

Tide Of Aid Streaming Toward Ravaged Area

Search For Dead, Injured Continues

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Leaking gas and the threat of malaria added new problems today on the Mississippi Gulf Coast where weary rescue teams still search for bodies in the trail of destruction left by Hurricane Camille.

The death count from the monster storm stood at 170 but Mississippi deputy civil defense director Prentiss Baughman said he expected the Coast death count to reach 230 eventually as the more remote areas are reached.

"They have unconfirmed reports that between 180 and 185 dead have been found on the Mississippi Gulf Coast," the state's Civil Defense headquarters in Jackson said today.

C. P. Wimberly, administrator at the Gulfport Memorial Hospital, said "there is malaria in the regular city water at this time."

Water tanks streamed into the stricken coast from New Orleans, Baton Rouge, La., and other nearby points. New Orleans sent 13,000 gallons in tank cars while Baton Rouge shipped 15,000 gallons. But this was hardly enough for refugees and evacuees estimated by some sources at 200,000 and all seeking some sort of aid.

Dr. Frank Wiygul, director of general health services for Mississippi, said there was no immediate danger of a typhoid epidemic but cautioned only boiled water or that from a relief agency should be drunk.

The coast remained under the limited martial law order imposed by Gov. John Bell Williams who said Tuesday that "some people estimate the death rate could go up to above 500 and possibly reach 1,000."

150,000 HOMELESS
Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development, were to join Williams on an aerial inspection of the devastated area in which the governor predicted total damage "might perhaps go beyond a billion dollars."

Civil Defense authorities estimated 150,000 to 200,000 persons were left homeless in Mississippi's three coastal counties. Camille, the most intense hurricane ever to hit the American mainland, sideswiped the southeastern edge of Louisiana and raged on to Mississippi's coast Sunday night.

Two days later some areas still had not been reached by rescue crews. Communications were erratic, sometimes nonexistent. Officials said it might be several more days before the full extent of death and damage was known.

WRECKAGE
In Mobile, Ala., the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers said men and equipment were being sent in to begin opening roads and streets clogged with heavy wreckage and debris.

Emergency telephone and power repair crews collected from nearby states struggled to restore communications along the coastal strip.

Army generators were ordered airlifted in to provide temporary power for Gulfport's water pumping plant. The scarcity of drinking water was a serious problem everywhere in the devastated area.

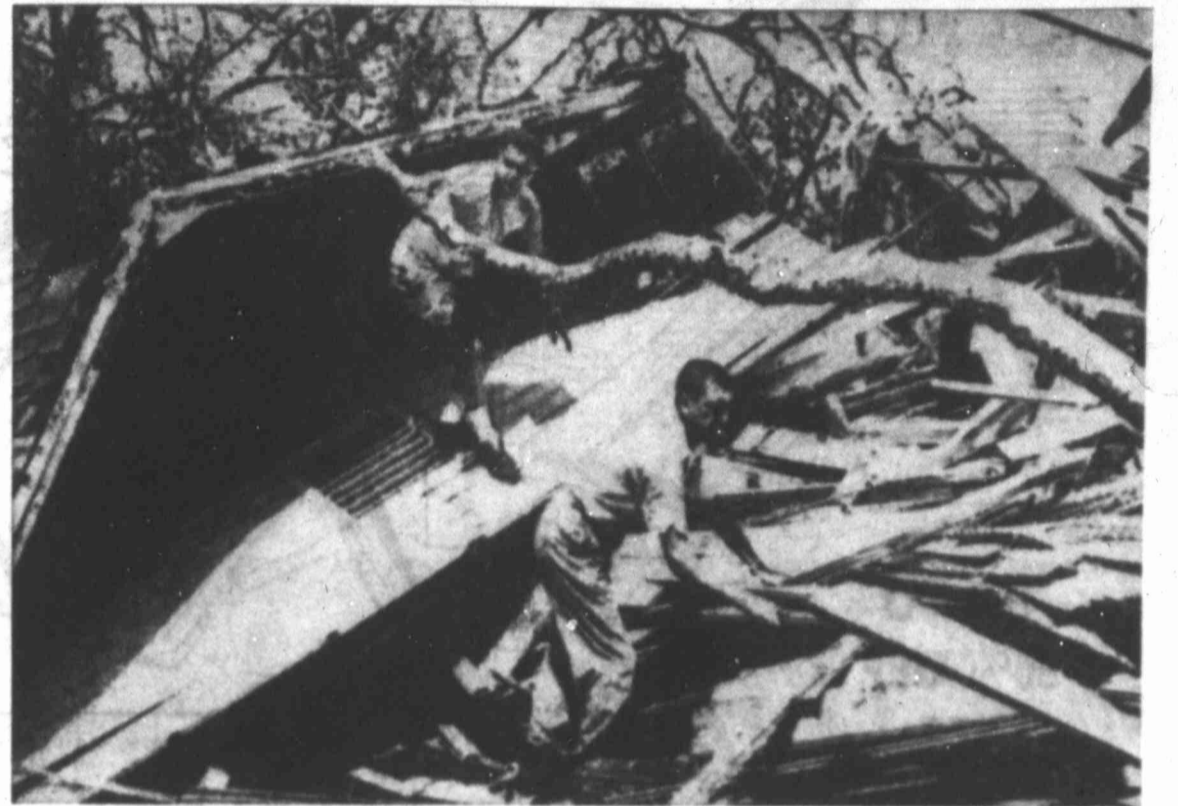

Truckloads of food rumbled in, some provided by the regional U.S. Department of Agriculture office in Jackson, Miss., and some by private organizations.

Mercy flights of vital supplies and medicine were organized. In New Orleans, a light plane carrying medical supplies crashed on takeoff, killing the four men aboard.

Along the strip's beaches and bayous the stench of death was heavy. Camille threw thousands of fish ashore with her rushing tides—20 feet above normal in areas of maximum storm force.

Under the limited martial law proclaimed by Gov. Williams, chiefs of the National Guard and highway patrol hold joint responsibility in supervising the area.

Williams said the step was taken in order to quarantine the area and limit the flow of people—particularly sightseers.

THEY CAME OUT ON TOP — John Burk, foreground, and Carl Wilson (top, back) survey the damage to their Long Beach, Miss., house Tuesday. Burk was blown into a tree by Hurricane Camille Sunday night and rode out the storm in his perch. Wilson ended up under the house when it collapsed. Neither was injured but two other persons in the house died.

'Sensible Risks For Peace' Suggesting New Troop Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers declared today that in deciding on further withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam "We're prepared to take sensible risks for peace."

Rogers told a news conference that while the lull in the war in Vietnam had been broken by a surge of enemy activity on Aug. 11 and 12, "On the whole, enemy activity over the last two months has been somewhat less than previously."

Rogers said that the United States had responded to the lull—initiated by the Communists in June—in an effort to lower the level of combat but he refused to say precisely what battle orders were given.

He also said that the United States is prepared to respond further to enemy cutbacks in activity.

The emphasis of Rogers' comment on the lull and on "sensible risks for peace" appeared to support the expectation that President Nixon will announce new troop reductions toward the end of the month, although the final decision is yet to be made.

On other issues, Rogers said: "The current anniversary of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia a year ago 'serves as a grim reminder with ominous overtones of the difficulty we have' in trying to negotiate and resolve differences with the Soviet Union.

"The United States and its NATO allies are closely watching the heavily expanded Soviet naval force in the Mediterranean and NATO 'is going to take any necessary action to be sure the security of the area is not impaired.'"

Rogers did not explain what he meant by action but presumably referred to possible redeployment of allied forces to offset Soviet deployment.

"The Nixon administration is aware of congressional concern that the United States might be dragged into a land war in Thailand and Rogers asserted that if a crisis should arise raising that issue 'We will consult with Congress, we will get advice from Congress and in any appropriate respect we will get its consent.'"

"U.S. moves toward easing relations with Communist China should not have any effect on the Soviet Union's readiness to join in talks with the United States on limitation of strategic nuclear weapons. Rogers said also that the United States is not developing a two-China policy.

What the United States wants to do, he said, is "to make it clear that Communist China's isolation from the rest of the world is not our policy—it's their policy."

"The Soviet Union has not been giving as much help as it could in trying to bring peace to Vietnam and neighboring Laos, and Rogers said that 'recently they have not done anything at all.'"

He suggested the Soviets could be of much greater help at peacemaking. He expressed concern about the threat of North Vietnamese forces to the security of Laos.

San Angelo Driver Killed In Accident

GARDEN CITY — A car-truck crash east of here at 9:50 p.m. Tuesday killed one man and sent another to a hospital in Midland.

Killed in the mishap was Dennis Doyle Starks, 28, of San Angelo, driver of the car.

Taken to Midland Memorial Hospital was Edward O. Escobedo, 25, of Pharr, Texas, where he was being held for observation of minor injuries.

Highway Patrolman Ralph Ward of Midland said the mishap, 6 1/2 miles east of FM 33 on Texas 158 occurred when the car struck the right front of the truck which was headed San Angelo funeral services for Starks will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in Johnson's Funeral Home Chapel. A second service will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at Ball and Son Funeral Home Chapel in McPherson, Kan.

Burial will be in McPherson, Kan., under direction of Ball and Son Funeral Home. Starks had been a resident of San Angelo since 1957 and was employed by the City of San Angelo.

He graduated from San Angelo Central High School and spent three years active duty with the U.S. Army in Germany.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Starks of San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Jon Anderson of Dewey, Okla., and a brother, Wesley Starks of McPherson, Kan. west on Texas 158. The car was headed east at the time of the accident.

Ward said the front of the car was torn off by the crash and the motor lay west of the vehicle.

The diesel fuel tanks of the truck were broken open by the crash and the Glasscock County Fire Department was called to the scene to wash down the roadway.

MARTIAL LAW — SHOTGUN STYLE — Though the Gulf Coast area of Mississippi is under partial martial law due to the damage caused by Hurricane Camille and possible looting, Lee Hargrove takes no chances. He stands guard over the ruins of his gas station with his own 410 shotgun at Gulfport, Miss.

Black Panther Leader Jailed On Death Rap

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — FBI agents arrested Bobby Seale, national chairman of the Black Panther party, Tuesday night on a fugitive warrant charging flight from a murder charge in the torture killing of a former Black Panther in New Haven, Conn.

Seale, 32, was surrounded and taken into custody without resistance as he rode in an automobile with other members of the militant Negro organization in the nearby university city of Berkeley.

Charles W. Bates, FBI agent in charge for the San Francisco area, said Seale is charged in Connecticut with murder and kidnaping in the death of Alex Rackley of New York, a former party member whose burned and mutilated body was found in a shallow river 20 miles from New Haven last May.

The federal warrant charges unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Rackley died May 21, shortly after the arrest in New York of 21 Panthers in what police said was a plot to blow up buildings. His death followed a "kangaroo court" trial, New Haven police said, in which he was believed to have been accused of disloyalty to the party.

FBI agents brought Seale to San Francisco County jail pending an arraignment before U.S. Commissioner Richard Goldsmith.

In New Haven, Police Chief James Ahern said a Superior Court warrant issued Tuesday also charges Seale with conspiracy to commit murder and conspiracy to commit kidnaping.

Fourteen other persons have been arrested in connection with the Rackley slaying.

Bates declined to say how many FBI agents took part in Seale's capture near the University of California.

Oil Allowable In Texas Dips

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission trimmed the statewide oil allowable today to 52.1 per cent of potential for September, the third consecutive monthly decrease.

The September allowable will permit maximum production next month of 3,237,997 barrels a day, compared with 3,284,263 this month under a 53.1 per cent factor.

Six of 14 major crude oil purchasers sought more oil next month than in August, three wanted less and five asked for the same amount in September as this month.

Written nominations by the big buyers for oil next month totaled 3,015,138 barrels a day, a decrease of 4,209 from August. But a last minute change by Gulf Oil Corp. wiped out the deficit. Gulf switched its nomination from 300,000 barrels a day to 230,000.

GROWING STORM

New Seeding Of Hurricane Debbie Starts

MIAMI (AP) — Another all-day seeding of Hurricane Debbie was launched from Puerto Rico today as the growing 125-mile an hour storm whirled along a west-northwest track in the direction of the U.S. mainland. Stronger in wind force than when she was first hit Monday with massive barrages of silver iodide crystals, Debbie was penetrated by a new wave of seeding aircraft at 8 a.m. EDT.

Four more saturations of the eye wall with crystals was scheduled at two-hour intervals in a repeat of the Monday operation.

Located 500 miles south of Bermuda near Latitude 24.8 north, Longitude 63.2 west, Debbie was moving at 15 miles an hour, hurrying gale winds out over a 300-mile wide area of Atlantic waters.

Mini-Star Woes

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Gary Owens, 11, a mini-star in the movie, "Midnight Cowboy," will miss most of the picture when he goes to the theater tonight.

The picture is rated "X" — meaning for those 17 years old and older.

His mother, Mrs. Robert L. Owens, said Gary will sit in the lobby except that he will be allowed to see the scenes he is in.

Gary portrays the star, John Voight, at the age of 9. The Owens were visiting in Big Spring, Tex., where the picture was shot when picked for the part. He is in eight scenes.

Air Taxi Application

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Aeronautics Commission has received an application from Lubbock-Amarillo Armored service of Lubbock to fly air taxi and cargo routes over much of Texas.

Lubbock-Amarillo said its cargo would be bank letters, vehicle and aircraft parts, computer data, payroll, medicine and other small items.

The firm, headed by Harry F. Woody, Lubbock, now operates in Houston, El Paso, Dallas-Fort Worth, Lubbock and Amarillo.

In its application, it proposes to fly Piper 31, seven-passenger, aircraft over two routes:

GOVERNING BODIES MUST ACT

Land-Value Compromise Accepted By Attorneys

Attorneys for the Rural Taxpayers Association and the county taxing agencies have compromised on rural land valuations, raising cultivated valuations 52 per cent, as compared with a 78.5 per cent increase recommended by the appraisal firm of Wilson and Davis earlier this year.

In a statement issued at 11 a.m. today Guilford Jones, attorney for Howard County, Big Spring Independent School District, Forsan Independent School District and Howard County Junior College, said "a satisfactory agreement as to fair and equitable rural land valuations for 1969" has been reached.

"Each of the governing bodies, through their official boards, are expected to meet in the next few days and adopt the new valuations," the statement said.

In a meeting Monday the board of equalizations listened to a proposal by Don Curry, Fort Worth attorney for the rural taxpayers, and told him a final answer would be given at 10 a.m. today.

Three county commissioners, Simon Terrazas, Ray Nichols and Bill Tune, met in the commissioners courtroom with County Judge Lee Porter, however no mention was made of the valuations, and commissioners had not voted on the compromise at 11:30 a.m.

The attorneys did not appear at this morning's meeting, although three rural taxpayers arrived at 10 a.m. and stayed until about 11 a.m.

Jones said the compromise was reached in a series of meetings with the final meeting last night.

The school board of equalization, closed Monday afternoon, according to Pat Murphy, chairman. "We've completed our work as far as we're concerned," he said.

In a report to the school officials, the board recommended the school maintain the original values set by Wilson and Davis, according to S. M. Anderson, school superintendent. Anderson said the school board of equalization was not aware of any negotiations.

Trustees are expected to vote on the land valuations at their

Men Will Miss 'Iva' In Webb Dining Room

By JO BRIGHT
Mrs. Jack H. Carder, known to lieutenants and generals alike as "Iva," will be missed by many military families at Webb Air Force Base who have come to expect the "extra touch" of service she provided in the Officers Open Mess.

Mrs. Carder has left her job after five years' service, during which, at different times, she has been a waitress, accounts receivable clerk and head cashier.

"I started the job as a real green horn," smiles Mrs. Carder, who arrived in Big Spring five years ago when her husband was transferred here by Continental Oil Company. Their attractive trailer home was hardly in place before a new neighbor told her a job was open at the base. Mrs. Carder went for an interview and was asked to be back that afternoon — wearing a uniform.

Due to her job, she had the opportunity to meet many families who have temporarily made their homes at Webb. Sooner or later, they all had to say farewell to "Iva," but few, if any, forgot her kindness and sincerity. Her albums are thick with photos, letters and Christmas cards received from far corners of the world.

SHE REMEMBERS
When Mrs. Carder began work at Webb, the wing commander was Brig. Gen. A. F. Tautz, now stationed in Europe. A trim weight-watcher, Gen. Tautz often told friends, "As long as Iva is in the building, I'll never have a potato on my plate!"

Some time ago when the general stopped briefly at the base, Mrs. Carder kept a sharp lookout, and by the time he came through the dining room door his table was set up and coffee waiting — the way he liked it. Warmly touched, he thanked her for remembering and "Iva" was not forgotten when his daughter, Annette, mailed graduation announcements from Switzerland.

Taking command from Gen. Tautz was Brig. Gen. Chester J. Butcher, now on assignment in Vietnam. The Butcher family and Mrs. Carder became acquainted, in part, because their son wanted to learn to swim. Mrs. Carder, who once was a swimming instructor at Natrona County High School in Wyoming volunteered to help.

In the process, they became close friends. Mrs. Butcher (Harriet) still keeps in touch, and Christmas time always brings a new picture of the family for the Carder's album.

Perhaps the most sincere compliment paid to Mrs. Carder came when she was named "honorary mother" of Class 67-A which graduated in August, 1967.

"My husband and I practically adopted six of the boys," she said. "I chose those six because they were awfully hard to wait on in the dining room — and I spoiled them rotten." Five still correspond with the Carders. The sixth, lost his life in Vietnam.

One of their "boys," Capt. John Osterlund, a former football player with the Vikings, was back here last month and spent an afternoon with the Carders. Another favorite, Capt. Raymond Funke, now in Alaska, returns every fall to go hunting with Carder. When Mrs. Carder first worked a graduation "dining in," one of the class members was Capt. Steve Sutton, now married and at Webb as a pilot-instructor. Mrs. Carder looked long before she found the right gift for their baby — a lace dress which the Suttons say will be worn at its christening.

SPECIAL GIFT
Retirement parties at Webb have been very special to the Carders who made it their custom to provide the centerpiece — as a gift. It is not a matter of simply ordering flowers, for Mrs. Carder secured miniature symbols for the floral arrangement which would depict the honored officer's hobby. She remembers that for Col. George E. Franks it was fishing; for Col. T. J. Rowland Jr., golfing, and for Lt. Col. J. H. Van Pelt, hunting.

Mrs. Carder is the former Iva Ainslie of Basin, Wyo., where her father Jack Ainslie, still resides. She and her husband are parents of one son, Spec. 4 Douglas Carder, 20, who is stationed with the Army in Vietnam. He was married in March to the former Scherry Avery of Stanton who now lives in Big Spring and is employed by Colorado Oil Company.

Why has Mrs. Carder taken such a special interest in the men she served at Webb?
"This very moment, my son may be in such a place," she said quietly. "I hope someone will adopt him — and make him a little less homesick."

Party Fetes Miss Ford

Miss Paula Ruth Ford, bride-elect of Neal Henry, was honored at a gift party Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Millard Saunders, Sterling City Route.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Bill Green, Mrs. Joe B. Evans, Mrs. Gene Priest, Mrs. Ollie Branson and Mrs. E. W. Nail.

The honoree wore a red and white dress and was presented a corsage of peppermint carnations. She received guests with her mother, Mrs. Carl Ford; her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Arvil Henry; his grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Henry; and her sister, Miss Lana Ford. All were presented carnation corsages.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen outwork cloth centered with a crystal vase holding wedding bells attached to a red lace heart. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The couple plans to marry Oct. 7 in Berea Baptist Church with the Rev. Frank Radcliff performing the ceremony.

Pair Weds In Church Ceremony

Miss Karen Ann Hardee and Thomas Hays Bacus were married Aug. 9 in the First Baptist Church, Wichita Falls, with the pastor, Dr. Landrum P. Leavell, officiating.

Arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums with lemon leaf and candelabra with greenery and votive candles formed the decorations.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hardee, Wichita Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Hays Bacus, Fort Lyon, Colo., formerly of Big Spring.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza with Empire waistline trimmed with pearls. The skirt, with Chantilly lace appliques, swept to a Watteau chapel train and her English silk illusion veil was caught to a headpiece of Venise lace petals with crystals and seed pearls. She carried baby chrysanthemums and a white orchid.

Mrs. Dana Quentin Barber of Radcliff, Ky., sister of the bridegroom was matron of honor. She wore a rose A-line sleeveless gown designed with gathered fullness in back caught with a bow. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a nosegay of assorted flowers.

Miss Cynthia Cleree of Azle and Miss Gayla Weems of Arlington were bridesmaids and were attired identically to the matron of honor.

David Bruce Hardee, the bride's brother, was best man. Groomsmen were Randy Bacus of Fort Worth and Larry Harrison of Midland. Ushers were Mike Baggett of Dallas, Robert Frazier of Denton, Tommy Horton of Munday and Steve Shannon of Midland.

A LOVELIER YOU Avoid Fat On Neck With Erect Posture

By MARY SUE MILLER
It was all right for Atlas to carry a world of weight on his shoulders, but it's not for you. If you want to look as young as you are, see to it that you are never burdened with a globule of fat on the nape of your neck.

As our project for today, let's learn how to lighten the load. You take a step in the right direction when you always hold your head erect, with your chin upward from the floor. The lifted pose helps both to overcome and prevent the problem.

If the difficulty is well entrenched, however, you must add these reducing routines:

1. Stand erect, chin up and arms down at sides; stiffen elbows and make loose fists. Leading with fists, swing arms up and back. Then break wrists so that fists drop toward floor and hold for five counts. Return to starting position and repeat 15 times. You do it right when upper back muscles tense.

2. Lie face down on floor and rest head on backs of hands. Keeping hands against forehead, slowly raise head up and back as far as possible; simultaneously, inch elbows backward and as if to make them touch. Relax and repeat 15 times, working for smoothest, slowest kind of movement.

Diligent performance brings about a youthful line. And that is worth the effort!

EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. Battle Wins In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — William C. Battle, backed by most of the Democratic party leadership, has won the state's first runoff primary election to choose a nominee for governor.

Victor in the Tuesday runoff over state Sen. Henry E. Howell Jr. by 21,000 votes out of about 430,000 cast, Battle immediately called on Howell's workers to make common cause against the Republicans in November.

The 48-year-old winner is a son of former Gov. John S. Battle. He was U.S. ambassador to Australia under the late President John F. Kennedy.

In the runoff for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, Andrew P. Miller of Abingdon swept the state with 63 per cent of the vote over Guy O. Farley Jr. of Fairfax.

Nearly complete returns from the state's 2,031 precincts gave: For governor—Battle 225,390, Howell 204,226, with eight precincts out.

The third member of the three-man ticket the Democrats will field in November, is state Sen. J. Sargeant Reynolds of Richmond, an executive in the giant aluminum company controlled by his family. He is the party candidate for lieutenant governor.

Reynolds scored an easy victory in the original July 15 primary in a field of four.

Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., who cannot succeed himself, strongly backed Battle against Howell in the runoff. He sent best wishes to Battle and Miller and promised his support to keep unbroken the Democratic line of succession in both offices in the past century.

Linwood Holton, the Republican Battle will face in November, was a regional manager in President Nixon's campaigns last year and hopes the President may find time to campaign for him in Virginia, one of the two states which elect governors this year.

'Not As Advanced'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — California Institute of Technology "would like to have people who are more politically, socially and culturally aware than most of us here," says the school's admissions officer, Peter Miller.

Miller said Caltech "is terribly exciting, terribly stimulating if you are an engineer or scientist." But politically and socially, he said, the campus is "not as advanced" as many other schools.

TAX, BUDGET BILLS STILL TO BE PASSED

Time Running Short For Legislators

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators uneasily watched the special session's time grow shorter today with a feeling that "something's got to give" in the House-Senate tax impasse.

Adjournment of the 30-day session must come Tuesday, only six days away, and a budget and tax bill must be passed by Sept. 1.

The 10 negotiators on taxes were expected to meet this afternoon, but it was increasingly apparent that a final revenue measure would be worked out in private by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher or not at all.

Barnes claims the House won't work toward a tax bill fairly balanced between consumer and direct business taxes.

Mutscher says the Senate has offered unrealistic alternatives.

His key lieutenants argue that consumer taxes are fairer because businesses pass their taxes on in the price of their products and often "pyramid" them so the consumer ends up paying more.

The conference committee on appropriations, meanwhile, was hard at work and had a new wrinkle to keep their deliberations secret.

They claimed they were talking about "personnel" whenever salaries came up. Since salaries are on virtually every page of the House and Senate budget bills, they decided their sessions would be confidential.

A Legislative Budget Board staff member was posted Tuesday to keep reporters out of their meeting.

The tax conferees met for 30 minutes Tuesday night in a session that produced no decisions and almost no negotiating.

Sen. Jack Strong, Longview, tried to get a direct vote on a proposed compromise Mutscher had rejected Tuesday morning.

Rep. Ben Atwell, Dallas, conference committee chairman, refused to recognize him, saying the proposal had not been distributed to nor examined by the conferees.

Strong's proposal, which he said would raise $363 million in 1970-71, consists of a sales tax increase from 3 to 3.25 per cent; sales taxation of auto repairs; parking, alcoholic beverages and telephone bills; a 50 cents per $1,000 corporate franchise tax increase; a 10 cents per drink private club tax; a 1 per cent increase in the natural gas tax; inclusion of 25 per cent of corporations out-of-state sales in the franchise tax formula; a four cents per pack cigarette tax increase and a documentary stamp tax on real estate deeds.

When Atwell said he hadn't heard of the proposal before, Sen. Don Kennard, Fort Worth, said: "I thought y'all had a hot line directly from the speaker's office."

"I don't think the Conference Committee on Appropriations can intelligently spend that amount of money," said Rep. W. Heatly, Paducah, the only legislator on both negotiating groups.

Mutscher opposes the $81.5 million proposal to use corporate sales to other states as part of the franchise tax base. He says it is unwieldy and unproven.

After the meeting, Sen. Charles Wilson, Lufkin, author of the proposal, tried to explain it to Atwell. He noted the present franchise tax formula includes only Texas sales and reduces a corporation's tax to the extent it sells its products outside Texas.

"I still don't understand it," Atwell said when Wilson finished.

Sen. H. J. Blanchard, Lubbock, told the conferees the Senate strongly believed new beer and whiskey levies should be included in the tax bill, that the sales tax should not go over 3.25 per cent and that there should be no reduction in telephone company gross receipts taxes, as proposed by the House.

If other taxes are raised but beer and whiskey taxes stay the same, "We will have a hell of a time explaining back home," he said.

Water Cheaper Than Mars Shot

COLBY, Kan. (AP) — A Kansas official said Monday it would be much cheaper to irrigate the Great Plains by diverting a portion of the Missouri River through six states than to send a man to Mars.

Jack Lacy, director of the Kansas Department of Economic Development, told the Kansas Irrigation and Reclamation Association the project would cost one-sixth as much as a Mars shot.

He said his plan called for diverting the river across northern Nebraska, southward through western Nebraska, eastern Colorado, western Kansas, the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles, and ending at Hobbs, N.M.

News Tax Pending

WASHINGTON (AP) — News, photographs and features distributed by news services, syndicates and other outside sources to newspapers, magazines and broadcasting stations in Washington would be subject to a two per cent sales tax under a House-approved measure pending before a Senate committee.

Officials say they believe the tax would be the first of its type in the United States if enacted. They estimate tentatively it would produce $130,000 annual revenue for the District of Columbia.

The provision is part of a revenue bill for the capital which was passed Aug. 11 by the House. It is now under consideration by the Senate Committee on the District of Columbia.

As written, the bill would not apply to news, photographs and other materials supplied from Washington to purchasers in other jurisdictions.

The tax on news and features was not discussed during House debate on the bill. Records indicate it received little attention in the committee that prepared the final form of the revenue measures.

A companion proposal to tax advertising was rejected by the committee.

As in the case of other sales levies, the tax would be paid by the purchaser of the services. The supplier would add the two per cent to his charge and remit to the district government.

The bill would apply the tax to "the sale of or charges for the service of preparing, providing or supplying photographs, comic strips, special feature articles, feature articles, news items, or any similar material intended for use in newspapers, magazines, periodicals, circulars, radio, television, or any other means of publication."

Scores Scoop

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Detective David Toma first tried to disguise himself with old clothes and a beard but was recognized. So he discarded the beard, changed hats and gathered up newspapers to pose as a newspaper boy. Then, a police spokesman said, he arrested a barber on charges of bookmaking and possession of lottery tickets.

Officials Hear Industry Talk

The Tuesday meeting of the Texas Municipal League in Andrews centered on what city governments can do to help bring on industrial development, according to City Manager Larry Crow.

Harry Clark, vice president in charge of development with the First National Bank of Midland, gave a frank analysis of the potential for industrial development in the West Texas area. Crow said.

Crow also said the meeting was beneficial because it gave officials from different cities the chance to get together informally and discuss common problems and what each city is doing to fight them.

He said the same group is scheduled to meet again in February at Midland.

Attending the meeting from Big Spring besides Crow were Mayor Arnold Marshall, City Commissioners George Zachariah and Garner McAdams, administrative assistant Larry Smith, and Finance Director Charles Smith.

Kennedy Inquest To Clear The Air?

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The inquest that opens on Sept. 3 into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne is a long-established way in Massachusetts law to determine the legal cause of death, as distinct from the medical cause. What can the inquest hope to accomplish? In the words of one former prosecutor, "An inquest... is used to clear the air and close the books publicly on a case about which questions have arisen."

Miss Kopechne, 28, a Washington, D.C., secretary, was killed July 18 when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts went off a bridge into a pond on Chappaquiddick Island. The accident went unreported for nine hours. Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis sought and obtained the court order for the inquest to determine, in his words, if the girl's death "may have resulted from the act or negligence of a person or persons other than the deceased."

Two Charged For Possession Of Marijuana Here

Two Big Spring youths have been released from jail on $2,000 bonds each after officers arrested them Monday afternoon and charged them with possession of marijuana. Released on bond were John Clayton Pannell, 19, 2101 Morrison, and Tommy Joe Patterson, 19, Moss Lake Road. The youths were arrested following a traffic violation at Fourth St. and Birdwell.

Bond for Pannell was set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter and for Patterson by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice. In a separate incident city police Sunday night arrested Guy Richards Chambers, 20, of Killeen, who has been charged with the possession of barbiturates. He was arrested at Third and Lancaster, on a vagrancy charge and police found the contraband in his clothing. Chambers still remained in Howard County jail Wednesday, although a $2,000 bond has been set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter.

The city's seal-coat program was to have been completed by noon today, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard. The main part of the work was finished Tuesday, and only the cleaning up remained for this morning. No one appeared in person at Lubbock Tuesday to oppose Big Spring's application for an amended sewer permit, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard. He added, however, that one letter was received by the commission in opposition to the permit unless it met strict quality standards. On the other hand, two letters and a telegram received were favorable to amending the permit.

The commission asked for information about irrigation possibilities within 30 days, Lillard said, and the board will probably want to hold a staff conference before a final decision on the permit is made. Lillard said if the effluent were used for irrigation purposes, the city would need about 1,200 acres for one day's effluent. Since most land irrigated would not need that much water every day, another 1,200 acres would probably have to be found.

City Treats Water To Improve Taste

The cause of the "lake taste" in the water last week remains unknown, according to Ernest Lillard, public works director. "We know it's not water inversion," he said. CRMWD puts chlorine in its water supply line and copper sulphate in the lake to prevent algae, Lillard said, but it could not cause the taste because such small amounts are added. "I don't know what could cause the bad taste except the turnover of the water," said Owen Ivie, general manager of CRMWD. "We've had this problem twice before, in 1958 and again in 1960, and both times it occurred during August."

The change in climatic conditions can cause temperature change in the water with a concurrent stirring of sediment on the bottom. If this change occurs quickly, Ivie said, the taste is usually not affected. But if the change is prolonged, such as a succession of hot days and cool nights, then the taste could be affected. Since Aug. 12 the city has been treating for the taste by putting activated carbon in the water at its water treatment plant, Lillard said. Approximately 2,000 pounds per day is used; the largest amount added was 2,886 pounds on Aug. 14th. The carbon costs $174 a ton, and for the first two days the cost was about $417. Lillard said the taste may turn bad again later when the

Police Check Theft Reports

Big Spring police this morning investigated the theft of a torch, valued at $55, from Jackie Crawford, 707 Settles. He told officers the torch was taken from his pickup sometime during the early morning hours of Tuesday. Police were also investigating the burglary of the Salvation Army building, 308 Ayford. Police said approximately $20 was missing from the office of the building. Dewayne Velievil, a truck driver for Rite Manufacturing Company, Colorado Springs, Colo., told officers that while he was eating at the North Phillips 66 Truck Stop, a spare tire and wheel, valued at $140, were taken from his tractor and trailer. The incident occurred shortly before midnight Tuesday.

Siboney Has Revenue Loss

DALLAS — Siboney Corporation reported revenues of $4,144,500 for the first six months of 1969 as compared with revenues of $4,643,200 for the first six months of 1968. Results for the first half of 1969 reflected a net loss of $34,200 as compared with a net loss of $9,800 for the same period in 1968. James H. Shells, president, said the company's operations during the first half of the year usually result in a loss due to the effect of seasonal demand for its asphalt and educational products. Results for the full year are expected to be profitable. The reduction in revenues was attributed principally to the elimination of marginally profitable business by the newly acquired division, Compression, Inc., of Houston. Results of both periods have been restated to reflect the acquisition of Gamco Industries, Inc., in April, 1968, and Compression Inc. of Houston in June, 1969, on pooling-of-interests basis. Shells advised that the company has been diversifying its activities to offset the impact of its seasonal operations. He announced that agreement had been reached for the acquisition of Celcon, Inc., San Jose, Calif., through an exchange of stock. Celcon is engaged in the distribution and installation of lighting products and its activities will complement those of Cepco, Inc., a Siboney subsidiary which manufactures lighting systems and plastic sheet. It is expected that acquisition of Celcon, Inc., and previously announced acquisitions of Columbia Investment Corporation, Fort Worth, and Southgate Shopping Center, Inc., Colorado Springs, Colo., will be completed around the end of the month of August.

Police Check Theft Reports

In other police activity, Billy Harley Mesker, 919 1/2 Runnels, was arrested early Wednesday morning and charged with aggravated assault, following an incident earlier at the North Phillips 66 Truck Stop Restaurant. He was released from city jail Wednesday on a $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter. Officers said the assault was against Mrs. Myrtis Simms, 1063 Main. They added it was reported to them that a book had been thrown at Mrs. Simms. Two Latin American females, aged 16 and 13, were referred to Juvenile Officer Keith Jones Tuesday afternoon after they had been taken into custody by Big Spring police for simple assault of another girl. The assault occurred at a local discount store.

EMOTIONAL MEETING — Polish film director Roman Polanski talks about his 20-month marriage to actress Sharon Tate, during an emotional meeting with newsmen in Beverly Hills yesterday. She and four others were killed at the Polanski home.

Film Director Talks About Slaying Of Actress-Wife

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Fighting back tears, Polish film director Roman Polanski called his 20-month marriage to slain actress Sharon Tate "the only time of true happiness in my life." "There were agonies of separation," he told a news conference Tuesday, "which I was always trying to dismiss with laughter and silly jokes." Polanski offered no clue to the killer or killers of his 26-year-old wife, 8½ months pregnant, who was slain 11 days ago with four others in the Polanskis' rented $200,000 mansion in exclusive Bel Air. He called the conference, he told newsmen, because "you are curious about my relationship with Sharon."

Police, Troops Patrol Prague

PRAGUE (AP)—Riot police and troops patrolled Prague today, ready to crack down on anything that looked like a demonstration on the first anniversary of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. About 500 riot police clubbed the tear gassed crowds to clear Wenceslas Square three times Tuesday night, but after each attack allowed the throngs to return. Twenty persons were believed arrested and three were injured. The show of police force apparently was intended to emphasize the warnings from Communist party leaders against anti-Soviet demonstrations to protest the invasion that started one year ago tonight. No such demonstrations were observed Tuesday night. The crowds stood silent and sullen, refusing to heed police orders to move on. When force was used, they taunted the police with whistles and cries of "Gestapo Gestapo!" In side streets leading to the square were scenes reminiscent of the debates last year, when young Czechs asked Soviet tank crews why they had come and why they didn't go home. This time young Czechs accused their own people, the police, of making trouble and told them to go home. A new underground leaflet appeared today accusing the police and hard-line Communists of planning to incite the people into a revolt. The leaflet warned against provocateurs and urged the people to limit themselves to passive demonstrations on the invasion anniversary. "Let the first anniversary be a day of shame, a day of national mourning in memory of the fallen ones of last year—let Prague become a dead city," the leaflet said. It backed the widely publicized campaign for a boycott of public transport, stores, restaurants and newspaper stands. The leaflet charged that the police and the old guard, aided by Soviet agents, would try to provoke the public into acts of insurrection. It said this would provide the pretext for installing a new regime headed by pro-Moscow officials Alois Indra and Vasil Bilak, discredited as collaborators at the time of the invasion but since officially rehabilitated. The Indra-Bilak regime would partition Czechoslovakia, inviting the Soviet Union to annex Slovakia and turning Bohemia-Moravia into an autonomous region, the leaflet said. In Washington, U.S. officials said they had information from Eastern European sources that pro-Soviet leaders in Czechoslovakia were planning to seize control of the government during the anniversary period. The U.S. officials are said to be concerned over the possibility that the reports are correct and that the Czechoslovaks may be subjected to a new period of oppressive rule. Their reports agreed with the pamphlet's assertion that the pro-Soviets would attempt to stir up trouble which could be used as a pretext for installing a hard-line regime. Named by the officials as leaders among the hard-liners were Indra and Lubomir Strougal, a deputy to Gustav Husak, head of the Czechoslovak Communist party.

Local Men May Attend 'Hump' Pilots Gathering

The (China-Burma-India) Hump Pilots Association will hold its 24th Annual Reunion at Nashville, Tennessee, August 22, 23 and 24, 1969 at the (Downtown) Holiday Inn, 710 James Robertson Parkway, and indications by Herb Fisher, veteran test pilot and president of the association are that this will be the largest reunion since the inception of the organization. Local members of the Hump Pilots Association are Jack Cook and Jack Gully, who said they hope to be able to attend the Nashville gathering. A number of other Big Springers saw service in the China-Burma-India theater, flying the "hump." The association is an organization of dedicated pilots who flew one of the largest logistic operations in World War II, operating 24 hours a day with practically no navigational aids. From bases in India, they flew thousands and thousands of tons of supplies, passengers and a score of other vital necessities to American and Nationalist Chinese forces in Burma and China. Their operational routes of up to a thousand miles took them over the highest mountains in the world, the Himalayan range, where the worst weather in the world exists almost daily, including violent thunder storms, icing, monsoons and hurricane-type winds. Colonel John Whiteside, Chief of Air Force Office of Information in New York stated that the USAF will have on static display C-54 and C-47 aircraft that flew the Hump in addition to other aircraft types, including a flight demonstration by a giant C-130, plus combat troop drops by parachute.

Opening lead: Four of ♠ Considerable caution was required of South in the management of the game contract in today's hand, and he revealed that there was more than one string to his bow. Against the three no trump contract, West opened the four of spades. The lead was ducked to East's king and the latter continued with the eight of spades which South took with the queen. If the diamonds split in the expected three-two manner, declarer observed that he would have 10 fast tricks. In order to run the suit, he would have to clear the ace-queen from his hand and then use dummy's ace of spades as an entry to cash the remaining diamonds. The only objection to this line of play was that if diamonds failed to break, South would find himself in the dummy for the first and last time. It might then be too late to start development of the diamonds. Presently he found a way to give himself a chance to test both suits, and all he paid for the privilege was a mere overtrick. He cashed the ace of diamonds and then played the queen, overtaking with dummy's king. If the diamonds were three-two, he intended to concede a trick to the opponents in order to establish the suit. This would still give him five diamonds which together with two spades and the heart and club aces add up to the required nine. When East failed on the second diamond, the wisdom of South's play became apparent, for it was now revealed that the diamond suit would not have run in any event. The lead was in dummy so that South could play the nine of hearts with the knowledge that even if East failed to cover the nine, the ace of spades would provide a reentry later on to repeat the heart finesse. When the heart honors divided and the suit split evenly, declarer was able to develop four heart tricks, enough to bring his total to nine. Had South taken what appeared to be the easy course and banked everything on the diamond suit, he would have been unable to make his contract against correct defense.

ful she was, but few of you know how good she was. She was vulnerable, she couldn't refuse any friendship, she had innumerable friends. "There was lot of talk about parties going on in our house which are true. There was constant party. There wasn't an evening without friends." Polanski said two of the others slain, his Polish friend Volodyk Frokowsky, 37, and hair stylist Jay Sebring, 35, "smoked pot sometimes." But Miss Tate said, "not only didn't use drugs, she didn't touch alcohol, didn't smoke cigarettes."

He said Frokowsky and another victim, coffee heiress Abigail Folger, 26, "were often guests in our house in our evenings." The fifth slain in the early morning massacre was Steven Parent, 18, a friend of the estate caretaker. Polanski, his long hair overlapping his collar, spoke to newsmen for 15 minutes. His attorney stood at his side, enforcing the prearranged condition that newsmen not ask questions. The director said he had called the meeting over objections of his agents, the attorney and friends.

IN FIELD OF HORTICULTURE Mrs. Haynsworth Says, 'I'm A Judge Myself'

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—"I'm a judge myself," said Mrs. Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., wife of President Nixon's new Supreme Court nominee. But, she added, she confines her judging to horticulture, her hobby. "I know very little about politics," Mrs. Haynsworth said Tuesday. "For that matter, that's all I'm going to say about politics." Petite, silver-haired, middle-aged and attractive, Mrs. Haynsworth likes gardening, entertaining close friends at home, traveling with her husband and privacy—not necessarily in that order. She would grant only a brief interview. She is pleasant, smiles easily and expresses herself in terse sentences. The Haynsworths' two-story, Old English home is in an upper-middle-class neighborhood. It is largely hidden from the street by a high hedge. In the back yard is a greenhouse and a vegetable garden where Mrs. Haynsworth, sometimes aided by her husband, prunes her hobby. She is a three-time president of the Carolina Foothills Garden Club and has been a national judge in the Garden Club of America, on whose board she has served three years. A garden club in Greenville was named after her. She is a regent of Kenmore, a community restoration group based in Fredericksburg, Va. Mrs. Haynsworth has been a member of the board of the Greenville Maternity Shelter, which she said is a "group which helps people who need help." The Haynsworths are members of Greenville's Christ Episcopal church and she is active in women's Church organizations. She usually accompanies her husband to Richmond, Va., when he presides over the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The Haynsworths met in Charleston, S.C., when he was stationed there as a Naval intelligence officer during World War II. Mrs. Haynsworth, the former Dorothy Merry of Augusta, Ga., has two grown sons by a previous marriage.

Try To Strangle Woman In Her Hospital Bed

TULLA, Tex. (AP)—A man and a woman apparently tried to strangle a woman in her hospital bed Monday where she lay charged with murder in the death of her husband, Sheriff Darrell Smith said. Smith said the incident reported by Swisher County Hospital nurses is believed related to the death Thursday night of Clois "Bud" Kemper, 38, struck by a car near his home 3¼ miles south of nearby Nazareth. Kempe was dead on arrival at the hospital and his wife, who went to a nearby home and asked for an ambulance, was placed under sedation. Smith said two persons entered Mrs. Kemper's hospital room Monday afternoon and tried to strangle her. He said no charges have been filed in that incident. Nurses came to Mrs. Kemper's aid and the intruders fled the hospital. As the man left, he shouted? "I'll be back, and the papers will really have something to write about then," the nurses said. Mrs. Kemper's neck was bused and she later gagged up blood. Tulla is 70 miles north of Lubbock.

HE REALLY WENT UNDERGROUND — Twenty-one-year-old John Henry Cramer, right, wanted for a $203 burglary, hid out in a farmer's cistern underground for nearly three weeks near Lancaster, Pa., hunting groundhogs at night with bow and arrow. He was taken into custody when he went after groceries and was spotted by a neighboring farmer. Cramer, police said, stocked the well with a chair, blanket and kerosene stove. The cistern had not been used for several years, the farmer said. Center photo shows the entrance which Cramer used.

YOU'RE LUCKY! YOU LIVE IN TEXAS

Here in Texas you find some of the finest people in the nation. Here you find honesty and decency a way of life. Here you find some of the lowest automobile insurance rates in the nation.

You hear a lot these days about the high cost of auto insurance and it is true that it costs more to buy insurance than it did a few years ago. Chances are it will keep on costing more until inflation is checked and accidents cut down. But, in spite of zooming property damage and injury accidents . . . auto insurance still costs less in Texas.

SEE FOR YOURSELF

The rates shown in this table are for a popular priced, late model car driven to work and for pleasure by a family with no youthful drivers. Fifty per cent of all insured Texas cars fall in this category. It's the largest group, so that is why it was chosen for this table.

See for yourself that it does cost less in Texas to buy $100 deductible collision, full coverage comprehensive, $1,000 medical payments, plus up to $20,000 liability insurance. All costs are for 12 months of insurance protection and are for cities of comparable size.

Houston $186	Boston, Mass. $346.38	Washington, D.C. $217
Dallas $165	San Francisco $254	New Orleans, La. $203
Fort Worth $159	Portland, Ore. $218	Long Beach, Calif. $207
San Antonio $139	Buffalo, N.Y. $268	Seattle, Wash. $177
Austin $135	Gary, Ind. $215	Yonkers, N.Y. $207
Lubbock $153	New Haven, Conn. $230	Youngstown, O. $184
Waco $133	Santa Ana, Calif. $176	Hartford $132
Corpus Christi $146	Sacramento $289	Denton $136

 Does not include medical payments

Do you wonder why it costs less to buy auto insurance in Texas? There is a very good reason why it does.

Insurance companies and the rates they charge are very closely regulated by the State Board of Insurance. Before rates are set by the Board, all available facts are studied by experts.

You can't make rates on emotional displays or film flam. They must be made on cold, hard . . . and very real facts and figures.

Texas auto rates are made on facts. This is why insurance costs are low in Texas.

COULD IT BE BETTER?

Sure, it could be better in Texas. Auto insurance costs could be lower in our state. And, they will be lower when fewer insured cars are smashed . . . when fewer Texans are injured and killed in traffic accidents. Insurance costs will be less when it costs less to fix up people and cars injured and wrecked in traffic crashes.

There is not much that you can do to roll back hospital, doctor and auto repair costs but there is quite a lot you can do to cut down on the number of traffic accidents.

You should know that more than 50 per cent of all adult Texans killed in traffic accidents were drunk at the time of their death. You should know that they took many innocent Texans with them.

If you really want to cut auto insurance costs, see to it that drunk drivers are treated firmly but fairly. See to it that they are removed from Texas streets and highways until they prove that they can use them without endangering your life and property.

And, of course . . . keep an eye on your own driving.

CONSERVATIVE AND EVIDENTLY RELUCTANT TO EMBARK ON JUDICIAL ADVENTURES

Haynsworth Is Expected To Operate As Restraining Force

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The genteel background and cautious judicial record of Clement Furman Haynsworth Jr. suggest he will operate as a restraining force on the Supreme Court.

such a discovery it will be a vast surprise to those familiar with his record.
In 12 years on the U. S. Circuit Court at Richmond, Va., Haynsworth has shown flashes of judicial independence but done little to disturb the status quo.

ly ingrained in a people.
At the same time, he wrote feelingly of the emotional problems some Negro school children may experience in being assigned to mostly white schools.

The difference could be negligible in that the court usually is unanimous in its school decisions. But Haynsworth could be of vast influence as the court considers racial barriers in social clubs and the unintentional school segregation that is based on "de facto" segregation of big city neighborhoods.

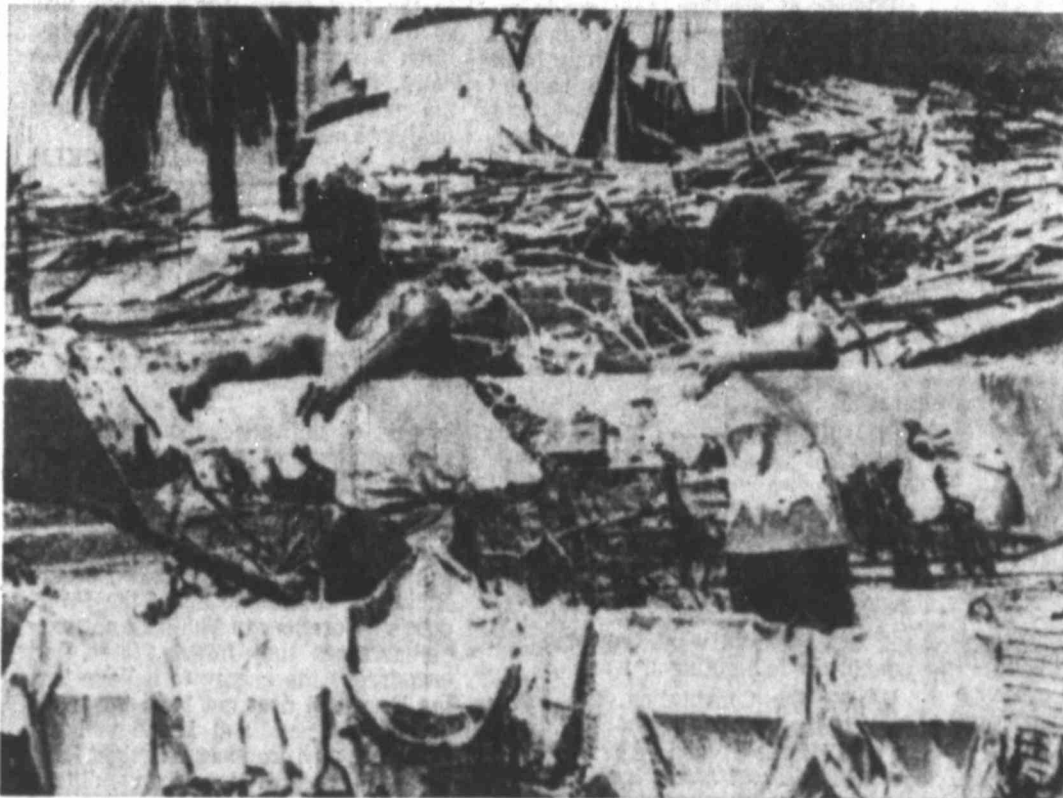

precipitate Haynsworth's presence on the court particularly when the judges grapple with criminal law.

Former Justice Abe Fortas, the man he replaces, was one of the five justices who discerned in the Fifth Amendment the right of a suspect to remain silent under police questioning and to have a lawyer at his side.

worth's record to suggest he will adhere to the hard line favored by the President and attorney general.
In 1964, for example, he ruled a confession obtained from a rape-murder suspect could be used at trial, though the confession came only after the man had been held 16 days without seeing a lawyer or visitors.

Guessing how Haynsworth will stand is chancy. His "track" record shows no abhorrence of the death penalty, though, and last year he dissented from the circuit court's nullification of North Carolina's death penalty system.

Look At Hurricane Camille's Damages

By The Associated Press
Hurricane Camille's full devastation may not be clear for days to come but here's a brief resume of the situation in the areas of maximum storm force in Mississippi and Louisiana:
PLAQUEMINES PARISH, La.: Camille had winds measured at 200 m.p.h. when she hit land's first drag. From the town of Buras southward high tides covered everything, including the towns of Venice, Triumph and Boothville. Officials said the 8,000 residents had evacuated the area before the storm struck. Col. Hebert Haar, New Orleans district chief of Army engineers estimated damage of $50 million to $100 million, not counting ripped out levees. Eight known dead.
BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss.: Heavy damage.
PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss.: A few miles east of Bay St. Louis and thus closer to Camille's eye. Reported very hard hit, along with the adjoining Gulf-front communities of Long Beach and Henderson Point. Buildings near waterfront destroyed, none anywhere without major damage. Twenty-three bodies found in an apartment complex. The eye of hurricane passed over Long Beach.

HIGHWAY HORROR — James Styles, 19, Grand Prairie, Tex., sits with his head bowed in front of highway accident wreckage. State police said Styles was the driver of the car which rammed the rear of the truck on US 61 five miles north of Kenner, a New Orleans suburb. Occupant of the other vehicle was critically injured.

Irish Protestants Enraged At Promise To Curb Police

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Leading Protestants in Northern Ireland today condemned sweeping concessions made by their government to the province's Roman Catholic minority.
Two former Cabinet ministers said there would be a powerful demand for Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark's government to resign.
Some Catholic leaders were more favorable, but hard-liners stuck to their demands for dismissal of Chichester-Clark's government and negotiations to unite Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland with the Catholic Irish Republic.
British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Chichester-Clark wrangled in London for six hours Tuesday night before agreeing on a five-point peace plan designed to end the religious warfare between Northern Ireland's Protestant majority and its Catholic minority.
The five points:
1. The British army takes control of all Northern Ireland's security forces. The force of Protestant police reserves known as the B-Specials, the chief object of Catholic hatred, will be moved out of the cities, and the British army commander in Northern Ireland, Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, will control their arms.
2. Discrimination due to religion or political beliefs will end.
3. Two senior British civil servants will be named advisers to the Ulster government.
4. An amnesty for citizens handing in illegal arms.
5. An impartial investigation into the riots and religious battling last week.
Chichester-Clark said he was "entirely favorable" to the agreement and had himself suggested the changes. But political insiders said the acceptance of British advisers and of British control of the security forces was an admission that the local government had done a poor job and couldn't guarantee order.
Among the first to criticize were two leaders of Chichester-Clark's Unionist party, which dominates politics in Northern Ireland.
Hard words came from the Rev. Ian Paisley, the Protestant firebrand, who said Wilson "has capitulated to the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church... Ulster Protestants must now join themselves together as their fathers did in 1912, and the God of their fathers will not fail in this hour of crisis."
From the Catholic side, Frank Gogarty, chairman of the Northern Ireland Civil Rights Association, said the provincial government should be suspended.
There was no immediate official comment from the Irish Republic, whose request for a peace force to keep order in Ulster was scheduled to go before the U.N. Security Council today.
But Britain was reported within one vote of having enough to keep the council from debating the situation in Northern Ireland.
A British government declaration issued after Wilson and Chichester-Clark met, emphatically stated Northern Ireland will remain part of the United Kingdom until its voters decide otherwise.

Probers Told There's More Treasure Off Padre Island

AUSTIN (AP) — There is sharp disagreement among those who recovered sunken treasure off Padre Island in 1967, but all agree on two things: There is more treasure down there and Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler's theory about two-man submarines is ridiculous.
A special three-man commission appointed by Dist. Judge Paul Martineau of Kenedy County took testimony Tuesday on the recovery of treasure from a Spanish galleon that sank in a hurricane 400 years ago.
Platoro, Inc., of Gary, Ind., brought up treasure—gold coins, silver discs, an exquisite golden crucifix and much more—from Sept. 11 to Dec. 13, 1967.
Platoro was enjoined on Dec. 13 from recovering any more treasure after Sadler learned of the operation.
Sadler indicated to newsmen last year that he contracted with Platoro to split the treasure 50-50. He boasted that Florida gets to keep only 25 per cent in her contracts with sunken treasure hunters. He later said he never signed a contract with Platoro.
Max Znika, secretary of Platoro, told the commission there was a contract with Sadler. He was not asked to reveal its provisions.
Tom Sharpe, attorney for Platoro, said the firm has elected not to rely on the contract, but had filed suit in federal court in Brownsville for recovery of its share of the treasure.
Znika said all treasure recovered by Platoro had been turned over to Sadler.
Jeff Burke of Rio Hondo, a former diver for Platoro, said several items of treasure were not reported on the log Platoro gave the commission.
The log shows Burke diving on only three days in October, 1967, when actually he dived on about 30 days from early September to late October, he said.
"Many times I've come up with two gloves completely full of coins," Burke said. "Once I brought up a very large, semi-circular mass of metal, smooth on top and bottom. It was either solid lead or solid gold encased in lead. It was about two feet in diameter and six or seven inches thick. It was too well formed for ballast. But I never got to see it again."
Burke said trucks were loaded with the treasure at night and sent to Gary, Ind.
Burke said he expects Platoro to win its suit against Texas.
"This will open the door for every treasure hunter in the country... we know of at least 50 (sunken) ships off the coast," he said.
An "antiquities" law is needed, he said.
One treasure site, off Cedar Bayou, about 20 miles north of Aransas Pass, was plundered last spring, Burke said.
"Whatever got up was much more valuable than what Platoro got," he said.
Burke had "suspicions" about who did it but said he would not accuse anyone. It was not Platoro, he said.
But Sadler's recently announced theory about two-man submarines stripping clean other treasure sites off Padre Island is "one of the most funny stories I've ever heard," Burke said.
Sadler said huge trenches in the shape of ships had been excavated.
Burke said it would take a seagoing dredge two years to perform such an operation, much less a tiny submarine.
Znika agreed. He went on to explain that the treasure site Platoro worked on was "rubble spread over 60 to 90 acres" of clay bottom" under several feet of sand, and was not in the shape of a ship.
Znika called the backwash technique employed by Platoro—a large metal plate lowered behind propellers that churned water downward into the sand and clay—was "very delicate" and "sophisticated."
Burke called the process "detrimental to the treasure site."
Secretary of State Martin Dies stood up in the audience and disputed Platoro's claim to have a permit from his office. He said Platoro had a permit to do business in the state but not a permit for archeological excavation.
Sharpe, Platoro's attorney, said the permit was included in the contract with Sadler, specifically waiving certain provisions of the Texas Penal Code.
Sharpe suggested it was up to Sadler to provide a copy of the contract to the commission.

Ten Men Will Decide Tax Bill

The Legislature shortly will hit upon a tax measure designed to raise more than $300 million (the figure seems to be variable) in revenues.
If past performance is a criterion, the bill will be rushed out of what is called a "free conference committee" and given a quick vote.
So, the people of Texas at this date have no way of knowing just where the tax money is coming from. Under the democratic process, they can advocate, or protest, to their individual representatives and senators, and trust that their views might carry some weight.
An unfortunate situation is that, under the rules, all this argument before the full legislature really goes for naught. The conference committee will write the bill.
There are 31 members of the Senate, 150 members of the House. But each body's chairman (the lieutenant governor and the speaker) names five members to this committee. That leaves 171 members of the legislature who, in reality, have no say so about the tax measure.

When the committee reports out its bill, each house has to take it or leave it.
Regardless of the merits or demerits of a tax program (and none would ever suit all the people), we stress again our opinion that the free conference committee system is not representative of all the people. One of these days, there will be enough expression on the part of the public to get this system changed, so that more people will have a part in the vital decisions affecting the state.

Experienced Jurists On The Bench

As predicted, President Nixon has named as new associate justice of the Supreme Court Federal Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of South Carolina.
Judge Haynsworth is chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond.
In his two appointments to the high court, Mr. Nixon has named men with records as competent jurists. Recently he named Warren E. Burger as chief justice.
The appointments mark a departure from practice for many years, since most court appointments have gone to men of high political stature whose background in law and judicial processes have not been complete.

While it remains to be seen what the judicial leanings of the two new justices will be, the people of the United States ought to welcome this new approach to court appointments.
Too long have political considerations been first in such appointments, while men of top calibre in the professions were overlooked. The layman expects his judges to know the Constitution and the law, and he has a right to believe that those most knowledgeable are those who have had long experience in active practice and on the bench.
Under Mr. Nixon (who probably will have opportunity for other appointments) this country may see a change in the complexion of the Supreme Court.

Hospital Bills

'They Tell Us They Don't Have The Money'

Editor's Note: The Texas law reads that it is a county's responsibility to pay the medical bills of its impoverished residents if it does not have the facilities for treatment and the patient is taken to another county. Does the county that actually provides treatment ever collect? Dallas County officials say no.
DALLAS (AP) — An out-of-county woman entered Dallas County-owned Parkland Hospital. Her bill was $18,000.
Dallas County taxpayers paid $17,700 of it.
Under state law the woman's own county should have paid the bill since she was a charity case, or indigent, and her county could not provide the proper medical treatment in its own facilities.
THE DALLAS County Hospital District accepted her case for educational purposes, Parkland University of Texas Southwestern Medical being a teaching hospital for the university of Texas Southwestern Medical School.
Legally the hospital district could bill the woman's county and did. But to date the district has received no money, just as it has been unable to collect bills from all other out-of-county indigent cases.
A Parkland official said approximately $30,000 is paid out by the county each month on non-resident charity cases, the greater portion of the figure being for emergency cases.

He estimated $6,000 to $7,000 of the monthly figure is for teaching cases, however, and as such is impossible to collect.
"OUR EXPERIENCE is nil on counties reimbursing us," a hospital spokesman said. "They tell us they don't have the money."
Dallas County Hospital District board members on numerous occasions have mulled ways to convince other counties to share in the cost of their charity patients. Presently the hospital district notifies commissioners courts in other counties of the amount that county owes.
But board member Earl Forsythe said, "To date we haven't gotten any payment from any county."
Dallas County Commissioner Mel Price has suggested hospital officials account to Dallas county commissioners each indigent teaching case, and that the commissioners try and collect the amount owed.
"Dallas County in effect is paying for the other counties," he told the hospital board.
ONE HOSPITAL official speculated that such a procedure, if the full commissioners court agreed to it, might add more "teeth" to attempts to collect funds from other counties.
An average of two out-of-county patients are accepted as teaching cases at Parkland each month. A hospital official said over half of the patients are either part or full charity cases for which Dallas County residents must pay. Their bills range from a couple hundred dollars to the thousands.
These out-of-county patients are accepted when the medical staff asks the hospital board to waive residence requirements.
"FOR EXAMPLE," one official said, "if we don't have any retina detachment cases for an ophthalmology resident to study we have an educational responsibility to provide one."
Board member Forsythe said the board always waives residence requirements when the teaching staff so recommends — whether the patient is a paying one or a charity case.
"While we want to accomplish the teaching aspects of the hospital," Forsythe said, "I still feel that those communities from which the indigent patients come have some responsibility."

Billy Graham

I hear a lot of people nearing retirement speak of their "Shangri-la" where they can get away from it all. One man said he had bought an island, another a mountain, where they expect to escape the rigors of modern war and civilization. What do you think of this attitude?
I believe a retired person, one who has spent many years in hard toil, deserves some rest. But, I find few retirees who are completely happy doing nothing. Most of them, like other normal people, seek creative usefulness.
I have discovered that aging people sometimes harbor one of two tendencies. One is to return to the "good old days" where there were no tensions, no riots, no wars, or so they say. But the fact is: there has never been any "good old days." There have always been wars, tensions, trouble, famines and unrest. The reason is: we live in a world separated from God by sin. Some psychologists say that this nostalgia for the good old days is a desire to return to the security of the womb. They also say that a desire on the part of older people to "get away from it all," is a desire for the tomb, where they hope to find ultimate rest. I don't know about that, but I do know that they will never find their "Shangri-la," apart from God. In Christ we can find perfect peace, contentment and fulfillment at any age! "In thy Presence is fullness of joy and at thy right hand are pleasures forevermore." Psa. 16:11.

'WE ESCAPE REALITIES LIKE DECENCY AND DUTY'

John Cunniff

Inflation Balloon Unpunctured

NEW YORK (AP) — Economists of the Nixon administration are using their own brand of jawbone tactics in trying to destroy with words and forecasts an inflationary psychology that remains entrenched.
The jawbone is most readily identified with President Lyndon B. Johnson, who used it against price increases he felt were unwarranted. The beauty of the tactic was that the threat of action, rather than action itself, got the job done.
Now, a bit agitated by the persistence of inflation despite a relentless campaign against it, and fearful that business and consumers might assume that the slowdown is never coming, the jawbone is again in use.

An address this week by Paul McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, provides a good example.
Speaking to an audience at the University of Wisconsin, McCracken laid it on the line. The administration's restraining policies, he said, "will lead to weaker sales, lower production schedules, reduced employment and diminished profits."
Seldom has an administration's economic intentions been stated more clearly. And it is clear also that McCracken felt that what he could not demonstrate with figures he could, perhaps, with words.
The fact is that the anti-inflation policy—a slowdown in the rise in government spending, restricting the money supply and raising taxes—has not yet punctured the inflation balloon.
McCracken conceded as much. The effects of basic economic policy do not show up in 12 months, he said, for six to 12 months, and he indicated that in the present situation the latter part of the range would be reached.
The reason for the long lag, the chief economist indicated, is the inflationary psychology that grips most areas of the economy.

Consumers and businessmen simply do not believe that inflation will be licked.
Acting on this assumption, businessmen continue to make expansion plans, figuring that they must be prepared for ever bigger markets and rationalizing their moves by saying that they must spend now because prices will be higher tomorrow. Similarly, instead of putting money away for a rainy day—even for the possible loss of a job—consumers continue to spend heavily, confident of their future earning power.
With this situation facing it, and without statistical evidence to prove that its policies are working, the administration is forced to rely on words—to create an atmosphere of uncertainty.

Producer By Accident

NEW YORK (AP) — "I became a producer by accident," remarked Stanley Kramer, whose work has been nominated 97 times for an Academy Award but never won an Oscar.
"After the second World War, I met a man who had some money."
The remark is typical of the wry realism of Kramer, who started his career as a backlot carpenter and who for nearly a quarter of a century has been one of the most controversial figures in an industry whose first motto is, "Don't make waves."
Kramer, however, has been rolling the waters since 1946, when he made "Home of the Brave," Hollywood's first important film about anti-Negro prejudice.
Although his latest film, "The Secret of Santa Vittoria," is a comedy drama, the producer has preferred to make pictures dealing with the social and individual problems of mankind in a world racked by fear, greed, selfishness and injustice.
Among them have been "The Defiant Ones," "High Noon," "Inherit the Wind," "Death of a Salesman," "The Caine Mutiny," "On the Beach," and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

At 55, white-haired but trimly built as a boxer, Kramer is annoyed at the implication of some critics that he is beginning to pull his punches and has gone soft.
"Sure, my attitudes have changed a lot," he said. "They damn well better change, because the world has changed a lot in the last 25 years."
"I feel more insecure about some things."
"Then I was part of the literature of prerevolution, and now the revolution is here and I don't quite know where I belong."
"Everything after a time gets outdated. But you must keep asking yourself what you really believe."
"Life, from where I sit, is a search for truth. The danger is that you find only part of the truth when you're looking for the whole truth. And what greater lies have been built than those built on part of the truth?"
"I don't feel my pictures have reached all the truth, but at the time I thought they did as truly as I could manage."
"Our world today is a better world than 25 years ago because it's more truthful—but it isn't any easier to live in."

The 'Physician's Negative Reaction?'

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Having read your article on hypnosis, we decided to write you of our experience. My husband sent for a record and book on self-hypnosis.
I've talked to doctors at Johns Hopkins, Massachusetts General, and other medical centers and have heard at first hand what can happen when hypnosis "goes wrong."
There was the woman who was a compulsive eater, and somebody hypnotized her. She stopped overeating and substituted booze. With some more hypnosis, she quit alcohol but started drugs.
I was told of specific cases of patients who, entangled in amateur hypnosis, committed suicide.
I'm surprised that you haven't read, some time or other, of even fun-type performances of hypnosis occasionally resulting in a subject going into such a deep trance that the hypnotist was helpless, and the subject had to be hospitalized for professional care.

Good points of hypnosis? It is a powerful tool. It is used effectively by dentists, by physicians doing minor surgery, by psychiatrists to untangle emotional problems. It can be used, in special cases, to refresh memory of some event that has been psychologically blocked. It can be used to overcome habits, fears, sometimes neuroses.
But in the hands of someone who doesn't understand the damage it can do, it can lead to trouble.
What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Now When We Went To School . . .

It's that time of year again when youngsters troop back to school. Some go, like W. C. Bryant's quarry slave — "scourged to his dungeon," and with an unsolicited parade of memory by their elders, to wit: "Now when I went to school, we . . ."
This must be what one generation hands on to another. For instance, when I was growing up, the monologue went something like this:

"WE HAD to walk five miles to school, and believe you me we footed it every step of the way and didn't dare be late for fear of getting the hickory stick from the professor. We had a one-room shack that had only four windows and one door. It was cold in the winter time, no matter how much wood or coal you stoked into the pot belly stove. You could be burning up on one side and freezing on the other. The old slate board squeaked and made your flesh crawl when you tried to press the chalk hard enough to write on it. And when it rained we took out our lunch buckets caught the flood from the leaky roof. Did I say bucket? Well, that's exactly what we used to bring our lunch — a Cottolene bucket with holes punched in the lid. Inside was some cold sausage, a biscuit with a hole punched by the forefinger and filled with sorghum molasses."

BY THE time our youngsters come along, I volunteered this bit of history: "Why we had to walk a mile and a half to get to school, and in all kinds of weather, too; made no difference if the normally dry branch back of Sugar Loaf was running bank to bank. And at lunch we ran or trotted all the way home, gulped down our dinner and ran back to school often in time for a few innings of ball. They had a big sheetmetal shield around the iron stove that soaked up most of the heat from it. We had lots of windows, but they rattled and out only the larger grains of sand. The electric light cords were dead as a door nail, and only the auditorium library had lights (that worked) at night. Our sanitary facilities consisted of two separate red structures that needed no sign when the wind was right . . . We didn't have a band, and when we marched, we cranked up the morning glory Victrola or beat time on the triangle.

AS TIME passed, our lads could repeat some of this lament, adding to it "night-time classes in the second grade," for indeed in the war years the half-day plan meant that the afternoon section didn't get out until after night fall. They could tell of 40 or more kids packed into one room with a panicky substitute teacher trying to decide whether to fight back or weep.

NOW WHAT will today's school children tell their children, and what will their children tell their children? I can just imagine it: "Why when we went to school, there wasn't any of this curb service or stay home with the classroom television. No sir, we had to walk all the way to the bus stop. And by golly, there were some times two sections of the bus. There were times when we didn't get our break for mid-morning snacks, and in the first grade, the schedule was so tight we often had to skip nappy time. When the air conditioning broke down, it was murder, and some of the parking lots didn't even have paving. You talk about rough!"

Congress Can't Run The Military

WASHINGTON — Maybe there ought to be a "code of ethics" — or perhaps a "code of self-restraint" — to be observed by members of Congress. For some of them apparently feel at times that they have a right to direct the armed services of the United States and, in effect, tell the generals what they can and cannot do in fighting a war.

Under the Constitution, the President is the commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and he has the responsibility of approving — or disapproving if he wishes — the tactics or strategy of the military services. Nowhere in the Constitution is Congress given the right to interfere — though it can, if it chooses, withhold appropriations and, by undermining the military operations, thereby produce a situation which amounts to virtual surrender to our adversaries.

THREE HAVE been in the last few days caustic comments made by some senators about an alleged "commitment" by the United States government in its relations with Thailand. Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have been striving to obtain a copy of the text of the "commitment," if there is such a thing, or at least to compel the publication of the details.
Thailand is a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, and has been furnishing military bases for 40,000 of our troops in connection with our operations against North Vietnam. Thailand has been an active ally of the United States in fighting the Vietnam war.

THAILAND'S ARMED forces chief, who is also military adviser at the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, told reporters in Bangkok that the "military plan which Senator William Fulbright wanted to examine does not involve the U.S. and Thailand alone but also other SEATO partners." He said the document is "full of top

Soaking The Rich—But Gently

WASHINGTON — Millionaires are human beings too, but it's not standard political practice to treat them openly as such.

The great game of soak-the-rich with taxation became popularized in the regime of Franklin Roosevelt. "They have met their master," he once boasted in a fireside radio chat. The game is continued by the Nixon administration, but with a difference. In closing loopholes on wealthy tax-dodgers, Mr. Nixon tends to be almost as humane toward the rich as he was in providing loopholes for the poor.

THE PRESIDENT'S loophole man is Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Tax Policy, Edwin S. Cohen, a personable Virginian who once made big money by showing wealthy clients how to avoid taxes within the law. In his present capacity, Cohen worked out the Low Income Allowance giving loopholes to about 13 million poor folks, but he has also worked out a Limit on Tax Preferences which forces the rich to pay up. However, Cohen performed this second feat with as gentle a touch as he performed the first.

THE NIXON administration, as Cohen explained, did not intend to be vindictive toward wealthy tax-jugglers who, in protecting their own pockets, also aided "charitable-educational institutions" in the process. Rather the administration would secrets of military importance" and that approval of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization must be obtained before it could be made public.

THE PUBLICITY given to the criticism made in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee about the President's assurances to Thailand not only embarrasses the United States, but encourages the enemy to believe that the President does not have the backing of Congress and hence will not carry out any promises he might have made to furnish American military support.

THE UNITED States is engaged in the war in Vietnam as a result of operation in the defense of countries Asia Treaty, which promised cooperation in the defense of countries in Southeast Asia against aggression. Congress in 1964 passed the Gulf of Tonkin resolution authorizing the President "to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed forces, to assist any member or protocol state of the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty requesting assistance in defense of its freedom."

SOME SENATORS have said the power given was not as broad as has been interpreted. But who can tell in advance just what the sequence will be in military operations? If Congress disapproved of the war in Vietnam, it has had the opportunity now for five years to pass a resolution withdrawing the 1964 authorization or to refuse to make any further appropriations for continuance of the war.

Certainly the Vietnam war is expensive, not only in money but in human lives. The present administration and its predecessor, however, have been convinced that a larger war, involving not just a few thousand lives but millions of casualties, would be likely if Asia were turned over to the Communists and the United States held the world it would no longer help defend the free nations in Asia.
(Copyright, 1969, Publishers - Hall Syndicate)

plugging the familiar loopholes as painlessly as is possible by doing it as slowly as is feasible. If the President's proposals get by Congress, it would be 20 years before tax-dodgers on stock dividends become fully effective, 10 years before loopholes on municipal bonds are fully plugged, eight years before multiple exemptions are ended, five years before a rich man has to stop saving money excessively, by giving it away to charity.

BUT MR. NIXON, although accused of being unduly lenient on the rich, stands to gain in credibility when compared with his predecessor. President Johnson was quite an artful dodger when it came to talking tax reform and then avoiding any action that might injure the plutocrats. In June, 1968, LBJ signed the original surtax bill, but he managed to leave office without obeying Section 110 of the act to which he gave his signature. That section (written by Senator Javits) read: "Not later than Dec. 31, 1968, the President shall submit to the Congress proposals for a comprehensive reform . . ."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON didn't heed the advice. The Nixonites, then, while trying to be considerate to the wealthy, have taken action which the Johnsonites ducked. The difference in soak-the-rich is that Mr. Nixon does it with a touch of mercy, whereas Mr. Johnson didn't do it at all.

Troops Battle Americans Trying To Reach Wreckage

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops made more attacks on U.S. troops south of Da Nang today and battled American infantrymen trying to reach the wreckage of a helicopter downed with eight Americans aboard.

Military spokesmen said 198 North Vietnamese had been slain in four days of fighting near Hiep Duc, a district capital 30 miles south of Da Nang. Sixteen American soldiers were known dead and another 66 wounded.

Firing machine guns and rifles, the North Vietnamese attacked before dawn today, killing one American infantryman and wounding 14 others before withdrawing.

"No enemy bodies were found in a sweep of the battlefield," U.S. headquarters said.

Later today, another sharp fight broke out about seven miles away, and the action was continuing at last report.

Another seven U.S. soldiers and Associated Press photographer Oliver Noonan, 29, of Norwell, Mass., were reported missing after their helicopter crashed in the area Tuesday.

Two companies of American infantrymen ran into a firefight at dawn when they moved into the rugged area to search for the missing men. Moving behind a shield of artillery, they advanced only half a mile by midafternoon and still had another half mile to the wreckage of the helicopter. The going was slow because of sporadic fighting.

It was one of three helicopters shot down Tuesday and today, raising to 2,923 the number of American helicopters reported lost in the Vietnam war. One chopper shot down today crashed into a patrol of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands, killing three infantrymen and wounding six others. The crewmen of the helicopter were not hurt, the U.S. Command said.

Soviets Selling U.S. Metal Used In Building Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has started selling large amounts of titanium—once called the wonder metal of the 1960s—to the United States. Materials experts say they are puzzled by the move.

Titanium is being used increasingly in American military as well as civilian aircraft.

A few weeks ago the first Soviet merchant ship to call on the United States this decade docked at Seattle, Wash., to deliver 900 tons of sponge titanium—as it is referred to in its intermediate production form.

And now officials say the same ship is bringing another big load to the United States next month.

The Soviets sent only 421 tons of sponge titanium to this country in all of 1968, with ships of other flags importing it.

The United States has a domestic titanium production capacity of its own but is unable to compete with Soviet or Japanese prices.

Some officials suspect the Soviets may be trying to undercut the fledgling U.S. titanium industry, possibly to disrupt its progress.

American companies can get Soviet titanium for $1 per pound, about 30 cents below prices charged by U.S. producers and about 20 cents below the Japanese price.

One materials expert figures that the Soviets have excess titanium production capacity at the moment and may be dumping the metal in this country at a loss.

An industry source suggested the Russians are out to collect some American dollars while shedding their excess titanium stocks.

A big surge in U.S. demand for titanium—favored because of its high strength-to-weight ratio—is forecast over the next few years.

MAKING TRACKS FOR THE COWBOYS
Ivy league product Calvin Hill resting at motel

WANTS TO BE A MINISTER Title Of Jim Brown Jr., Is Hung On Calvin Hill

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Try this on for a fictional mission impossible: A raw rookie from an Ivy League school who eventually wants to become a minister wins the game ball in his first National Football League contest.

Too corny, right? Wrong. That's fact and it happened to Calvin Hill of Yale Bulldog fame in his very first game in the uniform of a Dallas Cowboy.

The 6-foot-4, 220-pound Hill, flashing the form that had his teammates calling him "Jim Brown Jr.," rolled for 106 yards in 16 carries against San Francisco last Sunday in a 20-17 Cowboy victory.

Coach Tom Landry said "We've never had a rookie step in and play like that before. Our whole bench was excited, including me."

Now, it takes a lot to excite Tom Landry, who has been around the NFL wars many a moon.

Hill was Dallas' No. 1 pick in the draft—27th overall in the list. Cowboy head scout Gil Brandt was beside himself with joy.

"He'll be the next superstar in the NFL," said Brandt, who has been known to use a superlative at the drop of a helmet.

Now Brandt just grins a lot: "I told you."

Hill is taking all the praise in stride.

"I just want to play anywhere I can help the team," he said. "I just want to make the club and be with the Cowboys when they make the Super Bowl."

The confident Hill didn't even ask for a no-cut contract when Dallas signed him.

"I wanted to make the team," Hill said. "I didn't want any guarantee."

Hill has tremendous strength, excellent hands and 4.6 speed for 40 yards. He broke numerous tackles against the 49ers and caught a short pass and outran a 49er linebacker for a 40-yard touchdown that was called back for holding.

"We're going to take another look at him in the Green Bay game Saturday night," Landry said. "It's still hard to believe he's for real."

Hill, who played quarterback at Riverdale, N. Y., prep school, completed 15 touchdown passes his senior year. His team went undefeated. At Yale his team was 16-1 the last two years while he was at running back.

"Boy, this professional football is complex," said Hill. "During training camp, I was spending 1 1/2 hours a week just in class. That's more than I spent a week my last year in Yale."

Hill plans to attend Southern Methodist's Perkins School of Theology during the off season.

"I went to Yale to get a good education because you never know what will happen in football," Hill said. "I eventually plan to become a minister."

Leroy Keyes May End Up In Canadian Grid League

By The Associated Press

"We'll do our best without him."

That was the reaction of Pete Retzlaff, general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, to reports that Leroy Keyes, the Eagles' No. 1 draft choice, was considering an offer to play in the Canadian Football League.

Keyes, All-American halfback from Purdue, has been unable to reach a salary agreement with the Eagles. Arthur Morse, his business agent, said Tuesday that Keyes was considering a Canadian offer.

Morse did not name the Canadian team, however, and denied he was using the reported Canadian offer as a bargain lever.

In Toronto, a source close to the Canadian Football League, said Keyes is on the negotiation list of a Canadian club, but Commissioner Jake Gaudaur declined to reveal which of the nine Canadian clubs held the rights to Keyes. The Regina Leader-Post said, however, Keyes was dickering with the British Columbia Lions.

"It is impossible to imagine that any Canadian club could bid the Eagles $170,000 offer," said the source close to the CFL, where the top salary is believed to be below $50,000 a year.

Keyes "has been offered more money per year by the Eagles than any other NFL draft choice, including O.J. Simpson," Retzlaff said. Simpson signed with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League about 10 days ago after a similar squabble over terms.

The Eagles disclosed, meanwhile, that rookie Jim Marcum, a defensive back, suffering a fractured wrist in blocking a pass in the closing minutes of last week's victory over Miami and probably would miss the entire season.

In another development, Tom Landry, Dallas coach, said Bob Hayes, the Cowboys' speedy split end is in the dog house and he shows some enthusiasm in running plays in which Hayes is not the primary receiver.

Hayes was benched against San Francisco last week, but Landry said he planned to use him against Green Bay this week. "We'll see what happens when we put him back in there," Landry said.

Atlanta traded receiver Bob Long to Washington and placed nine other players, including veteran safety Nick Easson, on waivers.

Leo Says Cub Star Is New Sandy Koufax

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs is ready to take the Sandy Koufax tag out of mothballs and hang it back on Kenny Holtzman.

"You saw another Koufax out there today," bellowed Durocher after Holtzman hurled a 3-0 no-hitter over the Atlanta Braves. "Years ago I said he could be another Koufax and maybe this is the beginning."

The comparison between Koufax and Holtzman began when Ken first broke in with the Cubs with his blazing fast ball and the fact that Holtzman, like Koufax, is of the Jewish faith and throws lefthanded.

It really spiraled on Sept. 25, 1966, when the young Holtzman battled the great Koufax head-to-head and had a no-hitter going against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the ninth inning.

TURNED SOUR

Holtzman lost that no-hitter but beat Koufax 2-1. Since then Holtzman has had successes and failures but has seldom been compared to Koufax until early this season. But even that success turned sour.

Holtzman started out like a ball of fire as he quickly posted a 10-1 record, including three straight shutouts.

Then something happened to the 23-year-old native of St. Louis. The pennant happy Cubs kept giving him big leads but Holtzman couldn't hold them.

Things got so bad that he had to be yanked before pitching five innings even though given substantial leads.

"You'll never know how discouraged the boy was at that time," said Vice President John Holland following the no-hitter. "This is the tonic he needed."

Holtzman is now 14-7.

"I don't know what the trouble was," said Holtzman. "But I don't think I was as bad as some people said and wrote. But I've been coming back the last four or five starts and certainly this will help."

The most sensational winter baseball trade of the year could be between the Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Phillies, and involve super-stars Carl Yastrzemski and Richie Allen.

Both of the headliners are said to be disenchanted in their present surroundings.

The Phillies desperately want Allen out of the National League, fearful he'll come back and haunt them. Allen has a bad flipper, incidentally, and may be forced to play first base the rest of his playing career.

The Phillies' big job is to find a field boss and general manager adventurous enough to take a chance on Richie. There's about $50,000 difference in their pay scale—and it is tilted Yastr's way. He makes, they say, about $130,000. At 29, he's two years older than Allen.

Allen's aptitude for shooting at short left field fences perhaps would enable him to shatter all major league home run records.

DIES — Lou Stillman, former owner of the famed Stillman's Gymnasium in New York City, died Tuesday in a nursing home in Santa Barbara, Calif. He was 82.

Ten Lettermen Are Back At Forsan This Season

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes are working out here twice daily for football under Don Stevens, elevated to the head coaching job during the summer, and George White, who moved here from Sterling City.

Stevens and White are working with a squad of about 40.

The Buffs toil from 7 until 9:30 p.m.

Ten lettermen are in the group, including two seniors. They are Alton Callihan, line-backer-guard and a starter both ways last year; and Leon Hobbs, halfback-safety, both of whom started both ways last year.

Callihan, a three-year letterman, weighs 160, while Hobbs, who has won two numerals, tips the scales at 150.

Other starters back with the Bisons include Darrow Cobb, 150, end; Bobby Davis, 150, a starter on defense only in 1968; Billy McDonald, 170, center, starter on offense only; Doyle Whetsel, starting defensive halfback in '68 and Jackie Willis, 175, who is being moved from guard to fullback.

Jeff Williams will probably be Forsan's starting quarterback, although he is only a sophomore. Larry Tolson, regular at that spot last fall, has departed the scene. Williams weighs 155 and is a fair thrower but a strong runner. He played about one-third of the time last year.

Ricky Klahr, tackle-guard; Vard Griffith, 175, guard-tackle; and Darrow Cobb, 150, end, are other veterans returning.

The Buffaloes scrimmage Friday week at home against Grandfalls and go to Imperial Sept. 5. The Bisons open in Abilene the night of Sept. 12 against Central Catholic High, a team they drubbed last year.

Jack Adams and Sonny Barnes are junior high mentors who are working with the varsity.

Fabulous Catch Saves Holtzman's No-Hitter

By The Associated Press

This is the story of a couple of miraculous catches—or, if you prefer other adjectives, "amazing," according to Hank Aaron and "sensational" according to Tommie Agee.

Aaron and Agee were spectators to the grab—the first one by Chicago's Billy Williams and the second by Cleon Jones of the New York Mets.

Williams backed against the left field fence in Chicago's Wrigley Field and leaped as a 16-mile per hour wind wafted Aaron's home run bid into his hands. The catch preserved Ken Holtzman's masterpiece as the Chicago Cubs' left-hander no-hit Atlanta 3-0.

Jones, playing left center field in a four-man outfield shift by the Mets against San Francisco's Willie McCovey, raced to the wall, leaped high with his glove outstretched and pulled down the bid for a homer in the 13th inning. Agee's homer an inning later gave the Mets their 1-0 victory over the Giants.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Pennsylvania's Big 33 football players decided they had had enough of the Texas scorpions after playing a few games and have gone back to meeting each other—the East against the West.

A crowd of 20,000 turned out in Hershey recently to watch the West win, 28-13. The East undoubtedly reasoned the series with Texas could have continued without any more loss of face.

The most sensational winter baseball trade of the year could be between the Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Phillies, and involve super-stars Carl Yastrzemski and Richie Allen.

Both of the headliners are said to be disenchanted in their present surroundings.

The Phillies desperately want Allen out of the National League, fearful he'll come back and haunt them. Allen has a bad flipper, incidentally, and may be forced to play first base the rest of his playing career.

The Phillies' big job is to find a field boss and general manager adventurous enough to take a chance on Richie. There's about $50,000 difference in their pay scale—and it is tilted Yastr's way. He makes, they say, about $130,000. At 29, he's two years older than Allen.

Allen's aptitude for shooting at short left field fences perhaps would enable him to shatter all major league home run records.

Melvin Robertson (the Stanton ex) might not be surprised but Playboy Magazine raised a few eyebrows around the country by picking the University of Houston as the nation's No. One collegiate football team this fall.

That may be a difficult regard to come by, what with Paul Gipsen gone. However, Robertson and his boss, Bill Yeoman, never lack for confidence.

Playboy publicists say the periodical's people are fully qualified to eye something besides the dimensions of young bits of fluff—they claim to have picked 15 of the top 20 teams a year ago.

Furthermore, Playboy looks for Arkansas to wind up immediately behind Houston in the national ratings and Texas to beat out the accepted favorite, Ohio State, in the last poll of the year.

Snyder's entry into Class AAAA ball by 1970 appears to be inevitable, according to the story being circulated at the District 3-AAAA meeting here last week. The announcement could come about October.

That means the Tigers would melt into the 3-AAAA complex, which would be ducky but for the fact that Peccis might also come knocking on the door.

Conference officials want an even number of teams in the circuit. If as many as ten teams thunder from the starting gate, the circuit could be split without difficulty. It might have to be, if it goes to the post.

District officials are tired of having the league race settled in the first two weeks of the campaign. A split district would salvage interest in the race and, no doubt, hype the game.

Floyd Facing PGA Wrath

SUTTON Mass. (AP) — Flamboyant Ray Floyd, the newly-crowned PGA champion, has pulled out of the $150,000 Avco Golf Classic and possibly faces disciplinary action.

Floyd, a brash, 26-year-old, told tournament officials his clothes had been stolen in Dayton, Ohio, where he won the PGA title Sunday and he had to go home to California. Floyd had committed himself to the Avco earlier.

"He withdrew but we didn't accept it—whatever that means," tournament advisor Paul Warren said Tuesday.

"We don't know what action will be taken, if any," PGA tournament supervisor Jack Tuthill said. "We don't know whether the story is true or not and will have to check it out."

Floyd, winner of three tournaments and more than $100,000 this year, had a brush with the PGA last week when he publicly criticized Jim Ferrier for slow play.

Webb Shooters Grab Trophies

Capt. John Beer and S. Sgt. Manual Jackson brought 10 trophies back from Marfa during the weekend. The two base shooters took part in the monthly 1500 match, competing against individuals from the U.S. Border Patrol, members of Goodfellow Air Force Base, pistol team as well as civilian shooters from Alpine, Marfa and El Paso.

Capt. Beer, an academic instructor in the 3561st Student Squadron, was being pushed hard by Chester Wilson of the Border Patrol. The captain gained a slight lead in the 22 caliber match and added a few points during center fire, but wrapped up the over-all grand aggregate during the 45 match.

Capt. Beer took match winner in the 22 national match course, centerfire-slow fire, national match course, rapid fire and centerfire aggregate. He also won the over-all match winner with a 1424-42x for an average of 95 per cent.

Sgt. Jackson, 3560th Supply Squadron, took top honors in sharpshooter class by winning first sharpshooter with a 1.215. He brought home individual trophies for centerfire timed fire, 22 caliber national match course, and the 45 caliber national match course.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After almost 35 years, I am thinking of leaving my husband. There seems to be a big wall between us. We rarely go anywhere, and when he is home there is practically no conversation between us.

I don't think I've grown repulsive to look at. I keep myself neat and clean, and I keep a nice house. (I can't even call it a "home.")

Abby, I have seen retired couples, some in their seventies, walking arm in arm with such beautiful looks of affection and tenderness between them that I wonder what is wrong with us?

We are in our middle fifties. Am I expecting too much? Or must I continue to be a fixture in our house instead of a wife? Your opinion, and that of your readers, would be most welcome.

DEAR WIFE: Tenderness and affection are not "gifts." They must be earned. And the way to GET is to GIVE. When was the last time you told your husband you loved him? (Or have you been waiting all this time for HIM to tell you?)

Perhaps you've had it too good? It's a sad fact, but illness, problems, and adversity sometimes draw a couple together. Don't wait for a tragedy to awaken you to reality. Try to put a little happiness into HIS life, and it will come back into your own.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "TIRED OFFICE MANAGER" who was "amazed" at what came in to apply for an office job:

Don't feel bad. When I owned my own business I ran an ad for a male or female who could make telephone contacts and deal with the public. The applicants who applied included:

A 24-year-old male. Handsome. two-years of college, well groomed. He informed me that his only problem in doing telephone work was that the "zero" and the "O" confused him.

A 19-year-old girl, high school graduate. She said the job would have to include living facilities with ME because she had informed her family that she would be "living with her boss."

A 32-year-old man. Third grade education. He assured me that even though he could neither read nor write he could "talk real good on the telephone."

And the piece de resistance: A transvestite, college-educated, married with two small children. He asked me if he could perform his duties dressed as a female, and then change to male attire when business hours were over.

Want to know who I hired for the job? A 15-year-old clean cut girl who came to the interview with her father. She readily admitted that she had never worked before but she wanted to give it a try. She turned out to be the most valuable employee I had. Very truly yours,
P.D. IN L.A.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Murderess Judd Back In Arizona Seeking Freedom

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Murderess Winnie Ruth Judd has returned to Arizona after seven years of freedom since her escape from the Arizona State Hospital.

When Mrs. Judd, 64, stepped off the plane Monday with Maricopa County Sheriff's Capt. Ralph McMillen, the officer was immediately handed a writ of habeas corpus by Larry Debus, one of Mrs. Judd's lawyers.

"We're going to ask the judge to set her free," Debus said.

The flame-haired Mrs. Judd was convicted of the 1931 slaying of two girl friends whose bodies were shipped in trunks via rail to Los Angeles.

She was sentenced to hang but was declared insane hours before the execution and remanded to the Arizona State Hospital.

She escaped from the institution seven times in the following 29 years, the last time in October 1962.

She had been living as a housekeeper in Danville, Calif., until she was discovered by authorities last June and arrested.

Paychecks Tax Plan Discussed

DALLAS (AP) — Two City Council members proposed Tuesday that the council consider an income tax against paychecks of wage-earners living outside the city but working in Dallas.

Sheffield Kadane and Abe Meyer said the ad valorem property tax is too high and that other means of financing the city's operations should be investigated.

Councilmen agreed that the 24-cent tax hike proposed for the coming city budget should be cut.
