Nixon Tackles Rugged Task In Pakistan

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — President Nixon arrived in Pakistan today and began talks with President A. M. Yahya Khan which Nixon hoped would bolster relations with the onetime close ally of the United States.

Bringing the Asian portion of their round-the-world tour to a close, Nixon and his wife arrived from India in 100-degree heat. But most of their 21-hour stay was to be spent in the spacious, air conditioned old Governor's House that the British left.

BOGGED DOWN

At a sweltering airport ceremony, both Nixon and Yahya referred to the shift since the days when America and Pakistan were close partners in the anti-Communist "southern tier" across Asia that John Foster Dulles put together.

With the United States bogged down in Vietnam and showing a marked antipathy toward participation in any more Asian wars, Pakistan has recently been cultivating relations with Communist China, her big northern neighbor.

Yahya recalled Nixon's visit as vice president in 1953 and said:

"That was the beginning of a new era of cooperation and mutual collaboration between our two countries. The pattern of our relations has changed somewhat since then, but there is no diminution in our mutual regard nor, I am happy to say, in your country's interest in Pakistan's well-being."

Nixon in reply referred to "some strains in our relations" over the years and said:

"What we want to do on this visit is to restore a friendship based on the mutual trust which is so essential to good relations between two countries."

Crowds along the five-mile route from the airport to the Governor's House waved flags and cheered, but the intense heat reduced the turnout. The crowd was considerably less than the throng that greeted Mrs. John F. Kennedy when she visited Lahore in 1962.

Nixon halted the motorcade once, to walk through a group of hobbling, weeping male dancers. With the dignified, swagger-sticked Yahya in tow, Nixon plunged into the waiting crowd, smiling and shaking hands.

As Nixon and Yahya began their talks, the visiting chief of state said in a statement that he looked forward to "our sharing in candor our respective assessments of our national interests and informing each other of our views."

Nixon said he wanted to reaffirm a basic feeling of friendship and respect between the United States and Pakistan that he said has survived both good times and difficult ones.

He pledged that the United States will continue to give strong encouragement to Asian development but he said,

"Asian hands must shape the Asian future."

TOTAL PATTERN

Economic aid, he said, must "encourage self-reliance, not dependence," and must be related to "the total pattern of a nation's life."

The U.S. president also took approving note of Pakistan's participation with Iran and Turkey in the Regional Cooperation for Development Organization.

"It is our hope," he said, "that Asians will work more closely with each other in a variety of constructive bilateral and regional projects."

The Pakistanis are prepared to revive previous warm relations with Washington if the Americans will resume arms supplies to them. The Pakistanis became disenchanted with the United States when Washington cut off arms sales to both India and Pakistan during their 1965 war. Any renewal of sales to Pakistan would anger India, and the Nixon administration is anxious to maintain good relations with the Indians also.

Pakistan enjoys a special position in both Asian and world politics as one of Communist China's friends.

Yahya, 52, visited Peking and met Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai when he was commander in chief of Pakistan's army, before he replaced President Mohammed Ayub Khan last March 25.

New Parking Facility Opens Monday With Brief Program

Committee members checked over final plans Thursday and announced that details are being worked out for ceremonies Monday morning to mark the formal opening of the new public parking facility at Third and Scurry Streets.

A brief program will start at 9 a.m., following 15 minutes of music by a western band, The Harvesters.

Roger Brown, president of the Ambassadors Club, will preside and recognize those who have been in the lead in this newest municipal development.

A traditional ribbon snipping will be performed by County Judge Lee Porter and Mayor Arnold Marshall. City and county commissioners will be special guests.

An added attraction at the ceremony will be the awarding of more than $200 in various gift certificates donated by various stores and business institutions. Tickets for the drawings will be distributed to the audience at the parking lot by members of the Ambassadors Club. There is no obligation.

Establishments which will offer the certificates include

Anthony's, Elmo Wasson, Franklin's, Swartz, Gibbs and Weeks, Hemphill - Wells, Prager's, Big Spring Furniture, State National Bank, Zale's, Blum's Jewelers, J&K Shoe Store, First National Bank, Barnes-Pelletier, Woolworth, Stanley Hardware and White's.

The lot, of course, replaces the old Crawford Hotel, which long had stood vacant and was becoming a hazard. It will provide more parking for those visiting downtown or doing business at the courthouse.

The Crawford property was acquired and the building demolished through subscription of those participating in Downtown Big Spring Inc., which organization in turn conveyed the lot to the City for a public facility. The City has handled the paving, and Howard County also contributed to have a public parking facility near the courthouse.

In Calcutta Threat Of Mob Violence

CALCUTTA (AP) — A threat of new mob violence hung over India's largest city today after 5,000 police, incensed by West Bengal's Communist-led government, ransacked the State Assembly chamber.

The police attack, which one assemblyman said was unparalleled in the history of the world, occurred while President Nixon was visiting New Delhi, 800 miles to the northwest.

It was rather as if the police in New York had gone on a rampage against Gov. Nelson Rockefeller while Queen Elizabeth II was paying a state visit to Washington, but there was no indication that Nixon and his party were even aware of the events in Calcutta.

Jyoti Basu, Communist deputy chief minister of West Bengal, threatened to call the teeming city's militant students and restless unemployed youths into battle.

"Thousands of youths will come forward to deal with such unruly policemen if necessary," he told 50,000 persons at a rally called to protest President Nixon's visit to New Delhi.

Basu declared that a "deep conspiracy" was behind the invasion of the assembly Thursday by police armed with iron rods.

At least 20 legislators were injured as the police smashed chairs, tables and microphones. Speaker B. K. Banerjee and two assemblymen jumped out of a window to escape.

The police brought along the body of a policeman who they said was killed in a clash Tuesday with supporters of the state government. They charged that Basu has failed to support them in confrontations with strikers and backers of the Communist regime.

Temple Bank Robbery

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — Authorities jailed a Temple man on an armed robbery charge late Thursday night as an outgrowth of a $6,850 holdup at the Temple National Bank.

This stickup was the first ever committed at a bank in this Central Texas city.

A complaint filed with justice of the peace Doyle Lamberth accused David Leon Hewitt, 40, of the robbery. He was held in the city jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

City detective Sgt. Vernon McKinzie and Texas Liquor Control Board agent F. M. Jones arrested Hewitt about 11:15 p.m. at a motel scarcely a mile from the bank. The officers said they acted on a tip but refused to give details.

A lone gunman, wearing jeans and a Western style straw hat, appeared at the bank window of teller Mickey Pitts about 1:10 p.m., displayed a sack and handed her a note. It advised:

"In this bag is a gun. Give me all your $100 bills."

The bandit stuffed money into a paper bag as Mrs. Pitts put it on the counter, once ordering her to "give me more." As he darted out the front door Mrs. Pitts shouted, "We've been robbed."

Officers were told the fleeing man escaped in a car driven by a male companion.

Bank personnel said the robber made off with $6,850. Officers said they found nearly all of the money in a search of Hewitt's motel room.

Anna Dying

MIAMI (AP) — Anna, once a threat to become the season's first hurricane, began dying slowly Thursday after being choked with cold upper air. Anna was downgraded from a tropical storm to a tropical depression by the Weather Bureau.

The storm was churning towards the Bahamas with top winds of only 35 miles per hour. It was expected to reach the extreme eastern Bahama Islands by midday today.

Vote Deadline

With 5 p.m. today the deadline for absentee ballots, County Clerk Pauline Petty had received 48 ballots at 10 a.m. today for the special election Tuesday on nine constitutional amendments. Howard County has 11,838 registered voters, and voters who will not be in the county Tuesday were eligible to vote absentee.

Arrest Coed Slay Suspect In Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The arrest of a 23-year-old man in the brutal slaying of Karen Sue Beineman, one of eight young women found slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the last two years, was announced today.

Miss Beineman was the seventh unsolved killing.

Col. Fredrick Davids, state police director, identified the man held as John Norman Collins of Ypsilanti and said he "looks like the composite sketch" of the motorcyclist last seen with Miss Beineman.

The Eastern Michigan University coed vanished July 23 and her body was found last Saturday in a rural roadside ravine. She had been strangled and her face battered beyond recognition. She was 18 and had enrolled as a freshman last June.

Three others among the eight victims also were Eastern Michigan coeds. Three also were from the University of Michigan at nearby Ann Arbor. One was a high school dropout and another a junior high school student.

Until today, authorities claimed a solution in only one death—that of Margaret Phillips, a University of Michigan coed found mortally wounded in her off-campus apartment last July 5. A man is held on a murder count in that.

Collins is a nephew of Cpl. David Leik of the Ypsilanti State Police Post and Davids said it was a report from Leik that his house had been "disturbed" that led to Collins' arrest.

Collins had access to Leik's home, while the latter was on vacation, and had been feeding the corporal's dog while he was gone. Leik returned from vacation two days ago.

Davids refused to say how Leik's home had been "disturbed," saying that involved evidence and he did not want to prejudice the case. Davids also said Collins "had access to motorcycles" and had been under surveillance even before Miss Beineman's body was discovered.

Some law enforcement officers have expressed belief at least some of the unsolved slayings are related, although there is no proof of this.

Davids said Collins would be arraigned today on a first-degree murder charge in Miss Beineman's death and disclosed he was arrested Thursday at the State Police Crime Laboratory in nearby Plymouth, where Collins was being questioned in the presence of his attorney.

Davids said Collins completed his third year at Eastern Michigan University here in June, but did not enroll for the summer session and so far as he knew was unemployed.

Two Exposed To Moon Dust Place Selves In Quarantine

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two men were exposed to moon dust late Thursday night when a glove extending into a vacuum chamber broke at America's lunar quarantine station, officials said today.

The pair, Ronald Buffum and George Williams, were forced to strip, shower and place themselves in quarantine with the three Apollo 11 astronauts.

Officials said Buffum was working in the glove when it sprang a leak, causing a high rush of air into the vacuum chamber.

Buffum required the help of Williams to remove his hand. Together, they got his hand out and sealed the chamber to further air leaks.

They went to shower for more than two hours while officials decided if they had possibly been contaminated.

It was decided they had and the pair was placed in quarantine with the Apollo 11 astronauts at about 3 a.m.

Officials said blood samples have been taken from the two men and they have undergone extensive medical examinations by a doctor in the crew quarantine area.

Dr. William Kemmerer, chief of the preventative medicine branch at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said Buffum suffered a slight bruise on his right arm from the force of air escaping into the vacuum chamber.

Officials said it was unknown how much degradation two samples of lunar material in the vacuum chamber received.

With the addition of Buffum and Williams, the population in the crew quarantine area increased to 19.

Earlier, officials said the spacecraft Columbia and three astronauts who flew it to the moon and back were reunited.

Columbia, the Apollo 11 command module, was moved into the crew quarantine area Thursday night and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins visited it.

Apollo 11 Commander Neil A. Armstrong was to look at the spacecraft tonight.

The crew spent Thursday giving a seminar on their mission to the Apollo 12 astronauts, who plan to go to the moon in November.

Charles Conrad, the Apollo 12 commander, asked Armstrong if he thought a program of two moon walks, both with a longer duration than Armstrong's stroll of 2 hours 32 minutes, was feasible.

"Neil told him it was," said John McLeish, a public relations officer in quarantine with the Apollo 11 crew.

The spacemen gave the mission report to their colleagues from behind a glass wall of the lunar receiving laboratory. Conrad, his crewmates Richard Gordon and Alan Bean, and several other astronauts listened from the outside.

Meanwhile scientists in another part of the laboratory injected specks of moon material into the bodies of 24 germ-free mice in an experiment intended to smoke out possible moon microbes.

If there are living microorganisms in the moon matter, scientists expect them to develop rapidly in the mice, since the little animals have no immunity to such bodily invaders.

The space agency released Thursday night a series of pictures taken on the surface of the moon by Armstrong and Aldrin.

One view showed Armstrong and Aldrin posing beside the American flag. Both men were unrecognizable in the bulky white space suits that kept them alive.

In another view, Aldrin stood alone in a crater, his brilliant white suit showing splashes of moon dust, suggesting that he might have fallen to his knees. In his gold visor, the moon lander, Armstrong and the flag were clearly reflected.

The space agency also released motion picture film showing Collins shaving in space. Armstrong and Aldrin with the flag, and the moon's surface receding as the lunar module took off.

Surtax: What And Why

By The Associated Press

Surcharge: Last year a law was passed under which all individual taxpayers above the lowest brackets and all corporations are charged an extra 10 per cent of their income tax. This surcharge expired June 30, but the 10 per cent withholding was kept alive by stopgap legislation pending final action on President Nixon's request that the surcharge be continued for another year.

Proposal: Nixon proposed that the surcharge be continued at 10 per cent through the last half of this year and at 5 per cent through the first six months of 1970. The Treasury said this would yield $7.5 billion in the fiscal year ending next June 30 and result in a $6.3 billion surplus.

Purpose: To help curb inflation by draining off some of the excess purchasing power that sent prices soaring.

Critics' View: Opponents said the surtax did not check inflation, as demonstrated by constantly rising prices and interest rates. What was needed, they said, was a major overhauling of the tax laws and a closing of loopholes used by the wealthy.

Outcome: The House passed a 12-month surtax extension bill as Nixon asked, but Senate Democrats balked. They insisted on administration-backed tax reforms as the price for another year of the surtax, finally agreed to a six-month extension. If the House concurs, this will be sent to the President for his signature.

The House Ways and Means Committee completed work meanwhile on a general tax reform bill.

Odds Against Finding Life On Mars Lengthened Today

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The odds against finding life on Mars lengthened today as scientists studied Mariner 6's closest-ever pictures of the red planet, showing a meteorite-battered surface much like the moon's.

Black-and-white photographs televised across 58 million miles Thursday night disclosed such utter desolation that only the most optimistic could hope for the presence of unseen living organisms.

There were huge and ancient craters, many with sharp-edged smaller craters inside; mountainous highlands, precipitous slopes, crack lines and scattered rubble—but no hint that the mysterious planet harbors life or ever did.

Scientists who plan to send surface-scratching unmanned landing craft to Mars in the 1970s were cautious in their comments on the possibility of life.

Said Dr. Robert Leighton, physicist-astronomer heading a study of the pictures:

"The camera system was never expected to provide an answer to the question of life on Mars. It is expected if there is life on Mars it would be in microscopic form or a low order of vegetation."

The photographs, many snapped with a telephoto lens as the 850-pound spacecraft swept within 2,180 miles of the Martian equator, covered a dark equatorial band some scientists have thought might bear vegetation because it seems to darken in the spring.

What the spacecraft's two cameras saw, however, were scenes like American deserts where dark mountain ranges rise from wastelands of bleached sand.

There were no clouds and no signs of a haze which some observers have theorized might be evidence of moisture in low places. Leighton commented: "The blue haze that some say is on Mars may not exist. The surface features are very clear."

Scientists will get a second chance at taking close-ups of Mars when Mariner 7, five days behind Mariner 6, makes a similar fly-by Monday night.

Silent for several hours Wednesday after apparently being knocked askew by a small meteorite, Mariner 7 at last report was operating normally and scheduled to begin taking approach pictures tonight.

Its pictures will have to be spectacular to rival the wildly tortured beauty of those televised by Mariner 6.

No. 18 of the scheduled 24 photographs showed a large, sharply defined crater, ragged-rimmed and with countless craters on its flat bottom and pitting its high walls.

HUGE CRATER — A huge crater dominates this picture of Mars which was returned by Mariner 6 to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., last night. The area shown is 300 miles across.

The Rain Finally Came, But It Was Too Late

By The Associated Press

The rain finally came, but it was too late.

Too late to save several summer vegetable crops which have been damaged severely by an extended drought across portions of the South.

Corn has been hurt the most. In Georgia, Florida and Tennessee, farmers say they don't expect to harvest more than 20 percent of last year's corn production.

In fact, farmers in one Florida county, Leon, say their heavily damaged corn crop probably will result in a loss of some $400,000.

Other crops also have suffered—namely, peanuts, okra, butter beans and tomatoes.

In Georgia, the early peanut crop was practically wiped out. This is expected to result in a major economic loss to several areas.

At first, experts predicted the tobacco crop in Georgia and Florida would be endangered. However, farmers were able to irrigate this crop and, as a result, fine-cured tobacco is bringing in record prices in south Georgia and in northern Florida.

Pastures have been scorched in many areas, but the recent rain has helped restore soil moisture somewhat.

Temperatures have lingered around the 100-degree mark for several weeks in much of the Deep South.

Because of the drought, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has declared seven Georgia counties and 37 Tennessee counties disaster areas. Also, Caddo Parish (Shreveport), La., has been declared a disaster area. No rain has been reported in this area since June 3.

Vietnamese Forces Kill 77 Viet Cong

(AP WIREPHOTO)

SAIGON (AP) — The allied commands today reported scattered small clashes in various parts of Vietnam and a total of 128 enemy troops killed as the battlefield lull continued in its seventh week.

The heaviest action was reported by South Vietnamese forces who claimed 77 Viet Cong killed in two days of fighting 110 miles southwest of Saigon, near the provincial capital of Rach Gia.

Other government troops reported 20 of the enemy killed in a fight in the Mekong Delta province of Bac Lieu and 13 in Long An province 20 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said its forces killed 18 enemy, including six killed in a U.S. Marine ambush of a patrol near the demilitarized zone; seven killed by a helicopter gunship after they fired on the helicopter 30 miles northwest of Saigon, and five killed by 9th Infantry Division troops about 30 miles southwest of Saigon.

Six Marines were wounded in the ambush.

The allied commands also reported 11 enemy shelling attacks between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday but said only two of them caused damage or casualties. Two wounded Americans were among the casualties.

Turbulence developed again late Thursday near the Upper Texas Coast, where a tornado was spotted between Sabine Pass and Port Arthur. The funnel cloud stayed harmlessly aloft as it whirled over a Texas 87 bridge spanning the Gulf Intracoastal Canal.

Thunderstorm activity continued this morning between Houston and College Station, while light showers pelted the coastal plains from Corpus Christi and Victoria past Bayou and Port Arthur into Louisiana.

Weak showers fell also in or around Austin, Temple and Waco in Central Texas and farther west near Brownwood and San Saba.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy in other sections. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 67 degrees at Daltart and 69 at Amarillo and Tyler up to 84 at Del Rio.

Top marks Thursday hit 104 at Cotulla and Laredo, 102 at Childress and Del Rio, 101 at San Angelo and 100 at Alice, El Paso and Wichita Falls.

IN CHARGE OF MANHUNT — Michigan State Police Director Col. Frederick Davids is in charge of the manhunt for the killer or killers of seven young women slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years.

Clouds Cover Much Of Texas

By The Associated Press

Clouds covering much of Texas held temperatures a bit lower today with help from well spaced showers.

It appeared that a July heat wave was carrying over into August, however, with no appreciable break.

Opening lead: King of ♠. Declarer permitted a juicy plum to slip from his grasp when he failed to select the best line of play in his six heart contract.

The slam was reached on an aggressive but nevertheless reasonable sequence of bids. South's jump to three hearts was based in part on the distributional fit with partner's spades. Had North's original response been in South's void suit, diamonds, a mere two heart rebid by the latter would be considered adequate.

North had an opening bid himself and, when South jumped on the second round, a slam try was in order.

Since North had no feature bid available, his invitation took the form of a leap beyond game to five hearts. Holding first round control of both unbid suits, South proceeded to slam.

The opening lead was the king of diamonds which was ruffed by declarer. It appeared to him that there was nothing more to the hand than trumping out his losing clubs, so he proceeded to cash the king and ace of clubs and ruff the third round in dummy. A diamond ruff put him back in his hand to trump the last club. He now had to shorten himself a third time in diamonds in order to come off dummy, and this left him with only three hearts. When the trumps broke badly, South wound up a trick short of his goal.

Declarer required a favorable division in both clubs and hearts in order to succeed. A better line of play would have been to establish the dummy's spade suit. After ruffing the opening lead, South pulls trumps in four rounds. Now a spade is led to the ace. When the jack falls from East's hand, declarer must proceed with caution. A small spade is returned and the ten forces out West's queen. When South regains the lead, he takes the marked finesse thru West's nine of spades to establish dummy's suit for two club discards.

IN KENNEDY CASE

Inquest Move Draws Criticism From Judge

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis has applied for an inquest into the drowning of a girl secretary in a car accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy—and has drawn a rebuke from the judge who will rule on the request.

Dinis said Thursday he had sent the application to Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro of the state Superior Court.

Declaring that the first he heard about it was from the press, Justice Tauro described the timing of the announcement as "bad judgment at the very least" and said: "I can't comment on it until I receive it. I'll have plenty of comment at the right time."

Dinis is district attorney for the Southern District, which includes the Martha's Vineyard area where the drowning occurred July 18. Until now, he had stayed clear of the investigation, which led to a charge against Kennedy of leaving the scene of the accident, fatal to Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, 28.

Like the senator, Dinis is a Democrat. But he is not regarded as a member of the party's dominant Kennedy wing. He ran unsuccessfully for Congress last year.

Miss Kopechne was trapped in Kennedy's car when it plunged off a narrow bridge into a tidal pool on Chappaquiddick Island. Dr. Donald R. Mills, the district medical examiner, pronounced her death due to drowning.

Dr. Mills said he reported the death to Dinis' office, and reached an agreement that no autopsy was needed.

Critics of the senator have expressed dissatisfaction with his explanation of why he left the scene of the accident without reporting it to the police until the following morning.

In an interview Thursday night on the television program "The CBS Evening News with Walter Cronkite," Ted Sorensen, a Kennedy adviser, said that as the senator himself had declared "his conduct that night is inexplicable."

"His conduct during those hours after the accident was fully summed up in the most humiliating kind of language in his presentation," Sorensen said. He referred to a telecast in which Kennedy asked his Massachusetts constituents to say whether he should quit the Senate.

"He would agree with you that he should have gone and gotten help that night now that he looks back on it," Sorensen said. "Of course he should have."

Interviewer Robert Shakne asked Sorensen why Kennedy crossed from his hotel in Edgartown back to Chappaquiddick to make a call to his lawyer the morning after the accident.

"Why didn't he call directly from the hotel?" Shakne asked.

"I'm told," Sorensen replied, "that the only telephone in the hotel is one of those that's out in the lobby. There's no booth. There's no privacy whatsoever. One does not normally call his lawyer from such a telephone."

Shakne then asked what Kennedy's companions—Paul Markham, former U.S. attorney at Boston, and his cousin Paul Gargan—were doing when Senator Kennedy decided to risk his life by jumping in the water and swimming across the channel. Did they try to dissuade him?

"Apparently they had no chance to dissuade him," Sorensen said.

In his own telecast after the accident Kennedy said, "I regard as indefensible the fact that I did not report the accident to the police immediately. I was overcome, I am frank to say, by a jumble of emotion—grief, fear, doubt, torture, panic, confusion, exhaustion and shock."

Marijuana Price Has Gone Up, Too

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Inflation has hit marijuana, doubling its price in a year. The reason: It's getting scarce.

An uncommonly dry period in northern Mexico's growing area may be the cause, U.S. Customs Agent Walter Buck said Thursday.

A year ago, marijuana sold on the illicit market for about $75 a kilo, or 2.2 pounds. Now it's $150 or more.

DPS Hopeful Breath Test Will Whack Death Rate

AUSTIN (AP) — State Police officers are hopeful a new chemical breath test for drunkenness will trim Texas' growing traffic death rate, Col. Wilson E. Speir, head of the State Department of Public Safety, says.

Speir was one of a series of witnesses before the opening session Thursday of a special fact finding committee looking into a proposed 11.4 per cent increase in automobile insurance rates.

The hearing before the committee continued today.

Speir told the committee that the DPS knows that drinking drivers are involved in 40 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents and they fear the percentage may be more than 50 per cent.

"When the implied consent law goes into effect Sept. 1 it will allow us to give a breath test to any driver we think is too drunk to drive," Speir said. "If he refuses that is grounds for a charge."

Speir said the department has 90 breath test machines now and plans to buy 173 more. About 600 DPS employees have already received 40 hours each instruction in use of the test.

Speir said the department also is considering giving a brief written test with each driver license application, in addition to the eye test now required.

He said he also would recommend to legislators that the misdemeanor probation law be changed to prevent any probation of a driver license suspension handed a driver convicted of driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident or other serious traffic violation.

"We have a law now allowing a special temporary license to be given a suspended driver so he can continue driving in order to make a living," Speir said. "I see no need of a district judge lifting a license suspension given for DWI, and a number are doing it. There is no greater deterrent to DWI than license suspension."

These Are Costly Amendments

Of questionable merit to the economic and political welfare of Texas are two proposed amendments up for decision of the voters Tuesday.

One of these (No. 3) sets out a way to raise the pay of legislators, the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the House.

The other (No. 9) proposes annual sessions of the Legislature.

Currently, legislators draw $4,500 per year, plus per diem of $12 for 120 days of the regular session and 30 days of each special session. Since this went into effect in 1960, two different proposals to increase legislators' pay have been defeated by the voters.

The proposed amendment allows the legislature to raise members' salaries to not more than the pay of a district judge, and to raise the pay of the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the House to not more than one-half the salary of the governor. However, since the salary of the governor or a district judge may be increased at any time by the legislature, there, conceivably, could be contrived any kind of salary.

It is recognized that the legislative business is time-consuming and demands a great deal of work, knowledge and talent on the part of members. However, the job is still a part-time affair, and there seems to be no relevancy between pay for a legislator and that for a district judge who works the year round.

A substantial pay increase (which could be expected) and a longer period during which the per diem allowance would be paid mean more expense in state government. This proposal comes at a time when the state is struggling for more money and calling for more taxes, and some economy in this area is to be desired.

Similarly, we feel that the proposition for annual sessions means higher cost of government.

We do not subscribe fully to the theory that the state can't adequately do its budget planning for two years. Most large businesses chart their plans on even a longer-range.

Nor do we feel that annual sessions would encourage state fiscal economies. Every time the legislature meets, there are increasing demands for more money for virtually every area of state operation. Annual sessions serve to double the legislators' exposure to these demands.

Annual sessions would encourage the policy of authorizing expenditures, new programs and services and the like, all to be funded the following year. Passing favorite projects is easier when no money is required "this year." But there comes the next year when the bill has to be paid.

With no discredit to the hard work of the legislators, we question the method employed to authorize pay raises.

Further, we feel that annual sessions mean more spending, with higher taxes, and enactment of more programs of questionable value.

The two amendments, No. 3 and No. 9, ought to be rejected.

Our Relationship With Van Thieu

WASHINGTON — As President Nixon left on his round-the-world trip the unofficial word put a stop in Vietnam as almost inevitable. The reason: to calm President Nguyen Van Thieu's nervous tremors over the American pullout.

All the prepackaged speeches, notes, memoranda the President took with him sound the same theme — the United States intends to maintain military power in Asia. These words will be coated with the rhetoric of peace and unity. But they carry, nevertheless, the main thrust of the mission, which is to quiet the fears of an abrupt withdrawal from Vietnam as evidence of neo-isolationism.

AS THE EUPHORIC glow over the announced withdrawal of the first 25,000 American combat troops subsides, the hazards of the pullout have sent a chill through the President's foreign policy advisers. What no one is able to say with any real confidence is whether the Thieu government can survive. A principal doubter, it is reported, and therefore urging a cautious slowdown in the withdrawal rate is Henry A. Kissinger, assistant to the President for national security affairs.

INCREASINGLY, the evidence indicates that the Thieu government is narrowing rather than broadening its base. The construction seems to reflect the fear that only by digging in behind the armed forces, with no

I am one of the best lawyers in our state, and I have the respect of everyone except my own children. Why is it that a man can succeed with everyone else but his children?

Y.W. I once attended a funeral, and the widow of the man, as she turned tearfully away from the bier, was heard to say, between sobs: "He was such a good provider." She had lost, not a good husband, but a good provider. She was sad that her provision was gone — not her husband.

What does it matter if you become the best lawyer in the whole world, if you lose the respect and love of your own family? That is exactly what Jesus was getting at when He said: "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" He was saying, "Don't achieve the lesser at the sacrifice of the best." Don't you see that your main drive and concern is to be a good lawyer, not to be a good father, nor a good person. This is where you have failed with your children. You have unwittingly tried to get them to worship the unworthy "gods" of success and materialism, and they may have refused. They may be wiser than you.

It is tremendously important to excel in your profession, but not at the expense of everything else. The craft of parenthood is more important than that of an attorney. The Bible says that the things that abide are, "Faith, hope, and love." Start dealing in the commodities that abide, and your children will respect you more.

Things That Make Life Worth Living

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

Running down a rainy street hand in hand with someone you love . . . The opening door of home after a long day at work . . . Lying in bed at night and watching the strange patterns of light and dark made on the ceiling by cars passing outside . . . Being patted awkwardly on the face by the fumbling fingers of a small child.

The feel of corduroy cloth and the gnarled bark of old oak trees . . . The gleam of brass and old silver candlesticks . . . Going on a picnic and coming back safe from a war . . . Watching a brilliant summer lightning and thunder storm from a sheltered place . . . Having someone else volunteer to do the dishes after a hearty meal.

PLAYING CATCH with a teenager and finding you're still able to hold on to the fast ones . . . Entering any room where you know you'll be welcomed by someone you want to be welcome to . . . Taking the last poker pot of the evening and leaving an annual physical examination that this year you feared you'd flunk for sure . . . Paying an installment on a mortgage — just once — three days ahead of the due date.

Pigeons getting crumbs from pious old ladies on the steps of a cathedral . . . Saucy squirrels seeking handouts in a public park . . . The sound of running water and the sight of falling stars . . . The historic ritual of scratching your initials with a tree branch on a page of fallen snow . . . The wavering path of a breeze across a field of ripening wheat.

POKING AROUND amid the half-forgotten treasures in the attic . . . Coming across an old love letter and dropping everything to read it . . . The stern, self-conscious look on yesterday's faces in the old family photograph album . . . How odd will your own face look to the eyes that will gaze upon it some far tomorrow?

The placid acquiescence of elderly faces, no longer afraid of death or time . . . The smell of frying bacon . . . The scent of a clover field on a dewy morning . . . The uncurling grace of a cat rising and stretching herself . . . The feel of clean sheets . . . A friendly note from the boss saying he'd been watching your work lately and was glad to see that you were at last doing some of it. Also in the note — a pay hike.

CHOPPING kindling wood for a home hearth . . . Giving a shower from a fire plug . . . Awakening in a bedroll at midnight on a mountainside, surrounded by all the awesome glory of the universe, and talking your heart out to that lonesome stranger, God.

Wall Street Rumors

NEW YORK (AP) — It really wasn't surprising that a rumor swept Wall Street this week to the effect that the prime interest rate would be lowered. It would have been more surprising if something of the sort hadn't happened.

Wall Street has become bored and frightened by bad news, and in any financial district when the reality of bad news becomes intolerable, and when that bad news continues as it has, then you must invent its opposite.

THE FACT that a good rumor was so long in coming was the real surprise, and its long delay casts serious doubts upon the well known creative talents of the Street. Compared with the 1920s, Wall Street has lost its touch.

The latest word was that the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company would initiate a reduction in the basic lending-rate to business. This would be followed, the rumor implied, by a sweeping reduction in rates across the country.

This was good news indeed because, if true, it would indicate that the bone-breaking credit screws were being loosened a bit and that business could look ahead to big things, profits especially.

AS A RESULT, activity spurted and prices rose and an electric feeling seemed to charge the atmosphere.

It made little or no difference that Morgan Guaranty claimed not to have any such intentions, for the truth is not always needed to support a good rumor, if people wish to believe the rumor.

In recent years, for example, Wall Streeters somehow have learned of alleged favorable turns of events in Vietnam before the Pentagon, and of diplomatic matters before the State Department.

By the time such rumors are compared with the facts and found to be anything but mirror images, they have had their effects, usually in the form of sud-

'My Heart's There . . .'

For days I have been wracking my brain for something fitting to write about Sam W. Blackburn, a friend who died Sunday. In fact, my inability to come up with anything surprised me.

IT WAS ONLY WHEN I had thought about the matter for some time that I realized Sam hadn't told me much about himself. He knew the Big Spring area and Southeastern Oklahoma (we both had worked for the Daily Ardmoreite, Ardmore, Okla.) and most of what we discussed was history.

I was very proud of the obituaries several papers carried and I put them in a scrapbook, along with my own dedication:

I searched for the writer whose talent with words Played on my heartstrings for years. And found . . . just a dreamer alone in the crowd Recording its laughter and tears.

I WILL REMEMBER the tributes to Sam — especially the one written by the boss — just as I remember the afternoon we watched The Herald press turn words into newspapers, Sam said: "My heart's there, just as it always was."

With all due respect to the young women of Big Spring, I notice quite a few who walk fairly close to my desk on the way to the women's department have hair-dos like a sheep dog.

Occasionally they are accompanied by a boy with a matching hair-do.

Teddy's Continuing Tragedy

WASHINGTON — Whatever way one looks at it, the experience of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Democrat of Massachusetts, in the auto accident on the night of July 18 is a continuing tragedy.

THE SENATOR, in court at Edgartown, Mass., pleaded guilty to the charge of having left the scene of a fatal accident without reporting promptly to the police. He confesses that, even through under strain and shock, his failure to do so was "indefensible." His explanation on television was an attempt to overcome the suspicions and innuendoes which followed the piecemeal revelation of some of the details of what had occurred. But newsmen had no opportunity to question him afterwards as there would be in a court proceeding or a prosecuting attorney to cross-examine a defendant who did not plead guilty.

ACTUALLY, THE trial in the "court of public opinion" which has been going on since July 18 will last for some time to come. Indeed, in a political sense, the full effects may not be felt nationally unless the Massachusetts senator seeks the Democratic presidential nomination in the summer of 1972. He has said he will not do this.

If Mr. Kennedy in November, 1970, wins re-election as senator from Massachusetts, it will indicate either that the people of his state have forgiven him or that a majority do not consider the matter as seriously as it is being regarded in political circles today.

WHAT MUST be remembered, however, is that women as well as men do the voting. In many campaigns wherein a candidate has been involved in any controversy about his personal life — whether it is a divorce or accusations of a lack of integrity — the subject has had a wide influence, particularly among female voters.

AS FOR the verdict of the public on the statement made on July 25 on TV by Sen. Kennedy, doubtless a large number of sympathizers will urge him not to resign his office. Many persons, on the other hand, who do not accept as satisfactory his story of the circumstances surrounding the accident will contend that help from the police should have been sought by him immediately. One theory is that the girl's life might somehow have been saved if persons had been summoned from houses in the vicinity of the pond where the car was submerged. But nobody can prove this.

THE DEBATE will continue indefinitely that to what might have been done and whether Sen. Kennedy — who says he dived in the water a number of times to try to rescue his passenger and failed — could have gotten aid in time. The fact remains that anybody driving at night should be very careful about trying to cross a narrow bridge. Neglect to do so was the real tragedy which cost a human life. This lesson should be implanted deeply in the minds of all drivers of automobiles, including those individuals who are active in politics.

Top Speeches For The ABM

WASHINGTON — It used to be summer fun for me to pick all-star Senators and Congressmen, all-star Congressional committees and administrative assistants. I remember handing this personal accolade to Hugh Scott (R., Pa.), Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.), Tom Curtis (R., Mo.), the House Committee on Science and Astronautics, and to an administrative assistant who was embarrassed at having his anonymity broken.

THIS YEAR the stellar performance on Capitol Hill has been by the speech-makers, which is unusual as most good work is done in committees. Unusual, also, is the fact that the memorable speeches have been on one subject — a technical and difficult one — the ABM. There have been good ones by Aiken and Stennis, Goldwater and Cooper, but three others are outstanding. They are addresses on the Senate floor by Byrd of Virginia, Jackson of Washington and Prouty of Vermont.

HARRY BYRD said that last year he had voted to cut non-Vietnam military spending, and that he had doubts about the ABM Sentinel which over a period of six years would cost not less than $6 billion, probably more, without adding to our offensive potential. Weighed against future costs, however, was an investment of $3 billion and 13 years of research-and-development in this protective weapon. Byrd said he'd heard a great deal about arms-limitation and about the unlikelihood that the Soviets would invite a nuclear exchange by firing their SS-9 missiles. He said he'd been on the fence for three months.

BUT HE NOTED that, while the world had made great strides in science, it had got nowhere along the path to peace. He said that no man could be "certain" but every man could be "prudent" — on the matter of ABM. "I support prudence," said Byrd, and thus reached his decision with the purity of simple logic.

Jackson of Washington went to his subject by a route seldom used any longer — an assault upon the leaders of Soviet Russia that caused consternation among the Senate's appeasement bloc. Jackson led off by saying that no businessman would make decisions determining the survival of his company without studying his chief competitors. How much more important, he said, it is for Senators to search into the nature of the Soviet adversary. Then, to the astonishment of all and the dismay of many, Jackson gave a collective biography of the 11-man Politburo.

PROUTY OF VERMONT saw ABM as a third choice beyond humiliation-and-holocaust. This defensive arm, he said, would give any President "another button" to push, that of knocking enemy missiles out of the sky. Not an either-or man, Prouty said he would back Safeguard as a year-by-year pilot program, reserving the right to vote for or against it in the future. Not a Red-baiter, he noted that it was the USSR and not the USA which had been escalator of the arms race. Final safeguard against war, he said, lies within our understanding of our fellowman. Meanwhile, he would vote to arm the nation with Safeguard. Safeguard.

Byrd's, Jackson's and Prouty's have been the best speeches. One was prudence, one was anti-Red, one was "Trust God but keep the powder dry."

Results Of An Attack By A Gang

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was raped by 10 guys in a motorcycle gang last year. Two days afterward, I went to a doctor for a checkup, and took it that I was all right.

But since it happened I have been having a heavy discharge and sometimes I itch quite a bit. I have tried everything and have been taking a douche every other week but nothing helps. Could you please give me any idea what would be causing it and what I could do for it? I am 18.—V.M.

Pretty clearly it is some sort of infection. It could be gonorrhea, although more likely it is a different type of infection in the vagina caused by a parasite called trichomonas.

This is a tiny organism, too small to see without a microscope. It does not invade the body tissues as bacteria do. Rather, being a parasite, it merely lives and flourishes on the surface. Thus the body's defense against germs — the white blood cells — cannot attack the parasite. Unless effectively treated, the itching can continue indefinitely.

What you must do is go back to the doctor. Such infection may not be apparent two days after an attack, but will show five to ten days later.

Remind the doctor of what happened. It is possible that he will have to make tests of the discharge to determine whether trichomonas or some other organism is present. He then can prescribe an effective medication. Your periodic douching will not get rid of the problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My brother had surgery for cancer of the prostate and since then has been taking a capsule called Tace. Is it a hormone, and are there any side effects?—W.T.

Tace is a potent medication which, while not exactly a hormone, has the same effects as the female hormone estrogen, and is used for the same purpose — prostatic cancer, menopause, suppression of lactation.

Side effects, if any, are those of estrogen when used in a male, chiefly enlargement of breast tissue and lessening of sexual vigor. In cases such as the one you cite it relieves the patient's discomfort very considerably.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them." Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

An Open Letter to the People of Texas...

The availability of an adequate supply of water has always made the difference between prosperity and want--between plenty and famine. For these reasons, water has played a major role in the Texas story--has been the essential element in placing a State known for wide open spaces in the position of sustaining--

- * The Nation's third largest population by 1985;
- * A high rate of growth in business, industry and finance;
- * The Nation's third largest agricultural industry.

Our State's growth projection in these areas nearly defies imagination, and yet experts tell us that these projections and future prosperity cannot be realized unless giant steps are taken now to assure Texas' future water resources.

The Texas Water Plan was developed to make maximum use of the available water in our State and to provide for additional out-of-state water as needed. This work has taken place during all of our administrations as Governor of Texas. The Plan comes to its first real public test on August 5, 1969, when you, the voters of Texas, are being asked to approve Constitutional Amendment No. Two, which will authorize the Texas Water Development Board to sell up to $3.5 billion in additional bonds over a 40-year period, in amounts as needed--money that will eventually be repaid by water users.

We urge you to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. Two on August 5. It may be the most important vote this generation of Texans will cast.

Sincerely,

Preston Smith

Miss Reese Marries John Richard Walling

Miss Debra Gayle Reese and John Richard Walling were married Thursday evening in the College Baptist Church. Dr. Byron Orand performed the ceremony before an altar adorned with baskets of white gladioli and flanked by candelabra holding cathedral tapers.

MRS. JOHN. R. WALLING

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Collin R. Reese, 612 Elgin, and the bridegroom is the son of John R. Walling, 2501 Central, and the late Mrs. Walling.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of peau de soie. The Empire bodice was overlaid with Chantilly lace, and the skirt formed a slender silhouette. The lace sleeves ended in petal points over the hands, and the chapel-length train was of lace. Her tiered veil of silk illusion cascaded from a headpiece embroidered with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of feathered carnations and greenery.

Miss Rowena Rogers, maid of honor, was attired in a yellow silk formal gown accented at the bodice with a velvet bow and floor-length streamers. Miss Galyann Bledsoe and Miss Patricia Reese, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They wore mint green gowns designed as the maid's of honor and carried white lace baskets holding yellow and green spring flowers.

Danny Walling, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Billy King, Sand Springs; Jimmy Ward, Coahoma; Ricky Smith and Arvil J. Henry.

Altar tapers were lighted by Faron Reese, brother of the bride, and Gary Walling, brother of the bridegroom.

The couple left on a wedding trip to the Fort Worth and Dallas area. For traveling, the bride wore an avocado green knit dress and the corsage from her bouquet.

The bride attended Big Spring High School, and the bridegroom graduated from Coahoma High School and is employed at Montgomery Ward & Co.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall. Miss Kathie Wood presided at the guest register and others in the house party were Mrs. and Mrs. C. W. Smith; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Long and Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Henry.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reese of Spur, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Smallwood, Matador; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jones, Plainview; and Mr. and Mrs. George McMahan, Sunray. The couple will be at home at 509 Nolan.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the Rev. James W. Rives, assisted by the Rev. Jack Riddlehoover, before an altar adorned with baskets of daisies and flanked by candelabra.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. Rives, 1919 N. Willis, Abilene, formerly of Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Massey, Abilene.

Miss Annette Fitzhugh of Big Spring, organist, accompanied Troy Dale Jr. as he sang "Eternal Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a white formal gown of organza over satin, which extended in the back to form a train. The dress was designed with a front panel and sleeves of lace, and her veil of tulle was attached to a pearl-trimmed rose and petal headpiece. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and daisies centered with an orchid.

Miss Mary Johnson of Wichita, Kan., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Colclazer of Big Spring and Miss Linda Massey, sister of the bridegroom. They wore sleeveless gowns of pale yellow over peau de soie with daisy headpieces and carried bouquets of yellow roses encircled by daisies.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks: If you are ever making fancy sandwiches for a party... try using your thumb. Cut out a hole in the center of the piece of bread BEFORE you even begin to make the sandwich itself.

Use this bread with the hole in it to top the sandwich with. Slice a stuffed olive in half and lay this in that hole AFTER putting the sandwich together! Golly whiskers... is it ever pretty! And does that olive ever go a long way when sliced. Knock 'em cold, gals. Learn to be your own caterer.

This is a great idea to use at parties. But don't forget your family either. They need something special too... Heloise

Dear Heloise: In making a sailor dress for my ten-year-old, I left the pattern pinned to the collar, cuffs, and front piece. Then I unthreaded the machine, and stitched through the pattern and the material on the lines marked for military braid.

I removed the pattern, and had perfect marking for sewing on the braid — no basting necessary. Just hold braid over needle holes. Works perfectly! Mrs. L.S.W.

Dear Heloise: When I make guacamole, instead of cutting the avocado skin, I roll it first with my hand until real soft. THEN I cut it and just scoop it out with a spoon and go from there.

This eliminates mashing and mashing with a fork. Also, if you don't want to use a spoon, just take half of the avocado and gently squeeze the meat out... Mrs. Joe Klonek

Rioting Students Lose Depression

If psychiatrists are right, unruly collegians — through their goal may not be that — still may rid themselves of mental depression by their behavior.

Some psychiatrists maintain that depression is simply hostility turned inward. If so, points out Dr. David Hamburg of Stanford University School of Medicine, rioting students may be curing at least some of their own neuroses.

Thompson Is Awarded Flying Cross

Capt. William L. Thompson, 27-year-old U.S. Air Force fighter pilot from Big Spring, has received the Distinguished Flying Cross at Pleiku AB, Vietnam, for his courageous defense of a U.S. Special Forces team trapped by the enemy near Kham Duc.

The A-1 Skyraider pilot flew in marginal weather over treacherous terrain to aid the besieged troops and then, with raw courage, braved a withering barrage of ground fire to hit the enemy. Capt. Thompson was cited for heroism and extraordinary aerial skill in protecting fellow servicemen and helping assure their subsequent rescue.

The captain, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thompson, 1608 Stadium, Big Spring, provides close air support for allied ground forces as a member of the 6th Special Operations Squadron.

He was commissioned in 1963 through Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Capt. Thompson, a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School, received his degree in 1963 from Rice University, Houston.

His wife, Carolyn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Sneed Sr., Seminole.

Lamesa Officer Awarded DFC

The Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC) has been awarded to U.S. Air Force Maj. Harvey J. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Stewart, 1014 N. 20th, Lamesa, for heroism in Southeast Asia.

Maj. Stewart, an F-100 Super Sabre pilot, scrambled from Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam, to protect U.S. Army troops which had been ambushed at dusk while returning to camp.

Darkness and ground fog along with heavy anti-aircraft fire and a malfunctioning directional indicator were overcome by the 15-year Air Force veteran to deliver his ordnance. The courageous attack by Maj. Stewart, extremely close to the defenders, prevented a human wave assault which would have annihilated the friendly troops. This outstanding heroism and devotion earned the major his second DFC in his distinguished career.

A Texas Technological College graduate, Maj. Stewart earned his B.S. degree in agriculture and received his commission there through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program in 1954.

Before leaving Vietnam this spring, the major was a member of the 90th Tactical Fighter Squadron at Bien Hoa. He is now an instructor pilot in the 4429th Combat Crew Training Squadron at Cannon AFB, N.M.

Smoot To Run For Senate?

AUSTIN (AP) — The American Party of Texas has asked Dan Smoot, a Dallas broadcaster, to be its candidate for the U.S. Senate in 1970.

But Smoot "is sort of in the same position as George Bush. He wants to wait awhile before deciding whether to run in 1970," said Bard Logan, state chairman of the American Party.

Bush, a Republican in the U.S. House, is considered the GOP's top choice to oppose Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., if the senator seeks re-election as he is expected to.

Logan, sitting in a House committee room while legislators in the nearby chamber debated a two-year spending bill, also passed out the American Party's official policy on the nine proposed amendments to the State Constitution.

Logan's statement says "none of the nine amendments is desirable" but specifically names four proposals which "should be resoundingly defeated."

And if just one had to be beaten, Logan said, it is No. 5 on the Aug. 5 ballot, the proposal to raise the annual state welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million.

"We believe there is too much chance for the lazy, the irresponsible, and the cunning to get in on welfare," Logan said. He said there is a "terror campaign" under way in an attempt to get the voters to approve the welfare amendment.

The other proposals which the American Party strongly opposes would repeal so-called necessary sections of the State Constitution, permit legislative pay raises and provide annual sessions of the legislature.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I usually go along with your advice, but you and I part company when it comes to one subject:

When a woman writes that her friend's husband is cheating on his wife, and asks if she should tip off the wife, you always say, "KEEP QUIET!"

I think you're wrong. I know of these cases where the husbands were cheating on their wives, and I tipped off the wives, and every one of them THANKED me for telling her.

If MY husband ever cheats on me, I would certainly want my friends to tip ME off. Sincerely,
FORT DODGE

DEAR FORT: Don't worry. They will.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged, happily married husband, and the father of three wonderful daughters, 18, 17 and 14.

I have had to travel much of the time, but when I'm home we share rather close quarters, and our daughters have grown up with very little "modesty"—even in front of their father.

For the last year I have found myself becoming embarrassingly stimulated by seeing my daughters in various stages of undress, and lounging around in their shorty-see-thru nighties.

Without revealing my problem to my wife, I suggested that she impress upon the girls the need for modesty, even around their father. She, too, scoffed until I cut out your column dealing with this subject, and placed it on her breakfast plate. Without a spoken word, all is now well.

Abby, I never would have touched my daughters, but the sight of a beautiful, nude female can excite any normal male, and he need not be "perverted" or a dirty old man to be aroused by his own daughter.

EMBARRASSED BUT HONEST
DEAR EMBARRASSED: It may interest you to know that I received many letters saying exactly what you have said. (And a few calling me a "dirty old lady" for having published the first one.)

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Migrant Labor Camps Report

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Church participation is slowly helping to improve the condition of migrant workers, which "at best can be described as poor," says a visiting Roman Catholic bishop from Texas.

Bishop Humberto S. Medeiros of Brownsville, Tex., made the report on completion of a tour of migrant worker sites in the Midwest.

His statement was released through the Michigan Catholic Conference.

The bishop said in his home diocese there are about 50,000 Spanish-speaking migrants who follow the crops every year among the 250,000 Catholics.

The bishop's tour took him through portions of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota and North Dakota. While in Michigan, he visited migrant labor camps in Berrien, Van Buren and Monroe counties.

Bishop Medeiros said he was pleased with the large number of concerned Christians at all levels of the community who are involved in helping migrant workers.

He said the migrant system is an evil that must come to an end. There is a need to retrain migrants because the total mechanization of farms is coming, the bishop said.

Bishop Backs Welfare Boost

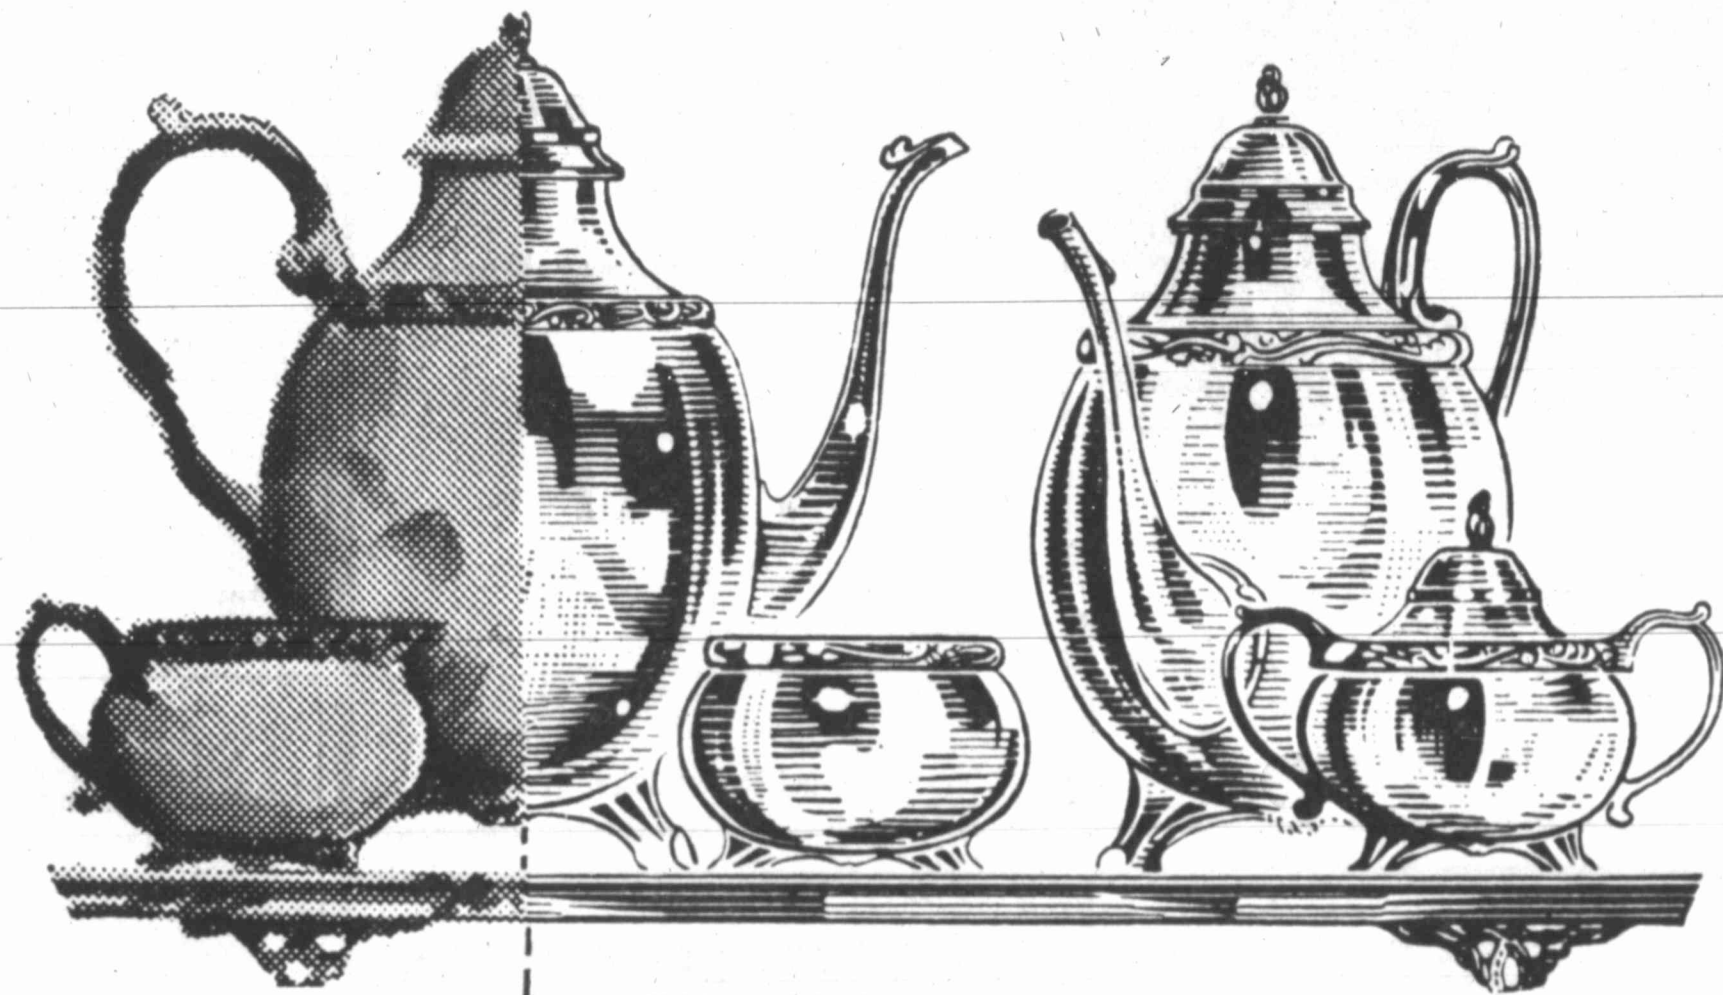

AUSTIN (AP) — The Archbishop-elect of the Roman Catholic San Antonio Archdiocese says his first act as a Texan will be to add his support to the proposed amendment that would raise the state welfare ceiling.

Bishop Francis J. Furey of San Diego, who will succeed Archbishop Robert E. Lucey Wednesday, noted in a statement released here that he will arrive in San Antonio Tuesday.

This is the same day that Texans will be voting on the welfare proposal, Amendment 5, and eight others.

"My first act as a citizen of Texas," Bishop Furey said, "will be to add my voice to those of the many religious leaders of the state, of all faiths, who have endorsed Amendment No. 5."

TELL OF HIJACKING — Capt. Jack L. Wilmot, of Moorestown, N.J., and stewardess Deborah Sullivan, of Los Angeles, Calif., tell newsmen at Miami, Fla., how a man hijacked their Trans World Airlines jet to Havana, Cuba, Thursday on a flight from St. Louis to Los Angeles. The hijacker held a razor to the throat of Miss Sullivan.

Bizarre Bid For Freedom

MIAMI (AP) — A prisoner under escort by two federal officers carried out a bizarre bid for freedom Thursday by pressing a razor blade to the throat of a teenage stewardess and hijacking a jetliner with 131 persons aboard to Cuba.

Trans World Airlines officials said they were unaware the passenger identified on their rolls as "L. Perry" was a prisoner until after he left the Boeing 727 at Havana's Jose Marti Airport.

In Pennsylvania, authorities said Lester Perry, 32, boarded an aircraft in Scranton with two federal officers who were escorting him to a California prison. They changed to TWA in Pittsburgh.

U.S. Marshal William Lavin and a prison guard, Joseph Hart were not available for comment when the plane returned to the United States.

The hijacking developed over Tulsa, Okla., as the jet flew westward on Flight 79 from Pennsylvania to Los Angeles. Stewardess Deborah Sullivan was the first to come in touch with the hijacker.

"He put a razor blade to my throat and told me to go into the cockpit," the 19-year-old re-haired stewardess said in Miami.

She said the hijacker also had picked up a wine bottle and held it and the blade, still pressed to her neck, for more than an hour as the jet flew south to the Gulf of Mexico and then to Cuba.

Thursday's hijacking was the 37th time this year an aircraft has been diverted to Cuba. There have been seven unsuccessful attempts.

Two skyjackers, one of whom failed in an attempt to force a Delta Airlines jet to the island nation, were sentenced to prison terms Thursday in U.S. District Court in Miami.

Willie Jessie, a 27-year-old Army deserter from Logan, W. Va., drew a 10-year sentence for forcing the pilot of a small rented aircraft to take him and his little girl to Cuba last year. Jessie and his daughter returned voluntarily to the United States last Jan. 10.

Kenneth McPeck, 31 of Orchard Lake, Mich., was sentenced to 15 years in prison after attempting to force the Delta jet to Havana. The hijack attempt failed when the pilot disregarded McPeck's shotgun and landed in Miami.

Judge Charles Fulton made a specific allowance in each case for parole after six months.

Police Pick Up Another Escapee

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Police picked up another of the nine prisoners Thursday who escaped the Jefferson County jail Sunday.

Ervin McDowell, 20, of Beaumont, was taken to the courthouse and identified by a jailer. Police Capt. C. B. McCulloch said McDowell admitted his identity. He had been picked up for investigation.

McDowell has been sentenced to seven years in prison for robbery by firearms.

One of the escapees remained at large Thursday. He is John Edward Gilliam, 22, of Beaumont, charged with breaking and entering a motor vehicle.

Authorities said 14 men tried to escape Sunday, but only nine made it out of the building.

Potential Taxes Pose Headaches

AUSTIN (AP) — With an array of potential taxes spread before it like a smorgasbord, a House subcommittee is trying to pick out morsels that won't give either the lobby or consumers indigestion.

Two days of hearings have loaded the five-man tax group down with chores ranging from a major increase in the sales tax to a corporation income tax.

Speaker Gus Mutscher hinted Thursday that the House will end up with something similar to the bland fare recommended by Gov. Preston Smith: a temporary corporate franchise tax boost, a half-penny on the dollar sales tax increase, raises in the current levies on cars and cigarettes and sales taxation of alcoholic beverages.

The House Tax Committee heard Smith's plan and a sales tax bill by committee chairman Ben Atwell of Dallas, on Wednesday.

Thursday, the committee listened to testimony on Port Arthur Rep. Carl Parker's corporation income tax bill and a number of less lucrative proposals.

Then all the bills went to Atwell's subcommittee. Mutscher said next Thursday is the probable day for the House to debate taxes.

Parker's bill would impose a 10 per cent levy on the federal income tax payments of corporations doing business in Texas. He said it would raise $240 million during the next two-year fiscal period.

Roy R. Evans, Texas AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, said he thought 15 per cent was a better rate.

The committee also heard and sent to the Atwell subcommittee bills that would:

- Increase the tax rates on oil from 4.6 cents to 6.6 cents per barrel and the natural gas tax from 7 to 9 per cent of market value.
- Levy special "severance taxes" on production of timber, building stone, asphalt, gypsum and other natural resources.
- Impose a securities transaction tax.

NEW PASTOR — Rev. O. D. Robertson (right), Mrs. Robertson, Aubrey and Gina have recently moved to Big Spring where Robertson will be pastor at the Church of God, Fourth and Galveston. He is a member of the state youth board for Churches of God in Texas.

New Pastor At Local Church

Rev. O. D. Robertson, a member of the state youth board for Churches of God in Texas, will take over as pastor at the Church of God, Fourth and Galveston, from Rev. Ray T. Hill. Hill has moved to Burk Burnett.

Robertson is from Iowa Park, Tex., and attended Southwestern Bible College in Waxahachie and Lee College in Cleveland, Tenn. He has done evangelistic work in Alabama and Texas, and has been pastor to churches in Pittsburg, Edgewood and Plainview.

The Robertsons have two children, Gina D'Ann, 7, and Aubrey Delane, 3.

Churches Back Amendment

Two Texas church organizations this week endorsed a proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the state legislature to spend an additional $20 million for the aged, blind, handicapped and poverty-stricken children in Texas.

The Christian Life Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas and the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Texas have asked their ministers to work for the approval of the amendment in the Aug. 4 special election.

The proposition will be Amendment Five in a list of nine recommended changes in the Texas Constitution, and will provide for raising the maximum aid to indigent persons from $60 million to $80 million per year.

"A larger percentage of people live in poverty in Texas than in any other state in the nation," said James Dunn, secretary of the Christian Life Commission, following unanimous approval of the endorsement.

"Many old people, scraping out a meager existence on welfare checks, will anxiously wait to discover whether that existence will be even more meager," he said. "The blind will be hurt if it fails to pass; the disabled will be hurt; hungry children will be hungrier."

Dunn asked the 1.8 million members of the Baptist General Convention to "avert tragedy in thousands of lives by working for the passage of Amendment Five."

Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden, executive minister of the Christian Church in Texas, sent letters from his Fort Worth office to the leaders of 473 congregations asking them to support the amendment. He said in his letter that Texas is one of the wealthiest states, but ranks 49th in assistance to dependent children and 44th in old age assistance.

Local Teen Attends Christian Youth Meet

Robin Hoover, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hoover, 1213 E. 16th, is one of 800 teenagers in Fort Worth this week for the annual Texas Youth Convention of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

Convention directors said the teens will have no chance to shut out the nation's crisis in human relations. They will hear speeches about the crisis, see plays dealing with it, sing songs based on it, consider resolutions addressing it, discuss possible solutions in "Encounter" groups and turn their only offering over to the church's urban emergency program, "Reconciliation."

The assembly opened at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday on the Texas

ROBIN HOOVER

Christian University campus and closed with a 7 a.m. Communion service Saturday.

Speech-making by adults was to be minimized and the five scheduled talks by youths were to be merely brief messages on aspects of the general theme, "Fulfill Your Ministry."

K. David Cole, consultant on special ministries for the Christian Church in Texas, minister of Denley Drive Christian Church and director of South Cliff Christian Center in Dallas, was to be the only adult speaker.

TCU theatre arts students presented "Even the Hater" Wednesday night, and delegates attended a performance of "West Side Story" Thursday night at Fort Worth's Casa Manana. The Covenant Players, a professional religious drama troupe, were to present short plays throughout the assembly.

In one of eight simultaneous "Encounter" sessions Thursday and today, the teens were to be taken on a bus trip through the inner city.

The kids in the grandstand are yelling, "Strike him out!" and our young pitcher is going to do exactly that. This is his day for a shut-out game . . . his day to win.

He's feeling pretty good about it, and who's to blame him? But what if things had gone the other way? What if some other boy had been warming up in the bullpen, about to have taken his place? But he is a well-balanced youngster, and he would have taken that in stride, too.

He has learned about being a good sport, about regard for his fellow men, and about many other equally important things in Church. For, like thousands of other American youngsters, the Church already plays an important part in his life. That is one reason why his parents have faith in the fact that he will grow up to be a pretty fine man.

Provides For Tax Relief Of 'Poor'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Having completed a $7 billion tightening of the Internal Revenue Code, House tax reformers declared a tax relief dividend for all but the very rich.

Specialists for the House Ways and Means Committee forecast Thursday that by 1975 the reforms drafted by the panel would balance out with about $7 billion in new revenue and a like amount in tax reductions.

The first and biggest beneficiaries would be those at the low end of the income scale, but by 1972 all but the richest taxpayers—those with yearly incomes over $100,000—could look for at least a 5 per cent cut, the committee reported.

The bill—described by one member as bigger than a mail order catalog—is scheduled for House debate starting next Wednesday.

On the benefit side are general rate reductions in 1971 and 1972; special allowances to take

Research Grant

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The National Institute of Health has awarded a research grant to Dr. J. Durward Smith of Texas Christian University. The grant will expand laboratory study of DNA—Deoxyribonucleic acid—called the "master chemical of life" and the most important substance of every living cell.

some 2 million poor families off the tax rolls entirely, and tax cuts ranging up to 63 per cent in the lowest brackets.

The standard deduction, used by those who do not itemize would go up by 1972 from the present 10 per cent with a $1,000 ceiling, to 15 per cent with a $2,000 ceiling.

There are provisions to aid widows and widowers with children and single persons 35 or older who maintain households.

The maximum rate on earned income would go down from 70 to 50 per cent—but in the very highest brackets the reduction might be offset by crackdowns on tax advantages.

The biggest single revenue raiser is repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit on business outlays for equipment, worth ultimately $3.3 billion.

Perhaps more eye catching, however, is a slash in the oil and gas depletion allowance from 27.5 to 20 per cent, accompanied by trimmings in other tax preferences available to the petroleum industry.

A minimum income tax was devised for persons who might still, despite the paring of separate tax advantages, have more than half their income sheltered from the tax collector.

Foundations would be taxed for the first time—at 7.5 per cent of their investment income.

More than a score of other provisions affect capital gains, real estate depreciation, farm losses, the unrelated business income of churches and other hitherto preferred items.

Sixth Juror Accepted For Trial Of Durbin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two men whose former occupations would seem to have weighed heavily against their selection have become the fifth and sixth jurors in the Clyde Durbin Jr. murder trial.

The trial enters its fifth day today.

Durbin, 22, is charged in the slaying of John Albert White, 21, Jan. 8. He also is charged in Burnet in the slaying of White's picnic date, Miss Keltha Morris, 19.

FORMER SERGEANT

The two jurors picked Thursday are:

—Hubert D. Reese, 40, who formerly headed the data processing division of the State Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. A native of Oklahoma City, he now works in the vocational rehabilitation division of the Texas Education Agency. He is a member of the Church of Christ. He is married but has no children.

—Milburn Nink, 52, a square-headed, former master sergeant in the Army, with combat experience in World War II and Korea. He is the building manager for a local bank and has one daughter, 24.

Since the defense has pounded hard at insanity and mental illness during questioning of prospective jurors, the state was not expected to accept a former employee of the Mental Health Department on the jury.

Reese has an angular face and frequently tightens a jaw muscle that is visible two-thirds of the way to his eye. His conversation is sprinkled with words like "perfunctory."

"FIRING SQUAD"

Asked if he would consider "motives or lack of a motive" in sentencing a convicted murderer, Reese said: "Sure."

He also said he would consider mental illness.

Nink, the ex-sergeant, stuttered. Asked if he had compassion for mentally ill persons, he said he did.

"I thank God that I don't have it (mental illness) I have an affliction, an impediment in my speech. I am thankful I have everything else," Nink said.

His mother-in-law has two sisters in state hospitals, he said.

On the subject of mental illness, Nink asked Durbin's lawyer, Frank Maloney, "Have you ever been in battle?"

Maloney said he had.

"I heard you were burned in the war. I've seen them (men in battle) one day cuckoo as a bat," Nink said.

Maloney is blind in one eye.

the result of a land mine explosion in Korea.

Earlier, Nink told Maloney: "Maybe I'm saying something I shouldn't. Over in Africa (in World War II), our soldiers were raping and murdering... it wasn't advertised." He said the "firing squad" saved lives as a deterrent.

PRETTY CHEAP

"Human life on the battle field wasn't worth . . ." and he snapped his fingers.

Another time, he said: "You've really got to be sure before giving the death penalty."

Each side had used eight of its 15 peremptory challenges through Thursday. Of the 47 prospective jurors questioned during the first four days, 19, or 40 per cent, said they could never vote for the death penalty.

The defense used one of its challenges on a pretty, blonde registered nurse, 26.

The soft-spoken but tense questioning of the trial was broken for the first time Thursday when Dist. Atty. Bob Smith jumped to his feet and challenged Maloney's "misstatement of the law."

A prospective juror had said he was confused at one point. Maloney said: "I'm sure that's what Mr. Smith is trying to do right now."

"Your Honor, we resent that and we object to Mr. Maloney's misstatement of the law," Smith shouted.

Smith said Maloney was trying to link insanity with the probable definition of "voluntary" in the judge's charge to the jury on murder with malice.

Throughout the jury selection, the defendant has sat so still, his presence is almost forgotten.

At the first night session Thursday, the bailiff whispered something to Durbin's guard, then moved to another seat and began to watch the 15 spectators closely. The guard shook his head "no" at the bailiff, then half an hour later, shook his head "yes," when a

Flood Waters Roll Onto Small Mining Community

TELLURIDE, Colo. (AP) — Flood waters rolled out of high mountain canyons onto this small mining town Thursday night, destroying five homes and sending water up to 10 feet deep churning through sections of the community.

Officials said there were no injuries.

Five homes on the banks of Cornet Creek were destroyed when the water, choked with mud, rocks and silt, went over the banks and into the north-west section of town. One witness said water was up to 10 feet deep and as much as 150 feet wide at one point.

Officials said a sudden rain Thursday morning in mountain valleys above the town were partial reasons for the flood.

Town marshal Ebert Morrow said about 30 families were evacuated from their homes.

Prevented from taking one tributary of the stream by boulders lodged from a previous flood in 1914, the waters swirled into town, sweeping away cars, blocking streets and damaging the homes.

More than 200 men began cleanup work almost immediately after the flood. It lasted only around one hour, authorities said. Most of the water had receded by midnight and bulldozers were put into use to help remove mud and rocks.

Telluride, high in the Colorado mountains, has a population of around 650.
