

PRESIDENT'S ORDER WILL AFFECT AIRCRAFT, VESSELS, VEHICLES

Federal Facilities Must Eliminate Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, calling the federal government "one of the nation's worst polluters," today ordered all federal facilities to eliminate air and water pollution.

He set up a $359 million program for the next three years to provide government leadership in the pollution control effort and called for all existing federal facilities to comply with his clear air and water order by Dec. 31, 1972.

Nixon said his order will affect buildings and installations, public works, aircraft and vessels and vehicles and property owned by or constructed or manufactured for the federal government.

Nixon has proclaimed improvement of the nation's environment as a prime priority of the 1970s.

And, he said in a statement issued at the White House today: "Over the past several years, the federal government has become one of the nation's worst polluters. Clearly the federal government cannot be an effective leader in the battle to save the environment so long as this intolerable situation continues."

In a move he said was aimed at getting the federal government "to sweep its own doorstep clean," Nixon issued an executive order requiring that all federal projects or installations "be designed, operated and maintained so as to conform with air and water quality standards—present and future—which are established under federal legislation."

Russell E. Train, Nixon's newly designated chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, said that the Department of Defense is the largest single agency of government involved in pollution problems.

Train said, for example, the Military Academy at West Point will need about $3.1 million to improve its now inadequate treatment of sewage that is polluting the Hudson River in New York.

Nixon's Troop Policy Called 'Irreversible'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today President Nixon's troop withdrawal policy is "irreversible" and "more importantly, it is the right way to achieve a real and lasting peace in Vietnam."

Scott told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that nearly half of the 100 senators are supporting a resolution backing the President and urging a mutual ceasefire. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is also a sponsor.

"Senate approval of this resolution will show the world that we are united in our search for peace," he said.

"The President deserves no less," Scott said.

Scott was the leadoff witness for the second day of the committee's three-day hearing on a batch of resolutions dealing with Vietnam.

The committee's hearing opened Tuesday with blasts from four war critics and a reply by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the opponents were "casting about aimlessly" for a political issue.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright said he hopes the hearings that began Tuesday before his Senate Foreign Relations Committee will lead to a consensus on a resolution concerning Vietnam policy, although the Arkansas Democrat conceded "it is much too soon to begin picking and choosing among the various resolutions."

Agnew, in telling newsmen Tuesday the war critics were fishing for a political angle, said the people are behind the administration's Vietnamization policy "and no amount of self-serving statements by opposition senators are going to change that."

Former Beauty Queen Due For C-C Banquet

Former Miss America Marilyn Van Derbur is due here this afternoon to address what Chamber of Commerce officials expect to be one of the largest crowds ever at the "Make Something Happen in '70" banquet in the Big Spring High School Cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Van Derbur will be met by a delegation of chamber officials and representatives of the Ambassadors Club about 4 p.m. when her plane lands in Midland. The chamber representatives will escort her to Big Spring.

Tickets chairman Roger Brown said this morning that ticket sales for the annual affair are approaching the 600 mark and urged prospective buyers to get their tickets far enough in advance of banquet time to allow chamber officials to provide dining facilities for the expected overflow crowd.

Miss Van Derbur will address the gathering, following a program which includes award presentations to distinguished residents and short talks by immediate past president M. R. Koger and newly-elected President Paul Meek.

The former Miss America is recognized as one of the country's foremost speakers and is a radio and television personality, appearing on the Ed Sullivan, Mike Douglas and Tonight shows. She is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Colorado and is married to a prominent Denver lawyer, Lawrence Adler.

As a representative of General Motors and other corporations, she has traveled throughout the country as a speaker for conventions and banquets and her talks are generally described as "inspirational" by those who have heard her.

Chamber President Paul Meek said this morning that the banquet committee, headed by Mrs. O. S. Womack, had done "an excellent job preparing for the banquet" and emphasized that all preparations had been completed in advance of the deadline.

The banquet committee was co-chaired by Don Womack, and a committee headed by Mrs. Clyde Angel was in charge of decorating the cafeteria for the affair.

Secret Budget For Viet War Guessed By Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's secret budget for the Vietnam war in the coming fiscal year is estimated by congressional experts at between $16 billion and $17 billion.

This would compare with unclassified estimates that put war spending at about $23.2 billion for the current year ending June 30.

Nixon's new budget, which went to Congress this week, offered no estimate of the cost of the war during the year starting next July, and this secrecy has drawn a protest from a ranking Democratic critic of U.S. policy.

"I can see no justification for classifying the cost of the war," said Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Nixon budget said new estimates would offer a tipoff to the size or the timing of future American troop withdrawals.

"I don't think he really knows how much will have to be spent before July, 1971," Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview. "Certainly, he has to have flexibility. Costs have been materially reduced in the past few months."

Congressional appropriations experts, basing their estimates on current spending, announced U.S. troop withdrawals, and the likelihood of further pullbacks later, have produced the $16 to $17 billion estimate.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Jan. 7 he anticipated outlays between $17 and $18 billion for conduct of the war during the new fiscal year.

President Bids To Sweeten HEW Pot By $449 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has offered to sweeten the pot by $449 million in his fight with Congress over education funds, but it apparently won't be enough.

Democratic leaders are willing to risk another veto, if necessary, in their effort to force a reshuffling of national priorities that upgrades education.

OKIE'S VIEW
"It may be necessary to pare it down," said House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma, "but we're not going to capitulate on the education bill."

Nixon's new proposal, sent to Congress Tuesday, makes official a compromise he put forward last week to help get the necessary votes to sustain his veto of a $19.7 billion education-health money bill.

The $449 million Nixon is now willing to spend over his budget amounts to a 63 per cent cut in the $1.2 billion Congress added to the vetoed bill. Some of the key Democrats who helped add the original funds, say they will fight any cut that amounts to more than 10 per cent.

GOOD QUESTION
The program, which provides funds for school districts in which large numbers of children in a House appropriations subcommittee where little progress was reported Tuesday after another session. Members said there was only an outside chance that a bill would be ready for House action before Congress takes a week-long recess starting Feb. 10.

In a letter outlining his new proposal Nixon said the extra $449 million "does not contribute unduly to inflationary pressures which today are of serious concern to the entire nation."

Nearly half the added funds—$238 million—would be for the impacted area aid program which Nixon has sharply criticized and for which he has declined to budget any money for next year unless it is drastically revised. His new proposal would increase the appropriation for this year to $440 million.

Senate Panel Wants To End Occupational Deferments

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has called for sweeping executive and legislative changes in the Selective Service system to make the draft fairer and more uniform.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called on the Nixon administration Tuesday to end occupational deferments immediately, student deferments in time of conflict, abolish state and local quotas, establish a uniform national policy and kick the military out of the Selective Service system.

"Of necessity," the subcommittee report said, "the military traditionally operates with less regard for individual rights and procedural niceties than we expect and require in civilian life."

The report suggested Congress consider the need for a selective conscientious objector status.

One committee witness proposed a draftee seeking such status should be "required to undergo noncombatant service of comparable risk to that undergone by draftee" and if this were not possible "to serve for a longer time."

The report said the lottery of last Dec. 1 which used birthdates to determine order of call-up did not actually achieve random selection.

"Instead," the report said, "birthdays from the end of the year were disproportionately near the top of the induction order."

The subcommittee concluded that "such disparity is extremely significant and must stem from the failure properly to mix the capsules containing the birthdates."

As a result, the report recommended that future random selection be achieved by use of computers.

The report said only hardship and high school deferments should be continued in time of conflict.

The report suggested the administration could restructure the system into a consolidated selective service system.

This would include a national headquarters to establish policy, eight regional offices to monitor uniform application and 300 to 500 area offices to "register and classify young men."

The subcommittee said the director and the staff of the system should be civilian, and the director should be limited to two terms of five years.

Included in the subcommittee's recommendations was the suggestion of a detailed appeal procedure that would permit a registrant to have counsel and call witnesses.

SOVIET UNION'S WARNING TO WESTERN POWERS

Ploy Designed To Perk Up Arab Morale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli military sources claim there is less likelihood of a major Middle East war developing now than last summer when air and land battles broke out along the Suez Canal. These sources regard the Soviet Union's warning to the United States and other Western powers as a ploy designed to buck up Arab morale.

WIFE OF THE VEEP — Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, wife of the vice president, says she is astonished at the busy pace, unruffled by criticism and worried about her youngest daughter Kim. Mrs. Agnew made her remarks during a Washington news conference yesterday.

Despite the re-equipping of the Egyptian army and air force and the guidance of about 3,000 Soviet advisers, the Israelis said, the battles of the past seven months have demonstrated the Egyptians are not ready to undertake any big offensive. The Israeli military sources claimed the Russians have given Egypt about $2 billion in arms and equipment since the forces of President Gamel Abdel Nasser lost much of their Soviet-provided gear in the six-day war of 1967.

But the Russians haven't yet been able to get the Egyptians to use their weapons and materiel effectively, the Israelis said. They praised the Soviet equipment as first rate.

The Israeli military men indicated both sides have learned from the fighting, which has raged more or less continuously since last July, though on a limited scale. But they sounded confident the advantage still is with their pilots and ground fighters by a wide margin.

The Israelis said the Russians now do most of the operational planning for the Egyptians, as well as manning certain of the sophisticated equipment. No Russians have flown combat in the Suez Canal air battles, they said. But they indicated a belief that Russians are present in surface-to-air missile sites. This raised the possibility some Soviet advisers could have been killed in Israeli strikes against such sites.

The Israeli military sources implied they are far from impressed by the kind of tactics taught by the Russians to the Egyptians. In particular, the Israelis criticized the way the Egyptians dispose their armor in static, three-line-deep defenses, in accordance with Soviet doctrine. Such

Quick Measure Of Residues

Researchers at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock have recently developed a quick way to measure herbicide residues in soil.

"In the past we had no fast or easy way to determine the amount of weed killer in the soil," explains Dr. Dudley Smith, a weed scientist directing a herbicide research project in West Texas that is supported by the Cotton Producers Institute (CPI). He presented the research information at a Weed Science Society of America meeting Feb. 3-5 in Montreal, Quebec.

A bioassay, which consists of growing a sensitive plant in a greenhouse in treated soil, is still an excellent method for determining the amount of weed killer present, says Smith. But both researchers and farmers frequently want answers faster than plants are able to grow.

Project personnel found phenyl urea-type herbicides could be extracted from the soil in about 20 minutes. Chemicals such as Karmex, Cotoran, Telvar and Moloran were removed from field samples with hexane, an organic solvent.

When ultra violet light in a special instrument called a spectrophotometer was directed on the hexane solution, the researchers could read the herbicide concentration.

"CPI supervisors think that this inexpensive analytic method will help cotton growers and researchers in other areas, too, who are involved in maintaining the safe and prudent use of chemicals in modern agriculture," said Smith.

Reporting May Be Hurt By Subpoenas Of Notes

NEW YORK (AP) — Fear that news reporting may be hurt by recent government subpoenas of newsmen's notes has been expressed by officials of the New York Times, the Columbia Broadcasting System and Time Inc.

Publisher Arthur Ochs Sulzberger of the New York Times said Tuesday he was concerned that "the increasing use of subpoenas to elicit information from newspapermen might hinder them in their pursuit of the news. It could set up a barrier between reporters and their sources of information."

Human Food From Sorghum

LUBBOCK — The increasing evidence that grain sorghum can furnish an economical, palatable and biologically acceptable protein for humans was emphasized Tuesday by Marguerite Harden, a member of the food and nutrition faculty at Texas Tech University.

In a paper prepared for presentation at the 67th annual meeting of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers in Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Harden reported on Texas Tech studies of the various fractions of grain sorghum. "Implications from the research are," she said, "that the endosperm fraction can be used best for industrial purposes, the bran for animal feeding, and the germ fraction for human food."

"Supplementation with the limiting nutrients can furnish an economical, palatable, and biologically acceptable protein product for human consumption," she told her audience.

The studies are particularly important, according to agricultural scientists, because grain sorghum has a special advantage in its ability to produce in the dry regions of the world. While it is native to Africa, where the whole grain is used for human consumption, its popularity as a crop has spread to other areas — India, Pakistan, Australia, and the United States where, in West Texas, it competes with wheat as a primary grain crop.

Record Expenses Asked By VA

Total appropriations of $8.6 billion — highest in the history of veterans affairs — are requested for the Veterans Administration in the fiscal year 1971 budget submitted by the President to Congress.

This was reported by Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veteran affairs, who noted the request was up $347 million over the current fiscal year. Included in the new VA budget is $1.7 billion for medical care, an increase of $69 million over 1970, and $228 million more than 1969. The medical care request is the highest ever for this program.

The proposed budget would permit an increase in average VA employment of 2,264 to a total of 161,520 employees. Of the added employees, 2,150 are earmarked for the VA medical program, bringing employment in VA's department of medicine and surgery to 142,152 — the biggest work force in the department's history.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Generation Gap" — the mother who couldn't understand how her kids could study with all kinds of racket going on around them.

We have become so accustomed to noise that it doesn't distract us. We can "turn it off" in our own minds. I know that I cannot study unless I am tuning out some kind of noise. By the way, I am 16, and a straight A student.

NEEDS NOISE TO STUDY BY

DEAR ABBY: Re the lady who wrote and asked you if you thought her kids could really study with the noise of a television or radio going on: You said, "Send me their grades, and I'll send you an answer."

Well, it's not necessary to send their grades. I am 17 and I do all my homework while I'm watching television or listening to the radio, and I have a 3.4 grade average.

If I tried to study in a quiet place, I would never get my work done because I'd be spending all my time trying to hear what everyone else was doing.

A radio or TV tunes out all that other noise. It works. I say let kids study in whatever atmosphere they want to study in. They are old enough to know how they study best.

LIKES NOISE IN MANHATTAN

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column recently from a mother who asked you if you thought a child could really "study" properly with the television going full blast, and the racket of a stereo and radio going on. Your comment interested me. ("Send me his grades and I'll send you an answer.")

I am a high school teacher, and I asked for a show of hands of ALL the students who made it a practice to try to find a "quiet" place in which to study. NOT one of my honor students raised his hand! So maybe the kids of today are able to tune out distractions.

TELLING IT LIKE IT IS

DEAR ABBY: It makes me so mad! Why can't parents understand us children? I saw the letter in your column signed "GENERATION GAP," and all I can say is there sure is a generation gap when it comes to "noise" and how it affects the younger generation as compared to how it affected their parents.

If I don't have some kind of "noise" around me, I can't concentrate on what I'm reading. This is the truth because I have tried to study in silence and I can't do it. I am a high school freshman and make straight A's. 15 IN AUBURN, KY.

DEAR ABBY: My kid is one of those who studies with the television turned up so high it can break your eardrum. He also claims he can "tune out" the noise so it doesn't bother him. So how come when he's talking on the telephone if somebody in the next room says, "boo" he yells, "Shut up — I'm trying to talk on the phone!"

Today, in order to land his four spade contract, South had to take into consideration the vulnerable activities of his left hand opponent during the auction.

South opened the bidding with one spade and West made a take-out double. North's raise to two spades is a preemptive measure which is designed to show good support for partner's suit and at the same time inhibit the opponents' efforts to compete. South carried on to game inasmuch as he had a very powerful hand.

clearly marked him with the ace of hearts, it appeared that two heart tricks must be surrendered as well.

In order to reduce his losers to three, South must find a discard for one of his clubs, and the only source for establishment of an additional trick lay in the rather anemic heart holding. The one chance was to find East with either the queen or jack of hearts, but the suit must be handled with great care.

Dummy was entered at trick two with a trump and a heart was led. East played the deuce, South the nine and West was in with the queen. Observe that South did not release his king of hearts for, in view of the bidding, there was no reasonable chance that the card could win a trick. West cashed the ace of hearts next and, when the king fell, he switched to the queen and jack of diamonds—dummy ruffing the latter card.

A third heart was led and declarer trumped away East's jack to establish North's 10 as the master card in the suit. The ace of spades was cashed and dummy was reentered with the queen to draw the last trump. South's club loser was now discarded on the good heart.

Observe that, if declarer plays the king of hearts from his hand the first time that suit is led, there is no way he can develop a heart trick and he must eventually surrender a club for the setting trick.

Christmas In February

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Christmas will be observed at the Al Pivonka home one day this week.

The fact that it's more than a month late will be of little concern to honored guest Army Spec. 5 Mike White, Mrs. Pivonka's brother who is en route home after a year with the 1st Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam.

The Christmas tree stands ready at the Pivonkas, just as it has since Dec. 25. A present is underneath for White.

"We decided that we would postpone Christmas until Mike got home," said Mrs. Pivonka. There will be Christmas dinner in February, too. Mrs. Pivonka will have a turkey ready.

The best gift for White, however, will be his five-month-old son, Wade, whom he has never seen. Wade was born while his dad was in Vietnam.

FOR TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGNER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today and tonight finds it imperative that you not get involved in any sort of argument. You could lose greatly — and where it counts the most with you. Take time out to quietly organize your obligations and responsibilities so you can handle them much more effectively. Upset no present plans.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Although you may have much work to do, be sure you do not neglect your friends either, so schedule hours properly. Make sure you do not waiver between the right and wrong principles under which to live your life. Be precise.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Associate and outsiders who also want your support are of loggishness, so wall and see what happens, then take right action. Be sure not to lose your temper. Have fun tonight with people you like.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You need a new perspective in life to get your routine work done quickly and then look into new ideas, philosophies. Be sure you know exactly what a new contact is thinking about. Then go ahead with ideas.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get relief from pressing duties that make you feel limited and be out to nice places with charming people. Get a new outlook on life. Try a new task where romantic interest is concerned, also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't permit persons who depend on you too much to bog you down. Get busy with other important matters as well. Take time to be by yourself and think over what you want to do. Then do it well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Plan some time with associates and come to better agreements, even though you may be very much involved with work.

Be sure to handle correspondence, business and personal, well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Doing whatever makes you happy is fine but be sure you are not extravagant at the same time. Friends can be quite delighted with you. Get that skill perfected that you really enjoy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get out into the work in outside world that you like and is profitable and keep out of the way of irate persons at home. Do some shopping, have lunch with a good friend. Home problems can be solved later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put aside all that private angling you have been doing and get busy with business and other important matters on hand. Get much accomplished. Talk over some project with an associate that will be mutually profitable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Rather than run out with a friend on some "longer," handle those monetary affairs wisely, though they may seem difficult at first. Be on the alert for ways to improve your financial position. Be wise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be sure to go along with fascinating people who have your interests of heart and can help you to gain your aims. Avoid that irate higher-up who is looking for a scapegoat. Be happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You know exactly how to get the old ad a higher-up to garner information that is important to you from others. Be certain to assist a friend who is having rough sledding. Get into something must do in the evening.

Chick Count In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico began Monday an extensive six-week survey of its agricultural system.

The fifth agriculture, livestock and ejido census, officially scheduled for Feb. 1 to March 15, is to provide data which can be used, among other things, to measure the comparative efficiency of ejidos and privately owned farms.

Ejidos are farms operated individually or collectively on land distributed by the government to heads of families.

In addition to counting cattle, hogs, chickens and other animals, several hundred census-takers are to classify land according to its terrain and vegetation.

Production with the use of fertilizers, irrigation and improved seeds will also be noted, as well as the type and amount of energy and equipment employed.

Data will be processed by one computer and about 3,000 employees who are also working on information gathered during the population and housing census Jan. 28.

Big Deal In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Real estate investor C. Wesley Goyer Jr. acquired 32 acres in the edge of downtown Dallas in what was described as a multimillion-dollar deal.

The transaction involved property sold by the Cotton Belt and Santa Fe railroads and Communications Realty, Inc., a Dallas News subsidiary.

Competent observers said the price, which was not disclosed, amounted to several million dollars and was the largest ever in the city's business district.

Goyer and associates have said the site, occupied by railroad tracks and terminals since 1882, will be developed into Griffin Square, a project costing more than $200 million. Construction is expected to require 10 to 15 years.

The initial structure is due to be a cylindrical skyscraper reaching 913 feet into the air and named the Dallas Tower. It will contain a 600-room hotel and office space, topped by three revolving restaurants and an observation deck.

Fort Worth Teacher, Wife Charged In Death Of Child

FORT WORTH (AP) — People who know Robert and Sarah Brady say they can't believe the two could have beaten to death a happy, slightly chubby 6-year-old boy who was in their custody as a foster child.

But Robert Owen Brady, 29, a sixth grade school teacher, was charged with aggravated assault on a minor child.

Lynn Mayhew, whom the Bradys cared for along with his little sister and two children of their own, was ruled dead Sunday night in a Fort Worth clinic 20 minutes after he arrived.

Mrs. Brady was released under $3,500 bond and Brady was held without bond.

Authorities said the boy's body bore areas of bruises and his sister Melinda, 4, also appeared to have been beaten.

Juvenile officials and members of the Bradys' church expressed shock and dismay.

The Bradys are members of Glen Garden Church of Christ. The congregation helped them build their home across the street from the church.

One church member, Eddie Tarbet, said the couple had been foster parents to another child before the Mayhew children.

He said their care of the girl was impressive enough for the church elders to consider them for the foster home project.

Lynn and his sister were sent by the Tarrant County juvenile probation office to a children's home after being taken from their parents because of "abandonment, abuse and poor treatment," said Wade Phelps, director of the children's home.

Lynn was to be buried today. He is survived also by his real parents, who live in Fort Worth; a brother, Joey, and grandparent in Nebraska and California.

250 More Veniremen Are Called

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — The quest for jurors for the murder trial of Peter Thomas Scarnardo resumed in 92nd District Court today with seven jurors selected in seven days of questioning.

A new group of 250 veniremen were to report to Dist. Judge J.R. Alamia at the beginning of the afternoon session.

Defense and prosecution lawyers questioned nine prospective jurors Tuesday and eight were challenged for cause by defense lawyer Percy Foreman.

The ninth juror, Luther G. Bradford of Weslaco, was dismissed after he told Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis he has been working in the Hearne area for the past nine years and is acquainted with the defendant.

Scarnardo, 32, of Hearne, is under indictment on charge of being an accomplice in the 1968 shooting death of Sam Degelia Jr., also of Hearne, his former business partner and longtime friend.

Degelia's bullet-torn body was found July 11, 1968, in an abandoned pump house southwest of McAllen.

He had been missing for five days after he vanished while on a grain buying trip in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Four of the nine veniremen questioned Tuesday expressed objections to voting for the death penalty, but Dist. Atty. McInnis did not challenge them.

McInnis has said he will seek the death penalty for Scarnardo, who is accused of offering Charles V. Harrelson of Houston $2,000 to kill Degelia.

Harrelson, who is also charged with murder with malice in Brazoria County, is to be tried on the murder charge in the Degelia slaying at a later date.

Harrelson, 31, is being held in a special cell in the Hidalgo County court house. McInnis has indicated he will call Harrelson as a witness.

Foreman, who represents both Scarnardo and Harrelson, has said he will not permit Harrelson to testify.

WORTH $30 EACH Wanna Buy A Parking Meter?

Anybody want to buy a parking meter? The City of Big Spring has 625 to sell. The only hitch is they are being sold in lots of 50 and above.

"They're all in good working condition," Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said. They were cleaned and stored in plastic bags when city commissioners voted to take the meters down about five years ago.

"They're worth about $30 each, but we'll consider any reasonable offer," Anderson said. He said the meters were not sold earlier because city officials wanted to make sure they were not going to be put back up.

"It would cost us about $3,000 to replace them," he said. The city had 746 meters in operation at the time they were taken down. Anderson said some meters were sold to Denison at that time.

Copter Gunships Help Kill 23 Reds

SAIGON (AP) — American reconnaissance helicopters spotted 100 North Vietnamese troops moving down a stream bed 21 miles north of Saigon Tuesday night, and 23 were killed by helicopter gunships, bombers and artillery, military spokesmen reported today.

No American casualties were reported, although some of the helicopters drew small-arms and rocket-grenade fire.

Military spokesmen said eight groups of North Vietnamese were spotted moving to the southwest.

"The North Vietnamese ran into a bamboo thicket," said S. Sgt. L.E. Perkins of Franklin, La., a helicopter crewman. "The gunships fired into the thicket and the North Vietnamese started running out from everywhere."

Intelligence sources said the troops apparently were from the Dong Nai Regiment, which spearheaded an offensive against Saigon in May 1968 and was badly mauled. The sources said the regiment is still under strength and short of arms, ammunition and food, but they expect it to be active during the Tet period in the area north of Saigon.

Little other fighting was reported as Tet, the lunar new year holiday, approached. A four-day Viet Cong cease-fire is scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. Thursday—6 p.m. today, EST—and a 24-hour allied truce is to start 11 hours later.

American air cavalrymen and helicopter gunships reported killing 52 North Vietnamese soldiers in two clashes along the Cambodian border north of Saigon. No American casualties were reported.

American and South Vietnamese forces said they killed another 59 enemy troops in three clashes south of Da Nang. Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two Americans and five South Vietnamese wounded.

The U.S. Command reported 31 enemy rocket and mortar attacks but said only 11 caused casualties or damage. Seventeen Americans were reported wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

American B52s kept up their heavy raids around the Ben Het Special Forces camp in the Central Highlands, 280 miles north of Saigon.

CARSWELL VOTE DELAYED—Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee James O. Eastland, D-Miss., left, and the ranking Republican member Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska meet with newsmen in Washington after yesterday's closed-door session of the committee. The vote on confirmation of G. Harrold Carswell for the Supreme Court was delayed and the committee agreed to keep the record open until Thursday for written statements by Carswell or anyone who might want to submit them.

Electoral Reform Mixed With Nixon's Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Electoral reform has become intertwined with the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell, but Chairman James O. Eastland says his Senate Judiciary Committee will untangle the two issues quickly.

"Both sides are in a trading position," the Mississippi Democrat said forecasting a break in the impasse that developed Tuesday after the committee ended hearings on Carswell's nomination.

The committee went into closed-session after hearing the final two witnesses and immediately bogged down in a dispute over when it would act on a proposed constitutional amendment for the election of the president by direct popular vote.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the amendment, called for an agreement fixing a time for a vote on it before the committee acted on Carswell's nomination. Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., balked.

After the meeting, Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., told newsmen, "If there was any action in there, it was confusion."

But the committee did table, by a 9-6 vote, a motion by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to invite Carswell to testify again to answer critics who accused him of a segregationist and anticivil rights record.

The committee then unanimously voted to invite Carswell, now a judge on the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals, to file a rebuttal statement.

Thurmond accused Bayh of blocking committee action on Carswell's nomination by insisting on an agreement first to vote on the proposed electoral reform approved by the House last September.

But Bayh said a threatened filibuster by Thurmond against the proposed constitutional amendment was the stumbling block. He moved in the committee to vote on Carswell next Monday and on the electoral reform proposal on April 14. Thurmond countered with a tabling motion but lost 12-0-4.

At a later news conference with Eastland, Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, the top-ranking Republican on the committee, said he thought a vote on Carswell's nomination should have priority.

Hruska, noting the Supreme Court vacancy has existed since last May, said "it would only take 40 seconds to vote on Judge Carswell's nomination" while the proposed constitutional amendment will require extended debate within the committee.

Eastland said the way matters now stand, the direct election proposal is the pending business in the committee but the members can lay it aside at their next meeting and vote on Carswell's nomination.

Thurmond contended Tuesday "hard-core liberals" led by Bayh were trying to prevent Carswell's confirmation by the Senate. The South Carolina senator said the issues were separate matters that should be acted on separately.

The committee closed out its hearings over the protest of Joseph L. Rauh Jr., counsel for the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, that other witnesses should be given a chance to testify and that Carswell should be recalled.

Hairy School Quiz Rejected

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge said in an opinion Tuesday that the federal courts should get out of the business of high school discipline.

U.S. Dist. Judge James Noel said, "I am convinced that students with claims against local school officials in Texas are not entitled to haul them into federal court to review their actions."

The jurist made the statement in a 26-page opinion handed down Monday in Galveston and filed with the court here Tuesday. He was ruling in the case of Richard Schwartz, 15, the son of state Sen. A. R. "Babe" Schwartz.

Schwartz had sued the Galveston School District, trying to both stay in school and keep his long hair. Judge Noel had previously ruled against Schwartz in an oral opinion last Jan. 16, then followed it up with the written opinion.

"Such claims should be submitted to the appropriate state officials for review," Judge Noel wrote, "with judicial review, if at all, only in the state courts."

He said federal review of the state court decisions could be made to the U.S. Supreme Court after all state appeals were exhausted.

Federal judges in the Southern District of Texas have ruled differently on school hair and underground newspaper cases.

Last week, U.S. Dist. Judge John V. Singleton dismissed a suspension case brought by a Houston pupil because she had not gone through the appeals afforded through the Houston School District.

Pancake Race Attracts Fems

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP) — Ten women have entered the Liberal leg of next Tuesday's international pancake race.

In the annual Shrove Tuesday competition, the girls of Liberal match their running and pancake flipping ability against the women of Olney, England. Olney holds an 11-9 edge in the series that began in 1950.

Among the entrants is Mrs. Grace Riggs, who won the title for Liberal in 1965.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal. (Matthew 6:20)

PRAYER: Our Father, open our minds to the glory of life. Guide us in finding meaning in the mental, challenge in the difficult, comfort amid the trials of life. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Possible Reform

President Nixon's plan to convert the politics-ridden Post Office Department into a public corporation fortunately has brightened prospects for congressional approval this year. It was stymied last session in the House by the opposition of postal workers' unions who feared they might not fair as well under a more cost-conscious administrative arrangement.

The issue has been in stalemate. Congress would not approve the change without the unions' acquiescence. The unions said they would not accept the plan unless allowed the right to strike, which neither the President nor Congress would condone. Nixon countered that he would veto any postal workers' pay raise bill not tied to adoption of the corporation plan. And the unions know they lack the votes, particularly in the Senate, to get such a veto overridden.

Meanwhile, the House Post Office Committee (notably Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.), White House aides, and union officials have been working on a compromise that now appears promising. Still subject to conflict on details, the compromise would be that the unions would go along with the corporation plan if guaranteed a substantial pay raise this year and a given binding arbitration on future contract disputes in lieu of a strike right, plus permanent Civil Service status.

Those concessions appear an acceptable price to get a postal service reorganization calculated to convert a $1.2 billion postal deficit into a self-supporting system in five years. The transformation of this federal department into a public corporation is viewed by most experts as the best way to turn a deteriorating service into an efficient operation. Independent bond financing for better facilities and technological innovations is among the major means of improvement.

A thoroughgoing postal-service reform should be a valuable political asset to Congress in this election year.

Murder Of The Language

Once upon a time the guardians of the King's English spent most of their time correcting the grammar, the spelling and the pronunciation of those whom H. L. Mencken classified as the "booboisie." A great deal of unselfish erudition was wasted, though, as coiners and the uncouth debased the language of the realm, even as in South Texas the language of Andalusia and Castile succumbed to Tex-Mex.

Today the most formidable adversaries of the King's English are economists. They never hesitate to sacrifice meaning for words, stringing them as one would pearls. This corruption of thought is bad enough in the English-speaking world. But the infection, inevitably, is spreading to the Asian world, where English has supplanted French as the international language.

The Economist of London recently reported on the extent of this infection, commenting on the rapidly increasing number of economic conferences, seminars, workshops and regional institutions that sprout every year in these words: "They all aim to push Asia along the road to prosperity. Together, they produce hundreds of earnest documents every week, using an English-language vocabulary apparently designed to produce maximum obscurity."

One example should suffice. The simple question was asked: "Does Southeast Asia import more household goods now or less?" The answer, from the Economic Commission for Asia, is: "Dependence of national product on exports implies also dependence on imports. The greater the degree of export dependence and of the concentration of exports, the less will be the correspondence between the commodity composition of domestic production and of domestic demand. These discrepancies determine the commodity composition of imports."

In short, not only "yes" and "no" but "maybe." The time indeed has come to put a stop to this nonsense. The time has come to renounce such terms as "stimulating Asian initiatives," and "sectoral financing of felt needs," and "escalating insignificant incidents into major interregional crisis-situations."

The Matter Of Judge Carswell

WASHINGTON — To employ a favorite Nixonian phrase, the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida to the Supreme Court made it perfectly clear — again — that distinction is only a casual requisite for a seat on the highest bench.

CARSWELL FOLLOWED in the dim footsteps of a long line of judicially nondescript, but highly political, nominees who made it. That is to say, Richard Nixon did not invent the system but has merely made use of it. Like so many Presidents before him, he kept his eye on the main political chance in his nominations of both Carswell and the unsuccessful Clement Haynsworth. Carswell and Haynsworth are Southerners. The South supported Nixon in 1968. From George Washington down through Frank Roosevelt and Lyndon Johnson, that is the kind of logic Presidents have always understood, and practiced.

CARSWELL AND Haynsworth at least are judges, but they got the nod because they met the Nixon standard of right-thinking. Unfortunately, Haynsworth appeared to be a touch insensitive about conflict-of-interest issues. There probably is nothing seriously wrong with Carswell. His problem is that there also is nothing seriously right — or, rather, distinguished.

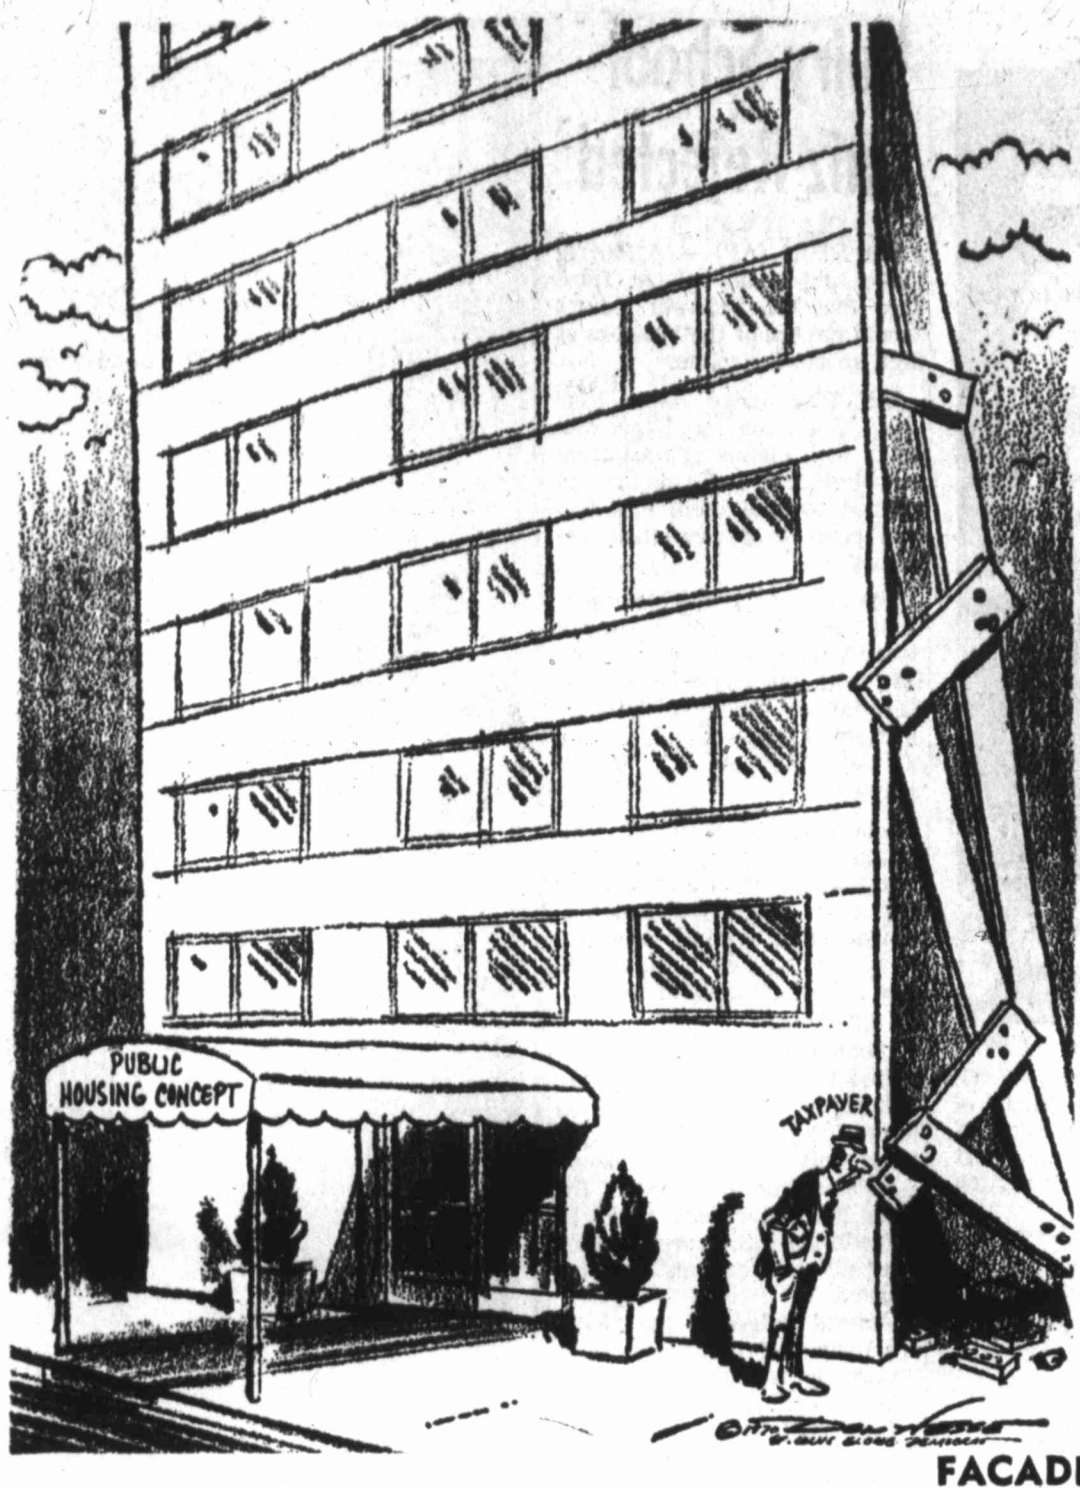

UNLIKE NIXON'S appointee as Chief Justice, Warren Burger, a judicial scholar who made a long and notable record on the bench, Carswell is professionally faceless. Perhaps it is fairer to say that his record is not so much undistinguished as it is meager. He has — perhaps carefully — done or said nothing to get himself quoted in the books or talked about by his peers.

CARSWELL, to be sure, is a strict constructionist, which is probably a good thing after two decades of law-making by the Supreme Court. In these wild days, it is comforting to hear him say "I do not think the Supreme Court should be a continuing Constitutional convention." It is not bad to be offered a nominee whose record shows a position somewhat more sympathetic to the victim of a crime than that of, say, Justice William Douglas.

NOR IS IT too disturbing to learn that in 1948 Carswell came out for white supremacy. He was running for office in Georgia at the time, and the state's voters did not elect civil rights crusaders. Anyway, he says he's changed his mind, and we should pay him the benefit of the doubt by assuming he also has changed his principles.

The tragedy of the Carswell nomination is that it rewards mediocrity. Carswell didn't hit for a high enough average to be promoted to the major leagues. Learned Hand, that brilliant giant of a justice, who never made it to the Supreme Court with the Fortases and the Warrens, is probably kicking his dog in some leafy Elysian glade.

Some Things Never Change

NEW YORK (AP) — Our lives are swept by winds of change.

As soon as we get accustomed to a new thing, it is replaced by something newer. We can't go home again, because if we do we find the old home has been torn down, so that some stranger can erect an apartment building or a glorified hamburger stand on its site.

All this incessant change baffles us, confuses us, makes us nervous. We seek the security of an anchor to cling to, something changeless and true, something impervious to time.

"Isn't there anything we can count on to stay the same?" we ask ourselves desperately. Why, of course, there is. There are lots of things you can depend on.

Such as: A shoestring will never break except when you are in a hurry. The strawberries in the bottom of a box you buy at a fruit-stand will be greener than those on the top.

No matter how mean a letter you write to your congressman, you'll always get a soothing letter back.

Any clock in a hotel lobby will be from three to five minutes late.

No matter how many closets they build in an apartment, they'll still be one fewer than a woman needs.

A dog will always wag his tail when you feed him, even though what you put before him is the kind of stuff he doesn't think is fit even for a human being.

April showers will bring May flowers.

It'll rain within 48 hours after you give your car a polishing.

The teen-agers in your life will worry more about getting pimples than getting into a good college.

Somewhere along the way some kind of disaster will happen to some of your possessions that isn't covered by insurance.

During middle age you can be sure you'll have at least one illness for which you'll have to go to the hospital.

There'll always be some kind of war in some part of the world.

Despite the fad for new names for babies, Johns and Marys will still outnumber Christophers and Kims.

The cost of living will never be what it was in the good old days.

Feminine skirts and the stock market will go up and down, and up.

Yes, despite the chaos in our changing lives, some things never change. But that isn't altogether consoling either, is it? Many we wish would.

Budget Thinking

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's proposed budget represents the serious beginning of an effort to rechannel American energies into improving the domestic environment, rather than simply defending it with arms.

Such a shift in thinking was bound to develop. It had become too obvious to Americans that while they were spending more and more millions to defend their way of life, that life was deteriorating badly.

The Nixon budget says, in effect, that while crime, pollution and the defects in welfare are brought about by deep ailments in society, the start toward correcting them can begin with the diversion of funds from defense.

It will be the first time in 20 years, the President said, that the federal government will spend more on human resource programs than on defense. If it works out, that spending will be 41 cents of each tax dollar for human resources and 38 cents for defense.

The curtailing of defense spending is viewed also as part of the battle against inflation. By restraining such spending, it is assumed that pressures on prices will be made throughout a large area of the economy.

There appears to be a weakness in the battle plan, however, for the President is attempting to shift the course of the nation, to begin new efforts, while unfinished business remains.

The main unfinished business, of course, is Vietnam. The President declined to estimate the cost of the war during the fiscal year and thus suggests that his budget surplus is precariously balanced and uncertain.

An escalation of the war could eliminate the anticipated $1.3 billion surplus. But perhaps a further slowdown of military activities could provide him with a larger surplus.

Another bit of unfinished business is inflation. If the dollar's value continues to erode, the President, like other Americans, is going to find his budgeted funds won't stretch as far as he had hoped.

The current surge of inflation apparently has made the President feel that good housing, a requirement of any program to improve the quality of life, must be postponed.

The reasoning for such an attitude is based on the assumption that the recession in the housing industry is the result mainly of high money costs and that the industry cannot recover until these costs come down.

In the Nixon view, however, money prices aren't going to fall until inroads are made against inflation: by balancing the federal budget and reducing the federal government's need for competing in the money markets.

In fact, the need to control inflation is denying the administration the energy it needs for any vigorous reordering of priorities. It is a shift of thinking but is only the beginning of the reordering.

Around The Rim

Those Winter Spells

This has been a wintry winter. With the exception of a few days of moderate weather, and even fewer of spring warmth, we have had what Californians call an "unusual" winter.

IT IS NOT, however, our most severe siege of cool and cold weather. Many years hold sterner records by far in this respect. Probably the record for sustained cold was in 1963 when there were 22 consecutive days when the minimum reading was below freezing. The year 1968 produced 23 days in a row of that sort of temperature, but one of those days had an even freezing 32 degrees — but it was the 29-day stretch in 1963 that took the honor for sustained, sharp cold, for the average minimum during that period was little over 10 degrees.

DURING THAT period, there were two days when the temperature dipped to five below (Feb. 11-12) and the day following the mercury got up only to six degrees.

Yet, the distinction of the lowest reading goes to 1933 when a February reading sank to seven below zero.

Comparatively few years generate zero or below readings. It happened with minus three in 1909; minus four in 1911; minus two Feb. 2, 1951; minus one Jan. 4, 1947; and zero on Feb. 1, 1951.

IN 1966, during that prolonged cold spell, the temperature dropped to four degrees on successive days (Jan. 22-23). It touched five degrees on Feb. 4-5 in 1950 and on Feb. 7, 1961. There were six-degree readings Feb. 8, 1961, Feb. 13, 1962. Also Feb. 1, 1963, Jan. 15, 1949, and Jan. 29, 1943.

Other readings of less than 10 degrees include seven degrees in January, 1948, and November, 1911: eight degrees on Jan. 28-29, 1951, Feb. 25, 1960, Feb. 20, 1963 and Jan. 12, 1964; minus nine Feb. 2-3, 1947.

AS MENTIONED, the sharpest temperature was in February, 1933, and there's little doubt that it hurt the most. For one thing, gas pressure in those days was tied then only to the dwindling supply in the Howard-Glasscock field. For another, a lot of home construction was rather loose. For still another, many homes still relied on wood, coal and kerosene stoves. Insulation around water pipes was almost non-existent, and heaters in automobiles were few, far-between and mostly ineffective. Engine anti-freeze was alcohol, except when a few foolhardy dared to put kerosene in the radiator.

YET THE THING that hurt the most was that this severe cold followed on the heels of some of the balmiest weather you can imagine. There had been two or three reports of impending northers, but they did not materialize.

Consequently, when word of a cold wave was broadcast, few believed it and fewer still were prepared for what came. There was some snow and a covering of balled sleet. A cruel wind made walking a painful experience. Residents, not accustomed to the icy blast, had to back up for intervals when heading north.

THE SOS first went out for water, then for food to tide over many hard-hit families, and finally for any sort of bed covers and coats. It was the depth of the Depression, but everyone responded with warm hearts that seemed to help melt the cold away.

How The Racial Question Has Changed

WASHINGTON — There is much ado nowadays about what Judge G. Harrold Carswell said in a political speech in 1948 in favor of segregation — six years before the famous decision by the Supreme Court ordering desegregation of the public schools. But it so happens that Abraham Lincoln in 1858, two years before he was elected to the presidency of the United States, engaged in a series of debates with Stephen A. Douglas — against whom he was running for the U.S. Senate from Illinois — and race problems were discussed at length. Lincoln spoke as follows on Aug. 21, 1858:

"I HAVE NO purpose to introduce political and social equality between the white and the black races. There is a physical difference between the two, which in my judgment will probably forever forbid their living together upon the footing of perfect equality, and inasmuch as it becomes a necessity that there must be a difference, I, as well as Judge Douglas, am in favor of the race to which I belong having the superior position.

"I HAVE NEVER said anything to the contrary, but I hold that notwithstanding all this, there is no reason in the world why the Negro is not entitled to all the natural rights enumerated in the Declaration of Independence, the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. I hold that he is as much entitled to these as the white man. I agree with Judge Douglas, he is not my equal in many respects — certainly not in color, perhaps not in moral or intellectual endowment. But in the right to eat the bread, without leave or anybody else, which his own hand earns, he is my equal and the equal of Judge Douglas, and the equal of every living man."

In another speech, on Sept. 18, 1858, Lincoln said:

"I WILL SAY then that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races — that I am not nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people; and I will say in addition to this that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which I believe will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality . . ."

MOST PEOPLE do not realize that the debate on the race question has been going on over a long period and that, prior to the 1954 "desegregation" decisions, the concept of "separate but equal" was upheld by the Supreme Court with respect to schools, housing, recreation and public vehicles.

Unquestionably, public opinion has crystallized more and more in recent years in favor of the idea that Negroes must not be discriminated against in the use of public facilities such as hotels, restaurants, and transportation. But the question of how public schools shall be "integrated" has by no means been satisfactorily resolved. The principle of "freedom of choice" is still being argued by both blacks and whites.

MANY OF THE Negro leaders feel that there should be black schools and colleges, and there are white leaders who say that only white children should be allowed to go to certain schools. Some school authorities, however, are inclined to favor a pattern of neighborhood schools which both white and Negro children may attend and wherein admission will be open to all children, irrespective of race, who actually live within a district.

THE PROBLEM of hiring and assigning teachers is perhaps the most difficult one of all. Federal authorities lately have been leaning toward the idea of setting up ratios so that a fixed quota of Negro teachers will be employed in each school. This is a difficult system to apply, because it means, in effect, that competent teachers who are white will be rejected in favor of Negro teachers who are not competent, and vice versa. The quality of education given students should, in the final analysis, be the real test.

In Viet War

Fewer 'Section Eights'

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Army's chief psychiatrist in Vietnam says "psychiatric casualties" are significantly less in the Vietnam war than they were in Korea and World War II.

These are soldiers with military psychiatric disorders who once were called "shell-shocked" or "section eights."

Col. Thomas B. Murray also says marijuana, which never became a big issue in previous wars, is an "important problem and the command recognizes it . . . it loosens you up and guys become psychotic."

HE REPORTED that a sampling of 500 troops arriving in Vietnam and 500 others leaving showed that 30 per cent of each group had used marijuana before coming here. Of those leaving 16 per cent said they used marijuana for the first time while in Vietnam.

"So often we see a man who is psychotic and he has a history of using marijuana," he observed.

On the general subject of disability Murray said in an interview: "Everybody seems to agree that psychiatric casualties are significantly less in this war than they were in the past two wars where we had records. And this is probably true. It's hard to judge because terminology changes.

"THE RATE was about 100-plus psychiatric casualties per thousand troops per year in World War II, 35 to 40 troops per thousand in Korea, and is around 10 to 12 troops per thousand men here currently.

"Of all those troops that come to psychiatric attention, only a very small per cent are evacuated from Vietnam."

He sets many reasons for the reduction.

"There are changes that take place," he said, "trends in administrative disposition and medical disposition and also having to do with our knowledge and our ability, a more sophisticated approach to it.

THE MOST significant factor in the reduction of psychiatric casualties, I think, is a combination of two general things and that is the relative excellence of the soldier himself and the mentally healthy environment in which he works.

He finds today's soldier is smarter, better trained, with better leadership. Other factors:

—The soldier is on a fixed 12-month tour, thus knows when he is going home and has something to look forward to.

A LOVELIER YOU Reducing Programs Call For Exercise

By MARY SUE MILLER (Second in a series of five special columns: "Easy Ways To Lose and Look It.")

In addition to dieting, effective reducing programs call for exercise. Routines need not be strenuous and possibly should not be. Actually, you cannot lose a solid pound unless you train like a pro athlete. (What takes it off is a painless diet, as outlined in this space yesterday. For full details see box below.)

And now hear this: Exercise trims inches by tightening up fatty tissues and the muscular networks that girdle flesh. You just can't get around the fact that diet and exercise are a team. So don't try. Get busy with these cinchy head-to-toe trimmers.

To perform you need a 60 inch strap or belt. Use helps speed results by resisting your efforts and thus making you work harder.

Part 1. Stand erect, grasp center section of strap with hands 24 inches apart, raise arms straight overhead and pull strap taut. Pulling on strap, slowly lower it to chest; at same time, let head fall backward. Quickly raise head and arms to starting position.

Part 2. Stretch out back down on floor and cradle arches of feet in strap. Pull legs up to perpendicular position; slowly lower to floor, always pushing hard against strap.

Part 3. From same starting position as Exercise 2, pull up to erect sitting position, then slowly lower back to floor.

Be sure to work out every day — 20 minutes is barely enough. If you perform in a body shirt, on a cushy mat to the beat of your favorite records, time flies. And inches with it.

Tomorrow: Shortcuts To Reducing.

Mu Zeta Will Sponsor 'Easter Seal Princess'

Sponsorship of an "Easter Seal Princess" contest was discussed when Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Monday in the home of Mrs. Rex Goff, 507 Edwards, with Mrs. Bob von Rosenberg as cohostess. Mrs. Owen Wormser presided.

All local BSP chapters will be represented in the contest by two young women of high school or junior college age who will vie for the title of princess. Final judging of contestants will be held during a Coke party March 7 in the home of Mrs. Robert Knight. The winner will be crowned at a benefit Jayhawk basketball game March 10.

Mrs. Jack Hallett was appointed recording secretary, and it was announced that the February social will be a breakfast after the BSP Valentine ball Feb. 14.

A program on landscaping was presented by a guest speaker, Miss Joy Wieland, who was introduced by Miss Velva Wood.

Miss Wieland illustrated "the landscape given by God," showing how man has added to it, then contrasting both with man's destruction of the landscape. The comparison was made by using slides which Miss Wieland made during a year in France.

The French countryside and seashore made a backdrop for many famous landmarks of the country, such as the Arc de Triomphe, Notre Dame, the Louvre and the palace at Versailles. In conclusion, the destruction at Verdun was shown with pictures of the ruined earth, chalets and thousands of graves. The speaker reminded the group that the country which contained all these contrasts in landscapes is smaller in size than Texas.

Take High Score At Bridge Games

Newcomers Club members met at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room Tuesday to play bridge. Mrs. Earl W. Ezell and Mrs. N. E. Picquet were hostesses. Mrs. Frederick Schultz, a guest, won high; Mrs. David Pitman won second high; and Mrs. W. H. McMullan won Bridge-O.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. George Schriever, Mrs. Lars Granath, Mrs. Richard Lavallee, Mrs. Richard Johnson and Mrs. Jimmy Newton.

The 1941 Study Club of Coahoma met Monday evening at Furr's Cafeteria to hear a book report by Mrs. Herman Smith. Mrs. Rod Tiller, program leader, introduced Mrs. Smith, who reviewed Ruth Montgomery's book, "Search For the Truth."

Miss Montgomery is authoress of "Gift of Prophecy" which is about the life of Jean Dixon, who predicted the death of President John F. Kennedy. "Search For the Truth" was largely based upon the life of Edgar Cayce, a prophet and healer during the 1920's.

Mrs. Smith concluded her review by saying, "Time is the most precious thing in life. To waste golden moments is to cheat yourself. To live for self alone is to destroy oneself. God is eternal and every man is a part of that divine destiny."

TOP SERGEANT — C. M. Sgt. Donald Harlow (left), chief master sergeant of the Air Force, talks with C. M. Sgt. Herbert Craig, wing sergeant major, and M. Sgt. Raymond White (center) following the joint junior officer/non commissioned officer dining-in at Webb Air Force Base Tuesday evening.

GENERAL GREETED — Brig. Gen. Michael McCarty (left), deputy chief of staff for Materiel for the Air Training Command, is greeted by Col. Harrison Lobdell Jr., commander of the 356th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB. Gen. McCarty came to Webb AFB to attend a joint dining-in held by the junior officers and non-commissioned officers.

Top Air Force Sergeant Speaks At Joint Dining-In

C.M. Sgt. of the Air Force, Donald Harlow, and Brig. Gen. Michael McCarthy, deputy chief of staff materiel, Air Training Command, were at Webb AFB Tuesday as distinguished guests of the Joint Junior Officers and Noncommissioned Officers' Open Mess.

Sgt. Harlow arrived late in the afternoon and toured the base today.

At the dining-in, the first of its kind in ATC, both Gen. McCarthy and Sgt. Harlow answered questions.

On the joint council, the general called it "a worthwhile project and all commands should be urged to have one... to produce more understanding." He said, "It is always a pleasure to talk to managers of critical resources."

On the same topic, Sgt. Harlow praised its value as a management tool. However, he also mentioned he would like to see the dining-outs, because of the recognition which Air Force wives should receive for their support.

After dinner, Sgt. Harlow was introduced as guest speaker by C.M. Sgt. J. R. Young.

He expressed the need for better understanding and communication at all levels between the members of the Air Force.

"In the past, the military and civil industry were based on unquestioned discipline," said Sgt. Harlow. "Whatever said was taken at full value and the order was carried out. The people in those days were born and reared under a different social system, a less sophisticated society and therefore took orders without questioning." He also added that in the past there was more individuality and therefore the young did not seek as much of it or rather tried to show less of it than they do now.

"Today's youth have a feeling they have lost their identity and are searching for it. Unlike the old days, people are more intelligent and therefore question everything they do. As an example, meetings are now required at every level to make sure an individual gets the feeling of belonging to a unit and becoming a vital part of the organization."

"The United States Air Force is the greatest company in the world and therefore must strive for this continuation of communication among its personnel," he said.

He stressed that NCOs and junior officers are entrusted with this duty of trying to communicate with the troops.

"Because of cutbacks in the budget, Air Force personnel strength has lessened and this requires even greater devotion to duty and country," said Sgt. Harlow. He said in this period of flux, many could easily fall under the spell of despair and forget their responsibilities. He concluded that a positive attitude is the only way to get around the problem and at the same time achieve the best results. Only with proper attitude can the troops be led to accomplish their duties.

He suggested individuals should take inventories of themselves and practice self criticism, understanding and suppression of selfish pride.

"Remember that the supervisors are dealing with younger people who are different and need different methods of coaching and leadership," he urged.

Sgt. Harlow said "We are truly our own bosses when it comes to concern and cooperation. Whatever we do is quickly reflected in the people who work for us."

Master of ceremonies was Sgt. Young and vice-master of ceremonies was 1st Lt. Norman Stocum.

Trailer Houses Okayed For Residential Zones

The planning and zoning commission approved today requests for zone changes permitting trailer houses in residential neighborhoods and labeled another at a regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

No opposition was heard to any of the requests considered, but the commissioners decided to table Frank Parker's request to move in trailer houses on four lots along Mesquite, until he was available to explain the project more thoroughly. Parker had no representative at the hearing.

Joe Underwood presented a list of signatures to the commission which he had obtained from residents around the 3,000 block of Cactus which showed that the area's residents had no objection to his moving a trailer house to 3002 Cactus as a supplemental dwelling behind a house belonging to his father, C. B. Underwood. The commissioners approved his request unanimously.

Commissioners also approved a request submitted by Darrell Shortes to allow him to move trailer houses onto 1201 and 1203 Mobile in the Wrights Airport Addition. Chairman J. W. Sheppard said that, since there was a heavy commercial district near the location and no opposition was present on the proposal, that there was little chance of the project reducing residential land values in the area, and recommended approval.

John Spillman's request for a specific use permit to sell beer and wine at a Pizza restaurant, under construction at 1702 and 1704 Gregg, was approved by the commission with one dissenting vote being cast by J. D. Jones. The permit will allow Spillman to sell beer and wine only for on-premises consumption.

Statement Triggers Stock Market Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, starved for an encouraging word, feasted Tuesday on remarks by Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy indicating that lower interest rates may be just around the corner.

"That happy day may be closer to hand than most people realize," he said in a speech that triggered a rally on Wall Street.

Sluggish until Kennedy's statement reached investors, the market broke loose in heavy trading. The Dow Jones industrial average rocketed from a loss of 8.97 points to a gain of more than 18 and closed ahead 11.02 at 737.46. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange soared to 16.05 million shares.

Kennedy, addressing 300 business executives at a savings bond campaign luncheon, said: "Once the inflationary psychology is broken and the business community and the public in general begin to look forward to greater stability, interest rates will drop to a more reasonable level and other salutary effects will be felt throughout the economy."

In answer to a later news conference question as to when interest rates would decline, Kennedy said: "I don't have a date."

Monetary restrictions have been named by brokers as the main cause of the market's sharp decline in recent months. Investors, at least initially, seemed to ignore Tuesday some words of caution interlarded among Kennedy's optimistic remarks.

In this vein, he said that for "those who doubt the determination of our anti-inflation effort"

TREASURY SECRETARY SPEAKS — Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy repeats for newsmen belief he voiced in luncheon talk in New York Tuesday that lower interest rates for borrowers "may be closer to hand than most people realize." The stock market rallied sharply after Kennedy's observation.

Mass Transit Subsidy Bill Sent To House

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a relatively smooth ride through the Senate, a $3.1 billion mass transit subsidy bill may face rougher going in the House as supporters begin the push for final action this session.

The Senate gave the measure overwhelming 83-4 passage Tuesday, bolstering the hopes of sponsors that the House's traditionally less-friendly attitude to such legislation can be overcome.

The House Banking Committee announced the start of public hearing March 2 on the bill. But the real trouble could come in the powerful House Appropriations Committee.

That committee is expected to oppose the contract authority feature of the bill, feeling it amounts to backdoor financing.

But Senate sponsors said the new federal grants and loans proposed under the measure would save many subway systems now on their last legs, make it possible to start new ones in cities across the nation, cut traffic congestion, and reduce air pollution.

Originally, supporters hoped for a bigger program, wanting the aid to come through a trust fund as highway spending is financed.

But President Nixon rejected the trust fund idea. This led to a compromise under which the contract authority provision was substituted.

In addition, the total authorization was held to $3.1 billion instead of the $10 billion originally suggested, and strict limits were put on the amounts that actually could be spent in the early years.

Under the compromise, cities could be allowed to let contract totaling $3.1 billion at once. But only $80 million could be spent in the first year, and a total of $1.86 billion by the end of the fifth year. The remaining $1.24 billion could be paid out in later years.

The federal aid could be used for land, rolling stock and various types of equipment. It would pay two-thirds of the cost of the projects covered.

The federal money is intended for both large and small cities. But most of the two days of Senate debate centered on the effort to build new, or expanded, or improved rail systems in large urban areas.

Senators from the largest states said the $3.1 billion was hopelessly inadequate for the big cities.

Preview Of Campus Revue Reveals Top Performance

Take some excellent musicianship, put it in professional stage settings with brilliant lighting effects, touch it up with beautiful costumes and add a big dash of the exuberance of youth — and you come up with CR 7.0.

That's the newest version of the Big Spring High School's Steer Band extravaganza. It will be showing Thursday through Saturday nights at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium, and you'd better hurry to get your tickets. Everybody else will be going to enjoy as spicy an evening as local talent can present.

The great mass of students — all of them Steer Band members — staged a preview Tuesday evening for a large number of invited guests including patients from the Big Spring State Hospital. They got a resounding ovation.

The show called for a bit of smoothing up in pacing, timing and better sound, but you may be sure the regular productions will have met these problems.

The revue mixes special solos with mass vocal and choral numbers. There are few dull moments, and many high points. The liveliness and vivacity of the young people make up for any faltering of talent.

When you enter the auditorium foyer, you'll get the theme of the evening. There are animated puppets and specially costumed usherettes, with colorful programs of an old-time circus nature.

Perhaps the best chorus number is "Carnival," a specacular that concludes the first portion of the show. It is matched by the concluding "Steer Band Sing Out" which brings down the curtain with rousing music.

For sheer musical talent, the Golden Horns Stage band won laurels with several selections, ranging from "Getting Sentimental Over You," to "Cold, Cold Heart." These young people are experts.

In memory of eras before their time, the performers resurrected "Honey Bun" from "South Pacific" and an earlier time of fan dancers and bubble dancers in "This Was Burlesque."

The bandsters adapted to soul-type music and modern dancing in "Rhythm Of Life," featuring James Person, a young man with show-biz talent. The show was interspersed with trap-door puns and gags.

Another Dose Of Norther

Still another dose of winter cold headed into Texas from the west today while the state still was trying to shake off effects of the last onslaught.

Forecasts indicated the new norther, due to arrive tonight and to finish crossing Texas by Thursday, would be mostly dry with only a few showers near the coast in prospect.

Freezing weather again reached as far south as the Upper Texas Coast near dawn, but temperatures in the colder sections stayed 10 to 15 degrees higher than the day before.

The early morning marks ranged from 27 degrees at San Antonio up to 48 at Galveston.

It was 28 at Wink, 29 at Dalhart, Lufkin and Tyler, 30 at Austin, Mineral Wells and Texarkana, 31 at Killeen and Longview, and 32 at Beaumont, Denison, El Paso, Houston, Port Arthur and Sherman.

In education, Mitchell said in the report Tuesday there was "more desegregation this year than in any previous year, and it was accomplished relatively smoothly and not by confrontation."

Volunteers Save Burrus Residence

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department arrived just in time to save the home of Mrs. J. W. Burrus, a mile and a half west of Vincent at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Fire, which appeared to have originated from burning weeds, destroyed a small out-building which served as a garage and was spreading to the roof of the Burrus home when the fire equipment arrived. The burning shingles were quickly extinguished.

Sen. Hall Asking Court To Let Him Challenge

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, pleaded with the Texas Supreme Court today to let him challenge Gov. Preston Smith in the May 2 Democratic primary.

In a preliminary hearing before the court, Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, acting as an attorney for the state Democratic Committee, argued that Hall was ineligible because of a constitution prohibition that says any legislator whose term has not expired cannot hold a state office whose pay was increased during the lawmaker's tenure.

Hall made a surprise announcement Monday of his intentions to run for governor on the last possible filing day. Then state Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum turned down Hall's application on the grounds it violated a state constitution provision.

John Hill, an unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate opposing Smith in 1968, argued for Hall that the constitution should not be so narrowly interpreted. If enforced as the state Democratic Committee demanded it would make legislators of the future vote against all pay raises of state officials to protect their right to run for such offices, Hill said.

New Police Chief

BROOKSIDE VILLAGE, Tex. (AP) — Aldermen here are scheduled to discuss Thursday the salary and starting date for their newly-appointed police chief, Arnold B. Watson.

Watson, former justice of the peace at Pearland, was named police chief of the incorporated village between Pearland and Houston last week.

Sgt. Wharton Is Sole Heir To $45 Million Estate

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today made final its decision that Army Sgt. Albert Buckman "Bucky" Wharton III is the sole heir to the $45 million Electra Waggoner estate.

The court turned down five separate motions for a rehearing on its Nov. 19 decision in favor of the 22-year-old soldier, currently stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and scheduled for discharge in June.

Included among those asking for a rehearing was Wharton's adopted sister, Rita, who claimed a share of the estate.

The Supreme Court's Nov. 19 ruling upheld decisions of a Vernon district court and the Amador County Court of Appeals. They found that Electra Waggoner intended for her wealth to pass only to her direct descendants upon her death and the deaths of her two sons, Tom and Albert Buckman "Buster" Wharton Jr.

"We cannot believe that this court will thoughtfully and ultimately place its stamp of approval upon a decision that adopted children are presumptively excluded from a devise to the children or issue of their adoptive parent," attorneys for Miss Wharton said in the request for a rehearing.

Other claimants to the fortune included Lula Judd Wharton Van Hoose, "Buster" Wharton's widow.

"Bucky" Wharton is the grandson and only living descendant of Electra Waggoner, daughter of cattle and oil magnate W. T. Waggoner. Miss Waggoner was the namesake of Electra, Tex.

The Electra Waggoner fortune was estimated at $45 million in 1967 and included more than a quarter of a million acres in six counties.

W. T. Waggoner began building his cattle empire before the turn of the century and had amassed more than a million acres by 1903. Oil was discovered on his land. He also had extensive financial interests in Fort Worth and built the famous Arlington Downs Race Track between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Waggoner established the W. T. Waggoner Estate in 1923, allotting a third of it to each of his three children, Electra, Guy, and Paul. He died in 1934.

Electra died in 1925, leaving half the income from her share of the Waggoner estate to each of her two sons, Tom and Albert. Tom died without children in 1928. Albert had only one son, "Bucky," in addition to his adopted daughter, the child of his second wife.

Flu Is Blamed For Absences

Most schools in Howard County are reporting larger-than-average absentee rates and "the flu" is getting the blame.

At Goliad Junior High three students were reported hospitalized last week with light pneumonia, however, school officials said the students are back in school this week.

Most schools said their heaviest absenteeism was last week, and absences are nearly back to normal this week. However, Elbow Elementary officials said the number of absences this week are about the same as last week. Elbow is averaging about 25 absences per day. Normal absence rate is about five.

Coahoma, Forsan and Sands officials all said their schools were close to normal in absence rate this week. Though Sands was hard-hit last week when four of 20 teachers were sick and absences averaged about 25-35 per day.

Lopez Is Now In County Jail

Abraham Flores Lopez, 38, charged in the shooting death of Severo Arispe, 34, early Sunday morning, was transferred to Howard County officials this morning to await grand jury proceedings and is under $10,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Arispe was dead on arrival at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital at 12:30 a.m. Sunday following an incident in which his assailant shot him once in the chest with a .22 calibre pistol.

Police said Lopez has made no attempt to make bond while he was confined in city jail. He gave himself up at the police station around 5:15 p.m. Sunday and his bond was set shortly thereafter.

The weapon sued in the alleged murder has not been recovered, police said this morning.

Youths Clear Up Burglaries

Two area burglaries have been cleared up with the arrest of four juveniles, Keith Jones, juvenile officer, said today.

A San Antonio boy, 15, has been transferred from Dumas to Howard County jail. He is under suspicion of burglary here and is being held pending further investigation.

The arrest of three 15-year-old boys has cleared up the Jan. 24 burglary of Coahoma School, in which a stopwatch and some school supplies were taken. Jones said the items were recovered. The boys were counseled and released to their parents. They will remain under the supervision of the juvenile officer.

Jones counseled and released a 14-year-old girl Tuesday for domestic problems. A 14-year-old girl was also referred this morning as a runaway. He is holding her, pending further investigation.

Tag Sales At Steady Pace

Approximately 1,400 license plates were sold in the courthouse in the first two days they were on sale. Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax collector, said this morning. Of these, only 175 were mailed.

She said residents seemed to be coming in at a fairly steady pace and lines were short and were moving quickly. Substitutions in Forsan City Hall, Webb AFB Credit Union and Newsom's have not reported total sales. Mrs. LeFevre's office has collected $24,665.18.

Cost of the passenger car tags is decided by the weight of the automobile. Tags for cars weighing below 3,500 pounds cost $12.30; between 3,501 and 4,500 pounds, $22.30; and between 4,501 and 6,000 pounds, $30.30.

Businessmen Report Rash Of Burglaries

Police are investigating a spate of burglaries and attempted break-ins in the commercial district around the 100 block of Lancaster which were reported this morning when employees began arriving for work between 7 and 9 p.m.

Caprock Beverages Inc., 108 Lancaster, was burglarized by thieves who forced a hole in a corner of the building and took the safe door from its hinges. Wayne Nichols, 710 Abrams, reported the incident around 7:15 a.m. and said he would have to inventory his stock before he could determine if anything is missing.

Hayes Stripling, 613 Edwards, owner of Stripling Supply Co., 100 Gregg, told police someone apparently tried unsuccessfully to force a door and several windows at the building.

Employees of the Saunders Company, 100 Lancaster, said two candy machines had been tampered with in that building, but the would-be burglar was again left empty-handed.

A latch on a back door of the Western Glass and Mirror Co., 102 Lancaster, was broken and approximately $30 in currency and coin were taken from a cash box.

In all four incidents the burglars appeared interested only in cash, police said. Valuable tools and equipment were left behind in each incident.
