Haynsworth Answering Conflict Of Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. denied today, at a Senate hearing on his nomination for the Supreme Court, that he ever profited financially from any decision of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on which he serves.

His testimony was in answer to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who questioned him about a conflict of interest charge by labor unions fighting to block Senate confirmation of Haynsworth's appointment.

NO SIR

The 56-year-old South Carolinian maintained he acted properly in not disqualifying himself from participating in a case involving Deering-Miliken Inc., a textile combine with which a vending machine company partly owned by Haynsworth did business.

McClellan asked Haynsworth at the opening hearing of the Senate Judiciary Committee on his nomination if Carolina Vend-A-Matic, the vending machine company, had any interest in the litigation.

"No, sir," Haynsworth replied.

Haynsworth testified in response to McClellan's questions that Vend-A-Matic's gross sales at the time of the court's 1963 decision amount to about $100,000 out of its total sales of $3.1 million.

McClellan asked how much of the $100,000 gross would be translated into net profit. Haynsworth said he could only guess but that over-all he thought the vending company made a profit of close to 10 per cent on its sales.

"What would be your share of the net profit?" asked McClellan. "One-seventh," replied Haynsworth.

This would indicate that his share of Vend-A-Matic's profits from its business with Deering-Miliken would amount to about $1,430 a year. McClellan, however, asked that Haynsworth have company auditors figure out the amount and make the figure available to the committee.

Haynsworth also testified in answer to questions by Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that he did not own any stock in Deering-Miliken, a big textile combine in the Carolinas.

He testified that he was one of the founders of Carolina Vend-A-Matic and held a one-seventh stock interest in it at the time of the court decision but he said that at no time did he play an active part in its site locations.

HE'S OBLIGATED

Haynsworth told the committee that "A judge is every bit as obligated to sit in a case in which he is not disqualified by statute or by the canons of ethics as he is to disqualify himself where required to do so by those standards."

The decision of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, on which Haynsworth has served since 1957, overturned a finding by the National Labor Relations Board of an unfair labor practice against Deering-Miliken Inc. and one of its subsidiaries, the Darlington Manufacturing Co.

APPOINTMENT

Most committee members have said they are keeping an open mind on the appointment until they hear all the evidence. But even opponents say that, barring new developments, Haynsworth's nomination probably will be approved.

President Nixon nominated Haynsworth, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, last month to fill the vacancy created by Abe Fortas' resignation in mid-May.

Opponents of Haynsworth's nomination not only have accused him of pro-segregationist and anti-labor rulings but also have raised a conflict-of-interest charge because of his participation in a 1963 decision.

STOCK INTEREST

The court majority, including Haynsworth, upheld the right of the Darlington Mfg. Co., a subsidiary of Deering-Miliken, Inc., to shut down its textile plant after the Textile Workers Union won a representation election.

Wage Search For 78 Bodies

FARMINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — A recovery team exploring Consolidation Coal Co.'s No. 9 mine has encountered waist deep water and large roof falls.

The crew of six miners and five inspectors had gone 1 1/2 miles west from Atha's Run elevator Monday in the preliminary stages of operations to recover the bodies of 78 miners killed 10 months ago when fire and explosion thundered through the 7 1/2-mile-long mine.

William Parks of the U.S. Bureau of Mines said the team found no evidence of the bodies Monday.

John Ashcraft, state mines director, said recovery teams will enter the mine on regular shifts to pump water, clear debris and generally put the eastern two miles of the mine in operating condition.

When this is completed, probably in six weeks, the workers will proceed to phase two, clearing more of the mine including 1,000 tons of limestone dumped from the Atha's Run elevator, to seal it.

MIGHTY WALLOP N-Explosion Sways Hotel In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A hydrogen device with a wallop of nearly a million tons of TNT, called "very important to national security," was detonated deep under a desert mesa today.

Newsmen watching the shot on closed-circuit television from a protected site 15 miles away saw the ground jump an estimated 15 feet, tossing rocks and dust aloft and triggering ripples in the earth that knocked away from its aiming point temporarily one of two television cameras placed 12,000 feet away.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the shot — which according to unofficial speculation was a test of an antimissile warhead — released no radiation into the atmosphere.

A red plywood building housing power supplies, located on the surface just 30 feet from ground zero, was flipped some 30 feet into the air and then settled back down, apparently upright.

But in Las Vegas, about 100 miles from the blast site, the 29-story Landmark Tower Hotel rocked with a circular motion starting about 30 seconds after the shot. Observers said the hotel, tallest in Vegas, swayed for about 60 seconds and then began to slow. The swaying continued for another 60 seconds.

On the streets below, traffic never hesitated.

Airliner Hijacked

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — An official of the Sofia airport confirmed the landing today of a Turkish airliner hijacked en route from Istanbul to Ankara. He said both the passengers and the plane will be sent back to Turkey today.

The official, who was reached by phone from Vienna, declined to disclose names and nationalities of the men who hijacked the Turkish airlines Viscount which left Istanbul today.

"I cannot give you any information on this matter which is taken care of by other Bulgarian authorities," he said.

"All the passengers are well and have been given breakfast and service at the Sofia airport. They are at present in the transit hall of the airport," he added.

Tax On Booze To Aid Cities

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas cities will collect an additional $6 million in local sales taxes because alcoholic beverages were placed under the state sales tax, the Texas Municipal League estimates.

The change in the sales tax base was made by the legislature in the special session that ended last Tuesday. Local sales taxes are paid on all items covered by the state sales tax.

Steve Matthews, league director, said the league has not made estimates for individual cities.

The league figures a good rule of thumb would be to add five per cent to a city's sales tax collections to account for the addition of alcoholic beverages.

The most recent 12 months for which the state comptroller has data is the year ended March 31. If alcoholic beverages had been under the sales tax during that period, Houston would have received $1.1 million; Dallas, $879,659; Fort Worth $344,630; Corpus Christi $145,458; Austin $172,530 and El Paso $192,795.

Suspect Jailed In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A Mexican National remained jailed today after his arrest in the slaying of a young woman who was found strangled and raped in an automobile junk yard.

The man, 25, was arrested after the nearly nude body of Mrs. Santa Emily Marin, 21, was found by her father, Silvestre Casares, Monday morning.

Late Monday night the man was identified by a 35-year-old woman as the man who attempted to rape her on Aug. 30.

Mrs. Marin, whose family members said was separated from her husband, had been missing more than 24 hours.

Nixon Backs 35,000 U. S. Troops Slice

Withdrawals Might Exceed 100,000 Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today that at least 35,000 more U.S. troops will be withdrawn from Vietnam by Dec. 15.

That would bring to 60,000 the total of Americans in uniform to leave the war-torn country since the phased withdrawal program began in July.

A White House source said about half of the 35,000 would be combat troops—a lower ratio than in the original withdrawal of 25,000 men. He also said the total might turn out to be 36,000 or 37,000 once the action has been completed.

There was no word from Nixon on possible future withdrawals but the source said a number of contingency plans have been drawn up.

Nixon once expressed hope that U.S. withdrawals might exceed 100,000 by the end of 1969 and the source said he had no reason to believe Nixon had abandoned that hope. The latest announcement made the 100,000 level seem most unlikely.

The President coupled his new troop withdrawal announcement with a review of administration efforts to promote a peaceful settlement.

Calling for meaningful negotiations now, Nixon said: "I realize that it is difficult to communicate across the gulf of five years of war. But the time has come to end this war."

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said Monday in Saigon he understood Nixon would announce a second-stage withdrawal of 40,500 men.

U.S. officials explained Ky based his figure on a scheduled cut in the authorized troop ceiling in Vietnam whereas Nixon's announcement was couched in terms of actual numbers of men to be pulled out—a smaller figure because few units in Vietnam have their full authorized complement.

As for Ky's statement that he looked for a total U.S. withdrawal of 150,000 to 200,000 by the end of 1970, the White House source who talked to newsmen —declining to be quoted by name—said Ky did not get those figures from U.S. officials.

The President last June ordered 25,000 U.S. troops pulled from the war. The last of this contingent came out of the fighting at the end of August.

No Response To MAYO Bid

By The Associated Press

A call by a militant for Texas Mexican-American pupils to demand a day off from school today and to boycott classes if refused appeared to find only very limited response.

A check after classes began of the six key areas cited in the militant's call showed only about 100 leaving at two Houston schools.

The call for an end to classes for Mexican-Americans was made for Mexican Independence Day by Mario Compean, Texas chairman of the Mexican-American Youth Organization, known as MAYO.

Compean said the day off would be a "reaffirmation of their (pupils') cultural heritage."

He asked for the free day or boycott in Houston, Del Rio, San Antonio, Kingsville, Alice and the Pharr-San Juan-Alamo school district.

The 100 or so Mexican-Americans at Houston's Jefferson Davis High School and Marshall Junior High, about a block apart, marched or drove in automobiles to Moody Park about a dozen blocks away.

After a few minutes in the park they dispersed for an unofficial holiday.

J. Paul Rodgers, principal at Jefferson Davis, said the pupils will be charged with an unexcused absence which will have to be made up during the school year.

Principal J. Lee Farmer at Pharr-San Juan-Alamo said he had received no requests. Principal Simon Ramos of the San Felipe High School in Del Rio said the school would maintain its schedule.

Compean made his call public Sunday at Alice where Mexican-Americans protested the failure to name a new high school after a late Alice lawyer and diplomat.

He said the "day of cultural reaffirmation" would be designed to launch MAYO activities around the state for the year.

Compean said MAYO will take a different direction.

Buckingham Palace Gets New Neighbors - Hippies

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and the London Hilton have some new neighbors—more than 100 hippies squatting in a mansion between Buckingham Palace and Hyde Park.

Calling themselves the London Street Commune, the out-of-work youths have taken over No. 144 Piccadilly, an elegant stone house with 60 rooms, high ornamented ceilings, delicate ironwork and a grand staircase.

The Queen's parents used to live next door at No. 145 when they were Duke and Duchess of York.

"It's such a good area," said one of the hippies as he took newsmen on a tour of inspection. "We don't expect any trouble from our neighbors, what with the Palace and the Hilton." The house was scheduled for demolition. The squatters moved in by an open side door and immediately barricaded all ground floor doors and windows to prevent eviction. Then they hoisted their red and white flag.

"You must excuse us, we've only just moved in," apologized one of the hippies as he took in the dirty cavernous rooms and gloomy labyrinth of corridors.

The hippies said the house would provide an admirable base for drifters from all parts of the world who converge on London with no money and few possessions.

"Homeless families are welcome to join us," said a spokesman, "but no tramps or drinkers. They would give us a bad name."

Between 30 and 40 young girls are among the squatters. One said her name was Gloria, she was 18 and was a strip-tease dancer out of work.

"Times are hard, and I'll stay here until I get work again," she said.

The police can't shift the squatters because under laws of 1381 and 1391 it is an offense for anyone to use force to break into private property, even to evict trespassers, without a court order.

"This is entirely a civil matter for the owners," said Scotland Yard.

The development company which owns the property and wants to build a hotel on it, said: "Until we know what is going on, we cannot decide what action to take."

The squatters armed themselves with fire extinguishers, and a spokesman declared: "We shall fight any attempt at eviction."

To Try Taming Strong Holly

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Holly, still packing only a minimal 75-mile an hour punch, drifted slowly to northwest across the Atlantic today on a course pointed to the north of the Leeward Islands.

Because of the slow movement of five miles an hour, planes of Project Stormfury based at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, delayed until Thursday plans to seed the rain clouds spiraling into the hurricane center.

At noon EDT Holly was located near Latitude 15.7 north, Longitude 50.7 west, about 1,025 miles east-southeast of San Juan, P.R. No significant change in intensity was forecast.

The seeding with silver iodide crystals was aimed at weakening the inrush of air into the storm.

Director Robert Simpson of the National Hurricane Center explained: "If seeding should cause the rainband clouds to grow explosively it is possible that this growth could cut off some of the inflowing air."

Early today Holly had become nearly stationary about 1,050 miles east-southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and her highest winds were estimated at 75 m.p.h. The hurricane was forecast to continue drifting today with no significant changes in intensity.

At 6 a.m. the hurricane was centered near Latitude 15.5 north, Longitude 50.5 west.

The airborne seeding may come Wednesday or Thursday if the storm is within an experimental area far at sea, Simpson said.

Scientists want to be sure a hurricane is far from a landfall when they experiment with its furies.

Stormfury is a joint research program of the Commerce Department, Environmental Science Services Administration and the Navy.

Nixon Okays Mars Goal; Astros Feted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress called a joint session to applaud the U.S. moon team today as the Nixon administration moved ahead with new proposals to put an American on Mars possibly within two decades.

Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins were invited to address the lawmakers at Noon EDT.

The belated congressional honor comes 57 days after Armstrong and Aldrin set foot on the moon. President Nixon paid tribute to the astronauts with a state dinner more than a month ago in Los Angeles, and there were huge parades for them in New York and Chicago.

Congress, on vacation from Aug. 13 until Sept. 3, had planned a joint session for the astronauts last week but postponed it because of the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

As Congress was preparing for today's big occasion, the White House announced Nixon was extending the U.S. space goal well past the moon.

He accepted a special task force report calling for a landing on Mars but advising against an expensive crash program. The report turned down suggestions that manned space flights be phased out.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, asked whether the acceptance of the report meant the President was committing himself to a man on Mars, said: "Yes, I think so."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew headed the task force which suggested three options including a manned landing on Mars and two of them setting the 1980s as the possible time for achieving it. No details were disclosed but the report is to be made public eventually.

Agnew touched off a flurry of controversy in July at the launching of the Apollo 11 mission when he suggested that Mars should be the next U.S. space goal, with a landing by the end of this century.

This brought a hostile response from some senators and representatives who demand scaling down of the U.S. space effort and use of the funds to solve problems on earth instead.

Disclosure of the new administration goal coupled with today's appearance of the U.S. space heroes could signal the beginning of the battle over the future of the space program—an issue yet to be taken up this year by Congress.

RECEIVES REPRIMAND AFTER TWO-DAY TRIAL Skipper Guilty Of Negligence

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — A one-man court-martial sentenced Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore to a reprimand today after finding the skipper of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans guilty of negligence in the collision of his ship and the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne.

The U.S. Navy judge, Capt. James E. Keys, 49, of Kansas City, Mo., announced his decision 40 minutes after testimony in the two-day trial ended. McLemore, 40, of San Pedro, Calif., stood stiffly at attention as the decision was read.

McLemore could have received a maximum of two years at hard labor and dismissal from the Navy.

Two of the destroyer's junior officers, both on the bridge at the time of the June 3 collision in the South China Sea, received reprimands earlier for their part in the tragedy which took the lives of 74 Americans.

One of the two, Lt. (j.g.) Ronald C. Ramsey, also was set back on the promotion list, which made it unlikely that he will ever get a command.

Ramsey, 24, of Long Beach, Calif., also was court-martialed before Capt. Keys, while the other was court-martialed after the trial.

junior officer of the deck at the time of the collision, Lt. (j.g.) James A. Hopson, 29, of Kansas City, Kan., was not brought to trial but received a reprimand from the commander of the 7th Fleet.

Although the sentences of McLemore and Ramsey are subject to review by the navy, McLemore's trial presumably ended disciplinary action against those involved in the collision. The skipper of the Melbourne, Capt. John P. Stevenson, was acquitted by an Australian court-martial last month.

McLemore was asleep in his cabin when the Evans, shifting from ahead of the Melbourne to astern of it, was cut in two by the carrier. The charge against the captain said he had been informed there was likely to be maneuvering which would require his presence on the bridge but did not leave specific night orders that he be awakened and informed prior to the maneuver.

McLemore's counsel, Cmdr. Robinson Lappin, based his defense on two contentions: that the captain never received the message from the carrier telling him of operations during the night that would require the Evans to change station, and that McLemore had repeatedly instructed his officers to wake him if the ship had to change station.

Testifying in his own defense, McLemore insisted that he never saw the message from the carrier. Prosecution testimony showed that the message was received by the Evans early in the evening and a copy put on a clipboard for the officers of the deck. But the defense countered that a copy of the message had not been placed on McLemore's personal message board.

Ramsey substantiated McLemore's claim that he left orders to be awakened when the ship changed positions. Ramsey said he should have waked the captain but failed to do so.

Army's Order For Removal Of Barricades

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A Roman Catholic citizens' committee indicated today that it was accepting the British army's demand for speedy removal of barricades thrown up by the Catholics in Belfast.

The Central Citizens' Defense Committee issued a statement saying the government had given adequate assurance that persons inside the barricades will not be arrested under the Special Powers Act, which allows suspects to be jailed without trial.

"The committee feels that negotiations on the provision of adequate protection and the removal of the barricades can now commence," the statement said.

The committee also said the list of demands it issued Monday had been misinterpreted. The organization had said earlier that it would defend the barricades unless the demands were met.

The demands included repeal of the Special Powers Act, disbandment of the Protestant police reserves, disarming of the regular police, and British legislation if the Ulster government fails to deliver a package of promised pro-Catholic reforms.

The statement today apparently paves the way for removal of the barricades under an agreement reached in London last week. Under the agreement, British officers will reach separate agreements with the residents of each barricaded neighborhood on the protection the residents feel they need following removal of the barricades. The residents and the army are then to join in bringing the barricades down.

The committee issued its statement after the British army's commander in Northern Ireland returned from London with orders to take down the barricades despite Catholic opposition.

Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, commander of the 7,500 British troops stationed in Ulster since last month's Catholic-Protestant warfare, met Monday with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Home Secretary James Callaghan.

Callaghan said after the meeting: "The barricades must come down and progress must be made in the matter very quickly."

Grenade Kills Israeli Woman, Hurts Another

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Arab threw a hand grenade into a busy market in Gaza City today, killing a 50-year-old Israeli woman and wounding another Israeli woman, a 15-year-old Israeli boy and 13 Arabs, sources in the occupied Gaza Strip reported.

Israeli troops surrounded the market and picked up a score of Arabs for questioning. Several of the wounded were reported in serious condition.

On the other side of Israel, Arab guerrillas in Jordan opened fire on an Israeli border patrol in the Belsan Valley and wounded a sergeant, the Israeli Army reported.

The patrol returned the fire, and an exchange of mortar fire followed.

Farther north, Arab snipers opened fire on patrols near Geshor and Ashdot Ya'aqov, the Israelis reported.

YOUR HEALTH

By Halvard T. Hansen, D.C.

There have been many requests that I start my column again and admit it was fun writing it so here goes.

To begin with, let us recapitulate some of the conditions treated in the office last week where the cause of the conditions were located in the spine; the spine corrected and the complaints eliminated.

We had tremendous results on 4 cases of bursitis in that a number of them could even raise the arm after just a treatment or two as well as greatly reducing the pain that they suffered. There were many headache cases, maybe 25 in that headaches were treated along with some other complaint (That is one of the nice things about Chiropractic that we treat the entire body each visit and so many conditions are treated in each visit.)

Incidentally, there are numerous types of headaches and in many cases, the headache is a symptom of some other condition. These have to be diagnosed as such. Further a person can have 2 types of headaches at one time and it is impossible to have 3 headaches at one time. In most cases, the headache is gone or up to 90% gone before they leave the office and it is unusual that the headache will be gone within 10 to 20 seconds after the headache treatment has been completed and the spine adjusted. No pill can make that statement! Constantly we see people that have been treated and it is the common place thing to hear them say, "I haven't had any more headaches since you treated me."

In fact, we talked to one woman last week who only received one treatment and she said that she has not had a headache since that treatment but she didn't know which was more astounding, the disappearance of the headache or how easy the treatment was. That is a mistake many make in that they are apprehensive about having the spine adjusted because they think it will hurt when it really doesn't.

There were many, many more conditions treated in which the cause was in the spine but I wrote too much about headaches. More next week.

Nixon Stays Out Of Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is staying out of the Senate Republican leadership campaign, and a spokesman reports the administration is under neutrality orders.

Buses Roll In San Antonio Following $200,000 Strike

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Buses rolled for the first time in two weeks today after bus drivers and mechanics voted to halt a strike that cost the city transit line more than $200,000.

Union members voted unanimously in less than an hour Monday night to accept a 35-cent across-the-board hourly wage hike over the next 25 months.

The new contract calls for an hourly wage of $3 by Jan. 1, 1971. It includes vacation and split shift schedule improvements but no change in sick leave policy, which was a major issue early in the strike.

The union's vote came after a district judge earlier Monday delayed a ruling on an injunction request, pending further negotiations.

The strike began Sept. 2 after union members rejected a contract proposal that included a 29-cent hourly wage increase. It came on the first day of school and cut off service to as many as 70,000 patrons, including up to 6,000 school children.

Felix Tapp, assistant general manager of the transit company and chief management negotiator, said the bus line had lost future riders as the result of the strike.

"Some riders won't ever come back," Tapp said.

He said a decision had not been reached on raising passenger fare. Transit officials will have to determine how much the strike cost the bus line and how much the passenger load has dropped off, he said.

Management spokesmen have estimated the bus line lost $16,524 in passenger revenue each weekday of the strike and $7,875 on Sunday, or about $214,038.

The strike, first here in 20 years, was technically illegal. It is against state law to strike city owned bus systems.

Amalgamated Transit Union Local President Wilson Parker called the new contract a "great moral victory." Fringe benefits still aren't as good as other city employees', he said, "but our wages are over many city employees'."

Parker said the strike had cost each man about $23 a day, or about $322 over the 14-day period.

"It will take us one year to make up what we lost," he said.

The 365 union members present unanimously voted approval of the contract offer, Parker said. Total union membership is 466.

He said the offer was worked out minutes before the union's meeting after day-long negotiations with management officials.

Tapp said management's injunction request was a moot point now. Judge James Onion of 73rd Dist. Court delayed a ruling on the motion Monday in view of continuing efforts to settle the dispute.

Sears Reports On Purchases

The world's largest merchandiser began its eighty-fourth year today talking about buying rather than selling.

Sears, Roebuck and Co., in launching its 83rd birthday celebration, reported that purchases from Texas manufacturers have increased sharply.

Lloyd Morse, manager for Sears in Big Spring, said his company purchased goods valued at $136,318,333 from 462 Texas manufacturers in 1968. As the local company unit launched its birthday celebration with a month-long calendar of sales events, it was joined by Sears' 815 other retail stores, 11 large catalog order plants, and 2,042 catalog, retail and telephone sales offices.

Trash Fires

Big Spring firemen extinguished two trash fires behind the Northcrest Apartments, 1100 N. Main, Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The earlier call was answered at 9:50 p.m. Monday and at 9 a.m. today. No cause for either fire was listed.

Sharp Fighting Reported, Military Men Speculating

SAIGON (AP) — Two hundred North Vietnamese troops raided a village in the populous coastal lowlands south of Da Nang, killed 24 persons, wounded six others and destroyed 170 houses, South Vietnamese spokesmen reported today.

Sharp fighting was reported in various parts of South Vietnam as GIs and officers speculated which units would be included in new U.S. troop withdrawals. Allied forces killed 212 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in a dozen clashes from the Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone, military spokesmen said.

Allied casualties were five Americans and three South Vietnamese killed, and 49 Americans and two South Vietnamese wounded.

U.S. Headquarters said another American was killed and 53 others wounded in 29 rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m.

Monday and 8 a.m. today.

The North Vietnamese attacked the village of Mai Linh, in the northern part of the country 12 miles southwest of Quang Ngai, shortly before midnight Monday with rockets, mortars, grenades and rifle fire.

The village of 288 persons was defended by militiamen, and three of them were killed. All of the other victims were civilians. Enemy losses were not known.

It was the second major North Vietnamese attack in the region in the past three days. Last Saturday about 200 North Vietnamese troops attacked a platoon of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese militiamen in a village 13 miles northwest of Quang Ngai. This triggered an eight-hour fight in which two American Marines and eight Vietnamese civilians were killed, three Marines were wounded and 200 houses destroyed.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky told newsmen Monday that 40,500 more Americans would be pulled out of Vietnam by the end of November. That would reduce U.S. troop strength to 467,500.

A few hours later the White House confirmed that a withdrawal announcement would be made today by President Nixon but withheld the number. And the U.S. Armed Forces Network censored all references to Ky's remarks from its news broadcasts. A spokesman for the U.S. Command said Ky's statement was considered "speculative" and the military radio-television network "only uses confirmed stories."

Another American official said Ky's remarks were blacked out "because we were expecting an announcement from President Nixon."

Among the troops expected to go are the 3rd Marine Division, now stationed along the demilitarized zone, and units of the 1st Infantry Division, the first Army division to arrive in Vietnam.

The 3rd Marine Division now guards the western two-thirds of the frontier below the demilitarized zone, with the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division covering the rest. The area has been relatively quiet for the past year, but U.S. Marines from the 3rd Division's 3rd Regiment clashed on Monday with North Vietnamese troops two miles below the DMZ. Four Marines were killed, 36 wounded and there was no estimate of enemy losses.

The U.S. 1st Infantry Division is stationed north of Saigon. In the past year it has seen little major battlefield action and has been concentrating on pacification, while the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and the 1st Air Cavalry Division have borne the brunt of the heavy fighting in the provinces along the Cambodian border, north of Saigon.

The 1st Division already has turned over part of its area of operations to the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division.

A Devotion For Today . . .

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. (Psalms 46:1)
PRAYER: We confess, O Lord, to the sin of putting our trust in material things. Deliver us from false security and lead us to believe in Thee as our eternal rock of security, now and in the world to come. Amen.

New Speaker In Order

Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who has been Speaker of the House of Representatives since 1962, is thought to be receptive to at least one more term in office, even though he is approaching 80. The reasons for retaining him in this important leadership post are not compelling.

This negative judgment implies no lack of zeal or integrity. The inevitable decline in powers that comes with age reduces his effectiveness; moreover, he has been too aggressive. McCormack has not been a strong speaker. Though comparison with some of his more exceptional predecessors may be invidious, it is instructive. Some notion of what the office of speaker can be in the hands of an outstanding man can be gotten by recalling such great holders of the office as Henry Clay and James

G. Blaine, who both narrowly missed the presidency; James K. Polk, the only speaker to gain it; and Thomas B. Reed of Maine, who modernized the procedures of the House and would probably have made a better president than the man who defeated him for his party's nomination, William McKinley. A more recent exemplar is Sam Rayburn, McCormack's immediate predecessor, who adroitly wielded the power of the speakership during three separate terms in that position.

McCormack was challenged at his last re-election but won, in part because of an understanding that this would be his last term. Little is heard of this idea now. Seniority counts heavily, but there are representatives of long service, however, who would contribute far more to the office.

Change Should Not Curb Philanthropy

The House-passed tax reform bill now pending in the U.S. Senate, while long overdue, is hardly an unmixed blessing in its present form. The Senate Finance Committee has begun extensive hearings, and it is hoped that constructive changes can be achieved there.

A point of concern is the provisions on private foundations and individual philanthropy designed to curb tax avoidance and restrict dubious deductions. Undoubtedly there is much unscrupulous, if not legal, tax evasion in the management of some private foundations and in some individuals' philanthropic contributions.

However, liberal Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, an advocate of federal tax reform who has made a thorough study of these proposed provisions, has charged in a specially called press conference that as now written they "would dangerously decrease the amount of private funds available for the purposes of education and philanthropy" in health, welfare and other humanitarian activities.

If this is true, the increased federal revenue from the private funds thus cut off from sound purposes would be more than offset by the federal, state and local governmental tax revenues that would have to be spent to serve the same purposes. And much good that private philanthropy does is beyond the legal scope of government to replace with its own programs.

The congressional tax-leaders are ingenious indeed, and it should not be beyond their competence to rewrite the law so as to hit tax-avoiders but not impair the welcome good works of private philanthropists. The Senate finance committee should go over this problem with critical and thoughtful concern for what is best for the public interest.

This Is A Recording

WASHINGTON — The most important vision of the telephone company these days is the Department of Recorded Announcements. As telephone service in this country gets worse, the Department of Recorded Announcements plays an ever-greater role in the system.

Heading up the DRA at the phone company is Miss Shirley Thrush, who recently was made a full vice president. I visited her at her complex which covered several acres outside Pleasantville, N.Y.

MISS THRUSH told me, "A few years ago I used to do all the recordings for the telephone company at my desk during lunch hour. But now, as you can see, I have an entire division devoted to it, and we're growing all the time."

"Any time anything goes wrong we have to make a recorded announcement, and you can imagine how many announcements we produce these days."

"Then, you thrive on the bad luck of the rest of the company?"

"I wouldn't say that," Miss Thrush said. "But let's say for years everyone in the company thought I was a joke. Now it's my turn to think they're all jokes."

Billy Graham

My husband died years ago and I have been lonely. A wonderful Christian man has asked me to marry him, but my daughter resents him and his children. What should I do? F.P.

Three, possibly four people are to be considered: you, your fiancé, your daughter and his children. To let your daughter, who is obviously an immature person, acting in all probability, emotionally, make the decision, would be unwise.

Certainly, she should be considered, but not to the exclusion of everyone else. Situations, where two families are involved, can become somewhat complex. But some of the happiest marriages I know of is where two people, under the guidance of God, have salvaged what seemed to be tragedy, and made something beautiful and blessed.

Sit down quietly with your daughter and explain your need of companionship and marital love. Explain to her that you did love her father, but that the Bible teaches "until death do us part," and that the new relationship reflects in no way upon the former. If she is rational, I'm sure she will understand. If not, prayer can change her attitude. In a complex decision such as this, sincerely seek God's guidance, for if a decision is made out of His will, tragedy could result.

Those Were The Days! Remember?

NEW YORK (AP) — What do you collect? Stamps? Coins? Old silver? Memories? Memories are the best of all things to collect. They have several advantages over other possessions that people prize and save.

They never decrease in interest, they can be shared with other people without diminishing their value, and you don't have to put them away in a costly safe-deposit box, as you do diamonds, to protect them from thieves.

Many folks might envy your precious store of memories; none would be so heartless as to wish to steal them from you.

And your album of memories is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when

You could write your congressman a penny post card telling him why you didn't think he was worth two cents.

About the only people who wore wigs were Shakespearean actors.

You saw more white horses on the street than you did men with beards.

Before the advent of television, critics complained that the quality of programs on the radio had brought American cultural history to a new low.

The most common household tools for bridging the generation gap were the hairbrush and the old-fashioned razor strap, applied locally as required.

You could kiss a pretty girl at a church social for a dollar or less—and not feel short-changed.

One of the big thrills of boyhood was getting a job clerking in a grocery store on Saturdays and learning how to perch a pencil on your ear as if you had done it all your life.

Mother always kept enough money in the cookie jar to tide the family over any financial crisis the last two days before payday.

A barbershop quartet could harmonize the strains of "Old Black Joe" without worrying over the possibility they'd incite a race riot.

It was taken for granted that any lad with gumption would be seized with wanderlust and try to run away from home before his 16th birthday.

The slits that girls wore beneath their dresses were at least three times as long as the miniskirts they wear today.

In a large family, mother would review at the supper table the sins during the day of each of the kids, and father, after staring sternly in turn at each squirming culprit, would finally lay down his knife and say, "For Pete's sake, can't all this wait until a man finishes eating?"

Film star Marion Davies started to build a $7,500 beach home at Santa Monica in the 1920s, and finally wound up with a $7-million showplace staffed by 32 servants.

You could take an evening stroll in almost any section of a city without fear of being mugged.

Most Americans believed that the world owed them not a living but simply the chance to make something of themselves.

Inflation Blame

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A distinguished economist says in a new book that the whole blame for inflation can't be put on the Vietnam war.

The book, "The Business Cycle in a Changing World," is a collection of the writings of Arthur F. Burns, adviser to President Nixon and chairman of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers from 1953 to 1956. It was published by the National Bureau of Economic Research, of which he has been president and chairman.

"The new inflation started before Vietnam was of any financial or economic consequence," Burns says. "Prices of raw materials began moving up in spirited fashion as early as the fall of 1963. By June of 1964 the average level of all wholesale prices began rising. Between that month and June, 1965, the whole sale price index rose 3 per cent."

"Moreover, price advances spread out over the economy well before mid-1965. During the second half of 1964, 12 of the 15 major groups of commodities covered by the official index of wholesale prices registered advances. During the next six months, 14 of the 15 groups showed price increases. Clearly, inflation had already taken hold and became widespread many months before Vietnam began adding appreciably to aggregate money demand."

Burns contends that the "simple explanation that the recent price-wage spiral is attributable to the war in Vietnam must be rejected."

Burns is critical of what he describes as the shifting economic policy of the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson. He notes that apart from the investment tax credit which became effective in November, 1966, Johnson did not ask for an increase in taxes before January, 1967.

"By that time," he writes, "the wholesale price level had already been rising 2 1/2 years. And when the president did ask for higher income taxes, he asked merely for an increase of 6 per cent, to become effective at midyear. In the face of an explosive increase in federal spending, this request did not convey any great sense of urgency."

Five Weeks In Hospital With Hepatitis

(First in a series of three articles)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have just been in the hospital for five weeks and in bed at home for four more because of hepatitis. Since having it myself, I have found many others who have had it, but cannot find any literature about it.

Can hepatitis come back? When is one safe or sure of not having a relapse? — Mrs. H.B.

It's true that there isn't much reading matter on hepatitis — except technical literature, of which there is much. Yet hepatitis is both serious and prevalent.

The explanation perhaps is that there isn't any startling method of either preventing or treating it. Oh, there are ways to do both, but they are not "dramatic." So please bear that in mind as you read this. The important methods are the important and effective ones.

The common form of hepatitis is infectious hepatitis. (By the way, "hepatitis" means, specifically, "inflamed liver.") Infectious hepatitis is the result of a particular virus which attacks the liver, just as, for example, other viruses attack the nose and throat, as in colds, or others cause measles, or polio, or whatever.

The hepatitis virus is transmitted mostly by contaminated foods or water; it probably is transmitted from person to person, too, but the frequency of this is not established.

A good many people still call hepatitis "yellow jaundice." Actually jaundice is a symptom, not a disease. Jaundice — yellowness of skin, eyeballs, etc. — occurs to some extent in about 90 per cent of hepatitis cases. But jaundice can result from some other conditions, too.

Anyway, when hepatitis occurs, it usually starts out pretty much like "flu," with headache, fever, extreme loss of appetite, aching.

The jaundice usually shows first with a yellowing of the whites of the eyes, later appears in the skin generally.

Along with this are dark urine and clay-colored stools.

The main physical sign is a large, tender liver.

There are chemical tests to confirm the presence of hepatitis. These same tests are useful later on in determining how well the patient is recovering.

It is not unusual for the illness to last as long as in Mrs. H.B.'s case, and any disease that can put a person to bed for nine weeks is not to be taken lightly.

Treatment I'll discuss tomorrow; how to avoid hepatitis the following day.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Hooray, The Swim Season Is Over

Some people are lovable, I am drownable. Those old swimming holes are not too plentiful in West Texas, and being a West Texan born and bred I never learned to swim.

IT'S NOT that I didn't try to learn how to swim, my mother read all those magazine articles about "water-proofing" children and I took lessons for years. In fact, I've come to the conclusion the only reason I can't swim is I became water-logged during those all important formative years the psychologists are always talking about.

I have come to the conclusion there are just some people who cannot be taught to swim, and I am one of those people. And I don't think I can blame it on my swimming instructors because they tried . . . and tried . . . and tried.

I WAS ALWAYS too smart for them. I knew when they told me to lay back in the water and they would hold me up that they were going to let go of me if I looked relaxed.

And as for opening my eyes under water, forget it!

And when it comes to kicking my legs, flailing my arms and turning my head from side to side and controlling my breathing, something always goes wrong. I'm just not too coordinated and I always end up taking great mouthfuls of water into my lungs while rapidly sinking to the bottom of the pool.

I ALWAYS try to sit gracefully on the edge of the pool looking as professional as possible, but someone always gets the notion I'm just faking and pushes me under, and then everybody has to jump in and save me. I'm not too easy to save either, I panic.

THERE'S ONLY one good thing about swimming, it is only a summertime sport, and summer is almost over. Now it's time for all those other things I can't do, like snow-ski and intelligently discuss the merits and demerits of weekend football games — when is it ever going to be my season?

Democratic Outlook Right Now Is Dim

WASHINGTON — To the returning traveler, the post-Kennedy political landscape has, from the Democratic perspective, a bleak and stricken look. While Hurricane Gerda hit only the fringes of Cape Cod, the roar of the Teddy Kennedy storm continues to blast away at what was once taken for granted as the invincible march to power.

That is a reflection of the weakness of a posture resting so heavily on a single individual and on the apparatus of publicity and acclaim that individual commanded. Or, rather, the assumption that the magic of a name and a legend, coupled with great resources of money, would sweep all before it.

EVEN BEFORE the tragedy of the bridge at Chappaquiddick, Sen. Edward Kennedy had shown a certain political ineptitude. He had got himself too far out in front too early. He seemed to be exploiting such minor issues as the plight of the Eskimos in Alaska to get into the national spotlight. The plain truth was that at the age of 37 Kennedy was still untried, the name counting for far more than the performance.

IN THE STRICKEN landscape, with Kennedy eliminated for at least the foreseeable future, the craggy shape of another and far different New Englander stands out. Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine was but little known outside his home state a year ago. Tapped by Hubert Humphrey at Chicago to be the party's vice-presidential candidate, Muskie's quality of simple, unadorned directness won instant recognition. He was a homespun hero in what was otherwise an unhappy campaign.

PUSHED BY admirers around the country and not immune from the virus of presidential ambition, Muskie in January began a furious roundabout of speeches and public appearances. It was essential to raise money if he was to have a chance of challenging the Kennedy name and the Kennedy resources. And a far sharper national identity was also essential.

But this whirlwind dervish act could scarcely be sustained. Muskie succumbed to the despairing conviction that the steam for a nationwide drive could not be generated on a do-it-yourself basis. That could happen in Maine where he had been, as the son of a Polish immigrant, his own creator. In effect, he bowed out in recognition of the Kennedy inevitability.

MUSKIE TODAY is far more relaxed. He means to hew to a policy line in speeches and statements that will confirm his reputation as a moderate, standing for the broad objectives of his party. At the same time a staff of friendly volunteers, some of them out of the Kennedy camp incidentally, will help him with ideas, position papers and speech drafts.

A bookie looking to 72 would have to put Muskie high in the money. Nothing florid, nothing sensational, the cut of his job conforms to the mood of the times. The Muskie image is reassuring — integrity, common sense, the proof that a newcomer without fortune or family can rise to the top.

THE NEXT consideration for the cautious bookie would have to be the worth of a Democratic presidential nomination three years hence. Here the imponderables are such as to constitute a bog of uncertainty. The party out of power is faced with increasing Republican gains, notably in the governors' chairs, and this, coupled with the extraordinary run of Nixon luck, makes the present outlook dim.

Story Of Our Hard-Luck Navy

WASHINGTON — For years our U.S. Navy has been in a streak of bad luck, and a just-published book about Tonkin Gulf indicates how remorselessly misfortune rides the waves.

Worse, this book by Joseph Goulden, "Truth Is The First Casualty," has given inordinate delight to a couple of unilateral disarmament buffs, Senators Bill Fulbright and Frank Church.

"It was a fitting book for me to read over the Fourth of July," says Fulbright in a mash-note to the publisher.

"THANK YOU (Rand McNally & Co.) and Mr. Goulden," gurgled Church in a similar letter.

Why any American should be happy over such terrible events, I just dunno. It's a book to make the angels weep. I think they must have begun sobbing for the Bay of Pigs (a Navy officer was President then), and kept right on moaning for the USS Liberty, the USS Pueblo, the Navy EC-121 and so much else that has gone wrong in the Stressful Sixties. Joe Goulden, the author, shudders, to do him credit, as he tells the wretched tale of what happened to the USS Maddox and USS Turner Joy during the first week of August, 1964.

THESE TWO destroyers became a pair of pawns in one of the crookedest chess-games ever played on the international board. To begin with, President Johnson needed a pretext to get what was described as the "functional equivalent" of a declaration of war out of Congress. The document, later the Tonkin Gulf Resolution of August 5, 1964, had been drafted by McGeorge Bundy back in June. It was quickly updated between August 2 (after a flea-bit attack on the Maddox) and August 4 (when attacks on the Maddox and the Turner Joy allegedly took place, but in all probability never did).

"FOR ALL I know, our Navy was shooting at whales out there," the President privately admitted later, in one of the many astonishing revelations in this book. His administration did not produce a single member of the two ships' crews, including their commanders, who could testify that North Vietnam ships fired on the U.S. vessels that dark night of August 4.

The closest moment of peril came when Seaman Patrick Park, the Maddox sonarman, was ordered to press a button that would have fired six five-inch guns into a supposed enemy target, which turned out to be the sister-ship.

"Just before I pushed the trigger," Park said afterwards, "I suddenly realized. That's the Turner Joy."

THIS LIVELY BOOK actually becomes tiresome in listing and exposing all the deceptions of Johnson and the yes-men liars around him. The Maddox was not on a "routine patrol" but was an electronic spyship. The Communists had every reason for supposing it was a decoy for South Vietnam raids simultaneously being carried on in other ships supplied by the U.S. Navy. The retaliation bombing of North Vietnam took place while Johnson was still frantically trying to get "proof" that the non-attacks on the Maddox and Turner Joy had been real attacks.

IT IS A sorry story. It involves high-ranking Navy officers as well as their commander-in-chief and Defense Secretary. It is a book that should have been written and published, for the sake of shameful truth.

But I can't imagine how Senator Fulbright, writing on Foreign Relations Committee stationery and signing himself "chairman," could call it "fitting" reading for the Fourth of July.

Wilkins Talks On Investment

"To be sure, investment involves risk, but what you want to do is minimize that risk," said Dan Wilkins of Edward D. Jones and Company when he was dinner speaker Thursday for Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. The group met in the Patio Room at Holiday Inn, where Mrs. Ruth Hampton introduced the speaker.

"One way to minimize that risk," continued Wilkins, "is to first determine what your investment objective is, and the risk you can afford to take. Once so done, this will determine the type of securities you buy. Many securities are conservative and do not involve much risk."

"Get information on the company in which you are interested, check its prospects for the future and do business with a reputable stock exchange firm."

"It is my feeling that 90 per cent of one's investible money should go into good quality securities and approximately 20 per cent in speculative securities."

Mrs. Owen McComb gave a vocational talk on her work in the accounting and finance branch of the Comptroller Division at Webb Air Force Base.

Clean Jewelry For Maximum Beauty

Jewelry, no matter how expensive, can lose some of its beauty if not cared for properly. Most important is keeping it clean and the method used depends on the type of jewelry involved. For example, a diamond that is worn every day should be cleaned once a month. To do this, fill a cup with hot water, add a half-cup of baby shampoo and a dash of ammonia. Using an old eyebrow brush or toothbrush and a cotton swab, gently rub it clean. This mixture can also be used for costume jewelry, but the water should be lukewarm rather than hot.

Proper Brushing Makes Pretty Hair

Proper brushing is one of the eternal secrets of beautiful hair. After shampooing, "towel damp" hair should be brushed until almost dry before setting. Begin by brushing it in small sections to smooth tangles without breaking hair. Then, part hair across the crown and brush it forward, repeat down the center and brush to each side. Finally, brush all your hair back. Remember that natural bristle brushes are easiest on hair, that the brush should be completely clean — no sense in transferring old spray residue and dirt to freshly washed hair — and that to insure shine in hair that must be washed often, many stylists recommend a gentle product such as non-irritating baby shampoo.

Pythian Sisters Honor Texas Grand Chief

The Pythian Sisters, Sterling Temple No. 43, honored Mrs. H. T. McDonald of Mineral Wells, grand chief of Texas, with a banquet Monday evening on the occasion of her official visit to Big Spring. Others here for the event were Mrs. I. B. Middleton, grand manager, and Mrs. Velma Bartlett, both of Lamesa.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Charles Fannin, Mrs. Herbert Johnson Jr., Mrs. Charles Herring and Mrs. W. L. Thompson, district deputy grand chief. The invocation was by Mrs. Choc Smith, grand junior.

Following the banquet, the group reconvened at Castle Hall where Mrs. Thompson presided and Mrs. McDonald addressed the assembly, bringing greetings from the grand chief and Grand Temple, Pythian Sisters of Texas.

Mrs. McDonald said one of the supreme chief's projects this year will be to increase membership and publicity for the organization. Mrs. McDonald's main state project will be support to the Pythian Children's Home in Weatherford, where plans are under way to provide new flooring for one of the dormitories. She asked local members to help raise funds for the construction. Needs of the Pythian Retirement Home at Greenville were outlined, and Mrs. McDonald concluded with a report on the annual homecoming at the Weatherford home which was held Aug. 31.

The silver drill prize was won by Mrs. E. B. Cockerham, and the silver drill fund was donated to Mrs. McDonald's project. Mrs. Jim Corbell's name was drawn for the capsule prize. Fourteen members attended, reporting 80 visits made and 47 cards mailed to the sick and shut-in. Mrs. J. E. Underwood was re-instated into the order.

Dear Heloise: I have the solution to washing eye make-up off thoroughly without irritating my eyes or getting creams in them. I use a no-tear baby shampoo. Just pour a little on a washcloth and scrub away.

I use a plastic bottle with a small hole at the top which works neatly for squeezing out just the right amount. There's no tell-tale shadow under my eyes the next morning and I can wash the underside of my lashes without fear of irritation ... Margaret Hanson

A LOVELIER YOU

Calorie Watchers Can Eat Heartily

By MARY SUE MILLER

When you are counting calories, waterless and fatless cooking undercut the counts of dishes you prepare. Vegetables actually gain flavor by the waterless method and so need no fattening butter for seasoning. What's more, the vitamins so vital to a reducer's well-being are better conserved to her uses when there's no cooking water to throw down the drain.

As every reducer must realize, cooking meats and eggs without fat saves hundreds of calories. All the equipment one needs for this kind of cookery is thick aluminum pots with non-stick finishes and tight-fitting lids. Because aluminum conducts as a most efficient conductor of heat, spreading it evenly throughout bottom, sides and lid of a pan, uniform cooking is assured.

Many dishes you would think taboo on a diet are thus permitted, from such unlikely dishes as pan-sautéed ham, through succulent, whipped squash to pears royale.

To prove the point, this recipe for the pears: Use 1-lb. can low-calorie pears; halve them. Combine pears with liquid from can, 1 tsp. crystallized ginger, 1/2 tsp. cinnamon and 1/4 tsp. nutmeg in a 1 1/2 qt. non-stick aluminum saucepan. Simmer for five minutes. Dissolve 2 tsp. cornstarch in small amount of the hot liquid. Stir in pear mixture. Simmer five minutes more. Prepare 1 package low-cal vanilla pudding according to package directions. Spoon pear sauce over pudding. Serves 4.

Guild Told Life Not All Work

"We must rid ourselves of the Puritanical belief that life is all work, and work is all good," said Mrs. Pete Rhymes at Monday's meeting of St. Mary's Guild, St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Rhymes spoke on "Woman, The New Leisure and Her God," stressing that in the next 20 years many people will have to become "appreciators, thinkers and collectors." She asked the question, "Are people preparing themselves for this role?"

She stated that most people spend their leisure to suit themselves and their main interests in life, giving God only as much leisure time as He is important in their lives.

Mrs. Shine Phillips presided, and Mrs. Ray Boren gave the devotion. Hostesses were Mrs. Florence Lennox and Miss Ione McAllister.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is a new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at Hemphill-Wells Co., in the Foundation Department

Clouds Low Over Texas

By The Associated Press
Clouds hung low over much of Texas today, promising continued showers and mild temperatures.

Lightning danced across the skies of the Panhandle and Northwest Texas just before dawn and light showers fell in North Central sections, but the main thunderstorm activity was north of the Red River in Southern Oklahoma.

The Weather Bureau said this activity would spread to most sections of North Central and Northeast Texas during the day.

Early morning cloudiness reached as far south as San Antonio and kept temperatures mostly in the cool 70s. Galveston was the warmest point in the state with 80 degrees, while the mercury dropped as low as 56 at Dalhart in West Texas.

Showers hung off the Gulf Coast and threatened early morning clear skies in South Texas. The moisture was expected to move inland during the day to the Coastal Plains and Southeast sections.

Rainfall Monday reached portions just under an inch at Houston by nightfall, with lesser amounts of .31 of an inch at Longview and .34 of an inch at Tyler in East Texas. Dalhart in West Texas recorded .51 of an inch as the day's widely scattered precipitation was tabulated.

Mexican Independence Day Parade Biggest Ever

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Tuesday, Sept. 16, 1969 7

SA N ANTONIO (AP) — The biggest parade ever planned here was to commemorate Mexican Independence Day and top off four days of traditional "Diez y Seis" festivities today.

Ten marching bands, 34 floats and more than 200 horsemen — more entries than ever before — were expected to wind through this historic city which has felt the influence of Spain and Mexico for more than two centuries.

Presiding over the parade as grand marshal was to be Abelardo De La Torre Grajales, Mexico's undersecretary of national resources and Mexican President Diaz Ordaz' personal representative.

A wreath offering ceremony at a statue of Father Miguel Hidalgo, Mexico's liberator, also was among today's activities in SA N ANTONIO (AP) — The anniversary of Mexican Independence was commemorated Monday and Tuesday by a luncheon in Grajales honor Monday and called for the forging of even stronger bonds between the United States and Mexico.

Tower said that "every passing year has shown the increasing development of closeness between the two countries. 'We have forged bonds of cultural exchange, friendship and mutual assistance,' he added.

"In times of crisis, like Hurricane Beulah, we have found that we are not only friends — indeed we are brothers."

Stressing the role of the United States as "the free world's first line of defense," Tower said: "We could not be so strong without friends like Mexico."

In his talk, Grajales stressed the importance of the organization of American States. "For the millions of men and women that live in this hemisphere, the friendship of the two Americas becomes more important each day," he said.

Svetlana Says Her Dad Knew Exactly What He Was Doing

NEW YORK (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva says her father Joseph Stalin "knew exactly what he was doing" when he carried out the bloody purges which shook the Soviet Union before World War II.

She said the purges Stalin ordered after World War II "had a different quality."

How does she view Soviet leaders other than Stalin? She said former Premier Nikita Khrushchev "was a good

Opening lead: Ten of ♠

Some might attribute South's success in today's hand to pure luck. In our viewpoint, however, his triumph was well earned for his efforts were capped by a shrewd psychological approach that is not at all common in declarer play.

South responded to North's opening one no trump bid with a forcing jump to three hearts. When partner raised to four, South decided to disclose no further information to the opponents—proceeding directly to six hearts. West opened the ten of diamonds. There was a chance that the lead was made from a holding consisting of the K-10-9 and some small diamonds, but declarer did not put much faith in this prospect. He, therefore, rejected the diamond finesse and put up the ace from dummy, but in doing so he was careful to drop the jack from his hand. His reason for this play will become apparent momentarily.

A heart was led to the king in the closed hand and another heart was returned. When West followed with the seven, declarer finessed the ten and East showed out. The queen of trumps was picked up by the ace and South cheerfully conceded a diamond trick later on.

When the question was put to him as to why he finessed holding nine trumps, declarer's answer was most enlightening.

"I considered it to be in the nature of a safety play. I felt that even if the heart finesse lost to a doubleton queen, East would be extremely reluctant to cash the king of diamonds, for fear that I was void and his play would establish a vital trick for me. If he makes the routine exit of a club, I can discard North's remaining diamonds on my long clubs and later ruff a diamond in dummy."

Stroup Wins August Honors

W. W. Stroup, CLU, Southwestern Life Insurance Company representative in Big Spring, has been named Territorial Man of the Month for August as the company leader among all agents in Southwestern Life's Abilene territory.

Southwestern Life is one of the nation's leading life insurance companies, with more than $4.6 billion in force.

She told reporters she now is at home in America and would like to be a student again "but not a teacher." She would like to become an American citizen but "it would do no good to apply now," she said.

"I once was a member of the Communist party and that would be against me," she explained. "Perhaps some day when everyone understands that I am not a Communist it will be possible."

"Only One Year" starts on Dec. 19, 1966, when Mrs. Alliluyeva left Moscow to take the ashes of her husband Brajesh Singh to India, having no plan to defect at that time. It describes her decision a few months later to stay in the non-Communist world and the aid she received from the U.S. Embassy in India. It ends one year later in Princeton, N.J., where she now lives.

Her first book, published after her defection, was "Twenty Letters to a Friend."

U.N. Facing Long List Of Formidable Problems

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly opens its 24th session today, facing a long list of formidable problems including the Middle East, disarmament and the crisis in Northern Ireland.

The consensus is that the results of the three-month public debate will not be spectacular, but that the session will provide an opportunity for important private talks.

The opening session this afternoon was reserved for the formalities of electing Angie Brooks, 41-year-old Liberian lawyer-diplomat, president of the 126-nation assembly. She was unopposed.

The major policy speeches begin Thursday when President Nixon flies to New York to address the assembly. Secretary-General U Thant hailed his decision to appear as a gesture of support for the world organization.

Consultations were expected today or Wednesday between U.S. and Soviet diplomats to prepare for meetings between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Secretary of State William P. Rogers. The two foreign ministers will discuss the Middle East, disarmament and other issues.

Thant is pressing hard for Big Four talks on the Middle East while the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union are attending the assembly session. They will get together Saturday night at a dinner which the secretary-general is giving for them.

What the assembly itself does on the Middle East will depend largely on the result of private talks. If the Arabs and the Israelis feel that the negotiations are making progress, they may follow last year's pattern and defer public debate.

The disarmament debate is also dependent partly upon what happens in private U.S.-Soviet talks and what progress is made in the next few weeks in the Geneva disarmament conference.

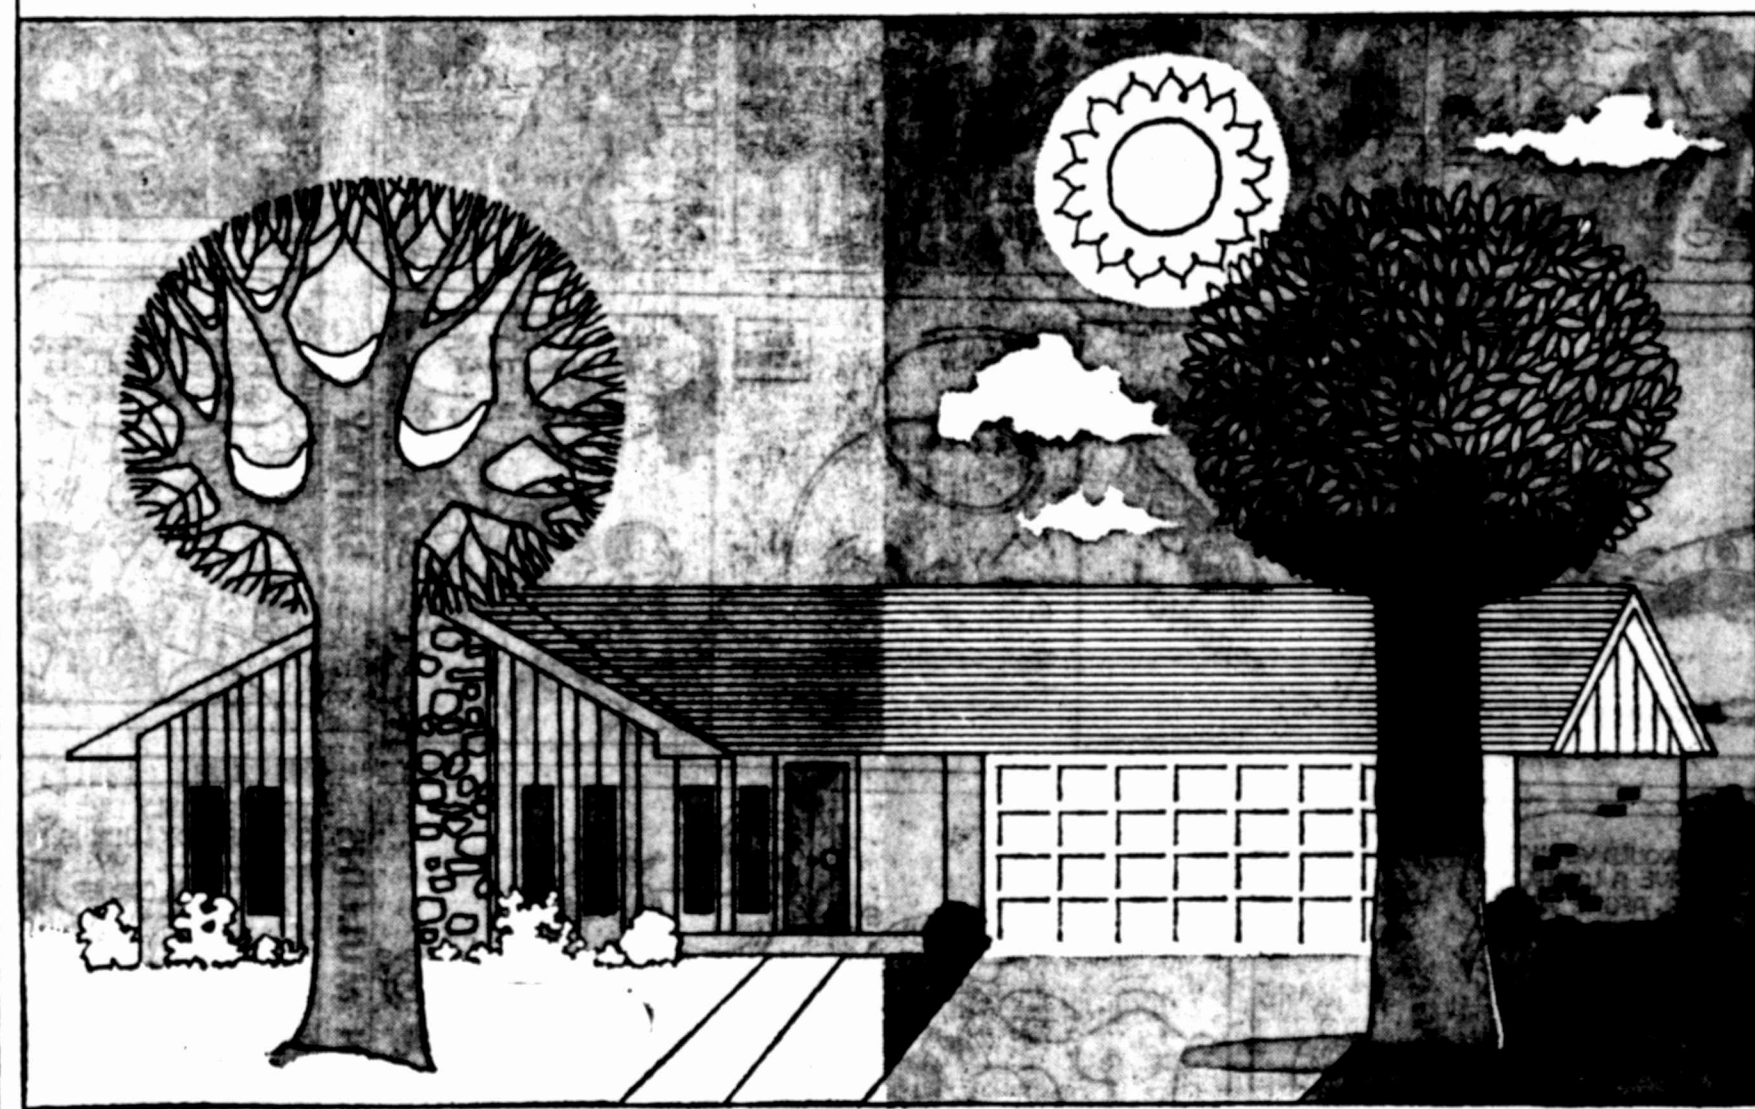

Diplomatic sources say the United States and Soviet Union are near agreement on a treaty to ban nuclear weapons from the sea floor. But it is not certain whether agreement will be reached in time to report it to the assembly at this session.

It seems fairly certain that no treaty will be ready on chemical and bacteriological warfare, another very live issue which will figure in the assembly arms debate.

The prospects for debate on the Irish situation are uncertain. The Irish Republic has asked to have the question placed on the agenda, but Britain will oppose any U.N. debate on the ground that this is an internal matter, thus outside the jurisdiction of the assembly.

The issue will be taken up by the 25-member steering committee when it meets Wednesday to consider the agenda. The committee could recommend that the assembly refuse to take up the issue. It previously was shelved by the Security Council.

Boswell, Killebrew Lead Twins' Surge

By The Associated Press
Time is running out and the Minnesota Twins are running away from the Oakland Athletics.

HARMON KILLEBREW

The Twins reduced their magic number for clinching the American League's West Division pennant to eight Monday night, knocking off the A's 6-3 on Dave Boswell's six-hitter.

Harmon Killebrew walloped his 43rd homer of the season and raised his runs batted in total to 131 as the Twins opened a nine game lead with just 16 games left to play.

Elsewhere in the American League Monday night, Detroit shut out New York 2-0. Cleveland clipped Boston 4-1. California blanked Chicago 4-0. Seattle trimmed Kansas City 3-2 and Washington edged Baltimore 3-2.

Killebrew's homer capped a three-run Twin rally in the third inning and attracted a standing ovation from the crowd of 26,497 at Metropolitan stadium.

Rod Carew opened the third with an infield single and reached third when pitcher Rolie Fingers threw wild. Ther Oliva doubled him home and Killebrew followed with his homer.

Killebrew opened the sixth with a single and came around on Cesar Tovar's double and a sacrifice fly by Leo Cardenas. The Twins added two more runs in the eighth on RBI singles by Tovar and Boswell.

Rick Monday, in his second at bat since breaking his hand Aug. 10, ripped a two-run homer in the second, giving Oakland the early lead.

Denny McLain became the winningest pitcher in the majors when he won his 23rd game pitching a two-hitter against the Yankees.

Norm Cash tripled home the only run McLain needed in the third inning and then came across on a passed ball for an insurance tally. The shutout was the ninth this season for McLain, who won 31 games last year.

Duke Sims tagged a two-run homer as Boston rallied for four runs in the ninth inning to overtake Boston.

Lee Stange was working on a three-hitter and leading 1-0 off Mike Andrews' first inning homer. But Jose Cardenal opened the Indians' ninth with a single, stole second and scored the only three Chicago hits—as California trimmed Chicago. Jim McGlothlin and Ken Tatum teamed for the five-hit shutout.

Gene Brabender won his 13th game—most ever for an expansion team pitcher—as Seattle edged Kansas City. Brabender limited the Royals to three hits in seven innings with Diego Segui finishing up.

Brabender also scored the eventual winning run for the Pilots when he singled in the eighth, was sacrificed to second and scored on Wayne Comer's hit.

Mike Epstein's two-out, two-run triple tied the game for Washington in the eighth inning and the Senators pushed across a run on Bernie Allen's double and Ed Brinkman's single to beat Baltimore in the ninth. The loss ended an 11-game winning streak for Baltimore's Jim Palmer.

Bill Voss drove in three runs with a bases-loaded triple—one

Craig Morton May Not Play Sunday

By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Cardinals likely will face the same dilemma in the National Football League opener Sunday that confounded Baltimore last weekend—how to cope with Roger Staubach, the sensational, scrambling Dallas Cowboys rookie quarterback.

Staubach, who isn't called "The Dodger" for nothing, kept the rugged Baltimore defense on the run. "I never ran so much in my life," said a weary Bubba Smith, the Colts' defensive end after chasing Staubach around the Cotton Bowl Sunday. "I've never seen any one, including Fran Tarkenton who can scramble like Staubach. The only times we caught him was when he was standing still."

GARY HINDS TONY DEAN

PLAYERS OF WEEK Dean, Kitchens Earn Plaudits

The Daily Herald is resuming its practice of honoring football players in the Big Spring area for outstanding performances in games played the preceding week.

Blocking was brilliant. On defense as middle linebacker, he was in on 13 tackles.

Here are the first nominees: BIG SPRING
Back of the Week is GARY HINDS, senior quarterback, who completed eight passes against Lubbock Monterey and deserved to complete more.

STANTON
GARY KITCHENS, who scored Stanton's TD in the heart-breaking 7-6 loss to Tahoka Friday, is the Buff's back of the Week. Gary, a 175-pound junior, plays halfback on offense and linebacker on defense. He was the Buffs' leading ground gainer, and the story of the game might have been different had he not had to leave after three quarters due to muscle cramps. He played hard-nosed ball.

Most of the time, he was leading his receivers perfectly. Gary kept a cool head despite the fact that he took a lot of punishment. All of his losses in running with the ball occurred when he drifted back to pass and didn't have time to get the ball away.

To LARRY PINKSTON goes the honors of being Stanton's Lineman of the Week. Larry, a 170-pound senior, played offensive center, getting many crisp blocks. As defensive tackle, he practically shut the door on Tahoka on his side of the line. His consistency was cited by his coach.

TONY DEAN made a tremendous defensive effort for the Steers. He initiated or was in on 21 tackles against the Plainsmen. Had it not been for him, Monterey likely would have won by a more decisive margin.

COAHOMA
KENNY CLANTON did a masterful job of guiding the Bulldogs to their impressive victory over Rankin last week to win Back of the Week honors. The Bulldogs built up a comfortable lead in the first half, giving coach Bernie Hagins a chance to use his reserves.

EDDIE NEWCOMER, who performed well in a losing cause, is Sands' first Back of the Week for 1969. He gained 85 yards running the ball against Grandfalls, more than the Mustangs netted against the Cowboys. A 134-pound junior, he plays safety on defense.

Lineman of the Week is KELLY GASKINS, who made 12 tackles while operating at the nose guard position. His block was praised by coach James Blake. He is a 155-pound senior.

However, Auerbach apparently gave up hopes of persuading Russell, who joined the club the same year as Heinsoln in 1956, to return. Russell still has one year to go on a contract which would pay him more than $200,000 for the 1969-70 season.

Lineman of the Week was GOARD BILL BAILEY, who set up Coahoma's offensive firework with his blocking.

DARROW COBB, a plucky 140-pound junior who threw for one touchdown and caught a pass for another, won the Lineman-of-the-Week award for Forsan's Buffaloes. How come he did it on an end-around plan. Darrow also did an excellent job punting for the Buffs, and he was effective on defense.

JACKIE WILLIS, an 180-pound junior, won the Back-of-the-Week title with his hard running. Although he didn't score, he carried the ball 57 yards in 10 attempts and showed a bruising brand of play. A real team player, his offensive

Although they came out on the short end of a 7-6 score, by reason of a run-back of an intercepted pass, the Stanton Buffaloes are determined to waylay Seagraves Friday.

Seagraves, always tough, worked over Eunice, N.M., by a 34-14 count last weekend, but if Stanton plays as good defense as it played against Tahoka, a lot of the scoring will be snuffed out.

Coach Gerald Lloyd said his lads came out of the Tahoka game in good shape. He hopes to have Scotty Foster, a defensive end, back after missing a game due to injuries. Mark Hurst, the other defensive end, is likely to be out another week or two to see if his injured knee comes around.

Bearcats Host Southland 8

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearcats play their first home game here Friday when Southland comes to town. Sterling City blistered Southland 22-0, but Coach Jack Woodley doesn't think a first game is necessarily a fair test, and he's not taking Southland lightly.

His lads came through a 25-16 victory over Union without injuries. The first conference game does not come up until Oct. 10 and his young team should have considerable experience by that time.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

What's to end the torpor the Big Spring offense experienced in the season's opener last week against Lubbock Monterey?

Well, for one thing, the Steers aren't apt to meet as tough a defensive unit in their next three games as they did their first time out of the chute.

For another, a little glycerine on the finger tips might help the pass receivers simply have been a little slow to field pitches delivered by Gary Hinds. The timing and the catching are bound to improve.

For still another, a little speed on the wide staff will make the Longhorns harder to defend. Herman Evans, a ten-second man in track who missed the first game due to injuries, could supply the added quickness against the impending foe, Midland Lee.

Steer blocking is going to have to improve. All too often the other night, Monterey tacklers had clear shots at Big Spring ball carriers.

Neither Heinsoln nor Big Spring made many mistakes on defense. Both were hitting good blocks. When defenses dominate the action, the coaches know they have done their work well, but the spectators begin to yawn—even if the teams start throwing off sparks when they make contact.

Monterey is apt to go far in its district. After all, the Plainsmen were 8-2 last year and missed getting into the playoffs last year because of one major penalty.

Fortunately, winning on the road is "old hat" with the Monterey team. Their success at the expense of Big Spring was their tenth straight away from their own corral.

Is the American Basketball Association really trying to demote the National Basketball Association off the business avenue or is the noise the younger circuit is creating just a death rattle?

When something or someone is about to die, the doomed party can do some very irrational things.

The ABA is doing a far worse job of improving its image in college circles than pro baseball does, and that's going pretty far.

The stories about the fabulous offers the ABA is making to established stars in the NBA may be correct. If they are, then some operatives are going to take a financial bath, the likes of which haven't been seen in athletic circles.

After all the ABA doesn't even have a network television contract.

Obviously, the ABA will go to any length to hurt the older circuit. Why else would the ABA start signing game officials out of the other league, with bonus contracts?

Talk is cheap, even talk of money. But putting it on the line is something else. Last year, the ABA played to many more crowds of 1,000 than it did 5,000. Its two biggest draws, Rick Barry and Connie Hawkins, are back in the NBA. The Atlanta Hawks of the NBA lost money last year, while averaging 4,500 at home games. Only one team in the ABA, Indiana, outdrew Atlanta last year.

Jim Gardner, who masterminds the ABA, hasn't even sold 500 tickets for the franchise he moved from Houston to North Carolina last season.

The ABA's super-stars now? How often have you heard about Levern Tart, Jimmy Jones, Wayne Hightower or George Lehmann. They're the best the ABA has to offer.

The North American Soccer League suffered from lack of support last year but the NASL still drew much more on the average than the ABA.

Sooner or later, there'll be a merger of the leagues (which apparently is the objective behind the ABA's dotty campaign), and it could come sooner than later.

Opening Crowd Totals 5,679

Tickets for the Big Spring Midland Lee football game, scheduled for Friday night in Midland, will go on sale to season ticket holders at the School Business Office at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The general public can start making purchases of the remainder of the ducats Thursday morning. The pasteborders, priced at $1.50 each, will remain available here until 2 p.m. Friday.

A total of 500 adult and as many student tickets will be made available here, the schools' assistant business manager, Don Green, said.

The student ducats can be purchased at the high school at a cost of 50 cents each.

A paid turnout of 5,679 paying customers saw the Steer-Monterey game here last Friday night and practically all were Big Spring residents.

The cash income from the game amounted to $6,232.50. After expenses (Monterey gets $1 a mile for its trip), proceeds are split evenly between the two schools.

When the two teams met last year in Lubbock, the paid turnout was only 3,848, which means the opening Steer gate was up 1,831 over last year.

A total of 1,015 season tickets have now been sold here, compared to 1,094 for all of last year.

The Steers have four home games, remaining, against the three Odessa schools and Midland High.

Heinsoln New Celt Mentor

BOSTON (AP) — Tommy Heinsoln, who promised to answer any call for help when he retired as a Boston Celtics' star four years ago, is keeping his word—coming back as coach of the National Basketball Association champions.

Heinsoln, now a 35-year-old hefty, and fat in spots, wealthy insurance man, agreed Monday to a one-year contract to succeed Player-Coach Bill Russell, who announced his retirement in July.

"We'll see if Heinie likes it," said General Manager Red Auerbach in announcing an appointment of the former Holy Cross All-American. "If he does a good job, he'll probably be here a long, long time."

The 6-foot-7 Heinsoln, who helped the Celtics to eight NBA titles while scoring 12,194 points in nine years of regular season play, shocked many observers when he quit at the age of 31 in 1965 to accept a lucrative insurance position.

However, he cited loyalty and left the door open for a return, as a player. "If they need me and if arrangements can be worked out."

Heinsoln said in taking over a club which has won 11 titles in the last 13 years. "I know the attitude of this club. These guys have the attitude to win."

Heinsoln, who averaged about 18.5 points a game during his playing career, has his work cut out for him with Russell and Sam Jones retired and Mal Graham lost because of illness.

"I consider this a challenge," Heinsoln said in taking over a club which has won 11 titles in the last 13 years. "I know the attitude of this club. These guys have the attitude to win."

Strike Out Record Is Shattered By Carlton

By The Associated Press

Steve Carlton felt lousy. He was running a slight temperature, his back hurt and he arrived at the St. Louis ball park only about an hour before Monday night's game with the New York Mets.

The big left-hander had his sore back rubbed down, took a couple of pain killers—and went out and struck out 19 batters, the most strikeouts recorded by a pitcher in modern major league history.

Only there was a little problem.

"The Amazing Mets Super Swat got me," said Carlton, referring to Ron Swoboda, whose two homers produced all of New York's runs in a 4-3 victory that spoiled Carlton's masterpiece.

STEVE WAS AHEAD

Swoboda fanned twice by Carlton, boosted the Mets from behind with each of his shots—and both came when Carlton had two strikes on him.

The triumph increased to 4½ games in the Mets' National League East lead over Chicago, which lost 8-2 to Montreal, and reduced to 11 New York's magic number for clinching the division title.

Meanwhile, Willie Mays hit the 599th homer of his career in leading San Francisco past West Division leader Atlanta 4-

1, drawing that torrid race even tighter.

The Giants trail the Braves by only one-half game and 0.03 percentage points. Cincinnati broke Los Angeles' four-game winning streak 4-1 to move ahead of the Dodgers into third place, just one game and 0.05 points back of the Braves. The Dodgers are ½ game and 0.09 points back of the leader.

In other games, San Diego handed Houston its fifth straight defeat, 5-3, keeping the fifth-place Astros 4½ games back of Atlanta, while Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 2-1 and 4-3.

Carlton, who struck out 16 in a losing effort to Philadelphia two years ago, said he wasn't aware of how many strikeouts he had until it was flashed 'n the scoreboard after he tied his old team record of 16 in the eighth inning.

"In the last inning, I went out there going for it (the record). I went out there to strike out three men.

"I was so nervous I would rather have had the guy get a hit that fouled out or ground out just so I could get the record."

The 24-year-old lefty received a standing ovation when he completed his string by setting down the Mets in order in the third inning.

Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians set the old record of 13 strikeouts on Oct. 2, 1938, and Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers matched it twice while Don Wilson had 18 for Houston last year.

Carlton fanned the side in the first, second fourth and ninth innings and retired 12 of the first 15 Mets on whiffs.

Swoboda staked the Mets to a brief 2-1 lead in the fourth when he homered on an 8-2 count with Donn Clendenon aboard.

Then Swoboda, who has hit six of his nine homers while the Mets have taken 27 of their last 34 games, produced the winner on a 2-2 count with Tommie Agnew on in the eighth.

Carlton said Ron's first homer was on a fast ball "right in his wheelhouse," and on the second he "hung a slider."

"I felt so good until that (second homer)," said Carlton. "I threw four fast balls and really had him set up for the slider. I figured he'd be as tense as I was, thinking about me hanging it."

WINDUP FOR THE RECORD BOOKS — Steve Carlton of the St. Louis Cardinals winds up for his record-setting 19th strikeout in Monday night's St. Louis-New York Mets game. But Carlton's spectacular performance came to naught. The Mets won 4-3 on Ron Swoboda's pair of two-run homers.

Superswat Ruins Carlton's Show

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Steve Carlton, feverish, chilled, sore-backed and determined, hurled his name into baseball's record book Monday night, but Ron Swoboda put an asterisk next to it.

Carlton, the St. Louis hard-throwing lefty, struck out 19 men to shatter the major league record held by Bob Feller, Sandy Koufax and Don Wilson.

Swoboda, the New York Mets' carefree King Kong hit a pair of two-run homers to power the Mets to a 4-3 victory over the Cardinals Monday night and a 4½ game lead in the National League's East Division.

"The amazing Mets," Carlton said with a smile, "Superswat got me. I got hit twice and he got me twice. But I think the Mets are great for baseball because it shows the guy on the bottom can come up."

LATE IN COMING

Carlton didn't show up until about an hour before the game was to start. The opening was delayed by rain about 20 minutes and another downpour halted the game for 54 minutes after the first half-inning.

"I had a fever before I came. My back ached. I had chills and I was nauseated," Carlton said. "I got a rubdown and put some hot stuff on my back and took some pills to kill the pain. Then when I went out there I felt real good and was really cutting loose. In the middle three innings, I became really nauseated because I was over extending myself so much. Then the last two innings I got my second wind."

Carlton, who has struck out 16 men in one game in the majors and the minors and lost both times, struck out three men in the first inning, three in the second, one in the third, and three in the fourth.

But Donn Clendenon walked and Swoboda hit his eighth homer of the year in the fourth. It wiped out the run the Cards got in the third off starter Gary Gentry.

In the fifth, Carlton got two more strikeouts, then one in the sixth, one in the seventh and two in the eighth for a total of 16.

There also was Tommie Agee's single and Swoboda's second homer sandwiched in the eighth that wiped out two Cardinal fifth inning runs.

"I didn't know until I saw on the message board that I'd tied my record. I didn't think I had struck out that many. Then I decided to go for it," Carlton said.

"I wanted it so bad. There's no reason to go out there if you're just going to tie the record. Then, when I did it I knew I had done something that was great."

"I was really happy. I was a lot of things, more things than I have words for."

In the ninth inning, Carlton struck out the side again, this time with nobody on base in between. Amos Otis became the record-breaking 19th strikeout when he couldn't check his swing.

Florida's Steve Tannen Has Respect Of Cougars

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The University of Houston Cougars, who meet the Florida Gators Saturday in Gainesville, worked out Monday for about 90 minutes with the offense concentrating on its passing attack.

The defense spent most of its time running against Florida plays.

Three players have earned a berth on the first string as a result of Saturday's scrimmage.

Jon Thornburg will start at offensive right tackle, Mike Johnston will be at the right linebacking position and Al Sumnerford will be a cornerback. Senior Ken Bailey will do the quarterbacking.

Quite a match is expected as Houston's Elmo Wright and Florida's Steve Tannen meet in combat.

Wright the split end, met Tannen last summer while visiting Chicago as part of the 1969 Playboy All-American team.

"He told me I wouldn't catch a pass off him in September,"

Wright said. "I told him there was no way he could shut me out. No way."

"Tannen's a great athlete. Houston coach Bill Yeoman said Monday.

"His ability to return punts scares me a great deal and I'm sure he'll give us some trouble on pass defense. Our punt coverage will have to be excellent if we are to contain him."

Saturday's game will be the first of three Florida dates the Cougars have this season. They meet Miami Nov. 1 in Miami and Florida State in the Astro-dome Nov. 29.

Judge Orders Amended Petition On Tax Case

Attorneys for rural taxpayers were told to be more specific in their petition against the Big Spring Independent School District, in a hearing Monday before Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court.

Judge Caton told Donald R. Curry, Fort Worth, and Dee Jon Davis, attorneys for the Howard County Rural Taxpayers Association, the questions in their petition are too general, and set 10 a.m. Monday as the deadline for amending the petition. At that time, the judge will take the petitions under advisement.

The directors of the association filed suit against the school trustees, the school board of equalization, and School Tax Assessor-Collector J. O. Hagood as a first step in an attempt to get the school to lower rural valuations for 1969-70.

The directors, Earl Hull, Ralph Proctor, Delbert Stanley, Jerry Iden and Johnnie Walker, first filed a petition for declaratory judgment, asking Judge Caton to affirm the agreement between attorneys for the two groups as a legal contract. Then the school answered with a motion for summary judgment for the district.

The agreement lowers the school tax on rural property suggested by the equalization board on the classification of land. In answer to the petition, the defendants contend the board of equalization is separate from the trustees and is not bound by any agreement made by trustees.

School trustees voted to accept the agreement, but the three-member board of equalization balked, saying the rural valuations were fair compared with urban valuations. The board members also said the negotiations were held without their knowledge or approval.

Howard County, Forsan Independent School District and Howard County Junior College officials all accepted the agreement at the time it was made, and have since reaffirmed approval of the document.

"The board of equalization is a quasi-judicial power," Gil Jones, attorney for the school, said Monday. "The board cannot surrender or transfer authority and authority cannot be taken away by anyone."

Davis said the association accepted Jones' signature on the agreement binding both sides in good faith.

"If he couldn't sign it, why did he do it," Davis said. "He can't have his cake and eat it too. The agreement binds us but not the school," Davis said. "Even if the board of equalization had accepted the agreement, there is no authority to show the board had to bind itself to the agreement," Jones said.

Jones said he did not anticipate having to amend his petition, but if it is necessary, the amended petition will be on file by 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Deadline On Youth Meet
Applications

High school seniors in this area planning to submit applications to attend the 1969 National Youth Conference on the Atom should do so immediately, according to Don Womack, manager for Texas Electric Service Co. Applications must be received by midnight, Sept. 26, in order to be considered.

Application forms and information concerning the conference are available at the high school or from the business office of Texas Electric.

The company will sponsor one student from this area, selected by a committee of distinguished educators and scientists on the basis of qualifications such as grades, test scores and interest in science. Womack said the principal of the school from which a student is chosen will be asked to name a science teacher to accompany the student to the conference, also as a guest of the company.

The conference will be held Oct. 23-25 at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel in Chicago. Some 500 participants will attend this 11th annual event, representing most of the 50 states.

Conference delegates will meet some of the nation's leading scientists, will hear about the latest progress in a variety of scientific areas during the formal meetings and seminars, and will tour the Argonne National Laboratory and the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry. TESCO is one of 65 investor owned companies which sponsor the institute.

Brown Gets THD Citation

AUSTIN — An official State Health Department citation for work proficiency has been awarded to Willie V. Brown, superintendent of the Big Spring water and sewage treatment plant.

Signed by the State Health Commissioner and authorities of the Texas Water Utilities Association, the certificate of competency is awarded only to those utility plant operators who have successfully demonstrated their skill and knowledge in modern principles of plant management.

To qualify for certification, a plant operator must have a cumulative prescribed amount of actual work experience. He must also have attended both regional and statewide short schools at which the techniques of water treatment and waste water disposal are taught, and must have passed an examination given by State Health Department sanitary engineers.

Soviet Union Is Challenged

GENEVA (AP) — The United States challenged the Soviet Union today to compare notes with American seismologists on how to detect an underground nuclear explosion.

U.S. delegate James F. Leonard made the challenge in a report to the 25-nation disarmament talks on "Project Rullson," the Sept. 11 underground blast in Colorado, designed to release ground gas and facilitate worldwide cooperation in the seismic detection of such explosions.

Underlying the need for better international cooperation in this field is the difference of opinion among seismologists in the United States and elsewhere, particularly in the Soviet Union, Sweden and India, on the degree of accuracy with which an underground blast can be distinguished from a natural earthquake by evaluation of data recorded in the world's seismic stations.

The United States insists that small underground explosions in soft ground cannot be identified from distant seismic stations. Therefore Washington insists that the envisaged treaty banning underground nuclear weapon testing can be efficiently policed only by means of on-site inspection of a suspicious ground event.

The Soviet Union, has always opposed the principle of foreign inspection on its soil. It says Soviet scientists are certain that underground blasts can be detected from remote seismic stations.

The conference met briefly to hear an American report on last week's underground nuclear test in Colorado.

Bomber Vote Slated Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate managers of the $20 billion military defense procurement bill were confident today of turning back an attempt to slash funds for an advanced manned bomber.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., was scheduled for an afternoon vote.

TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Don't be afraid to question your new partners on any part of new agreements that you do not understand. Try something that you only confuse everyone.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Everything will work out for you if you show courtesy to debtors and creditors today. Be more receptive to your mate for more harmony in your private life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) See what your associates want of you. State your own views. Be direct with others, come to an understanding. Stop being devoted, that only confuses everyone.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You take too long to do your work. You will find you can accomplish a great deal with the help of your workers. Keep appointments on time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) This is a good day to entertain your friends, and repay social obligations. Put your talent to work. Show your determination.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Stop criticizing those who live with you. Be encouraging. Instead, one law of life is: if you make life easier for others, everything will go better for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Express whatever you are thinking instead of waiting for a better time. Then you will get along better with everyone. Get busy writing letters, or studying reports. Keep appointments on time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It is good that you are concerned with money, since you know how to add to your present abundance intelligently. Talk over your plans with a successful person. You can get the pointers that will help you start on your road to success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Now is the time for you to find the outlets for a new environment. Must make you both prosperous and happy. Try to be tactful with others, or say what you really think.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good day to work all angles. Confide only in trusted friends, or you can lose. Pursue a romantic interest who can be interesting and delightful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be more diplomatic. For some good friend who is willing to go what you want cannot be pushed. Be very sociable with others. Do more listening than talking. That is how you can pick up information and ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you talk about your ideas with a powerful individual, you can then start making a better place for yourself in the world of action and commerce. Be alert when the way is pointed out to you.

Two At Webb Get Honors

S. Sgt. Sylvester Harrell and Airman I.C. Emory Fraser have been singled out for monthly honors by the 3560th Air Base Group at Webb, AFB.

For the second month in a row, the accounting and finance branch of the comptroller division has had one of its airmen selected for monthly honors. Receiving the August Airman of the Month nomination in the squadron was Airman Fraser, an accounting clerk. Another accounting clerk, Airman 2. C. Robert Dilworth, won July airman award.

The August Noncommissioned Officer of the Month honor went to Sgt. Harrell. He is a correction supervisor on the base security police force.

Sgt. Harrell, a veteran of 15 years Air Force service, has been here since August, 1968. He served with the 52nd Security Police Squadron, Suffolk County Air Force Base, N.Y., before his arrival at the base.

The 33-year-old sergeant calls Midland his home. He and his wife, the former Allyne Dewitt, have four children.

Cairo Gunfire
Erupts Anew

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — Gunfire erupted in this racially torn Southern Illinois community today less than 12 hours after the city's mayor and police chief resigned in the wake of growing tensions. Police said there were no injuries.

Police said they did not return fire which came from the neighborhood around Pyramid Courts, a Negro housing development.

State police reported a burst of machine-gun fire first broke the early morning silence, followed in succession by small-arms fire and up to 16 rounds of tracer bullets fired into the air.

State police patrolled the neighborhood of the housing project but did not enter. The gunfire stopped 20 minutes after it began.

DEAR FARMER: Shall we say, "The couple that bathes together stays together?"

DEAR ABBY: I have a baby, five months old. I have a sister-in-law who has a baby seven months old. She comes to visit me VERY OFTEN — like four or five days a week.

My problem is she NEVER brings any diapers with her. She's always borrowing mine. Abby, she has a washing machine and I don't. I have to go clear across town to my mother's to wash. I use a whitener and a softener and my sister-in-law doesn't. And when she returns the diapers she borrowed she brings me HERS instead of MINE, and it takes me forever to get them white again.

I have told her a dozen times to bring her own diapers, but she always "forgets." Can you help me?

DEAR FED: Take your diapers, whitener and softener and go to your sister-in-law's and give her a LESSON in diaper washing in HER machine. You may have to give her three or four lessons, but you'll get your diapers laundered properly and you'll both benefit.

DEAR ABBY: In response to the letter from a woman whose husband chased sirens:

You should have told her to encourage her husband to join an auxiliary police group, an ambulance service, or a volunteer fire department. He could then experience the "thrill" of being at the scene of an accident and pulling corpses from a heap of twisted metal. Or rushing out at 3 a.m. in zero weather to fight a fire caused by a careless cigarette smoker. Or spend a hot Sunday after-

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: These women who complain that their husbands get very dirty in their work and are often too tired or too lazy to take a bath, can take a lesson from me and my wife.

I am a farmer and often get very grimy and sweaty but my wife has never gone to bed with a smelly husband.

Our secret? We always climb into the tub together. We have done this since shortly after we were married.

It has become such a habit with us that we wait for each other to take our bath. Abby, if a husband and wife can sleep together, they can bathe together. Believe me, it makes for a clean and happy marriage in more ways than one.
