North Viet Fire Forces U.S. To Abandon Base

TEXAS TOM — The eyes of Texas are upon you pardner and they belong to Tom, two-year-old grey and white striped tabby. Tom won the fashion show segment of the 1970 All-American Glamour Kitty Pageant at Miami Beach, Fla., Wednesday, wearing a Texas cowboy hat and a red, white and blue cowboy outfit with the Star of Texas on the side. Tom is owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gilley of Dallas, Tex. The All-American Glamour Kitty will be crowned Saturday. Only in America . . .

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy North Vietnamese fire that killed 61 Americans and wounded 345 in the area in the past three weeks forced the United States today to abandon a patrol base in the northwestern sector of South Vietnam.

The U.S. troops hastily pulled out of Fire Base Ripcord near the Laotian border, spiking some of their own artillery, less than 24 hours after a patrol operating a mile away suffered the heaviest casualties in a single action in 2½ months.

The U.S. Command, releasing its casualty figures, said 12 Americans were killed and 51 wounded in a mortar and ground attack Wednesday on patrol operating a mile from the base. Enemy losses were unknown. The command earlier had listed six wounded.

COPTER GUNNED

A command spokesman said a CH-47 Chinook helicopter was shot down during the evacuation but there were no casualties.

The base was evacuated under enemy fire, and at least three more Americans were killed and 20 wounded in the withdrawal.

The base, on a 1,000-foot ridge north of the A Shau Valley and 13 miles from Laos had been in operation for the past 3½ months and had been under mortar siege since July 1.

Troops of the 101st Airborne Division operating in and around the base screened enemy infiltration corridors leading from Laos and North Vietnam toward South Vietnam's northern coast.

FIRST TIME

As one officer put it, the paratroopers were to "keep track of what's going on and to prevent the North Vietnamese from moving into the lowlands where all the population is."

It was the first time since Nov. 2 that U.S. forces had abandoned a patrol base under enemy pressure and destroyed the guns to keep them out of enemy hands.

The decision to pull out of Ripcord apparently was a top-level one aimed at avoiding criticism in the United States of a prolonged siege such as the 77-day one at the old Marine base at Khe Sanh farther to the north in 1968.

BOGGED DOWN

The Khe Sanh base was abandoned, but American commanders drew sharp criticism from some quarters for allowing U.S. troops to become bogged down in a defensive position.

In a statement announcing that U.S. troops had closed Ripcord, the U.S. Command did not list any casualties for the North Vietnamese but said they had suffered heavy losses from a constant pounding by American bombers and artillery.

The enemy sprang an ambush on a paratrooper-patrol Wednesday as it was operating a mile east of Ripcord.

The paratroopers returned the fire and called in fighter-bombers and artillery. The U.S. Command said the enemy withdrew after night fell, but meanwhile North Vietnamese gunners fired five mortar rounds into the base, killing and wounding more Americans. The U.S. Command would not say how many.

Senate Turns To Military Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate turned today to the $19.2 billion military procurement bill as part of the battle by defense spending critics to slash President Nixon's $70 billion Pentagon budget.

Although the procurement and research authorization bill contains the smaller amount, an informal group of 40 senators may choose to make it the vehicle for an amendment clamping a strict ceiling on all Pentagon spending in fiscal 1971.

That approach, which in effect, would order the Pentagon to make its own spending cuts as it sees fit, was reportedly the virtually unanimous choice of senators' aides who attended a private strategy session earlier this week.

The senators themselves have yet to approve or veto the spending-limit tactic and no fixed dollar figure for such a ceiling has been advanced.

It also will be the forum for debate and decision on the so-called "end the war amendment" sponsored by Sens. Hatfield and George McGovern, D-S.C.

MURDER SUSPECT ARRESTED — Milton Niport, 37, (center with glasses) is escorted to jail by Miami Fla., detectives early today after he was charged with the murder of two women following the robbery of a suburban Western Union office earlier this week. Niport was arrested after he got off an airlines flight returning to Miami from Los Angeles. Police said the man was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Withdrawal Timetable Not Reached

HONOLULU (AP) — A U.S.-South Korea defense conference has ended without a timetable for withdrawing almost a third of the 62,000 U.S. troops stationed in the Asian nation.

At the end of the two-day meeting Wednesday, a U.S. source said the withdrawal of 20,000 men would be a topic of "continuing consultation" with South Korean officials.

In Seoul, South Korean President Chung Hee Park said his government is "strongly opposed" to any U.S. troop cutback in Korea in the next four or five years.

It was Park's first official reaction to the U.S. withdrawal plan.

South Korean Premier Chung Il-kwon had said earlier that he and his 10-man Cabinet would resign if the troops were withdrawn.

Park said the next four or five years would be the "most challenging and trying period for our national defense." He said North Korea realizes that South Korea's military and economic strength by 1976 will reach a stage which would force the Communist North to reconsider any plans to invade his country.

The delegations also said they agreed to develop a plan under which U.S. aircraft, including naval patrol planes, can be shifted to bases in South Korea from other U.S. bases.

Suspected Killer Of Women Jailed

MIAMI (AP) — A 37-year-old cab driver caught by a police stakeout at International Airport has been accused of murdering two women hostages in a $2,000 robbery.

Milton Niport was seized at midnight Wednesday as he stepped off a plane which police said he had boarded in Los Angeles.

He was charged with the murders of Delores Palacino, 42, and Judy Lamb, 40.

The bodies of the two women were found in a lonely field Monday 10 miles from the scene of the early morning robbery, a Western Union branch in Coral Gables. Both had been shot several times in the head.

Police found the bodies after a third victim, Bruce Reitz, dragged himself 1½ miles to a highway. He had been shot twice in the head.

A sketch of the gunman was made from Reitz' description.

"We canvassed the airport and found an airline employee who recognized the composite sketch and said the man had flown out of the city," said Ralph Page, supervisor for the Dade County Public Safety Department.

"We found someone who thought they recognized the sketch," Page continued. "We checked the man and he had a criminal record. We found out he had flown to Atlanta and that he would probably return to the Soviet Union Sending Arms Aid To Libya

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has expanded its military aid to another Arab state with a shipment of equipment, including tanks, to Libya, U.S. sources say.

They report a Russian vessel recently landed a cargo of T54 and T55 medium tanks, trucks and other vehicles at Tripoli, apparently the first ship load of Russian-supplied military gear to reach Libya.

This development is significant, in the view of U.S. intelligence analysts, because it indicates the Libyans may have decided to turn to the Russians for their army equipment.

Although the Tripoli regime is considered in the leftist Arab camp, U.S. authorities have been hopeful the new Libyan leaders would not tie their country to the Soviets.

At least six other Arab countries are receiving military equipment and are considered generally to side with the Soviets against the United States on most issues: Egypt, Syria, Algeria, the Sudan, Iraq and Yemen.

The struggle for the strategically located North African nation has been under way since last September when young Libyan army officers overthrew the generally pro-American King Idris.

Arms Bound For Vietnam Stolen, Sold For Dope

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arms and munitions bound for Vietnam are being stolen in California and sold through an underground market in which narcotics sometimes are used for money, an investigator has told a Senate panel.

"An acid head possessing an unstable explosive is enough to make any law enforcement officer lose sleep at night," Charles A. O'Brien, California's deputy attorney general, told the Senate investigation subcommittee Wednesday.

"And that's what we have in California right now," he added.

"There's a market for hand grenades and they're stealing the stuff," O'Brien said, referring to recent munitions thefts from U.S. military shipments going through the Port of Oakland and Port Chicago, Calif.

"The general tendency toward blowing things up and burning things down in our society involves an acceptance of violence and destruction which is virtually endemic," O'Brien said, adding all types, colors and classes of people of all political persuasions are involved in the escalating wave of terror bombings.

Another witness, Iowa Atty. Gen. Richard C. Turner, told senators that in his state, where dynamite is easier to purchase than firecrackers, wire-tapping laws are needed to allow successful prosecution of bombers and the recovery of hoards of explosives.

WHAT WILL JACK ARMSTRONG SAY ABOUT THIS?

Cereals Similar To Shot Of Whisky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the most heavily advertised cereals—including Wheaties, Cheerios and the top brands of shredded wheat and corn flakes—have about as much nutritional value as a shot of whisky, Senate investigators were told today.

"In short, they fatten but do little to prevent malnutrition. . . They have calories and little else," Robert B. Choate, a Washington nutritional specialist, told a Senate consumer subcommittee.

"If a family likes dry cereals and can afford them, there are several with respectable nutritional content," he said in a prepared statement accompanying a detailed study of 60 cereal brands on the market.

"But," he added, "it is apparent in this first of several food industry analyses that we humans are viewed not as beings to be nourished, but as suckers to be sold."

Armed with charts, graphs and samples of television ads programmed for the nation's young, Choate presented a sweeping indictment of the cereal industry and called for a congressional investigation. The industry already is the subject of a Federal Trade Commission probe.

Cereal makers will be given a chance to respond later, subcommittee aides said.

INADEQUATE

Choate said a frequent defense of the dry-cereal industry takes the form of describing a cereal's nutrient value in combination with sugar and milk.

But, Choate said, his studies showed "the average cereals—those outside of the top 20—fail as a complete meal even with milk added. Even if the amount of cereal were doubled while the milk remained constant, the nutrient value of these meals would still be inadequate."

Choate, a citizen-lobbyist who runs a small consulting firm, has studied the nation's food policies for the past three years. He told the subcommittee that he had worked during that period with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, with the Senate Select Committee on Human Needs and on last year's White House nutrition conference.

READY-TO-EAT

"A study of 60 ready-to-eat cereals reveals that they are primarily calorie sources, the nutrient content of 40 of the 60 being so low as to remind this observer of the term 'empty calories,' a term thus far applied to alcohol and sugar," Choate said.

Nixon To Fight $55,000 Ceiling

LAIRD SAYS:

Draft Calls To Dip Below 10,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today draft calls for the rest of 1970 will average below 10,000 a month, a return to pre-Vietnam levels.

Laird made this forecast in a speech for about 550 students working as summer interns with the government.

"In the remaining months of this year," Laird said, "I anticipate that draft calls will average below 10,000 per month."

In the past, he has predicted that total draft calls this year will fall between 150,000 and 170,000 young men compared with the 290,000 drafted in 1969.

Aides said Laird still sticks to that forecast. Through August, draft calls this year have totaled 124,500.

In his talk, Laird assured the students that "We are doing all we can to plan and implement a program that will reduce draft calls to zero and enable us to establish an all-volunteer force."

But he cautioned that, in order to make the shift, Congress must provide a major increase in the defense budget.

Laird offered no forecast as to when this might happen. However, the trend is toward smaller defense budgets and stronger pressure from Congress to cut defense spending.

Lower draft calls are tied to the U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam and a concurrent reduction of total U.S. military manpower.

The secretary stressed once again that by next spring U.S. forces will be down to 284,000 troops or fewer—about half the U.S. garrison in Vietnam when the Nixon administration took power in January, 1969.

Please List U.S. Prisoners

PARIS (AP) — American peace negotiator Philip C. Habib urged the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong today to identify their U.S. prisoners of war and allow them to correspond with their families.

Habib, who returned Wednesday from consultations with administration officials including his designated successor, Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, told the weekly session of the peace talks: "The urgent question of the treatment of prisoners of war . . . is certainly one of the fundamental issues on which discussions should start immediately."

ABOUT FACE — Spectators show a bit of hustle as Rawleigh McCullough and his bull take an unexpected turn out of the gate at last year's edition of the Howard County 4-H Junior Rodeo.

July 30 Opening Night For Rodeo

Howard County's 25th annual 4-H Junior Rodeo is set for Thursday, July 30, through Saturday, Aug. 1, drawing contestants from other Texas areas as well as Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Kicking off the event Thursday at 4 p.m. will be the rodeo parade, planned to begin at Tenth and Main and head north on Main.

Featured guest Becky Bland, queen of the American Junior Rodeo Association, will ride in the parade.

Events scheduled for each evening's rodeo performance include barrel racing, pole bending, bareback bronc and bull riding, goat sacking, a wild calf race, and tie-down, ribbon, and breakaway calf roping.

Announcer Dub Dryant will be working with the clowns to keep the audience entertained and well informed.

Twenty trophy belt buckles will be awarded to winners of the specific events in different age brackets and two specially designed saddles will be given to the cowboy and cowgirl with highest over-all point totals. The prizes have been donated by Big Spring area businessmen.

The stock contractor providing horses, goats, bulls, and calves is Red Watty, Crosbyton.

The rodeo is the number one

(and only) money-making project of the Howard County 4-H'ers, and they will be looking to make it a spectacular and enjoyable success.

Hospital Employees Attending Confab

VA Hospital staffers are busy attending conventions, conferences and intra-VA programs this week.

Hospital Director Jack D. Powell will attend the 42nd annual Department Convention of the American Legion in Fort Worth Friday through Sunday.

Edith F. Wells, R.N. and supervisor of the new nursing home care unit at the hospital is attending a conference on the VA nursing home care program in Washington, D.C., today and Friday. The conference is being held at the Veterans Administration Central Office.

Miss Doris Roberts, head nurse, ward 3 west, and Mrs. Edyth C. Pedro, staff nurse, will be at the Temple VA Hospital today and Friday on an intra-VA detail to observe and discuss medical-surgical and orthopedic nursing techniques.

Pain-Killing Drug Fatal To Two Boys

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police say they have picked up a suspect in their investigation to determine the source of the potent pain-killing drug which apparently caused the deaths of two Mount Washington boys. The suspect's name was not released.

The boys, Gary Reils and Joseph Vertullo, both 18, died Wednesday after injecting an overdose of the drug dilaudid into their veins, according to Allegheny County Coroner Cyril Wecht.

Dilaudid was described by Dr. Wecht as about 30 times more potent than morphine and is used to ease the pain of terminal cancer patients.

While investigating the boys' deaths, narcotics detectives found three other young people, also from the Mount Washington section, suffering from what appeared to be the effects of drug overdose. It later was determined that the three and one of the dead boys had been "shooting drugs" at a party.

One of the three was unconscious in a city hospital's intensive care unit where he was listed in critical condition. The two others, including a girl, were in fair condition.

Lone 'Doc' Is Arrested In McCamey

McCAMEY, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this tiny Southwest Texas town were temporarily without a doctor Wednesday when the only "doctor" in town was arrested on charges of not being one.

Anesthesia tripped him up. Jailed under $3,500 bond is a 31-year-old man who claims he is Dr. Jerry Brueuer. When he began working in the McCamey Hospital July 4, he claimed he was Dr. E. I. Maxwell.

VERY SMOOTH

"We don't know who he is but we know there is a doctor Maxwell in Anchorage, Alaska, and a Dr. Brueuer in Massachusetts. This fellow isn't either one of them," said Joe Collins, hospital administrator.

County Atty. John Menefee said he sent the man's fingerprints to the FBI in Washington and hopes to have identification by Friday.

"The guy is very smooth," said Collins. "Very convincing." Collins said the story unfolded July 4 when the self-claimed Dr. Brueuer began working at the 29-bed hospital here.

"He told me he graduated from the University of London and had worked at Cortez, Colo., and in Nigeria with the Biafrans," Collins said.

"He sounded good and had a photostat medical certificate, a pilot's license and credit cards under the name of Dr. E. I. Maxwell," Collins continued.

HE 'SEWS'

As soon as "Dr. Maxwell" got situated in the hospital, the town's two doctors—Dr. J.L. Cooper and Dr. William F. Lucas—went on vacation, leaving "Dr. Maxwell" in charge.

"He treated patients in the emergency room, sewing them up, prescribing medicine and so forth," Collins said. "He did a fair job. But he mispronounced the word anesthesia several times.

"At first I thought he was joking, but it kind of gnawed at me. I got to looking in a directory of out-of-state doctors and found Dr. Maxwell in Anchorage.

"I called up there to make a routine check and found the real Dr. Maxwell was still there. In fact, I talked with him and he said 'You've got an impostor on your hands.' I just kind of slumped down in the chair," Collins said.

SUSPICIOUS

"I was hoping my suspicions would be all wet," Collins added. "We arrested him and had him put in jail. As of Tuesday afternoon we had no plans to pay him for his services."

Collins said he went around and informed the hospital's patients that Dr. Maxwell wasn't really Dr. Maxwell at all. "Well, he did more for me than any other doctor," said one woman, though Collins related many patients said they were suspicious of the young doctor all the time.

"We've got one doctor on his way back from vacation now," said Collins, "and we're still trying to locate the other one."

Nude In Cemetery Film Nets Count

BOSTON (AP) — Motion picture director Otto Preminger has been served a court summons involving the alleged filming of actress Liza Minnelli in the nude in a cemetery.

The summons Wednesday, charging desecration of a burial ground, requires Preminger to appear in court Aug. 26.

The incident was said to have occurred last summer at Blue Hills Cemetery in Braintree, where Preminger and Miss Minnelli were making "Tell Me That You Love Me, Julie Moon."

Bruce Begins Peace Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador David K.E. Bruce headed for Saigon today and consultations with South Vietnamese leaders before taking over as chief U.S. peace negotiator in Paris.

Bruce and Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. envoy to South Vietnam, left Washington Wednesday following discussions with President Nixon and other officials on projected new U.S. peace proposals at the stalemated Paris talks.

OPPORTUNITY

These tentative new proposals reportedly are designed to offer Communist elements in South Vietnam an opportunity to share post-war political power in Saigon as part of an over-all agreement for ending the war and getting both U.S. and North Vietnamese armies out of the country.

Such proposals, implying some kind of future coalition government, are a sore point between the Nixon administration and Saigon.

Bruce presumably wants to form a first-hand impression of President Nguyen Van Thieu's stand on this issue and what proposition Thieu is prepared to accept.

Nixon reportedly has decided to move slowly in presenting new proposals to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese at Paris. They may not be formulated and introduced before September.

CENTRAL ISSUE

Meanwhile, Ambassador Philip C. Habib returned to Paris Wednesday to continue as acting head of the U.S. team until Bruce takes over. Habib has been chief U.S. negotiator since Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge resigned last December.

A revealing series of discards by West provided South with the information he needed to bring home his six heart contract.

West chose to open the jack of diamonds and South won the trick with the ace. A small heart was led to the queen and West discarded a diamond. This was a bit of bad news for declarer, for if the trumps had divided evenly, it was his intention to strip out his diamond and spade holdings and then—while each hand retained a heart—lead the jack of clubs and pass the trick around to East who would be forced to make a favorable return.

South proceeded to revise his plan of campaign and since he no longer needed an extra trump in dummy, he led out six rounds of hearts in order to apply maximum pressure against his opponents. West was forced to make six discards and he chose to give up two diamonds, one spade, and three clubs. Dummy discarded two spades and with six cards to go, this was the situation:

South cashed the queen of diamonds on which East discarded a spade. Now the jack of clubs was led. When West discarded a spade, the ace of clubs was put up from dummy. North played the king of diamonds and then a small diamond putting West in with the king as South disposed of his remaining club.

West was obliged to lead away from the king of spades into declarer's ace-jack. In all, South took six hearts, three diamonds, one club, and two spades for 12 tricks.

West could have complicated matters for declarer by retaining one club, for if he follows suit when South leads the jack of clubs, the latter has the option of taking an honor in the suit, either the king or queen. When West showed out on the club lead, all guess was eliminated and declarer had a sure thing.

AW, OFFICER IT WAS A SEAL

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A shaky motorist told police he had just missed hitting a seal.

The location he gave was in Forest Park near the city zoo. Police and the Humane Society cordoned off the area and soon re-captured "Skippy," a recently acquired pup.

How or when she got out wasn't known.

GI Drug Promises

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army is trying to get GIs in Vietnam who use marijuana or other drugs to turn themselves in and get help. The Army promises that those who do will not be punished.

The new "amnesty program" has been adopted by the 4th Infantry Division in the central highlands. Other U.S. units in Vietnam are expected to try the program, which is already in operation at several bases in the United States.

To date, 129 drug users in the 4th Division have turned themselves in. None has been punished, officers of the division say, and their names have not been recorded on military police reports of drug investigations.

Under the amnesty program, a soldier may ask for help from any chaplain or provost marshal.

Initially he gets counseling from the chaplain once a week, or more often if that appears necessary. If counseling alone doesn't work, the habitual marijuana user or drug addict is sent to the division psychiatrist.

Okies Offer Wildcatters Big Incentive

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma Corporation Commission offered wildcatters an incentive for oil exploration by increasing the bonus discovery allowable.

The commission also continued the basic allowable at its record-high 125 per cent of the depth-acreage table.

The discovery allowable — now 400 per cent, or four times the depth-acreage factor — was raised to 500 per cent, or five times.

Few wells, however, are capable of producing at the higher allowable.

Purchasers told the commission they will need 625,945 barrels of Oklahoma crude oil daily in August, 6,265 above the July allowable. Even under the record-high allowable, production has fallen about 30,000 barrels daily short of the demand.

Writer Of Songs To Test Lyrics

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Sammy Cahn, whose hit songs include "Love is Lovelier the Second Time Around," says he plans to test his lyrics by marrying Tita Curtis Aug. 2.

"I'll have to write a new song about this," Cahn 56, told newsmen Tuesday in announcing the wedding. "But first I want to figure out if the lyrics about the second time around thing really work."

He and Miss Curtis, 32, are both once divorced.

Former Big Spring Woman Sees First Book In Print

Among the things that Jan Dickerson loves most to do are riding horses and writing. She has put them together in her first book, "Make the Most of Your Horse," recently published by Doubleday ($6.95).

Miss Dickerson, here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dickerson, 665 W. 15th, is delighted with having done what she wanted to do — write a book. Early success of the effort makes it all the more enjoyable.

Her publishers are impressed enough that they have asked her to produce a second book. This is some doing for the sparkling woman who earned her first byline in The Big Spring Herald. That experience probably hooked her on a career in writing. Less clear is the genesis of her love for horses, but it has existed since she was a school girl here.

SMILES OVER HER FIRST 'FOAL'
Jan Dickerson publishes her first book

NO CINDERELLA

Jan confesses to having spent about as much time on the ground as in the saddle in her early adventures with the horse. She didn't prove to be the Cinderella of the barrel races in the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, but she did set a pattern for spectacular spills. A few years later, while in a riding class at Hardin-Simmons University, she was nearly killed in attempting to be a Good Samaritan when she was thrown. Her mount stepped and fell on her, and for days it was touch and go for her. Before long, however, she was back in the saddle. Over the years, no matter when she went, she somehow found herself riding and working with horses.

Ten years ago, she suddenly but deliberately quit her job as a veteran writer for the Kansas City Star and decided to devote her time to riding instruction and horse training. This, in time, led to phase two — putting down on paper a wealth of practical information on how to fully enjoy your horse.

George Morris, an authority in the field and whose opinion is regarded highly by horsemen, wrote the foreword and said: "I heartily recommend this book!"

PAPER 'BOY'

As a school girl with more bounce and personality than a good horse in collect (she says collect is being fully gathered for action), Jan started her career by trying to stay up with her brother, Bob. It was natural, when he became ill when he had other things to do, that she carry his newspaper route, and thus became the first girl to be a Herald route "boy." This also

Artist Improves

OAK BLUFFS, Mass. (AP) — Artist Thomas Hart Benton of Kansas City has left Martha's Vineyard Hospital where he had been treated since suffering a heart attack at his Gay Head summer home on July 5.

It was the second attack for the 81-year-old artist. The first occurred in 1966.

led to her appearance in print, because the Herald carried a story about it. In time she read proof and did other things around The Herald.

One day her mother, Polly, told her about a story with a heart throb — a young lad on a troop train who couldn't reach his parents on the phone. Jan (she spelled it Jeanne then) wrote the story and slipped it on the editor's desk with fear and trembling. When she discovered it carried her byline, her commitment to writing was sealed.

NEWS REPORTER

Jan worked on the Abilene Reporter-News while in school. Torn between marriage and first seeing the world, she decided on the world. The logical way, she thought, was to join the Women's Army Corps. Enlisting in the ranks, the thick of it, but even so, the effort might have bogged had not her mother arrived to take over the household chores and become slave-driver first class. Jan's editor at Doubleday paid her the compliment of saying that "your's is the cleanest manuscript I've ever handled."

"Make the Most of Your Horse" is interesting, down to earth, and most of all, it is told so that anyone who understands that horses have four feet will be able to follow the instructions. This figures, for Jan tried it on students verbally before she put it down on paper.

What was the most difficult part of the effort? Getting that cover color picture of three horses on a ridge.

"Ever try to get three horses squared, necks arched, heads erect, ears on point all at the same instant — and on a raw December day?"

Bay Areas Off Limits

AUSTIN (AP) — More areas of Lavaca Bay will be placed off limits for oyster harvest due to recently discovered high mercury levels, says the Texas Water Quality Board.

The area is closed on a seasonal basis, but much of the bay will remain closed when oyster season begins on Nov. 1.

The board identified the area as a large part of the bay between Point Comfort, Port Lavaca and Rhodes Point.

Hugh Yantis Jr., board executive director, has asked the Parks and Wildlife Department and the State Health Department to estimate the value of oyster production in the closed area, "so that monetary damages can be calculated."

The board said it will meet July 30-31 to determine whether to ask the attorney general to sue the firm or firms responsible for the mercury discharge for damages. The board also has scheduled an Aug. 19 yearing on standards for mercury and other heavy metals discharges.

Oyster samples taken at Channel Marker 77, which Yantis said is close to a major industry at Point Comfort, showed 8 parts per million of mercury, the State Health Department said.

Yantis quoted a Health Department letter saying a garfish collected from the Sabine Pass Area and two fish samples taken by the Food and Drug Administration from the Matagorda Bay area exceeded the mercury standard.

SHE CAN SMILE — Mrs. Janna Kirtsen Stout, 22, Eugene, Ore., gives a big smile to a deputy sheriff as he wraps a blanket around her to cap her rescue from a rock. Early it did not look so bright, as she waited for rescue by Eugene firemen. She, Stout became stranded after a canoe capsized in rapids about 8:30 last night. Her husband, Charles Stout, 23, and Janna were with Jim Platts in his canoe.

Ex-Mayor Of Atlanta Heads Police Development Fund

ATLANTA (AP)—During his eight years as mayor of Atlanta, Ivan Allen Jr. gave high priority to improving his police force and devising ways to cut down on crime.

Now he has a chance to perform a similar chore on the national scale.

He was named Wednesday as chairman of the board of directors of a police development fund to which the Ford Foundation is giving $30 million.

The fund's job will be to improve the effectiveness of police departments throughout the country.

Allen, 59, was mayor during a turbulent time of sit-ins and stormy racial controversy and lived in the midst of controversy and confrontation.

Atlanta was one of the first cities to employ community service officers, who, without guns, patrolled selected areas to increase police rapport with poor black and white citizens.

During racial disturbances in 1966, Allen personally led police and tried to break up the crowds. Disregarding rocks and tear gas, he went into jeering crowds in an effort to calm demonstrators.

Under Allen, Atlanta did much to rid its central core of the urban blight which he regarded as a continuing source of crime.

IN U.S. SENATE RACE Carswell Campaigning As Tough Conservative

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nattily dressed, quick with a smile and exuding confidence, G. Harold Carswell moves along the campaign trail delivering rapid-fire, off-the-cuff speeches.

He hardly seems the same man who received dejectedly last April 8 the news that the U.S. Senate, after hearing him described by some critics as racist and lacking judicial stature, had turned down his nomination to the Supreme Court.

Some veteran Republicans think Carswell is headed for another heartbreak in the Sept. 8 primaries, but he doesn't believe it.

"Lots of Democrats are switching parties because they want a good strong conservative in Congress," he said. "They'll vote for me."

He said he realizes taking the same grade over would pose a problem of keeping the boys interested in their work. But he said keeping them away from college for a year after leaving high school might result in their losing a desire to seek higher education.

The school board, which said it had never received such a request for upper-grade pupils, tabulated the matter for further study.

Trash Hassle Gets Hotter In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The city council Wednesday may have widened its garbage crisis as it reopened a Southside dump for 30 days and a Northside dump for six months.

The action came after six hours of protests from residents in both areas.

The council will inspect a site about 20 miles southwest of the city as a sanitary landfill. It could possibly be opened within 10 to 14 days.

They maintain the landfill operation will contaminate their water wells.

A spokesman for the north site, which was closed for two days following mass arrests Monday, said the residents will not accept the council's decision under any circumstances.

Mayor pro tem Frank Mancuso said the north site would probably not be opened for more than six months, noting that the city's contract with American Refuse Systems Inc. to operate the site is for six months only. American Refuse owns the Southside dump.

His Sons Too Wise

LEBANON, Ind. (AP) — Robert Walker has asked the school board to hold back his two sons—both straight-A students—so he won't have three children in college at the same time.

PLAYA LAKES UP FOR DISCUSSION

LUBBOCK — To residents of the High Plains, any fair sized depression which fills with water during a good rain is a "playa lake," and these and intermittent desert lakes like them will get special consideration at an Oct. 29-30 symposium at Texas Tech University.

Playa lakes of the Great Plains and southwestern United States, the Middle East and Africa will be discussed at the first Playa Lake Symposium sponsored by the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies at Texas Tech.

Seeking To Arm Judges With Suspension Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prominent trial lawyers recommended today that judges combat courtroom disturbances by knocking unruly lawyers out of the case or suspending their right to appear in the court for six months.

In a report, the American College of Trial Lawyers also encouraged contempt action and disbarment proceedings against lawyers who engage in disruptive trial tactics.

The report said such tactics post a "new, direct, jagged threat to the judicial process."

To arm judges with suspension powers, the 2,000-member group's committee on disruption of the judicial process recommended passage of new authorization laws where they don't already exist.

"Disbarment would continue to be the function of traditional disciplinary proceedings in appropriate situations," the report said. "While they were getting under way, however, suspension of the right to appear in court would prevent an evil from continuing or spreading."

The committee, headed by a New York City lawyer, Whitney North Seymour, said disruptive tactics—by defendants, their attorneys and sometimes by prosecutors—threaten to become systematized and popularized among small but militant segments of the profession and the general public.

The report added: "Recently lawyers responsible for courtroom disturbances have been warmly welcomed by university students—even law students—as if, somehow, their conduct was responsible and heroic."

Mother's Car Hits Banister

OKLAHOMA, Tex. (AP)—Barbara Sue Klein, 11, of Silverton, Tex., was killed about 3 a.m. today when her mother's car hit a railroad overpass banister on U.S. 287 in this North Texas town.

Officers said the child was pinned in the wreckage.

Her mother, Dorothy Lee Hale, was taken to a Vernon hospital with a broken shoulder. Two sons of Mrs. Hale, 8 and 9, were treated and released.

Jurors Released

County Court jurors heard no cases this morning and were dismissed until 9 a.m. Friday by Judge Lee Porter. According to Judge Porter, the case that would have been tried today had to be reset for Friday because the defendant could not be located.

Pablo C. Bustamante, 20, 1003 N. 3rd, entered a plea of guilty on his charge of driving while intoxicated. Bustamante entered his plea before Judge Porter after the jury had been dismissed.

Bustamante was fined $50 and costs and given a 30-day jail sentence probated for five months. County Attorney Bill Eysen recommended that the defendant be given 90 days in which to pay his fine, and it was so ordered by Judge Porter.

MAN, DIG THIS DUTY

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Sheriff Gil Wright has written off a 16-cent expense item incurred in the line of duty.

As part of a sobriety check on a woman driver, he dropped a dime, nickel and penny on the pavement to check her ability to pick them up.

She passed that portion of the test, and slipped the three coins down her blouse.

"The 16 cents was never returned to me by the suspect," Wright wrote in his report of the incident.

Refinery-Power Complex Planned

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — The board of directors of Energy Company of Alaska adopted a budget to continue development of the $45 million refinery-power complex to be constructed near Fairbanks, Dan M. Krause, chairman and president of ECA, said today.

Krause said E. R. Bouchard, project manager, is now located in the Houston offices of Fluor Corp., Ltd., engineer-architect for the huge facility. Detailed design and specifications have been completed by Fluor. Procurement and construction will not begin until availability of crude oil at Fairbanks is assured. It is believed completion of TAPS may be delayed as late as the fall of 1974, although an alternate plan could be activated within a year.

ROT Open To Men, Women At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — Applications for Air Force ROTC college scholarships are being accepted by the Air Force, according to an announcement Tuesday by Col. Haynes M. Baumgardner, professor of aerospace studies at Texas Tech University.

The program is open to all high school men students who will be entering college as freshmen. Recipients receive full tuition, laboratory fees, an allowance for textbooks, and a tax free subsistence allowance of $50 each month for four years.

For the first time in history, women students entering Texas Tech University as freshmen during the fall semester of 1970 may enroll in Air Force ROTC.

Col. Baumgardner, in making the announcement Wednesday, said that upon successful completion of the four year program and upon graduation they may be appointed second lieutenants and serve on active duty as officers in the U.S. Air Force. For all practical purposes the program for women will be identical to the one for men, he said.

Sealcoating Plans Are Finalized For August

Now that the purchase of rock has been okayed by the city commission, plans have been finalized for the sealcoating of 100 city blocks to protect them during the winter.

Public Works Director Nolen Chafin said the sealcoating will take four or five days, beginning Aug. 3. A chip spreader will be leased by the city to spread the gravel onto the asphalt.

Plans are to sealcoat Abrams from West Third Fourth, Douglas from West Ninth to Third, Ayford from West Third to Eleventh, Pennsylvania from West Eleventh to Seventeenth, and Lancaster from West Eighteenth to Second.

Also sealcoated will be Nolan from East Ninth to Eleventh Place, Gollard from East Thirteenth to Ninth, Birdwell from East Eleventh to Fourth, East Eleventh Place from Rannels to Birdwell, and East Fifteenth from Main to Virginia.

Chafin said the rock will be purchased as needed, from a local supplier at $2.60 a cubic yard. The city commission earlier rejected the use of rock pre-coated with oil that would have run about $6 a cubic yard, not including substantial handling costs.

Corps Claims Legislators About 27 Years Too Late

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Legislators are fighting oil well drilling proposals in West Bay here but the Corps of Engineers said Wednesday the battle is about 27 years too late.

Since 1943 there have been 12 wells authorized in the bay which is a favorite fishing ground for Gulf Coast anglers.

The corps said of the 12 wells approved, five were drilled and struck gas; five were dry holes and two were never drilled. One of the wells was later abandoned and plugged.

NEW DRILLING

Texaco and the Cabot Corp. have proposed new drilling sites just four to five miles from several of the operational wells in West Bay.

In protesting the latest proposals for bay drilling, state Sen. Aaron R. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston and U. S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston have appealed to the U.S. Corps of Engineers, sole remaining approving authority for the well operations.

The applications already have been approved by the Texas Water Control Board, the Texas Railroad Commission and the Texas Land Commission.

"We are unalterably opposed to the drilling of any oil or gas wells and the erection and maintenance of any drilling platform in the bay," Schwartz said in a telegram to Col. Frank B. Moon district engineer. The applications are subject to Corps approval since they would be located in navigable waters.

GAS DISASTERS

Schwartz said the West Bay area is a popular one for fishermen and that "any degree of pollution" will damage the area's entire ecology.

"It is obvious from recent oil and gas production disasters that the technology of the industry is insufficient to protect the public," he said.

Among those firms which have drilled in West Bay are Humble, Pan American Petroleum, Brazos Oil and Gas, and Phillips Petroleum. The corps said, adding that Brazos now has three active gas wells just four miles from the Texaco proposed site.

Officials in the Corps of Engineers said more than 1,000 protests have already been received and they will be routinely forwarded to Texaco and Cabot.

Should the two companies decide to continue with drilling plans the engineers will make a decision based on Department of Interior reports. A spokesman said the department is presently investigating the hazard potential such wells present to the area ecology.

BIRD ISLAND DEAL

Part of the Texaco lease area is located on a small spit called Bird Island, now under control of the Audubon Society as a bird sanctuary. Engineers say any of the earlier permits in West Bay.

restrictions on the distance it may drill from Bird Island.

The Cabot and Texaco requests include limited dredging proposals, allowing oil rigs to be floated into the now-too-shallow site.

West Bay, located between Galveston Island and the mainland, is fronted by several luxury waterfront home developments and plush marinas.

The drilling permits requested by Cabot and Texaco are closer to these developments than any of the earlier permits in West Bay.

Newark Mayor, Four Pals Convicted Of Extortion

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Former Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio and four codefendants face up to 20 years in prison on each of 64 counts of conspiracy and extortion.

All five were convicted by a jury Wednesday night in what the federal government described as a Mafia-backed scheme to squeeze payoffs from contractors doing business with the state's largest city, which has a population of more than 400,000.

No date was set for sentencing by U.S. Dist. Court Judge George H. Barlow.

The trial, which began June 1, ended in a hushed courtroom in the state capital after the jury had deliberated less than six hours.

All five remained free on bail of $25,000 each pending sentencing.

Addonizio, who served 14 years in Congress, was re-elected mayor in 1966 but lost last month to Kenneth Gibson, the first black man elected mayor of a major Northeastern city.

Ex-Resident Is Wounded

Word has been received here that Marine Corp. Jerry W. Tate, a former Big Spring resident, was wounded in action Monday in Vietnam.

Tate, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary A. Tate, 705 Alpine, Midland, is a former carrier for The Herald. He moved to Midland with his family in 1963.

A telegram from Gen. L. W. Wait, acting commandant of the Marine Corps, said Tate sustained multiple fragmentation wounds to both arms and back from a hostile explosive device while on combat patrol.

Tate is hospitalized at the First Medical Battalion, DaNang, and his condition is good, according to the telegram.

Tate attended Texas Tech until February, 1969, when he joined the Marines. He has been stationed with the First Marine Division south of Da Nang since September, 1969.

Stewart Loses On Extra Hole Of Jr. Tourney

Howard Stewart of Big Spring ran into some tough luck in the second hole of a sudden death playoff and lost out to John Adams, Midland, in the second annual Snyder Junior Golf tournament Wednesday.

The two had tied with 70s, one under par, over regulation play in the finals of the 16-18 year division, then halved the first extra hole. Howard's tee shot went out of bounds on the next hole, while Adams rolled in a birdie putt to win the match.

The tournament drew 72 players from over most of the state, said J. P. Ward, director. In the consolation of the top age group, Dan Watson, Kirklind, won on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with Gary Paulsen, San Angelo. Each had fired a 75 to tie.

Winner of the 14-15-year class was Joe Wagener, Stamford, who fired a 72 to edge Stan Cromwell, Midland, with a 74. Consolation honors went to Cary Wood, Childress, who was followed by Rick Furlow, Denton.

The titlist in the 12-13-year division was Sammy Perez, San Angelo, with an 81, followed by Bryan Hargrove, Snyder, with 86. Ricky Ator, Snyder, took the consolation with an 82, while Sid Cathey, Wichita Falls, was next with 85.

Stan Talbot, Snyder, won the 9-10 year section with an even 100, while Aubrey Roberts, Sweetwater, was second with a 108.

Billie Jean King, perhaps the world's greatest woman tennis player, will be walking stiff-legged — and not playing at all — for nearly six months, her doctors say.

Mrs. King, 26, underwent surgery on her right knee Wednesday at Pacific Hospital here. It was the same knee about which she complained earlier this month while losing the women's singles at Wimbledon to Margaret Court of Australia, 14-12, 11-9. In 1966-68 Mrs. King owned the championship.

Doctors said the surgery seemed successful and that Mrs. King was resting comfortably. They said she won't be able to bend her knee at all following release from the hospital, and will require at least a half year to recuperate.

It was the second knee operation for the comely tennis star.

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion, will end a two-year absence from the ring when he meets Charlie Green Sept. 15 in Madison Square Garden, it was announced Wednesday.

Casper Names Green Partner
LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — "I've got me a horse, man, good as Nashua," said Bert Greene. "All I've got to do is just ride him."

Greene, a hard-hitting youngster who has yet to score his first official victory on the pro tour, has Billy Casper as a partner in the $200,000 National Four Ball Championship.

The event, last played in 1968, started a 72-hole run today on the plush, 7,045-yard, par-71 Laurel Valley Golf Club, Arnold Palmer's home course. It's a team championship in which 60 teams of two players each kept their score on the better ball.

Players picked their own partners, with the duo of Palmer and Jack Nicklaus the heavy favorites. Nicklaus, the recently crowned British Open champion, had business commitments in New York and Michigan early in the week and did not arrive in time for a practice round.

Richey Loses Concentration But Rallies To Take Match

CINCINNATI (AP) — While Cliff Richey's thoughts drifted, upset-minded Patricio Cornejo of Chile nearly slipped by him in the Western Tennis Championships Wednesday.

Richey, defending champion of the $25,000 tourney and the No. 2 seed this year, blanked the unseeded Chilean 6-0 in the first set, dropped the second 3-6 but rallied to take the third 6-3. "I lost concentration," said Richey of San Angelo, Tex. The tourney's top-seeded man, Ken Rosewall of Australia, also rolled to an easy first set victory—6-2 over Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif.—but had to come back from a 5-6 deficit in the second for an 8-6 score to win the match.

Unseeded Ray Ruffels of Australia ended up with the only real upset of third-day action in the tournament that winds up Sunday. Ruffels knocked off 13th-seeded Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico 8-6, 6-1 and will meet eighth-seeded Clark Graebner of New York City in the third round of competition.

In women's play Wednesday, top-seeded Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., zipped by unseeded Gail Hansen of Palo Alto, Calif., 6-0, 6-1 in second-round play.

Eighth-seeded Linda Tuero of Metairie, La., edged unseeded Becky Vest of Jackson, Miss., 6-3, 7-5 in a match in which 85 shots were exchanged for one particular point.

In first-round women's doubles, Rosemary Casals of San Francisco and Gail Chausreou of Paris, France, the No. 1 seeded doubles team, dropped Lita Liem and Lany Kaligis of Indonesia 6-1, 6-1.

The men's top-seeded doubles tandem, Bob Hewitt and Frew McMillan of South Africa, defeated Bob Posthof of Cupertino, Calif., and Tom Gorman of Arcadia, Calif., 6-3, 7-5.

Newcombe Says That U.S. Climbing In Tennis World
NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — Wimbledon singles champion John Newcombe says there's "no question" that Rod Laver is the world's best tennis player. But he also says Laver is getting old.

"He's getting on in years now and there are about four of us that are on a level right below him," Newcombe said in an interview.

He listed those four as Arthur Ashe, Tony Roche, Tom Okker and himself.

"The thing that makes Laver so good is his maturity," the Australian star said. "He has reached the absolute peak of his career, but he's not getting any better."

Laver is 33. Newcombe is 26. "I believe you reach your peak in this game at about the age of 28," Newcombe went on. "I know that I am still learning. Small things, but in the long run it's the small things that win matches."

He commented after returning here from the Wimbledon matches, where he teamed with Roche to win the doubles title.

Newcombe is vice president of a tennis ranch here and Roche, also from Australia, has now joined the staff too, it was announced Wednesday.

"The center of tennis is shifting from Europe and Australia to the United States," Newcombe said. "By the late 1970s this country will dominate the world in tennis."

Reed Inspires Free Agents
KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — There are 10 players in the Houston Oilers' training camp who look up to Alvin Reed as their standard bearer.

They are the free agents, and Alvin is the shining example of what a free agent can do.

The free agent, ignored by the draft, shows up at camp hoping to prove his ability among all the other talent around. His odds are long.

Reed came to the Oilers from Prairie View A&M in 1967, unheralded and unsought.

But he worked hard and by 1969, Reed led the AFL's tight ends in catches, finished fourth among all the league's receivers and once more made the all-star team.

His rise was reminiscent of another free agent who showed up in the Pittsburgh Steelers training camp in the great long ago named Johnny Unitas.

Fenway Park Draws Million
BOSTON (AP) — A total of 48,729 fans attended Wednesday's separate admission day-and-night doubleheader between the Boston Red Sox and the California Angels.

This boosted the Fenway Park attendance for the year to 1,021,382, making the Red Sox the first team in the American League to go over the million mark.

Thin Margins In Cage Loop

Two razor thin margins separated teams in the Summer Recreation League Tuesday, the Rockets beating the Raiders 50-48, the 32ers nosing the Jets 46-45. Harry Crosby hooped 14 points for the Rockets, Rusty Carter 21 for the Raiders. Jessie Olaque led the 32ers with 16, Delnor Poss the Jets with 17.

Thursday's games include the 32ers vs. Hawks at 6:30 p.m. and the Jets vs. Rockets at 7:30 p.m. The Rockets lead 13-4, followed by the 32ers 13-5, Jets 9-11, Hawks 5-12, Raiders 5-13.

Yanks Vs. Reds On New Track
LENINGRAD (AP) — A young and spirited U.S. track and field team meets a strong Russian team today—and gets the dubious honor of breaking in a new rubberized asphalt track in the process.

"This is going to cause problems for some of our runners," said American Coach Leroy Walker of Durham, N.C., viewing the track at Lenin Stadium for the first time Wednesday.

"It leaves a lot to be desired," Tractor problems are expected, especially for the hurdlers. Workers were still painting the lanes on the black surface Wednesday evening.

The two-day competition, the ninth meeting of U.S. and Soviet track and field teams was to start at 11 a.m. EDT, with the men's 100-meter dash.

The Americans defeated France but lost to a West German team before coming to Leningrad. They were not allowed to try out the new track by this morning, although some Soviet runners were seen jogging on the soft, rubber-asphalt combination late Wednesday.

Some other top teams include George Archer and Bobby Nichols, winners of the last Four Ball, Ken Still and Gene Littler, winners of last year's team CBS Classic, brothers Dave and Mike Hill, Bruce Devlin and Bob Charles, Miller Barber and Don January.

Greene, a lean, 26-year-old with thinning blond hair, got paired with Casper almost by accident.

"I had a long-standing agreement with Gary Player to play with him the next time we had the Four Ball," Casper said. "Then Gary decided to go home to South Africa after the British Open."

"Well, back in January, Bert had asked me to play with him. I told him I would if something happened that Gary didn't play. So when he dropped out, I went with Bert."

Perranoski Gets His 24th Save Of Season For Twins

By The Associated Press
Reliever Ron Perranoski made his brief stay a perfect one for the West-leading Minnesota Twins while the Baltimore Orioles, kings in the East, were perfect for over a year against their Kansas City cousins.
Perranoski, the veteran southpaw, picked up his 24th save of the season Wednesday night, nailing the last four Detroit batters in preserving Jim Perry's 15th victory of the season—top in the American League—as the Twins edged the Tigers 2-1.
Meanwhile the Orioles streaked to their 19th consecutive victory over the Royals and 11th straight at Kansas City, winning 4-3 in 13 innings.

The triumphs increased the Twins lead in the West Division to five over California while the Orioles lead the Tigers by five games in the East.
In other AL games, Boston swept a day-night twinbill from the Angels, 7-4, and 8-3, Oakland edged Washington 4-3, Milwaukee topped New York 4-1 and Cleveland belted Chicago 6-2.
Carl Yastrzemski collected three hits in each game, increasing his average to .323 to move into contention for his fourth batting title in the double victory over the Angels and Yaz, hitting at a .523 clip.

Umps Testify About Firing

BOSTON (AP) — The American League planned to call its witnesses today at a National Labor Relations Board hearing into the firing in 1968 of umpires Bill Valentine and Al Salerno.

Atty. James Gerner, counsel for the league, said he thought one day would be sufficient to present his witnesses, thus ending eight days of hearings before board Examiner David Davidson.
Davidson then will give both sides several weeks in which to file briefs before he offers an opinion—one that can be overruled by board officials in Washington, and one that requires Federal Court concurrence if either side refuses to implement his decision.

Atty. Henry Kalleher, counsel for Valentine and Salerno, rested his case Wednesday, following two days of testimony by American League President Joe Cronin.
Salerno, a major league umpire for seven years, and Valentine, a six-year veteran, contend in an unfair labor practice suit that they were fired for trying to organize a collective bargaining unit for American League umpires.
Cronin said Wednesday that "I still maintain that negotiations of contracts with league umpires are individual matters . . ." but said the two were fired because of "arrogance" and failure to keep an even temper.

"An umpire must exercise patience and judgment," said Cronin, who also said he had been unaware at the time that Salerno and Valentine were involved in any union organizational activity.
Kalleher said Cronin was in Chicago Sept. 12, 1968—four days before the umpires were fired—and at a time that Salerno attended a Chicago meeting of the National League umpires' organization.
Cronin had testified earlier that he often knew of his umpires' whereabouts and activities, but said he was in Chicago to attend a meeting with the television committee of the baseball commissioner's office, and he had no idea that Salerno was at the umpires' meeting.
Cronin further told Davidson that between 1960 and 1968, four major league umpires had returned to the minors. When asked why Salerno and Valentine had not been optioned to the minors, Cronin said Salerno had an offer from the International League but turned it down.
Cronin said he met with league umpires at least twice to discuss benefit and expense demands.

Yaz Has Best Success Recipe

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski has a better formula than worrying about whether he can win another batting title: he just hits .500 for a while and lets the other guys worry.
"I'm not thinking about any batting championship," the Boston Red Sox slugger said Wednesday night after collecting six hits in leading his team to a sweep of a day-night doubleheader with the California Angels.
"I just hit according to the situation," Yaz explained. "I'm not going to be swinging for a base hit in situations where we need the long ball."

Canton Sparkles In Relief Job

By The Associated Press
Bruce Dal Canton came through with a key relief job for the Pittsburgh Pirates—as a starter.

"I'd rather be a starter but I know I'll be back in the bullpen," Dal Canton said Wednesday night after working 7 2/3 innings and getting the victory in the Pirates' 5-3 triumph that boosted to two games their lead in the National League East over the New York Mets, who lost to San Diego 5-4 in 10 innings.
Dal Canton might go back to the bullpen, but his starting and winning performance was sorely needed by the Pirates, who have three starters out with injuries.

Bob Veale, sore arm, is expected back Saturday or Sunday, but it is not known when Bob Moose, sore elbow, will return and Steve Blass is on the disabled list after being hit on his pitching arm by a line drive.
In other NL action Wednesday, Houston hammered St. Louis 13-9, Los Angeles outlasted Montreal 12-10, the Chicago Cubs clubbed Cincinnati 10-2 and Philadelphia topped San Francisco 5-3.
Ivan Murrell's RBI single with two-out in the 10th off Nolan Ryan got San Diego by the Mets, who had taken a 4-3 lead on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly in the ninth only to have the Padres tie it 4-4 on Nate Colbert's leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth. Murrell followed with a single to knock out Tom Seaver for the first time since May 6.

Ed Spiezio socked a two-run homer to give San Diego a 3-2 tie in the seventh.
Bob Bailey drove in four runs with a homer and two-run double, Ron Fairly smacked a two-run homer and John Bateman cracked a two-run single as Montreal built up a 10-4 lead, but Los Angeles came back to win on an eight-run seventh inning. Big blows of the inning for the Dodgers were a grand slam homer by Ron Fairly and a solo shot by Von Joshua.
Chicago rode over Cincinnati as Jim Hickman hit a three-run homer and an RBI single. Billy Williams added a two-run homer for the Cubs.
Jim Bunning drove in two runs and got ninth-inning relief help from Dick Selma as Philadelphia beat San Francisco and ended a West Coast swing with seven victories against one loss.

Astros Outlast Cards, 13-9

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A seven-run outburst in the fourth inning put the Houston Astros ahead to stay as they outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals 13-9 Wednesday night.
Nelson Bries, first of five St. Louis pitchers and the loser, served up three straight walks behind a single by Cesar Cedeno at the start of the Astros' spurge.
Joe Morgan socked a two-run single which pulled the Astros into a 6-6 tie, and they scored three more times after Sal Campisi took over from Bries in the fourth.
The Cards jumped into a temporary 6-3 lead in the third inning, when Richie Allen posed a three-run homer and Jose Cardenas contributed one with a teammate on base.
Fred Gladding, fifth hurler of the evening for Houston, pitched scoreless relief the final two innings to gain credit for the save.

Rookies Help Dallas Win

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Aided defensively by two promising newcomers, Dallas Cowboy rookies have beaten San Diego Charger rookies in a game condition scrimmage.
The Cowboys won the contest 17-12 Wednesday at their training camp after Charlie Carroll from Norfolk State ran 67 yards with a fumble and linebacker Steve Kiner from Tennessee ran 23 yards with an intercepted pass.
Tom Rodgers from Baldwin-Wallace of Ohio booted a 32-yard field goal for the Cowboys.

Joe Kapp Is Asking Wad

By The Associated Press
The Minnesota Vikings have contract problems of their own in addition to the stalemated negotiations which are keeping all veteran players out of National Football League training camps.
Pro football's rookies, however, are getting a lot closer look from the coaching staffs of the various teams and this is one reason why many veteran players are working out together in sites near their respective training camps.
Minnesota's special contract problem concerns quarterback Joe Kapp, who led the Vikings to the 1969 NFL crown. The St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press reported Wednesday that Kapp is holding out for a $1.25-million contract for five years.
Jim Finks, Viking general manager, later issued a statement saying he was hopeful negotiations with Kapp and his lawyer, John Elliott Cook of San Francisco, "may be resumed and I have absolutely no reason to believe that such a resumption is impossible."
Kapp played out his option last season and became a free agent on May 1.
A group of New York Jets are working out at Adelphi University of Long Island, only a few miles from the regular camp at Hofstra University.
Among Jet veterans is cornerback Cornell Gordon, who said he kept reading about the team's No. 1 draft choice, Steve Tannen, and "how good he is, how he's going to take my job. So I thought I'd better be here and get in shape."
While expressing concern over the absence of his regulars, Los Angeles Rams' Coach George Allen called their absence "a break for the rookies. They'll get almost individual attention."
The Rams signed free agents Sam Adams, a guard from Prairie View, and Dan Kubelka, a defensive tackle from San Fernando State, to increase their rookie count to 39.

Grid Stalemate Looks Gloomy

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Days and possibly weeks apart" is how the owners of the 26 National Football League teams describe their stalemated and acrimonious negotiations with the striking NFL Players Association.

And, George Halas, the 75-year-old patriarch of the Chicago Bears and one of the NFL's organizers a half-century ago, says the owners "would be willing to do without pro football for one year to retain our management position."
John Mackey, NFLPA president, said, however, his group hopes "all NFL teams will be in camp by Saturday."

The owners agreed late Wednesday to accept federal mediation in the contract dispute but refused to go to Washington, D.C., after negotiations.
So, Baltimore, 30 miles from the nation's capital, is the site today for a scheduled 1 p.m. EDT, Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service meeting on what the owners say is an "impasse with no immediate solution."
FMC's first session on the dispute was held Wednesday night in Washington. Mackey and a dozen or so players showed up. The owners didn't and the NFLPA said the failure of the owners to appear was "typical of the type of ridiculous and costly delay that has prevailed throughout these negotiations."
The owners, who ended a two-day closed-door session in New York late Wednesday, said the NFLPA had promised a reply sometime this afternoon about a proposal to save the July 31 College All-Star Game at Chicago.

Halas and Lamar Hunt of the Kansas City Chiefs, presidents respectively of the NFL's National and American conferences, said the Kansas City camp "will be opened immediately" if the NFLPA directs Chiefs' veterans to report and play the College All-Star Game.
The contract disagreement primarily centers around increased payments into the player pension fund by the owners and it is said the two sides are $7.6-million apart on a projected four-year contract.

ARENYS DE MAR, Spain (AP) — Ake Hansson of Sweden won the Prince Bertil Trophy in the Optimistic Class world sailing competition Wednesday.

Merchants Reach 30-Game Mark

The Big Spring Merchants crossed the magic 30 wins mark Wednesday evening in a 13-2 softball victory over Forsan. Ward scattered eight hits so well that Forsan was never in contention.
During the season the Merchants have played 56 games, dropping 26 and winning 30. In Wednesday's game Burret got two hits, while Ward aided his own cause with three. Lenderman got but one hit but he scored four runs. D. Shaw and Barber each had a pair of hits for Forsan.

Keino Ignores Threat And Scores Brilliant Victory

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — The Commonwealth Games continued against a hint of melodrama today, with everyone in this excited city talking of Kip Keino, who won a gold medal with a death threat hanging over his head.
The threat to Keino, contained in anonymous letters and a telephone call, evidently worried him but did not stop him from winning the 1,500-meter gold medal in majestic cycle at Meadowbank Stadium Wednesday.
Nor did it stop him from planning his usual morning run today to the top of Arthur's Seat, the craggy hill that overlooks the stadium and the athlete's village. That is part of his preparation for the attack on the big double — the 5,000 and 1,500-meter races.
A police spokesman said that while the threat to Keino was possibly a hoax, it was being taken seriously.
The crowd of 30,000 was blissfully unaware of the backstage drama as they watched Keino win the 1,500-meters in a thrilling two-man duel with Dick Quax of New Zealand. The Kenyan finished in 3:36.6 and lowered his own Commonwealth Games record of 3:37.3. Queen Elizabeth II handed him his gold medal.

KIP KEINO

Keino now 30, said he intended to concentrate on the 5,000 meters in future, and might possibly complete in the 10,000. But he said he thought this would be his last Commonwealth Games.

Fire Advances On 'Whoopers'

CALGARY, Alta. (AP) — The adult birds are in the park, plus yearling young and an unknown number that have hatched this summer.

Nine fires were reported burning over about 20,000 acres in the park, which straddles the border between Alberta and the Northwest Territories. Five of the fires were reported out of control.

The flock of big white cranes in Wood Buffalo Park is the only band of the birds that exist in the wild. Another 21 whoopers are in captivity. The wild birds winter at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge along the Texas Gulf Coast.

The stately migratory bird whose trumpet-like call once rang across the skies of North America was threatened with extinction 30 years ago. From a low of 15 birds in 1941, the number has slowly increased under protection of the U.S. and Canadian governments.

Panel Eyeing Security Unit For Hospital

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A special committee which is eyeing the possibility of a new maximum security unit for the state's criminally insane toured two units of the Texas Department of Corrections Wednesday.

The panel Thursday was to inspect the Rusk State Hospital from which five patients escaped last weekend.

The group met with Dr. George Beto, director of the department, and then toured the diagnostic center and the Wynne Unit north of Huntsville.

Prison psychiatrists were questioned during the tour about the mental background of the average inmate.

Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown, chairman of the committee, said it is "our hope that our investigations will solve the problem of the criminally insane in Texas."

Others comprising the committee are Jim Reynolds, legislative council; John Frisch, legislative budget board official; state Rep. R. B. McAllister of Lubbock; Dr. J. C. Scholer, Houston psychiatrist; Dr. Robert B. Sheldon, a department of corrections psychiatrist, and Raymond Vowell, special assistant to the chancellor of the University of Texas at Austin.

Tower Thinks 'Good Looks' To Help Bush

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bush faces big money and powerful establishment Democrats in his fight for the Senate. Sen. John G. Tower says, but he thinks Bush's experience and good looks and the enthusiasm of his workers will make him victorious.

Tower, a Republican who won in 1961 and 1966 with the support of disenchanted Texas liberals, told reporters Wednesday that Bush has support of more of the liberal Democrats than he did at the same point in previous campaigns.

Bush, a Houston congressman, faces Lloyd Bentsen, a former congressman and an ally of former Gov. John Connally, stiff conservative powerhouse in Texas politics.

"I think the Bentsen bandwagon is an illusion," Tower said when told that Bentsen workers claim the Bush campaign is limping while Bentsen's is maintaining its momentum.

Tower said Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, the liberal Democrat beaten by Bentsen in the May primary, "failed to get out his maximum potential vote and Bentsen got out his. But I think that was his maximum vote and he even lost his home county."

Bush, on the other hand, will pick up many of the people who didn't vote in May as well as many of the people who voted for Bentsen, Tower contended.

"I think there is going to be a low turnout in Texas this fall," Tower said. "In the final analysis the enthusiasm quotient for Bush will be very important. It is much higher in the Bush ranks than in Bentsen's."

He also noted that Bush is good-looking and personable and has his own clique of fans dating back to earlier statewide races, whereas Bentsen is a stranger to most of the state.

Tower quipped that if a low-key campaigner such as he could win statewide, then an ebullient charmer such as Bush will do twice as well even though the registered voters are overwhelmingly Democratic. "If you can make a silk purse out of a sow's ear then you certainly can make one out of a sow's ear if you start with a silk sow," Tower said.

He said Bush doesn't need to change his conservative image nor edge more to the right of Bentsen.

COUPLED FOR FALL — These are two of the creations for both sexes that Jacques Esterel showed Monday in Paris for fall and winter 1970. At left the couple wears evening dresses made of peacock feathers worn over body stockings encrusted with gold and orange sequins. At right, bride and bridegroom models are "twinned" in flesh-colored body stockings under see-through white maxi dresses encrusted with gold and orange sequins.

Paris Designers Take Various Viewpoints

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — The House of Molyneux is three designers and visitors found various viewpoints at one fashion show Monday — understated on one hand and very much concerned with women's shape on the other.

John Tullis, one of Molyneux's threesome, presented a series of stripped down, no-gingerbread models. His partners — Mario Bianchetti and Hans Vermeulen of Holland — like showing off the body.

Bianchetti contrasts sheer and solid fabrics with see-through effects in lace or embroidery encrusted tops, but always within the limits of discretion. Straight topcoats in heavy tweeds or soft wools or tartans are conservative, distinguished by touches of frogging, patch pockets and fur trimming. A rose brick, a flame red, and a brown wool over white are effective for gray winter days.

Pants appear in a brown velvet "at home smoking suit" with a soft brown crepe blouse. But in suits or some costumes, the skirts are divided and from midlength pants-skirts. The shirt waist dresses follow the same technique, divided skirts and patch pockets.

In suit-jackets, the belt is slotted through the pocket flaps. The dress and jacket costume is generally preferred as against the tailored suit. The best suit is a black and white herringbone tweed with black top.

"Autumn-winter 1970 is a color trip," says Louis Feraud, who showed Monday afternoon at the Museum of Modern Art.

The trip began as mannequins in midcaul peasant dresses, turbans and bonnets with streamers tossed flowers to the audience. Basis of the collection was a daring mixture of bold violet, orange, fuchsia, cerulean blue, yellow and kelly green in combinations from stripes, dots, dashes and splashes to delicate pastel prints on silk jersey and voile for see-through evening dresses.

Feraud's sympathies lie with "the Russian soul." His synthetic black fur coats, trimmed in black vinyl, were topped off by fuzzy caps tying under the chin "for a greater sensation

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our regular minister left town and another one came to replace him. The replacement was 65 years old, and quite attractive.

My mother, a divorcee, was having personal problems, so I suggested she talk to the new minister. Well, his counseling went way beyond the call of duty and they had an affair which got all over town. His wife found out about it, and filed for divorce and left him. She's a lot younger than he is and I don't think she'll have much trouble finding someone else, but I am sick with guilt to think that I sent my mother to this hypocrite in the first place.

As soon as the whole town knew what happened, the minister "resigned" for "health reasons." Mother remarried again (for the third time) shortly after, but I know she is still seeing this minister. Should I continue to tell everyone there is nothing between them as I have been doing?

EMBARRASSED DAUGHTER

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Why switch churches? The "Lochner of the Pulpit" is no longer there. Don't discuss your mother's affair with anyone, and don't feel guilty for having sent her to him. You meant well, but you are not your mother's keeper, although from your letter, I think she needs one. P.S. Time will solve your problem. An unemployed minister is not about to hang around your town much longer.

DEAR ABBY: The son of a very dear friend of ours is being married soon. On the invitation was a request that instead of a wedding gift, they would like donations sent to the settlement house where the bride works!

We would prefer to send a nice wedding gift, but since they made a "request" for donations, we hate to go against their wishes. What would you do if you were us? UP A TREE

DEAR UP: I would send a "donation." It seems to be a very thoughtful and unselfish request.

DEAR ABBY: In reading Juliet's letter re probing questions, I thought of myself and my self-consciousness over a particularly ugly scar on my throat due to a tracheotomy.

For a long time I wore a pearl choker to cover the scar, but removed it one evening at my husband's insistence that I was being overly sensitive. That very evening, at a party, a total stranger came up to me and said, "Wow, that's some scar! Thyroid?"

I replied, "No, I had a very serious SOCIAL DISEASE." The shock on his face was replaced with embarrassment.

I added, "It's called foot when I added, "It's called foot-in-mouth disease. When are you going to have YOURS taken care of?" Sincerely,

May Have Seemed Like Eternity

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When actress Patty Duke was married for the second time June 24 she said, "We have no particular plans but to stay together forever." Her new husband, Michael Tell, chimed in, "For eternity."

Miss Duke, 23, announced through a spokesman Tuesday that she's divorcing Tell, 25, a Las Vegas promoter of rock music concerts.

The brunette actress won an Academy Award in 1962 for her portrayal of the young Helen Keller in the film "The Miracle Worker" and an Emmy last month for a television performance in "My Sweet Charlie."

Miss Duke was divorced March 3 from her first husband, television director Harry Falk, after a four-year marriage. It was Tell's first marriage.

Arthur Treacher Will Leave Merv

Big Z Is Finally Signed By Cowboys

BOSTON (AP) — Attorney Bob Woolf now can concentrate on his other clients—like Derek Sanderson and Ken Harrelson—now that the man with the golden shoe is in the fold.

Woolf, of Boston, recently negotiated for Zenon Andrusyszyn "a bonus and a multi-year contract" with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. "Everybody's happy," Woolf said, who started negotiating with the Cowboys in March. "It just took a little time, that's all." The Big Z, as Andrusyszyn conveniently is called, is a place kicker and punter who was drafted No. 9 by the Cowboys last year from UCLA. While playing for the Bruins, he kicked three 52-yard field goals.

Gov. Williams Charging Terrorism, Harassment

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. John Bell Williams called on Fayette police and Mayor Charles Evers Wednesday to "prevent or suppress... terrorism and harassment" in the Jefferson County city.

Williams took his action in a telegram to Evers following two disturbances in Fayette in recent days. The governor said that "reports have come to me from several sources of the acts of terrorism and harassment in your city. Investigations reflect that citizens in Fayette have been and are being subjected by certain groups to threats and limitations in the free exercise of the rights and privileges secured to them by law."

The governor said that acts by such groups there "resulted in damage or injury to property and person. These acts of intimidation have apparently occurred with the full knowledge thereof by the Fayette police."

"Reports indicate that the present situation in Fayette is tense and critical," the governor said. "I await your immediate reply, advising me of the action taken or to be taken by the Fayette officials to prevent or suppress these reported acts, conduct and offenses."

after a young civil rights activist was charged with assault in an affidavit filed by a 71-year-old Fayette man. Joe Straas charged Joe McBride, about 25, with knocking him down while he was sitting on the front porch of his home Tuesday. Straas' small grocery has been on a Negro boycott list since 1963.

Authorities identified McBride as one of some 65 young Negroes who surrounded the office of the town's weekly newspaper, the Fayette Chronicle and threatened the editor, Mrs. Jimmy Walker.

"MINE" COOKIES — are what Mrs. Donald Carlisle's three-year-old son calls his favorite chocolate chip cookies. Mrs. Carlisle usually keeps his cookie jar filled.

Busy Mother Will Commute To College

By MARILYN NEVELS

Mrs. Donald Carlisle, young housewife and mother of two boys, would never consider herself a "self-improvement" enthusiast, but she does find herself enrolled in college again and active in a TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) club.

"I belong to the TOPS Pound Rebels which meet every Tuesday," said Mrs. Carlisle, who is the club secretary. "Without TOPS I'm afraid I would gain weight. We are weighed each week, which discourages us from gaining, and there are several contests which are good incentives for losing."

Just keeping up with her busy schedule, helps keep Mrs. Carlisle's weight steady. She completed her studies at Howard County Junior College last December. However, she formally graduated in May. "Graduation was on a Friday and I had Ricky on Monday," she said.

The Carlises' other son, Robbie, is three-years-old. This fall Mrs. Carlisle is planning to begin studies at Angelo State University.

"When I started at HCJC, I thought I would take a class or two," Mrs. Carlisle recalled. "Then pretty soon I was taking a full load and going all year to catch up. The past two years have gone faster than I thought they would. Now, I plan to get a degree in elementary education. I don't think I would have made it without my husband behind me. He has just gotten me through two years of school and is already talking about a master's degree."

VACATIONING

After studying the year 'round, Mrs. Carlisle is enjoying her summer vacation.

"This summer is giving me a chance to catch up on things," she said. "I tell Don that I'm keeping busy enough at home, I don't know what commuting to San Angelo will be like, but I'll be in a car pool, which will make it easier."

The Carlises have lived at 3007 Cactus the past four years after five years in the Air Force. Mrs. Carlisle had lived in Big Spring since her high school days. They met when Carlisle's parents were stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

"I enjoyed the traveling in the Air Force, but I'm happy to have my feet back on the ground permanently here," Mrs. Carlisle commented. While her husband was stationed in Okinawa she visited him for three months as a tourist. While there, she had some interesting experiences with Oriental customs and foods.

"We went by train and boat to see Japan," she related. "The people would offer us some of their food or buy us rice beer to be friendly. It was all I could do to choke down their raw fish and seaweed soup. Don had to drink my beer for me. He would switch our cups, to make it look as if I was drinking mine."

GARDENING

Now that they have a permanent home, Mrs. Carlisle has a garden.

"I really enjoy produce out of the garden and when we can get enough, I can and freeze," she said. "Last year my mother and I put up a truck load of corn, and four to six bushels of peas. I don't know if we'll be able to get that much this year. Our garden produces only enough for our every day use. Both Don and I work in it, then my daddy comes over and says 'how can you have a garden like that?' He spent the whole morning cultivating it, and now, the water soaks in real well. We have squash, tomatoes, cucumbers, onions, okra, green beans, beets, blackeyed peas, cabbage and three kinds of lettuce."

"I don't hesitate to try new recipes with Don; he likes everything. We cook out in the summer and have lots of salads, potato or macaroni salads and tossed salads with everything I can get my hands on. Robbie and I love to have a salad for lunch. I use the three kinds of lettuce, red cabbage, green peppers, cucumbers, green onions and tomatoes, topped with crisp bacon and grated cheese."

Although Mrs. Carlisle does not always prepare low calorie meals, she does have a number of tasty recipes to offer.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

DOES YOUR HOME HAVE A FRIENDLY ATMOSPHERE?

One of the most important things for any home or apartment to have is a "friendly atmosphere."

But what can you do when you're decorating a room to help it have that friendly atmosphere? Here are some ideas.

The seating pieces — sofa and chairs — should be arranged or grouped to invite relaxed conversation. Make sure your room is not too drab. Add a little color here and there and make it cheerful.

Little things such as colorful and serviceable ash trays are a help. Make sure your lamps furnish proper lighting aside from being decorative.

Shop for chairs that look inviting to sit in. Make sure you have some coffee and other tables that don't look too frail and unusable. Make sure there are table tops or other surfaces which can be used by guests without fear of causing damage.

It's an old custom to say "Make yourself at home" when your friends visit you, and if your home is decorated in a "friendly" way, you will help create that magic friendly atmosphere.

Speaking of friendly atmosphere — that's just what you'll find at our store. Our salespeople are friendly and helpful and you're free to come in and browse around to your heart's content with no pressure or obligation. Come on in and see for yourself.

10 double saltine crackers
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. dried dill weed
1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
3 tps. minced onion
3 tps. minced celery
2 tps. minced parsley
1 tsp. chopped capers
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 whole fish, about 3 pounds, prepared for baking (red snapper, sea bass or sea trout)

Add 1/4 cup butter and mix well. Stuff cavity of fish with mixture and close with small lacing skewers and cotton cord, or sew with coarse thread.

Place in shallow baking pan brushed on the bottom with some of the remaining butter. Brush fish all over with rest of butter. Pour about 1/4 cup hot water around fish in pan.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for about one hour, or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Baste several times with the pan liquids. Serve with lemon wedges. Yield: Four to five servings.

Arab Hijackers Gain Promise Of Freedom

ATHENS (AP) — The Arab hijacking of a Greek airliner ended with the arrival of the hijackers in Cairo, the safe return of the plane and its crew to Athens early today, and a promise of freedom for seven Arab terrorists held in Greece.

The hijackers, five men and a girl, released the plane's 47 other passengers and one of its eight crew members after the Greek government agreed to free two Arabs accused of bombing an Israeli airline office in Athens and five others serving terms of two to 17 years for two attacks on Israeli airliners at the Athens airport.

'BOMBERS' TRIAL
Authorities said the seven would be turned over to the International Red Cross one month after the two charged in the airline office bombing last November stand trial. The trial is scheduled to open Friday, and the two men are charged with murder, a Greek child having been fatally injured.

The hijackers commandeered the Olympic Airways Boeing 727 shortly after it took off from Beirut on a flight to Athens and Rome. After it landed at Athens, the Arabs rebuffed a number of offers, including one by the airline's owner, Aristotle Onassis, to become their hostage in return for the passengers' freedom.

Onassis also offered them an undisclosed sum of money, but the hijackers insisted on freedom for the seven Arab prisoners. The government finally agreed to the demand.

LEFTISTS
The plane flew to Cairo with the hijackers, seven crew members and an International Red Cross representative aboard as a hostage for the arrival in Egypt. The hijackers were met by Egyptian officials and driven away on a bus, and the plane returned to Athens. The Red Cross representative remained in Cairo.

The Popular Struggle Front, a small leftist organization of Palestinian guerrillas, announced in Damascus that it was responsible for the hijacking. The two Arabs who go on trial Friday are members of the Front.

DEVICE GOOFS
An electronic device was installed at Beirut airport two weeks ago to detect passengers carrying metallic objects, but the device was not functioning Wednesday due to technical trouble, an official of the airport said.

While the plane sat on the runway at Athens, the ambassadors from Egypt and Jordan argued with the hijackers by radio. Onassis rushed to Athens from his private island, Scorpis, where he was vacationing with his wife, the former Jacqueline Kennedy, and joined in the negotiations.

Five hundred policemen and soldiers with armored cars and machine guns stood by 500 yards from the plane but out of the passengers' sight.

DEGRADING
Israeli newspapers denounced the Greek government for capitulating to the hijackers. "Greece has not excelled lately in courage and self-respect where the Arab states are concerned," said the semi-official Davar. "We can only wait and see if the Greek rulers are capable of degrading themselves to the extent of releasing detainees accused of murdering a Greek child."

Another Tel Aviv daily, Haaretz, said in an editorial that if terrorist acts had been committed against the Greek military regime, "the huge police machinery at the disposal of the colonels would have shown more efficiency."

Black Panther Decisions Due

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Supreme Court says it will act by Aug. 27 on two matters involving the imprisonment of Black Panther co-founder Huey P. Newton.

The court announced Wednesday it will decide on Newton's petition for release on bail pending a new trial on the slaying of Oakland policeman John Frey, and rule on the state's appeal of a District Court of Appeal decision voiding his voluntary manslaughter conviction.

Becky Sparks Warnings, Possible Flash Floods

ATLANTA (AP) — The remnants of tropical storm Becky moved slowly northward today, bringing warnings from the Weather Bureau of possible flash floods in the Appalachian area.

Becky, who once roamed the Gulf of Mexico as a minimal hurricane with winds of 75 miles per hour, lost her punch early Wednesday before reaching the northwest Florida coast. The storm dumped more than eight inches of rain on Tallahassee, Fla., during a 24-hour period and gave several other southern cities a good drenching during the day.

The storm, now only a small low pressure area, moved west of the Appalachians early today and the Washington Weather Bureau issued flash flood watches for portions of north Georgia, the western Carolinas, southeastern West Virginia and southwestern Virginia. The bureau said these areas could expect locally heavy rains. Becky's winds had dropped to around 15 to 25 m.p.h. north of the center, but locally gusty winds have occurred in thunderstorms to the east of the center.

The bureau warned that, depending on Becky's movement, the flash flood watches may have to be extended northward today. The storm touched off tornadoes in Georgia near Swainsboro and Folkston and in Macon-Augusta area. Mrs. Thelma Lamb was seriously injured

Wednesday when a twister overturned her house near Swainsboro, the Georgia State Patrol said.

Becky drenched an area near West Palm Beach, Fla., with three inches of rain in one hour. Augusta, Ga., was hit with 2.89 inches during a 12-hour period, and during a six-hour period, Chattanooga, Tenn., received 1.70 inches. Mobile, Ala., 1.40 inches and Muscle Shoals, Ala., 1.15 inches. Charlotte, N.C., received an inch and Atlanta 1.16 inches during a 24-hour period.

Hurricane Taming Job Gains Steam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists are stepping up their effort to take the sting out of killer hurricanes through the use of chemicals.

Known as "Project Stormfury," the plan calls for massive and repeated "seeding" of hurricanes with silver iodide which is dropped into storm clouds from airplanes.

"From now through Oct. 31 Stormfury scientists, planes and flight crews will be on a 48-hour alert for hurricane seeding," said the Commerce Department and the Navy in announcing the project Wednesday.

Experiments will be conducted on storms when the probability is 10 per cent or less that the hurricane will come within 50 miles of populated area within a given time. Because seeding is still an unexact science, officials want to determine what effect the process will have before the storm reaches land.

Scientists carried out seeding programs during the 1961, 1963 and 1969 hurricane seasons but this year's activity will be more concentrated.

Most encouraging last year, the scientists say, was the seeding of Hurricane Debbie at various times on Aug. 18 and 20. This was the first time a storm was seeded more than once a day. Significant decreases in wind speeds were noted after seeding on both days.

Weathermen say the major goal this season is to repeat the 1969 tests with the hope of confirming the Debbie results.

Lois Walker, Nancy Cox and Larry Cox

Grace Baptist Youth Revival In Progress

A Youth Revival is in session through Sunday at Grace Baptist Church, 2000 W. FM 700, according to the Rev. Roy E. Honea.

The Rev. Charles Harper, San Antonio, is conducting services. The Rev. Harper is the pastor of Harmony Hills Baptist Church, San Antonio, and the former associate pastor and youth director of Grace Baptist Church.

The Youth Revival is being held in conjunction with the departure of a Grace Baptist Church youth group Monday for a week at the "Pot-O-Gold Youth Camp." Comfort.

"The Gospel Three," a trio from Tarleton State College, will be featured Friday and Saturday nights and all day Sunday in addition to special music from local groups.

The trio is composed of Larry Cox, Tarleton junior, his sister Nancy, freshman, and Lois Walker, sophomore. Cox is the pianist for the trio.

The Rev. Honea, on behalf of the church's young people, invites everyone to attend the five-day revival.

Lions Hear Report On Convention

The inspiring spectacle of a Lions International convention was described to the Downtown Lions Club at the Settles Wednesday by Tom Henry, the club's delegate to Atlantic City.

Emphasis of the convention, he said, was upon youth and upon the need for unity among mankind.

On his return, he said he was depressed in Washington, D.C., at the antics of a comparative handful of young people who romped in the reflecting pool and shouted obscenities at the morning service conducted at the Lincoln Memorial by the Rev. Billy Graham, the noted evangelist.

That evening, prior to the Honor America Day program which attracted several hundred thousand, bands of these unkept people sought to disrupt preparations by such actions as blocking streets, raiding concession stands, stealing soft drink syrup and squirting it at random.

Clyde McMahon, Jr., past president, inducted Huert Harris as a new member of the Downtown Lions Club, calling attention to the club's emphasis on providing glasses for people, largely youngsters, who can't afford them; also in supporting the crippled children's camp.

China Grove Man New Ag Teacher

Hollis C. Mize Jr., grandson of Mrs. Eugenia Clark, Big Spring, has been named vocational agriculture instructor for Socorro Independent School District.

Mize, a May graduate of Texas Tech with a bachelor of science degree in agricultural education, joins Kenneth Beasley, formerly of Colorado City, in the vocational agriculture department.

While at Tech Mize was a member of the collegiate chapter of the Future Farmers of America and the rodeo association. He was named to the Dean's List with a 3.3 average for the spring semester.

Mrs. Mize is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Hall, China Grove. She is a senior majoring in business administration at Tech. Mize is the son of the late Hollis C. Mize, China Grove, and Mrs. Joe Bond, Maryneal.

Beauty Contest Is Scheduled

Contestants are being sought for the Miss Big Spring Raceway Inc. contest Aug. 1, according to Mrs. George McGann.

The contest will only include a swim suit category and will take place during intermission of the races at 9 p.m. Aug. 1, Mrs. McGann said.

"The contest is for all single girls from 15 to 25," Mrs. McGann said. No entry fee will be charged, and the girls will be given gifts ranging from a diamond watch to a six weeks modeling course to a steak dinner for two, all donated by local merchants.

The contest will have only one rehearsal, at 7:45 p.m. the same day as the contest, Mrs. McGann said. Entry blanks can be obtained from Mrs. McGann, 2700 Apache (phone 263-1181), or from KBST Radio.

The raceway is located at the old Sahara Drive-In on IS 20 West.

BANK DOOR OPENED AS HE LEANED ON IT Check This Czech's Story

HOUSTON (AP)—Rudolf Profus, who was imprisoned in Czechoslovakia for pushing an Army officer, is trying to avoid the same fate in Houston for pushing a bank door.

Profus, 27, charged by the FBI with entering the bank with intent to steal, is also fighting to keep his record clean so he can become a Canadian citizen.

In the second day of his trial here, he testified through an interpreter Wednesday that he did not know the Texas Commerce Bank was a bank when, drunk and tired after a night on the town, he leaned on the revolving door and it revolved, letting him in at about 2:30 a.m. Sunday, May 17.

BIT SLEEPY

Profus has been in jail or in court since then.

A fellow Czech refugee, Karel Siner, 47, was a surprise witness Wednesday, testifying that banks in his homeland look like fortresses, with iron bars on doors and chains at night, and all windows barred.

The defense has contended that the bank reminded Profus of an all-night library in Prague, his hometown, and Profus' only reason for entering was the prospect of taking a nap. Instead he was arrested at gunpoint by a bank guard.

Siner, who left Czechoslovakia in 1949 at the time of the Russian occupation and has since become a real estate manager in Houston, said he volunteered his testimony "to help justice" when he heard of his countryman's plight.

RED OPPRESSION

Profus and his younger brother, Peter Prinz, also now a Canadian resident, told the jury of hardship and oppression under the Russians.

They testified that Profus ran afoul of an Army officer in a dispute that ended with Profus pushing the officer into a lime pit and then serving two years in a Czech Army disciplinary barracks.

He got into more trouble with the authorities when, in the August, 1968, Russian occupation to crush the Dubcek regime, he used his truck, painted with anti-Russian slogans, to transport demonstrators, according to the testimony.

And a tattoo saying "U.S. Army" on his wrist also irritated authorities. It was in 1968 that he fled his homeland for Canada, where he now lives at Kitimat, B.C.

Other testimony brought out that the revolving door was not damaged. Houston policeman A. G. Christal testified the revolving door could be pushed open by hand or shoulder pressure.

DID NOT RESIST

Profus did not resist the bank guard. Police say nothing was taken from the bank or damaged there.

Profus had temporary employment in Houston as an electrician. The bank incident ended a hitch-hiking vacation he was taking in the Western United States.

Profus testified he is afraid a felony conviction would mean his deportation from Canada. "I have nowhere to go," he told the jury.

The defense, headed by former U.S. Attorney Morton Susman and former legislator Zeke Zbrank of Liberty, Tex., attacked the testimony of the bank guard, former Beaumont policeman Raymond Bryars.

Bryars had testified Tuesday that he resigned from the force in Beaumont to open a cafe and lounge there.

The defense presented Clyde C. Rush, assistant police chief in Beaumont, who said Bryars had been indefinitely suspended from the force and was given a chance to resign while not in good standing, which he did.

Three Perish In Collision

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Three persons died and three others were injured, one critically, Wednesday in a head-on car-truck collision 12 miles west of here on Texas 21.

Killed were A. J. Anderson, 55, and Charlie Baldwin, 79, both of Bryan; and Robert Loewe, 52, of Carmine, the driver of the truck.

Rhonda Oliver, 2, also of Bryan, was taken to John Sealy Hospital in Beaumont in critical condition. Wanda Jean Oliver, 12, of Bryan was listed in fair condition at a Bryan hospital. Ida Oliver, 34, was treated and released.

Pole Bang Fatal

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Morris E. Jackson, 53, of Edinburg was killed late Wednesday night when his pickup ran under the trailer attached to a heavy truck and hit a utility pole. Officers said the large vehicle was making a U-turn in an intersection 5 mile north of here on U.S. 81.

Bentsen Blames 'Politics' For Criticism At Hearing

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Senate candidate Lloyd Bentsen says "politics" was behind criticism leveled at him during hearings in Washington on problems of migrant farm workers.

The Houston Democrat said it was "pretty apparent, the way it was said," that testimony criticizing him before a Senate committee was intended to hurt his campaign.

Bentsen told a news conference Wednesday that answers to migrant problems include more industry, better education and vocational training in the areas where migrants live.

Most Texas migrants are Mexican-American and most live in the Rio Grande Valley.

Asked if he introduced any legislation on migrant labor while a congressman in the late 1940s and early 1950s, Bentsen replied: "I don't recall introducing any such legislation when I was in Congress."

In response to another question, Bentsen said his opponent, Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., "has been in Congress for awhile," and "I don't know of any legislation he has introduced to try to correct the problem."

Criticism linking Bentsen with migrant problems was aired in Washington Tuesday before the Senate Migratory Labor subcommittee.

LOW PAY

Roger Dunwell, a lawyer who worked with the United Farm Workers organizing committee in the Texas Valley, said politicians such as Bentsen have long held dominant control over the affairs of some of the counties where the poorest migrant workers live.

"Though less so today, the town of Mission has long been a kind of Bentsen patrimony, ruled by the Bentsens for the privileged Anglo minority," Dunwell said.

Bentsen referred most questions on the issue at Wednesday's news conference here to a statement he released shortly after Dunwell testified.

In the statement, Bentsen de-

Mercury Found In Fish Organs

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Only a normal of mercury has been found in vital organs of fish taken from the Neches River, a Lamar Tech chemistry professor reports.

Dr. E. A. Eads, consultant for Jefferson County, said organs from three fish contained five parts of mercury per billion parts of non-mercury.

"That should be considered a normal amount," he said, "because everything—soil, water, air—contains a certain amount of mercury."

Eads said he will continue his experiments and the next step will be analysis of silt, particularly in areas where certain industrial plants discharge waste.

Veep Leads Guarded Life In Travel, 'Hot' Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew leads a guarded life. Between carefully rationed public appearances, most of his time is spent in a windowless Air Force transport plane or in closely guarded hotel rooms.

Outwardly assured but with an almost diffident manner, the vice president is keenly aware of his role in the Nixon administration and of this ability to command a prominent place in the news media he often castigates.

LIKE JELLO

"I'm the hard political guy you can't be like Jello," he observed during an overnight trip last week to speak at an education meeting in Denver.

At another point he observed, not altogether in jest, "I haven't said anything controversial all week."

Traveling with the vice President shows one two sides of the man. The public — a blunt-speaking champion of Middle American virtues and beliefs. The private — an introspective man deeply concerned with the problems of government and the public image he was acquired.

In recent weeks, Agnew has made a conscious attempt to repair what he feels is a mistaken image, magnified by the media, of a stumbling buffoon who often says the wrong thing. It's something that has haunted him since the 1968 presidential campaign and his often-quoted remarks about "Polacks" and a "Fat Jap" and "if you've seen one city slum, you've seen them all."

He has met privately with representatives of various segments of the media — including those critical of him — and likes to have a small number accompany him on his flying trips in hopes they will see him as a thoughtful student of government and of the nation's problems, rather than as the bluntpoken administration spokesman.

He feels that much of the criticism, from political foes and the press, has been unfair. But he appears to have difficulty coming to grips with the notion that a comment, such as the one about the slums, might be damaging even if literally accurate.

He feels that nothing he has said has had anything to do with contributing to campus unrest which he sees as the result of permissiveness and lack of discipline by the colleges and universities.

Yet he concedes he can not go safely to any college campus in the country — except possibly in a carefully controlled situation.

But Agnew appears to be becoming less sensitive to criticism — even to the point of acknowledging in private that a phrase in a recent speech might have been too strong — and he says anyone in public life must expect some harsh response to his views.

AGNEW'S VIEWS

Agnew's views remain, as before, strongly in tune with those of President Nixon: belief in the success of the administration's efforts in Southeast Asia to extricate the United States from Vietnam while upholding U. S. commitments; a hard — line view that Soviet arms advances must be matched if there is to be any hope of arms control; a conviction that Nixon has reversed the nation's priorities to put more emphasis on domestic social problems, rather than defense.

Though he came to the vice presidency from two years as governor of Maryland and without prior Washington experience, Agnew feels he is as equipped as anyone to handle the job, and appears supremely confident of his ability to handle anything that might come along.

A political practitioner of what might be called the art of nonpolitics, Agnew shuns the company of the usual sort of political associates, both in his travels and at his destination.

This contributes to a sense of insulation one feels while traveling with Agnew, a sense that goes beyond that which has come to be associated with the presidency and vice presidency in recent years.

$5 MILLION PROFIT

Thus, traveling to Denver in the Air Force transport assigned him — he doesn't mind its lack of window—Agnew was accompanied by a speechwriter, a researcher, two secretaries, four reporters, more than a dozen Secret Service agents and two regular traveling companions — they were Dr. William Voss, his personal physician, and Roy Goodearle, who functions as a combination political aide, tour manager and press secretary.

The trip was, aides said, typical of his domestic travels, many of which have been for the political speeches that have grossed some $5 million so far this year.

RAPID RISE

"I haven't gotten a penny of it," Agnew likes to say with a smile.

Unazed by his rapid rise in a decade from PTA president to the nation's No. 2 job, Agnew views the future with equanimity.

"I've been in politics long enough to know that it is a very transitory occupation," he said. "If it all should end, we went on, there is always the law — or even, perhaps, a new career in television commentery or newspaper columning."

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The 22-year marriage of country and Western musician Hank Thompson and Dorothy Thompson has ended in divorce with provision that he pay $144,000 in alimony during the next 12 years.

A Devotion For Today . . .

The rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not; for it was founded upon a rock. (Matthew 7:25)

PRAYER: O God, in gratitude we thank Thee for Christ, the firm rock to build on. Amid the dangers and perplexities of this life, strengthen us that our faith fail not. In the name of the Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Family Planning

There seems to be an abiding tendency in the human being to deal with symptoms of social problems rather than their causes. And in recent years in this nation there have been symptoms of social ills aplenty.

Many Americans have become acutely aware of inequities within our socio-economic system and, more importantly, have increasingly refused to sit by placidly and hope for better times. The militant factions pose a continuing threat to the system they oppose. But their arguments rarely produce substantive solutions.

Unemployment continues upward — nobody knows for how long or whether the Nixon administration's economic strategy will succeed in reversing the trend.

The environment bends more and more under the weight of a careless populace which refuses to recognize danger until it materializes in the front yard.

There are many factors which have contributed to these dilemmas — and a proliferation of symptoms which under casual investigation may seem to be causes. But one of the major agents of socio-economic deprivation, of unemployment (and its tragic consequences) and of the increasing strain on our environment is overpopulation.

Prophets of doom warn darkly that our planet soon will shrivel and die if the population explosion is not contained.

Overpopulation, considering the resourceful and resilient nature of man, may never bring the Apocalypse. But it nevertheless will continue to plague mankind in less terminal (though no less individually tragic) ways.

The U. S. Senate, on a voice vote and without dissent or debate, recently moved a step closer to tackling this persistent and increasingly serious threat when it passed and sent to the House a bill which ultimately would bring family planning services to all American women who cannot afford them now. This measure would authorize $991.2 million for a five-year program of research on and implementation of population control methods. It would provide for counseling, instruction and prescriptions for birth control pills and other means of contraception — on a purely voluntary basis.

The phase "voluntary basis" is essential to any legislation of this nature. We hope that our government will never be required to dictate family sizes or otherwise arbitrarily control family planning. But it should be allowed to educate us and to make population control methods available to all.

NO FAIRY TALE

John Cunniff Wayward Economy Outlook

NEW YORK (AP) — This wayward economy might begin to straighten itself out quickly if ordinary Americans shared the Nixon administration's interpretation of current events.

In recent days the President and his aides have begun talking it up, assuring the citizenry that the worst has been reached and past, and that now we may raise our sights and concentrate our efforts on the new expansion.

The most encouraging interpretations are being put on some pretty discouraging facts: —Prices are 6 per cent higher than a year ago, but we are reminded that they rose at only a 4.8 per cent annual rate in June.

—Unemployment continues to rise, perhaps to 5 per cent, but we are told this is as much from expansion in the number of available workers as it is from layoffs.

Interest rates should start declining, we are told, but the fact is they are at century-high levels. Mortgage rates, too, may have reached their peak, it is said, but that peak is still Everest-like for prospective home buyers.

The economy has, by many measures, reached a very depressed state. But why look down when the sky is above? We are told, therefore, that the economy "has bottomed out," that we "will definitely see the economy turning up."

Perhaps this outlook really isn't a subjective interpretation made by men who must prove their policies are working. Maybe this is really the way things are. Could this really be the watershed?

A lot of consumers don't think so. Polls show them in a saving rather than a spending mood, pessimistic about the general outlook and concerned about their investments, their jobs, their ability to cope with inflationary recession.

But studies of consumer behavior in recent years, mainly by Dr. George Katona of the University of Michigan, have demonstrated that the consumer may have the ability to buy but not the desire to buy.

In other words, depending upon many factors, he may stuff his mattress with dollars or he may spend them. He may even be willing, if he feels the future is bright, to buy when he doesn't have money, to borrow on his future.

What determines his willingness? So many factors that all cannot be listed. But among the major ones are his job security, his earnings outlook, his confidence in economic policy, the state of the war.

Hal Boyle Popularity Pains

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't much fun being popular.

The trouble with being popular is that the more popular you become the less you trust yourself—and the less people really think of you.

At one time the desire to be popular was part of the American dream. Everyone not only wanted to be rich — he also wanted to be well-liked.

It turned out, however, that this mass attempt at popularity was self-defeating.

For one thing, it was too easy. To be popular with another person all you have to do is smile at the right time when he tells a joke, always give him good news, have a lower income, a smaller car, and a homelier wife than he has, reach in your pocket when he wants to borrow money, and never interrupt him with laughter while he is giving his opinion about anything.

While everybody knows what to do to become popular, few know anymore what to do to become unpopular. You have to learn how to say or do the wrong thing at the right time.

For example, here are a few remarks guaranteed to make you memorably disliked and therefore interestingly unpopular:

"No, it's not your turn. I was here first."

"These are nice snapshots of your children. Have any of them graduated from reform school yet?"

"Well, it's nice that you took off the 30 pounds, but personally I thought you looked healthier when you didn't have that gaunt look."

"Let's have lunch together sometime when you're back on an expense account."

"For you to get a merit raise, two things will have to happen that haven't happened yet—this firm will have to start making some money, and you'll have to start showing some merit."

"It's not a bad painting for a beginner. Did you do it with your left or your right hand?"

"Of course, if you feel better that's the main thing, but frankly I don't know anyone who's going to that psychiatrist this year."

"We thought we could stay with you only a couple of days, but we're having so much fun I guess we'll get to put up with us for the rest of the week."

Dangerous Driving

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The day is coming when operation of autos under the influence of narcotics will be a problem similar to drunken driving, says a traffic court judge.

Judge Kyle T. Hubbard says blood tests soon will be required to ascertain whether a driver has taken drugs. He says the current practice of testing only the breath of a suspect is ineffective because it doesn't detect the presence of narcotics.

"To be honest with you, alcohol is right in there with the other drugs as a problem," the judge said. He called driving under the influence of alcohol "the main contact I have with drug abuse."

Around The Rim They're Taking The Fun Out Of It

Big Spring opened its second sanitary land fill Monday, and while officials seem very happy with the idea, I am worried about the younger generation.

NOW I'M NOT criticizing the land fill, it all seems very nice and neat, and supposedly its even good land. But what are the children going to do on Sunday afternoons.

I remember when I was very little, it seems as though every Sunday afternoon there was a load of trash to take to the dump grounds.

We discovered there were all kinds of treasures to be had just for the taking at the dump. I remember once I found a three-wheeled doll buggy. It undoubtedly jolted a little, but it served the doll just fine as long as we didn't take any long trips.

MY BROTHER'S first go-cart, if memory serves me correctly, came piece by piece, from the dump ground. Also easily available were all kinds, shapes and sizes of bottles. True, some of them had the bottoms knocked out and the necks broken, but nevertheless they were interesting.

A trip to the dump ground was an educational trip. Where else could you look inside mattresses and old air conditioners? Once we even found a box of magazines that looked interesting — but Dad got a look at the cover of one as we started looking in the box, and he quickly confiscated the treasure trove.

THE DUMP also did its bit toward filling the then-unknown generation gap. I sensed that my dad loved to go to the dump ground almost as much as we children. You could always depend on him to back you up when you tried to explain to Mom just exactly what you were going to do with that old tire rim.

Junk seems to be something that fathers just naturally understand, and a lasting tie was created between many a father and child during a visit to the dump.

EVEN IF THE worst happened and all you could find was your own trash dumped there the week before, the dump was a perfect battleground for cowboy-and-Indian maneuvers and war games.

And on the way home, we could never always count on Dad for a soft drink or ice cream cone.

Mom could never understand the attraction of the dump. We always came back with practically as much as we took, and after a while she learned to have the bathtub filled with hot, soapy water when her strange husband came home with his dirty, bedraggled children.

SOMEHOW, I just can't imagine growing up without a nearby dump yard. I wonder if the city officials realize what they're doing to today's youth. —JEAN FANNIN

Art Buchwald The Departed Loved Ones

WASHINGTON — This is a government of reports and studies. No matter what happens in this nation, the first solution is to appoint a commission to study it. The commissions take one year, two years, some even longer, and then they make their report to the President. If the President agrees with the report, it's released to the nation. If he or his staff disagrees with it, it's buried.

Just by chance I discovered the secret burial grounds of reports and studies made by presidential commissions. The cemetery is located on a hill overlooking the upper Potomac. It is quiet and deserted, and only the chirping of birds or the call of a hoot owl can be heard.

MR. GOTTFRIED SNELLENBACH has been caretaker of the burial area for government reports since the Harding Administration, and after I assured him I would not dig up any of the graves, he let me enter the large well-kept grounds.

"We've got some of the great reports of all times buried here," Mr. Snellenbach said. "We've got reports that cost $20 million, and we've got the end they all wind up here, buried six-feet under."

"Sir, what kind of reports are resting here?"

"IT MIGHT BE BETTER to ask what kind of reports aren't buried here. We have reports on violence, studies on blacks, students, unemployment, the economy, the Communist threat, housing, health care, law and order. You name it, and we've buried it."

"How does a report find its final resting spot in this setting?"

"Well as you know, the President is always appointing a commission to study something or other, and after the study they're supposed to hand in a report. Now, lots of time the President has no intention of paying any attention to the report, and it's dead before it's even written. Other times someone on the President's staff reads a report handed in by a commission and says "This stuff is dynamite. We have to kill it."

"IN SOME CASES the President says 'Let's release this report to the press and then bury it.' Occasionally a report will just die of heartbreak because nobody pays any attention to it.

"In any case, after the report is dead, it has to be buried, because if you're President you don't want someone finding it at a later date and using it against you.

"SO EVERY WEEK each report that has died is placed in a pine box" and loaded on a government hearse and brought up here, where we have a simple ceremony before lowering it into the ground."

"Mr. Snellenbach, this is a beautiful cemetery and very impressive. But why does the government go to so much trouble and expense to keep it up for nothing more than paper reports?"

"YOU MUST UNDERSTAND that most of the men asked to serve on presidential commissions are very important citizens. They spend months and years working on these reports, and they feel very close to them. When their reports are killed or buried, these men feel a personal loss. Many days you will see them sitting here next to the tombstones of their studies, tears rolling down their cheeks. No matter how long you work here, it still gets to you."

Andrew Tully The 'Campus Unrest'

WASHINGTON — Now is the best time to say something about the public hearings of the President's Campus Unrest Commission because the jazz they're producing threatens to become tiresome. I'll back up that statement by offering 10 to 1 the commission will find that everybody is to blame but the rioting, fire-loving students.

INDEED, we already have that on the word of such expert statement as Sen. Teddy Kennedy, President Robert Fleming, of the University of Michigan, and Charles F. Palmer, president of the National Student Association. All three have told the nine-member commission headed by former Republican governor of Pennsylvania William Scranton that students will start behaving themselves once the war in Vietnam is ended.

THE TEDIOSUS hogwash is really pouring out of those hearings. For example, how about this from Teddy Kennedy: "The most destructive campus violence has not been student violence. It has been official violence."

Kennedy was referring to the deaths of four students at Kent State University and two at Jackson State College last May.

As is his wont in discussing such matters, Kennedy suffered from an attack of oversight. He failed to mention the official finding that 40 lives were lost and $21 million in damage caused by nearly 5,000 bombings across the country between Jan. 1, 1969, and mid-April of this year.

BUT OF COURSE those who died in the bombings were ordinary people, not college students. The implication seems to be that those 40 people are not quite as dead as the six students shot at Kent State and Jackson State.

As for the war issue, I must agree with the testimony of Sen. Hugh Scott, Senate Republican leader, even while acknowledging that he did not arrive at the hearings to attack his own administration. "It is more fashionable than reasonable," said Scott, "to attribute student discontent to the war."

I WISH those eggheads who run our colleges would hire a clutch of psychiatrists to shrink some student heads. They could look into the suggestion of President S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State College that the biggest cause of campus unrest is utter boredom.

There are, as Hayakawa noted, too many students who stay in college merely to escape the draft. Some of those are there, when they should be in vocational schools, because of what Spiro Agnew has described as the "stange madness" of college officials in admitting "students" on the basis of racial, ethnic and socio-economic quotas. A kid gets fed up majoring in finger painting and elementary arithmetic and moonlights in some Molotov cocktail factory.

IN THAT CONTEXT, testimony at a Senate Investigations Subcommittee hearing has made a much more significant contribution to the problem than the drivel produced by the Scranton commission. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Eugene Rossides told the subcommittee more than half of bombings during the past 15 months stemmed from campus disorders.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., found this "shocking." Rossides agreed and said he felt college administrators could do much more than they have to discourage such violence. Both comments were marvels of understatement.

High Taxes

CHICAGO (AP) — State and local tax collections soared to a record high of $82.7 billion in 1969, says Commerce Clearing House. The tax law authority said the rise was fueled by a $9.6 billion leap, or 13.2 per cent, compared with a 1968 record of $73.2 billion. Sales taxes, which comprise a third of all state collections, increased 14.4 per cent to $15.1 billion, up from $13.5 billion.

Property taxes, levied by most local governments, recorded a $3.5 billion collection, an increase of 9.5 per cent. Motor fuel taxes brought in $5.9 billion, up 8.8 per cent and motor vehicle and operators' license fees accounted for $2.9 billion, up 9.8 per cent.

David Lawrence Civil Rights Differences Continue

WASHINGTON — Politics may seem to be the art of promising "all things to all people," but lots of times it just doesn't work. Senator Strom Thurmond, Republican of South Carolina, is, for instance, expressing his indignation because the Nixon administration is discriminating by taking away the tax exemption from white private schools that continue to practice segregation by race. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, on the other hand, through a speech by its chairman, Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, has recently accused the administration of being "anti-Negro."

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS was somewhat of a surprise, and this writer in his dispatch of July 1 pointed out that it didn't seem like good tactics. Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, who is held in high esteem by officials here, has just written this correspondent an interesting letter of explanation.

"MR. NIXON WAS inaugurated 18

Billy Graham

I am almost stone deaf, and have a nerve impairment so I can't wear a hearing aid. I am a committed Christian, and love my church, but I can't hear anything that goes on. Should I, or should I not go to church, since I can't hear? Please answer, for this is important to me.

R.M. I think you should attend church, even though you can't hear. It will at least show which side you are on. Your presence will be an inspiration to others. You can smile and shake hands with strangers before and after the service.

Besides this, you can worship. Many with good hearing do not hear the sermon. Their minds are far off, and if you were to ask them what the minister talked about, they wouldn't know. But, even though your hearing is poor you can hear the voice of God in meditation. While you look at your minister, even though you can't hear his voice, you can pray for him; you can pray for the sick, for the lost, for the leaders of our nation, and for the poor and suffering of the world. Of course, you could stay home, but church affords an atmosphere of reverence where it is easy to commune with God. Yes, I would attend church if I were you. Even though you are deaf you can hear the voice of God speaking to you, and that is more important than a man's voice. You see, the soul has ears and can hear things our physical ears cannot hear. Thank God that you have good hearing in the ears of your soul.

Integration Push In Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will send its top civil rights negotiators to Texas next week to try to persuade nearly 50 school districts to desegregate this fall rather than face federal court suits.

It will be the fifth state in which lawyers from the departments of Justice and Health, Education and Welfare have made last-ditch efforts to seek compliance.

HEW said more than 100 schools in four states submitted plans during previous meetings with federal officials and had them accepted on the spot.

FEDERAL WEAPON
 Those who didn't reach agreement on how to meet the desegregation law were sued by the Justice Department—the ultimate federal weapon in bringing compliance with the law and Supreme Court integration rulings.

Previous Justice-HEW meetings were in Arkansas, Mississippi, Florida and South Carolina.

Justice filed suit against the East Texas school district of Tyler last week, ordering full desegregation this fall.

Several months ago, the government sued schools in Sonora for discriminating against Mexican-American students.

The Tyler suit and most of the 50-odd schools invited to the last-chance meeting next week involve white-black desegregation.

J. Stanley Pottinger, chief of civil rights for HEW, will lead the team of Justice lawyers and HEW compliance officials to Austin Monday night.

MANY HOLDOUTS
 The meetings will start early Tuesday and continue at last through Wednesday, with group sessions and individual conferences.

The Texas Education Agency agreed to cooperate with HEW in arranging the meeting.

An aide to Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said he expects a statewide or multi-district suit to be filed this week against the 45 or 50 holdout schools in Texas. No such suit can be filed until after the HEW-Justice meetings.

The aide said that in earlier action against a Southern state, the Justice Department had filed suits in each federal judicial district containing non-complying schools and requested that the court impose the last suggested HEW plan for that district.

NAMES CALLED
 School officials will have an opportunity to have their desegregation plans reviewed and approved at the meetings.

"Our objective is to get a voluntary plan. If this fails," said an HEW spokesman, "we are required by law and Supreme Court rulings to follow with a lawsuit ordering the desegregation."

Government Study Request May Be Decided On Soon

James W. McGrew, executive director of the Texas Research League, has informed Howard County-Big Spring community officials that their request for a governmental study will soon be acted upon by the TRL screening committee.

The research league was asked by local officials July 16 to consider conducting an independent study of city-county governmental services, and indicate possible improvements in efficiency and increases in service. Suggested improvements could be either possible under "existing constitutional and statutory authority" or impossible at this time but useful as future goals.

McGrew noted that the outcome of a Texas Constitutional Amendment up for voter consideration in November would affect the extent that government services could be consolidated in Howard County.

El Paso County, for which TRL recently completed a survey, would also be covered by the amendment, McGrew said.

McGrew indicated that the screening committee chaired by Max Levine would meet to consider the Howard County request within two months. TRL cannot accept all requests because of limited resources, but McGrew promises that full consideration will be given to Howard County.

If the league undertakes the study, the only cost would be in the nature of out-of-pocket expenses of the investigating team, and this would be paid by the Chamber of Commerce.

The idea for the study grew out of the activities of the Governmental Economy Task Force, under Chamber of Commerce vice-president Winston Winkle.

The request was also endorsed by Major J. Arnold Marshall, County Judge Lee Porter, junior college and school board officials, and Webb's Wing Commander Col. Harrison Lobdell.

HORSE(Y) HASSLE There's Big Trouble In Cowboy Country

DALLAS (AP) — It's getting so a man's horse may soon be run out of town in the cowboy country.

Proposed zoning changes about the housing of horses in Dallas city limits—up for a public hearing at City Hall today—have raised a posse of indignant backyard riders intent on heading the authorities off at the pass.

"Every horseman in Dallas has been alerted," said Mrs. Betty Sharp, an attractive blonde who keeps two horses for weekend riding. "I've never crusaded for anything before, but this frightens me."

The Dallas storm started last March when an indignant citizen named Jack Saddler appeared unannounced before the City Council in session to complain that a horse kept near his home was a health hazard.

Within days the thing snowballed and City Hall was getting an average of four and five complaints a day. People said the horses their neighbors kept were dirty, smelly and attracted flies.

The zoning committee decided something had to be done. It drafted a new ordinance which, if approved by the council, would require horses to be kept only in agriculturally zoned areas or, with a special permit, on lots of three acres or more.

About 300 horsemen turned out at once for an indignation meeting. They set up the Dallas County Horse Council "to defeat the proposed ordinance and ensure the future of horses and horsemen in this area."

Leaflets were circulated giving the telephone number of the planning department and equestrians were urged to call and express their feelings. A good many did.

"The horse people have somehow gotten the idea that we're trying to keep them from having horses and this is not so," said Jim Schroeder, director of planning and urban development for the city.

"We don't dislike horses," explained another official, Dave Ryburn. "We're only concerned about the sanitation problems involved in keeping them. We're not trying to get horses out of Dallas. We're trying to control them."

Mrs. Sharp concedes that some horses in small backyards are mistreated and not kept clean.

"But why hurt 95 per cent of us for the other five per cent?" she asks. "A child's pony kept in the backyard is not necessarily a health hazard. The only problem is fly control, and they can be controlled by those who love animals."
