FROM COMBAT Nonreligious Objectors Exempt?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to hear a dispute over whether nonreligious objectors to the Vietnam war have a right to be exempt from combat.

Two cases that bear on this question will be heard at a date yet to be set. Both are tests of the conscientious objector provision of the 1967 draft law.

The law grants exemptions only to men who oppose war because of "religious training and belief."

In one case the government is appealing a ruling by Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. of Boston that this distinction amounts to unconstitutional discrimination.

In the other case, a Los Angeles computer engineer, Elliott Ashton Walsh, II, is appearing a three-year prison sentence for refusing Army induction.

Record Cold Today

If it seemed colder on awakening this morning, that's because it was the coldest Oct. 13 on record, a chilling 35 degrees. Previously the lowest temperature on this day had been 40 degrees in 1909 and again in 1940.

Kennedy Backs Moratorium

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today the present direction of Nixon administration policy will not achieve peace in Vietnam.

Kennedy told reporters he will offer his own ideas on how peace can be achieved in a speech he plans in Boston Wednesday, the day of the Vietnam moratorium.

The speech will be to the World Affairs Council, which he said is largely an organization of businessmen interested in international relations.

Kennedy said he supports the moratorium, feeling it can serve a useful purpose.

Asked if he agrees with Republican statements that progress towards peace depends on unity behind President Nixon's policies, Kennedy replied:

"I have always thought we could obtain unity by working out a consensus on which all could agree, not by following a course blindly.

"Many people are frustrated by the present course."

Second Peace Officer Dies

HALLETTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A second peace officer died Sunday of wounds suffered in a shooting incident two weeks ago.

Deputy Sheriff Albert Jakubek, 61, died Sunday.

Also killed in the incident was Sheriff Ronnie Dodds. The officers were taking two men to jail after a disturbance near Shiners when a prisoner shot both officers in the back and neck.

Stunt Flyer Identified

JASPER, Tex. (AP) — A stunt flyer from Irving died Sunday when his plane crashed and burned after striking trees when the pilot tried to roll his plane on takeoff.

The victim was identified as J. B. Ponder, 30.

Ponder was a member of an aerobatic team putting on a show at the Jasper airport.

Father-Son Tragedy

LA PUENTE, Calif. (AP) — "I'm sorry, Eddie, I didn't know it was you," sobbed Edward Lira Sr. over the body of his son whom police said Lira accidentally shot and killed Sunday night.

Lira, who was not arrested, told officers he had been on edge because his family had been threatened in connection with recent neighborhood gang fights.

He was frightened when he heard someone running toward the house and fired his rifle in the darkness. His son, Edward Jr., 21, fell dead in front of the house. A companion, Steven Rodriguez, 22, suffered a flesh wound.

SALARIES, ALLOWANCES CAN'T COPE WITH RISING LIVING COSTS

Military Families On Welfare

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of servicemen have been forced to put their families on the nation's welfare rolls because their military salaries and allowances can't cope with rising living costs.

From New Jersey to California, an Associated Press study showed, public welfare agencies are supplementing allotment checks from Vietnam, paying the rent of married draftees, or buying groceries for families whose breadwinners serve overseas.

The problem is compounded in many areas by a shortage of on-base quarters for military families. The shortage results in part from a sharp increase in the number of married men in uniform—in the Army's lower ranks, for example, the number of married men has jumped 37 per cent in three years.

The precise number of military families on welfare isn't known—their names are hidden in the bureaucratic morass of state and local welfare departments.

But Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird recently estimated that 50,000 service families could qualify for public assistance under President Nixon's proposed welfare program.

HARDSHIPS
"Too many families suffer financial hardships, some of whom are forced to go on welfare to survive," said Laird, who—under congressional prodding—has ordered a nationwide survey to determine the number of military welfare cases.

The last Pentagon report, made four years ago, disclosed 20,000 military families were receiving some sort of public assistance, and that more than a third of all men—including officers—moonlighted at some time during the year to bolster their income. The Nixon welfare plan, now before Congress, sets $3,920 a year as the poverty level for a family of four. Pentagon figures show that 1.2 million men in the armed forces' lowest three ranks receive less than that amount annually.

The Nixon proposals, however, specifically exclude servicemen from coverage. Poverty in the military, reasons a federal welfare official, should be taken care of under the military pay act, not through welfare.

FOOD STAMPS
Using Pentagon figures, the National Council on Hunger and Malnutrition calculates that about 200,000 military families are eligible for the Agriculture Department's food stamp program.

The Defense Department, however, bans use of food stamps in its 315 commissaries.

At an Army base near Washington, a military family service agency put together a sample budget to meet the minimum needs of a corporal with a wife and child. Despite the low prices available in commissaries and post exchange stores, the agency concluded the family "must live below the poverty level in this area."

As a result, it said, the soldier must either moonlight, babysit while his wife works nights, seek help from relatives or turn to welfare.

In a rundown trailer camp in Browns Mills, N.J., for example, a 20-year-old Air Force enlisted man lives with his wife and infant son. They tried getting by on the $265 a month in pay and allowances he earns as an airman first class at nearby McGuire Air Force Base, but couldn't make it.

New Jersey welfare officials figured the family needed $400 a

INTO ORBIT — Veteran Russian cosmonauts Alexei Yeliseyev, left, and Vladimir Shataov, right, were sent into space today by the Soviet Union aboard the spacecraft Soyuz 8. They joined Soyuz 6, launched Saturday, and Soyuz 7, put into orbit Sunday. It is the first time three spaceships have been put into orbit at the same time. Photos from the Soviet news agency, Tass.

Russians Orbit Third Spaceship

Seven Cosmonauts Expected To Build

MOSCOW (AP) — Two veteran Soviet cosmonauts blasted into space today to chase five of their orbiting comrades in what may turn out to be the most complex earth-orbit mission yet.

Tass news agency said all seven cosmonauts feel fine and that equipment aboard the three Soyuz—Union—spacecraft is working normally.

Soyuz 7 and Soyuz 8 were expected to dock soon while Soyuz 6 maneuvers around them. The mission is a step toward construction of an orbital space station or platform.

Cosmonauts Vladimir Shatalov and Alexei Yeliseyev, veteran of a Soviet manned space shot nine months ago, rode Soyuz 8 from the central Asian Baikonur launchpad into orbit today.

Aloft, waiting for them, were Georgy Shonin and Valery Kubasov in Soyuz 6, launched Saturday; and Anatoly Filipchenko, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Gorbatko, put into orbit Sunday.

Official announcements indicated today's launching was the last planned in this experiment. How much of the equipment will be left behind in space after the task is completed remains a mystery.

Each Soyuz spacecraft is believed capable of carrying four men, allowing for the possibility that one ship could be left in orbit while four men return to earth in one craft and three in the other.

The Soviet Union has not produced a major first in manned space flight since Alexei Leonov took the first space walk in March, 1965. The United States does not plan to put up an orbiting platform until mid-1972.

CHECKING THE DAMAGE — Mrs. Robert Willis and one of her children check damage from tornado which jumped around Garland, Tex., a suburb of Dallas, Sunday. Mrs. Willis' garage was demolished and a portion of it landed on her car parked near the house. No injuries or deaths were reported in the skip and jump tornado.

Cold Temperatures Recorded In Texas

A cold front which whipped through Texas over the weekend has pushed into the Gulf of Mexico today, leaving behind heavy rainfalls and cold temperatures.

The cold air, clashing with warm, moist winds from the Gulf, set off tornadoes and violent weather across the state Sunday.

Temperatures in the 20s were posted in the Panhandle behind the front early today with Dalt's 25 the lowest followed by 28s at Amarillo and Lubbock.

As the front moved out of the state early today, weathermen predicted clearing skies and the end of rain which had fallen through the weekend.

This morning, rains of 3.98 inches were measured at Dallas while Mineral Wells had 2.84 inches and Fort Worth had 2.85. Other rains of an inch or more were recorded at College Station, Corpus Christi, Galveston, Longview, San Antonio, Brownsville, Victoria and Waco.

Also reporting heavy rains were Aledo 2.90, Alvarado 2.50, Anna 3.20, Avalon 2.18, Boyd 3.18, Burleson 2.38, Carrollton 2.92, Celina 2.00, Cresson 2.75, Decatur 3.15, Frisco 2.75, Gainesville 2.55, Gunter 4.28, Justin 3.18, McKinney 4.30, Muenster 2.45, Pilot Point 2.49, Roanoke 2.67.

Also, Springtown 4.29, Valley View 3.15, Bonham 2.60, Denison 3.20, Buchanan Dam 2.70, Burnet 3.90, Georgetown 2.05, Hwy 250, Spicewood 3.08, Tow 2.35, Coleman 2.05, Kerrville 5.07, Doks 2.15, Baird 2.00, Goldthwaite 3.61, Stonewall 2.27.

At dawn, the only showers reported were around Brownsville. Skies began to clear early today, leaving cold and dry winds to blow across the state.

While Panhandle residents were shivering, South Texas was still enjoying balmy temperatures. Brownsville reported readings in the 70s shortly before dawn.

A torrential downpour lashed Dallas and Collin counties early Sunday, accompanied by tornadoes near Sachse, Princeton, Wylie and Garland.

Several houses lost their roofs, and three businesses in the Dallas suburb of Garland were damaged. The downpour left 2.29 inches of rain on Dallas, and flash flood warnings were issued there and in Fort Worth.

The Garland twister played a sometimes-typical tornado trick—damaging some houses and leaving neighboring residences untouched.

Fallen trees, bent television antennae and ripped shingles marked the tornado's path, and several units of one apartment house were unroofed. Many cars were demolished.

One report said 20 manufacturing firms and business houses in the Garland industrial district were hit by the twister but estimates of damage were not available at once.

Supreme Court To Hear Welfare Ceilings Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to hear arguments on whether states can set limits on a family's welfare assistance.

The court will consider an appeal from Maryland, where a $250-a-month family maximum was ruled illegal last March by a Federal court in Baltimore.

At the same time the high court took on an appeal that questions a $10 million a month reduction in welfare assistance to families in New York state.

Attorneys for 10 welfare clients say the reduction, begun last summer, conflicts with a congressional command that Aid to Families with Dependent Children payments be increased to reflect an increase in welfare living costs.

The two appeals, granted review as the court got down to business for the new term, expand the already searching inquiry the court will make this year into the rights of the poor.

Twenty-seven states set ceilings on the amount of money any one family could receive under Aid to Families with Dependent Children. The program is funded by the federal government and the states.

The court in Baltimore said children in large families were deprived of their right to assistance. The court found the Maryland regulations violated Congress' objective to provide aid to "all eligible individuals."

Maryland's attorney general, Francis B. Burch, asked the Supreme Court to approve Maryland's maximum grant policy. He said it provides work incentives and insures "that families dependent on public welfare are not afforded an economic insulation from the cost of child-bearing."

Burch said invalidation of the ceilings would cost the state about $1,440,000 a year.

The New York legislature authorized a cut in over-all AFDC expenditures last March in response to "the spiraling rise of public assistance rolls."

The 10 welfare families, in behalf of the 850,000 mothers and children who receive AFDC aid in the state, obtained an order temporarily blocking the cut-back in April from Federal Judge Jack B. Weinstein of Brooklyn.

Judge Weinstein was overruled by the U.S. Circuit Court in New York City and the families appealed to the Supreme Court.

The average monthly grant for a family of four in New York City under the old law was $250.84 and under the revised system is $208; for a family of seven the old payment was $418.97, the new payment, $340.

About 675,000 of the AFDC recipients live in New York City.

The legislation also pegged maximum monthly grants at a lower figure outside New York City than within the city. The appeal challenged this provision, too, but after the suit was begun New York authorized its welfare officials to equalize monthly payments when desirable.

The appeal said the cost of living rose in New York 10.1 per cent from May, 1968, to last July, the date set by the legislation for the new payments schedule.

Traffic Flow Across Border Still Drags

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Traffic across the international border inched closer to normal today as the United States eased anti-narcotics controls, but Mexican businessmen reported commercial activity "far below" usual levels.

Washington announced Friday the termination of Operation Intercept, designed to curb the inflow of narcotics from Mexico.

The action followed criticism by U.S. congressional leaders that the operation was harming relations and trade between the two countries.

Intercept is being replaced by Operation Cooperation, a U.S.-Mexican effort to curb narcotics flow across the border.

"It's still too early to say what effect Operation Cooperation will have on tourism," said Manuel Levva, operator of one of Tijuana's largest liquor stores. "But right now business still is down by some 50 percent."

This appeared to be the consensus among businessmen catering to American tourists here and in other Mexican border cities.

Cars were still being inspected as they crossed the border, although not as thoroughly as during Intercept. Searches appeared to be averaging about 30 seconds here Sunday afternoon.

U.S. Customs officers at San Ysidro declined to disclose traffic flow figures.

Traffic across the border was reported "light" at Laredo and El Paso, Tex., with no crossing jams as in the past. In Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, loudspeakers continued to urge Mexicans to do their shopping on their side of the border.

Generally, Mexican businessmen here appeared elated with the lifting of Operation Intercept, but were concerned about the future effects of Operation Cooperation.

Liquor stores here appeared to be the most seriously affected by the border searches.

"California residents are not allowed to take any liquor into the U.S.," said one liquor store owner. "In the old days it was possible to smuggle a few bottles across. But that's out now with the searches."

Normally, U.S. citizens are allowed to bring one quart of liquor from abroad, but California bans its residents from doing so.

There was no official sign here of how Mexico planned to cooperate in the narcotics drive under Operation Cooperation.

Tijuana is regarded as the major distribution point for north-bound traffic in heroin, marijuana and pills.

WAVE OF PROTEST STARTING TO BREAK OVER NATION Chances Of Quick Peace Shattered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, facing a new wave of protests breaking across the nation, says chances of a quick negotiated Vietnam peace have been shattered by the noise of dissent.

"There is so much dissent here and there are so many voices being heard that I think they (the North Vietnamese) must have the feeling that the President doesn't have the amount of support necessary to carry on for a long time," Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday.

CHALLENGES

"There hasn't been any progress in Paris for the last two or three months," he said, "and I would doubt very much that there would be any progress unless it is clear that President Nixon's policy is supported by the American people."

This apparent disunity, Rogers said, all but rules out "any possibility of a negotiated settlement, at least for two months."

Rogers' somber assessment of domestic dissent came three days before antiwar forces open a series of demonstrations described by organizers as a moratorium on routine life designed to show the nation's concern with the war.

"Position from moratorium leaders, politicians of both parties and educators."

SAME STORY

"For years we've heard the repetition of this same old fallow argument," Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Sunday. "You must not speak up, even though you are a free people, because somehow this will not set well somewhere else and upset the President's plans."

Rogers was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press," while Church spoke on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Sam Brown, leader of Wednesday's moratorium movement, disputed that the protests are aimed at destroying President Nixon or any other person.

"I think Vietnam is probably the most calamitous mistake that has ever been made in the diplomatic history of the United States and if this war persists, it will also destroy President Nixon, but that won't be the work of the dissenters," Brown said.

He was interviewed on the CBS program, "Face the Nation."

NO VIOLENCE

Another key political dissenter, Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., said "the purpose of our dissent is constructive."

Goodell also made his statements on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Although President Nixon has said he will not be affected by the moratorium, some of his officials have indicated support for the movement.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, the Republican National Committee chairman, has endorsed the concept of the student-organized protest—a series of rallies, leafleting, and discussions—if there is no violence.

Even Secretary Rogers had some favorable, if highly qualified, words to say.

"If the spirit of the moratorium is to be constructive and to help the President and assist the country in this difficult period, that's fine," Rogers said.

"If, on the other hand, the spirit is 'You accept our decision, Mr. President, or else,' if it's coercive, then it could be very disruptive."

ATTENTION

Other and more expected support came from New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, a constant critic of the war. He asked all New Yorkers to meditate on the war "in which we are all participants, and in which we are all victims."

Protest leader Brown said Nixon, in spite of his statement, "is paying a great deal of attention to the moratorium."

He pointed to Nixon's discharge of Gen. Lewis B. Hershey as head of the draft system, his current review of war policy, including the recall of chief negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge from Paris for consultations on the eve of the protests.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield also said the President "can't avoid taking cognizance of the protests. The Montana senator said in an interview he hopes the moratorium will be peaceful and constructive, and thus helpful to the President."

FASTER, FASTER

Nixon also continued to be pressured for a faster withdrawal of U.S. troops from the war zone, either in total and immediately or at a faster rate than now projected.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, said today "The United States must cease all offensive military action in Vietnam at once and proceed to withdraw all combat forces as swiftly as can be done without endangering American lives."

Moss, in a speech prepared for floor delivery, said he doubts any settlement can ever be negotiated with the Viet Cong. "We must disengage at once," he said.

The presidents of 70 colleges and universities issued a statement over the weekend urging the President to step up the timetable for withdrawing American troops.

Saying they spoke only as individuals, the educators stated "there are times to be silent and times to speak. This is a time to speak."

The calls for immediate withdrawals were criticized by Rogers and other administration supporters.

"If you set a target date for withdrawal of troops unrelated to events in South Vietnam," Rogers said, "We'd do two things: One, we'd make negotiations impossible because obviously the enemy is not going to negotiate if he knows that in six months we're going to withdraw our troops."

WAY OUT

"Secondly, if we did take the troops out, the enemy would just wait until a propitious time and then make an attack."

WINTER HANGOVER — The Denver area is knee-deep in snow after a second heavy snowstorm hit the area in just over a week. This latest storm dumped an additional foot of white stuff bringing the total to 27 inches for the month so far. Thousands of tree branches have snapped off under the weight of the snow and utilities crews have worked around the clock trying to restore power to many of the areas hit by the autumn storms.

Goldberg Chides Violence By SDS

CHICAGO (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg, former U.S. Supreme Court justice and former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, Sunday chided violence by Students for a Democratic Society as a step toward anarchy.

Goldberg said at a news conference that he is in favor of legitimate dissent but that rioting in Chicago streets by SDS members who call themselves Weathermen did not fall into this category.

Drifting Snow Warnings Issued

A severe winter storm raged from parts of the Rockies through the Central states Sunday night and early today leaving drifts of up to 12 feet piled in parts of Colorado and Wyoming.

Travelers were warned of hazardous conditions from blowing and drifting snow over most of the east slopes of the Rockies, the Northern Plains and southward into Kansas.

Up to seven inches of snow fell in portions of Nebraska and Kansas and freezing temperatures were in effect for the Northern Plains and into the high plains of Kansas and Nebraska as well as New Mexico and parts of Oklahoma.

Colorado state highway patrolmen reported five dead in weather-caused traffic accidents.

Beyond the snow belt, torrential rains fell along a cold front from south and east Texas to Minnesota.

The heavy rains caused extensive flooding in Missouri and promised more of the same from Eastern Oklahoma to central Illinois.

Rainfall totals reached 10 inches in Oklahoma, 9 inches in Illinois and 8½ inches in Missouri.

The huge storm center also brought great contrast with the severe cold in the Plains and Rockies as unusual summerlike temperatures spread from the Gulf Coast to the Ohio Valley.

The weather was generally fair over the Atlantic states, the Far West and the southwestern states.

Tropical storm Kara turned Sunday and headed on a slow southwestward course almost parallel with the coastline of the Carolinas.

With winds swirling up to near-hurricane strength, some up to 65 miles per hour, Kara was drifting toward Florida but the National Hurricane Center in Miami said the future course of the storm probably was subject to change.

Predawn temperatures ranged from zero at Laramie, Wyo., to 83 Brownsville, Tex.

Pool Nuclear Arms Appeal

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Fraz Josef Strauss, West Germany's finance minister, has renewed his appeal for Britain and France to pool nuclear arms.

He said at ceremonies dedicating the new Coliseum of South Carolina Sunday such a pooling would produce the core of an effective European atomic force.

Strauss, a former defense minister, also proposed that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be transformed into an American-European defense grouping.

He said there is no room in Europe today "for a purely national defense policy. That is why in the long run we need a European defense organization."

Strauss said authority over European nuclear arms could be held by the president of a European federation.

Pass Pass 1♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—This hand is worth about 13 points in support of hearts, and the suggested call is a jump to three hearts. This would be an overbid in case you had not passed originally but, if partner has made a shaded bid, he need not go on.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J2 ♥QJ95 ♦Q1076 ♣KQ6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—A response of two no trump is our choice. This is not up to the standard of a two no trump response but, in view of the previous pass, such a call may be made with 12 or 13 points. This hand contains 11, plus some slight values in the way of intermediates.

Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q54 ♥A109753 ♣7654
The bidding has proceeded:

1♠ 1♥ 2♠ 3♥
4♦ 4♥ 6♣ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—In this situation, we would fear that the enemy can fulfill their slam contract and would choose to make a sacrifice bid of six hearts, but preparatory to doing so we would make a call of six diamonds so that the enemy proceeds to seven clubs your partner will be apprised of your void in diamonds. Naturally, if doubting, it is your purpose to return to six hearts.

The bidding has proceeded:

2♥ Pass 4♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four no trump. A Blackwood call is recommended. It is not impressive in view of partner's strong bidding that he has three aces. If so, you should be willing to contract for slam. There is no real danger of getting overboard, for surely partner would not do such strong bidding without two aces.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

3♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four clubs. Since you have better than an opening bid, you should make one more try for game and the recommended call is four clubs. It is hard to visualize a hand on which a 10-trick contract would not be safe on this sequence of bids.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K2 ♥Q102 ♦AQ104 ♣AQJ8
The bidding has proceeded:

What do you bid?
A.—Our choice is for a bid of one no trump, which is preferred to the double for the reason that you have not ample preparation for the major suits. If partner chooses to bid hearts voluntarily, you will be prepared to support the suit.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

What do you bid now?

Site Of First Sermon Dedicated At Colo. City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Mitchell County Historical committee and Colorado City Presbyterians joined Saturday to dedicate a historical marker commemorating the first sermon preached in Colorado City, which was by Presbyterian minister, the Rev. O. F. Rogers, on Jan. 9, 1881 in the Lone Wolf Saloon.

Dr. Douglas M. McMurray, of Midland, was master of ceremonies and Dr. John Elliott, of Fort Worth, son of a former pastor of the church, related the church history.

Mrs. H. D. Womack, a member of the church since 1911, cut the ribbon and Mrs. Roland Burchard, Sacramento, Calif., dedicated the marker.

Mrs. A. L. Geer, chairman of the historical association, was in charge of the program.

Plan Massive 'Black Monday'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Charging that the all-white Memphis School Board has insulted and humiliated the black community, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People planned a massive "black Monday" effort here today.

The NAACP also asked a meeting today with Frank Holoman, the city police director, to discuss the slaying of a Negro youth by a policeman over the weekend.

Lucious Gross III, 18, was killed while running from the scene of a grocery store burglary, officers said.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: In the 25 years "Tiny" and I have been married, he has gained and lost the same 90 pounds at least five times.

Each time Tiny has a weight loss he is so proud, he treats himself to a new wardrobe. But he doesn't wear it long because he puts the weight back in no time.

He has two closets filled with practically brand-new suits to fit a 160-pounder, a 190-pounder, a 220-pounder, and right now he is wearing suits to fit a 250-pounder — because that's what he weighs!

When I tell him I want to give away some of those suits he's had hanging in his closet for 15 years, he blows his top. I think it's a crime to let perfectly good suits hang there when somebody could get some use out of them. The same goes for shirts and shoes. What do you think?

TINY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I'm with you. Call the GOODWILL INDUSTRIES and let them pick up Tiny's "outgrown" wardrobes. Their resale shops put money back into the GOODWILL organization whose policy it is to employ the handicapped, and teach them to recondition furniture, appliances, and clothing, thus becoming employable, self-respecting wage earners. Now if that isn't more important than hoarding clothes (that are going out of style anyway) I don't know what is!

DEAR ABBY: This is to "FAITHFUL READER" who thinks he is possibly the oldest person ever to write to Dear Abby:

You say you will be 81 in September? Well, I was 91 in August, so stop your bragging, young fellow. I have written to Dear Abby several times over the years and listen to her on CBS radio nearly every morning.

Your story on how your mother discouraged unbidden guests reminded me of a similar experience. We had a beautiful cherry tree which bore delicious fruit. One day a city friend, learning of the cherries, exclaimed, "Oh, how wonderful! I am coming out to get some."

"Fine," said my wife. "We sell them to help pay off the mortgage."

The lady never came. Sincerely yours,

AN M.D. IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

DEAR "M.D.": Thank you for your warm letter. I see by your signature that you are a doctor. You could make me give up

Sonja Just Slept Away, Husband Says

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Sonja Henie, who put ice skating into show business and made millions, will be buried in her native Norway.

Miss Henie died Sunday night aboard an ambulance plane bringing her home from a vacation in France with her third husband, shipping magnate Niels Onstad. She was 57 and had been suffering from leukemia for nine months, but the public and most of her friends did not know.

The condition of the three-time Olympic gold medalist suddenly worsened in Paris and a doctor who was called in advised Onstad to take her home.

"We had been flying only an hour and she just slept away," the husband said.

Miss Henie kept up her skating—and her 110-pound, 5-foot-2 figure—after she stopped performing in the mid-1950s, but after her marriage to Onstad in 1956 she devoted more and more time to the outstanding collection of modern art which he had started.

In 1958, the Onstads gave Norway 250 of their paintings, housing them in the $3.5 million Hovikodden Art Center which they built outside Oslo. Miss Henie's many skating trophies have been on display in the art center since last year, and recently she announced plans to build a retirement home next to the museum.

An American citizen since 1941, Miss Henie kept a mansion in the Holmby Hills section of Los Angeles and she and Onstad also maintained an estate near Oslo and an apartment in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Her success story began with a family Christmas gift of skates in 1920, when she was a chubby 8-year-old blonde. The following year she won Oslo's junior skating championship, and three years later competed in her first Olympics—finishing last.

She won her first world figure skating championship in 1927, and new titles came in quick succession: her first Olympics gold medal in 1928, again in 1932 and 1936; the European championship every year from 1929 through 1936.

She turned professional in 1936, making a tour of the United States in an ice show. Her skill and showmanship, her flashing smile and brilliant technique, and her lavish productions of dance on ice captivated the public and packed arenas across the country.

She told interviewers that she wanted to go into the movies, "to do with skates what Fred Astaire is doing with dancing." When her show reached Hollywood, the story goes, her manager breathlessly reported that producer Darryl Zanuck was at the arena.

"What shall I do?" he asked. "Sell him a ticket," Miss Henie answered.

Zanuck offered her $10,000 a picture, but she held out for $100,000. Negotiations stalled briefly, then Zanuck's aide let her know that the producer wanted to see her.

"Then let Mr. Zanuck call me," she replied.

They finally got together, and her films reportedly grossed $25 million.

Miss Henie's first husband was millionaire sportsman Dan Topping, whom she divorced in 1946 after a 5½-year marriage. She married Winthrop Gardiner Jr., scion of an old New York family, in 1949. They were divorced in May, 1956, and she married Onstad the next month.

DIES — Sonja Henie, Norwegian ice skating queen and film star, died Sunday night while returning home to Oslo, Norway, from Paris, France. She was 57. Miss Henie, who won many international skating awards, including three Olympic gold medals, had been suffering from leukemia for the past nine months.

Five Girls Linked To Knifing Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Five teen-age girls and a youth were charged Sunday with the knifing death of a girl, the city's 33rd victim of juvenile gang violence this year.

Police said a group of about 20 teen-agers attacked Linda Rountree, 15, Saturday night after leaving a restaurant with three friends.

Two of the friends fled. The third fought his way to the wounded girl, picked her up and carried her one block to where he hailed a policeman, police said.

Linda died Sunday of stab wounds of the back and chest.

The six arrested were charged with murder and conspiracy. Police said the girls in custody were associated with a gang and that four are pupils at a disciplinary school for girls.

MPs Use Gas To Rout Swarming Militants

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — Some 5,000 demonstrators against the Vietnam war, Army justice and the treatment of racial militants swarmed on this post Sunday in a confrontation with 1,000 military policemen.

The demonstration brought together members of such varied organizations as the Catholic Peace Fellowship, the Black Panther party, the Puerto Rican Young Lords and students from Princeton, Columbia, New York and other universities in the area.

The demonstration was organized at a coffee house in nearby Wrightstown which has served as a meeting place for dissident Ft. Dix personnel.

The protesters marched to Ft. Dix under the banner of the "Committee to Save the Ft. Dix 38"—reference to a group of servicemen accused of fomenting a riot while imprisoned in the base stockade last June.

While military police barricaded road entrances to the base, the demonstrators, mostly young and including a number of helmeted young women, veered off the highway into the empty field.

Within minutes hundreds of gas-masked MPs arrived to repel the marchers.

The two groups confronted each other at close quarters with the demonstrators inches away from the troops' bayonets. Many shouted, "We're on your side!" and "The brass lives high and GIs die!"

After repeated appeals to the demonstrators to leave, Col. Bernard Carr, post provost marshal, gave the order to fire the tear gas.

Army spokesmen said rifles carried by the MPs were not loaded, although bayonets were attached.

The Army contends that only 35 men were involved in the stockade disturbance, that only four have been sentenced so far and that investigation's still pending for only six.

Hunters Find 'Death' Plane

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — A Cessna aircraft carrying three Texas businessmen and their Costa Rican pilot was found by searchers Sunday. Two men who were left in the wreckage to await help were no longer there when the search party arrived.

Rescuers said they believed Robert McKay and pilot Hugo Vargas left the crash site to look for the sea.

Enrico Devoto and Ken Cook, the other two passengers, were less seriously hurt and walked 2½ days through jungles to reach the sea and send help for McKay and Vargas.

Youth Carried Mile Through Storm Sewer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 12-year-old Dallas boy suffered only bruised ribs and skinned knees Sunday after being carried nearly a mile through a storm sewer by fast-moving water.

"I was plenty scared. It seemed like I was in there for a week," said Paul Ernest Buckner.

The youngster said the incident started when he and a companion decided to play in the gutters near his home after a torrential Sunday morning downpour.

"We were just lying down in the water and letting it carry us along. We'd jump out before we got to the sewer... only one time I didn't make it," said young Buckner.

That began a terrifying trip for the youth, during which he said he could see daylight through the openings of man-hole covers, but was unable to open any of them.

Young Buckner said he swam and floated most of the way to the end of the pitch-black sewer line.

After scrambling up the side of a drainage ditch at the end of his fantastic voyage, Paul said he would never again go back.

"You can be sure of that!"

Will Sidestep Bond Request

DALLAS (AP) — The chairman of the Dallas Vietnam Moratorium Committee said Friday that the Dallas Park Department has told his groups they must post a $10,000 bond for use of a public park Wednesday.

Norman Riffe said he was also told that the group would have to hire four policemen and pay them.

Riffe said no other peace group has had to put up such a bond.

Riffe said his group is responsible, and consists mostly of middle-class citizens.

"I don't know why they would want to do this to us when they don't do it to other people like the hippies in Lee Park," Riffe said.

Committee spokesmen said they will sidestep the park department request by meeting away from but near the park property.

Fund Reports Head Agenda

Financial statements head the agenda for Tuesday's 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees and include bills paid in September, bills payable in October, and a general statement of budget funds as of Sept. 30.

Also on the agenda is the approval of preliminary applications for foundation funds 1966-70, a proposal from Park Hill PTA for campus improvement, a proposal for a new vocational project, two resignations, and six prospective employees.

Supt. S. M. Anderson will report on several items, including senate bills and enrollment as of Oct. 3.

The agenda also lists reports from Novis W. Womack, tax appraiser, and a delinquent tax report from Brown and Hamby.

Gamco Water Line Okayed

Action was taken on two items at this morning's regular meeting of Howard County Commissioners Court.

The commissioners approved a request from Gamco Industries, Inc., to lay a water line in a borrow ditch along the south side of Hilltop Road to Gatesville and from there north on the Snyder Highway. Construction is subject to the county's specifications and all cost is to be borne by Gamco.

Commissioners also voted to accept bids Nov. 17 for a one year extension of the present hospitalization insurance program for county employees available from the county auditor's office which follow the present plan, with an option for a family plan.

Dr. Hunt Attends Association Meet

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, is leaving Wednesday to attend a three-day meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges in Atlanta, Ga. The meeting is for the committee on standards and reports to study standards of accreditation for junior colleges. The committee will be examining reports on 38 colleges.

Welfare Rolls

"The money would be okay if no problems came up, but once in a while you get hit with some bills and you're stuck," said the airman, who pays $115 rent for his shabby four-room trailer.

He says he'd rather live on base, but there's not enough free housing for the lower ranking men. "They tell me it's privilege to live off base," he said.

A few miles away lives a mother and eight children whose father, an Army sergeant, ramrods an infantry company in Vietnam. He sends home $400 of his $595 monthly pay and allowances.

Burlington County welfare officials, who give the family $158 a month, say the mother had been working but became sick and was forced to quit before turning to welfare.

30 CASES A MONTH

At Ft. Dix, located in Burlington County, the Army says that 100 families are eligible for welfare. About 30 cases a month are referred to welfare agencies, says a community service officer at the base.

And Burlington County welfare director Robert Gallagher said, "We're only scratching the surface here. If other services were stopped moonlighting and swallowed their pride, I think they'd come in greater numbers."

New York City reports more than 300 military welfare cases. In Connecticut, welfare commissioner Bernard Shapiro says "there are no more than several dozen cases."

Virginia and California are among several states that grant welfare payments to a serviceman's wife and children when his pay and allowances are cut off, as happens when he goes AWOL or is disciplined for other reasons. The military makes no provisions for families in these cases.

The Defense Department, at the request of Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., has asked the states how many servicemen are on their relief rolls. The study is to be disclosed this month, but it may be incomplete. Many states told the Pentagon it's impossible to come up with a figure without going through their welfare rolls, case by case, a Pentagon source said.

LIFE OF POVERTY

There have been four military pay increases since 1965, raising a private's base pay from $78 a month to $123. But there's also been a 17 per cent increase in the cost of living.

"We have a system of involuntary servitude that condemns a serviceman to a life of poverty—which we're supposed to be waging a war against," declares Rep. Alvin O'Konski, R-Wis., a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

The military pay system has long been geared to the use of large numbers of young, single men drafted into its ranks, quartered in barracks, fed, clothed, and watched over by a comparatively small cadre of older men, thus enabling them to live off a meager salary.

But the Vietnam war brought higher draft calls and the induction of more married men, many of whom have children, especially college graduates called when their student deferments expire.

Between May 1966 and February 1969, the number of married enlisted men in the Army alone rose by 140,000 to a total of 516,000. Military housing hasn't kept pace and at most posts is unavailable to men in the first four ranks.

Sheriff Has Busy Weekend

Howard County Sheriff's office had eight arrest entries on the docket during the weekend for driving while intoxicated, one for no driver's license, one for carrying a prohibitive weapon, and one for destruction of property as well as two for forgery and passing under warrant, and one for issuing a worthless check.

Olen Kenneth Click, 45, Odessa, was arrested in that city Friday for issuing a worthless check, transferred to Howard County jail, and released Saturday on $2,000 bond.

Herman Dale Patterson, 18, 703 E. 13th, was arrested Sunday for forgery and passing and was released the same day on $1,000 bond. Jerry Madry, 18, Odessa, was arrested the same day for the same charge and transferred to the sheriff's office in Monahan for a charge pending there. Howard County Sheriff's office placed a hold on him with Monahan for the forgery charge.

Choir Plans Pops Concert

A pops concert, designed as entertainment for the entire family, will be offered next Monday evening by the Big Spring High School choral department.

Kenny Sheppard, choir director, said the program will include show tunes from "Camelot," "Oklahoma," "Showboat," as well as some spirituals and the theme from "Romeo and Juliet."

The program is set for 8:15 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Ducats are available from any a cappella choir member, or at the door, at $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

The girls' sextet and the boys' quartet will be featured, in addition to the full choir.

Teachers Going To Reading Meet

Area educators are planning to attend the Texas Association for Improvement of Reading (TAIR) conference in Lubbock, Oct. 17-18. Attending from Big Spring are Mrs. Mary Heffley, reading coordinator; Mrs. Carol Hunsicker, Rannels reading coordinator; Mrs. Charles Buckner, College Heights Elementary School; Mrs. Mary Pettilo, Lakeview librarian and a number of teachers.

"Take the Giant Leap—Read" is the theme of the conference. Featured speakers are Dr. Helen Huus and Dr. William Powell. Dr. Huus is president of the International Reading Association and Dr. Powell is director of the Center of Reading and Research, University of Illinois.

NO CHANGE IN MEDLINS

No change has been reported in the conditions for Albert W. Medlin, 2114 Grace, and his son who were seriously injured in an auto accident Friday. Both remain unconscious. Medlin and his 10-year-old son, John, were injured Friday night on US 84 after attending a football game at Hermleigh. Medlin's older son, Philip, played on the Forsan team.

Both Medlins remain under intensive care at Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene. Medlin and his son both received mild concussions. The father sustained a fractured skull. According to Mrs. Medlin, her husband's condition is not critical. Barring complications, the doctor said Medlin will be alright.

The driver of the other car was not injured, a Scurry County deputy sheriff said.

FEATHERED FRIEND IS TOO FRIENDLY — Linus, a young innet adopted by 15-year-old Ken Linney of San Jose, Calif., has become almost too friendly. It likes apples, and sings and chirps as Ken does his homework. Linus was found sitting on a driveway four months ago, too young to fly. Its sex is not known.

Merit Pay, Academy Delay Issues Clarified

The request to have half a year's merit pay appropriation deleted from the city budget was prompted by a desire to avoid bad feelings and not out of pique. Police Chief Jay Banks said Monday.

In addition, by the time the plan would have become operative, 18 members of the department would have been entitled to consideration for upgrading. Their higher entitlement at that time would further weaken the amounts so that the figure would be impractically small, he said.

The dropping of the Southwest Law Enforcement Academy, a police training service, was only indirectly involved, Banks added. He was replying to what he took to be an inference (in a Herald editorial) that pressures had been applied on behalf of a police raise.

Banks said that he had asked that the matter of raising the appropriation for starting the plan for increased pay to policemen who complete special training be reconsidered by the commissioners, and if this could be done, that the appropriation be dropped entirely so there would be no bad feelings.

In his original presentation for merit pay, he did not know the city was in a tight financial situation, he said, and when appraised of this, he came up with one which cut the amount in half. Then the commission reduced this in half by delaying

Merit Pay, Academy Delay Issues Clarified

The effective date until the middle of the fiscal year. If this were further diluted by considering the earned upgrading by that time, the amounts would be insufficient, moreover, the department might be locked to a low figure that would take a long time to overcome. It would be better to wait until some future date to activate the plan, he concluded.

Only in the sense that

members of the force might not be inclined to give their time as instructors or to sign up for the course was the law enforcement basic training course cancelled. The main reason here, he said, was that Texas A&M extension service had given notice that it could not continue to furnish instructors at the same rate of pay because of rising costs. This would have thrown the burden of instructing back on the police department. In addition, one area department had indicated its withdrawal from the academy due to budget problems, and other departments had indicated they might have less enrollment for similar reasons. He said he had outlined these factors in a letter to the city manager Oct. 9. The academy short course, offered at HCJC, had been set up and carried by the department and he felt it was purely a department decision to cancel it.

Pigs Taken To State Fair Today

Thirty-five Howard County pigs were taken to Dallas today for the upcoming state fair junior Barrow Show by Assistant County Agent Jim Allison and they included Johnny Peugh's champion barrow from last Wednesday's Howard County Pig Show. The pigs will be shown Wednesday and Thursday, and sold on Saturday.

Four pigs were from the Big Spring FFA; two belong to Vicky Harris, and two to her brother, Ricky Harris. Eleven of the pigs were from 4-H clubs; Johnny Peugh's, Patty Peugh's, three belonging to Cindy Shaw, three to Summer Shaw, one to Dirk Perry, and two to Don Tatum. Twenty pigs were taken from Coahoma and Jay Shaghter sent a steer.

Kiwanis Staging Pancake Supper

Hot flap jacks just before game time is the promise of the Kiwanis Club for Friday.

This will be sort of a bonus offering to the club's traditional pancake supper in February.

As usual, it will be held in the cafeteria of Howard County Junior College so that it will be easy for fans to come eat and then go to the game. The fare consists of all the pancakes one can eat, plus the usual fare of bacon, syrup, coffee and milk.

Tickets ($1 and 75 cents) may be obtained from members of the Kiwanis Club or purchased at the door. Hours of serving will be between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

DEATHS

Walter Robinson, Pioneer County Farmer, Dies

Walter Robinson, a familiar figure in Howard County for nearly four score years, died Sunday in a hospital here at the age of 90.

He and his twin brother, the late Charles Robinson, had farmed side-by-side in the Midway community for over 60 years. They retired in 1965.

Deeply religious, they had established a church in what became old Midway; deeply committed to the soil they were among the first to use tractors in Howard County. Walter Robinson travelled around the state promoting better farm programs.

The twins were born June 9, 1879, in Comanche and came to Howard County in 1890. Charlie Robinson died in 1967.

Walter Robinson and Alice Hull were married March 3, 1901, in Coahoma. They had 10 children. Surviving are five daughters: Mrs. H. O. Sandlin, and Mrs. H. L. Shirley, both of Big Spring, Mrs. Gordon Grimes, Norwalk, Calif., Mrs. T. R. Higgenbotham, Monahan, and Mrs. T. D. Dearing, Fort Worth; three sons, Marvin Robinson, Odessa, Henry Robinson and Woodrow Robinson, both of Big Spring. Also surviving are 23 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

Mr. Robinson attributed his long life to "hard work, faith in the Lord, rest and play." He was a member of the Midway Baptist Church and served as the first song leader for Robinson Chapel. He was named for Charles who mainly financed its construction.

Walter Robinson, as had been his brother, was extremely active in the Howard-Glascock Old Settlers reunion.

Funeral service is set for today at 3 p.m. in Baptist Temple Church, Rev. Darrell Robinson, Liberal, Kans., a grand-nephew, will officiate.

Capital Is Losing Its Political Cool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is beginning what could be its most fateful week to date among increasing signs the whole capital is losing its political cool.

Among the signs of political jitters: —The administration's Supreme Court nomination is being managed in the Senate as 75 favorites over the Mets to win the Series.

as hard to criticize the President as he was to boost the nominee.

—President Nixon, who already has withdrawn some 60,000 troops from Vietnam, will be the target of a nationwide demonstration Wednesday against his war policies.

—Nixon is studiously carrying out his promise to ignore the growing clamor of dissent against his war policies. He said at his news conference Sept. 26: "... under no circumstances will I be affected whatever by it." Yet, he has called back his chief negotiators at the Paris peace talks for consultations on the eve of Wednesday's demonstrations, and Rep. Rogers Morton, GOP national chairman, has endorsed the war moratorium.

—Without mentioning the war, Nixon has fired Selective Service chief Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the target of criticism from many Vietnam protesters.

—Unemployment is up, inflation continues. At least one noted economist has suggested the Nixon administration may be creating something new—a combination of an intolerable level of unemployment with an intolerable level of inflation.

Of all the administration's current problems, however, most bizarre is its embattled nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

The Democratic senator who has been playing a key role in backing the nomination is Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, whose defeat for re-election was urged by Nixon last fall.

"Hell, I don't want anything to do with that crowd," the 47-year-old Hollings drawled to newsmen last week with an airy wave toward the White House.

One of the key Republican senators behind Haynsworth is Marlow W. Cook of Kentucky, a moderate who has only 10 months in the Senate.

"I have no idea who's in charge of the campaign," said Cook last week without so much as a flicker of a smile.

Police Check On Reports

Police investigated a burglary and two vandalism during the weekend.

Carlos Padron reported two pin-ball machines damaged, valued at $30, at the Highland Shopping Center Mall, and several coin operated machines burglarized; an unknown amount of money was missing.

Paul A. O'Brien told police the glass panel over the door at the Texaco Station, Highland Center, was broken; nothing has been found missing yet. Angel Gonzales, reported a gas pump at the Texaco Station, 3000 US 80 West, was struck by a vehicle.

Auto Mishaps Continue To Pace Violent Deaths

By The Associated Press

Television sports and terrible weather apparently teamed up to keep Texans off the highways last weekend, but auto mishaps continued to lead the state's total violent deaths.

From 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Sunday, 21 persons died violently in the state, and 11 of the total were victims of traffic.

Four died in shootings, five in drownings and one each in a fire and a plane crash.

J. B. Ponder, 30, of Irving died in a fiery plane crash at Jasper when his plane hit some trees and burst into flames as about 150 persons watched an air show.

Mrs. Emma Howell Crenshaw, 71, of Rose City was killed Sunday in Greenville when her car and that of an Alabama couple collided at a highway intersection. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conklin of Montgomery, Ala., were taken to a Greenville hospital.

Sheila Buck, 18, burned to death and her father suffered severe burns when fire destroyed their trailer home early Sunday between Grand Saline and Edgewood in East Texas. Miss Buck's brother, 17, escaped injury.

Glenda Wood Cobb, 21, was struck and killed by an automobile on Belt Line Road in Irving. The third fatality was Don Buell Jones, 35, whose pickup truck failed to make a turn on a road in North Dallas County and plowed into an embankment.

Three Houston men were drowned Saturday in Lake Moses near Texas City when their small skiff overturned on a fishing trip. They were identified as Sidney Polk, 43; Tom Edwards, 58, and Bates Taylor, 60. A fourth man survived the capsizing.

Two brothers from Smithville drowned while on a fishing trip in the Colorado River. Rescuers recovered the bodies of William Foytik, 33, and Leroy, 38, about 100 yards from where they had been fishing.

Rose Carrasco, 22, of La Port, was shot to death early Saturday in front of a Houston lounge. Police had charged a man with murder in the death.

Billy Charles Gough of Houston died of injuries Saturday after his motorcycle collided with a car.

Swindle Trial In Pecos Slated To Resume Today

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — Trial was scheduled to resume today for three men accused of swindling an Odessa savings and loan association of more than $1.4 million.

Dist. Judge Ernest Guinn recessed the trial Thursday after 20 prosecution witnesses had been heard.

First thing on today's agenda was an appraiser's report.

Three appraisers were expected to estimate the value of property the defendants used in collateral in obtaining loans from the Odessa institution. The prosecution claims the collateral was grossly inadequate.

Defense attorneys for Kenneth Musgrave of Dallas, Jack Bryant of Abilene and Homer Keen of Gainesville were scheduled to begin their case after testimony of the appraisers.

All three defendants have pleaded innocent to the charges.

A fourth defendant, Marshall Womack of Bedford, was excused because of illness and is scheduled to be tried later.

Couple Recites Vows In Home Ceremony

A home ceremony united in marriage Miss Evelyn Ann Hughes and Marvie Allen Wheeler Thursday evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hughes, 1323 Mobile St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Wheeler, 1800 Grafa.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd performed the ceremony before an improvised altar adorned with a basket arrangement of white gladioli. Traditional music was played throughout the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of white silk organza, designed with Empire waist, scooped neckline, and three tiers of ruffles on the skirt and short, puffed sleeves. The back of the gown featured a bow and streamers of bridal satin, and her veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of organza roses trimmed with lily of the valley and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white glamelias.

Miss Eydie Beth Walker of Carlsbad, N.M., maid of honor wore a pink crepe street-length dress and her brief pink veil fell from a headpiece of pink carnations on an organza bow. She carried a pink nosegay.

Joe M. Wheeler served as his son's best man.

RECEPTION

A small reception was held. The refreshment table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with pale pink and cerise velour roses and love birds flanked by pink candles in crystal candelabra. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting. The white wedding cake was on a crystal stand and was served by Mrs. Michael C. Woods, who also presided at the guest register.

MRS. M. A. WHEELER

Miss Walker tended the punch service. The bride attended Big Spring High School and has been employed by Bausch and Lomb Optical Company in Dallas. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring High School and is attending Howard County Junior College. He is employed by Texaco, Inc., and has served two years in the Army, with one year in Vietnam.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride chose a wool dress with pink bodice and purple skirt accented with a multi-colored belt and black accessories. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will be at home in Mountain View Trailer Park, East Hwy. 80.

Airport School Principal Tells PTA 'What's New In Education'

"What's New In Education" was the topic of a talk given Thursday by C. L. Carlile, principal of Airport Elementary School at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

He explained that later in the year the Big Spring School System will have access to an educational TV program on the cable. For instance, if a teacher wanted information on a given subject, she would contact the center and a time would be set up so that she could view this in her room.

"This is becoming a computer world," said Carlile. "Computer programming will be the coming thing in education. With individualized instruction, the school will be going to computers so that each child will have instruction according to his abilities."

Carlile stressed that parents be concerned about their children, explaining the importance of the proper rearer and background. He urged that they understand a child's need to be appreciated, advising against too much criticism.

"Try to understand what causes problems in children," he said. "Find out the child's capabilities and learn to accept the child for what he is."

Inviting the parents to visit their children's rooms following the meeting, he explained "what's new" in Airport School. This included a media center and joint library, new record players, listening stations, laminating machines, overhead projectors and transparencies.

Mrs. Lee Justice presided as reports were heard from Mrs. R. H. Carter, Mrs. Charles Cain and Mrs. Dale Ditto. Mrs. C. L. Carlile and Mrs. Cain were elected delegates to the PTA state convention in San Antonio Nov. 12-14.

HD Agent Advises Against Fad Diets

The group met in the home of Mrs. Alton Underwood, 601 E. 16th.

Low calorie food was served at the luncheon. Mrs. Crawford stressed that the body needs a well-balanced diet which is low in calories in order to lose weight and "keep it off."

Mrs. Clyde Cantrell won the special prize. The next meeting will be Oct. 24 in the home of Mrs. H. P. Wooten. Guests introduced were Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. Crawford.

A LOVELIER YOU

Stocking Jumpsuit Completes Ensemble

By MARY SUE MILLER

The leg is again a vital segment of the total costume image. Close harmony between stocking and costume is absolutely essential. The closer, the better it comes off this fall. Otherwise legs look spooky as though floating detached in space.

For the sake of a family tie with shoe and costume shades, stocking colors are less flamboyant. The emphasis is on deeps like crushed red-grape, hunter green, brick, terra cotta, blue-purple; neutrals in the brown range from vicuna to mink, in taupe, dark gray, pebble, medium shades of red, gray-blue, mellow gold, black-black. Patterned stockings are mainly monochromatic with well-spaced, delicate motifs. The exception occurs with geometric designs in all-over color mixtures.

In keeping with cling and sheer through fashions, sheer stockings come into their own again. Opaques are slated for wear with the "tweedy" sort of clothes. As for construction, you'll find your favorite garterless girdle hose combo plus a newsy — stocking jumpsuit woven from toes to turtleneck to sleeves and meant for wear under tunics. How about that!

Once you put all this together, you find there are three principal ways to use stockings with effect:

1. To reflect your shoes's color — brown shoes, taupe hose.
2. To carry the principal clothing shade — purple suit, blue-purple stockings.
3. To pick up an important accessory — yellow scarf, old gold opaques.

Fun? You bet! REDUCING EXERCISES Spot reduction — key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges . . . to lose inches exactly where you wish.

My new booklet, SPOT REDUCING EXERCISES, gives easy routines — 40 in all — for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles. Plus ideal measurements for other figure-trimming tips. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Former Residents Announce Birth

Spec. 5 and Mrs. Burr Lea Settles Jr., Route Three, Killen, are announcing the birth of a son, Burr Lea, III, born at 6:42 p.m., Sept. 27, at Darnall Base Hospital. The infant weighed five pounds, 15 ounces. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Purser, 2307 Allendale, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Settles, 2301 Main.

High Tallies Told In Duplicate Play

Winners in duplicate bridge play Friday at Big Spring Country Club were Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, first; and Mrs. Myrtle Lee and Mrs. J. H. Parks tied for second and third place with Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Hudson Landers.

Luther HD Club Hears Food Talk

"Low Calorie Diets" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Delaine Crawford at Thursday's meeting of the Luther Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. John Couch.

Mrs. Crawford cited the dangers of being overweight and noted the disadvantages of trying fad diets, crash reducing diets and a starvation plan. She explained that the best way to lose weight is to eat sensible, well-balanced meals and to limit the caloric intake.

Mrs. Frances Zant, president, announced the home demonstration exhibit will be Oct. 23 in the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Ella Gill won the attendance prize.

The next meeting will be Nov. 13 in the home of Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein.

New Slate Elected At Class Meeting

New officers were elected by the Ruth Sunday school class of College Baptist Church in the home of Mrs. Barbara Phares, 1203 Douglas. Officers were Mrs. Estelle Eason, president; Mrs. Cecil Settles, secretary; Mrs. D. C. Porter, reporter; and Mrs. Phares, social chairman. Group captains are Mrs. Shirley Walker, Mrs. W. G. Barnett, Mrs. A. C. Cole and Mrs. Corene Shortes. Mrs. Gordon Wheeler is the class teacher.

Scarf Assortment Adds To Costume

A collection of scarves is one keystone of a well-working wardrobe. Keep an assortment of bright cotton squares to tie up your head with sports clothes, pretty chiffons to curl colorfully round your throat and protect your coat collars from makeup, and big lush foulards to loop around your shoulders and anchor with your personality pin with day dresses.

Top designers are doing scarves nowadays, and signing them. They will be collector's items one day.

But remember, nothing looks more bedraggled than a soiled or wrinkled scarf. Keep them fresh and pressed. Any good scarf, silk or cotton will wash.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Stand fast . . . in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free. (Galatians 5:1)

PRAYER: Dear Father teach us to walk, not in fear and shame, but in Christ's freedom, that we may be children of the truth. Forgive us our sins and deliver us from evil. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Realism With A Sense Of Principle

Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey has made a reasonable suggestion concerning President Nixon's policies on the Vietnam War. In essence he says: "Give him time."

Where deep silence was the lot of dissenters a couple of years ago, the table has turned so that many of those who held back then are now suddenly emboldened to the point they are storming the ramparts with demands that there be a prompt, total and unequivocal pullout from Vietnam. This has extended into Congress on both sides of the aisle, and even to places of partisan leadership.

The right to agree or not to agree is inherent in our system, and the right to voice opinions must not be stifled. But efforts to compel the President to pursue what he considers to be an unwise method of action can sometimes get out of bounds.

It would be tragic, not just ill-advised, if we were to suddenly abandon South Vietnam. To set up some arbitrary timetable without any relation to the reality of the situation would be a folly which we would live to regret. Just walking out with no regard to what the enemy does may save blood now but invite a bath of blood on our allies and perhaps eventually ours.

An act of stubborn pride is not sufficient for perpetuating a conflict, but we believe that despite frustrations and even mistakes we have been right in principle, namely that a people have a right to ask for help when threatened with aggressive and ruthless force; that a people have the right to determine their course without terror and murder being pressed down upon them.

If we concede that any nation has the right to rape mankind without interference, because it has the means and lacks the restraints of conscience and morality, then we may as well toss in our marbles and come home. However, we can't see that this country is ready for that. Hence we feel that the President ought to be given a chance to deal with the Vietnam situation with realism that has a sense of principle.

'Let's You And Him Fight'

Political commentators abhor a vacuum, even as nature does. Today, at the height of the political doldrums, they are busily engaged in speculation, a variant of an ancient game: "Let's you and him fight."

This, plus a few comfortable months during which one need not make up his mind, may explain the campaign which envisages Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes running against Gov. Preston Smith next year. The prognosticators cavalierly dismiss a tradition of some antiquity in Texas politics.

The last time in Texas history that an incumbent governor was defeated in a bid for re-election was in 1932. In that year Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson defeated Gov. Ross S. Sterling. This was poetic justice in a way. Mrs.

Ferguson was defeated for re-election as governor by Dan Moody in 1926.

Two terms for a governor has become a tradition in Texas politics. The only one in recent years to break the tradition was Allan Shivers, the only Texas governor to gain three two-year terms.

Neither Barnes nor Smith is un-mindful of the tradition. Just about the only thing that could persuade Barnes to run against Smith next year would be the conviction that Smith was going to be defeated by someone else. There is no firm indication that this is about to happen. Preston Smith may not be the pushiest governor to come down the pike, but he's nobody's fool either.

David Lawrence

'Ride The Farthest . . . And Highest'

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, in his letter read at a memorial breakfast here on Wednesday for the 25th anniversary of the death of Wendell Willkie, drew attention to a very significant factor in American politics — the importance of courage as contrasted with timidity and a lack of resoluteness.

MR. NIXON recalled a quotation Mr. Willkie had repeated when he was campaigning as the Republican nominee for the presidency in 1940. It reads as follows:

"I would rather lose in a cause that I know some day will triumph than to triumph in a cause that I know some day will fail."

The words, of course, were originally uttered in an impromptu speech on Sept. 12, 1912, by Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, the Democratic nominee for the presidency, when he addressed the Democratic state committee and the Democratic county chairmen of New York at Syracuse. Mr. Wilson's theme was "American Politics." He also said:

"I'LL TELL YOU frankly, the people of the United States are tired of politics. They are sick of politics. They long, down in the bottom of their natures, for a release from everything except that which makes the public service look like public duty and legislation look like the translation of the public need into the public act."

Mr. Wilson was addressing a group which included Tammany leaders in New York — men who were not in sympathy with him because they believed in expediency. President Nixon faces somewhat the same situation today — dissenters in his own party who are also following the

Billy Graham

In your opinion what is the most important prayer, Bible study, worship or service?

N. D. It is not easy to single out the most important for they are all necessary. But since Christian faith is a matter of fellowship between Christ and the believer, I would say that constant communion with Him should take precedence over all else. Henry Drummond once said: "Ten minutes spent in Christ's society every day, aye, two minutes, if it be face to face and heart to heart, will make the whole life different."

Sometimes the person of Christ is lost in the ritual of worship; the intricacies of theology; and the struggle to serve. These can only find true meaning when we have a personal relationship with Him. When He abides in our hearts, prayer is not begging to do what we want, but giving God an opportunity to do what He wants. Worship becomes a living adoration of One worthy of our love, and service becomes a privilege rather than a duty.

John Cunniff Files $2 Billion Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Who is Peter James, the man who has a $2 billion suit pending against American Telephone & Telegraph and International Business Machines, and who claims that hundreds of other companies have infringed on his patents?

—The man: He is a balding, somewhat paunchy, 38-year-old father of five children, a scripture-quoting Southern Baptist, stolid and tenacious in his business affairs.

James was the ninth of 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. James Tsakanikas, Greek immigrants who settled in White Plains, N.Y.

—Education and experience: Bachelor of science in economics from Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, law degree from George Washington University, engineer with International Business Machines for several years.

—The businessman: Founder and president of Photo Magnetic Systems, Inc., a publicly held company based in Beltsville, Md., which reported its first profit in the six months ended April 30—some $43,000.

—The politician: Announced candidate for the governorship of Maryland. "Having reached a significant plateau in business, I look for a new challenge." Calls himself a progressive Republican.

—The patent holder: Possessor of a basic patent—No. 3,381,276—covering a concept that permits two of the great technological advances of mankind, the computer and the telephone, to communicate with each other.

—The plaintiff: He claims that AT&T, IBM, Western Electric, Chesapeake & Potomac Electric Co. and at least 300 other firms should be paying him royalties for their telephone-computer communications devices and concepts.

"And I'm considering a $100 billion antitrust suit," James said the other day. "We're gathering the evidence now," he said, claiming that AT&T is placing obstacles in the way of his product, Comput-A-Phone.

Comput-A-Phone is a basic idea with broad implications. It is a system that enables an individual to use the touchtone telephone keyboard to put information into and take it out of electronic computers.

By using various combinations of letters and numerals, distinctive sounds are sent over telephone wires. At the other end, a translator decodes the message to make it understandable to the computer.

Salesmen can phone in their orders directly to the computer. Small companies can maintain their records on computers miles away. Housewives can order merchandise merely by pressing buttons on their telephones.

Hal Boyle Sleep Is A Menace

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

What usually is most often on a person's mind is himself. Pen salesmen say that in testing new pens about 95 out of 100 persons sign their own names.

Being a knight during the Middle Ages was no career for a weakling. Some of the suits of shining armor they wore took three years to make and weighed 120 pounds—more than a modern infantry soldier has to carry in combat.

Sleepy drivers may become as big a highway menace as drunken drivers. In fact, a recent study of 236 deaths on turnpikes showed that 15 per cent resulted from drivers being drowsy or asleep; only 8 per cent were caused by drivers who had been drinking.

Trees have been known to live thousands of years, but man rates high in longevity with his 70-year span. Toads have been known to live 36 years, horses 50, swans more than 100, and giant tortoises 150.

It can be hard on your mind, as well as your pride, to be poor. Surveys have showed that the poor tend to suffer more serious forms of mental illness than do middle-class or upper-class people, who are more likely merely to become neurotic rather than insane from the stresses of their lives.

Quotable notables: "Give me the luxuries of life and I will willingly do without the necessities."—Frank Lloyd Wright.

Worth remembering: "The world is divided into good people and bad people, and the good people decide which is which."

Temperature prisoner: Man can't do his best work when he's very hot or very cold. Tests show he is most efficient in temperatures ranging between 50 and 85 degrees. Above 85 degrees, he becomes sluggish mentally and below 50 degrees he slows up physically.

History lesson: Can you name the only U.S. president who played the harmonica and while in the White House kept himself fit by exercising with Indian clubs and riding a mechanical horse? He was Calvin Coolidge.

Some facts that'll amaze your bartender: Every grain of sugar has 16 sides. About 900,000 people have been killed by earthquakes in the last century, far fewer than by motor cars. Ounce for ounce, cobra venom is more deadly than rattlesnake venom. Gold is so malleable that a $5,000 ingot small enough to fit in the hand can be pounded into a thin sheet large enough to cover an acre.

It was G. K. Chesterton who observed, "There are no uninteresting things; there are only uninterested people."

To Your Good Health Suspects His Son Of Taking Dope

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have suspected my son of taking dope. He was recently in the hospital for hepatitis. He is now taking medicine called methadone.

What is this for? What are his prospects? I have not discussed this with his doctor, but wish to know the truth.—J.S.

This combination of facts suggests strongly that the son was indeed taking drugs, presumably heroin; the father's suspicions, the hepatitis, and finally the use of methadone.

Hepatitis (virus infection of the liver) is extremely common among heroin users because the disease can be transmitted by an unsterilized or poorly sterilized needle used by addicts and because addicts so often are in poor physical condition and have poor nutrition, making them more vulnerable. Hepatitis, in fact, is a frequent cause of death among addicts.

Finally, methadone is a narcotic which has the interesting property of controlling symptoms and thus eliminating the craving for heroin.

If a heroin user does not get his "fix," he becomes violently and agonizingly ill with withdrawal symptoms. Consequently, the addict will resort to anything — prostitution, theft, muggings, robbery — to get money for more of the drug. An average of $90 a day is not unusual.

This is where methadone becomes useful. With small but regular doses of methadone (two to four times a day; the addict no longer has his frightful withdrawal symptoms and is not driven frantically into crime.

A recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association reported 94 per cent success in stopping the criminal activities, with the majority of the addicts getting jobs.

On the other hand, the cure rate by the "cold turkey" method, or struggling through the period of withdrawal symptoms, is low. Most of these people in time are back using heroin again.

By now, quite a number of addicts have stayed away from heroin for four years by the use of methadone, and there is no apparent reason why they cannot continue indefinitely.

The problem currently is a shortage of units providing this type of treatment, even though there are thousands of addicts willing to take the treatment.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Double Laughs, Quadruple The Fun

Families with one child can be loads of fun but those with two double the laughs and quadruple the enjoyment.

Those who hesitate to increase the size of their family could put a lot of faith in the wise, old Spanish proverb: "When God sends a baby to earth, He sends the bread to feed him."

I'M NOT SURE those who decide to perpetuate the species with just one child ever become convinced that an offspring can develop skills of his own and become independent.

I'm equally certain that the parents are prone to use a more casual approach toward the second born. The child certainly would be no less loved. Perhaps it's just that you learn many things on your maiden voyage into that delightful time known as parenthood.

CONSIDER THE differences: Before the first one is born, you shop all over town, maybe all over the area, for the right bassinet. Even the color has to be just so. With the second, you either haul the battered old crib out of the attic (if the dog hasn't been sleeping in it) and refurbish it or else you borrow one off a relative.

The first one gets weighed at least once a week. The second? You feel its tummy to see if it is keeping a normal temperature.

You get colored pictures of the first one sleeping, waving, grinning and feeding. You include a black and white snapshot of the second one in a group that showed up for his birthday party.

WITH THE first one, a two-degree rise in temperature would have you sitting in the doctor's office 30 minutes before the poor guy shows up for work. With the second, a telephone call to the doctor's nurse suffices.

Let No. One sneeze and you demand of the physician that he recommend five different wonder drugs for treatment. If they don't start working in 15 minutes, you start looking up the number of the ambulance people. The second one gets baby aspirin.

When it comes feeding time, everything is sterilized for No. 1, even the cans in which the baby food is packed. The second one, you reason, will thrive by chewing on the leg of the divan or sampling dog food.

YOU REMEMBER the very hour of the very day the first one was ushered into the world, even the name of the nurse who was present for the occasion. If you recall the month and the year of the birth of No. Two, you're doing good.

The first one has a baby book, where all the "important" things are listed — like the first tooth, the first time he sits up without help, the first time he crawls. If you've taken the trouble to go to the courthouse to get the birth certificate of the second one, you're an exception to the rule.

THE FIRST ONE inspires a trip to the book store to get a volume on child psychology. With the second, you begin looking for cotton for your ears.

You caution the first one about getting out of your sight. Of the second, you're prone to say "he'll come home when he's hungry."

Invariably, the second demands less attention than the first. He wears hand-me-down clothes and eats anything that's on the table.

BUT THERE'S one thing you don't ration to the two of them. There's more than enough love to go around. —TOMMY HART

Burleson Reports

Uncle Sam Might Qualify The Cat

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C.

WASHINGTON — There was this cat — really, man, a cat — the four-legged kind. His name is not known but this particular Cat is entitled to a capital "C" anyway. What distinguishes him is that he has a regular job.

It has been said that no one really owns a cat, meaning that cats go where they please and tolerate those people who do the most for them, but Bruce owns this Cat. Bruce is the Lady's first name. Like the Cat, her last name is not known.

BRUCE HOLDS a position at the executive level in a big organization with offices in mid-town Manhattan. She also has the job of seeing that her Cat gets to his place of employment on time. Reports are that she sets aside a period at about 11 o'clock each morning to leave her office, get a cab and go for the Cat. She takes him to work, after which she has her lunch and returns to her office.

ACCORDING to those who know Bruce and her daily routine, she leaves her office for the day around 5:30, arriving home at about 6 o'clock. Her Cat is either there waiting to be let in or if not there he arrives a few minutes afterwards. His work-day is five hours.

It is not clear whether he is paid by the hour, or if he works on a commission. This part is not important either. What is important is that he is soon to lose his job. He has been faithful, done his job well and produced according to expectations. Did he goof off — let his employer down — lose his temper and scratch someone? None of this.

Is he being replaced by some new-fangled mouse trap installed by the bakery? Automation is disrupting a lot of jobs nowadays you know. No.

OLE CAT'S job is being abolished because of the Government's rat eradication program. It is not management's decision to let the Cat go. Evidently they were doing pretty good on a day-to-day operation but with no permanent solution. So the government takes over the problem and the Cat is out of work.

Should he be entitled to unemployment compensation? The House Ways and Means committee of the Congress has just begun hearings (not on the Cat's problem) on proposals to revise the unemployment compensation laws.

The administration recommends covering an additional 5.2 million employees, including 400,000 farm workers. They say this added coverage will include all but 11 million in our entire work-force. Of these, about two million are agricultural workers and another two million are in domestic employment. The remainder are employed in public institutions, non-profit organizations, State and local governments. The Labor Department proposes to pay for the additional cost by raising the wage base income from $3,000 to $4,000 for tax years 1972 and 1973 and then to $6,000 beginning in 1974.

SOME ADVOCATE the Federal government taking over the whole operation, including the administration of the unemployment program. The States now run the system under "guidance" of the federal government. Qualifying requirements are generally set by the States and differ from State to State. Uniformity by the States is being insisted upon rather than being fixed by Federal law.

New York State is rather liberal in granting unemployment insurance, even to those on strike. Even so, it is doubtful Bruce's Cat can qualify. Should the federal government take over the whole thing — he might.

Wrath About The Grapes

WASHINGTON, D.C. — You really don't want to write any more about Cesar Chavez and table grapes — a tedious subject — but you agree over the telephone to "hear the other side" from a California grower who's in town.

HE COMES to your office and turns out to be a clean-cut 28-year-old — John Giumarra Jr. of Bakersfield. His family business includes 5,000 acres of vineyards which are operated by his father, his three uncles, six of his cousins and himself. The fields are worked by multicolored fieldhands of various national origins who thus far haven't bothered to join a union.

You like the forming picture. You're in favor of family enterprise. You admire success. You relate the institution of big commercial farming with the old plantation life minus the slaves. You're also in favor of labor unions (so long as they aren't compulsory) because you think it's commendable for people to band together to battle for their self-interests which is what trade unionism is all about.

OF COURSE, the grape-growers have also banded together for that commendable purpose, and you've never been able to see much distinction between property rights and human rights. They're mutually indivisible, aren't they?

You recall that Voltaire spoke well of men who make two blades of grass to grow where only one grew before. Doesn't that put the grape-growers ahead of those who are trying to prevent the fruits of the earth from being grown and marketed?

WHAT YOU'VE got in your head by this time is a tossed salad of opinions about the whole subject. You don't have any pronounced viewpoint, and usually the best way to treat such subject-matter is to walk away from it. You do this by thanking the young visitor for his time, and he goes away.

But you begin to rummage through some of the Congressional testimony on the Great Grape Controversy, and unexpectedly you find a viewpoint. You aren't so neutralist as you were. Look at what the hearings are bringing out.

ITEM — Jerome Cohen, the chief organizer for Cesar Chavez, walked into a meeting of California growers last June and threatened to launch a pesticide — scare. If they don't knuckle under to his terms, he's going to add terrorism to the boycott of retail stores. Cohen hints, in sworn testimony by those present, that cancer-causing sprays are used on grapes. He intimated that, even if he can't prove anything, he can frighten consumers away from the stores in droves.

STREET SCENE IN BELFAST — British soldiers crouch from snipers' bullets early Sunday morning, as they try to maintain order on Shankill Road in the Protestant district of Belfast, Northern Ireland. Three people died during the violence in the area, which is now under tight control by the army.

British Troops Quell Rioters

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops quelled 1,000 rioting Protestants in Belfast early today with tear gas and a show of force. The rioters fought back with stones and sporadic shots.

Newsmen at the scene said all the shooting came from the rioters. One soldier was slightly wounded, adding to a weekend casualty list of at least three dead and scores injured.

The Protestants threw a triple barricade across Shankill Road and for more than four hours faced the strongest force assembled since the British Army began policing Northern Ireland during the Catholic-Protestant warfare in August.

Armored cars spearheaded the force of several hundred troops with automatic and semi-automatic weapons. But the army used only tear gas on the crowd, which was protesting the shakeup over the weekend of the police force and the appointment of a Briton, Sir Arthur Young, as police chief.

On Saturday night a Protestant mob raged down Shankill Road toward a Catholic apartment block. British soldiers opened fire after they were the target of snipers and bomb throwers.

The government said three persons were killed, including one policeman. But some soldiers said seven persons were killed.

Most of the shooting at the army was the work of a single sniper. "He shoots to kill and he does not miss," said one soldier. The weekend rioting was the worst since last Aug. 15-16, when eight persons were killed. But this time no Catholics were involved.

In a television broadcast, Prime Minister James Chichester Clark said the Protestant community feared the reorganization of the police force would weaken the defense of Northern Ireland. "Nothing is further from the truth," he said.

Looking tired and worried, Chichester Clark said it was an absolute tragedy that some of the people had gotten involved in shooting incidents with British troops. "Let us not forget that they are our troops," he said. "Let us at all times remember that they are here to help us."

Early this morning, after 48 hours of continual duty, the soldiers on Shankill Road were bedded down in damp, wind-swept streets with only a sleeping bag between them and the sidewalk or the concrete floors of makeshift billets. Many of them are griping about their routine—nine days of duty followed by three days in the barracks with no leisure time.

Also figuring in the investigation are weapons Turner said he got from the Kansas City and Fort Bliss, Tex., Police Departments. Turner has already testified he disassembled some of the weapons for parts, destroyed others, sold "the cream of the crop" to a North Carolina gun dealer, pocketed the money and did not mention it in his 1968 income tax return.

The thrust of the Senate probe has been shifting back and forth between Turner's weapons dealings and a broader investigation of graft in the operation of non-commissioned officers clubs in the United States, Germany and Vietnam.

Thursday June Collins, an attractive booking agent who packages shows for the Army's club system in Vietnam, told the subcommittee that sergeants who managed the clubs demanded kickbacks from entertainers who were billed in their facilities. Other witnesses have told of slot machine "skimming" practices in which club managers pocketed some of the proceeds from the gambling devices.

Turner's name has cropped up in this phase of the probe for allegedly covering up charges against former Sergeant Major of the Army William O. Woodbridge, who has been linked with "skimming" and other criminal activities. In an interview with the Washington Post Monday Gen. Harold K. Johnson, former Army Chief of Staff, said on the basis of facts before him in July, 1966, when he promoted Woodbridge to the then-new post as the Army's highest ranking enlisted man "I made the right decision and I would do it again."

Army Graft Probe Turns To Turner

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's wide-ranging probe into military graft turned again today to Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, the Army's former provost marshal charged with using his position to improperly obtain confiscated guns from civilian police departments.

Along with Turner, the Senate investigations subcommittee scheduled testimony from Chicago Police Supt. James Conlisk, who said last week the retired general had lied when claiming the guns were knowingly given to him for his personal use.

Conlisk had said Turner told him at the time he wanted the weapons for Army training and museum display and signed receipts stating they would be destroyed when no longer of use to the service.

Conlisk's remarks followed earlier testimony by Turner that Chicago Police knowingly handed the guns over to him. "They were going to destroy them and they gave them to me personally," Turner told the subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

Turner, who was appointed chief U.S. Marshal before he was forced to resign last month in the face of the impending Senate hearings, went to Chicago last year to represent the Army chief of staff during rioting.

Turner has already testified he disassembled some of the weapons for parts, destroyed others, sold "the cream of the crop" to a North Carolina gun dealer, pocketed the money and did not mention it in his 1968 income tax return.

Nominee Haynsworth Retains ABA Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court has been boosted by a second endorsement from the American Bar Association's Judiciary Committee.

The influential committee, a group of 12 lawyers, announced in New York Sunday night it had reinspected Haynsworth's nomination in the light of conflict of interest charges and found no reason to change its earlier endorsement.

The exact vote was not disclosed. Committee Chairman Lawrence E. Walsh, noting the original report favoring Haynsworth had been unanimous, said only that a substantial majority voted to reaffirm their original finding. He testified at Senate Judiciary Committee hearings Sept. 18 the ABA considered Haynsworth to be "highly qualified."

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., a chief supporter of the nomination, said the continued approval of the bar committee "will be a tremendous boost to the confirmation of Judge Haynsworth" to fill the seat vacated by the resignation of Justice Abe Fortas.

However, a leading critic of Haynsworth, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., maintained the outcome of the bar committee's reassessment "is not particularly surprising or unexpected but I think it puts the bar association in a very unfortunate and inconsistent position."

Haynsworth, chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, gained the approval of the Senate Judiciary Committee, 10-7, but faces a tough fight in the full Senate.

The Senate's vote probably is at least two weeks away. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana anticipates a lengthy debate. "This is not going to be finished in a day or two," he has said.

An Associated Press poll shows 38 senators opposed and seven others leaning in opposition, 32 in favor of the nominee and one leaning that way, and the other 22 still undecided.

A spokesman for Sen. Charles McC. Mathias said Sunday the bar committee's restatement of backing for Haynsworth "doesn't automatically mean the senator can be counted in the 'yes' column. It is just one of the factors he will consider in deciding how to vote."

The Maryland Republican, who was recorded against Haynsworth in the Judiciary Committee action, is awaiting explanations from either Haynsworth or the Justice Department on three specific conflict of interest charges and thus remains undecided on how to vote on the Senate floor, the spokesman added.

Joseph Cohen, president of a Vancouver wholesale company, paid the ransom for the return of his daughter, Phyllis, and her school friend, Katherine Matheson.

The girls, unharmed during their 33 hours of captivity, told police they were approached by a man of about 40 as they headed home from school Friday.

They said the man called to the Cohen girl, using her father's name, and told her he had come to take her to a hospital where her father was taken after a traffic accident.

'Killer' Of Lennon Found Dead In Car

SONORA, Calif. (AP) — Toulumne County sheriff's investigators have identified a body found in a car trunk as that of a man sought in the slaying of the father of the singing Lennon Sisters.

Marvin Major, 38, had shot himself with a rifle after trying unsuccessfully to commit suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning, Sheriff Miller Sardella said. Major, a former mental patient, once wrote a letter to Peggy Lennon proposing marriage.

The Los Angeles police department had issued a first degree murder warrant for him 10 days after William Herbert Lennon, 54, was shot and killed at the Marina Del Rey Golf Range Aug. 12.
