Direct Look Can Trigger Eye Damage

NEW YORK (AP) — Two major organizations of eye specialists have expressed grave concern over the danger of eye damage to persons watching Saturday's eclipse of the sun.

The American Association of Ophthalmology and the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness emphasized the following points through the National Science Foundation:

—Incautious watching of an eclipse may result in burning the retina, the delicate back inner layer of the eye where images are transmitted to the brain.

—You can't tell when such damage is taking place because the retina is insensitive to pain.

—The damage produces a blank spot in an individual's field of vision—at the vital area used for reading and fine seeing.

—The damage is permanent—incurable.

—While sunglasses, smoked glass or photographic film may eliminate the glare, they do not block infra-red rays that can cause damaging burns.

The ophthalmologists offered this advice:

—You can see the eclipse better by not watching it. Instead do what the experts do—watch the image of the eclipse using a pinhole device.

—A projector for use in watching the eclipse may be made with two pieces of white cardboard. A pinhole or pencil hole in the top cardboard will project and focus the image of the eclipse on the second cardboard.

—The size of the image may be changed by altering the distance between cardboards. Do not look at the sun through the pinhole.

U.S. Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld says the safest way to watch the eclipse is on television.

In the past, he said, the majority of eclipse eye injuries occurred in children from 9 to 15 years of age.

The blindness society found 247 cases of eye damage after the last major solar eclipse in the United States in 1963, and it checked fewer than half the country's ophthalmologists.

The only time it is safe to look at an eclipse is when it is in its total phase. The moment the moon moves to allow light to flow past, the danger returns.

Saturday's eclipse, weather permitting, may be seen in totality by millions along the southeast coast of the United States, in Mexico, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

Fined For Cussing Tampa Detectives

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Janis Joplin has been fined $200 for cussing out police detectives who interrupted a rock concert she gave last year.

The fine was levied in Municipal Court Wednesday after the singer's lawyer entered a plea of no contest. Miss Joplin did not appear.

The singer was said to have used obscene language when detectives speaking through bullhorns sought to calm down her teen-age audience.

O'Brien Unanimously Elected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien was unanimously elected chairman of the Democratic National Committee today to preside over the comeback efforts of a divided, debt-plagued party.

His only announced rival, Gordon St. Angelo, the Democratic chairman of Indiana, withdrew at the last moment for the sake of party unity.

The national committee quickly ratified the O'Brien draft designed by the party executive committee after efforts to find another consensus candidate ended in a stalemate.

"This man has a record, as our chairman and as our leader," said Jacob M. Arvey of Chicago.

O'Brien succeeded Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma in a reversal of the Democrats' last change in leadership. In that switch, a scant 14 months ago, O'Brien resigned the chairmanship and Harris took the job.

Black Market Money Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State and Treasury departments have been asked to probe charges U.S. civilian pilots each week airlift $400,000 in illegal cash from the Saigon black market to money dealers in Bangkok, Thailand.

The team of investigating senators who made the charge want to know also why money from a U.S.-financed fund — intended to help stabilize the currency of Laos — found its way to a secret, code-named, black market transfer account in a New York City bank.

Chau Guilty Second Time

SAIGON (AP) — A military court sentenced National Assemblyman Tran Ngoc Chau to 10 years in prison today after convicting him for the second time of pro-Communist activity.

The prosecution asked for the same 20-year sentence the same court imposed a week ago, but the five officers halved it. They reached their verdict an hour after the final arguments.

Thousands Of Texans To Lose Jobs At Bases

Welfare Measure Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee approved today a sweeping welfare reform bill, and Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., gave it his support.

The bill closely follows President Nixon's recommendations. The formal approval followed committee agreement on major provisions last week.

Mills' open support boosted the already strong chances that the House will pass the measure in about two weeks.

Previously the Arkansas Democrat had declined to support the measure publicly, although he said he would not block its way to a House vote. Now, in addition to sponsoring the bill, it is understood Mills also will handle it on the floor.

Two principal considerations influenced Mills' decision.

—He is satisfied the welfare broadening can be financed within the administration's $4.4 billion budget figure. Some estimates received earlier by the committee put the cost more than $1 billion higher.

—The committee tightened the requirements that able-bodied adults in recipient families make themselves available for work and training.

FAMILIAR SIGHT — The outgrowth of weeds in lawns around the city are another harbinger of Spring, and residents with hoes are seen almost every day. Tom Newton, city building inspector, is shown here making war on the pests.

Webb Apparently Misses Cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of military and civilian jobs at military bases in Texas go by the wayside—with Fort Worth and El Paso the biggest losers—in cutbacks announced by the Defense Department.

Ft. Bliss at El Paso will lose a total of more than 3,000 jobs while Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth will lose more than 1,100.

San Antonio's numerous installations will take sharp cuts as will Perrin Air Force Base in the Denison-Sherman area.

The Texas cutbacks are widespread and virtually every base will feel the effects.

ONE LARGE GAIN

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who announced the cuts late Wednesday, said there stands to be one large gain.

The Army plans to consolidate the Fourth and Fifth Armies and make the headquarters in San Antonio. The headquarters of the Fifth Army now is at Ft. Sheridan, Ill.

The Army will eliminate 2,994 military and 512 civilian jobs at Ft. Bliss in El Paso this spring.

The 4th missile battalion (HAWK), 56th artillery, and the 6th missile battalion, 71st artillery, will be inactivated by May.

Other post reductions and a phaseout of a high-frequency radio facility by April will lower the fort payroll of both military and civilian employees to 26,869. The savings from the cutback were put at $28.6 million.

CARSWELL CUT

Carswell Air Force Base will lose 1,081 military and 84 civilian jobs due to transfer of its entire FB-111 combat crew training program to New York.

The Air Force plans to complete the shift by June, 1971, and said the consolidation will be at Plattsburgh AFB in New York where a new FB-111 unit is being formed. The Air Force said the merger is necessary because it is buying fewer of the FB-111 planes for the Strategic Offensive Forces.

San Antonio's Kelly and Lackland Air Force bases also were cut sharply. A third San Antonio base, Randolph, will gain slightly.

The net loss at Kelly is 316 military and 563 civilian jobs, at Lackland the loss is 271 military and 94 civilian, while Randolph will gain 67 military and lose 50 civilian jobs.

OTHER BASES

Other bases with job losses above 200 are Perrin AFB, Sherman, and Goodfellow AFB.

At Sherman AFB, the number of technical training instructors will be reduced by 33 military and 12 civilian positions by June 1971. By that same date, the base will lose 127 civilian and 95 military jobs due to budget reductions "and miscellaneous Air Force management actions."

Goodfellow AFB at San Angelo will lose its security services program to Offutt AFB in Nebraska by this September, costing Goodfellow 62 military jobs. By June 1971, the Air Force will eliminate another 127 military and 42 civilian jobs.

Dyess AFB at Abilene will lose 39 military and 40 civilian positions by June 1971 due to the same budget reductions and management actions.

Those same reasons account for Bergstrom AFB's gain of 21 military jobs and loss of 57 civilian ones by June 1971.

Accuse 30 White Men After School Violence

LAMAR, S.C. (AP) — State police resumed their sweep across tobacco-growing Darlington County today, arresting white men charged with participating in a violent school protest in which some Negro pupils were injured.

Seventeen had been arrested by midnight in a sweep which began Wednesday night.

Warrants charging 30 Darlington County residents with common law riot, a state offense, were signed Wednesday in Columbia. Chief J. P. Strom of the State Law Enforcement Division (SLED) said more warrants are being prepared today.

Strom, who is in the county to direct the state investigation, said the warrants are being drawn as persons are identified from photographs taken by SLED agents at the scene of Tuesday's clash.

Those arrested were jailed under bonds of $5,000. Arraignment was scheduled today.

South Carolina and national leaders deplored the violence in which white parents attacked Negro youngsters trying to attend a newly integrated school.

In Washington, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told a news conference Wednesday: "I want to make it clear that this administration does not condone and will not tolerate violence resulting from the lawful desegregation of schools anywhere."

Earlier, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, asked for President Nixon's reaction to the Lamar disturbance, told newsmen:

"Any time a group of adults intimidates children to keep them from going to school any right thinking American would deplore and oppose that type of action."

The arrests came 24 hours after U.S. marshals had issued citations against seven white men accused of taking part in the clash.

UNION LEADERS UNHAPPY WITH ACTION

Railroad Strike Averted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grumbling union leaders postponed a nationwide rail strike today under a 37-day delay ordered by Congress that got the lawmakers out of a politically tough spot but satisfied no one else, including President Nixon.

"Ridiculous," said Sheet Metal Workers' President Edward F. Carlough, whose union has blocked voluntary settlement of the dispute over wages and job jurisdiction.

"A catastrophe," said William W. Wimpfing, chief negotiator for four AFL-CIO unions whose 45,000 maintenance and repair workers have already waited 15 months for a pay increase.

The union leaders said they would order the workers to obey the law but feared wildcat walkouts.

"The bill preserves the status quo for 37 days but does not resolve the underlying dispute," said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler in behalf of President Nixon, who had wanted Congress to order a settlement now.

Members of Congress, many of them dependent on labor support, refused to act that quickly on Nixon's politically touchy proposal to dictate a labor settlement for only the second time in U.S. peacetime history.

But Ziegler said Nixon signed the delaying bill to protect the public from a crippling nationwide rail shutdown, at least for now, while further efforts are made to reach a voluntary settlement.

"We are going to make every effort to do just that," said Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery, Nixon's chief troubleshooter in trying to resolve the long dispute.

Usery said he would start immediately trying to arrange new bargaining between the union leaders and chief rail industry negotiator John P. Hiltz, who also had strongly opposed the 37-day delay.

The delaying bill was rushed through Congress in less than 10 hours Wednesday and signed by Nixon just three hours before the 12:01 a.m. EST strike deadline. The Senate vote was 83 to 0 and the House vote 343 to 15.

"By contrast, the legislation sent to the Congress by the President Tuesday afternoon would have settled the matter in accordance with the desires of the majority of the workers involved as well as the carriers," Ziegler said.

Nixon's bill would have imposed as final a tentative agreement accepted earlier by machinists, electricians and boiler-makers unions but rejected by the sheet metal workers out of fear they would lose jobs to the larger unions.

The settlement would include a 68-cent boost in current $3.60 hourly wages, including several hundred dollars per man in back pay for 1969, and the controversial proposal permitting members of all four unions to cross each others' job jurisdiction lines to do limited amounts of work.

Sure enough, after 1½ hours of waiting, a VW van bulging with longhairs gives them a lift.

Two girls, Karen and Ruthie, wanderers from North Dakota, arrive.

For them, traveling is easier. They say they never wait longer than 10 minutes.

"But only men pick us up," Ruthie says. "The women stick their tongues out at us."

"Aren't they afraid?"

"People told us over and over how dangerous it was to thumb in California," Karen says, "but we haven't seen any kind of prverted thing. Meeting people has just been the most fantastic thing."

A well-dressed man stops for them. As they get in, so do two boys who have been thumbing nearby. The girl had met the boys only minutes earlier but agreed to front for them—one of the tricks of the trade.

"Add then there are Frank and Jerry, the former Shaggy, the latter closely shorn. They talk about LSD."

"I've had the feelings of being a murderer when I've taken LSD," says Frank. Says Jerry: "I've never really had violent feelings. Taking an acid trip is just another stage of awareness."

Scrawled on a sign marking the on ramp are thoughts born of waiting.

"Been here all night. Wish I was in Seal Beach."

"God is it cold."

"No food, no water, no dope."

"I can't help it how I look. I sure am ugly but I can cook."

"Here I sit in desolation."

Fulbright Hits Laos Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says his Foreign Relations Committee needs to dig deeper into U.S. involvement in Laos despite two hours of secret testimony by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"You don't settle something in just one meeting," the Arkansas Democrat told a newsman Wednesday after the State Department disclosed Rogers' appearance.

While Fulbright said he is thinking of future committee meetings on Laos, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he feels better about the Laotian situation after hearing Rogers testify Tuesday afternoon.

"The secretary was quite responsive, made a very good impression and I think the meeting was very much worthwhile," Mansfield said. He said it is too early to tell how far the North Vietnamese offensive in Laos will go.

Mansfield, one of the senators who has expressed fears about U.S. commitments in Laos, said, "on the basis of assurances given, the Cooper-Church amendment will be honored and the administration's approval of that amendment still stands on the question of no U.S. combat troops in Laos."

His reference was to an amendment adopted last December to the Defense Appropriations Act barring use of U.S.

troops in both Laos and neighboring Thailand.

In disclosing the session between Rogers and the Foreign Relations Committee, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the secretary did so on the basis of an informal agreement with the chairman.

Rogers' appearance came just hours after Fulbright told the Senate that unnamed high administration officials feel Laos is even more important than Vietnam. Fulbright said that assessment scared him to death. Committee sources said the officials cited were neither Rogers nor CIA Director Richard Helms.

Meanwhile, two senior members of Congress scoffed at any danger of a Vietnam-like commitment in Laos.

"Anyone who says we are just doesn't know the facts," said Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said the Laotian war was part of the war in Vietnam and that air strikes should continue in Laos.

In another development, Mansfield said his hopes are higher for an early release of the transcript of secret hearings into Laos by a foreign relations subcommittee headed by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo. "I think that progress is being made towards an accommodation," he said.

GREEK CARNIVAL Military Dictatorship Bans Dish-Breaking

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's military dictatorship has imposed a lot of "don'ts" on the fun-loving Greeks, but a hell-raiser from the old days wouldn't be disappointed in the annual carnival.

The colonels have ruled for nearly three years now and the Greeks are "somewhat better behaved," one Athenian observed. But night life in the gay old Plaka district has most of the zest of former days as the pre-Lenten Carnival approaches its climax this weekend.

Lent starts Monday for the Greek Orthodox Church.

The taverns are packed with wine-quaffing couples of all ages, clapping or dancing the arm-in-arm kalamatiano to electrified bouzouki music. Once or twice a night, the band changes rhythms and a mini-skirted singer takes the mike to lead the patrons in a Western-style "shake."

As an occasional plate sails through carnival streamers and crashes onstage, she shouts into the microphone: "Don't break!"

Dish-breaking is one of the military junta's prohibitions. Others include blowing trumpets, masquerading in the streets and throwing confetti at passers-by.

The rules are frequently broken or circumvented. Some youngsters scoop up confetti

Murder-For-Hire Trial Sensational, Bit Noisy

EDINBURG (AP) — Testimony continued today in the sensational and sometimes noisy murder-for-hire trial of Pete Thomas Scamardo.

John Fischer, manager of a McAllen motor hotel and the 30th of 59 prosecution witnesses, was testifying yesterday when Dist. Judge J.R. Alamia called for an overnight recess.

Fischer testified that Scamardo, 31, of Hearne, had registered at his motel June 19 and June 21, 22, 1968, according to hotel records.

The state's key witness, Jerry O. Watkins, had testified earlier that he and Charles Harrelson, the alleged trigger man, came to McAllen on June 21, 1968. He testified that he and Harrelson also went to the red light district of nearby Reynosa, Mexico, where Harrelson met and talked with a man Watkins did not see.

Scamardo is accused of offering Harrelson $2,000 to kill Sam Degelia Jr., a prominent Hearne grain broker who was a former business partner and longtime friend of Scamardo.

Watkins, 43, of Houston, also testified that Harrelson shot Degelia to death July 6, 1968, and later told him Scamardo was going to pay him $5,000.

The courtroom got noisy yesterday when defense lawyer Percy Foreman, who represents both Scamardo and Harrelson, fired a .41 caliber revolver to prove a point he has been hammering away almost constantly since testimony got under way here Feb. 19.

Foreman was cross-examining Charles Bradley, a Department of Public Safety firearms examiner, when he reached into a brown paper bag and removed the revolver from a box.

He took the pistol to Bradley on the witness stand and asked the man to tell him what caliber the pistol was. Bradley identified the weapon as a .41 caliber pistol.

After briefly warning Bradley that he was going to fire a blank shell, the defense lawyer pointed the pistol at the floor just behind the witness chair and between the judge and the jury and fired it.

Foreman then asked Bradley to identify the caliber of the shell he extracted from the pistol. Bradley said it was .25 caliber shell in a .41 caliber pistol. Foreman then pointed out that the pistol was equipped with an adapter. He had questioned Bradley and others about the possibility of such an adapter being used to fire a .25 caliber shell in a .41 caliber pistol. The witnesses said they had never seen such an adapter.

Earlier testimony from a Bryan bookkeeper employed by Degelia had revealed that the man was carrying a .41 caliber pistol in his car at the time he saw Degelia just before the man vanished July 6, 1968.

Bradley testified earlier that the weapon was "very, very rusty" when it was delivered to DPS firearms examiners in January, 1969. He said the rust had extended to the interior of the barrel and had caused damage. He testified that 13 test bullets were fired through the weapon and five were pushed through without being able to prove that the bullet taken from Degelia's skull matched any of the bullets fired from the alleged murder weapon.

Interest Rate On Loans Cut

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A cut effective today in prime interest rate on loans from 8 1/2 per cent to 8 per cent was announced by the Bank of Commerce in Corpus Christi.

The bank reported deposits of $7,814,000 as of Jan. 22.

George S. Cone, president of the bank, said, "As a small bank, we are doing our part by joining the small banks in making an effort to lower interest costs."

Other bank presidents contacted in Corpus Christi said they had no plans to reduce the interest rate.

A WIDOW'S JOY — Mrs. Isabel Jarman, pregnant widow of a slain taxicab driver, meets with two kidney transplant recipients who benefited from her personal tragedy, Thomas Labelle, 16, of Redding, Calif., and D. Leon Beck, 38, of San Lorenzo, Calif. (right) were virtual invalids until they received their transplants. They met for the first time in San Francisco Wednesday. Jarman, 28, was killed by a robber who held up his cab last January. Mrs. Jarman is expecting her second child next week.

Nuclear Pact Takes Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ceremony, thus bringing the treaty to 46 and putting the pact in effect.

Under the treaty, the nuclear powers agree not to provide atomic weapons to nonnuclear states and the nonnuclear countries pledge not to acquire them.

In practice, the treaty will formally commit its members to policies they generally follow already. Both the United States and Russia have had policies against giving atomic arms to others. Most nuclear have not states have decided not to build nuclear arsenals.

The notable exceptions are those who have not joined the treaty, including France and Red China, already possessors of nuclear weapons, and Israel, India and Brazil, who have not made final determinations on future atomic policies.

The treaty also permits the nuclear powers to move ahead in arms control efforts. The United States and the Soviet Union are going ahead in Vienna next month with strategic arms limitation talks, begun in Helsinki last fall.

It took until today to accumulate enough ratifications to bring the treaty into force. It takes effect when ratified by 40 nations plus the nuclear three.

As of Wednesday, 40 countries had ratified including Britain, but not the United States and the Soviet Union.

By pre-arrangement, the United States and the Soviet Union — and also Malaysia, Mali, Jamaica and Peru — were depositing their instruments of ratification at the State Department

SKY BOX FOR AIR MAIL — Just for a gag, a postal patron in the East Texas town of Lindale erected a tall box for airmail and the regular mail box for other type service. The mail carrier doesn't pay any attention to the suggestion however because postal regulations set the standard height from the ground for all boxes.

Vow To Unleash Money To Battle Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has pledged to unleash a flood of money to build municipal waste treatment plants, but says a manpower shortage could delay construction of the important antipollution facilities.

Nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars needs to be distributed before the end of the year to help cities rid the nation of waterways of municipal wastes, said Tom Ferry, director of the department's grant program.

$71.5 million has been allocated. "We will give priority to making the grants," Ferry said, but a personnel shortage could possibly result in delays in construction.

The unprecedented amount of money to fight pollution, Ferry explained, has created a serious problem for the staff that must process and evaluate the scores of applications.

The Budget Bureau authorized the department to hire an additional 90 employees, and at least 50 have signed on with the agency, Ferry said. But the de-

EFFECTS OF THE PILL — Charles C. Edwards, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration presented these expressions during his testimony on the hazards of birth control pills before the Senate Small Business subcommittee in Washington yesterday. Edwards said the FDA plans to require detailed warnings of potential dangers on every package of pills sold.

'Pill' Warnings On Every Pack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson says "historic and dramatic" action by the Food and Drug Administration vindicates his controversial hearings into the safety of birth control pills.

"This decision alone justifies our hearings," said the Wisconsin Democrat Wednesday after the FDA announced plans to require detailed warnings of potential hazards on every package of pills sold.

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards announced the agency's plans as the subcommittee wound up its hearings into potential hazards of the Pill.

The FDA now requires package inserts only in shipments to pharmacists who are supposed to pass them along to doctors.

"One of the specifically enumerated purposes for the pill hearings before the monopoly subcommittee of the Small Business Committee was to examine the issue of informed consent," said Nelson, the panel's chairman.

In nine sessions, the subcommittee heard 35 witnesses emphasize a broad range of known and suspected hazards from The Pill, including diabetes, cancer, fatal and nonfatal blood clotting, high blood pressure, mental depression and heart trouble.

The hearings kicked off a storm of protest among medical experts and specialists in population control.

They accused the subcommittee of creating panic among pill users and predicted thousands of unwanted pregnancies would result. One witness said there would be "100,000 Nelson babies."

"The FDA decision to propose a package insert for the user as a matter of safety is a historic and dramatic step forward," Nelson said.

But the Republican minority on the subcommittee, focal point of charges that testimony was weighted against The Pill, served notice its campaign to "balance the record" was far from over.

"American women are entitled to know the facts and since the subcommittee has proceeded to only confuse, it now has an overriding and immediate responsibility to issue a report setting forth findings and conclusions," said Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan.

Edwards testified a proposed four-page warning would soon be published in the Federal Register—which normally would mean that it would become effective in 30 days.

Edwards said, however, that comment would be invited. If past practice holds it could be several months before the regulation actually becomes effective. Strong objections from the industry or the medical community could lead to considerable change.

Malone Elected NEA Director

AUSTIN (AP) — Supt. James Malone of the Pampa Independent School District has been elected as a director of the National Education Association.

Malone defeated John Dameron, an administrator for the Education Service Center in Midland, by 176 votes out of 20,264 votes cast.

Holdover NEA directors from Texas are Louise Emmett of Fort Worth and Elizabeth Little of Corpus Christi.

Assault Charged

A charge of aggravated assault was filed Tuesday afternoon against Bill Long, Wyoming Hotel. Mrs. R. C. Runyan, hotel manager, filed the complaint with County Attorney W. H. Eysen Jr. County Judge Lee Porter ordered an examination by local doctors, and Long was committed to the Big Spring State Hospital. The aggravated assault charge was dismissed Wednesday by Eysen.

Prosecution Rests Case In Tax Trial At Pecos

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — The prosecution rested its case Wednesday in the income tax trial of Mrs. William Elmo Carpenter.

Mrs. Carpenter is on trial facing charges of failure to pay taxes on income of more than $59,000.

Before resting its case, the prosecution called several witnesses who identified James Walter Henson, Mrs. Carpenter's brother-in-law, as the man known to them as Victor Brookfield when he accompanied Mrs. Carpenter on several business transactions in 1964.

An Internal Revenue Service agent offered testimony on Mrs. Carpenter's income for 1964. He said her income was $52,000 more than the amount she filed and thus owes an additional $12,000 in taxes.

A handwriting expert from Washington, D.C., described a letter purportedly written by Brookfield 13 days after his February 1964 disappearance as a fake.

R. B. Todd testified the letter Brookfield had allegedly written to his mother was "definitely ly a simulation of Victor Brookfield's handwriting."

The defendant, better known by her former name Joy "Rusty" Chandler, is also charged with forging Brookfield's endorsement on a $118,000 check two days before he disappeared. He was last seen at an Odessa motel.

Mrs. Carpenter claims the remainder of the money alleged to be part of her income went to Brookfield in a business transaction but there is no evidence.

The defense put three witnesses on the stand Wednesday, all who identified a picture of Brookfield as the man who was with Mrs. Carpenter at the time of the business transactions. Their testimony conflicted with that of prosecution witnesses who had identified Henson as Brookfield.

Mrs. Loretta Brookfield, mother of the missing man, told a Dallas judge earlier in a guardianship hearing that she didn't believe her son had ever received the $118,000 check for sale of mineral rights. Mrs. Brookfield died in Florida more than two weeks ago.

Grand Champ Fat Steer Will Be Named Tonight

HOUSTON (AP) — The grand champion fat steer of the 1970 Houston Livestock Show will be named tonight in the Astrodome.

Other champions were selected Wednesday as the show completed its first week.

The grand champion lamb was exhibited by Trey Kirkpatrick, a 12-year old 4-H Club boy from Venard, Trey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kirkpatrick, showed an 87-pound Hampshire.

The reserve champion lamb was a 90-pound Suffolk shown by Eddie Dusek, 9, of Van Court.

A 213-pound Hampshire owned by Kyle Hanni, 10, of Davis, Okla., was named grand champion barrow in the open swine class. The reserve champion was a crossbred, three-fourths Hampshire and one-fourth Yorkshire, which weighed 189 pounds. It was owned by Russell Windham, 11, of Lazbuddie.

Tommy Steele, 11, of Kyle showed the grand champion pen of five broilers. The reserve champion pen was shown by Charlotte Cline of Pearland.

The chickens will be sold at auction Saturday. Last year Bill Williams of Houston paid a record price of $5,500 for the champions.

Diane Linding, 17, of Johnson City, showed the grand champion turkey, a broad-breasted bronze hen that weighed 35 pounds. The reserve champion turkey was a 62-pound tom shown by Tom Harold Itz, 15, of Fredricksburg. The turkeys also will be sold Saturday. The turkey champion brought $2,250 last year.

Bands Going To Festival

The three Big Spring High School stage bands will participate in Texas third annual State Band Festival scheduled Friday and Saturday in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

The Golden Horns, the first stage band, competes at 5 p.m. Saturday. The Silver Horns, the second stage band, will play at 2 p.m. and the Green Horns, the third stage band, at 1 p.m.

that day. Jazz musician Clark Terry will serve as guest clinician. He will conduct a clinic session for each of the participating groups and will appear in concert with the Tech Stage Band at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Awards will be presented to the top bands and the outstanding musicians at Terry's concert. Bands will receive division ratings and top bands in each class will be awarded trophies.

The Big Spring bands, approximately 70 musicians, will arrive in Lubbock about noon Friday and return Sunday. Friday night they will attend a concert featuring Dave Edwards, Chicago music educator who has played with the Glenn Miller Orchestra.

Program On Eclipses Set

Gary Carlson, planetarium director at Big Spring High School, will give a program at 7:30 p.m. today on the proper procedure in watching a solar eclipse, in anticipation of the eclipse Saturday.

"Any damage to your eyes by viewing the sun is irreversible in Lubbock about noon Friday and return Sunday. Saturday they will attend through Tenth Street.

Students Storm City Hall, But Officials Planned It

City, county and district officials will turn the reins of government over to 67 Big Spring High School students

Friday morning for the annual Student Government Day.

The students will take over most of the offices of local government until noon and their official counterparts will demonstrate the workings of the various agencies to give the youngsters a first hand look at each job. The event is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and planned by the students themselves through their student council.

Activities begin with a 7:30 a.m. breakfast featuring a talk from Student Council President Lynn Cauley. District Judge Ralph Caton will welcome the students at the breakfast, and Gary Hughes will respond on behalf of the students.

City officers have planned the traditional mock city commission meeting for the young officials, and county and district officials will give their replacements a tour through the courthouse.

County alternates are Betty Looney, Peggy Grant, Roy Raney, Sue Stansland and Brenda Thomas.

County officers will be: Sam Jones, county judge; Jamie Langley, Becky Jenkins, Barbara Benson and Tracy Guess, commissioners; Shirley Pope, county attorney; Datha Workman, county clerk; Gwen Sullivan, county treasurer; Judy Dyer, tax assessor-collector; Sue Difloure, sheriff; Audrey Standard and Dana Mancill, justice of the peace; Joel Dyer, court reporter; Donna Stanley, county auditor; Mike Marchant, county surveyor; Sandy Williams, special investigator; Steve Burnett, juvenile officer; Samuel Johnson, road administrator; Patti Spier, county agent; Robert Margolis, assistant county agent; Synda Harmon, home demonstration agent; Larry Crittenden, librarian; Becky Webb, airport manager; Ricky Elliott, city-county health nurse; Bobby Carlisle, chief sanitarian; Lori Fort, and Debra Tate, Civil Defense.

County alternates are Patti Brewer, Robert Dennis, Mary Ellen Hedges, Marcia Staggs and Curtis Vaughn.

Mike Shults will serve as district judge. Verna Goswick as district attorney, and Gary Hinds as district clerk.

An undetermined amount of money was taken Wednesday night from a juke box in the Twist Off Lounge, Snyder Highway, Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard said entry was gained through prying the front door open. The top of the box had been smashed to get to the money. Standard said an investigation is still underway.

DEATHS

Arthur L. Axtens, Friday Rites

Final rites for Arthur Lee Axtens, 76, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the Nalley-Pickie Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Elra Phillips officiating. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Axtens came to Big Spring from his native state of Ohio in 1929 and had been in the commercial refrigeration business for the past 40 years.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, four sons, 16 grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and one sister. Pallbearers will be Bob Boadle, Ben Boadle, Henry Thames, Pete Hull, Elmo Phillips, Tommy Hubbard, John Annen and O. C. Lewis.

Laotian Fighting

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Pathet Lao units have been sighted as close as six miles from Vientiane airport, an indication that the airfield may be attacked, military sources said today.

The sources said the largest group of Pathet Lao sighted was during a 20-minute clash 30 miles north of Vientiane on Monday. The fight involved about 200 Pathet Lao and 20 to 30 government troops who had set up an ambush, the sources said.

There were no known casualties. Other units sighted have been small groups of up to 10 men. One group was reported to have had 12mm rockets.

Vientiane has been virtually isolated by road, informed sources said. Americans in charge of supervising distribution of rice and supplies in the surrounding province do not travel by road because of the fighting.

YOUR SAFETY IS OUR CONCERN decals will be a new accoutrement to the police "whites" beginning today. Chief of Police Jay Banks said he got the idea for the slogan from a similar one on police cars in Austin. "It is a good way to show that these guys aren't just waiting to trap somebody speeding and that they really are concerned with the public's safety," he said.

Officials Are Concerned Over Lack Of Planning

Concern over the lack of a regional planning organization for the Permian Basin was expressed by both Mayor Arnold Marshall and City Manager Larry Crow this morning after they returned from a governor's conference Wednesday on the Goals for Texas programs.

"What concerns me is that there are other areas of the state with a voice in the program and the Permian Basin with none," Crow said.

The Goals program is the vehicle the state has chosen to have local agencies plan improvements on both a short and long range basis, Crow said. Many other areas in the state have already begun planning in all areas of government through their councils of government or regional planning commissions.

he said, and implied that the Permian Basin was already behind other areas if the people of the region want to participate in the program.

"Goals for Texas is unusual in that for the first time the governor is going to the people and is asking them what they want the state to do to develop local projects for the next 10 years. The long-range effect of not having a regional organization is that we don't have a voice in the planning," he said.

Crow said most agencies of the state were represented at the conference and that many goals and preliminary plans were discussed, but that no firm plans were made.

Marshall expressed much the same sentiments as did Crow, but said he felt that the March 11 meeting in Midland of Permian Basin officials called by the governor, would give area officers the chance to discuss a regional organization.

"We hope this meeting will give us the opportunity to get some plans for a regional planning body in the Permian Basin," he said.

Jack Lemmon Sheds 14 Pounds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Jack Lemmon says he has lost 14 pounds training for his return to the stage at a local theater March 17 in Robert F. Sherwood's 1936 Pulitzer Prize winner "Idiot's Delight."

Lemmon made his last stage appearance 10 years ago in New York.

The "Idiot's Delight" revival is scheduled for a six-week run at the Ahmanson theater. Lemmon said Wednesday it might then go to New York, but that he could not afford to take too much time off from his lucrative movie chores.

'Pygmalion' Is Scheduled For HCJC Stage Friday

Big Spring audiences will get a chance to see the Globe of the Great Southwest's production of "Pygmalion" Friday in the Howard County Junior College auditorium.

Committee Favors Study By League

Members of the Chamber of Commerce governmental economy Task Force committee Tuesday heard from two representatives of the Texas Research League and decided to seek that organization's help in making a study of local problems.

James McGrew and Glenn Ivy told the 18 committee members on hand the type and scope of League studies and programs, emphasizing that if such a study is made here, it will be done with no preconceived opinions. "It will not be done to prove something you think should be done," McGrew said.

A request for a study to be made must come from the governmental agencies, McGrew said. There is no charge, as the League is a non-profit, educational organization, supported by its members. However, local businesses will be expected to defray "on-the-ground" expenses, such as travel, maintenance of staff members while here, cost of consultants and printing the final report. He estimated these would probably cost between $4-5,000.

If requested and approved, McGrew said it would probably be next January before the study could begin, which would take between 3-4 months. Such a study would be based on present legislation. A second phase was discussed that would

Teachers Getting Look At Money Management

More than a score of Big Spring teachers are taking a penetrating look at family money management.

They have enrolled in a seminar offered through the West Texas Education Center and coordinated by Lee Wilborn, Austin, educational director of the Texas Bankers Association. The local chairman is Larson Lloyd, president of Security State Bank.

This, according to available information, is the second such session in the state. The initial session was held Monday, and

Only Incumbents In HCJC Race

The two senior members of the Howard County Junior College board of trustees will be unopposed in the April 4 election.

When the deadline fell Wednesday evening, only the incumbents, Dr. P. W. Malone and John Askew Coffey, had filed as candidates. Dr. Malone is the only member of the board who was a trustee when the college district was created in 1945. Coffey, who is the board president, has been a trustee since 1953.

Forsan Has 10 Hopefuls

J. Walls, Ross J. Callihan and L. B. Lane filed Wednesday in the contest for trustees of the Forsan County Line Independent School District, giving the race a total of 10 candidates seeking three offices.

Walls, Box 555, Forsan, oil well service unit operator, and Callihan, Box 40, Sterling City Rt., telephone company switchman, are each seeking three-year terms.

Lane, Box 10, Sterling City Rt., carpenter, is joining Leon Wood and Garner Thorton in seeking the term left on the unexpired term of Tommy Albertson who resigned last month to move to Ozona.

Other candidates campaigning for the two three-year terms up for election this year include Bill Mims, Mrs. A. D. Barton, Jimmie Shoults, Burl D. Griffith and D. R. Bates.

Two More In School Contest

The race for trustee of the Big Spring Independent School District picked up late Wednesday with two more candidates filing for election.

Mrs. Mary Thomas, 805 Edwards, and Ray Thomas, 1300 E. 18th, raised the total to five candidates seeking the two three-year terms up for election this year.

Incumbent Roy Watkins, Ted Ferrell and Delnor Poss are also vying for the position. Incumbent Jack R. Alexander did not file for re-election. Deadline was 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The election is scheduled for April 4 with polling boxes at Big Spring High School and Gay Hill School.

Better Mound Staff Should Help Cincy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are no toe dancers. They come out swinging. They remind an old fight writer of a slugger with a glass chin. They climb all over you. Like Joe Frazier, but go down easier than Floyd Patterson when someone hits them on the pitching staff.

In order to strengthen that vulnerable pitching staff, the Reds made deals that brought people like Jim McGlothlin, Vern Geisbert and Ray Washburn to the club. It remains to be seen whether the new pitching can carry the load.

Sparky Anderson, a second baseman in the old Brooklyn Dodger organization who had a one-year shot with Philadelphia in 1959, has been hired to succeed Dave Bristol as manager.

As third base coach for Preston Gomez at San Diego last year, Anderson knows how the Reds look from the other dugout.

BARELY WON

"Preston asked me one day if I thought a 9-1 lead was enough against the Reds," said the 36-year-old Anderson. "I told him we'd better get some more. I think we finally won it 10-9."

"Houston had them (Cincinnati) 9-0 one day with Denny Lemon rolling along strong and wound up losing 10-9. And then there was that 19-17 game against the Phillies."

"Some people say the pitching was awfully bad last year, but Larry Shepard, my pitching coach who was managing Pittsburgh, didn't think they were so bad. He thought it was a combination of sore arms and injuries."

If getting in shape can do the job, the Reds' pitchers should be ready. Anderson has them running around the Reds' training complex until their tongues are dragging. They stoop to pick up rolling baseballs and then run some more.

"I'm not going to take any pitcher north if he's not ready to pitch," said Anderson.

Jim Maloney's contract dispute has delayed his start. The club wants to be sure it will get more out of Maloney than the 179 innings last year when he had a 12-5 record.

STILL IN DOUBT

At the moment Anderson is thinking in terms of Gary Nolan, Jim Merritt, McGlothlin and Wayne Simpson (a 7-13 rookie from Indianapolis) as his starters with Washburn, Tony Cloninger and Geisbert close behind. Add Maloney and then put Wayne Granger and Clay Carroll in the bullpen and that will do it, barring major surprises.

McGlothlin was 8-16 and Geisbert 1-1 with the California Angels. Both Nolan and Maloney had shoulder problems last year.

The extent of the Reds' pitching problem can be seen from the fact that Granger appeared in a record 90 games and Carroll in 71 for a total of 161 games from the roommates.

Except for left field, vacated by Alex Johnson who was traded to California for pitching help, and shortstop, where Woody Woodward tried to plug the gap in 1969, there are no open spots in the Reds' lineup. After all, the club hit 276 and led the league with 171 homers finishing third in the Western Division, four games behind Atlanta.

Lee May will be on first with Tony Perez at third, sluggers at both ends of the infield. Tommy Helms will be on second. Shortstop is wide open with Dave Concepcion, Frank Duffy and Darrel Chaney in the running and Woodward in the background.

Bob Tolan again will be in center field and Pete Rose, the $100,000-plus two-time batting champ, will be in right. That leaves left up for grabs between Bernie Carbo, 359 at Indianapolis, and Hal McRae, coming back after missing almost an entire year due to a broken leg.

Johnny Bench, the All-Star catcher, has the job all to himself backed up by the veteran Pat Corrales.

METS' RADIO COMMUNICATOR — New York Mets manager Gil Hodges uses a walkie-talkie to communicate between the four fields and clubhouse making up the Payson Field complex at the world champions' spring training site.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart

Authoritative people think that Curt Flood's suit against baseball's reserve clause will never reach the Supreme Court, that both sides will yield a little in their stands.

Flood could write his own ticket in the game by calling off his suit now but he'd lose a little face by doing it, and he doesn't want that to happen.

Baseball couldn't afford to abandon the reserve clause but it can amend it a little.

When the Country Club here raised its monthly dues (from $17.50 to $22.50) last year, officials held their breath, fearful many of the linksters would leave.

The membership remains constant, however. The 18-hole layout is improving all the time because pro C. G. Griffin is constantly working to better the facility.

Decision to move the dates of the annual Big Spring Invitational tournament forward a month will, quite probably, boost registration in the event.

For decades, the tournament has been wrapped around Labor Day but the list of entries has been dropping in recent years. It appears there won't be much competition for golfers on the new dates, July 31-August 1-2.

Big Spring's Charley Johnson and other Houston Oilers quarterbacks have already been called in for a council of war.

Jerry Rhome, the former Dallas Cowboy, will be working right behind Johnson this fall. Bob Naponic, who was on the Houston taxi squad last year, will also be trying to win a spot on the playing roster.

Jimmy Marcus, the one-time Big Spring coaching aide who has been head basketball coach at Lockney High School the past two years, says he has three boys worthy of all-state AA consideration.

If he had to choose, however, he'd go with Raymond Sterling, a 6-2, 175-pound senior, a Negro boy who made all-district as a sophomore and has repeated each year since then.

Sterling scored 336 points as a sophomore, 401 as a junior and 417 as a senior. He hauled down 277 rebounds this year. Marcus reasons Raymond is a good college prospect.

Jimmy was convinced Lockney could handle Dimmitt in the playoff for the 3-AA championship but conceded later that "tradition will get you 90 per cent of the time," and Dimmitt had tradition going for it in the matchup. A cold spell in the third quarter wrecked Lockney's hopes.

Elvin Hayes, the former University of Houston basketball star, has been fined so often by coach Alex Hannum of the San Diego NBA club he may have trouble making his money last between seasons.

The respected jockey from El Paso, Willie Shoemaker, believes there's too much demand on young horses at tracks.

He reasons the three-furlong dashes for two-year-olds urge bursts of speed that can kill and the continual grind at tracks is shortening the competitive lives of many thoroughbreds.

"The horses," Shoemaker says, "should be rested more."

Horsemen, of course, are in a bind because of the increased cost of operating stables. Willie, however, opines that the animals would pay back more in the long run if the owners had the finances and the patience to stick it out.

Jacks Finish On Top Of AP Cage Ballot

By The Associated Press

For the first time in 10 years a team from Texas, Stephen F. Austin, has been named the No. 1 small college basketball team in the country in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

The unbeaten Lumberjacks with a winning streak of 27 in a row and champions of the Lone Star Conference beat out the Cheyney, Pa., State Wolves, 23-1, in the final tabulation Wednesday by an AP panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters.

Prairie View gained the No. 1 spot in 1961, the first year of the AP small college poll. Since then the honor has gone to Wittenberg, Evansville, Twice, Westminster, Pa., Cheyney, Southern Illinois, Long Island and Ashland.

The 1970 laurels went to the Lumberjacks, who have dominated most of the weekly polls during the season, on the basis of 10 first places and a total of 259 points. Once-beaten Cheyney, which was No. 1 in 1966, polled 211 points, including one first place vote.

The Lumberjacks, whose regulars are Surry Oliver, James Silas, Harvey Huffstetler, Marvin and Ervin Polnick, now will compete in the NIAA championship tourney at Kansas City starting on Monday.

Cheyney will compete in the NCAA College Division championship, meeting Ashland at Reading, Pa., Friday in a first round game.

Howard Payne, another Texas team from the Lone Star Conference, finished third in the final poll with 174 points. Rounding out the Top Ten were Central Washington, Maryland State, Youngstown, Ashland, Puget Sound, South Dakota State and St. Mary's, still another team from Texas.

Completing the Top Twenty were Kentucky State, Philadelphia Textile, Louisiana Tech, Oral Roberts, Southwestern Louisiana, Augusta, Ga., Wartburg, Linfield, Eastern New Mexico and Central State of Ohio.

The final Top Twenty in the 1970 small college Associated Press basketball poll with first place votes in parentheses. Total points are on basis of 20-16-14-12.

Houston Supplies Half Cage Field

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Cougars and the Rice Owls—two basketball teams from the same city—will provide half the field Saturday night in the first round of the NCAA playoffs in Fort Worth.

The Cougars, ranked 13th nationally with their 24-3 season record, meet Dayton (17-7) in the first game while Rice with a 14-10 mark tangles with fifth ranked New Mexico State (24-2) in the second contest.

For independent Houston NCAA tournaments are nothing new. The Cougars have participated four times in the last five years, going to the four team finals in 1967-68 where they won fourth place.

For Rice, the Southwest Conference champion, it is a different story.

The Owls last had a team in the playoffs in 1954 when they shared the conference championship with Texas. Prior to this year the Owls had not won an undisputed conference title since 1945.

Rice will be a decided underdog in its game against New Mexico State but the Owls were to leave by chartered bus today full of confidence.

"We're going to show up," Rice coach Don Knodel said, "anything can happen."

Knodel called New Mexico State "one of the nation's great teams."

"It's a great challenge for the boys," he said. "Everything from here on is a bonus. If they are not ready for this one they will never be ready."

The Cougars, coached by Guy Lewis, will be favored over Dayton.

"We are delighted the NCAA saw fit to invite us to the tournament," Lewis said. "I hope we live up to their expectations."

Rice is led by Gary Reist and Tom Myer, a pair of sharp shooting guards. Reist, an All South-west Conference selection, has averaged nearly 20 points a game. Myer has averaged 18.

Ollie Taylor, nicknamed the "Flying O" leads the Cougars. He averaged 24 points a game this season.

The Cougars defeated Creighton 62-58 Wednesday night to wind up their regular season with 10 straight victories.

Rice lost its final game of the season Tuesday night to Texas A&M but the Owls had already won the conference title last Saturday night when Texas A&M and Texas Tech, the only teams with a chance to tie, both lost.

Although Rice will be an underdog to New Mexico State, the Owls have whipped Baylor twice this season and Baylor had administered New Mexico State one of their two losses.

Glovers Set For Tourney

FORT WORTH (AP)—Sixteen cities have entered the 34th annual Golden Gloves State Boxing Tournament getting under way here tonight.

Some 40 fights will be on the opening night card which is scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m. in Will Rogers Coliseum.

Four defending champions, including two national champions, are in the field.

Flyweight Tony Moreno of San Antonio and featherweight Bubba Busceme of Beaumont both won their weight classes in the 1969 national tournament in Kansas City.

Other Texas champions returning include heavyweight Nick Wells and welterweight Tommy Van Hatten, both of Fort Worth.

Cities entered in the competition who have an excellent chance for the team title are San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Beaumont, Fort Worth, Tyler and Corpus Christi.

Other cities with entries are Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, El Paso, Harlingen, Lubbock, Odessa, Temple and Wichita Falls.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram sponsors the tournament for charity.

Mustangs Plan Workout At Site Of Tournament

ACKERLY — Coach James Blake and his Sands Mustangs depart today for Levelland where they will work out prior to the 1970 Region I-B Basketball tournament.

The eight-team meet gets under way at 3:30 p.m. Friday in the South Plains Coliseum.

Sands plays the final game of the first round against highly-regarded Quitaque. The two teams square off at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow.

Meadow won the tournament last year and will be back to try and defend its laurels. Sands yielded to Meadow, 61-56, after romping past Allison in the first round. After losing to Meadow, the Mustangs came back to topple Miles for third place and finish with a gaudy 27-3 record.

There will not be a third place game this year. Should Sands beat Quitaque, it would play the survivor in the Three-Way-Adrian game at 11:15 a.m. Saturday. The championship contest starts at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Sands will take the floor against Quitaque with a 22-7 record. Coach Blake said he was optimistic about his team's chances. The Mustangs split a series with Jayton, which lost to Quitaque in bi-district Tuesday night. In the win achieved over Jayton at Ackerly, Sands sometimes led the Jaybirds by as much as 30 points.

Confidence Helps Winner Of Doral

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Victory in last week's Doral Open gave Mike Hill a big boost toward future success, the latest winner on the pro golf tour said today before teeing off in the first round of the $150,000 Florida Citrus Invitational.

"Confidence," Hill said.

"More than anything winning gave me confidence. Let's face it. This game is about 65 per cent between your ears. If you think you can win, you can win."

Hill, who looks much younger than his 31 years, is a plain-spoken, up-the-hard-way sort of guy very much like his more famous brother Dave.

He's a late starter, has been on the tour only two years, and didn't really want to play golf to begin with but decided it beat driving a beer truck.

"Dave was the golfer," Mike said. "He was much better than me, always beat me pretty bad. I wasn't very serious about golf when I was a kid. I always wanted to play baseball. But my father kept on buying me golf clubs, not baseball gloves."

Hill had a checkered early career. He spent one year each in Jackson, Mich., Junior College and Arizona State, then spent four years in the Air Force.

"I didn't do much but play golf," he said. "If you've got a little talent they'll put you in Special Services and you just work around the gym and play golf. It's not too tough."

After the Air Force he spent five years "doing construction work and driving a beer truck. That's when I started getting serious about golf. I decided it was easier than working."

He had an excellent season his first year, winning more than $30,000 and finishing second in three tournaments. He slipped badly last year, dipping to only $16,000 in winnings before bouncing back.

Hill has had little formal instruction—"I kind of leach off of Dave's knowledge, sometimes."

"The ability to play, strength, timing, coordination, is a God-given gift. I have a natural golf swing. I don't mess with it much. Just leave it alone."

Hill was among the favorites for the $30,000 top prize in the Citrus, being played as an invitational rather than an open tournament for the first time.

Ducats Ready On April 1

LUBBOCK — Tickets for the Coaches All-America game scheduled here in June will go on sale to the general public April 1, game officials have announced.

Ticket orders will be accepted at the Texas Tech ticket office at 6th and Akron beginning April 1. The tickets will be available for pickup or mailing on May 1. Ticket orders must be accompanied by cash or money order. Regulations of the American Football Coaches Association, who sponsors the game, require that all ticket sales be on a cash basis.

Texas Tech option and reserved season ticket holders are being given the first opportunity to purchase tickets for the game.

Ticket prices range from $6 for sideline seats, $3 for south end zone bleacher seats, $2.50 for adults for north end zone, and $1 for high school age or below in the north end zone.

The All-America game, sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Clubs of District Two-T-2, will feature All-Americans from throughout the country.

The game is to be televised nationally, will be played June 27 on the new Astroturf in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium. Dan Devine of Missouri will coach the West squad and Charley McClendon of LSU will head the East team.

Legislative Laughs Mount In America

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — At the opening of Wednesday's session of the state Senate, the Rev. Larry Suggs, a Methodist, gave this prayer:

"From partisan debate and ministers who pray for us until we're tired, deliver us, oh Lord, Amen."

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — State Sen. John A. Nejedly favors a new leash on life for California dogs.

Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, proposed legislation Wednesday that would make it a misdemeanor to tie up a dog by a rope or chain shorter than six feet.

HONOLULU (AP) — A number of legislators have qualms about special license plates for their cars.

"I don't want my tires cut, top ripped off or car bombed," state Rep. Tony Kunimura said. "There are a lot of crazy guys here who might blow up a legislator's car."

Some others agreed. But Rep. Bernaldo Bicoy, who introduced the bill to provide legislators with distinctive license plates, argued that his colleagues "live in a glass house and must live up to certain responsibilities."

"One day I was driving down the street and saw a very well-known legislator cutting in and out of traffic," Bicoy said. "He should have been recognized as a legislator."

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — "Well, God, here we are again—praying not because we want to nor really believing that you are listening to us," said the Rev. H. Wayne Fink, in an invocation Wednesday delivered in the Kansas House and Senate.

"We pray, simply because of tradition, simply because that's the way it's always been done."

The Rev. Mr. Fink, a Baptist, asked the legislators be blessed with "open minds, clear thinking and honest motives," then concluded:

"I'm not going to take anymore of your time, God, because these men are anxious to get their trivial preliminary ritual out of the way. They want to get on with the important business and pressing duties of the day. So be it Lord."

Lions Thanked By Scouter

Monty Stokes, Boy Scout executive, Wednesday thanked the Downtown Lions Club for its long partnership in scouting. He recalled that one of the first projects of the club was to sponsor Troop 7, composed largely of boys from Latin-American families. For more than 35 years the club has continued this partnership. Stokes lauded Bert Andries, the scoutmaster, and Frosty Robison, the institutional representative.

Some 800 boys have been touched and helped by the Scout troop, he said. "When men can teach boys to apply the Cub promise, Scout oath and Explorer citizenship pledge," he said, "they give these boys a handle to hold on to as they become men. Thus, you Lions become a part of the future of this country."

Jeff Brown inducted Rocky Vieira as a member of the club. Col. John Grow was introduced as a new member. Waymon Clark, president, said that the club would participate in the birthday program for Boys Club members. He also announced a visit by A. E. Prugel, Sonora, governor of Lions district 2A-1, with the Evening Lions Club here Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Downtown Tea Room.

The district convention, he said, will be April 24-25 in San Angelo, and Aubrey Green, past international director, will be one of the speakers. March 18 will be awards day. Maj. Bill Lund urged that names of returning veterans be turned in to him so the club could honor these men.

Can Still Order License Tags

The deadline set by the Texas Highway Department for ordering 1970 license plates by mail was March 1, but Howard County residents can still order the plates mailed to them.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax collector, said the deadline was suggested by the highway department to avoid having personnel tied up at the last minute with mail orders. 1970 car tags must be attached by midnight April 1.

Mrs. LeFevre said her office issues car tags all year and she did not think she could refuse to mail out car tags after March 1.

Damper On Exam

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — When two college professors sought travel expenses to observe the habits of the Labrador retriever in Michigan, Finance Commissioner Albert Christen turned them down with this comment: "It would be cheaper to buy the dog and watch it here."

Insists Nixon Is Pinning U.S. Down In Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, urging a new diplomatic initiative for peace, charged today that Americans are being led to assume President Nixon is pulling out of Vietnam while actually he is pinning us down indefinitely in the war.

Nixon's 'silent majority' may well be 'the product of too silent a press.'

The Maine Democrat said the nation under Nixon is following "the endless path to an unreachable military victory" while the President turns his back on the Paris peace talks.

Snyder Raises Water Rates

SNYDER — The city council has boosted water rates in excess of the minimum payments by eight per cent. This is to recoup some of the additional costs from the Colorado River Municipal Water District during the past two years when a $34.5 million construction program was being pushed to completion.

The minimum remains at $3.50 for the first 3,000 gallons. All in excess up to 272,000 gallons will be at 42 cents, or seven cents per thousand gallons more. Water in excess of 275,000 gallons will be at 35 cents, or up five cents per thousand gallons.

SCOTTISH WOOL SUIT features red and white linear squares. The suit was presented by Carven at the spring-summer collection showings in Paris. The front of the long jacket is fashioned in the form of an apron, fastened underneath with press-studs. The pleated skirt stops a few inches short of the knee. The gold buckled belt, shoes and gloves are all in white leather, and the hat is in white felt.

LVN's Hear Explanation Of Inhalation Therapy

Inhalation therapy was explained by Mrs. Ollie Bransom, assisted by Mrs. Joe Ford, at the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association meeting Tuesday. The nurses met at the Veteran's Administration Hospital to learn about the hospital's inhalation therapy program and see a demonstration of the Bennett machine. Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Bransom are employed at the VA Hospital and recently took special training in inhalation therapy in the Houston VA Hospital.

"Inhalation therapy is a relatively new field and is being used more and more," Mrs. Bransom said. Various medications are vaporized into the oxygen in the Bennett machine and forced into the patient's lungs for treatment of respiratory diseases such as tuberculosis, emphysema and pneumonia.

It was reported that a scholarship had been given to a Howard County Junior College student in LVN training. Prospects for another scholarship grant were discussed by members.

Public May Attend Rally On Friday

A political rally, with the public invited to hear candidates for local office, will be held at 7 p.m. Friday in the IOOF Hall, Highway 80. Rally plans were announced at the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153 meeting Tuesday by Mrs. Homer Petty. Free coffee will be served and sandwiches, pie and cake will be sold. Mrs. John Acuff, noble grand, presided at the meeting.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at Hemphill - Wells Co. Foundation Department, 214 Main Ph. 267-8284.

Moss PTA Announces New Slate

New officers for Moss Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association were elected Tuesday. They are Mrs. Bill Reynolds, president; Mrs. Fran Bordsoske, vice president; Mrs. Joe Clark, secretary; and Mrs. Bob Wheeler, treasurer.

Sgt. Stewart Dixon, Big Spring Police Department, showed the film "Marijuana." The film stressed the importance of not legalizing marijuana, stating that the laws of the nation were made to protect the majority.

There is record of an increased crime rate among those under the influence of marijuana, according to the film. Of the users of hard drugs, 78 per cent of them started with marijuana.

In a discussion following the film, Sgt. Dixon said that "it is the duty of every citizen to report suspicious circumstances. Information can be given to the police without fear of publicity or making the informant known."

Sgt. Dixon brought a display of drugs including barbiturates, amphetamines and marijuana.

After the meeting parents attended an open house, visiting classrooms and meeting teachers. Refreshments were provided by mothers of second and third grade students. The first grade room of Mrs. Ted Hicks won the room count. The next meeting will be April 7.

Rehab Volunteers To Meet Friday

Mrs. Morris Robertson, volunteer coordinator at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, has announced a meeting for all volunteers (clinical, transportation and clerical) will be held at 10 a.m., Friday, at the center. Plans will be made at that time to assist with the center's open house scheduled March 15. Volunteers will serve as hostesses.

Couple Recites Vows In Home Ceremony

The announcement is being made of the Feb. 6 wedding of Miss Janice Haggard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Haggard of Lenora, and Randy Price Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Franklin, 3611 Hamilton, Big Spring.

The couple was married in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. Charles Mitchell, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Lenora conducting the double ring ceremony.

Wesleyan Service Guild Begins Annual Studies

The annual Bible study of Wesleyan Service Guild began Monday under the leadership of Mrs. B. M. Keese at the First United Methodist Church. Textbook for the programs, which will be held March 9, 16, 23 and 30, is "The Inner Life" by Dr. Harvey Pothoff.

Characteristics of the inner life of a Christian were listed from Dr. Pothoff's book as, "one must be committed, must have humility, unity, and give service. The Inner Life is not necessarily peaceful. It can be stormy or sad unless one has God with him."

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. J. K. Cunningham, Mrs. Morris Gay and Miss Helen Willard.

Miss Willard presided, and announced the annual spring meeting of Big Spring District of Wesleyan Service Guilds will be April 19 with First United Methodist Church as host.

A nominating committee was chosen with Mrs. W. E. Moren as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Cass Hill and Miss Edith Gay.

Washington PTA Hosts Open House

An open house was held at Washington Elementary School Tuesday with the Parent-Teacher Association serving refreshments.

A table centerpiece proclaimed education week with a blue and gold goal post and cheerleader doll with a pennant reading, "Yes, Education." A model school and home were symbolically joined with ribbons. Napkins were imprinted with "Three Cheers for Education," and crystal serving pieces were used.

The sixth grade classroom of Wendell Ware won the room count.

The bride, attired in a white dress and coat ensemble, carried an orchid showered with streamers atop a white Bible. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ann Haggard, and a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Jill Franklin. The two attendants were attired in yellow formal dresses.

The bridegroom's attendants were his two brothers, Sammy Franklin, who has been serving with the Army in Korea, and Tommy Franklin of Big Spring. A reception was held following the wedding.

The couple is at home in the OK Trailer Park in Big Spring. He is employed by For-san Well Service, and she is attending school.

Dr. Harold Smith Talks On Learning Disabilities

Learning disabilities in children, the importance of early diagnosis and treatment available were discussed by Dr. Harold Smith, optometrist, at the Cedar Crest Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday.

"Many children with normal intelligence have learning disabilities, but are not eligible for special education," Dr. Smith said.

Stressing the importance of early diagnosis, Dr. Smith explained the program being used to diagnose children in Big Spring.

The program is a "multi-discipline approach," coordinated through the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. The services of optometrists, medical doctors, school counselors, special education teachers, minimal brain injury teacher, audiologist, speech therapist, physical therapist and psychologist are available.

Children with suspected learning disabilities, such as reading or speaking backwards, may visit a specialist, then information on the child's case will be forwarded to a team of specialists at the rehabilitation center. Once a month a staff of volunteers studies the children's cases and makes recommendations for therapy.

Following the meeting, an open house was held. Mrs. Iver Spencer presided, and refreshments were served by the PTA. A garage sale is being planned for early April.

Discusses Art Forms

"Beauty is truly in the eye of the beholder," explained Mrs. Thomas Fetters in a program on art to the 1946 Hyperion Club meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Keith Thompson, 609 Highland. Mrs. Pete Rhymes was cohostess.

Mrs. Fetters entitled her talk "Happiness Is Laying the Foundation for Self-Expression Through Art." She taught herself art through study and "trial and error." Through diagrams she showed the basics of art, shading, perspective and balance.

She made drawings of a pair of owls mounted on cardboard for each member and gave each a small palette and acrylic paints to color the owls.

A nominating committee was selected with Mrs. Fetters as chairman. Serving with her are Mrs. Jerry Jenkins and Mrs. Paul Meek.

The next meeting will be April 1 at the home of Mrs. Maurl McFaul, 505 Highland.

Local Attorney Is Hyperion Speaker

Ben Bancroft, local attorney, was guest speaker at the 1953 Hyperion Club meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harold Davis, 1615 Indian Hills. Mrs. Donald Lester was cohostess.

Bancroft spoke on "Taxable Aspects of Securities and Gifts to Minors." He explained that gifts of stocks to minors should be listed in the name of the custodian so that he can buy and sell freely for the child.

A donation was made to the Easter Seal Society and a Friend of Youth membership was given to the YMCA. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. James Duncan, 6 Indian Ridge, April 1.

Immaculate Heart Unit Sells Cards

Members of the Altar Society of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church are selling note paper decorated with an illustration of the church. The announcement was made when the society met Tuesday in the school hall. Prayers were led by Mrs. L. D. Gilbert and Mrs. A. N. Rutherford.

Mrs. Rutherford announced that clothing is needed for a children's home in Panhandle, and those wishing to donate may contact her.

The March altar committee members are Mrs. Bob Anderson, Mrs. Don Maestas and Mrs. Fred Mercier. Prayers were requested for Leland King who is in a Dallas hospital. The next meeting will be April 7. Mrs. Rutherford won the door prize.

A LOVELIER YOU 'A Hank Of Hair' Can Change Your Style

By MARY SUE MILLER

There was a time when many stylists considered wigs a fad fashion. Wouldn't last!

You really cannot censure those who held with the idea. Good looking human hair wigs were too expensive for wide consumption. Synthetic wigs looked, felt and acted like a witch's brew.

Well, time and wigs have changed. Improved synthetic hair on improved caps have brought converts flocking to wigdom. Such types as Dynel stretch and seven-blend modacrylic fibers are cross across the counter like a bar hat.

The popularity of any synthetic wig, however, rests on a number of factors. It should be durable, have a permanent curl, hold its color, fit the head perfectly, and be easy to keep clean and groom.

Should your head size be too small or large for the standard stretch cap, it is possible to special order your size. And wise to do so. For an individual appearance, your wig should be cut and combed on your head at purchase time.

As for color choices — the first-to-last consideration — current preferences parallel those of hair tints. Natural shades from dark brown to soft, light blond and often a close match to your own locks. Frosting? It is still liked, but in smaller doses.

Midi length and wind-blown is a trending style. But the sure one is your own thing.

CALORIE COUNTER
Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our booklet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

To Re-Pot Plants

Put small tin lids in the bottom of flower pots. Then, when you repot house plants, it is easy to remove the plant by pushing through the hole in the bottom without disturbing dirt or roots. This gives the plant a better chance when repotted.

FREE DRYING
when you wash at Sejan's Norge Laundry & Dry Cleaning on Sunday or Tuesday. Open 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. 11-A Highland Center. Free Coffee & Rolls Daily.

Anti-Pollution Armada Shapes Near Oil Flames

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An anti-pollution armada shaped up today on the heaving sea some 20 miles off Louisiana's coast, near the pillar of fire that has flamed for 23 days.

The great flare, burning with a hissing roar, is consuming the most of the output of eight gas and oil wells which were piped to Platform C in Chevron Oil Company's Main Pass field.

Most of the gas and oil now goes up in smoke, thus pollution of the sea has been a minor problem so far.

But soon the men who tame wild wells plan to snuff out the flames with an explosion, then move in and try to cap the wells. It may take a while. During this period oil blowing out of those holes will be falling into the sea.

Five scientists from Louisiana State University began an emergency study of sea currents in the area today, assisted by the Coast Guard.

An odd seagoing fence for corraling crude oil was trucked in from Austin, Tex., for use by the 64-boat anti-pollution fleet assembled.

Thieves Take A Heavy Load

Mrs. Bob Kerby, Sand Springs, reported Wednesday morning to Howard County sheriff's officers, several yards decorations had been taken from in front of Kerby's Plaster Shop during the last several days.

The list of items taken includes a white David statue weighing 50 pounds and standing 30 inches tall; white Venice statue, 20 pounds and 28 inches tall; white Buddha, 20 pounds; two white cement cats, gray water fountain, a boy and a jug, and two cement ash trays.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said the incident is being investigated by Deputy Sheriff S. K. Roberts.

Couple Who Adopted Five Indian Children Lauded

DENVER (AP) — A young girl, where they met the five University of Colorado children, ranging in age from 5 to 13. Their mother was dead and their father had abandoned the family. The youngsters were in the hospital because one had contracted TB and the others were suspect cases.

Blonde Lynn, 22, from San Jose, Calif., an orphan herself, 3:30 p.m. while the car was in the hospital. She said the purse had no money in it, but it did contain an identification card for her.

Blonde Lynn, 22, from San Jose, Calif., an orphan herself, 3:30 p.m. while the car was in the hospital. She said the purse had no money in it, but it did contain an identification card for her.

Both worked as volunteers in the Denver tuberculosis hospital to take care of the quintet.

Purse Stolen

Mrs. Reba Cook, Lockhart Street, reported Wednesday a brown leather purse was taken from the front seat of her car Tuesday between 3 and 4 p.m. while she was parked in the 300 block of Main.

Michael, 21, from San Rafael, Calif., not then married, decided to take care of the quintet.

CDR. SEARLE WOODS Retires Tuesday

A "piping over the side" ceremony was held Tuesday at Sandia Base in Albuquerque, N.M., to honor retiring Navy Cdr. Searle W. Woods. His wife is the former LaVonne Board, daughter of J. B. Board, Forsan.

Woods is completing a 32-year Navy career and was commended for his work as a technical liaison officer in the Research and Development Liaison Directorate of Field Command, DASA, a joint service agency.

He is a native of Spokane, Wash. He entered the Navy in September, 1937, and was commissioned in May, 1952, aboard the USS Antietam.

He and his wife will make their retirement home at 4309 Cobblestone Place, N.E., in Albuquerque, N.M.

Labor Decides To Support Smith, Barnes

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Texas labor's political voice Wednesday recommended re-nomination of Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes in the Democratic primary.

But more than 450 delegates to the state convention of the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) made no recommendations for state attorney general.

The delegates also authorized the AFL-CIO executive board and COPE administrative committee to re-examine issues and candidates before next Fall's general election.

Delegates approved 11 resolutions, including a call for legislation to assure union bargaining rights for all public employees.

Of 24 candidates for statewide office who addressed the two-day convention which closed Wednesday, only Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., drew an all-out endorsement.

Among other statewide candidates "recommended" by the union men were Rep. Robert Armstrong of Austin for land commissioner, and Judge James Denton of Amarillo for the Texas Supreme Court.

An endorsement carries with it maximum support, including manpower and financial aid, COPE officials said. Candidates who are recommended are not technically eligible for contributions, but officials said some money may trickle down to them on an individual basis.

COPE's executive board concluded Smith was acceptable due to his "open-door policy and fairness."

"The COPE board said Barnes has actively sought the counsel of union representatives and has been fair-minded in his treatment of legislation affecting union members and working people in general."

Dist. Judge David Brown of Sherman bitterly attacked Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin before the delegates Wednesday as "a man who has never been your friend and never will be."

COPE's board said Martin has not been pro-labor nor anti-labor and has initiated lines of communication with unions. At the same time, the board said, Judge Brown and Edward Yturri of Corpus Christi, the Republican candidate for attorney general, have had "close association with labor." The convention accepted the board's recommendation that no choice be expressed in the race.

Smith and the two Democratic gubernatorial candidates — Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls and Martin of Gainesville, were lead-off speakers at Wednesday convention sessions. Barnes and the GOP candidate for lieutenant governor, Byron Fullerton of Austin, were among other speakers.

Harry W. Middletons Trade Life On Ranch For New Home In Town

By JO BRIGHT

The sun doesn't come up for the Harry Middletons quite as early these days as it did last year. People — and things — traditionally get started a little earlier on the ranch than they do in town, but the Middleton family is quickly adjusting to a more flexible time schedule.

Hardly three months ago, they gave up full-time life on the ranch to move into their re-modeled home at 1110 Johnson. It would be understandable if they felt a little fenced in, but the convenience of being closer to school makes up for the loss of a "backyard" that included about 20 sections of West Texas prairie.

The spread, 17 miles north of Big Spring, had been home to Harry Middleton and the former Janet Hightower since the early days of their marriage. A son, Johnny, 20, grew up on the ranch, and their daughter, Candy, 12, had spent all her life on the land which was originally owned by her paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Jones.

It was a good life — but there were drawbacks. "Johnny boarded the school bus all those years, at 7 o'clock," said Mrs. Middleton. "That was bad enough on a boy, so we decided it would be too hard on Candy. To tell the truth, I doubt we'd be able to get her hair combed that early any more!" Candy, a rodeo performer almost since she could walk, usually wears her brown hair in long shiny braids.

Janet Middleton was no stranger to ranching when the couple married, for her parents, the Roy Hightowers, ranch at Garden City. "Harry and I attended Texas Tech and both rodeoed — since we were kids, just as Johnny and Candy do now," smiled Mrs. Middleton. "In fact, the best money we've ever spent has been for their participation in rodeos. It's fun for all of us."

When the home on Johnson Street was being remodeled, a small sitting room off the kitchen became an ideal place to fill one wall with the young people's rodeo pictures and trophies. "Johnny is usually hauling one horse and training another," explained Mrs. Middleton, "and Candy has several she works with, including a young filly. Of course, Harry spends every day at the ranch, and we go out several times a week after school and on weekends. I still ride a little, usually just whichever horse is around and needs exercise." The town home belonged to Middleton's late grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Carmike. It is brick and roomy so there were no major changes — lighter walls, another bath, new carpet (seafoam green), and extra shelving and storage space. The combined living-dining area features two crystal chandeliers that will soon spread light on an oil painting by H. W. Caylor entitled "Nature Reclaiming Her Own." The painting, prized by the Middletons, was a gift from Harry Hurt. It pictures crumbling ruins of "Fort Phantom," north of Abilene.

RODEO MEMENTOS — Mrs. Harry Middleton personifies the Texas ranch wife and mother as she decorates a den wall with pictures taken of her son, Johnny, 20, and daughter, Candy, 12, as they participated in rodeo competition.

"I learned to cook by the trial and error method after Harry and I were married," said Mrs. Middleton. "I use recipes that were handed down in both families, and they still please us." "We like a lot of meat, and of course, beef is the cheapest thing we eat since we raise our own. If you have beef, you don't need much of anything else — a vegetable or two and a salad and you have a meal."

Johnny, now a sophomore at Plains College, Levelland, has been feeling out his parents about moving into an apartment. "I told him if he did he would starve to death," laughed Mrs. Middleton. "Dorm food may not be the best in the world, but at least it is prepared, and what young man has time to learn how to cook?"

The Middletons didn't have enough water at their ranch home to garden, but they get vegetables from leased farms on the ranch; usually peas and green beans, which grow well without irrigation.

"We have a wild plum thicket down in a draw," continued Mrs. Middleton. "It's usually hotter than blue blazes when they get ripe, and I'm always too busy to pick them. But I do, anyway, because they make a bright red, pretty jelly that we all love. I put up 35 or 40 pints at a time, because the trees don't bear every season. After jelly is made, I use the jam which is left for fried pies."

"Ranch life has been good for us," remarked Mrs. Middleton. "But we were all busy, often making three trips to town in a day. I came in often in the pick-up, doing my grocery shopping for two weeks at a time. I still shop that way. Now that we are in town, I can't get used to being able to be places on time, so it seems I am always early now!"

The Middletons say that ranching, like everything else, is easier than it used to be now that most country homes are served by the Rural Electrification Association. "All West Texas is cut up by paved roads now, so travel is much easier, too," noted Mrs. Middleton. "Of course, we go more at night since we are in town." (They are regular fans at the junior college basketball games.)

In recalling life on the ranch, Mrs. Middleton told of a hail in 1967 which knocked out 19 windows — the halstones ripping linings on her drapes. The roof and paint on the house were completely ruined, but repairs were made, so now the family spends weekends there. Middleton is at the house part of every day as he does his chores at the ranch.

"It's kind of a batching outfit, but it's furnished enough for us to use anytime," remarked Mrs. Middleton.

The rodeo season will soon be in full swing. Johnny, who is a member of the college rodeo team, ranks high as a performer and will be busy on the circuit. Candy will be out to make as good a showing in her own division. They'll need lots of energy, and listed below are some of the recipes Mrs. Middleton uses to keep them going.

Beef Meal Completed With Salad

Everyone loves a fruit salad, especially the hostess who can devise so many different combinations of fruits... fresh, canned or frozen... in attractive, nutritious salads, any season of the year.

No top-rated salad worthy of the name is served without lettuce. For "Iceberg Fruit Combo," crisp western iceberg lettuce plays a dual role. Tender iceberg leaves line the salad bowl, and bite-size chunks of lettuce are scattered on top along with canned cling peach slices, melon balls, halved dates and sliced banana. The tangy orange marmalade-wine vinegar dressing is easy to make and complements both the lettuce and fruits.

ICEBERG FRUIT COMBO
1 head western iceberg lettuce
1 can (1 lb.) cling peach slices
2 bananas
½ cup pitted California dates
1 cup melon balls (fresh or frozen)
3 tbsps. orange marmalade
3 tbsps. wine vinegar

One-Dish Beef Meal

When does a new recipe become an "old favorite?" When it passes the "taste test" is the simplest answer. Texas homemakers are urged to test their family's reaction to a new one-dish meal recipe developed by the Texas Beef Council.

BEEF CASSEROLE
1 md. onion, chopped
1 lb. ground beef
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 cup cooked shell macaroni
1 sm. can mushrooms, chopped
2 pimentos, sliced
½ lb. grated or cubed cheddar cheese
Salt to taste
1 tsp. chili powder or black pepper

Brown onion; add beef and brown. Stir in tomato soup, cooked macaroni, mushrooms, pimentos and seasonings. Add grated cheese, reserving a small portion to cover the top after baking. Bake about 30 minutes or until cheese is melted. Sprinkle remaining cheese on top and brown slightly. (Serves 4-6.)

ICEBERG FRUIT COMBO
Combine fruits in lettuce nest

½ cup corn oil
¼ tsp. salt
Dash white pepper

Core, rinse and drain lettuce thoroughly; chill in disposable plastic bag or plastic crisper. Line shallow salad bowl with outer lettuce leaves; cut remaining lettuce into 1-inch cube-like chunks. Drain peaches. Slice bananas diagonally. Cut dates lengthwise into halves. Arrange lettuce chunks and fruits in bowl. Combine remaining ingredients in bottle or jar; cover and shake well. Drizzle over lettuce and fruit mixture. Makes six to eight servings.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. Middleton

MISSISSIPPI MUD
2 sticks margarine (melted)
½ cup cocoa
1 cup coconut
1½ cups pecans
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1½ cups flour
Mix margarine and sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Add cocoa and flour together and fold in on mixer. Remove, and by hand, add nuts and coconut. Spread on large greased cookie sheet. Bake at 325 degrees about 45 minutes. Remove from oven and spread a jar of marshmallow creme on while hot. Then spread on creme the following (which you make and set aside while cookies are baking).

1 box powdered sugar
½ cup margarine
½ cup cocoa
1 tsp. vanilla
Enough milk to spread easily. Spread on top of cookie and sprinkle with chopped nuts. (Ice while hot, cut in squares).

CHOCOLATE SHEET CAKE
Put in large bowl:
2 cups unsifted flour
2 cups sugar
1 tsp. soda
Put in sauce pan:
¾ tbsps. chocolate syrup
1 stick margarine
¼ cup shortening
1 cup water
Bring to boil and pour over flour mixture. Stir well. Add:
½ cup buttermilk
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
Bake 20 minutes at 400 degrees in 17x11 inch pan (greased and floured)

ICING
Put in sauce pan, 1 stick margarine, ¾ tbsps. chocolate syrup, ½ cup milk. Remove from heat and add 1 box powdered sugar, 1 cup chopped nuts and 1 tsp. vanilla. Pour over cake as soon as out of oven.

REFRIGERATOR ROLLS
2 cups warm water
2 tbsps. dry yeast
½ cup sugar
2 tbsps. salt
¼ cup soft shortening
1 egg
6½ to 7 cups flour
Dissolve yeast in water. Add ingredients in order given. Stir and turn into greased bowl. Cover with damp cloth and store in refrigerator. Keep punched down until ready to make rolls. (Takes about two hours to rise). Bake in 400 degree oven.

CHOCOLATE PIE
1 cup sugar
1 stick margarine
2 heaping tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. cocoa
2 cups milk
1 stick margarine
Vanilla
Cook over low heat until thickened. Pour into baked pie shell. Serve topped with whipped cream.

FREEZER ICE CREAM
6 eggs separated
2¼ cups sugar
3 tbsps. flour
Dash salt
1 qt. hot milk
Vanilla
1 pint whipping cream
Beat egg yolks, add sugar, flour and salt. Add hot milk then beaten egg whites, whipped cream and vanilla. Add sweetened fruit or berries and milk to make a gallon. Freeze.

BEEF STROGANOFF
1½ top round steak
3 tbsps. cooking oil
1 small onion, minced

1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
Small can sliced mushrooms
1½ pt. sour cream
Cut meat in thin strips and brown in oil. Remove and brown onion. Return meat to pan and season. If meat is not tender add small amount of water and simmer until tender. Add mushrooms and cook three or four minutes. Remove from heat and stir in sour cream. Serve over rice or noodles.

JOHNNY KNOWS IT
2 lbs. hamburger
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1 can tomato sauce
1 small pkg. noodles (cooked and drained)
1 small jar stuffed olives, sliced
1 small can chopped mushrooms
Cheese
Brown hamburger with onion and celery. Empty into large casserole dish with all other ingredients (except cheese) and mix. Cover with grated cheese and cook in 350 degree oven until bubbly (about 25 minutes).

BARBECUE SAUCE
½ lb. butter or 2 sticks margarine
1 cup brown sugar
2 tbsps. A-1 or 57 steak sauce
1 small jar mustard
1 small bottle Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup vinegar
½ cup fruit juice (drained off pickled peaches)
Dash salt
Dash pepper
Boil until well mixed. Use on steaks, chicken or thick toast.

EL RANCHO CASSEROLE
1 lb. lean ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper

One 12-oz. can whole kernel corn, undrained
1½ cups diced cheese
1½ cups chili sauce
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. chili powder
8 tortillas
Brown beef, onion and green pepper in heavy pan. Mix in corn and remaining ingredients, except tortillas. Spoon into greased 1½ quart casserole, alternating with layers of tortillas. (Begin and end with beef.) Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

LEMON ICING
(Good on angel food cake)
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks beaten
Grated rind and juice of 2 lemons
1 stick margarine
Add beaten egg yolks to sugar, then lemon rind, juice and margarine. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool slightly, beat, and spread on cake.

SWEETBREADS
Pre-cook by dropping into boiling salted water. Reduce heat and simmer 25 minutes. Drain and plunge into cold water. Remove membranes and cut into small chunks so it will brown good. Dip in beaten egg, then seasoned flour. Pan fry in butter until brown. Serve with following sauce:
1 tbsps. butter
1 tbsps. flour
¼ tsp. salt
Dash pepper
1 cup milk
Melt butter in sauce pan. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add milk and cook until thickened. Add 1 cup sliced mushrooms and 1 tbsps. onion. Cook about a minute longer and pour over browned sweetbreads.

5 MARCH 5

DEAR ABBY: I am 51 years old but nobody believes it. Everyone says I could pass for 30.

Last winter my husband and I were at a resort hotel, and a perfect stranger came up and asked if he could take my picture. I posed for him in my bikini, and his hand shook so bad he could hardly hold the camera. (I'm not telling you this to brag on myself, I just want you to know I am no slouch.)

My problem is my husband. He likes to get drunk every night and he's not good for anything when he drinks, so I've been living without physical love for nearly a year. Last night I put on my heels and a black chiffon see-through negligee and I did a little dance for him, and he didn't even look up from his newspaper. Can you help me? SEXY BUT LONELY

DEAR SEXY: It's your husband who needs the help. If he gets his nose wet every evening, he's either an alcoholic or a likely candidate. And the only "help" I can suggest for him is ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS. But HE has to want to help himself.

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem which I am sure has caused friction in many other families.

When my mother passed away recently, there were four potted plants sent by friends, as well as a lot of cut flowers.

One of the sisters-in-law claimed THREE plants because they were sent by friends of HERS.

There are four of us children, so that would have given each family a pretty plant to take home.

I think that the distribution of those plants should have been made by our father, and he wanted each of us to have one.

ONE DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: All plants were indeed the property of your father. And if HE wanted each of you children to have a plant, that's the way they should have been distributed — no matter whose friends sent them.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that mother of a hippie son not to give up. Her story is much like mine.

My son was also kicked out of school a month before graduation. He was married at 18, and was a father before he was 19.

He also tried marijuana and drugs, but claimed he wasn't "hooked" either — he just wanted to travel, "find himself" and have some mind-expanding experiences. He had the long hair, beard, and the way-out clothing.

He is now 21 and with the armed forces, after two years of fines, jail, and I am sure many other experiences he will remember a lifetime, including draft evasion for three months.

The very fact that your son returned home once — regardless of what shape he was in — means that home and his family meant something to him.

So when someone asks you where your son is, just say, "He's in New York working."

MRS. C.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MRS. I. M. DOOMED": And "I.M. Suspicious." If your letter isn't an attempt at creative writing, send me your name and address and I will send you my personal reply.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. E. (whose drug-using son is now in San Jose): I spoke with someone at SYNANON, who is an expert in their field. I was told: "Tell that mother NOT to send her son any more money. Kids with a drug problem must be completely released by their parents, and this includes getting no money from home. I would still be out there shooting dope, as I was four years ago, if my parents had continued to send me money."

Officials Grab His Passport

BELGRADE (AP) — Milovan Djilas, whose writings have frequently landed him in hot water with the Yugoslav government, says authorities seized his passport two days before he planned to start a trip to the United States.

Djilas, a former vice president, was jailed for eight years but after his release in 1968 continued to produce works critical of the Communist society.

He said his passport was taken Tuesday. He had planned to leave for New York Thursday to talk with his publishers.

Oil Allowable

AUSTIN (AP) — The average calendar day oil allowable as of March 1 in Texas was 3,635,731 barrels a day, a decrease of 70,564 barrels a day from the Feb. 15 figure, the Texas Railroad Commission announced Tuesday.

Foray Against Opium Growers

Editor's Note: Leo Herr, news director of KGBT-TV at Herington in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, after weeks of cutting red tape sent two newsmen from his station on a foray by Mexican soldiers against opium growers in the high Sierra Madre range. This is their story.

By BOB ESTRADA and TONY CHAPA
Written for The Associated Press

CULIACAN, Sinaloa, Mexico (AP) — The green-clad soldiers, bayonets fixed, advanced cautiously on the enemy after a scouting plane, swooping over a peak of the Sierra Madre, spotted the shiny red horde for them.

The advancing soldiers had been nearly four hours climbing the rough, steep Cerro Copalitos in the northwest corner of Sinaloa near Mexico's western coast.

These infantrymen, all experienced mountain climbers, were little afraid of the real enemy, the bright red opium poppy, but they were wary of the poppy growers who often put armed snipers around their poppy beds to protect them from destruction.

The poppy farm was surrounded, and then a column was ordered to advance. Even then the troops moved with caution. They remembered other forays when scout planes landed full of bullet holes, and some of their platoon had been wounded by defending gunmen.

Armed guards were placed around the high canyon where the poppy plantation was located at the base of a hidden arroyo. There was no gunfire this time and the officer in command sent out three scouts to search for other poppy beds.

The rest of the soldiers quickly got to the business of destroying the opium bulbs nestled in the shiny red blooms of the poppy plant.

A close inspection revealed that two incisions already had been made on most of the light green bulbs. From these slits, the milky raw opium is collected. It turns black as it leaves the plant to gain the native, "la negra."

Destruction of the plants is simply a mere snap of the stem causes it to wither and die. The soldiers lined up abreast and marched through the plot threshing at the tall—3 to 4 feet—poppy plants with sticks and machetes.

The missing poppy grower had erected a crude fence to keep roaming animals out of the plot. Some simple irrigation devices also were in use. All fell before the advancing soldiers.

The two-acre plantation, the platoon sergeant remarks, was smaller than the average poppy farm they destroy. But the lieutenant said it could have produced as much as 10 kilograms of raw opium valued at about $28,000.

Some 1,600 Mexican soldiers are based at the Fort in Culiacan, just north of the Pacific Coast resort center of Mazatlan. Between January and mid-February they had accounted for the burning or confiscation of more than 2 million poppy plants and 75 million marijuana plants, the officers said.

The tall, slender poppy plant and the marijuana is under almost constant attack these days from 10,000 men and officers of the Mexican Federal Army and the attorney general's staff in 10 states of Mexico.

The La Negra War is part of "Operation Cooperation" which replaced the controversial "Operation Intercept" after the latter was abandoned by the U.S. government last year.

In January, U.S. Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst watched the first marijuana bonfire. Any day now he can watch the second bonfire at the Culiacan Army post. Tons of weed and dried poppy plants have been collected for the mass burning.

HOW TO SCRUB DIRTY BIRDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The local Audubon Society is putting out a pamphlet on how to scrub a loon — or any other dirty bird.

The book is prompted by the society's experiences in attempting to scrub water fowl trapped in an oil slick.

Craig Cochran, an Audubon Society member, said volunteers helped clean more than 4,000 oil-tarred water birds after a tanker boated her hull in a ship channel and gushed 21,000 gallons of fuel oil into the bay Feb. 12.

"This thing caught us wholly unexpectedly," Cochran said.

"We made a lot of mistakes at first and we want other people to benefit from these mistakes if they find themselves in the same situation."

Shooting Death In Cockrell Hill

DALLAS (AP) — The first murder investigation in 36 years in suburban Cockrell Hill was launched Tuesday night after the shooting death of a 28-year-old man.

Police said Kenneth E. Richards of Dallas was found with a shotgun wound in the side. Police said external heart massage failed and Richards was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Police held a 25-year-old man and a woman for questioning.

 The unblocking play is a maneuver available to either the declarer or the defenders. It is accomplished by deliberately dropping an honor prematurely while the player retains a lower card in the suit, and its purpose is to facilitate entry into partner's hand. Today's hand presents an interesting case in point.

West opened the ten of spades against South's three no trump contract. Dummy covered with the jack, East with the queen and the latter was permitted to hold the trick as South held off from his hand. The spade continuation was taken by the king, and declarer immediately led a diamond since several tricks were required in that suit to bring the total up to nine. West played low and North's king won the trick.

On the diamond continuation East was in with the queen.

He was out of spades and could not further the development of partner's suit, so he shifted to a club. South saw that if he finessed and it lost, West would be able to clear the spades while he still held the ace of diamonds. Declarer, therefore, played the ace of clubs, noting that he still had a quick stopper in the suit as long as East was kept out of the lead.

West's ace of diamonds was now dislodged but declarer still had the ace of spades to stop that suit and when he regained the lead — there were nine tricks available — two spades, three hearts, three diamonds, and one club.

East missed his chance to be a hero when South led a diamond at trick three to North's king. Since East was out of spades and was therefore no longer able to assist in the development of partner's suit, he should at least have tried to stay out of West's way. The queen of diamonds serves no useful purpose since it must fall on the next lead of the suit from dummy. If West has any diamond strength it will stand on its own merits and does not require any promotion by East.

Had East dropped the queen of diamonds under the dummy's king, West would have been able to get in twice during the establishment of the diamonds — once with the ten to knock out declarer's last spade stopper and once with the ace of diamonds to run enough spades to defeat the contract.

A Devotion For Today . . .

He said to them all. If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)

PRAYER: Help us, Father, to put Jesus first in our lives. Teach us to be ready always to serve Him whatever task He may have for us. Amen.

Important Partnership

We are nearing the end of the annual observance of Texas Education Week, and hundreds of parents in Big Spring and Howard County have taken time out to visit the schools which their children attend.

And it is this potential for influence, rather than the time factor, which makes the relationship between parents and educators so important.

Yes, This Weekend

The fruit trees are beginning to pop into bloom; the rose bushes are putting out leaves; perennials are beginning to green.

This weekend would be a grand time to buy those bushes and trees and get them in the ground, to finish belated pruning; to clear up the accumulations of the winter; to tidy up the place.

Presidential Study Of Desegregation

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has made many comments about the controversy concerning school desegregation, and there is some misunderstanding about his position due largely to the variety of utterances by members of his administration and conflicting opinions rendered by a few of the lower federal courts.

federal government will assist the states and cities. He said: "I have directed that these principles should be followed in providing such assistance:

But on Feb. 16 the President issued a statement which really sets forth the policy he intends to pursue. This still remains the clearest definition of the administration's purpose in dealing with a highly confused problem.

MR. NIXON'S statement didn't get the attention it deserved. He said at the very outset: "The Supreme Court has ordered that where any school district in the nation is maintaining a dual school system based on race, it shall be changed to a unitary system."

"2. TO THE extent possible, the neighborhood school concept should be the rule.

MR. NIXON, in the same statement, announced that he had asked the Vice President to be the head of an informal cabinet group, with the Secretary of Labor as vice chairman. Its members include the Attorney General, the Postmaster General, and the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, as well as assistant to the President Rumsfeld and presidential counselors Moynihan and Harlow.

What do you think of a person who claims to be a Christian and is afraid of doctors, hospitals and death? In my opinion such a person is just plain yellow. What do you think?

UNFORTUNATELY, some court decisions have confused the situation. The way is still open for all states in the union to set up school districts based on natural patterns but with a recognition of the right of all residents of a school district — irrespective of race — to attend the schools in those areas.

Big News In Warrants

NEW YORK (AP) — You'll be hearing a lot more about warrants in the next few months, not only the kind that lead to arrests, but the stock market type that whets the appetites of speculators.

The big news in warrants this week developed in recent weeks when: —American Telephone & Telegraph Co. announced a capital-raising package that included stocks, debentures and warrants.

A warrant is a piece of paper that gives its owner the right to buy shares of a company's common stock at a fixed price, even though the market price of the stock might be considerably higher.

The AT&T decision to sweeten its fund-raising effort with warrants gave such securities a respectability they hadn't possessed to any great degree. AT&T, after all, is the premier corporate fund-raiser.

It isn't much more than that, either. It pays no dividends. And if it isn't turned in within a specified time it simply evaporates into nothingness. It isn't a claim on assets; it is only a right to buy stock. But it can be very profitable.

Assume an individual owned 100 warrants to buy for $12 a share of stock in a company selling for $10 a share. He was given the warrants in order to induce him to buy the company's bonds. Each warrant and $12 is worth one share.

Naturally he won't exercise his right under such circumstances. He'll wait for the stock price to rise. And, if the company is solid, progressive and well managed enterprise, chances are the stock price will rise.

And the Big Board, encouraged by AT&T's action, has added to that respectability. Warrants never before made it to the exchange. And in order to clear the way, in fact, stock exchange rules will have to be changed.

But why should a warrant be listed or traded? Well, as with anything else of value, markets soon develop. While the warrant was conceived as an appendage to a bond or debenture offering, it soon develops a life of its own.

Warrants are great if the price of the stock rises. But they aren't much good, except as trading vehicles if the stock price remains in a slump. If the price of the stock falls, then the warrant-holder tumbles too.

"Don't fret about it, kid. When I was your age I had acne bumps on both sides of my face."

Remember, that $12,200 was invested for a very brief time. Had he purchased shares instead he very likely would have tied up his money for months or years.

"Listen, fellows, let up on Wilbur a little today, will you? He's been secretly sending a single rose every day to the vice president's secretary, and this morning he just found out she's leaving to get married."

Although a lot of investors have lost money dealing in such securities, some professional traders have reaped tremendous profits on relatively small investments. A return of several hundred per cent is possible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I plan to marry a man, 32, who has an enlarged liver and gout. At one time he drank a lot but now only four or five an evening.

Everyone tells me he will be a sick man the rest of his life because of the damage to his liver, and that is why he has gout.

Reactions from injected penicillin are more sudden and more severe. Indeed, penicillin by mouth causes far fewer reactions than injected penicillin does.

That has virtually nothing to do with his gout, though. By the way, you make no mention of his having treatment for his gout, such treatment is available these days, and is very effective.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I plan to marry a man, 32, who has an enlarged liver and gout. At one time he drank a lot but now only four or five an evening.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Around The Rim Your Voice Is As The Voice Of Six

Your vote, if you are one of the small number who decides to cast it, will carry the strength of six on election day.

OF SOME 40,000 residents in Howard County, only 13,174 bothered to register in the first place. Considering the number enrolled in the schools, there are perhaps about the same number who are underage and cannot vote.

exercise their franchise even though qualified and registered. The largest vote in the history of the city of Big Spring came in 1968, when 3,096 persons marked ballots, and that was over 1,000 more than the usual figure for a city election.

GRANTED that there is a record number of candidates in the race this year, still there will probably be only a few more than 3,000 who go to the polls April 7, if that many. All of which means, probably only one in three qualified voters will actually vote; and that works out to be each vote in the ballot box representing six or more persons who are qualified to vote, if all had registered.

In the city limits of Big Spring, the figures are about the same. There are 10,166 registered voters, probably 10,000 persons unqualified due to age, and something more than 10,000 who simply did not qualify themselves.

IF THESE FIGURES are close to being accurate, then only one person in two, otherwise qualified, are registered to cast ballots in the city and county.

IN A CITY of some 35,000 residents, about 3,000, or only nine per cent will decide who will make the laws, set the taxes, and make the policies by which the city will be operated.

Put another way, that's five persons remaining silent for each person heard at the ballot box. We certainly have a "silent majority" here, but it is anything but laudable.

Art Buchwald So Whom Can You Believe?

WASHINGTON — Vice President Spiro Agnew and Atty. Gen. John Mitchell may be on a collision course without even knowing it. As everyone who has a television set knows, the thrust of Agnew's fund-raising speeches for the Republican Party is that you can't trust the press or the television commentators because they're biased and unreliable.

At the very moment that Agnew is challenging the credibility of the communications media, Atty. Gen. Mitchell is going ahead with his plans to subpoena the notebooks and films of the very reporters Agnew says lack credibility.

THE QUESTION that the Eastern liberal establishment press is asking is: "Does the attorney general of the United States plan to use reporters' notebooks and film as evidence, when the Vice President of the United States says they are all a pack of lies?"

It's going to be tough for a jury to decide a case when two leaders of the country are on opposite sides of the case.

Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, the government submits in evidence the notebooks of Hiram Spindletroff, who interviewed Raff Lubin. In one of these notebooks Lubin told Spindletroff, and I quote, "If I had a birthday candle, I'd set fire to the Washington Monument."

"THE DEFENSE objects," your honor. Vice President Agnew has said repeatedly you can't believe a word Hiram Spindletroff says. So how can the jury believe anything written in his notebooks?"

"Your honor, the government has been assured that everything Spindletroff has written in his notebook is true."

"Your honor, the attorney general is calling the Vice President a liar. The attorney general has great respect for the Vice President."

"Then how can the attorney general say that Spindletroff has written the truth about Lubin when the Vice President says that Spindletroff can't write the truth about anything?"

"Objection sustained. The prosecution will continue."

"Your honor, we will now show a film made by Mike Solace, the CBS television commentator, at the time he interviewed Raff Lubin about Lubin's plans to organize a demonstration in Florida to stop the spring training of baseball."

"OBJECTION, YOUR honor. The defense would like to say that the Vice President has pointed out that of all the commentators on the airwaves, Mike Solace has raised his eyebrows the most. He cannot be trusted to give a fair accounting of the news."

"Your honor, the government strongly objects to the objection. Mike Solace is considered one of the most important news commentators in television. This film we have subpoenaed will show that Lubin . . ."

"Objection. The attorney general is doubling the word of the Vice President of the United States again. The defense is shocked and horrified."

"Mr. Attorney General, are you or are you not casting aspersions on the Vice President of the United States?"

"I AM NOT," your honor. But I can't proceed with my case unless I am permitted to use the notebooks and film I had to subpoena, to prove that Raff Lubin intended to burn down the Washington Monument and stop spring training of baseball at the same time."

"Mr. Attorney General, as judge I cannot accept the evidence unless I am assured by the Vice President of the United States that Hiram Spindletroff and Mike Solace tell the truth."

"But how can I get the Vice President to say that?"

"That's your problem, Mr. Attorney General. But if you call the Vice President a liar once more, I'm going to have to hold you in contempt."

Andrew Tully The Agonies Of Geometry

WASHINGTON — That was a poignant little news item out of Moscow recently. It reported that a high school kid had defected to Finland because he was flunking geometry and feared parental wrath, and possibly a good slap from President Kosygin.

failure. She did her best, and her perfume was heady wine, but this was a boy who would have successfully resisted a 10-year tutoring course by Cleopatra.

Probably the kid blew Russia because he was fed up with Lenin's paradise, but it is easy to believe that geometry was a collateral factor. If so, the boy has my understanding, and sympathy.

Naturally, the boy flunked. He was informed by Miss Burrington, in fact, that it seemed unfair to the other, ordinary failures that no lower grade had been created to mark him for the really spectacular dullard he was. Back home, the male parent ruled there would be no more Saturday night movies until he made a passing grade.

UNDOUBTEDLY, a knowledge of geometry is a good thing. Engineers and other men of technology, I believe, swear by it. But for some of the non-genius high school students it can be a kind of gratuitous torture. A spell, as it were, on the rack. A taste of the hemlock. To argue that geometry is, after all, merely logic is no comfort to the sprout who finds it the world's greatest mystery.

THAT YEAR, the boy missed six months of Richard Dix and Boris Karloff while he toiled at his impossible chore. There were days when he handed in passing papers, but these were few because they depended on the girl sitting in front of him holding her head at such an angle that he could get a peak at her paper.

A FEW LIGHT years back there was a high school sophomore in a New England town who was introduced to geometry and as a result almost became the world's greatest bareback rider. Four separate times he had his meager possessions packed, ready for defection to the sawdust ring, and each time he was deterred only by limited finances. (Although 20 cents was 20 cents in those days.)

So let us suffer a little with that Russian tyke. If he should come to the United States, let us not force geometry on him. It would do no good and it might force him to defect right back to Russia — where the geometry teacher at least speaks the language.

IT HELPED only somewhat that the geometry teacher, Miss Burrington, was the most beautiful woman in the world. Mostly, it made the boy feel like the world's worst heel when she labored long and patiently with him only to meet with

It is undoubtedly encouraging to the Nixon Administration that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has found a new approach to the Vietnam war in place of the critical one it followed during the later Johnson years. It has shifted from criticism of the policy to analysis of it. This is useful. The function of a Foreign Relations Committee is best served by providing information on which Senators and the public can reach conclusions.

February Weather Picture Mixed

February brought more than two inches above normal rainfall to parts of Texas but the Panhandle-Plains sector stayed painfully dry and moisture also was subpar in coastal areas.

At the same time the month was fairly mild, the Weather Bureau reports.

In the Panhandle - Plains district, Amarillo received only .02 inch moisture, the bureau's monthly summary noted, matching the amount measured in January. Lubbock's 11 inch for the month boosted the total since Jan. 1 to .57.

"Cloudiness and frequent light rain held temperatures in Central Texas and East Texas slightly below the February average but there were no really cold spells," the report noted.

The February moisture amounts, normal for the month, totals this year and percentages of normal, respectively, include:

Chance For Rain Tonight

One cold front was dying out near the Upper Texas Coast while another approached the state from Arizona today.

As a result a few clouds spread over Northeast Texas behind the remnants of the old front and high clouds were forming in the west edge of the state as snow and rain were predicted in parts of New Mexico.

Skies were clear elsewhere across Texas, but more rain was promised by tonight or Friday.

Early morning temperatures sagged close to freezing in parts of the Panhandle-Plains sector while readings stood mostly in the 40s and 50s in other areas.

These compared with top marks Wednesday ranging from 81 degrees at Brownsville down to 53 at Dalhart. Highs at other points generally reached into the 60s and 70s.

Forecasts held out a chance for rain tonight in Northwest and North Central Texas and promised thunderstorms in both sections by Friday with arrival of the new norther. Occasional rain or showers were promised over the rest of the state.

Hope To Appear In Astrodome

HOUSTON (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope will appear at an entertainment spectacular May 16 in the Astrodome with the proceeds going to build a living memorial to eight astronauts who have been killed since the manned flight program began.

Astronauts Tom Stafford and Gordon Cooper made the announcement Wednesday.

Cooper and Stafford are trustees for the Edward White Youth Memorial Center Fund.

Astronauts White, Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and Roger B. Chaffee died on the ill-fated training mission for the first manned Apollo flight.

Other astronauts who have died in plane crashes or automobile accidents were Edward G. Givens, Theodore C. Freeman, Charles A. Bassett Jr., Elliott See Jr., and Clifton C. Williams.

'THOU SHALT NOT STEAL'

HOUSTON (AP) — "Thou shalt not steal," said the Bible, billed as the world's smallest by the Weatherby Arms Museum here.

The Bible was stolen sometime Tuesday afternoon.

The one-inch by one-inch Bible was printed in Italy about 100 years ago, said museum general manager John Greenfield, and is about 3 1/2 inches thick.

Museum officials said the Bible is not particularly valuable but is a curiosity.

Port Of Houston Bonds Purchased

HOUSTON (AP) — The First National Bank of Chicago has purchased $7 million of general obligation bonds from the Port of Houston.

The bank bought the bonds at an effective interest rate of 5.670326 per cent, the lowest interest offered among the nine bidders Wednesday.

This means the $7 million bonds will pay a total interest of $4,564,613 at the end of 21 years.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find some new form of recreation now and you are able to have a wonderful time. Be with persons you like. Forget all that drudgery and do whatever you like most. Pay them full that bothers you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Instead of acting so independently, listen to what family has to suggest in a confidential way. Get rid of whatever brings disharmony at home. Avoid those who are impossible today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Busy calling on persons who can assist you in getting a fresh beginning in routine work so that all goes more smoothly. Put more effort on book-keeping, letter writing, etc. Be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do your duties precisely so that others have more respect for you and you make rapid advances. Listen to what financial adviser has to suggest. Follow ideas precisely.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you are enthusiastic, you can handle the new duties that have been flung out before this. You find that others go along with you where some plan. Find out necessarily your own. Is concerned. Be active.

Five Marines Accused Of Murders Hearing Set

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A preliminary hearing for the five Marines accused of murdering 16 South Vietnamese women and children has been scheduled tentatively for March 12.

The hearing will correspond to a grand jury examination, and on the basis of the testimony of the commander of the 1st Marine Division, Maj. Gen. Edwin B. Wheeler, will decide whether the men will be brought to trial.

If Wheeler does decide on court action, the defense attorneys probably will request a separate trial for each man, and these may begin in late May or June, Col. Robert M. Lucy of Parma, Mo., the division's staff judge advocate, told newsmen today.

The five Marines charged with premeditated murder of five women and 11 children in a hamlet of Son Thang Village, 27 miles south of Da Nang, Feb. 19, are Lance Cpl. Randall D. Herrod, 20, Calvin, Okla.; Pfc. Thomas R. Boyd Jr., 19, Evansville, Ind.; Pfc. Michael S. Krichten, 19, Hanover, Pa.; Pfc. Samuel G. Green, 18, Cleveland, and Pvt. Michael A. Schwarz, 21, of Weirton, W. Va. They are in a Marine brig in Da Nang.

Lucy declined to discuss what Marine investigators found at the hamlet in the enemy-infested Que Son Valley. He disclosed, however, that the victims died of gunshot wounds.

113 Yanks War Victims

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 113 Americans were killed in battle in Vietnam last week. It was the highest American toll in three months and the first time this year the weekly total topped 100.

Enemy casualties dropped 20 per cent, the allied commands reported, from 2,500 dead in the week of Feb. 15-21 to 2,009 last week. It was the smallest number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong dead claimed by the allied commands in six weeks.

The Saigon government said 333 of its troops were killed and 2,000 wounded last week, compared with 361 killed and 1,123 the week before.

The American death toll was nearly 30 per cent above the 83 dead reported the week before. But last week's total of 465 Americans wounded was nearly 300 less than the 637 reported the week before.

A statement from the U.S. Command said there was no evidence of an increase in the level of combat. But in explanation of the increase in the number of American dead, it added: "There were a total of 17 killed in helicopters and we had one day with an unusually high number of U.S. killed in indirect fire attacks, six in the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. on 27 February. We also had an update from an earlier action in the Americal Division of from 4 to 14 killed which was confirmed and announced in the first day of the reporting week."

The weekly report increased the total combat casualties reported to 40,758 Americans killed and 268,296 wounded since Jan. 1, 1961; 100,989 government troops killed since Jan. 1, 1960 and 605,792 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed.

Reports from the western Mekong Delta today said American fighter-bombers inflicted heavy damage on an enemy base camp inside Cambodia and killed an estimated nine soldiers in the fourth reported air and artillery attack inside Cambodia this year.

U.S. officers said seven American planes attacked the camp after 32 rounds of 82mm mortars were fired Tuesday afternoon from inside Cambodia at Ha Tien, a South Vietnamese district town less than two miles from the border and 155 miles southwest of Saigon.

Field reports said one Vietnamese civilian was wounded in the mortar attack and damage was negligible.

Although there were only a handful of American advisers at Ha Tien, the U.S. Command in explaining the retaliatory attack said it had "previously stated that if fired upon from enemy positions outside the Republic of Vietnam, U.S. forces are authorized to return fire. This is an inherent right of self-defense against an attack."

A U.S. spokesman explained that "there do not necessarily need to be any Americans there."

Officers in the field said the American planes attacked through a barrage of heavy machine-gun fire, triggered three secondary explosions and smashed 500 yards of trench line and base camp, several bunkers and at least eight caves. The secondary explosions indicated that the American bombs knocked out the mortar positions.

"The enemy fire was suppressed," said a U.S. communique.

There was no report of any of the planes being hit.

Less than 20 miles to the east of Ha Tien, fighting flared Wednesday for the third consecutive day around the district town of Tri Ton, in the Seven Mountains region. South Vietnamese force and American aircraft and artillery clashed with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, and 41 enemy soldiers were reported killed, along with one South Vietnamese killed and three wounded.

Another 46 Viet Cong were reported killed in a fight between troops of the South Vietnamese 18th Division and a battalion of the Viet Cong's 74th Artillery Regiment on the southern edge of War Zone D, 50 miles northeast of Saigon.

Kennedy Family Dog Back Home

McLEAN, Va. (AP) — The Robert F. Kennedy family dog, Freckles, has come home after an unexplained absence of more than two days.

Freckles, a 5-year-old black and white spaniel, wop attention when he accompanied the late senator to California on the 1968 presidential campaign.

He disappeared Saturday but showed up at the Kennedy estate Tuesday under his own power. Although muddy and bedraggled he seemed in good spirits.

Pioneer Banker Rupe, 68, Dies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services were set for 4 p.m. today for pioneer investment banker Dallas Gordon Rupe.

Rupe, 68, president and director of Rupe Investment Corp., Dallas Rupe & Son Properties Corp. and Garfield Investment Corp. of Enid, Okla., died early Wednesday.

He also was a director of A.H. Belo Corp. of Dallas, owner of the Dallas Morning News and several radio and television stations, and the American Creosote Works, Inc., of New Orleans.

At the time of his death, Rupe was a member of the New York Stock Exchange and had established various charitable foundations in Dallas.

He was a director of the Greater Dallas Planning Board and a former director of the State Fair of Texas. He also served on the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and the National Industrial Board.

Rupe, who was board chairman of eight major companies, was the motivating force in formation of many Southwest businesses.

Annual Teacher Convention Opens Tonight At Odessa

One of West Texas' largest conventions, that of District XVIII of Texas State Teachers Association, will officially get under way today at 7:30 p.m. with a House of Delegates meeting in Permian High School cafeteria.

By Friday morning, approximately 4,000 teachers and other school employees in the 14-county district will be in Odessa to attend the general session at 10 a.m. in Ector County Coliseum and the various section meetings to be held in school buildings and in restaurants and banquet halls throughout Odessa.

Approximately 160 persons who are voting delegates, local unit presidents, and district officers will attend the House of Delegates meeting. New officers will be elected, a variety of reports and resolutions adopted or rejected, and the site set for the next district convention.

West Texas counties from which teachers will come are Ector, Midland, Andrews, Borden, Crane, Dawson, Gaines, Howard, Loving, Martin, Reagan, Glasscock, Upton and Winkler. There are 16 local TSTA units in those counties whose presidents are Duane Reigel, Andrews County; Mrs. Nettie Jarrett, Borden County; Teachers Association; David Tiner, Crane; Mrs. Laverne Colgan, Dawson County; Robert Erwin, Ector County; James R. Shock, Gaines County, and Glascock County; Jimmy C. Holmes, Big Spring Teachers Association; Mrs. Doris Easterling, Howard County Teachers Association; Mrs. Marjorie Rawlings, Martin County Teachers Association; Wilburn O. Buttery, Midland County Teachers Association; Jack Black, Reagan County; Emmette R. Hutto, McCamey; George Adams, Rankin; John W. King, Kermit; and Mrs. Lillian Hawkin, Wink.

The principal speaker for the Friday morning general session will be Everett C. Lindsay, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Presiding in the House of Delegates meeting and in the general session will be Alvin R. Cannady, district president and superintendent of public schools in Lamesa.

In the general session teachers will also hear reports from the House of Delegates, from some of the special committees, and from officers of the state organization of Texas State Teachers Association.

Few, if any controversial items are expected to be presented in the House of Delegates meeting. There are expected to be recommendations, however, concerning the maximum number of pupils a teacher should have, the use of non-professional personnel for non-professional duties, employer participation in insurance programs, compulsory continuing contracts legislation, legislation providing medicare for retired teachers, and improved retirement benefits for teachers.

District president Cannady said many other items would also be presented and that some matters could be introduced from the floor in the House of Delegates meeting. Resolutions and recommendations that are approved are later brought before the state convention of TSTA where appropriate.

Chairmen of committees which will present scheduled reports in the House of delegates meeting Thursday night are: Credentials committee, Alvin Squire, Odessa; instructional services, Lynn Hise, Big Spring; arrangements committee, Edward Downing, Odessa; teacher welfare, V. C. Bearden, Lamesa; publicity, J. M. Lilly, Odessa; legislation, Sam Anderson, Big Spring; teacher education and professional standards, William Dawes, Big Spring; public relations, John C. Golman, Seminole; professional rights and responsibilities, Tom Rogers, Seminole; resolutions, Mrs. Jane Smith, Big Spring; and Dan Cooke, Kermit; constitutional amendments, Raymond Hollis, Lamesa; and necrology, Mrs. Elfa Cantrell, Big Spring.

'Might As Well Go This Way,' Declares 'Gyp'

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — "I've got to die sometime so I might as well go this way," 67-year-old Mafia boss Angelo "Gyp" DeCarlo declared en route to jail to begin a 12-year sentence for conspiracy-extortion.

His codefendant, Daniel "Red" Cece, 50, had nothing to say as the two were taken to the federal penitentiary in Danbury, Conn., after sentencing Wednesday. Cece was similarly sentenced. Both also were fined $20,000.

The two were convicted in January of conspiring to collect nearly $500,000 in extortionate loans from Louis B. Saperstein, an insurance broker and labor racketeer who died mysteriously of arsenic poisoning in 1968.

Before pronouncing the sentence U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Shaw asked the defendants if they had anything to say.

"I am innocent of this here charge," DeCarlo replied. Cece said he had nothing to say. Maximum penalty could have been a 120-year sentence for each and $60,000. They were convicted on six counts.

Shaw, who presided at the trial, denied requests by attorneys to continue them free on bail.

The judge said they might "flee jurisdiction of this court" and that they were "threats to the community."

Lamesa Superintendent To Preside In Odessa

One of West Texas' most energetic schoolmen, Supt. Alvin R. Cannady of Lamesa, will preside over one of the area's largest conventions Friday when the 4,000 members of District XVIII of Texas State Teachers Association meet in Odessa.

Schools in West Texas, including Big Spring, will be closed Friday to give teachers a chance to go to the meeting.

"Everything seems to be ready for a good convention," Cannady said. "As I look back on the past few months, I realize that none of it has been as difficult as I had imagined, but, rather, it's been a pleasant experience because of the cooperation of district officers and committeemen and section chairmen throughout the district."

"Even the physical arrangements in Odessa have been no difficulty," Cannady added, "because people there have obtained excellent sites for the meetings. Decorations, registration, seating and all other details appear to be well-planned."

"TSTA is really a unity of local teacher associations," Cannady said. "They are united on a district level and on a state level, and both district and state organizations are for the purpose of serving the local organizations and public school education."

Cannady believes teachers in Texas are working with a new eagerness since the passage last year of House Bill 240 in the State Legislature. The bill provided increased pay, provisions for inservice preparation and education for teachers, for limited use of teacher aides, and in general set basic plans for years to come. "I think teachers are beginning to be recognized as professionals, and having been recognized as such they are working harder and with more purpose," he said.

The interest of people in Cannady's own school district, Lamesa, is indicative of interest in general. Citizens there recently approved a $2,200,000 school bond issue for the construction of a "middle school" to house fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade students. The windowless, wall-less, carpeted and air-conditioned complex is expected to be tops in West Texas as a laboratory for learning.

The concept of a "middle school" for those grades and the elimination of the junior high school system is a trend with proven soundness, but Lamesa will be the first West Texas school district to put the concept into reality. Lamesa teachers are working in inservice programs and undertaking other special training to prepare for the new school program.

The program will not necessitate a school bond election since Lamesa was one of the few schools in Texas to receive matching funds for vocational education through the State.

Cannady received his BS Degree from Panhandle State College, his Master's Degree from Oklahoma State University, and has done graduate study at University of Missouri, University of Texas, and Texas Technological University.
