FEDERAL TROOPS SORTING STRIKEBOUND MAIL

Back-To-Work Movement

By The Associated Press
Striking postal workers returned to their jobs in Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and much of Connecticut and New Jersey today.

New York, where federal troops sorted mail on President Nixon's orders.
The Pentagon denied reports that troops who worked in New York post offices until 1 a.m. had been ordered to delay their return this morning. However, National Guardsmen who also were called up on the President's orders, were held in armories and were to be sent to the post offices after lunch. Normal mail deliveries resumed in Philadelphia as 3,000 letter carriers returned to work in that city, last holdout in Pennsylvania.

All of Connecticut's major postal centers were back at full operation except Hartford, where clerks were picketing and scheduled to vote. Carriers had voted not to cross clerks' picket lines.

Workers returned in Jersey City, Asbury Park, Morristown, Red Bank, Lakewood and New Brunswick, N.J., while in Newark a vote was scheduled later in the day.

While operations were returning to normal in Detroit, postal workers at Lansing, Mich., made good their threat to strike if the President called in troops in New York. Several Detroit suburbs also continued to strike.

Congressional leaders in Washington told the House and Senate that they may have to skip their Easter recess to stand by for possible emergency action.

Reaction among union leaders to the President's action ranged from doubt that the untrained servicemen could handle the job to expressions of fear of possible violence.

There were no confrontations, however, as the first units of unarmored soldiers and sailors moved into the General Post Office and two substations in New York and began sorting the mountains of mail.

The President announced his plan to deploy the troops during a nationwide radio-television address Monday afternoon.

"What is at issue then is the survival of a government based on law. Essential services must be maintained, and, as President, I shall meet my constitutional responsibility to see that those services are maintained," Nixon declared.

He singled out New York City for the first use of troops because that is "where the illegal stoppages began" but added that he would use military personnel elsewhere if necessary.

Altogether, some 30,000 troops were involved. The Pentagon ordered 2,500 men on active duty to the city, called up 12,000 members of the New York Army and Air National Guard and 15,500 Army, Navy and Marine Corps reservists from the New York City area.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount set up an emergency mail handling program in New York's metropolitan area, and the troops were at work by late evening after being given instructional briefings.

In Washington, House Democratic leader Carl Albert and his Senate counterpart Mike Mansfield joined in advising congressmen that the scheduled Easter recess might have to be delayed.

FLOWER GIRL — Five-year-old Kathy Saloga's smile and the camera angle turn hot-house Easter lilies into a scene easily taken for the out-of-doors. The potted lilies await Easter delivery from a Joplin, Mo., greenhouse.

Private Firms Are Providing Mail Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office has lifted temporarily its ban against private firms providing mail service in New York City and at least eight other metropolitan areas where strikes have ended postal service.

The department waived, in effect, its monopoly on the handling of letter mail in the cities where incoming mail is embargoed. The embargoes were ordered to avoid vast mail pileups during the postal workers' wild-cat strike for higher pay.

One private organization—which already offers the equivalent of third-class service in 42 cities in 21 states—has offered to have "a skeleton force of 50,000 workers" operating anywhere in the country in two weeks, if the government will give it a contract.

The company, the Independent Postal Systems of America (IPSA) is headquartered in Oklahoma City. It franchises similar companies elsewhere, uses bonded and uniformed carriers, and charges less for distribution of the so-called "junk mail" than the government's third-class rate.

CARRYING THEIR MESSAGE TO THE MILITARY — Postal pickets carry signs spelling out their attempt to discourage the national guardsman at right entering the 71st Regiment Armory at 33rd Street and Park Avenue in New York's borough of Manhattan. The guardsman was reporting for duty in connection with the strikebound New York postal facilities.

Easter Seal Drive Tonight

Volunteers tagged as Easter Seal representatives will visit homes in Howard County tonight to deliver sheets of the 1970 Easter Seal and accept contributions.

The town has been split into 17 divisions, and will have 255 volunteers, approximately 75 per cent of which are teenagers, canvassing door-to-door between 6 and 8:30 p.m.

The areas include Lakewood, Bauer, Douglas Addition, Western Hills, Boydston, Watson Addition, Silver Heels, Highland South, Kentwood, Worth Peeler, Monticello, College Park, Coronado Hills, Cedar Crest, Airport, College Heights, and Washington.

"When an Easter Seal volunteer rings your doorbell, accept the sheet of Easter Seals and use them on your mail. Then please contribute as generously as you can," Mrs. Morris Robertson, chairman of the 1970 Howard County campaign, said.

A pre-addressed envelope will be left for families not at home so they can mail the contributions.

Nixon's Plan For Federal Aid To 'Impacted' Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unveiled today a plan for federal aid to "racially-impacted" schools—North and South—and proposed two-year spending of $1.5 billion to help them with their problems.

Nixon said his aim is to make school desegregation easier and more effective, to raise the standard of predominantly black schools and to promote interracial contact for pupils in predominantly white schools. The President's 8,000-word statement was the most extensive ever made by a chief executive on the subject of school desegregation.

In it, Nixon restated his opposition to compulsory student busing to achieve racial balance and urged that school boards facing desegregation decisions be given wide latitude provided they act in good faith to carry out the law.

The President said some persons have interpreted administration actions as signaling an effort to turn back the clock on desegregation.

"We are not backing away," he declared. "The constitutional mandate will be enforced."

Nixon laid claim to dramatic desegregation progress during his first year in office, saying:

"In the past year alone, the number of black children attending Southern schools held to be in compliance has doubled, from less than 600,000 to nearly 1,200,000—representing 40 per cent of the Negro student population."

A year earlier the proportion was 23 per cent.

However, Nixon for the most part advocated a cautious, deliberate approach to desegregation problems.

"If we are to be realists, we must recognize that in a free society there are limits to the amount of government coercion that can reasonably be used; that in achieving desegregation we must proceed with the least possible disruption of the education of the nation's children. . . ." Nixon said.

In broaching his $1.5 billion spending plan, the President said that "while raising the quality of education in all schools, we shall concentrate especially on racially-impacted schools, and particularly on especially on racially-impacted furthest behind."

He said he will ask Congress to divert $500 million, previously earmarked for other domestic programs, for his racially-impacted school project in the 1971 fiscal year that begins July 1.

"For fiscal 1972," he said, "I have ordered that $1 billion be budgeted for the same purposes."

Nixon said the money would be distributed on the basis of four priority undertakings:

—Meeting "special needs of desegregating (or recently desegregated) districts for additional facilities, personnel and training required to get the new, unitary system successfully started."

—Assisting racially-impacted schools where de facto segregation persists because of neighborhood housing patterns. There, he said, "immediate infusions of money can make a real difference in terms of educational effectiveness."

—Helping fill "the special needs of those districts that have the furthest to go to catch up educationally with the rest of the nation."

—"Financing of innovative techniques for providing educationally sound interracial experiences for children in racially isolated schools."

Nixon spoke of the latter concept as a potential alternative to busing.

Air Attache Of U.S. Embassy Kidnaped

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The air attache of the U.S. Embassy here was kidnaped today—the third American diplomat kidnaped in Latin America since September.

Police and the U.S. Embassy said Lt. Col. Donald J. Crowley was seized on a polo field near the El Embajador Hotel.

An informant at the hotel said he saw the 47-year-old Crowley taken away by four or five gunmen at 7:40 a.m. He said they arrived at the polo field in a white car.

The embassy would not confirm reports that Crowley's kidnapers intended to use him as ransom for a score of political prisoners held here.

Among those prisoners mentioned was Maximiliano Gomez, secretary-general of the Dominican Popular Movement, a Communist-oriented group, who has been held on charges of terrorism for two months.

Crowley, born in El Paso, Tex., arrived in the Dominican Republic in May, 1968. He has a wife, Nancy, three daughters and a son.

The polo field where he was kidnaped was the site of the initial landings of U.S. troops, who entered the Dominican Republic in 1965 on the orders of President Lyndon B. Johnson in the midst of civil political strife.

The Dominican Republic is presently the scene of campaigning for May's presidential election.

Big Spring Postmen Vote

Big Spring postmen have voted to follow the instructions of James H. Rademacher, national president of the National Association of Letter Carriers and stay on the job for the five day moratorium.

Tom Conway, president of the local chapter of the NALC, said Monday that the local members decided to remain on duty as Rademacher had instructed, but that if he called for them to leave their jobs, they would do so. However, he said even if the local postmen do strike, they will see that vital mail to elderly patrons is delivered, such as checks for pensions, Social Security, etc.

Car-Train Wreck Kills Four Persons

ORCHARD, Tex. (AP) — Four persons, two women and two small children, were killed today when a car and a Santa Fe passenger train collided near this town, about 10 miles north of Rosenberg.

The occupants of the car were not at once identified.

A Santa Fe spokesman said the train, the Texas Chief, stayed on the tracks. The engineer was R. B. Pringle of Houston, the spokesman said.

One of the children appeared to be about a year old and the other about six, the spokesman said.

The accident occurred where Farm 1489 crosses the tracks, he said. The crossing has the usual safety sign but no bells or crossing gates, he said.

Delays Could Touch Off Wildcat Rail Shutdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — An executive of the Sheet Metal Workers Union asked Congress today to reject President Nixon's proposed forced settlement of the railroad labor dispute.

John W. O'Brien, general vice president of the only union rejecting the latest railroad offer, told the House Commerce committee the forced settlement would make "involuntary servants" of 8,000 sheet metal workers in the railroad industry.

The union is one of four involved in the 16-month dispute over wages and work rules which threatens to result in a general strike against the railroads.

Congress has barred the strike by law in a 37-day stay expiring April 11, and is considering what action to take to prevent a strike at that time.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz told the Commerce Committee Monday that there was no prospect of a voluntary settlement.

Negotiators for all four unions agreed to contract terms last December, but the rank and file of metal workers rejected the terms. Nixon is asking that the December agreement be imposed by law.

Shultz called for prompt action by Congress, cautioning that further delays could touch off a wildcat rail shutdown.

Secret Record Look Wanted

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The grand jury wants a look at the secret record of the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in Sen. Edward Kennedy's car last July 18.

Leslie Leland, foreman of the jury, said Monday he had written to Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis, requesting him to ask Chief Justice Joseph Tauro of the state Superior Court to order the jury into a special session.

"We want to see what is there and what is not there. We feel it is one of our responsibilities to come up with an answer to the public," Leland said.

Nixon Refuses To Send Israel New Jet Fighters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid a wave of congressional protest, the two senior members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have endorsed President Nixon's refusal to send new jet fighters to Israel.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., suggested some complaints were prompted by the demands of home-state politics.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, said the administration had taken the proper course.

Their positions appeared to rule out the investigation demanded by Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., who said the committee should hold hearings on U.S. Mideast arms policy and its effect on Israeli security.

from New York to do anything except favor all the support for Israel possible," he said. "But I do think it would be almost fatal to indulge in an arms race with Russia until we reach the point of no return."

In Jerusalem, Israel asked the United States to reconsider its decision or face the prospect of "an expanded conflict" in the Middle East.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban expressed Israel's disappointment over Nixon's refusal to send the jets. He also said that "a new military and political dimension" has been added to the Middle East balance of power by Russia's delivery of SAM missiles to Egypt.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahran said Nixon's decision is a "clear attempt at deceiving the Arab world." It said Washington's "confession that Israel still holds great superiority over the Arabs is an open justification for the Arabs to demand more armaments."

But in Congress, Aiken said the administration decision is correct, "at least for the time being."

Said Fulbright: "It would not be wise to send more armaments into that situation in the Middle East."

Goodell, who scheduled an announcement today on his candidacy for a full Senate term, said the jets Israel was denied were clearly needed to maintain a

Ceramics Class Opens At Base

Mrs. Joyce Cootes, of West Texas Ceramics Supply, is planning another series of lessons for military wives at the base ceramics shop. For the past several years, she has instructed ceramics pouring, painting and firing such objects as lamps, ashtrays and other household items.

The base shop is equipped with 710 molds for pouring. Lessons will be held in building 200 each Tuesday, from 1:30-3:30 p.m. The fee is $1 per lesson with a little extra for supplies.

School Dismissed

Thanks to the weatherman, Big Spring students get out of classes at 2:45 p.m. today and do not have to go back until Tuesday morning, March 31. The reason for the extended holiday is the two weather days not used this year.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I have two sisters and one brother and we have always been a very close family. We're all married and have families of our own.

Mother died nine years ago and Dad died one year later. We all contribute equally to the upkeep of their graves, but Abby, I have not been back to visit their graves since Dad died. I have started out many times, but it just tears me apart, and I turn back.

My sisters and brother go often. They say it makes them feel "good." Maybe I'm an odd ball, but I get so depressed when I head out to the cemetery it takes me days to get over it. Is something wrong with me? I was a good son to them, so it's not that I feel guilty. Should I force myself to visit the folks so my sisters and brother won't think I'm disrespectful to their memory?

ODD BALL
DEAR ODD: The time to go "visit the folks" is when they're living. If it "tears you apart" to go to the cemetery, stay away, and don't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: I can't understand why so many people can be so ignorant about obesity. People get fat from eating out of frustration and boredom. It's a difficult habit to break — like smoking or excessive drinking.

Just as all men are not happy pursuing the same career, all women are not happy being housewives.

I happen to believe that my small children need me at home, so if I get fat from eating, isn't that better than living on tranquilizers, becoming an alcoholic, or screaming at everyone just because I feel bored and frustrated? Sign me . . . "FAT" (But it's nobody's business but my own!)

DEAR FAT: Don't rationalize. Your health is your FAMILY'S business! "Fat" reduces one's energy, vitality, and efficiency. You're right, getting fat is preferable to living on tranquilizers, or becoming an alcoholic. But must you make a choice? You will like yourself more, enjoy better health, and live longer if you deal with your boredom and frustrations in still a more sensible way. See your doctor. He has good news for you. And good luck.

DEAR ABBY: For years I've been reading letters in your column about women who get their hair fixed to look good for other women and who could care less how their husbands see them. Also about women who go around with rollers, and let the grocer and their neighbors see them, and even go to school that way. And they don't care as long as they look pretty when their husbands come home.

Today I had a permanent and I paid a lot of money for it. I asked myself, "Did I do it for my husband?" Not really. He loves me no matter how I look. "Did I do it for other women?" No. I know why I did it. Because I want to look nice at all times, for marketing, errands, and whenever I step outside the house and meet my neighbors.

I figure that my husband gave me his name, and wherever I go, I represent him. I always try to act like a lady. When I'm shopping I am patient and courteous and I am never rude to anyone.

I wish more wives realized that in a way they are a one-woman public relations firm for their husbands.

DEAR WIFE: So do I.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Aiken said in an interview the Goodell suggestion appeared to be a bit of advance campaigning aimed at New York.

"I wouldn't expect a senator

Three Given Base Honors

Three men have been named for February honors in the 35601st Field Maintenance Squadron at Webb AFB. They are M. Sgt. Charles H. Sitton, senior noncommissioned officer of the month Sgt. James E. Pine, NCO of the Month and Airman I.C. Benjamin Lara, Airman of the Month.

Sgt. Sitton is an aircraft technician in the aircraft repair and reclamation shop. His job is to schedule work loads in the section in such a manner as to keep aircraft down-time to a minimum. He came to Webb in July, 1968.

Sgt. Pine, a jet engine technician, is assigned to the trouble shooting section of the flight line support unit. A native of El Dorado, Ark., he arrived at Webb in July, 1969.

Airman Lara, an aerospace ground repairman, has been at Webb since he graduated from technical school at Chanute AFB, Ill., in December, 1968. A native of San Antonio, he graduated from Southside High in 1968 and entered the Air Force shortly thereafter.

Jurors Take Today Off In Edinburg

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Jurors in the murder-for-hire trial of Pete Scamardo took today off as lawyers prepared the charge for the jury.

The defense wound up its case Monday and Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis presented two rebuttal witnesses. Dist. Judge J. R. Alamia then excused the jury until 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Scamardo, 31, a Hearne cotton broker, is being tried as an accomplice in the 1968 shooting of Sam Degelia Jr., also of Hearne. The indictment alleges that Scamardo offered Charles Harrelson of Houston $2,000 to kill Degelia, his former business partner and friend.

Judge Alamia said he had promised some jurors they also could have Friday off and there would be no court that day because of the religious holiday. It was pointed out that if both sides agree, the jurors could go home even if they have started to deliberate.

Because of the lengthy testimony there will be no time limits on the final arguments, the judge said.

Testimony began Feb. 19 after lawyers took 17 days to select a jury of six men and six women.

Defense lawyers Percy Foreman of Houston and Thomas Sharpe Jr. of Brownsville presented 26 witnesses and introduced 81 items of evidence in less than one week.

McInnis, who is seeking the death penalty, called 62 witnesses and offered about 80 items of evidence. He used two rebuttal witnesses Monday.

Sam Degelia Sr., the victim's father, was put on the stand to dispute testimony given Monday by Andrea Scamardo, the defendant's wife. Degelia testified that he did not have a brother named Ben Degelia.

Mrs. Scamardo said that Harrelson, the alleged triggerman, was a cousin-in-law of the victim. She said this relationship existed because Glenda Walton, a niece of Harrelson, married Anthony Reina, a nephew of Ben Degelia.

Degelia, a prominent Brazos River Bottoms cotton farmer, testified that he knew of a Ben Degelia who was a distant relative living at Bryan until he and his wife were killed in a traffic accident. He said he had never heard of Reina or Glenda Walton.

Sihanouk Will Attempt To Fight His Way Back

TOKYO (AP) — Cambodia's deposed chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, said today he will try to fight his way back to power.

According to reports from Japanese correspondents in Peking, Sihanouk said he would form a government of national unity and "national liberation army" that would have the support of "brotherly nations," presumably meaning North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

Japan's biggest newspaper, Asahi, said that if Sihanouk's comeback attempt is supported by the 40,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who are operating along Cambodia's border with South Vietnam, the conservatives in Phnom Penh who deposed the prince could not survive for long.

The newspaper added that if these "alien Vietnamese Communist troops" take action, the United States might intervene in support of Cambodian neutrality. But this appeared most unlikely in view of the Nixon administration's efforts to withdraw from Vietnam and the opposition in Congress to expansion of the U.S. involvement in the Indochinese peninsula.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers told a news conference in Washington Monday the United States recognizes the sovereignty, neutrality and independence of Cambodia and hopes that recent developments will not widen the Vietnam war. He said Cambodia has not asked for military help and he did not anticipate that it would.

North Vietnam, the Viet Cong, Communist China and North Korea all have indicated they support Sihanouk against the Cambodian government and parliament but have not specified what if anything they would do to return him to power.

The situation in Phnom Penh, where Sihanouk's handpicked parliament voted unanimously Wednesday to depose him while he was in Paris, continued calm.

Airline officials in Bangkok reported that four flights to or through Cambodia operated on schedule Monday, the first commercial flights into the country since the coup.

A correspondent for the Times of London, Fred Emery, reported from Phnom Penh that the United States has asked for the release of the hijacked munitions ship Columbia Eagle, but Premier Lon Nol said he would hold onto it because "there is a risk of misunderstanding."

"We are just going to leave it there," Gen. Nol said. The interview did not elaborate on what Nol meant by "a misunderstanding."

Asked what he intended to do with the captain and 13 crewmen, the general said: "At the moment I think we've rather lost sight of them, but it seems they are somewhere hereabouts. We've been more concerned with other events."

The Columbia Eagle was hijacked into Cambodian waters March 14 by two seaman who were given asylum when the ship anchored in Sihanoukville.

Gen. Nol also denied speculation that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had a hand in the coup that brought down Sihanouk.

From Saigon South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky sent a warm message to Cambodia's new chief of state, National Assembly President Cheng Heng, and said he hoped for "friendship and cooperation" between the two countries.

Mild Weather Here To Stay?

By The Associated Press
After the past couple of days in Texas, you'd figure mild spring weather is here to stay — but don't be too sure.

Official observers look for the next entry in the parade of cold fronts to come marching into the Texas Panhandle by Wednesday and start spreading another chill over the northern and western parts of the state.

Temperatures climbed to pleasant levels Monday, however, and readings early today stood mostly in the 40s to 50s except for a freezing mark or two in the Panhandle. Skies were clear in all sections except for a few high, thin clouds in extreme South Texas.

Forecasts nevertheless promised much colder weather and occasional drizzle in the Panhandle by Wednesday afternoon, cooling elsewhere over the north half of the state with a slight chance for thunderstorms, and a chance for showers in Southeast Texas.

Readings near dawn today ranged from 29 at Dalhart up to 59 at Galveston.

Intellectual Snobbery Assailed By Labor Boss

AUSTIN (AP) — Intellectual snobbery keeps thousands of youngsters from getting the vocational training they should have. Gov. Preston Smith and the state's top labor leader say.

Smith and Hank Brown, state AFL-CIO president, addressed the Governor's Conference on Technical-Vocational Education Monday.

Smith called the conference to inform citizens of the need for vocational training and to receive their ideas.

"Through educational snobbery we often wrongly limit the desire of people to work in the skilled and the technical fields. By our 'college or disgrace' concept, we constrain their abilities," Smith said.

"For a fast-changing society in which half our working force must be retrained three times in their working lives because of technological innovations, that system of education is ill-fitting."

He feared, however, that if his partner's suit was not solid, the opponents might score several spade tricks once the ace was disclosed. In the belief that a suit contract was safer, North proceeded directly to five clubs.

West opened the queen of spades and the ace was played from dummy. South ruffed a spade with the nine of clubs and then led a small trump. East was in with the ace and he returned another spade which was trumped by the ten.
A heart was led to the ace and a small heart was ruffed with the jack of clubs. Dummy was entered with the seven of trumps, the king of hearts was cashed on which South discarded a diamond, and the remaining heart was trumped in the closed hand

Debate Opens On Education Bill In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate called up today a compromise $23 billion education bill opposed by Southerners because an amendment requiring a national school desegregation policy has been drastically weakened.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., was watered down in a conference committee after adoption by the Senate, prompting the Dixie bloc to come out against it.

Stennis declined to discuss his strategy in advance, although one report had it he would seek to return the measure to the committee with instructions to put the teeth back into it.

The measure, one of the largest education bills ever considered by Congress, goes far beyond President Nixon's spending recommendations, leading some senators to believe that it will force another fight between Congress and the White House over education spending.

Nixon earlier vetoed an appropriations bill for the departments of Health, Education and Welfare and Labor because he felt it allocated too much for education programs.

The Stennis amendment, adopted 56 to 36 in floor action last month, requires the federal government to move as vigorously against schools segregated because of residential patterns in the North as it has against the legally segregated schools of the South.

The conferees adopted the principal language of the amendment, but also approved two new provisions that in Southern eyes weaken it.

The first says uniformity means one policy on de jure (legal) segregation shall be applied nationally and "such other policy" as may be provided by law on de facto (neighborhood) segregation. There is no present law on neighborhood segregation.

The other provision assures that the government shall carry out its obligation to enforce the part of the 1964 Civil Rights Act requiring a cutoff of federal funds where segregation is practiced.

The bill extends federal aid to education programs three years.

Among these are the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, by far the largest of the aid programs; and Impacted Areas which provides funds for districts crowded because of nearby federal installations.

Nixon asked for a two-year bill and for no increases in authorizations pending a study of the effectiveness of the key programs.

But the bill would boost sharply the ESEA funds, which are channeled into districts with large numbers of children from poverty-stricken homes. It would do this by raising the definition of such families to those with $4,000 or less annual income; under the law now, only those with $2,000 or less are covered.

REPUTED MAFIA BOSS — Carlo Gambino, reputedly the Cosa Nostra's "boss of all bosses," is handcuffed and led by FBI agents after his arrest in New York Monday. Gambino was charged with conspiracy to hijack an armored truck. He was freed on $75,000 bond after being arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop.

Nab Mobster In Heist Plot

NEW YORK (AP) — Carlo Gambino, reputedly the Cosa Nostra's "boss of all bosses," has been arrested by the FBI and charged with conspiracy to hijack an armored truck with $6 million in bank funds.

After the arrest Monday, the FBI described Gambino's role in the alleged plot as providing "automobiles for the robbery and a means to dispose of the money."

Gambino was freed in $75,000 bond after being arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop.

The armored truck which allegedly was to be hijacked was used to deliver new money and pick up old bills from Chase Manhattan Bank branches in the city, said Daniel P. Hollman, chief of a Justice Department strike force against organized crime in Manhattan.

Federal officials did not offer any explanation why the alleged plot, said to have been put together between March 1 and May 15, 1969, was never carried out.

Hollman said Gambino considered a plan to rob the headquarters of the armored truck company, the United States Truck Corp., in Manhattan. However, the plan, which might have led to a $25 million seizure, was abandoned as too hazardous, he said.

Workshop Set For Nursing Personnel

All area nursing personnel are invited to attend the one-day workshop on "inhalation therapy" to be held Wednesday at the Veterans Administration Hospital from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in room 232. There is no registration fee. The workshop will be conducted by Edwin L. Edler, registered inhalation therapist, who serves as chief of inhalation therapy unit at the VA Hospital in Houston.

The following topics will be discussed during the day: departmental organization and function; review of respiratory anatomy and physiology; cleaning and sterilizing of inhalation therapy equipment; aerosol therapy; use of IPPB equipment; workshop on inhalation therapy equipment; treatment of the patient in acute pulmonary distress.

Further information may be obtained by calling the VA Hospital, Nursing Service, 263-7361, Ext. 43.

NCOs Urge Flag Flying Wednesday

"Flag Day" will be observed again Wednesday in an effort to establish a reputation for Big Spring as "Flag City."

The Non-Commissioned Officers Association at Webb AFB is selling the flags for $3.50 each, including installation.

However, the group has exhausted its supply of flags and is awaiting a new shipment. Persons interested in buying a flag should contact M. Sgt. Walter Purgason (phone 263-2429).

A list of do's and don'ts for displaying the flag released by NCOA include:

Display only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaves in the open, but not when the weather is inclement.

Should be raised briskly and lowered ceremoniously. Should be displayed especially on national and state holidays and other days proclaimed by the President of the United States.

Should be flown on Memorial Day at half-staff until noon.

Should never be displayed with the union down except as a signal of dire distress.

Should never touch anything beneath it such as ground, floor, water or merchandise.

Should never be carried horizontally, but always aloft and free.

Should never be used as drapery, festooned, drawn back.

Should never be used for receiving, holding, carrying or delivering anything.

Should not be fastened to a staff or halyard from which advertising signs are displayed.

Former 'Back Peddler' Wills Estate To Charity

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jacob Bogoslow, who scrimped and saved from the time he moved to this country from Russia in 1913, willed most of his estimated $300,000 estate to charity, court records show.

Bogoslow died at a hospital earlier this month at the age of 79. Only a few friends attended his funeral.

His lawyer, Bert Thompson, said Bogoslow made his living as a salesman, traveling from farm to farm in South Texas as a "back peddler" in the early days.

He never married. When his will was admitted to probate Monday, it was disclosed that almost all of the estate will go to charitable institutions.

Most of it will go to the Jewish Children's Home in New Orleans.

Bogoslow also willed $24,000 to the Jewish National Fund to buy land in Israel for a settlement to be called "Moshav Yaakov Haim Bogoslow." It will be a memorial to him.

Will Examine Accused Slayer

HOUSTON (AP) — Two psychiatrists had orders from a district judge to examine accused slayer Leon Colbert today and Wednesday.

Colbert's lawyers were granted a delay in his trial Monday until at least Thursday while the examinations are being conducted.

Judge Lee Duggan Jr. refused to postpone the trial, however. Colbert, 56, is charged with murder in the shooting of Anthony Clodfelter, 46. Clodfelter's wife, Mary Elizabeth, has been indicted on a charge of accomplice to murder.

Wild Offshore Oil Wells Trigger Economic Shocks

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Those wild wells in an offshore oil field, polluting the sea with thousands of barrels of crude, were having economic repercussions ashore Monday.

Much of the economic shock stemmed from Interior Secretary Walter Hickel's order Feb. 13 postponing indefinitely the proposed sale of other offshore oil leases.

Hickel took the action after learning Chevron Oil Co.'s wild wells a "disaster." Two of the 12 wells involved remained out of control Monday.

Executives in the offshore oil field service and construction business said the results of Hickel's move already had been felt.

The delay involves future oil company orders for offshore platforms, drilling rigs and other facilities.

W. H. Bailey, manager of McGermott Fabricators near Morgan City, said the plant laid off 300 workers last week.

Avondale Marine's fabrication yard at Black Bayou, near New Orleans, said 80 workers were cut off and one multi-million dollar offshore oil platform project had been canceled.

In New Iberia, Movable Offshore Co., a drilling contractor, told the Morgan City Chamber of Commerce that the firm has two months work on the books now—and after that, nothing.

Bailey said it had taken 13 years to build up a staff of 1,600 people to an efficient level and the layoff was considered a serious matter. He declined to say how many platform jobs had been canceled.

At Avondale, Kenneth DuPont, vice president in charge of the offshore fabrication yard, said he was asking Hickel for a statement of policy.

Plans must be made in advance, DuPont said, and the present "on again, off again policy of leasing" made it too uncertain for businesslike operations.

Walter Gard, vice president of Brown & Root in New Orleans, said he hoped to keep the pipeline laying division at about one quarter of normal operation.

Brown & Root is one of the biggest contractors on offshore pipeline projects. McDermott is a large fabricator of offshore platforms and similar installations.

The Times-Picayune said several drilling contractors who asked not to be identified had confirmed reports they were planning to move their rigs out of the Gulf of Mexico as foreign contracts open up.

Carriers' Chief Predicting They'll Strike In Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—The President of Houston union letter carriers predicted his 1,800-member group would vote to strike today.

Sam Madonio, head of Space City Branch 283 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, called for the vote Monday night after President Nixon ordered troops into New York City and threatened to use them in other cities.

Madonio said he would "appeal to all postal workers locally and nationally to join with us." He accused Nixon of "not acting in good faith" by ordering the troops to intervene.

"Our national officers cannot negotiate with this kind of threat hanging over their heads," Madonio said.

The Houston letter carriers had voted Sunday to continue working until 12:01 a.m. Saturday and give postal employees time to negotiate with government officials in Washington.

After a board meeting Monday however, Madonio said he would call for another vote if troops entered any postal facility anywhere in the country.

If the letter carriers vote to strike, an estimated 5,400 postal employees in Houston could be affected by either joining the strike or honoring letter carriers' picket lines.

H. I. Sepolio, president of the 500-member Houston Postal Union, said the report of troops working in New York "means we're through meeting—we're going to take a walk if Sam (Madonio) takes a walk. It's up to Sam."

Max Avery, president of the 1,100-member Local 185 of the United Federation of Postal Clerks, said his union is committed to honor any AFL-CIO picket line.

Yarborough's Spend, Spend, Spend Slapped

HOUSTON (AP)—Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, said Monday night Sen. Ralph Yarborough's answer to every problem is "spend, spend, spend."

Bentsen, a Houston businessman, opposes Yarborough in the May 2 Democratic primary.

He said Yarborough has a stock answer for every problem besetting America, including the "outmoded postal system," the "rundown welfare system" and medical problems.

"What's his answer?" Bentsen asked. "No reforms, of course—just pass another appropriation bill. His answer to every problem is spend, spend, spend."

"I think Texans want a senator who is going to work for peace and not a peacenik."

"You won't find Lloyd Bentsen endorsing a Vietnam moratorium. You won't find him lending aid and comfort to people who are waving Viet Cong flags on the streets of America while our young men are dying in Vietnam."

Bentsen spoke at a reception attended by about 1,500 persons at a downtown hotel.

Plane Crash Hurts Couple Press Workers

MEXIA, Tex. (AP)—Two Dallas Associated Press employees injured in a light plane crash were in good condition Monday at Mexia General Hospital.

Richard Boydston, 25, and Jimmy Walton, 22, both traffic employees, were injured when their light plane crashed in a wooded area near Mexia Sunday afternoon.

Boydston suffered four broken ribs, multiple lacerations and a fractured nose. Walton suffered shock and exposure.

Boydston said the plane's engine quit while the pair was flying at a low altitude. They had rented the plane in Mexia.

Appeal Looms Over Court Order Banning Rock Event

DICKENS, Tex. (AP)—A spokesman for the Southwest 70 Peace Festival said Monday night his group will appeal a restraining order which bans the rock music festival from being held on a 32-acre tract near this small west Texas town.

T. J. Conway, a Dickens County farmer, won the order Monday, claiming he had already leased the land. There was no testimony at the six-minute hearing before Dist. Judge Pat S. Moore.

About 15 to 20 rock groups were scheduled to perform for three days over the Easter weekend.

Conway claimed he already had leased the land which was being rented to the rock festival. He said he had misunderstood terms of a verbal agreement with the owner.

One of the lawyers for the promoters of the festival, Phil Brummett said if another site was to be found, it would almost have to be located Monday night.

Brummett said, "We are channeling all our efforts toward going on with the festival."

State police said some music fans, mostly "long-haired hippies," already had set up camps on the site.

Residents of Dickens have expressed anger and alarm since learning they were to be unwitting hosts for the affair.

The festival is being promoted by Atlantis Productions of Lubbock.

Robert Gamble, a spokesman for the festival, said he expected some drug use at the festival although its sponsors did not condone such action.

Among the bands scheduled to appear are the Canned Heat, The Byrds, The Zephyr and the Joe Kelly Blues.

Campaign Gifts Hit

AUSTIN (AP)—Dist. Judge David Brown of Sherman says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin "compromised the office of attorney general" by asking corporation lawyers to help pay campaign expenses after Martin was elected in 1966.

Brown is running against Martin in the Democratic primary. He said Martin told corporation lawyers that he owed $200,000 in campaign debts.

Martin's official primary and general election statements filed with the secretary of state show he owed $37,158.

Martin said he did ask lawyer friends who represent corporations to help him pay his campaign debt. He denied owing $200,000.

"I just think the whole thing is ridiculous, not worthy of comment... stand on what my campaign expense account shows," Martin said.

"I don't deny soliciting money after I was elected to pay campaign debts," Martin said. But he said he could not recall whether his post-election solicitation included any lawyers who represent corporations.

Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department Monday announced the names of 23 men killed in action in the Vietnam war.

They included Army Pfc. Jesus H. De Leon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nabor A. De Leon, 242 Brenner St., San Antonio; and Army Pfc. Preston D. Sharp, husband of Mrs. Barbara J. Sharp, 329 East Curtis, Orange.

Webb Getting New Altitude Chamber

More than 37,000 student pilots and others at Webb AFB have taken a high altitude flight in the altitude chamber since its installation Dec. 10, 1962. After more than 17 years of service, it is being replaced. The final flight went through March 13 with the members of undergraduate pilot training class 71-05.

The new chamber is scheduled for installation sometime in June. Unlike the old, the new one will have straight walls, be higher and rectangular, enabling the crew and the students to maneuver more easily and "fly in comfort." Maintenance and performance of the new chamber will be easier and more efficient.

According to Capt. Allan Fox, chief of aerospace physiology, the present chamber is the oldest one in the Air Force inventory. It was built in 1942. After it is dismantled, the unit will be sent to the University of California, Santa Barbara, for further use by academicians.

Capt. Fox added that because the new unit will not be operational till June, the two classes of undergraduate pilots arriving prior to June will either be sent to Reese AFB, or a smaller portable unit will be installed.

The local chamber takes the pilot trainees and personnel qualifying for flight status up to 43,000 feet, where they are the oldest one in the emergency conditions which might arise when they are airborne. Hypoxia, or deficiency of oxygen and rapid decompression, are some of the conditions.

Capt. Fox stressed the value of the altitude chamber as the only place where the students can practice and learn about high altitude flying conditions with trained personnel supervising.

Throughout the flight, the men are assisted by technicians inside and outside the chamber. Also they are briefed throughout the flight either by Capt. Fox or Capt. Eugene Moss.

Others assisting the chief are T. Sgt. Richard Bryder and Robert Johnson; S. Sgts. Clynton Moore, Joe Shalk and Sergeants Phil Bumby, Gary Warlok, David Kaufman and Clyde Fial.

Action is pending on three cases referred to Juvenile Officer Keith Jones. Two boys, 14 and 15, were referred for theft under $5, and a boy, 15, was referred as a runaway.

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association, better late than never, finally has begun its harvest of the college basketball stars with top picks Bob Lanier, Rudy Tomjanovich and Pete Maravich apparently still up for grabs.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: HARRY (THE HAT) WALKER, Houston Astro manager, offering a rebuttal to his most vociferous critic, Curt Blefary: "I think it's about time Curt grows up and takes a good, hard look at himself. He came to me as a 200 hitter, and he learned a little but control and to handle the high stuff. His average went down .290 to .253 and he hit 12 home runs. I don't see where I held him back. If I was the only one he blasted it would be different. But when he came to me last year, he blasted the guy (Baltimore's Earl Weaver) who was almost the American League's manager of the year and almost the manager of the world champions. But as Blefary moves from one place to another he does this and it's a shame. It doesn't help him one bit. I wonder how long it will be before Ralph Houk (of the NY Yankees) is his target. If you leave him in the lineup, he's fine. If you take him out he starts bellyaching. As for his charge that I don't like for anyone to hit a lot of home runs, I'd love I don't see where I held him back. If I was the only one to have nine men who could hit 50 home runs each. But I don't want them to be hitters who bat only .200 and don't drive in runs that win ball games. I had Roberto Clemente at Pittsburgh and he had the greatest home run record of his career while I was there. He also hit .330 or .340 and drove in 110 or 120 runs. Willie Stargell also hit 33 one year, but he hit for average, too."

RED GRANGE, former football great: "When I played pro ball, I had no contract. I took a percentage and I made $100,000 in 17 games after I joined Charlie Pyle back in 1925. We played eight games in 11 days and went on from there. We drew 60,000 in the old Polo Grounds in New York and 90,000 in the Coliseum in Los Angeles. I remember the crowds more than what I did. The easiest game I ever played was when I ran for four touchdowns against Michigan in 1924 on gallops of 95, 65, 54 and 45 yards, all in 12 minutes. Nobody laid a hand on me. The Illinois blocking was superb. I doubt if Bronko Nagurski got over $4,000 when he played pro ball, but he was the greatest football player I ever saw or played with. He had everything: size, stamina, guts, ability to do anything. He also had the knack for commanding respect and affection from his own team mates or the opposition. Nobody ever came close to him."

JACK KENT COOKE, owner of the Los Angeles Lakers: "Wilt Chamberlain is a very misunderstood basketball player. He is a pleasant, tractable and sensitive man. His reputation in no way matches his personality."

AL CAMPANIS, general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers: "We thought twice when we had a chance to get Richie Allen. We liked his bat but not his personality. We would have been making a travesty of everything the Dodger spirit represents."

Boxer HENRY HANK, explaining his defeat at the hands of Texas Mark Tessman: "Earl Gilliam figured I was a good name to put on Tessman's list. I did no training. Tessman won. Earl got the idea that Tessman beat a good Henry Hank; he thought he could do it any night. I got my promoter in Indianapolis and Tessman agreed to fight me there. This time, I got in shape. I knocked him out in six."

CHUB FEENEY, president of the National baseball league: "Houston may just have the second best pitching staff in baseball, next to the Mets. Also, they have a nice balance at other positions. You've got to keep an eye on them."

TED WILLIAMS, describing his African safari: "I got a buffalo, and some of the writers were hoping a buffalo would get me."

Twin-Barreled Court Action Slated Today

SEATTLE (AP) — Double barreled court action was in store today on the big question of whether a switch of the franchise of the Seattle Pilots to Milwaukee should be allowed.

A hearing on whether to grant a temporary injunction to prevent the sale and transfer of the American League baseball club was to continue before Superior Court Judge James Mifflin at 9:30 a.m.

At 2 p.m., Washington State and Seattle were to present their reasons in U.S. District Court why they should not be prevented from interfering with sale of the club to Milwaukee interests.

Last Thursday, Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., which owns the Pilots, petitioned the federal court to order the sale under the Bankruptcy Act.

William Walsh, representing Pacific Northwest Sports, said the Pilots owner would be destroyed if the team cannot be sold and therefore, he said, Seattle still would have no major league baseball. He said the league club owners are trying to recover their original investment by trying to sell the Pilots for $10.8 million.

During Monday's session in Superior Court, testimony showed the current owners of the Pilots would profit by $1 million by sale of the team to Milwaukee, and that a contract for such a sale was signed one day before a league meeting was scheduled in Tampa, Fla., during which the transfer was to have been voted upon.

Miffin said that as far as he could see Seattle residents don't want the club, and if it remained in the city, ticket sales and attendance wouldn't measure up to the hopes of those interested.

The judge said any decision he might make would be outweighed by the one on the bankruptcy angle.

Alfred Schweppe, a Seattle lawyer who worked off the league's vote in Tampa by obtaining legal restraints there, and who filed the first request for a restraining order in Seattle, testified the Pilot owners reached an agreement on the sale to Milwaukee interests March 9, the day before the Tampa meeting.

Council Nixes Stadium Plan

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston City Council has dashed the Boston Patriots' hopes for a $16 million, 55,000-seat stadium in Neponset, near the Quincy line.

In any case, a spokesman said Mayor Kevin H. White would make no further effort for a stadium where the National Football League Patriots could play.

The mayor was said to consider the Neponset plan the only one he could support, since it was the only stadium proposal that could be carried out at no cost to the city.

TWO FOR IDEA
Only Councilors John E. Kerrigan and Frederick C. Langone voted for the Neponset plan under which the Boston Redevelopment Authority would have built the stadium with a bond issue, paying off the bonds over a 40-year period with state tax revenue from 12 additional days of horse racing at Suffolk Downs track.

White Sox Beaten By Minnesotans

By The Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins, who have been on nothing but a losing streak all spring, snapped another Monday behind the shaky hurling of Ron Perranoski.

The Twins, West Division champions of the American League last year, opened the 1970 spring exhibition campaign with a string of nine straight losses before winning Monday. Their five-game losing streak came to a halt in a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

And the staggering Twins, with a 2-14 spring mark, almost blew it in the ninth inning after getting superb one-hit pitching from rookie Bill Zepp over the first five innings.

After going ahead 4-3 on Charlie Manuel's run-scoring hit in the eighth, Perranoski, the star lefthanded reliever, who was rocked for five hits and one run in 1-3 innings, loaded the bases with only one out.

But the cool Twins' fireman got Chicago's Tom McGraw on a foul pop up and fired a third strike past Bill Melton to end the thriller. Tony Oliva slashed a homer for the Twins earlier.

In other action, the Pittsburgh Pirates slammed five home runs and three-hit pitching from big Bob Veale in a 15-7 rout of Kansas City. Veale, going seven innings, allowed two runs and his first walk of the spring. The Pirate sluggers were Willie Stargell, Gene Alley, Jerry May, John Jeter and Bill Mazeroski.

The New York Mets nipped St. Louis 4-3 on Cleon Jones' three-run inside-the-park homer, keying a four-run fourth inning but the Mets' B squad dropped a 4-3 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies as Chris Short stopped them on three hits in seven innings. Larry Hise's run-scoring double provided the winner for the Phils.

Washington got shutout pitching from Casey Cox, Dick Such and Darold Knowles and Frank Howard drove in a run with a single in the Senators 2-0 triumph over Baltimore.

Rookie John Mayberry's 500-foot homer off Sony Siebert lifted the Houston Astros to a 3-2 victory over Boston. Joe Pepitone had a run-scoring single for the Astros.

TRIGGERS RALLY
Rookie John Anderson stroked a run-scoring single, triggering a four-run sixth inning as the Cincinnati Reds moved to a 7-3 decision over Los Angeles.

Another rookie, Frank Baker of the New York Yankees, cracked a three-run seventh inning homer as the Yanks swept past Detroit 5-2.

Larry Brown knocked in all three Cleveland runs in the Indians 3-2 triumph over Chicago while Sam McDowell hurled seven strong innings for the winners. Brown slapped a two-run single in the second and a run-scoring double in the seventh.

San Diego jumped out to a 5-0 lead and held off Oakland 8-3 with Danny Coombs tossing four shutout innings for the Padres and Seattle exploded for four eighth inning runs in a 5-3 triumph over California. Jim Hicks clouted a homer for the Angels.

In the only night game, Montreal came from behind to stop Atlanta 10-7.

Orlando Cepeda cracked a three-run homer, triggering a six-run Braves third inning but the Expos went ahead with a three-run sixth keyed by Marv Staehle's triple. Staehle added two other hits while Rusty Staub smashed a homer for the Expos.

Goliad Lassies Trip Up Snyder
Goliad girl volleyball players defeated Snyder Lamar in both A and B encounters Monday at Snyder.

The A team won 10-14, 15-12, and 16-14 with Sharon Baker, Ruth Knight and Lesha Hurst doing outstanding serving and Candy Dodson sparkling as set.

Cindy Taylor distinguished herself with 10 consecutive points service as the B team won 13-1, 12-15, and 15-16. Jones was outstanding as set.

The teams will move over to the Rannels gym March 31 for a pair of games.

Don January Wins Playoff In Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Don January, his 1970 bankroll quadrupled by more than $25,000 won in Monday's playoff for the Greater Jacksonville Open golf title, heads for Miami and the next tournament today in one of his typical streaks.

"I can't play more than four or five weeks in a row," said the 40-year-old veteran who registered his 11th victory of all time and first since 1965. "I'll play straight through the Masters, and then go back to Dallas."

He has been doing it this way several years, and finishing high up among the week's money winners while playing only half as much as most other tour golfers.

He also is spending more time at home, where he and Billy Martindale, a former regular on the golf tour, are building the Royal Oak Country Club course. They expect to open it in July with more than 500 members.

January beat Dale Douglass in the playoff with three straight birdie putts on the last three holes. January shot three-under-par 69 on the 6,943-yard HIDDEN Hills course, while Douglass matched par 72.

Earl Rudder, Hero Of Normandy, Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Earl Rudder, 59, president of Texas A&M University System and an officer who led the D-Day charge across the Normandy beaches in World War II, died Monday.

Rudder suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Feb. 5 although the diagnosis at first indicated a heart attack. He was moved from College Station, main campus of Texas A&M, to a Houston hospital.

The Normandy hero died at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital at 5:10 p.m. but news of his death was held up nearly three hours while members of his family were notified. The family requested this procedure.

Rudder was a true hero of the last worldwide conflict. Then a lieutenant colonel, he organized and trained the 2nd Ranger Battalion and personally led it in scaling the 100-foot cliffs under heavy enemy fire.

He suffered two wounds in the engagement but continued to lead the men. The battalion suffered 50 per cent casualties.

Gen. Omar Bradley, then commander of U.S. forces in Europe, commented, "No soldier in my command has ever been wished a more difficult task than that which befell the 34-year-old commander of this Ranger force."

The future university head also led the 109th Infantry Regiment which played a major part in repulsing the Germans in the Battle of the Bulge.

Rudder continued as an Army reserve officer while in civilian pursuits and retired as a major general in 1967 after 35 years' service.

His decorations included the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit, Silver Star, Bronze Star with oak leaf cluster, Purple Heart with oak leaf cluster, French Legion of Honor with Croix de Guerre and Palm and Belgian Order of Leopold with Croix de Guerre and Palm.

But Rudder appeared proud of the fact that A&M underwent no student disorders as had other colleges in recent years, although one occurred shortly after World War II before he became president.

He returned from the wars to the calm life of businessman and mayor of Brady, Tex., but his peace was short-lived. Officials called on him in 1955 to straighten out the General Land Office whose chief, Bascom Giles, had been ousted and was on his way to prison.

That same year Rudder took over command of the 90th "Texas Own" Infantry Reserve Division.

He served one and a half years as vice president of A&M, became president in July of 1959 and was named president of the farflung system in September of 1965.

When he became president of the college, it had 7,527 students. Now it is co-educational, attracting 14,000 students from all states and 75 foreign countries.

The university reached into research and graduate studies in a major development and doubled the value of its buildings after he assumed leadership.

The A&M system Rudder headed includes the university, Tarleton State College, Prairie View A&M College, the Texas Forestry Service, the Texas Maritime Academy and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rudder was outspoken in his distaste for students and others causing disturbances. A year ago he warned any potential troublemakers with aims on A&M:

"They will have a hell of a fight. And this pot-bellied president will be in the front ranks leading it."

Rudder was a native of Eden, Tex., almost in the center of the state. He attended Tarleton State College and transferred to A&M in 1930 and lettered in football.

He received numerous honors, including a doctor of laws degree from Baylor University. Former President Lyndon B. Johnson named him to the board of Visitors (Trustees) of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, James E. Rudder Jr. of Oklahoma City and Robert Rudder of College Station; and three daughters, Mrs. M. M. Walton of Midland, Mich.; Jane Rudder of Hearne and Linda Rudder, a student at the University of Texas in Austin.

Bad Driver To Be Heard

DALLAS (AP) — The voice of the bad driver will be heard in the legislature and must be drowned out by those who want strong traffic laws, Gov. Preston Smith said today.

He spoke to the annual Texas Safety Conference.

Tightening driver license requirements will anger a lot of people "unable to handle a motor vehicle safely" and stronger laws against drunken drivers "will, of necessity, displace these same chronic alcoholics," the governor said.

"It should be apparent, from what I have just said, that improvements in traffic safety laws and procedures are, by their very nature, restrictive and will personally and adversely affect unsafe drivers. In spite of the fact that such changes are for the benefit of the vast majority of Texans, the grounded minority will yell loud and long.

"If there is not a countering groundswell of support from the majority of Texans who benefit from improved laws and practices, the voice of the offenders will be heard and listened to by people, by leaders, by legislators whose support we must have if we are to improve the Texas traffic situation."

Smith said a medical review board has been set up to examine the physical standards to be required of licensed drivers.

"As a result of this review, unfit and dangerous drivers will be removed from the streets and highways," he said.

Members of the firefighting subcommittee of the Governmental Economy Task Force Monday heard weekly reports, and pushed on in their effort for more information.

Ted Groebel reported a letter had been received from the State Fire Commission, advising the group on the areas that have fire fighting districts and mutual aid agreements between cities and counties. Ed Holland agreed to write these areas for information.

Max Moore produced a Howard County map, showing the locations of all fire stations, water lines, and population figures. Glenn Cootes reported on the financial outlook by the city and county for firefighting.

The panel decided to await the reports from other areas before meeting with city and county officials to get their opinions on the firefighting problem.

She Builds Better Mouse

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Beatrice Mintz has built a better mouse. Dr. Mintz is a cancer researcher and her new kind of mouse is a "mosaic mouse," one with four parents.

So far Dr. Mintz has bred more than 1,000 mosaic mice, each one with two mothers and two fathers.

And so far, she said, the multiple parentage hasn't resulted in any unusual generation gap—all the offspring of the mosaic mice are normal.

Dr. Mintz, a senior member of the Institute for Cancer Research in Philadelphia, said Monday that mosaic mice are better for studying genetic diseases than mice with the normal complement of parents.

Here's how she does it: Two fertilized mouse eggs, each with its own set of parents, are allowed to divide a few times in their original mothers. Then the young embryos are removed from the original mothers and placed in a culture medium in the laboratory where they continue developing.

WOMEN OF NORTH VIETNAM — These are some of the women interviewed by Alma DeLuce during a recent visit to North Vietnam. Left to right are a doctor, a journalist, Hanoi Hannah, a soldier and a nurse.

90 POUNDS OF POWER

Gentle Tonkinese Beauties Emerge As Nation's Strength

EDITOR'S NOTE — Alma DeLuce and her husband Daniel, an assistant general manager of The Associated Press, have just returned from an 18-day visit in North Vietnam. Here is her report on the women of the North.

By ALMA DeLUCE

A little girl in North Vietnam knows exactly what will be stylish when she's 16 and 60. It will be the same as when she's 6.

A long-sleeved cotton blouse of any color, usually white. Worn over black cotton trousers. A conical straw hat. Open sandals.

She'll let her shiny, black hair grow very long, hanging straight down her back from a metal clasp at the neck.

If you know the musical "South Pacific" you already know her—Liat, the little Tonkinese beauty on the island of Bali Hai.

There's a Liat behind almost every store counter in Hanoi. And many like her in the green countryside, carrying vegetables down the road in baskets slung from a bamboo pole. Small, soft-voiced, gentle and shy. These are characteristics of Vietnamese girls, even those serving the army, militia and self-defense corps. Weighing in at 90 pounds, they can carry burdens that would bring a stevedore to his knees.

Girls begin early to carry their share of family responsibilities, usually a younger brother or sister. Farmers hope their first child will be a girl. Then she can raise the younger children while mother works in the field.

The loudest voice I heard in a thousand miles of travel belonged to a 4 year old, whose 7-year-old sister unexpectedly deserted him at his own hedge and ran off to borrow a book from a neighbor. His outraged shouts could be heard through two clumps of bamboo. A current popular song tells of a farmer's wife who urges her husband to take up arms and fight the enemy. In rough translation, the words are: "Do not worry about me and the children. I will grow the rice and do your work as well as my own. When the enemy has been driven away, I will welcome you home again. You will see how well the fields have been kept."

To be a farmer's wife is not easy. She rises before dawn to prepare the first of three family meals: meat, fish, vegetables and rice. When times are bad, there will be only rice, perhaps with vegetables from the garden.

At midday, a daughter will carry food to her parents working in the flooded paddies. The last meal of the day is after dark, served in bowls on a long wooden table. The only source of light is the yellow glow of a tiny kerosene lantern.

Farmers' daughters, who never used a sewing machine, have found themselves learning to fire rifles, load machine guns, and aim antiaircraft artillery. A new generation has also learned to operate and repair Jeeps, diesel trucks, steam rollers, and bulldozers.

The most impressive personality I met was Tuong Thi Yen, woman chairman of the fishing cooperative of Nhan Trach village. Her husband leads a fishing team. They are expecting their first child.

She related with pride that during four years of bombings, the tonnage of fish caught increased annually in her village. She said, "If we were bombed by day, we would fish at night. If we were bombed at night, we would fish by day. If we were bombed by day and night, we would fish regardless."

The fishermen lived in shelters in the dunes. To save their boats, when not in use in the Gulf of Tonkin, they learned to fill them with sand ballast until they sank. It meant the extra work of floating, but it spared them from bombing.

Ngo Dien, Foreign Ministry press chief, told me: "Women are very important to our nation. They have earned respect because they do whatever is needed."

"Even when not being attacked by enemies, our people have always lived on the edge of disaster. Some of our dikes are a thousand years old. Still we have floods. Then women are asked to work as hard as men. Our people learned long ago that every family in the village must help to save the dikes, or be wiped out. So during crises, we work together easily."

PSA Holds Style Show Saturday

A spring sports wear style show and dinner was presented by Texas Delta Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Alpha Saturday at Cosden Country Club for the Permian Basin Assembly. Guests were from the Midland, Odessa Chapter.

The style show featured mostly fashions for children and teenagers. Mrs. Johnnie Winham was in charge of the program with Mrs. A. A. Wadley and Mrs. John Sullivan assisting. Mrs. Ernest Bauch was in charge of the guest register. The Rev. Leo K. Gee led the invocation.

Fashions from Gibbs & Weeks, Tot 'N Teen, Caudill's Dress Shop and J&K Shoe Store shoes were modeled by Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, Carol Morehead, Kay Morehead, Jan Morehead, Suzanne Johnson, Pam Shifflett, Ginger Gee, Kelly Gee, Richard Moren, Mitchell Johnson, Pamela Parker, Eddie Moren, Riley Faulkner, Sharon Swim, Robert Wilbanks, LaShara Shanks, John Weeks and Douglas Johnson.

The next meeting will be April 2 with the installation of new officers at the home of Mrs. W. E. Moren, 1301 11th Place.

Mu Zeta Holds Ritual Of Jewels

The Ritual of Jewels was held by Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Monday at the home of Mrs. Robert Knight, Sterling City Route.

Participating in the ritual were Mrs. Jack Hallett, Mrs. Tom Rutledge, Mrs. Rex Goff, Mrs. Tom Warren and Mrs. Joseph Dobry. The transferee ritual was held for Mrs. Dobry who recently moved here from Wichita Falls.

Punch and petits fours were served from a table centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and sweetheart roses. Two candles flanked the centerpiece, and gold appointments were used. The next meeting will be April 6.

Talks On Making Burlap Flowers

How to make burlap flowers was demonstrated by Mrs. Don Wiley, guest speaker at the Howard County Young Homemakers meeting Monday in Coahoma High School. Members held a potluck supper and elected a new treasurer, Mrs. R. L. Coates.

Guests were Mrs. Gene Simpkins and Mrs. Bob Merrick. The next meeting will be April 27 in Big Spring. Making funeral arrangements will be discussed by a guest speaker.

School Children Seed Flower Beds

Children at Moss Special Education School planted flower beds at the school Monday with the supervision of the Oasis Garden Club. Each month the club provides a gardening project for the children. Club members assisting Monday were Mrs. M. E. Giesekeing, Mrs. M. C. Stulting, Mrs. Tom Evans and Mrs. Alton Marwitz.

New Officers Elected

New officers were elected Monday during a model meeting of Xi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at the home of Mrs. Leslie Caperton, 2704 Carol.

Mrs. James Fuller was hostess, and Mrs. Jack Blissard was cohostess. Mrs. Caperton was given the mizpah disc and president's gavel guard as outgoing president. She is moving to San Angelo.

New officers are Miss Beverlylyn Jones, president; Mrs. James Fuller, vice president; Mrs. Charles Tuttle, recording secretary; Mrs. Jack Blissard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wade Choate, treasurer; and Mrs. Roy Granberry and Mrs. Oscar Johnson, city council representatives. They will be installed in May.

Mrs. Dean Walton gave a program observing National Health Week. It concerned open heart surgery she underwent last October in Houston, and she illustrated her talk with pictures of the heart and its valves.

Five members of Beta Omicron Chapter were guests at the meeting. They were Mrs. Gene Adams, Mrs. Don Statham, Mrs. Joe Bond, and Mrs. Billy McDonald and Mrs. Monroe Casey.

The next meeting will be April 13 in the home of Mrs. Johnson, 1202 Pennsylvania.

A LOVELIER YOU Spotlight Is Swinging To Fine Accessories

By MARY SUE MILLER

Once bit players on the fashion scene, accessories now achieve starring roles. To the eclipse of a dress, let's say. Excellent designs in those dire necessities — jewelry, handbags and shoes — foretell a new crop of starlets.

Here are some brief program notes just to fill you in: Jewelry plays many parts. There is body jewelry — see-through vests of beads, throat collars, wrist cuffs, skirts — that dates the action back to Pericles or ahead to the moon. Circa 1930 comes on with the "Order of the Superstar" — a bandolier of pearls with a medallion of gems on the left hip. Of course, if this kind of drama fails to grip you, try a pearl choker or a cameo. Real ones are having a big revival.

Bags? They come snaky in python-grained calf with straps that snug the shoulder. (No swingers this go-round.) They come in buttery leathers and long shapes to sling from your belt. (No hands!) They come in the classic Chanel tradition, updated in crunched patent. (So right!)

Shoes forsake the brute look. Even Weejuns, another beloved classic, appear in anemone colors with delicate hardware. By day, the "go" is thin platforms and wedges; round toes, and generally higher heels with some chunk. At any hour there is no limit to the use of sandals and straps. For evening discover jeweled platforms and feathered heels a la Achilles.

Watch this column for the rest of the cast: stockings, scarves, gloves, belts, Shirtsinis. Coming! LIGHTER, LOVELIER Here's a painless way for teens and adults to reduce! Just send for my booklet, "Leaner, Lighter and Lovelier." It includes menus for delicious meals and snacks; calorie counter and nutrition chart; diet shortcuts; spot reducers. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, envelope and 25 cents in coin.
