SEVEN DIE IN BUS CRASH — Spectators view the remains of a bus from the highway where the bus skidded off and plunged down an embankment near Allentown, Pa., on Wednesday afternoon. Seven children who were on a holiday outing were killed in the crash.

Bus Skids From Highway Killing Seven Children

ALLENTOWN Pa. (AP) — Comic books, a baseball cap and other personal belongings scattered across a roadside gully were stark reminders of a bus crash that killed seven children and injured 52 persons Wednesday.

The victims were riding in a bus chartered by the Hillel Country Day School of Lawrence, N.Y., when it skidded off a wet highway.

Screaming youngsters were thrown from the bus as it pitched end over end down an embankment. Some were pinned beneath it when it came to rest off US 22, a four-lane highway.

Forty-nine children and 10 adults from the wealthy Long Island community of Lawrence and nearby towns were aboard. They were headed for an overnight outing at the chocolate capital of Hershey and the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

Authorities said the dead ranged in age from 11 to 16.

Three of the injured were listed in critical condition.

"When I looked up, I saw the bus just spinning off the road," said Philip Gaar, a Hillel representative. He said he climbed from the wreckage through a window and started helping others out. "There were people on the top of the banks and you had to yell and scream at them before they would come down to help."

A trooper, who asked that his name not be used, said, "When this road gets a little wet, it is like a grease stick."

There have been two truck accidents in the same spot in the past two weeks. The road forms an "S" curve between two bridges.

Anthony L. Schmeig, chief highway safety officer with the National Transportation Safety Board, was en route to the site. The board is an independent federal agency with responsibility for safety in all modes of transportation.

Is Rebellion Shaping Top Red Pyramid?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Kremlin chiefs provided observers this week with reason to wonder whether a rebellion against the elders is slowly shaping up at the top of Soviet power pyramid.

Leonid Brezhnev, the general secretary of the Communist party, unexpectedly reversed himself. Only July 2, in a long speech on the shortcomings of Soviet agriculture, he said the 24th Communist party Congress would be held before the end of 1970. On Monday, 11 days later, he announced that the party's Central Committee had voted to hold the Congress next March, three months after 1970 ends. This suggests that Brezhnev was overruled by others.

Party statutes require a congress every four years, but this statute has been repeatedly violated.

KHRUSHCHEV RULES

However, there are other statutes which could be embarrassing to some top leaders.

In 1961, when Nikita Khrushchev was in charge, he revised the party statutes so that he could fire anybody who got in his way and at the same time expect to keep himself at the helm.

Khrushchev's new rules, duly adopted by the 22nd Congress, required that not less than a quarter of all Central Committee members be replaced at each congress. Nobody in top ruling bodies including the Politburo—now called the Presidium—could serve more than three consecutive terms. That would have ruled out Khrushchev, too, except for another clause which said that members with "particular" talents could stay in office indefinitely.

Khrushchev was ousted in October 1964, possibly on the legal basis provided by his own statutes. In March, 1966, the 23rd party Congress decided "there will be a systematic renewal of the composition of the party organization" but did not go into specifics. The suggestion was that there would be some revision—how much was not clear.

NO PROMOTIONS

In recent years there have been hints that the party's lower ranks were pressing those at the top to open the avenues to power. Even before the 1966 Congress some party sources were deploring a tendency toward automatic re-election of leading figures.

Skyscraper Plan Scrapped

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas won't get a new 50-story skyscraper built by Ling-Temco-Vought Inc. after all.

The company announced Wednesday that it was selling off the prime downtown site it had reserved for an international corporate headquarters as part of its cost-cutting program.

When LTV acquired the site 18 months ago, architects were commissioned to prepare plans for a 50-story building. This resulted in company representatives being called before the Federal Aviation Administration because it was held its proposed height might affect airline flight patterns out of Love Field.

The property, containing 70,925 square feet of space is now occupied by the 18-story Big Grande Life building, parking lots and some smaller buildings. Some of the tenants have already vacated the area.

Dock Strikes Create British Emergency

LONDON (AP) — The British government was expected to declare a state of emergency today, clearing the way to send the army onto the nation's strikebound docks to unload food cargoes.

The country's first national dock strike in 44 years, called Wednesday night after representatives of the dockers rejected a proposed pay increase, stopped loading and unloading at Britain's 40 major ports and took 47,000 longshoremen off the docks.

"It looks like a long one; I can see no way out," said the docks organizer for the Transport and General Workers Union, Tim O'Leary.

The docks normally handle $600 million worth of goods and raw materials a week, and every industry in the island nation will be hit within days.

Auto manufacturers estimate they will lose nearly $20 million worth of export sales for every working day the docks are shut down. However, most plants close for annual vacations at the end of next week. And gas and oil supplies are expected to hold up, since the petroleum companies have their own port facilities.

Food supplies were the major concern.

The Ministry of Agriculture

said there was less than a month's supply of meat in cold storage; 30 per cent of the beef and 55 per cent of the lamb British eats is imported.

Other stocks on hand include six weeks' butter and two months' wheat, flour, bacon, cheese and sugar. The nation is almost self-sufficient in eggs, pork and milk.

The strike does not affect seven ports operated by British Railways and a few private ports. But workers there were believed reluctant to take on any significant increase in cargo handled.

The unions had demanded a 70 per cent increase in their basic pay, from $27.92 a week to $48. The employers said this worked out to a 62 per cent increase in average weekly earnings and offered a 7 per cent increase based on improvement in the guaranteed minimum wage. The union representatives rejected this 48 to 35, and the employers withdrew their offer, saying they would not negotiate under stress.

Expect Slight GNP Upturn

WASHINGTON (AP) — A very slight upturn in real national output—but enough to erase fears of a serious recession—is expected in the second quarter Gross National Product report due Friday.

A preliminary estimate of the GNP—which measures the value of all goods and services produced—showed such an increase, government sources said.

If the increase has survived the usual last-minute revisions, it will cheer the Republican administration by indicating the economy will be safely on the upgrade by the November congressional elections.

It would be almost equally cheering if the real GNP merely held even or close to even, for that would indicate the sag in real output—a drop of $5.5 billion in the first quarter—had been halted and the decline was "bottoming out" only a little bit later than President Nixon's economists had predicted.

Continued weakness in the goods-producing sector of the economy was shown Wednesday, however, by the Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production for June.

Showers In South Texas

By The Associated Press

Gusty showers in South Texas, mostly over the coastal plains, and occasional thunderstorms across the Texas Panhandle tempered the summer heat Wednesday.

This morning the turbulence subsided and skies were partly cloudy in most sections. Sheriff's officers reported a tornado dipped to earth Wednesday afternoon in Harris County north of Houston but there apparently was no damage.

Moisture amounts for the day included Alamo 66 inch, Corpus Christi 62, Galveston 60, Palacios 58, McAllen 43, Austin 40, Brownsville 35, San Antonio 23 and Victoria 10.

Unruly weather near a dying cool front set off showers and thunderstorms through a 70-mile wide belt across the Panhandle, prompting a severe storm alert for 20 counties on the west side of Northwest Texas. It expired without word of damage.

ENEMY WITHDRAWING?

Cambodian Units Prepare To Drive On Resort Area

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Four Cambodian army battalions moved into position south of the Kiri Rom plateau today, preparing for a drive on the mountain resort 50 miles west of Phnom Penh. There was speculation that most of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had pulled back into the jungle.

Two battalions were poised on the southern edge of the 2,000-foot-high plateau. They reported taking enemy rifle fire but said they had not been hit by mortars.

Two more battalions that were badly mauled Tuesday had regrouped and were again moving toward the plateau.

The Cambodian command also appeared to believe the end of the battle was near. It called back a force of 1,400 mercenaries that had been sent up the east flank of the plateau and had made no contact with the enemy. They were three miles from the main resort area when recalled.

The mercenaries are Cambodians from South Vietnam's Mekong Delta who were recruited and trained by the U.S. Special Forces for the war in Vietnam. There was some speculation among the strike forces that the Cambodian army wanted sole credit for retaking the plateau after the humiliation of being driven from it.

Indications were that more than 200 Cambodian troops were killed, wounded or missing. To tal enemy losses were not known.

Kiri Rom area has no apparent military value. The aim of the enemy appeared to be to knock out as many government units as it could, then pull out when the government force got too big.

Elsewhere in Cambodia, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops for the second time this week attacked the military depot at Long Vek, 35 miles north of Phnom Penh, but failed to push into the base, the military spokesman said. He said at least two Cambodian soldiers were killed. South Vietnamese AC47 gunships made two raids in the area during the night.

South Vietnamese troops operating in Cambodia reported killing 33 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in two clashes 75 miles northeast and 45 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. One South Vietnamese was reported killed and seven wounded.

Only light action was reported across South Vietnam, and South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon said no significant contact had been made in the 5,000-man jungle sweep launched Wednesday west of Da Nang.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced a total of 72 Americans were killed in action last week, 11 more than the week before. This raised the total number of Americans killed in combat in the Vietnam war to 42,991 between Jan. 1, 1961, and midnight last Saturday, but U.S. communiques have reported at least 11 more Americans killed since then, pushing the total past the 43,000 mark.

The U.S. Command also announced that 729 Americans were wounded in action last week, compared to 463 the week before.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 423 government troops killed in action last week, an increase of 52 over the previous seven-day period. Another 1,275 government troops were wounded, compared with 1,027 the week before.

Senate Panel OKs Aid For Raids, Nixes Props

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has endorsed U.S. financing of South Vietnamese raids into Cambodia, while forbidding the use of Pentagon funds to bolster the Phnom Penh government.

The in-between policy was recommended Wednesday by the Senate as part of a $19.2 billion military authorization bill, but it may be a month before the Indochina aspects of the legislation reach a vote.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said the situation may change drastically by then. He left open the possibility his panel might reconsider the issue to take into account any changed conditions later in the summer.

At the State Department, meanwhile, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said immediate prospects for a peace settlement in South Vietnam "are not too bright . . ."

But he also said, "I have always felt, and I still feel, that there is a reasonable prospect that you can end this war by a negotiated settlement."

That reversed the emphasis of a statement he made in London Sunday.

Rogers said for the next two months or so, the aftermath of U.S. and South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia had lessened the prospects for successful negotiations. But he said over the long run, action against the Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia had increased settle-over the long run, action against the Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia had increased settle-

The Armed Services Committee proposal provides a basis in law for U.S. financial support of future Cambodia sanctuary operations by South Vietnam and its allies.

The bill authorizes up to $2.5 billion for support of South Vietnamese and allied forces, and for aid to local forces in Laos and Thailand.

College Will Get Enforcement Aid

An initial award of $15,000 to Howard County Junior College for its law enforcement education for the 1971 fiscal year was announced today by Congressman Omar Burleson. This is to provide student loans or grants to state and local law enforcement personnel, and those who will enter the law enforcement field. The total estimated award will be $25,000 if additional funds are appropriated, said Burleson.

AFA Convention Schedule Taking Shape In Big Spring

Final arrangements for the state convention of the Air Force Association are taking shape as Webb AFB and Big Spring prepare for Friday's opening of the convention.

A. J. Statser, president of the local chapter of the AFA, and Jeff Brown, AFA chairman for the convention, plan to register and entertain some 300 delegates and distinguished guests.

Among the guests will be Congressman Omar Burleson, Murphy Martin, president of the United We Stand organization; and wives of prisoners of war and men missing in action. Noted Air Force generals are also coming, among them Brig. Gen. Robin Olds, commandant of cadets USAF Academy, and Brig. Gen. W. C. McGlothlin, chief of USAF Recruiting and former wing commander at Webb.

The three-day convention's theme is "The Forgotten Americans." The convention's aim is to familiarize delegates and the public with the plight of the American men-in-arms who are presently held by Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

Webb's open house is 2-5 p.m. Saturday. The public in the West Texas area is cordially invited to view the static and aerial displays as well as a drill team and sentry dog demonstrations. The following is the schedule of events:

Beginning at 1:45 p.m. the Keesler AFB, Miss., band will perform for 15 minutes with Col. Anderson W. Aklinson, Webb wing commander, to officially open the ceremonies at 2 p.m. Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Frederick J. Kevetter will then deliver the invocation.

Following the official opening, the aerial show will begin with a take-off of the Cessna T-37s, Northrop F-38 and McDonnell Douglas F-4s for their aerial fly-by later in the day.

Prior to the fly-bys, at 2:30 p.m. a Lockheed C-130 Hercules will perform a cargo drop on the runway. It will fly only several feet above the runway while jettisoning its cargo. The fly-bys are scheduled to start at 2:35 p.m. when the first formation of T-37s will go over followed by the T-38s, Convair F-102 Delta Daggers, F-4s, Lockheed C-5A (world's largest aircraft) and again by the T-37s and T-38s in a mixed formation. After the fly-bys, at 3 p.m., the Jody Drill team from Lowry AFB, Colo., will display their silent marching and drill techniques and finally the Lackland AFB Sentry Dogs with their security police trainers will demonstrate their skills.

On the same day, at the awards banquet, the AFA will honor its men of the year and also awards will go to Capt. Gordon L. Jenkins of Luchlin AFB, Tex., and Capt. Richard T. Gains of Mather AFB, Calif., as the instructor pilot and navigator instructor of the year. Among distinguished guests attending the convention are Miss Bette Perot, Mmes. Joy Jeffrey, Paula Hartness, Sandy McElhannon and Bonnie Singleton, the latter are wives of prisoners of war and men reported missing in action.

Thousands Pay Respects To Slain Doctor

MATHIS, Tex. (AP) — A predominantly Mexican-American crowd of about 1,000 gathered Wednesday for the funeral of Dr. Fred E. Logan Jr., a Mathis doctor killed by a deputy sheriff Saturday night.

"Yesterday it was Martin Luther King and the Kennedys. Today it is Dr. Logan," said Dr. Hector Garcia, founder of the GI Forum after the graveside services.

Logan, 31, was shot Saturday night during a scuffle with a San Patricio County deputy sheriff who had arrested him following a disturbance.

The funeral crowd jammed Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church and the street outside for the service. The crowd walked behind the casket to the burial site during a heavy downpour.

Logan, an osteopath, headed a clinic which treated many of the poor in this predominantly Mexican-American community. He was arrested Saturday night at a restaurant on the edge of Mathis by deputy Eric Bauch. Sheriff Wayne Hitt said Bauch went to the area after reports of gunfire and a drunk-and-disturbance.

Bauch gave a statement to Sheriff Wayne Hitt. In the statement, Bauch said he found Logan at the restaurant. He said the doctor surrendered a .38-caliber pistol to him on request and was placed in a squad car.

Bauch said in his statement that Logan was able to get out of the car. He said he and the doctor scuffled and the deputy drew his pistol, intending to fire a warning shot.

Pre-Hearing Due On Slaying

FORT WORTH (AP) — A pretrial hearing called by attorneys for a Texas Tech student accused of killing a university cleaning woman was to begin today after being delayed by another case.

Benjamin Lach was accused of slaying Mrs. Sarah Alice Morgan, 54, with a scalpel and hacksaw blade Dec. 4, 1967, on the third floor of Tech's Science Building.

His attorneys have asked the judge to suppress from the jury pictures taken at the scene of the crime and of the victim.

Lach was judged mentally competent to stand trial April 8 after being released from Rusk State Hospital, where he was held in December, 1968.

Alas, The Computer Develops Amnesia

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana state auditor's computer has had amnesia.

Every time the power goes off at the statehouse, the computer "forgets" all the data that has been fed to it that day.

Auditor Trudy Etherton says her employees have had to work overtime on some occasions to replace the lost information needed to print vouchers.

Magazine Ranks Texas Businesses By Income

AUSTIN — Featuring some surprises and an abundance of business statistics, the July issue of Texas Parade magazine off the press this week is highlighted by its second annual rankings of Texas' Top 100 Corporations and 150 "Companies to Watch."

But the story the magazine tells this month is different from one it told last year.

Led by Ling-Temco-Vought, with its $38.3 million in losses for the year, 15 per cent (35 in all) of the 250 Texas-based and publicly-owned firms listed lost money during the 1969 fiscal year.

Dresser's revenues increased 12.3 per cent to $700,148,000 and like Pennzoil, its $76.5 million increase was impressive, but not good enough to hold off Southland's charge.

Anderson, Clayton & Co. of Houston, reporting only an 11-month year in changing the status of its fiscal year, remained in eighth place with $516 million, followed by Collins Radio of Dallas ($400 million) and Campbell Taggart Associated Bakeries of Dallas ($295 million).

To make the golden list, requiring revenues of $23.4 million, Rowan Drilling Company of Houston holds the distinction of being the 100th ranked firm, edging Winn's Stores of San Antonio.

There were eight newcomers to the Top 100 rankings. They included Sysco, a distributor of frozen foods; Telecom Corp.; Marathon Manufacturing Southdown, Inc.; Stratford of Texas; Tech-Sym (formerly known as the Westec Corporation), all of Houston and Western Beef of Amarillo and

Colorado Patrol Rounds Up 14

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Fourteen workers described as Mexican nationals were taken into custody here Wednesday by members of the Colorado State Patrol, Pueblo County Sheriff's Department and the U. S. Immigration Authority on charges of illegally entering the United States.

According to Sheriff Joe I. Torres the men were rounded up at various truck farms in the Pueblo area where they had been working as crop pickers. The men are being held in the Pueblo County jail awaiting action today by the Immigration authorities.

MINNESOTA FATS IN BIG SPRING? No, but it was almost the same when Jack White, reputed to be the world's youngest pocket billiards champion, visited the VA Hospital Tuesday to give patients a sample of his "pe-cue-liar" talents.

Billiards Champ Entertains At VA

The world's youngest touring pocket billiards professional visited the local VA Hospital Tuesday afternoon and demonstrated his skill with the cue stick.

Jack White appeared at the hospital in connection with the nation-wide VIP Program inaugurated to honor and entertain hospitalized veterans. VIP stands for Very Interesting Personalities Visiting Very Important Patients.

White played pool with several of the veterans and explained various techniques on the pool table. The patients' pool table was recently donated to the hospital by the BPO Elks.

whatever comes to hand. White has appeared on many top television shows, has been featured in numerous magazines, and has appeared in pocket billiard exhibitions at state fairs. White has appeared in more than 100 foreign countries, including 17 trips to Vietnam to entertain troops.

Jackie Kennedy was the last person to beat him, said White, but there were about 40 secret service agents watching, he added. White has a high run of 226 in pocket billiards, a perfect game in snooker and a high run of 12 in three-cushion billiards.

White is a pool champ who claims that he can play on any table with any utensil for a pool stick.

LTW was followed in the losers' column by Gulf Resources and Chemical of Houston, with $8.9 million in losses; Texas International Airlines of Houston, showing $5.3 million in losses; United Foods Inc. of Houston, with $4.9 million; and Planet Oil & Mineral of Dallas, with $4.7 million on the debit side.

Oddly enough, LTV's revenues jumped $1 billion and left the fabled Dallas company once again ranked as Texas' largest company with 1969 revenues of $3,767,772,000. Tenneco Inc. of Houston, which ranked first in net income ($165 million), was a distant second with $2,493,107,000... and the Halliburton Company of Dallas joined the Billion Dollar Club, reaping revenues of $1,010,624 last year.

To qualify for Texas Parade's listings, a company had to be (1) publicly-owned; (2) its corporate offices or headquarters had to be located in Texas; and (3) it could not be a subsidiary, division or affiliate of other corporations.

There were no newcomers among the top 10 companies. But the Southland Corporation of Dallas, reporting its most profitable effort in the 42-year history of the company, leaptfrogged over Pennzoil United Inc. of Houston and Dresser Industries of Dallas, into fifth place behind Texas Instruments. Southland reported 1969 revenues of $826 million, compared to $622 million in 1968.

Pennzoil's revenues of $691 million represented a new high, but its $57 million increase wasn't enough to offset Southland's remarkable jump and it wound up in seventh place.

Scenic Mountain Markings Saved From Destruction

By GORDON ZEIGLER
What is in a name? Names on Scenic Mountain reflect early day Big Spring and the pastimes of a younger generation, that has grown up. "Young people in Big Spring knew Scenic Mountain as a place to go for dating, recreation, picnics and camping," said Mrs. Vern Vigar who has studied the markings and takes tour groups from her home demonstration council and the Girl Scouts to see the many name and picture scrawlings. She tells the story of youngsters of the early 1900's and even through the 1930's who must have spent hours and hours scratching and chiseling names and symbols in the limestone. One or two of the markings were in danger of being covered by a new asphalt access road to the camping area, but Highway Department engineers cooperated with several Big Spring women (Wednesday) who pointed out where the markings lay in the path of the road. "We were able to route the road about four or five feet to miss one marking," said Ed Wheeler of the Texas Highway Department. "Several other small markings which look like cross hatches we will have to cover, but we are going to place spikes along the road offset exactly 10 feet from the marks so they can be located in the future.

Miss Gladys Hardy, president of the Big Spring Genealogical Society, expressed her appreciation to highway department personnel for their cooperation.

The new road cuts off from the main park road half a mile from the entrance. It will be 1,900 feet long and 18 feet wide. Wheeler said it will carry two way traffic to the recreation and camping area. One rather large marking saved by the group was what appeared to be an American Eagle. The eagle is about 30 inches wide and almost 12 inches deep. Miss Hardy said some believe it was placed there by CCC boys working to build the park. The road was moved about four feet to miss it.

Several other carvings that look like "plus" signs called "treasure marks" by some will have to be covered. Many marks of the same type dot the area, so the marks will not be lost entirely. No other markings will be lost.

Genealogical society members walking across the stone formations Thursday suggested something ought to be done to draw attention to the marks so more people will know about them and can enjoy them. "We need to get someone from a university to verify the age and origin of the markings," ventured Janice Grant. Miss Grant said most of the marks are names of Big Springers but some were just symbols and unidentifiable.

Some speculated the markings might be those of Spanish conquistadors or even Indians who frequented the Big Spring area hundreds of years ago. None has information to support this. "Sometimes money spent for something like this is better spent than for added recreation facilities, because this creates interest and draws attention to the park in general," said Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, a member of the group. "I feel we need to mark them and have some notation as to their worth," said Miss Hardy. Some of the names have dates by them: Leonard Fisher, 1916, is one among numerous ones that stand out clearly. Carved a half an inch to an inch into stone, the names have weathered the years well.

Legends and an air of mystery surround many of the markings. One described as an "Indian Head" by Mrs. Vigar draws much attention. Some markings are so dim you have to use your imagination Mrs. Vigar explained. One legend has it that the numerous cross hatches indicate buried treasure, Mrs. Vigar noted.

Free Wash For Windows

If your car windows are dirty, watch out for the DeMolays Monday.

Dirty car windows are the target of a service project.

Members of Leon P. Moffett Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will carry buckets, sponges and dry cloths to wash car windows at the major shopping center and downtown parking lots. The wash is free — courtesy of the DeMolays.

"This is one of our major service projects which we have throughout the year," said Charles Harris.

Kent Fish, master counselor, is in charge of the project which will begin at 2 p.m. and continue until about 5 p.m. Harris said.

Buckle Up For A Buck

Buckle up for a Buck. Your life should be worth a dollar.

This is the idea behind the new safety program initiated by members of the physiological training branch to encourage their personnel to fasten their seat belts before starting out.

Members of the branch signed a pledge to promote safe driving habits by buckling their seatbelts before putting their automobiles in motion. If the driver of an automobile fails to fasten his seat belt, anyone who has also signed up for the "Buckle-up for a buck club" can collect a dollar from the negligent driver. Also, if a passenger in the automobile fails to fasten the belt, the driver or any other passengers in the automobile may collect a dollar. The prize would to the most alert passenger who calls the negligence.

A Devotion For Today . . .

He made it again another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it. (Jeremiah 18:4)

Aid-To-Cambodia Issue

Congress may buck and pitch a bit, but it probably will go along in the end with the Nixon administration's plans for a $50 million military aid program for Cambodia. This contrasts with the $7.9 million in small arms and military equipment allocated to Cambodia since the Lon Nol regime came to power.

What will trouble many members of Congress and thoughtful citizens generally is that this program has a familiar, deadly ring. Wasn't this how it all started in Vietnam? Will it go from here, imperceptibly by slow degrees, without any affirmative plan, into an Indochina war, rather than a Vietnamese one?

President Nixon's statements on Cambodia have not been completely ambiguous. He has said that our government was not committed to defending the Lon Nol government. He has said that we have no plans to re-enter Cambodia, nor can he foresee any necessity for re-entering that country. But he has not said categorically that we will not take up arms again in Cambodia.

The administration position can be explained on strategic and tactical grounds. It is a good policy to keep one's enemies in doubt as to our intentions, while publicizing our capabilities. But the small doubt remains in the minds of the American people.

Hence it is almost certain that Congress will examine any Cambodian aid program in minute detail, as it should. The Senate has already registered its deep uneasiness over the President's independent decision to enter Cambodia. The church-cooper amendment to the foreign military sales act may not survive a Senate House conference committee. But the President can no longer be in doubt about sentiment in the Senate.

Some attention, naturally, will be given to the possibility, if not the probability, that the material supplied to Cambodia might eventually fall into North Vietnamese hands with the collapse of the Lon Nol government. But the main consideration, as it should, will be directed toward taking as many precautions as humanly possible against the administration's Cambodian program becoming the beginning of another long slide down the slippery into another Asean quagmire.

GRINDER

Changing The Election Code

The House Election Code Committee is being forced to look into a number of hitherto unexplored areas in the state's election laws. Major legislation of a far reaching nature will likely be presented to the next legislature.

One of the questions that will be debated at length by legislators is extension of the franchise to 18-year-olds. A federal law on the subject has been passed by Congress and signed by the President. But there is some doubt whether the federal law is constitutional, but states have been ordered to comply by next year.

Another question of importance is a change in the primary election days, bringing the process much closer to the general election. There seems to be fairly general agreement that the primaries should not be held earlier than July, perhaps even as late as August for the first primary.

Another substantial issue is one of filing fees. The pretense can no longer be maintained that the cost of primary elections is a party matter and the fees can be set at any level the county convention deems appropriate.

The committee must consider, too, the question of a deadline for registering to vote. Instead of the Jan. 31 deadline, the law should permit registration up to 30 days before an election.

Public sentiment on these and other questions of election law revision will be solicited at meetings of the House Election Code Committee in various parts of the state during July and August major election code revision can no longer be delayed.

Tax Blow For Private Schools

WASHINGTON — Government by law and the Constitution or Government by political expediency — that's the choice which the Nixon administration faced, and it took the latter course when it ordered white private schools to open their doors to all, regardless of race, or lose their tax exemptions.

The hypocrisy of this action was revealed when it was announced that private schools which admit persons of only one religion and other tax-exempt organizations — such as fraternal clubs which limit their membership to one race — would not be affected.

IT MIGHT be asked how tax deduction can be justified for gifts to an organization known as the "National Association for the Advancement of Colored People" and yet be denied when made to organizations which seek to advance the education of white people.

In one of the cases filed in May, the Department of Justice submitted a brief supporting the tax-exempt status of private schools of all kinds and the deductibility of contributions as well. But in recent days in internal squabble in the administration resulted in a change of heart. One White House aide told the press that the President "believes that ultimately the tax status of racially discriminatory private schools will be determined by the courts and that this is desirable."

THIS IS, in effect, passing the buck to the courts. But, in the meantime, the administration presumably is to escape criticism from the Negro groups because it has changed position.

The Supreme Court of the United States has rendered many decisions on segregation since its historic opinion in 1854 declaring that the "equal protection" clause of the Fourteenth Amendment bars racial discrimination in public schools. But no opinion of the court has said that the federal government may penalize citizens in one group while citizens in other groups are given privileges in their financing of educational projects.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS, for example, teach religion and attract students of certain religions. This has long been recognized by the courts and by the American people as a legitimate practice and not a violation of any part of the Constitution. But now the present administration is arguing that a group of citizens who wish to exercise their freedom of association and help to maintain schools where white can enjoy their own educational environment cannot have the same tax-exempt status or tax deductibility for contributions as is granted to citizens who contribute to religious schools. Tuition fees, incidentally, are not involved, as they are not deductible.

"PRIVATE SCHOOLS" are, of course, private institutions. Each school has its own admission policy, and the government heretofore has never interfered. If anybody wished to challenge the tax exemption, the proper way would have been to file suit in the courts, and the administration need not have taken any party in the controversy.

IF THE GOVERNMENT now is to step in and pass judgment on the whole system of charitable giving in America and raise doubts as to whether particular organizations which receive aid are satisfactory politically to the administration in power, the whole edifice of philanthropic operation in America will be weakened.

A Man Is Known By His Children

(Subbing for Hal Boyle) NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — At some point in life, a man loses his identity.

No longer is he Sidney Glutz, captain of industry, magnate of merchandising, molder of men, maker of millions.

He is Aaron's daddy. Or Susie's. Or whatever the names of his children might label him.

It must be humbling to be board chairman of a giant corporation and be known not for a brilliant career in business, a startling innovation in automobiles or a daring leap in finance, but because you are "Jimmy's daddy—and he's the best somersaulter in the block."

It is humbling enough for humbler men, returning from the 6:07 or a long day at the office, to hear the cry of a neighbor child: "Bob's daddy, Bob's daddy, come see what we made."

The triumphs of the workaday world are submerged somehow to being the father of the maker of a sandpile rocket ship imagined from three old tires and a broken toy piano.

When the real world does intrude, it is backwards. To the rising middle-class executive, the cry of a forlorn son: "Billy's daddy is just great—he drives a truck and he let me drive the wheel."

The loss of identity is a peculiarity of parenthood. Bachelors, regardless of age, don't have it. A childless couple may be Bob and Jo to grandparent age. Given children, they are reduced to Bobby's daddy and Mommy.

Children identify instantly with parents, as a cat arches instinctively at the smell or sight of a dog.

Adults big enough to be parents—that is, too old to be baby sitters, too young to be grandparents—pose a puzzle when they are childless. They are big kids.

The first squawl of the infant starts the change. It is accelerated with walking and attains light speed with group play.

A child once asked your wife, "Can Bob come out to play?"

Now, he asks a 4-year-old's mother, "Can Bobby's daddy get our ball?"

What must save the corporate chairman—assuming that chairman and such magnates do have children—is the rise to the top.

The identity problem is one of youth, or at least, of relative youth, '20s and '30s. Board chairmen, even in today's youth-accented world, tend to be olders.

Board chairmen rarely have toddlers to identify them as, "Brian's daddy." By the time a man reaches the top, his children have grown and passed from his nest and with them has fled the identity crisis.

Although, come to think of it, it could be even more humbling to be a step further removed in the identity chain—to be "Jimmy's granddaddy."

Brokers Have Troubles

NEW YORK (AP) — Hearings on a rise in commission rates on stock transactions are likely to focus even more attention on the business methods of Wall Street and the reasons for the sudden drop in brokerage house profits.

Have they fallen because commissions are too low? Or has the red ink spread over the records because of poor office procedures, overpricing, overpaying and underplanning, among other bad business practices of which the brokers allegedly are guilty?

In hearings before the Securities and Exchange Commission, members of the investing community claimed that brokers have experienced shrinking profit margins through much of the 1960s, even when business volume was high.

But it was in this very same period that many of the poor business practices were revealed, when stock certificates were lost in backrooms, when sales were sought at once, when records fell into chaos.

Now the member firms of the New York Stock Exchange are seeking a continuation of a $15 surcharge on transactions involving 1,000 shares or less, arguing that the financial situation on Wall Street will otherwise become precarious.

The surcharge was due to expire two weeks ago, but it has remained in force while the stock community argues its case for a 90-day extension. There is little question that the NYSE can produce evidence of losses:

—A sampling of member firms shows that in the final quarter of 1969, less than one-third of them earned any profit on their securities commission income.

—During the first quarter of 1970, and in the month of April, about 80 per cent of the retail houses—those handling orders from the public—lost money on their public commission business.

Without the surcharge, the NYSE argues, a very serious predicament would have developed this summer. Not just for brokers, either, because the securities industry is supposed to be a symbol of success.

India Aids Neighbor

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government has approved a $2.6 million plan to help Afghanistan set up industrial parks, demonstration farms and training facilities, the United News of India reported.

Around The Rim

A Girl, A Garden, A Menagerie

Recently I wrote about the trials and tribulations one encounters while trying to choose a spot in which to vacation, however, as I have now discovered, nothing beats the trials and tribulations faced by the one who is left behind.

My parents recently took a two-week vacation and left me in charge of one dog, two cats, millions of catfish, (each about the size of a thumb) and the garden.

ACCUSTOMED as I have become to apartment living (where the only garden is a patio wall covered with man-eating ivy), it hasn't been that long since I lived with my parents, their menagerie and garden, or so I thought.

The very first day I noticed one minor problem. There was only one cat. And two dogs. Feeding instructions plainly read: "Feed the cats (plural) and dog (singular) each afternoon."

THERE WERE several interesting possibilities. (A.) My parents were having eye trouble and couldn't tell the difference between that particular dog and a cat. (B.) Someone had traded one dog for one cat. (C.) A cat had decided to wander off at the exact time a dog decided to wander up.

I didn't have too long to worry because the next day the extra dog was gone, but so were the fish . . . sort of. They were all floating belly up in the bowl. That may not seem like a major crisis to you — but you don't have an 11-year-old brother to explain missing fish to.

INTERPERSED with the problem of animals which appeared and disappeared at will was the garden. My parents probably have the only major corn field within the corporate limits of Big Spring — and left in my non-agricultural control confusing things began to happen.

Bred within city limits, I have little farm knowledge to fall back on. For instance how do you tell when corn is ready to pick? Dad explained something about the tops turning brown but there must be more to it than that. When peeled (shucked?) some of the corn was a beautiful golden color and some was a sickly white.

THEN AN invasion of bugs took over the crop, and I gave up. I'm not the militaristic type and fighting bugs just isn't my bag.

A definite fear of snakes is firmly ingrained in me, and digging through cucumber vines produces a definite feeling of horror within me that I might find more than cucumbers lying under those leaves.

And as for okra and green beans — I would decide to leave them on the vine one more day and then the next day they would be yellow and dried out. Let's face it, I'm just not cut out to be a farmer.

Sex Has Disappeared In Washington

WASHINGTON — Mr. John Corry has written a piece in the July Harper's magazine titled "Washington, Sex and Power." Corry's conclusions are that there is not as much sex in Washington as one might think, and while power acts as an aphrodisiac, more men in high positions get their kicks from politics than they do from bedfellows.

Corry says that Democrats are better than Republicans, though some of the biggest lechers in Washington are middle-aged Republican conservatives, who were described by one hostess as "knee grabbers."

CORRY SAYS Southerners are better at horsing around than Northerners, and people who live in Georgetown are more interested in "what the kids are thinking" than having an affair with someone who lives in Bethesda, Md.

It is interesting to note that at the very time Corry was doing research on his piece for Harper's, a more in-depth study was being done by Prof. Heinrich Applebaum for the National Institute of Domestic Affairs, otherwise known as NIDA (pronounced either needa or neghda depending on how you feel at the time).

PROF. APPLEBAUM'S study, titled "Sex and the Washington Monument," has come up with some startling revelations.

For one thing, there hasn't been one illicit affair in Washington since the Nixon Administration took over. This compares favorably with the Johnson Administration when there were three and the Kennedy Administration when there were four. (There were no statistics kept during the Eisenhower years.)

Applebaum indicates that there are several reasons for the lack of hanky-panky during the present regime.

ONE IS THAT Atty. Gen. John

Mitchell's penchant for wire-tapping has frightened off thousands of officials who had been thinking about it.

Another reason is the night sessions that the senate has been forced to hold because of the debate on the Church-Cooper amendment. Ironically, this would have been a perfect excuse for senators to engage in some extracurricular activity, except for the fact that they never knew when they would be called for a roll-call vote. It would be very hard to explain to their wives where they had been when the Washington Post reported the next morning that they were marked "absent."

SINCE THIS is an election year, House members have been so busy running for office they haven't had time to think about sex, Applebaum says. He also makes the point that most congressmen are so strapped for cash they would rather put money in their campaign fund than spend it on some young secretary or passionate constituent.

As for the executive branch, Applebaum's study revealed that Nixon appointees prefer watching spectator sports on TV rather than getting involved themselves.

THE PRESS and TV corps in Washington might have gotten into trouble, Applebaum notes, except for Spiro Agnew. The only thing the Vice President hasn't accused the press of, so far, is adultery. To keep Agnew from making such a charge, the entire membership of the National Press Club has taken a vow of chastity, which will remain in effect as long as the Vice President is in office.

If there has been any talk of sex in Washington, it's come from the Pentagon. Every time someone in Congress tries to cut the military budget, everyone in the Defense establishment starts screaming "rape."

The Ruthless Asian Governments

WASHINGTON — Regarding the "Tiger Cage" scandal at the U.S.-supported prison camp on Vietnam's Conson Island, it seems timely to recall a deposition made by the present Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs at a Saigon dinner party a few years ago.

This would be U. Alexis Johnson, then a kind of co-ambassador to South Vietnam with Gen. Maxwell Taylor. (Lyndon Johnson did things that way.) We had been listening to a lot of talk about bringing democracy to Vietnam, and apparently it got under Alex Johnson's tough hide. At any rate, in a relatively quiet corner, he unburdened himself of his own personal philosophy.

"WE SHOULD STOP kidding ourselves," said Johnson. "We're not here to impose Jeffersonian principles on these people. It can't be done. We're here to build up the anti-Communist regime to the point where it can stand on its own feet and then get the hell home."

It is sad that no U.S. administration has dared such candor. Conditions in the Tiger Cages are shocking, but the only reason Americans should feel outrage is that American money — more than $3 million to date — has been used to support such prisons. Under the circumstances, that's really throwing money down a rat hole.

CONSON ISLAND represents the Vietnamese attitude toward prisoners, especially those of the political variety. That's the way it's always been and that's the way it'll be in our lifetime. The American role is not to reform the Thieu regime, except to keep thievery at a reasonable level, but to make it strong enough militarily so that Vietnamese can do the fighting and dying instead of Americans. Our people there are not to be confused with the Salvation Army, despite the sometime pretensions of such outfits as our foreign and organizations.

REALLY, we are a ridiculous nation. We know that most of the governments we support in Asia are rough, tough, ruthless corporations whose views on civil rights would shock an ante-bellum Mississippi plantation overseer. Going along with India's pro-Moscow, pro-Peking "neutrality," we pin our hopes on the "gentle" Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. Yet in dealing with dissenters, Madame Gandhi is about as kindly as Attila the Hun.

ALL THESE countries, in varying degrees, are anti-Communist in their domestic policies. Few countries, for instance, are as rough on Commie demonstrators as "gentle" Indira Gandhi's cops. South Vietnamese "law" permits the detention of political prisoners, without charges, for as long as 25 months. No one walks around Bangkok campaigning for Mao Tse-tung for king. Abbie Hoffman would last about five minutes in Manila.

So Conson Island is a hellhole. So what did we expect — an 18-hole golf course and New York sirloins every night? (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Bishop Talks Of Prison Life

HONG KONG (AP) — Roman Catholic Bishop James E. Walsh said today his treatment during 12 years imprisonment in Red China was "always humane—the meals were good and ample, medical attention was good."

The 79-year-old prelate, who was freed July 8, told a news conference that although his Communist captors interrogated him "morning, noon and night" for 18 months, until he finally signed a confession to spying, he never was beaten or physically mistreated.

It was "just mental pressure," said the bishop, who is slowly getting his strength back in the Hong Kong hospital operated by his Maryknoll Order.

Despite his long imprisonment, he said he had "no bitterness toward those who tried and condemned me."

"I just could never feel angry with any Chinese," he said. Speaking from a wheelchair, Bishop Walsh said he will rest a few more weeks in the hospital "then return to my homeland."

His home is in Cumberland, Md., and he said he also hopes to go to Rome to visit Pope Paul VI when he can travel.

The bishop said he was arrested in Shanghai in 1958 for allegedly possessing "state secret information about a submarine built in Shanghai and about Chinese weapons used in the Korean War."

"The evidence they produced," he continued, "was that a friend of mine in the shipping business in Shanghai had told me a submarine was built in Shanghai and that that was a state secret. My listening to that from the lips of my friend constituted me as a spy."

"Finally, one day I got worn out and tired with the whole thing," the bishop said. "I finally said: 'I may have become a spy in your legal sense. I know you consider all missionaries to be spies. You say these two things under your laws make me a spy and that may be true within the meaning of your legal sense but not in the commonly accepted sense.'"

Bishop Walsh said he signed a confession the following day, after it was "whittled down to admit that 'I may have become a spy in a legal sense.' He added that he does not repudiate the statement now, as long as it is understood "in the proper sense."

His trial, he said, was held in the Municipal Court building in Shanghai, in a very large room, before "half a dozen" judges. There was an audience of some hundreds of people in the room, he said.

Sands Students Attend FFA Meet

ACKERLY — Larry Don Shaw, Billy Read and Mr. and Mrs. Lon McDonald and family left Tuesday morning to attend the state-wide Future Farmers of America convention in San Antonio.

Shaw and Read will both be representatives of Sands High School as voting delegates. They plan to return Friday. McDonald is FFA advisor at Sands.

Target Of Group Is Children With Disabilities

A group that wants to aid children with learning disabilities is seeking new members and will discuss its lending library project tonight at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

A lending library at the center is growing under the auspices of the Big Spring society of the Texas Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

First project of the society, the library will be filled with books, pamphlets and periodicals as funds become available. Materials will be reviewed and recommended by Dr. Harold Smith, Mrs. Anne Mary Campbell and Mrs. Marjorie Schmidt.

The society will discuss the library and other business at their regular monthly meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Rehabilitation Center.

"Speakers, films and panel discussions make up the informative program schedule for the coming fall," said Jack Parrot, president. "We urge both professional and lay people in our community who are interested in the child with learning disabilities to meet with us the third Thursday of each month at the Rehabilitation Center."

British Prince, Princess Arrive In Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prince Charles and Princess Anne, arriving today for their first visit to the United States will be treated to a contrasting slice of Americana ranging from hot dogs and bourbon balls to baseball and rock music.

There will be no romantic interludes between the festivities, the White House insisted as questions persisted about the possibility of a budding romance between the 21-year-old heir to the British throne and President Nixon's 24-year-old daughter Tricia.

"About a romance—how can you rule it out in advance?" a very British reporter asked Constance Stuart, Mrs. Nixon's press aide, who had described the visit as a casual encounter between friends.

She stuttered and sputtered, then good-naturedly said she guessed she couldn't on that one.

The prince and princess will be flown by presidential jet from Canada, where they spent a triumphant two weeks helping Canada celebrate the centennial of its Northwest territories. They will return to London Saturday night.

Although their visit is not considered a state affair, trumpets are heralding their arrival at the White House lawn and President Nixon is personally greeting them.

After refreshments in the portraiture-filled Blue Room — including that of President James Madison who fled shortly before the British Army burned the White House in 1814—the royal couple will helicopter with Tricia, Julie and David Eisenhower and 20 of their friends to Camp David in the Catoctin Mountains for a picnic.

The young Eisenhowers and Tricia will show the Brits some of Washington's landmark monuments by night.

The couple will tour the Capitol Friday and meet with House Speaker John McCormack and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

At the Smithsonian Institution, Astronauts Frank Borman and Neil Armstrong will describe the space exhibits and present Princess Anne with a rock of Smithsonian and the prince with a piece of antique American china.

Friday night, with the President likely looking from the balcony, the royal couple will mingle with 700 guests at a late-night buffet supper and dance to two rock music bands on the White House lawn.

Music will be by one of Canada's top rock groups, "The Guess Who," and by a vigorous-voiced American, Gary Puckett. At midnight there will be fireworks on the lawn.

Saturday's schedule calls for a visit to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center, in Laurel, Md., to see scientists' work with endangered species such as the whooping crane, and a baseball game at the Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

New Landfill Site Will Open Monday

Monday is the date set for the closing of the old landfill site and the opening of a new one.

Director of Public Works Nolan Chaffin said the new dumping area will be open from 7 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 3 to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Chaffin said the 30.65 acre site can be found on the north side of the Eleventh Place extension, about a mile and a quarter east of FM 700.

The land was leased from Mollie O. Crawford recently when the old landfill on Ernie Richardson's property reached capacity, and city commissioners authorized then Acting Public Works Director Bo Anderson to seek a new location.

Loads of rubbish from city sanitation trucks will be dumped in a large draw at the Crawford site, beginning at one end and progressing toward the other end.

Side gulleys running off of the main dump area will be used for dumping by private individuals. Chaffin pointed out that there is no charge to city residents for dumping. People living outside the city limits may pay a $10 annual fee for dumping privileges, or pay a smaller fee per load.

A city employee will be at the site most of the day to help people find the proper dumping area, and there will be signs showing the location of that area.

Certain types of dumping are not permitted at a landfill site, such as junked cars. City Manager Larry Crow said that a properly run landfill enhances the value of the property it covers, as long as care is taken in regulation and maintenance.

The city will cover each layer of garbage with six inches of soil until a maximum level is reached. The area is then topped with two feet of soil and dumping is begun at another location.

Hunting from the roadways in the county has caused property damage and loss of livestock in recent weeks and must be stopped, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

"Three calves have been lost in the last few weeks due to hunters, and the bullets are ricocheting and coming close to the farm houses themselves," said Sheriff Standard.

"We will be patrolling in these areas, and I would advise hunters to ask permission to hunt on the land and discontinue hunting from the roadways. There is a $200 maximum fine if they are caught and a possible lawsuit because of loss of livestock or property damage," said Sheriff Standard.

Federal Warrant Served Prisoner

Officers from the U. S. Marshal's Office in Abilene obtained Richard Monroe Smith from Howard County Jail Wednesday on a warrant charging him with violation of parole, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Smith posted $5,000 bond on a charge of theft over $50 while the local department before his release to federal officers, said Sheriff Standard. Smith was taken to Abilene to await further disposition of the federal charge against him.

Hitters Take Charge In Major Leagues

NEW YORK (AP) — Only two years ago hitters were moaning loudly and pitchers smiling quietly as the men on the mound dominated the game. Now who's grinning and who's groaning?

Whether it was because of the lowering of the pitching mound, a shortening of the strike zone, expansion, the new artificial fields or a living of the baseball, 1970 has become the year of the hitters—at least as the second half of the season began today.

In 1968, there were only six 300 hitters in the major leagues—only one in the American League—and just 1,995 home runs, bringing a cry that low run games were turning off the fans.

LOOKING 'EM OVER
 With Tommy Hart

The funniest cartoon I've seen recently has these two fellows squared off in front of a saloon, each set to give the other a knuckle sandwich.

A bystander who had been watching TV with the crowd, explains:

"We had the bases loaded with two out. Then the tall one walks in and puts a quarter in the jukebox."

The boy who has shown the biggest improvement in the Summer Basketball league here could be Mike Randle, who has two seasons of eligibility remaining in the local high school.

Mike is going to be tall enough to help the Steers around the basket. He can play defense and he is developing a good shooting eye.

Some one cut two baseballs open recently, one used in 1967 and the other put in play by the major leagues this year. It develops there's a good reason many a banjo hitter has turned tiger when at bat.

The '67 pelota was strung more loosely. More bounce was put into this year's model by coating its twine-winding with rubberized glue, so that it adheres tightly to the cover.

It won't take Hank Aaron long to become the all-time Sultan of Swat unless something is done to help the pitchers. (He's going to make it anyway.)

Combine the orbiting horsehide with the way a ground ball acts on Astroturf and Houston's season-long slump begins to make sense.

Talk about a ricochet romance!

Our Town's Martha Boadle leaves for New Braunfels soon, where she'll be a junior counselor in "Tut Barzen's tennis camp the first week in August. Martha is now hitting the ball better than she ever did.

She'll enroll in Howard County JC this fall.

Bob Arum, who represents Cassius Clay in legal matters, says his client has about had it with the Black Muslims.

"He fully expects to be expelled by them," says Arum of Cassius. "He still agrees with their social views, but he no longer accepts all their religious teachings. The Muslim leader, Elijah Muhammed, has warned him if he tries to box again, he'll be thrown out. But he's making every effort to fight Joe Frazier this year."

Clay's militant stand against military conscription hasn't had the reaction he thought it would. It hasn't galvanized his race as he hoped it would. He feels rejected and let down by other Negroes.

A fight with (and a win over) Frazier might restore him to the pedestal he once occupied but getting that bout sanctioned is another matter.

Golfer Frank Beard says he is being cold-shouldered by the other pros because some of the things he wrote about in his book, "Pro," about other pros hit too close to home.

Jim Bouton is experiencing the same kind of put-down in baseball circles.

Now ex-footballer Johnny Sample reveals he'll do a tome, stripping much of the tinsel from the game.

Anything of these three might put to paper wouldn't change the habits of their fellow practitioners one whit.

Many mercenaries of athletic bent who are still on the scene and some who were active in other times leave their families at home, fearful their presence would put a governor on their free-wheeling night life.

And a few of the distillers might have to go out of business if some of the sports heroes I have known had to go on the wagon.

No one, incidentally, is closer to Beard than West Texan Charles Coody but in his book Frank paints Coody as a penurious, superstitious young man somewhat short of moxie.

Athletes are so lionized by many members of the press and viewing galleries alike, they deeply resent any suggestion that they do any soul searching and live as model citizens. That member of the Beatles who reasoned his image had overshadowed that of Jesus Christ's has plenty of company in the ranks of sports heroes.

One Pitcher Is On Hand

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Coaches conducting the rookie camp of the Dallas Cowboys at Cal Lutheran College Wednesday found themselves with plenty of hands but not enough arms.

Leading the corps of receivers during the workouts of the National Football League team was Margene Adkins, the three-year veteran of Canadian Football who was catching everything thrown his way.

From Henderson Junior College at Athens, Tex., he also was timed in 4.4 seconds for the 40-yard dash, the best marked shared with Robert Brown, a 165-pound wide receiver from Arkansas AM&N.

Workouts were hampered because only one quarterback is on the rookie roster. He is Dick Faucette, a product of Dayton who has spent two years in minor league pro football. To augment his throwing arm, the Cowboys pressed tight end Ken Bailey, a 6-4 free agent from Houston, into quarterback duty throwing the football.

One of the 58 rookies, Terry Rose, a free agent center from Cincinnati, departed camp voluntarily.

Vincent Tournay Opens Tonight

VINCENT — The Big Spring Merchants and Salem Baptist open play in the Vincent Invitational Basketball tournament at 7 o'clock here this evening. David Barr is tournament director.

Vincent, Forsan and Sterling City are also entered in the double elimination meet.

The Merchants will carry a 25-24 record onto the field against Vincent.

Brantley, Thomas In Pro-Am Meet

Charley Brantley, Munny golf pro here, and Jackie Thomas have entered the Aug. 20-23 Odessa Pro-Am tournament.

One hundred teams will likely compete for the cash prizes and awards, which may reach 135,000 in value. Entry fee is $150 per team.

Gridders Want Big Boost In Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — A difference of $7.8 million in pension benefits emerged today as the major stumbling block to a settlement between National Football League players and owners after player's sources revealed their side of the issues.

The owners have offered $18 million in pension and insurance benefits for four years, an average of $4.5 million per year, while the players are asking for $25.8 million, or $6.45 million per year, a source close to the players told the Associated Press. The players were getting $2.8 million each year during the two-year pact which expired, making the $18 million figure an increase of about 53 per cent.

The player's source was answering an earlier Associated Press story quoting club sources as saying the owners were making an $18 million offer, but that the players had countered with a $29 million "must-take-all" demand.

"The $29 million figure never came into the discussions," the player's source said. "It is a piece of incorrect arithmetic. They (the owners) must be adding together everything. Both the $18 million and the $25.8 million figures relate only to pension and insurance benefits."

However, the players are asking for increased shares in post-season games, including the Super Bowl, and these increases possibly could be the difference between $25.8 million and $29 million.

The player's source said the owners also made two qualifications to their figure—that payments to players on losing teams in divisional playoff games be eliminated, and that players give up their financial rights for the use of their names, faces or uniforms in commercial enterprises. This right was granted them during 1968 negotiations.

UP TO $140,000
 The player's source said the $18-million figure would cost each club about $40,000 a year, while the $25.8 figure would be about $140,000 a year.

He pointed out that the owners have negotiated a television contract of about $40 million, an increase of about $13 million from the previous one.

Answering owners' fears that television revenue and attendance might not remain at its present level, he said the players were willing to reduce their demands accordingly should that happen.

While the pension issue was clear enough, the issue involving Commissioner Pete Rozelle's powers remained muddled. The players said it has been resolved by their agreeing to make Rozelle the final arbitrator on any non-injury grievance. Club sources, however, said the players still want an outside arbitrator to rule on general grievances filed by players.

DRILLS RESUMED
 While the issues were being made known, the threat to the College All-Star Game in Chicago July 31 lessened when the All-Stars decided to resume organized practice today in Evanston, Ill.

The decision was announced in Chicago by Steve Tannen of the All-Stars and in New York by John Mackey, president of the Players Association.

The All-Star rookies had gone on a sympathy strike Wednesday in support of the NFLPA after the owners had decided to lock the veterans out of training camp until the contract dispute is settled.

"We felt the best course of action would be to resume practice... while still endorsing the Players Association demands," Tannen said.

Unseeded Star Bumps Yankee In Net Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little Joaquin Loyo-Mayo says he wasn't angry because he wasn't given a higher seeding in the $35,000 Washington Star International Tennis tournament even though he is Mexico's top player.

"It doesn't bother me to be left out," the 5-foot-6 star said Wednesday after defeating sixth seeded Clark Graebner of New York, a U.S. Davis Cup team member who is ranked fourth in the country.

The former NCAA champion from Southern California explained that this is the first time he's played on the entire tennis tour. Previously, Loyo-Mayo said, he had only played in the summer.

The 24-year-old Loyo-Mayo said he didn't even think of his victory as revenge over Graebner who beat him in Davis Cup competition in 1966 and 1968.

Loyo-Mayo scored the first major upset of the tournament when he downed Graebner, not known for his clay court game, 6-4, 6-3 in the second round.

He upset Graebner with his steady baseline game and passing shots. Graebner complained of the noise from the crowd and several baseline calls.

The Mexico Davis Cupper was to play Australian Dick Crealy in today's third round but said he never played him before.

All of the seeded players advanced to the third round, but Stan Smith, America's top-ranked player and second seed here, had to struggle to defeat another Latin, Miquel Olvera of Ecuador, 5-7, 8-6, 6-3 in 2½-hour battle in the heat and high humidity.

Smith was matched against fellow U.S. Davis Cup member, Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico, today.

Pasarell, in an odd match, defeated Dick Stockton of Garden City, N.Y., 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Ilie Nastase of Rumania, top seeded, defeated Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., 6-2, 6-0, and was to face Pancho Guzman of Ecuador, who downed Lito Alvarez of Argentina 3-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., third seed, defeated Onny Parum of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-3, and was matched with Jaime Fillol of Chile, 14th seed, who beat G. Vilas of Argentina, 6-3, 6-1.

Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 4th seed, defeated Barry MacKay of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-2, and was to play Mike Estep of Dallas who won two matches Wednesday. He first completed a match started the day before with Ray Ruffels, 6-4, 6-8, 8-6, and then downed Frank Froehling of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 6-2, 6-2.

SANDERS JOVIAL Play Under Way At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Doug Sanders lost the British Open Golf championship by one stroke in a playoff but the colorful Georgia native hasn't lost his sense of humor.

Sanders was hitting some balls "on the practice tee at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club Wednesday when a spectator inquired: "How do you fade an iron shot?"

Sanders paused a moment, then not only explained a fade, but gave a lesson on a hook, demonstrating both types of shot. When he finished, Sanders looked at the questioner and drawled, "If Arnold Palmer had answered that, it would have cost you $200."

Sanders is here for the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic, along with his British Open conqueror, Jack Nicklaus. All but four of the tour's top 20 money winners were entered as 147 started the four-day, 72 hole tournament. Missing were Palmer, U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin, Gary Player and Dick Lotz, a two-time winner this year.

In addition to Nicklaus and Sanders, others seeking to dethrone defending champion Dave Hill included leading money winner Lee Trevino, Bruce

Williams And Stanky Go To Bat For 2 Umpires

BOSTON (AP) — Two former major league managers, both known during their careers for having short tempers with umpires, have contradicted American League President Joe Cronin's evaluation of two umpires he fired in 1968 for being incompetent.

"Very capable," said Dick Williams, former manager of the Boston Red Sox and now coach of the Montreal Expos.

"Very competent," said Eddie Stanky, former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago White Sox.

Both men testified Wednesday in the third day of a National Labor Relations Board hearing the cases of Al Salerno and Bill Valentine.

REASON ARGUED
 Salerno, a major league umpire for seven years, and Valentine, a six-year veteran, contend in their unfair labor practice suit against the league that they were fired because they were trying to organize a collective bargaining unit for American League umpires.

The league contends, however, that they were fired for being "never at any one time competent."

Both Williams and Stanky were summoned by the NLRB

Griffith Eyes Return Bout With Champion

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith still dreams of another shot at Nino Benvenuti's world middleweight title and Madison Square Garden officials are ready to pay top dollar to close the match.

"Nino is still my dream," said the 32-year-old Griffith Wednesday night after winning a unanimous 10-round decision over slow, ring-rusty 40-year-old Dick Tiger of Nigeria.

"I keep on beating all the contenders and I still can't get Nino," said Griffith. "I fight them all in their home towns and I win. They tried to get me bumped off in Copenhagen but I beat Tom Bogs. I'm still here."

Although Benvenuti is supposed to make his next defense against Carlos Monzon of Argentina in November, Garden officials still hope to make the Griffith match.

"Whatever they offer you to go to Italy," Garden Matchmaker Teddy Brenner told Gil Clancy, Griffith's manager, "we'll match it here."

Harry Markson, the Garden's boxing director, said he had in mind a January or February date for a middleweight title bout.

Getting Benvenuti may be a problem. He won the title here, lost it back to Griffith and then won it again. In his last New York appearance, the handsome Wayne Dickens on the mound

Lamesa Hosts Tournament

As many as four teams can win their way to the State ASA Softball tournament in a July 24-25 meet scheduled to be staged in Lamesa under the direction of D. A. Miller, formerly of Big Spring and now of Odessa.

Teams in Big Spring, Snyder, Sterling City, Lamesa, Midland, Andrews, Odessa, Monahan, Kermit and Denver City are eligible to take part in the two-day tourney.

Miller said two districts, Seven and 26, would be combined for the Lamesa meet. The temporary merger, of course, has been authorized by the state committee.

The commissioner said he expected at least eight teams would compete in the Lamesa meet. He expects a minimum of two from here.

Entry fee is $35. Of that amount, $10 goes to the State committee. The remainder will be used to pay officials and incidental expenses for the tournament.

Notices of entry, together with fees, should be forwarded to Miller, PO Box 6244, Odessa, no later than July 21. Team rosters and identity of managers should be included in the envelopes.

The State ASA tournament takes place the second week in August in Brownwood and invariably is one of the Southwest's great softball shows. The Lamesa Softball association will guarantee trophies to the two top teams in exchange for concession rights at the tournament site. No admission fee will be charged to spectators.

Fosse suffered a painful bruise in his left shoulder in a home plate collision with Pete Rose at the end of Tuesday's All-Star game. Rose scored the winning run on the play.

"It (the shoulder) stiffened up right when it happened," Fosse said Wednesday. "I won't be able to play tomorrow with this pain. It's okay unless I raise my arm."

"The shoulder should loosen up in another 24 hours," Indians' trainer Wally Bock said. "Ray will be sore for three or four days. There's no separation and that's what I was fearful of. It's just badly bruised. The joint at the shoulder was jarred and this created the stiffness."

"I thought he (Rose) would go around me," Fosse said of the 12th inning play in which he was injured. He (Rose) said he started to dive, but had no place to go.

"If he had, it would have saved me a lot of pain," he added, trying to laugh.

"(Outfielder) Amos Otis threw the ball real well and I knew if I got it, he (Rose) was out," Fosse continued. Otis had fielded Jim Hickman's single and thrown to the plate.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Test pilings have been hammered down for the 78,000-seat superdome here, a $93 million project that Gov. John McKeithen says will be "the largest building the world has ever seen."

The governor, Mayor Moon Landrieu and various other public officials and sports personalities were on hand for the ceremonial pile driving Wednesday.

Six concrete shafts were to be hammered down to a depth of 165 feet under the main support column of the dome, with eight others 85 feet deep beneath the support columns of the parking complex.

Dixon said demolition of buildings on the site will begin by September with actual construction on the stadium to start next spring. It is supposed to be completed by June or July, 1973.

Act A Tragedy, Says Mentor

ATLANTA (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, one of the original player representatives in the National Football League, believes the NFL Players Association is not fulfilling the mission for which it was created.

"It was not to create a union or the image of a union," said Van Brocklin, coach and general manager of the Atlanta Falcons. He said the original intention was to "enhance communications between owners and players."

He said that he is "very disturbed" at the prospect of a pro football strike and the stand of the association.

Van Brocklin, who during his 12-year career as quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles became the chief NFL player representative, said players are being "poorly informed" by the association.

"Knowing our players as I do," he said, "I cannot believe that they are unanimous in their support of every issue."

He said a strike could be a "tragedy" for all players, regardless of age.

Fishing Some Taking To Lures

Blame it on the hot weather or the vacation season but the number of fishermen and the fish they are catching at Mitchell County's two major lakes have eased up recently.

Among Big Spring anglers who have reported luck at Lake Champion are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stevens and Paul and Joe Erving.

A 25-pound yellow catfish was caught at Lakeview Camp at Lake Colorado City by Don Lewis, Midland. Don Henderson, Lubbock, did even better at Louie's Lakeview Lodge — he reeled in a 38-pound yellow cat.

Blue gill fishing wasn't quite as good as it has been but the crappie, white bass and yellow catfish were biting in most places.

Catches reported: LAKE COLORADO CITY LOUIE'S LAKEVIEW LODGE Don Lewis, Midland, caught a 38 lb. yellow cat.

LAKEVIEW CAMP Don Lewis, Midland, caught a 25 lb. yellow cat and a 6 lb. blue cat; Henry legal, reeled in a 25 lb. yellow cat.

Registration will be conducted at the College Park Phillips 66 Service Station, corner of Birdwell and Fourth streets, for Sunday's Big Spring Rallye.

The rallye covers approximately 150 miles and formally gets under way at 1 p.m. Sports Car Club of America Rallye rules will be observed.

The event tests the drivers' ability to follow a specified course involving navigation and pacing the speed of the car to instructions provided at the start of the event.

The ensemble is worn with the thigh-high dark brown leather boots.

MADAME BUTTERFLY — Creamy multi-colored Japanese-type kimonos brought out the Madame Butterfly influence at the collection of Irene Galitzine in the Italian fall-winter fashion showing in Rome Monday night. The kimonos covered floor-length pleated pajamas. The soft, flowing fabrics lent femininity, and make-up showed an oriental influence.

Skin, Hair Care Discussed By HD Club Speaker

A program on skin and hair care, along with hot weather tips, was given at the Crestwood Home Demonstration Club meeting Tuesday. Mrs. Jerry Hester, 1 November, was the hostess. Mrs. Larry Lee discussed good grooming explaining proper application of creams and cosmetics. She told how to highlight facial assets and have healthy hair.

Mrs. Elettis Veers, a guest, gave safety tips for hot weather. She cautioned that people may become dehydrated quickly in very hot weather and begin to feel dizzy without knowing the cause. A person may need to take salt tablets in hot weather, she said. "You should wear loose-fitting clothes, not overexert and not drink ice cold water when you are very hot," she recommended. "Bathing in tepid water is the most cooling." Members adjourned until Sept. 8 when they will have a sewing bee in the home of Mrs. John Partridge, 4 September.

MRS. PAUL GROSS

Time On Her Hands? Not This Homemaker

By MARILYN NEVELS
Children usually fill the days for Mrs. Paul Gross, 37, Connally, wife of the county agent. Since her husband is often away with 4-H activities and livestock shows, Mrs. Gross keeps very busy, not only as a housewife, but as a teacher.

She has just "retired" for the time being, from four years as a second grade teacher at Airport Elementary School. The Grosses' three children, Sherri, 7, Gina, 9, and Gregg, 11, prevent Mrs. Gross from much traveling with her husband. However, Gregg opts for as many trips with his dad as he can wrangle. He hopes to accompany his father to the National County Agents convention in Corvallis, Ore., where Mrs. Gross will receive a distinguished service award.

Mrs. Gross has temporarily retired as a teacher with the arrival of a baby expected in October. She and the children have recently returned from a visit with her family near Ada, Okla., where they experienced a tornado.

"We were fortunate, we weren't injured. The tornado and blew a limb across our car," Mrs. Gross related, "but we were safe inside the house." She is originally from Oklahoma, but says "I've been here so long, I feel like a Texan." While Mrs. Gross and the children were in Oklahoma swimming and fishing, Gross was in College Station attending classes.

When it is time for the children to return to school, Mrs. Gross will be staying behind for a change.

"I'm always ready for school to start, I'm like the children, but more so," Mrs. Gross admitted.

This year she participated in a pilot program in which the children were divided according to their abilities.

"I liked it. One time I had the fast group and the next time I had the slower group," she said. The faster group covered nearly twice as much, so they did a lot of supplementary projects. It doesn't seem to bother the slower group that they are slower. They're happier if the can achieve within their own group. The younger children don't notice the division of the fast and slow groups. Smaller classes permit me to give the individual attention that is important to the progress of younger children."

At home, Mrs. Gross teaches her children to play the piano.

"Gina has been playing for a year and Sherri is just starting," she said. "Gregg is more interested in Little League." I enjoy just sitting down and playing for my own benefit when I get the time, which is rare. I took lessons from grade school through college and considered majoring in music. Instead I minored in music and majored in business and education."

The classical music of Beethoven, Brahms and Chopin are some of Mrs. Gross' favorites.

Her busy teacher's schedule with Parent Teacher Association meetings, workshops and district meetings, obliged her to prepare fairly simple meals.

"In the summer I kind of let go and am not as efficient as in the fall during school. Now I have more time to spend with the children, taking them swimming and to activities.

"Our meals in the summer are usually quick and simple, because of the heat. We always keep a pig butchered for ham, sausage, and chops and a side of beef in the locker. We always have chops, roast or chicken with a salad and vegetable. If we're not too rushed, we have dessert," she explained.

The family's favorite is Mrs. Gross' lemon pie. She also makes chocolate pies and fresh berry cobblers. They frequently have homemade ice cream mixed in their electric maker.

'Play It Cool' With Zebra Icebox Cake

When the day is warm, the coolest cook pulls out a pet recipe for an icebox cake, especially when there's a big menagerie to feed. This easy one is made with chocolate and vanilla flavors of instant pudding. For adults garnish with a nut; for kids use a perky animal-shaped cookie.

ZEBRA ICEBOX CAKE
1 package (3 1/2 oz.) vanilla instant pudding
1 package (4 1/2 oz.) chocolate instant pudding
2 cups milk
1 envelope whipped topping mix
32 square graham crackers
Prepare vanilla and chocolate instant pudding separately, slowly beating each with 1 cup milk using rotary beater or at lowest speed of electric mixer until well blended — about 2 minutes. Let stand about 5 minutes. Prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package; blend half into each of the prepared whipped topping mix as directed on package; blend half into each of the prepared puddings. Place a layer of graham crackers on the bottom of an 8-inch square pan; spread with half of the chocolate pudding. Repeat, alternating pudding flavors. Chill at least 6 hours. Garnish as desired. Cut into 12 servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

When you are adding chicken livers to an omelet, cook the livers before you add them to the egg mixture.

Sour cream left over? You can add it, instead of water or other liquid, to a confectioners' sugar frosting.

When heavy cream is whipped, the volume obtained will vary according to the fat content of the cream. As the fat content increases, the volume decreases slightly.

C. E. McDonnell Leaves Position At VA Hospital

C. E. ("Mac") McDonnell, chief of the Medical Administration Service at the VA Hospital, will leave Tuesday to assume new duties at the San Fernando, Calif., VA Hospital. He will take over as chief of that hospital's Medical Administration Service.

McDonnell came to Big Spring in 1963 as chief of the registrar division. In 1964, the hospital reorganized, and he was named to his present post.

McDonnell's VA career began 17 years ago at the VA Hospital in his hometown of Altoona, Pa. He went from there to the assistant chief training program at the VA Center in Dayton, Ohio. Following that, he was assigned to the Fort Bayard, N.M., VA Hospital. He came to Big Spring from Fort Bayard.

"MAC" McDONNELL

Before beginning his VA career, McDonnell served in the Army during the Korean conflict and with the Counter Intelligence Corps in Germany. Since coming to Big Spring, he has served as the publicity chairman of the Howard County Heart Association, participated in the YMCA membership drive, worked with Cub Scout Pack 179 and served as Boy Scout Advancement chairman for the Lone Star District. McDonnell, his wife Peggy, and their two sons, David and Russell, will make their new home in San Fernando with McDonnell assumes his post.

Penn Central Tells Judge It Must Have More Money

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Penn Central Railroad told a federal judge today that it doesn't get about $50 million by the end of the year, it will have to discontinue the operation of trains which are losing money.

WINNER — Douglas Cross, 1608 E. 6th, is shown with the inflatable canoe he won recently in a beverage's "win something real" contest. Douglas, 11, attends Moss elementary school. His award is the third won in this area, said Lowell Jones, local Coca-Cola manager.

America's biggest railroad which filed a petition for reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws on June 21 said it needs permission to sell $50 million in trustee certificates to raise the necessary cash.

It asked U.S. District Court Judge John P. Fullam for a 15-day delay in the reorganization proceedings, which began Wednesday. The judge granted the request, pending appointment of trustees to run the railroad.

Jonathan O'Herron, Penn Central's executive vice president for finance, testified that the railroad had $53.6 million in cash at the end of the day Tuesday compared with $49.6 million at the close of business in June.

O'Herron said that the trust certificates would be sold as a first lien on Penn Central property, thus they must be paid off first before any other debts. The New Haven Railroad which the Penn Central acquired at the end of 1968 under the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central asked the judge to exclude its assets — which it estimated at $2.06 billion — from being bound by the trust certificates.

Opening lead: Ace of ♥
 A substantial swing was in the offing when today's hand was dealt during an important National Team-of-Four championship. Yesterday we presented the result at one table where North and South ended up in a contract of six diamonds doubled. In an all out effort to make his bid, declarer was unable to cope with the adverse distribution and he ended up three tricks short for an 800-point deficit.

East and West were pleased with the result, inasmuch as their opponents can fulfill a slam contract in clubs — taking all 13 tricks with ease. They were in for a surprise when they compared results later with their teammates who held the North-South cards when the hand was replayed at the other table.

The bidding proceeded as depicted in the diagram, and it will be observed that neither North opened the bidding in second position — which proved to be a costly decision. If North does open with one club, the partnership can hardly fail to reach at least a game contract in that suit and thereby assure a profit.

East's two-spade bid is a specialized convention employed by some partnerships to act as a mild preemptive measure against the opponents and at the same time announce possession of a good six-card suit to partner. It shows less high card strength than an opening one bid and is, of course, not forcing.

South's two no trump overall was made in an effort to compete — his hand is not suitable for a take-out double because of the shortage in hearts. West raised to three spades and North carried on to three no trump, a decision open to question inasmuch as partner figures to have support for clubs.

When West persisted to four spades, North had an opportunity to show his suit by bidding five clubs. He should not have passed the decision around to partner and even after South doubled, it is doubtful whether North should let it stand.

South opened his singleton ace of hearts against the final contract and then shifted to a small diamond in a desperate attempt to get his partner in for a heart ruff. North put up the ace of diamonds, however, he did not read South's purpose and continued with a diamond which East ruffed.

The king of spades was driven out and when East regained the lead, he drew trump, ruffed one club in dummy, and discarded the other two on West's long hearts. His losses consisted of one spade, one heart, and one diamond. The doubled contract was worth 790 points and the result on the deal was a mere 10-point swing — a virtual standoff.

DEAR ABBY: I can't understand why people go to a movie and then afterwards tell everybody how filthy and disgusting it was!
 Movies are rated, so they surely must know what kind of movie they are buying a ticket to see. They know in advance whether there will be nude scenes or rough language, so if that sort of thing offends them, why don't they stay home? Right or wrong?
SICK OF HYPOCRITES: DEAR SICK: You're right of course. (Such movies are rarely as "good" as expected — and by that I mean as "bad" as the viewer hoped they'd be.)
DEAR ABBY: We have a long-haired son. He is of age and was married in college. He wrote and asked if he could bring his bride to our home until he finds suitable work. We feel that his hair style is hurting his chances of getting a job. One prospective employer said he'd hire him if he cut his hair and shaved off his beard. Our son refused on the grounds that he didn't want to compromise his principles.
 Abby, should we welcome him home with his bride when he has that attitude? We are undecided. We want to help him, but we don't want to go along with something we feel is hindering him. We don't support this long hair look and feel it may be a long stay at home if the hair stays. Please advise?
MONTANA PARENTS: DEAR PARENTS: If you really want to help your son, don't offer him bread with a hook in it. Let him bring his bride home to you, and don't tell him how to comb his hair. Also, a man who's old enough to shave is old enough to decide whether he WANTS to or not. If your son is actually unemployed because of his hair, he'll find out — which is the best way to learn.
DEAR ABBY: This is for the lady who wrote saying her husband loved to buy her clothes but had terrible taste. I, too, used to have this problem, but rather than hurt his feelings, I gently steered him away from dresses, coats and clothes to be worn in public to nightgowns and lounging attire, and he can be as wild and extravagant as he wants to be. I am genuinely thrilled as I would never spend that much money on a nightgown, and he now feels that it takes a special talent to buy sexy, expensive clothes to be worn "just for him."
 This way, everybody wins. And why hurt feelings when you don't have to? "GIFT HORSE"
 What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69790, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Tyler Schools Named In Suit

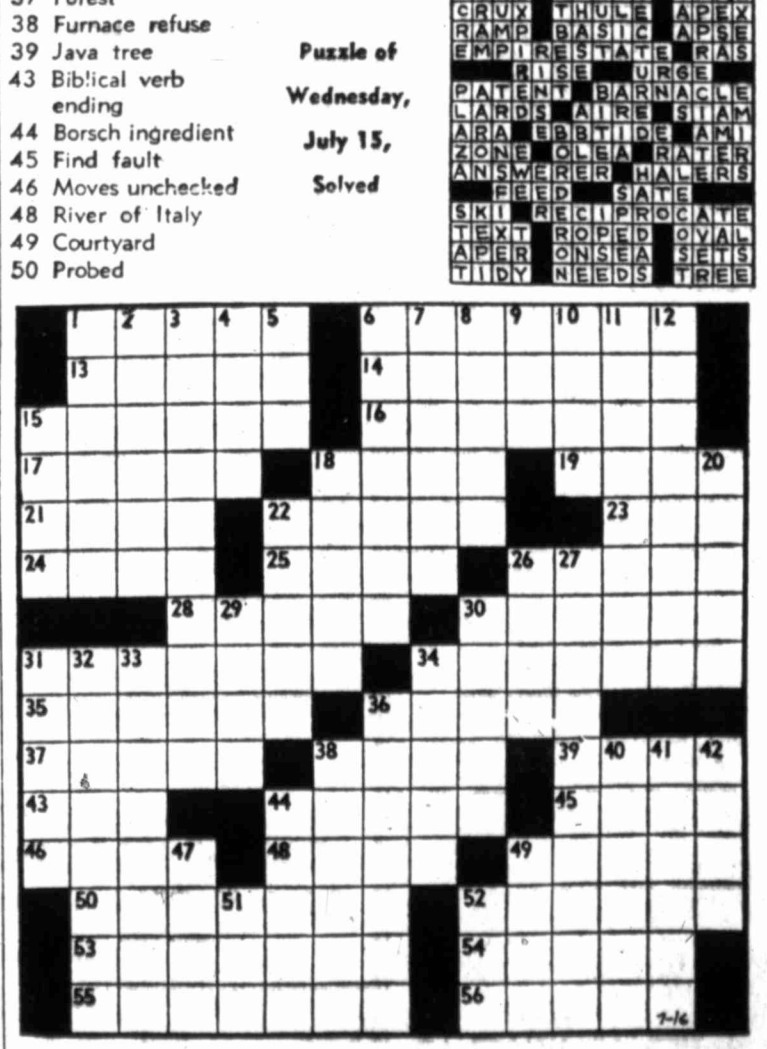

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department sued the Tyler, Tex., independent school district Wednesday, alleging the district's freedom of choice and geographic zoning methods of student assignment had failed to meet current desegregation standards.
 The department also asked for a court order requiring desegregation by this fall in the Tyler district.
 The suit filed in Tyler: seeks to dismantle the district's student assignment plan that has resulted in seven all-black, three all-white and eleven schools with white enrollments in excess of 90 per cent.

Candy Barr Wins Pre-Trial Hearing

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — A pre-trial hearing for former stripper Candy Barr was rescheduled Wednesday for Aug. 13, four days before Miss Barr is to stand trial on charges of possession of marijuana.
 The hearing had been scheduled for Thursday before Judge Joe Dibrell.
 Attorneys for Miss Barr whose real name is Juanita Dale Phillips, asked for the hearing in an attempt to quash three search warrants and the possession indictment.

Army-Supplied Pawnshops Big Tourist Attraction

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — This Central Texas Army town beside Ft. Hood claims a major tourist attraction which has nothing to do with cable cars, scenic rivers or beachfront hotels.

"Pawnshops are our greatest tourist attraction," says Dan Manfull, Killeen Chamber of Commerce manager.

And Manfull's statement is no hollow thrust at fame.

Killeen is a small city of about 35,000 civilians with more than a dozen full-time pawnshops not counting the part-time pawning done by countless retail stores and loan companies.

JUNK BUFFS

Antique hunters, bargain shoppers and junk buffs flock to Killeen in droves to scurry through the many shops which line Texas 190 and Rancier Avenue—the city's two busiest thoroughfares.

Although the pawnshops he draw the shoppers, the mainstay behind the whole industry are the 30,000 servicemen from near-by Ft. Hood.

"They're the ones who supply most of the goods," one broker reported.

Here in Killeen is a graphic tragedy of man's eternal quest for enough money to buy groceries or pay the rent. However, some of these reasons are less noble.

One pawnbroker said he is mother, wife, brother, friend, counsellor, preacher and lover-mentor to many of his customers.

FOR MONEY

They come in with stories of lost paychecks, babies to feed, gambling debts to pay. "Some don't say nothin' except, 'I need money fast.'"

"Here are all kinds," said one dealer, "from soldiers to old ladies to flower children—all wanting the same thing—money."

Pawnshops even have their regular monthly customers. Several hook their television set or wedding rings until payday. The process is repeated every month.

There was a man stopped with age and infirmity. In his gnarled old hands he cradled a violin he said had belonged to his grandfather and great-grandfather before him. It was his only possession of value.

He couldn't bring himself to sell it but said he would redeem it soon.

The violin is painted with a thin veneer of dust.

SELLS SHOES

According to pawnbrokers here there is no limit to what man will do to acquire a few dollars. One young man walked into a shop and, while relating a familiar tale of woe, jerked off his shoes. He left the store barefoot in the dead of winter. They bring gold teeth, canoes, motorcycles, guitars, cameras, wigs, arrow heads, sewing machines, guns, watches, hearing aids, dentures, hippie beads, rings, car stereo tape players, gold-plated chess sets, eyeglasses, books, bowling balls, furniture and even the family Bible.

"That's what man will do for money in a pawnshop. All of the shopkeepers agree that keeping sentiment out of business is the hardest part of it all.

There can be no care for what mother owned this item or what father went to purchase that item or which child will cry over this missing item.

VALUATION

The broker must quickly assess its value now—its resale potential later. The pawnier will have 90 days to redeem it. With interest, of course.

Many of the items found in pawnshops were not so destined. These are items are their owners had no plans to part with. These are the stolen items. But the dealers say their hands are tied.

"You can sometimes tell by the way they act that the car stereo or what-have-you was stolen but you can't right out accuse them. You have to accept it. The only thing we reject is Army equipment," said one young clerk.

But the police make their rounds each week to check for stolen items.

And the tourists drive here each week to probe the musty inards of the pawnshops.

Untouched for over a year in one pawnshop window is a non-descript red box.

Inside the box is a Purple Heart medal. Anyone can buy it for $12.50. Its owner paid a much higher price.

Date Set For New LBJ Park

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon Johnson's 62nd birthday and the official opening of the LBJ state park will both be celebrated Aug. 29, a special arrangements committee said today.

Actually, Johnson's birthday will be Aug. 27.

"The Saturday, Aug. 29, date was agreed upon by former President Johnson and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department since it would permit a greater participation in the dedication," said Harold Stehling of Fredericksburg, a co-chairman with Dr. Herbert Merz of Albert for the event.

Final plans for the celebration will be made at a meeting of the arrangements committee Thursday night. Representatives of Fredericksburg, Johnson City, Blanco and Stonewall will attend.

The LBJ state park, just across the Pedernales River from the LBJ Ranch, informally opened a year ago when the visitors center and several picnic areas were completed.

WIN DELAY — The Army, under threat of a federal injunction, promised a three-judge federal court in Atlanta Wednesday to take no action for at least three weeks in the court-martial of Spec. 4 Robert W. T'Souvas, left, of San Jose, Calif., and Sgt. Esequiel Torres of Brownsville, Tex. They are charged with murder in connection with the alleged My Lai massacre. Attorneys for the soldiers argued that "command influence" would prevent fair trials.

Senate Approves Big Land Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill giving Alaskan natives 10 million acres of land and $1 billion—the biggest land claims payment in history.

The bill, facing an uncertain fate in the House, calls for the payment to be distributed among descendants of the wandering hunters and fishermen who originally settled the harsh land.

The Senate adopted the measure 76 to 8 Wednesday after inserting an amendment to provide for competitive bidding for mineral rights on all federal lands in Alaska.

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, former governor of the state, said, "For Alaskans and for millions of Americans throughout the 50 states who have been frustrated over the years in trying to do something positive, progressive and fair for America's first citizens, this should be considered a great victory."

The bill set up corporations to handle the $1 billion for housing, education, welfare investment and other uses for the state's 55,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians.

The amendment requiring competitive leasing for mineral rights was offered by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who said it was needed to prevent large giveaways of Alaska oil to large oil companies and speculators.

Bess Myerson Asks Divorce

NEW YORK (AP) — Bess Myerson Grant, who was Miss America of 1945, has filed for a legal separation from her husband, attorney Arnold M. Grant.

Miss Myerson, 45 and still beautiful, married Grant in 1962 and divorced him in 1967 but they later were remarried. The reason for their second parting of the ways was not disclosed in her petition Wednesday.

Mercury Scare Is 'Unwarranted'

AUSTIN (AP)—State officials took the position Wednesday that there was no need for a telegram from Interior Secretary Walter Hickel warning of possible federal action to cope with mercury pollution of Texas waters.

Gov. Preston Smith said the warning "seems unwarranted in light of the situation in Texas."

Hickel sent telegrams about the mercury problem to several states Tuesday.

His message to Smith said preliminary investigations by the Federal Water Quality Administration led him to conclude "that certain firms in your state are discharging mercury into the waterways."

"I am prepared to pursue federal legal action if this proves to be the case and if prompt corrective action is not taken. Information presently available indicates that many firms in your state are users of mercury. I urge that you determine whether or not any of these users are discharging mercury. If they are, abatement action should be initiated at once," Hickel said.

Smith also released a memo, issued Wednesday, from Hugh Yantis, executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board, on the mercury problem.

Yantis said Hickel "has, by implication, sought to raise to the status of an emergency a matter which should be one of concern but not at the emergency level."

Texas authorities investigated industries along the coast several years ago, Yantis said, and verified at that time that mercury discharges into Texas did not constitute a hazard.

He noted that an Aug. 19 hearing is scheduled on a proposed order regulating discharges of mercury and other heavy metals into Texas waters.

Insurance Rates Hit Colleges Hard

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's colleges and universities report a phenomenal rise in insurance costs in the wake of student disorder and unrest.

Even schools that have not experienced student turmoil say they are no longer getting the preferred rates they once enjoyed for property insurance and damage from fire and vandalism. Many schools are covered by blanket policies which lump these categories together.

"My complaint is that insurance companies are not looking at the universities individually. They are setting higher rates for everybody to make up losses for a few," says John Beumer, business manager at Xavier University, a Jesuit school in Ohio. Although it has not been hit by student violence, Beumer says Xavier's insurance rate increased by 33 per cent this year.

W. M. Carr, insurance manager at Pennsylvania State University, estimates that for many schools insurance costs now account for almost one per cent of their budgets. He adds that Penn State's insurance costs have risen 42 per cent since November 1969.

Other university officials report that along with a general boost in insurance rates has come a doubling of deductibles for fire and vandalism. A deductible means that the insurance company pays for any damages above a specified amount. For example, under a $5,000 deductible for fire, the insurance company would pay for any damages over $5,000.

Insurance companies, however, take a different point of view.

PREDICTABILITY

"The predictability has gone out of college insurance. It's kind of like selling a man a home-owners policy when you realize he's going to start making dynamite in his basement," says Donald H. Garlock, senior vice-president at Insurance Company of North America—INA—which insures 300 colleges and universities.

While rates differ from campus to campus, an Associated Press sampling turned up these examples of rising insurance costs:

—Columbia University reports its fire insurance cost jumped from $117,000 a year with a $1,000 deductible in 1969 to $140,000 with a $100,000 deductible in 1970.

—The University of California reports its premium went from $200,000 for three years to $344,000 for one year and its deductible from $250,000 to $1 million.

"Insurance rates are not rising because of past experience of large claims from student disruptions, but because of future expectations of what these claims could be," argues Stanley R. Tarr, insurance manager at Rutgers University.

EXPECTATIONS

"Even with all the turmoil at the University of California, there has been only one loss involving insurance," Irvin Nicholas, insurance and risk manager, says. That loss was for a fire in 1969. He says that it still has not been settled but it is expected to run around $650,000 after applying a $250,000 deductible.

And Robert M. Beth, insurance manager at Stanford, says Stanford paid $1.3 million in insurance premiums over the past 10 years and collected about $550,000.

Beth claims that even small schools, with minor or no damage from student disturbances, must now take a deductible of at least $100,000.

Insurance companies say that campus losses from student disorders, a loss almost unknown a few years ago, exceeded $8 million for the first eight months of 1969 while total property losses on campuses, not necessarily related to student disorders, exceeded $15 million in the same period. However, the amounts paid to the universities was less than these amounts.

Curtis B. Lilly, Inc., a management advisory firm that did a survey of the higher education insurance situation in 1969 reached this conclusion: Insurance companies are panicking over isolated instances of student violence which do not provide a true picture of the risk situation on campuses general.

Ralph Gets LBJ Praise

HOUSTON (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson turned up with words of warm praise for Sen. Ralph Yarborough at a $100-a-plate dinner.

Yarborough took occasion again to accuse the man who defeated him for renomination last May in the Democratic primary, Lloyd Bentsen, of trying "to buy the Senate seat with $6.5 million and the big lie technique."

The former president acknowledged that he and Yarborough, a liberal, have been at odds on occasion, adding:

"But most of our differences have been over personalities. I don't think there have ever been two men in the Senate who have agreed on more issues than Ralph Yarborough and I, and it is the issues that count."

About 800 Yarborough supporters attended the dinner, and spokesmen said it raised $60,000 toward paying $140,000 in debts incurred by Yarborough in the campaign prior to the May 2 election.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes credited Yarborough with dedicated and unselfish service as a senator and said the senator's name in history "will be written many times in many ways."

House Speaker Gus Mutscher and Secretary of State Martin Dies were among others at the dinner.

Commie Takeover Is Issue In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Violence and expressed fears of a Communist takeover have emerged as two main issues in the three-way race for Chile's presidency, up for election Sept. 4.

Five persons have been killed and about 140 wounded in riots over the past four months, prompting President Eduardo Frei's outgoing Christian Democrat administration to declare a state of emergency in key areas.

The rightist National party, backing 74-year-old Jorge Alessandri, a former president, has raised the specter of Soviet tanks ringing Government House if the leftists win.

The leftist candidate, Salvador Allende, 62, veteran Marxist and friend of Cuba's Fidel Castro, has been trying to convince the voters that if elected, he will not meddle with Chile's armed forces or alter the economy of this copper-rich nation along South America's southwest coast.

The leftists have raised specters also, spreading rumors that Frei might call off the election or that there might be a military takeover before then. Frei has denied any such possibilities.

Frei's Christian Democrats are in the race with Radomiro Tomic, 57, party leader and former ambassador to Washington. His main difficulty has been trying to convince everyone that he will not carry on some of Frei's unpopular measures. Frei's government has been plagued by wage strikes and trouble with leftist elements.

Alessandri seems to lead the field so far with a campaign based on a call for law and order with resistance to what he claims is a threatened Communist takeover.

Public opinion polls indicate, however, that the election may be decided by Congress. Samplings so far show that Alessandri might have trouble getting the vote majority needed to win outright.

Graham Says Danger Is In The Middle East

TOKYO (AP) — Billy Graham said today he believes "the real danger" to world peace lies not in Indochina but in the Middle East, "as the Bible teaches us."

The 51-year-old Baptist evangelist, in Tokyo for the 12th World Baptist Congress, told a news conference that "a time clock is ticking" in the Middle East.

"We all have a stake in Jerusalem whether we are Christians, Islamic or Jewish," he said.

He declined to comment on the war in Indochina but said: "When a man stands in the middle of some issues, he'll be shot from both sides."

Graham said his answer to war "is to pray for peace and hope for peace."

"What the world needs today," he said, "is spiritual dimension that can unite the world because every person is religious."

"I think the weakness of the United Nations is that it doesn't have a spiritual emphasis."

Graham will address the congress Saturday on "Why Youths of Today Rebel."

During sessions Wednesday, veteran Republican politician Harold Stassen, one of the drafters of the United Nations charter and a Baptist layman, told the congress he is convinced "if there is to be peace with justice in the years ahead on this earth under God, it is necessary that the religious forces of the world, including the Baptist World Alliance, do more in a direct creative fundamental way for peace."

Martin May Join Gov. Reagan Clan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Dean Martin may join Frank Sinatra as a supporter of Gov. Ronald Reagan's re-election campaign.

Reagan mentioned both entertainers while answering a question about Sinatra at his weekly news conference Wednesday. He said Sinatra and Martin go together "like ham and eggs."

A campaign spokesman later disclosed that Martin "has communicated the fact that he wants to come aboard."

The singer was not immediately available for comment. An agent, however, said Martin would participate in Reagan fund-raising events.

Millionaire Ends 37-Year Marriage

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Multimillionaire industrialist Norton Simon, 63, is separated from his wife and divorce is contemplated, his secretary reports.

Simon unsuccessfully challenged Sen. George Murphy in June for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator. He and his wife, Lucille, have been married 37 years.

Fishermen Complain, But Oil, Gas Pleas Dominate

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Fishermen told an Interior Department hearing here that the trash and pollution of offshore oil drilling is ruining them but the main chorus was for more oil, more gas, more drilling. The five members on the department panel expected to end the hearing today, since most of the 150 witnesses had testified. Interior Secretary Walter Hinkel ordered the hearing, now in its third day, to determine whether to resume the sale of offshore leases in the shallow seas along the Louisiana coast. Sales were postponed indefinitely after thousands of barrels of oil were spilled into the Gulf of Mexico by a cluster of Chevron Oil Co. wells 30 miles off the Southeast Louisiana Coast from Feb. 10 to March 31. Speakers urging the sale of leases, so that oil exploration operations may resume, stressed the need of natural gas for eastern industries and homes. The threat of a gas shortage is "greatest in the Northeast and Great Lakes marketing areas," an FPC statement said. At the hearing Wednesday speaker after speaker used the anti-pollution argument to back their contention that drilling should resume. They said the 137 tracts up for proposed sale off Louisiana's western coast were considered part of an area rich in natural gas rather than oil—and that is a "pollution free fuel." James C. Farrelly, vice president of the 1,000-member Louisiana Shrimp Association, said the fishermen's plight is comparable to that of the American Indians when they were being pushed off their land.

Says Deal Profits Paid During Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post reported in its Thursday editions that just before Robert B. Anderson became secretary of the Treasury in 1957, he completed a deal with oil men designed to pay him nearly $1 million.

Some $270,000 of this was scheduled to be paid during his term of office in the Eisenhower administration, the Post said, and his chances of receiving some $450,000 of it depended in part on the price of oil.

According to the copyright story by Bernard D. Nossiter, one version of the transaction was that it was initiated to enable Anderson to replace Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the 1956 Republican ticket.

The Post quoted Anderson as saying in an interview the arrangement was an "ordinary, normal" affair in which he sold an interest in oil leases which he had received in return for finding a driller to explore for oil.

As Treasury secretary, Anderson was one of six Cabinet officials who served on a new Special Committee to Investigate Crude Oil Imports. President Eisenhower adopted the committee's report urging establishment of a mandatory system of import quotas. The quota

Organic Soil Eliminates Pest Problem

Those who build soil organically need have little worry with insects, Dr. Paul Koshi told the Big Spring Organic Soil Makers club at its installation dinner Monday.

In an address on "Ecology, Pollution and Organic Gardening," Dr. Koshi stressed the importance of supplying organic matter through composting and mulching.

Installation of officers was in charge of Bill Sneed, president of the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs. The officers are W. V. Brown, president; Johnny Johansen, vice president; Mrs. A. L. Huff, secretary-treasurer; and they, with O. C. Shapland, Mrs. R. L. Nall and Dr. Koshi, directors.

The U-arranged tables at Furr's were decorated with candles and entwined driftwood, and the speaker's table with driftwood and three candles entwined by ivy. Twenty-eight attended; the next meeting is Aug. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the U.S. Experiment Farm.
