

LINCOLN-MERCURY MARQUIS — Interior and exterior design refinements, several new comfort and convenience features, mechanical improvements and new options mark the Lincoln-Mercury Marquis line for 1970. The Marquis retains the Continental look with minimal use of bright trim. There is a new grille and taillight treatment and wider front seats. All the Lincoln-Mercury line will be on display Saturday at Bob Brock Ford and Lincoln-Mercury, 500 W. 4th.

1970 Lincoln Continental Is Completely Redesigned

The first completely redesigned Lincoln Continental in nearly a decade and an all-new expanded line of intermediate-size Montegos and Cyclones highlight Lincoln-Mercury Division's automobiles for 1970. Formal presentation of the line will be Saturday at Bob Brock Ford and Lincoln-Mercury, 500 W. 4th.

There are new power teams and a host of comfort, convenience and safety features standard on all car lines, including a more convenient three-point seat-shoulder belt system, a locking steering column, bias-belted tires, flow-through ventilation system and an oval steering wheel.

The new Lincoln Continental, while undergoing the most substantial change since 1961, remains clearly identifiable as a Continental. While outside dimensions are almost identical to previous models, wheelbase has been lengthened one inch to 117 inches and front and rear tread are increased. As a result, interior roominess is substantially greater. The model line-up remains the same as in 1969, with a single series consisting of a two-door hardtop and four-door sedan.

The division's intermediate line has been dramatically redesigned for 1970 and consists of three Montego series, including a new four-door hardtop, and three performance-oriented two-door hardtops, the Cyclone, Cyclone GT and Cyclone Spoiler.

Both Montegos and Cyclones have their own distinctive appearance.

The Cyclones have a racy look with a forward-thrusting grille and unique European-type running lights. Montegos share the same contemporary profile, with the addition of a luxurious, full width grille.

Wheelbase on all models has been increased one inch to 117 inches (114 inches on wagons) and over-all length has been increased nearly four inches on sedans and hardtops and eight inches on station wagons.

The most completely equipped personal sports car in its class, Cougar for 1970 features an entirely new front end appearance with a vertical textured grille. Over-all length has been increased to 196.1 inches — nearly three inches longer than last year. All of the extra length is at the front, increasing the sports flair appearance of the long hood-short deck proportions of the car.

The division's medium price lines — Marquis, Monterey and Marauder — boast engineering and design refinements and a broad range of new options. The 1970 Marquis maintains its Continental look and, like the Monterey, has newly designed grilles and taillights.

The Continental Mark III, America's finest personal luxury car, continues its classic elegance for 1970 with modest design modifications. Changes include new concealed wind shield wipers, new wheel covers, and redesigned tail and parking lamps. There are extensive interior changes, including genuine walnut trim on the instrument panel, steering wheel and door panels.

A convenience feature standard for all car lines is a modified oval steering wheel. It offers increased wheel-to-seat room, while affording an unob-

'Wives Or Widows' Cling To Slim Hope

PARIS (AP) — The wives of four U.S. Air Force pilots missing in North Vietnam clung today to the slim hope of a North Vietnamese promise to let them know whether they are "wives or widows."

The women, from the Dallas, Tex., area, gained the promise from a two-hour meeting with members of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks Wednesday.

They heard their husbands described as "war pirates" and "war criminals" and saw pictures of wounded civilians and wrecked buildings, allegedly the results of U.S. bombing raids. They were asked to denounce U.S. participation in the war when they returned home.

"We did not wish to argue or to offend them, but to seek information," said the wives' spokesman, Bonnie Singleton.

And they gained a promise from Xuan Danh, a North Vietnamese official, that he would contact Hanoi and write each of them, after they return to Texas, of the fate of their husbands.

Mrs. Singleton and her companions, Joy Jeffrey, Sandy McElhanon and Paula Hartness, also were promised that letters they gave to the North Vietnamese would be sent to Hanoi for delivery—if their husbands are alive.

The North Vietnamese also said that anyone would be welcome to their delegation headquarters in Paris providing they came as individuals and were not sponsored by the U.S. government. Mrs. Singleton said there was no indication, however, that Hanoi would release a list of U.S. prisoners. The women arrived Sunday to make the personal appeal. They had only two questions to ask they said: "Are our husbands alive, and if so, in what condition are they?"

The husbands of Mrs. Singleton and Mrs. Jeffrey have been missing for four years but were seen to bail out of their aircraft and move when they landed. The other two men were reported missing over North Vietnam or widows."

Racial Problems Close Forrest City Schools

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — The Forrest City School Board decided Wednesday night to close the city's schools until racial problems in the district "quieten down."

The action affects students in Forrest City public schools and in about five rural schools, which are part of Special District 7, the Forrest City district.

James Derositt, board president, said the board voted to close schools for today and Friday and possibly next week.

He said a decision would be made later when to reopen the schools. Derositt said the board had felt that "it's in the best interests of all not to have any school until things quieten down."

The action was taken at a second emergency meeting of the board held after 46 white students walked out of the Sam Smith Junior High School Tuesday. They said they had been threatened and intimidated by Negro students.

About 100 white persons, most of them students at the junior high school, picketed classes at

Direct-Vote Plan Passes Major Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — An electoral reform plan to let the people vote directly for president has cleared a major hurdle in the House with defeat of plans to preserve the Electoral College in modified form.

With a 192-158 vote Wednesday, the House defeated a plan which would have given presidential candidates electoral votes on the basis of congressional districts carried rather than on the basis of states carried.

The proposal was the major alternative to the direct popular vote plan, which House leaders said may come up for a vote today.

Whatever proposal is finally agreed upon must pass both houses of Congress with a two-thirds majority before it can be submitted to state legislatures as a constitutional amendment. Final ratification takes approval by three-fourths of the 50 state legislatures.

The popular vote plan eliminates entirely the Electoral College in favor of a direct vote. Should no presidential candidate receive 40 per cent of the vote, there would be a runoff election.

Rejected on a 96-65 vote was a proposal by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., which would have kept the present system, but required electors to cast their votes according to popular votes in their states.

Fina Dividend

NEW YORK — The board of directors of American Petroleum, Incorporated of Dallas, Tex., meeting here today, declared an increased dividend of 45 cents per share on the Class "A" and Class "B" common stock for the second half of 1969. The dividend is payable Oct. 22, 1969 to stockholders of record at the close of business Oct. 14, 1969. This is the sixth consecutive increase in the semi-annual dividend. In the first half of 1969, the company paid 40 cents per share.

Drug Abuse Made Worse By Bad Laws, Pros Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug abuse is primarily a medical and social problem made worse by severe laws with harsh mandatory penalties, say two leading federal experts.

They urged Congress Wednesday to abolish all mandatory sentences for possession and use of marijuana.

One of the witnesses, Dr. Sidney Cohen, head of the drug Institute of Mental Health, went so far as to recommend the possession of marijuana—and such hallucinogens as LSD—be dealt with as misdemeanors, not felonies.

The institute's head, Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, said that in terms of ruined lives, the penalties for using marijuana are far worse than the substance they were meant to control.

The present law—which provides sentences up to 40 years for some offenses—has no provision for probation or parole in any cases except a first-offense conviction for possession of narcotics, marijuana or dangerous drugs.

In a strongly worded statement, Yolles said: "It is extremely unfortunate that by the continued, exaggerated emphasis on the supposed dire evils of marijuana smoking, we make it extremely difficult to tell people what the real risk of use of specific drugs are."

"A youngster who smokes one marijuana cigarette is not a Yolles was commended for his testimony by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, chairman of a Judiciary subcommittee now considering

Patients To Sound Off About Medical Problems

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Patients will have a chance to give their opinions on the adequacy of the nation's health care system in a survey getting under way this month.

The survey will permit patients to sound off about their problems in obtaining medical care, their confusion about what constitutes good care, where to obtain it and how to pay for it.

Numerous medical surveys have been conducted in recent years, "but none of them have really focused on the problems confronting the patient," explained the survey's originator, Dr. C. Arden Miller, vice chancellor of health services at the University of North Carolina.

A panel of leaders in business, politics and the professions will hold public hearings, review the findings of field study teams and make recommendations to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The survey is funded by a federal grant.

Miller will be cochairman of the panel with Dr. Lester Breslow, professor of public health administration at UCLA.

The 24-member panel, which will include Julian Bond, Georgia state representative, will operate out of Washington. Field workers will conduct hearings in other communities, particularly in rural North Carolina and metropolitan Southern California.

Miller said his panel "is not out to prepare any expose on medical care."

"Instead," he said, "we will simply collect the viewpoints of patients in an effort to improve the medical care citizens now receive."

He said the study will deliberately seek "to arouse physicians and other key individuals to explore and adopt solutions to the massive and growing problems of health care, not merely describe and analyze the situation in bureaucratic prose."

Survey teams also will attempt to compare the medical care received by the majority of Americans with that received by the poor, and to contrast medical care as seen by the health professional to that seen by the patient.

"This type of survey may bring more questions than answers," Miller said, but at least we will know what the patient is thinking and what are his major concerns about his medical care."

controls over the illicit manufacture, transportation, smuggling and dealing in large amounts of abusable substances are necessary and desirable," he said.

"It is also evident that more stringent laws . . . for simple possession and use of these same substances have not been effective. Their abuse is a problem of prevention, education and treatment."

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell testified earlier in support of the administration's narcotics bill, stating it would make the law more flexible and allow judges limited discretion in granting probation for some offenses.

The Justice Department recently announced a crackdown on marijuana smuggling across the Mexican border.

Battle Deaths Rise Slightly

SAIGON (AP) — U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy battle deaths all edged up slightly last week with an increase in enemy activity reported in the northern part of the country.

U.S. headquarters said 143 Americans were killed in action last week, compared with 137 the week before.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said 529 government soldiers were killed last week, compared with 502 a week earlier. And the two commands put the number of enemy killed last week at 2,361, compared with 2,291 reported last Thursday. As usual the previous week's total was revised today, on the basis of later reports, and 2,370 enemy dead were reported for the week of Aug. 31-Sept. 6.

Government spokesmen said the casualty figures reflected an increase in enemy activity in the northern half of the country, including rocket and mortar attacks and "infiltration into hamlets and resettlement camps."

U.S. headquarters said 1,343 Americans were wounded in action last week.

The new figures raised to 38,593 the number of Americans reported killed in the Vietnam war since Jan. 1, 1961. The number of wounded in that period now stands at 250,945, and another 1,341 Americans are listed as missing or captured.

The U.S. Command said 551,519 enemy have been reported killed since Jan. 1, 1961.

Last Barriers To Come Down

BELFAST (AP) — The British army said today it expects the last of the Roman Catholic barricades in Belfast to come down tonight.

The barriers of burned out vehicles, paving slabs and assorted furniture thrown up during the religious warfare of the past weeks began falling right and left Wednesday after a slow start.

The army, which has driven its own "peace wall" of barbed wire and steel between Protestant and Catholic sections, announced the removal was going so rapidly it would be completed 18 hours ahead of the Friday noon deadline.

A spokesman for the local Catholic Citizens' Defense Committee, Hugh Kennedy, said he was "more than happy" with the protection given by the army.

In Londonderry, starting point of the street fighting last month which left nine dead, the barricades remained. But Paddy Doherty, chairman of the Citizen's Defense Association of Catholic Bogside, said he believed it was time for them to come down, too.

Outlook Bright For US 87 Development, Meeting Told

More than $31 million dollars in work is in progress, programmed or advanced planning stages, Garrett Morris, member of the Texas Highway Commission, told the US 87 Improvement Association at its annual meeting in Brady Tuesday.

To this will be added another $16 million plus for converting the section from Amarillo to Lubbock to a section of Interstate 27.

Thus, he said, the outlook for US 87 as a key north-south corridor is bright. He held out small hope, however, that the interstate designation south of Lubbock would be made for a long time.

Morris predicted that the new emphasis on federal highway funds would be in major urban areas, one evidence of this being the TOPICS program under which federal funds will be available for key arteries and thoroughfares. Extension of the interstate system seems unlikely, he thought.

There is increased pressure, he said, to siphon off highway funds for mass transit.

"We have no quarrel with mass transit," he said, "but our quarrel begins with the taking of the automobile user's dollar to give to some other form of transportation."

The commissioner commended the association's resolution directed at the steady upgrading of US 87 into a first class, multi-lane highway. One of the influencing factors in the designation of the Amarillo-Lubbock segment was that it was virtually up to interstate standards.

R. A. (Skeet) Noret, Lamesa, new president-elect of the association, who with Armistead Rust, San Angelo, and George Zachariah, Big Spring, made a trip to Washington several months ago to present the US 87 case for further extension of IS 27 south on the US 87 route, cautioned that there is keen competition for this designation. He urged continued efforts to keep the case before the state highway department and others.

Armistead Rust is the new president of the association, and the 1970 meeting will be held in San Angelo, the 1971 session is scheduled for Lamesa.

Representing Big Spring at the meeting in Brady were Charles Tompkins, who was re-elected as the Howard County director to the association; Mayor Arnold Marshall and City Commissioner Garner McAdams; County Commissioner Ray Nichols; and Joe Pickle, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce highway committee.

Two guilty pleas have been heard in Howard County Court before Judge Lee Porter this week. Everett Lee Emory was fined $50 and court costs and sentenced to jail for three days for driving while intoxicated. Thomas W. Campbell was fined $50 and court costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail, probation for six months, for DWI. Emory's drivers license was ordered suspended.

Task Force To Hear Suggestions

Friday the Chamber of Commerce President's Task Force on Priorities will begin hearing recommendations from Chamber of Commerce committees which have been meeting during the last two weeks.

On the Task Force, headed by Adolph Swartz, are John Currie, Larson Lloyd, George McAllister, Clyde McMahon Sr., Paul Meek, Marvin Miller, Lester Morton and R. W. Whipkey. They will also be meeting Monday and Tuesday for the same purpose.

These committee meetings have been one means the Task Force is using to find out what

More Gifts Come For Bible Fund

A few more gifts to the Bible Class fund continued to be received Thursday at The Herald. Although the time of formal appeal has passed, gifts were from church and other groups which had decided on a part in the effort, and from old friends who have supported it through the years.

Among the latest donors are the National Association of Letter Carriers Auxiliary $5; the Bethany Class of First Baptist Church, $8; Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Chapman and the Men's Class of the North Burdwell Lane United Methodist Church, $10; and Quilters Class First United Methodist Church, and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hayward, $25 each. This brought to $1,860.50 the amount invested in the fund.

Big Spring residents believe the Chamber of Commerce should do to make Big Spring a better place to live in Swartz indicated earlier a public meeting will also be held at some time during the last two weeks.

Eventually the Task Force will set priorities on recommendations for the 1970 Program of Work and then determine a budget for the coming year.

Meeting with the Task Force Friday will be Don Womack from the industrial team; E. L. Hamby from the governmental affairs committee; Norman Krasie from the retail committee; Joe Pickle from the roads and highways committee; and Delnor Poss from the sports and recreation committee.

Panel Says Fix Auditorium

At a meeting Wednesday the Chamber of Commerce cultural affairs committee recommended for a 1970 Program of Work the improvement of the municipal auditorium and the acoustics in the amphitheater.

For the auditorium, the panel recommended special stress be placed on improving the appearance of the foyer, bringing hot and cold water into the dressing rooms, making a storage space for costumes during a performance, and covering open steam pipes.

The committee at the meeting also:

—set Feb. 19 as a tentative date for a second Teachers' Recital, to probably be held in the municipal auditorium;

—appointed a committee consisting of Mrs. Daryle Hohertz, chairman, Mrs. Richard Davis, Mrs. Harold Davis, and Mrs. Smith Swords, to confer with county commissioners and Librarian Mrs. Hank McDaniel about facilities in the new library building and to offer help, if needed, with a listening room, story-telling room and a book drive;

—agreed to assume financial and personal participation responsibility for the "Let Freedom Ring" program;

—decided to assist local garden clubs in their project to "beautify the Big Spring";

—if the amphitheater is improved, to sponsor monthly attractions during the summer months appealing to local and area people.

The committee set Oct. 22 as the date of its next meeting.

Governor Adds Blessing To Head Start Project

Gov. Preston Smith has added his blessing to a community action grant of $136,181 in new federal funds to the Big Spring Independent School District for a full year Head Start program for a period of nine months, effective Sept. 1, 1969.

Purpose of this grant under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act is to provide funds for serving approximately 200 children from four designated target areas within the City of Big Spring, Howard County in addition to new funds, the grant contains $4,350 in carry-over funds, making a total of $180,541 for the project. However, the total cost of the program will be $207,422, with $46,881 being contributed from a non-federal source, making the cost per child per month only $66.89. Announcement of the grant was made a fortnight ago.

The children, ages four and five, will be in 10 classes located in one center for five days a week. Staff involved in the teaching and training of these youngsters will include 10 teachers, two other professional staff, nurses and administration, 13 non-professional staff, and an average 100 volunteers through the year.

Principals Will Map Program

Three representatives from Big Spring travel to Odessa tonight to attend a meeting of the West Texas Elementary Principals executive committee.

Mrs. Mary Arnold, Hefley coordinator for elementary reading programs, W. R. Dawes, principal at Marcy and E. S. Morgan, Lakeview, will meet at the Sands Motel to help plan the elementary principals part in the program for the district convention to be held in March.

Defendants Announced Ready For Trial In Blount Case

Attorneys for three men held in the Howard County jail since April on a slaying charge announced Wednesday in 118th District Court they are ready to go to trial next week.

This occurred at a docket call before Judge Ralph Caton.

Bobby Eugene Chrisco and Bobbie Randall Crain are charged with murder with malice aforethought in the shooting death in December of A. D. Blount, a local petshop owner. Rae Bourbon is charged as an accomplice to the murder.

Chrisco is expected to be the first one on trial, which is set for 10 a.m. Monday. A special venire of 350 Howard County residents has been called for that time to be questioned for possible jury duty. Caton has granted a motion by Wayne Basden, Chrisco's attorney, to sequester jurors, which means the jurors will be kept together until a verdict is reached.

Caton held a short hearing Tuesday on a motion for a change of venue for Chrisco and took the motion under advisement, continuing it on with the case.

R. H. Weaver and Charles Tuttle, Bourbon's attorneys, and Dick Milstead and Gil Jones, Crain's attorneys, agreed they were ready for trial subject to the filing of change of venue motions after Chrisco's trial.

OIL REPORT

In Howard County Parker and Parsley of Midland has completed No. 1 Maedelle Raley in the Big Spring (Fusselman) field for an initial flowing potential of 190 barrels of 48-gravity oil per day and 10 barrels of water through a 22-64-inch choke with a tubing pressure of 100 pounds and a gas-oil ratio of 905-1.

Total depth is 9,615 feet plugged back to 9,587 feet, with 4 1/2-inch casing set on the bottom. Operator acidized perforations at 9,556-65 feet with 500 gallons. Well site is 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 25-22-1N, T&P survey — five miles northeast of Big Spring. This is half a mile south of production and 1 1/4 miles north of a Fusselman discovery, the Cosden No. 1 White.

Colorado Oil Co. has completed No. 31 Humble-Douthitt in the Howard County Howard-Glasscock pool for an initial pumping of 32.52 barrels of 29-gravity oil per day, plus 51.48 barrels of water.

Gas was too small to measure, and operator fractured the project with 40,000 gallons of salt water and 80,000 pounds of sand, then acidized it with 500 gallons. Elevation is 2,623 feet; total depth is 2,425 feet, plugged back to 2,422 feet, and 5 1/2-inch casing is set on the bottom and perforated at 2,245-415 feet.

Well site is 330 feet from the north and west lines of section 123-29, W&NW survey.

In Sterling County HMM Operators of Midland plan two probes into the Parochial-Bade West (Seven Rivers and Queen) region 13 miles west of Sterling City.

No. 1-A Roy Glass replaces No. 1 Roy Glass which was drilled and abandoned, and is scheduled for 1,550 feet. The project is located 380 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the east line of section 29-22, H&TC survey — 13 miles west of Sterling City.

No. 4-A Roy Glass is 910 feet from the north line and 485 feet from the west line of section 29-22, H&TC Survey. It is scheduled for a depth of 1,500 feet.

No Injuries In One-Car Mishap

No injuries were reported in a one-car accident today at 2:50 a.m. on the overpass on Interstate 20 at the Ramada Inn.

Sheriff's officers, assisted by city police, investigated the mishap which resulted in about $300 damage to a 1969 car driven by David Murry Hodnett, 22, Odessa. Damage was confined to the right front fender of the car which belonged to Royce Farres, also of Odessa.

Hodnett was eastbound on the highway when the car seemed to go out of control on the wet highway, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

The dead woman's husband and another child were rescued from the top floor apartment where they lived.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Lydia Ortiz, 34, and Alberto, 7, Alicia, 7, Media, 5, Julio, 5 months, and Cartagena, no age given.

Fleeing the blaze were Pedro Ortiz, 34, and a daughter, Mira, 8.

At least seven others, including a fireman, were injured in the blaze in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn.

Many residents of the building were rescued from windows by firemen on aerial ladders.

Fuss With Few Feathers

Thunder and lightning put on a show Wednesday night but the production yielded little rain.

Big Spring received an official .05 inch and .10 fell on the east part of town. The most reported in the county was at Vincent with just .45 inch. To the north, Lake Thomas reported just sprinkles.

Coming west across the top of the county, Luther received 25 inch of rain Wednesday night. To the south, Fairview reported about 2 with cloudy skies this morning.

Other areas of the county reported clear skies this morning with just traces of rain during the night. Chalk received 10 inch and Elbow registered 2 of an inch.

Ostrich Hopes

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The Abilene Zoo plans to get a female ostrich, possibly by Sept. 25, to exhibit with its two male ostriches. Zoo director Dan Watson said the bird would cost about $900.

Watson said the local zoo traded a ringtail monkey and four squirrel monkeys to Midland for two ring-tail cats and a Texas porcupine.

Gas Hike Asked

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. asked the city of Abilene Wednesday for a 19.33 per cent boost in residential and commercial natural gas rates.

City Secretary Lila Fern Martin said the request will go before the council on Sept. 25.

Dallas Police Make Traffic Death Arrest

DALLAS (AP) — Benjamin Ray Martin, 17, of Shreveport and Dallas, was held for Dallas officers today in connection with the hit-and-run death of a 13-year-old boy.

The boy was removed from the scene of the collision and hidden about three and a half miles away. The body of Robert Wayne Lawson was found three days later.

Martin was arrested at the home of his mother Wednesday night.

Officers said Martin waived extradition.

Police Sgt. Johnny Gage and Patrolman Rodney Pruitt said Martin voluntarily accompanied them to the Shreveport police station.

Dallas police said an informer told them the 17-year-old went to Shreveport last week to stay with his mother after visiting his father in Dallas.

The body was discovered by a scout force of Dallas Baptist College students organized for the search.

Young Lawson had been fishing Sunday, Sept. 7, and was returning home on his bicycle when he was struck.

War On Dope Sparks Woes

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Brownsville merchants meet with federal officials today to discuss plans to relieve the expected bottleneck of traffic at Rio Grande bridges resulting from a federal crackdown on drug and marijuana smuggling.

Bill John, chairman of the merchants committee of the Brownsville Chamber of Commerce, said the meeting was scheduled for 3 p.m.

New search procedures involved in "operation intercept" were outlined at Brownsville Monday by the Treasury Department. The crackdown is aimed at halting the smuggling of drugs and marijuana from Mexico.

"Unless we can come up with some solution, it is going to affect Brownsville retail sales," John said.

Thousands of residents from Matamoros cross the two bridges here daily to shop in Brownsville.

Mike Murphy, director of customs at Brownsville, said there definitely will be a traffic delay at the gateway bridge.

"We normally would have four lanes for inspection, but at the present the county is using two lanes of the new section for outbound traffic which causes the existing delay in moving vehicles," Murphy said.

"Until the other section of the bridge is completed any increased inspection will result in delay," Murphy said.

Water Use Down

Water usage for this month is still well below levels for September, 1968. Through Wednesday, only 66,827,000 gallons of water were received at the water filter plant, while for the same period last year 149,955,000 gallons had been taken in.

Two films from the Canadian Film Circuit are now available at Howard County Library, according to Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian. The films, both classified as travel, are titled "Explore Expo '67" and "Land of the Big Blue Sky."

Another Bus
Strike Brews
In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Another bus strike appeared to be brewing today less than 72 hours after transit union members halted their 14-day strike.

Union members said they were misled on terms of the agreement they accepted, and one union leader said a second strike was "highly likely."

An emergency union meeting has been called for 2 a.m. Monday.

Officials of the city-owned transit system termed the dispute a "total misunderstanding" but said they would be willing to discuss it with union representatives.

The emergency meeting was set after it was learned that all but top scale drivers would receive raises on a percentage basis, a union spokesman said.

He said it had been understood that the pay hike would be the same for all employees.

"I don't see how we can compromise," said Clarence Long, union finance secretary. "I am pretty sure that the men at our Monday meeting will vote to go on strike again if things remain the same."

The union approved the pay package Monday night and on Tuesday morning buses were rolling for the first time since Sept. 1. Amalgamated Transit Union local President Wilson Parker signed the agreement Tuesday with Felix Tapp, management's head negotiator.

A few hours later, Tapp said, Parker telephoned him and said he had told the union that the pay raise would be across-the-board for all employees.

The signed agreement stipulates that top scale drivers would receive a straight cents-an-hour pay hike. All others' salaries would be based on the percentage the drivers' raise represents.

Tapp called this an "established practice" and said Parker raised no questions when he signed the agreement.

Parker said he was unaware of the percentage basis raises at the time. He also called it a "misunderstanding" and expressed hope that it would not lead to another strike.

Tapp said management was willing to discuss the matter with the union. "We're willing to talk to them," he said. "But by the same token we don't want to give the whole transit system away."

Debbie Quits
Series On TV

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds quit her first television series almost before it began, objecting to the presentation of a cigarette commercial during its premiere.

"I will not be a party to such commercials," she told the National Broadcasting Co. Wednesday.

"We're rather mystified," said NBC-TV Vice President Mort Werner. A network spokesman said "Miss Reynolds' own people" had known about the commercial since March.

The actress said she discovered it Tuesday night, the first commercial in the premiere of her "Debbie Reynolds Show," and, "I was shocked." At noon Wednesday she quit.

"I consider cigarette commercials directly opposed to health and well being," she said. "This gesture is a complete breach of my understanding and agreement with NBC."

But the 36-year-old actress said she'd finish a shooting schedule today, leaving the network 10 complete shows of 25 scheduled. The NBC spokesman said the 10 probably would be aired.

Reactions to the premiere were mixed.

Examining Trial
Set For Oct. 8

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An examining trial has been set for Oct. 8 in the case of a Mexican national charged with the slaying of a young woman found raped and strangled in an auto junk yard.

Estevan Reza Mendoza, 24, of Nueva Rosita, Coahuila, Mexico, was in jail without bond. He was charged in the death of Mrs. Santa Emily Marin, 21, of San Antonio.

Estranged from her husband, Mrs. Marin managed a service station near the junk yard where her nearly nude body was found by her father early Monday. She had been missing more than 24 hours.

A Devotion For Today . . .

I keep the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. (Psalm 16:8, RV)

PRAYER: Pardon our neglect and indifference, heavenly Father. We open our hearts to Thee, that in the best of times, or the worst of times we may abide in Thy love. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Legislature Takes Care Of Itself

In closing hours of the second special session, the Texas Legislature attended to a little chore which strikes us as not quite cricket.

Last August voters were asked to give an opinion on whether legislators should have an increase in salary somewhere between their present $4,800 per annum and $20,000 (a peak for district judges); an anticipatory bill had pegged it at $2,000 more. The reaction was unmistakable; voters said no by two to one.

So what did the disappointed legislators do? They voted themselves a hefty increase in expenses. Instead of $450 expenses a month, members of the House will be entitled to spend $875 a month. This is just a percentage point under doubling the allowance. Senators will be entitled to receive up to $1,700 a month instead of $1,000. That's about 60 percent more. This comes out to more than 2 1/2 times that $2,000 mentioned.

It required a complete regular session, a full special session and part of a second special session to produce the appropriations and a tax bill to support them, but only a few hours apparently to about double the potential remuneration.

Problems Of Growing Life Span

Specialists attending the Eighth International Congress of Gerontology in Washington discussed, among other things, the prospects for a marked extension of the average human life span. Early in the sessions Dr. Alex Comfort of University College, London, urged an intensive research program to study this possibility, and suggested — as he has before — that a 100-year life span does not seem at all out of the question. Other speakers played variations on the same theme.

At about the same time, another kind of news about old age was coming out of Washington. A study group created by the Senate's Special Committee on Aging reported, after having considered the matter since last January, that "millions of the elderly in the United States are living today in poverty, and most did not become poor until they became old."

Low income, said the study group, is "the number one problem facing 20 million persons 65 years or older."

The relationship between this finding and the outlook for a big increase in the average life span is evident, and it is most disquieting. The question arises: If about one-tenth of our present population is made up of old people with serious income problems which lower the quality of life for them, what would it be like should an increase in life span infuse our society with an even greater proportion of the aged?

It is noteworthy that one speaker at the gerontology conference, Dr. Ralph Goldman of the University of California School of Medicine at Los Angeles, focused his remarks on problems that would arise should there be a marked prolongation of life. He noted, for example, that a boost in longevity would doubtless "increase the years of active maturity" and asked: "How long can restless youth be held off from meaningful participation? What will be the mechanisms for the transfer of control? Such questions must be given attention over the long haul.

In the meantime, more attention needs to be given to our older citizens. Let us figuratively emulate the primitive societies which send their aged to die alone in the jungle or wastelands. Indeed this might be more merciful than being trapped in the vice of penury and loneliness.

'Equality' In Schools And In Voting

WASHINGTON — Although racial discrimination is being widely denounced, many of the sponsors of "equality" are unwittingly about to help stimulate more and more "segregation" of the races in schools and among voters in various communities in the North as well as in the South. Politicians in Congress who are watching to see which way the wind blows are yielding to the idea that all the racial trouble is in the South and that what's happening in the North can be ignored.

THE SAD FACT is that a big part of the population of the United States cannot read or write, and the number is increasing steadily. Do the persons — white or black — who can read or write want the balance of power in national elections to be wielded by illiterate voters who can be bribed or improperly influenced?

This question is being avoided by both President Nixon and Congress. The administration has proposed a suspension in the use of literacy tests by all states until Jan. 1, 1974. The President's plan would prohibit also "other tests or devices as a condition for exercising the fundamental right to vote." Most of the southern states but not many of the northern states have literacy tests and other rules.

THE HOUSE Judiciary Committee has refused to act on the President's recommendation and wants to continue the ban only on the South. Literacy tests, of course, should never be used as a form of racial discrimination, and the courts can insure that any such prescribed rules for voting shall be applied equally to whites and blacks.

ANOTHER TYPE of racial discrimination is evident in the criticism by Negro civil-rights leaders because the administration, in attempting to desegregate or integrate the public school systems in the South, has decided to appeal to the courts rather than attempt to bludgeon the school authorities by threatening to withhold federal funds. The administration's plan to rely on the judiciary instead of taking arbitrary action is certainly a better method than by violating the Civil Rights Act itself.

THIS STATUTE orders the desegregation of public schools but forbids steps designed to correct "racial imbalance." It covers also instances where parents are compelled to let their children be transported by bus from their own neighborhood or district to some other part of the area so that a certain quota from each race — as yet undetermined — will be attending all public schools.

Where any school board deliberately maintains a "dual system," irrespective of natural causes, court action is available. But it is apparent that the action taken in seeking to achieve a "racial balance" not only of students but of teachers, too, has developed into a form of racial discrimination with the whites being the victims this time.

SOONER OR LATER resentments among white voters will rise to the point that candidates will be elected, irrespective of party, who are willing to prevent discrimination against whites as well as blacks. The issue of literacy tests may be an issue in the 1970 and 1972 campaigns. Eventually, as better schooling is provided, the Negro citizens will increase the voting population and with better education they, too, will come to realize that "black separatism" is just as bad as "white separatism." The test for public office should be the capacity and ability of an individual rather than his political skill in the art of racial demagoguery.

Desire For Change, Adventure

NEW YORK (AP) — "Life is constant change," said Keir Dullea, "and this is a good thing because it means there is hope."

"But half the evils of the world can be traced to the fact that people fight or are afraid of change."

It was the desire for change and adventure that led the handsome young film star, after a year at Rutgers University, to hitchhike to the West Coast, a 20-day, hardship-filled trek which he feels helped mature him considerably.

While working as an assistant carpenter to pay his way through San Francisco State College, he fell in with a group of young actors and decided on a stage career himself.

Returning here, he studied drama for two years, supported by his parents, who operate a Greenwich Village bookshop, before landing a series of stage and television roles.

Dullea — it is pronounced "Doolay" — is profoundly grateful for the financial help and understanding given him by his parents.

"They realized that the stage is a highly competitive business and the chances of success in it are small," he said. "But they didn't object to my trying it. They thought it was important that I do whatever I wanted to do and enjoyed."

"So many people who don't do this, and even if they are successful, end up unhappy."

An agent spotted Keir in a soap opera and suggested him for the role of the killer in "The Hoodlum Priest." Since then he has starred in a number of films, including "David and Lisa," "Madame X," "Bunny Lake Is Missing," "2001: A Space Odyssey," and "The Fox."

Currently he plays the title role in "De Sade," and is rehearsing in "Butterflies Are Free," a Broadway comedy drama which opens next month. Keir is intensely serious about his profession and feels it satisfies a psychological need in his set of circumstances, but the field of acting itself is a consistent line of endeavor."

Keir and his wife, Susan Lessans, a former fashion director, live quietly in a small Greenwich Village apartment. It has a patio where the actor enjoys raising flowers.

Economy Remains Hot

NEW YORK (AP) — Each day the men in Washington whose job it is to dampen this torrid economy sort of stick their hand out the window and hope to feel a little rain. Instead, they come dangerously close to getting it burned.

The economy, in other words, remains hot and inflated, and no more than a cool mist can be detected so far. Whether or not the mist foretells cooler economic weather still can't be said with certainty.

Here is the evidence so far that the slowdown policies of the Nixon administration — essentially, a budget surplus and tight money — may be having some effect:

—The index of industrial production has declined for the first time in a year. This means that the nation's factories turned out less in August, 1969, than a year earlier.

—The increase in the number of people employed has slowed.

—Retail sales have been termed disappointing by many stores.

—Housing starts continue to slip.

There the evidence seems to end, although the monetary and fiscal authorities had forecast that by now there would be a long list of indicators pointing downward. Even the evidence that does exist is weak.

—Industrial production did decline — but only by a small fraction of one per cent and only for one month. A judgment on the decline really must be reserved until another month's figures are in.

—The rise in the number of persons employed has slowed a bit — but unemployment remains very low at 3.5 per cent or so. If business is feeling a pinch it hasn't as yet reacted by laying off workers.

—Retail sales seem to be stagnated at between $29 billion and $30 billion a month — but a good Christmas season could change that.

—Housing starts have been hurt badly, but this indicator traditionally has been one of the first to turn down. It doesn't mean the others will follow.

In addition, despite forecasts of a coming downturn in the rate of inflation — now somewhere around 7 per cent or 8 per cent a year — there is no clear evidence of that downturn. Neither are interest rates retreating. Home buyers and corporations continue to pay higher and higher rates.

Perhaps the clearest indication that the inflationary psychology persists is revealed by industry's capital spending plans — the amount of money being set aside for building, renewing, expanding plants.

Private surveys by economic consultants generally agree that industry will spend even more money on capital improvements in 1970 than this year.

Around The Rim

It's How You Do It

Added to the weekly aches and pains of modern living, crops up the annual fall fallacy — picking the winners in the gridiron clashes.

Fumbling the ball almost weekly, I gave up sometime ago on sticking with the favorites, and continue to be stuck for any better system than closing the eyes and blindly striking off one or another. A dart board would do as well, or flipping a coin. Near as I can tell, science has failed utterly in a fool-proof system.

IT'S NO WORSE perhaps than trying to figure out why the old car won't start. Faced with this problem some weeks ago, I matched wits with a mechanic, who assured me the battery had "sulphated," which I gather is a lot like cancer. I suggested the alternator (whatever that is) might be ailing, but he held firm to his battery prognosis, and after all, that's his business.

So in went the new battery, but the hoopie then developed a whirring sound. Back to the garage, and another diagnosis. "That's the alternator," he assured me, and this time he jerked it out, patched it up, and so far the starter has continued to whirl.

WHETHER ITS picking a winner, or figuring out what's wrong with a car, it takes a certain amount of floundering. It's not how the final answer is arrived at, so much as getting the right answer. I have it figured that the experts are as much at sea most of the time, as the rest of us.

In the homely game of billiards, an old pool shark once told me the only difference between an expert and a so-so player is that the expert never looks surprised when he accidentally pockets a ball. So it is with picking football winners or coming up with a correct car ailment diagnosis.

Here It Is, And We Hope You Like It

WASHINGTON — A lot of people are being shaken up these days by receiving unsolicited plastic credit cards. In the past the consumer had the option whether to ask for credit or not. But now in the great battle for the hearts and dollars of the American customer, the banks, oil companies and hotel chains are shoving their credit cards at you whether you want them or not.

It isn't just the specter of a wife or teenager receiving a credit card and going berserk that bothers most American breadwinners. It's the principle of the thing, and where will it all end? What is to prevent a company that sends unsolicited credit cards to your home from sending merchandise instead?

I DON'T believe it is too farfetched to see this happening in a few years.

You come home, and there on your front lawn is a complete dining room set with table, 12 chairs and cabinet. Attached to a leg of the table is a note:

"Greetings. We are happy to inform you that we consider you an excellent credit risk and, to show our faith in you, we are leaving this dining room set on your lawn. Our credit reports on you indicate that you favor Colonial furniture, and we have chosen this particular mahogany wood which we know will go well with the rest of your furnishings. If for some reason this particular dining room set does not meet your requirements, you may return it to our warehouse within 10 days, and you will not be charged for it. If it is not returned, we will assume that we made the right choice, and we shall start billing you monthly."

OR YOU COULD wake up in the morning and find parked outside your door a new "Fire-eater" with the following letter taped to the windshield:

"Congratulations. You are now the owner of a new Fire-eater, the fastest, most comfortable, economical automobile on the road. Because of your high credit rating, we have taken the liberty of registering this car in your name with the State Vehicle Bureau.

"If for any reason you change your mind and decide you don't want to be one of the 'with it' people, please call this number and we will have the car taken away, at no cost to you except for the towing charges.

"ALSO, if you do not accept this exceptional buy, you must go down to the State Vehicle Bureau and inform them of this decision. Otherwise we will start charging you interest beginning next week."

The final indignity would be to receive a registered letter from a development company which read:

"Dear sir,

"We're happy to inform you that you are now the proud owner of a new ranch house in Paradise Acres. This extraordinary home (the deed is enclosed) has three bedrooms, two and a half baths, a playroom and completely equipped kitchen and will be ready for you to move into within two weeks.

"A CHECK on your credit rating shows that you can easily afford this remarkable buy, and we have taken the liberty of deducting from your bank account the small down payment.

"If we don't hear from you by registered mail within the next 36 hours, we will assume that you will be joining us at Paradise Acres. On the other hand, if you return the deed, then we ask you to contact our lawyers so some equitable arrangement can be worked out for our time and inconvenience."

Thinking On Military Policy

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon seldom thinks aloud, but on pretty good authority this is how he might soliloquize on military policy.

The Republican President last January took over a worse mess than the American people realize. In the first place, there are 39 votes in the Senate that are automatically against every proposal that relates to the Defense Department. The D-of-D doesn't even have a budget as yet, and we must cut bone and muscle, as well as fat, to stay ahead of what the meat-eat economists want to do to Mel Laird's ship by the end of this year. We've got to finance against rising threats by a nuclear-going Red China and a Navy-building Russia on a falling rate of military spending.

BEFORE EVEN thinking how we might win in Vietnam, we've got to figure that we've already lost Laos which was given to the Communists by that troika arrangement back in 1962. As matters stand in Laos, North Vietnam has 40,000 regulars already there, and can take that strategic country any day of the week.

THAILAND is also under subversive invasion, and the 39 anti-Pentagon Senators make it very difficult to handle this one. The Thais always manage to play one big power against another, and nobody seems to understand how important it is to have them playing on our side. When you talk about Laos and Thailand falling under Communist domination, you can hear the dominoes clattering over all the rest of Southeast Asia. And on that subject, you've got to add that Britain is pulling out of Singapore in 1971, and that Japan not only wants the restoration of Okinawa but wants to run U.S. military policy on that island that guards the Asian mainland.

AGAIN, before considering the end in Vietnam, there's the Sino-Soviet rift that could very well break out into major warfare. Now, it's theoretically possible to stay neutral in a Sino-Soviet conflict, but it's not possible to achieve neutralizing results. If we do nothing, we are helping the stronger Communist power, which is Russia. If we take sides, we get involved with one power or the other, and both of them look upon Americans as incurable imperialists.

PEOPLE KEEP saying that the Nixon Administration hasn't made up its mind about Vietnam, but on two big points the White House is absolutely adamant. One, there will be no further concessions. Two, nothing has been ruled out by way of military action if the Communists open an offensive.

As to the phased withdrawal of American troops, this has become possible because of two sets of changes made since Mel Laird visited Vietnam in March. One set of changes is negative. The Saigon government has stopped waiting for Americans to win the war. It's well understood in Saigon, and it wasn't understood last year, that South Vietnam has got to win on the ground with Asian boys or not win at all.

THE SECOND SET of changes is positive. General Abrams' command now realizes, and didn't last year, that this transfer of combat responsibilities is for real. We really are going to arm, train and support the Army of the Republic of Vietnam, and we really are going to turn over the ground combat to the ARVN.

Proposes States

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Leo Marquard, retiring president of the South African Institute of Race Relations, has proposed a federation of southern Africa as an alternative to South Africa's race segregation policies. He suggested the federation should incorporate separate white and black states from South Africa and South West Africa and Lesotho, Botswana and Swaziland.

Unemployed

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Whites, colored (mulattoes) and Asians registered as unemployed in South Africa during spring 1969 totaled 12,734. The breakdown for the three races was 3,992 whites, 4,187 coloreds and 4,555 Asians. The official figures did not mention unemployed Africans.

Hunter Back In Groove

By The Associated Press
Oakland's Jim Hunter, who pitched like a Catfish out of water for eight weeks while Minnesota led the Athletics high and dry in the American League West, finally is back in the swim.
Hunter snapped a personal eight-game losing streak Wednesday night as the Athletics shaded Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings and trimmed one game from Minnesota's commanding lead in the division title race.
The victory, coupled with the Twins' 6-4 loss to California, left the A's nine games off the pace with 14 to play. The Twins' magic number remained at six.
Hunter, with relief support from Paul Lindblad and batting help from rookie Bob Brooks, brought his season record to 10-15 by winning for the first time since July 24.

But "Catfish" did it the hard way, letting the Royals off the hook with a two-out wild pitch in the ninth that sent the tying run home, then leaving for a pinch hitter as the A's broke the deadlock in the 10th.
In other AL action, the Chicago White Sox swept a two-night doubleheader from Seattle 6-4 and 2-1; Detroit whipped Cleveland 5-0 behind rookie left-hander Mike Kilkenny and the New York Yankees nipped Washington 2-1 in a game called after five innings because of rain. The Baltimore-Boston game was rained out.
Oakland led 2-1 in the ninth when Mike Fiore doubled, moved up to third on a fly ball and, with two out, scored the winning run on Hunter's wild pitch.
But Bob Johnson, pinch hitting for Hunter, started the 10th with a single. Bert Campaneris also singled and after Rick Monday bunted into a force out at third Brooks broke the tie with a single.
It was the third hit for the 5-foot-8 1/2 outfielder, recently called up from the minors, who had slammed his second major league homer in the third inning. Lindblad checked the Royals in the bottom of the 10th, preserving the victory for Hunter and clinching at least a second place finish for the A's.
"After 12 starts without a victory, I had some doubts I'd ever get No. 10," said Hunter, who hurled a perfect game last season for the Athletics against the Twins. "When they tied it, I thought it was lost."
The Angels roughed up Dean Chance in the early innings and held off Minnesota behind Ken Tatum's clutch relief pitching. Jay Johnstone paced the California attack with three singles.
Tatum rescued winner Tom Murphy in the seventh, when the Twins struck for three runs to close the gap.
Billy Wynne hurled a four-hitter as the White Sox completed their sweep for a four-game winning string. Bobby Knoop's sacrifice fly in the second inning scored Bob Christian, who had doubled, with the deciding run.
Bob Spence's first hit in the majors—a two-run single—sparked Chicago's first-game triumph, which went to southpaw Gerry Nyman with a bull pen assist from Wilbur Wood.
Kilkenny stopped Cleveland on five hits and struck out 13, holding the Indians hitless for 9.3 innings on the way to his sixth victory.
Southpaw Fritz Peterson limited Washington to two hits and stroked two singles himself scoring the winning run on a fifth inning single by Roy White.

NEW COACH — A new coach with a new system will be facing Big Spring Friday night, when the Steers open their District 3-AAAA season in Midland against the Lee Rebels. Ringmaster of the Rebels is Willie Brooks (above), a former Midland High grid star, who replaced Bob Burrus as coach of the Lee team.

LANDRY: SITUATION NOT IDEAL Pokes Go With Rog

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It's a good thing Tom Landry didn't know last spring what's facing him today or he might be hoeing cotton on the funny farm.
The coach of the Dallas Cowboys, barring a last minute healing miracle, will start a rookie at quarterback Sunday to open the National Football League season against St. Louis in the Cotton Bowl.
"It's not an ideal situation," says Landry.
Craig Morton, the No. 1 quarterback, suffered a dislocated index finger on his right hand two weeks ago against the New York Jets. It's still sore and Landry is afraid to risk it in a game too soon.
"I don't think it's worth the risk to play him (Morton) before he's ready to go," Landry said. "He's been off 11 days and his timing is rusty."
Last spring Landry had Don Meredith, Morton, Jerry Rhome and Roger Staubach as quarterback candidates for summer camp. Real good depth at the position. The Cowboys traded Rhome to Cleveland, at his request, and Meredith retired in early July.

That left four-year veteran Morton and the 28-year-old rookie Staubach. Now Morton is hurting, although he says he's ready to play.
"I'm ready to play if they are ready to let me," Morton says. "The finger is feeling much better."
Staubach, the 1963 Heisman Trophy winner from Navy, led Dallas to a 25-9 victory over the Jets and scrambled all over the field but couldn't find the goal as Dallas fell to Baltimore 23-7 Sunday night in the final exhibition game of the season.
"I have a lot of confidence in Roger," Landry says. "It's not like he was just out of college. He matured considerably in his four years in the Navy. I'll tell you this. Those Cardinals had better be ready to run on a warm afternoon."

What if Staubach gets hurt against St. Louis?
"Well, we have rookie Bob

Lorraine Backs Lead District

Ronald Jones and Tim Hamilton, both of Lorraine, have grabbed the individual scoring lead in District 7-B after the first week of play with 20 points each.
The two played major roles in Lorraine's 48-22 conquest of Hermleigh last Friday. Lorraine had been low-rated in conference polls prior to last week.
Robert Finley counted the other eight points for Lorraine and shares third place honors in 7-B with a Forsan back, Bobby Davis.

Public Works Department Reports A Busy August

The monthly report of the city's public works department showed the street department graded 256 blocks of streets and 85 blocks of alleys, while 10 blocks of streets were rebuilt.

The city also used 1,780 cubic yards of caliche, 30 cubic yards of crushed caliche, and 59,800 gallons of water to maintain and rebuild dirt streets and alleys; crews also cleaned with equipment 150 cubic yards of trash from streets and alleys and 148 cubic yards of trash from hand-cleaned alleys.

Highway Patrol Seeks Recruits

City street sweepers worked 126 hours to clean 1,023 miles of paved streets during August, hauling off 225 cubic yards of sweepings. Seventeen pavement cuts, 13 by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. and four by the city water department, were repaired.

A total of 2,243 vehicles hauled 2,068 tons to the sanitary landfill during August, about the same as July. Another 343 tons of trash from 160 blocks of alleys were dumped, making approximately 1,000 tons of trash that has been collected from alleys during the summer with NYC help.

pedestrian lanes were painted last month, with 12,000 linear feet of center line striping being installed. An additional 31 signs were installed and 40 sign posts were repainted or repaired, and the auto body shop repaired two police cars involved in accidents.

AUSTIN — Col. Wilson E. Spear, Texas Department of Public Safety, is recruiting 37 patrolmen to increase the state's highway patrol force to 1,259 men, it was announced Tuesday.

He said the next training school starts Oct. 21 at the law enforcement academy in Austin and that interested men, 20 to 35 years old, should obtain applications from any department patrolman or officer.

Other qualifications for being a patrolman include high school graduation or equivalent, good moral character, excellent health, and visual acuity no worse than 20-40, correctable to 20-20.

The 18 week course includes 800 hours of classroom work and supervised study. Students are paid $325 a month while at the academy and uniforms are provided. Wages after graduation increase to $630 a month with an allowance for clothes and meals.

West in today's hand was not concerned with the salvaging of a mere 30 points out of a possible wreck. He was more concerned with avoiding the wreck itself. In this he succeeded by keeping a stiff upper lip when the crucial moment arrived, recognizing that one trick does not beat a slam.

South reached a contract of six hearts and, when the dummy was spread, it appeared that he was an outstanding favorite to win. There were a number of chances open to him. The diamond jack might drop on the first, second, or third round. If the diamond suit failed to oblige, there was still a chance of holding the losses in the club suit to one trick.

South's leap to six hearts was on the conservative side.

He held more than an opening bid himself, while partner had opened and jumped in a manner that suited his tastes. At least a fleeting thought should have been given to the possibilities of a grand slam which, indeed, would have been a cinch if North's clubs and spades had been interchanged. As the hand was constituted, there was a considerable duplication of values in the spade suit.

The queen of spades was opened and taken by the ace. Trumps were drawn and declarer tried the club play at once. Even after giving up a trick in this suit, declarer could still rely on the hope that diamonds would break favorably, or that a squeeze might develop.

While trumps were being drawn, West did some thinking. There were obviously no spade or heart tricks for his side. South surely held the ace of diamonds. It appeared then that the only hope was to take two club tricks.

When declarer led a club, West promptly played low. South played the eight from dummy [clearly the best percentage play—it succeeds whenever the club honors are split and West holds the ten]. East won with the ten. From this point on, there was nothing declarer could do to bring in the hand.

It is argued that West might have lost his club trick by playing low. The answer is, "What's 30 points more or less when over 1,000 points are involved?"

FORD OFFERS LUXURY IN LTD BROUGHAM — Built for quiet inside and out, Ford's luxurious new 1970 LTD Brougham is offered in both four-door hardtop (above), two-door hardtop and four-door sedan models. The 1970 Fords, with all new Torino and Thunderbird lines, feature new rear and side ornamentation, new exterior colors, plus more formal grilles. Bob Brock Ford, 500 W. 4th, puts the 1970 models on display Friday.

Ford Offers Torino As Top Redesigned 'Intermediate'

Ford passengers cars for 1970 are highlighted by all-new Torino and Thunderbird lines, a new luxurious LTD Brougham series, and new mid-range engine, premium quality tires standard on most cars and more comfort, convenience, safety and security features.

The models are being unveiled at Bob Brock Ford and Lincoln-Mercury, 500 W. 4th.

Ford is expecting this to be the "year of the intermediates" and offers Torino as the most dramatically redesigned car in the line. It is longer, lower and wider with aerodynamic styling, hot performance engines and options.

Thunderbird also has an all-new look with a bold front-end design with longer, lower hood, a forward-thrusting grille and exposed headlamps.

More quiet-car luxury is offered in the standard-size Ford. The entire Ford line presents a more formal appearance with new grilles, ornamentation and rear-end design.

Mustang comes on stronger and sportier than ever with design changes, hotter engines, bright "Grabber" colors, and interiors with upbeat stripes and houndstooth checks.

Maverick, introduced in April as the "first car of the Seventies," will remain the "simple machine" with few changes.

Falcon moves into the 1970 market with the boast of economy, roomy interior and durable performance.

Several new security, comfort, convenience and performance features are included in the 51 models for 1970.

Standard tires on Fords, Torinos, Mustangs and Thunderbirds will last longer, have greater resistance to puncture and provide better traction. Radial-ply tires will be installed on all 1970 Thunderbirds, and fiberglass belted bias-ply tires will be standard on all Fords, Torinos and Mustangs.

An all-new 351-cubic-inch displacement V-8 engine, developed with the latest computerized technology and assembled on the auto industry's most advanced production line will be offered on 1970 Mustangs and Torinos. The engine is compact, relatively lightweight and delivers excellent performance and economy.

All bucket seats offered on Ford cars are of high-back design.

The higher seat backs incorporate integral head restraints and provide added comfort.

For the performance buffs, all optional four-speed manual transmissions feature the competition Hurst Shifter, known for fast, smooth shifting.

An automatic release for the two-door safety latch is available on Ford, Torino, Mustang and Thunderbird models. Both front seat-back latches are automatically released when either door is opened, thereby making it easier to get into and out of the back seat.

New steering wheels on Ford, Torino, Mustang and Thunderbird models are semi-oval in design for easier driver entry and exit and better visibility of the instrument cluster.

A three-way locking steering column on all models except Falcon is designed to deter car thefts by locking the ignition, the transmission linkage and the steering wheel with the ignition switch.

A new three-point Uni-Lock Safety Harness lap and shoulder belt system — available on all models except Mavericks, Falcons and convertibles — permits outboard front seat occupants to "buckle-up" faster.

Not All Rocks Are On Moon

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin could hardly predict it when they brought those rocks back from the moon.

But what they did was start a new boom in an old hobby — collecting rocks from right here on earth.

"You can't imagine what this has done to the business of collecting rocks," said N. C. Dorchester who has spent a good part of his 86 years pursuing the hobby of collecting pebbles.

"All at once, rock collecting has taken on an added stature," said Dorchester, who is a charter member of the Texoma Rock Hounds and the recipient of the club's first lifetime honorary membership.

"I'm going to have to recommend that the club issue the second, third and fourth honorary membership to Armstrong, Aldrin and Michael Collins," Dorchester declared.

Dorchester admitted with a bit of envy that he sure would have enjoyed picking up a few rocks off the moon.

"But it was a tremendous thrill just to watch the men as they did it," he said.

"While I think it would be wonderful if clubs such as ours could have a moon rock, I still feel the rocks collected on that first trip belong in the Smithsonian Institution. The astronauts would need a vehicle much larger than they have to bring back enough rocks to pass around to rockhound clubs," Dorchester said.

Dorchester became a rock hound in order to spend his free time with his son, David. When his youngest started collecting Indian relics and rocks, "I just naturally went along and I'll admit that from the start I found it a highly fascinating sport."

The octogenarian has hunted for rocks on both sides of the Red River from Wichita Falls to Clarksville. He has been in many sections of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and California in his search.

He spotted an old corn millstone that was part of a rock formation near Pottsboro. He up-worked for a full day in cutting it loose, then rolled it down a hill and over a plowed field for half a mile. It took four persons to load it in his car and today it is anchored in his front yard.

There isn't a room in the Dorchester home that doesn't have part of his collection. He has it cataloged as to where found and when.

He has a letter from the curator of the Money Museum of the Chase National Bank in New York City verifying a copper chopping knife he found in New Mexico as "a Mexican Xiqui. This is one of the first metal coinages used in America. It was primitive money used among the Aztec Indians." Donald Taxay, the curator, put a value of $50 on it, but Dorchester thinks it should be much higher.

Dorchester once sent 23 items to the Smithsonian Institution for identification. He got back a report that described some as "antiquity doubtful" and on some others "doesn't look too good."

"But by Smithsonian standards I was more than delighted," Dorchester admitted.

Archaeologist Alex D. Krieger of the University of Texas in his bulky 336-page book, "Culture Complexes and Chronology in Northern Texas," devoted considerable space to Dorchester and listed 102 different items that Dorchester had uncovered.

Dr. Krieger lamented in his book, however, that "Lake Texoma has destroyed forever an untold number of archaeological sites which could have produced much valuable data."

Dorchester's wanderings in his search for rare rocks twice took him to Arkansas's famed diamond fields "but I never found anything of value there," he said.

At 86, Dorchester's step has slowed and he isn't as adventurous as he was at one time. "I spend more time polishing rocks than hunting," he said. "And believe me I've collected enough rocks in my time that I'd have to live well beyond 100 years to get them all shined up."

Hardin Listens To Farm Pros

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Clifford Hardin, secretary of Agriculture, spoke a little and listened a lot at an agricultural conference at Texas A&M Thursday.

Hardin heard representatives from virtually every major farm organization in the five Southwestern states discuss their problems and their recommendations for the future.

Joining Hardin on the "listening side" of the conference were members of the House Agriculture Committee, who are engaged in a five-day tour of the farm regions of Texas and Colorado. The committee is headed by Rep. Bob Poage, D-Tex.

Dr. H.O. Kunkel, dean of A&M's College of Agriculture, presided over the conference.

Among topics discussed by the farm leaders were maintaining and increasing farm income, opportunities in rural America, rural-urban balance, proper nutrition and diets, development of natural resources, and conservation.

The Globe-News published both its morning and afternoon editions Wednesday, with supervisory personnel and non-union employees taking the strikers' places.

Three Challenged Biology Textbooks Gain Approval

AUSTIN (AP) — Three challenged biology textbooks and one controversial American history book have been approved by the State Textbook Committee.

Another American history book that drew critics' fire at a public hearing Tuesday was scheduled to be voted on today.

The committee heard objections at the hearing to six biology books and four American history books.

The protesters said the biology books presented evolution as a fact instead of as a theory and that the history books were disrespectful of American heroes.

Biology books winning approval Wednesday were: "Biology: An Inquiry into the Nature of Life," published by Allyn and Bacon, Inc.; "Introduction to Life," Addison-Wesley Publishing Co.; and "Biological Science: An Inquiry into Life," Harcourt, Brace and World, Inc.

Two of the challenged history books failed to win approval.

The only controversial history book accepted Wednesday was "Discovering American History," an eighth grade text published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc.

One of the examples cited by the Bakers: "With so much marvelous history, why are three pages used to tell a story of George Washington and the cherry tree episode? As in so many other parts of the book, a fictional tale is told and the student is asked whether the cherry tree tale is myth or fact."

The publisher replied: "George Washington and the cherry tree episode illustrates how difficult it is to separate myth from actuality in history. The episode demonstrates to the student that making such a distinction depends greatly on the type and amount of evidence available and that interpretation of a story in history depends on how well the evidence is evaluated."

The fullest measure of insight and pleasure from history, it seems to us, comes from being a historian. Even though all students will not become historians, the process by which a historian sorts, weighs and classifies evidence are acts that are exciting and valuable for all critically thinking members of a free society," the publisher said.

"The thinking process involved in historical analysis prepares students for the decision-making required by our democracy. . . a thinking process beyond memorization is vital to a free society. We unhesitatingly state any eighth grade student can and ought to learn this process," the firm said.

Sweetheart Is Chosen

Mrs. Don Cunningham was elected chapter sweetheart at Tuesday's meeting of Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter of Coahoma, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Frank Pearson, 1604 Canary.

Mrs. Joe Smith, president, announced the chapter has been certified for achieving a three-star rating from the international executive council of BSP.

Plans were made to enter a float in the Coahoma homecoming parade in November. A "swam" costume party will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the First Federal Community Room as the first event in rush activities.

Mrs. Aaron Wilemon, whose kitchen burned recently, was presented a canister set.

Mrs. Smith gave the program, "Self Analysis," after which each member wrote a brief summary of herself.

The next meeting will be Oct. 7 in the home of Mrs. Buddy Owens, Route Two.

a head start for your costume. Even for pantsuits!
The hat to wear with pants is as varied as pants outfits themselves. It is by no means limited to a tailored felt fedora but encompasses large, floppy brims and small caps in most every shape and material. More often than not, it will have a matching scarf or tie. Soignée!
For wear with new dresses and suits, the big news is the 1930's inspired culotte and pill-box worn well down on the head. The shapes are interpreted in media from jersey to printed silk, from felt to fur, from draped wool to velvet. Look for feather boas with a late-day fabric. Shades of the Glamour Girls!

After shape and fabric, think color. Shades of millinery are beautifully keyed to ready-to-wear. You'll find the earth and leaf colors, the deep blues and greens, the bright reds, and the wines from vin rose to burgundy.
The fashion thinking is that the basic color of your hat matches the basic color of your costume. Or it takes off into a stratosphere of eye-fel contrasts. Moon Baby stuff!

Hints From Heloise

I wonder if it has ever occurred to your readers that clothes hampers can be used for a lot of things besides storing soiled laundry?

Here are just a few ideas I had for putting extra ones to good use:

Storing towels and washcloths, extra bed linens, socks and underwear, toys, things that need mending or that ironing you just aren't ready to tackle yet.

And they come in so many different sizes and colors that you can find one to match most any room in the house.

I think I'll buy a big one in which to put all the clippings I've saved from reading your hints — ha! ... Heloise Fan

And I'm a fan of yours for giving our readers some more uses for these hampers ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's an indoor basketball game for children on a rainy day:

Fold a plastic potato sack over a rounded coat hanger. Run string through the air holes to hold the sack on.

Then cut open the bottom end of the bag, turn the hanger hook up and hang it over a doorknob. All that's needed, then, is a plastic or rubber ball to toss

Over the years, I have always dreaded the job of removing the thin membrane on the outer edge of liver, until I hit on the idea of doing it while the liver is frozen!

Make a small cut and grab it between thumb and knife. It peels away paper thin and also saves much of the liver that is usually cut away with the membrane if it's thawed ... A Reader

Dear Heloise:

Don't you just hate to put out all that money for a diaper bag when there is so much more you need for babies?

Try one of the insulated vinyl picnic bags. They come in bright colors and have a zipper top.

I've found they hold as much as the largest diaper bags and can usually be bought for a dollar or less ... Wanda McNew

Guest Discusses Roses For Show

The preparation of roses for flower shows was described by Mrs. Adrain Randle, guest speaker Wednesday morning for the Four O'Clock Garden Club meeting in the home of Mrs. E. D. Campbell, 2700 Larry.

"Roses should be shown at the peak of perfection," said Mrs. Randle, noting that evening is the best time to cut the flowers. They should be labeled when cut and cleaned thoroughly before showing. She suggested cleaning the roses with a piece of cotton dipped in milk.

Mrs. Guy Cook presided, and roll call was answered with what members wanted most from the club this year. The next meeting will be in the Cook home at 1006 E. 21st.

Gardeners Get Advice On Lawns

Mrs. D. W. Rankin of Hilltop Nursery spoke on the care of a fall garden, at Tuesday's meeting of the After Five Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Tom Ivey, Silver Heels.

"Now is the time to clear flower beds of debris and use leaves and grass clippings for compost," said Mrs. Rankin. She stressed now is the time to plant fall bulbs and prune all flowers and flowering shrubs that have stopped blooming. She noted that lawns should be covered lightly with peat moss or manure and kept well watered during the coming winter months.

Mrs. Bessie Love demonstrated the use of "The Talking Book," a group of records for use of blind and handicapped persons.

Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, president, announced tentative plans for a flower show in November. Refreshments were served and fresh flower arrangements were used in the entertaining rooms.

1/2 tsp salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 lb. (3 or 4) ripe bananas
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat shortening in mixer bowl until creamy consistency. Add sugar and eggs. Continue beating at medium speed one minute. Peel bananas; add to egg mixture. Mix until blended. Add nuts and the flour mixture, beating at low speed about 30 seconds, or only until blended. Do not overbeat. Vary Pork And Beans

Here's a new twist for an old favorite, pork and beans, that combines the flavors of molasses and caraway seeds. Start by making miniature pork balls. Mix into a pound of ground pork one minced small onion, one clove minced garlic, one tablespoon fresh chopped parsley, one tablespoon caraway seeds, one-fourth cup breadcrumbs, two tablespoons milk, one well-beaten egg, salt and pepper.

Mold mixture into small balls (about 16 in all) and brown in hot oil. Drain two large cans of baked beans, and add four tablespoons of light molasses, one-half cup of sour cream, and two tablespoons tomato paste. Spread bean mixture in oven proof skillet, and arrange pork balls on top. Bake in medium oven until balls are well-done, about 40 minutes.

MRS. R. F. DORSEY

Tranquil Atmosphere Reflected In Home

By RHODA LEMONS

"I enjoy people more than anything," said Mrs. R. F. Dorsey, "and next to that I love my home." She spoke in the tranquil atmosphere of her home at 507 Washington.

Mrs. Dorsey has been married a little over three years to her oil producer husband. They have eight children, all grown, and married or in college. They have 10 grandchildren, and Mrs. Dorsey is kept busy preparing special treats when they come to visit.

Mrs. Dorsey has done their home in soft beige with traditional furnishings. The living room is beige with draperies featuring a covered valance. The beige dining has just a hint of a pink floral pattern and for accent, she has two cerise velvet chairs to add the right spice to a restful room.

There is a formal dining area and breakfast nook, done in yellow and brown for a sunshine effect for breakfast. In covering his territory, Mrs. Dorsey often accompanies her husband on trips to the oil fields. She is working on an afghan which she always takes along in case there are long waits for him at the field.

"We entertain rather frequently," said Mrs. Dorsey. "It is always informal and never over eight people, because I can manage that number best."

"Because of my husband's business interests, we are often invited out, which I always enjoy," she said.

A quiet, reflective woman, Mrs. Dorsey has strong opinions on a number of subjects, but she can almost always see the other person's side in a situation. She likes to play bridge, and her favorite hobby is reading. She prefers non-fiction to any other type of books, and likes to read factual articles.

She is secretary in the Woman's Society of Christian Service at First United Methodist Church, where she and her husband have membership. She is a member of the 1955 Hyperion Club, and Chapter 499, Order of Eastern Star, in Coahoma.

She is a member of the Big Spring Garden Club and enjoys planting new flower specimens to see if they will grow in their yard.

"I worked for so many years, I feel that I must keep my hand in some activity," said Mrs. Dorsey.

"I still work, but I don't earn a salary," she laughed. She lived in Floydada before moving to Big Spring, and she met her husband through mutual friends. They were married in the First Methodist Church in Big Spring.

"It was one of the nicest decisions of my life," said Mrs. Dorsey.

SIZZLING BACON — Serve crisp bacon with an unusual waffle to provide nourishment for children going to school and working parents. Many teenagers do not eat breakfast, which often is the cause of nutritional deficiencies.

Start Day Off Right By Serving Hearty, Tempting Breakfast

When the school bell calls the children back to desks and books, prepare them for the day with a nutritious, protein-packed breakfast. Crisp, lean-packed bacon served with a sure favorite, peanut butter omelet, will send them off filled with energy. Kids love peanut butter and jelly for snacks. But they'll rave about it when it's a part of a puffy breakfast omelet.

Bacon packs a bonus of energy and high quality meat protein into every lean slice. When the bacon with the sweet smoke taste begins to cook its aroma will bring the children from bed to table in minutes. Bacon and eggs are a natural go-together, and this omelet will be a winner.

To make a high, fluffy omelet, the yolks and whites must be beaten separately. The skillet should be one with a heat-resistant handle, such as cast iron, since it later goes into the oven. Before pouring the egg mixture into the pan, the butter should just sizzle, but not brown. After the omelet has turned golden on the underside, it is popped into a moderate oven, skillet and all, to bake through and brown the top. The homemaker will have no problem flipping the omelet if she creases it one-half inch below the surface, spreads the melted peanut butter over one portion of it, and turns the other half over the peanut butter spread. The omelet rolls easily onto a hot platter, ready to be garnished with a favorite jelly or preserve.

PEANUT BUTTER OMELET
 1 lb. pkg. bacon
 5 eggs, separated
 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
 1/2 tsp. salt
 2 tbsps. butter or margarine
 1/2 cup chopped peanuts
 1/2 cup creamy peanut butter, melted
 2 tbsps. jelly or preserves
 Cook bacon according to package directions. Place egg whites and cream of tartar in a deep bowl. Beat with electric beater at high speed until stiff peaks form. Place egg yolks and salt in a small deep bowl and beat with electric beater at high speed until mixture is thick and light yellow.

Slowly heat a nine-inch heavy skillet with heat-resistant handle. Add butter to skillet and heat until it sizzles but does not brown. Gently fold egg yolk mixture and peanuts into the egg whites until just blended. Turn egg mixture into skillet, spreading it evenly over bottom of pan. Cook over medium heat two to three minutes, or until omelet is golden brown underneath. Then place skillet in a moderate oven (375 degrees) and bake 15 minutes, or until top is golden brown. Remove omelet from oven, make a one-half inch deep crease across center of omelet. Spread peanut butter on one half. Loosen omelet from edges of pan and fold in half. Roll omelet onto hot platter and garnish top with jelly or preserves.

Yield: Five to six servings.

Lean Pork Roasts Are Good Buys

Those handsome, trim, leaner pork roasts you see in your meat market show the results of meat research at work.

Several years ago meat producers set out to produce leaner type hogs. As a result of their work, today you are getting more value for your money. Modern pork has far more protein and fewer calories than it had just a few years ago.

It's wise to check your newspaper ads to determine which pork cuts are in good supply and at what prices. Highly demanded center cut loin roasts are naturally going to cost you more per pound than a sirloin or blade roast — the roasts cut from either end of the center loin.

It is only the thickness of the knife that separates the center roast from either of the end roasts, yet the end roasts can be purchased at quite a saving. They are cooked in exactly the same way.

A boned and rolled pork roast, of course, will be tagged with a higher price. But there is no waste and you get more servings from each pound.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

When you are arranging stuffed tortillas in a baking dish (as in making enchiladas) remember to place the tortillas seam side down.

Green noodles taste wonderful with nothing more than butter added. For a really elegant dish, add as much as a quarter pound of butter for eight ounces of the noodles, cooked. Cut the butter into thin slices and as soon as the noodles are cooked and drained, mix in the butter and allow it to melt. A long-handled fork and spoon will help you mix in the butter.

Crisp tortillas in a little oil in a skillet and then heap them with chili con carne, grated cheddar cheese and shredded lettuce. Serve at once.

When you are baking a banana cake or banana quick bread that calls for mashed bananas, it's a good idea to "mash" the fruit by forcing it through a fine-mesh strainer. When banana is mashed with a fork the resulting puree is not always uniform in texture.

A four-pound roasting chicken, stuffed, will need only two hours in the oven if a 375-degree temperature is used.

A fireplace hearth made of slate may become dulled and grayed. To prevent this happening, use a thin type of penetrating floor sealer with a tung oil base on the slate.

If you want that Spanish cream (made with gelatin) to separate into layers, add the beaten egg whites to the gelatin-custard mixture while the mixture is hot.

Cook that custard mixture over simmering, not boiling, water if you want a very smooth result.

Weave strips of cheese, lattice fashion, over hamburgers that have been cooked. Place under broiler just long enough to melt cheese slightly.

If you want your baking-powder biscuits to have soft edges, bake them close together so sides touch. For crusty sides, bake the biscuits at least an inch apart.

Use a 1/4-cup measure, from a fractional cup measuring set, for pouring pancake batter onto the griddle. This way the pancakes will be of uniform size. And wait until underside is brown before flipping pancakes.

To prepare poultry stuffing ahead, measure and mix the bread crumbs or cubes and add the dry seasoning. Do not add moist and liquid ingredients such as sauteed onions and celery and broth until you actually make up the stuffing just before you stuff the bird and put it in the oven.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband who now is in Vietnam brought me and our little boy to his parents' home to live for a year while he is away. I am from the Philippines and have no friends or relatives in this country. My in-laws have been very kind to me and seem to like me very much.

Now, my problem: My husband has a 19-year-old brother who made me feel at once like a sister. On his days off he has taken me and my little boy to the beach and to the park and for drives. We were so happy. But last night a terrible thing happened. Around midnight when I was undressing for bed I heard my doorknob turn and before I knew it Brother was inside my bedroom. I didn't scream because I didn't want to wake my little boy who sleeps with me, but I angrily motioned for Brother to get out and I opened the door. At that moment I saw my mother-in-law going from her bedroom to Brother's room. Seeing he was not there she went in and waited for him. Brother and I were frightened and just sat on my bed waiting for her to go back to her room. She didn't, instead she came into my room and when she saw us sitting there she started to yell terrible things at me. God knows nothing happened, but she blamed me, saying Brother was only 19 and I must have encouraged him. That is a lie, Abby. Then she said she wanted me out of the house by morning. My father-in-law got up and he said I was staying, and nobody was to write my husband anything about it. Meanwhile Brother didn't say that it was all his fault, he just cried like a baby.

Abby, I am so upset. How can I stay here now? Yet, how can I go home without upsetting my husband? He is sure to find out if I leave. What shall I tell him? Please tell me what to do. I am so lost and confused.

INNOCENT: Stay. The truth will become evident very soon. Tell your father-in-law exactly what happened. He will believe you, and it won't take long before Brother admits that you were blameless. No one should write your husband about this. Time heals all wounds. (And wounds all heal.)

DEAR ABBY: At work yesterday we discussed the man who wrote to admit that he had been "aroused" by the sight of his own shapely teenaged daughters running around the house half-clad.

We all agreed that no normal father who had watched his daughters grow from babyhood would be "aroused" in this manner, but then we are all women, so perhaps we're wrong. What about doctors? Pity the doctor's wife whose husband is "aroused" by the sight of his women patients. Also pity the poor doctor.

Of course, we disregard the man who faints at the sight of a bare knee. He probably lies unconscious somewhere, as there are a lot of bare knees around these days. MARILYN Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Christmas Trees Arrive Bit Early

NOME, Alaska (AP) — Residents got a September preview of the holidays when a ship arrived bringing Christmas trees — plastic ones. Plastic trees are the only kind available in this town about 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle. The nearest live trees are about 74 miles away and heavy snow usually prevents delivery of freshly cut spruce.

Two Brothers Killed Latin Lover Navarro

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two young brothers were convicted of first-degree murder Wednesday in the brutal slaying last year of Ramon Navarro, last of the dashing Latin lovers of the silent screen.

The seven-man, five-woman jury returned the verdict against Paul Ferguson, 23, and his brother Thomas, 18, soon after beginning its second day of deliberation.

The brothers, from a Chicago suburb, maintained their innocence throughout the trial before Superior Court Judge Mark Bandler. Each blamed the other for the 69-year-old actor's death.

Navarro's nude, bound body was found last Oct. 31 in a blood-spattered bedroom of his luxurious $150,000 home in suburban Studio City.

Police said he had been bludgeoned with a cane he kept as a memento from one of his movies. He suffocated in his own blood, officers said.

The younger brother will receive an automatic life sentence because he was a minor, 17 years of age, when the crime was committed. The elder brother faces a penalty of either life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber. The penalty will be set by the same jury.

Herefords For Sale Selected

Eleven heifers and 56 bulls, all registered Herefords, were chosen Monday from 10 area breeders for a consignment sale Nov. 14. The Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association, Inc., sponsored the tour and Lee Reed, Sterling City, gave the nod to all the cattle that had been registered for the sale.

The annual sale, at the Fair Grounds, is designed to promote interest in registered Hereford breeding, according to Jimmy Taylor, secretary of the association.

State's Oldest Citizens Honored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California has honored two American Indians—proclaimed the state's oldest citizens with 232 years between them—by presenting them with hand-carved wooden statues of grizzly bears.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke officiated at the brief ceremony for Mrs. Tatzumie DuPea, a 120-year-old Paiute, and Chief Sitting Bull, who claims to be the 112-year-old son of Sitting Bull.

They were proclaimed the state's oldest citizens recently by the California Bicentennial Celebration Commission. Their names were inscribed in silver on the statues.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Learn what your family expect of you. Instead of telling them what to do. Come to a true understanding. Have meetings at home instead of outside. Make a good impression on others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): A good day to listen to what your associates have to suggest. Coordinate ideas for a better working relationship. Take time for visiting this afternoon. Don't neglect a plan made for you will regret it later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): If you show others that you are practical in business and personal matters, you will find they can be more cooperative and helpful. Get advice on how to cut expenses. Prepare for greater success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You are able to put your greatest plans to work. Plan for a good time with friends who enjoy similar interests. Try not to take unnecessary chances.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Study financial affairs. See how you can solve certain problems. Long troubling you. An expert has the right answers for you where work is concerned, if you ask for them. You will be happier if you keep busy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Instead of complaining about dull work you feel obliged to do, have fun with dynamic, happy friends. Then you can come back and work quickly. This is a good day to repay a social obligation.

Flash Floods Wash Lubbock

By The Associated Press

A strong thunderstorm struck Lubbock early today, causing flash flooding and electrical failure in west and southwest portions of the city.

Other thunderstorm activity in the Texas Panhandle dumped 1.05 inches of rain on Dalhart. The turbulent weather followed a tornado alert late Wednesday night for upper Panhandle counties. Menacing funnels were sighted in Oklahoma, but no twisters developed in Texas.

Lubbock police said the violent deluge sent water racing through at least a dozen homes. An estimated 60 motorists were stranded when two to three inches of rain fell within two hours.

An emergency Civil Defense headquarters was set up in the Lubbock city hall, but police said there were no reported injuries.

Thundershowers also fell in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, in West Texas and in Southeast Texas.

Light showers fell in the Galveston vicinity. The moisture began to taper off at dawn except in Panhandle and West Texas regions.

WHICH IS THE TIGER? — John Hussey and Pat May (seated) are the principals in "The Tiger," second of two plays being produced Friday and Saturday at the Cosden Club. Kathy McLain, director, is helping them with their lines.

Interim Sheriff Minus Several Of His Deputies

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP) — Interim Sheriff Tom D. Easley of Hardin County was without several of his deputies today after the men walked off their jobs.

Seven of the county's 10 sheriff's deputies left work Wednesday. Some said they would not serve under Easley, appointed to fill the post left by the death of Henry Overstreet.

Deputies Lester Cowart and Herbert Hargraves said they quit the department because the commissioner's court had "acted directly opposite to Mrs. Overstreet's wishes that a dedicated man who would carry out her late husband's work be appointed to the vacancy."

Easley lost a bid for election to the sheriff's office in 1964, the year Overstreet was elected to his first term.

No election date has been set to name Overstreet's permanent successor.

Juveniles Held

Five juveniles were referred to Keith Jones, juvenile officer, Wednesday for counseling. Three girls, ages 10, 11 and 12, were referred by the police department for destroying property; two boys were referred by the police department for fighting, and a 16-year-old boy was referred by his parents for a domestic problem.

Supper Theatre To Open Friday

The last minute details have been worked out and the Little Theatre of Big Spring will open its Fall supper theatre Friday at the Cosden Club, offering two one-act plays — "The Tiger" and "A Perfect Analysis Given By A Parrot."

Buffet dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday evenings, and curtain will open on the plays at 8 p.m. Reservations will be taken as late as early Friday morning for the performance that evening, and until Saturday morning for the final performance.

No tickets will be sold at the door, and those attending are not required to be Cosden Club members. Reservations may be had by calling 7-8033.

Unusual set designs have been prepared for both productions by Clark Frayser, and publicity photos were made by Pete Stone.
