Cambodian Proviuces Abandoned

SAIGON (AP) — The Cambodian government virtually abandoned three northeastern provinces to the enemy Saturday, withdrawing on an emergency basis 8,000 Cambodian civilians and troops to South Vietnam's central highlands.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said in Saigon the evacuation was carried out at the request of Gen. Lon Nol, Cambodia's premier.

REDS IN CONTROL
Diplomatic informants in Phnom Penh said two weeks ago the Cambodian government felt it had no alternative but to concede nearly half the country to the enemy in order to keep control of the nation's capital and the rice belt to its north-west.

The civilians and a battalion or so of Cambodian troops were pulled out of the towns of Bo Kheo and Labansiek about 30 miles west of the South Vietnamese town of Pleiku in the central highlands.

With the withdrawals, the provinces of Ratanakiri, Monduliri and Stung Treng became almost fully under the control of the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

The Ho Chi Minh trail from North Vietnam runs through these provinces.

'AT ALL COSTS'
Cambodian military spokesmen previously had said that Bo Kheo and Labansiek would be held "at all costs."

The United States is understood to have urged the Cambodians to attempt to hold the two towns in hopes the presence of troops would help U.S. aerial interdiction raids against enemy supply and troop trails in that area.

The evacuation operation began last Wednesday with a 5,000-man South Vietnamese thrust into Cambodia from the highlands.

The move originally was announced as a drive to evacuate ethnic Vietnamese from the two towns.

The majority of those evacuated were civilian refugees. Several hundred Cambodian troops, who according to the South Vietnamese lacked weapons, were brought with the civilians to Pleiku and a nearby former U.S. base, Camp Enari.

In addition to holding the capitals of the three northeastern provinces, Communist command forces also control five other provincial capitals and are fighting to gain control of two more—Kompong Thom in central Cambodia and Kompong Speu, 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

As the developments in the northeast unfolded, President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam told his nation on television that South Vietnamese troops would neither stay in Cambodia indefinitely nor fight the war for Cambodia.

"I do not lead this country toward a bogging down in the war," he said. But he pledged to help defend Cambodia and asserted that "many other allied nations" must join in the effort.

His speech was made shortly after the U.S. Command said elements of the 1st Air Cavalry Division and the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment had completed operations inside Cambodia and returned to South Vietnam.

GIs GET OUT
The announcement came with just four days remaining for the complete withdrawal of all U.S. ground forces from Cambodia, where since May 1 they have been raiding enemy border base camps and supply caches.

A total of 339 Americans have been killed and 1,501 wounded in all Cambodian military operations, the command said,

DRAFT LOTTERY Fate Of Some 2 Million Men At Stake

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government is staging a nationwide lottery Wednesday with the fate of some two million young men at stake.

The outcome will determine who, among men turning 19 this year, will be drafted in 1971.

By the drawing of capsules from two rotating drums, the birthday of each man born in 1951 will be matched with a number from one to 365.

When the armed forces need draftees, available men with the lowest numbers will be the first to go.

CAN POP UP ANY TIME
For those who have not received deferments or decided to enlist anyway, the drawing will be a nerve-wracking 90 minutes, even more tense than the lottery held last December for the draftees of 1970.

In December, men then between 19 and 26 received their permanent lottery numbers, drawn in simple one-two-three order; the suspense eased as the drawing progressed into the higher numbers, less likely to be called for the draft.

This Wednesday, however, both dates and numbers will be scrambled so any number can pop up any time. Number one may be called first, last, or anywhere in between.

Only when all 365 dates and numbers have been drawn will they become official. If anything should go seriously wrong during the drawing, it might have to be done all over again, draft Director Curtis W. Tarr has admitted.

GUESSING GAME
Barring such an unlikely mishap, each draw should give 5,000 to 6,000 men a very rough idea of their chances to be drafted next year.

There are, as yet, no official estimates how large the draft pool will be or how many men must be drafted in 1971; and without those estimates, figuring the chances can be only a guessing game.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The City of Big Spring got another good report on its sales tax revenue for the previous quarter — $89,397, or nearly five per cent more than estimated for the period. If the current quarter holds up, the year's estimated receipts of $350,000 will be realized. In one respect, the report was not as much as some expected in view of the addition of alcoholic beverages to the tax list.

More of that punishing summer heat returned toward the end of the week with a maximum of 102 reached on Thursday. A few old timers had been forecasting rains for last week, but this substantiated the axiom that "all signs fall in a drouth." There were some showers which took part of the heat off the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Although daily demands hit the 60-million-gallon-per-day level they were well under the previous week's peak of nearly 70 million.

The opening of Lake E. V. Spence, the new CRMWD reservoir near Robert Lee, proved a pleasing experience to all concerned. More than 3,000 fishermen went away happy with good catches in a fishery event instance. The district was happy because the crowd was orderly and

Rogers Meets With Asians In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Saturday session with an Asian peace-seeking diplomatic team prefaced Secretary of State William P. Rogers' start on a Far Eastern trip to discuss Indochina with U.S. allies.

The U.S. intent to increase aid for the Communist-beleaguered Cambodian government after the June 30 American troop withdrawal was on the agenda for discussion with the traveling Asian foreign ministers.

However, U.S. officials said precise plans for assistance to the Lon Nol government have not been worked out so the talks with the visiting officials could deal with this matter only in general terms.

Programs for helping Cambodia are uncertain because of the fluid military situation there, because policy and legislation in Washington still are incomplete, and because interested allies such as Thailand have not yet decided their courses.

Rogers is to leave Washington Sunday morning on a two-week trip.

After a San Francisco stop including a side trip to see President Nixon at San Clemente, Calif., he is scheduled to reach Manila July 1 for the annual ministerial meeting of the seven-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Cambodia has not been invited to and has not asked to attend the Manila meeting on grounds her participation would impair her neutral status.

Boy Quads Stump Dad

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Is that Kevin running around with part of a vacuum hose? And Ken playing with the ball? Is that Gary crying? Isn't that Stevie getting his diaper changed?

Or is that Ken getting his diaper changed and Stevie running around and Gary playing with the ball and Kevin crying? Or . . . ?

Kenneth Villaros, 31, Hawaiian-born father of the 2-year-old quadruplets, says there are times when even he isn't sure which is which. His wife Carol, 27, and daughter Stefanie, 5, says they are the only ones who know for certain.

"I can tell them by the shapes of their faces," explains Carol, who says each is developing his own personality. "Gary is the more sensitive one; Ken is quiet. Kevin is a terror and so is Stevie, but not as much."

Mr. and Mrs. Villaros say they've gotten used to the confusion, although it took a few months and moving from an apartment into their modern home in suburban Los Angeles.

Irish Violence Follows Jailing Of Bernadette

SURPRISE, SURPRISE — A shoplifting occurred in a shoe store at St. Petersburg, Fla. McIkey Williams, manager of the store didn't take time to call the police. He tackled the man as he tried to get away. Williams didn't know that the suspect had friends to help him.

Troops Tear Gas Batting Crowds

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three men were shot dead Saturday as rioting erupted in the streets of Belfast. Fires broke out in the city and troops tear-gassed stone-throwing mobs.

A spokesman for the Royal Victoria Hospital said three civilians were killed by gunfire and four patients were treated for bullet wounds.

100 INJURED
The shots came from somewhere in the battling crowds. Nearly 100 civilians, troops and policemen were treated for riot injuries, the spokesman added.

It was the second wave of street violence in Northern Ireland since Bernadette Devlin, 23, a Roman Catholic civil rights leader and youngest member of Parliament, was jailed Friday night to serve a six-month sentence for rioting and inciting rioting last summer.

Tension was at its highest level since prolonged rioting last year between Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic and Protestant communities.

Violence developed in this capital after 10,000 Protestants marched through the city, rehearsing for traditional July 12 Orange Day parades. The end of the parade turned into a stone-throwing battle between Protestants and Catholics, with troops in the middle.

YOUTH'S ATTACK
In Londonderry, Northern Ireland's second city, Roman Catholic youths attacked soldiers with stones and gasoline bombs.

Several shops were set ablaze, and a shopping block in the center of the city went up in flames.

British troops with riot shields, steel helmets, face visors and clubs were used to stop the fighting. Armored cars were driven into the riot area but were not used.

Rioters in Londonderry earlier looted and ignited a paint shop, erected a barricade of flaming paint drums and stoned firemen who tried to fight the blaze.

Britain's new prime minister, Edward Heath kept in touch with Northern Ireland developments by radio telephone on his yacht, Morning Cloud. Heath was racing at the Isle of Wight in England but told newsmen he was receiving reports from Belfast.

GAS FIRED
The battles flared as police and troops were still adding up the toll of Friday night's clashes in three cities: 104 soldiers and at least 50 civilians and 10 policemen hurt, more than 500 tear gas shells fired, more than 140 gasoline bombs thrown and 24 arrests.

VISITORS SHOCKED, DESPITE MASSIVE RESTORATION EFFORTS

Lubbock Still Has Appearance Of Disaster Area

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — It's been six weeks now, but the stark, scattered reminders of terror and trauma of the Lubbock tornado linger on.

"How many people were killed?" asked an Amarillo man, one of a large contingent of writers here for Saturday night's Coaches All-America football game.

"Twenty-six," he was told. "It's incredible," he said. He said it appeared from the wreckage that the death toll should have been in the hundreds, perhaps even the thousands.

IT'S GROTESQUE
"The starkest thing," said another, "is the trees along the highway from the airport. All their limbs are chopped off. It looks like a bunch of amputees. It's a grotesque thing."

Mountains of debris have been removed. Mountains of debris remain.

Mayor James Granberry, who set the damage at $200 million, reported Saturday that public and private debris clearance is 40 per cent completed.

"We anticipate it will be another couple of months before we get everything cleared up," the mayor said.

He estimated 5,000 were injured, the vast majority not seriously hurt.

FUTURE UNCERTAIN
The city's tallest skyscraper, the 20-story Great Plains Life Building, still stands, a stricken, perhaps doomed, structure.

The wind still whips through the building's shattered windows and a gaping hole in the brick exterior of one wall remains un-repaired. The building's future is uncertain.

"The city considers it structurally sound," Granberry said. "We have no plans to condemn it. The decision is completely up to the owner."

Clint Brannon, an assistant engineer at the building, said, "We don't know what's going to happen to it. We're still talking with the insurance company and they won't tell us anything."

"We're just keeping the building open, and that's just about it. We still have a couple of tenants."

Elsewhere, bulldozers prod through the debris, contractors erect replacement buildings, work crews hammer away at restoring thousands of damaged homes.

Granberry said 1,355 applications have been received for debris removal from private property. To date, he said, 192,819 cubic yards of debris have been removed.

The Small Business Administration processed its 1,000th loan last week, bringing total funding to $7.5 million.

"On the bright side," the mayor said, "building is really booming, and only about 35 per cent of it is tornado-related. This reflects confidence in the future of the city."

"It's been amazing the cooperation we've received here in Lubbock. The people have banded together, black, brown and white, working side-by-side."

Restoration, except for isolated exceptions, has progressed smoothly, the mayor said.

The spirit of recovery is evident. One service station, its building destroyed, is operating out of a tent. A motel, most of its units damaged, offers its four or five rentable rooms to customers.

The William Gobles, whose home in the fashionable country club area was damaged severely decided after some soul-searching to rebuild.

"We thought seriously about not putting this back up," said Mrs. Goble, gesturing at the boarded-up residence. "But we had lived here nine years . . ."

BULLSEYE FOR NEW FACILITY — Reinforcing steel forms a bullseye for the new Intech facility which is beginning to take shape at the west edge of Big Spring. Last week five local sub-contractors were let for plumbing, mechanical, site preparation, concrete and electrical work. The 64,000-sq. ft. factory for making plastic containers will be completed in late summer.

Pilot Is Guilty Of Rape Charge

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A young army helicopter pilot was found guilty Friday of the Dec. 17 rape-stabbing of a school teacher who has since married. The jury of seven men and five women returned the guilty verdict after eight hours of deliberation for Army Warrant Officer Barry Gray, 20, who attacked the 23-year-old woman in her apartment. In final testimony Thursday the state presented rebuttal testimony in an attempt to discredit the findings of a former Army psychiatrist, who said Gray was insane at the time of the attack.

UT Regents Due To Study Plan To Limit Enrollments

AUSTIN (AP) — A plan for limiting enrollments at schools in the University of Texas System will be presented to regents July 10, an official said Saturday. Dr. Charles LeMaistre, deputy chancellor, said the proposal would provide guidelines and would not decree specific maximums for each school. The plan would not result in limits for the coming school year, he added. Enrollment control within the burgeoning university system has been a hot issue since the State College Coordinating Board issued a master plan two years ago calling for a limit of 35,000 students at the Austin campus. The school expects 40,000 students this fall. Frank Erwin, regents chairman, strongly opposes the limitation proposed by the board. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin ruled Tuesday that the board cannot enforce the ceiling. Manuel DeBusk of Dallas, coordinating board chairman, said he intends to ask the legislature next year to empower the board to set and enforce enrollment ceilings. LeMaistre said the University of Texas plan, if approved by the regents, would require each school or college within each campus of the system to calculate how many students it can "teach at quality level." Classroom space and available faculty would be the key criteria. The resulting figures would be submitted to the board. Once certified by the board, these would become the enrollment limits. LeMaistre said it is unrealistic to set arbitrary ceilings on a campus-by-campus basis because this does not take into account conditions within the divisions of a university. With a limit of 35,000, the university's College of Arts and Sciences might, for example, be desperately overcrowded while Engineering College facilities might be underused, LeMaistre said.

No One Tried To Rescue Him

UXBRIDGE, England (AP) — When Paul Loveridge, age 7, fell into a canal and drowned "there were enough people there to start a football match," an inquest was told Friday. But no one tried to rescue him in time. "Everyone asked someone else to go for help," Dr. John Burton, the coroner, told the inquest. "There is no legal obligation on anyone to do anything," he explained. "So far as the law is concerned, unless you are responsible for the child, you can stand there and watch it drown." Paul was fishing in the Grand Union Canal last Saturday, near his suburban London home, when he slipped and fell in the water. Nan French was sitting on the canal bank at the time. "A man and a woman came along in a speedboat," she testified. "I asked the man to help. He went right past. "The man had the cheek to turn to me and say 'Go get help.' I was disgusted. He could have saved the boy's life." The coroner asked if Mrs. French went for help? "I was sitting with my small child," she replied.

Collegiate Quartet Due To Sing Here Wednesday

Four young men who call themselves the Collegiate Quartet are scheduled to sing Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster. All students at Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., they make over 250 appearances annually in churches, at civic clubs, summer youth camps, church conferences and college campuses. Rodney Jones, Groves, is the only Texan. He sings tenor and is a junior psychology and business major at Bethany. Jones plans a career in church administration. Dave Whitman, first tenor, is a junior music major from Monroe, La. His career plans include church music and music education. Dave Pickard, baritone, majors in psychology and is from Bethany, Okla. Pickard plans to enter the ministry. Larry Howland, bass, majors in religion and is a sophomore from Hominy, Okla. Larry also will enter the ministry. Located northwest of Oklahoma City, Bethany Nazarene has an enrollment of 1,800.

Moffat Gains Top Standing In Soaring

MARFA, Tex. (AP) — America's George Moffat, flying the largest of the open class gliders in the world soaring championships, moved into first place in the class standings Saturday after earning 1,000 points for an average speed of 63.7 miles per hour in Friday's task. Both classes were assigned the same task Friday, speed to goal and return, with the open class flying to Ardoin, Tex., a gas pumping station community 110 miles east of El Paso, a distance of 243 miles roundtrip. The standard class flew to Pecos, a roundtrip distance of 163 miles. Moffat, who for the third consecutive day was the highest scorer in his class, has been ill since the contest began Monday. But he has moved steadily forward from his first day position of 21st place to reach the top of the standings with an overall score of 4,456. High scorers after Friday in the open class included Hans-Werner Grose of West Germany with 4,424 points for second place; George Burton, England, 4,308; Michel Mercier, France, 4,236; Edward Makula, Poland, 4,206; and John Delafield, England, 4,205. Wallace Scott, another member of the U.S. team, moved from 23rd to 19th Friday by accumulating a total of 3,479 points. In the standard class, Helmut Reichmann, West Germany, continued his lead in the standings, earning 1,000 points with an average speed of 70.8 miles per hour, for an over-all score of 4,792. Reichmann led Friday for the third consecutive day in daily scoring, a very unusual feat. Jan Wroblewski, Poland, is No. 2 in standard class with 4,557; Allan Cameron, New Zealand, 4,505; Franciszek Kepka, Poland, 4,392; Wolfram Mix, Canada, 4,321; and Tor Johannesen, Norway, 4,294. For the U.S., A. J. Smith, defending standard class world champion, moved into 18th place from 19th, gaining 982 points Friday with an average speed of 69.5 m.p.h. to gain a total score 4,067. Rudolph Alleman is now in 27th place with a score of 3,698. Alleman has slowly moved upward, moving from 31st place the day before. Saturday's task was a repeat performance of the competition. The fliers pick their own triangular route and points are scored on distance, not speed.

Scott Picked As B-1 Test Pilot

Russell Scott, experimental test pilot who earned his wings at Webb AFB and later was picked as one of the early trainees in the astronaut program, has been selected by North American Rockwell to be the B-1 project pilot.

RUSSELL SCOTT

Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seaman Jr. recently announced the selection of North American Rockwell and the General Electric Company as airframe and propulsion contractors respectively for the engineering development of the B-1 supersonic bomber.

After completing his pilot training at Webb AFB, Scott flew over 25 types and models of aircraft including most of the century series fighters and the B-47 strategic bomber.

Scott is a graduate of both the USAF Experimental Test Pilot School and USAF Space School. During his years as an Air Force test pilot, Scott performed test programs in the T-38, F-100, F-101, F-104, F-106, RF-4C and the mach three SR-71. Too tall to compete for the U.S. space program, Scott resigned his Air Force commission after more than 12 years of service and joined Ling-Temco Vought as an experimental test pilot. During approximately two years at LTV he did flight test work in the F-8 and A-7 series of fighters. Scott joined North American Rockwell as an engineering test pilot in 1969. His projects at NR have included flight tests of a new model Sabreliner and engineering development of the B-1.

Scott is a graduate of Texas A&M and has degrees in Civil, Aeronautical and Astronautical engineering. He is married to the former Janice Nalley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Nalley of Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. Scott reside in Palos Verdes Peninsula, Calif., with their two daughters, Renae and Sandy.

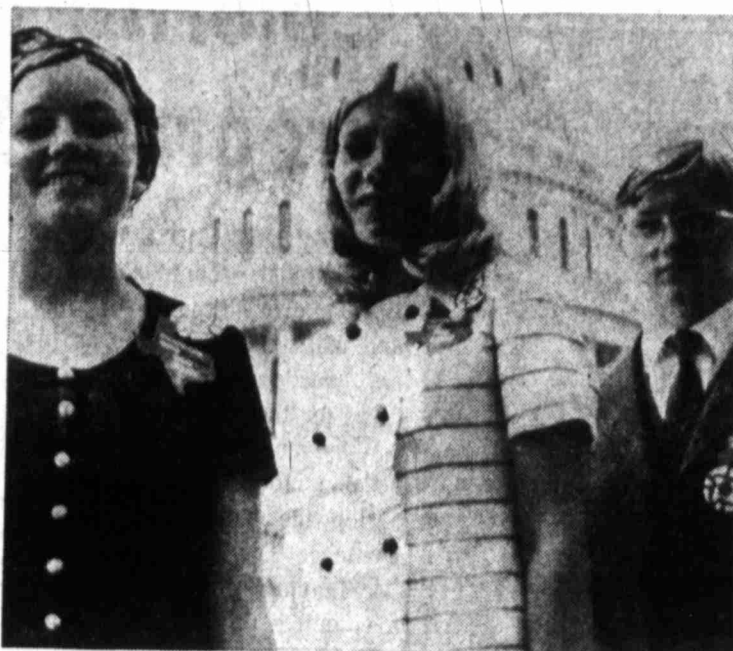

Pope Spurs Petitioners

ROME (AP) — More than 1,000 conservative Roman Catholics from Europe and America gathered in Rome today to ask Pope Paul VI to revoke the church's ecumenical reforms. The pontiff refused to see them.

The conservatives, including dozens of priests, said they regard all changes in the church, especially usage of modern language in the Mass, as subversion.

They came to Rome for a two-day pilgrimage and had planned to present Pope Paul with a 100,000-name petition asking him to revoke the reforms.

After being denied an audience, the conservatives decided to snub a papal ceremony in St. Peter's Square Monday and meet instead in prayer at a church a mile from the Vatican. "Pope Paul has received soccer players and movie actresses but he has no time for us, the real orthodox Catholics," said Mrs. Elisabeth Gerstner, director of the European Center of the Traditionalist Catholics Movement in Germany and a leader of the pilgrimage. Another pilgrim, the Rev.

FIRST HAND OBSERVERS — These area young people are back from the nation's capital where they observed first hand the workings of their government, plus visiting many sites like the White House, Mount Vernon, Washington and Jefferson Memorials, and met their congressmen and senators. They are, from left, Faye Anette Erwin, Ira; Peggy LaJuana Solomon, Colorado City; and Obie Harris Crawford, Ira. Lone Wolf Cooperative sponsored their trip.

Mrs. Elisabeth Gerstner, director of the European Center of the Traditionalist Catholics Movement in Germany and a leader of the pilgrimage. Another pilgrim, the Rev. Louis Coache of Montjavoult, France, said he and 20 others would stage round-the-clock sit-down protests in St. Peter's Square until the Pope agreed to see them.

No Settlement Near In Chicago Truck Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Settlement of a 10-week Chicago truck drivers dispute seemed as remote as ever today after the drivers rejected a tentative proposal calling for a $1.65 an-hour wage boost over 45 months.

The drivers, seeking a $1.65 increase over 36 months, turned down the offer by a 3-1 margin in voting results announced Friday, prolonging a combination strike-lockout.

Industry spokesmen had termed the offer "final". A Teamsters spokesman said the drivers, some of whom also are members of the independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union, are firm in their original demands.

The rejection by a vote of 23,813 to 6,478—came after repeated urging from union leaders not to agree to the offer submitted by the city's five major cartage associations.

One carrier association and other smaller firms signed for the $1.65 an hour boost over 36 the layoff of 145,000 persons in businesses affected by the truck traffic slowdown. A spokesman for the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry estimated that the city's economy has lost $1.5 billion in receipts and is losing $30 million daily.

"The drivers are hurting too," a Teamsters spokesman said, "but we're determined to stick with our demands."

Cotton Growers Alarmed At Boll Weevil Survival

Overwintered boll weevils were found this year in Andrews County, posing what entomologists term a "very critical danger" to the entire High Plains and Eastern New Mexico cotton country.

The technical advisory committee of the High Plains Diapause control program, composed of the nation's leading authorities on boll weevil control, declared that "unless steps are taken now to prevent weevils from becoming established in the Andrews area, there may be no practical way to prevent them from spreading north, east and west over almost three million acres of cotton."

Four weevils were caught about June 5 on Pheromone (sex lure) traps near the city of Andrews, confirming the entomologists' fear that weevils survived the 1969-70 winter in that area. And the weevil control specialists point out that favorable overwintering quarters for weevils extend on into Gaines, Cochran, Bailey and Parmer County, and into eastern New Mexico.

Emergency spraying and intensified trapping operations to prevent weevils from getting a firm toehold in Andrews are already underway according to Ed Dean, field service director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. PCG is the originator and coordinator of the diapause control program which has successfully prevented a weevil invasion of the High Plains from the east since 1964.

Dean said the number of traps in the Andrews area is being increased from 200 to over 300 to give a better indication of the number of weevils emerging from overwintering sites and to catch as many as possible before they begin reproduction. Fortunately, there are only about 680 allotted acres in the area involved. About 135 acres were planted in late April and early May and have been sprayed once.

respectful of private property rights. There was never a moment's difficulty.

The Veterans Administration hospital here will get a new intensive care unit costing $130,000, it was announced last week, but the project is not upcoming until April of next year. The VA, incidentally, activates a 25 bed nursing unit this week.

Drilling started Friday on the first well of a $800,000 project authorized last week by the Colorado River Municipal Water District. A well field capable of delivering 2½ million of salt water daily to the SACROC unit is involved, along with nearly five miles of 24-in. supply lines. The district has been delivering salty low-flow water from the Colorado River for oil field repressuring, but this will mark the first development of a well project for this purpose by the district.

Firemen got half a loaf in their appeal to the city commission for reduction of the weekly work-hour schedule. The commission tabled this pending a study of the budget for the new fiscal year starting Oct. 1, but it did accept an increase in the municipal share of contribution to the firemen's pension fund.

City and highway department officials have agreed that perhaps the easiest and most practical solution to the non-man's-land traffic situation on US 87 just south of Marcy and between the Highland and Coronado shopping centers, is a system of raised medians. At least, this may eliminate the cut-across hazards which are now so confusing and dangerous.

Ross Perot, the wealthy founder of United We Stand, Inc., the unit pushing for more humane treatment and ultimate freeing of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam, will not be able to attend the state

Air Force Association convention here July 17-18 after all. Instead, his sister, Bette Perot, head of the Perot Foundation, and Murphy Martin, president of United We Stand, will come here.

Howard County commissioners Court is engaged in obtaining right of way for the widening of SH 176 (Andrews highway). The immediate target is to get that on the west end of the road in order that this section can be put up for bids by the State Highway Department. This part is funded and approved and awaits the additional roadway. The remaining portion likely will be let for construction next year.

More steps were taken during the week toward the formation of a museum organization. The previous week the county pledged the present library building (the Dora Roberts home) for museum quarters. There is considerable interest, but ultimately the big problem — as with most things — will be money.

Sub-contracts have been let for the Intech plastics container factory here, and work is accelerating at the site north of US 80 and east of IS 20. By early autumn the company may be ready to move in machinery and start turning out millions of egg containers and meat trays.

We are losing another "old timer" at Webb AFB with the impending assignment of Col. Donald A. Jones, DSM, to Thailand. Col. Jones has been a regular part of the community in his 2½ years service here.

The Chamber of Commerce has entered Big Spring in the All-American Cities Contest. The "Pride People" project is at the core of the application, and you can't win if you don't enter and don't try.

CITY'S OVERNIGHT HAVEN FOR CAMPERS
Park area generally filled to capacity in summer

After Six Years, Camp Site Gains Popularity

By HOWARD SIMS
About the nicest letters ever received by a city official are those addressed to Johnny Johansen, the city park superintendent, praising the city for providing overnight camping facilities at Comanche Trail Park. After six years, the fan mail is increasing.

The camper park was begun six years ago when campers began asking Johansen for permission to use the city park for camping. He suggested to the city manager that something could be done for them.

Outdoor camping appears to be becoming one of the great national sports as more and more people buy camping trailers, tents, and camper tops for pickup trucks.

ONE OF FIRST
With more people taking to the highways each year, state and national campsites have begun to overflow, and cities are just beginning to help people find a place to stop.

Big Spring was one of the first cities to provide camping facilities for travel-worn campers.

When Johansen began talking about such a project in 1964, City Manager Larry Crow and Assistant Roy Anderson worked out plans for 10 hard-surfaced parking spots with picnic tables and barbecue grills.

IMPROVEMENTS
The commission approved the expenditure of about $6,500 over the next few years to make the idea a reality. A restroom-shower facility was built at the center of an oval, fenced-in area the first year.

The roadway through the area was paved a year later, and electrical outlets near the parking spots were added the year after that.

The first year or so, as people began to find the park mostly by accident, they usually wrote letters and postcards telling the City and Chamber of Commerce how grateful they were to find a place so clean and that even had hot water showers. The Chamber declines to take any credit for the project, and the mail is forwarded to the city manager's office.

WARM LETTERS
Letters from satisfied visitors are the only means so far of keeping a tally of the campers. Residents of 38 states and many Texas cities have written appreciative notes over the years.

A few people compare Big Spring's park to others where they stayed during their travels, citing the many instances when they were unable to find a campsite.

A Louisiana Air Force major wrote: "I have just returned from a vacation into Arizona and utilized the campgrounds connected to your park on two separate occasions. Without a doubt, the facilities are the best maintained and most adequate that my family utilized in traveling through four states."

"We have done a lot of traveling in the U.S.A. and have never been to a nicer, quieter, and more picturesque spot and it was free," marveled another visitor.

BOUGHT SUPPLIES HERE
People are always surprised that they don't have to pay anything, and sometimes feel guilty. A man from Sedalia, Mo. wrote: "In appreciation for the use of those facilities we hope that we partially paid our way by shopping in your local stores for groceries and other items we would need for our camping trip."

Occasionally the park stirs a Big Spring resident to write. A returned camping buff commented on consideration for campers, saying "I am glad to pay city taxes and provide a place for them. I only wish other cities would do as much for me. Maybe we have a better town than I was thinking. It's a real pleasure to pay taxes for something that people can use."

The number of campers in the park averages about 15 nightly during the summer vacation months. Some nights there are just a few families, but others there are about 25, over twice as many as the park was designed to accommodate.

MAKE ROOM
"I've seen them move over when someone else comes along," Johnny remarks. "Sometimes I go out there and I think the area is full, but then another camper drives in and everybody moves their campers until he can squeeze in."

A typical night this week found 22 camper units in the park, varying from a 17-foot camping trailer to a pair of motorbike riders with a pup tent.

There are no pool or playground facilities in the camping area, but the kids can walk a short distance to the wading pool and playground in the regular park area.

The area is well lighted and vandalism is almost nil, mostly because campers are around all night and would see something happening.

APPRECIATIVE
Police come by each night to check up on the people in the park, visiting with them and helping them find places to see in the city. Several letter-writers have commented on the helpful friendliness of the policemen.

More people are gradually hearing about the park, and it is now listed in most of the major camping guidebooks. People often write to the city parks department asking for reservations. Johansen has to tell them that there are no reserved places; everything is on a first-come first-serve basis.

The park is even busy in the fall and winter months. Sometimes in the middle of December six or eight vacationers a night will be passing through in their campers.

So popular is the camping area, that it soon may need to be expanded, or else more campers will have to be turned away.

Playboy Chief Plans On Casino

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Hugh Hefner, publisher of Playboy magazine, says he plans to build a resort with a casino somewhere in Nevada by 1973.

"Frankly," he said Friday, "the only thing that kept us out of Nevada in the past was the undesirable element."

Colorful Independence Day Program Set For Saturday

By HOWARD SIMS
Bells make a comeback in Big Spring every Fourth of July, and will again this year as the Let Freedom Ring program returns for the fifth time.

When former President Lyndon Johnson called for a nationwide bell ring for Independence Day in 1965, Mamie Lee Dodds worked the idea into a complete pageant for the following year. With the addition of revolutionary costumes, fife and drum music, and a reading of the Declaration of Independence, she created a setting for the bells.

This year's ringing will be followed by a fireworks display. The Cultural Affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce took over the planning of the event for this year, a job that in the past has been handled by Mrs. Dodds and the American Business Club.

FLAG MAKING SCENE
Mrs. R. E. Daniel, project coordinator, is getting help from several sources, and they hope to make Independence Day more memorable than ever.

Sgt. Bob Butler and the Webb NCO Association are putting together a flag-making scene, with Betsy Ross and her 13-star flag inside an authentically furnished room.

Mayor Arnold Marshall has urged spectators to wear something red, white and blue.

Original music, with lyrics written by Mrs. Dodds, will be recorded by the College Heights Baptist Collegian choral group under the direction of David Norvell. The music will be aired over KBYG and KBST to help people get into the spirit during this week.

The program itself will begin on the east side of the courthouse at 8 p.m. Saturday. A 10-minute singing program will be provided by the Collegians, and afterwards they will lead the audience in singing the Star Spangled Banner.

A marching band with fifes and drums will arrive in keeping with the Spirit of '76.

Minutemen, Continentals, buckskinned pioneers, and women dressed in early American garb will be among those coming along to wait for news of independence.

Sheriff A. N. Standard will be in buckskins when he rides up with news dispatches to be read by the town crier. The news is the signal for the bell ringing to begin. The victory bell loaned by the Big Spring Key Club is struck first.

Churches and other buildings in the area with bells or chimes will follow suit, with four minutes of citywide bell ringing as the program closes around 8:30.

At dusk on the Fourth the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a 30-minute fireworks display put on by the Special Services Unit from Webb AFB under Capt. Joe Maratta.

The fireworks display will start about 9 p.m., and Maratta will try to pack as many spectacular displays as possible into the shorter time period allowed, so that the skies will be "continuously filled with flares." The show will be visible from nearly any point in the city, but Big Spring State Park will stay open later that evening for those who want to watch from Scenic Mountain as the flares go up over the National Guard Armory.

The display will close with a fiery version of the United States flag.

Lyman Heads Stanford U.

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Richard W. Lyman, second in charge on the Stanford University campus since 1967, will serve as acting president pending selection of a permanent successor to Kenneth Pitzer, who resigned.

Lyman, provost at the 11,000-student campus, was appointed acting president Friday night by the trustees.

Parmar Fuller III, president of the board, said Lyman will become acting president on a full time basis Sept. 1. Pitzer's departure is effective Aug. 31.

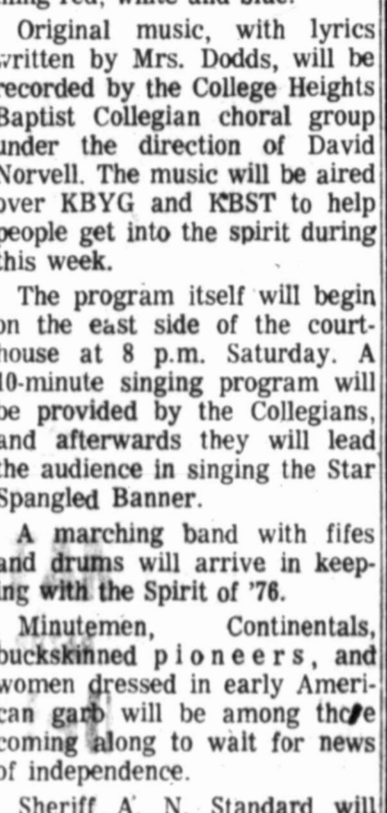

Pitzer, 56, who came here in 1968 from Rice University, resigned Thursday, giving as the reason campus turmoil over the Vietnam war and military training on campus.

Lyman, 46, has served as the university's principal officer for academic budgets. He has often been acting president during Pitzer's absence.

In the past year, a Stanford spokesman said, Lyman has been offered the president's job at two Ivy League schools.

Easterner Is Top Cowhand

DENVER, Colo. — A professional rodeo cowboy from the east coast has ridden into the lead for the 1970 world bull riding championship, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Sandy Kirby, a slightly-built 21-year-old from Woodstown, N.J., moved into first place after placing second and winning $647 in bull riding at the North Platte, Neb., rodeo.

Kirby now has $8,458 in bull riding winnings, edging Lee Markholt of Tacoma, Wash., by only $85.

Pro rodeo's all around champion the past four years, Larry Mahan of Brooks, Ore., garnered $500 in saddle bronc riding, increasing his all around earning to $18,978, well ahead of $16,632 for Bob Berger, Halstead, Kan.

One of the great comeback stories has been that of Shawn Davis, three-time world saddle bronc riding titlist from Whitehall, Mont. Davis broke his back in May, 1969, and didn't ride again until 10 days ago.

Since then, he has won his specialty at Plainview, Tex., was second at Gladewater, Tex., and tied for second at both Big Spring, Tex., and North Platte.

Other event leaders include: Saddle bronc — Dennis Reiners, Clara City, Minn., $11,425, and Mel Hyland, Surrey, B.C., $10,454; bareback bronc — Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, Tex., $14,494, and Ace Berry, Modesto, Calif., $11,062; calf roping — Stan Harter, Phoenix, Ariz., $9,923, and Junior Garrison, Marlow, Okla., $9,785; steer wrestling — Nathan Haley, Hanna, Okla., $9,298, and Allen Keller, Olathe, Colo., $7,703.

UNDER NEW LAW

Teachers Will Be Paid More, But Work Longer

Teachers will be paid more, but they will be working longer in the 1970-71 school year.

The changes in the school year and the basis for figuring teacher pay result from amendments to the minimum foundation program law passed in 1969 by the Legislature.

In the new school year, students will go to school and teachers will teach — an extra five days (180 days instead of 175). In addition teachers will be on duty for 10 more days of non-teaching work during the year, and will be paid on a 10-month basis, instead of nine.

Big Spring Independent School District teachers are paid on a 12-month period, however, the total salaries are based on a 10-month work period.

Under the minimum program a beginning bachelor's degree teacher in 1969-70 was paid $593 per month for nine months, or $5,337 for the year. In Big Spring the school district added a $650 increment to the salary, making it approximately $665 per month on a nine-month basis. However, the actual monthly pay check for local teachers is not quite that high because the annual total is divided into 12 equal checks.

In 1970-71, a beginning bachelor's degree teacher will receive $800 per month for 10 months, or $8,000 for the year under the minimum state salary. Big Spring school trustees approved the continuation of the $850 increment, which gives a teacher the benefit of the full state raise without losing the local increment.

Texas was ranked 38th among states in average teacher pay in 1969-70, according to the Texas Education Agency. The 1970 raises and a long-range improvement plan are expected to move Texas up to a more favorable position among states.

The new law puts into effect in 1971-72 a continuing compensation plan which will give Texas teachers an additional five per cent raise each year and cost-of-living raises in 1974 and 1978. It will allow all Texas teachers to reach the top of the pay schedule — $11,040 for bachelor's degree and $12,040 for master's degree teachers — within 10 years of service.

Crash Kills Nine People

MIDDLEBOURNE, W. Va. (AP) — A two-car traffic accident on W.Va. 18 just south of this Tyler County community late Friday killed nine. One person survived.

State Police said a car driven by Robert Fiber, 17, of Middlebourne turned broadside and collided with a station wagon driven by Elwood Keenan, 31, of Colliers in Brooke County.

Timothy Keenan, 4, was reported improving today at Sistersville Hospital with a broken leg, a head injury, and other injuries.

Police identified the passengers of the Fiber vehicle as Hubert Haight and Kenneth E. Leek, both 17 years old and of Middlebourne.

The victims in the Keenan vehicle were identified as:

Robert Burbridge, 15, Saleme; and Helene G. Keenan, 30; Becky Joe Keenan, 12; Billy D. Keenan, 11; and Roger A. Keenan, 10, all of Colliers.

Parties Accept Fair Campaign Practice Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Code of Fair Campaign Practices was signed Friday by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in behalf of Republicans and by House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts for Democrats.

The code, drawn up by a 20-year-old citizens' committee, condemns appeals to racial or religious prejudice, use of unfounded allegations, and "scurrilous attacks on any candidate or his personal or family life."

Donald B. Straus, president of the American Arbitration Association, announced an agreement with the citizens' committee to establish a procedure for prompt arbitration of charges of improper campaigning.

Unique Short Course For Youngsters Ends Tuesday

A special month-long Educational Opportunity program for elementary children will be completed here Tuesday.

The program, funded under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, had its creative and corrective aspects. No cost was incurred locally except for use of the buildings, said Keith Swim, director of federal grants.

The program began June 2 and was conducted at Bauer, Lakeview, Cedar Crest and Moss elementaries. Teachers' aids, which were restricted to recent high-school graduates planning to teach, or college students with the same career plan, were employed to assist in the program. "By restricting the aids in this way, we hoped to give experience and financial help to teachers," said Swim. Lakeview and Cedar Crest each had one class in arts and crafts, corrective arithmetic and corrective reading. Because its enrollment was twice the size of the other elementaries, Bauer had two classes for each subject. Two teachers conducted special education classes at Moss elementary.

Libraries at Bauer, Lakeview, and Cedar Crest were open all day during the week for use by the youngsters, said Swim. Books could be checked out, films and film-strips were shown and the students presented plays in the library.

Youngsters participating in the plays assigned parts, selected the play to be performed, or in some cases, wrote the plays themselves, according to Swim.

Westbrook Has Homecoming

WESTBROOK (SC) — The community homecoming drew approximately 500 people here a week ago, including Mac Walker, who came all the way from Missoula, Mont.

The celebration which centered at the school, had a one-room school setting, replete with pot-bellied stove, Mrs. W. E. Smith Jr. played the part of a school marm, and Trey Smith and Larry Dawson were as pupils carrying syrup lunch pails.

History of the community was traced from the organization of Mitchell County Aug. 21, 1876, and covered such eras as the age of the sheepman, cattlemen, the drought of 1885-88, first crops and gin around 1900, World War I, the Depression, World War II and the Korean campaign.

Supt. L. M. Dawson served as master of ceremonies, and he introduced Mrs. Rex McKenney as general chairman. George Dawson was recognized as the trustee with the longest tenure, and Terry Brown, Rising Star, Mrs. Leroy Gressett, Westbrook, Mrs. Irene (Bledsoe) Kennedy, Stephenville, and Mrs. Witt Hines, as teachers with the most years at Westbrook. John Bullock, Abilene, was presented an award as being the oldest former student present. A homecoming will be held every five years.

Burns Fatal

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Kenny Spain, 6, one of three boys burned in an explosion and fire Tuesday at Hartsville, Ala., died at 12:05 a.m. today in Brooke Army Medical Center. Attendees said the other two patients — Sammy Spain, 9, and Billy McDonald — remained in critical condition.

Mrs. Gandhi Enrolls New Leaders In Indian Cabinet

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, with an eye toward elections scheduled in 1972, moved to strengthen her hand today with a major Cabinet shakeup that involved all the senior portfolios.

The key moves included the transfer of Home Minister Y.B. Chavan to finance, leaving Mrs. Gandhi herself with the critical home ministry portfolio; the promotion of Congress party President Jagivan Ram from food minister to defense minister, and the shift of Swaran Singh from defense to foreign affairs minister.

The way for the Cabinet changes was cleared when Foreign Minister Dinesh Singh accepted a demotion to industrial development minister Friday.

It was the first Cabinet shakeup since February, 1969.

There were only three resignations in the shakeup, and all were junior ministers. But they included the internationally known demographer who headed India's family planning program for three years, Dr. Sriprati Chandrasekhar. He lost his seat in the upper house of Parliament in April.

One hurdle in Mrs. Gandhi's plans for the Cabinet reshuffle had been Home Minister Chavan, who did not want to leave his important post. After several long meetings, Mrs. Gandhi convinced Chavan, a trusted advisor and a committed Socialist, to take over the finance portfolio. She had held the portfolio since last July, when she sacked Desai.

Paid Lobbyist For Contact

NEW YORK (AP) — A former executive of Parvin-Dohrmann Co. has testified he paid lawyer-lobbyist Nathan Voloshen $50,000 for arranging a meeting with the head of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Delbert W. Coleman made the disclosure Friday in Federal Court testimony at the conspiracy-perjury trial of Martin Sweig, a suspended top aide to House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Coleman said Sweig and Voloshen accompanied him at a meeting with Securities and Exchange Commission officials in May, 1969.

Voloshen and Sweig were indicted on charges of using the influence of the speakers' office to sway governmental agencies, and perjury in connection with testimony before a federal grand jury.

Voloshen pleaded guilty to conspiracy and perjury as the trial was to begin last week.

Judge Orders New Probe In Black Panther Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — A new investigation into the police raid in which two leaders of the Black Panther party were shot to death has been ordered by a Circuit Court judge.

Judge Joseph A. Power appointed Chicago attorney Barnabas F. Sears as a special prosecutor Friday and ordered him to prepare papers needed to empanel a special grand jury.

Sears, a former president of the Illinois State Bar Association, said he would seek access to the transcript of a federal grand jury investigation into the raid Dec. 4 by a special detachment of Chicago police assigned to the Cook County (Chicago) state's attorney office.

Chief Judge Edwin A. Robson of U.S. District Court has ruled that the transcript must remain secret. However, Judge Robson allowed Judge Power to go to the federal courthouse and read the document before deciding whether to order a special prosecutor and grand jury.

The federal jury, directed by Jerris Leonard, head of the civil rights division of the Justice Department, concluded its investigation by issuing a report and returning no indictments.

The federal report was sharply critical of several branches of the police department, the state's attorneys office and the Cook County coroner's office for sloppy procedures in planning, executing and investigating the raid. It also criticized seven Panther survivors of the incident for refusing to testify.

Bobby Rush, head of the Illinois branch of the Panthers, later said the party would cooperate with a new grand jury if it was fair and impartial.

Killed in the raid on a second-story flat on the West Side a block from Panther headquarters, were Fred Hampton, 21, deputy chairman in charge of the party's Illinois branch, and Mark Clark, 22, of Peoria.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a girl friend and everybody knows it because he moved out of the house and has gone to live with her. My problem is that my husband has the nerve to bring his girl friend to all the Little League baseball games to watch our son play. I quit going to the games because I don't enjoy them when he is there laughing it up with her. Furthermore, it upsets our son when he sees his father there with the woman who broke up our home.

I called my husband and told him that if he brings that girl to the game again I will take our son off the league. Do you think I would be wrong to do this?

THE MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Yes. You should ask your husband to please quit bringing the woman, not because it upsets YOU, but because it upsets the boy. If he insists upon bringing her, shame on HIM. But it's not fair to your son to take him off the league because his father is a boob.

DEAR ABBY: In one of your recent columns you attempted to quote the seventh verse of chapter eight in John's Gospel, and this is what you wrote: "He who is without sin, let him cast the first stone."

I think you owe the Lord Jesus an apology because you have given the public the idea that Jesus sanctioned this woman's punishment, and this He did not do, for the verse reads correctly: "He that is without sin among you, LET HIM FIRST CAST A STONE at her."

This changes the entire meaning. And since the Book of Revelation tells us in Chapter 22, verses 18 and 19, we have no right to "take away from" or "add to" His holy word. I cannot understand why I repeatedly hear people misquote

John 8:7. For your public's sake and for Christ's sake, please make the correction.

"CAUGHT YOU" DEAR CAUGHT: Indeed, you "caught me." I stand corrected.

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column from a mother who said, "Mother's Day is for the birds. Mothers break their necks to make their children happy, and when they grow up, they break their mothers' hearts with word and deed."

Your answer hit me right between the eyes. You said, "So many mothers make the same mistake. They think the most important thing in raising children is to make them 'happy.' It's not. If you raise your children to be dependable, industrious, honest, and considerate of others, they will make themselves happy."

No truer words were ever written. I knocked myself out trying to make my son happy. I gave him everything he wanted, but he is very unhappy. He's never satisfied with anything very long. He's lazy, selfish, and inconsiderate. He does some good traits, but they don't show themselves very often. He is past 17, and I hope and pray it's not too late for him to straighten himself out.

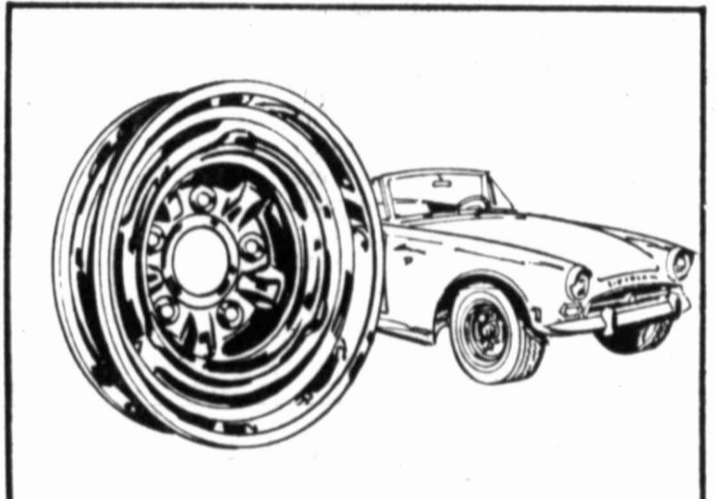

I was mostly to blame. I tried too hard to make him happy. I should have tried to make him more self-sufficient, considerate, and dependable.

Thanks for pointing this out, Abby. Maybe some younger mothers will see it and take it to heart while their children are young enough to benefit from it.

Tornado Scatters Freight Train

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — A tornado knocked 16 cars of a Southern Pacific freight train off the track Friday evening, piling some of the wrecked cars three deep.

Engineer F. K. Spair reported by radio that the twister spun across a field before hitting his train in open country 22 miles east of here about 6:10 p.m. Spair and the other three crewmen on board escaped injury.

Hot Weather Beneficial To Cotton

Hot weather is here, and if the people aren't happy at least the Howard County cotton plants are.

Weather the last month had been a bit cool for the best cotton growth, but plants will start growing faster and leafing out better now.

According to County Agent Paul Gross, between 68,000 and 70,000 acres have been planted in cotton. This is over 90 percent of the county allotment for this year.

Planting has been done in different parts of the county from early April to late June, so crops can be found in any stage of growth. On the whole, however, plants are not as far along as they were last year, probably owing to the bad weather in May.

Insect damage has been generally light, and as the cotton plants get leafier, the insects will have more trouble making headway.

Thrips are not as bad as last year at this time, said Gross. Thrips and plant lice are present in practically any field, but they just haven't had a chance to become very numerous.

Isolated instances of caterpillar and grasshopper damage have been encountered by Howard County farmers, mostly around the edges of a field. This is normal, said Gross, and there is no indication of grasshopper hordes as large as those causing trouble in Glasscock County.

Insects of both harmful and beneficial species have not had time to become established.

Moisture throughout the county has been generally adequate, although planting of alternate rows has been used to give the plants the best possible chance.

Not much sorghum has been planted this year so far, but it has been doing well.

Soviet Writer Is Expelled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has expelled a Soviet correspondent for Pravda from the United States for what it termed "nonjournalistic activity hostile to the interests of the United States."

The expulsion of Boris M. Orekhov was seen as an answer to the recent Soviet ouster of Time-Life correspondent Stanly Cloud.

Pioneer Of VA Volunteer Program Retires Thursday

By TERRI STARK
The director of the Veterans Administration Hospital's pioneering volunteer services program, Mrs. Ara Cunningham, will retire Thursday after a long and varied career in hospital service.

Leon Miller, formerly director of the Big Spring-anchored neighborhood youth corps, will replace Mrs. Cunningham as director of volunteer services at the VA, a position she has held for nearly 10 years.

Mrs. Cunningham says some of the best advice she has had in dealing with patients came from a former instructor who said, "bubble and not cuddle." She has followed it through years of ministering to the veterans of three wars and through personal loss.

She and her helpers — as many as 125 teenagers during the summer — have counseled, cajoled and cheered hundreds of disheartened men during her stay here. Looking back, Mrs. Cunningham firmly says "I have absolutely no complaints."

At the first of next year, she plans to move to a cabin on Lake Nasworthy to be near a sister and niece. She will leave long associations with the Eastern Star, American Business Women's Association, and the First Methodist Church, where she serves on the Wesleyan Service Guild. She is a member of the Texas Association of Staff Directors of Hospital Volunteer Service.

A graduate of Fort Stockton schools and Sul Ross University in Alpine, Mrs. Cunningham went to work for the Selective Service System in 1944 in Washington, D.C. After a year with the draft system, she decided she would rather assume other duties.

As War World II drew to a close, she joined the Red Cross with the intention of working overseas. The war ended before she could transfer, however, and in early 1946 Mrs. Cunningham decided to devote herself to helping the returning veterans.

MRS. ARA CUNNINGHAM — Introduces Leon Miller to his new job as director of Volunteer Services at VA Hospital. He could not find a better teacher; Mrs. Cunningham was the first director and developer of the program. She retires Thursday after 15 years at the hospital.

Her first job with the Veterans Administration took her to Waco where she served as an aid in the hospital's neuropsychiatric section for three years. The chief of special services then requested that she transfer to the VA unit in Amarillo where she could put her degree in physical education to work as chief of recreation.

In 1950, she married J. K. Cunningham in Alexandria, La. He was the victim of a train accident only a short time after the marriage and Mrs. Cunningham decided to overcome the tragedy by returning to the work she knew best.

HERE IN 1955
She became supervisor of arts and crafts at the VA center in Bonham in December, 1951, and remained there until she returned to West Texas as a recreation worker in the hospital here in 1955.

When the hospital created its volunteer services section, Mrs. Cunningham was named its director in 1960.

Miller served eight years as a Boy Scout executive in Midland, Lubbock and Big Spring, before becoming director of the 20-county NYC program headquartered here.

He attended Texas Tech and served in the Army for three years in the mid-1950's. He, his wife, Jo Ann, and their three boys, Scott, 12, Tim, 10, and David, 6, live at 2604 Lynn.

"I think that continuing the fine program started by Mrs. Cunningham is a challenging place to start," he says. "We hope to initiate new programs in light of the new problems of Vietnam veterans. I'm looking forward to a good association with a fine organization."

Nursing Inns Firm Files Bankruptcy

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America, Inc., has filed for a petition to reorganize the company under the federal bankruptcy act.

The petition was heard and granted Friday in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Oklahoma.

The firm, a major operator and builder of nursing homes and child care centers, said it filed the papers because of its inability to raise financing to meet various debts and commitments.

It was the third large concern to file for reorganization within the last week. The others were the Penn Central Railroad and Dolly Madison Industries, Inc.

Four Seasons was one of the most attractive common stocks on the American Exchange last year, but it plummeted before trading was suspended last April 29.

A company spokesman said the firm's problem was "not one of insolvency, but of liquidity." He did not elaborate.

On Tuesday, Four Seasons Equity Corp., which participates with the nursing home builder-operator in development, announced a loss of about $905,000 in the 10 months ended last April.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A spokesman for Frank Sinatra says the singer-actor is recuperating at his desert home here after surgery on his right hand. His condition was reported as excellent.

His ailment was described as a contracture — a muscular spasm that causes the hand to be drawn into a tight fist.

WINGS New Trainees Get Taste Of Flying

New class of pilot trainees from Webb AFB took their first rides Friday toward six weeks of flight training in T-41's. That was the major activity this week at Howard County Airport.

The 72 trainees familiarized themselves with the Big Spring area and will begin glides and slow flights Monday, according to Glen Armstrong, manager of Central American Airways, the T-41 contractor.

Take offs, landings and stalls get under way later this week for the Webb men. Armstrong said T-41 training for the groups ends Aug. 4.

Lt. Gary Curtis, frequently in the news in the Wings column, has two more weeks at Webb before assignment back at his home, Des Moines, Iowa. Curtis will fly F-84's for the Iowa Air National Guard.

James Fryar said a plane load of Iowans flew in this week in a Cherokee 6. No relation to Curtis, however.

Jerry Bolis and Brice Wilborn, both of Big Spring, lost their shirt tails this week, soloing for the first time as they work toward their private licenses.

Capt. Dennis Olsen started work this week on his instructor's ticket.

Two plane loads of persons attending the Texas Oil Jobbers Association workshop flew in Wednesday and departed later in the afternoon for El Paso.

Phil Burns flew cross country to Plainview this week. Craig Shaw, originally of Dayton, Ohio, is working at the airport just for the summer. Shaw's brother is stationed at Webb.

Jury Upholds Race Winner

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Little Ivory Crockett retained his national AAU 100-yard dash title Friday night—and then again Saturday without running.

After the 5-foot-6 speedster from Southern Illinois University successfully defended his title in the race, Coach Ralph Higgins of the Army, protested that his sprinter, Ben Vaughn, actually had won.

A photo jury, studying a phototimer Friday night, upheld the judges who had Crockett the winner by a fraction of an inch. Then, after finish judge Jay Jones saw the picture, he thought there should be further study.

Higgins' protest went to the AAU Games Committee, headed by Stan Wright, also the meet referee. The nine members studied the picture for more than an hour.

The race was so close that each of the first five finishers was timed in 9.3 seconds. The picture indicated Crockett's head and neck were clearly in front but that Vaughn had his chest across the line. The rule reads that the man whose torso reaches the tape first is the winner.

So the committee ruled that at least a fraction of the torso of the 145-pound Crockett had reached the line ahead of the 175-pound Vaughn, a graduate of Georgia Tech.

Although Crockett's victory provided the controversy, there were other surprises. Tom Hill of Arkansas State equaled the meet record of 13.3 seconds for the 120-yard high hurdles, defeating both Willie Davenport and Leon Coleman, who were co-champs last year in a dead heat.

Cougars Win NCAA Titles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John Mahaffey's brilliant final round of four-under-par 68 Saturday swept Houston from behind to give the Cougars the team and individual NCAA university division golf titles.

Mahaffey, a slim 22-year-old senior, overtook third round leader Lanny Wadkins of Wake Forest with a barrage of five birdies for a four-under-par total of 284 over Ohio State's 7,120-yard Scaret course.

Houston thundered through the final 18 holes and made up a two-shot deficit on Wake Forest. The Cougars bagged their 12th crown in the last 15 years with 1,172 strokes to 1,182 for the Deacons.

Brigham Young took third place with 1,189, Oklahoma State fourth with 1,190 and Los Angeles State fifth with 1,199.

Muny To Hold Partnership Next Weekend

Names are being dropped in the hopper every day for the annual Big Spring Muny Amateur Partnership Golf tournament, which will be staged next Saturday and Sunday.

Value of prizes in the 36-hole, low-ball style meet is expected to exceed $1,000.

Two divisions of competition will be conducted, one for scratch players (no handicaps) and the other for linksters who want to make use of handicaps.

Entry fee is $10 per player. Ties for first place in each division will be played off as soon as the first tee can be cleared. All ties, other than for first, will be split.

The recent Big Spring Partnership tournament at the Country Club attracted 111 teams. Pro Charley Brantley of the Muny is willing to accept as many as 120 tandems, provided they meet the entry deadline 7 p.m., Thursday.

Fees and handicaps should be mailed to Charley Brantley, care of Municipal Golf Course, P.O. Box 123, Big Spring 79720. His telephone number is 267-5071 (AC 915).

Brantley said that starting times and pairings would be posted no later than July 3.

Tim and Keith Hamilton of Loraine were among early entries, as were Jesse Blackwelder, Carlbad, N.M., and Tommy Rutledge, Big Spring; Gene Howard, Midland, and Gary Howard, San Antonio; Charles Marstrand, Big Spring, and Donald Brantley, Longview; and Don Osborn, Fort Hood, and Jerry Richbourg, Big Spring.

Grier Jones Paddles Way To Tourney Lead

CLEVELAND (AP) — Grier Jones, one of the most promising young players on the pro golf tour, slugged in with a two-under-par 68 Saturday and took the lead in the rain-delayed second round of the $150,000 Cleveland Open.

The 24-year-old Kansan had a 36-hole score of 134 and a one-stroke lead over young Vietnam veteran Steve Eichstaedt, Tom Weiskopf and Chris Blocker as the first-round leaders drifted back on the soggy, water logged Aurora Country Club Course. Eichstaedt, a 24-year-old from Miami whose career was interrupted by military service, charged in with a sparkling five-under-par-65 for 135 and a tie for second going into Sunday's 36-hole windup. Friday's play was rained out and the second round postponed until Saturday.

Weiskopf, who hasn't won since 1968 but has played very well in recent weeks, and Blocker, a six-year-old veteran who scored his only victory in the satellite Magnolia Classic earlier this year, both carded 67s.

Larry Hinson, the first-round leader with a 65, settled for a 71 and 136.

Dave Hill and Lee Trevino also took 71's for 137 and were tied at that figure with Bob Goaly, Bob Murphy, Frank Beard, Ken Ellsworth and Jim Langley.

Eichstaedt, who won about $2,000 when he first joined the tour in 1968 was drafted that year, spent 10 months in Vietnam as an Army medic, and returned to the tour only a few months ago. He had not completed a tournament, failing to qualify for one and missing the cut in two others.

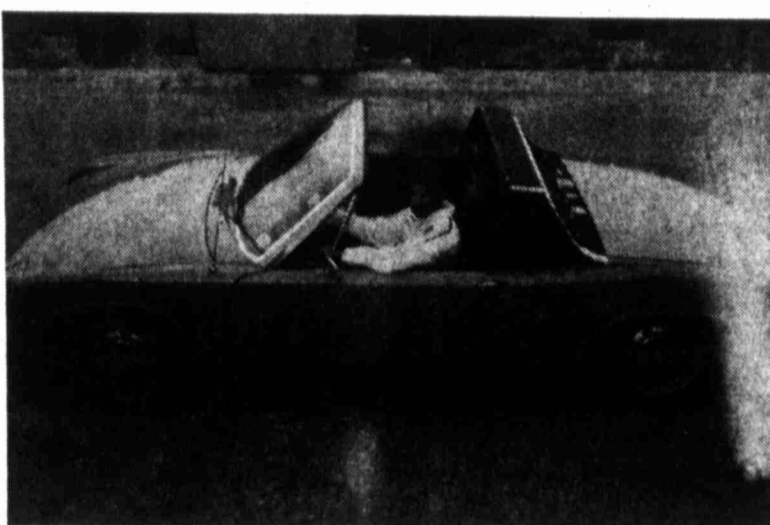

But the slim, dark youngster had it going Saturday, running a 25-foot birdie putt on the eighth and coming home in 31.

He ripped irons within three feet on the 11th and 12th holes, canned a 12-footer on the 14th and pitched to within four feet on the final hole. He didn't have a bogey.

Jones, rookie of the year last year and winner of more than $36,000 this season, is gunning for his first victory. He has been in the Top 10 three times this year, including a tie for second at the Kemper.

INJURY COMING UP — San Francisco pitcher Lee Pitlock (38) is about to be spiked by Atlanta's Felix Millan on this play at first base during the game here Saturday. Millan grounded to first baseman McCovey who tossed to Pitlock. Note Pitlock is stepping on outside of the bag which caused collision and injury. The Giant rookie had to be removed from the game and hospitalized for stitches. He had not allowed the Braves a run during the first five innings of the game.

No Target For Mays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I'm not counting. I just worry about playing ball," says Willie Mays, who has been involved in more countdowns than an astronaut.

The 39-year-old San Francisco Giant center fielder is closing in now on 3,000 hits, a total reached by only nine other players in major league baseball history.

On June 10, Mays hit his 614th big league home run, leaving him 100 short of Babe Ruth's all-time record.

"I think getting 600 home runs, even 500, is tougher than reaching 3,000 hits," Mays said.

"I know I'll get 3,000 hits. But don't ask me about Babe Ruth's 714 homers—I'm not that ambitious. It's all right to have goals when you're younger, but not now. When you have goals, you push yourself to reach them. I can't do that anymore."

But Mays, who joined the New York Giants in 1951, is enjoying a good season.

Through Tuesday's games, Willie had 17 homers and was batting .288. He needed only 13 hits to reach 3,000.

Injuries hampered Mays last season, when he played in only 117 games. He had 114 hits and only 13 homers.

Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves reached the 3,000-hit mark May 17 this season.

Ty Cobb tops the exclusive list of players with more than 3,000 hits, with 4,192. Other members of the club are Stan Musial, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Paul Waner and Cap Anson.

But as Mays says, the 600-homer club is more exclusive. He and Ruth are the only members with Aaron a likely inductee this year.

Liston, Wepner Tangle Monday

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sonny Liston, the former world heavyweight champion trying to make a comeback, and Chuck Wepner, trying to break into big-money boxing, bring the sport back to New Jersey Monday in a 10-rounder in the Jersey City Armory.

Promoter Willie Gilzenberg says the fight, New Jersey's first big match since 1963, has already made money. He predicts an intake of more than $30,000 and an attendance of over 5,000. Tickets are priced at $5, $10, and $15.

For Liston, who admits to being 38, the bout with Wepner is a turning point in his career. He said he would like to fight Jerry Quarry, and he says it was possible he could have another crack at his former heavyweight crown, but he also left the impression he might retire if Wepner beat him.

Wepner, 30, has guaranteed Liston a purse of $13,000, and doesn't make a cent unless the proceeds top $30,000. But Wepner will also split the profits with Gilzenberg, although the promoter is not bound by contract to do so.

DARRELL ROYAL NAMED ABC COACH OF DECADE

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas' Darrell Royal has been voted the outstanding coach of the 1960s in a poll taken by the ABC network it was announced Saturday.

Writers and broadcasters from all sections of the country voted. Royal finished with 599 points to 576 for runner-up Bear Bryant of Alabama. John McKay of the University of Southern California was third with 564 points, followed by Woody Hayes of Ohio State with 502.

Signals Help Skiers Communicate

Hand Signs Worked Out For Safety

A water skier being pulled by a tow boat cannot communicate vocally with the boat driver or observer with much success.

The solution to this problem is to learn the sign language of hand signals developed by the American Water Ski Association which enables a skier to "talk" with those in the tow boat. The signals are simple, but it is essential that both skier and boat driver or observer understand them before they start out.

Signals for slalom, trick skiing or jumping may get somewhat more complex, but those for ordinary skiing are not complicated, advise Evinrude skiing experts.

The six basic hand signals, demonstrated in the accompanying photos, will be adequate for most skiers. An "O" with the thumb and forefinger (top left) means "ok," everything is fine; a hand across the throat means "cut" or "I'm dropping off;" an open palm means "stop." On the right, thumbs up says "faster," thumbs down says "slower," and a finger pointed in one direction indicates "go" in that direction.

Cardinals Invade Alpine For Two

Fresh from one international triumph, the Big Spring Cardinals test their luck in another today at Alpine when they take on the Alpine Internationals.

Last week Cardinals defeated Piedras Negras in a double bill here 10-5 and 10-0. Their appearance in Alpine will be part of a doubleheader there.

The Cards will be playing without their leading hitter, Pat Martinez Jr., who was hospitalized after an injury in a basketball game last week. He has been stroking the ball close to the 400 mark.

In the lineup for today's game will be Al Mendoza in right field; Felix Martinez at shortstop; Jesse Zapata in left field; Tony Martinez at third base; Andy Gamboa at center field; Billy Pineda at first base; Jesse Olague at second; and either Joe Martinez or Abel Ramirez at catcher.

Leon Hobbs, who pitched one of the wins over Piedras Negras, will go to the mound with Tony Fierro as his backup. Jimmie Wilson, a new reserve outfielder, may see duty as will Benny Marquez Jr.

On July 5 the Cards will be at home against the strong Midland Colts for a doubleheader. They now boast an impressive 16-4 season record.

Sparks Claim League Title

The Sparks sewed up first place in National PeeWee league standings by belting the Newsies, 16-4, here Saturday morning.

The Sparks thus inflated their won-lost record to 8-1 in their final game of the year.

Mike Workman pitched hitless ball through 2-3 innings before yielding mound chores first to Ronnie Burleson and then Randy Cregar.

Cregar yielded the only hit when he yielded a single to Tommy Rodriguez, who was to have been the final batter.

Burleson had two hits for the winners. Dale Ernest, Clint Elliott and David Timmons had the other safeties for the Sparks. The game went four innings.

Pirates Sack Chicago, 2-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Consecutive ninth inning singles by Richie Hebner, Roberto Clemente and Al Oliver produced the winning run as the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the sinking Chicago Cubs 2-1 Saturday for their fifth straight victory.

Ferguson Jenkins checked the Pirates on four hits and struck out 14 through eight innings, but was unable to get anybody out in the ninth as the Cubs went down to their eighth consecutive loss.

Dock Ellis, who scattered eight Chicago hits, picked up the victory, his first since he pitched a no-hitter against San Diego on June 12.

Hebner opened the ninth with a single to left and took second on Clemente's single to center. Oliver drilled the next pitch up the middle, scoring Hebner to break a 1-1 deadlock.

JBC Replaces San Antonio

By TOMMY HART

Don Robbins, the former Big Spring mentor who is now head coach at the University of Idaho, is guardedly optimistic about his chances to field a winner this fall . . . The Vandals' success, he writes, depend a great deal on how the younger kids come along to give the team the desired depth . . . A rash of injuries could hurt the club, too . . . Idaho opens in Colorado Springs against the Air Force Academy, then meets Washington State at Spokane, University of Pacific at home, Idaho State at Pocatello, Montana at home, Oregon in Eugene, Portland State at home, Montana State at Bozeman, Weber State at home, Utah State at Logan and Tulsa at Tulsa in that order . . . Only night game the Vandals play will be against Idaho State . . . Robbins and his family had planned to visit friends and relatives in the area before Don was promoted but Robbins says he'll now have to stick around and take care of matters in Moscow . . . His wife and children likely will visit her parents, however . . . It was so cold the first day of the National Open golf tournament in Minnesota, the heat had to be turned up in the clubhouse . . . Contrast that with the suffocating heat the linksters felt in Houston while playing Champions last year . . . Friends here hoped that Jimmy Marcus, the former Big Spring, would be named to succeed Jack Tayrien as head coach at Lockney but Marcus, along with four other mentors, followed Jack to Frenship . . . Jerry Cannon, 31, a member of the coaching staff in Artesia, N.M., replaced Jack at Lockney . . . Cannon is a native of Amarillo and formerly coached at Claude and Hereford . . . Pro golfer Bob Goalby almost moved from St. Louis to Houston recently but changed his mind . . . He wanted a warm-weather base in hopes he could play a couple more years on the tour . . . West Texan Charles Coody never recovered those clubs he lost to a thief, although he offered a reward of $500 for them . . . He reclaimed a set he had given to a friend in order to compete in the National Open . . . Glenn Petty, the local track coach, predicted to an Odessa friend that Odessa's contingent to summer track meets would meet tragedy the very day one Odessan was killed and another seriously injured in an auto smashup . . . The local delegation going to the cinder shows are always supervised by Petty himself.

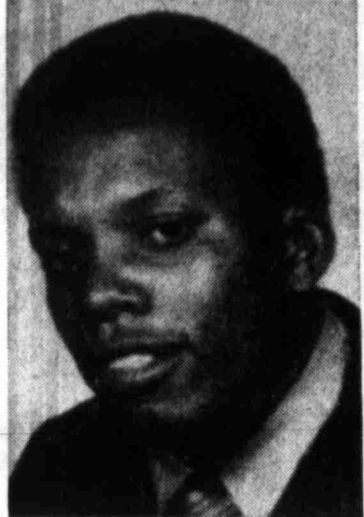

HAROLD WILDER

Harold Wilder, HCJC's new basketball coach, says he got an education recently on a recruiting trip into Arkansas and Mississippi . . . He says some of the finest talent in the world is playing in the Negro high schools there and he expects Southeastern Conference schools to start taking advantage of it, now that segregation bars are starting to go down . . . Wilder says that Pop Gains, coach of the Coahoma Junior College team in Mississippi, which ranked third in the nation last year, does no recruiting . . . Instead high school coaches come to him begging that their boys be given a chance to play . . . Jacksonville Baptist College will replace San Antonio College in the four-team junior college tournament here in January — San Antonio recently had a change in coaches and backed off . . . Bob Weddle is the Jacksonville Baptist mentor . . . Shelly York, the HCJC cager, is working this summer measuring cotton for the government around Lake Village, Ark. . . Texas-El Paso, which some observers had picked to win the NCAA track and field championship, finished no higher than seventh but ahead of perennial toughies like UCLA and Villanova . . . The son of Leon Hart, the former Notre Dame All-American, failed to pass entrance exams offered by the South Bend school . . . The Atlanta Hawks of the NBA reportedly are paying $30,000 more a year to problem player Walt Bellamy than to one of their most reliable performers, Bill Bridges . . . Bridges has put in a beef . . . When he visited here recently, the Philadelphia Eagle linebacker, Billy Hobbs, said Eagle owner Leonard Tost, staged a Christmas party for the team last year and hung $50 bills from the tree for each of the players . . . ABC-TV didn't upgrade their Monday night NFL telecasts when they announced recently that Howard Cosell would be appointed to work the games as a 'color' man . . . Cosell makes anything he discusses sound like a carnival side show . . . Doctors finally discovered a small fracture on BSNS quarterback Alan Davis' hand but said surgery wouldn't be necessary, that the member was healing by itself . . . Daryle Hohertz recently sank a deuce on No. 18 at the Big Spring Country Club, about as rare a feat as a 300 game in bowling . . . George Culver, Houston's new pitcher, says he isn't rebelling against the system but he does like to wear mod clothes and his sideburns long . . . He has a thing about raiment because he was poor when growing up and couldn't afford duds . . . There's too much jockeying over silly rules in the Little Leagues here — the boys should be allowed to enjoy baseball without wondering if they have on matching Sox.

DALE SENSING

ARCHIE MYERS

Three More Are Signed By HC

Harold Wilder, new basketball coach at Howard County Junior College, has announced the signing of three more cagers to letters-of-intent. In all, 14 boys are now committed to report for basketball drills here in September. The three are 6-9 Dale Sensing of Lawton, Okla., who played the first semester at Abilene Christian College last year; Archie Myers, Cleveland, Miss.; and Harry Miller Jr., Eudora, Ark. Sensing led his team to a third place finish in the Oklahoma State tournament his senior year in high school. He scored 335 points that year for an average of 12.0 per game and had a norm of 10 rebounds. At ACC, he averaged 10 points and 10 rebounds a game the first semester. A scholastic casualty at the Abilene school at midterm, Dale became eligible at HCJC by making up his work in the spring at ACC. He plans to play one year at HCJC, then return to ACC.

Giants Nudge Cubs, 10-5

The Giants wound up their National PeeWee league play Saturday with a 10-5 victory over the Cubs, a game which saw five pitchers keep the losers hitless. Robby Reeves was the winning pitcher. He walked five and fanned none. Jimmy Skeen, Mark Harris, Mike Madry and Russell Bledsoe also saw mound action for the Giants, who finished with a 7-2 record. Mike Douglas and Weldon Nichols divided time on the mound for the Cubs. Nichols whiffed ten in his stint on the hill. Stevie Madry, a seven-year old, had the satisfaction of scoring a run for the winners. Mike Madry had two hits, Gregg Warwitz smashed a bases-empty home run and Richard Moore drove out a single for the winners. Parents of Giant players held a wiener roast-swimming party for the players Saturday night in Comanche Trail Park. After the meal, the boys were taken to the Cosden Country Club following arrangements made by manager Charles Madry and coaches Ron Reeves and Monroe Sundy. Awards were made to the coaches by parents of players. In all, about 65 attended.

Champs Upset By Wildcats

The Wildcats handed the champion Cardinals their fourth defeat of the National Little League season by winning, 7-3, here Friday night. The Red Birds have won 14. The win was the tenth for the Felines in 19 assignments. Behind by a 3-1 tab in the fifth, the Cats rallied for six runs. Willie Neal, Bubba Stripling, Ricky Watkins and Greg Halfmann hit consecutive doubles to spark the comeback. The Wildcats outhit the Cards, 10-4, Stripling, Watkins, Halfmann and Joe Rains getting two blows each for the winners. Signs To Play

ODESSA — Northwest Institute of Texas has announced the signing of Randall Ferguson to a football grant. Ferguson was outstanding for Coach Joe Means' Odessa High School team last fall, running at tailback. The 5-7, 165-pound speedster has been clocked in 4.6 for the 40-yard dash. The Knights will also use him on kick returns and as a pass receiver.

Lombardi Given Surgery On Colon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A six-man surgical team today removed a tumor—apparently benign—from the colon of Vince Lombardi, coach of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

VINCE LOMBARDI

Dr. Robert J. Coffey, who headed the surgical team, said a two-foot section of Lombardi's colon also was removed. The 2 1/2-hour operation was performed in the Georgetown University Hospital. Coffey identified the tumor as a polypoid. He said most such tumors are benign and he said his initial examination indicated it would be true in Lombardi's case.

He said, however, that an exact determination will require microscopic examination and that the results of such a scrutiny will not be known for four or five days.

Polypoid tumors are marked by lesions, suggesting polyps. Coffey, a professor of surgery at Georgetown University, said Lombardi's post-operative condition was "excellent."

Lombardi, who came to the Redskins last year after a winning career with the Green Bay Packers, entered the hospital Tuesday after he complained of a stomach upset.

Hudson Signs With Indians

Mike Hudson, a member of Big Spring High School's fine mile relay team the past spring, will attend McMurry College on a scholarship arrangement.

He was signed the past week by coach Ronnie Giles of the Indians, Mike and his team mates were clocked in 3:20.7 in the event and Hudson was caught in 49.1 in his lap. The Steers finished second in district in that event and third in regional. Mike was also fourth in the open 440 in district competition, during which time he was caught in 49.6.

Other members of the relay quartet were Walter Campbell, Kyle Rosene and Clay Thompson. Franklyn was once a track star at Howard County JC.

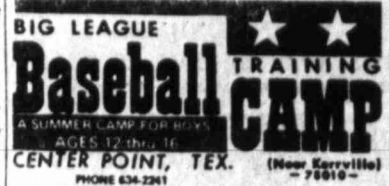

Ex-Hawk Named Coaching Aide

GRAPEVINE — Three coaches from the South Plains have been added to the Grapevine coaching staff.

They are David Whiting, Eugene Franklin and Richard Perry. Perry has been coach at New Deal. Franklin was head track coach and first assistant in other sports at Slaton. Whiting formerly was on the Plainview staff.

Baseball Halted

ODESSA — Odessa College has abandoned its baseball program after fielding a team for 18 years. The Wranglers' inability to schedule a representative lineup of games brought about the action of the school's board of regents.

Local Girls Grab Five Track Firsts

ODESSA — Big Spring's newly organized girls' track and field team, organized by Roy Lee Ford and consisting of 12 younger lasses, fairly well dominated competition in the 19th annual Odessa TAAF track and field meet, which got under way here Friday.

The Big Springers captured first places in the midget girls' long jump, junior girls' long jump, midget girls' high jump, junior girls' high jump, and midget girls' 440-yard relay.

ODESSA, Stanton, Iraan, McCamey, Seminole and Pecos, as well as Big Spring, were represented in the meet.

Workouts are now being conducted each evening in Memorial Stadium on the HCJC campus, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., for the girls. Coach Ford says he now has 25 girls undergoing drills and will accept any one who desires to join the drills.

The Big Spring team will run next in Seminole and later will compete in Denver City and the State TAAF meet in Abilene

Rookie Stops Detroit, 3-0

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie left-hander Rick Austin of the Cleveland Indians posted his first major league victory Saturday, blanking Detroit and Mickey Lolich 3-0 on five innings.

It was the second major league start for the 23-year-old 6-foot-4 hurler, who was knocked out in the third inning by the Tigers last Sunday but did not figure in the decision.

Lolich, 6-9, was tagged for eight hits in seven innings in suffering his fourth consecutive setback. He was touched for a run in the first on singles by Roy Foster and Ray Fosse and an error by second baseman Dick McAuliffe.

The Indians made it 3-0 in the third on a walk to Eddie Leon and singles by Foster, Fosse and Chuck Hinton.

Peters Cools Off Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Left-hander Gary Peters cooled off the New York Yankees on five singles and George Scott and Billy Conigliaro each drove in two runs as the Boston Red Sox scored a 4-0 victory Saturday.

Peters, 5-7, allowed only one base-runner as far as second. Danny Cater was hit by a pitch in the fourth and Thurman Munson singled but Ron Woodman hit into an inning-ending double play.

The Red Sox broke through former teammate Gary Lewski, 1-1, with one out in the fourth. Carl Yastrzemski walked, Tony Conigliaro got an infield hit and the runners moved up on Munson's passed ball.

Rico Petrocelli was purposely passed, filling the bases, but Scott, attempting to check his swing on a 2-2 pitch, looped a single to right.

The Red Sox scored their other two runs in the seventh on a single by Scott and Billy Conigliaro's seventh homer.

Multiple Listing Service

MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE DOES SELL EQUITIES:

Some of the important advantages of a MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE are:
(1). BUYERS & SELLERS receive the benefit of cooperation between REALTORS rather than being restricted to the offerings of a single agent or series of agents. (2). NEGOTIATIONS ARE carried out under rules of procedure designed to assure ethical practice, thus furthering the interests of clients and the public, while extending adherence to high standards of practice. (3). CURRENT MARKET information which is readily available through Multiple Listing, means that REALTORS, their clients and the public are better served and informed.

American's Horse Wins Sweepstakes

THE CURRAGH, England, appeared to be hopelessly out of it, (AP) — Nijinsky, the wonder horse of European racing owned by American millionaire Charles Engelhard, stretched his winning streak to nine Saturday as he won the Irish Sweepstakes mile race that made him only Derby with a come-from-behind second English Derby-Irish finish.

"It was so easy," said jockey 2:33.6. The 3-year-old, by North-Liam Ward, "even my grand-ern Dancer out of Flaming Page mother could have won on this horse which was purchased by Engelhard for $201,600 as a yearling. BIG CATCHES MADE Champion Lures Most Fishermen

Most of the fishermen who tried their luck in Mitchell County lakes last week apparently descended upon Lake Champion. Very few reports were offered from Lake Colorado City.

Among larger reports were 70 bluegill, a six-pound yellow catfish and nine channel cat by one party from Big Lake and 115 bluegill by a Slaton group.

An Odessa man, Mack Meals, caught 30 white bass and three-pound black bass while fishing near Fisher Park at Lake Champion.

Among catches reported were:

LAKE COLORADO CITY
LOUIE'S LAKESIDE LODGE
D. R. Smith Jr., Brownfield, caught 22 lb. channel cat and a 4 1/2 lb. bass.
COOPERS COVE
Gary Wiggins caught a 48 lb. yellow

Forfeit Accepted

The Yankees moved nearer toward clinching second place in the National Little League Friday by accepting a forfeit from the Lions in what was to have been a makeup game. Both teams have been assured spots in the upcoming playoffs.

Bus Off Limits To Reporters

HOUSTON (AP) — Reporters have been banned from riding with the Houston Astro baseball team on the bus.

General Manager H.B. Richardson informed the Houston newspapers of the rule after he said he met with player representative Denny Lemaster.

Lemaster said the players voted unanimously Monday to ask management to keep reporters off the team bus so "players can talk freely."

Although writers do not travel on the team bus on all trips to and from the ball park, they are free to do so with all other major league teams, especially when there is a tight schedule to catch an airplane.

Rod Laver Is Upset

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Roger Taylor, a burly English professional, turned the form books upside down Saturday by knocking Rod Laver of Australia out of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships in one of the biggest surprises of the decade, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1.

While Laver's bid for a third straight Wimbledon title crumbled, so did American hopes for the men's title on a day of surprises that saw leading U.S. hopes Arthur Ashe and Stan Smith eliminated. That left only Clark Graebner carrying American colors into the quarter-finals.

Graebner, the No. 9 seed from New York, kept alive what hopes the United States has by defeating Ili Nastase of Romania 6-3, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3. Ashe, from Richmond, Va., and the third seed, bowed to Andres Gimeno, the balding Spanish professional, 7-5, 7-5, 6-2.

And Smith, the U.S. No. 1 from Los Angeles seeded seventh here, lost to battle-scarred Roy Emerson of Australia, a winner in 1964 and 1965 but only a 10th seed this time around, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Laver, meanwhile, offered no excuses for his inability to display the mastery and precision on the tennis courts that had kept him atop the tennis world for 10 years.

"I just didn't play well," said the 31-year-old Australian.

With only Graebner in the last eight, 1970 is the worst U.S. year in the men's bracket here since 1967 when not a single American reached the quarter-finals.

The New Yorker plays Taylor in the quarter-finals, which pit Australians Tony Roche and Ken Rosewall and Emerson and John Newcombe against each other. The other match will be between Gimeno and yet another Australian — Bob Carmichael, who has come through to be the only non-ranked player to get this far.

In the last 16 of the women's singles, the United States had a much better day, with Mrs. Billie Jean King, Rosemary Casals and Cecilia Martinez all in the last eight.

What's In A Name?

By JO BRIGHT

The term, genealogy, the study of the origin, descent and relationship of families, is derived from the Greek "genos" meaning race, and "logos," meaning discourse.

With the ancients, genealogy was of prime importance, as is illustrated in the history and institutions of the Hebrews, with whom society was organized on a strictly tribal basis. Their interest in genealogical matters is patent to every student of the Bible.

With the general adoption of surnames, the interest in genealogy has abated among the common people, but it still retains its hold upon the nobility and gentry of Europe. Modern English genealogy begins with the rise of heraldry. Few families can trace their lineage to the Norman Conquest, and pedigrees running back as far as the early Tudors are relatively uncommon.

In America, genealogy was generally neglected until past the middle of the 19th century. (Only occasionally could a person be found who could trace his ancestry beyond his grandparents. This is not surprising, since many of the people were poor, or, at least, too busy earning a living to have time and money to spend on tracing their ancestry.)

But with growth in wealth, and the emergence of a vast "middle class," there has come a renewed interest in family descent. Numerous patriotic hereditary societies have been formed throughout the country. A few of them are considered exclusive; their membership being confined to persons of high social standing. But, as a rule, descent is the only consideration.

The first such local group, the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring, is being organized under the direction of Miss Gladys Hardy. Attendance of prospective members at the first meetings indicate a surprising number of Big Springers are as interested in "where they are from" as where they are going.

The general mobility of modern society is apparently resulting in an individual yearning for stability — roots — and an association with history.

AN INTENSE INTEREST in history, as well as family pride, have been factors enabling Miss Gladys Hardy, president of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring, to trace her lineage directly to the year 1605. The name Hardy, sometimes spelled Hardee, was prominent in both England and Ireland, although it was originally of French ancestry, and the name was then spelled Hardi. The family members came to the British Isles seeking religious and political freedom. Here, Miss Hardy holds the Hardy family Coat of Arms (from "Burke's Heraldry") with the motto, "Armi de foi Hardi" which means "armed with hardy faith." Part of the design are Catherine wheels, a torture instrument and used to symbolize the martyrdom of St. Catherine. The diagonal band across the shield represented the shoulder scarf given for the rank of honor. It was supposed to be the strap that held the shield in place in front of the soldier. The leopards were first worn by the first Duke of Normandy and were introduced into England by the French as a symbol of boldness, rashness, astuteness, strength and courage.

GROUPED UNDER a symbolic family tree are only a few of the Big Springers who will be charter members of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring. From left, they are Mrs. Horace J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Cate, Miss Bernice Cason, Mrs. Clara C. Butler, A. A. Porter, Mrs.

C. L. Atwell Sr., Mrs. Chester L. Burton and Mrs. Fannie Clark. Some are only just beginning research on their ancestry, while others already possess many legal documents and records attesting to their family history.

STARTING POINTS and procedures for genealogical research are discussed below, by Miss Movelda Rhine, left, second vice president of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring, and Mrs. Oliver (Bud) Nichols Jr., society librarian. Other officers serving with Miss Hardy are W. L. Sharon, first vice president; Mrs. Jerry A. Phillips, secretary; and Bill Steagold, treasurer. George Foster is editor of the newsletter, "Signal Peak". The group meets monthly for informative programs on methods of gathering information on family history and documentation of important events. Prime sources are legal records of birth, marriage and death, as well as wills, contracts and deeds. Old census records and church rolls are other areas which are rich in family lore.

Everyone Has a Story

Every family has a story which embodies the drama of life and death, along with the adventure of living.

People become interested in genealogy for many reasons, sometimes pride of family, or often, because in the living, ties have been severed and there is no tangible trace of family heritage.

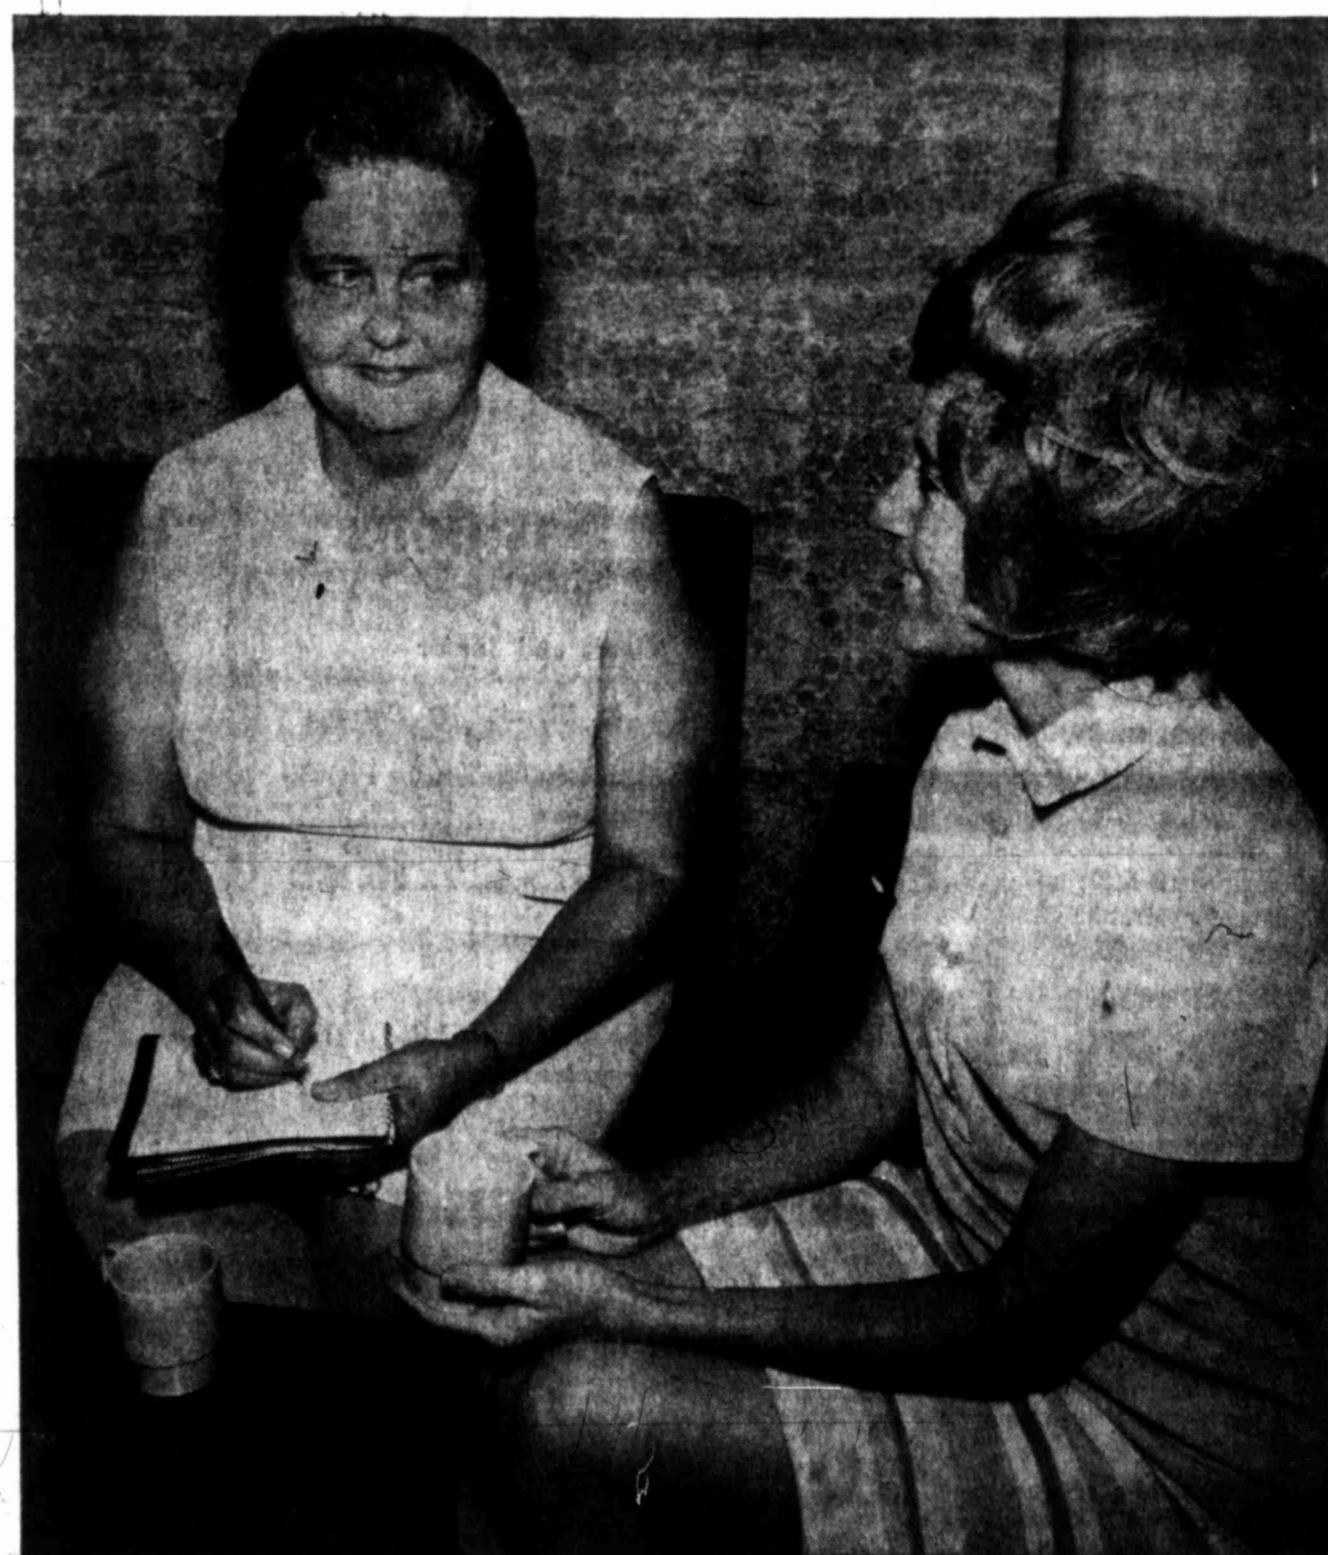

Mrs. Clara C. Butler was born in Cienfuegos, Cuba, coming to the United States as a small child with her Cuban mother and her father, who was originally from Iowa. Mrs. Butler, who was widowed in 1964, lives alone in Big Spring, for her oldest son, Michael, will leave for Vietnam later this month, and her other son, Chris, is a student at North Texas State University in Denton.

"How I would like to find some of my father's family," said Mrs. Butler. "His name was Grow, and he only had two brothers, both of whom are deceased, but that's the only thing I know about my family in the United States".

Mrs. Fannie Clark has been luckier in her research. She has her mother's genealogy, which was traced back to the Dandridge Castle in England, and is now working on her father's family name, McCoy.

About mid-way in their research are Mr. and Mrs. John Cate, who are tracing family names that include Elms, Ross, Brashears, Harmon, Johnson, Knight and Ely. Mrs. Cate's great-great-grandfather was a George Ross who was a revolutionary soldier. "I only had the pleasure of knowing one of my grandparents", she said, "and I was a kid who listened, but I don't know the things that really count. It is absolutely fascinating, working through the state archives, and when I find something, very old, I feel as though I am holding something sacred".

Miss Thornton Weds William M. Martin

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday evening at the First United Methodist Church by Miss Phyllis Thornton and William M. Martin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Thornton, 1803 Mittel, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Martin of Houston.

The Rev. Leo K. Gee conducted the ceremony before an altar decorated with a sunburst of white gladioli and daisies fronting an archway of greenery.

Miss Sheila Chambers sang "One Hand, One Heart," "More" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Miss Merry Lee Dibrell, organist.

The bride wore a traditional gown of white lace with fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and full skirt of tiered lace. The high scalloped neckline was accented with seed pearls, and her waist-length bouffant veil of illusion was held by a veil of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses surrounded by nasturtium and tied with long white streamers.

Miss Alanda Deans, San Angelo, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Bankston, Miss Vickie Deans, of Bronte and Miss Billie Bohannon. They wore Empire gowns of pale yellow needlepoint fashioned with short puff sleeves. Their headpieces were matching and each carried yellow and white daisy plumes with ribbon streamers.

Flower girls were Ronda Piatkowski, Melody Choate, Sara Marchbanks and Tricia Marchbanks, the latter two of Lubbock. They wore long white dotted Swiss dresses trimmed with pastel ribbons.

Larkin Martin, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and groomsmen were Marcus Sweatt and Ronald Sweatt. Kyle Choate lighted the altar tapers.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with white satin overlaid with white netting sprinkled with yellow daisies and bordered with yellow and white ribbons. The wedding cake was flanked by silver candelabra, and silver and crystal appointments were used. The tiered cake was separated by white columns, decorated with yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride

Clubbers Concerned With Weight Control

Weight control and 4-H Club demonstrations were on this week's home demonstration club programs. Center Point and Luther members exchanged "make, bake and grow" gifts at their meetings. With the exception of the newly-organized Crestwood unit, the clubs are recessing for the summer.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Try These Tricks To Create Pretty Closets

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD (County MD Agent)

There's nothing like a beautifully decorated closet to give a woman the feeling of being "right" in every detail of her home. Opening the door to an attractive, well-planned linen closet gives you a sense of lavishness and luxury that can't be duplicated.

It isn't necessary to spend a mint on expensive carpentry or sacrifice partiality for a decorator-look today. Wall coverings and shelf papers come in interesting colors and patterns so easy to tailor to your closet and just as easy to keep clean with a damp sudsy cloth.

Shelves can be faced with equally attractive and washable edging to frame linens. You can even make matching bands to hold each stack of sheets, pillow cases, and cloths neatly in place. The attractive look of the materials with built-in soil resistance adds sophistication to homemaking and stimulates one to plan space-saving tricks to boot.

As one homemaker so aptly put it, "It wasn't until I started fussing a little with my linen closet that I began to think out ways to streamline my storage space better. Now I get much more in, yet it looks prettier."

DOUBLE SPACE

As she explained, when she chose a color scheme and lined the walls, she saw that most of the linen shelves were stacked only half way up. This, she realized quickly, gave her room to install a short, half-shelf between the two regular ones, on which she could store napkins, finger-tip towels, and other small pieces. This immediately doubled her storage space.

She used what so often is waste space between the last shelf and the floor to store blankets in boxes she covered with the same attractive fabric. As she says, "The new scrubable, tubbable fabrics I used architecturally turned out to be time-and-space savers that made my closets prettier and more practical than ever."

CLEAN TOOL SHED

The home gardener who heads for the tool shed at the first hint of spring is often faced with a formidable indoor clean-up task before he can begin his outdoor beautifying campaign. Mud-encrusted tools, a helter-skelter of garden gloves, twisted hoses, flower pots, pails, baskets, and sprays may have been hiding there all winter.

The first thing to do is to sort out all the equipment. Garden gloves will undoubtedly need a laundering; hoses, flower pots, and pails a thorough washing. Sprays and other chemical products should be clearly labeled and placed on a high shelf, out of the reach of children.

Collect all the muddy tools and put them into a large pail filled with hot sudsy water.

then let them soak. A few stubborn pieces may require additional scrubbing with a wire brush. Then rinse and let the tools dry thoroughly. Follow up with a light coating of oil to avoid rusting.

If there are small children in the family, sharp-edged garden tools could be hazardous. Protect your child's safety by making guards for such tools. Cut off a piece of old garden hose, a littler longer than the edge of the tool, and split it lengthwise. It will stay in place over the sharp edge by the hose's natural spring. Another safety measure is to face the edges of the tools toward the wall rather than out into the room.

Try This For Hobbies: Raising Black Widows

By GORDON ZEIGLER
Some are satisfied to raise chickens. Edwin E. (Red) Dickson grows Black Widow spiders. And he does it just for fun.

LOOK FOR THE MARKER — Although you cannot see it here, the telltale sign of a Black Widow is a bright red-orange hour glass marking on the belly of this shiny black creature. This one has its back to the camera.

THEY PLAY FOR HIM — A mature Black Widow female frolics on a cotton swab for Edwin E. (Red) Dickson, who raises the poisonous spiders for fun. His unusual hobby has made him an expert on this specie of spiders.

"Yeah, I've always caught everything that crawls," quipped Dickson, part-time farmer and full-time oil field roustabout.

The red-haired, jovial Dickson lives on a farm north of Coahoma where, as a boy, he gained a love for animals, catching them for pets and learning their habits.

Dickson showed off his spider farm, about 50 jars with air holes punched on top, where individual spiders spin webs, deposit eggs and catch live food he drops them.

EXPERT ON 'WIDOWS'

"The name Black Widow comes from the fact that females sometimes kill their mates, but only when they are hungry," he explained. Dickson rattled off facts learned in six years of raising, observing and reading about Black Widows.

Dickson's menagerie includes more than just Black Widows. His barn has nooks and crannies filled with webs of all types of spiders. Most persons sweep them away, but not Dickson. He watches free spiders spin webs, keeping daily tabs on their work.

Black widows are poisonous. That is why Dickson keeps his regiment of 50 under close surveillance.

One authority places Black Widow venom at 15 times more potent dry weight than rattlesnake poison. Only difference is the Black Widows inject far less poison when they bite.

Black Widows do pose a hazard around the home for children. Most sources say that while a Black Widow bite is painful, it seldom is lethal. Makeup of the person bitten, age, and extent of venom injected have a lot to do with its potency.

DISTINCT MARKINGS

Bright red-orange hour glass markings stand out brilliantly against a shiny black body on the underside of females. This is the best way to identify Black Widows. Males are not poisonous, are half the size of females and are quite dingy looking.

Dickson thinks Black Widows on the whole are beneficial because spiders kill more insects than birds.

It is difficult for spiders to bite tough skin of the fingers, so Dickson catches them in his hands but, keeps an intent eye on the tiny fangs.

Dickson often puts different things in the same jar. Opening a jar where a hungry spider lurked, he snagged a wasp and dropped it in.

"Spider and wasp, that's a pretty good match," he explained. A wasp can kill a spider if he stings first. The black spider took the upper hand, however, throwing his sticky web over the hornet and making a quick meal of it. Flies have no chance. Red flicked one into a jar and the spider jumped on it, threw on a web, and quickly tied it up.

Dickson can tell which spider has eaten last, which one is hungry and which one is the oldest. (Spiders live a little over one year.) Dickson knows them almost as individuals.

NON-ERADICATOR

He holds a membership in National Black Widow Control, a group in Brigham City, Utah, dedicated to eliminating the spider around homes. He joined just to learn about the Black Widow, not to eradicate them from his place.

"I feel I know as much about them as they do after studying them six years," he mused.

Mrs. Dickson takes a dim view of his penchant for bringing all manner of bugs home in envelopes. She endured them until she discovered baby spiders about the size of a grain of salt, crawling through the air holes and gaining the run of the house. So it was to the barn with the jars.

Tales of Dickson's antics with his spiders has kept their friends and her sorority in Big Spring entertained.

CHIP OFF BLOCK

Daughter Sabrina, 14, doesn't know what to make of the peculiar hobby but probably sides with Mama. Edwin Jr., 10, a fifth grader, is with his Dad.

Using what he learned from his father, Edwin made posters explaining the Black Widow, put a female, a male and a cocoon on display at the school science fair. Judges declared it "sweepstakes winner."

This shining trophy, displayed amidst a collection of reading material on spiders and insects, is a source of intense fatherly pride for this self-taught expert on the Black Widow.

Gary Walker In Research Project

Gary L. Walker, a Big Spring doctoral degree candidate at Texas Tech University, is participating in a scientific study under the direction of physics professor C. Richard Quade at Tech.

Walker, along with five other doctoral candidates, is participating in molecular research. Study done by the students will involve the theoretical principles of classical mechanics, quantum mechanics, electrostatics and the experimental technique of gas phase microwave spectroscopy.

Of the work to be done by the students, Dr. Quade said that "because of the complexity of these molecules, this research provides an excellent opportunity for graduate students." Dr. Quade received a $36,200 grant from the National Science Foundation for the study.

Swim To Attend Regional Meet

Swim is on the regional board of directors of EKNE. Tuesday's meeting will concern the upgrading of the teacher-aides program in the hope that they will become teachers, said Swim.

Fewer Felonies Involve Juveniles, Says Officer

By LINDA CROSS
The number of felony offenses committed by juveniles is down this year as is the number of commitments to the state school.

But, said Keith Jones, county juvenile officer, the number of misdemeanor cases is up slightly. In general, the situation is about normal, but the decline of the more serious offenses is encouraging.

In 1969 there were 35 felonies committed by juveniles. At the end of the first five months of this year, only 10 felonies have been committed by juveniles.

The average number of misdemeanors committed by juveniles is up slightly from last year; 142 so far as compared with 270 for all of 1969.

"I don't worry nearly as much about the number of misdemeanors as long as the number of felonies do not increase," said Jones. The consequences of a felony are worse for the youngster involved, as well as for the offended. A felony can mean a commitment to the state school.

MORE EFFECTIVE
Jones attributes the decline in the number of felonies to the efforts of the law enforcement agencies in working with juveniles.

"The relationship between the juvenile office and the attorneys has been very good, too," he said. "The community and the people in it that care about kids are in part responsible."

The number and types of juvenile offenses vary with the seasons, according to Jones. In the winter, truancy, burglaries and larger thefts around Christmas time are typical offenses.

"In the winter there are more hours of darkness to hide a culprit," said Jones.

The number of offenses decreases only slightly in the summer, according to Jones. The cases coming to his attention in the summer are mostly runaways and petty thefts. "More kids are away on trips in the summer, and if they can work, they're busy and too tired to get into trouble," he observed.

JOBS HELP

If more youngsters were able to find jobs in the summer, he believes juvenile incidents would be even less. One of the problems is that many of the youngsters who want or need to work are too young to get jobs.

"I'm not saying that if you give kids money that it will stop delinquency — because it won't," he said. "But a kid who has 50 cents he can spend for candy and a comic book isn't likely to steal to get them. Besides the money, a job keeps kids busy and teaches them responsibility."

Church camps and other similar activities also help to keep youngsters constructively occupied during the summer, according to Jones, venturing that "boredom is more the cause of boys and girls getting into trouble than is pure 'meanness.'"

He is encouraged that "we don't have many repeaters. Juveniles with a second offense are in the real minority."

A Devotion For Today . . .

The Lord preserves the simple; when I was brought low, he saved me . . . I kept my faith even when I said, "I am greatly afflicted." (Psalm 116:6, 10, RSV)

PRAYER: Help me, dear God, not to consider as loss my times of rest from regular labors. Help me to use such times to regain strength and renewal of a joyful outlook on life. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Seven More State Amendments

You might as well look now, and start doing your homework, because as a voter in Texas you will be called upon, come Nov. 3, to make a decision on seven more proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Annually, or sometimes more frequently, there appear the propositions to put more patches on the state's governmental charter. Since it became effective in 1876, the present Texas constitution has been amended 195 times. There have been 320 propositions submitted during this period. With only one exception (1885) joint resolutions have been introduced in the legislature to change the basic document. The record number to reach the ballot was achieved by the Legislature in 1965, which placed 27 proposals before the voters.

So, here we go again. As a brief resume, here are the proposals to appear on the November ballot:

No. 1 — Relating to the removal, retirement or censure of justices, judges and justices of the peace under prescribed circumstances. (This is a broadening of authority of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission, which has had some success in encouraging more efficient production among judges at the district level and above).

No. 2 — To authorize the legislature to enact a mixed beverage law regulating the sale of mixed alcoholic beverages on a local option basis. (This undoubtedly will be the issue which generates the most heat, as it proposes to legalize mixed drinks in those areas which adopt such procedure in local option elections).

No. 3 — Authorizing the Legislature to provide by law for the establishment of a uniform method of assessment of ranch, farm and forest lands based on the capability of the lands to support the raising of livestock or to produce farm crops. (Rather complicated; it could bring tax concessions on rural lands, while urban property would be in a different category).

No. 4 — To reconstitute the State Building Commission as a three-member appointed commission. (The governor, the attorney general and the chairman of the State Board of Control now serve ex-officio as members of this board).

No. 5 — Authorizing any county to issue road bonds in an amount not to exceed one-fourth of the assessed value of the real property in the county under certain conditions. (This, among other things, would remove the requirement that road bonds have two-thirds majority approval).

No. 6 — To increase the value of the homestead exempt from forced sale from $5,000 to $10,000. (Proposes to change a situation that has existed for some 100 years).

No. 7 — Authorizing the Legislature to provide for consolidating offices and functions of governments by contract between political subdivisions in any county. (Voters in political entities involved would have to approve any consolidation; many cities and counties in Texas seriously are studying ways of eliminating duplications of governmental services, with resulting economies).

As election time approaches, The Herald will present more detailed analysis on each of these propositions. Texans would do well to consider the issues. Most of them have a direct impact on the welfare of our government.

What Happens After June 30?

WASHINGTON — While withdrawal of American troops from Cambodia is assured in the next seven days, the big question is what will happen there in the week that remains and afterwards. What will the Communist strategy be?

Already there are intimations from diplomatic sources that the Communists are trying to create chaotic conditions in Cambodia. The plan is supposed to be to force President Nixon to keep our troops in Cambodia beyond the June 30 deadline, with the idea of weakening the Administration here and ultimately compelling the United States to accept Communist demands at the peace talks that would come later.

ONE VETERAN diplomat in the capital of Cambodia told the United Press International that the Communists want the Americans completely out of Asia and feel that "by discrediting President Nixon they can achieve this goal." They regard Cambodia as a means to that end. The diplomat added that, "if the President is forced to expand the war (in Cambodia), the Communists are certain that a peace party will win the November elections" in America and thus reduce Republican strength.

THE COMMUNISTS are thoroughly familiar with the debate in the American Congress, and they are looking forward to a weakening of the President's position through the elections in November. Between now and next autumn, they hope that a number of large offensives can be begun in South Vietnam which will discourage President Nixon so he will abandon the fight.

CERTAINLY SOME effort to bring the Vietnam war to a critical point after American forces are lower in numbers may be expected. The enemy is interested in selecting the right moment for a big offensive in South Vietnam after American combat strength has been considerably reduced through withdrawals. The crucial question then would be whether the South Vietnamese — with American advisers and air support available to them — will be able to handle it virtually alone at a time when a substantial number of American combat battalions have been pulled out of Vietnam.

DESPITE ALL the talk of limiting the President's authority to deal with Cambodia after June 30, he still would have the power to bomb the trails over which supplies have been coming in throughout the war, and new routes that may be opened in any of the territory adjacent to South Vietnam could be subject to American attacks. The Nixon policy is that as long as a substantial number of American troops are in Vietnam, air power should be used to attack routes used by the enemy to send supplies or troops into South Vietnam.

The President believes that the South Vietnamese can take over the task in Cambodia and no change would be necessary in the pledge given to remove all American combat units from that country by June 30. He also hopes that the Russians as well as the Red Chinese will not be anxious to continue spending large sums each year to finance the Vietnam war.

IF PEKING and Moscow do hold back their aid, the belief here is that ultimately a truce will be declared, similar to that in Korea no peace agreement will be reached, but the fighting will come to an end under an armistice.

Without the support in large measure of Red China or the Soviet Union, North Vietnam would have to settle down to an era of peace, however unwelcome it might be. The Communist governments in both Moscow and Peking would then have more funds available for domestic purposes instead of using them to finance North Vietnam's war.

Railroads' Plight In Spotlight

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The plight of the nation's railroads came into sharp focus in the past week when Penn Central filed a bankruptcy petition for reorganization of its railroad subsidiary.

The subsidiary, the Penn Central Transportation Co., said "a severe cash squeeze" was behind its decision to seek court assistance.

During the first three months this year, the company reported a $62.7 million net loss.

The railroad's long-standing financial problems have been attributed by federal and company officials to the drag of maintaining unprofitable passenger services.

Congress began open hearings this week on a Nixon Administration bill to provide $750 million in federally guaranteed loans to hard-pressed railroads, including the Penn Central.

OTHERS IN TROUBLE
In testimony before the House Commerce Subcommittee, Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said several other railroads were experiencing financial difficulties.

He said 21 of the nation's 74 major railroads operated in the red last year.

There are "at least three or four on the doorstep" that would need federal guarantee of their credit to avoid following the Penn Central into reorganization proceedings under bankruptcy laws, he warned.

Volpe said a takeover of the railroads by the federal government was an alternative to federal loan guarantees.

The Transport Workers Union, AFL-CIO, called for a nationalization of the nation's railroad system.

The 135,000-member union contended that such action was required for long-term solution of the rail industry's problems.

YET RICH ASSETS
Penn Central Transportation Co. operates the country's largest railroad system. Penn Central Co., the parent company, has a variety of non-railroad subsidiaries with total assets of about $7 billion.

The railroad filed the bankruptcy action after a proposed federal guarantee of up to $200 million in bank loans under the Defense Production Act of 1950 fell through.

Under the bankruptcy laws for railroads, a federal court judge will establish a trusteeship to run the railroad as its agent and try to adjust the railroad's debts.

In congressional testimony this week, however, Volpe raised the question of whether the railroad could continue to meet future payrolls.

MARKET JITTERY
Repercussions of the Penn Central action were felt in Wall

- Federally-guaranteed loan of $750 million is proposed.

Street where prices took a beating during the week. Analysts attributed the market decline to investor worries over the cash position of other companies in light of the Penn Central development.

At least one economist, though, called the reaction "excessive." Economist Pierre Rinfret said Wall Street is "emotional, excitable and lacking in financial perspective."

In another development this week, the Navy announced it was awarding a $2.1 billion contract to Litton Industries to build 30 destroyers over the next eight years.

LARGEST IN PEACETIME
The Navy said this was the largest single peacetime award for shipbuilding in its history.

Another important development in the business scene the past week involved the collapse of negotiations for "voluntary" restrictions by Japan of textile exports to this country.

Following this, the Nixon Administration reluctantly dropped its opposition to textile import quota legislation currently before the House.

Around The Rim Coffee Makes The World Go Round

One never knows the wave effect of one's small, insignificant act, does one?

All along I thought drinking a cup of coffee was just to satisfy my personal craving, and that it really didn't have a world-shattering effect. Wrong again. There has come across the desk a handsomely-printed, deeply-researched book on the economics of coffee drinking.

FIRST THING it tells you is that "the little cup of coffee you drink helps create some 624,000 jobs for Americans, while providing a livelihood for more than 20 million people in Latin America and other developing countries."

It says further that coffee helps generate $4.5 billion in U. S. industrial wages and farm income, and $2.3 billion in export earnings for the 41 coffee-producing countries of the world.

STATISTICS tend to leave me confused, and probably are of no interest to you, but it was not made clear that if I drank 10 cups of coffee, the figures on helping all those people would go up ten-fold. If this could be the case, then I am contributing far more to the economic well-being that I had realized.

Coffee, ordinarily is a personal thing — or habit, if you will. Many people will not emerge from their nocturnal cocoon until they have the uplift of a cup of coffee. Or to put it more bluntly, they are real grouches until the good old caffeine stirs up the blood stream.

COFFEE CREATES habits and so arguments. Some people will have two cups for breakfast and that's it for the day. Others will sip on the mug all day long. Some protest that coffee after noon keeps them awake all the ensuing night; others go to a banquet and quaff it by the multiple cups, go home, hit the bed and lapse into snores.

The arguments come over the sugar-and-cream bit. The sweetennin' people say that's the only way they can stand coffee. Others say the additives are what ruin your health; it ain't the coffee that kills you, it's the indigestion from sugar and cream (let's make that milk).

IN EITHER event, doctors will confirm that if you have gone past a half-dozen cups a day in consumption, you are headed for the place that cures jitters.

Coffee jitters is bad enough, but the addict (thanks to this new research book) can console himself with the thought that "the more coffee I drink, the more I am helping other people make a living."

IT SHOULD come as no surprise, considering the jittery state of our nation, that U. S. consumers drink up about half of all the products from the coffee bean. You must pursue the research book further for the economic logic; it says that, from Texas alone, exports for coffee producing companies ran to more than $375 million, and these in turn stimulated more than 30,000 jobs and more than $232 million in wages.

Art Buchwald Choice Summer Reading Selections

WASHINGTON — With the summer coming up we recommend the following books for light reading:

"Everything You Wanted to Know About Socks (But Were Afraid to Ask)," Dr. David Suple has written the first frank, uncensored book about socks, which tells you not only how to get more pleasure out of your socks, but how to wear them without hangups or guilt. This book answers the questions as to when to wear socks and with whom. There are chapters titled "Is Darning Unhealthy?" "Exciting Things to Do With Your Ankles," "Erogenous Parts of Your Heel," and "Pre-Sock Foreplay" which deals with the pleasure you can get from your toes before putting on your socks.

"UP AGAINST the Kindergarten Wall." Haspel Short, age 6, kept a diary of last spring's famous takeover of the Hawthorne Kindergarten. This is the first version told from the students' point of view. The kindergarten riots started over a small thing. The administration switched from chocolate milk to white milk at 11 o'clock cookie hour, without informing the pupils. Several of the students refused to drink the white milk, so their teacher, Miss Jean Brodie, reported them to the principal, Marcus Chips. When Chips came to the class and warned that anyone who did not drink white milk would be expelled, one of the students shouted, "Goody Marcus."

Short writes with both humor and despair and makes the point that perhaps because we have taken our milk programs in kindergarten for granted for so long, we are reaping the whirlwind at last.

STARS
"THE GODMOTHER," by Mario Whuzo, is a very exciting novel about the head of the ladies auxiliary of Mafia Lodge Number 8. Rosina Nirvana started as a young girl repairing bulletproof vests for a large family in Brooklyn.

She becomes the protege of Nostra Maria who rolled bandages for the Luchese brothers. One day Nostra Maria is found in the East River with a sewing machine tied around her neck, and Rosina Nirvana becomes the godmother of the ladies auxiliary.

The novel tells with sympathy and understanding what it's like for the women who sit and wait while their husbands are away collecting bad debts.

"PRESIDENT FOR A WEEK." George Shrimpton, who has played football with the New York Giants, fought Cassius Clay, conducted the Bolshoi Theater and hijacked a plane to Cuba, has written his funniest book to date about being President of the United States. Shrimpton persuaded President Nixon to stay down at Key Biscayne for a week while he ran the country. Naturally everything Shrimpton did was wrong.

One hilarious incident follows another. First he locks Billy Graham out of the White House. Then he accidentally hooks up the CIA telephone with the hot line to Moscow, and then he takes over the controls of Air Force 1 and almost gets shot down over Peking.

His final ignominious hour comes when he declares the Fourth of July a working day for government employees, and spools President Nixon's only chance to bring the country together. (Nonfiction.)

Marquis Childs How Penn-Central Lost The Handout

WASHINGTON — The desperate last-minute efforts to save the Penn-Central from bankruptcy produced one of the most extraordinary encounters between business and government since the start of the Great Depression of the '30s. The top brass of the giant transportation aggregate, the sixth largest corporation in the country, came in secrecy to Washington to confront Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

Penn-Central executives had wangled from the Defense Department the promise of a guarantee for a $200 million loan. This was to meet pressing demands from the banks with large Penn-Central paper outstanding.

PAUL A. GORMAN, president and chairman of Penn-Central led a parade of board members and executives into Patman's office. They knew their last chance was to persuade the populist from Texas, champion of lower interest rates and cheaper money, to withdraw his opposition to the government guarantee.

Little or no pretense was made that the loan would ever be repaid. In fact, it was, in effect, to be an installment on an advance of up to $700 million, regarded as vital if the company was to escape bankruptcy.

"I COULD NEVER endorse anything like that," Patman said. He pointed out that the Defense Production Act passed in 1950 had been intended not to bail out large corporations but to help small and medium contractors carry out defense orders. In the past five years only 21 loans, totalling $165 million, have been granted under the act.

AT THE SAME time the Banking and Currency chairman, who has so often prodded the bankers over high interest rates and high profits, is drafting legislation to forestall what could be a wave of bankruptcies. This would be similar to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation initiated by President Herbert Hoover as the onset of the depression threatened to topple major financial institutions. The RFC, which went out of business in 1956, was at first limited to railroads, banks and insurance companies.

WAITING ON the doorstep as the RFC opened its doors in 1932 were the Van Swearingen Brothers, the railroad tycoons of their day. They got $75 million from the RFC, of which $23 million went into the Missouri-Pacific, then in serious trouble. A year later the Mo-Pac was in bankruptcy under a special bankruptcy law that President Hoover signed as his last act before he left the White House.

The Mo-Pac floundered in a quagmire of courts and lawyers for years. It was a cardinal example of financial mismanagement that left the stockholders holding the bag.

THE PLIGHT of the Penn-Central should have been obvious long ago. In 1966 Charles Ireland Jr., president of the Allegheny Corporation, exchanged Allegheny's controlling interest in the New York Central Railroad for $71 million in Allegheny stock. This was a signal that Ireland, a shrewd executive, no longer had confidence in Central.

Railroad mismanagement, with the cashing in of just about all passenger service, is a shocker the public has only just begun to appreciate. Sen Vance Hartke, D-Ind., is also preparing a Penn-Central investigation in his Surface Transportation subcommittee that is likely to cover a lot of territory. The bankruptcy has blown the lid on what promises to be a long and devious story.

Billy Graham

My life is dull and purposeless and I am bored with the people I know. If I moved to another state and made a new start would things be different? D.F.

Pardon the illustration, but you can ship a donkey from Maine to California, but he's still a donkey.

Millions of people labor under the illusion that their emptiness, their guilt, their lack of purpose is due to their boring associations and their dull surroundings. These things are of the spirit, and they follow you wherever you go. If you live in Maine and life is dull, it will be dull on the West Coast. If you lack purpose where you are, you will lack it where you're going. One can't run away from the things of the spirit; they follow you wherever you go.

What you need to do is to have a spiritual house cleaning. David, when bored, guilty and afraid, said: "Search me O God, try me and know my thoughts, and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting." Through prayer and confession to God, he got at the source of the things that "bugged" him. You too can do this. Christ can forgive your sins, and that will take care of the guilt problem. He can give you a new challenge and purpose; that will take care of the boredom problem. Be the person you know you should be, through Christ's strength, WHERE YOU ARE. Then, if you want to move, you'll take happiness with you.

Borden Historians Want To Get It Down On Paper

GAIL — "The tragedy is that many of the people who remember the early days out here are going to be gone soon without anyone having written their history."

The speaker is an intelligent and busy lady who, with the other members of the Borden County Historical Survey Committee, is set on getting the history of their part of Texas down on paper before it slips by.

Mrs. Frank Miller, a descendant of Borden County settlers, lives in a solid, stone house tucked knoll out of the north wind's way on a ranch about 12 miles northeast of Gail.

She spends much time, but not enough, she says, culling through the old documents at the county courthouse and talking with old-timers to find material or the committee's quarterly historical letter, The Borden Citizen.

PRIZE WINNER

In a county with fewer than 900 people, third smallest in the state, Mrs. Miller and her associates on the committee have managed to put together in five years a periodical which is read by 650 to 700 people in 17 states, including Alaska, and two foreign countries. The letter took a first place award from the state historical committee last year.

The paper usually runs about six legal-sized pages in length and is full of stories and pictures about early settlers, ranches and towns. In most cases, it is the only written record on its subjects.

When her research is complete, Mrs. Miller hopes to compile the monthly letters into a complete history of the county. Historical markers and memorial plaques are fine, she says, but the only way to record history in a lasting way is to put it on paper and bind it in book form.

HOME COMING

The committee's other project now is the Borden County Museum to be dedicated Aug. 16, Borden County Homecoming Day. The museum's numerous artifacts previously kept in a historic, but highly flammable, old drug store across from the court house are being moved to a new $15,000 structure at the southwest corner of the county square. Mrs. Miller feels that the safer quarters will encourage more people to contribute memorabilia to the collection.

The women of the committee are now busy refurbishing the old pianos, saddles, clothing and other items of the museum in preparation for their big day in August.

From her work with the Borden Citizen and the museum, Mrs. Miller has a store of anecdotes about the early days in Borden County.

TRADE THAT WASN'T

One, true but difficult to trace, concerns the deal that was almost made between the men who owned the original townsites of Gail and Lubbock in the 1880's and 90's.

A man from what to become Lubbock thought that the Gail site would make a more likely place for a city than his place on the high plains. He offered to trade half his land for half of the Borden County site. However, the man who owned the Gail site also thought it was a much better and refused to sell. They each made a slight error in judgment.

Equalization Notices Sent

Notices of the equalization hearings July 9 were mailed Friday to local property owners.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said 12,000 notices were mailed to owners of personal property; 15,000 to real estate owners; 250 to mobile home owners; and 500 to owners of farm equipment.

Property owners will have an opportunity to question valuation of property during the July hearings before city, county, school and junior college equalization boards.

Howard County commissioners Simon Terrazas, Ray Nichols, Bill Tune, Bill Crooker and County Judge Lee Porter act as equalization board for the county and Howard County Junior College.

Billy T. Smith, Pat Murphy and Jack Shaffer serve as equalization board for Big Spring and the Big Spring Independent School District.

The boards both met simultaneously at the hourhouse.

Grand Jurors To Ponder 10 Cases

District Attorney Wayne Burns has slated 10 cases involving 12 defendants for presentation to the Howard County Grand Jury session beginning Tuesday.

Although court records show several persons facing narcotics charges, so far no narcotics cases have been scheduled by Burns for presentation.

Jurors will study cases involving the swindle of $27,000 from a Big Spring woman; an assault with intent to murder; a statutory rape case; one theft case; two burglaries; a forgery; and several cases involving driving while intoxicated, second offense.

Allen Quincy Taylor and Richard Monroe Smith are to be transferred from Midland County jail Tuesday in connection with a real estate swindle here last February. The men were arrested last week in Del Rio.

Gregory Salazar, 32, 710 NW 5th, is charged with assault with intent to murder in the shooting of Julian Castillo June 8. Castillo was treated at a local hospital for a flesh wound in the temple.

Charged with relations with an under-age girl is Moses Flores Jr., 17, 209 N. Goliad.

Other cases involve Gregory Harmon Birrell, 1, 1621 E. 17th, and Daniel R. Heckler, 17, Box 3, Luther, house burglary; Carmen Gonzales Jr., 20, 909 S. Runnels, burglary; Eugene Washington Hall, 18, Box 94, Cherokee, Ala., theft by bailee; Larry Charles Peterson, 18, 201 NE 3rd, forgery; and Clarence Clay Keele, 69, Route 2, Box 129, Winters, Frank Earl Sims, 35, 638 Corinth, Dallas, and Norman Coglein Wood, 47, 1010 S. Weatherford, Midland, separate charges of driving while intoxicated, second offense.

DeVineys Take In Convention

Dr. and Mrs. Dawson DeViney, 1745 Purdue, attended the 55th annual Kiwanis Convention held June 21-24 in Detroit, Mich. They were among the approximately 15,000 Kiwanians and their families attending the convention.

During the convention, Kiwanis were entertained by such personalities as Arthur Godfrey, Sam Levenson, comedian George Kirby and Pamela Anne Eldred, Miss America 1970.

Program Participant Trinity University in San Antonio this week. The program requires completion of an 11-month home study course and a final residence session at Trinity.

Surveys Throw Light On Causes Of Road Mishaps

Four persons have died on Howard County roads this year in comparison with three dead at this time in 1969. Two of the persons who have died this year have been under 25, in comparison with one at this time last year.

Local statistics seem to fit the general pattern of the nation in which drivers less than 25 are involved in one-third of all fatal auto accidents, although these drivers make up less than one-fifth of the total drivers in America.

A national survey also shows that excessive speed was the chief cause of traffic deaths in 1969; that three out of four people were killed or injured on dry roads in clear weather; and that crossing between intersections was the major factor in the deaths of nearly 10,000 pedestrians.

A growing problem for many drivers is the interstate highway. Seen from an airplane, these ribbons of concrete and asphalt present an impressive design. But to an unalert driver they can be a trap — a fatal trap.

With the upcoming Fourth of July weekend, officials are estimating one of the largest numbers of fatalities ever compiled.

Many drivers do not know what a "yield" sign really means, according to the Department of Public Safety, or recognize the crucial importance of minimum and maximum speeds, the danger of blocking the outside, passing lanes, or know how properly to change lanes.

Outmoded or improperly designed highways — whether because of terrain or poor judgment — and the lack of a uniform highway sign code tend to confuse drivers, a leading insurance company claims. The stranger to a highway slows down while the native zooms by, setting the stage for an accident.

'Adventurers' Film Version Is International Project

"The Adventurers" which opens Wednesday at the R-70 Theatre, is the result of the effort of a cast and crew representing 22 different nations and was photographed in Europe, the United States and South America.

"The Adventurers," based on the best-selling novel by Harold Robbins, stars Charles Aznavour, Alan Badel, Candice Bergen, Tommy Berggren, Delia Boccardo, Ernest Borgnine, Rossano Brazzi, Olivia de Havilland, Bekim Fehmiu as "Dax" Anna Moffo and Leigh Taylor-Young.

THE ADVENTURES ... Bekim Fehmiu, Candice Bergen

Alan Badel, one of England's leading dramatic actors, plays the corrupt President Rojo and Greet actor, is seen as guerrilla chieftain El Lobo.

The contingent from the United States includes Ernest Borgnine, Candice Bergen, Olivia de Havilland, Leigh Taylor-Young and opera star Anna Moffo.

Mexico's Jorge Martinez is seen as one of the revolutionary leaders of Cortegauy, and his son is played by Cuban expatriate Joao Carlo. Five young Colombian actors and actresses as well as a Puerto Rican ex-G.I. also are seen in the film.

A Canadian, a Dutch beauty, a Hungarian actress, an Israeli belle, and an Algerian all have minor roles.

Scotland is represented by the film's costume designer, Ronald Paterson and Ireland by cameraman, "Skeets" Kelly. Construction chief Dick Fritt is a native of Sydney, Australia. During filming in Colombia, technicians from Argentina, Chile and Brazil were employed on the film.

JOHN WAYNE stars as "Chisum" a cattle baron, who teams up with Geoffrey Deuel as Billy the Kid to tame a town full of trouble in the film now showing at the Ritz.

Hero Roles Are For Others

Ernest Borgnine likes to be the man you love to hate in films. Heroes are for other actors. Give him a good snarling role, like his gruff general in "The Dirty Dozen;" his eyes sparkle and his grin spreads, exposing his gapped front teeth.

The Academy Award-winner plays Lee Marvin's superior officer in the war drama, now showing at the Jet. When Borgnine isn't making life unpleasant for Marvin (whom he privately refers to as "the junior member of the Oscar club") he is fusing up the lives of the other stars and featured players in the unusual film, which deals with a World War II legend of condemned criminal GI's redeeming themselves with heroics behind enemy lines.

"It's a good way to blow off your mean steam," Borgnine says. "Everybody has a bit of a mean streak in him that's necessary to let out now and then." His voice took on a sepulchral rasp. "Besides, it pays well."

It certainly has for Ernest. His salary for pictures runs to six figures and he has worked as often as he likes ever since his immortal Fatso in "From Here to Eternity." He parlayed Fatso to "Bad Day at Black Rock" and "Marty" to become the most sought after heavy in films.

In "The Dirty Dozen" he is doing his bit, he claims, to combat a threat from the long-haired types who have gained a foothold in some recent films. "They'll never last, these lads," he says. "The parts they play are limited. Moreover, the public wants virility it can identify itself with. We're giving them enough muscle in 'The Dirty Dozen.' There are about 35 of us plug-uglies in it and not more than half-a-dozen under six feet and 200 pounds.

"It's a three-ton cast and should settle the argument once and for all whether the public prefers the men or the boys," Borgnine concluded.

Non-Musical Stars Take Singing Roles In 'Wagon'

"Paint Your Wagon," currently playing at the Cinema Theatre is a rollicking, spectacular musical based on the Alan Jay Lerner - Frederick Loewe Broadway smash hit musical comedy. New songs were written for the film by Lerner and composer Andre Previn. Broadway playwright Paddy Chayefsky reworked the original book from which Alan Jay Lerner wrote the screenplay.

LEE MARVIN

JEAN SEBERG

Famous Broadway and Hollywood director Joshua Logan was tapped to supervise the production due to his genius in transferring great theatre works into fine motion pictures such as "Picnic" and "South Pacific," both of which he had directed for the screen as well as the stage. Lerner and Logan toured the West to find the proper site to shoot the film, settling on an area in Oregon, completely untouched by civilization and just right for the primitive locale of the late 1800's when the lust for gold invaded the heart of every pioneer.

musical film. Lee Marvin had come closer than the others with his performance in "Pete Kelly's Blues" as a member of a jazz band in the prohibition era. Clint Eastwood had made his mark in motion pictures as a sinister desperado in the highly successful Sergio Leone "Fistful" westerns shot in Europe. As for Jean Seberg, beginning with her debut in films as Otto Preminger's discovery for the title role in his film version of George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan," her film career took her to Europe in general and France in particular where she became the darling of the "New Wave" school of film directors. Harvey Presnell and Ray Walston were signed for leading roles and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band was signed to enliven the more folksy songs by Alan Jay Lerner to the melodies of Frederick Loewe and Andre Previn.

The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

THE PICKWICK PLAYERS, the childrens theatre producing company of the Midland Community Theatre, is producing a series of three children's plays. SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Water Quality Board is prepared for final action on strict regulations to preserve the quality of water in the Edwards Underground reservoir.

The new regulations for the buffer and recharge zones for the underground limestone aquifer, which is the sole water source for San Antonio and Bexar County, are needed because of the growth of metropolitan San Antonio and accompanying pollution.

Gross To Receive Highest Award

Paul E. Gross, Howard County agricultural agent, has been named to receive the highest award presented by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

Gross will be honored Aug. 16-20 along with other winners at the annual meeting of the NACAA in Corvallis, Ore.; where the group will receive the Distinguished Service Award. The announcement was made by Dave G. Tiller Jr., of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association. The Texas honorees also will receive recognition at the state meeting of the TCAA in Longview, Aug. 2-4.

PAUL GROSS

The DSA is presented annually to a select group of county agricultural agents who have, for at least 10 years, made outstanding contributions to agriculture and improved rural living.

The award winner is a graduate of Texas Tech University in animal husbandry. He was a member of the livestock and wool judging teams at Tech and served as a student dormitory adviser. He was active in 4-H and FFA programs during his youth. He has also completed some graduate work at Texas A&M University.

A Coleman County native and a Levelland High graduate, Gross has been an employee of the Agricultural Extension Service for 18 years, first as assistant county agent in Gaines County. He holds memberships in the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, Texas Swine Breeders Association, Texas Pork Producers Association, the Howard County Junior Livestock Association, and has been secretary of the Texas Poland Chira Breeders Association.

In addition, he has been beef cattle superintendent of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair in Lubbock and has worked actively with the Boy Scouts and the Big Spring Little League baseball organization.

Gross helped organize nine programs and activities for the improvement of rural living and agriculture. These include the Four-County Agricultural Workers Association, Howard County Agricultural Workers Association, Five-County Beef Cattle Institute, Five-County Swine Improvement Association, Knott Community Improvement Association and the Gaines County Swine Breeders and 4-H Pig Sale, the Howard County Swine Producers Association, the Caprock Swine Producers Association and the Texas Poland China Swine Breeders Association.

"Paul E. Gross is recognized for his outstanding ability and contribution in the field of livestock. Those 4-H members under his supervision have shown many champion animals at regional and state shows as well as winners in state contests and awards programs," the citation reads. He also was cited for leadership training and education programs.

Gross also publishes a Result Demonstration Handbook each year for the agricultural industry in Howard County that tells of the findings on agricultural demonstrations of interest to the local area.

Picnic Closes VBS

Vacation Bible School at the Carl Street Church of Christ ended Friday with a picnic in Comanche Trail Park. Ronnie Sellers, pastor, said attendance increased daily with an average of 130 students attending classes.

June Still Best Bride Month

June retains her title as queen of the bridal months despite a decline in the number of marriages performed. June, 1970, lags behind June, 1969, in total marriages and is behind last year's monthly average. But June is still the 1970 pace setter.

As of Friday, 33 weddings had been recorded in the county clerk's office and 40 licenses issued. Sixty-one weddings took place in June last year.

The total of weddings has been somewhat less so far this year than last, according to county clerk's records. Twenty-four to 27 weddings a month has been the average for 1970 while marriages totaled in the 40's for the most months in 1969.

Deputy Clerk Shirley White jokingly attributed the decline in the number of nuptials to a new state law. A waiting period of six months is now required between the dates of a divorce decree and the remarriage. New Mexico, which has no such law, has probably had an increase in weddings because the state line is less than 100 miles away.

March is second to June in the number of licenses issued. 28. January had a total of 24, February, 23; April, 24; and May, 27.

Local Schoolmen Attend Workshop

Four area districts will be participating July 5-10 in the annual summer workshop of the Texas Small Schools Project in the Jester Center of The University of Texas in Austin.

Participants include Ira Independent School District, Borden Independent School District, Dawson Independent School District and Glasscock County Independent School District.

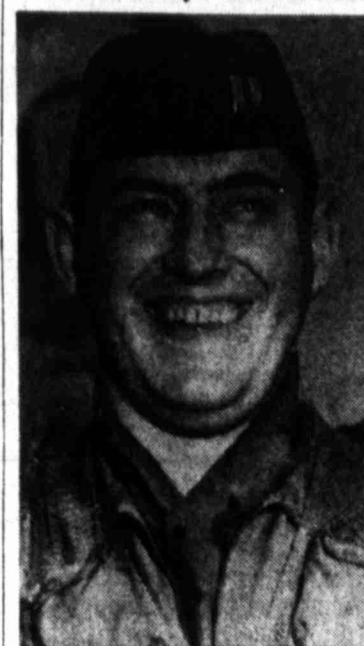

The Small Schools Project is the problem-solving focal point for 130 districts in Texas which have fewer than 500 students in 12 grades. It is sponsored jointly by the Texas Small Schools Association and the Texas Education Agency, which provides a traveling staff to carry ideas from district to district throughout the state.
