TROOPS SEAL OFF AIRPORT; POLITICAL CRISIS GRIPS NATION

Cambodian Leader Sihanouk Ousted By Parliament

SAIGON (AP) — Cambodia's Parliament overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk today, charging the chief of state provoked the political crisis gripping the nation, Radio Phnom Penh announced.

Asian diplomats in Saigon received reports that Cambodian troops surrounded the Parliament building and had sealed off the airport in the capital. The news reached the 47-year-old prince, who had dominated his kingdom's politics for more than 20 years, while he was in Moscow en route home from Paris. He left later in the day for Peking.

The cause of the crisis was violent demonstrations last week against the presence of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in Cambodian border regions. During the demonstrations, Cambodians sacked the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong embassies in Phnom Penh.

The Cambodian radio said the reigns of power as chief of state were turned over to Cheng Heng, president of the National Assembly. The assembly, the lower house of Parliament, met in joint session with the Royal Cambodian Council, the upper house, and voted no confidence in Sihanouk.

A report received by the government in Saigon said the real power rested with two men—Gen. Lon Nol, premier and chief of the military forces, and Sirik Matak, a top government minister.

The two men are known to share doubts about the mercenary Sihanouk's neutralist policy, and were opposed to the 40,000-60,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops using border sanctuaries for forays into South Vietnam.

Nol, a conservative, was credited by some sources in Saigon with organizing the demonstrations against the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops. Others noted Sihanouk's grip on the country and believed he himself possibly orchestrated them from Paris.

An unofficial translation of the Phnom Penh broadcast, as heard in Saigon, said:

"Following the political crisis provoked by Prince Norodom Sihanouk in the past days, the National Assembly and the Royal Council in joint session, conforming to the constitution of the kingdom, unanimously withdrew their confidence in Prince Norodom Sihanouk. From this day, 18 March 1970, at 1300 (1 p.m.) the Prince Norodom Sihanouk ceases to be the chief of state of Cambodia and will be replaced by Cheng Heng, the president of the National Assembly, who will assume the function of the chief of state until election of a new chief of state in accordance with the text of the nation's constitution."

The Cambodian Embassy in

Singapore said the Phnom Penh radio said later: "The new head of state said Cambodia will follow the same policies of independence, neutrality, territorial integrity and will respect all international treaties signed by her."

The radio called on the people of Cambodia to remain calm. Earlier in the evening aides of President Nguyen Van Thieu handed him a message at a reception saying Sihanouk had been overthrown.

Arabs Blast Power Line, Water Pump

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas from Lebanon blew up a power line and a water pump at an Israeli settlement today, pushing the troubled frontier closer to a major new flareup.

Villagers reported that after the explosions they heard shooting inside Lebanon, indicating that guerrillas had clashed with Lebanese government troops. A dispatch from Beirut said that one guerrilla was killed and three injured in the encounter with Lebanese troops, according to guerrilla sources.

It said the gunfire took place in the outskirts of the market town of Bint Jhail after guerrillas from Al Fatah and the Palestine Liberation Organization crossed back from Israeli territory.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli warplanes attacked targets on the central and southern sector of the Suez Canal today. The military command said an Egyptian jet was riddled during the three-hour bombing mission.

"One Egyptian plane was hit," the military spokesman said, although he said the aircraft was not seen crashing.

Israel has warned the Lebanese government to curb the commandos' carrying out nightly sabotage attacks on Israeli settlements or risk reprisals.

At the United Nations, Lebanon charged that the Israeli shelling of its southern villages was part of a plan to widen the Arab-Israeli conflict. In a letter to members of the Security Council, Ambassador Edouard Ghorra declared the Israeli actions "constitute further a flagrant violation of the Lebanese-Israeli armistice agreement and a breach of international law and morality."

He did not ask for a council meeting. There also was military action on Israel's frontiers with Jordan Tuesday night.

Arab gunners in Jordan fired a number of mortar shells at a Beisan Valley communal farm, damaging a schoolhouse, the Israeli military command announced. It was the first major exchange in this area since Jan. 1.

One 82mm mortar shell ripped through a schoolhouse shortly after a group of children left the building for the underground shelters. There were no reports of casualties.

Israeli army units returned fire and had a 30-minute exchange with Jordanian artillery batteries dug in along the Gilead mountain range opposite the settlement.

NO MAIL TO NEW YORK

No mail will be dispatched from the Big Spring Post Office destined for the states of New York or New Jersey, until further notice, Postmaster Frank Hardesty said this morning.

The local embargo on mail to that area includes Zip Codes 100 through 104, and 110 through 119, he said. Any mail posted here for those destinations will be held, he said, until instructions are received from the U.S. Postmaster General. (See story Page 5-A)

HOUSE DEMOS Attacking Seniority System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reform-minded House Democrats, pressing their challenge against an aging leadership, won approval today of a study they hope will lead to a change in the seniority system.

However, a last-minute change offered by Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma will keep the study committee from making any recommendations until next Jan. 1.

Sponsors of the original resolution had hoped to get a report back by June in order to keep up the pressure for change.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota, one of the leaders in the reform movement, said many of his colleagues, will feel the change in date "defanged the resolution."

Wives Of Missing Airmen 'Strike'

PARIS (AP) — The wives of two U.S. Navy airmen missing over North Vietnam staged a brief sitdown strike in Hanoi's diplomatic mission building today in an unsuccessful effort to learn the fate of their husbands.

Carolyn Dennison, 30, Corpus Christi, Tex., and Susan Hanley, 21, San Diego, Calif., went to the mission because North Vietnamese diplomats said they had a letter for them. The letter contained no news of their husbands, who were shot down Jan. 1, 1968.

The women sat down in arm chairs and refused to leave. A member of the mission summoned two French police officers, guarding the mission. But 20 minutes after the police were called in, the women agreed to leave the premises.

"They have the answer to our questions, but they won't give it to us," Mrs. Dennison said. "We will not give up and we will not leave Paris."

Charged With Murder Of Airliner Co-Pilot

Flier Shot During Cockpit Struggle

BOSTON (AP) — A pilot shot in both arms landed an airliner with 73 persons aboard after a mile high cockpit struggle Tuesday night which left the co-pilot dead and a passenger seriously wounded. The passenger was charged with murder.

East Boston Municipal Court issued a murder complaint today against John J. DiVivo, 27, of West New York, N.J., in connection with the death of James E. Hartley, 31, of Fort Lee, N.J., the slain co-pilot.

DiVivo was reported in satisfactory condition at Massachusetts General Hospital, where he underwent emergency surgery for bullet wounds in the arm and abdomen. He was under police guard.

Passengers reported there was no panic aboard the plane after the shots were fired.

An Eastern Airlines spokesman said a struggle for the gun broke out after the passenger told the pilot, Capt. Robert Wilbur Jr., 35, of Fairlawn, N.J.: "Take me east."

The plane was then a mile high over the town of Franklin, about 30 miles south of Boston, making its final approach to Logan International Airport after a flight from Newark, N.J.

When the airliner landed a stewardess went to the cockpit, where she saw the copilot slumped in his seat, the passenger lying on the floor and Wilbur taxiing the plane toward the airport terminal buildings.

"My pilot is shot—shot," Wilbur radioed the control tower. "Where the hell do you want me to park this thing?"

At Massachusetts General Hospital both DiVivo and Wilbur were said to be in satisfactory condition.

An airline spokesman said the passenger had told the senior stewardess Christine Peterson, that he had no money to pay his fare—normally collected in the air on such shuttle flights—and wanted to see the pilot.

Miss Peterson said the man drew a pistol and she led him to the cockpit door and told Wilbur the man wanted to see him.

"I'm busy," said Wilbur. "You don't understand, he has a gun," Miss Peterson said.

She said the pilot then told her to bring the man in and to go back and tell the passengers everything was all right.

The struggle for the gun, the airline spokesman said, broke out after Miss Peterson left the cockpit.

Draft Board Bomb Threat

AUSTIN (AP) — Work at state and local selective service headquarters was interrupted today by a bomb threat.

Some of the employees were evacuated while city police and firemen searched for a bomb that a telephone caller said would explode in 20 minutes. Half an hour later the searchers reported finding nothing.

Young People Nominated For Achievement Awards

First nominations have been received in the Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Awards, a program designed to pay tribute to high school people who exhibit outstanding characteristics of leadership and civic participation.

Named for this "honor roll" among student leaders are: Pamela Sue Lemons, Karen Hughes and Glynn Jones, all of Big Spring High School, and Sue Read of Coahoma High.

Eligible for nomination this year are juniors and seniors in Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands High Schools. Anyone can submit a name, but must use the form which appears in The Herald today on Page 4-A. This may be accompanied by a supplemental letter if desired.

From all the entries received, a panel of judges will select winners, to receive top honors at a banquet on April 23. All nominees will be recognized there, with gifts and certificates, and special trophies and watches will go to four winners—one from each of the schools.

The nomination time is limited, so persons interested in helping turn the spotlight on youth leadership are urged to submit names promptly.

Every Wednesday will be observed as Flag Day.

Backers Label Disclosure 'Much Ado About Nothing'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration leaders in the Senate appeared somewhat uncertain today about how to handle charges that Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell failed to disclose the sudden withdrawal of open support by an influential federal judge.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., floor manager of the nomination, had been ready to rest the administration's case today after less than three full days of debate.

But "there is some uncertainty now about whether or not to put up some more speakers," said a reliable source Tuesday night after the new disclosures by Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., sparked heated debate.

During the debate, however, Carswell backers labeled the disclosure "much ado about nothing."

Tydings, a leader of Carswell opposition, told the Senate former Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the U.S. 5th Court of Appeals changed his mind about testifying for Carswell after first volunteering to do so in a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Tydings said Tuttle informed Carswell of the change of heart in a telephone conversation the morning of Jan. 28. He said Tuttle told Carswell he had become concerned about reports of his involvement in forming a private golf club in Tallahassee, Fla., in 1956 that barred Negroes.

Tydings said after the telephone call Tuttle's original letter had "no business being in the record and Judge Carswell knew it."

But, said Tydings, even though Carswell had a chance to review the record and correct it he "never said one word to my knowledge to any senator that Judge Tuttle had called him up and said he would not testify."

Kodak Specialists Move In Show Equipment Thursday

Vans carrying a vast amount of equipment in cameras, special screens, sound facilities and other items for presentation of a unique film will be arriving in Big Spring Thursday morning. Kodak specialists and workmen will be spending several hours putting the items into place for the screening of a special Eastman Kodak travelogue, "Traveling the Tokaido Road."

This show is to be given Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:30 in the municipal auditorium, and it is free, although admission tickets are required. They may be obtained at a number of places through today, then on Thursday and Friday will be available only at The Herald office, until 6:30 p.m. each day.

More tickets are available for Thursday night than Friday. A near-capacity crowd is indicated for the last night.

With slides and movies projected on three giant screens, the travelogue provides an endless variety of image sizes and shapes. Still projectors and movie projectors are combined, for special photographic techniques, and the production is enhanced with special music and stereo sound effects. It will be narrated by Kodak specialist

Owen (Bud) Roth, assisted in projection by Bob Johnston.

"Traveling the Tokaido Road" gives a panoramic view of Japan, its people and scenic spots. Theme for the program is the contrast between the Japan of yesterday and today. The Tokaido Road was a principal route in Japan, and parallels closely roads leading to the current Expo-70.

SHORT TAKEOFF PLANE — The CCW5, an experimental plane, demonstrates at New Jersey's Teterboro Airport Monday, its ability to takeoff and land in very short distances. The plane features channel wings which give it tremendous lift, enabling it to get off the ground in about 150 feet and in about six seconds. The plane is driven by two engines, with the propellers located in the rear of the engines. At left background is New York's Empire State Building.

Drivers Of Small Cars Fighting Odds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drivers of small, low-priced automobiles are killed or seriously injured more often than those in heavier, more expensive cars, according to a study released in Senate testimony Tuesday.

In a study of 270,697 cars involved in accidents in 1966 and 1968 in North Carolina, passengers in the Volkswagen bus suffered the highest injury and death rates reported to the Senate subcommittee studying auto repairs.

Twelve other cars "showed injuries significantly higher than average" in the study presented by B. J. Campbell, director of the safety research center at the University of North Carolina.

If You Fight City Take Pants Along

CHICAGO (AP) — You can fight City Hall, but make sure you take your pants along or you may not have a case.

Three months, two investigations and one meeting of the City Finance Committee later, Black was informed that only the formality of a City Council meeting stood between him and $15 restitution for his ripped pants.

He assumes he'll get his money, although the council asked him to bring his pants to City Hall as proof of the accident.

Crystal City Boycotters Score Wins

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — A junior high school principal who was a major target of a school boycott here has been fired, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Officials also said the principal of the high school has resigned.

E. F. Mayer, president of the Crystal City School District board, said the trustees declined to renew the contract of J. F. Harbin, principal of Fly Junior High School since 1953.

Mayer said no reason was given.

"It doesn't have anything to do with the walkout last December," he said.

He referred to a school boycott by hundreds of Mexican-American pupils of all ages over demands for such changes as bilingual education.

The boycotters also demanded in a lengthy list of grievances that Harbin resign.

Mayer said John B. Lair, principal of Crystal City High School since 1956, has resigned but will stay on as an English teacher.

Earlier this year, John Billings resigned as superintendent of the school district.

Mayer said Billings' successor is John Briggs, former high school principal at Alice who has served more recently with an education agency in the Corpus Christi area.

He has been working as an administrative assistant here and will become superintendent July 1, Mayer said.

Since I do not recall ever having seen a bald-headed Indian I appealed to my readers, and asked them to send me a picture of a bald-headed Indian — if indeed one existed. School Bonds Rate Lower DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The tight school construction bond market is apparently relaxing, Dallas area school officials said Tuesday.

The Grand Prairie Independent School District has sold $2.5 million in construction bonds at 5.52 per cent interest, one of the lowest rates in the area in recent months.

"Apparently, this lower rate of interest represents a slowing down of inflationary trends in our economy," said Supt. Browning Combs.

School board President Benton Ford said construction can begin on facilities for South Grand Prairie High School and other school facilities.

DEAR ABBY: Well, you asked for it! I am a Chickasaw Indian and bald as an onion, and have been since I was in my late twenties.

LEONARD BROWN, OKLAHOMA CITY
DEAR ABBY: I hear you're looking for bald Indians. Well, Sam Churchill up in Yakima, Wash., did a little research for you.

According to him, Indian Agency Superintendent Bill Schlick says he has never seen a bald Indian and he has dealt with thousands of Indians, including Colville and Warm Springs tribe members. Bill's secretary, Ethel Mae Chase reported on the Klamath Indians in northern California and Oregon — no baldies there. Schlick's assistant, Barney Dunn backs up both Bill and Ethel Mae. Dunn (part Sioux himself) is getting a little thin on top, but says that's because he's short on Indian blood. If I round up any more information, I will write.

Mail Strike In Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — Defying federal antistrike laws, letter carriers in Manhattan and the Bronx struck today for higher pay. Union officials said there would be no mail deliveries in those boroughs.

Post Office officials said the strike appeared to be the first in the history of the service. A successful walkout would cripple mail communications in one of the nation's busiest postal districts.

If he has the king, then cashing out becomes a routine matter. If he has a lower honor, however, then the partnership must proceed with caution.

West was reluctant to release the ace of heart prematurely, so he returned the nine. North followed with the five and now it was East's turn to make a judicious decision. Observe that if he puts up the queen of hearts, South will cover with the king and the defense is subsequently limited to one heart trick—the ace.

Housing Suit Hearing Set

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A suit against multi-family housing units in a crowded school district here was scheduled for a federal court hearing today.

U.S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears was to hear the suit, which seeks to block present and future construction of the housing units in predominantly Mexican-American Edgewood School District.

Plaintiffs in the suit, a class action, claim that more multi-family housing in the school district will lead to an influx of children into what they call already crowded schools.

The school district is often described as one of the state's poorest financially. School officials also have voiced opposition to additional housing units in the district.

Residents of the area have picketed the site of one unit already underway. More than 100 Mexican-Americans recently confronted city councilmen with demands for action.

The city council voted to ask federal officials to withhold federal funds for future housing projects in the area until a comprehensive urban plan is drawn up.

Judge Spears denied a request last month for a temporary restraining order to halt construction of the housing unit now being built.

He said no decision had yet been reached, but called the court's jurisdiction in the case "highly questionable."

The hearing had been set for last week but was postponed because Spears was ill.

'Let's Make It A Hit, Man'

By NANCY SHIPLEY

Around The Rim
Practice Makes Perfect

When the next moon shot goes off April 11, I may appreciate the pictures of mission control, antennas and simulations. Last weekend I was privileged to get a closeup of NASA at Houston. The tour was brief, which should qualify me to be expert. Just a few minutes longer and I would have known nothing, because those sharp young men who explained it left my head spinning.

MANY PEOPLE ask where does the space center southeast of Houston fit into the picture? It is the communications center for the space program, and therefore the nerve center. Much, if not most, of the preparation of flight plans and astronaut instruction is done at the center.

THE ROOM WHERE all this will come into focus is relatively small, compared to the one at the Cape where the firing takes place. Yet, it is a condensation of electronic marvels.

In front are large screens for projecting flight patterns, simulations, television shots, etc. Above are various time registers clicking away the seconds. One is Greenwich time, and others relate to it; also record elapsed time of flight or the hours, minutes and seconds until the next liftoff.

A LONG ROW of consoles in front (each has its own television screen flanked by a row of channel and control buttons) accommodates the technicians who direct the flight and check constantly to see that every attitude of the spacecraft is exactly as it was planned to be. The second row is given over to the various systems of the craft — the power, communications and other similar factors. The third row is for the medical experts who constantly monitor the physical condition of the men aboard and their environment in the craft. The final row is for the center commanders. If any problem instantly from any point, the operator flicks to dial the commander, who flicks to the proper channel, and watches the screen indicated by the operator. Thus, a decision is made from the same information. These consoles are operated in three nine-hour shifts, which overlap for ample orientation of the new shift.

EQUALLY AMAZING is the simulator center. Actual size capsules and modules move on tracks and can be manipulated on various axis to simulate any position in flight. They are even oscillated to resemble the vibrations at liftoff, the bumps at docking, the conditions at re-entry. For months before a flight, the astronauts work at four-hour stretches reacting to and solving problems fed into the simulators. So exacting are these problems that on the last moon landing the astronaut remarked that the actual touchdown was easier than the simulator.

OF COURSE, it's unknown up there on the bleak moon surface, but we have the reassurance that the astronauts have been through that landing, even down to the stars in the universe and the simulations of the precise landing spot, countless times before that dramatic and critical instant comes. Practice, they say, makes perfect. —JOE PICKLE

Who Is Behind The Bombings?

WASHINGTON — A wave of bombings of buildings and homes in different parts of the country has aroused additional apprehension in a period already characterized by wide-spread uneasiness in America. People are asking: Who is behind the bombings? Will the government catch the culprits? Whose responsibility is it for detection — the federal government or the states or cities?

KNOWLEDGEABLE persons in the government here say that the states could do more to investigate not only the bombings but all kinds of disorders, and that too much dependence is placed on Washington for whatever happens, especially on delicate questions involving racial issues.

There undoubtedly is a relationship between the bombings and various extremists who have been making protests on public questions. It is one way to draw attention to a revolutionary spirit and to try to make government hesitant to take particular steps in dealing with recalcitrants.

BOMBINGS took place in three different locations in New York on March 12. Efforts have been made to blame such bombings on white people and to make a racial issue out of it. But the authorities here say that in due time the facts will all be disclosed, and it will be revealed that the bombings were part of a deliberate plan to make spectacular display of force in order to intimidate those who didn't want to see the Rap Brown trial in Bel Air postponed or transferred to some other location.

THERE ARE indications, too, that

Andrew Tully
The Crooked Sports Contest

WASHINGTON — As a red-blooded American, I am disturbed by revelations of heavy-handed hanky-panky by big-time gamblers involving professional sports events, and the suggestion that some of our sweaty athletes may be involved therein.

YET I DO not intend to go into a winsome decline. This is, after all, a wicked world. Big money is involved, and where there is big money some of us discover a streak of larceny in our hearts, or at least a tendency to overlook the finer points of ethics.

FOR A CASE in point, memory harks back to a steamy afternoon at Bangkok's Royal Sports Club racetrack. The seventh race was a prime example of how far America's sports world has to go to approach the blatancy, the candid scurrilousness of the Mysterious East.

IN A PROFESSION that shuns the unequivocal, Mr. Wayfoong's comment had the ring of a man who had been let in on a sure thing. Swiftly calculating the exchange rate, state law-enforcement agencies expect the federal government to do most of the investigating, but it's a federal violation only if it can be proved that the bombs were transported across state lines. This is not always easy to establish to the satisfaction of the courts. If the states enforced their laws vigorously, they could collect evidence that would be more helpful in prosecuting those responsible for the bombing incidents.

WHILE FEDERAL legislation has introduced to strengthen the law against crimes committed across state lines, there is obviously need for much more vigorous enforcement of laws by states and cities. The federal government is anxious to cooperate in every way, but cannot do the whole job.

The underlying object of many of the black extremist organizations is to fan the flames of race hatred. They believe this is one way to help them raise money and also to attract attention to their own cause. Reckless statements are heard at their meetings and the main theme is to blame the white people and urge that violence be used against them.

THERE IS a law passed by Congress which says it is a federal crime to cross state lines to incite riots and disorders. But few of those who have violated it have thus far been brought to the bars of justice. There has been a reluctance to deal with individuals who have been guilty of what their lawyers defend as merely "intemperance speech." But sooner or later the full effect of meetings that are designed to incite persons in attendance to commit acts of violence must come under the scrutiny of both federal and state authorities.

Tim To The Rescue

It was a bright spring-like day in West Texas when 10-year-old Tim Duncan met The Kite-Eating Tree, scourge of Charlie Brown and the Peanuts gang—who appear regularly in the comic section of The Herald. Tim, son of Mrs. Connie Kothari, 102 11th Place, was out for a peaceful afternoon of kite-flying when The Tree loomed on the horizon.

With a vicious gust of wind The Tree reached for the kite. Tim struggled heroically to keep the kite high in the sky, but The Tree won out. The kite gave a shudder and plummeted into the arms of the hungry tree.

Courageous Tim surveyed the situation briefly, and then with a flying leap, Tim tackled The Tree. Climbing to the uppermost branch he jerked his broken bird to freedom and ran for safety. In the shadows of a nearby building Tim mended the scarred beauty, and soon the kite was again flying high.

Foundation Threatening To Cancel MALD Grant

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Ford Foundation has threatened to cut off its grant to the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Educational Fund (MALD) unless it moves its headquarters out of Texas by June 15.

Pete Tijerina, MALD executive director, told a news conference Tuesday night that foundation officials cited "political turmoil" associated with his organization.

The foundation issued its decision Friday at a meeting in Washington with MALD board members, he said.

He said the board voted to leave its San Antonio headquarters by the deadline. A new site will be selected in May, he said.

MALD is backed by a $2.2 million Ford Foundation grant spread over eight years. It was founded here in May, 1968, and operates throughout the Southwest.

The Ford Foundation ultimatum came after an evaluation team spent several days in San Antonio, Tijerina said.

The foundation also excluded California as a site for MALD headquarters. Foundation officials felt MALD was "too controversial" in both Texas and California, Tijerina said.

"In essence, the foundation said we were being identified with political factions," Tijerina said. He said no names were mentioned specifically.

Tijerina said the MALD board favors Denver and Phoenix but that Ford officials prefer New York or Washington for the new headquarters.

Tijerina has directed MALD since it was founded. He said he would not move but would remain as a consultant or director of a regional office here.

Bomb Victim Identified As Flint Leader In SDS

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the persons who was killed when a dynamite explosion destroyed a Manhattan townhouse March 6 has been identified as Diana Oughton, a 28-year-old activist in the Students for a Democratic Society.

Deputy Inspector Thomas F. Maguire said Tuesday that Miss Oughton, also known as Diana Houghton, was identified by FBI fingerprint specialists after her little finger was found in the rubble. She lived in Flint, Mich.

Police said the brick townhouse at 18 West 11th St. was destroyed when homemade dynamite bombs being put together inside accidentally blew up.

One of the two male bodies found in the wreckage remains unidentified. The other was identified as Theodore Gold, 23, a leader of Students for a Democratic Society during the 1968 uprising at Columbia University.

Police were searching for Cathlyn Wilkerson, a member of the militant Weatherman faction of SDS, whose father owned the destroyed house and was vacationing at the time of the blast. Miss Wilkerson was reported to have fled the building after the explosion.

Also being sought was Kathy Boudin, 26, daughter of a noted New York civil rights lawyer, who is also believed to have been at the house March 6.

Competition Starts Today In Stock Show

Competition began this afternoon for the grand champion lamb and steer honors in the Howard County Junior Stock Show.

With less prize money offered this year than in recent years, the owner of the grand champion steer will get only the banner, as will owners of the three grand champion lambs.

Trophies will be presented to the lamb and steer showmanship award winners. The place winners in the four classes of lambs and three classes of steers will be competing for $192 in prize money.

The lambs will be divided in Finewools, Crossbreds, Southdowns (including Shropshires) and Hampshires and will be judged in heavyweight and lightweight classes. Three champion lambs, one each from the Finewools, Crossbreds and Medium Wools, will be chosen in the lamb judging which begins at 5:30 p.m. today.

First place is worth $5; second, $4; third, $3; fourth, $2; and fifth through tenth places, $1 each.

Jack Lacy, Lampasas vocational agriculture teacher will be the steer judge and Franklin Brownfield, Colorado City vocational agriculture teacher, will be lamb judge.

Steer judging will follow immediately after lamb judging, with the special Loy Acuff Award, a $100 savings bond and a plaque, to be presented to the first place Hereford steer bred in Howard County.

Prize money for first place is $12; second, $10; third, $9; fourth, $8; fifth, $7; and sixth through tenth, ribbons.

The stock was weighed in Tuesday afternoon by adult 4-H and FFA leaders, and beginning today at 1:30 p.m. was the tedious work of sifting and classifying.

Denny Belew, Fluvanna, a graduate student at Texas Tech, was in charge of classifying lambs; and Billy Reagor, Martin County agent, drew the task of sifting the steers to determine if all are eligible for competition.

COVERUP STUDY LISTS TWO GENERALS 14 Charged In My Lai Boo-Boo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army investigative panel that charged two generals and 12 lower ranking officers with violating military regulations involving the alleged My Lai massacre has called for increased troop indoctrination against mistreatment of civilians and prisoners.

The special panel also urged revamping reporting procedures to ensure that inquiries into any future incidents will flow up the chain of command and not be blocked at company or battalion levels.

The recommendations were included in a report made public Tuesday that resulted in charges of dereliction of duty and failure to obey regulations against 10 field grade officers and three captains in the alleged massacre.

Lt. Gen. William R. Peers, who headed the Army investigation, refused to characterize the original field probe—which produced negative results—as a cover-up of the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians March 16, 1968.

But he stated "our inquiry clearly established that a tragedy of major proportions occurred there" March 16, 1968.

Peers said his group received testimony and evidence "to indicate that certain individuals, either wittingly or unwittingly, by their action suppressed information from the incident from being passed up the chain of command."

The Army said the Peers inquiry prompted them to file charges against Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, who commanded the Americal Division, elements of which swept the Son My-Lai area at the time of the alleged killings of more than 100 civilians.

Also charged with dereliction of duty and failure to obey regulations was Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., who was assistant commander of the Americal Division at the time.

The 12 other officers, ranging from colonel to captain, were charged with such offenses as false swearing, failure to report possible misconduct, making false official statements, dereliction, failure to obey regulations and orders, and "misprision" of a felony, which is defined in military law as knowing of a felony and concealing that knowledge from authorities.

Grand jury-type formal investigations now will be held to decide whether the officers should be court-martialed.

Koster asked to be relieved from his current position as head of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and said goodbye Tuesday to the 3,700 cadets who gave him a standing ovation.

Army officials said Koster will serve as assistant to Lt. Gen. Jonathan Seaman who is 1st Army commander at Fort Meade, Md. Most of the 14 officers charged are to be transferred there.

Young, who commands the 24th Infantry Division in West Germany, was reassigned to Ft. Meade, but a spokesman in Germany said it was not known when he would return to the United States.

A heavily censored 50-page version of the Peers board report indicated units of the 11th refused to answer questions on Fifth Amendment grounds, MacCrate said.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, was understood to have already instructed his staff to explore ways of improving troop training procedures on the handling of civilians and prisoners.

Army sources said only about two hours a year are devoted to such training for most troops, although men bound for Vietnam are supposed to get extra instruction.

All Sold Out

WACO, Tex. (AP) — All art exhibition space at the Brazos River Festival and Pilgrimage is sold out more than a month in advance.

Mrs. Bob Sadler said Tuesday.

Mrs. Sadler, a co-chairman for the event, said the event was scheduled in Waco for April 25-26.

Boyle Is Booked To Testify Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. A. "Tony" Boyle, president of the United Mine Workers, today was given the congressional forum he has demanded to answer charges involving election fraud, misuse of union funds and complicity in the death of his election opponent, Joseph A. Yablonski.

The embattled union chief was the only witness called today by the Senate Labor subcommittee that already had heard testimony from Boyle's political opponents in and out of the union and trustees of the UMW's multimillion-dollar welfare and retirement fund.

At a news conference last week Boyle accused subcommittee Chairman Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., of refusing him an opportunity to testify at a hearing into the UMW's affairs.

The 65-year-old Boyle sat quietly Tuesday among spectators who heard officials of the fund since its creation in 1950 testified she never gave Boyle her proxy vote to be used in adopting the increase. The action was taken June 24, 1969, while she was in a hospital.

Miss Josephine Roche, one of three trustees and director of the fund since its creation in 1950, testified she never gave Boyle her proxy vote to be used in adopting the increase. The action was taken June 24, 1969, while she was in a hospital.

The first witness, George L. Judy, a former trustee and the trust fund's management representative, said he voted for the increase with Boyle after the union leader told him he had Miss Roche's proxy in his pocket.

Following Tuesday's session, Boyle told reporters he never said he had Miss Roche's proxy.

"Don't be ridiculous," Boyle said. "You know the woman is anti-Boyle and has been for some time."

North Texas Race Probe

LUBBOCK (AP) — Testimony in a probe involving political pressure in the North Texas race of Rep. W. S. Heatly will continue for a week or more, U.S. Dist. Atty. Frank McCown said Tuesday.

Two San Antonio men are testifying before a Lubbock federal grand jury in the case which was transferred after a San Antonio probe.

The two men testifying were members of the San Antonio grand jury.

The veteran Paducah Democrat, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, is seeking his ninth term and faces opposition for the first time in six years.

U. S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears ordered exhibits and transcripts of the San Antonio hearing sent to Lubbock after the grand jury reported that the case should be transferred.

Among witnesses appearing at the San Antonio hearing were Heatly's opponents, Democrat Leon Williams of Quanah and Republican Zack Fisher of Memphis.

Raid At Killeen Nets Pot, LSD

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP)—A raid at a Killeen residence by police resulted in three charges of possession of marijuana and one of possessing a dangerous drug (LSD).

Those charged included Faust Gomez, Linda K. Martin, George Ray Carroll, all on marijuana violations, and Thomas Patrick O'Keefe, who officers accused of possessing LSD.

Four other persons at the house were released without charges and a 15-year-old girl was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Jack Lacy Judges Steers

A vocational agriculture teacher from Lampasas who is a former president of the 1,200-member Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas, will judge the steers today in the Howard County Junior Livestock Show.

Jack Lacy is no stranger to prize-winning steers. During his tenure at Lampasas, he has been very successful in fitting steers for the major livestock shows of Texas.

One of his students had "back to back" Grand Champions at Fort Worth in 1967 and 1968, the only time in the 73-year history of the show that the same person has won the show more than once.

Lacy's students have also won Grand Champion steer honors in Odessa and Waco and Reserve Grand Champion steer honors in Dallas and San Antonio. Lacy's students have had Breed Champions or Reserve

JACK LACY

Breed Champions at major shows 16 times since he has been in Lampasas at shows in Hereford, Angus, Shorthorn, Brahman-cross and Charolais-cross.

Lacy was reared in Cross Plains and received his Bachelor of Science Degree from Texas A&M in agricultural education and a master's degree from Howard Payne in education and biology. He is married and has a 12-year-old son.

Brownfield To Judge Lambs

A vocational agriculture teacher, who has students with champion lambs in most major shows in Texas, will judge lambs in the Howard County Junior Stock Show here tonight.

Franklin Brownfield, vocational agriculture teacher at Colorado High School, Colorado City, is a native West Texan, reared in Snyder. He was formerly in Blackwell.

Four boys under his supervision have earned the American Farmer Degree, the highest degree under the Future Farmers of America program. In Blackwell, he developed an outstanding sheep breeding program with club boys, and he has coached many top judging teams with special emphasis on livestock and wool.

He graduated from Texas Tech with a BS degree in 1952 and AS degree in 1953. He is married and has three children.

'Peace Festival' Moved To Dickens

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A "peace festival" planned for Easter weekend at Yellow House Canyon near here has been moved about 65 miles east to Dickens.

Promoters said they could not find landowners willing to lease their property at the first festival site. They say about 40,000 young persons and several top "hard rock" bands will attend.

School Arguments To Test Texas Open Meetings Act

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The state Open Meetings Act comes under scrutiny of appellate judges today for the first time since it became law as lawyers for two feuding school districts present arguments.

The case, which could lead to a landmark decision, involves annexation of the tiny West Texas school district of Toyah by the nearby Pecos-Barstow consolidated district.

It is before the 4th Court of Civil Appeals here. The Toyah district is appealing from a lower court decision. It maintains that the annexation order is illegal on the ground that the decision was reached at a private meeting that deliberately barred the public.

Toyah lawyers take up a wide-ranging list of points in their brief filed in the case, growing out of a meeting a year ago at which the Reeves County school trustees ordered the annexation.

The lawyers, Max Ramsey and Raydo Archer Jr., allege that three members of the Reeves County board were biased because of a "pecuniary interest" in the move.

At another point, Ramsey and Archer compare arguments by the Pecos-Barstow lawyers to a non-sensical conversation between Alice and Humpty Dumpty in Lewis Carroll's "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland."

At stake in the case is whether the public can be arbitrarily excluded from government meetings. The Texas Daily Newspaper Association, which has filed a "friend of the court" brief, says the decision reached by the court will affect every citizen of Texas.

"The decision in this test case will apply not only to school districts but to all governmental bodies in the state," the TDNA contends.

"That holding will control the right of the general public to observe governmental bodies and to know the manner in which such bodies arrive at determinations which affect the lives of the citizens not just in Reeves County, but in all 254

Will Represent Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall will represent Massachusetts at commemorative exercises in Plymouth, England, in May to mark the sailing of the Mayflower 350 years ago.

Saltonstall, whose ancestors came over on the Mayflower, was designated Sunday by Gov. Francis W. Sargent to be the state's official representative during Massachusetts Week May 2-9. The week is part of a five-month Mayflower '70 celebration of the Pilgrims' departure.

counties in this state," the TDNA says.

The Texas Open Meetings Act was passed by the legislature in 1967 to "prohibit governmental bodies from holding meetings which are closed to the public."

The Pecos-Barstow lawyers maintain in their brief that Toyah officials were given time to air their opposition to annexation.

"It was after the Toyah group and their counsel had, in effect, rested their case that the meeting was closed and the county board went into a private session for the purpose of considering the question of annexation," the five Pecos-Barstow lawyers contend.

The TDNA maintains that "if interested citizens can be excluded from meetings of boards of school trustees, the citizens and press may be excluded from any meeting of any governmental body."

The Toyah lawyers said in their brief that it would be a "complete emasculation of the law to hold that the open meetings law does not apply to a meeting to determine annexation."

Toyah school Supt. John Smith said in a recent interview that if Pecos does succeed in the annexation, "it would almost be the death of the community—the school is the largest single industry here."

Toyah is appealing a decision reached by Dist. Judge J.H. Starley, who declared the annexation order valid.

Foursquare Gospel Church Schedules Revival Meetings

Revival services are being planned at the Church of the Foursquare Gospel, 1210 E. 19th St., beginning Thursday, and continuing through Sunday. The evangelist is Dennis Godwin, of Pampa, who preaches, sings, plays the guitar, and is also a gospel song writer.

Godwin recently graduated from high school and has been doing evangelistic work throughout the United States. Recently, he held a week meeting on an Indian reservation in Arizona. He plans to attend L.I.F.E. Bible College in Los Angeles, Calif., the Foursquare Bible College, in the fall.

These revival services will start each night at 7:30 o'clock, and the pastor, Rev. Shirley Stegall, invited the public.

Winter Aims New Punch At Texans

By The Associated Press

Winter, holding on to the last, aimed a fresh punch at Texas today.

Rain or snow was expected in the Panhandle by evening as colder air came thrusting toward the state to encounter moisture being pushed into West Texas by stiff south or south-east winds.

Prospects for rain and dropping temperatures were seen for all other sections tonight or Thursday, but forecasts did not call for severe chilling immediately.

Talent Meeting

W. H. Brooks, chief of personnel at Veterans Administration Hospital, is attending a meeting of the Joint Effort for Talent in El Paso. The committee recruits college students for work in civil service.

Although Tuesday morning's snow in northern areas of the state and showers or thunderstorms elsewhere had departed, it still was at least partly cloudy over much of Texas. There was a good bit of fog in the Panhandle before dawn.

Temperatures near daylight ranged from the 30s in the Panhandle up to the 60s in far West and extreme South Texas.

Official observers looked for temperatures early Thursday down to 20 degrees in parts of Southwest Texas, 25 in the Panhandle and in the 30s to 50s elsewhere.

Extended forecasts, looking five days ahead, called for unseasonable cold Saturday and in the north central and northeast parts of the state Sunday.

Readings near daylight today ranged from 34 degrees at Childress and 35 at Amarillo and Dalhart up to 61 at El Paso and 68 at Brownsville.

Smith Talks To Cattlemen

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The three-day Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association convention ends today.

Governor Preston Smith, one of three guest speakers at the convention on Tuesday, predicted a healthy future for the cattle industry in Texas.

The governor said, "The consumer needs to be informed that the somewhat high cost of meat does not come solely from the cattlemen." He said, "Other factors increase the cost between the cattle fields and the grocery stores."

Dr. Michael H. Mescon, professor of human relations and chairman of the department of management at Georgia State University, spoke out in favor of the free enterprise system. He said the cattle industry, as well as other businesses, should seek to make a profit and not be content with "just getting by."

Making Caves Uninhabitable

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines exploded charges of CS riot gas in a vast complex of caves they discovered near Da Nang to prevent the enemy from using them, Marine officers said today.

Some of the caves, in the Que Son mountains 35 miles southwest of Da Nang, are 15 feet high and more than 200 feet long. Officers said they are large enough to hide 400 to 500 soldiers.

Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig reported from Landing Zone Ross, the nearest Marine base, four miles from the caves that officers believe 40 North Vietnamese soldiers used the caves to escape Sunday when Marines arrived in the area.

By filling the passageways with the tear-gas-like CS, the Marines hope the hideout will be uninhabitable for several months.

The Que Son mountain range is pocked with hundreds of natural caves and tunnels formed over the years by rockslides. The Viet Cong have chartered them and know them well.

Some of the caves are known to have been used in the French-Indochina war, which ended in 1954.

But after three days of searching, the Marines have failed to find the enemy troops. "There are probably exits to those caves we will never find," said one officer. "The best thing we can do is deny them access for a while."

Battlefield communiques issued in Saigon today reported that three Americans were killed and four were wounded in an enemy attack on a 173rd Airborne Brigade Camp 38 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

The paratroopers called in reinforcements and helicopter gunships, the U.S. Command said, but there was no word on enemy casualties in the 7½-hour battle.

'That's Why I Shot Him'

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury tries again today to determine the punishment for Edward David Mullane III, who was found guilty Tuesday of murdering a Baytown automobile dealer.

The eight men and four women needed less than an hour to find Mullane, 30, guilty of shooting Thad Felton twice in the head but was sent home for the night after reporting an 11-1 deadlock after more than five hours of deliberation on a sentence.

Felton's body was found on an isolated road near Baytown on March 4, 1967.

He had been shot twice in the head.

The state sought a life sentence. Bob Heath, defense attorney, argued during the sentencing hearing for a "small number of years" saying "Thad Felton wanted to die."

Mullane testified Monday that Felton begged him to shoot him and gave him $930 to do so. Mullane said Felton wanted his family to collect double indemnity on a $100,000 life insurance policy.

Dist. Judge Sam W. Davis received the jury's deadlock report after 6 p.m. Tuesday. Davis ordered another 15 minute effort, but the jurors still were deadlocked and were instructed to return and try again today.

Crocodile Tears

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Curator John Weiman heard a piercing shriek from the crocodile pit in the Port Elizabeth snake park. Thinking someone had fallen prey to the snapping jaws of Bertie, the giant croc, he rushed to the pit and found the reptile contentedly chewing an expensive camera. The scream was from an unidentified German tourist who had dangled the camera above Bertie's head to watch his reaction.

They are president, Friend H. Tabbot; vice president, Milton and treasurer, Tommy Ross. New directors are Norman Piquet, Jack Powell, Dan Wilkins and Curtis Witte. Installation will be in June, according to president Curt Mullins.

Classification talks were made by Ed Holland, Wilkins and Powell who were introduced by R. W. Thompson.

New Furniture From Carter's Will Brighten Your House

With springtime comes the urge to fix up, re-do and add something new. It may be a good opportunity to replace an old armchair or purchase the new dining set you've been wanting. Some pleasant afternoon stop in at Carter's furniture, 100-110 Runnels, and look for an item that will brighten up a room.

Stopping at Carter's first will save time, trouble and the frustration of running from store to store and not finding your desired style. Carter's offers a complete and varied line of quality furniture in all popular periods.

The large selection includes trade names such as Sealy, Tell City, Broyhill, La-Zy Boy, Kroehler, Holman and Virtue dinettes. Styles include Early American, Spanish and French Provincial and Modern.

The furniture is departmentalized to make shopping easy at Carter's. The Early American suites, tables and chairs are in the building at 110 Runnels. In colored accent pieces there are many styles and colors to match and complement present furniture.

Modern? There's a whole section filled with the latest styles in the newest color combinations.

If French Provincial is the style wanted, shift to the middle of the building and find everything wanted. A look at the furniture by Lenoir House will show the quality Carter's carries.

Lenoir House captures the grace and charm of pointed-front French Provincial design and adapts it for the spirit of youth; the details are countless — carved legs, shaped tops, base rails, carefully carved mirror frames and plastic tops that will not stain, even from polish.

There are many pieces to choose from, enough to permit complete individuality in furnishing a room. The enchanting bedroom suite is handsome in dove white with gold trim and plastic tops. The drawers have center glides and are dustproof.

Carter's has recently received new Spanish and Early American bedroom furniture. Stop by soon and be the first to have these new pieces in the bedroom.

Besides the furniture Carter's has a varied supply of lamps, pictures, accessories, bedspreads, decorator pillows and many other things to dress up the home.

Even if not shopping for furniture, the dollar table at Carter's is worth checking for items that can be used in the home or given as gifts. Many decorator pieces and novelties are offered.

Visit Carter's and let Terry and Dorothy Carter or a member of their trained staff help make the right furniture selection for the home.

BENNETT'S DRIVE-IN PHARMACY
... complete pharmaceutical service

Bennett's Pharmacists Take Pride In Their Profession

At Bennett's Pharmacy, 305 W. 16th, Bennett Brooke and Paul Keele pride themselves on the fast, convenient, professional service they give residents.

Included in this service is the drive-in window on Sixteenth Street and the Family Prescription Record System.

The drive-in window is designed to aid the busy housewife who doesn't have the time to dress-up. The hurried customer may drive in and pick up the prescription without bringing in infants and small children, or worrying about them alone in the car.

If the patron requests a physician to call the prescription to Bennett's, the medication will be ready almost immediately.

Now that it is income tax time, the Family Prescription Record System is particularly useful. An individual record of each family's prescriptions will be maintained in order to qualify as an income tax deduction. The records are also useful for insurance purposes.

The family records are kept up-to-date and are checked each time to make sure newly prescribed medicines are not contradictions or dangerous in combination with other presently administered drugs. New prescriptions are also checked to insure that they will not produce an allergic reaction with previously prescribed medicines.

If a family changes doctors, the family record makes it easy for the new doctor to know the medication history of the family. If a prescription number is lost or misplaced it is instantly available in the record system at Bennett's.

Bennett's also carries a complete line of convalescent and hospital supplies including wheelchairs, crutches, walkers, chair commodes, portable lifts and hospital beds. These specialized items are for rent or sale. Bennett's also supplies hearing aid batteries.

The pharmacy is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. In case of an emergency Bennett Brooke may be reached at 267-7384 and Paul Keele may be reached at 263-4416.

During regular pharmacy hours customers may call 263-1751 for prompt service.

As March temperatures go from one extreme to another and occasional showers can be expected, it is wise to have a supply of vitamins and cold remedies on hand. Bennett's always carries fresh pharmaceuticals; and the clean, bright appearance of the store creates an atmosphere of confidence.

For those who come in to have a prescription filled, Bennett's has a coffee bar serving fresh hot coffee anytime.

Brooke and Keele invite women to see their selection of Allercreme cosmetics which are gentle as well as beautifying to the complexion. For better comfort for men and women, there are elastic support socks and stockings. These stockings give the therapeutic support needed.

The next time a pharmaceutical or cosmetic need arises, stop in at Bennett's Pharmacy, 305 W. 16th.

Transfer Of Seattle Club Has Become Court Issue

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The American League was headed for court today, trying to clear three legal hurdles blocking transfer of the Seattle Pilots to Milwaukee—or face the possible alternative of operating as an 11-team league this season.

That possibility existed following Tuesday's developments in which:

—The reported transfer of the Pilots to Milwaukee was blocked by a restraining order obtained in Tampa and papers served by the State of Washington, both prohibiting the American League temporarily from moving the financially plagued club.

—The American League adopted a resolution in which it said, "There are ... reasons why the American League ... cannot continue financial support of the Pilots beyond the amount already committed."

HANDS TIED

"Our hands are tied right now," said American League President Joe Cronin after the day-long session, during which the owners were served papers by deputy sheriffs from Tampa and a representative of the attorney general's office in the State of Washington.

Cronin also said, "It's almost impossible to operate with 11 clubs," but the league's attorney, Sandy Hadden, admitted it's a "theoretical possibility."

The possibility could arise if the legal restraints cannot be removed in time for the opening of the season less than three weeks away and the Pilots' current owners, apparently running out of money, are forced to continue operation.

They, naturally, could only do that as long as their funds held out.

American League owners already have given the Pilots a loan of $650,000 to tide them through spring training. As for the possibility of the American League coming up with more money, the resolution seemed to rule that out.

Neither of the two most interested parties, meanwhile, had much to say after the latest developments in the muddled situation.

Bud Selig, president of Milwaukee Brewers Inc., a 14-man group seeking to acquire the Pilots, said, "There's not much I can say at this time." Max Soriano, representing the Pilots, said, "I have no reaction."

PROBLEM SNARLED

The rug was pulled out from under AL owners just before the start of their meeting, supposedly called to officially sanction a move from Seattle to Milwaukee, when Tampa deputy sheriffs appeared on the scene with temporary injunctions forbidding the move.

The injunction was sought by Alfred Schweppe, a Seattle attorney and season ticket-holder, who has paid $775 for tickets and parking for the next four seasons.

At the same time, the State of Washington appeared on the scene through an attorney who served papers in an $80 million suit brought Monday to stop the transfer or sale of the Pilots. Schweppe also has a suit pending in Seattle.

Those are the three legal hurdles that have to be cleared before the American League can make a move. It is apparent that, barring the restraining order, they would have moved to Milwaukee. They all but said so in the resolution, pointing out:

"But for that restraint at this meeting it (the American League) would have given consideration to a transfer." They still can do that if the legal restraints are removed in time.

CHURCH LEAGUE MEETING IS SLATED AT BEREA THURSDAY

Commitments are needed from churches which plan to field teams in the Church Softball league here, league commissioner Vaughn Martin has reminded sponsors. The circuit will hold another meeting at the Berea Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Thursday for the purpose of deciding whether the organization will function as a fast-pitch or slow-pitch league. These churches planning to field teams should have a representative in attendance, Martin stated. The Berea Baptist Church is located at 4204 Wasson Road.
