'US AND OUR SHADOWS' — Members of the Arizona State University Kaydettes appear to be competing against their shadows as they marched in Saturday's Governor of Arizona Drill Meet. The young women won the annual competition which is said to be the largest men's and women's military precision and trick drill competition in the Southwest.

Political Patronage Jobs Double

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, has more than doubled the number of political patronage jobs in his department at an estimated cost to the taxpayer of $1.2 million a year.

The department lists 145 schedule C or non-civil service jobs in the office of the secretary as of last month. There were 59 such slots when Wilbur Cohen left as secretary the year before.

"Certainly in times of infusion of new personalities, new personnel, our department would probably rank as one of the highest in new people coming aboard in schedule C and in the other policy-making slots as you look across the spectrum of agencies," Finch said in recent testimony to the House Appropriations Committee.

Some 24 of the 86 new political jobs created by the Republicans are vacant. Department officials, who expect to fill all the vacancies soon, estimate the average salary for each new post at $14,000 a year.

Enemy Offensive In Its 13th Day

Taking Aim At Pushers

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said today the primary target of drug law enforcement should be elimination of pushers.

He spoke at a narcotics seminar at state police headquarters.

"In law enforcement and prosecution, it is clear to me, our primary obligation is to rid our society of the pushers — those who traffic in narcotics for profit, those who subsist on the weaknesses of our citizens," Smith said.

The governor said that in Texas' efforts to curb drug abuse, "We must — for the good of our state and our people — divorce ourselves from politics and uninformed opinions and enter into a world of reality and reason."

NEW YORK (AP) — The Newspaper Guild has broken off talks with the New York Post and called a strike for 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Stormy Weather Socks Midsection

By The Associated Press

A sprawling storm system unleashed a variety of adverse weather on the eastern two-thirds of the nation today and scattered snow and rain from the Plains to the Southeast.

Strong winds swept snow across Minnesota and the Dakotas to Nebraska and the northern Rockies.

Snow depths of more than a foot were common in South Dakota, where a two-inch snowfall in Aberdeen brought the total accumulation on the ground to 14 inches.

East of the snowbelt, rain soaked the Midwest and a line of thunderstorms developed south of the Great Lakes to the Tennessee Valley. Showers dotted the Southeast.

Several persons in the Decatur area of east central Illinois were injured Sunday when high winds overturned trailers and knocked down trees and power lines. Some of the injured were reported in serious condition.

A possible tornado unroofed a building near Kilduff in central Iowa.

Travelers warnings of high winds were issued today for Nebraska and Kansas.

Large hail and winds up to 60 miles per hour hit Memphis, Tenn., Sunday. Hail the size of golf balls was reported in the outskirts of St. Louis. Nearly an inch of rain soaked Paducah, Ky., in an hour, accompanied by winds peaking at about 50 miles per hour.

Wind gusts to 67 miles per hour lashed Imperial in southwestern Nebraska Sunday.

Meanwhile, fair weather prevailed over the East and the southern edge of the country. Skies over the West were partly cloudy and temperatures were mostly seasonal.

Still Looking For Robin Hoods

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — The sheriff of Nottingham is still looking for Robin Hood.

In fact, he's looking for five, the sheriff's office announced today, any five American citizens, male or female, bearing the name of England's legendary bandit who robbed the rich to help the poor.

The first five who send their birth certificates and 100-word letters on why they would like to visit Robin's old stomping grounds will be invited to the Nottingham Festival starting July 11, Sheriff Leonard Whitehouse said.

Importing the American Robins is a promotion gimmick to help launch Britain's newest festival of drama, music and assorted culture. Since it is being held in Robin Hood territory, the festival will also include an international archery tournament.

ATTEMPT TO KEEP SCHOOL SYSTEM RUNNING

Los Angeles Teachers Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teachers formed picket lines outside schools throughout Los Angeles today in the first day of a strike called by a union which lists 22,000 of the district's 25,000 teachers as members.

Supt. Robert Kelly said all possible classes would be kept open with non-strikers, 2,000 substitute teachers and supervisors.

The Los Angeles school system is second only to New York City's in total enrollment. It has 616 schools and 653,000 students.

Robert Ransom, president of the United Teachers of Los Angeles, the striking union, urged Kelly to close the schools.

"Poor education is worth less than no education at all," Ransom told newsmen Sunday. "It is better to close down the system and hope the public comes to our aid. My hope is that the parents and taxpayers will rally behind the UTLA to pressure the state legislature to give the district more money."

The union and the district agree that only the state can provide the money necessary to meet even part of the teachers' demands for more pay, smaller classes, class aides and such improvements as carpeting, air conditioning and soundproofing.

"I don't think the teachers are so much interested in dollars as in improving the school system," Ransom said.

Union leaders said when futile 11th-hour negotiations ended Friday that thousands of teachers would stay out until the end of the school year if necessary. But some teachers told newsmen they expected to stay out only a few days to demonstrate their dissatisfaction.

On April 4 the teachers rejected an offer of a 5 per cent increase over the present annual salary range of $7,320 to $13,650. The district said it faced a $40 million deficit already and would need half a billion dollars to meet all the demands.

About 12,000 of the 18,000 teachers who cast ballots last week voted to strike. The union, backed by several labor organizations, the American Federation of Teachers and the National Education Association, offered strikers interest-free loans of up to $1,000.

State legislators say they can't act immediately to ease the district's financial crisis because a proposition on the June 2 primary ballot leaves the next move up to the voters. The proposition would raise the state's share of school costs from the present 35 per cent to 50 per cent.

Space Odyssey Still On Target

Warplanes Raid Nile Delta Today

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes raided the Nile Delta today for the first time in five days, hitting an area southwest of Cairo and another in the northeast part of the delta, the Israeli military command announced.

A spokesman said all planes returned safely after hitting military targets about 25 miles southwest of Cairo and at El Manzala, on the shore of Lake Manzala 12 miles southwest of Port Said.

Israel's air force had not been beyond the Suez Canal since last Wednesday, when Egypt claimed that 36 Egyptian schoolchildren were killed in a raid on a village in the northeast delta. Israel said only military targets were hit, and if any schoolchildren were casualties, it was because the Egyptians had them in a military area.

The Israeli command also reported that one of its soldiers was killed in artillery exchanges between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the southern sector of the Suez Canal.

American sources in Cairo said the U.S. State Department's top man for the Middle East, Asst. Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, had a "cordial" meeting with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser Sunday and that each explained his government's policies "in depth."

It was the first high-level official American contact with Nasser since Sisco's predecessor, Lucius Battle, visited Cairo in the last days of the Johnson administration. Sisco will also visit Israel, Jordan and Lebanon, then meet U.S. ambassadors in the Middle East in Tehran.

Judge Grants Continuance In Land Case

KAUFMAN, Tex. (AP)—Dist. Judge Thomas Crofts granted a motion for continuance today in a suit involving State Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall.

Plaintiffs who filed the suit seek to force an 84-year-old woman to sell them 184 acres of land adjacent to a controversial interchange being built near the junction of Interstate 20 and U.S. 80 some four miles west of Terrell.

Jack Morgan, lawyer for plaintiffs Hall, Rufus Musser of Terrell and Alex Blakeley of Dallas, told Crofts he needed the continuance because of recent newspaper articles regarding the highway project.

The defendant in the action is Mrs. Willie Scott. She claims she was, in effect, induced into signing a purchase option that would allow Musser to buy her land for $91,500.

Musser initiated the suit to force Mrs. Scott to honor the option and thereby let him buy the land.

BAREFOOT SPACE SON — Still in his pajamas and in bare feet, little four-year-old Jeffrey Lovell, son of Apollo 13 Moon Mission Commander James Lovell, hides behind the morning newspaper which he ran out to obtain at his home near the Space Center at Houston. His father and two fellow crewmen, meanwhile, continued their flight to the moon with all systems functioning okay.

Astronaut Forgot To File Tax Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Like many another American, John L. Swigert Jr. put off filing his income tax.

As a bachelor earning $20,385 a year the reason might have been just a delay in paying the large chunk of money due and, anyway, he was busy helping friends prepare for a long trip. April 15, after all, was still several days away.

But at the last minute something happened to make one friend miss the trip and Swigert went instead.

He went so fast, that not only did the income tax slip his mind, he also forgot to take a card that outlined some very important plans for the trip.

Then, on Sunday, came the revelation. It was akin to the situation of many a traveler who remembers, halfway to the seashore, that he left his wallet on the kitchen table.

By this time he was halfway to the moon on Apollo 13.

Somewhat sheepishly, Swigert asked if he could have some flight plan changes read up to him.

"I think that I forgot and left that card back during the suiting," he said. "I left it in the suit room."

Later, Swigert and the other two astronauts were having the day's news read to them when came an item that began: "Today's favorite pastime across the U.S. . . ."

Capsule communicator Joseph Kerwin reading the item, stopped and said: "Oh, oh, have you guys filed your income tax yet?"

It was one of those light remarks that always pass between ground and spacecraft to break the monotony of the interminable numbers that are passed verbally back and forth.

"How do I apply for an extension?" said Swigert, suddenly alert. There was a lot of laughter.

"Hey listen," said Swigert, "that's not funny. Things kinda happened real fast down there and I do need an extension. I didn't get mine filed."

More laughter.

Joke Backfires, Student Killed

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A practical joke backfired Sunday and caused death for a Calvin College student.

Police said Cornelis J. Dekker, 19, a sophomore from Burlington, Ontario, was electrocuted when he attempted to gain access to a 12,500-volt Consumers Power Co. transformer to shut off the lights in four girls' dormitories.

A companion, Ron Vought, a Grand Rapids sophomore, suffered third-degree burns and was hospitalized.

Rocket Burst To Shoot 'Em Into Orbit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Apollo 13's astronauts today sped quietly and flawlessly toward a Tuesday rendezvous with the moon while ground controllers tracked a rocket stage headed for an explosive impact on the lunar surface.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. retired early today for 10 hours rest. Mission Control planned to let them sleep past noon.

Medics reported that Lovell, the only one of the three wired for medical monitoring, slept soundly.

Mission Control also reported Apollo 13 was on such an accurate path a course correction planned tonight had been canceled.

Trailing about 900 miles behind Apollo 13 was the third stage of the Saturn 5 rocket that hoisted the astronauts away from planet earth Saturday.

Signals from the ground shifted the 61-foot stage to a collision course with the moon. Mission Control said tracking data today shows it will strike the surface about 8:10 p.m. (EST) Tuesday about 105 miles west of a seismometer left on the moon by the Apollo 12 astronauts in November.

That is about half an hour after Apollo 13 is to fire into moon orbit. The astronauts won't see the impact because they will be on the far side of the moon.

Seismic experts estimate the 15-ton stage will smash with a force equal to 11 tons of TNT, and that it will gouge a crater 100-120 feet deep. The resulting tremors, recorded by the seismometer, should tell scientists much about the internal structure of the moon.

The Apollo 12 spacemen deliberately crashed their lunar lander after they left the moon and the impact vibrated the seismometer a surprising 55 minutes, indicating the subsurface material is broken up. A similar explosion on earth would reverberate only a few minutes.

The Apollo 13 astronauts were relaxing on the three-day outward journey in preparation for four grueling days in the vicinity of the moon.

Preparation for Wednesday's lunar landing begins tonight when Lovell and Haise crawl through a connecting tunnel to inspect the lunar craft they call Aquarius.

They'll check communications, propulsion and other systems to make sure the spindly legged lander is ready for the difficult and dangerous descent to the moon's ancient Fra Mauro highlands Wednesday night.

In this rugged area on the eastern shore of the Ocean of Storms, Lovell and Haise plan to deploy a nuclear-powered science station, drill 10 feet beneath the lunar crust and trek nearly two miles on a geology field trip. They hope to gather rocks dating back some five billion years to the creation of the moon.

The astronauts zipped past the halfway mark—128,000 miles from both earth and moon—Sunday and fired a brief burst of their spacechip engine to shift course slightly.

SOLUTION TO HIS BATTLE LIES IN COURTS

Kirk Ends Personal Rule Of Schools

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk, after defying a federal judge for a week, has ended his personal rule of the Manatee County schools. He says the solution to his integration battle lies with the courts.

Kirk's move Sunday cleared the way for court-ordered racial balancing of 17,000 pupils in the county's schools. It also apparently purged him of contempt of a federal court and the threat of a $10,000 fine a day until he stopped blocking desegregation by busing.

The governor said he was ending his control of schools in Manatee, a Gulf Coast county just south of Tampa, because the U.S. Justice Department had agreed to help him seek modification of the plan that requires busing of an additional 2,600 pupils.

In Washington a Justice Department spokesman said the department had agreed only to seek more study of the desegregation plan ordered by U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Krentzman in Tampa.

"On tomorrow, Monday, we will and the department of Justice will intervene in this case, now on appeal, and they will assist our efforts to obtain a modification of the District Court's order," Kirk told a statewide television audience.

Kirk said the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals "has agreed to expedite the disposition of this case."

He added: "Basically, Florida and the Department of Justice are in agreement. We believe we must obey and carry out our constitutional mandates—we agree the solutions to our problems must lie in the duly constituted courts."

Kirk said he would reinstate Manatee School Supt. Jack Davidson and members of the county school board so they could prepare for implementation of Krentzman's order Tuesday.

In Bradenton, Davidson said he would attempt again to move the pupils and 107 teachers ordered transferred. But he remarked, "I'm still a bit confused."

Judge Krentzman, who found Kirk in contempt of his court last Saturday and imposed the $10,000-a-day fine, said the governor's withdrawal apparently clears him of the penalty.

Despite Kirk's claim that the Justice Department had promised to help him, a department spokesman in Washington said it "will not ask for any modification of the initial plan" ordered by Krentzman.

Health, Education and Welfare Dept. officials and assuming control himself, blocked implementation of the order.

Bridge Test

—CHARLES H. GOREN

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (© 1970; by The Chicago Tribune) ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠63 ♥Q962 ♦AKQ8 ♣742 The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♠ 1 ♣ A—Three hearts. An approach bid of two diamonds, while it might work out as well, is not our choice. The three heart bid describes a hand with four trumps and at least 13 supporting points. Having made this call we are relieved of obligation to take any further drastic step. Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠K7 ♥AK1053 ♦J873 The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♠ 1 ♣ A—Three hearts. On hands of only moderate strength where a take-out double has been made and you possess a good fit with partner's opening, best results are usually obtained by offering an immediate jump raise. This serves to disrupt enemy communications, but at the same time does not prevent partner from proceeding to game if he has a really good hand. Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠K2 ♥A632 ♦86542 ♣K2 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♠ 1 ♣ A—Two spades. A doubleton honor is deemed to be normal trump support for an overall. Nothing is to be gained by a bid of one no trump, for your hand is not exactly balanced and none of your strength is in the adverse bid suit. Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠KQ7 ♥AJ1063 ♦J6 ♣K87 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♠ 2 ♣ A—Three no trump. You have 14 high card points facing a partner who was able to make an overall at the two level. This should be enough to produce a game and in light of your spade holding, a nine trick contract should prove the easiest to fulfill. Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠QJ32 ♥109 ♦73 ♣Q753 The bidding has proceeded: East South West North 1 ♠ 1 ♣ 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♣ 3 ♣ Pass ? What do you bid now? A—Four spades. What appears to be a very indifferent holding to you should prove very welcome to a partner who could first double and then contract for nine tricks entirely on his own. Your trump holding plus the doubleton diamond should bring that total to 10. Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠KQ63 ♥865 ♦KJ4 ♣KQ9 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 3 ♣ Pass ? What do you bid now? A—Three hearts. This is perhaps somewhat abnormal, but you can think of no better call. If partner rebids three hearts, a return to three no trump is indicated. If he bids anything other than three no trump, then you should plan to play at a minor suit contract. Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠AQ8542 ♥KQ8 ♦KQ2 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ 2 ♣ Pass Pass ? What do you bid now? A—Three clubs. This hand possesses tremendous offensive possibilities despite partner's failure to take positive action. A jump rebid in spades is acceptable, but the cue bid is preferred because of your tolerance for a red suit contract should partner have great length in either of those suits. A reopening double is not recommended because of your lack of preparation for a "leave in."

QUIETS DEMONSTRATORS — A Rice University student, using a mobile public address system, tries to calm a group in front of the Allen Center on the school campus early today. The showdown came after students left the building in which they had been camping since Saturday after a warning that they faced suspension. About 200 persons who had been attending a speech by Chicago 7 member Abbie Hoffman, swarmed on the campus when they heard of the confrontation. The demonstration ended with only minor violence.

Near Riot Avoided On Campus At Rice

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A brief struggle the chain was ripped from his hand. The student security people were students appointed by the Rice Student Senate to keep order.

Finally, when the crowd was gradually moved away from the building by the student security people, the students inside came out.

Dean Weirum, who questioned about those who left the building, said they "invited themselves to leave. I was arrested."

The ruckus at Rice started two weeks ago when the controversial Hoffman was first invited to speak on campus by a student group. The administration first decided Hoffman could not speak on campus, then Acting President Frank E. Vandiver ruled Thursday that Hoffman could appear.

At the same time Vandiver also resigned his post, saying he was doing so because he had promised the public and the board of trustees he would not allow Hoffman to speak on campus.

The trustees met Thursday, said Hoffman could not appear on campus, and refused to accept Vandiver's resignation.

On Friday the trustees met again, and decided that the campus would be closed to all but Rice students, faculty and staff from 6 p.m. Friday until 7 a.m. today.

But despite the security measures, many non-students found it easy to walk on the open Rice campus Sunday night.

Says Bentsen Trying To Buy Valley Votes

By The Associated Press

The race for the U. S. Senate warmed up this past weekend as the candidates took to the speaker's stump in efforts to win votes in the May 2nd primaries.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough toured the Lower Rio Grande Valley, speaking in Brownsville, Mercedes and Laredo.

In Mercedes, Yarborough told an estimated 3,000 persons that his primary opponent, Lloyd Bentsen Jr., was a "proxy candidate trying to buy the voters of the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the State of Texas."

The crowd was about 2,000 less than at an earlier Bentsen rally, but observers noted there were more adults at the Yarborough event.

"This is the first time I've had to run against two Republicans — Bentsen in the primary and (U. S. Rep. George) Bush in the general election," Yarborough said.

Both Yarborough and Bentsen criticized President Nixon's method in seeking a new U. S. Supreme Court Justice.

Bentsen, speaking in Corpus Christi, said that Nixon is sincere about appointing a Southerner... he should examine his own performance... and do a better job next time."

Both Democrats mentioned that 12 members of Nixon's own party voted against the confirmation of G. Harold Carswell.

Following his appearance in Corpus Christi, Bentsen attended a "Mexican fiesta" at Lake Jackson in Brazoria County.

"I think it's an insult for a politician to claim he has a group of voters in his hip pocket," Bentsen said. "I don't believe my opponent owns the votes of the Mexican Americans as he has been claimed."

Bush, of Houston, was in his hometown Sunday, saying he was encouraged by the record voter registration in the state which totaled 4,150,645.

Bush announced that he had appointed Joe A. Garza of Houston, who worked in the Viva Kennedy-Johnson campaign of 1960, was chairman of the Tarrant County Mexican American organization supporting the congressman from Houston.

Bush's opponent in the Republican primary, Dr. Robert Morris of Plano, attended his usual coffees and receptions and kept to his steady stream of state- and federal-level work.

He said he is sending thousands of brochures to non-readers in Texas asking their support.

Hoffman spoke Sunday in Houston at both Hermann Park, across from the Rice Campus, and at the Continental Showcase, a ballroom in a mostly-black section of Houston.

About 500 persons heard Hoffman speak in the park and about 500 gathered at the ballroom.

Hoffman was speaking Sunday night when the word of the confrontation at Rice came. He had just promised a few minutes before that he would visit the Rice campus despite the ban against his appearing.

"We're going to Rice, definitely," he said. "I didn't come to Houston to stand on a night club stage," he said.

When the word came about the heating up on the Rice campus, there were loud cries from the youthful audience to march on the campus Hoffman grinned, paced around the stage for a few minutes, then said, "Do it."

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My fiance wants to be fully prepared for marriage so he is trying to get all the information possible beforehand. He has stacks of books on the subject, and he runs to every movie there is to get more information. I try to tell him that Adam and Eve didn't have any lessons and they managed, but he says so many marriages fail because of bungling and wrong techniques that he is fearful.

He says he is curious but not yellow. And I had to teach this man how to kiss! Do you think all this information is necessary? M.A.

DEAR M.A.: If he thinks it is, it is. DEAR ABBY: Our first baby (I'll call her "Pamela") was born so hopelessly retarded she had to be placed in an institution. We visited her a few times, but she didn't know us anyway, so we just put Pamela and everything about her out of our minds. At least we tried.

We live in a different neighborhood now, and no one here knows about Pamela, however, we are still in the same city, and plenty of people knew about her when she was born.

I worry night and day that someone who knows about Pamela will say something in front of our children. We've been able to protect them so far, but how can we be sure they will never find out?

I am a nervous wreck from worrying about this. Can you please say something to reassure me? I can't sign my name, and please don't mention my town. PAMELA'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: From what you are trying to "protect" your normal children? The knowledge that they have a retarded sister? You need to re-examine your thinking. Retarded children are neither uncommon nor "disgraceful." They appear in the best of families. I suggest that you tell your children about Pamela. And the sooner the better.

DEAR ABBY: There are lots of women like the one "MAD AT ME IN ALBUQUERQUE" resented for pushing ahead of her in the checkout line of a grocery store. But there are many courteous people who don't shove in ahead of others.

In fact, I cannot begin to count the times a woman (I am a man) has asked me to step ahead of her in line when I'm standing there with only one item in my hand. In such cases, I always have the exact change ready, and also help her unload her cart.

Which reminds me! Who was the merchandising genius who dreamed up the idea that the cashion should lean across the counter plus the customer's cart to struggle with a 15-pound ham, while a lard-rump dame just stands there looking into space? JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: Good question. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Ernest Gordon, chaplain of Princeton University, will officiate Thursday at funeral services for author John O'Hara in the university chapel.

O'Hara died of a heart attack in his sleep Saturday at his home of the past 21 years, Linebrook, on the outskirts of this college town. He was 65.

The writer came to fame at 29 with the publication of his first novel, "Appointment in Samarra." Some of his other better known works were "Butterfield 8," "Ten North Frederick" and "From the Terrace." The musical "Pal Joey" was developed from an O'Hara short story.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government economists say most automobile owners are just as well off buying a new car every two years as they are trying to keep the old bus running. "Assuming a normal amount of driving, keeping a car after it is two years old does save some money, but not very much," said a report by the Federal Highway Administration.

"The decision to trade in a car or keep it a while longer should be based on the owner's tastes and circumstances, rather than on any thought of increasing or decreasing his cents-per-mile owning and operating costs. As far as economy is concerned, he can make the decision" with a clear conscience.

The report showed the cost of keeping a car for 10 years has increased from 10.21 cents a mile about a year ago to 11.89 cents a mile this year.

The study found a big increase in insurance costs, which jumped from 1.41 cents a mile to 1.72 cents a mile, despite inclusion of less extensive coverage in this year's computations.

In a year-by-year breakdown of the cost of keeping a car—depreciating its purchase price over 10 years—the study found the first year costs 14.21 cents a mile and the second 11.27 cents.

The cost rises for the next two years to 12.51 cents a mile then gradually tapers off to 10.83 cents a mile in the 10th year.

The study, done on the basis

Cattle Plenty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattlemen say the plenty of beef consumer appetites remain high and prices remain firm. The government is out.

"We think, a dent, that the going to continue beef at a rate with a further increase in capita level of consumption," says C. W. McFadden, vice president of the National Cattlemen's Association.

Cattlemen Will Produce Plenty Of Beef If....

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattlemen say they will produce plenty of beef for expanding consumer appetites, but only if prices remain high and the federal government keeps its nose out.

"We think, and we're confident, that the cattle industry is going to continue to produce beef at a rate which would allow a further increase in the per capita level of consumption," says C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

"But we need to be sure to have the economic incentive to do it," McMillan said during an interview with ANCA leaders. "Of course, this is reflected in prices."

William D. Farr, ANCA president, whose feedlots near Greeley, Colo., turn out nearly 20,000 tons of quality beef annually, said today's cattle prices—generally the highest in many years—would provide such incentive.

The ANCA remarks followed a congressional committee action last Thursday which turned back a report calling for more federal supervision of the cattle business.

The report, written by a subcommittee headed by Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., urged Congress to set up a special commission to determine "the adequacy of the meat supply" at all marketing levels from ranches to supermarkets.

The report also said present U.S. meat import quota regulations were detrimental to consumers by restricting the amount of foreign beef allowed to come into this country.

Farr and other cattlemen opposed the recommendation and effectively lobbied last week against the report.

The Monagan report charged cattlemen have not kept pace with demand and that unless action is taken soon the nation could have a serious beef shortage by 1975.

Per capita beef consumption rose from about 60 pounds a year after World War II to 110 pounds last year, McMillan said, "and this wasn't done through any public utilities approach" or federal commission riding herd on the cattle business.

If left alone, he added, the cattle industry can do much to solve all farm problems and eventually lift the $4 billion a year in government payments now spent to keep 50 to 60 million crop acres from production.

Prices recently have been around $31 or $32 per hundredweight.

Farr said that considering present costs—from feed to taxes and interest—current prices would encourage gradual expansion of the nation's beef herd.

The cattle business is expanding gradually and consistently. But if government intervenes or if meat imports are expanded this could upset a delicate balance, Farr said.

Choice steers (those most in consumer demand) last June in Chicago brought about $35 per 100 pounds, the highest in 17

Texas A&M Sweetheart Next Year May Be Aggie

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The Texas A&M sweetheart next year may be an Aggie.

The university's student senate has approved a resolution giving A&M coeds the opportunity to compete with Texas Woman's University students for Aggie Sweetheart.

Since the sweetheart tradition was initiated in 1941, when the university was all-male, only TWU girls have been eligible.

A&M is now coeducational with a coed enrollment of 1,369 or 10 per cent of the student body.

Boxes Flattened

Bill Wilson, Luther, reported Sunday morning to Howard County Sheriff's officers that two rural mailboxes in the Luther community had been knocked down. Sheriff A. N. Standard said the boxes had been overturned and flattened out with a heavy object.

A Devotion For Today . . .

O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together. (Psalm 34:3)

PRAYER: Eternal God, loving Father of all men, make us conscious of Your presence and receptive to the promptings of the Holy Spirit. So may our lives reflect clearly the light of Your image in us and thus help others find the light of life. Through Christ our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father, who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the 'Upper Room')

Another Worry For The Demos

The Democratic leadership in the U.S. House of Representatives has been offered another vision of hell: The gentle reminder by a group of 19 liberal Democrats that if reforms are not instituted that they can vote with Republicans in January to name a Republican speaker.

Liberal Democrats in rebellion demand the election of a younger, vigorous and much more active speaker and revision of the rules which permit the seniority system to lay a dead hand on progressive legislation in the House. They may be bluffing, of course. They may be persuaded at the moment that they would take the drastic action of voting with Republicans to organize the House next January. They may change their minds.

This tactic was tried once before.

in 1960, by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, Mississippi Democrat. Embittered by a flood of civil rights measures, Whitten threatened to take 100 Southern Democrats with him and organize the House for Republicans. What happened thereafter is not a matter of record. Presumably some concessions were made, for Speaker Sam Rayburn was re-elected, and Democrats continued to control the House.

The extent of the danger of the threat from Democratic liberals is impossible to define at this time. It will depend on the results of the general elections in November. If Republicans pick up more seats (the present division is 245 Democrats and 190 Republicans), 19 liberal Democrats could indeed help organize a Republican House.

Hiking The Fare

Airline travelers are being asked to consider swallowing a bitter pill. One airline has asked the Federal Aviation Agency to approve a surcharge on transcontinental flights of the Boeing 747 jumbo jet. Others are considering asking for the right to levy the surcharge.

What in the world happened? The 747 was billed as the answer to the prayer of airlines: A plane that could carry more than twice as many passengers as the 707 and its variants at a cost one-third less in terms of passenger miles. Why then should the airlines be asking for a surcharge on fares for the 747, instead of considering a cut in fares because of new economies in operations?

The answer, it seems, is that no one thought that the new planes would require a 30 per cent increase in the cost of ground operations. Or if the thought did occur to someone, he neglected to mention it publicly.

This is something less than progress in the air transport industry. If passengers have to pay a surcharge, surely there will be little incentive to use the 747 over the 707, the 727, the DC9 or other jets. The savings in flight time will not be substantial, and would be overcome by greater delays in debarking and claiming of luggage.

If a supersonic passenger plane ever becomes commercially feasible, there is at least a suggestion from the example of the 747 that the surcharge may be so high as to make passengers shy away and make operations economically disastrous.

Rejection May Mean Independent Thrust

WASHINGTON — Notwithstanding the fact that Judge G. Harrold Carswell was not confirmed as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, he remains as a member of the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He was confirmed by the Senate for this post less than a year ago.

LIKEWISE, Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, whose nomination for the Supreme Court was rejected last November by the Senate, also continues as the Chief Judge of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

It may well be asked why two men, each of whom had been confirmed by the Senate to serve in the highest federal court next to the Supreme Court, can be turned down for promotion for reasons which have rarely if ever been cited before.

Judge Carswell has been called "mediocre." Several justices who have been appointed to the high court could have been called "mediocre" lawyers themselves, but they overcame this difficulty by hiring excellent law clerks who wrote most of their opinions. This seems to be an acceptable process. In other words, it is the final judgment of a justice — his ability to recognize the difference between right and wrong and between fairness and unfairness — and not necessarily his skill with the use of legal phrases that counts when he affixes his name to a decision of the court.

BOTH THE Haynsworth and Carswell cases leave the public rather puzzled. If, for instance, a speech made by Judge Carswell 22 years ago on the racial question can bar him from the Supreme Court, does this mean that the speeches on various topics made recently by some of the men now sitting on the bench should be examined to determine whether their views could affect their decisions?

Not many years ago when a majority of the Supreme Court issued some radical decisions giving new meanings to the constitution, there was widespread criticism. Today the test of whether an individual is capable of doing a good job on the Supreme Court apparently depends upon which political faction or ideological group happens to be expressing itself.

THERE IS no doubt that the prime consideration for a justice is integrity and also a readiness to adhere to the basic principles of the constitution which have for many decades past been interpreted by the Supreme Court by adherence to the fundamentals of the document itself. But evidently, unless a nominee is ready to join with the new left or with the liberals, he is deemed to be "mediocre."

The best judges in history have been those who faced each case courageously and without regard to any preconceived notions about what the constitution ought to be instead of what it really is.

PRESIDENT NIXON has said that he favors "strict constructionists" on the Supreme Court. He means by this that he would like the justices to construe the constitution as it's written and as the decisions of the past have long interpreted it. The arguments of the intellectuals or liberals are that the prescribed method of amending the constitution is too cumbersome and that it is much better to let the Supreme Court rewrite the document.

IF THE rejection of the Haynsworth and Carswell nominations implies that certain Republicans in Congress, who cast a substantial number of votes against President Nixon's nominees, are going to take a stand with the Democrats in favor of the kind of justices who will rewrite the constitution, not only will the Democratic party be divided but the Republican party as well. Independent movements will become a natural development, if only to express the protest of the silent majority who believe that the constitution should not be rewritten by the Supreme Court.

'I'VE CAUGHT A COLD BETWEEN MY SHOULDER BLADES'

John Cunniff

The Moral Side Of It

NEW YORK (AP) — Moral and social concerns will attain equal weight with financial considerations in the stock market of the future if the Council on Economic Priorities is successful.

Young and spirited, its members are confident they can influence the nation's corporations to be more concerned with human needs by providing factual information on their commitment to social, environmental and military issues.

This information, they feel, will enable socially concerned individuals and nonprofit groups such as churches, universities and foundations to exert influence through the power of their billions of dollars in stock holdings.

"Social accountability will be forthcoming if a concerned and informed public demands it," the council announces in its prospectus.

Many months in formation, the council has scheduled its first news conference for April 16 at its Washington headquarters.

The very idea is bound to bring snorts from some Wall Street oldtimers who hold to the belief that so long as a corporation makes money for its investors, the investors should not concern themselves further.

The council, however, has apparently won the friendship and allegiance of some young securities analysts, as well as educators, clergy and students. It welcomes an invitation to tell its story before the N.Y. Society of Securities Analysts.

"The general public, students, investors and corporations need objective analyses of the effectiveness of the activities of specific corporations in meeting human needs," the council states.

Almost every conceivable type of information relating to a company's profit situation is available, the council's founders claim, and for the easily understood reason that investors decline to buy into poorly run firms.

It feels that many investors, including nonprofit groups that own more than $26 billion of stock on the N.Y. Stock Exchange, would be able to exert their influence if more information were available.

The council's first project, a listing of corporations which hold antipersonnel weapons contracts, is to be the subject of the first news conference. From then on it hopes to pour out a steady supply of factual data.

Speaking Of Brides Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Some 600 million people throughout the world suffer from chronic headaches, often of mysterious origin. A new medical theory holds that a majority of such cases may result from overlooked neck injuries and often can be cured by putting the patient in traction.

Do you bite your fingernails? That may cause them to grow up to 20 per cent faster than normal, thus giving you still more to chew on.

No wonder smart businessmen are courting brides and teenagers. The average bride spends three times as much for her initial purchases of home furnishings as a typical U.S. family does in a year. As for teenagers, 17 per cent now own their own television sets, 75 per cent own radios, and 18 per cent own a tape recorder. Teenagers also account for 25 per cent of the $4 billion a year cosmetics industry.

Sp' king of brides again, few of them will start married life in a romantic cottage small by a waterfall. Some will move in with Mom and Dad, and 80 per cent will rent a housekeeping apartment.

Quotable rbitables: "A woman will almost never tell you the truth, while most men defendants will. Women have a furtive, concealing nature, and to some extent they're pathological liars who can conceive of situations that never existed." — Veteran defense lawyer James D. C. Murray.

The weather affects us all. Here's what happens, for example, as the barometer falls during a period of low air pressure: Most people are more forgetful, worker efficiency drops, lost-and-found departments are busier, banks clerks make more errors, and absenteeism climbs.

Despite the billions America spends on health, it is far from being the healthiest nation on earth. Thirteen countries have a lower infant mortality rate, and in 17 countries men live longer. Fewest newborn babies die in Sweden, and it is there also that life expectancy at birth is highest—71.6 years.

DT's Are Serious Business

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: A relative has recently suffered the DT's — delirium tremens. Just what are the DT's, physically? Do they necessarily imply chronic alcoholism, or can they be the result of one big overdone drinking spree?

Do they leave any physical scars of handicaps such as damage to liver, kidneys, or nervous system? Is one more likely to get the DT's on subsequent occasions, after the first one?—L.H.

Delirium tremens is a serious and violent nervous disorder seen occasionally in chronic drinkers.

Its cause appears to be related to a decrease in the blood alcohol level after a prolonged drinking bout — that is, the attack comes after the drinking has come to an end. It requires a lot of drinking over a substantial length of time, which would be sufficient to classify the individual as an alcoholic.

A single evening of heavy drinking is more likely to result in stuporous behavior and a hangover, not the DT's.

The DT's are a syndrome, an accumulation of symptoms, of a nervous rather than physical kind, hallucinations, usually of a frightening type, mental confusion, overactivity, tremors or "the shakes," inability to sleep. The victim, with his confused thinking and his hallucinations or "waking nightmares," can work himself into a terror-stricken frenzy and may even have to be physically restrained.

The duration of these symptoms depends on how long his drinking bout has continued and how much liquor he has consumed.

Death can even result from an attack of this condition if proper treatment (including strong sedation) is not instituted promptly.

However, it is usual for the patient to recover these days. It's not unusual or surprising for the victim to vow that he will never go through that again, but an alcoholic too often manages to forget it later and decide that "just one drink" isn't going to hurt him.

If the "one drink" becomes another long spree, it can end with the DT's again. And repeated and prolonged sprees can result in chronic brain damage, damage to the nervous system, and liver disease.

It's the alcohol rather than the DT's that does the damage, but the DT's imply a lot of alcohol.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any danger in hypnotism? My friends and I know a boy, 16, who practices it on us. We are also 16—K.B.

It can be dangerous; sometimes amateur hypnotists put people in a trance and can't get them out, and that means a stay in the hospital. If a person has some emotional problem, perhaps unknown to those around him, hypnotism can cause serious trouble. It has its place in the hands of experts.

I know hypnotism is used in stage shows and by amateurs, but it causes enough real trouble so I urge you to leave it alone.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If I have arthritis in my arm as the result of an accident, what are the chances that this will spread to other parts of my body?—M.P.

Assuming that this is osteoarthritis, which it no doubt is if an accident caused it, it will not spread. It is rheumatoid arthritis that can spread to other parts of the body.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as outlining effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

You Get Burglarized, You Go To Jail

One thing and another: In Chicago recently, a new resident of the city, fresh from Wisconsin, reported to police he and his two sons had recovered several firearms and detained one of three men they suspected of committing a burglary of their home.

The three were holding two rifles while standing in the alley back of the newcomers' residence.

The victim would have been better off reporting the burglary to the Southern Baptist Convention.

COMPLAINING PARTY was subsequently charged with illegal possession of firearms although he said he wasn't aware guns had to be registered in Illinois. The owner of the guns went to jail while the man they had apprehended subsequently had the charge lodged against him reduced to possessing stolen property.

The judge in the case ultimately decided that the young fellow apprehended by the family in the alley had actually done nothing wrong, after the jurist had been told a story that the accused was merely helping out two strangers. The judge, at length, dismissed the charge against the alleged thief.

THE OWNER of the guns, on the other hand, was the only one convicted of anything. He had to post $100 bond to even get out of jail, money he couldn't immediately raise.

In addition, the Chicago fuzz negated the idea he would ever get his firearms back.

The burglars, or someone who sympathized with them, apparently decided the complaining party needed to be taught a lesson. The following night, a brick was thrown through the windshield of the victim's car.

Judges who rule in such cases answer to no one outside of their conscience. And apparently many of them aren't troubled by such things. Perhaps this world would be a better place to live if they did.

NOT EVERYONE reasons snakeshunts benefit mankind.

Zoo curators are among the dissenters. Some women are paying as much as $250 for a pair of snakeskin boots but William R. Turner, curator of reptiles at the Los Angeles Zoo, decries this practice.

Turner maintains that the balance of nature in some areas could be upset if the practice continues.

"THIS IS short-sighted," Turner maintains. "Many of the snakeskins being imported into this country come from underdeveloped countries. Snakes eat rodents, and rodents are one of the chief threats to crops in these nations."

"The recent plague of mice in Australia, which resulted in sleeping children being nibbled, probably resulted from some natural control being moved." —TOMMY HART

New Proposals For Medicaid

WASHINGTON — Hearings before the Ways and Means Committee continue on a revamping of medicare and medicare.

Numerous witnesses have been before the committee, including representatives of the American Medical Association, hospital associations, insurance carriers, private physicians and others who given an appraisal of present operations of these programs and make recommendations for change.

AS HAS BEEN mentioned here before, the cost of medicare and medicare has skyrocketed, much of it due to inflation but other factors have influenced it also. The effort is to search out the difficulties in our health care system and seek ways of remedying the faults.

A doctor member of the Congress proposes that the federal government purchase annual insurance for each one qualified for medicare. He suggests that the federal government pay 85 per cent of the average $400 health care expense and the state assume the balance.

UNDER THIS SYSTEM, the cost to the federal government would be approximately $1 billion more a year but would not be subject to unexpected escalation as is the present case. The proposal would actually intend to eliminate medicare, which is a problem to the states, and to operate one program of medicare.

The cost to those who contribute to Social Security for insurance would be 4 per cent of their taxable earnings. All others with salaries or earnings would pay on their income tax return. It is estimated that receipts from this source would total roughly $2 billion annually which would go into a pool of funds from which the Social Security Administration would reimburse 90 per cent of medical expenses under a prescribed formula. Persons over 65, because they have medicare protection, would apply to the extent of those actually paid by the individual in excess of 25 per cent of his gross income.

THE PRESENT medicare program is heavily burdened with large administrative costs involving processing rather small claims. It takes about as much time and effort to work out a small claim as it does one for catastrophic or high cost illness.

The American Medical Association recommends a type of prepaid insurance shared by the federal government and the various states.

WHATEVER CHANGES may result from hearings now in progress there is no doubt about the need for some changes. Two very direct problems should be solved. The cost of health care continues to increase at a rate which will soon be beyond the reach of those who need it. The other is more efficiency at less cost to the government.

Since the federal government is in the health care business, along with the several states implementing medicare, it is a matter of trying to find better answers and to try to improve these programs before the country reaches a real crisis in health care for its citizens.

Lindsay Running For '72

WASHINGTON — Wherever a body looks, there's nothing but bad news. The latest dreary morsel is the flat pronouncement to this space by an aide of Sen. Charles Goodell (R-N.Y.) that New York Mayor John Lindsay privately has confirmed he will be a candidate for President in 1972.

LINDSAY, it is reported, told the ultra-liberal Goodell that he was "in the race to the finish," and that he hoped he could rely on Goodell's support. He'll probably get it too, despite the seeming paradox of the situation.

Lindsay's procedure will be to switch officially to the Democratic Party. It is his only possible move, since he could not expect to wrest the GOP nomination from President Nixon. But since Goodell's own Republicanism is as superficial as Lindsay's, the prince of Fun City should have no difficulty persuading Goodell to go along.

THERE ARE, of course, other candidates for the Democratic nomination, among them such regulars as Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Ed Muskie of Maine. But the Lindsay camp tends to dismiss Humphrey as shopworn and Muskie as too bland. As for Teddy Kennedy, it is of further significance that Steve Smith, manager of the family's political interests, has told Lindsay the family would be averse to a Lindsay candidacy providing Lindsay maintained an open mind about embracing Teddy as a running mate.

One obstacle to Lindsay's plans could be Arthur Goldberg, who's running for governor of New York. The former Supreme Court justice's campaign is stage-managed by Smith, and Goldberg has not denied he has presidential ambitions. But Goldberg's chances rest on his winning the Democratic primary June 23, and then beating Nelson Rockefeller.

MOREOVER, both the Kennedy and Lindsay factions cling to the theory that a candidate is needed who will appeal to the country's youth. Since Kennedy's chances have been damaged by Chappaquiddick, Lindsay is outstanding among the alternatives.

At any rate, Lindsay's people point out that their tiger's strategy will be aimed at the young. They smack their political lips over the likely enfranchisement of 18-year-olds, many of whom can be expected to vote with their glands. Meanwhile, Lindsay has emphasized his strategy by delivering three attacks within as many months on the Nixon administration and what he calls its "repressive" quality.

IN HIS LATEST such speech, delivered at Charter Day ceremonies at the University of California at Berkeley, Lindsay crossed a Rubicon of a sort. Lindsay efforts to "stifle dissent," Lindsay explicitly cast Nixon as the villain. "We see political leaders replacing moral imperatives with a Southern strategy," he said. These men, he added, are "now in power in this country." Those words could be taken as one way of resigning from the Republican Party.

BUT IT ALSO was a speech crammed with frightening innuendoes for the squares of Middle America. Lindsay poured gasoline on the fire by calling upon its students to speak out "loudly and clearly" against the "new repression." He proclaimed the "failure" of American institutions and announced that "all around us is a sense of disaffection and betrayal."

But for better or for worse, we'll have John Lindsay running for the White House in 1972.

Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. Has Home-Repair Needs

April, May and June are the biggest months for the do-it-yourself repairmen and Higginbotham-Bartlett is well prepared for all home repair needs from the roof to the plumbing.

Spring is one of the best times for painting and cleaning up homes. Higginbotham-Bartlett carries the finest quality Jones-Blair paints in every color for inside and outside.

To beautifully and make the home more comfortable, there is a grand selection of Armstrong linoleum and floor coverings, and Ozite indoor-outdoor carpeting.

No matter what room is "the room" to be redone this spring, Higginbotham-Bartlett has all the materials needed including wall panelling, acoustical ceilings, decorative molding, bath and kitchen fixtures and accessories.

All brands of materials handled by Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. have been tested in this area and have been stocked only when it was proved that they were durable in this part of West Texas.

The company carries only the best materials and prides itself on both the size and quality of its stock. Experienced personnel are employed, who can help a customer plan and finance his projects.

Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. is known for its knowledge of the "Title I" loan program. Therefore the company can assist the homeowner. If a loan is needed to finance the job, Higginbotham-Bartlett can work out all the details, and can help find skilled workmen for the job.

If additional rooms are needed or a new home desired, the company is in an excellent position to help. Also they carry good quality hardwoods in oak, mahogany, ash, birch, maple and accompanying veneers for furniture. For cabinet tops and other pieces, they have formica and plastic laminates.

Plumbing supplies include both plastic and metal piping. In fencing they have all types, plus metal posts and cedar posts. They have Johns-Manville roofing material and cedar shingles.

The many years this widely-known company has served this community is proof of the quality of the service it provides and the personalized interest it takes in the community and its residents.

The yard is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. A phone call to Higginbotham-Bartlett, 263-7441, will provide the homeowner with any information he may need to guide him in his plans to repair or improve his home.

Montgomery Ward Keeps Its Cool In Hot Summer

Now that hot weather is on the way, it would be wise to select a new air-conditioner before a heat wave hits and save yourself suffering in the sweltering summer heat.

Wards has received its new line of air-conditioners for 1970 and its salesmen are ready to help you with your cooling needs. The large capacity models, pictured above, are designed for large area cooling, yet many can be installed by the customer easily and quickly.

The air-conditioners are equipped with built-in expandable side panels which pull out to fill the window space on either side. Each unit dehumidifies while it cools. It circulates the air, shuts out outside noise, filters dust from the air and exhausts stale room air.

Wards also provides service contracts on each unit. Now you can enjoy an additional twelve month's protection after your original warranty expires. For just pennies a day, you're guaranteed unlimited parts and labor for one full year. Each Ward's unit is certified by the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers.

Now is also a good time to inspect the new 1970 model automatic, frostless refrigerators and the Ward's automatic gas ranges in the appliance department.

With Montgomery Ward's Signature double-oven range you can cook, bake and broil, all at the same time. The automatic "cook 'n warm" ovens cook for a pre-set time, then turns down to keep food warm until serving time. The handy waist-high broiling unit in the lower oven eliminates stooping and crawling to check on steaks or chops.

Another indispensably modern feature is the "burner with the brain" which automatically maintains the desired temperature. There will be no more messy, hard to clean up boilovers.

The easy to clean features include a lift-off cooktop, removable oven door. There are 27 brand new models from the compact 20 inch model which lights automatically and has a broiler, to the self-cleaning gas range with warming shelf.

The oven and broiler of the self-cleaning model clean automatically. Other features are heavy duty insulation, cooling "air wash" on both sides of the oven and a revolutionary new heat exchanger to keep heat inside the oven so your kitchen stays cooler. The built in warming shelf above the stove keeps foods piping hot until serving time.

Other models include built-in Teflon griddle, rotisserie, oven hood to remove cooking heat, greasy moisture and odors. The warming shelf model also features an exclusive exhaust system. Greasy cooking odors are removed by a quiet exhaust fan moving cook-top air through an aluminum-charcoal filtering system. For the latest innovations in all types of kitchen appliances, visit Montgomery Ward soon.

Letter From The Past!!!

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — A South African soldier wrote a letter to his sister after escaping from a prison camp in wartime Italy in 1943. It took 26 years for the letter to reach Mrs. Sophie Lowitt in Port Elizabeth.

Dated Dec. 1, 1943, the letter arrived 10 years after its writer's death. Mrs. Lowitt's brother, Harry Manning, was captured after the fall of Tobruk in the Western Desert, and was imprisoned at Terranova, Padova. He escaped and found shelter with a local priest, Don Giovanni Fortin. Until then, the only news his family had received of him was a Red Cross notification that he had been captured. Manning wrote his sister a letter and handed it to Fortin for forwarding.

Murder-Suicide On Busy Highway

CROWLEY, La. (AP) — A murder-suicide left a Houston man and a Houma, La. woman dead on Interstate 10 just west of here, authorities said Sunday.

Acadia Parish coroner identified the dead as Mrs. Patsey White Rogers, a mother of three, and Richard Arnold Box, 26, a native of Casper, Wyo.

A passenger in the car, Carol White, 17, of Tomball, and a sister of Mrs. Rogers, told sheriff's deputies that Box was sitting in the back seat when he pulled out a snub-nosed revolver and fired at Mrs. Rogers and then turned the gun on himself.

Miss White then fled the car and flagged down a passing motorist, deputies said.

A note, believed written by Box, was found in the car.

Sen. Yarborough May Feel Anti-Carswell Vote Heat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats Albert Gore of Tennessee and Ralph Yarborough of Texas may get the most heat because of their votes against G. Harold Carswell, but other senators up for re-election this year could feel a warm breeze or two.

This early opinion comes from politicians in several key states and from the senators themselves in the wake of last Wednesday's 51-45 Senate rejection of President Nixon's second try at appointing a Southern judge to the Supreme Court.

"Only time can tell," Gore said Sunday when asked what impact his anti-Carswell vote will have on his effort to win another term.

But he said his decisions against Carswell, and against Clement F. Haynsworth last fall, "were very hurtful to me."

Texas politicians believe Yarborough's vote against Carswell definitely will affect his current primary race with Lloyd Bentsen, who supported the nomination.

think the Supreme Court is a place to write laws rather than interpret them."

The Democratic primary winner probably will face another Carswell supporter in the general election, Rep. George Bush, a Houston Republican.

In Tennessee, Gore is expected to win the Aug. 6 Democratic primary and most likely will face Rep. William E. Brock in November.

Brock has criticized Gore's support of native Tennessee Abe Fortas, who was forced to resign from the high court under fire last year.

"Thus the senator," says Brock, "staunchly defended the virtues of liberal Justice Abe Fortas only to in turn condemn the 'indiscretion' of Judge Haynsworth and he now votes against Judge Carswell because 'his record looks bad.'"

But one Tennessee politician who backs Gore says the issue will have no effect whatsoever.

"By November, nobody will remember who the hell Carswell was," he said, asking he not be quoted by name.

Of the 35 Senate seats at stake in this year's election, 25 are being defended by Democrats.

the rest have Republican incumbents seeking a new term. Among these who could be troubled by the Carswell affair is Winston Prouty, R-Vt., who voted against the nomination.

Prouty faces what promises to be a fierce re-election struggle even though he's a Republican in a predominantly Republican state facing a liberal Democrat.

The Democrat, however, is former Gov. Philip H. Hoff, a 45-year-old Kennedy follower who in 1968 completed an unprecedented three terms in office as the state's first Democratic governor in more than a century.

Hoff fired off some anti-Carswell statements just before the key voting began last week and Prouty reportedly got a release from the administration to vote against Carswell as long as it didn't affect the outcome.

He voted against the nomination Wednesday but the outcome already was clear when the clerk reached his name.

"I don't think that the average voter judges a man on one vote or one issue," said Republican Gov. Dean C. Davis of Vermont, a thought echoed by most other observers who indicated Prouty's position will have no bearing on his re-election campaign at all.

well affair could have impact in Pennsylvania, where Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott is up for re-election.

Scott's defection was a key factor in the defeat of Haynsworth. He voted for Carswell but he appeared at times to be reluctant, leaving the GOP leadership chores to others.

Labor and Negro groups carry considerable clout in the swing cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. But Scott's soft approach may neutralize the issue despite the fact potential Democratic opponents have been using it and the state's NAACP leader says "we're not going to let Scott forget."

In North Dakota, Republicans, questioned at a state convention at Grand Forks Thursday, said the Carswell affair could become a factor against Democrat Quentin Burdick's re-election campaign, but not a major one.

Burdick's probable opponent, Congressman Thomas Kleppe, said Burdick's vote against Carswell would be a campaign issue "possibly a big one, depending to some degree on who the President nominates next."

Burdick, however, said if Kleppe mentions it, "I'll just remind him about the 13 moderate Republicans who opposed Carswell and see if he wants to take them on."

New Attacks On Two Towns In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops made new attacks Sunday on two towns along Highway One near the South Vietnamese border, Radio Phnom Penh announced.

The broadcast reported an attack on Prasaut, the fourth in the past week, and another on Kompong Trabek, 35 miles to the west, which has been the scene of fighting in the last two days.

Military sources reported earlier that the Cambodian troops had withdrawn to a point just west of Prasaut after fighting Saturday night. The Viet Cong then were reported on three sides of the town but had not entered it.

The Cambodian government has concentrated most of its forces in the area in Svay Rieng, the provincial capital almost midway between Prasaut and Kompong Trabek on Highway One. Refugees also have been flooding into the town.

Radio Phnom Penh reported attacks in two other areas—west and northeast of Svay Rieng—where the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese for years have moved freely back and forth across the border.

The broadcast said one assault was made on an outpost at Snuol, in eastern Cambodia adjoining War Zone C in South Vietnam and 85 miles north of Saigon. Another attack was reported on a post on the west bank of the Mekong River in Kandal province near the Plain of Reeds.

The government radio said both these attacks were made "with the active participation of Vietnamese residents" but gave no other details.

The charge was in a line with a government campaign to whip up sentiment against the 600,000 Vietnamese living in Cambodia.

Gen. Lon Nol's "salvation government" staged a massive nationalist rally in Phnom Penh Saturday, heavy with martial and anti-Vietnamese overtones. The rally was broadcast over national radio and television.

Groups Protesting Use Of Tax Money For War

WASHINGTON (AP) — While millions of Americans grumble quietly about paying income taxes, three peace groups are planning protests this week against using the tax money for war.

Starting today with a fast, including a "non-dinner" scheduled at Lafayette Park across from the White House, protest leaders say the three days before Wednesday's midnight deadline for filing tax returns will be filled with rallies, demonstrations and student strikes in more than 150 cities and on hundreds of college campuses.

The war protests were called by the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, the Vietnam Moratorium Committee and the Student Mobilization Committee. To end the war in Vietnam.

Protest leaders are planning rallies and demonstrations Wednesday to focus on the past and present use of tax money for war spending. They say they also want to show the relationship of the Vietnam war to inflation and social problems.

The taxpayer rallies in most cities, organizers said, would be held in front of or near Internal Revenue Service centers. They also plan "Boston Tea Party" demonstrations, the passing out of leaflets in shopping areas, and the circulation of petitions and antiwar literature.

Rallies are slated for such cities as Boston, New York, Baltimore, Newark, Knoxville, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Houston and Dallas. But national organizers also claimed many smaller cities and towns would be having demonstrations.

The Viet Nam Moratorium Committee says eight U.S. senators and 17 representatives have endorsed the taxpayer rallies. It also claimed endorsements from more than 300 student advisers.

The Student Mobilization Committee, which called a student strike for April 15, said it is unable to predict how many campuses it would hit, but one spokesman said "probably a couple of hundred." He said that for example the student governments of three Boston area colleges are supporting the strike.

In Philadelphia, the spokesman said, the public school board of education has agreed to allow programs dealing with war, to be organized by the students, in the junior and senior high schools.

The week's plans also call for attendance at stockholders meetings of three corporations, American Telephone and Telegraph at Cleveland and General Telephone at Tampa Wednesday and United Aircraft at Hartford, Conn., Tuesday.

The attendance is part of New Mobe's plan to attend April stockholders meetings of corporations which it says are connected with war production. New Mobe has said its people will speak against war spending.

But Mrs. Judy Blevins says a letter she received over the weekend proves her husband is alive.

"It was in his handwriting," Mrs. Blevins said from her home here. "I recognized it immediately. I was just absolutely thrilled."

She declined to discuss its contents except to say it indicated her husband was in good health.

Capt. Blevins, 31, a San Antonio native, was shot down Sept. 9, 1966.

Newsman informed Mrs. Blevins last week that he was one of 81 U.S. servicemen reported as confirmed prisoners of North Vietnam by the Committee of Liaison an anti-war group.

When told then that a letter was reported on its way, Mrs. Blevins said, "I would be overjoyed. Then I would know for sure if he is all right. His own writing would let me know for sure."

Capt. and Mrs. Blevins have three children. Their eighth wedding anniversary is May 28.

Dust Reported In West Texas

By The Associated Press

The state continued to be unperturbed for the most part by a slow moving cold front making its way to the coast today.

This morning the front paralleled the Gulf coast about 120 miles inland. Along the front and eastward there was considerable cloudiness and fog reported.

Clear skies covered the remainder of the state with some dust reported at Abilene and Big Spring. Lufkin and College Station reported early morning drizzle.

The temperatures remained mild except for a few Panhandle points. Dalhart had a morning low of 33 contrasted to a pleasant 73 at Brownsville in Lower Rio Grande Valley.

As the thermometer rose, the cloudiness and fog were expected to dissipate across the southern portions of the state resulting in a clear to partly cloudy day with mild temperatures.

Sergeant Kills Five Marines

SEOUL (AP) — A South Korean marine sergeant went berserk and killed five other marines including two officers, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Sgt. Pai Chong-hai, 27, opened fire with his M16 automatic rifle and threw a hand grenade as a group of marines were cleaning their weapons in their barracks on the western front.

Sgt. Pai turned his rifle on himself and put a bullet into his chest, but it did not kill him, the ministry said. He was found half a mile from the barracks and was taken to a hospital. The sergeant returned to Korea last July after a tour of duty in South Vietnam.

Conservation Urged By Forum Speakers

The urgency of conservation was detailed in a program given Friday afternoon for the Modern Woman's Forum with Mrs. W. E. Moran as leader.

Mrs. Moran based her talk "The South's Woodland Wealth" on an article from the National Geographic. Detailing the various kinds of trees grown in the different states and their commercial uses, Mrs. Moran also told of the beauty of the forests and their many flowering trees. She concluded by saying that scientists are continually finding new uses for wood.

The second speaker was Mrs. G. T. Adams who stressed state trees, concentrating on the pecan tree, long believed by Indians to be a manifestation of the Great Spirit. North American settlers, who highly valued the tree for its cooling shade, nourishing kernels and strong wood, adopted the Algonquian name "paccan," which later became "pecan."

Mrs. Hug Duncan spoke on "It's A Tree Country" telling how Americans, over the centuries, have used their forest resources to meet the changing needs of the times.

"Through the wonders of research, an endless array of new products have been made of wood," she said. "Continuing experiments in growing, harvesting and protecting trees bring about new ways of managing our forests to assure a lasting source of wood, water, recreation and wildlife.

"It is hoped that we will have a life-long interest in and constructive influence toward wise management of our forests for the good of all people."

She said there are more than 1,000 kinds of trees in the forests of the United States, but only 103 have any commercial value. There are 154 national forests within the United States, located in 41 states. These forests are owned by the government. There are 35 national parks, all administered by the National Park Service of the Department of Interior.

In conclusion, she said, "The miracle of tree growth has given us a poem, 'Trees,' by Joyce Kilmer."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. C. J. Moad, 702 1/2 N. Main, with Mrs. S. R. Nobles presiding and Mrs. J. P. Dodge giving the federation report.

A LOVELIER YOU Hats Seen In Styles Of Padres, Peasants

By MARY SUE MILLER
During the past winter, teen heads wore the majority of hats. Oh, milady had her status mink but Miss Teen made a fashion point with wild caps of none-such furs, crocheted tams and skull caps, witchy brims and cloches of felt.

Now stylists forecast girls will once more carry the day. New hats, along with most other items, spring from fountains of youth to create a kind of dressing for all ages. It's not hippie or thrift-shop or ragged. It is marked by imagination, dash, easy-wear and rightness.

New hats rightly fit the scene, the fashions and the face. Straws with wide brims and higher crowns are great with the slender, lean looks of long jackets, skinny jumps and mid-pants, slim shirt dresses. What's more, flattery is sure when a brim flips up on one side.

For casual knits, sporty fabrics and felts in small, soft shapes carry the easy-wear theme. And often can be finger-shaped to suit you. Snuggled turbans are sheer, flying scarves are naturals with soft, floating dresses — the volles, chiffons and jerseys. Here the key to flattery lies in the drape of the scarf. Just don't make a choker of it.

As for color, the naturals, pales and prints appeal like

Why There Is No One Here

NO NAME VILLAGE, Cambodia (AP) — "The Viet Cong came and took the Vietnamese villagers away from here, that's why there is no one here," the Cambodian captain said, snapping at the flies with his braided oxwhip.

His two companies of troops moved through the village on the Prek Trabek River where mostly Vietnamese had lived. They searched the small thatched huts, then put matches to the tinder-dry walls.

The captain, flicking his whip, said he didn't know the name of the village. None of his troops did either, and it really didn't matter. In their eyes all the Vietnamese villagers were Viet Cong.

One soldier, carrying a basket full of small items taken from a house, pointed at the river and chattered nervously. A body was drifting slowly downstream on its back. It was a Vietnamese man in civilian dress, and he appeared to be still alive although wounded.

The soldiers began to unlimber their AK47 rifles, but the man twitched convulsively and turned on his face. "Viet Cong, Viet Cong," the troops said, "I didn't waste a shot. The man had died."

The captain said there had been a battle in No Name Village earlier in the morning. Two Cambodian villagers who cautiously returned described in sign language how Viet Cong and Cambodian forces had clashed in the village. There were no casualties on the Cambodian side, however, and the Viet Cong withdrew to another village three miles downstream.

While some of the troops set the looted houses ablaze, others cautiously probed the numerous reinforced bunkers that the Vietnamese had built beneath their houses. The captain said the Viet Cong had tried to entrench themselves in the village by fighting from the bunkers.

Down a dusty wagon path which wound under leafy shade trees, the troops formed a skirmish line before a large Catholic church, the pride of the village. They set up a machine gun and fired repeated bursts through the closed wooden doors. Then the troops moved inside, sacked it and set it afire.

The roof collapsed in a roar and the life-size statues of the Virgin Mary and Joseph could be seen through the flames. The giggling soldiers rounded up chickens and ducks and tied them to their belts for the evening meal. One soldier led a pony, another had a cow in tow. Three pigs were shot, and the troops loaded the carcasses on a truck that also carried bicycles, bedding and foods from the small village store.

By noon, the village was gutted, and at least 70 houses were burned, the homes of Cambodians as well as Vietnamese, along with the mounds of straw that had been piled up to feed the cattle during the current dry season.

The Cambodian government's report of the operation Saturday said its forces at 5 a.m. Saturday launched a mopping operation about a mile south of Kompong Trabek, in Prey Veng Province.

"Helped by the complicity of Vietnamese residents," the communique said, "the Viet Cong—numbering about 50—hidden in the homes of the Vietnamese fired on Cambodian troops. Our troops killed seven Viet Cong, captured four clips of ammunition for Chinese-made assault rifles, and seized 16 bags of rice. The homes of the Vietnamese were set afire."

Guards Scoop Up Litter

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — More than 700 Texas Air National Guardsmen collected a mountain of litter along eight major streets Sunday, opening a statewide cleanup campaign proposed by the Texas adjutant general.

Officials estimated that the guardsmen, members of the 149th Tactical Fighter Group at Kelly Air Force Base here, scooped up more than 800 bushels of litter.

It kicked off Operation Clean and Green, proposed by Maj. Gen. Ross Ayers, Texas adjutant general.

Clean and Green is the National Guard's response to Gov. Preston Smith's challenge to Texans to do something positive about the increasing problem of litter along streets and highways.

ROCK CONCERT TURNS INTO DISTURBANCE - Dallas police confront a crowd in Lee Park yesterday after a disturbance between police and a crowd of youths estimated at about 5,000 erupted during a rock concert. Police tried to arrest three youths swimming in Turtle Creek across the park when the trouble began.

Patrol Cars Damaged, Bottle Hurlers Jailed

DALLAS (AP) - A wild, bottle-throwing melee broke out with police Sunday during an outdoor rock concert attended by some 5,000 young persons in Dallas' Lee Park.

Several police cars were damaged but the only injury reported was to police officer C.A. Rayerson, who was struck in the head by a bottle. He was treated and released at Parkland Hospital. Police estimated that at least 15 persons were arrested.

A witness said there were about three dozen arrests. Police said they had no immediate count of arrests.

A police car immobilized in the middle of Turtle Creek Boulevard caused a mammoth traffic jam which was compounded by Sunday sight-seers and curious spectators.

Police said the car had a flat tire and that someone had thrown the car keys into the park. A wrecker was called to haul away the car.

The incident began when officers attempted to arrest three youths swimming in Turtle Creek which runs through the park.

Officers were surrounded by the long-haired mob and police summoned help.

Some 30 to 35 squad cars arrived and police contained the jeering crowd in the park.

Mike Wimmer, who said he is co-chairman of the Dallas Peace Committee, told officers they should withdraw "or this is going to be a bad scene. They'll all cool it if they think you are leaving."

After police retreated, the crowds moved onto the creek bank where several hundred bared to the waist and dived into the brackish water.

Police had left the scene and there were no reported arrests for the mass swim, although police said swimming in the creek was what sparked the original incident.

The hippies were joined in the festivities by many picknick families and children.

Marijuana odors and the braless look for girls were in strong evidence among the Sunday revelers.

The beautiful, azalea-lined park, site each year of Dallas' azalea trail tours, was left strewn with beer bottles, paper and other debris.

The freighter prepared to unload her 1,750-ton cargo of bombs and ammunition, which she was carrying to U.S. forces in Thailand when the hijackers seized the ship March 16.

The hijackers tricked 24 crewmen overboard in a lifeboat and sailed into Sihanoukville, Cambodia, with 15 crewmen and the captain, Donald Swann. The crewmen from the lifeboat were picked up by a sister ship.

Tribute Paid Slain Count

BONN, Germany (AP) - The West German government paid tribute today to Count Karl von Spreti, its murdered ambassador to Guatemala, in ceremony in the Bundestag, the lower house of parliament.

While the ambassador's body lay in state in a closed coffin, Foreign Minister Walter Scheel declared in a eulogy that Von Spreti's murder by Guatemalan leftists was a "crime that cannot be justified by any political goal."

"He became the victim of people who assert that they are fighting for something better than the present conditions," Scheel said. "No one in the world who has even a spark of humanity left in him can hold to this belief after this infamous deed."

"Here died the victim of a political dispute in which he did not have even the smallest part, the representative of a profession which sees as its prime duty to work for peace, better cooperation between peoples for economic and social progress and for a secure future."

President Gustav Heinemann, Chancellor Willy Brandt and other top West German leaders attended the 35-minute ceremony along with members of Von Spreti's family and representatives of the diplomatic corps.

The ambassador, who was 63, will be buried Tuesday in his native Bavaria.

Ex-Green Beret Leader Says Yankees Using Pot

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) - Former Green Beret Col. Robert Rheault says American troops in Vietnam are using marijuana and "any commander who says he doesn't have a drug problem has his head in the sand."

Rheault, the former commander of the U.S. Special Forces in Vietnam, and seven other Green Berets were charged last July with the murder of a suspected Vietnamese double agent. The Army later dropped the charges. Rheault retired from the Army in October.

Breaking a five-month silence Sunday in an address at a Knights of Columbus meeting, Rheault said that "American atrocities do happen."

"Some people think the Japanese committed atrocities, that the Germans committed atrocities, that the Russians committed atrocities, but that Americans don't commit atrocities," he said. "Well, this just isn't so."

"Some of these troops are young, scared and inexperienced," he said. "Sometimes they get out of hand. They dehumanize the enemy. They forget the enemy is a human being."

Of his own case, Rheault said there is "nothing I would rather tell you than the true story of Nha Trang. But I can't do that. If I did, I would, as they say, 'blow the cover' of many clandestine operations in that area."

He said, however, that he did "nothing that I am ashamed of as a commander, as a soldier, or as a man."
