HOME, SWEET HOME FOR ASTRONAUTS

Splash Ends Perilous Trip

SEPARATING FOR RE-ENTRY — Drawings show stages of separation which Apollo 13 spacecraft will undergo to make re-entry into earth's atmosphere. In first stage, command module, and lunar module which contains vital oxygen supply, will detach from service module. Then cone-shaped command module with astronauts Lovell, Haise and Swigert, will jettison the lunar module and pursue its path through space to splashdown in the Pacific.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13 splashed down in the Pacific Ocean southeast of Samoa today, ending a perilous seven-day flight of astronauts James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr.

The prime recovery carrier, the USS Iwo Jima, and a cargo ship, the USS Hall, were in the area, along with rescue planes, to take the astronauts out of their capsule. Apollo 13's mission wound up early and without a moon landing because of an explosion on the service module Monday as the spacecraft was heading toward the moon.

As the astronauts jettisoned their service module earlier they reported, "There's one whole side of that spacecraft missing . . . it's a mess." But that damage, outside the command ship, would not affect their safe return to earth.

The damage was the result of the oxygen tank rupture that aborted the moon-landing mission Monday night and forced the astronauts to fight for survival with the resources of their lunar lander.

The separation of the service module came at the end of an hour of furious activity in which James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. turned on the electrical power in the command ship and fired a control jet to aim for an afternoon landing in the Pacific Ocean.

Used 'Push-Pull' Technique

The service module damage presented no problem to the astronauts' return to earth. Following the separation, Lovell said one whole panel, 22 feet long, and part of the engine bell were missing. "Looks like a lot of debris is just hanging off the side," Lovell said. "It's near the S-Band antenna."

The service module contained most of the long-life oxygen and electrical power for the Apollo 13 command ship. The explosion Monday night rendered the command vehicle useless until today when power was restored with batteries.

The astronauts discarded the service module to expose the command ship heat shield which was to protect them during the blazing re-entry through the atmosphere.

The spacemen used a tricky "push-pull" technique to separate the service module.

Lovell fired the lunar module jets to push the service section forward. Simultaneously, Swigert, in the command ship, fired explosive devices to effect separation. Lovell quickly reversed the lunar craft to back away so there would be no collision during re-entry later in the day.

The astronauts photographed the damage. The pictures could provide possible clues to the cause of the rupture.

'Right On The Money'

Earlier, Swigert slipped into the command ship cabin to start the batteries and oxygen system. These operate from a separate system and are designed for use during re-entry.

Lovell and Haise fired the lunar craft's small jets for 23 seconds to zero in on the landing site 610 miles southeast of Samoa in the Pacific.

"Right on the money," Mission Control said of the firing. Without the firing, Apollo 13 would have missed the target area by about 50 miles. There was no immediate word on how much the firing improved the accuracy.

At the time of the burn, Apollo 13 was 43,222 miles from earth, traveling 6,220 miles an hour.

Swigert activated three batteries and an oxygen supply used for the critical re-entry sequence that would carry the astronauts back to the safety of their home planet.

Waiting To Retrieve Them

The astronauts were on a near-perfect course that would slam them into the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific at 24,623 miles an hour.

Splashdown was set for 1:07 p.m. EST about 610 miles southeast of American Samoa.

Waiting to retrieve them was the helicopter carrier Iwo Jima. The weather forecast called for broken clouds at 2,000 feet, 10 miles visibility, four foot seas and 17-mile-per-hour winds, with a slight possibility of showers.

The spacemen began the complex preparations for re-entry when Swigert wiggled through a connecting tunnel from the lunar module, Aquarius, to the command ship, Odyssey, at 6:24 a.m. to activate the batteries and set switches and circuit breakers.

Later they were to jettison the service and lunar modules, so that Odyssey with its protective heat shield can plunge into the atmosphere.

To discard the lunar module, they plan to seal off both ends of a connecting tunnel and release connecting latches, allowing pressure to blow the two vehicles apart.

Lovell and Swigert awakened early today because of chilly 45-degree temperatures in the cabin. Haise had been on watch.

DR. K-W Resigns Under Pressure

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. John Kinross-Wright has resigned as state commissioner of mental health and mental retardation, Gov. Preston Smith said today.

Kinross-Wright, 47, has been under pressure from a majority of the State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for several weeks over his dismissal of one of his chief deputies.

The British-born, Oxford-educated psychiatrist was out of the city when Smith announced the resignation in a one-paragraph news handout.

Smith said that since the letter was addressed to Board Chairman Ward Burke of Lufkin and not to him, he would not release it.

SIX OF NINE

"This morning was the first notice the governor had had that Dr. K-W intended to resign," the governor said.

About two weeks ago six of the nine board members signed a letter asking Kinross-Wright for his resignation.

Kinross-Wright has been under fire ever since he dismissed Dr. Gary Miller as deputy commissioner for mental health services. Miller has challenged the action, claiming it was not valid until confirmed by the board, and has remained in his office.

The commissioner claimed he fired Miller because of Miller's alleged inability to cooperate with the commissioner and the department staff.

Korean Boy's Heart Stops

HOUSTON (AP) — Kim Sung Woo, 12, died early today after doctors failed in a massive effort to revive the Korean boy's faltering heart.

Kim was operated on April 2 at Texas Children's Hospital for a congenital heart defect. Doctors said the boy was showing considerable improvement before his sudden fatal turn.

Kim was flown to Houston from Seoul March 31 for the operation.

Guests Stream In, Champagne Chilled

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The Apollo 13 wives arose before dawn today, the day their husbands returned to earth. During the final hours before splashdown they heard the men describe the damage aboard Apollo 13.

Their reactions ranged from "surprised" to "incredible" as commander James A. Lovell Jr. reported "There's one whole side of the spacecraft missing . . . it's a mess." The spacemen saw the damage as they cast the service module away—it would trouble them no more.

With the aborted moon landing mission nearing its conclusion, Marilyn Lovell and Mary Haise turned on television sets and NASA squawboxes to monitor the climactic hours of the abbreviated flight.

"I'm anxiously awaiting recovery," Mrs. Haise reported. A space agency spokesman said she was "self assured and poised" as the Apollo 13 streaked toward splashdown in the Pacific Ocean.

"Being seven and a half months pregnant, I don't see how she does it," the spokesman added. And in Denver, Colo., the parents of bachelor astronaut John L. Swigert started splashdown day by attending a Roman Catholic Mass near their home.

With champagne chilled and guests streaming in, all was in readiness for the return to earth by the spacemen Lovell, Haise and Swigert.

Friends carted in the traditional splashdown beverage on the eve of re-entry. Marilyn visited a beauty shop. She also chatted with NASA administrator Thomas O. Paine.

Jeffrey, 4, youngest of the four Lovell children, was given a turtle. He promptly named it Aquarius and announced, "He is my friend."

Jeffrey and his two sisters, Barbara, 16, and Susan, 11, were home from school. Lovell's oldest son, James, 15, was the only absentee. He attends a military school in Wisconsin.

Mary Haise kept her three children home from school all week, and today was no exception. This was her husband's first space flight.

In Denver, the Swigerts, whose son was a late replacement on the flight, invited in friends and relatives for conclusion of the space drama.

Cambodia Seeking Weapons From U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is reportedly approaching Cambodia's request for military assistance with extreme caution.

There seems to be little doubt here that the Cambodian army needs or will soon need arms. But some officials say an international arrangement to furnish aid pegged to the purpose of supporting Cambodian neutrality, might afford the best solution to the problem.

The State Department announced Thursday a request for military assistance—meaning arms and other materiel—had been received by the new Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol, who overthrew former chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

A spokesman said the request was being "examined," a word chosen to avoid saying that it was already being considered.

About the same time Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was opposed to granting U.S. arms aid to Cambodia.

Administration leaders expect any decision to meet the Cambodian request directly will draw new fire from critics in Congress.

On the other hand they fear without some assistance Cambodia may not survive as a neutral country.

The Cambodian request for aid has been addressed not only to the United States but to many other countries.

In a statement April 14 Premier Lon Nol said the government would accept "all unconditional foreign aid from all sources."

This broad appeal opened up the possibility the United States would consult with other friendly governments about a possible international arrangement for providing military supplies. No one in Washington was sure exactly how this might be done.

The new regime has been involved in some fighting with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces using Cambodian border territory as sanctuary in the Vietnam war.

On the diplomatic-propaganda side of the problem facing the Nixon administration, mainland China and North Vietnam already have accused the United States and South Vietnam of conspiring with Cambodia to broaden the war in Indo-China.

U.S. officials reject this charge completely and say President Nixon's program of troop withdrawal from South Vietnam means the United States wants to reduce the war as rapidly as enemy behavior will permit, not broaden the fighting.

Welfare Overhaul Gains House Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has handed President Nixon a major victory by passing his far-reaching welfare reform package, but the administration faces a strong effort in the Senate to raise the assured family income over $1,600.

Several senators already have served notice they will try to hike the benefits despite the cost. The final floor showdown may come in June.

By a 243-155 vote that crisscrossed party lines, the House Thursday sent the measure to the Senate. Both Republican and Democratic leaders supported it, but conservatives in both parties—and a few liberals who wanted more generous provisions—were lined up in opposition.

The measure provides a $1,600 federally assured income for a family of four and increases the roll of eligible persons by an estimated 13 million, mostly the working poor and their families.

It requires adult beneficiaries to register for job training and assignment. The federal government would assume a greater share of the cost and administration. The aged, blind and disabled would be assured $110 a month.

By official estimates, the bill would cost $4.4 billion—but opponents said the cost will turn out as much as three times that figure.

In the Senate, several members have tipped their hand on proposed amendments changing the benefits.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., has proposed an initial family floor of $2,520, rising by stages to $3,600.

Sen. Charles L. Goodell, R-N.Y., advocates a $3,800 floor. Others, however, may attempt to trim the bill. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has termed the cost estimate hopelessly inadequate and said the work incentive provisions are no improvement over present law.

The Senate Finance Committee plans a preliminary briefing on the complicated measure next week, with hearings to follow, aimed at a Senate vote in June.

Welfare What, Why

WASHINGTON (AP) — Highlights of the welfare reform bill: Provisions: A federally assured $1,600 income for a family of four. Expansion of welfare beneficiary rolls by 13 million, including the working poor. Requirements for beneficiaries to take job training and assignments, with financial inducements. Higher payments for blind, disabled and aged. Bigger federal role in financing and administration of welfare generally.

Support: President Nixon and leaders of both parties in the House; opposition also crosses party lines.

Cost: $4.4 billion yearly by official estimate; opponents say three times that.

Background: Almost universal dissatisfaction with present system of aid to families with dependent children. Costs have been soaring.

Prospects: Passed House Thursday, 243 to 155. Faces attempts in Senate for extensive amendments, by both conservatives and liberals.

PREPARED — Mrs. Barbara Young, wife of astronaut John W. Young, holds two bottles of champagne as she walks toward the home of Fred W. Haise where she will help the Haise family celebrate the successful splashdown of the crippled Apollo 13 spacecraft.

UGLIEST HARVEST: LITTER

Workers Reap Bumper Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Springtime '70. As snowbanks recede workers fan out to reap a bumper crop of the nation's ugliest harvest: litter.

Government officials, meanwhile, are proposing new taxes, regulations or research on the NRs—nonreturnable bottles and cans—to cut down the potential source of trash.

Clean-up volunteers, stirred in part by popularization of the environment as a social and political issue, are supplementing highway and park crews which have been gathering the trash for years.

Stone County, Ark., freed children from school to pick up litter. Officials expect 70,000 or more persons to turn out for "Green Up Day" in Vermont Saturday.

Huntington, W. Va., residents will be scouring the town for bottles the same day to earn a $20 a ton bounty from Owens-Illinois glass company.

COST HIM $15,000
And in Portland, Ore., John Piacentini shows off a pile of cans and bottles outside the warehouse for the 60 Plaid Pantry supermarkets he owns.

The pile represents only a few of the 3 million or so cans and bottles turned in to his stores after he offered a half a cent apiece. The project, which lasted 18 days, cost him $15,000.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., estimates that unless the gradual demise of the deposit bottle is reversed, the 25 billion one-way cans and bottles produced in 1958 will swell to 58 billion six years from now.

Nelson's proposed Packaging Pollution Control Act would empower the government to levy "packaging charges" on containers "scaled to reflect the level of adverse environment effects."

Oregon and Indiana are considering similar measures.

Nelson immediately, Nelson and other officials like Virginia Knauer have turned their heaviest fire on the can and bottle industry in an attempt to roll back the snowballing trend toward NRs.

The expense of the NRs is plain. The wholesale price lists for Pepsi-Cola and Coca-Cola in Washington show a case of 24 12-ounce deposit bottles is $2.10 plus 48 cents deposit. A case of 10-ounce throw-away bottles costs $2.55. A case of 12-ounce cans costs $2.85.

BEER BOTTLES
Beer bottles used to be good for 38 trips from brewery to consumer and back again. Now deposit beer bottles make 19 trips. Returnable soft drink bot-les make half that many.

Industry spokesmen cite the same figures as a sign that increasingly affluent consumers want the convenience of throw-aways despite the cost. Richard L. Cheney, executive director of the Glass Manufacturers Institute, notes Pepsi-Cola raised deposits to five cents in New York recently on a new batch of 600,000 16-ounce bottles. The bottles disappeared in six months. But some dispute the contention that consumers want the NRs.

Dave Levinger, president of the New York local of the Soft Drinkers Union, says the rise of larger bottling plants covering a wide area leads bottlers to encourage NRs and save the cost of transporting empty bottles.

HALF A CENT
The can and bottle industry supports public service cleanup campaigns and works with the government on research on disposal.

Aluminum firms pay a half a cent apiece for cans and melt them down for more cans. David P. Reynolds of Reynolds Aluminum reports 217,000 cans were turned in in one week in Los Angeles after offering the reward.

The Glass Container Manufacturers Institute had planned a $7.5 million campaign to promote throw-away bottles until Mrs. Knauer criticized the campaign in a speech. Now the campaign will include antilitter messages.

Pepsi-Cola is test marketing a burnable bottle. Federally funded scientists at Clemson University are experimenting with one which dissolves in water after being broken. The U.S. Bureau of Mines has developed a way to separate metal and glass from trash and make the substances reusable.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

CLEANING UP — By Saturday, John Piacentini, owner of a chain of grocery stores in Oregon, figures he will have three million empty cans and nonreturnable bottles. Pat Jones, left, and David Powers, right at top, are part of the reason. Kids like the ones below have been cleaning up Oregon's highways and turning the cans and bottles in to Piacentini for a half cent each. The result is the cleanest highways in years.

Lamesa Hero's Family Given His Medals Today

A brief ceremony was held at 3 p.m. today in the chapel of the Lamesa First Baptist Church honoring Capt. Robert M. Snell, killed in action in Vietnam, June 14, 1969.

Mrs. Robert B. Snell, his mother, was to accept the Distinguished Service Cross awarded in recognition of her son's extraordinary heroism. The Distinguished Service Cross is the nation's second highest decoration for valor.

Other members of the family present were Mr. Robert B. Snell, his father; Lt. and Mrs. Ronald L. Bloom, his brother-in-law and sister; Cadet Timothy B. Snell, San Marcus Academy, his brother; and Cynthia Ann Snell, his sister.

Making the presentation was Col. Philip J. Moore, senior Army advisor, New Mexico-West Texas advisor group, Albuquerque, N.M. Also taking part in the ceremony was Col. Louis B. Reed, U.S. Army (Ret.) and formerly district judge, a close friend of the Snell family.

The Rev. (Dr.) George E. Worrell opened the brief ceremony by giving the invocation and reciting the Cadet Prayer. Capt. Snell was a graduate of the United States Military Academy in West Point.

Dr. Al Langford, president of Midland College and former football coach, addressed the audience recalling his memories of Capt. Snell as a high school student and football player.

Capt. Snell was cited for "extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations involving conflict with an armed hostile force."

"In the early morning hours," according to the citation, "an intense hostile mortar attack followed by a ground assault when the first enemy rounds hit, several personnel were injured and in need of immediate medical assistance. Capt. Snell, with complete disregard for his own safety, moved 50 meters from his protected bunker through the heavy volume of enemy mortar fire to assist the wounded. He carried one wounded soldier back to the safety of the bunker and was going out the bunker door to retrieve another man when a round impacted at his feet and mortally wounded him."

Days Of Simple Life Are Gone, Negroes Told

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — State Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston told Texas Negroes Thursday "the days of the simple life are gone. . . you are going to have to provide some clear vision to the problems of the 70s."

The Negro woman legislator spoke to the 34th annual banquet of the Huntsville Negro Chamber of Commerce, explaining that "young people must learn to sit at council tables with their elders, instead of going out and blowing up the capitol."

"Wear an Afro haircut if you will, that is your choice," she admonished young persons. "But, under that haircut there is nothing other than a black American. You were not born in Africa so you're not Africans," she said.

For those over 30, she chided adults for "standing on the sidelines and watching the world destroyed."

"You will get what you deserve," she said. "And you deserve suffering the clock turned back unless you find your voice."

"We know our problems in America. We also know it's the only country we have. Hate bears no good will to anyone," she said.

Case Of Exploding Hotel Toilets Solved At Last

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — After plunging deeply into the problem, the case of the exploding toilets at a Memphis motel has been solved.

The motel manager said it had been determined that there weren't actually any explosions.

"Hot water was backing up into the cold water lines," he said, "and was rushing in with such force that it seemed like the toilets were exploding."

Three "explosions" had been reported over the weekend and police had also been investigating.

"What happened," officials said, "was that three hot water tanks had short circuits. The water kept heating and by-passed the thermostats. That's when the water backed up and caused all the racket."

During the past week, three toilets burst their tanks when they were flushed, two by guests and one by a maid.

One of the guests left the bathroom of his lodging mumbly, "that has taken 10 years off my life."

Soviet Union Raps Peking

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Red China Thursday of wooing commercial ties with the West while curtailing trade with the Communist bloc.

The bitter attack was carried by the news agency Tass in an article about China's spring fair at Canton. It indicated no thaw in Soviet-Chinese relations despite rumors that a new Kremlin ambassador might soon depart for Peking.

The report castigated Peking for trading with Japan, Hong Kong, West Germany, Formosa and "foreign subsidiaries financed by American capital."

"China's commercial relations with these and other capitalist countries have expanded rapidly in recent years as Peking curtailed its trade relations with the socialist countries," Tass said.

"Taking part in the Canton fair for the first time are concerns representing joint Japanese-American capital," said the report. "These include the Asahi-Dow firm, a subsidiary of the American Dow Chemical Company which manufactures the napalm that American planes drop on Vietnam."

"American oil companies enjoying the services of Japanese companies linked to them are also displaying mounting interest in the Chinese market."

Expressing Soviet concern about "so-called encouraging gestures" between Washington and Peking, Tass charged "a practical step is being taken at the current fair to move American capital into the Chinese market via Japan."

Cris Cowan, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Baker, 811 Baylor, has become the first University of Texas student to be accepted by Yale Medical School as a dietician intern.

Miss Cowan was notified Wednesday by members of the American Dietetics Association that she had been accepted by Yale and also by the Veterans Administration Hospital in Bronx, N.Y. She decided to accept the Yale offer.

The program begins Sept. 2 and lasts for one year. Miss Cowan is a 1966 graduate of Jefferson High School, San Antonio, and attended Texas Tech in Lubbock for two years. She will receive her bachelor of science degree in nutrition from the University of Texas in May. She has worked as a volunteer with the local Veterans Administration Hospital dietetic staff.

Explorers Open Olympics Here

The 1970 Explorer Olympics and Planning Conference began today at Webb AFB, it was announced by Capt. Dennis Scarborough, project officer. The event will have some 210 scouts representing the Buffalo Trail Council consisting of Midland, Odessa and Big Spring.

The conference will kick off Saturday at 8:30 a.m. when Col. Anderson W. Atkinson, wing commander, welcomes the scouts to Webb. The final hurdle will be a general knowledge test.

Winners of the different events will be offered the opportunity to participate with other state winners in a conference at Ft. Collins, Colo., where they will receive counseling, coaching and encouragement from former Olympic team members and coaches.

A tour of Webb AFB, beginning at 1 p.m. and a dance Saturday night will round off the day's events.

No TV, No Boone For Beauty Show

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Miss Texas Universe contest is scheduled to get underway tonight, a day later than originally planned and without their star or television.

The show was originally set for Thursday, today and Saturday, with Pat Boone as the emcee with a 19-station Texas television hookup.

But Wednesday, according to Frank Strech of Odessa, one of the group's promoters, they were informed the television show had not been sold.

"Pat Boone was going to emcee the show because of the television exposure but when he found out we had no TV we had no Boone," Strech said.

He said Dallas quarterback Craig Morton had agreed to emcee the two performances tonight and Saturday.

Twenty-seven girls are competing to enter the national contest in Miami, Fla., he said.

Brings Bell Back

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Rockford Presbyterian Church in southwest Lamar County has its 54-year-old church bell back.

Thieves took the big bell from its pole recently. When appeals went out for its return, someone brought it back and left it near the pole during the night.

San Augustine's 'Old Town Well' Restored

SAN AUGUSTINE, Tex. (AP) — The "Old Town Well of San Augustine" has been restored as a tourist attraction inside the R. N. Stripling Drug Store in downtown San Augustine.

Stripling, who is 89 years old and served as a county judge here for more than 20 years, has operated his drug store for 66 years.

"The well was dug to a depth of 27 feet by slave labor in 1860 and lined with the circular brick used in that day," says Judge Stripling. "The well supplied citizens of this early Texas town with water for drinking, cooking and for fighting fires."

"In 1891, when San Augustine residents had their own wells, a saloon keeper bought the land with the well and built a frame building over it for a new saloon. The well was near the saloon bar and the bartender kept his beverages cool by lowering them into the water in sacks."

Stripling purchased the site and moved his drug store here. When he remodeled his drug store he took advantage of the town's growing interest in tourism. He had the old well restored.

When the Ezekiel Cullen Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas holds its annual Tour of Medallion Homes and Historic Places here the first weekend in June each year, the store offers visitors coffee brewed from water taken from the old town well.

The well is popular year-round as a "Wishing Well" as tourists drop their coins in a slot in the old wooden top. The well serves as a gathering place for tourists, seeking information about historic San Augustine.

Tornado Dips In Oklahoma

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms rumbled across the southern Plains and the lower Mississippi valley early today, bringing heavy rain, high winds and large hail.

Two inches of rain soaked Fort Smith, Ark., in the pre-dawn hours. An inch or more was common in the storm region.

Hailstones the size of baseballs pounded an area north of Norman, Okla. Heavy hail also rattled parts of Texas earlier.

A tornado dipped into a rural area northwest of Seminole, Okla., late Thursday, damaged three houses and overturned a house trailer. No injuries were reported.

The storminess ranged eastward into the Ohio Valley by daybreak.

Scattered light snow flurries lingered from Montana to upper Michigan in the wake of the second big snowstorm of the week in the northern Plains.

Showers dampened scattered areas of the Appalachians and the Middle Atlantic states.

Koepchne Info Still Impounded

BOSTON (AP) — The transcript of testimony and the judge's report in the Mary Jo Koepchne inquest will stay impounded in the Suffolk Superior Courthouse for at least the next few days.

Clerk Edward V. Keating, in whose care the secret documents were placed, said Thursday they will not be made public before next Tuesday.

The court was set to release the documents Wednesday but a suit by Sidney R. Lipman, who was official court stenographer last January at the inquest in Edgartown, forced a delay.

Minister Gives Advice For Explaining Death

Explaining death to a child was discussed by the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, pastor of Wesley United Methodist Church, when he was guest speaker Tuesday for the Kentwood Parent-Teacher Association.

"Death is a reality, and should be explained to children in that manner," said the speaker. "Probably talking to a child in association with the death of a pet would be a good introduction. Never tell a child that a friend has just gone away for awhile, for that is misleading. We have become too casual and nonchalant in explaining death, and more care should be taken on the subject."

Rev. Hildebrand noted that more people die from 65 years of age on up, and the next highest death rate comes in the one to four year bracket. The third ranking period is between the ages of 18 and 25, which are the years in which young men are likely to be killed in wars.

Lectures Sponsored By Garden Clubbers

The Rosebud Garden Club presented Mrs. J. A. Van Auker and Mrs. O. R. Littell, state ratified lecturers and national accredited judges, Tuesday in a program, "Flower Arrangements of All Types." Approximately 50 women attended the lecture-workshop held at the YMCA.

Mrs. Littell lectured on traditional arrangements and decorative wood and had 10 arrangements displayed. Mrs. Auker displayed 15 arrangements while lecturing on modern abstract.

Mrs. G. P. Morrison, president of Rosebud Garden Club, announced that her club, along with the Oasis Garden Club, will have a standard flower show at the YMCA, open to the public, May 5, from 3 to 7 p.m.

On April 20, Mrs. Odell Womack, president of judges, will be hostess when approximately 40 judges arrive for a meeting and luncheon of nationally accredited flower show judges, Southern Unit, District 1. Seven local judges and Rosebud Garden Club members will help host the event.

A LOVELIER YOU Romanticism Returns In Wedding Gowns

By MARY SUE MILLER Over the years subtle changes take place in bridal fashions. The fussy wedding cake look now gives way to simplicity. Dresses are as serenely lyrical as the "Lake" poets.

The character of materials is fragile, even demure. There are trailing chiffons gleamed with pearls; ethereal, tucked and shirred chiffons; organzas, frosted with lace and embroidered; romantic voiles embossed with feathery flowers and leaves; languid crepes delicately beaded.

Silhouettes are reminiscent too. Of an Empire princess, the Gibson Girl, a waltzing Belle. Headdresses are real romancers. Illusion veiling floats from Juliet caps, circlets of flowers and huge picture hats. Bouquets favor small natural clusters. As we said, simplicity is the key.

But let a bride-to-be remember that delivery of a perfect gown requires time. So do make an early appointment with your shop's bridal consultant. Be sure to inform her as to the decor and the formality of your wedding. She must know in order to collect a large and suitable selection.

At try-ons, becomingness is of course your primary consideration. And here you may find to your surprise that white is not always white, but varietal. If your skin is dark, a creamy white will flatter you most. Blue and oyster white become the fair. Sheer white-whites posed over pink or blue linings could solve a flattery problem.

For another, add a touch of your most becoming color to your bouquet. Naturally, makeup is an ever present help. When you come down the aisle, the poets can move over.

LOVELIER HANDS Do you have a hand problem? Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish-chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Three Women, Student Hit By Shotgun Pellets

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Three young women and an African foreign exchange student were hit by shotgun pellets Thursday night as 200 officers dispersed about 700 young people smashing windows at a bank building which replaced one rioters burned down in February.

Sheriff James Webster said some of his riot-helmeted, shield-carrying deputies fired birdshot into the air, but not directly at any of the protesters attacking the Bank of America branch in nearby Isla Vista. He said he was investigating the windings.

The officers launched several dozen tear gas canisters in an hour-long confrontation to disperse the demonstrators who also smashed nearby real estate office windows and set some trash bins ablaze in the street.

One student involved in the trouble later told a newsman the demonstrators attacked the bank branch—as was the case in February—as “the biggest symbol in the community of the capitalist establishment we’ve been fighting against for years.”

Demonstrators said the protest was spontaneous. But one student said “feelings were galvanized” by a campus speech Thursday afternoon by Nancy

Police Arrest Burglary Suspect; Trail Followed

A trail of blood and a wheelbarrow track led to the arrest of an 18-year-old man Thursday in connection with the theft of $1,500 in office equipment and other items from the Keaton-Acuff Gin Co. offices, 111 NE 2nd, Wednesday night.

Reported stolen were two adding machines, a typewriter, a posting machine, two watches, a radio, a few checks and smaller items.

Officers said the burglar apparently cut himself when entry was made into the offices by way of a north window. Traces of blood were found throughout the scene and led from the broken window, police said.

By following the blood trail and the track of a wheelbarrow apparently used to transport the stolen goods for about two blocks, officers arrived at 201 NE 2nd and recovered all the items reported stolen.

A check of local hospitals revealed that a man had been treated for a cut finger Thursday morning and he was arrested later in the day.

A charge of burglary was filed against Garry Allen Peterson in the court of Justice of the Peace Walter Grice Thursday. No bond had been set this morning.

PALS AT AN EARLY AGE — The lion and the lamb, both young, haven't had time to develop any animosities toward each other. Pharaoh, the male lion, is only nine months old while Cleo, the lamb, is newborn. Both are denizens of Stapleford Park on Lord Gretton's estate at Melton Mowbray, England.

Postal Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Initial congressional reaction to President Nixon's plan for an independent U.S. Postal Service “insulated from direct control by the President, the Bureau of the Budget and the Congress” indicated today the chances for approval are good.

There were reports the Senate Post Office Committee might approve the President's plan or one very close to it as early as next Tuesday.

Nixon announced the postal service proposal, negotiated by the administration and postal unions, Thursday and at the same time reduced his proposal from 10 cents to mail a first class letter to eight cents.

There is strong opposition in Congress to increasing the present rate of six cents on first class mail at all. However, hearings on Nixon's rate proposal may begin next week.

Campaigners Fire Oratory Salvos

Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Lloyd Bentsen cut loose with some heavy platform artillery Thursday in their campaign battle over the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

Their Republican counterparts Rep. George Bush and Robert Morris, were equally busy wooing voters in the May 2 primary election but didn't seem to be making quite as loud noises for the moment.

Yarborough came back from Washington to address supporters at a Texas City luncheon and said he was happy his opponent had chosen to make taxes and government spending an issue in their race.

Bentsen asserted at a night rally in Austin that polls show Yarborough “is the most unpopular statewide officeholder in Texas.”

Morris, in a talk to backers at Muleshoe, said the Communist offensive in Laos and Cambodia can be attributed to the October, 1968, halt by the United States in bombing the enemy in Vietnam.

A report to the Joint Chiefs of Staff reveals that the cessation of bombing freed 250,000 Communist home defense troops from service in North Vietnam. Morris said, and they now are carrying on the offensive in Laos and Cambodia.

Yarborough told his Texas City audience, “While my opponent's multimillion-dollar insurance holding company was benefiting from tax loopholes by paying no income tax over $500,000 in net income in 1968, I was working to close those loopholes that allow the big companies to avoid their fair share of tax load and thus cause the load to fall mostly on the average citizen.”

“I, with Sen. Gore, finally secured passage of an amendment to the tax reform bill which increases the personal income tax exemption from $600 eventually to $750.”

Turning to the subject of spending, Yarborough said, “While my primary opponent serves on the board of the giant aircraft company (Lockheed) that extracted from the taxpayer a $1.7 billion cost overrun (more than the contract amount for the unworkable C5A transporter of Pennsylvania, secured per plane) I, with Sen. Schweiker, passage of an amendment to the military authorization bill which called for an audit of big war contractors and as the result of my vote to cut out wasteful military spending, we cut President Nixon's budget last year and thus saved the taxpayer $5.6 billion—even after we added $1.2 billion to the budget for health and education.”

Avalanche Claims 72

SALLANCHES, France (AP) — More landslides today endangered workers sifting the debris of the avalanche that killed 72 persons at a children's tuberculosis sanatorium Thursday. Mounting skepticism greeted an official judgment that the avalanche was unforeseeable.

Teams working through the night under floodlights dug out more bodies of victims. By mid-morning 42 corpses had been recovered from the thousands of tons of rock, earth and snow that crashed down on the hospital from a mountain called the Roc des Fils.

Thursday night and again this morning work was halted by new slides of earth and rock.

The one during the night caused no injuries, and work was resumed an hour later. The one this morning smashed into a wing of the sanatorium which escaped the killer slide Thursday. The sanatorium had been evacuated, but the slide today broke a gendarme's leg.

The police posted warnings and lookouts on the mountain.

Health Minister Robert Boulin told newsmen that the avalanche was “as unforeseeable as an earthquake.” But local persons pointed to a minor avalanche last April 5, which reached the sanatorium. Though it caused no damage, hospital authorities thought it necessary to evacuate part of one of the dormitories that was destroyed Thursday.

“That slide was considered serious enough to call in experts,” one person said. The experts judged the danger had passed.

An official inquiry has been opened into Thursday's avalanche, the most deadly single slide in European history.

American Buildup Along Cambodian Border Noted

ROUTE ONE BORDER CROSSING, Vietnam (AP) — A massive South Vietnamese and American military buildup is taking place along the Cambodian border north and south of this key crossing point.

There is no evidence of armed American forays across the border. But a battalion from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division has moved into the border region to relieve South Vietnamese troops now operating as far as 10 miles inside Cambodia.

The American infantrymen from the 25th Division have taken over a Vietnamese patrol base called Blue about 3 1/2 miles northwest of the border crossing. There, the Americans are operating advanced radar to track North Vietnamese and Viet Cong rockets and mortars fired inside Cambodia. The radar operators say they relay their information back to the division's headquarters at Cu Chi.

A task force of more than 2,000 South Vietnamese troops plus hundreds of tanks and armored personnel carriers has been operating inside Cambodia in recent days. South Vietnamese jets and prop planes have been bombing North Vietnamese positions inside Cambodia in support of the task force.

Route One, the highway between Saigon and Phnom Penh, crosses the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon into an area of Cambodia called the Parrot's Beak on military maps. The military estimates more than 10,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are in this region. Early this week they pushed to the outskirts of Svay Rieng, the Cambodian provincial capital about 30 miles west of Route One Crossing, but no attempt to take the town has been reported.

'Death Squads' Investigation

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — The investigation of Brazil's mysterious “death squads” spread today from Rio de Janeiro to Sao Paulo, where the killing of two more underworld figures has been laid at the door of the vigilantes.

The latest victims, whose bodies were found Thursday in a deserted suburban area, brought to 26 the number of executions believed carried out by the death squads this year in the State of Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo.

A 23-year-old hairdresser who survived an execution attempt has been asked to try to identify five men suspected of being connected to the vigilantes. The hairdresser, Jonas Silverio, who was shot five times and apparently left for dead, identified Joao Coelho, a retired detective, earlier this week, as being one of his would-be executioners.

There is widespread belief that the death squads, which began operating around 1958 are made up of off duty policemen who mete out summary justice to small time criminals. More than 1,200 slayings over the past 12 years have been attributed to the death squads.

Choir Boosters Elect Mrs. Cederberg President

Mrs. Roy Cederberg is the new president of the Big Spring Choir Boosters Association. She was named at the April meeting this week, along with these other officers:

Mrs. John E. Fort Jr., first vice president and projects chairman; Mrs. C. O. Tramm, second vice president and program chairman; Mrs. L. D. Hayworth and Mrs. Donald McKeel (Senior High); Mrs. Bill Johnson and Mrs. W. A. Riley (Goliad); and Mrs. Bill Duggan and Mrs. Glen Albert (Rannels); Mrs. Henry Dirks, secretary; Mrs. Elmer Seitzler, treasurer.

A committee composed of Mrs. Seitzler, chairman, Mrs. Ben F. Johnson Jr., and Mrs. Walter Osborne was appointed to review and recommend revisions to the by laws of the association. These recommended changes will be presented for first reading at the May meeting.

Plans were made for a garage sale on April 24-25 at the Highland Shopping Center in the building adjacent to Margaret's Dress Shop. Anyone having items to donate for this sale are asked to call Mrs. Roy Watkins (267-2875) or Mrs. Cederberg (263-1825). Proceeds from the sale will be used for air-conditioning the choir room at Goliad.

The annual joint choir concert by all choirs from the high school and the junior high schools will be presented May 19 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Members of the Choir Boosters will be admitted free. The charge for non-members will be $1.25; students tickets will be 75 cents.

Upper Room Hostess To Return To India

A young woman who has served as an assistant Upper Room hostess in Nashville has decided, despite her several college degrees, to return to her home in Northern India.

Malvina Massey, came to Nashville, Tenn., in 1964 to study for the master of arts degree in Christian education at Scarritt College, an institution that trains Christian teachers, and missionaries. She also worked at The Upper Room, as a hostess.

After receiving the degree at Scarritt College, Miss Massey earned another master's degree in school administration from the George Peabody College for Teachers another college in the Southwest complex of universities in Nashville.

Miss Massey was already armed with degrees she had received in India when she reached Scarritt College. At Agra University, she studied English literature, economics and world history for the bachelor's degree and world history, with especial emphasis on Indian history for her master's degree.

She had also received the English Teachers Certificate in Allahabad, India. Miss Massey's Christian background stems from her paternal grandfather who converted to Christianity from Hinduism.

A deeply religious person, she has often said: "If you accept Christ, it gives you the greatest satisfaction and peace." In Nashville and in the states of Florida, Iowa and Minnesota, Miss Massey has accepted and filled many speaking engagements.

She was an educator and administrator in the schools of Dehra Dun, India, before coming to the states. Last year, at The Upper Room, Miss Massey greeted many of the 85,000 visitors who came to see the Chapel, Agape (Love) Garden and Museum.

She left Nashville March 22 for New York and London. From London, Miss Massey traveled to Paris, Rome and Athens, Greece. She will be at "Nasheman," Clement Town, Dehra Dun, India after April 24.

DAVID NORVELLE

Church Adds Staff Member

College Baptist Church will add a minister of music and education May 4 when David Norvelle moves here from Greenville.

Norvelle now holds the same position for Washington Street Baptist Church, Greenville. He and his wife, the former Sylvia Grimes, Midland, have one son, David Mark, 10.

Norvelle is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has served churches in Abilene, San Angelo and Denison; and also served as interim music director of the First Baptist Church of Stanton.

Here he will be responsible for the educational ministries of the church and will be in charge of the graded choir program. He will give supervision to the youth program of the church and assist the Rev. Byron Orand in administration of the total program of outreach.

"Our church is now approaching a Sunday School attendance of 500 each week, and the program has outgrown the efforts of our present staff," the Rev. Orand said. "We are anxious to have him on our staff."

Over 800,000 Hear Graham's Sermons

Billy Graham's EURO 70 Crusade closed in Germany this week with Europe-wide overflow crowds totaling almost 125,000. By means of the largest closed-circuit TV network ever attempted in Europe, the American evangelist's meetings over the past week have reached an aggregate total of more than 800,000 people.

"This week I have preached to more people in person than any previous week of my life," Graham said.

In addition to those crowding into 35 relay Auditoria from Norway to Yugoslavia, Graham's sermons were broadcast nightly from powerful Monte Carlo transmitters to east and west Europe as well as North Africa and the Middle East.

The manager of Dortmund's Westfalenhalle claimed: "Final attendance totals here will be a record. Some sporting events and political rallies have filled the place for a single meeting, but never has it been filled to overflowing night after night as in this crusade."

Across the relay network the picture was the same. People in 11 different countries, for whom the meetings were translated simultaneously into 7 different languages, were intrigued by the live, large-screen participation made possible by modern technology.

A special feature of the 3,600 mile link-up is that sound can be reversed. Songleader Cliff Barrows in Dortmund conducts singing from the screen of a relay center, and their sound is relayed all along the circuit. Last night, the German crowd in Dortmund heard a 5,000-strong crowd of Norwegians singing from Kristiansand. Their unusual meeting place, an

Wycliffe Translator Slates Speaking Engagements Here

Making the Bible and other literature available to primitive people is the mission of Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc.

The organization of 2,300 young people will have a spokesman in Big Spring Sunday through Friday available for speaking engagements or slide presentations in churches, Sunday School, youth groups, informal home meetings, civic clubs or public schools.

Al Graham, with his wife Sue, has served as a translator for 10 years among the isolated Satare Indians of Brazil. The Indians live 100 miles up the Amazon, plus a five-day trip up a tributary.

In addition to their primary task of putting the 2,000 unwritten languages of the world onto paper, the Wycliffe Translators also work to teach natives about agriculture, carpentry, medicine and sanitation.

The 36-year-old nonsectarian group — named for John Wycliffe who first translated the Bible into English in the 14th century — is working among 450 tribes in 20 countries in North, Central and South America, the Far East and Africa.

The organization, supported by donations and gifts, hopes to have 8,000 field workers by 1985. Linguists are now trained by the Summer Institute of Linguistics in England, Germany, New Zealand and Australia, as well as in affiliation with the universities of North Dakota, Washington and Oklahoma.

By September, 1971, Wycliffe linguists will be able to study their science in Dallas, at a modern international center to be built on 100 acres in southwest Dallas County.

In charge of local arrangements for Graham's visit to Big Spring is Mr. William Orenbaum (phone 267-7398).

DEAR ABBY: My stepson is 15. We get along very well and he is really a good boy. But Abby, he TALKS too much!

This boy blabs everything he thinks, hears and sees. He is constantly interrupting adults to contradict them, and he takes over a conversation and holds the floor for as long as he can, running minor details into the ground.

He recently spoiled a surprise party I had planned for a friend. He simply TOLD her about it—not meaning to!

What can be done? He is driving me up a wall. DESPERATE!

DEAR DESPERATE: Compulsive talking is only one of his problems. His obvious insecurity accounts for his need to draw attention to himself by interrupting, contradicting and holding the floor as long as possible. (Many adults never out-grow this.) Perhaps with maturity will come confidence, patience and better judgment. In the meantime, tell him you love him, and before opening his mouth to ask himself, "Is it true? Is it kind? Is it necessary?"

DEAR ABBY: An acquaintance (I can no longer call her a friend) rang my doorbell early one morning, and after remarking on the weather, said with a little laugh, "There, now I have you on my candid camera!" Then she called my attention to a tiny camera she had in her hand.

I felt very resentful of this invasion of my privacy—particularly since I looked my very worst at that time of day, but I said nothing. How would you have handled that situation?

DEAR ANNOYED: I'd have asked to see the "cute little camera." I would then confiscate it, and with a little laugh I'd destroyed the negative of my likeness.

DEAR ABBY: In the office where I work, and it is a very large one, men are required to wear shirts, neckties and jackets during office hours, but there are no rules about dress for women.

I don't object to miniskirts on young girls who have nice legs. But when an overweight middle-age woman with varicose veins wears a miniskirt—well, that's another matter.

Since men are required to observe certain rules of dress, don't you think women should, too? A MAN (OF COURSE)

DEAR MAN: Yes. But it's more complicated to make "rules" for women. All women should be told on hiring that they are expected to dress modestly and appropriately for an office. (This should eliminate necklines that are down to there, and skirts that are up to here.) If a woman violates the rules, the office manager should give her a warning. And if she likes her job, one warning should suffice.

Latin Slap Census Form

DALLAS (AP) — Some Mexican-Americans are disgruntled over the U.S. Census Bureau's 1970 form which they call "an obvious attempt to shut the chicanos completely out of the federal poverty war programs."

At issue is the census form section dealing with color or race. The chicanos say they are being left out.

"You won't find Mexican-American listed in the form," said Rene Martinez. "We're just getting lumped in with the Anglos, among the whites."

Just recently, Mexican-American groups were complaining in San Antonio that they were being grouped in an "other" category on forms which also listed Negro and white. At that time, they said, they wanted to be listed as "white."

The census, Martinez said, will measure population and ethnic concentrations for the next 10 years and Mexican-Americans will get the short end of the stick.

"Most of the federal poverty programs are set up on minority population," he said, "but I don't see how they'll be able to channel to the minorities when they have no enumerations or some reference on numbers."

A Census Bureau spokesman, Mike Long, said the forms deal with races or colors and not with national heritage.

The section, however, does list five different nationalities for Orientals.

"I don't know why the Orientals are broken up like that," said Long.

The race-color section has an open blank for "others," and Martinez said, some Mexican-Americans are listing themselves in this category and others are listing themselves as "white."

"I really can't see how we are going to be given a very accurate figure of Mexican-Americans," he said.

Long said, however, that census figures would be "right on the total figure" of Mexican-Americans in the state by samplings of the population.

Project Has 11th Calf Crop

SPUR — Beef cows in drylot and on pasture at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research Station at Spur have just produced their 11th calf crop. And from the look of things, this is going to be one of the better groups of calves in the project which was initiated in May, 1959.

"We have a 14-pound increase in birth weight per calf this year. The average weight of the calves from the drylot cows is 68.4 pounds while the calves from the pasture cows averaged 83.3 pounds," he said.

Marion attributes the increase in birth weights of the calves from the pasture cows to the fact that these calves were sired by a Brown Swiss bull. However, the drylot cows were bred to a Hereford bull, the same as in the past. The increased calf weights from these cows, Marion believes, is due to an increased amount of protein and phosphorus in their rations.

"A nutritional deficiency in the ration fed the drylot cows was first suspected when their eighth calf crop produced numerous small animals," explains the superintendent.

"The basic ration that these cows had received was slightly below the minimum requirements for protein and phosphorus. So a higher level of these nutrients was added the following year after the ninth calf crop again produced small calves. The change was made in the 1968-69 ration but was too late to affect the 10th calf crop."

At present there are 20 pasture cows and 22 drylot cows remaining in the project out of the original 36 in each group. Cancer eye has been the cause for most losses in each of the two groups. Seven of the pasture cows have died compared to only one in drylot over the 11-year period.

The average net return per cow on pasture being fed the low energy ration during the winter was $48.90. On the high energy ration, this figure was $46.12. In drylot, the average net return per cow was $35.13 for the low energy ration, $29.31 for the medium energy ration and $25.96 for the high energy ration. Marion again points out that these figures are based on feed and pasture costs only.

VOTING MACHINE ERROR TRIGGERS NEW ELECTION

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — It's finally happened. A computer flunked out.

The board of trustees of the Ysleta Independent school district said Tuesday that because of a voting machine error, those that voted in one precinct in the April 4 board election must cast their ballots again.

The action was without legal precedent in Texas.

The board said that one voting machine recorded 366 votes, but only 315 votes were actually cast according to a name tally and the machine's tabulator.

Alicia Chacon was the apparent winner by 41 votes over incumbent board member Mrs. Carl Ganauck.

A custodian of the contested machine said the machine had not been turned back to zero before voting started.

The trustees ordered the new election because the 51 vote difference could change the results. The trustees ordered certified letters sent to each of 315 voters notifying them they may vote again during the week starting April 18.

'Earth Day' Idea Nixed

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — City Commissioners have rejected a proposal to have April 22 designated as "Earth Day" in this Lower Rio Grande Valley city.

The proposal was made at a City Commission meeting Wednesday night by William Olson, a high school teacher.

Mayor pro-tem R. M. Elmore said the commission is "well aware of the pollution problem in Harlingen and across the nation."

"I don't think we should go on record as demonstrating for this organization," Elmore continued.

Commissioner Jim Werner read from a newspaper story that "Earth Day" was organized by Environmental Action Inc., an organization which he said was "made of elements who embrace the 'New Left.'"

It was also brought out that April 22 is the birthday of Vladimir Lenin, a founder of world communism.

Olson, who appeared before the commission said the program was taken up by Environmental Action Inc., and was not started by the organization.

"I don't see any value in Earth Day," said Werner.

Eight Ball Rules

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird picked up a cue and broke a rack of balls Wednesday during his inspection of the game room in a tour of an enlisted men's barracks.

Laird knocked one ball into a corner pocket—the eight ball.

"I guess that wins the game," said Laird.

Pairing Plan Fails To Pass

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The board of trustees of the Crosby, Tex., Independent School District have been ordered by the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals to implement a school desegregation pairing plan by June 1.

The U.S. District court for the Southern District of Texas entered an order Jan. 7 to Crosby public schools to adopt the pairing plan by Sept. 1, 1970.

However, the appeals court vacated that order and ordered the district court to require the school board to make a full report as to specific action taken and to outline "how and in what manner it proposes to implement the approved plan . . ."

The appeals court ruling thus applies to any summer schools that may be conducted.

Funds To Help Keep Linda Alive

ELGIN, Tex. (AP) — A fundraising barbecue to help keep 11-year-old Linda Diaz alive raised about $2,000, says a sponsor.

The Rev. Ray Head, a Baptist minister, said people from all over Central Texas attended the Saturday night barbecue.

Linda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Diaz, suffered total kidney failure before Christmas and must have expensive dialysis treatments twice a week. An estimated $8,000 is needed for treatment until the girl can undergo a kidney transplant.

Puzzle of Thursday, April 16, Solved

SUCCESSFUL BIDDER — Aubrey Mayhew (center) of Nashville, Tenn., signs transaction papers after he was successful bidder on the Texas Book Depository building, a perch used by the assassin of President John F. Kennedy. The Warren Commission said Lee Harvey Oswald, an ex-Marine, fired the shots Nov. 23, 1963, that killed President Kennedy as he rode in a motorcade through downtown Dallas. Reporters watch the signing.

Collector Buys 'Ski' Bandits Book Building Nab $23,000

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas School Book Depository building, from which a hidden rifleman killed President John F. Kennedy, was auctioned off for $650,000 Thursday night.

It was bid in by Aubrey Mayhew, head of a Nashville, Tenn., recording house. What he'll do with the drab old seven-story structure hasn't been decided, he said.

Shots from a sixth floor window in the tan brick building killed Kennedy as he rode in a motorcade through downtown Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. The Warren Commission said Lee Harvey Oswald fired the bullets.

Col. D. Harold Byrd, majority stockholder of the Dallas Trust Corp. which owned the warehouse, said he was offered $1 million for the building soon after the assassination. He turned it down, he said, because he did not want to capitalize on the tragedy.

The new owner appeared to share Byrd's feelings.

"I will never allow it to become a commercial entity centering on the tragedy," Mayhew told newsmen.

When asked precisely what his plans for the building were, he replied, "I don't have any idea."

G. C. Walters head of the firm which conducted the auction, said he thought the final price was fair. He added that some suggestions the building would bring $1.5 million were exaggerated.

Mayhew, 42, is president of the Little Darlin' Record Co., a Nashville recording firm. But he said his decision to buy the depository had nothing to do with his work.

He also operates, "on the side," the John F. Kennedy Memorial Center in Nashville, a formal museum and library. He said it is privately financed.

"I have the largest collection of Kennedy memorabilia in the United States," he said. "It totals 50,000 items."

Mayhew said he owns the datebook and papers of the late Jack Ruby, the convicted killer of Oswald, as well as five autographed copies of the first printing of Kennedy's "Profiles in Courage."

In addition, he recently purchased five personal letters of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis.

Mayhew said his interest in the Kennedys began at the time of the assassination, remarking that history was being made, and he wanted to preserve some of it.

He never met John Kennedy but knew Robert Kennedy and has met Sen. Edward M. Kennedy several times, Mayhew said.

He said he thought his final bid on the building was "a good price."

"Don't forget it's a 62-year old building," he said. "And it's on a plot that's just 100 by 100 feet."

Mayhew's strongest competition for the building came from a Dallas real estate developer, Albert Dicker, who stopped bidding at $600,000.

"Now that I own it," said Mayhew, "the building will never be sold, so far as I'm concerned."

"But I will never tear it down. I bought the building to preserve Kennedy's memory."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Bandits wearing ski masks escaped with $23,000 Thursday from the Mercantile Bank & Trust Co.

Witnesses, police said, related that two men entered the bank shortly before noon carrying a shotgun and a pistol.

A bank official said he believed the pair was filmed on an automatic movie camera as they robbed two tellers.

Police said they found an abandoned taxi later containing a rifle and ammunition. Witnesses said they saw two men with a violin case and a leather bag get out of the cab at nearby North Star Mall.

Earlier, cab driver Robert Minshall said he was abducted Wednesday night by a Negro fare, taken to North Bexar County and tied up. He said he freed himself Thursday morning.

Police said the taxi found after the robbery was the stolen vehicle.

Humid, Drizzly Weather Lingers

By The Associated Press

Drizzly weather and oppressive humidity hung on over much of Texas today along with a threat of still more thunderstorms.

It was a continuation of the unruly weather which plagued most parts of the state Thursday from morning until far into the night.

Heavy rain and pounding hail accompanied thunderstorms which concentrated much of their fury during the evening on the Panhandle-Plains sector and a sizable portion of Northeast Texas.

Power lines were knocked down and high winds and hail flailed the area from Mount Pleasant to Texarkana. More than two inches of rain poured down in 30 minutes at Mount Pleasant.

Hailstones up to three-fourths inch thick battered the west part of Lubbock, while other menacing storms thundered through the Amarillo and Childress section.

Wind gusts up to 75 miles per hour—minimum hurricane force—and hail as big as golf balls pounded Quanah as the turbulent weather surged through the Red River Valley from around Vernon and Wichita Falls to Muskogee, Okla.

Unusually high humidity made the day uncomfortable at many points, and temperatures ranged up to a summery 91 degrees at Laredo, Amarillo and Childress were the coolest points with highs of 71.

Readings this morning ran from 51 at El Paso and 52 at Dalhart up to 75 at Brownsville and Laredo.

American Asked To Leave Embassy Post In Amman

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Official sources reported today that the Jordanian government asked the United States to remove its ambassador from Amman, apparently because he advised U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Joseph Sisco to cancel his visit to Jordan.

Foreign Minister Abdel Moineim Rifai requested the State Department to pull out Ambassador Harrison Matthews Symmes, the sources said, because the government "can find no justification for his attitude and inclination as regards the Arab position in the face of Israeli aggression."

A State Department spokesman in Washington said the department had not received word of the Jordanian action and therefore the department could neither confirm nor deny the reports. There was speculation that the Jordanian ambassador to the United States would deliver the demand to the department during the day.

Sisco, now touring the Middle East, was scheduled to arrive from Israel today to talk with King Hussein. The State Department canceled the visit Thursday, reportedly on Symmes' advice, after Palestinian guerrillas led violent demonstrations for two days in Amman against the United States and Sisco.

Rifai protested Thursday night that the cancellation was "unjustified" because Jordanian security forces were sufficient to protect the American diplomat.

Despite the cancellation of Sisco's visit, demonstrators marched through the streets of Amman again today, carrying banners and shouting slogans against U.S. policy in the Middle East.

HARRISON M. SYMMES

Amman was also hit by a general strike, with all shops, banks and business offices closed. Guerrillas, military police and army troops patrolled the streets, and some scattered shooting was heard.

The United States for years has supported Hussein, providing him with military and economic aid in the belief that he is a force for moderation in the Arab world.

Generally considered pro-Western, the king has recently complained that his army has been unable to obtain needed weapons from the United States. He has hinted that he might turn to the Soviet Union to get them.

Symmes, an Arabic-speaking career diplomat, was appointed ambassador to Jordan in January, 1968, at a time of worsening relations between Washington and Amman because of American support for Israel.

Palestinian refugees, who make up more than half of Jordan's population, and their guerrilla groups have put pressure on Hussein to assume an anti-American position. They charge that Sisco's tour is part of a "conspiracy" to impose a political settlement on the Middle East.

Hussein's decision to ask for Symmes' withdrawal is seen here as an indication of ebbing power in the face of guerrilla pressure.

Sisco's travel plans were still uncertain today, and a U.S. Embassy spokesman in Tel Aviv said he did not know where the visitor would go next.

After Jordan, Sisco had been scheduled to travel to Beirut, but there were reports that he might fly directly to Tehran, where he is to hold a conference of American diplomats stationed in the Middle East and South Asia.

Sisco met in Israel with top officials including Premier Golda Meir and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan. Sisco refused to divulge any details of the discussions, but Israeli sources who met him said he got the impression in Cairo that President Gamal Abdel Nasser "is preparing for a long military battle, is in good health and a fatalistic state of mind."

This report added that Sisco was satisfied "the door was not slammed in his face" in Cairo and that there is still an opening for a U.S.-Egyptian dialogue.

In Cairo, the editor of the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said today that Sisco's talks there indicated President Nixon's policies in the Middle East and Vietnam are based on the line "tell the people what they like to hear but do what you want."

Editor Hassanein Heikal, who often speaks for Nasser, said that despite its talk of peace, the United States is "implementing Israeli aggression and providing air superiority for the Israelis to hit Egyptian military—and civilian—targets."

Outreach Centers Outlined For Hospital Volunteers

More than 80 members of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Council held their quarterly business meeting Thursday at noon and heard Mrs. Ruth Payne outline the workings of the hospital's "Outreach Centers" in West Texas towns.

The hospital now maintains outpatient clinics in Abilene,

Courtney Crusade

STANTON (SC) — The Courtney Community Cancer Crusade will be held April 21-22 house-to-house. Chairman for this division, Mrs. Owen Kelly, reports that Mrs. Bob Hazlewood will cover the northern area; Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Gene Atchison, the southern area; and Mrs. Bud Glaspie, the central area.

Snyder, Colorado City, Lamesa, Seminole, Pecos, and offers partial service to Post, Mrs. Payne, director of the centers, said. These centers are run by volunteers and professional doctors and nurses to provide community service to the mentally handicapped.

Each unit maintains a staff of case workers, a clerk, and a consultant psychiatrist who visits each center once every week. The clinics offer psychological testing services, diagnosis and therapy and are open to all.

Mrs. Payne said that the dramatic decline in re-admission rates at the hospital has resulted from the operation of these facilities and other outpatient services in the cities they serve, reducing the taxpayer's cost in treating the mentally ill. Financing of the clinics is part of the BSSH budget with aid from the cities involved.

Using a slide presentation to dramatize her address, Mrs. Payne explained admission procedure and treatment at the clinics and expressed the need for more and larger facilities in all cities. In some large cities, the only treatment available to the mentally handicapped comes from the Outreach centers, she said.

At the business meeting, Dr. Harold Smith, volunteer director, told the gathering that the All Faith Chapel Fund is within $43,000 of the money need to begin construction of the chapel and that recent reactions to the fund-raising effort have been encouraging.

He thanked local businessmen and the staff and patients at the hospital for their help in presenting the volunteer's fashion show which netted $180.

Mrs. Mary Cochran, volunteer coordinator at BSSH, said that although the local hospital is relatively small, it is second to none in the number of volunteer hours contributed.

Mrs. Cochran returned earlier in the week from an administrative workshop in El Paso where she met with other representatives of state and local agencies for aiding the mentally handicapped.

In explaining her own job, she said, "it is necessary for the coordinator to wear many kinds of hats. She may be a newspaper or TV writer. She may be a hostess, a home economist, and advertising executive. Certainly she is a personnel director, mother confessor and confidant."

For other administrators at the El Paso meeting, she outlined her program of volunteer coordination and said, "One of the most important things that volunteers do is bring community acceptance to our facilities."

A Devotion For Today . . .

Jesus' answer to them was this, "My Father is still at work and therefore I work as well." (John 5:17, Phillips)
PRAYER: O Christ, help me live as Your disciple, to love my neighbor. May I look upon nothing as too simple to do for anyone. Bless the person to whom I may be privileged to give in Thy name so much as a cup of cold water. Amen.

Close But With Safe Margin

The Big Spring Independent School District trustees are beginning their annual wrestling match with the budget, and it looks like another close ending with the fiscal guide possibly in balance.

The best news, from the point of local taxpayers, is that it now appears that ad valorem taxes will not have to be raised. Expenditures, as usual, will be up, but thanks to increased allocations from the state (principally for raising teacher salaries), revenues may rise slightly farther than expenses.

This picture, however, can be deceiving, for the principal reason that expenditures may be rising at a slower pace is that enrollment figures indicate that 23 less teachers may be required. The annual turnover is always considerably larger than this, so it's just a question of making that fewer replacements. The point is that on a unit basis, costs are still rising and at a rate more rapid than resources. Thus, too much comfort should not be gained from what may be a transitory situation. Any sharp deviation from estimates on federal funds (which is certainly possible) could throw things out of whack.

Trustees will be taking a more penetrating look at the situation at their next meeting, and we hope they will continue to find some daylight at the end of the tunnel.

Green Letter Day

April 22 is a green-letter day. On that day on more than 500 college campuses throughout the nation businessmen, politicians and conservationists will discuss the growing threat of pollution to our environment. They will concern themselves and their listeners with present programs to combat the threat and antipollution plans for the future.

Campus activities are being organized by student groups in coordination with the student-run Environmental Teach-In, Inc., in Washington, D.C. But, believe it or not, the concept came from members of the over-30 generation.

The movement was suggested last fall by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and Rep. Paul R. McCloskey, R-Calif. It has been in the planning stages for months.

Earth Day, as April 22 has been dubbed by the environmentalists, is a heartening example of true student concern and constructive activism. Student activists have been condemned in recent years for their polemic approach to social problems.

Demonstrations by youth have too often been hypercritical affairs offering little in the way of constructive proposals for improvement and too often ending in violence.

Undoubtedly, Earth Day will not be without its sour notes, but it does present a more constructive approach to establishing a meaningful, orderly dialogue on the problems of this day.

Odd Status Of The Fourteenth

WASHINGTON — The South would probably swallow its grievances over the defeats of Judges Haynesworth and Carswell for seats on the Supreme Court if the majority in Congress would help to correct the worst fraud in American history — the enforced "adoption" of the fourteenth amendment, on which numerous cases in the desegregation controversy are currently based.

Southern states were told specifically they must ratify the fourteenth amendment as the price of readmission to the union. In one instance, a general sent down from the North presided over a state legislature.

When Secretary of State Seward in July, 1868, was faced with the problem of proclaiming "ratification" of the fourteenth amendment, he said frankly that he wasn't authorized "to determine and decide doubtful questions as to the authenticity of the organization of state legislatures or as to the power of any state legislature to recall a previous act or resolution or ratification." He said the amendment was valid if the original resolutions of the Ohio and New Jersey legislatures were to be deemed effective, notwithstanding subsequent rejection.

FEW PEOPLE today know about certain undisputed facts of history which occurred just after the War between the states ended in April, 1865—that the thirteenth amendment, abolishing slavery, was legally ratified by state legislatures in the South as well as the North, but when the fourteenth amendment was proposed, it seemed to be confronted with failure. It takes three-fourths of the states to ratify. In this case, 16 out of 37 state legislatures did not vote to approve — just a little less than half. Outside the South, six states had failed to ratify, and in the South 10 had rejected it.

MANY NOTED HISTORIANS point out in their books that new state legislatures in the South had been elected to function in 1866 after the war, but in 1867 were put under military rule and the senators and representatives from the states were denied seats in Congress. President Andrew Johnson had vetoed the measure. It was, however, passed over his veto, and, of course, no Southerners were there to vote.

The Supreme Court of the United States 20 years later refused to rule on all these illegal procedures, claiming they were acts of the "political departments of the government." This was obviously a means of avoiding a decision on a ticklish question. But several decades after its passage the same fourteenth amendment is being used by the high court to regulate the operation of the schools by the federal government, hitherto a function of the states.

Congress had ousted all Southerners from their seats in the Senate and House, and then passed a law of coercion. It provided that military rule be established in the Southern states and that none of them could be regarded as in the union unless they "ratified" the fourteenth amendment.

Clearly there is need for the American people through their representatives in congress to rewrite the so-called "fourteenth amendment" and to stipulate where state rights begin and end and where federal power may be interposed. The people have every right to erase from the record the chapter of history after the war was over by which the states in the South were coerced — some by military power — to "ratify" an alleged amendment to the constitution.

AMNESTY TO FORMER rebels had been declared in May, 1865, by President Andrew Johnson because the war was over. In 1867, under penalty of continued exile, the facts are available in the history books. They are unquestioned. If America is to live happily as "one nation, indivisible," the mistakes of the past will have to be re-examined. It means building a new respect for law and a restoration of confidence in national concepts of the constitution.

Billy Graham

I am a teenager, and it is hard for me to distinguish between God and Jesus Christ in my thinking. I hear a lot of people talk about seeing Jesus Christ in heaven, but will we see God there too? Since the Bible says, "No one has seen God at any time," I am anxious to know if we will see Him in heaven.

T.H.J.

Yes, one of heaven's thrills will be when our eyes "behold the King in all his beauty," Jesus said in the beatitudes: "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God." (Matt. 5:8.)

John the Revelator wrote: "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and HE SHALL DWELL WITH THEM, and they shall be his people, and GOD HIMSELF SHALL BE WITH THEM, and be their God. And God shall wipe all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away."

Yes, there is no doubt about it: we will see God. What a wonderful experience that will be! Think of it! To behold Him who created the universe; who conceived of the great idea of salvation and deliverance from sin; who loved us so much He gave His only Son, and to behold Him who made faith the basis of our salvation — so no one, not even the least child would be excluded. Yes, "God himself shall be with them, and be their God."

NO LONGER would it be necessary to worry whether a Supreme Court justice came from the South or the North or the West or the East. For if the constitution hereafter defines the limits of judicial power and the functions that are beyond it, and requires adherence to the existing amending process alone as the way to obtain change, there is little likelihood of any regional resentments arising in the future. Racism would lose its fervor because people in all sections of the country would then feel they were being treated alike by the constitution.

'Does Daddykins Love His Babykins?'

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the ordeals of being a man in a woman's world is trying to understand feminine talk.

"You never talk to me anymore," a wife often complains to her husband, after they have been married a few years.

The reason is quite simple. They speak two different languages. He speaks American English. She speaks a kind of personalized jargon, for every woman makes up a language of her own as she rattles on.

The only time in marital life a husband and wife really understand what the other is saying is when they are newlyweds. This is when they speak what is known as "honeymoon prattle," and is hardly complimentary to either of them as it consists largely of simulated baby talk.

Such as:

"Does Daddykins love his babykins?"

"Oh, knows Daddykins loves his babykins."

A stranger overhearing such exchanges has to reach into his pocket for some antacid tablets to calm his stomach.

Trouble begins when the husband, the sanity of his vocabulary restored by the passage of time, begins to speak to his wife as if she were normal and mature and able to employ meaningfully the language they both learned in school.

At once a gap begins, a gap that only widens with the years.

He uses language precisely, logically, to tell her exactly what is on his mind. She uses language imprecisely, illogically, to tell him to guess what is really on her mind.

"I suppose the weather is too bad for us to go out to a movie," she says.

"Yeah, I suppose so," he answers absentmindedly, deep in the sports pages of his evening newspaper.

Managers of private pension funds, beset by inflation and a poor stock market, have learned in recent years that real estate investments might offer them not only better returns but more stability as well.

The latest group to be attracted by real estate investment possibilities have been financial institutions such as life insurers and banks.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, for example, stands far below its 1965 high. Urban land prices, however, have been rising at an average rate of six per cent a year, according to the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Many corporations have been aware of the profit possibilities for many years, among them, Alcoa, Westinghouse, Reynolds Metals, and several railroads which find their primary transportation duties far less rewarding.

Life insurers, who once satisfied themselves by investing in real estate mortgages guaranteeing a fixed return, now are seeking direct equity investments. Several insurers have set up holding companies, with their insurance activities as subsidiaries, in order to free themselves from regulatory restrictions.

Real estate, it has been observed during the past four years of inflation, has been a true hedge against the declining value of the dollar. The stock lives up to its reputation as a hedge.

boycott and agreed to establish a special fund to achieve a 10 per cent black student enrollment by the 1973-74 school year.

Item: A faculty "fact-finding" committee at the State University of New York in Buffalo declared that police should NOT have been called to put down a disorder, although there had been repeated window smashing and at least one assault on unarmed campus guards.

IN THAT sentence is the story of our permissive "understanding" times. Almost without exception, "no attempt is made to stop" any mob, particularly if it is composed of black militants doing their thing on a college campus. It is the reason more and more of our university faculty members are turning their intellectual backs on the scene and even, in increasing numbers, quitting their jobs.

ITEM: White radicals at Columbia University disrupted the Academic Senate, smashed windows and slashed paintings to punctuate their demands that the university post bail for a gaggle of Black Panthers.

Then there was the Negro mob at Yale which forced cancellation of a Tarzan film festival which they said was "racist." There was the high school seminar in nearby Montgomery County, Md., at which the 25-year-old editor of an underground newspaper instructed children in how to grow marijuana. And there is Judge Thomas G. Weaver of New York who refused to forfeit $2,500 bail for Mark Rudd, a leader of the Weatherman faction, although Rudd failed to show up for his trial on a rioting charge.

Cornell's black militants made off with about $300 worth of merchandise as "payment" for the recent destruction of the university's black studies center. A window and one display case were smashed and merchandise was strewn about the floor.

Those in charge continue to "understand" the Buffalo "factfinders" admitted that "We are defenseless against the breaking of windows. We had better learn to accept this truth."

TAROUANT, Morocco — On the far horizon the snow-capped Atlas Mountains frame the fertile valley and this town on the edge of the Sahara. The untouched quality, the unspoiled austere beauty of the countryside, is one reason for the tourist boom that has seen hotels and resorts multiplying throughout Morocco.

By the swimming pool at the Hotel Gazelle Dor, set in splendid gardens and ringed by palm, cypress and olive, it is hard to believe in the existence of the outside world. This once-remote market town is today only a few hours from Paris by jet plane.

IT WILL FEED the fires of inflation undermining stability in almost every nation. It will take more and more of the surplus that might to raise the level of peoples in the developing world. It will accentuate the divisiveness that in the West has alienated many elements while polarizing the politics of extremism on the right and the left. In short, even if the new expanded weapons of destruction — the three times overkill — are never used the burden will be all but intolerable.

THE HISTORIAN OF, say, 50 years from now, assuming that in 2020 the historian has the privilege of detachment and perspective, will have to untangle one puzzle in particular. Why was so much of mankind indifferent to the overriding issue of survival in the face of the threat of nuclear holocaust — Armageddon that will inflict death and disaster on even the farthest removed?

ACTIVE, concerned public support for those who want to achieve at least a pause in the arms race is limited, to say the least. That is hardly surprising. Complains But She Keeps Eating

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Five years ago, at age 30, my daughter had her gall bladder removed. Since then she has not been careful with her diet and complains constantly of indigestion, heartburn, and pain just as if she still had the gall bladder.

After reading today's column, I wonder if she'll quit reading — or whether she'll start doing something to stop her heartburn and ward off some of these risks she so airily ignores.

Best I can suggest is that you get a copy of my booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder," and give it to her. Or another booklet that she needs even more, "Lost Secrets of Reducing."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I very much disagree with you in your answer to Mrs. J.R. concerning a hernia at the top of the stomach. I had one on my navel and it became real tender.—Mrs. F.W.

Disagree if you like — but first stop getting your hernias all mixed up.

The three common varieties are the hernias in the groin region; hiatal hernias, which are inside the body and not visible from the surface; and umbilical hernias, at the navel or bellybutton.

She weighs 190 pounds and is 5 feet 3. She eats anything she wants.

I tell her she is asking for cancer of the stomach, but she laughs and says indigestion and heartburn never killed anyone. She reads your book so I am asking for your help.—Mrs. R.J.D.

Hiatal hernia is a distinct threat; ulcers can develop and bleed or even perforate. To say nothing of what your daughter's weight is doing to her heart.

Don Gullett was drafted last June but his pitching has just been classified 1-A.

That's because the 19-year-old left-hander was drafted by the Cincinnati Reds—and the rest of the National League is on the receiving end of his meteoric rise to stardom.

"In time, he'll be nothing but a star. We're seeing a star being born right before our eyes," said manager Sparky Anderson after Gullett picked up his first major league victory with five scoreless innings of three-hit relief and got the win in Cincinnati's 12-2 romp over Los Angeles Thursday night.

"He'll have his bad outings in the future, sure, but he can't miss being a great one."

MOVED UP FAST

Those are strong words of praise for a rookie less than a year out of McKell High School in Lynn, Ky., who made only 11 appearances in the low minors before he was added to the Reds' roster just before opening day.

But the figures back him up. Gullett has pitched 6 1/3 innings in three big league games, allowing four hits, no runs, four walks and four strikeouts.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco outslugged Houston 11-9 in 10 innings. San Diego topped Atlanta 5-4 in 10, Pittsburgh beat the New York Mets 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs ripped Philadelphia 6-5, also in 10 innings. St. Louis and Montreal were idle.

In the American League, it was Washington 4, Baltimore 2; Boston 8, New York Yankees 5; Detroit 4, Cleveland 2; Kansas City 8, Milwaukee 6; Oakland 3, Chicago White Sox 1 and California 3, Minnesota 2.

Gullett, who has been likened to Sandy Koufax at a comparable age by Cincinnati's scouting supervisor Cliff Alexander, was an all-around athlete in high school. In his senior year he was 9-2 with 120 strikeouts in 52 innings and hurled a perfect game, fanning 20 of the 21 batters.

Gullett was an all-around athlete.

Thursday night, too. He walked and stole a base to ignite a five-run uprising in the fifth inning and touched off a three-run rally in the sixth with a triple. Lee May capped the five-run inning with a grand slam and Tony Perez hit a two-run homer in the eighth. Gullett's performance was especially welcome because the Reds lost right-hander Jim Maloney, who ruptured the Achilles tendon in his left leg in the third inning and was placed on the 60-day disabled list.

M SQUAD HELPS

San Francisco's M Squad powered the Giants past Houston. Willie Mays tied the game with a two-run homer in the eighth inning—his first of the season and 601st of his career—and Willie McCovey won it with a two-run shot in the 10th. Tito Fuentes, also connected for the Giants while Denis Menke and Jim Wynn homered for the Astros.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Atlanta's Phil Niekro, knocking his way toward his first win for seven innings, wound up instead with his third loss. Nate Colbert wiped out a 4-1 Braves lead with a three-run homer in the eighth following two-out singles by Van Kelly and Clarence Gaston and pinch hitter Ivan Murrell homered in the 10th to win it.

SOUTH AFRICAN SOBBUSTER — Gary Player of South Africa grimaces as he lifts a clump of sod as he hits from the rough during the first round of the New Orleans Open Thursday. Player shot a 6-under-par 66 to go into a five-way tie for second place behind leader Bobby Mitchell.

Several special awards, among them certificates for the outstanding football back and outstanding lineman of the year, will be given out at tonight's Forsan All-Sports banquet scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Cosden Country Club here.

All students who have represented Forsan in athletic strife this year are eligible to attend the party, which is being sponsored by Forsan boosters.

Jim Baum will serve as master of ceremonies at the banquet. Head coach Don Stevens will hand out the awards.

Teenagers Sign Pacts Saturday

Boys planning to play in either the Sophomore or Hi-Junior baseball leagues here this summer get a final chance to sign for the privilege here Saturday. Teen-Age commissioner Jimmy Felts Jr., said this morning.

Teen-Age officials will be at Johnny Stone Memorial Park just off the IS 20 by-pass from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow for that purpose.

No one will be allowed to play who has not signed, Felts warned.

Steers To Go With Farris In Cat Game

Coach Oakley Hagood takes his Big Spring Steers to San Angelo Saturday to try and head the dragon that has been plaguing them in the 3-AAAA baseball race this season.

The Steers and Central's Bobcats take the field at 2 p.m. Lefty Hunt Batjer will, no doubt, be on the mound for the Cats, fully rested after a week's layoff.

Hagood likely will counter with his ace, James Farris, who seems to thrive on work. Farris one-hit the Cats in their previous meeting but lost, 1-0, to an unearned run.

The Steers are 2-3 in conference standings. San Angelo has been beaten once in five league assignments.

If Big Spring is ever to move up in the race, it will have to be Saturday. The Steers simply can't afford to lose any more ground to San Angelo and Abilene High.

San Angelo would be in great shape, had it not been upset by Cooper a week ago tomorrow.

Big Spring hasn't been busting the ball with reckless abandon lately. The locals collected only three hits against Abilene and just four against Cooper. Against San Angelo in their previous game, the best they could do was two safeties.

Quite likely, starting for Big Spring will be Joe Martinez behind the plate. Felix Martinez at first base, Roddy Caffey at second, Charles Rodriguez at third, Randy Womack at short and Roger Dixon, Andy Gamboa and David Hanson in the outfield.

San Angelo could counter with Gary Lacy at shortstop, Ramsey Koschak catching, Roy Holland in center field, Don Shaw in left, Chris Frederick at first base, Ed Lewis at second, Steve Caraway in right and Greg Yule at third, in addition to Batjer.

The Longhorns come home Tuesday to tangle with Abilene High for the third time this season. Abilene won the first two games.

Big Spring High School track coach Glenn Petty takes eight members of his team to Weatherford for Saturday's running of the annual Kangaroo Relays.

Walter Campbell, Kyle Rose, Clay Thompson and Mike Hudson will combine to run the mile relay. The Steers qualified for Regional in that event last week at Midland.

Herman Evans will run in the 100 at Weatherford. Rose, Campbell and Hudson will also enter the quarter.

Danny Smart and Mark Jones will make the trip to compete in the mile run while Mike McCormick will take part in the 880-yard run.

Petty said he was well pleased with his team's performance at Midland, considering the fact that in 13 instances the Steers improved over anything they had previously done this season.

The Longhorns qualified two individuals plus the mile relay team for Regional and need this meet to retain their fine competitive edge.

The Steers finished fifth at Midland, after having been picked to wind up in last place. The locals scored a total of 47 points.

Richie Guerin Poised To Play For Atlanta

By The Associated Press

Richie Guerin gets a chance to practice what he preaches while Spencer Haywood tries a new experience tonight in the National and American Basketball Association playoffs.

Player-coach Guerin, a play-off veteran in both roles, is set to play for the Atlanta Hawks against the New York Knicks.

against the Lakers in Los Angeles in their best-of-7 NBA Eastern Division final series which the Lakers lead 2-0.

Low Alcindor, Haywood's NBA counterpart as rookie of the year, will try to get the Milwaukee Bucks back into the Eastern Division final set to play for the Atlanta Hawks against the New York Knicks.

The Knicks take a 2-0 lead into the game at Milwaukee.

Haywood leads the Denver Rockets, ABA Western Division champion, against the Washington Caps in one of three first-round games. In the others the Los Angeles Stars are at the Dallas Chaparrals and the New York Nets are at the Kentucky Colonels. The Indiana Pacers, Eastern Division winners, entertain the Carolina Cougars Saturday. Each series is the best-of-7.

Guerin is inserting himself into the Hawks' line-up as play-maker because Wilt Hazzard fractured his wrist in Tuesday night's 105-94 loss.

"I think I can do the job," the 37-year-old Guerin said Thursday. "Walt has run our offense all season, and I feel I'm the only person around who knows how to run it as well."

Rookie Butch Beard is available to spell Guerin.

Besides having leadership problems, the Hawks must stop the scoring of Jerry West and Elgin Baylor and the shooting and rebounding of Wilt Chamberlain.

Alcindor has been impressive in the Bucks' first two games but he has not been dominating because of the play of New York center Willis Reed. So, the Bucks need the outside firepower of Flynn Robinson and Jon McGlockin, something that was missing in the first two games.

Reed's play has been completely by the Knicks' outside shooting, their bench and defense.

Haywood, who recently signed a six-year contract for $1.9 million, led Denver's surge to the top of its division with a league-leading 2,519 points and 1,637 rebounds. Washington hopes to offset Haywood with the shooting of Rick Barry, a veteran of playoff competition with San Francisco in the NBA.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring's Glenn Petty may have done the best coaching job in District 3-AAAA track and field circles this year.

The Steers were picked to flirt with the cellar again but Petty guided his team to a five-place finish in the nine-team alignment and qualified his mile relay team plus sprinter Herman Evans and quarter-miler Kyle Rosene for Regional competition.

Petty rebuilt the Longhorn program largely with juniors and sophomores — there are very few seniors on this year's team. Two upper-classmen who did make major contributions to the team's success were Evans, who isn't built for a sprinter but who gets where he's going without stopping to smell the flowers, and Rosene, who has been assigned the duty of coaching local track teams in the past but Petty came here labeled as a track specialist and has more than lived up to his billing. A fine half miler himself in his days as an athlete, Glenn relishes the job of coaching the sport and the results are showing.

Sevey Hurls JVs To Win

John Sevey pitched the Big Spring JVs to their ninth straight baseball victory here Thursday, taming Odessa Permian, 2-1. Sevey is now 4-0 on the year.

The Dogies return to play at 4 p.m. Monday in San Angelo.

Sevey yielded five hits to Permian but kept them well scattered. He lost his shutout in the opening inning when Miller, in to run for Foote, circled the bases on a single by Weaver and an outfield error. The run was unearned.

Foote had gained a life on a bobble.

Big Spring struck out in its half of the inning when Darrell Brunson hit a one-baser, stole second and, after two men had been retired, rode home on Tommy Brewer's single.

Brewer also figured in the Dogies' other run. With one out in the third, Tommy Fletcher walked and Pete Shaffer attained first on a misplay by Permian's shortstop. Shaffer was later forced at second but when the Permian infield bobbed Brewer's ground ball, Fletcher sprinted home.

Big Spring had runners on first and third in the sixth but failed to take advantage of the chance.

Brunson drove out two of Big Spring's three hits. Rylee had a brace of blows for Permian.

Quarterback Corner Dozen Boosters Complete Job and Quarterbackers join to challenge the seniors.

Realizing that youth sometimes does not have the capacity for disappointment, we have all agreed to not inflict too savage a beating, but to necessarily restrict our efforts to instructional domination.

There will be advance ticket sales so that you may assure yourself of a seat and the right to witness such a spectacle. The west side will be designated for students with the east reserved for adults. The full generation gap shall be spread out on the arena floor for all to observe.

The price of admission will be 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. All proceeds will go to the Quarterback Club, naturally, for the benefit of worthwhile projects, which will be determined by the older, wiser adults. The name of the winner will be placed on an appropriate trophy to be displayed in the school trophy case under the title "The Gap Bowl."

No Weather Problems In Splashdown Area

ABOARD USS IWO JIMA (AP) — Space officials reported no weather problems in the Apollo 13 splashdown area today. They said possible scattered showers would not hamper recovery operations.

“For recovery purposes, I don't think we could ask for better weather,” Iwo Jima Capt. Leland Kirkemo said.

Hours before the spacemen were to splash down 610 miles southeast of American Samoa in the Pacific, Kirkemo said his recovery team was “primed and ready to go.”

Joining this prime recovery ship in patrolling 137,000 square miles of ocean were five helicopters, two communications planes and one C-130 turboprop recovery plane and another ship, the USS Granville Hall.

The Soviet Union sent four ships steaming toward the landing site to help if needed. Britain, France, Japan, Brazil and other nations offered, too, to send their vessels to the astronauts' aid.

The USS Hall and two of the C-130s were added to the recovery team as a precautionary move in the event that Apollo 13 missed its target.

Mechanics swarmed over the two Jima's recovery helicopters Thursday to prepare them for their mission. Spirits were high.

The possibility of showers didn't worry the helicopter crews or the Navy frogmen pre-

Lubbock Man At CPI Helm

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The board of trustees of the Cotton Producers Institute (CPI) re-elected Howard Alford of Lubbock president Thursday.

Also re-elected were E. Hervans Jr., of Laurinburg, N.C., vice president; C. R. Sayre, Greenwood, Miss., secretary; and William L. Lanier, Macon, Ga., treasurer.

The CPI fabric development program, which was started two years ago, is making headway. Ernest Stewart of the promotion staff told the board.

CPI is also supplying $460,000 this spring in cooperative advertising and promotion programs with one category of manufacturers.

Another cooperative advertising program involves 161 retail organizations in 85 of the top markets in the nation.

George Buck of the research staff told the board that work is advancing on the mass rearing of enormous number of enemies of the bollworm and pink bollworm.

These enemies will be turned loose in cotton fields as need for control, he said.

Buck also said that it appears the government is determined to impose stricter standards for flame-resistant fabrics, and that the CPI is in a position now to supply fire resistant mattresses and mattress ticking.

Fireman's House Damaged By Fire

A Big Spring fireman found one big disadvantage to living outside the city limits this morning, when his trailer house was extensively damaged by fire before units from Coahoma and Sand Springs could reach him. The trailer, owned by James Brown is about a mile east from US 87 south on Country Club Road. Sheriff's officers said damage has not been estimated.

Following a brief reception by the governor of America Samoa, a C141 Starliner jet will speed them to Ellington Air Force Base near the Manned Spacecraft Center. They are expected to arrive in Houston Sunday morning.

PLANS WALK ACROSS GORGE — Tallueah Falls Mayor Sam Maxwell, left, and famed aerialist Karl Walenda study the 700-foot-deep gorge over which the 65-year-old Walenda plans to cross June 30 on a 1 1/2-inch cable. Flags mark Walenda's 800-foot-long foothold. He said he plans to stop in the middle of the wire and stand on his head. There will be no safety net under the cable stretched across the gap in the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains.

TB Unit To Meet Saturday

Mrs. Fred Hyer and Miss Audrey Elmore, representing Howard County, will attend the first annual meeting of the Big Country Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association Saturday, at 1 p.m. in the Angelus Room of the Central National Bank, San Angelo.

On April 1, 1969, 32 counties combined forces to fight tuberculosis and respiratory diseases, including Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Mitchell, Sterling and Tom Green, San Angelo was selected as headquarters and D. C. Moore as executive director. Two directors from each county comprise the board.

This meeting completes the first year's work of the area. Reports from the program and budget committee will be given, the nominating committee will make its report, and new officers and board members will be installed.

Dr. Travis Smith, a director at large on the Texas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association Board, will speak on "Polluted Air." The public is invited.

Thief Has Big Truck To Use

Howard County sheriff's officers are hunting a thief with a big truck. Luis Helms this morning reported a 5,000 pound traveling block and hook had been taken from Duncan Drilling Co. equipment on the Apco Lease on the Dora Roberts Estate, south of Big Spring. Sheriff A. N. Standard said a drilling line had been cut in seven places and a log chain in two places to get the block out of position. The block is valued at $2,500. Deputy Eddie Owen said he had found truck tire tracks near the scene.

North and South were in position to routinely score 10 tricks at a four heart contract today. They reached three no trump, instead, when South failed to raise his partner's three heart response, choosing to rebid no trump on the basis of his tenace holdings in spades and diamonds. If South had mapped out his campaign with more care, he would still have managed to score a profit on the deal.

A spade was led, East put up the king and declarer's ace won the trick. With six tricks assured in the black suits, he started development of the hearts immediately to build his total to the required nine.

A small heart was led to the jack and East was in with the ace. On a spade return, South finessed the ten losing to West's jack and another

Bush Will Host Students In Campaign

A unique intern program for college students will be offered this summer, according to Bill Sheppard, Bush for Senate campaign chairman for Howard County.

Thirty anniversary and college students in Texas will be awarded the internships for six weeks beginning July 6. A small allowance will be provided, plus free housing, in Houston at the state campaign headquarters for George Bush.

"Bush feels young people should be involved in the political process instead of feeling they're on the outside," Sheppard said. Every phase of the campaign will be observed and participants will work directly with the staff and the candidate.

Applicants will be judged on the basis of activities, leadership and scholarship. "All parents in the area who have a son or daughter who might be qualified and interested are invited to bring this program to their attention," Sheppard said. "Bush said that to his knowledge there has never been a similar undertaking anywhere in the nation."

Applications for the internships may be obtained by writing Eloise Brackenridge, "Bush for U.S. Senate," Box 1970, Houston, Tex., 77001.

April 22 is the deadline for applying. Those selected as finalists will be asked to interview with a panel of college students in either Houston (May 2), Dallas (May 3), Austin (May 8), or Midland (May 10). Final selections of the 30 interns will be made by May 18 and announced shortly thereafter.

Stanton Student Going To Meet

STANTON (SC) — Cecil Bridges, manager for the Texas Electric Service Co. in Stanton, has announced the company will sponsor an outstanding student from Stanton High School, and a teacher to accompany him, to the Tenth Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for High Schools, to be held in Austin June 2-5.

Delegates to the four day symposium, which is held annually on the campus of the University of Texas, will hear several outstanding speakers from science, education, and industry. About 550 students from Texas will attend the symposium, which is co-sponsored by the university and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

The foundation, which is supporting research at the university, seeking a future source of energy through control of nuclear fusion reactions, is composed of the Texas Electric Service Co., and nine other investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas.
