TELLS GRAND JURY 'ALL THE DETAILS' — Susan Denise Atkins, 21, leaves the Los Angeles County grand jury room after testifying for two hours, 15 minutes about the stayings of actress Sharon Tate and six others. Her attorney, Richard Caballero, said she told the grand jury "all the details." (See story, Page 8-A.)

Higher Taxes On Rich Defeated By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate defeated overwhelmingly Saturday proposals of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to impose increased taxes on wealthy persons who have large amounts of tax-sheltered income.

Kennedy told his colleagues the minimum tax plan devised by the Senate Finance Committee is an important step in the direction of seeing that such persons pay adequate taxes.

But, he said, "It is only a step and it should be improved."

"We are asking the millions of Americans who have only wage and salary income and no tax shelters to believe this is a tax reform measure," he said.

"We know that each year, many taxpayers received hundreds of thousands of dollars or more in tax-free income through the use of the numerous preferences now contained in the tax code.

"It is fair to demand that these wealthy taxpayers pay their minimum tax at a higher rate."

The minimum tax plan of the Finance Committee bill would impose a 5 per cent levy on specific tax preference items—income that escapes taxation altogether or pays at a reduced rate such as capital gains.

Kennedy sought to impose on this a graduated tax rising to 15 per cent on preferences over $100,000 and starting with the first $5,000 of such income instead of the $30,000 floor in the Committee plan.

This was rejected 52 to 24.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance chairman and floor manager for the bill, said the 5 per cent levy is a fully adequate burden to impose "with this supertax which is on top of other taxes."

Other senators complained that the Kennedy proposal would mean an effective capital gains rate of 42½ per cent compared with the present 25 per cent. They called this excessive.

The other part of Kennedy's amendment, rejected 63 to 16, would have added as one of the preferences under the minimum tax the increase in the value of property donated to universities and for other charitable purposes. This appreciation in value now escapes tax.

"This is a tax shelter," Kennedy said. "There is no doubt about it."

But senators opposing it declared that college and university presidents feared it would cut drastically gifts on which they rely on for a substantial part of their budgets.

Before the voting, Republicans renewed their attacks on additions made to the bill, hinting at a possible veto by President Nixon.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the GOP leader, told reporters that "if it gets any worse" he would think the President might well decide not to sign the legislation.

But Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana dismissed any such speculation as premature.

He noted that much reshaping of the final product undoubtedly would come in the Senate-House conference on the measure.

Return To Fair Weather Predicted For State Today

By The Associated Press

Texas looked hopefully for a return to fair weather Sunday after a Saturday of turbulence that included snow, flooding, heavy rains, big winds and a tornado watch.

Rain or snow was falling on all but extreme north and west sections Saturday afternoon.

Light snow fell from the western Edwards Plateau to the Southern High Plains. Abilene reported continuous snowfall for more than six hours. An accumulation of two inches was reported in that West Texas city.

All the moisture came from a front along the Texas Coast and an associated low pressure center that drew moisture throughout most of the state.

The rains occurred under a dome of cold air, and dumped accumulations up to 4 inches in some areas. Orange reported 4.40 inches to top Southeast Texas points, while numerous totals of more than 3 inches were reported in North Central and South Central Texas.

Rain contributed to several traffic accidents, including some fatalities.

The tornado watch was issued for four counties in extreme East Texas, but was lifted well ahead of the time originally designated by the Weather Bureau.

AT HOSPITAL All Faith Chapel Gets Big Boost

The All-Faith Chapel Fund for Big Spring State Hospital got a healthy boost Saturday, with receipt of a gift of $25,000 from the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation, Inc., of Tulsa, Okla.

The gift came as a result of contacts made by Frank Hayford of Midland, president of All-Faith Chapel, Inc.

An accompanying letter from directors said "we hope this will be an incentive for others to give, and we hope you reach your goal."

The Mabee gift raises the Chapel Fund to almost $100,000. A goal of $200,000 has been set to finance construction of an edifice which provides not only a place of worship for all faiths, but includes offices for chaplaincy and ministerial counseling.

The state does not appropriate money for such edifices, but many hospitals for mental health in Texas have constructed them through private gifts. Those in charge of the hospitals assert that the religious element is most vital in restoring the whole person.

Hayford and his associates were elated at news of the Mabee gift. Said the president: "This gives us new energy, new hope. We feel sure that other fine gifts are coming our way soon."

Persons wishing to aid in establishment of the chapel may make gifts (tax-deductible) to All Faith Chapel Inc., Big Spring State Hospital, Box 231, Big Spring, 79720.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

With the United Fund stalled out at about $104,000, or $6,000 short of its goal, an appeal went out last week for everyone who has not had a part — or a lesser part than their conscience tells them they should — to rally to its support. There are enough people who have not taken anything like a fair share to put this over the top — if they only would. If not, then some agencies — already operating on thin ice — are going to be cut.

The Chamber of Commerce had chosen five new directors to serve three-year terms. They are Rich Anderson, Don Crockett, Harold Davis, R. L. Heith and Jerry Worth. These are five good men who face real challenge and opportunity.

How about those Coahoma Bulldogs? They placed nine men on the all-district team. Considering that the Dogs' only lost cost them the district, this is a rare testimonial to the boys who made up the team.

Howard County transferred Rae Bourbon, one of three indicted in the slaying of A. D. Blount, to Brownwood on a change of venue. Last week the county had him back with a $524 bill for special guards and the prospect of a hospital tab besides. He was sent to a hospital here to determine if he could safely be returned to the county jail

Israel, Egypt Swap Prisoners Saturday

TEL AVIV (AP) — After weeks of secret negotiations, Israel and Egypt carried out Saturday the largest prisoner exchange since the June 1967 Middle East war and wiped the slate clean of military prisoners on both sides.

The three-way package deal, also involving Syria, ended weeks of behind-the-scenes activity by various government and international bodies.

The final trade Saturday saw 52 Egyptian civilians and 6 military captives returned to Egypt for 2 Israeli pilots.

Earlier, 2 Israeli travelers, held captive in Damascus since the Aug. 29 hijacking of a TWA jet-liner to Syria were exchanged for 13 Syrian prisoners.

The guns of two warring armies were stilled for two hours Saturday as both sides returned their prisoners at El Qantara, on the Suez Canal.

Among the returning Egyptians was an air force pilot, Maj. Nabil Said, 32, whose fighter-bomber was shot down over the Sinai desert July 24, and five soldiers captured in cross-canal raids.

The civilians included fishermen who strayed into Israeli-held waters, saboteurs, and 11 others captured in an Israeli raid into upper Egypt last October. The bodies of three Egyptian dead also were returned.

The exchange got under way with the transfer of the Egyptian bodies across the canal in a Red Cross boat.

In the next round, Israeli Maj. Nissim Ashkenazi, 30, a combat ace who was shot down over Egypt Aug. 19, was traded for three Egyptian military prisoners and half the civilians.

Ashkenazi was pale but seemed in good spirits, he joked with Israeli soldiers who carried his stretcher off the launch.

He was followed by Capt. Giora Ron, the first Israeli pilot downed in aerial combat since the six-day war. He was hit and parachuted into Egypt, Sept. 11, the day the Israelis claimed downing 11 Egyptian planes.

His right leg was in a plaster cast. Ron also joked with troops as he was carried into Israeli-held territory.

Both men were sped by helicopter to a hospital, outside Tel Aviv, where they were greeted by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and the army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Haim Bar Lev.

Later, an Israeli military spokesman said the physical condition of both men was "relatively good," except for fractures which would probably require further medical attention.

The first exchange—involving Israeli civilians Shlomo Samueloff and Sala Muallem and the 13 Syrians—took place Friday.

The exchanges may stir up resentment among Israeli hawks, who oppose swaps involving air hijackings. They contend such deals may encourage more hijackings.

Earlier Israeli and Jordanian forces engaged in a 10-minute artillery duel in the same area.

TOY TESTER — A Vietnamese mother tries out a toy machine gun as she shops for Christmas presents for her children at a Saigon street vendor's stall. With the coming of the Buddhist holiday of Tet and Christmas the vendors are stocking up.

Snow And Rain

Snow flurries mixed with rain Friday night and Saturday morning for a total moisture of .4 inch. The temperature held above 33 degrees, preventing any snow buildup here.

Enemy Pushed From Bunkers

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops drove North Vietnamese from jungle bunkers northwest of Saigon Saturday in a short but fierce battle in a sector where the enemy is reported building up forces.

In the central highlands, North Vietnamese shot down a U.S. helicopter, killing all 11 aboard, including an American colonel and a South Vietnamese tactical zone commander. The officers were observing one of the scattered clashes that dotted South Vietnam all day.

In the main fighting, 55 miles northwest of Saigon, U.S. troops and South Vietnamese irregulars were sweeping a battlefield where 23 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed the previous day.

The battle raged for half an hour, and allied forces reported 44 North Vietnamese killed. There were no U.S. casualties but four of the irregulars were killed and two wounded.

Officers said the fighting broke out as allied troops, including infantrymen from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry division, advanced through jungles just northwest of a U.S. fire base blocking enemy infiltration corridors from Cambodia, 13 miles away.

A North Vietnamese force of unknown size opened up from concealed positions. "That whole damn area is wall-to-wall bunkers," one American officer said.

U.S. fighter bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery pounded the enemy bunkers.

The action broke off in mid-morning when the North Vietnamese withdrew. Field reports said they left behind a 60mm mortar with 70 rounds, a heavy machine gun, a dozen assault rifles and a Chinese Communist-made field radio.

Other air cavalrymen clashed twice with North Vietnamese in the same general area but there were few details. Two Americans were reported killed and five wounded.

Misdeeds In High Places Is Unfolding

WASHINGTON (AP) — An "incredible complex of misdeeds in high places" is unfolding in federal grand jury investigations that have led to the indictment of a former U. S. senator, a Justice Department prosecutor says.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, chief of the department's criminal division, said grand juries in New York City, Baltimore and Washington, D. C., still are looking into corruption allegations against top government officials.

As yet there have been no trials or convictions in any of the cases.

"One thing leads to another," Wilson said in an interview. "Sen. Daniel B. Brewster has been indicted, but the other matters are still being developed."

Wilson referred to the indictment returned here Dec. 1 against Brewster, who was defeated last year in his bid for a second term in the Senate. Brewster was accused of accepting $24,500 in bribes from Spiegel Inc., a huge Chicago mail-order house.

Wilson said the three-city inquiry began after the department received reports that lobbyist Nathan P. Voloshen, 71, had peddled influence through the office of his longtime friend, House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

The investigations have been under way for months and now touch on matters far removed from the allegations against Voloshen.

Wilson said the three grand juries, after looking into the Voloshen case, found evidence involving other senators and congressmen.

The inquiry now has been expanded to the affairs of other legislators, including Sen. Russell Long, D-La., and members of the House and Senate Post Office Committee.

Friday, the Washington Star named Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., Rep. Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., and former Rep. James H. Morrison, D-La., as being under investigation. All have denied any wrongdoing.

Demos Want Prime Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic party reform commission said Saturday it is considering revamping its presidential nominating conventions to insure that important events occur during prime evening television time.

The suggestion, contained in a 48-page "Issues and Alternatives" study guide, was one of a number of proposals to streamline conventions and make them more interesting for the public.

Others include disposing of routine business at afternoon sessions, specifying times for votes at night sessions, eliminating routine resolutions and ritual speeches or confining them to one session, eliminating or limiting demonstrations and replacing the traditional keynote speech with a documentary film.

Many key events at the 1968 Democratic National Convention, including debate on the Vietnam platform plank, occurred either late at night or during the afternoon.

The commission headed by Rep. James G. O'Hara of Michigan also suggested the possibility of requiring presidential candidates to address the convention before it selects a nominee and eliminating acceptance speeches at the conventions. Instead, there would be a separate occasion later.

The study guide, prepared for party leaders, is designed to define the issues to be considered by the commission over the next two years. After receiving comments from the officials, it plans to hold a series of regional hearings.

REMEMBER CHEER FUND

If, on this Lord's Day, you are thinking of the needs of others, you might want to remember the Christmas Cheer Fund.

Without any administrative cost or other overhead, this fund finances toy repair so that city firemen may have a gift for all needy children at Christmas.

Then, any reserve is used to help families in emergency through the year.

The Fund must grow. If you will help, please make check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and mail to The Herald for accounting and acknowledgment.

CLASSES ARE WELCOME RELIEF

Pups Paying Her Tuition

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mary Leisner is working her way through college by growing pups. In a two-room apartment. Right now she has 12 Afghan hounds and an Irish Setter.

"Lots of students find classes and lectures a chore. I find them a welcome relief," says Mary, a slender blonde sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania.

She started breeding and selling Afghans in August, 1968, and paid a semester's tuition with her first litter. The pups bring about $200 each.

"I didn't learn until mid-August that my tuition loan was phased out in the federal education cut-back," Mary says, "and there weren't too many ways I could come up with $1,000 on short notice."

"They are work," she says. "Puppies need a lot of attention. My studies are suffering. So am I. It's costing about $50 a week to feed them."

The 10 pups are barricaded in the bathroom with a 3½-foot-tall street sign nailed to the doorway. Mary and her sister use a wooden milk carton to boost themselves in and out.

Some problems Mary didn't count on: One night the pups got into fabric dye and all turned green. Another time they closed the bathtub drain and flooded the place. And then there was the hamper raid . . .

"Guess I'm lucky the bathroom is large," Mary says. "It's what separates me from insanity."

Sometimes, the pups are allowed the freedom of the living room.

"They get exercise and learn to play and defend themselves romping around with the bigger dogs," she says, following them around with wads of tissue to clean up.

"I'm two years from my degree and how I hope a federal loan comes through next year."

CROWDED QUARTERS—Mary Leisner, a sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania, is surrounded by most of the 13 dogs that she shares a two-room apartment with in Philadelphia. Twelve Afghan hounds, ten of which are puppies, and one Irish Setter make up the group.

Grades, Staples Down For Plains

The first report of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. on the quality of cotton being harvested from the High Plains, when compared to the first report for 1968, reveals a disappointing drop in grades and staples and slightly lower strength but surprisingly high micronaire.

This year's initial issue covers only the first 40,000 bales classed as compared to over 800,000 bales classed through Dec. 6, the date of the first report in 1968. Last year's first quality analysis was delayed by the necessity for a new computer program.

Average staple on the first portion of this year's harvest came to 31.4 thirty-seconds of an inch, compared to 32.7 thirty-seconds at the beginning of last year and a final 1968 average of 32.3 thirty-seconds. A big 67.7 per cent of the total crop last year pulled an inch or longer, and only 42.3 per cent of this year's crop to date has reached that length.

In the first analysis last year white cotton made up 59 per cent of classings and 13.2 per cent of that was in the middling and above class. This year only 27 per cent of the first 40,000 bales was graded white and less than one per cent of the white cotton was middling and above. Light spots on the first report this year totaled 44 per cent as compared to 35.2 per cent in 1968.

Micronaire average on the first ginnings averaged 4.0 and almost 81 per cent has been in the 3.5 and above range. Over 78 per cent has fallen in the most desirable 3.5 to 4.9 range on which the farmer is paid a 45 point premium in the loan schedule. The first quality report last year showed an average micronaire of 3.6 with only 53.6 per cent above 3.5.

Zero gauge Pressley fiber strength so far this year is averaging 83,700 pounds per square inch, only slightly below last year's 84,900 pounds.

West Texans Killed Friday In Albuquerque Air Crash

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A converted World War II airplane, apparently groping for a safe landing amid snow flurries, crashed in flames on the edge of Albuquerque Friday, killing the two-man crew and nine West Texans prominent in oil and cattle.

The victims were returning from a holiday in Las Vegas, Nev. Strown over the desert scant yards from a housing development where the airplane wreckage and what remained of the holiday: a sack from a Las Vegas store, playing cards, a smartly-polished shoe with a shoe tree still in it, charred currency.

An investigation of the crash by the National Transportation Safety Board was to begin today. The bodies were locked in a nearby warehouse and the crash area sealed off Friday night.

Pilot of the chartered Lockheed Lodestar, a World War II transport converted to passenger use, was Carrol Thompson of Stratford, Tex. Copilot was Ralph Dodkins Jr., Stratford. The two operated a charter service.

Returning to their West Texas homes were Bill Allen, Perryton, partner in an oil company; Fred Adcock, Perryton, a petroleum engineer; Jack Hood of Borger; and three couples described as wealthy farmers and ranchers. They were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Buckles and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schertler, all of Stratford, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis, Borger.

The airplane was returning to Dalhart, Tex. Officials at the Las Vegas hotel where the group stayed said weather had delayed the departure two days.

Federal Aviation Administration officials in Albuquerque said the airplane was on a visual flight plan until it reached western New Mexico, when the pilot radioed he was switching to instrument flying.

The crash was within sight of a small, private airport north of Albuquerque. An airport employee said the cloud ceiling was between 500 and 1,000 feet.

"My god, it's going to hit the house," Carolyn Corley said she thought as the airplane skimmed her rooftop.

"Then there was a loud boom and the plane exploded. It was like shrapnel exploding all over the place."

Mary Beaseley was in her basement. She walked into the backyard and found "pieces of paper all over."

"I found a small piece of paper with a bunch of figures and toward the bottom of the paper the red pencil mark tapered off — just like he was writing when it happened," she said.

Mrs. Corley said the plane was "making a heck of a racket" before it hit the ground. Her husband, S.A. Corley, said "I thought it was an atomic bomb."

Mrs. Corley said after she heard the explosion, "I saw something fall out. I think it must have been a body." One body left relatively intact fell a few yards from Mrs. Corley's home.

The plane came down in an open stretch of tumbleweed-covered desert between a housing area and Interstate 25.

The crash was the second worst aviation disaster in Albuquerque history. A Trans World Airlines twin-engine Martin crashed into the west face of the Sandia Mountains in 1955, killing 16 persons.

Commission To Get List

Big Spring City Commissioners will be given a list of checks the city has paid during the past month with their agendas for Tuesday's meeting, according to Charles Smith, finance director.

The new accounting machines in the city finance office have posed several problems while being put into service, and although it was planned 18 months ago to furnish this list, it has been delayed while machinery problems were ironed out.

Commissioners already receive a monthly balance sheet on the several departmental accounts, which keep them abreast of each department's budget, the amount spent in the previous month, and the balance for the year.

Money To Burn

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (AP) — June Berg couldn't stand the old chair she had picked up at an auction, so she burned it.

Soon after she set the chair afire, her children ran up to her clutching handfuls of large-denomination bills that had appeared as the fabric burned away.

The Bergs recovered $1,100 but have no idea how much money may have been destroyed.

Scout Council Exec Resigns

Earl McKeenan, Midland, executive for the Buffalo Trail Boy Scout Council, has submitted his resignation, effective immediately, Malcolm Abel, Midland, president of the council, announced Saturday.

EARL MCKEEHAN

McKeenan did not announce any immediate plans. He said that he was not entirely satisfied with progress made in the council during the six years he has been the executive, but that he wished the council success in service to boys through Scouting.

An Eagle Scout as a lad, he served as a Scoutmaster in Sturgis, Ky., from 1936-38. He entered professional Scouting in Anniston, Ala., in 1939 and later became a field Scout executive and assistant executive in El Paso. From 1945-51, he was Scout executive in McAlister, Okla., and from 1951-63 before coming to Buffalo Trail council in December, he was council executive at Bartlesville, Okla.

Cease Order Names Firm In Andrews

Securities Commissioner Truman G. Holladay has issued a cease and desist order against Scot-Tex, Inc. of Andrews. The company was represented to purchasers as the holder of a license to produce stainless steel through a one-step process. Over $200,000 was received from sale of stock to West Texas residents by J. N. Scott, Andrews, and D. E. Teal, Snyder, and Kenneth Warren, Carrizozo, N.M., said Holladay. Most stock was sold as a loan with an option to convert to common stock, he added. Holladay said a hearing had developed that the corporation has no assets since they are held in the name of Scott individually; that no corporate banks was ever maintained; of stock were commingled with personal funds of Scott and Teal. A large portion of the funds were paid to Zion Steel Corporation for "feasibility reports," declared Holladay. Scott is a former officer of Zion Steel and was named in a 1966 and Exchange Commission to enjoin sale of stock in Zion Mineral & Royalty Corporation, the state commission reported. Charges were filed in Howard County Court Friday for aggra-ated assault against Hayes Stripling Jr., 613 Edwards Blvd. The charge was filed by Thomas Marquez Jr. in behalf of his son, Larry, following an incident at Runnels Junior High Thursday.

Father Denies He Threatened Suit

FORT WORTH (AP) — The father of Susan Kay Logan, a former Miss Texas, denied Friday that he had threatened to sue for promised benefits for his daughter from sponsors of the pageant.

benefits was slow, Logan answered, "There's no question about that."

John D. Logan of San Angelo, father of the former Miss Texas, was quoted earlier this week by the president of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Frank Butterfield.

He said benefits were delayed in reaching his daughter because "a bunch of lay people are running the thing and they're doing the work for nothing. I don't point the finger of blame at any person."

Store Employees To Get Awards

An article had quoted Butterfield as saying that the father of Miss Texas of 1966 threatened to sue before his daughter finally received her cash and scholarship benefits.

Five 7-Eleven Food Store employees in Big Spring will be honored with service awards on Tuesday and Wednesday, announced Charley Wood, district manager.

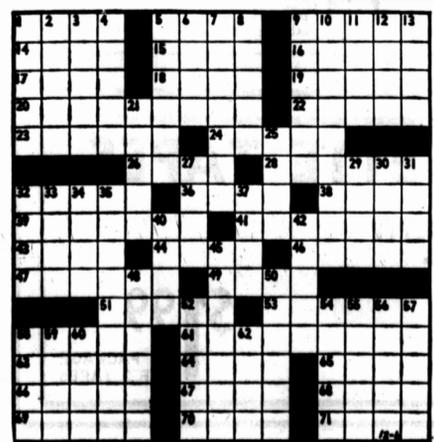

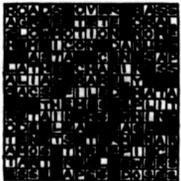

Butterfield also said that other Lubbock preliminary winners had difficulty in obtaining their prizes. Logan, an attorney, said reporters contacted him Wednesday after the article quoting Butterfield appeared in a paper. Logan said, "I told them I'd never heard of it. I'll repeat to you what I told them: I never threatened the Fort Worth pageant people or anyone else to sue if they didn't give my daughter, Susan, her benefits." When asked if payment of the

Two-year awards will be presented to Bill Stewart, Merle Platte, Ruby Reeves and Weldon Hartley. John Edgar will receive a five-year award. The awards banquets for employees and their families will be held at the Silver Star Restaurant, 803 E. 3rd Street. The 7-Eleven Food Stores in Big Spring are part of the Southland Corporation in Dallas.

Rebelling Sons Of Noted Fathers Tell Their Side

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

They wear long hair, seize dean's offices, march in peace demonstrations. Some smoke pot, prefer jail to the draft. Anti-establishment. Their names are Rockefeller, Hearst, Taft, Laird, Luce, Schlesinger, Saltonstall, Scranton. Establishment. They are both, the rather rebellious sons of rather noted fathers of the nation's elite. What was good enough for Dad may not be good enough for them. "The implications of superiority denoted by the Establishment is pernicious and one should fight it." So spoke Rick Taft, a student at Yale where his family, including President William Howard Taft, his great-grandfather, have long attended. "The Establishment is that group of people which holds the balance of power and unfortunately is more concerned with holding that power for themselves rather than using it to solve the problems of the country." That was Tom Saltonstall, latest of the endless line of Massachusetts Saltonstalls at Harvard. As a bow to his father, however, Tom cut his locks during his father's recent campaign for reelection to Boston's City Council. As a group, Establishment sons still find their way to Dad's old school. But, in interviews with a number of them, they emerged as iconoclastic, idealistic, not unaware of their illustrious surnames and not unaware that the Establishment might be due for an overhaul. But a peaceful one. "You've got to work from within the system to change it," said Richard Rockefeller, Harvard '71, son of David, Harvard '36 and president of the Chase Manhattan Bank. John Laird, a Wisconsin sophomore who marched in the October Vietnam moratorium and is the son of Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, agreed. "I think the right way is to go through the system to change it, not around it or to blow it up." Likewise Peter Galbraith, 20, Harvard '73, son of John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard professor and former ambassador to India. "I believe in 100 per cent nonviolence and see myself working within the Establishment to effect change."

Doug Rogers, a more traditionally cropped Yale law student and son of the secretary of state, says he wants to be part of the Establishment "only in the sense that I can be in a position to change laws to help the people." Henry Christopher "Kit" Luce, whose father, Henry Luce III, is the publisher of Time magazine, says he hopes to be better than the Establishment. "Those effete snobs (referred to publicly by Vice President Spiro Agnew) are so much more patriotic than those who sit around doing nothing for their country."

Morris Abrams, a junior at Harvard and son of the president of Brandeis University said: "That generation seemed more concerned, with devotion to certain ideals and traditions rather than looking for solutions to all our urgent problems." A fundamental disagreement with these traditional views has led some of these young men to demonstrate actively against the Establishment. Joe Seamans, 21, son of the secretary of the Air Force, participated in the marches during the October moratorium. Andy Schiesinger, William Randolph Hearst III and Seamans were involved in the takeover of the administration building at Harvard during the spring of 1969, narrowly escaping arrest by jumping out of a window. "At the time, revolting against the administration seemed like the thing to do. Harvard can be so dull sometimes," Andy Schiesinger recalled. His father, Arthur Jr., is an eminent scholar and was an adviser to President Kennedy. "I guess I wouldn't do it again," reflected Andy. William Randolph Hearst III said he used to attend SDS meetings at Harvard, but this year he seems to have lost interest in such activism. "I haven't found any political organization I can really identify with now."

The shadow cast by a successful father looms large for these offspring. Because of their name, many feel they must climb mountains. But they insist the mountains will be of their choosing, the path their's to determine, and the summit perhaps a place their forebears would never have planted the family flag. Melvin Laird's son wants to go into teaching, William Scranton's son, Joseph, possibly into television, Galbraith's son into politics, and Sen. Eugene McCarthy's son, Michael, into anything but politics. Young Rockefeller says he's almost positive he won't go into business. He's now studying urban planning at Harvard. "The pride in my name is mingled," said the quiet, curly haired and bespectacled young man. "There are certain things that the Rockefeller's have done that have perhaps perpetuated the things that I don't like about the system now. "Sure I think my father's success, but being the president of a bank isn't necessarily my idea of success." Kit Luce, a lanky, long-haired freshman at Yale, said he does not envision a business career in publishing to follow the family tradition in the Time-Life empire. "I'd rather write poetry or philosophic prose," he says. Young Hearst, who says he'll use a pseudonym if he decides to become a writer, feels he'd do things differently if he had his father's power as a newspaper magnate. "At least I would make a newspaper that black people could read without feeling they're from another country."

To these inheritors of prestigious family names, status is sometimes equated with irrelevance, "a damn bore," a nuisance, even a burden. But, said Michael McCarthy, "most people my age don't seem to be so impressed by who your father is." It would be wrong to say that these men are in total revolt, or that they don't pay grateful homage to their fathers. "My father has established in me an ideal of determining a commitment and of following it through," said Josh Javits, son of Jacob, New York senator. Dick Rockefeller said his father's influence made him realize how crucial it was to spend his life constructively and make a contribution to society. "For me," said Dick, "the burden of success is not so heavy as the burden of service." Tom Saltonstall, who would like to do volunteer work after graduation from Harvard said, "My father has inbred in me a social conscience, a genuine concern for the people." Generation gaps? "Doesn't everyone have a generation gap with his parents?" asked William Hearst. Dick Rockefeller said, "I guess my father and I look at things in a very different way, like religion and those traditional American ideals like capitalism." The war is a passionate concern. More than half interviewed said they would choose jail rather than fight. Michael McCarthy, despite his father's disagreement, said he has received conscientious objector status. "I absolutely won't go if I'm drafted," declared Tom Saltonstall. Dick Rockefeller said he would resist the draft even to the extent of going to jail for it. "I don't care about the publicity," he said. "Maybe it'd be a good thing to encourage others to protest in order to change the draft laws." Although all the sons condemned the use of narcotics, more than half said they occasionally smoked marijuana, described by one as "the liquor of our generation." "My father just assumes that everyone my age has tried pot and leaves it at that," said one. "Sure I smoke pot and I'm sure my father knows, but he hasn't said much about it," said another. And when these sons become fathers? "I'll say to my kids as my father said to me," said Josh Javits. "You've been given a lot. What you do with it is your own business." William Hearst agreed. "I'd thing."

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fat, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not burn. The grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose weight. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to

Citrus Diet Plan

L.A. Calif. 90014

Money-back guarantee! After trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 4 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth.

Answers Given To Draft Lottery Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are answers to some of the more frequently asked questions about the Selective Service lottery:

Q—Why is President Nixon messing around with the draft? The old method wasn't perfect, but at least most people understood it.

A—Under the previous method men were drafted between the ages of 19 and 26, the oldest first. It kept a guy wondering for up to 7 years whether—and when—he might be drafted. Nixon wants to reduce that "agony of suspense."

Q—There's no "agony of suspense" in a lottery?

A—The lottery wasn't the only change. The most important change was this: a man's exposure to the draft is no longer equally intense through the seven-year span between 19 and 26. Under Nixon's plan each man is fully exposed for one year at most; after that his chances of being drafted get smaller.

Q—You mean he is exposed to the draft when he is 19?

A—Not necessarily, but it's easy to get mixed up about that. The year in which he reaches his 19th birthday is the year he gets a number from the draft lottery. But he does not face his maximum exposure to the draft until the year after he has turned 19, or even later.

Q—What do you mean: "or even later?"

A—A man faces maximum exposure for one calendar year. To be exposed, he must be at least 19 when the year begins, but not yet 26; and he must be 1-A, or become 1-A in that year. The first year in which he meets those two conditions is his maximum-exposure year, no matter what age he is, up to 26.

Q—You keep talking about maximum exposure. What does that really mean?

A—It means that in selecting men for military service in any one year, each local draft board will choose from among those men, 19 to 26, who are 1-A for the first time.

Q—What happens to guys not drafted that year?

A—Each year a new bunch of guys—those 19 and over who are 1-A for the first time—steps into the front rank of "maximum exposure" to the draft. The ones just finishing a maximum-exposure year step back into the second rank; the draft won't come after them again unless it first takes the entire new "maximum exposure" group. And it would take a mobilization far bigger than Vietnam to make that happen.

Q—Okay. Out of each year's maximum-exposure group, how does a local draft board know whom to induct for service?

A—That's where the lottery comes in. The lottery gives each draft-age man a number from 1 to 366, and the local boards call men up by the numbers.

Q—Who gets called first?

A—All the guys with number one.

Q—What makes him number one?

A—In the lottery each day of the year, including Feb. 29 for Leap Year, is tossed into a big glass jar. The dates are scrambled up and drawn out, one by one.

Q—How long does a man keep that number?

A—As long as he is subject to the draft under this system—that is, until he reaches his 26th birthday.

Q—The first lottery was held Dec. 1. Who got numbers in that one?

A—Every man who has reached age 19 by Dec. 31, 1969, and who is not yet 26.

Q—Will there be a new lottery every year?

A—Yes, but only to give numbers to men who did not get them in an earlier lottery. That means, basically, men who turn 19 during the year. Once the lottery gives you a number, you keep it. As far as your draft situation is concerned a number 177, for example, assigned last Monday night is exactly the same as a number 177 that will be assigned to some newcomer next year when his birthday goes into the glass jar. The only question is whether your number gets called by the draft board in your "maximum exposure" year.

Q—How does all this affect deferments and exemptions?

A—It doesn't. Men with deferments or exemptions may keep them as long as they are justified; men entitled to deferments or exemptions may still request and receive them as before. A deferred man faces the draft only if and when he loses his deferment and becomes 1-A or 1-A-O.

Q—Can a man give up his deferment late in the year and be "maximum exposed" for only a few months?

A—Giving up or losing a deferment exposes you for the entire year. If your number has already come up earlier in the year and you become 1-A, your draft board will go back and take you before it goes on up the list.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A former U.S. ambassador, Raymond L. Telles, announced he will seek the post of U.S. Representative from the 16th Congressional District in the May 2, 1970, Democratic primary.

Telles has served eight and a half years as an ambassador for the United States in Costa Rica and has been decorated by Mexico, Brazil, Peru, Colombian and Nicaragua.

He is seeking the Congressional seat now occupied by Richard White, D-Tex., who is now serving his third term.

Telles has also served two terms as mayor of El Paso and before that had been county clerk for four terms.

He said that El Paso and the 11 West Texas counties in the 16th district depend on agriculture, ranching, commerce, tourism, military and other federal payrolls for their livelihood. In addition, the district houses many private industries.

He said another problem in the district is maintaining good border relations with Mexico. "In each of these areas, during a lifetime of public service, I have had practical experience which qualifies me to serve as the representative for this district," Telles said.

UNDERSTANDING Families Trying The Welfare Life

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Wagner, a research physicist with a Ph.D. degree, looked down at the table. "Is this all there is?" he asked, peering at the meager portions of rice, gelatine and milk. "I'm sorry," apologized his wife, Nancy. "But after they cut off the welfare check yesterday I was lucky to get the Salvation Army to provide a few meals. I'm saving the quarter so we can have a can of tuna tomorrow."

For Bob, Nancy and their three children, the experience of trying to live on 11-cent welfare meals was only a game—a game called "Welfare Monopoly," thought up by the Christian Science Committee at Berea Presbyterian Church. The game, designed to help well-to-do families understand the difficulties of living on welfare, lasted one week. The 120 participating families were told to try to live on their allotments which provided 11 cents per meal per person. In addition, they were mailed "Chance" and "Community Chest" cards, some which caused extra hardships and some which gave advice. Among those participating were 21 state legislators. Missouri ranks 44th in welfare allotments.

ACE REID Here for autograph party

Fans Flock To See Ace Reid

By JOE PICKLE
Ace Reid was brought up on drouths, and he ran into one Saturday at his autograph party during the Texas-Arkansas football game.

Made no difference though. He just moved to the back room of the Book Stall and took it in. "When it was over, my hand was shaking so I couldn't sign my name," he said. But he recovered, and so did his fans, for they flocked in to get the creator of "Cowpokes" brand their copies of his assortment of half a dozen books and calendars. He rocked back at his table, his rolled brim hat pushed up characteristically, and reminisced briefly about the years when he decided drawing pictures was better than digging postholes and chasing lanky cows. "We've come a long way," he said, "and I wouldn't want to do it again."

Indeed he has. He was getting things set up to advertise his latest offering, his Cowpoke cookbook. But word had gotten around, and the first printing sold out before he could get the campaign going.

Ace had a happy idea. He is going to the National Wool Growers convention in Billings, Mont. Monday. Why not work in an autograph party there, he suggested — it ought to be a natural. Nope, said the wool growers. Sheepmen might not take too kindly to those scrawny cowboys and cattle. It reminded him of the time he put a barbed wire border around one of his Cowpokes calendars. A bank in Wyoming had put in an order, but they turned down the lot because they were against barbed wire.

These characters are a curiosity, for Ace's books (which are collections of his weekly Cowpoke cartoon which appears in 300 newspapers and magazines) keep selling like hot cakes. So do his calendars and portfolios. Ace was reared near Electra, and Saturday's cold reminded him of his boyhood days. It also reminded him of his Dad. Old Man Ace moved to town recently, bought a five bedroom house. Didn't need all that space, said Ace, but those plush carpets and fire place made him think he was old man W. T. Waggoner or Burk Burnett (wealthy cowmen when Ace was growing up).

The cowboy artist still enjoys a party, and he enjoys a story. He recalled that George Dolan, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram columnist, had been in on a party at the Reid hideaway near Kerrville. George got to bed about 4 a.m., using a pair of silk pajamas but no sheets.

Ace woke up about sunup and spotted his herd of 300 Spanish goats coming down the trail by the house. He got a sack of corn, sprinkled a path of it up the steps, through the room and over the sleeping Dolan.

"Three hundred goats tromped over him," he laughed. "George never got around to putting that in his column."

Reid went from here to Midland where he has an autograph party Monday. Then he goes to Billings and back to Las Vegas, Nev.

Nugent Elected President Of Club

A. F. (Speedy) Nugent was elected president of Cosden's 25-Year-Club as members of that organization gathered Friday night for their annual holiday festivity. He succeeds Rube McNew, W. L. Sandridge was named vice president, and Otto Peters Jr. and Helen Green were re-elected treasurer and secretary, respectively. The affair, held at the Cosden Country Club, marked the induction into the club of 14 new 25-year veterans with Cosden. They brought the membership total to 157. Paul Meek, Cosden president, made presentations of the traditional diamond-mounted emblem, rings or pins, and paid

LETTERS Says Story Inaccurate

Dear Editor: It has always been my belief that a newspaper is interested in printing the truth in its news. The article in your Friday, Dec. 5, edition concerning the disturbance at Rannels Junior High on Thursday night could not be further from the truth. I was an eye witness to the incident involving a man and two boys, and it certainly did not happen as was stated in your article. MRS. EDWARD F. Mrs. Rainbolt, Rites Pending

Mrs. H. M. (Ruby) Rainbolt, 62, died at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, following an illness of several months. Funeral is pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Mr. and Mrs. Rainbolt for many years owned and operated the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, at one time the leading restaurant in West Texas, and they expanded the business to the Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins after World War II. They were active in the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, and he served as the State Commander. The couple came to Big Spring in 1929 and were in the wholesale food business before entering the restaurant operation in 1943, continuing until his death Nov. 17, 1963. Mrs. Ruby Rainbolt was born Ruby Dunagin Feb. 21, 1907 at Stith, Tex., and she married Mr. Rainbolt in Abilene, Dec. 27, 1923. Survivors include a daughter, Ann Rainbolt, who made her home with her mother. A son preceded her in death.

Stanton Rites For Mr. Rowell

STANTON (SC) — Funeral services were held here at 10 a.m. Saturday for Mrs. Wilma Ruth Rowell, 60, who was found dead Thursday morning at her home at 1410 Belmont in Midland. She had died of natural causes. Rites were conducted at the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. W. H. Uhlman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. The body was taken to Robert Lee for graveside rites at 12:30 p.m. Gilbreath Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Rowell was born April 14, 1909 in Robert Lee. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Thelma Lila Ogdrowicz, Sulmar, Calif.

Bala Leatherwood, Residents' Kin

Bala Leatherwood, 95, brother of Mrs. G. A. Brown and Mrs. L. S. Patterson of Big Spring, died in his sleep at Albuquerque, N.M., Saturday morning. Arrangements are pending. Mr. Leatherwood, who lived here about 40 years ago and had a farm northwest of town, was born Jan. 11, 1874 in Lincoln County, Tenn. Besides his sisters here, he leaves one son, Baylor C. Leatherwood, Richmond, Calif. and a daughter, Mrs. Fannie Sue Barnard, El Paso.

Minor Injuries

Gary N. Hood, 2511 Larry, and Carol Rennaux, 2412 Alabama, were taken to Cowper Hospital around midnight Friday after they sustained minor injuries in an automobile accident at the intersection of FM 700 and Birdwell Lane. The mishap involved a car driven by Wood and one driven by James M. Callahan, Webb AFB, in which Miss Rennaux was a passenger.

Special Counsel Acting As Hearings Watchdog

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newly appointed civilian special counsel in an Army probe of the alleged My Lai massacre indicated Saturday he is acting as a sort of public watchdog. Robert MacCrate, a New York lawyer, said his role in the inquiry being conducted mainly by Army officers "affords an opportunity to ask some questions of concern to the public generally."

The 48-year-old lawyer was interviewed briefly outside the Army's underground operations center in the Pentagon during a break in the fifth day of secret hearings. Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor on Friday announced he had named MacCrate special counsel to help Lt. Gen. William R. Peers and an investigator board "with their investigation of the nature and scope of the original Army investigation of the so-called My Lai incident in Vietnam on March 16, 1968."

The Peers group is trying to find out why a field investigation of reports of mass civilian killings resulted in a finding that these reports were groundless. Critics have suggested a cover-up, with a deeper inquiry and resultant murder charges against an Army lieutenant coming a year later after a former soldier wrote letters to members of Congress about the incident. Asked if he views himself and an associate as counsel on behalf of the public at large to make sure there was no cover-up, MacCrate replied, "I would hesitate to claim a role of that dimension."

"But I feel that we do perform a function that permits us to express many of the concerns of the public generally." In outlining the special counsel's responsibilities, Resor said the "scope and direction of the investigation, and will have a major role in the interrogation of witnesses, in the examination of records and in the preparation of any subsequent reports and recommendations." The Peers board Saturday interrogated Capt. Eugene M. Kotauk, Kotauk formerly was intelligence officer for the Army task force which moved in on the My Lai hamlet the morning of March 16, 1968. DUAL PURPOSE Filly Billys Come In Many Colors

NEW YORK (AP) — In New York, where muggings can be a problem, women can now buy clubs in their favorite colors to carry around with them.

"They have a dual purpose — fashion and protection," says Marilyn Baltar, the 29-year-old blonde who designed them.

Called "Filly Billys," the clubs cost $9 and are two feet long, 1 1/4 inches in diameter and weigh one pound each.

She says they are slimmer and "more feminine" than the regular policeman's nightstick.

The New York police have them only in shades of brown and black but the fashion-conscious lady can buy a Filly Billy in metallic gold, metallic silver, white, red, lilac or yellow.

The clubs come with a gold chain so they can dangle from the waist or the shoulder.

Miss Baltar says she got the idea last September when she and her fiance, Shelly Fireman, a New York restaurant owner, were scouting restaurants in up-state New York.

"I picked up a baseball bat in a store in a small town," she says, "and Shelly told me, 'Hey, that would be a good thing for girls to carry for protection.'" Miss Baltar carries a Filly Billy.

"I almost used it the other night when an overly friendly man approached me on an East Side street," she says. "He took one look at it, and said, 'I don't believe it. Are you for real?'"

'FILLY BILLY'—In New York, where muggers can be a menace, women can now fashionably fight back with policemen's clubs, called "Filly Billys". Marilyn Baltar, who designed the clubs, models a costume of fashionable self-defense, replete with a two-foot long "Filly Billy", maxi-coat and a 1900 policeman's helmet.

THE WEEK

here pending his prospective trial in Brownwood in January.

This is getting to be a weather country. Just as farmers had got back in their fields, more rain came Thursday, then broke Friday morning, to promise ideal conditions for the Brownwood-Monahans game. But presto!, clouds blew in from the southwest with a peppering of rain and snow flurries — totally unheard of. Fortunately, it was over in minutes and most of the game was played under nippy but good conditions. Upwards of an inch of moisture, including heavy snow Saturday, was received during the week. Cotton grades dropped lower and lower.

Matters were busy on the religion front. The Rev. Dan Sebesta, St. Paul Lutheran pastor, and Rev. John Beard, First Christian minister, were advanced to president and vice president of the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship, succeeding Rev. R. F. Polk and Rev. D. M. Duke, who have moved. The new bishop of the San Angelo Diocese, the Rt. Rev. Steven A. Leven made his first visit here, celebrating mass at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. Bob Cox, of the Texas Evangelism, was here leading in a series of meetings to organize a new Christian Church at 603 Tulane.

There was good news for 154 students who get help in staying in school through the work-study program. The first half of the previously approved entitlement came in the form of $39,658. HCJC administers the program, but half a dozen local agencies participate by providing jobs for the young people.

Glasscock County residents had good news, too, with word by the Texas Highway Commission to proceed with bids for two lateral road projects. The two of them will cost about $164,000 and will be in the southwest part of the county.

Col. John W. Keeler, information chief for the Air Training Command, did what good Scouts are obligated to do — his good turn, Thursday. When Maj. Merlyn Dethlesfen, a Medal of Honor winner, got weathered in at Vance AFB, Okla., Col. Keeler flew up from San Antonio and on short notice gave a great address. Jack Powell took over as district chairman and presented a fine lineup for his committee.

Linda Atkins achieved the distinction of ranking 11th among all the hundreds in Texas who recently took the Texas Licensed Vocational Nurses examinations. All local applicants passed with flying colors.

Bert Andries was re-elected president of the Boys Club at its meeting last week. Operating out of temporary quarters, the club is planning on a capital campaign to provide a permanent home.

Rick Moses, associate minister at Fourteenth & Main Church of Christ, has gone a long way on a missions assignment. He's now in Australia, and among those he is assisting is his father-in-law.

A few weeks back Mrs. Ruby Billings decided to run through banking channels a check made out to her late brother, Roy Bell, and found in his safety-deposit box. She was curious because the check was dated 1921 and drawn on an Arkansas bank. She found out last week why the check was in the box — the signer had never had an account in the bank.

Speaking of money — Sheriff A. N. Standard last week warned that funny money was making the rounds. There was at least one bogus $20 bill turned up. That's puncturing the bubble, for most of us would like to feel a twenty, funny or not.

Parks Board To Consider Request For Park Funds

The parks and recreation board will meet Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Commission Room of City Hall to consider the feasibility of making application for matching funds to the Department of Housing and Urban Development to create parks in the city's low income areas. To automatically qualify for aid from HUD, an area must have a median annual income of $5,000 or less, and the city must agree to complete development of the park within one year.

The board will also hear a report on the activities and goals of the Big Spring Boys Club from the organization's president, Bert Andries, and a request from the Chamber of Commerce to name City Park, "Comanche Trail Park."

Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson and Parks Supt. John Johansen will report on the progress of the Airport School park project and the project at the "big spring." Jim Baum

Wildcat Wells Running Ahead

AUSTIN (A) — Wildcat oil and gas wells in Texas are running more than 100 each ahead of last year's drilling pace, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The commission said nine wildcat oil wells were drilled in the state during the past week, hiking the yearly total to 353, or 101 more than a year ago.

The new wildcats included three each in the Kilgore No. 6 and San Antonio No. 2 districts, and one each in the Houston, Corpus Christi and Wichita Falls districts.

Fourteen wildcat gas wells were drilled, including five in the Corpus Christi District, four in the San Antonio No. 2 District, two in the Kilgore No. 6 District and one each in the Houston, Kilgore No. 5 and Midland districts. That raised the total for the year to 575, or 176 more than a year ago.

The commission said 78 oil wells were completed during the week for a yearly total of 4,733, or 10 fewer than a year ago. A total of 36 gas wells were completed for a yearly total of 2,199, or 160 more than a year ago.

The commission said 196 wells were plugged during the week, including 47 dry holes.

Webb NCOs Help Many Projects Here

A young child walks with a lunch ticket, 16 children receive shoes, families are given baskets of food, and the American flag begins flying from homes.

These are the results of the Permian Chapter of the Non-Commissioned Officers Association (NCOA) in the last 22 months.

Besides these activities, the Webb AFB organization has provided Christmas parties for approximately 160 needy children and manned the Salvation Army kettles last year with plans to man them again this year.

The chapter is a patriotic, fraternal, social and benevolent organization. It was founded in February, 1968, when the charter was presented to M. Sgt. Charles Aggen, past chapter chairman, by the former C. M. Sgt. of the Air Force, C. M. Sgt. Paul Airey, during a visit to the base Oct. 17, 1968. The organization is designed to benefit the noncommissioned officer and his family. One of its programs is community welfare projects.

A campaign to fly the American flag was begun in 1968 when the chapter delivered and installed 500 flags with the intent that everyone would fly a flag every day that the weather permitted. The "fly a flag" campaign has continued through 1969 with an additional 400 American flags being sold, and will continue for the foreseeable future.

The chapter sponsored and built a float for the Dora Roberts Foundation and entered it in the 1968 United Fund parade. Members of the chapter rode on the float with patients of the clinic.

Working with the Big Spring Welfare Office, NCOA members purchased shoes for a needy family as well as providing 16 children with two pairs of shoes for the school year. The organization provided school lunches for a year for a needy child attending Airport Elementary School, and provided food baskets for 23 families identified by the welfare office in the last two years. Chapter members have committed themselves for 10 more baskets during the Christmas season.

CHARITABLE WORK—M. Sgt. Gordon Utz repairs a bicycle for the NCOA Christmas Party for underprivileged children.

In activities at the base, the chapter is sponsoring a Christmas party for children of chapter members at the NCO Open Mess. It also sponsors a Girl Scout troop, and established a program for awarding a steak dinner to the wing NCO and airman of the quarter.

During 1969, it has established and presented an award to the Big Spring High School football player who tried the hardest and gave his best during practices and scrimmages. This player is not necessarily a regular game participant, only a member of the squad.

On Armed Forces Day and Labor Day weekend, chapter and the Noncommissioned Officers Wives Club NCOWC, jointly operated food and beverage booths.

A Christmas party for 200 Big Spring welfare children is planned for Dec. 21. This year sufficient toys — including 12 bicycles and tricycles — have been collected and repaired and will be given to the 12 children from the largest families selected by the welfare office.

The joint NCOA and NCOWC 1969 Christmas party for children of the two organizations will also be held Dec. 21 in the NCO Open Mess.

The NCOA will also be the first organization to man the six Salvation Army cheer fund kettles for the entire day on Dec. 21. Approximately 132 men will be involved.

Lamesa Firm Sells Stock

LAMESA — With approval by the Texas Securities Commission, stock in the Plains Fruit & Vegetable Processors, Inc. for a potato processing company here are now on sale by prospectus only.

The first block of 20 shares went to M. J. Boever, Lamesa, service station operator whose efforts resulted in contacts which led to the location of the plant here. It was the gift of A. G. Waugh & Co. of Lamesa in appreciation for Boever's initial contact. Boever, in turn, purchased the next block of 20 shares to show his confidence in the enterprise.

The plant will be located in the former Henningson, Inc. facility and during the first year will be processing frozen potatoes. Within four years, according to Desmond Abbott, president of the processing company, the plant should have an annual payroll of $500,000.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: We recently moved to this town, bought a nice home in a good neighborhood and settled down to become a part of the community.

Now comes my problem: Last week, while shopping for the usual items one needs after a move, I foolishly laid my purse down on the counter to look at something, and in a matter of seconds, my purse was gone! The person who took it then hurried to another store where she was picked up for shoplifting. She refused to identify herself, so the police looked in the purse she was carrying and found MY identification. The next day the newspaper published the police report which stated that I had been arrested for shoplifting!

Abby, I told everyone I know how the mistake was made and thought they would surely believe me. I was wrong. Some of my neighbors are treating me very coldly and when I try to explain the circumstances to others, I get the impression they think I'm lying.

What can I do?

DISAPPOINTED IN PEOPLE
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: If your local newspaper has not published a CORRECTION of the error, they certainly should. And you have every right to insist upon it. In the meantime, hold your head high, and be aware that people are inclined to believe what they want to believe. And the "nice" people will give you the benefit of the doubt.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my daughter-in-law. I thought we were close up until a few months ago. (I hope I don't sound "catty," but now I suspect Zelda was so sweet to me because she didn't have a washer-dryer then, and also she used to complain a lot about how she hated to cook, and I would invite her and my son for supper nearly every night.)

Well, Zelda had a baby a few months ago and now everything is changed. This is our first grandchild so need I tell you how thrilled we are.

In the first place I practically have to have an "appointment" to see the baby. I am told what "hours" I should come, and if I drop in unexpectedly she won't even let me in the baby's room to look at her! Also she even tells me how to hold the baby. (Abby, I've had seven of my own, so I don't think I need any lessons.)

Don't tell me to wait until she brings the baby to ME. She brought her only once and she stayed exactly 21 minutes!

Please tell me what to do as I don't want to be a pushy mother-in-law, but I don't want my grandchild to grow up without being able to recognize me.

HURT IN BUFFALO
DEAR HURT: Don't DO anything. Be patient. Baby care is still a novelty to Zelda. In time the novelty will wear (and so will Zelda), and I'll bet you will see a good deal more of both of them.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

NIXON CONGRATULATES TEAM FOLLOWING DRAMATIC VICTORY

James Street Leads Longhorn Comeback

First downs	19	18

Return yards	47	142
Passes	6-10	14-22
Punts	2-3	7-31

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Gutty James Street booted 42 yards for a touchdown and pulled off a fantastic fourth down gamble Saturday to rally down ranked Texas to a 15-14 victory over number two rated Arkansas, giving the Longhorns the Southwest Conference championship, a Cotton Bowl berth and a possible national title.

backs had to settle for the bitter sweet consolation prize—a date with Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl.

The pulsating battle which saw Texas rally for 15 points in the final quarter after trailing 14-0 through three rugged quarters was witnessed by President Nixon, some 50 million persons on national television and a jammed 44,000 persons in Razorback Stadium.

TO MEET IRISH

Texas, now undefeated in its last 19 games, will meet Notre Dame New Year's Day in the Cotton Bowl. Street, a 175-lb senior quarterback, slapped Texas to life with a 42-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter when it appeared the Longhorns were destined to be defeated by the scrappy Razorbacks.

The winning touchdown was set up on a fourth and three situation at the Texas 43. Street called time out to discuss strategy with Texas coach Darrell Royal. The Longview, Tex., product faked into the line, dropped back and found end Randy Feschel behind Arkansas' Gary Moore. Feschel leaped and snared the ball before he tumbled out of bounds on the Arkansas 13.

Ted Koy bulled 11 yards and Jim Bertelsen crashed across for the tying score from two yards out with 3:58 to play. Happy Feller kicked the winning point.

Texas was presented a plaque from President Nixon designating it as the No. 1 team in the nation. However, the final Associated Press poll doesn't come out until after the bowl games.

President Nixon arrived shortly before kickoff and he missed a daring call by Arkansas coach Frank Broyles. The Razorbacks won the toss but decided to take a 10 mile per hour north wind and kick to the Longhorns, who had been averaging 376 yards per game on the ground.

Broyles' decision almost proved clairvoyant as Koy muffed a simple handoff on Texas' second play from scrimmage and Bobby Field pounced on the loose ball on the Texas 21.

BURNETT SCORES

On a third and ten situation, Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery rolled to his left and hit flanker John Rees for 20 yards. Billy Burnett twisted across from the one-yard line for the touchdown—the 20th of the year.

Montgomery, who hit 14 of 22 passes for 205 yards, nailed flanker Chuck Dicus for 29 yards and a touchdown in the third period following another Longhorn mistake. Terry Stewart had flopped on a fumble by Cotton Speyrer to set the Razorback drive in motion on the Arkansas 47.

Two interceptions hurt Arkansas in the waning moments.

Arkansas drove to the Texas seven-yard line with 10:30 to play in the fourth quarter but Danny Lester plucked off a Montgomery pass intended for Dicus. It was the first interception in 170 passes for Montgomery.

With less than a minute to play Tom Campbell intercepted another Montgomery pass as Arkansas drove for what it hoped would be a winning field goal.

The loss for the fiery Razorbacks was their first in 15 games.

They took the battle to the Longhorns from the outset urged on by the partisan crowd decked in red with their shrill soot-iii—eeee pig yells.

Arkansas went into the game leading the nation in defense against scoring, allowing only 6.8 points per game.

The slippery Dicus caught nine passes against the Texas defense for 146 yards.

Arkansas had one touchdown pass of 28 yards to Dicus called back because Rees was flagged down for offensive interference.

Stout Steve Worster, the full-back in Royal's wishbone T tri-back option, carried 25 times for 84 hard yards against the adrenalin-charged Razorback defense.

TWO INTERCEPTIONS

Street was forced to go to the air ten times and had two passes plucked off by the Arkansas defense. Uncharacteristically for a Royal-coached team, Texas lost the ball four times on fumbles.

Bill Burnett was the workhorse in the Arkansas attack, carrying 19 times for 82 yards. Arkansas' All-America line-back Cliff Powell was in on 21 tackles to lead a fierce Arkansas defense.

President After Job?

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—President Nixon turned football critic at halftime of the Arkansas-Texas football game here Saturday and jokingly applied for a job.

The chief executive, asked by ABC television sportscaster Chris Schenkel to assay the situation while Arkansas led 7-0, said he thought the final outcome would depend on whether the "stronger bench" of the top-ranked Longhorns could win in the last quarter.

"Mr. President," replied Schenkel, "if Bud Wilkinson, our analyst, falters we conceivably may call on you to do a commentary."

"Excellent," Nixon said. Then he added: "I'm not thinking, Chris, of what I'm going to do when I finish my present job, but there's nothing I'd like better than to have Bud's job right now."

Nixon, a bench-warmer at Whittier College years ago, arrived a few minutes late by helicopter from Fort Smith, where he had landed in Air Force One on a flight from Washington.

"This is the first game I've seen this year in college football and I'm glad it's the greatest game of the year," he said.

Arkansas, ranked second in Texas, displayed more offensive prowess than he imagined the Razorbacks would have, Nixon said at intermission, and Texas looked like it had power that had not been "fully unleashed."

Nixon came to award a plaque to the winner of the game as the nation's top college football team.

Snyder Lamar Is Junior Champion

In a game that went right down to the wire, Snyder Lamar edged Snyder Lamar, 34-32, in the ninth grade finals of the annual Big Spring Junior High Basketball tournament here Saturday night.

The score was tied at 30-30 with 4:20 to go. Travis then went ahead by two points but Fred Liner of Lamar tied it with a two-pointer, with 40 seconds to go. Jimmy Dyess won the game with a field goal at the buzzer. Lamesa smashed the Big Spring Toros, 58-27, in the consolation trophy in the Big Spring Junior High Basketball Tournament at the Steer gymnasium Saturday afternoon with a 58-47 conquest of Sweetwater.

The ninth grade Edison team initially dropped into the loser's bracket when Snyder Lamar spanked it, 51-38, Friday night. Edison came back Saturday morning to rock the Big Spring Brahmas, 72-52, to qualify for the consolation game.

Sweetwater, meanwhile, opened tournament play by falling, 60-44, to Snyder Lamar Friday night. It toppled Colorado City, 49-40, Saturday morning for the consolation prize.

Odessa Wranglers Nip Hawks For 3rd Place

ODESSA — Odessa College edged Howard County, 85-83, for third place in the annual Odessa Chamber of Commerce Basketball tournament here Saturday night.

The game was decided in overtime after a last second shot by George Tilley of the Hawks had tied the count in regulation play at 79-79, sending it into overtime. The Big Spring team never led in the overtime.

The loss was the second in two nights for Howard County and left it with an 8-3 record. The Hawks open Western Conference play Tuesday night at home against Amarillo College and return to Odessa next Friday for another league bout.

Jerry Phillips and Glen Fletcher led HC in scoring with 17 points each while Danny Clendenin chipped in 15.

Odessa was paced by Kenneth Davis, who connected for 18. Wayne Allen and Fred Hunter each counted 16.

Howard County lost a heart-breaker to Christian College of the Southwest, 116-114, in an overtime period Friday night. HCJC missed a shot in the final few seconds of play of the regulation game that would have given it the win.

The Hawks led by a point in the last few seconds of the overtime but CCSW's Lowell Hill made a three-pointer which turned the tide.

Cleve Carter had put the Hawks ahead with a pair of free tosses before Hill came back with his three-pointer.

Ray Goslon led the Dallas team with 34 points while Danny Clendenin, playing perhaps his greatest game ever, tossed in 32 for the Hawks. Jerry Phillips counted 23 and Sammy James 21 for the Big Springers.

HCJC boasted a 54-51 edge at half time.

It was Goslon who forced the game into overtime by sinking one of two gratis piches with 45 seconds remaining.

Cisco staged an unbelievable comeback in the last two seconds to topple Odessa College, 81-80, in the other semifinal test.

Third place game: ODESSA (85) — Davis 9-22; Thomas 1-0-2; Allen 7-14; Alvey 3-4-10; Lendorf 1-4-6; Campbell 0-1-1; Hunter 6-15; Steinkling 3-0-4; Romero 1-0-2. Totals 33-19-65.

HCJC (83) — Fletcher 8-19; Phillips 7-17; James 3-0-6; Tilley 4-0-4; Clendenin 7-3-17; Perez 1-0-2; Pillion 3-0-6; Corrier 1-0-2; York 2-2-4. Totals 36-11-83. Half time score — HCJC 36, Odessa 31.

Lockney Is Triumphant

PLAINVIEW — Lockney, coached by ex-Big Spring Jimmy Marcus, upset Big Spring, 65-46, in the second round of the Plainview Basketball tournament here Friday.

The defeat left Big Spring with a 3-7 record. The Longhorns return to play against Sweetwater in Big Spring Tuesday night.

HCJC missed a shot in the final few seconds of play of the regulation game that would have given it the win.

The Hawks led by a point in the last few seconds of the overtime but CCSW's Lowell Hill made a three-pointer which turned the tide.

Cleve Carter had put the Hawks ahead with a pair of free tosses before Hill came back with his three-pointer.

Houston Its Own Worst Enemy In Jet Defeat victory over the Houston Oilers and nail down the Eastern Division championship in the American Football League.

Joe Namath threw two touchdown passes for the Jets but it was the New York defense that smashed the hopes of the Oilers club that, with one game to play, still has a chance to enter the AFL playoff as the Eastern runner-up.

An interception and a fumble gave the Jets a 14-0 lead after only 3 minutes and 32 seconds of play and another interception made it 21-0 before the Oilers could start moving behind Bob Davis, a third-year quarterback understudy who was activated off the taxi squad only on Thursday.

Davis cut the Jet lead to 21-10 at halftime but New York pulled away again at 34-10 before a pair of late fourth period Houston touchdowns and two-point conversions gave the Oilers a chance for a tie as the final seconds ticked away.

After the final Houston touchdown, the Oilers recovered an on sides kick at the New York 43 but four passes fell incomplete and New York took over with two seconds to play.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Irish Wanted Miami Bid

By TOMMY HART

The Midland school trustees gave Midland director of athletics Tugboat Jones and his two head coaches, Larry Click and Willie Brooks, a warning of sorts recently by extending them a vote of confidence and offering to share the blame for the low level of the community's football fortunes.

Brooks and Lee absorbed most of the criticism for the "total disaster" that struck the Rebels — they lost ten games.

ED SPARLING

Brownwood assistant who has spurned several offers to become a head coach, is given much of the credit for the Lions' football successes. . . . They say his ability to read enemy plays is uncanny. . . . Floyd Patterson apparently is through with the ring and plans to become an innkeeper in Sweden, where he is living with his wife and two daughters. . . . Patterson took more than $7 million out of the ring game. . . . Jerry Hale, the former UT-El Paso basketball coaching aide, is now head mentor at Southern Idaho Junior College. . . . He succeeded at El Paso by Ed Sparling, who in 1965-66 guided Burlington, Iowa, to a first place rating in National Juco ratings and whose record as a head coach is 248-88. . . . Sparling brought with him a 6-7 boy named Dick Gibbs who is supposed to have been the best low cager in the past 20 years. . . . He played for Ames High School. . . . Andrew Pettis, the former New Mexico JC basketball phenom, is currently a starter for the University of Oklahoma Sooners. . . . Notre Dame first lusted for the Orange Bowl, where more money was available, but the Miami people chose Missouri at the last minute, so the Irish took the Cotton Bowl bid rather than return to New Orleans, where they had appeared earlier this year against Tulane. . . . The Orange Bowl promoters found Notre Dame's availability tempting but they had a long and prosperous association with the Big Eight and decided to make sure that it endured. . . . Missouri Coach Dan Devine, whose Tigers beat Michigan early in the year, says that the Wolverines probably could beat Ohio State nine times in ten tries. . . . "They'll do great in the Rose Bowl," he predicted.

Arnold Palmer has told intimates his ailing hip may never get well. . . . The best looking girls who follow college football teams come from Miami, SMU and Alabama. . . . So says Andy Sidaris, director for ABC-TV's football Saturdays, who frequently has his cameramen seek out the dollies for filming. . . . Jacksonville (Fla.) University has two cagers seven feet tall or more — Artie Gilmore and Pembroke Burrows III. . . . With eight choices in the first five rounds, the San Francisco 49ers figure to benefit most in the next football draft. . . . The U.S. Naval Academy, with tough schedules booked through 1980, will put renewed effort in recruiting football talent. . . . Bobby Evans, one of the freshman basketball players at UT-Austin, played the game in Japan last year. . . . Waco Richfield, which had its problems with Big Spring in the recent Abilene Basketball tournament, won seven of its first nine starts, including two over Austin Reagan. . . . When ex-Stanton mentor Doyle Edmiston departed the Richfield job for Lubbock High, he was replaced by Lee Yearwood. . . . More and more communities are becoming disenchanted with the idea of bidding for smaller school playoff football games because the superintendents of the competing schools (not the coaches) are becoming increasingly hard to deal with. . . . Some of them act as if they want to impress everyone in sight just who is in charge of the operation. . . . Such men become the despair of their coaches, who suffer in silence. . . . In that recent NBA fight between Boston's Larry Siegfried and Philadelphia's Wally Jones, Larry tried to remove Jones' mustache and Wally retaliated by taking a bite out of Siegfried's shooting hand. . . . Only Notre Dame has sent more football players into pro football than Grambling, a Negro college in Louisiana. . . . Look for Texas A&M back Larry Stegert to go high in the football draft. . . . He'll play in three post-season games. . . . Mike Heitman, captain of the A&M basketball team, is a full-time student in the College of Veterinary Medicine. . . . I understand the Big Ten will shortly revoke its "no return" rule which it applies to the Rose Bowl game, which means the champion will be able to go out there every year.

basketball victory over the inspired Minnesota Gophers Saturday.

The Bruins sent the game into overtime when Sidney Wicks tipped in a shot with two seconds to play to tie the game at 68-68.

The Gophers, who led UCLA by as many as seven points with almost six minutes to play, had the ball with 23 seconds remaining in the regulation, but Larry Mikán threw the ball out of bounds on an attempted pass to Larry Overskel.

John Vallely, leading UCLA with 21 points, scored the first overtime basket with 4:50 remaining. Ollie Shannon, Minnesota's leading scorer with 29 points, hit a jump shot at 1:27 and sank a free throw as the Gophers took a 71-70 lead.

Both teams missed shots before Bibby connected, and Shannon missed a jump shot attempt from the free throw line with ten seconds left to play.

UCLA won its second game of the season, while the Gophers dropped to 1-2 in the game that was tied 12 times and saw the lead change hands 22 times.

Reagan County Falls To Hawks

LUBBOCK — Jeff McDonald, breaking loose for an 87-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter, propelled Iowa Park to a 14-7 football victory over Reagan County here Friday night.

The win in the crucial Class AA quarter finals, advanced the Hawks to the state's semi-finals for the second straight year in a row. They will play Jacksboro Friday night.

The game was played in 40 degree weather with a 25-mile north wind sweeping across the soggy turf. McDonald, on his game winning TD run, struggled goalward in the face of the wind.

Reagan County fell behind 14-0 following McDonald's run. The Owls, forced to take to the air in desperation, retaliated with a two-yard pass from Joe Barnes to Blake Kohutek for six points. Larry Nunnally tacked on the conversion boot. The strong defensive efforts of Iowa Park, however, would relinquish no more points.

Iowa Park scored first in the opening quarter when McDonald tallied on a 12-yard run. Jerry Pittman kicked two extra points for the Hawks.

Special Dunces Is Sunland Favorite

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — The sixth running of the Sunland Park Thoroughbred Futurity, the major event of the season for two-year-olds, highlights today's final program of the 27-day fall meeting.

A strong field of juveniles, numbering an even dozen, will contest the six furlong attraction which is expected to purse approximately $35,000 in prize money. An excellent supporting card was also drawn for Sunday. The first of $2 races will be sent off at 1:30 p.m.

Buster Phipps' record-holding Special Dunces appears the likely favorite in the Futurity despite facing one of the toughest tests of his brilliant career. The powerful colt earned a share of Sunland's six furlong track record in his first start this season while disposing of his rivals by 11 lengths.

HPC Rolls Over Bishop College

BROWNWOOD — Howard Payne clinched its sixth straight basketball victory of the 1969-70 campaign with a 102-87 win over Bishop College of Dallas here Friday night.

Fred Davis paced the Yellow-jackets with 27 points. Also contributing to the win were David Jones, former Stanton athlete, and Tom Jones, former Crane High basketball standout. Tom finished with nine points and David dropped in three points.

Willie Collins sparked the visitors with 30 points to take scoring honors.

Lubbock Quints Win At Slaton

SLATON — Two Lubbock quintets advanced to the semi-finals of the Slaton basketball tournament here Friday night.

Defending champion Dunbar scored with five seconds remaining to tip upstart Brownfield, 58-56. Meanwhile, Estacado breezed to a 76-53 triumph over Colorado City.

LIBERTY BELLE—Judith Ann Rost, a senior at the University of Mississippi, was chosen Miss Liberty Bowl Friday night. The brown-haired lass from Highland, Ind., will be the official hostess for the Dec. 13 Liberty Bowl football game between Alabama and Colorado.

Stock Car Season Ends; $93,000 Is At Stake

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Weather permitting, NASCAR winds up its 1969 Grand National stock car season Sunday with its first venture into Texas and a money winning title at stake.

The finale, the Texas 500, unfolds over the new $8 million Texas International Speedway, which has been plagued the last couple of days by rain.

Before the rains came, however, Charlotte's Buddy Baker streaked to a qualifying speed of 176.285 miles an hour in his Dodge Charger Daytona to win the pole position. "All I did was give the guys the knowledge of what they'll have to do to run with me on race day," Baker said.

"Any one of 12 guys could be the favorite. We think we're all favorites."

The $93,000 Texas 500 features a money winning duel between Ford Torino drivers David Pearson and LeRoy Yarborough, two of the NASCAR circuit's premiere competitors.

Pearson, who already has captured the Grand National Championship, trails Yarborough in record earnings, $182,200 to $187,230.

A victory by Yarborough, who has been the scourge of the super speedways such as this, would be worth $15,900 and a lock on the money crown. A Pearson triumph would give him the title.

Rookie Jimmy Thomas Is Star In 49er Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie running back Jimmy Thomas exploded for two 75-yard touchdowns and Bill Tucker added three more scores, leading the San Francisco 49ers to a 42-21 NFL victory over the Chicago Bears Saturday.

Thomas, a 22-year-old speedster from Texas-Arlington, first scored near the end of the second quarter when he broke through the left side of the Chicago line, shot past Chicago cornerback Joe Taylor and safety Dick Daniels and dashed 75 yards to the end zone.

It was the longest 49er run from scrimmage in 11 years, but Thomas was far from through.

In the third period, Steve Spurrier replaced John Brodie as the 49er quarterback when Brodie suffered a slight strain in his left knee. On his first play, Spurrier was hit 10 yards behind the line by the Bears, but then he threw a short toss over the middle and Thomas caught it at the 50.

Again, the rookie outraced the Chicago defenders to the goal line, scoring another 75 yard touchdown.

Kennel Club Sets Show

Webb AFB has been chosen as the site for the Big Spring Kennel Club's all-breed dog show and obedience trial, scheduled for Jan. 17, 1970.

The show, certified by the American Kennel Club and supervised by Jack Onofrio Dog Shows, Oklahoma City, Okla., will bring dogs from across the nation here to compete for ribbons and trophies.

It will also attract eight judges from various parts of the country. One judge is coming from Canada.

There will be six groups and dozens of classes for the dogs to enter. In the sporting group, such breeds as retrievers, setters and spaniels of all types will be entered. Basset hounds, Beagles and Dachshunds are included in the hound group.

In the third group — working dogs — Boxers, Collies, Sheep dogs and Doberman Pinschers will be entered. Irish, Fox and Scottish terriers will predominate in the terrier group.

Included in the toy group will be Chihuahuas, Pekingese and poodles. The final group — non-sporting — will have Boston Terriers, Bulldogs and Dalmatians, among others, entered.

Many other breeds are expected in all the groups. Besides competing for variety group prizes, the dogs may win best of breed and best of variety of breed prizes. Also awarded will be puppy class prizes. The dog selected the over-all best in show will receive a 48-inch trophy offered by the New Car Dealer's Association of Big Spring and a rosette, offered by the Big Spring Kennel Club.

Dozens of area merchants, corporations and clubs have offered to sponsor further trophies and awards.

A fee of $7 will be charged for all first entries in the show except in the puppy and novice classes, which will charge a $5 entry fee. The entry of the same dog in other classes will mean an additional $4 per entry. Entries close at noon, Jan. 6, 1969.

The show hours will be at 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. in the hangar building at the base.

Eagles Set Mark In Downing Waco

WACO — The Abilene High School Eagles set a new team scoring record in pasting Waco Moore, 116-65 here Friday night in the opening round of the Waco Basketball Tournament.

The previous Abilene team scoring mark was 115. It was established when the Eagles drubbed Fort Worth Diamond Hill in 1965. The win was Abilene's seventh in a row and brought its season standard to 8-1.

Among the favorites are Dodge driver Bobby Isaacs, a 16-race winner this year, and Cale Yarborough, the Mercury Cyclone ace, whose forte is winning on the super speedways.

Other top contenders include Dodge drivers Richard Brickhouse, Bobby Allison, Ray Elder, Dave Marcis and James Hylton; Ford's Donnie Allison and Plymouth Speedster Richard Brooks.

By TOMMY HART
An erring pass and quarterback Jimmy Carmichael's ability to confuse the foe with variations of the bootleg play enabled favored Brownwood to bruise by Monahans, 28-13, in a Class AAA state quarterfinal football game here Friday night.

An estimated 6,500 fans were in the stands, the majority of them from Monahans and environs. The expected Brownwood delegation didn't arrive, probably because it rained hard in that city Friday and its football buffs assumed it was pouring down here, too.

A fairly heavy mist started falling about 7:30 p.m. and endured until shortly after the kickoff, when it stopped completely. The rains came back anew as the fans were filing out of the stands. The condition of the turf remained good, however.

Brownwood deserved the win, although the score was tied at the half, 7-7. The Lions struck for two touchdowns in Round Three and then scored matching TD's with the desperate Lobos in the final canto.

Whitlock Leads T-Bird Scoring

HOBBS, N.M. — New Mexico J.C., one of the entries in the annual Odessa College Basketball tournament this weekend, has won three of its first five starts.

The Thunderbirds routed College of Artesia in their last assignment, 103-85. The game was played in Artesia.

Danny Whitlock remains the T-Bird scoring leader with a 13-point average.

Baylor Moves Up In Scoring Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Laker forward Elgin Baylor, not yet fully recovered from a groin injury that kept him out of eight games, grabbed his 11,000th career rebound early in the first period of Friday night's game with the Detroit Pistons.

Baylor, by taking his 164th rebound of the season in his 17th game, came within reach of the No. 4 man on the National Basketball Association all-time list — Dolph Shayes with 11,256.

Monahans ran well against Brownwood, piling up a total of 193 yards lugging the mail, yet it could push across only one touchdown on the ground.

TIGHTLY KNIT
The Lobos lined their backs in closely behind the primary in a manner reminiscent of some of Carl Coleman's old Big Spring clubs here in the early '50's. Brownwood had its problems picking up the runner for a while but the linebackers then started jamming up everything that exploded out the middle.

Monahans completed only two passes and one of those proved disastrous — for it went to deep man Perry Young of Brownwood, who took it at the Lobo 24 and raced untouched to the first score of the game. That occurred with 10:31 to go in the second period. Rodney Folsom booted the PAT to make it 7-0.

Monahans got on the board with a 77-yard drive just before the half ended when fullback Charles Murphy bolted over from less than a yard away. The Big Green used up 5:01 minutes in the surge and moved in with only 34 seconds left in the first half. Mark Strawn, most effective in the drive with his outside running, kicked the point to make it 7-7.

Tailback James Thompson sprinted 2 yards with 9:29 to go in the third to give Brownwood a lead it never lost. Thompson swept the end for the tally. The six-pointer came at the end of a 43-yard drive that used up four plays. Folsom missed his point try after that one but it didn't matter.

SCORES AGAIN
With 16 seconds left in the third, Thompson counted again from one-yard out at the end of a 91-yard march. A pass from Carmichael to Kenny Ephram, who had isolated himself directly in front of the thrower, provided two extra points and Brownwood led, 21-7.

In the fourth, Carmichael climaxed a fine evening by going over from 28 yards out on a bootleg play, beating the converging Lobos to the flag. The Lions needed six plays to go 72 yards in that series of maneuvers, going in with 8:10 left in the game. Folsom's kicking try for point was good and Brownwood's lead mounted to 28-7.

Monahans beat the clock to count its second touchdown. QB Mike Jernigan, who had retired for a while in favor of Doug Huckabee, came back in to throw to Strawn for the score, the play covering 45 yards. When Strawn scooted in, only 46 seconds of play remained.

The drive ate up 63 yards and netted five plays. Strawn tried a half back pass for the two extra points but it was nowhere near the receiver.

Shortly before Brownwood launched its second touchdown drive, the Lions suffered a damaging blow when tackle Bert Molina injured his leg and had to be carried from the field. Brownwood thus proceeds to the semifinal round against Bonham with a 9-3 record and convinced more than a few that it will now stampeede to the crown. If its title bid is successful, it will mark the sixth time coach Wood has guided a team to the throne room.

Score by quarters:
Brownwood 0 7 14 7—28
Monahans 0 7 0 6—13

The Class AAA semifinal bracket was completed Friday night.

Brownwood, which last week defeated defending champion Lubbock Estacado, downed Monahans 28-13 and will play Bonham in one semifinal match. Bonham whipped Ennis 20-6.

West Columbia and Belton collide in the other semifinal. West Columbia advanced on the narrowest of margins, defeating Brenham on first downs 12-10 after the game ended in a 6-6 tie. Belton defeated Kerrville Tivy 28-16.

In Class AA, second ranked Iowa Park moved a step closer to a showdown with Lufkin Dunbar with a 14-7 victory over Reagan County. Jeff McDonald ran 87 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter to highlight the defensive battle.

Iowa Park's semifinal foe will be Jacksboro, which nipped Gladewater 9-7. Klein advanced to the semifinals with a 35-14 victory over Hondo.

In Class A games Friday, Honey Grove whipped DelLeon 26-7 and second-ranked Poth used a bruising ground game to down Schulenburg 21-6.

White Oak, top-rated in Class A most of the season, lost the ball three times in the final six minutes to Mart, twice on fumbles and once on a pass interception, to erase hope of a comeback.

Louis Thornton and Calvin Jones scored Mart's touchdowns, each on a one-yard plunge. Jones' dash was the clincher in the fourth quarter.

Chiefs Could Play Without Dawson

By The Associated Press
Len Dawson's status was questionable, but Daryle Lamonica's wasn't as the Kansas City Chiefs and Oakland Raiders headed into Sunday's action still in the Western Division crown and the soft touch of the American Football League playoffs.

The Chiefs last week returned the left knee that kept him out of action earlier in the season, remained a question-mark in the playoffs, in second place with a 10-2 record, prepared to meet the Buffalo Bills at Kansas City.

If Dawson can't go, Mike Livingston will as he did before, but he'll be Lamonica for the Raiders as they seek to maintain their hold on the top spot by adding to their 10-1 record at home against Cincinnati.

PERSONAL TARGET
Lamonica, meanwhile, has a personal target to shoot at—the pro record for touchdowns in a season. With 30, Lamonica has two games in which to tie or break the record of 36 held by teammate George Blanda in the AFL and Y.A. Tittle of the New York Giants in the National League.

Both the Chiefs and the Raiders, who meet head-on next Saturday in the regular season finale, have qualified for the post-season playoffs, but are anxious to take the Western title—both for prestige and because it will put them in against the East's second-place team in the playoffs.

In the unique AFL playoff system tried for the first time this season, the first-place team in each division must be the second-place finisher in the other, the survivors moving on to the AFL championship game and a shot at a Super Bowl berth.

While Oakland and Kansas City have been rated rather evenly in the West there is considerable drop-off in the East after the front-running Jets, affording the Western champion a considerably easier opening playoff game, on paper at least.

The Eastern Division leading Jets, needing a tie or victory to clinch the crown, opened weekend action Saturday night at Houston, with the Oilers also needing a victory or a tie to nail second place and the last playoff spot over Boston and Buffalo.

The Patriots, currently tied with the Bills at 4-8, are at San Diego in one of Sunday's two other games. The other show is Denver at Miami.

Dawson missed five games early in the season with a partly torn ligament and reinjured it last Sunday in a 31-17 victory over Denver. He worked out with the club in mid-week but avoided any sharp cutting and was not optimistic about his chances of playing.

The Chiefs, however, with a defense that has allowed the least points in the league, 148, and has intercepted a league-leading 30 passes, should be able to handle the Bills, despite a late surge that has brought them two victories in the last three games.

The Raiders, meanwhile, have been relaying mostly on Lamonica's unerring touchdown tosses, which have produced twin league leaders in that department from the Raiders—Warren Wells and Fred Biletnikoff.

Toros, Las Vegas Tangle Tonight

SAN ANTONIO — Indianapolis is the Eastern champion, after a brilliant 27-7 upset victory over defending league champion Orlando. San Antonio and Las Vegas clash here tonight for the Western championship of the Continental Football League.

Las Vegas enter the championship semi-finals as the Pacific Division titlist after dumping Sacramento 31-0 in a playoff Saturday. San Antonio repeated as the Texas Division titlist by downing Texarkana 20-7 the same night.

The winner will go on to meet Indianapolis for the Continental League title, December 13.

HAROLD JONES

Ex-Steer Now At Yankton

Harold (Pee Wee) Jones, 235 lb. tackle from Big Spring, played a major role with the Yankton (South Dakota) College Greyhounds in winning the Tri-State conference football championship with an 8-1 season record the past season.

Jones was one of four junior college transfers cited by Coach Don Birmingham as making the Yankton offensive line the best in the league. Sharp offensive line play made the big difference as the Greyhounds came back from a 2-6-1 record in 1968.

Jones transferred to the South Dakota College from Ranger Junior College. He received honorable mention on the all-conference team this year. He resides at 1001 NW 4th St., Big Spring.

Ram-Viking Skirmish Highlights NFL Play

By The Associated Press Unbeaten Los Angeles and streaking Minnesota, two tough, tough clubs whose defensive lines like to meet at the quarterback, clash Sunday in the big preview of the Dec. 27 National Football League's Western title game.

The Rams (11-0) and the Vikings (10-1), winners of 10 straight since their opening day upset in New York, will play before about 79,000 in the Los Angeles Coliseum which has been sold out for more than a month.

Both teams already have clinched their division titles and are snuffing the Super Bowl cash that could be in the offing. With pride and winning streaks at stake, the collision should provide a yardstick to measure the teams for their big date three weeks later.

Minnesota comes off an impressive 27-0 win in the snow at Detroit Thanksgiving Day. Los Angeles' last outing was a 24-13 victory in Washington.

The Rams' Fearsome Four- some leads the NFL in quarterback dumps with 47 for 370 yards and the Vikings' Purple Gang is close behind with 45 for 371 yards. Minnesota has more trouble protecting Joe Kapp than the Los Angeles Rams in building a pocket for Roman Gabriel.

Minnesota's league-leading defense, is first in pass interceptions with 25, but Los Angeles Gabriel has been intercepted only three times, low in the league.

Dallas (8-2-1) the only division leader that has not nailed down the title, gets a chance to wrap it up against Pittsburgh (1-10), a team with a 10-game losing streak. A win or a Washington loss or tie would clinch the Capitol Division for the Cowboys who are supposed to have Ralph Neely, Jethro Pugh and Pettis Norman back in action at Pittsburgh.

Cleveland (8-2-1), Century Division winner which has a Dec. 28 Eastern Conference title date in the park of the Capitol winner, will be at home against Green Bay (6-5), a team it has not beaten since 1956. The Packers have won six in a row from the Browns in that streak but go in underdogs with Bart Starr out for the year and young Don Florn at the controls.

LIONS PLAY COLTS Detroit (7-4) will be at Baltimore (7-4) with Bill Munson a possible quarterback starter for the Lions due to Greg Landry's damaged shoulder. The Colts are resigned to finishing second but Coach Don Shula expects no showdown with the Lions, Cowboys and Rams still ahead.

Washington (5-4-2), still clinging to that last distant hope of catching the Cowboys, will be at Philadelphia (4-6-1), hoping to do better than their Nov. 9 tie, 28-28, set up on a costly pass interference call against the skins. Tom Woodeshick, who missed last week's game due to a death in the family, rejoins the Eagles.

New Orleans (4-7) puts its three-game win streak on the line at Atlanta (3-8) in the battle for the championship of the south. In their only previous regular season meeting in 1967, the Saints won 27-24.

Chicago played at San Francisco Saturday afternoon.

Marathon Takes Regional Title

MARATHON - Marathon High School, rolling to its 19th consecutive victory, successfully defended its Region One six-man football title here Friday night. The Marathon team, coached by Bill Allen, swamped Lueders Avoca, 59-13, to gain the title. The game was called with two minutes to play because of a point rule. The tilt ended the season for both teams since six-man teams do not play beyond the regional level.

Pete Rose's .348 Tops In Circuit

CINCINNATI (AP) - The National League made it official Saturday that Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds was the 1969 batting champion with an average of .348. It was the second straight batting title for Rose and he thus became the third player in the last decade to do a repeat act for the championship. Tommy Davis, then with the Los Angeles Dodgers, won in 1962 and 1963 and Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates led the hitters in 1964 and 1965. Clemente also was the top batter in 1967. Clemente finished three percentage points behind Rose in 1969 with an average of .345. The official averages also confirmed that Pittsburgh nosed out Cincinnati for the team batting title. The Pirates wound up with an average of .2767 while the Reds finished at .2765. The world champion New York Mets did no better than a lie with San Francisco for seventh in hitting with a .242 mark. They also had only one hitter among the top 15 individuals. That was Cleon Jones who was third with .340. The Reds had five players in the top 15. Besides Rose, they were Alex Johnson, since traded to California of the American League, sixth with .315; Bobby Tolan, ninth at .305; Tony Perez, 14th at .294 and Johnny Bench, tied with Chicago's Billy Williams at .293. The Pirates placed three in the top 15. To provide some proof that hitting increased, the figures showed 12 players finished at 300 or better and in 1968 there were only five. Willie McCovey of San Francisco was the league's top power hitter for the second straight year. He led in home runs with 45 and in runs batted in with 126. Matty Alou of the Pirates led in hits with 231, singles with 183 and doubles with 41. Clemente was the leader in triples with 12. For the fourth straight year, Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals topped all players in stolen bases with 53. Maury Wills, who played for both Montreal and Los Angeles, once the top base stealer, had the dubious distinction of being caught stealing the most times. He was cut down 21 times.

SECTION I The City Commission of the City of Big Spring hereby finds and determines: (a) That by Ordinance duly adopted and approved on June 11, 1969, the City of Big Spring did determine the necessity for and order the permanent improvement of various streets and avenues and portions thereof as particularly described and set forth in said ordinance and did thereby order and direct the City Engineer to forthwith prepare and file with the City Commission complete plans and specifications for such improvements; and that pursuant to such directions the City Engineer has filed with the City Commission plans and specifications for said improvements, which have been duly approved and adopted by the City Commission; and (b) That pursuant to direction of said City Commission, advertisement for bids for construction of said improvements, as required by law, was published and hereafter, at the time and place in such advertisement stated, bids were received and opened in public meeting of said City Commission, whereupon the bid of W. D. Caldwell, Inc. for the construction of said improvements was found and determined to be the lowest and most advantageous bid for said work and improvements, and said bid of W. D. Caldwell, Inc. was accepted; and (c) That said W. D. Caldwell, Inc. executed a performance bond together with a surety, all pursuant to their bid proposal and in accordance with the specifications and notice for bids and other proceedings of the City Commission, all in the form and manner as approved by the City Attorney, and such contract and performance bond has been executed and confirmed by the City Commission, and it was found that said contract and performance bond are all in due and proper form and order, and that the same is hereby approved as heretofore taken, in all things such as heretofore and confirmed. SECTION II That the Commission of the City of Big Spring, Texas, has and does hereby amend the Contract #84 with W. D. Caldwell, Inc. for the construction of said improvements and improvements for said amount by adding to said contract the units and streets listed on Exhibit A which is attached hereto and made a part of this ordinance for all purposes and eliminating and deleting from said contract the units and streets listed in Exhibit B attached and made a part of this contract for the purpose of dissolving the paving assessments against these eliminated units and further authorizing the Mayor of the City of Big Spring to execute releases of the paving assessment liens, together with interest thereon. The City Secretary is hereby directed to cause this ordinance to be filed in the Deed Records of Howard County as evidence of the authorization for the execution and delivery of the releases of such paving assessment liens. SECTION III The Mayor and City Secretary of the City of Big Spring, Texas, are hereby authorized, empowered and directed to execute a change order on said contract in the name of said City and accept the bond which has been previously approved by the City Commission of the City of Big Spring, Texas, attesting the same in proper form with the seal of the City of Big Spring. SECTION IV That there is hereby appropriated the sum of $44,495.49 to pay the City's portion of the cost of said improvements on said streets within the limits defined or so much thereof as may be necessary to appraise and discharge the obligations to the City of Big Spring on said contract. SECTION V That the written statement of the City Engineer showing the estimated cost of improvements on said streets have been received and examined by the City Commission, the same is hereby approved and adopted. A true and correct copy of the written statement of estimates is as follows: SECTION VI The City Secretary shall cause such notices to be mailed as soon as practicable after the passage hereof, and shall, in such manner and form as he deems appropriate and sufficient, make and preserve a written record sufficient to evidence the fact and date of the mailing of such notice to the said respective property owners, the names and mailing addresses to which such notices were addressed for want of proper names, dresses, etc., and any other information pertinent to the effort made to give to each of the owners of said abutting property actual notice of the public hearing to be held on or after the date hereinafter specified. SECTION VII That any ordinances or proceedings heretofore enacted by the City Commission of the City of Big Spring, Texas, in conflict herewith are hereby expressly rescinded and repealed. SECTION IX THE FACT THAT the aforementioned additional streets and avenues, or portions thereof, are needed for the health and safety of the public are endangered, and where a great public necessity exists for improvement of such streets and avenues to eliminate dust and stagnant water and dangerous traffic conditions, and where such necessity creates an emergency, and an imperative public necessity that the Charter Rule requiring that ordinances be read at three separate meetings of the City Commission be suspended and said rule is hereby suspended and this ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its passage and publication as required by law. PASSED AND APPROVED of a regular meeting of the City Commission on this 25th day of November, 1969, with all members present voting "aye" for the passage of same. J. ARNOLD MARSHALL, Mayor. Attest: CHAS. H. SMITH, City Secretary.

COUNTY HAS SPENT $27,688 IN LAST TWO YEARS FOR RURAL STATIONS

Adequate Rural Fire Protection Is Questioned

By TERRY HOPKINS
Last week's $30,000 fire at Southwest Industries Co. has caused considerable discussion among Howard County Commissioners who seem to generally agree that something must be done to improve fire protection in the rural area. Specifically, no action has been taken, and brief suggestions have not received attention.

Monday's meeting of the commissioners brought more than one comment about the previous arrangement with the city three years ago in a contractual agreement to fight county fires. Opposition to renewing such an arrangement seemed to stem from the liability involved and Judge Porter explained Wednesday that liability insurance is just not available for operation of fire equipment under such a contract.

"When we hire the city to fight our fires, they still own the trucks and pay the firemen," he said. "No one will insure the county for liability on trucks it does not own or men it does not hire." He said this was the problem brought to light with the 1967 accident which seriously injured two Big Spring firemen on their way to fight a county fire.

"We had to pay all those accident bills," the judge said, "and I just won't ask taxpayers to support an unlimited liability like that again." He added that when the accident occurred, within the city limits, that the city would assume no responsibility for the damages since the truck involved was headed to a county fire.

As a result of that accident and the ensuing bills, the Howard County Commissioners Court went into the fire fighting business in 1967 and it has since cost $27,688.

The county's fire fighting equipment includes four trucks, 1957 Internationals, all run on a volunteer basis. Four trucks were purchased in 1967 from the Belknap Machinery Co., Midland, for a total of $3,000. One of those trucks has been junked, however, and is being used for parts to repair the others as they need it.

Another truck was purchased the same year from the Western Company, for $2,500. It is being used at the Jonesboro Road station.

There are three other stations besides Jonesboro in the system, one for Knott, one for Gay Hill-Luther, and one for Sand Springs.

Four Rural Stations Serve

Howard County Commissioners went into the fire protection business for themselves in 1967 after a contract with the city to fight rural fires was terminated. The county purchased five trucks, one a junk only for parts, and has placed them around the county to be run by volunteers of individual communities. The county truck wrecked in the accident in 1967 with the city, is still in the county warehouse pending repairs and when it is completed, will be placed in Precinct No. 3.

How the four stations currently in existence are operated appears somewhat hazy, only two have telephone listed with the Howard County Sheriff's office: Jonesboro Road and Sand Springs. How to get in touch with the Knott and Gay Hill-Luther stations is a delicate question, but one the communities seem to answer when a fire occurs.

The county's four units each claim about 15 or 20 volunteers, but Sand Springs is the only station which has regularly scheduled meetings, the last Monday in the month. Kenneth Scott, fire chief at Sand Springs, said his department of volunteers has answered an undeterminable number of calls and estimated as many as four or five a week during the summer. He added that his department took the powder device for extinguishing oil fires off its truck, because it made the truck too heavy and really wasn't adequate for dousing fires anyway.

"We could use more volunteers," Scott said, "but when the need arises, we usually have plenty to go." Neil Spencer is chief of the Gay Hill-Luther Volunteer Fire Department which has only been called once but has answered four calls that members heard about on the radio.

False Alarm Ended Pact

A false alarm set the stage for Howard County officials to get into the firefighting business.

On July 12, 1967, Big Spring firemen were called to a grass fire at Sand Springs, under the existing contract with the county to fight rural fires. The truck didn't make it.

Headed east on Fourth Street, it collided with a car at Birdwell Lane, which injured five persons: four firemen and the motorist. Two of the firemen received serious injuries.

A Coahoma truck was then summoned, and reported there was no fire at Sand Springs, in the first place.

The contract with the county called for it to assume all expenses of the injured and the repairs to the fire truck. This led to county officials asking that the contract be terminated, which the two agencies subsequently did, effective Aug. 31, 1967. Since that time, the county has set up its own volunteer departments for fighting rural fires.

Apparently, the first contract between the city and county for fighting rural fires was drawn in 1959, however the two had agreements prior to that. Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said the county first provided a rural fire truck in 1951, when it purchased a truck chassis for $1,600, and the city installed fire-fighting equipment on it. County records show that the city was then paid $3,000 in 1953, 1954, 1955, 1956, and 1958 to the city for rural fire fighting. However, the city has no record of any contract or agreement.

This first truck was wrecked in 1957 while on a fire call for Forsan.

In 1958, an agreement was approved by both agencies, and the county bought another truck. This one called for the county to pay $12,000 toward the purchase of a fire truck, pay the city $6,000 annually to fight rural fires, and assume all liability for rural operations.

Plane Receives Little Damage

Lt. Michael E. Smith of the 34d Marine Air Wing at El Toro, Calif., sat his Navy A-4 down on Howard County Airport Friday evening and ran out of runway.

He was en route from Yuma, Ariz., to Tinker AFB, Okla., when inclement weather and an in-flight emergency indicated a landing. He landed at Howard County rather than Webb, and the runway was too short, causing the plane to ease off the end of the runway. This caused minor damage to the nose gear.

Saturday afternoon the plane was moved to Webb AFB for repairs, said base officials.

Lt. Smith was not hurt in the mishap. Rain and snow flurries were being blown in by a strong southwest wind at the time of the mishap about 8 p.m.

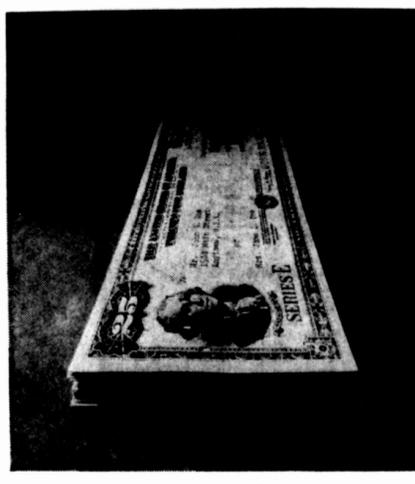

Adultery Rule

ROME (AP) — In a landmark decision, Italy's Constitutional Court has voided the law making adultery a punishable crime.

The Constitutional Court is Italy's highest. The decision is effective immediately.

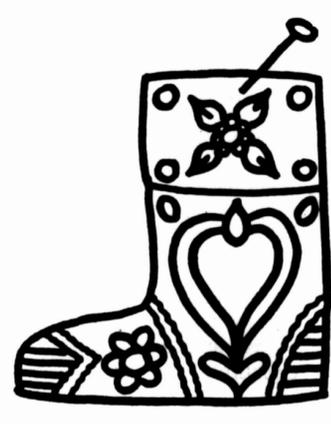

The decision did not abolish adultery from the law books. It still is grounds for legal separation. But it has not been incorporated into the pending legislation to legalize divorce.

HAVE YOU SEEN THESE?

The Hornet
 "THE LITTLE RICH CAR"

This is the new Hornet — the one they call "the little rich car." It's a whole new idea in compact. You can get a two-door or four-door... the basic model and the 557 have more room, power, comfort, styling and other desirable standard features than you'll find in any other compact. And you can add as many options as you wish, such as power steering, power brakes, All-Season Air conditioning, more powerful engines all the way up to a 210 h.p. regular fuel V-8, and a lot of other things to create your own personal "little rich car."

The Ambassador
 "BIG CAR STYLING AND SMALL CAR ECONOMY"

The Ambassador is American Motors' answer to the luxury car. The prestige car. It's 1970's best luxury car buy on the market. And its top models are the only cars under $10,000 with air conditioning, V-8 engine and Shift-Command as standard equipment. The 1970 Ambassador reaches a new high in roominess, comfort, and styling inside and out. The Ambassador is available in seven models. In the SST and the DPL you can buy a 2-door hardtop, a 4-door sedan, or a 4-door station wagon. The Ambassador is timeless styled with a 122-inch wheelbase to give you big car looks, ride and comfort. New styling features front to rear, inside and out, make the Ambassador a rich looking car at an ordinary price.

Monsanto Finals Hutto Outpost For 480 Barrels

Monsanto Co. of Midland has tented No. 4-A Hutto as a 3/4-mile northwest outpost to the discovery well of the Hutto South (Wolfcamp) reservoir of Howard County, 8 1/2 miles east of Big Spring. It is, however, on the southeast edge of development during the past year.

It flowed 480 barrels of 39-gravity crude per day through a 32-64-inch choke with surface pressure 140 pounds and gas-oil ratio 915-1. Production is from perforations at 7,312-7,348 feet which had been treated with 3,250 gallons of acid.

It is 740 feet from north and 1,645 feet from west lines of section 9, block 31, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Locations for a wildcat and an outpost to a proven reservoir have been staked in Sterling County.

Lone Star Producing Co. of Midland plans No. 1 V. M. Wilkinson as an 8,800-foot F u s s e l m a n searcher, eight miles northwest of Sterling City.

Drill site is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 207, block 2, H&TC survey, three miles north of the McEntire (Fusselman) pool and 3 3/4 miles southeast of the Sterling, Northwest (Fusselman) area.

Pennzoil United Inc. of Midland will drill No. 1-18 Foster as a 1/2-mile northwest and the same distance northeast stepout to the WAM, South (Fusselman) region, eight miles southwest of Sterling City.

The 9,000-foot probe is 933 feet from south and east lines of section 18, block 13, SPRR survey.

Roden Oil Co. staked No. 4-1 Reed, 2,300 feet from the north and east lines of section 11-30, W&NW, 15 miles northwest of Sterling City in the Credo (Wolfcamp and Loer Wolfcamp field). It will go to 7,900 feet.

The Sale Ranch sector of the Martin County portion of the Spraberry Trend Area gained a new producer and sites for two offsets.

Tom Brown Drilling Co. Inc. of Midland completed No. 2 J. C. Sale as a 1 mile northeast outpost, 10 miles northwest of Stanton and 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 14, block 37, T-1-N, T&P survey. On the 24-hour potential it flowed 224 barrels of 40-1 gravity crude and 12 barrels of water from shot holes at 8,380, 8,434 feet and 8,854-9,023 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 1,326-1 and production was through a 16-64 inch choke with surface pressure 175 pounds.

The perforations had been treated with 2,000 gallons of acid and 90,000 gallons of fracture fluid mixed with 180,000 pounds of sand.

Tom Brown staked No. 1-12 J. C. Sale as a 3/4-mile northeast stepout and 1,320 feet from south and west lines of section 12, block 37, T-1-N, T&P survey. The proposed 9,200-foot venture is 12 miles northwest of Stanton, Adobe Oil Co. of Midland scheduled No. 2-B Sale Ranch as a 9,200-foot test and 1/2 mile south of Brown's No. 2 Sale.

On the 24-hour potential it flowed 242 barrels of 39-gravity oil and 42 barrels of water through an 18-64-inch choke with surface pressure 270 pounds from shot holes between 8,118 and 9,020 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 1,400-1 and the interval had been treated with 80,000 gallons of refined oil mixed with 160,000 pounds of sand.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 27, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey.

former prison site in San Francisco Bay. The island is currently occupied by a group of American Indians who landed on the island two weeks ago and claimed it for Indian use under old peace treaties. Those who have sought to buy the island include Lamar Hunt of Texas, who offered a couple million in payment.

Pearl Harbor

By JO BRIGHT

Pearl Harbor, an inlet on the south shore of the island of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, is about six miles west of Honolulu and the site of one of the principal naval bases of the United States. In 1911 that work of dredging a wide channel from the sea, across the sand bar and coral reef at the mouth of the inlet was completed. The channel is about 35 feet deep, and the harbor has a maximum depth of 60 feet, making the piers, docks and other installations on the shores of the harbor available to the largest naval vessels.

Early in the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, while negotiations between American and Japanese diplomats for the preservation of peace were still in progress in Washington, D.C., the Japanese launched an attack on the U.S. Pacific fleet (the bulk of which was at anchor or in dry dock at Pearl Harbor) by about 100 carrier-based airplanes and by submarines. Nearby military and naval airfields were also attacked by the Japanese planes.

Eight American battleships and ten other naval vessels were sunk or badly damaged, almost 200 American aircraft were destroyed and approximately 3,000 naval and military personnel were killed or wounded.

The attack marked Japan's entrance into World War II on the side of Germany and Italy. The following day, Dec. 8, the United States declared war on Japan, and on Germany and Italy on Dec. 11, following declarations of war by the Axis powers.

Soon after the attack, President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed a commission of inquiry to determine whether negligence by the Army and Navy had been a contributing factor to the success of the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor. Controversy continued, and seven other inquiries were made at later dates, until finally, after the end of the war, on Aug. 30, 1945, Congress held a full investigation by members from both houses.

At this time, it was made public for the first time such important facts as the success of the United States in breaking the highest Japanese secret code before Dec. 7, 1941. Tragically, the intelligence reports had not been given adequate attention by responsible officials in the administration.

The attack, coming on a quiet Sunday morning, stunned the nation. Its emotional impact was such that now, on the 28th anniversary of the raid, Americans remember the realities of the day as though it were yesterday. The Herald camera focused on that generation for a sampling of those memories.

Mrs. Roy Percifield, a checker at Safeway Store: "We were living in Alhambra, Calif., then, and I even remember that I was in bed, sick with the flu, when my husband heard the news and came in the bedroom to tell me. We were horrified, and did about like others—cried to think what they had done to us and killed so many boys. My husband tried to sign up, but he was a welder so they had him teach that instead."

Mrs. Edwin Lawson, an employe at the S&H Green Stamp Center: "I was a student at Stanton High School, and the news spread quickly through the building. Everyone was going around bawling, and I felt scared. I had an older brother who went into the Army engineers right away."

Mrs. O. W. Hendricks, waitress at the Settles Hotel Coffee Shop: "I was living with my parents, the D. L. Mosers, in Paris, Tex. When they told me what had happened, I felt awfully bad, for I had a brother stationed at Pearl Harbor at the time. I went to Richmond, Calif., and became a welder at Kaiser Shipyard No. Two. See these scars on my arms? That's how I got them."

Patrolman John E. Minnick of the Big Spring Police Department: "We had been working cattle on the Clayton ranch at Gail and heard the news on the radio when we came in that night. I remember thinking 'here we go again.' I knew within reason that I would be going into service, and that I did. With the 241st Field Artillery Battalion, I served in the European Theater of Operations, and our group, together with the 36th Armored Cavalry, made up the 'Ghost Troops' under command of General Patton. Five boys in my family were in service." (Patrolman Minnick received the Purple Heart and earned the Bronze Star and four major battle stars.)

Mrs. Bill Reed, cashier at State National Bank: "Bill and I, just recently married, were at home in Abilene when we heard the news. At first, we felt disbelief, but when we realized it was true, we started talking about how it would affect us and our families. We went to San Francisco and both worked in the shipyards at first, before Bill enlisted. My brother, George Yates, went into the Air Force and flew 'the hump', the Indo-China-Burma supply route."

Larry Crow, city manager: "I was already in service and stationed at Fort Knox, Ky. My wife and I came out of a movie and heard the newsboys shouting the news. My attitude had been that something was coming, so I was not very surprised, since I felt something was bound to happen ultimately. The Armored Force (tanks) had just come into being, and my first duty was in North Africa, Sicily and Italy. Later I had military duty in Austria."

Glenn Thompson, a barber: "I was 19 years old. That day, I was walking up Main Street, headed south, going to the Ritz Theater. As I was crossing the street, I heard a newsboy hollering and hurried to buy a paper. First, I went to a welding school, but went into service in 1943. There were five of us boys—all in uniform at one time."

Ted Hatfield, manager of Good Housekeeping: "I was in the eighth grade at Anderson, Mo., and when it happened, they immediately called an assembly. We all went to the auditorium and listened to the radio there the rest of the day. Six of my brothers went into service, all volunteering within a few weeks after Pearl Harbor. Feeling very patriotic, I tried to enlist when I was 16."

Mrs. Mary Rittman, a patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital: "I was living in Odessa; had the radio on when the announcer broke in with the news. I got so nervous and upset—just sick all over. It was a terrible shock, knowing our boys were stationed there and all those ships were in the harbor. Just think! If people would only go over there now and see the Arizona—there's just something about it that makes you sick all over again."

"They were wanting everybody to do something for their country, so I enlisted in the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps and was stationed at Fort Breckenridge, Ky. My son, Jess, was in the Navy, and later it was necessary for me to get out of the W.A.C. to live with him and raise his children. However, while we were in California, I worked in the defense plants. I used to wonder what I could do for my country. Now that I have had time to think about it, I know that this is what I did: I raised my son's children for ten years so that he could serve in the Navy. He is now stationed at Groton, Conn., and serves with the submarines."

So they remember—and millions of stories could be told of the day a proud nation was knocked to its knees. It rose again—as its women went to war and its men made military history.

Miss Jones Marries Airman R. L. Feister

Miss Rita Joyce Jones and Airman Robert L. Feister were united in marriage Friday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Stanton.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donnie L. Jones, Stanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Feister, Paradise, Pa.

The Rev. John A. Pierce read the ceremony before an altar adorned with twin arrangements of white chrysanthemums and stephanotis and flanked by branched candelabra holding white tapers tied with blue bows.

Miss Becky Creech, organist, accompanied Gerry Smith as he sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a beau de soie gown accented with a yoke and sleeves of re-embroidered lace. The dress was designed in a slender silhouette and the chapel-length train was caught at the back voke with pleats. Her shoulder-length veil was held by white satin rosebuds, and she carried a bouquet of white pompons and carnations with velvet ribbon.

Mrs. Donnie Joe Jones was matron of honor, and Miss Ann Cook was maid of honor. Miss Jacquelyn De Ann Jones, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The attendants wore identical satin princess-styled gowns designed with re-embroidered lace sleeves, and their brief blue veils were held by a ribbon bow. They wore corsages of white pompons and carnations tied with blue velvet ribbon in a nosegay style.

Sgt. Jerry Prudy of Good-fellow Air Force Base, was best man. Ushers were Dean Duke of Midland and George Dean. Groomsmen were Dennis Jones and Donnie Joe Jones, both brothers of the bride.

Melissa Duke of Midland was flower girl, and ring bearer was Terry Kelly. Altar tapers were lighted by the ushers.

The bride attended Midland Commercial College and graduated from Stanton High School. The bridegroom graduated from Pequea Valley High School and Pennsylvania State University with a degree in forestry.

Use Deck Canvas To Brighten Stairs

To brighten basement stairs, carpet them with deck canvas, an extra-tough cotton fabric available at awning shops or marine supply houses. It comes in 31 to 33-inch widths. Glue canvas down with fabric cement. To give the natural colored fabric a bright look as well as more durability, paint each step a different eye-catching color.

Christmas Party Held Thursday

The A&M Mothers Club held a Christmas party Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood, welcoming one new member, Mrs. R. T. Winn.

During a business session preceding the social hour, Mrs. Charles Girdner presided as a choice was made on this year's service project. The club will donate funds for needed supplies at the university hospital and will collect magazines, of interest to young men, which will be delivered to the hospital.

Following the regular white elephant sale, refreshments were served. The club will not meet again until March 5 in the home of Mrs. Mabel Beene, 2308 Brent.

Buy Clothing For Good Workmanship

When buying clothes make sure you are getting good workmanship. Check for generous fabric allowances for seams, hems, pleats and lapels. Designs in fabrics, stripes, plaids and checks, should be matched at seams. It isn't a bargain if it doesn't hold up or isn't matched well.

A LOVELIER YOU

Relief From Tension Takes Many Forms

By MARY SUE MILLER
During the holiday season, most of the feminine population is pressured into a frenetic state. Tension really takes over.

Of course, when you feel tense and tired, you neither look your best nor present your best self. Your ability to cope with people wears thin. And that only adds to your stress. Let's try to keep our cool this year.

Relief from tension takes many forms. A method that works for you may not work for another. But it's a sure thing that you can recoup much calm and spirit by one of these measures:

1. Long soak in a warm perfumed bath. This antidote naturally depends on having a free half hour.
2. Change of makeup and fresh hair-comb. Takes 20 minutes at most.
3. Brisk 15-minute walk.
4. Ten minutes, lying limp on floor.
5. Five minutes, sitting in comfy chair with feet elevated, eyes closed, head and arms dangling.
6. One minute, breathing deeply before an open window.

None of these methods will prove effective, however, unless you shut off thoughts of duties, and even pleasures, ahead. You simply must not cross your bridges. For most of us it takes practice. But the more proficient you become, the quicker you unwind. You will soon master the art of instant relaxation.

YOUR GROOMING

Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for "Your Grooming—A to Z," a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bathe for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes, polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Hand Wash Quilt With Big Brush

If you have a very heavy quilt to launder, one that is just too heavy to put into machine, do it this way. Place on a flat surface and go over every inch of it on both sides with heavy detergent suds using a stiff brush. Hang over clothes line and spray water on it with hose on first one side, then the other. When dry it will be perfectly fresh and clean.

MRS. ALIFONSO ESCOVEDO

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Isobel Molina and Alfonso Escovedo exchanged wedding vows Saturday at 8 a.m. at St. Thomas Catholic Church. The Rev. Leo St. John read the nuptial mass before an altar adorned with twin bouquets of white gladioli and greenery.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Molina, 100 NW 4th, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Escovedo, 402 NE 6th.

Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, accompanied Mrs. Harold Talbot as she sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." The bride was attired in a two-piece street-length dress of white Chantilly lace over satin, designed with elbow-length lace sleeves and a straight skirt. She wore a brief veil, which fell from a pearl tiara, and carried a white prayer book and rosary topped with white carnations.

Mrs. Eusebio Galaviz, matron of honor, was attired in an avocado green dress with matching hat and gloves. She carried a single white chrysanthemum with long streamers.

Eusebio Galaviz was best man.

The bride graduated from Big Spring High School and is employed at Montgomery Ward & Co. The bridegroom attended school at Fort Davis and is employed by Foy Dunlap.

A reception was held in the Sacred Heart Youth Center. The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake topped with two white doves and a coffection Bible.

Miss Janie Molina and Miss Juanita Corrales presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Miss Ramona Molina, Miss Tina Molina, Mrs. Ray Molina, Miss Eufemia Escovedo, Miss Gavina Chavez and Miss Irene Escovedo.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Humberto Alarcon and family of Odessa.

The couple will be at home at 606 N. Gregg.

Gleaners' Class Has Yule Dinner
 The Gleaner's Sunday School class of Baptist Temple was entertained at a Christmas dinner Thursday in the home of Mrs. Ross Hill, Sterling City Route.

Quartet tables were laid with Christmas cloths and centered with poinsettia, red carnations and a miniature Christmas tree.

The Rev. James Puckett, a guest, gave the invocation. Other guests were Ross Hill, Mrs. Pearl Rogers and Mrs. Wilburn Forrest. Mrs. Travis Melton is class president, and Mrs. Hill is the teacher.

British Wives Plan Musale
 The British Wives Club planned a musical evening Dec. 23 at Thursday's coffee in the home of Mrs. Bryan Matthews, 182-B Fairchild. Mrs. Norma Hayward, a former professional pianist, will present the program at the 7:30 p.m. meeting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bill Winn, 154-B Fairchild. The Christmas party was planned for children of members and underprivileged children, Dec. 20, in the John H. Lees Service Club at Webb Air Force Base.

Sponge Range Off After Daily Use
 The entire exterior of a range should be wiped after use with a sudsy cloth or sponge. Prompt suds cleaning eliminates the need for scouring or scrubbing that could scratch or dull porcelain enamel and chrome.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Safe Use Of Trees Will Help Make Christmastime Merry

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
 County HD Agent

The live green tree is a symbol of the beauty and joy of Christmas. But a dry tree is recognized as a fire hazard by all fire protection authorities.

Most commercial Christmas trees must be cut well in advance of use. Often they are subjected to prolonged storage. This in itself may not constitute a hazard. Recent tests by the Canadian Department of Forestry and Rural Development indicated that an unheated storage period of 6½ weeks was equivalent to four or five days of indoor drying. However, Texas imports over three million Christmas trees annually, and often storage may be in boxcars that undergo extremes in temperature.

GETS DRY
 Foliage of a tree that has lost 15 to 30 per cent of its moisture will continue to dry out even though it is set in water. The balsam fir and white spruce trees in the Canadian indoor drying tests reached this point in about six days. The Scotch pine reached this point after 10 days of indoor drying. Both freshly cut trees and trees that had undergone 6½ weeks of storage under unheated shelter dried at about the same rate.

A Christmas tree with its base immersed in water will remain safe from ignition from a point source (such as a match flame) for at least three weeks if installed reasonably fresh. On the other hand, trees with prior outdoor storage may become flammable to matches within three to eight days if brought indoors and left dry. Immersion also preserves the fresh greenness of the foliage.

So far, no immersion additives have been found that substantially increase the effectiveness of plain water in reducing flammability.

Here are some pointers that will help to assure a fire-safe Christmas in your home:

DO

1. Buy your tree early. This will enable you to be selective in the purchase of a reasonably fresh tree. Check for signs of needle shedding and brittleness as a sign that the tree has become too dry.

2. Store the tree outdoors in the shade until ready to use. When it is brought indoors, immediately make a diagonal cut removing one to two inches of the base. Stand the tree in water and keep it in water until you discard it.

3. Keep the tree away from all sources of heat, such as fireplace or heating unit. Use a fire screen to contain flying sparks.

4. Check the water level. You may need to add as much as a pint of water daily.

5. Keep your lighting system in good order. Inspect and discard wires with frayed insulation, broken sockets and loose connections.

6. Keep the base of the tree free from combustibles.

7. Remove combustible Christmas wrappings as soon as possible. Burn them at a safe location in an incinerator or place them in a covered metal trash can.

DON'T

1. String lights on a metal tree (use indirect or external lighting).

2. Use flock (artificial snow or other decorations) on the tree unless certified as flame-retardant.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Bright red apples make novel candle holders during the holidays for the table.

Scoop out a hold in the center with an apple corer and stick in your candle . . .

Makes the table look ever so gay and festive . . . M.C.

Lady love, you may have had to scrape the bottom of the barrel (apple barrel, that is) for that one, but it's just simply an adorable idea.

And, hon, wouldn't the kiddos just love to polish those bright red apples to be used on the table for Thanksgiving Dinner? . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Here is another tip on treating those bumps our little ones are always getting. I never run to the refrigerator to get something frozen, but instead find it much simpler to go to my silverware drawer, grab a table knife and gently rub the handle over the bump.

The silverware is always real cold and there's no messy ice to contend with . . . serves the same purpose.

The children tease me and when someone gets bumped, they yell, "mon, get out the silverware," and I know what's happened.

I have six children so believe me I'm an authority . . . Mrs.

Bourne

I use pictures from an inexpensive child's coloring book as patterns and trace them onto different-colored pieces of felt. After tracing, I cut them out and glue on a large square of red felt to which I have already put an inch-and-a-half hem at the top.

Through this hem opening I put a one-foot-long wooden dowel and tie braided yarn to each end of the dowel . . . Then hang it in our little girl's room.

To make the pictures more detailed, I trace the original picture onto paper and cut out the eyes, hats, etc., making patterns. Then I trace these onto the felt and glue on the larger figure.

I use primary colors as they are bright and will be appealing in a child's room . . . Mrs. Robert Bree

Makes a wonderful item for bazaars, and they sell like hot cakes! We thank you . . . Heloise

STARS

Dear Heloise: For something different, use your old alarm clocks that no longer keep time, take them apart and insert your favorite photo. They are really kinda cute and you must admit . . . different? . . . Janice Pickus

Dear Heloise: Recently while making an afghan and using eight different shades of green yarn, I found it very difficult to keep the colors sorted.

I took plastic bread fasteners and numbered them from one through eight and attached one to each different shade of yarn.

I put a little piece of tape over the slit of the bread fastener so they wouldn't come off the yarn and just crocheted away. In this way, each time you crochet a row you can see what shade was used, and it prevents getting two rows the same color . . . Pauline

Dear Heloise: I have found that I can keep scrambled eggs warm for thirty minutes or more by putting them in a small mixing bowl and setting it in an ice bucket (plastic foam type) with the lid on tightly . . . Jeanette Best

Dear Heloise: This is for anyone who has a puppy who likes to chew up socks, shoes, etc.

Mine was the world's worst! I tried buying him toys but he still preferred my socks, shoes or slippers.

So I took a pair of my old bobby socks, stuffed one inside the other and tied the two ends of the outside sock together.

Now he has something to chew . . . I have saved my shoes and slippers . . . and we're both happy . . . Mrs. L.F. Soulgne

I write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Speakers Define Five Rules For Investing

The stock market was the subject of a program given Wednesday by Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin and Mrs. Bill Estes for the 1953 Hyperion Club at Big Spring Country Club.

The "five W's" of investing were discussed by Mrs. McLaughlin, who defined them as "who, what, why, when and where."

"Hot tips can end in burnt pocketbooks," said Mrs. McLaughlin, "as many inexperienced investors have learned to their sorrow. The 'who' are usually only average income people." She described the "what" as the securities to buy, mainly corporate stocks and bonds.

"The 'why' people are those who invest in the hope of regular income, quick profit or both," said Mrs. McLaughlin. She said the nearest New York Stock Exchange member firm is a reliable source of information. "The 'when' depends on the second factor," said Mrs. McLaughlin. "A person should be financially able to assume risk."

Mrs. Estes gave excerpts from the book, "How Women Can Make Money in the Stock Market," by Colleen Moore Hargrove.

"Your stock broker is important, so be careful how you select one," said Mrs. Estes. "A requirement should be that he be associated with a well-known exchange firm which has access to opinions of analysts through the publications of their

Corduroy Looks Like Seersucker

A corduroy that looks like seersucker is the newest look in fall fabrics, the National Cotton Council reports.

The weave is a distinctive departure from the usual closely spaced plush ribs of cotton corduroy. To achieve the seersucker effect, the fabric is woven with puckered strips that alternate with narrow ribs of plush pile.

The new "seersucker" corduroy will be used in shirtwaist dresses and other dressed-up sportswear styles. Completely washable, the fabric is 100 per cent combed cotton.

Baby Oil Protects Skin From Elements

research department." Mrs. Estes outlined procedures for opening an account with a firm. Hostesses were Mrs. Ken Perry and Mrs. Pete Cook. Mrs. Don Womack, president, introduced a guest, Mrs. Charles Bybee of Guadalajara, Mexico.

Three new members, Mrs. Clarence Peters, Mrs. Norman Picquet and Mrs. Dee Jon Davis, were welcomed. The refreshment table was laid with a red linen cloth and centered with Christmas decorations.

MRS. TERRY WAYNE DAVIS

Terry Davises Will Reside In California

ADR. 2 and Mrs. Terry Wayne Davis are residing in Sunnyvale, Calif., following their marriage Nov. 29 in the Holy Family Church in Cleveland, Ohio.

The Rev. George Vitju read the ceremony before an altar adorned with white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Traditional wedding selections were played throughout the ceremony.

The bride was attired in an ivory A-line satin gown accented with Alencon lace appliques designed with a lace bodice and scalloped neckline and long lace sleeves. She wore a lace mantilla, and her detachable train was appliqued with lace. She carried a white orchid bouquet outlined with Stephanotis and greenery.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Krizek, Warrensville Heights, Ohio; and Thomas Vernon Davis of Belle Chasse, La., and Mrs. Darlene Davis of Lubbock. The bridegroom is a former Ackerly resident.

Miss Arlene Pohman of Maple Heights, Ohio, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Poltorek, Parma, Ohio; Dorothy Buzash, Cleveland, Ohio; and Miss Margie Marcinko of Bedford Heights, Ohio. All the attendants were attired in formal gowns of olive green brocade bodices and olive crepe skirts. They carried yellow chrysanthemums accented with yellow and orange daisy chrysanthemums.

Terry Poltorek of Cleveland, Ohio, was best man. Ushers were Dennis Krizek and Randy Krizek, both brothers of the bride; and Steven Buzash of Cleveland, Ohio.

The bride, a fifth grade school teacher, is a graduate of Ohio University where she was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority. The bridegroom graduated from Sands High School and attended Howard County Junior College.

RECEPTION

A reception dinner was held in St. Eugene's Hall, Bedford Heights, Ohio. The four-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with yellow confection flowers.

For a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the bride wore a navy blue knit dress, trimmed with white, navy blue accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

The bridegroom is assigned to the Naval Air Station, Moffett Field, Calif. Next year, the couple plans to return to Texas to make their home.

Ever Ready Club Names New Slate

Miss Rosetta Brown was re-elected president of the Ever Ready Civic Art Club at Wednesday's meeting in the Lakeview YMCA. Mrs. Willie Graham was hostess.

Other officers named were Mrs. Addie Perkins, vice president; Mrs. Louisiana Jones, secretary; Mrs. Rosie Lee Stewart, assistant secretary; Mrs. Viola Merritt, treasurer; Mrs. Bobbie Williams, chaplain; and Mrs. Mary Young, assistant chaplain.

Committee chairmen appointed were Mrs. Essie Person, yearbook; Mrs. Annie Perry, social; Mrs. Jo Hazel Dawson, program; Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Climmie Johnson, art; Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Annie Huey, ways and means; and Mrs. Myria McGregor, hospitality.

Plans were made for the club Christmas party Dec. 17 in the home of Mrs. Johnson. Christmas pal names were drawn, and gifts will be exchanged.

Canned food was brought to be used in a Christmas basket for a needy family.

ENGAGED — Mrs. Jesse Brooks of Coahoma is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Iva Jo, to Duane Murphree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Murphree, 807 Willia. The future bride is the daughter of the late Mr. Brooks. The couple will be married Jan. 23 in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, 2509 E. 25th.

Q. T. Coates Displays Christmas Decorations

Making a wreath featuring fresh flowers with a Madonna, Q. T. Coates of Estah's Flowers, gave a program on Christmas decorations at Wednesday's meeting of the Big Spring Garden Club. The group met in the First Federal Community Room.

Coates also made an arrangement using flowers and glazed fruit with fresh and artificial greenery. He concluded by making baskets filled with fruit, greenery and straw flowers.

Hostesses were Mrs. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. Marvin Sewell. The table was laid with green felt runners and centered with a Christmas arrangement of candles and pine cones. Mrs. D. O. Bray, president, poured from the silver coffee service.

Members brought Christmas door swags for the Veterans Administration Hospital which were taken to the hospital following the meeting. The group made plans to decorate a tree at Big Spring State Hospital.

A new member, Mrs. T. P. Swett as the host group.

Golden Age Club Holds Yule Party

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Rev. Henry Parmenter brought the devotion at the annual Christmas party for the Golden Age club members Tuesday evening in the Ocotilla Room.

The Rev. Frank Hodnett gave the invocation, and Mrs. Emory Sweatt and Hoyt Roberts led the group in singing Christmas carols.

Following a luncheon, members made donations to the American Cancer Society.

Two new members, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hodnett, were welcomed.

The next meeting will be Jan. 6 with Mrs. A. G. Anderson, T. L. McKenney and Mrs. A. new member, Mrs. T. P. Swett as the host group.

Hospital Gains New Personnel Director

By RHODA LEMONS

"I never was any good at planning things," said Mrs. Don L. (Judy) Morgan, whose daughter, Melee, was born Dec. 28, 1965, when the Morgans were spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Radke in Seguin.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are the new owners of a home at 2406 Cheyenne, having moved here Nov. 1 from Dallas. Morgan is personnel director at Big Spring State Hospital. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Barnard of Austin.

The Morgans have been married seven years. She was employed as a legal secretary in Austin, while he attended college at Southwest Texas in San Marcos, receiving a degree in Business Education. Mrs. Morgan attended business college in Austin.

Later, the couple moved to Dallas, where he worked for Southwestern Life Insurance Company. After two years, he became associated with the Shell Chemical Company.

His present job entails conducting orientation for new employees, screening job applicants and matching the job to the employee. He represents the hospital at various civic and social functions.

Both the Morgans are vitally interested in youth. Before coming to Big Spring, Morgan was a member of a "Big Brother" organization and taught a junior high class in the Methodist Church. Mrs. Morgan taught a class of two and three-year-olds.

"I loved my job as legal secretary, especially the book-keeping part of it," said Mrs. Morgan. "I have worked since our marriage, until now and am thoroughly enjoying being a lady of leisure because I have always been just a bit lazy." "I am trying to learn to sew but so far I have not made much progress. Perhaps, it is because I am not too interested. I do cooking and housework, because I like things in order."

Mrs. Morgan likes to read, preferably biology and fiction.

"I like to have time to relax and just enjoy the day," she said, "and I certainly love to spend my time with Melee."

Mrs. Morgan said that her husband enjoys "anything outdoors." He likes to hunt and fish and is making gun collecting a hobby. He likes football games, whether on television or in the stands, and his wife "tolerates" them. He is a member of the Civitans and the Tumbleweed Toastmasters.

The Morgans will spend the Christmas holidays in Austin. Mrs. Morgan will leave Dec. 17

THDA Plans Told By Director

Mrs. W. N. Norred, director of District Two, Texas Home Demonstration Association, has returned from the state board meeting held Dec. 13 at the Ramada Inn in Abilene.

Plans were made for district training projects for THDA chairmen council chairmen and agents. The District Two training meeting will be held Jan. 29, 1970, at the South Plains Electric Co-op in Lubbock, and the regular district meeting will be April 2, 1970, in Lamesa. The state meeting was slated Sept. 16-17, 1970, in Galveston.

At the board meeting, speakers were Mrs. Florence Low, assistant director of Home Economics, Texas A&M University Extension Service; Miss Claudia Williams, state HD agent; and Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of Agriculture, Texas A&M University Extension Service. Dr. Hutchison discussed the scope and changes, affecting THDA, that will occur next year in the Extension Service.

Mrs. Sam Spier of Manchaca, THDA president, was principle speaker.

Use Plastic For Cover

School days are here — and so is book covering time. This year why not cut those book covers from plastic yard goods? Pliable plastic is as easy to shape for books as paper, and far more durable.

Doodling with pencil or water soluble colors makes no difference because plastic covers can be cleaned with a sudsy sponge, making room for current names and sayings. Or use a permanent marking pen on a light-colored solid shade and let your child exhibit his own subleaseable art work.

New Vacuum Cleaner Aids Dust Control

In the never-ending battle against dust, one of the newest aids is a central vacuum cleaner.

This consists of a motor and canister holding a multi-gallon disposable bag, which is installed usually in the basement or garage or attic. Flexible pipe leads to room outlets. To vacuum, the homemaker inserts a lightweight hose into the outlet and flicks a switch. There is no recirculation of dust, and with the heavy-duty motor, it does a more thorough job.

NCO Wives Planning Events For December

A full schedule of December events was announced by Mrs. Walter Zook, president of the NCO Wives Club, at a recent meeting in the NCO Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base.

Club members, under the direction of Mrs. Roy Ziegler, will assist with a Christmas party at the Veterans Administration Hospital on Dec. 12, and will decorate Ward Nine-B at Big Spring State Hospital on Dec. 19.

The NCO holiday dinner dance is scheduled at the NCO Open Mess Dec. 20 with music by The Chanteurs. Admission will be $2 per couple. On Dec. 21, at the same place, a Christmas party will be held for children of NCO club members, with "Santa Claus" arriving with gifts for the children. A Christmas bake sale will be held at 10 a. m., Dec. 22 at the base exchange. Proceeds will be used to provide a needy family with a food basket and toys.

New officers will be elected at the Jan. 6 meeting, with the installation to follow on Jan. 17. The installation event (either formal or semi-formal dress) will have as its theme, "Winter Wonderland." At 6:30 p. m., the hospitality hour will begin, and at 7:30 p. m. dinner will be served.

Change Landscape

The time to plan changes in landscaping layout is early September before the leaves begin to fall. Fall is the time when old plants can be cleared away and is the time to begin a compost heap, too.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By Mrs. John Macke
Sincere apologies to two delightful ladies who have taken an error on my part with good humor. In last week's "Webb Windsock," I named Mrs. Robert Spear as chairman of the Christmas bazaar. The chairman actually was Mrs. J. L. Gresham, who certainly deserves a lot of credit.

Lt. and Mrs. George R. Thomas know how to travel in style: buy a bus and make it over into a self-contained motor home. Lovers of the great outdoors, the Thomases decided during last year's Oregon vacation that they needed a camper or trailer, and conceived the idea of making one this way while perusing a camping magazine. On his cross-country flight to New Orleans, Lt. Thomas found a 21-foot school bus, in excellent condition, that seemed made to order. "At first," says Mrs. Thomas, "everybody really laughed at it." Now they are the envy of friends and neighbors.

It has taken a lot of hard labor on the part of Lt. Thomas, who did all the work, except welding, himself. Inside fixtures and furnishings, salvaged from a battered trailer, had to be cut to fit. The inside walls are to be paneled and carpeting will be installed. When it is completed, the bus-motor home will accommodate six with comfort. It is easily heated, and the dining table converts into a bed for extra sleeping space. It even has "the cutest little bathtub you've ever seen . . . a mini-tub." And, for deep-in-the-woods privacy, it is camouflaged in vari-shaded green.

This home-away-from-home will be living quarters for Lt. Thomas's wife and children for five months or more during his survival training. But its use will hopefully begin before then. The Thomases are attempting to have their "pride and joy" ready in time to travel to Mexico before permanently leaving West Texas. We hope they do.

Welcome back to three 03 graduates who returned Wednesday from temporary duty stations. Lt. Randall Spurrier will remain with us as an IP. Lt. A. D. Nolett and Lt. Gary Munoz will have left for new duty stations by the time this column appears. A short visit, but we trust, a happy one. The Munozes plan to spend the month of December traveling through Texas, Florida and Tennessee, visiting friends along the way.

Dolls that talk, dolls that walk, dolls that need to be loved. Mrs. John Millhollon, Officer's Wives Club welfare chairman, is looking for dolls to brighten the Christmas of needy children. Through Dec. 14, there will be a box at the base chapel for renovated dolls or inexpensive new ones, or call her at 267-5947.

Mrs. Millhollon is also looking for used books for children at Big Spring State Hospital. The Thrift Shop will gladly accept them for this worthwhile cause. Remember the "Bobsey Twins," "Hans Brinker," "The Hardy Boys"? How about introducing these old friends to children who might otherwise never meet them.

Mrs. Raymond Raecce and I had the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity of witnessing a bishop's installation ceremonies. The occasion was the installation of Bishop Stephen A. Leven in San Angelo on Nov. 25. It was standing room only, but well worth the price of aching arches.

To Help As Deputy At VA Hospital

Miss Sharon Andrews was appointed "volunteer" to serve as a deputy to Miss Zeldia Rea, Veterans Administration Hospital co-ordinator, at Thursday's meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary in the Legion Hut.

Mrs. Roscoe Cone presided. Mrs. Lois Hill read a communication from William C. Doyle, national commander of the American Legion, requesting a resolution be signed by the auxiliary in support of President Richard Nixon's position on Vietnam. The commander requested the auxiliary get as many names as possible on the resolution.

Plans were made for providing gifts for the Christmas gift shop to be opened today at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Gifts of money and merchandise have been donated.

Mrs. Raymond Andrews displayed gifts which were bought by the auxiliary for families of veterans.

Mrs. Dale Smith To Lecture Wednesday

Mrs. Dale Smith will present a Christmas program, "Tables For Friends," Wednesday in the First Federal Community Room under the sponsorship of the Four O'Clock Garden Club. The meeting is open to all garden club members or others interested in gardening.

Coffee will be served at 9:30 a.m., and the program will begin at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Smith, an accredited landscape critic, is well known in area gardening circles. She holds a life judges certificate and is working on her master judges certificate. She is on the state approved speakers list of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., and has lectured in many cities in Texas and New Mexico. She was invited to exhibit at the HemisFair and has just returned from attending a flower show symposium in Fort Worth.

Miss Tubb Is Honoree At Shower

Miss Karon Tubb, bride-elect of Bobby Rodman, was complimented with a miscellaneous gift shower Thursday in the home of Mrs. Ross Callihan, Silver Heels.

Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Rister, Mrs. H. P. Wooten, Mrs. Ruby Bruns, Mrs. Darel Higley and Mrs. Sarah Johnson.

The honoree was presented a corsage of red and white bells, as was her mother, Mrs. Roy Tubb, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Robert Rodman.

The refreshment table was laid with a red and white cloth centered with love birds flanked by red tapers. Milk glass appointments completed the setting.

The couple will be married at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 19, in the Birdwell Baptist Church.

Report Heard By Chapter 67, OES

A report was given on a recent party honoring worthy past patrons during Tuesday's meeting of Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of Eastern Star, in the Masonic Temple. Mrs. F. C. Gambill presided.

Plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 16 in the Masonic Temple.

The refreshment committee included Mrs. Bernice Davis, chairman; Mrs. R. E. Stringellow, Mrs. Carl McGlothlin and Mrs. Gail Bonner. The table was laid with a pink cloth and centered with a miniature pink Christmas tree.

Paul Carsons Are Holiday Guests

Marine Cpl. and Mrs. Paul Carson and their daughter, Amy, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Piper and family and Mrs. Velma Josey during the Thanksgiving holidays. Cpl. Carson is stationed at Santa Ana, Calif. Mrs. Carson is the former Miss Henrietta Piper.

Club Holds Christmas Dinner On Thursday

The Texas Star African Violet Club held a Christmas dinner Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th, with Mrs. Paul Guy as cohostess.

African Violets were used as decoration throughout the home, and the buffet table was laid with a green organdy floor-length cloth and appointed with silver.

Guests were Mrs. W. M. Gage and Mrs. D. S. Riley.

New officers were installed by Mrs. Riley, who compared each officer with a garden flower. The new slate is comprised of Mrs. Guy, president; Mrs. Clinkscales, vice president; Mrs. Grace O'Dell, recording secretary; Miss Shirley White, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Herman Taylor, treasurer.

Decorations were displayed, which were to be taken to the Veterans Administration Hospital Saturday.

The evening climaxed with the appearance of Santa Claus (Mr. Clinkscales) who brought a sack of gifts which were used as game prizes.

Texas Delta Delta Meets For Party

Texas Delta Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Alpha held a Christmas party Thursday in the home of Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, Snyder Highway.

Mrs. W. E. Moren, president, introduced one guest, Mrs. Jack Black.

The program, in which all members participated, was entitled "The Lord's Prayer in Candles." Mrs. Cantrell gave the introduction by saying, "I would like to have you, along with myself, let the Lord's Prayer be our Christmas Prayer because the Lord's Prayer was given to us by Jesus, Himself. This beautiful prayer is like a row of shining lights to guide us. As we kindle each light, may it shine into our hearts and lives."

Make Mats For Holiday Accessories

This year, make fancy place mats to dress up your holiday table. The National Cotton Council suggests you fashion them with interchangeable motifs, so they can be used for any holiday all year-round.

Use strips of stick-on tape fastener to attach different motifs to mats. Sew three-inch strips of the fastener to the lower right corner of mats and to the back of fabric motifs.

For place mats, use washable white cotton corduroy. Cut out fabric in rectangles 13 by 18 inches. Trim edges with fluffy white cotton ball fringe.

Make the holiday motifs from two circles of corduroy cut about four inches in diameter. Sew the circles together right sides out. Reinforce edges with a satin stitch on your machine. Applique different holiday designs to the circular base. For instance, use a zig zag stitch to applique green corduroy shamrocks to a white corduroy circular base and you have an appropriate motif for a spring luncheon or a St. Patrick's Day dinner. For Halloween or Thanksgiving, the design might be a round pumpkin cut from orange corduroy. Give the pumpkin a stem made of black rick rack.

A Santa head is an ideal Christmas motif. Start with two circles of white corduroy for the backing. Sew a smaller circle of pink cotton to this base to serve as Santa's face. Make a cone hat from red corduroy and attach it to the top of the circle. For Santa's beard, glue white cotton pompons cut from ball fringe around the bottom of the white circular base. Use a red pompon for the nose, black rick rack strips for eyes.

Plans Yule Party

World War I Barracks 1474 and the Ladies Auxiliary will host an annual Christmas dinner and gift exchange Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the 100F Hall, 9th and Magnolia. Installation of officers will be held following the dinner.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

We just got the quickest glimpse of the city lights of Fort Worth and Dallas during the week, but believe me, the cities are getting ready for Christmas. The stores and shops are all decked out and, early in the month tho' it is, parties are going fullswing.

The weather has been giving the western part of the state more trouble than it has the north central part if the leaves on the vines and trees are a critia. Most of the trees have lost their leaves but a great number are still holding on to a few and some vines still have some green left in them. All along the highway the trees have lost enough leaves to show the limbs' bareness like a vacant apartment building only these are all last year's birds' nests, and they are deserted looking things. Too bad they won't use them again.

MRS. MABEL BUCHANAN of Sarasota, Fla., is a houseguest of MRS. J. Y. ROBB. Mrs. Buchanan and her granddaughter, MISS ANDREA BUCHANAN, came to attend the wedding of Mrs. Robb's granddaughter, Terry Jo O'Brien of Midland, and Mrs. Buchanan has remained for a visit.

MRS. W. G. WILSON has returned from a family reunion in Texarkana at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, MR. and MRS. HARTWELL STACKS. Others there for the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. James Brannon of Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morgan Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morgan Jr. and their children, all of De Queen.

MR. and MRS. WEIR MUSSELMAN of Mechanicsburg, Pa., are the houseguests of DR. and MRS. KUYKENDALL and will be here through the Christmas holidays.

Members of the C. E. SUGGS family have returned to their homes after visiting here recently. They came from Bethany, Okla., League City and Dallas. In addition to visiting the Suggs they also visited the Cecil Bells.

The LEON KINNEYS have been in Houston recently to visit the EDDIE KINNEYS. The Kinney's daughter, MRS. MICKIE SWEETEN and her baby will be here through the Christmas holidays.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES LOVELACE and their children from Kilgore, have returned to their home after visiting here with her parents, MR. and MRS. ROLAND SWARZENBACH, and his mother, MRS. AMABEL LOVELACE, who is ill.

Christmas Play Presented At CWF

Mrs. Gene McElroy presented a Christmas play, "The Birth of Christ," at Thursday's meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship, First Christian Church. Others in the play were Mrs. Lloyd Brooks and Mrs. W. F. Martin. Mrs. Edison Taylor gave the invocation, and the group sang Christmas carols. The Ruth Group served as hostesses.

A Beautiful World, But Home Is Best

By JO BRIGHT
Mrs. Amos R. Wood, 1102 E. 12th, is no stranger to travel. For like many other women who are widowed, she found that time can lie heavy on your hands when you live alone.

In recent years, she has joined friends when the opportunity arose to see parts of the world that aroused her curiosity. Perhaps the most interesting trip was the last one—a six-week "Around the World" tour with the Porter Randall group which left from Dallas in September.

In her party were 28 traveling companions, including her friend, Mrs. Ollie Nunn, who resides on a ranch at Kent.

The itinerary included stops in some of the most fascinating cities in the world—Tokyo, Kyoto, Hong Kong, Anghor Wat, Bangkok, Nepal, Banaras, Agra, Jaipur, Delhi, Kashmir, Istanbul, Athens and many more.

The group lost a day when it departed from Dallas and crossed the international date-line, but the following days were filled to the brim with adventures which more than made up for the single lost day.

In Tokyo, there was the Imperial Palace, Diet Building and Asakusa Temple, with dinner that evening at the Imperial Theatre Restaurant. A full day's excursion by rail took the travelers to the shrine city of Nikko, and by private motor-coach they went to Yokohama and Kamakura. At Hakone National Park, there were Japanese accommodations at Kowaki-en Hotel where a special sukiyaki dinner was served.

The "bullet train" took the group to Kyoto and the Golden Pavilion before the flight to Hong Kong and the Tiger Balm Gardens and the fabulous Aberdeen fishing village, where diners enjoyed the famous floating restaurant.

The Temple of the Dawn drew Mrs. Alton Marwitz was elected president at Thursday's meeting of the Lutheran Women Parish Workers, St. Paul Lutheran Church, in the home of Mrs. John Foster, 503 Scurry. Mrs. Frank Long was named treasurer.

Officers retaining their positions were Mrs. Ralph Hadley, first vice president; Mrs. W. E. Davis, second vice president; and Mrs. A. A. Graumann, secretary.

the sight-seers to Bangkok bul, there were bazaars and the Blue Mosque.

Mrs. Wood, who has traveled all manner of ways, prefers tours because of their convenience. So much is taken care of—travel and hotel accommodation, passport fees, visa charges, meals and baggage. The worry is gone, but the excitement remains.

No matter how you say it—pounds, guilders, pesetas, kroner, francs, rupees, lira, drachmae—money means the same the world over—and in Mrs. Wood, the trip was a bargain in any language.

Put Holiday Decorations In Windows

Windows will sparkle with a holiday air if you decorate panes with cone-shaped Christmas trees and lace snowflakes. To make trees, the National Cotton Council suggests sewing trims like ruffled lace and cotton rick rack dotted with sequins.

As a guide for window trees, apply clear tape to the glass first. Use three strips of tape to form a triangular cone. Then glue trims to the tape.

Use ruffled white cotton lace to make a delicate cone tree about two inches wide at the top and 12 inches wide at the base. For a six-tiered tree, you'll need about two yards of the lace. Glue tiers in slight curves, spacing them about one-half inch apart.

For snowflakes, cut tiny flower designs from flat Venice lace. Scatter the flower "flakes" around the lace tree, gluing in place.

To make a rick rack tree, use alternate strips of red and green cotton rick rack, also cut in graduated sizes. Make the tree as big or as small as you like. Glue clear tape on first in horizontal strips to serve as a guide. Decorate the rick rack "branches" with colored sequins. To make a tree stand, use a piece of red or green adhesive tape.

Pres. Nixon's Aide To Speak At Webb

The armed forces aide to the President is the Friday dining-in speaker for the graduation of undergraduate pilot training Class 70-04. Col. James Hughes has been President Richard Nixon's armed forces aide since January, 1969. He will speak in the Officers' Open Mess, and UPT Class 70-04 graduates the following day. It will be the eighth and final pilot training class graduation this year.

Col. Hughes has served in the nation's capitol on three other occasions. He served as assignment officer in the directorate of military personnel at Headquarters USAF for two years, beginning in 1955. In 1963 he served a two-year stint as a personnel staff officer in the office of the deputy chief of staff for personnel in Washington, D.C. While President Nixon was vice president in the Eisenhower administration, Col. Hughes served as his military aide.

A command pilot, Col. Hughes is a veteran of World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam Conflict. During the Korean War, he flew 101 combat missions. In Vietnam he was air liaison officer, operations officer and chief of the special operations branch for the 2nd Air Division, Headquarters at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam.

Prior to his appointment as armed forces aide to the President, he served as director of safety for Headquarters U.S.

Air Forces Europe at Lindsey Air Station, Germany.

Col. Hughes is a 1946 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, and was awarded a master's degree in international affairs from George Washington University, Washington, D.C., in 1966. He also was graduated from the National War College.

His military decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross with oak leaf cluster, the Bronze Star, the Air Medal with nine oak leaf clusters, the Purple Heart and the Distinguished Unit Citation Emblem with two oak leaf clusters among other decorations.

The colonel and his wife have four children.

LT. EDWARD DOREY

Change In Webb Office

A change in the office of the Chief of Administration at Webb AFB has been announced as Edward Dorey succeeds Capt. Mary Link.

Lt. Dorey, whose last assignment was as the Headquarters Section commander for the 366th Combat Support Group at Da Nang AB, Vietnam, arrived at Webb Nov. 22.

"This is my first try at being the administration officer for a base," he said, "and it looks like I'm going to enjoy it."

A native of South Burlington, Vt., he received a degree in political science from St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vt., where he was graduated in 1967.

Upon graduation he received his commission through the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps, and attended the four-week indoctrination course at Hamilton AFB, Calif. After graduation he was assigned to McChord AFB, Wash. as the administration officer for the 62nd Military Airlift Wing, Headquarters Squadron.

He and wife, the former Mary Greene have two children, Lisa, 18 months and Sonja, five months.

Capt. Link will swap her administrative duties to be a full time Air Force wife and mother.

Cotton Harvest In Full Swing

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas weather for a week has been exactly what was needed for outdoor work. Harvesting in the west and northwest was resumed with a near full head of steam, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The open, sunny weather along with generally adequate moisture all through the state helped the continued growth of grains and range forage, the director added. Land preparation and fertilizing went well in areas where harvesting is complete, he said.

Livestock generally are in fair to good condition with good grazing available except in the east and northeast, where grazing is limited and heavy feeding is needed, Hutchison said. Grain grazing ranges from just becoming available to excellent, he noted.

SOUTH PLAINS

District agents reported: The South Plains (Lubbock) cotton harvest is in full swing and more of the sunny weather for a few weeks would see all crops out. Yields are better than expected but grades are low in some areas. The grain sorghum and soybean harvests are virtually complete. Major activities are cotton stripping, stalk shredding and land breaking. Wheat provides excellent grazing and cattle are in good condition. The market is active. Cotton harvesting is general throughout the Rolling Plains (Vernon) and yields are below normal. Grain growth is good and providing good and increasing grazing. Some greenbug and rust damage have been reported. Sorghum and pecans are being harvested. Livestock condition are good. Moisture is adequate.

FAR WEST TEXAS

Recent snow and rain in Far West Texas helped the moisture situation and should improve the growth of cool season forage. The cotton harvest was stopped by rain but is being resumed. Yields are below average. Goats suffered most from the wet, cold weather but in general all livestock are in fair to good condition. Grain will soon be available for grading. Ranchers are busy with the hunting season. All harvesting in West Central Texas was stopped by rains but was being resumed as fields dried out. Rains were beneficial to grains, weeds and grass and grazing is plentiful. There is an abundance of dry forage; livestock are in excellent condition and very little feeding is necessary.

Moisture in Central Texas generally is adequate and grains look good. The peanut harvest is about over and average yields are good but below last year's record. The pecan harvest is past the halfway mark and yields are light. Livestock were in good condition. The deer harvest is good.

Needed rains were general over South Texas. Harvesting of citrus and vegetables is progressing. Frost has killed warm season range plants but the winter plants will be helped by the rains. Livestock are in good condition.

Rains have brought South Central Texas moisture to adequate levels and grains are providing some grazing. Frost killed warm season grass but there is an abundance of dry forage for grazing and livestock are in good condition.

Needed rains were general over South Texas. Harvesting of citrus and vegetables is progressing. Frost has killed warm season range plants but the winter plants will be helped by the rains. Livestock are in good condition.

R FINGERNAIL BITING CAN BE EMOTIONAL

Fingernails bitten down to the very edges are not only unsightly, but could very well be due to some disturbing emotional situation. This is possible not only in adults, but even in very small children. In the case of children where it is just a bad habit, we carry several products that make fingernail biting unpleasant and can help break the habit.

Serious fingernail biting in the adult or the adolescent should be looked into more closely to determine the cause. If it cannot be broken by a show of willpower, a physician should be consulted.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

A Devotion For Today . . .

As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God. (1 Peter 4:10)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the good influences that others have exerted upon us. Help us to think daily of the influence we have on others. We pray that it will be for good. In the spirit of the Master, Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Time To Shape Up?

A decade ago cities and towns were scurrying to enlarge their boundaries in anticipation of the decennial census. Big Spring, along with most, pushed out some of its lines to encompass adjacent areas which were within the sphere of city service, or which were in effect urban enclaves. Our lines were ample enough, but by no means as wild as many cities which staked the corporate limits miles out in the country.

out those enlarged areas fixed 10 years ago. For another, they found that including a territory within the corporate limits imposes upon the municipality certain obligations of service in utilities, security, streets, etc.

Nevertheless, it is prudent to examine the lines to see if they need shaping up. There is something more to be said for a practical alignment other than for symmetry.

If there are to be changes made, then perhaps now is the time to consider them.

The Twelfth Night

Epiphany is observed rigidly in some churches, casually by others and not at all by many or most. This occasion falls on the 12th day after Christmas and has various connotations. Some observe it as a possible anniversary of the baptism of Christ; some to commemorate His first miracle in Cana; still others the coming of the Magi, which is supposed to symbolize Him also as the Christ of Gentiles.

device in some areas is for residents to save their discarded Christmas trees or to deliver them at some fixed point, and on the evening of Jan. 6 (or thereabouts) have a brief service of carols or hymns, the lighting of a fire to consume the trees, and a prayer of dismissal.

The Mitchells Vs. The Liberals

WASHINGTON — All of Washington is talking about Attorney General John Mitchell's wife, Martha. Mrs. Mitchell has made almost as big a splash as Vice President Spiro Agnew, with such remarks on TV as the one that her husband would like to trade some American liberals for some Russian Communists.

She also told Time magazine's Dean Fischer, "Any time you get somebody marching in the streets, it's catering to revolution . . . My family worked for everything. We even had a deed from the king of England for property in South Carolina. Now these jerks come along and try to give it to the Communists . . ."

COMMENTING ON life in Washington, she said, "It's quite a comedown in many ways. We're not living on the same means we had in Rye, N.Y. I think the government should give us free housing. We'll be happy to go back and make some money."

Mrs. Mitchell in her TV broadcasts and interviews has given us an insight into a Cabinet officer's life that we never had before, and I can imagine what happens when the Mitchells return home in the evening to their posh apartment at the Watergate in the Foggy Bottom part of Washington.

The attorney general enters first and checks all the closets. "There's none in here."

MRS. MITCHELL looks under the bed. "There's none here."

They both look in the laundry room. "There's none here," the attorney general says.

Mrs. Mitchell sighs. "Oh, John, can't you do something about the liberals so we don't have to go through this every night?"

"I'M TRYING, Martha. I'm working on a list of liberals to exchange for Communists with the Soviet Union. Once we get it drawn up, we'll present it to Russians at the SALT talks in Helsinki."

"Good," Mrs. Mitchell replies. "I'd like to see that list."

rather have out and out Communists in this country, than people with Marxist ideas who won't admit their true colors."

"Well, let's go to bed, Martha."

"Suppose they march tonight?" Mrs. Mitchell says.

"I don't think they will. The Justice Department would have let me know if they had any plans. We should be able to get a good night's sleep."

"HOW DO WE know they're not in the lobby waiting for us to go to bed?"

"Don't you remember? I checked the lobby before I came up. There isn't a liberal in the entire Watergate complex."

"If they only gave us a free house, we could electrify the fence."

"Martha, you shouldn't fret."

"Why shouldn't I? This place is costing us a pretty packet and it's certainly a comedown from Rye, N.Y. Why don't you go back and make some money, John?"

"WE WILL, Martha, but there is important work to be done. Do you know I managed to keep a Marxist Belgian professor from entering the United States last week, over the objections of the secretary of state?"

"That's wonderful, John, did you hear something in the bathroom?"

"The water's running. Stay back, Martha."

The attorney general goes into the bathroom and comes out white-faced.

"It's John Kenneth Galbraith. He's taking a shower!"

"I knew it," Martha cries. "I told you we should have never come to Washington."

What Others Say

It is not surprising that "help wanted" signs have appeared in various Soviet cities lately. There's actually a labor shortage in the vast Soviet Union.

It's not just that the Soviet birth rate has lately been falling, so that appeals for larger families appear in the press. Nor is it just that the Soviet economy is expanding. Additionally there is the age-old impression that Soviet bureaucracy and rigid control-from-the-top mean that manpower is wasted all over Sovietland.

But we now note that Moscow is moving — at least bureaucratically — to improve labor use. A government decree, according to Business Week, will cut the industrial budget by $2 billion, but most of the savings will have to come out of personnel. That sounds harsh but the Soviets also are endorsing the so-called "Scheikino experiment." This experiment, at a chemical plant outside Moscow, allows the plant manager to redistribute any savings, achieved through boosted production, to the workers as increased wages and bonuses. So there's incentive — to be efficient.

The Soviet decree also urges managers to mechanize, automate and use computers, and says there are too many layers in Soviet decision-making. In fact, Moscow is sounding just like an American management consultant — efficiency-building firm. And it's about time!

Inflation Pressures Continue Strong

NEW YORK (AP) — The outlook for an early loosening of the tight money policy grows dimmer as inflation stubbornly resists government efforts to rein it in.

Government and private economists are saying with increasing frequency that to prevail against inflation the Nixon administration should continue the monetary restrictions which have clamped down on the credit supply and brought record high interest rates.

A rash of such expressions this past week was a factor in sending the stock market to its lowest level in nearly three years.

Neil H. Jacoby, chairman of President Nixon's task force on economic growth, said he felt the administration would continue substantial fiscal and monetary restraints on the economy throughout 1970 even though a business slowdown and higher unemployment develop.

INFLATION TARGET
The U.S. economy is slowing but the fight to reduce inflation remains the administration's priority, Paul Volcker, under-secretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs, told the European Institutional Investor Conference in London.

Raymond J. Salmier, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers during the Eisenhower administration, said at the conference that the current degree of restraints on the economy should be continued at the least through the end of the year.

"Unfortunately, there is no basis for relaxation now in any one of the direct measures of inflation," he added.

Philip Caldwell, vice president and general manager of Ford Motor Co.'s truck operations, reported this past week that the administration's anti-inflationary policies were beginning to affect the booming truck manufacturing business. He said orders for the heavier-duty trucks had slowed in recent weeks.

TV SALES EASE
Ross Siragusa Jr., president of Admiral Corp., said these policies have also affected sales of the color television industry in the last few weeks.

On the price front there were increases by Sunbeam Corp. on some of its appliances and home care products; by Crown Zellerbach Corp. on multiwall bags; by Jones & Laughlin, Allegheny Ludlum and Armco Steel Corps. on nickel-bearing stainless steel products, and by Cerro Copper & Brass Co. on

OPPOSITES

- Prospects for less tight money supply are dimmer
- Economy slowing, but not pressure for price increases
- Stock market sinks to lowest level in three years
- Orders for heavy trucks, color TVs decline
- RR strike averted, Senate modifies oil depletion tax

Sales Clerks Are Human

Was in Dayton, Ohio, briefly a full 10 days before Thanksgiving. I suppose winter gets there before it does here (it was snowing), so this could account in part for that "early Christmas shopping."

At any rate, the major downtown stores had their windows decorated for the Yule holiday, and their loud speakers were sounding out carols.

THIS SEEMED a bit early to me, but as with every issue, there seem to be two sides to it. You can hear arguments that stretching out the major buying season of the year not only is helpful to the customer, but it's a matter of courtesy to retail clerks, who would love to see an even flow of business rather than a few weeks of bone-breaking days.

Well, here it is December, and the early-shopping issue is moot. In fact the 25th is right on us, and it's time that some of us got down to the business at hand.

THIS IS ALL a rambling way to launch into the subject I thought I had in mind. And that is, there the clerks in the stores catering to the Christmas rush really do have their problems, same as you and me.

Took a turn through some stores the other day to see if the holiday atmosphere was prevalent. It was, in a big way. I talked to some sales people, and I want you to know that my studied research brought out a wonderful conclusion: Clerks are human beings.

THEY'RE READY to respond, as helpfully as possible, to some Christmas-gift requests that must be really wild.

They remain cheerful in the face of some rather over-demanding people. They are patient when a guy comes in, wanting "something" for his wife, but with no idea what, and certainly doesn't know her size in any given type of wearing apparel.

THEY KEEP a smile when the nuisance browser comes in, gets in the way while looking around and is unable to make up his or her mind on any specific item. They keep their cool in the face of unreasonable requests on packaging, wrapping, shipping and delivery.

They manage all this even at the end of a long day, when their feet are "killing them," when they wish silently that the Christmas shopping season would go away. Or when they have their own gift buying to do, and their own Christmas preparations to make. All this you see, is done after their own work hours.

CUSTOMERS are human, too, of course. But there is a wide variety of us, and we get to expect a great deal some times of the person who is in the position of remaining courteous under all conditions.

If anyone wants to hear my little sermon for the month, it would be that let's make this a be-nice-to-salespeople month. They're nice enough to deserve it, and wouldn't it be a happier season?

Bitter Aftertaste Of Haynsworth Case

WASHINGTON — Bring us together. That promise in Richard Nixon's campaign more than any other held out the hope of an interval of good will, or relative quiet and lowered voices after the Johnsonian storm and strife.

The promise, as the end of the first year nears, has not been borne out. For reasons many of which are beyond President Nixon's control the need for a unifying force is greater than it was when he took office in January.

THE REJECTION of the President's nominee to the Supreme Court, Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., was a severe blow to what the President has repeatedly said was his constitutional prerogative. It was a blow, too, to his relationship with a Congress, which for the first time in well over a century confronted an incoming President with control by the opposing party. The bitter aftertaste will last for a long time with both those in the White House who fought unsuccessfully to put the nomination over and with the Republicans who resisted that pressure and who are now under the frowning disapproval of the Nixon team.

WHILE IT WAS a blow, the fate of the Haynsworth nomination seems to this observer to be an opportunity to bind up the wounds and encourage the conviction of national unity. The President can nominate another Southerner with a conservative outlook, as he has indicated he will do. Without the shadow of conflict of interest and in the wake of the Haynsworth quarrel, the nominee would almost beyond question be confirmed.

THERE IS, however, a different course which could cool the emotions stirred by the controversy and help to take the court out of the partisan political arena. It has been forgotten that shortly after his inauguration the President, speaking to employees of the State Department, said that they should not be surprised if the Secretary, William P. Rogers, should become Chief Justice of the United States, as had happened to three of his predecessors. Subsequently the report was printed that Rogers would be named to succeed Earl Warren. This was flatly denied, and the nomination of Warren E. Burger put an end to speculation.

ROGERS IS an eminently qualified lawyer who has repeatedly shown his skill in human relations. His political stance is best described as moderate. Rogers' nomination to fill the vacancy on the court could not be faulted. Six years younger than Burger, who is 62, there is no reason why he might not one day be elevated to Chief Justice. While he might prefer to stay in his present post as a long-time and loyal associate of the President, he would respond to a call to duty.

THAT THIS will happen, it is hardly necessary to add, is most unlikely. Yet what could be points up the one luxury Mr. Nixon cannot afford in this precarious time when deep divisions — geographical, ideological, emotional — threaten the fraying fabric of national purpose. That luxury is recrimination; to say, "I'll show you; I'll name a Southerner to the right of Haynsworth, so you will forever regret turning him down."

In this first year the parochialism of the Nixon Administration has at times been all too evident.

WHETHER IT is the "Southern strategy" and the influence of Sen. Strom Thurmond as a reward for the 87 Southern and Border State electoral votes that put Mr. Nixon in the White House, the weight is heavily on the side of the South and the West and ideologically in the right wing of the party. This may be sound politics but it is a questionable tactic in bringing us together.

What About The Other Judges?

WASHINGTON — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., has returned to the bench for the first time in three months and apparently will remain there indefinitely. But this poses a problem for the Senate. Will the same "code" which was invoked when Judge Haynsworth was rejected for a place on the Supreme Court of the United States now be applied to all the other justices on the high court?

CERTAINLY THERE is an inconsistency in allowing any judge to serve in a court without a thorough investigation of all of his outside activities and financial transactions. It would hardly be consistent for those Senators who voted against Mr. Haynsworth to argue that the rule applies only to appointees whose confirmation as a judge is under consideration. For the Constitution says all federal judges shall hold office only "during good behavior," and they can be removed by the Senate at any time after their confirmation.

SOME OF THE senators who voted against Judge Haynsworth claim that they did so because of their opposition to his views on labor and civil-rights questions. But others insist that this had nothing to do with their votes and that the main consideration was alleged "improprieties" or an "insensitivity" to judicial ethics, though nobody in the Senate really defined what was meant by this accusation.

THE TRUTH IS Judge Haynsworth was investigated by the Department of Justice, and all the points raised by his opponents were taken into account before and after he was nominated to the Supreme Court.

Similarly, a committee of the American Bar Association, after conducting an inquiry, came to the same conclusion — namely, that it "found no impropriety in his conduct."

WHATEVER the motives were in opposing Judge Haynsworth, the "code" would surely have to be applied to all judges of the federal courts, including the Supreme Court, unless the vote on the Haynsworth nomination is to be reversed. The Senate could, of course, adopt a motion asking for reconsideration of the whole matter. If this is not done, plainly the Congress is obliged to investigate the "behavior" of all federal judges now on the bench so that the country will have the benefit of adherence to the new "code" which the Senate has apparently imposed.

IF THE SENATORS who voted against Haynsworth had done so solely because they opposed his views, they would have been acting in the same way as the Senate has on one or two occasions in the past where the ideology of the nominee was disliked. But the Haynsworth problem was of a different character. The senators openly charged that the "improprieties" of Judge Haynsworth were sufficient to deny him promotion to the Supreme Court. This leads only to one conclusion — that all judges who have performed any outside activities or received compensation other than from their salaries as judges might well undergo investigation, and a vote by the Senate could be taken to decide whether those accused should be permitted to remain on the bench.

Area Office Nominees Picked At FHA Meeting

By LYN HERZOG
A meeting of the Future Homemakers of America was held on Tuesday. Sponsor, Mrs. Florence King, explained nominating a girl to run for Area Office. The nominees from the Stanton chapter were Judy Mims, Carol Smith, Rosalyn Louder, Jackie Cook and Susan Vest. FHA members voted on the nominees, and Susan Vest was elected. Debbie Hazlewood, president explained the method of voting for FHA bureau.

Each nominee has a decorated box and the members vote by putting Christmas cards with stamped envelopes in the box's box. The cards are then taken to the Big Spring State Hospital to be used by the patients.

Beau nominees were Stanley Louder, Mark Hursh, and Scotty Fisher. A committee was appointed to decorate the Home Economics door for the annual door decoration contest.

The president asked questions from the FHA newspaper, The Future Homemaker. Judy Mims won a prize for answering the first question correctly. After the business was completed, Diana Payne led the group in singing Christmas songs.

All Region Band tryouts were held in Odessa, at Permian High School, Dec. 6. The Stanton Band sent several members to try out. Those attending were Polly Creech, Zanna Angel, Betty Anderson, Doyle Doggett, Lyn Herzog, Kim Douglas, Chester Kokel and David Workman. Mr. George Walker, director, was one of the judges of the flute section.

The McMurry Indian Band, on its annual tour, stopped in Stanton on Saturday. They gave a concert in the high school auditorium, ending with their traditional Stars and Stripes Forever. Sunday morning, they held the religious services in the First Methodist Church of Stanton.

The Junior Hospital Auxiliary held its monthly meeting on Monday, during activity period.

Sylvia Dorn, who played Emily Webb, was awarded the trophy for leading actress, and Rob Shive, who played stage manager, received the trophy for best leading actor. Mrs. Wanda Jennings is the sponsor of this department.

A senior committee meeting was held Wednesday. The members met with Mrs. Doris Tiller to discuss the plans for the Mr. and Miss CHS contest theme, "Winter Wonderland" was decided on as the theme for the contest which will be held Jan. 17.

The senior girls met Tuesday, and took the annual Betty Crocker test. Mr. Grady Tindol will announce the girl with the highest score after the tests are graded.

The Library Workers Club's Christmas party will consist of going to the Big Spring Nursing Inn to sing Christmas carols and present small gifts to the patients.

The Bulldog Band started selling chocolate candy Wednesday. The price is fifty cents a candy bar. This is one of the money making projects the band will have during the year.

The junior class met last Tuesday to discuss the plans for the junior class play. The play will be held during the month of February.

The Library Club met Friday, at which time there were discussions on Christmas parties, overdue books, and the Paperback Fund.

New students this week are Ricky Clay Thomas and Marcie VanDerLinden in the seventh grade; Tena Lonidier, Judy Garrett, and Russell VanDerLinden in the eighth grade.

Seventh and eighth grade favorites, as well as Best All-Round boy and girl will be nominated and voted upon this week. Each homeroom may nominate.

School will be dismissed at 2:45 Tuesday, in order that the faculty may attend a city-wide meeting. Speaker at the meeting will be Dr. L. Harlan Ford who is the Assistant Commissioner for Teacher Education and Instructional Services of the Texas Education Agency. His subject will be "The Changing Scene in Education."

The Student Council is taking up a Kenneth Chandler Fund. All junior high students and other students are urged to give. Kenneth was injured in a Garden City football game. The Student Council sponsor is Mr. Mack Alexander, Brenda Crowley, president; Kathy Fryar, vice president and Kary Richardson, treasurer. Dorothy Banks is secretary.

The Council is very active this year, and the student body is very proud of them. The council will soon be making preparations for Christmas activities.

The Forsan Junior High teams are both 1-0-0 in district. They played their first district game against Coahoma. The girls won with a score of 26-23. Brenda Cowley dominated scoring with 25 points. The boys won their game 41-17, paced by Joe Moreno's 17 points.

This is the first time in three years the Forsan Junior High boys have ever defeated Coahoma Junior High.

BS Student's Work Is Shown

LUBBOCK — The first Texas Tech Student Jewelry Exhibition and Sale opened Friday (Dec. 5) at the Texas Tech University Student Union with 19 students in beginning jewelry classes exhibiting both cast and constructed work.

All are students of Art Prof. Francis Stephen.

The show will close Dec. 17.

The work has been done in sterling silver and gold, some of it set with semi-precious stones. Students used the lost wax process — in which a wax pattern is replaced by metal — in the cast pieces. Among those with exhibitions is Don McCown, Big Spring.

CENTER OF JAYHAWK CAMPUS BUZZES—The most popular aspect of the Howard County Junior College campus this year has proven to be the new Student Union Building Lounge. Social gatherings, study, relaxation, TV entertainment, and a place to take a breather are all different functions that are met by this new facility. The lounge was converted from a bare open-air patio and furnished with lounge furniture often found in famous resort hotels in the Caribbean. Money to build the structure was donated by an anonymous donor.

'HOOK, LINE AND SINKER' AND 'RUN WILD, RUN FREE'

Twin Bill Opens Thursday At Ritz

'RUN WILD, RUN FREE' — John Mills, Mark Lester and Fiona Fullerton star in this Technicolor release at the Ritz.

Not one to rest on his laurels, 10-year-old English actor Mark Lester, who played the title role in "Oliver!", Academy Award-winner as Best Picture of the Year, stars as Philip in "Run Wild, Run Free," at the Ritz Theatre in Technicolor. John Mills, Sylvia Syms and Bernard Miles also star and Gordon Jackson and Fiona Fullerton are co-stars. "Run Wild, Run Free" is the story of a boy who has retreated into a secret world, but who is helped back to reality by a wild white colt and a sympathetic, retired Army officer.

Mark is a young veteran of motion pictures. "Run Wild, Run Free" is his eleventh. "Hook, Line & Sinker" stars Jerry Lewis in Technicolor at the Ritz Theatre. The comedy co-stars Peter Lawford and blonde Anne Francis. The film has Jerry playing a hapless insurance agent who is the life of the party, even if it kills him (as his wife and best friend earnestly hope).

The film's associate producer, Joe Stabile, served in that capacity on all pictures Lewis has made in the past seven years, and as production supervisor on the Lewis television show.

Assistant director Hal Bell is a long-time Lewis associate who was made first assistant director for "Hook, Line & Sinker," his initial assignment in that important category. Cary Manoojian, head grip on the comedy, was with Lewis on more than 10 of his recent films. The same is true of "Candy" Flanagan, special effects; Jack Stone and Joe DiBella, makeup artists; Rusty Wiles, film editor; Al Overton Sr., sound mixer; Dick Rubin, property master; Guy Verhille, men's costumer, etc.

'HOOK, LINE & SINKER' — Jerry Lewis, Peter Lawford and innkeeper appear in this scene of Ritz C-Feature.

Lee, Price In Horror Film

Britain's Christopher Lee starring with Vincent Price in "The Oblong Box," coming Wednesday to the R-70 Theatre, regards himself as an actor first, as a portrayer of the macabre second.

Nonetheless, he has built for himself a very solid reputation as the Number One exponent of horror on the British side of the Atlantic.

London-born Lee served with the Royal Air Force during World War II. As a bomber pilot, he made many missions over enemy territory. In 1947 he made his movie debut in a film called "Corridor of Mirrors." Since then he has played in 60 feature films and 40 TV films.

Since 1958 he has specialized in pictures aimed in making audiences scream with fear. He portrayed The Monster in "The Curse of Frankenstein," the title role in the 1957 production of "Dracula," and the title role in the 1958 production of "The Mummy."

He took a temporary rest from villainy by portraying the hero, Sir Henry Baskerville, in the movie version of the Sherlock Holmes thriller, "The Hound of the Baskervilles," and in "Too Hot To Handle" with the late Jayne Mansfield.

Then it was back to horrors in films like "The Devil Rides Out," the "Fu Manchu" series, and now in American International's "The Oblong Box," from the shudder-tale by Edgar Allan Poe.

In the past fifteen years Vincent Price has played the villain in so many horror movies that critics have dubbed him "The Merchant of Menace."

Although Price is probably the world's greatest expert on America's greater horror author, as well as on the art of Poe's delineation, the suave, 55-year-old actor is also a good straight player, and an ever finer light comedian when given the opportunity. He is expert in keenly observed satire; he can sing if necessary but in a voice, as he puts it, that's "more like Poe's Raven;" and he has known to do a soft-shoe-shuffle around a stage.

In his private life, Vincent is an authority on, and a collector of, the world's finest paintings; is a connoisseur of food and wine, and is a writer of books on food.

Famed 'Marlowe' Opening At Ritz

Suspense, dynamic action and fascinating characters form the components of "Marlowe," fast-triggered drama based on Raymond Chandler's famed mystery novel, "The Little Sister." The production, starring James Garner in the title role and Gayle Hunnicutt, opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

Filmed in Metrocolor on locations in and around Los Angeles, "Marlowe" co-stars Carroll O'Connor, Rita Moreno, Sharon Farrell and William Daniels, with other prominent roles played by H. M. Wynant, Jackie Coogan, Kenneth Tobey, Bruce Lee, Christopher Carey, George Tyne, Corinne Camacho and Paul Stevens.

In "Marlowe," James Garner portrays Raymond Chandler's famed hero, Philip Marlowe, archetype of the hardboiled, hard-hitting "Private Eye" and joins a select group of film "Marlowes" — Robert Montgomery, Dick Powell and Humphrey Bogart.

The picture unfolds a story of blackmail, beautiful women, siletto ice picks, cops, crooks, chase and mystery, in which private investigator Philip Marlowe's quest for the killer leads him into intriguing adventure and feminine temptations.

This is the story in brief: A maelstrom of suspense swirls around Marlowe when a series of photographs come up for grabs and blackmail. The photos are incriminating ones of Mavis Wald and gangster Sonny Steelgrave (H. M. Wynant). Marlowe is hired by Ortamay Quest (Sharon Farrell) ostensibly to find her missing brother, Orrin (Roger Newman). It isn't until Marlowe in his search for Orrin uncovers a collection of unsavory characters, including Grant W. Hicks (Jackie Coogan), Mr. Crowell (William Daniels), Winslow Wong (Bruce Lee), Pale Face (Nate Estormes), Chuck (Christopher Cary), Gumpshaw (Reed Morgan) and Oliver Hady (George Tyne), that he realizes he is involved in a dope racket and a chain of murders.

Convinced that Mavis is an innocent tool, Marlowe with the help of Juliette (Corinne Camacho), a secretary at the Los Angeles Motor Vehicle Department, gets Mavis' address. At her lavish apartment he meets Dolores Gonzales, a strip-dancer and close friend of Ortamay Quest (Sharon Farrell).

Gallery Seeks Art Displays

The Llano Estacado Art Association, Inc. "Gallery 114" is now receiving art work for display. The Gallery, located at 114 W. Taylor St., Hobbs, N.M., is open 11 a.m.-4 p.m. M.S.T. weekdays and 9:30 a.m.-4 p.m. M.S.T. Saturday.

Types of art work accepted are oils, water color, acrylic, sculpture, ceramics, graphics and crafts. Only members are eligible to show work in the gallery. Membership in the Llano Estacado Art Association cost $5 a year. Hanging fees are 25 cents a month for work priced up to $15; 50 cents a month for work priced from $15 to $50; $1 a month for work priced from $51 and higher. A 10 per cent commission is charged on all sales.

All work must be hand delivered. Paintings must be ready to hang with wire. Special mountings needed for any object must be provided by the artist. Artists who wish, may furnish their own portfolio for unframed work.

Reasonable care will be given to all work submitted, however, entries will be handled and displayed at the artist's risk. The Association will not be responsible for any loss or damage to entries while on display at Gallery 114. Further information may be obtained from the Llano Estacado Art Association, Box 684, Hobbs, N.M. 88240; Susie Shipp 392-6061 or Julia Runyan 392-5696.

I went to the studio to see what all the fuss was about. Erected on Stage 6 was a huge balloon-like a silver-lined circus tent kept inflated by forced air. This was the operating room where Myron was to be turned into Myra.

A group of Hollywood-type extras sat in directors' chairs, awaiting the operation. Reflected on the side of the balloon was a menacing beauty who flicked a large bull whip. Symbolism? John Carradine, looking as generally cadaverous as ever, entered to the applause of the extras and advanced toward the operating table, scalpel in hand.

"Cut!" director Sarne stopped the scene while he planned another camera angle, shooting from the floor of the stage. I asked him for a program report on young Reed, heretofore known as a voyeuristic interviewer of celebrities.

"He's doing all right," said Sarne with surprising mildness. "I didn't expect him to be a polished actor, and I haven't required him to do anything very difficult."

Reed retired to his dressing room between shots, and we chatted. I found him to be pleasant and agreeable—not at all the ogre that Candice Bergen had painted him in a recent article.

"The picture has been tough," he said as he inserted his contact lens. "I've already gone over the contract period, and I'll still be here another six weeks. Yes, I'll be on overtime and the money is fantastic. But what a way to make a living! I would never want to be an actor, no matter what it takes."

MEN IN SERVICE

Lance Corporal Paul F. Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carxon, 1308 Stanford, was meritoriously promoted to Corporal Nov. 7 for work done over the past 10 months as acting noncommissioned officer in charge of the Technical Publications Library at the Marine (helicopter) Air Station, Santa Ana, Calif.

Carson was born here in Big Spring and attended Big Spring High School; he entered the service in February, 1968. Before being assigned to his present station last November, he attended aircraft school in Memphis, Tenn.

Carson and his wife, with their baby daughter, will be visiting their families during Thanksgiving. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Piper, live at 606 E. 15th.

Air Force T. Sgt. Terrence Duffy has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal at Robins AFB, Ga., for meritorious service while engaged in military operations against Viet Cong forces. He distinguished himself as an air traffic controller at Pleiku Air Base. He is now at Robins with the 5th Mobile Communications Group, a unit of the Air Force Communications Service which provides global communications and air traffic control for USAF operations. His wife, Anita, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sefton A. Pickens, 724 E. 16th St., Colorado City.

SCHOLARSHIP — Air Force Sgt. Abraham A. Garcia presents Nguyen-Van-Y with a scholarship covering half of his expenses for a nine-month school term. Nguyen is one of many Vietnamese students selected to receive financial assistance under the "Dollar for Scholars" program. Recipients are selected on the dual basis of scholastic achievement and personal hardship. Sgt. Garcia is a maintenance administrative specialist assigned at Phan Rang Air Base with the 35th Avionics Maintenance Squadron. He and fellow squadron members raised money and made personal contributions to fund several scholarships. His wife, Dolores, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Munoz, 105 NE 10th St., Big Spring. He and Mrs. Garcia have three children, Rosario, Sonia and Lolita.

BOBBY HALE

PFC RONALD E. LONG

Robert E. (Bobby) Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Boyce Hale of Anchorage, Alaska, enlisted in the U.S. Navy Sept. 12 and completed his boot training Nov. 14. Currently he is visiting with his parents. Prior to being assigned to permanent duty, he will report to the U.S. Naval Air Station at Memphis, Tenn., to attend aviation ordnance school for 18 weeks. Bobby grew up in Big Spring where his father was for many years with Phillips Petroleum Co.

Army PFC Ronald E. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil E. Long, 1800 Dixie, has been home on emergency leave from Vietnam since Nov. 12 and will return next week to his assignment with the 7-13 Artillery, First Field Force, now serving in the Phu My district. Mrs. Long recently had surgery but is reported to be doing fine now. Her son has two and a half months left in his tour of duty in southeast Asia. He attended Big Spring High School and joined the Army in September, 1968.

Marine Pfc. Joe N. DelBosque, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norberto DelBosque, and husband of the former Miss Mary J. Ovalle of 1308 Mesquite, all of Big Spring, has completed two weeks training at the Combined Action Program School, Third Marine Amphibious Force, at Da Nang, Vietnam.

He received instruction in Vietnamese language, customs and religions. Also, he received specialized training in small unit tactics for use against enemy forces.

He will now join a Combined Action Group, one of four in the I Corps Tactical Zone.

Cpl. Paul F. Carson, now on leave with his family in Big Spring, was recently honored with a Meritorious Mass and promoted to corporal Nov. 7. During the past 10 months he served as acting noncommissioned officer in charge of Technical Publications Library at the Marine Corps Air Station in Santa Ana, Calif. He is visiting his wife Henri and young daughter, Amy. Cpl. Carson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carxon and his wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Piper, all of Big Spring.

Navy Lt. (junior grade) George C. Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Rice, 1212 Lindbergh, Big Spring, is returning to the U.S. aboard the survey ship-USS Serrano after completing coastal hydrographic survey operations in Japan.

Air Force Sgt. Anthony B. Carpenter Jr., whose wife, Ricki, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ashley, Route 1, Big Spring, is on duty at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam. A chaplain's aide, he is assigned to the 377th Combat Support Group, a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, headquarters for air operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Pacific area. The sergeant previously served at Webb AFB.

S. Sgt. Eugene W. Thompson has arrived for duty at Carswell AFB. A weather technician, he is serving with a unit of the Air Weather Service which provides weather information for military flight operations. His wife, Beverly, is the daughter of Mrs. J. R. Kirby, 504 Ayford St., Big Spring.
