

'KEEP YOUR HELMETS ON! PEACE HASN'T BROKEN OUT YET!'

Silence Settles On Suez Canal

SUEZ CANAL CEASE-FIRE LINE (AP) — The guns of the Suez Canal were muffled in rare silence Saturday, the first day of the latest Egyptian-Israeli cease-fire.

"Get those helmets on," roared an Israeli officer to a group of bare-headed soldiers. "Peace hasn't broken out yet."

Foreign newsmen were taken across the Sinai Desert by the Israelis for a firsthand tour of the 103-mile waterway.

Up to noon no incidents were reported on the Canal Saturday, 12 hours after the cease-fire went into effect.

But on the Jordanian battle front, three Israeli soldiers were wounded in an ambush and a potash plant south of the Dead Sea was the target of a rocket barrage.

Both incidents were blamed on Arab guerrillas violently opposed to the American peace proposal, accepted by Egypt, Jordan and Israel. The cease-fire is the first step in the U.S. plan.

Carefully hoarded wine, cognac and champagne bottles were hauled out by many Israeli soldiers for midnight toasts when the cease-fire went into effect.

Some, in the Bitter Lakes sector, said the Egyptians launched a heavy barrage on the Israelis several hours before the cease-fire began.

Troops interviewed Saturday in a bunker in the northern sector said that as soon as the truce began the Egyptians switched on all their lights, and whooped and shouted jubilantly: "Long live Nasser!"

"It's psychologically difficult to absorb this," said an Israeli corporal. "We've often had periods of calm like this, lasting several hours. And then the Egyptians would open with everything they had."

A lieutenant commented: "Safety precautions here haven't changed yet. We'll have to wait a while to see if this cease-fire really exists. Then, maybe, we'll take it easier."

The canal lay quiet, only a faint breeze rippling the 100-yard wide ribbon of deep blue water.

There was no movement on the Egyptian bank.

On the Israeli side, troops hesitantly poked their heads over the sandbags and were immediately reprimanded by angry officers.

IN SENATE ABM Foes Might Win Vote Replay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A replay of last year's cliff hanging Senate vote on the Safeguard anti-missile system is scheduled Wednesday with one vital difference: This time ABM opponents may win.

An Associated Press poll shows 50 senators either committed to vote for an amendment barring Safeguard expansion or leaning strongly in that direction.

They are opposed by 46 senators who have decided to vote for an expansion of the system requested by President Nixon as a protective curtain around the nation's force of retaliatory Minutemen nuclear missiles.

A down-to-the-wire Senate drama last year over installation of the first Safeguard sites was climaxed by a one-vote victory for the President.

Big Spring Week
. . . with Joe Pickle

The weather, alas, continued to be abnormally normal during the past week. Under the thesis that it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, we had hoped that Celia would bring moisture to this parched area. It did bring clouds and a quick sprinkle and departed as fast as it came. Meanwhile, the thermometer crawled back to 100; cotton stopped growing, started blooming in the top, and barely hung on. If ever we were ready for a rain, that time is now.

Corpus Christi and immediate area had something worse than drought to cope with. Celia killed nearly two score persons and wrought damage into the multiplied scores of millions. Red Cross rushed aid, then sounded an appeal for at least $5 million. Howard County's quota to help fellow Texans is $4,200. The money is needed urgently — now. Please mail a check today.

Congratulations to the American Little League All Stars, who played superb ball to win the sectional tournament in Lubbock Thursday. That means that for the first time in years Big Spring

Safeguards In Effect On Nerve Gas Trains

The Army took 11th hour precautions Saturday—including a "rail by rail inspection" of the route—in preparation for Monday's shipment of 3,000 tons of nerve gas rockets from Kentucky and Alabama to the Atlantic.

There also was a last-minute appeal by three congressmen for a change in plans.

Lt. Col. Roy Wells, public information officer at Ft. Knox, Ky., said each of the two trains departing Monday for Wilmington, N.C., will be preceded by pilot trains carrying specialists in all fields.

"Should anything happen—and it won't—we can be in the right place, at the right time, with the right equipment."

Wells said the Army was making a "rail by rail inspection" of the routes the trains will take after they leave the depots at Richmond, Ky., and Anniston, Ala.

"We have enough watchdogs to sniff out any danger on the trip south," said Wells, who will accompany the caravan from Richmond.

At the depot, meanwhile, workmen still were loading the steel and concrete vaults aboard the open, gondola-type freight cars. Each vault, encased in quarter-inch steel, measures about 4 by 5 feet and contains 30 of the aluminum jacketed rockets.

Roadblock Traps Rape, Rob Suspect

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An armed man abducted a young couple on a date at a drive-in movie, raped the girl and left the two stranded after forcing them to drive to deserted farmland south of here, officers said Saturday.

Investigators said the man then headed south in the couple's car and robbed a service station of $60 and a tank of gas at Cotulla.

Officers said they later arrested a man near a roadblock north of Laredo after a chase topping 110 miles per hour early Saturday morning.

An 18-year-old San Antonio youth was remanded to La Salle County Jail in Cotulla in lieu of $2,500 bond set by a peace justice on charges in the gas station robbery. He was not charged immediately on other counts.

Officers reconstructed the case this way:

A man brandishing a pistol jumped into the back seat of a car where Stewart Johnson, 20, and his date, 18, both of San Antonio, were watching the drive-in movie.

The man robbed the girl of $3 and forced Johnson to drive south to Von Ormy in south Bexar County, where he forced Johnson out of the car. Johnson called his parents, who notified officers.

NEED FOR STORM AID

The Big Spring area has been asked for $4,240 as its share to help carry the American Red Cross burden of establishing normalcy for the thousands of people who have suffered losses in Hurricane Celia.

The local chapter reported Saturday that donations had totaled $327.

There is massive program of rehabilitation to be done, and the Red Cross is the agency which will do much of it. Your gesture of good-neighbor relief is requested. Make relief to Red Cross with notation Hurricane Celia, mail to the local chapter, Box 1970, and all receipts will be sent directly to the storm relief program.

Governors Tackle Unrest At Colleges

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (AP) — Wary of campus unrest — but hoping the worst is past — the nation's governors are preparing for a new college year with efforts to improve communications between the university and the government, backed by disciplinary plans.

Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, whose state became the focus of turmoil last spring after four students were shot and killed in a confrontation with National Guardsmen at Kent State University, warned that a new round of campus disorders could destroy the American system of higher education.

THERE IS NO WAY

An Associated Press survey of governors indicated that many states are simultaneously seeking to heed campus complaints and preparing to quell disorders with force if that becomes necessary.

The 62nd National Governors Conference, convening here Sunday, will be asked to adopt a policy statement declaring order on the campus the primary responsibility of faculty and administration, while affirming the power and duty of the state to quell disorders if other means fail.

"There is no way to forecast with certainty, but there is no reason to believe that unrest on college campuses has come to an end," said Gov. John A. Love, R-Colo., the conference chairman.

So it was with other governors: hoping for the best, but ready to deal with trouble if it comes.

"I would be a fool to suggest that we would have no problems, but on the other hand, I might be off base to say that we anticipate problems," said Gov.

Lift Quarantine At Scouts Ranch

CIMARRON, N.M. (AP) — A quarantine for 4,000 Boy Scouts and their leaders at Philmont Scout Ranch in northern New Mexico, imposed Friday after a scout died on a hike, was lifted Saturday.

New Mexico health officers said they lifted the quarantine after conferring with the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga.

The ranch was ordered quarantined and its three entrances sealed Friday after the 12-year-old Scout died Thursday of what officials feared might have been a communicable disease.

Dr. Bruce Storrs, director of medical services for the state Health and Social Services Department said that "after evaluation of tests completed as of this time and after consultation with the federal center in Atlanta, Ga., the decision to lift the quarantine has been made."

"Efforts will continue by the department to ascertain cause of death of the young scout," Storrs said.

"Laboratory tests by the department show no evidence of pneumonic plague as the cause of death," Storrs said. "Sources other than the department had been reported as speculating this disease as the possible cause," he said.

Groups on their way here were told to stop for at least 24 hours while officials conducted tests to determine the exact cause of death of James Morris of Jackson, Mich.

"We have groups on their way here stacked all up and down the east side of the Rocky Mountains," said Skip Boyer, a ranch spokesman who arranged emergency lodging for new arrivals in nearby Cimarron and Raton.

Kidnapers In Uruguay Threaten Retaliation

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A note left at a radio station Saturday warned that a U.S. police adviser kidnaped by leftist guerrillas would be executed Sunday at noon unless the government frees some 150 political prisoners.

Police said there was some doubt that the note was authentic but they declined to release the text. Reliable sources said the note made no mention of a second U.S. official or a Brazilian diplomat held as hostages by the Tupamaros guerrillas.

The guerrillas earlier had set a midnight Friday deadline on their ransom demand, saying they would "terminate this affair." The deadline passed with no report of any action against the hostages.

The police adviser, Dan A. Mitrone, 50, and the Brazilian consul, Aloysio Mares Dias Gomide, 41, were kidnaped July 31. Mitrone, a former Richmond, Ind., police chief, is chief U.S. adviser to Uruguayan police.

Claude L. Fly, 65, of Ft. Collins, Colo., a soil expert emploied by the Uruguayan Agriculture Department, was seized Friday.

President Jorge Pacheco Areco refused to release Uruguay's political prisoners, numbering about 150, to satisfy the Tupamaros' demand.

POLICE TORTURE

The guerrillas earlier Saturday threatened retaliation against "oligarchs and foreign diplomats." If police torture or kill suspected guerrillas seized in police roundups since the kidnappings.

Celia's Curve Strikes Out Stunned Watchers

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — She was born nameless in the warm summertime waters of the Caribbean. The birth announcement was a cluster of clouds in a satellite picture.

She moved restlessly westward, nourished by moist sea air.

Soon she was big enough to have a name. She became Celia, a hurricane that will rank with the great ones in terms of damage.

FARMERS BUSY

It was the height of the brown shrimp season and shrimpers worked the Gulf waters, raced in to Aransas Pass to unload and then went out again.

Farmers were busy, too. Grain was being harvested and the earliest fields of cotton were showing white, nearly ready to be picked.

FISHING GOOD

Tourists and fishermen jammed Corpus Christi and its satellite towns, luxuriating in the sparkling air, miles of beaches, its palm-lined and manicured marinas and parks.

Fishing was good. Vacation homes and motels were filled. Tourists walked the miles of beaches, swam in the warm, gentle water.

Teenagers hung ten on colorful surf boards.

Gas and oil wells in Corpus Christi Bay assumed wealth from beneath the water. Oil tankers drank their fill at nearby refineries and moved into the Gulf with the black fuel that will warm northern homes this winter.

It was the height of the brown shrimp season and shrimpers worked the Gulf waters, raced in to Aransas Pass to unload and then went out again.

Farmers were busy, too. Grain was being harvested and the earliest fields of cotton were showing white, nearly ready to be picked.

LAZY WEEKEND

"That was going to be our lazy weekend," recalls Mrs. Pilcher. They played billiards, visited relatives and went to a motion picture. They chose a movie titled "What if Someone Gave a War and Nobody Came."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wade locked up their plush home in the Pharaoh housing addition and left for Houston to visit friends. They were pleased to be living in their home again.

A fire last year had caused $24,000 worth of damage and they had had to live in an apartment for three months while it was being rebuilt.

Lawnmowers started their routine summer weekend roar.

The weatherman promised a few showers.

EXCITEMENT

There was some excitement at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Gilliland. Their yard, shaded by four stately trees, had just been named yard of the month by the Chamber of Commerce. A picture of Mrs. Gilliland and her front yard were in the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Late Saturday, far out in the Gulf, the tropical depression became a storm and then a hurricane, thus earning a name, Celia.

Navy planes reported the storm intensified rapidly, with winds building to 115 miles an hour.

FORGET IT

Most Corpus Christi residents paid little attention to the small hurricane. There had been a number of such storms in the Gulf since Beulah in 1967, the last to seriously affect Corpus Christi.

But the potential for trouble was there and Wayland Pilcher recognized it.

He opened the Civil Defense office at 11 a.m. Sunday. Mayor Jack Blackmon, City Manager Marvin Townsend, city councilmen and heads of the city departments met briefly.

A state of preparedness called "Condition 4" was declared. This meant department heads were to stay in touch.

By noon Sunday, Celia was recognized by weathermen as a threat to the Middle Texas coast. Landfall was predicted for noon Monday and Galveston far to the north seemed the likely victim.

Hurricane warnings extended from Port Arthur to Rockport. Vacationers began evacuating the resort island of Galveston. The Coast Guard requested the beaches be cleared.

Daring young surfers, eager for the heavy breakers churned up by the hurricane, still more than 200 miles away, jammed highways leading to Galveston Beach.

Residents in and near Galveston began boarding up windows, and people stocked up on hurricane supplies.

Bill O'Connell, a 31-year-old businessman with two children and a pretty wife, was aware of Celia, but not concerned. Forecasts had called for it to hit the coast around Galveston. He and his family slept peacefully that night in their $30,000 home in Corpus Christi south of the warned area.

WORRYING NOW

Pilcher was worrying now. The hurricane watch area had been extended to Port Aransas on an island just across the bay from Corpus Christi.

Celia turned ever so slightly westward. Its edges were ill-defined, indicating to weather men it was not well organized and not to be a storm of major proportions.

At 5 a.m. Monday, the hurricane's course became a very real threat to Corpus Christi.

Pilcher declared a "Condition 3." He ordered the flood tide gates in the Corpus Christi sea wall closed.

Bill O'Connell, like most Corpus Christi residents, was stunned Monday morning to learn the hurricane that had been aiming at Galveston when he went to sleep Sunday night now may choose Corpus Christi instead. He and others in the city had only hours to get ready.

WHY NOT?

Another Civil Defense meeting was held at 10 a.m. Emergency crews were called in and the Civil Defense plan was put into motion. The mayor declared an emergency evacuation of residents in low lying

Freight Exec Asks Millions

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A Texas freight line executive says his $150 million federal court antitrust suit against two trucking associations and the Teamsters Union involves an attempt to impose a Teamsters contract on his freight line.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, Calif., July 31, by attorneys for Joe V. Braswell, president and general manager of Braswell Motor Freight Lines, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

Braswell said in El Paso Friday the "heart of the issue was an effort to impose a Teamster contract on the Braswell division which operates from Texas into Oklahoma, Tennessee, Louisiana and Mississippi."

Defendants in the suit are the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the Teamsters' southern conference, Teamster Locals 745 in Dallas, 47 in Fort Worth, 886 in Oklahoma City, 523 in Tulsa, 270 in New Orleans, 5 in Baton Rouge, La., 568 in Shreveport, La., 667 in Memphis, Tenn. and 891 in Jackson, Miss.; the California Trucking Association, the national Trucking Employers, Inc., and 470 trucking company members of the two associations in 1964.

The suit seeks $25 million in antitrust action, with threefold damages; $25 million in negligence; and $50 million in punitive damages.

First Shots In Gun Battle Fired From Fugitives' Van?

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — A prosecutor wounded in a gun battle that killed a Superior Court judge and three kidnapers was quoted by his wife Saturday as saying the judge was killed immediately when a police roadblock stopped the gunmen's escape route.

Judge Harold J. Haley, 65, and three of four gunmen who marched him and four other hostages from his courtroom Friday, died in a gunfire barrage.

Gary Thomas, was the critically wounded assistant district attorney taken hostage and his wife Maureen gave her husband's account of the shootings:

GRABBED GUN
"As soon as the van stopped, they shot the judge."
"I grabbed the gun then from the driver and shot the other three. I hope I got them."

Mrs. Thomas said her husband, after undergoing surgery for back wounds, told her the judge—who was her uncle—was the only one shot before Thomas grabbed the driver's gun. He said the driver was not dead then, the wife reported.

Other witnesses said Saturday the first shots were fired inside the van in which the four kidnapers tried to flee from the Marin County Civic Center. Their flight was blocked by nearly 100 officers.

"I was told by a number of officers a shot came from the van first and then officers returned fire," said Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

Craig D. Steen, 23, a county worker from nearby Novato, said "when the van stopped I heard two muffled shots, like they were inside the van."

HEY, LOOK OUT
With him was Fidel Bradford, 24, of San Rafael, a fellow worker.

Bradford said he remembered hearing someone shout, "Hey, look out!" when the van was halted.

"Then there were shots from everywhere," Bradford said.

"It surprised me to see the officers firing with the hostages inside the van."

Judge Haley died of a blast from a sawed-off shotgun. One of his captors had taped the barrel to the judge's neck at the start of the escape attempt.

DEAD THUGS
The dead kidnapers were identified as James D. McClain, 37, William Arthur Christmas, 27, and Jonathan Jackson, 17. McClain had been on trial in Haley's court on a charge of stabbing a San Quentin prison guard when Jackson moved into the courtroom with an automatic carbine and a flight bag of pistols.

"This is it! Everybody line up!" Jackson ordered.

He tossed hand guns to McClain and Christmas, who was waiting to testify.

SHOT IN CHEST
Holding a pistol at Judge Haley's head, McClain ordered guards to free him and two fellow convicts from their handcuffs.

The third convict, Ruchell Magee, 31, was on the witness stand.

He was shot in the chest later in the van and was hospitalized in fair condition.

Taking three woman jurors as hostages along with Haley and Thomas, the four men disarmed officers in the court building, rode to the ground floor in an elevator, then went to the van in the parking lot.

One juror, Maria Graham, 45, was shot in the arm. She was hospitalized in good condition. Two other jurors, Joyce Rodoni and Doris Wittner, were treated for shock.

Inspector Ron Retani, investigating the courtroom raid and shooting, told a news conference that Thomas told of hearing a shot in the van.

"Then he grabbed a weapon and told us he shot three of them," Retani said.

The investigation determined that eight shots were fired into the vehicle and a total of 12 to 13 shots were heard by witnesses outside, according to Retani.

TAPE RECORDING
He said a tape recording picked up arguing among the convicts inside the van when it stopped.

Retani said the sheriff's deputies had been under orders not to shoot unless there was no alternative.

VANDALISM

The police received a report that vandals had inserted a hose into the gas tank of a car parked in the garage of the Alta Vista Apt., 1403 E. 8th. All the gasoline was flushed out of the tank. The vandalism was discovered at 11 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Daryle A. Hohertz, 7 Highland Heather, reported to police Friday that her home had been entered. Police officer E. Lee investigated and found that nothing had been taken.

Police Friday, 1214 E. 18, reported Friday that his neighbor's home had been broken into. The house entered was the Joe Peay residence at 1213 E. 18th. Police investigated the break-in but will not be able to determine the loss until the Peays return from out of town.

Hearing Set Monday On Salary Hike

Public hearing on a County Commissioners' Court proposal to raise the salaries of all county employees by 7 1/2 per cent will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the commissioners courtroom.

The across-the-board raise affects all county employees, including elected officials and the commissioners themselves. The action would represent something over $3,000 per month additional salary outlay.

County Judge Lee Porter has announced no tax increase is anticipated to meet this new item in the county budget.

If approved, the salary increase is to be made effective as of August 1.

These Youths Close 'Gap'

Generation gap! Is there really one? It has been my privilege and joy to meet some of the young ladies who have given their time this summer as volunteer workers at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

I do not believe a single one would say their time has been wasted. Although their only reward is a smile, a thank you and a feeling of doing their best.

Some of these workers are as young as 15, putting in their first summer; for some it's their third. There seems to be no question in their minds about direction or purpose. I was fortunate to have spent my early childhood on a farm, and the word "gap" was usually in reference to an opening in the fence between two pastures. It was not unusual to be reminded to close the "gap."

I think we will hear more from these fine young citizens, but not about a "generation gap," for they are much too busy closing it.

Flower Grove Looks For 150

FLOWER GROVE — Flower Grove schools will hold the first full day of classes Aug. 24. Teachers will return Aug. 18 for a work day and Aug. 19 and 21 for in-service training. Registration for all students is Aug. 20 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. The buses will be in service.

An enrollment of 150 students is expected, according to information from John W. Masengale, school superintendent. Fifty secondary pupils are expected and 100 elementary youngsters. Entrance requirements for first graders are a birth certificate showing that the youngster was six years old on or before Sept. 1, and a record of small pox, DPT and polio inoculations.

Two new teachers have been added to the faculty for this year. They are Melvin Chisum, vocational agriculture, and Mrs. Kari Kito, fifth and sixth grades. Chisum taught two years at New Home before coming to Flower Grove. Mrs. Kito taught the fifth grade for two years at Grady.

Seeking Desegregation In Schools At Midland

DALLAS (AP) — A group of Texas school districts and the Texas Education Agency faced Saturday federal suits filed Friday seeking total integration of schools.

The Justice Department filed suits against the 26 districts in federal courts in Tyler, Dallas, Houston and Austin.

The 26 districts have 292,000 pupils. The suits are identical in that they claim the districts maintain dual education systems based on race "with the knowledge and consent of the Texas Education Agency."

MIDLAND NAMED — Also named is Texas Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar. Named defendants in the four suits are these school districts:

Tyler suit—Carthage, Elysian Fields, Jefferson, Kilgore, Lufkin, Port Arthur, San Augustine, South Park and Sulphur Springs. Dallas suit—Ferris, Garland, Lubbock, Richardson, San Angelo and Wichita Falls. Houston suit—Galena Park, Katy, Klein and Madisonville.

Austin suit—Austin, Calvert, Hearne, LaVega, Midland, Temple and Ector County.

The 26 districts are among the 48 whose representatives were summoned to Austin less than two weeks ago for conferences with Justice Department officials to discuss segregation.

After the conferences, several school district leaders said the federal demands would mean that children would have to bused out of their neighborhoods to other schools.

AGAINST BUSING — Most of the school officials who expressed views publicly were against busing in any form and indicated they would fight any federal suits vigorously.

The Nixon Administration filed similar suits against Georgia last year, and Mississippi and 19 of its school districts last month.

The suits in Texas differ from those in other states in that they name the state's educational nerve center and its chief officer, claiming the agency has tacitly approved districts setting up plans which segregate both teachers and students.

Supt. Gerald Cobb of the Galena Park school district said he informed the Justice Department early Thursday that a new integration plan had been adopted.

"We were told that our plan would be passed on to the appropriate persons and we'd get a call within 24 hours," Cobb said. "We waited all day Friday for a call but none came."

James Taylor of the Katy district said he does not have a "counter plan" to offer. They (the school board) chose to stick by the same plan last Monday night because they felt it met

At the time the System-3 was adopted there was considerable controversy on the question of whether IBM was the most economical choice for Big Spring. Acting largely on the recommendations of Smith and city auditors Max Green and George Thorburn, the commission voted unanimously to accept IBM, and come December their collective judgment will be put to the test.

City Moves Toward New IBM Computer Processing

City Finance Director Charles Smith is in the first stages of the actual programming required for automatic payroll processing by the IBM System-3 computer, which hopefully will be delivered to the city in December.

The City Commission authorized the lease of the System-3 at the March 24 meeting, at the same time rejecting bids from Burroughs, National Cash Register, First Data Processing, and National Share-Data.

The city opted for IBM with the understanding that there would be an economy of monthly operating costs and potential expandability of the workload placed on the machine. Initially the machine is expected to perform its work in 20 hours a week, taking over all the work now done by a Burroughs accounting machine in a 70-hour week as well as other tasks that have not yet been computerized.

The city plans to have the System-3 take over payroll, water billing, and general ledger operations when the machine is delivered. Before this is possible, the computer program must be written and adapted to the mode of input the city chooses to use, telling the computer exactly how to process the data and print out the results.

One of the reasons for choosing IBM was that monthly programmer's salary could be avoided by investing initially in training so that Smith can assume the programming chores.

Smith has attended three one-week training sessions in Houston so far to learn the basics of programming for System-3, and is now writing the program with the advice and consultation of IBM systems engineers and programmers.

PAYROLLS — He has just finished the first draft of the payroll portion of the program, and will go to Midland Monday to have the program checked by an IBM consultant before it is sent to Dallas for further analysis and "debugging."

While the payroll program is being polished up, Smith will go ahead with the water billing program, beginning later this week. After that is sent off to Dallas he will begin to work with the general ledger portion.

Also included in price estimates made before purchase was the cost of training two water department employees to operate the keypunch for the system. The keypunch is manufactured in Canada, and like the computer itself, is new on the market and not many have been built yet, so that it is difficult to find one to train on.

One of the keypunch operators has already been trained in Midland; the other is still waiting, but may be able to get her training in Dallas soon.

SMALLER CARD — Keypunch and computer use a new type of IBM card, Smith said. It is about the size of a playing card, and although it is one third as large as the old IBM cards it holds 20 percent more information, since the holes are smaller and closer together.

At the time the System-3 was adopted there was considerable controversy on the question of whether IBM was the most economical choice for Big Spring. Acting largely on the recommendations of Smith and city auditors Max Green and George Thorburn, the commission voted unanimously to accept IBM, and come December their collective judgment will be put to the test.

Tuesday Hearing For College Budget

Public hearing is set for 5 p.m. Tuesday at the college administration building on the proposed budget for Howard County Junior College. The total outlay for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, 1970, is $1,391,274. This figure is 2.30 per cent under the budget originally approved for this year and 4.60 per cent under the current, revised budget. Largest single item in the budget is $774,695 in payroll, an increase of 4.5 per cent over the original outlay for this year and 6.2 more than for the revised total (which conforms with the actual expenditures). The total proposed operational budget involving tax revenues is $1,193,351 (including $86,989 for debt service). The student housing budget, which is supported totally by revenues it generates, is $197,923, including $29,933 debt service. The operational and the student housing budgets combine to make up the $1,391,274 total budget.

Brotherhood Plans Tent Revival Here

One week from today, the spirit of neighborliness returns to Big Spring in the form of a tent revival at North Scurry and Tenth Streets. For the past three summers, the Brotherhood of the Big Spring Baptist Association has been working in the River Ministry along the Rio Grande, helping build a church at Villa de Fuente, near Piedras Negras.

Mission by Rev. Rievera, as well as laymen from area Baptist churches. Congregations in the association are supporting the meeting financially and with hospitality for the visiting workers.

This week, a group of 30 young workers and adults will come by bus from the Lower Rio Grande Association to help with the revival here. Services will be held nightly through Aug. 22. The evangelist will be Alfonso Victor Munoz, Mexico City, who has a story to tell how Christ transformed his life from a drug user and a prisoner in San Quentin penitentiary into a preacher of the Gospel.

The singer will be Jesus Andrea, a native of Nueva Laredo and now a student in Guadalajara. He has led in many evangelistic crusades, including the highly successful Matamoros crusade.

The Rio Grande Association group, under the direction of Jerry Johnson, missionary, will bring a tent with a seating capacity of 250, and which can be expanded to care for many more.

Local arrangements are being directed by Sam Robertson, associational Brotherhood president, assisted by a group of laymen from the Le Fe Church pastored by Rev. Glenn Smith, Primera Bautista pastored by Rev. Robert Smith, and Stanton

Petrofina's Progress Related

Petrofina S.A., on the occasion of its fiftieth anniversary, has issued a colorful booklet highlighting its developments through the years. Important mention is made of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, which was acquired in 1963.

From its origin in 1920, Petrofina has grown into an entity comprising 200 subsidiaries operating in 30 countries. The largest Belgian company, it ranks 36th among the companies in the Common Market and 16th among the world's petroleum companies. Some 19,800 people are employed in the group.

Headquartered at Brussels, Petrofina pioneered the refinery and petrochemical industry in Belgium, points out the booklet. Through exploration projects in various countries, Petrofina is steadily increasing its reserves of crude oil. The Petrofina fleet of 30 tankers has a capacity of 2,060,000 tons.

In describing refining capabilities, the anniversary booklet cites Petrofina's ownership or interest in some ten refineries, three of them in the United States (Big Spring, Mt. Pleasant and El Dorado). Others are located in Belgium, Germany, Italy, England, Canada and Angola. Together they have a capacity of 37.2 million tons, with Petrofina's share at 24.6 million tons.

Petrochemical projects continue to be advanced by Petrofina. Two of the newest activities mentioned include the Cosden polystyrene plant recently completed near Chicago and the new plant under construction in the south of Belgium which will use Cosden's polystyrene process.

Regarding distribution, the booklet points out that sales had increased to 20.5 million tons in 24 countries in Europe, America and Africa by 1969, with Fina Motor fuels available at 18,000 outlets on these three continents.

Diversification efforts into activities complementary to the concern's petroleum business are mentioned in the booklet. The importance of its research program is underscored, and there is a salute to the loyalty and enthusiasm of the staff.

Baron Wolters, president of the board of directors, in his introductory letter expresses the sentiment: "I have no doubt that our future prosperity will greatly exceed that of the past."

West Texas Soil Moisture Short

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Director John E. Hutchison, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said Wednesday no estimates of hurricane damage to agriculture have been possible in the areas most affected but county and district personnel are trying to get a picture of what has happened in rural areas.

In other sections of the state, he said, the dry hot weather is continuing and crops, pastures and ranges, except in shower areas, are deteriorating. Stock water supplies are very short in some counties. Dry range forage is a real fire hazard. Cotton continues to hold up fairly well, he noted, but late planted corn is rapidly maturing. Good grain sorghum yields are reported from the Upper Coastal area.

FIRE HAZARD

Livestock generally are in fair to good condition but supplemental feeding is being started in areas where grazing is short.

South Plains cotton is now entering a heavy water use period and fruiting is excellent, said Billy Gunter at Lubbock. Dryland cotton generally is holding up but needs more than scattered showers it has been getting. Dryland grain sorghum continues to deteriorate in many areas but irrigated fields are making progress. Soybeans are blooming and making normal progress, he said. Ranges are dry and stock water is low.

Moisture is needed throughout the Rolling Plains. Irrigated crops are making good growth but those on dryland only poor to fair growth. Insects are damaging cotton. The grain sorghum harvest is continuing. Ranges are dry and a fire hazard. Stock water is needed.

RANGES DRY

Soil moisture in Northeast Texas is short and all crops, pastures and ranges need rain, said R. S. Loftis from Overton. Early planted corn and grain sorghum are about ready for harvest. Sweet potatoes are making normal progress, he said. Vegetable and hay harvesting were listed as slow. Pastures and ranges were below average but water is plentiful and livestock are in good condition. Labor is short.

Some rains have fallen in parts of far West Texas but a general rain is needed, reported Ray Siegmund from Ft. Stockton. Livestock continue to hold up well. Irrigated crops are making good progress and insect damage to cotton is light.

Soil moisture is short throughout West Central Texas and grain sorghum harvest is at hand, reported Allen Turner from San Angelo. Cotton is blooming and looks good. Rain is needed for additional hay. Late peaches need moisture for sizing and pecans are falling in some counties due to insects and diseases. Ranges are dry and the danger of fires is increasing. Water is getting short and livestock conditions are declining.

Band Practice

COAHOMA — Summer band practice for Coahoma High School band is from 7 to 8:30 p.m. every day this week. New band members are asked to report early Monday, according to David Talmage, band director.

THANKS

TEACH!

It is with pride that The Herald is gratefully accepting a 1970 School Bell Award from the Texas State Teachers Association.

Your hometown newspaper has been so cited twice in the three years the TSTA has sponsored such an award, made for "outstanding continuous coverage of education news and for increasing public understanding of school achievements, problems and programs."

The Herald is most grateful, not only to the State Association, but also to members of the Big Spring Teachers Association who submitted the nomination and prepared material to support it.

While The Herald receives the citation, your newspaper feels that in the end result, it is the newspaper readers and all the patrons of the Big Spring school system who benefit, as they are provided with the kind of news coverage which enables them to understand better the schools' achievements, problems and programs.

The dissemination of such information is your newspaper's job. We hope to continue to do it well.

Hearing Tuesday On School Budget

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will hold a public hearing Tuesday night on the proposed $5 million budget for 1970-71.

Before the budget is approved, trustees are expected to add an amendment for $160,541 on both the receipt and expenditure sides of the ledger to provide for the local Headstart program.

Approval was announced Friday by Cong. Omar Burleson for the local Headstart grant by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The budget without the amendment provides for $5,322,967 in revenue and $5,218,254.12 in expenditures.

NO TAX HIKE

Business Manager Don Crockett said the budget does not call for a raise in the tax rate, although the makeup of the tax allotment changes slightly.

While the rate remains at $1.70, Crockett said, 3 1/2 cents will be shifted from the local maintenance fund to the interest and sinking fund. He said $1.36 will go to the maintenance fund and 34 cents to the interest and sinking fund.

This diversion of funds will produce more money to pay off the school's bonded indebtedness which is approximately $6,450,000, as a result of a building program five years ago in which the high school was completely remodeled and enlarged.

MORE RECEIPTS

Anticipated receipts will show a $512,574.50 increase over the 1969-70 receipts, and most of this increase is due to the increased state salary schedule for teachers along with the new state authorized personnel in vocational and special education areas. Also, this year for the first time the state is participating in a non-professional personnel salary schedule.

The raises will affect the expenditures of the school district, raising them $350,000, but this expenditure is offset somewhat by the increased revenue.

Local receipts also show a $41,344 increase, attributed to the estimated $2,756,687 increase for new properties on the school tax roll.

FEDERAL FUNDS

Federal revenue shows an anticipated $28,917 decrease in funds from Public Law 874, which provides money to school districts educating students

Lake Regulations Will Be Studied

City commissioners Tuesday at 5:15 p.m. will consider an ordinance regulating water sports at Moss Creek Lake, a request by the fire department for updated communications equipment, and two items held over from the last agenda: an ordinance authorizing a bank loan for a bulldozer and bids on a new sanitation truck.

They will also be asked to initiate action on annexation of some 81 acres of land between Hilltop Road and IS 20 to be used by Harrol Jones for a trailer park. This is the site of an out-of-use airfield.

The Moss Creek Lake ordinance would prohibit water sports other than fishing and swimming between 8 p.m. and noon. Activities such as water skiing would be allowed between noon and 8 p.m. or one hour after sundown, whichever comes first.

the sole bidder on the refuse collection and packer body.

An ordinance that would authorize the mayor to sign a short-term, non-interest bearing loan agreement with Security State Bank is again on the agenda.

The loan of $14,000 was authorized by the commission at their June 9 meeting to pay part of the cost of the $36,000 sanitary landfill loader that was purchased and delivered in June.

TRAFFIC ITEMS

The commission will get a chance to vote on several recommendations from the Traffic Commission. One calls for the placing of yield signs on any side streets necessary to make North Scurry a through street, while another requests stop signs on Lancaster and Bell where they intersect Northwest Sixth.

The traffic board also recommended that Phillips Road, Twenty-fifth, and Hearn be center striped in certain low-visibility areas.

Melvin Bailey is requesting a certificate of occupancy from the city, to allow the retail sale of beer for on-premises consumption at Melvin's Place, 314 NW 4th.

The commission will also pass on the second reading of the annexation ordinance necessary to bring the Intech industrial site within city bounds.

PENALTIES

Another provision would give the city manager authority to close the lake temporarily to swimming, wading, and other activities if necessary for the public welfare. The ordinance would be enforced with fines up to $200.

A central communications unit for the Fire Department is being requested to replace the outdated equipment now in use.

Sanitation truck bids will again come under scrutiny, with bids from Bob Brock Ford and Broughton Truck and Implement on the truck chassis, with Pak-Mor of San Antonio

Senior VOE Students Learn While They Earn

By HOWARD SIMMS

Sometimes it takes more than school to make an education, and the Vocational Office Education program at Big Spring High School is one of several that responds to this need.

VOE students learn by doing in a cooperative training situation where they divide their week between classes at school and on-the-job office experience.

The teacher-coordinator of the program, Mrs. Vonna Jean Swim, finds places for students enrolled in the plan, and works with the employer and the student to see that certain standards are met so that the instruction will be fully accredited.

Those who enroll in the program must be 16 or older, and must be seniors the year they go out on the job. According to Mrs. Swim, about 35 students have signed up for the program, so far, but the number that are actually placed depends on the number of businesses that agree to help with their training.

The part-time job must be classified as an office occupation, and cannot be one covered under other similar high school programs such as agriculture, home economics, distributive, industrial, and technical education.

Students placed in general office-clerical positions must have a year's credit in typing, while a year of typing and a year of shorthand is required for placement in stenographic-secretarial positions, and a year of typing and a year of bookkeeping is required for students who will do bookkeeping-clerical work.

Each employer is asked to employ the trainee from 15 to 25 hours a week. Employment on Saturdays and holidays is optional, and does not help fulfill state requirements. A minimum of 525 hours on the job are required by the state during the year, and the student must also complete 175 hours of classroom instruction.

An employer may pay any wages he chooses, unless the occupation is covered by the minimum wage law, when he may either pay the minimum wage or place the job under the student permit plan. The student permit plan allows the employer to pay the trainee 75 per cent of what he pays other employees, even if it falls below the minimum wage.

Mrs. Swim has placed students with 23 employers so far this year, but there are several qualified students who applied for the program and do not have jobs yet. Acceptance into the program depends on the student's training objective, aptitude, interest, need, physical and mental competency, and other qualifications essential to successful employment.

Many students enrolled in Vocational Office Education in previous years have stayed on to work for the same employer after getting their diplomas, and many employers have participated year after year after getting good results with their first trainees.

Panamanians Free 150 Prisoners

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Thirty-six prisoners held by the National Guard for subversive acts — including bank robbery and homicide — were released Friday from the Panama City jail. Some had been in for two years.

Others also classed as political prisoners are being released in the various provincial capitals. No figures were available on the exact number being freed, but National Guard sources said the total was not expected to exceed 150.

Deadly Crawl Across City

areas at noon. It was "Condition 2."

"You can't just get on the radio and scream 'evacuate, evacuate,'" says Pilcher. "You have to have a place for these people to go and supplies ready for them."

But the path of Celia became all too clear at 11:15 a.m. and Pilcher went on the radio and ordered an immediate evacuation.

WATCH OUT

"We just took buses right off the transit routes and began picking up people," he says. "We already had police cars with speakers calling people out to the buses by noon."

Pilcher said it appeared the first gale force winds would hit about 2 p.m.

About 2 p.m. Celia began to move very fast. Her eye suddenly began to narrow and her winds picked up.
Dr. Robert Simpson, head of the National Hurricane Center, received reports that Celia's winds were now ranging up to 140 miles per hour. He warned Corpus Christi to expect a storm much worse than earlier predicted.

He later called back and said Celia was acting so erratically he could not predict her eventual wind speed nor where precisely she would hit.

"We got our first real blast about 3:15 p.m.," says Pilcher. It was Condition 1—hurricane impending.

Bill O'Connell made a vital decision for his family. They would stay in their own home instead of going to the home of his wife's parents. His in-laws' home was older. They left it and came to the O'Connells'. Later they learned the older home escaped damage.

TWO TURTLES

The Wades, still in Houston, learned of the storm's movement toward Corpus Christi. They worried about their home. The Wades' five-year-old son worried about two turtles in a turtle bowl at home.
Pilcher ordered two more shelters opened.

Celia moved ashore about 4:15 p.m. Winds were 160 miles per hour.

In less than an hour, 13 persons died, although some bodies would not be found for days.

In less than two hours, a half billion dollars damage was inflicted on the Corpus Christi area.

Water in Corpus Christi Bay was literally blown away, briefly grounding boats and exposing the bay floor.

The lights went out all along the Coastal Bend of which Corpus Christi is the center and daylight was only a watery, gray glow. Rain struck like pellets in the fierce wind. Telephones failed.

Houses exploded. Boats broke loose and careened and crashed and capsized and sank. Mobile homes disintegrated, like glass smashed on concrete. Two policemen in a patrol car were swept into the bay. Hours later they appeared on the opposite shore, shaken but alive.

UNDER MATTRESS
Store fronts crashed into the street. A television antennae slammed to earth, blocking a downtown thoroughfare.

Windows in homes, cars, businesses and 20-story buildings were smashed allowing the rain to flood interiors with gallons of water.

Bill O'Connell put his family under a mattress in a bedroom and went into a hall just in time to see his roof fly off. His garage already had disappeared. His roof smashed into a home, two houses away. The O'Connells fled to a home next door.

Celia moved on, dying slowly as it dumped rain on inland towns. Streets filled and flooded. Corpus Christi Civil Defense was without communications. The police radio antennae was smashed.

The city's National Guard was ordered mobilized, but there was no way to contact its members. Units in Robstown and San Antonio were mobilized instead. The first ones arrived Tuesday morning.

Police were digging people out of wreckage. Hospitals began to receive patients.

The terrifying night ended at last. The city was wounded and paralyzed, but its people came out of hiding and began to work.

"When I first saw the damage," says Pilcher, "I felt like just throwing it in. I didn't know how we would ever dig out of this. But then I saw thousands of people here begin to work and I began to hope."

BOATS SMASHED

The Wades came home to wreckage for the second time in two years. Their house had exploded apart. Only one wall was left standing. They were stunned, unbelieving. Then, a telephone hanging on that one wall in a smashed house, in a smashed city, somehow rang. Miraculously the instrument worked.

Wade looked for his 5-year-old's turtles. They were both gone, but two days later a neighbor found one of them crawling in his back yard.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Gilliland, their prize-winning yard was a shambles. All of their trees had fallen. The couple cut them up and left them for the trash collector.

Hundreds of shrimp boats smashed up in harbors and coves.

CROPS RUINED

Thousands of acres of crops were ruined.

Oil production in the bay is halted but will come back soon.

Motels along the push beach front are shambles, many unable to open.

Many stores made quick repairs and were open by Thursday. Others won't open for weeks.

By Saturday, people of the Corpus Christi area assumed a life pattern based on rebuilding.

Much of Corpus Christi now has electricity and telephones. The area is under a nightly curfew. But Corpus Christi probably will end its curfew early in the week. It'll take longer at the other towns.

A spirited determination has taken hold.

HOW LONG?

"We're over the hump," says Pilcher, talking about the immediate emergencies of making life possible. "We can now talk about some sort of a routine, a pattern of life" within the larger disaster.

The Wades say they will rebuild, for the second time. The O'Connells plan to also, as do thousands of others hit as hard or harder.

A middle-aged woman seemed surprised when a reporter asked if she really planned to rebuild here after losing everything she owned.

"We'll make it," she said, standing there barefooted in the only dress she owned. "We'll come back. You wait and see." How long it will take, though, no one will even guess.

LET'S SEE NOW, IF I AIM FOR THE BALLOON ON THE LEFT — Reese Johnson took careful aim as she participated in the games that comprised the Kiddie Carnival held at the College Park Shopping Center Saturday by George Robertson, wearing the striped shirt. The carnival proceeds go to aid research in muscular dystrophy. Assisting young Robertson in the dart-throwing booth is, Con Stewart.

Kids' Carnival Boosts Muscular Dystrophy Fund

Icky Twerp, star of a children's television show, would be proud of the work done by local youngsters on a muscular dystrophy "Kiddie Carnival" held Saturday at College Park Shopping Center by George Robertson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Robertson, 1315 Princeton.

By Saturday afternoon, George and his friends had earned between $75 and $100 to aid sufferers of muscular dystrophy, according to George's mother. The carnival began at 9 a.m. and continued until 9 p.m.

Youngsters pitched rings at balloons in an attempt to win prizes donated by local businessmen for the carnival. Chances at the booths were 20 cents and the money collected will go to the muscular dystrophy fund. George received donations from local businessmen to enable him to set up a concession stand to help him earn more money for his cause.

"Adults come and give money to the youngsters hanging around rather than playing the games themselves," said Mrs. Robertson as she described the business her son was doing. A few adults bought the prizes without competing for them, donating their money in that way.

Icky Twerp sent George a telegram wishing him luck on the carnival and telling him that pictures of the carnival would be featured on the Slam Bang Theater from 7 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Texas Rangers, undercover narcotics agents, Odessa city police and Ector County deputies rounded up the alleged drug violators late Friday night and early Saturday.

Six persons were jailed in the Ector County facility, four in the Odessa City Jail and one in Tom Green County Jail at San Angelo.

Their bonds ranged from $2,000 for charges of possession of marijuana to $260,000 for charges of possession and sale of heroin.

Those in the Ector County jail were:
Mrs. Louisa Lujan, 32, possession and sale of heroin, $260,000 bond; Angel Sosa, 34, possession and sale of heroin, $65,000 bond; Florencio Sosa, 34, possession and sale of heroin, $50,000 bond; Estanislao Sosa, 17, possession of marijuana, $2,000 bond; Bentura Flores, 30, possession and sale of heroin, $110,000 bond; and Louis Orosco, 24, possession of marijuana, $2,000 bond.

The Odessa City Jail had the following booked:
Manuel Rodriguez, 27, possession and sale of heroin, $50,000 bond; Eden Flores, 34, possession of heroin, bond not set; Evadio Silas, 32, possession of heroin, $50,000 bond; and Manuel Olivas, 31, possession of heroin, $15,000 bond.

Amando Cruz, charged with sale of narcotics, was held on a $50,000 bond in the Tom Green County Jail.

Twins Hurt In Accident

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A set of nine-year-old Colorado City twins were injured, one critically, at about 8:15 p.m. Saturday in the backyard of their home at Seventh and Hickory when struck by a car driven by Madeline McIntosh, 60.

LaWayne Igleheart, the girl, has head injuries and is thought to be in critical condition.

DaWayne Igleheart, the boy, has an injured mouth and missing teeth but is thought to be in otherwise good condition. Both are in the Root Hospital in Colorado City. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wayne Igleheart of Colorado City. Igleheart is a local food store employee.

Police say the accident occurred when the south-bound vehicle driven by Mrs. McIntosh went out of control, crossed the north-bound lane, allegedly jumped the curb, rammed through a heavy wire fence and struck the children.

Fall Festival Set For Sacred Heart
The Sacred Heart Catholic Church, 509 N. Ayilford, will hold its annual fall festival Aug. 15-16, earlier than usual this year so it will be held before school starts.

A Mexican supper will be served at 4 p.m. Aug. 15 with tickets selling for $1.25. Tickets for the barbecue lunch at noon Aug. 16 are $1.50.

Approximately 15 booths will be in operation for the festival, and $1,000 in cash prizes will be given away.

Safety Conference
AUSTIN (AP) — Some 200 public employees are expected at San Angelo, Aug. 20-21, for a safety conference, the Texas Safety Association said today.

Robert M. Shannon, safety director for Lubbock, will discuss the recent tornado that hit that city.

THE WEEK

will have a berth in the State tournament.

One of the young guests of the Big Spring State Hospital met death in a tragic incident Wednesday. Anastacio (Ricky) Gonzales, 17, climbed the 105-ft. water tower, as he has once before, and in crawling and climbing at the top, slipped and fell to his death.

All this week area residents will have an opportunity to see a variety of entertainment at the Comanche Trail amphitheatre when the annual Starlight Specials are held. The opening program will be this evening after church when all congregations are asked to gather for a sing song. During the week there will be something to suit the taste of everyone.

Big Spring schools have been awarded $160,541 to finance the Headstart program for the school year. Around 200 preschool youngsters will participate, reaching into brackets which would not be eligible for the new kindergarten program in the schools. (Incidentally, today's Herald contains a wealth of information about schools of this area. You may want to clip and save the schedules.)

This is a good spot to mention that the Herald will receive another outstanding honor Monday evening in Austin. Jean Fannin will be on hand to receive the Bell award, given for continuing excellence in coverage of school news. The Herald has placed first in its division two out of three years, and for that thanks go to the local Texas State Teachers Association unit for compiling the record.

A couple of pipeline contracts were awarded during the week. The city accepted the bid $78,906 of Key Enterprises of Odessa for laying lines to Intech and Cosden, and the Colorado River Municipal Water District awarded the job to Panhandle Construction of Lubbock for $288,000 to lay 4 1/2 miles of 24-in. supply lines for a salt water system.

This might be proclaimed Budget Week. Monday morning Howard County commissioners have a look at the "propose budget, and a proposed salary increase seems to have evoked most interest. Tuesday at 5 p.m. Howard County Junior College trustees held the hearing on the college budget, and that evening Big Spring Trustees will have the hearing on the local school budget. Coahoma trustees will conduct a delayed hearing Monday evening.

An unusual suit was filed in 118th District Court during the week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hargett, Boerne, asked for $355,379 in damages from Searle Company, alleging a contraceptive pill was the proximate cause of Mrs. Hargett having developed cancer. It is not unlikely the case will be transferred to federal court.

A hint to the wise is sufficient — drive slowly on many of the city's streets for the next few weeks. Crews have started the annual seal coat program, and bleeding asphalt can be messy and loose gravel can ruin windshields.

David Price, Odessa, won the 39th annual Big Spring Country Club golf tournament last weekend. He fired a seven-under par score for the 36 holes. This is perhaps the oldest continuous golf tournament in West Texas.

Big Spring will not be among the finalists in the annual All-America City competition, but it did get praise for its application. We certainly didn't lose anything by trying, and we'll always be a bit better if we continue to try.

Texans Broil, San Angelo Scores 106

By The Associated Press

A burning sun broiled Texas to a turn Saturday with thermometers hitting 106 degrees at San Angelo and jumping to the century mark in widespread sections of the state.

There were a few isolated showers in Southeast Texas and from the western portion of the High Plains southward over the mountains of far West Texas.

The smoking maximum temperatures included 105 degrees at Mineral Wells and Wichita Falls; 104 at Fort Worth; 103 at Dallas, Childress, and Waco; 102 at Wink, 101 at Laredo and 100 at Abilene, Austin, and College Station. Galveston's 87 was the only maximum listed below 90 degrees.

The only rain measured in the 24-hour period ending at 7 p.m. was .39 of an inch at Dalhart.

Forecasters saw little relief for drought-plagued portions of the state.

Crop reports during the week indicated nearly every section of the state was short of moisture with the exception of some Southwest Texas areas where Hurricane Celia dumped an excess of rain.

Generally fair and hot weather was expected to continue over the state through Thursday with showers, light and widely scattered, expected in South Texas Tuesday. Forecasts said there was a slight chance of scattered showers in Northwest Texas on Tuesday, but there was no mention of moisture for North Central Texas and Northeast Texas.

Weathermen said temperatures of up to 103 were on tap for North Texas and as high as 105 in South Texas.

Howard FB Queen Presented Crown

Experience counted as Brenda Jackson, 1970 Howard County Farm Bureau Queen, retained her crown and title Saturday night for 1971. The 17-year-old, dark-haired beauty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Jackson, Gail Route. Brenda will be a senior this year at Borden County High School.

Robbie Cline, 20, was runner-up and the winner of the Talent Find contest. Robbie presented a patriotic narrative entitled "Day of Decision" as her talent entry. Robbie just completed her sophomore year at Howard County Junior College where she is majoring in business administration.

All contestants were required to speak on "Why I'm Glad I'm a Member of a Farm Bureau Family." Ed Cumble, contest emcee and Texas Farm Bureau Fieldman for District VI, posed the question to each girl. Soon to be crowned Queen Brenda replied, "When I think of the Farm Bureau, I think of insurance. The Farm Bureau means a better life for the farmer. It stands up for the rights of the farmer."

Brenda plans to go on to college and become a psychologist because she "would like to know more about people." "I like to know what makes them tick inside," she added.

As each contestant was presented to the audience and her family introduced, she was presented a certificate expressing gratitude for her interest and participation in the Farm Bureau.

Queen Brenda and runner-up Robbie smiled tearfully as they received the traditional roses and applause awarded all beauty winners.

Judging the contestants on the basis of appearance, poise and personality were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hanson and Edna Linder, all of Stanton. They also judged the Talent Find contest.

DEATHS

J. A. Magee, 71, Veteran At T&P

J. A. Magee, retired veteran employee of the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., died at 8:15 Saturday morning in a local hospital, where he had been under treatment for several days. He was 71.

Funeral services are to be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with the Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Elia Phillips. Burial will be in the Masonic section of Mt. Olive Cemetery.

Born Nov. 3, 1898, in Mineola, Mr. Magee came to Big Spring from Abilene in 1922, and until his retirement in 1963, was a welder and boilermaker with the T&P.

He was a life member in Staked Plains Lodge, No. 598, AF&M; of the Big Spring Council, No. 117, R&SM; Big Spring Chapter, No. 178, R.A.M.; Big Spring Commandery, No. 31, Knights Templar; and Big Spring Chapter, No. 67, Order of Eastern Star.

He was a member of the Methodist church, and had served in the Navy in World War I. The family home is at 707 Douglas.

Mr. Magee was married to Miss Inez Phelps in Midland, Nov. 11, 1921, and she survives. Other survivors are two sons, J. W. Forrester and Loyd Forrester, both of Fort Worth; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Wright Vickers, Norman Webb, R. L. Lee, Bill Emerson, T. R. Morris, Willard Sullivan and O. L. Nabors.

H. C. Stipp Hurt In Road Mishap

A Big Spring man suffered cuts, bruises and a broken leg when he was struck by a motorist near the entrance to the state park on FM 700 at 6:24 a.m. Saturday.

H. C. Stipp, 819 W. 18th, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Quilla Moulder Pope, 3602 Calvin. Stipp reportedly was jogging near the park entrance in the early morning hours when he was struck.

He was taken to Medical Center Memorial Hospital where he was listed as being in good condition.

Emory Hall, 65, Snyder Resident

Last rites were said Friday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Snyder for Emory Hall, 65, former Big Spring resident. He died Wednesday after a long illness.

Mr. Hall was born in Leon County, July 21, 1905, and he had been a druggist in Snyder in 1949. In Big Spring he worked for Settles Drug and Elliott Drug and was a member of the local Masonic orders, and a charter member of the Suez Shrine Temple. Survivors include his wife, one son, Larry Hall, Snyder; and two brothers.

Returned Here On Narcotics Charge

Capt. Stanley Bogard and Detective Bill Lee returned Gary Lee Scott, 19, 1212 E. 17th, to Big Spring from Eagle, Colo., Friday. The suspect was picked up on a warrant from Big Spring charging him with two counts of narcotics violations.

He was charged with possession of marijuana and conspiracy to deliver dangerous drugs. Bond was set at $15,000 each on the two charges by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Cosden Appoints Hughes To Project Engineering

Roy E. Hughes has been named project engineering manager for Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, it is announced by W. D. Broughton, chief engineer.

Hughes, who is a 1960 graduate of Texas A&M University with a BS degree in mechanical engineering, has been with Cosden since April 27, 1961. During his tenure in the engineering department he has also handled special assignments in maintenance, combustion control and field supervision of construction, and in January, 1969, was promoted to senior project engineer. Prior to joining the company he was employed a year by Westinghouse Electric.

A registered professional engineer in the State of Texas, Hughes is a member of the TSPE. He holds membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and serves on its petroleum division's chemical subcommittee. He also is a member of the piping subcommittee of the American Petroleum Institute's refining division.

Hughes is first vice president of the Downtown Lions Club and is president of the local Texas A&M Ex-Students Club. He is on the board of the American Little League. A member of the board of stewards of First United Methodist Church, he is also chairman of the church's building and grounds committee.

Hughes and his wife, the former Karen Montgomery, have two children: Steve, 11, and Kenda, 9. The family resides at 2512 East 24th. Hughes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Earl Hughes, 1801 Mittel. In addition to his other community activities, he is troop committee chairman for Boy Scout Troop 7.

Water Sales Climb Higher

Despite a drastically reduced schedule of deliveries to oil companies, water sales by the Colorado River Municipal Water District barely fell under the two-billion gallon mark during July.

Total deliveries, reported Paschal Odom, assistant general manager, amounted to 1,952,736,282 gallons. Of this, 1,643,852,000 was required to meet municipal demands. The oil company total of 314,884,282 gallons was down 31.82 per cent over a year ago. Companies previously using Lake Thomas water were cut back to half their normal requirements. The only operator showing an increase in demand for the month was the Walsh & Watts unit which gets salt water.

Odesa used 704,232,000 gallons, down .94 per cent, Big Spring used 352,581,000, down 14.32 per cent; Snyder 140,082,000; up 6.38 per cent; Stanton 6,114,000, down 1.58 per cent, and Midland, which was not taking water a year ago, used 440,843,000 gallons.

For the first seven months of the year, municipal deliveries have aggregated 6,178,497,000 gallons, up 30.71 per cent. The increase in July was 30.64 per cent. The seven-month total for oil companies is 2,725,684,225 gallons, or down 7.2 per cent. The total deliveries for oil companies, a good part of it in sale water from the normal low flow of the river, was down 31.82 per cent for July.

TASTY THANK-YOU — Mr and Mrs. Andy Tucker, 1101 Scurry, presented the staff and patients on Ward 3 West at the Veterans Administration Hospital with some highly edible thank-you notes Tuesday. Tucker was recently treated at the hospital for a heart attack. Darius Tweedy, Carlsbad, N. M., was one of the patients to receive a share of the pies.

Hospital Ward Enjoys Edible Thank-You

Doctors and nurses often receive cards from patients grateful for the care they received, but few have ever gotten as tasty a thanks as the Veterans Administration medical staff and patients received from Mr. and Mrs. Andy Tucker, 1101 N. Scurry.

Tucker was treated at the hospital after he suffered a heart attack and was recently released. He went back to Ward 3 West Tuesday to give the staff and patients a sample of his gratitude for the care he had received. Tucker and his wife had spent the morning baking pies to take to the hospital.

When the Tuckers arrived at the hospital, they were carrying a rack bearing five pies to share with the friends Tucker had made on the ward.

The pies were soon consumed, and the Tuckers may have started a new vogue in thank-you notes.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING Big Spring Pilots Follow Celia Into Gulf Coast Area

Two Big Spring pilots flew into the Corpus area this week following hurricane Celia.

Intech officials left Wednesday in a Queenair filing a flight plan to Corpus. Leon Anderson flew cross country Friday on a flight that took him to Bracketville, Corpus and back to Big Spring in a Cherokee 140 B.

Three pilots reached new status at Howard County Airport. Scott Baker soloed for the first time Monday in a Cherokee 140 with instructor James Fryar watching from the ground. Then on Thursday Lt. Mike Douvadjian soloed. His instructor was B. C. Weaver. Capt. Gary Hall passed his check ride for Flight Instructor Rating the same day. Inbound traffic this week included the niece of Mrs. J. H. Fuller flying here in a Cessna 172. Brother of Ted Berhenn landed in a Beach Bonanza from Colorado. Higginbotham Bartlett officials landed in an Aztec.

Monday employes of Paas Plumbing Co., Waco, flew here on business in a Cessna 310. T. R. Rudd of Intech was flown here Tuesday for an overnight stay, landing in the Queenaire. Cabot officials landed Thursday in the Queenaire. Builders Supply's Twin Comanche flew in the same day.

Local cross countries this week included transferring a burn patient to Shriner's hospital in Galveston with Paul Kessler the pilot.

Don Kasch flew dual cross country with instructor James Fryar to Brownwood, San Angelo and back home. O. D. Landrum test flew a Cessna 180 which he recently rebuilt. Fred Kasch took the Aztec up on a business hop. Gary Hall flew to Lowake for a steak supper.

Grasshoppers Get Fruits

F. E. Lowke went out to pick his peaches and found nothing but the seed pits.

Well, it wasn't that drastic, but Lowke reports that grasshopper infestation has ruined the peach, apple and apricot crop at his home in Sand Springs.

Lowke has one tree of each fruit.

"They ate all the green peaches, apples and apricots and all the leaves off the apricot tree," said Mrs. Lowke. The grasshoppers that stripped the Lowkes' trees the past two weeks are part of a summer long infestation of the insects in Howard and surrounding counties.

Old Bait, Switch Alert

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin warned Texas housewives Friday of what he called two "questionable sales tactics" now being used.

One, he said, is the "classified advertising of brand new sewing machines at ridiculously low prices." Then some merchants "tell the prospective purchaser that the limited number of machines on hand have been sold or disparage the advertised machines so that a more expensive model or an unknown brand is substituted.

"This is the old bait and switch routine," Martin said. The other tactic is being used by telephone solicitation of magazine subscriptions in which would-be purchasers are told they will get three free magazines with the purchase of one magazine at regular newsstand prices.

"However, the truth is that these magazines are not free since the contract price covers the cost of subscribing to all four publications," Martin said. Martin asked any victim of such sales tactics to report them to their local Better Business Bureau or to the Consumer Protection Division in the attorney general's department.

Says Poverty Is Not Perpetuating

ATLANTA (AP) — A national survey has produced results to dispute the theory that poverty breeds poverty, the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare says.

The department released Friday the results of a survey by researcher Oliver C. Moles that shows two-thirds of the sons of farmers, laborers and service workers have higher level jobs than their fathers.

Moles said more than 80 per cent of those who moved to cities from rural areas held better jobs than their fathers.

Preston Harrison Cited In Book

Additional recognition has come recently to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital and sessioner as an acting deputy commissioner for mental health and mental retardation. He has been included in the National Register of Prominent Americans and International Notables, 1970-71. The publication cites men and women for outstanding achievements in business, profession, community and governmental service. He has been listed in Who's Who for several years.

Frank Meng To Direct Herald Classified Dept.

Effective Monday, Frank Meng is being advanced to the position of Classified Advertising Manager with The Herald, and will have supervision of all accounts represented in that department.

He succeeds Melvin Fryar, a veteran of nearly eight years on the Herald staff who resigned to become director of advertising for the Borger News-Herald.

Meng has been with The Herald since February, as an advertising salesman. Native of Chicago, he grew up in Iowa, attended schools in that state and in two years the American Institute in Des Moines, specializing in business and advertising. For a time he was with the Maytag Company in Newton, Iowa, in the advertising department, then was general manager for Middle West Distributors in Chicago, devoting a great deal of his attention to advertising and catalog work. Meng was persuaded by a friend to "come to Texas" and landed in San Angelo, where for 15 months he was Classified Advertising Manager with the Standard-Times. He came from there to The Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Meng reside at 1206 Harding. They are affiliated with the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society.

Joining The Herald this week as a salesman in display advertising is B. M. (Bill) Reimer, a recent graduate from Southwest Texas State University, San Marcos, with a BBA degree. He attended public schools in New Braunfels.

Mr. and Mrs. Reimer reside at 605 Runnels. She is to be

Astros Blow 4-Run Lead In 6-5 Loss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays singled in two runs with one out in the ninth inning to cap a five-run rally and send the San Francisco Giants past the Houston Astros 6-5 Saturday.

The Giants entered the ninth trailing 5-1 but Dick Deitz, Jim Hart and Ron Hunt hit consecutive singles to load the bases and knock out reliever Fred Gladding.

Rookie's Run Gives Saints Win, 14-13

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Rookie safety Doug Wyatt ran back a fumble recovery 50 yards with four seconds remaining and Tom Dempsey kicked a conversion to give the New Orleans Saints a startling 14-13 National Football League exhibition victory over the Minnesota Vikings in a game played almost completely by rookies.

The fumble was made by rookie George Kent as he ran around right end at midfield. The game followed the induction of former NFL playing greats Tom Fears, Hugh McElhenny, Jack Christiansen and Pete Pihos into the Pro Football Hall of Fame here.

The Vikings had a 13-0 lead on two field goals by Fred Cox and rookie Homer Cavitt's 14-yard fumble return for a touchdown until 3:01 was left.

Second-year quarterback Edd Hargett then put the Saints on the scoreboard with a six-yard pass to rookie Ken Burroughs with Dempsey adding a conversion kick.

OPPOSE BRENHAM CLUB Americans Play Tuesday, 7:30

It'll be "all aboard" at 1 p.m. Monday for the Big Spring American Little League All-Stars, who are leaving for the State tournament in Austin.

The surprising Americans will depart from their own diamond on the HCJC campus. The boys have been instructed to report no later than 12:30 p.m. for final instructions and exchanging final goodbyes with relatives and friends.

The Big Springers will oppose Brenham in first round play at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday on the Skipper Field diamond in the northeast section of Austin.

Only four teams will be in the State meet, so the locals need win only two games to qualify for the Southern Regional tournament at St. Petersburg, Fla., Aug. 19-22. A success there would qualify the Big Springers for the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 24-29.

The Americans are managed by Jerry Robinson. Jerry Thompson is the coach.

The youths and their adult supervisors will be quartered at the Mount Vernon motel just off IS 35.

The Big Spring - Brenham game, incidentally, will be televised in the Austin area. The Americans first won District 3 honors, then captured Sectional laurels at Lubbock last week, turning back Ozona, 4-1; El Paso, 1-0; and Lubbock, 3-1, in that order.

At Lubbock, Noel Hull won

Cincy Mauls LA, 10 To 5

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tony Perez led a long ball barrage with a single and two homers for six runs batted in and the Cincinnati Reds mauled the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-5 Saturday.

After spotting the Dodgers a 3-0 lead, the Reds came back on Perez' homers and one each by Bernie Carbo, Pete Rose and Lee May to balloon their National League West lead to 14 games, largest of the season.

Loser Bill Singer, 8-5, blanked the Reds until Carbo opened the fourth with his 10th homer, a mammoth blast over the 400-foot sign in dead centerfield.

Perez singled in another run in the fifth, and then the Reds wrapped it up in the seventh.

Aaron Rips 2 Managers

NEW YORK — Atlanta Brave superstar Hank Aaron thinks Gene Mauch and Harry Walker are lousy managers.

In an interview appearing in the recent edition of Sport magazine, Aaron surveys the current managerial scene and makes these comments:

"It burns me up a little that there's this kind of what would you call it—managerial club, whereby the owners seem to have gotten together and decided that certain men, white men, should be hired and rehired no matter what kind of failures they have been. Take guys like Gene Mauch or Harry Walker. They've both had real good teams at one time or another but have never produced a winner, and yet as soon as they're fired by one owner, another owner picks them up and gives them a new chance. A second chance is one thing, but third and fourth chances when you've been lousy time and again with first-rate material seems ridiculous; especially when you've got guys like Ernie Banks and Willie Mays available in the wings."

"Now, a guy like Walt Alston or Gil Hodges should be rehired again and again because each of them has proved that he can work well with players, that he knows the game and that he can get the most from the team. But there aren't all that many guys like that around."

GRID RESULTS

Cincinnati 27, Washington 12; Miami 16, Pittsburgh 10; New Orleans 14, Minnesota 13.

San Angelo Lions Oppose Cardinals In 2:30 Game

The Big Spring Cardinals, winners in 21 of 25 starts this season, will be at home in Steer Park today in a single game with San Angelo's Lions. The contest gets under way at 2:30 p.m.

The Red Birds have twice measured the Lions this season, 9-7 and 15-10.

Since those games, however, the Angeloans have strengthened their lineup with the addition of several college players.

Either Leon Hobbs or Tony Fierro will likely pitch for Big Spring.

Other starters will be Al Mendoza in left field, Billy Pineda at second base, Jesse Zapata in center, Andy Gamboa or Benny Marquez Jr., in right, Tony Martinez at third base, Pat Martinez behind the plate, and Felix Martinez at shortstop.

Abel Ramirez, who has been dividing time behind the plate with Joe Martinez, was injured in workouts but likely will be available for pinch hitting duties.

Pano Rodriguez and Jesse Olague will also be in uniform and ready to be assigned anywhere. Jody Florez will be in the bull pen, in event the management needs a relief pitcher.

The American Little League Stars, who have now qualified for the State tournament, will be presented with a plaque prior to game time by Benny Marquez Sr., general manager of the Cards.

Marquez also plans to present a plaque to officials of the Rockets of the International Little League, who are City champions.

One of the Cards' most consistent players in recent seasons has been Pineda, a good fielder and an able defensive player. He has done much to help the Cards compile one of their most successful records in years.

Beard, Shaw In Tie For Lead At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Frank Beard put on an amazing putting exhibition on the back nine Saturday, fired a three-under-par 67 and tied Tom Shaw for the third-round lead in the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

They had matching 54-hole scores of 205, five under par on the demanding 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club Course.

Shaw, who had the second-round lead with Shaw, took a 70 and was one stroke away at 206.

He was tied at that figure with Tommy Aaron, who had a 68 despite a double-bogey seven when he dumped it in the water on the 16th.

Bob Stone, a gray-haired 40-year-old, and Bruce Crampton followed at 207. Stone had the day's best round, a 65, and Crampton finished with a 70 after bogeying the final hole.

Defending champion Ray Floyd had a 69 for 208 and was followed by Jack Nicklaus, 69, and Julius Boros, 70, who were tied at 209.

Beard, last year's leading money winner, was two strokes off the lead when play began on the warm, muggy day.

He played the front side in par 35, then used only 10 putts over his last nine holes, that despite a double bogey six on the 13th.

"I'm the best putter in the world, but I couldn't believe that," Beard said. He chipped to six inches to save par on the 10th and birdied the next two from 15 and 18 feet before the double bogey.

The quiet man from Louisville, Ky., put his drive in deep rough, "hit some bad shots," and reached the green in four. He then two-putted.

Frank had 15-foot birdie putts on 14 and 17, saved par with clutch putts at 15 and 16 and ripped an eight-iron to within three feet on 18.

Shaw, who had a 69, started shakily and was three over par for the day after 10 holes. He rallied with birdie putts of 35, 10, and 30 feet on Nos. 11, 12 and 16, then lashed a five-iron to within 18 inches on the final hole.

Winners were crowned in four divisions of the karate tournament held Saturday in the local YMCA, an event which attracted 23 entries from around the state.

In the Blue division, considered the toughest of the competition, Herbert Quinella, Odessa, defeated James Wilson, Midland, in the finals.

Quinella earlier had beaten James Hughes, Big Spring; Frank Gaines, Big Spring; and James Williamson, Midland, on the way to the finals.

Wilson measured Tring, Odessa; and Joe Hines, Big Spring, in earlier tests.

In the White class, Rambo, Odessa, turned back Chris Brudrefas, Big Spring, in the championship match. Rambo defeated Sam Rosen, Big Spring, to reach the finals while Brudrefas was disposing of Albert Puga, Big Spring. Puga then won third place.

In the Junior-Women's division, Kevin Lawler, Temple, shaded Barbara Turner, Dallas; and Chuck Gibbs, Odessa, to emerge as titlist.

In the Form division, Midland's Joe Wilson won it while Lawler was second and Barber Turner was third.

Another karate meet is tentatively scheduled to be held at Howard County JC in about four months.

HANDY LANDING — Minnesota Twins' second baseman Danny Thompson (5) lands on his hands after being upset by Oakland Athletics' Rick Monday who was forced out at second but broke up double play attempt by Twins in third inning of American League game Saturday in the Twin Cities. Philip Alou grounded to Thompson who forced out Monday but throw to first to get Alou was not in time.

Cowboy Cage Team Alters Plan To Win

By The Associated Press
The basketball season was over and the gridiron heroes were off doing whatever they do during summers, probably painting strike signs, and the sports scene was pretty foggy.

So when the cry went up, "The Cowboys are playing," there was nothing to do but put on shoes and go see.

It was not a particularly everyday Cowboy performance. There was no roar from 72,000 throats. More like 72 throats and not much roaring.

Five Cowboys were preparing to take on something called the Mexico City All-Stars, consisting of 13 Methodists, three of whom spoke English.

The Dallas players towered over our amigos and probably weighed twice as much per man, but all of a sudden the little men of this world took heart.

What it was was basketball.

EARLY LEAD
The All-Stars, some of whom would have to carry lead weights to send the scales spinning to a hundred pounds, bounced off to a 7-0 lead and it looked like the Cowhounds just didn't have it.

Reggie Rucker, stationed under the basket which is no place for a football wide receiver, kept getting fouled. That's the only way the short amigos could get the ball—just crawl up the backs of the towering Cowboys and hope the referee didn't catch them.

FOULS
The All-Stars found they didn't need to worry about fouls because Rucker was hitting his foul shots about like Walt Chamberlain, which is usually zero.

Quarterback Craig Morton was just as bad.

It looked like the only way Dallas could score was to have Ron Widby exercise his specialty and punt. He wasn't having any luck either. And he was an All-America cage player at Tennessee.

But Leron Lee opened the Cardinal ninth with a walk Jose Cardenal reached second and Lee third on Raymond's throwing error, setting the stage for four unearned runs.

Lee scored as Lou Brock grounded out, pinch-hitter Carl Taylor singled in Cardenal and then Hague connected.

Mason quit to join the staff at Sonora High School. Hermleigh will play six-man ball this fall.

Tommie Agee Leads Mets To Win Over Pittsburgh
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tommie Agee slammed two singles, two doubles and a triple, scored four runs and drove in two as the New York Mets held off the Pittsburgh Pirates 12-9 in a 32-hit slugfest.

The Mets, who outthrew the Pirates 17-15, moved within 2½ games of the National League East leaders and also snapped the Pirates' five-game winning streak in the nationally-televised contest.

The Mets appeared to be breezing, building a 10-3 lead after 6½ innings, but they had to survive their own errors and a Pittsburgh rally in the end.

The Pirates scored three times in the seventh on Matty Alou's run-scoring hit and Roberto Clemente's two-run homer, his 12th.

Then in the eighth, the Pirates combined three singles, two walks and two errors for three more runs to pull within 10-9 and had runners on second and third before reliever Gary Gentry got the final out.

The Mets added two insurance runs in the ninth when Agee tripled with one out, scored on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly and Cleon Jones doubled and scored on Ron Swoboda's single.

Baker Recalled By New Yorkers
NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Baker, 23-year-old shortstop with Syracuse of the International League, was recalled Friday by the New York Yankees who placed the veteran Ron Hansen on the disabled list for 21 days because of a pulled hamstring muscle.

Baker was hitting 260 at Syracuse in 104 games and had hit three homers and driven in 40 runs. He was with the Yanks in spring training.

Dave McNally Claims 16th Win For O's

NEW YORK (AP) — Boog Powell and Merv Rettenmund slugged successive third-inning homers, carrying the Baltimore Orioles and lefthander Dave McNally to a 4-2 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday.

McNally survived 11 New York hits for his 16th victory against seven setbacks as the Orioles widened their lead over the runner-up Yankees in the American League East to 9½ games.

With two out in the third, Brooks Robinson singled to center off Yanks' starter Mike Kekich, 2-3, and Powell drilled his 28th homer of the year into the center field bleachers. Rettenmund followed with another bleacher shot to right center for his 13th homer.

Palmer To Give Junior Clinic
WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — The 14th annual Texas-Oklahoma junior Golf Tournament gets a royal kickoff Monday when pro king Arnold Palmer jets into town for a clinic and exhibition round.

Palmer will fly here from Tulsa after a practice round for the PGA tournament. He'll conduct a 30-minute clinic and then play a nine-hole exhibition with three of the tournament's top players.

Lapchick Hospitalized With Heart Ailment
MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Lapchick, a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame who spent 50 years in the sport as a player and coach, was in serious condition Saturday with a heart ailment at a Monticello hospital.

Lapchick, 70, was taken to the hospital earlier in the week but the seriousness of his condition was not revealed until Saturday.

Lapchick began his career in basketball as a semi-pro player at the age of 19, played for the famed Original Celtics and coached St. John's University and the professional New York Knicks. He last coached in 1965 when St. John's won the National Invitation Tournament.

Since his retirement, Lapchick has been sports coordinator for Kutscher's Country Club. A stringbean 6-foot-5, the angular Lapchick was one of the first big men in the sport when he came out of Yonkers, N.Y., to join the Original Celtics in the 1920s.

Following his career with the Celtics, Lapchick began coaching at St. John's in 1938 and finished out a decade at the New York school before taking over the reins of the Knicks. From 1950 through 1965 he remained in the pro ranks, then returned to St. John's for another decade.

But Widby finally did score, using his 210 pounds to power his way to the basket and hit, to leave the Cowboys behind only 7-2.

It rocked along like that until shortly before the half when the Cowboys shot ahead 13-12.

The Cowboys had a coach present, but he sat in the stands of the shiny new Highland Park High School gym, laughing and talking and happy as could be that he wasn't having to mastermind this one.

HEROES
He was Tom Landry and he shortly was surrounded by kids who tried to make conversation of any sort and couldn't think of anything to ask about except the Cleveland game, something that has bugged their little minds for months.

Landry shortly went to the other side of the gym where no one was sitting, and in a flash he was surrounded by the same kids. Unless you see it, you can't believe what heroes Landry and all the Cowboy players are to Dallas youngsters — and several thousand old goats, too, no matter how loudly they boo in the Cotton Bowl.

Meanwhile, the slim young fellows from Mexico City were making the Cowboys sweat. Perspiration poured off Dan Reeves, Dennis Homan et al, but worse in the second half than the first half by several gallons.

TIRE RAPIDLY
About that time the Cowboys decided they had better do what they know best if they were going to win—simply become immovable objects and not try to outrace the fast, agile Mexicans who were running circles around the football heroes whenever the basketball was in Mexican hands.

Besides, the musclemen were tiring rapidly. The footballers found it is one thing to expend great energy for 15 seconds on the football field and then rest two minutes for the commercials, and quite another to go hard and fast without interruptions on a basketball court. CBS wasn't using network time for this one.

Suddenly it was very noticeable that Reeves, et al, were not driving furiously for the basket. They were standing wherever they got the ball and shooting, sometimes from incredible distances, and avoiding all that sprightly running.

Not long after that, there wasn't much running by the Cowboys at all. There was just too much muscle to move at that pace particularly against the speed of the All-Stars.

NO RUNNING
Two Cowboys would stand at one end of the court and two others at another, with Homan, who didn't seem to tire too much, as the middleman.

The Cowboys finally won by something like 70 to 60.

Hagan Looks For Campaign To Cut Costs

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Bo Hagan, Rice football coach, figures the faculty folks of the NCAA are going to crack down shortly on the high cost of collegiate athletics—in particular football.

"I believe the faculty people will force something to curtail the soaring costs," Hagan said. "Even schools like Nebraska which fill the stadium every Saturday are having trouble making ends meet."

Hagan said he wouldn't be surprised to see a push for a return to one-platoon football.

"I believe the specialization in college football has made it more exciting than it has ever been," he said. "But 50 scholarships are just too many. Forty would be a good number."

Hagan said he wouldn't be surprised to see the NCAA put a limit on scholarships around the 40 level.

"The Southwest Conference has 50 and that's probably the highest in the nation," he said. Hagan said he believed private schools such as Rice could more equally compete in football with state schools such as Texas and Arkansas on a 40 scholarship limit.

Davis Added By Coaches
WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Running back Charles Davis of Columbia-Brazoria, the most valuable offensive player in last week's Texas High School Coaches Association all-star game, has been named to the Texas squad for the 33rd annual Oil Bowl.

Texas coaches Ernest Hawkins and Richard Harvey drafted Davis when Houston Kashmere tailback Delvin Williams was lost due to an injury suffered in the THSCA all-star contest.

The Texas coaches also replaced Houston Lee's Steve Crumley, injured in the coaches game, with Lubbock Estacado's Larry Miller.

The annual contest Friday night features high school seniors from Texas and Oklahoma in their final schoolboy performances.

Oklahoma upset the Texans 17-7 in last year's game but Texas leads the over-all series, 17-5-1.

This year's game was shifted to Wichita Falls High School's Coyote Stadium and officials were predicting a crowd of 20,000.

The Texas team was expected to arrive in time Sunday to hold an afternoon workout.

Chaps To Open With Pacers

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association Saturday announced they will open their 1970-71 home schedule Oct. 23 here against the defending champion Indiana Pacers.

Chaparral General Manager Max Williams said the game would be promoted jointly by the Chaparrals and the downtown Lions with net proceeds earmarked for charity.

The Chaparrals, which recently became a regional franchise, will play 25 games in Dallas, 12 at the Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth and five in Lubbock.

Joe Hague Shines In Cardinal Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joe Hague, who singled and doubled for three earlier runs, capped a four-run burst in the ninth inning with a two-run homer, lifting the streaking St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-10 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday.

The Expos had broken a 7-7 deadlock with three runs in the top of the ninth off Al Hrabosky, 2-1, on Bob Bailey's run-scoring single—his second of the game—a throwing error and a single by Jim Gosger, who doubled in three earlier runs.

Nassau Cyclist Clay On Wheels

LEICESTER, England (AP) — Boston Blackie, professional heavyweight boxer from the Bahamas, lumbered into the arena of the World Cycling Championships and said: "Here I am, man. I want to ride."

"You're not registered," officials told him.

"Then register me, man," said Blackie. "I've flown all the way from Nassau and I'm not just going to turn round and go back again."

There's something about Blackie that breaks down rules and other barriers. Officials agreed to put him on the lists for all three professional events in the championships—sprint, pursuit and road race.

"But I haven't got a bike," he said.

Ian Nevit, coach of the Trinidad and Tobago team, took Blackie shopping around Leicester and he bought a cycle, riding kit and shoes. Then he moved in with the Trinidad and Tobago team—with two bottles of red wine under his arm.

"This is the way I train for boxing and I'm not going to change my ways for cycling," he said.

The first time he pedaled around the Saffron Lane Circuit his tire went flat and he fell off. He hadn't allowed enough time for the glue to dry on the new tire.

Blackie, whose real name is Leonard Miller, is 33 and weighs 183.

In the past two days he has been going around the arena chatting up the teams, the officials and everyone else.

"He's Cassius Clay on wheels," said a girl serving at the bar, where Blackie is a regular customer.

Standing at the bar with a pint of English beer in his hand, Blackie said, "I hear these professional riders can get tough. If they get tough with me I'll beat 'em up."

Blackie said he had 77 pro fights, with 20 knockout victo-

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians sold lefthanded pitcher Dick Ellsworth to the Milwaukee Brewers for an undisclosed sum Friday.

Ellsworth was 3-3 for the Indians this season. He pitched for the Chicago Cubs from 1960 through 1966 and spent the 1967 season with Philadelphia before joining Boston in 1968.

McElhenny Is Moved By Shrine Ceremony

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The emotion of Hugh McElhenny, a former National Football League great, was noticeably moved by his induction into the Shrine Hall of Fame.

McElhenny, the running back who spent nine of his 13 pro years with the San Francisco 49ers, said he hadn't planned a prepared speech because "I knew as I stood before you—"

FINE PROSPECT RETURNS Forsan's Jackie Willis

Bisons To Take Tests Aug. 12

FOR SAN — Physical examinations for Forsan High School football players are still scheduled for Wednesday but the hour has been changed from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., head coach Don Stevens has announced.

The tests will be undertaken by Dr. Pete Rhymes in the Big Spring High School fieldhouse and Stevens is urging that all prospective griders be on hand.

The Buffaloes, who were 7-3 last year, will start workouts in shorts Monday, Aug. 17, and in pads Monday, Aug. 24.

Stevens has lined up two scrimmages for the Bisons, the first one at 4 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 27, in Forsan and the second in Grandfalls Thursday, Sept. 3. In each instance, the scrimmage will start at 4 p.m.

The Buffaloes launch their season Friday, Sept. 12, against Bronte, always troublesome in the past, at home.

Agnew sent a congratulatory telegram to Pihos saying in part, "The highly successful sports career of Pete Pihos is an enviable achievement which all sports enthusiasts admire. His renowned durability, versatility and drive are inspirational to all young athletes."

Pihos was a two-way performer for his first five seasons with the Philadelphia Eagles and won all-league honors. He was an all-league choice as defensive specialist in 1952 and finished his career as an offensive end for three years, leading the league in pass receiving and winning all league honors each year.

Fears, who after his induction coached the New Orleans Saints against the Minnesota Vikings in the season's first exhibition game between pro teams, said: "I am very happy—extremely happy—also very nervous," in commenting on his dual role. Fears was an end from 1948 to 1956 for the Los Angeles Rams and the only player to lead the NFL in pass receiving his first three seasons.

Christiansen was introduced by Raymond "Buddy" Parker, his first coach in his eight-year career with the Detroit Lions in which he was an all-league defensive back six seasons.

"He did everything well. He was an all-around great player," Parker said. Christiansen retorted: "I don't remember you saying all those kind things when we were talking contracts."

Twins Build Nine-Game Lead With 3-1 Victory

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins widened their runaway lead in the West Division of the American League to nine games Saturday by defeating the Oakland A's 3-1 on Rich Reese's two-run homer.

The A's, who have lost eight of the nine games they have played this year against Minnesota, fell 10 games behind the Twins and stayed one game back of second-place California.

Reese sent the Twins in front to stay in the second inning with his ninth homer after Harmon Killebrew walked.

Hair Wouldn't Bother Casey

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel, still celebrating his 89th birthday but now belatedly, said Friday Joe Namath and Joe Pepitone, long hair or short, would be acceptable "as long as they played good for me."

The names of Namath and Pepitone were drawn into the conversation by newsmen after Mayor John Lindsay proclaimed Saturday "Casey Stengel Day" in New York as part of the New York Yankees' Oldtimers Day celebration.

McConal Elevated At Cross Plains

CROSS PLAINS — Mack McConal has been named to succeed Les Cowan as head football coach at Cross Plains High School.

Arthur Boyle will serve as head basketball coach of the Buffaloes. McConal has been serving in junior high here but Boyle will be new to the system. McConal is seeking an assistant.

Pinch-Hit Homer Fells Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chuck Hinton crashed a two-run pinch-hit homer in the ninth inning Saturday, giving the Cleveland Indians a 4-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

With two out in the ninth, Ray Fosse tagged reliever Darold Knowles for a double and Hinton, batting for Ted Uhlaender, drilled his fourth homer of the season breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

Home runs accounted for all of the scoring with Jack Heidemann's bases-empty shot off Dick Bosman pulling the Indians even in the fifth.

Roy Foster's 13th homer gave the Indians a 1-0 lead in the fourth but Frank Howard, celebrating his 34th birthday, poled his 30th in the bottom of the inning after a single by Lee Maye.

Ex-Hog Says He Has Quit Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ernie Ruple, third year tackle with the Pittsburgh Steelers, has left the team's training camp saying he was no longer interested in playing football.

The 25-year-old athlete was the Steelers' second round draft choice in 1968. He played college ball at Arkansas.

Mobile Player Back With Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — First baseman - outfielder Ossie Blanco was recalled Friday by the Chicago White Sox from Mobile of the Southern League.

Blanco, who batted .167 in 36 at bats from May 25 to June 26 before the Sox optioned him to Mobile, hit .326 in 37 games for the Alabama club.

Laver And Roche In Net Finals

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Defending champion Rod Laver swept past Cliff Drysdale, 6-3, 6-0, 6-1 and fourth seeded Tony Roche rallied to defeat Roy Emerson 2-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3 Saturday in the semifinals of the U.S. Pro Tennis Championships.

The two left-handed Australian pros will meet for the title Sunday, setting up the third straight all-Aussie final in this tournament and the fifth in the last six years.

It also marks the eighth straight appearance in the finals for Laver, who has won the tournament five times, including the last four years in a row.

Ruidoso Talk Upcoming

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP) — The Fortuna - Sunland Park group plans to talk with the New Mexico Racing Commission Sunday about the proposed purchase of majority stock in the Ruidoso Downs horse race track.

A Sunland attorney, John F. Simms Jr., said commission attorneys "have indicated they would be glad to hear about our offer to purchase the stock and we'll discuss it with them" Sunday. He said he expects the talks to be informal.

The purchase proposal had been made earlier and approved by State Appeals Court Judge Waldo Speiss who has been presiding over a complex receivership case involving the Ruidoso track.

The majority Ruidoso Downs stock is held by Newco Industries, Inc., headed by Eric Culver who operates the La Mesa Park horse track in Raton.

The judge said the sale would be subject to Racing Commission approval. A Sunland attorney then said the Sunland group expected quick action from the Racing Commission or the deal would fall through.

The commission declined immediate action and the Sunland group apparently decided later to extend its time limit on the purchase agreement.

The Fortuna - Sunland group operates a horse race track at Sunland Park near El Paso, Tex.

Gold Rush 70 Drive Is Under Way Here

Gold Rush 70, a campaign to rally the community behind Big Spring High School athletic teams, has been renewed by the Quarterback Club officials here. Hundreds of membership cards, family accreditation which sell for $5 each, have been placed in the mail to local friends of the school.

Paul Shaffer and Harrold Jones, co-captains of the club, along with club secretary James Duncan, issued a joint statement in which they said that the organization has hopes of making this the finest year ever in Big Spring athletics.

By infusing spirit into the school's athletic programs, Shaffer said, the fans would be richly rewarded in many ways. "A community can do so much to make the boys feel appreciated," Jones stated. "A team which knows that the fans are solidly behind them naturally tries harder, plays better and has more fun doing it."

Plans for a QBC meal honoring the football team and their coaches have not been announced but will be announced shortly, Shaffer stated. Activities conducted by the club throughout the 1969-70 school year (and the boosters

Troop 300 Is Swim Champ

Troop 300, sponsored by the St. Paul Presbyterian Church, captured first place in the Boy Scout Lone Star district aquatic meet Saturday at the Webb AFB NCO pool.

The troop piled up 87 points in the 14 events, leading Troop 145 which had 47 points. Troop 16 had 42 points; Troops 179 with 12 points; and Troops 11 with six points.

Upwards of 100 boys were on hand for the meet, conducted by the camping and activities committee headed by Jimmy Ray Smith and Aubrey Bryans, assisted by Monte Stokes, district Scout executive.

This is the way the scoring went: FREE STYLE — (11-13 years) Brad Sinder, David Dugan, Porter Medley; (14 and over) Glen Carlton, Mike Malone, David Williams.

BREAST STROKE — (11-13) Nat Hart, Brad Sinder, Mark Sheedy; (14 over) Paul Pascale, Stanley Parize, David Williams.

SIDE STROKE — (11-13) Doug Robison, Wesley Thixton, Cliff Thomas; (14 over) Glen Carlton, Mike Malone.

BACK STROKE — (11-13) Danny Ginder, Peter Long, Mark Sheedy; (14 over) Tim Dunn, Tony Thixton, Foran Reese.

INDIVIDUAL MEDLEY — (11-13) Nat Hart, Wesley Thixton, Joe Alexander; (14 over) Paul Pascale, Stanley Parize, Bill Lofie.

MEDLEY RELAY — (11-13) Troop 16 (Gary Tidwell, Joe Alexander, Goge Mims, Wesley Thixton); Troop 300 (Greg Horton, Mark Sheedy, Nat Hart, Doug Robison); Troop 11 (David Shryneck, John Cline, John Greg, Cliff Thomas); Troop 200 (Terry Purcell, Mike Thomas, Tim Dunn, Glenn Carlton); Troop 14 (David Williams, Joe Alexander, Goge Mims, Wesley Thixton).

FREE STYLE RELAY — (11-13) Troop 14 (Porter Medley, Jim Malone, Ginge Dinder, Mark Medley); Troop 300 (Kevin Evans, David Dugan, Cliff Thomas, W. Horton); Troop 11 (Goge Mims, Mark Goss, Joe Alexander, Wesley Thixton); (14 over) Mark Forti, Ricky Long, Mike Malone, Jay Hughes); Troop 179 (Steve Hughes, Brad Sinder, Jackie Richards, Bob Pribel).

CHICAGO (AP) — Syd O'Brien drove in three Chicago runs with two singles and two more runs stemmed from pitcher Rudy May's pickoff throwing error as the White Sox walloped the California Angels 8-1 Saturday.

Bob Miller yielded seven hits, including Roger Repoz' 13th homer and second in two days. In the second inning, Miller, 5-6, had to be bailed out by Wilbur Wood after loading the bases with two out in the eighth.

May, 6-8, was nicked for 12 hits in his six-inning stint, three in each of the first two innings as the Sox picked up a run in each on a double by Duane Josephson and O'Brien's single.

Local Lad Wins Runnerup Spot Milton Jones, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jones, finished second in the recent DeMolay State Confedate golf tournament staged over the Tennessean Park course in Dallas.

Jones was not alerted that he had gained the runnerup spot until he returned to his hotel, at which time a trophy was delivered to him. Milton was second in the meet last year, when it was staged in San Antonio, but did not receive a cup at that time. He finished third in the meet when it was staged in Galveston two years ago.

were especially busy in the carry out the Gold Rush theme by wearing gold-colored clothing to athletic contests, both at home and on the road. Some of the merchants are cooperating by offering gold-tinted clothing (shirts, jerseys, hats, skirts, blouses and slacks) at discount prices.

A list of those will be announced later, Jones stated.

SUPERSTAR ON THE SIDELINES! — His football future a big question mark, Joe Namath leans against a lamp post near his east side apartment in New York Friday. Joe's team, the New York Jets, left for their first exhibition game without him Friday and club president Phil Iselein, who met with Namath Thursday night, said that no further meetings with the missing quarterback were planned—although he'd be glad to meet with Namath any time.

Success Stories Trickle In From Mitchell Lakes

The fish have been slow to take to bait in the Mitchell County lakes but some reports of success are trickling in.

One of the better catches was by R. D. Penny of Crane, who bagged a 28-pound yellow catfish at Lake Colorado City.

Joe Simonek of Odessa reported a catch that included 150 channel cat, several weighing up to three pounds. A San Angelo couple reeled in 65 bluegill while a Snyder party reported a catch that included 45 white bass.

Among the catches were: LAKE COLORADO CITY STATE PARK L. B. Seals, Big Spring, caught one 3 lb. bass, 1 lb. channel cat, 1 lb. yellow cat, and a 3 lb. channel cat. Another gentleman from Big Spring caught a channel cat weighing 1 1/2 lbs. and 10 channel cat weighing from 1-1 1/2 lbs.

Ex-Grizzer Dies CLEBURNE, Tex. (AP) — John Roth, 65, a Southern Methodist football great, died here Thursday. Funeral services were scheduled for 4 p.m. today in Cleburne.

Jack Woodley Faces Uphill Grid Fight

GARDEN CITY — Coach Jack Woodley faces a rebuilding job with his Bearcats when the football season starts practice. He will have to do a lot of it with lightweight rookies.

He has 12 men returning, and the key players are Floyd Schwartz, a senior, all-district honorable mention, and Earl Jansa, a junior, who was all-district defensive end.

Union and Southland dropped out of football, creating a schedule problem. Sterling City will play Garden City twice — a practice game Sept. 11 to fill one of the holes.

Woodley, however, needs to book an eight-man game Sept. 18 if at all possible. In the alternative, the team would consider an 11-man game.

Tentative scrimmages have been set for Aug. 28 and Sept. 4, but these have not been firm, said Woodley.

Schedule: Sept. 9 — At Sterling City Sept. 18 — Open Sept. 25 — At Three Way Oct. 2 — Smyer Oct. 9 — Loop (c) Oct. 16 — Sterling City (c) Oct. 23 — At Gall (c) Oct. 30 — Open Nov. 6 — Dawson (c) Nov. 13 — At Wellston (c) Nov. 20 — At Klendike (c) (c) — District games

U.S. Drills Ruined Him

PARIS (AP) — France's best known swimmer, a former world record holder, says nine months of intensive training in the United States ruined him as a freestyle sprinter.

He has the results to prove it. An Olympic bronze medal winner at Mexico City for the 200 meter freestyle, Alain Mosconi failed even to place in the event at the French national championships after his return from the University of Southern California.

"The only conclusion you can draw is that I've lost the crawl technique," Mosconi said. "They wanted to give me more power in my arms. I'm naturally a leg swimmer and I just wasn't right for it. Now I just annoy myself when I swim freestyle—I feel so awkward in the water."

Mosconi, 21, approached coach Peter Daland in Los Angeles last year with great fanfare in the French press. He was going to become the country's first great swimmer with a little American polish and coaching. French television had programs on Mosconi's progress and newspapers were full of pictures of him in USC T-shirts.

Now, Mosconi is thinking of going off into the mountains for an "oxygenation" cure—he just doesn't feel right. And he thinks the cause of the trouble was the terribly hard pace of practice in the States.

Short Stops Cubs, 6-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Southpaw Chris Short tossed a six-hitter for his first victory since July 2 as the Philadelphia Phillies trimmed the Chicago Cubs 6-3 Saturday.

The Phils fought back from an early 3-0 deficit, scoring two runs apiece in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings. Ron Stone driving in three runs with a pair of singles.

Short blanked the Cubs on two hits after the second inning, when Ron Santo's 16th homer keyed a three-run burst, while bringing his season mark to 6-12.

Yankees Blanked In Rowing Meet

IOANNINA, Greece (AP) — The United States failed to win a medal Saturday as East Germany completely dominated the first World Junior Rowing Championships by winning all seven final races.

FOOTBALL INJURY Chandler Fight Still Going On

The most courageous sports story in these parts is going on slowly, silently and uncomplainingly.

But it adds up to the wonderful news that Kenneth Chandler is on his way back.

Kenneth, star football player for the Garden City Bearcats, was paralyzed from his neck down last autumn in a football game. He had blocked on a kickoff play and none realized what had happened until he couldn't move.

He was brought here and then rushed to Lubbock, where a neurosurgeon could handle his case. For days, fears were expressed for his life, and all the while for his immobility.

Gradually, feeling returned to his limbs, and then some tiny movement. Kenneth was transferred to the Texas Rehabilitation Center at Warm Springs Gonzales, where he showed encouraging progress.

This summer he has been with his family, making further progress. He has gained strength in his arms and gradually he is getting some grip in his hands. Kenneth can now extend his legs horizontally from his chair, and with help, can move slowly on his legs.

He has returned to Gonzales, where his doctors and therapists have expressed surprise at his progress and encouragement at his prospects. Nobody believed he could make this fast — nobody but Kenneth.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with me? I'm in love with a guy who treats me like dirt. The worse he treats me, the more I love him. I've walked away from him a hundred times, vowing never to see him again, but I always call him up and ask him to forgive me for blowing my stack, when he's the one who should apologize to me.

I'm a good looking girl with a good figure, and could have lots of men who would treat me a lot better, but I always go back to this guy who gives me nothing but heartaches. I am 26 and he is 29 and this has been going on for nearly 3 years. How can I kill a love that is killing me? CARMEN

DEAR CARMEN: What you call "love" is a physical attraction, passion and a compulsion to punish yourself — all tightly bound together. Unless you want a life of misery, walk out for good next time he has it coming. And pray for the strength to never again "love" a man you cannot like.

DEAR ABBY: What does a

Firm Must Pay Chemical Bill

HOUSTON (AP) — American Oil Co. will pay the federal government $96,843 for chemical foam used in fighting the November, 1959, Amoco Virginia ship fire in the Houston Ship Channel.

A final judgment on a suit was entered in federal court Friday. The chemical foam was obtained from military bases and flown to Houston by Air Force planes to fight the tanker blaze.

Errant Golf Balls Costly

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joseph A. Castellucci was held in contempt of court Friday for failing to keep his golf balls inside his driving range and off his neighbors' property. The neighbors brought 500 golf balls to the court as proof.

Allgheny County Judge Arthur Wessel Jr. ordered Castellucci to pay a $100 fine.

wife do about a husband who never writes to his mother? She is an ailing widow, and if I didn't write to her, she'd never hear from him. This goes for acknowledging her Christmas gifts, birthday gifts, etc. Naturally, I'm the one who buys and sends all our gifts to her. This has gone on ever since we were married — 20 years ago!

I honestly didn't give it too much thought until recently when I realized from her letters how hurt she'd been.

We live a long distance from her. Over the years I've begged him to write a personal note to his mother, but he's always had a dozen excuses and my pleas have been ignored. My husband says it's a wife's "duty" to take care of the letters and gifts. Why do you say?

DEAR WIFE: Attention to Mother — though the results of prodding affords as much pleasure as the sincere and spontaneous kind — if the prodding doesn't show, that is, it's sad when a wife must beg her husband to show his mother a little consideration, but if that's the only way to accomplish it, better that way than not at all.

DEAR ABBY: Our church attendance is made miserable by selfish slob who bring crying and talking babies to church services. Abby, there is a nursery for little ones right in the church, so there is no excuse for this sort of thing. The sermon cannot be heard at times, and even when it can, the outbursts are distracting. Our minister seems impervious, but we are annoyed. How do you feel about this, and what do you suggest? AUBURN, N.Y.

DEAR AUBURN: Short of telling the offending "selfish slob" directly, there is nothing you can do. I suppose some parents bring their little ones to services "praying" they'll behave, but I do believe if a child makes even one annoying sound, he should be removed from the audience for the duration of the service.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Suspect Nabbed In Bank Holdup

EL PASO (AP) — A man was in custody Saturday in connection with the $7,000 robbery of a downtown El Paso bank.

The robbery occurred just before closing time Friday when, according to police, a man handed a woman teller a note demanding money.

Police said they arrested Albert J. Tweedy of Elfrida, Ariz., who was charged with robbery by assault and jailed in lieu of bond. He was charged before Peace Justice Danny Snooks.

Police said they arrested Tweedy after a wild auto chase through El Paso in which two motorists tried to curb the man's car but failed.

Survey Reveals Teacher Glut In Many Big Cities

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

"Go into teaching. You'll always be able to get a job."

For years, college students have been given that advice by parents and placement officials familiar with the seemingly never ending complaints of a teacher shortage.

That advice may no longer be valid, however. An Associated Press survey shows many metropolitan areas report they have more applications for teaching jobs than positions open and their turnover rate is declining.

Personnel officials attribute the change to several factors: an increase in the number of college graduates going into teaching, higher starting salaries and an economic squeeze that has cut industry's need for scientists.

The Michigan State Board of Education warned recently that because of the oversupply of teachers it is "entirely possible that several hundred spring and summer graduates will not find teaching positions for the 1970-71 school year."

In Detroit, a Board of Education spokesman reported the city had 11,000 teachers and a backlog of 1,000 applicants. "The simple truth," said the spokesman, "is that teaching jobs are hard to come by right now and so teachers under contract stick with the jobs they have. I know some of them have looked as far as Colorado or Montana for jobs, but the demand is pretty small."

Marvin C. Davis, Education Department personnel director for Baltimore, said the city has "an abundant teacher supply."

He said the only shortages are in areas like special education, and in some subjects—including foreign languages and social studies—there are three or four times as many applications as jobs available. The city has 8,500 classroom teachers.

Chicago had so few teachers last year that the Board of Education hired 1,000 persons with provisional teaching certificates. This year, said Edna C. Hickey, director of teacher personnel, "We have Ph.D.s coming to our door for teaching positions that already have been filled."

Mrs. Hickey said the turnover rate in teachers is 6 per cent, which she said was one of the lowest in the nation and compared to a 15 per cent national average.

Elsie Stone of the Boston University placement bureau said she was having difficulty finding jobs for teaching graduates because a lot of scientists laid off by industry are seeking classroom work.

David Fitzpatrick, assistant director of the Massachusetts

Bureau of Teacher Certification and Placement, said there was a general oversupply of English and social studies teachers, although there were some shortages in the fields of industrial arts, women's physical education, math and science. He said the Boston area was attractive to teachers who hoped to do graduate work at colleges and universities in the areas.

The story is the same in the Washington, D.C., area.

"We've quit interviewing in most cases and we have a list of people waiting," said D. Jack Hill, director of recruitment for Montgomery County, Md. "We're not finding it too difficult to get experienced teachers and teachers with advanced degrees."

Under The Stars

By JO BRIGHT

One of the highlights of the summer, a full week of entertainment under the stars in the coolness of Comanche Trail Park, will begin tonight in the amphitheatre with the first of two Gospel Sings; the second will climax the series next Sunday. The songs for a summer night will feature youth and adult choirs and groups from numerous churches.

The Starlight Specials are sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Roy Cederberg is committee chairman, and serving as co-chairmen for the summer event are Joe Dunn and Bill Bradley. The performances begin each evening at 8:30 p.m., except Wednesday, which is an open night. Charge for admission will be 25 cents, except on Sundays, when contributions will be optional. Pre-schoolers will be admitted free.

An international flavor will spice the program Monday, which is called Fiesta Night. Under the direction of Mrs. Emilio Medina, there will be singing, dancing and comedy. Gus Hernandez will be emcee.

Black and White Night, on Tuesday, will draw soul, jazz and blues fans to hear individual and group talent which will include the stage band from Big Spring High School. Chairmen are Mrs. Essie Persons and Kyle Ellison.

After the Wednesday break, Thursday will be Western Band Night, with at least five bands signed by Joe Dunn to provide lively music so popular in this part of the country. The fiddles, guitars and mandolins will make music the entire family will enjoy.

Friday may well be the "big night" if teens turn out as expected to dance and listen to the music of The Bicycle, The Elastic Foxx, The Exit and Robert Byrd's soul group. Local music man, Bill Mack of KBST, will keep the music moving.

The spotlight swings to Big Spring Little Theatre's Al Scott Saturday evening as dramatic readings recall historical events and famous words by great Americans. Scott and other theatre members have planned a program entitled "We Hold These Truths."

Next Sunday, August 16, the week will end as it began, — with good gospel singing.

Take the family — and treat them to a full week of practically free entertainment.

IT'S FIESTA NIGHT on Monday with singing, dancing and comedy with an international flavor. Among the performers will be young Johnny Garcia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Garcia, who is colorfully costumed for his song and dance numbers.

THE GOOD TIME, toe-tapping music of Western bands will be heard in the park Thursday night as popular groups perform their specialties for what will probably be a "full house." Two of the talented musicians will be Don Tolle, left, and Joe Dunn.

Photos By Danny Valdes

MODERN, MAXI SOUNDS that move the young and young in heart will ricochet around the rim of the amphitheatre in Comanche Trail Park Friday night. Parents may prefer just to listen, but everyone may dance to music by The Bicycle, The Elastic Foxx, Robert Byrd's soul group and The Exit,

DRAMATIC READINGS will be presented in concert Saturday night by Big Spring Little Theatre, with the highlight being Al Scott reading "We Hold These Truths," famous words of great Americans. The sense of history is heightened by the setting for the program, and Scott captures the mood by studying his script in historical Comanche Trail Park.

GOOD GOSPEL SINGING is great entertainment and a bargain prescription for the spiritual "blahs". The Starlight Specials will begin and end with Gospel Sings featuring youth and adult choirs. Helping direct the programs will be the three Ministers of Music and Education shown above, David Norvelle, College Baptist Church; Bruce Hudspeth, Baptist Temple; and Leonard Moody, Trinity Baptist Church. The girls are Ranette and Kay Miller, a duet from Baptist Temple.

Rowland, publicity chairman for the event, looks over the amphitheatre facilities with Mrs. Emilio Medina, left, and Miss Bonnie Anderson, right, who will both perform. All performers volunteer their services, and the community effort this year will benefit the Howard County Library Fund. Seats in the amphitheatre are stone, so listeners are reminded to bring cushions or blankets to sit on.

Lectures On Violets

"Keep Those Plants Alive" was the topic of Mrs. Paul Guy's talk Thursday at the Texas Star African Violet Club meeting in the home of Mrs. B. H. Montgomery, 805 Aylford. Co-hostess was Mrs. M. C. Lawrence.

"Keeping African Violets alive, especially in the summer, is a difficult task," Mrs. Guy said. "They succumb quickly when over-watered, but do well if the pots are plunged into a container of moist peat moss. Always use tepid water, lifting the leaves before pouring water onto the soil in the pot," she cautioned. "Improper drainage very quickly causes damage."

"Pinch off flowers as they die and keep the soil somewhat dry for four to six weeks, until more buds appear, then return to normal watering. This method will produce several flowerings in a season. Plants can successfully be grown outdoors if carefully cared for in a cool, shady, protected place," she said, showing a plant she had grown outside.

Mrs. J. W. Trantham, council delegate, announced that the fall flower show will be Oct. 31. The next meeting will be Sept. 3 in the home of Mrs. Ruby Billings, 1603 Runnels, with Mrs. Grace O'Dell as cohostess.

Interesting House Plants Are Great Interior Accessories

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD CHDA

Howard County
The following suggestions on the care of house plants were given by Mr. Dwight S. Hall, area landscape horticulturist. They will be most helpful to everyone who enjoys indoor plants.

House plants, or plants which are grown in containers for indoor use, cannot be matched in richness and interest by any other interior accessory. The greens of exotic plants provide lush coolness to the summer interior; yet, summer days are often the most trying time on the health and appearance of many house plants.

The success of growing house plants often depends on the plant choice in accord to the conditions in which it is placed. Depending on the variety of plant, the moisture, light, humidity and temperature requirements vary greatly. Some house plants such as Sansevieria, any Philodendron, Rubber Plant, Nephthytis, Norfolk-Island Pine, and Pothos are not very demanding, while Croton, Coleus, Grape Ivy, Geranium and many Ferns require humidity, light and watering just to their liking.

Few homes have the best conditions for plant growth month after month. Plants growing under certain limitations often get a new lease on life if placed out-of-doors during the warmer summer months.

MOBILE BEAUTY

Plants can be used on special occasions indoors and then moved to other areas for better growth. In some cases this may be the answer to growing more specimen type plants for decorative use.

The move should not be too extreme. Full sunlight will burn the foliage of plants that have been growing indoors for several months. Plants can be carried through the summer beneath large shade trees, on shaded open porches or by sinking the pots to the rim in a shaded mass of large protective shrubs. Before the nights become cool in the autumn, the plants may be repotted, if necessary, and moved to the indoors.

INDIRECT LIGHT

Most house plants prefer a diffused or indirect sunlight and never direct sun. Because the house plant may become overly heated, a morning or eastern, or northern light exposure is best. House plants such as Ferns, most Begonias, Aglaonema, Aspidistra, and Rubber Plant prefer a subdued light. Dieffenbachia, Dracaena Caladium, Peperomia, Pothos, Schefflera, and African Violets like indirect sunlight. Coleus, Croton, Geranium and Lantana will take a filtered or a part-day sun.

Never relocate plants from a shaded location into intense sunlight, as sun-scald will likely result. Plants growing under poor, or improper light conditions will become pale in color, weak and spindly, and have small leaves. Leaf drop will often occur when poor light conditions exist.

One of the most common causes of death in house plants is improper watering. When to water is often a perplexing problem. Here is where sound judgment is most needed. The only accurate gauge to follow is to water when the soil becomes dry to the touch. In the summer this may mean daily, while during the winter, with plants growing in a shaded room, weekly probably is sufficient. The type container, its size, the soil, the plant species and its vigor all affect the amount and frequency of watering.

Allow approximately one-half inch between soil line to top of pot for watering. If space is not allowed, sufficient water cannot be applied at one time to penetrate all areas of the soil.

The top several inches may be moist, while the lower area still lacks moisture. Use a watering can or other device which gives a sprinkling action that will not pack the soil or wash it away from the roots.

At each watering, the entire soil ball should be moistened. To provide for cases of over-watering, all containers should have open drain holes. Many ornamental containers such as glazed vases and jardinières do not have these holes and over-watering is often the cause of death.

Watering house plants from the bottom of the container with the use of a saucer or tray is a common method of watering but is impractical for large plants. Saucers beneath pots save furniture and paint, but unless the plant is one that thrives on being kept wet, water left standing for several days may kill the plants.

More detailed information on indoor landscaping and care of live foliage plants may be obtained by calling or coming by the Extension office in the basement of the Courthouse and requesting Bulletin MP-790 or TAP 369.

Stewardesses Nix Midi Look

NEW YORK (AP) — Airline stewardesses, catered to by some of the nation's top designers, are turning thumbs down on the midi look, promising at least one more year of coffee, tea and discernable knee.

Unlike most women, they had a choice. Trans World Airlines in a poll of 331 stewardesses, found the midi so unpopular that TWA officials say they will be "running in the face of designers" when their new fashion line is revealed in mid-August.

A permanent addition to the line is expected to be pants ensembles, used on a trial basis by TWA and popular with both stewardesses and customers, a spokesman said. United Airlines, in what largely amounted to a case of trial and error, introduced below-the-knee jumpers in its fashion line last May and within a month officially raised the hems to right above the knee.

Beginning next October, United's 6,000 stewardesses will wear their jumpers at two to three inches above the knee exactly the length of their current uniforms.

Pan American Airways is offering hostesses a choice of lengths ranging from one inch above the knee to 1/2 inch below in costumes designed by Evan-Piccone.

Saying the airline is encouraging its girls "to be up-to-date," a Pan American spokesman added, "We're sure they'll shorten the skirts. There is resistance to the midi now."

Delta Air Lines says its new outfits, including double-knit pleated skirts and tunics, will keep hemlines about two inches above the knee.

Also running counter to ground-level trends is Emilio Pucci, at work on a series of designs for Braniff International. He has said it is unlikely that hostess uniforms will be lengthened in the immediate future.

SETS DATE — Mr. and Mrs. Troy Bradshaw, Stanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lucille, to S. Sgt. Richard Norman Martel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Martel, Saco, Maine. Sgt. Martel is stationed at Webb Air Force Base. The couple plan to marry Oct. 3 in the First Baptist Church of Stanton.

Jumbo Pillows Are Extra Seats

If your living room . . . or dorm room . . . is short on storage space, take a tip from some talented Early American craftsmen. The Shakers, a religious group with ingenious ideas about architecture, used wall pegboards to hang up extra furniture — namely, handsome ladder-back chairs. Use jumbo size floor pillows for your own extra seating and tuck them out of the way in the Shaker manner.

To give the "wall hangings" decorative appeal, cover pillows in plush cotton velveteen and deep-pile velour in rich jewel colors. Sew a big wooden curtain ring to one corner of each pillow. Then attach a row of hooks to the wall, and hang pillows up until you need them for company.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Acosta of Ackery announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Alicia, to Edward Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Fowler of Wilmington, N. C. The couple is planning a fall wedding.

Decorate Table With Wood Bowl

Wooden salad bowls and serving pieces for snacks are handsome in any setting. For convenience, choose those which are dishwasher safe.

Even when hand washing, very hot suds will cut grease and oil more quickly. One dishwasher-proof type is made of woven strips of wood and resembles parquet.

Coke Party Fetes Queen Contestants

LAMESA (SC) — A Coke party was given Wednesday morning for contestants in the Dawson County Farm Bureau queen contest in the home of M. S. Sellers, Lamesa. The party was informal, and the girls held a get-acquainted session. Those attending were Mary Ellen Hoode, Ann Morris, Tina McGee, Kiki Scott and Debbie Sellers. Hostess was Mrs. M. S. Sellers.

MRS. RAYMOND A. MALINOVSKY

Wedding Rites Held Saturday

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Gloria Jean Ballou and Lt. Raymond A. Malinovsky Saturday afternoon in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley P. Ballou, 2501 Carol, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Malinovsky, who attended the ceremony from their home in Johnstown, Pa.

The Rev. William Meagher performed the ceremony, and Mrs. Leslie Green played organ selections.

The bride wore a white bonded crepe dress fashioned with Empire bodice, rolled Mandarin collar and mutton sleeves. A pink velvet ribbon encircled the waist to form a bow with streamers. Her headpiece was a face veil held by a Dior bow, and she carried a cascade of white feathered, carnations and pink sweetheart roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Nancy Sessions, the maid of honor, was attired in a pink crepe dress with Empire waist and short puff sleeves. She carried a nosegay of pink and white feathered carnations.

Serving as best man was Wesley S. Ballou, brother of the bride. The wedding reception was held in the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. The refreshment table was covered with floor-length satin overlaid with net and decorated with an arrangement of pink gladioli and white carnations. Silver and crystal appointments were used, and the tiered bridal cake was trimmed with pink roses and topped with wedding bells. Serving were Miss Cherie Akst of Pampa, and Miss Patti Pruitt of Dallas. Guests were registered by Mrs. Frank Smith.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and North Texas State University with a BS degree in elementary education. The bridegroom is a graduate of Johnstown Central High School and the United States Air Force Academy. He graduated from pilot training at Webb AFB Aug. 1. After he completes training at Castle AFB, Calif., he will be stationed at Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton, Ohio.

The couple are taking a wedding trip to Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania. For traveling the bride wore a red, white and blue silk print two-piece dress with red accessories and orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests were Mike Moore, Velda Thomas, Dan Mayberry and Virginia Bullock, all of Dallas, and Mrs. Frank Bounds, Lubbock.

Quotable Quotes

By The Associated Press
Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"He was going to the ferry; I'm satisfied with that." —Gwendolyn Kopechne, in a New York Daily News copyright story, disagreeing with a judge's decision that a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was headed for the beach when it ran off a bridge and her daughter, Mary Jo, drowned.

"We shouldn't give children the impression that women's only role is to be mommies. Little girls should be encouraged to achieve just as boys are." —Anne Erlich, wife of biologist Paul Erlich, in an interview.

"Our purpose is to preserve femininity for women and masterliness for men. We oppose the campaign to reduce men to household fixtures." —Marie de Pasquale, founder of MOM—Men Our Masters—a women's group against the women's liberation movement.

"If you want to experience sheer terror, try being a waitress just before 11:45 when the office mob hits the place." —Actress Lily Tomlin of TV's "Laugh-In," who used to be a waitress in a New York lunch-ette.

"The audiences are marvelous. They often shout things to me while I am stripping, but it's all in good fun. There's nothing smutty about it." —Sandra Freeman, who teaches English—the words for her clothing—by stripping for a British Broadcasting

Jumper Outfit Is Most Versatile

Jump into summer with a versatile jumper wardrobe. Jumpers can be turned into a complete summer wardrobe for the woman who sews.

Two jumper dresses and two pair of jumper pants in comfortable, carefree cottons make up the wardrobe.

Start with one basic jumper dress pattern, and make it up in two fabrics — navy cotton twill and white cotton pique. You can wear the navy jumper without a blouse, or with a bevy of red, white, or navy cotton shirts. Multi-colored blouses also will vary jumper looks.

Wear the white pique jumper alone for patio parties or combine it with colorful printed cotton shirts for town wear.

Jumper pants can be made in short and long versions. Use cotton denim for a short jumpsuit, and sculptured cotton cloque for a long dressy style.

MRS. THOMAS F. PORTER

In Marriage

Miss Karen Elaine McGonagill became the bride of Thomas Fredrick Porter Friday evening in the Baptist Temple Church. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. H. McGonagill, 1207 Settles, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian A. Porter, Sterling City Route. The Rev. James Puckett performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with a white arch entwined with greenery. Centering the altar was a sunburst of gladioli, stock and chrysanthemums flanked by tree candelabra.

Mrs. Bruce Hudspeth sang with organ accompaniment by Mrs. Pat Grigg.

The bride was attired in a cage gown of Chantilly lace over a fitted pcou de soie sheath, designed with bateau neckline and long lace petal point sleeves. The lace at the Empire waistline was accented with pearls, and scalloped lace edged the chapel-length Watteau train. Her headpiece was a loop bow of silk organza accented with lace motifs, seed pearls and crystal beads. The tiered, shoulder-length veil of illusion was edged in scalloped lace. She carried a cascade of French carnations, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Ann Posey was maid of honor, and the matron of honor was Mrs. Dennis McGonagill, Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride. Miss Peggy Irwin was a bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of sky blue flocked voile in colonial style with matching picture hats trimmed with velvet ribbon. Each carried a colonial nosegay of yellow pompons and babies'-breath showered with yellow satin.

Tommy Rutledge, Sand Springs, served as best man, and groomsmen were Dennis McGonagill, Lubbock, and

RECEPTION
The reception followed in the fellowship hall where the bride's table was covered with a white floor-length satin overlaid with white net sprinkled with lace medallions. The colonnaded cake was decorated with blue roses and wedding bells. An arrangement of white carnations, yellow daisies and babies'-breath flanked with tall white candles centered the table. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Serving at the refreshment table were Miss Pat Goodman, Miss Debra Awtry, Miss Marsha McCraney, Miss Jackie Cordes and Miss Rose Cordes. Miss Nancy Nash was in charge of registering guests.

SCHOOLS
The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society and the Corral staff. She is now employed by Texas State Optical.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Forsan High School where he played football and was on the track team. He was a member of Future Teachers of America and other clubs. He is employed by Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

The bride wore a blue A-line dress with companion coat of boucle knit for her traveling costume. White accessories and a white orchid corsage completed her ensemble. Following a wedding trip they will make their home at 1301 Johnson.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Floy McGonagill, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Crawford, Mrs. David Barrett, Linda and Byron, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Brancel, Dale and Marsha, all of San Angelo.

Miss Martin Weds Jerry Lynn Welch

Miss Charlotte Shann Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Martin, Star Route, Tarzan, became the bride of Jerry Lynn Welch Saturday evening in Lakeview Baptist Church near Stanton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Welch, Route 1, Stanton.

The couple will reside at Tarzan where he is engaged in farming. He is a graduate of Flower Grove High School, and she will continue her education here this fall.

Pianist was Miss Jackie Cave who played "Because", "The Theme from Romeo and Juliet" and "Wedding Prayer." Miss Brenda Hopper sang "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing."

The wedding party stood before an arch entwined in greenery and centered with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli, stock and chrysanthemums. Flanking the altar were branched candelabra and large ferns.

EMPIRE GOWN

The bride's gown of white peau de soie was designed in an Empire manner featuring a tucked and laced bodice on the bodice and high crystal pleated collar and cuffs. The gown was accented with a detachable heart-shaped train, and her headpiece was a chiffon Dior bow to which was attached Sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valley. It held a chapel-length veil of illusion.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of Frenched carnations centered with a white orchid and showered with satin ribbons.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Nancy Seely of Ackerly. Miss Darla Sawyer of Lenora was bridesmaid, and Mrs. Larry Martin, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmatron. Belinda Martin, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The attendants were dressed in pale blue crystalline organza gowns with Empire waist marked by a flat bow and streamers falling to the hemline. The gowns were accented with ruffled collars and short puffed sleeves. Their headpieces were Dior bows with streamers and fabric rosebuds centered with crystals.

Danny Howard of Tarzan was best man, and groomsmen were the couple's brothers, Mike Welch and Larry Martin. Two other brothers, Lonny Martin and Terry Welch, served as ushers and lighted the altar tapers. Debbie Howard, the flower girl, was dressed identically to the other feminine attendants.

RECEPTION

tered guests during a reception in the fellowship hall where members of the house party were Mrs. Jimmie Sawyer, Mrs. Marvin Standefer, Mrs. J. R. Hopper and Mrs. Horace Tubb.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Burchett, Midland, and the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Howard Sr., Big Spring.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth and white net with a floor-length skirt of rose-patterned lace. The attendants' bouquets formed the centerpiece, and silver appointments completed the setting. The tiered bridal cake was trimmed with white roses and topped with a seed pearl heart and white doves. The bridegroom's table, where chocolate cake was served, was covered with a royal blue cloth and accented with candle and dove arrangement.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., Mrs. Welch wore a blue lace dress with long sleeves enhanced with tiny velvet bows. Her accessories were white, and an orchid corsage completed the costume.

Plate Pushers To Attend Party

Mrs. Billie Shults won the bowl of fruit at the TOPS Plate Pushers meeting Thursday in the Salvation Army activity room. Mrs. Garland Irons read a Reader's Digest article entitled "I Am Joe's Kidney" describing the function and health of the kidney from the personified kidney's point of view. To maintain a healthy kidney, one should drink up to nine glasses of water daily according to the article.

Next Thursday members will join the Stanton Scale Steppers in Stanton for a swimming and homemade ice cream party. They will meet at the Salvation Army at 8:30 p.m. to drive to Stanton. Anyone interested in joining the club may call Mrs. K. C. Webb, 263-2570, or Mrs. Alfred Tidwell, 263-3450.

Gift Party Is Honor For Bride

Miss Gloria Ballou, who married Lt. Ray Malinovsky Saturday evening, was feted with a bridal gift party Thursday in the home of Mrs. R. B. Davidson, 705 Tulane. White feathered carnation corsages were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Stan Ballou, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. William Malinovsky, Johnstown, Pa.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with floor-length white tulle edged at the top with pink ribbon and bows at the corners. White miniature chrysanthemums and pink carnations in a silver bowl were flanked by pink tapers in silver candleholders. Crystal appointments were used.

Guests were registered by Miss Bobby Marks, and hostesses were Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, Mrs. R. B. Davidson, Mrs. Perry Chandler, Mrs. E. T. Reynolds, Mrs. L. D. Simpson, Mrs. Naomi Marks and Mrs. Jim Layman.

Lutheran Women Hold Picnic, Swim

An annual picnic and swimming party was held by the Lutheran Women Parish Workers Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Long, 1206 Wood. Mrs. John Foster gave the devotion, and Mrs. Ray Sinder, vice president, presided. Mrs. Larry Windland was a guest. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul Lutheran Church, when yearbooks will be distributed.

OWC Luncheon Held At Webb Thursday

Physical fitness programs for women were advocated by Mrs. Lloyd Brown, manager of Elaine Powers Figure Salon, at the monthly luncheon held Thursday for the Officers Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base. Wives of Class 71-03 were hostesses.

Mrs. Brown was assisted by Miss Mary Ann Stevens who demonstrated equipment used at the salon.

"Physical fitness programs are for everyone," said Mrs. Brown. "It improves personal appearance and health, strengthening the heart, lungs, blood vessels and muscles of the body. It gives stamina. Vigorous physical exercise is recommended to improve one's level of fitness, which can increase work capacity."

The speaker explained that the salon's program is based on "loosening" and firming tissues. Passive and active exercises were shown and described as part of the salon's procedure for reducing and reshaping the figure.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Charles Tatum. Mrs. James R. Tienken was general chairman and others serving on the luncheon committee were Mrs. Ronald Baxter, decorations; Mrs. Steve Acuff, menu; Mrs. Buzz Patrick, door prizes; Mrs. Gary Blackwell, program; and Mrs. David Giegler, publicity.

The luncheon began with an invocation by Mrs. Billy Walker, and Mrs. Owen Wormser, the presiding officer, introduced Mrs. Anderson Atkinson, wife of the wing commander; Mrs. Harold Hartley, wife of the acting DCM; and Mrs. Jo Bright of the Big Spring Herald.

Mrs. James Clevenger introduced the guests, including Janet Tansil, Frances Bratcher, Jola Brown, Leslie Brown, Leslie Pesek, Barbara Hayter, Irene Blackwell, Lola Reid and Margaret Wilson.

Newcomers welcomed were Pam Anthony, Joanna Sprague, Rose Davis, Emmy Linden, Carolyn Welsh and Barbara Casullo.

Mrs. Thomas Brandon announced club activities. The OWC bridge is scheduled Aug. 20, and the next Hi-Bye Coffee will be held Aug. 27. It was noted that the Veterans Administration Hospital needs volunteer workers. Mrs. L. K. Gladden of the American Association of University Women issued an invitation to OWC members to join the association.

The program theme was carried out in stage decorations of feminine silhouettes "before and after" fitness programs. Miniature black silhouettes marked dining tables, and the head table was centered with an arrangement of black-tipped majestic daisies flanked by black silhouettes and spiraled streamers. At each place were programs featuring diet recipes.

Credit Club Analyzes Computers

TELLS PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wadsworth of Odessa, formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Karla Susan, to Allan Ely Clanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Clanton, 610 E. 18th. The couple will marry Sept. 12 in Chicago, Ill.

Forsan Residents Exchange Visits

FORSAN (SC) — Houseguests of the L. W. Wilsons were Mrs. Harold Pitcock, New Mexico, and Mrs. Frank Hess, San Angelo.

The T. D. Breithaupt, Odessa, called on her parents, the J. H. Cardwells, recently.

Mrs. L. B. McElrath visited in Odessa recently.

The Burl Griffith family have returned from Brownwood, La.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Craig have been to Colorado City to see her sister, Miss Norma Merrick.

Big Spring Credit Women agreed they "prefer to deal with humans rather than machines" during a discussion on the pros and cons of computers at the regular Thursday luncheon. The consensus was that most members were against computer systems and that the major breakdown in the system was inadequate training of computer programmers.

However, they noted that some computer systems work very well, and some people are opposed to computers simply "because they do not like change." The women supported a recommendation for gradual change, one phase at a time, to computers. "Overnight" switching to the computer system was named as a great cause of troubles. Changing one phase of accounting at a time and using the old system as a check for two or three months until the computer is programmed and working as it should be was the "most logical approach," the members agreed.

Mrs. C. R. Rhoads announced that a picnic supper and games night will be held Aug. 14 in the home of Mrs. Arthur Eitzen, 2601 Carol. Mrs. J. B. Apple won the capsule prize. The next meeting will be Aug. 20 in Hotel Settles.

Woman Feted By Birthday Party

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. Tom Jackson was honored Friday with a surprise birthday party in the home of Mrs. T. L. McKenney. The birthday cake with candles was encircled with a wreath of roses and greenery. Eight guests attended including Mrs. Bill Jackson and daughter from Colorado City.

Career In Neurology Nears For Ambitious Webb Wife

By MARILYN NEVELS

"Ever since I can remember, I've wanted to be a doctor," recalled Mrs. Richard Apgar, with enthusiasm. She is now no more than two years away from a doctorate and is fervently studying for exams that will permit her to resume studies at one of the University of Texas' medical schools.

"When you come so far... you have to go on," said Mrs. Apgar, who believes a goal can be attained, "if you want it badly enough."

"Larisa is going to be a doctor too, aren't you?" she questioned her infant daughter with a tender squeeze. "Women can make the time to have both a family and career if they have the talent and abilities, although they may not win the 'Good Housekeeping award.' I see no reason why more women don't have careers."

"A working woman has to organize her time. If the family suffers because of her job, she has to make up her mind which she wants the most, or work out how to devote more time to her family."

Her determination won't be deterred by the arduous studies ahead. Mrs. Apgar notes that the USSR makes full use of its "woman-power." An amazing 75 per cent of the USSR's doctors are women, she states.

"I think there should be more women in medicine," she declared. "Our country ranks fourth from the bottom in having female doctors. Medicine needs a heart. Women can contribute to medicine when there aren't enough men available, such as in Russia where most of the men are in technical and industrial positions, which partly accounts for the great number of women doctors."

SPECIALIST

Mrs. Apgar is not interested in becoming a general practitioner, which would tend to absorb more of her time, if not all of it, permitting no time for family life.

"It seems all women are put in obstetrics or pediatrics," she said with irritation. "I want to specialize in neurology; the brain and spinal cord, that's my bag."

As an experienced anatomist, Mrs. Apgar has taught neuroanatomy and embryology to medical students, and physiology and anatomy to nursing students, while she studied at the University of Michigan Medical School. "What is an anatomist?" people frequently ask Mrs. Apgar.

"Most people think anatomists are wizened fellows wearing little spectacles who work in back rooms taking bodies apart," laughed Mrs. Apgar. "Actually, anatomists are teachers in medical schools and don't dissect bodies."

At the University of Michigan, when Mrs. Apgar realized that her husband would soon be joining the Air Force, she decided to get a master's degree in anatomy, since they would not be in one place long enough for her to earn her doctorate. Now she has only to finish her clinical years and is hoping that her husband will be stationed near a UT campus when he finishes pilot training at Webb Air Force Base Sept. 11.

The Apgars have been with the Air Force three years, and their first assignment took them to Wright-Patterson AFB near Dayton, Ohio, where Mrs. Apgar worked at the Aerospace Medical Research Lab.

HARMFUL NOISE

"We studied the physiological effects of noise on long term space flights, and determined how much constant mechanical noise an astronaut can tolerate for 30 days or longer," she explained. "We think constant loud noise causes vascular damage such as blood disorders. Research has been done, particularly in Russia, on occupations in heavy industry, steel mills and working with jackhammers, and it has been proven that noise can cause damage."

"So much research has been done in Russia that I took courses in Russian, so I could read the articles. At the university I wrote my master's thesis on limb regeneration, which the Russians also are doing a great deal of research on. My sponsor at school was working on the regeneration of the heart muscle. He is the only doctor I've ever heard of who studied with scientists in Russia one-and-a-half years. I'm still trying to keep up with the Russian language. At Wright-Patterson I subscribed to "Pravda." Rick was working in an intelligence position and there I was getting a Communist newspaper every day, but no one ever questioned us."

While still in Michigan Mrs. Apgar worked for a year doing chemical research for Parke-Davis, "mostly to establish a residency there which I never had a chance to use."

"Each new job gives more experience to move on," she said. "You never get enough experience. Use medicine as a base. Then if you understand how the body chemistry works, you can apply it to different areas including research and chemistry. I enjoy studying and can always find some application for what I'm reading, like in the pre-natal classes I teach at the base. I teach new mothers the physiology of labor and birth, why things happen and what changes occur."

NEW LIMBS

"I like research and want to use medicine as a base and branch out. My ideal would be neurological research, studying

Mrs. E. N. Rea Awarded Citation

Mrs. Ollie Bransom, American Legion Auxiliary president, reported on the district convention in Fort Worth, July 24-26, at the Thursday meeting in the Legion Hall. Also attending the convention were Bransom, Mrs. E. N. Rea and Mrs. Billie Kirkpatrick.

Mrs. Ray was awarded a citation for enlisting the most members in the auxiliary this year. Guest speakers at the convention were Sen. Ralph Yarborough and H. Ross Perrot.

Plans for the installation banquet Saturday night at the Ramada Inn were discussed. The Legion and Auxiliary officers will take office. The next meeting will be Aug. 20.

Recite Wedding Vows In Nazarene Church

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday evening in the Church of the Nazarene by Miss Betty Lou Little and Jerry Lee Gorham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Little, Gail Route, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gorham, Goodman, Mo. The Rev. E. Wales Lankford conducted the ceremony before an altar enhanced with baskets of pink gladioli flanked by candles and hemline. Her bouffant veil of imported French illusion was held by a triple organza bow accented with pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered by a white orchid.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Lyle Kersey, Johnson City, Kan., served as the matron of honor attired in a gown of soft pink crepe decorated with a peau de sole bow at the full back pleat. Miss Teresa Spears, the bridesmaid, was dressed similarly to the maid of honor. Both carried single long-stemmed roses.

W. C. Gorham, Goodman, Mo., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and Lyle Kersey, Johnson, Kan., was the groomsmen. Ushers were Clyde Stout and Gerald Gorham, both of Goodman, and Rob Shive, Coahoma.

Flower girls were Adana Gorham and Lorri Gorham, nieces of the bridegroom, who wore pastel pink dresses. Landy Crews and Randy Crews, Bethany, Okla., nephews of the bridegroom, lighted the altar tapers.

The wedding reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. A white tiered cake decorated with white confection roses was served from a white linen-covered table appointed with crystal, and a centerpiece of pink roses decorated the table. Serving were Mrs. Rex Shive, Mrs. Curtis Hood, Miss Brenda Mize, Miss Sharon Shive, Miss Annette Couch and Miss Cecilia Cooper. Miss Martha Couch was in charge of the guest register.

SCHOOLS

The bride, a graduate of Borden High School, attended Bethany Nazarene College for two years and will attend Missouri Southern College in Joplin this fall. The bridegroom is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College and will teach social studies in Goodman, Mo.

The bride wore a burgundy knit dress with matching jacket, white orchid corsage and accessories for traveling. They will make their home in Goodman.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stout, and Mrs. W. C. Gorham, all of Goodman; Mrs. Theal Crews, Bethany, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Little, Houston; Mrs. C. C. Stringer, Baton Rouge, La.; and Mrs. Irene Orchard, Houston.

A LOVELIER YOU Precautions Needed To Enjoy Boating

By MARY SUE MILLER

Boating is beautiful, if you take to the water like a true daughter of Neptune. That means being at home in a sunny, windy, watery environment.

How acclimated are you? Experienced sailors advise these precautions as basic to getting with it:

Because summer sun reflected off water quickly induces sunburn, you must be prepared with coverup clothing, including a brimmed hat. You will naturally use a sunscreen lotion on your face and body during a tanning session. Such periods should be short, the sunscreen reapplied to the face thereafter, and the clothing donned.

Sunglasses are a necessity, even on cloudy days. If you remove them to prevent "owl eyes" when sunbathing, substitute water-dampened cotton balls. Just be sure to cover the entire eye-socket area.

For the well-being of all passengers, a boat needs to carry a comprehensive marine first-aid kit. The best available is waterproof and sinkproof. It contains the basics, such as assorted bandages and first aid cream, plus salt tablets, motion sickness pills, a resuscitation tube and a first-aid manual.

You treat minor mishaps according to the manual. For major problems follow emergency procedures and head for shore. The idea is to prevent discomfort, to have a happy time.

Pantsuit Solves Length Problems

NEW YORK — The long pants costume is almost a fashion uniform for the season. For dressed-up occasions there are Far East-inspired prints on challis, sheer voiles and cotton with ribbon detailing.

Midipants are the new length wave of the season. In fact, the pants ensemble is an easy, familiar way to skirt the problem of what length to wear, and be sure that one is fashion right.

Make Shades Look Uniform

You don't have to worry about a multicolored look from the street when you choose "duplex" shades.

They're made in a wide assortment of colors and designs and are white on the reverse side for uniformity from the street.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Too bad, kid, if your summer clothes didn't make it through the summer. As far as the clothiers are concerned it's now the fall and winter season as far as their stocks are concerned. The new clothing for the coming seasons are already on the racks, and if you want anything to wear in the cold days (we hope) to come, you'd better get to the store and start getting fitted.

After a long time away from Big Spring, MR. and MRS. SWEDE HEADLAND of Fort Worth were here last week with their longtime friends, MR. and MRS. RAY McMAHEN.

MAJ. and MRS. WILLIS EINSEL and David are the houseguests of her parents, MR. and MRS. D. W. JONES. In about six months the family will go to Puerto Rico where the major will be stationed at Ramey AFB.

MR. and MRS. ROY ODOM enjoy the newsy cards from their son, HAROLD, who is a navigator with Pan American Airlines. He is now on an overseas trip that took him over "Greenland's Icy Mountains". In telling of his flight which took him to London he said that although they flew through the night, it never really got all dark. He is now flying out of San Francisco but has earlier flown out of Seattle on trips to Hong Kong. He plans to come here about Aug. 16 for a visit with his parents and other members of the family.

Here from Fort Stockton for the weekend with MR. and MRS. GALEN SHELLY are their daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. HOMER LUCAS and Susan.

In San Antonio are MRS. LEWIS TALLY and her aunt, MISS CORA SHAFFER, who are the houseguests of the R. P. Moores. Following their San Antonio visit the two plan to fly to Cleveland, Ohio, for a vacation with relatives.

The B. R. FLETCHERS are heading for the high country around Lake City, Colo., for a camping trip.

I wish I were in San Francisco with MRS. TOOTS MANSFIELD, the BILL NEALS and Zane. Some undesirable elements notwithstanding, it's bound to be a fabulous place to visit. I'd just like to have a chance of riding a cable car while there are still some running.

The BOB TAYLORS are in Brownwood visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor. They visited her parents, the T. H. LODENS in Wichita Falls last weekend.

MRS. FRED McGOWAN tells of seeing an old photograph taken by the Bradshaw sisters long ago in which appear such youngsters as ALICE GRAHAM BISHOP, JULIA BESS NOWELL, LUCILE TRUE, WANDA TRUE, my sister, MAYWOOD RIX and me. They couldn't remember the occasion, and the costume didn't mean a thing... we all had Spanish shawls draped over our shoulders. I remember well. It was in 1927 or 1928, and the occasion was the district convention of the West Texas Druggists. Wanda was in charge of working up some entertainment of the song and dance variety, and we were it. The only thing the entertainment had going for it was that we were young.

Guests in the Sand Springs home of the REV. and MRS. JAMES W. FIELDS, are her aunt, MRS. D. F. EDGINGTON and her two granddaughters, Michele and Bonnie Sumrow. It's Bonnie's first trip to Texas.

MR. and MRS. HORACE BEENE have as their guests two of their four daughters and their families. Here from Ft. Sumter, S.C., are LT. COL. and MRS. TOM ALEXANDER (Joyce) and their children, Judy Lynn, Jerri Leigh, Timmy and Ann Elizabeth. MR. and MRS. JOHN ZOBER (Janelle) and David and Jane Ann, are here from New Orleans.

MRS. R. H. CARTER SR. is enjoying the company of her two daughters and their families. MR. and MRS. FRANK PHILLEY and their children, Jennifer, Paula, Timmy and Pam, are here from Victoria and will remain until Wednesday. The TRAVIS ANDERSONS came over from Midland for the weekend.

MR. and MRS. MIKE BAGGETT of Dallas are visiting his parents, the REX BAGGETTS.

MR. and MRS. FREDDY L.

BROWN have left for a trip to points in California.

'Bye now for two weeks... the time finally came.

Needlework Done By Eager Beavers

Mrs. Denver Yates served as hostess for the Friday meeting of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club. Members did handwork and individual projects. Mrs. Yates served refreshments, and the next meeting will be Friday in the home of Mrs. H. D. Bruton, 710 W. 7th.

Toddlers Wear More Velveteen

Velveteen is the most popular fabric this season for toddlers' dress-up occasions — and party treats are no hazard to this regal looking but sturdily-washable pile fabric.

It is best to wash pint-size velveteens by hand, and to keep deep colors separate from other clothes to avoid transferring excess color. Use warm soap or detergent suds and rinses, then allow the garment to drip dry without wringing.

For touch-ups, use a steam iron or a dry iron over a damp press cloth — holding it just above but never touching the fabric, as the steam alone will coax the pile to stand up.

Reunion Today

Federal Approval Still Lacking In Some Local School Programs

By LINDA CROSS
 Big Spring Independent School District faces some financial difficulties caused by President Nixon's hesitancy in approving the appropriation of federal funds for some educational programs.

Four federally funded programs are presently awaiting the President's signature on a resolution of continuation. Titles II, III and V of the National Defense Education Act are among the programs awaiting the President's decision. The Impact program, which provides funds for the education of federally connected school children also awaits approval.

Big Spring Schools could lose approximately $200,000 in federal funds if the Impact program is not continued. According to Supt. S. M. Anderson, the program provides funds for the education of children who live on tax exempt federal property such as Webb Air Force Base.

The program is divided into two categories of payment based on two categories of federally connected students. The "A" student is one who lives on federal property and the "B" student is one whose parents work on a federal installation but live on taxable property.

Originally, schools received payment for both types. In an effort to cut back federal spending, President Nixon called for the deletion of "B" student payments from the program.

Unless a compromise on the program can be reached, the Impact funding will fall. This year's census shows that there are 475 "A" students and 1,400

"B" students living in the district.

Under the program, the school system is paid half the national average for the education of a child for the "A" student and a fourth of the average for the "B" student. According to Don Green, assistant business manager, the school is paid on the basis of average daily attendance, which is approximately a 90 per cent collection.

Green said that half of the average cost of education for one child is $306.70, and on a 90 per cent collection for "A" students, the district would receive $131,114.25. According to Anderson, the district might receive 65 per cent collection on the "B" students if a compromise can be worked out on the Impact bill. Based on this collection percentage, the district would receive approximately $33,026 rather than the $193,214 figure based on a 90 per cent collection.

"The whole program is set up to compensate us for educating a child whose parents do not pay the same taxes as non-federally connected persons," said Anderson. "A school system is run on tax money."

According to Anderson, the program helps the community but it doesn't give the school system the tax money to help the overall school expense.

"The truth is we'd much rather have the taxes. If we could tax those jets at Webb, we'd be in good shape," he said.

Titles II and V of the National Defense Education Act concern aid to public school libraries and aid with the cost of a counseling and guidance service. According to Anderson, the school has received no word of funds on these two programs, but will continue to maintain its counseling and guidance service and libraries as before with local funds.

Title III of the NDEA concerns the appropriation of funds for the purchase of non-consumable equipment and materials for the school district, according to Lynn C. Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction. The program is set up so that the federal government will pay 50 per cent of the cost of such equipment and the local school pays the remaining cost.

Funds for this program will not be available, according to Anderson.

The district will receive $21,000 in federal funds for the operation of its Adult Basic Education program, according to Anderson. The program offers training in basic reading and writing skills and high school equivalency courses to adults two nights a week, three hours a night.

The school has been granted $160,541 to serve 200 children in the Headstart program. The program is set up on the same basis as last year with one exception being the change in the age of the pupils. Headstart will serve children between ages of 4 years 5 months and 5 years 5 months old bracket now because the kindergarten program will serve children who are between the ages of 5 years and 5 months and 6 years old. The children eligible for the kindergarten program would otherwise be eligible for Headstart.

Special Education will be funded $17,878 this year, which will save the district $2,250 in local funds. The district was to have received $15,628 in federal funds which would have required that the remaining $2,250 be made up from local funds but the district will be completely reimbursed for expenditures in the area of special education.

The kindergarten will be funded $15,260 but the total cost is set at $19,906. This leaves an expenditure of $4,646 of local funds. This figure includes the estimated cost for outfitting two kindergarten classrooms, supplies, transportation, some salaries and other costs of the program. This district is phasing into the kindergarten program gradually with only a limited number of pupils meeting specified requirements being accepted into the program this year.

The district will receive $88,400 for the Title I program of NDEA, according to Anderson. This is a compensatory program to pay for the cost of educating those who are environmentally handicapped, said Anderson.

He added that there was some difficulty with the financing of this program because the funding was based on a 1960 census and the district has been obliged to limit the use of these funds to schools which serve largely the lower income families. These funds are utilized at Bauer and Lakeview elementary where a little over 600 children are involved in the program.

The district will receive a total revenue of $5,233,926 for the 1970-71 year and the expenditures are expected to total $5,217,516.

Public Kindergarten Prepares Pre-Schoolers

By LINDA CROSS
 Big Spring Independent School District's program for pre-school aged youngsters will be enlarged with the addition of a public kindergarten on a limited enrollment basis this fall. The district also participates in the Head Start program.

To be eligible for enrollment in this year's kindergarten program, youngsters must have been born on or before Sept. 2, 1964, and sometime between that date and April 1, 1965. The state attorney general has ordered that the program must be offered to those children who could be termed "educationally handicapped," either because they come from low income families or have difficulty in understanding and speaking English.

The kindergarten program will be limited strictly to youngsters meeting these requirements until 1975 when the program is opened to five year olds who are "handicapped" and others who are five years and seven months old. The present age limit of five years and five months will be dropped to five years and two months next year and to five years in 1972. The "educationally handicapped" stipulation will be in force until 1975. Kindergarten attendance is not mandatory.

Enrollment is expected to number between 70 and 80 students this first year and to increase as the program becomes established, according to S. M. Anderson, school superintendent.

Provision for three kindergarten classrooms has been made in the budget for this year. One classroom is being furnished by the Hoover Equipment and Supply Company to serve as a model classroom for the other schools in the area.

The total cost of the program for this year is set at $29,810. The district will receive $22,890 in federal funds to cover salary and operational costs. If enrollment warrants it, the district will set up two classrooms at the cost of $2,000 each besides the $6,000 model classroom furnished by the Hoover Company.

Lakeview Elementary has been chosen as the school in which to set up the classes because it was the only one with enough available classroom space, according to Anderson. The district will transport students to the kindergarten by bus. Four elementary have been named as neighborhood pick-up stops for eligible kindergarten pupils. These are Bauer, Cedar Crest, Airport and Boydston elementaries.

Transport of kindergarten students is combined with that of the Head Start pupils taken to Kate Morrison Elementary.

Private Schools Schedule Sign-Ups

Private kindergartens and elementary schools in Big Spring start right in line with public schools on Aug. 24.

Berea Baptist School, 4204 Wason Road, has pre-kindergarten and kindergarten programs, according to Mrs. Byron Hughes. Pre-registration will end the week of Aug. 17 with openings still available in the two programs with 20 students in each.

Big Spring Christian Day School, 1600 Wason Road, for pre-kindergarten, kindergarten and first grade youngsters, is registering from 3 to 6 p.m. daily with Mrs. Mack Alexander. Twenty students may be taken in each program. There are still openings.

Farrar's Private School, 1200 Rannels, has pre-kindergarten, kindergarten and first grade with a class load of 18 in each. Appointments for enrollment may be made with Mrs. Amelia Farrar.

Immaculate Heart of Mary, 1009 Hearn, has set registration for Monday, Aug. 10, in the school cafeteria. Times are 9 a.m. until noon; 1:5 p.m.; and 6 p.m. Programs include kindergarten through sixth grade. Enrollment totals 180.

Jack and Jill School, 2009 Main, has pre-kindergarten, kindergarten and first grade. Miss Arah Phillips said parents can register youngsters by calling or going by the Jack and Jill. Enrollment is about 150.

St. Mary's Episcopal Day School, 1005 Gollad, has programs for pre-kindergarten, kindergarten first and second grades. Registration of youths can be completed by contacting Mrs. Bede McCasland.

For first graders whose birthdays fall too late to begin public school, a requirement that the youngster be six years old by Dec. 1 is listed by schools with elementary programs.

Pre-kindergarten and kindergarten classes are held in the mornings while first graders and above attend classes through mid afternoon.

A directory of day-care centers is available through the American Association of University Women in Big Spring.

New Students, First Graders To Register

Registration for first graders and students new to the district is set for Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., according to Earnest Boyd, principal of Park Hill Elementary.

New students are to report to the schools they will attend during the scheduled times to register.

Boyd emphasized that it was extremely important that all new students, report at the scheduled time to assure that they will be assigned to a teacher by the first day of school. A general registration date of all former students in the district will be announced later.

To be enrolled, a first grader must be 6 years old on or before Sept. 1. When the youngster is registered, he must present a birth certificate and a record of immunization against smallpox, polio, diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus. The last three maladies are inoculated against by what is usually called the DPT shot.

Students transferring into the district should bring grade reports from the last school attended.

Teachers Begin Before Students

"This year, we will go more in depth in our in-service training for our teachers," said Lynn C. Hise, superintendent for instruction for the Big Spring Independent School District. The district is under the new 190-day school term for the first time. The term sets 180 days for instruction and 10 days for teacher training.

According to Hise, five of the 10 days allotted for in-service training will be used before school starts and the rest will be used during the school year. In-service training for teachers begins Aug. 18.

In-service training is divided into two programs, one for elementary teachers and one for secondary teachers.

Elementary teachers will attend sessions at the high school. These sessions, presented by professional teacher educators, educational center representatives and local teaching personnel, will cover a variety of topics ranging from the use of transparencies to the identification of children with learning disabilities and the techniques of instructing such children.

The sessions last from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day and are scheduled to leave free time for the teachers to prepare their classrooms for the new term. At the close of the various sessions, a general session for all elementary teachers will be held in the high school auditorium.

In-service training for secondary teachers will be conducted by the individual subject departments.

All secondary teachers Tuesday will attend two morning sessions at which they will hear professionals speak on the contemporary problems in secondary education.

Dr. John Keggereis, Big Spring State Hospital, will speak on "Drug Education" from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. Tuesday. "Current Issues in Higher Education" will be the topic of Dr. Kenneth Freeman, Texas Tech University, in a 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. session.

Still Openings For Teachers In Big Spring Classrooms

Big Spring Independent School District has hired 41 new teachers for the fall term. There are still six or seven vacancies to be filled, according to Noel Reed, director of special services.

These vacancies include positions for librarians and mathematics teachers, said Reed. Reed added that the positions will be filled before the start of school.

Nineteen new teachers assigned to the high school include James Banks, CVAE general mechanics; Alvin Bolton, science; Homer K. Ellison, assistant band director; Flor Garcia, mathematics; Robert Fambrough, health and coaching staff; Mrs. Linda Harbin, homemaking; Mrs. Eldene Holbrook, English; Mrs. Joyce L. Jackson, mathematics; Novice Kniffin, history and tennis coach; Natalie K. Mabry, art; William L. Narrel, health, physical education and the coaching staff; and Charlotte Ott, History.

Others to join the high school teaching staff are Mrs. June L. Reimer, homemaking; Timothy Smith, history and coach; David Verner, history and coach; J. B. Wilson, science and coach; Mrs. Elaine G. D'Angelo, art; Roger Tucker, counselor and John Bagnall, vocational counselor.

Golaid Junior High has nine new teachers added to their staff for fall at the present time. New teachers are Ralph Anderson, mathematics; Mrs. Nita Cheairs, English; Donna Fleming, mathematics; Mrs. Nell Hempen, art; Norma J. Hester, physical education; Donald E. Lightfoot, physical education and coach; Deborah Luellen, physical education;

Mollie S. Studer, choral, and John Todd, social studies and coach.

Rannels Junior High has been assigned four new faculty members. They are David Danaby, mathematics and coach; Dwight Hardin, band; Mrs. Kathryn L. Lane, CVAE homemaking; and Donald Swinney, mathematics.

Nine new teachers will take up positions in the elementary schools this fall. They are Gene Adkins, speech therapist; Mrs. Temple A. Driver, Headstart; Mrs. Marth Luttinen, Bauer Elementary; Mrs. Kathryn Luttreuss, Marcy Elementary; Mrs. Marian Medlin, Headstart; Mrs. Donna Plumlee, Lakeview Elementary; Mrs. Terri L. Price, speech therapist; Mary A. Sikes, Headstart; and Mrs. Norma J. Wilder, Marcy Elementary.

Money Squeeze Forces Class Consolidations

According to Lynn C. Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction, two supplementary programs will be introduced on the elementary level this fall. One program calls for the addition of supplementary reading and math work to the basic program to augment its scope, according to Hise.

The other program is the introduction of a more "broad-based social studies approach in the elementary rather than just the primary geography studies approach," said Hise.

On the secondary levels, the tight financial situation has not forced the dropping of any courses now offered, but it has necessitated the modification of some, Hise said.

Hise explained that teachers

Projected Enrollment Is 7,389

Expected enrollment for schools in the Big Spring Independent Districts is 7,114. The district is divided into one senior high school, two junior highs, and 12 elementaries, including Gay Hill and the rural schools.

Elementary aged youngsters are expected to total 3,730 this year. If 200 Headstart youngsters are counted, the total would be 7,389.

Junior high enrollment is set at 1,214 while 2,000 are expected to attend Big Spring High School. Youngsters attending special education classes will number approximately 170.

What happened to junior high in Lamesa?

The school system took grades five and six from elementary school, combined them with grades seven and eight that were junior high and call it Middle school.

Lamesa will be one of the first school systems in Texas to initiate the middle school concept when school gets underway Aug. 31.

For grades five through eight, the new program will be housed in a newly completed building. The instructional program will take in large group, small group and independent study techniques.

What is called team planning and team teaching will be an integral part of the new school.

The building is designed with movable partitions for adaptation to the innovative teaching plan.

Registration in Lamesa will be held Thursday and Friday prior to Monday, Aug. 31, the first day of school.

On the first day of class, students will notice additions have been made to the high school plant including a new student center and cafeteria, girls physical education facilities and remodeling of boys physical education area.

New lighting has been added to the high school with suspended ceilings installed throughout. North and South elementary schools have new lighting and control devices.

A change in attendance areas has been announced by superintendent Alvin R. Cannady. Students in grades one, two and three will attend either North or South Elementary schools. Students in grades four through twelve have only one attendance zone. Fourth graders will attend V. Z. Rogers Elementary. Grades five through eight are in the new Middle school. Lamesa High will serve grades nine through twelve.

Besides the 1,250 in the Middle school, Lamesa expects 1,350 in elementary, and 1,000 in secondary for a total of 3,600. Entrance requirements as always include smallpox inoculation and birth or baptismal certificates.

Forsan Will Have Kick-Off Party

Forsan County Line School District plans to kick off the new school year with a celebration prior to the first day of school, which is Aug. 17.

Donuts, cookies, coffee and punch will be served Thursday night in the Forsan High School Cafeteria, according to W. D. Smith, superintendent.

Smith extended an invitation to the general public and said all school personnel will be in attendance.

A Devotion For Today . . .

I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ. (Romans 1:16)

PRAYER: O God, help me to be a faithful witness of my faith in Christ. In whatever company I find myself, may my attitude and behavior express my love for Him and for those present. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Our Mission Is Spelled Out

Does a recital of figures impress you? These should:

More than 65,000 families suffered losses; 8,950 homes destroyed; 13,850 homes with major damage; 41,800 homes with minor damage; 252 small businesses destroyed; 25,000 persons being fed; 15,000 given shelter.

These constitute a part of the report in the wake of Hurricane Celia, which ripped through the Corpus Christi area with catastrophic results.

The time is now for people of good heart to respond to an appeal for help from people who are down and out. The local mission has been spelled out, since the American National Red Cross has asked the local chapter to contribute $4,240 toward a multi-million-dollar campaign for Hurricane Celia relief.

Your check is needed now, and it will help. Please forward it to the local Red Cross, Box 1970, and mark it Hurricane Celia. Your gift will go directly to relief operations.

With emergency feeding and shelter probably being met, the big task for the storm area now is to look to rebuilding and to the restoration of some kind of normal life. As these columns have pointed out before, the Red Cross stays on the job for as long as it is needed — perhaps months — to direct and to help finance long-range rehabilitation. There will be grants made, loans made to others; there will be household goods to buy, and home repairs to be made.

The Red Cross attempts — and succeeds to a degree — to keep in reserve a disaster relief fund, but disasters have been so costly in recent years and donations have so declined, that a storm of the magnitude of Celia requires a special appeal.

The only way to overcome this cataclysm of nature is for good Americans to express themselves as good neighbors. You can be one of these.

The New U.S. Postal Service

Congress took landmark action this past week in abolishing the Post Office Department and creating in its stead a new independent government agency, the U.S. Postal Service.

Within a year or so, this arm of the government which is 181 years old, embarks, hopefully, upon a course more nearly in line with modern-day business procedures. Political influence is due to disappear; Congress will no longer have a say in rate-setting, postal workers' pay or appointment of postmasters. The Service will be directed by a board of 11 governors.

The intent is for this new Service to operate much like the Tennessee Valley Authority does, and this particular agency has been a conspicuous success. Of course, handling the mail is quite a different thing, with every citizen of the United States involved.

The new bill immediately provides an eight per cent pay increase for postal workers, and the workers also are to have collective bargaining and compulsory arbitration rights.

Regardless of the modern approach, a postal rate increase is definite. First-class stamps are to go from six to eight cents.

Much remains to be proved as to the efficiency of a corporation-type Postal Service. The fact is, however, that over its 181-year history the Post Office Department was bogged down in political issues; its hands tied by bureaucratic decree, its operations limited by departmental red tape. Surely improvement will come under the new system, although there's no promise that it will come any cheaper.

David Lawrence Interference With Radio And TV

WASHINGTON — Maybe members of Congress and particularly senators haven't gotten as much attention as they deserve. But some of them, like Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, seem to be rather jealous of the unique position a President of the United States has in the opportunity to talk to so many people over television and radio.

Mr. Fulbright describes this as close to "exclusive access" to television, and says the chief executive's use of this medium has done as much to expand the powers of the presidency as would "a constitutional amendment formally abolishing the co-equality of the three branches of government."

SO THE Arkansas Democrat wants a bill adopted requiring television and radio to give Congress air space four times a year to present its own views.

Billy Graham

My problem is: when someone hurts me deeply I never speak up, but carry the hurt inside. I cannot stand arguments. But these "hurts" are not trivial things, but serious accusations that are unjust. I know I should defend myself, when they are in error, but I just let them pass. Is this right? D.P.T.

Though I have made it a practice for years to rarely defend myself when unjustly attacked, the Bible does not teach that we should despise ourselves. It says: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." It does not say that we should hate ourselves. You are a person too, and when you are falsely accused, you have a right and a duty to defend yourself — in love, and in the spirit of Christ. If you hold these hurts inside you may become withdrawn, cynical, and unfit for real Christian service. On the farm where I was brought up, chickens sometimes would pick on a weak, sick member of the brood — and when blood was drawn, their cannibalistic nature became aroused, and the group would pick the weakling to death. Human nature sometimes follows that pattern. When a person does not defend himself, he sometimes becomes prey for the cannibalistic, sadistic nature of the human herd. There are times, of course, when it is Christian to forgive and forget. But, when our peers choose us as a target of persecution, the Bible does not encourage injustice, and capitulation to unfair treatment.

The Bible tells us to be meek, but meekness is not weakness. If you lose your self-respect, one often loses his respect for others. I don't mean that one should carry a chip on his shoulder, but respect for yourself is important if we are to have love for others.

Business Mirror Consumers May Be Stirring-Cautiously

By CAROLE MARTIN

AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumers are spending a bit more but still aren't ready to throw caution to the wind, according to statistics released during the past week.

"The buying fever that prevailed during last year certainly hasn't emerged yet," one federal government economist observed after the Federal Reserve Board issued its report on consumer credit in June.

The June consumer installment debt rose $411 million on a seasonally adjusted basis from the $415 million increase in May, but was well below the $795 million increase a year earlier.

Officials said that while last month's increase was the sharpest since November, the figures indicated "that many people are still pretty cautious."

A federal survey released Wednesday showed that consumer expectation of buying homes during the remainder of 1970 have accelerated, but that expected purchases of cars are unchanged from an April poll.

Top government economists reportedly are relying heavily on stepped-up consumer buying plans in the second half of this year to shake the economy out of its recent sluggishness.

U.S. Commerce Department officials said households with above-median income have increased their buying expectations more than the average of all households.

"This may be the most significant result, as higher-income households often have a better record of realizing their expectation," one analyst said.

Meanwhile, Ford Motor Co. indicated most of its 1971 cars would cost 5 per cent more, or an average of about $150 per car.

SLUGGISH

● Consumer expectations strongest among upper bracket.

● Housing hopes rise, car sales steady, prices up.

● Construction index shows modest gain, metal rises.

● Two big corporations show tremendous losses for year.

● House puts $55,000 lid on individual farm payments.

Ford and Lincoln-Mercury

dealers were told this week that advance car-billing prices were being increased 5 per cent on all models except the Ford Maverick which is being raised 6 per cent. Advance truck billing prices also were raised 6 per cent.

A Ford spokesman said final prices on the 1971 models haven't been set, however, and that advance billing prices merely represent the invoice prices that dealers will receive with cars delivered before the formal introduction of new models. Actual prices won't be set until just before Ford introduces its models in mid-September.

Earlier in the week, Chrysler raised its tentative truck prices more than 5 per cent on 1971 models.

SALES — PRICES GROW

The "Big Three" auto makers — Chrysler, Ford and General Motors — reported a 7.8 per cent increase in July truck sales, the first increase this year on a daily-rate basis.

Imported car sales jumped to a record 118,000 units last month, up almost 25 per cent from July, 1969. This was the third monthly record and brought the foreign producers' share of the U.S. market to 15.6 per cent, statistics showed.

Other business developments

reported during the past week:

—American Motors Corp. reported a loss of $14.1 million, or 57 cents a share, for the quarter ended June 30, bringing its nine-month loss to $39.8 million of the $1.68 a share.

—The Dodge index of construction-contract value climbed to 186 in June from 170 in May. The F. W. Dodge division of the McGraw-Hill Information Systems Co. reported that this was due to a sharp increase in "non-building" construction for highway, utility, dam and military installation projects.

TIN COSTS HIKED

—U.S. Steel's prices on tin mill prices were raised as much as 11.8 per cent effective with shipments Oct. 1, and other steel take similar action.

—The U.S. House of Representatives passed a new farm bill that limits farm subsidies to individual farmers of $55,000.

—Penn Central Co., whose railroad is now trying to reorganize under the bankruptcy laws, announced losses of $123 million for the first half of 1970, compared with a $26.4 million profit for the first six months of 1969. The second-quarter loss was $105.8 million, or $4.38 a share, compared with $21.8 million, or 91 cents a share, in earnings for the same period last year.

Around The Rim We Have Our Own Particulates

Have never been close to Steubenville, Ohio, and suppose there's not much need to be. A directory lists it as a thriving city of considerable size in the eastern part of the state (not too far from the Pittsburgh industrial complex), which has a lot of industry, including steel, titanium, ferro-alloys, paper products, clay products, coal and slag.

All these things must add up to something, because the Steubenites awakened the other morning to learn that their city had been branded as the nation's dirtiest.

IN ONE RESPECT, at least, the chemists who are grading our pollution these days talk about "particulate pollution" as well as "sulphur oxide levels." Steubenville has the most particulates. I pondered this and concluded that things other than raindrops keep falling on the natives' heads. Of course, New York City, which always the best or the worst, is No. 1 in sulphur oxide levels, which means it just plain stinks.

THE EXPERTS have turned out the report cards on 50 cities in each pollution category. It might come as a bit of surprise that El Paso is the worst city in Texas in sulphur oxide, with Houston also managing to rate in the top 50.

And with those particulates, only Laredo in Texas gets a ranking, and this makes you wonder what in the world is falling around Laredo.

WELL, AS PEOPLE keep telling us, air pollution is no light matter, and some progress is being made to eliminate the soot and smoke which create particulates.

Generally, everybody wants to make the top ten in any list, and West Texas with an ounce of civic pride ought to call for a recount.

There have been years in say, February or March, when one of those massive dust banks moved in from the north, the wind whipped up to near gale proportions and the sky darkened as if the end of the world were approaching. What happened was, it was a dust storm (in latter-day phrasing; there was a time when these were sand storms).

And, in such occurrences, West Texans wish they were in Steubenville, Ohio.

THROUGH THE YEARS, natives in these parts like to compare the severity of certain dust storms which occurred in certain years. They call them by various names, some not printable in a family journal. It is my prediction that sooner or later, after one of those mighty blows when all of the South Plains has been dumped on the city, people will call the Chamber of Commerce and say, "get the pollution counters down here. Today we are the dirtiest place in the country."

BUT DUST STORMS move on out, usually leaving in their wake a clear-blue sky, freshly sanded down. The major residue is to be found in window sills and under the doors.

But the happy housewife, serene in the knowledge that her town got a real dirty rating, can shout across to her neighbor: "The particulate count was worse than usual today."

Marquis Childs Havoc In A Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES — Richard Nixon and Charles Manson are at opposite poles of the social spectrum. Yet together they have managed to create havoc in a murder trial conducted, even before this intervention at long odds against objective justice, in an atmosphere of sensationalism and the pressures of mass prejudice.

When Manson defied the order of the court, rose in his seat and waved a newspaper with the headline "Manson GUILTY, Nixon Declares" at the jury, he was entirely in character. He is a self-made outcast, beyond all the dictates of law, morality and reason, who has spent most of his wretched life in jails and detention homes.

THE MYSTERY is the conduct of the President of the United States, a lawyer and a member of the California bar. Supposedly his purpose at his Denver press conference was to rebuke the Los Angeles newspapers, which he had been reading at San Clemente, for their sensational reporting of the trial of Manson and the three young women members of his "family" in the Sharon Tate murder case.

That is said against the background of crimes that for sheer cold-blooded, calculated horror have seldom been equalled. As widely reported when they were committed, they conveyed a sense of all that was vicious and sick at work in a disorganized and vulnerable social order.

TO SIT in the courtroom even for a few hours is to get this same sense of a sick sub-world quite outside the experience of the normal and rational. At times in the closely guarded room it seems like a bitter travesty of the processes of law and order so narrowly evolved across the years. The jury put together in five painstaking weeks faces an almost-impossible task, now made doubly difficult by the President's intervention, in sequestering themselves from all but what they hear in the courtroom.

LINDA KASABIAN, the state's principal witness, her hair parted in the middle and pulled back from both sides of her forehead, talks in her little girl's voice about her life in the jungle of drugs and sex. Pressed by Irving Kanarek, Manson's attorney, to say how many trips on LSD she had made beginning at the age of 16 she can reply only "about 50."

The three women defendants, Leslie Van Houten, 19, Susan Atkins, 21, and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, seem less concerned than anyone in the courtroom. They whisper among each other and with their respective attorneys. They might be giggling schoolgirls anywhere instead of three young women charged with the murder of seven persons whom they had never seen before the slaughter.

AS FOR MANSON, he defies description. So much has been written about him in his own terms — savior, messiah, the master of the lives of the young who fell under his spell. In an astonishing group interview in the Herald-Examiner the young women still in the Manson commune in the abandoned movie set said they were just waiting for Charley to come back. Apparently nothing disclosed thus far has had the slightest influence on them.

MAKING ONE of his repeated pleas denied by Superior Court Judge to be his own attorney, repeatedly Charles H. Older, Manson talks about reality, truth, his belief that only if he is allowed to cross-examine the witnesses himself will he be satisfied. He has, of course, long since assumed the martyr's role, victim of the Establishment now augmented by the voice of the President. (Copyright, 1970, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Art Buchwald Mixups In Kid-Swapping

WASHINGTON — Nobody likes to talk about it, but there is a lot of kid-swapping going on in the United States. It isn't going on just in the suburbs or the small towns, but in the larger cities as well.

I hadn't realized how prevalent kid-swapping was until I moved to Washington. One night I came home from the office and instead of finding my dark-haired little beauties I discovered a 7-year-old blonde stranger doing the twist.

"Who's she?" I asked my wife.

"THAT'S ANN Lindsay. She's staying here for the night with Connie."

"Where's Jennifer?" I asked.

"She's sleeping at Priscilla's house because Ann Lindsay's sleeping here."

"Who's Priscilla?"

"Jennifer didn't know her last name, but she says she's her best friend."

"That's nice. Where is Joel?"

"He's sleeping at his friend's, B.J. He said if Jennifer can sleep somewhere else so can he."

"Where does that leave us?" I asked my wife.

"WELL, WE had three to start with, we got rid of two for the night, and we gained one, so we're only short one."

"It saves on food," I agreed.

The next weekend when I came home Connie was missing, but Jennifer had two friends and Joel had B.J.

At 8 o'clock I ordered them all to bed.

"B.J.'s father lets him watch television until midnight every night," said Joel, who is nine years old.

"Is that true, B.J.?" I asked.

"SOMETIMES LATER," B.J. said without batting an eye.

"Well, why don't we just call up your parents and ask them what time you go to bed?"

"Oh, you don't have to do that," B.J. said hurriedly. "They've probably gone out to a movie."

Just then the phone rang. It was Mrs. Lindsay, who said, "What time do you usually put Connie to bed?"

"Eight o'clock," I said.

"SHE SAID you let her stay up till midnight to watch television. I was a little worried," Mrs. Lindsay seemed relieved.

A few weeks later I came home and found three kids at the dinner table. None of them mine.

"What happened?" I asked.

MY WIFE was rather embarrassed. "There's been a dreadful mix-up. Joel invited Francis over to sleep with him, but he forgot he'd accepted an invitation to sleep at Butch's. Jennifer and Connie were invited over to Karen's, but after they left, Veronica and Mary Elisabeth showed up and said they had been invited over here. I didn't have the heart to send them home."

"So now we've got three kids that don't even belong to us," I said.

"Yes," my wife said, "and guess what? They said their mothers let them stay up until midnight to watch television."

Bus Schedule This Year Has Only Minor Changes

Bus service for students in the Big Spring Independent School District begins Aug. 24. According to information from the district's office, the schedule is essentially the same as that of last year. New drivers will take over duties on buses numbers 2, 4, 7, 14, 21 and 37 after school starts.

The school district will operate a total of 22 buses this year with 17 serving the regular elementary, junior high and senior high students; three serving kindergartens and Head-start youngsters; and two for students enrolled in special education. Approximately 1,750 are expected to ride the buses which will travel approximately 1,100 miles daily getting the youngsters to school and home again.

Bus numbers and some of the stops are—

Bus 38 — Railroad crossing west of Cosden, Plew's Station, Hilltop Road (four stops), and Jonesboro Road (four stops). Students go to Boydston, Special education, Park Hill, Runnels and BSHS.

Bus 36 — Northcrest Apts., Steere Tank Co. on the Andrews Hwy., and Northwest Eighth and Wyoming. Students go to Park Hill, Runnels and BSHS.

New Building At HCJC Is Possible

Prospects are excellent this will be the year when Howard County Junior College makes another major addition to its physical facilities, and in so doing takes a major stride into the vocational-technical field.

Within a month HCJC should have the word on whether its application for a grant under the college facilities act is approved. If so, this will open the way for an $800,000 building designed expressly for vocational and technical programs.

A major portion of the local half of the cost is on hand thanks to a grant from the Dora Roberts Foundation.

This is the first increment in a new master plan which trustees are now studying and which only recently was submitted by Dr. C. C. Colvert, University of Texas junior college expert and consultant.

Getting the new plant will have the effect of doubling the vocational-technical training curriculum, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president. Courses now include electronic data processing (programming, also operations and management), machine tools technology, welding technology, business mid-management, vocational nursing, electrical-electronic technology, drafting technology, law enforcement technology, and (new) plastics technology.

ANTICIPATING a good school year, Alton Callihan and James Reidy discuss their approach to college careers at Howard County Junior College.

Forsan Students Report Back To School Aug. 17

FORSAN — Opening a week earlier than most area schools, Forsan County Line Independent School District will begin classes Aug. 17.

All students in grades six through eight who have never enrolled in Forsan Junior High School will register Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m.

High School students will also register this week, with seniors reporting at 9 a.m. Thursday, juniors at 1 p.m. Thursday, sophomores at 9 a.m. Friday and freshmen at 1 p.m. Friday.

Elementary students from kindergarten to fifth grade who have never enrolled will register at 9 a.m. Friday in the Elbow building. All other elementary students need not report until Aug. 17, the first day of classes.

New personnel includes Mrs. Emily D. Elrod, a graduate of Southern Methodist University with a master's degree in Math; Mrs. Eunice T. Thixton, a student at Angelo State University who will teach elementary physical education; Mrs. Gail M. Joubert, a graduate of University of Southwestern Louisiana with a major in home economics and a minor in English; Mrs. Judy Ann Anderson, a graduate of Texas Woman's University with a major in speech and a minor in English; and Michael D. Neel, a graduate of Midwestern University with a bachelor of music degree.

Anticipated enrollment at Forsan is 120 students in grades 9 through 12 and 350 in kindergarten through the eighth grade.

The system has a complete faculty, according to Supt. H. D. Smith, however is still taking applications from substitute teachers. Individuals wishing to substitute teach should call Mrs. Nova Scuday or Mrs. Nannie J. Richardson at 263-6571. Children enrolling in kindergarten or the first grade must have birth certificates, evidence of immunization against diphtheria within the last year (includes booster shots), evidence of small pox vaccination within the year prior to enrollment. Staff members must also have an examination for tuberculosis.

This is a list of elementary school supplies suggested by administrators of the Forsan school at Elbow:

New Superintendent For Colorado City Schools

COLORADO CITY — Lloyd E. McKee Jr. takes over the reins as superintendent of the Colorado Independent School District when classrooms open their doors here Aug. 26.

McKee's new administrative assistant will be Gary Gardner, formerly principal of Wallace Elementary. Jerry Reynolds, principal of Hutchinson Elementary will combine duties to include Wallace as well as Hutchinson. McKee formerly was assistant superintendent here.

The district is expecting a total of 1,700 students, including 835 at the secondary level and 865 at the elementary level. New programs here will include a bilingual program at the kindergarten level and flexible scheduling and team teaching at the junior high school. A Southern Association evaluation team will tour the schools in October.

McKee said his staff is complete for the fall semester except for a speech therapist. Registration will be Aug. 14, 17 and 18 for the high school students with class pictures being taken at that time. Junior high registration will be Aug. 17-18. Teachers will report Aug. 19-21, 24 for inservice training, orientation and preparation. Teachers will join those at Snyder and Sweetwater Tuesday for a combined in-service session.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY HCJC Plans Banner Year; More Than 1,000 Expected

Howard County Junior College for this week, and Registrar Leslie Lewis is hopeful that as many new freshmen and returning sophomores as possible will take advantage of this early sign-up. By so doing, they will have only to pay tuition and fees at regular registration time; they already will have tied down classes and desired hours.

Most of the veteran faculty will be intact. There are a few replacements and additions.

Gone is the head basketball coach, D. E. (Buddy) Travis, whose place has been taken by Harold Wilder. Mrs. Alicia Travis has been succeeded in the vocational nurses training program by Mrs. Ramona Harris. Dallas Nash has been succeeded in electronic data processing by Don Box.

Larry Stanley has been succeeded in the music department by Ralph D. Dowden. The late Robert Daniels has been succeeded in law enforcement technology by Arthur Capps. Mrs. Hamlin Elrod has been succeeded in math by Ronald B. Voorhees.

Mrs. Mary Crawford has been added to the library staff; and instructors for mid-management, succeeding Doyle Holder who has received a fellowship for graduate work. Instructors for Spanish and for the new plastics technology course will be named at the board meeting this week. Mrs. Mary H. Dudley is being assigned to guidance.

Routine maintenance work has been done, including a general overhaul of the science and library air conditioning. New modern dressing rooms have been installed in the auditorium; new floors in the men's and women's gymnasium dressing rooms; and the four tennis courts are getting a permanent plastic topping. Physical facilities, said Don Shoemaker, business manager, are in top condition.

Superintendent Assumes Duties In Garden City

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County Schools will begin classes Aug. 27 and teachers will return Aug. 24 and 25 for in-service training, according to the systems final school calendar. Glasscock County Schools will be under the direction of a new superintendent this fall.

Winn S. Talley became the new superintendent of schools on July 1. Talley came to Garden City from Fluvana where he had served as superintendent of schools for two years.

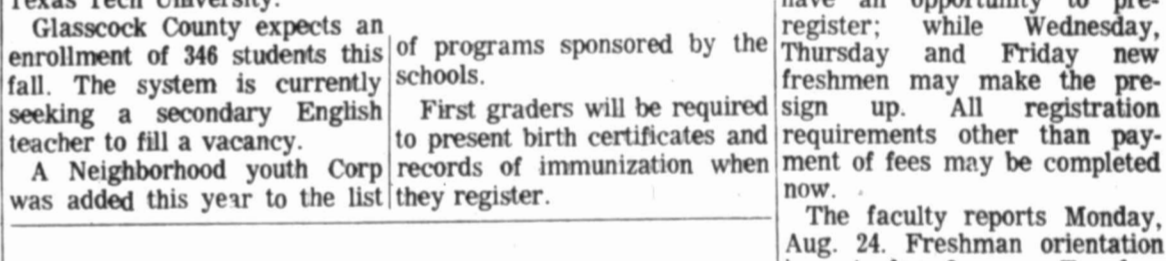

Talley, his wife Billie and their three children now make their home in Garden City this fall.

Talley is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and Texas Tech University.

Glasscock County expects an enrollment of 346 students this fall. The system is currently seeking a secondary English teacher to fill a vacancy.

A Neighborhood youth Corp was added this year to the list of programs sponsored by the schools.

First graders will be required to present birth certificates and records of immunization when they register.

Ingrid Bergman Back On Screen

Ingrid Bergman, after an absence from the Hollywood scene of two decades, currently stars with Walter Matthau in the made-in-Hollywood-and-New York romantic comedy, "Cactus Flower," at the Jett Theatre Wednesday.

"Cactus Flower" also serves as a debut vehicle for television's Goldie Hawn, who plays a Greenwich Village kook named Toni.

Miss Bergman's absence from Hollywood did not mean an absence from films, from television or from the stage. In recent years, she has acted in one or another of these media in England, Italy, France, Denmark, Germany, Spain and Sweden, generally in the language of each country because she speaks five languages fluently.

In "Cactus Flower," Miss Bergman appears as a prim, no-nonsense dental office nurse who suddenly blossoms out when she becomes involved in her boss' hectic romantic entanglements. Matthau, of course, is the dentist, a bachelor who pretends he is married so that his various girlfriends will not chase him too strenuously.

"Cactus Flower" co-stars Jack Weston, Rick Lenz, Vito Scotti and Irene Hervey. The comedy is based on the Abe Burrows play produced on the New York stage by David Merrick, based on a French play by Barillet and Gredy.

Wally Cox Shuns Image In Disney's 'The Boatniks'

Wally Cox is still known to millions of Americans as the shy Mr. Peepers, a television role he essayed nearly 20 years ago. Currently starring as a millionaire playboy in Walt Disney Productions' hilarious comedy, "The Boatniks," Mr. Peepers' character still pops up to haunt the actor.

"It's taken me years to get away from that image," explains the comedian mildly but with emphasis. "I never liked the role. I felt as though I had to hold myself back in the part and I don't like holding back when doing comedy. I like real comedy, low comedy I guess you'd call it," he continues. "I miss W. C. Fields, the Marx Brothers, the Laurel and Hardy type thing."

In short, Wally Cox would like to see a golden age of comedy restored to America, which he feels is weltering under a sudden blanket of "explicit film," "black comedy" and social interest material. "I think the people are ready for it," he adds in a definite Mr. Peepers type voice... mild but precise.

The actor is a writer in his off hours and has published two books which "no one reads." One is "My Life As A Small Boy," the other "Ralph Makes Good."

Cox began his professional life as a night club entertainer, writing all his own material. Since that time, he has done a number of "real comedy" things for himself, but isn't satisfied. He won't stop, however, and plans to write

How Many Westerns To Make A Western Star?

Do you consider James Stewart and Henry Fonda western stars? Many people do.

Yet both these actors, who have been making films in Hollywood since the middle thirties, count westerns as a small part, in terms of number, of their acting assignments.

Stewart, who has made more than 70 motion pictures, has played in 17 westerns. Fonda, who has divided his career between Hollywood and the Broadway stage, has appeared in over 60 films, 15 of which were westerns.

"I guess," said Fonda, "that if you're a good actor in films, it doesn't matter what type of film it is. So if people identify Jimmy and me as western heroes, it means they have enjoyed our performances in those films."

Fonda and Stewart, who have been friends since their college days, have appeared on screen together to date in only three films, two of which, "How The West Was Won" and "Fire-creek," were westerns.

The two are now appearing together again in "The Cheyenne Social Club," a comedy-western produced and directed by Gene Kelly. The film opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

"Maybe the reason people think of them as western stars," offered Gene Kelly, "is that their performances and the westerns they have made, have been so good. Many of them, like Jimmy's 'Destry Rides Again,' 'Winchester 73,' 'The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance,' and Hank's 'Jesse James,' 'The Ox Bow Incident,' 'My Darling Clementine' and 'The Tin Star,' are considered western classics."

"The Cheyenne Social Club," which also stars Shirley Jones, was filmed on locations in Santa Fe, N.M., and in Hollywood.

A BOY NAMED CHARLIE BROWN ... with the 'Peanuts' Gang

Good Grief, The Peanuts Gang Is In The Movies

Good grief, Charlie Brown is now a movie star! The irrepressible little guy, whose adventures through life have been chronicled in Charles M. Schulz' world-famous "Peanuts" comic strip, has now invaded the wide screen, and a new matinee idol has emerged.

"A Boy Named Charlie Brown," which opens Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre, is the first motion picture starring the "Peanuts" gang, the unique gallery of characters who represent the fancies and delights of all our childhoods.

When Charles M. Schulz created his "Peanuts" characters twenty years ago, he embarked on a venture that has captured the imagination of the world.

Schulz personally supervised the thousands of key panels necessary in the filming of "A Boy Named Charlie Brown." He also wrote the screenplay which leads Charlie Brown from the frustrations of losing a ballgame to fame as one of the finalists in a national spelling bee.

Over 250,000 drawings were used in the production of "A Boy Named Charlie Brown." Each cell was individually inked and printed, a process which took nearly two years. Hundreds of key personnel were employed in its presentation so that the "Peanuts" characters could cavort in style on the big screen.

The "Peanuts" characters have become an institution. The comic strip now appears in over one thousand newspapers in the United States and in over fifty foreign countries. Hardcover and paperback editions of the various Charlie Brown books have now passed the fifty-million mark in sales around the world.

Producer Lee Mendelson, who has produced all the acclaimed Charlie Brown television specials, is the guiding force behind "A Boy Named Charlie Brown." He has won two Emmy Awards and two Peabody Awards, for his productions of "A Charlie Brown Christmas," "Join Steinbeck's America and Americans," and "The Bridge Builders." Bill Melendez directed the motion picture.

Briton, Frenchman Star In Movie

"Naked Under Leather," which opens on Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre, stars France's Alain Delon and Britain's Marianne Faithfull. The lyrical love drama promises to be one of the year's most provocative and disturbing films.

The film introduces Marianne Faithfull in the dazzling co-starring role of a young girl inextricably involved with Delon, as her lover, whose savage sexual attraction, imprisons her in a world of erotic fantasy.

Dressed throughout by Lanvin, Miss Faithfull's most unusual costume is a one-piece, skin-tight black leather riding suit, lined with white fur, which she wears for sequences in which she rides a powerful 1207cc. motorcycle. She was tutored in control of the motorcycle by expert-stuntman Roy Wiffen.

Cardiff was drawn to the subject, he notes, by the visual potential of the story, threaded into a melange of fantasy and realistic images, and by the psychological intricacies of the three main characters: the girl, her lover, and her husband who is played by British actor Roger Mutton. Ultimately, each stands alone, facing personal desires and weaknesses.

Delon, best known for his "young seducer" roles, realizes a long-held ambition to play a subtler, more mature role with his characterization of the lover. With some 20 starring roles already to his credit, Delon feels that "Naked Under Leather" will lead to an expanded career, with greater maturity of expression.

After playing Vanessa Redgrave's brother in Tony Richardson's "Charge Of The Light Brigade," Cornish-born Roger Mutton, age 29, gets a second big break with his role of Miss Faithfull's husband.

Six weeks of location filming for "Naked Under Leather" encompassed the sports center of Aix-Flaquieres, at an altitude of 9,000 feet. Chosen for its early October snow, the Swiss locale offered challenging obstacles to the unit, struggling some three miles through knee-high snow to film sequences with the cast and ski champion Willy Favre and the National Ski Team of Switzerland.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CARROLL RICHTER

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a chance to make some important decisions where your obligations and responsibilities are concerned. First make sure you use your gift of prophetic insight to decide the principles under which you would like to operate in the days ahead. Take some time out to show your love for your mate.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you came through with promises you have made to others, they will later give you help. Go out with mate, mix socially and gain favor. Be sure you dress well.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A good day to get down to policy matters with an associate for the future. Put off the plan to have a good time until later on in the week. Handle important matters around the house also.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to return favors others have done. Show devotion and loyalty to those important to you. Take treatments that improve your health. Relax in the evening.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Forget petty things that annoy you and this can be a most happy and delightful day. Do something about creative skills you have. These can be very enjoyable.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be more cheerful at home even though there may be some gloom in the air. You love those who dwell with you. You have to handle new ideas in a more practical fashion than you are planning now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Early morning services are best so that you leave plenty of time for being with persons you like for visits. Support those you like. Handle transportation matters wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show that you can think clearly and know exactly how to handle monetary affairs. Take advice from one who is an expert in finances. Make the evening a happy one with friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have a personal problem that can be handled easily if you forget everything else and concentrate on it. Attend the social and make the right contacts. Show others you are devoted.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal day to study new courses at activity that are best for you and improve your lot in life. Get data you need for what is important from a bigwig. Avoid going off on tangents. 22 to Jan. 20) Doing whatever makes your life with pairs more ideal is good today. So get busy early in the day. Good day to write to civic leader about whatever concerns you the most. Happiness is a state of mind; get the right one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how to become a more popular person and gain the goodwill of bigwigs, you know. Think over how to have a better credit rating, also. Get family to join you in some form of recreation tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) There are many clever and intelligent persons who will now give you information you have been seeking, so seek them out. Plan next weekend wisely. You have been wanting a little vacation for a long time.

MONDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day and evening to liberate yourself of obligations and responsibilities from the past. Organize your future to bring more efficiency and comfort in your everyday life. Don't let one who is wrapped up in himself deprive you of what is rightfully yours, but do so tactfully.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A good day to handle business and personal matters of importance. Work steadily and carefully. Show others you are an intelligent person who likes to help others. Be a peacemaker.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) An associate may not like your ideas for advancement now, but be patient. Later on they will be accepted. Use wise judgment when unfavorable situations break into the open. Be happy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You think you have more work to do than you can easily handle, but if you start early, all will be fine. Discuss with fellow workers how to work together more harmoniously in the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can enjoy new and delightful recreation now. Do not hang on to the old-fashioned. Show your finest talents. Make headway socially, with business associates also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make a better plan so that you and kin will be closer. But try not to be too forceful with them. You want to handle argumentative matter but show tact and you get best results. Take it easy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A new system of operation now can make daily routine more efficient and easy for you. Keep appointments on time. Don't neglect correspondence. Discuss views with others clearly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take care of practical matters in a most common-sense way and show your finest talents thereby. Be sure to give bills on time. Don't waste time with people who merely gossip.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You feel powerful now but make sure you use energy in the right directions. Don't be forceful with a good friend of long standing. Take care of personal affairs wisely. Don't lose your temper.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Planning the new week wisely will give you new impetus toward greater success. Accomplish things in a more positive fashion. Schedule time well. Use courtesy in stating your views to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Look for good friends for your best way to be successful now and do some angling so that you have their goodwill and cooperation. Be conservative at the social. Don't show any prejudices. Charm everyone.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be sure to handle those duties of a career or credit nature, since they are important. Develop more enthusiasm. Discuss with higher-up how to improve your image with the public. Avoid temper tantrums.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you study new ideas wisely, you can put them in operation constructively. Get rid of whatever is not suitable to you. Listen carefully to what new contact has to say.

MEN IN SERVICE

AMBROSE SANCHEZ

RAYMOND SANCHEZ

TONY SANCHEZ

In about six months, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Sanchez, 1508 Robin, will have only one son in the Army, but at the moment they have three sons in the Army, two of them stationed at the same camp.

Ambrose Sanchez Jr., 21, and Raymond Sanchez, 20, are stationed in Fayetteville, N.C., with the 82nd Airborne. Ambrose returned from 13 months in South Korea May 10, and Raymond returned from a year in Vietnam in February. Raymond is a medic.

Tony Sanchez, 18, is at Fort Sam Houston now, scheduled to graduate Aug. 14 from medic training. He joined the Army in April. Raymond and Ambrose have been in service two years and six months.

Raymond is a 1968 graduate of Big Spring High School, which his brothers also attended. Raymond's wife, Alicia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chavez, Big Spring, and Tony's wife, Mary Ann, is the daughter of Mrs. Margarita Herrera, Knott.

U. S. Air Force S.Sgt. Jose A. Vasquez, Corpus Christi, has arrived for duty at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Sergeant Vasquez, an administrative supervisor, is assigned to the Defense Information School. He previously served at Nakhon Phanom Royal Thai AFB, Thailand.

His wife, Rosemary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Herrera, 707 NW 8th Big Spring.

The Distinguished Flying Cross for valor in aerial flight was received by Capt. Larry D. Seals, 23, son of Mrs. Melba L. Soles, 5009 Crenshaw, El Paso, Tex., in ceremonies near Pleiku, Vietnam, June 27.

On May 6, 1970, while flying as gunner-co-pilot of an AH-1G "Cobra" helicopter gunship in support of ground troops, he engaged an enemy force of unknown size. Under intense fire, he made continuous passes over the hostile positions to aid in knocking them out of action. Capt. Seals, assigned to the 361st Aviation Company near Pleiku, entered the Army in October 1966 and was last stationed at Hunter Army Airfield, Ga. His wife, Sally, lives at 801 Marcy, Big Spring.

On his 180th combat mission in Southeast Asia, U. S. Air Force 1st Lt. Richard W. Edmonds, Santa Barbara, Calif., knocked out an enemy mortar complex near an Army of the Republic of Vietnam fire support base just south of the Demilitarized Zone.

Lt. Edmonds and a fellow F-100 Super Sabre pilot pounded the several mortar positions of the complex during a series of low-level bombing runs and strafing passes carrying full loads, they had to pre-plan carefully the exit route — out of a valley and over a 1,000-foot hill — for each pass.

"It was my best mission so far because everything was right — maximum variety of firepower, good weather, good refueling hookups, outstanding forward air control support and a number one damage assessment," recalled the lieutenant.

"Most of all, we were directly helping allies who needed our support. We took the pressure off the troops on the ground," he concluded.

The lieutenant is assigned at Phan Rang to a tactical fighter unit of the Pacific Air Forces. Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., entered the Air Force in Big Spring. Lt. and Mrs. Edmonds, who has BS and MS degrees in engineering from Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., entered the Air Force in Big Spring. Lt. and Mrs. Edmonds have a daughter, Kelly, 1968. His wife, Bettie Jane, is the mounds have a daughter, Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward.

New Service

LONDON (AP) — John Cardinal Heenan has launched an official advisory and welfare service for priests leaving the ministry. It operates confidentially through a London post office box number. Priests under emotional stress are told they may go directly to the advisory service instead of to their bishop for advice and help.
