Ownership Of Cable TV Systems Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has prohibited ownership of cable TV systems by television broadcasters in the same community, the commission announced today.

The FCC banned all new cable acquisitions by TV interests in a single community and gave the broadcasters three years to get rid of cable television systems they now own in such communities.

The FCC issued simultaneously half a dozen actions affecting cable TV, including affirmation of its rules governing the origination of programs by cable TV systems.

In cable TV systems, a master antenna takes TV signals from the air and sends the programs by cable to subscribers' sets for a fee.

The commission adopted new rules prohibiting CATV—community antenna television—systems for "siphoning" programs from free TV for pay-TV showing on cable. Siphoning simply means inducing programs shown on one type of TV to move over to another, presumably for more money.

The rule prohibits cable showing of films more than two years old and sports events may not be cable cast if they have been carried live on free TV in the same community during the previous two years.

Cable TV was banned from carrying series-type programs and was limited to no more than 90 per cent programming of sports and films.

The new rules prohibit commercials on cable TV but only on its pay-TV operations, and not its ordinary cable-casting operations.

The commission revised its program origination rule to require cable systems to leave "a substantial portion of time" for local programming.

Abortion Flip-Flop

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association reversed its position on abortion today and approved a resolution saying that abortion should be considered as another medical procedure.

The AMA's official policy on abortion, set in 1967, opposed abortion except for therapeutic reasons.

At the 119th annual AMA convention, its governing body, the House of Delegates, approved a resolution today that says: "Abortion is a medical procedure and should be performed only by a duly licensed physician and surgeon in an accredited hospital acting only in conformance with standards of good medical practice and after consultation with two other physicians chosen because of their professional competence and within the medical practice act of his state."

The resolution said no physician should be compelled to perform an abortion.

$89,397 CHECK Big Spring Sales Tax Revenue Up

The city received its quarterly check for sales tax revenue this morning in the amount of $89,397.07, or $3,397.07 more than budgetary estimates for the period.

The check is for sales tax revenue, minus the state's service charge, taken in during the first three months of 1970.

"It's a little more than we had anticipated," City Manager Larry Crow said, "but not as great as preliminary reports indicated."

Crow noted that the amount was some $7,000 greater than the $82,176 for the same period last year.

"The increase may be attributed to more business in the city and to the inclusion of beer and liquor under the sales tax," said Crow.

Today's receipts brought to $295,623.73 the revenue for the first three-quarters of the year, leaving $84,376.27 to come in during the final quarter if the budget estimate of $380,000 is met. Previous quarters showed $99,100.82 in December and $107,125.84. Payments lag one quarter behind.

Sub-Contracts Let For Intech

Five local sub-contracts have been awarded for work in connection with construction of the Intech manufacturing plant.

The plumbing contract has been awarded to Sam Robertson; dirt work and excavation to W. D. Caldwell; concrete finishing, Campbell and Coleman; electric to Boss-Linam; mechanical to Hester Sheet Metal.

Slab is being poured on the 64,000-square-foot structure, said Don Womack, head of the Industrial Foundation. Intech, a division of the aerospace division of Ling-Temco-Vought, will turn out styrofoam egg cartons and meat trays.

Apparently the thief had trouble disposing of the loot, valued at $75,000. The engine was found Wednesday 10 blocks from where it was stolen.

CEASE-FIRE PLAN IN MIDEAST STILL SECRET U. S. Launches Peace Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers announced today what he termed a major new U.S. Middle East peace initiative aimed at getting the Arabs and Israelis "to stop shooting and start talking."

The essence of the still-secret U.S. plan, it was understood, was a broadly worded proposal to Egypt, Jordan and Israel for a cease-fire of at least 90 days during which U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring would start negotiations on the basis of these commitments by the opposing parties.

—Egypt and Jordan would pledge themselves to the principle of peace with Israel and acknowledge her right to exist within secure borders.

WAR PLANES

—Israel in return would pledge withdrawal from Arab lands she conquered in the 1967 war.

—All parties would carry out the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution for a peace settlement.

Rogers announced the "major political initiative" at a news conference, but he refused to go into details of the new U.S. diplomatic effort. Nor would he say what the Nixon administration's decision is on Israel's plea for 125 modern jet war planes.

Rogers said because of the importance and sensitive nature of the behind-the-scenes approach to the Middle East opponents, it would be harmful to talk at this time about U.S. military assistance to Israel.

IT'S SERIOUS

However he restated what he said was the U.S. national interest in "the sovereignty, independence, the territorial integrity of Israel."

He described as "a new factor" and a very serious factor "the introduction of the new Soviet SAM3 anti-aircraft missiles in Egypt and the flying of aircraft there by Soviet pilots.

But he added: "We're not inclined to think that Israel is at the moment unable to support itself militarily."

Soaking to newsmen in advance of his Sunday departure on a two-week Asian trip, the U.S. secretary of state also said:

—The main aim of U.S. air operations in Cambodia, which will continue after U.S. troops withdraw by June 30, is "to protect Americans in South Vietnam."

IN CHARGE

He said obviously the U.S. air attacks designed to interdict enemy troops and material in Cambodia will at times "benefit the forces of Cambodia." But the policy is not to have direct U.S. military involvement to support Cambodia's Lon Nol regime, he said.

—President Nixon is planning to name a U.S. ambassador to Cambodia. Hitherto a charge d'affaires has been in charge of the U.S. diplomatic mission at Phnom Penh.

REASON TO HOPE

—There "is reason to hope that we can reach an agreement" at the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation (SALT) talks at Vienna. A limited accord might be "reached in the near future"—he declined to say just when. But if only a limited initial agreement is reached, he said, more arms curb agreements would be sought thereafter.

—No decision has been made yet on what support the United States might give to Thailand for Thai military operations in Cambodia.

—Completing his Asian trip, he will return to the United States by way of London, where he will talk with Britain's new foreign minister, Sir Alex Douglas-Home, and probably Prime Minister Edward Heath.

Concerning the peace initiative, Rogers said:

"Recent and disquieting events in the Middle East led President Nixon on April 29 to order a thorough review of all political and military aspects of the problem. That review has now been concluded.

"As a consequence of the review, the United States has undertaken a political initiative the objective of which is to encourage the parties to stop shooting and start talking under the auspices of Ambassador Jarring in accordance with the resolutions of the Security Council.

"We believe that this is the time for such an initiative which we have launched directly with the parties and with other interested powers."

Baby Killed As Tornado Hits In Texas

By The Associated Press

A 10-day-old baby was killed and 17 other persons suffered injuries Wednesday evening as a tornado smashed through a cluster of trailer homes near Bishop in South Texas.

The twister struck as vicious thunderstorms ranged through areas in both the north and south parts of the state and more than five inches of rain drenched a section near the Lower Texas Coast.

Thunderstorms broke out again this morning, a violent one sweeping through Bonham in Northeast Texas. It dumped an inch of rain in a half hour, flooding underpasses. Some minor power failures occurred.

TRAILERS FLIP

Swooping from a black thunderhead, the funnel cloud wrecked eight trailer houses in the Golden Acres Park, two miles east of Bishop, damaged 10 others and flipped over several cars.

John Earl Alford Jr., born one and a half weeks ago, died as the tornado wrecked his parents' trailers.

The injured including parents of the dead baby, were treated at a hospital and naval air station dispensary in neighboring Kingsville. Only six persons were kept in the hospital overnight.

HITS FARM HOUSE

Hal Boswell said the twister hit first at a farm house where he lives and then spun a quarter mile on the ground into the park where there were about 25 trailers. Flying glass cut Boswell on one arm.

"It's surprising that more people were not hurt," said Alice Newman Whitey Sawyer, who was among those at the scene.

Men were sent from the Kingsville naval air station to help hunt for the Alford baby. It took them nearly five hours to find the tiny body.

CAN'T BRIBE THESE 'GUYS'

WASHINGTON (AP) — People are trying to swindle the Internal Revenue Service computer, the IRS says.

Assistant IRS Commissioner Vernan D. Acree said Wednesday that two IRS employees — who didn't get away with it — had switched computer records around to have someone else's tax refunds sent to their own relatives.

One was discovered when a bank teller became suspicious of the size of a refund check. The other was tracked down — also by computer — after the taxpayer complained that he didn't get his $1,500 refund.

Other attempts have involved taxpayers filing duplicate returns for fictitious people and IRS employees inserting their own addresses on refunds returned as undeliverable by the Post Office, Acree said.

The IRS said despite all this computers make swindles more difficult than before. Bribery, at least, is not a problem with them.

Air, Tank Battles Sweep Frontier

FIERY CRASH ON TURNPIKE — Firemen fight fire which erupted after three trucks collided on the Delaware Turnpike several miles south of the Wilmington, Del., exit of the Delaware-Maryland toll road early today. Collision occurred among two tractor-trailer trucks, one loaded with cigarettes, and a trailer truck carrying a race car. State police said at least two persons were killed in the fiery crash. Traffic on the road was delayed for hours.

Demos Attempt To Override Hospital Construction Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, figuring to be the winners even if they lose moved today to override President Nixon's veto of a $1.25 billion hospital construction bill.

They went into today's vote not particularly confident of picking up the two-thirds majority to overcome the presidential rejection of the measure, but feeling relatively assured of making political hay regardless.

The Democrats felt they couldn't be hurt politically by voting for hospital construction at a time when Nixon is asking Congress to make available $750 million for loans to hard-pressed railroads.

Furthermore, many GOP members say they still are criticized back home for sustaining the President's veto of a big health and education money bill last January.

With congressional elections less than five months away, candidates don't want to provide their opposition any additional campaign fodder.

Republicans took no solid position on the veto at a party conference Wednesday. Some said they would vote to uphold the President with the understanding a new bill would be passed to meet major White House objections.

The bill didn't register a single vote of opposition when it passed the House and the Senate originally and again when it cleared both branches in compromise form.

A House override sends the measure to the Senate where another two-thirds majority is required.

But the President objected, particularly to a requirement that funds provided to implement the bill must be spent and not withheld.

Nixon also complained because it exceeded by more than $350 million his budget plans for the fiscal year starting July 1,

Israeli Jets Strike Arab Army Camps

By The Associated Press

Air, tank and artillery batteries swept the Syrian-Israeli frontier today in the wake of Israeli air strikes against two Arab army camps near Damascus. Each side claimed it had downed an enemy plane.

The military command in Tel Aviv said a Syrian MIG21 was downed in Syrian territory in the Mt. Hermon area after a brief dogfight. By Israeli count, it was the 24th Syrian plane shot down since the 1967 Middle East war.

In Damascus, a spokesman said Syrian ground batteries caught an Israeli Phantom fighter-bomber and sent it crashing into Israeli occupied territory 15 miles west of the cease-fire line.

Israeli tanks and planes crossed the cease-fire line to attack Syrian emplacements and gun positions, and fighting was still going on at 1 p.m.—7 a.m. EDT—a spokesman said.

IGNORE LINE

Fighting broke out along the entire 50-mile cease-fire line but was heaviest in the central sector, military sources said.

An Israeli spokesman said the air force attacked camps at Qatana, 16 miles southwest of Damascus, and Kiswah, 10 miles south of the city. He also reported an attack on another camp at Seijen, near Suwayda, 60 miles southeast of the capital.

A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus confirmed the attacks on Qatana and Kiswah, saying the Israeli jets bombed and strafed the two towns.

The Syrian spokesman said the Syrian air force and anti-aircraft batteries challenged the raiders, but an Israeli spokesman reported, "All Israeli planes are safe."

SEVEN WOUNDED

The Israeli and Syrian accounts of the Golan Heights battle Wednesday night differed sharply, as Israeli and Arab reports usually do. The Syrians were killed or wounded; the Israelis said they had one killed and seven wounded.

ANYTHING BUT BUDDIES — An unidentified demonstrator is removed from outside Currihan Hall in Denver by a Denver patrolman. Vice President Agnew was inside the hall speaking to a GOP rally.

Agnew Calls Cambodian Push 'Most Successful'

DENVER (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says sending U.S. troops into Cambodia was "a decision of heroic proportions."

Addressing a Republican fund-raising dinner while anti-war demonstrators clashed with police outside the hall Wednesday night, Agnew described the Cambodian venture as "the most successful military operation of the entire war."

He accused congressional critics of the action of "trying to hobble the commander-in-chief of the armed forces while 400,000 of his men remain vulnerable in the field" in Southeast Asia.

The demonstrations began before the vice president spoke and continued intermittently for four hours.

Police said they booked 25 persons from a crowd of about 400 on charges including disturbance, resisting arrest, assault and obscene language.

Several demonstrators with blood running down their faces were among those hauled to a police bus. Two policemen also were reported injured.

A police guard escorted Agnew to the hall and later back to his hotel, avoiding streets where the melee was taking place.

She asked the Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association to "take every opportunity you can to inform boys and girls about professional opportunities in home economics."

Credit Agency Wins Suit Involving False Report

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court said Wednesday a firm that circulated an incorrect report of bankruptcy involving a Midland business man should not be held responsible.

The ruling overturned a previous decision by the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals that Truman O'Neil, Midland truck dealer, was due damages from Dun & Bradstreet Inc., a credit reporting agency with headquarters in Delaware.

Court records show O'Neil filed suit asking $180,000 damages after the Delaware firm issued a "special notice" to 14 subscribers on March 24, 1965. The next day the firm sent out a correction notice saying the bankruptcy petition was filed by a brother, not by Truman O'Neil.

The Midland court ruled in favor of the company saying the incorrect "special notice" was privileged. The El Paso Appellate Court reversed this saying that "false communication that the appellant was bankrupt was not privileged."

The Supreme Court, in an 8-1 opinion yesterday, said evidence showed "that defendant's publication was conditionally privileged and having found that plaintiff's evidence fails to raise a fact issue on the issue of actual malice, we conclude that the trial court properly ordered an instructed verdict for the defendant."

Associate Justice Tom Reavley wrote a dissenting opinion saying that he felt the Delaware firm had received no bankruptcy report at all from Truman O'Neil and "without any source at all, it published a wholly false statement. I would hold that there is no privilege to generate and publish false reports, even by innocent mistake."

Dawson County Will Go Under Food Stamp Program

LAMESA — Dawson County has been designated as eligible for the federal stamp program, the United States Department of Agriculture announced Wednesday in Dallas.

Lynn County, between Lamesa and Lubbock, and Nueces County, on the Gulf of Mexico, were also approved in the same announcement.

Lamesa for years has operated a surplus commodities program, Mrs. Bowan Cox, Dawson County welfare office, said Wednesday afternoon. The approval is to switch from commodities to the stamps.

Mrs. Cox said the request for the change over was made by county commissioners about three months ago when a group petitioned the commissioners for the change.

DATE INDEFINITE
Mrs. Cox said Dawson County has received no word about when the stamp program will go into effect, "but it could be as long as three months."

She said that a recent ruling by a federal judge that all counties in Texas should have a food program, whether it is the commodities or stamp program, has kept USDA officials busy setting up programs where they have never existed.

"Lamesa merchants will also have to be approved by USDA personnel before the program can be opened here," she said. Instead of investigations every three months as is required in the commodities program to determine necessity of the food being distributed to participants, Mrs. Cox said the investigations must be conducted every two months.

NO MORE EXPENSES
She said she and her assistant will continue to handle the stamp program, and no added expenditures are anticipated as a result of the switchover.

She said the commodities program now serves about 600 during the regular farm work season and 900 out of season.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin indicated that federal expenditure rates will continue to be watched in the coming month so additional approvals to transfer from commodity distribution to food stamps can be considered if funds are available as new requests are made.

USE LIKE MONEY
Priority consideration, however, will continue to be given to requests from the remaining few counties that do not operate a family food program or operate their commodity program on a limited basis, the secretary added.

The food stamp program enables low-income families to increase their food-purchasing power by investing their own food money in federal food coupons (food stamps) which purchase more food. The coupons are spent like cash at retail food outlets authorized under the program.

Gail School Job Near Completion

GAIL — Activity at Borden County High School has been curtailed as much as possible this summer to allow workmen time to complete the two-year, $425,000 building program at the school facilities in Gail.

Superintendent of Schools James McLeroy said that only the final touches are needed on a new band hall, science department, agriculture workshop, and home economics area before new facilities will be ready for the county's 265 students this fall.

Old facilities were completely renovated, he said, and now the entire school complex is air conditioned and the class rooms have been carpeted.

CHARGED WITH BANK ROBBERY — Stephen Francis Phillips, 20, above, was arrested in Houston by FBI officers in connection with a $10,000 robbery of a Solana Beach, Calif., bank last March. Phillips is being held in lieu of a $150,000 bond.

Tentative Draft Of Plan For College Reviewed

Physical facilities of Howard County Junior College would be almost doubled if buildings laid out on a 10-year projection are realized.

This is part of the preliminary draft of a master plan undertaken by Dr. C. C. Covert, University of Texas junior college specialist. Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, is now reviewing the report and when a final draft has been completed, it will be presented to the board.

The only one of the projected facilities which now is on the drawing board is the vocational-technical building which might begin construction this autumn. H.C.J.C. has an application in under the college facilities act, and the college is reputedly right at the top of the list. Estimated cost of the project is near $900,000. This unit would be located north of the present practical arts—building and southeast of the student union building.

Projections on a tentative plot plan include additional science and classroom buildings, ancillary structures, three for non-credit type work, plus additions to the library, dormitories, and student union building.

The major structure spotted on a tentative plot is that of a coliseum, suggested for south of Memorial Stadium where it would be accessible to existing stadium parking areas.

TEACHING THE TEACHERS HOW TO DO IT
... Mrs. Sue Ashwood (r) instructs Mrs. Juanita Hedleston in paper sculpture

Tissue Paper And Glue, Keys To Classroom Art

By LINDA CROSS
Often besmeared by paint and up to their eyebrows in tissue paper and glue, teachers from Big Spring elementary schools have spent the last three days in an art workshop.

Mrs. Sue Ashwood of the West Texas Education Agency conducted the three-day workshop, the first of six such workshops scheduled in this area. Workshops also will be held in Sanderson, Midland, Monahans, Kermit and Odessa. Projects taught in the workshops are geared to the needs of the elementary classroom teacher. Techniques in creating three-dimensional bulletin boards, attractive floral decorations and paper sculpturing were taught.

Many of the teachers present at Wednesday's final session were discussing plans for using the crafts they had learned in decorating the yearly "welcome back to school" bulletin board found in the halls of many schools on opening day.

Miss Shirley Osborn, Airport Elementary first grade teacher, said she had learned many new techniques from the classes.

"I always wondered how you could give bulletin board displays shape, to kind of puff them out, and that's what we learned in paper scoring and paper sculpture."

Paper scoring, Miss Osborn explained, is a technique which uses scissors to create the paper to give it line and shape. The paper is folded along the scored lines for added shape and texture.

"We also learned to paint flowers by using the edge of the brush to shape the petals rather than using strokes," said Miss Osborn. She displayed some of the flower designs which ranged from wispy, delicate impressions to the bolder, brasher techniques depicting sunflowers.

Wednesday, most of the slacks-clad teachers present were clustered around Mrs. Ashwood as she demonstrated paper folding techniques and printing from wood-cuts for the last time.

"They will be able to use any of these techniques and materials in the classroom. Where there's a will, there's a way," observed Mrs. Ashwood.

Nation In Recession, Mansfield Insisting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is in a recession whether President Nixon will admit it or not, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has told a nationwide television audience.

He said Wednesday the country is mired in inflation, unemployment and war and "whether the term is used or not, these words spell recession."

"That is today's fact. It is not a political fact. It is an economic fact. Reference to the mistakes of the past cannot paper it over. The rhetoric of a radiant tomorrow does not alter it."

Mansfield's speech was broadcast over radio and television by NBC. ABC gave him time today and CBS has told the democratic Party it intends to offer free time to out-of-power parties.

Democrats had complained that the President had unfair access to the air waves.

Mansfield's speech Wednesday came a week after Nixon told a nationwide radio-TV audience that he was forming a special commission to monitor wage and price increases.

Mansfield said that was a "welcome initiative" but said Nixon ought to go even further and establish wage and price guidelines.

Mrs. Johnson Pays $15 Fine

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Officers said a charge of failure to display a driver's license was dismissed against Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson Wednesday, but she was fined $15 for failure to yield right of way.

The charge grew out of a traffic accident Tuesday afternoon in which the former First Lady's car and another automobile collided at an intersection in Austin.

Mrs. Johnson, the wife of the former president, did not appear in court and entered no plea. The charge of failure to display a driver's license was dismissed, officers said, after they determined that Mrs. Johnson owned a valid license.

Damage to the Johnson car was estimated at $800. The other car sustained $150 damage.

Welfare Boss Faces Knots Immediately

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson has officially transferred his diplomatic skills to the troubled Department of Health, Education and Welfare where he faces immediate, knotty problems.

The former undersecretary of state, was sworn in as the No. 1 man at HEW Wednesday and was immediately faced with problems endemic to HEW—civil rights and consumer protection, among others.

HEW civil rights officials, for example, have readied a letter for the secretary's signature calling on southern districts to end in-school discrimination as well as segregation this fall.

Officials of the Food and Drug Administration will urge Richardson to modify a controversial department decision to allow cyclamate-sweetened foods to remain on grocery shelves despite possible health hazards.

The American Medical Association, a powerful interest group with which all HEW secretaries must wrestle, voiced displeasure this week over recent FDA actions on oral contraceptives and certain medications for diabetics.

The AMA is expected to insist that Richardson rescind the FDA requirement of packaged inserts warning women about possible hazards associated with birth control pills.

Organized medicine is also expected to protest what doctors see as their exclusion from crucial decisions on drug effectiveness and safety.

Richardson has so far brought only one new staff aid and two secretaries to HEW.

He must decide whom to keep from the team assembled by Robert H. Finch, his predecessor and now a White House counselor.

Department insiders expect few important job changes soon except, perhaps, for James Farmer.

Farmer, an assistant secretary and a one-time head of the Congress of Racial Equality, has publicly accused President Nixon of failing to understand and deal effectively with problems facing black Americans.

Former Herald Man In Crash

Wayland Yates, former city editor of The Herald and now a journalism professor at Angelo State University, was the most seriously injured of four people in a plane crash near San Angelo Wednesday afternoon.

He had a rupture of the colon and was in surgery Thursday morning at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo. His physicians were hopeful that he will recover.

Yates had no broken bones. Dr. Lloyd D. Vincent, 47, president of the college, was shaken but able to be back at his desk Thursday. Treated at the hospital and allowed to return to their homes were Robert Burpo, pilot of the plane, and Bedford P. Cain III, 22, an assistant to Dr. Vincent.

The three university officials were preparing to take aerial photographs of the ASU campus when the plane, which had just taken off at 1:50 p.m. from Mathis Field suddenly lost lift and crashed on to the Pan American golf course.

Crop Duster Crash Fatal

LOS FRESNOS, Tex. (AP) — A crop duster stalled and crashed in a cotton field Wednesday, killing the pilot, Roy K. Brier, Jr., 41, of Los Fresnos in South Texas.

A witness said the plane had just completed a low run pass and turned back at a low level when it stalled and crashed.

CHANGE OF SCENERY — Actress Fay Wray poses atop an Atlanta building while visiting the city to attend the Atlanta International Film Festival. Thirty-eight years ago she appeared in "King Kong," a film in which a huge ape carried Miss Wray to the top of the Empire State Building. In the movie, she was sometimes skimpily clad, with her shapely legs thrashing as Kong's hairy paw gripped her midsection.

Robbery Case Goes To Jury

A not-guilty verdict was returned shortly before 1 p.m. in 118th District Court this afternoon in the trial of Carroll A. Trantham, charged with the 1966 armed robbery of Vernon's Liquor Store. The 12-man jury deliberated for one hour and 40 minutes. Jurors began deliberation this morning in 118th District Court on the case of Carroll Trantham, charged with an April 1966, robbery of a store. They are expected to reach a decision today. Judge R. W. Eaton presented charges to the jury. "The case is one of eye witness versus the machine. If these witnesses' identification of the defendant is wrong, it would have to be part of a deliberate out-right lie," Prosecutor Wayne Burns declared in his final argument. Burns stressed the fact that the witnesses were separated from one another when they identified pictures of the defendant. Burns also pointed out that the witnesses had seen three groups of pictures on different dates with later pictures of the defendant among the group and still both witnesses identified the defendant as the man who had robbed them on the night of April 16, 1966. Results of a polygraph test taken by Trantham were submitted as evidence in his defense by his attorneys, Gil Jones and Dick Minstead. Results of the test showed that Trantham was not guilty of the robbery, they said. They also pointed to testimony of witnesses who said they had seen Trantham at the time of the robbery at another location. Trantham could have crawled

Enquirer Sale Told

CINCINNATI (AP) — An anti-trust action against the E. W. Scripps Co. has led to the sale of the Cincinnati Enquirer. An investment group headed by Enquirer Publisher Francis L. Dale agreed to pay $17.5 million for approximately 501,000 shares of Enquirer stock. Scripps announced Wednesday. In November, 1968, Scripps was ordered to divest itself of its 59 per cent of the stock in the Enquirer, a morning newspaper. Scripps was granted a 45-day extension on a court-ordered May, 1970, selling date. A second requested extension was opposed by the federal government earlier this week. Scripps owns the afternoon Cincinnati Post and Times-Star, formed in a 1959 merger. Scripps later purchased controlling stock in the Enquirer, Cincinnati's only other newspaper. The Enquirer sale must be approved by the U.S. Department of Justice, U.S. District Court here and Enquirer minority stockholders.

Stolen Car Is Found Near Here

A car reported stolen from the parking lot of the Red Rose Lounge last night was found abandoned about nine miles out on FM 669 this morning. Manuel Villa of Stanton told city police he had left his gold-colored Pontiac unlocked in the parking lot at 300 N. Benton but kept the only set of keys in his pocket. He returned at 11 o'clock to find it gone. This morning at 11:45 Deputy Sheriff Owen spotted the car about nine miles out on the Gail highway (FM 669) and found the license plates tallied with those of the stolen vehicle.

Preliminary Steps Taken Toward Museum Creation

Preliminary steps toward the establishment of a museum organization were taken at a meeting in the First Federal Savings and Loan community room Wednesday. Mrs. Clyde Angel, temporary chairman, named Jerry Worthy, George Zachariah and Daryle Hohertz as a committee to recommend bare budget needs. There was agreement that the purpose of the museum should be to collect, preserve and interpret things which relate the heritage of this area to the present. It also was agreed that the museum should not be purely a localized institution, but that it should invite participation by people and groups in other counties. Those at the meeting also felt that there should be emphasis on changing exhibits, although some things will have to be basic. A program of loans between this and neighboring museums could be effected, said Diana Files, representing the State Historical Commission. Howard County commissioners court has pledged the present library building (the Dora Roberts home at Sixth and Scurry) as a home for the museum. Basic budget requirements, said Jerry Worthy, chairman of the county's historical survey committee, will need to include operation and maintenance of the plant and the salary of a curator or director. Another meeting may be called within about two weeks.

84-foot-wide stretch. Workers put down a pair of 12-foot lanes next to the median area, then a nine-foot shoulder, followed by a topping for the eight-foot median. When this job is finished, crews will move to the widening of US 87 south of Gregg. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

Volpe Casts Doubt On Rail Pay Rolls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary John Volpe cast doubt today as to whether the Penn Central Railroad could meet future pay rolls. Volpe, called back for a second day of testimony before the House Interstate Commerce Committee on a $750 million administration bail-out bill for the Penn Central and other railroads, was asked to straighten out the payroll question. The Penn Central road has filed a petition for reorganization under the bankruptcy laws. Reflecting on pay checks for hundreds of thousands of Penn Central employees, Volpe said, "I don't believe any of us can say with any degree of certainty if the payroll will be met or not."

Local Lads Back From Boys State, And With Honors

Four teenage boys have returned to Big Spring after getting a good taste of the government scene. Back from Boys' State activities in Austin are Jeff Talmadge, Scott McLaughlin, Louis Dunnam and Ben Johnson III. They were among more than 800 boys from all over the state. Talmadge and McLaughlin got into the thick of things by winning their party's nominations for governor and attorney general. Talmadge lost the governorship by 12 votes, and McLaughlin lost his election by 25 votes. Talmadge was named as an alternate delegate to Boys' Nation in Washington in July. Talmadge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Talmadge, and McLaughlin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin. Parents of the other two delegates are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dunnam and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Johnson.

Mitchell investigated the incident and said the burglar apparently entered the building through a window.

THURSDAY'S WEATHER — Showers are expected Thursday in a line stretching from Texas through the South and along the Atlantic Coast into New England. A line of showers will dip down into the Great Plains states from Canada. Cooler weather is expected along the northern portion of the nation.

Crop Prospects Fair In Borden

GAIL — The cotton crop in Borden County seems to be coming along well now despite the current dry spell and the heavy rains last month. These washed out much of the crop, causing the farmers to have to re-plant. F. J. Cantrell of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service said Wednesday. He said most of the fields and ranges have some moisture remaining in the ground, but rain would be helpful. So far only 20-25 per cent of Borden County farmers have certified their cotton crops with his office, Cantrell said.

MINING AT CROSELY FIELD — Crosley Field, home of the Cincinnati Reds since 1912, passed into the limbo with Wednesday night's game with San Francisco — won by the Reds, 5-4. Immediately after the final out, the pick and shovel boys dug up home plate and it was transported by helicopter to Cincinnati's new 51,000-seat stadium which the Reds will open June 30 against Atlanta.

Durocher, Marichal Lick Their Wounds

The New York Mets cleaned up in Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds moved out of Crosley Field on a tidy note, leaving a slightly ruffled Leo Durocher and Juan Marichal in their wakes.

May ripped consecutive eighth-inning homers off Marichal in the Reds' 5-4 triumph over San Francisco in the final game after 58 years at Crosley field.

In other NL contests, Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 7-0, Montreal trounced Philadelphia 8-0, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 4-3 in 11 innings and Houston nipped San Diego 5-4.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

When David McWilliams, the former Abilene High football coach, was in college, he performed across the line from Ralph Neely, the University of Oklahoma ex who now is one of the mainstays in the Dallas Cowboy line.

David's best playing weight was somewhere between 185 and 190 while Neely was listed at 243 when he was part of the Big Red alignment.

Mike Campbell, the UT coaching aide, says that McWilliams acquitted himself well in the confrontation because David was as loose as a rag doll and crouched so low Tarzan couldn't have blocked him.

Rice University will try to bell the cat in basketball next season. The Owls venture to Los Angeles to play mighty UCLA Dec. 5.

If they survive, they'll move on over to Fort Collins, Colo., Dec. 10 for a go at Colorado State. They'll also meet the Air Force in Colorado Springs on that particular trip.

Does a horse starting from the No. 1 post position have the best chance in a race? Not necessarily.

Darrell Froman, who hired on here as a high school coach shortly before spring training and then submitted his resignation after school was out, reportedly has decided to stick with farming.

Probably the nearest thing to the Grand Prix racing circuits of Europe is a 27-foot wide strip of asphalt called Road America, located near Elkhart Lake, Wisconsin.

Elkhart Lake itself has a population of only 651 and the prizes that are offered usually are no more than a casting of silver for a trophy room but entries flock there from all over the country.

The track is especially busy this month. The Road America fame has been building since 1955 when mechanical jewels piloted by Phil Hill (in a Ferrari Monza) and Woody Johnston (in a D-type Jaguar) matched speeds over the four-mile course.

Clovis Hale, the local high school football mentor, is resigned to the fact that he must lose coaches regularly but he likes to have stable people heading up the junior high programs, men who are not prone to move every two or three years.

The boys get some of their most vital coaching on the eighth grade level. For that reason, Hale likes to work very closely with the men.

The Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association haven't averaged more than 3,763 paying customers per game any season since they set up shop. The break-even point in the ABA demands a normal turnout of about 5,000.

Sub Schofield Leads Boston By Orioles

The night started normally for Dick Schofield, Boston's occasional infielder. He figured on watching the game against Baltimore from his usual vantage point on the Red Sox bench.

Then Mike Andrews showed up with an aching back and Schofield went from sub to star, just like that.

Starting at second base in place of Andrews Wednesday night, Schofield whacked a bases-loaded triple that tied the score in the seventh inning and then scored Boston's winning run on a sacrifice fly as the Red Sox rallied to knock off the Orioles 6-5.

Schofield, the journeyman infielder who has been cashing big league paychecks since 1953, figured Andrews' injury and his subsequent start gave him a break. "When you pinch hit the way I usually do, you only get one chance," said Schofield. "Tonight, I had four."

MURCER HOT Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Bobby Murcer walloped four home runs—three of them in the second game—as the New York Yankees split a doubleheader with Cleveland, losing 7-2 before winning 5-4. Oakland tripped Kansas City 5-1, Minnesota edged Milwaukee 3-2, Detroit topped Washington 3-2 in 11 innings and California swept a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the first game 3-1 and taking the second 2-1.

Schofield's triple was his first extra base hit of the season and it followed three walks sandwiched around Tom Satriano's single which had narrowed Baltimore's lead to 5-2. After his three-bagger tied the score, Schofield trotted home with Boston's winning run on Reggie Smith's sacrifice fly. The hit increased his batting average for the season to .162.

Paul Blair, Brooks Robinson and Frank Robinson all had tagged early homers helping the Orioles build their lead.

RESEARCH REVEALS True Sportsmanship Falls Far Short

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — A research project at Texas A&M University shows that most fans know what's expected in good sportsmanship, but leave mental loopholes to allow unsportsmanlike conduct at athletic events.

Findings were obtained from a questionnaire card filled out by 1,500 fans at the Texas A&M-Texas basketball game at G. R. White Coliseum in February.

Members of a graduate health and physical education course—Charles B. Corbin collected all data in the project. Fans were asked to rate their attitudes and the socially-acceptable attitude about 10 statements on the card.

Tonkin Resolution Action Angers Anti-War Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts by Nixon administration backers to make the current Senate debate on Cambodia the year's major discussion of U.S. Southeast Asia policy have stirred angry charges from Democrats.

Republicans made clear Wednesday they would like to see all antiwar amendments—whether intended for this bill or others—disposed of during the current debate on the military sales bill, now in its seventh week.

It is time, assistant Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin told the Senate, to "clean up these matters and get on to other issues."

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., charged that Republicans would be guilty of "crude and cynical partisanship" if they try to bring up his amendment to halt U.S. activities in Indochina without his approval.

He says he wants it considered as an amendment to military procurement legislation to be considered later and will attempt to block any effort to consider it now.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., who had mentioned the possibility of such a move, said it would be neither cynical nor crude.

Earlier, three Democratic senators—J.W. Fulbright of Arkansas, John C. Stennis of Mississippi and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina—assailed Republican Sen. Robert J. Dole's successful move to have an amendment repealing the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution added to the military sales bill.

SEN. ROBERT J. DOLE

Fulbright, who said he favored repeal by the concurrent resolution approved by his Foreign Relations Committee and scheduled for later action, voted against Dole's amendment "to preserve the integrity of the procedure."

But it carried by a vote of 81 to 10. Although the Johnson administration cited "the Tonkin resolution in dispatching 300,000 troops to Vietnam," the Nixon administration says it is obsolete and irrelevant.

Hollings charged the Nixon administration's reaction to the entire Cambodia debate has been marked by "overkill," to prove the Congress is not necessary, to prove the President as Commander-in-Chief can do whatever he wishes.

After approving Dole's amendment, the Senate voted 32 to 36 to reject an amendment by Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, to loosen a restriction that would require recipients of military aid and surplus weapons to put up 50 per cent of the cost. The Iowa Republican said this would place a severe burden on countries such as Turkey and South Korea.

At least four amendments to the bill remain to be considered.

Other amendments also have been introduced, but sponsors have yet to say if they will be brought up.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott expressed hope the bill could be passed by next Monday, but Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it might even take until after the Senate's July 4 recess.

Tonkin Vote: What And Why

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here at a glance is the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which the Senate voted to repeal Wednesday:

What it is: The Gulf of Tonkin resolution was requested by former President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964, based on two alleged North Vietnamese attacks on U.S. intelligence ships off the Vietnamese coast. It was passed by Congress by votes of 88 to 2 in the Senate and 416 to 0 in the House.

What it does: The key provision "approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

How it was used: Though senators denied any such purpose was intended, the resolution was subsequently used by the Johnson administration as partial legal basis for dispatch of more than 500,000 U.S. troops to Vietnam.

Why it is controversial: Later accounts have questioned whether the Tonkin Gulf incidents occurred as reported and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who steered the measure through the Senate, has charged it was obtained by fraud and deception.

Why repeal it? War critics have urged its repeal as part of the clearing away of "cold war debris" and the Nixon administration has taken the position it is no longer relevant.

Prospects? The amendment approved Wednesday will go to Senate-House conference on the military sales bill with a good chance it will be approved and included in the final legislation. The Senate will consider the matter later again on a resolution approved in April by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Borden Ready To Build Road

GAIL — The state highway department has cleared the way for acceptance of bids to pave 6½ miles of the "Outlaw" road, a 15-mile stretch from Vealmoor to US 180, Borden County Judge C. C. Nunnally said Wednesday.

No contracts have been let, the judge said, but previous estimates have placed construction costs at in excess of $100,000.

The first section to be constructed is that part connecting with US 180. The other 8½ miles are due for a subsequent letting.

The road is now maintained by the county and its improvement will provide an almost direct north-south road from Big Spring to US 180 west of Gail.

MYSTERY PERSONALITY — The man known as Tommy the Traveler (left) is escorted out of the home of Geneva City, N.Y., Judge Joseph Caito by Ontario County Sheriff Ray O. Morrow. Tommy, whose real name is M. L. S. Tonqvist, has been identified as an undercover agent for the sheriff's department on the Hobart College campus. Information he supplied has led to the arrest on drug charges of several students. He, in turn, was charged with harassment because of his undercover activities.

To Harry Wilson, who could never save a penny.

Harry's been talking about that house he's going to buy for six years now. Harry's still talking.

When it comes to saving for something special we all have good intentions, but many of us never seem to get started, let alone have the discipline to keep saving regularly.

That's what makes the Payroll Savings Plan such a terrific way to build a nest egg. All you do is sign up once. Then the amount you specify is automatically set aside from your check each payday and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Now that Bonds pay 5% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year; thereafter 5.20% to maturity), your savings will grow faster than ever.

So, if you see a little bit of Harry in yourself, maybe it's time you joined the Payroll Savings Plan.

It's time to do more than just talk about your future.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.

With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

80 AMERICANS KILLED IN ACTION

Lowest Toll In Nine Weeks

SAIGON (AP) — Eighty Americans were killed in action in Vietnam and Cambodia last week, the lowest toll in nine weeks, the U.S. Command reported today. But the number of American wounded increased sharply from 364 the week before to 643 for the week of June 14-20.

South Vietnamese forces reported 366 of their men killed and 1,071 wounded last week, 110 fewer dead and 593 fewer wounded than the week before. The claimed toll of the enemy increased to 2,093 killed, from 2,079 the week before.

NO EXPLANATION There was no explanation for the drop in allied casualties coupled with the increase in the enemy's.

Twenty of the Americans were killed in Cambodia and 255 were wounded there, the U.S. Command said. It reported U.S. casualties in Cambodian operations since April 29 now total 331 killed and 1,477 wounded.

The weekly summary raised total American casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, to 42,754 killed and 281,701 wounded, while the allies now claim a total of 652,296 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed in the war.

In Cambodia, meanwhile, a military spokesman in Phnom Penh reported North Vietnamese troops attacked a major military base 27 miles northwest of Phnom Penh and fighting was continuing.

IMPORTANT CROSSING The battle was three miles from Kompong Luong, site of an important ferry crossing on the Tonle Sap River and one of the links between the Cambodian capital and the country's northern provinces, many of which are now under control of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The spokesman said he had no details of the fighting, but he denied a Japanese report from Bangkok that the Phnom Penh airport had been shelled Wednesday night. Officials at the airport said it was operating normally.

The spokesman also reported Cambodian planes bombed enemy positions at 15 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and said villagers in the area reported "about 100 Viet Cong killed."

STRAFE BOATS Thirty miles southwest of Phnom Penh, the Cambodian army drove two columns of enemy troops to the southeast Wednesday after a series of enemy attacks on Kompong Speu, a provincial capital retaken by the government nine days ago. Newsmen who traveled to Kompong Speu reported that heavy trucks were once more rolling through the town and down Highway 4 to Kompong Som, Cambodia's chief port and the site of its only oil refinery.

In Saigon, a South Vietnamese military source reported that a U.S. helicopter strafed a number of South Vietnamese fishing boats in the Gulf of Siam last Saturday, and sank or damaged 15 or 20 of them. He said he didn't know how many casualties there were, but National Assemblyman Dang Van Phuong charged that at least 100 fishermen were killed or wounded.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command said it had no report of any such attack by either U.S. or Vietnamese aircraft and added: "It is not probable that an incident of this nature could happen and we would not know about it."

NEWS 'BLACKOUT' The South Vietnamese government confiscated the issues of nine Saigon newspapers which carried Phuong's account of the alleged incident.

Phuong and the Vietnamese military source said the boats were attacked off Rach Gia, a port on South Vietnam's southwest coast 40 miles from the Cambodian border. A government spokesman said the commanding general in that region had no knowledge of the reported attack.

One of the newspapers confiscated, Duoc Nha Nam, said Phuong had sent a message to President Nguyen Van Thieu demanding an immediate investigation of the incident.

South Vietnamese officials announced a new operation by their troops into Cambodia, a 5,000-man foray some 30 miles beyond the border to evacuate Vietnamese settlers from the villages of Labansiek and Bo Kheo in northeast Cambodia, an area now almost entirely under North Vietnamese control.

WITHDRAWAL They said 4,250 refugees had been taken to Pleiku, in Vietnam's central highlands, in the first two days of the operation. No contact with enemy forces was reported.

Farther south along the border, U.S. forces continued their withdrawal from Cambodia and reported no significant battlefield contact. They came under occasional harassing mortar fire, and a few light ground attacks.

But for the second day in a row, the U.S. Command reported four helicopters shot down and also said an Air Force A-1H fighter-bomber crashed from unknown causes, killing the pilot, near Kratie, in northeast Cambodia. It was the second U.S. plane reported lost over Cambodia since raids began to disrupt the new North Vietnamese supply channels west of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Two of the helicopters went down in the western Mekong Delta, another crashed north of Saigon and the fourth was shot down 10 miles inside Cambodia. One man was wounded, the command said. The unofficial total of helicopters lost in the war rose to 3,396.

THE LONG WALK BACK — American infantrymen of the 199th Infantry Brigade leave Fire-base Myron, 100 miles north-northeast of Saigon in Cambodia, for the hike back to their base in South Vietnam. Before withdrawing they destroyed their bunkers, foxholes and trenches and burned the remains Thursday. Smoldering fires can be seen in background.

Spanish Treasure Ship Appeal Filed By Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas has petitioned the U.S. Court of Appeals at New Orleans to keep the state's dispute with an Indiana salvage firm over a buried Spanish treasure ship out of the federal courts.

The state asked the court to accept its appeal from an order by U.S. Dist. Judge Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville taking jurisdiction over the case.

Garza decided June 12 that the case was a federal admiralty matter, arising from salvage operations at sea.

The appeal petition was mailed to New Orleans Saturday, said First Asst. Atty. Gen. Nola White. White said the court can refuse to hear Texas' appeal.

If the appeals court rejects the state's petition, the next step will be Garza's trial of the suit by Platoro Limited, Inc., of Gary, Ind., against the state. Platoro wants all the treasure galleon that sank off Padre Island in a storm 400 years ago. Texas also claims the treasure.

The treasure, including a number of gold and silver items, is now in the hands of the state under guardianship of the University of Texas' Archaeological Research Laboratory.

Platoro says it recovered the items from the sunken vessel under a contract with land commissioner Jerry Sadler, with the treasure to be split 50-50 between Texas and Platoro.

Sadler told a legislative committee last year he went through the motions of giving Platoro a contract—but did not actually sign—to lure the firm into returning the treasure to Texas.

The state's petition to the New Orleans court said the remains of the Spanish ship were under at least 20 feet of soil, which had to be washed away to recover the artifacts. Therefore, the state said, this was not a salvage operation within the admiralty jurisdiction of Garza's court.

"There was no ship in peril, as everything recovered and everything that was explored for had long since ceased to be an article of commerce, and had returned to the soil from which it had originally sprung," the petition said.

OFFERS HIMSELF — Alexander C. B. Ducat, a teacher from Bethesda, Md., said Wednesday in Paris that he offered himself as a "useful prisoner" to the North Vietnamese in exchange for his son, Air Force Capt. Bruce C. Ducat, shot down over North Vietnam Dec. 2, 1966. Ducat, who helped develop a technical education program in Burma in the early 1960s, said he could be useful in setting up training programs in vocational and technical skills in North Vietnam.

The petition says that if the appeals court holds the case is not within federal jurisdiction, then the 28th District Court of Kennedy County will decide Platoro's rights for work and labor done in recovering the artifacts.

FLAG-BURNING NETS PRISON

DALLAS (AP) — Gary Allen Deeds, 19, was assessed a four-year prison sentence Wednesday for burning an American flag.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated most of the day on the sentence after finding Deeds guilty Tuesday.

The flag-burning incident occurred two months ago at the city's Lee Park after police tried to keep swimmers out of nearby Turtle Creek.

The bidding: West North East South 1NT 3♣ Pass 3NT Dble. Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♣. When North made a jump overall of three diamonds over West's opening one no trump, South chose to shoot it out at three no trump in the expectation that his partner's suit would produce the required tricks. West thought his opponents were guilty of loose bidding and promptly registered his opinion by doubling.

West opened the queen of clubs and South won the trick with the king. The jack of diamonds was led and ducked. West won the continuation and cashed the queen and jack of clubs. When it developed that South had a second stopper in the suit, the contest was over, for declarer had the rest of the tricks.

While on the surface the result may appear to be normal, a closer analysis will reveal that not only could the contract have been defeated, but West was perhaps remiss in his performance. West's lead of the queen of clubs is technically correct, for it serves not only to dislodge the king, but also to leave partner with a club to return the suit should he get in first. In the present case, however, it should be clear to West that the play will be conducted solely between West and the declarer.

West might just as well lay down the ace of clubs first in order to inspect the terrain. This play will prove to be revealing on two counts. First of all, when the ace is led against no trump, it calls conventionally for the play of partner's highest card. When East follows with the seven and South with the three, West learns that declarer has the K-10-9—which gives him two stoppers in the suit.

What is even more significant is the appearance of the dummy. West can see that if South has no more than two diamonds, the diamond suit can be retired from the play by knocking out North's entry card at once. Observe the effect of a shift to the king of hearts at trick two. Dummy plays the ace and after West ducks one diamond, declarer must look elsewhere for tricks; He will do well to wind up with seven.

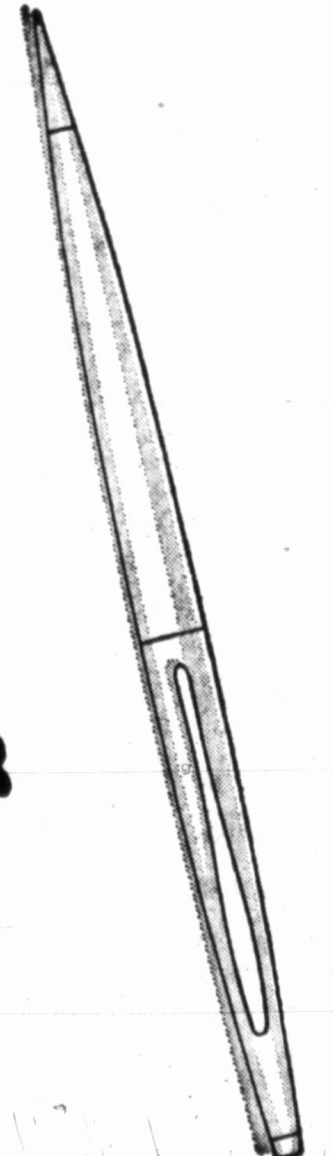

The lead of the ace of clubs does not preclude the possibility of West's continuing to establish his suit if conditions warrant. It merely provides him with an opportunity to reevaluate the defensive campaign after an examination of 26 cards instead of merely 13.

Which One To Wear The Crown Tonight?

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Madcap week ends tonight. Frankie Mitchell, a gorgeous Virginia blonde, relinquishes her title as Miss Wool of America. Just about 24 hours after maybe swallowing a bug.

There was the mayonnaise scene. The coffee caper. The smuggled cigarettes. The sheep pen fiasco. And more.

But at roughly 9:30 p.m. Miss Mitchell, 22, who at 5 feet-8½ qualifies as a genuine statuesque beauty, crowns a successor, ending a yearlong reign and a week of frantic but festive competition to pick a new queen.

"I'm changing my title as Miss Wool 1969 to Mrs. Robbins of Richmond 1970," said Frankie a senior at William & Mary and the bride-to-be Aug. 1 of John David Robbins, her "home town honey" from Salem, Va.

In a flowing white gown, she was the star Wednesday night in a colorful and traditional boat parade down the Concho River, which curves through this West Texas wool producing capital.

After crisscrossing the nation for a year, Miss Mitchell said she had "a lot of little thoughts" as her float, covered with wool pelts, drifted past the cheering audience.

"It was really nice," she said. "But I realized it was over for me."

And then, somewhat suddenly as she alighted from the boat, she added, "I had the feeling that I swallowed a bug. I really did. It was really terrible."

The bug episode was but one of a number of offbeat experiences for Frankie and the 29 candidates vying to succeed her. Vickie McDowell, Miss Iowa, clad in a long formal gown plopped into a chair atop a mayonnaise sandwich shortly before the presentation ball.

"That was so awful," she laughed later. "I was so ashamed. The lady had to come in and put lighter fluid on me. I never had used lighter fluid to get a spot out. I was afraid I was going to go up in flames."

Jane Alsop, Miss Tennessee, courageously served as a cigarette smuggler, concealing the smokes for three candidates who felt the judges might frown on the habit.

Cathy Clemens, Miss Idaho, accidentally splashed coffee on Linda Kautza, Miss Wisconsin. Cathy was distraught. "The competition is getting rough, but this is ridiculous," quipped Linda.

A free lance writer, needing a picture for a story, confronted Mary Jane Spencer, Miss New Mexico.

"Honey," Miss Spence quoted the writer as asking, "will you get in the pen with the lambs?" She complied, she said, adding, "There were about 50 of them, and they were snorting and kicking and running circles around me. And she had me strike a pose in the middle of it. 'I kind of shied away from her after that.'"

Terry McCann, Miss Colorado, encountered a small boy, perhaps 4, after the river parade. "Will you kiss me?" he asked. "Sure," she replied. "Why not?" And she did.

Then there was the bell-

A BIG DAY TODAY — It's a red letter day for Miss Wool contestants and especially for Jeanne Beard of Enid, Okla., right, being presented a cake in celebration of her 20th birthday. Among the well-wishers are competitors Cathy Clemens of Boise, Idaho, and Terry McCann, Denver, Colo.

boy who delivered a 4-by-6 inch envelope to Barbara Kaiser, Miss Washington.

"Oh, good! My swim suit's here," eh said.

"Really?" asked the young man. "When are you going swimming?"

Miss Mitchell, the retiring queen, said that a year ago, she was a political liberal, "very definitely opposed to the war in Vietnam." Now, she said, she has mixed emotions.

She said she met many "rational conservatives" during her tours on behalf of the wool industry.

"And I can't be so closed-minded as not to admit they have some points," she said. "I'm anxious to get back to my liberal friends and tell them

A LOVELIER YOU Treatment Advised For Varicose Veins

By MARY SUE MILLER

Thoughts about summer clothes and activities seem to spotlight the problem of varicose veins. Although the ailment knows no season, late spring is when Lovelies who have it agitate the most. According to my mail, that is.

Many factors may cause varicosity. Heredity appears to play a large role. Circulatory weakness, overweight and inactivity may also trigger the condition. It may or may not be accompanied by pain and sensitivity in the legs. Swelling of the surface veins may be the sole symptom. Young women are not immune; those in middle years and over are more likely sufferers.

In any event, a medical check is the first step to relief. Some varicose veins can be treated by injection or removal, and neither process is catastrophic. Some require no treatment. Most vital is the prevention of increased varicosity. In that area these procedures are recommended:

1. Sit to perform all possible chores. But never sit or stand still for long periods. Move about or "exercise" your legs by tensing calf muscles and arching insteps.
2. Deliberately rest the legs for 10 minutes, morning and afternoon. Lie down and prop legs on pillows. Or, if you do desk work, use a footstool.
3. Get the walking habit — a mile or two a day. Alternating rest and exercise is the idea.
4. Avoid poorly fitted, flimsy shoes and round garters. Attend to corns and bunions; ask your doctor about support stockings.
5. You don't smoke, do you?

Courtesies Continue For Bride

Two more parties were held during the week in a continuing series of courtesies honoring Miss Deane Mansfield and her fiancé, W. A. Colline III of El Paso.

A barbecue was held for the couple Saturday evening at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Patterson with other host couples being Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Schwarzenbach and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gage.

Out-of-town guests were the prospective bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood of Canutillo.

The 15 couples attending were seated at tables where Mexican rebosos were used as runners, and table accents were Mexican candle holders and multi-colored paper flowers. The host group presented the couple with a gift.

The second event was a coffee held Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, 110 Cedar, with Mrs. Arch Carson and Mrs. R. W. Thompson as cohostesses.

Miss Mansfield and her mother, Mrs. Toots Mansfield, received white mum corsages, and the hostesses presented the honoree with a wedding gift.

Guests were served at a polished refreshment table with all silver appointments and centered with a silver epergne holding a mixed floral arrangement in colors of yellow, pink, apricot and white.

The couple will be married July 11 at the ranch home of the bride-elect's parents.

Work Of Missions Studied By WMU

WESTBROOK (SC) — "Blessings of Missions to the World" was the Bible study Tuesday for the Woman's Missionary Union, First Baptist Church. Presenting the study were Mrs. Altis Clemmer, Mrs. J. K. Williamson, Mrs. Frank Hodnett and Mrs. D. G. Rollins. They discussed religious ignorance, superstition and salvation.

Bridge Winners

Three tables were in play for duplicate bridge games held Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Raymond Pollett and Mrs. Ayra McGann placed first, and second place went to Mrs. Craddock and Mrs. Morris Rhodes.

Tells Needs Of Home For Aged

Mrs. Joe Zant, Odessa, was a guest speaker for the Coahoma Chapter 499, Order of Eastern Star Tuesday at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Zant is a member of the Time and Talent committee for the Grand Chapter. She spoke on the needs of the OES home for the aged in Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tanner, worthy patron and matron, presided. Guests were Mrs. John Ellen McLauren and Mrs. Ezra Morris, both of Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Passur, Crane. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ernest Garrett and Miss Laura Lynn Madison. The next meeting, July 14, will feature a patriotic theme. A 50-year membership certificate will be awarded.

Birthday Party Held For League

The annual celebration of all members' birthdays was held by the Ladies Home League Tuesday at the Salvation Army Citadel. A "Flintstones" theme was carried out in the decorations. A cake was served and games played. First prize was won by Mrs. Dee Hart. Mrs. Ruben Moore won second prize, and Mrs. Lucy Townsend won the attendance prize.

National Secretaries Announce Committees

New committee chairmen were named for the National Secretaries Association Tuesday evening at Cosden Country Club. Mrs. Frank Long presided as Mrs. Vic Ames was elected vice president. She presented the annual auditing committee report.

Two new members were welcomed. They are Mrs. Clifford Hale and Mrs. Joseph Miller.

Recommendations for the coming year's program were announced by the executive board. Some projects planned were an "educational learn-in" and seminar and continued support of the Future Secretaries Association. This year's international FSA scholarship award went to a girl sponsored by the Las Vegas, Nev., division of NSA. The next meeting will be a cook-out for members and guests July 28 at the home of Mrs. W. A. Bryans, 2508 E. 24th.

Church Planning Vacation School

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to FED UP, the man with the wife who "has done her duty," and won't let him near her unless it's Christmas or his birthday. I had this pushed in my face last night, so I'm giving you my opinion as to why this husband and so many others get turned down so much.

I am tired of being told that making love to my husband is my "duty." Anyone knows that a woman is putty in the hands of a man who really loves her — no matter how long they've been married. If my husband would show me any recognizable form of love during the day time I would respond with pleasure at night. But when all I hear from him during the day is criticism, all I feel for him is disgust at night.

His first "loves" are money, his business, and sports. He doesn't even show any love for our children, whom any father would be proud of. You hit the nail on the head, Abby, when you said, "A normal wife gives because she WANTS to," and she will want to if she feels needed and wanted and loved for herself — not just physically. My husband says he shows his "love" for us by supporting us.

They said God loves a cheerful giver. Well, so does a wife.

DEAR WOMAN: I can tell you (from my mail) that many husbands need to be told what you've put in this letter. And I say, "Sock it to 'em!" Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: It is the custom on Father's Day for our church to present the oldest father and the youngest father with a prize. Also, the father who has the most children gets one.

It so happens that the boy I am going with is 20 years old and he has a child by an unmarried girl. This is a small town and there aren't any secrets here, but do you think it was nice of him to stand up in church and accept the prize for being the youngest father?

I was so embarrassed I wanted to die.

I still love him but this really hurts me. Do you think I should tell him how I feel or should I let it go?

DEAR HURT: Tell him how you feel. It may not penetrate, but it will probably make YOU feel better.

DEAR ABBY: I have had quite a bit of pain in my arm and shoulder due to either rheumatism or arthritis. I don't really know which. (One doctor says one thing, and another says something else.) Well, I have a friend who gave me a copper bracelet, and told me if I wore it faithfully for a few weeks, my aches and pains would go away. She swears up and down that she got rid of hers that way.

Well, after wearing it for two weeks I honestly believe I don't have as much pain as I did. I told my husband and he laughed at me. I'm afraid to mention this to my doctors because I know they will tell me I am crazy and am imagining things.

Will you please ask some of your medical consultants if this condition of mine, which is not MENTAL, can be improved by wearing a copper bracelet?

FEELING BETTER
DEAR FEELING: I have asked several medical consultants and they agree that there is no scientific basis for it, but they, too, have had patients "swear up and down" that the copper bracelet "helped." It may not "help" but it can't HURT!

House Speaker To Take Stand

NEW YORK (AP). — House Speaker John McCormack has agreed to testify July 2 at the federal trial of his suspended administrative aide, Martin Sweig, on charges of conspiring at influence peddling and with lying to a grand jury.

Sweig's co-defendant, lobbyist-lawyer Nathan Voloshen, has pleaded guilty to both charges.

The announcement that McCormack, 79-year-old Massachusetts Democrat, would take the stand was made at the end of Tuesday's session of the trial in U.S. District Court by U.S. Atty. Whitney North Seymour Jr.

Watson Must Stand Trial In California

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals refused Wednesday to reconsider its ruling that Charles Watson must be extradited to California to stand trial in the Sharon Tate murder case.

The decision by Texas' court of last resort in criminal cases means that Watson has exhausted all state possibilities of avoiding a trip back to California.

However, his lawyer, Bill Boyd of McKinney, said last week that he was considering an appeal to Federal courts if the Texas appeals court turned him down.

The court issued no written opinion today on its ruling that Watson should not have a re-hearing.

Court Clerk Glenn Haynes mailed the court's mandate to Dist. Judge David Brown of Sherman, whose district includes McKinney, where Watson is jailed. Watson's parents live in Copeville, which is near McKinney.

Jury selection is under way now in the Los Angeles trial of four hippie-types charged with Watson in the bizarre slaying of the blonde actress and six others. Watson has been held since his arrest in McKinney.

Boyd argued in the State Criminal Appeals Court, and said he would make it a basis of any federal appeal, that pre-trial coverage of the case had been so intense that Watson could not be fairly tried anywhere in California. He noted that pre-trial news coverage has included publication of a long statement by Susan Atkins, one of the defendants now on trial in Los Angeles.

Boyd told reporters that he feels it would be to Watson's advantage to have a separate trial. "He is completely different from the other persons on trial out there," he said.

In its original May 6 decision the State Appellate Court said Watson must be extradited to California because "we have no reason or right to prejudice a case to be tried in another state and will not do so."

Bentsen Backs Big Thicket

AUSTIN (AP) — The 100,000-acre Big Thicket National Park bill sponsored by Sen. Ralph Yarborough has received support from Lloyd Bentsen, the man who defeated Yarborough in the Democratic primary.

Bentsen, the Democratic U.S. Senate nominee, endorsed the bill in a letter to U.S. Sen. Alan Bible, D-Tex., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on Parks and Recreation, which is studying the bill.

U.S. Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., Bentsen's opponent, said recently he has not decided whether to back Yarborough's bill or a proposal for a smaller park endorsed by lumbering interests.

Bentsen's letter to Bible was released by his campaign headquarters here.

He said that if the Yarborough bill "is still pending when I become a member of the Senate, I will work for its adoption."

Bentsen also said those who prefer a "string of pearls" instead of the 100,000-acre park also "have arguments which should be considered by the subcommittee. It should be noted that the large timber firms operating in the area are not only vital to the Texas economy, but have also engaged in business practices conducive to conservation."

But this "string of pearls" concept "would accomplish only part of the desired objective, the Department of the Interior and the Congress will see the need for a park large enough to insure conservation of the unique sections and at the same time provide recreational facilities for the public. . . In my opinion the best approach would be a park in the range of 100,000 acres as proposed in S4 by Senator Yarborough. I urge the Congress to approve this legislation as quickly as possible."

Pioneer Event

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — State Rep. John R. Bigham will be the principal speaker here for the annual Pioneer Day celebration June 27.

Pioneer Day, which marks the anniversary of the founding of Temple, is the annual meeting of the Central/Texas Pioneer Club.

The day-long program will be held at the Harvest House.

Town Grows Back After Hurricane

FREEMONT, Tex. (AP) — Engineers and others are searching through the remains of old Velasco Fort where the Battle of Velasco was fought June 26, 1832, antedating the Texas War of Independence by four years.

Enough archaeological material has been found to pinpoint the site exactly.

The Gulf Coast Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers is sponsoring the project and hopes that a replica of the fort can be built.

The Chamber of Commerce plans to make the replica an attraction for tourists and a brochure about the fort already is being prepared with the information provided by the Brazoria County Historical Association.

The non-profit Texas Gulf Coast Parks and Historical Restoration Association, headed by Dale Sandlin, has been organized to support the project.

Eight lots 50 by 100 feet each were purchased from E.D. Dorchester, a former resident of except in history books. The Battle of Velasco was one of several preliminary to the full outbreak of the Texas Revolution.

The fight occurred when a group of Texans, seeking to bring two cannon from Brazoria to Anahuac, were denied passage on the Brazos by Col. Domingo de Ugartechea. In the brief battle, the Texans captured the colonel and his small command.

Jackie Gleason Awarded Divorce, To Pay Alimony

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason has been awarded a divorce from his wife of 34 years, ending a precedent-setting case.

Genevieve Gleason obtained a legal separation from the comedian in 1954 on an uncontested charge of abandonment.

Under legal precedent in the state, only she could have begun a divorce action because he was viewed by the law as the guilty party.

However, in 1967 a new law added a two-year legal separation as a ground for divorce.

Mrs. Gleason will receive more than $100,000 a year in alimony.

Astro Cooper Is Resigning

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Col. L. Gordon Cooper, one of the seven original Mercury astronauts, says he is resigning July 31 to become a business executive in Washington, D.C.

Cooper said he will be president of National Exhibits, Inc., and a member of the board and an engineering consultant to Intersales Ltd.

National Exhibits was formed to establish a new convention hall in the capital. Intersales is an export marketing firm.

Cooper's departure will leave Capt. Alan Shepard and Donald K. Slayton as the last of the Mercury group still in the space program. Shepard has been named commander of the Apollo 14 mission scheduled to go off Dec. 3.

Peace Thieves?

LULAC Meet Lures Shriver

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Sargent Shriver, former Peace Corps director and ambassador to France, is to be the main speaker at the national convention of the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) Saturday.

Shriver and Texas' two senatorial candidates, Democrat Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. and U.S. Rep. George Bush, Republican, are to speak at the LULAC banquet Saturday night.

LULAC officials announced Tuesday that Cesar Chavez, head of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, will not speak as scheduled at a Friday luncheon.

Chavez had been announced as the luncheon speaker, but LULAC officials said Tuesday that Chavez had decided not to attend. They insisted that Chavez had been invited and that he had accepted.

Chavez, contacted at his Delano, Calif., office, told the Associated Press he was not coming to McAllen and that he was not even aware that LULAC was having a convention at McAllen. He said he had never been invited to speak.

Courthouse Juror Dorms Are Now Used Seldom

There's a dormitory that's seldom used on the fourth floor of the County Courthouse. It was designed as a quaterning place for jurors if it became necessary to impound them during a trial. The dormitory is seldom used now because of a January, 1966, law stating that a jury can be impounded only during a murder trial involving capital punishment, according to Mrs. Glenda Brazel, deputy district clerk. The jurors' quarters were used last during the Chrisko murder trial. Four women and eight men were then quartered in the courthouse dorm said Mrs. Brazel. The dorms are divided by a lobby or living room section into a women's dorm on the west end and a men's dorm on the east end of the fourth floor. Jurors occupied the quarters during the Santiago murder trial also, said Mrs. Brazel. The quarters have been used only twice in the last five years. Jurors had to stay in the rooms for 10 days during the Chrisko trial. It is for this reason, according to Mrs. Brazel, that women are warned that serving as a juror in a case involving capital punishment could cause inconvenience to their families for an extended length of time.

Knott Plans Homecoming

KNOTT — Residents of this community are anticipating a large turnout Saturday when the annual Knott Homecoming is held at the Community Center here. Registration and visitation begin at 3 p.m., and there will be a patriotic program largely featuring the young people of the community. Families within a 50-mile radius are asked to bring a basket lunch, and the homecoming association will furnish the plates, cups, drinks, utensils. During the evening there will be a business session at which officers will be named. The current officials are Mrs. John McGregor, president; Joe Mac Gaskins, vice president; Jerry Romans, secretary; and Mrs. Woodie Long, treasurer.

DOCTOR AND MISSION — Edward C. Pierce, a 40-year-old M.D., gave up a promising eight-year-old practice two years ago, now works in a cramped, one-story brick house, where he charges according to a sliding fee scale as low as $2 providing preventative medical care for people who can not afford it. "Poor people," Dr. Pierce explained, "practice something called crisis medicine — which means you get sick as a dog before you see a doctor."

Texas Beef Minus Harmful Hormone

DALLAS (AP) — Unperturbed by a Washington report of a cancer-producing hormone detected in the nation's beef supply, Texas cattlemen and state meat officials said Wednesday that a recent survey in the state failed to show signs of the residue. The hormone, called DES, is fed to cattle to stimulate weight gains. An Associated Press report disclosed that government spot checks have detected DES residue in about one of every 200 cattle slaughtered. When applied to the nation's 40 million cattle marketed in the United States the past year, this would add up to 240,000 beef animals. Dallas officials said, however, that a survey of Texas beef during May failed to turn up any DES residues. Dr. Tom Howell, deputy director for slaughter of the Southwestern Consumer Protection regional office, said: "Last month we ran a selective sampling from a high production area in Texas, the Panhandle. We took 50 samplings from some 47 different feed lots. All the samples were negative to my knowledge." VIGILANCE The veterinarian said his office kept a constant vigilance and when DES residues are detected the beef is condemned. Such occasions were so rare in the area, he said, that he could not recall the last time any meat was condemned for that cause. Dr. A. B. Rich, chief of the State Health Department's meat inspection program, said the department had not done any testing for DES yet, since it was not on the federal list of things to check for. Texas follows federal

Nixon's Money Policy Assailed By Demo Nominee

AUSTIN (AP) —Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, said President Nixon has caused "severe dislocations in our economy" with his anti-inflation monetary policy. "They have gone too far," Bentsen said Wednesday, predicting the results would affect his Senate race. "The real danger signs are already apparent and we can see no signs of improving conditions." Bentsen was briefed at the Texas Employment Commission on state and national unemployment. He said TEC experts told him the national unemployment rate was about 5 per cent and the Texas rate was only 2.9 per cent. "But they can see a very definite trend and the trend is bad... the Texas economy is definitely going down along with the rest of the nation. It will definitely be an issue in this campaign."

MRS. JERRY A. PHILLIPS

'Drop-Ins' Welcomed By This Homemaker

By MARILYN NEVELS
"People are welcome to drop in at our house anytime," said Mrs. Jerry A. Phillips, 2304 Merrily, who demonstrates a great interest in others in her numerous activities.

"By cooking things like spaghetti and chili in large batches, it seems to turn out better," she continued, "but better still, it gives me a chance to invite friends over to help us eat it. I love entertaining, whether it is giving coffees or hosting small informal dinners."

For the latter, Mrs. Phillips usually serves either spaghetti, a casserole, or roast and vegetables with fruit salad. Cherry pie and ice cream are combined for a favorite dessert. "We have a hand crank ice cream freezer," she added. "It's fun and gets everyone involved. By the time the ice cream is made, everyone is eager to taste it. "I used to rely pretty much on cookbooks, but I'm becoming braver with my concoctions. Now, when making spaghetti, I just run through boxes of spices, putting in a dash of this and a pinch of that. Sometimes, I make French bread or breadsticks to go with the spaghetti. "I like making anything with yeast, and Jerry enjoys homemade rolls made from a recipe I learned as a teenager in homemaker class. Pies and cookies are what I enjoy making the most, but my husband likes cookies the best, so I make lots of them."

Mrs. Phillips is a person who will try anything once. She sews, making many of her clothes, but she'd rather "go than sew." Because her husband is an avid golfer, she is learning to play, and they are both learning bridge. A gardener, too, Mrs. Phillips admits that cutting the flowers and creating arrangements is "the best part."

Mrs. Phillips is also treasurer of the American Association of University Women and secretary of the newly-formed Genealogical Society of the Big Spring. Also, she is a member of the Downtown Lions Auxiliary.

"I enjoy so many things; I can't settle on just one," she noted. "Maybe that's partly why I became a teacher. I relate to children. They see things differently — beautifully. I enjoy being with them and sharing experiences with them."

The Phillipses moved to Big Spring three years ago, and Mrs. Phillips has taught at Marcy and Kentwood Elementary Schools. She also taught in Abilene schools. Mrs. Phillips wanted to be a teacher since her childhood years in Shallowater. Through scholarships, loans and working she attended Hardin-Simmons University where she met her husband, who is now an accountant for Gamco. After their marriage, he put her through school at Texas Tech University, then she put him through school by teaching.

As a teacher, Mrs. Phillips found a most difficult task was motivating her students at springtime when their minds were on summer vacation and Little League games.

"I tried to plan special projects, started a nature center, had more drama, puppet shows and other projects," she explained. "The children learned a great deal from the nature projects. Often I'd plan a project and the children would say something that would give me a new idea and I'd incorporate their ideas in my plans. We built on each other's enthusiasm."

The Phillipses spend a great deal of time with children. They teach Training Union classes at First Baptist Church, and Mrs. Phillips helps with Girls' Auxiliary. "The auxiliary is a combination of Bible study and practicing what we preach," Mrs. Phillips said.

Last year the girls worked at Westside Recreation Center and had parties for youths at Big Spring State Hospital. "The big thing among young people is to act, not just talk; to put their ideas into action," noted Mrs. Phillips.

Most of the recipes given by Mrs. Phillips are ones that she uses when entertaining friends.

Ham Tarts Go Great At Parties

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Go down south and you pick up good food ideas. That's just what we did a few months ago. At a cocktail party we were served a delicious little hors d'oeuvre. When we asked our hostess for the recipe she said, "Just mix deviled ham and peanut butter and fill small pastry shells with the mixture."

When we got home again that's what we did — and here's the recipe. One of the good things about this hors d'oeuvre is that you can prepare it well ahead, put it in your freezer and bake it just before serving.

No tart pans are needed for making these pastry shells. They're shaped an ingenious, easy way with aluminum foil.

PEANUT HAM TARTS

2 cans (each 3 oz.) deviled ham
1/4 cup chunky peanut butter
2 tps. prepared mustard
1 pkg. (10 oz.) pie crust mix
Empty deviled ham into a small bowl; add peanut butter and mustard; mix thoroughly.

Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions. Divide pastry in half; shape into two small squares; cover with plastic and refrigerate.

With a sponge dampen kitchen counter and place a nine-inch square of regular-weight aluminum foil over dampened area. (The damp counter keeps foil from slipping.) Place one square of pastry on foil; flatten slightly with hand and cover with a 12-inch square of wax paper.

Roll out pastry to cover square of foil. Peel off wax paper. If pastry extends beyond edge of foil, trim even with foil. Using a ruler and the dull edge of a table knife, mark off pastry into two and one-quarter inch squares.

Using kitchen scissors and following the guide lines, cut through pastry and foil to make 16 squares. Turn up sides about one-half inch and as you do so, pinch corners to form small square pastry shells.

Place a rounded teaspoon (one and one-fourth teaspoons in actual measurement) of ham mixture in each pastry shell.

Repeat process with second batch of pastry.

Place filled shells on cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until crust is lightly browned — 10 to 12 minutes. Let cool just until foil can be peeled off easily. Remove foil and serve at once.

Makes 32 pastries.

To freeze: Spread filled unbaked tarts in single layers on flat pans; freeze; remove from pans, wrap appropriately and store in freezer. To bake, place frozen pastries on a cookie sheet and bake in preheated 450-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes (baking time is the same as for unfrozen pastries).

Fish Steak Topped By Sauce

When it's time to provide your family with a meatless meal, chances are that fish is on the menu. And when fish is about to be served, keep in mind that a food of such delicate flavor must be seasoned to perfection. Ac'cent monosodium glutamate brings out all the sweet natural "fresh caught" flavor of the fish. Add a fancy touch to your favorite kind of fish steaks with a wonderful sauce made of sour cream enlivened with chives, dill, or parsley. Serve with baked potatoes, creamed spinach, molded-fruit salad, corn muffins, and spice cake for dessert.

BROILED FISH STEAK

6 fish steaks, fresh or frozen (allow to thaw if frozen)
Ac'cent
SOUR CREAM SAUCE
1/2 pt. sour cream
1/2 tsp. Ac'cent
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. dry or 1 tsp. fresh herbs, minced (Chives, dill, or parsley)

Prepare sauce by combining sour cream with Ac'cent and seasonings. Brush steaks with oil or melted butter and sprinkle with Ac'cent and a little lemon juice. Place fish on preheated broiler pan. Broil about two inches from source of heat approximately five minutes, or until fish is done. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve with Sour Cream Sauce. Makes six servings.

NOTE: It is not necessary to turn steaks if broiler pan is preheated. Fish should flake easily with a fork, but should be moist.

AN IRRESISTIBLE TREAT With tart, fine flavor

Marvelous Apples Baked For Dessert

Those marvelously firm and tart apples that are ideal for cooking are in the markets now, meaning it's time for pies, sauces and baked apple desserts. A sensational one, we think, is Pineapple Apples, Baked! Made with crushed pineapple, they are a mouth-watering blend of flavors. Irresistible served warm with cool, rich cream, or ice cream.

PINEAPPLE APPLES, BAKED

Baking apples
Hawaiian Crushed Pineapple with syrup
Brown sugar
Butter
Core apples and pare top only. Set in ramekins or a pan. Spoon crushed pineapple around apples and in core. Top each with about 2 tablespoons of brown sugar and a generous pat of butter. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven for 45 minutes to an hour, or until apples look soft.

Paprika Potatoes Please Crowd

Try potatoes fixed this way:

PAPRIKA POTATOES
1/4 cup bacon fat
4 cups cubed potatoes (6 or 7 medium-sized potatoes)
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. caraway seed
4 tps. paprika
Dash cayenne
1/2 cup hot water

Heat bacon fat in a nine-inch heavy skillet. Add potatoes and the next four ingredients. Cook a few minutes, uncovered, stirring to spread the seasonings. Add hot water. Cover and simmer 30 minutes or until potatoes are almost tender. Remove cover and cook only to evaporate water. Do not fry the potatoes at any time. Yield: six servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Delightful salad: marinate cooked snap beans in French dressing; arrange on salad greens and garnish with rounds or sections of oranges.

You can bake corned beef hash. Just pack the hash from a couple of one-pound cans into a baking dish — a glass one that is 10x6x1 1/2 inches will be fine. Brush with melted butter or margarine and bake in a moderate oven until piping hot — this may take half an hour.

When you are braising beef short ribs, use as little water as possible so the gravy will be rich. Half a cup of water should be enough for three pounds of short ribs and a couple of onions as a start; more water may be added if necessary.

If you are investing in new cookie sheets, buy those with no sides at all or with partial rims on a couple of sides for ease in handling. Cookie sheets without sides help cookies to bake and brown well. The cookie sheets should be made of a dull metal because the dulled surface also helps the browning process.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

By Ted Hatfield
LET'S TALK ABOUT "COLOR SCHEMES"

Popular colors in upholstered furniture, draperies and floor coverings change from time-to-time, just the same as they do in women's fashions. You might be interested in knowing that a recent nationwide survey at the furniture mart in Chicago shows that greens are the No. 1 best seller now in upholstered furniture, followed by golds, reds, browns and blues.

But the best rule in selecting the "basic" color for your living room, or any room in your home, is to start with a color YOU like best.

Some like monotones, or different tones of the same color used throughout a room. Others like contrasting or harmonizing colors. Either plan, with careful study, can be equally effective.

But you must start some place. In a living room it is best to start either with your floor covering or your sofa or sectional, and work out your color scheme from there. You can also select your wall colors first and then pick the rest of your furniture and furnishings to harmonize with your walls.

Some decorators prefer neutral colors for sofas or sectionals which enable them to use a great deal of color in chairs and accessories.

Please feel free to let us help you with any of your color selections. Let us show you accent pieces at budget prices.

A Devotion For Today . . .

I am reminded of your sincere faith, a faith that dwelt first in your grandmother Lois and your mother Eunice and now, I am sure, dwells in you. (II Timothy 1:5, RSV)

PRAYER: May we, dear Lord, maintain in our homes an atmosphere which keeps everyone within its wall conscious of Thy presence. May we strive to transmit to the children in the home a blessed heritage of faith. In the spirit of Christ, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven. Amen." (From the 'Upper Room')

No Chance To Scratch A Name

Looking back on recent primaries, one might say that the problem of using voting machines has not been settled. Only 13 of Texas' 254 counties use these machines, and the devices have been troublesome in many of these places.

The ultimate may have occurred in California's primary earlier this month, when the automatic vote counters broke down in four major counties, causing long delays in voting areas where 60 per cent of the voters reside. In Fresno, for example, not a single vote had been counted a day after the polls closed.

This is not to say that automated vote counting won't work, but it must need some refinement. Meanwhile scratch-ballot lovers can say, "I told you so." In truth, their love for the scratch ballot is strong, firm and unwavering, based on the blissful satisfaction gained from vigorously scratching out the name of a bitterly opposed candidate.

A More Conservative Outlook

A notable trend toward somewhat firmer conservatism has been noted in almost every major election in the Western world so far this year. It is not a swing toward outright reaction, but rather more in the area of the middle-of-the-road. There is a shift, however, in voter attitude.

The most spectacular instance was the unexpected victory of the British Conservative party. But there had been other elections: Finland, where a right-center majority replaced a left-wing one; state elections in Germany following the same trend; and primaries in the United States, including the senatorial contest in Texas.

conditions which are affecting all peoples. There might be a general unhappiness over social chaos and resentment against the militants.

The average citizen, whether in England, Finland, Germany or the U.S. has a growing sense of frustration at the world around him. Long-time standards are being challenged, inflation is hitting at the pocketbook, youth is defying proper restraints, and so on through a long list. Under such circumstances the reaction of many a voter is to strike out at those "liberal" forces and tendencies, which they believe, foster such developments.

There is no full reactionary movement, but the more conservative trend is a political fact. It may not have run its full course.

British Government Change

WASHINGTON — The outcome of the British elections may have more meaningful factors for study in anticipating the presidential elections of 1972 in America rather than its congressional elections of 1970.

In the first place, the electorate in England was voting last week for a national administration, while in the elections this year the American people will be voting whether to give majority support in Congress to a President who has found his course obstructed in several ways by the opposition party in actual control of the national legislative body.

course, will be received with satisfaction by the United States.

FUNDAMENTALLY, the unsatisfactory economic situation motivated the British voters to seek a change. In a parliamentary election the voters choose a majority which selects a new Prime Minister. In a congressional and presidential election in America, on the other hand, majority control of both houses of Congress was won by the Democratic party in 1968. President Nixon was left alone to struggle with an opposition party. It has been maintaining a continuous barrage of criticism and has amended or delayed his legislative proposals so as to cause long delays in their consideration.

DISCONTENT was plainly the major cause of the victory of the Conservative party in Britain. Some of the things which produced the dissatisfaction are to be found in the current mood of this country.

This British working class has been disturbed by the high cost of living and high taxes. Unemployment is at the highest point in 30 years. Strikes have multiplied, and the conservatives have promised to propose new legislation to curb "industrial anarchy."

MOST SIGNIFICANT is the racial question. England has about 1.5 million nonwhites, or 2 per cent of the population, but many people not only are objecting to more immigration but they want colored residents to return to their own countries.

Inflation has proved a disturbing development, but the Labor government has not satisfied the electorate. The conservatives have promised to tackle the problem.

AS FOR foreign policy, the new Prime Minister will reverse the Labor party policy of withdrawing all British forces east of Suez and will move to strengthen the British pledges originally given to maintain the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. This, of course, will be received with satisfaction by the United States.

OBVIOUSLY the American system needs reorganization. For the American people in November, 1970, — two years after the last election — are going to be asked to vote for or against a party in Congress which the chief executive's spokesmen declare has blocked progress and may continue to do so for another two years until the 1972 election. The opposition, of course, feels it has a right to debate the issues on the floor of Congress and try to mobilize more and more of the discontented vote of the country while continuing for two years more to frustrate the administration in power.

What Others Say

As an activity suitable for Law month, one of our reporters, Jeannye Thornton, interviewed a number of Chicago public school pupils, ranging in age from eight to 13, on what law and order and related terms meant to them. Their responses made interesting reading in several of our Metro sections yesterday.

The children's responses to the concept "law and order" show a maturity that would be a credit to any adult: "When I think of law, I think of respect for other people, their property, and their privacy." "Law is authority. You have to have someone set up in case someone gets out of order." "Law and order means to keep the city safe from getting hurt." "Order is a state where everyone is respecting everyone else." "It would just be a terrible earth if there weren't any policemen."

No one is likely to formulate some important truths better than a girl named Cindy, 13, at Tennyson Upper Grade center, who said, "Law is like a set of rules to keep peace and justice. . . Law and order does not depend on the policemen alone; it depends on everybody."

'What's Sweat?' Asked Pamela

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a pleasant late afternoon in the year 2070, and little Pamela decided to do her homework.

"Will you help me, grandpa?" she asked. The old man lowered a copy of the best-selling book he was reading—"Sex Before 100 Is for Children"—and asked:

"What is your problem?"

"I have to write an essay on the history of the week," said Pamela. "We only have a two-day week now, but I hear there once were seven days in the week. Is that true?"

"Oh, my, yes," said grandpa. "I can remember the seven-day week quite well. My father told me that in his youth it was awful. People went to work six days, and then rested on a day they called the Sabbath. They must have really worked up a sweat in those days."

"What's sweat?" asked Pamela.

"That's a good question—I guess your generation doesn't know the meaning of the word," replied grandpa. "Sweat is little drops of salty water that pop out all over your body if you work too hard."

"Ooh, how revolting," said little Pamela, making a face.

"Was there any cure for it?"

"Yes," continued grandpa. "People found a curious thing happened to sweat when they put down their tools and rested. It dried up and went away. So they've been trying to rest more and more ever since."

"What happened to the seven-day week?" demanded Pamela.

"Well, it began to change slowly. As people got better and better kinds of tools, they worked less and less. They worked only five days—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. They rested over the weekend on Saturday and Sunday."

"That still sounds pretty horrible to me," said Pamela.

"That's the way a lot of people felt, too," answered grandpa.

"They dreaded the thought of going to the office or factory on Monday, and they began to show up later and later or came down with one-day pneumonia."

"I guess you don't know what one-day pneumonia is either."

That's what people got when they rested so hard on the weekend they didn't have the strength to go to work on Monday.

"At first attempts were made to solve the problem by shortening the work week and lengthening the weekend. By the year 2000 they worked only Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—and then had four straight days to rest up."

"So what was done, grandpa?"

"Well, at first the government thought of cutting the work week to two days," said grandpa, "until psychiatrists warned them that the strain of a five-day weekend might destroy the human race. So they solved the matter by dropping the seven-day week and creating a week with only two days in it—Mondays and Sundays, a day of work, a day of rest. And no long killing weekends."

Income Funds Score

NEW YORK (AP) — While most mutual funds have done quite poorly this year, a noticeable exception emerges from a study of the performance charts: A good many income funds are doing decidedly better than the averages.

Not that this is any great accomplishment, but it does stand out in an industry which lost 25.5 per cent of its assets from Jan. 1 to June 11, compared with a decline in the Dow Jones Industrial Average of only 16.9 per cent.

Even more interesting is the way in which some funds accomplished their feat: They simply got out of the stock market and put their money into bonds, commercial paper, short-term government notes and cash.

Of the top 25 performance leaders in the June 11 compilation by the Arthur Lipper Corp., 15 funds emphasized income as opposed to growth, speculation or simply conservation of capital. Another four were combined growth-income funds.

Three funds—Keystone B-1, Keystone B-2 and Investors Selective—actually increased their asset value per share, although only slightly. In addition, they yielded their owners from 5.8 per cent to 7 per cent in dividends.

Performance funds, which seek great growth of capital, were at the opposite end of the scale during the sharp decline in stock prices. Lipper lists 15 of them as having lost more than 50 per cent of value since Jan. 1.

Why should the performance funds, which returned glamorous profits during the rising stock market of the 1960s, fall so miserably in 1970? Apparently because they are simply committed to stocks as a way of life.

The income funds, however, seemingly can better grasp short-term trends. Their philosophy permits them to invest in stocks when the stock market is sound; or in other securities, if they are temporarily more attractive.

Magna Income Trust, a small fund which ranked 19th in the Lipper list of 461, provides an illustration of the maneuvers used by the income funds.

On Jan. 22 the fund held more than 50 per cent of its assets in common stocks and only 1 per cent in cash. One week later it had increased its cash position to 24 per cent and reduced common stocks to 37 per cent.

By April 11 only 11 per cent of assets were in common stocks, and 81 per cent was in bonds, short-term notes and cash. Since then it has increased its stock position, but only to 14 per cent.

What to do, then? The only answer I know is definitive diagnosis. Have your doctor do a detailed study: X rays of stomach, gall bladder and chest, along with the rest of his examination, and you're on the road to finding out what your "heartburn" is and knowing how to correct it.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Thosteson's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

To Your Good Health

'Heartburn' Is The Wrong Word For It

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read your articles on how to take care of our old bodies but would like to know more about "heartburn." I have tried dozens of different anti-acid tablets and liquids without helping much.—C.W.D.

"Heartburn," you know, sir, is a misnomer. It seldom has anything to do with the heart. But I suppose it is easier to pronounce than "stomachburn."

Heartburn, indeed, is really a pretty loose term, used for a burning type of pain anywhere from the collarbone to the pit of the stomach, and it usually is a disorder of the digestive tract, mainly the stomach.

It is quite commonly assumed that it is due to "acid," and I wonder how many millions of people try to deal with it as you do — with bicarbonate of soda or other antacids. I wonder also how many have your experience of finding only temporary or no relief, and then more bouts of heartburn.

If the "heartburn" is a peptic ulcer, an antacid brings easing of the pain. For a while at least. But what else might it be? Well, a hiatal or esophageal hernia, which often causes burning under the breastbone (but also can cause distress higher up, too).

Esophagitis, which can accompany an infection in that region, or simple irritation from certain condiments, alcohol, or some medications, is another cause of "heartburn."

Just overeating, or too much indulgence in alcohol, can do it. Occasionally as simple a thing as a belch, by causing a change of pressure in the lower gullet, can incite an attack.

Cancer of the stomach is a possibility.

Gallstones or other gall bladder disease is a not uncommon cause of repeated "heartburn."

Quite apart from the digestive tract, a disorder of the aorta, or main artery leading from the heart, can cause the same sort of pain — and antacids won't help that, even temporarily.

My point is this: heartburn is any one of a number of things, including variants of those I've mentioned, and while antacids will relieve the discomfort of some of them briefly, they won't correct any of them basically. As you've found out.

What to do, then? The only answer I know is definitive diagnosis. Have your doctor do a detailed study: X rays of stomach, gall bladder and chest, along with the rest of his examination, and you're on the road to finding out what your "heartburn" is and knowing how to correct it.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? ## Around The Rim

Star Pupil In Driving Class

I don't know if you've noticed or not, but it's getting to be that time again. School is out, those severe weather alerts are getting further apart, the thermometer dials bubble toward 100 degrees (except when I predict it), and all those cars marked "student driver" are visible wherever you turn.

I HAVE A certain empathy with those youngsters. For instance when I see them coming I always pull over and park. I remember when a certain driver's ed teacher made me venture into the midst of downtown Big Spring on Dollar Day in that era before shopping centers were so numerous.

In a previous epoch I wrote that I was definitely not a horseowner and that I would stick to motor-driven vehicles; but I remember the first time I had to sit behind that big wheel with all that throbbing power under the hood and actually make the automobile do what I wanted it to do.

I LIKE TO BRAG that I have never had an accident. (I prefer to forget that $23 worth of damage to the rear bumper of my mother's car. Honest, I was sitting dead still at a stop sign, and he struck me from behind!) But I must admit whatever vehicular success I have had I owe all to the patience and perseverance of that wonderful driving teacher.

It must have taken raw courage to ride with me after that first day. The very first day I can lay to his ignorance of my ignorance, but after that . . . well, if they ever give a bronze star to driving teachers then Coach Dan Bustamante will certainly get one.

AFTER WEEKS of intensive classroom training in which it was drilled into us certain rules of the road, I climbed into the driver's seat.

I still remember all those rules pounded into my somewhat young mind. "Lock the door, adjust the car seat, fasten your seat-belt and adjust the rear view mirror before anything else." On the big day we got to try to make the car weave in and around innumerable, tiny red flags placed in the middle of a big vacant lot, I nervously complied with all the rules and eagerly pressed the accelerator. Nothing.

I GLANCED nervously at Coach Bustamante and tried again. Nothing happened.

"Something's wrong with the car," I assured him.

"You're sure you've remembered everything?" he asked. I went over the list of rules in my mind and nodded.

"How about starting the motor?" he suggested gently. Needless to say I was his star pupil. I mean who had more to learn?

And occasionally as I am wheeling down the highway at 70 miles an hour (well, maybe a smidgen over), I still remember the day we had to go out Fourth Street and speed the car up to a tremendous 45. I never thought my nerves would hold out.

AS IF REGULAR sessions weren't enough punishment for the poor man, he spent a few extra hours teaching me to drive my mother's standard shift. I never gave him a whiplash, but it wasn't because I didn't try.

Today I feel as much at home in a car as I do in a newspaper office. I never thought I'd make it, and I'm sure he didn't either. Thanks, Coach.

The Court And The 18-Year-Vote

WASHINGTON — Even before the bill giving 18-year-olds the right to vote reached President Nixon's desk, Supreme Court insiders were predicting without reservation that the Supreme Court would strike it down as unconstitutional.

As one Court attache put it: "It's no contest. Given the present makeup of the Court, the thing doesn't have a chance." Another remarked that "Even the Warren Court would have found this one impossible to swallow."

THE INSIDERS' basis for their predictions is simple: As passed by a politically minded Congress in a touchy election year, the vote for 18-year-olds represents an outrageous infringement on states' rights guaranteed by the Constitution. They point out that since the Constitution does not give Congress power to set the voting age, that power is reserved to the states — as explicitly stated in Article 10 of the Bill of Rights.

Article 10 reads: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states, respectively, or to the people."

MEANWHILE, the long-ignored Section 2 of the 14th Amendment recognizes the age of 21 as a requirement for obtaining the franchise. In prohibiting any infringement of voting right, the amendment describes those citizens protected as "being 21 years of age . . ."

During the Earl Warren era, the Court might have blithely ignored such Constitutional fiat. But as Court experts point out, the high bench is now dominated by justices, led by Chief Justice Warren Burger, who tend to strict construction of the nation's fundamental document.

THUS INSIDERS tote up a majority total of at least five justices for overthrow of the Congressional action. Burger and Justice Harry Blackmun, both Nixon appointees, head the list. Other "sure" votes to overthrow, according to the experts, would be those of Justices Potter Stewart, John Harlan and Byron White. It is also a good bet that Justice Hugo Black would vote to strike down; Black has always insisted that the language of the Constitution is absolute as it was written and permits no tinkering by the Supreme Court.

THE BILL PROVIDES for an immediate test of its constitutionality. It states that cases arising under its provisions would be heard by a three-judge Federal District Court, with a direct appeal from its decision to the Supreme Court. Since district judges are instructed "to cause the case to be in every way expedited," a final Supreme Court ruling could be reached before next Jan. 1, effective date of the legislation.

NIXON HAS ALWAYS favored lowering the voting age, but he has insisted it be done by Constitutional amendment to avoid a possible veto by the Supreme Court.

As insiders see it, that apparently is the sentiment of a majority of the Supreme Court justices. As Justice Black might remark, the 14th Amendment's relevant section says what it means and means what it says.

Television And Wars

WASHINGTON — The question came up at dinner the other night when people were discussing the Tory victory in Great Britain.

"Why is it that the English were able to rule the world for almost 200 years while the United States has been unable to hold on for less than 25 years?"

An Englishman at the table replied, "It's quite simple, my dear chap. There was no television."

"Of course," someone else said, "television hadn't been invented then!"

"ON THE contrary," the Englishman said, "it had been invented but we were wise enough not to let the secret out."

We all looked at him in amazement.

"Lord Cashmere of Rutland invented television in the year 1775," he said. "You can look it up in the secret archives of the British Museum. He was actually trying to invent the radio; rather than sound, he got a picture on his box instead."

"What kind of a picture?" a skeptical guest asked.

"It is hard to believe," someone said.

"Quite. In any case, Lord Cashmere knew he was onto something big, so he took the box to King George III and demonstrated it to the court, which at the time was meeting on the Television Moors in Wales."

"So that's where the name came from," someone said.

"IT'S ALL in the secret archives," the Englishman said. "The court was aghast at what they were seeing. There were large, bulky redcoats beating on the poor Colonials, kicking women and children, setting fire to their homes and committing unbelievable atrocities in the villages."

"Lord Cashmere," the Archbishop of Canterbury said, "what in God's name have you wrought?"

"Lord Cashmere said, 'I'm not sure but it's possible that this invention could change all of mankind. Just think, my noble friends, that with this box our people would bear witness to the great news events of our time. No longer would we be dependent on ships for our news. We could actually see our victories as they were happening. What a boost for the morale of the Empire!'"

"A CHEER rent the air over Television Moors. But then Gen. Sir Ronald Paley, the king's adviser on military affairs, spoke up: 'I do not wish to dash cold water on this box, but may I point out to you gentlemen that this invention could be the end of the Empire? Do you believe our young people would remain silent after watching what we were doing in the Colonies, or for that matter anywhere else? The country would be split asunder. The strength of England is that her people have no idea of what we're up to abroad.'"

"KING GEORGE III spoke up. 'Sir Ronald is right. If we're to wage war in the Colonies, we don't want the people at home to know what we're doing."

Besides, if we have to pull out I want to do it without the whole world watching us. Lord Cashmere, you have done your country an ill deed by this damnable contraption. I order you at the pain of losing your head never to reveal your secret. We shall bury that box here on the moors, and Britannia will rule the waves."
