SS9 RATED ABLE TO KNOCK OUT U.S. MINUTEMAN

Soviet Missile Stockpile Put At 300

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets were reported Saturday to have close to 300 giant SS9 missile launchers now ready for use or under construction.

The new information will have repercussions in the coming debate over such matters as the ABM and the U.S.-Soviet arms-curb talks.

The SS9s loof large in U.S. strategic calculations because they are rated able to knock out the U.S. Minuteman missiles designed to deter the Soviets from launching a nuclear war.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told newsmen Thursday the Soviets are proceeding apace with their intercontinental ballistic missile program, including new construction, since the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation talks—SALT—reopened at Vienna in mid-April.

He declined to give figures. Last spring he said 220 SS9s were deployed and 60 were under construction.

The new U.S. findings, drawing heavily on intelligence from seeing-eye satellites, supersede various unconfirmed reports in recent months that the Soviets had stopped or slowed down their ICBM expansion since the SALT talks first began last November.

According to U.S. sources the up-to-date verified evidence indicates:

—Building has started on approximately three new SS9 flights. Since each flight has six missiles, this would add about 18 to the previous U.S. estimate of 280 SS9s deployed or under construction.

—At least a half-dozen of the 60 SS9 launchers Laird previously listed as under construction have now become operational.

—The Soviets have continued new construction of other ICBMs such as the SS11, a smaller missile comparable to the Minuteman.

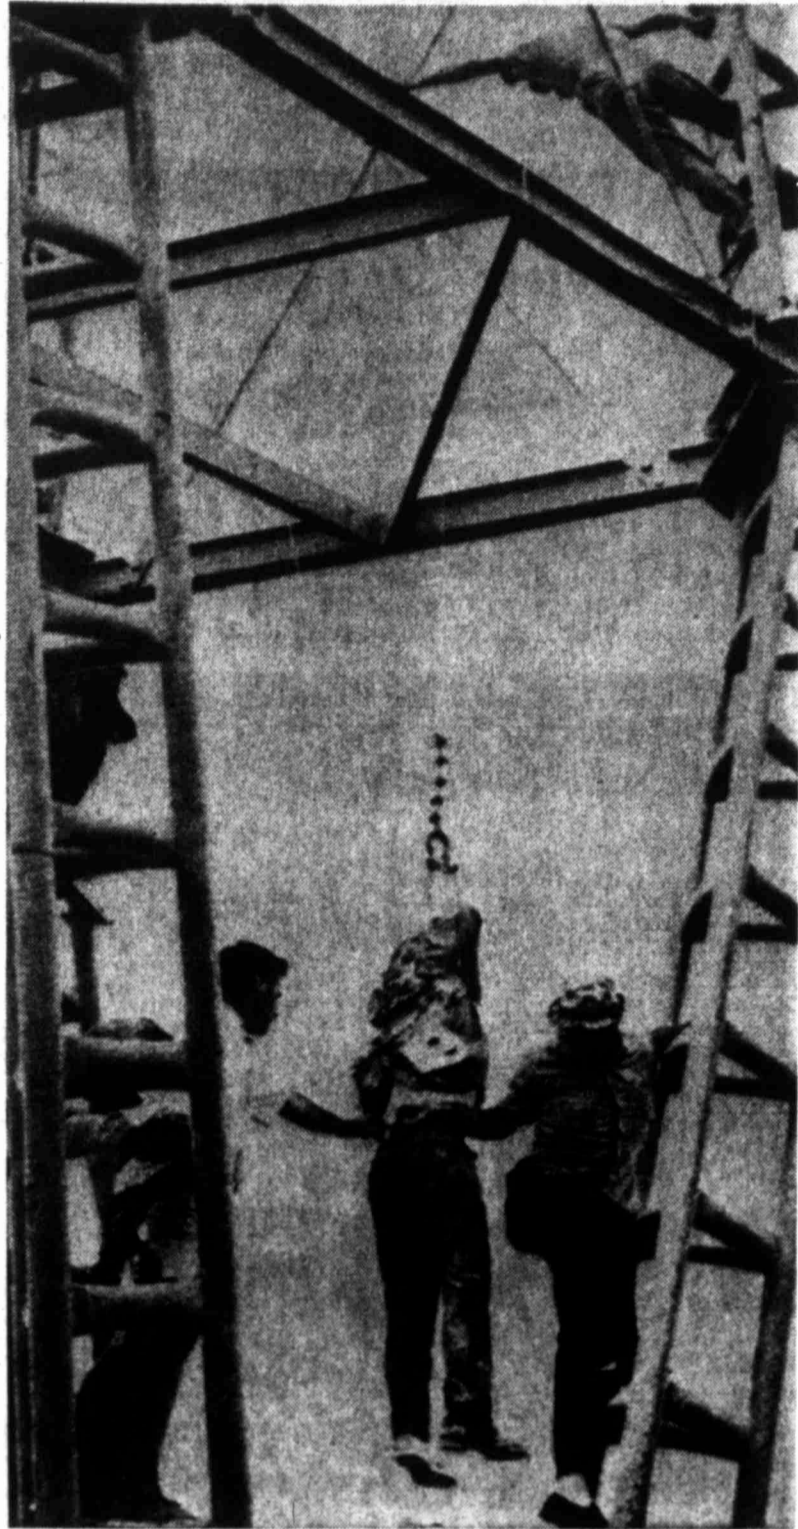

Unlike the SS11, believed able to carry a one-megaton (one-million-ton TNT equivalent) city-busting warhead, the SS9 is rated capable of delivering a 25-megaton warhead or a cluster of three five-megaton warheads accurately enough to destroy Minutemen in hardened silos.

Pentagon experts have estimated that 420 SS9s, with multiple warheads, could knock out 95 per cent of the 1,054 land-based U.S. ICBMs.

Some opponents of the U.S. Safeguard antiballistic missile program had used the earlier reports of a slowdown in the Soviet missile expansion as an argument against President Nixon's plan to expand the American ABM. One major reason for Safeguard is to defend Minutemen against SS9s.

The informants did not specify why the fresh information concerning the Soviet missile posture became known at this time.

LOWERED TO SAFETY — Harold Boley, 28, of Dallas, is lowered to the ground after being trapped on a 1,000 foot television tower in Wichita Falls Saturday. His partner fell to his death from a platform 220 feet above the ground.

PARTNER IS KILLED

Falling Painter Caught, Survives

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A painter, plunging down the face of a television station tower toward almost certain death, was saved Saturday when his leg jammed into an opening in the structure. His partner fell to his death.

The surviving painter, hanging head down 120 to 150 feet from the ground, grabbed the tower and clung to it, crying for aid. His foreman, John Duncan, raced up a small ladder, uprighted the injured man and lashed him to the tower until careful rescue plans could be made.

INJURIES

The man whose life was saved is Harold Boley, 28, of Dallas. His left leg — the one which plunged into the opening — was broken between the knee and ankle. He suffered probable internal injuries.

The dead man was H. L. Bingham of Cleburne, in his 20s. The 1,000-foot tower is that of KAUZ-TV, Channel 6. It is made of three poles lashed together by cross-ties. From even a short distance it appears to be one tall, thin structure.

Authorities at the scene said the two men had started painting from the top and had reached about the 250-foot level when they decided to stop.

FELL 200 FEET

The foreman, Duncan, started to lower them in their harnesses, using a winch and cable on a truck. The cable worked out of its guides and bunched up. The men on the tower had been standing on a tiny catwalk, and when they put their weight on the cable they fell 20 feet as the bunched-up cable ran free.

The fall jerked Bingham out of his harness and he fell well over 200 feet, landing atop a small transmitting building and bouncing to the ground. Boley fell about 70 feet, authorities said, before his leg plunged into the opening and stopped his fall.

Fire department ladders were too short to reach Boley. Duncan and two firemen climbed the ladder and placed another harness around Boley, and a winch lowered him.

IN SHOCK

Boley was pale and called for water when he reached the ground. Firemen said he was in shock.

The fall occurred about 9:10 a.m. from police records. Boley reached the ground at 11 a.m. Scores of rescue experts flocked to the scene along with hundreds of spectators. Tower experts arrived as did cave explorers with their equipment but the fire department was able to make the rescue.

Unemployment High Enough?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sherman J. Maisel, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, said Saturday the nation's unemployment level may already be higher than is necessary to cool inflation.

Many studies do indicate that further increases in unemployment — even an additional 2 or 3 per cent — would contribute little, if anything, to slowing the rate of inflationary price increases," Maisel said.

Because of the severe impact of further unemployment increases, Maisel said, "great weight should be given to those findings which indicate that unemployment levels are already higher than necessary to fight the inflationary pressures arising from excess demands for labor resources."

He also said the nation would be relying primarily on luck to restore economic stability "without more aggressive attacks on individual prices and restrictions, on shortages, or on bottlenecks in supplies, through active income policies or similar approaches."

The Labor Department measured unemployment at 4.7 per cent last month, but in May it had risen to 5 per cent and there is a widespread feeling in the government and among private analysts that it may yet go higher before a permanent turnaround comes.

Durante Collapses, But Recovering

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Jimmy Durante was reported "feeling fine" Saturday in St. John's Hospital where he was taken a day earlier after collapsing following a Las Vegas stage show.

The durable, 77-year-old comic collapsed Thursday night after he left the stage at the Frontier Hotel on The Strip at the Nevada gambling and entertainment center.

His personal doctor, Dr. John Eagan, said the cause was either an infection or chemical imbalance of the inner ears, causing a loss of equilibrium.

Shades of last summer! Are we getting a rerun? Temperatures averaged 101 for the week, and only one day fell to as low as 99. Fortunately, the nights generally cooled into the low 70's, and this combination of hot days and cool nights made cotton and feed continue their magical growth. One of these days, however, if underground seasoning begins to run low, rain will need to keep up this pace for the crops. One of these days, too, our lakes are going to need a shot in the basin to provide ample reserves.

Bank deposits dipped about 2½ per cent as of June 30, the combined statements showed. The total was $49,536,683, the first time it had dropped under the $50 million mark since October, 1968. Loans amounted to $26,509,326, up substantially but under the record, $26,768,772 in June, 1968.

Boards of equalization interviewed taxpayers last week, and the total volume was relatively modest. There were a few adjustments to make, but none of major import. Indications are that the county's assessed roll will be around $81 million.

American Newsmen Arrested At Rally

Two Others Claim They Were Beaten

SAIGON (AP) — Three American newsmen, two wearing black arm bands given them by Vietnamese students, were among people arrested by police who broke up a peace rally in Saigon Saturday.

The three, John Steinbeck IV, son of the late Nobel Prize-winning author, Gerald Liles and Thomas Fox, were all identified as working for Dispatch News Service International. They were released after 90 minutes.

The newsmen were picked up half a block from the U.S. Embassy after 200 police had dispersed about 1,500 students with tear gas.

BEATEN

Two other newsmen, Jed Duvall of CBS and George Watson of ABC, said they were beaten by plain-clothesmen in front of the National Assembly. Watson said he and Duvall were beaten after policemen tried to seize their film.

"We tried to talk to the police, and they started to beat us up with their fists," he said. "Neither of us offered any resistance whatsoever."

The demonstration erupted after an international peace delegation joined Saigon high school and college students in a peace rally.

The delegation is comprised of about 20 members from the United States, Australia, New Zealand and the Netherlands.

FILMS TAKEN

Before releasing the three arrested newsmen, police confiscated their film.

Steinbeck was officially accredited to the Columbia Broadcasting System as a free-lance camera crew soundman, but was not working for CBS at the time of the demonstration.

Dave Miller, CBS bureau chief in Saigon said Steinbeck's accredited status was canceled by CBS as a result of his alleged involvement in the demonstration.

"He abused the credentials by taking part," Miller said.

When they were picked up, Steinbeck and Liles were wearing the black arm bands, of the type worn by student demonstrators.

NO PROTEST

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the United States had not protested the arrests of the three newsmen but was investigating. The South Vietnamese government "seems to feel that they were involved" in the demonstration because of the black arm bands, he added.

The spokesman said such activity by accredited newsmen "jeopardizes the whole press corps," in the embassy's view.

Watson, 33, suffered a cracked rib and cuts and bruises, ABC said, but escaped serious head injury although he was hit in the head by a tear gas grenade fired by a policeman 20 feet away.

Duvall, 33, was roughed up but not seriously injured.

S. Vietnam Sends Back Defiant War Prisoners

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces clashed three times with enemy units in Cambodia Saturday and claimed they killed 36 of the enemy without suffering any fatalities of their own.

The engagements provided most of the battle action in Indochina as South Vietnamese authorities sent 62 defiant war prisoners and 24 fishermen back to North Vietnam.

The biggest repatriation of the war was carried out at sea just above the 17th Parallel which divides North and South Vietnam.

The 86 men were taken in a South Vietnamese navy vessel to a point six miles off North Vietnam and delivered to two waiting motorized junks. The junks took them to a coastal village just north of the 17th Parallel.

Before they boarded the junks, the war prisoners threw away clothing, duffel bags and other articles in defiance of the Saigon government. The clothing and gifts had been given them by the South Vietnamese.

The 62 POWs were all sick and disabled. The fishermen had been picked up when their boats strayed into South Vietnamese waters.

South Vietnam has been trying to return the disabled prisoners for several years, but North Vietnam never agreed to receive them until now. In four earlier repatriations, a total of 93 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong prisoners were sent to North Vietnam between January, 1966 and June, 1967. These groups had been returned at the "Freedom Bridge" crossing the Ben Hai River at the 17th Parallel.

In the Cambodia fighting, South Vietnamese troops reported killing 11 of the enemy in two small clashes southeast of the provincial capital of Svay Rieng in the Parrot's Beak area. A spokesman said the South Vietnamese suffered no casualties.

Farther north, near Suong in Eastern Cambodia, Vietnamese Rangers, bolstered by artillery and air strikes, beat off a North Vietnamese mortar and ground attack, the spokesman said. He said 25 of the enemy were killed and South Vietnamese losses were 12 wounded but no dead.

Powerful Roman Figure To Form New Government

ROME (AP) — Giulio Andreotti, a Christian Democrat leader often dubbed the most powerful man in Rome after the Pope, was officially made premier-designate of Italy Saturday night. Andreotti, 51, accepted the job with reservations.

Andreotti, who heads the Christian Democrats in the Chamber of Deputies, was given the task of forming Italy's 32nd post-Fascist government by President Giuseppe Saragat.

Premier Mariano Rumor resigned unexpectedly Monday as the four-party, center-left coalition was showing signs of crumbling in a dispute over relations with the Italian Communist party. In addition, a nationwide general strike had threatened to affect further Italy's strike-battered economy.

A stooped man with a shrill voice and slight myopia, Andreotti has served more time in Italian governments than any other politician.

Using Rome and its province as a power base, Andreotti was elected to Italy's first postwar legislature and has remained in parliament ever since.

His longest terms were as minister of the interior in the early 1950s and of defense in the 1960s. He also served as minister of finance, treasury, of commerce and of industry before becoming leader of the largest party in the Chamber, the Christian Democrats.

It was Andreotti's first appointment as premier and the first time since World War II that a native Roman had been given the top job.

Andreotti enjoys immense popularity in Rome, where he polled the highest number of votes in the 1968 parliamentary elections. His influence extends from municipal Rome politics to the outlying areas of the capital.

As leader of the Catholic University Students' Federation during World War II, he forged strong ties with the Vatican, which he has retained.

For these reasons, he earned the label from the Italian press as "the most powerful man in Rome, after the Pope."

Missile Goes Off Course

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — An Air Force Athena missile launched early Saturday morning in Utah malfunctioned and might have landed 400 miles off course in a remote mountain section of Mexico, White Sands officials said.

The trouble-plagued Athena, designed to test atmospheric re-entry capabilities, was launched from the White Sands test complex near Green River, Utah at 2:40 a.m.

It was programmed to land 400 miles away on this southern New Mexico missile base.

Instead, range officials said, the re-entry vehicle if it did not burn up in the atmosphere, landed 180 miles southeast of Chihuahua City, Mex.

Trustees To Take Look At Budget

Budget amendments, new sick leave policy and substitute teacher's salary increase proposals are among the items to be discussed at the regular meeting of the Big Spring Independent School Board.

One of the budget amendments deals with the initiation of a kindergarten program on a limited basis on August 24. Originally, the kindergarten program was not scheduled to be in full operation until 1973-74 school year, according to S. M. Anderson, superintendent.

The state attorney general has designated the Big Spring Independent School District as one of the districts that must begin a limited program for those pupils qualifying as "educationally handicapped," according to Anderson.

LIMITATIONS

Only those youngsters who are at least five years and five months old and will not be six on September 1 who come from either low income families or have a language problem can be accepted into the program at the present time. The proposed budget to cover cost of equipment, teacher salary and transportation of students to the kindergarten center is $29,810. The district will receive $22,890 from the foundation program to cover salary and operation allowance. The program will be set up in facilities at Lakeview Elementary this year.

ALLOCATION

The school board will discuss a budget amendment which will incorporate funds made available to the schools through the enactment of the New Special Education Plan by the Legislature.

The new special education program would allot $17,878 to cover costs of supplies, instructional media, materials and special consultive services. "This new budget would decrease the drain on local funds for special education by $2,250," said Anderson.

A plan to raise substitute teachers pay from $14 a day to $15 will go before the board for approval. According to a letter to the board from Anderson, the new figure was proposed because the state sick leave program reimburses the school $15 for expenditures in hiring a substitute when a full-time teacher is ill.

SICK LEAVE

The new sick leave policy covering all full-time personnel of the school district will also be presented. The new policy is actually a merging of the state sick leave policy with the local policy, according to Anderson.

The board will also consider the acceptance of 11 letters of resignation and two retirements, and discuss the employment of 11 teacher applicants.

Week's Trials Postponed

Those receiving notices to serve as jurors for 118th District Court will not need to report Monday as scheduled because the trials slated to begin on that day have been postponed. No new date has been set.

According to District Judge R. W. Caton, the trials have been postponed because of the illness of one of the principal defendants and one case, which was first on the docket, was remanded to County Court.

John Howard Smith, 21, 801 Marcy Apt. 33, is hospitalized with infectious hepatitis, said Judge Caton. His case must be postponed until he is well enough to stand trial.

Attorneys for David Tubb, 19, Route 1, Fouke, have filed a motion to quash the case pending against him. Judge Caton postponed the trial in order to have time to study the attorneys' motion. Tubb is charged with rape.

New trial dates and a new jury panel will be selected later.

Mental Health Budget Goes To $313 Million

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Mental Health approved a two-year budget request Saturday of $313,863,000, or $139,761,000 more than its current two-year operating budget.

The budget request, which still must go before the legislature next year, would be for the biennium starting Sept. 1, 1971.

The board also projected its fiscal 1974-75 budget request at $361,149,000, or more than double its current two-year budget.

In other action, the board: —Accepted grants totaling $690,183, including $100,000 to upgrade patient care in a maximum security unit at the Rusk State Hospital and $39,757 from the Central Intelligence Agency to the Texas Research Institute of Mental Health Sciences at Houston for research projects in human behavior.

—Approved state grants totaling $5,258,681 to mental health retardation centers in 22 urban communities. The centers must provide local matching funds of 20 to 40 per cent of the state funds to qualify for the grants.

—Named Kerrville State Hospital's new activity building the Patricia Ernst building in memory of Mrs. Ernst, who was coordinator of volunteer services and director of rehabilitation programs at the hospital when she died June 12. She had worked there 13 years.

—Commissioned Texas A&M to provide a master plan for the Austin State School, Terrell State Hospital and Wichita Falls State Hospital.

—Approved construction of a $400,000 administration building at the San Antonio State Hospital and prototype ward buildings at the Austin and Rusk State Hospitals.

—Approved spending $3.1 million to construct the first phase of the Brenham State School for the Mentally Retarded.

23 U.S. Prisoners Died At Hiroshima

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — Twenty-three U.S. prisoners of war perished in the atomic bombing of Hiroshima in World War II 25 years ago, a former Japanese police officer said today.

"I am positive of the number because when they were locked up their dogtags were turned over to me and I placed them in a steel safe at military headquarters," said Hiroshi Yanagida, 56, now owner of a tea shop here.

After the war, U.S. military officers recovered the dogtags and it was understood they took them back to Washington, he said. Dogtags are metal identification plates worn by servicemen.

Hiroshima officials said they are asking the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo to obtain the names and addresses of the 23 prisoners for inclusion in peace memorial in this city, target of the first atom bomb used in warfare.

Japanese officials say the bomb, dropped Aug. 6, 1945, killed 200,000 persons but American estimates place the toll at 66,000.

According to the former police officer, most of the Americans held in Hiroshima were shot down on bombing missions over Japan. But he said one or two of the prisoners were women.

Trucking Industry Says: 'Not So'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trucking industry has called for retraction of a statement made Monday that "if there were no trucks involved, the highways would last forever."

The head of the American Trucking Associations called the comment by Bernard Sacks, chief investigator for the General Accounting Office, "preposterous."

William A. Bresnahan said in a statement Friday government investigators turned up several other factors involved in deterioration of road surfaces and that truck traffic is only one of these factors.

You may not have yours by now, and if not, it's coming — the new telephone directory. Since the first of the year (until the listings were closed for inclusion in the directories), 394 numbers have been added. Maybe we're becoming more affluent, or some have suggested this sort of increase doesn't jibe with the census count.

The City of Big Spring is going to have a new director of public works. He is Maj. Howard County Democrats, in a meeting during the week, explored the possibility consolidating small election boxes and recommending this to the commissioners court. C. V. If the court takes this up, perhaps some consideration can be given to cutting down the size of the jumbo boxes.

SHE IS A REAL LIVE GIRL — Dana Dowell is a real live girl, to which few would disagree. But the reigning Miss Texas says some people won't be convinced. The dark-haired White Oak beautiful relinquishes her crown in Fort Worth July 18.

New 'Miss Texas' To Be Selected

FORT WORTH (AP) — Sixty-six Texas lovelies, predominantly brown-haired coeds, descend on Fort Worth this week for mid-summer's annual Miss Texas pageant.

Tall, short, shapely or whatever, for the girls it's a frantic week of work and play, climaxed Saturday night with the crowning of the new Miss Texas.

The reigning queen, Longview's Dana Dowell, relinquishes her crown at the close of a regional telecast.

The coronation signals the start of a busy year for the winner, a year of travel and personal appearance demands that several previous winners found objectionable.

But rarely has one surrendered the title before the year has run its course.

Besides a $2,500 scholarship and a $3,500 wardrobe, Miss Texas wins a trip to Atlantic City as the state's representative in the Miss America pageant.

Texas has had only one Miss America, the former Jo-Carroll Dennison of Tyler. That was 1942. She is now Mrs. Russell Stoneham and is one of five judges for the Texas pageant.

Her husband is an executive producer for film shows at CBS in Hollywood.

The 1967 Miss America, the former Jane Anne Jayroe, will be mistress of ceremonies. The Oklahoma beauty is now Mrs. Paul Petersen.

The featured entertainer once again is singer Joe DeVito, who will be backed by five contestants from last year's pageant. They include singer Janis Lacy, who was Miss Center a year ago and Miss Panola County in 1968.

Dancers will be former titlists Sherry Daniel, Miss Gladewater; Linda Pate, Miss Tyler County; Sherry Smith, Miss Southwest Texas State; and Diana McClain, Miss East Texas State.

The composite Miss Texas candidate this year would be a brunette coed, 19, 5-6, weighing 119½ pounds and measuring 35½-24-36.

Judy Borden, Miss Sulphur Springs, and Theda Miller, Miss Port Arthur, both 5-6 and 120, most closely fit the composite.

Miss Linden, Jan Roberson, an even five feet, is the shortest. The tallest, at 5-10, are Jan Hunter, Miss Richland Area, and Terry Hamilton, Miss Winnboro.

Although some contestants are still in high school, and three have graduated from college, the average contestant is a college sophomore. All of which means nothing competitively.

Report Finds Substance In Hospital Irregularities

AUSTIN (AP) — A report on a month-long probe of charges of sexual promiscuity, drug abuse and possible mistreatment of patients at the Austin State Hospital showed Saturday there is some truth to the allegations.

The findings were made public in a 35-page report, which also included additional information on the alcoholic rehabilitation center. The report was issued at the regular meeting of the State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Chairman Ward Burke of Lufkin emphasized that the staff "already was moving vigorously to see that the patients in the hospital are carefully and competently treated." He said staff workers "who do not serve right will be fired."

NAMES DELETED

The report, prepared by acting mental health Commissioner Earl Scott and his legal staff, deleted the names of patients and employees at the hospital who were interviewed or made charges.

The investigation started June 4 after Rep. Don Cavness of Austin made several complaints about alleged misconduct at the facility.

The report said "some degree of sexual activity" involving patients exists at the hospital, and it noted that security guards said it was "common occurrence to find men and women on the grounds in 'compromising positions.'" A guard testified he had witnessed "numerous incidents involving sexual intercourse between patients," including one incident during working hours.

MANY MEETINGS

A girl, 16, said she was pregnant by a former ward attendant, but that her 50 or 60 meetings with him had taken place off the grounds, the report said. She was later discharged to a foster home, and the youth quit his job at the hospital.

"Very few isolated incidents" involving the use of drugs by patients were discovered, the report said. An incident was observed, however, of four patients sniffing lighter fluid until "they would fall over and begin to shake and laugh."

A security guard also testified, the report said, that he and other guards frequently find patients and former patients drunk on the grounds.

"QUIET ROOMS"

The report said in the 70-bed children's psychiatric hospital for boys and girls between the ages of 5 and 16, the youths are sometimes stripped of their clothes and put in "quiet rooms" but that it is done only to those patients with "suicidal tendencies." One former employee, however, testified that patients who do not have such tendencies have been disrobed and put in the small rooms for as long as 30 days.

"The doctors felt that keeping such patients alive was sufficient justification" for the use of the rooms and "they did not believe there was an acceptable alternative method for doing this," the report said.

TAPED TOGETHER

It was disclosed that two girls were taped together at the wrist, and a doctor at the hospital said it was done because the girls continually fought with each other and tried to involve others in their disputes.

In December, 1969, the report said, a 12-year old deaf mute patient was handcuffed to a basketball goal post after screaming so loudly she disrupted the entire ward. She remained outside for 24 hours, but a doctor said an attendant checked on her every 15 minutes and that she was given a sleeping bag for the night. Her meals were taken to her and she was allowed inside to use the restroom.

"The patient actually seemed to like being outside because she could watch the cars pass and sing with the staff," the report said. A doctor said the girl has responded to therapy.

RAPED TWICE

The report said a female, 15, diagnosed as having a "hysterical personality," claimed she was raped twice by different employees, but that neither of the employees were still at the hospital.

No heterosexual acts were witnessed at the children's unit, the report quoted employees as saying, but boys had been discovered engaging in homosexual activity. One worker was "fired on the spot" for fondling a male patient, the report said.

"No concrete evidence could be furnished" on the availability of narcotic and hallucinatory drugs to patients, the report said, but a worker with children claimed that aspirin and darvon were given indiscriminately to patients and that the drug cabinet was not kept locked.

Runaways have been stripped of their clothes, the report said, to discourage their leaving the grounds. The patients are allowed to earn their clothing back.

DRINKING

Occasional drinking occurs at the alcoholic rehabilitation center, the report said, but this "is expected by the staff since drinking is the predominant symptom of the alcoholic patient's illness." Only infrequently, the report said, is liquor or beer discovered on the ward.

However, the report said, the "lack of authority and incisive leadership" at the center is a "disturbing factor."

The report recommended tighter security at the center with all visitors identified.

RECOMMENDATIONS

General recommendations in the report included more "timely, accurate reports" of incidents and suspected incidents at the state hospital, more planned recreation in the evening for patients and the locking of all gates except the main gate at night and on the weekends. The main gate will be manned.

Better lighting was recommended, and trees and bushes should be trimmed, the report said.

Undercover agents, if necessary, should be used to determine "the nature and extent of illicit drug traffic" at the hospital.

It was also recommended that a patient should not have his clothing removed unless prescribed in writing by a physician and that the patient should then be put in seclusion.

"WILL ACT"

More child care workers are needed, and they should be better trained, the report said.

Gov. Preston Smith said the report proves "there are some regrettable things wrong at the hospital. We must, and we will, act immediately not only to rectify the wrongs, but to set additional policies, and reorganize where necessary, to prevent such problems from ever arising again."

Albert S. Kaseberg, charged with the Thursday kidnaping of his son, was released on $1,000 bond Friday from Howard County jail. The Houston man was arrested in Sterling City by that county's sheriff at 11 p.m. Thursday.

According to playmates of Al Kaseberg Jr., 9, Kaseberg Sr. took the boy from the grounds of Goliad Junior High in a taxi. Mrs. Georgia Kaseberg, the boy's mother, informed police and filed the complaint against her estranged husband.

SUNNY WEATHER FRIEND — Big Spring abounds with horned toads this time of the year. They thrive on hot, sunny weather. Common to Texas, the animal has been known as youngsters pet, souvenir, subject of myths and legends, and even a school mascot.

Famed Texas Horned Lizard Makes Popular Summer Pet

By GORDON ZEIGLER
He has been the target of neighborhood pet roundups. One Texas brag tale has it he hibernates for more than a score of years in the cornerstone of the old Eastland County courthouse, coming alive when the building was razed. "He'll spit blood at you if you make him mad," some people caution.

One Texas denominational university made him the school mascot.

He's the Texas Horned Lizard, called simply Horned Toad or Horny Toad by folks from these parts. As TCU's mascot, children's pet and tourist's souvenir, few Texas reptiles have gained such prominence.

He comes in about a dozen varieties of the reptile family which abounds in this area.

LIKES IT HOT
Horned toads love hot sunny days and they are most active during the hottest weather. They like to bury in the sand over night when temperatures fall. Hibernation starts at the first cold spell in autumn.

He is seen most often running across a walkway or open expanse on a vacant lot, making a fast clip on his short legs. The sharp appearing spines on his head and back are harmless to the touch, and when youngsters know this, they do not hesitate in capturing their prize.

Toads keep best in a small box with several inches of fine, dry sand in the bottom. One source suggested setting the box in the sun for several hours and feeding him meal worms or soft bodied insects such as black ants during the sun bath. Many toads die when not kept warm.

Souvenir value of the horned toad has long been known to out-of-state tourists visiting this area.

TRADING PIECE
Boy Scouts have been known to make good use of the toads, especially on Scout jamborees as prized trading pieces. This

Missionaries To Present Program

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Marvin, missionaries to Korea, will project slides at the 7:30 p.m. service of the First Presbyterian Church today of their work.

Part of the presentation will be about the Presbyterian College in Taejo, Korea. After the service, there will be a reception in the basement in order that members of the congregation may visit and ask questions of the Marvins.

Marvin is a retired layman in the First Presbyterian Church in Odessa who was accepted for a three-year term as missionary to Korea. Recently he was reappointed to a second three-year term, and he and Mrs. Marvin will be leaving for their station Aug. 22.

The Rev. Larry Jackson, student at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, will speak at the morning worship. He will continue to serve as interim pastor during the summer, since Dr. R. Gage Lloyd has retired.

writer recalls how Scouts from elsewhere were intrigued by the Texas reptile, which appears grotesque. One toad, however, was kind of a mascot and didn't make it to the trading tent.

Some pet companies seek the toad where he is abundant. One Big Springer recalls several years ago one man was offering 10 cents per toad. Some fear-poaching might lead to the horned toad's demise.

NO BLOOD SPITTER
Legends concerning spitting of blood are inaccurate to a certain degree. Fact is when a toad is frightened he puffs up to the point that tiny blood vessels in an eye break, squirting a stream of blood. This happens rarely, though, and does little harm either to lizard or human.

The mottled brown and gray creature with spiny skin is hard to mistake for a lizard. He's all horned toad.

Whether as the TCU Horned Frog, old Rip, the horned toad who hibernates in a corner-stone, or just the toad kept by the youngster next door, the reptile will go down in history as having drawn more attention than most of his cold blooded relatives.

Buried Under Hulls

LUBBOCK (AP) — Raymond L. Haggard, 18, of Lubbock was killed Friday when he was buried under a mountain of cotton seed hulls while working at a Lubbock plant.

Pipelines, Damage Claim On Commission's Agenda

City commissioners will hold their regular meeting at 5:15 Tuesday evening and consider such matters as a water pipeline to serve the Cosden refinery, the closing of an alley, a request for an okay on an oil pipeline across Moss Lake Road, and a $300,000 damage claim against the city.

A water service line to Cosden is in the works, as Cosden has agreed to pay for the construction of an eight-inch line capable of carrying 600 gallons per minute. Cosden would also be required to pay for the installation of any water meters required.

BIDS POSSIBLE
City Manager Larry Crow is proposing the laying of a 12-inch pipeline that would be capable of handling increased water requirements in the future.

The city would bear the expense for the cost difference involved in using the larger pipe. The city would also guarantee the availability of the 600 gallons of water each minute, at a pressure of 25 pounds per square inch.

If the commission concurs in the matter, bids would be taken on the pipeline prior to a special meeting that would be called to consider the bids on July 30.

Plans are also being made for construction of a water pipeline to the Intech site. Acting public works director Bo Anderson says that both pipelines could be in production by the middle of August or the beginning of September.

CLOSING ALLEY
Cook and Talbot Realtors, representing National Building Centers, are requesting the closing of an alley running from Johnson to Nolan parallel to the 300 block of East 2nd. Closing of the alley and termination of easements can be accomplished without the usual three readings of the ordinance if all the commissioners favor the move.

Phillips Petroleum Company is asking for the right-of-way to lay and maintain two pipelines under Moss Lake Road. Betty Harmon Rose, represented by the legal firm of Watts and Patterson from Odessa, has filed a claim against the city for damages of $300,000.

OIL SLICK
She and her attorneys are alleging that an oil slick street, created by a leak from a city vehicle caused her to lose control of her car as she left a residence at 1007 Johnson around 1:20 a.m. May 24. She claims her car skidded, striking a street sign and a utility pole.

The commissioners are also expected to act on the bids received for pre-coated rock to be used in the city's seal coat program for topping certain streets.

The Five Watters amateur radio club will be back to ask the commission for a change in the contract approved on June 9. The Five Watters want to be notified 90 days in advance if the city should decide to terminate their lease on the acre of land on US 87 to be used for their clubhouse. They also want permission to remove any existing structures in such an event.

YIELD SIGN
The Traffic Commission has recommended that the city commissioners approve the installation of a yield sign on Robb at East 25th.

Salvation Army commanding officer Joseph E. Saint is asking the commission to consider the burden placed on his organization by a street improvement assessment.

This was for the paving of the east side of the third block of San Antonio, running along property that is being used by the organization as a ball-field and playground area.

Saint is asking that the obligation be removed, since his group has no additional funds to draw from, and payment of the assessment would require tapping of funds to be used for distributing food to the needy.

Genealogy Unit Protests Paving

The Big Spring Genealogical Society protested Saturday the impending paving of an area south of the pavilion on Scenic Mountain State Park.

Glady Hardy said the group felt that this would cover many of the names and figures carved in the rock, and that the pavement might be put in another place and not do this. The society was attempting to obtain support from other groups to encourage a change of location.

Clean-Air Measure Termed Too Weak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-pollution forces said Saturday the clean-air measure passed by the House is woefully weak and called on the Senate for a stronger bill.

"We do not want another bill that purports to protect the environment, but in fact allows desperately serious problems to get worse," said six environmental groups and the United Auto Workers in a letter to senators.

The group enclosed a 19-point legislative program which it said would "guarantee every American a safer, cleaner atmosphere by 1975."

The chief thrust of the plan would be virtually to ban the internal combustion engine after 1975.

"The 1967 Air Quality Act, because of inadequate funding and cumbersome implementation procedures, has not reduced pollution from a single smokstack anywhere in the country," the letter said.

"Yet diseases related to air pollution continue to rise, and the economic loss—estimated at up to $30 billion a year—has not been reduced," the groups said. "Damage to farm crops alone exceeds $50 million annually."

The letter called the Clean Air Act Amendments passed by the House a pitifully weak measure.

The leading proposal in the legislative plan would set stringent automotive emission standards. The groups said pollution from automobiles account for 60 per cent of the nation's air pollution.

Federal testing of automobiles on the production line and on the road to insure compliance with antipollution standards was called for. The plan also asked that the government regulate oxides of nitrogen—a key element in smog—by 1973 instead of 1975 as now planned.

Ireland Bans Liquor On Day Of March

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland's government banned Saturday night all liquor sales on Monday, when thousands of Protestant Orangemen will march to celebrate their 1690 victory over Roman Catholicism in the battle of Boyne.

A security force of 20,000 troops and police stood by for trouble.

The annual parades traditionally have set off rioting, and this year the province is at fever pitch after two weekends of shooting and arson in which 13 people died.

Jack Lynch, Prime Minister of the neighboring Irish Republic, made a nationwide broadcast appealing to Catholics in the north to stay away from trouble.

The British Army, which has been responsible for internal security since the Catholic-Protestant battles of last August, threw up an iron curtain to protect a field at Finaghy, just outside this capital city, where the Protestant Orange order will stage its main demonstration.

A fence of barbed wire and corrugated iron shielded the field from a nearby housing development occupied mainly by Catholics.

Army searches for weapons continued in Belfast, the provincial capital, and neighboring towns. All vehicles entering the city, including buses, were searched at roadblocks.

A fire bomb wrapped in a parcel was discovered in the bar of a downtown hotel occupied by newsmen from all parts of the world. This was the fourth known attempt to set fire to hotels in the past two weeks.

The Catholic-based Civil Rights Association called off demonstrations planned in Londonderry and Belfast. The demonstrations were intended to protest alleged brutality by British troops who seized more than 100 weapons from Belfast's main Catholic area last weekend.

President Names Productive Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has named a new National Commission on Productivity which will seek to increase the output per manhour of work as a means of easing inflationary pressures.

Also announced by Nixon Friday was the initiation of a series of "inflation alerts" disclosed in his June 17 radio-TV talk on economics.

These reports will start early next month. They are to be prepared by the Council of Economic Advisers to pinpoint trouble spots in wage-price-cost-productivity trends.

Ex-Policemen Assessed Penalties For Theft

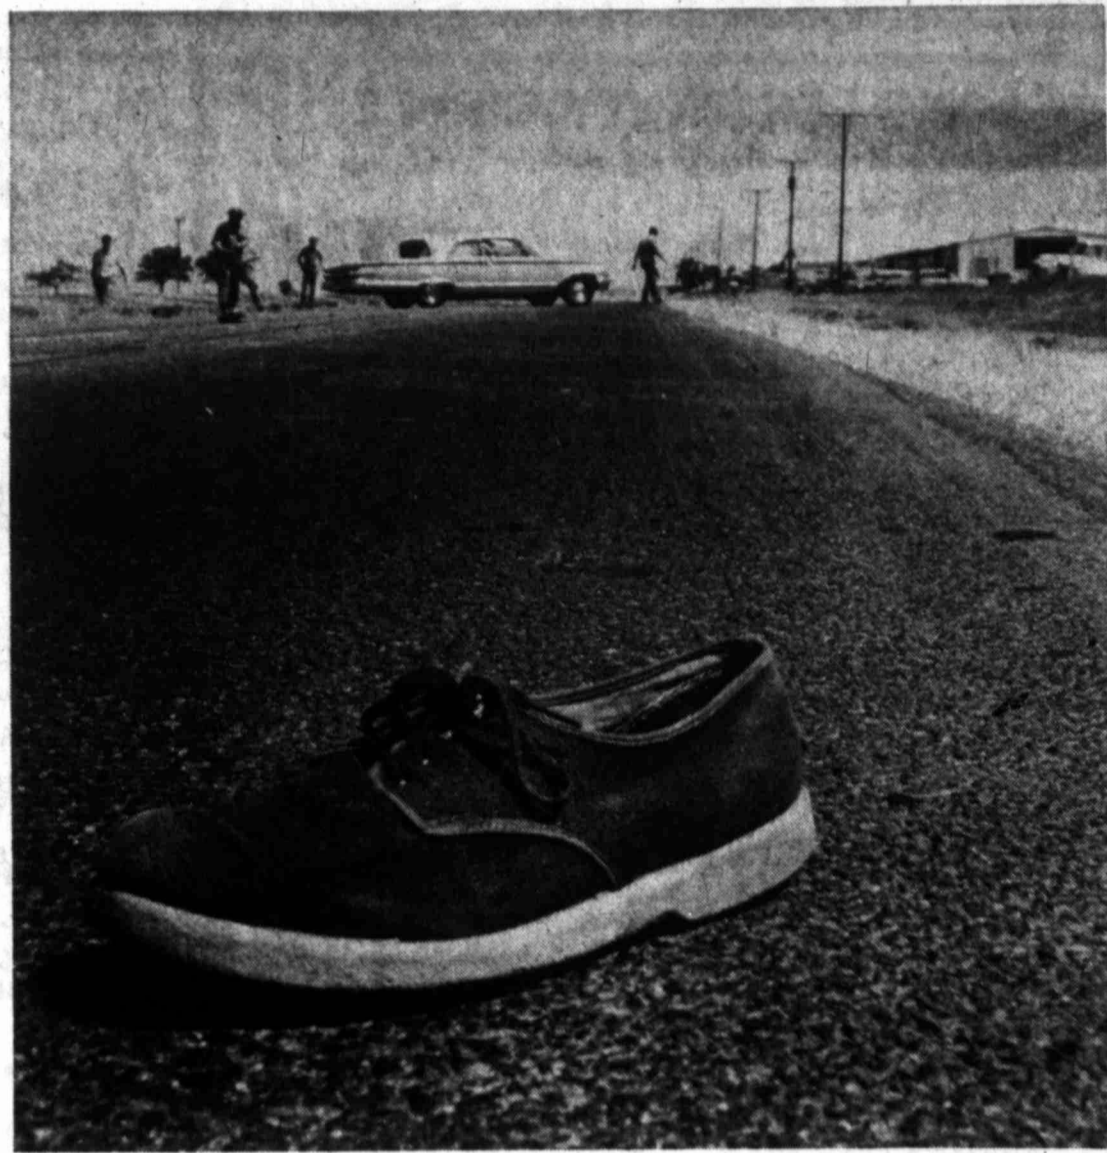

Three ex-policemen charged with theft under $50 in connection with the robbery of a local liquor store pleaded guilty Friday in County Court, Judge Lee Porter presiding.

Defendants D. W. Day, 35, Box 266, Forsan; Jerry W. Williams, 22, 1802 State; and Robert L. Wells, 24, 1404 Runnels were originally charged with theft over $50 and indicted by the Grand Jury. They were to have been tried Monday in 118th District Court.

According to District Judge R. W. Caton, the merchandise had been returned, thus reducing the charge from a felony to a misdemeanor. On this basis, he remanded the case to County Court.

Judge Porter fined the three $500 each and sentenced each to 180 days in jail, probation.

LAST STEP — One of the shoes of Charles Holtman, 44, remains on US 87 where he walked into the path of an on-coming car Saturday morning opposite the Big Spring State Hospital. He died instantly.

Hospital Patient Dies When Struck By Auto

A car-pedestrian accident Saturday resulted in Howard County's fifth fatal fatality of the year.

Charles Holtman, 44, identified as a patient at Big Spring State Hospital was struck by an automobile and killed instantly Saturday at 11:05 a.m. as he walked along US 87.

Holtman was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital where he was dead on arrival.

The accident occurred directly in front of the hospital about four tenths of a mile north of Big Spring.

Driver of the northbound vehicle was Ellene M. McAlister, Houston. Her mother, Zena Mayfield, San Angelo, was a passenger in the car.

Both reportedly were shaken following the accident and were taken to Malone and Hogan Clinic where they were examined and released without injuries.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell said Holtman was on the east side of the highway and apparently tried to cross the road heading in the direction of the hospital.

Mrs. McAlister told officers she could not stop in time to avoid hitting the man.

Funeral arrangements were pending at River-Welch Funeral Home. The body was to be transferred to Doepenschmidt Funeral Home, New Braunfels, where final arrangements will be announced.

Survivors include one brother, Joe Holtman, Lubbock.

Despite Hospital, J. D. Stewart Has Birthday Cake

J. D. Stewart had a birthday last week. It was his 83rd.

His wife and two daughters from Lubbock, Geneva and Katherine, staged a party in his room at Hall-Bennett complete with a gigantic birthday cake. Nurses and orderlies chatted and helped polish off the cake.

Stewart and his wife came to Big Spring 20 years ago from Brownfield, where they had owned a grocery store. Before that Stewart had farmed. Six weeks ago he had a stroke.

"TWENTY-NINE" His birthday cake was decorated on a fishing theme, since Stewart is an angler from way back. True to the fisherman's code he had this to say about his age: His prescription for long life is Exodus 20:12: "Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land the Lord thy God hath given thee."

The Stewarts are members of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church.

They have two sons: Henry, who works at Cosden, the one who persuaded his parents to come to Big Spring, and Glenn, who lives in Houston.

Scouts Leave For Camp

A week of camping, hiking, working on merit badges and just plain roughing it begins for fourteen Big Spring Scouts who left this morning for the Buffalo Trails Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains.

Members of Troop 5, sponsored by the First Baptist Church left by car at 7 a.m. to head for camp.

Horace Hooper will accompany the boys to camp, serving as their scoutmaster for the week.

Troop leaders are Ronnie Huff, senior patrol leader, and David Wilson, assistant senior patrol leader.

Eagle patrol members going are Bobby Huff, Richard Kennedy and David Teague. Rattlesnake patrol representatives will be Dane Green, Brian Jones, John Wrinkle, and Michael Kennedy. Panthers include Ricky Ballard, Tim Rayne, Frosty Reynolds, Steve Carlisle and John G. Allen.

The scouts plan to return home next Saturday and will arrive in Big Spring somewhere between 2 and 3 p.m.

Martin Active In Drilling

Martin County continues as one of the most active counties in the Permian Basin in drilling. The Reed Drilling Tools weekly report showed that the 11 wells underway in the county ranked behind only the 20 in Pecos County, 12 in Ward County and 15 in Lea County, N.M. The total was a decline of one well for the week.

Other area counties and their number of active rigs included Borden one, Dawson one, Howard five, Mitchell one, and Scurry two.

WEATHER FORECAST — Wide belts of showers are due Sunday from Louisiana along the Gulf through Florida to South Carolina; from the Western Lakes area south through Missouri; and from Arizona and New Mexico north through Idaho and southern Washington. Secret Talks With Hanoi Are Suggested By Rogers

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers suggested Saturday that the United States may seek more secret talks with the Hanoi government to break the stalemate in the Paris negotiations on the Vietnam war.

"We want to indicate maximum flexibility in Paris," Rogers told newsmen after more than four hours of discussions with Britain's new foreign secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home. Asked if any fresh American initiative could be expected at the Paris talks, Rogers said one purpose of his Asian trip was to determine if there was scope for a new move.

No decision has been made he added, but "it's always possible that you can have some other approach to the negotiations. For instance, there could be additional private talks."

Leftists Named In Argentine Kidnap

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Two leftist students, one killed in a gun battle and another still being sought, were identified by Argentine police Saturday as the kidnapers of former President Pedro E. Aramburu.

Police said they still did not know what happened to Aramburu after he was taken from his home May 29, but there have been many reports he was killed.

An official communique said Fernando Abal Medina, 23, masterminded the plot to abduct Aramburu and recruited Emilio Angel Mazza, 24, a law student, to help seize the former president.

Rogers said he had returned from his Far East tour impressed with the quality of the leaders of the Cambodian government. They seem quite convinced, he said, that their government will survive.

Rogers, homeward bound from Asia, is in London for two days to coordinate policies on world affairs with Prime Minister Edward Heath and his colleagues. His talks with Douglas-Home ranged over the most pressing problems of Europe, Asia and Southern Africa, with the main emphasis on Middle East and Far East affairs.

On the Mideast, Rogers criticized the Soviet Union's deepening involvement in the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Rogers stressed the United States "has never thought in terms of expelling" Soviet personnel from Egyptian territory. The idea of U.S. action to force the Russians out of Egypt emerged from a recent high level administration briefing to newspaper executives in the United States.

Rogers reaffirmed that the latest American peace initiative, calling for a temporary cease-fire, would permit the start of peace negotiations. Rogers said he assumed Soviet Prime Minister Alexei N. Kosygin and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser are still pondering its contents and he looked forward to their early response.

Turns Down Mines Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. J. Richard Lucas, focal point of a controversy over enforcement of the new coal mine safety law, has asked President Nixon to withdraw his nomination to director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

The 41-year-old head of the engineering department at Virginia Polytechnic Institute took his name out of the picture in a letter to Nixon. He cited, among other things, financial hardship.

His withdrawal capped a long fight by several senators and congressmen from coal mining states to defeat the nomination, pending before the Senate Interior Committee.

Lucas could not be reached for comment. His wife said at Blacksburg, Va., that he would have no comment pending an open meeting of the Interior Committee this week.

The Bureau of Mines is the chief enforcement agency for the new Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Law, an act that sets stringent new safety regulations for potentially hazardous mines.

Miss Universe

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Dark-haired beauty Marisol Malaré Contreras of Puerto Rico was named Miss Universe 1970 Saturday night, edging long-haired Debbie Shelton of the United States.

The audience, jammed with Latins, cheered wildly as the 20-year-old secretary from Puerto Nuevo was selected to succeed Oriental beauty Gloria Diaz of the Philippines, who crowned the new international beauty queen.

Miss Contreras, a green-eyed knockout, says she is mainly interested in matrimony and motherhood despite being "thrilled to represent my island in this contest."

Listed behind the first runner-up, the gorgeous Miss Shelton of Norfolk, Va., were second runner-up Joan Zealand of Australia, third runner-up Jun Shimada of Japan and fourth runner-up Beatriz Gros of Argentina.

The new Miss Universe has been a devotee follower of America's achievements in space. She thinks the greatest man in the world today is German-born aerospace scientist Werner Von Braun.

Miss Contreras measures a stately 5-23-35, stands 5-feet-8 and weighs 125 pounds. She attended the University of Puerto Rico and enjoys swimming and dancing.

The original field of 64 international beauties was trimmed to 15 semifinalists during Saturday night's nationally-televised show. The survivors of week-long competition paraded in swimsuits and evening gowns before judges selected the finalists.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The owner of a gift shop who was slugged by a pistol-wielding bandit believes a man she picked out in a police photo may be the man who took a 16-year-old girl as hostage when he fled.

The girl, Laurie Murningham, was kidnaped Thursday by the robber and has not been seen since. FBI agents have joined local police in the search for the girl and her abductor.

The girl's father, Max Murningham, former mayor of Lansing, said the tentative identification of the photograph was made by Mrs. Christine Gallagher, who was struck by a pistol during the $60 holdup.

Police Chief Derold Husby said, however, that the identification by Mrs. Gallagher was not positive and that she was still examining police mug shots.

Agnew Speaks Up About 'Division'

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Spiro Agnew rebutted Saturday a charge that because of his actions and attitudes the Nixon administration was splitting the nation.

In a bylined column on the editorial page of The New York Times, Agnew wrote:

"More and more frequently the charge is being made that, because of the actions and attitudes of the vice president, the Nixon administration is 'dividing the country.'"

"Is it possible for a country of over 205 million free individuals to be united on the issues of our time? Obviously not. Progress in our governmental system grows out of the clash of partisan positions."

The political process in a democracy, the vice president said, lends itself to attacking an opponent's policies which "of course" is division—"but by dividing, we conquer apathy."

Drawing a distinction between "the kind of division that embitters and negates, and the division that encourages intelligent debate," Agnew said:

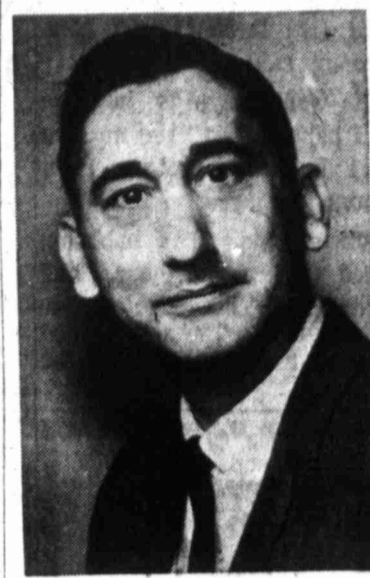

"A house divided against itself cannot stand, but a house that can agree to divide on ideas and issues stands secure and healthy."

"We... need not fear divisions born of different ideas," said Agnew. "In this sense, dissent is division — and there is nothing wrong about that."

He added: "I find it difficult to understand why those who properly defend the right to dissent at the same time condemn a strong defense by the establishment just because it criticizes the dissenters' position."

In bringing together "a people divided over ideas," he continued, "we should seek to come together in a peaceful, rational forum. The object of this coming together is not unanimity. The object is progress. It is achieved by unity based on constructive compromise."

Unity, Agnew said, "is perverted into a division slogan when it is used to create artificial groupings such as 'the young,' 'the poor,' and 'the black.' These are stereotypes that do not exist."

Letters On Behalf Of POWs Urged Here

The Forgotten America of the Vietnam War — the Prisoner of War — is the theme of this week's Texas Air Force Association state convention.

It is also the theme of an effort being conducted by local residents, led by Harold Johnson and assisted by the Waiting Wives at Webb.

The group has initiated a letter-writing campaign and has circulated numerous petitions throughout the city. The letters and the petitions call on the North Vietnamese government to comply with the provisions of the Geneva Convention with regard to prisoners of war.

According to one of the Waiting Wives, six former members of the Big Spring community have been or are presently POW's or are missing in action. They have asked local residents to show their concern for these men and their families by writing a letter or signing a petition to help bring these men home. Letters from families or children are especially appreciated. They have asked that the letters ask for the release of the prisoners and be original in content and handwritten.

The letters should be addressed to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam. The local group asks that this address be placed on the letter but that the letters be enclosed in an envelope addressed to Post Office Box P.O.W., Big Spring, Texas.

These letters will be presented to Murphy Martin, president of United We Stand when he addresses the Texas Air Force Association luncheon Saturday at Webb AFB. His organization will insure that they are forwarded.

The petitions read: "To Heads of State, Governments of the World. We, the American People, request that you urge the Democratic Republic of Vietnam (North Vietnam) to abide by the terms of the Geneva Convention which require: Names of all prisoners of war be published; all prisoners receive proper medical care and adequate food; regular impartial inspection of prisoner of war facilities be permitted; and a free flow of mail between prisoners and their families be allowed."

Posters, car bumper stickers and additional information are available from Harold Johnson, telephone 7-8194 or 7-2511 ext. 2835.

Texas Farming Of Future Presents Many Problems

AUSTIN (AP) — A younger farmer more familiar with technology and bureaucratic red tape will pitch-in to help Texas feed the "hungry, shabby world of the 1970s," a University of Texas as business researcher said Saturday.

Robert Ryan of the university's Bureau of Business Research, wrote about Texas' future farmers as the fourth part of "Texas Business Review's" series on Texas in the 1970s.

"Whether Texas can begin to meet the needs for its agricultural goods is open to serious question," Ryan said. "In spite of its size and diversity, Texas is a land of shortages, with too little water for much of its best soils, less than ideal farmland where there is enough water, and too many farmers and farm workers who lack the high skills demanded by today's sophisticated farm economy."

YOUNGER MEN

The typical Texas farmer of 1970, Ryan said, is over 50, has graduated from high school and nets about $5,000 a year, which is less than farmers in 28 other states.

Almost 15 per cent of his gross income is from government payments.

The new farmer, Ryan said, "will be a younger man, more likely to be familiar with farm accounting, advanced soil-improvement techniques, new high-yield cropping practices, and ways of meeting the astonishing requirements of federal farm programs," and he will have more land to manage as consolidation of farmers continues.

"The vastness of the state obscures the serious shortage of highly productive land in Texas," Ryan said, referring to hitherto unpublished information on how farm income is distributed in Texas.

WATER QUESTION

"Ironically, the largest block of counties where farming contributes most is the irrigated zone of the High Plains, where uncertainty about the future dependability of water supplies may threaten the agricultural prosperity of the recent past. Elsewhere over the state farming is a major source of income only in South Texas, where much of the cropland is also irrigated, and along the Gulf coast, where the most profitable crop is irrigated rice."

"By contrast, humid East Texas is the state's least profitable agricultural region," but it has the "greatest potential for growth," Ryan said.

In fact, he added, Texas farm marketings are expected to pass the $2.5 billion level in 1970 and soar toward $3.7 billion by 1980, an estimate "based on the thesis that Texas farming has more unrealized potential than farming in perhaps any other state."

Feed cattle may double in the next decade, he said.

SPOTTING DISEASES

"Land productivity and, indirectly, land values are due to be enhanced" by such things as the use of airplanes and satellites to spot plant diseases and remote sensing scanners to measure the color and temperature of fields to determine crop conditions.

Ryan predicted that as supply problems develop—such as possible decline of fresh produce from the West Coast—"Texas farmers will be called upon to upgrade their production in quality and quantity."

He said Texas has 1-13 of the nation's more than 440 million acres of cropland, an area in this state alone that could feed 2 billion persons if cultivated as intensively as the croplands of Japan.

Ryan said the federal farm program is "certain to be revised" during the 1970s.

"In spite of the dramatic changes underway in the farming revolution," he said, "Texas ans need not fear, or hope, that farms and farmers will change beyond recognition in the next 10 years. But even by 1980 farmers will look back with pity at the farmers, farm incomes, and agricultural practices of the 1960s."

Migrant Baboon Now A Dead One

MIAMI (AP) — Louisa Germany heard a noise at her window Friday night and glanced up. A three-foot baboon peered back at her. "He looked in there and saw us, and he tried to come in. He had teeth that looked like about five inches long," Mrs. Germany said. "He would have got in there but I happened to have my gun and I shot him, I shot him right through the eye." Police said the baboon, owned by a neighbor, had broken from his cage earlier in the evening. The animal died soon after he was hit by the bullet.

Govt. Deficit Will Run Far Over Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indicators are pointing to a deficit in the budget for fiscal 1970 that will be almost twice as high as the White House predicted less than two months ago.

At that time, President Nixon's economists foresaw a $1.8 billion deficit for the fiscal period just ended June 30. Now, sources say, it looks like the tally will be $3 billion in the red.

And the forecast for the fiscal 1971 figures are even gloomier. Administration sources said Friday a steep drop in corporation income tax collections, because of falling corporate profits, has clouded the budget outlook.

The final figures for the fiscal period just over—the first for which Nixon carries the full responsibility—are due in about ten days.

Officials feel the spending total will hit just below $198 billion, slightly under a revised figure of $198.2 put forward in May. The expected lower figure is attributed to the administration's tight money policies.

In February, Nixon sent Congress a budget message that suggested a $1.5 billion surplus. But the corporation profits written into the tabulation were far out of line.

The Treasury and Budget Bureau made revisions May 19. These showed a $1.8 billion deficit as the result of a $3 billion drop in estimated corporate tax collections.

Now, federal officials say the income estimate was still too high. Unofficial guesses put the prospective deficit at $3 billion. President Nixon predicted a $1.3 billion surplus for fiscal 1971, but in May the figure was reversed as deficit.

Others are less optimistic. Some officials now say the figure may hit $3 billion to $5 billion, and the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation has estimated a $4.5 billion figure—if Congress enacts all of Nixon's revenue raising proposals. If not, it says, there could be a $9 billion deficit.

Mercury Hazard Becoming Problem In Texas Waters

Editor's Note: A flurry of controversy has broken out about mercury in water and its effect on health. What is it all about? A situation on the problem.

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Got a headache? Feeling tired? Uptight and irritable?

Well, it could be caused by a lot of things. A bad night's rest, a family row, taking a cold, a hangover. But it just could be the very first symptoms of mercury poisoning. That's what the experts say.

You might have gotten it through eating meat from cattle which had been fed grain grown from seed which had mercury treatment as a fungicide. Or it could have reached you via the fish you caught and cooked over the camp fire—a fish which had swum in mercury polluted water.

MANY EVIDENCES

Mercury, which can be highly toxic and cause slurred speech, trembling hands, numbness of the limbs, kidney damage and even death, has become an explosive health problem since its presence was detected in unacceptable quantities in fish from the Great Lakes. Since then it has been traced in New Mexico hogs, Oregon cattle, and game pheasants from California and Montana.

So where stands Texas? Two Texas areas have been checked by the Federal Water Quality Administration—the Houston Ship Canal, whose waters discharge into Galveston Bay and the Gulf Coast fisheries, and the Rio Grande near where mercury is mined.

In both cases the federal experts say they found mercury present in substantial quantities.

The Texas Water Quality Board made one investigation at Port Lavaca, midway between Galveston and Corpus Christi.

Hugh Yantis, Jr., executive director of the Board, said Mercury contamination slightly above the level considered safe for human consumption was found in one oyster sample and one flounder.

How safe is safe? Most countries have not yet gotten around to setting levels of tolerance for mercury in drinking water. An exception is the Soviet Union which set a standard of five parts to a billion parts of water as safe for Russians to drink. Canada adopted the Soviet standard after the first mercury alarm from the Great Lakes.

Texas Water Quality Board will hold a hearing Aug. 19 on regulations for mercury and 10 other heavy metals—arsenic, tin, manganese, copper, nickel, lead and zinc.

Yantis says these regulations were proposed before the federal authorities got interested in mercury. The proposed mercury standard for Texas is a monthly average of not more than one-tenth of a milligram for every liter in effluent discharged into waters where "fish survival and propagation, recreation, public water supply or other public related activities" must be protected.

BUILDS UP

Elsewhere, as in the Houston Ship Canal, up to one part per million would be allowed in effluent.

The preamble to the proposed order observes: "There is not presently any significant showing of a public health hazard from the discharge of these heavy metals."

But mercury builds up in fish and shellfish and, when these are eaten by humans, it can attack and destroy human brain cells.

Dr. Alan R. Hinman, an expert on diseases of the brain and nervous system at the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., said recently: "We have lots of brain cells. We may lose only a few with each tiny amount of mercury, and the impact might not be noticeable until we are older. Possibly some persons considered senile are suffering from long-term mercury poisoning."

Edward F. Lee, spokesman for the South Central Region of the Federal Water Quality Administration, said in Dallas last week:

"We went to places in Texas where we figured there was a reasonable expectation of mercury being found, where we knew it was being used in certain processes. We took samples in most cases in cooperation with the companies concerned."

... We did establish that substantial amounts of mercury are being discharged."

Lee said it was not possible to say, on the basis of this one sampling, how wide the problem is but the indications are that the state of Texas would be wise to investigate the effect mercury discharges have upon the fisheries.

"We have advised the Texas Water Quality Board, the Individual Industrial Companies, the National Parks Service, the Fish and Wild Life Service, the Food and Drug Administration of what we found," he said. "and we have sent in our report to Washington for inclusion in a nationwide study."

DISCHARGES

The biggest discharges into the Houston Ship Canal were identified as the Diamond Shamrock Chemical Co. and the Tenneco Chemical Co. Four other companies were checked but, since no large discharge was found in these cases, they were not named.

Diamond Shamrock and Tenneco both said during the week that they would stop all mercury discharges.

Chemical companies use mercury in processes for making plastics, sodium and chlorine.

The one-shot samples taken by the federal men showed a daily discharge of 13 pounds of mercury by Diamond and one pound by Tenneco at its Pasadena plant, Lee said.

Officials of both companies disputed these readings as too high. Diamond Shamrock said the amounts discharged into the ship channel are so small as to be almost impossible to measure.

Joe Teller, deputy director of the Texas Water Quality Board, said: "We have not found any oysters or fish anywhere with concentrations large enough to alarm us."

REDUCING LEVELS

Yantis said the Aluminum Co. of America had already taken action to reduce the mercury contamination in Lavaca Bay.

"However, we will have to observe the area," he said, "to make sure that the amount of mercury reduces or lessens with time, so that when the oyster season opens there will be no hazard of any kind."

The federal examination on the Rio Grande was made near Terlingua. Two miles upstream from Lajitas trading post, a sample contained 4.8 parts of mercury per billion parts of water, Lee said. At the trading station itself the drinking water showed 3.8 parts per billion.

Half a mile south of Study Butte Mine, one of five mercury mines in the Rio Grande area, the water sample showed 3.3 per billion but the river bed material as high as 69.1 parts per million, Lee said.

The Rio Grande mercury mines ceased regular production in 1946, but one or two of them have since reopened intermittently to meet market demands. In 1969 two of the mines produced 1,150 flasks of mercury.

Lee said the National Parks Service had been advised of the position so it could ensure the safety of the drinking water used by campers in Big Bend Park.

Federal jurisdiction in Texas waters is obscure. The federal authorities can intervene in the area of interstate waters, for example when pollution originates in one state and crosses the line to endanger the waters of another state. Otherwise their intervention must be by invitation of the governor.

"If the Texas Water Quality Board were unable to obtain abatement and asked our help, we could bring all the weight of the federal government into action, including court action," Lee explained. "But it is primarily up to the state of Texas to clear up the mess and protect the quality of its own water."

"We have pointed up the problem. The next step is for the state to move. We believe the state will do what is right to protect the welfare of the citizens of Texas. The companies involved have generally indicated a cooperative attitude."

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas A&M professor said Friday that some kinds of pollution may be good for you.

Benny Gallaway spoke at the Texas Water Pollution Control Conference on his two-year study into the effects of hot water pollution in Galveston Bay.

Gallaway studied thermal pollution from the Houston Lighting & Power Co.'s plant in the Bay area of Galveston Bay. The company, which financed the study, discharges water into the bay after the water is used to cool generators.

Gallaway said trawling runs in the area netted more shrimp, blue crabs, sea catfish and Atlantic croakers off the outlet than in cooler surrounding waters.

By anchovies, however, appeared to be repelled by the hotter water.

The researcher said the thermal pollution does cause changes in aquatic plants but whether the changes are good or bad, depends on local circumstances.

Seek Federal Aid Against Pollutant

WASHINGTON (AP) — One state may ask for federal disaster aid and others are growing alarmed with the discovery of highly toxic mercury in public waters in 14 states from New York to Texas.

The metallic chemical has forced fishing bans in some areas and prompted Alabama Gov. Albert Brewer to ask for federal aid after commercial fishing was ordered stopped on 51,000 acres of state water.

The pollutant is reaching dangerous levels, federal officials say, in the effluents from industries that produce plastics, paper, chlorine and sodium.

Mercury causes progressive brain damage, blindness, kidney disease and even death in some cases. And an added danger lies in its 100-year life expectancy.

The insanity it caused in the 19th century among hat makers brought it the name "Mad Hatter's Disease." The hat makers were afflicted after their exposure to mercury in the process of shrinking felt fibers.

Its use as a fungicide on seed for grain crops has led to cases of high levels of mercury being discovered in hogs in New Mexico, cattle in Oregon and pheasants in Montana and California.

One federal official says "every place we look we are finding significant amounts of mercury." The search began only two months ago—they admit being taken in by a false belief the metal would not dissolve in water.

"We're only seeing the beginning of this problem," said an official of the Food and Drug Administration.

Mercury has been found in significant amounts in waters of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

VICE PRESIDENT RANKS WITH MICKEY MOUSE

Orders Pour In For 'Spiro' Wristwatch

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A suburban doctor, his wife and 10 children are working around the clock to fill thousands of orders for their invention—the Spiro Agnew wristwatch.

"It's a madhouse," said Dr. Hale Dougherty. "I haven't been to my office in days ...

ever since Ethel Kennedy wore her watch to a party, our phone hasn't stopped ringing."

Dougherty was sorting Agnew watches on the family pool table Thursday while his wife and children addressed labels, licked stamps and made trips to the post office.

Some red, white and blue boxes were addressed to "White House, Washington, D.C."

A phone jangled and a child shouted, "Mom, President Nixon's niece wants to buy three watches right away."

The timepiece resembles the classic Mickey Mouse watch.

But this one—now the rage among jetsetters, superstars and politicians—features a caricature of the vice president. His red-gloved hands—one making the peace symbol—point out the time.

"We weren't really trying to poke fun at the vice president," says Dougherty, but "he adds wryly, "Neither were we saying he's the greatest person alive."

The watch started as a family project, says Dougherty, 38, a personable general practitioner whose wife says he has "a dry wit."

The eldest Dougherty son, Stephen, 18, home from college last Christmas, told the family a joke: "Did you know that Mickey Mouse wears a Spiro Agnew watch?"

"A Spiro Agnew watch?" said Dougherty. "Why not?"

The doctor's wife, Pat, explains that the couple, married at 19, coined money-making ideas to get Dougherty through medical school.

"For a while, he worked as a janitor and I raised Chihuahua dogs at home," she says.

Dougherty, a native of Kansas, also spent a summer in Kansas wheat fields, "measuring wheat." "We never got off the treadmill of trying to think of new ideas," says Mrs. Dougherty.

The family asked a graduate art student, Bill Duerge, 23, to draw the caricature they had in mind. Then they sent it to a watchmaker and ordered 2,000 watches.

(AP WIREPHOTO) "TIMELY" IDEA — Dr. Hale Dougherty of Anaheim, Calif., is credited with originating the Spiro Agnew wristwatch, a takeoff on the Mickey Mouse wristwatch. He, his wife and 10 children are working around the clock to fill orders. The latest customers include Pierre Salinger, Ethel Kennedy and President Nixon's niece. The watches are made by a Swiss watchmaker and distributed by Dougherty.

R SOME MEDICINES DEMAND CONTROLLED ENVIRONMENT

The atmosphere around us has become a very popular topic and air pollution, ecology, etc., have thus become very familiar terms. In a pharmacy, we have always been especially concerned with the close control of the environment because so many of the medicines we stock are susceptible to atmospheric changes.

Just as changes in heat, light, cold, humidity, most definitely effect our normal way of living, so too can they effect the life cycle or potency of a great many drugs. As a pharmacist, we must know how to best protect every medicine so that when it reaches the patient it is ready to perform as the doctor intends.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Bob Risch Is Links Titlist

LEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Bob Risch of Gardena, Calif., withstood a closing charge by Mike Zimmerman of Kettering, Ohio, Saturday although he shot a 76 for a 5-over-par 293, and won the National Public Links Golf Championship by three strokes.

Zimmerman, 23-year-old analyst for National Cash Register, finished the last four holes in birdie, bogey, birdie for 39-35-74 and 296. His final birdie came on a 50-foot chip shot.

Risch, 22, a bank car driver and recent winner of the California State Amateur, played with Zimmerman as the last twosome to tackle the stubborn tree-lined trap-flecked Dubsread course at Cog Hill, whose standard 36-36-72 psyched the field into soaring scores.

Risch was in traps three times for a triple bogey 6 on the short second hole and parred the others to go out in 39. He chipped in a birdie on the 10th, dropped back with bogeys on the 11th and 14th, and finished in pars for 37 and his 76.

He actually was the tournament's only consistent flirter with par with rounds of 72-72-73-76. Zimmerman, a University of Dayton grad, had 76-73-73-74.

Tying for third place at 300 were Archie Dadian, 36, a former pro from South Milwaukee, Wis. with a closing 76, and Jerry Denver, 22, Wichita State senior, with 77.

The top four automatically get into the qualifying tests for the National Amateur to be held in Portland, Ore., in September.

GEORGE THOMAS IS SAD OVER FINE, SUSPENSION

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Maybe I did the $200, but I don't think I did five days' worth," Boston utility player George Thomas says of the fine and suspension levied against him by the American League.

Thomas was notified in Cleveland that he was being penalized for his clash with umpires at Detroit Thursday night, when the Red Sox lost 7-3. Thomas reportedly shoved an umpire during a Boston protest. It erupted when plate umpire John Rice called a ball that forced in a tying run for Detroit.

"I brushed him, I thought, then someone told me I knocked him back four or five feet," Thomas said. He said his run-in was with umpires Marty Springerstead and Larry Napp, but he didn't remember which one he "brushed."

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Doug Sanders missed a four-foot putt on the 18th green Saturday forcing an 18-hole playoff against Jack Nicklaus for the British Open Golf championship. The Americans will meet Sunday for the title.

Sanders of Houston, and Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, had to battle both each other and the St. Andrews Old Course where the winds gusted up to 35 miles an hour and made scores soar.

Nicklaus, who won the British crown in 1966, was the first to finish, with a score of 68-69-78-73—283 that was five under par.

He appeared to have, blown the championship when he drove the 18th, but putted well past the hole and finished with a par 4 for a one over par 73.

RECOVERS WELL
Sanders bunkered his second at the 17th, blasted out of the bunker guarding the green and sank the putt.

Now Sanders, searching for his first big championship, needed only a par 4 on the home green to win this ancient cup, first played for 110 years ago.

His drive was about 50 yards short. He chipped up to the back of the green and found himself with a long downhill putt.

He putted up and then wound up with a four-footer for the championship. He missed it. And so a playoff was scheduled.

Nicklaus said afterwards: "I didn't expect to be sitting here, waiting for Sunday."

Sanders, explaining his three putting troubles on the 18th green, said: "On my second putt I thought there was a pebble in front of me. That's why I stopped midway and went to look. It turned out to be a bit of tough grass. Maybe that exercise threw me and made me miss the short one."

Sanders shot 68-71-71-73—283 over the layout of 6,951 yards, carrying a par of 36-36-72.

Lee Trevino of El Paso, Tex., winner of the U.S. Open in 1968, started the day with a two-stroke advantage over the 57 golfers who made the last round and announced: "I know how to conquer this wind. I can hit them low and good in gales."

But the wind got Trevino and he wound up with a five-over-par 77 for a total of 68-68-72-77—285 — three under par for the whole exercise that provided the best field in the history of the championship.

Harold Henning, of South Africa, finished with 285 to tie Trevino.

Tony Jacklin, the 26-year-old Englishman who holds the U.S. Open championship and was defending his British title here, started the day with a three round total of 210 — two behind Trevino.

Massengale Is Tied With Deane Beman

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Deane Beman birdied the last two holes Saturday for a 68 and moved into a tie with Don Massengale for the third-round lead in the $110,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

The 32-year-old Beman, a former two-time National Amateur champion, had a 54-hole total of 207, nine under par for the tournament.

Massengale, a Texan veteran who held the second-round lead, had a 70 to retain a share of the

Sizzling Bucs Trim Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The sizzling Pittsburgh Pirates blew a 6-0 lead, then came back with two runs in the ninth inning for an 8-7 victory over the slumping St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night.

Willie Stargell, batting for winner Bruce Dal Canton, 4-0, opened the ninth with a single and Matty Alou tripled for the tying run off losing reliever Chuck Taylor, 3-6, who had blanked the Pirates on only two hits since the fourth inning.

Manny Sanguillen later hit into a force out, scoring Alou.

Orlando Pena then saved the game in the bottom of the ninth, coming in to get the last two outs with the tying run on second base giving the Pirates their 16th victory in 20 games and sending the Cardinals to their sixth consecutive loss.

The Pirates had jumped to a 6-0 lead in the third three innings, but Carl Taylor doubled in three runs and Richie Allen homered for two more in a five-run third inning.

Allen, hitting two homers in a game for the third time this season, opened the sixth with his 25th homer off Dal Canton to tie the game. Roberto Clemente then dropped Joe Torre's pop fly for a three-base error and Mike Shannon's double put the Cardinals ahead.

lead. He had a chance to take sole control with a downhill, 20-foot birdie putt on the final hole that just slid off to the right.

Beman and Massengale had one stroke margin over 23-year-old rookie Jerry Heard, who posted a 69 for 208, Terry Dill followed, also with a 69, at 209.

Rookie Jack Lewis, Herb Hooper and Dick Crawford were tied at 210, just three strokes back. Crawford and Hooper had 69s while the stocky Lewis matched par 72 on the 7,135-yard North Shore Country Club course.

Chi Chi Rodriguez also had a 72 for 211.

"I'm hitting more shots the way I want to now," said Beman, a Bethesda, Md., insurance executive who joined the pro tour just three years ago.

The 5-foot-7 perfectionist hit his firsts with rifle accuracy, four times leaving himself birdie putts of less than six feet and making them all.

Massengale, 33, who hasn't won since taking two tour titles in 1966, started poorly with bogeys on the second and third holes, both from traps.

He parred around to the turn, then made his move with three consecutive birds. He put short irons three feet from the flag on 10 and 11, and dropped an 18 footer on the 12th.

Yankees Edge By Senators In Eighth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Yankees scored three unearned runs on a pair of errors by Bernie Allen in the eighth inning and trimmed the Washington Senators 3-1 Saturday night.

Curt Blefary opened the eighth with only the fourth hit off loser Jim Shellenback, 4-3, and Ron Hansen followed with another single. Winner Stan Bahnsen then bunted, but second baseman Allen, covering first, couldn't hold catcher Jim French's throw, and Blefary scored the first run of the game.

Then with one out, Allen bobbled Bobby Murcer's grounder and threw wild to the plate, Hansen and Bahnsen scoring.

Bahnsen, 7-6, had the Senators blanked on six hits until Allen opened the Washington ninth with his seventh homer, and Lindy McDaniel relieved to get the last three outs.

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Wally Payne of Fort Worth rapped in a 12-foot birdie putt on the final hole to force a sudden death playoff with Keith Fergus of Killeen and then tapped in a 2-foot-birdie on the first extra hole Saturday to win the 1970 Texas Jaycees State Junior Golf Tournament.

Power-hitting Payne, 17, and 16-year-old Fergus wound up with three-over-par totals of 147 over the Harlingen Country Club Course.

Payne, who had been two shots off the pace after the opening round with a 74, shot a one-over 73 while Fergus had the days best round of 71.

Winding up in third place was Cal Crawley of Austin with 149, followed by Jay Dill of Temple with 150.

Friday's leader, Tim Wilson of Austin, skied to an 82 after an opening round 71. He tied Wade Adams of Richardson for seventh place at 153.

Staub Leads Expo Surge

NEW YORK (AP) — Rusty Staub blasted two of Montreal's four home runs and the Expos dropped the New York Mets out of first place in the National League East with a 6-2 victory Saturday night.

The loss, the second straight to the Expos after New York had won seven in a row, shoved the Mets a half game behind Pittsburgh, which beat St. Louis 8-7.

Montreal wasted little time unloading against loser Jim McAndrew, 4-7, when Staub slammed the 100th homer of his major league career in the first inning with one on.

The Mets got one run back on Art Shamsky's homer in the second, but Jim Gosger and Staub hit consecutive shots in the third. It was Gosger's third, Staub's 15th.

Butler Halts Losing Skein

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bill Butler broke a personal eight-game losing streak with a three-hitter as the Kansas City Royals whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-0 Saturday night.

Butler, who won his first two starts before running into his slump, stopped the White Sox on three singles as he outpitched Horlen, whose fifth straight setback dropped his record to 6-12.

The Royals scored two runs in the second and third innings.

Lou Piniella and Tom Matchick each doubled and Butler singled as Kansas City scored twice in the second. In the third, Otis singled and score on Kirkpatrick's double. Piniella singled home Kirkpatrick.

STARTERS IN TUESDAY'S MAJOR LEAGUE ALL-STAR GAME IN CINCINNATI Players elected by popular vote for first time since 1957

Nationals Are Favorites In All-Star Go Tuesday

CINCINNATI (AP) — Baseball's premier performers will sparkle Tuesday night in the 41st All-Star Game, with new Riverfront Stadium as an Astro Turf-carpeted backdrop, fans' choices in the starting showcase for the first time in 13 years and a power-laden National League squad favored to extend its decade-long monopoly of the mid-season classic into the '70s.

A capacity crowd of 51,346 is expected to jam the Cincinnati Reds' mod, $41 million ballpark for the 7:15 p.m. CDT, contest, with more than 32 million others expected to zero in on the action via television (NBC-TV).

ODDS ARE 7-5 Willie Mays and Hank Aaron, venerable NL sluggers making their 21st and 19th All-Star appearances, respectively, head the senior league galaxy, which has reeled off seven straight victories and has won 11 of the last 13 decisions for a 22-17-1 edge over the once-dominant American Leaguers.

The Nationals who blasted out a 9-3 victory last July in Washington, are rated 7-5 favorites to prolong their hex.

Cincinnati's third turn as All-Star host—the Nationals won 4-2 in 1938 and 5-1 in 1953 at old Crosley Field — will mark the first time the game is played on all-synthetic surface. The entire field, with the exception of the pitching mound and small dirt areas around the plate and bases, is AstroTurf.

MAYS IS BACK Mays, San Francisco's 39-year-old center fielder who seems to shine brightest at All-Star time, regained a starting spot on the NL team after a year's absence as the fans, picking eight starters—pitchers excepted—on each squad for the first time since 1957, gave him a solid mandate.

After a Cincinnati-based ballot-stuffing fiasco in 1967 elected seven Reds to the starting NL team, the fan ballot was discontinued. For the next 12 years players selected their own All-Star representatives.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn gave the vote back to the fans this spring, and the results generally were in line with first-half season performances although several standouts failed to make the ballots, which were set up before the start of the season.

AARON TOPS Aaron, Atlanta's 36-year-old superstar who collected his 3,000th hit last month, was the National League's top vote-getter, followed by Johnny Bench, Cincinnati's brilliant young catcher. First baseman Boog Powell of Baltimore was No. 1 in the American League balloting.

Aaron, despite his richly-deserved run of All-Star nominations, has batted just .181 in 18 games, compared to Mays' .343. Mays has scored 20 runs, driven in nine and hit three homers. Aaron has yet to hit his first All-Star home run.

Cincinnati's runaway West Division leaders placed two men in the NL starting eight, as did Atlanta and the Chicago Cubs. Baltimore's defending American League champs took three of their circuit's eight spots. SEVEN ORIOLES The Orioles lead the AL with seven players on the 28-man roster. The Reds pace the National squad with five of 28. The world champion New York Mets have only two. The East Division has 17 spots on the American roster, the West 17 on the National.

INJURIES Orioles Manager Earl Weaver, who will direct the Americans, gave Johnson the second base assignment after Minnesota's Rod Carew and Detroit's Dick McAuliffe, No. 1 and No. 2 vote-getters at the position, were scratched because of injuries.

Other AL starters are shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox, third baseman Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota, outfielders Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and Frank Howard of Washington and catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit.

Killebrew is the league's senior All-Star performer among the starters, having played nine times before. Frank Robinson has played in eight games, the first six in a Cincinnati uniform with the National Leaguers. Aparicio also has been in eight contests, the last one seven years ago.

Traditionally, the starting pitchers, along with the batting orders, for each squad are announced by the managers at a luncheon the day before the game. Mets skipper Gil Hodges might call on his own ace, Tom Seaver, to open for the Nationals on the mound. The Orioles' Jim Palmer is a strong possibility as Weaver's starting choice.

PICKS OWN MEN Shortstop Bud Harrelson was the only other Met selected when Hodges filled out his squad last week but Weaver chose pitchers Palmer, Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar and perennial All-Star third baseman Brooks Robinson from his Baltimore club. Brooks Robinson, runner-up to Killebrew in the voting, has appeared in the last 13 All-Star games at third base.

The other pitchers picked by Hodges are Jim Merritt and rookie sensation Wayne Simpson of Cincinnati, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Claude Osteen of Los Angeles, Gaylord Perry of San Francisco, Joe Hoerner of Philadelphia and 46-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm of Atlanta. Merritt, Osteen and Hoerner are left-handers.

Wilhelm, who pitched twice for American League All-Star teams, was selected once before to the NL team—17 years ago—but did not get into the game.

AL STAFF Rounding out the AL staff are Cleveland fireballer Sam McDowell, Oakland's Jim "Catfish" Hunter, California's Clyde Wright, who tossed a July 3 no-hitter against Oakland, Mel Stottlemyre and Fritz Peterson of the New York Yankees and Jim Perry of the Twins.

McNally, Cuellar, McDowell, Wright and Peterson give Weaver a preponderance of southpaw talent, but it's likely the right-handers will get first call. All the NL starters except switch-hitting Kessinger swing from the right side. And, of the AL's first eight, only Yastrzemski and Powell are left-hand hitters.

The Perrys, Gaylord and Jim, are the first pitching brothers ever named to opposing All-Star teams. If they tangle, it will be the first time since a 1962 exhibition game.

The All-Star Game, brainchild of the late Chicago Tribune sports editor, Arch Ward, was inaugurated 37 years ago in Comiskey Park. The AL won 4-2 on a two-run homer by Babe Ruth and went on to take 11 of the next 15 games.

Cuellar missed his fourth straight complete game, but ended the Tigers' winning streak at four games. The victory over second place Detroit gave the Orioles a six-game lead in the American League East.

The Tigers knotted the score for the first time when Bill Freehan and Don Wert singled and moved up on a bunt by Cesar Gutierrez. Niekro knocked in a run on a ground out and Mickey Stanley doubled in the next score.

Baltimore 020 200 020-6 9 1 Detroit 020 101 010-5 9 1 Cuellar, Wett (8), Richer (8) and Hendricks; Niekro, Patterson (8), Scherman (8), Timmerman (9) and Freelon; W-Cuellar (11-5), L-Niekro (9-8), Hrs. Baltimore, Hendricks (4), Cuellar (2), Crowley (2), Detroit Freelon (12).

Houston Star All-American

NEW YORK (AP) — Repeater John Mahaffey, University of Houston, Wayne McDonald, University of Indiana, and Bob Clark of California State headed the 1970 All-American Collegiate Golf team announced Saturday by a national panel of experts.

Rounding out the team are Bruce Ashworth, University of Houston; Mark Hayes, Oklahoma State; Howard Twitty, Arizona State; Tom Valentine, University of Georgia and Lanny Watkins, Wake Forest.

Rookie's Blast Spurs Orioles Past Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie Terry Crowley belted a tie-breaking two-run homer in the eighth inning sending the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers in a nationally-televised game Saturday.

Detroit starter Joe Niekro had walked Brooks Robinson to open the eighth and Crowley greeted reliever Daryl Patterson with his second homer of the season, a shot into the lower deck in left center breaking a 4-4 deadlock. The Orioles had two other two-run homers, both with two out. Elrod Hendricks put them ahead, 2-0 in the second with a homer after a single by Dave Johnson. Then, after Detroit tied it up in the bottom of the inning, Cuellar hit a homer in the fourth after Mark Belanger singled.

WIN TRIP TO HOUSTON — The two boys pictured here with Bob Taylor of the sponsoring radio station, KBST, won trips to the AstroDome in Houston for them and their parents in competition staged here Saturday. Eddie Vela, 12, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evarado Vela of 1201 S. Monticello, finished first in the 16-12 age bracket while Richard Wayne Myers, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers of 2206 Cecelia, led in the 8-9 age group. In all, 44 boys took part in the contest here. Their Houston trip is scheduled July 31, Aug. 1.

Taylor Leads Philadelphia To 10-4 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Tony Taylor's tie-breaking triple in the ninth inning keyed a seven-run explosion that gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 10-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

The Phillies, who had lost six of their previous seven games, spotted Chicago a 3-1 lead before coming back in the late inning. They tied the game 3-3 in the eighth and then capitalized four hits, two walks and two errors by first baseman J.C. Martin to pull away in the ninth.

Larry Bowa started the big rally with an infield single and took second when Martin fumbled shortstop Don Kessinger's throw. Pitcher Robert Rodriguez fielded Doc Edwards' bunt and threw too late to third trying to nail Bowa. Rick Joseph struck out, but Taylor tripled to right center, giving the Phils a 5-3 lead.

With Juan Pizarro pitching, Denny Doyle singled to score Taylor. Oscar Gamble walked and, after a double steal, Deron Johnson and John Briggs also walked, forcing in a run. Larry Bowa's fourth straight hit, a single to left off Milt Pappas, delivered two more runs and Briggs also scored when Martin bobbled the throw from the outfield.

Taylor's single, a ground out and Oscar Gamble's double off the right field fence pulled the Phils even in the eighth and chased Chicago starter Bill Hands.

The Cubs got the jump on Philadelphia's Jim Bunning in the first on Willie Smith's two-run single after a double by Glenn Beckert and two walks had filled the bases.

Philadelphia 000 010 117-10 13 1 Chicago 200 010 021-4 8 2 Bunning, Selma (7), Hoerner (8), Lersch (9) and Ryce, Edwards (7), Hands, Rodriguez (8), Pizarro (9), Pappas (9) and Hoff, W-Hoerner, (4-3), L-Rodriguez, (1-1).

Tony Roche Beats Laver In Finals

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Tony Roche beat fellow Australian Rod Laver 6-3, 6-1 in the final of the Irish Open Tennis Championship Saturday.

Roche, No. 2 seed, won surprisingly easily in less than 40 minutes.

He broke service in the sixth game of the first set when Laver served a doublefault and in the second set Roche raced into a 4-0 lead.

Laver, whose backhand was inaccurate in a very strong breeze, was never able to rally.

POSSIBILITIES FOR INVITATIONAL FIELD — Four local linksters who got together for a round at the Munny course recently are likely entries in the Aug. 1-2 Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament at the Country Club. From the left, they are Wayne Henry, Ronald Plumlee, Walter Wheat and Morris Rhodes. The invitational is being moved forward a month this year.

Reynolds, Edwards Are Cup Captains

Lefty Don Reynolds will captain the Big Spring team in the annual Big Spring National Bank Cup matches at the Big Spring Country Club Friday, July 31.

His forces will be aligned against a visiting octet led by Don's father-in-law, Sunny Edwards, one-time Big Spring champion who now resides in Ruidoso, N.M.

The matches, which will extend over 18 holes, precede the annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament, which are being moved away from Labor Day weekend for the first time in history.

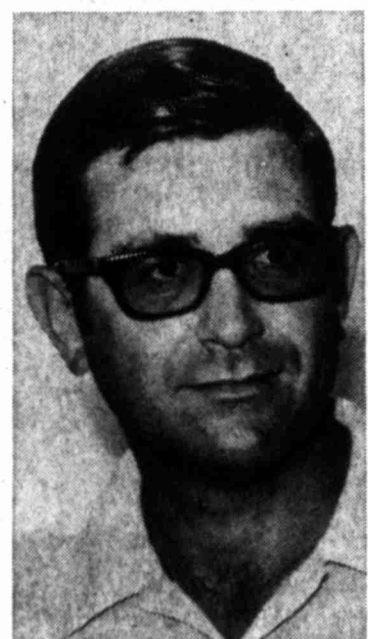

The tournament itself is being shortened to two days and is down for Aug. 1-2. All flights in this year's meet will be decided in 36 holes of medal play. Twenty players will be assigned to each flight.

First day scores in all instances will be used to determine the flights to which players will be assigned. Handicaps, however, will be used to determine the first day's pairings.

Entry fee will be $20 and the cost includes admission to a Friday night barbecue and a Saturday night dance.

First place winners in each flight qualify for $150 gift certificates. Runnersup earn $100 certificates, third place winners $60 certificates and fourth place finishers $25 in merchandise. All certificates will be redeemable at the pro shop.

Qualifying is now under way

for spots on the local team. Jackie Thomas alone has finished 54 holes of play and has posted a score of 209.

Competitors in the cup matches will be paired for low-ball low-score type play, with a maximum of three points allowed in any one match.

Some of the cup players will use the matches to qualify for the tournament itself.

Entry fees and handicaps must be in by 6 p.m., Thursday, July 30.

Edwards will, of course, pick his lineup as he sees fit — without benefit of a qualifying round.

The field usually embraces about 150 players. If unusual interest should develop in the meet, no more than 220 players can be accepted, pro C. G. Griffin emphasized.

Reynolds will double as tournament director. Other members of the tournament committee will be Weldon Bryant, R. P. Nicholson, Earl Reynolds, Whitney Reynolds, Wally Slate and Fred Wilkerson. Don Gaudin of Weatherford is defending champion of the meet.

Reds Outlast Braves, 7-6

ATLANTA (AP) — Pete Rose's seventh straight single over a two-game period and Tony Perez's 29th home run helped the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-6 victory over the Atlanta Braves Saturday night.

Rose singled and scored in the first on Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly and singled in Woody Woodward in the second after Woodward doubled for a run. Perez rapped his homer into the left field seats in the third for a 4-2 lead and Woodward's sacrifice fly and a run-scoring single by winner Gary Nolan made it 6-2 in the sixth inning.

However, it was Bernie Carbo's 14th homer in the eighth inning that provided the decisive run.

Orlando Cepeda then opened the Atlanta ninth with his 2,000th career hit and came around on a wild pitch, a ground out and Jim Hall's two-out single.

The big hit was a bases-loaded triple by John Donaldson in the first inning. Aaron Tells Youngsters: Be Aggressive At Plate

By HANK AARON
Of Atlanta Braves
Written For The AP

The most important thing for a young hitter to learn is that he must be aggressive at the plate. Don't be lazy at the plate. Attack the baseball.

I believe that you must go out and get that ball, hit it when it's out in front rather than wait until it passes the plate.

When I'm at the plate I watch different things that certain pitcher's do. For instance, take an Abernathy. Ted was with Cincinnati last year and got in a lot of games (78) and now he's with the Cubs.

He is the most unorthodox pitcher in baseball. He throws the ball from way down under, and sometimes fools you by bringing his motion from the direction of third base. He's strictly a relief pitcher and you don't see him too much. But with him I watch his left knee and try to pick the ball up from there. You get a better chance to watch this motion from on deck circle. It's always good to study a pitcher when you're standing or kneeling in the "on deck" circle.

With some pitchers I try to pick the ball up from their shoulders and with some others I try to pick it up from their waistline. It all depends on how the pitcher is delivering the ball.

I try to hit the ball back through the middle but even then I try to hit the ball hard, whether it's over the plate, inside or outside. Some of the better hitters tell you when you're in a slump to try to hit the ball up the middle. That will help you to keep your head still.

NEW YORK (AP) — Wimbledon is the most prestigious tennis tournament in the world, but the largest first prize ever for a tennis tourney—$35,000—will be at stake Thursday night when Australians Rod Laver and Ken Rosewall meet at Madison Square Garden.

This is the final of the $200,000 Tennis Champions Classic, with $50,000 up for the match. The loser of the best-of-five set match will collect $15,000.

Laver gets a chance to atone for his shocking defeat to Britain's Roger Taylor in the fourth round of the Wimbledon championships.

Rosewall whipped Taylor in the semifinals but the 35-year-old veteran was beaten by fellow Australian John Newcombe for the Wimbledon crown.

The 32-year-old Laver won the Wimbledon title four times, including the 1968 and 1969 tournaments, and was favored to make it three straight. Rosewall has won all of the major titles but never Wimbledon.

The 57, 150-pound Rosewall, however, has a chance to wind up as the top money winner of the $200,000 Classic. He already has cashed in $32,500 to Laver's $2,500.

Morton's Chippers Grab Three Tournament Wins

ODESSA — Morton's Chippers of Big Spring won three straight games in the 16-team Odessa Invitational Softball tournament here Friday night and Saturday.

The Chipper sweep qualified them to oppose undefeated Bill Clark Sporting Goods of Levelland at 11 p.m. Saturday.

The double elimination tournament ends Sunday afternoon, with the semifinal game at 1:30 p.m. and the title contest at 3 p.m.

Morton's defeated Hobbs, N.M., 1-0; Odessa Permian Oil & Tire, 5-2; and the highly respected Abilene A's, 4-2, in that order to move along in the winners' bracket.

The Levelland team prospered, too, by beating Webb AFB of Big Spring, 3-0; the Lamesa Merchants, 11-1; and Johnny's Pit Barbecue of El Paso, 10-0, in that order.

In the loser's bracket Saturday evening, Odessa Permian was to oppose Lubbock T & D Supply and the B & R Bombers of Portales, N.M., were to tangle with Goodfellow Field of San Angelo.

The tournament is taking place in the East Side Park here. Red Utley pitched Morton's to its win over the Abilene A's, yielding only six hits to the losers. The Chippers managed 11, with Roy New counting three, as did Miller.

A former basketball coach at North Texas State, Dan Spika, once put it this way: "Texans have no particular order. They are football, football and football." Rockets Claim City Crown In 6-1 Win

Joe Barank was throwing aspirin tablets most of the evening when he led the International League's Rockets to a 6-1 victory over the American League Hawks here Friday at Webb AFB.

The success could be savored all winter by the Rockets. It was for the Little League City championship and kept a winning string alive that reached 11 games at season's end.

The Hawks were unbeaten in the contest, having won 22 in a row.

Barank allowed only two hits, one to Tommy Churchwell and the other to Eddie Vela. The Rockets took a two-run lead in the second and padded that by counting four in the fifth. Over two seasons now, the International League club has won 33 while losing only seven.

Their march to the City title was the first in 13 years for an International League club.

Loser Pat Carroll whiffed 11 but was tagged for seven hits, five of which came in the fifth inning.

Bob Johnson's line shot in the second for the Rockets was good for two bases and drove in the two tallies that stood up for the win. Jay Madison doubled for the winners in the third but was left stranded.

In the fifth, a walk preceded four straight Rocket singles. Those were by Madison, Barank, Tony Mann and Mike Valenzuela. Barank drove in one teammate with his hit and Mann's blow plated two.

Johnson's second hit of the contest then produced his third run-batted-in of the game.

Newnam scored the Hawks' only run after an error. He moved up on a ground ball, advanced to third on a bobble and scored on a wild pitch.

The Rockets committed four errors while the Hawks played without a bobble but it didn't seem to matter.

McDowell Winner Of 13th Verdict

CLEVELAND (AP) — Buddy Bradford's two-run homer and a bases-empty shot by Graig Nettles carried Sam McDowell and the Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

McDowell weathered 10 hits, worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the eighth inning and struck out eight on the way to his 13th victory in 17 decisions.

Boston starter Ken Brett walked Chuck Hinton in the second inning and Bradford crashed his fourth homer of the year, giving the Indians a 2-0 jump.

The Red Sox, who have dropped four of their last five starts, scored in the fourth on Carl Yastrzemski's double and a bloop single by Rico Petrocelli.

Nettles gave McDowell an insurance run in the bottom of the inning with his 13th homer. The homers accounted for two of the Indians three hits off Brett, 2-3, and two Boston relievers.

In another playoff of one hole duration, in the 16-17 grouping, Tony Harper captured first place by beating John Round of Lubbock. Each shot 75 on the first 18.

David Travis of Levelland, formerly of Big Spring, fired 81 to win the 12-13 division. He was followed by Steve Hyde of Amarillo, who had 84.

Hulme, Gurney In First Row

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Denny Hulme and Dan Gurney shook off threats from a radical new racer driven by world champion Jackie Stewart Saturday and won the front row in bright orange McLaren-Chevrolets for Sunday's $61,000 Canadian-American Challenge Cup road race.

Hulme, the former world driving champ and perennial Can-Am winner, had the day's best qualifying time, 1 minute 02.76 seconds for the hilly, 2.3-mile Glen Grand Prix circuit.

His lap speed of 132.06 miles per hour was short of the absolute course record of 135.10 mph set last year by the late Bruce McLaren.

Gurney, the California star who replaced McLaren as Hulme's teammate and won the first two events in the 11-race 1970 series, registered a lap of 1:03.22, or 131.01 mph.

Stewart, putting Jim Hall's new chaparral 2J into action for the first time, got the third spot on the starting grid with a time of 1:06.69 despite small problems that aggravated the car. The vacuum effect holds the car on the road.

Multiple Listing Service

MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE DOES SELL EQUITIES:

Some of the important advantages of a MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE are: (1). BUYERS & SELLERS receive the benefit of cooperation between REALTORS rather than being restricted to the offerings of a single agent or series of agents. (2). NEGOTIATIONS ARE carried on under rules of procedure designed to assure ethical practice, thus furthering the interests of clients and the public, while extending adherence to high standards of practice. (3). CURRENT MARKET information which is readily available through Multiple Listing means that REALTORS, their clients and the public are better served and informed.

West Texas Schools Facing Orders For Desegregation

A half-dozen West Texas school districts are included among the 48 in Texas named in a Department of Justice letter to the Texas Education Agency regarding public school desegregation.

These, according to Associated Press dispatches out of Washington, are "still facing legal action." The Justice Department has filed suits against officials in Mississippi, South Carolina, Arkansas and Florida.

The news dispatches indicated that the federal government would move against the other districts, including those in Texas, if desegregation is not accomplished in accordance with federal guidelines. Action is expected by the start of this school year.

Districts named in the letter to the Texas Education Agency from Jerris Leonard, assistant U. S. attorney general, include Amarillo, Ector County (Odessa), Lubbock, Midland, San Angelo and Wichita Falls.

Other districts in Texas include Atlanta, Austin, Bellville, Calvert, Carthage, Churchill, Concord, Crockett, Cypress-Fairbanks, Elysian Fields, Ferris, Friendship, Galena Park, Garland, Hearne, Hempstead, Henderson, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson, Karnack, Katy, Kilgore, Klein, La Vega, Lufkin, Madisonville, Marshall, Mount Haven, Nacogdoches, Palestine, Port Arthur, Refugio, Richardson, Sabine Pass, San Augustine, Shelbyville, Silsbee, South Park, Sulphur Springs, Temple, Waskom.

Three of these districts, it was said in Austin, have been annexed by other units — Churchill, Mount Haven and Friendship.

COSDEN LAKE

THE RIPPLED SURFACE of Cosden Lake is dotted every day with small bright boats as more young people discover the fun of sailing. The small craft, practically unsinkable, can be handled by even an eight-year-old youngster. Hoisting their sail for a trip across the lake are Lisa Lemons, Bruce Abbe and Kay Weir.

ALREADY AN EXPERT at sailing is young Ed Keyser, 17, of Midland, who along with his partner, Ward Pennebaker, operates the Starfish concession at Cosden Lake. Above, he is joined by another sailing enthusiast, Betty Anne Looney. At right, the sail has caught the wind in a fast turn, and Mark Sweeney and Teresa Stewart shift their weight to avoid taking an unplanned swim.

NOT ALL BOATS that sail at Cosden Lake belong to the concession. This trim craft, the "Dolphin" is owned by Dr. and Mrs. Jack H. Burnett who sail with their children, Steve, Lisa and Chris. Here, Chris is joined for the afternoon by Paul Nabors.

Sailing Before The Wind

By JO BRIGHT

In nautical terms, when a boat follows the same course that the wind is blowing, it is "sailing before the wind." The sail or sails are set at approximately a 90 degree angle to the longitudinal axis of the boat and derive their power from the push of the wind on their back surfaces.

In sailing "off the wind," the wind reaches the craft from the side or "beam" and the sails are set at approximately 45 degrees from the axis of the craft. In this sailing position the wind exerts a pulling rather than a pushing action on the sails, which act as airfoils — like the wings of an airplane.

If boats were able to sail only before the wind and off the wind, it would be impossible for any craft to reach a destination upwind from its starting point. By sailing "on the wind," however, a sailboat can make good a course approximately 45 degrees away from the wind direction. By sailing a succession of such courses, first to the left and then to the right of the wind direction, (a maneuver called "tacking") sailboats can zigzag in an upwind direction. A vessel is said to be on the "starboard tack" when sailing so that the wind is blowing from the left or port side.

Without stopping to think "how" or "why," these are the basics being learned by land-locked, would-be sailors in West Texas. Lacking open water, they are beginning to utilize lakes and rivers to satisfy man's age-old urge to travel by water.

As a sport, sailing has increased greatly in the past few years as manufacturers have utilized new products to put small sailing craft within the financial reach of vast numbers of sportsmen. The easy handling and safety features of the small boats have made sailing a family affair, and several of the boats which are seen on Cosden Lake are family-owned.

Other craft on the lake are owned by two enterprising young businessmen, Ed Keyser and Ward Pennebaker, both 17, who operate a fleet of 26 sailboats as pleasure craft. Every afternoon, except Monday, the boats can be rented for $1.50 an hour, and with only a few minutes instruction, even the novice can enjoy an afternoon on the water.

The boats, of fiberglass construction, are said to be unsinkable — and the old-fashioned duck sails have given way to man-made fibers which are both light-weight and strong. Mast and booms are of special strength aluminum, and daggerboard and rudder blades are made of mahogany.

Sailing provides fun and thrills for the entire family.

Ahoy, there, Matey. The wind is waiting!

Club Hears Advice On Good Diets

"The potato by itself is not so fattening, it's the company it keeps," said Mrs. Delaine Crawford, county home demonstration agent, in her talk to the TOPS Plate Pushers Thursday. Mrs. Crawford was guest speaker at the meeting in the Salvation Army Activity Room.

"The poor potato is blamed for so much," she said, "when actually 'fattening' foods aren't always fattening. It is the way they are fixed with butter, milk, sour cream or cheese. It is very important in dieting to maintain good health and to spend calories wisely."

Mrs. Billie Shults won the six-week contest and received a vest crocheted by Mrs. Leon Rankin. Mrs. Rankin was crowned queen for June and Mrs. Ray Menges won the bowl of fruit. New secret pals were drawn.

The Plate Pushers won a six-week competition with Stanton Scale Steppers and will be treated to a party in August. The next regular meeting will be Thursday.

Glasscock 4-H Dress Revue Features Cycles Of Fashion

"The Fashion Cycle" was the theme of The Glasscock County 4-H Dress Revue held in Garden City High School Cafeteria Thursday night. Kay Woodley, mistress of ceremonies, welcomed guests. The style show was narrated by Ona Mae Lee, extension assistant.

The 4-H members modeled clothes belonging to their grandmothers and mothers, tracing fashions from the early 19th century to the present. The oldest dress in the show was a white confirmation dress worn by members of the Schwertner family between 1912 and 1915. It was made of a crepe material and featured a tiered skirt and ruffled neckline. Another costume was a blue wool suit from 1920 that belonged to Miss Amelia Schwertner. The suit had a mid-calf-length straight skirt and the jacket was accented with tiny pleats at the back. It was modeled with a once-fashionable fox fur stole.

Other highlights of the fashion cycle were wedding gowns dating from the '20's.

Winner of the senior division of the dress revue was Jeanie Werst, 15, who modeled a yellow and white cotton print shift styled with a low waist and pleated skirt. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Werst, Garden City. Karen Hoelscher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoelscher, St. Lawrence, won as alternate.

Junior division winner was Barbara Hoelscher, 13, Karen's sister. She sewed a green three-piece suit with green and white dacron blouse. The skirt and vest were of double knit. Alternate in junior division was Jan Hirt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hirt, St. Lawrence. Awards were presented by Mrs. James Elland, home demonstration agent for Martin-Glasscock Counties. Winners will compete July 22 in El Paso at the District 6 4-H Dress Revue.

Other girls entering the revue in junior division were Melissa Kohutek, Debra Hoelscher, Sheryl Kohutek, Rose Mary Hoelscher, Dana Kohutek, Mary Kay Hoelscher, Brenda Schwartz, Phyllis Johnson, Denise Jansa, Linda Schwartz, Pam Schwartz, Denise Plagens, Dana Halfmann, Connie Schwartz, Sandra Schwartz, Shirley Schwartz, Becky Schwartz, Roxanne Hirt and Sheila Halfmann.

Entering the senior division were Kay Woodley, Debra Plagens, Kathie Schwartz, Kay Schraeder, Kay Donna Halfmann, Antoinette Schraeder, Dinell Hirt, Laurie Lange and Karen Schwartz.

Future 4-H'ers aged one to seven modeled dresses made by their older sisters and mothers.

MRS. DARREL WILEY REAGAN

Couple Recites Vows In Formal Ceremony

United in marriage Saturday evening with a formal ceremony were Miss Nelda Eunice Morris and PO 3.C. Darrel Wiley Reagan of the Navy. They were married by the Rev. J. C. Davis in the Evangel Temple Assembly of God.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Morris, 1108 Pennsylvania, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reagan, 810 E. 12th.

The couple knelt before an altar flanked by baskets of gladioli and candelabra entwined with ferns. Miss Linda Davis sang "I Love You Truly," "The Twelfth of Never," "Because" and "Ave Maria" accompanied by Miss Sheritta Ownbey, organist.

The bride was attired in a gown of silk organza with a Chantilly lace overlay, fashioned with scoop neckline, fitted waist and long sleeves ending in petal points. The chapel train was accented with a wide bow. Her veil of silk illusion extended over the train. A headpiece of clustered roses trimmed with pearls held the veil. She carried a nosegay of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Linda Morris, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Miss Judy Morris, also a sister, and Miss Debbie Coffee were bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore an olive green gown, and the bridesmaids wore lime green. Their gowns were of taffeta, identically styled with Empire waist marked with velvet ribbon forming a bow with streamers at the back. The bodice was styled with square neckline and puff sleeves. Their headpieces were matching flowers with illusion veils.

Each attendant carried a long stemmed yellow rose with green streamers. Sherrie Chellette, the flowergirl, was identically dressed and wore green velvet ribbon in her hair. Sandie Schaffer and Sherrie Schaffer, both of Coahoma, lighted the altar tapers, dressed in gowns identical to the bridesmaids.

Sgt. Jimmy Billings, Ft. Hood, served as best man. Groomsmen were brothers of the bridegroom, Phil Reagan of Lamesa and John Reagan. Ushers were James Davis and Timothy Dunn. Kevin Cave, Lamesa, was ring bearer.

The wedding reception was held in the fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with white linen and appointed with silver and crystal and her bouquet formed the centerpiece. The bridal cake, tiered with columns, was accented with yellow roses, white doves, and a miniature bride and groom.

The bridegroom's table was covered with yellow linen and decorated with a white straw hat and centerpiece of yellow and white flowers. German chocolate cake was served with silver appointments.

Mrs. Tom Orenbaum was in charge of the guest register.

Homemakers Must Learn Best Way To Buy Beef

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD

Advertisements that say "USDA Choice carcass only 45 cents per pound" sound good, don't they — especially in these days of high meat prices? Well, these prices may be attractively low, but before you rush to the store to buy a quarter or half a carcass, let's examine the real cost comparisons of such an undertaking. Unfortunately, all the carcass is not steaks and roasts. In fact, in the average Choice carcass there are only about 25 per cent steaks, 25 per cent roasts and 24 per cent miscellaneous cuts, such as hamburger, short ribs and stew meat. Nearly 26 per cent of the carcass is lost in bone, fat trimmings, shrinkage, cutting loss and waste. It takes about 2.25 pounds of a live choice grade steer to yield 1 pound of salable beef in a retail store.

Does it pay to buy beef by the side or by the cut? There is no set answer to this question. The following example may give you an idea of how to determine the true price of the meat you get. If a butcher offers you a forequarter of beef for 45 cents per pound, since only about 74 per cent of it will yield retail cuts, divide the forequarter price by 74 per cent. The resulting 60.8 cents per pound, added to a storage cost of about 5 cents per pound will give an average beef cost of 65.9 cents per pound for the forequarter.

STUDY FACTORS
Several important factors will further affect your decision to buy retail cuts or a wholesale portion of beef.

1. The figures given are based on average yields for Choice beef carcasses. The yields could be higher or lower in individual cases.

2. Make sure you are comparing the same grade beef in each case. The difference between U. S. Good and U. S. Choice is a big one in terms of price and satisfaction.

3. Watch for special prices. The effect of buying steaks or roasts at much lower prices on a weekend sale can easily switch the cost advantage to retail purchases by substantially reducing the average price.

4. A large outlay of money is required for most carcass purchases. Can you afford $150 for beef right now? In any event, some cost should be allocated to the interest on this big investment. The tying up on $150 for 6 months or more has a value.

5. Do you really want all the "low priced cuts"?

6. Most retailers guarantee their meat products. The ability to return a "poor" steak to the store and get a refund is an important factor to the consumer.

7. Processing, cutting and wrapping are assumed to be included in the price quotation for the carcass. Often, however, it is an extra charge.

8. Storage costs vary tremendously and depend upon the number of times a freezer is refilled. The estimate of 5 cents per pound for storage costs is based upon research studies of operating costs, repairs and depreciation of home units.

9. Convenience in each case is difficult to assign to either situation. It may be in favor of store purchases each week or more favorable for home freezer availability of meats. The location of the freezer, preference for fresh meats, available funds to spend on meat, and numerous other personal desires enter into the convenience criteria.

Making the best decision for your situation will be a personal matter that does warrant careful consideration of these points.

PREPARATION

Proper cooking of meat is one of concern to many homemakers. For maximum tenderness and juiciness, cook beef and veal at low to moderate temperatures. The aroma from meat cooked at these temperatures is more pleasant and the color more even than that of meat cooked at high temperatures. Another advantage of low to moderate cooking temperatures is that there is more meat to serve because of smaller losses through evaporation, shrinkage, and dripping.

Miss Mansfield Becomes Bride Of W. A. Collins III

Miss Deane Mansfield became the bride of W. A. Collins III in a ceremony performed Saturday morning by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd in the ranch home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Toots Mansfield. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Collins Jr. of El Paso.

A prelude of nuptial music was presented by Clyde Green, organist, who accompanied Gary Miller of Lamesa as he sang "Come Share My Life."

The altar was formed in front of louvered panels draped in smilax and flanked by twin Pompeian green tulip urns and columns holding large tree-shaped arrangements of yellow roses and mock orange foliage.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of ivory peau de sole and imported English net. The tucked net, enhanced with re-embroidered Alencon lace, formed a sculptured bodice which featured a Victorian neckline and deep-cuffed Bishop sleeves. A band of peau de sole topped the A-line silhouette. Her headpiece was a pillbox of re-embroidered Alencon lace, embellished with a Dior bow, which held a shoulder-length veil of silk English illusion. She carried a cascade of white Marguerite daisies and yellow roses accented with babies'-breath, English ivy and tied with moss green velvet.

ATTENDANTS
Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Zane Neal, and the bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Vise of El Paso. They were identically attired in floor-length gowns of imported buttercup yellow lining. The modified Empire bodice featured an eyelet embroidery ruffle in the center which extended to form a Victorian neckline. A band of self fabric sashed the slender skirt. Their headpieces were Dior bows on linene bandeaus, and they carried colonial bouquets of white and yellow Marguerite daisies centered with gold roses and accented with English ivy, babies'-breath and moss green velvet streamers.

The bridegroom's father served as best man, and the usher was Robert S. Wood of El Paso, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

After a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the couple will reside in El Paso. He is a

Mrs. Glenn L. Person Named To State Association Position

Mrs. Glenn L. Person was named to the state office of executive board secretary for the Texas Association of Women's Clubs and Girl's Clubs, Inc. during its state convention Monday through Wednesday at Holiday Inn — East, Wichita Falls. Mrs. Person is president of the Stokes-Parker District which includes Big Spring and eight other West Texas cities.

The association (formerly the Texas Federation of Colored Women's Clubs) was organized in 1905 and admitted to the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc. in 1909.

Baptist Women Study Missions

"Home Missions in Mexico" was the study topic for the Women's Missionary Society meeting Tuesday at Westside Baptist Church.

Mrs. J. O. Murphy presided and opened the study with the history of Mexico. The first Baptist missionary work began in Monterrey in 1862, she said, with the American Baptists supporting missions in eastern Mexico and the Southern Baptists supporting missions in the western part of the country. In 1903, the two Baptists groups combined their support, forming the National Convention of Mexico to aid the missions.

Mrs. B. N. Boroughs described the Baptist homes for students attending Mexican state and federal schools and universities. More than 75 percent of the non-Christian students living in the homes were soon converted to Christianity, Mrs. Boroughs stated.

Mrs. Leroy Minchew told of the expansion of Mexican Baptist churches and how they became self-supporting. The Crusade of the Americas report was given by Mrs. J. W. Trantham, who enumerated the success of the crusade in gaining converts in North, Central and South America. Prayers by Mrs. Boroughs and Mrs. N. M. Hipp concluded the study.

Thousands of state members became a component of a 100,000 national membership whose purpose was to develop a "better home life, loftier ideals, a finer perception and appreciation of all that is beautiful, of everything that tends toward the uplift and advancement of a people."

The Texas association includes eight districts. It owns and operates Camp McMullan, 125 acres near Cleburne, which is used by youth groups, senior citizens, family campers and church groups.

During the convention Mrs. Person served on the district board of trustees in the absence of Mrs. G. H. Penny who was unable to attend due to illness. She was appointed by the state president, Mrs. Verdia Gratts, to serve on the nominating committee. During her district report, Mrs. Person said the Stokes-Parker District contributed $150 to the Southern Christian Leadership organization, provided two $150 college scholarships, gave books to the San Angelo County Library and donated $50 to San Angelo Cancer Society.

Candlelight Ceremony Performed Saturday

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday evening by Miss Susan Campbell Lewis and Larry Wayne Linder in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Lewis, 702 Marcy and the bridegroom is the son of Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Edgar W. Linder, Waco.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James Boyle, LeCoste, officiated. The altar was centered by a branch candelabrum entwined with ivy and holding cathedral tapers. Flanking the altar were candelabra trees and arrangements of white daisies, lilies, apricot spider mums and babies'-breath.

Mrs. Robert Hailey, sister of the bridegroom, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and Mrs. Harold Talbot sang "Ave Maria." They were accompanied by Mrs. Leslie Green, organist.

The bride was attired in a gown of ivory silk faille accented with Venice lace. The molded bodice featured a high neckline banded in lace, and elbow-length sleeves were edged with lace. Appliques of lace defined the natural waistline. The A-line skirt was gathered at the back by clusters of tiny pleats to form a sweeping chapel train. Her veil of illusion was held by a headpiece of lace flowers highlighted with seed pearls and crystals. She carried a colonial cascade of stephanotis and English ivy tied with moss green velvet.

ARRAY OF SPECIAL GUESTS HERE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

City Ready To Host Air Force Association Meeting

Big Spring is rolling out one of its brighter red carpets this weekend as the city plays host for the first time to the state convention of the Air Force Association.

The session will attract several military and civilian notables, combines business with fun, and puts major emphasis on action toward getting information on prisoners of war held by North Vietnam and on men reported missing in action.

Registration for the Friday-Saturday events should run close to 150.

The convention is stressing the theme of "United We Stand," the slogan adopted through international efforts of H. Ross Perot of Dallas and others to persuade the Hanoi government to give information on U.S. military men who have fallen captive.

PRISONERS' WIVES

At a luncheon at Webb AFB Officers Club on Saturday, Murphy Martin of Dallas, an associate of Perot and president of United We Stand, is to speak. Also to be honored at this gathering will be at least four wives of prisoners of war: Mrs. Joy Jeffrey, Mrs. Paul Hartness, Mrs. Sandy McElhannon and Mrs. Bonnie Singleton, all of Dallas. Mrs. Smith Swords of Big Spring, and Mrs. Mary L. Wortham. Also to be present is Miss Bette Perot, president of the Perot Foundation.

At the same meeting, Congressman Omar Burleson, representative for the 17th district, is to give a brief keynote talk.

AWARDS BANQUET

Another major event on the convention schedule is an awards banquet Saturday night at the Big Spring Country Club, at which the principal speaker will be Brig. Gen. Robin Olds, commandant of cadets at the U.S. Air Force Academy, and a noted flying ace of the Vietnam conflict. He is to be introduced by Rep. Burleson.

At this dinner, the AFA will be making a number of special awards, both to outstanding AFA units and leaders, and to military officers of special achievement.

WEBB OPEN HOUSE

Webb Air Force Base is cooperating with civilian leaders in planning the weekend and is to have an "open house" Saturday afternoon. This runs from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and is open to the general public, although AFA convention events are for registered delegates.

Registration will be both Friday afternoon and Saturday morning at the Holiday and Ramada Inns.

The state association goes into its business session at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Ramada Inn. B. L. (Pete) Cockrell of San Antonio, state president, will be in charge. This session will adjourn in time for the luncheon at Webb.

FOR THE LADIES

During the morning there will be a poolside brunch for women delegates at the Holiday Inn.

Various public and civic leaders, plus members of the Ambassadors Club, will greet the group at Howard County Airport and escort them on a brief auto route through town to Webb.

Preparations Are Underway For 1970 'Starlight Specials'

Organizational work is well along for the presentation again this summer of the popular "Starlight Specials." This will be a week-long series of informal musical and drama programs staged in the Comanche Trail Park amphitheater.

The presentation, in its fourth year, is sponsored by the cultural affairs committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, headed by Mrs. Roy Cederberg, and co-chairmen for the Starlight Specials are Joe Dunn and Bill Bradley.

The series opens Aug. 9 and runs through Aug. 16 with the omission of Wednesday, Aug. 12. Entertainment starts at 8:30 nightly. There is nominal admission fee of 25 cents, with pre-school children admitted free. Proceeds from the programs this year will go to the Howard County Library Fund.

The schedule includes the following special events:

Aug. 9 — Gospel sing, Joe Dunn in charge.

Aug. 10 — Fiesta Night, with Bill Bradley in charge, with Mrs. Lydia Molino arranging various program numbers.

Aug. 11 — Black and White Night, with Bradley in charge. Mrs. Essie Person is arranging for Negro talent for this program, and Kyle Ellison will be in charge of the stage band part of the program.

Aug. 13 — Western Night, Joe Dunn in charge.

Mack to be in charge.

Aug. 15 — Little Theater to present the play, "Brick in the Rose," with Mrs. Lida Boland in charge.

The Chamber sponsoring group is seeking assistance from organizations which might handle food and drink concessions during the Starlight Specials. Any organization interested in cooperating and earning money for its treasury is invited to call Lt. Flores at Webb AFB, Ext. 2400.

Claims He Grows Pot For The Pot

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Antonio Carrozi, 57, has been arrested for growing marijuana in his vegetable garden. He says his wife uses the plant for cooking.

Police said they found about 300 of the cannabis plants Friday among the tomatoes, string-beans, corn and lettuce Carrozi cultivates on his property.

Carrozi told police his wife uses the seeds of the plants for soups and on Christmas sweets, but that she throws away the leaves preferred by smokers.

Carrozi, who will have a hearing next Thursday on a violation of the public health law, said his wife will bring the judge a cup of soup.

Cleaners Up Are Cleaning Up

MOUNT VERNON, Wash. (AP) — What began as a modest community improvement project by a local bank could wind up costing as much as $20,000.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association offered to pay two cents for each bottle and can picked up from Skagit County roadsides and brought to the bank parking lot Saturday.

"People have been phoning me about how they have collected 1,000 or 1,500 or even 5,000 empties," said Red Wilson, who heads the program for the bank.

Wilson said Don McLeod, Skagit County road supervisor, told him he estimated more than a million containers must have been gathered from roadsides.

Wilson said the bank's directors weren't disturbed by the potential cost of the clean up.

Assistant Band Director Named

Kyle Ellison has been named new assistant band director for the Big Spring High School Steer band.

Ellison comes here from Lubbock where he was band director one year at Estacado High School. He is a native of Ralls.

Prior to his work at Lubbock, Ellison directed at Graham High School for six years. Four of those years his band won sweepstakes awards, which means taking first division ratings both in marching and sight reading.

Ellison's band in Graham was chosen to march in the West Texas Fair parade three consecutive years. The group also represented Drake University in Iowa at one of their major games marching at halftime.

In 1969 Graham's stage band represented the United States on a cultural trip into Mexico. Ellison has taught numerous clinics in Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and San Angelo. He has judged many stageband contests in the West Texas area.

"Ellison has had a great deal of experience producing band shows such as our own Campus Revue," Bill Bradley, band director, said.

Three years ago his band was invited to Neiman Marcus in Dallas to put on their band show.

"He is already hard at work planning the layout for Campus Review for 1971," Bradley said.

While in Graham Ellison was on the board of directors at the country club. He was instrumental in building a teen center on the club grounds to provide entertainment for youth.

"Ellison is a fine oboe player and over the last few years has played in the Abilene, Wichita Falls and San Angelo orchestras.

"The public will be outstandingly pleased with Mr. Ellison as assistant high school band director," said Bradley.

The new man fills the position vacated by Don Turner who will return to school to do graduate work at North Texas State University.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING T-41 Pilot Trainees Fly Without Instructors

This week was solo week for pilot trainees in the T-41 program at Howard County Airport.

About 35 pilots circled the field without instructors and the remainder of the class will have soloed by the end of next week.

Instructors at Central American Airways said flying next week will focus on patterns, landings and mid-phase check rides.

In other airport activities, a Schweizer glider landed at the airport Sunday. James Fryar said the pilot was flying cross country from Marfa to certify for glider ratings and that the sail plane was loaded onto a trailer shortly after the landing. Marfa was the scene recently of the international sail plane competitions.

On Monday's log, Lt. Lewis W. Shaw sold his Swift to Capt. Bill Rievera. Officials from Montgomery Ward landed in a Gulfstream II for an overnight stay in Big Spring. Fred Kasch flew cross country to Lubbock for business. Rex Goff took a Cherokee 6 cross country to Dallas on a charter flight.

Max Bair took his first lesson Monday toward his private pilot's license.

Lt. Doug Davis recently was assigned to fly C-46 duty in Vietnam. For the civilians, that is the military version of a DC-3.

Tuesday Dr. Jim White and family returned from Oklahoma City, Okla., in a Cherokee 6 after visiting relatives. Auriel La Pond flew dual cross country with instructor Rex Goff to El Paso and back.

Rex Goff had charter flights to Crane, Lubbock and Sherman.

State Costs: Up And Up And Up

The prospects out of Austin are not bright these days.

A recent dispatch points out that recommended changes in the state welfare program could run into the tens of millions of dollars. Actually, the total outlay for welfare in Texas is $612 million for this year, and there is an asking of $911 million in the year starting Sept. 1, 1971, and a request for over a billion dollars the year following.

Already, to forestall reduction of welfare payments this year, Governor Preston Smith transferred $13.5 million in appropriations which had been made for medical schools at Houston and Lubbock. Presumably, the time is coming when this money will have to be replaced.

Welfare may be one of the biggest financial problems, but it is not the only one. Many arise from inflationary costs, more population and a demand for additional state services.

Public education will rate high as a major cost. Six new colleges await substantial financing this year, including branches of the University of Texas at Dallas, San Antonio and Odessa. There are also authorizations for an unbuilt dental college in San Antonio, and the medical schools at Houston and Lubbock. Advocates of the Permian Basin Branch of the University are talking of a request of from $20 to $27 million, and this school's request may be the smallest of the lot.

There are some increases in education outlays already authorized by the Legislature, such as an increase in public school teacher salaries by an average of $1,000 this fall and having the state pick up the tab for kindergartens and a wide range of new public school programs.

The welfare issue, though, seems to be one of most severe impact. Much of the state's obligations in this area are tied in with federal programs, and if the federal "family assistance" measure is completed, there would be a further increase in the number of Texans eligible for medical assistance and other welfare programs.

The welfare reforms suggested by a special committee would provide free medicine to recipients; it would increase standard appropriations to "satisfy the basic human needs"; and removal of the $80 million annual ceiling on state tax expenditures for the aged, disabled, the blind and dependent children.

The Legislature will have to face up to a decision on these recommendations, but there seems to be no alternative to providing more money.

Those close to the state fiscal situation are predicting that the Legislature, when it meets in January, will need to raise anywhere from $270 million to $400 million in new taxes for the 1971-72 biennium — and that the tab will keep growing through subsequent years.

And there's the nub of the whole proposition. What and where to tax? More excise levies, another whack at the sales levy, consideration of a state income tax? None of these can be counted on.

It is not irrelevant to point out that as some state programs advance in cost, the effect comes down to the local level (teacher pay is an example), and that local agencies face some of the same agonizing problems.

There is nothing very optimistic in any area of taxation.

Canada Shows Way In Foreign Aid

OTTAWA, Canada — The role of Canada in world affairs is far out of proportion to population, 21 million, or for that matter to wealth. In the postwar years, light and leadership have come again and again from Canadians.

One reason is the exceptional ability of the men who came to the "fore" in the direction of Canada's foreign policy. Over the years in the diplomatic service, later as Minister of External Affairs and then as Prime Minister, Lester Pearson helped to develop a corps of outstanding public servants. Now retired from active political life, Pearson is devoting himself to a cause that is frayed around the edges and for many has the look of a lost cause.

THE WIDENING gap between the rich, developed nations and the poor, underdeveloped nations points up the growing doubt about the whole concept of "foreign aid." Pearson has been crusading to reverse this trend and to find ways to put new life into what was once a powerful current enlisting broad support from both developed and developing peoples.

It is a sad fact that today the

Billy Graham

I am proud and arrogant and have prayed for humility, but have not achieved it. How can I acquire humility? H.L.

Humility is one of the most evasive of virtues, and it is even difficult to formulate a definition. We have so few human examples of humility, that it becomes even difficult to illustrate. Sometimes we are even proud of our humility.

It is said that a Carthusian monk, who was attempting to explain the virtues of his little-known order said: "As for learning, we are not to be compared to the Jesuits. When it comes to preaching, we don't match the Franciscans." "But," he concluded, "when it comes to humility we are tops." Thus, our professions of humility become humorous and ridiculous.

The Bible does, however, speak a great deal of humility. Rather than being a gift which is bestowed, it is indicated that it is something we do ourselves. Such Scriptures as: "Humble thyself before God;" "humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord," and, "humble yourselves under God," all seem to say that the burden of humility is with us. Christ said: "He that humbly himself shall be exalted." Humility, then takes on the meaning of yielding, submitting, putting ourselves at the disposal of God. Just as one becomes passively surrendered to a physician — so are we to yield ourselves to God. If this works for our good in the world of men, how much more should it bring benefit in the things of the Spirit.

President's Been Working On The Railroad

NEW YORK (AP) — Presidential action to halt a nationwide railroad strike and new details of the financial condition of Penn Central Co.'s railroad subsidiary dominated the past week in business.

President Nixon declared a transportation emergency existed Tuesday and ordered the selective strikes against three major lines halted for 60 days.

On Monday the United Transportation Union had struck the Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and the Louisville & Nashville railroads.

Nixon, moving under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act, also appointed an "emergency board" to investigate the 11-year-old dispute over the need for firemen on diesel train engines and to report back to him in 30 days.

The union seeks restoration of about 12,000 firemen's jobs that were eliminated as the result of an arbitral panel's decision. The panel's decision expired in 1966, and the union has been pressing to restore the jobs since that time.

BUSTED CARRIER
Meanwhile, more details of the financial situation involving the Penn Central Transportation Co., which petitioned to reorganize under the federal bankruptcy law, were made public.

A petition filed in federal court in Philadelphia said the road owes $2.2 billion to three utility companies in past due electricity bills. Consolidated Edison, Philadelphia Electric and Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. threatened to cut off power supplies if the payments aren't met.

National City Bank of New York moved in federal court to gain title to the common stock of Pennsylvania Co., the main nonrail subsidiary of Penn Central Transportation Co., to protect nonrail assets from erosion in value.

First National City said it holds all the common stock as collateral for a $300-million line of credit extended in 1969. The bank's petition would prevent Pennsylvania Co. from paying common stock dividends to the railroad unit.

The Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, operated by the Penn Central Transportation Co., announced it would omit its usual $1.75 quarterly dividend on preferred stock. The line cited the uncertainty of continued rental payments by the Penn Central in view of the court proceedings.

ASK FARE HIKE
In addition, Penn Central and four other eastern railroads asked for a 10 per cent increase in rail fares. The proposal would not affect commuter service, but would apply to the Penn Central's high-speed Metroliner trains.

PAYOFF
The Federal Trade Commission proposed that the Coca-Cola Co. pay $100 each to all contestants the FTC said should have won in a promotional game called "Big Name Bingo". The FTC earlier had announced it would issue a complaint charging Coca-Cola and Glendinning Companies Inc., a sales promotion outfit which developed and ran the contest, with "false, misleading and deceptive acts" in conducting the game last year. The commission revealed this past week that its proposed consent order calls for the payment of prizes to contestants who would have won "under a reasonable interpretation of the rules." The order must be agreed to by the two firms or the case will go to a commission examiner and then the five-member commission.

SUBSIDY ON GASOLINE
—Ford Motor Co. was ordered to divest itself by 1972 of its spark plug plant in Ohio, a battery plant in Michigan, and the much-advertised "Autolite" trade name used on auto batteries and other replacement parts. Ford said it may appeal the ruling, made in a federal antitrust case.

A government technical committee recommended a federal tax or a subsidy to make it cheaper for motorists to use gasoline free of lead, which is considered a chief cause of air pollution. The panel did not recommend that use of lead in gasoline be banned, however.

The Air Force selected Boeing Co. of Seattle to carry out the first phase of a $2-billion program to improve the nation's defense against invading aircraft. The Air Force believes the new planes would extend the perimeter of American air defenses several hundred miles and overcome the vulnerability of ground-based radar to missile attack.

Myelitis A Result Of Many Causes

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you write about myelitis? Is it a disease or an ailment? Can it be transmitted between persons? What treatment is prescribed? What are the consequences to be expected?—F.E.M.

Myelitis is an inflammation of the spinal cord. There is no single cause of it. Commonest is a virus polio, rabies, herpes, or others. Infection of some other type can be responsible—abscesses, for example. Or such infections as syphilis or tuberculosis can be responsible. In some instances, no specific cause can be determined. Injury can be responsible.

If the infection is of a type that can be transmitted (as polio), it is possible to pass it along to others. But that does not automatically mean that the myelitis also will be transmitted.

With many causes, there must be many treatments, and if the underlying infection is one for which we have effective drugs, obviously combating the infection becomes the prime basis of treatment.

If a virus—which we can do little or nothing to combat—is at the root of the trouble or if the cause cannot be determined, the only course is to treat the symptoms (pain, etc.) until the body's defenses mobilize to suppress the cause. Myelitis is not a simple condition. About 40 per cent of cases may show some residual neurological damage, such as impairment of memory or muscle weakness.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have some hysterectomy questions. When the uterus has been removed but not the ovaries, where does an ovum go, since it can't go to the uterus?

After a hysterectomy, is it necessary to douche (a) for cleanliness, (b) after intercourse?—V.L.

Remember that an ovum is a very tiny particle, microscopic in size. It merely drops into the abdomen and is absorbed through the peritoneal lining.

Second question: (a) no; (b) optional but not necessary.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true that the male sperm can live for up to two weeks in the female body? My doctor told me this, but I never heard this any place before.—V.J.B.

The average life of the sperm is 72 hours (three days) and that of the ovum 48 hours.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A recent check showed a blood sugar level of 122. My doctor said 80 to 120 was normal and suggested that I reduce my sugar and carbohydrate intake.

In your column you indicated that alcohol lowers the blood sugar level. Since I consume around four bottles of beer daily, would this increase or decrease my blood sugar level?—J.M.

Excessive intake of alcohol may lower blood sugar levels—alcoholics sometimes experience episodes of low blood sugar, but that is after considerable drinking and usually in conjunction with poor nutrition.

I wouldn't try to evaluate your blood sugar reading without knowing when the test was taken in relation to eating, but it is obvious that your doctor is concerned over whether you may be tending toward diabetes.

He says to reduce your sugar and carbohydrate intake, so do so. You will be wise to curtail the beer, which otherwise will play its part in increasing your sugar.

Around The Rim

The Freedom To Barbecue

Methinks the Dallas City Council picked up a hot wiener when it began to toy with a proposed ordinance to put restrictions on where a man can operate his outdoor grill.

Some of the Councilmen themselves backed off from such a project, seeing what manner of protest would arise.

THE COUNCIL had a point in approaching the problem in the first place. This was based on the fact that there have been an uncommon number of costly or disastrous fires in apartment complexes, and studies indicated that at least a portion of these fires started from grills on those little balconies which apartment houses provide as outdoor space for higher-floor tenants.

Nobody in his right mind wants to burn down an apartment house, but good grief, what can a man do to assert his culinary expertise if he can't manipulate his barbecue grill?

ONE DALLAS councilman opined that outdoor barbecues "are probably the best-tended fires in town. You can hardly broil those hamburgers and steaks without being there."

Experienced observers say he is correct.

First place, one must count cookout procedure as a whole pattern. The male of the species, who doesn't really know a pinch of salt from a cup of sugar when he's in the kitchen, arms himself with every tool and summons up all his superior knowledge when he marches out to the grill. First, he has donned shorts and sport shirt, then cuted these with an apron with cute phrases stitched thereon, and likely has added a chef's cap.

NEXT HE produces long-handled fork and tongs, and sooner or later gets around to putting on the charcoal. Getting the stuff started burning presents somewhat of a chore, whether he douses the bricks with lighter fluid, uses an electric starter, or keeps throwing in matches.

Now — and this gets back to the safety angle — when he's ready to throw on the meat, he stands by with a spray bottle of water to extinguish the flames. Between watering and turning of the meat, he is doing his manful best — although not always with success — to keep the food from burning.

NOW, HOW CAN a city ordinance deprive an American male of this moment of triumph, this thrill of culinary success, this operation which permits him to talk expertly next day about how he managed to barbecue the best ribs that have ever been eaten? He is entitled to his pleasures even when he is lying.

AND HE couldn't perform with near the savor of fare if he has to place his grill out in the middle of the yard. It has to be on the terrace, on the patio, under the kitchen window, near where guests sit so they can observe his flourishes with timing, with turning, with alternately raising and the lowering the heat.

Barbecue grills may start fire in some places, all right, but principally what they burn up is the steak. And a man is entitled to his freedom to burn his own steak.

The Cambodians Are Happy

WASHINGTON — Everyone has made great claims of success in the Cambodian operation, and the South Vietnamese and Americans keep congratulating themselves on how well it all went. The only ones who have not been heard from are the Cambodians.

"Mr. Dan Tan, are you pleased with the way the Cambodian operation has gone?"

"Very pleased, very pleased. It is so good to have the South Vietnamese in our country again."

"Then you have no hard feelings toward the South Vietnamese?"

"HOW COULD I have hard feeling toward our friends from across the border? We have welcomed them into our homes with open arms."

"Is that why you're sitting out here?"

"Yes, they are still in our homes, or what's left of them. If one has to be liberated and apparently everyone does, then it's better to be liberated by your friends. We are twice blessed you know. We have been liberated in half our country by the North Vietnamese and in the other half by the South Vietnamese."

"Well, at least you're still neutral."

"IT IS VERY important to remain neutral when your country is being occupied."

"Is anyone bitter about the Cambodian operation?"

"Oh, no. We have nothing to be bitter about. The Americans announced they were coming into our country only to save American lives. The South Vietnamese announced they had invaded us to save South Vietnamese lives. The North Vietnamese are obviously here to save North Vietnamese lives. One cannot quarrel with an army that invades your country to save their own lives."

"NEVERTHELESS, it still must be hard on the Cambodians to have so many foreign people in their country."

"We would be in hospitable hosts to mention it. The important thing is the Domino Theory. If Indochina falls we would be very upset."

"I notice all the plantations around here have been destroyed. What will your people do for work?"

"WE WILL FIND something to do. The destruction of the plantations and the economy is a small price to pay for the freedom we now have in our country."

"Were you sorry to see the Americans go?"

"One is always sorry to see Americans go, but we still hear from them through the air and through their artillery. It is not as if they've said goodbye."

"Mr. Dan Tan, it seems to me that if Cambodia had not become a sanctuary for the Communists you would not have had to get involved in the unpleasantness."

"YES, ONE CANNOT blame other people when one becomes a sanctuary. Of course, North Vietnam is a sanctuary and no one thinks of going there, and Red China is a sanctuary but no one thinks of wiping it out. You must be very small and helpless before anyone considers you a sanctuary worth destroying."

"Well, I'm glad you have no hurt feelings, Mr. Dan Tan."

Where Nixon Must Seek Support

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will have a hard time telling the country just how to vote in the next congressional campaign. There are many Republicans who have defected from the party on some major issues, and there are Democrats from the South who have supported the administration.

Meanwhile, Mr. Nixon is confronted with what he feels is fiscal irresponsibility on the part of a Congress controlled by a Democratic majority.

Only one of the major appropriation bills for fiscal year 1971, which began on July 1, has been before him for signature. The other 13 regular appropriation bills are either pending in committee, awaiting hearings or have been acted on by one House but not by the other. The prospects are that some of these measures will not be up for passage or defeat for several weeks or perhaps even months.

THE PRESIDENT, of course, can characterize Congress as uncooperative in his efforts to fight inflation, and he can urge the people to give him a Congress that will back him up. But he hardly can call for a Republican Congress without appearing to be ignoring the support of many Democrats who are on his side and at the same time to be asking the people to re-elect Republicans who have been opposing his programs.

THE SIMPLEST WAY for the President to handle the campaign would be to disregard party labels and ask the American people to provide him with a majority in Congress which would vote in support of the campaign. In every congressional district the voters are usually familiar with the records of the congressmen who have not been on the President's side in the House and in the Senate. So Mr. Nixon's appeal to the people would be for them to elect those candidates irrespective of party who are pledged to support him.

IT MAY BE that, under such circumstances, some of the dissenting Republicans will have a change of heart and will promise to back the President's programs. Certainly if the President could get a Republican majority in both houses, he would have a substantial group, because there are many Democrats who also can be counted on to vote with the administration.

CONTROL OF CONGRESS by a Republican majority favoring the President is of major importance because chairmen of the committees would be named from the President's party. If the Republican party gains control, Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas, Democrat, for instance, would no longer be chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and other committees would be headed up by members who are presumably friendly to administration programs.

So the next congressional race is bound to be based upon the campaign that President Nixon makes to gain the aid of a majority in both houses of Congress for the legislation that he will be proposing in the ensuing two years of his term. He will undoubtedly make clear that the first two years of his administration have resulted in many delays, due to political obstructiveness.

THE PRESIDENT has not announced his plans and probably will not do so until early autumn. He is confronted, however, with the necessity of launching a campaign for majority support not merely from his own party, but from members of the opposition party who will pledge themselves to vote for his programs and thus end the disturbing tactics that have helped to unsettle economic conditions in America.

Another Passenger Train Due To Quit Texas Scene

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission is just weeks away from deciding the fate of the Texas Eagle, one of three remaining Trans-Texas passenger trains.

It's a classic case. Missouri — Pacific Railway claims the commission has a legal duty to let it cut off any passenger train that loses money.

The National Association of Railroad Passengers says MoPac should try harder to sell rail travel and would make money if it did.

Final briefs were filed Monday by the two sides on MoPac's application to discontinue the Eagle, which connects St. Louis with Laredo, via Texarkana, Palestine, Austin and San Antonio.

(ABOUT JULY 21)

Wallace Nations, the commission examiner in charge of the case, expects to report his findings some time around July 21. The three-member commission will issue its decision after studying his report.

The NARP asked the commission Monday to delay action until Congress has acted on a bill creating a moratorium on passenger train cancellations and setting up a subsidized national rail network.

"It is anticipated this legislation will be enacted into law before Congress adjourns," NARP said.

It also asked the commission to dismiss the case or to turn it over to the Interstate Commerce Commission since there is "no hope" for the rest of the run if the Texas portion is cancelled.

Nations said the commission probably would await his report on the full case before ruling on NARP's motions.

SEVERAL HEARINGS

MoPac applied to discontinue the Eagle Sept. 13. The case dragged out while hearings were held in Laredo, San Antonio, Austin, Palestine and Texarkana. The transcript runs to seven one-inch thick volumes, with testimony from passengers, officials as well as MoPac executives.

The briefs filed this week sum up the two sides of the controversy.

"First, MoPac's side: 'Trains 1 and 2 (the Eagle), southbound and northbound are operating at a staggering deficit with no hope of recovery.'

Discontinuance of the train is necessitated by 'declining passenger patronage, the discontinuance of U. S. mail and the diversion of REA express traffic.'

The Eagle lost $332,024 in 1968, with a projected annual loss of $560,000 thereafter. During six of the nine months of 1969, passenger revenues didn't even cover wages of the train's crew members.

MAIL REVENUE LOST
San Antonio to Texarkana railway post office cars were discontinued in 1966-67, with a loss of $300,000 in mail revenue. Another $226,879 was lost in 1969, when San Antonio to Laredo mail was diverted to trucks.

"The public deserted these trains for the convenience of their automobiles and buses as well as the speed of air travel, and this mass exodus came about in spite of incentives offered by the railroads."

MoPac "has coaxed prospective patrons to ride its trains," to no avail. The Eagle now has an average of 30.14 passengers per train mile, but in order to make the operation break even, it would be necessary to have 106 additional passengers per day, or $3 more each way daily. Based on this hypothesis, the average fare would have to be $30.10 per passenger, compared with the $14.61 average that each passenger paid during a 10-day check in October.

A 1933 Texas law "has been construed as a mandatory requirement that a railroad be permitted to discontinue passenger train service when it is established that the revenues derived do not cover the cost of operation plus a reasonable return on the railroad's investment."

FREIGHT RATES

An attorney for several large shippers "voiced the concern of his clients that freight rates would continue to increase in order to offset passenger deficits."

Now, the National Association of Railroad Passengers' side:

"Clearly, discontinuance is against the public interest. 'The Eagle represents the last link with the Laredo gateway to Mexico. National Railways of Mexico operates three trains per day out of Laredo into the interior of Mexico, and discontinuance of the Eagle would leave these trains without a connection in the United States.'

"It would be unthinkable that the railroad could, by neglect and disdain, deliberately shrink its passenger revenue in order to get its trains cancelled. Yet one is compelled to think that this is precisely what has happened to the Eagle."

NO COMMUNICATION
The record (NARP said) is full testimony about the "impossibility of establishing communication with the ticket offices of the MoPac in San Antonio, in Austin and Texarkana. . . . At the same time as the ticket offices were maintained incommunicado, all public advertising has been abandoned."

MoPac's refusal to cross the border at Laredo caused its loss of passenger traffic and mail, NARP asserted.

"On-time performance of these trains was such as to clearly discourage passenger traffic. NARP said the Eagle was 50 or more minutes late in St. Louis 16 out of 30 days during a June, 1968, test, often running several hours late and causing passengers to miss connections. Delays often occurred, NARP said, because passenger trains were held on sidings to give freights "preferential passage."

"The record here clearly argues for a finding that declining passenger traffic is attributable not to declining passenger potential, but rather to disinterest and neglect by the railroad."

Labor costs "are not savable but rather will continue whether Trains 1 and 2 are discontinued or not" because of guarantees that employees will be given new jobs or continued salaries if no positions are open.

Nuclear Blasts, Quakes Not Related, Say Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two government seismologists said today a seven-year study of earthquakes showed no apparent connection between nuclear explosions and the destructive tremors.

J. H. Healy and P. Anthony Marshall, both of the U.S. Geological Survey, reported just as many earthquakes occurred before underground atomic explosions as afterwards.

The two scientists said they excluded earth tremors occurring within about five miles of atomic explosions since researchers previously established that "relatively small earthquakes are triggered close to the sites of some nuclear explosions."

The findings bolster Atomic Energy Commission contentions that underground testing produces only harmless surface aftershocks beyond the immediate blast sites.

Several AEC projects over the past several months have been met with flurries of protests from citizens' groups which feared the explosions might set off widespread tremors.

Numerous nuclear tests in the Nevada desert have, so far, produced no major earthquakes, the AEC reported earlier. An underground explosion in the tremor-prone Aleutians, off the Alaska coast, caused no major disturbance.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, July 12, 1970 3-D quakes occurred in the 104-hour periods immediately following the 235 nuclear explosions and that 447 earthquakes occurred within similar periods immediately preceding the explosions," their report read.

"Attempts to show that earthquakes extend more than a few tens of kilometers from those (nuclear explosion) sites have been unsuccessful," they reported. A kilometer is about five-eighths of a mile.

Local Men Recall War Days Under General George Patton

By JEAN FANNIN

For four local men the movie "Patton," now showing at the Ritz, hits close to home. Those four men are B. C. Snell, Ackerly, Don Brooks, 3910 Hamilton, Luther Bean, 411 Tulane, and Joe Whirley, 101 S. Ave., Cohoma. Each served under Gen. Patton during World War II.

Patton more than sustained his reputation as the United States' boldest military leader with his men, according to Bean. "When we were hungry, he got us food; when we were cold, he got us warmer clothing," Bean said. Now a pharmacist at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Bean is married and has two daughters, Mrs. Jay Baker, Big Spring and Jenny Bean, a senior at the University of Texas at Austin.

Bean was an executive officer of a reconnaissance group temporarily under Patton in France in 1944. He said he met Patton on several occasions and found him to be a "brilliant man."

"He discussed the famous slapping incident with us," Bean said, referring to an incident which brought world-wide

Brooks began driving for him in 1942 in California and followed him to North Africa and Sicily. "I remember eating Army hash for Thanksgiving dinner 1942 standing hip-deep in mud on a hill behind Casablanca," Brooks said.

Brooks, a radio announcer for KHEM, is married and has two sons, Rocky Brooks, San Angelo, and Herbie McCain, Midland, and two daughters, Mrs. Andrea Harrell and Becky Brooks.

Whirley, a service technician for Montgomery Ward, joined the Third Army in 1944, "23 days after D-Day," he recalls. He was in the Seventh Armored Division under Patton and remembers seeing the General twice, once in England and once in France.

"I was in a spearhead division right up front, and he was right up there with us," Whirley said.

Snell was serving in a ground crew in North Africa in 1943, and for six months served under Gen. Patton while Gen. Rommel was hiding out in the desert.

"He was one of the 'gods of victory,'" Snell said about Gen. Patton. "I only saw him twice from a distance, but I'm looking forward to seeing the movie."

Snell and his wife farm near Ackerly. They have one daughter, Beverly, a sophomore at Howard County Junior College.

Director Sam Peckinpah Says The West Is Best

The American West, like fabled King Arthur's court, is an expression of folk lore. Through the ages, the "Western" film has developed its own mystique, its own grammar, its own story telling rhythm. Among its outstanding "tellers" is film writer-director Sam Peckinpah.

His latest is "The Wild Bunch," now showing at the Jet Theatre. William Holden, Ernest Borgnine, Robert Ryan, Edmond O'Brien and Warren Oates star.

A westerner himself, Peckinpah has long been concerned with the thrilling saga of the western frontier. Early in his career he wrote more than a dozen scripts for the "Gunsmoke" television series which established him as a "Western" specialist.

After "Gunsmoke," Peckinpah created "The Rifleman." He also wrote for TV's "Broken Arrow," as well as trying his

Thunderous Hand For The Satchmo

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The rain came from the sky Friday night, but the thunder came from the 5,000-member audience when "Satchmo" took the stage.

The opening of the 17th annual Newport Jazz Festival was dedicated to Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, who turned 70 on the 4th of July and was down to a trim 130 pounds from the 200 he sported for years.

Mahalia Jackson, Dizzy Gillespie and Bobby Hackett had special words for "The Satch." Then Armstrong took the stage with Miss Jackson, joining her in a New Orleans gospel favorite, "Just a Closer Walk With Thee."

That's when the heavy rains came, bringing the festival to a hasty conclusion.

John Wayne Gives Ideas On Meaning Of 'True Grit'

When it was first published in the spring of 1968, "True Grit" was a double-barreled success — it became an instant best-seller and won great praise from the literary establishment. The book, with its outdoor settings and its high adventure was a "natural" for filming and, even before it was published, the bidding for film rights was fast and furious.

One of the people who was most interested in the Charles Portis novel, was actor John Wayne. Eventually, the book went to Hal Wallis and Paramount Pictures, but Wayne won what must be one of the greatest consolation prizes of a decade when Wallis, director Henry Hathaway and Portis himself agreed that the film could not be made without him.

"I guess you could say that I play a character role — my first since 'She Wore a Yellow Ribbon' — in 'True Grit,' a case of having or not having Wayne says. "Rooster Cogburn, it from the go. It seems to come in his name, and he's a U.S. Marshal such as the screen has never before seen. A sloppy-looking, hard-drinking, disreputable, one-eyed rascal, who's been around long enough to know for sure that you don't mess with outlaws but use every trick in the book, fair or foul, to bring them to justice."

"In Rooster's world, a kick in the face is clean fighting, particularly when it's a struggle for life. He'll bring his prisoners back alive — unless they get ideas. They come back anyway, but dead, slung over the backside of a horse."

"In the story, Rooster and another character, La Boeuf, a Texas Ranger, team up to help a young girl track down the murderer of her father. They go through plenty together and, each in his own way, exhibits true grit."

"Now, with true grit, it isn't a case of having or not having Wayne says. "Rooster Cogburn, it from the go. It seems to come in his name, and he's a U.S.

Western Actor Must Be Athlete

Unless an actor maintains the physical fitness of an athlete, he may just as well forget about appearing in western movies.

This is the well-researched opinion of Terence Hill, who stars in "God Forgives — I Don't," action drama thriller dealing with a manhunt for the desperado who master-minded a train robbery, coming on Wednesday to the Jet Theatre.

Hill, who maintains a rigorous physical training program both during filming and between pictures, had plenty of opportunities to test the benefits of good conditioning during the making of "God Forgives — I Don't." In the picture, Hill not only engages in twenty-five fist fights and rough-and-tumbles, but he is forced to fight his way out of a blazing barn, survives an ordeal of being strung up by his heels for several hours of camera filming in a torture sequence and otherwise spent days in the saddle doing fast chase scenes for the drama.

The actor's close associates are not surprised to find him working out in the gymnasium following such a day before the cameras.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the young mother of a beautiful baby girl. She is so sweet and perfect, except for one thing. Her feet are shaped like little fish. The doctor says she will be able to walk just fine, but it is very embarrassing because all the neighbor women think I am some kind of "weirdo" to have given birth to a baby with "fish feet."

One night my sister was looking at my baby's feet, and she went into some kind of a trance. She went outside and prayed to the moon for many hours. She is no weirdo either, but she said the baby's fish-shaped feet had some strange "power."

Can this be so? God help me if I have borne some kind of witch. I never was one to believe in witchcraft or things like that, but now I'm not so sure. Why else such feet on my baby? And feet that could put my sister in a trance?

Maybe all it means is that my child will grow up to be a fine swimmer? Please put my mind at ease. Being a mother yourself, you know how I feel.

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Ask your baby's doctor for his explanation of your baby's "fish-shaped" feet. (They could be "webbed" — an abnormality which surgery can fix.) The "trance" your sister went into could be a "spell" unrelated to your baby's feet. Don't worry another moment. Seek the answers from your doctor right away.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 52-year-old widow with 12 nice children from 13 to 33. I met this very nice, kind gentleman a year ago. Roy is a widower from another state. He has two sons, 11 and 12. Every weekend Roy comes to see me. The problem is he always brings his boys. My house is barely big enough for me and my nine children who are still at home. I have a half bed which Roy uses, so I have been sending Roy's sons to stay with my parents who live near me.

They are old and ailing and my sister and her husband and their five small children live with them, so it is very crowded there, too. Besides, Roy's boys are sassy and mean and they destroy everything they get their hands on. Even Roy can't make them mind!

My whole family is on me about Roy's sons staying with the folks every week-end.

I once hinted to Roy to please leave his boys with some of his people (he has more relatives than I have), but he paid no attention to the hint, and every week-end he comes and drops the boys off at my parents' place. Abby, I hate to hurt Roy's feelings as he is really nice to me, and a widow with nine at home doesn't have many chances. What should I do?

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO: So far, all you've gotten from Roy is his company every week-end, plus the wrath of your family for imposing Roy's hard-to-handle boys on THEM. Quit hinting, and TELL Roy you cannot accommodate his sons every week-end, and if he wants to see you he will have to make other arrangements for them.

A new statewide program opens the way for community colleges to offer vocational courses to high school students who cannot take them in their own schools.

This means colleges such as Howard County Junior College could begin serving school districts within their areas which do not have vocational instruction.

The State Board of Education gave the go ahead Monday to a plan authorized by the 61st Legislature.

"Many times school districts simply cannot afford the vocational laboratories and equipment either because they don't have the money or the necessary number of students to support highly technical programs," said James Haynie, post-secondary director of occupational education and technology for the Texas Education Agency.

"Under this new approach several school districts might contract with one community college for a full class in a specific vocation, with only a few students drawn from each secondary school," Haynie said.

Dr. Marshall R. Box, Dean of the vocational-technical division at HCJC said no inquiries have been made as yet concerning the program.

The plan would allow students to attend classes for part of the school day at a community college, taking other school subjects the rest of the day within their school district. Dr. Box said attendance at the colleges would count toward average daily attendance figures within the home school districts.

Whether this affects Howard County school districts depends on whether a need exists for programs HCJC could offer that students could not get elsewhere.

Big Spring High School serves as this area's vocational school. Noel Reed, director of special services for Big Spring schools said each year several students transfer from Forsan, Sands and Coahoma school districts to be fulltime students and take advantage of special programs here.

Reed said he felt HCJC could still serve the school districts by offering programs that could not be undertaken by the Big Spring district due to lack of equipment or qualified instructors.

"We are willing to share our instructors and facilities with any area schools that may want our help," Dr. Box said. He said the college has been receiving information on the plan for some time before approval and that his office has all the necessary paperwork to contract with any school wishing to place students in a program.

The TEA reported that applications for approval are now coming into the Agency Department of Occupational Education and Technology.

Lee College in Baytown, for instance, has been asked by five school districts to open classes in radio-television repair, machine shop, offset printing, welding, data processing, automotive mechanics, and electronics.

The program for high school students will be supported statewide by the School Foundation Program. The state pays local schools $264 per student per year.

Graves Finishes Tour In Vietnam

Leland Graves has returned from a year's duty as civilian supply officer at Long Binh, near Saigon in Vietnam. He was one of the first, if not the first, civil service worker to go from here to the Southeast Asia war zone.

Graves came here in 1952 with opening of Webb AFB. He had experience in major supply during the Berlin air lift. Prior to going overseas, he had spent some two years special study.

For his service, he was awarded the USA medal for exceptional service, the Army Service medal, one of few bestowed upon civil service workers. He will be back at post at Webb AFB.

Midland-Austin Route Given To Continental

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continental Airlines was granted the permanent route between Austin and Midland-Odessa, Tex., and Los Angeles Thursday by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The CAB ruling ended an experiment involving Texas International Airlines to determine whether Texas International's regional service could meet Austin's needs.

6-D Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, July 12, 1970

Continental's authority to serve Austin ended in 1963, but the airline had been operating out of the Texas capital under a temporary exemption from its certificate limitations.

The CAB said that "Austin's needs have outgrown the service pattern authorized in our 1963 decisions."
