TAX REFORM Labels Oil Depletion Vote Crucial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., says a Senate vote set for Monday on the oil depletion allowance will be crucial for the cause of tax reform.

A Senate refusal to go along with some cut in the allowance, he told a reporter, might open the way for floor votes to eliminate or weaken other major provisions of the tax-reform bill.

The Senate has agreed to vote Monday afternoon on a proposal of Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to restore the 27½ per cent depletion allowance and reject the cut to 23 per cent voted by the Senate Finance Committee.

'Symbol Of Tax Reform'

If Ellender's amendment is beaten, Williams plans to follow it with a proposal to make the allowance 20 per cent — the figure voted by the House.

Williams, senior Republican on Finance, said he is confident the Ellender amendment will be defeated.

"I just can't believe the Senate will not go along with some reduction," he said.

"This is the symbol of tax reform. If we don't cut the allowance, the country will not think we are serious about reform."

However, if the Senate does agree to a cut in the allowance, it will be the first time since the 27½ per cent figure was established 43 years ago.

The most votes to reduce it ever obtained in past years came in 1964 on a 57-35 rejection of an amendment to reduce the allowance.

Sen. Tower Talks Profit

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., argues that "if the net gain to the economy exceeds the tax revenue lost as the result of granting the tax advantage by a great enough margin, then it should not be abolished simply because a few individuals profit from it."

Finance Committee members were told by some industry spokesmen that a boost of a cent a gallon in gasoline prices might be required if the allowance were cut to 20 per cent.

With 84 billion gallons of gasoline sold in the U.S. last year, that would mean an $840 million increase in costs to the consumer. This is far more than the reduction in the depletion allowance even to 20 per cent would yield to the Treasury.

However, Nixon administration officials told the committee it appears the provisions advocated to cut back on oil industry tax aids would justify only a four-tenths of a cent hike in the price of gasoline.

Thanksgiving Traffic Deaths

By The Associated Press

The pace of traffic deaths for the Thanksgiving weekend quickened Saturday as the four-day holiday period moved into its final phase.

Fair weather over most of the nation provided favorable driving conditions for holiday travelers. The only precipitation was light rain in southern Texas and a few snow flurries in the Great Lakes region.

The holiday weekend, a 102-hour period, began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

If Friday and Saturday are indices of what the Christmas shopping season is going to bring, then this one shapes up as a big one. Formal opening of one of the shopping centers might have aided, but then the downtown area was teeming, too. So "shop and mail early" seems to be still good advice.

Thanksgiving almost took on a Currier and Ives effect when snow and sleet peppered down Thursday morning, leaving a thin skim of white in some areas. The day before had brought slow rain, which measured from three-fourths to an inch. If the farmers can only get a few weeks of clear weather now for the harvest, they will find their land in perfect condition for "putting up."

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse deserved a spot front and center, for last week it brought back the biggest prize of all — a first place in the American Association of Sheriff's Poses at Lawton, Okla. The posse has earned praise, for during this year it has travelled 2,500 miles to (See THE WEEK, Page 6-A, Col. 5)

Plane Flames Burn Webb Pilot, Wife

ROHRSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Three persons were burned seriously Saturday afternoon when their light, single-engine plane crashed into the side of South Mountain and burst into flames.

Maryland State Police at Hagerstown identified the injured as the pilot, 2d Lt. Steven Lane Smith, 23, assigned to Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, Tex.; his wife, Nancy, 20, and her sister, Virginia Ann Webb, 22, of Bethesda, Md.

Police said all were admitted in serious condition with burns to Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown.

Authorities reported that the Piper Comanche had been rented for recreational use about 30 minutes before the crash from an aircraft service at Frederick, Md., Airport.

Police said the craft was returning to Frederick when it went down about three miles east of Rohrsville. Police said the injured were burned when they initially had difficulty scrambling from the wreckage.

Seeking Pact To Head Off Rail Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad and union negotiators worked with federal mediators in a day-long session Saturday seeking an agreement that would head off a possible nationwide rail shutdown this week.

In midafternoon, a management spokesman said there was no sign of an agreement.

Assistant Secretary of Labor William J. Usery Jr. and George S. Ivey of the National Mediation Board sat in on the talks held in the office of management's National Railway Labor Conference.

Former Aide To Thieu Gets Life Sentence

SAIGON (AP) — A former aide to President Nguyen Van Thieu, a once high civil official and two other South Vietnamese were sentenced Saturday to life in prison for spying for the enemy.

Of the 43 defendants in Saigon's biggest espionage trial, 37 were given sentences ranging from 20 years to one-year suspended sentences. Two were released pending further investigation.

The four sentenced to life by a five-man military tribunal were: Huynh Van Trong, a former aide in Thieu's office; Le Huu Thuy, a onetime high civil servant in the Open Arms Ministry; Vu Ngoc Nha, a Communist who admitted he led the spy ring; and Nguyen Van Kinh, who said he had been a member of the Communist party for 20 years.

These four and eight others had been charged with treason, but the prosecution did not ask the death penalty. The other eight received long sentences.

The other 31 defendants had been accused of lesser offenses, ranging from being accomplices to treason to disrupting public order. Of these, 13 were women. The prosecution contended that all 43 were part of a Communist plot to infiltrate the government and gather information on deployment of troops and government programs.

The prosecution claimed Trong made a trip to the United States during President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration, allegedly on a mission to improve Johnson-Thieu relations, but actually fomenting antiwar sentiment among Americans. His lawyer denied this.

First Hijacking Of Airliner From Europe To Cuba Staged

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — With a pistol in one hand and a knife in the other, a man wearing dark sun glasses hijacked a Brazilian airliner on a flight from Europe Saturday and ordered it to fly to Cuba. It was the first hijacking of an airliner from Europe to Cuba.

The plane had left London on Friday, stopped in Paris and was taken over by the hijacker — described as being French of Algerian descent — as the Boeing 707 of Varig Airlines flew over Portugal.

Among the 80 passengers and 15 crewmen listed on board were a top-ranking Brazilian automobile racer, Emerson Fittipaldi, and an eminent British cancer researcher, Dr. Peter Alexander.

The plane stopped in San Juan for refueling. Communications with the jet were cut off after it reached Havana. The plane arrived there at 6:40 a.m., EST, Havana radio reported.

In Rio de Janeiro, Brazilian officials said they expected the plane to leave Havana Sunday. Varig officials in Rio de Janeiro said the plane was the same aircraft that was hijacked to Cuba on Nov. 4 as it flew between Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Santiago, Chile. It had completed its flight from Europe to Rio de Janeiro and was continuing on to Santiago.

Two other Brazilian aircraft have been hijacked to Cuba this year.

In San Juan, a Brazilian army officer, Maj. Cassio Reis Carneiro, and the plane's flight engineer, Gustavo Santos, were the only two persons allowed to disembark. Carneiro was permitted to file the flight plan and check weather conditions. Santos supervised refueling of the four-jet plane.

Shortly after disembarking Carneiro told Puerto Rican officials that the man, whom he described as being about 32 years old, bolted from the tourist section of the plane and burst into the crew's cabin.

By The Associated Press

Reports came to light Saturday of war prisoners being thrown from Army helicopters and South Vietnamese civilians being gunned down by U.S. helicopter pilots.

The reports came in the wake of disclosures about an alleged massacre of from 109 to more than 500 South Vietnamese civilians by U.S. troops at My Lai in March 1968. An Army lieutenant has been charged with premeditated murder of 109 persons in the incident.

Statements about the helicopter incidents came Saturday from several Vietnam veterans. At least one former serviceman said American soldiers laughed about the mistreatment of the Viet Cong.

DROPPED TO DEATH

The Chicago Sun-Times printed photographs allegedly showing a prisoner being dropped to his death from a U.S. Army helicopter.

The pictures supposedly were taken by a helicopter pilot flying escort for the craft from which the prisoner was dropped. They were supplied to the paper by Alan Jones, 22, Oak Forest, Ill., a schoolteacher, who said he had known the pilot for some time.

Jones said the pictures were mailed to his parents by the photographer. Neither Jones nor his parents would identify him. A letter accompanying the photographs said the helicopter had picked up three prisoners. It went on: "This guy wouldn't talk, so out he went."

NO ANSWER

The Minneapolis Star, meanwhile, reported that Fred Sedahl, a former Navy hospital corpsman from Brainerd, Minn., told the Star a South Vietnamese interpreter had thrown a Viet Cong prisoner out of a helicopter during a flight to a prison camp.

There was no indication as to whether the two newspaper reports referred to the same incident. Sedahl said the incident he discussed occurred in December 1965. It was reported, but not confirmed the incident mentioned in the Sun-Times took place this year.

The Star said Sedahl told them he based his report on conversations with Marines who were in the helicopter when the Viet Cong was thrown out.

Sedahl said the Marines told him the interpreter — tentatively identified as Nuyun Do Trac, assigned to the 3rd Marine Division, Da Nang — asked the prisoner: "Where are the Viet Cong?"

"When there was no answer," Sedahl said the Marines related, "the interpreter threw him out the door of the helicopter, then turned to the other two prisoners and began questioning them."

Astronauts Showing Off Their Prizes From Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 12 astronauts showed off their prizes from the moon Saturday after arriving at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory to begin a final 11 days of quarantine.

Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean showed their boss four large moon rocks and pieces of an unmanned spacecraft after they moved into dormitory-like quarantine quarters.

Flight crew operations director Donald K. Slayton talked with the trio for about an hour from outside a large glass window.

With Slayton were Dr. Charles Berry, chief flight surgeon, and Astronaut Thomas Stafford.

Conrad and Bean gathered the rocks on the moon. A public affairs officer sharing the crew's quarantine said the largest was 10 to 11 inches across and the others were about the size of "two fists held together."

Conrad, the Apollo 12 commander, also had a bag of pieces cut from the Surveyor 3 spacecraft, an unmanned lunar lander Conrad and Bean visited on the moon.

Christmas Cheer Fund Invitation

For approximately 35 years, The Herald has joined hands with the city's firemen in financing the repair and distribution of toys at Christmas to the needy children of the city.

This operation is called "Christmas Cheer Fund" because it aims to bring a bit of holiday happiness to youngsters who otherwise do not share in such enjoyment.

For 1969, the Christmas Cheer Fund is now open, and the response of charitable-minded individuals and groups is invited.

Money goes first to buy parts and supplies so that firemen can put into good repair the toys given for this purpose (and they could use some more of these, now). Any surplus is retained as a reserve to meet emergencies when destitute families of the city must have help. So your Christmas Cheer gift actually does good all year. Not one cent goes for any administrative cost, since all connected with the endeavor are volunteers.

If you want to have a part, please make your check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and mail it to The Herald for prompt and public acknowledgment.

Boy Scout Banquet Bills Vietnam Vet

The man who became the third Medal of Honor winner as a member of the U.S. Air Force in Vietnam combat, will be the speaker for the annual Boy Scout Lone Star district banquet here Thursday evening.

He is Maj. Merlyn H. Dethlefsen, now stationed at Vance AFB, Okla.

Tickets for the banquet ($1.50) are available from Wade Choate, ticket chairman, may be had at the Big Spring Herald, or from representatives of troops, packs or posts. Tickets should be obtained by Monday afternoon.

The banquet will be held in the Howard County Junior College SUB dining room.

Among the highlights of the program will be the recognition of unit leaders and the installation of Jack Powell, manager of the VA Hospital, as chairman of the district committee, along with other members of his staff, including Dean Lagerstrom, district commissioner. The dinner also will serve as a welcoming affair for Monty Stokes, district executive, and his aide, Bob Rotwell. Col. Chandler B. Estes will be turning over the district chairmanship to Powell. Leon Miller will be master of ceremonies.

The dinner also is an appreciation affair for the 33 institutions who sponsor 44 Scout, Cub, and Explorer units. In honor of the occasion, Pack 46, headed by Lt. Col. John O'Donnell, will decorate the banquet room.

Maj. Dethlefsen earned the nation's highest decoration on a flight March 10, 1967. He was one of four USAF pilots assigned to destroy a key surface-to-air-missile site near the Thai Nguyen steel mill, 50 miles north of Hanoi. The site contained a complex of SAM missiles and an exceptionally heavy concentration of big anti-aircraft and other automatic weapons.

The two leading aircraft sustained immediate hits, one crashing and the other being so crippled it had to limp back home. Maj. Dethlefsen assumed command, and with his wingman, attacked the steel works in the face of withering fire. Twice he was jumped by MIG fighters and his plane was hit repeatedly, yet he continued repeated close range strikes until he silenced the key defenses. This permitted a strike flight to move in and put the industrial facility out of commission.

A native of Greenville, Iowa, he received his degree in business in the States. At Vance, he is in charge of the activities and welfare of 560 student pilots. He and his wife, Jorja, and their children, Julie and Jeffrey, live in Lahoma, Okla.

Patients Plan Annual Trip For Shopping

Christmas shopping is a special event for patients at the Big Spring State Hospital. For some, it is their only opportunity during the entire year to go downtown and shop, or just enjoy looking at the variety of goods on sale and colorful decorations throughout the store.

Herman Bauer will hold the eighth annual shopping open-house at Woolworth's Tuesday beginning at 7 p.m. Bauer expects nearly 300 patients of ages ranging from pre-teens to the elderly, to begin arriving with staff members from the hospital.

"The first year we held the open-house, we had 170 patients, and last year almost 300 came," Bauer said.

Woolworth's 14 employees volunteer to work for the open-house evening, but Bauer also pays them. The patients are served coffee from the fountain, and doughnuts, which are donated by a bread company.

"The patients look forward to going shopping months ahead of time," said Mrs. Mary Cochran, volunteer coordinator at the hospital. "The store is jammed with people and they have a great time." She said. The shopping spree is so busy that hospital staff members become temporary clerks, looking up prices and sizes, helping ring up and wrap purchases and serve coffee. An amazing amount of coffee and doughnuts are consumed, according to Mrs. Cochran.

The most popular items are jewelry, clothing, stationery and Christmas cards. Many patients buy presents for their relatives and for themselves, said Bauer. "We're here to entertain them. We sell a lot of candy and the cigarette machine is working constantly," he said. The hardest part is telling the patients that it is time to go. "The young ones, especially. They're always the first to come and the last to leave," Bauer said.

District Offices Stay At C-City

Colorado City will be a district office for Sun Oil Company under the merger of Sun and Sunray DX. The district office there will be under the Dallas regional production office, which also includes Midland and Longview in Texas, and Delhi, La., and Newhall, Calif.

Cotton Yield Raised Higher

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service has raised the 1970 projected cotton yield for Howard County and five other area counties. Price support payments are based on the projected yield. According to the Lubbock office of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. the six counties were the only ones of the 25 it represents that did not see their projected yield drop.

The per-pound price for cotton will be supported to 16.8 cents compared to 14.73 cents in 1969. This coupled with a 6.6 over-all increase in acreage allotments should mean a substantial increase in total price support payments for area farmers.

For the high plains area, the projected yield dropped from 540 pounds per acre to 499 but the increase in price per pound and in acreage allotted should allow a slight increase in support payments over-all.

Individual farm yields are determined by the county ASCS committees on the basis of a three year average, as opposed to the five-year average used for setting the national and state projected yield. Howard County Agent Paul Gross said

Moon Program Set For Planetarium

Gary Carlson, director of the Big Spring High School Planetarium, has announced plans for the next public program, "Destination: The Moon," set for 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Carlson said the public is also invited to view Saturn and Mars through the planetarium's telescopes. The planetarium is just south of the tennis courts and can be reached by taking the west entrance off Tenth Street.

CHAMBER'S CONTEST

Decorate Your Home With Christmas Art

The holidays are approaching and downtown Big Spring will be lighted with new decorations. Residents who plan to decorate the outside of their home are invited to register their names and addresses with the Chamber of Commerce, said Don Stratham, member of the Chamber Retail Committee, who is in charge of Christmas Activities.

Those who plan to enter the annual home decorating contest must register in order to be judged Dec. 19. Everyone who plans to decorate is invited to register so other residents will know what homes are decorated for viewing.

TESCO will once again supply three prizes. First prize will be a "Redy-lite," all-night yard light. The second and third prizes will be electrical appliances. There are no rules in the contest, but decorations will be judged by a point system. Stratham explained. Artistry and ingenuity will count up to 30 points; lighting and technique up to 30 points; originality up to 20 points; and symbolic portrayal up to 20 points.

Firemen Needing More Toys To Fix

Donations to the firemen's quarters at 267-6141, or stop by 308 Aylford St. Applications for the toys are being accepted now. Distribution will be made Dec. 22-23 at 1907 Gregg.

Joe Saint, of the Salvation Army, estimates that 2,500 toys will be needed at Christmas. He said anyone who wants to "adopt" a family for toys can call the Salvation Army headquarters.

Howard County's Posse Logged 'Best Year Ever'

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse, in 1969, accumulated the most parade points in the nation as well as Australia, and five delegates returned from Lawton, Okla., last week with the first place trophy for parade competition.

The posse also won a first place trophy for the most miles traveled in 1969, and with these thoughts in mind, president of the mounted organization, Ed Cherry, compiled a resume of the club's activities during the past year.

He said the posse takes its role of mounted good will seriously and that members have participated in 20 parades during 1969 throughout West Texas.

"We won 10 first place trophies this year, three second place, and two third places," Cherry said, "so we consider this the best year ever for us."

He said the riders participated in four local parades, and also went to Odessa, Fort Worth, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Lamesa, Andrews, Brownfield, Snyder, Post, Crane, Tahoka, Midland, and Coahoma.

The posse numbers 49 riding members and they are decked out for parades in red and white outfits of Levis, vests, chaps, and breast collars. Cherry added that eight members of the posse do not ride, but contribute time and effort to keep the club operating smoothly.

"Of course we have a beauty, too," Cherry said, "Our queen is Nita Cox and she's only missed one parade in the last two years."

Miss Cox, 17, a senior at Big Spring High School, is also the alternate queen for District No. 5. She received a trophy in August for the most attractive rider in the Midland Rodeo Parade.

The posse participated in all five of District No. 5 playdays during 1969, with 14 members qualifying for the Fort Worth finals. Two of those, Patricia Cherry and Valorie Gamble, captured the first place national title in the wagon race event against 37 pairs of district champions.

Others who participated in the finals were Cecial Allred, Ruby Allred, Clarence Airhart, Nina Airhart, Mack Gamble, Perry Gamble, Michael Gamble, Jo Ellen Gamble, Frances Nix, Max O. Roberts, and Steve Fryar.

The posse also holds its own playdays and during 1969 sponsored four and awarded belt buckles to the boys and girls who accumulated the most points during all four.

The posse was formed in 1955 to promote good will for Big Spring and Howard County. It represents the city and county at other towns and shows and hosts the local rodeo held by the Rodeo Association of Big Spring.

All men in the posse are special deputies and serve the sheriff's office in emergencies and join in the search for missing persons. The posse comes under the direction of the civil defense director to help in storms and other natural disasters.

A direct link between the posse and the sheriff's office is provided with Ed Cherry, who has been active with the posse since it began, and is a deputy sheriff in the county sheriff's office. Sheriff A. N. Standard is an honorary member of the posse and cooperates with members and leads them in times of emergency.

The current project for the posse is to purchase land for an arena and to build a club house.

The posse meets the first

Tuesday of each month in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

Officers, all re-elected from 1968, are Ed Cherry, president; Loyd Murphy, vice president; Mrs. Cecial Allred, secretary; Frances Nix, treasurer; J. O. Whitefield, first parade marshal; Joe Gamble, parade marshal; and Jack Cox, parade marshal.

UNDERMINED — This building behind Anderson's Music Co., 113 Main, has withstood the storms of 80 years. Now, the roots of the elm tree, which has been growing on its roof for the last six years, have intertwined themselves in its walls and caused parts to crumble. Tom Newton, city building inspector, makes sure all the loose bricks have been removed so cars or passers-by are not accidentally injured.

Tree Winning Battle, Grows On Building Top

By JOHN HILBIG
A small downtown storage building, which has outlasted the storms of 80 years, is finally being undermined by an enemy.

The culprit is a 15-foot elm which for the last six years has been growing on the roof of the building in the southeast corner. Now the tree's roots have slithered and squirmed their way deep into the fibers of its brick and plaster walls, causing sections to begin to crumble.

"We first spotted the elm about six years ago," said Taylor Anderson, owner of Anderson Music Co. and this strange twosome behind the store at 113 Main. "At that time, it was only two or three feet tall. No one planted the tree; it just started growing."

Only small sections of the roots are visible, but Anderson has had to knock down loose bricks from the building to keep them from falling on people or cars. One root, two or three inches in circumference, has knocked out a piece of the wall six feet below the trunk of the tree.

"I wanted to tear the tree down three years ago," Anderson said, "but my wife wouldn't let me. Now I don't know what I'll do. I think we could get the tree out without destroying the building, but we may tear the building down and leave the tree standing."

Anderson said he uses the building for the same purpose it has always had: storage.

The building was originally built in the late 1880s to serve as a storage room for Fred Korn's saloon, which occupied the location where Anderson's Music Company is presently. Anderson, who has been in Big Spring 42 years and had originally opened his music store in the other half of the building where he operates now, bought his present site in the early 1940s. With the purchase, came the storage building.

Sentence Not Constitutional?

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Douglas page, 20, of suburban Cheektowaga explained in City Court Friday that he was arrested on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct because he had been celebrating his last night as a bachelor.

Judge Wilbur P. Trammell dismissed the charges and said: "I sentence you to marriage." Page began his term later Friday, right on schedule.

Shriners Set Yule Party For Children

The traditional Christmas party for handicapped children, given by the Big Spring Shrine Association, is on the calendar again this year.

Youngsters under 12 years of age who have handicaps will be guests of honor at the party on Dec. 20, starting at noon at the Cosden Country Club. Santa Claus will appear and have a gift for each child, there will be a magician to offer a fun program, and there will be a full turkey dinner.

D. A. Brazel, directing the program, said that efforts are being made through the schools and other agencies, to get names of all eligible boys and girls. However, he stressed that Shriners want to entertain all handicapped children below the age of 12, and if they do not receive an invitation soon, their parents are urged to call Brazel at 283-5873, and advise as to attendance.

A Shriner, wearing his fez for identification, will call at each child's house, escort him to the party and bring him back home after its conclusion. There will be adequate supervision of the children at all times.

Cold Weather Slows Cotton

Sample receipts were down as cold and wet weather moved in on the Abilene classing territory. All areas reported enough rain to delay harvesting for about a week.

B. B. Manly Jr. in charge of the USDA cotton classing office in Abilene, reports that 26,500 samples were classed for the week ending Nov. 28, 1969, compared to 36,500 for the same period last season. The season's total is now 92,500 samples classed compared to 335,000 for a seasons total a year ago.

Grades were still good with 22 per cent in the category, 75 per cent in the light spotted category, and three per cent in the spotted category. Five per cent were reduced in grade because of bark.

Staple lengths were about the same with seven per cent 28; 38 per cent 29; 33 per cent 30; seven per cent 31; five per cent 32. Micronaire readings were: one per cent 3.0-3.2; one per cent 3.3-3.4; 89 per cent 3.5-4.9.

The Consumer and Marketing Service at Abilene reports average gross price to producers for some predominant qualities ranged from 4129-18.30 cents to 3230-19.20 cents.

Astronaut To Back Nixon's War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut Michael Collins, tapped by President Nixon to be an assistant secretary of state for public affairs, says antiwar dissenters are "poorly equipped with the facts."

"They have oversimplified the war to a point where Hanoi is good and Saigon is bad. Delving back into history, that is not true. There are direct contradictions to that point of view," he told a news conference Friday at the State Department.

Collins, who circled the moon while his two Apollo 11 companions became the first to set foot on the lunar surface, said he would resign his Air Force colonel's commission to accept the $38,000-a-year post.

The job will entail scheduling foreign policy conferences and making speeches.

Collins declared he would seek to counter arguments against Nixon's strategy in Vietnam and make the country more unified in its approach to foreign policy.

"That hope is one of the things that brought me here," he said. "If you can talk clearly from the distance of 250,000 miles in outer space, I hope that some of that expertise can be carried over into foreign policy discussions."

Nonpublic School Funding Is Upheld

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal three-judge panel has upheld the nation's first state aid for nonpublic schools law by dismissing a suit challenging the constitutionality of the 1968 Pennsylvania statute.

The 2-1 majority decision Friday approved the state statute which provides for $21 million this year and $41 million next year in state aid to nonpublic schools.

In rejecting the suit, the panel ruled the statute neither creates nor supports the establishment of religion.

The suit was filed last June by six religious, civil rights and educational groups, and three individual taxpayers.

The majority opinion was given by U.S. District Judge Alfred L. Luongo and E. Mac Troutman. Judge William H. Hastie, Chief Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals, dissented.

Judges Luongo and Mac Troutman said: "The fact that a state law, passed to satisfy a public need, coincides with the personal desires of the individuals most directly affected, is certainly an inadequate reason to say that a Legislature has erroneously appraised the public need."

"We cannot hold that the statute advances religion either in purpose or in primary effect," they added, noting that it applies to all nonpublic schools, sectarian and nonsectarian.

Dissenting Judge Hastie wrote: "In my view, the allegations of the complaint disclose a legislative scheme violative of the establishment clause of the First Amendment, as to which plaintiff Lemon alone shows standing to complain. As to Lemon's First Amendment claim, the motion to dismiss would be denied."

Judge Hastie referred to plaintiff Alton J. Lemon of Philadelphia.

Earlier last month, state Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett, in a petition to dismiss the suit, claimed the statute is constitutional, and noted the funds do not come from public education monies but from a tax on horse race betting.

Sennett also said the funds were used for instruction in only four courses—foreign languages, physical education, physical sciences and mathematics.

Mailing Dates For Christmas Items Listed

Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty Friday announced mailing dates for Christmas parcels and greeting cards and advised persons to observe the schedule to avoid disappointing the people they love.

"A post office can be the most depressing place in the world the day after Christmas when you see all the messages of love and cheer that never made it," Hardesty said.

He said parcels going to distant states should be mailed by Dec. 1 and those going to local and nearby areas should be mailed not later than Dec. 13. The name and address of both the sender and addressee should be enclosed in each gift parcel to permit identity in case of damage or loss of the outside address label. The outside label should be placed on only one side of each parcel.

Greeting cards going to distant states should be mailed not later than Dec. 10 and those to nearby areas should be in the mail by Dec. 15.

Hardesty also emphasized the importance of ZIP codes and adding a return address to all Christmas mail. He said that last year alone, over 32 billion pieces of mail went to postal dead letter branches because the mailing address couldn't be read and there was no return address on the envelope.

High school bandmen were honored with an annual banquet given by the Optimist Clubs, and Robert Campbell and Bonnie Anderson got top awards. Robert, an outstanding musician and marcher, won the coveted John Philip Sousa award, and Bonnie was cited for her top marching spirit. And thanks to the Optimists for honoring these young people who do such a fine job.

Today we welcome Methodists representing some 15,000 members in the Big Spring district, gathering for their 18th annual conference at First Methodist Church. Because it always is close at home, it ranks in importance with the annual conference. Saturday our city had the honor of entertaining an area meeting of young Mormons.

Friends in Glasscock County and elsewhere are rallying to the support of Kenneth Chandler, high school player who sustained a broken neck two weeks ago in a football game. A Kenneth Chandler fund was started and within a week it had drawn $2,000. Anyone wanting to have a part may mail checks to the fund at Box 8, Garden City. Kenneth has some feeling returning, but he still is paralyzed.

Jim Cauble, 82, who qualified as an early settler and cattleman, died during the week, further thinning the ranks of the real old timers. Also slipping away was Mrs. Harry (Vivian) Hurt, a lady who was the personification of graciousness.

Thurman Gentry retired at Cosden, ending an association which began 40 years and eight months ago. He ranked only behind Ernie Richardson and George Grimes by a matter of months in greatest longevity to the company. It's men like these who have made it a great company.

Jerry Mintz was the victim of a mystery shot, and although a .22 calibre bullet struck him in the knee, he is due to make full recovery. Jerry was walking down Franklin Street near East Fourth when he heard a popping noise and felt the bullet. So far there is no lead on where the bullet may have come from.

LETTER

Look In Wrong Place For Help

To the Editor:

People seem to be looking in all the wrong places for help, and answers today, when really there is only one place for our people, and nation as a whole to turn today, as in all the yesterdays of our nation and world, when our forefathers turned to God.

At this season of the year, we as Americans and as a Christian people need to be reminded to be thankful for the things we seem to take too much for granted these days! Our heritage of freedom seems to be slipping away from us! We need to be reminded of these freedoms again — freedom of religion; the right to choose our church or synagogue in which to worship God; the right to uphold this our Creator and Our Saviour to all mankind; and the right to remember that we as Americans are considered the Christian nation.

We need to remember no matter how many trips we make to the moon, no matter how big our bombs, or how great our armies, or how intelligent our national leaders are, without God and His supreme guidance, our nation can no longer be a Christian nation!

Remember the other freedoms we hold dear as well. Freedom of speech, freedom of selecting our national leaders, freedom to live and let live peacefully in this great land of ours. Have our soldier boys in the past, present, and future, fought, bled, and died in vain? Let us hope and pray not! Americans, Christians, wake up!

enter parades, 16 of them competitive events for the national contest. Like our Ambassadors Club, they rank at the top in good-willers.

The City has reached an agreement with Cosden for sale of at least a million gallons a day, effluent. City and Cosden pioneered in this effort many years ago, but salt water seeping into the main outfall line, which is laid through the briny bottom of Beal's Creek, had depreciated quality. A new line should help bring it back within tolerable limits.

The body of a man found near here Sept. 6 has been identified as that of Kossie Mills Bray, 58, of Lubbock. He had been a mental hospital patient and apparently wandered away. The sheriff's office and DPS made the identification.

With the close of the United Fund's formal campaign, it was announced that the employees' division headed by Ken Perry had topped its goal by $1,000. This is one of the key divisions, and this achievement really helped. Speaking of help — you still have time by mailing your fair share to the UF offices.

Postal receipts continue to gain. For the last reporting period (approximately a month), the total was $44,306, or up more than $1,500 over a year ago. A big Christmas season is likely to fatten the bulge.

Howard County Commissioners Court is moving toward use of the former post office building as a home for the Howard County Free Library. The court commissioned Olen Puckett, architect, to draft remodeling plans, and before long bids may be asked.

Look In Wrong Place For Help

To the Editor:

People seem to be looking in all the wrong places for help, and answers today, when really there is only one place for our people, and nation as a whole to turn today, as in all the yesterdays of our nation and world, when our forefathers turned to God.

At this season of the year, we as Americans and as a Christian people need to be reminded to be thankful for the things we seem to take too much for granted these days! Our heritage of freedom seems to be slipping away from us! We need to be reminded of these freedoms again — freedom of religion; the right to choose our church or synagogue in which to worship God; the right to uphold this our Creator and Our Saviour to all mankind; and the right to remember that we as Americans are considered the Christian nation.

We need to remember no matter how many trips we make to the moon, no matter how big our bombs, or how great our armies, or how intelligent our national leaders are, without God and His supreme guidance, our nation can no longer be a Christian nation!

Remember the other freedoms we hold dear as well. Freedom of speech, freedom of selecting our national leaders, freedom to live and let live peacefully in this great land of ours. Have our soldier boys in the past, present, and future, fought, bled, and died in vain? Let us hope and pray not! Americans, Christians, wake up!

Big Spring District Meeting Of Methodists

This afternoon marks the 18th conference of the Big Spring District of the United Methodist Church and it is being held at the First United Methodist Church here.

Representatives of eight counties in the Big Spring District, will attend. The area represented includes a territory larger than the states of New Jersey, Delaware, and Rhode Island combined.

The Rev. Ronald Hamby will be the speaker for a contemporary communion service and two other inspirational speakers, one an outstanding layman, and the other from the general board of missions, will address the group.

Dr. Thomas K. Kim, Lubbock professor of economics at Texas Tech University, will speak on "Reconciliation in a Broken World," and Dr. Joseph Walker, New York City, representing the General Board of Missions, will speak on "Reconciliation and a Broken World."

The program, which has been prepared by the District Council on Ministries, will have several unique features. The youth of the district will introduce new songs to the accompaniment of a string ensemble and there will be a trumpet trio performance as well as singing. The youth are under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Kayser, Snyder.

There will be a business meeting during the afternoon, reports on Latin-American work will be heard, and nominees for trustees for 1969-70 will be submitted.

ONE OF THEM WANTS TO QUIT Only Three Passenger Trains Cross Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Only three passenger trains still cross Texas, and one of them wants to quit.

Public hearings begin Monday in Laredo on a request by the Missouri-Pacific Railroad to eliminate its St. Louis Eagle passenger train, which runs once a day from Texarkana to Laredo and back.

Missouri-Pacific claims it is losing $200,000 a year on the Eagle.

CHEAP DEAL

In a day when cheap rail transportation would seem to be the answer to such problems as airport congestion and super-highways that are obsolete almost as soon as they are finished, passenger trains are dying.

The number of railroad passengers in Texas, says railroad commission figures, has dropped from almost 26 million in 1944 to 761,535 in 1968. Passenger revenue in 1944 topped $80 million. Last year it was $4,387,288.

Freight tonnage and revenue, however, continue to go up. From 165 million tons and $302 million in 1944 they climbed to 193 million tons and $521 million in 1968.

A critic of railroads, Peter Lyon, author of "To Hell in a Day Coach," says: "Passenger service, to most railroad men, is a nuisance, an irritation, a running sore. It interferes with the potentially lucrative business of hauling freight."

Freight makes money, passenger service makes headaches.

Beginning as early as 1920, the presidents of the biggest railroads... began to prune passenger trains from their schedules by the dozens and by the

GIVE UP

U.S. Rep. Richard C. White, El Paso Democrat, was among several congressmen who testified Nov. 5 before a House subcommittee investigating declining passenger service.

White said railroads once offered inducements to get passengers but now "they are evidently seeking to surrender just as soon as possible."

Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash., said: "The issue becomes, simply, if something is not done and done quickly, there won't be any passenger trains to save."

The Association of American Railroads recently proposed that the federal government underwrite losses of unprofitable passenger trains whose continued operation is deemed necessary in the public interest.

The association also suggested that the Department of Transportation should buy new passenger cars and rent them to railroads. The new cars would replace worn-out cars that the railroads say they have been unable to retire because of the high cost of replacement.

SHUNNED SUBSIDIES

Railroads formerly shunned subsidies for their passenger service. And they have complained bitterly for years about direct or indirect freight subsidies to airlines and the trucking industry.

Critics cite the millions of acres of land the railroads were handed in the 19th Century. They also point to the $502 million in cash dividends railroad shareholders received in 1966, highest in history.

The railroad problem is like the weather. Everybody talks about it, but nobody does anything about it.

According to the Texas Railroad Commission, there are only three trans-Texas trains left.

One is the Eagle, which used to go from St. Louis through Texarkana, Palestine, Austin and San Antonio to Laredo. It used to go on to Mexico City, but passengers now must cross the Rio Grande to catch another train to get to Mexico City.

The other trans-Texas runs are:

Houston-Temple - Gainesville, 380 miles, one Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe train daily each way.

—Orange-El Paso, 952 miles, one Southern Pacific train daily each way.

The only other passenger trains in Texas, according to the Railroad Commission, are:

—Higgins-Farwell, 219 miles, one Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe train daily each way. This train makes flag stops (if a passenger wants to board, he or she the depot flags the train) at Miami, White Deer, Panhandle, Friona, Bovina and Farwell. It makes a 20-minute stop at Amarillo.

—Kerrick-Amarillo, 101 miles, one Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe passenger-freight train daily each way.

—Moscow-Camden, 7 miles, one Moscow, Camden and San Augustine passenger-freight train each way five times a week.

Other hearings are scheduled on elimination of Missouri-Pacific's Eagle: Dec. 3 in San Antonio, Dec. 5 in Austin, Dec. 8 in Palestine and Dec. 10 in Texarkana.

Foursquare Revival Begins Tuesday

A revival is set to begin Tuesday at the Church of the Foursquare Gospel, 1210 E. 19th, and will feature the Rev. Sam Oppenheim in daily services at 7:30 p.m. through Dec. 7.

Weather Slows Cotton Harvest

Bad weather slowed the Howard County cotton harvest last week resulting in most of the harvesting to be done during the weekend, County Agent Paul Gross said Friday.

He estimated that 10,000 bales have been gathered in the county so far and expects a total harvest of around 35,000 bales. The crop is averaging about a half bale to the acre.

"The rain has not hurt the cotton," Gross said. "There was such a small quantity of it that it was not detrimental to the crop. If the weather clears up, we should have strippers in the field Monday."

With good weather the harvest should be finished, for all practical purposes, in three weeks, he said.

Federal Grant For Panhandle

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Preston Smith has approved a $160,968 federal grant to the Economic Opportunities Advancement Corp. of Cottle, Foard, Harde-man and Wilbarger counties. The area is at the southeast corner of the Panhandle.

An added $2,000 in carry-over funds will give the agency $162,968 to operate its one-year program, which begins Monday.

Farm Prices At Highest Level In Seventeen Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm prices in November are at their highest average since 1952. That's bad for the Nixon administration's campaign against inflation, says a farm expert, but not a cause for undue alarm among consumers.

Dr. Don Paarlberg, economics director for the Agriculture Department, said in an interview that despite the three per cent price rise for farm products this month there is considerable margin now between farm prices and retail costs.

The margin, Paarlberg said, should serve as a cushion between monthly fluctuations in what farmers receive and what consumers have to pay.

Early this year farm prices rose rapidly and by June—led by near-record cattle prices—had eaten away most of the wholesale-retail profit margin.

Paarlberg said wholesale and retail food merchants now are in a better position to absorb some increases in farm product prices without passing them along to consumers.

There has been some cooling off in the rate of increase, he said, but it may be premature to say what effect this will have on consumer food prices.

The Agriculture Department's monthly price index announced on Friday showed that farmers received 285 per cent of the 1910-14 index average, the most since September, 1952.

Record high prices were reported for vegetables, up 24 per cent from a year ago. Eggs rose 22 per cent from October and at 48.8 cents a dozen paid to farm-supplies moving to market.

Thus, according to the experts, livestock prices are not expected to decline much during the winter months and may gain a little.

"I don't think consumers should complain about the situation right now," Paarlberg said, "and stockmen should be encouraged."

Total meat supplies are running only a little ahead of last year's record output, despite continued high demand.

A Plea From Your Letter Carrier SAVE OUR SERVICE

Your letter carrier is struggling against overwhelming odds.

Wages of postal workers average thousands of dollars a year less than the amount determined by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics as necessary for a "modest but adequate" standard of living.

To reach the top step in our postal pay scale takes up to 25 years of service... a goal most postal workers never reach. Over 90% of the letter carriers never rise above level 5 of the 21 level scale.

The rate of turnover among postal workers is nearly 10 times the turnover rate among factory workers — 23 per hundred compared to 28 per thousand. That costs the postal service... and the taxpayers... over $100 million a year in locating, hiring and training new employees.

To remedy these conditions and to achieve the kind of postal service Americans want and deserve, Congress has passed a bill. That bill is HR 13000 and is about to be considered by President Nixon.

Here's what HR 13000 would do:

- Provide step increases equivalent to a 5.4% pay increase.
- Establish a Federal Wage Commission to determine future postal and federal pay scales.
- As of July 1970, provide for reaching top pay after eight years of service instead of 25, thus increasing incentive for postal workers to stay in the postal service.

The simple fact is that postal reform begins with good postal pay.

President Nixon can take that first large step toward postal reform by signing HR 13000.

You can help by sending him the coupon on left indicating your approval.

Postal wages are not inflationary.

President Richard M. Nixon

$73 Million Expansion Is Set For U.N. Headquarters

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant announced plans Friday for a $73 million expansion of U.N. headquarters in New York.

Informed sources said that President Nixon had agreed to ask Congress for $20 million of the sum, and that Mayor John V. Lindsay would ask the New York City Board of Estimate to match that amount. A City Hall spokesman said Lindsay also would ask the City Planning Commission to provide land valued at $12 million.

In asking the General Assembly to authorize construction of a new building and expansion of other headquarters facilities, the secretary-general requested assessed $25 million over a period of 5 to 10 years.

Thant did not say where he planned to get the remainder of the money, but said a substantial portion would be provided "from sources other than the regular budget."

"Although good progress has recently been made with respect to financing arrangements," he said, "some further time will be required before all parties concerned are in a position to take formal actions that are necessary for binding commitments to be entered into."

The architectural firm of Harrison & Abramovitz, builders of the original headquarters complex have drafted plans for the expansion. Although they estimated the total cost at $73 million, Thant cautioned that it could go as high as $80 million.

The plans call for a new eight-story building, plus extensive expansion of the present conference building. The new structure would be south of 42nd Street and connected to the rest of the complex by a two-level overpass. The plan includes development of a three-acre public park along the East River.

The expansion is intended to provide for the rapidly growing headquarters secretariat, which now has a staff of about 4,000, and should be adequate at least through 1979. It would have space for overflow personnel and U.N. affiliates—such as the U.N. Children's Fund and the U.N. Development Program—which must now rent commercial office space.

The expansion will be almost as costly as the existing headquarters complex, which was financed primarily by a $65 million interest-free loan from the U.S. government. The 17-acre tract was made available through a $10.5 million gift from the Rockefeller family and additional grants by New York City.

Thant said the building program, if approved, would begin in 1970 and be completed by 1973.

Business Indicators Flash 'Mixed Signals'

AUSTIN (AP) — Business indicators are flashing "mixed signals" but seem to point toward a slowing of inflation, a University of Texas Business Survey said Saturday.

Dr. Robert Williamson, professor of finance, wrote in the university's Bureau of Business Research publication:

"Texas business indicators for October present a picture of divergent trends, but the picture suggests a further slowing in the state's economic expansion and provides hope that the pace of inflation will begin to slow significantly in the coming months."

Oil production turned up slightly and the business activity index—based on bank debits—increased, he said.

"The tight money policy which has been adopted by the government to curtail general inflationary pressures has depressed homebuilding perhaps as much as any other sector of the economy, and the government's monetary policy remains restrictive," Williamson said.

"Retail sales data reflect the recent slowing of employment and income growth while the national totals of retail sales continued to show a flat trend during October. Texas retail sales, seasonally adjusted, were down 7 per cent from the previous month."

He said very large declines were reported by Texas automotive dealers and furniture and appliance stores. "Although a part of the decline for automotive dealers may be a statistical illusion resulting from the difficulty of properly allowing for the early introduction of new car models this year."

"Business indicators for Texas and the nation are giving mixed signals but on balance the indicators appear to be pointing toward a future slowing of inflationary trends," Williamson concluded.

Bank Vault Is Super Safe

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — All through the day Friday and into the night bank guards stood by at a Toronto Dominion Bank branch in this Vancouver suburb while a team of professionals tried to crack the vault they had been sworn to protect.

The vault refused to open Friday morning, and all through the day experts tried to solve the problem. Early Saturday they began using jackhammers.

"There's no reason to worry," said a security guard, "everything is safe—so safe we can't get at it ourselves."

WE ARE STILL PILGRIMS.

We no longer give thanks around a rough wooden table in a forest clearing. Our problems and rewards have taken different shapes too, but they are basically the same.

We are still making a pilgrimage, the same search for a fuller and more fruitful life under freedom of religion. And we are still thankful for the faith that sees us through adversity and guides us on that pilgrimage.

Thanksgiving Day was named for its meaning—the day that we come together to give thanks for our faith and our full life... and to remember that we are still pilgrims.

This Thanksgiving Day, give your thanks, strengthen your faith, enlighten your pilgrimage, at your place of worship.

FIRST DRAFT LOTTERY IN 27 YEARS SLATED MONDAY

Key To Chances Of Being Inducted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tom Dick and Harry grew up together, went to school together, graduated in the same year...

all the men they need by the time they are roughly half-way through the list.

Suppose Tom's birthday—a day, for example, in November—is the third or fourth one drawn out of the bowl.

IN THE MIDDLE: But Dick is right in the middle. All he can do is sweat out the whole year and see whether the draft calls in his own local board reach his number.

gets all its men without reaching him. Tom and Dick have now faced their "priority" year of exposure to the draft.

CIRCUMSTANCES: The answer will depend on individual circumstances and a complex of regulations but the general outlines are clear.

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese fired on U.S. helicopters northeast of Saigon Saturday, triggering massive American air and artillery retaliation that inflicted severe enemy casualties.

A scout helicopter from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division was fired on while scanning infiltration corridors.

American were wounded in the 15-minute exchange of rifle and machine gun fire.

Centennial Celebrated By Mormons: Nearly 250 Mormons from as far as Abilene, Pecos, Odessa and Seminole churches gathered Saturday night at Cosden Country Club to celebrate the centennial of the Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association.

Services were held Saturday at 2 p.m. for Mrs. Harry (Vivien) Hurt, who died here Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Hurt, member of a prominent Big Spring family, had been hospitalized for a heart involvement. She was born Dec. 31, 1898, in Rising Star...

Surviving Mrs. Hurt, who had lived here since 1921, are one son, Dr. Harry Hurt III, West Covina, Calif., a member of the USC faculty; one brother, Elbert Hall, Abilene; and four grandchildren.

Dr. Brunner, Services Today

COLORADO CITY — Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. today, in the Kiker and Son Funeral Home Chapel, for Dr. Ernst W. Brunner, 74, who died Saturday morning in a local hospital.

Dr. Brunner was born Dec. 10, 1894, in Germany, and he came to the United States as a young man. He came to Colorado City in the early 40's and married Miss Pauline Pirtchett here in 1943.

Surviving Dr. Brunner are his wife, one son, E. W. Brunner, Gatesville, Ill.; one daughter, Mrs. Keith Sands, Galesburg, Ill.; and three grandchildren.

Sugar Cane-Cutters Go To Castro's Aid

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ninety Americans left for Cuba Friday night to help Fidel Castro harvest sugar cane.

The group, called the "We Shall Win Brigade," is the first of seven volunteer cane-cutting squads reportedly going to Havana to help the Cuban premier fulfill his promise of a 10-million-ton sugar harvest in 1970.

William Crain of New York, an attorney for the brigade who said he did not plan to accompany the volunteers to Havana, explained: "The requirements for joining the group were that individuals be strongly committed against racism, have enough education and experience to go with an open mind, and have a genuine interest in learning the results of the revolution so that they could return to tell others."

DWI Arrests

Three arrests for driving while intoxicated were made by Big Spring police officers Friday, one following a minor accident on the viaduct, US 87, at midnight. Another arrest was made at 9:15 p.m. in the 3700 block of US 80, west, and the third in the 700 block of W. 3rd Street at 11:15 p.m.

RECESSION SEEDS: The tax reform bill now being debated in the Senate would, unless amended, produce a net increase of $6.4 billion revenue next year. But, as tax reducing provisions were phased in, they would result in net balance in 1971 and thereafter net reductions estimated to level off at about $2.4 billion.

Burglars Loot Curiosity Shop

A burglary report was registered with Big Spring police Saturday morning by Mrs. Sherman Whitaker, 3103 US 80, west, when she discovered that the Curiosity Shop had been broken into and robbed sometime Friday night.

She said entry to the store was gained by breaking a hole in a plywood door. City police are continuing their investigation into the break-in.

Another incident of windows shot with a pellet gun was reported to city police Saturday by Walton Burchell, 906 Baylor, who said someone had shot his windows about 10 times.

Trick Artist No Match For Santa

Santa Claus at Highland Shopping Center won at billiards Saturday afternoon in a game against billiards professional and trick shot artist Jack White. Said White, "I couldn't beat Santa, there were too many kids watching."

Santa has been receiving children's Christmas requests and giving away candy and balloons since Friday.

A couple hundred spectators came to watch the billiards match and to pick up tips on the game and trick shots, according to Norman Kruse, Key Rexall, who is in charge of Mall events. He said that Santa will be back to see youngsters Thursday 2-7 p.m.

OVER-BAKED CERAMICS—Here lies a part of a $30,000 stock of ceramics destroyed in a spectacular blaze which destroyed the building of Southwest Industries Company on US 87 at the south edge of Big Spring Friday evening.

Fire Destroys Facilities, Ceramics Worth $30,000

A spectacular fire destroyed the building and contents of Southwest Industries Company, a major ceramic distributing concern, here Friday evening.

Facilities and a stock of some $30,000 in ceramic products were wiped out despite the efforts of five fire-fighting units.

Officials of the company, which, although relatively new, distributes products over an 18-state area, said they planned to rebuild just as soon as insurance adjustments are made.

Fire units from the Howard County Volunteer Fire Department, the Sand Springs Fire Department, Forsan Fire Department and Coahoma Fire Department, as well as units from Webb AFB fire department, combatted the blaze which started a little before 6 p.m.

Officials expressed deep appreciation to the members of the five fire departments which answered the call and especially to Webb AFB men who were able to move in close on the flames, and to the Coahoma department which stayed until all fire had been extinguished.

Products stocked included ceramics from small items to large bowls and pots. The company was in the process of setting up production for manufacture of redwood flower and plant tubs. Distribution spread from Florida to Alaska.

Wives To Seek Help Of Pope

ROME (AP) — The wives of two U.S. Air Force captains shot down in North Vietnam arrived in Rome Saturday night to seek the help of Pope Paul VI to learn the fate of their husbands.

Mrs. Bonnie Singleton and Mrs. Paula Hartness, both of Dallas, Tex., flew in from Stockholm saying: "All other efforts to find out about our husbands failed."

Last September Mrs. Singleton, Mrs. Hartness and two other Dallas women met Hanoi representatives in Paris and were assured they would receive word about their husbands. But they charged the promise was never kept.

The women said they filed their request for an audience with Pope Paul through the Right Rev. Msgr. William Carlew of St. John's Nfld., a leading member of the pontiff's secretariat of state.

"For four years now I have had no news about my husband," Mrs. Singleton said. "I know simply that his plane was hit by the enemy, he survived and became a prisoner."

BIG SPRING HIGH

Book Fair Scheduled This Week At BSHS

By KAREN MCGONAGILL
The Library Club will sponsor a Book Fair Dec. 3, 4, and 5 in the library. Paperbacks of all descriptions will be sold during this three-day period. The members of the club are urging all interested persons to attend.

The Betty Crocker Home-making Knowledge and Attitude test will be given Tuesday during the last period. All interested senior girls are eligible to take this test.

The winner at BSHS will be recognized as "Homemaker of Tomorrow" at the Future Homemakers of America banquet. She will compete with all local winners in Texas. One girl from each state and the District of Columbia will compete for the national title. Scholarships and trips are listed as prizes.

The Choral Department of BSHS will present a concert Friday, Dec. 12, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Performing along with the cappella choir, will be the 55 voice Junior Varsity Choir. This choir will begin its season with new uniforms. The girls will be wearing pastel blue dresses. The boys will be wearing black and white with matching ties.

The Freshman Choir, made up of 69 members, will also be on the program. It is a new choir organized this year. The choir is comprised of the freshmen who show musical talent and exceptional voice talent.

The Girl's Choir directed by Mrs. Leon Long, assistant choir director at BSHS, will perform on the program.

The Nurses Club Christmas party will be Monday at the home of Mrs. Robert Griffin. Mothers of the future nurses are also invited.

The Nurses Club is planning to adopt a needy family for Christmas.

The Astronomy Club will have its monthly night meeting Monday night. The members plan to observe stars, planets, and constellations.

GARDEN CITY HIGH

Students Go All Out For Mate

Garden City has been busy the past week trying to do all possible to help Kenneth Chandler, who received a serious neck injury Nov. 14 at the Garden City-Wellman football game here. He is in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

GOLIAD

Band, Choir Give Program

The Goliad band, the advanced choir, and the combined seventh grade and girls' choirs presented a Thanksgiving assembly on Wednesday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Jeanne Small and Mr. Russell McKiski. The choirs joined with the band to offer one number, "Faith of Our Fathers."

The Outstanding Marching Bandsman of Goliad was elected Friday by the members of the band. Terri Sledge was chosen this year to receive this honored position.

At a University Interscholastic League marching contest for bands held last week, Goliad received a second division. The contest was held in Odessa.

The Student Council of Goliad held its regular meeting on Tuesday, at which time the group discussed plans for a Citizen-of-the-Month award. Proceeds from the party and the paid assembly were also tabulated.

School was dismissed at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday for the holidays and will resume at the regular time Monday morning.

All the clubs and classes in high school have contributed to the Kenneth Chandler Fund which was started Monday. There was a cake auction Tuesday during halftime of the basketball game. Also, the gate receipts and concession money was given to the fund. Wednesday, students made a door-to-door canvass of Garden City and St. Lawrence, greatly boosting the fund.

A Thanksgiving tea honored the Garden City faculty, Turkey and pumpkin pie added to the festive occasion. One of Mrs. Bergstrom's homemaking classes prepared the food and tea and served them.

Tuesday night Garden City girls entertained Sands basketball teams here, and Garden City A and B teams both lost but scores were close until the last quarter. The next game will be against Loraine, which comes here. Both boys and girls games are scheduled.

A lively pep rally preceded the final football game when the Garden City Bearkats played the Klondike Cougars. The after-game party was sponsored by the junior class.

Students got a little extra holiday cheer (?) Wednesday when report cards for the second six-weeks were distributed.

The senior class of Garden City will sponsor the Harlem Star basketball game Wednesday against the Garden City Gladiators. A Peewee game will precede the game.

Basketball and football individual pictures arrived last week.

Cookbooks are now being sold by the FHA. There is a cookbook for every variety of food. The Senior class has begun to sell Garden City Bearkat sweatshirts. The price is $3.75.

SANDS HIGH SCHOOL

Senior Class To Sponsor Dinner At Ackerly

By SHARA DEE HAMBRICK
The Senior Class is planning to sponsor a Sunday dinner scheduled for Dec. 7. It will be in the school cafeteria. The admission will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12. Serving will start at noon. Everyone is invited to take part.

The boys' basketball team won their contest of the season by defeating Westbrook, 64-52. Bobby Beal led the way with 16 points for the Mustangs followed by Felix Robles with 12 and Steve Herm with 10. The girls' brought their season's record up to 6-0 by overcoming the Westbrook feds 65-34. Shara Dee Hambrick getting 18 and Jan Nichols and Sandra Nichols getting 17 each. Both teams will meet Coahoma Tuesday night at the Mustangs gym.

The Junior High girls beat the Union girls last Monday night in Sands but the boys' team was defeated by the Union Bobcats. Flower Grove will be their next opponent.

The Senior play "The Campbells Are Coming" has been postponed. As of yet, another date has not been set.

School was dismissed at 2 p.m. on Wednesday and will take up at regular time on Monday.

The Buffalo Queens were defeated again Tuesday evening by the Klondike Cougars. The boys made their first appearance of the season under their new coach, George White, but they got edged in the opener.

School was dismissed early on Wednesday to start the Thanksgiving holidays, and classes will resume at the regular time Monday.

Cable TV Offers News Report

Presentation of a new 24-hour-a-day televised news report is announced by Big Spring Cable TV.

A special printed report, from Associated Press wire services, is now appearing on Cable TV channel 10, said Jim Lancaster, manager of the local service.

The news appears in print, with no sound background, the lines of copy slowly unreeing for easy reading.

The news presentation is a special service that has been designed for cable systems, said Lancaster. "We feel that this is a convenient service, via television, which may supplement other news available to the public," he said.

That Grey Ghost Really Something

SEATTLE (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Bill Gorsline of Kings County almost broke and ran Friday night when a grey-shaped creature, four feet tall, with funny little ears, beady eyes and a great big mouth loomed out of the fog.

Then, he remembered that Gertrude, a 2,500-pound hippopotamus, was living temporarily at a kennels nearby.

BORDEN COUNTY

Borden's Band Wins First In Marching

The Borden Coyotes played their last game of the season at Loop, Friday night, with a victorious score of 40-22. Making the Coyote scores were Rick Hendley, Jimmy Hodge, Joe Harding and Randall Crittenden. Seniors on the team this year were Ted Yadon, Darrell Taylor, Xavier Benevisez, Robert Sorrells, and Freddy Haggins. Managers for the year were Lin Smith and Paul Villanueva, who are also seniors. The Coyotes had an outstanding record for the season with five wins and one loss for district and eight wins and two losses for the season.

Billie and Bobbie Briggs attended an open horse show at Rainbow Stables at Midland, Nov. 22. Billie placed first in equitation; second in horsemanship over fences; Bobbie placed fifth in pleasure; fifth in horsemanship over fences, and sixth in equitation.

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. (Corky) Ogden were doubly proud as they attended the district banquet at Coronado High School at Lubbock Tuesday night. Their son, Randy, and their daughter, Connie, were named Borden County Gold Star Boy and Girl. Both have been active in 4-H for several years and have competed in stock shows, judging contests, and horse shows throughout the state. Randy is an eighth grader and Connie is a junior.

TWIRLERS GET HONORS

The Coyote Band set its goal for a first division in marching and received it at Odessa, Nov. 22, getting this rating from all three judges. The next goal is to win sweepstakes and go to the Enid, Okla. festival. The Borden County twirlers also entered in the twirling contest at Odessa. Cheron Billeck, Sandra Hancock, Sandra Sneed, and Diane Zant twirled as a foursome and received a first. Diane Zant entered as a solo twirler, and received a second rating.

The Future Farmers of America Greenhands presented a debate in the high school auditorium recently on new projects and old business. The Future Homemakers of America were guests and refreshments were served in the homemaking department.

Grades 5 through 12 of the Borden County School attended an assembly program on Wednesday, Nov. 19. Jack White of the Department of Public Safety and Police Sgts. Campbell and Stewart Dickson of the Big Spring Police department gave a program on the use and harm of drugs such as marijuana, heroin, and speed. There was presented a very interesting movie titled "Marijuana." The policemen also had a display of drugs of all kinds to show what some of these dangerous drugs look like.

CAGE SEASON OPENS

The Borden Girls slipped by Ira Tuesday night, Nov. 18, with a score of 49-39. The Borden guards held Ira's offense to only eight points in the final quarter while the Coyotes got 15 points. High point girl was Cheron Billeck with 28 points.

The Borden girls won their third game Tuesday, against Union, 59-38. High point girl for the Coyotes was Cheron Billeck with 30 points.

The Borden County boys played their first basketball game of the season with Union, Tuesday at Gail. Although the Coyotes were defeated 48 to 37, they played an outstanding game. Rick Hendley was high point with 14 points.

Triva Boyd and Carolyn Boyd, graduates of 1969, are not attending the Beauty School in Big Spring.

FFA ACTIVITIES

Terry Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cannon, Route 2, Lamesa, has been named the Gail FFA chapter sweetheart. She will represent the chapter at the Mesa district FFA banquet Monday at Lamesa. Others who will attend from here are Lane Griffin, Darrell Taylor, Geary Williams, Randall Crittenden, Rick Hendley, Joe Pat Harding, Jimmy Hodge, Ted Yadon and Gary Wilkerson.

Recently, the chapter had three teams competing in the district contests at Brownfield. Placing fourth in a field of 11 was a chapter conducting team of Randy Hensley, Hubert Sorrells, Steve McMeans, Steven Lockhar, Mike Herring, Randall Crittenden, Roby Rios, Bill Benevisez. The Greenhand quiz team of Randy Hensley, Mike Herring, Steve McMeans, Hubert Sorrells placed sixth. The farm radio team of Marvin Boyd, Lane Griffin and Geary Williams ranked fifth.

Mr. Bobby Shofner, Texas Tech, is doing his student teaching in the vocational agriculture department. He is a former Klondike High School student. Besides teaching, he coached the radio team for district contests.

FLOWER GROVE

Beta Club Begun At Flower Grove

By JACKIE CAVE

The second six-weeks period has ended, which means that students did some heavy studying before the holidays. Parents will receive the good (or bad) news this week when report cards are issued.

A number of students made visits to surrounding towns during the past week to obtain prizes for the Harvest Festival.

Coach Karl Kitto and his family moved into their new home on the campus last week. Coach Kitto and several members of his girls' basketball team made a trip to Klondike Tuesday to see the Klondike-Sundown girls game. Making the trip were Rita Pribyla, Judy Simmons, Beth Holcombe, Nancy Seely, Judy Cave, Virginia Pribyla, and Jackie Cave.

A Beta Club was organized with eight members. Officers are Beth Holcomb, president; Virginia Pribyla, vice president; Bonnie Hill, secretary; and Nancy Seely, treasurer. Other members are Lydia Carreno, Janice Haggard, Rita Pribyla and Danny Howard. Mrs. Jewell Fleming is the sponsor.

Members of the FFA chapter went to Stanton Tuesday to attend the area meeting. Going with them were Debra Huse, chapter sweetheart, and her companion, Bonnie Hill.

School dismissed for Thanksgiving Wednesday and will resume Monday. The week before it was dismissed an hour early one afternoon so teachers could attend a meeting in Gail.

The basketball teams travelled to O'Donnell and to Ira for games.

Detroit Area Nuns May 'Develop Loose Habits'

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit area nuns are watching their weight these days, apparently seeking slimmer silhouettes to go with stylish new habits. Under a program sponsored by Weight Watchers Inc., letters er, "but so many came they were standing in the front and back doors."

Original enrollment in the program was 72. Now, about 100 nuns are participating.

"They've lost 686 pounds in four weeks," said Mrs. Gibson. The nuns pay $5 dues for a 16-week take-off-pounds program in which they set their own goals, suggested by a chart according to age, height and other factors.

After the initial course, the nuns can attend classes free unless they gain back too much weight. Then they have to resume paying the $5 dues.

The meetings start with a weigh-in behind screens — so her weight remains a secret between the sister and the Weight Watchers lecturer.

Among the religious orders represented are the Felicians, The Bernardines, the Sisters of St. Joseph in modern black-and-white habits and street dress, Dominicans in white habits and Sisters of Charity in gray habits.

One Sister of St. Joseph was asked which order "carried the most weight." "We don't compare notes."

The lecturers obviously enjoy the challenge of getting the nuns to lose weight, spicing their instructions and admonitions with humor.

"You'll have to watch out," lecturer Bella Smith told the nuns in a pseudo serious voice, "Or you'll develop loose habits."

Funeral Services For Editor Held

DALLAS (AP) — Funeral services were held Saturday for E.M. "Ted" Dealey, editor emeritus of the Dallas Morning News.

Dealey died Wednesday of a massive cardiac hemorrhage. He was 77.

Dealey became board chairman of the newspaper after his mother died in 1960 and he took the formal title as publisher.

His son, Joseph M. Dealey, became president, and in 1968 Ted Dealey became publisher emeritus.

Survivors include his widow, a son, two daughters and one sister.

Blue Law Vs. Christmas: Wild, Confused Situation

By The Associated Press

Thanksgiving is past. Christmas shoppers clogged streets, streets and parking spaces the day following.

And now, the first weekend of the semi-official Yule buying season. Texans ran head-on into the blue law.

Blue law, Sunday closing, anti-discount house law. The names are different but the effect is the same.

The law as written seeks to prevent stores from selling certain merchandise on both Saturdays and Sundays. The stores can sell on either of the two days, the law says.

But the law as the courts see it is something else.

DEPENDS ON WHERE

And so on Nov. 29 and 30, the question of whether you can buy at a discount house on both Saturday and Sunday depends on where you live.

In some cities, discount stores are closed. In others they are open. In still others, a few are closed and a few open.

The sticky legal situation is this: The legislature passed the law admittedly to control discount houses which remained open seven days a week and to help department stores which close Sundays.

The law was attacked in the courts and while hearings and appeals were pending, discount stores remained open all week.

The Texas Supreme Court ruled Nov. 5, not long before the Christmas season, that the closing law is constitutional. Stores began re-evaluating their position and local prosecutors said, in some counties, that they would enforce the one-day closing.

Shortly thereafter, four San Antonio discount houses asked the Supreme Court for a new hearing.

LOCAL CONTROL
Did that rehearing motion stop local authorities from enforcing the closing law?

It is a fine legal point. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said he does not believe the rehearing motion stops enforcement, but said action is up to local authorities.

Some local officers have gone to court seeking injunctions to close the stores under the questionable legal situation. But judges have been inclined to refuse such pleas for injunctions pending another Supreme Court ruling.

Meanwhile, the gigantic Gibson's chain of more than 100 stores is complying by closing some of its stores on Saturday and the remainder on Sunday.

ONLY ON SATURDAY

Other discount houses are continuing with a method developed when the blue laws first were passed. They sell their stores to a firm called Sundaco either Saturday or Sunday so that the firm which operates the stores six days a week does not operate it on a seventh day.

A spot check around the state by The Associated Press showed these situations:

Amarillo—open only on Saturdays.

Dallas—Medallion Stores are closed Sundays, but Gibson's, with several establishments, is closing some on Saturdays, the others on Sundays.

Fort Worth—Cooks, formerly Clarks, the most controversial stores here, is staying open both days of the weekend under a Sundaco arrangement.

Corpus Christi—All five discount stores are open all weekend. Charges have been filed against them in city court but the case has been postponed indefinitely.

OPEN ALL WEEK

Brazosport—Gibson's is closed Sundays, but Bottom Dollar spokesmen say that house will open all week at least through Christmas.

Lubbock—All discount stores remain open all week. An injunction motion which also attacked the Sundaco arrangement was turned down by a district judge and no further hearing is expected before January.

Denton—The one discount house — Gibson's — closes Saturdays.

Abilene—Gibson's has two stores here and one closes Saturday and the other Sunday. Clark's uses the Sundaco method to stay open all week.

San Antonio—A district judge has enjoined the district attorney from enforcing the law and all discount houses remain open

Miss Texas Woes Boil

By The Associated Press

The dispute over the annual Miss Texas Pageant flared up again Saturday with a spokesman for the Lubbock sponsors of an entry saying slowness in receipt of awards was a major reason for the Lubbock withdrawal.

Meanwhile, the board of the Miss Dallas Pageant, franchise holder for the Dallas entry in the Texas affair, voted to remain in the event.

But the Dallas sponsors said they will bid to have the state pageant moved from Fort Worth to Dallas.

"Dallas does not seek to withdraw from the current Miss Texas Pageant but desires to unify the state of Texas for 1970," said John Kunsak, the pageant's executive director in Dallas, in a prepared statement.

About 15 or 20 franchise holders have withdrawn or threatened to do so because of what they term dissatisfaction with the state pageant. The Texas winner goes on to the Miss America pageant.

At Lubbock, Dr. Frank Butterfield issued a statement, saying that the dissatisfaction is with Don Magnus, president of the Miss Texas Pageant Corp., and Barry Hall, the vice president.

Dr. Butterfield, president of the sponsoring organization, the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, said that the father of Susan Logan, Miss Texas of 1966, threatened to sue before his daughter received the cash and scholarship benefits awarded the winner.

Butterfield also said that Miss Lubbock of 1967 was second in the talent competition while Miss Lubbock of 1968 was winner of the swimsuit and talent competitions. Butterfield said all had difficulty obtaining their prizes.

"It was with deep regret that we withdrew," said Dr. Butterfield, "but we believe it is the only fair way to keep faith with the young girls who enter and the people who support us."

Earlier, Dr. Butterfield had only said the dispute was with "two individuals" within the Miss Texas pageant but did not name them until Saturday.

The Marshall Junior Chamber of Commerce, another franchise group, withdrew earlier. The Marshall president, Martin Spangler, said, "We regret having to take this action, but we don't believe we can in good conscience send a girl from Marshall to Fort Worth knowing how she will be treated at the Miss Texas Pageant."

Residents Of Andrews To Sound Off

ANDREWS, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this West Texas community said Saturday they have decided to sound off on just how they feel about peace moratoriums, the Vietnam War and God.

Huge banners 80 feet long have been placed at the city's four main highway entrances proclaiming "Andrews Loves God, Country and Supports the Government."

Army Maj. James N. Rowe of McAllen, a Special Forces officer who escaped from the Viet Cong last year after being held prisoner five years, will address a patriotic rally Monday afternoon at the high school stadium.

"We wanted somebody who could and would tell it like it is," said Preston Van Hanken, manager of the Andrews County Chamber of Commerce.

More than 5,000 residents of this town's 12,000 population have signed petitions declaring "We, the people of Andrews, love God, country and support our government," Van Hanken said.

"I believe that this represents at least 99 per cent of the adult citizenship in our town, which certainly can be considered a majority," he said.

Valley Teams Launch Cage Seasons Monday

By The Associated Press
The Missouri Valley Conference, which produced the surprise team in the nation last March in Drake, launches another basketball season Monday night.

Five Valley teams make their 1969-70 debuts Monday, with Drake and Tulsa holding the spotlight.

Drake, which shared the Valley championship with Louisville last year, then beat the Cardinals in a playoff, swept through the NCAA Midwest regional tournament and threw a scare into mighty UCLA and Lew Alcindor before finishing third in the NCAA finals, meets Wisconsin State at Des Moines, Tulsa, which led the Valley race most of the way, and received a bid to the National Invitational Tournament, goes to Lafayette, Ind., to play Purdue and Rick Mount.

Bradley entertains Texas-Arlington at Peoria, Ill.; Memphis State is home against Union College, and North Texas State travels to Northwest Louisiana in other games opening night.

Three more Valley teams begin their seasons Tuesday night, with Oregon at Wichita State; St. Cloud, Minn., State at St. Louis University, and MacMurray College at Cincinnati.

Louisville, the defending champion, waits until Saturday to start, playing host to California-Riverside that night.

Drake, 26-5, in all games a year ago, returns only Al Williams, Rick Wanamaker and Gary Zeller, but Coach Maury John has a couple of hotshot junior college transfers in Bobby Jones from Paducah, Ky., and Jeff Halliburton from San Jacinto, Tex.

Tulsa Coach Ken Hayes has lost Valley player-of-the-year Bobby Smith and three other regulars, but has added 6-foot-10 Dana Lewis, a redshirt, and sophomore star Larry Morris to go with veteran Ron Carson.

Bradley suffered a severe blow when leading scorer Steve Kuberski was signed by the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. Coach Joe Stowell will rely heavily on vet Cal Criddle and four newcomers—transfers Gene Gathers and Billy Gay and sophomores Sam Simmons and Rich Schult.

Coach Moe Iba, whose Memphis Tigers lost all 16 of their Valley games last year, is hoping two sophomores, 6-10 Don Holcomb and 6-7 Fred Horton, can give him a boost. Joe Proctor, Valley sophomore-of-the-year last season, is back.

Coach Dan Spika at North Texas State has two of the Valley's top scorers in Joe Hamill-hopes transfer Herb Larkins will ton and Crest Whitaker and help. But the Eagles are short on height.

IN TWO BRACKETS Annual Meet Set To Start Friday

Eight teams are entered in each division of the annual Big Spring Junior High School Basketball tournament, which will be played in three gymnasiums here next Friday and Saturday.

Bronte Wins Bi-District

FORT STOCKTON — Bronte, District 7-B football champion, qualified for the right to oppose Sundown in Regional finals by defeating Fort Hancock, 7-0, here Friday night.

The contest was unreeled on a field blanketed by nine inches of snow.

A 15-yard pass play from Keith McCutchen to Randy Barbee produced the only touchdown of the game. The play occurred in the fourth period.

Willie Zuniga kicked the PAT. Bronte outgained Fort Hancock on the ground, 162 yards to 86, but the losers had an edge in the air, 45-25. Bronte made 13 first downs to six for Fort Hancock.

The Longhorns will carry a 10-1 record into its game with Sundown.

Score by quarters:

Odessa Meet Is Nearing

ODESSA — First round pairings for the Odessa Invitational basketball tournament, scheduled for the Odessa High Gym, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 4-6, have been announced.

Ector and Amarillo Caprock open the meet Thursday at 5:30 p.m., Permian plays Lubbock Coronado at 7, and Odessa faces Amarillo High at 8:30.

Winner of the Odessa-Amarillo game meets the winner of the Odessa-Caprock game at 6:30 p.m., Friday, while the losers clash at 4:30. The survivor of the 4:30 game takes on the Permian-Coronado winner at 8, Friday night.

The loser of the Permian-Coronado game will meet the loser of the Friday upper bracket semifinal at 2 p.m., Saturday, with the winner facing the loser of Friday afternoon's game for the consolation game at 6:15, Saturday night.

The championship final will be played at 8 p.m., Saturday.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second, third and consolation winners in both the ninth and eighth grade brackets.

In addition, there will be 10 all-tournament awards given in the two age brackets.

The ninth grade tournament will be run in its entirety in the BSHS gym.

All eighth grade games will be staged in the Gollad gym, with the exception of Rannels' opening game against Lamesa at 2:30 p.m. Friday, which will be in the Yearling fieldhouse.

Ben Neel is tournament director.

Pats, Bills May Still Make It

NEW YORK (AP) — Rules and reason would seem to be two likely partners, but one look at the American Football League standings under their unique playoff system proves otherwise.

For the new playoff system makes it possible for either Buffalo or Boston, both with 3-8 records going into their Sunday games, to overtake Houston in the running for an Eastern Division playoff spot.

That would enable either the Patriots or Bills to qualify for the AFL championship game and the Super Bowl. And, by winning the Super Bowl to wind up picking last in the pro draft despite a 6-8 record.

The possibilities have been opened by the new AFL playoff system which qualifies the first two teams in each division for a playoff berth. Oakland and Kansas City have qualified in the West and New York in the East. Houston is in the lead for the second playoff berth in the East with a 5-2 record but has not yet clinched. Should the Oilers lose their two remaining games while either Boston or Buffalo wins its final three the Patriots or Bills will be the playoffs.

In the playoffs, the first-place team in the East meets the second-place team in the West and vice versa for the right to move on to the AFL championship game, where the league's representative in the Super Bowl will emerge.

Under league rules, the Super Bowl winner selects last in the college draft even if there are teams in either league with better records. So the possibility exists that either Boston or Buffalo could be that team.

It's not likely, but it is possible.

Cawood Joining Staff At SMU

DALLAS — David Cawood of Baylor has been named sports information director at Southern Methodist University, Athletic Director Hayden Fry announced Saturday.

The 26-year-old Cawood, sports information director at Baylor for the past two years, will assume his new duties Dec. 1. Cawood replaces Junior Eldredge, who resigned in September to enter private business.

MONTREAL (AP) — The Saskatchewan Roughriders and Ottawa Rough Riders battle here Sunday in the Grey Cup game for the championship of the Canadian Football League. A sellout crowd of 33,172 will see the game at the Autostate Stadium.

All-Time Greats Will Be Honored

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith will be the main speaker Monday at a banquet honoring five all-time great Texas schoolboy football players, three of whom later started at Southern Methodist University.

Three of the five also still live in Texas, one in New York and the other is dead.

The banquet will honor Cecil "Honk" Irvin, Bobby Wilson, Kyle Rote, Glynn Gregory and Chal Daniel, who will be inducted into the Texas High School Hall of Fame, joining five other players selected last year. Irvin, tackle and fullback at Cisco in the 1920s, is employed by Humble Pipeline at DeLeon. He played college ball at Davis-

Elkins in West Virginia and professional ball with the New York Giants.

Wilson, Corsicana halfback in 1929-31, is employed by Sun Oil Co. in Beaumont. He played football at SMU, making All-Southwest Conference, and, in his senior year was named All-America while leading his team to the national championship.

Rote, football star at San Antonio Jefferson in the 1940s, played professional football with the New York Giants and is now a television sports announcer for NBC in New York. He began his college career at Vanderbilt and transferred to SMU where he starred on the 1948-50 Mustang football teams. Gregory, the great runner, blocker, kicker, and defensive star with Abilene in the 1950s, also played at SMU and briefly with the Dallas Cowboys.

Daniel, who is dead, led Longview to a state championship in 1937 and was considered by some the finest lineman in schoolboy history. He was an All-America guard at the University of Texas, where he played on the great 1941 team. He was killed while training as a pilot in World War II.

Irvin will be introduced by Spike Dykes, head coach and athletic director at Big Spring High School.

Dykes knew Irvin when both resided in Ballinger.

Oklahoma Eleven Triumphs, 20-6

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Northeastern Oklahoma A&M, swiping six passes and recovering two fumbles, scored a 20-6 victory over Arizona Western in the 13th annual Shrine Bowl football game Friday night.

The game, played before 10,000 chilled fans, decided the national junior college championship and carried the Norsemen to an undefeated season.

King, Casals Win

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN (AP) — Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif. and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco won the women's doubles final Friday in the Stockholm Open tennis tournament Friday. They defeated Julie Feldman of New York and Francoise Durr of France, 6-4, 6-4.

Rice Owls Batter Baylor, 34 to 6

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Phil Wood, a sophomore quarterback guided Rice to all its touchdowns while Sprull, a first year tailback, scored three—one on a 30-yard scamper.

Wood completed 15 of 25 passes for 173 yards and added 94 more yards on 19 rushing tries. The loss was Baylor's 10th of the season and marked the first time since 1918 that a Baylor team failed to win at least one game during the season. That year the Bears lost the only four games they played.

Baylor took over sole possession of the SWC cellar. Rice wound up the year with a 3-7 mark and a 2-6 conference record, good enough for a sixth place tie with Texas A&M.

In addition to Sprull's 30-yard touchdown gallop, he also scored from 4 and 1 yard out. Larry Caldwell scored on a two-yard run and Dale Bernauer on a five-yard run to round out Rice's scoring.

The Bears only points came on a 12-yard pass from quarterback Steve Stuart to Rollin Hunter.

Sprull carried 13 times for 65 yards.

The Owls scored on their second possession in the first period, going 57 yards in three plays with Wood accounting for 55 of the total. He hit Larry Davis with an eight-yard pass before rolling out and going 48 yards where he was knocked out of bounds on the two.

Caldwell plunged over for the score. Wood, who accounted for 244 yards—140 passing and 84 rushing in the first half alone—guided the Owls to two more touchdowns to give Rice a 20-0 halftime lead.

Sprull scored the first time he carried the ball, taking a handoff from Wood, breaking over right tackle and racing 30 yards. He later capped a 9 play 33 yard Rice drive with a 4-yard scoring run.

Nixon Could See Battle

HOUSTON (AP) — When No. 1 Texas meets No. 2 Arkansas Saturday at Fayetteville, one of the nation's most avid sports enthusiasts—President Nixon—is due to be in the stands, according to Houston Post sports columnist Jack Gallagher.

Gallagher, who was in Fayetteville Thursday for the Arkansas-Texas Tech game, said everything is still hush-hush with no one in Washington or Fayetteville saying anything. A White House spokesman neither confirmed nor denied the rumor for The Associated Press. The President's itinerary wouldn't be released a week in advance because of security precautions, he said.

Nixon is supposed to address the sportswriters from across the nation who will be gathering for the biggest battle thus far this season, Gallagher said.

Unique Race Is Scheduled In September

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A "clean air" coast to coast car race, with penalties for polluting the atmosphere en route, was announced Saturday at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Like the "Great Electric Car Race" of a year ago, contestants will drive vehicles from MIT and California Institute of Technology.

Only this time, in the "Clean Air Car Race" scheduled for Sept. 9, 1970, anyone can enter vehicles, even commercial firms, with any kind of power plant, as long as college students do the actual driving.

Feb. 28 is the deadline for applications.

Electric cars are considered to have no pollution. A formula was devised to penalize fuel burning vehicles, but still allow them to compete on even terms with electric cars by adding such factors as speed, roadhandling, etc.

Any vehicle that produces less air pollutants than the 1974 California standard for vehicle exhausts will be allowed in the race, as long as it satisfies preliminary safety tests.

Organizers at the two schools expect entries to include electric cars, combustion vehicles, and "hybrids"—cars using a combination of both electricity and a fuel driven motor.

The race will be divided into six legs, with a stretch of "urban driving" in each, and a formula for computing penalties for exhaust fumes.

Recharging facilities for battery powered vehicles will be available every 60 to 80 miles along the route, according to MIT Prof. Richard D. Thornton and Dr. Jerome Shapiro of Cal Tech.

Before the race, entries will undergo road tests, and afterward pollution tests. Over-all score in various events and situations determines the winner.

Wreck Upsets 'Dogs, 6-0

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Junior quarterback Jack Williams engineered an 80-yard touchdown drive in the second period and carried Georgia Tech to a 6-0 upset football victory over Sun Bowl-bound Georgia Saturday.

Williams ran for 19 yards and completed four passes for 47 yards in the 13-play drive which he ended with a one-yard sneak with 5:45 remaining in the first half.

Tech's rugged defense, led by junior tackle Rock Perdoni, turned back two Georgia threats in the second half to protect the slim lead and hand Vince Dooley his first shutout since becoming head coach at Georgia in 1964.

Georgia drove to the Tech 14 early in the fourth quarter, and on fourth down and seven chose to go for a field goal, but Jim McCullough's 32-yard kick was wide.

Georgia again threatened to pull the game out with six minutes remaining, when the Bulldogs got two straight pass completions from reserve quarterback Paul Gilbert and a 28-yard holding penalty against Tech to move to the Jacket 11.

Unrelenting Auburn Wears Out Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Auburn's unrelenting football team, led by sophomore quarterback Pat Sullivan, took out five years of frustration on Alabama Saturday, defeating the Crimson Tide 49-26.

Sullivan's passing and the running of Mickey Zofko, Wallace Clark and Tommy Lowry, took the Tiger on long-scoring drives, and the Auburn defense, getting stronger late in the game, stopped Alabama's comeback attempt.

The Tigers thus take an 8-2 mark into the Astro-Bluebonnet bowl against Houston Dec. 31, while Alabama goes into the Dec. 13 Liberty Bowl against Colorado with its worst mark since 1958, 6-4.

Both Sullivan and Alabama quarterback Scott Hunter set records, but the stronger Tigers wore out the Alabama defense and won going away.

The second half belonged to Auburn, except for a dazzling 100-yard kickoff return by Alabama's George Ranager and a desperation touchdown pass with seven seconds to play.

Ranager's kickoff return came after Zofko's one-yard plunge had given Auburn a 28-10 margin.

A 27-yard field goal shortly afterwards by Oran Buck closed the margin to 28-20, but Auburn put the game out of reach with scoring bursts by Zofko and Clark.

The Tigers had last defeated Alabama in 1963, 10-8.

Alabama led twice, 3-0 and 10-7, in the first half but the Tigers drove 80 yards just before the half for a 14-10 edge and carried the momentum with them the rest of the game.

The big gainer on the drive just before intermission was a 30-yard pass from Sullivan that Tommie Frederick took in at the three with two Alabama defenders also wrestling for the ball. "We beat Bama," the Auburn cheering section chanted as the final minutes ticked away.

Javelinas Again In NAIA Finals

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Eldridge Small made the big play Saturday and shoved Texas A&I into its second NAIA national championship game as the Texas team beat New Mexico.

Highlands Texas A&I	0	13	6	0	19
New Mexico	7	13	6	0	34

Small scored the first time he carried the ball, taking a handoff from Wood, breaking over right tackle and racing 30 yards. He later capped a 9 play 33 yard Rice drive with a 4-yard scoring run.

At the half, the score was 13-7 in favor of Highlands. A&I led 22-16 with most of the fourth quarter gone but Highlands scored what looked like the winning touchdown until the march down the field ending in the final score.

The triumph gave the 10th-ranked Volunteers, who meet Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 27, a 5-1 league record and 9-1 for the season. It was the Vols' second SEC title in three years.

Tennessee wrapped up the contest in the first half by scoring two touchdowns, a field goal and a safety in the second quarter for 19 points and a 26-7 lead at the intermission.

Watson, all-conference sophomore fullback, scored two touchdowns and netted 115 yards running to boost his season total to 807 yards.

But he lost the conference season rushing race to Vanderbilt's tailback Doug Mathews, who sprinted 25 yards for the Commodores' first touchdown and picked up 128 yards rushing to boost his total to 848 yards for the year. Mathews and Watson had gone into the game with 721 and 692 yards, respectively.

Monday with the minor league meetings featuring the annual player draft. The scene shifts to Miami Wednesday for the major league sessions.

In addition to the flurry of trading activity that usually accompanies these winter conclaves, baseball's hierarchy must concern itself again with Marvin Miller's Major League Players Association.

Last spring, the Players Association boycotted training camps in a dispute over pension benefits. This time the bone of contention is the reserve clause, which binds an individual player to his team.

The agreement between the players and owners expires Dec. 31 and the players No. 1 aim is to loosen the restrictive chains of the reserve clause—a sensitive subject among the owners.

The player relations committee will meet with Miller and report to joint meetings of the American and National Leagues on the progress of negotiations.

That is only one of many items on a crowded agenda facing the executives. Also high up on the list of subjects is the continued restructuring of the sport—a topic that first arose at these meetings last year.

Torres Seeking Shot At Title

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Efrén Torres, the World Boxing Council's flyweight champion, called for a shot at the World Boxing Association's champion after his first title defense Friday night.

"What we want is a fight with Villacampo to settle this once and for all," Torres said after successfully defending his title against Japan's Susumo Hanagata.

Bernabe Villacampo of the Philippines holds the WBA version of the flyweight world title.

Efrén "Alacran" Torres, whose home is in the Guadalajara city, roundly defeated the younger challenger Hanagata of Yokohama, pounding his way to a unanimous decision.

Neither fighter fell to the canvas during the 15-round battle. However, both fighters had swollen eyes, a product of frequent in-fighting in the center of the ring.

Both fighters weighed 112 pounds.

Tour Appeals To Jackson

By TOMMY HART

Tommy Jackson, who broke the course record at the Munny golf layout here recently with an 11-under par 62, hopes some day to hit the pro circuit . . . Observers say he has a good shot at the big money because he rarely plays a b a d round . . . The Negro youth credits M u n n y pro Charles Brantley with much of the improvement which has come, to his game since he arrived on the local scene, especially in his chipping game and his putting touch . . . Tommy will have to have financial help to get on the pro tour but his backer could be repaid tenfold—the boy has unlimited potential . . . Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams is so engrossed in football, his wife once said of him: "If somebody would volunteer to feed him, George would let them. And he might even get to like food" . . . Mrs. Allen buys his clothes, sends him to the barber shop and raises his four children . . . Allen's football defense is so complex, a coaching aide says he once took a copy of it to a Chinese laundry and got back four shirts . . . Even if Allen and the Rams win the Super Bowl game (and I personally don't think they will), this could be George's last year with LA . . . He and club owner Dan Reeves are no closer than Mao and the Pope . . . Sonora's coach was receptive to the idea of playing its Regional playoff football game here but Seagraves was designated as the "home" team by the Texas Interscholastic League and chose Andrews as a site . . . Haskell's mentor, Sonny Everett, wanted Big Spring as a neutral site for its game with Big Lake but Big Lake won the toss and selected San Angelo for the game . . . Vince Lombardi can pull a rock in picking talent, the same as any other mortal in football . . . He thought Texan Ray McDonald would make it with the Washington Redskins, even after his predecessor, Otto Graham, had flunked McDonald but Ray didn't stick . . . Had Lombardi had the chance while he was affiliated with Green Bay, he'd have drafted McDonald No. 1.

TOMMY JACKSON

The 1969 Big Spring Steers gained 144 fewer yards than did their immediate predecessors but their defense against both the rush and the pass was infinitely better . . . They yielded an average of 294.6 yards a game in 1968, whereas this year's team surrendered a norm of only 159.1 on the ground and 73.0 through the air . . . No one on this year's team approached Roy Lee Warren's total gains (952 yards) but Rick Peurifoy of the 1969 club had a better average pickup—6.6 yards as against 5.5—and went in for one more touchdown . . . One of the starters on this year's McMurry College basketball team likely will be a former New Mexico JC standout, 6-4½ Charles Hailey . . . Hardin-Simmons University has no Texans on its freshman basketball club and only two members of its varsity are native-born . . . The Cowboys boast players from eight different states . . . Eddie Lee Renfro, the former Sonora football whiz, wound up as the second leading rusher on Texas Tech's freshman football team, with 282 yards net . . . Wilbur Evans, the Cotton Bowl official who combined with Field Scovell to nail down Notre Dame for the 1970 attraction, thinks the Dallas classic has its best national attraction since Texas and Navy clashed there in 1963 . . . Evans points with pride to the fact that the Cotton Bowl for the 15th straight year will come up with a visiting team rated in the nation's Top Ten . . . Colorado City's Don Maynard will shortly be gifted with a gold watch for having been in the AFL since it was organized in 1960 . . . Harry Caray, my idea of a baseball broadcaster with verve and talent, probably will air the Oakland A's game next season . . . After 25 years, he and the St. Louis Cardinals have parted company . . . Minnesota Fats, the pool hustler who appeared here several years ago, never signs a hotel register with his real name, Rudolf Wanderone . . . He says no one would recognize him that way . . . The fog got so thick during the Air Force-Oregon game this year that statisticians had to move from the press box to the sidelines . . . The Falcons recovered seven enemy fumbles during the game and one Oregon writer was provoked to remark: "If the fog cleared, we'd probably see Air Force had 21 players on the field."

Knicks Break Win Record

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "I wouldn't have slept for days if I had blown those two," Walt Frazier said Friday night after his two free throws beat the Cincinnati Royals 106-105 and gave the New York Knicks a record 18th straight victory.

"The winning streak record wasn't even on my mind," said Frazier, who scored 27 points as the Knicks (23-1) broke the record of 17 straight National Basketball Association wins set in 1946 by the Washington Capitals and in 1959 by the Boston Celtics.

"I was just thinking of Philadelphia last week when I made only two of seven from the line," Frazier continued. His foul shots with two seconds left ended a frantic final 16 seconds when the Knicks came from five points back.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson fouled out with 1:49 to play after hitting for 33 points, plus 10 assists.

"I don't know how it could have come out if Oscar would have played all the way," said Knicks' Coach Red Holzman. "He is so great—especially against us."

Two of Robertson's fouls were deliberate fouls late in the first quarter ordered by player-coach Bob Cousy. "You can't wait to foul intentionally," Cousy said. "You can't let them penetrate too far and Oscar just happened to be the man."

Cousy, who replaced Robertson, made two free throws with 27 seconds left for the 105-100 lead, but after the Knicks' Willis Reed made two fouls, it was Cousy who threw an inbounds pass that was intercepted by Dave DeBusschere.

"I threw the ball away, and that was the critical error," said Cousy. DeBusschere went on to score with six seconds left. Reed then slapped the ball away from Tom Van Arsdale and Frazier picked it up and was fouled under the Royals' basket.

Rams, Browns Can Sew Up Divisions

By The Associated Press

Los Angeles and Cleveland can apply the final mathematical clincher to division titles in the National Football League which has an abbreviated six-game Sunday schedule because of the two Thanksgiving Day contests.

The Rams, hoping to be the first team to go through an NFL schedule with a perfect record since the 11-0 Chicago Bears of 1942 (they lost to Washington in the title game), will be in Washington. Los Angeles (10-0) can wrap it up by beating the Redskins (5-3-2) no matter what runner-up Baltimore does.

Cleveland (7-2-1) which clinched a tie last week can nail it down in Chicago (1-9) where the Bears are rounding out a poor season. A victory for the Browns would knock out second place St. Louis, which had hoped to stay alive at least until their Dec. 14 rematch. Dallas and Minnesota, the other division leaders, played Thursday and take the day off along with San Francisco and Detroit.

Baltimore (6-4), with only the faintest hopes of catching the Rams, will be at home to Atlanta (3-7), a team with which it had plenty of trouble at Atlanta Oct. 5 when the Colts won 21-14.

The New York Giants (3-7) visit Milwaukee to play Green Bay (5-5) in a game that has none of the impact of their classic struggles of recent years. The Giants have lost six in a row and the Packers have dropped three straight to ruin the dreams of the "Pack Will Be Back" boosters. The loss of Bart Starr with a shoulder separation was the final blow to Green Bay.

Philadelphia and New Orleans (3-7), which have been moving up in recent weeks, meet at New Orleans. The Eagles have three victories and a tie to show over their last five starts. The Saints have won two straight and three of their last four.

Pittsburgh (1-9), loser of nine in a row since upending Detroit on opening day, will be at St. Louis (3-6-1), which has dropped its last two and is on the brink of elimination in the Century Division.

Wally Bullington Second In Poll

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Bennie Ellender, head coach of Southland Conference football champion Arkansas State, has been named SLC Coach-of-the-Year.

Ellender has won the award two consecutive years. The Indians will meet Drake University in Arlington Dec. 13 for the Pecan Bowl title.

Ellender nudged Wally Bullington of Abilene Christian by two points in the balloting by coaches and sports information directors.

Quarterback Jim Lindsey of Abilene Christian was voted offensive player of the year while tackle Clovis Swinney of Arkansas was picked defensive player of the year. Lindsey, holder of 17 SLC records, finished the season with 207 pass completions for 2,886 yards and 19 touchdowns.

SWC Fives Play Topnotch Foes

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference, long a whipping-boy in intercollegiate basketball, takes on some top flight competition this week as non-league play gets underway.

Five games are on tap Monday night to get the season off to a flying start.

Arkansas is at Missouri, Rice hosts Sam Houston State, Houston Baptist is at Tech Tech, Ole Miss is at Texas, and Texas Christian is in Oklahoma City to tackle tough Oklahoma City University.

On Tuesday night, Texas Wesleyan is at Baylor and Southern Methodist is at OCU on Wednesday night.

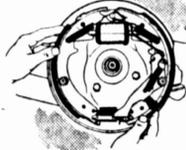

SWC defending champion Texas A&M opens its season Thursday night by hosting Northwestern State and Alabama is at Texas the same night.

Oklahoma State is at Arkansas Friday night and Northwestern State of Louisiana is at Rice.

The People Behind Your Electric Switch

It takes more than generating plants, substations, transformers and electric lines to provide your good electric service.

It takes people—employees with know-how and experience who take pride in serving you well.

The 2,600 employees of Texas Electric Service Company represent a wide variety of skills. Their abilities and commitment to service are reflected every day in the way you are served.

These are experienced people. Actually, about ten percent of the company's employees are members of the Quarter Century Club signifying 25 years or more of continuous service with the company.

These are the people who are serving you when you turn on lights or an electric appliance . . . the hundreds of people behind your electric switch. They work constantly to maintain a high standard of service—so you can live better electrically.

Jets Can Sew Up Eastern Crown

The New York Jets, who got some extra gravy from San Diego to go with their Thanksgiving turkey, and the Oakland Raiders, who got a little heartburn from Kansas City, clash Sunday in a battle of American Football League division leaders. New York can clinch the Eastern Division title over Houston with a victory, while Oakland needs to win to stay ahead of Kansas City in the Western Division.

BOBBY ALLISON

Brothers Are Track Rivals

COLLEGE STATION — Watching them on the nation's super speedways as they battle each other for position and victory, you wouldn't guess they even liked each other. One drives a factory sponsored Ford, the other pilots a Dodge. However, off the track the Allison brothers, Donnie and Bobby, of Hueytown, Ala., are members of a close knit family whose interest lies in the fast fraternity of NASCAR stock car racing.

The two professional drivers are among the most popular and easy going of the entries for Texas International Speedway's $93,150 race on Dec. 7.

Donnie Allison, the younger brother, recently ran a series of tests at the new banked two-mile oval in the Banjo Matthews' 1969 Ford he will drive in the Texas 500. Following his tests the 30 year old was emphatic about the facility.

"Man, this is a race track!" he exclaimed. "It is wide and smooth which means we will be able to race, really race, anywhere on the track even though it is a fast track."

"I liked the Michigan Speedway (at Jackson), which is laid out pretty much like this, but now I'm looking forward to Dec. 7. I'd always heard that Texas has the best of everything and it's sure true concerning race tracks."

"I want to beat all the other guys but extra specially my brother, Bobby. He is good and I respect his ability but I love to beat him," stated the winner of the National 500 at Charlotte where the Allison's finished one-two on their mother's birthday.

Race time on Dec. 7 is set for 1 p.m. Tickets are available at the Texas International Speedway ticket office, Highway 6 South, Ramada Inn, College Station, Tex., 77840; and at ticket outlets throughout the state.

South Carolina Gets Nod In College Poll

SOUTH CAROLINA — 3-48 NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the Lew Alcindor era is over in college basketball the South Carolina Gamecocks are favored to dethrone UCLA as national champion in the 1970 season opening Monday night.

The fabulous 7-foot-1 1/2 All-American, now playing with Milwaukee in the pro NBA, led UCLA to three consecutive national collegiate titles with a record of 88 victories in 90 games, including two winning streaks of 47 and 41.

The Gamecocks, coached by Frank McGuire, caught fire late last season and with the entire team back were picked Saturday as No. 1 in the Associated Press pre-season poll. Johnny Wooden's UCLA Bruins were ranked fourth.

Kentucky, coached by veteran Adolph Rupp the winningest college coach ever with 503 triumphs, was voted No. 2 in the pre-season poll by a panel of 25 AP sports writers and broadcasters.

Purdue, the Big Ten champs with All-American Rick Mount back for his final season, landed the No. 3 spot ahead of UCLA.

South Carolina, sparked by John Roche, polled 14 first place votes and seven seconds for a total of 489 on the basis of 20 points for first, 18 for second, 16 - 14 - 12 - 10 - 9 - 8 - 7 - 6 - 5 - 4 - 3 - 2 - 1 through 15 places.

Kentucky, Purdue and UCLA were virtually neck and neck, Rupp's club, polled four firsts and a total of 379. Purdue landed six firsts, but got only four seconds to eight for Kentucky for an aggregate of 376.

UCLA, which Coach Wooden says will have a "good team", got three firsts and a total of 371 points.

Davidson, led again by Mike Maloy, was fifth with 279 points and New Mexico State, the only other team to get a first place vote, sixth with 225 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten were North Carolina, Marquette, Villanova and Colorado. Duquesne, Santa Clara, Notre Dame, St. John's of New York, Louisville, Southern California, St. Bonaventure, Ohio State, Drake and Iowa in that order. Thirty-eight additional teams received votes including Louisiana State and Niagara which features high scoring Pistol Pete Maravich and Calvin Murphy, respectively.

The opening night list of games Monday include South Carolina at Auburn, West Virginia at Kentucky, Tulsa at Purdue, Arizona at UCLA and New Mexico State at Oklahoma Christian.

Mike J. Coen of Kansas City, Mo., was elected Chairman of the Board of Fortuna Corporation following Friday's annual stockholders meeting at Sunland Park.

Coen is president and principal stockholder of Midland Securities Co., Inc., a securities brokerage firm of Kansas City.

Art Johnson, Sunland general manager, was named president. Fred C. Berger, president of Berger Construction Co. of Higginsville, Mo., was elected vice president. Mrs. Nora K. Johnson of Albuquerque was re-elected secretary.

Laker Coach Is Scolded

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach George Lee of the San Francisco Warriors said Friday night that tactics used by Los Angeles Laker Coach Joe Mullaney in recent games are a "disgrace to basketball."

Lee said "the game is becoming a game where you can't do anything you want to. It's becoming a referees game; it's becoming too prejudicial."

The play that Lee took exception to came in the fourth period of Friday night's game won by the Warriors 114-108.

Four Lakers lined up on the right side of the court and star Jerry West dribbled the ball against his defensive man, Joe Ellis.

According to National Basketball Association rules, zone defenses are not permitted and Mullaney's tactics were designed to allow West to go alone one-on-one with Ellis since the other four Warriors are required to guard their men at the side of the court.

"That isn't basketball," Lee said after the game. "There's nothing written in the rule book about how close to an offensive player a defensive player has to be. I was told the other day that it was eight feet and I'm going to the commissioner and get it written into the rule book."

Lee's players crept toward the basket as West and Ellis went at it and twice referee Mendy Rudolph charged the Warriors with technical fouls. Rudolph's decision was based on the no-zone-defense rule.

CINCY BIDS FOR GAME

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds and city officials have asked the National League to hold the 1970 All-Star game here since the new riverfront stadium is slated for occupancy June 30.

The Reds, Mayor Eugene Ruehmann and City Manager Richard Krabach have written Warren Giles, league president, for permission. The requests will be reviewed during major league baseball's winter meetings beginning Sunday in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The Reds disclosed Friday that the city had assured them the 30,000-seat stadium will be ready by the June date, in time for a home-stand against National League West champion Atlanta and for the All-Star game.

Cats Claim Third

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Bobcats won their third straight basketball game here Friday night, turning back Dallas Bryan Adams, 78-65.

Abilene High Is Heavy Favorite To Cop Crown

Abilene High is the overwhelming favorite to win the District 3-AAAA basketball championship.

So say coaches and sports writers who voted in the annual poll.

Abilene reaped nine of the 13 first place ballots and finished with 105 points.

Midland Lee wound up in second place with 93 points but received only one first place vote, compared to three for San Angelo, third in the voting.

Big Spring was picked to trail the ticket among the nine member schools.

Odessa Permian was selected to finish eighth and wound up with only two more points in the voting than the Steers.

Lee, no doubt, would have rallied more support had it not been for the fact that 6-8 Randy Prince of the Rebels broke his foot several weeks ago and is still on crutches.

Results of the poll:
First place votes counted 9 points, second place 8 and etc. Number of first place votes in parentheses.

- 1. Abilene High (9) 105
- 2. Lee (1) 93
- 3. San Angelo (3) 88
- 4. Ector 87
- 5. Odessa High 49
- 6. Cooper 46

Pan Am Opens Big, New Gym

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—The largest crowd ever to watch a college basketball game in the Lower Rio Grande Valley is expected when Pan American College plays Texas A&I Monday night in the new $1.75 million Pan American College field house.

A capacity crowd of 5,000 is expected. The game will be telecast on KGBT-TV and broadcast on KURV.

One woman competitor and 13 newsmen and sports writers from the Valley area will compete during halftime for the free throw championship of Texas. The reporters will be given three free throws.

Mrs. Phyllis Jennings of KGBT-TV will be the only woman competing. She is a former University of Oklahoma Ruffnek football queen and will compete against representatives of the Kingsville Record, the Edinburg Daily Review and others in the free throw contest.

The two teams have not met for eight seasons. The A&I Javelinas own a 9-3 advantage in the overall series. The Pan Am Broncs had a record of 8-17 last year, their worst in 11 years. The Javelinas had a losing 11-17 record last year.

Pan American coach Sam Williams has the best record of all NCAA University Division coaches in Texas at 202-106 and ranks nationally in the top 20 list of winning coaches in the University Division.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"There is a lad here who has five barley loaves and two fish." (John 6:9, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, we thank Thee that we can share our blessings, bringing joy both to others and to ourselves. May we realize that what we share unselfishly is multiplied many times through Christ's transforming power. In His name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Matter Of Remembering

With the passing of Thanksgiving, we come into the pre-Christmas season with its feverish pitch of activities, a good percentage of which are hide bound to what has been done in the past. This is calculated to deliver one on Christmas Day to the bosom of his or her family, exhausted, unlearned, and stuffed.

This can no more be halted than the tide, and the only exception is that which people make personally. The tide may carry you along, but you don't always have to plunge into the tide.

But we do hope that most of us will take a little more time than usual this year to consider what this season is all about, to remember the Gift that has prompted us to our seasonal giving.

The impulses to giving and to joy are noble ones, for they have deep spiritual roots. And because this is their source, it would be wonderful if we could pull aside now and then and return to it during this time of the year. It's not a question of keeping or putting something or someone back in the observance; rather it is a matter of really remembering.

Quietus On Spinoff Spending

The deceptively mild-mannered Senate majority leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, is a master of the muted victory after raucous battle. It was with an earned grin that he recently pointed to a much-needed restraint on the Pentagon deeply buried in the otherwise huge and favorable $20.7 billion procurement authorization bill passed for the Defense Department.

Remember the outcry when it was exposed that the Defense Department was putting $4 million into "Project Camelot," the oddly named study of potential for revolution in Chile? Chileans were so insulted by this meddling of one country's military in the socio-political-economic internal affairs of another country that U.S.-Chile relations were strained and the project dropped. And, any small university team could, without offense, have made a much better independent study for a relatively trifling sum — in fact, a trip to any really good library might have sufficed.

Then there was the pained outcry from conservationists when they learned that the Pentagon, in the $600,000 Project Themis contract with the University of Mississippi, was researching bird life, with the incredible excuse that some way might be found to use our winged friends for military purposes.

Well, none of that will happen any more. Mansfield quietly points out. The just passed military bill carries a provision that no money granted the Pentagon can "be used to carry out any research project or study unless such project or study has a direct and apparent relationship to a specific military function."

And so many research grants of minimal, if any, usefulness — heretofore stuck in the Defense Department budget because of a fading Capitol Hill attitude that what the Pentagon asks, the Pentagon gets — now may never be made. This should be a relief to the nation's taxpayers and to others even more concerned over the extension of military interest into matters of no logical military concern.

Controlling The 'Demonstrations'

WASHINGTON — Will cities hereafter be justified in refusing permits for street "demonstrations" which might provoke violence? Although most of the 250,000 "demonstrators" on the Vietnam war who marched in Washington on November 15 were peaceful, Gerald Ford, Republican leader in the House of Representatives, calls attention to the fact that the three-day affair cost the taxpayers more than $1.5 million and private businesses an estimated $240,000. He says there were 606 persons injured and 361 persons arrested. Six area hospitals were crowded with patients, including 26 police officers.

IT HAS BEEN contended that marches are permissible under the "freedom of assembly" clause of the Constitution. But the Constitution can hardly be construed as requiring a city government to grant a permit for a "demonstration" that can threaten the lives and property of its citizens. There are plenty of parks, stadiums, convention halls and other gathering places in almost every city where protesters can speak without molestation. It isn't necessary to grant a permit for marches which hold up traffic and cause injury to individuals and damage to property.

THE SIMPLE TRUTH is that large "demonstrations" can provoke violence by generating a mob spirit, and in the midst of such disturbances criminals take advantage of the lack of police protection elsewhere and indulge in looting and robbery.

Based on previous experience, the government of the city of Washington would be justified hereafter in declining to issue any permits for street "demonstrations" involving controversial issues. Permits could be granted for the use of parks or arenas which have fences around them.

IT CAN HARDLY be argued that "freedom of speech" is denied if the demonstrators can express themselves in such locations. For newsmen and cameramen could be present and television reproduction of what happened could be wisely disseminated. All of this could be done without danger to individual lives or property.

The city authorities here naturally consult the federal government on whether to grant permits, and there was some reluctance this time to permit the anti-Vietnam war "demonstrations." The administration, however, finally consented because of a belief that it would be charged with the denial of free speech if a permit were refused. The city government took a chance, and individuals were injured and private property damaged.

WITH SUCH experience to indicate what can happen in public gatherings on the streets, any city government could certainly defend in court its right to designate where such "demonstrations" should be held and its right to keep traffic going and normal business conditions from being disrupted.

In a decision rendered on Jan. 18, 1965, the Supreme court said:

"THE RIGHTS of free speech and assembly, while fundamental in our democratic society, still do not mean that everyone with opinions or beliefs to express may address a group at any public place and at any time. The constitutional guarantee of liberty implies the existence of an organized society maintaining public order, without which liberty itself would be lost in the excesses of anarchy. The control of travel on the streets is a clear example of governmental responsibility to insure this necessary order."

Consumers May Be Applying The Brakes

By WHAYNE EISENMAN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American consumers who have felt trapped into buying now—to avoid even higher prices later—are cutting back on major purchases in expectation of declining prices, a survey revealed the past week.

Plans to buy cars, homes and major appliances have decreased this year, said the National Industrial Conference Board, a private economic study group.

The NIBC's latest survey conducted in September and October attributes the consumer belt-tightening to the impact of the government's anti-inflationary measures.

Earlier this year, the NIBC said, consumers indicated they planned to buy durable goods in anticipation of higher prices later.

The decline is a breath of fresh air to the administration's inflation fighters. It suggests businessmen are toning down plans for big capital outlays, which could dampen the flames of recent business activity.

Extension of the income tax surtax, a key part of the government's battle with inflation, received the green light from the Senate, the past week. The measure urged by President Nixon and approved by the House extends the surcharge at 5 per cent for the first half of 1970. The current surtax is 10 per cent and was scheduled to expire Dec. 31.

A sharp hike in the price of nickel prompted U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steelmaker, to raise the price of some of its steel products, and industry sources expect the increases to spread.

STEEL HIKE
U.S. Steel raised its prices on high-strength alloy and copper-bearing steels, representing about 3 per cent of its shipments, effective Dec. 15.

In other economic developments, the government has threatened court action to prevent the Greyhound Corp. from acquiring controlling interest in Armour & Co.

The Justice Department said the planned purchase of Armour stock now held by the conglomerate General Host Corp. would violate a 1920 consent decree barring certain meat packers from dealing in some commodities.

The world's major airlines reached general agreement on revisions in their North Atlantic rate schedules, including a new 29-to-45-day excursion fare.

Airlines delegates have been meeting in Caracas, Venezuela, since Nov. 18 in an attempt to end the price war set off by Alitalia's posting of a $299 Rome-New York roundtrip fare in October.

Got It, But What For?

AUBURN, Calif. (AP) — Officials in Placer County got a bargain: A purchase for $25,000 of a missile site that cost the government $70 million.

Now they're trying to figure out what to do with it. The site covers 52 acres above ground, over gently rolling hills on the edge of the old Mother Lode gold mining country, and 30 acres of underground caverns which once housed three 160-foot-deep missile silos, working and living quarters for crews and support machinery such as electric power plants. Protected against anything except a direct nuclear hit, the site housed Titan missiles in the tense period of 1964-66 after the Cuban missile and Berlin Wall crises. It, and others like it, were abandoned as the Air Force developed more Minuteman missiles.

Placer County figured the site could be used for something when the General Services Administration put it up for sale at $25,000—half the appraised value.

Around The Rim

Gramp Lays Down His Printer's Apron

A writer named George Ballinger is quoted as follows in Elbert Hubbard's Scrapbook:

"How much easier our work would be if we put forth as much effort trying to improve the quality of it as most of us do trying to find excuses for not properly attending to it."

Which prompts me to write today of Granville Glenn who, as a printing craftsman, has worked with The Herald for 40 years.

AS THIS month ends, the fellow we know around our office affectionately as "Gramp" is taking his well-earned retirement. He is the first among all Herald employees to do this, so it gives him a sort of special distinction to which we feel he is entitled.

His departure creates a special void — not because we do not have other good printers — but because Gramp went to his job in his own special way.

FOR, IN TRUTH, he regarded the whole newspaper as a personal responsibility. It has not been just the hours he put in, although this total is fantastic, but also his determination to see that everything always went the way it ought to.

Glenn has served longer with our newspaper than any other person. This employment started in the days when The Herald, as a new daily, was just getting off the ground. He played a major role in the headway it made.

HE REMAINED, steadfast — and as a foreman at the time — during the dismal depression days, when economics dictated wage cuts (something an entire generation has never experienced).

During World War II, when the labor supply was so short as to be almost disastrous, Gramp Glenn never lost a minute in doing what must have been the work of two or three men.

WORK? He scarcely has known anything else. The starting time in the print shop is 7 a.m., but Gramp generally has been on hand by 6, just to check and see if everything was the way it ought to be. He would come back again after hours to take another reading.

The normal schedule called for him to be off a day each week, but you could count on your fingers the number of "off" days that Gramp did not come back down to his print shop, here again, just to be sure that production was on schedule.

GENERALLY, he would cut short his vacations to show up at the shop early, just for another check.

During his years, he guided many apprentices into the printing craft. He also "rode herd" on all the advertising salesmen, letting them know when the copy they had turned in for ad composition wasn't all it should have been.

Gramp reached the point that he was entitled to dictate, in his fashion, and to handle his job in his own way.

A MAN'S LOYALTY to his work, his concern for the organization he works for, his compulsion to do more than really was expected — these things could never be measured in financial remuneration. They cannot even be measured in mere words. I wish they could, because Gramp, as he lays aside his printer's apron, is entitled to the full measure.

Handling The Haynsworth Story

WASHINGTON — The news of Judge Haynsworth's defeat for the Supreme Court caused soul searching in newspaper city rooms and television stations throughout the country.

Sensitive to attacks made by Vice President Agnew on all the media, the liberal Eastern establishment press and three TV networks gathered at the home of Averell Harriman in Washington, D.C., to discuss how to play the story.

ONE NETWORK spokesman said that he felt under the circumstances it would be best not to break the news of President Nixon's biggest defeat to the American people. "The Silent Majority would feel we were using our power to criticize the President's failure to round up enough votes for his Supreme Court choice."

A wire service representative felt that even though the vote had gone against President Nixon it was still news. "It's true that we would have preferred Haynsworth to win just so the heat would have been off us," he said, "but I'm sure the American people will realize that we had no ulterior motive in sending out the Haynsworth story."

A LEADING newspaper editor said, "Perhaps we could report the Haynsworth rejection without going into the details of how badly the vote went against him. We could put the story somewhere in the back of the paper where no one would see it."

Another network vice president said, "That's all right for you people. But if we go on the air and say that Haynsworth was voted down, Agnew will demand equal time to say we've been coloring the news."

A SYNDICATED columnist said,

"Couldn't we say that Haynsworth had been rejected by a small vociferous minority of 55 men on Capitol Hill who did not speak for the country?"

An editor of a news magazine said, "The problem as I see it, is that if we all print and report the same story of Haynsworth's defeat we will be accused of speaking with the same voice. Why couldn't some of the media say he won, and some say he lost? In that way we wouldn't be attacked for being a small elite band of opinionmakers who are out to destroy the President."

A RADIO executive said, "I think we should call Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and ask his permission. If he believes we can all report the story without violating the First Amendment, then we should go ahead."

"I doubt if Atty. Gen. Mitchell will agree to let us go ahead. After all, Haynsworth was his boy for the Supreme Court job."

FROM THEN on the members of the liberal Eastern Establishment news media got into a violent argument over whether the Haynsworth defeat was news, or would just be playing into the hands of the enemies of the Nixon Administration. It was finally decided to bring it to a vote.

As each man's name was called he stood up and declared his position. The final outcome was that 55 voted to break the story and 45 were opposed.

And that's how the American people found out that Judge Clement Haynsworth was not confirmed for Justice Abe Fortas's seat on the United States Supreme Court.

America's Puzzling Image

LONDON — In the shop windows ready for Christmas across Europe are moon suits for 10- and 12-year-olds. They look authentic in every respect, with the American flag fixed as it was on the astronauts' suits when they explored the moon's surface after the landing from Apollo 12.

THE COINCIDENCE of this extraordinary technological feat, followed on television across Europe, coming with the report of the alleged massacre of several hundred South Vietnamese men, women and children is a striking instance of the duality of America's role. America's power is so overwhelming that it cannot be ignored. And yet the brutalizing poison of the Vietnam war, as evidenced in reports of wholesale massacre, has increasingly alienated long-time friends.

The London Sunday Times, which has been tolerant of, if not sympathetic to, America's dilemma in this unwinnable guerrilla war, devoted nearly three solid pages to the reported massacre.

THE SUNDAY TIMES spread gave not only alleged details of the massacre but accounts of gang rape and murder by American Marines and G.I.s, as told by Daniel Lang in the New Yorker magazine and subsequently published in book form.

The political divisions sharpened by this newest revelation of alleged American savagery are part of the love-hate relationship generated by America's power. Prime Minister Harold Wilson must dance a tricky quadrille to appease the left wing of the Labor party while at the same time giving no offense to Washington. Several times in recent years the United States has bailed out the faltering British pound and Wilson cannot afford to offend the superpower to the west.

MOREOVER, Wilson is visiting America on Jan. 7 to confer with President Nixon. These periodic conferences add little to the sum total of British-American relations. The Conservative opposition views them as meant to bolster Wilson's standing at home, showing that he is close to the throne.

The deputy leader of the Labor party, George Brown, formerly Foreign Secretary, touched off a tempest within the tempest over the Vietnam massacre. In a radio interview, living up to his reputation as bull in the political china shop, Brown advised America to stop weeping over atrocities and get on with winning the war. War was always like that, said Brown, and the Americans should not be held accountable by a double standard that ignored the terrible atrocities on the Communist side.

IMMEDIATELY 32 Labor back benchers in Parliament filed a resolution calling for a meeting of the party's executives to consider expelling Brown. The belief, however, is that he will survive as he has survived other explosions.

BUT IT IS this equating of Communist atrocities — past, present and future — with reports of American atrocities that most disturbs many who have been loyal to America's aims in Southeast Asia. We had expected better of you, they say, and while war is brutalizing we had thought American idealism would be resistant to this brutalization.

Billy Graham

I have been a church member for many years, but in name only. Recently I have been converted and am happy to have Jesus in my life. Can you tell me what I can do for my church? J.L.

I am delighted to hear of your recent experience. What a wonderful thing it is to be a Christian! And now that you are a Christian and really love the Lord I feel sure there are many things you can do for your church.

For one thing, you can now pray for your church in a new way, and for your pastor. That is the most effective contribution of all. The Bible says that, "The effective fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much" (James 5:16).

Be sure to support the prayer meeting and other church activities. Be regular in your worship. Set a good example to the other church members by your zeal for the things of God. Refuse to have anything to do with gossip or backbiting. Ask your pastor whether there is any particular bit of service you could tackle, or any way you can help him.

And then of course, seek to bring your unconverted friends into the church, so that they too may hear the Gospel. Jesus wants you to become a fisher of men. Now that you have Him on board your vessel, launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a draught!

Agriculture Dept. Called Discrimination Offender

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture remains the federal government's worst offender in discriminating against Negroes, the Southern Regional Council says.

"Until the U.S. Department of Agriculture moves forcefully to end patterns enforced by decades of dominance by Southern white supremacists, black Southern farmers will be denied equal protection under the law," the council declared in a report released Saturday.

The report especially cited patterns of racial discrimination in the Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

The Southern Regional Council is a private research agency devoted to equality of opportunity. It is financed partially by the Ford Foundation.

The report said the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) has done more than any other to correct racial inequities than any other branch of the Agriculture Department.

FHA lends low-interest money for farm operations, expansion and improvement.

The council noted that since 1964, FHA has required that counties with Negro populations of 20 per cent or more have at least one representative on the county FHA committees.

It was noted, however, that FHA recently reported that minority groups held only 7 per cent of such positions in the South and that the agency had called for an increase.

An expected 1969 breakthrough in Negro representation on ASCS county committees did not materialize, the council said.

It reported that only one Negro was elected in September to an ASCS county-level committee in the South, bringing the total to two Negroes among 4,100 such committeemen in the region.

County-level ASCS committees determine individual crop allotments in their counties.

"That means that black representation has risen to slightly more than one-twentieth of one per cent on the county committees in a region where Negroes are 13 per cent of the farm owners," the report said.

It noted that Negroes comprise 20 per cent or more of the farm owners in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina and South Carolina.

The council said Otis Pinkard was elected to a county-level ASCS committee in Macon County, Ala., last year, and William S. Payne was elected in Marshall County, Miss., last fall.

Farmers also elect county-level ASCS committees and, on these, Negroes lost ground, the report said.

It said that of 30,000 alternate and regular community ASCS positions in the 11-state area, only 380 were filled by blacks in elections this year. This was a decrease from 418 in 1968, the council said.

The Cooperative State Extension Service, a joint federal-state-local effort which counsels farmers in new techniques, operates home demonstration projects and sponsors 4-H Club programs.

"Traditionally in the South, the chief male and female extension positions are held by whites," the council said. "Also traditional are the black agents (always called 'associate agents' or 'assistant agents') in extension work who have been limited to serving other blacks. "Even now, there are no blacks serving as chief county-level extension officials, though in Virginia there are two Negroes with district authority.

Southwide, there are approximately 840 extension workers, all of whom deal almost exclusively with blacks," the report said.

Only token changes in the Soil Conservation Service's (SCS) patterns of discrimination are evident, the report said. "Although technical assistance provided to Negroes by SCS has been increasing since 1965, proportionately more whites than Negroes are being served," it was reported.

Nixon Takes A Holiday

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is spending a relaxing holiday weekend at his Bayside home here—boating, loafing and, aides say, working. Nixon and his neighbor-friend C. G. Bebe Rebozo went out on Rebozo's houseboat, Coco Lobo, Friday afternoon, only to get caught in a rain squall. In early evening, the President and Mrs. Nixon were joined aboard the official yacht Julie for a dinner cruise by Rebozo daughter and son-in-law Julie and David Eisenhower, and Eisenhower's sister, Susan.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was working on two speeches he will make in Washington next week—before a food, health and nutrition conference Tuesday and when the nation's governors gather at the White House Wednesday for a combined conference on narcotics and foreign policy.

Nixon also was said to be working on the new federal budget he must submit to Congress in January.

Liquor Store Operator Slain

REFUGIO, Tex. (AP)—A liquor store operator, Oscar Krause, was shot and killed in his store on U.S. 77 here Friday night.

Officers said Krause was shot five or six times, apparently during a holdup.

There were three empty shells in Krause's pistol, leading to believe the holdup man might have been shot.

Officers put up roadblocks throughout the South Texas area.

Christmas Is A'Coming

GIFTS GALORE, and yet still more, are displayed by Roy Peet in his "Inland Port," still bright and shiny from its formal opening last week. The shop features imports from over the world, as well as items bearing names of famous craftsmen in the United States. Brass, glass and bowers of flowers invite browsing and buying for gifts. (Some, you'll want to keep.) Here, Peet shows a decorative candle arrangement to Mrs. Gene Nabors and Mrs. O. C. Shapland.

SANTA'S SLEIGH could be filled to brimming, time and time again, with wondrous things that live in "Toyland" at Big Spring Hardware Company. There's a gentle pony and a fat sassy frog, cowardly lions and pretty plush puppies. The animal corner is where it begins, and the balcony is bulging with toys and games for every child of any age. Mrs. Richard Atkins, right, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis look on as the Lewis' youngsters, Kevin, left, and Brian Zack, make a decision about what they'll ask from Santa Claus.

CHRISTMAS CANDLES are always special, a tradition that heightens the glow of giving and adds warmth and beauty to the loveliest time of the year. Here, at Le Boutique in Highland Center, Mrs. James L. Johnson Jr. and Mrs. Walter L. Slate compare candles which they will use in their homes for the festive season.

CLOTHES FOR CHRISTMAS can fill the bill, according to Greg Shepherd at Prager's Men's and Boys' Wear, who shows a fashionable sports coat to Mrs. Calvin Stuteville.

Teens and adults alike want to stay in tune with the times — in comfort and in style. Big Spring stores are stocked, and stacked, with garments for the entire family.

JUST RIGHT FOR Christmas morning is this red quilted robe which Tommy Franklin is considering as a gift for Mrs. Franklin. Shopping early at Margaret's in Highland Center, he can choose from a wide variety of dresses, coats, sweaters and lingerie that were ordered especially for the holiday season.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Here it is . . . the last day in November and the day before all of us will be catapulted into the Christmas shopping season. But just for today a number of people are having their last fling at the Thanksgiving season and are making the most of it. The weather has been cooperative for the most part and if the sleet and snow could hold off just a little longer, we'd get the folks all back home, and we could settle down for a bit of concentration on what we'll get for who . . . and also think of some of the things we would like to drop a hint about to Old Nick.

Friday saw most of the merchants glittering their places of business. One shop has festooned its windows with sugar plum wreaths and garlands, another has chosen the candle theme . . . soft and cozy for the winter season. Even if you aren't ready to buy gifts, get out and give yourself time to enjoy the beautiful decorations . . . but first let's continue our Thanksgiving.

The LEON DAVISES spent Thursday in Kermit with their son and daughter-in-law. Their daughter and her family joined the family from their home in Lubbock.

MR. and MRS. HAROLD CANNING have as their holiday guest her mother, MRS. D. M. JAMES, Dallas.

Holiday guests of relatives here have been MR. and MRS. ALVIS HARRY and their children, Russell and Kendra, of Brownwood. Their parents are MR. and MRS. JAKE HARRY of Ackerly and MR. and MRS. J. B. RIDDLE.

There was a reunion of the family of MR. and MRS. IRVIN J. HILL during the holiday weekend as their children and their families came here. Included in the gathering were MR. and MRS. JAMES WEIR and family of Houston and MR. and MRS. JIMMIE PORTER of Austin. Joining the group were the JIMMY HILLS and the TOMMY VICKS who live here.

TOMMY POLK, a first year student at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, visited his parents, the REV. and MRS. ROBERT F. POLK, and Nancy over the holiday weekend.

The CLYDE ANGELS spent the holiday in Lubbock with her brother and his family.

MR. and MRS. A. W. MOODY are entertaining relatives who include MR. and MRS. FRED STITZELL, their daughter, Martha Ann, and his mother, MRS. JOHN STITZELL, all of Garland; a granddaughter, SARAH MOODY, a student at NTSU in Denton; and a grandson and his wife, MR. and MRS. CHARLES VESSEL of Austin.

JOHN WESLEY DEATS, a student at NTSU has been home for the holidays with his parents, MR. and MRS. CHARLES WESLEY DEATS, and Annabeth.

MR. and MRS. J. C. PREVO, Elisabeth and Jon, who live in Titusville, Fla., are visiting his parents, MR. and MRS. M. C. PREVO, 1611 Runnels. J. C. is a mechanical engineer and is employed at the Kennedy Space Center.

MR. and MRS. G. R. ROBINSON have had a delightful weekend having their children home. Here were Myra Ellen, who teaches in Dallas; Ann, a freshman at SMU, and Mike, a graduate at the University of Texas.

BETTY JOHANSEN, who attends school at Austin College in Sherman, and JOHN JOHANSEN, a University of Texas student, spent the holidays with their parents, MR. and MRS. JOHNNY JOHANSEN, and CARL EDWARD.

MIKE SPRADLING came from East Texas State University at Commerce to visit his parents.

DR. and MRS. GLENN ALLEN and their children have been in Arkadelphia, Ark., for the holidays.

The RUPERT HALBROOKS have spent the past week in Dumas with their son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. BILL HORNE, and their family.

LYNN PUCKETT, a sophomore student at Trinity University in San Antonio, spent the holidays here with her parents, MR. and MRS. OLEN PUCKETT.

J. L. WOOD JR. of Austin and his sister, MRS. OLIVER WOOD of Monahans have been here to visit their parents, MR. and MRS. J. L. WOOD. Mrs. Wood has recently undergone surgery and is staying at the Settles Hotel during her recuperation.

We had our family get-together after Thanksgiving so most of our celebration has been Saturday and today. Sharing our turkey today are our sons, Tom, from Arlington, and Gary from Austin; CONG. and MRS. J. J. PICKLE from Austin; MR. and MRS. JONATHAN LANCASTER, Kermit, and their son, David, and daughter, Meredith, also of Austin, and MRS. H. R. PICKLE of Lubbock.

Collegiate Style Show Set At Tech

LUBBOCK — Fashions for the college crowd will be spotlighted in a style show to be presented Dec. 4 by members of the tailoring classes in Texas Tech's Department of Clothing and Textiles.

More than 100 coeds will model garments they have made at the 7:30 p.m. public showing in Tech Union Ballroom. There is no admission charge.

"The Sign of the Time" will be the theme of the show featuring suits, coats, the popular pant suit and other items of special interest to the young generation, according to graduate home economics major Mary Mize of Beaumont, general chairman.

A combo will provide background music during the fashion parade. Beverly Pipin, area folk singer, will entertain during intermission.

Fort Worth Planning Bridge Tournament

FORT WORTH, Tex. — The Fort Worth Duplicate Bridge Club is to stage its winter tournament at the Sheraton-Fort Worth Hotel on Dec. 12, 13 and 14. The event has been sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League of Greenwich, Conn., and assigned sectional status. Master points are to be awarded proportionate to the number of tables in each event. Silver trophies are to be presented also.

The schedule includes single session team of four, men's, women's, mixed, master's, side games and consolation pairs and a two-session open pairs.

About 800 bridge players, mostly from the southwest, are expected during the three days.

With the Dallas Aces, named to represent the United States at the World Bridge Championship in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1970, having arranged to play in some of the events, always high, will be that much more challenging, according to H. H. Pinkerton, club president. The Aces are Robert Wolff, James Jacoby, Robert Hamman, Robert Goldman and Michael Lawrence. Ira Corn is the team's non-playing captain. All are from Dallas.

The hospitality program consists of social hours, dancing, snable contests and a buffet. To enable contestants to arrive home early, Sunday matches are to begin at noon, on Friday at 2 and 8 p.m. and Saturday at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Ken Stone of Dallas of the ACBL national staff, has been named senior tournament director.

XYZ Club Will Make Decorations

The XYZ Club will meet Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Morris Robertson, 2806 Clanton, to make decorations for the ABClub dinner and dance Dec. 5 at Big Spring Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Auriel LaFond head the dance committee. A punch party will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and a buffet dinner will be served from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Dancing will begin after dinner and continue until 11 a.m.

Luxury Cashmere Started In Rome

Cashmere has been a cherished symbol of luxury in fashion since the days of the early Romans.

Cashmere scarves were introduced in Rome in the days of the Caesars, and a vogue for them was started in Europe in the 19th Century by Empress Eugenie, wife of Napoleon III. In Queen Victoria's day the fashion prize was the cashmere "ring" shawl, so gossamer that it could be passed through a wedding ring.

The newest cashmere trend is just the reverse, now created in magnificent thick textures by the use of multiple yarns in knitting or weaving. These serve to intensify the matchless caressing richness of the fiber.

week in the homemaking department at Coahoma High School. Mrs. Johnny Justus, home economics teacher at the school, will serve as advisor for the club.

Officers elected were Mrs. Mike McCreary, president; Mrs. Kent Brown, vice president; Mrs. Darrell Drucker, secretary; Mrs. Charles Holcomb, treasurer; and Mrs. John Arnold Jr., reporter-historian.

The club was formed for educational purposes in regard to homemaking, with membership open to women not enrolled in high school and not over 35 years of age.

Programs will emphasize home beautification, furniture refinishing, child care and guidance, care of the sick, consumer buying, meal planning and management of family finances.

The group will entertain prospective members on Dec. 16 with a tea at 7:30 p.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room, when an area officer will be the guest speaker. Those interested in joining the club are invited to attend the affair. More information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Justus at 394-2272, or Mrs. McCreary, 283-3272.

Maxi Covers Mini In Fall's 'Granny' Look

By NADEANE WALKER
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The maxi-coat has overtaken and passed the mini in the fashion popularity sweepstakes and looks like a runaway winner.

Forsanites Visit, Entertain Families

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Danny Henry were Thursday guests of his parents, the Ted Henrys.

Thanksgiving guests in the home of the L. T. Shoults were the Buster Griggs and the C. L. Girdners Jr., all of Abilene; the Mack Alexanders of Midland, and the Jackie Shoults of Lubbock.

Mrs. T. R. Camp and son, Thelbert, of Big Spring will return Sunday from Skatook, Okla., where they have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Pat Brunton.

Bunk Bishop, father of Mrs. Gordon Hodnett, is a patient in Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital in Big Spring.

Guests in the Hamlin Elrod home are Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Elrod of Houston, and Susan Elrod, a Texas University student at Austin.

Berney J. Scudday of Garland is visiting his parents, the O. W. Scuddays. The group spent Thursday in Monahans with Mrs. Bernie Scudday's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Linebocker.

You might call it the granny look.

"We are selling six maxicoats to every four short coats," the manager of one department store coat department reports.

Another women's wear store calls the maxicoat a monster success, which is here to stay.

"Anybody who is still holding out will soon be in maxis," its spokeswoman said confidently.

But fashion has a split personality, and many a maxicoat covers a miniskirt. The picture may shortly change, though, for long dresses and long day skirts have appeared in shops in the past month.

The manufacturer of one budget price range says: "we brought out a limited production of long skirts six weeks ago, and they are selling very well, surprisingly well. We make one that is slit to the knee in front, a pleated one, a belted one and a buttoned one, all in woolsens. They sell best in London, but they also sell in the provinces."

Some fashion buffs believe the midcalf length coat will eventually beat the less practical ankle or ground length. For one thing, dry cleaners who used to charge by the inch on minis are really cleaning up on maxis, for which they charge double the price of a regular length coat.

"Maxis started as the new thing for 16 to 25 year olds, but now they're literally for everybody," said a department store spokeswoman.

"Lots of middle-aged housewives are buying them. They're a great look, particularly the midcalf length. Women will pay any amount for a maxicoat, but they're a bit cautious about spending much on a maxiskirt."

The most popular price range for the maxicoats seems to be about 20 pounds ($48). Budget maxiskirts cost around four pounds ($9.60).

Manufacturers and retailers have good reason to be pleased about the success of the maxicoat, for it is estimated that while a maxi only costs 25 percent more to make than a mini, it usually sells at twice the price.

Mary Quant, who launched the London miniskirt showed maxis, minis, and midis in her latest collection, and said afterwards that she is quite happy to see the three coexisting.

"The mini has become a fashion classic, and will never disappear completely," she said.

Attendants Feted At Luncheon

Mrs. John Douglas Baker, the former Miss Nikki Thomas, and her bridal attendants, were complimented with a luncheon Wednesday in the Officer's Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Jimmie D. Jones and Mrs. Jerry Grimes.

The bride, attired in a green knit dress, was presented an orchid corsage, as was her aunt, Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas, Jr., and her husband's mother, Mrs. John Baker of Little Rock, Ark.

The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of holiday flowers.

Mrs. Baker presented gifts to her attendants, Mrs. Richard Weaver, Miss Amanda Guess, Miss Brenda Thomas, Miss Wendee Hamby and Miss Reina Hamby.

The hostess' gift was a set of pottery mugs.

Miss Nikki Jane Thomas Is Married To John D. Baker

MRS. JOHN DOUGLAS BAKER

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Nikki Jane Thomas and John Douglas Baker Friday evening in the First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Leo K. Gee read the ceremony before an altar centered with swirled candelabra holding votive tapers and flanked by arrangements of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and stock. Fern trees completed the altar scene, and family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Cleo R. Moore and George T. Thomas, both of Big Spring, and she is the niece of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas, 400 Washington. Parents of the groom are Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. John Baker of Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Harold Talbot sang "The Twelfth Of Never" and "More" accompanied by John Stanley, organist, who played the "Love Theme From Romeo and Juliet."

The bride was attired in a formal gown of candlelight pearly soie with a chapel-length train. The gown was designed with a scooped neckline and princess waistline accented with flower sprays of crystal and opaque beads. Self buttons closed the back, which was adorned with satin roses and streamers, and beading on the long, petal point sleeves complemented the pattern on the bodice. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion fell from an arch of fresh gardenias and lilies of the valley and flowed to the chapel train. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis accented with miniature ivy and showered with white picot satin ribbon.

Mrs. Lanny Hamby, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Richard Weaver of Little Rock, Ark., sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmatron. Bridesmaids were Miss Amanda Guess and Miss Brenda Thomas. Tana Thomas, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore dresses designed with aqua shirtwaist blouses featuring long puffed sleeves banded with a wide cuff. The midriff-contoured floor-length skirts of aqua and gold brocade were topped with a wide royal blue satin ribbon. They wore Moorish-styled brocade turbans and carried nosegays of pink sweetheart roses, blue star flowers and white pompons showered with blue velvet.

Dr. Charles D. Davidson of Lake Village, Ark., was best man. Groomsmen were Thomas Baker, Kansas City, Mo.; Larry Sneed, Little Rock; Lt. Richard Weaver, Sterling, Ill.; and Mike Thomas, junior groomsmen. Ushers were Curtis E. Brown, Marvel, Ark.; Kenneth Brown and Gary Johnson.

Miss Wendee Hamby, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and ring bearer was Speight Grimes. Altar tapers were lighted by Miss Reina Hamby.

SCHOOLS
The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College, where she received cum laude honors. She was recently employed by Hall-

Bennett Memorial Hospital and plans to finish her degree in art education.

The bridegroom graduated from high school in Smyrna, Tenn., and is now a senior business administration student at the University of Arkansas. He is a member of Acacia fraternity and is vice-commander of Arnold Air Society at the University.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the fellowship hall where Mrs. Leslie Green served as organist and Mrs. Kenneth Hamby of Austin registered guests.

Those in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Gullford Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tidwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. McCrary, Dr. and Mrs. John Affleck, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Satterwhite, Maj. and Mrs. Jerry Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie D. Jones, Col. and Mrs. Clifton Nieland, Col. and Mrs. Thomas Dfloure, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Allen of Austin, Miss Linda Lee and Miss Karla Wadsworth, both of Odessa; and Miss Candy Marcum and Mrs. Tommy McCann, both of Waco.

The refreshment table was laid with a white satin cloth overlaid with Chantilly lace, swagged at the corners with lily of the valley and satin bells. The centerpiece was a swirled candelabrum, holding votive lights, based in white roses, carnations and babies'-breath. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The coffee table was laid with a candlelight cutwork cloth and centered with a tall candelabrum arranged with velvet, pompons and carnations. Silver appointments were used.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Lane of Hillsboro were out-of-town guests. For their wedding trip, Mrs. Baker chose a multi-stripped three-piece pants suit with long tunic top and brown leather accessories. The couple will be at home in Fayetteville, Ark.

Hints From Heloise

Listen folks, if you've got any leftover cranberry sauce after having that dinner, don't just put it back in a bowl and put it in the refrigerator.

You can put it in a small bowl and beat it up with your electric mixer, or, if you are really lucky, put it in your blender and turn it on high! This makes it swell and full of bubbles. It expands further and gives you a whole lush new taste.

I pur mine in teflon muffin tins or a pretty salad mold—even those plastic ones we buy stuff in at the store are perfect. Then you set it back in your refrigerator and leave it for a day.

Turn it over, let it slide out of the container and put it on your table. You will be mighty surprised.

Another thing I learned was when you cook waffles or hot cakes and run low or out of syrup (don't you just hate those days?), you can open a can of this, put in your blender or mixer, beat away and use it for syrup. This is really out on cloud nine. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
When you start mending holes in sheets that may become big tears . . . iron on a patch. This works on pillow cases too.

My little boy thinks stars and moons in pretty colors are great on his sheets and pillow cases. And you can get a lot more wear from them.

I never throw one away . . . George-Anne

Dear Heloise:
My neighbor says you're never supposed to wash your windows when the sun is shining on them. Is this true? . . . Neighbor

I don't usually get in neighborhood arguments, but this one I'm afraid she won. This causes it to streak.

If you are going to wash all the windows in your house, start on the side where the shade is and work around it. If the glass is still warm, wet it down with your garden hose to cool it off first.

And the best advice I can give you is, for goodness sake, don't try to do 'em all in one day. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
A syringe kitchen baster cleans spilled liquids on your kitchen counter or table. I discovered this quite by accident, as I was adding an egg white to my mixing bowl. I missed the bowl and the egg white landed on the counter! The baster got it up in a jiffy! . . . Carol Erb

You know, Carol, cleaning up spilled eggs has always been a real job. This does make it easier, so thanks a bunch. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
When you have eaten something sticky in the car and you are not able to wash your hands right away, put some hand lotion on and it will get rid of that sticky feeling.

I always keep a small bottle of lotion in the car for just such a purpose. . . Beth McCullough

Dear Heloise:
I had some hems to let out on four dresses and when I looked in my sewing box all I had left was white thread.

I didn't want to go out to buy some thread right then, so I got the idea to dye my white thread, and that is just what I did. . . got out all my different-colored food coloring and just dipped the thread in the various colors.

I ended up with four different colors of thread and it served my purpose just fine and sure saved me from having to run out and buy some right that minute. . . Tillie Lambert

Home Seamstresses Learn How To Cut, Trim Sweater

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD COUNTY HD AGENT

The coordinated dress-and-sweater set has become a wardrobe item of importance. With ensembles moving up the scoreboard of fashion favorites, this particular style has come into its own with a following of such conviction and of such impressive numbers that it promises to rank permanently on the list of recurring favorites.

Many home seamstresses hesitate to make the sweater-dress because they feel it is difficult to cut and sew a sweater. This is not so, at all. A few simple instructions, easy enough for even the most inexperienced beginner to follow, are all that are required to turn a slipover sweater into a chic and serviceable matchmate.

Slip-on sweaters only are recommended for this project. To bind a cardigan is difficult for all but the experienced, for in cutting the buttons and buttonholes away to apply the binding, a beginning seamstress is left floundering amidst stretchy knitting, uneven front lengths, and perhaps an unraveled sweater.

The home sewer is not limited to making the sweater simply into a jacket for a dress. A trimmed sweater may turn one woolen skirt into a comfortable suit, or another into two-piece sportswear. Regardless of style, the steps for cutting and sewing are the same.

The accompanying directions are for cutting and binding a slip-on. Buy one in your usual size, or perhaps you have an old one lying unused that you would like to try first.

STEP ONE

Turn the sweater inside out. Measuring from side seam to side seam, place a row of straight pins down the exact center front of sweater, placing pins lengthwise in knitting. Carefully turn the sweater right side out.

On outside of sweater and over pin-marked line just made, center straight seam tape (never bias), allowing one-half inch extra to be turned under at the top and another one-half inch to be turned under at the bottom. Hold tape securely in place with pins placed crosswise (about one inch apart) to allow for machine stitching across pins.

STEP TWO

Remove pins marking center front line from inside of sweater. Machine-stitch along outer edges of tape, up one side, across top, down other side, and across bottom, then stitch a second row one-fourth inch inside of first stitching, again up one side, across, and down the other. This leaves a narrow space between the last two stitchings. The double stitching affords a firm edge, keeps tape from curling back when cut, and assures a straight center front line. Remove pins and cut sweater open carefully between two center rows of stitching.

STEP THREE

Binding of sweater may be either cut on the bias (which gives a flat, smooth edging), or, if a particular fabric pattern or stripe is desired, may be cut on the straight of the grain. There is a tendency for straight of material binding to ripple slightly.

Binding may be wide or narrow according to personal preference, but to give the usual 1 1/4 inch finished width, cut the pieces of fabric 3 1/2 inches wide and as long as the length of the sweater opening plus one inch. Cut two pieces of lightweight interfacing the same size, baste to wrong side of fabric, and treat as one.

Build Edge Board To Save On Work

To eliminate the time-consuming chore of hand clipping lawn edges around shrubs and flower beds, make mower edge of pressure treated 4x4-inch lumber of doubled 2x4s. Nail the edging to 12-inch long stakes driven into the ground, and be sure it's sunk slightly below the level of the turf.

With wrong side out, fold fabric in half lengthwise and machine-stitch across both ends of band, using one-half inch of seam allowance. Trim, turn fabric side out and press.

Attach band trimming to sweater. Pin one edge of band to outside of one cut edge of sweater (right sides together), having neckline and bottom of sweater edges even. Machine-stitch one-half inch from edge. Press seam allowance toward inside of band trimming.

To attach loose side of band trimming to inside of sweater, turn under one-half inch from edge of band, pin in place along machine-stitched line, and blind hem by hand along stitched line. Press. Repeat on second side of sweater.

Buttons and buttonholes are optional, but, if applied, buttonholes should run lengthwise in binding.

Further styling of the finished sweater is limited only by the ingenuity and creativeness of the seamstress. But whether it be tailored simply or elaborately, the dress-and-sweater ensemble is a wardrobe addition of versatility, easy wearing, and high style.

IN FASHION'S ORBIT — The free-wheeling look of fashion 1970 is captured by Designer Stacy Ames in this T-shirt dress of diamond-patterned cotton crocheted. Lightweight and comfortable as only cotton can be, the dress comes in a natural string color.

Cotton Knit Is Trend Setter For New Year

Throughout its long history, cotton has been periodically discovered and re-discovered by fashion designers.

An advance look at upcoming fashions for the new year shows that 1970 will be another year of discovery (or re-discovery) for an "old" cotton that's suddenly as new as tomorrow.

It's cotton knit... turning up now in fascinating new textures that look for all the world like hand-loomed masterpieces done by the most skilled artisans.

These new cottons with their lacy, intricate surfaces are a welcome change from the flat, slick "machine look" that has typified knit fashions for so long. Yet for all their bulky, handcrafted looks, they still retain the lightweight comfort women have come to expect in cotton.

The National Cotton Council reports there are more varieties in the new cotton knits than you can shake a stick at: bulky Raschels that look like tweeds... open and airy string crochets... three-dimensional nubby effects... cable stitches and ribs... boucles and pebble-looking textures... featherweight jerseys... double-knits in all sorts of argyles, diamonds, geometrics... plus soft velvet-like velour knits.

It's no wonder that cotton knits with their infinite variety of new faces have stimulated designers to move in exciting new directions in dresses, blouses, pants, and sportswear for 1970.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MRS. JOHN MACKE
Christmas must be coming, judging by the many activities oriented toward that festive holiday. The recent bazaar held at the John H. Lees Service Club was considered a wonderful success by Mrs. Robert Spear, chairman. The conjunctive effort of the wives of classes 70-05, 06, 07 and 71-01, 02, it offered everything from yarn dolls and stuffed animals to tree ornaments and gold angels, all hand-made with loving care. With several classes offering home-baked goodies, there must have been some wonderful smells coming from Big Spring kitchens.

Lt. Richard Lavalie, Lt. John Lee and Lt. Harold Hobart took turns in Santa Claus suits listening to children's confided dreams.

On this same theme, the NCO Club is planning a children's Christmas party for club members, as well as a Christmas dinner and dance featuring the Chanteurs. From Dec. 1 through Dec. 24, Santa Claus will make himself available for a personal visit to children in their homes, at a nominal fee. Interested parents may call Extensions 2401-2402 during the daytime, or Mrs. Louis Rodriguez at 287-7121 after 5:30 p.m., for further information.

We hear that Maj. Robert A. Jandt, 1P Section Leader, was struck speechless by the farewell gift bestowed upon him by the graduating 04 class. During the class promotion party, held at the home of Lt. and Mrs. George Thomas, he was presented a Buffalo Bill rifle.

Capt. Robert Spear has drawn a dream assignment. After graduation, he and Mrs. Spear will head for Mather AFB, Sacramento. What makes this duty station so special for them is that they will be close to both parents, a matter of an hour or two's drive.

Webb wives will say good-bye to Mrs. Spear reluctantly. She had taken upon herself the joys and tribulations of teaching bridge to beginners. Mrs. Spear asserts that she enjoys it. Certainly her class must, if their progress is any indication. According to "teacher," "When they first came in, a lot of them didn't even know how many cards are in a deck. The girls are getting enough confidence where now I don't have to be their constant conscience." Good work!

NCO wives enjoyed a Red Carpet tour of Field Maintenance, hosted by Sgt. Frank Moore. Among other things, they learned how a parachute is packed and how airplane parts are X-rayed for hidden structural damage. Pilots' wives — take note. Our men are in good hands.

Terrye O'Brien Becomes Bride Of Toy J. Henson Jr.

Miss Terrye Jo O'Brien became the bride of Toy J. Henson Jr. in a double ring ceremony performed Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church in Midland.

Don Pore, organist, accompanied Mrs. Don Newsom who sang "Oh Promise Me," at an altar setting enhanced with greenery and swirl candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. O'Brien Jr. of Midland and the granddaughter of Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mr. and Mrs. George H. O'Brien Sr. of Big Spring. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Toy J. Henson Jr. of Arlington.

The bride chose a gown of candlelight silk satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace finely traced with tiny seed pearls. The moulded Empire bodice, veiled with the jeweled lace applied on English net, was fashioned with a high Victorian collar and wrist-length bishop sleeves. The slim A-line skirt, appliqued with medallions of the jeweled lace, was enhanced by a Watteau train accented with a shaped bow extended to a wide chapel-length. Her veil, a mantilla of the jeweled Alencon lace mounted over a tiny open coil, fell in soft folds extending beyond the length of her train.

She carried a bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and greenery.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Larry Devasto, Abilene, and the maid of honor was Miss Marilyn Mitchell of Midland. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bobby G. Gray, Houston; Mrs. Jon Brown, Midland; and Mrs. Ray Allen, Lubbock. The bridesmaids were Miss Connie Henson of Arlington, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Suzanne Weiner, Midland; and Miss Brenda Doss of Arlington.

The attendants wore identical gowns of royal blue velvet and Swiss Guipure lace of ivory. The moulded Empire bodice was fashioned with a high collar accented with the lace and long bishop sleeves. The floor-length slim skirt had side and back fullness. Their matching veils were trimmed with lace appliques, and each carried a topiary bouquet of greenery, stephanotis and gardenias with loops of royal blue velvet.

Lexa Boler of Midland was flower girl, and candle lighters were Suzie O'Brien of Atlanta, Ga., and Ann Worthing of Big Spring.

Charlie Turner of Arlington was best man, and groomsmen were Robert Joehanson, John O'Brien of Midland, brother of the bride.

Serving as ushers were Jimmy Grube, Paul Culver, and David Shelton, both of Midland; Mike Henson of Arlington, brother of the bridegroom; and Robb O'Brien, brother of the bride, Ikey Robb and Bennett Robb, all of Big Spring. Kevin Hill of Arlington was ring bearer.

RECEPTION

The Scharbauer Hotel ball room was the scene of a reception which honored the couple immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table, draped with smilax, was accented with antique silver candelabra with crystal votive lights. The bridegroom's table was centered with an antique cuspidor filled with mixed greenery, and the champagne table featured antique silver candelabra and an all-white floral arrangement. A blue and white arrangement marked the registry, where guests were registered by Miss Bobbie Nelle Mills and Brenda Williams of Midland.

Those in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bickerstaff, Mrs. Stanley Weiner, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boler, Mrs. Billie Tettler, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Ray, Miss Brenda Williams and Miss Bobbie Nelle Mills, all of Midland; Skipper Ray, Houston; Ray Allen, Lubbock; Larry DeVasto, Abilene; and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Worthing, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Robb Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Don Newsom.

SCHOOLS

The bride is a graduate of Robert E. Lee High School in Midland and Bauder Fashion College in Arlington. The bridegroom, a graduate of Sam Houston High School, is a junior pre-law student at the University of Texas at Arlington where the couple will reside at Apt. 1026-P Pioneer Parkway. Henson is a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, Mrs. Henson was wearing a bone and white suit and coat ensemble with bone accessories.

Use Foreign Ideas In Fall Clothing

This fall, give your wardrobe a lift with a bit of foreign influence. Though you may not be taking a world cruise, you can have the look of a world traveler in today's fashions.

By changing your fashions, you can wear a bit of Spain, a touch of Old Mexico, the mystery of the Orient or a dash of Russian.

The bolero is from Spain. You can make it elegant by trimming it in some of the beautiful rich trims sold in local fabric shops.

Pretty embroidered blouses have the Mexican look. They are pretty for special dates and patio parties. If you can't find what you want, do the embroidery yourself in your own artistic creation.

The far eastern influence and the Oriental look are seen in the pants and tunic outfits. Regardless of the country, pants will be a favorite. Whether they are bell-bottom or harem-draped, they reflect the excitement of today's fashions.

Send 30 cents plus 10 cents for postage and handling to MARTHA MADISON (care of the Big Spring Herald), Morris Plains, N.J. 07950.

Make Sock Doll From Man's Sock

We call her Sunny Suzie and she's made from a size 10 man's sock. Pattern No. 874 tells how to make her and also contains the instructions on how to crochet her hat, shoes and dress.

That's why in the hospitality suite the League is taking in Albany, N.Y. during the next legislative session's hearings on abortion reform, Pussycats will be on hand to shine shoes for harried legislators, sew on buttons and render other feminine assistance.

"In the relaxing atmosphere of the suite, amidst candlelight and my homemade meat loaf, we'll discuss abortion reform with the legislators, without yelling or browbeating," says the crusading feminine feminist.

League chapters plan to exchange information on other tactics that produce results on other issues via a quarterly newsletter.

"For too long women have neglected the power of enticement," says curvaceous, 30ish Jeannie. "Who says a woman can't be intelligent, productive in business and still retain her femininity? The militants say that if a woman has a brain, she'll throw away her black satin nightgown. I say she'll buy two."

What do Pussycats think about the militant attempts to integrate male-only hangouts? Jeannie's smile reaches almost to the "I am A Pussycat" button on the collar of her dress. "Men should have such male-only sanctuaries. Of course, any man who would rather sit on a hard bar stool in a cigar-smoke laden saloon and slap another man's back — rather than be wined and dined by a sexy female who's only too happy to rub his back — deserves the all-male hangout."

But Jeannie emphasizes that being a Pussycat doesn't mean being subservient or groveling or fitting the Playboy bunny concept, which she describes as "the joyless pursuit of a woman based on the idea that women are like paper cups, something to use and then throw away."

Jeannie, who has lectured on sex at various colleges and whose humorous essays and articles appear regularly in magazines, claims that the research she did for a story on "What Turns a Man On" helped her formulate some of the League's tactics.

"I'll never forget one man saying that when he looked down at the immaculately combed blonde head of his girl while she was polishing his shoes, he was so taken and so impressed that he'd have granted her anything her heart desired."

"What we're opposed to are their methods for achieving such desirable objectives as equal pay for women, daycare centers for working mothers, child guidance centers and abortion reform." She points out that "the abortion scene in my new novel, 'Gumdrop, Gumdrop, Let Down Your Hair' is as horrible as I could make it so that women will realize that abortion must be legalized generally; that they must have a right to determine what happens to their own bodies."

Upset by the militant feminist movement which she fears is taking its toll on masculinity, Jeannie envisioned an organization "which would use our femininity rather than deny it. We will represent the millions of American women who believe that the way to achieve a better society is by working with men, not against them."

"By being sweet, soft, and smelling good and using our attributes to persuade, not force, men to work for women's rights, we'll wind up with more than equal rights."

To officially set up the Pussycat League, Jeannie enlisted the help of Mrs. Sidney Goldbert (Lucianne), blonde, mother of two infant sons and a former Washington lobbyist, and Joan Elbaum, red-haired practicing attorney and graduate of Harvard Law School.

Jeannie, who has lectured on sex at various colleges and

Lamesa Women To Hold Lighting Contest

The Women's Division of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce will again sponsor a Christmas decorations contest for two areas. Clubs and organizations have been invited to enter the "Downtown Vacant Window Decoration" contest. Theme for this contest will be "Christmas for Christ," and prizes of $40, $30, $20, and $10 will be awarded. Unveiling for the windows will be held Dec. 11. Those wishing to obtain space for a display should contact the Chamber of Commerce office.

A residential "Christmas Lighting and Display" contest will also be held with three divisions of competition. Prizes, which are to be furnished by Texas Electric Service Co. and the chamber will be awarded for best displays of doors, windows and general appearance. Prizes range from an electric yard lamp, electric blanket, and an automatic coffee maker to boxes of Christmas candies. Entry deadline is Dec. 10, and judging will be held during the week of Dec. 15 through Dec. 19. Participants are asked to keep lights on until 9 p.m. on these nights.

Co-chairman of the decoration contests this year are Mrs. Jean Black and Mrs. Pat Nix. Two special books, which convey new ideas for home decoration, are available free of charge at the Lamesa office of Texas Electric Service Co.

Strong Materials Add Serviceability

Price isn't the only consideration when decorating a room or a new home. Modern materials offer many benefits not available in the past.

In addition to tough vinyl asbestos tile on floors, furniture and wall coverings are now available with plastic coatings that resist scratches and surface blemishes. Fabrics are treated with stain resistant finishes, and many of them can be machine washed.

HOLIDAY PARTY DRESS — Glowing cotton velveteen with its flattering shadowy surface makes a youthful holiday party dress. By Emma Domb, it's styled with a high-necked lace collar and long puffy sleeves.

Lush Cotton Velvet Goes With Christmas Season

Holidays and cotton velvet just naturally go together. The inner glow inspired by holidays is beautifully reflected in this lush fabric with its rich shadings of light and dark. This Christmas, according to the National Cotton Council, velvet dresses are the going thing for party-bound girls of all sizes and ages. With grown-up ideas prevailing in children's wear, the generation gap has narrowed in fashions. As a result, what's party-fair for big sister is ditto for little sister, too.

Cotton velvets and velveteens touched with lace are big in both categories. In some, the velvet-y look goes demure with overtones of the Victorian era seen in high-necked dresses characterized by pleated lace collars and long puff-y sleeves. In others, the look is more sophisticated with simple styling set off by gold body chains that reflect the warm velvet colorings.

Shapes include dropped waists, simple A-lines, and natural waists that are belted, sashed, or bowed.

Even the pantsuit look for party time is carried over into little girls' holiday fashions. However, here the age difference is reflected in the styling... with pantsuits for the very young retaining a more feminine mood through the use of wide lace cuffs on pants to match the covering dress.

Bright reds, blues, and midnight black are favorite colors for the sumptuous holiday velvets.

Pantsuits Made From Striped Vinyl
Chevron stripes have been seen lately streaking across vinyl. They are giant-size zig-zags of black and white. Would you believe a pantsuit? Solid black vinyl pants and a double-breasted black and white jacket — all in that wetlooking shiny stuff.

Popular Pant Suit Gets Fashion Wise

The bell-bottom pantsuit: live in it and love it, and you'll be "with it." No. 3185 comes in sizes 10 to 18. Size 12 (bust 34) takes 3 3/4 yards of 44-inch fabric.

Send 40 cents plus 10 cents for third class postage for this pattern to IRIS LANE (care of the Big Spring Herald), Morris Plains, N.J. 07950. Add 15 cents for first-class mail and special handling.

Free pattern is waiting for you. Send 50 cents for our New Fall-Winter Pattern Book, which contains coupon for pattern of your choice.

Howard County Girls To 4-H Club Congress

COLLEGE STATION — Thirty-nine top Texas 4-H members will join 1,600 other 4-H champions from all 50 states, Puerto Rico and Canada for the 48th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30-Dec. 4.

"Make Tomorrow Happen" is the theme for this year's event which honors the elite 4-H boys and girls from the club's national membership of more than three and one-half million.

Texas delegates will convene in Dallas, Nov. 28, for final orientation before boarding an airline flight to Chicago the next day.

Among the winners, announced by the state 4-H Club office as delegates, are three Howard County girls, listed with their 4-H awards program. They are Carolyn Crawford, clothing; Linda Crawford, dairy foods; and Martha Couch, home management. The girls left Friday morning for Dallas.

Chaperons for the Chicago trip will be Iris Kalich and H. T. Davison, assistant state 4-H leaders; Mrs. Claudia McDonald, Dallas County home demonstration agent; Ray Burrus, Lipscomb County agent; Ray Slegmund, district agricultural agent, Fort Stockton; and Jimmie Kay Ullom, foods and nutrition specialist, College Station.

There's Great Variety In Christmas Customs

Christmas, throughout the Christian world, is a time of family traditions — caroling — the yule log — stockings hung by the fireplace, tree decorating, midnight candlelight church service and family dinners. Each country has its own holiday tradition that recognizes the Christmas origin and expresses the joy of giving gifts. Here are a few traditions followed around the world.

In America, Christmas isn't Christmas without colorful stockings hanging on the mantel, one for every member of the family. Legend says St. Nicholas threw gold coins down the chimney which fell into the stockings drying there. Gold coins have been replaced with golden oranges, cookies, toys and trinkets.

Vandalism Will Be Discussed

A town meeting on vandalism, with all concerned citizens invited to participate, is scheduled to be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. The forum is being sponsored by the West Texas Republican Women's Club according to Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, president.

Moderator will be Tom Eastland, Chamber of Commerce manager, who will discuss the nature and extent of vandalism in Big Spring and its cost to the taxpayers. A panel comprised of Police Chief Jay Banks, Sheriff A. N. Standard and Keith Jones, Juvenile Officer, will present the ramifications of the problem from the viewpoint of the law enforcers.

Robert von Rosenberg, director of the Big Spring State Hospital improvement program, will outline the psychological aspects of the vandalism problem.

Questions will be welcome with members of the panel attempting to answer them. Pie and coffee will be served.

High Tallies Told In Duplicate Play

Winners in Friday's duplicate bridge play at Big Spring Country Club were Mrs. John Stone and George Pike, first; Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, second; and Mrs. Mike Craddock and Mrs. Dorothy Herbert, third.

The Flaming Steamed Fruit Pudding highlight the holiday season. The Boar's Head Ceremony was a festive old feudal Christmas custom and still practiced at Queen's College at Oxford. Placed on a gold or silver platter, the boar's head is garnished with an orange in its mouth and surrounded by greenery. It is borne by the chief cook into a brightly decorated hall where it is heralded by the college choir and placed before the provost of the college.

In Scandinavia, Christmas trees are trimmed with oranges, real candies, tiny elves, flags and bright ornaments.

St. Nicholas and his elf, Knecht Rupprich, bring the children gifts of fruit, cookies and toys in Germany on the eve of Dec. 6. So begins the German holiday season.

Ace Reid Coming Saturday For Brief Autograph Party

Ace Reid, who draws about the scruggiest cowboys around because he once was one, is coming here Saturday for a brief autograph party.

He will be at the Book Stall from 2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., and knowing Ace, you've got to figure he'll do a lot more talking than signing.

The famed Western cartoonist, whose panel "Cowpokes" has endeared him to untold numbers of readers, has issued his latest book, "Cowpokes Cookbook and Cartoons."

Those ridiculously accurate sketches bearing the legends of his wry and sardonic wit, are sprinkled throughout the book. But so are little anecdotes — like the cowboy cook who lost his glass eye in the red beans.

Interlarded (and it's a good word because Ace's recipes include a cup of lard now and then) are favorite recipes; he calls them "Rare Recipes of Necessity." Some are for the campfire, and some — like Fricadilles — call up memories of the austere days of the Depression. The recipe for Fricadilles starts off: "One jackrabbit, one sage chicken, sow-bosom . . ."

There is a recipe for Texas chili, one for Dam-fi-no, greens and pot likker, jalapeno cornbread, mountain oysters, enchiladas, scrapelegant sow belly, possum belly and beans, vinegar pie, poor boy cake, sour dough starter and biscuits, cowboy beans, dilly bread and lard cookies.

This is Ace's first venture into the culinary. Copies of his other publications will be on hand, including Cowpokes, More Cowpokes, Cowpokes Wanted, Them Cowpokes, Draggin' S Ranch Cowpokes, Cowpokes Comin' Yore Way. He also produces Cowpokes calendars, postcards and other novelties.

Ace Reid grew up on a 4,000 acre ranch of scrawny pasture near Electra and studied "in the school of hard knocks under very drouthy conditions." He said he was 21 before he ever saw a fat cow. As a lad he developed a fondness for sketching, and he began to draw on wrapping paper or whatever was handy. Finally the idea of his celebrated panel, Cowpokes, crystallized, but if he thought patching fences and digging post holes was hard, he learned how rough it can be trying to peddle a new creation to gimlet-eyed editors. Gradually Cowpokes caught on, and Ace and his family began to eat. With great misgivings, he published his first Cowpokes collection and put it on the newsstand; to his amazement and joy, these went like hotcakes. The same thing happened to Cowpoke calendars. Ace lives near Kerrville on a picturesque ranch. "I have to cartoon to afford it," he laughs.

THE ARTS

Masters' Delicate Touch Preserved By Player Piano

Michael Welle didn't invent the player piano, but his refinement of the idea has preserved the delicate touch of the masters of nearly 70 years ago. Now they are being reproduced as "Keyboard Immortals," a program which is being reproduced over 105 FM stations, including Big Spring KFNE-FM at 10 p.m. Sundays.

Because of the remarkable "Welle rolls," the piano music by such masters as Jan Paderewski, Camille Saint-Saens, Joseph Hoffman, Richard Strauss, Edvard Greig, Claude Debussy and many others is being reproduced with near perfect fidelity.

More than 70 artists were attracted to Welle's studio in his castle in the Austrian black forest to record for him more than three score years ago. So impressed were they with the results that many of them wrote testimonials. Dubussy, for instance, said "it is impossible to gain a greater perfection of reproduction," Hoffman exulted:

"It is so absolutely precise that no shade of strength or touch is lost."

Because artists had to activate mechanical levers as they touched keys, player-piano rolls yielded a heavy keyboard action. One observer noted that the player piano had two shadings, "loud and louder."

Welle, a manufacturer of musical clocks and a huge mechanical music machine, contrived an ingenious apparatus. To each key he attached a feather-like carbon rod. Underneath the keyboard was a tray of mercury. When depressed, the key pushed the carbon prong into the mercury, activating an electrical circuit.

The depth to which the key was pressed, plus the duration held, was dutifully recorded on a seismographic-type revolving roll. These lines later were painstakingly punched out to activate the keys. Welle, however, went one step further. He invented what he called the Vorsetzer ("sitter in front"), a contraption which moved up over the keyboard of a grand piano. As the roll was played, the Vorsetzer's wooden fingers, tipped by felt, struck the piano keys precisely as the artist had done.

Joseph S. Tushinsky, who created "Keyboard Immortals," became fascinated by the Welle rolls, has transcribed the music of the masters into high fidelity tape which is used for the FM series. Interestingly, the search goes on for Welle rolls; several have been found in Texas.

Frenzied Birds Attack Man

FRANSCHHOEK, South Africa (AP) — Frenzied birds attacked mountaineer Roy Allen as he crouched under a rock overhanging high on a mountain-side.

Allen said he was about 300 feet from the summit of a mountain above his farm near here when the birds, similar to swallows, swooped down on him "like divebombers" for 15 minutes. "It was a terrifying experience. Fortunately I was sufficiently sheltered for them to veer within a foot of me, but it was rather uncomfortable while it lasted."

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I will never have the same problem again with the person involved in this one, because she will never be invited to another meal at my house, but please tell me what I SHOULD HAVE done.

I entertained at my home for dinner one evening. It was rather informal, and I placed the hot dish in the center of the table. Well, one of the women had several helpings, after which she took her fork and started to eat right out of the serving dish! While we sat and talked, she kept picking away.

Of course, I was flattered that my food tasted so good to her, but why she didn't just take another serving is beyond me. I said nothing. Just fumed. I would have corrected my granddaughters had they done such a thing. What should I have done? WONDERING

DEAR WONDER: You should have said (when she first put her fork into the serving dish), "PLEASE have another serving." If she declined and later made another expedition with her fork, you should have very emphatically GIVEN her another serving. Your message would have been clear. And you'd have saved yourself a lot of fuming . . .

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old. When I was not yet 15, I got pregnant, and the boy skipped town. I had a baby girl, and she is now eight months old.

My problem is my parents. They kept the baby and are rising her to believe that THEY are her Mom and Daddy and that I am her big sister.

Abby, I don't think this is right. I want my baby to know that I am her mother. My mother says this will embarrass the baby when she grows up, and it's better this way.

My mother is very possessive. She hardly lets me near the baby. I think my mother acts this way because I am her only child, and she never could have any more after me.

Please tell me what to do. NO NAME PLEASE. DEAR NO NAME: Unfortunately, you are not much more than a child yourself now, but you are a mother and have some rights. Talk to your minister, doctor, or lawyer so that SOMEONE will know the true parentage of the child should you decide to file a valid claim upon her later. For the present, finish your education and try to become the kind of woman your child will be proud to call "Mother" if and when you decide in due time to set her straight.

SECTION E BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1969 SECTION E

Van Dyke Stars In Ritz Comedy

When it's spring in New York, it's possible for a young man's fancy to turn into lunacy and banking into bedlam. That's exactly what happens to Dick Van Dyke in his newest film, "Some Kind of a Nut," a contemporary spoof on conformity that opens on Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. It is in Color by DeLuxe.

Written and directed by Garson Kanin, "Some Kind of a Nut" stars Dick Van Dyke as a mild-mannered bank teller who accidentally becomes a symbol of rebellion against the Establishment when he grows a beard. Angie Dickinson co-stars as his estranged wife who sees him in a new light when he begins to assert himself.

Rosemary Forsyth plays the girl he has promised to wed when his divorce becomes final. Also in the film are Zohra Lampert, playing a kookie but lovable weirdo, and Elliot Reid, as one of Miss Forsyth's obnoxious brothers. Dennis King, the distinguished stage star, came out of semi-retirement to play a character role as Kanin's request and Connie Gilchrist appears in her 25th film. Lucy Saroyan, the daughter of writer-playwright William Saroyan, makes her Hollywood debut. To capture the tempo and the color of Manhattan in the spring, Kanin shot many sequences in New York's Central Park, the Zoo, Fifth Avenue, Gramercy Park and Greenwich Village.

DICK VAN DYKE

'Charity' Is Lavish Musical

Almost 10 straight months of rigorous work in bringing to the screen the title role for the lavish Technicolor and Panavision photographed musical, "Sweet Charity," caught up with Shirley MacLaine, who said, "I've never worked so hard and so long as I did for this picture, and I've been in movies for 13 years and in Broadway choruses before that. I practiced and rehearsed my role for three months, then spent six months in front of the camera with less than a week off during the entire schedule."

Not only did she find herself involved, either very importantly or partially, in all but one of the 13 musical sequences seen in the musical this week at the R-70 Theatre, coming from a long run as a roadshow attraction, Shirley, as the taxi dancer with the hopeful heart, appeared in 237 of the 275 scenes of "Sweet Charity," which co-stars Sammy Davis Jr., Ricardo Montalban and John Martin.

'Play Dirty' Due At Jet

Michael Caine's role of Captain Douglas, a play-it-cool, laconic British officer in Harry Saltzman's "Play Dirty," a fast-moving recounting of the events which led to the halting of General Rommel in his lightning-like thrust across North Africa in World War II, is an exciting departure from the series of cockney anti-heroes he has essayed with such success as Harry Palmer in the Len Deighton films and in "Alfie."

The son of an office cleaner and porter in Billingsgate's celebrated fish market (a lowly origin of which he is inordinately proud) thus adds to the dimensions of a highly popular career which began with his deft and realistic portrayals that many regard as a turning point in public acceptance of what a movie star of the first magnitude must be today.

The new film, in Technicolor and Panavision, is being brought to the Jet Theatre Saturday. It was directed by Andre De Toth and co-stars Nigel Davenport and Nigel Green.

Forced out of school at the age of 16 by the need to keep family together, the young Londoner got a job as an errand boy with a British film maker. This proximity to show business fired a latent desire to appear before audiences, and it wasn't long before the youth spent his evenings trying to master the actor's art.

Opportunity, however, was a long time in coming. He got some bit parts in stock and this was followed by some TV work. Here he was seen by Harry Saltzman, who played a large part in "discovering" Sean Connery of James Bond fame, and the producer decided to gamble with the unknown in the lead role of "The Ipcress File."

That gamble paid off so well, that Caine was cast twice more as Harry Palmer — in "Funeral in Berlin" and "Billion Dollar Brain."

Foot-Roller Replaces Girls

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. used to test airliner flooring by having a bevy of girls walk on it wearing spike heels.

To the dismay of girl watchers, the job has been taken over by something called a foot-roller. It's a cylinder studded with spike heels which can simulate 10 years of wear in six months of work.

The flooring has to be tested because a 120-pound girl resting her weight on one spike heel exerts a pressure equal to 800 pounds per square inch where the heel touches. Lockheed's answer to that was two thin sheets of aluminum bonded to a tough plastic inner core, but new faster jets need more strength.

The company turned instead to an aluminum sandwich with a nylon filling, which is now being tested with the foot roller, saving Lockheed all those girl hours.

'HANNIBAL BROOKS'

Escapes Prison And Takes His Elephant With Him

Alright, so you've seen movies of escapes from German war prisoner camps!

But did you ever see one with an elephant?

You will when you see Michael Winner's "Hannibal Brooks." It opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre in Color by DeLuxe.

You see, this British soldier Hannibal Brooks, played by Oliver Reed, gets to take care of an elephant in the Munich Zoo. He falls in love with the beastie and when an opportunity arises to escape to Switzerland he decides to take her with him!

By a queer quirk of coincidence the route taken by Brooks and his pachyderm in the new comedy-adventure, which is from an original story by Winner and Tom Wright, is exactly the one taken a number of centuries ago by Hannibal and his elephant corp on their way to conquer Rome and the whole idea so intriguing government officials of the two modern cantons of Switzerland where much of the action takes place, that they just couldn't do enough for Producer-Director Winner, his camera crews and cars in their interest of Director Winner, his camera crews film's major thrills.

Reeds not very well known on the American cinematic scene yet but "Hannibal Brooks," it is expected, will remedy that. He is a former strip-tease club bouncer and boxer. He shares top stellar honors in the film with Michael J. Pollard, best known for his portrayal of C. W. in "Bonnie and Clyde."

Support is from Karin Baal, a West German fire ball; Helmut Lohner a stage performer of wide repute on the continent; John Alderton, James Donald, Peter Karsten and Wolfgang Preiss, the German officer of "Von Ryan's Express," "The Longest Day" and "The Cardinal."

Producer-Director Winner, a three-hal-man on "Hannibal Brooks," is considered one of the most promising of film-dom's new young men. Although he studied for the law at Oxford, TV production engaged his ambitions and to get near it he went to work as an office boy. His fresh approach — one which has called it the most refreshing thing on the current screen scene — soon drew the attention of producers in that medium and he was given a chance to show what he could do with TV shorts.

Horoscope Forecast FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until sundown you really need to practice the Golden Rule for more than usual. The planetary positions are such in fact that self-control and the ability to please everyone. However, the evening finds you able to have a happy and proud attitude that can make dreams come true.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you make it your business to do favors for good friends in the morning, you find that the evening can be a happy one from the social standpoint. Talents are expressed in the afternoon. Be poised, though.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't bring up controversial subjects at home or there can be quarrels. Gentility and generosity bring about harmony instead of the happiness you seek.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend services that bring peace and contentment, give you the right philosophy of life. Be with friends later. Study into new outlets, plan the future more intelligently. Be wise.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't feel that you are missing out on something. Concentrate on the spiritual and you can soon add to abundance. Get out business cards and give you the assistance you want at this time.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have faults that need to be eliminated during the morning. You can do so as you congenial for a good time. Go to charming new sites. Make yourself as comfortable as possible. Dress well. Find things add much to your prestige. Thinking along positive lines is a must. Live according to your finest beliefs.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Try not to be too clever with friends or you will find them very quickly now. Be courteous instead of this evening can be particularly happy one for you. Show that you value their loyalty.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Being successful when you want support in the morning will get you nowhere but diplomacy works best by evening. Evening is best time to get approval of others. Be very clever.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A new beginning toward greater success is possible now so do not let this along such lines in the morning. Start the wheels rolling in the afternoon. Sitting down with experts can raise your level of thought.
CAPICORNI (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Carrying through with promises made you gain fine benefits. By evening you gain fine benefits. Don't get stuck with something you will regret later.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Sit your future more intelligently. Avoid persons you do not care with and save yourself much aggravation. Have fun with congenial tonight.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Take care of those duties ahead of you, but make the time to make those with whom you dwell much happier. Be sure to take the exercise, etc., that will improve your health. Be a more radiant person.

New Recreational Project At Airport Near Complete

The new recreational facilities at Airport Elementary School are 97 per cent complete and already have contributed to a sense of pride in their surroundings for the children at the school, according to Principal C. L. Carlile.

Seven and a half acres of weeds and rock adjacent to the school have been converted into a park-playground area with a good covering of grass, newly planted trees, and facilities for picnicking and play. This project was undertaken as a joint effort by the Airport Community, the City of Big Spring, the Big Spring Independent School District, and Webb Air Force Base.

Before the park was begun, Airport school buildings had been the frequent target of vandals, Carlile said, but since improvements were started not a single incident of vandalism has occurred. "I think beauty is involved in learning," he said. "If the surroundings are good, the children will be involved in their environment and not try to destroy it."

Acting on this theory, Carlile and his teachers set out to make their students feel that the new park "belonged to them." For example, when Webb Air Force personnel brought the trees, the children helped fill in dirt after the planting. Each of the six classes at the school now has two trees (one for the boys and one for the girls, of course) which it guards jealously against encroachment from outsiders.

Draft Quota For Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' January draft quota is 573 men, up from 456 in December, state Selective Service headquarters said Friday.

Col. Morris Schwartz, state director, said allocation of the call to local boards will be delayed pending receipt of instructions on procedures for the new lottery system.

The induction period will be Jan. 15-31, Schwartz said.

Pre-induction physical and medical examinations will be given to 5,800 others, he said.

'Cool' Book Worm

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Not one to jump to conclusions, 12-year-old Richard Dupont hung on to the striped snake that bit him, paged through the encyclopedia under "S," and found what he was looking for.

It was "Coral Snake" and he was reported in good condition at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Parent-Teacher organization approached city and school officials with the idea for the park last February with an offer of $3,600 if the city would assist in improving the area. Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said the city needed a park in the Airport area and the city council agreed to join the effort. The park was planned along the same lines as the Lakeview project, completed last year and which has proved to be successful.

The land for the park was donated by the Big Spring Independent School District which also contracted for the paving of the tennis courts and parking lot. Assistant Superintendent for Financial Affairs Don Crockett said the total cost of the project, excluding the land, was estimated to be $17,860.

Webb Air Force Base became involved when Col. Chandler B. Estes and Capt. Russ Miller heard of the project and offered to furnish trees and the men to plant them.

City Parks and Recreation Superintendent Johnny Johansen supervised the work at the park and city employees did the grass seeding, installed the playground equipment, and sprinkler system, fenced the area, and set up the sheltered picnic benches and cook-out grills. The Kiwanis Club is planning on installing several items of playground equipment for the kiddies.

TOP BANANA—Shelia Kilpatrick became the top banana as she and her companions make good use of a climbing pole, one of the items of equipment on the new park-playground at Airport School. Principal C. L. Carlile thinks this cooperative enterprise has given pupils a real sense of pride in the park.
