Letter Carriers' Strike Spreading

Postmen May Ignore Judge

NEW YORK (AP) — Letter carriers in parts of three states today joined the illegal wage strike begun by New York mailmen. Despite a federal court back-to-work order, indications were the mail tieup would continue in the world's business and financial capital.

Locals of the letter carriers' union in several New Jersey cities, in parts of Westchester, Rockland and Orange counties north of New York City, and in Stamford Conn., voted Wednesday night to walk out. Votes were scheduled in other cities around the nation.

MAIL PAINS
A national embargo ordered at the start of the day-old strike already had diverted tens of millions of pieces of mail addressed to New York to storage bins in post offices around the nation.

The impact of the strike, the first of its magnitude in American postal history, was immediate. It was felt in brokerage houses, banks, businesses and law offices.

Gus Johnson, head of the striking Manhattan-Bronx local of the AFL-CIO National Association of Letter Carriers, publicly appealed to his men to return to work. The union attorney conceded in court that "the strike is illegal."

But Jack Leventhal, president of the striking Brooklyn local, said the union's constitution required three days notice before a membership meeting to vote on whether to obey the injunction.

WHO CARES?

That meant the earliest such a vote could be held was Saturday and the decision meanwhile on whether to return was left to the individual workers.

Only about 12 per cent of the 6,000 night shift workers showed up at Manhattan's huge General Post Office, and overnight pickets outside the facility said they were determined to stick it out despite the possibility of federal penalties.

"Who the hell cares about penalties?" asked Martin Rafferty, a 22-year veteran with the post office. "I'm not making enough money to support myself."

"We knew we were in violation of federal law before we went out and we're out to stay," declared Leventhal.

MORE MONEY

"The men will defy any injunction, they'll stay out until hell freezes over," said Herman Sandbank, executive vice president of the striking union. "If the strike accelerates at the present rate, in 48 hours there will be no mail service in the United States."

At the heart of the dispute is congressional inaction over long-sought pay increases. The mailmen had demanded an annual wage scale of $5,500 to $11,700 to replace the present $6,100 to $8,442.

ACUFF AWARD — Richie Tubb won the Loy Acuff award Wednesday night in the Howard County Junior Livestock Show. The award is a $100 gift certificate and a plaque and goes each year to the owner of the best Hereford Steer bred in Howard County. The animal was bred by David Barr. (See Page 1-B.) ## Peking Rolls Out Red Carpet For Sihanouk

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Members of Cambodia's National Assembly accused Prince Norodom Sihanouk of corruption, murder, nepotism and protecting the Viet Cong before they voted to depose him, the Cambodian Radio reported today.

A broadcast recording of the debate Wednesday indicated many deputies joined in the attack before the unanimous vote of no confidence which overthrew the man who had ruled them for 29 years.

Deputy Trinh Hoahn, who called for the no confidence vote called the 47-year-old prince a dictator and said Sihanouk's wife and mother-in-law had made fortunes selling government jobs. He accused Sihanouk of running a gambling casino for personal profit, "executing a large number of peasants without trial, wasting national funds and blindly following his wife's advice."

Another deputy named Ouch Ek charged the prince with killing many peasants "because his brother-in-law was police commissar" and with supplying arms to the Viet Cong.

Princess Monique, Sihanouk's wife, has been reported in Singapore, while her mother was in Europe with Sihanouk and arrived in Peking with him today. The resignation of the brother-in-law was announced Wednesday.

ACHIEVEMENT AWARD DRAWS NOMINEES

Names of more young people had been submitted today as nominees for the 1970 Zale-Herald Youth Achievement Award. They are being recognized by others for leadership work in school, church and community activities.

Latest names on this "honor roll" are Carol Ann Perkins, LaShara Shanks and Janice Majors, all of Big Spring High School, and Tommy Hollandsworth of Forsan.

Junior and senior girls and boys in Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands High Schools may be eligible for the outstanding honor, and nominations are invited, so that the youth who demonstrate leadership and good citizenship may be recognized. A form, which appears in The Herald today on Page 2-A, must be used, but a supplemental fact sheet may be attached.

All nominees will be honored at a banquet April 23, and will receive gifts and certificates. Four winners — one from each of the schools — will be judged as top leaders and will receive trophies and watches. Prompt submission of names is encouraged, so that all deserving youth will be recognized.

About 30 Area Families To Be Counted This Month

About 30 Howard and Glasscock county families will be counted in advance, between now and April 1, when the three crew chiefs of the nose count make about 10 calls each in order to determine the amount of time it takes.

The official 1970 census begins April 1 and continues through the month, with a tentative total expected sometime in May. About 45 enumerators will be announced later, who will be conducting the count.

The crew chiefs — Mrs. Donald C. Lee, Mrs. James E. Williams, and Mrs. Robert F. Penner — will call on a number of families within the next week, in order to estimate the time.

Residents will get census forms in the mail, which are to be completed prior to the arrival of the enumerators. Some forms will be longer than others, and enumerators will be asking some families for more information than others.

Oil Allowable Remains High

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The Railroad Commission set the statewide oil allowable today at 68 per cent of potential for April, the fourth straight month it has permitted such relatively high production.

The April allowable will permit maximum production of 3,655,018 barrels of oil a day, the same as this month.

Three of 14 major buyers of Texas crude oil asked the commission for more oil in April, 10 sought the same amount as March and one requested fewer barrels of oil in April than in March.

Federal Aid For Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposing a major reform of federal aid to college students, President Nixon asked Congress today to put even the poorest students on an equal financial footing with those coming from families earning $10,000 a year.

In a special message, the most arresting feature in a series of Nixon-advocated changes would greatly increase dollars available for grants and loans to students from low-income families. He said:

"Every low-income student entering an accredited college would be eligible for a combination of federal grants and subsidized loans sufficient to give him the same ability to pay as a student from a family earning $10,000."

Carswell's Foes Dust Off Ethics Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of G. Harrold Carswell's nomination to the Supreme Court have dusted off a weapon that proved deadly in an earlier nominee—charges of possible ethics violations.

But an administration lieutenant says any attempt to draw such a comparison between Carswell and Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. was "reaching a long way."

Haynsworth, chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va., was rejected by the Senate last November, largely on the strength of charges he violated the Canons of Judicial Ethics by sitting on cases in which he had a financial interest.

Thousands Fleeing, Reds Gain In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The North Vietnamese drove farther south in Laos today and more thousands fled before their advance.

Laotian military sources said the North Vietnamese pushed out from the Sam Thong base they captured Wednesday and attacked an outpost five miles north of Long Cheng.

The sources also said the North Vietnamese fired four rockets at Long Cheng, headquarters of Gen. Vang Pao and his 7,000-man guerrilla army of Meo tribesmen which the United States finances, equips and trains. The rockets burned several houses, but no casualties were reported, the informants said.

The sources said as many as 18,000 civilians and soldiers had been evacuated from the Long Cheng area because of the buildup by the North Vietnamese and their Pathet Lao allies.

At the Vientiane airport 80 miles to the south, Air America transport planes unloaded both civilians and soldiers from Long Cheng. Most of the soldiers were in uniform and carrying weapons. Some were wounded but able to walk.

There was no immediate report on whether U.S. Central Intelligence Agency personnel who had been at Long Cheng, had left.

Long Cheng is 10 miles southeast of Sam Thong, and Sam Thong is 15 miles southwest of the Plain of Jars, which the North Vietnamese recaptured in February.

MOBILE HOME HOMESTEAD!

AUSTIN (AP) — A mobile home can be claimed as one's homestead, safe from seizure for debt, the state supreme court ruled Wednesday.

The court issued no opinion, but said it found no reversible error in a decision by the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here, granting homestead rights to a Travis County couple.

the Plain of Jars, which the North Vietnamese recaptured in February.

Since the 1962 Geneva agreement that was supposed to make Laos a neutral state, Communist forces had never pushed into the Sam Thong-Long Cheng area although they held the Plains of Jars until last summer. Many observers had thought they would content themselves in the current offensive with a drive west across central Laos to the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway, taking only what they lost last summer when Vang Pao's army drove across the Plain of Jars.

There were no reports of new fighting at Sam Thong although Laotian sources claimed government troops still were on the edge of the village and base and in control of two hilltops to the north and south.

One American helicopter pilot landed briefly in the Sam Thong area Wednesday and picked up three wounded Laotian soldiers he said a U.S. aid warehouse and 10 houses for U.S. military attaches had been destroyed by fire.

The 16 Americans stationed at Sam Thong and more than 2,000 tribesmen and peasants including 200 hospital patients were flown out before the North Vietnamese moved in.

ONE UP, TWO TO GO—Workmen were busy at the municipal auditorium this morning, erecting giant screens and installing elaborate projection equipment for the Eastman Kodak travelogue spectacular to be presented tonight and Friday night at 7:30. Three 12-foot screens were being erected on the stage and both still and motion picture cameras will be used in the color presentation of Japan—"Traveling The Tokaido Road". In addition to modern photographic techniques, the show employs special music, sound and narration. Free tickets (required at the door) may be had at The Herald office until 6:30 p.m. for tonight's performance, and through tomorrow for the Friday presentation. (Photo by Jim Rentz)

Effort To Settle Rail Dispute Flops

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government effort to peacefully settle the nationwide railroad labor dispute before a congressional strike ban expires fell through when the key union again refused to negotiate.

Vice President J. W. O'Brien of the AFL-CIO Sheet Metal Workers told Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery such talks were futile unless the railroad industry improved the offer his union members turned down.

O'Brien, in a telegram to Usery refusing to attend Wednesday's talks, also said no Labor Department official could act as an unbiased mediator because President Nixon has asked Congress to impose a mandatory settlement. He had also refused to attend a March 6 meeting called by Usery.

O'Brien and negotiators for three other unions in the dispute had tentatively accepted the Dec. 4 proposal for a 68-cent hike in current wages of $3.60 per hour and a change in job jurisdiction rules.

Members of the three other unions representing machinists, electricians and boilermakers voted to accept the proposal, but the sheet metal workers voted it down out of fear the jurisdiction rule would cost them many jobs. The sheet metal workers, with some 6,000 rail workers, is the smallest of the four unions in the dispute.

Nixon asked Congress to impose as binding the Dec. 4 tentative agreement for the rest of this year, but Congress instead enacted a 37-day ban against any strike until April 11.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz has been summoned to testify before the House Commerce Committee Monday on the Nixon proposal and other aspects of the 15-month-old dispute.

"Just because the President sent a message to Congress doesn't mean you can't mediate a dispute," Usery said in reply to O'Brien.

City Sales Tax Nets $34 Million

AUSTIN (AP) — The city sales tax was a $34 million money maker in the last quarter of 1969, state Comptroller Robert S. Calvert reported Wednesday. Net payments topping $1 million were Houston $7.4 million, Dallas $5.66 million, Fort Worth $2.21 million, San Antonio $2.44 million, El Paso $1.22 million and Austin $1.08 million.

No Protection For Rare Albino Dove

By JEAN FANNIN

It's the only known albino dove in existence in Texas, but unless something is done quickly, it will be turned loose to meet its fate.

"Chances of its survival are slim," Kenneth Lunsford, game warden, said Wednesday.

The bird was found bleeding from the mouth and nostrils by a little girl who turned it over to Bob Baker, dog catcher. Baker said the bird was found in the 3700 block of US 80 west about two weeks ago.

Policemen adopted the bird and have nursed it back to health, but according to state law, the bird must be released. Lunsford is awaiting an identification band from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

This is only the second albino dove identified in Texas, Lunsford said. The first one was killed near Haskell. Doves are game birds, and keeping a game bird as a pet carries a $200 fine.

If not killed by a hunter, the dove is in danger of being eaten by a predator or dying from heat, Lunsford said. The red eyes of an albino are very sensitive to the sun. Lunsford said this could be how the bird was injured in the first place.

"If the sun was bothering its eyes, it could have hurt itself flying into something," he said.

He said hawks and owls prey on doves, and an albino does not have the brownish-gray color of ordinary doves which can blend into the landscape. Birds also band together for protection, and the albino dove might be rejected by other doves because of its difference in coloring.

The dove would also be in danger from coyotes, bobcats and ordinary housecats, he said.

The band ordered by the wildlife department is to identify where and how the bird died, he said. The band contains instructions for whoever kills or finds the bird dead, to report this information to the department.

Lunsford said he attempted to have the bird placed with a travelling wildlife exhibit based in Austin, but to keep a dove requires permits from the federal and state government and the exhibitors do not have a zoological permit.

Lunsford said he was not aware of any extensive study on albino doves, but he said biologists believe albinos to be sterile, which is what makes the bird a "freak" of nature.

Lunsford said he expects the band today or Friday, and the bird will be released as soon as Lunsford decides the bird is in good health. He said the dove will probably be released on a ranch somewhere in this area.

He judged the bird to be between nine months and a year old and said it weighs about 20 grams. He said he isn't sure whether the bird is male or female.

Three Texans Killed In Spy Plane Crash

ATSUGI, Japan (AP) — Three Texans were among 23 Navy men killed in the crash of an EC121 electronic spy plane at Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam, the Navy said today. One Texan survived.

The converted Super Constellation crashed Monday.

Reported in good condition was Donald W. Holder, 24, of Wichita Falls.

Texans killed were William Bletsch, 23, of Decatur; Ben Hughes, 21, of Houston; and Arthur Simmons, 29, of Marshall.

The Navy said 31 men were aboard the plane. The EC121 was used to monitor North Vietnamese radio and radar transmissions.

Johnson Attends Odessa Welcome

Ben Johnson, academic dean at Howard County Junior College, was among the approximately 150 distinguished educators and civic leaders on hand in Odessa Wednesday morning to welcome Dr. B. H. Amstead to his duties as the first President of the University of Texas, Permian Basin.

This was Dr. Amstead's official welcome to the site of the upper level institution set to open in September, 1973, Johnson said.

Among the speakers at the location, 1 1/2 miles east of Odessa, was Midland Oil Executive Malcolm Abel.

Flight Axed

HOUSTON (AP) — Braniff International has abandoned its non-stop service between Houston and Honolulu.

"The service wasn't being utilized that heavily," said Jim Murray, district sales manager.

Soft Pedaling Safety Orders?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Maryland official today accused the federal government of soft pedaling safety standards for motor vehicles in the face of "pressures from large industry."

Einer J. Johnson told a Senate subcommittee the federal action undercut tough tire standards "for which Maryland, New Jersey, Florida and Kansas fought so hard" and almost wiped out New Hampshire and Vermont bans on a device called the "Super-lite."

Johnson, deputy commissioner of Motor Vehicles in Maryland and member of the transportation committee of the National Conference of Governors, made his remarks in testimony prepared for the Senate Anti-trust and Monopoly subcommittee studying auto repairs and warranties. The long series of hearings was to end today.

Johnson called for an end to the rule that allows the federal government to wipe out rigid state regulations by establishing a national safety standard less restrictive than a state's.

He said that rule "stems from the suspicion that individual states are more susceptible to pressures from large industry and, therefore, standards that are established may reflect industry wishes rather than the best interests of public safety."

"The experiences of Maryland with tires and New Hampshire and Vermont with lights indicates just the opposite," Johnson said. "Many states have developed an aggressiveness in these areas that exceeds that of the federal government."

The National Safety Council, meanwhile, filed for the hearing record a statement which said "... the American public already has available the safest automobile ever sold on a mass-produced basis."

The council said the auto industry has sought more safety "for a long time" and predicted accelerated design of "safer, more durable vehicles."

Any analysis of the national auto safety situation must recognize the failure of the federal government to carry out its part of the total program," the council statement said.

East Germans Cheer Brandt

ERFURT, East Germany (AP) — Shouting "Willy! Willy Brandt!" thousands of East Germans broke through police barriers today to greet the West German chancellor shortly before he sat down to his historic meeting with East German Premier Willi Stoph.

The heads of the two German governments met for the first time since the division of Germany 25 years ago and promptly agreed to hold a second meeting in an undetermined West German town near the border. Brandt proposed they meet in May though a specific date was not set.

Before the two men held their one-hour and 45-minute morning session, Brandt was given a noisy and friendly welcome as he and Stoph walked 50 yards from Erfurt's main railway station to the hotel where the discussions were held.

Way To Save On Birthday Cake

CLIMAK, Va. (AP) — All three of the children—ages 7, 6 and 1—of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Worley will celebrate their birthdays at a party today.

All the youngsters were born March 19 between 7 a.m. and 8 a.m. in Danville Memorial Hospital with the same doctor in attendance.

Private Clubs Threatened About Nickel-A-Drink Tax

AUSTIN (AP) — A "growing number" of private clubs are ignoring deadlines and submitting inaccurate reports on the new nickel a drink service tax, the Alcoholic Beverage Commission says. ABC Chairman Tom Gordon of Abilene threatened Wednesday there would be some suspensions or cancellations if the clubs don't shape up. The tax took effect Oct. 1, and since then has raised $1.6 million. The state comptroller estimated it would raise $13 million by Aug. 31, 1971. But at its current pace it will produce only about $8 million.

Gordon, however, would not attribute the tax's failure to perform as predicted on under-reporting by the clubs.

But he did give the clubs a no-nonsense warning:

"If the clubs can't operate within the framework of the law, we have no choice but to take administrative action against them. . . We have leaned over backward to be lenient and cooperative but the situation is about to get out of hand. We have had no other course but to suspend or cancel a permit when clubs choose to ignore the laws."

The commission also announced the state attorney general's office has appealed a 3rd Court of Civil Appeals decision nullifying the board's controversial "guest card rule."

The appeals court ruled Jan. 21 in a case filed by the Attic and Black Garter clubs of Dallas, that the rule was too vague and was issued without a formal "finding of facts."

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jay Floyd filed the appeal with the Texas Supreme Court Monday.

The rule says any private club guest must be personally introduced or physically accompanied by a member before being served. It requires each club to have at least 25 members and a permanent membership committee.

Each guest's bill would have to be sent to an active club member and could not be paid in cash or sent to the guest.

Floyd's appeal says, in effect, the courts had no business ruling on the matter before the two clubs had actually suffered injury because of an ABC action.

He Wanted To Do His Duty

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — John G. Francis wanted to ask military authorities not to send his son, William, to Vietnam because the family already had lost one son there.

"But Bill wouldn't let me do anything about it," the father said after learning the youth was killed March 9 in a fall from a helicopter on a training mission.

The older brother, Sgt. Michael Francis, was killed in action in Vietnam in September, 1967.

The family didn't want William, 23, to go. "But he wanted to do his duty. That was the way he felt, so he went," the father said.

William, a private first class, had been in Vietnam a year. Besides his parents, he is survived by 11 brothers and sisters.

Alleged Love Affair Spices Valley Trial

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Defense lawyer Percy Foreman hinted Wednesday that the defense in the Scarnardo trial was nearing completion of its case.

The hint came near the end of a day of testimony concerning an alleged love affair.

Scarnardo, 31, a Hearne cotton broker, is being tried as an accomplice in the 1968 shooting death near McAllen of Sam Degelia Jr. The indictment alleges Scarnardo offered Charles Harrelson of Houston $2,000 to kill Degelia, his former business partner and longtime friend.

A Hearne beauty operator testified Wednesday concerning an allegation made by Foreman concerning Mrs. Virginia "Ginger" Degelia, the victim's widow, and Pete Anthony Trentacost, a cousin of Degelia.

Foreman said he would attempt to prove that Mrs. Degelia and Trentacost engineered the killing because of an alleged love affair.

Miss Carolyn Cazez, an attractive 22-year-old Hearne beauty operator, testified that she had dated Trentacost, now employed as a real estate salesman at Austin, from January, 1966, until the summer of 1967. She said "Ginger Degelia" was the reason she and Trentacost broke up.

Miss Cazez testified that she saw Trentacost and Mrs. Degelia in Trentacost's car late one evening in the spring of 1967.

She said she and Toni Calhoun, a telephone operator, followed the car until they lost sight of it on the outskirts of Hearne. She said she later found the car hidden at Zieg's sheet metal shop on a highway outside Hearne.

She said she walked to the car and found it empty, but found two beer cans on the ground beside it.

Miss Cazez testified that she had earlier searched for Mrs. Degelia and Trentacost by driving by the home of Jane Anderson.

She said that she was unable to find them and returned to the sheet metal shop at 2 a.m., some three hours later. She said during a telephone conversation with Trentacost the next day, she testified, she told where she found the car. Trentacost then told her that he and Mrs. Degelia were at Jane Anderson's house. She said Trentacost then hung up the phone and came to her house.

"I told him that I was going to tell Sam Degelia Jr. what had happened," she testified. She said Trentacost then tearfully begged her not to tell Degelia.

"He cried a whole lot," she said.

"He was trying to get me to marry him right then and I told him I was not that big of a fool," she testified.

Miss Cazez testified that she and Trentacost broke up five weeks later after he slapped her. Asked why Trentacost slapped her, Miss Cazez said, "I told him he was just waiting for something to happen to Sam so you can have Ginger."

Jaycee Snake Hunt Kicks Off Friday

The Big Spring Jaycees' Ninth Annual Rattlesnake Round-up starts Friday at 8 a.m. with hunter registration in the headquarters at Highland Shopping Center.

Snake hunters from all over the state are expected to compete for prize money and trophies offered for the most snakes, the longest and the smallest snakes in the three-day event. First prize is $50, plus a trophy, and the hunter with the longest snake will receive $5 per snake foot and a trophy. The hunter with the smallest snake will be awarded $1 per foot and a trophy.

The snakes will be purchased from hunters at 20 cents per pound on Friday, 12 cents per pound on Saturday, and seven cents per pound Sunday.

For the spectator, the Jaycees have built poisonous snake exhibits at the center and Pat Burchfield, Columbus, Ohio, will present handling demonstrations of live rattlers Saturday and Sunday. Guided tours of the hunt areas will be offered Saturday. A small carnival with rides and an antique car show will also be set up in the center during the hunt. Saturday night beginning at 9 p.m. the Jaycees will hold a dance in the Settles Ballroom featuring Raymond McKee and the Western Playboys. Admission to the dance will be $3 per couple, or one live rattlesnake per person.

The Jaycee-Ettes will prepare most of the snakes for "snake snacks" which can be purchased at the center.

Hunt chairman is Melvin Fryar, and Chief Snake Skinner is Capt. Robert Taylor of Webb AFB.

Bourbon Plans To File Appeal

A defense motion for a new trial for Rae Bourbon, 76, was denied Wednesday by District Judge Joe Dibrell. Bourbon said he will appeal the decision.

Bourbon's attorney filed the motion claiming 25 errors, including a question on the legality of trying Bourbon in Texas for a crime alleged to have occurred in Kansas City, Mo.

Bourbon was convicted last month as an accessory in the death of Big Spring pet shop owner A. D. Blount in December, 1968. Bobby Eugene Chrisco, 23, was convicted last fall of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. Bobbie Randall Crain, 23, is awaiting trial in Ector County. Bourbon was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Prosecution charged Bourbon with hiring Crain and Chrisco in Kansas City to travel to Big Spring to kill Blount. Big Spring District Attorney Wayne Burns prosecuted the case and was in Brownwood Wednesday for the hearing.

Conference Told Much Done For Alcoholics

By TERRY STARK
The 100 visitors here for the West Texas Conference on Alcoholism at Big Spring State Hospital adjourned Wednesday afternoon after three days of discussions and lectures on current trends in the treatment of alcoholism.

The over-all emphasis of the program was on teamwork and community involvement in aiding the alcoholic to maintain sobriety both during formal treatment and after release from the hospital.

Among the speakers were Dr. Gary E. Miller, deputy commissioner for Mental Health of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. He said Tuesday much has been done in many areas to help those involved in the treatment of alcoholism in the past few years and cited the establishment of the National Center for the Prevention and Control of Alcoholism, a federally funded organization, as an example of the concern over the nationwide problem. He said there are probably as many as 7,000,000 alcoholics in the country now and referred to alcoholism as the "leading drug abuse problem in the nation by far. The widely publicized forms of drug abuse, marijuana and LSD for example, are minor in terms of number affected compared with alcoholism."

Dr. Miller said that both state and national governments now seem to be more willing to aid in the treatment of alcoholism than before, but emphasized that in most areas there are not enough people and money to deal with a problem of this magnitude.

K. E. Beahan, executive director of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, also cited money and personnel shortages as a major problem in treatment. He said that among the purposes of a conference such as the one at BSSH was to involve the community in helping the alcoholic. Beahan said this was the first alcoholism conference oriented toward the layman, in which he had participated, and added that he hoped such workshops would become more common.

Rev. George V. Clark, director of training, Texas Rehabilitation Commission, said, "The hope is that conferences of this nature will be implemented in all hospitals to educate the public and hospital staffs to aid persons suffering from the disease of alcoholism." He said he felt that many of the widely held misconceptions about alcoholism were fading from the minds of the public. "The stigma resulting from previous attitudes is not as great now," he said. "Alcoholism is being accepted by more agencies now than before."

Larry Cheatham, vocational rehabilitation counselor at BSSH and one of the coordinators of the conference, said that many of the persons involved in the treatment of alcoholism are ex-alcoholics themselves and are able to give an understanding to the alcoholic patient, that most others cannot. He said one of the principle concerns at hospitals is reducing the number of alcoholics that, after release, have to return for more treatment. A permanent cure can not be realized in many cases without multiple admissions, he said, and emphasized the need for more coordination in the community after the patient is released from a hospital.

S. E. (Bunky) Stout, West Texas field representative of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, explained a program of community follow-up initiated in the area served by BSSH by him and Cheatham. Stout said that six months ago efforts were begun to coordinate community agencies, family and hospital aid for the alcoholic. He said many of the problems had not been fully worked out, but that indications were that the program would be successful. The first few days after the alcoholic returns to the community are critical in maintaining sobriety and the program designed by he and Cheatham is designed to get community help to the patient as soon as possible after release, he said.

BSSH Supt. Dr. Preston Harrison said he felt the conference had been successful and expressed appreciation of both Cheatham and Shelby Parnell, BSSH alcoholism counselor, for their work in coordinating the program. There were several other speakers on the program including Vernon M. Arrell, assistant deputy commissioner of the TRC; Robert E. Hendrix, director of Alcohol and Drug Programs, Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation; Dr. James J. Ferrero, director of clinical programs, TDMHR; W. L. Platt, consultant on alcoholism, TRC; Hospital, The Texas Commission on Alcoholism, the director of education, TCA; and Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. The conference was sponsored jointly by Big Spring State

Tags Are Sold

Approximate 820 license plates were sold Wednesday for receipts of $14,141.68, according to Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, tax collector. The 1970 car tags must be attached to the vehicles by midnight April 1. They are on sale in the tax collector's office on the first floor of the courthouse, Forsan City Hall, Webb AFB Credit Union and Newsom's.

Copter Crash Injures General, Five Aboard

SAIGON (AP) — A helicopter carrying the commanding general of the U.S. Army's Americal Division crashed on a jungle hillside two days ago, killing two men and injuring the general and the other five persons aboard, the U.S. Command announced today. The command also announced that 101 U.S. troops were killed in action last week and 620 were wounded. It was the second week this year that the number of American battle dead exceeded 100.

Ramsey, 51, broke his left arm and suffered other lesser injuries, sources in his division said. He was reported in good condition. The other five injured men were reported in fair to good condition, most of them with lesser injuries than the general. But all were suffering from exposure to rain and cold after waiting all night on the mountainside.

They were hospitalized in Chu Lai, the division's headquarters on the coast seven miles east of the crash site.

Snow Socks Panhandle, It's Real Drizzly In WT

By The Associated Press
Up to three inches of snow coated parts of the Texas Panhandle today and light rain or drizzle fell in most other sections as the latest cold front knifed deep into the state.

Skies were clear only in the West Texas area west of the Pecos River. Colder air spread southward behind a front which near dawn had pushed southward to a line linking Paris, Tyler, Waco and

Del Rio. Amarillo measured three inches of snow and two to two and one-half inches accumulated around Borger and Pampa — a moisture-shy sector where it was welcomed particularly by wheat growers. At other points the snow melted as it fell while temperatures held a little above freezing in most areas. Travel warnings were up until midmorning for the central and northern parts of the Texas Panhandle, but state police reported all routes open and traffic moving with little difficulty. Moisture was generally light outside the snow belt and expected to end by evening. Early morning fog hung low in scattered sections, including Austin, Killeen, College Station and Palacios. Forecasts promised colder weather throughout the state even though the spring season bows in officially at 6:57 p.m. Friday. Readings down to 29 degrees were predicted in the Panhandle and far West Texas, and in the 30s and 40s elsewhere.

New Degree On Texas Tech List

LUBBOCK — Approval of a new doctor of philosophy degree with a major in Spanish for Texas Tech University has been announced by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. "We are extremely pleased with the approval from the Coordinating Board," Academic Affairs Vice President S. M. Kennedy said. "The Ph.D. in Spanish is one on which the administration and the faculty have been working for several years and it marks a major expansion of doctoral study in the area of the humanities. It is the first addition in that field in 20 years. This is the second Ph.D. to be offered in the humanities at Tech," said Dr. Harley D. Oberhelman, chairman of the board of regents. They were met by some 1,000 Odessans.

Officials Honored

ODESSA — Dr. B. N. Armstead, first president of the University of Texas, Permian Basin, and other University of Texas officials were honored here Tuesday afternoon and at a breakfast session Wednesday morning on the UTPB site on East 42nd Street. Among the officials arriving by plane Tuesday afternoon were Frank Erwin Jr., chairman of the UT board of regents. They were met by some 1,000 Odessans.

Pilot 'Killer' May Face Air Piracy Charge

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. Atty. Herbert F. Travers Jr. says a short order cook charged with murder in the aerial gunshot slaying of an airliner copilot also may be accused under the federal Air Piracy Act. Conviction on either charge could bring a death penalty. The alleged assailant, John J. DiVivo, 27, of West New York, N.J., remained under heavy sedation at Massachusetts General Hospital after removal of a bullet from his stomach Wednesday. He also was wounded in the chest and right arm during the mile-high cockpit struggle on an Eastern Airlines plane Tuesday night. Doctors described his condition as satisfactory.

Also in satisfactory condition was pilot Robert M. Wilbur Jr., 35, of Fair Lawn, N.J., who landed the twin-jet DC9, carrying 66 passengers and a crew of five, at Logan International Airport although shot in both arms. State police obtained a warrant in East Boston District Court charging DiVivo with murder in the copilot's death and another charging assault with intent to murder the captain. The copilot was James E. Hartley, 30, of Fort Lee, N.J., who died of a gunshot wound in the chest. State police investigators, quoting Wilbur, said Hartley lived long enough to wound DiVivo in a struggle for the man's 38-caliber pistol.

Three 'Mod Squad' Stars Holding Out

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope, whose comedy resources apparently are as boundless as his energy, came up with another topical hour special on NBC Wednesday night. His opening monologue — almost always the high point of the show — concentrated on television's future programming, and he scattered his cracks impartially among the three major networks.

As usual, the hour had a sort of thrown-together look and the sketches looked as though more rehearsals would have helped. Tony Curtis, who is all over the TV screen in antismoking commercials appeared in one sketch as a member of Smokers Anonymous trying to help Hope's withdrawal symptoms. Barbara Eden and Bob played a man and a woman of the future when laws ban everything from kissing to marriage in order to control the population explosion. It was an elaborate idea that didn't work well.

Golf champion Billy Casper self-consciously exchanged cue-card quips with the comedian, but gave Hope a chance to show film of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's bean ball at Hope's recent Desert Classic golf tournament. Perry Como sang and worked with the star in a sketch about a couple of astronauts landing on the wrong planet. Somewhere, the point of the sketch got lost.

Hope was followed by a special in which Tennessee Ernie Ford abandoned for the most part his country comedy and surrounded himself with four attractive women performers. Everybody worked hard to produce a fast moving hour.

Shirley Jones and Ford had a funny bit spoofing famous teams including Astaire and Rogers, MacDonald and Eddy, and Sonny and Cher. Miss Jones, Eva Gabor, Barbara Feldon and Joey Heatherton played a singing quartet of cleaning women. Joey Heatherton had a wiggly dance number. Not all the material worked — it's hard to fit four women into sketches. A sketch with Ford playing a rube farmer and Eva Gabor playing a medium never got off the ground.

However, it was well-intentioned and because everybody on the screen seemed to be having a good time, it was mildly contagious.

Three members of ABC's "Mod Squad" cast are holding out for more money, according to Variety, the show business weekly. Michael Cole has resigned for another season, but the holdouts are Peggy Lipton, Clarence Williams III and Tige Andrews, who plays the older police lieutenant.

The three young stars, unknowns when the series started two seasons ago, had their pay more than doubled to over $3,000 per show when production was resumed last spring. Now, Variety says, they want boosts to between $6,000 and $10,000 per segment, after being offered $5,000.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"I gave you a land on which you had not labored, and cities which you had not built . . . you eat the fruit of vineyards and oliveyards which you did not plant." (Joshua 23: 13, 14, RSV)

PRAYER: Father God, You have given us all things richly to enjoy. Give us grateful spirits to accept and acknowledge and share. In Christ's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Ideal But Hardly Tranquil

"Self-determination," though not much heard of these days, was the most powerful term of the day half a century ago. It meant the right of a minority people to control its own affairs, even if that required secession.

In World War I President Wilson used the term to blast apart the German and Austrian empires. Though "self-determination" is little used in our time, the concept is still very much alive. It is a great issue just now in Belgium. That country's population is 58 per cent Flemish-speaking (Flemish is closely related to Dutch) and 42 per cent French-speaking. The latter, called Walloons, fear being swallowed up. The Flemings, having the majority, naturally want control.

Premier Gaston Eyskens, a Fleming, is seeking acceptance of a compromise arrangement. He would give the Flemings and Walloons each control of their own education and provide for consultation on national economic policy. Under his plan, when 75 per cent of either Walloons or Flemings objected to a bill it would have to be revised. There is an aura of fairness about that; it may be the solution.

Belgium is not the only country with such a problem. A situation similar in some respects exists in Canada. In the national population as a whole there is an English-speaking majority, but in Quebec French-speaking Canadians predominate. Switzerland, with three major languages — German, French, Italian — may face something like the Belgium difficulty if the idea of self-determination enjoys a resurgence. South Africa, too, has a related problem, further complicated by racial imbalances: In the ruling white population, 60 per cent speak Afrikaans and 40 per cent English; blacks speak several Bantu dialects; the Asian minority speaks mainly Tamil.

Belgium, Canada, Switzerland, South Africa — have this one thing in common — the idea of self-determination, alas, threatens the tranquility of all of them.

Frogs And Fertility

Ever-raging scientific inquiry often develops some fascinating facts. The National Science Foundation reports, for instance, that there is a surface coating on frog eggs which is required for fertilization. When this is removed, or covered with antibiotics, the sperm is unable to fertilize the egg.

Well, there have been no complaints of substance in the land of late against frogs. Most people — those who live in the cities — have never heard one or seen one. Visitors to the countryside hear them more than they see them. There are few sounds so satisfying as the full-throated message of a bullfrog in the quiet of the night or the cheerful piping of lesser members of the species after a rain.

There are no planned parenthood associations for frogs, simply because they have never presented a threat to anybody, only to mosquitoes, flies and larvae.

It is comforting therefore to learn that no frog population control program is being contemplated. All scientists hope is that information gained from frog egg fertility experiments may suggest a new approach to fertility in man. It is man, not frogs, who needs controlling.

Qualifications Of Voters

WASHINGTON — Ten or eleven million young men and women will become eligible to vote in 1971 if Congress passes the pending bill to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 in all elections. The real question, however, is not whether the eligibility for voting should be 21 or 18, but why it is that — out of approximately 122 million people who are eligible to vote today — more than 36 million don't go to the polls.

LIKEWISE, it is pertinent to inquire why a number of those who do vote are inadequately informed about the issues. So far as information on public matters is concerned, many boys and girls 18 years old or even younger know more about current affairs than citizens in their 20's or 30's. Indeed, there are numerous persons in older brackets who are almost entirely unaware of the qualifications of candidates or the proposals of the political parties.

THE NEWSPAPER, to be sure, print from day to day articles on

Billy Graham

I am 14 years old. Lately I've been thinking a lot about the Lord. I read the ten commandments, and I find that I have violated nearly everyone of them. My question is: How can I make up for all my sins? And will the Lord ever forgive me? J.S.

How can you make up for your sins? You never can. That is why God sent Jesus to the world to die for the sins you and I have committed — and which we could never atone for by ourselves.

You seem rather young to have "violated" all the commandments. But, the Bible teaches that we are all sinners, if not in deed, in potential. If you have not broken all the commandments, you at least have the capability to do so. This is why God gave us the commandments: to show our helplessness, and loss without Christ Jesus. The Bible says that the commandments are a "schoolmaster" to point us to Christ. They say: "You are a sinner; you are lost; you are without hope." Then, we see the Savior on the cross saying: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." Then, we accept His deed on Calvary, place our trust in His sacrifice, and become reconciled to God. This is what the Gospel and the New Testament is all about.

Will the Lord ever forgive you? He forgave David, a murderer. He forgave the adulteress, an immoral person. He forgave Peter, who denied Him. These illustrations of forgiveness are in the Bible to tell us that all sins may be forgiven.

Red Ink On Brokerage Books

NEW YORK (AP) — The financial situation on Wall Street, financial capital of the world, is not one to inspire confidence. Some observers, in fact, speak of a crisis of investor confidence.

Red ink is smeared on brokerage house books. For a while it looked as if such problems affected fringe operators only. But now it is very clear that the establishment itself is in serious trouble.

This is the darkest side of the picture: Bache & Co., second largest brokerage house in the country, lost $8.7 million in the 12 months ended January 31. Francis J. DuPont & Co., another giant, lost $7.7 million before taxes.

Goodbody & Co. held its losses to less than $1 million but now must consider consolidating some of its 105 branches after its accountants noted that last year's dismal fortune followed like a shadow in 1970.

Other firms are precariously balanced between profits and losses and are desperately seeking an increase in commissions. One company, Kleiner Bell, simply withdrew from selling stocks.

Hayden Stone Inc. has apparently averted a capital crisis through the infusion of $17.5 million by some Oklahoma investors. But other firms may not be so lucky.

Gregory & Sons is being liquidated because of problems with insufficient capital to conduct its affairs. Two other firms, Amott Baker & Co. and Pickard & Co., also are being liquidated with aid of N.Y. Stock Exchange personnel.

Another big firm, McDonnell & Co., soon will be in the same situation, having already announced that it was giving up the ghost amid financial, book-keeping and personal problems. It too was one of the largest.

Nine brokerage houses are now under restrictions from the NYSE, meaning that until they resolve various problems they must turn away business. This figure, however, is an improvement: months ago 48 firms were restricted.

Latest figures show that $1.46 billion in certificates are listed as "fails," meaning that following transactions, brokers have failed to deliver to each other that amount of certificates within five business days.

But large as that figure is, it too is a considerable improvement. At one time in late 1968 there were $4.1 billion of certificates undelivered.

Some brokers were so confused in those days that certificates were simply lost within their offices. But, it is feared, many millions of dollars worth have been stolen, a matter now being investigated by state and federal officials.

Cobwebb College Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a college president gets tired of hearing:

"There's a delegation of outraged students waiting to see you, sir."

"Your office will be quite shipshape, Dr. Bedrock, as soon as we finish sweeping up the broken window glass."

"Do you teach anything at this place except rebellion?"

"Certainly the board feels you deserve a raise, Dr. Bedrock, but let's look at it realistically. After all, you're already earning more than a master plumber."

"There's a delegation of outraged alumni waiting to see you, sir."

"It was bad enough for them to scatter your confidential files to the winds, Dr. Bedrock, but when they also stole your Phi Beta Kappa key—well, that's really playing dirty pool."

"Good old Cobwebb College. No wonder I'm sentimental about it. Some of the best riots of my life were fought here."

"It's the mayor on the phone, sir. He says he's sorry but he has to have his police force back. City Hall is under attack."

"In a way I envy you fellows who live the academic life. It helps protect you from having to face reality."

"No, this isn't a battlefield. It's our campus."

"I know you must be starving, sir. If you'll give me permission, I'll try to break through their picket lines and bring you back a sandwich. Even though they know I'm your secretary, I don't think they'll strike an old woman."

"I hate to twist the arm of an old classmate, Dr. Bedrock, old buddy, but for old times' sake can't you overrule your admissions committee and get my son in somehow? He lasted almost a full semester at his last college."

"There's a delegation of outraged parents waiting to see you, sir."

"It's the governor on the phone, sir. He says he's sorry but he'll have to withdraw the National Guard troops in order to protect the State Capitol. It's surrounded by a delegation of outraged taxpayers."

"Of course, we will admire your scholarly reputation, Dr. Bedrock, but what this college needs is more endowment money. To put it bluntly, you'll have to get it or go."

"About the only real emergency we have to confront this morning, Dr. Bedrock, involves the student infirmary. They're out of birth control pills again—and there's a full moon tonight."

"I don't mind them hanging you in effigy, sir, but that thing they are hanging doesn't really look much like you."

"There's a delegation of outraged student athletes' wives waiting to see you, sir. They say they can't live on what we pay their husbands."

Translating For The Younger Mind

Our littlest one has fathomed the mysteries of the numbers, at least through 10, and has slowly been adding to his vocabulary. Still, he occasionally stumps those in the house over 30 with some explanation or complaint.

AT SUCH TIMES, we turn to his elder sister, who at the ripe old age of six, translates his three-year-old statements into adult understanding. There are times when it is possible to figure out what is going on, whether we understand him or not.

For instance, there are times when he will come in with an unintelligible statement, and she will reply immediately: "I did not." It doesn't require a Sherlock Holmes to determine that he is complaining of some recent mistreatment.

"What did he say?" I ask.

SHE IS VEHEMENT with her explanation. "He said I pushed him and I didn't." From there, it can quickly get into a "yes she did" and "no, I didn't" routine, but I try to block that one off at the pass.

The unusual thing about it is how can one translate for the other, at so tender an age. Even when it is not self-incriminating, she can supply the correct explanation for him, as he is trying to make us understand some sudden pronouncement.

FOR INSTANCE, when he comes in with a request, she will say "he wants an ice cream cone, don't you?" and he nods "yes." Or maybe she will say, "He wants to go to the park," and then turn to get his confirmation. It always comes.

Come to think of it, sometime she makes these statements before he is not understood, but he always nods in the affirmative. It just could be, that she . . . but no, how could a child so young understand how to deploy her troops as adroitly and operate on such Machiavellian scale?

STILL, her mother says she has been overheard coaxing him to make some request that is certain to win them both a ride to the park, or visit to the "merry-go-round," or some such frolic. Needless to say, it works.

Actually, they make a pretty good team at manipulating their elders, as I guess most young folks do. They may not listen a lot to those over 30, but they know how to get through to them.

For Liberation Of Women

NEW YORK — One of the many revolutions that has to be dealt with this year is the Women's Liberation Movement. Some men are treating it as a joke, but many are taking it seriously.

My friend Rowland said to me the other evening at a bar in New York City, "I don't know what to do."

"Why?" I asked.

"I love my wife, but I believe in the Women's Liberation Movement."

"What do you mean?"

"WELL, THE women are right. They say that marriage is wrong and that no woman should be tied to any one man."

"Is that what they say?"

"Of course, and if you see it from their point of view, why should only one woman have access to me, when there are so many others that are just as deserving?"

"Rowland," I said, "are you sure that the Women's Liberation Movement was formed to share husbands?"

"Certainly. Most of us have been treating other women with 'benign neglect' for years, and now we're paying the penalty. By maintaining the status quo at home, we have encouraged less fortunate women to radicalize and try to win, through revolution, what they couldn't win through elections. You can't blame them for wanting a piece of the action."

"You're a true liberal, Rowly," I said.

"I'VE BECOME a realist," he said. "For years, like most married men,

I was blinded to the oppression of women around me. I knew they were in chains, but I was afraid to speak up and to act on their behalf. I rationalized by saying, 'If I can keep my wife happy, I'm doing enough.' But I was living a lie. The only road to true equality is to make every woman happy, regardless of the sacrifices it entails."

"That's beautiful," I said.

"WHEN WOMEN ask to be liberated," Rowland said, "they are asking to be treated as human beings, no more, no less. They want dignity, understanding and someone who cares. If that demands a revolution, then I say I will become part of their revolution."

"You're not advocating violence, are you?"

"I'm not for violence per se," Rowly said. "But if a woman becomes violent over me, I'm not going to turn her over to the authorities."

"I should hope not," I said. "How many women do you hope to liberate?"

"I'M NOT AS young as I used to be," Rowland said, "but I'll liberate as many as the good Lord will let me."

"You're a saint, Rowland. A saint." "I'm only doing what is right," he said modestly. "There comes a time in a man's life when he must stand up and be counted."

"Have you discussed this with your wife?"

"That's what I've been trying to tell you. I'm staying in town by myself tonight."

Time To Abolish The U.N.

NEW YORK — An old friend who has made his job at the United Nations a labor of love for 15 years summed up his disillusionment with this cocktail-lounge collection of international time servers.

"The UN should be abolished, and we should try to start over again, on a smaller scale," he said. "It is dominated by people who are both lazy and dishonest and who haven't the slightest interest either in keeping the peace or bettering the world. It is, however, interested in money to perpetuate itself, mostly American money."

OUR DISCUSSION centered around the latest proposal before the organization — a plan to impose a global sales tax of 0.5 per cent on the purchasing price of certain consumer goods. The levy would be collected by the tax authorities of each country, and "governments would undertake to channel the proceeds" to help bridge the gap between rich and poor nations.

"WE ALL KNOW how it would work out," said this authentic UN expert. "Most of the money would come out of the pockets of the American taxpayers. Can you imagine the Russians or the French coming clean? They don't even pay their UN dues." Nor, he might have added, do 75 other members of the 126-member organization.

THE UNITED NATIONS' problem would seem to be that it has grown so big that only American financial support can keep it from going bankrupt. U.S. taxpayers now fork over one-third of the UN's regular budget, and contribute 70 per cent of its overall spending. And the U.S. share increases every year.

In the coming fiscal year, Americans will get up a grand total of $109 million-plus as our assessed share of the UN and its allied agencies. Our dues are up from $41 million in fiscal 1969 to $50,379,000 in fiscal '70. Our contribution to the World Health Organization will jump from $18 million to $21.7 million, our contribution to the Food and Agriculture Organization will rise from $8.7 million to $10 million.

MEANWHILE, the other UN members — some of whom pay dues — have submitted an average of 52 funding proposals every year for the past five years designed to spend money on projects within their own countries. Most of the money approved comes from the U.S. Treasury.

My friend took a moody dollop of his martini. "The UN has been my life for 15 years," he said. "I don't know if I could do any other work now, and I don't have any savings to speak of, what with sending three kids through college. But I can't understand why the American people put up with this outfit. If that gang in Washington were capable of a lucid thought, I'd be out of a job tomorrow."

What Others Say

Famed defense attorney Louis Nizer has viewed the shenanigans of the defendants at the trial of the "Chicago 7" with a critical eye and suggests that such conduct merits a felony indictment for obstructing justice.

For five months, the public has been treated to a mockery of our judicial procedures. The trial of the seven accused of crossing state lines to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic convention has been punctuated with ludicrous outbursts, taunts of the judge and other activities giving it a circus atmosphere.

Nizer contends that the nation's system of justice is built on a delicate set of procedures which requires strict adherence to the rules. One who willfully and continuously disrupts judicial proceedings is guilty of obstructing justice.

Nizer's right. Continued disruption of judicial proceedings is a serious threat to our system of law. Laws are the foundation stones of our society. Procedures of maintaining law and assuring justice are the mortar which holds the blocks in place. An attack on the procedures can destroy the system. —DALLAS NEWS

Why Toenails Get Hard And Tough

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My toenails are hard and large. In the past when I fished a lot with wet feet, the nails were soft enough to cut, but they had to be wet for several hours.

I am 67 and don't fish that way anymore. Is there a chemical that may soften the nails?—E.A.S.

Any such chemical would be too strong for safe use.

I can offer you a bit of explanation, and also a bit of advice that will be helpful.

First, stress and pressure cause tissues to thicken. Skin toughens into callus. Nails do about the same thing — become thicker and tougher from the pressure and stress of being confined in socks and shoes. So it isn't unusual for older people to notice the nails becoming harder to cut. (This is, in fact, very common, and many begin being aware of it in the 50s.)

Now, while I don't have any magic formula to keep your toenails as soft as a baby's, here are two or three things that will help:

As you have learned already, soaking will soften them some, but it isn't a rapid process. Soaking for several hours is hardly practical, but a warm soak for a shorter time will help.

Here's a point very much overlooked by most people. Folks don't habitually care for toenails the way they do fingernails. They don't clean UNDER the nails. So material accumulates under the toenails, hardens, becomes honeycombed, and contributes to the thickness of the nails. An ordinary nail file used on the toes can, after a little time, help make the nails easier to cut.

One more thing: scissors or nail clippers are, I dare say, the principal tools used for cutting toenails. But there are available clippers of a different type, about like a small pair of pliers but with sharp cutting jaws. Try a pair of them and see if they don't cut through the heavy nails more easily.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 86 and have been smoking since I was about 20 — cigarettes. Was just wondering if one my age should stop immediately, would it affect me in any way?—J.W.D.

Sir, at your age, why bother? If you are hacking from bronchitis, short of breath from emphysema, have a heart condition or blood vessel disorder, I would say stop. If you have none of the conditions which smoking can influence, count yourself lucky. If a cigarette offers some consolation, go ahead.

But don't smoke in bed, and don't burn the furniture.

For younger people, my answer would be different.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dolores Shows 6th Champ

Dolores Lankford, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lankford, won her sixth and final Grand Champion Steer award Wednesday night in the Howard County Junior Livestock Show.

Miss Lankford's 850 pound Hereford beat out a 1,000 pound Charolais Crossbred owned by Leon Langley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mattingly. Miss Lankford is a member of Vincent 4-H Club, and Langley is a Big Spring FFA student.

Richie Tubb, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tubb, won the steer showmanship award and the Loy Acuff award for the best county-bred Hereford steer. The Acuff award is $100 and a plaque.

Billy Thompson, Coahoma FFA, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Thompson, had the Fine Wool Champion in the lamb show. Gaylon Harding, Coahoma FFA, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. "Red" Harding, had the Crossbred Champion; and Rocky Davis, Big Spring FFA, son of Mrs. Maurine Davis, had the champion Medium Wool.

The lamb showmanship award went to Jeff Mitchell, Coahoma FFA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mitchell.

County Agent Paul Gross said the show had 21 steers and 95 lambs entered. From 300 to 400 people watched the judging in the Fair Barns west of town near the Rodeo Arena.

All livestock will be sold by the head today at 7:30 p.m. in the Fair Barns, with Randall Sherrod conducting the auction. Resale will go to the exhibitor, as well as the money bid which is paid as a premium.

In the lamb show, first place winners were Bobby Addy, light weight finewools; Billy Thompson, heavy weight finewools; Gaylon Harding, light weight crossbreds; Wendell Walker, heavy weight crossbreds; Sherry Phillips, light weight Hampshires; Rocky Davis, heavy weight Hampshires; Danny Johnson, heavy weight Southdowns; and Rocky Davis, light weight Southdowns.

In the steer show, first place division winners were Junior Jackson, light weight; Dolores Lankford, medium weight; Leon Langley, heavy weight.

Judges were Jack Lacy, vocational agriculture teacher from Lampasas, for the steers, and Franklin Brownfield, Colorado City vocational agriculture teacher, for the lambs.

Prize money for lambs was first place, $5; second, $4; third, $3; fourth, $2; and fifth through tenth places, $1 each. Prize money for steers was first place, $12; second, $10; third, $9; fourth, $8; fifth, $7; and sixth through 10th, ribbons.

Says Grants Go To Rebels

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Los Angeles police sergeant has told investigating senators an unknown percentage of $6 million in federal and private grants to legitimate local civic action programs has gone to allegedly revolutionary groups.

Sgt. Robert J. Thoms of the police department's intelligence division said $4.8 million of the total was from federal grants, $1.08 million from the Ford Foundation and $202,500 from various church groups.

Thoms told the Senate's Internal Security subcommittee investigating new left politics that he did not know what percentage of the incomes of groups he identified as subversive and violent came from such grants.

He said the bulk of the grants were given to so-called umbrella groups used as a respectable front to obtain money, support and office space by militant organizations.

In testimony taken privately Jan. 20 and released today by Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Thoms said many groups with basically worthwhile purposes had persons dedicated to subversion or violence on their boards of directors.

Highest-Paid Ohio Official

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University trustees voted unanimously Wednesday to increase President Novice G. Fawcett's annual salary to $50,000 making him the state's highest-paid public official.

Fawcett, president of the university since 1956, had been making $40,000, the same as Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Awards Day Held At Lions Meeting

Wednesday was awards day at Downtown Lions at its weekly meeting in the Settles. Tenure certificates and chevrons went to 32 members who have a cumulative total of more than 620 years membership in the club.

Bert Andries, who has served as scoutmaster of the club-sponsored Boy Scout Troop 7 for 15 years, was presented a certificate for outstanding leadership and personal contribution to boys. Frosty Robison, who has been a member of the committee for years, made the presentation. Bob West received a plaque for his services as club secretary.

Bill Hewlett was introduced as a new member of the club.

Aubrey Bryans was presented with a key-member award for membership enlistment.

Tickets were distributed for the annual Mexican dinner put on by members of Scout Troop 7 to raise funds for its camping and other activities. The event, which costs only $1 a plate, will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. April 4 in Goliad Junior High Cafeteria. Mothers of the boys prepare the meal, which is served by the boys. Maj. Bill

Lund is the ticket chairman. Two members — Dr. P. W. Malone and Joe Pickle — received their 35-year Old Monarch certificates. Thirty-year certificates went to John Coffee, Dr. Dick R. Lane, Larson Lloyd, K. H. McGibbon, D. S. Riley, Lawrence Robinson and J. Y. Smith. Receiving 20-year awards were Freeland Austin, Dr. Marshall Cauley, Carl Coleman, B. M. Keese, W. J. Pollard.

Fifteen-year awards went to Jeff L. Brown, Charles Havens, Dr. Anthony Hunt and Ernest Boyd. The 10-year certificates were presented to Andries, Milton Barnett, Wayne Burns, Waymon F. Clark, John Otis Cole, Morris Rhodes, Carlisle Robison, B. Winston Wrinkle, Ray Ebling and J. B. Cushing.

Members were reminded of the district 2A-1 convention April 24-25 in San Angelo.

DEAR ABBY: We're new in town. My husband's company transferred him here. I met a very nice woman at a women's club meeting and we hit it off very well. Since she and her husband are bridge players, and so are we, I invited them here for an evening of cards. The husband of my friend started playing "footsies" with me under the bridge table. I tried moving my foot as far out of his reach as I could, until I nearly slid off my chair, but that didn't help much.

How do you think I should handle it if he starts in again where he left off?

DOUBLE IN SPADES
DEAR DOUBLE: At the first opportunity, get "Daddy Long Legs" alone and tell him his footwork is fine, but he's overplaying his hand. In other words, you got his message, and the answer is NO!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother-in-law. Rick and I were married last summer and are living with his parents as this is our last year of college, and frankly, the price is right.

because my thinking was made fuzzy, and that meant even more, harder work to find myself again in time. But I learned, like all the rest. The noise did another thing. Hours of it, not nearly as loud as the kids play their music, damaged my auditory nerve, destroyed my high frequency hearing. I can no longer understand conversation if there is a background noise — even a whispering fan — and no hearing aid can be fitted to help. Like so many others, I was grounded to keep me away from the noise; that cost me about $60,000 in flight pay. And being primarily a pilot, now of no further use in that job, the noise-caused hearing loss cost me the potentially best part of my career and caused me to become — F. C. WARE

CONFIDENTIAL TO DO DO: The reason that the "average" girl would rather have beauty than brains is because the "average" man can see better than he can think.

Chain Letter Warning Given

A startling 476 per cent upsurge in unlawful chain letter activity has prompted Postmaster General Winton M. Blount to order a nationwide crackdown on those who conduct the scheme through the mails. Chain letters are regarded as nonmailable under the postal lottery and fraud laws.

They are considered to be fraudulent because of the likelihood the chain will remain unbroken and the participant will reap anything from his participation. Chief Postal Inspector William J. Cotter revealed that the number of such schemes under investigation by his department leaped from 97 in August, 1969 to 559 by the end of January, 1970.

Cotter said the nationwide increase in chain letter activity primarily involves cash, but from time to time, it will also use items such as United States Savings Bonds and Postal Money Orders.

Cotter cautioned the public especially to be alert for numerous chain letters currently being distributed which claim to have been reviewed by some legal authority and officially approved for mailing.

"This is not true," he said. He urged the receivers of all chain letters to "turn them over promptly to local postmasters or postal inspectors to avoid possible criminal involvement."

Moore Reunion

The annual reunion of past and present residents of the Moore Community will be held April 26 at 1 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College Cafeteria. Arrangements are being made by Mrs. Zirah LeFevre and Mrs. Truett Thomas. All persons connected with the Moore Community are invited to attend.

step further, however, and projected his plans so that he might cope with an adverse break, should it exist.

A diamond was led to the ace and a small diamond was ruffed in the closed hand. Dummy was entered with the ten of hearts to trump another diamond. The five of clubs was ruffed with the king of hearts and on the diamond return South trumped with the jack of hearts. The ace drew the outstanding heart and declarer's stripping operation was completed.

A small spade was led from the closed hand and when West played the ten, South followed with the four from dummy. East overtook his partner's ten with the jack and returned the queen of spades. Dummy won the trick with the king as West showed out, discarding a club. A spade was returned and when East followed with the seven, declarer covered with the eight—West again discarding a club. The jack of spades fell to South's ace on the next lead.

It would not have availed East to let his partner hold the first round of spades with the ten, inasmuch as West has no spades left and on the forced return of either a diamond or a club, South has the opportunity to discard a spade from one hand while he ruffs in the other. In either event, he will lose only one spade trick.

Opening lead: King of ♠

When North gave his partner a jump raise by bidding three hearts, the latter was convinced that there would be a good play for a slam. His hand revalued to 20 points after hearts were raised and North had promised at least 13. Holding three aces and a singleton in the other suit, South lost no further time in probing and proceeded directly to six hearts.

West opened the king of clubs against the slam and South won the trick with the ace. There appeared little more to the hand than to draw trump, ruff out the five of clubs and then rely on a three-two division in the spade suit which would assure the declarer of losing only one trick on the deal. South decided to go one

Gains Wide Reputation With Yeasty Doughnuts, Breads

By MARILYN NEVELS
Mrs. Jess Broseh, 1906 11th Place, has become well-known among the Howard County Junior College staff as an excellent doughnut and coffee cake maker.

"I love to make yeast breads and rolls," Mrs. Broseh declares. She also loves to grow things, vegetables, pecan trees, rose bushes, house plants and flowers by the dozens. She comes from a farming family and grew up near San Angelo on a farm where she helped plant the fields, milk the cows and cure the meat of home-slaughtered cattle and hogs.

Her love for working with plants and knowledge of them fits in well with her husband's occupation as superintendent of buildings and grounds at HCJC. Mrs. Broseh is the official supervisor of the HCJC rose garden and tends 65 bushes there. She enjoys helping her husband in the landscaping work at the college.

"This spring we planted three dozen rose bushes and a lot of pecan trees," she said. She has even been "caught" driving the mowing tractor on the campus. One of the administrators wondered what a woman was doing on the tractor, but there was no need to worry, for she has driven a tractor much of her life, tilling cotton land.

However, her interest in HCJC isn't limited to landscaping. She plans to enroll in English and Bible classes next semester. Her husband, now taking a night class in electronics, plans to add a Bible class later. He is a Church of Christ minister and gives guest sermons in area churches.

One of her tricks for good fried chicken is to soak it overnight in salt water, then rinse it thoroughly and soak it a while in clear water the next day. "I guess cooking is my hobby," she said. "My husband likes to eat and I like to cook for him." She prepared a big birthday dinner for him and their guests recently, serving fried chicken, her special yeast biscuits and German chocolate cake. Her biscuits are so popular, "some of the guests enjoyed the biscuits so much they hardly noticed the cake and sweets I'd made." Her other hobbies are hating and fishing. When she was a girl she went horseback riding and hunting with her brothers. Now she and her husband go quail and dove hunting on her brother's ranch between here and Big Lake, taking a grandson, Richard. "Jess thinks he has to be there the first day of quail season," she said. Her method of cooking quail was learned from an old hunting friend. She splits the bird up the back, salts, peppers and flours it and fries it like chicken and then makes gravy. She says its delicious for breakfast with yeast biscuits.

She also enjoys fishing, though she doesn't care to cook or clean them.

"I only like fresh fish prepared by someone else," she explained. "While at Sam Rayburn Lake I was hooking so many, I was fishing with two poles and had to sit on one. Jess didn't have time to fish, he was so busy taking mine off the line."

Mrs. Broseh claims she doesn't do as much cooking as she used to.

"I used to bake 12 or 14 loaves of bread in a day," she recalled.

Her spacious four-bedroom house contains in many of its closets canned goods from their garden. They grow green beans, peppers, blackeyed peas, beets, okra, tomatoes, potatoes, cucumbers, onions, eggplant and five different greens. She cans everything she can, and the rest goes into a 10-foot freezer. As for flowers, she raises dahlias, gladioli, irises, zinnias and cannas. They have a 400-acre farm where they grow sweet corn and some cotton.

"Jess would like to farm all the land in his spare time, but we don't seem to find much spare time," she said.

Serve Him Beef Rolls For Dinner

Beef roulades have been a favorite with men for years. Tender rolls of beef, a tasty stuffing, a delicious sauce... it's the ideal dish for whenever you're having male guests.

These particular roulades abound with flavor. The secret lies in a little can of onion dry soup mix. It provides the zip to the stuffing, the base for the sauce.

Complement the succulent roulades with green beans or asparagus, hot rolls, lettuce wedges with Russian dressing, and a fluffy lemon chiffon pie.

VEGETABLE STUFFED BEEF ROULADES

1 1/2 lbs. thinly sliced round steak
4 slices bacon
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 lb. fresh spinach, washed, drained, and chopped
1 can (1 1/2 oz.) onion dry soup mix, stirred before using

1/4 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
2 tbs. shortening
1 1/2 cups water
2 to 3 tbs. flour

Cut steak into six pieces long enough to roll; pound with meat hammer or edge of heavy saucer. In skillet, cook bacon; remove and crumble. Pour off all but two tablespoons drippings; add celery and spinach. Cover; cook until tender. Stir in three tablespoons soup mix and bacon. Place one-fourth cup spinach mixture on each piece steak; roll pinwheel fashion; fasten with toothpicks or skewers. In skillet, brown rolls and mushrooms in shortening. Pour off fat. Add remaining soup mix; gradually stir in water.

Cover; cook over low heat one hour 15 minutes or until tender, stirring now and then. Gradually blend one-third cup water into flour until smooth; slowly stir into sauce. Cook, stirring until thickened. Makes six servings.

CHICKEN TCHAPHOKH-BELLE

2 two-lb. chickens cut in 8 pieces
1/4 lb. butter or margarine
1 lg. onion
1/2 cup sherry
1/2 cup tomato juice
1 cup water
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. salt
Pepper to taste

Braise chicken in butter and place in baking dish. Brown butter left in frying pan. Add other ingredients and pour over chicken. Bake uncovered in 350 degree oven for about one hour, turning two or three times. Liquid should bake down low.

FRUIT COCKTAIL CAKE

1 No. 303 can fruit cocktail
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups flour
2 tbs. soda

Mix fruit cocktail, sugars and beaten egg. Sift flour and soda and add to first mixture. Pour into well-greased pan about 9 by 14 inches.

Mix: 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup flaked coconut, 1/2 cup broken pecans. Spread mixture on top of cake dough and bake in 350 degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes. While cake is baking, combine and cook until thick, the following:

1 cup evaporated milk
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 stick margarine
1 tsp. vanilla

After taking from fire, add one-half cup coconut and one-half cup broken pecans. Pour over cake while cake is still hot.

SMOKED TONGUE is wonderfully convenient to serve all year 'round on a cold buffet platter or with a hot casserole.

Cook Smoked Tongue For Man-Type Meal

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Having a cooked smoked tongue in the refrigerator over a weekend at any season of the year should make a cook feel comfortable. At a moment's notice the meat may be served to all mealcomers — and in a number of ways.

Sliced cold, it will make a fine buffet-supper platter along with stuffed tomatoes, cucumbers and a big bowl of potato salad. Or if a hot dish is wanted, the tongue may be offered with macaroni and cheese.

Is a chef's salad the luncheon order? Use the smoked tongue instead of ham with salad greens, Swiss cheese and oil-vinegar dressing.

Make-your-own sandwiches (for lunch or supper) are appealing when slices of the tongue are put out with sliced cheese, rye bread, a really good made mustard and pickles.

All you have to do is simmer the tongue — and here are the latest directions we have tried. The spiced cooking liquid seems to add to the meat's good flavor.

SMOKED BEEF TONGUE

Smoked beef tongue, 3 to 4 lbs.
1 1/2 qts. water
1/2 cup cider vinegar
2 bay leaves
1/2 tsp. whole cloves
1/2 tsp. whole allspice
1/2 tsp. peppercorns

1 large onion, peeled and sliced

Thoroughly scrub tongue in cold water with a small kitchen food brush. In a large kettle place the tongue and add remaining ingredients. Rapidly bring to boiling, then simmer until tender — three to four hours; to test doneness, insert a three-prong kitchen fork into the center of the meat — you should be able to turn the prongs easily.

Remove tongue from liquid; holding the meat with a kitchen fork, use kitchen tongs to peel off skin; or cool enough to handle before peeling off skin. Cover and chill. Before serving, cut away roots (scraggy underpart from thick end) and slice thin.

Mandarin yams, slightly spiced, are excellent with fried chicken. For four to five servings: Drain one (10 ounce) can of Mandarin orange sections; Reserve syrup. Combine two teaspoons of cornstarch, one-fourth teaspoon each of cloves, mace and salt. Gradually add reserved syrup and one-half cup of orange juice, stirring until smooth. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add orange sections and two (one pound) cans of yams, drained. Heat to serving temperature.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

When you put too much detergent in cotton laundry loads, add a cup of vinegar to the last rinse. Rinse once again to insure that cottons will be sweet smelling and soft after drying.

Eggs stored at room temperature will lose more quality in one day than in a week in the refrigerator.

When making deviled eggs, if the yolks are pale in color, they may be brightened with a few drops of yellow food coloring. And if you notice, the brighter ones are always eaten first.

Chilled pineapple juice makes healthful thirst quenchers for active youngsters all during the year. Have handy 6-ounce cans available for a quick pick-me-up during the morning or afternoon.

With more than 40 varieties of cheese available, summer is the time to explore new and different kinds of cheese with dips, snack trays, fruit and melons.

For neat firm tomato slices, try slicing vertically from stem to bottom instead of making the usual horizontal slices. This gives you tomato slices at their best.

Great additions to that plain tossed green salad: tangerine sections (seeds removed), paper-thin onion rings and grated Parmesan cheese.

Top fresh or canned fruit with spiced cream. Mix one pint of dairy sour cream lightly with three tablespoons of brown sugar, one-fourth teaspoon each of cinnamon and nutmeg. Chill well. Makes two cups.

Family like fried salt pork? Dip the slices first in milk, then in cornmeal and pan fry until golden brown and crisp.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Preferred By Mrs. Jess Broseh

YEAST BISCUITS

1 cake yeast
1/2 cup water
4 1/2 cups flour
4 tbs. baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/4 cup melted shortening
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup sugar
2 cups buttermilk

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Mix all ingredients together. Use amount needed and store remainder in refrigerator. To make biscuits, roll out on lightly floured board and cut into size desired. Does not have to rise, but better if left to rise 15-20 minutes before baking. Bake at 400 degrees until brown.

BUTTERMILK PRALINES (makes 12 to 15)

2 cups sugar
1 tsp. soda
Pinch of salt
2 tbs. butter
1 1/2 to 2 cups pecans
1 tsp. vanilla
2 tbs. white syrup

Combine in large saucepan the sugar, soda, salt, buttermilk and white syrup. Quickly bring to a boil, stirring constantly until mixture takes on creamy tinge. (210 degrees).

Add butter and nuts and cook over medium flame stirring frequently to soft ball stage. Remove from fire and add vanilla. Beat until mixture loses its gloss and drop quickly in mounds on wax paper. Work rapidly; it thickens fast.

FOUNDATION SWEET DOUGH

2 cakes yeast
1 tbs. sugar
1 cup tepid water
1 cup milk
6 tbsps. shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
7 cups sifted flour
3 beaten eggs

Dissolve yeast and sugar in lukewarm water. Scald milk, add shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add two cups flour to make batter. Add yeast and beaten eggs; beat well. Add remaining flour, or enough to make a soft dough. Knead lightly and place in greased bowl. Cover and set in warm place free of draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk. When light, place part of dough on pastry cloth and roll to one-fourth inch thickness. Cut in squares or triangles and fill with about one teaspoon fruit. Bring ends together to make bun and place on greased pan to rise; takes about 30 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees, about 25-30 minutes or until done.

Fruit suggested for above recipe includes dried apricots, apples or prunes, cooked according to directions. Chop fruit for filling and add sugar, if desired.

Foundation Sweet Dough may be used for coffee cake or doughnuts. It can be stored in refrigerator for later use. It is delicious rolled and cut into strips to be fried for a breakfast bread.

SESAME BAKED CHICKEN (Serves 12)

Three cut-up fryers (about 3 1/2 lbs. each)
2 cups buttermilk
1 cup butter or margarine
1/2 tsp. tarragon
3 tbsps. lemon juice
4 cups fine bread crumbs
1/4 cup minced parsley
1/2 cup sesame seeds
3 tbsps. seasoned salt

Wash chicken and place in shallow dish. Pour buttermilk over chicken, cover tightly with clear wrap or foil and refrigerate overnight. Next morning, pour off buttermilk and pat chicken dry with paper towels. Melt butter or margarine with tarragon and add lemon juice. In another bowl, mix crumbs with parsley, sesame seeds and seasoned salt. Dip chicken pieces in butter or margarine, then in crumbs to coat evenly. Arrange chicken on baking tray. Cover tightly and refrigerate until about 1 1/2 hours before dinner.

Bake chicken, uncovered, in 350 degree oven without turning until golden and fork-tender, (about 1 1/2 hours). Baste occasionally with pan drippings. To serve, arrange chicken on large platter and garnish with parsley and radish roses.

DOUGHNUTS (Three Dozen)

1 cake yeast
1 tbs. sugar
1 1/4 cups milk, scalded and cooled
4 1/2 cups sifted flour
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. nutmeg

Add Vegetables At Start With Stew

Adding vegetables to a meat stew near the end of the cooking time is a familiar practice. For an interesting flavor variation, do as some French chefs do and add the vegetables at the beginning.

Brown the meat, add water to barely cover, and then add chopped onions and celery leaves, sliced carrots and celery. By the time the meat is tender, the vegetable flavors will have cooked right into the meat. They'll make a delicious gravy, too.

Main Dish Is Quick Casserole

A few convenience foods — three to be exact — can become a taste-tempting main dish within minutes.
Combine canned corned beef, a can of condensed soup and a canned vegetable in a skillet and heat. Then it's ready to serve.
Extra seasoning is not necessary, for the canned corned beef in the 12-ounce tapered cans and condensed soup are well flavored. The vegetable adds crispness and variety.
One good combination is canned corned beef, canned whole kernel corn and tomato soup. Try this for a time, then substitute other family favorite soups and vegetables. You'll be amazed how many different dishes can be made with this basic formula.

Political Merry-Go-Round Lures Sports World Idols

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Sam Huff says he doesn't see much difference in calling defensive signals for the Washington Redskins football team and throwing his weight around in the halls of Congress.

"Either way, it's largely a committee matter," explained the 235-pound retired linebacker, now busy campaigning for the 1st District congressional seat in his native West Virginia.

THE LEADER

"On the football field, the 11 men are a committee and on defense I was the leader. Congress is made up of a lot of committees. It's a question of getting along with people, pulling together and getting the job done."

Huff, a Democrat, found support in his former New York Giants teammate, Andy Robustelli of Stamford, Conn., who is being urged to seek the Republican nomination for governor or lieutenant governor of Connecticut.

"Sports are closely related to every phase of life, and particularly politics," said the 220-pound former defensive end, who quit playing five years ago to become a travel and marketing specialist. "Government is the spirit of the people. Spirit is what motivates a successful team."

Huff and Robustelli are two in a wave of prominent sports personalities who are finding that an athletic background is a good starting point for a political career just as Hollywood figures found screen stardom similarly helpful a few years ago.

VINEGAR BEND

Exploits on the athletic field may introduce you more quickly to the voters but they won't get you elected or keep you in office, most of the politically minded sports idols agree.

"It opens the doors," says Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell, former pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates who is seeking his second term as Republican congressman from the 5th District in North Carolina.

"But people are not going to vote for you or support you just because you're an athlete. You have to stand on the issues. You have to convince the people that you can do the job."

"However, I do think that experience in big time athletics help. Politics, like sports, is very competitive. Sports teach a man to lose today and come back tomorrow. It's the same in politics."

Republican Bob Mathias of Tulare, Calif., Olympic decathlon champion in 1948 and 1952 and now serving his second term in the House of Representatives agrees basically with his GOP colleague.

MUST PRODUCE

"As in the case of a movie star or an astronaut, the athlete doesn't have to spend thousands in public relations to get himself known," Mathias said. "But he can't get by on his sports record. He must build a good name. And he must produce."

Bill Campbell of Huntington, West Va., 1964 National Amateur golf champion who was beaten in a bid as a Democrat for Congress in 1952, now is seeking a state Senate seat as a Republican.

"It's a curious transfer of talent, but understandable," he said of the intensified move of athletes into government service.

CAN A MOTH BAWL?

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Can a moth bawl? If this one could, it probably would, now that its secret is out.

Larry Sharp, 12, found the big moth over the weekend at his home. On one wing, he discovered a tag bearing a code number and a request that the creature be sent to Zoology University, Toronto, Canada.

The university is conducting an insect migration experiment. The implication seemed to be that the moth had traveled thousands of miles.

Larry decided to send the code number to the university and gave the moth its freedom.

The bubble-buster came when Charles Lipscomb, 19, spotted news stories about it.

A biology student at San Antonio College, Lipscomb said he is collaborating with the Canadian school in the experiment — and that he had released the moth here a few days ago.

The moth is a type that generally travels at night. According to Lipscomb's calculations, it flew round San Antonio for eight nights and had managed to get only two miles from the point where it was released.

One of President Nixon's advisers is Charles "Bud" Wilkinson, who had a long and successful coaching career at the University of Oklahoma.

The roll call of prominent sports personalities in government goes all the way to the Supreme Court, where one of the seats is occupied by Byron "Whizzer" White, an All-American backfield star at Colorado, Pittsburgh Steeler and member of the Football Hall of Fame.

POOR GOLFER

Campbell, a Princeton graduate, said the image of being a gentleman golfer did not work to his advantage in his West Virginia campaigns.

"In fact, my opponent used it as campaign material," he added. "But there was just the opposite effect in the case of Vice President Agnew. In the Bob Hope tournament, he sliced a ball and hit Doug Sanders on the head."

"People thought it was great. The vice president profited by being a poor golfer—people related to him. I suffer by being a fairly good one."

Jack Kemp, quarterback of the Buffalo Bills, is being urged by Republicans to seek the congressional seat in New York's 39th District around Buffalo, Rep. John V. Carl Maxey, a former college boxing champion, is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate in Washington and John Erickson, general manager of the Milwaukee Bucks professional basketball team, is said to be seriously considering a challenge to Sen. William Proxmire in Wisconsin on the Republican ticket.

BOXING CHAMP

Emil "Bus" Mosbacher Jr., who piloted American yachts to two successful defenses of the America's Cup, is chief of protocol in Washington, D.C. Gene Rossides, former Columbia University quarterback, is assistant secretary of the Treasury.

Besides Huff, Mizell and Mathias, sports figures bidding for congressional seats in this year's elections include Democrat Ralph Metcalf, former Olympic runner, in Illinois, and Republican Bill McColl, ex-Stanford and Chicago Bears end, running in California's 24th District.

Texas' Draft Call Is 940

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' draft call for April is 940 men compared with the 1,064 taken in March.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state selective service director, said the April quota would be taken from those with draft lottery numbers from 90, the March cutoff, to 115.

The state's quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in April is 8,442, with a limit on lottery numbers through 15. Exams were given 8,253 in March.

Schwartz said men born in 1951, who do not have lottery numbers, will not be called now. He said a drawing probably will be held in July to establish the random sequence numbers for the 1951 group.

Meet Cancelled

The monthly Health and Welfare luncheon meeting will not be held this month, according to Mrs. Ruby Phillips. The meeting was scheduled for March 27, Good Friday. The April meeting will be held as planned.

A LIVELY 102—Larry Lewis, 102, still works as a banquet waiter at San Francisco's St. Francis Hotel, but that isn't all he does. Rain or shine he hikes five miles a day to his place of employment and if the weather isn't too bad he jogs all the way around the 6.7 mile perimeter of San Francisco's famous Golden Gate Park.

Water Meeting Set At Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Long range water plans — regional, national and international — will receive special attention from five speakers before a Water Resources and Irrigation Symposium March 31-April 1 in Lubbock.

Anyone interested in water resources is invited to attend the sessions, and participants are expected from New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

Union Sponsors Candidate Meet

The Martin County Farmers Union will sponsor a "Meet the Candidate" program Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Grady school, just west of Lenora.

All persons interested are invited to hear and meet the candidates from precinct to state representative. Rep. E. L. Short, Tahoka, and most of the Martin County candidates have indicated they will be present.

All School Sing Scheduled Friday

The a cappella choir will sponsor the annual All School Sing in the Big Spring High School auditorium Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Kenny Sheppard, choir director, said 10 organizations are seeking the revolving trophy, with the Court Jesters and Thespians defending their 1969 prize. The Steer Band, which won the trophy in 1968, will not be in competition this year.

For the first time this year, $50 in prize money will go to the winner, with $25 scheduled for second place and $15 for third. Any organization which wins the trophy three times in a row keeps it.

The choir sponsors the sing to promote interest in singing and does not compete, Sheppard said. Betty McCann, senior a cappella choir member, is student chairman of the event.

The singers are allowed 12 minutes and usually perform a skit and sing several songs around a central theme or present an excerpt from a musical, Sheppard said. They are judged on a point system, with 60 points for singing ability, 20 for ingenuity, and 20 for staging.

Club To Help

The Howard County Youth Horsemen will be campaigning on horseback Saturday in the Douglas Addition, asking for donations to the Easter Seal Campaign. Club members will meet at 1 p.m. in the parking lot of Sacred Heart Catholic Church on Hearn. Mrs. L. C. Gibbs will distribute packets and information to the youngsters.

Competing organizations this year are the Future Homemakers of America, the National Honor Society, the Student Council, Court Jesters and Thespians, Freshmen Girls Volleyball Team, the Office Workers, Cheerleaders, Music Theory Club, Latin Club and History Club. Approximately 10 to 25 persons perform in each group.

"The Six Shades of Dawn," a girls quartet, will perform while judges decide the winner. Included in the songs they plan to sing are "The Windows of the World," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "George Girl," and "Windy."

Judges will be the Rev. Steve Birdwell, Glenn Cootes and Mrs. John (Dorothy) Smith. Dan Shockey will be master of ceremonies.

Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Stanton Lions Receive Awards

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Lions Club Tuesday had Glenn Smith and Sunday Abreo, Big Spring, as guests. Program chairman, for the month, Richard Payne, introduced Lion Sweetheart Pauline Wood, who presented a musical program — Debbie Payne played "Dorothy" and "The Sound of Music" (piano) and Lisle Butler presented "Calm as the Night" and "Lora's Theme."

Gene Clements, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Stanton, was introduced as a new member by Cecil Bridges. President Chuck Elmore presented service certificates to the following Lions: Cecil Bridges, 30 years; Horace Blocker and B. F. White, 25 years; John Wood, 15 years; D. M. Costlow, Paige Eiland, Russell McMeans, Homer Schwable and R. C. Vest Jr., 10 years. Others to receive awards, who were not present at the meeting, were: James Jones, 40 years; O. B. Bryan, and F. O. Rhodes, 25 years; Glenn Gates, 15 years; L. C. Hazelwood, 10 years.

Lions will hold the annual Queen's contest Saturday, April 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

DRUGS WAS THE TOPIC — This is Susan Dusio standing in front of her Newark, Calif., home holding "Puppy," her dog. She's a 13-year-old wispy junior high school student who early this month was almost entirely responsible for arranging a week of drug-abuse education that taught 640 teenagers what the drug scene is really all about. It all started when she chose drugs as the topic of a special report in a history class. The interested onlooker at left is a neighborhood friend.

Susan Is Bad News For Fast Drug Pushers

NEWARK, Calif. (AP) — Susan Dusio, 13, is bad news to local drug pushers.

The 4-foot-7, 70-pound eighth grader at MacGregor Junior High School is almost entirely responsible for arranging a week of drug-abuse education that taught 640 teenagers what the drug scene is all about.

"The response was indescribable," says Vice Principal Kenneth Strange. "She had help, of course, but Susan carried the ball from the very beginning and virtually handled the thing by herself. It wouldn't have happened without her."

The fact that Susan knew some teenagers on drugs led her to choose that topic for a special report in history class.

"A lot of kids smoke, but cigarettes are not as bad as drugs. A lot of kids picked air pollution, but that's not as bad as drugs, so I picked drugs because it's the worst problem."

She sent for some literature and learned that speakers, exhibits and movies were available. Her teachers responded enthusiastically to her suggestion for a week of programs.

"It's important that kids get the right information on drugs, not lies and exaggerations," says Susan, who politely refuses whenever she is offered drugs, usually out of school.

Horoscope TOMORROW — CAROL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day and evening for you to get of many details to which you must attend. Also, look into all available sources of information where you can find the answers to whatever is of concern to you. Today's problems are best handled quietly. Postpone confrontations.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Plan your activities so that you eliminate as many worries as you can, even though such a schedule has been boring in the past. Use a different tack with co-workers. Gain their full cooperation.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You can have many happy moments by acting together with congenial during free time. Do everything you can to show more you are most loyal. You can handle that business problem very nicely today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to have a different viewpoint if you want to make the future more successful at home. Be particularly courteous with kin. Make sure your bills are paid on time so that it does not cost you more later.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be more cooperative with persons who usually accompany you on errands, hobbies, business, etc. You need more practice to become expert in what you are doing. Make more money in the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Give more attention to the practical side of your life today. Don't forget to count your blessings, either. One who admires you will give you the information you need so badly now. Do some entertaining today, also.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be sure you know what it is you want in a personal way and then get the assistance of friends to achieve it. Show them how capable you are. They will then give you all the cooperation you want.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) An early morning appointment is best if you want to see that powerful individual who can be of assistance to you. State your aims that are of a vocational nature. Avoid going to court about that bill.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Certain friends can easily introduce you to the right people who can help you to advance if you ask them to. Be sure to write to persons who can bring more happiness into your life. Show that you are a true friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Listen to that intuitive hunch that tells you what is best to do in certain situations that have bed you puzzled. You must be more attentive where loved one is concerned. Don't stay so hung up with the practical. Be happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are very cooperative with an associate, you find that those joint affairs go very much better. In the days ahead an associate can help you with other outlets as well. This could include the personal as well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although there is much to do, you have the energy now, so get it done and please others who depend on you. Take the time for final health treatment you need. Stop suffering unnecessarily.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have some spare time today to get together with the persons you like for the right kind of recreation you mutually enjoy. Good friends are in a very congenial mood. Be happy at home tonight. Do something artistic.

win to remain on top. With Rutledge are Brent Womack, Willie Breland, Mike Hall and Bill Schwarzenbach. Schwarzenbach led HC to victory in a four-team practice match here earlier this week.

Texas Team Leads Gloves Standings

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Two slugging heavyweights, rated among the hardest hitters in years, were trying to slug their way into tonight's finals of the national Golden Gloves.

The two batters, Thomas Kost of Buffalo, N.Y., and William Thompson of Chicago, both flattened their opponents for good Wednesday before 60 seconds had ticked by.

Kost, a shaggy-haired giant, took 57 seconds to drive Ronald McIntyre of Des Moines, Iowa, into a corner and pummel him into senselessness. Then the referee stopped the quarter-final fight.

Thompson did exactly the same thing against Jesus Maldonado of Elizabeth, N.J., but it took him only 45 seconds as he rained blows on a cowering Maldonado until the referee stopped the bout.

TRIES PODESTA
Kost faced Lawrence Podesta of San Francisco and Thompson faced Ronald Lyle of Salt Lake City, Utah, in the semi-finals before tonight's final bout.

Confident OC Hosts Other Loop Schools

The team from Ft. Worth, Tex., was leading for the team titles after the quarter-final bouts at the Las Vegas Convention Center. Ft. Worth had 17 points, followed by Cincinnati and San Francisco with 14 each.

Two defending champions won in Wednesday's quarter-finals, but a third fell by the wayside.

Tony Moreno of Ft. Worth, Tex., registered a unanimous decision over Darrell Benedict of Springfield, Ill., as he closed in on the 112-pound title he is defending. He dropped Benedict in the second round for the only knockdown of the fight and was in command all the way.

James "Bubba" Busceme, another Ft. Worth boxer, defended a Golden Gloves title, had a tough time with William Samms, Huntington, W.Va., but came on strong in the last round to win a place in the 125-pound semi-finals.

Defending champion Morris Jordan of Cincinnati was knocked from the 156-pound competition by a quarter-final decision to Leon Session of Elizabeth, N.J. in the semi-finals. Session faced Louisville's William Beeler, the class of the 156-pound division so far.

EASY VICTORY
At 119-pounds, San Francisco's Dave Kibby moved through the quarter-finals with an easy win and faced Michael Anderson, Columbus, Ohio, in today's semi-finals. Kibby, of Ft. Smith, Calif., fought on the U.S. team that recently toured Russia.

Another veteran of that Russian expedition, Larry Ward moved into the semi-finals of the 165-pound class with a powerful display of boxing skills. He beat quarter-final opponent Ken Pemberton, Lowell, Mass. Ward, who lives in Milwaukee, but is fighting on the Kansas City team, is the present AAU 165-pound title holder.

Jerry Martinez of Roswell, N.M., knocked out his 132-pound opponent to move into the semi-finals against Roger Seales of Billings, Mont.

Rudy Acuna of Las Vegas dropped Joe Valdez, Ft. Worth, in the second round of their 139-pound contest and went on to take a split decision from the veteran fighter.

ODESSA — Area golf fans will get one of the few chances to see the Odessa College golf team in action on a home course Friday when the Wranglers play host to seven member colleges from the Western Junior College Athletic Conference in a tournament at Odessa Country Club.

Coach Barry Rodenhaver's linksmen are in a dog-fight for first place honors with the Jayhawks of Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. The Big Spring golfers are currently holding down the conference lead with a slim one-half point margin. The Wranglers are in second place and South Plains Junior College and South Plains College are in third position in conference standings.

OC linksmen have downed the Jayhawks in four other outings this year and Rodenhaver expressed confidence in his team's ability to capture the conference lead.

The OC team consists of Si Harris, Bart Schuerman, Scott Stegner, Ray Sutton and Wade Hudman. Harris and Schuerman are veteran players from last year's team and carry All-Conference titles. According to Rodenhaver, Stegner has real good chances for making all-conference this year.

Rodenhaver will be looking for top performances from all his players in Friday's tourney although he said:

"For us to do well on Friday, we are going to have to get some top scores out of Hudman. It's time for him to make his move."

For golfing enthusiasts, this tourney should be one of the more colorful ever staged in Odessa. OC coeds will be helping with the tournament and one will be assigned to each three-some to serve as a marker and to keep scores. All the Wranglers need in the way of help for Friday's outing is a little cooperation from the weatherman.

Schools scheduled to enter the tourney include Howard County Junior College, South Plains Junior College, New Mexico Military Institute, New Mexico Junior College, Lubbock Christian College, Amarillo College and Frank Phillips College.

Wooden Eyes Jacksonville As Top Quint

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach John Wooden of defending champion UCLA says he believes Jacksonville University has a slight edge in the NCAA basketball finals but he also wouldn't bet against his Bruins.

In fact, Wooden whose teams have won five out of the last seven basketball titles, says only one of the four in the tournament has real problems—St. Bonaventure.

"I'm not knocking St. Bonaventure," he told newsmen, "but the loss of Lanier had to hurt them. They have other good boys but it's pretty late for them to change their style."

The Bonnies lost 6-foot-11 All-American Bob Lanier in the regional tournament last Saturday. He underwent surgery Sunday for repair of a torn knee ligament.

"Had St. Bonaventure not lost Lanier, this tournament would have been wide open with no one having the edge," said Wooden, who will be seeking an unprecedented fourth straight. "Now the three other teams appear to be in good shape with Jacksonville having a little break but not much."

Jacksonville, rapidly growing to be the sentimental favorite because it is the "olophins" first time in the NCAA championship, meets St. Bonaventure tonight in the eastern finals scheduled to begin at 7:40 p.m. EST.

UCLA, which has reeled off 22 straight victories in NCAA tournament play, takes on New Mexico State in the western finals tonight scheduled to begin 9:40 p.m. EST.

The winners of the two games meet Saturday at 4 p.m. EST on national television (NBC) for the NCAA championship.

JV's And Odessa To Clash Here

The Big Spring JV's will try to make it three wins in a row in a game with Odessa High at 4 p.m. here today.

This is the third of 11 games booked for the Dogies. The Big Spring team has bowled over Ector, 17-5, and Permian, 6-0, in that order.

David Newman and David Carter likely will share mound duties for the Shortorns.

Pete, LSU To Face Pressing Marquette

NEW YORK (AP) — If Pete Maravich had his troubles against lightly regarded Georgetown and Oklahoma, how will he do when confronted with another press, put on this time by jackrabbits and cobras?

No, it's not witchcraft, although it might turn out to be a mystery to Maravich and Louisiana State in one of tonight's basketball semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

The Tigers, 22-8, must face eighth-ranked Marquette, the tourney favorite with its 10th ranked defense in the country that forces bad passes and bad shots.

"They jump like jackrabbits and they're as quick as cobras," was the way LSU Coach Press Maravich, Pete's father, described the Warriors. "If we play as we did the last two games, we'll run us off the court."

Press referred mostly to the play of his son, a three-time All-American who fell far below his 46.6 point a game average with games of 20 and 37, and also threw away the ball a number of times, although making five and nine assists for a total of 14.

Should the Tigers get by Marquette in the 8 p.m. CST game at Madison Square Garden, waiting for them in Saturday's nationally televised 12 noon final would be either St. John's, N.Y., or Army. Army, 52-0, is the nation's best defensive team, and St. John's, 63-6 is eighth.

However, Press Maravich has enough troubles worrying about Marquette, 24-3, after watching his team blow all but two points of a 17-point lead against Oklahoma when the Sooners went into a pressing defense in the quarter-finals.

Al McGuire, the Marquette coach, promised a zone press and a tight man-to-man against LSU, which has been averaging 94.9 points a game, fourth best in the country.

While the LSU-Marquette game at 6 p.m. between Army and St. John's also should provide plenty of action, bruising action.

Wayland Rated Tops In Meet

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — John F. Kennedy of Nebraska and Ranger Junior College open the second annual Women's National Collegiate Invitational Basketball Tournament today.

The Kennedy-Ranger match begins at 2:30 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

Defending champion Wayland Baptist's Flying Queens tackle Kansas State at 4:15 p.m.

Midwestern of Iowa is scheduled to meet West Texas State at 7 p.m. and Ouachita Baptist of Arkansas battles Temple Junior College at 8:45 p.m.

Wayland has a 20-4 record and is top-seeded.

SUCCEEDS TRAVIS Jack Barber New LL Commissioner

Jack Barber, an active Little League worker here in the past, has been named Little League District commissioner.

Barber, who operates a glass and mirror company here in his own name, succeeds D. E. (Buddy) Travis, who is moving to Levelland. Barber's term will extend through the 1971 season.

Barber will oversee the sign-up of Little League players at four locations here Saturday and supervise the drawing up of 1970 schedules.

International Little Leaguers will sign up at the Webb AFB base gymnasium. National Leaguers will report to the College Heights school to attach their name to sign-up forms. American leaguers check in at the Student Union building on the HCJC campus while Texas league will go to their own park just off North 12th Street to complete the obligation.

Sign-up hours are from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Barber said work is progressing satisfactorily on all four diamonds here, although vandals damaged several parks, notably the one used by the Texas leaguers, during the off season.

Tryouts begin Monday in the league while the player draft is scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Steinke Greet 31 Grid Vets

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Head coach Gil Steinke greets 31 lettermen today—weather permitting—as the small college national champion Texas A&I Javelinas launch spring football drills.

Steinke hoped to work the Lone Star Conference champions today, Friday and Saturday and four days next week before taking off a week for spring vacation.

Steinke said much of the spring session will be spent finding replacements for several key positions—most of them in the secondary which was hard hit by graduation.

Several scrimmage games will be played but no dates have been set.

Boston Plan Checkmated

BOSTON (AP) — Three of the nine Boston city councilors have gone on record against a site in the Neponset section, close to the Quincy city line, for a sports stadium that could become the home of pro football's Boston Patriots.

The 3-2 vote Wednesday threw a new snag in the path of the Boston Redevelopment Authority's effort to gain approval for a $16 million stadium at Neponset to be financed by the proceeds from 12 extra days of horse racing at Suffolk Downs track in East Boston.

The new turn in the discussions came at a time when the National Football League owners were meeting in Honolulu and were expected to decide whether to grant the Patriots more time to acquire a playing field that meets the league's requirement of at least 50,000 seats.

Unless Patriots' President Billy Sullivan can convince his colleagues that there is a chance for such a stadium in Boston, the team could be instructed to transfer its franchise to a city that could provide the desired facilities.

Pitchers Take Lumps Using Livelier Ball

By The Associated Press

They used the livelier X-15 baseball in spring training again Wednesday and most of the pitchers weren't exactly thrilled with the experiment.

Wilhelm, who'll celebrate his 47th birthday at mid-season, knuckled the life out of the X-15 and the Montreal Expos.

Al Dark, manager of the Indians, called the X-15 experiment "a disgrace" after Seattle cracked four home runs including a pair by Gerry McNertney to beat Cleveland.
