POWELL COMES THROUGH — Enoch Powell, the right-wing Tory who made race a major campaign issue, and his wife are all smiles in Wolverhampton, England, Friday after announcement that he had retained his seat in Commons. He doubled his majority in the election and commentators forecast that his success would move the party to the right.

BRITISH DECIDE IT WAS TIME FOR A CHANGE

Higher Wages Not Enough For Voters

LONDON (AP) — Harold Wilson let wages rise and put Britain's trading ledgers in the black for the first time in seven years. But more British voters were worried by Edward Heath's warnings of inflation, higher taxes and unemployment.

Wilson's low key, don't rock the boat campaign and the opinion polls predicting Labor's re-election lulled the Laborites into complacency, and they stayed away from the polls in droves. Heath, grinning broadly at hecklers, went on plugging away at his theme: A Labor victory would mean high prices, higher taxes, more unemployment, perhaps even another devaluation of the pound. He made no bones about it. His campaign was aimed at the housewife, the member of the family most aware of the rising cost of living. A considerable part of the Conservative success in the British election Thursday was due to the change Heath worked in himself during the campaign. Obviously ill at ease and uncomfortable amid the rough and tumble of the hustings, he learned to lift a pint of beer with the workers, to kiss babies and even to give the impression of enjoying it.

In the final days of the campaign, he outdid Wilson in making contact with the voters. Labor's cocksureness and complacency, coupled with Heath's willingness to change and his refusal to give in to adversity appears to have been the reasons for the Conservatives' startling upset.

Tories Bounce Back, Wilson Is Poll-Axed

House Okays Pay Increase For Mailmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale overhaul of the nation's mail system and an 8 per cent pay raise for mailmen have been approved by the House in a historic 10-hour session marked by some bitter floor exchanges.

With unchained mailmen loading the galleries and tempers growing short on the floor, the House passed the reform-pay bill Thursday night 357 to 24 and sent it to the Senate.

An effort to pass only the pay-raise provision and reject the plan for an independent, self-supporting Postal Service was defeated 306 to 77.

House approval of the bill headed off threats of another nationwide mail strike even though Senate action is not expected until after the July 4 recess and final enactment appears to be at least a month away.

But opponents said the House "will live to regret bitterly" the day it voted to give up Congress' 131-year control of the mails to an independent agency. They said reform is only a label for a plan that will restructure the postal system but offers no assurance of faster mail service, efficiency and modernization.

SECRET LAUNCH Air Force Super Spy Spins In Sky

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force today rocketed a secret spy satellite into space to gather a vast amount of intelligence data about Russia, Red China, North Vietnam and other potential trouble spots.

A towering Atlas-Agena rocket blazed away from Cape Kennedy about 6:39 a.m. (Big Spring time), to propel the superspy toward a near stationary outpost some 20,000 miles above Southeast Asia.

The Air Force clamped a secrecy label on the launching and made no advance announcement.

Sources reported the satellite is the first of an operational series whose main job is to provide early warning of an enemy missile attack either from land or submarine.

They said the 26-foot long Agena carried a television camera to spot missile sites, air bases, troop movements and other military installations and infrared and X-ray sensors to detect the exhaust of a rising rocket.

It was the third secret launch of an Atlas-Agena from Cape Kennedy in 22 months. The sources reported the two earlier satellites, fired Aug. 6, 1968, and last April 19, were experimental prototypes for the payload lofted today.

Drug Raids Snare 23

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Massive drug raids by city and state narcotics officers snared 23 persons late Thursday and early today.

The officers raided apartments and houses on San Antonio's north side and in Alamo Heights. Narcotics paraphernalia, various drugs and more than nine pounds of marijuana were confiscated.

Disorder In Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A predominantly Negro section of the city calmed down early today after a disturbance which followed the death of a black escaped convict in a gun battle with police.

Police ordered a 30-block area sealed off after windows were broken, automobiles were damaged and more than a dozen persons, including some children, were injured Thursday.

Police Chief Wendell Nichols gave orders to keep all marked police cars away from the scene. The disturbance began among a crowd of about 400 blacks who gathered during the gun battle in which Lewis Stephen Wheeler, 26, of Kansas City, Mo., was shot to death. He had been cornered by officers attempting to capture him since his escape Tuesday.

Big Springer Back In Jail

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Three prisoners sawed their way through bars of the Tom Green County Jail Thursday night. Two were captured within several hours.

Timothy Michael Porter, 19, of Indianapolis, was captured at Paint Rock in adjacent Concho County.

James Reed, 23, of Big Spring surrendered without resistance after he called officers from a San Angelo restaurant.

Still at large was Richard Richardson, 38, of Tom Green County, awaiting appeal on a burglary conviction.

ATC Cutting Flight Time In Training

HQ. ATC, Randolph AFB — Undergraduate Pilot Training courses conducted by Air Training Command (ATC) will be shortened from 53 weeks to 48 weeks beginning July 1, 1970, the Air Force has announced.

The major change in the program involves a decrease in the number of hours of actual flying training received by each student. In the 53 weeks course, each student receives a total of 240 hours of flight instruction including 30 hours in the Cessna T-41, 90 hours in the Cessna T-37 and 120 hours in the supersonic Northrop T-38.

Under the new 48 week program, the student will receive 16 hours of flying instruction in the T-41, 82.5 hours in the T-37 and 110 hours in the T-38, for a total of 208.5 flying hours.

Based on years of pilot training experience, ATC has determined that by placing added emphasis on academic instruction, and by requiring the student pilot to receive more instruction in synthetic trainers, it can produce fully qualified pilots under the new program. The new program, when in full implementation is expected to save $19 million annually.

Undergraduate pilot training is conducted at 10 bases: Columbus AFB Miss; Craig AFB, Ala; Moody AFB, Ga; Vance AFB, Okla; and Williams Randolph AFB, Tex; Laredo AFB, Tex; Laughlin AFB, Tex; Webb AFB, Tex.; Reese AFB, Tex.; Vance AFB, Okla.; and Williams AFB, Ariz.

A flying training test program of 188 hours will be conducted at Moody AFB, Ga., beginning July 1. The purpose of the test is to determine if additional savings can be realized with no compromise of training quality.

The Air Force will analyze the pilots produced at Moody to determine if further adjustments should be made in the flying training program command-wide.

Nine classes of pilots will be graduated each year at each of the 10 pilot training bases.

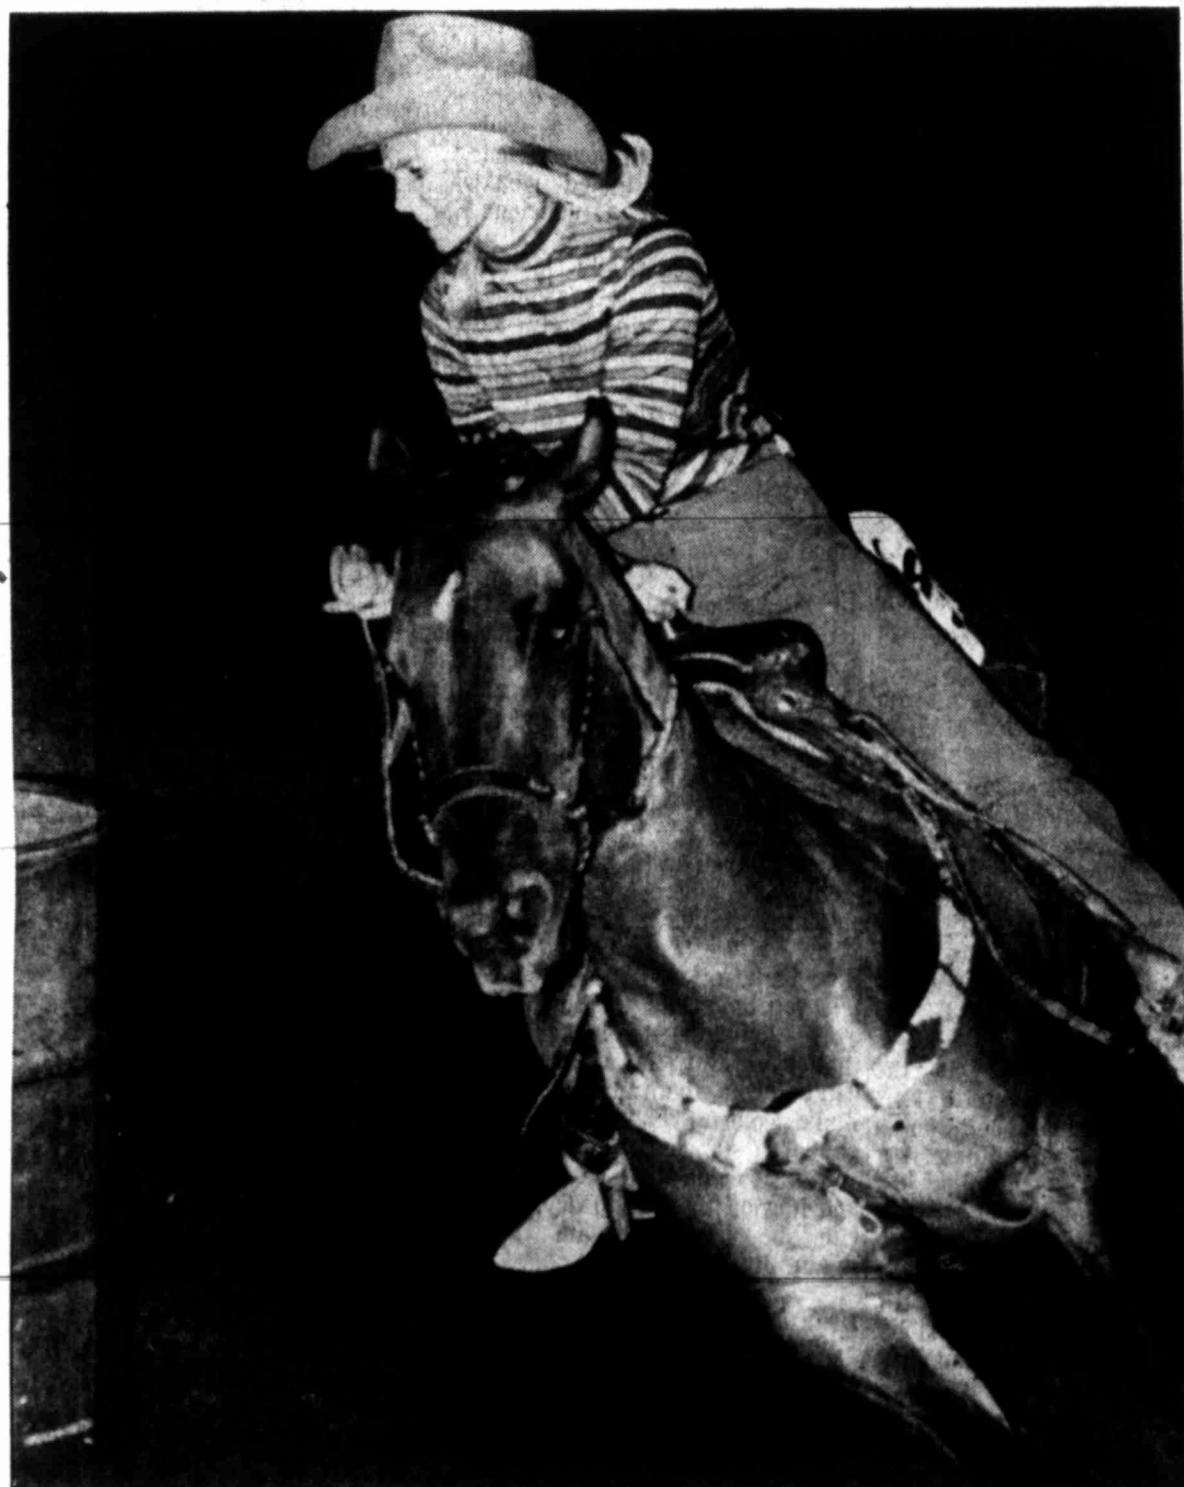

Hard Fighting Is Reported

PHNOM PENH (AP) — A powerful North Vietnamese-Viet Cong force attacked a provincial capital 80 miles north of Phnom Penh today and pushed to within 200 yards of major government strong points, the Cambodian army command said.

Moving behind a mortar barrage, the Communists struck Kompong Thom just after midnight. The Cambodian air force sent fighter-bombers into action at dawn. Latest reports said fighting was continuing and that the attackers were getting reinforcements.

Kompong Thom, on the road between Phnom Penh and the Angkor region in northwestern Cambodia, has been under almost constant enemy pressure for more than a month.

"Cambodian spokesmen say Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces have occupied most of Angkor, the site of the 12th century temple ruins that are Cambodia's greatest national treasure. There has been speculation that the Communists might try to set up a revolutionary capital in the ancient city.

MONEY WINNING COWGIRL — Terri Lewis, Big Spring, rounds a barrel on her way to a money winning ride. Terri and Sharron Harrison, Big Spring, had identical times and earned the right to split second and third place money in the first round of girls' barrel racing. Both were topped when Marie Voss, Snyder, turned in a 17.99 second ride Thursday.

Bull Wrestler, Rider Score High At Rodeo

By GORDON ZEIGLER
Warren Wuthier, Buffalo, Wyo., smoked the time sheets Thursday night, wrestling his steer to the dirt in a crack 5.2 second performance.

And walking back to his mount, Warren didn't even watch as judges waited out the calf to see if it would break. He had his mind on that all-around cowboy crown. Fighting it out for top money and all-around cowboy honors, Wuthier has been as close as fourth this year.

Two of Wuthier's rivals here this week, Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Iowa, and Ace Berry are in the top five. Mayo got dumped from a bull Wednesday. Berry scored 57 on a bareback bronc Thursday.

CROWD APPROVAL
A smaller than opening night crowd, about 3,000, gave their whole hearted approval.

Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo comes to a halt Saturday night, but not before two new crews of bull and bronc riders try to ride out the storm on tough stock. Performances begin at 8:30 tonight and Saturday.

Clark Shultz and his kicking mule amused fans briefly as the ruck kicked colored balls at spectators in the east grandstands.

Only one cowboy Thursday topped Wednesday night riding scores.

John Bland, Trent, set a new high in bullriding with 68 points. He topped veteran cowboy Harry Tompkins, Dublin, who had 67 points on Wednesday's card. Another good ride came when Jimmy Myers, Thorofare, N.J., hung on for 65 points and third place honors so far.

In the first event, bareback bronc ace Bob Mayo, stuck it out for a 66, but 1969 champion Gary Tucker, Carlsbad, N.M., held onto the lead with Wednesday night's 67.

CALF ROPING
Cowboy calf roping went into the second go round. Ronny Sewall, Chico, in after show competition, tied up his calf in 10.2 seconds. Next best was Skipper Driver, Big Spring, at 11.5 seconds. Tuffy Cooper, Monument, N.M., in the regular performance had 11.7 seconds.

Marie Voss, Snyder, wrapped up the first round in cowgirls' barrel racing with a 17.99 second ride. In a tie for second and third, Sharron Harrison and Terri Lewis, both of Big Spring, had identical 18.07 second rides Wednesday. Patt Marr, Tularosa, N.M., had an 18.10 second time Thursday to cop fourth.

On the saddle broncs, Sammy

Groves, Lubbock cowboy, tallied 65 points, but it wasn't good enough to top Bob Crill, San Angelo, who had 68 in a ride Wednesday.

MUST BEAT 5.2
In steer wrestling, Wuthier at 5.2 seconds will be the man to beat in second go round action. Closest to him is Lee Jones, Randlett, Okla., with 9.8 seconds.

Earl Wharton's precision sheep dogs and wily little Wetback, the cowboy monkey were crowd pleasers again.

Clark Shultz ironed out the bugs in his bucking car but put the machine in a frenzy at mid arena, spinning in circles before finding his way to the gate.

Prize money went to winners of first round steer wrestling and calf roping events.

Splitting $950.60 were ropers Kent Youngblood, Lamesa, $380.24; Truitt Carroll, Amarillo, $285.18; Bowie Wesley, Wildorado, $190.12; and Martin Fryar, Big Spring, $95.06.

MONEY SPLIT
Money split in bulldogging, $545.53, went to Bob L. Walker, Palmer, $218.21; Junior Meek, Anson, $163.66; Louie Rogers, Pecos, $109.11; and Kent Youngblood, Lamesa, $54.55.

It's V-Day In London Once Again

LONDON (AP) — It became official today: Edward Heath has ousted overconfident Harold Wilson from the prime ministry, winning a mandate to run the British government for a term that can last five years.

"We put forward the right policies, and we stuck to them," Heath told his followers. "We have convinced people they were the right policies and that we are going to give them a better government tomorrow."

DEFIED ODDS
The 53-year-old bachelor leader of the Conservative party was jubilant that he had defied the odds and confounded the forecasts.

From the start of counting in Thursday's election it was evident that the Tories had made a comeback, but it was not until early this afternoon that they clinched a majority in the House of Commons. At that time they passed into the majority with 316 seats in the 630-seat House.

Later the Tory total went to 325.

The final tabulation was hours away, but there were predictions Heath would have a majority of 23 or more seats. Wilson's majority was 65 in the last House.

Wilson made the best of it, saying: "I would think I will be prime minister of Britain again."

TO SEE QUEEN
Heath was expected to see Queen Elizabeth II by nightfall and assume the task of becoming her first minister. Wilson asked to see the queen to turn in his resignation, and the turnover of government was to take place quickly.

How did it happen? British voters decided it was time for a change. They took with a grain of salt Wilson's claim of restored economic stability, and they seemingly considered Heath better able to deal with problems of inflation, unemployment and Britain's role in world affairs. Some of them also took seriously the warnings against continued admission of nonwhite immigrants as voiced by Enoch Powell, a right-wing conservative with whom Heath differs.

It was perhaps an irony that the Conservatives, the traditional party of the Establishment, built up its majority in polling which brought out more new-generation voters than any election in the past. For the first time the voting was down to 18, from 21.

STAYED HOME
One factor evidently was that many people stayed home, perhaps misled by the polls into thinking their votes were meaningless. It looked as if just over 70 per cent of the voters had come out. The figure was almost 76 per cent in 1966 elections.

The result recalled American elections in diverse ways. Heath, in effect, pulled off what Harry S. Truman did in 1948 when he defeated Thomas E. Dewey despite most forecasts. Wilson sought to be the first prime minister to win three elections in a row. Franklin D. Roosevelt won a third term, but Harold Wilson couldn't.

Under the British system the party that wins the most seats in the House of Commons forms the government. Unless beaten on a vote of confidence it can serve five years, but the prime minister is able to step in ahead of time and order an election.

MRS. JOSEPH R. GRIMLAND JR.

Couple Recites Vows Sunday

In an afternoon ceremony performed at Westcliff United Methodist Church in Fort Worth, Sunday, Miss Anita Louise Wishcamper and Joseph Rush Grimland Jr. exchanged wedding vows. Dr. J. H. Wright of Grand Prairie officiated, assisted by the Rev. Wayne Arrowood of Chicago, Ill.

The bride, a graduate of Scripps College, Claremont, Calif., is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henry Wishcamper of Fort Worth. The bridegroom, a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Grimland of Grand Prairie and has just returned from Vietnam where he served a tour of duty as a first lieutenant in the Navy.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Michael Carnes. Mrs. L. Joe Wishcamper was bridesmatron, and Miss Debbie Tibbs of Big Spring was bridesmaid.

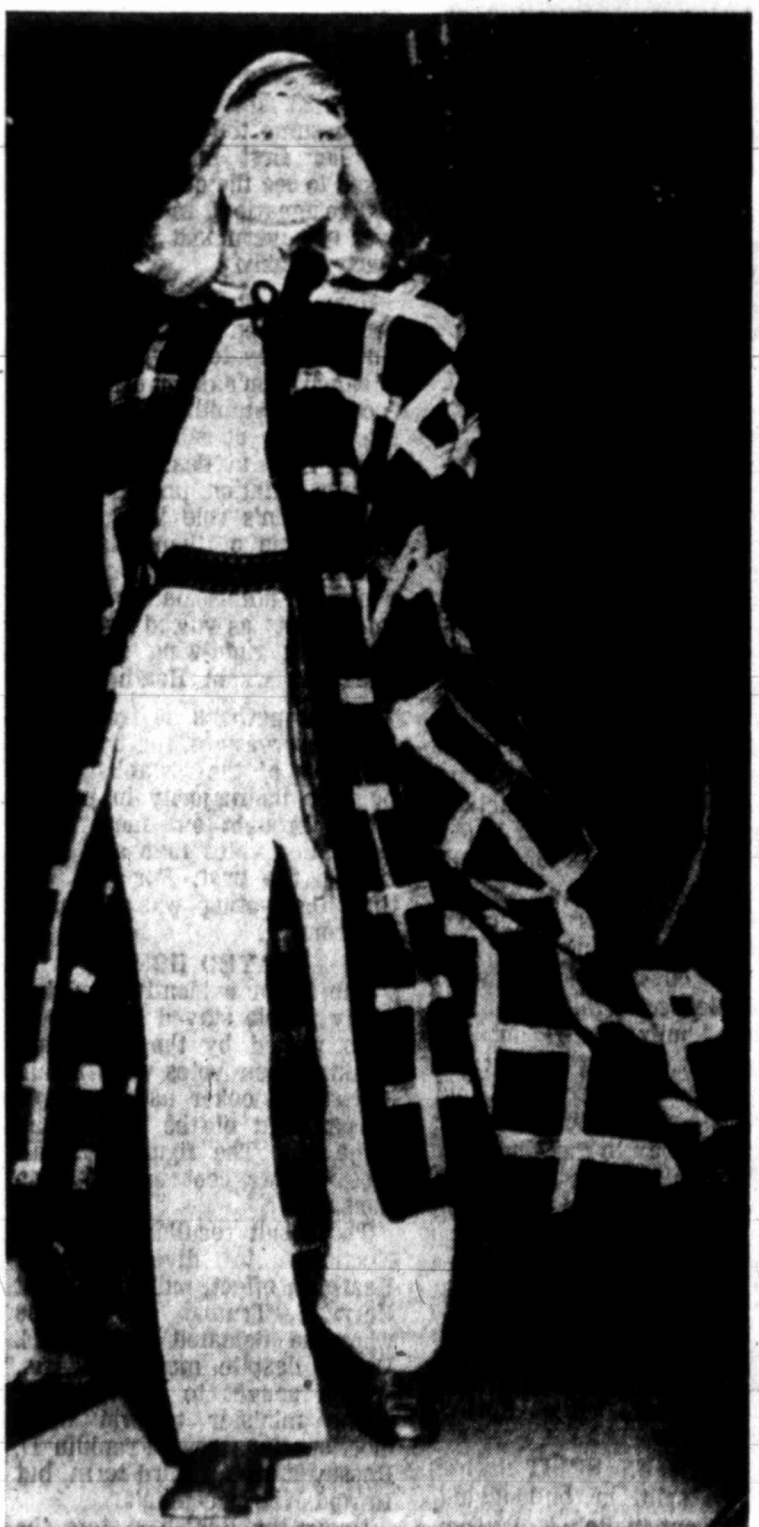

The bridegroom's father served as best man, and groomsmen were R. O. Base Jr. and Sam Meador. The ushers were Ron Smith, Michael Carnes, Jim Smith and L. Joe Wishcamper.

After a reception at the Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth, the couple left on a wedding trip to Monterrey, Mexico.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. P. Meador, the bridegroom's grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Meador, Mrs. Barbara Tibbs and Lisa Tibbs, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Meador, Odessa; and Mrs. N. R. Smith, Bend.

League Schedules Birthday Party

The Ladies Home League will hold their annual birthday party Wednesday at the Salvation Army Citadel to celebrate each member's birthday for the year. The women have been assisting this week with the Salvation Army Bible School. They have been teaching and serving refreshments to an average of 90 children each day.

Installation Slated By Legion Unit

The July installation of new officers was planned at Thursday's meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary in the Legion Hall. Mrs. Roscoe Cone, outgoing president, was appointed head of a committee to plan the installation, which will be held jointly with the Legion.

Mrs. E. Norman Rea, Veterans Administration Hospital volunteer representative, gave a report, and asked for a volunteer to do shopping for patients. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Viola Stephens. The next meeting will be July 2.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

A smashing good sauce or gravy in a hurry is a can of beef or chicken noodle soup whipped up in your blender!

My children don't care for vegetables in soup, but like puree, so I can disguise vegetables this way too.

The noodles provide a good base, and everyone is happy. Mrs. L. Bellinson

Great day in the morning gal, that's the hottest hint ever! We tried it and it's a real winner. Great over hot asparagus, chicken-fried steak and even makes a delicious cream soup.

It blends beautifully in an instant and needs no seasoning whatsoever... absolutely as tasty as any sauce or gravy you'd spend umpteen minutes whipping up from scratch! Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Don't we all hate to clean those barbecue grills?

I removed the top rack from my dishwasher, placed the grill at a 45-degree angle and let it run through the washing cycle twice. Since my grill is several years old, not all the embedded grime came off, but the high heat had baked it so that it sloughed off easily with a scouring pad.

Now I never do this awkward, greasy, difficult thing by hand anymore. Maude

Dear Heloise:

If you have any plastic tablecloths with the foam backing that have tiny flaws in them, don't throw them away. They make colorful liners for your cupboard shelves.

Easy to cut, can be washed and hung on the line to dry, and can be reused again and again. Jean D'Amico

Dear Heloise:

When doing big cleaning jobs, I set out two pails; one containing clear water, the other hot water with detergent.

I rinse my washcloth or mop in the clear water before re-dipping it into the detergent water. This makes it go farther, thus saving detergent and money! Vi Reed

Dear Heloise:

Since I am a typist, my hands get very dirty from carbon paper. So I keep a pushbottle of creamy lotion and put some on my hands whenever they need cleaning. I do not let it dry, but remove the dirt with tissues immediately.

This saves me time running to the washroom continually. It does a beautiful job of cleaning the hands and leaves them much softer than the harsh washroom soap. B. H.

Dear Heloise:

For making family-sized ribbon cookies I discovered that by putting each different color of the cookie dough in bread wrappers till the dough evenly fills the wrapper, you end up with exactly the same size and thickness of layers.

Simply slit one side and the closed end of each package, flop one layer on top of the other, remove top paper and roll as a jelly roll, using bottom paper for handling and for wrapping the roll for freezing prior to slicing.

No sticky fingers or counter this way... B. Warnica

Dear Heloise:

Here's a suggestion I have found most helpful:

When you remove hardware on doors and windows preparatory to painting, fasten the small screws to each lock, handle, door plate, etc., with tape.

This will save much time when you replace the hardware because the proper screws are right where you want them. Mrs. L. Gruenther

Bridal Shower Held For Phyllis Thornton

A surprise gift shower was held Thursday in honor of Miss Phyllis Thornton, bride-elect of William Morgan Martin, in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

The honoree was presented a corsage of yellow roses, lily-of-the-valley and wedding rings. Yellow rose corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. L. D. Thornton, and to Mrs. Elmo Martin of Houston and Mrs. Morgan Martin, mother and grandmother of the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Thornton was attired in a long-waisted yellow dress styled with pleated skirt and fringed scarf.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow cloth overlaid with white lace. An arrangement of yellow and white roses and white carnations encircling white candles formed the centerpiece. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The shower gift table was decorated with a bridal doll surrounded with yellow daisies and plumes, and the guest

Club Hears 4-H Talks

Programs on Civil Defense and farm and ranch management were given by Lomax 4-H Club members at the Lomax Home Demonstration Club meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Waymon Etchison.

Mary Dee Atkins and Dirk Perry discussed Civil Defense, telling how to be prepared for fires, tornadoes and nuclear war. Fire fighting equipment such as a hose and extinguisher should always be available, they said. In case of a tornado, one should take cover underground, lie on the floor or in a ditch. If a nuclear attack should occur, each member of the family should be assigned certain tasks. Food and water should always be stored underground.

Ralph Newman explained the economics of proper diet for hog raising in his demonstration on farm and ranch management.

A sow that is fed the proper diet will have larger litters and fewer runts and losses. If the farmer can increase each litter by one more pig, he will make much more money, Newman said.

The club adjourned until Sept. 3 when it will meet with Mrs. Danny Fryar as hostess.

Newlyweds En Route To Home In Alabama

Capt. and Mrs. Fred Joe Van Orden, who were married Sunday in Roswell, N.M., are on a wedding trip to points of interest in New Mexico and Louisiana en route to Fort Rucker, Ala., where the couple will be at home.

The bride is the former Elaine Dorsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dorsey, Roswell, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Booher, 1313 Eleventh Place, Big Spring.

The ceremony was performed in the First United Methodist Church by Dr. Austin H. Dillon, with traditional music by the organist, Miss Joyce Wells. The soloist, Gary England, sang "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Wedding Hymn" by Handel.

Capt. Van Orden, a graduate of New Mexico Military Institute, is stationed at Fort Rucker in the Department of Air Traffic Control. His bride graduated from Roswell High School and attended New Mexico University. She was employed by International Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association in Washington, D.C.

The bride's white crepe gown was fashioned with rolled collar and Tom Jones sleeves and was worn with a sleeveless lace coat which formed a chapel train. Her veil was a soft lace mantilla falling just past her shoulders, and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis. The center corsage of white roses was later worn on a purple and white printed dress for traveling.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Elizabeth Kox, Silver Springs, Md., was maid of honor, wearing a medium blue crepe gown with matching sash, yellow sandals and yellow love knots in her hair. The bridesmaids were Miss Joan Dorsey and Miss Ann Dorsey, sisters of the bride; Miss Rebecca Williams of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Rachel Bernier, Silver Springs. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor except in a lighter shade of blue. All wore yellow sandals and their hair was arranged with yellow love knots. Each carried a single yellow rose with blue streamers.

CAPT. AND MRS. FRED J. VAN ORDEN

Capt. David Read, Savannah, Ga., was best man, and groomsmen were Capt. James N. Tackett and Capt. William E. Maestretti Jr., both of Savannah; John Booher, Big Spring, step-brother of the bridegroom; and William E. Lloyd, Arlington, Va. The usher was Capt. Robert P. Marshall of Fort Rucker.

Joining the receiving line for a reception held in the Roswell Inn were Mrs. Joe Patterson, Clovis, N.M., the bridegroom's grandmother; and Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Michie, Wichita Falls, the bride's grandparents.

The refreshment table, laid with a white satin bouffant skirt, was accented with nosegays of blue ribbon and centered with a silver candelabrum epergne arranged with yellow roses, white mums and gypsophylla. The table also held a white anniversary candle and the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. James Travis presided at the guest book, and serving at the table were Mrs. Martha King McElvaney and Mrs. Tom Tucker, Elida, N.M. The tiered cake was topped with white wedding bells.

REHEARSAL DINNER
A buffet for members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests was held Saturday at the home of the bride's parents. The table was covered with Irish linen and accented with an arrangement of white mums and wedding bells.

nating committee was appointed with Mrs. Rhodes as chairman and Mrs. Jack McKinnon and Mrs. Denver Yates as members. The county-wide HD club field trip was discussed with members deciding to visit a museum. Mrs. MacConnell won the attendance prize. Mrs. Rhodes showed an area rug she had made of undyed nylon stockings.

Guests were Mrs. M. A. Dunagan and Mrs. G. W. Rhodes. The club recessed until Sept. 3 when they will meet in the Soles home.

HD Program Produces Luncheon For Clubbers

Two home demonstration programs were combined by Elbow HD club Thursday for a luncheon at the home of Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes, Garden City Route.

The "Cool Rise Yeast Bread" program by Mrs. Stewart Anderson and Mrs. K. R. Duffer, and the "Weight Control" program by Mrs. Lewis Soles and Mrs. George MacConnell, who broiled fish, produced a luncheon with salads brought by members.

Mrs. Lewis Soles presided at the business meeting. A nomi-

A LOVELIER YOU

Bored Or Buxom? Avoid Lonely Meals

By MARY SUE MILLER
How often do you have dinner alone at home? Are you aware that a solitary meal can be a threat to your weight, particularly a reducer's weight? Rather than cook a proper meal for herself, more often than not she raids the refrigerator for dregs and drabs.

In doing so, she almost always oversteps her calorie allowance. A pick-up meal — a little of this and that — is likely to contain more calories than a well-planned repast. It can never claim a balance of nutrients that promote health and vital looks. For instance, the leftover potatoes, gravy, rolls and pudding come in completely unbalanced at 500 calories.

All manner of excuses are given for not preparing a dinner for one: small quantities are difficult to buy; cooking takes time and ends in boredom. But those ideas really won't stand up. There are so many delicious heat-and-serve dishes packaged for dieters in single portions like Rice-and-Chicken or Barbecued Beef. Almost all canned foods come in individual sizes. Fresh foods can be purchased in any amount desired.

With a bit of organization, cooking time is negligible. Here's what you can do in 30 minutes for under 400 calories: Chicken Broth (canned), Broiled Chicken Legs (2 small, sold in parts), Fresh Asparagus (8 stalks, steamed) with Lemon Garnish, Thin-sliced Tomato, Orange Sections.

Now there's a tasty, slimming, healthful dinner. As for the boredom of preparation — would you rather be bored or buxom?

Handy Cloths

Make a large flat envelope from either oil cloth or plastic material, large enough to hold two pressing cloths, one for light garments and one for dark. Tacked to the underside of the ironing board, it keeps your pressing cloths always within reach. This keeps them cleaner and out of the way when you are not using them.

Jim Baum Speaks At Luncheon

Communications from the caveman's method of grunting to the future of mental telepathy were described by Jim Baum, guest speaker at the Big Spring Credit Women's Luncheon Thursday in Hotel Settles.

Methods of communicating listed by Baum included the metal stylus used by the Romans, smoke signals of the Indians, the lead and graphite pencil, fountain pen, ball point pen, typewriter, morse code, radio and television.

"The future of electronic communication is unlimited," said Baum. "In the next 50 years our present communications will be outmoded."

In discussing Colonial newspapers, Baum said that carrier pigeons were used to bring news from European ships returning to the colonies. These newspapers were published monthly using news briefs from the mother country. News was often carried by pony express until railroads and the telegraph were established.

Mrs. W. E. Moren presided. The next meeting will be July 2.

Punch Party For Lions Auxiliary

A punch party was given for the Downtown Lions Auxiliary Wednesday in the home of Mrs. C. L. Carlisle, 608 W. 15th, with Mrs. Jimmy Holmes as hostess.

The refreshment table was covered with a sheer white cloth and centered with spring flowers. Crystal appointments completed the setting.

Members made their regular donations to the Lion's home for crippled children in Kerrville. The next meeting will be July 15 in the home of Mrs. Joe Pond, 2706 Crestline.

Fabric Restorer

Spray sizing can be used on all washable fabrics to restore original body and feel. Spray sizing can be used on cotton, linens, silks and wools, as well as on synthetic fibers such as Orlon, Dacron and Nylon.

For best results when using sizing, set your iron temperature control one notch below, or cooler, than that indicated for the fabric you are ironing.

Parties Honor Future Bride

The series of complimentary affairs honoring Miss Deane Mansfield, bride-elect of W. A. Collins III, continued with two more parties this week.

On Tuesday evening, the couple was honored with a dinner hosted by Dr. Ora Johnson and her daughter, Mrs. Charlene Kee, in their home at 800 Main. The bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Toots Mansfield, were among the guests.

Miss Mansfield, who was attired in a brown and white silk print dress, was presented a gift by the hostesses.

Guests were seated at two dining tables which featured centerpieces of white daisies and doves. At each place were small heirloom cutglass baskets holding miniature white daisies.

The Wednesday event was a luncheon for Miss Mansfield which was held in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club. Hostesses were Mrs. E. H. Hatch, Mrs. R. T. Piner and Mrs. C. M. Adams. They presented the honoree with one of her wedding invitations framed in gold.

As she greeted the 25 guests, Miss Mansfield was attired in a long-sleeved brown voile dress stitched in white.

The couple will be married in July at the ranch home of her parents.

Robert Youngs Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, 1314 Wood, announce the birth of a son, Robert Alan, born at 6:40 p.m., June 17, at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 7 pounds, 7 1/2 ounces.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Anderson of Austin, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Young of Harlingen.

The couple has one other child, a daughter, Lori Ann, 3.

Prizes Awarded At Club Meeting

Mrs. George MacConnell and Mrs. Stewart Anderson received the Inch Pinchers' monthly prize Monday for losing the most inches. Members met in the home of Mrs. M. A. Dunagan. Mrs. Lewis Soles won the weekly bowl of fruit. Guests were Mrs. T. M. Dunagan and Mrs. Mabel Dunagan. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Ray Anderson, Sterling City Route.

Mrs. J. Powell In California For Theta Convention

Mrs. Jack Powell, regional officer for Kappa Alpha Theta, is in Coronado, Calif., today attending the fraternity's Centennial Convention at the Hotel Del Coronado.

In addition to the general sessions, where college delegates, alumnae delegates, grand council and district officers and visiting Thetas will be present, there will also be both college and alumnae seminars and workshops dealing with various areas of work.

of Newington, Conn., is national president of Theta.

Texas Legislature Faces Confusing Redistrict Job

AUSTIN (AP) — Next year's legislature will have a confusing, agonizing job in balancing the scales of representation to reflect this year's census. Supreme Court decisions, uncertainty about pending court action and scarce data will make it possibly the hardest job of redistricting the lawmakers have ever had. The state constitution says redistricting must be done next year, with candidates running in the newly drawn districts in 1972. The first legislature after reapportionment will serve in 1973.

BIG FOUR

Preliminary census figures indicate Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Fort Worth will get a total of nine more House seats, plus three more they will share with outlying rural areas. The "big four" urban counties also will gain three Senate seats and dominate a fourth shared with country dwellers.

Each House member will represent an average of 73,242 persons. Each senator will have an average constituency of 354,397.

Based on these averages, Dallas County's House delegation will increase from 15 to 18; Harris (Houston) County's from 19 to 23, with 37,967 people left over; Bexar (San Antonio) county's from 10 to 11, with 24,999 extra; and Tarrant (Fort Worth) County's from 8 to 9, with 52,208 remaining to share a rural or suburban district.

Dallas County will have three senators to itself—the same as now—but will have 252,473 people left over, obviously enough to dominate whatever rural or suburban area with which they are joined.

SHARE SENATOR

Tarrant County now has one senator to itself and shares Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells with a big ranching district; the census shows there are enough people to justify two senators who will represent only Tarrant County.

Harris County, now with four senators, has enough population to keep that delegation. It also has a surplus of 304,945 people, meaning that for all practical purposes the county will have five senators.

Bexar County has enough population to retain its two Senate seats, plus 121,867 additional people who will go into a rural district.

Travis County (Austin) will continue to have four House members; El Paso five, although it may have to share with several rural counties; Galveston two; and Bell (Temple) and Williamson (Georgetown, Taylor) counties two between them.

NOT ENOUGH

Jefferson County (Beaumont-Port Arthur) does not have enough population to keep its four representatives, and will have to share with one or more counties. The county has enough for three members to itself.

Counties evidently also losing representation in the House are McLennan (Waco), from 3 to 2 seats; Potter (Amarillo), 2 to 1; Hidalgo (McAllen) 3 to 2; and Taylor (Abilene) 2 to 1.

The hardest thing about redistricting is the fact that to beef up urban representation, some rural incumbents must be forced into races with one another. In some cases, small city representatives will have the same fate.

Members who are short on pull or are not in the in-group of either house are usually prime targets for such early retirement.

COMPLICATED DEAL

Next year's redistricting is complicated by at least three other factors:

—The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that any variation from districts of equal population must be justified, "no matter how small." State officials say there are no guidelines for justifying inequalities. In the past the legislature has felt it could deviate by several percentage points from equal population.

—Districts can't always follow county lines and still meet the equal population rule. But population data for individual census tracts—vital for carving districts that meet the rule—are not expected until next summer. The Texas Constitution says redistricting must be done in the first regular session (January through May) following the census.

—A case is pending before the Supreme Court that could result in a decision outlawing districts in which several members represent the same area. This is the case in all of Texas' urban House districts.

Pusher Receives Longest Prison Term In History

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A Dallas jury deliberated only 20 minutes Thursday before handing Antonio Rodriguez, 27, the longest prison sentence in the state's history—1,500 years for possessing and selling heroin.

It was the fourth time this year that a local jury has handed out a prison term of 1,000 years or more. Rodriguez was accused of selling three capsules of heroin to a police undercover agent. He had a prior record of conviction for sale of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

Prior to Thursday's conviction, the previous high prison term was a 1,001 year sentence for rape, a 1,000-year sentence for robbery and assault and a 1,000 sentence for rape.

MONOGRAMMED CLOTHING IS NEW FAD Mrs. Bill Moser and special machine

New Enterprise Provides Monogramming Service

Voting Machines Check Continues

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County grand jury will check further in the purchase of 100 voting machines purchased by the county for $1,500 each.

The 20-year-old machines were sold at public auction in Florida for $30 apiece to the Shoup Voting Machine Corp., which sold them to the county.

Dist. Atty. Carol Vance appeared before the grand jury Thursday to give what information he had "up to this point."

Several commissioners still maintain the buy was a good one. County Judge Bill Elliott, who voted against the purchase, has asked County Attorney Joe Resweber to check into how the contract can be rescinded.

James H. Elder, Jr., the grand jury foreman, said there will be more investigation Tuesday. After that, he said, they will see what steps will be taken.

A new enterprise is underway in Big Spring with the organization by Bill Moser, local businessman, of Fashion Monogramming.

Moser has introduced a unique process of embroidery in his cleaning plant, Fashion Cleaners, 511 W. 4th. The embroidery is done by a special machine, the only one of its type in operation in the immediate area. The only other machine of this type is in Lubbock, said Moser.

Mastergram, as the machine is called, uses a special kind of double twisted satin thread and represents an investment of approximately $1,300. Mastergram resembles a slightly overgrown sewing machine and uses 300 or 400 different colors of thread, including those in variegated shades, said Moser.

"The machine embroiders with a very beautiful stitch. No embroidery done by hand could compete with that of the machine in smoothness and evenness of stitching," said Moser. Moser has samples of the machine's stitching which ranges from initials in Old English script to names done in standard script handwriting.

Only in operation for the past two weeks, the plant has found monogramming becoming very popular, said Moser. "We have already done 100-150 men's shirts," Moser said.

Shirts, dresses, blouses, towels and blankets are popular items for monogramming.

"We have done one unusual item of embroidery for Father's Day," said Moser. It was a miniature Executive's Security Blanket monogrammed "Dad."

Funds To Study 'Pot' Smokers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has given the University of Texas $88,657 to study the effects of marijuana on the nervous system and genes of heavy smokers.

Part of a three-year research program undertaken by the university, the study will attempt to determine whether using marijuana over a period of time produces abnormalities in the nervous system and if so, whether the abnormalities disappear when usage stops.

The grant, dispensed by the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice, was announced Thursday by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. The institute is the research arm of the Law Enforcement Assistant Administration.

"We know marijuana affects the nervous system," said Richard W. Velde, an associate administrator of the LEAA. "The question is whether the effects are permanent or temporary."

The research will be carried out by the university's medical branch in Galveston, Tex., where medical researchers have already recorded abnormal brain waves on a number of patients who use or have used marijuana.

The study also will attempt to determine the effects of using marijuana in combination with other drugs such as LSD and amphetamines and alcohol.

Negro Beauty

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (AP) — A Prairie View A&M Negro coed was crowned Miss Prairie View Wednesday night at the city's first such pageant.

Margaret Penn will compete in the Miss Texas Pageant next month in Fort Worth, the first Negro representative from a major Negro school to take part in the state-wide contest.

Miss Penn is a sociology major at the school.

A detailed chain of inferential reasoning that would have done justice to a "Sherlock Holmes" enabled East to pierce thru South's impressive facade and thereby uncover the one line of defense to send the latter's four heart contract down to defeat.

West opened the deuce of diamonds and East put up the ace. The highly distributional nature of the dummy did not enhance defensive prospects. It was clear to East that even if declarer did not have the king of clubs, he could readily establish North's suit by finessing West for that card, and once trumps are drawn—the dummy would have tricks to spare.

In order to defeat the contract, it was necessary for East to construct a hypothetical holding, and then proceed on the assumption that the desired holding was—in fact—the actual distribution.

First of all, he placed the ace of hearts in his partner's hand, so that by shifting to a club, East would be in position to subsequently obtain a club ruff. Secondly, it was necessary for West to also hold the ace of spades, or else the defense would be limited to a maximum of three tricks—the red aces and one ruff.

Finally, provision must be made for the possibility that declarer had the king of diamonds and would obtain a spade sluff from dummy if the lead were surrendered prematurely. In order to protect his partner's spade trick, therefore, East shifted to that suit at trick two instead of playing his singleton club.

South put up the king of spades and West was in with the ace. It was now essential for the latter to provide a key measure of cooperation with East's conjectures by returning a club. The desired shift was promptly forthcoming, for from West's point of view—unless his partner was extremely short in clubs, the defense was powerless to develop another trick.

South did his best to fool the opposition by winning the club return with the king and then leading the ten of hearts from his hand as if he were finessing for the queen. West was not taken in however, and he put up the ace of hearts and led another club which East ruffed for the setting trick.

Three Prisoners Escape, Convicted Killer Caught

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Three prisoners sawed their way through bars of the Tom Green County jail here Thursday night, but one was captured a short time later.

Timothy Michael Porter, 19, of Indianapolis, Ind., awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary at Huntsville, was captured a few hours after the break at Paint Rock.

Porter was convicted on a murder indictment.

Still at large were Richard Richardson, 38, of Tom Green County, awaiting appeal on a burglary conviction, and James Reed, 23, of Big Spring, awaiting trial on a narcotics charge.

Officers said the trio sawed the bars off their second floor cell and used blankets to make ropes and reach the ground. They were missed at bed-check.

SAYS NO TO SPIRO — Gov. Francis W. Sargent, above, Republican governor of Massachusetts, has politely invited Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to stay out of the state's election campaign.

Teens Beat, Stab Jailer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Two teen-age prisoners beat and apparently stabbed county jailer Albert Lockford Patterson in a fight on the sixth floor of the Tarrant County jail Thursday night.

Lockford was treated at John Peter Smith Hospital for a puncture wound above his left kidney. He was termed in fair condition early today.

Tarrant County Sheriff Lon Evans said the two teen-agers—Joe David Halas Jr., 19, and Tannis Torres, 17, had when it came time for the inmates to be locked up in their cells.

Patterson was attacked when he entered what he thought was an empty cell.

C-City Play Day Set For Sunday

COLORADO CITY — Western Riding Club of Colorado City will hold an open play day Sunday at 2 p.m. Registration for the events opens at 12:30 p.m. at the arena west of the city on US 80.

This is the first in a series of three open play days to be held by the group this summer. The other two will be held on July 19 and Aug. 23.

Belt buckles will be awarded to the high-point winners for both boys and girls in all age groups. Six age groups will compete, nine and under (mounted on Shetlands); nine and under (regular mounts); 10-12; 13-15; 16-19; and adult. The play days will feature five events, barrel racing, pole bending, goat tying, flag racing and ring racing.

No admission will be charged, and the concession stands will be open. More information may be had from Betty Drennan, 915-728-8159.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is very good looking and is on the lying side of 50. He doesn't look like the swinging type, but I wouldn't put a thing past him. He gives a rather attractive, youngish divorcee, who works in his office building, a ride home nearly every evening. He doesn't accept any pay, but he does sometimes stop at her apartment for a drink (he says) now and then.

He's never more than half an hour late in getting home. Do you think he could be unfaithful to me in half an hour?

DEAR ABBY: I don't know. He's your husband, lady. Could he?

DEAR ABBY: Leonard and I have been married for two years. We plan to go east this summer (we live in California) to visit my grandparents and other relatives who have never met Leonard. They are good, but very conservative people.

My problem: Leonard has hair almost to his shoulders. I think he should cut it before

Soviet Spaceship Returns To Earth

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet spaceship Soyuz 9 returned to earth today after its record-breaking space endurance flight with two cosmonauts aboard, Tass news agency reported. It was in orbit for more than 17 days.

The Soviet news agency said Soyuz 9 landed at a predestined area 45 miles west of the town of Karaganda. Cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevast'yanov were in good shape on landing, it added.

The spaceship had been orbiting the earth since June 1, four days longer than the American Gemini 7 in 1965.

'Make America Better' Award

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The State of Texas was honored today with a "make America better" award.

Actress Laraine Day was scheduled to present the award, on behalf of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, at the convention of the Texas Association of Realtors.

The award recognizes efforts to improve the environment.

he goes east. His hair has never been a sore point between us, but I feel that if he cuts it before he goes, he will make a better impression on my relatives. Leonard and I talked about it, and he doesn't want to cut his hair. He says if I loved him I wouldn't ask him to cut his hair. I say it will grow back in time, and it's not too much to ask. Can you help us reach a decision?

DEAR CAL: Since Leonard doesn't want to cut his hair, don't "ask" him to cut it. For the sake of making a "better" impression, you are asking him to make a false one.

DEAR ABBY: I have some friends on the mainland who give my name and telephone number to every Tom, Dick and Harry from their hometowns who come over here on vacations.

When these strangers call me with "regards" from our mutual friends, I am always very friendly on the phone, but I know they are disappointed when I don't offer to "show them around" or entertain them in some way. But Abby, I just can't do it. I have enough relatives and friends of my own who come here, and with a busy husband and four children (two toddlers) I can't be an unofficial tourist guide for strangers.

Although I feel no obligation to people I don't even know, I feel guilty when I say "good-bye."

How would YOU handle this situation?

BUSY IN HONOLULU

DEAR BUSY: Just as you're handling it. And you needn't feel guilty. It's presumptuous for one to give your name and telephone number to every "Tom, Dick, and Harry" without your permission.

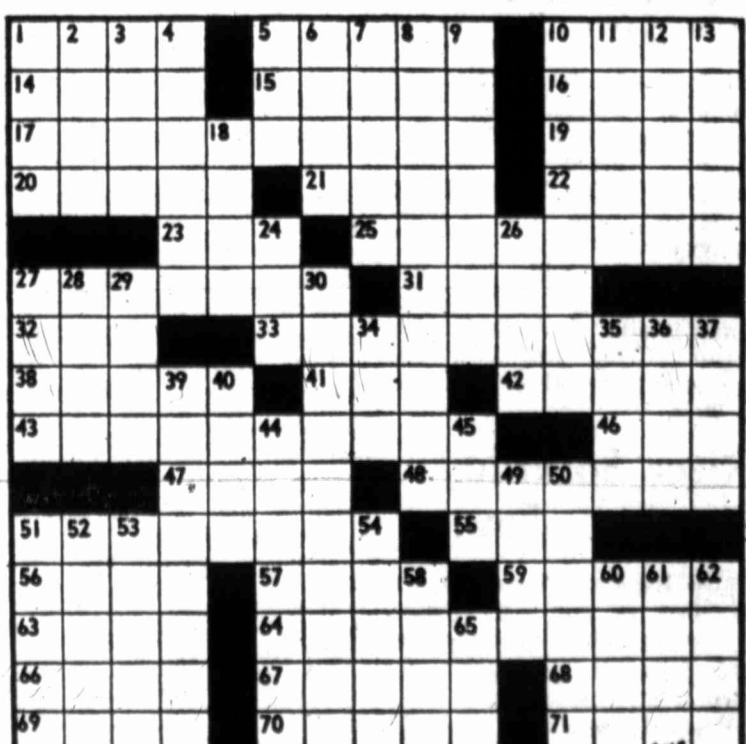

DEAR ABBY: My brother was in World War II. Fortunately, he returned home safely, but I have always felt a little guilty because I hardly ever wrote to him while he was away.

Now his son is in Vietnam, and I am still pretty bad at letter writing, but I have found the perfect solution. I send him the local Sunday newspaper. It costs only $2.50 every two months. He loves it. And says it's like a letter from "home," and I am so happy that I am the one who is able to give it to him.

"UNC," Utica, N.Y.
DEAR UNC: Beautiful (I'll bet this is one letter the editor doesn't cut out!)

Says Major Racial Unrest Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the federal agency charged with heading off unrest in the nation's ghettos says a replay of racial violence on the scale of Watts, Newark and Detroit is unlikely this summer. But he adds that simmering unrest among racial minorities — "the everyday little tensions" — could easily boil over during confrontations with police into sporadic outbreaks. "There is still, unfortunately, a great deal of hostility toward the police by minority groups," said Ben Holman, the director of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service. "Under certain circumstances, almost any kind of confrontation could lead to some kind of violence," Holman, a Negro, said in an interview. But he added: "This is not to predict wholesale rioting."

The police, he added, should "avoid at all costs the situation that would tend to escalate a situation." Holman's assessment was followed Thursday by a Justice Department prediction, prompted by reports it is gearing up for trouble in big city ghettos, that "cool heads will prevail this summer and violence will be avoided. "This is due mainly to citizens' increasingly negative attitude toward violence and to police experience and training and handling of difficult situations."

The statement, unsigned by any Justice official, said. What now confronts city officials, community leaders and the police, Holman said, is "a different kind of situation. "When there is trouble, it will be minor outbreaks of violence between unorganized groups of blacks and browns and police," he said. The pattern was set last summer, when feared large-scale violence in the cities did not materialize, Holman said.

START OF THE ALL FAITH CHAPEL AT HOSPITAL. Officials and community leaders break ground for project

Hospital Chapel Dream Now On Its Way As Dirt Turned

A spirit of happiness and thanksgiving rose higher than the mid-summer heat Thursday afternoon, as several score people gathered for brief ceremonies marking the start of construction of a new All Faith Chapel at Big Spring State Hospital. Several speakers noted a seven-year effort to bring into being a place of worship for hospital patients, and voiced gratitude to many who had a part in bringing the dream to fruition.

Dr. Harold Smith, president of the Hospital's Volunteer Council, presided and sounded the keynote when he said "this is a joyous occasion." He expressed thanks to many who had given money, time in the campaign, and voiced prayers for its success. Frank Hayford, Midland, chairman of the All Faith Chapel board of directors, said "we see more than a building here. We see an ideal coming to life. We are following the concept of healing religion to give the patients strength. God has supplied the increase in this effort, and He will apply more of His increase in healing."

Lee Porter, county judge, and Arnold Marshall, mayor also spoke with an expression of pride in a project well done. Jack Y. Smith, treasurer of the Chapel organization, noted major incentive gifts from the late R. L. Tollett and Mrs. Tollett, from the Dora Roberts Foundation, "and many others. We determined seven years ago to build a chapel, and now we are doing it."

Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent, expressed thanks from the hospital administration and staff, and a word of appreciation from the hospital residents came from Chris Baker. A chamber of Commerce President, Paul Meek observed "this is one of the greatest projects we have had in a long time, and will mean even greater things for our state hospital."

The Rev. Leo Gee, pastor of First United Methodist Church, voiced the invocation and the closing prayer was by the Rev. Lee Butler, hospital chaplain. Various members of the Chapel board, and other officials, spectators and patients took their turn at wielding long-handled gold plated shovels to turn the first dirt.

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Final arguments were to begin today in the murder trial of Amadeo Guerra Jr., 17, charged in the slaying last November of Travis Locker, a Texas highway patrolman. The defense rested Thursday after calling only one witness, the accused youth. Locker was shot to death last Nov. 9 with his own service revolver when he stopped a car near Waxahachie on a traffic violation.

Runaways have been the major offenders investigated in the last two weeks by Juvenile Officer Keith Jones. One girl, 16, was referred to the new state school at Brownwood after being referred to Jones by city police for possession of narcotics paraphernalia. Two girls, 15 and 17, from out of the county, were counseled and released to parents after being referred by city police for theft under $5. Two boys, 15 and 16, from out of county were released to relatives after police referred them for theft under $5.

Runaways included a 16-year-old boy from out of state who was counseled and released to an uncle in Texas; a 15-year-old boy from out of state who is expected to be released soon to parental authority; two boys, 15 and 16 from out of state who were released to parents; and a 14-year-old girl from out of state who was released to parents.

The grand jury is scheduled to meet June 30.

ASK POSTAGE RATES HIKE FOR PARCELS, CATALOGS. WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office announced Thursday it has asked for increased postage rates for parcels and catalogs, and is seeking for the first time to establish a 35-cent surcharge on odd-shaped and outsized packages. If approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the new rates — averaging 15 per cent for most parcels — would become effective within 30 days. Costs of mailing catalogs would be increased by a flat two cents per piece. The Post Office, expecting a $2.5 billion operating deficit in the fiscal year which begins July, said the increases are expected to raise an additional $123 million. Unlike other postal rates, which are set by Congress, parcel post rates must be approved by the ICC, which sets freight rates for trains, trucks and airplanes.

FRIDAY'S WEATHER — Widely scattered showers are predicted for the Eastern two-thirds of the nation Friday. Cooler weather is expected for the Northern portion of the country. Warmer temperatures will prevail in the south.

SET FIRE TO BUILDING — Two young girls throw a fire bomb and wood into a grocery store, setting a small fire. The fire grew, however, and burned until firemen got there. The extent of damage to the store is unknown. Miami has had four straight nights of violence in the Brownsville section of Miami.

Police In Miami Win Spotty Truce

MIAMI (AP) — Police gambled with a relaxed curfew and won a spotty truce today in black neighborhoods raked by four nights of shooting, looting and firebombing. Violence fell off to scattered incidents of sniping and firebombing. The shooting started Monday after reports that a white grocer had insulted a Negro housewife. Police softened the curfew at the request of City Commissioner Athalee Range who telephoned that more than 300 Negro youths gathered outside her office shouting demands for an end to the restriction. "It was certainly a wise move," said a police spokesman. "Things are about normal. We had very few incidents compared with previous nights."

The spokesman said, however, the dusk-to-dawn curfew was still in effect, but "we'll use it only if it's necessary." The violence has left 12 persons wounded by gunfire, scores injured and an undetermined amount of property damage.

Family Of Six Perish In Fiery Crash Near Globe

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP)—A family of six died Thursday night when a car and a cattle truck collided on U.S. 70 about six miles east of Globe and both vehicles caught fire.

Investigators said 62 cattle also died in the fiery crash.

Highway patrol investigators said the car, driven by Helen Verdugo Soto, 39, of Mesa, crossed the center line and plowed head-on into the truck.

Killed in the auto were Mrs. Soto, her husband, Ray, 34; sons Freddy, 13, and Ray, 1; and another son, Johnny Montalvo, 6; and daughter, Connie Montalvo, 11.

Officers said the truck driver, Benny Fowler, 26, of Oklahoma City, and his relief driver, Stanley Boyer, 34, also of Oklahoma City, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Little Progress In Power Talks

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Gulf States Utilities Co. and representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers have recessed their negotiations until Monday afternoon.

The negotiations aimed at settling a strike of more than two months in five Gulf States districts in Louisiana and Texas have brought little progress toward an agreement, a federal mediator said Thursday.

About 2,200 workers in the two states are affected. The Gulf States districts run from Baton Rouge to Conroe, Tex.

Dim Lights In Tijuana

TJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Emergency power lines across the border from the United States prevented most residents of this border city from being blacked out for a second night.

The 69,000-volt, mile-long extension by the San Diego Gas & Electric Co., gave Tijuana and its 335,000 residents about 75 per cent of electrical requirements starting at 6:03 p.m. Thursday, 31 hours after the blackout began.

A 12,000-volt line hooked up across the border Wednesday continued to give Tecate, 30 miles east, two-thirds of its power requirements. A similar line provided power for a 20-block area of downtown Tijuana Wednesday night.

Ensenada, a fishing community of 113,000 about 60 miles south, had limited power Thursday morning after going without electricity for 20 hours.

Meanwhile, a representative of the Mexican Federal Electric Commission planned to confer with the Southern California Edison Co., in Los Angeles regarding a loan of three 55-ton transformers.

The borrowed transformers would replace a 50,000-volt transformer which blew out Wednesday, cutting electricity transmitted from the thermal power plant at Rosarito Beach.

The transformer, which blew out because of a short-circuit, had been the spare for another which went out about two months ago. Mexican officials said it could take many weeks to build a new transformer in Mexico.

Sweetheart Sonja Oliver will lead the riders in a square dance on horseback.

Church Plans Are Made For Youth

St. Paul Presbyterian Church is sponsoring a day camp for youngsters who have completed the 5th and 6th grades. The children meet at the church on Tuesdays at 9:30 a.m. and are taken on hikes and nature walks. Bible studies are offered. The youngsters return to the church at 11:30 a.m.

Day camp groups will meet June 23 and 30 and July 14, 21 and 28, under the direction of Mrs. Walter Widger.

Art classes are conducted for all ages every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the church's Fellowship Hall. Mike Paul conducts the art classes which will continue throughout the summer.

Vacation Church School for pre-school and elementary aged youngsters will be July 22-31. All youngsters living near the church are invited to attend.

Stanton Police Chief Selected

STANTON — C. L. Rogers, one-time Big Spring police chief, has been named to a similar position in Stanton. He formally assumed his duties Thursday.

Stanton city councilmen formally named Rogers to the position earlier this week. In recent years, Rogers had been associated with the police department in Las Cruces, N.M.

More recently, however, he has been managing the Continental Trailways bus station in Big Spring.

Mismanaging Estate Suit Socks Candy

HOUSTON (AP)—The father of four grandchildren of the late Jacques Mossler filed suit Thursday against Mrs. Candace Mossler, charging she mismanaged her late husband's estate.

The suit was filed by John Kenneth Harrell, a Utopia, Tex., rancher on behalf of his four children. His wife, Jacqueline Harrell, died several years ago after her father, a millionaire financier, was stabbed to death June 30, 1964.

Mrs. Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were acquitted in 1966 for the murder of Mossler. They were defended by attorney Percy Foreman.

The suit alleges Mrs. Mossler, as independent executrix of her husband's estate, has used much of the estate to her own benefit and has refused to give the plaintiffs their share, which is estimated to be $539,835.

The Mossler estate is worth $10,810,342, said John H. H. Holloway, the Harrell's attorney. He said the main purpose of the suit was to open the accounting books of the estate to Mossler's three other daughters and to see that the heirs got what they are entitled to.

Mrs. Mossler said Thursday that the suit was motivated "by the political and publicity desires of certain lawyers and politicians," adding that the estate's businesses were never doing better.

The suit said Mrs. Mossler had listed expenses "unreasonable or unnecessary to the administration of this estate."

She claims as charges against the estate $500,000 commission for her services, $40,000 in accounting fees, $40,000 in financial advisor fees and $1 million in attorneys' fees, the suit charged.

Holloway said after five and a half years in which Mrs. Mossler was independent executrix it is "time to divide the estate." He said he has also filed a petition in Harris County Probate Court in order to get bond from Mrs. Mossler to cover expenses incurred by the estate.

If Mrs. Mossler refuses to distribute the estate in proper shares, the suit claims, she will be sued for damages totaling $2,850,000.

Cheryl Turner At Girls State

Cheryl Denise Turner, Big Spring, is one of 35 girls who has arrived on the campus of Texas Lutheran College, Seguin, for the 26th session of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State.

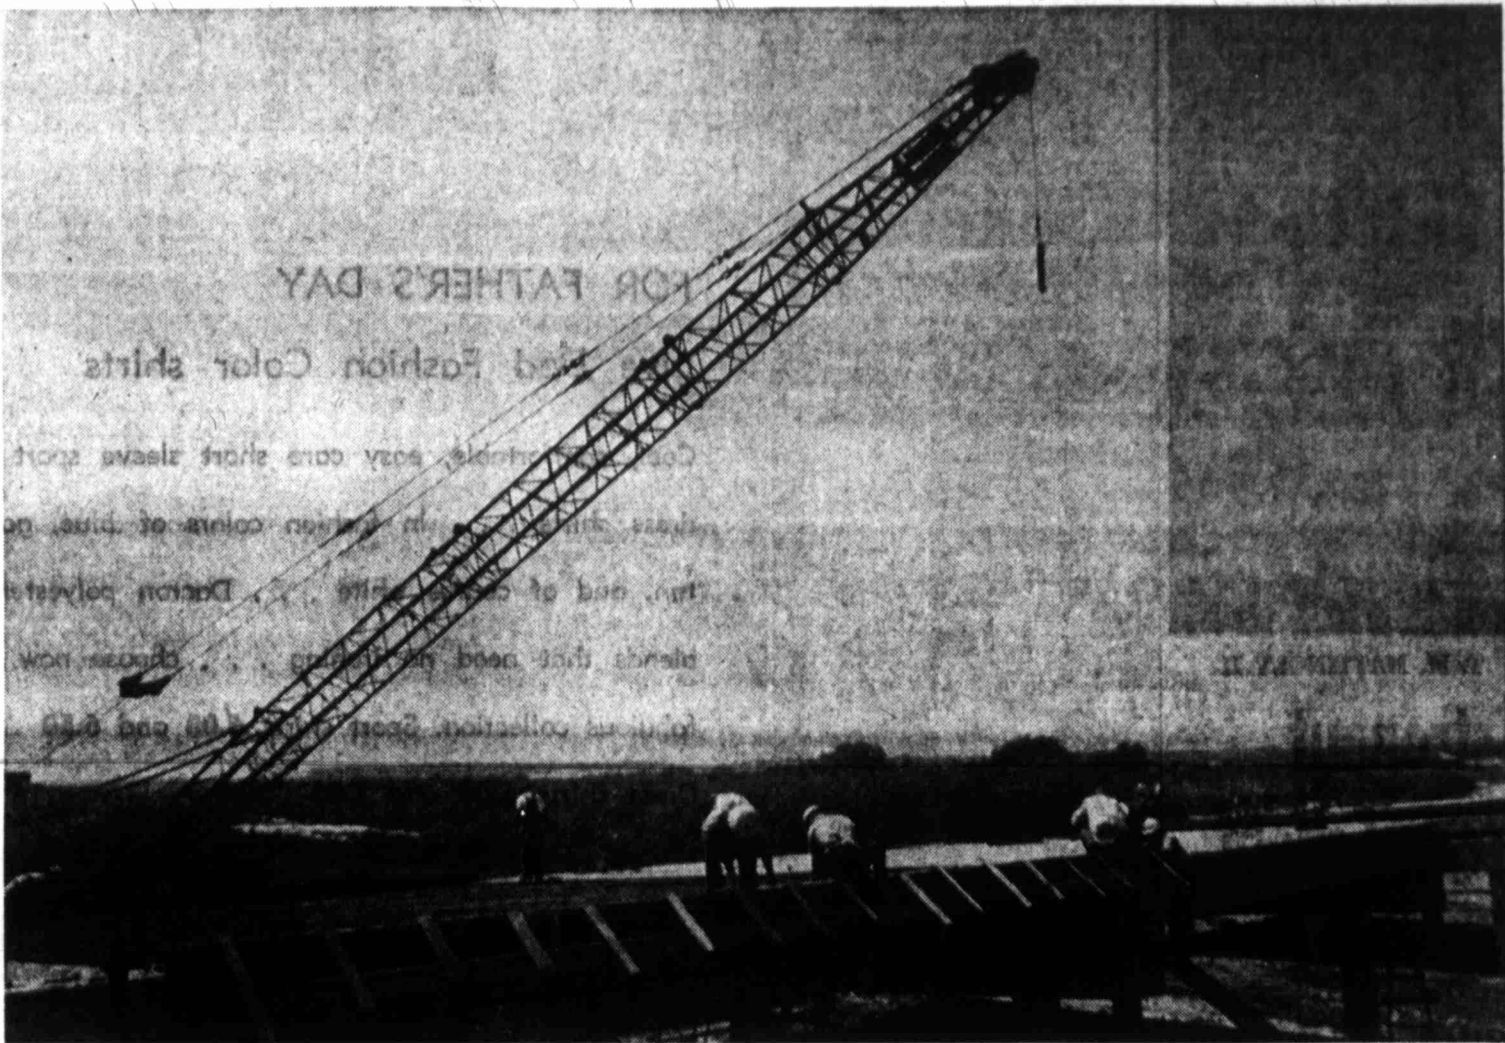

These girls are among some 500 delegates from all areas of Texas registering for the 10-day citizenship training program for high school girls.

Some of the speakers slated for the meeting are Cong. George Bush, Republican nominee for the United States Senate; Barbara Jordan, state senator from Harris County; Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate; Anne Hodges, assistant coordinator of research, Library of Congress; and Gov. Preston Smith.

BEAL'S CREEK BRIDGE TAKES SHAPE — Workmen are pushing along on the new bridge over Beal's Creek as part of the FM 700 improvement project. Piers are in and two of 13 sections of floor slab have been poured, leaving about two months' work to complete the structure, which is 40 feet wide and 520 feet long. Meanwhile, the contractor (Strain Bros.) is completing base asphalt and will begin this week laying the final course of pre-mix on most of the road from Goliad east.

New Nominee After Recheck

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Democratic Party officials say an official recheck of the June 6 runoff election shows a new nominee for the party in the Panhandle's 79th Legislative District.

State Democratic Chairman Elmer C. Baum said the official reports gave Roy Trosper of Higgins a 10 vote margin over Bill Cates of Lefors.

Previous unofficial reports, Dr. Baum added, showed Cates winning by 47 votes.

Baum said the committee's recheck giving Prosper 2,721 votes to 2,702 for Cates would be presented to the State Democratic Executive Committee when it meets in Austin Saturday for the official canvass of the runoff.

Nuclear Strike Settlement Looms

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Union and management officials have reached tentative settlement of a 65-day strike over wages at two nuclear plants here.

Officials of the Atomic Trades and Labor Council (ATLC) and Union Carbide Corp. emerged from a 31-hour bargaining session late Thursday and announced only that an agreement to end the strike had been reached.

The proposed settlement, subject to ratification Sunday by union members, would end Oak Ridge's longest strike.

Approximately 4,400 workmen at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory and Y-12 plant struck April 15 after rejecting wage hikes averaging 26 cents an hour.

Current wage rates range from $2.60 an hour for laborers to $3.97 an hour for skilled craftsmen such as machinists and electricians.

Carbide operates the facilities under contract with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Y-12 makes components for nuclear weapons while the laboratory produces radioactive isotopes and carries out a vast atomic research program.

Federal mediator William Pierce of Atlanta said, "If they ratify the proposed settlement, work at the plants could be resumed Monday."

Prune Picking Catfish Walks To California?

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — The marauding "walking catfish," described by a state Fish and Game Department spokesman as a "predatory problem" in Florida and Georgia waters since 1968, has been found "living wild" in California for the first time.

The 10-inch fish was caught by Bill Carlisle, 19, who was surprised when it started "walking" away from him. He turned it over to fish and game officials.

"It was a shocking discovery because this is a vicious fellow and California wants no part of him," department information officer Jerry Harrell said Thursday. "This is an ugly, sharp toothed, strong jawed predator that can go into a stream and make a mess of it by preying on black bass and other game fish."

T. M. MATTINGLY II

Astronaut Weds School Counselor

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Thomas K. Mattingly II, who missed the Apollo 13 flight because of the measles, has reduced the ranks of unmarried astronauts to three.

He quietly wed a school counselor, Miss Elizabeth Dailey of Edwards, Calif., at Brooks Air Force Base here Wednesday, it was disclosed Thursday.

His best man was astronaut Edgar Mitchell, the lunar module pilot for Apollo 14, which is tentatively scheduled for a December launch.

The only remaining unmarried astronauts are John Swigert, Harrison H. Schmitt and Alfred M. Worden. Swigert flew in Mattingly's place after he was exposed to the German measles — which he never caught.

Relatives said Mattingly, 34, and his brunette bride apparently hopped aboard a plane here shortly after the wedding. Their destination—or even whether they have really left the city—was unknown, relatives claimed. "They were very careful to avoid telling us that," said the bride's brother, Air Force Col. John Dailey, when asked where they planned to honeymoon. "I expect to get a call from them in about two weeks."

An Air Force chaplain from Laughlin AFB in Del Rio, Capt. Patrick Morison, performed the wedding ceremony at the Brooks Chapel. Relatives said the couple knew the chaplain when Mattingly was stationed at Edwards AFB, Calif.

The bride wore a short white dress and the groom a dark suit.

Dailey said the new couple had been dating for about the past five years and apparently met at Edwards AFB. The bride was a counselor with the Palmdale, Calif., schools near Los Angeles for about the same length of time, he said.

He said her home was in the suburb of Edwards, Calif. The new couple will live in the Houston area, he said.

Mattingly's parents, of Hialeah, Fla., and the bride's mother, Mrs. Vera Irene Dailey of Arcadia, Calif., were among those who attended the wedding.

The matron of honor was Donna Rucker of Nebraska, whose husband is with the Air Force in Southeast Asia, Dailey said. The bride met her at Edwards AFB, he said.

Texan Granted Gaming License

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—William B. Phares of Port Arthur, Tex., has been granted a gaming license so he can reopen the Riverside Hotel-Casino in Reno.

Reno is in the midst of the usual summer gambling boom.

The Gaming Control Board recommended Phares for the license over the objection of member Keith Campbell but the gaming commission granted the license.

Phares bought the 186-room hostelry from Riverside Investors Corp. after the Internal Revenue Service seized it for non-payment of employe withholding taxes.

The Port Arthur man said he would reopen the hotel July 2 with 15 table games and 200 slot machines.

Restauranters To Attend Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Green and family and Lonnie Coker will attend the convention of the Texas Restaurant Association in Houston June 23-25.

They will be among the more than 12,000 delegates expected to attend the 31st Annual Convention of restauranters. According to Coker, the convention will feature 354 booths on the latest restaurant equipment, foods and techniques. Dinners, dances and a golf tournament have been planned for the delegates.

Green is a member of the board of the Permain Basin chapter of TRA.

Change Draft Lottery Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft officials have devised a three-step lottery to ensure that the selection of numbers is random and thus avoid criticism that surrounded the first drawing last December.

The new system will employ both man and computer when the drawing is held July 1 to determine the order in which young men turning 19 will be inducted into the armed forces.

The plan, an official said, is not yet in final form, but officials hope to avoid charges the so-called fishbowl drawing held last year favored men whose birthdays fell early in the year.

The new plan calls for the National Bureau of Standards to use a computer to scramble the 366 days in the year—including Leap Year's Feb. 29—a total of 50 different ways.

The 50 366-part lists then would be put into separate envelopes and shuffled. A bystander presumably would pick an envelope. The computer-scrambled dates then would be put in capsules and placed in a glass jar and mixed.

UNLESS HE RECEIVES STAY Man Can Be Extradited To Mexico After 6 P.M.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A Pharr man can be extradited to Mexico at any time after 6 p.m. Saturday unless he receives a new stay from the U.S. Supreme Court, Asst. U.S. Atty. Raul Gonzalez said Thursday.

Merardo Pena Anaya, 29, is charged with murder and armed robbery in Mexico in connection with the robbery last year of a federal disbursement office in Mexico City.

The U.S. State Department has ordered Pena Anaya extradited, but he has been able to obtain three stays.

Pena Anaya's lawyer, Alfonso Guerra, of McAllen, was granted a two-day stay from the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. He had sought a 90 day stay.

The Pharr man and Juan Lopez Mejia, a Mexican National, were arrested Dec. 1, 1969, at Redlands, Calif., by officers who said they found money taken in the Mexico City holdup. Lopez Mejia voluntarily agreed to return to Mexico.

Guerra contends that the extradition treaty with Mexico is not valid because Mexico has refused to extradite persons to the United States. U. S. Dist. Judge Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville said that a provision of the treaty allows either party to refuse to extradite any person.

Another contention made by Guerra in his legal battle is that Pena Anaya will not be tried by a jury in Mexico. Pena Anaya is being held in the Hidalgo county jail at Edinburg.

SMITH FAMILY SINGERS TO GIVE CONCERT HERE
... Gayla, Ginger, Mrs. Smith, Greta, Fritz Smith

Fritz Smiths Plan Concert

The wife and daughters of famed musical evangelist Fritz Smith will join him here in concert Tuesday in the Baptist Temple at Eleventh and Goliad. Billed as The Smith Family Singers, they will perform at 8 p.m. in the one-night concert. No admission will be charged, and the public is invited to attend, according to the Rev. James Puckett, pastor.

The group is singing in Houston and San Antonio prior to the Big Spring visit, and they will go on to Plainview, Pecos, El Paso, Phoenix and Anaheim, Calif., afterwards.

Smith, a native of Arkansas and a graduate of Baylor University and Southwestern Seminary, is married to the former Shirley Oliver, Tyler, and they have three daughters, Gayla, 17, Ginger, 14, and Greta, 12.

Nazarenes Plan VBS Next Week

Vacation Bible School will begin Monday at the Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster, with classes being held from 6:30 to 9 p.m., according to the Rev. Wales Lankford.

Directors will be Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wooldrige. Classes will include games with prizes going to the winners in addition to the regular Christian study.

Rousing Concert Given Wednesday

A rousing concert was presented Wednesday evening at the First Baptist Church by the 116-voice Contemporary Christian Singers from Plano.

The choir, which has appeared over CBS television and has played to full-house audiences many times, confined its concert to a repertoire of sacred music, including hymn arrangements, spirituals, anthems, and tunes with a beat from contemporary folk musicals.

They were accompanied by a 12-piece orchestra, plus organ, all under the direction of James Fineout. The program was narrated by James Fitzhenry.

The choir, travelling in three chartered buses, will have stops in El Paso, Tucson, Ariz., San Diego and Los Angeles, Calif., (where members will spend five days working with Vacation Bible School groups) at Las Vegas, Nev., Albuquerque and Carlsbad, N.M.

Baha'i Community Plans 'Firesides'

The Baha'i Community of Big Spring has invited the public to attend the second in a series of "Firesides" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Watts, 4106 Parkway Road, Saturday, at 8 p.m.

This week's subject will be "Progressive Revelation," a discussion concerning the oneness of all the prophets of manifestations sent from God. Among them are Krishna, Moses, Zoroaster, Buddha, Christ, Mohammad, and the latest one, Baha'u'llah.

The Baha'i faith is an independent world religion, founded in Persia, (now Iran) in 1844. Baha'is believe that their founder, Baha'u'llah, is the bearer of God's word for this age.

Baha'u'llah taught the oneness of God, the oneness of religion, and the oneness of mankind. The Baha'i Faith is established in over 300 countries and territories.

Puppet Show Ends Lutherans' VBS

St. Paul Lutheran Church completed Vacation Bible School with a picnic and a program of music, skits and recitation Friday. Theme for this year's Bible School was "God in Country" and 65 youngsters attended the Bible classes with 20 adults working as teachers and helpers.

Friday night's final program featured a puppet show depicting the story of the Good Samaritan. Awards were made to those pupils with perfect attendance and those who had brought visitors.

BSHS Senior Chosen To Attend National Nazarene Convention

Mike Wooldrige, 17, will be representing the Big Spring Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster, at the International Institute in Estes Park, Colo., July 14-20.

Wooldrige is one of 1,600 Nazarene teenagers from the United States, Canada and abroad to be chosen for the Christian convocation centered around teens. The quadrennial event is sponsored by the Nazarene Young People's Society, an auxiliary of the Church of the Nazarene with Headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

The Big Spring High School senior said he is looking forward to attending the meeting. He will join 22 other West Texas representatives July 13 in Lubbock. They will travel from there by chartered bus to Colorado.

Paul Skiles, head of the Nazarene Department of Youth, says the Institute will "provide opportunity for personal spiritual decisions and growth, foster closer fellowship among Nazarene youth and enlarge vision and improve understanding of the mission and the work of the church."

Church Of Christ Schedules VBS

The Carl Street Church of Christ Bible school will be held Monday through Friday for children from age two through the seventh grade. Special programs will be given each morning under the direction of Kenneth Roach with the theme "The Bible Tells Us So."

The school will run from 9 to 11 a.m. each day. The program will include supervised activity and refreshments. Special awards will be presented Friday to the boy and girl who bring the most visitors. The school will conclude with a picnic Friday at Comanche Trail Park.

standing of the mission and the work of the church."

Wooldrige, vice president of the Young People's Society at his church, said he was chosen by the district council of YPS after he filled out a questionnaire. He said he had never attended one of the meetings, but had heard about them from Jerry McGuire in the local church. McGuire attended the 1960 meeting.

Featured on the program will be the national Bible quiz playoffs and a performance by a 1,000-teen choir of "LIFE," a new Nazarene youth musical plus a premiere performance of music from a new musical by Paul Mickelson about the second coming of Christ. Among the guest speakers will be the Rev. Jim Bond, former all-American basketball player. Gene Cotton, folk-singer, and a group of college students known as "The Lost and Found," will provide the music.

Wooldrige, who plans to be a doctor, said he will attend Howard County Junior College for two years upon graduation from high school next spring. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wooldrige, 2510 Central.

A Devotion For Today

"Did not our hearts burn within us while he talked to us on the road?" (Luke 24:32, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, whose creative and sustaining power is in all things, grant us sensitive hearts and understanding minds to discern Thy presence everywhere. In reverence we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

All Together, Let's Stop Inflation

Mr. Nixon has made it plain that government control of wages and prices is not in the picture.

Instead, in his talk to the nation this week, he has followed the course of asking voluntary restraint.

The fight against inflation is everybody's business, the President said. Agreed. The big question is who opens the first round of the fight.

It is a commendable thing for labor to say it will not ask for further wage boosts, and for management to say that it will not put any further increase on the price of any item. As a practical matter can either be so cooperative? There are many factors entering into the inflationary pressure, and in many cases the producer, the manufacturer, the distributor or the retailer finds elements beyond his control. Similarly, as costs do go up, labor cannot refrain from trying to get wages for a fair living.

The President resorted to the familiar policy of naming a commission to look into labor productivity, and to find ways to bring the price structure into some sort of stability. He also has called for a system of "inflation alert", presumably to sound the siren against major wage advances and significant price increases.

He may have hit on the real key issue when he ordered the establishment of a board to review federal purchasing procedures to assure that they do not drive up costs and prices. Some conservative thinkers have had the feeling all along that the government's policies, in spending and in borrowing and in appropriating for many programs not resulting to pure public benefit are the most direct contributing factors to continued inflation.

Wage-price control historically has not been too successful, is difficult to enforce and does not meet acceptance with the people. But in its stead, will the people really exercise restraint in stopping the inflationary spiral? They are being called upon for a tremendous show of unselfishness. Who's the first to volunteer?

Shelter For Draft Objectors

Only yesterday, it was pointed out in these columns that a move toward a national government system for putting young men into eligibility for future military purposes—if necessary—might be one answer to draft reform.

Subsequent to the writing, the Supreme Court ruled by a 5-3 vote that exemptions for draft purposes may be relaxed for conscientious objectors.

If we understand the implications of this, a new system of registering and training young men may be forced.

The court said that all persons having strong moral or ethical objections to military duty, even though these are not rooted in religious beliefs, may be excused. All that is necessary is that these convictions are deeply held and are not based on expediency.

It appears that the effect of the new ruling will permit any youth to say simply that he opposes, in good conscience, service in the military. It will not be a matter of whether his objection is on religious beliefs—only that he objects.

How the validity of such objections can be checked out is indeterminate, because a man must be sure of his own moral convictions. Surely most of the nation's finer young men will continue to realize their obligations as citizens, and to remember that their own nation must be protected; but just as surely this new shelter provided by the Supreme Court can open the way to considerable abuse.

The court, simply speaking, has hurried along the necessity of a new approach to maintaining the nation's safety and defense strength.

The Black Virgin Is Ours Again

WASHINGTON — War is a personal matter for those who have known it. A city, a town, a square mile of muddy, pockmarked terrain remains a sentimental place on the map for the rest of one's life.

From World War II, a man remembers both fondly and sadly the Luxembourg town of Wiltz, where a little scene of the Battle of the Bulge was enacted. Argentin in Normandy, Metz, Nancy and the Charlottemburg section of Berlin will never be erased from his memory. Thus it is good, personal news to learn that for the moment the South Vietnamese city of Tay Ninh and a rocky pimple named Black Virgin Mountain have been made secure by the Cambodian operation.

TAY NINH is about 17 miles east of the Cambodian border. Between Tay Ninh and the border is Black Virgin Mountain, 3,500 feet high. A few years back, as a rumpiled correspondent, I made a couple of visits to the Special Forces unit of Americans and Vietnamese of Camp Nu Ba Den — three acres of boulders on Black Virgin's summit. The men I knew are long gone, but it is nice to know that conditions have improved.

IN THAT DAY, the Americans and Vietnamese owned the mountaintop. The Viet Cong owned the slopes and most of the surrounding country-side, including night-time Tay Ninh. Nu Ba Den was the most strategic observation post in all the area of flatland surrounding Saigon, 55 miles to the southeast. From there, the Special Forces unit commanded the whole region extending to the Cambodian border, whence supplies poured in for the enemy.

NU BA DEN was a bad place to live. It was also a bad place to visit. The only way to reach it was by helicopter. Just before the chopper touched down, a body could have reached out and shaken hands with the enemy on the slope. By day, the Viet Cong were only 100 yards away; by night no-man's-land was a frightening 10 yards in any direction from the summit's edge.

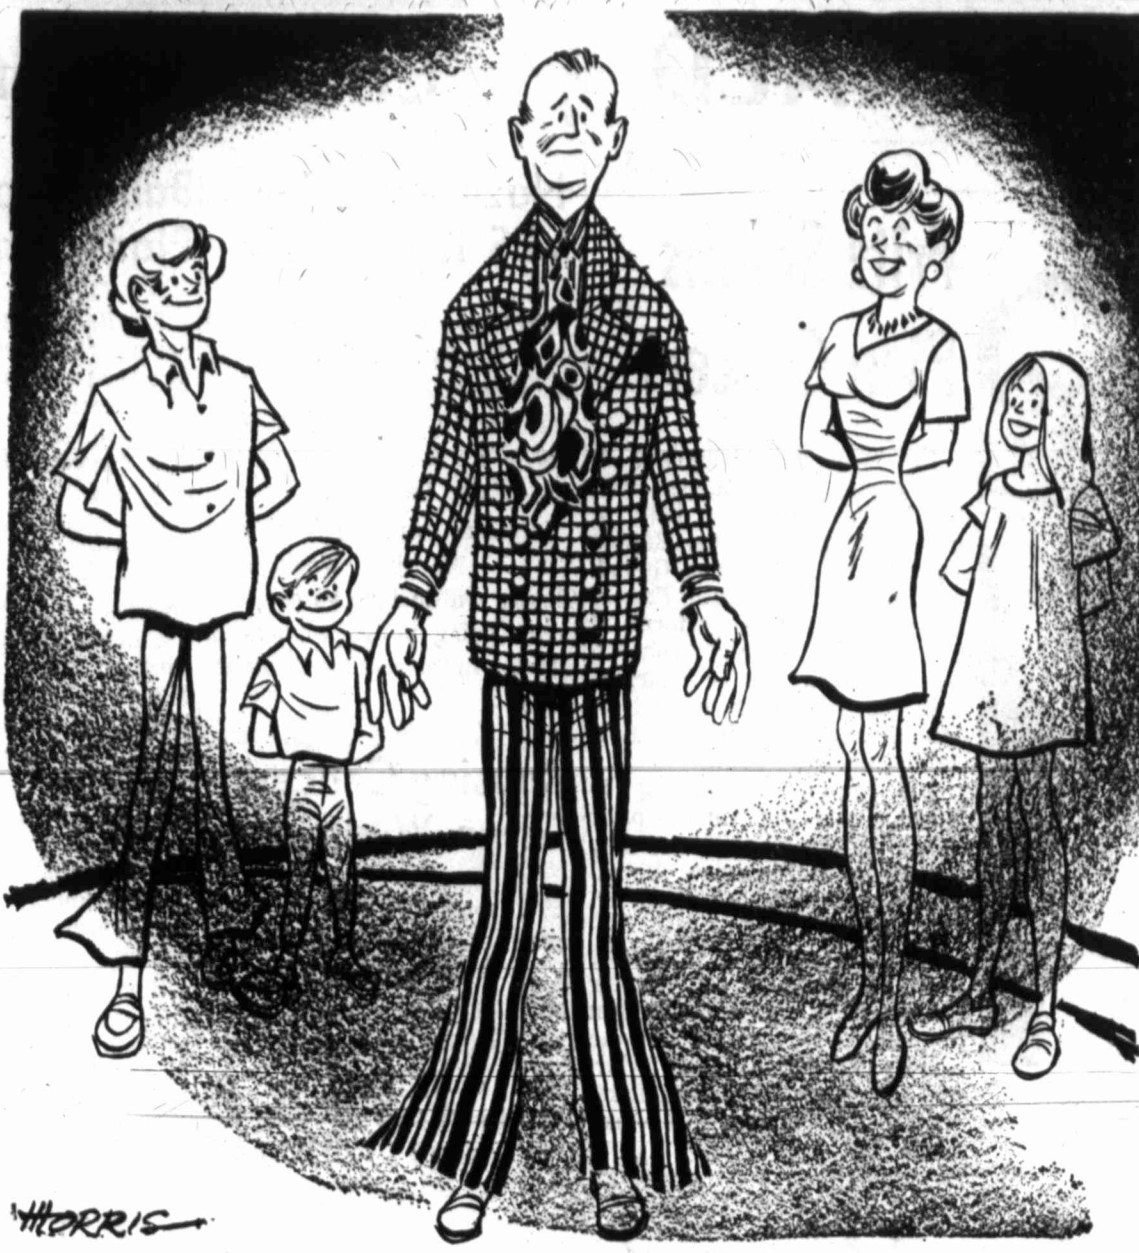

At night, the Viet Cong pelted the summit with mortar shells and tracer bullets. By day they often got close enough to toss grenades into the camp. So the little band of Americans and Vietnamese dug in a little deeper every day, under the relentless supervision of its commanding officer, Sgt. W. C. Smith of Fayetteville, N.C.

DEATH LURKED always a few steps away. In any full-scale attack by the enemy, the Special Force would have nowhere to go. Curiously, it never came. Perhaps Oriental-like, the Viet Cong were content to make life on Black Virgin Mountain miserable for the foreigners.

The garrison was rotated periodically lest mass claustrophobia set in. Yet there was a gay sort of esprit de corps among Sergeant Smith's warriors. Smith admitted with a grin that he didn't have to worry about his men wandering away.

NOW, IF ONLY temporarily, Black Virgin Mountain at least is secure. Wherever he is, Sergeant Smith must have sighed a huge sigh of relief when he heard the news because he used to employ a grim joke to describe his company's predicament. Asked if the camp were well-supplied, Smith would shake his head. "Nope," he replied. "We ain't got any wings."

Summer Worrying

NEW YORK (AP) — What are your plans for summer worrying?

Some human workhorses like to do heavy worrying all year round. Their brows are as wrinkled and their shoulders as bent with the world's problems in July as they are in February.

This doesn't make much sense. When warm winds blow, flowers bloom, and the sun shines all day long, it becomes much more difficult to worry productively.

Naturally no conscientious worrier ever wants to throw away his troubles altogether, but what he can do is shelve some of the heftier ones during the hot season and face them next October when he'll feel stronger.

Which ones to keep and which to postpone? Ah, that's another worry in itself, isn't it?

Here, however, is a suggested list of fascinating problems you can knit your eyebrows over later without destroying the bathing average of your worrying:

Is mankind's spiritual poverty hereditary or acquired? Will Cassius Clay ever fight another fight outside a courtroom?

If we don't shore up the U.S. shoreline faster, will we soon have no shoreline at all?

How much pork can the government pack into one pork barrel?

Suppose your parakeet escapes its cage and is struck dead by a ball while flying over a golf course. Is the golfer legally liable for your loss of the bird's services?

What do women want anyway? Isn't enough ever enough for them?

If you actually tossed a coin into the air 50,000 times, would it come down heads 25,000 times and tails 25,000 times?

Who is minding the store? In heaven's name, what kind of kids will our present younger generation raise?

Which is the better bargain in a supermarket, a 2½-ounce packet of silver almonds at 39 cents, or the giant-sized 3¾-ounce package at 59 cents?

What will Ralph Nader attack next?

If it turns out that sex isn't here to stay, can we all buy a one-way ticket to wherever it goes? How, after paying for the family's vacation, is he ever going to raise the money to buy new shoes to send his children back to school in?

John Cunniff

Nixon's Undefined Sin

NEW YORK (AP) — A curious omission from President Nixon's strategy against inflation is his reluctance to describe the enemy in terms that would help identify it for his fellow Americans in business and labor.

In his address on inflation and economic policy, the President stated:

"Now is the time for business at every level to take price actions more consistent with a stable cost of living. Now is the time for labor to structure its wage demands to better achieve a new stability of costs."

But is there a businessman who can say specifically what price action the nation expects of him? And if he does decide to sacrifice his company's profits for a greater good, how does he explain it to the directors?

Is there a union leader who can, in clear conscience, decide to sacrifice a few cents on a wage agreement in order to make his contribution to stability? And if there is, how much should he sacrifice?

The President does recognize that such criteria can be developed, for he has advised his Council of Economic Advisers to prepare a periodic inflation alert. Oddly, however, the alert will come after the event.

In other words, the council "will spotlight significant areas of wage and price increases and objectively analyze their impact on the price level." But presumably after the damage has been done.

The inflation alert, therefore, will be unlike smog, tornado, air raid or any other alerts that man has devised to warn of impending danger.

For months the President has resisted suggestions that he provide some clearer criterion that would permit business and labor leaders to judge, in advance, the inflationary potential of their price and wage demands.

Such a criterion would suggest guidelines, and the President has scorned a guidelines policy as "an attempt to dictate specific prices and wages without authority of law."

But guidelines are not dictates, as President Johnson found out. Johnson made the error of thinking that the government could continue to spend heavily and avoid inflation because, he believed, business and labor could be restrained by guidelines.

He soon found out differently. Neither business nor labor ever accepted his criteria of inflation as dictatorial—only suggestive. And when they no longer could accept the suggestion, they simply ignored the guidelines.

Business and labor leaders today can rely on no simple indicator for determining the disruptive potential of their acts. And neither does the public. As Dr. Walter Heller, economic adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, puts it: "Nobody has defined the sin."

It isn't that business and labor don't believe the President's warning:

"If you act against the national interest, if you contribute to inflation in your price or wage demands, then you are acting against your own best interest, and your customer's best interest."

They want to know how to identify the crime before it's committed.

Around The Rim

Rodeo—Time Of Excitement And Color

A rodeo clown jumps in to divert attention from a dazed banged-up cowboy. He winds up with his face in the dirt and four sharp hooves attached to 1,500 pounds of mad Brahma bull charging over him.

THE GASP OF THE crowd turns to a roar of laughter as the clown gets to his knees and lifts his hands in an attitude of prayerful thanks.

Rodeo is a sport favored in Texas and Oklahoma both by participants and spectators. The Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo in Rodeo Bowl shows why.

The cowboys and cowgirls are strong competitors in all events. The trick riders and animal trainers work hard to put on a good show. The emotional crowd loves it all.

HOW WELL THE contestants and performers do depends a lot on the skill and intelligence of the animals—even Wet Back, the monk.

The style and grace of a well-trained cutting horse is a beautiful thing to watch. The rider sits unneeded as his steed eyes the calf, cuts it out of the herd and keeps it at bay.

A broken leg, a fractured skull or worse could be the result of one misstep made by the trick rider's horse as the rider performs his intricate acrobatics at full speed.

AVID RODEO FANS have favorites, but they show heart for all.

The calf-roper who loses his loop and the steer-wrestler who jumps too soon and misses his steer often get a louder cheer than the one who hit his mark. Cheers and bruised egos are all they get. The winner takes home the prize and the money.

R O D E O CONTESTANTS are a romantic breed. Some are ranchers and breeders—others are school teachers, football coaches, ex-wrestlers or college students.

When rodeo time comes, they don wide-brimmed straw, pearl-buttoned shirts, low-slung Levis and high-heeled boots. And with the wardrobe comes a built-in swagger only cowboys have.

The cowgirl's favor fancier garb of bright-colored hats and tight pants with charro flares below the knee—made from the most sparkling fabric available.

THE FLAMBOYANT dress is no indication of tenderness. The girls compete just as hard in their events—hang in there—and can outstride many of their male counterparts.

The rodeo is show and glitter with a lot of dirt and bruises to go with it.

Nostalgia for frontier days gone by may have a lot to do with the special feeling of a rodeo, but for an evening's family entertainment it can't be beat.

THE RODEO got off to a grand start Tuesday when the more than 200 mounted riders, several floats and antique cars streamed past The Herald and the event ended with the heart-jerkin' tune — "Oklahoma Hills." Touched my heart. —WALT FINLEY

The Magic Number Of Seven

WASHINGTON — The magic number seven is for both Republicans and Democrats a totem that looms ever larger on the November horizon. By knocking out seven of the 25 Democratic seats up for grabs the Republicans would gain control, with the vote of Vice-President Spiro Agnew, of the Senate.

LOOKING TOWARD 1972, the setback for the Democrats would be a serious blow. Control of Senate committees means the power to determine the flow of legislation in accord with the wishes of the Republican-in-the-White House. Granted that the Republicans themselves are divided, as one Senate vote after another attests, nevertheless the committee chairmen sitting at the toll gates exercise great authority, if only by veto.

Among the 25 Democrats the vulnerable are conspicuous enough. They owe their vulnerability, in part, to the widening rifts in the party, to the Vietnam war, the students, the ghettos. An interesting case study is Sen. Harrison A. (Pete) Williams Jr. of New Jersey.

IN THE STATE that serves as a bedroom for the commuters of Philadelphia and New York the Republicans have gone a long way toward restoring the kind of one-party control that prevailed in the past. They elected a Governor, William T. Cahill, who carried all but one of New Jersey's 21 counties. In both houses of the legislature they have two-thirds majorities.

WINNING HIS primary by a two-to-one margin, Williams now finds himself under attack from liberal left Democrats. They charge him with falling down on the investigation into the dictatorial control of the United Mine Workers that was dramatized by the murder of Joseph P. Jablonski, his wife and daughter. In a union election marked by violence and intimidation Jablonski had lost to W. A. (Tony) Boyle, heir to the old lion, John L. Lewis, who had for so long run the UMW as his private fief.

The charges come from Joseph L. Rauh Jr., the Washington lawyer who has championed so many public causes, and from Joseph A. (Chip) Jablonski, son of the murdered man. They charged the then Secretary of Labor, George P. Schultz, with a cover-up when he appeared before Senator Williams' investigating subcommittee.

RAUH HAS BEEN urging Williams to name as chief investigator Walter Sheridan, who had a lot to do with exposing the crooked practices in the Teamsters' Union and thereby laying the ground for James L. Hoffa's prison sentence. Williams' response is that he has his own chief investigator in whom he has complete confidence. A fund of $265,000 has been authorized for the investigation.

A preliminary report, according to members of Williams' staff, has turned up disturbing facts. Indications are that with the increase the pension fund will last only a few years. With mechanization and the increasing use of other fuels, coal mining is declining and more and more UMW members go on the pension rolls.

Unconstitutional Approaches

WASHINGTON — Although well-intentioned, the various amendments and resolutions being offered in both the Senate and the House which seek to direct the nature of American military operations abroad — not only in Vietnam but everywhere else that trouble may arise — appear to be plainly in violation of the Constitution. Congress has no right to specify how the tasks of the commander-in-chief of the armed services shall be performed.

THE LATEST proposal, however, has specified how U.S. forces can be committed to combat hereafter in the absence of a declaration of war. It states four possible contingencies: To repulse a sudden attack on the United States or its possessions, to repel any hostile operation against our armed forces legally stationed abroad, to protect the lives and property of American citizens abroad, and to comply with a national commitment taken by positive action of Congress and the President. In these instances, the bill would make the military operations dependent upon affirmative action being taken by the Congress to sustain action beyond 30 days, and the Congress would have the power to cut the 30-day period short.

THIS USURPATION of authority over the commander-in-chief is certainly not in consonance with the constitutional provision which flatly states that the President of the United States is to be commander-in-chief of its armed forces.

In the case of Vietnam, President Johnson did obtain from Congress, through the Gulf of Tonkin resolution in 1964, explicit authority to "take all necessary measures" in Southeast Asia in order to defend that area, where military steps had already been started for that purpose.

A PRESIDENT can go to Congress and ask for its consent to send troops to carry out treaty obligations. But this doesn't necessarily require a "declaration of war." It is the legal implication of the latter term which has caused a hesitancy to proclaim such a status in the Vietnam war.

There are some occasions when an official declaration of war can result in international complications. Mutual-defense agreements or treaties of alliance which the belligerents have with other governments can be invoked, widening the conflict. Formal neutrality would have to be proclaimed by some countries.

OTHER PROBLEMS under international law arise once the United States assumes a wartime status. Normal trade relations are interrupted. Travel to and from this country becomes subject to closer inspection, and merchant ships on the high seas or in the vicinity of the war area might feel uneasy when the American fleet is in the same waters, because searches can be made to prevent shipment of supplies from reaching the enemy.

Now particularly the United States government feels that American participation of any consequence will be brought to an end within the next two years. So there is no desire to become involved with any declarations by Congress about a "state of war."

PRESIDENT NIXON has promised that by the end of June, which is less than two weeks away, all American troops will be withdrawn from Cambodia. Surely the members of Congress who have been assiduously trying to pass resolutions on the subject of suspending funds for further military projects in Cambodia could wait at least a fortnight. There is really no need for any legislation on the subject of Cambodia.

THE AMERICAN people are watching what is happening on Capitol Hill, and next November all members of the House and a third of the Senate will be up for re-election. The "silent majority" of their constituents are still a powerful factor. From a political standpoint, the dissidents would be wiser to spend their time on domestic legislation, so much of which has been neglected while Cambodia has been getting attention it doesn't deserve.

Ex-Boston Hurler Is Tough On Old Mates

By The Associated Press
 Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees needed some help and the call was answered by wandering Gary Waslewski.

The former Boston Red Sox right-hander got one of his infrequent starts and performed superbly, allowing his former teammates two harmless singles for six innings before tiring in the Yankees 3-2 victory over Boston Wednesday night.

"I had to come up with somebody," Houk said. "I thought Gary might be the guy."

Waslewski, a 28-year-old picked up from the Montreal Expos a month ago, was just that, providing the lift and the Yankees—winning their 12th game in 14 starts—edged to game within 1 1/2 games of the American League East Division leading Baltimore Orioles. Last year at this time, the Yankees trailed Baltimore by 16 1/2 games. They were 31-35 compared to the current mark of 38-25.

In the only other AL game, Cleveland stopped Washington 6-3, while in the only two National League contests, Montreal ripped Atlanta 10-7 and Chicago blanked San Francisco 6-0.

The Yankees led 3-0, including a homer by Curt Blefary and a run-scoring single by Bobby Murcer before Waslewski was reached for a lead-off homer by Sox' shortstop Rico Petrocelli in the seventh.

Houk replaced Waslewski, who was making only his second start for the Yankees, with ace bullpenner Lindy McDaniel, who held off the Red Sox despite Petrocelli's second solo homer a ninth-inning blast into the screen in left.

Waslewski, who pitched in the 1967 World Series for the Red Sox, moved to the St. Louis Cardinals and the Expos in 1969 before the Yankees bought him.

He also hurled for seven minor league clubs in his 10-year pro career.

The victory was his first of the season after going 0-2 with Montreal.

Tony Horton slammed a three-run homer in the eighth inning, snapping a 3-2 tie and giving the Indians their fifth consecutive victory.

Horton also ripped a pair of singles and was aided by solo homers by teammates Roy Posse and Graig Nettles. Aurelio Rodriguez had a two-run shot for the Senators.

Ron Fairly slugged an eighth-inning grand slam homer to cap Montreal's six-run rally in overtaking the Braves who got three hits from Hank Aaron, including his 18th roundtripper of the season.

Aaron, who drove in four runs, added a single and double along with his two-run shot, the 572nd of his career while Gary Gosger drilled four hits for the Expos, including a two-run homer.

Ron Santo and Billy Williams belted homers and the Cubs breezed to their triumph behind the seven-hit hurling of right-hander Ferguson Jenkins.

Santo was a two-run shot off loser Rich Robertson while Williams contributed his 18th of the season, a solo shot, as Jenkins, 8-7, rolled to his fifth consecutive triumph.

league clubs in his 10-year pro career.

The victory was his first of the season after going 0-2 with Montreal.

Tony Horton slammed a three-run homer in the eighth inning, snapping a 3-2 tie and giving the Indians their fifth consecutive victory.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Clovis Hale's problem of keeping coaches may be a little more acute at the moment than it is in most school systems but the poser is facing all schools and can only get worse.

There isn't an abundance of young men training for the profession and the demand for those turning to it far exceeds the supply.

The long hours demanded of a coach encourage many a person to look to other professions as a means of livelihood. Other jobs are not as demanding simply because the pressure is not there. There is nothing quite so indelible in life as a victory or a defeat in athletics and when a team is on a losing streak the aides as well as the head man in a coaching system can feel the heat.

The insurance profession regards itself as a true friend of the coach, when it may be a school system's worst enemy. It spots a good man whose name is already in front of the people and whose picture appears in the papers often. He has attributes that are natural for the insurance profession. It offers him a job with a starting salary higher than he's making and the coach finds his resistance wearing thin. Others turn to selling sporting goods as a profession where the pressure is not always evident.

You figure out the hours a coach works (he stays long after school has dismissed to teach character and fundamentals to a boy) and his average pay-per-hour doesn't come out to very much. In some systems, because he earns $1,000 or more a year than the average classroom teacher, resentment builds up against him with the rest of the faculty.

Here is a friend of man and boy who sometimes doesn't feel like he has a friend in the world. That feeling, regretably, is apt to envelope him after his team has been whacked on the playing field.

It's a wonder as many stay in it as they do. The love for the job holds most, who ordinarily might defect to other occupations.

Coach Dan Devine, football coach at the University of Missouri who will be in Lubbock later this month to mastermind one of the teams in the Coaches' All-America game, has one sign hanging in the dressing room used by his Tigers. It says: "What I gave I have; what I didn't give I lost forever."

Ex-Big Springer Peppy Blount, who kept his hand in football for years after leaving the University of Texas by officiating in both the Southwest Conference and the American Football League, is helping the former TCU great, Norm Blalock, negotiate his contract with the Baltimore Colts.

Peppy, of course, is an attorney-at-law and now resides in Longview.

If Joe Frazier and Cassius Clay ever fight in Canada (and it's unlikely now that they will), most of the money would have to come from theater-television in America.

No doubt, with Cassius' star in eclipse as it is at the moment, that would prove to be a hard sell.

Buster Barnes, the Big Spring coaching aide, is staying busy this summer officiating youth baseball games here.

You'll no longer see the name of Joe Don Looney decorating any of the professional football rosters. The stormy petrel of the game, who had his share of off-field brahuhahas, is working on his father's ranch.

He recently was ordered to pay a $7,000 judgment for a Baltimore caper.

Curt Cox Leads

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Curt Cox of San Antonio, Tex., turned in a 66 in the second round Thursday to take the lead in the Southwest Amateur Golf Championship at Coronado Country Club with a two-round score of 135.

TAYLOR BAGS HOLE-IN-ONE

John Taylor, former president of the Big Spring Country Club, canned a hole-in-one at the course Thursday while playing with Ike Robb and Harold Davis. His ace came on the 155-yard seventh hole. Taylor felt so good about the feat, he went ahead and fashioned a 39 for the round.

The ball might have been looking for a cool place to land. The temperature hovered near 100 degrees when John swung. Witnesses said it was a near-perfect shot.

Multiple Listing Service

MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE DOES SELL EQUITIES:

Some of the important advantages of a MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE are:
 (1). BUYERS & SELLERS receive the benefit of cooperation between REALTORS rather than being restricted to the offerings of a single agent or series of agents. (2). NEGOTIATIONS ARE carried on under rules of procedure designed to assure ethical practice, thus furthering the interests of clients and the public, while extending adherence to high standards of practice. (3). CURRENT MARKET information which is readily available through Multiple Listing, means that REALTORS, their clients and the public are better served and informed.

They'll Appeal Abortion Laws Rule In Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas says he plans to continue trying abortion cases even though a three-judge federal court ruled here Wednesday that Texas' abortion law is unconstitutional.

Wade said Thursday the federal panel had specifically refused to enjoin enforcement of the law prohibiting abortion, while ruling that it violates the Ninth and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

"Apparently we're free to try them, so we'll still do that," Wade said. Three abortion cases are pending trial, and the district attorney's office indicated it will not hesitate to try others if they are filed.

Wade said he intends to appeal the abortion decision to the U.S. Supreme Court. In Austin, Attorney General Crawford Martin said he will also appeal.

"I do not agree with the court decision that the Texas statutes are overbroad and vague," Martin said.

Usually when a state statute violates the U.S. Constitution, the attorney general joins the appeal to the Supreme Court.

Often when a state law is called into question on U.S. Constitutional grounds, a three-judge panel, consisting of two U.S. district judges and one U.S. Circuit appellate judge, hears the case.

An appeal questioning their decision goes directly to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court has already agreed to review this fall the decision of a Washington, D.C., federal district judge that the statute prohibiting abortion there is unconstitutional.

A three-judge federal panel in Wisconsin and the California Supreme Court have also declared statutes prohibiting abortion in those states unconstitutional.

Traditionally, when the Supreme Court reviews one decision on a matter of legal question in several states, the decision is taken to apply to the other states as well.

The Dallas three-judge panel — U.S. Circuit Judge Irving L. Goldberg and U.S. District Judges Sarah T. Hughes and William M. Taylor Jr. — closely tracked the California, Wisconsin and Washington, D.C., decisions in making theirs.

The Dallas panel said Texas' abortion law is too broad and too vague, violating due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution by failing to specifically outline under what circumstances performing an abortion constitutes a crime.

The judges also said Texas' law violates the Ninth Amendment by abridging a woman's right to decide whether to bear children or not.

'FUR' CHANGES — With fur-bearing animals becoming scarce, man-made fur is gaining popularity as witnessed by the Reigel-La France fall showing in New York Thursday. Mrs. George Barrie, top, a socialite-model, wears a simulated fur dress and coat and a designer-manufacturer Russel Taylor models a fake tiger coat while being nuzzled by a five-month-old tiger, Elizabeth, at the show which was co-sponsored by a conservationist group.

Senators To Work Nights To Rid 'Rat's Nest' Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has agreed to start night sessions next week in an effort to resolve the legislative impasse created by the month and a half debate on U.S. policy in Cambodia.
The strategy was conceived by Senate Democrats with a dual purpose: showing good will to the Nixon administration by considering its legislative program and applying pressure for an early vote on proposed restrictions on future U.S. activities in Cambodia.
But an end to the marathon debate still seems unlikely before the June 30 date set by President Nixon for withdrawing all U.S. forces from Cambodia.
The Senate agreed Thursday to vote Monday on an amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., specifying presidential powers to protect U.S. troops, which appears to command virtually unanimous support.
Earlier Thursday, another agreement was reached to permit evening consideration of bills blocked from floor consideration by the current debate.
The agreement calls for the Senate to drop the military sales bill, vehicle for the current Cambodia debate, and turn to other legislative matters each day at 5 p.m. The evening sessions are expected to last four or five hours.
The first measure to be considered will be a catch-all, supplemental appropriations bill that has to be passed by June 30. It is to be followed by a $4.5 billion education money bill that contains three House-passed riders to slow school desegregation. These have previously been rejected by the Senate.
LIMIT ON DEBT
If these can be cleared, the Senate will then consider such measures as the House-approved increase in the legal limit on the national debt—which also must be passed by June 30—and the controversial postal reform measure.
Also as part of the agreement, the Senate will meet two hours ahead of its usual noon starting time.
Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposed the revised scheduling to a Democratic caucus Thursday, which backed it unanimously. After some interconference Republican leaders went along.

Weather Steals Jump On Summer In Texas

By The Associated Press
Texas was warm and clear as dawn broke Friday after a night of mostly fair skies lighted by a full moon.
Summer stole a few days from springtime to keep temperatures high around the state, and more face-scorchers were due Friday in 100-plus readings about Texas.
Most of the early cloudiness was in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Panhandle areas and in the mountainous sections of Southwest Texas. Some fog formed along the Gulf Coast.
Brisk winds that raked much of the state Thursday diminished during the night and ranged from light to calm at daybreak. Overnight, in high humidity-temperatures stayed warm. Dallas' lowest temperature up to 4 a.m. was 80 degrees. It had dropped to 79 two hours later.
Forecasts called for even hotter temperatures through Tuesday with widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers.

WELL, DID YOU CALL?
GRAND MARAIS, Minn. (AP) — Two 13-year-old boys, walking in nearby woods, spied a bull moose. Steve Tillberg decided to try the moose call his father had taught him. It worked. The big animal charged them.
Steve and his companion, Darrell Johnson, shinnied up a handy tree. There they roosted until they haled a car passing on an old lumbering trail, and it took them to safety.
