

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend (I'll call him "Seymour") is a pre-med student. We plan to get married in three or four years. Last night Seymour was over of a pain in my back. (I had been bowling the night before.) Well, Seymour had me lie face down on the sofa so he could work on my back. (Naturally I took off my shirt and unhooked my bra.)

All of a sudden my mother walks in, and boy, was she ever mad! You could have heard her in Jersey. Seymour left shortly after that and my mother yelled some more, saying how terrible I was and so forth. Abby, Seymour is studying to be a doctor, which I think gives him more of a right to be working on my back than if he were a law student, right? I think my mother has an evil mind and I would like your opinion. Believe me, we weren't doing anything wrong.

ACHING BACK DEAR ABBY: Since Seymour is not yet a doctor, he shouldn't have been working on you professionally. And since he's not yet your husband, he shouldn't have been working on you, PERIOD.

DEAR ABBY: This may not seem like a big problem to you, but if you can publish a letter from someone asking you if you ever saw a bald-headed Indian, you can publish this.

Have you ever seen a man carrying a small change purse in his pocket? My fiancée has a fit every time I take it out of my pocket to pay for something. She claims it looks sissy, and she's ashamed to be seen with me in public because of it. It's not a fancy one. It's just a plain, ordinary black change purse. My grandpa carried one all his life, and I have carried one for 10 years and she is the only one to ever object to it. I think it is a very convenient way to carry my change and I am not about to give it up because she says it embarrasses her. What is your opinion? DAHLONEGRA, GA.

DEAR DAHLONEGRA: "Change purses" for gentlemen are not the most up-to-date accessory, but many men still carry them, so if that's your preference, suit yourself. And tell your fiancée if she's too "ashamed" to be seen with you in public because you carry a change purse, the next change you make could be HER.

DEAR ABBY: Every time I see a letter in your column with no answer, I don't even bother to read it. It's usually some long drawn out sad tale of woe from a cry baby who wants to have her say. Or it's a letter from some nut which is so ridiculous, I can't imagine why you would want to print it. I like your column best when you run somebody's problem and give them your answer—especially when you tell them off.

You are getting paid to answer people's problems, Abby, so get busy and don't goof off. ABILENE, TEXAS

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

WELL, GOOD 'FORE' SPIRO

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A realtor in suburban Lawndale says he is producing "Spiro Flite Golf Balls" as desk ornaments to commemorate Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's bopping of pro golfer Doug Sanders with a shot Feb. 7.

Rudy Harper, 40, the manufacturer, said the Japanese-made balls have a blue, one-inch imprint showing a caricature of Agnew swinging a golf club and the word "Fore" above his head.

The ball, with a circular plastic stand and a plastic golf tee, will sell for $2.75. Harper, who attended the University of Florida with Sanders, said Agnew's attorneys have agreed to allow the item to be marketed with part of the profits going to combat pollution and another portion to charity.

House Fire Fatal

BEAUMONT (AP)—Rose Adams died Wednesday in a fire that burned out a small frame residence. Her sister, Ernestine Mosby, was found alive on a floor and taken to a hospital. Both women were in their 60s, officers said. The fire was believed to have started in the kitchen.

Woman Dealing On Vegas Strip

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For the first time, a woman is dealing cards on the Las Vegas Strip.

Women have shuffled the cards and pushed the dice over the green felt tables throughout the rest of Nevada since the man-short days of World War II, but Strip casinos have always employed only male dealers, contending women would drive away the big-money boys.

Jean Brady, 47, worked her first shift Monday as a "21" dealer at Howard Hughes' Silver Slipper.

'Quickie Divorces' Time Running Out

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Time is running out apparently for those who come south of the border seeking "quickie divorces."

A presidential initiative to Congress aimed at ending such divorces sought by foreigners will be sent to the permanent commission of the Chamber of Deputies, the Interior Minister said.

"These divorces are handled with a speed that is incompatible with the gravity of dissolving marital unions and also infringe on the individual liberties guaranteed by our constitution," said a spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Relations.

Uncontested divorces for indigents and legal residents are not difficult to obtain, although there is a three-month waiting period. However, for sometime foreigners have been able to obtain annulments and divorces through Mexico in a single day.

"The opinion of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz on this matter is that immediate and radical steps be taken towards this end which contradicts the respect that the people of Mexico have for the family as an institution," the government spokesman added.

In the future, legal residents will be accredited only through certificates extended by the Ministry of Interior which will have the legal status of foreigners who wish to terminate or annul a marriage.

When the initiative becomes law, as it is expected to, no judicial or administrative authority will admit any petition for divorce or annulment unless accompanied by the necessary migratory documents, officials explained.

President Diaz Ordaz' initiative is based on Section XVI of Article 73 of the constitution

Governors Vote To Lobby For Share Of Fed Funds

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (AP) — A White House emissary has told Republican campaigners not to fret at the prospect that Congress might override President Nixon's veto of budget-raising money bills, advising them that the move will pay (GOP political dividends anyway.

Democratic governors charged that the vetoes of education and housing appropriations were part of a GOP political strategy designed to put the blame for inflation on Congress.

DON'T WORRY

Herbert G. Klein, director of communications for the administration, said the move was vital for the sake of the economy—and will win voter support.

"Politically, the public will support the President when the public is so very conscious of increased prices," Klein said after a political strategy session with 15 GOP governors and five state house candidates.

He said that will be true even if the Democratic-controlled Congress musters the votes to override Nixon on either or both of the vetoes.

At the windup business session of their 62nd national conference Wednesday, the nation's governors got word that one of their favorite financial proposals, for a state share of federal revenues, may receive at least preliminary consideration in Congress.

RAPID TRANSIT

Illinois' Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, said Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., had sent word that his House Ways and Means Committee would hold hearings on a Nixon revenue-sharing proposal.

The governors voted to lobby with "every means available toward the immediate and favorable enactment of revenue sharing."

They named a committee headed by Gov. Robert W. Scott of North Carolina to decide how to go about it.

On an issue shelved amid earlier controversy, the conference dismissed the protests of highway interests and voted to seek state authority to spend a portion of federal road-building aid for other modes of transportation, such as rapid transit systems.

Think Cool, Say PGA Promoters

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The people of Tulsa are giving visitors a snow job in the PGA Golf Championship, starting today.

Earlier this week, the temperature soared over 100 degrees and more of the same is expected before Sunday's last round.

But you aren't supposed to notice it.

Frost has been sprayed on the windows of the club house and official tournament buildings. Fake snow and icicles hang from the rafters, there's even a polar bear out front.

"When I went to a store and asked for some synthetic snow they thought I was nuts," said one official of the Southern Hills Country Club.

You'd think you were in the arctic.

nors adopted a statement declaring:

"We condemn the excesses of lawlessness on all sides, be it by those who are called upon to keep or restore the peace.

"We affirm that the first responsibility of the peace-keepers is to protect the safety and lives of all those involved," their policy statement said.

To that was added, at the behest of Democratic Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi: "However, we recognize also the correlative right of the peacekeepers... to use such force as may be necessary for their own self-protection."

Assessing the significance of Nixon's vetoes, Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, chairman of the GOP governors, said, "The President called the bluffs of those in Congress who are attempting to embarrass him by adding money that would feed the fires of inflation."

Shaffer said the embarrassment was the motive of Democrats—but not Republicans—who voted for the two spending bills.

Harry Dent, a Nixon political adviser, told the governors the President has no present plans for overt political campaigning in the state and congressional elections this fall.

"The President felt that he could be most helpful to candidates of our party just by doing a good job as president," Shafer said Dent reported. But Shafer also said Nixon plans to continue his periodic trips to confer with state and local officials away from Washington.

Shafer said the GOP governors consider those trips politically helpful.

New Jersey's Republican Gov. William T. Cahill, said in an interview—he regretted the education bill veto. Cahill, for whom Nixon campaigned in person a year ago, said he understood the reasons, but added:

"I think there could be different priorities. I regret that there has been an attempt to reduce the amount available for education."

NIXON'S MOTIVE

Maryland's Democratic Gov. Marvin Mandel said he doesn't think a GOP campaign attempt to fix the blame for inflation on Congress would succeed. "I don't think you can fool the people with these devices," he said.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, the Missouri Democrat elected to take over as chairman of the governors conference, charged that "political strategy" was Nixon's motive.

"He's going to try to convince the voters that Congress is responsible for inflation," Hearnes said. But he acknowledged that the Democratic-controlled Congress also had some political motives in passing the two bills to push spending beyond the budget.

Wind Gusts Rip Awnings In Amarillo

By The Associated Press

Winds gusting up to 60 miles per hour tore at the Texas Panhandle as fierce thunderstorms blustered through that area this morning.

Estimates of rainfall in the storm belt ranged up to 1½ inches at Pampa, but amounts generally were much lighter. Amarillo received .14 inch and Borger .10.

Awnings were ripped off a number of storefronts in Dumas, windows were shattered here and there in Amarillo and many tree limbs were broken at Hereford. Police said there were no reports of major damage from the wind, however.

The Amarillo Weather Bureau clocked winds as high as 60 m.p.h. It stirred dust which lowered visibility to four miles.

Threatening storms ranged as far south as Lubbock and Childress.

Desegregation Talks Start Around Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Education Agency officials have begun a series of conferences with representatives of 16 school districts being sued in Austin and Tyler federal courts for alleged racial segregation.

Calvert and Madisonville school officials talked over their problems with the TEA Wednesday.

Sulphur Springs, Lufkin and Jefferson are scheduled to confer with TEA people today.

Madisonville is not among the 16 districts being sued in Austin or Tyler federal courts, but it wanted to participate in the closed-door conferences anyway.

South Park, Austin and Port Arthur are scheduled for Friday.

Temple, Galena Park and Ector County are slated to appear Monday.

Meetings with the remainder of the 16 districts—La Vega, Hearne, Midland, San Augustine, Carthage, Kilgore and Elysian Fields—still were being arranged.

Galena Park also is one of the four districts being sued in Houston. It and Klein are scheduled to appear in court Friday to show cause why existing plans should not be implemented at once.

The other district in the Houston court is Katy.

Six districts are being sued in a Dallas federal court. They are San Angelo, Garland, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Ferris and Richardson.

Preliminary conferences in the Houston and Dallas courts are set for Friday, except for Madisonville and Klein, which are in the show cause action.

All desegregation plans asked for by U.S. District Courts in Tyler and Austin must be completed by Monday and submitted to the courts by Aug. 21. Whatever federal court hearings are considered necessary will be held Aug. 24.

Cowboys Against Settlers, Colorful Era In Borden

By HOWARD SIMMS
GAIL — Borden was one of 21 West Texas counties affected by a 1901 amendment to the Texas Land law that opened up school land for sale. This led to the "Land Rushes" of 1902-1904 that took place on the doorstep of the county courthouse that will be commemorated by a Texas Historical Marker to be dedicated Sunday in Gail.

Borden County residents expect about 1,000 people to take part in the festive event that will include a free barbecue dinner at 12:30 p.m. Sunday followed by the dedication of the marker at 2:30 p.m. and the dedication of the new Borden County Museum at 2:45 p.m.

The Borden County Historical Survey Committee, chaired by Mrs. Edna Miller, has been delving into the history of the land rush era, and has published some of the findings in their newsletter, the "Borden Citizen," named after an early county newspaper.

MANY 'RUSHES'
The committee has been unable to find exactly how many "rushes" took place in Gail, the committee has one source indicating there were six to eight of them. The museum has pictures of land rushers gathered in front of the courthouse dated July 25, 1903, and Aug. 3, 1903. Historian J. A. Rickard furnished the dates March 4 and 11, 1904, in his description of those rushes in a 1929 article in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Review.

Arthur N. Prince, a schoolboy at the time of the land rushes, recalls that the price of the newly opened land was $1 per acre. The maximum purchase was four sections, and 1-40 of the purchase price had to be paid down in cash, with the remainder due in 40 years.

The rules for purchasing the land included a first-come, first-serve provision that honored the first legal applications presented to the county clerk on a particular day. This invited a recurrence of animosities between the settlers, or "nesters," and the ranchers, as the one group would gather in front of the courthouse only to be displaced by the other. The cowboys took to wearing blue ribbons on their arms, and the nesters wore red armbands to differentiate between the teams.

To cut down on bloodshed, the sheriff and his deputies searched every contestant as he entered the courthouse yard, and impounded every kind of weapon, including pocket knives. Sometimes each team would have 200 members, and the contest would begin several days before the land opening date.

According to Rickard's account, in 1904 when five sections of land would come up for sale on March 4 a large body of cowboys arrived in Gail Feb. 29. They organized, elected a captain, put on blue ribbons, and charged the "reds" who held the courthouse door. Ten minutes later the "blues" held the door.

The "reds" began gathering reinforcements and counter-attacked on March 2. After 20 minutes of scuffling they were back in control, and held their position long enough to file for land March 4.

Three more sections would go on sale March 11, and both sides made extensive preparations. The "blues" hired men to come in from Abilene, Colorado City, Big Spring and other nearby towns. Aided by a rumor that the cattlemen were bringing in 300 Negroes from Fort Worth, the "reds" mustered help from 10 counties and gathered at the courthouse on March 9.

At 10 a.m. that morning the "blues" attacked, and the courthouse changed hands. One third of the cowboys stationed themselves in the corridor leading to the county clerk's office with the rest outside.

Later that afternoon, the settlers received reinforcements, divided into three assault forces, and sent two of these to clear the doorway with the third held in reserve to clear the corridor. A 250-pound settler led the charge, and after 15 minutes of struggle the "reds" won, and held the courthouse until the filing was completed March 11.

Arthur Prince recalls that he and other school children "liked to go down and worm our way into the courthouse when the halls were full of cowboys or settlers sitting around on the floor or laying around. We particularly liked to be down there at nights when the cowboys were in possession. To us they were more colorful, and some cowboy was always fiddling or thumbing a guitar and singing."

This was the last "land rush" at Gail, because the law was changed the next year to provide for sealed competitive bids, with the land awarded to the highest bidder.

Oakland A's Closing In On League Lead

By The Associated Press
Only last weekend the Oakland Athletics were being counted out as serious pennant contenders in the American League West. Today, however, they're camping on the doorstep of place Minnesota, thanks in part to Campy Campaneris. Five games ago the A's were third, 10 games back. But since the Twins have dropped every game they've played while Oakland has captured them all, including Wednesday night's 11-4

Ray Floyd Insists He's No Swinger

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — They have dubbed him "The Angry Playboy Of Golf" but Ray Floyd, who opens defense of his PGA Championship here today, begs to dissent on both counts. "I'm not mad at anybody," the handsome 200-pound bachelor said, "and I'm not nearly the social swinger I've been pictured to be." "I am single. I like girls. Sometimes I take girls out, like to go to a nice place. If it's a nice place, you usually find liquor around."

to be back at the motel asleep. "That's the way it starts, and just escalates." Acknowledging he's no angel, the strapping, curly-haired son of a Fort Bragg, N.C., pro told the world today that his principal current interest is in repeating as the national pro champion.

NOT SINCE SHUTE Nobody's done it since Denny Shute in 1936-37. Shute, gray, bland and expanding at the waist line in the 135-man field challenging Floyd this weekend over the 6,962-year-par-70 Southern Hills Country Club course. "I think I can do it," Floyd said after taking a single practice tour of the tough, demanding layout. "I don't feel any pressure at all. I have proven I can play tough golf courses."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The South took the North to the woodshed in the recent Texas High School Coaches Association all-star football game in Houston. There's no doubt there is an abundance of talent in the South, where the bulk of Texas' population seems to be shifting. The final score (35-19) might not have been nearly so humiliating, however, had a few District 3-AAAB boys been named to the North squad.

Flood Looks To Appeal

NEW YORK (AP) — It's still 51-year-old exemption granted by the Supreme Court from existing anti-trust legislation.

This reserve system is a set of rules which binds a player to one club unless he is traded, sold or released. "Clearly the preponderance of credible proof does not favor elimination of the reserve clause," Judge Cooper wrote in his decision.

He said the effect of the system is to "deny him (the player) throughout his career freedom to choose his employer," but added that the system is "reasonable and necessary to preserve the integrity of the game, maintain balanced competition and fan interest and encourage continued investment in player development." However, he also wrote "we are convinced that the conflicts between the parties are not irreconcilable and that negotiations could produce an accommodation... which would be eminently fair and equitable to all concerned."

FOR AUG. 22-23 Stanton Slates Links Tourney

STANTON — The Stanton Country Club, which opened last October, will stage its first tournament Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 22-23, a partnership event extending over 36 holes. Entry fee is $35 per team. Deadline for entry is Aug. 21. No more than 52 teams will be accepted for the meet, since the course has only nine holes. Any bigger field would serve only to create congestion on the links.

Dallas has become so sophisticated about its football, what with the Dallas Cowboys coming to full flower, the city apparently has lost out as a host city for the coaching school. In future years, the clinic likely will go either to Houston or Fort Worth. Some of the Dallas citizenry made inquiries about future dates and were told by members of the coaches' association that (1) the town doesn't turn out very well for the annual all-star games and (2) the newspapers tend to minimize stories about the school.

Bob Gibson Shatters Strike Out Record

By The Associated Press

Manager Red Schoendienst wouldn't have given two cents for Bob Gibson's chances before the game and the fire-balling St. Louis Cardinals ace had to agree.

But before the night was over, the veteran right-hander had chalked up his 16th victory and snapped a major league record in the process.

The record—becoming the first pitcher in history to strike out 200 or more batters in eight seasons—was probably Gibson's easiest work Wednesday night, coming in the third inning when he fanned Nate Colbert, giving him an even 200 for the year.

However, the 34-year-old workhorse had to go 14 innings before subduing the stubborn San Diego Padres 5-4. He was reached for 13 hits but also fanned 13, upping his season total to 210, sending him ahead of former American League hurlers Walter Johnson and Rube Waddell, who had shared the mark at seven seasons with Gibson.

"I didn't think I was throwing too good in the bullpen," Gibson said afterward. "I was lucky they were swinging."

"If you'd have seen him warm up, I wouldn't have given two cents that he'd go nine innings," said Schoendienst. "I was going to take him out after the 14th."

Carl Taylor, who won Tuesday's game for the Cards with a dramatic ninth inning grand slam, was the co-hero along with Gibson, drawing a bases-loaded walk off loser Ron Willis, forcing in the winning run.

Gibson, when told he had thrown 178 pitches, shrugged and said: "I don't care about the number of pitches. They always talk about the number, but you can throw 90 pitches and lose."

He was saved that fate when Richie Allen clubbed his 32nd homer in the eighth inning, enabling the Cards to tie the score at 4-4 after Colbert had slugged his 26th with a man aboard in the sixth for a 4-3 San Diego lead.

The victory was the Cards' 12th in 14 games and edged them to within eight games of the struggling Pittsburgh Pirates in the East Division scramble.

PARTNERSHIP EVENT IS SET AT MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE

The Big Spring Golf Association will stage another in its series of tournaments starting at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, a partnership event with those boasting handicaps of ten and under teaming with players owning handicaps of 11 and over.

Half handicaps will be used to determine winners. Entry fee will be $2 per player and merchandise awards will be given at the conclusion of play. Play will be over the Municipal course.

Some BSGA members have still not played in the required number of meets to become eligible for the Oct. 17-25 Grand tournament, which determines the BSGA champion for the following 12 months.

Golf interest has slackened somewhat at all local courses in recent days. The heat has been a factor and vacation has taken a lot of players out of town.

Jets Are Beset With Problems

By The Associated Press

With Joe Namath in Florida, Al Atkinson in Pennsylvania and George Saimes in Buffalo, the New York Jets can't be certain who's coming and who's going.

Normally about this time, after the first exhibition game, pro football teams are worrying about what rookies and fringe players to cut or keep, but not the Jets. They have other worries. Their offense and defense already have been crippled by injuries and strange happenings.

First and foremost is the case of Namath, the weak-kneed but strong-armed controversial quarterback who led the Jets to a Super Bowl victory two years ago.

The shaggy-haired rebel, who has been holding out for reasons known only to him, was sighted sunning himself on a boat in Fort Lauderdale Wednesday.

Earlier in the day, Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets said he had spoken to his AWOL ace by telephone and said Namath is "trying to resolve his problems as soon as possible."

Friends of Namath, meanwhile, reported he would not be back in New York until Sunday or Monday, which would leave him missing for the Jets' second pre-season contest against Atlanta this weekend.

Namath's absence also caused the Jets trouble on defense when middle linebacker Al Atkinson retired last week, blasting Namath.

However, Atkinson was quoted in Drexel Hill, Pa., as saying he might reconsider after reading that the Jets lost all-pro defensive end Gerry Philbin with a shoulder dislocation.

"I do have responsibilities to the Jets, and I really feel that I owe them all the responsibility of coming back," he said.

Then there is Saimes, a stand-out safety for eight years with the Buffalo Bills, who played out his option. The Jets' big weakness last year was in the defensive backfield. Ewbank said he has talked to Saimes, and Saimes admitted "there's a possibility I'll be playing in New York. It's all a question of what Buffalo is asking for me," he said.

'Star' Asked Strange Questions About 'Love'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Linda Kasabian has been asked a strange series of questions that a lawyer says were written by the three women defendants in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

The questions were posed by Ronald Hughes, the fourth and final defense attorney to cross-examine the state's key witness.

The questions included: "Are you in such a state of mind you could sit on a rock for the rest of your life and be happy? ... What is love? ... What is reality? ... Is God reality? ... What do you think of the defendants? ... Do you accept yourself?"

GIRLS GIGGLE

The 21-year-old mother of two did not have to answer most of the questions, however, because prosecution objections to them were sustained.

Later she burst into laughter for the first time in 13 days on the stand when Hughes asked her about a substance that she said she thought was catnip.

Hughes said the questions he asked before the laughter incident were framed for him by defendants Susan Atkins, 21, Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, and Leslie Van Houten, 20, who are on trial with Charles Manson on murder-conspiracy charges.

The girls giggled as their questions were asked, and just before court recessed Wednesday they were observed thumbing through transcripts of the day's testimony, presumably reading their own questions.

"The girls worked on some questions they wanted to ask and they gave them to me over the lunch hour," said Hughes, who is handling his first case. "I asked all of their questions; now I'm asking my own."

IT'S CATNIP

Gusts of laughter swept the courtroom at one point as Hughes produced a small plastic bag filled with a green leafy substance. The judge hastily called a bench conference. Then Hughes handed the bag to Mrs. Kasabian.

She looked puzzled and said, "It looks like really refined marijuana with a lot of stems."

Hughes asked her to smell the substance, and she burst into laughter, exclaiming, "No, I believe it's catnip."

Hughes didn't say why he gave it to the witness.

All of Hughes' questions related to drugs. He went through long lists of names, asking Mrs. Kasabian which ones she had taken.

She said she had tried marijuana, LSD, THC, methedrine, mescaline, peyote, psilocybin, morning glory seeds, amyl nitrate, the cough syrup Romilar.

IMMUNITY

Mrs. Kasabian said in direct testimony that she experimented with hallucinogenic drugs while living in a series of hippie-type communes. However, she has denied that she was on drugs during the week in August, 1969, when Miss Tate and six others were slain.

Mrs. Kasabian has been granted immunity from prosecution in the slayings for telling her story. She says clan leader Manson ordered several followers—including the three women—on the killing missions.

Hughes started questioning after Manson's lawyer, Irving Kanarek, ended his eight-day cross-examination of Mrs. Kasabian. Hughes began by asking whether the atmosphere of the Manson "family" headquarters—a movie ranch—lent an air of unreality.

Mrs. Kasabian said family members sometimes played roles such as hillbillies or cowboys and Indians. "Yeah, it was sort of a cowboy trip (life style) ... The whole trip was a delusion."

Asked if she had other "delusions," she said she did, and one of them was that Manson was Jesus Christ. Later, she said, she decided Manson was "the devil, a devilish man."

Asked what she thought of the four defendants seated at the counsel table, Mrs. Kasabian said, "I have compassion for them. I wish they were up here doing what I'm doing, telling the truth."

In ending his cross-examination, Irving Kanarek, Manson's attorney, elicited from Mrs. Kasabian the admission that she stole $5,000, then joined Manson's nomadic clan seeking refuge.

Use Of Guns In Murders, Assaults Jump Since 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of pistols, rifles and shotguns by Americans to kill or maim other Americans has increased dramatically since 1964, the Federal Bureau of Investigation says.

Two out of every three murder victims in 1969 were gunned down and one out of every four assaults involved a firearm, the FBI reported Wednesday in crime statistics for the past calendar year.

Murders and non-negligent manslaughters claimed a total of 14,590 lives—including those of 86 law-enforcement officers—in the United States during 1969, a 7 per cent increase over calendar year 1968.

ARMED ROBBERIES

Aggravated assaults, running the gamut from nonfatal shootings to sluggings, totaled 306,420 during 1969, up 8.5 per cent over 1968.

Guns were used in 65 per cent of the murders and 24 per cent of the aggravated assaults, the FBI said. Between 1964 and 1969, use of guns in murders went up 80 per cent and use of guns in assaults went up 143 per cent, the FBI said.

There were 178,500 armed robberies in 1969, up 14 per cent over 1968. Two out of every three victims looked into the barrel of a gun as they surrendered their money or valuables, the FBI said. All armed robbery rose 157 per cent between 1964 and 1969.

The type of firearm used in 51 per cent of last year's murders was a handgun or pistol, the FBI said. Rifles were used in 6 per cent of the murders and shotguns in 8 per cent.

VIOLENT CRIMES

As the rate of violent crimes goes up—11 per cent in 1969 and 130 per cent in the last decade—so, apparently, have gun sales.

FBI estimates, not included in the annual report released Wednesday but quoted in the current issue of Newsweek Magazine, place the number of privately owned firearms at 90 million, or nearly one and one half for each of the 63 million U.S. households.

Part of the buildup, ironically, stems from passage of the Gun Control Act of 1968. The act's ban on importation of foreign military or nonport firearms has resulted in a proliferation of U.S.-manufactured inexpensive, small-caliber handguns.

According to testimony by Asst. Deputy Atty. Gen. Donald E. Santarelli, before the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, U.S. production of such weapons jumped from 60,000 in 1968 to 70,000 in 1969, after the act's passage.

OEP Offsetting Effects Of Celia

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — The Office of Emergency Preparedness here is performing a support role after battling the effects of Hurricane Celia in much the same way it would have acted if it had been war.

"It's the nearest thing to the real thing," said Thomas E. Sembera of Fort Worth, the regional representative of OEP.

It was the OEP's job to swing the power of the federal government behind state and local agencies struggling to dig out from the great storm that crashed into the Texas Gulf Coast Monday.

AERIAL SURVEY
Regional Director George E. Hastings and three of his men hurried to Harlingen in South Texas, where helicopters stood by to fly them to any part of the stricken coast after the hurricane passed.

Earlier, they made a first aerial survey of the damage at Corpus Christi and surrounding towns and threw the giant federal machinery into operation.

Two special mobile radio systems from the Strategic Communications Services (STRATCOM) were moved by the Defense Department into Texas. They met at San Antonio and waited out the hurricane there. As soon as the winds dropped they moved into stricken Corpus Christi.

'WORLD' BLACKOUT
"They gave us a breakthrough that we never had before," said Sembera.

"We have the same problem with all hurricanes — the paralysis of public utilities and the resulting total blackout of communications. This leaves us in a period of stumbling, using a patch system. It's difficult to get messages in and even more difficult to get them out, which makes it hard to play our coordinated action role."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture was called on for food supplies out of its commodity distribution program to aid the Red Cross. Long lines of food trucks started moving on the roads.

The Health, Education and Welfare Department was called on to back state action. Inspectors were sent to aid local officials in checking water for pollution, food stocks for contamination and sanitation arrangements.

WATER WOES
"The water problems were severe," said Sembera. "The blowing down of electric power lines meant that pumping stations stopped, pressure dropped in the line systems and there was a breakdown in sewage disposal."

Odessa Stop For Clear Air Race Drivers

CHICAGO (AP) — Some day you may be fueling up the family car at home by plugging a line into your natural gas heating system.

The vapor, stored in 12 oxygen-type cylinders in the auto's luggage compartment, will take you about 140 miles. Then you will pull into a station and "fill 'er up" by the cubic foot instead of gallons.

It will cost you about 20 cents per 100 cubic feet, an amount that will take you 14 miles. The tanks will hold something like 900 cubic feet.

It's all part of the fight against air pollution.

Jim Hiers was in Chicago Tuesday with a crew of student drivers from California Institute of Technology. They are piloting two 1970 autos modified to operate on clean-burning natural gas.

Hiers, of Pacific Lighting Service Co. in Los Angeles, is project coordinator. The cars are on a shakedown trip preparing for the Clear Air Car Race beginning Aug. 24. The race will cover 3,600 miles from Cambridge, Mass., to Pasadena, Calif., with stopovers in Toronto, Detroit, Champaign, Ill., Oklahoma City, Odessa, Tex., and Tucson, Ariz.

The natural gas-burning cars are among 52 entries which include autos propelled by electric power, liquefied petroleum gas, a steam and gas turbine.

"The whole idea is to draw attention to different alternatives to the present day internal combustion engine," said Hiers. "Judging will be based on fuel economy, elapsed driving time, performance and, most important, exhaust pollution emission."

transmission substations knocked out, OEP had generators rushed in to critical spots. They were gathered from all over, taking most of the local civil defense emergency stockpile, much of 4th Army reserves and the National Guard stock.

SPIDER IN WEB

And, like a spider in the center of a web, the OEP coordinated and mobilized federal forces from the strategic location of its Denton dugout.

Sembera, a veteran of hurricanes Camille and Carla, said the major emphasis this time was on better preparedness by the state government.

Denver Post To Appeal Public Stock Sale Order

DENVER (AP)—The Denver Post, ordered by a federal court to offer at public auction 15,552-plus shares of stock, will appeal the ruling, the newspaper said Wednesday.

Post officials said the ruling from U.S. Dist. Judge A. Sherman Christensen of Salt Lake City Monday would be appealed promptly to a higher court.

written decision confirmed earlier oral findings.

Under the ruling, if a public sale is held, should the highest bid for the stock block not reach $6,429,299.12, then two top officials of the Post must make up the difference to a limit of $3,124,818.39.

The ruling is part of a continuing legal action between The Post and the Herald Co. of New York City, a property of chain-newspaper owner Samuel I. Newhouse. The Herald Co. currently is a minority stockholder of The Post.

Post officials named by Judge Christensen are Miss Helen G. Bonfils, then president of the Post, and Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher, as directors of the corporation.

The shares subject to auction under the order, about 16.54 per cent of the outstanding shares, were acquired by The Post corporation in July, 1960. Of the total, 14,557.5475 are retained by The Post.

have been sold to The Post's Employees' Stock Trust. The Herald Co. served notice May 2, 1968, against The Post and the Employees' Stock Trust, charging the corporate purchase of the stock had been made to enable Post management to retain control of the newspaper in perpetuity.

Christensen, in his ruling Monday, ordered officials of the Trust to transfer and reassign back to the corporation 994.7 shares of stock. He ordered the Post Corp. to reimburse the stock trust at the price at which the involved shares were transferred originally to the trust.

Two 'Hips' Ask For Forgiveness

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The Rev. Maurice Hall, pastor of the Dellrose Church of Christ, has flown the flag 24-hours a day in front of his home since his son, William, was killed in Vietnam two years ago.

One night last week the flag was taken from its stand and a note was left saying, "Take the flag down at night. If you don't your head will be beaten in."

Hall replaced the flag and the next night it was taken down again. This time rocks were left.

New Officers Installed

Mrs. Morris Robertson was presented a plaque for outstanding work on the 1970 Easter Seal Campaign when the Howard County Easter Seal Society met Tuesday at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Recognition was also given to Miss Bo Bowen who received a certificate of appreciation for her work with the society.

Introduced as honored guests were Gil Muddell of Amarillo, area representative, and Miss Susan Cape, Easter Seal Princess.

Jim Thompson, director of the center, gave a history of the

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: This is for your readers who may be unfortunate enough in the future to have any type of breast surgery. I have found a way of making it a little easier on the nurses, doctors, and most of all, on the patient. I knew that I was going to have breast surgery in advance and started readying my prettiest nightgowns. I then realized how hard they would be to get in and out of after surgery. I didn't want to spend money on pajamas (I don't like them) so I decided to open all my gowns on the shoulder seams, turn them under by hand and then sew on snaps. Then when the nurse and doctors needed to do any post-operative care, such as dressings, etc., all I had to do was reach up and unsnap. It worked like a charm and was so easy on me, the patient. In fact, my doctor even suggested that I send the hint to you and the nurses thought it was the greatest. . . . Snap Happy I do hope and pray that none of you wonderful gals will ever have need of this hint, but, if the circumstances are such, I do think it is a marvelous idea. . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise: Being in the Service, we move quite often. This is what prompted me to make curtains for our bathroom from regular towels. But, oh, what a mistake that turned out to be. If someone happens to remove the hand towel from the bathroom — you guessed it — the window curtain is used. Naturally, they are easily laundered, but it is still a shock to walk in the bathroom and see a big SMUDGE on my "curtains" where someone has wiped their hand. . . . Mrs. C. Roth

Dear Heloise: Our Supermarket was recently selling irregular little T-shirts at a great discount, but the only shirts in my baby girl's little size were in blue.

Well, this was too good a bargain to pass up, so I bought them anyway and "feminized" them for her.

I had some little pieces of lace leftover from an edging that I had used on a little pinafore that I had made her.

By putting two pieces of lace edging together and stitching them down the front of the shirts jabot-style, I made cute tops for her.

Now if she has a baby brother, I'll just snip off the lace and he will be able to wear them. . . . Smart Mom

Dear Heloise: To eliminate the splashing and splattering from a portable dishwasher, just cut the upper part of a nylon stocking (about twelve or fourteen inches), attach it to the drain hose with a rubber band and place the open end (was the top of the stocking originally) in the sink drain.

When the machine stops, just squeeze out the excess water from the nylon, leave on the hose and it's ready for the next time.

No more ruined wax jobs from the strong detergent splashing — or splattered walls and countertops from the force of the pump's action. . . . A. Heeter

Dear Heloise: I always keep ribbons from gift packages to iron and store for later use.

I've discovered through experience that when you roll up the ribbon, do not use a pin to secure it because a pin tends to get rusty and leaves ugly marks through all layers of the ribbon.

A piece of plastic tape will work just as well and will not mar the ribbon. . . . Frankie Mueller

Dear Heloise: I save all leftover fruit juice — peach, pineapple, plum, cherry, pear, you name it — and dump 'em all together in a jar.

Baked ham heated in it or smoked porkchops simmered in it — they're something else! Also makes a marvelous glaze when baking a ham.

(Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

CAN'T DECIDE? — If a female shopper doesn't want to commit herself to long dress lengths, such as the purple knit below-the-calf dress, left, she might opt for a pants suit, which, according to retailers, are the hottest selling fall fashion item. The plaid wool pants suit, right, shown at a New York department store Tuesday, is belted and features a flap-pocket jacket. The dress features a front slit with a parade of round buttons and long narrow — then full — sleeves gathered at the wrist.

Texas Crops Prediction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Texas wheat crop was a little less than expected, the Agriculture Department said in its monthly report.

The department estimated the Texas crops at 54,408,000 bushels, compared with the July 1 prediction of 57,809,000.

The 1969 harvest was 68,856,000 bushels.

The wheat prediction was the only change from a month earlier.

Other crops reported Tuesday, with 1970 figures first and the 1969 harvest second:

Corn 23,359,000 and 25,124,000.
Oats 28,140,000 and 25,460,000.
Sugarbeets 638,000 tons and 718,000.

Fast Sneak Thief

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — A thief sneaked into a judge's chambers Tuesday during a trial and made off with the judge's wallet, containing $100.

Superior Court Judge Harry Martin's empty wallet, taken from his suit coat, was found later in a restroom.

Computer Monkey

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — A Stanford scientist is using computer-regulated electricity, carried into damaged brain tissue on tiny wires, to make a monkey lift food to his mouth with a paralyzed right arm.

The experiment, which Dr. Lawrence Pinneo has been conducting for six years, holds promise that humans whose brains are damaged by strokes or accidents could regain some use of paralyzed limbs.

An application to humans is at least three to five years away, the Stanford Research Institute scientist said in an interview.

"We can duplicate simple body movements in a paralyzed animal," Pinneo said, "but we still have some way to go before we will be able to program the more complex functions. For example, we can make a paralyzed monkey move his legs, but we don't know yet how to make him walk."

The animals, he said, "are surgically damaged" for the tests.

Vandals Strike Westside School

Vandals entered Cedar Crest School, 600 W. 8th, Wednesday night, scattered office supplies over the floor in a storeroom, but nothing reported missing from the building.

C. H. Cox, janitor, discovered the incident at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Officers found a window screen on the south side of the building cut and window forced open.

Tacks, paper clips, and paper were strewn over the floor of a store room adjoining the nurse's office.

Modesty Panel

CHICAGO (AP) — A modesty panel is a rectangular shield placed in front of a secretary's desk to insure her privacy in this era of ascending hemlines of mini-skirts.

Jerry Silver, president of an art metal firm, said the sales of modesty panels has increased 37 percent and is keeping pace with the rise in skirts.

The modesty panel offers secretaries a sanctuary from what might be termed occupational ogling," Silver said.

Catholics In Londonderry Fighting British Troops

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Roman Catholics in Londonderry battled British troops for four hours early today, but the troops and barricades of barbed wire prevented a repetition of last year's bloody Aug. 12 religious warfare.

The rioting in Londonderry's Bogside district erupted just before midnight, after a day of Protestant parades in other parts of the city celebrating a 17th century Protestant victory over the Catholics.

Militant Catholics who had been penned in the Bogside all day opened up on the soldiers just before midnight with barrages of rocks, bottles and gasoline bombs.

RUBBER BULLETS — Crouching behind riot shields, the troops fired about 50 rounds of their latest antiriot weapon—six-inch rubber bullets intended to cripple the legs. They scattered the rioters for only a brief time. The rioters regrouped for another round, and the soldiers responded with volleys of tear gas, filling the winding streets with clouds of choking smoke.

Three soldiers and one civilian were reported injured. Casualties among the rioters were not known. The Catholics have their own first aid stations deep inside their district.

The riot was a backlash reaction to the parade through Londonderry Tuesday of more than 6,000 Protestant men who marched in bowler hats and gaudy sashes to drum and pipe commemorating the lifting of a Catholic siege of Londonderry in 1689.

BARBED BARRICADES — Last year's parade touched off fighting between the Bogside and the Protestants which spread across Northern Ireland and has broken out again and again since, with more than a score killed and hundreds wounded.

This year, double barricades of barbed wire and thousands of troops and police kept the Catholics away from the parading Protestants. Although the government had banned the parade, the security forces did not try to stop the marchers because there was no confrontation between the two religious factions.

Sir Arthur Young, Northern Ireland's chief of police, said it was the attorney general's responsibility to "decide what is a procession." He said the names of some of the marchers had been recorded, and the attorney general would decide whether they should be prosecuted.

ONE CASUALTY — Only two brief incidents were reported.

One casualty of the day was a visitor from the Irish Republic, Conor Cruise O'Brien, the expert on Africa and the United Nations, critic of U.S. foreign policy and member of the Irish Parliament. Gangs of Protestants set on him twice and beat him up. He said he got "a few busted ribs," and the police gave him a protective guard.

In London, Scotland Yard refused to comment on newspaper reports that sabotage experts of the outlawed Irish Republican Army plan to blow up seven military bases in England.

The reports said an IRA team would attempt to block delivery of arms and ammunition to British troops in Northern Ireland, and their chief target was the factory in Surrey that makes the CS gas mask gas the troops are using in Northern Ireland.

PENN CENTRAL CHIEF — William H. Moore today was named president and chief executive officer of the Penn Central Transportation Co. Moore, 55, has been executive vice president of operations for the Southern Railway System.

Registration Is Friday For Elbow

Registration is set for Friday for all new students in the Elbow Elementary School of the Forsan County Line Independent School District, according to W. R. Cregar, principal.

Enrollment will be from 9 a.m. to noon. Any children in until the first day of school, school last year will not report Cregar said. First day of class is Aug. 17.

Parents of children who will enter kindergarten or first grade this fall and parents of any new students for grades two through five should come at this time.

Kindergarten is for children who live in our district or are on the transfer list," Cregar explained. Attendance is not compulsory and enrollment will be limited to 30 children whose ages are nearest to 6 or who are culturally-deprived children. There will be no students under five enrolled.

First grade is for children age 6 on or before Sept. 1, 1970, and attendance is compulsory. "We have asked parents to register first graders even if they attended pre-registration last May," Cregar said.

Parents of all kindergarten and first grade students should bring health records including smallpox, DPT and polio immunizations and birth certificates.

Church Work, Music Keep This Homemaker Occupied

By MARILYN NEVELS

Music and the Baptist faith influence all aspects of Mrs. Leonard Moody's life. She is the wife of the minister of music and education at Trinity Baptist Church and the daughter of the minister, the Rev. Claude Craven. Her activities include teaching church classes, playing piano for church, teaching piano, belonging to the Piano Teacher's Forum and the Music Study Club, and singing at weddings.

"I prefer to stay close to home; the church and music are my life," she said, explaining that "the family is our first obligation and our activities can't be allowed to take away from the family." The Moodys have two daughters, Tonda, 3, and Toni Lynn, 2.

Mrs. Moody has found her activities steadily multiplying since their arrival here four years ago from Bible Baptist Seminary in Arlington, where the Moodys first met. There, Mrs. Moody studied music theory, which is needed to arrange music, one of her favorite pastimes now.

When she first started arranging music for the church, it presented quite a challenge and was time-consuming. Now it has become easier and enjoyable.

"If I had a lot of time to devote to it, I'd sit down and arrange all day," she said.

Mrs. Moody enjoys trying challenging things, such as a gigantic confection castle of cake, candies and frosting that she made for Christmas two years ago.

"It was about the size of a card table," she estimated, "and took a week to build. It was the centerpiece for the young people's Christmas banquet, but no one would eat it. They said it was too pretty to destroy, so I ended up saving the cardboard decorations and throwing away the stale cake."

Mrs. Moody confesses that she learned to cook after she was married.

"My husband never knew what he'd come home to for dinner," she laughed. "My family says they are 'guinea pigs' because every time they came over I'd try a new dish out on them. We love casseroles, spaghetti and Mexican food. Leonard especially likes green enchiladas. He doesn't particularly care for sweets, but I have a terrible sweet tooth." Casseroles fit well into their full schedule of church work.

MUSIC IS THE MEDIUM — of expression for Mrs. Leonard Moody who teaches piano, sings and plays for church functions and arranges music. She has studied the piano since she was seven years old and constantly strives to improve her technique by studying classical composers such as Franz Liszt and Bach, two of her favorites.

"To me it's just as easy to fix a meal for eight as it is for two," she said. "It's easy to double a recipe and we enjoy having company. Last week we had the youth choir over to our house and sang for an hour before dinner. We enjoy being with the kids."

To keep their busy pace, Mr. and Mrs. Moody are concentrating on better organization. "I enjoy doing everything I do," declares Mrs. Moody, "or else I wouldn't be doing it. Organization is something I've always wanted; you have to have it if you want to get everything done. A few months ago I started organizing my household. Organizing little things, like the silverware drawer, led to the whole house, the yard, the car, music and every phase of my daily life. It becomes a good habit, you want to keep. I usually make menus and a grocery list for the week, which keeps us on a budget. You save money if you know just what you're going to buy."

Mrs. Moody is also a do-it-yourselfer, and she and her husband just finished brightening their old-fashioned kitchen with avocado moldings and trim around panels of yellow and avocado flowers which modernize old cabinets in their lemon yellow kitchen.

With the fall, Mrs. Moody is expecting to have a dozen music students. She is considering starting a young children's class in piano for four and five year olds. The idea for such a class came from her own little girls who "love to put on concerts."

"I enjoy teaching," she said. "Every student is an individual, and I enjoy giving a little of what I've learned to them. When I was little, I was sure I never wanted to be a teacher; now I'm looking forward to the fall to teach. The Lord has

2 tomatoes, sliced
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

In a shallow container, with a fork, beat together the oil and vinegar. Drain asparagus and place spears in the marinade, spooning it over them. Cover and refrigerate for several hours or longer. At serving time, arrange asparagus on romaine; surround with tomatoes; spoon marinade over romaine and tomatoes. Sprinkle asparagus with the Parmesan. Makes four servings.

Have egg whites at room temperature. Add vanilla, salt and cream of tartar. Beat until frothy. Gradually add sugar, a small amount at a time, beating until stiff peaks form and sugar is dissolved.

Cover a cookie sheet with plain brown paper (from paper bags). Make five large meringue shells using about 1/2 cup of mixture for each. (Shape with spoon to make shells.) Bake in very slow oven (275 degrees) for one hour. Turn off heat, and for crispier meringues, let dry in oven with the door closed for about one hour. Fill cooled meringue shells with ice cream and top with sliced strawberries.

SAUCY FRANK DINNER
1/2 cup water
1 lb. pkg. frankfurters
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onions
1 10 3/4 oz. can condensed tomato soup
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. sugar
1/2 lb. "bow-tie" noodles
Snipped parsley or parsley flakes

About 45 minutes before serving, cut frankfurters into bite-sized pieces. In a large saucepan, melt butter and saute onions until tender. Then stir in undiluted tomato soup, tomato sauce, 1/2 cup water, Worcestershire sauce and sugar and mix until blended. Add franks and simmer 10 minutes.

In the meantime, cook noodles according to package directions. Arrange franks, after they have simmered, in center of a platter and surround with noodles. Sprinkle with Parsley. Serves 4-6.

PORK CHOP AND POTATO CASSEROLE
4 cups sliced uncooked potatoes
3 cups thin white sauce, well seasoned
4 pork chops
Arrange potato slices in a 2 quart casserole and add white sauce. Brown chops in skillet over moderate heat. Season and arrange chops on top of potatoes. Cover casserole and bake in 350 degree oven about 1 1/4 hours or until done. Serves four.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Single crust pie shells need to be pricked with a fork before baking to prevent the pastry from buckling.

If the top of your cake isn't even, turn the cake over and frost on the underside.

Frozen concentrated orange juice makes a good substitute for cream or milk when you are making a butter frosting using butter and confectioner's sugar.

Frozen poultry should be cooked within 12 hours after thawing.

Make your own tomato juice cocktail. Use regular tomato juice and spike it with lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and celery salt.

Vary that homemade quickstyle nut bread! Add some diced candied orange peel along with the nuts. Candied orange peel is available in small containers in supermarkets; it may also be bought by the pound in many candy shops.

Kitchen arithmetic: a 10 1/2 ounce soup can holds 1 3/4 cups.

It's a good idea to prepare fresh vegetables shortly before cooking them.

If you want to make melba toast have the bread cut in 1/4 inch thin slices. Bake in a 250-degree oven until golden brown — usually about an hour.

Want to make gourmet-style iced coffee? Brew double-strength coffee and pour it over crushed ice in tall glasses. Pass finely granulated sugar and cream.

A pound of creamstyle cottage cheese yields two cups. An eight-ounce package of cream cheese yields one cup.

Ice Cream Pizza Pie Is Summer Delight

With a box of oat puffs, a cream to divide shell into 8 pie-fill wedges with one or more pizza pan and an ovenproof bowl, you'll be on your way toward making a distinctive cereal crust for pizza pie — ice cream pizza pie, that is! Because they are rich in flavor, yet crunchy on the tongue, oat puffs give the texture contrast creamy ice cream needs. This is a summertime desert to offer the bridge club.

ICE CREAM PIZZA PIE IN CEREAL CRUST
3 cups oat puffs, regular
3/4 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup butter
1/4 tsp salt
1 quart or 3 pints vanilla ice cream, as desired
Whipped cream or topping mix

4 canned peach halves, drained
1/2 cup fresh or frozen blueberries
4 canned pineapple slices, drained and cut in half
1 cup sweetened fresh strawberry halves

Pour oat puffs into buttered ovenproof bowl (or large saucepan). Butter bottom and sides of 12-inch pizza pan. Place bowl of cereal and pizza pan in warm oven (200 degrees F) while preparing syrup. Combine combine corn syrup, sugar, water, butter, and salt in medium-sized saucepan. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Cook without stirring until syrup reaches the soft crack stage. (290 degrees F).

Four syrup in a fine stream over warm cereal. Stir quickly until cereal is evenly coated. Quickly spread cereal evenly over bottom and up sides of warm pizza pan. (It may be easier to work with 1/4 of the cereal mixture at a time, keeping unused portion in warm oven). When crust is finished, chill thoroughly in freezer. Spoon ice cream into crust; press into an even layer. Freeze until hard, several hours or overnight. To serve, pipe or spoon whipped cream over ice

Bill Collecting Boom Under Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill collecting is one business that has profited from the economic downturn, credit experts say.

The American Collectors Association—ACA—reports that the number of delinquent accounts referred by businessmen to its 2,600 member agencies last month was 20 per cent higher than a year earlier and the third highest for any month in history.

slacking in the local economy, the State Street Bank and Trust Co. reports a "slight lag in bill payments." However, it adds: "There is a tendency for payments to lag a little in summer months."

Harold Simmons, owner of Harold's Radio Corp., a Boston discount house, says that "about two or three months ago bill payments slowed up and so did business."

In Los Angeles, another city affected by layoffs in the aerospace industry, Ray O'Brien, a Bank of America vice president in charge of loan administration, says: "We have noticed a moderate increase in the number of delinquents—people who haven't made payments on a loan in about 30 days. We've noticed this increase over the last 12 months."

TIGHT MONEY
The rising cost of living, tight money, layoffs and uncertainty about job security are cited by credit authorities as reasons some consumers are either slower in paying their bills or failing to pay them altogether.

"People are being laid off and seasonal workers are finding it harder to get jobs. Where there's a lot of uncertainty about what's going to happen, the consumer holds onto money as long as he can," says an ACA spokesman.

"People have built up a tolerance to nonpayment," adds Morton Goldberg, a New York attorney specializing in bill collections. "Since the beginning of the year, there's been more and more of this. People have the money but won't part with it."

The real problem areas, the officials say, are where unemployment is high.

SUMMER LAG
In Seattle, where the Boeing Co. has laid off thousands of employees since the first of the year, the credit manager of a large department store says that "payments are much slower now and we have many more delinquent accounts. This kind of a situation is bound to hurt both sales and payments."

In Boston, where a cutback by the government in its aerospace program has contributed to a

'Street Without Joy' Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting in which more than 300 North Vietnamese were reported killed indicated today that the enemy is trying to launch an offensive against the pacification program in the populous lowlands of South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces.

One battle still raged at dusk with North Vietnamese troops holed up in villages along the French Indochina war's "Street without Joy."

44 WOUNDED
Field reports said 17 South Vietnamese troops had been killed and 44 wounded. Among the dead was Maj. Nguyen Van Van, commander of Fire Base O'Reilly, killed in a mortar attack.

American planes and helicopter gunships flew some of the heaviest strikes of the war.

At stake is the pacification operation which over the past year has brought security to the villages in the lowlands of Quang Tri and Thua Thien provinces.

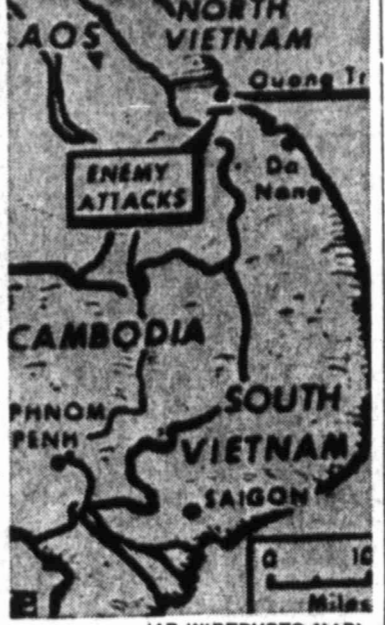

Some of the villages were reported damaged, and hundreds of refugees fled as fighting broke out. There was no estimate of civilian casualties.

REDS' INFO
The heaviest fighting broke out in a string of villages along the coastal strip French soldiers named "the Street without Joy" in the early 1950s because of their losses there.

Intelligence officers said nearly two battalions of about 700 North Vietnamese filtered through allied defensive lines in the foothills to the west and reassembled after they reached the coastal region at points ranging from four to 12 miles southeast of Quang Tri City.

Captured North Vietnamese documents said the goal was to "liberate people in the lowlands," one intelligence officer said.

MACHINE GUNS
Fighting broke out at 7 a.m. Wednesday, and military spokesman said 220 North Vietnamese had been killed by this evening, some of them by American helicopter gunships firing rockets and machine guns.

The coastal villages are guarded by a chain of artillery and patrol bases in the foothills to the west. Their mission is to choke off the flow of enemy troops and supplies toward the coast and keep large-scale fighting out of the villages.

Wants To Slow Down Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee wants to slow down the drive for action on the House-approved constitutional amendment to guarantee equal rights to women.

The committee approved Wednesday a motion by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to ask the Senate leadership to permit the panel to conduct hearings on the amendment.

The motion stipulated that the committee would act by Sept. 19.

A dissenting member, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., declared that "further hearings are totally unnecessary."

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., earlier had obtained unanimous consent of the Senate to have the measure bypass the committee.

The amendment already has 83 Senate sponsors.

Kin Of Mexico's Leader To Tour

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Eduardo Echeverria, brother of Mexico's President-elect Luis Echeverria, was arriving today to tour several Houston hospitals and clinics.

He was coming from San Antonio, where he also inspected medical facilities. Visits to St. Luke's and Methodist Hospitals here were planned before he leaves for Montreal Friday.
