that Willie Mays will end his baseball career in that city, not in New York. Intimates of Mays had said the great Negro outfielder wanted to play out his string in New York, where he first blossomed as a star.

Graham Likely To Try Trick Maneuvering

CHICAGO (AP) — If trickery is needed to upset the Joe Namath-propelled New York Jets Friday night, Coach Otto Graham of the underdog college All-Stars has plenty of football credentials to provide it.

The array of 30 hand-picked, pro-bound college seniors of last fall groomed by Graham since July 11 will be a 17-point underdog in the 36th All-Star game sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

The contest, to be televised nationally via ABC at 8:30 p.m. CDT, marks the first appearance in the Soldier Field classic by an American Football League club.

Unless Graham and his quarterback trio of Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame, Cincinnati's Greg Cook and Bobby Douglass of Kansas come up with something fancy or flashy, the result may not be much different than against the National Football League champs who rolled up a 24-9 record in the 35 previous All-Star games.

But in his last coaching trip to Chicago, as boss of the Washington Redskins, Graham sprang a tricky slot formation to whip the Chicago Bears 38-28 at Wrigley Field in a 1968 game the Bears squeezed into the baseball season at a financial loss figuring a cinch home opener win.

A year after his 1963 All-Stars scored the last collegiate triumph in the series, a 20-17 shading of the Green Bay Packers, Graham also came up with an innovation against the Bears in the 1964 All-Star Game.

The Bears pulled off a 28-17 decision, but Graham delighted the Soldier Field crowd by using two quarterbacks at the same time, one taking the ball under the center and tossing wide to the other for another pass or run.

Otto, long-time passing star for the Cleveland Browns who was replaced as Redskin coach by Vince Lombardi, has the tools for some trick stuff of the same kind.

Quarterback Douglass, 6-foot 5, 215 pounder, is a powerful runner who throws a lefthanded pass. Another versatile All-Star is Iowa's Ed Podolak, listed as a running back, but who was a great pass-run quarterback for the Hawkeyes until his senior year.

With ticket sales boosted by the first Chicago display of Namath, who bombed the Baltimore Colts into stunning submission, 17-7, in the Super Bowl, Friday night's crowd may exceed 70,000.

The tournament extends through Saturday night, when Al Valdes' team scored its other two runs in the fourth round when Felts and Terry Shafer crossed the plate.

Larry Nunez, a pickup player for Odessa Savings, collected three of the losers' hits off Kerby while John Mark Chellette managed the other one.

Odessa Savings dropped into the loser's bracket against Midland Kiwanis, loser to Odessa Natural Gas in the opening round.

Menke, Wynn Blast Grand Slam Homers

By The Associated Press
Pity poor Bob Tillman. The Atlanta Braves catcher cracked three consecutive home runs and still ran third in the long ball derby.

First the Houston Astros used the New York Mets pitchers as a blast-off pad in cracking a pair of grand slam homers in one inning, a National League record.

Then slugging Hank Aaron, Tillman's teammate no less, picked Wednesday night to slam his way into third place on the all-time list of home run hitters, clouting his 537th lifetime circuit, to pass former New York Yankees great, Mickey Mantle.

The Braves, in a homer-hitting twi-night doubleheader, split with the Phillies at Philadelphia, winning the first 6-3 on five homers, three by Tillman, Aaron's 27th and a solo shot by Felipe Alou.

BRAVES EDGED
The Phils came back in the nightcap to nip the Braves 4-3 on Richie Allen's eighth inning homer, his second of the game.

Johnny Callison's homer had tied it earlier in the inning.

In afternoon games Houston swept past the Mets in a doubleheader, 16-3 and 11-5 and San Francisco whipped Chicago 6-3.

In night action St. Louis stopped Montreal 5-3 and Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 4-2.

In American League games, Chicago belted Cleveland 11-6, Baltimore stopped Kansas City 4-2, Detroit trimmed Minnesota

3-1, the New York Yankees edged Oakland 3-2, California beat Boston 4-1 and Seattle edged Washington 4-3.

Before the doubleheader began, Tillman said he was hitting everything off the end of his bat.

"I was dribbling the ball. It looked like a bleak night," the 210-pounder said. But it only turned bleak for Phillies southpaw Grant Jackson, who served up all five Braves gophers.

Tillman hit his blasts in the second inning, in the fourth and sixth. The three gave him nine for the season and he went into the game hitting .176.

The 35-year-old Aaron, in his 16th major league season, smacked his 537th around the four pole in left field in the third inning on a 1-0 pitch. He placed him third behind Babe Ruth with 714, and the Giants' Willie Mays, who has 596—nine this year.

Kerby Pitches Rebels To Win

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Mayflower Rebels made a flying start in the Sophomore Teenage District 2 Baseball tournament here Wednesday, blanking Odessa Savings, 4-0, behind the expert hurling of Troy Kerby.

Kerby shut the Odessans down with four hits and gave all the working margin he needed in the first inning when Snickle Beal clubbed a home run with Steve Stone on base.

The Rebels collected ten hits, including two each by Earl Reynolds, Stone, Beal and Bruce Felts.

The Big Springs return to action against Odessa Natural Gas in the double-elimination tournament at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

Al Valdes' team scored its other two runs in the fourth round when Felts and Terry Shafer crossed the plate.

Larry Nunez, a pickup player for Odessa Savings, collected three of the losers' hits off Kerby while John Mark Chellette managed the other one.

Title Contest Set Tonight

The championship in the Summer Basketball league's post-season tournament goes on the line in the Rannels gymnasium at 8 o'clock Thursday night, at which time Teams Four and Five collide.

Teams Three and Two angle at 7 p.m. for third place.

In semifinal contests Tuesday evening, Team Four whacked Team Three, 73-63, while Team Five turned back Team Two, 105-59.

Ronnie Wrights led Team Four with 33 points while Jack Ellis had 29 points for Team Three.

Lupe Lopez tossed in 14 points for Team Two and Cleveland Gossett waxed warm for Team Five, counting 33 points.

Teams One and Eight will play a consolation round contest at 8 o'clock this evening in the Rannels gym.

Morton Team And Webb Split 2 Softball Games

Morton's Foods and Webb AFB split a softball doubleheader at Webb Wednesday night, Morton's grabbing the first one, 9-3, behind Theibert and Johnson each smacking three hits for Webb.

In the second game, Morrison limited Morton's to five hits and benefitted from an eight-run fifth inning on the part of his mates.

Wikki led Webb's offensive in that one with a double and two singles.

The Morton team will host Midland in a double header at City Park, starting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

LOCAL TEAM IN TOURNEY

The Big Spring Optimists, champions of the Hi-Junior Teen-Age Baseball league here, will oppose Haskell at 8 o'clock today in the first round of the District 2 tournament at San Angelo. The Optimists, who are managed by John Newman, will leave from the Pizza Hut at 3:30 p.m. Winner of that contest opposes the survivor of the Andrews - San Angelo encounter Friday. Two defeats will be required to eliminate a team.

Colorado City Girl Queen Candidate In Green Belt

Thirty-one nominees will compete for the title of "Miss Greenbelt Bowl" during the 20th annual Greenbelt Bowl Football game activities Aug. 15-16 in Childress.

Jan Blain of Wellington, 1968 Queen, is to crown this year's queen at halftime of the game, Aug. 16. Queen candidates, in formal dress, will be seated along the north sidelines of the field during the game.

Queen candidates are nominated by Greenbelt Bowl football players. The 1969 nominees are:

Miss Linda, Claudia Park, Debbie Wilhite, Deanna Allison and Orinda Elkman, all of Childress; Gene Norris of Lamesa; Suzanne Moore of Clarendon; Sheila Gardemire of Memphis; Peggy Robertson of Colorado City; Pam Evans of Abilene; Sondra Hopkins of Quanah; Kathy Austin of Lubbock; Francine Tippen of Paducah; Brenda Jackson of Jacksboro; and Jeanne Johnson of Canadian.

Also Debbie Courtney of Dallas; Patricia Stover of Reed, Okla.; Debbie Gragg of Shamrock; Brenda Rudolph of Fort Worth; Vickie Davis of Electra; Linda Yost of Perryton; Brenda Suther of Crosbyton; Mary Baker of Matador; Linda Kay Smith of Amarillo; Shariotte Dickey of Mobeetie; Janice Ware of Wheeler; Donna Allen of Munday; Margaret Williams of Ranger; Terry Jones of Silverton; Melissa Voyles of Holliday; and Kathy Revier of Wichita Falls.

Queen nominees are to arrive in Childress Friday, Aug. 15, and register at 1:30 p.m. at Elks Lodge. Following registration, an informal soft-drink party and rehearsal for the formal judging that evening will be held.

At 6:30 p.m. queen nominees and parents will join players, their parents, coaches and families and all others associated with Greenbelt Bowl activities at a picnic in Rotary Bowl at Fair Park.

Formal queen's contest starts at 8:30 p.m. at Elks Lodge that evening and is open to the public free of charge. Entrants must be at the lodge by 8:10 p.m. Players are to escort their queen nominees.

Saturday's queen activities open with a parade through downtown Childress. Queen contestants are to meet at the Fair Park Auditorium at 3 p.m. They will be attired in one-piece swimsuits and are to ride in boats in the parade, which starts at 4 p.m. Queens will be judged in bathing suits during the parade.

Following halftime ceremonies and crowning of the Queen Saturday evening, the '69 Queen, first runner-up, and "Miss Congeniality" are to be seated on a special platform on the 50-yard-line of the field for the remainder of the game.

Assisting with all queen's activities are ten junior hostesses, named by Greenbelt directors, including Pat Smith, Roxanne Jones, Cindy Shelton, Debbie Carter, Carol Mills, Mary Catherine Dodgen, Cathy Sims, Mary Edrington, Linda Carmack, and Vicki Trammell.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BURN

DEAR ABBY: My 47-year-old husband of 25 years is a living doll, but he is driving me to distraction with his check writing!

We have a joint checking account, but I have learned from experience that I don't dare write a check for even two dollars because it might bounce.

My husband writes checks like crazy without listing them, so consequently we never know how much we have in our account.

When we were first married our checking account got into such a mess that we closed that account and opened up a new one in another bank. Pretty soon we were all messed up again, and had to close that account. Well, we are on our FIFTH bank now, and it looks like we're going to have to find a new bank again.

What's the solution, Abby? My husband is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a big jerk.

JUDY
DEAR JUDY: Insist that your checkmate turn in his checkbook. If he refuses, face it, you're married to a "living doll" who is really a sweet guy, but when it comes to writing checks, he's a "big jerk."

DEAR ABBY: For the woman who wished they'd quit writing articles telling WOMEN how to hold their men, and instead write a few telling MEN how to hold their WOMEN: They say one of the main ways for a man to get more "loving" is to BATHE regularly. How true!

Sometimes words won't do it. I recommend the following: Place all his shaving stuff, deodorant, talcum powder, and cologne together where he can see it in the bathroom. Then with your lipstick, draw a big red heart on the bathroom mirror. Then make an arrow pointing to the shaving stuff, deodorant, etc. Then put some lipstick on your lips and kiss the mirror. (Don't worry, it's easy to wipe off.) This is very sexy and unless he's dead, he'll get the message.

Next, put a lacy nightie on, spray yourself and the bedclothes with a lovely fragrance, and I guarantee you this will pep up your marriage.

If your husband is one of those who is too lazy to bathe and expects you to be loving anyway, keep moving. Also, spray the room with air freshener, say, "Whew" all the time you're spraying, and when you're through, keep fanning the air with a newspaper.

I am no nut. I'm a married woman with four kids by three different husbands and none of my marriages has been dull. Life is short, girls, so live it up, and love it up. I never met a man I didn't find sexy in some way.

HAPPY IN MISSOURI

Denison Maps An 'Ike Hike'

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — The tourism committee of the Denison Chamber of Commerce has created an "Ike Hike" to guide visitors to the former president's birthplace here to his boyhood home in Abilene, Kan.

Richard Riggins, chairman of the committee, said the tour was initiated because of increased attendance at the Eisenhower birthplace here and the Eisenhower home in Abilene since his death.

Riggins said the trip is short enough for a long weekend or can be stretched with side trips into a week's vacation.

Denison and Abilene are the main points of Eisenhower interest on the tour, but the itinerary includes several points of interest in Oklahoma and Kansas, Riggins said.

"Ike Hikers" would also visit the Will Rogers Museum in Claremore, Okla., the Western Museum in Abilene, Turner Falls and Platt National Park in Oklahoma and the capitals of both states.

"The Abilene Chamber of Commerce has been cooperating fully with Denison on the project," Riggins said. "There has been a tremendous upsurge of interest in Eisenhower memorials since the death of the former president and general."

Riggins added that the chambers in both Denison and Abilene have route maps available that are laid out so that the tourist never has to retrace his steps.

Grazing Management Award To Rich Anderson

John (Rich) Anderson who operates a 33,000 acre ranch just southwest of Gail, in Borden County has received a certificate for excellence in grazing management. This is an award that is made annually by the Texas Section of the American Society of Range Management.

This award involves more than carrying out the various mechanical and vegetative range conservation practices, and rotation-deferred grazing systems. He has effected great improvement but believed more is to come.

the creeks, and Anderson believes that someday they will start flowing water. These creeks probably flowed most of the time before the mesquite invasion, he observed.

Besides his many ranching duties Anderson is on the Borden County school board, serves on the conservation committee of Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, is also a director of the Security State Bank at Big Spring, and is an active member of the American Society of Range Management.

CITED FOR GRAZING WORK — Joe Norris, right, member of the Texas Section of American Society of Range Management, presents John Rich Anderson with a certificate for excellence in grazing management.

When Anderson took over the operation of the ranch in 1952, it was in a drought and the grass had been eaten into the ground. There were only a few watering facilities on the entire ranch. Approximately 21,000 acres of mesquite needed to be controlled to get range improvement.

To expedite his range improvement program Anderson entered into the Great Plains Conservation Program in 1958 and completed the program in 1967. The Great Plains Conservation Program is under the administration of the Soil Conservation Service.

To get better distribution of grazing 25 stock ponds were constructed, some 8,000 feet of pipeline for transporting live-stock water was installed, plus 2.5 miles of cross fences.

Approximately 5,000 acres of bottomland range sites had a mesquite infestation of 35 to 50 per cent and only a trace of desirable grasses. In order to get range improvement the bottomland sites were rooted and seeded to desirable grasses. An additional 16,000 acres of mesquite were aerial sprayed to improve the grassland.

Anderson's grazing plan calls for resting at least one pasture each year during the growing season. Proper grazing use is practiced on all of the rangeland. The rested pastures are grazed during the fall and winter months.

"I am just a grass farmer. Grass is my main crop, and I use cattle to harvest this crop," said Anderson, who adds, his range improvement program is paying off.

The Upper Colorado River and other large creeks run through the ranch. These creek banks were barren and eroding when Anderson took over operation of the ranch. Now most of the river and creek banks have grassed over. Since the mesquites have been controlled, water now stands in some of

Another 2,750 Troops Pack To Leave Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The battle-scarred and other small field units in South Vietnam continue to seek the eucalyptus of American military units generally move combat dead last week to their into the field only in response to second lowest level in nine intelligence data indicating a month and cut the reported strong chance of finding and number of enemy killed in a meeting of the enemy.

Meanwhile, another 2,750 American troops packed to leave South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command in its weekly casualty summary reported 110 Americans and 1,963 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed last week. But 550 U.S. Army reservists, all medical or support personnel, would depart Friday for Okinawa or the United States in accordance with President Nixon's withdrawal order.

With their departure, a total of 10,150 U.S. personnel will have been withdrawn from the war zone under the order for 25,000 to be replaced by South Vietnamese by Aug. 31.

The 2,200 Marines from the 9th Regiment's 2nd Battalion will leave by ship for Okinawa.

The American toll was the lowest since last Oct. 26 except for the week of Dec. 29-Jan. 4. The New Year's cease-fire, when 599 were wounded.

The reported total of enemy dead was the lowest since last Nov. 3-9, when the claim was 1,601 killed.

The decrease in American casualties apparently resulted, not only from the reduction in enemy attacks since June 18, but also from a recent shift in American strategy from "maximum pressure" on the enemy to "protective reaction," a shift U.S. sources have said was designed chiefly to hold down American casualties.

The policy is one of "responding in kind," meaning that U.S. troops generally operate in small units as the enemy is operating. And while reconnaiswhere the regiment's new headquarters is being established. Another 200 will fly out Saturday. About 2,500 more men of the regiment's 3rd Battalion are staying in Vietnam but will pull out before Aug. 31.

The other units being withdrawn Friday will fly to the United States from Da Nang, Chu Lai and Cam Ranh Bay to be deactivated at posts near their hometowns.

The largest units are the 300-man 312th Evacuation Hospital from Winston-Salem, N.C., and the 200-man 452nd Combat Support Company from the Worthington, Minn., area.

Working To Give Taxpayers Break

WASHINGTON (AP) — House tax reformers, working to give average taxpayers a better break, are considering either increasing the 10 per cent standard deduction or upping the $600 personal exemption.

Their decisions on tax relief will complete the broad reform bill scheduled for voting in the House next week.

Although more than half the House membership has expressed interest in raising the exemption, sentiment in the Ways and Means Committee apparently favors revising the standard deduction—which would cost the Treasury much less revenue.

A $100 exemption increase, it was estimated, would reduce tax yield nearly $3 billion, raising the standard deduction from 10 to 14 per cent and the ceiling on it from $1,000 to $1,800 was estimated to cost $1.2 billion.

Meanwhile, the committee has softened somewhat its proposed crackdown on the use of farm losses to reduce investors' farm taxable income and on the use of certain oil industry preferences by well-to-do individuals.

Decisions to slash the oil depletion allowance and related benefits, however, were reaffirmed.

In its final review, the committee decided that only large operators in the farm field should be subjected to a new rule by which the Treasury would recapture special farm loss deductions when the farm property is sold. The rule, if specified, will apply only to persons with $50,000 or more non-farm income and farm losses of at least $25,000.

The committee reaffirmed its plan for a minimum income tax applying to individuals who have more than half their income protected by special deductions or shelters. But it said that in computing income for this purpose, deduction of intangible drilling costs and the excess of depletion over cost would not be considered special preferences.

The committee dropped a previously adopted plan to impose a tax of 10 per cent on some state and municipal bond interest collected by banks and other financial institutions.

SURTAX COMPROMISE? — Vice President Spiro Agnew, with Treasury Secretary David Kennedy, right, watching, told newsmen in Washington yesterday that the administration was not insisting adamantly on each provision in the House-passed surtax bill.

Six-Month Extension Of Surtax Demo Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders, banking on some party solidarity, hoped to push through a six-month extension of the 10 per cent surtax today only hours before it is due to die.

Republicans, however, planned an 11th hour attempt to squeeze through the full 12-month surtax extension sought by President Nixon.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, while standing pat on his contention there should be only a temporary surtax extension until work is completed on major tax reforms, relented somewhat Wednesday night and agreed to a surtax debate.

Mansfield said he was confident the six-month bill would pass his branch, but the Montana Democrat conceded there were other pitfalls to concluding action on the measure before midnight.

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican member of the Finance Committee, had made it clear he would try to upset the Democratic plan by offering two amendments.

One would provide the full year's extension as in the House bill and the other would repeal the 7 per cent investment tax credit.

Mansfield said Democrats were pledged to repeal but would try to defeat the amendment at this time.

There was no guarantee the House, which has approved a year's extension, would go along with the Senate on a six-month bill, and Nixon previously rejected all Democratic proposals for anything less than a full year's extension.

Congress was working under the tightest possible schedule with the pay check surtax withholding rates due to expire at midnight. Most members of Congress agreed that if the surtax withholding rates were allowed to die tonight, it would be next to impossible to revive the surtax itself.

The impasse over the surtax extension continued through most of Wednesday with Democrats standing by their earlier demand for a five-month extension and Republicans remaining firm in their opposition.

After a long series of conferences involving Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and many others, Mansfield apparently obtained the understanding he wanted.

The Democratic leader moved to put aside the Safeguard missile defense debate temporarily so the Senate could call up a bill which would be used for the surcharge extension.

Want To Stay Alive In The Water? Then Read This

AUSTIN — Summer is the time of the year when many Texans take to the water. And unfortunately, it's also the time of the year when the water takes many Texans.

The Texas Safety Association reports that 426 persons drowned last year in Texas, most of them from accidents in summer water sports. That was 50 more than in 1967.

Preliminary reports indicate that there have already been more than 370 drownings this year — with more than half the summer yet to go.

This sharp increase in drownings can be stopped if the following safety rules are observed:

Opening lead: King of ♥

The defense got off to a fast start in today's hand when they collected their book at the opening gun against South's three no trump contract. Declarer, however, put on a whirlwind finish and in the end, West was forced to conclude that an abundance of natural assets can at times be a distinct liability.

When South heard his partner overcall West's opening one heart bid, he decided to play the hand in game. Holding fourteen high card points with stoppers in all the other suits, he jumped to three no trump. Observe that a bid of two no trump in this situation is not forcing, inasmuch as partner is not the opening bidder.

West opened the king of hearts and when East signaled encouragingly with the seven, West continued with a small heart next. East played the ace and a heart return thru the jack mopped up two more tricks in the suit. West exited with a club, and sat back with the comfortable expectation of eventually winning the setting trick in either spades or diamonds.

The club lead was taken by declarer's jack and the latter took a spade finesse. When North's jack of spades held, South concluded that he could take three sure tricks in that suit which, together with one diamond and four clubs, brought his total to eight. Since West needed both missing kings to justify his opening bid, a diamond finesse could not be relied on to win a ninth trick. It appeared certain, however, to declarer that his opponent could not protect himself against the onslaught of clubs, and he pressed his attack in that direction.

As the club suit was run, West found himself placed in an increasingly precarious position. On the second and third clubs he was able to part with two small diamonds, but on the last club his margin of safety was gone. He had to retain his spades to prevent declarer from running dummy's entire suit with the assist of another finesse. West parted with the jack of diamonds in the faint hope that East could protect that suit. South now cashed the ace of diamonds and when the king fell, he produced the queen for the game fulfilling trick.

Thor Omitted Tiny Detail

NEW YORK (AP) — Thor Heyerdahl says he omitted a detail shown in 4,000-year-old Egyptian drawings when constructing the papyrus boat Ra and it may have led to the disabling of the craft during its attempted Atlantic crossing.

He said the pictures and models of Egyptian craft showed a line running from the boat's stern to the deck. Because they could not figure out its purpose, they left the line off when building the Ra.

During their two-month voyage from Safi, Morocco, they discovered that waves broke over the stern and made it hard to navigate. The line would have kept the stern high and out of the waves, Heyerdahl said.

The seven-man crew abandoned the foundering Ra 600 miles short of their destination in the Barbados because of the seas breaking over the stern, damage to the mast and a starboard list.

Heyerdahl commented Wednesday in an interview on educational station WNDT-TV.

Global Network

DALLAS (AP) — LTV Electronics, Inc., has announced plans to build a 98.4 foot diameter satellite communications antenna system in Alaska that will link the state into a global communications network.

City Legal Department Is Oiling Appeals Machinery

The city's legal department is continuing to perfect its complaints and its procedures in appellate cases, according to Herb Prouty, city attorney.

"We expect to reach a point in the near future," he said, "when our procedures and complaints are firm enough to insure most cases will be set down and tried in county court."

Since January of this year the county attorney had scheduled about 70 appeals from city corporation court for trial in county court. Of these 70, about 20 defendants have paid the fines rather than go to trial. Most of the other cases were dismissed by the court judge because of technical defects in complaints or procedures.

For the last five years, said Prouty, the city has prosecuted few of the appeals from corporation court in county court. "Consequently, because of lack of experience, when the city again began following up on a large number of appellate cases, technical defects appeared in its procedures and complaints," he explained.

Unusual Address

CROWELL, Tex. (AP) — A letter with an unusual address got to its destination here. From Cheyenne Wells, Colo., the letter was addressed to "the store next to the drug store next to the bank that handles original handbags," Crowell, Texas. It went promptly to the Fisch store on the north side of the square.

Ex-Mayor Named

LIBERTY, Tex. (AP) — Dempsey Henley, former mayor, has been named by Gov. Preston Smith to represent Texas at a 30-state conference on Indian affairs at Lake Tahoe, Nev., Aug. 19-21. Henley is director of the Texas Commission of Indian Affairs. The commission includes Victor Fain, Nacogdoches editor and publisher, and Ed Easterling, a Beaumont attorney.

Former Banker Pleads Innocent To Embezzlement

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Former banker Robert Lockhart, 44, pleaded innocent Wednesday to charges of embezzlement, falsification of records and transporting stolen money across state lines Wednesday.

Lockhart entered the plea before U.S. Dist. Court Judge D. W. Suttle.

The former president of El Paso's State National Bank, and his wife, signed a $125,000 bond. But Lockhart was released on his personal recognizance after his wife swore the couple's assets included only their home and two cars.

Judge Suttle set trial for the week of Sept. 8.

Lockhart was arrested by FBI agents last March in a Lordsburg, N.M., motel where officers recovered $42,300.

He was jailed in Albuquerque and then taken to Springfield, Mo., where he underwent psychiatric examination in a federal hospital. He was returned to Albuquerque and then transferred to El Paso to answer the charges in federal court.

Also set for trial the week of Sept. 8 is a former assistant vice president of the same bank, Hal Barney Stewart, who pleaded innocent Tuesday to 19 counts involving embezzlement and false ledger entries.

Miss Sondra Palmer Weds Martin Staggs

Miss Sondra Kay Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Palmer of Sweetwater, and Martin Tindal Staggs Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Staggs, Sterling City Route, Big Spring, were married July 29 in the First United Methodist Church at Sweetwater.

The Rev. Darris Egger performed the ceremony, with Mrs. Buck Hughes of Roby serving as organist. The soloist was Mrs. Roland Ray of Roby. The bride wore a fitted gown of white peau de soie fashioned with scooped neckline. The long sleeves and chapel train, which was topped with fabric roses, were of Chantilly lace. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a cluster of organza roses, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses centered with a white orchid.

ATTENDANTS

The bride's sister, Miss Deborah Palmer of Lubbock, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Miss Marcia Staggs, sister of the bridegroom. They wore Empire-styled dresses of lemon yellow with a large organza bow, daisies and long streamers adorning the back. Matching bows were worn as headpieces, and each carried a nosegay of daisies.

David Sutton of Big Spring served as best man for the bridegroom's brother, Richard Staggs, who is with the Army in Vietnam. Dan Korchenko of Lubbock was groomsmen, and ushers were David Staggs of Lubbock and Larry Coker of Big Spring. Marsha Daves of Sweetwater, the flower girl, was attired similarly to the other attendants.

The altar tapers were listed by Kim Palmer, sister of the bride, who also wore similar attire.

RECEPTION

The reception was held at the Sweetwater Country Club where Mrs. Larry Vaughan of Canyon registered guests. Members of the house party were Mrs. C. T. L. Hilburn, grandparents of the bride; and Mrs. Fred

MRS. MARTIN T. STAGGS JR.

Miss Mae Hunter of Roscoe and Mrs. George Crowder of Fort Worth. Joining the parents and feminine attendants in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hilburn, grandparents of the bride; and Mrs. Fred

Staggs, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Punch was served from a silver bowl at a table covered with white satin and gathered net. A silver candelabrum was arranged with daisies and candles, and other appointments were of silver. The tiered cake was adorned with bells.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Sweetwater Country Club.

The newlyweds left on a trip to Ruidoso and Cloudcroft, N.M. After Aug. 1, the bridegroom will be stationed in Germany where his wife will join him later.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

The caulking around the bathroom sink kept trying to mildew as the result of being wet all the time.

I took a bottle of liquid porcelain repair that comes with a little brush and painted the caulking.

I let it dry then added another coat.

It stays pretty and white and the water runs right off.

Most hardware stores have bottles of porcelain repair . . . A READER

Dear Heloise:

I'm sure everyone knows what a chore it is to clean an oven. However, over the years, this has been made easier by spray cans.

I loved the spray cleaner but found that I was having to inhale too much of the vapor when cleaning the oven. This made me choke and cough.

I finally solved this problem by using a ski hairband that is elastic and closes with a snap. Would you believe it? I put it over my nose and mouth and finished spraying the oven in no time flat with no coughing or sputtering! . . . Angela

Dear Heloise:

When I went into the Job Corps, I had no luggage to take with me.

I went to a thrift store and bought second-hand luggage — picked the ones that looked the best but still left a lot to be desired.

So I bought adhesive-backed paper and covered them. They look like new.

Thought this would help others who need suitcases but really can't afford them . . . Alice H.

Dear Heloise:

I've found that a tea bag has many uses. For instance, hung by its string from the lid of a brown sugar container, the dampened bag will completely soften the sugar, no matter how hard it has become. There will never be a tea-taste and the bag may be redampened as necessary.

I've also used it to soften molasses cookies that I had baked a bit too long. Again worked beautifully.

After two such successes, tried it on marshmallows that were hard as rocks. Guess what? It worked again. On the third day all were soft as fresh marshmallows except the ones on the bottom. I stirred them up and sure enough that did the trick.

I'm still looking around. Surely there must be other uses for the marvelous little bag . . . Mrs. E.K.

Dear Heloise:

We dearly love to see our children and their friends play with the tether ball in our yard, but the constant bare circle in the grass made the yard look so unsightly.

My husband solved the problem by getting an old tire, placing a short piece of pipe in the center and then filling the space with cement around the pipe.

The tether ball pole can be stuck in the pipe and no matter how hard the ball is hit, the pole will remain stable.

And the tire can easily be tipped on its side and rolled to different places in the yard, thereby saving the grass.

In fact, it can be used on the driveway or patio if you have no lawn . . . Mrs. N.A.

Dear Heloise:

Instead of trying to read the cup markings inside a coffee pot, which can sometimes be pretty hard to see, we bring the water level to a conspicuous point.

The top of the spout inside, or a rivet where the handle is attached, is perfect.

Then figure how much coffee is needed for that amount of water and then always use this easy-to-see marker.

All you have to do each time you make coffee is remember how much coffee was used . . . M.J.

Gift Affair For Bride Is Tuesday

Mrs. Jerry Wayne Peurifoy, the former Miss Rebecca Ann Beezley, was complimented with a gift shower Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Carl Coleman, 500 Highland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Beezley, Shreveport, La., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Peurifoy of Longview, formerly of Big Spring.

The honoree greeted guests wearing a gray-blue pin striped dress accented with lace edging, and she was presented a white corsage of daisy chrysanthemums.

A gift of a silver chafing dish was presented by the hostesses: They were Mrs. O. H. Ivie, Mrs. Walter Stroup, Mrs. Jack Price, Mrs. Avery Falkner, Mrs. L. M. Cudd, Mrs. Tommy Hubbard, Mrs. David Elrod, Mrs. Frank Millican and Mrs. Gary Late, the latter of Midland.

The refreshment table was laid with floor-length white cut-work cloth and centered with white and lime green spider chrysanthemums and asters in a silver footed bowl. The centerpiece was flanked by crystal and silver candelabra holding lime green candles. Appointments of crystal and silver completed the setting.

A LOVELIER YOU Observe Rules For Weekend Visiting

By MARY SUE MILLER

During so short a visit as a weekend, a warmly anticipated guest in the house can become an unwelcome specter. Lack of consideration for the hostess has but one recourse. She need not issue a second invitation. The quality that insures a visitor's popularity and return engagements is a sincere desire to be agreeable and to fit unobtrusively into the household. Of course, she abides by the prescribed code of good visiting manners:

1. She arrives at the appointed hour.
2. She enters graciously into all plans.
3. She appears on the dot for scheduled events, particularly meals.
4. She does not expect to be amused around the clock. During off moments, she makes herself scarce.
5. Her help with tasks is offered when it is needed. And she keeps her own quarters tidy.
6. She would not dream of calling on friends nearby, unless her hostess suggested it; nor would she ask friends to drop in on her.
7. She departs at the prearranged time.
8. She promptly writes her thanks, being sure to express her appreciation in the unhackneyed terms.

Club Announces Fall Study Theme

"The Art of Living" was announced as the 1969-70 study program theme at Wednesday's meeting of the Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. W. N. Norred, San Angelo Hwy. Mrs. Marshall Cauley, program chairman, outlined the study.

The budget was prepared and projects planned. They include supporting the "Buck-of-the-Month" club and Christmas party at Big Spring State Hospital, and assisting the Westside Center and Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. The group will donate to the All-Faith Chapel at Big Spring State Hospital.

The first meeting of the new club year will be Sept. 19, when a Coke party will be held in the home of Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, 206 Washington Blvd.

U. S. Steel Price Hikes Draw Rebuff

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry's pacemaking U.S. Steel Corp. has posted price increases average 4.8 per cent on a range of big-tonnage products that are used for such items as cars, refrigerators and tin cans.

Wednesday's move, the boldest since Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s 5 per cent across-the-board hike was whittled to 2 per cent by the White House last August was met with cautious silence by other producers and major users and drew only a mild rebuff from Washington.

U.S. Steel said the principal reason for the price hikes was to pay increases that some 400,000 steelworkers will get Friday under a contract negotiated last summer. The increased labor cost has been estimated at 6 per cent.

But the nation's largest producer also cited increased costs of materials and services and higher taxes as justification for the new prices, which take effect next Wednesday.

The products affected, carbon sheet and strip and galvanized sheet, account for more than half of the industry's shipments. U.S. Steel declined to say what proportion of its production was affected, but trade sources estimated that the increases would add $80 million annually in profits.

In the past, U.S. Steel has set price trends for the industry, but Wednesday's announcement generated no immediate action by other producers.

Spokesmen for Bethlehem, Inland, National, Republic and Jones & Laughlin would say only that the U.S. Steel action was under study.

The move was greeted with official silence by the nation's four major automakers, which would feel the increased costs in steel orders for 1970 models.

But a spokesman for one of them, who asked to remain anonymous, called the hike "pretty high" and added: "Our guys can't believe it."

Retires With One Regret

AUSTIN (AP) — After 24 years as a leader in the Christian Unity movement, Harold Kilpatrick has retired with one big regret and numerous proud memories.

He talked about some of them Wednesday night at a dinner honoring him on his retirement as acting executive director of the Texas Conference of Churches. The conference, a Protestant-Catholic organization, was formed earlier this year. Kilpatrick was executive director of the San Antonio Council of Churches for eight years before becoming executive secretary of the Texas Council of Churches some 16 years ago. When the council dissolved to form the new conference of churches, Kilpatrick became its acting executive director. "The greatest failure was inability to lead the churches of our most sizable Texas communities to establish effective agencies of interchurch cooperation," the soft-spoken layman said. Kilpatrick said that while he thought 16 years ago that there soon would be local church councils in most county seat towns and in all cities of 20,000 or more, there are now only six such organizations. The council's first contribution, he said, was simply its existence. "The existence of the council was a testimony and a pledge of Texas church adjudicators to the reality of ecumenism in our day. Its leaders were convinced that the New Testament meant what it said about the unity of Christ's people," Kilpatrick said.

Taxpayers Might Buy Nixon House
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan proposed Wednesday that the federal government buy the house-

President Nixon was born in and make it a national historic site. "Preserving the Nixon home is in the national public interest," he said. The home is in Yorba Linda, about 20 miles northeast of Long Beach. His proposal, forwarded to Nixon himself, was based on a study by the State Parks and Recreation Department, which estimated it would cost $100,000 to restore the home and surrounding property to their original condition.

Project To Honor Astro Armstrong
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate Finance Committee amended a capital improvements bill Wednesday to provide $500,000 for a Neil Armstrong Museum in his home town, Wapakoneta. Proponents of the project to honor the first man to walk on the moon hope to raise an additional $500,000 through private donations.

Wheeler To Recommend Pullout Of Only 25,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Contrary to reports that substantial withdrawals may be in order. This was the clear impression of members of the Senate
Armed Services Committee expect
Gen. Earle G. Wheeler to recommend a gradual pullout of only 25,000

Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified Wednesday at a closed committee session.
Chairman John C. Stennis,
D-Miss., classed Wheeler's report on his recent Vietnam inspection tour as pessimistic about the battle-readiness of South Vietnamese replacements for the Americans.

Stennis said the process of turning over the defense responsibilities will take time.
"In the meantime, unless we adopt a different policy, we'll be doing a great share of the fighting," he said.

President Nixon has promised an August decision on whether more than the 25,000 U.S. servicemen already reassigned from Vietnam will be withdrawn.

Executive department officials are citing the relative lull in the fighting as pointing toward a potentially substantial American pullback.

But Nixon has listed the safety of remaining U.S. forces and the ability of South Vietnamese to take over their own defense as having top priority in any decision.

Young, a consistent Vietnam policy critic, said Wheeler
"clearly indicated that the friendly forces of South Vietnam could not cope with the Viet Cong were we to bring more than 25,000 home this year."

Young called it a "discouraging briefing." He said Wheeler "stated and tried to indicate there isn't a vast difference of opinion between him and President Nixon."

Four More Texans Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four
Texans were among 38 servicemen listed as killed in action in Vietnam, according to a list released Wednesday by the Defense Department.

They were: Army Pfc. Henry
J. Roy, father of John C. Roy, care of Mrs. Mary J. Roy, Houston; Navy Lt. Aubrey G. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Martin, Beeville; Marine Lance Cpl. James L. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coleman, Detroit; and Marine
Pfc. Reynaldo S. Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saturnino Rodriguez, Kenedy.

Living Costs Slowing Down In America?

CORRECTION

Wednesday it was reported a car belonging to Mrs. Lou Strickland, 704 Andree, was stolen while parked behind the Grace Baptist Church. Her car was actually stolen while parked at her home, and the police later recovered it behind the Grace Baptist Church.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American consumer may be seeing a glimmer of light at the end of the long tunnel of inflation as new government figures indicate the soaring cost of living is slowing down.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Wednesday a dramatic reduction in the upward rate of wholesale prices, most significantly in the cost of cattle.

Statistics showed cattle prices for the month that ended July 15 were down $1.60 per hundred-weight from the mid-June figure of $29.60—an 18-year high.

In anticipating this drop, Agriculture Department economists said earlier in the week a fall off in the cost of cattle would lead to some reduction in the price of meat sold over the butcher counter.

However, several notes of caution have been introduced.
"You have to be careful about placing too much significance in one month's figures, but it does seem fairly significant," Arnold
Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said.

And, Chase went on, it could be several months, perhaps not until October, before the drop in cattle prices will percolate down to the housewife in the form of lower meat costs.

Other, nongovernment, economists also entered a pessimistic note, saying consumer demand
—fed by inflation and rising spending power—could override the cattle price drop at the retail level.

Last month, the average price for choice sirloin steak was $1.40 a pound—representing a 4.5 per cent jump over the previous month's cost of meat, poultry and fish. Last December sirloin cost $1.20 a pound.

A beef industry expert predicted earlier this week, "I don't think anybody in this country can expect to see $1 round steak again, and certainly not less than about $1.39 for sirloin."

Another problem affecting the outlook for lower meat prices is the possibility that increased processing and marketing costs will offset any immediate decline in cattle prices.

And some experts say the consumer should not be too encouraged by predictions that after holding steady for the last half-year cattle production will increase over the next six months.

For one thing, they point out, pork supplies are expected to decrease, which means the demand for beef will go up, resulting in stronger cattle prices.

In any case, economists said, cattle prices at mid-July—an average of $28 per hundred-weight—were still $4 more than a year ago.

DANCE, LIGHT SHOW BOOKED

A free dance and light show has been set for Saturday evening in the Cook's parking lot at Marcy and Gregg, and all young people are invited.

Music will be the Peppermint Highway from El Paso, and there will be a special light show.
Hours are from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., and the sponsor is the Sock It To 'em Pussycat Club.

Anyone is welcome without charge, but for all who would like to help with expenses of the party, there will be a donation barrel on the lot. Any others who want to contribute toward expenses of the happening may call 7-7334 or mail them to the club at 1715

LETTER

Urges Defeat
Of 4 Issues

On Aug. 5th, voters will ballot on nine proposed constitutional amendments. Already it is clear that four of these propositions should be soundly defeated.

Proposition one would repeal so-called obsolete, superfluous and unnecessary sections of our Texas Constitution. It is our understanding that this proposal, if passed, would allow the members of the Legislature to decide which sections they want to repeal. We believe that it is unwise and dangerous to give such power to any men. Such power, in our opinion, should certainly not be given to the present Legislature. The actions of this Legislature thus far do not indicate to us that sound, prudent men are in control. This amendment should be defeated.

Proposition three would allow pay increases for the lieutenant governor, speaker of the house, state senators and state representatives. It is our understanding that if this proposal is passed, then the legislators are given a blank check from here on to raise their own salaries whenever they see fit. Only a few days ago the members of this legislature gave themselves whopping pension benefit raises. Whose taxes do you think are going to be increased to pay for their raises? Enough said. This proposal must be defeated by a landslide.

Proposition five would raise the state welfare ceiling to $88 million. We believe that there is too much chance for the lazy, irresponsible and the militants to get in on this welfare. Furthermore, isn't it correct that the voters of Texas only recently defeated this same proposition? How many times is it going to be brought up? It should be defeated overwhelmingly — enough so that it will not be brought up again.

Proposition nine would provide for annual legislative sessions. You have seen what this legislature has done in four and one-half months. It is unthinkable that they should have the opportunity each year to do more of the same. If anything, the legislature should meet every four years instead of two.

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to think closely to what others have to say. Don't censor or disturb them. The evening is fine for getting out and enjoying the good things of life — recreation, art, music, and all phases of culture, including motion pictures. Attend social events. Be happy.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Others are out to be active quite particularly in the daytime but tonight are very cordial. Don't criticize. Be sure to keep promises you have made without exception. If an show that you are an intellectual.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't become annoyed because your work seems boring and what is actually a good job. You need to go to bed early tonight and rest. Be kind to co-workers and this becomes an easy day for you instead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't try to change your own mode with close ties or they will be disappointed in you. Be happy with small pleasures, that require no preparation. Show that you have a sense of humor.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be more understanding with sin and carry through with what they desire of you. You must show you are devoted to one who loves you. Take the chip off your shoulder and all will be fine.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Doing whatever will improve relations with people is important now. Curb that temper and forgetful attitude toward others. Shop with greater care. Don't usual. Stop driving so fast or carelessly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is the time to be more economical so that you have ample money for future needs, desires. Add color to wardrobe, etc., that improves its value and beauty. Be hospitable yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't make radical changes simply because you feel frustrated. Since you could make some serious and respectable errors. Get health improved and then out to the social. Charm everyone and be clever.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day for studying what has been puzzling to you for some time. Get right into the meat of the problem. The afternoon is best for straightening out arguments with other individuals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to be tactful with good pals now or you can certainly make enemies of them. The social is best in the evening when you are at your best. Take time to study into history that will be most enlightening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use diplomacy in handling others or you downgrade your credit or image you now enjoy. Follow every reputation that applies to you and show you are on a 2-1 defense. Stop rubbing your feet and fall for your enemies.

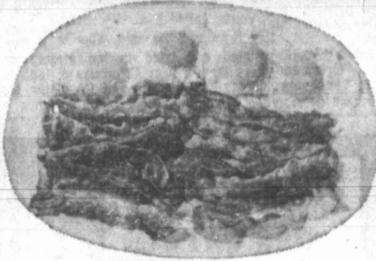

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You need to make some new start in some avenue of expression, but you have to slug your plan very carefully for errors first. And a good day for going to new places. Events can be very pleasant. PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have wise plans for handling your responsibilities, so get busy doing so instead of procrastinating. Act and pleasure. A close tie should not be omitted when you go out socially in the evening. Be thoughtful.

MEN IN SERVICE

Sgt. Johnny W. Stevens is now stationed at Lackland AFB in San Antonio after completing his second tour of duty in Vietnam. He has returned after a 52-day leave to his base where he is a heavy equipment operator.

SP. 4 Dannie E. Stevens has returned to Fort Greely, Alaska, after a 15-day leave. His wife is the former Linda Blair, Sand Springs.

William R. Stevens has been promoted to master sergeant since his return from Vietnam in November. He now is living in Sumter, S.C. Mrs. Stevens is the former Mary Helen Burton, Barrett, W. Va. Sgt. Stevens was stationed at Webb AFB for 9½ years as a jet mechanic in two different tours.

The three men are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Stevens, 107 Jonesboro Road.

Army Spec. 4 Larry G. Bullard, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Bullard, 1604 Dallas St., Colorado City, received the Good Conduct Medal June 17 while assigned to the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex. He received the award for exemplary conduct, efficiency and fidelity in active military service. He is a tank leader in Company B, 2nd Battalion of the division's 66th Armor.

Machinist Mate 3C Raymond C. Rich, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman L. Rich, Coahoma, is serving aboard the USS Constellation, an attack aircraft carrier based in San Diego, Calif.

Air Force Airman 1.C. Alton L. Hillier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen W. Hillier, Garden City Route, Garden City, is on duty at Ubon Royal Thai AFB, Thailand. An aircraft mechanic, he is in a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. Before his arrival in Thailand, he was assigned at Bergstrom AFB. The airman is a 1968 graduate of Garden City High School.

Gunners Mate Second Class William F. Marino, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marino, Gail Route, Big Spring, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Norris operating as a part of the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Air Force M. Sgt. Johnnie L. Shinn, son of John Shinn Jr., Rt. 1, Chunchula, Ala., is on duty at Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam. A supply inventory supervisor in a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, he previously served with the 52nd Supply Squadron at McChord AFB, Wash. His wife, Dorothy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Metcalfe, Colorado City.

Seaman Apprentice Michael L. Schafer, USN, son of Mrs. Cora L. Schafer of 1404 Stadium, and husband of the former Miss Robbie J. Smart of 1809 Settles, all of Big Spring, is serving aboard the USS Arlington, which recently participated in the recovery operations for the Apollo 11 Spaceflight.

The Arlington acted as an at-the-scene-relay for the voice and teletype circuits between the primary recovery ship, USS Hornet and the Naval Communications Station, Honolulu.

Texas Crisis For Children

DALLAS (AP) — Texas has 132,000 children trying to survive on 82 cents a day—that's what they are allowed on state welfare—the Commissioner of the State Department of Public Welfare, Burton G. Hackney, said Wednesday.

"It is a shame to be saying our function is to see to the 'survival' of people," Hackney said in a speech at a club, "when what we ought to be talking about is 'well being.'"

"But let's level with each other: With what we are able to provide today we are talking about mere survival."

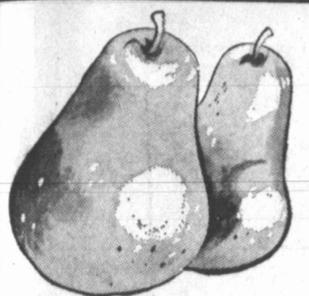

More than 229,000 old age pensioners are trying to live on an average grant of $58.96 per month and the blind an average of $71.71 and the disabled $59.75, the commissioner said.

Because of the increasing number on the welfare rolls, already 22,812 families' checks have been reduced and 2,470 families taken off the rolls, the state welfare commissioner said.

He called it a "crisis" in the state program to help needy children.

"The crisis is the result of limited funds and the increasing number of children who require our help to grow into productive, useful citizens," Hackney said.

MRS. FRANK HINECKER

Spanish Wife Cooks Full Course Dinners

By RHODA LEMONS
Paquita Rodriguez was born in Zamora, Spain, the daughter of Mrs. Fermín Rodriguez and the late Mr. Rodriguez. She had four sisters and two brothers.
When she was a young girl she entered college (equivalent to advanced high schools in America) at Madrid. Then she went to England as a student for four years of general culture in a Spanish college.
At the same time, a young man named Frank Hinecker of Oklahoma was serving in the Air Force of the United States, and he also attended the University. The two met, and despite the language barrier, were attracted to each other.
It was six years later, however, that he came to Zamora to ask her to marry him. They did marry in 1955, and by this time he could speak fluent Spanish, but she could not speak English.
Chief M. Sgt. and Mrs. Hinecker were stationed in Peru for about four and one-half years prior to their moving to Big Spring in 1966.
"It was nothing in Peru to have a party for 125 to 150 people," said Mrs. Hinecker. "I had domestic help, and I would rather cook than anything."
She cooks full course dinners, mostly Spanish, every evening and her husband thinks Spanish food is the "most delicious" in the world.

"I love to entertain," said Mrs. Hinecker, and she does it with little effort. Because of the size of their home, she can only have 10 to 12 for dinner now, but she does this often. She uses her best china, silver, and beautiful handmade embroidered cloths.
"I collect silver and I have one chest filled with silver that belonged to my husband's great grandmother. Also, she collects crystal, beautiful jewelry and ornate candelabra. She makes lovely table cloths and does paintings of Spanish dancers and bullfighters.
Mrs. Hinecker came to the United States for the first time in 1960, and it was just two years ago that she began to speak English. The Hinecker children, Paquita, nine; Lynn, five; and Johnny, four, all speak fluent English and Spanish, as does her husband. Mrs. Hinecker is managing very well, but sometimes one has to concentrate to be sure of what she is saying.
Enormously talented in many directions, Mrs. Hinecker designs clothes and sews for others, for herself and her daughter. She loves beautiful fabrics and buys them when she finds something especially attractive. She seldom uses a pattern (just one in her head) and her finished seams are beautiful to see.
She knits sweaters for her entire family, never using a pattern because "I can't tell what they are talking about," said Mrs. Hinecker. "I just remember seeing my mother doing it and I do it the same way."

She does needlepoint and crochets. She has at least half a dozen projects going at one time, and she never gets nervous over finishing one until she is ready.
"I love people, and I love to talk and have them around me," said Mrs. Hinecker. "I am so happy, I have not seen my mother for nine years and at Christmas, she is coming to see us. She will remain from 10 to 12 months, so that she can see the country and learn its customs."
"Spain is my first country," continued Mrs. Hinecker, "but the United States is my adopted country, and I love it." She has traveled extensively over Europe and in South America, and no other place is like America according to Mrs. Hinecker.
"People have so many opportunities in this land," she said.
The Hineckers will be moving from Big Spring to Washington soon. It is with regret that they are leaving because they have made friends here and have left a part of their culture with the people fortunate enough to have known them.

Serve Gourmet Duck Seasoned With Fruit

Convenient to prepare on outdoor spit or electric rotisserie, duckling glazed with pineapple orange sauce and served with strawberries and pineapple slices (fresh or canned) adds another dimension to the art of barbecue cookery.
Available all year in supermarket frozen meat displays cases, duckling is easy to prepare and serve. For convenience, the National Duckling Council suggests that you always keep a brace of fresh frozen duckling in your freezer.

GLAZED DUCKLING WITH PINEAPPLE ORANGE SAUCE
1 can (13½ ounce) pineapple chunks
2 tsp. chopped preserved ginger
2 tsp. preserved ginger syrup
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. grated orange rind
¼ cup orange juice
3 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. chopped fresh mint optional
1 frozen duckling (4½ to 5 pounds) defrosted
½ tsp. salt
1 cup diced orange sections
2 tsp. cornstarch
Prepare glaze. Drain pineapple. Combine pineapple syrup with next seven ingredients; simmer 10 minutes and add mint. Wash and drain duckling; pat dry. Sprinkle neck and body cavities with salt. Skewer neck skin to back. Insert rotisserie spit through cavities and tighten holding prongs at either end of duckling. Tie wings against breast. Tie legs together loosely, looping the cord around tail. Tighten cord to hold bird securely on spit. Roast duckling on rotisserie until meat on drumstick is tender, about three hours, basting with pineapple glaze three or four times during last 30 minutes of roasting time. Add pineapple chunks and orange sections to remaining glaze. Blend in cornstarch. Cook until thickened and clear. Serve with duckling. Yield: four servings.

Spice Story Inspires Imagination

Vanilla was discovered by the Yucatan of Central America, who found that the stem of that particular orchid when aged in the sun had a wonderful flavor. Or, did you know that allspice is a single spice, but curry is really a blend of 14 different spices?
About curry, probably a long time ago, some old planters in India started using this combination when their food got on the rice side.
The same principle applied as oils of cloves and pepper in wrapped bandages were used to wrap-up mummies.
When the Visigoths conquered Rome, 2,000 pounds of pepper was part of the ransom.
Sometimes spices roam as wide as the humans searching them out. For instance, mustard seed originally came from China, but it is now one of the best money crops in Montana, Texas is now a good sesame state, but this, too, once came only from China.

Should some Columbus of the Space Age discover a planet where the most delightful exotic fruits and vegetables grow luxuriantly, we would hardly be more excited than were Columbus and his men when they came upon those juicy red pods — the ancestors of our modern paprika peppers.
Paprika and the other capsicum pod peppers seemed to grow all over the Caribbean and tropical America when the early explorers arrived. The Aztecs, the Toltecs, the Olmecs and the other Indians of the New World ate astounding quantities of these flavorful pods. Capsicum, according to explorer Acosta "were the principal sauce and the only spice of the Indians."
There are, of course, many hundreds of varieties of capsicums. This fact, say botanists, indicates antiquity of cultivation and makes it almost impossible to classify neatly all the capsicum cousins. One thing is sure: those used for paprika must be brilliantly red, since we call this a "cosmetic spice." In general the flavor of the more than twelve million pounds of paprika we use annually is sweet, mild. It is possible, of course, to obtain paprika which has a slight bite. This is the kind which has been traditionally associated with Hungarian dishes such as "paprikash."
Paprika ranks high in popularity in the United States, one of the big five on the spice shelf. It is available only in ground form, easy to use as a garnish and flavoring for many foods including salad dressings, fish, meat, chicken, cheese and eggs.

'Jazz' Up Seafood With Spicy Sauce

If you like a spicy accompaniment for seafood, you may enjoy trying this recipe.
SPICY SAUCE
¼ cup catchup
¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup sweet green pickle relish
1 tsp. prepared horseradish
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Stir together well all the ingredients; makes about three-fourths cup. Serve with 1 and one-half pounds shrimp that have been cooked, shelled and deveined and arranged on lettuce or other salad greens. Makes six servings.

ENJOY ALL YEAR — Pickle Zucchini squash when it is in season and enjoy the delicacy all year around.

Make Exotic Pickles From Italian Zucchini Squash

During the five months of its availability (May to October), zucchini is grand... sauteed, stewed and stuffed. But this Italian squash variety can be enjoyed when it is no longer accessible to the consumer

Add Nectarines To Enhance Tasty Veal

Fresh nectarines give a fillip to delicious tasting veal.
VEAL NECTARINE
¾ to 1 lb. boneless veal (from leg) cut as for scalloppine
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. Italian herb seasoning
1 large egg
Fine dry bread crumbs
Salad oil
1 tsp. butter
1½ cups sliced fresh nectarines
1 tsp. grated orange rind
¼ tsp. cardamom ginger
1 cup hot chicken bouillon
½ cup white dinner wine or orange juice
¼ tsp. sugar
2 tsp. cornstarch mixed until smooth with 1 tsp. cold water
Have veal pounded very thin. Add salt, pepper and herb seasoning to egg and beat lightly; dip veal in egg, then in crumbs. In a large skillet quickly cook veal in hot oil. Remove veal and keep warm in a low oven. To clean skillet add butter, nectarines, orange rind, cardamom, bouillon, wine and sugar; simmer about 10 minutes. Stir in cornstarch mixture; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear; spoon over veal. Makes four servings.

market in the fresh form... by pickling.
Zucchini Pickles are made by marinating zucchini, unpeeled and sliced, and thinly sliced onions in a hot solution of Distilled White Vinegar, sugar, celery seed, turmeric and dry mustard. Then the mixture is brought to a boil and immediately packed into hot sterilized jars and sealed. What a delightful way to enjoy tasty, crisp zucchini squash later in the year, or right now!
ZUCCHINI PICKLES
1 quart distilled white vinegar
2 cups granulated sugar
¼ cup salt
2 tsp. celery seed
2 tsp. ground turmeric
1 tsp. dry mustard
5 lbs. zucchini (5-6 inches long, unpeeled, sliced ¼-inch thick (4 quarts)
1 lb. onions, thinly sliced (1 quart)
Bring vinegar and next five ingredients to a boil. Pour hot liquid over zucchini and onions; let stand one hour, stirring occasionally. Bring to a boil; simmer three minutes. Continue simmering while quickly packing one hot sterilized jar at a time. Fill to within ¼-inch from top, making sure vinegar solution covers vegetables. Seal each jar at once. Makes six to seven pints.

Restore Coconut In Heated Oven

Shredded coconut, after it has once been opened, sometimes becomes hard before you have a chance to use it all. You can restore it to its original freshness by heating it in the top of a double boiler over boiling water. Stir occasionally and in about 20 minutes it will be fresh, moist, and usable again.

1½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground black pepper
¼ cup flour
4 tsp. shortening
1 beef bouillon cube
1 cup hot water
2 tsp. onion flakes
1 tsp. paprika
1 cup sour cream
Trim and discard excess fat from lamb. Cut meat into one-inch cubes. Combine salt, black pepper and flour. Add to meat and mix well. Brown meat in hot shortening in a heavy saucepan. Add bouillon cube, hot water and onion flakes. Cover and cook 30 minutes or until meat is tender. Stir in paprika and sour cream. Heat only until hot. Yield: six servings.

PAPRIKA POTATO STEW
6 medium-sized potatoes
3 tsp. bacon fat
2 tsp. flour
1 cup hot water
1½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. instant minced onion
¼ tsp. instant minced garlic
¼ tsp. ground black pepper
1 tsp. paprika
¾ cup milk
3 slices crisp bacon
Wash potatoes, pare and cut into ¼-inch slices. Melt bacon fat in a two-quart saucepan. Add potatoes and stir them to coat with bacon fat. Sprinkle with flour and cook and turn potatoes three minutes. Add water, salt, instant minced onion and garlic and black pepper. Cover and simmer 25 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. Stir in milk and paprika. Heat only until hot. Serve with crisp bacon crumbled over the top. Especially good with meat loaf or salmon loaf. Yield: six servings.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. Frank Hinecker

TENDERLOIN WITH SAUCE
8 or 10 lbs. frozen tenderloin (port or beef)
2 onions
2 pods garlic
½ tsp. oregano
Salt and pepper
4 carrots
1 large can mushrooms
10 or 12 artichokes (canned)
4 or 5 cups water

Place the frozen meat in a roaster in oven preheated to 400 F. degrees. Cover and cook for about an hour basting with juice, adding cup of water if necessary. Return to oven and cook 30 minutes more. Remove and baste again, this time adding oregano, salt, pepper, thinly-sliced garlic, and more water. Cover and cook for another hour. Remove and baste with juices, this time adding sliced onions, carrots cut in one-inch pieces and more water. Return to oven and cook another hour. Last, add mushrooms with juice and artichokes with juice. Season to taste. Turn oven down and leave until ready to serve. Serves 10 to 12.

SPANISH RICE
½ cup cooking oil
1 onion, sliced thin
1 bay leaf, chopped
2 pods garlic, sliced thin
2 large tomatoes, peeled
2 cups uncooked rice (not quick-cooking)
Salt to taste
1 tsp. dried parsley
5 to 5½ cups water

Put oil in heavy casserole or skillet. Heat on top of stove. Add chopped onions and garlic and cook until soft. Add chopped tomatoes and cook about five minutes, stirring constantly. Add dry rice and fry five minutes stirring all the time. Add water, salt and parsley. Bring to boil. Cook low about five minutes, stirring constantly. Cover and cook in moderate oven for 20 minutes.

VEGETABLE SALAD
1 can unsliced pimiento (chop some but reserve several large strips)
1 can whole asparagus
6 hard boiled eggs

6 potatoes boiled with skins on
2 packages mixed frozen vegetables cooked according to package directions
1 cup mayonnaise
1 onion, chopped fine
Salt to taste

Peel and mince potatoes, peel and chop all egg whites and two of the yolks. Grate and set aside the other four yolks; mince onion very fine. Combine the mixed vegetables, chopped eggs, onion, potatoes, chopped pimiento, and mayonnaise while the vegetables are still just a little warm. Divide into two bowls. Spread some extra mayonnaise over the top of the salad in each bowl. Grated eggs should be sprinkled over the mayonnaise, then the asparagus and pimiento strips arranged around the salad bowl.

SHRIMP AND SAUCE
2 lbs. frozen shrimp (cooked according to directions on package)
2 tomatoes, peeled and chopped fine
1½ cups mayonnaise
2 lemons
1 tsp. white wine vinegar
Salt to taste
Chill shrimp. Make sauce by cooking chopped tomatoes in a

Canadian Bacon Makes Fine Lunch

Openface sandwiches are easy to assemble and usually popular.
CANADIAN SANDWICHES
8 slices bread
Cheddar cheese spread
8 slices Canadian bacon
Toast bread lightly on both sides; generously top one side of each slice with cheese spread. Place the bacon in a single layer on a sheet of foil; broil quickly until edges begin to get crisp. Arrange bacon, spread bread, broil until cheese melts. Serve at once. Makes four servings — two slices per portion.

little oil until soft. Run through sieve. Add to mayonnaise and other ingredients. Serve shrimp in chilled glasses with plenty of sauce.

MAYONNAISE
1 yolk of hard boiled egg
2 or 3 cups oil
2 tsp. salt
Juice of two lemons
Mash egg yolk fine and beat with the other yolk. Gradually pour in oil, beating all the time. Continue beating and add lemon juice and salt. This could be made in a blender. (Using one boiled yolk keeps the mayonnaise from separating.)

PAQUITA'S MAIN DISH
4 tsp. olive oil
2 or 3 pounds good beef cut in 1½ inch cubes
2 tsp. flour
2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. black pepper
1½ cups water
1 medium onion and 1 small onion
6 bell peppers cut in long strips about 1 inch wide
2 medium yellow squash, sliced
1 tsp. oregano
2 hard boiled eggs
1 small can unsliced pimiento
1 cup dry rice
2½ or 3 cups water
Salt, pepper, and flour meat. Brown in olive oil. Drain excess oil, add 1½ cups water, and cook in pressure cooker until tender (about 45 minutes).

In another skillet, saute one medium onion in olive oil. Add bell peppers, squash, oregano, salt, and pepper and cook until tender. Combine meat and vegetables and set aside to blend flavors.
Saute the small onion in a little olive oil. Add dry rice and stir and fry until it is yellow. Add water and salt to taste; bring to a boil, stir and cook 5 minutes, then cover and cook in oven 20 minutes.
Serve the plates by making a bed of rice for the meat and vegetables. Garnish with long large strips of pimiento and sliced hard boiled egg.

Aid For The Needy, In Decent Sums

Among the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on by Texans next Tuesday is one which raises the present state ceiling on public assistance payments, from $60 million to $80 million, and appropriates $15 million each year of the next biennium.

These payments, it should be made clear, are for the needy aged, needy disabled, needy blind and needy children — people who have no way of supporting themselves.

Voters of the state last fall turned down a similar amendment, and the result was a cutback in assistance payments, virtually to the point that the recipients cannot have decent sustenance; and these people are confronted with higher living costs, too.

Texas has consistently been among the lowest of the states in terms of monthly assistance payments per recipient and in terms of per capita cost to taxpayers. It ranks almost at the bottom in aid to families with dependent children, with its average aid to such families now less than $19 per month. The State Department of Public Welfare says — after the last reductions were required — that it is able to pay only 50 per cent of what it says should be provided for needy children. It is powerless, of course, to restore benefits without the passage of the amendment being discussed.

If the proposed amendment is defeated, it will cause another immediate reduction in assistance to needy children, and likely will bring reduction in levels of aid to the needy disabled and needy aged.

Also, the entire relation of federal-state participation can be endangered, with Texas losing part of the federal grants that come under this program.

Texas is affluent enough to take care of the people who cannot help themselves. We recommend the enactment of the welfare amendment, which is No. 5 on Tuesday's ballot.

Two Amendments Favored

The Herald feels voter support should be given to a couple of proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on next Tuesday.

Proposition 4 on the ballot would exempt non-profit water supply corporations from ad valorem taxation.

This type of corporation performs a vital function for many parts of the state that otherwise would not have adequate water supplies. The amendment could encourage the formation of such corporations and the development of water resources.

The corporations to be exempted are non-profit and perform a governmental function; their property should be like public property.

Proposition 4 on the ballot would authorize the issuance and sale of another $200 million in bonds, the revenue from which would be used to make loans to college students.

Texas now has this program, called the Texas Opportunity Plan, and it is unique in the nation. Loans have been made since 1966, and the program apparently is successful, with non-payments practically negligible. There are no gifts or grants, only loans at interest.

If Texas wants to encourage more of its talented young people to achieve a higher education, this is a worthwhile program, and ought to have the tools to continue.

Holmes Alexander Agnew Between Heaven And Earth

WASHINGTON — A couple of jaded, gimlet-eyed fellows, Spiro Agnew and George Romney, are the reluctant dragons in a Democratic-Republican bout.

It's strictly a case of "let's you and him fight," for there's no tension between the Vice President and the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Agnew did say something like "On to Mars!" as the Apollo 11 rose from Cape Kennedy. And Romney takes every opportunity to talk about building 26 million new dwellings to make America, as he sees it, a land fit for future astronauts. But the conflict, if there is one, lies in the clash of payoff politics.

THE SPACE PROGRAM and the urban program are representatives of Heaven and Earth, but they are also competitors for the Yankee dollar. There are 10 lunar landings scheduled beyond the one just made, and this comes to 2.3 landings a year within the planned future. There are, today, 50 million families in the United States, and the need for housing is told in the fact that families increase percentage-wise faster than the population does. The politics of payoff requires that the space program tussle with the urban program for the needed Federal funds.

BUT THIS DOES NOT bring about an Agnew vs. Romney fight, as the Democrats might wish. It is the jobs, and not the men, which seem to stand in opposition; and yet even this statement is no more than superficially true. The Vice President today has so many jobs that he is a fighter for a different program almost every time he changes his hat.

FOR EXAMPLE, both Agnew and Romney are members of the Council on Urban Affairs, which the White House declares is the domestic equivalent of the National Security Council. Both Agnew and Romney are on the Council for Youth Opportunity, on the Council on Indian Opportunity, on the Environmental Quality Council, and both Agnew and Romney are appointive members of the President's Cabinet.

THE TWO MEN have so much common interest in domestic affairs that they unavoidably spend much time working together — or their staffs do. But the Vice President's multiplicity of assignments takes him into fields that are bureaucratically separate from urban matters. Agnew, as president of the Senate with a tie-breaking vote, is the only man in Washington who belongs to both the executive and legislative branches. He is a member of the National Security Council, which deals with foreign and military policy. He is supervisor of the Office of International Relations, which makes him the government's chief liaison officer with states, cities and counties.

Billy Graham

I would like very much to be a Christian, but I'm afraid I will be disappointed. I really have not met very many Christians I really admire. But, I have the feeling I should be different than I am. Have you any advice for me?

K.Y.
Christ is a specialist in giving people a reason for living. Read the stories in the New Testament of the men he called. I believe you will agree that he took ordinary people and made them extraordinary.

I do not mean to imply that, if you accept Christ, you will become famous or rich. But the inner peace and purpose he can give is of more value than fame or fortune.

In regard to our being disappointed, I have met hundreds of triumphant Christians, but I have never met a person who said that Christian discipleship was disappointing. To say you fear disappointment is almost like saying, "I'm afraid to breathe because of the germs." Germs or not, you cannot live without breathing, and the Bible says that there is no abundant life without Christ.

Obviously, you have two disappointments: yourself and others. Life, for you, has had some disillusionments, and like Solomon you are saying, "All is vanity." But, Solomon, ultimately came to a conclusion, and he passed it on to others. He said, "Remember thy creator in the days of thy youth." Don't wait until bitterness and cynicism erodes your life. Let God salvage your life, and save you from despair. Receive Christ as your Lord and Savior.

Hal Boyle Hal's Eating Humble Pie

NEW YORK (AP) — Has any man on earth ever eaten a space helmet?

Well, facing me is the dubious pleasure of consuming not one but two.

This unusual gastronomic task results from succumbing to the most alluring of temptations that beset a columnist—the desire to forecast the future. The columnist rashly forgets that the neck he happens to stick out happens to be his own.

On Nov. 29, 1963—another of those days that will live in infamy—I wrote a column which contained this flat-footed prediction:

"THERE'S A lot of talk about landing a man on the moon by 1970. But I'm willing to eat the helmet of any man who gets to the moon and back by 1975."

A reader who must have the memory of a pascal of pachyderms dug up my flat-headed paragraph and sent it to Tom O'Neill, features editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, who relayed it here with the simple notation:

"Okay, Hal—how about it?"

Well, I'm a man of my word, and I don't mind too much having to munch down those first two space helmets. But we have a number of other moon landings planned before 1975, and if I have to eat the helmets of all our successful lunar astronauts, I'm likely to wind up with plastic intestines.

EVEN BIGGER than the prospective blow to my digestive apparatus is the blow to my pride. Columnist, like other people, are gifted with more hindsight than foresight.

When it comes to prognosticating, I must confess I've been eating humble pie for some time. My face must be the reddest, as well as the lowest, on the totem pole.

For example, just before Adolf Hitler came up with the jet plane, the buzz bomb, and the V-2 rocket, what columnist pooh-poohed the Nazi leader's boast that he would unleash deadly new secret weapons?

Just little old me, that's who. And, UNTAUGHT by this public boo-boo, what columnist predicted in early August, 1945, just before we dropped two atomic bombs, that it would take six months of ground warfare to defeat Japan?

Little old me, that's who. And what columnist, returning in July, 1965, from a three-month stint in Vietnam, confidently predicted the war there would be over in two or three years at the most?

Little old me, that's who.

John Cunniff Skills Of The Blind

NEW YORK (AP) — A double crescent trademark and the brand name "Skilcraft" are steadily acquiring an acceptability the consuming public can only on names that signify high quality products.

Even competitors in the household products line concede the excellence of workmanship, the durability of materials and the marketing know-how of the Skilcraft organization.

SO WHY shouldn't Skilcraft blow its horn? It does, quietly. Beneath the trademark, in type so small that many supermarket shoppers perhaps never notice, is the tiny addendum: "Quality Blind-Made Products."

In just four years the Skilcraft line, whose products are made by blind and sometimes multiple handicapped workers in 78 workshops in 34 states and the District of Columbia, has signed up 1,538 supermarkets.

TYPICALLY, about 60 colorfully wrapped products are arranged on a large rack in the stores. Sighted workers keep the racks filled and the storeowner is billed by computer from offices of the National Industries for the Blind here.

What impresses storeowners, says Robert Goodpasture, executive vice president of the nonprofit NIB, is that the racks require almost no servicing by store personnel. And profits convince them the racks are good business.

The rack displays average about $1,000 a year of retail sales, although the newest ones draw in about $3,500 each.

SKILCRAFT is perhaps one of the happiest developments in utilizing the skills of the blind, of whom there are about 425,000 in the United States, for the appeal is almost solely to quality and not to sympathy.

It began in 1965 when NIB, which serves the nonprofit workshops, realized that fully $25 million a year of its sales were to the federal government. Just as have other industries which feared too great a dependence upon one customer, the NIB decided to expand into other lines and other markets. The result was the Skilcraft line of convenience products.

A QUALITY control laboratory in St. Louis takes samples from the production lines and determines from time to time of the products live up to the standards claimed for them. Usually they do.

In developing its supermarket line, the NIB didn't forego government work. Blind workers still make all military ties. And each month they turn out 125,000 bayonet scabbards.

In fact, blind workers recently moved into an entirely new area of government work, supplying ballpoint pens. They now assemble 60 million a year at a cost to the government of about 6 cents apiece.

To Your Good Health Hopes To Get 'Completely Over' A Stroke

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Three years ago I had a bad stroke. The doctor said I would never walk. I am now walking with a short brace and prong, but I cannot use my left arm and hand. Have you ever known a case of a person getting completely over a stroke?

As long as I take medicine for my pressure, my blood pressure is normal. Do you think as long as I do, I will have any more strokes?—G.S.

It's a good policy to be pretty cautious about saying that something "will" happen or will "never" happen. Who was it said that nothing in this world is certain except death and taxes?

So sometimes I may say, "I doubt if he will walk again," or something like that. Most doctors do the same. But I've noticed — and I guess it's just human nature — that people generally tend to translate these qualified opinions into positive statements.

I take it with a grain of salt, for example, when somebody says "The doctors gave me three months to live," or whatever. Usually what the doctors said, under pressure, was, "It could be three months — who can tell for certain?"

A doctor doesn't have to be a genius to learn early in his career not to be too positive about predictions.

Now about strokes. There certainly are mild strokes, with no detectable aftermath later. But when it comes to serious strokes, I can't say that I've ever seen a "complete recovery."

I don't think it fair or useful to promise (or seem to promise) things which are not likely of fulfillment.

On the other hand, I make it a point, in cases of stroke, to emphasize what I believe to be the truth: there are mighty few stroke patients who cannot improve substantially if only they can be led to believe they can.

Personally I've seen patients who were completely bedridden, and unable even to feel themselves or turn the pages of a book — and seen these same patients, a few months later, actively enjoying life.

They were, it is true, in wheelchairs. I saw one wheeling her chair down a cafeteria line, then eating her dinner unaided.

She (and her family) had believed that she was totally helpless. But people at a rehabilitation institute convinced her that she could do much more for herself if only she would believe and try. So she did.

One cannot promise complete recovery from a stroke, but I am convinced that there are very few patients who can't do more for themselves if they don't just give up. The longer it takes to notice return of function after a stroke, the less likely is complete recovery. You are fortunate you can get around as you do.

As to your blood pressure, keeping it down to a proper level certainly makes another stroke far less likely.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia, which concerns the esophagus, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim We've Come A Long Way

It hurts a little to know that as far as I'm concerned, "Fly Me To The Moon" will be just another melody. The moon men have soared there without me, taking with them my youth and the small veneer of sophistication that kept me in the race.

IT PAINS me to feel so inadequate, so uninformed, so unprepared to live in a world that has produced these super people — and left me a candidate for the intellectual welfare rolls.

There's nothing to look forward to but being left behind. Since the future doesn't look like my forte, look back with me for a minute, and maybe you'll understand. Do you know at what point we were only 100 years ago? I'll tell you, if you have a minute before they start aiming for Mars.

IN 1869, the hoopskirt finally gave way to the bustle, and Ulysses Simpson Grant, Republican, of Ohio, was inaugurated 18th president of the United States. The first patent for chewing gum was issued, and at a shop in New York, called "Velocipede Hall," the bicycle (a wooden affair) was put on the American market by the Six Hanlon Brothers. Another patent went to Christopher Latham Sholes for the typewriter.

The first transcontinental railway, the Union Pacific and Central Pacific was completed, and according to legend, Gov. Leland Stanford of California missed the first stroke as he drove a golden spike where the two rails joined. An Atlantic cable was laid between the United States and France, extending from Massachusetts, via the island of St. Pierre, south of Newfoundland to Brest. (The undertaking was chartered by Louis Napoleon.)

SEPTEMBER 24 became known as "Black Friday" when a clique of speculators cornered virtually all the gold in New York. The American Museum of Natural History was founded in New York, and construction was begun on the Brooklyn Bridge. The National Prohibition Party was organized as a political adjunct to the temperance movement, and the National Woman Suffrage Association was formed to bring pressure on the Federal government.

See what I mean? We've come a long way, babies. —JO BRIGHT

Phillips Brooks, who wrote the lyrics to "O Little Town of Bethlehem," was appointed rector of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church in Boston.

James Gordon Bennett, wealthy newspaper owner, financed an expedition to Africa under Sir Henry Morton Stanley to find the "lost" explorer and missionary, David Livingstone, who had set out in 1865 to discover the sources of the Nile. (Stanley found Livingstone, in a dying condition, in Tanganyika in 1871.)

WILLIAM FREDERICK Cody became "Buffalo Bill," so named by Col. Edward Zane Carroll Judson, who under the pseudonym of Ned Buntline, wrote some 400 dime novels dealing with imaginary exploits by the colorful pony express rider and frontiersman. (Judson was a founder of the Know-Nothing Party, a leader in the New York Astor Place riots and an accused murderer.)

The Cincinnati baseball team became the first outright professional club in America, and made a tour without losing a single game. At Chicago, the victorious Western tour of the Washington baseball team was stopped by the Rockford, Ill., nine, whose pitcher was a 17-year-old named Albert G. Spalding. The first intercollegiate football game was played by Princeton and Rutgers.

THE FIRST Russian opera to be given in the United States was performed at the Theatre Francais. Edwin Thomas Booth, brother of Lincoln's assassin, built Booth's Theatre, which opened with "Romeo and Juliet." (It ran for 10 weeks, with seats for the opening performance selling for as high as $125.) In the literary field, Mark Twain published his humorous narrative of foreign travel, "The Innocents Abroad, or, The New Pilgrim's Progress."

AMERICAN BANDMASTER Patrick Gilmore assembled an orchestra of 1,000 players and a chorus of 10,000 singers for the first Peace Jubilee, celebrating end of the Civil War. On April 5, in Freedom, Catawug County, N.Y., the last surviving soldier of the Revolutionary War died — Daniel F. Bakeman, aged 109 years.

David Lawrence Nixon's Policy For Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON — Most Americans are not very familiar with the problems of Southeast Asia, and when the President of the United States decided to visit the heads of governments in the region, it wasn't apparent on the surface just what his basic purpose.

Mr. Nixon felt that there was a pressing need, or he would not have gone on such a trip so early in his administration when he is confronted with many other problems. The Nixon journey is the result of a carefully laid plan that can have long-range effects on American foreign policy.

MR. NIXON wants to make it clear, of course, that withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam doesn't mean abandonment of protective measures for the smaller nations of the area. He reiterates that the United States will live up to its commitments, but intimates that the nations cannot expect American troops to do the whole job.

The President took occasion in Indonesia to speak of American aid as something that should be based on policies "mutually helpful to us both." At present, $120 million of economic assistance is given annually to that country, which has 110 million people and certainly needs outside help.

MR. NIXON, in one of his speeches, emphasized that the United States is bound by the Southeast Asia treaty and that Americans and Thais have been willing to fight in Vietnam to protect the rights of free people. He said he stands firmly with Thailand against those who would threaten it from inside or outside its borders.

But the main point of Mr. Nixon's approach was outlined in Bangkok when he declared:

"Our determination to honor our commitments is fully consistent with our convictions that the nations of Asia can and must increasingly shoulder the responsibility for achieving peace and progress in the area."

THE PRESIDENT believes that future economic development must be accomplished on a regional and cooperative basis. The United States is willing to offer a considerable amount of help, but only after being satisfied that Asian leaders will take the initiative and rectify some of the problems and procedures — such as domestic corruption and misuse of aid money and materiel — which have heretofore impaired the value of American assistance.

ONE OF THE reasons for the visit to Southeast Asia at this time is to confer with American ambassadors in the area and get their suggestions about a formula for future American cooperation, especially on the economic side.

All this means that, while the United States wants to assist Southeast Asia, it is not going to do the job alone and expects a substantial effort, both military and economic, to be made by the countries themselves.

Art Buchwald Save Our Astronauts!

WASHINGTON — Although Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin and Mike Collins have just fulfilled the impossible dream, their real ordeal in life has yet to begin.

We got a hint as to what these three brave men faced the other day when we saw President Nixon talking to the astronauts as they sat in their aluminum boxcar on the aircraft carrier, Hornet.

THE PRESIDENT said, with great relish, that as soon as they got out of quarantine he had arranged for them to attend a state dinner in Los Angeles with all the governors and ambassadors and other bigwigs in attendance. The President made it sound as if this was the greatest thing he could do for three men who had been to the moon and then spent 21 days locked up in an airtight building in Houston, and who hadn't seen their wives for a month.

It may have been my television set but when the President said the words "state dinner," I swear I saw all three astronauts gulp.

I MAY BE caviling, but it seems that when three men risk their lives to go to the moon for all mankind, they should be spared having to go to state dinners here on earth.

Now it's true that Americans have a right to fete their heroes and shower adulation on them. But at the same time there are just so many ticker-tape parades, hotel banquets and Kiwanis luncheons that the human body can stand.

The question then arises, "How can you satisfy America's voracious appetite for heroes and at the same time keep the astronauts from expiring from lack of oxygen in a crowded ballroom?"

I BELIEVE I have an answer. In the NASA program each Apollo crew has a backup crew ready to go in case something happens to the first crew. It seems to me there should be a third crew whose only function would be to take over the astronauts' social obligations once they got back on the ground.

This crew, all volunteers, would have to look exactly like Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins (We would use President Nixon's former make-up man to assure they did.) and they would be given as thorough training by NASA as the moon men received.

THE ASTRONAUTS' doubles would be placed in cocktail party simulators to test their reflexes. They would be trained in the rigors of after-dinner speech exercises and learn how to fight weightlessness at American Legion and Shriner conventions.

A staff of medical doctors would monitor all three social astronauts during every public appearance to make sure they could stand the physical punishment. But the men who volunteered would be aware that once they were put in orbit at a banquet there would be no way of rescuing them until the speeches were over.

THERE IS no greater priority at this time than to save three great heroes from the fate that awaits them for the next few years. And it's worth sacrificing three pseudo-astronauts to the American public to give Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins the peace and happiness they so richly deserve.

SAYS STATE DIRECTOR

Water Plan Is A Start Now To Get Half-Century Supply

The Texas Water Plan is no fly-by-night bundle of shotgun projections; on the contrary, it is detailed and so cognizant of interstate relationships that it might aptly be regarded as a Southwest water plan.

The plan is necessary, and it is practical, Jack Fickessen, assistant executive director of the Texas Water Development Board, told a meeting of the Downtown Lions and other service clubs here Wednesday.

The Texas Water Plan and Amendment No. 2 (up for a decision by voters in next Tuesday's constitutional amendment election) are not one and the same, but the amendment is necessary to provide the state with a tool in trying to get ready to meet water needs half a century hence, he declared.

URGES APPROVAL
Owen H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, was direct and blunt about it: "What we do on Aug. 5 will determine the destiny of our state, in my opinion. Few of us will live to see completion of the water plan because of its magnitude. But if we don't take the right step now, we will be letting our grandchildren down."

Because some other areas of the state are currently less water conscious than West Texas, Ivie said "I urge 100 per cent support and turnout by our people for Amendment No. 2 next Tuesday."

YEARS IN MAKING
Fickessen detailed how the Texas plan had been years in the making, and under intensive study and planning for the past five years. Once the plan was drafted and approved following hearings, it was opened to action.

He answered three questions about the plan: 1) Why? 2) What is the plan? and 3) How can it be financed?

The "why" is that present trends project a population of 30 million people in Texas by the year 2020. The supporting industry and agriculture and the people themselves will create demand for some 12 to 13 million acre-feet more water each year than all the available resources within the state can provide.

TWO PARTS
The plan itself is to first of all fully develop all surface and ground water resources in the state; then, secondly, attempt to obtain and move 12 to 13 million acre-feet of surplus water from the lower Mississippi into the areas of deficiency. These, incidentally, involve interests of Louisiana, Arkansas, possibly Oklahoma and Texas and New Mexico (which is due to get 1 1/2 million acre-feet a year). Exhaustive feasibility studies by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation in reality involve the water plans of each of these states, and in this sense the idea might be regarded as a Southwest water plan.

Of the 32 million acre-feet of water estimated to be needed in the year 2020; some 18 million will go to replace depletable supplies in presently irrigated areas, said Fickessen.

DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM
The Texas plan envisions three parts of a Texas water system: 1) the Eastern division to impound water (intra-state surplus and imported water) for distribution; 2) the Coastal division to get water to the Winter Garden and lower Rio Grande Valley; and 3) the Trans-Texas system to arch water over to Lubbock, the South Plains, trans-Pecos (Eastern New Mexico) and El Paso.

Total price tag is estimated at $9 billion, of which Texas will finance $3.5 billion in developing its water systems. The remainder would be federally financed (for all the states benefitting). The Texas bonds are general obligation bonds although ultimately the project is expected to finance itself.

NO EARLY BONDS
The Texas bonds, if approved in Tuesday's election, will be sold in increments — none probably before 1976 — with the heaviest expenditures expected to occur in the interim of 1991. The issue includes half a billion for contingencies (such as inflation).

Is there any commitment that Mississippi water is available? Fickessen said frankly there is not, but that penetrating study has been in the making for years. It was his personal opinion, he said, that the 12 to 13 million acre-feet mentioned is "but a drop in the bucket of the surplus waters now going into the Gulf without doing anybody any good."

Are there other sources of water in such quantities? Not within the 50-year time frame, Fickessen thought. Ultimately water may be brought down from the Pacific Northwest, but that will be in the second 50 years (and this goes for desalting of water from the sea). Even if such sources were available now, it would not lessen the need for the distributive systems of the Texas Water Plan.

Water Rationing

HOUSTON (AP) — A second plea for voluntary water rationing has been called for by Mayor Louie Welch, who said water pressures in some suburban communities were dropping as of Wednesday. Residents were asked to refrain from outside watering between 6 and 8 a.m. and 4 to 9:30 p.m. at Westbury, Sharpstown and Meyerland.

Big Springers Officers For '70 Music Camp

LUBBOCK — Two from Big Spring are among 21 youngsters from 15 public schools in West Texas selected to serve as student officers for Texas Tech's Youth Music Camp in 1970.

Captains, assistant captains and quartermasters will receive full scholarships to next summer's camp, and social directors and student directors will receive tuition scholarships.

The officers, named by the faculty of the 1969 camp, which closed last week include: Captains — Cynthia Dement, Levelland; Sharia Haberer, Springlake-Earth; Karen Hobbs, Wilson; Becky James, Big Spring; Dan Hanson, Lamesa; A. W. Lehman, Lubbock; Coronado; Bill Martin, Snyder; Mike Sanford, Lubbock Monterey.

Assistant Captains — Pam Campbell, Lubbock Monterey; John Davis, Jayton; Kent Kirkpatrick, Post; Ann Morris, Lamesa; Joel Armstrong, Lubbock Coronado.

Quartermasters — Bob Burke, Midland; Bruce Hall, Littlefield; Jimmy Killion, Lubbock Monterey; Rusty Smith, Ballinger.

Social Directors — Judy Cianahan, Plainview; Kenny Whitehead, Monahan.

Editors of Camp Student Newspaper — Kent Fish, Big Spring; Jeanne Winton, Lubbock Coronado.

Identical Tags

RULE, Tex. (AP) — Identical auto license numbers from two states showed up on the streets here recently. An Arkansas car was parked alongside a Texas car, and each had the plate BNC 440.

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — John A. Heubner Jr. of Bay City has been elected to the Board of Trustees of Austin College. Heubner is manager of the Heubner and Poole ranching and oil interests.

OLD APPLIANCES SOUGHT FOR REHABILITATION PROGRAM

Do you have any old appliances — particularly the heavier type — lying around the place? And would you be willing to donate them to the vocational rehabilitation section at Big Spring State Hospital?

Ed Hackerson, with the VR division, is preparing to start a training session for men patients to develop skills, job tolerance, work habits, etc. However, he needs something to work with.

Any appliance will be welcomed, but he is in special need of such items as old vacuum cleaners, mowers, refrigerators, air conditioners, etc.

Those who can help are asked to call the Volunteer Council, headed by Dr. Harold Smith, at 267-8216, Ext. 208. Directions will be given where to take the appliances, or if the donor is unable to bring them, arrangements will be made for picking them up.

Boys Perform Good Turn In Appreciation For Camp

Because Raymond Chavarria, 13, his brother Jessie, 12, and their friend, Frank Ontiveros, 15, have been exceptionally good boys in the classrooms at Marcy Elementary School, all three have been awarded summer camp trips.

They were, tremendously pleased, naturally, but they also had a sense of obligation. They wanted, they told their teacher, to do something to repay the folk, whoever they are, that arranged for their summer outings.

The grass around the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center was badly in need of mowing and there was a lot of trimming, edging and cleaning that needed doing.

The boys asked if they could do the work as a token payment for their summer camp stays. Under the supervision of one of their teachers, they mowed in and spent all of Saturday mowing power m o w e r s, and arrested three men.

Duffer Celebrates 25 Years Service

L. M. Duffer, station attendant for Shell Pipe Line Corporation's West Texas division, at Roberts Station, Foran, celebrated 25 years of service with the company recently.

Duffer joined Shell as a laborer in Monahan in 1944 and became yardman later the same year serving in Westbrook. In 1945 he was named pipeliner in Foran, and in 1960 assumed the same position as pipeliner in Big Spring. He was appointed to his present title in Foran in 1967.
