AT RED CONGRESS

Kremlin Assails Romania

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — The Soviet Union assailed Romania's economic and political contacts with the West today and expressed official displeasure at President Nixon's weekend visit to Bucharest.

The attack was delivered in a speech to the 10th congress of the Romanian Communist party by Konstantin Katushev, chief of the Soviet delegation. As is usual in Communist practice, he mentioned no names or countries, but his references were unmistakable.

He spoke of "the perfidious tactic of building bridges" to drive a wedge between socialist countries and singled out economic agreements, which he said amount to ideological penetration.

This was an obvious reference to Nixon's trip, officially billed as an East-West bridge-building effort, and to Romania's many economic contacts with Western countries.

In his 19-minute speech, Katushev also said that defense against imperialism depends on cooperation between socialist countries and that developments in Vietnam were an example of this.

Nixon Sends Congress Mass Transit Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon proposed to Congress today a $10-billion, 12-year program to help build and expand local bus, rail and subway transportation.

The money would be used to help both public and private efforts to provide better service.

Nixon noted in a message to the House and Senate that there is a magnificent federally aided highway system, but that about one fourth of the population lacks access to a car.

"Moreover," he said, "until we make public transportation an attractive alternative to private car use, we will never be able to build highways fast enough to avoid congestion. As we survey the increasing congestion of our roads and strangulation of our cities today we can imagine what our plight will be when our urban population adds 100 million by the year 2000."

Specifically, Nixon called on Congress to establish a program authorizing $3.1 billion for the first five years of the 12-year span. This would begin with $300 million the first year and climb to $1 billion annually by 1975. He said he also wanted renewal of this authority every two years so that outstanding contract authorization never would be for a shorter period than three years.

Over the 12-year stretch, $500 million would go for research and development. The rest of the $10 billion would be for capital investments.

BUS SYSTEMS
"The program which I am recommending," he amplified, "would help to replace, improve and expand local bus, rail and subway systems. It would help to develop and modernize subway tracks, stations and terminals; it would help to build and improve rail-train tracks and stations, new bus terminals and garages."

"The program would authorize systems to private as well as public transit systems so that private enterprise can continue to provide public services in urban transportation."

Nixon contended federal help is needed because public transportation systems ordinarily can't be financed by fares alone.

He said the higher fares usually result in fewer riders, thus taking much of the "mass" out of mass transit and defeating the social and economic purpose of the system.

One problem today, the President said, is that transit systems rely for revenues on persons who have to use them without appealing to those who have a choice of using them or not. He said this produces a self-defeating cycle of fewer riders, higher fares, lower revenues, worse facilities, and still fewer riders.

MORE RIDERS
"The way to break that cycle," Nixon said, "is to make public transit truly attractive and convenient. In this way, more riders will provide more revenues, and fares can be kept down while further efficiencies can be introduced."

While the financial emphasis of the presidential program would be on capital improvement, he said he was proposing substantial research and technology directed at new ways of making public transit more appealing to private car owners.

In this connection, Nixon spoke of advanced design of buses and trains to permit easier boarding and alighting, improved interiors to increase convenience and security for bus and train riders, and new traffic control systems to expedite bus runs over streets and highways.

Commsies Raid U. S. Hospital, Blast School

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong staged two sensational attacks today, penetrating the supposedly secure U.S. base at Cam Ranh Bay, hurling bombs and firing rifles at hospital patients, and setting off a bomb in front of an American-run language school in Saigon. Casualties were heavy for both.

The U.S. Command said two Americans were killed and 57 wounded as the Viet Cong rampaged through a block-long Army convalescent hospital in Cam Ranh Bay, 195 miles northeast of Saigon. All except four of the wounded were patients.

The four were members of the hospital staff. The Viet Cong did not lose a man.

BOMB SET OFF
Military spokesmen said Viet Cong terrorists set off a 60-pound bomb in front of the language school in Saigon, killing eight Vietnamese and wounding 62, including 23 U.S. Air Force men. Three of the Americans were hospitalized.

The dead were five civilians and three soldiers. Of the wounded, 30 were Vietnamese civilians and three were Thai soldiers.

The school is staffed by U.S. Air Force personnel who teach English to members of the South Vietnamese armed forces. It is located across the street from a Vietnamese hotel.

Damage to buildings was heavy in both attacks. Associated Press Writer Rick Merron reported from Cam Ranh Bay that more than a dozen buildings were destroyed or damaged, including several wards, two officers barracks and the chapel.

In Saigon, a spokesman said the school was 30 per cent destroyed and 14 other buildings were heavily damaged or destroyed. It was the first serious terrorist attack in the Saigon since June 25, when a bomb wrecked a government postal substation.

BOOBY TRAPS
The spokesman reported the escaping terrorists planted booby traps wrapped in pink paper and at least one other bomb in the neighborhood but all failed to explode.

Cam Ranh Bay was considered the most secure of all U.S. bases in Vietnam, and the attack caught the Americans by surprise.

There were 732 patients in the hospital, most of them recovering from illnesses rather than battle wounds. First reports said 99 Americans were wounded and 10 others were missing. Later the wounded toll was reduced, and a U.S. Command spokesman said he had no reports of any missing.

The huge coastal base at Cam Ranh Bay has been considered the American installation in Vietnam least vulnerable to attack. It was for that reason that it was picked as the site for President Lyndon B. Johnson's two visits to Vietnam, in October, 1966, and December, 1967.

FIRST TIME
The U.S. Command said it was the first time the hospital had been attacked in the three years it has been operating and was the first attack on the Cam Ranh peninsula in nearly a year.

The small Viet Cong band cut through the barbed wire around the hospital compound apparently without alerting anyone.

Moving through darkness, the raiders slipped by trip wires that would have set off defensive flares and a series of sandbagged bunkers manned by American guards. The commandos were in the center of the compound before they made their presence known, and escaped less than half an hour later, apparently via the same cut in the fence that they used to enter.

Some Americans at the hospital thought that a Viet Cong agent working at the hospital might have passed a map of the compound to the Communist command. Some officers said the raiders knew exactly where the officers' quarters were located. Photographer Merron said Vietnamese employed at the hospital were sent home this morning.

Capt. Priscilla Bodde, 24, a pretty blonde nurse from West Point, N.Y., was sleeping in her trailer when the explosions started.

"The last thing I thought about was danger," she said. "Cam Ranh is supposed to be the safest place in Vietnam. I immediately ran to the bunker. From the bunker, I could see two bachelor officers' quarters on fire."

"I thought it was incoming mortars or rockets. It didn't occur to me that the enemy was right there until I heard small arms fire."

The patients were in one-story wooden ward buildings with sheet metal roofs, each containing 38 beds. The compound also contained craft shops, a small movie theater, a large library, administration buildings, staff quarters and a beach for the patients.

(AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

RED RAIDS — Map locates site of Cam Ranh Bay air base where Viet Cong terrorists raided a U.S. military hospital Wednesday. Two Americans were killed and 57 others wounded in the attack.

"The ward doors were locked," said Sgt. Michael Lackey of Mount Prospect, Ill., a member of the hospital staff. "They threw satchel charges on the outside (which blew open the doors). As the patients ran out of the wards, other enemy troops on top of a hill overlooking the compound opened fire with AK47 assault rifles."

The Cam Ranh Bay bases are located on an isolated peninsula 15 miles long and with an area of about 100 square miles. The U.S. Navy has the southern tip, the Army the central part, then comes an Air Force base with a fighter-bomber wing, and at the northern end an Army replacement center and the convalescent hospital. The Army supply depot is the biggest military installation of its kind.

Planning Splendiferous Event For Apollo Astros

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House planning is splendiferous for the Apollo 11 astronauts dinner in Los Angeles with a guest list of 1,500 including the 50 governors, diplomats, Charles Lindbergh and Jack Benny.

The black tie dinner Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Century Plaza Hotel will be 10 times anything ever held at the White House. No one knows yet how much it will cost, but President Nixon is springing for the check.

Lunar mission astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins will find their way to the table through tickertape parades in New York and Chicago. They get out of quarantine Monday.

Invitations, placecards, the menu, entertainment have been decided by the White House social and protocol staffs. But the hotel, a favorite with Nixon aides, will produce the dinner, furnishing the china, crystal and tableware as well.

The White House asked former President Harry S. Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson to be there. Truman sent his regrets for health reasons. Johnson said he wouldn't come because his wife, Lady Bird, would be out of the country visiting friends. President John Kennedy's widow, Mrs. Jacqueline Onassis also sent regrets.

The guest list is intended to reflect a cross section of America with a heavy dose of congressmen and aviation pioneers included.

The menu: salmon poached in champagne and garnished with prawns, oysters and truffles; filet of beef, artichokes, baby carrots, California bibb lettuce salad with mixed cheeses, and an ice cream dessert called "Claire de Lune (moonlight)."

Music will be provided by the U.S. Marine Band and its Drum and Bugle Corps, the Army and Air Force Strolling Strings and the Army Chorus.

Pre-Hearing Meet Tonight

City officials hope all interested persons will attend the pre-budget meeting scheduled today at 7:30 p.m. in the city commission room, according to Larry Crow, city manager.

The purpose of the meeting, he said, is not to discuss the budget, because it hasn't been completed yet, but to get ideas from the public on what might be added to or deleted from it.

"The city commission is interested in what the public thinks," Crow said; "the meeting is an effort to learn the thinking of the public so it can be incorporated into the city's thinking."

Crow said good suggestions came from a similar meeting earlier this year before the present budget was adopted.

"Contrary to what some might think," he said, "the city has real budget problems. For example, besides the costs of inflation, water sales this year have generally been lower than last year, but water costs have greatly increased."

Arrest Escapee

AUSTIN (AP) — The third escapee from a July 20 break at the Brown County jail in Brownwood was arrested today near Austin and was held in the Travis County jail.

Officers said they arrested Raymond Deleont Martinez, 22, as he drove from San Marcos. He had been held in Brownwood on armed robbery charges.

The two other men who escaped with Martinez were caught the same day.

Welcomes Chancellor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger began their first round of talks today after a formal greeting ceremony on the south lawn of the White House.

The talks are expected to center on European security problems and East-West relations. No immediate decisions are expected.

However, West German sources said Kiesinger is prepared to tell Nixon of his government's intentions to work for better relations with Poland and the countries of eastern Europe.

Kiesinger was greeted by Nixon, Acting Secretary of State Elliot L. Richardson and Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Treasure Returned

AUSTIN (AP) — Treasure removed from a sunken Spanish galleon that was taken to Gary, Ind., has been returned to Texas as a part of the growing controversy at high levels of state government.

The treasure was recovered off the Texas coast by Platoro Ltd. of Gary under what he believed was an agreement with Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Much of the treasure was kept in Texas and then Sadler and others demanded a return of that portion taken to Indiana.

Consumer-Type Tax Measure Awaits House Debate Today

AUSTIN (AP) — A $328 million, consumer-type tax bill that already has aroused Senate tempers awaited House debate today.

The measure was set for consideration at 9:30 a.m.

A long, angry debate—watched anxiously by corporation lobbyists who hope to escape new direct business taxes this session—was expected.

As reported favorably by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday, the bill would:

—Raise the state sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent, for $137.2 million over the next two years.

—Include intrastate telephone and telegraph service, laundry, dry cleaning, appliance and furniture repairs, clock, watch and jewelry repairs, and auto repairs and parking fees under the sales tax, raising an estimated $104.3 million.

—Increase the cigarette tax from 11 to 16 cents per package, for an estimated $77.9 million.

—Gradually repeal the chain store tax over the next six years, losing $2 million in revenue in 1970-71.

—"Equalize" utility taxes by lowering the gross receipts taxes on telephone and telegraph companies to match those paid by gas and electric firms, giving away $5.7 million in revenue.

—Impose a 3½ per cent entertainment tax on tickets to professional sports, night club cover charges and admissions to amusement parks and tourist attractions, for $16.9 million in new revenue.

The present admissions tax on movies, theatres, horse and car races and similar taxes would remain at 10 per cent.

Mayors angrily protested to state leaders Wednesday because the original bill failed to apply the city sales tax to services and channeled what would have been the cities' share to the state.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston served notice he would "tag" the tax bill if it came over from the house in its original form. This would force a 48-hour delay in a senate state affairs committee hearing on the measure.

Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin who has been fighting for state regulation of telephone and electricity rates, condemned the bill Wednesday for reducing telephone company gross receipts taxes.

"They're reducing the tax by $5.7 million and say that's all right because they are going to put the telephone companies under the sales tax," Wilson said. "Southwestern Bell is the most profitable phone company in the United States, and Texas is their most profitable state," he went on.

"That means to me that the telephone lobby has more influence on the tax subcommittee in the house than the people do," Schwartz said.

Kennedy Accident Inquest Rules Due

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund A. Dinis said he would meet today with Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown District Court to set up rules for an inquest into the fatal automobile accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Dinis exercised the mandatory powers of his office under the law to call Wednesday for the inquest. Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington, D.C., a passenger in the car Kennedy was driving, drowned when it went off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island July 18.

Kennedy heads a list of at least 24 persons who may be called to testify.

"I have made no determination on calling the senator yet,"

Dinis said, Kennedy has said he would "cooperate fully" if an inquest is held.

Dinis said he would press for exhumation of Miss Kopechne's body for an autopsy.

Joseph Kopechne, father of the victim, said in Berkeley Heights, N.J., Wednesday he would "welcome an inquest," but would go to court if necessary to prevent an autopsy.

Kopechne's wife, Gwen, commented: "We just feel that an inquest is the only way the public will be satisfied."

"We want to get it over with. That is the only way to stop some of the hate mail and nasty rumors. The people want to know. They want some answers."

BULLETIN

AUSTIN (AP) — The House refused today to table an amendment that would strip from the $328 million consumer-type tax bill a provision extending the sales tax to laundry, dry cleaning, repairs and parking.

'Naked Came The Stranger' Book Exploits Sex In Hoax

NEW YORK (AP) — Three years ago, a Long Island newspaper columnist and 24 friends set out to write a bad sex novel in an elaborate hoax to prove that a book doesn't have to be good for the American public to buy a lot of copies.

They succeeded.

"Naked Came the Stranger," written under the collective pseudonym of "Penelope Ashe," has already sold nearly 20,000 copies at $5.95 each, paperback rights have been sold and 18 movie companies are interested.

Wednesday by Mike McGrady, a stocky, cigar-smoking columnist for Newsday, who conceived the idea in the spring of 1966.

SEX SET

"I was really fed up with people like Harold Robbins and Jacqueline Susann," he said. "I saw the writing that was being accepted and it seemed absurd."

On June 13, 1966, he circulated copies of a four-page story outline to 100 persons, most of them editors and writers at Newsday. Twenty-four accepted the invitation, including five women and Gene Goltz, who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1965 with the Houston Post and shared in another Pulitzer last year at the Detroit Free Press.

"True excellence in writing will be blue-penciled into oblivion," McGrady warned. "There will be an unremitting emphasis on sex."

His basic story line centered on the sexual exploits of one Gillian Blake, the female half of "The Billy & Gilly Show," a radio program featuring "America's sweethearts of the air."

McGrady set the location in "King's Neck, Long Island," "steaming suburban jungle within sight of Manhattan's brightest lights," and asked each author to write one chapter, without knowing what the others were doing.

The book was written in three weeks and the 35-year-old columnist was quite pleased with the results.

BAD ENOUGH

"Everyone handed in a chapter and most were bad enough to merit consideration. They had to be very commercial and very sexy; the kind of writing one has come to expect of Jacqueline Susann ('Valley of the Dolls,' 'The Love Machine') over the years," McGrady said. "Some of the chapters were too good and had to be sent back for revisions."

The authors sometimes had problems in uniformly describing the characters.

"Four chapters have described Gillian's body in terms of alabaster; two have insisted she is heavily tanned," Mc-

Grady noted in one style memo to his cohorts. "For future reference: She will be lightly tanned during the summer months. The word alabaster will be appropriate beginning mid-way through November."

Because of other commitments, including a reporting assignment in Vietnam, McGrady finished editing only half the book. He then turned it over to fellow conspirator and Newsday columnist, Harvey Aronson, 40, who finished the last half.

In early 1968, both began putting the finishing touches on the book. Last fall McGrady had his sister-in-law, Billie Young, a Long Island housewife with six children, pose as Penelope Ashe and approach a publisher with the manuscript. Billie also is a writer.

Lyle Stuart of Lyle Stuart, Inc., liked the book, even before they filled him in on the hoax, and contracted to publish it.

In the meantime, Billie has been appearing on talk shows as Penelope to boost book sales, sporting clichés such as, "A writer's got to impale his guts on the typewriter."

Since they have to split up the sales money equally the authors will not get rich. They don't expect to receive more than $4,000 each.

They're also thinking of doing a sequel.

"I wanted to call it 'Son of Naked Came the Stranger,'" Aronson said, "but Mike came up with a better one: 'Stranger than Naked.'"

Four Big Spring men enlisted in the US Army during July, according to S. Sgt. Larry A. West, local recruiter.

These include Thomas Henry Switzer, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis Switzer of 1807 S. Monticello, who went into the Army airborne; John R. Turner, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Turner of 1026 Birdwell Lane, who went into the Army transportation corps; Ricky R. Miller, 18, son of Air Force Sgt. and Mrs. Chester M. Miller, 3401 Airport St., who went into Army aircraft maintenance field; and Danny Ray Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Welch of 3239 Drexel, who re-enlisted in the Army at Fort Bliss.

Scattered Showers Ease Out Of Weather Picture

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers eased out of the Texas weather picture early today, but were scheduled to ease back in later.

Isolated thundershowers fell on parts of extreme West Texas before dawn, breaking up a mostly clear pattern across the state. By dawn, the rains dissipated, leaving partly cloudy skies.

Some clouds were reported in Central Texas and along the Lower Coast, with clear skies over the rest of the state. Early temperatures were in the mid-70s and low 80s.

The Weather Bureau predicted scattered showers and thundershowers in West Texas, the Panhandle and along the Coast, beginning in the afternoon.

Hot temperatures were expected in all sections.

6 Arab Saboteurs Sentenced To Life

By The Associated Press

Six Arab saboteurs captured May 4 in a skirmish with an Israeli Army patrol were sentenced to life imprisonment by a military court Wednesday.

The army said four of them had blown up a railway line to Beersheba and threw hand grenades in occupied Hebron, killing one man.

A seventh member of the Al Fatah sabotage unit was killed in the clash. The six pleaded guilty.

In a brief missile attack Wednesday night, Arab gunners in Jordan fired rockets into the Nahal Golan settlement on the occupied Golan Heights of Syria, the Israeli Army said. No one was hurt.

Earlier in the day, Israeli jets attacked military positions just inside Jordan. An Israeli spokesman said the 11 planes returned safely after hitting gun positions in reprisal for Arab artillery and mortar attacks. A Jordanian military spokesman at Amman said the planes were chased off by ground fire after hitting two villages and killing one Jordanian soldier and wounding four.

Fighting flared along the Suez Canal for the fourth straight day Thursday, the Israeli army announced. Two Israeli soldiers were wounded near the Great Bitter Lakes region, a spokesman said.

The bidding: South West North East
2 NT Pass 4 NT Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Nine of ♠

By counting out declarer's holding on the basis of his opening bid, West was able to contrive a plan that lured South to his downfall.

North and South reached their small slam in no trump on a straightforward addition of their high card assets, and West opened fire with the nine of spades. Declarer could count 11 top tricks as soon as the ace of hearts was disclosed. There were three prospects for a 12th.

[1] If East has the ace of hearts, repeated heart leads from dummy will force him to play it before South releases any of his honor cards in the suit; [2] If hearts divide three-three, declarer's long heart will set up; [3] If all else fails, South can fall back on a finesse for the queen of diamonds.

In order to test his prospects in the proper sequence, South won the opening lead in dummy with the ten of spades in order to play a heart. The queen was put up from the closed hand, and West followed without undue delay with the deuce of hearts. The North hand was reentered by overtaking the jack of clubs with the queen in order to play another heart. South played the king this time and West once more permitted declarer to win the trick.

Inasmuch as the ace of hearts was apparently located in the East hand, declarer crossed to dummy again in spades and led another heart in order to set up the fulfilling trick. When East showed out, the true situation was of course revealed but, unfortunately for poor South, it was too late for him to do anything about it. West withheld his ace of hearts no longer, and he hastened to cash out the setting trick in that suit.

What inspired West to defend in this adroit manner? By merely adding his six high card points to the dummy's 12, he could readily determine that South required every one of the missing 22 points to justify his two no trump opening. This meant, of course, that if two heart tricks were not sufficient to swell declarer's total to the required 12, a tailor made diamond finesse was available to him.

In order to steer his opponent away from a play that was bound to succeed, West had, of necessity, to paint a false picture in the heart suit. His success was well earned.

Whit Carroll's pig's got a spigot that won't quit. When it came to littering Tuesday, she ran the number up to 21 in four successive tries, and Whit began to wonder how to shut her off. It all started innocently enough around noon when he noticed that a red Duroc sow had begun her third litter at his place southwest of town. He counted six pigs and mentally noted this wasn't particularly a bumper crop. An hour and a half later he checked to see how the piglets were doing, and behold there were seven more. A couple of hours later, with some trepidation, he checked again, and behold there were twelve. Still two hours later he peeped cautiously over the fence for another census, and sure enough it was up to 21. It was getting late, so the Duroc called it a day. Four of the little pigs didn't survive the mass arrival, and during the night, mama pig rolled over on four others, leaving 13. This will be a lucky number if they all make it, Carroll figures.

Gov. Maddox Lambasts Newsmen, Hails Tutors

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox has lambasted newsmen, lauded educators, and laughed at the indifference of other Southern officials in his running battle of block federal efforts to force desegregation of all Georgia schools. On Wednesday, the governor accused two newsmen of "betraying the government" and "sneaking" in obtaining a tape of his remarks urging defiance of a federal suit to force state-wide desegregation, filed by the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW). He hailed the Georgia Education as his ally against HEW, after GEA directors urged opposition to any efforts to defy federal integration laws. Maddox claims it is HEW, and not him, urging defiance of the law. NO BUSINESS — Said of the overwhelmingly negative response to his call for Southern officials to hold a unity conference here, "A lot of them have denied this opportunity and that's no skin off my back." — Sent out the first of some 100,000 petitions calling for an end to federal control over public schools. Maddox said two Capitol newsmen were wrong to "sneak in and slip in the governor's office. They had no business in my office on my tape." However, the reporters readily obtained the recording of a July 9 news conference from Maddox's press department, after the governor issued a statement regarding he had been misrepresented. Maddox included in the statement a quote which he said had been his reply to a question about whether Georgia schools might be closed as a result of the precedent-setting HEW suit against the State Board of Education. HEW contends the state board should enforce desegregation in all school districts. The board contends it does not have that authority. SLAVE CHILDREN — Maddox said in his statement that his reply was, "I certainly do not and don't foresee this happening." That reply is not on the news conference tape, newsmen found. The governor's recorded reply is, "If necessary, close our schools for a month, or a year or two years. It'd be better to have free children than slave children." He added "I don't think I have the authority to (close public schools). But I think it would be best to close our schools than to surrender any further to the Communists." Maddox said of the GEA, "Thank God the GEA is finally joining with me." Directors of the 30,000-member organization, declaring "school people need help not stumbling blocks," urged teachers to preserve the public school system and educate all students without discrimination. The governor, however, maintains that it is HEW—not him—which is urging defiance of the law. Thus when the GEA urges compliance with the law, it is supporting his position, he concluded. Maddox appeared resigned to the fact that few Southern officials are answering his call for a mass meeting here Aug. 16 to discuss unity in the face of federal control. So far, only Mississippi Gov. John Bell Williams has accepted. Alabama Gov. Albert Brewer said Wednesday he will send State School Supt. Ernest Stone.

City Of Nome To Sue Alaska
NOME, Alaska (AP) — The city of Nome announced Wednesday its intention to sue the state of Alaska for unpaid real property taxes. City Manager Ed Giotlety said the state is in arrears $8,800 in real property taxes on the North Star Hotel.

ONE-VOTE MARGIN

Courtship Shapes Safeguard Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — After all the days of technical testimony, the weeks of debate, it was the courtship of Margaret Chase Smith which shaped the crucial hours of the Senate's Safeguard battle. It made no difference that the silver-haired senator from Maine voted with one set of suitors against the administration missile defense plan, then switched sides in a second vote. The opposition lost both, and the administration program was approved by the one-vote margin President Nixon himself had forecast as a possibility some five months ago. Sen. Smith, senior Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, came to the climactic session with an amendment designed to block all spending for the Safeguard system. NO CONFIDENCE — She said she had no confidence in it, and couldn't justify spending money even for research. Advocates of the system were certain that amendment would be defeated. And they forecast that when it was, Mrs. Smith would vote against the major obstacle to the system, an amendment to bar deployment but permit continued research and testing of Safeguard. They were right, twice. But they had some anxious moments. At the outset, advocates and foes of Safeguard took turns praising Mrs. Smith. But Safeguard proponents, who had discounted her original amendment, reacted with concern when Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., proposed blending it with the legislation which was the chief vehicle of Safeguard foes. His suggestion: alter the Smith amendment to permit continued research and development work on an anti-ballistic missile, just so the Safeguard wasn't the system involved. Mrs. Smith agreed, but everyone else had to agree, too, in order to make the change in her amendment. A bit off balance at the prospect of a new alliance, Safeguard proponents quickly objected to any change. Then came a calculated delay. Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, suggested the Senate take a break from business and welcome Horace M. King, speaker of Great Britain's House of Commons. Mansfield then suggested a call of the roll, a common delaying tactic, to permit senators to shake hands with the speaker. While that was going on, Mansfield and a bloc of ABM foes conferred with Mrs. Smith. Among them: Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., sponsor of what had been the key opposition amendment. That session produced an alliance. Mrs. Smith would propose a second amendment, designed to bar any Safeguard spending, but permitting the Pentagon to go ahead with efforts to invent a better system. 'THIS IS TRAGIC' — Back on the floor, the Senate voted 89 to 11 against Mrs. Smith's Safeguard ban, argued some more, then got her second proposal. By that time, the ABM sponsors had cooled toward Mrs. Smith.

Seminole Prepares For Mental Health Center

Seminole is scheduled to become the third city in this area with a community mental health center. Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, said that Gaines County officials had set Aug. 19, as the date for a public meeting to explain the functions and operations of the new facility. He and several members of the professional staff of the state hospital appear at a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 19 as will Dr. John Miller and Dr. Jerome Smith, Lubbock, consultants for BSSH. Dr. Smith will serve as clinician and will visit the clinic every Tuesday. Other staff members will include a nurse to serve as drug-check clinician; a case worker to conduct interviews and set up the Tuesday appointments between Dr. Smith and the new visitors or prior patients. Dr. Harrison and others will discuss the problems of mental health, and the services which may be furnished through the community center. It maintains contact with the state hospital here as its service center. The Circuit Rider program will serve the center as it does the three established ones at Colorado City, Snyder and Lamesa.

Here's Humane Alternative

CHICAGO (AP) — A tear gas first aid device is the newest item police officers will carry to offset the danger of after-effects attendant with spraying the disorderly with the tear-producing gas. A mild antiseptic, the tear gas antidote can be sprayed on affected skin areas to provide instant relief. Available in aerosol pressured cans, the TGA was developed by Partner Industries, a Chicago firm. It was developed because of increasing criticism of tear gas by legislators. Yet, most law enforcement officials agree that non-lethal chemical weapons are an effective, humane alternative to firearms and other forms of physical force.

"This is tragic," said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss. There was talk of a move to prevent consideration of the new Smith amendment on grounds it was little different from the first one. There were huddles between Stennis, Republicans John Tower of Texas and Barry Goldwater of Arizona. Through it all, Mrs. Smith sat, imperturbable, in her front row-left seat. Even as the debate wore on, critics of Safeguard knew their cause was lost. AGAINST SPENDING — What it came down to was that ABM foes lost both ways. The first roll call, on Mrs. Smith's proposal, was beaten on a tie vote. It takes a Senate majority to approve an amendment. Actually, the final count was 51 to 50, since Vice President Spiro T. Agnew cast a symbolic tie-breaking vote for the administration position. Then came the vote on the amendment to prevent deployment, and Mrs. Smith switched sides. "I've been against the ABM system from the beginning," she said. So her final vote was against spending any money for Safeguard research—even though it put her on the side of senators who want both that and deployment.

TWO SIDED ISSUE — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, speaks with reporters after yesterday's Senate session on the Safeguard missile defense system. Sen. Smith's amendment was defeated early in the day and during the later vote on the Cooper-Hart amendment she voted against the measure.

Wants $10,811 For His Services

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A psychiatrist who examined Sirhan Bishara Sirhan and testified at his murder trial wants $10,811 for his services. Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said Wednesday Dr. Seymour Pollack had submitted a bill for that amount, charging for time spent in the courtroom, in conferences, reading transcripts and reviewing psychological tests.

139 Americans Killed In Vietnam Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported today that 139 Americans were killed in Vietnam last week, roughly a 23 per cent increase over two weeks ago when the death toll fell to a low mark of 110.

It marked the fifth straight week that American battlefield deaths were below the 200 mark and the 12th consecutive week that South Vietnamese battlefield deaths exceeded those of U.S. forces. The weekly casualty figures reflected the lull in sustained ground fighting now in its eighth week, a cutback in large-scale U.S. operations and a gradual shifting of more fighting to South Vietnamese forces.

South Vietnamese battlefield deaths last week were reported as 276 troops killed, 14 fewer than were killed the previous week. Allied headquarters said in its weekly casualty summary that 2,025 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were killed during the seven-day period ending at midnight last Saturday. This compared to 2,079 enemy claimed killed two weeks ago.

The U.S. Command said 1,110 Americans were wounded in the period, 54 more than two weeks ago. The South Vietnamese reported 545 wounded, compared with 831 the week before.

Juvenile Cases Are Handled

A 12-year-old boy was released to the Texas Youth Council Wednesday by Jones, and state officers transferred the youth to Gatesville today.

A 15-year-old boy was referred to the juvenile office by his parents as a runaway. A 16-year-old boy was released to the custody of his father from Washington, and a 16-year-old Arkansas boy, picked up here as a runaway, was sent back to his parents.

Jones, with city officers, also investigated a domestic problem at 4:45 a.m. today, and released a 16-year-old boy to the custody of his father.

Webb Officers Finish School

Two Webb officers are currently attending the Air Force's Air University for the 14-week Squadron Officer School at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. They are scheduled to graduate Friday.

Capt. Thomas Carmichael, Sturon academics instructor, and Neil Stone of the 3561st

Pilot Training Squadron's check section, are both members of class 69-B at the school.

The school, familiarly referred to as SOS, together with the Air Command and Staff College comprise the professional military education program of the Air Force.

NCOA Does Good Turn For Kids

Nine children from three local needy families will have shoes to wear when school begins in the fall, thanks to the efforts of Webb's Non-Commissioned Officers Association.

The chapter donated money to buy the children the shoes. Last week, nine NCOA members, headed by S.M. Sgt. Robert Sanchez, picked up the children who were specifically selected by the Big Spring Welfare Department, took them to a department store and bought each child two pairs of shoes.

C.M. Sgt. Gordon Utz has already started a discarded toy drive. Last year the toy drive was one of the NCOA's biggest projects.

July's Building Total Is $116,255

Of these permits, 55 were for roofing residences, 14 for additions, 10 for moving buildings, four for putting up signs, three for new residences, and two for utilities. During the month 66 inspections were made.

Building permits issued for the year now total 508, for a valuation of $1,084,653.

In July there were 57 electrical permits, 12 gas permits, and five plumbing permits with fees of $270 collected. One water tap sign, three for new residences,

DEATHS

Mrs. W. E. Carnrike, Area Pioneer, Service Friday

Mrs. Beulah Carnrike, one of the area's real pioneers, died shortly after noon Wednesday. She would have been 90 in October.

Services have been set for 10 a.m. Friday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Dr. S. C. Guthrie officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Mrs. Carnrike was the mother of Mrs. Robert V. Middleton. A remarkable woman, she had been widowed with two small children when she was 23. She took a position as deputy in the county clerk's office and was working in this office during the days of the historic land rush occasioned by opening of state lands to homesteading.

Mrs. Carnrike, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George LaFoon, was born Oct. 24, 1879, in Waco and came to Howard County in 1890 from Abilene. She attended Big Spring schools even before a local district was created, and in 1897 she was married to George Wheelon. He died in 1902.

Mrs. Carnrike went to work to support her children and continued in the clerk's office for 35 years. When she retired from this post, she and W. E. Carnrike, to whom she had been married Dec. 22, 1910, established the Carnrike Blueprint Company, at that time one of the best equipped such facilities in this area. They operated it until 1961. Mr. Carnrike died Jan. 14, 1963.

Mrs. Carnrike was a charter member of the East Fourth Baptist Church and of the Baptist Temple. She also was a member of Chapter 67 of the Order of Eastern Star, of the Past Matron's Club, and the Social Order of the Beauceants.

Surviving her are her daughter, Mrs. R. V. Middleton; one granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Buckner, and one grandson, Harry Middleton; five great grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Lee Wright, Abilene. One son, Harry Wheelon, who became president of Shamrock Oil Company at Amarillo, died in 1959.

Pallbearers will be Willard Sullivan, Ed Fisher, Elmo Wasson, F. H. Talbot, Elmer Boatler and Robert Currie.

Mrs. Stallcup's Services Today Services for Mrs. Rosie B. Stallcup, 79, who died Tuesday after an illness of three weeks, were to be held at 2 p.m. today in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Claude N. Craven, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, officiating, and burial in Trinity Memorial Park.

Pallbearers were to be Jack Shaffer, Bob Carlie, Roland King, D. W. Powell, Cecil Mason and Ray Parker.

Survivors include two sons, David B. Stallcup, Kerrville, and Nathan Stallcup, Big Spring; one daughter, Mrs. Florence Blythe, Guyton, Okla.; one brother, John Creech, Turlock, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Lala Litwiler, Lassos, Calif.; 10 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

Rites For Brother Of B. T. Faulkner Services for Aubrey H. Faulkner Sr., brother of B. T. Faulkner, Big Spring, were held Wednesday in Lubbock, with burial in city cemetery.

He died at his home at 5:16 p.m. Monday following an illness of about six months. He owned Frontier Wholesale Co in Lubbock.

Mr. Faulkner was born Nov. 18, 1906, in Timpson and his family moved to Marshall when he was a young boy. He moved to Lubbock from Sherman in 1947. Mr. Faulkner was a member of First Baptist Church, the Lubbock planning and zoning commission, the Lubbock zoning board of adjustment. He also was a Shriner.

Survivors include his wife Lois; a son, Aubrey Faulkner Jr., Lubbock; two daughters, Mrs. Sam Dealy, Dallas, and Mrs. David Thompson, Lubbock; five brothers, B. T. Faulkner, Big Spring; Clyde Faulkner, Abilene; Jessi Faulkner, Houston; Ray Faulkner, Marshall; and Melvin Faulkner, Amarillo; two sisters, Nell Faulkner and Mrs. Mary Cone, Malvern, Ark.

Fisher Joining College Staff

Edward K. Fisher, former Big Spring businessman and personnel officer for the Big Spring State Hospital, has been named an instructor in business administration at Angelo State University, Dr. Hugh E. Meredith, ASU academic dean, has announced.

The appointment is effective Sept. 1, Dean Meredith said. Fisher holds the master of business administration degree from Texas Tech, the bachelor of science from Texas A&M, and the bachelor of foreign trade degree from the American Institute for Foreign Trade, Glendale, Ariz.

He operated the Little Shops, Inc., in Big Spring from 1955 until early in 1968. He has been personnel officer for the Big Spring State Hospital since January, 1967. He has been a part-time instructor at Howard County Junior College for three semesters.

A native of Big Spring, Fisher also was engaged in the real estate and insurance business there for seven years. He has been president of the Big Spring Management Association, president of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association, chairman of the Howard County Democratic Committee, and a director of the Texas Retail Credit Executives Association.

For the past two and a half years, he aided in research to set up criteria for qualifying a mental health technician, a project carried out in cooperation with Texas Tech.

Involved in the first mishap at 11:05 a.m. Wednesday in the 200 block of Main was a car driven by Marshall R. Box, 2401 Cindy Lane and an auto driven by Patricia F. Prentiss, 1102 Lamar.

A second mishap occurred at 5:18 p.m. at Northwest Fourth and Lancaster. Drivers of the cars involved were Deola Parker, 404 N. Bell, and Emery Wallace Pierce, 901 Nolan.

At 8:19 p.m. at the intersection of US 80 and Mesquite, a car driven by Monroe W. Copeland, 1100 W. 2nd, was in collision with a pickup truck which left the scene of the accident. Police said the truck was owned by Charles Wyatt, Rt. 2, Colorado City.

A car driven by Francis Louis Butler, 603 E. 18th, was in collision with a parked car owned by Virgil E. Long of 1800 Dixie at 9:38 p.m. Wednesday. The mishap occurred on the parking lot of a grocery store at Eighteenth and Gregg.

Gloria Lillian Banks has been charged in Howard County with forgery and passing a forged instrument. A warrant has been sent to Bryan for her arrest, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard. She is wanted here in connection with several incidents concerning altered money orders.

The Polar community in Kent County has announced its sixth annual homecoming Aug. 17. Those attending are asked to bring a basket lunch.

Little Theatre Tryouts Continue This Evening

Another night of tryouts for two Little Theatre of Big Spring "Supper Theatre" plays will be held today at 7:30 o'clock at the Cosden Country Club. Everyone is welcome to try for a part.

A good turnout of 10 people attended last night's meeting, but actresses and actors are still needed for important roles in the two plays.

Cathy McLain, directing "The Tiger," by Murray Shisga said she still needed men to try out for her play. Al Scott directing "A Perfect Analysis given by a Parrot," by Tennessee Williams, said he needed three men. Scott said he hoped to announce his official cast at the close of tonight's tryouts.

Decisions on casting have not been made and both men and women are urged to come for this last night of tryouts.

The two plays will be presented at the Cosden Club on Friday and Saturday nights Sept. 19-20. Admission price will include a steak dinner. Theatre-goers will enjoy the dinner first and then see the two plays.

After Cable Cut Service Restored

Service was restored on more than 200 telephone lines Wednesday afternoon within hours after a ditcher had sliced a cable at the south edge of town.

Harry Sawyer, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, said a cable containing 24 pairs of toll lines plus 300 pairs of exchange wires was severed. This knocked out circuits to Forsan, Garden City and St. Lawrence, as well as 140 phones south of Marcy Drive and east of US 87 (mostly in the Highland South area).

The toll service was back on at 3 p.m. and local service at 6 p.m. Phone company crews permanent repairs at 10 a.m. today.

A machine from Hester's Ditching Service was cutting a ditch from the Buddy's Super Market to a sewer outfall line when it snagged the phone cable and a gas line.

Property Sold

General Services Administration, property management and disposal service at Fort Worth, has announced that a bid in the amount of $85,000 submitted by General Telephone Company of the Southwest, San Angelo, has been accepted for 1.63 acres of land in downtown San Angelo. The tract also has a masonry building containing 35,000 square feet of floor space.

Flames Damage TWU Dormitory

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Fire damaged the top floor Wednesday night of the 24-story dormitory under construction on the campus of Texas Woman's University.

The building was not occupied and there were no injuries. Estimate of the amount of damage was not immediately available.

Firemen said origin of the blaze had not been determined but that it apparently started among some packing crates holding furniture for the unfinished structure, reputedly the tallest college dormitory in the United States.

Big Spring police arrested two boys, aged 12 and 15, and a girl, 17, early Thursday morning in connection with the burglary of Pat's Barber Shop, 1008 W. 3rd St.

A. J. Patterson, 703 E. 13th St., victim of the burglary, said two pair of hair clippers and two straight razors were taken in the incident.

Police said the youths were captured inside the barber shop and that the hair clippers had been recovered, but the razors were still missing. A front door glass had been broken.

A burglary of the Lakeview YMCA, 1006 NW Fourth St., also was being investigated by police. Taken in the incident was a portable television, a record player and an amplifier. Value of the missing items was placed at $790.

Entry to the building was gained through an east window.

Raymond Ortiz, 307 E. 7th, reported the loss of two socket wrenches and several other tools from a tool box near a car he was fixing at his house. Value of the missing tools was unknown, police said.

Postmaster Asks 'Who Is Eddy?'

By JOE GORDON

Who is Eddy at Pasing, Eddy at Salamat, Eddy at Nail? Who does a pair of mismatched baby booties, several boys' shirts and yards of cloth belong to?

All the addressees of the contents of a box held at the Big Spring post office are strangers to post officials and all of them have seemingly foreign names. And most of all, who are the things for Eddy of Pasing (and others) from?

Sitting on the mail room floor of the Big Spring post office is a cardboard box which contains children's clothing and material, which may have been boxed to be sent to a children's orphanage in a foreign land, but the box never got mailed to the foreign country.

Instead, by some quirk of fate it ended up among parcel post packages delivered to Gibson's Discount Center.

When Gibson's warehouse manager, Berry Watson, discovered it wasn't merchandise he returned it to the post office and there it sits, still unclaimed by a sender or recipient.

Postmaster Frank Hardesty said it was a mystery to him how the box ever got in the mails, because it did not have any postage marks, and because it was wrapped with baling wire, which postal regulations prohibit on parcels.

He explained that the box was delivered to Gibson's because of an address slip which was already attached to the box.

Originally packed in the box was a floor sweeper.

Among the individual packages in the box was one addressed to Coraz or to baby. It was a piece of pink flannel cloth. Two turtle neck shirts sizes 4 to 5, where named for Eddy at Pasing and clothing and material was wrapped in a package for Ligaiga Baro. A baby's sweater and baby bib were addressed simply to Noel while pieces of material were sent in separate packages to Binay, to Belings, to Omi Anong, and to others.

And so the mystery continues to the discomfort of the postmaster, who would be obliged for help in solving it.

Kirkpatrick Man Tops As Mentor

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — The Texas Sportswriters Association has named Donald Parker of Fort Worth Kirkpatrick schoolboy track coach of the year. Parker's squad won the state Class-AA title with a whopping 68 points.

Durbin Judge OK's Statement Reading

AUSTIN (AP) — Dist. Judge Tom Blackwell overruled today defense objections to letting the jury hear what Clide Durbin Jr.'s lawyer called Durbin's confession.

The seven-page handwritten statement was not expected to be read from the stand, however, until later in the day because the state needed to put on testimony showing how the document was obtained.

Frank Maloney, Durbin's attorney, said the statement was not voluntarily given. He said doctors' testimony given behind closed doors showed Durbin was not capable of intelligently waiving his rights.

HIS RIGHTS — Sheriff Deputy Billy Webb testified that when he went to Durbin's apartment on the morning of Jan. 16 he read to Durbin a standard card listing his rights to counsel, to remain silent and to break off the interview at any time.

Durbin, 22, of Dallas is being tried in the slaying of John Albert White, 21, of Corpus Christi, on Jan. 8. He also is charged in Burnet in the slaying of White's picnic date, Keitha Morris, 19, of White Deer. Sheriff T. O. Lang testified Wednesday he learned from his deputies some time in the early hours of Jan. 17 that Durbin told of the killing of White and Miss Morris.

Lang testified outside the hearing of the jury, which was dismissed until today so the state and defense could argue over the admissibility of the statement.

CLOSED DOORS

After Lang left the stand, the judge went behind closed doors with the attorneys to listen to two hours of tape recordings of Durbin's interrogation at the Texas Department of Public Safety on Jan. 16-17.

Lang said he told two deputies to go talk with Durbin on the morning of Jan. 16 to see if he could "explain his whereabouts on Jan. 8." Lang said he knew Durbin had exchanged a .38 caliber pistol, drove a light-colored Volkswagen and on Jan. 10 walked with a limp.

But he said when the deputies returned with Durbin at 11 a.m. he told the youth that he was free to go at any time. He said Durbin said he understood that. Lang said there was some talk about Durbin's car and that Durbin "took the keys to his car out of his pocket and handed them to me."

Lang ordered the car taken to the DPS for laboratory tests.

Defense attorney Frank Maloney asked Lang if Durbin was warned of his right to remain silent, have a lawyer or break off the interrogation at any time.

AT ANY TIME

Lang said, "I told him he had the right to go at any time."

The sheriff said it was some time after midnight when he learned that Durbin had told of the killings and offered to take officers to the place where Miss Morris' clothes were hidden.

White's body was found about 6:15 p.m. Jan. 8 lying in the shallow waters of Bull Creek, northwest of Austin. He had been shot with a .38 caliber bullet and had three deep cuts on the back of his head. A bloody rock nearly as large as a man's head was nearby.

Fred Rymer, DPS ballistics expert, testified that "gouges" in the barrel of the gun Durbin exchanged at a sporting goods store on Jan. 10 made it impossible to determine if that was the same gun that fired the bullet recovered from White's body.

Gets Bolder About Booze

BOULDER CITY, Nev. (AP) — Boulder City is getting bolder about booze.

The City Council Wednesday set Sept. 8 as the day liquor can be purchased, both in bars and stores, for the first time in this community of 5,000.

The decision was made in an election May 6 and passed by only 63 votes.

Mayor James French said, "Those of us who voted for liquor did it to attract a first-class restaurant for the city."

Chamber Board To Meet Monday

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors will hold its regular meeting at noon Monday in the Settles Hotel.

Besides the usual business, the board will hear a report on the Starlight Specials from Joe Dann, co-chairman. Jerry Worthy, chairman of the convention and tourist committee, will urge the board to pass a resolution asking the City's Parks and Recreation Board to change the name of City Park; and Chamber Manager Tom Eastland will speak on the formulation of a 1970 program of work for the chamber.

Government Abandons Case Against Dr. Spock

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today abandoned its case against Dr. Benjamin Spock. It yielded without appeal to a circuit court's reversal of the famed baby doctor's conviction on a charge of conspiring to persuade young men to avoid the draft.

It also accepted without appeal the court's directed acquittal verdict for Michael Ferber, one of Spock's three confederates in the conspiracy case.

Newsmen Called To Testify Today

DALLAS (AP) — Criminal Dist. Judge John Mead was to hear a motion today for a change of venue in the case of a man and a woman charged in the death of a Dallas deputy sheriff.

Attorneys for James W. Cherry, 42, and Twyna Blankenship contend their clients cannot receive a fair trial in Dallas because of the amount of publicity on the case.

Cherry and Mrs. Blankenship are charged in the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Buddy Walters who was shot to death Jan. 10 at an East Dallas home.

They also are charged with assault with intent to murder in the wounding of Walters' partner, Deputy Alvin Maddox Jr.

Dallas newsmen who reported on the shooting were subpoenaed to testify at today's hearing.

Fourth Straight Night Of Riots

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — Youth firebombed a school, smashed windows of buildings and threw garbage in the streets Wednesday in a fourth straight night of disorders.

Police said 35 persons were arrested Wednesday night, including 11 juveniles, bringing to 117 the total of arrests. Bands of youths ignored a 9 p.m. curfew and roamed the streets.

The fire started by a bomb thrown at Memorial School 11 was quickly quelled. The school is near a firehouse.

The disorders began Sunday when a march seeking funds for asked for more time to decide whether to ask the Supreme Court to review the cases of William Sloane Coffin Jr., Yale University chaplain, and Mitchell Goodman, also convicted with Spock.

Solicitor General Erwin Griswold disclosed the Justice Department was dropping the Spock and Ferber cases in a request filed with the Supreme Court for an extension of time to review the Coffin and Goodman cases.

The court decision at issue, that of the U. S. 1st Circuit Court, came July 11 in Boston.

The circuit court directed new trials for Coffin and Goodman on grounds that the trial judge gave erroneous instructions to the jury that found them guilty of conspiring to aid young men in avoiding military service.

In regard to Spock and Ferber, the appellate court directed an acquittal verdict.

Griswold noted that Associate Justice Byron R. White already has granted Coffin and Goodman until Sept. 9 and said the government should be given the same period to study the decision.

Moreover, he said, the department's action "may be affected" by the anticipated appeals of Coffin and Goodman.

Will Sail Until Viet War Is Over

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — With floral wreaths floating behind, Floyd B. Nelson set sail in an 18-foot speed determined to stay at sea "until the killing is stopped in Vietnam."

Flowers were tossed by his fellow members of the Peace Action Council who gathered at the shore Wednesday, the anniversary of the atomic attack on Hiroshima.

Nelson, departing in his "Teak Lady" with its sails emblazoned with peace symbols, said he will sail up and down the Southern California coastline until the war is over. Friends will bring him food via rowboat.

Man Posts Bond On Indictment

Lenny Silverman, a 31-year-old Texarkana man and former resident of Howard County, has posted $1,500 bond for Howard County in Sinton where he is in custody.

Silverman was indicted several weeks ago here by the grand jury for theft by bailor of an auto. Sheriff A. N. Standard said the bond will be transferred here in the next few days.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1969 SEC. B

A New Beginning Planned By Couple

By RHODA LEMONS

At an age when many people are looking toward retirement, or settling down in a rut, the Don Carpenters, Ponderosa Apts. No. 124, set their goals on a new career in a totally new community. They are newcomers to Big Spring and Texas.

Carpenter is employed under Civil Service at Webb Air Force Base in the Non Appropriated Funds (NAP) office.

Carpenter is the son of Mrs. Henry Carpenter of Punta Gorda, Fla., and the late Mr. Carpenter. He was born in Ohio, graduated from high school in Flynt, Mich., and attended South Bend College of Commerce in South Bend, Ind.

Mrs. Carpenter is the former Ann Thomson, daughter of Mrs. Frank Thomson and the late Mr. Thomson. She was born in South Bend and has one brother and one sister. She graduated from high school in her home town and shortly thereafter went to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter were married less than two years ago in South Bend in St. Peter's United Church of Christ. At the time of their marriage, both were employed by Viking Incorporated. She was a secretary, and he was treasurer and vice president of the company. Other positions he has held include being owner-manager of a small restaurant, president of a bank and manager of a small hospital.

Mrs. Carpenter has two sons, Richard E. Bowers of South Bend and Thomas Bowers of Mountain View, Calif. She has four grandchildren. Carpenter has one daughter, Mrs. Ralph Breiler (Kate) of South Bend, and two grandchildren.

Following their marriage, the Carpenters wanted to travel and have some free time, so he took a Civil Service job and they were transferred to Big Spring. "We are terribly impressed with how nice the people in this community are," said Carpenter, "and I like my job."

The Carpenters, who travel often, have been to all the places of interest within a radius of a weekend's travel. They are looking for a lake big enough for a cabin cruiser. Their boat is in storage on Lake Michigan, where they used to spend much time boating and entertaining. They belonged to the New Buffalo Yacht Club.

"There are lakes around here big enough for our boat," said Mrs. Carpenter, "but there are none big enough for us to go anywhere in it."

Both the Carpenters love to play cards, however, he plays contract bridge and she plays auction. They like to play poker, euchre and most other card games.

They enjoy dining at good restaurants, and they love to "sight-see." They like to have a few friends in for a hospitable evening, and like to be entertained in the same fashion.

Mrs. Carpenter is Catholic by faith and will attend the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. He is a member of the United Church of Christ, which is not represented here.

He is a Mason (a member of the Scottish Rite) and an Elk. He reads "everything he can get his hands on," including history, geography and contemporary magazines. Mrs. Carpenter's favorite pastime is bowling.

They are excited about their new life in Texas and want to absorb as much as they can from Big Spring.

Inaugural Talk Heard By Lodge

Mrs. Jones Lamar read the inaugural address of Mrs. Margaret H. Galey, Rebekah Assembly president of Texas, at Tuesday's meeting of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 in the IOOF Lodge Hall.

Mrs. M. R. Ray, noble grand, presided. New officers elected were Mrs. Johnny Acuff, noble grand; Mrs. Grady Beck, vice grand; and Mrs. Larzar, team captain.

Plans were announced for a dinner and program next Tuesday honoring the IOOF brotherhood.

Wyatt Reunion Held In Abilene

WESTBROOK SC) — Thirty-eight were present for the annual reunion of the descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wyatt Sunday in Cobb Park at Abilene. Mrs. Bobby Henderson of Colorado City received a gift for being the oldest child present, and Jay Jones and Greg Jones of El Paso, great-great-grandsons of the couple, were presented a gift for traveling the farthest distance. Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. A. C. Moody are the only surviving children.

Others attending were J. A. Moody, Westbrook; Mrs. Gayle Joy and children, the Clyde Watson family, the Carole Butler family and Mr. and Mrs. Fowler Wyatt, all of Abilene; the A. E. Wyatts, Denton; the Jim Wyatts and Paul Wyatt, all of Wichita Falls; and Mrs. Margaret Butler and children of Abilene.

Mrs. C. D. Read Gives Devotion

Mrs. C. D. Read gave the devotion, "We Worship Together," at Monday's meeting of the Women of the Church at First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. W. G. Wilson announced that Church Women United will meet at the First Presbyterian Church, Sept. 5, to sew garments for children in hospitals in Southeast Asia. A combined circle meeting will be held Sept. 8.

4-H Dress Revue Held In Midland

STANTON SC) — Doris Howard won a blue ribbon in the senior division at the district dress revue Monday at Holiday Inn in Midland and was named second alternate to the state competition Oct. 6 in Dallas. Peggy Barnes was awarded a blue ribbon in the junior division. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. James Elland, Martin County HD agent. Mrs. Burnell Howard and Mrs. Stanley Barnes.

ABWA Chapter Told Of Banking Services

"Women In Banking" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Joy Harmon, guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, in the home of Mrs. Edward Cruz, 1907 Johnson.

Mrs. Harmon, who is employed in the loan department of First National Bank, stressed that working with the public necessitates clear communication.

"You need to be honest with your banker," said Mrs. Harmon, "for you are assured what you say to him will be kept in confidence. Everyone should become acquainted with the employees of their bank."

The speaker said that when evaluating a loan, or a co-signer to a loan, three things are considered: credit, character and capacity. In describing the bank's services, she noted that lock boxes are available and should be used to keep policies, wills and other valuable papers. For her closing thoughts, Mrs. Harmon said that although nearly one-third of local women work, playing a prime part in business, their most important role is still that of homemaker.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Willis LeVier who described her work as a production clerk at Gamco.

During the business session, Miss Paula Stuteville was given a second term scholarship at Howard County Junior College, and the new scholarship recipient was Miss Rebecca Rogers.

The invocation was by Mrs. Tony Barron, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. Ruby Exline.

A salad supper was served with Miss Shirley Lee wording the benediction. Guests were Mrs. J. C.

Fall Festival Set By Altar Society

Fall festival tickets were distributed at Tuesday's meeting of the Altar Society, Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. The festival is slated for Sept. 20. Mrs. Riley Ward presided, and prayers were offered by Sister Mary Amalabis and Mrs. Francis Johns. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Curtis Choate, who was hostess for the evening.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Stockton, 608 Caylor, announce the birth of a daughter, Melissa Kay, at 10:27 a.m., July 26, in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 6 pounds, 14 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson, 2506 Seminole, and paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Stockton.

Two Women Give WSCS Program

Mrs. Max Miller and Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand brought the program at Tuesday's meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at Wesley

Bill Sneed Gives Convention Report

Bill Sneed reported on his trip to the national convention of the Men's Garden Clubs of America in Fort Collins, Colo., at Monday's meeting of the Big Spring Men's Garden Club in the Veterans Administration Hospital conference room. Sneed told of business sessions at the convention and tours of Fort Collins and the Rocky Mountain National Park.

United Methodist Church, Mrs. Don Crockett presided, and prayers were worded by Mrs. E. A. Guinn and Mrs. W. D. Lovelace. The Lalla Baird Circle served as hostesses. Mrs. Charles Huggins was welcomed as a guest.

A LOVELIER YOU Keep 'Your Cool' In Summer Weather

By MARY SUE MILLER

What's your system for keeping cool? It's surprising how many of us cling to out-moded ideas on the subject. As a result we suffer a good deal of avoidable discomfort and disarray.

According to researchers, these are the cool facts: You feel cooler — and actually are — after a warm bath

Newcomer Bridge Winners Revealed

Mrs. Jessie Scarbrough won high during bridge play at Tuesday's Newcomers Club luncheon at Cosden Country Club. Mrs. Donald Carpenter won second high; and Mrs. Henry Foster won bridge-o. Guests were Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Kenneth Blyer. Mrs. Kin Taylor was welcomed as a new member. Couple's Bridge Night will be held Saturday evening at First Federal Community Room, when dessert will be served. Admission is $1.

or shower than a cold one. Warm water dilates the blood vessels, an action which induces internal heat to escape through the skin. Try it!

However torrid the weather, you need some exercise to stimulate your circulation. A sluggish body is wide open to heat fatigue.

You also need all the cool water you can drink. But do not bypass hot beverages or meals. Above all, keep up your protein intake.

Remember that lightweight, absorbent clothing acts like a thermostat to regulate the body's cooling mechanism. Thus a brimmed hat and a sheer, long-sleeved dress will keep you cooler than any scanty attire. A mere film of makeup and a sleek hairdo is cool and looks it.

As nerves and tension can get you real hot up, plan your day to avoid unnecessary pressures. List the duties you must perform, but no more than you know you can accomplish. If the going gets tough, make yourself take a 10-minute break. Hurry and flurry knock you out in zero weather. Not to mention 110 in the shade.

Nixon's Safeguard Wins Narrow Senate Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two dramatic Senate votes have given President Nixon a narrow victory for his Safeguard program—but one Republican opponent says he still doesn't think the missile defense system will be deployed.

"I seriously doubt that Safeguard will ever be deployed," Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey said after Wednesday's showdown voting.

And Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., one of the leaders of the anti-Safeguard forces, said he doubts the Pentagon expects to be able to deploy Safeguard soon.

PLANS TO SPEND

Cooper told reporters the Pentagon plans to spend $120 million this year on advanced anti-ballistic missile—ABM—research, beyond Safeguard, although the sum is not mentioned in the report on the legislation currently before the Senate.

The decisive ABM votes, after months of controversy and weeks of debate, came Wednesday on two somewhat similar amendments aimed at barring deployment of the Safeguard system but continuing ABM research.

Neither would have eliminated any of the $750 million earmarked for the ABM in the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

The first, offered by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, failed on a 50-50 tie. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew cast a 51st but unnecessary negative vote. Mrs. Smith's proposal was to bar any further spending except for components such as radars and computers.

Then the Senate voted 51-49 against the amendment by Sens. Cooper and Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., who have led the year-long fight against ABM. Their proposal would have limited the Safeguard program to research and development with no deployment or site acquisition.

BIG TEST

Sens. Clinton P. Williams, D-N.M., and John J. Williams, R-Del., ended their silence on the ABM to join the administration in opposing the amendments.

A White House spokesman said after the voting that President Nixon "is very pleased, of course." But he said no statement would be issued.

The Senate is the big test for the ABM program, since the House is considered to have a substantial majority favoring Safeguard.

Although Wednesday's voting was billed as the crucial test for ABM, another proposed compromise was scheduled for a vote today in the Senate. Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., sponsored the amendment to deploy ABM computers and radars—but not missiles.

Both sides predicted the McIntyre amendment would fail by a considerable margin.

Other ABM amendments are possible, but none is expected.

ABM FOES

Cooper and Hart, who said they would renew their battle later this year on the defense appropriations bill, conceded their chances would diminish after Wednesday's votes.

"Today was the chief decision," Cooper said later. "I think we will have trouble from here."

Some ABM foes, meanwhile, expressed the hope that the debate would mark the start of a new effort to scrutinize the government's military spending.

"This new determination marks a victory for our system of government that may well be remembered long after the ABM debate is forgotten," said Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill.

"I believe that this is but the beginning of a continuing exercise of its constitutional responsibility by the Senate with respect to the arms race," commented Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said.

Before the voting, ABM proponents claimed they would defeat the Cooper-Hart amendment 51 to 49—as they did. Opponents thought they had 50 votes, until Mrs. Smith revealed she was so opposed to the Safeguard system she would even vote against research for it.

DENOUNCED

As a result, much of the day was spent in fashioning a proposal acceptable to Mrs. Smith and to the Cooper-Hart forces. This was done, just about the time the Senate was rejecting a more sweeping anti-ABM amendment by Mrs. Smith—59 to 11.

But Mrs. Smith's second try at amending the bill was roundly denounced by Safeguard advocates.

After the amendments failed, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., hailed the action, along with a House vote Tuesday for $2.5 million in other ABM funds, as "among the wisest military judgments ever reached by the Congress."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., one of the leaders of the pro-Safeguard forces, expressed hope that the nation would unite now in support of Nixon's efforts in forthcoming arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union.

"There is a chance by this vote that the Russians will talk now about limiting their ABMs," Jackson told reporters.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, asked if the administration might regard the cause of their closeness, said "I think they're delighted to have a victory of this magnitude."

CHANCES SLIM

Mansfield announced after the show-down vote that he would bring the Senate in early and might even meet Saturday in an effort to complete action on the military procurement bill before Congress starts a recess next Wednesday.

But a great number of amendments have been introduced to other parts of the bill, on such things as bombers, tanks and chemical and biological warfare, and Mansfield conceded the chances of finishing were slim.

MAKES APPEAL — Author Graham Greene, long a favorite in Russia, appealed to fellow novelists Wednesday to refuse permission for their works to be published in the Soviet Union. He based the refusal on the fact that works of certain writers are being suppressed in the Soviet Union and that two writers are in Russian prison camps.

Girl Links Collins To Coast Slaying

FORT WORTH (AP) — Nancy Albrecht, 17, a high school girl, has given officers data indicating that John Norman Collins was on the West Coast about the time a sex murder victim vanished there.

Collins is charged in the strangling death of Karen Beine-man, an Eastern Michigan University coed. She was the seventh young woman murdered in the Ann Arbor area within two years.

Miss Albrecht told officers she met Collins in Salinas, Calif., June 29 and chatted with him about 30 minutes.

Roxie Ann Phillips, of Milwaukee, Ore., disappeared the next day while visiting in Salinas. Her nude body was found on a trash pile 13 days later. Officers said she had been strangled.

Miss Albrecht's mother, Mrs. W. E. Albrecht, said her daughter went to Salinas to visit a sister, Mrs. James Gautier.

Miss Phillips was staying four blocks away. Miss Albrecht said she and Miss Phillips became friends.

California officers said Nancy's identification of Collins showed he was in the neighborhood about the time Miss Phillips disappeared.

Collins is charged in the strangling death of Karen Beine-man, an Eastern Michigan University coed. She was the seventh young woman murdered in the Ann Arbor area within two years.

Officers said she had been strangled.

Magnesium Fire Burns 4 Persons

HURST, Tex. (AP) — A magnesium flare fire at Bell Helicopter's main plant here today burned four persons, two seriously, officials said.

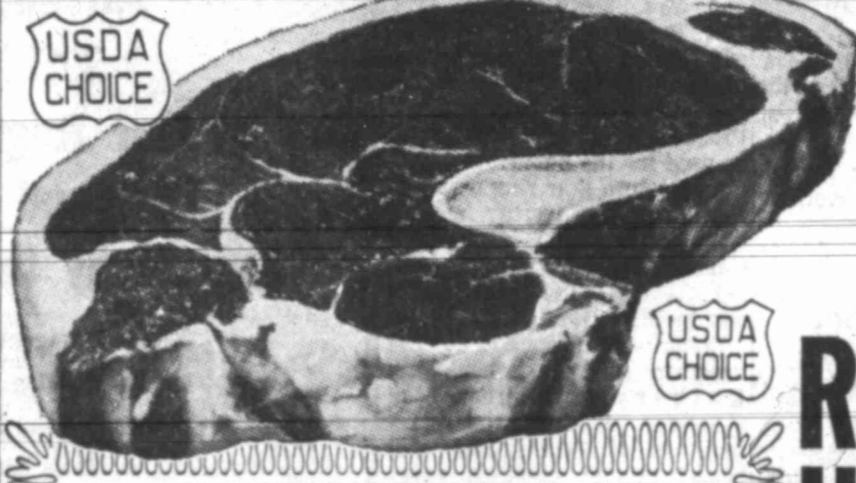

In critical condition with second and third degree burns over 80 to 90 per cent of his body was W. H. Johnson, 47, of Crowley.

Eugene Criddell, 40, of Fort Worth, was reported in poor condition with second and third degree burns over 30 to 35 per cent of his body.

Two others burned in the incident refused hospitalization. Plant officials gave no explanation for the fire at once.

Lions Hear Of New Course

Space exploration has whetted interest in astronomy, and Big Spring High School is going to tackle the problem in earnest this year, Gary Carlson told the Downtown Lions Club at the Wednesday noon meeting at the Settles.

Carlson is director of the school's planetarium and will instruct a new course in astronomy. This will be pitched on the junior-senior level, he said, adding that possibly less than a dozen high schools in the country were doing this.

Many universities are now limiting astronomy courses to those who have had a background in high school. The course will involve the solar system, asteroids, meteorites stellar astronomy, etc. There also will be exposure for children in grades four, five and six as well as in junior high to try to ascertain a readiness level for this type study.

In a special report, Bob West, secretary-treasurer, said that the club normally finances between $800 and $900 in glasses for individuals (primarily school children) who can't afford them, plus another $500 to $600 in helping youth projects, community endeavors, and the Lions crippled children's camp.

Lovell, Shepard To Direct Flights To Moon In 1970

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The first American in space and the man who has spent the most time there will command moon-landing flights in 1970, the space agency says.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., who has more space hours than any other astronaut, will command the Apollo 13 flight to the moon scheduled for next March, the agency announced Wednesday.

Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard Jr., who put America into space with a 15-minute flight in 1961 and hasn't flown since, will command the Apollo 14 moon landing scheduled for next July.

Space rookies fill in the balance of both crews.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Thomas P. Mattingly II, 33, and civilian Fred W. Haise Jr., 35, will fly with Lovell on Apollo 13.

With Shepard on Apollo 14 will be Air Force Capt. Stuart A. Roosa, 35, and Navy Cmdr. Edgar D. Mitchell, 38.

The Apollo 12 crew had already been named. All Navy, it is commanded by Capt. Charles Conrad and includes Cmdrs Richard L. Gordon and Alan L. Bean. Apollo 12 is scheduled for November.

Lovell's flight will be to the mysterious lunar highlands area called Fra Mauro, just south of the moon's equator and just west of center. This will be the first attempt to land in the mountains of the moon.

Shepard and his crew are scheduled to land in Censorinus, a crater just east of the Sea of Tranquility landing site of Apollo 11.

Apollo 12's destination is the Ocean of Storms, in the western part of the moon.

Shepard's selection climaxes a battle to overcome an ear ailment that threatened to ground him permanently.

The 45-year-old astronaut flew

Moon Landers Prepare Evidence Against Give Report

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With less than four days of quarantine left, Apollo 11's astronauts today planned to relax and work on individual pilot reports on their moon-landing mission.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins have been writing the reports off and on since entering the lunar receiving laboratory July 27. But most of their time has been claimed by debriefing sessions in which they discussed various aspects of the flight with experts.

He underwent surgery last May in an operation that was to either put him in the air or clip his wings for good. It was a success and Shepard was cleared to fly.

Lovell, 41, flew 14 days with astronaut Frank Borman on Gemini 7 in 1965. Last December, he Borman and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders became the first men to orbit the moon on the eight-day flight of Apollo 8. Lovell also was commander of the four-day Gemini 12 flight in 1966 with Edwin A. Aldrin Jr.

Prepare Evidence Against Michigan Slaying Suspect

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — The prosecution readied a preliminary presentation of evidence against 22-year-old John N. Collins today on a charge of murdering a pretty coed.

The forenoon hearing in District Court was to determine whether Collins, a senior in elementary education at Eastern Michigan University, should be sent to trial.

His attorneys had announced in advance that they would ask the judge to transfer the hearing out of this area, where seven young women have been slain and their bodies left on the countryside since the summer of 1967.

Collins faced a pretrial examination on a first-degree murder charge in the strangulation death of an Eastern Michigan freshman, Karen Sue Beineman 19, whose nude and battered body was found July 26.

Meanwhile, Andrew J. Manuel, 25, a friend of Collins, was being held at the federal detention center in Florence, Ariz., on a charge of interstate flight to avoid prosecution in Michigan for larceny. He was arrested in Phoenix Wednesday.

Michigan authorities planned to question Manuel about the Michigan slayings, and California officials said he was wanted as a material witness in the strangulation death of a teenage Oregon girl, near Salinas in June.

Miss Beineman was last seen riding from a Ypsilanti wig shop with a young man on a motorcycle. Her body was found in a ravine north of the city.

The cases of six other girls and young women slain in the area in the past two years remain unsolved. Five of the killings were committed in the last five months.

Collins has not been charged in any of the other killings, but authorities have said he has not been eliminated as a possible suspect.

In Florence, Manuel awaits a hearing next Wednesday on the federal flight charge in connection with the alleged theft of a house trailer from a Ypsilanti rental agency.

Police said Manuel and Collins took the trailer to Salinas in mid-June and abandoned it there. The trailer has been impounded by Salinas police investigating the slaying of Roxie Ann Phillips, 17, on June 30.

Manuel was arrested at the home of his sister-in-law, Ernestina Masters, who said he told her he fled from California because "he was scared and was afraid he would be sent to jail for something he didn't do."

Racial Issue Shuts Down Construction

CHICAGO (AP) — A coalition of black organizations demanding admission of 10,000 Negroes to building trades unions has forced the shutdown in the last two weeks of more than $85 million worth of Chicago construction projects.

More than 1,200 construction workers on 22 projects on the South Side have been idled by demonstrations sponsored by the Coalition for United Community Action, an organization representing 61 neighborhood groups.

A spokesman for the coalition said the Chicago Building Trades Council and contractors "are going to include us in the building unions or they're not going to build in our community."

The builders' association contends that half the idled workers are black. All the affected projects are in Negro areas.

Thomas J. Murray, council president, said, "There isn't room for 10,000 trainees in the jurisdiction of the Chicago Building Trades Council. Employers can't take that many — we'd have to go to the government for help."

Two projects were shut down Wednesday when talks between coalition leaders and builders ended with a walkout by the black representatives after their demand for separate meetings with union officials and contractors was rejected.

The projects were at Michael Reese Hospital and a housing development.

Robert Skinner, superintendent at the housing project, said Negro youths asked the construction workers to leave the site. He added that the workers left "for reasons of fear."

Figures on the total membership of the building trades council, and the percentage of white and Negro members, have not been made available by either side.

Peru Rejects Oil Company's Newest Appeal

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The Peruvian government has turned down the International Petroleum Company's administrative appeal against the government's demand for $690.5 million. But at the same time it opened the way for the American firm to take its case to court.

The U.S. and Peruvian governments also were expected to announce today that they will open a third round of talks in Lima later this month on Peru's expropriation of IPC properties.

The further postponement of a showdown between Washington and Lima is likely to reduce tensions between the two governments and give them more time to work out the disputes which have sent their relations to an all-time low.

President Juan Velasco announced Wednesday night that he had denied IPC's appeal against the $690.5 million bill, which Peru claims the oil company owes for oil it extracted from Peruvian soil beginning in 1924.

The appeal by IPC, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, was denied July 8 by the Ministry of Mines. The company then appealed to Velasco, who in his decision said the appeal was "unfounded."

Velasco added that his government "reiterates" that the IPC case must be submitted only to the "laws and courts of Peru in conformance with... the Constitution."

The IPC case could continue in the courts for years. Meanwhile Washington and the Peruvian government could iron out difficulties and attempt to put their relations back on a friendly basis.

Peru's military government took over the IPC refinery and oil fields in Northern Peru six days after it overthrew President Fernando Belaunde. IPC continued to operate its retail system in the country until Jan. 28, when the state oil agency took it over and ejected American and other non-Peruvian officials from their offices. The last IPC officials left the country on March 11, and IPC's facilities are now incorporated into Petropetro, the government's refining and retail agency.

IPC, which has headquarters in Coral Gables, Fla., says the value of its expropriated property is about $120 million.

Collector Practices Old-Fashioned Crafts

By RHODA LEMONS
Miss Shirley White may well be the only young woman in Big Spring who has a collection of over 6,000 quilt patterns.

Five days a week, she is a deputy in the Howard County Clerk's office, the other two days finds her an old-fashioned girl who enjoys domestic activity.

Miss White lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer White, at 2204 Johnson. She and her mother make quilts, and between them, they have completed 25 or 30. Sometimes, Miss White makes the quilt pieces, and her mother puts them together.

"We have hundreds of scraps of material," said Miss White, "so there will be quite a few more quilts made before we are through." They make some as gifts.

A collector by nature, Miss White also gathers recipes which are efficiently filed to be found at a moment's notice. She helps her mother with the cooking and assists with preparing vegetables for freezer storage. Miss White planted peach and apricot trees, now bearing, so she and her mother are making jellies and jams.

Plenty of use is made of Miss White's recipe collection. "People seem to especially like my cookies, cakes and salads," said Miss White, who often makes them for friends, family and club meetings.

"I collect glassware because I love the beauty and fragility of it," she said. "I prefer antiques, but I have quite a few contemporary pieces. My favorites are glass bowls."

She does her share of housework and cooking, still, she has quite a lot of spare time. She is currently interested in writing lyrics to songs. Her only problem is finding someone who can write the music.

"Actually, I have written lyrics for six songs," said Miss White, "and wish I could find someone interested in trying to put them to music."

In addition to her other hobbies, Miss White enjoys making handbags and aprons. She has made many handbags (from kits) for her friends, and she has numerous aprons on hand. She tries to make each one a little different and unusual.

Miss White is interested in gardening and growing African violets. She has about 25 different varieties of violets which she keeps on a display shelf in the living room.

She makes doll clothes, some of which she sells, and others she gives to friends who have daughters. She has a large variety of patterns and can make almost any doll wardrobe.

"I find that after working all day, I am only interested in doing things with the family and working on my hobbies at night," said Miss White.

Miss White is publicity chairman for the Seenic Chapter, American Business Women's Club and is secretary for the Texas Star African Violet Club.

Tuna Stars In Tasty New Salad

Right, ready, and reasonable tuna stars in a really different salad.

Spicy pickled onions, colorful green peas, and crunchy chow mein noodles combine with protein-rich tuna to offer a refreshingly different salad which will add sparkle to meals. This combination complemented by crisp lettuce is appealing both to the eye and the taste buds.

The hearty protein punch in this salad will fill the bill as a main course or a satisfying luncheon.

An unusual assortment of tangy foods blend together to make Hearty Tuna Salad an heirloom seafood recipe to treasure.

HEARTY TUNA SALAD
2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen green peas
1 cup thinly sliced celery
2 jars (¾ oz. each) cocktail onions, drained
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. soy sauce
¼ tsp. curry powder
¼ tsp. garlic salt
1 cup chow mein noodles
6 lettuce cups
½ cup toasted, blanched sliced almonds

Drain tuna and break into large pieces. Cook peas according to directions on package; drain. Combine peas, celery, onions, and tuna; chill. Combine mayonnaise, lemon juice, soy sauce, curry powder, and garlic salt; chill. Add noodles to tuna mixture. Add mayonnaise mixture and toss lightly. Serve in lettuce cups. Sprinkle almonds over top. Serves six.

SERVE AS MEAL — This salad will satisfy the heartiest appetite with its combination of seafood and vegetables. Serve it during the summer months, and make it with eye appeal.

Salad Mold Offers Treat For Summer

Here is a hearty main course that proves that a dish doesn't have to sizzle or steam to be nourishing! It's a salmon-and-grape salad that's easy to make, yet lends a festive air to a summertime table.

MOLDED SALAD
½ can (1 lb.) salmon
2 pkgs. (7 oz. each) chicken-flavored rice mix
½ cup finely chopped celery
2 tbsps. finely chopped capers
½ cup diced stemmed seedless grapes
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup sour cream
Halved seedless grapes, small bunches grapes
Halved tomato slices
Drain, bone, skin and flake salmon. Cook rice according to package directions and cool. Combine salmon, rice, celery, capers, grapes, mayonnaise and sour cream. Stir to blend and pack into a lightly oiled one and one-half quart fish mold. Chill. Loosen edges and unmold on a platter. Surround fish with halves of tomato slices. Serve with salad greens and additional mayonnaise. Makes one to one and one-half quart mold.

Guests Will Enjoy Chicken Salad This Summer

Serve this chicken salad for a bridge luncheon.

DIFFERENT CHICKEN SALAD

Mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt
1 cup diced cooked chicken (white meat)
½ cup diced celery
½ cup seeded quartered green grapes
¼ cup pine nuts
Salad greens and paprika
Turn one-fourth cup mayonnaise, two teaspoons lemon juice and one-eighth teaspoon salt into a small mixing bowl; stir together. Add chicken, celery, grapes and pine nuts; mix well. Add more mayonnaise, lemon juice and salad greens; sprinkle with paprika. Makes two servings.

Beans Make Summer Salad

Salads are for summer. Nothing is quite so appetizing during the hot weather, so cool to prepare, and so handy to carry along to outdoor picnics or barbecues.

One of the most tasty summer salads is bean salad. A combination of different beans marinated to blend flavors and served ice-cold on crisp lettuce leaves, this salad is a gourmet's delight. Our recipe uses Ranch Style Beans to make this favorite even more flavorful.

Ranch Style Beans lend their own unique flavor to the salad and are an economical addition. They also cut down on preparation time because they are already ready cooked to perfection.

RANCH BEAN SALAD
1 No. 303 can Ranch Style Beans
1 No. 303 can French style beans
1 No. 303 can whole-kernel corn
1 green pepper, diced
1 small pimiento, diced
1 large Bermuda onion, sliced

DRESSING
½ cup vinegar
½ cup salad oil
1 cup sugar
Salt and pepper
Drain Ranch Style Beans, French style beans, and whole-kernel corn. Mix together beans, corn, green pepper, pimiento, and a few onion rings. Mix dressing ingredients together. Pour over bean mixture and marinate for several hours. Place in lettuce cups for individual servings. Garnish with remaining onion rings and quartered boiled eggs.

Variations of the salad can be made by substituting lima beans and waxed beans for corn, green pepper, and pimiento. Or, use English peas in place of these ingredients. Chopped celery, chopped hard-boiled egg, and quartered tomatoes may also be added. Serve Ranch Bean Salad inside too. It's a flavorful dish at any meal.

Brandied Grapes Taste Delicious

Refreshing hors d'oeuvre to offer sophisticated guests.

GREEN GRAPES WITH ROQUEFORT SPREAD
8 ounces Roquefort cheese
8 ounces cream cheese
3 tbsps. brandy
Seedless green grapes

While Roquefort is refrigerator-cold and firm, remove wrapping and scrape off any outer covering; allow to stand at room temperature, along with cream cheese, until soft. Into an electric blender turn the brandy; add the Roquefort; blend until combined. Blend in the cream cheese in several additions; use a rubber spatula to stir down (with blender off) as necessary. (Makes two cups.) Turn into serving dish set in a larger bowl of crushed ice (to keep spread firm). Serve with clusters of green grapes. Guests will need small plates and knives for topping grapes with cheese spread.

Spicy Dressing To Serve On Greens

Serve this on a salad of mixed greens, scallions, red cabbage.

PHYL'S DRESSING
1 cup commercial sour cream substitute
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup crumbled blue cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
With a fork, mix together all the ingredients. Cover and chill. Makes about 1½ cups.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Miss Shirley White

PAPER CUP FROZEN SALAD
2 cups sour cream
2 tsp. lemon juice
½ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 (8 oz.) can crushed pineapple, drained
1 banana, diced
4 drops red food color
¼ cups chopped pecans
1 (1 lb.) can pitted Bing cherries, drained

Combine sour cream, lemon juice, sugar, salt, drained pineapple, banana pieces and enough red food color to give a pink tint. Lightly fold in nuts and cherries. Spoon in fluted paper muffin cups (large size) which have been placed in three inch muffin cup pans. Freeze. Cover with plastic wrap and store in freezer. Remove from freezer about 15 minutes before serving to loosen paper cups from pan. Peel off paper cup and place salad on greens. Fills 12 large paper muffin cups.

CHERRY SALAD
1 can pitted cherries
¼ cup sugar
2 packages cherry gelatine
2 bottles Coca-Cola
1 large can crushed pineapple
1 cup pecans

Drain cherries, and add enough water to juice to make one cup liquid. Bring juice to boiling point and add sugar. Pour hot juice and dissolved sugar over two packages gelatine. Cool. Add two bottles Coca-Cola, crushed pineapple and pecans. Chill. Makes 12-16 servings.

ORANGE SALAD
1 cup boiling water
1 package orange gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 pint orange sherbet
1 banana (cut up)
1 can mandarin oranges
½ cup small marshmallows
Mix boiling water, gelatin and cold water. Let cool and add sherbet, bananas, oranges and marshmallows. Chill until firm.

RANGER COOKIES
1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups flour
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
¼ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 cup coconut
2 cups oatmeal
1 cup pecans

Cream shortening; add sugars and mix well, then egg and continue mixing. Add flour, soda, baking powder and salt. Mix until creamy, and add vanilla. Add coconut, oatmeal or pecans, or all three. Bake on greased cookie sheet at 375 F. degrees until done. Makes about six dozen. (If two cups of oatmeal are used, add about one-third cup more milk.)

VELVET LAYER CAKE
1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
3 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder

1½ cups milk
2 tsp. vanilla
2 tsp. butter flavoring
1 tsp. almond extract
1 tsp. lemon extract
Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add flour, baking powder, and milk (alternate milk and flour). Add flavorings and mix well. Pour into three by nine inch cake pans (greased and floured). Bake at 350 F. degrees until done. Frost with pineapple icing.

LEMON PINEAPPLE ICING
1 one-third cup sugar
2 large heaping tsp. flour
1 large can crushed pineapple, drained
2 lemons
1 large can and 1 small can flaked coconut

Combine juice of pineapple and juice of two lemons, flour and sugar. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly. Cook until forms soft custard, then add drained pineapple. Let cool and add coconut. Best if you let cake set for a day or two.

CRANBERRY SALAD
1 small package strawberry gelatin
1 small can crushed pineapple
1 small package cranberries, ground
1 large orange, ground
1 large apple, ground
½ cup pecans
1 cup sugar

Prepare gelatin as directed on package. Drain pineapple and add juice. Let set until cool. Mix cranberries, orange, apple and sugar. Let set until gelatin is cool, then mix together and add pecans. Chill. Makes six servings.

SALMON PARTY SALAD (Salmon Avocado Mold)
1 tsp. unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup boiling water
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. vinegar
2 tsp. grated onion
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. horseradish
1 one-pound can salmon, drained and flaked
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ cup sliced pitted ripe olives
¼ cup finely chopped celery

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water; stir till gelatin is dissolved. Add sugar, lemon juice, vinegar, onion, salt, and horseradish; chill until partially set. Stir in salmon, mayonnaise, olives and celery. Spoon into a three-cup mold. Chill five hours or overnight.

AVOCADO DRESSING
Seed, peel, and mash one large avocado. Combine mashed avocado, one-half cup sour cream and one-half teaspoon salt; blend thoroughly. Chill. Unmold salmon salad onto serving plate; spread avocado mixture evenly over outside of salad. Garnish with lemon twist on top of salad. Makes four servings. This is also good without the dressing.

COLD CHICKEN AND FRUIT PLATTER
5 to 6 cups diced cooked chicken
1½ cups diced celery
Fresh fruit — cantaloupe, avocado, pineapple, peaches, grapes
Salad greens
Creamy Orange Dressing
Mix chicken with celery and

Entertain 'The Girls' With Pretty Luncheon

DELICIOUS, BUT NOT TRICKY — Serve a delightful low-calorie salad of cold chicken, fresh fruit, crisp greens and creamy orange dressing.

Entertaining at a summer luncheon can be easy if you choose to serve a salad as the main course.

If the guests are to be "the girls," here's our nomination — a cold chicken and fruit platter with a special dressing. The chicken may be cooked the day before your luncheon and stored in the refrigerator. The fresh fruit should be prepared shortly before serving, but that's easy. The dressing is made in a twinkling in an electric blender.

COLD CHICKEN AND FRUIT PLATTER
5 to 6 cups diced cooked chicken
1½ cups diced celery
Fresh fruit — cantaloupe, avocado, pineapple, peaches, grapes
Salad greens
Creamy Orange Dressing
Mix chicken with celery and

round in the center of a large platter. Remove outer covering from cantaloupe and avocado; seed and cut in wedges. Remove rind from pineapple, slice and core. Peel peaches, halve and pit. Cut grapes in small clusters. Arrange fruit and salad greens around chicken and celery. Serve with Creamy Orange Dressing. Makes eight servings.

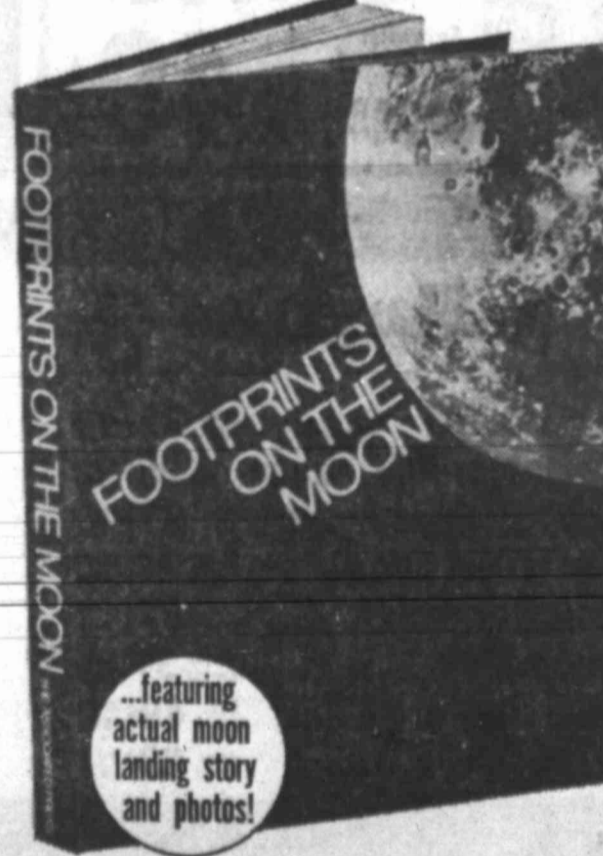

CREAMY ORANGE DRESSING
8 oz. (1 cup) creamstyle cottage cheese
¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
1 tsp. sugar
¼ tsp. ground ginger
Dash of salt
Place cottage cheese, concentrate, sugar and ginger in an electric blender; blend until smooth. Makes about one cup — 20 calories per tablespoon

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two teenaged boys who wear their hair too long to suit me. I recently saw an ad in a Connecticut newspaper which read as follows: "WANTED—BOY. Must be 17 years of age. Must have normal haircut."

Abby, if all employers would hire only boys with normal haircuts, I am quite sure we would have our boys looking like boys again instead of like freaks.

I also blame the girls for the long hair look on boys. My sons tell me the girls LIKE boys to wear their hair long.

SIGN ME DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: There are more battles raging in the modern American home because of "hair" than any other one area of conflict, and I say it's foolish. Personally, I don't like long hair on boys, either, but I still say that if a boy keeps his hair clean and is a good citizen, he has earned the right to wear his hair the way he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: I am considering marrying a man who is 70. I am a few years younger. We've known each other for a good many years. In fact, we were all good friends. This is a marriage of convenience for both of us. We're in fairly good health and he doesn't need my money and I don't need his. His children are all married and so are mine and we just want to give each other as much companionship as the good Lord will allow us. Forget sex. He can't, and I don't care for it.

The question: We each have a home. Should I break up mine and sell it and move into his? Or should he do the moving? My children want me to keep my house, and his children want him to keep his house. What is your opinion? WONDERING: DEAR WONDERING: Forget what your children want, and do what YOU want to do.

DEAR ABBY: Since my return from a recent trip abroad I am literally going out of my mind with the following problem:

While abroad in 1967, I fathered a wonderful boy whom I saw for the first time on a recent journey. Everyone remarked on how much my young "cousin" resembled me. You see, his mother who is approximately my age, is married to my mother's brother.

Only my "aunt" and I know that I am the father of her child. Although I have supported the boy through the family, I now want him here with me since I don't have any other children.

Am I selfish and inconsiderate in my thinking? I have written my "aunt" of my plans, but she insists that I leave things as they are because of the consequences should our secret leak out. What do you think? DEAR WITHHOLD: I agree with your "aunt."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Toledo Dam Dedication

TOLEDO BEND, Tex. (AP) — Dedication ceremonies for the $70 million Toledo Bend Dam will be held Oct. 11. Sabine River authorities officials in Texas and Louisiana said Tuesday.

Govs. Preston Smith of Texas, and John McKeithen of Louisiana will speak.

The Reservoir is largely on the Texas-Louisiana border. The dedication will be held at the dam site on the Sabine 16 miles north of Burkeville and 18 miles west of Leesville, La.

The reservoir, fifth largest man-made lake in the nation, is the only major publicly owned water conservation and hydroelectric power project in the United States built entirely without federal funds.

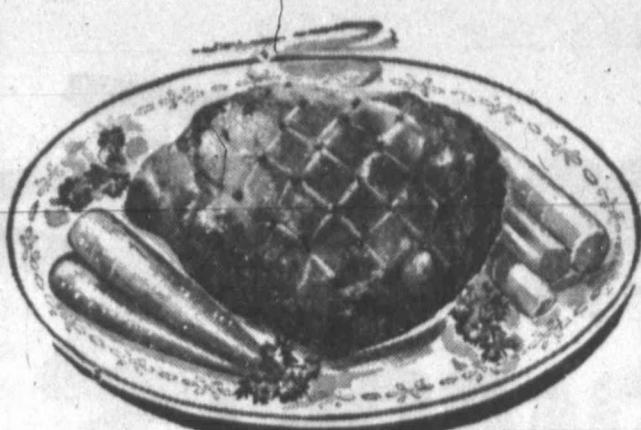

The entire cost of the project was funded by Louisiana and Texas.

The reservoir extends northward from Toledo Bend 65 miles to just above Logansport, La. The project area includes 206,000 acres.

Finds White Hostility Is Waning

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — Well into his second year as Alabama's only black sheriff, Lucius D. Amerson finds white hostility waning.

His biggest problems are those of most other law enforcement officers.

There was undisputed evidence of resentment in the white community of Macon County when he took office in January, 1967. But Amerson—and some white leaders, too—say time and the sheriff's conduct have erased much of the ill will.

"The public attitude has really changed—it has changed tremendously," said Amerson, 35, "and this has helped destroy a lot of mythologies—the feeling that existed among Negroes as well as whites that a Negro sheriff couldn't get cooperation from the white community and from other law enforcement agencies."

When Amerson was elected, he proclaimed a policy of color-blind law enforcement in the county, where blacks outnumber whites 5-1. Negroes and whites alike would be arrested if they broke the law, he said. There would be no discrimination.

He has carried out that promise, says Editor Stan Jackson of the weekly Tuskegee News, "and the people respect him for it."

A former sheriff, Preston Hornsby—who is now probate judge of the county—says "I hear less talk of resentment every day." In fact, he adds "I just don't hear much talk at all."

A white businessman, speaking anonymously, finds the community "pretty well acquiesced" now. "I don't find any real resentment, anymore."

Like many fellow officers, the powerfully built former Army MP says some recent court decisions are "detrimental to effective law enforcement."

Like many Southern county officials, Amerson draws no salary. He lives on fees from making arrests and serving subpoenas and other official papers. The county buys uniforms for the sheriff's force and pays the deputies. But the sheriff has to buy his own official cars, gasoline, tires—even guns.

The fee system should be abolished, the sheriff says, and law enforcement officers should be paid a salary commensurate with the "responsibility and dignity of the office."

"I can make a comfortable living the way it is," he explains, "but I have to hump to do it. It just isn't good when the amount of money a sheriff makes depends on how many people he puts in jail."

Horoscope Forecast TOMORROW —CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today brings reports of all kinds. Don't be surprised if what you had planned got started out to do requires drastic changes in order for you to realize your objectives. Avoid the tendency to get too emotional. Do nothing to take away from what you have planned. ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Be the entrepreneur. Attend to all your affairs. Don't let a single day go by without a sign of activity that gives you a spiritual uplift. TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) It is necessary to schedule your time wisely to prevent confusion regarding your most important job and other activities. Avoid arguments with your co-workers. Don't add to any personal stress. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Before you go on a spending spree, study your budget. Don't jeopardize your present security. Make the right decisions so that you show respect for your regular associates. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you may feel that your life is not backing you up as much as you wish don't start any arguments now over that subject. Get out for some social activity that gives you a spiritual uplift. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget self-pity. Realize that you are very likely better off than most others. Keep the appointment that can help you to advance. Do those little tasks later. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Oct. 23) Avoid people who like to pry into your personal and business affairs. Attend that group affair where you can gain your immediate desires. Be very diplomatic. LIBRA (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You want to progress in the business world. Do not take into your confidence an emotional person in a higher position. He fears losing his position. Improve your health and you will be more efficient. SCORPIO (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do whatever you think will help you to extend your sphere of influence. Take care of that private task wisely and well. Get the information of the right source now. Then use it cleverly. SAGITTARIUS (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Don't expect your friends to handle a responsibility that is clearly yours or you will lose friends and lose benefits as well. Your intentions do not occur about some social affairs. Use your good judgment. CAPRICORN (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Take no part in some false argument going on between a partner and one higher up or you will get the blame and lose out. Just do whatever is expected of you and get ahead. Don't be swayed with others' gossip. AQUARIUS (Feb. 19 to March 20) Instead of trying to analyze your position so much, get busy and do the work required. Then you will make the right strides forward. Find the right system to make everything easier for yourself. Be clever. PISCES (March 21 to April 19) Get busy. Make your home and garden as neat and charming as you can. Exercise your abilities. Find the right colors for your home. Find the right colors for the person you are going to be in a future person. Read the Bible tonight.

A Devotional For The Day

I thank God . . . when I call to remembrance the ungenial faith that is in thee. (II Timothy 1:3-5)

PRAYER: Lord, we pray for the youth of our world who are not afraid to stand up and call You their Lord and follow in Your steps. May they not waver in courage or in their faithfulness to You. We ask in the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen." (From the 'Upper Room')

Bid For Public Eye

Madalyn Murray O'Hair, the self-styled atheist, is at it again, filing a suit in federal district court in an effort to restrain future astronauts from reading Bible passages during broadcasts from outer space.

She claims that this violates constitutional requirements for separation of church and state. The logic seems far-fetched and without any foundation except that the broadcasts originate from a government-financed vehicle. The same thing would be equally applicable from a battleship or bomber.

The cardinal point in previous rulings, notably the school prayer cases, was that a public agency could not prescribe an official prayer, or make religious exercises compulsory in a public situation. Mrs. O'Hair doesn't have to listen to the space broadcasts if Scripture reading or prayer offends her, for she is not a captive audience. But she likely will go right on filing suits, for this is her only means of getting the public's eye.

An Ugly Situation

The episode in Gary, Ind., in which striking firemen blocked and harassed out-of-town firemen and those from an industrial plant as they sought to battle a huge lumber yard fire is an ugly and frightening matter.

The firemen had been trying to get an audience with city fathers, and they had been restrained from picketing by a court order. When a major fire broke out, they not only refused to answer the call but threw up picket lines and interfered with those firemen who were brought in to try to prevent spread of the blaze.

If they sought to enforce upon the public mind a consciousness of what can happen if there is no fire-fighting protection, they succeeded. But in so doing, they also have brought into sharper focus the question of whether public employees, particularly those involving health, safety and security, have a right to strike against the public.

This may get down to a fine legal point, but there is precedent for concluding that they do not possess this right. Calvin Coolidge, as governor of Massachusetts, called out the guard to keep the transport system going. President Truman federalized the railroads to prevent a nation-wide strike. Regardless of the legalities, there is also an over-riding moral question which weighs heavily in favor of the public. In our view, striking by public employees is not the answer, but by the same token, perhaps more effective means of negotiation need to be made open to them.

Art Buchwald

Putting The Declaration On TV

(Art Buchwald has gone into quarantine for a few weeks so that he doesn't give the astronauts any germs. We are reprinting some of his all-time favorites.)

WASHINGTON — Have you ever wondered what would have happened if the people who are in charge of television today were passing on the draft of the Declaration of Independence?

The scene is Philadelphia at WJULY-TV. Several men are sitting around holding copies of the declaration.

Thomas Jefferson comes in nervously.

"Tommy," says the producer, "it's just great. I would say it was a masterpiece."

"WE LOVE it, Tommy boy," the advertising agency man says. "It sings. There are a few things that have to be changed, but otherwise it stays intact."

"What's wrong with it?" Mr. Jefferson asks.

There's a pause. Everyone looks at the man from the network.

"Well, frankly, Tommy, it smacks of being a little anti-British. I mean, we've got quite a few British listeners and something like this might bring in a lot of mail."

"NOW, DON'T get sore, Tommy boy," the agency man says. "You're the best declaration of independence writer in the business. That's why we hired you. But our sponsor, the Boston

Tea Company, is interested in selling tea, not independence.

"Mr. Cornwallis, the sponsor's representative, is here and I think he has a few thoughts on the matter."

MR. CORNWALLIS stands up. "I think I can speak for everybody — that we don't want to go over the heads of the mass of the people who we hope will buy our product. You use words like despotism, annihilation, migration and tenure. Those are all egghead words and don't mean a damn thing to the public. Now I like your stuff about 'life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.' They all tie in great with tea. But you're really getting into controversial water when you start attacking George III."

Mr. Jefferson says, "But every word of it is true. I've got documentary proof."

THE AGENCY man says, "look, Tommy boy, it isn't a question of whether it's true or not. All of us here know what a louse George can be. But I don't think the people want to be reminded of it all the time. They have enough worries. They want escape. This thing has to be up beat. If you remind people of all those taxes George has laid on us, they're not going to go out and buy tea. They're not going to go out and buy anything."

Mr. Jefferson says, "Gentlemen, I was told to write a declaration of independence. I've worked hard on it. You either take it or leave it as it is."

"WE'RE SORRY you feel that way about it, Tommy," the agency man says. "We owe a responsibility to the country, but we owe a bigger responsibility to the sponsor. The British are the biggest tea drinkers in the Colonies. We're not going to antagonize them with a document like this. Isn't that so, Mr. Cornwallis?"

"Check, unless Mr. Jefferson changes it the way we want him to."

Mr. Jefferson grabs the declaration and says, "Not for all the tea in Boston," and exits.

The producer shakes his head. "I don't know, fellows. Maybe we've made a mistake. We could at least have run it up a flagpole to see who saluted."

Salaries Up For Graduates

CHICAGO (AP) — A survey of trends in employment of college and university graduates in business and industry shows that there is a greater demand for them — and at record salaries.

Frank S. Endicott, director of placement and professor of education at Northwestern University, reports that companies plan to employ 20,237 men with bachelors degrees in 1969, compared with 16,615 in 1968.

Reports from 132 companies indicated they plan to employ a total of 2,251 women graduates in 1969, compared with 1,871 last year, a 20 per cent increase.

Men with bachelor degrees in engineering will be offered an average of $818 a month, compared with $776 in 1968; men in sales $669, whereas in 1968 they started with $635.

— and be on guard against any sign of a subsequent flare-up, because it is hard to tell when the infection is totally suppressed.

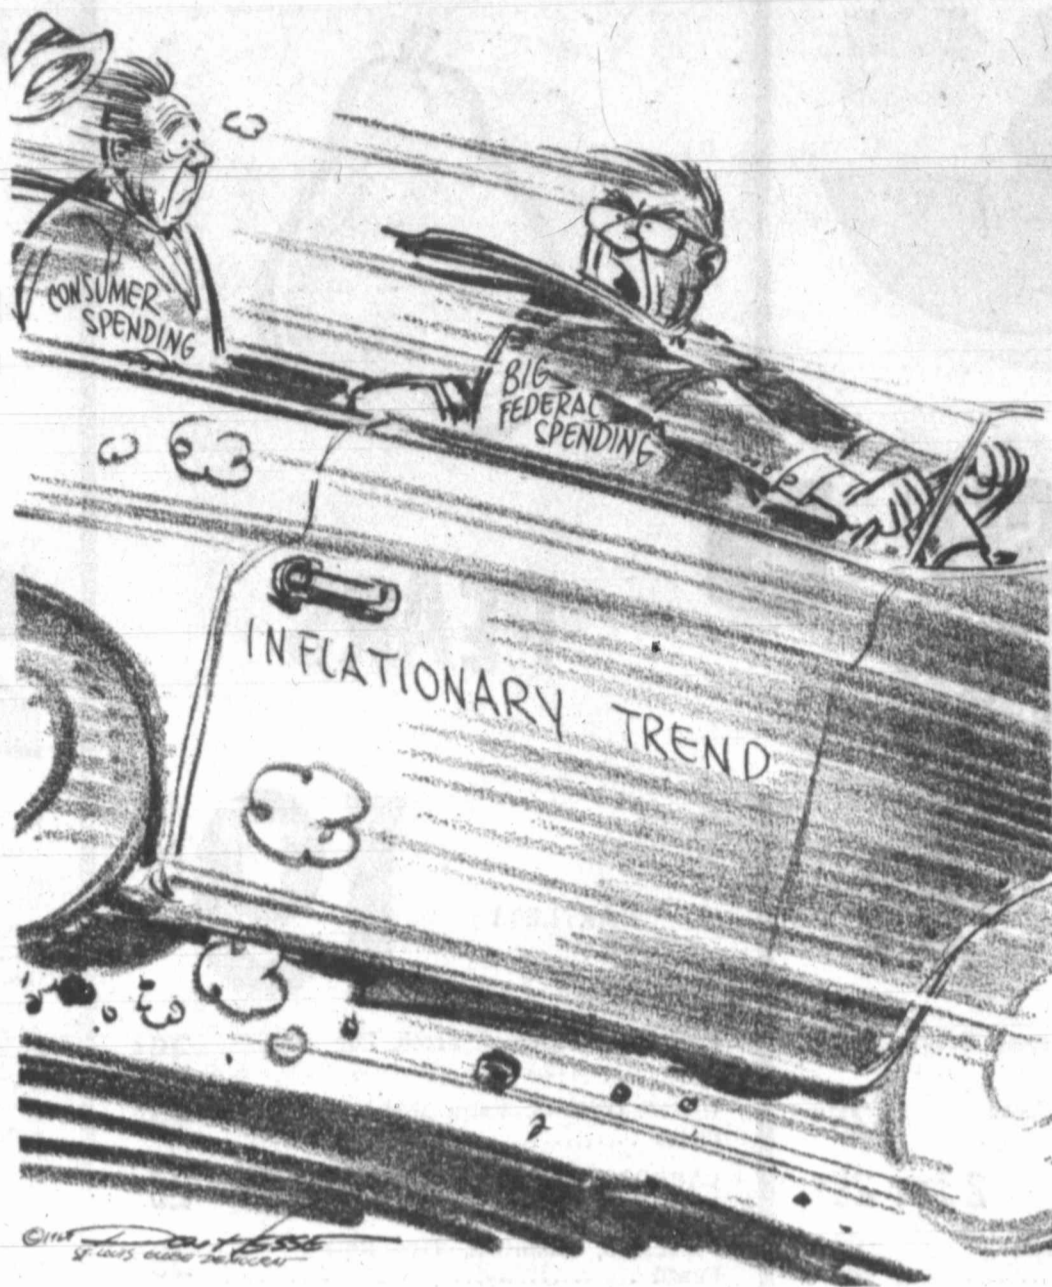

It is not easy, either, to predict the future course. Attacks can vary from relatively mild to acute. The infection may subside or it may lapse into a chronic phase. Or it may even go into a nephrotic stage.

That brings us to nephrosis. A better name for it is nephrotic syndrome — a set of symptoms falling into a particular pattern.

There is (as in nephritis) swelling of the tissues. This is particularly noticeable in the extremities and face. But blood pressure is normal, although blood cholesterol may be high. There is a high degree of loss of albumin through the urine, with a decrease of albumin in the blood.

Over-all effectiveness of the kidneys in getting rid of nitrogen wastes is not impaired to the extent seen in nephritis.

Nephrosis is more common in children than in adults, but the cause is not known. (Nephritis

Aphrodite Wearing Hal Down

NEW YORK (AP) — A home should be a home and not a zoo. But at present I'm running probably the only two-bathroom menagerie in town, and what I need most is an assistant tame animal trainer. The job is wearing me down.

My predicament came about in this manner:

Back in 1958 my late wife Frances adopted a black-and-white alley kitten named Lady Dottie on the grounds that our 5-year-old daughter Tracy needed a pet as a companion in order to avoid stunting her emotional growth.

Lady Dottie's gravel box was promptly installed in the front bathroom of our apartment, the one place in the world where until then I could enjoy some privacy.

"Why?" I whined.

"Where else could we put her box?" demanded Frances practically.

So for 11 years I've been getting to work late because I can't get into the bathroom until the cat finishes her morning ablutions, so to speak.

This year, when school let out in June, Tracy came home lugging a box containing a giant, red-eyed, white rabbit named Aphrodite.

"The biology teacher said that if one of the students didn't keep Aphrodite over the summer she'd have to be put to sleep forever," explained Tracy. "I couldn't stand for that to happen."

"Where are you going to put her?" I asked.

"In our back bathroom."

"Why?" I whined, as I had 11 years before.

"Because Lady Dottie has the front bathroom," explained Tracy, as if she were speaking to a retarded adult. "Everyone knows that cats and rabbits don't like to share the same bathroom."

Soon after Aphrodite was installed, Tracy blithely took off on a vacation trip to Rome, leaving me the task of providing food and maintaining law and order in our two-bathroom menagerie.

It is quite a chore, and I am getting red-eyed myself taking care of a red-eyed rabbit and a green-eyed cat.

Aphrodite seems to be in love with Lady Dottie, but Lady Dottie is jealous and hates the very floor the rabbit hops upon. By day she is also somewhat afraid of the big white rabbit, but at night she paws endlessly at the closed bathroom door sheltering Aphrodite.

At first I was haunted by fears that Aphrodite might be in a family way and I'd have to act as an impromptu midwife for a rabbit. Fortunately, she turned out to be a chaste maiden, and so I haven't had to tell her to go and never darken my bathroom door again.

Once a week I take Aphrodite for a stroll on the apartment lawn below. When it's time to return, whooping neighborhood kids help me recapture her in Manhattan's only regular one-rabbit roundup.

My vegetable bill has tripled. Each morning at 5 o'clock Aphrodite gets hungry and starts thumping on the tin bathroom waste basket—her breakfast signal.

The other evening the neighbor beneath us rapped at my door.

"If you must practice on your bongo drum in the bathroom," he said politely, "couldn't you do it a bit later in the day?"

"That's not a bongo drum," I replied, embarrassed. "That's just Aphrodite, our red-eyed white rabbit."

Looking at me oddly as he began backing away, the neighbor said: "Well, old chap, I'm afraid if you start keeping pink elephants in your bathroom, we'll have to move."

And I'm afraid that if Tracy doesn't come home soon her welcome home dish, when she does return, will be a big steaming plate of hasenpfeffer, once known as Aphrodite.

Makers Of Medals Busy

NEW YORK (AP) — The landing of men on the moon and their return to earth has inspired a near record spurt of activity here and abroad by makers of bronze, silver and platinum commemorative medals.

The demand is anticipated from collectors, speculators, connoisseurs, and ordinary people who simply want to share in and preserve a proud accomplishment of their generation.

Louth's firm is producing 10,000 serially numbered pure silver medals designed by Ralph Menconi, who produced inaugural medals for Presidents Nixon, Johnson, Kennedy, Eisenhower and Truman. They will be distributed by Presidential Art Medals for $35 each.

Asked if the coins will increase in value over the years, Louth stated, "I have no doubt they will. I believe in all honesty they will increase in value. The Kennedy inaugural medal sold once for $30 but is over $100 now."

Mishler estimates that about

40 or more companies already have offered medals and that activity is perhaps even greater in Europe than in the United States. Eventually, he forecasts, "there'll be hundreds."

The Philosophy Of 'Know Thyself'

I became much better acquainted with my aunt, Alice Van Brook Carroll, after she died. When she lived, I was a child, knowing her only as a gentle voice and scent of sweet talcum. Now I realize she was a rare and remarkable woman.

Born in Terrebonne Parish, La., the daughter of a school teacher, she herself, beginning at seventeen, taught school until her marriage eight years later. From then on, she reared six children, did what she could for the world, and left it with fine dignity.

AFTER HER DEATH, her son, Benjamin H. Carroll Jr., of Florida State University, selected and arranged her poems, essays and letters for publication. She was a member of the Baptist Church, but it was said her writings were a more recognizable index of her religion. She was by nature and life-long dedication, a passionate idealist, incapable in word or act of violating her own exacting code.

The core of that code, and thus the source of her writings are, to me, expressed in a few words from an essay which she entitled, "An Interesting Subject — Me."

"READER, you have only to note the subject of this essay to escape disappointment; therefore blame me not for wasting your time should you decide to read any further. My subject is one that is very interesting to me and I am not concerned with your opinion. Like the old Quaker who talked to himself because he liked to listen to a good talker and to talk to a good listener, I write solely for my own satisfaction, being very well aware that I would have to change the personal pronoun to satisfy you. Yet I have no hesitancy in asserting that my subject is just as wonderful and just as vital as any in God's universe. To question that statement would be to question the Creator's judgment, to despise the subject — an insult to Divinity itself. Has He not said that the tree is judged by its fruit?"

"THE PHILOSOPHER who said, 'know thyself,' touched the keynote of true education, for only he who understands himself can ever understand humanity. So no feelings of meekness or inferiority assail me when I indulge in self-contemplation. The 'me' in me is the me I want to be, that I was intended to be, that I would have the world know as I know it. My true self is not one to be ashamed of; it is the best self I have.

"Nor do vainglory or inordinate conceit attend this estimate of myself, only a proper appreciation of the person I am supposed to be, that I really am. I should feel criminally at fault to have any but a good opinion of myself.

"IF IT BE true that we are a part of all we see, then it becomes my duty to see as much as I can, to make the most of everything that comes my way, to reach out and take to myself all the good and beautiful things I find and make them a part of myself. There can be no selfishness or smallness in this; I am thereby only bringing to its fullest development the only thing that has been entrusted solely to my own care, myself, my own immortal soul."

Words are what Alice left me, and in these few, they become a lovely legacy.

Results From Nixon's Tour

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's trip to Asia and Eastern Europe may turn out to have been his most important achievement since taking office. For it may help to start constructive steps toward the ultimate goal — maintenance of world peace.

Far from being in any way a move that could be construed as critical of Soviet government policies, the visit to Rumania was really an example of America's readiness to make direct contacts and engage in frank conversation with the heads of governments which are regarded as on the Communist side of the fence.

THE AMERICAN President by his talks at Bucharest may have opened the door not merely to further meetings in the Eastern European countries which are under communist domination but with the Moscow government itself. Already a "summit" conference seems assured.

What stands out now as a sign of progress is the initiation of broad discussions about the future of all the disadvantaged countries, whether in Asia or Europe.

There was a surprising note, for instance, in the remarks of President Ceausescu of Rumania, who, in welcoming President Nixon, said:

"WE BELIEVE that in the complex conditions of international affairs today, the development of relations between states on the basis of the principles of peaceful coexistence and respect for independence, sovereignty, equal rights and noninterference in the internal affairs, represents the safe way toward promoting a climate of confidence and understanding among peoples and of peace and security in the world."

Mr. Nixon couldn't have expressed it better himself. The basic concept, if adhered to, can do much to preserve peace. All the peoples of Eastern Europe — particularly the Czechoslovak populace — will read this declaration and say to themselves that it's exactly what they have been asking for.

BUT WHAT IS the effect upon the men in the Kremlin? Do they regard this visit by Mr. Nixon as an "intrusion"? Some probably will, though the Moscow government must realize that the West, led by the United States, did not interfere in any way even when the Soviets ordered their troops into Czechoslovakia to secure adherence to communist party doctrines. Moral force alone was exerted by the peoples of the West.

THE WORLD knew that the peoples of Eastern Europe were deeply sympathetic with Czechoslovakia. For the real issue did not involve ideological doctrines but whether the so-called communist-bloc countries were to be allowed to enjoy the "independence, sovereignty, equal rights and noninterference in internal affairs" which the Rumanian president now espouses in a public ceremony with President Nixon.

The Soviet government usually moves slowly to change its policies. It doesn't allow anything to be printed immediately on some subjects by the newspapers because the executive group in the party isn't always sure what should be said. If the top men in the Soviet government were a bit more alert on the "public relations" side, they would take advantage of Mr. Nixon's visit and suggest that he come to Russia next time.

FOR WHAT is plainly needed is a better understanding of American motives. What the Soviet Union must perceive is that friction between the major powers can lead to a suicidal war and that, if all thought of annexing or dominating neighboring countries were given up, the road would be cleared for the restoration of freedom in Eastern Europe and the improvement of economic conditions there.

Nixon's Words Imply Action

WASHINGTON — President Nixon in Saigon lived up to the best expectations of his friends in Washington. These are his onetime buddies in the House of Representatives who have been saying, from personal knowledge, that the President never intended a bug-out in Vietnam.

"We have gone as far as we can or should go in opening the door to peace," he said in words aimed across the DMZ at Hanoi. "It is time for the other side to respond."

IF THIS MEANS what the President's friends think it does, he has rung the warning bell in Hanoi as well as in the Paris conferences. There will be no more concessions. The partial disengagement of American troops was meant to set a mutual disengagement in motion. It was not the beginning of a unilateral withdrawal. The Midway meeting at which South Vietnam's Thieu was forced to loosen up his wartime dictatorship with promises of a broader government was not the sell-out of an ally. It was, like the token pullout of 25,000 American troops, an invitation that calls for an R.S.V.P.

THIS IS THE friendly interpretation of the President's words and meanings, but it contains a certain amount of mind-reading. Mr. Nixon said things in Manila, in Guam and in Bangkok that are susceptible to various translations. America is going to remain a Pacific power, but this intention doesn't include "more Vietnamese." He was going to support Thailand against internal subversion and external invasion, but Asians must fight their own battles. By the time all the words are toted up and sorted out, there is no authorized translation. Mr. Nixon's detractors, as well as his outright enemies, have made their own versions. Some say that he has purposely shown confusion, since he has no plan at all. Others believe that the only kind of peace he can make now is one that would merely postpone the eventual takeover of all Vietnam by the Communists. And quite a few believe that the President has made promises in Asia which the Senate will not permit him to keep.

THE SENATE in June passed the National Commitments resolution (S.Res.85) which said that any promises of support to a foreign power must have a "legislative instrumentality" to make it valid. A Senate resolution, however, is not a law.

WHAT THE President's various foreign policy speeches in Asia boil down to is a pledge to action. Deeds will count, and not the words. If the American negotiators in Paris respond to the next rebuff by packing up and coming home, that will be a deed. If American air and Navy power respond to another Communist offensive by striking the enemy's homeland, that will be a deed. If, as is thought to be in the works, Mr. Nixon unveils a deal in the Far East with Russia, that would be a deed toward a petting out of the Vietnam War.

HOWEVER MR. NIXON's many words in Asia may be interpreted, they are not those of a man who is merely sounding off. He intended them to be a preface to action which cannot be long in taking place.

Nephrosis And Nephritis — The Difference

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the difference between nephrosis and nephritis? Are they curable? — Mrs. N.K.

A simple question — but no simple answers!

Both are serious. Both involve the kidneys.

Let's start with nephritis (Bright's disease). A better term is glomerulonephritis, because it involves the glomeruli, or little clusters of filter units which make up the kidneys.

With these filters unable to work at normal efficiency, the body has trouble ridding itself of nitrogen waste products. Usual symptoms include swelling of body tissues, elevated blood pressure, and albumin, pus cells, and red cells in the urine. Uremia can develop. Nephritis must not be neglected because a severe case can destroy the kidneys entirely.

The usual cause is a streptococcus infection, and basic treatment is the use of antibiotics to subdue the infection. I have warned before, and do so again now, that these kidney infections can be stubborn. Don't stop treatment too soon — and be on guard against any sign of a subsequent flare-up, because it is hard to tell when the infection is totally suppressed.

It is not easy, either, to predict the future course. Attacks can vary from relatively mild to acute. The infection may subside or it may lapse into a chronic phase. Or it may even go into a nephrotic stage.

That brings us to nephrosis. A better name for it is nephrotic syndrome — a set of symptoms falling into a particular pattern.

There is (as in nephritis) swelling of the tissues. This is particularly noticeable in the extremities and face. But blood pressure is normal, although blood cholesterol may be high. There is a high degree of loss of albumin through the urine, with a decrease of albumin in the blood.

Over-all effectiveness of the kidneys in getting rid of nitrogen wastes is not impaired to the extent seen in nephritis.

Nephrosis is more common in children than in adults, but the cause is not known. (Nephritis

Texans Respond To Latest Appeal To Help The Needy

By The Associated Press

The Texas Water Plan failed, but a $20 million increase in the state welfare ceiling passed in Tuesday's constitutional referendum.

Both issues carried "critical" labels.

Tabulations by the Texas Election Bureau late Wednesday showed the water plan behind by 5,345 votes with only about 2,700 still to be counted.

It was the second time around for the welfare ceiling hike proposal. Just nine months ago Texans defeated an amendment that would have raised the limit to $75 million.

Everybody's For Those Tax Goodies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of a massive tax reform and relief bill predicted it "will get votes like motherhood" as the House headed toward voting on the legislation.

In debate members have criticized individual provisions, but there has been little indication of votes against the over-all measure—which is not open to amendment except by the Ways and Means Committee.

"It will get votes like motherhood," Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., a Ways and Means member, told newsmen. "Who can vote against giving everybody at least a 5 per cent tax cut?"

The vote to send the bill to the Senate was expected late today.

A 265-145 procedural vote Wednesday killed any chance of opening up the bill to general amendments. This scuttled the plan of some members to try to knock out a provision extending the income surtax at 5 per cent for the first six months of 1970.

The Ways and Means Committee had two amendments considered certain of adoption. One puts into effect its last-minute change in the bill to make tax rate reductions it says will insure a 5 per cent cut to all.

The other changes the method of calculating depletion on oil shale. The effect is to encourage ultimate production of oil from shale, still in pilot stage.

During Tuesday's debate, several members from oil producing states criticized the bill's provision to cut the oil depletion allowance.

But Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., who led off the discussion, said he is "over-all for the legislation."

The fight over oil depletion is considered certain to be renewed in the Senate.

Bush said he thinks in this area, "the committee went too far."

Defenders of the depletion allowance say it is needed to encourage exploration for more petroleum reserves.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said he is concerned that "some of the provisions on oil may be damaging not only to the oil industry, but the general economy of the country."

But Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., complaining "there is no real tax reform here," said "the changes in oil depletion are a joke and nothing is done about drilling allowances."

Tornadoes Rake Minnesota, 14 Dead, Hundreds Injured

OUTING, Minn. (AP) — At least eight tornadoes clawed through farms, forests and lakeside resorts in northern Minnesota late Wednesday. The death toll was estimated at more than 14. Hundreds were injured.

There were fears the death toll might rise because of fishermen unaccounted for on many lakes.

One of the worst-hit spots was this resort community, a town of 300 that triples in size each summer as vacationers flock to area lakes.

One twister shredded homes and summer cottages on Roosevelt Lake, just outside Outing. "It's a mess, it's plain leveled," said a sheriff's deputy who surveyed the lakeside area.

Jane Tyler, 17, of Camanche, Iowa, staying at a resort on Roosevelt Lake, said: "We heard a whistling sound and lay down on the floor of the cabin. The bed started jumping up and down. All of a sudden we were under a pile of wood."

At least four of the known dead were vacationers at a retreat operated by the Bethany Fellowship, a Minneapolis church group. The sheriff's office said that in the vicinity of Outing there were "seven or eight dead and three known missing."

Two more victims died in the Island Lake area, north of Duluth, at the northeastern tip of a 100-mile path ripped by the twisters.

National Guardsmen sealed off the heavily hit areas around Outing and nearby Emily.

The Weather Bureau said it was the worst loss of life from tornadoes in history for the northern Minnesota area.

The twisters were spawned in black thunderclouds that followed a day of stifling heat and high humidity.

The Weather Bureau estimated that at least eight wind funnels were involved. Also hard-hit were the Hibbing, Floodwood and Duluth regions.

Ten persons were brought to hospitals in the Hibbing-Chisholm-Virginia area. Another six were taken to hospitals in Duluth.

It took two hours to clear a path through fallen trees for ambulances to reach the scene.

Ralph S. Moore, a power company employe staying at Island Lake near Duluth, said the storm hit with a "pure white curtain of wind-driven rain."

Administration Orders Equal Employment Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration intends to put into effect a controversial equal employment plan despite a high government official's opinion that it violates civil rights law.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz brusquely rejected Wednesday the opinion of U.S. Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats that the job equality plan would set up illegal racial hiring quotas for construction workers.

"His opinion was not solicited by the Labor Department," Shultz said, in effect suggesting that Staats mind his own business.

"The comptroller general is the agent of Congress, not a part of the executive branch," said Shultz, who indicated he had President Nixon's backing.

Shultz said the Labor Department will probably award Friday the first federal construction contract requiring contractors to employ a specific number of Negroes and other minority group members.

Staats called it a "quota" system. Shultz said it would merely set a "range" for goals of employing more minority group workers.

The Labor Department program is called the "Philadelphia Plan" because it affects only that area in an effort to improve what Shultz has called "the deplorably low rate" of minority employment among higher paid construction trades there.

Similar equal employment plans will be extended to other cities later, Shultz has said.

Labor Department Solicitor Laurence Silberman conceded that the opinion of the comptroller general, who audits government contracts as head of the General Accounting Office, would cause some difficulties and perhaps lead to a lawsuit.

Shultz and Silberman said they would welcome a suit to "clear the air."

Shultz said he had an opinion from Atty. Gen. John Mitchell that the equal employment plan would not violate the 1964 Civil Rights Act.
