

FAMILY AFFAIR — Hemodialysis may sound like a formidable medical term, but the family of Junior Lander takes a personal interest in it. Here, they are with Lander, who relies on the dialyzer (the artificial kidney which purifies his blood) which he is learning to operate when he comes home. With him are his wife, Mickey, son, Shandal Todd, 7, and daughter, Kresi Jana, 5. The Landers live just north of Stanton.

Wants Nixon To Fire Pair

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman has called for dismissal of two administration officials, contending they want the nation's press to give President Nixon "the objective coverage that Kosygin can expect from Pravda."

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., said Tuesday he asked Nixon to fire Herbert G. Klein, director of communications, and newly appointed Chairman Dean Burch of the Federal Communications Commission.

His charge the pair had made "direct assaults on the constitutional guarantees of a free press" came after Burch was questioned by a House subcommittee about calls he made to national television networks requesting transcripts of commentators' reaction to Nixon's Nov. 3 Vietnam policy speech.

Burch said his requests were not an attempt "to intimidate anybody."

Stanton Band Making Strong Comeback Bid

By MRS. HOMER SWINSON STANTON (SC) — "The pride of Buffalo Land," the Stanton High School band, lay near death three years ago.

Today, it is blowing and going with a fancy marching unit and with 100 students participating in instrumental classes. Students and patrons are optimistic that brighter things lie ahead with possibly some 75 members in the performing high school band.

Four years ago a new director was employed two weeks after school had started. When he arrived, he found only 12 students enrolled in the instrumental program. Due to the small size, the band used the Pep Squad to do the halftime marching, while it played from the stands. Visiting bands were asked to play the National Anthem.

Try as the director and the members would, they just couldn't seem to get traction as a musical unit. At the end of the year, the band director tossed in the sponge and the kids faced another crisis.

Could the band program be salvaged, or should it be dropped? The school board called in George Walker, a former band director and consultant for a music supply company, to survey the situation.

He had directed for years and had been on the road for his company for four years and had seen and heard lots of bands.

"Stanton has the weakest band program I ever personally observed for its class of school," he frankly told the board. Then he outlined a program which he thought could save the band. Convinced it could be done, the board promptly persuaded Walker to resign his job and become the new band director.

At Seminole, where he had worked for 14 years before entering the sales field, his bands had won a dozen first division ratings. He set out to point Stanton's band in that direction.

First thing, he turned recruiter, knocking on doors and pleading for wider participation by students. His first year started with a nucleus of what was affectionately known as the "Dirty Thirty." Somehow, the group put together a halftime show for the first football game, and the band has been on the go since then. In initial competition, the band rated III division, competing against units with 100 or more, but its members were proud of that.

Walker, who graduated from Hardin-Simmons and did graduate work at Eastern New Mexico, Texas Tech and Sul Ross as well as serving as a leader for the 468th Army Services Forces band, has set up a strong feeder program in the lower grades. He is confident this will produce a sufficient flow of young musicians to sustain a band of 65 to 75 members.

Already things have changed dramatically. When the "Pride of Buffalo Land" takes the field, it's no longer just a slogan.

Stanton Man Is Learning How To Save His Life

GALVESTON — Meeting Junior Lander on the street, no one would ever guess that he's the victim of a potentially-fatal disease. He's more energetic and optimistic than most people, never complaining and always good-humored.

But, Herman W. Lander Jr., 29, Stanton, has a disease which has completely destroyed his normal kidney function. If he did not adhere closely to a strict diet and take lengthy treatments every other night, he would soon become critically ill and die.

His illness came suddenly last June. His vision became blurred, he was frequently nauseated and vomiting, and his arms and legs began to swell. These were preliminary symptoms of chronic renal failure, and his family doctor referred his case to kidney specialists at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

They told Lander that irreversible renal failure could be treated in only two ways. He would need either a kidney transplant or an artificial kidney machine. They told him that, if he could learn to operate such a machine and treat himself, he could have the apparatus installed in his home, thus enabling him to return to his work and other activities in Stanton.

With this hopeful prospect, Junior became a candidate for the treatment and training program of the Chronic Home Dialysis Center at the medical center in Galveston. He was chosen to be the program's thirtieth patient-trainee, entered training there on Oct. 20, and expects to be back home in Stanton before Christmas.

The Center was opened in January, 1968, financed jointly by the University of Texas Medical Branch and the U.S. Public Health Service. The primary purpose of the program is to determine the feasibility and cost of training people with chronic kidney failure to care for themselves at home.

The intensive two or three month training schedule at the center is designed to enable the average layman to learn all the medical and technical aspects of operating the artificial kidney machine and managing his own life-saving treatment.

The blood purification action of the artificial kidney machine is called hemodialysis. Treatment procedure is relatively simple and completely painless. The Galveston Center uses the Kill model dialyzer, a fairly compact and streamlined system which can reasonably be handled by both male and female patients.

Upon completion of training, the kidney machine is transported from the Center for installation in each patient's home. Ideally, patients will follow a three-nights-per-week schedule, dialyzing a total of 24 hours each week, while asleep, thus leaving the day free for work and other activities.

Each patient has a surgically-inserted shunt in his leg or forearm, composed of plastic tubes which extend from an artery and a vein to provide external entry to the blood flow. These tubes can be joined, whenever dialysis therapy begins, to other tubes entering and leaving the kidney machine.

Lander leaves the body by force of natural arterial pressure. It is pumped into and through the machine, being simultaneously filtered by osmosis through a series of cellophane membranes. The purified blood then returns to the body through the venous tubing.

The kidney apparatus is efficiently designed to assure the patient's maximum safety. Should any malfunction occur, the patient is alerted by the machine's sensitive alarm system. Each patient is thoroughly trained to identify and cope with the problem which might arise.

Dietary restrictions play an important role in the total therapy program. Each patient is required to maintain his own, specially-tailored diet, with exacting restrictions in salt, protein, potassium and fluid intakes. During training, the staff dietician provides extensive instruction in the calculation of food values and the preparation of meals based on clinically approved menus and recipes.

Meal planning and preparation will be the primary responsibility of Junior's wife, Mickey. She will join her husband at the center for the final weeks of the training course. At present, the family is temporarily living in League City, near Galveston, commuting between there and the training Center daily.

Lander has lived all his life in the Stanton area, and graduated in 1958 from Flower Grove High School. His wife graduated from Stanton High School in 1960 and attended beauty college in Midland.

The Landers have two children, Shandal Todd, 7, and Kresi Jana, 5. They live on their small farm on SH137, three miles north of Stanton. Lander is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Lander, Lenorah. Mickey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pinkerton, Stanton.

To date, 30 patients, representing every region of Texas, have been selected for training at the Center. Twenty-five of these are already managing self-care at home and have returned to their activities in the home community.

Prior to acceptance, each patient and his family must undergo a stringent selection procedure to determine his medical, social and psychological suitability and his rehabilitation potential. This selection procedure is necessitated by a lack of funds to train medical personnel and provide the proper facilities and equipment to serve all renal failure patients. Only a small percentage of these patients can be handled at this time. Unfortunately, only those judged most capable of meeting the strenuous demands of training and rehabilitation are chosen for the program.

The entire plan for self-care at home rather than hospital treatment has been devised to reduce the financial burden of treatment, thereby serving more people and saving more lives. The Galveston Center is equipped to train 18 patients each year, but an estimated 350 Texans die annually of kidney failure.

National statistics show that an estimated 35,000 Americans die annually of chronic renal failure. Of these, 7,000 could benefit from chronic dialysis or kidney transplantation.

However, the total number of patients with advanced renal failure who are currently maintained by long-term dialytic treatment is estimated at less than 1,000.

Dr. A. R. Remmers Jr., co-director of the Galveston Center, strongly emphasizes the importance of early referrals. Irreversible kidney disease can often be diagnosed several years prior to total renal failure and severe illness. Referrals should be made before the disease is so advanced that other serious medical complications have been incurred, he said.

Conservative Candidates Claim Election Errors

HOUSTON (AP) — An election official said Tuesday that Barbara Brightwell, a candidate in Saturday's school board election, received only seven absentee votes on one machine and a recount won't change that fact.

Mrs. Brightwell, who ran second to Mrs. James Tinsley, petitioned for a recount Tuesday and the school board granted it.

A recount was also granted to Earl Lairson, who ran second to George Oser by a slim margin.

Mrs. Brightwell and Lairson are members of the conservative slate which ran for the four positions available.

Mrs. Tinsley and Oser are members of a more liberal slate. Mrs. Tinsley also asked for a recount of all precincts.

The two conservative candidates claimed that some voting irregularities occurred in some Negro precincts.

Mrs. Brightwell said also that one absentee voting machine gave her only seven votes, while other conservative slate members received around 900 or more votes.

"We are advised that on the machine in question, when it reaches 999, it starts counting again at zero," the petition said.

Coy Spawn, chairman of the canvassing board for the absentee voting, said he saw no irregularities.

$45 Million Texas Estate Rule Upheld

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' Supreme Court refused today to review lower court decisions awarding the $45 million Electra Waggoner Land, cattle and oil fortune to Army Sgt. Albert Buckman "Bucky" Wharton III.

The decision, in effect, upheld young Wharton's claim to the gigantic estate. The high court said it found "no reversible error" in lower court verdicts in Wharton's favor.

Wharton, 22 is the grandson and sole living descendant of Electra Waggoner, daughter of cattle and oil baron W. T. Waggoner and namesake of Electra, Tex.

Both a trial court at Vernon and the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals upheld young Wharton's claim in a drawn out and complicated will contest. The courts said he is Electra Waggoner's only heir.

In 1967, the Electra Waggoner third of the fabulous W. T. Waggoner Estate was estimated at $45 million and embraced more than a quarter of a million acres in six counties.

Rita Wharton claimed half the assets of the Electra Waggoner trust on grounds that as "Buster" Wharton's step-daughter she was his "lawful issue" and heir.

W. T. Waggoner, cattle and oil baron, built an empire that covered a 30-by-25-mile area and more than 1 million acres by 1903. He had extensive financial interests in Fort Worth and built the well-known Arlington Downs race track between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Waggoner created the W. T. Waggoner estate in 1923 and allotted a third of it to each of his three children, Electra, Guy and Paul. He died in 1934.

Season Ducats Available At Door For Concert Series

The 1969-70 season of the Big Spring Concert Association will be launched at 8:15 p.m. today in the Municipal Auditorium by the famous New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony orchestra under the direction of Werner Torkanowsky.

Season memberships will be available at the door for the last time, and patrons are urged to take advantage of this last-minute enrollment. The orchestra conductor fell ill. With only 24 hours notice, Torkanowsky took over and so distinguished himself that he was named the ballet's music director. Seven years ago he was named by Gian Carlo Menotti for his "Festival of Two Worlds" at Spoleto, Italy, and twice has been invited to the coveted Naumburg award for conducting. Since he has served as guest conductor of such well-known orchestras as the New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, Rochester, Houston, Detroit, Montreal, St. Louis and Boston Symphony units.

Two pleas of guilty were entered in 118th District Court Tuesday afternoon, both for indictments voted by the Howard County Grand Jury Oct. 31.

Mostly DWI Cases Filed In Howard County Court

Several cases have been filed in Howard County Court this week, one filed yesterday names Donald Mead Oliver, 22, Howard House, who was charged Tuesday by city police and transferred to Howard County jail. He was released the same day on $350 bond set by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Two charges of driving while intoxicated which were made during the weekend, one by city police, and one by the Texas Highway Patrol, still have not been filed, although both men involved were released on bonds. Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter set bond at $1,000 for one man and at $500 for the other.

Four cases were filed in Howard County Court Monday, three on charges of driving while intoxicated, and one on a charge of aggravated assault which names William Herbert Snow, 47, Wyoming Hotel. He was arrested by sheriff's officers Monday and released the same day on $250 bond set by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Virginia Nagel, arrested Monday in Corpus Christi on a Howard County warrant which charged issuing a worthless check, made restitution through the sheriff's office in that city and her case was dismissed by Eysen.

New System For City Fund Receipts

The city will be starting a receipt, besides handling the new system this week, designed to ease some of its internal paper work, according to Finance Director Charles Smith. The city has had forms similar to receipts, printed up for each of its departments, containing the services that department performs and their corresponding account number. When, for example, a customer gets a building permit, the personnel there will fill out this form with the amount. The customer then brings it to the cashier's office, where he pays the fee and the cashier marks his slip paid.

High Court Rejects Plea Of Rap Brown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court rejected an appeal by H. Rap Brown that questioned whether judges may revoke a prospective defendant's bail for "technical violations."

The court made no comment on contentions raised by attorneys for the black power militant as it denied his request for a hearing.

Brown's $15,000 bail was declared forfeited in February 1968, by Lansing L. Mitchell, a federal judge in Louisiana, because Brown had made fundraising speeches in Oakland and Los Angeles for Huey P. Newton, another black power advocate.

Brown, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was awaiting trial on charges of illegally carrying a rifle between New Orleans and New York City by airplane. He was convicted in May 1968, and sentenced to five years in prison and $2,000 fine.

The bail conditions generally had restricted his traveling before trial to other court appearances and to visits to his lawyers. Brown spoke at Newton rallies while on trips to San Francisco and to Los Angeles to consult with his lawyers.

Judge Mitchell, forfeiting the $5,000 bail, set a new bail of $50,000, applying $10,000 of the forfeited bail to it. The judge also further restricted Brown's travels.

The appeal claimed the 1966 federal bail reform law was designed to authorize forfeiture of bail only when a prospective defendant failed to show up for court proceedings.

Additionally, the appeal claimed the forfeiture violated the eighth amendment's protection against cruel and unusual punishment.

Right To Wear Black Arm Bands

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge has ruled that pupils have a constitutional right to wear black arm bands to protest the Vietnam war.

Judge Robert W. Hemphill ordered officials of the Ridgeville-Hartleyville High School Monday to stop violating such rights and reinstate six suspended students.

The six, Negroes and Indians, refused to take off the arm bands Friday and were removed from the school by sheriff's deputies. They and their parents appealed to the court.

DEAR ABBY: If you can't answer this, please don't tell me to talk to my minister or doctor because I couldn't face them with this problem.

Putting it bluntly, ever since we have been married (it's going on nine years) my husband will have relations with me only on Saturday night. If I am in the mood on Monday, I can just forget it. Also, if I am dead tired or not in the mood on Saturday, that doesn't make any difference to him.

Outside of this one fault, he is a good husband and a better than average father to our four children, so maybe I shouldn't complain. But I want to know if this is normal in a man, or is there something wrong with him?

SATURDAY NIGHT WIFE DEAR WIFE: One of the things that is "wrong" with your husband is his bull-headedness. Also, if he puts marital relations on a time schedule, he doesn't know the first thing about how to please a woman — or himself for that matter. And if he isn't willing to learn, shame on him. My condolences.

DEAR ABBY: I own and operate a small but up-to-date neighborhood grocery store and here is my problem. We deliver, but there is one customer who comes into the store at least twice a day to buy one or maybe two items. Then she helps herself to the largest shopping bag we have. These bags cost ME 5 cents each.

The delivery boy tells me that this lady has more shopping bags in her house than we have in our store.

This isn't going to make or break me, but it is very irritating. Is there some way I can put a stop to this without appearing petty?

NEW HERSEY GROCER DEAR GROCER: No. But since it will neither make nor break you, I advise you to charge it off to the cost of doing business and forget it. An ulcer is far more irritating and infinitely more expensive.

DEAR ABBY: I have a husband who saves, collects and stores all kinds of things — large and small. Where does he store them? Right in the living room, bedroom, and hallways. We literally live in a warehouse Everywhere you look, things are packed and piled in boxes. You wonder if we just moved in and haven't unpacked yet, or we are moving out.

If I put up a shelf for my things, right away HE loads it down with his. I once moved some of his boxes down in the basement with the help of a friend and the roof came off. That can't happen again because there's no more room down there.

I think it's like a disease with him. No woman can cure him either. I am his third wife. Now I know why the others left him.

There is no place to sit. He has the couch all covered with stuff, and same for the dining room chairs. He could live his whole life sitting on a kitchen chair.

He has an oil drum in the living room and a drill press in the bedroom. Don't ask me why he's saving them.

As it is, I practically live in the car and try to get my work done in this warehouse.

If there is another wife who has solved this problem outside of divorce, I wish she would write in. Thank you, too, Abby, for listening. Very truly yours, GOING CRAZY DEAR GOING: You don't say how long you have lived with this pack rat, but from your letter I would say your squirrely husband is about to strike out for the third time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.P.: It's a great deal easier to forgive an enemy after you get even with him.

Hotel Faces Wrecking Ball

AUSTIN (AP) — Time has run out for the historic Driskill Hotel, says the leading spokesman of a group set up to save the 19th Century inn from the wrecking ball.

"Our time has run out. Nothing has happened other than that our option has expired," said architect Max Brooks.

"We have no definite plans to revive attempts. Financial sources have failed to materialize."

Brooks said the decision on the actual demolition of the Driskill would be made by the owners, Highland Resources of Houston.

"I don't think they will start tomorrow with the wrecking. It'll be some time before they start. They are not organized and ready to start yet," Brooks said.

He said the group's failure to preserve the 1886 part of the downtown Driskill and pursue plans to build a new structure next to it stemmed from the fact it was unable to obtain some $4 million in long term financing.

'Possum Day'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox has proclaimed Saturday Dec. 6 as "Possum Day" in Georgia. That's the second day of the two-day "world's largest possum hunt," planned by officials at Dillard, in the North Georgia mountains.

Maddox's proclamation, signed Monday, says: "Frosty mornings and the fact that possums are ripe in North Georgia offer undeniable proof that it is possum hunting time in Georgia."

"A baked possum with sweet potatoes and sassafras is considered a delicacy by many gourmets."

He Wanted Loan, Computer Goofs

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (AP) — All Dwayne Honerman wanted was the loan of one Air Force film.

Honerman, librarian at Worthington High School, made his request in a letter to Norton Air Force Base, Calif.

In quick order, he received more than 200 letters from the Air Force, confirming his order. Then parcels of various sizes started arriving. They contained orders from libraries, schools and military training bases all over the country.

He contacted Norton AFB officials, who found that a computer had goofed, sending Honerman all orders for films, film strips and other visual equipment processed on Oct. 28.

Honerman said he would return all the packages.

Embezzlement Trial Delayed

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—The embezzlement trial of two former Lone Star National Bank officials was postponed in federal court Monday because one of the defendants was injured in an automobile accident Sunday night.

U. S. Dist. Judge William Justice approved the motion for postponement. Jerry Harris, lawyer for J. B. Tucker, filed the motion because, he said, Tucker was under treatment in a Longview hospital following a one-car accident.

Tucker was vice president of the Lone Star Bank in Lone Star, Tex. He and Dwight Moody, who was president of the bank, were scheduled to go to trial Monday on embezzlement charges.

The two were indicted in March by a federal grand jury. Moody on nine counts alleging misapplication of $41,000 and one count alleging false entry; Tucker on two counts charging he embezzled $1,637 and another count alleging he aided Moody.

'ROUND TOWN

Fellow Housewives of Big Spring, Texas, and other parts of the nation, let's complain! Let's complain about those women who make those various commercial messages that are supposed to sell soap, disinfectants, towels, bathroom bowl cleaners, etc. Let's have as the basis of our complaint those high pitched, rasping voices and the idiotic smiles of joy these so-called housewives come up with when all those stains come out of the clothing, or they find a flowered towel in the soap box, or the bowl starts playing a tune out of the sheer cleanliness of it all.

I remember that Edna Ferber dwelt on the high pitched voices of the Texas women in her "Giant" but I don't think she heard too many of them. Besides that, I don't believe just Texas women clean house, wash clothes, clean the bathrooms, etc. Let's have someone pretty besides those who sing while polishing the furniture in a chiffon cocktail dress or shampoos the carpet in high heels and party dress.

Guests of MRS. MARY RAGSDALE have returned to their home in Tyler after spending several days here at the weekend. They were her mother, MRS. J. L. TURNER, and her brother, CLOVIS TURNER. Clovis and Mary enjoyed some quail hunting during his stay here.

sister, MISS EVELYN BREWER, who had undergone surgery and had been seriously ill. She is improving now.

Being with her sister was especially meaningful to Mrs. Yates who was the youngest member of a family that was separated from each other as children. Miss Brewer was the eldest of the group, and some years ago she came here and located Mrs. Yates, the youngest, who had come here to make her home. They have corresponded since that time and when Miss Brewer became ill Mrs. Yates was notified and went to be with her sister.

Black Market Money Hoops Entice GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar currency manipulation racket with Indian money changers at the top and GI deserters at the bottom has corrupted some South Vietnamese officials, congressional investigators have been told.

The investigations committee, headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., also heard testimony Tuesday that millions of dollars from the illegal operation end up in U.S. banks.

Robert Parker, an official at the U.S. embassy in Saigon, said the Indians "constitute a syndicate in the most criminal and sinister sense of the word."

The presence of this well known group of Indian currency violators, operating openly, weakens the morale of more dedicated Vietnamese law enforcement officials, makes corruption seem easy, and encourages others to share in the black market profits themselves," Parker said.

He said many GIs have dealt with the money dealers who give up to 240 South Vietnamese piasters for a dollar instead of the legal rate of 118-1.

American deserters often sell their citizenship and contacts in the U.S. military to the syndicate, Parker indicated.

But Parker characterized the GI as "a small player in a game with million-dollar stakes."

Parker said the racket has generated more than $150 million annually in illegal funds.

IT'S A-OK!—Mrs. Sue Bean, wife of Apollo 12 lunar module pilot, Alan L. Bean, and their son, Clay, 13, give the sign of approval after the "Intrepid" landed on the moon today. The Beans watched television and listened to the landing reports at their home near the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston.

Apollo 12 Wives: Cheers, Hugs, Sighs

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "We made it again," sighed Sue Bean. "Unbelievable!" exclaimed Barbara Gordon. "There they are," said Jane Conrad, pointing to the moon.

With cheers, hugs, sighs, applause and champagne, the Apollo 12 wives celebrated today America's second successful moon landing.

The families, huddling with friends and relatives and astronauts and astronauts' wives, watched television and listened as Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean guide their moonship Intrepid to the lunar surface.

ALL-NIGHT VIGIL "An all-night moon vigil," was the way Sue Bean described it, although she chose later to try for a nap between the landing and the moonwalk.

"This night belongs to Pete and Al," said a wistful Barbara Gordon.

Separated from his colleagues, Richard F. Gordon Jr., piloted the command ship Yankee Clipper in moon orbit, alone and poised for a rescue attempt should one become necessary.

As the crew prepared for the descent, ground communicator Gerry Carr told the astronauts their wives were resting for the long night ahead.

"I just talked to Barbara and she's been resting up," Carr told Gordon. "They're taking naps and everything, getting all set for spending the night up with you."

"YOU'RE GREAT" "And Barbara said to tell you that she thinks you're just great," "Well!" Gordon laughingly replied. "Tell her thank you. After 16 years, it's about time."

"Mama's going to let us stay up," exclaimed an excited Larry Gordon, 11, one of the six Gordon children. "And we don't have to go to school Wednesday."

Peter and his friend, Michael Howell, will climb into a box between beds in a room of the Howell home Friday night.

The simulated moonship contains sleeping pads, a toy instrument panel, a television set and other equipment designed to aid the junior spacemen on their simulated flight, scheduled to end Sunday.

"GO NAVY!" The two Bean children, Clay, 13, and Amy, 6, were also swept up in the excitement of the moon adventure.

But their reactions differed. Clay complained that his schoolmates brought newspaper pictures of him to school, which "is embarrassing."

Amy, on the other hand, took the clippings and raced off to show a girlfriend.

The Bean household was stocked up with food and champagne, and Mrs. Bean emerged on the eve of the landing to tape up a poster showing the moon, the moon lander, the earth and a sign: "Go Navy! Go Apollo 12!"

All three crew members are Navy commanders.

Haynsworth Backers Growing Optimistic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces, facing a Senate vote Friday on the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., have been buoyed by what one Republican leader calls "the way things are going."

Announcements Tuesday by two freshmen senators brightened the outlook for the Haynsworth backers.

The Senate's newest member, Republican Ralph T. Smith of Illinois, said he had changed his mind and will support Haynsworth.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said he too will vote for confirmation.

This came on the heels of word Monday from Sens. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., and William B. Spong, D-Va., that they would vote for Haynsworth.

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said "the way things are going" he expects more announcements backing Haynsworth before Friday's 1 p.m. vote.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield obtained agreement on the timing of the vote after Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, withdrew a proposal for a showdown Thursday.

Smith's decision to vote for confirmation tipped the balance in an Associated Press survey to 41 senators supporting the nomination compared to 40 against. The other 19 remain publicly uncommitted.

Smith, who was appointed to the Senate to succeed the late

Sen. Mike Gravel, GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, said last month that a "shadow had been cast" on Haynsworth's record as chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals and he could not vote for confirmation.

But Smith said Tuesday that after careful study he is convinced conflict-of-interest charges against the South Carolina jurist were "based on half-truths and misrepresentations."

Contributions LUFKIN (AP) — The Southland Foundation of Southland Paper Co. in Lufkin has contributed $11,350 to Angelina County organizations.

The foundation was set up in 1953. In addition to charitable contributions, it has awarded more than $150,000 in college scholarships to children of Southland employees.

Withdrawal Rate Too Slow For Foes WASHINGTON (AP) — Several war critics on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee say the Nixon administration is on a withdrawal course from Vietnam, but the rate is too slow.

The senators, who gave their views after a closed meeting Tuesday with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, had a similar session scheduled today with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., agreed after talking with Rogers that the withdrawal course is irreversible.

They complained, however, the policy may involve leaving up to 250,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam for an indefinite period.

Committee Chairman Fulbright said Rogers rejected repeated demands by members for further details on President Nixon's withdrawal plans and the secret timetable for turning the war over to the South Vietnamese.

Fulbright said the committee would decide after today's meeting with Laird whether to push ahead with public hearings on Vietnam.

Rogers told the committee the United States has had "numerous diplomatic contacts" with North Vietnam, some since the September death of Ho Chi Minh, but that "it would be wrong to suggest that they have indicated any progress."

While he hopes for a positive response to Nixon's speech, the secretary added, "we see no immediate prospect for success in the negotiations."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said the division between the committee and the administration is "on how to end the war. We have at least come that far."

Church said he sees "some encouragement from the fact that the general direction of our policy is now out of Vietnam," but added he fears the administration plans to keep up to 250,000 men in Vietnam "for an indefinite number of years."

Kennedy Family Wants Theme To Be Joyous One

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — A funeral Mass with a theme of spiritual joy will be offered Thursday for Joseph P. Kennedy in the small clapboard church where the Kennedys have worshiped for years.

The 81-year-old former ambassador, father of President John F. Kennedy and patriarch of one of the nation's most famous political families, died Tuesday at his Cape Cod home.

He had been in poor health since suffering a stroke eight years ago. Last Saturday he had another stroke. He grew progressively weaker, slipping into a coma Monday.

Members of the family attended a special Mass offered Tuesday night by the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh at St. Francis Xavier church in Hyannis. Father Cavanaugh is a long-time friend of the Kennedys. A former president of Notre Dame University, he is now chaplain at St. Mary's College in Indiana.

Thursday's 9 a.m. funeral Mass will be offered in the same church. Kennedy's close friend, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, will be the celebrant. He will be assisted by the Rev. Joseph Maguire, a member of the cardinal's staff, and the Rev. Joseph Fitzgerald, a nephew of Mrs. Kennedy.

Only the family and close friends will attend. There will be no wake.

The white funeral Mass will be a departure from Roman Catholic tradition. The Mass is called white because the clergy will wear white vestments instead of purple or black. In accordance with precepts that have been emphasized since the Second Vatican Council, the accent will be on the message of resurrection and joy after death rather than mourning.

Following the Mass, a hearse will carry the body to the family plot at Holyhood Cemetery in Brookline, a town bordering Boston where the Kennedys lived for years.

Kennedy's six oldest grandchildren will be honorary pallbearers.

At Kennedy's bedside when he died at 11:05 a.m. EST Tuesday were Rose, his wife of 55 years, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the last of his four sons.

With them were other members of the family including the widows of his two assassinated sons—Evelyn Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and

Lt. Hale Memorialized By Marker At Baylor

In Burleson Quadrangle on the campus of Baylor University, where he earned his degree, stands a marker in memory of 1st Lt. William T. Hale of Big Spring.

Oct. 11, 1968, in a helicopter crash at Quang Nam, Vietnam. The brick marker and the cast metal plate was dedicated recently by the Kappa Omega Tau fraternity at Baylor. Mrs. Hale, her daughters — Mrs. Sandy Porter, Dallas, Mrs. Mary Sue Echois, Garland, and Mrs. Jamie Ellison, Big Spring — were guests of the organization for the dedication.

I Think That I Shall Never See

KIRKWOOD, Mo. (AP) — Problems with leaf collections caused by a new ban on leaf-burning moved City Councilman Robert L. Murphy the city's public works commissioner, to turn to verse at a council meeting.

I think that I shall never see,
A thing as ugly as a tree.
With all its branches, twigs and leaves,
Over which the street department grieves.
From dawn to dusk and dusk to dawn,
The vacuum unit rolls on and on.
'Round the city streets it's sweeping,
Waking all the folks who're sleeping.
Soon autumn will end—all will be bleak,
And our men needn't work a seven-day week.
I think that I shall never see,
A thing as lovely as a tree—
But no damn leaves at all."

Tyndal Stripling, president of the group, presided. He is a brother of Dennis Stripling, who was Lt. Hale's "big brother" when he went into the organization as a student.

Lt. Hale, a graduate of Big Spring High School and of Baylor in 1966, was assigned to the first Marine Air Wing of the U.S. Marine Corps and had been in Vietnam only a short time when he was killed.

Tax Proposals

COLUMBUS, Tex. (AP) — Voters in the Columbus Independent School District will vote on three bond and tax proposals Wednesday.

They will pass on a $500,000 bond issue to build an auditorium and add classrooms at the high school and to air condition the elementary school and junior high, plus a $110,000 alternate to the first proposal, and on an increase in the tax rate ceiling to $1.50.

Fed Licensing Of Motorists May Develop

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A Denver jurist and a nationally recognized safety expert warned Tuesday that federal licensing of drivers may develop unless the slaughter on the nation's roads is reduced.

Dist. Judge Sherman F. Finesilver cited the 55,000 traffic deaths in America last year and called traffic deaths a "great social trauma of our country today."

The judge was featured speaker at the monthly meeting of Tulsa's Knife and Fork Club. His comments came in the wake of a four-day period in Oklahoma in which 29 persons had been killed and more than 80 injured in traffic accidents, a siege that brought worried comment from state Safety Commissioner Bob Lester earlier in the day.

"If all of these good people were killed at one time you can bet there would be an immediate probe and investigation of the causes, and steps taken quickly to remedy the situation," Finesilver said.

He proclaimed the automobile as the instrument of death for more Americans than all of the nation's conflict casualties put together.

"In Oklahoma last year 879 persons were killed on the streets of the cities and the highways in the rural areas," Finesilver said. "In most of these highway fatalities in Oklahoma — and across the nation, for that matter — drinking was involved."

"You notice I did not say drunk drivers were totally to blame. I said drinking was involved. Many people have just one drink, but that one was deadly in far too many cases." He said one of the mysteries of traffic safety is the steadily increasing number of one-car accidents. "Whether drinking is involved or some physical defect of the driver is the cause of these accidents is unknown," he said.

Precedent-Shattering Party For Negotiators

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — The U.S. and the Soviet ambassadors are giving a precedent-shattering joint party today during the one-day recess in the strategic arms limitation talks.

The reception being given by Ambassadors Val Peterson and A. E. Kovalev is the first in Helsinki—and diplomats believe the first anywhere—to be given jointly by Soviet and American ambassadors.

SPLIT THE COST
The idea—understood to have been proposed by Peterson and willingly seconded by his Soviet counterpart—was to stage a get-acquainted social for the disarmament delegations, their staffs and leaders of the Finnish government hosting the conference.

About 200 guests were invited to the reception at a restaurant-nightclub neutrally located between the U.S. and Soviet embassies.

The two ambassadors drew up the invitation list—and agreed to split the cost 50-50.

The joint reception underscored the air of cordiality which has surrounded the negotiators since they first met Monday.

Conference sources said there have been no procedural disputes so far like the long argument in Paris last year over the shape of the table for the Vietnam peace talks.

TOSS OF COIN
A toss of the coin, for example, gave Soviet negotiator Vladimir S. Semenov first place in the speaking lineup at the ceremonial opening. The Russians readily agreed in turn to hold the first business session Tuesday at the U.S. Embassy, and the Americans agreed to hold the next session Thursday at the Soviet Embassy.

Whether this show of cooperation means the two superpowers will make any progress in the main aim of the talks—to slow down the nuclear arms race—remains to be seen.

The shortness of the first negotiating session—only 45 minutes of business time since half the 90-minute meeting was spent in translations—indicated neither side presented its position in detail.

The one-day layover presumably gave the envoys time to report home and get instructions. But under the agreement between the two sides not to disclose what is going on while the talks are under way, no information on the proceedings was made public.

Bob Hope Maps Christmas Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope will make his 19th Christmas trip this year to entertain U.S. servicemen abroad, including his sixth visit to fighting men in Vietnam.

The National Broadcasting Co. said Tuesday that Hope will take a troupe of entertainers on a 15-day tour of bases in Germany, Italy, Turkey, Thailand, South Vietnam, Formosa and Guam.

Ex-LBJ Aide Says TV News Coverage Is Not Objective

AUSTIN (AP) — Television news coverage is not objective and it often gives "a distorted picture of the news," George Christian, who was press secretary while Lyndon Johnson was president, said Tuesday. "There was friction between the Johnson administration and news media on many points and particularly the Vietnam war, Christian went on to say in a telephone interview.

NOTHING NEW "But there's nothing new in that," he added. The former press secretary said Johnson's views on Vice President Spiro Agnew's blast at television network coverage are evident in a speech by LBJ to the National Association of Broadcasters April 1, 1969.
