Refinery Fire Extinguished With Foam

FRANKLIN, Pa. (AP) — Firemen used foam Saturday to smother a fire that raged out of control at an oil refinery for more than 30 hours after explosions and fire killed three persons and burned more than a million gallons of fuel.

Crumpled pieces of blackened steel were all that remained of high storage tanks at the Witco Chemical Co. in this northwestern Pennsylvania community of 10,000.

BODY FOUND
Firemen said they recovered a charred body believed to be one of three men missing in the fire, but they were unable to identify it. The intense heat from the twisted metal delayed the search for the other victims.

Witco plant manager L. C. Borrell said about 1,800 gallons of foam were used to extinguish the blaze.

About 40 of the company's 150 oil and gasoline storage tanks were destroyed, Borrell said.

EXPLOSIONS
Explosions crumpled several tanks and sent flames and thick black smoke hundreds of feet into the air Friday night. Two tanks were still burning Saturday.

In addition to the three deaths, 14 persons, including three workmen, were injured—three critically.

There was no damage reported to homes, including a trailer park, within a quarter mile radius of the refinery. About 200 persons were ordered away from their homes Friday night, but began returning Saturday.

A special truck capable of shooting foam 150 feet onto the tanks was credited with smothering much of the blaze. Hundreds of firemen from 15 communities in northwestern Pennsylvania aided in the firefight.

The two tanks still burning Saturday contained 42,000 gallons of gasoline and oil.

Borrell said the fire began in an open area where two of the dead men, Kenneth Dunlap and William Wolford of Franklin, were repairing tubing with a welding unit. He said the intense heat still surrounding the nine-acre site prevented attempts to pinpoint the exact cause.

Indonesian Leader Dies

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Former President Sukarno of Indonesia, who carved an independent country out of the Dutch East Indies in the wave of anticolonialism after World War II, died Sunday after a long illness, family sources said. He was 69.

Ousted from office four years ago, Sukarno died in an army hospital only one day after his Japanese-born former third wife, Dewi, rushed to his bedside. He had summoned her from Paris Thursday.

A military coup overthrew Sukarno in 1966 for his alleged involvement in a 1965 communist attempt to seize power in the vast archipelago of more than 100 million people.

Plains Area Under Threat Of Tornadoes

By The Associated Press
The Panhandle-Plains country of Texas went under tornado watch late Saturday night until the wee hours of Sunday after turbulence erupted in the weather-harried section for another evening.

The greatest threat of tornadoes, the Weather Bureau said, was in a 140-mile-wide line from 30 miles south of Lubbock to McAlester, Okla.

The watch area included 37 counties in Northwest Texas, 10 in North Central Texas and Lamar County of Northeast Texas.

TWISTER SIGHTED
A tornado was sighted shortly before dusk in Hardeman County near Lake Pauline, southeast of Quanah. The Weather Bureau put Hardeman and Wilbarger counties under tornado warning but the twister dissipated without damage reported.

Late in the evening, a line of thunderstorms rumbled from near Olton to 8 miles north of Abertown to 5 miles south of Floydada to 15 miles southwest of Matador. The Weather Bureau said the storms were intensifying.

Hail and possible damaging winds accompanied the storms, forecasters said. A particularly severe storm was about 8 miles southwest of Littlefield. Other strong storms battered the areas around Morton, Muleshoe and Whiteface.

HAIL COVERS GROUND
A pilot reported hail covering the ground between Whiteface and Morton. Another line of storms—moderate to strong—ranged from 10 miles north of Post to 10 miles south of Lubbock to near Levelland and Morton.

Thunderstorms rumbled and unloaded hail 10 miles north of Plainview in rich wheat country near Kress while another raked the area between Lockney and Silvertown. Weather Bureau bulletins called both storms severe. Heavy hail fell in the Silvertown area.

Golf ball size hail beat the countryside almost flat north of Tulia late in the day along with heavy rains and high winds that made automobile travel difficult and hazardous.

Enemy Strikes At Opening Mekong

Thrusts Aim At Movement Into Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Enemy forces launched strikes above Phnom Penh Saturday in an apparent bid to seize the upper reaches of the Mekong River and speed the flow of troops and supplies into Cambodia.

A battle was reported raging at Tole Bet, a city already heavily damaged by the enemy. Tole Bet lies 50 miles northeast of the national capital, on the banks of the Mekong opposite the provincial capital of Kompung Cham.

Kompung Thom, a provincial capital 80 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, also was reported under heavy enemy attack.

ON MAIN ROAD
Enemy units overran a government outpost at Peam Chikang on the Mekong 13 miles west of Kompung Cham and posed a threat to Skoun which is 38 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and on the main road connecting the capital with Kompung Cham.

Military analysts in Phnom Penh viewed increased enemy pressure at Tole Bet and the other locations along the Mekong as signs of a new bid by the Communist Command to seize control of that vital waterway's upper reaches for funneling men and materiel from southern Laos into Cambodia.

AMERICANS KILLED
Along Cambodia's eastern border, three thrusts since Friday have claimed the lives of eight Americans and wounded 22, as U.S. units continued digging out enemy caches. Twelve North Vietnamese were reported killed, the U.S. Command reported.

This raised to 308 killed and 1,940 wounded the number of U.S. casualties in Cambodian military operations since April 29.

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon said its troops clashed with enemy forces Friday in an arc swinging from southwest to southeast and ranging from 36 to 30 miles from Phnom Penh which is in danger of being isolated by the enemy.

ENEMY LOSSES
Military spokesmen said 19 of the enemy were killed in that fighting, while South Vietnamese troops lost seven killed and 37 wounded.

In Vietnam, fresh fighting erupted Saturday just south of a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta.

A total of 47 North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed — 20 by helicopter gunships — in the delta battle 50 miles southwest of Saigon and about five miles south of Ben Tre, the provincial capital. One government soldier was killed and two wounded.

Elsewhere in Vietnam, American forces lost three killed and 16 wounded in a series of widely scattered engagements in which 11 enemy troops were claimed killed.

HEATH GOES TO WORK — A smiling Edward Heath, Britain's new Prime Minister, is the target of cameras and admiring looks as he arrived at No. 10 Downing Street, London, Saturday to begin his first full day of work in the top governmental post.

Heath Goes To Work With Mini-Cabinet

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath named an economy-sized Cabinet Saturday night, with Sir Alec Douglas-Home as foreign secretary.

An 18-member Cabinet—three fewer than Prime Minister Harold Wilson's team—included Heath's deputy as party leader, Reginald Maudling, in the post of home secretary. His job will be to handle the Northern Ireland situation and the emotional issues of race, immigration and law and order.

Iain Macleod, razor-tongued foe of the ousted Laborites, was appointed to the post of chancellor of the exchequer, with the mission of strengthening the nation's economy.

Anthony Barber, 49, former Royal Air Force fighter pilot, was placed in charge of Britain's team to negotiate for entry into the European Common Market. Barber is chairman of Heath's Conservative party and engineered the successful election campaign.

Lord Carrington, 51, was named defense secretary. He is a former high commissioner to Australia and has been the Conservative leader in the House of Lords in recent years.

Heath also named 48-year-old Francis Pym as chief whip—or floor manager. His father once had the same job in Winston Churchill's wartime coalition government.

Perhaps the best known of the new Cabinet is Douglas-Home, 67, who is a former prime minister. Macleod, 56, is a former editor of the Spectator, a political publication.

The Cabinet appointments clashed with Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, not because he attacked the White House staff.

In a New York speech Thursday, Davis accused staff members of misleading Nixon by emphasizing the foreign policy aspects of imports rather than their impact on the domestic economy and the nation's balance of payments. There were reports at the time of the speech that he had submitted his resignation beforehand.

Friday morning, Stans issued a statement saying Davis had resigned, but Davis disputed it and said after a Friday afternoon meeting with the secretary, "I told him I had no intention of resigning."

He maintained all along, however, that he would leave without objection if Nixon asked him to, since he was a presidential employe.

maxed Heath's first full work day as prime minister. It was marred by an incident in which Heath was splattered with red paint as he returned to 10 Downing St. after lunch. Angela Hilary Wright, 26-year-old art editor, was arrested and charged with possessing an offensive weapon, threatening behavior, willful damage to one suit—Heath's—and one automobile.

It was the second attack in two days on Heath. An unknown assailant stubbed out a lit cigarette on his neck Friday night and Heath has been wearing a small bandage over the burn.

But the majority of the crowds outside Heath's official residence on Downing Street have been friendly and have cheered his comings and goings.

At President's Request, Commerce Man Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kenneth N. Davis agreed Saturday to resign as assistant secretary of commerce at President Nixon's request, ending two days of open controversy that began with a blunt attack on the White House staff.

"We expect his resignation shortly," a White House spokesman said after Davis met for 45 minutes with presidential assistant John Erlichman. Davis said he would write this weekend.

Both Davis and the White House official, speaking for Erlichman, said the meeting was a pleasant one.

"The President felt it would be best if I did offer my resignation, which I said I would do," Davis reported in a telephone interview.

But Davis said Erlichman told him he would have to leave because his open disagreement over administration trade policy had destroyed his effectiveness with Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, not because he attacked the White House staff.

A Long Day In Fairbanks

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — This is the week-end Fairbanks residents have waited for all winter — the longest days of the year.

The Weather Bureau says the sun will shine for 21 hours and 49 minutes Sunday and it'll be like dusk for the short time the sun dips below the arctic horizon.

Residents here put blankets over their bedroom windows to keep out the nighttime sunshine and local sports fans make up for time lost during the long, cold and dark winter.

And Warm In Fink, Texas

FINK, Tex. (AP) — The Smiths, Joneses, Browns and others, including at least 17 Finks, poured into this North Texas hamlet Saturday to celebrate National Fink Day.

Fink, hardly more than a wide spot on the road west of Denison, trembled with hundreds of tourists seeking conversation with other Fink lovers at Albright's general store.

Mrs. Pat Albright, mayor of Fink, handed out free soft drinks to visitors at the store, the sole business in Fink.

Even those 17 Finks who signed Mrs. Albright's guest register were not spared from the 95-degree temperature outside the store.

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

Summer cheated just a bit. It wasn't supposed to get here officially until today, but starting with 102 degrees Tuesday the summery weather persisted with 100-degrees or better through Friday. Cotton farmers who had been complaining of cool weather had their complaints answered. Household with evaporative coolers sweltered as they pondered how there could be humidity with such heat.

After a respite from tragedies, we've had more than our share of them. A week ago Saturday, Lee Roy Talkington, 63, died of injuries sustained when his pickup was struck on the Andrews highway. Then on Sunday at a family reunion on the Brazos River, Jay Neel Cunningham, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Cunningham, Coahoma, drowned, along with two men attempting to rescue him. A former resident Mrs. Tim (Melba) Jones was killed in a car mishap near Tyler.

Ricky Acuff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Acuff, had a close brush in escaping the casualty list. He got lost from his party at the Sandhills State Park near Monahans, and as time was running out, Capt. Dennis Olson and S. Sgt. Ozell Conner, flying a Webb AFB helicopter, spotted him lying in a ravine four miles from the park side. Ricky came out of it without injuries.

The weather had its effect on water consumption, but this time the Colorado River Municipal Water District (and its city customers) was lucky. A joint of 27-inch line had to be replaced between here and Lake J. B. Thomas, throwing the whole load on Lake Spence and Moss Creek Lake. The day the line pipe was restored to service. Penn Central Denied Loan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Penn Central officials, rebuffed in a last ditch effort to get a government-guaranteed $200 million loan, huddled privately Saturday night to find a way out of a severe financial emergency.

"We're considering every possibility," said one official of the railroad, the biggest in the nation. "Bankruptcy is a possibility."

The official, who declined use of his name, added: "It's an emergency, a very severe emergency. We're in trouble, you know."

PATMAN SAYS NO
The meeting on the 18th floor of the Penn Central Co. headquarters, started a few hours after top railroad officials met in Washington with Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., the chairman of the House Banking Committee, in hopes of persuading him to change his position against an immediate loan. They failed.

Patman, in whose office the meeting was held with Paul A. Gorman, Penn Central board chairman and president, said he remained opposed.

REVERSAL
It was this opposition—and uncertainty over whether Congress would pass relief legislation sponsored by the Nixon administration — that caused the Defense Department Friday to suddenly reverse its original announcement to grant a loan guarantee.

The Penn Central, created 28 months ago in the nation's biggest transportation merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads, has assets of more than $6.5 billion, and its annual revenues make it the sixth largest private corporation in America.

Its stock, after the merger, climbed to a high of $86. The Friday closing price was 11½. There are 23.1 million outstanding shares held by more than 118,000 persons, including many of the railroad's 94,000 employes.

Veteran Bronc Rider Edged In Finale Of Local Rodeo

By GORDON ZEIGLER
Wind gusts ushered out the 37th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo in the closing minutes Saturday night after a young cowboy beat out a veteran in bareback bronc riding, the only event with a decisive score the final night.

In other events times and scores recorded earlier stood firm.

Young Keith Streater, Hamilton, cowboy and school teacher, spurred his bronc, pleased judges and posted a 71 score to beat veteran Gary Tucker, whose 68 had stood since Wednesday.

An area cowboy Freddy Fields, Robert Lee, scored 69 tying John Bland, Trent, in bull riding. Both split $552.23.

Harry Tompkins, Dublin, and Jimmy Myers, Thorofare, N.J., tied for third-fourth place money, $236.67. Bull riding was the richest event.

Warren Wuthier's 5.2 seconds dogging time, scored Friday, couldn't be beat. Sidney Bostian, Pine Bluff, Ark., in a good go Saturday wrestled in at 8.8 seconds to tie Kent Youngblood, Lamesa.

Wuthier applies Big Spring money toward all-around cowboy honors, standing fifth now with more than $11,000 of earnings.

Second richest event at $1,205.40, the bareback bronc competition saw Keith Streater, Hamilton, take home $482.16 for first place. A second-third split between Gary Tucker, Carlsbad, N.M., and Jack Ward, Odessa, gave each man $301.35, and left fourth place winner Billy McKesson, Fort Worth, with $120.54.

Calf ropers split $2,851.80 — $950.60 to first go round winners, $950.60 to second go round winners, and $950.60 to cowboys with the best four averages for two calves.

Second go round winner was Ronny Sewalt, Chico, $380.24;

Jack Kirkpatrick, Post, $285.18; third, Skipper Driver, Big Spring, $190.12; and fourth, Tuffy Cooper, Monument, N.M., $95.06.

Four winners when times for two calves were averaged, includes: first, Bodie Wesley, Wildorado, $380.24; second, Buttons Howard, Portales, N.M., $285.18; third, Eldon Dudley, Perryton, $190.12; and fourth, Lee Cockrell, Panhandle, $95.06.

Pot for cowgirls barrel racing totalled $814.95 with $271.65 going to first round winners, $271.65 to second round winners, and $271.65 to top four girls when times were averaged.

Second round winners were Terri Lewis, Big Spring, first place, $108.66; second, Marie Voss, Snyder, $81.50; third, Pam Upton, San Angelo, $54.32; and fourth, Pat Marr, Tularosa, N.M., $27.17.

Wreck Kills Odessa Boy

A pickup carrying four boys back to Odessa from a Brownfield track meet swerved off the road near Andrews about 6 p.m. Saturday, killing one boy and critically injuring another.

Killed was Perry King, 15, who had won the 100-yard dash in the meet earlier in the day. Another boy was taken to a Midland hospital in critical condition. The other two boys were not believed injured, according to Andrews County sheriff's officers.

Names of the other three boys were not available Saturday night.

Texas Demos Question 'Reforms'

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Democratic leaders authorized a study Saturday to review the controversial party reform recommendations resulting from the tumultuous Chicago national convention in 1968.

The state executive committee also stopped quick approval on results of the 23 runoff races held over the state June 6. "We need to let them know our feelings on this matter," said state Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum about the party reforms recommended by a commission headed by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D. "If we don't then we won't have any reason to complain afterwards."

"We don't agree with all the recommendations," said state committee member Bob Slagle III in pointing out the McGovern commission might pay no attention to the Texas advice.

Baum was authorized to name the study committee which is expected to meet before the July 20 meeting in Washington of an ad hoc group named by national Democratic Chairman Lawrence O'Brien to "implement" the McGovern report.

Texas' national committee woman, Mrs. William Patman, is a member of the ad hoc committee and attended Saturday's state meeting.

The McGovern recommendations are aimed at making party procedures conform with the one-man, one-vote theory, particularly in delegate selection for the 1972 national convention.

Each state would allocate its delegate strength to give equal weight to each area's population and to the political feeling in the 1968 presidential election which Hubert Humphrey carried Texas by a narrow margin.

States are urged, but not required in 1972, to give proportionate representation to women, voters under 30, and members of minority groups. The report also does away with the unit rule whereby the majority can cast all a delegation's votes.

Although the McGovern recommendations have not yet come before the National Democratic Committee for a vote, the national party counsel, Joseph Califano Jr., has advised state and local party leaders to proceed on the assumption that most if not all the reforms will be required in 1972.

The June 6 results canvassed Saturday included Democratic nominees for one congressional contest, four state senators and 16 representatives.

Jim Greenwood was certified the winner over Kendall Baker in the District 7 Congress race in Houston by a vote of 8,426 to 3,744.

Ray Trosper of Higgins was certified the winner by 19 votes over Phil Cates of Lefors for District 79 state representative. Earlier unofficial results had won the race to Cates by 47 votes.

Winning Senate nominees were James Wallace of Houston, Don Kennard of Fort Worth, Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio and Max Sherman of Panhandle District 31.

Winning representative nominees were Terry Doyle of Pear Ridge, Billy Williamson of Tyler, Gayle Ingram of Quitman, Jack Deaver of Houston, John Gammage of Dallas, Sam Coates of Dallas, Aubrey Moore of Hillsboro, Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth, Lou Kost of San Antonio, Paul Simmons of San Antonio, Dee Jon Davis of Big Spring and Charlie Tupper of El Paso.

COMMANDER'S TROPHY — Col. Anderson W. Atkinson congratulates Capt. Peter Kozlowicz (right), winner of three of four awards, including the Commander's Trophy, presented Friday night during dining-in ceremonies for Class 70-08 at Webb AFB. Kozlowicz also received the Flying Training Award and the Leadership Award.

Class 70-08 Ends Training At Webb

Student pilots of undergraduate pilot training class 70-08, the last to graduate in fiscal year 1970, culminated 53 weeks of intensive pilot training when class members Saturday morning received their silver Air Force Wings, and certificates of aeronautical rating on the flight line.

Known as the "Crazy Eights," the class included 43 Air Force officers, three National Guard, one Marine and three Danish officers.

Capt. Peter Kozlowicz received three of the four awards presented Friday night at the class dining-in held in the Officers' Open Mess. Capt. Kozlowicz was awarded the Flying Training Award, Leadership Award, Air Training Commander's Trophy and was also a distinguished graduate.

2nd Lt. Alan S. Carlson received the Academic Training Award. "They got the job done with speed and efficiency," Capt. Robert K. Taylor said about the class which entered preflight training June 19, 1969, with 75 members. The class was active in the Airport School playground project, Salvation Army Christmas drive, Red Stocking Revue, Rattlesnake Roundup, little league coaching, Rotary Club, Junior Officer-Club projects and base athletic teams.

Water Board To Study Pacts

Colorado River Municipal Water District directors will consider a proposed contract Tuesday, 10 a.m., in Big Spring for developing brackish wells for oilfield repressuring purposes. The SACROC and other units in Scurry County have been negotiating with the district for this type of water as a supplemental source of supply. They were reduced to half their normal quantity from Lake J. B. Thomas as of June 1 due to the lake's low level. Company representatives, however, indicated they wanted the well supplies for supplemental and standby purposes regardless of whether the lake should come into an adequate supply.

The district is prepared to move rapidly on the project and may start an initial well test purposes sometime this week.

In addition to acting on a proposed contract, directors also will consider authorizing revenue bonds to finance the project. If this is done, they also may set a time table for letting pump and pipeline bids.

Major Lund Takes Over Webb Academic Post

Major Bill Lund, 3561st Student Squadron, was recently named chief of academics for that squadron at Webb AFB.

Major Lund replaces Major Dean Eggen, who has left Webb on a temporary duty "boot-strap" assignment to attend the University of Omaha, Nebraska.

Major Lund's new responsibilities include supervision of all academic scheduling for UPT classes, test control, and other functions relating to flying training.

The major's military career began in 1957 when he received his commission through the reserve officers training corps at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn. Major Lund then went to pre-flight training at Webb and then for primary training at Bainbridge, Ga., completing these phases in December, 1958.

After receiving his wings in July, 1959, the major attended advanced interceptor training in the F-96 Sabre at Moody AFB, Ga. Completing this training in 1960, he was a pipeline student in the Strategic Air Command and trained in the B-47 Stratofort at McConnell AFB, Kan., and Little Rock AFB, Ark.

Major Lund then went to his first permanent assignment in October, 1960, at Schilling AFB, Kans., and during his stay there, he had assignment on a temporary basis to Guam, Morocco, Spain, Alaska and England.

In January, 1965, he went to Pease AFB, N.H., still flying the B-47s. He soon requested an assignment in Air Training Command and was again assigned to Webb, in February, 1966.

Major Lund's new responsibilities include supervision of all academic scheduling for UPT classes, test control, and other functions relating to flying training.

HONOR STUDENT — Cadet William Campbell Jackson, son of Wm. K. Jackson, Big Spring, achieved the rank of private and made the honor roll as a fifth classman at New Mexico Military Institute. He recently participated in the Institute's 77th year of traditional year-end activities, which included ROTC Awards parade, Cadet Awards Assembly and the traditional Final Formation.

THE WEEK

Ice, the district set a new daily record of 69.7 million gallons of water. Just in time.

The week brought a happy occasion for those who have worked and prayed for the All Faith Chapel at Big Spring State Hospital. With Dr. Harold Smith, president of the hospital volunteers, and Frank Hayford, Midland, head of the chapel fund campaign, in charge, several officials and community leaders joined in turning the first spades of earth.

Rodeo fans got their fill of exciting action as the 37th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo got a real break from the weatherman. The evenings couldn't have been more ideal, and the production couldn't have been better organized. Both the action and the program moved with machine-gun rapidity.

The county's oil valuations are going to be down about $500,000, but the total county roll may hold steady around $80 million. Valuers told the commissioners court last week that the oil-industry roll would be about $41.6 million because, in the words of Earl Bruce, valuator, "there is not enough new development to offset the loss in older (producing) areas." That's pretty much the picture for all of West Texas.

Two slickers who allegedly swindled a Big Spring woman of $27,293 in a fast "real estate" deal were nabbed at Del Rio last week as they attempted to cross over the border.

to being an accessory to the murder of A. D. Blount here Dec. 9, 1968, and received a 10-year prison term. Two others, Rae Bourbon, 76, who according to testimony of others in the case, engineered the slaying, received a life term as did Bobby Eugene Chrisco the alleged triggerman.

City firemen read The Herald, and hear the news. Noting that city policeman had been promised a trial 40-hour work week, firemen put together a petition to the city council for shorter work weeks also. The commissioners will have a chance to study this come Tuesday.

The idea of a Howard County museum got a big boost when the Commissioners Court agreed to permit the present library building — the historic Dora Roberts residence at Sixth and Scurry — to be used as a museum home. This week a representative from the state historical survey committee will be here to talk with local representatives on how this project can best be launched.

Of interest not only to the Air Force family but also to a number of other Big Spring friends was the announcement that Lt. Gen. San Maddux is stepping down July 1 as head of the Air Training Command. His successor will be Lt. Gen. George B. Simler, vice commander of UAF in Europe.

High cost of money, etc. may not be the only reason, but building slumped to one of the lowest levels in years when permits aggregated only $13,772 in May.

Demo Leader Speaks Up For Senate Right

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Saturday the Cooper-Church amendment asserts that the President's constitutional powers preclude "a prolonged, vague and indefinite military commitment" in Cambodia without congressional concurrence.

The Montana Democrat defined the relationship between the current Senate drive to restrict future U.S. actions in Cambodia and the President's inherent constitutional powers in a statement prepared for Senate delivery Monday.

The debate is now in its sixth week with a vote scheduled Monday on an amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., to spell out that the President's constitutional powers include protection of American forces wherever deployed.

At right in uniform is Vladimir Shatalov and in center in light suit is Aleksei Yelisev, cosmonauts from a previous Soyuz flight.

Agnew Says No Advice Needed On Ending War

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Nixon administration does not need advice on ending the Indochina war "from those who could neither end the war nor win it," Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Saturday night.

Security measures for Agnew's visit were said to be the tightest ever arranged for a visitor to Cleveland. Antiwar demonstrators were given a permit to march at about the time the vice president was to arrive.

Agnew said former President Lyndon B. Johnson and former Secretary of State Dean Rusk have rallied behind President Nixon's efforts to end the war. He criticized some Democrats and Mayor John Lindsay of New York, a Republican who won re-election as an independent, describing them as "summer-time soldiers and... sunshine patriots."

Firemen, Truck Purchase On City Agenda Tuesday

City commissioners will meet Tuesday evening to discuss the request by Big Spring Fire Department employees for a reduction of their present 72-hour work week to 63 hours.

Under the proposed system the firemen would work a 56-hour week except during vacation periods when an 84-hour week would be required to man the department while one of the three shifts is taking its annual leave.

During vacation periods firemen would work 24 hours and be off for 24 hours, while at other times they would have 48 hours off between their 24-hour work stints.

Chief H. V. Crocker has suggested two methods of carrying out the proposal. One would be an increase in the size of the department by five men to take care of the changed work schedule, costing approximately $3,000 a month in salaries. The other would close the station at Fourteenth and Air Base Road, whose calls can be taken by other stations with little delay, and shift its manpower to other stations.

Public Works Department for an additional sanitation truck. Bids from gasoline companies will be presented to the commission which must okay the purchase of gasoline to be used by city vehicles over the next six month period.

The commission agenda will include a public hearing on the planned city annexation of five acres of land adjacent to the proposed Intech site. Hearings will also be held on a rezoning ordinance for a tract along FM 700 where Gandy's Milk Distributor is located and a proposal to allow sale of beer on the premises of a taco restaurant in Coronado Plaza shopping center.

July Draft Quota Is 12

Texas Local Board No. 71 of the Selective Service System has been notified that it will be expected to fill a quota of 12 inductees during the month of July. The board will be authorized to call any lottery numbers up through 190 in keeping with the nation-wide ceiling. The Big Spring board expects to fulfill its quota without going all the way to 190, but this will depend on the results of physical examinations administered to those with lottery numbers under that limit.

REVIEWS ACCOMPLISHMENTS, GOALS OEO Director To Broaden National Support For Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Rumsfeld, now entering his second year as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, says one of his major goals will be to develop broader national support for the problems of the poor.

The 37-year-old Rumsfeld said one difficulty he has encountered in drumming up the support is "inaccurate representations of what's being done—of fact."

In an interview with The Associated Press, the former Republican congressman from Illinois made these observations:

Q: You've been with the agency a year now. What do you feel you've accomplished?

A: First, the task before us was to bring into the agency a new team—a group of people that would bring to the problems of the agency and the problems of the poor balance and fresh perspective. We brought people in from a host of different fields—NASA, the State Department, foreign service, universities, business, law and in many cases people who had not been involved previously and could take a fresh, hard look at the operation of the agency. The immediate task, of course, was the legislative battle that took place last year. It was a matter of survival. There was a great deal of pressure on the agency. There had been a number of problems over the years, a lot of criticism and it was important that we get the antipoverty act extended. Fortunately we were successful in having the act extended for two years.

The third element was a complete reorganization, the first total reorganization of the agency during this administration. We moved from seven regional offices to ten. Internally we reorganized both at the regional level and here at headquarters, developing a structure that is designed to undertake two very different activities. One is the process of... research, the evaluation, the developmental activities that are aimed at gaining the answers to questions as to how programs can be best designed. The other element is the operational activity where we are managing programs.

The fourth category of activity was to review the various regulations of the agency and undertake the kind of changes we felt would benefit the poor. For example, we tightened up many of the administrative regulations concerning the kinds of things that were being criticized—conflict of interest, grant and contract procedures.

Q: What are the major areas you are going to be looking into in the next year?

A: One of the things we are undertaking is a comprehensive evaluation of existing Economic Opportunity Act programs and some non-Economic Opportunity Act programs to try to determine as precisely as possible how well they're working and what ways they can work better and what ways they should be changed. An example is the Westinghouse evaluation of Head Start did not have the impact the year-round Head Start did. The administration has made some changes with respect to Head Start that reflect the general conclusion of the Westinghouse study. In the research area, we are seeding the ground with various activities now that will produce substantially better data and information as to the scope of the problems of the poor. That kind of data does not exist today.

YOUTH BURNS HOLE IN FLAG Childish Act Costs Diploma

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe Gettus didn't graduate from the local high school Friday.

The 18-year-old senior had A's and B's in all courses except physical education. He wrote a prize winning essay and owned two art show awards.

But he had been suspended for burning holes in a small American flag with a cigarette. "It wasn't a demonstration of anything," he said of the incident, which he said occurred last month when he was smoking a cigarette in the men's room and was idly looking at a 3 x 5 inch flag he had bought at a school flea market for five cents.

"It was a stupid, childish act, like a little kid playing with fire," he concedes. He said the little flag was rolled up and "I singed the end of it." Then, wondering what it would look like with holes in it, he said, he burned a few.

students came into the men's room "— sports guys, actually just a small reactionary minority of the football team," said Joe, whose prize winning essay was on peace.

The boys upbraided him for burning the flag, a near-fight ensued, spilled out into the hall, and a teacher came along.

It went to the principal, Thomas Gaffney. The suspension followed. Joe failed in physical education, where he had a poor attendance record, but all his other teachers passed him in spite of the suspension.

Gaffney declined to comment, saying state law requires that all questions be referred to the superintendent. Asked if the superintendent knew the details of the case, he replied "probably not."

Joe's mother June, a nurse, said she was as shaken as anyone else. "His prime interest in life is getting people to think, and boy, he's getting people in this town to think," she said.

DEAR ABBY: My son is marrying the daughter of one of the town's most socially prominent families. I am a working widow with limited means. I am giving the bride a wedding gift, plus the rehearsal dinner. These, plus the clothes for the wedding, are all I can possibly afford.

There will be luncheons, teas, and evening parties honoring the bride and groom. I cannot afford to take time away from my work to attend day time parties, and I can't afford the kind of clothes I would feel at ease in for any of these affairs, with the exception of the wedding itself.

Would it be a breach of etiquette for me to refuse these invitations? Thank you.

MOTHER OF THE GROOM: DEAR MOTHER: Are you being perfectly honest with yourself for wanting to ditch the bride parties? Clothes? Surely you could be appropriately attired without too much expense. Time away from work? That, too, could be managed for this once-in-a-lifetime occasion! If you feel socially inferior, you needn't. As the mother of the groom, your contribution to the wedding is easily the most important of all. Go, and enjoy yourself!

DEAR ABBY: I was invited (a month in advance) by a bachelor friend to dinner to meet his mother, who was visiting him. He said there would be other guests and we would dine in the restaurant in his apartment building, but to come to his apartment "for cocktails" at 7:30 p.m.

I arrived at the appointed time and he greeted me with

Actor Charged With Assault

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — Actor-director Dennis Hopper of the film "Easy Rider" was released on $2,000 bond Friday after being arraigned in Magistrate Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

State Police Chief Marin Vigil said two other persons also were charged in connection with the June 15 incident.

"They were involved with some kind of fracas with some kids north of Taos," Vigil said.

"These people accused Hopper and a couple people with him of pulling a gun on them."

the news that he had a "cold" and had cancelled out the other guests since he wasn't in the mood to entertain a group. I told him he should have cancelled me out, too, but he insisted that he wanted ME to come anyway.

I had a few drinks with him and his mother, and since nothing was said about going to dinner I wondered if perhaps he intended to whip something up in his apartment, but he didn't move.

As time went on I wondered if perhaps the restaurant in the building wouldn't be closing soon, but naturally I didn't mention it.

Finally the conversation lagged, and at 10:40 p.m. my friend offered to call a taxi for me.

I said my good-byes without dinner. The following morning I telephoned my friend and apologized for keeping him up so late.

What did I do wrong?

WASHINGTON, D.C. DEAR WASHINGTON: Perhaps when he told you he had "cancelled out" the other guests because he had a "cold," you should have taken the hint, met his mother and departed. But since you didn't, after one hour, since there was no mention of dinner, you should have gone home. In any event, you had no need to apologize.

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter from "IRRITATED," who dislikes having small children answer the phone when she calls.

I used to work for a telephone answering service, calling doctors, repairmen to service television sets, juke boxes, oil burners, refrigerators, etc. Nearly all these men had to be called at home. It is irritating when some child grabs the phone and says, "WHO IS THIS?"

After burning up several times over this, I finally came upon a satisfactory solution: I just hang up without saying a word, wait about five minutes, then I call again. If the child answers again, I hang up again. By the third time I call, the mother's curiosity has gotten the better of her, and HE beats the child to the phone. It works nicely. Furthermore, you don't have to say anything nasty to the mother. I just say, sweetly, "I have a very important message which I didn't think I should entrust to a child to deliver." Cordially, CLAIRE IN SEATTLE

Happy Father's Day--Mother!

Few mothers earn the distinction of being honored on Father's Day, but Mrs. Lodusky Glenn Allen, a pioneer in Howard County, is one of those mothers.

MRS. LODUSKY ALLEN

Mrs. Allen was 100 Friday and will be honored today from 3 to 6 p.m. at a reception in the home of her daughter Mrs. Ora Miles, 3411 54th St. Lubbock.

She was born Lodusky Glenn June 19, 1870, in Brushy Township, Saline County, Ill., the youngest of nine children, but moved to Texas by wagon train when she was three growing up on a farm called College Mound, Kaufman County.

Her mother died during the first year in Texas and her father remarried, and there were eight children born to that union. Miss Glenn married Felix Orion Allen Oct. 29, 1886, and they set up housekeeping in Big Spring, only four years after the county seat was organized.

Mr. Allen, who died in 1931, worked for the Texas Pacific Railway Co. until shortly before World War I when he lost a leg in an accident. The couple moved to O'Donnell then where he became head of the Lynn County draft board and had the sad duty of drafting his youngest son who was killed in action.

After their son died the couple traveled for a year or two before returning to Big Spring. Mrs. Allen still owns the home at 900 Goliad in which they lived.

It was not until after her husband's death that Mrs. Allen learned to drive an automobile. At that time she converted her home into apartments and bought up a number of homes around town which she rented.

When the Big Spring Bomber School was opened during World War II, Mrs. Allen immediately began limiting her clientele to military personnel.

"If you weren't in the military, that was tough," Mrs. C. L. Atwell, a great niece of Mrs. Allen, said. "She rented her houses and apartments only to military people." Mrs. Allen still receives Christmas cards from servicemen who lived here during World War II.

Affectionately known as "Aunt Duck," she has 30-40 nieces and nephews living in the Big Spring area, according to Mrs. Atwell. She moved to Lubbock three years ago to live with her daughter, her only surviving child, but frequently visits Big Spring.

STATEWIDE SURVEY

Majority Of Texans Favor Wage And Price Controls

By JOE BELDEN

Director, The Texas Poll While President Nixon this past week rejected an actual freeze in actual prices and wages to help curb inflation, a majority of the people of Texas would approve of such action.

In his speech to the nation Wednesday, the President declared he was only asking business and labor to use restraint on price and wage increases, and he set up watchdog devices to try to hold the line. Many economic experts, however, believe that voluntary restraints will not suffice. Texans seem to agree, for this is what a cross section of them answered when asked, "In order to slow down inflation, would you be for or against freezing both wages and prices for a while?"

In favor 55 Pct.
Against 30 Pct.
Undecided 15 Pct.

The Texas survey was completed early in June, just before the President's speech, and about the time that a nationwide Gallup Poll was finding 48 per cent in favor of a wage-price freeze "as long as the Vietnam war lasts," while 41 per cent were undecided, and 11 per cent expressed no opinion.

The weight of public opinion toward a temporary control of wages and prices appears among all important segments of the Texas population, although there are some differences in emphasis.

Older persons, for instance, are more prone to favor the idea than are persons in their thirties and forties, whose earnings are still rising. Residents of places of various sizes show little difference in their attitudes, but there is some difference depending on income: the lower the income the less sure people are whether or not they favor the idea. These are the percentages by income level:

	Op- Unde- Favor pose cided
Higher	56 Pct. 36 8
Upper Middle	56 30 14
Lower Middle	57 28 15
Lower	50 31 19

Cotton Week Sees County Crop Outlook As Doubtful

By HOWARD SIMS

The beginning of National Cotton Week finds the 1970 Howard County cotton crop a big question mark.

The higher cotton allotment this year prompted a surge in planted acreage, so that nearly 98 per cent of the 74,000 allotted acres has been planted this year.

Unfortunately, hail, wind, dust and deluge have combined to make it impossible to predict how many acres of this year's crop will be harvested. The early planters were hardest hit, although the spottiness of the turbulent weather made geography more important than planting time. Some cotton growers have declared their cotton a total loss and have replanted. Others who were not so badly hit will wait to see how the rows look in a few weeks.

Gabe Hammack, county executive director of the ASCS, said some people managed to hold off planting until after the bad weather. Even though it is risky planting this late, he has seen fields planted as late as Friday, and Hammack leaves open the possibility that more acreage may yet be planted.

Congress has still not made up its mind on the subject of price supports, and some farmers are holding off to avoid outguessing Congress.

The larger cotton allotment this year has inversely affected the grain sorghum acreage. It is still early for feed grain, and very little maize has been planted in Howard County so far. Most of the maize will be planted in the latter part of the summer, but it is likely to remain a rather small percentage of the allowable 95,000 acre feed grain base.

UN Is Alive At 25, Barely Political Action In Colleges Could Stop Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Nations is approaching its 25th birthday with a disappointing view—a disappointing record as a peacekeeper and mixed performance in other fields.

"We all know there is a crisis of confidence in the U.N.," said a senior U.S. official. He cited dwindling public and congressional esteem for the world body whose prime mission is to curb war.

Yet over-all, the Nixon administration rates the United Nations as still well worthwhile. So Washington's long-term policy is to support and improve the organization, not ditch it.

Here is how high-ranking U.S. officials see the United Nations at its quarter-century mark and what they hope to do about it:

—Keeping peace:

Fifty nations originally signed the U.N. charter at San Francisco, June 26, 1945, in the closing days of the world's biggest war, "determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war."

The U.N. founders hoped wartime big-power cooperation would continue, thus allowing the organization to meet threats to the peace with the backing of its major members. But the cold war quickly followed the hot one and the United Nations could not handle major conflicts with the United States and the Soviet Union on opposite sides.

U.N. peacekeepers did help to contain trouble in the Kashmir, The Congo and Cyprus. They aided in the Middle East for years, though Secretary General U Thant hastily pulled U.N. forces out in the 1967 crisis. The United Nations gave its name to allied operations in Korea.

But the United Nations has failed to tackle the Vietnam conflict and other Indochina troubles. It did not bar the occupations of Czechoslovakia or the Dominican Republic.

There is no present prospect for strengthening the United Nations to the point of strong action against a major power.

But U.S. diplomats hope that talks now under way with the Soviets will lead to a system under which the United Nations can respond quickly in brushfire emergencies in which the big powers are not directly involved.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colleges and universities were told Saturday to tread warily in the burgeoning field of campus political activity lest they forfeit the tax-exempt status most of them need to exist.

The American Council on Education distributed to its 1,500 member institutions a set of cautionary guidelines approved by the Internal Revenue Service.

They include a warning that an individual making a gift to a college might be denied federal or state tax deductions if the school oversteps the IRS rules.

Both the tax exemption of the school and the tax deduction available to donors, the guidelines say, would be jeopardized by any substantial activity of a college in carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation.

Absolutely prohibited, the guideline statement says, is participation or intervention by a tax-exempt institution in any "political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office."

A project linked with Princeton University to help elect doves and defeat hawks in Congress was attacked last month by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. The senator said he would ask the Treasury to investigate.

"I feel that there is a serious question here as to whether or not Princeton can legally sponsor this project and provide facilities to aid in its success while maintaining a tax-exempt status," Thurmond said.

Dr. Robert F. Goheen, Princeton president, wrote Thurmond that the university is not sponsoring any political projects and abstains from taking sides politically although it expects "its citizen components, as individuals and as groups, to engage in free expression and political activity as they see fit."

Referring to Thurmond's criticism of "The Movement for a New Congress," Goheen said it is one of several voluntary organizations which draw support from the Princeton University Community Fund established through voluntary contributions, and involving no university funds.

The guidelines, drafted by a special council committee, were released by the council president, Logan Wilson, along with a statement from IRS Commissioner Randolph W. Throver describing the guidelines as fair and reasonable.

The guidelines say that political activities which raise the tax-exempt issue "could undermine the private support of higher education as a whole."

The rearrangement of an academic calendar to permit students and faculty to participate in the election process—as Princeton plans to do—would not be deemed participation by the school itself, the guidelines say.

Neither would this constitute the prohibited legislative activity, assuming that the recess period substitutes for another period and that the university itself does not otherwise intervene in a political campaign.

"The case may be different if the academic calendar, in fact, is shortened rather than rearranged for the purpose of permitting students, faculty and other members of the academic community to participate in the election process," the guidelines assert.

Spanish War Vet Observes 93rd Birthday

William Richard Dale, veteran of the Spanish-American War, is celebrating his 93rd birthday today at the VA Hospital.

Dale, born in Celina, Tenn., first came to Texas about 70 years ago after completing a tour of duty with the 4th Tennessee Volunteers during the Spanish-American War. Dale served under Captain Cordell Hull, who later became Secretary of State to Teddy Roosevelt. Dale first settled in an east Texas town, Celina, which was settled by people from his hometown.

He moved to Gaines County in 1922 and had farmed and ranched there until recent years. Dale has a homestead at Seagraves. His daughter, Mildred Dale, still lives at the family home. Dale's son, John, also lives in Seagraves.

Dale has two other children, Mrs. Reeves Cothes, Seminole, and Mrs. Thelma Dean, Bridgeport, Wash.

Dale will be joined today by Mr. and Mrs. Cothes and Miss Dale.

Yanks Gone, Arabs Cheer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Top leaders of the Arab world assembled at the former U.S.-run Wheelus Air Base in Libya Saturday to watch a military parade opening 10 days of celebrations to mark the closure of all American and British bases in that country.

Tripoli radio reported that President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and the others heard the chants of thousands of Libyans urging an Arab march on Israel.

In addition to Nasser, those reported present were King Hussein of Jordan and President Nouruddin Atassi of Syria, who accompanied Nasser on a flight from Cairo; Presidents Ahmed Hassan el-Bakr of Iraq, Charles Helou of Lebanon and Abdul Rahman Iriani of Yemen.

At Wheelus, they joined Col. Muammar Kadafi, leader of Libya's revolutionary government which replaced the monarchy last September and pressed for the withdrawal of British and American forces from Libya.

The leaders of Tunisia, Algeria, Morocco, Sudan and Kuwait sent personal envoys.

Wheelus has been renamed Ukba Ben Nafi, after a famous Arab commander. The last U.S. personnel left the base early this month, ahead of schedule.

Man, Wife Jailed For Bank Robbery

DALLAS (AP) — A Fort Worth man and his wife, the mother of six, remained in the Dallas County jail Saturday on charges in connection with the $9,565 holdup of the First State Bank of Maypearl.

U.S. Commissioner Clyde Emery arraigned Glen Clyde Foster, 36, on an armed robbery charge and his wife, Retha Joyce, 32, on a charge of aiding and abetting a robbery.

Emery set bond at $30,000 for Foster with $5,000 for his wife. Authorities said a man armed with a pistol fled with loot from the bank at Maypearl, about 40 miles south of Dallas, shortly after noon Friday. A man was captured with a bag of money less than an hour later in Fort Worth.

Tarrant County sheriff's officers said they arrested Foster after they stopped a car driven by his wife. Foster was found in the trunk of the vehicle, they said.

TOKYO (AP) — An estimated 6,000 demonstrators held about 70 separate rallies and paraded through Tokyo streets Saturday, opposing the Japan-U.S. security treaty.

Police reported 10 demonstrators were arrested on charges of obstructing police and five policemen were slightly injured.

In Kunitachi, in the western suburbs of Tokyo, about 150 student demonstrators smashed window panes and electric lights of a police box but there were no major clashes between police and demonstrators.

The Komeito Clean Government party—one of Japan's opposition parties, staged a rally demanding "gradual elimination of the Japan-U.S. security treaty and U.S. military bases in Japan."

Agriculture Man Quitting

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key Agriculture Department official in charge of one of the government's major consumer-protection agencies plans to leave the post at the end of June.

Dr. Gilbert H. Wise, deputy administrator in charge of consumer protection, told his staff last week he plans to leave the job he took over less than a year ago.

Wise has been directly in charge of a number of regulatory programs, including meat and poultry inspection, for the department's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng, confirmed Wise is leaving the consumer post but said he will remain with the department, shifting to the Agricultural Research Service.

The job switch by Wise leaves three key openings in the Consumer and Marketing Service. Administrator Roy W. Lennartson announced recently he plans to retire later this summer because of health.

The job of deputy administrator has been vacant for months.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING Craft For World Soaring Contests Deplaned Here

In the news this week among flying enthusiasts here, especially sail plane buffs, is the World Soaring Championships in Marfa, which began Saturday and continues through July 4.

R. H. Weaver and O. C. Shapland plan to fly down later this week to observe.

Big Spring served as relay point last month for delivery of British planes to Marfa. Two British Royal Air Force aircraft freighters landed at Webb dropping off planes. They were pre-loaded on trailers and ready to be pulled to Marfa.

This is the first year the world championships have been held in this country. Only the top four contenders from each country are eligible.

TAKE IN AIR SHOW

A number of Big Springers flew to Graham last weekend to watch an aerobatics show and see the planes at the annual Trans World Airlines Air Show.

James Fryar said Harold Krier, former world champion, put his Chipmunk through an impressive routine for spectators.

Sgt. Paul Kessler and three passengers took a plane. Lt. Lewis W. Shaw, and one passenger flew down in his private plane. Lt. Gary Curtis piloted his plane. Stephen Clark Lewis piloted a plane with instructor James Fryar in the cockpit seat. Lt. Bill Lenney and Lt. Earl Small, Small's wife and mother-in-law chartered an Aztec for the event.

Two Coahoma youths are employed at the airport this summer. Keith Pherigo and Wayne Morris are helping with improvements including runway light repairs, cleaning up the grounds and painting the T-hangers.

Oil Marketing Workshop Due

Big Spring will host the Texas Oil Jobbers association summer workshop program Wednesday.

Sessions will be held at Howard County Junior College, Room 100 in the science building, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Theme for the meeting is "Good Neighbor Oil Marketer."

Dub Moore of McGibbon Oil Company, local chairman for the event, said that the workshop is one of nine planned through the state. The only other one in this area is in Plainview on Tuesday.

Topics include: Making a safe product safer (Texas' new rules and regulations for handling of flammable liquids at retail service stations); paying highway taxes in the right way; profit through service (diversification and imagination); helping service stations become good neighbors.

Association members will serve as discussion leaders along with Larry M. Cook of Mobil and Irby Ford, assistant director of the motor fuels tax division for the state tax controller.

The summer workshops are a regular event of TOJA to keep oil marketers in Texas abreast of state and federal laws, methods of more efficient operation and shirt-sleeve sessions to help operators become better managers. Non-member marketers are invited to participate in the meetings.

private pilot license. He plans to work on the license before returning to college in the fall.

Elbert Long flew his family to San Antonio this week in a Cherokee.

Helicopter Crash

OZONA, Tex. (AP) — Val A. Sanders, 35, of Phoenix, Ariz., was killed Friday when his helicopter crashed about seven miles east of this remote Southwest Texas town.

Investigators said the craft, which apparently hit some utility lines, hit squarely in the middle of Interstate 10.

Mastermind Of Bombings Goes To Pen

NEW YORK (AP) — Bearded revolutionary Samuel J. Melville, 35, today began the first day of a prison sentence to keep him behind bars for at least 13 years.

Melville, the reputed mastermind of last year's series of bombings of eight government and private installations in New York, appeared in two courts Friday and was sentenced to maximum terms of 13 and 18 years on a variety of charges arising from the blasts.

Handcuffed and heavily guarded, he first appeared before state Supreme Court Justice Gerald P. Culklin, who sentenced him to 6 to 18 years on charges of arson, reckless endangerment, assault and violations of the weapons law.

"The defendant represents a danger to the United States in general and the city of New York in particular," Culklin commented.

Melville then was brought before Federal Judge Milton Pollack, who sentenced him to 13 years on conspiracy, bombing and assault charges.

The conspiracy sentence was suspended. All the other sentences will be served concurrently.

Melville had pleaded guilty to the charges in both courts.

Two of the defendants were due in court Friday for sentencing along with Melville, but only one showed up — John D. Hughes 3rd, 23, the son of a Baptist minister. He was turned over by Judge Pollack to the Federal Youth Correction Division as a young adult for observation and a report within 60 days.

Absent was Jane L. Alpert, 23-year-old Swarthmore honor graduate who disappeared shortly after pleading guilty to conspiracy charges. Her $20,000 bail was ordered forfeited.

A fourth defendant, Patricia Swinton, 23, was indicted but never apprehended.

Before Pollack passed sentence, Asst. U.S. Atty. John H. Doyle urged the court to consider the "gravity of the crimes" and "the deterrent upon persons similarly situated."

The targets of the bombings included a United Fruit Co. pier, a Chase Manhattan Bank building, the Criminal Courts building, the Federal Office Building and an armed forces induction center.

The bombings caused scores of injuries and damage estimate at about $250,000. No deaths resulted.

Judge Pollack noted that damage at the induction center was put at $90,000, to which Melville retorted: "That's the price of two Viet Congs."

Dipsy-Doodle Maneuver Around Oil Imports Ends

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Brownsville's famous, highly controversial "loophole oil" arrangement is to be shut down at the end of the year, resulting in an annual loss of about $3.5 million to the area.

That is the word from Al Cisneros, director of the Port of Brownsville. Cisneros was in Washington last week when President Nixon announced that the "loophole" was being plugged up by simplifying the process.

The "loophole," established 11 years ago, involves the trucking of oil brought to Brownsville by tanker from Tannico across the

STANDING ON MINE, MARINE USES HEAD, SAVES HIS LIFE

HONOLULU (AP) — Marine Lance Gpl. David Gurtowsky, walking with a patrol through a South Vietnam rice paddy, felt a sharp metal object under his combat boot and froze.

"My God, a mine," he said. His patrol leader waved the others away, leaving Gurtowsky standing on what he thought was certain death or mutilation.

A spokesman at Fleet Marine headquarters here disclosed recently how the young Marine survived the ordeal without a scratch.

Gurtowsky, 21, of Detroit,

Mich., eased his knife from his cartridge belt and slowly slit the sides of his boot. Keeping his weight against the boot, he slipped his foot out, and, with one hand still on the boot, added the weight of his helmet and flak jacket.

Gurtowsky dove for a rice paddy dike and was still in the air when the mine exploded.

His boot, helmet and flak jacket were blown to shreds.

He finished the patrol with one stockinged foot.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A tax refund check for $285,000 is gathering interest in a bank account while the suburban East Irondequoit Central School District and Federal officials decide who should get the money.

The check was made out to the school district.

A school spokesman said Friday that an examination of tax-withholding records for district employees showed no refund was due the school system.

THAT'S NOT RAIN — Sept. 21 we shivered, then Dec. 21 we really shivered. March 21 we leaned into a stiff breeze, hoping for "in like a lion, out like a lamb." Today it is officially summer and the heat is upon us. Suggestions now accepted for survival through this sweltering season. Carol Lyster, who observes June 21 cooling off under a Big Spring's back yard fountain might be wishing for a cooling rain. Today also being Father's Day, Carol planned to give her dad a special gift on his day. Carol is the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O. Lyster, 1902 Alabama.

FATHER'S DAY, FIRST DAY OF SUMMER Pop Is Due To Be Hot

DEAR BOSS:
Did you know that today, in addition to being Father's Day, is also the first day of summer? That's right! According to the work almanac summer creeps in at 2:43 p.m. today and will hang on until 5:59 a.m. Sept. 23 — I think.

That little bit of doubt comes from the instructions given in the almanac on how to decide when summer arrives in each time zone.

According to the almanac, summer arrives in the Eastern Standard Time Zone at 2:43 p.m. Directions say to subtract an hour to get the Central Standard Time Zone, which is 1:43 p.m. However, there's one little fly in the ointment — Daylight Saving Time. So I had to add an hour, which is 2:43, and that is the time I began with in the first place. So if the sun gets befuddled and misses its cue, it will be perfectly understandable.

Anyway, no matter what time summer knocks on the door, I think you would be well advised to have your air conditioner turned on. (I realize that when I wrote a story on the weather-forecasting turtles, Ugly and Beautiful, coming out of their hole into the sunshine, it snowed immediately. I also realize that on the first day of spring when I wrote a story that spring had arrived we got eight inches of snow. But surely... not on June 21. Nevertheless you might peek cautiously out the window before jumping into your swim trunks today.)

Bill Fryrear, out at the Big Spring Experiment Station, has assured me that the probability of hot weather is pretty good. In fact in 1968 a three-day heat wave ushered summer into town, and in 1969 it was 106 degrees when summer showed up. But the hottest first day of summer ever was in 1960 when a scorching 109 degrees, snatched the record away from 1934 when 108 degrees were recorded June 21.

As for getting cold, as near as I could figure out, the lowest the experiment station recorded temperature ever on June 21 was 60 degrees in 1945. So rest easy, Boss, and don't worry about freezing to death in your Father's Day finery. And don't worry about words like summer solstice — or about EDT, CST, CDST. Just trust me. Summer's here.

JEAN FANNIN

Far West Texas Needs Rain Soak

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas weather has been fine for outdoor farm work and hay making has been a major activity.

But, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, rain is needed over widespread sections. Heat and high winds are rapidly depleting moisture, he said.

Crops generally are making good progress and the grain harvest is moving onto the High Plains. The harvest is near completion in other sections. Yields range from good to below normal. Considerable oat acreage was baled for hay, he noted.

Moisture over much of West Central Texas is adequate. However the hot and windy weather is drying it out fast and Kimbolic (Junction), Schleicher (Eldorado) and Sterling (Sterling City) counties badly need rain. The grain harvest is approaching completion and yields have been good. Hail knocked considerable acreage of cotton near Sweetwater and it is being replanted. Most crops are making good progress but some disease problems are cropping up on peanuts. Ranges and livestock are in excellent to good condition but the hot and dry weather could cause a rapid decline in ranges. Some lambs are being sheared due to needle and spear grasses. Labor is short.

SOYBEAN PLANTING
Soybean planting is in full swing in the South Plains (Lubbock) and the wheat harvest is well along. Yields are good except in hail damaged or dry areas. Livestock generally are in good condition.

Half of the Rolling Plains (Vernon) have adequate moisture but the others need rain. The wheat harvest is about complete and yields have been good, averaging about 25 bushels an acre. Most cotton is now planted, including replanting of blown out, washed out, and baled out areas. Potatoes are being harvested around Benjamin. Hay baling, guar planting and plowing stubble are other major activities.

PEACH CROP
Heat and winds have caused rapid loss of moisture in Central Texas. The Hillsboro and Hamilton areas report the immediate need for rain. Yields from the complete grain harvest have been good. Sorghum is heading; corn is tasseling; and cotton insects have not been a problem. Up to 80 percent of the peanuts have been planted in some counties. Blowing sand damaged stands in some counties. The peach crop will be good. The peach set is heavy. Ranges and livestock are in good condition and everyone is busy.

WARM, WINDY
Far West Texas needs a good soaking rain. It has been warm, windy and dry with some scattered showers. Irrigated crops are making good progress. The onion and grain harvests are under way. El Paso County reports an excellent set of pecans and peach prospects around Brackettville and cantaloupes near Pecos are good. Ranges need rain but livestock generally are in good condition with some lambs over marketed.

In South Texas the vegetable and melon harvests are on with moisture short to adequate. Corn prospects are good and most ranges are providing good grazing. Livestock are in good condition. Major activities include grain harvesting, weed and insect control and cultivating cotton.

Pipe Factory Now Nearing Full Stride

Production at Fiber Glass Systems plant on US 87 north now is nearing full stride, and still the relatively new industry has to hustle to stay up with its orders.

V. M. Michael, president, said last week that the plant now is operating on three shifts with a battery of three units in full swing and a fourth ready to be utilized within a matter of days. The latter has some refinements in design and equipment to expedite production.

Manufacturing under the trade name of Star Pipe, the plant turns out not only pressure-tested fiber glass pipe, but couplings and all types of fittings as well.

READY ACCEPTANCE
These have found a ready acceptance in the oil trade in all parts of Texas, and from New Mexico to Montana, Oklahoma, and Kansas as well.

The demand for down-hole pipe and tubing has been so great that the factory is confining its output to these two types. The machines have mandrills used in making pipe all the way from one to eight inches inside diameter.

With the completion of a major addition to the building (within less than a year after going into production), efficiency of the factory has been increased vastly. For one thing, Michael pointed out, the testing area has been moved into a new building, breaking a previous bottleneck. In addition, the coupling machine has been set up there, and a fittings machine is due to be added. The layout is designed to duplicate the current production line of four units of machines. The plant now has more than 20,000 square feet.

NO CORROSION
Bob Michael, sales manager, said that the pipe continued to find a ready market, particularly where there are any corrosion problems. For instance, Star Pipe went into one lease in Crane County where steel had lasted little more than two weeks, and there has been no deterioration of the locally-made pipe. Several major oil companies have put in orders for the down-hole pipe.

The work force at Fiber Glass systems is now nearing the 60 mark, and others are being added as they can be trained and equipment provided. So far, the company has been able to give personal service on each new installation to make sure the pipe performs entirely satisfactorily.

"I WAS RIGHT ON THE BAG, UMP" — Russ Snyder, Milwaukee Brewers' left-fielder, shows umpire Jim Odom where he was after Odom called him out trying to stretch a single into a double in the second inning of their game with California Angels Friday night. Angels' Roger Repoz had fielded the ball in right field and threw it to Jim Fregosi who made the tag on Snyder.

Hill Fined In Rhubarb

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — Dave Hill, like an unruly schoolboy just scolded, nonchalantly accepted a $150 fine and reprimand and then went to work on the Hazeltine National Golf Club courses — center of all the controversy in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

"I made out the check last night," Hill said after questioned about the fine for scorching criticism Friday of Hazeltine and its architect, Robert Trent Jones.

Joseph C. Dey Jr., commissioner of the PGA Tournament Players Division, announced the fine and reprimand for conduct unbecoming a professional golfer.

"One year I was fined 14 times," said Hill. "They got so numerous I quit counting."

Dey announced the action in a statement. "In determining such matters, distinction is made between objective, critical analysis of a golf course and the kind of criticism which tends to ridicule and demean the club. It is considered that Hill's criticism was of the second kind."

Hill shot a three-under par 69 Friday to challenge leader Tony Jacklin, and then let go a salvo of criticism at Jones and the course.

"It should be plowed up," he said. "All it needs is 80 acres of corn and some cows," Jones met newsmen just before Dey's announcement and said, "I feel like I've just been hit by a fat golf shot. I don't want to get involved in a personality conflict nor a controversy."

"But I feel it is unfair when statements are made that are not backed up by facts," said Jones, who has designed more than 400 courses throughout the world.

Gary: Critique Uncalled For

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — South Africa's Gary Player said Saturday that making rude remarks about a golf course is like accepting an invitation to dinner and then telling the host that the food is lousy.

"After all, you didn't have to come," he added. "If you don't like a course, you don't have to play on it."

The black knight from Johannesburg, one of four men to have won the four major pro crowns (U.S. and British Opens, Masters and PGA), mentioned no one by name but his remarks appeared directed at Dave Hill.

"I was shocked when I read the criticism in the papers," Player said. "I thought the remarks were rude and ill-mannered."

"Personally, I am not an admirer of Robert Trent Jones golf courses but if a tournament is played on one of them in which I want to play — such as this Open — then I'll either play and not complain about it or get out."

LOUISIANA DRAW MEET SCHEDULED AT MUNY

A Louisiana Draw tournament is scheduled at the Municipal golf course today for members of the Big Spring Golf Association. Entry fee is $2. Champ Leads By 10 Shots At Odessa

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Defending champion Robert McKinney of Lubbock scorched the Odessa Country Club course with an 8-under par 64 Saturday to soar into a 10-stroke lead in the 42nd annual Men's West Texas Amateur golf tournament.

McKinney, who started Saturday's third round with a one-shot lead, carded eight birdies and 10 pars in his blitz for a 54-hole total of 205 to go 11 under par for the tournament.

"It was just one of those rounds when everything was going and you couldn't make a mistake if you tried," McKinney said.

John Farquhar, the 1969 runner-up from Amarillo, and Wade Hudman of Odessa tied for second at 215 in McKinney's vapor trail.

Farquhar had a one-over par 73 and Hudman was even par for Saturday's round.

Craig Campbell of Midland was alone in fourth place at 218 with a 70 Saturday and Bill Coffey of Fort Worth was fifth at 219 after a third round 74.

McKinney got his phenomenal round started by sinking a 25-foot birdie putt on No. 1. He birdied four of the first six holes and made the turn in five-under par 31. On the backside, he had birds on 12, 17, 18.

Yankees Tame Red Sox, 8-3

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Yankees backed Mel Stottlemyre's effective pitching with a 15-hit attack Saturday night en route to an 8-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Stottlemyre 8-4, breezed to his eighth victory in his last nine decisions with a seven-hit effort in his fourth straight complete game.

Danny Cater had three hits and Jerry Kennedy, Bobby Murcer, Ron Hansen and Jake Gibbs two each in leading the New York assault on three Boston pitchers.

Rico Petrocelli accounted for two Boston runs, singling across a tally in the first inning and then drilling his 12th homer in the sixth. Billy Conigliaro homered in the ninth.

O's Ace Gets 2000th Hit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson cracked the 2,000th hit of his career Saturday night, a tie-breaking three-run homer in the fifth inning, to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Robinson's home run came after Don Buford drew a leadoff walk from Joe Coleman and the Senators intentionally passed Boog Powell with two out. The homer was Robinson's eighth of the season.

The Orioles took an early lead on Powell's 18th homer in the first inning, with Frank Robinson scoring ahead of him after a single.

The Senators tied it in the second on Paul Casanova's double, a walk, a double by Tim Cullen and Coleman's infield roller.

Danny Smart of Big Spring was fourth in the 880 in the good time of 2:07.1. Danny narrowly missed placing in the 440-yard run in the time of 55.6, after he had run the half-mile.

Coach Glenn Petty carried 13 boys to the meet. Big Spring results: 100-yard relay — Unplaced but barely missed seventh place. Team composed of Bryan Rosen, Barry Rosen, Richard Jenkins, Bryan Jenkins, Tommy Churchwell and Richie Priddy. Middle 100 — Tommy Churchwell placed third in 12.3.

Tigers Wind Up Play With Win

The Tigers knocked off the Colts, 14-10, in International Minor League play Saturday.

The Tigers wound up collecting 151 hits in their 15 games, eight of which they won. They were not out hit last season.

Chris Smith paced all Tiger hitters with 26 safeties in 35 official trips for a .743 average. The Bengals had seven players over .500.

Julius Boros, 50-year-old two-time Open champion had a 70 for 218 and fourth. Big Bob Lunn had a 70 and 219, with former champion Gene Littler and Ken Still matching 71s for 220.

The big three — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player — continued to have their troubles. All scored 75s and were far, far back in the pack at 228.

Hill, a tour-tested 33-year-old who came into his own last year, and Jacklin, the reigning British Open champ and now a tour regular, were paired together in the last twosome to get away under the lowering, threatening clouds with chilly temperatures.

HAS HIS CRITICS "Stick it in his ear, Tony," a voice from the gallery said when the slim, dark Hill drove into the rough. There was some scattered applause when he missed a putt to save par on the hole.

Hill just grinned, a cocky, almost pugnacious grin.

Cal Bears Capture NCAA Track Crown

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Ralph Mann of Brigham Young shattered the world 440 hurdles record, sensational freshman Steve Prefontaine of Oregon set one of three meet marks and California's surprising Bears captured the team crown in the 49th NCAA track and field meet Saturday.

Highly-publicized Prefontaine lapped a 20-runner field in easily capturing the three-mile run in 13:22.0. That dropped almost 12 seconds off the NCAA record of 13:33.8 set by Washington State's Gerry Lindgren in 1966.

Mann, turning on a blazing finish to edge UCLA's Wayne Collett, bettered the 10-year-old world mark of 49.3 set by Gert Poldgieter of South Africa in 1966.

Collett, who led until the final turn, also was clocked under the existing world record with 49.2.

Mann caught Collett coming off the final turn and moved slightly ahead over the last three hurdles. In a thrilling stretch run to the tape, Mann lunged across scarcely a yard ahead of Collett.

Mann's brilliant effort also eclipsed his own pending American record of 49.4 set in the 1970 Drake Relays, and the NCAA meet and national collegiate record of 49.6 set by Mann in 1969, which matched the 1963 same time by Rex Cawley of Southern Cal.

Villanoav's heralded Marty Liquori turned on a sizzling anchor lap to crack the four-minute barrier with a successful defense of his mile run title in 3:59.9. Liquori last year established the NCAA record of 3:57.7.

Mammoth John Van Reenen of Washington State captured his third straight discus title as the final session of the 49th NCAA meet got under way amidst frequent thunder-showers.

Van Reenen, 6-foot-8, 268-pound senior, uncorked his winning throw of 190.9 on his first of four allowable throws to win by about one foot over Fred De Bernardi of Texas - El Paso.

Colletts' brilliant effort also eclipsed his own pending American record of 49.4 set in the 1970 Drake Relays, and the NCAA meet and national collegiate record of 49.6 set by Mann in 1969, which matched the 1963 same time by Rex Cawley of Southern Cal.

Brazil is favored in the 1 p.m. EST match expected to draw one of the largest worldwide television audiences in history. Officials estimate that somewhere in the neighborhood of 800 million persons will watch the game on public or closed circuit television.

Aztec Stadium, one of the world's best soccer arenas, is expected to be crammed to its 112,500 persons capacity.

Brazil has the best record of the two finalists, but because of the round-robin type play in the opening round that doesn't really mean much.

The object then was not to lose—to settle for a tie rather than a loss. That is exactly what Italy did.

The Brazilians played a much more offensive-minded tournament than the Italians, scoring 15 goals to 9 for Italy. Brazil, criticized for a weak defense, allowed 6 goals by the opponents. Italy allowed 4.

Brazil won the tournament in 1958 and 1962. Italy won back-to-back titles in 1934 and 1938.

Reds Bruise By Dodgers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tony Perez' 24th home—a three-run tape-measure shot in the third inning and base-empty blasts by Johnny Bench and Lee May carried the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-4 victory over Los Angeles Saturday.

The Reds, out hit 16-9 in the nationally televised game, shot to a 5-1 lead in the third on Perez' 500-foot wallop and May's 17th homer, then hung on to end the Dodgers' winning string at three games.

The Reds, outhit 16-9 in the Rose singled, Angel Bravo walked and Perez tagged Los Angeles starter Joe Moeller for a drive that cleared the left field screen and sailed out of Crosley Field. One out later,

Tulsa Charge Is Considered

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The University of Tulsa disclosed Friday it is being investigated by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, ruling body of college sports.

No specific incidents were cited, but the announcement indicated the NCAA probe involves more than one sport.

The NCAA Committee on Infractions submitted a letter containing allegations concerning the 1.6 grade average eligibility requirement, recruiting practices, spring conditioning programs, the awarding of grant-in-aid scholarships and squad meetings.

The investigation was thought to center partly on the recruitment of Ken Garrett, a standout running back for Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College at Miami, Okla., who signed a national letter of intent this spring with the Hurricane football team after one season at Northeastern, and he was below the 1.6 grade average.

However, Garrett since has transferred to Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, N.C. He is a native of Fayetteville, N.C., and earlier had signed a national letter with a small college in that state.

Laver Defeats Newcombe In Grass Court Finals

LONDON (AP) — Rod Laver of Australia, playing super efficient tennis, downed John Newcombe 6-4, 6-3 Saturday in the finals of the London Grass Courts Championships, a possible rehearsal for the Wimbledon tournament.

But the real excitement of the day was left to the women where Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia, also the top seed for Wimbledon, overcame upstart Winnie Shaw of Britain 2-6, 8-6, 6-2 in a startling comeback for the women's title.

Laver and Newcombe met at Queen's Club in this final Tuesday. Laver won a first prize of $1,200. He has gone through the week without dropping a set.

Laver is seeded No. 1 for Wimbledon and Newcombe is at No. 2. Laver will be trying to win the Wimbledon title for the third straight year.

Laver was coldly efficient Saturday, but he raised it at vital moments to dispose of Newcombe with shots of blinding brilliance.

Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia, also a top seed for Wimbledon, came back from the brink of defeat to overcome Winnie Shaw of Britain 2-6, 8-6, 6-2 in the women's final.

PLAY PIEDRAS NEGRAS HERE TODAY — Pictured are members of the 1970 Big Spring Cardinal baseball club, which hosts Piedras Negras, Mexico, in a double header at Steer Park today.

The Big Spring Cardinals host the rugged Piedras Negras Astros of Old Mexico in two games at Steer Park today. The opener gets under way at 1:30 p.m.

The Red Birds will be seeking to improve upon a 13-4 won-lost record.

An added attraction will be the appearance of a Mariachi band, which will play between innings.

Last Sunday, the Cardinals split a double header with the Odessa Stars, winning the first game, 7-2, and dropping the second, 7-6.

Junior Mendoza, who has pitched a no-hitter this season, will charge the hill in the opening game for Big Spring.

Other starters for the locals will be Al Mendoza in right field, Pat Martinez at shortstop, Pat Martinez Jr., first base, Tony Martinez, third; Jessie Zapata, left field; Andy Gamboa, center field; Billy Pineda, second base; and Joe Martinez behind the plate.

Leroy Hobbs, Tony Fierro and Leroy Spires will be working in the bull pen in event they're needed.

The Card lineup in the second game will be virtually the same but Pano Rodriguez, Abel Ramirez and Jessie Olague could fit into the picture somewhere.

Either Hobbs or Fierro will be assigned mound chores while Abel Ramirez could spell Martinez behind the plate.

Admission for this double-header will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Eddie Aciri will toss out the first ball.

A's Bombard Sox, 8 To 5

OAKLAND (AP) — Bert Campaneris drove in four runs with a double and homer, leading the Oakland A's to an 8-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday.

The A's came from behind after Chicago peppered Oakland starter Chuck Dobson with four singles to score three runs in the second inning.

Campaneris' seventh homer, a two-run shot in the third cut the White Sox' lead to 3-2. Tom McCraw homered for the Sox in the top of the fourth, but an error by losing pitcher Barry Moore opened the gates for four unearned Oakland runs in the bottom half.

With the bases loaded and two out, Moore threw wildly to first trying to get pinch-hitter Bob Johnson and then doubled home. Campaneris then doubled over Moore more runs, putting Oakland ahead.

T-Birds Sign Four Cagers

HOBBS, N.M. — Head basketball coach Dale Caton Saturday announced the signing of four outstanding high school basketball players to letters of intent to attend New Mexico Junior College in Hobbs.

Joining the Thunderbirds next year will be Clarence Bates, a 6'2" guard from Lockport, Ill., who led Lockport Central High School to a record of 47-7 over the last two seasons. Bates, regarded as one of the top college prospects in the Chicago area averaged 21 points and 9 rebounds per game and was named to two different all-state teams in Illinois, as well as the all-conference and all-Chicago area teams.

Brain Utch, a 6'5" forward from Wirt High School in Gary averaged 17 points per game and 13 rebounds per game and was named to the all-sectional team in Indiana during the past season. Spence Fish Lure 3,000

Opening of Lake E. V. Spence to fishing Saturday brought an unprecedented response.

Estimates of the crowd ranged up to 3,000 at noon Saturday, according to R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant.

He had reports on 16 creels and said they averaged a dozen fish ranging from a pound up to four pounds.

"Everybody's catching fish," he said, "whether fishing from boats or from the bank."

Schooling complimented fishermen for their cooperation in observing requests to respect the rights of private property owners and to use boats at minimum speeds because of low-water navigation hazards.

"I've never seen a better-behaved crowd of people like these today," he said.

The lake, stocked more than a year ago when it caught its first substantial amount of water, was opened to fishing at the recommendation of management specialists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. Some of the larger fish needed harvesting, they said, in order for the forate fish to multiply to desired levels.

Fishermen began pouring into the lake area Friday evening, and by 5:30 a.m. today they were lined up at the permit stands. Concession operators said they were swamped all morning long.

At 10:30 a.m. Schooling had these catches reported to him: Calvin Wallace, Robert Lee, 10 black bass and two channel cat at 1½ pounds each; Phillip Page, Odessa, four black bass, one channel cat from 1-1½ pounds; F. E. Smith, Odessa 11 channel cat to 2½ pounds; Jerry Ware, Blackwell, 15 black bass and five channel cat, one of which was up to four pounds, a trio at three; Mr. Land, San Angelo, 16 channel cat, two pounds; Benford Rankin, Walter Fults and P. H. Wilkerson, all of Odessa, 15 black bass above a pound. Apollo 13 astronaut John L. Swigert will be the speaker Tuesday night at a banquet at which 26 directors will be enshrined in the Halms Hall of Fame.

It will be the fifth annual convention and management institute of The National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

WT State Taken Into Valley Loop

DALLAS (AP) — Faculty representatives of the expansion-minded Missouri Valley Conference voted unanimously Saturday to accept West Texas State University at Canyon as a conference member, effective at once.

West Texas State, a major NCAA independent since the Border Conference disbanded in 1962, increased the MVC's membership to nine teams after the University of Cincinnati withdrew earlier this year.

Dr. William Miller, faculty representative from North Texas State, made the announcement following a meeting of conference faculty representatives, who would begin competing for the football championship in 1972 or sooner if scheduling permits.

West Texas State basketball teams will begin league competition with the 1971-72 season but not later than the 1972-73 campaign, Miller said.

All other sports will begin competing in the Missouri Valley with the 1970-71 season.

The addition of West Texas State is the first phase of a conference expansion program to 12 teams. Under the expanded conference, eight teams would participate in football and 12 in basketball.

West Texas State becomes the seventh football school in the conference. St. Louis does not compete in football and Bradley does not compete for the football championship.

Other conference members are Drake, Bradley, Louisville, Memphis, North Texas State, Tulsa and Wichita State.

DeWitt Weaver, who took over last year as conference commissioner, said the league would continue its expansion plan as soon as other schools could be approved.

He said 10 schools already had expressed interest in entering the conference and seven had made formal application.

Jack Edmondson, West Texas State's faculty representative to the conference, said: "This is a happy day for West Texas State. I am looking forward to working with my colleagues and I hope West Texas State will be worthy of the confidence that the league has shown in it."

The Steers are now 7-6-1 in the standings while the Firebirds are 8-6.

Stewart Wins Golf Playoff

A Big Spring player won on the West Texas Junior golf tour for the first time this year Friday at the Country Club here when Howard Stewart prevailed in the 16-17 age bracket. Before he could have his hand raised in victory, however, Stewart had to go five extra holes to beat another Big Spring entry, Mark Slate.

By LINDA CROSS
 "Death of a Salesman" may never be performed here, but Big Spring play-goers may be witnessing the death of a Little Theatre.

The Little Theatre is dying through neglect, said Mrs. Lida Boland, president of the group, adding that the group has not received the support from the general community it needs to stay alive. Once, the theatre group worked three to four hours a day seven days a week for eight weeks only to find themselves performing to an audience of 13. They were performing "A Thousand Clowns," a play which Mrs. Boland said was an excellent and difficult production.

In the past year, the Little Theatre has presented "The Male Animal" at the Downtown Tea Room, and 150 persons attended; the musical "Little Mary Sunshine" at the City Auditorium, drawing 250 persons in a building that seats 1,500; two one-act plays in a supper theater program O'Neill's "The Tiger" and "Perfect Analysis by a Parrot" at Cosden Country Club, with 200 attending; and "A Thousand Clowns" ran six nights at the Cosden Country Club, before an aggregate of 136 people. In each case the group lost money.

NEARLY BROKE EVEN
 "Barefoot in the Park" was the most successful production all year, according to Mrs. Boland. "We almost broke even on that one. We lost about $200 on ticket sales but made it up in program sales." "Barefoot in the Park" ran six nights also and 400 people attended.

Lack of attendance is not the only problem besetting the Little Theatre. A lack of audience is part of a vicious cycle that leads to a shortage of actors, according to Mrs. Boland. An example is the fiasco of the teleplay.

"We had a director lined up, a date for the play set, and had begun contacting sponsors. When tryouts were held, only two people showed any interest."

TOO FEW
 No audience, said Mrs. Boland, detracts from the cast's and crew's sense of accomplishment and makes them unwilling to donate so much time and energy for the next production. In addition, the smallness of the number of people actively involved in the group presents a problem.

"With so few participants, a lot of work is placed on all, and as a result they are too tired from the previous production to want to work on the next one. We only have about 10 active members presently, and all work they do is volunteer. Many of the members have jobs that make theater participation all the harder," said Mrs. Boland.

The lack of a permanent theater is another serious handicap. Mrs. Boland said that it is impossible to build any kind of elaborate setting, rehearsals are difficult, and rent is often costly. The Cosden Country Club tab was $60 a night, which included utility bills, plus use of the ballroom.

"Besides the rent, we have to pay nightly royalty fees which are $25 or $35 thereafter. With this added to the rent and poor ticket sales, there was just not enough money," she added.

The group had put a lot of work and money into the venture at Cosden Club to make it work. Members put in $700 worth of theatrical lighting and wiring, and they built risers in graduated heights to raise the seating so everyone could see the stage. Because the ballroom must be used for other activities, the stage, seating, and setting must be portable so they can be taken down and stored when not in use. Things there, when not in use, things there, so the settings are not always steady as they must be weighted with sandbags to prop them up, explained the thespian president.

WOULD HELP
 Little Theatre members are currently searching for a home for their group, she added.

"If we could just find an old empty house where no one would mind if we knocked out a wall to make a theater area and move our stage equipment there, a lot of our problems would be solved."

With a permanent home, rehearsals would be simpler, better stage equipment could be set up, and the group could get back on its feet again, she ventured. Moreover, play schedules would not be so erratic, and it would be feasible to sell patron membership tickets again.

"With our plays so erratic, patrons did not feel it was worthwhile to buy season tickets, and that hurt us financially. It has been about four years since we were able to have this type of program," she said.

Mrs. Boland declared that the business community had given the group a great deal of support, adding that "We could not have made it if they hadn't loaned us furniture for settings, bought advertising in our programs and helped us to advertise our shows."

CRUCIAL MEETING
 The Little Theatre group is meeting Monday at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in joining the group and those with suggestions for remedying the situation are asked to attend. Meetings are held at the old pro golf shop near the swimming pool in Comanche Trail Park.

The city loaned this building to use as a storage and meeting place shortly after the Little Theatre moved out of the old and condemned Prairie Playhouse.

At the meeting, members will elect new officers and discuss plans for a performance at the Starlight Specials to be held in the Amphitheatre Aug. 9-16. The players hope to adapt Shine Phillips' BIG SPRING for narration and pantomime.

"If we can get a permanent theater, active participation in the Little Theatre by the community and improved theater attendance, we can get the group back on its feet," said Mrs. Boland. If not, the August performance just might be the Little Theatre's swan song.

New Dietitian Staff Takes Over At VA Hospital Here

The VA hospital dietetic service came under a new management recently as Miss Verna Elliott reported to take over the duties of chief of dietetic service, and Mrs. Lou J. Whitney assumed duties as clinic dietitian. They succeed Mrs. Evelyn Zachariah, former chief, and Mrs. Mary Lois Blackbird, former clinic dietitian, both of whom recently retired.

Miss Elliott, born in Asheville, N.C., has been employed in the VA's dietetic program for 16 years. She comes to Big Spring from the VA Hospital, Omaha, Neb. An Oklahoma A&M graduate, she taught home economics in that state for three years before entering VA service.

Miss Elliott served at the VA Hospitals in Richmond, Va., and Louisville, Ky. before leaving the program to earn her master's degree in institution management and hospital dietetics at Ohio State University. She then took up her duties in Omaha. Miss Elliott is a member of the American Dietetic Association and the National Restaurant Association.

Mrs. Whitney, of Logan, Utah and a graduate of the University of Utah, came to Big Spring from the Houston VA Hospital. She has worked 16 years in the dietetics field.

Prior to joining the VA program in 1968, Mrs. Whitney had worked in various dietitian capacities in California at the San Joaquin General Hospital, Stockton State Hospital, Balboa Naval Hospital and Scripps Metabolic Clinic.

Mrs. Whitney has completed six months work toward her master's and has set its completion as her goal. She is a member of the American and Texas Dietetic Associations and the American Association of University Women. Her son, Bruce R. Whitney, will attend Big Spring High School.

CRMWD Shows Revenue Gain

Heavy municipal demands contributed to a revenue gain for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, according to May revenue statement.

Member cities paid $191,964 for 758,598,000 gallons of water which included the first month of deliveries to the City of Midland. For the first five months of the year cities have used 2,492,595,000 gallons, which grossed the district $732,141. Oil company revenues, however, amounted to only $110,968 in May, making $590,829 for the year.

Total revenues including a mere $530 for recreational facilities (reflecting the extremely low level of the lakes), stood at $305,896 for May or $1,344,301 for the year, a gain of $211,000 for the period.

Revenues may decline, however, because on June 1 oil operators drawing on Lake J. B. Thomas were cut to half of their normal take. This won't show up until the July report.

Most of the 1,169,276,000 gallons of water billed in May came from Lake J. B. Thomas — 623,046,000 gallons. Lake E. V. Spence contributed 343,436,000, the city lakes and wells 107,888,000. The remaining 94,996,000 gallons was in brackish water from the Colorado City diversion works.

"One Man's Family"

By JO BRIGHT

Since the beginning, home has been the heart and hub of society and the family unit the foundation of its strength.

A man — husband and father — is its cornerstone, the pivot point from which his progeny are guided in their growth. Suffering with their defeats and rejoicing in their success, a father is his children's protector, teacher and friend.

To all fine fathers, everywhere, a happy Father's Day.

IT'S A FINE Father's Day at the Shirley Fryar home in Luther where a number of the family will be gathering today. Standing, from left, are Martin Fryar, Thomas Land, R. C. Thomas, Mrs. Land, Shirley Fryar, Mrs. Fryar, Billy Fryar, Mrs. Thomas, Lanny Thomas and Marion Newton Jr. Seated, from left, are Ann Thomas, Lesia Fryar, Kirk Thomas, Mrs. Martin Fryar, Mrs. Marion Newton Jr. and Gregory Scott, Karen Thomas and Tammy Fryar. The only ones missing from the family circle are Rebecca Fryar, young Shirley Fryar and Kendra Thomas who were out of town when the picture was made.

FATHER'S DAY REUNIONS find the women of the house busy in the kitchen, producing delightful aromas that keep the menfolk within sound of the dinner bell. Here, sharing a family joke, are Mrs. Martin Fryar, left, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. C. Thomas.

THE FAMILY TREE begins to branch, and an old mesquite becomes a private place where cousins can be companionable during a visit to grandfather's house. Wishing a happy day to their fathers and grandfathers are Karen Thomas, Tammy Fryar and Kirk Thomas.

and Billy Fryar. Getting a few pointers on the game are Billy's son, Lanny, left, and Martin's son-in-law, Thomas Land.

THERE IS PLENTY of love for the little ones who bask in the attention and affection of their elders on the wonderful days that bring families together. Such a day is today, when children everywhere honor the fathers of the family and express appreciation for their devotion and guidance. Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Fryar of Luther and their family observed an early Father's Day reunion in order that all might be brought within the ever-widening family circle. Here, Mr. and Mrs. Fryar enjoy showing the delights of a summer day to their great-grandson, Gregory Scott Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Newton Jr.

AN ICE TEA TOAST to the dads in the Shirley Fryar clan is proposed by the ladies who like them the most. Raising their glasses in a Father's Day

Couple Says Vows In Afternoon Ceremony

The First United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Barbara Anne Crowell, Lubbock, and Karl Kent Ragland, Lubbock. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Crowell, 715 Tulane, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil K. Ragland, Snyder.

The Rev. Leo K. Gee performed the double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. before an altar decorated with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and stock. A candelabrum and fern trees formed the background.

Miss Merry Lee Dibrell played the organ while Larry Stanley sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

EMPIRE GOWN

The bride wore an Empire-style gown of imported organza designed with wide tucks edged with Venice lace on the sheer Bishop sleeves. Lace bands decorated the bodice, high collar and chapel train, forming a tier-effect on the skirt. Her veil of illusion was held by a lace covered Camelot cap. She carried orchids, carnations and ivy.

Mrs. Bill Crowell of Allen, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Ragland, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Emily Kincaid, and Miss Gayle Thompson, all of Snyder. Mrs. Steve Crowell, Omaha, Neb., sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmatron.

The attendants wore blue voile skirts with white bodices featuring Victorian necklines and cuffs of ruffles edged in lace. Tny blue buttons accented the ruffles.

Phil K. Ragland, father of the bridegroom, was the best man. Groomsmen were Bill Crowell of Allen and Steve Crowell, Omaha, Neb., brothers of the bride; Sammy Foster, Plainview; and Mike Childers, Lubbock. Ringbearers were David Crowell of Allen, and Shawn Ragland, Snyder. Lighting the altar tapers were Robert Crowell of Allen and

MRS. KARL KENT RAGLAND

Kelly Ragland, Snyder, brother of the bridegroom.

RECEPTION

The wedding reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with white netting and ruffled skirting. A streamer of flowers encircled the table and an arrangement of white carnations and stock centered the table. The tiered bridal cake was topped with wedding bells. Crystal and silver appointments were used. The bridegroom's table featured a chocolate cake. The table was covered with white linen bordered in lace and centered with a miniature arrangement of mixed blue and white flowers. Silver appointments were used.

Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hathaway, Mrs. Leslie McNeese, Mrs. E. C. Shive, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smyth, Miss Carol Baxter, Plainview; Miss Patty and Mrs. Ronnie Adam, both of Snyder; Miss Janie Carroll, Lubbock; and Mrs. David Holt, Fort Worth.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a turquoise suit with white accessories. The couple will reside in Lubbock.

The bride is attending Texas Tech University and is employed by Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company. The bridegroom is also attending Texas Tech and is employed at the Varsity Bookstore.

Thetas Are Planting New Trees

American will become 76,000 trees more beautiful this spring. Members of Kappa Alpha Theta are planting trees to celebrate the first sorority 100th birthday — and they've asked every living member in the country to plant a tree. Mrs. Jack Powell of Big Spring is regional president of the sorority.

College chapters are adding a tree to significant corners on their campuses. Alumnae chapters are beautifying an entire block by planting young flowering trees. Some are putting a tree into a propitious corner and surrounding it with colorful shrubs. Each individual is asked to put a tree out at her home.

The tree-planting is one of Theta's many programs to mark the group's founding at De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., in 1870.

Last month, members all over the country staged a Kite Fly on the first day of spring. Some of these were money-raising events with funds donated to local philanthropies or the national philanthropy — the Institute of Logopedics, at Wichita, Kan. Officers estimate that Thetas were responsible for almost a million kites taking to the skies on the first weekend in spring.

In January the sorority marked its founding with commemorative ceremonies at Greencastle. Theta gave money for a memorial garden on the De Pauw campus.

The year-long observance will climax with a national convention in June at Hotel del Coronado, San Diego, Calif.

Mrs. Albert N. Jorgensen Jr. of Newington, Conn., is national president of Theta.

PBX Club Installs New Slate Of Officers

Mrs. Joe Blessingame was installed as president of the PBX Club Saturday at an installation dinner in the Patio Room at Holiday Inn. Mrs. John Rains, state treasurer and past local president, installed the new officers. They are Mrs. Fern Smith, vice president; Mrs. Jack Barber, secretary; and Miss Ramona Molina, treasurer.

Newly-appointed officers are Mrs. C. H. Cox, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. T. Phillips, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Curtis Hood, chaplain; and Mrs. John Ray, historian.

Miss Molina presented the club scrapbook to Mrs. Rains, who presented a gift to the club. Members dined at tables covered with white linen and centered with arrangements of spring flowers. Mrs. Blessingame announced that a garage sale would be held in July at her home, 618 Caylor.

In observance of PBX Operator's week in June, some of the local club's projects were reviewed. The chapter was organized Feb. 11, 1965. Members are active in the Muscular Dystrophy Drive and volunteer work at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. They collect articles and clothing for the "Well Baby Clinic" in Lubbock, and contribute to the Bible Fund and several charities.

The 1970 international convention will be held in St. Louis, Mo., July 15-17. Mrs. Hilda Christiansen, Los Angeles, Calif., is president of the international organization which has 40,000 members. Mrs. Jean Croucher, Houston, is the state president.

The PBX chapters were formed to create a closer relationship between operators and the telephone company. Their motto is "ABC" (Always Be Courteous). The operators keep communications moving over the 20,200 switchboards throughout the nation. The number of switchboards in Texas has doubled in the past 10 years.

Each year the chapters honor their "Boss of the Year" and "Operator of the Year."

New local officers will begin their duties at the next regular meeting July 21 at Malone and Hogan Clinic.

Miss Trevino Weds Gustavo C. Hernandez

MRS. TERRY LYNN MARSHALL

MRS. GUSTAVO C. HERNANDEZ

The wedding of Miss Irma Trevino and Gustavo C. Hernandez was an event of Saturday morning in Sacred Heart Catholic Church with Rev. J. P. Delaney as officiant.

The organist, Mrs. Ray Tatum, presented traditional nuptial selections, and the wedding party stood before an altar graced with arrangements of white gladioli and daisies interspersed with greenery. Candelabra completed the setting.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evaristo Trevino, 608 NW 4th, graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Commercial College of Abilene. She is employed at First National Bank and is secretary of the American GI Forum of Big Spring.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Higinio T. Moreno, 100 NE 10th, graduated from BSHS and Durham Business College. After completing Army service, he is now completing his second year at Howard County Junior College while employed in the audio visual department at the high school. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus and an officer in the local GI Forum.

The bride's white organza gown was fashioned on Empire lines with a band of lace flowers marking the high rise waist. Lace appliques circled the neckline, and lace sleeves were puffed at the upper arm, flaring beneath to elaborate fullness edged in lace flowers. The slender skirt was complemented with a lace train. Her headpiece was enhanced with flower tendrils framing her face, and the bouffant veil of illusion fell to beneath her shoulders.

She carried a bridal bouquet of glass azures accented with ivy and showered with white satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Eulalia Trevino attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bernardo Huante, Mrs. Evaristo Trevino Jr. and Mrs. Joe Trevino. Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Alma Vargas, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Connie Trevino and Miss Leticia Trevino, sisters of the bride; Miss Olga Hernandez, Miss Vila Gamba, Miss Martha Fierro, Miss Belen Rubio, Miss Margie Rubio, Miss Lindy Gonzales, Miss Frances Billalba, Miss Josie Moreno and Miss Janie Sanchez.

Attendants Honored At Luncheon

A bridesmaid's luncheon was held Saturday at Coker's Restaurant honoring feminine attendants participating in the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Nancy Mathis and Terry Lynn Marshall. The bride's mother, Mrs. Perry Mathis, was hostess.

Dining tables were arranged in a T-shape and laid with white linen. One table was accented with an arrangement of yellow and white daisies and runners of English ivy, while the other held alabaster lovebirds, also accented with ivy. Name tags were shaped like wedding bells.

Out-of-town guests, other than the honorees, were Miss Marilou Ritchey, Inglewood, Calif.; Mrs. Manuel Pilgrim, Denton; Mrs. Floyd Mathis, Bryan; Miss Annelie Fitzhugh, Lamesa; and Mrs. Leown Marshall of Roswell, N.M.

At 8 p.m., a wedding dance was held at Gomez Hall.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, Mrs. Hernandez wore a white crepe dress, trimmed in black, and black accessories. The couple will reside at 1203 E. 6th.

Out-of-town guests were Felipe Cortez Bedoy, Tampico, Mexico; and Mr. and Mrs. Issac Grando and Manuel Ortiz de la Garza, all of Monterrey, Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. Rolando Perez, Fontana, Calif.; Mrs. Sapopa Barrios and Miss Olivia Barrios, both of San Antonio; Luis Martinez and family and Mr. and Mrs. Beto Contreras, all of El Paso; and Mr. and Mrs. Salvador Lopez, Mexico City, Mexico.

Miss Elizabeth Hayworth sang the theme from "Romeo and Juliet" during the lighting of the tapers and "More" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on the prie dieu. Miss Annelie Fitzhugh was organist.

The bride wore a princess A-line gown of crepe with bell sleeves of Chantilly lace and chapel train of lace attached at the shoulders. The matching lace headpiece was enhanced with seed pearls and crystals and held an elbow-length veil of illusion. She carried a formal cascade of French carnations topped with a white orchid.

A pleasant surprise for BRYANS FITZHUGH, former Big Spring, and who will graduate from Fort Benning in July, was a visit with Mrs. Beckham who brought him news from home and of his parents, MR. and MRS. MAX FITZHUGH who now live in Lamesa.

Mr. Beckham accompanied her to Dallas where they met and visited shortly with her cousins, DR. and MRS. LAURENCE THOMPSON who were en route to Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada. Dr. Thompson is a professor of linguistics at the University of Hawaii.

A LOVELIER YOU Lift With Exercises

By MARY SUE MILLER
Wrinkles and sag in the area of the chin can begin to plague a woman any time after her mid-thirties. If the condition is allowed to go untended, it worsens rapidly. And that's a sadness, because the simplest measures do much to hold the line.

Exercise works wonders to firm up the contours of the chin and the throat, too. Just try this routine:

Tilt your head back as far as possible and then purse your lips. Holding the position, expel your breath in short, quick puffs — as though blowing bubbles. Continue for several minutes, always working for a stronger pull in the underchin and neck muscles.

When feasible, perform the routine while you massage in your nighttime emollient at bedtime. Of course, you will see to it that the product is loaded with rich oils and moisturizers, so as to compensate for the skin's dwindling supplies. The combination of exercise and massage is doubly stimulating to the muscles and thus hastens results.

A toning lotion would also prove useful. The time to apply it is before making up, when the skin is cleansed. Simply make a patten of absorbent cotton, wring it out in your lotion and "spank" your skin from the collarbone upward. This works on laugh-lines along with the crepey problems.

Easy Does It

To wash the outside of ground-floor windows conveniently, use a long-handled string mop, then rinse with a hose.

Lemon Cleaner

Remove ugly discoloration from wooden rolling pins and bread boards by rubbing with half a lemon. Let them stand a few minutes, then rinse thoroughly with clear water. If possible dry in the sun.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Marvelously Versatile Cotton Will Be Saluted This Week

By RAYE SMITH
(Extension Assistant)

Cotton Week is June 21 through June 27. This week is set aside to recognize and honor the cotton industry. Cotton is important to the area economy as well as the economy of the nation. Cotton fabrics have some unique characteristics, many uses, and are easily cared for.

Cotton is part of our daily lives. Our homes are full of cotton towels, sheets, and clothing of all types. It is even found in the upholstery as padding of our favorite chair, and in many curtains and drapes. Cotton wears well because the fiber is strong. It has the tensile strength of structural steel.

This marvelous fiber may be found in a variety of colors, from the soft pastel, or white, to the very bright, vivid colors. Cotton is colorfast because it usually vat dyes. Vat dyes are the fastest dyes known to science. Therefore there is little, if any, fading from sunlight and repeated washings.

Cotton is completely washable. Most cottons are preshrunk, which means they can be washed in hot water without affecting size or fit. Once washed, cotton can be dried any way you please and ironed if necessary. Cotton does not create static electricity. It will not shock, cling, or attract lint and dust. This means a fresh looking, fresh feeling, and fresh smelling fabric, thanks to its launderability.

WIDE RANGE

Cottons are available in a wide range of textures and finishes. Cotton is a year-round fabric that has many constructions, weights, and weaves. It may be found in heavy denim, and in airy chifon. It is cool in the summer and warm in the winter. Cotton has been noted for its coolness for many years. The warm face of cotton is being recognized in corduroys, thermal weaves, laminates, and other cold weather constructions.

Cotton may be treated for wrinkle and crease resistance, water and stain repellancy, shrinkage control, stretchability, wash and wear qualities, high or low luster and embossed or smooth surface. Easy care cottons may be described by a number of terms, as "wash and wear," "automatic wash and wear," "drip dry," "minimum care," "no iron," and others. In addition there are more and more cotton stretch garments and home furnishing fabrics prepared for the market.

Cotton is comfortable. Cotton "breathes," and absorbs moisture to help you stay calm and confident. Babies diapers are proof of the absorbency of cotton. Towels and bath mats are other examples of the absorbency and softness of cotton. Combed cotton yarns make an even softer fabric.

The cotton industry had its real beginning some 5,000 years ago. There is evidence of cotton having been grown in Mexico at least 7,000 years ago. By 1500 A. D., cotton was known throughout the world. With the invention of the cotton gin in 1793 by Eli Whitney, the value of the cotton crop in the United States jumped from $150,000 to more than $8,000,000 in ten years time. Today cotton is the leading cash crop in the United States. It has a brilliant future. A few of the many products we will be seeing are heavy cotton tweeds that will allow us to wash and tumble dry, made into topcoats. Shape-holding cottons will make it possible to set the final shape of a garment after it has been cut, sewed, and pressed. Heavy cotton blanket fabrics will retain loft, appearance, and warmth during use and after repeated washings.

To find these wonderful properties, look for the label that reads "100 per cent Cotton." On Monday, you may view an array of beautiful cotton garments at the "Sew It Yourself with Cotton Style Show," which will be held at 8 p.m. in the Big Spring High School auditorium.

Big Spring will be all dressed up by cotton sales during "Cotton Week." What will you and your home be wearing?

Grease up your steering wheel and try making a quick turn.

Now you know how a drunk driver does it.

It's not hard to see how each year, problem drinkers are involved in killing at least 25,000 of us on our highways. When people lose control drinking, they often lose control driving.

But what is hard to see is why we keep letting them. Many problem drinkers need to be helped. But first, they need to be taken off the road. Sooner or later, it has to happen. Make it sooner. To find out what you can do, write the National Safety Council, Dept. A, 425 N. Michigan, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Published in cooperation with The Advertising Council, National Safety Council and International Newspaper Advertising Executives. Because too many people have died.

Wedding Vows Said In Chapel Ceremony

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday at Trinity Baptist Church by Miss Barbara Ann Long and Lt. Laurance Nelson Fernald, Webb Air Force Base. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Adams, 1504 Chickasaw. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurance S. Fernald, attended the wedding from their home in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Rev. Claude Craven conducted the ceremony before an altar decorated with a sunburst arrangement of gladioli and mums, flanked by candelabra and palms. Leonard Moody sang "Hawaiian Wedding Song" and "Wedding Prayer" with Mrs. Moody as organist, and Miss Carolyn Montgomery sang "The Twelfth of Never."

The bride, given in marriage by William H. Bethel, an uncle, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace over organza. The gown was styled with a high scalloped collar and puff sleeves with scalloped French cuffs. Chantilly lace with scalloped edges formed the Watteau train. A Dior bow held her finger-tip length veil of illusion, and she carried a white orchid surrounded by miniature crysanthemums.

Mrs. Victor Coots, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a royal blue Empire-style dress with baby blue ribbon accenting the waist. Miss Cathy Carlile and Miss Carolyn Montgomery were bridesmaids. They wore identical baby blue and light blue dresses with royal blue ribbon marking the Empire waists. The attendants carried nosegays of miniature crysanthemums.

Ensign James J. Hastings served as best man, and groomsmen were brothers of the bridegroom, Steven W. Fernald and Carl H. Fernald, both of St. Petersburg.

Marie Gilbert, the flower girl, wore a light blue dress similar to the bridesmaids'. Todd Gilbert was the ring bearer.

The wedding reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and decorated with the attendants' bouquets. Crystal appointments were used, and the three-tiered bridal cake was decorated with tiny light blue roses.

Miss Arlene Hartin was in charge of the guest register. Members of the house party

The bride's traveling costume was a peach linen suit with dark brown crepe blouse featuring a high collar and long scarf tie. Following a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the couple will live at the Ponderosa Apartments.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Troy State University with a BS degree in accounting and business administration. He is

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"None of the ladies on television seem concerned with anything beyond finding a hair coloring that will keep her looking young eternally, making sure the family brushes after every meal and finding a floor wax that won't yellow over. The girl who suspects that there might be more to life than this has to go her own way more or less against the weight of society's opinions and expectations." —Elizabeth Koontz, director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor.

"There are better methods for settling disputes than killing young men. But we—the public—have only ourselves to blame that they aren't being used." —Jeanette Rankin, the first woman to serve in Congress.

"You can't computerize the happiness of a child with a box of crayons who draws a picture. Art touches hearts as well as minds"—Nancy Hanks, chairman of the National Council on the Arts.

"I'll be wearing several hemlines—seven inches from the floor, 15 inches from the floor. I'll wear some minis, too—very high with over-the-knee boots. I think anything goes in a time of change." —Mario Thomas, of "That Girl" television series.

"With all the racial problems there are today, I hope it will show the radicals in the black power movement that things aren't so bad, that you can be accepted for what you are, rather than the color of your skin." —Cheryl Adrienne Browne, Miss Iowa, who will be the first black in the Miss America contest.

"Fathers are always great gift givers and they appreciate the reciprocity." —Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, who conceived the idea of Father's Day 60 years ago, in an interview.

Prairie Dogs Are Back, But Under Tight Control

By HOWARD SIMS
As Henry (Laugh-In) Gibson says: "But what about the prairie dog?"

Wild rumors have been flying lately about an invasion of Big Spring by prairie dogs. Rumors like this don't get started without a slight panic by farmers and ranchers who remember the campaign a few decades back to rid the area of these pesky rodents, which had established acres of prairie dog towns and were eating everything in sight. Coyotes had been thinned and prairie dogs had lost their worst natural enemy. Understandably, the prairie dog population flourished and had to be controlled by systematic extermination. So the smart alec of the prairie almost disappeared.

Investigation proved that the rumors of his return are indeed true. But there is no cause for alarm. There are only about 14 of the little rascals, and they will have to confine their gastronomic activities to the 600 square feet of vegetation enclosed by the prairie dog pen recently built at Big Spring State Park.

BRINGING 'EM BACK
Conservationists are beginning to set up prairie dog colonies in wildlife preserves to give people a chance to see what a prairie dog town looks like. As nearby as Midland and Lubbock, colonies have been established, giving Butch Wisenbaker, manager of the Big Spring park, the idea for starting one here.

The ranger's first problem was designing and building an escape-proof habitat for the burrowing animals. Wisenbaker modeled his after the one at Mackenzie State Park in Lubbock, sinking a circle of nine-foot chain-link and chicken-wire fencing about six feet into the ground so that it rested on a layer of sheet metal. John Day, who operates Day's Pumping Service, spent several hot afternoons helping Butch with the fence and the pipeline feeding the water trough. For good measure they strung a wire around the perimeter and gave it a six volt charge to discourage the prairie dogs from climbing out.

DRYLAND FISHING
The next problem was getting the prairie dogs. Midland's prairie dog town had started with just two animals trapped off the range, but it now has about 140. He agreed to catch a dozen of these and send them to Big Spring.

Butch explained that you don't trap prairie dogs anymore, you fish for 'em, just like bass. You toss out a line with a marshmallow baiting the barbless triple hook, wait for an eager prairie dog to pop it in his mouth, and reel him in.

Prairie dog experts have found this technique more reliable and harmless than trapping.

Two of the original prairie dog colonists died after being transported here, but two more were donated by a local resident who had kept them as family pets. The new residents immediately began tunneling within the compound and can still be seen carrying mouthfuls of straw down to pad their sleeping quarters.

PUT ON A SHOW
The park rangers finished the road leading to the prairie dog pen about two weeks ago, so that visitors can now follow the red flags to see for themselves whatever it is that prairie dogs do. Mostly they romp around and scuffle together like puppies. They signal each other by barking when someone comes to see them, and a couple are photogenic enough to come up to the fence and pose for pictures.

When we went out to see them, Butch pointed out the head honcho, a scrappy little bull prairie dog who is likely to tie it on anyone who steps over the wrong side of the fence. He sometimes races the others Kentucky Derby style around the inside of the fence, but most of the time he seems to be watching out for the safety of the whole colony. One of the females displays just the opposite temperament, sometimes letting the rangers reach in and pick her up.

Visitors are allowed to feed the animals, even though some are beginning to look overweight. Sunflower seeds are one of their natural delicacies that can be stockpiled in the burrows for eating pleasure on weekdays when visitors bearing gifts are not so plentiful. Quite a few people have visited the prairie dog town the last two Sundays, sometimes bringing marshmallows and other goodies.

THEY TIDY UP
According to Butch the day after a rain is the best time to catch the prairie dogs doing anything useful. When the ground softens a little they seize the opportunity to reshape the vestibules of their burrows. Each one bulldozes and packs the area at the mouth of his hole to suit his individual taste. Butch says that so far the project has cost the State Park no money, since John Day provided the water pipe and National Building Center furnished the fencing. Eventually benches and other improvements will be added to the area for the benefit of the visitors. Butch also hopes to get some rye grass growing later in the year to provide a little ground cover and winter nourishment.

Officials Study No-Man's Stretch

That no-man's land on US 87 from FM 700 for three blocks has caught the eye of city and highway department officials.

City Traffic Commission chairman Jerry Worthy met Wednesday with other city officials and Texas Highway Department Engineer Joe Smoot to discuss plans for increasing the safety of the section of highway between Coronado Plaza and Highland South shopping center.

The number of accidents occurring along this strip of highway recently led to the appointment of City Commissioners Eddie Acri and Wade Choate to a committee to work

Tank To Capture Trinity Water

HOUSTON (AP) — Construction on the Wallisville Reservoir, a 19,700-acre tank to hold Trinity River water for industrial use in the Houston area, may be started in about a month.

Col. Franklin Moon, district engineer for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, said construction would begin as soon as the necessary paper work can be completed.

The reservoir, located in West Chambers County, will have an average depth of two feet. A levee will keep salt water from Trinity Bay out of the reservoir.

Fresh water will eventually be pumped from the reservoir into a canal and pipeline system that will take it under the Houston Ship Channel.

A set of locks to be used by pleasure craft and barge traffic will also be built.

with the traffic commission, highway department, and shopping center managements in searching for a solution to the problem.

Major hazards have been created by motorists crossing the highway wherever they please, often against traffic, so that the area has been described as "1200 feet of continuous intersection." Smoot said the highway department already plans to install curbs and gutters that would alleviate part of the problem by restricting highway access to the planned entrances and exits.

Traffic Commissioner Worthy pointed out that this will not completely solve the problem as long as motorists can still speed diagonally across several lanes of traffic as they go from the exit of one shopping center to the entrance of another.

After consideration of several alternatives, the most satisfactory solution seemed to be a raised median with controlled left turn lanes and a limited number of crossover points. Plans for the median will not be made final until Choate and the manager of Highland South Shopping Center, who were unable to attend the meeting, have an opportunity to express their views.

Two Area Counties Join Others For Food Program

Two area counties have been affected by a recent decision by a federal judge that every Texas County must have either a commodity program or a food stamp program for needy persons.

Both Borden and Glasscock counties, neither of which has enough needy persons to warrant a full-scale operation, are both complying with the decision by entering into agreements with nearby counties.

Borden is expected to begin a food stamp program June 29 in association with Garza and Dickens counties. Borden County Judge C. C. Nunnelly said Friday morning that Lynn County might join the three counties at a later date.

ALREADY GOING
Glasscock County Judge Bryant Harris said a surplus commodities program began operating in his county May 1. The administrator operates out of Big Lake, covering Glasscock, Reagan and Sterling counties once a month.

Judge Harris said the program so far is expected to cost Glasscock County $50 per month. Judge Nunnelly said the $50 per month figure also was estimated by state officials as the cost to Borden County.

Both men said the decision came so suddenly that neither county had time to budget the operation properly; and that, for the first year at least, the program will be operated out of the general funds.

Judge Nunnelly said the food stamp program was chosen for Borden County rather than the surplus commodities program because of the long distance from a supply depot and lack of storage space available.

Local stores are expected to honor the food stamps for the 15-20 persons anticipated for the program, Judge Nunnelly said. Although expected to begin operations in little more than a week, the program has not been fully outlined in Borden County and no applications have been taken.

"We have a few persons eligible for old-age assistance who will be helped by the program," Judge Nunnelly said, indicating the others will be mostly itinerant farm workers.

Judge Harris said participants in Glasscock County so far have been equally divided between residents considered permanent and itinerant farm workers. There were 12 recipients in Glasscock County the first of June, Judge Harris said and since that time two more applications have been received.

MOSTLY FOR OPERATORS
"Most of the expense to the county is for operational costs in Big Lake," Judge Harris said. "All the food products are donated by the Department of Agriculture which also pays the salary of the administrator and her assistant." He said utilities office space and a telephone were the major charges to the county.

When queried about the legality of a three-state-county operation, Judge Harris said the state welfare officials had recommended the setup, indicating it would comply with the order to have the program available in each county.

Both men indicated that there was little opposition to the program in either county. "We've had some comments both ways, but not a lot of adverse criticism," Judge Harris said.

"It is a cheap means of reaching satisfaction with the people involved," Judge Nunnelly said. "We received an ultimatum that we would start the program or the federal government would start it. Either way we figured we'd end up paying for it," he said.

Judge Nunnelly said he expects the food stamp program for Borden County will be operated out of Post. Garza and Dickens counties have been estimated at having 500 persons each who are eligible for the food stamps.

Colleges In Financial Trouble

Rising costs and the hard search for more money is affecting not only households and governments. It is delivering a most critical blow at most of the colleges and universities of America.

The current issue of "U.S. News & World Report" has an article detailing the woes of institutions of higher learning as they are caught in the money pinch.

Hardest hit, of course, are the small private and church-related colleges where some administrators are even mentioning "bankruptcy." One college president asserts "the nation's small private colleges are dying."

But even the most prestigious of the nation's universities struggle with the same problem. Massachusetts Institute of Technology, supposedly one of the stronger institutions, is reported to be ending the year with a two-million-dollar deficit. Columbia University in New York City is $50 million short in a money-raising campaign and is facing a deficit of $15 million in its current operating budget. Stanford University in California will be short by $1.8 million.

The story is even more depressing for smaller colleges. While tuition fees do not begin to cover the cost of educating a student, they have to play a major role, and as smaller colleges struggle to make ends meet they must raise these tuition fees. And then they begin to price themselves out of the market. Many smaller colleges are seeing enrollments go down and down. Although parents and a big segment of the public strongly, and to date successfully, have resisted the raising of tuition rates in Texas public universities, the economic fact is that these schedules are too low. If they are a "bargain," as compared to private schools, then the result is that state college campuses are burgeoning with dormitories overflowing and classrooms packed, while there are vacancies at smaller liberal arts colleges.

If there is a place for the smaller college, to train teachers, ministers and business operators (not necessarily the technical wizards in science, medicine and jurisprudence,) then some balance will have to be sought.

Some attention has been given in Austin to a procedure under which the state could allot some of its money to private colleges, and contract for the education of students. This would tend to relieve the crush on big-school campuses, and tend to spread out the teacher-student relationship, where there could be smaller classes and hopefully, more direct results in educational methods.

This may or may not be feasible. Some religious institutions stand up in strength for church-and-state separation, and maintain public monies should not come into their institutions. Their convictions are respected, but if they are to continue their college operations, these convictions will have to be followed up with gift dollars.

The truth is that education, like everything else, has become terrifically expensive. This leads back to the truism that the public must pay for what it wants — either in gifts or more tuition, or both.

Planes For Israel Not Enough

WASHINGTON — The planes are not enough. In one form or another the Administration will approve the sale of further Phantom and Skyhawk jets to Israel. This will probably come as replacements meant to sustain the present strength of the Israeli Air Force.

That seems to this observer essential for two reasons. First, it is vital to maintain the current power ratio of an air force equal in skill and courage to any second, anything less than this will be interpreted by Moscow as a pull-back and, therefore, an invitation to further steps to take over the war in Egypt and advance on the Suez Canal line. With this clear military superiority today, this is what Israel fears for day after tomorrow.

BUT THE PLANES will not bring peace. The announcement, however wrapped in ambiguity, may on the contrary bring greater terror and more peril on the several fronts on which the Arabs are pushing the war. It is possible that the whole Middle East will be inflamed—as relatively reasonable Arabs, American oil executives and diplomats in the Arab capitals are warning.

Therefore, late as it is in terms of the violent hatreds raging throughout the area, it seems to this observer vital to put the decision in a larger context. The framework of a possible peace settlement, however remote, should be visible.

SHORTLY BEFORE the outbreak of the six-day war in June of 1967

Billy Graham

My husband is making it difficult for me to follow Christ. He claims that the way to salvation is too straight and narrow. Should I compromise with my husband? G.B.

Following Jesus Christ is a solitary business. It often means that we stand alone, viewed critically by those we love, and who love us. Jesus said: "He that loveth father and mother more than me is not worthy of me; and he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me. And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me is not worthy of me." (Matt. 10:37-39).

But, of course, this does not mean that because we love Christ more, that the love for our families is diminished. In fact, the love that Christians have for their families is a superior, greater love. But Jesus is simply saying that loyalty to Him takes precedence over all other loves. No, you should not compromise your Christian ideals; not even with your husband. He is watching you, testing you — to see if your discipleship is true and sincere. Although he may even bring pressure to bear, may even laugh at you, I'm certain he would be disillusioned if you lowered the flag and compromised. In my opinion: if you are true, he will soon follow you and receive Christ himself.

President Prescribes Patience In Pep Talk

UP, UP BUT OFF

- President says nation in transition to peace economy
- But dollar now buys one-third less than 10 years ago
- Plan announced for turning spotlight on the inflators
- Housing starts and industrial output both are down
- Personal income skids, but bargain hunting aids market

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon sought to reassure the nation that his present economic policies are working, amid new signs the past week of rising inflation and further economic slowdown.

In his long-awaited speech on the economy Wednesday, Nixon asked for patient cooperation while the nation goes through a period of transition "from a wartime economy to a peacetime consumer economy."

He urged business and labor to avoid seeking excessive wage and price increases, and announced a plan through which his Council of Economic Advisors would call public attention to inflationary boosts.

He said he will set up a special commission to find ways to increase industrial productivity and a review board to take a hard look at government purchasing procedures.

NO CONTROLS
Nixon's decision to stand firm against pressure for wage and price controls was perhaps the most significant aspect of the talk.

Many business leaders said they found the speech reassuring and voiced strong support for the President's wage and price controls position.

Others, however, expressed disappointment that Nixon didn't go far enough in this direction.

Organized labor termed the President's programs antilabor and ineffective in combating inflation.

In the midst of this debate, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a four-tenths of 1 per cent rise in the cost of living during May.

The increase boosted the government's Consumer Price Index to 134.6, meaning it cost the typical family $13.46 last month to buy the same items that would have cost them $10 during 1957-59, the period on which the index is based.

SING OF SOFTNESS
Coupled with this increase in inflation were further reports of economic softness. The Commerce Department reported that housing starts fell 1.2 per cent last month. This was the thirteenth month housing starts showed a decline in the past 16 months.

May's decline, however, was considerably slimmer than April's 12.7 per cent drop. Industrial output also fell last month, registering its largest drop in six months, the Federal Reserve Board reported.

The 0.8 per cent decline in May brought the index of industrial production 3 per cent below the peak of last July. The index has fallen eight times in the last 10 monthly reporting periods.

May also saw a steep drop in personal income, which fell a record $7.8 billion. The decline from the previous month's figure was caused by non-recurring Social Security payments that added $8 billion to personal income in April, Commerce Department officials pointed out.

MARKET RALLIES
Countering the generally pessimistic trend of news developments, the stock market posted a good increase during the week. Analysts attributed the rise to bargain hunting by investors and said it could end at any time.

In another development, Asst. Commerce Secretary Kenneth N. Davis criticized top White House aids for the way he said they were advising Nixon against a bill that would limit imports of textiles, apparel and footwear. He said passage of the bill, which would create presidential authority to restrict imports of these items, is "of crucial importance to the well being of the American economy."

Following the talk, Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans said Davis was "leaving his position" shortly. Stans said Davis had notified him of his decision last week, adding, "I agree with his decision."

Constipation When You Are Traveling

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a woman of 60 and enjoy excellent health. My one complaint is that when I travel I become constipated, and I have heard others say the same thing.

Would you discuss this and give some advice how to overcome this problem?—Mrs. G.D.E.

There's no single cause but several. Subtle tension may lead the list, and for some people a very mild sedative may be warranted.

But there are others. Irregular meals. Different types of meals — quickies, rather than a full meal, or a sandwich but no salad or fruits or vegetables which ordinarily provide bulk. Changes in the water are sometimes blamed, and perhaps with reason.

But physical inactivity probably is more important. If you are driving, you sit in one position for hours at a time. In a plane, you do a lot of sitting. Or a bus. Or a train — if anybody still can find a train to ride on. Of course, you can do a little walking in the aisle, maybe, or walk to the dining car, if there is one. Physical activity is a great help in maintaining regularity.

If, as I hope is the case, you have acquired good bathroom habits and are accustomed to heeding nature's call at some predictable time of day, your travel schedule may throw you off, but you get back on schedule in a day or so.

All of the above should be tempered by knowing what you regard as "constipation." Just missing a day isn't really constipation in the health sense. Quite often all it amounts to is that you haven't had enough bulk or activity to persuade your colon that enough residue has accumulated to be worth the trouble.

Taking one of the various bulk producers before you leave on a trip can solve that. Or making it a point to eat more fruit and drink more liquid while traveling can be very helpful. At home, you get a glass of water or have a cup of tea whenever you feel like it. While traveling, you may not. Probably don't.

Or, of course, a mild laxative when you arrive at your destination may make you more comfortable. But people with healthy bowel habits don't usually have to wait long at the end of a trip to get back to normal routine.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it harmful to live in a house heated by hot air? Could living in a home so heated for 20 years contribute to emphysema?—Mrs. M.M.

Father Is Ready To 'Relate'

On this Father's Day young readers, if any, might be advised that the "generation gap" is no new thing. They might do well to buddy up to their Dads and make the best of trying to "relate" with them.

The difference in viewpoints of the old and the young has always existed. It just has been given a new set of terms.

MY MEMORY is that the Old Man always had his problems in making a living and maintaining a certain discipline around the household, while the kids had their problems of yielding to, or resisting, temptations, as the case might be. What they regarded as temptations and what the Old Man said they were, were two different things.

They talk today of a "meaningful dialogue." I never heard this phrase as a punkin-head kid, but I understood Papa's monologue when he warned "if I ever catch you climbing that windmill again, you won't be able to sit down for a week." There was a time when he did catch me atop the windmill tower, and by golly, I did have difficulty in sitting down.

WHEN THE TIME came to milk the cow, or to split the kindling-wood for the fireplace, on occasion I attempted what might be called a meaningful dialogue. I would plead a sprained finger or other ill, in the hope of avoiding the chore just for one evening. The dialogue never came off. All Papa said was "get on out there and do what you're assigned to do." That took care of the dialogue.

THEY ALSO talk today of "relating" one with the other. As a callow youth, when I got in late with the family car, I would attempt to relate by presenting what hopefully were valid excuses. The relationship broke off when Papa handed down his decree, "that's the last time you get the car for a week."

There was the time when the folks thought I was too interested in a girl (an outrageously young age (sound familiar?). Papa then related to me one day with the observation that "there are always other fish in the sea." At the time he seemed woefully misunderstanding, but there came — and rather cloyingly — the acceptance that he could be right.

WHEN I WAS at that impossible sophomore age on a college campus, I was positive that my Father had no intelligence at all, and only my generation would cure the ills that his generation was spreading around. It dawned on me not many years later, that my Dad was "relating" with me down to the bare knuckles of his hands, to pay the bills to keep me in school. I give thanks today that he was willing to "relate" with me when it was extremely difficult to do so.

SO, TODAY'S sermon for young people is that it is much easier to use the words like "generation gap" and "meaningful dialogue" and "relate," than it is to put them to the test. If you examine real closely, you will find, I think, that your Dad is ready to meet you more than halfway — gap, dialogue, relating, and all the rest.

Rice—The Ultimate Weapon

WASHINGTON — Left-wingers and limousine liberals have been quibbling about the success of our incursion into Cambodia. While there has been some question as to how many weapons we captured and how many sanctuaries we wiped out, there is absolutely no question that we captured the largest rice supply dump in Southeast Asia.

Pictures of this rice have been shown on television and distributed to the press. According to intelligence reports, the invasion of Cambodia was worth it for the rice alone.

THE ADMINISTRATION has claimed to have seized 51 million pounds of rice, which is the equivalent of 102 million cups of rice, which breaks down to 6,721,000,000 billion tablespoonsful, which was enough to make rice pudding for every man, woman and child in the Viet Cong.

The problem, now that we have captured the rice, is what to do with it. We can't leave it in Cambodia because we have to pull out on June 30, and the rice might wind up on the black market. Trucking it back to Vietnam has been suggested, but that could get the Mekong Delta Rice Growers Assn. up in arms, particularly since Cambodia grows a better grade of rice than Vietnam.

AMERICAN GIs hate rice, so there is no sense trying to make it part of their diet. And if we give the rice to the Lon Nol government it may be embarrassing, because rumor has it he sold the Viet Cong the rice in the first place.

A solution to the problem has been suggested by a Los Angeles lawyer named Arthur L. Martin, who studied the subject at Rice University in Houston.

Martin discovered that rice expands four times its size when it is cooked. He believes that the rice we captured in Cambodia should be dropped into Haiphong Harbor, where it would swell in the warm waters and block the harbor.

BOMBING HAIPHONG Harbor with rice would not be considered an act of war, because the U.S. Air Force could claim it had dropped the rice on a mercy mission to Laos and had missed its target.

No ships could get in and out of the harbor once it was clogged with Cambodian rice. Hanoi would scream and shout in Paris, but international law would be on our side. We could prove that every grain of rice we dropped in the harbor came from a Cambodian Communist sanctuary.

MARTIN ESTIMATES it would take 13 months to dredge the Haiphong Harbor of rice, and by that time, if the Church-Cooper amendment isn't passed, we could go back into Cambodia and find more rice to drop in the harbor.

While the Pentagon refused to comment officially on the Martin Haiphong Saturated Rice Bombing Plan, one general with the Joint Chiefs of Staff told me "We're always ready to try anything."

Draft System Undermined

WASHINGTON — Maybe the time has come for the President to ask Congress to enact a law providing for a volunteer system of military service, even though it may be expensive. For the Supreme Court of the United States, by a 5 to 3 decision, has just delivered a crushing blow to the compulsory "combatant training and service" sectors of the present system.

THE NET EFFECT was to widen the scope of the provision of the existing law which has heretofore been interpreted to require a person seeking exemption from military service as a conscientious objector to establish some relationship with a religious institution as the basis for such a classification. He had not been able to rely on "essentially political, sociological, or philosophical views or a merely personal moral code."

THE NEW COURT ruling says that the individual's objections do not necessarily have to be based upon a belief in a supreme being or involve religious training. The high court, without going into constitutional issues, declares that the present draft law permits exemption from military service of "all those whose consciences, spurred by deeply held moral, ethical, or religious beliefs, would give them no rest or peace if they allowed themselves to become a part of an instrument of war."

The new decision by the Supreme Court unfortunately will permit the creation of a whole new group of "conscientious objectors." At a news conference, the selective service director, Curtis W. Tarr, said he would like to see Congress reverse the ruling, since this "certainly would make our job easier."

MEANTIME, guidelines are being issued to the nation's local draft boards to conform to the court's ruling, which allows registrants to claim conscientious-objector status on other than traditionally religious grounds. These guidelines provide that, in order to qualify for this classification, there can be no question that a man's belief must be sincere, that it must be something more than a personal moral code, that it must be "the result of some kind of rigorous training," and that it must be opposed to war in all forms, not just a particular war.

THE DRAFT LAW, of course, permits other kinds of duties, but some of the conscientious objectors do not wish even to enroll in any part of the defense establishment. It remains to be seen whether exemptions specified now for conscientious objectors will require them to serve in non-combat units of the military organization assigned under the draft system.

The impression conveyed by the Supreme Court opinion is that any individual who gives the matter a little thought will be able to come up with an argument against the evils of war and will be able to apply for an exemption.

THE PRESIDENT has been considering the volunteer system for several months, but little has been done about it because of the huge cost involved. Undoubtedly the draft is one of the major causes of the campus disturbances. Now that the Supreme Court has made it possible for almost anybody to claim exemption as a conscientious objector, it may well be wondered whether the draft system will have to be superseded by a volunteer process, irrespective of the expense to be incurred.

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful In Your Attendance

yours is the hand

that lights your child's face

We've heard so much about the effects of insecurity on the life of a child! It seems urgent to find a picture of security . . . that elusive ideal that parents want to provide but can never be sure they have.

Notice the importance of the light in our picture. It doesn't really come from that fatherly hand. Someone else has provided the light which links father and son. The father merely stood in that light . . . and held his son's hand!

Sunday — Father's Day — in hundreds of thousands of churches, earnest fathers will stand in the Light. With their sons they'll worship God . . . experience again the spiritual understanding of life. See the brightness of that true security reflected in youthful eyes.

THIS MODERN BUILDING will house the Big Spring Savings Association at Seventh and Main when it is completed sometime this fall.

ADDITIONAL SLEEPING FACILITIES are now available to city visitors with the completion of this wing at the Holiday Inn.

IT LAGS, BUT . . .

Construction Not Dead

MANY BUSINESSES ARE EXPANDING facilities as exemplified by this extra space for Universal Body Works employes at 1221 W. 3rd.

THIS PARTIALLY-COMPLETED home is one of the residences in the city now being constructed

It's true that construction in Big Spring has been lagging — the city reports building permits for the first five months of the year are 11 per cent below the same period a year ago — but there is not a complete standstill in building development.

More work, in due course, goes on than sometimes meets the eye. Currently under way, or just completed, are a number of commercial, residential and public projects. Some are pictured on this page, to give a quick look at building activity.

In addition to new construction, a number of business buildings have undergone renovation and remodeling; a number of these projects recently received special citations from the Chamber of Commerce "Pride People."

REMODELING THE FIRST FLOOR of the Reed Hotel on Second Street gave Big Springers a new place to eat with the opening of The Chapparral.

Actors Share Wife

"Sharing one's wife with another man is a startling thought," says Clint Eastwood, who stars with Lee Marvin and Jean Seberg in "Paint Your Wagon," opening Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre.

"Ben (Marvin) buys Elizabeth (Miss Seberg) for $800 from a Mormon who has two wives and Elizabeth can't understand if a man is allowed two wives, why a woman can't have two husbands. Ben and I can't think of an argument for that one friendly basis," Eastwood says. The actor doesn't think that the theme will cause many raised eyebrows, however. "I've been doing pictures in Europe and the feeling seems to be that European pictures have more thematic freedom," he says.

"This isn't necessarily true. The French government has a very strong censorship board. Scandinavian countries are a little more lax with such pictures as Ingmar Bergman's. But I believe that more American films are beginning to deal with delicate problems, such as those depicted in 'The Fox.'

"Paint Your Wagon" has, certainly a very modern viewpoint on the woman and her emotional involvement with two different men," he continues.

"If one wished to be puritanical, I suppose it is a sort of a moral setup. But at the time, of course, in the Far West, women were a rarity, and therefore, it wasn't quite as scandalous as it would seem to be today," he concludes.

In his private life, Eastwood is strictly monogamous. He is happily married to a beautiful former model and they have a small son.

Military Takeover Of Greece Basis For Startling Movie

Based on contemporary Greek history, "Z" induces audiences in the United States to see similar situations here and thus provides current interest. Opening Wednesday at the R/70, the film stars Yves Montand and Irene Papas.

Based on actual events which occurred in Greece prior to the military takeover, the film appears to have been a labor of love and commitment for all the creative parties involved — an attempt to bring home in dramatic terms to underlying corruption in a supposedly "democratic" government which, in an attempt to limit the voices of dissent, actually sponsors the assassination of a leader of the opposition.

"Z" now has a boxoffice score of 339 per cent of normal business in key cities on first run reports.

Comments about the picture: "Z" is a masterpiece of swift story-telling through fast-paced acting and editing down to the bone—Ted Mahar, Portland Oregon... One of the best films in a decade. This is really how it is — a spellbinder from start to finish.—Ernest O. Thompson, Ada (Okla.) Evening News.

fortunately, a relevant one here and now.—John Hart, Seattle Times... "Z" is a return to old-fashioned story-telling — a thriller that is both entertaining and challenging. It is a film of purpose but doesn't let its message get in the way of entertainment.—Mal Vincent, Norfolk Virginian-Pilot... "Z" tops them all.—Walt Reno, KSO & KDIN-TV, Des Moines... An exciting, thought-provoking film in which the suspense is taut and well-developed.—Lois Baumol, Cleveland MPC.

"Z" is a thriller with a message for any threatened democracy — and what one isn't?—Archer Winsten, New York Post... "Z" won't appeal to the eight-year-olds of whatever age among us, but for thoughtful filmgoers, it is a triumphant cry for freedom and a crackerjack thriller to boot. In one word, overwhelming.—Jim Shertzer, Winston-Salem Journal.

"Z" really isn't for children but let's go for the overwhelming first film on the list despite that.—Bill Donaldson, Tulsa Tribune... Here is an engrossing story with superb ensemble acting. Even with English sub-titles, the story is easily understood.—William A.

Payne, Dallas News... An excellent thriller which will keep you on the edge of your seat.—James L. Limbacher, Dearborn Press... One of the finest movies in every detail that I have ever seen.—Naomi Caddel, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

"Z" is an A picture; maybe even A-Plus.—Tom Hodge, Johnson City (Tenn.) Press-Chronicle... "Z" is absolutely fascinating.—Don Leigh McCully, W. Va. Theatrical Services, Clarksburg... I enjoyed the music.—Bob Battle, Nashville Banner.

'Marooned' Role Could Be Real

Tall, quiet-spoken and very much concerned with his life as both an actor and a character, Gregory Peck could very well be the character he portrays on the screen — the Lincolnshire lawyer of "To Kill a Mockingbird," for which he won an Academy Award as best actor of the year; the leader of a desperate military mission in "The Guns of Navarone," the Arizona Territory sheriff of "Mackenna's Gold" and, now the chief of the U.S. Manned Space Program in "Marooned."

"Marooned" is the epic adventure of three American astronauts stranded in the hostile belly of space while the world watches and waits to see what, if anything, can be done to bring them safely back. Starred in the film with Peck are Richard Crenna and David Janssen as senior astronaut Ted Dougherty, and James Franciscus and Gene Hackman. Lee Grant, Nancy Kovack and Mariette Hartley co-star in the outer space drama, now at the Ritz Theatre.

Peck's screen performances are benefitted by his off-screen life. He may never have been directly involved in the Space Program, but he is heavily involved in civic and national affairs; he knows the leaders and the problems of administration.

During filming of "Mackenna's Gold," Peck was named chairman of the Board of the National Film Institute. A few years earlier President Johnson appointed him to the National Council of the Arts. Among his other "off-screen" activities, Peck is president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, California chairman of the American Cancer Society, chairman of the Motion Picture Relief Fund Building and Endowment campaign, senior vice president of the San Diego County Theater and Arts Foundation.

Serial Star Celebrates Birthday With Fireworks

Mary Stuart, who stars as reporter on a Tulsa newspaper. Joanne Tate in the daytime serial "Search for Tomorrow," will be having a double celebration July 4, but then she always has — it's her birthday.

A divorcee, Miss Stuart lives in a large Manhattan apartment with her two children, Cynthia, 14, and Jeffrey, 12. For 19 years viewers have suffered her trials and tribulations in "Search for Tomorrow," now television's oldest daytime serial.

Born in Miami, Fla., she grew up in Tulsa, Okla., where she attended high school and college and became a leading figure in Little Theater there. She also organized and conducted a children's theater which presented plays regularly and broadcast them on radio.

At the same time, she sang and acted with a USO troupe and appeared in college plays. Only once was she diverted from her chosen field, and that was for a summer job as a reporter on a Tulsa newspaper.

In New York, she worked as a camera girl in the Hotel Roosevelt Grill where she was singled out for a Hollywood contract by Joe Pasternak of MGM. Among her film credits are "The Adventures of Don Juan," "Caribou Trail," "Henry the Rainmaker," "Father Makes Good," and "Henry Does It Again."

In addition to her acting, she has written four children's books and plays Spanish guitar.

Actress Named As Other Woman

LONDON (AP) — Lee Remick, the movie star, was named as the other woman in a successful divorce action by Valerie Gearon, a British actress, against director William Romy Gownes.

A decree on grounds of adultery was granted Thursday to Miss Gearon, who played Anne Boleyn's sister in the movie "Anne of the 1000 Days" last year. The actress, 30, and Gownes were married in 1962 and have two daughters.

The marriage of Miss Remick, 33, and Bill Colleran was dissolved in Mexico in 1969. She makes her home in London.

HEY! THAT'S COLD — Mrs. Bobby L. (Pat) Smith employs suntan lotion to help young Mark Eastland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Eastland, avoid a painful, and even dangerous, sunburn. Son Mark basks in the sun while awaiting his turn with the lotion. Local doctors advise liberal use of lotions which screen out ultraviolet rays to avoid sunburns.

Caution: Sunshine May Be Hazardous To Your Health

A well-tanned complexion may be nice now, but it can cause problems later on.

"In this part of the country, light-complected persons can easily contract skin cancer," the doctor said.

Another doctor pointed out that Big Spring is located in the so-called "cancer belt" — from Fort Worth to Arizona — where skin cancers, some malignant, are prevalent.

"We have as many or more instances of skin cancer than any other area this size in the world," he said. This could be because of the prevalence of light skin pigment. "Dark pigment is not as susceptible to the sun's rays and the instances of skin cancer are fewer because of this."

Skin cancer is more prevalent in persons who earn their living in the open, doctors agreed. More cases are observed among ranchers, farmers and oil field workers than other professions.

Protective clothing and skin creams are urged by doctors to prevent extreme sunburn. A cream which blocks out ultraviolet rays is the best prevention against sunburn, the doctors said.

Even on a cloudy day, these rays can cause extreme sunburn; and one doctor said the blistering can be so severe as to be classed as a second degree burn.

"I've seen people hospitalized for two or three weeks with a sunburn," he added.

Sunshine also speeds the aging process, the doctors said. Skin becomes leathery with repeated exposure to sun, and the skin wrinkles and sags.

"A young person of 22 may like the well-tanned look, but that same person at 30 won't like the leathery look of his skin," the doctor said.

Different persons have different levels of tolerance for exposure to the sun. Brunettes with a dark complexion can spend a much longer time in the sun than can a blond with a fair complexion.

The doctors also cautioned against a "reflected sunburn."

Green Honored By Restaurateurs
Headed by N. A. Green, Odessa, as president, a new slate of officers and directors will take over reins of the Permian Basin Restaurant Association for 1970-71 on Friday.

The transition officially comes at the close of the 31st Annual Texas Restaurant Association Convention to be held in Houston June 23-25.

Directors include Lamar Green of Lamar's Restaurant in Big Spring.
