

SHORTAGES, PRICES OF FUEL OIL CITED

Utility Rate Increases Loom

WASHINGTON (AP) — World-wide shortages and skyrocketing prices for fuel oil have hit American utility companies so hard that the result could be across-the-board utility rate hikes for the nation's consumers, a high Nixon administration official says.

The crisis involves residual fuel oil, used principally by heavy industry and utility companies. Since the first of the year, the price of foreign-produced residual fuel oil has doubled and American fuel oil prices have increased by about 40 per cent.

Nearly two-thirds of the residual oil used in this country is imported.

"Utility companies are being hit hard," George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, said in an interview.

YOU BET

Asked if this meant a possible rise in electricity rates, Lincoln said, "It certainly does."

"In most places, there's a rate adjustment tied to the cost of fuel so that when a utility company's fuel costs go up, electricity rates go up, too," Lincoln said.

"Some states have provisions that limit such rate increases to industry users of power, but this is the exception. In most places increases are provided for right across the board."

Lincoln would not predict when and by how much utility rates might be affected, but he held out little hope that much could be done to alleviate the crisis any time soon.

He was interviewed Tuesday following a press briefing at which he discussed the administration's decision earlier this week to scrap a proposed revision in the nation's oil import control program.

QUOTA SYSTEM

The revision would have substituted a system of tariffs on foreign petroleum products for the 11-year-old quota system. In abandoning the tariff proposal, the administration decided to concentrate on improving the quota system.

Residual fuel oil, however, is not affected by the import controls. Because the nation's needs could never be met from domestic supplies, all limitations on importing foreign residual fuel oils were lifted in 1966. But the crisis in fuel oil supply has continued to grow.

Since the first of the year, the cost of foreign residual oil has risen from about $2 a barrel to $4 a barrel and American residual oil has gone from $2.50 a barrel to $3.60.

DRAMATIC RISE

Coupled with the dramatic price rise there has been a drastic increase in demand, Lincoln said.

The shortages in fuel oil are attributed to a number of factors, including the Mideast political situation and growing demand worldwide.

One major cause for the increased demand, Lincoln said, was that residual fuel oil can be refined to a low sulphur content, a major requirement in many air pollution control programs.

Radar Unit At Midway

Sheriff A. N. Standard has asked for the cooperation of motorists in alleviating traffic problems on Midway Road.

A deputy and Texas Highway Patrolmen will patrol the road during peak traffic hours. A Highway Patrol radar unit is being set up in the area. The speed limit is 45 miles per hour, said Sheriff Standard.

Motorists are advised to use caution in the area because the road is narrow and has been graveled recently, making its surface somewhat dangerous. The Sheriff also advises drivers to be on the alert for children playing and riding bicycles and horses near the road.

COLLINS GUILTY OF SEX SLAYING

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — John Norman Collins, a former student at Eastern Michigan University, was convicted today of brutally murdering an 18-year-old freshman coed at the school over a year ago.

Collins, a 23-year-old, dark-haired former education major from Center Line, Mich., faces a mandatory life sentence for the first-degree murder conviction.

A Washtenaw County Circuit Court jury of six men and six women deliberated more than four days before deciding to convict Collins of slaying Karen Sue Beineman of Grand Rapids, Mich., who disappeared July 23, 1969. Her body was found three days later, and an autopsy showed she had been sexually molested and strangled.

TROPICAL STORM

MIAMI (AP) — Tropical Storm Dorothy formed today in the Atlantic and threatened the Leeward Islands, about 1,200 miles southeast of Miami, with peak winds of 55 miles an hour.

Storm warnings and a hurricane watch were issued for the Leewards from Dominica northward. Residents were advised to take precautions immediately.

SCHOOL BELLS RING WARNING

School bells and school days also mean school buses will be loading and unloading children in many areas of the county. Sheriff A. N. Standard reminds motorists to yield to the buses as they make their stops. Motorists are asked to slow down and watch for children who might dart suddenly from around the buses.

Deputies and highway patrol units will be patrolling the areas around the Forsan and Coahoma schools during the times that the traffic is the heaviest.

Education Veto Spurned By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, spurning President Nixon's economy plea and overriding his veto, has voted into law a $4.4 billion appropriation for federal aid to education.

But it will take some political dexterity to fashion a Republican campaign issue of the 77-16 vote. Twenty-three Republicans voted to override the President.

Not one of the 16 Republicans who voted to sustain the veto is running for a new term this year.

The Senate roll call Tuesday was 15 votes over the two-thirds majority required to overturn a veto.

The House already had voted, 289-114, to override the veto, and 77 Republicans voted against the President there.

Thus Republican votes were crucial in supplying the margins by which Nixon's veto was overridden on both sides of the Capitol.

Administration officials already have said they anticipate congressional campaign benefits for Republicans on the issue of government spending, which Nixon repeatedly has raised against the Democratic-controlled Congress.

MORE FRIENDS HELP FUND

Good friends continued to respond today, to give a good boost to the High School Bible Class Fund. The courses are offered through public subscription sponsored by the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship, and present the Bible as a great example of literature, history and moral living to young people who could not otherwise have this training.

Much more money is required to finance this project. If you will have a part, please make checks to "Bible Fund," mail to The Herald for acknowledgment.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission raised the state's crude oil production ceiling to its highest point in 19 years today, setting the September allowable at 79.9 per cent of potential.

The high factor was ordered despite a staff report that it could cause pollution, the wasting of gas and pipeline bottlenecks.

But commission chairman Ben Ramsey said "work is being carried out to eliminate these shortcomings and to insure non-wasteful oil production to factors up to 100 per cent."

"This will take time," Ramsey said, "and require huge expenditures which must be evaluated in light of whether the current high demand will continue or whether it will terminate shortly as the result of lowering of tanker rates or other actions enabling resumption of increased imports of foreign oil."

A spokesman for Humble Oil and Refining Co., John Yaeger, said stocks on hand in the western part of the country indicate that there has been a "rapid decline in imported crude oil."

Ramsey said Texas' crude oil stocks as of Aug. 7 totaled 99.6 million barrels, or 2.3 million less than the previous week, 5.5 million less than the previous month and 4.5 million barrels less than a year ago.

The September factor, the highest since October, 1951, will permit maximum production of 4,166,870 barrels daily, compared to 3,742,830 barrels under the 70 per cent allowable for August, adopted at an emergency meeting Aug. 10.

Accused 'Killer' Of Wife Gives Up

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A 48-year-old Akron man who allegedly shot his wife to death and wounded his 17-year-old stepson was flushed from a building by police using teargas early today after he held the stepson hostage for six hours.

Vincent Amelia was charged with first-degree murder in the death of his estranged wife, Rita, 46, and two counts of shooting with intent to kill.

His stepson, Randy Smith, was reported in serious condition at Akron City Hospital.

Also wounded seriously was George Grisp, 44, of Akron. Grisp and Edward Jones, 24, of Canal Fulton, were wounded when Amelia opened fire in Louie's Bar on East Exchange Street, killing his wife, police reported.

Jones was treated at the hospital and released.

Detectives said Amelia took a .45-caliber automatic and a .38-caliber revolver into the bar.

After the shootings, Amelia telephoned his brother and a lawyer and told them he was going to his home on Spicer Street. Amelia lives in an apartment above a store operated by his brother.

Police who went to the building were warned by Amelia that he was holding Smith and would shoot the youth if police tried to take him. Police tried throughout the evening to talk Amelia into releasing the youth and surrendering, and at one point three bottles of beer were given to Amelia in response to the man's demands.

Treaty Outlawing Gas War Sought

Plea Voiced By President

FRESH AIR — Larry Yingling, 20, is shown minutes after being rescued from a 50,000-pound mass of suffocating cement. The construction worker jumped into the large storage bin to retrieve a broom he dropped and began slowly sinking into the powder. Rescue workers managed to clamp an oxygen mask over his face as the powder reached his neck. Yingling was finally rescued after a two-hour life-or-death struggle in Baltimore.

Webb Says 'Me Too' On Peace Sign-Flag Decals

Apparently Webb AFB officials will observe the guidelines laid down by Sheppard AFB officials in Wichita Falls concerning the use of decals bearing the American flag overprinted with the peace symbol, although there is no indication how stringently the guidelines will be followed locally.

At Sheppard the decals have been ordered removed from cars registered at the base, from military jackets and from books. It was stated they will not be permitted "in any manner on the base." However, the peace symbol and flag decals may be displayed separately; it's the combination that's forbidden.

"We don't overprint the American flag with anything," was the official statement of Webb AFB this morning by an unnamed official.

At Sheppard, security officials said any civilian in violation of the law while on base will be escorted to the gate and asked to leave. Military offenders will face action through squadron commanders.

Col. Norman F. Carroll, staff judge advocate, at Sheppard AFB, called the violation to attention of those concerned after several complaints. The overprinting allegedly is a violation of federal law pertaining to displaying the flag.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked the Senate today to ratify a 45-year-old treaty banning gas warfare, with the understanding that it does not outlaw tear gas or defoliants.

"Today there are 85 parties, including all other major powers, to this basic international agreement which the United States proposed and signed in 1925," Nixon said in a message to the Senate.

"The United States always has observed the principles and objectives of this protocol," Nixon said. "I consider it essential that the United States now become a party to this protocol."

Senate ratification is needed to put the treaty fully into effect.

Smoke, flame and napalm also would not be covered by the protocol, or treaty, as interpreted by the Nixon administration in asking Senate approval of the pact.

Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, predicted clear sailing for the 1925 Geneva protocol because of Nixon's interpretations it will allow use of such chemicals as tear gas and herbicides.

Skyjack Plane Back In Miami

MIAMI (AP) — A Trans Caribbean airliner hijacked to Cuba while en route to San Juan, Puerto Rico, touched down here today, some nine hours after it was diverted to Havana.

Flight 401 left Newark, N.J., at 1 a.m. with 154 passengers bound for San Juan. Midway there, it went to Havana, landing at 5:19.

The plane returned to Miami at 12:33 p.m. but newsmen were not immediately able to question crew members about the hijacking. Officials said the passengers would be kept aboard while a new crew came on to take them to San Juan.

"It probably won't have any serious difficulty in clearing the Foreign Relations Committee and the Senate," Aiken said. "It depends on what he says about tear gas."

Nixon previewed his message for congressional leaders Tuesday. His interpretation, he said, is that the agreement covers only gases harmful to man. Defoliants—such as are used in the Vietnam war—are exempted because they were not known when the treaty was drawn.

The issue of defoliating chemicals has been a major reason for delay in submission of the treaty to the Senate since Nixon announced his intention last December, sources say.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who said he intends to support the treaty as a move in the right direction, said the U.S. statement would go "a long way toward knocking out the offensive aspects" of gas and biological warfare while limiting some defensive aspects of chemical and biological warfare (CBW).

More Thunder Than Water

Scattered rain showers Tuesday night dribbled 22 inch into the gauge at the U.S. Experiment Station here and more or less dampened other parts of the county, although most area residents were treated to more thunder and lightning than water.

Forsan got a trace of rain around 4 p.m., but most of the rest of the county had to wait until about 8 p.m. before getting a chance at the moisture. Elbow reported only a sprinkle of rain and Fairview estimated 2 inches.

Neither Lake Thomas nor Lake Spence benefitted at all, according to Owen Ivie, Colorado River Municipal Water District.

SENATE COMPROMISE RULED OUT

Nixonites Dash ABM Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today dashed the last hopes of foes of the Safeguard antimissile system that President Nixon could accept a Senate compromise on barring the system's geographic expansion.

The move by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird appeared to make likely a defeat for an amendment barring expansion to two new sites and using the $322 million saved to improve defenses at the two sites approved last year.

"The Department of Defense cannot support and is opposed" to the amendment sponsored by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., Laird said in a letter read to the Senate by Chairman John Stennis of the Armed Services Committee.

Laird said the amendment would cost an additional $500 million, fail to protect sufficient numbers of strategic bombers, and cause "an unacceptable delay" in providing defenses for U.S. missiles.

Last week, Brooke and other supporters of the compromise move said they had "evidence" from inside the White House and Pentagon, that the administration could "live comfortably" with the Brooke amendment.

Brooke's amendment would eliminate Safeguard sites planned at Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo., and Warren Air Force Base, Wyo. But it would retain $322 million in additional development funds for the two sites approved last year for the Grand Forks and Malmstrom air bases.

Last week, the Senate rejected 52-47 a proposal by Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., to eliminate the added development funds as well as the two new sites.

And Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., whose Armed Services Committee has sided with President Nixon on expansion, commented in Tuesday's debate that "I just don't think the Senate will march up the hill one week and down the next."

The likely final result was clouded by reports some senators on both sides of the question, which also split the Senate last year, will be absent.

One Republican, who last Wednesday voted for the Cooper-Hart amendment, confided that he may decide to keep a speaking engagement at the time of the roll call.

"Why should we take a beating twice on this?" the senator asked.

Choctaw Indians Hope To Make Peace Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Choctaw Indians, after 11 years with a tomahawk hanging over their heads, prepared to smoke a peace pipe with Washington today.

The Senate was believed ready to approve a measure repealing a 1959 act that threatened the tribe with extinction.

But the repeal pushed perilously near the deadline that Congress had set. Repeated delays in bringing the termination act into effect were finally to expire next Tuesday.

ASKED FOR IT

From that day the Choctaws would no longer have been Indians so far as the federal government was concerned. They would have lost special educational opportunities, health, housing and other benefits with which the nation's 263 other Indian tribes and bands are favored.

It added up to a gloomy prospect and it didn't help much that, in a sense, the Choctaws had asked for it.

It was back in the 1950s that the Choctaws, who mostly live across the Red River from Texas in Southeast Oklahoma, started thinking about self-rule. They decided they would like to choose their own chiefs, handle tribal business and assets without supervision from what they considered to be the too paternalistic Bureau of Indian Affairs.

SOLD DOWN RIVER

So they drew up a measure and sent it off to Washington.

The way the Choctaws tell it, they were then sold down the river. What they proposed got changed somewhere along the legislative way and the U.S. Congress passed the termination Act of 1959.

It gave the Choctaws what they asked, but it took away much besides.

Robert Beames, director of the Dallas Field Employment Assistance Office for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, who is half Choctaw himself, said that, as interpreted, the proposed legislation would have "terminated individual rights and benefits of all Choctaws as Indians. This was not the intent of the bill when it was passed."

DURANT CHIEF

Chief J.W. "Jimmy" Belvin, of Durant, Okla., who has headed the Choctaw Nation since then President Harry S. Truman appointed him after a tribal referendum in 1948, backed the original self-rule measure but switched round when he saw how it turned out.

"When they came back with their revised act and I saw it would harm the individual Choctaw, I refused to put it into operation," he said in a telephone interview Tuesday. "You can remove me as chief before I'll do it, I told them. I didn't intend to let them kill the Choctaw Nation. No sir."

'AT LEAST $5,000'

The Choctaw Tribe or Nation is one of the so-called Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma. The others are the Chickasaws (who used to be one tribe with the Choctaws some time before Christopher Columbus), the Cherokees, the Creeks and the Seminoles. They have been called the Five Civilized Tribes since about 1876.

Chief Belvin, a dynamic little man of 69, has served as a state senator and representative besides being a county superintendent of schools in Oklahoma. He estimates the present strength of the Choctaw Nation as "at least 85,000"

LBJ Booked For Bentsen

AUSTIN (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson will speak at a $100-a-plate dinner in Houston Sept. 10, launching Democrat Lloyd Bentsen's fall campaign drive for the U.S. Senator.

Bentsen attended a $100-a-plate dinner for Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes at which Johnson spoke last Friday.

Announcement of the Houston speech was made through Bentsen's headquarters by lawyer Fred Hofheinz, chairman for the dinner.

Hofheinz said the affair in Albert Thomas Hall not only will launch Bentsen's fall campaign drive but "it also will signal the start of something much bigger than that—a concerted drive by Texas Democrats to meet the challenge of the 1970s."

Hofheinz said the dinner will be a "fun affair... but it also will represent a big step forward, away from Republican high interest rates, tight money, inflation and unemployment... Unless we get to work and help Lloyd Bentsen raise the campaign funds he needs, Texas' chances for keeping a Democrat—and a native Texan—in the U.S. Senate could be buried under tons of Republican money."

LBJ-BARNES LINK HIT 'Like Throwing Anchor To A Drowning Man'

PORT LAVACA, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, confirmed that fact in glowing terms last Friday. Ben Barnes and his backers really don't care about 1970 and this year is important to them only as a base from which to launch a higher effort in 1972.

"That could be like throwing an anchor to a drowning man," Fullerton told a reception crowd.

Barnes was endorsed by former President Johnson at a fund raising dinner in Austin last Friday. Hackett did a comedy act as entertainment for the dinner.

"That event proved two things," Fullerton said. "First, the fact that Barnes is not pleasing anybody. He is in trouble with the voters on one hand and his backers on the other. He has stumbled and fallen so many times in his role as the 'chosen one' that the fading old political dynasty in Texas had to persuade former President Johnson to come out of retirement in a desperate attempt to set Ben upright again in the public eye, but I think the rescue effort is too late."

"Next, I would point to my assertion, weeks ago, that Barnes' forays on out of state speaking tours all summer were actually fishing expeditions in search of support for national office in 1972. His sponsor,

$10,000 'Reward' For Info After Suspect Jailed Told

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — A $10,000 offer for information about persons involved in the slaying of Alan Berg was made by his father after the arrest of Charles Harrelson, a witness said Tuesday in the murder trial of Harrelson.

The witness, private detective Robert Leonard, testified that Nathan Berg, father of the dead man, made the offer through him to the former wife of Harrelson.

Harrelson, 31, is on trial for murder in the slaying of Berg, a 32-year old Houston business executive who disappeared in May, 1968. His skeleton was found months later.

Leonard said Berg's father told him to inform Harrelson's former wife "that he would put $10,000 in a trust account for her children if she could persuade the defendant (Harrelson) to name another person or persons involved in the killing."

A second man, Frank DiMaria 31, of Houston, also has been indicted in the Berg murder.

Leonard said he told Harrelson's former wife about the $10,000 offer, but he didn't know if she accepted. She was divorced from Harrelson several years ago and has three children.

Leonard said he was hired by

ROME (AP) — A young Italian director says he is making a film inspired by the Sharon Tate murders.

Gian Vittorio Baldi has signed two actresses for the movie: his French wife Macha Meril and Ewa Aulin, who played in "Candy." He will not say which will have the role of the slain American actress.

Berg's father to investigate the son's disappearance. He found the skeletal remains of Berg on Nov. 8, 1968, he said, after getting a tip from Bernard Louis Weadock of Los Angeles.

Sandra Attaway, the state's first witness, testified earlier she is now living with Weadock. Miss Attaway said she was living with Harrelson at the time of the Berg murder.

Weadock, Leonard said, came to Houston from Los Angeles and persuaded Berg's father to raise an earlier $5,000 reward offer to $10,000. The body was found the next day, Leonard said.

"He (Weadock) agreed to do more for the $10,000 than just find the body," Leonard testified. "He agreed to furnish names."

Two Districts Backing Freedom-Of-Choice Idea

By The Associated Press

Two East Texas school districts moved Tuesday to retain their freedom-of-choice integration plans in defiance of federal government efforts to achieve faster desegregation.

Beaumont South Park school trustees, backed unanimously by about 300 white and Negro residents, voted not to recommend any federal desegregation plan. The district is one of several in Texas named in federal desegregation suits.

Trustees of the Center school voted 4-3 to reject a previously adopted volunteer plan of desegregation.

The volunteer plan had been in effect since last year and had involved pairing with the formerly all-Negro C. H. Daniels school.

The Beaumont trustees defeated 4-2 a motion that urged the rejection of any U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare plan. But they accepted the motion not to recommend any plan.

Mrs. Marie Hubbard, a Negro, told the trustees, "We don't want to move our children any more than you do. Let's stop considering color in connection with our schools."

Board members unanimously accepted a motion by George Hudspeth, a Negro trustee, that the black schools in the district be kept open.

Former Beaumont city councilman Gene Fears, who sponsored the motion against any federal plan, said, "They can move federal troops into town but our children will attend the school of their choice."

Officer At Base Gets Wrist Slap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has reprimanded an officer at a Texas air base who ordered 10,000 photographs of a general to be carved with razor blades from 10,000 copies of the base newspaper.

The cutting operation was triggered when someone on the staff of the Lackland Air Base information office decided the narrow cropping of the page 5 photograph in the Aug. 7 issue of the "Talespinner" was inappropriate for a general.

The photo and its caption were sandwiched between an article telling of the introduction of "soul food" into the base mess halls and an advertisement for blue jeans. The three stars of a lieutenant general depicted awarding a medal to the major general who commands the base, could not be seen.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., was sent a copy of the paper—complete with hole—and, in a letter to Secretary of the Air Force Robert Seamans Jr., complained taxpayers' money had been wasted in the all-day operation employing 15 enlisted men armed with razor blades.

An Air Force spokesman told Proxmire late Tuesday in a statement: "The commanding officer of the Lackland Military Basic Training Center, Maj. Gen. John S. Samuel, having conducted an investigation into the cutting out of a picture from 10,000 copies of the base news-

"Although the placement of the photo and caption may have been poor journalistic style, it did not warrant the action taken."

The announcement did not say if the Talespinner's assistant editor, fired in the heat of the incident, would be reinstated.

Nixon Briefs News Editors

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon received a warm welcome, briefed newspaper editors on administration policy, spoke of "a more peaceful period," and reminisced on a walking tour through his old neighborhood during a busy nine-hour visit Tuesday.

Some 2,500 persons lined 42nd Street to cheer the President as he arrived in midafternoon to confer with editors of The Daily News in an off-the-record conversation. A few antiwar chants were heard from the throng.

Later, on a predinner, unscheduled jaunt with daughter Tricia through a section of Manhattan's East Side, the President chatted with several foreigners and students, some with hair "a bit longer than mine," Nixon noted.

"One thing I've always emphasized to people," Nixon told newsmen later, referring to the youths, "is that you never judge what a person's reaction is going to be by the length of his hair; he may be very friendly and at least courteous—every one on the walk was at least courteous."

In an impromptu news conference following the walk, the President also remarked on the absence of antiwar demonstrators. Said Nixon: "It's summertime. School's out. I think we're coming into a more peaceful period," he added.

News Strike Threatened

NEW YORK (AP) — Talks between negotiators for the city's four major daily newspapers and the deliverers union continue today in an effort to avert a strike threatened for midnight.

Spokesmen for the publishers of the Long Island Press, the New York Post, the Daily News and the New York Times said Tuesday they were concerned about reaching a "speedy resolution equitable and fair to both sides." Little progress was reported in the talks however.

Carl Levy, president of the deliverers union warned Monday the union would strike one or more of the papers if there were no settlement. He declined to name the paper or papers that might be hit.

Levy said the outstanding issue is job security. Wage provisions are expected to follow the pattern set by pressmen and printers who received money increases of about 41.7 per cent over three-year contracts.

Meanwhile, the publishers also pressed negotiations with stereotypers in an effort to reach a settlement this week.

Six Texas Schools Face Desegregation Speed Up

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Texas federal judge was ordered Tuesday to speed up proceedings for six Texas school districts involved in desegregation suits.

Chief U.S. District Judge Joe Estes had rejected a demand by the U.S. Justice Department to settle the issue before the schools opened. Instead, he set pretrial conferences for Sept. 10—from 10 to 20 days after the schools were scheduled to begin classes.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here ruled that to wait until the September date for the preliminary conferences would, in effect, deny the original suit seeking school integration.

The independent school districts involved are Ferris, Garland, Lubbock, Richardson, San Angelo and Wichita Falls.

The court referred to earlier orders instructing that all school cases under its jurisdiction were to be settled to "accomplish a unitary system of pupil attendance with the start of the fall 1970 school term."

The Justice Department had appealed Judge Estes' decision in order to force him to act before the schools open.

The New Orleans court said it may be necessary in one or all instances to delay school openings, but "we deem it less disruptive to postpone the opening of the school for a very brief interval than to effect total desegregation after the schools are in operation."

"These matters are to receive top priority in calendaring and dispositions," the court said.

MURDER SUSPECT TERMED UNFIT TO STAND TRIAL

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Stephen Max Combs, accused of slaying a co-ed, was declared insane Tuesday by a district court jury and was ordered committed to the maximum security unit of Rusk State Hospital for treatment.

The 25-year-old Vietnam veteran is accused of the July 16 beating and stabbing death of Vicki Bernethy, 20, of Midland.

In the hearing, Dr. James H. Kreimeyer, acting director of Big Spring State Hospital, said he had observed Combs from July 21 to Aug. 7 and found him to be presently incompetent to stand trial on murder charges.

He recommended that Combs be committed to Rusk, saying that without hospitalization he could be dangerous to himself and others.

This morning's hearing had no bearing on a criminal proceeding against Combs. When he is declared sane, he will be returned to Midland for trial when the question of his sanity at the time of the slaying can be brought up.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: So many brilliant ideas are now yours you hardly know which one to start. Put on your thinking cap and decide which one you wish to do now. This should be accomplished quickly since you have more than usual energy and the ingenuity to handle whatever you wish to do with intelligence.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are able to gain personal aims today since the planets are with you. Your ideas are good and your ability great.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You can sit down and have confidential talks with bigwigs and advisors and plan the future more wisely. Be gracious in helping those who come to you for assistance. Be happy with the one you love tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Join good friends and charming new contacts of social affairs. Then you can gain the pleasure and the aims you want. Make new friends who are mentally alert and interesting. Be devoted to mate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A new plan of action will gain the approval of higher-ups who have the say-so where some of your affairs are concerned. Get into civic matter which you enjoy. Be active.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Enter activities that gain you the favor of higher-ups you admire. Make plans now for the trip that interests you. Plan to be with the people you like. Avoid that person who lies to spend your money.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have many tasks to take care of, so start them today. Get advice from experts on whatever is puzzling to you. Meet with the one you love and make better plans for the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Good day to plan the future (more wisely) with an associate and gain more cooperation than has been given in the past. Expand. Plan some fun for the evening that is in more accord to your own taste.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keep busy at work to be done so that you make a fine impression on higher-ups. The planets are favorable. Co-workers will listen to your ideas. This adds much to present efficiency.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Step out to those places of recreation that you enjoy and which relieve your worries. A good day to do some errand for mate that will be appreciated, also. Control your temper.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Kin want you to do several things that are for the common good, so be willing to do them and results are fine. Get into that new activity that helps increase income. Show that you have fine ability.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make new contacts and also get together with allies to plan how to expand in present activities. Get communications properly ironed out. Stop feeling sorry for yourself. Feel sorry for others instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) A good day to increase bank balance and to make new investments. Also a good day for taking care of chores around the house. Be calm when dealing with others. If others worried, give them good advice.

Delightful Mrs. D. F. Bigony, who will be a student at Texas Tech again along with two of her grandsons, is planning a wonderful weekend with her children before they all get involved with other things.

Weldon is visiting from Taipei, Formosa, after registering his son, Mark, in Tech. Mrs. William O. Spradling (Reta) is in the area from Costa Mesa, Calif., to attend her son's graduation from pilot training at Reese AFB. (Another son, Mike, is attending Tech.) Mrs. Conrad Cherry (Mary) and family are en route from Pennsylvania, where her husband is a professor at Pennsylvania State University, to do post doctoral study at Berkeley, Calif.; and Mrs. William J. Pierson (Myra) of Lubbock and Mrs. S. E. Puckett (Frances) of Floydada and their families will join Mrs. Bigony for the weekend.

BOUQUETS: To Capt. Richard W. Edmonds who celebrated his 27th birthday Monday while stateside a few days to visit his wife at Webb AFB Hospital and their daughter, Kelly, a graduate of Webb, Dick brought his fighter back from 120 missions out of Phan Rang and has earned the DFC. He'll go back to more of the same in a few days.

MUCH LOVE: To Martin Dehlinger who has undergone surgery at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. Mrs. D. is with him, and they will remain in Houston another month. Their daughter, Sister Martin, is stationed in San Antonio with a church clinic. I can count on seeing Mrs. D. at least once a year at the annual homecoming bash for Father Robert McDermott at Jewell Myers home. Incidentally, Jewell and Bessie Love left this morning to fly to Los Angeles, then to Oregon for two weeks of salmon fishing. (They plan to air freight the catch, so better put your name in the pot for the fish fry.)

Mrs. Jack Irons spent the early hours Tuesday in Mrs. Harold (Lorraine) Talbot's pea patch but made it to the bridal coffee honoring Miss Mary Brenda Beal, granddaughter of the Cuin Grigsbys. The coffee hostesses were treated to a fish dinner Friday at the Grigsby home where Cuin tried it to perfection in his big black kettle.

TIDBITS: The road to Ruidoso and Cloudcroft will be heavily traveled this weekend. Those people with lucky hunches are heading for Ruidoso Downs, while the nature lovers and card players are going on over the mountains. Mrs. J. Y. Robb is hosting a weekend party at her Cloudcroft cabin which will include Mrs. Jesse Lee Townsend, Mrs. E. O. Ellington, Mrs. Johnnie Morrison, Mrs. Travis Reed, Mrs. Harvey Williamson and Mrs. Lloyd Wasson and maybe others joined Opal and Hank McDaniel in the coffee shop for a minute and found out their son, Luther, is in New York on business, from his home office in Germany. He had to leave Joyce and the children, Dana, Lisa, Derrick and Jennifer at home, but he'll be here Aug. 28th for a week. Opal looked marvelous. Since her retirement she and Hank have leased their house for a year and bought a travel trailer. They're just back from a visit in Houston with another son, Terry, and his wife, Kay. (Slate) and their little Megan the Lawrence Lones have moved to No. 4 River Bend.

4201 Ben Ficklin Blvd., San Angelo, so he can complete his degree in business administration. She's the former Carolyn Bush of Lamesa. Mrs. Faye Newman is back from Dallas where she had a relaxing week with her daughter, Margie, (commercial art department at Dreyfuss and Sons) and her brother, Ottie Anderson. Mary Ann Wallace flew to Houston to visit her uncle, Marvin Wallace, and Miss Winno Wallace of Baytown, and take a look at the universities.

THE RED CARPET treatment goes to Tom Eastland who returns today from the Chamber of Commerce Executives Association meeting in Longview. Tom called Pierson (Myra) to say we had outbid Kerrville for the 1971 meeting.

Such a nice visit with Mrs. Robert (Jean) Stripling yesterday. They got away from the grind for a great tour of the area around Aspen, and before that, met their son, Robert Jr. (who has been promoted to major at Ft. Riley) and his Karen and baby, Stephen, in Ashland, Kan., at the home of Karen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Kilger.

Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds, who tries all sorts of things, set out in June alone in a 20-foot camper for South Carolina to see her daughter, Mrs. Robert Haynes, then went to Panama City, Fla., to visit a sister, circling back by way of Josephine to drop in on her son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Art Dodds. Mrs. Dodds (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruler Jones) is on the staff of the Royce City paper and took second place in a state feature writing contest recently. Mamie, who started the "Let Freedom Ring" celebration here, is a modern-day Betsy Ross. She has produced a flag for the annual event which is completely handmade.

Mrs. L. D. Jenkins and Mrs. Hugh Nixon are both home and feeling better after being hospitalized. The Mel Stinsons had a cute surprise. While they were still in Tallulah, La., after the wedding of their son, Steve, and Elizabeth Folk, they received a phone call from the bridegroom. "Where have you put the sheets?" The bride couple had driven here and were spending the night in the Stinson home. Deadline. Call me?

Biblical Lineage Studied At WMU

"Rebekah, Whose Son Became Israel" was the study topic at the Women's Missionary Union meeting Tuesday at Westside Baptist Church.

Mrs. N. M. Hipp led the study, which dealt with family lineage, the birthright of the eldest son and the importance of a father's blessing to his heir. Rebekah and Isaac had twin sons, Jacob and Esau. The elder, Esau, gave up his birthright to Jacob who later became Israel.

The family was of Biblical importance because they had been "chosen by Jehovah." Rebekah was the grand-niece of Abraham and Sarah; her husband was exceptional because he was monogamous. The family exemplified the importance of lineage and birthright upon which the structure of the study was based.

The study concluded with a prayer worded by Mrs. Sallie Sanders.

Gift Party Held In Church Hall

Mrs. Edward Lee Loveless Jr. was honored with a bridal shower Monday evening in the fellowship hall of Trinity Baptist Church. She and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Edward Loveless Sr., were presented white carnation corsages. Mrs. Loveless is the former Miss Mary Geneva Marston, of San Jose, Calif., where the couple was married July 16.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with pink linen and overlaid with a scalloped chiffon cloth. The centerpiece was a pink and white floral arrangement, and crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Floyd Williams. Serving at the refreshment table were Mrs. Ricky Henderson and Mrs. Bill Griffin.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Jack Shaffer, Mrs. Roy Shaffer, Mrs. Ruth Hampton, Mrs. Jesse Majors, Mrs. Elbert Long, Mrs. Paul Beasley, Mrs. Raymond Cooper, Mrs. B. L. Griffin, Mrs. Frank Goodman, Mrs. David Pope, Mrs. Curtis Vaughn Sr., Mrs. Roy Watkins and Mrs. Avery Deel.

Mrs. Grady C. Beck, noble grand, presided and a guest, Mrs. Nell Cronbaugh, Misspah Rebekah Lodge 92, Guthrie Center, Iowa, was introduced. Sixty-two visits to the sick were reported by 24 members. Refreshments were served by Mrs. U. S. Bechley, Mrs. M. J. Molpus, Mrs. Julia Moore and Mrs. W. R. Loftis.

Odessa Couple Says Wedding Vows Here

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday afternoon by Miss Anna Lee Wescott and Odessa, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wood, 1012 Nolan.

The ceremony was performed before a fireplace centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and carnations entwined with white wedding bells and ribbon. Officiating was the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand of Wesley United Methodist Church.

The bride was attired in a white satin peau de soie dress fashioned with A-line skirt and lace puffed sleeves cuffed with peau de soie. Her tiered veil of illusion was held by a pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white carnations tied with satin streamers and lace ribbon atop a white Bible.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Wescott, nephew and niece of the bride. Mrs. Wescott wore a pink knit A-line dress with white accessories.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the home. The refreshment table was covered with a pink cloth overlaid with white lace and centered with the bride's bouquet. Silver and crystal appointments were used, and the tiered wedding cake was topped with miniature bridal figurines.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Lena Henderson Mrs. Bill Wood Mrs. Gertie Wescott and Mrs. Larry Gage, the latter of Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Maddox have been employed at the First National Bank of Odessa for a number of years. The bride wore a blue knit A-line dress with beige accessories and a corsage from her bouquet for a wedding trip to Illinois. They will reside in Odessa. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Riden and Miss Velma Wescott all of Seminole; and Miss Deana Rae Cage of Snyder.

MRS. DANNY LEE NICHOLS

Couple Recites Nuptial Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Lee Nichols are on a wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas following their marriage Tuesday evening in the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd performed the nuptial ceremony before an altar decorated with altar vases of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and greenery flanked by candelabra and palms. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Gail Bonner, organist.

The bride is the former Halena Wozencraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wozencraft, 1111 Settles, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nichols Jr., Route Two, Big Spring.

LOCAL GRADUATES

The couple are graduates of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College. In high school, he was on the basketball team, and she has been active in Girl Scouting as a member and troop leader. They plan to reside in San Angelo.

The bride was attired in a white organza Empire silhouette gown with bodice overlaid with Venise lace and the lace repeated on the trim of full organza Camelot sleeves. Her Watteau train was banded with lace, and her headpiece was an organza Dior bow holding a shoulder-length veil. The bridal bouquet was formed of daisy poms circling a white orchid.

The maid of honor was Miss Corky Grantham, and Mrs. Dee Shortles was the matron of honor. The bride's sister, Betsy Wozencraft, was the junior bridesmaid. All were identically attired in blue dotted Swiss Empire gowns and carried baskets of daisies.

Robert Nichols attended his brother as best man, and groomsmen were Kyle Ditto and David Nichols. C. M. Wozencraft, brother of the bride, and John Hull, Ranya Barber and Janna Chrane were the flower girls.

RECEPTION

The First Federal Community Room was the scene of a reception with the house party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Nichols, Miss Jan Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Grantham.

The bride's table featured a white floral arrangement and a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. German chocolate cake was served from the bridegroom's table.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Herring, Mrs. Johnnie Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McElroy and Mr. and Mrs. Doy Herring, all of Midland.

For traveling, Mrs. Nichols wore a navy pantsuit with the corsage from her bouquet.

Tie-Dyeing Is Useful Art

"Tie-dyeing," an ancient method of coloring cotton fabrics, is currently enjoying a revival.

In tie-dyeing, says the National Cotton Council, fabric is gathered up at measured intervals and tied in knots with a string or rubber band. Fabric knots are then dipped in liquid dye. Color takes on only those parts of the fabric that are not tied up. The result is a unique print with an exotic wavy coloring.

A white cotton sheet is ideal for our first attempt at tie-dyeing. Use two bright colors together, like orange and coral or tangerine and yellow. The sheet, dyed with cowbeby patterns of color, can be used for curtains or a bedspread.

A LOVELIER YOU

Faithful Care Needed For Shining Hair

By MARY SUE MILLER

A teen Lovely writes: This summer I have been wearing my hair in braids. It is very long and, hanging loose, I could not cope with it. Everyone seems to like the braids, even my boy friend. But I do not think braids will look right with winter clothes. Do you? And do you believe short hair will catch on? I have heard it might. I guess I'm mixed up. Help!

The Answer: Shorter hair seems to be in the cards, if for no other reason than girls are tired of the upkeep on long locks. Smooth, shoulder-lengths are favored with the ends flipped up or turned under. The adventuresome will doubtless go for the new-again look of a small neat head with short clipped hair worn in brushed curls, ripples or straight.

Be all that as it may, cutting long hair is a big step to take. You want to be very sure before you take it. Why not go try on a short wig?

Long or short, faithful care cannot be side-stepped. You have to wash before the need is even suspected. You have to brush and brush. You must use shampoos, rinses and treatments that exactly suit your type of hair. The advantage of short hair is not that it takes less grooming but less time to groom.

Another advantage has to do with the fact that shorter hair and longer hemlines make for better feminine proportions. You must know that's so.

P.S.: Please write me in care of your newspaper if you have questions about your hair. (Do enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

TEEN TRESSES

Is your hair a problem, Miss Teen? Then send for my leaflet, "Teen Tresses, Model Type." It tells how to correct such ailments as oily hair and flaky scalp; fly-away, unmanageable, lackluster locks. Included, too, are styling tips and model grooming quickies. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Circles Explore Ministry Time

"Leisure — Threat or Opportunity" was the topic discussed by the circles of Wesley United Methodist Church, meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. T. C. Richardson, 702 Birdwell Lane.

Leading the study discussion was Mrs. S. L. Thurman assisted by Mrs. Abbie Anderson, Mrs. Janie Cofer, Mrs. David Hart and Mrs. R. L. Pitts. Members explored forms of ministry possible for the individual in his leisure time at recreational areas. Mrs. Ben Boadle presided announcing that a garage sale will be held Wednesday.

Prayers were led by Mrs. Ray Anderson and Mrs. Alta King. A guest was Mrs. Joe Ramsey. The next meeting will be Aug. 25 for the Women's Society of Christian Service general session at the church.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good and I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? Estrogenic hormones. Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin — less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin through formulations containing hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied.

These are the reports in simple words: Skin lines (dry-skin wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Still another scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I've seen this myself. I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And, what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back into their eyes — their chins raised with proud confidence — the zest for living return — because — I presume — to look younger is to feel younger.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know: the strength of the hormone preparation must appear on the label. The recommended daily allotment for the skin is 330 Units.

The base should be as rich as possible in moisturizing lanolin and penetrating vegetable oils and when "rubbed in" your skin should not feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a 56-year-old laboratory that has produced over 80 million packages of pure, fine cosmetics. HORMONEX is so effective in revitalizing aging skin that over 500 leading department stores and thousands of drug and cosmetic outlets recommend it to their customers.

What is more, it is guaranteed to bring you joyous, noticeable results in 5 days or return unused portion to store for full refund. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is really a bargain at $3.50. So, if you want to see if your dreams of a younger-looking skin — with these dry-skin wrinkles dimmed, color and texture improved, can come true, I suggest you get a 100-day supply now. Use HORMONEX Beauty Serum for 5 days — then look for amazing results.

A single drop is so potent. A 100-day supply costs $3.50. 200-day supply only $6.00.

Now you can concentrate your hormone treatment on spots that need it most because Hormonex Beauty Serum is so powerful a drop of it gives skin over three times as many hormone units as a dab of cream. Wonderful about the eyes and mouth, on the throat.

The most potent hormone preparation we know of for beauty culture — 33,000 I.U. per ounce — equal to three and one-half 1-ounce jars of standard hormone cream. One bottle lasts about 100 days. Just 7 drops daily gives you the maximum allotment of female hormones. Contains large percentage of Lanolin and penetrating Sesame Oil to help replace natural oils of the skin and make your face and hands look younger.

A picnic in Birdwell Park was given for Unit 9-B patients at Big Spring State Hospital Tuesday by Center Point Home Demonstration Club. Lunch was served to 25 patients and other guests. Club members serving were Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. W. L. Eggleston, Mrs. Alden Ryan, Mrs. Nannie Garrett, Mrs. G. H. Griffith and Mrs. Bob Wren.

Hospital personnel who accompanied the patients as guests were Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Hufford, Mrs. Jo Ann Jamison, Mrs. Gere Reaves, Mrs. Delce Martin, Mrs. Pat Evans, Mrs. Delia Moreno and Mrs. Helen Early.

Following the picnic, games and baseball were played. Other guests were Debbie and Delbert Ervin, Lubbock; Wesley and Nancy Hess, Wichita Falls; Yvonne, Gregg and Scott Eggleston, Kelly Overton, Jody and Tracy Griffiths and Mrs. Faye Barth.

Crocheted Beads Made By Club

Pioneer Sewing Club members met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. T. R. Camp, Forsan, to work on crocheted beads, knitting and handwork. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be Sept. 1 in the home of Mrs. J. H. Cardwell, Forsan.

Emerald Room Setting For Bridal Coffee

The Emerald Room at Big Spring Country Club was the setting Tuesday morning for a miscellaneous bridal coffee honoring Miss Mary Brenda Beal, bride-elect of Michael Leslie Zant.

Hostesses for the complimentary affair were Mrs. Zollie Boykin, Mrs. Roy Lassiter, Mrs. T. A. Thigpen, Mrs. Hayden Griffith, Mrs. Jim Raoul and Mrs. R. L. Tollett.

The hostesses alternated serving at a refreshment table covered with a white floor-length skirt overlaid with a linen cutwork cloth. A triangular arrangement of blue Majestic daisies and white carnations interspersed with emerald fern was flanked by a silver coffee service and crystal punch bowl. Hors d'oeuvre trays and other appointments were of silver.

Guests were registered at a table covered with a floor-length ruffled cloth edged with pearls and accented with a brandy snifter tied with blue ribbon and holding pale blue roses.

Miss Beal was attired in a white long-sleeved dress with pink ribbon bands, overlaid with lace, circling the cuffs and the dropped waistline. She received guests with her mother, Mrs. John Beal, and her grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Grigsby. Mrs. Beal was attired in a yellow coatdress, and Mrs. Grigsby chose a floral silk print in yellow, white and green. The three were presented white carnation corsages.

Miss Beal and Zant, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Zant, will be married Sept. 4 in the College Baptist Church.

WARDS NOW OPEN THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY TILL 8:00 P.M.

DEAR ABBY: I met a fellow rather accidentally on the telephone. We found out we had a lot in common (age and all) and he called me (on purpose) several times after that and we had many long, interesting conversations. Well, he asked if he could take me out for dinner on Sunday night, and I said yes.

He came over at 4 like we planned, and after about 40 minutes of talking he wanted to kiss me. I said, "No, I want to get to know you better." (After all, Abby, he really was a stranger to me as I had never seen him before.) He said, "Well, that is how you get to know a person better." I still said, "No, not yet." So he got mad and walked out the door.

Did I do the right thing in not letting him kiss me? I would still like to get to know him better. LOST HIM DEAR LOST: From what you tell me about this young man, I'd say you didn't lose much. Yes, you did the right thing. And if he calls you again, and you still want to "know him better," don't forget the "method" he suggested for getting to know you better.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I am having trouble with my mother. She won't let me get my ears pierced. I think I am old enough to know my own mind, and I don't see anything wrong with piercing my ears. Lots of the kids do it nowadays. Can you help me? I am a boy.

DEAR IRA: You are still a minor, and as such, your mother is responsible for your actions. Think about it for a few more years. Do you really want two more holes in your head?

DEAR ABBY: My sister is intelligent, but she has one big fault. She continually corrects her poor husband every time he opens his mouth. And she doesn't care who is present. If she could hear a tape recording of an evening of her nagging and correcting, maybe she would realize how terrible she sounds.

Needless to say, we don't see them as often as we could even tho we live only a few miles away. She often asks me why we don't spend more time with them and I simply cannot bring myself to tell her. She has always been a bossy and opinionated person. How do I get it across to her that nobody enjoys being in the company of a person who is always belittling and correcting her husband? I hate to hurt her feelings.

HER SISTER DEAR SISTER: If you honestly feel that by telling your sister the truth, she might accept it as constructive criticism and DO something about it — never mind her "feelings." You'd be doing her a kindness. But if I read your letter right, I think you're "afraid" of your sister (just as her husband is) and will continue to avoid her — and complain behind her back.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Bishop Walsh To Visit Pope

HONG KONG (AP) — Roman Catholic Bishop James Walsh, who was freed by the Red Chinese July 10 after 12 years in a Communist prison, leaves Sunday for an audience with Pope Paul VI in Rome.

A Catholic spokesman said Tuesday the 79-year-old Bishop Walsh will be accompanied to Rome by Sister Patricia Fitzmaurice, chief surgeon of Maryknoll Hospital where he has been recuperating since his release.

After spending a week in Rome, the spokesman said, Bishop Walsh plans to fly to Cumberland, Md., and a reunion with his five sisters and a brother.

Migrants' Ed Funds Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced $11.4 million in federal funds for migrants' education in 78 school systems in Texas.

But only $3.1 million of the money will be released immediately, said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., because the HEW budget has not cleared Congress. The funds will help 50,000 children of migrants from kindergarten through high school. This is 6,000 more than last year.

United States Giving Spain Military Aid

MADRID (AP) — The United States is giving Spain $180 million in military aid—including 36 used F4 Phantom jet fighters—bombers—for the use of four bases in Spain for the next five years.

U.S. sources said the agreement signed Aug. 6, which also provides $3 million in non-military aid during fiscal 1971, will turn over the bases to Spanish control when the current pact expires Sept. 26. Earlier agreements had called for their turnover whenever U.S. forces left.

The bases, which cost $400 million to build, are Torrejon air base near Madrid, an air base at Zaragoza, in northwest Spain, a standby air base Moron in southern Spain and the Rota naval base on Cadiz Bay. The estimated cost of the Phantoms is $55 million. The military aid also includes $65 million worth of other aircraft,

$35 million for a warning control network, $20 million in Army equipment and $5 million for training. The $3 million in nonmilitary aid will be represented by a 500-mile oil pipeline the United States built from Rota to Zaragoza. The Spanish government also will realize a windfall of $1 million a year which the U.S. government has been collecting from Spanish firms for rental of part of the line's capacity. Sixteen U.S. ships that are to be mothballed within five years will be loaned to the Spanish navy. The sources said they did not know how much nonmilitary aid was promised for the other four years of the agreement, but Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has estimated the agreement will cost the United States about $400 million.

Tornadic Winds Rake Goodlett

By The Associated Press

A tornado carved a destructive path through the village of Goodlett in Northwest Texas and thunderstorms boomed menacingly over a broad area Tuesday night and this morning.

Although the twister wrecked an auto repair garage and inflicted damage estimated at around $25,000 altogether, minor cuts suffered by an unidentified woman were the only injuries reported.

Thunderstorms and showers packing violent winds and occasional hail caused special warnings to go out from the Weather Bureau at Abilene and Wichita Falls. One alert covered Nolan, Fisher, Jones, Taylor, Haskell and Stonewall counties, and the other affected Hardeman, Knox, Wilbarger, Baylor, Wichita and Archer counties. Both expired without word of severe damage.

At Goodlett, a hamlet of about 200 people nine miles west of Quanah, the tornado swooped down about 5:30 p.m. It also unroofed a big feed barn, tore a wall and part of the roof off the small post office building.

Prize Money Half Collected

Nearly $300 of the $500 prize money for the First Bale of Cotton contest has been collected from businessmen contacted by the Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee chaired by Alton Marwitz.

It will not be long before the prize is claimed, Marwitz said, as prompt donations toward the remaining $200 will be appreciated by the committee, not to mention the award winner.

The prize will go to the first person who has a bale weighing 450 pounds or more that is ginned in Howard County and meeting the other contest requirements. Ginning and weighing must be completed before the prize can be claimed, and the cotton must have been produced during the current crop year on a farm covered by a Howard County ASC Farm Identification Number.

The ginner or gin manager must certify the weight, time of completion of ginning the bale, and give the producer's ASC number to the Chamber of Commerce office by phone (263-7641) as soon as possible after processing of the bale is completed.

Texans Line Up For Shots To Ward Off Diphtheria

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Reinforced by Army medical volunteers nurses and medical school doctors, health officials were geared today to immunize still more thousands in an unabated diphtheria epidemic.

More than 11,000 persons stood in long winding lines Tuesday to receive diphtheria shots while health officials were reporting two new confirmed cases of the disease and 10 suspected cases.

It brought the total to 22 diphtheria cases this month and 52 since Jan. 1—compared to 98 for the past 10 years.

WORST EVER

The bout of the sometimes fatal throat infection, worst here since the early 1960s, has been labeled an epidemic. Two children have died.

Dr. William Ross, health district director, said a 1969 survey showed two-thirds of the school age population here is inadequately immunized. Total statistics were unavailable but the largest school district here has more than 75,000 pupils.

The local district of the Texas Nurses Association issued a plea for more volunteer nurses to help give shots to the endless crowds. "We have about 45 volunteers but we need at least three times that many," president Hector Gonzalez said.

11,000 HIT

The Army's Ft. Sam Houston here responded to a health district request with 20 medical units who manned immunization stations to administer shots.

A spokesman for the University of Texas Medical School-San Antonio said 21 faculty members also were giving inoculations, and county medical society officials said local doctors were organizing to further reinforce the immunization drive.

In addition to the more than 11,000 inoculated Tuesday, about 21,000 have received shots since the drive began in earnest Aug. 10, Ross said.

SCULPTOR DIES — Benvenuto Bufano, noted sculptor, was found dead Tuesday in his San Francisco studio of an apparent heart attack.

FERTILE FIELD

He said there is still a large number of susceptible persons here, providing a "fertile field" for the diphtheria organism to keep spreading. "We've got to wipe out this fertile field."

The main immunization headquarters was switched from the health district office to the basement of the much larger municipal auditorium. Hundreds stood in a line that wrapped around the building at times.

Ross said barricades had to be set up in the auditorium basement to keep the crowds in orderly lines. Despite the long waits, he said, "Everybody's spirits have been very good."

THIS FISH YARN SMELLS

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Thousands of dead fish have been found in Elm Creek at Abilene and game and fish officials blame it on the hot, summer weather.

They said Tuesday no pollution is involved but that because of the hot weather, the oxygen level of the water has dropped.

Fish start dying when the water contains less than three parts of oxygen per million, the experts said.

'All Students Will Wear Shoes'

NEWBERRY, S.C. (AP) — The Newberry County school board has adopted a dress code which requires that "all students must wear hair groomed so as not to obstruct the view of others."

Another requirement is that "all students will wear shoes."

Others forbid the wearing of dark glasses in buildings unless medically prescribed and the wearing of "beach or sleepwear" in classes.

The code was adopted by the school board after considering the recommendations of two bicameral advisory committees.

How Texans Voted On Education Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the way Texas senators voted Tuesday when the Senate voted 77-16 to override President Nixon's veto of a $4.4 billion education appropriation bill.

Yarborough voted to override; Tower voted against overriding.

Indian Poses Big Mystery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Why a lone Indian stands in the company of nine Roman gods and goddesses at the Louisville Water Co.'s 110-year-old stand pipe is a mystery.

The monument recently was designated to become a National Historical Landmark.

The late Henry Gerber, long-time president of the company, said in 1954 that stories have persisted of an 1890 tornado that toppled many of the statues and badly smashed one.

He said the water company directors probably were too pinched to have another goddess carved, so they bought a cheap Indian statue from a local monument company.

The only evidence of another statue being on the pedestal is an old pretornado photograph that shows what seems to be a female figure with one hand gracefully raised overhead in a dancing or flower-distributing pose on the Indian's pedestal.

MUNITIONS SHIP IN WATERY GRAVE

No Signs Of Leaking Nerve Gas

ABOARD USS HARTLEY (AP) — "It was almost silent as it went down," the Navy reported after an old Liberty ship loaded with a deadly cargo of nerve gas was sent to an ocean grave at the bottom of the Atlantic.

"But when it hit, there was a thud and sounds like parts of the ship and lumber crushing or breaking up. There was a lot of noise and rocking for about two minutes until it settled."

The old LeBaron Russell Briggs was tracked on sonar as it went to the bottom Tuesday 283 miles east of the Florida coast.

WENT WELL

Navy Capt. A. G. Hamilton, in charge of the scuttling operation said it went very well. He commended the cooperation of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Air Force.

The Briggs, resurrected from mothballs for the job, plummeted 16,000 feet with 418 vaults of GB nerve gas in old rockets and crashed at 25 miles an hour in a deep trench where the Army has dumped obsolete munitions for years.

The Army has guaranteed that this is the last gas shipment that will be scuttled at sea. In the future officials said, chemical agents will be used for detoxification. Some conservationists and Florida Gov. Claude Kirk had fought the ocean disposal operation.

VIOLENT DESCENT
So violent was the descent and impact of the 446-foot Briggs that a major experiment to determine if any gas leaked was lost.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

SINKING NERVE GAS — The LeBaron Briggs, an aging Liberty ship with a cargo of 418 coffins of lethal nerve gas, goes to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday 283 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla. The United States Army disposed of the gas by sinking the Briggs in 16,000 feet of water.

dead, it might have indicated a gas leak.

Two hours later, the hulk squad opened seven flood valves by turning control wheels on deck.

Five rabbits were taken to the Mendota. The sixth was brought to the Hartley so newsmen could see that it was healthy.

The Briggs, a World War II freighter, settled slowly at first as tons of sea water poured into her cavernous holds. Four hours later, more than half the ship was below water, including the stern, which filled first.

The rusty, aged ship seemed to be struggling to stay afloat, but the intruding water was too much, and in a 30-second flurry of water geysers it disappeared beneath the waves. The stern went first and the final glimpse was the bow sinking at a 45-degree angle.

WHITE FOAM
An agitated circle of water filled with white foam marked the burial spot.

The two tugs, the Elizabeth Moran and the Port Jefferson, sounded shrill blasts as the Briggs plunged to her resting place, crashing on the mud and silt-filled bottom eight minutes later.

Lt. Ed Gibson, executive officer on the Hartley, tracked the ship on sonar and reported on its silent descent. He said, "It went almost straight down."

A Devotion For Today . . .

Walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us. (Ephesians 5:2)

PRAYER: Dear Father, teach us to be humble enough to want to forgive, to be faithful enough to hold true to Thy word, and to love enough to want to witness. Amen.

Overhaul In The Pentagon

A major overhaul of the Defense Department has been recommended by a special panel, headed by Gilbert W. Fitzhugh, chairman of the board of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

"The problems we found are not with people, it's with the organizational structure itself," Fitzhugh said. "Frankly, we think it is an impossible organization to administer. We are amazed it works at all. It's so big and cumbersome under the present organizational structure."

These are the key recommendations made by the panel:

Limit the Joint Chiefs of Staff to advising the president and to planning.

Set up an independent agency to check on industry-purchased weapons and services.

Eliminate a number of military commands and reorganize all of them.

Establish a weapons procurement system which focuses on developing prototypes prior to going into production.

The panel also recommended that the Department of Defense be split into three major groups, each under a deputy secretary of defense. One would have charge of the Army, Navy and Air Force departments, as well as research, engineering, manpower and reserve affairs and other defense resources. A second would control operations and be in charge of unified commands in the field. The third would be a deputy for evaluation who would take charge of program and force analysis, tests and evaluation, comptroller activities and a new defense test agency designed to give a new impartiality and over-all direction.

The first secretary of defense, James V. Forrestal, wore himself out trying to take control of the Pentagon. His successors fared little better. The only one really to change things in the Pentagon was Robert McNamara, though the present secretary, Melvin Laird, gives promise of showing a strong hand.

Tremendous waste is inevitable in a department divided by service rivalries and functions. The list is a long and dreary one, beginning with the B36 and continuing through the C5 and the F111.

Civilian supervision and control of the military services must be clear and distinct. The military can be presumed to be experts only in the conduct of warfare, not in matters of policy. The recommendations made by the panel provide a beginning, a blueprint for action.

'Strategy For Business In The Ghetto'

NEW YORK (AP) — Theodore Lamont Cross has had a rare and enviable experience. Called to Washington last December to devise a new program, he not only shaped it, but saw it accepted and funded, all in just six months.

Now the nonprofit Opportunity Funding Corp., having received an initial grant of $7.4 million, is embarked on studies aimed at attracting private capital to low-income areas.

It will seek to learn, for example, if existing institutions can be enticed, perhaps with government guarantees, to accept allegedly high risk investments in ghetto areas.

The story behind the corporation contains a lesson for all those people who casually dismiss the problems of minority groups as little more than an attitude of mind rather than formal discrimination.

Cross, 46, former editor of the Harvard Law Review and now editor and publisher of the Bankers Magazine, officer in a publishing company and treasurer of the Sheraton Corp. of America, has suffered a little discrimination.

For 15 years Cross had worked with Sheraton's developers, Ernest Henderson and Robert L. Moore. He had seen how they had parlayed a $25,000 investment during the 1930s into a half-billion dollar empire.

"They did it all with other people's money," said Cross. "They were masters of leverage."

Cross already had been applying some of his time to problems of the Negro community. Although Negroes made up 11 per cent of the population, he learned, they controlled only one per cent of the nation's capital.

In the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, for example, there are only two small banking units, although the population exceeds that of the city of Cincinnati, Ohio. The establishment didn't lend to Negroes. They were unable to obtain bonds, insurance, loans. For them, leveraging was impossible.

The explanations sounded good enough. Casualty insurers said ghetto businesses were overly risky. Life insurers said Negro mortality was too high. Bankers thought of them as poor businessmen.

"Too much talent was being frustrated by the establishment," Cross felt. "I just wonder," he said this week, "was there a black Edwin Land lost to us in this manner?" Land invented the Polaroid camera.

Cross' thoughts eventually became a highly praised book, "Black Capitalism," subtitled "Strategy for Business in the Ghetto."

It's thesis is this: "We need a national scheme to make it possible for insurers, bonders, leasing companies, life and fire insurers and banks to do business in the black community. It should be a national vehicle."

Cross dismissed the notion that new institutions were needed and that the solution should be through handouts. The existing system, however, should be changed so as to serve rather than oppress.

Last December, Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, called Cross to Washington and asked him to put his ideas into a program, and that's how Opportunity Funding Corp. was formed.

Love Those Memories

NEW YORK (AP) — If you had a million memories and could sell them for a dollar each, you'd be a millionaire.

But who would part with a wonderful memory for a measly dollar bill? Good memories are priceless—and, anyway, it is more fun to share them than try to put them on the auction block.

Perhaps you don't have a million memories yet. But you've got a pretty good stock if you can look back and remember when—

Bluebirds were so plentiful you could see one almost every day in summer.

A good cook would rather hear her pies or preserves praised than her character. After all, nobody would dare say a word against her character.

There was some perturbation throughout the country when word got around that one of President Woodrow Wilson's favorite sports was tennis. Tennis? Wasn't that a game played between sissies and young ladies?

The old-fashioned icebox had room for only about a fifth of the goodies a modern refrigerator or freezer holds.

Bedbugs were so common in poor neighborhoods that it wasn't so much a question of whether but when a household would be infested by them.

A girl didn't know whether to be pleased or insulted if you told her she looked like Theda Bara, the famous movie vamp.

We were all so young and innocent that a fellow could become the life of a cocktail party simply by putting a lampshade on his head.

Adolf Hitler was painting landscapes—before he learned the art of destroying them.

People were still so friendly that if you got an attack of hiccups on a street car at least 10 strangers among the passengers would volunteer a helpful suggestion on the best way to cure them.

Airplanes were so much of a novelty that lots of folks rode out to the airport every Sunday in hopes of seeing one fall.

Grandma laid down the law to grandpa by informing him that he could either keep his beard or go on chewing tobacco—but he couldn't do both.

You could keep a pet dog from birth until death and never spend more than $2 cash on it for a collar with a brass nameplate.

Every telegram had ten words, and the tenth word always was "love."

Those were the days—remember?

To Your Good Health

A Letter From A Tormented Man

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Sir: After 10 months of pleading with my wife, she finally went to see a doctor about a tumor in her breast. It was malignant and the breast was removed, but the doctor felt that she was so cleared of malignancy that no extra cobalt treatment was necessary.

Now a year has gone by and she has passed her tests with flying colors. Yet her family keeps reproaching me for not taking her to the doctor sooner, and they are sure that she is going to have a recurrence as they have heard of similar cases of this.

Now, doctor, please, for my peace of mind, if she should have a recurrence, as seems to happen in most of these cases, could it be the consequence of my weak behavior? Please answer a tormented man.

C.M.
This may not be strictly a medical problem, but it is one that physicians encounter — and more often families encounter.

When malignancy (cancer) develops, the sooner it is removed, the better. It must be removed before it has metastasized (spread into other tissues).

Your wife, as she herself surely now realizes, should have gone to the doctor at once instead of wasting 10 months while you urged her to go. But what were you expected to do — twist her arm?

Apparently she still got there in time, and it is a good omen that after a year there is no sign of recurrence. However, to be on the safe side, doctors want to wait five years before saying that cancer has been cured.

Why your wife's family is heaping such criticism upon you, I can't say. Some people seem to be natural-born blamers. Another possibility is that, in reality, they may feel some guilt for not having tried to help get her to the doctor sooner. Perhaps at heart they know that she should not have waited but are trying to shift the responsibility from her to you. These psychological quirks are quite possible. But the biggest question of all is this: what possible good can this reproaching do? A truly healthy mental attitude is to accept things the way they are, not to waste effort, energy and emotions on what might have been.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My teenager, near 16, is very healthy and active, but she will have a normal period, then miss two or three months. I worry about this, but should I? Mrs. B.C.
It's not at all uncommon at her age, so I wouldn't worry about it.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy of the booklet write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

Suggestions For A Column

Once in a while one of my all-too-few readers will suggest a topic for a Rim. Jacob Unger has noticed people are always saying "you know what I mean."

THEY START to explain something, or relate a simple incident, and much as if using punctuation they will intersperse "you know what I mean." Sometime they really don't know what they mean, so they get around it by saying "you know what I mean."

Well, if "you know what I mean," what's the point of your telling me? Huh? Could be when we are tempted to use this phrase, most of us ought to back up and clearly think out what it really is we want to say.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION, which won't make a column but which ought to be passed on and remembered, comes from Helen Hurt. Why not tell people to date clippings? She asks. Indeed, why not?

If you have ever scurried around and finally thought you had pinned down a date, either for the date's sake or to help you find more detailed information, and then discover that the nearest thing to a date is Tuesday, yesterday or some equally indefinite word.

THIS ISN'T JUST a matter for clippings of newspapers and magazines. Each of us saves items bits of personal data, etc., and just a moment to jot down the date would pay big dividends down the road.

Where most of us fall down is in the matter of identifying photographs. We forget that our memories are not perfect and that we won't be around always. Here again, what a wonderful thing it would be if we only had the presence of mind to jot down the date of a picture, the location, and the identification from left to right. (By the way, you just might devote an evening to hauling out all those old pictures and doing the best job of identification that you still are able to do at this late date.)

SOMEONE else suggested "why don't you say what a fine job has been done on fixing up Mount Olive Cemetery?" For years this was the city's only burial place, and for the most part it looked bleaker than death itself. A few families struggled to keep their plots green or clean. Here and there some gave up and resorted to stone coverings, and in one section a few conch shells were used to decorate a mound.

ALL THAT'S changed now since the city took over the cemetery (thanks to the efforts of Judge Lee Porter and some others) and converted it to a perpetual care. Today, this and Trinity Memorial Park, south of town, are kept neat and mowed, and present a picture of rest and, in the words of the Psalmist, "green pastures" to lie down in. We can be thankful for these.

Watts Riots

Five Years Later, About The Same

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Feature Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five years ago thousands of blacks vented fury against a host of frustrations in the massive Watts riots. Now the people of the area say little has changed.

An investigative committee made many recommendations. There were scores of government, private and self-help projects — many of them short-lived.

In some areas there has been genuine progress. A new hospital is being built, there are more black-owned businesses and police-community relations efforts have been intensified. But successes haven't been dramatic or eye-catching.

IN APPEARANCE, the city's south-central district is five years shabbier, except for scattered apartment-commercial construction. And among the people, the same old frustrations are cited.

The riots that began five years ago next Tuesday lasted six days, cost 34 lives and $40 million in property damage. A governor's commission said that during the worst three days 10,000 Negroes took to the streets, looting, beating whites, overturning and burning cars, shooting at police and firemen.

"Nobody gave a damn," a 21-year-old Negro recalls. "They felt they were getting back for all the bad things done to them for so long."

SAYS CITY Councilman Thomas Bradley, a Negro: "With the right ingredients Watts will explode into another disruption. The people in Watts feel people outside the ghetto don't give a damn about them."

"People in Watts aren't bubbling over with enthusiasm and optimism, but I doubt there'll be another 1965," says John Mack, Urban League director. "The blacks know they're the ones who got shot; that it's their homes that got burned down. However, this doesn't mean there won't be trouble."

The governor's commission blamed the riots on, among other things, unemployment, inadequate schooling for disadvantaged children, hatred of police, poor public transportation, consumer exploitation and inferior housing.

THE RIOTS — with their 1,032 injured, 3,952 arrests and more than 600 buildings set afire or looted—involved only about 2 per cent of the city's Negro population. They erupted across 46.5 square miles of south Los Angeles but took their name from the core, Watts.

Today the congested ghetto heart, named for a man who operated a livery business there in the 1880s, looks peaceful in the summer sun.

Along the main street old men gossip from upturned soft-drink crates. Younger ones play cards or drink wine beneath the so-called "freedom tree," a shady maple where, some say, the 1965 holocaust was first discussed.

Workers erected colorful booths in Will Rogers Park for the Watts Summer Festival now under way. Since the riots it has been an annual event, with beauty contest, rodeo, carnival rides, art displays, films, and other programs to show "the pride of a people."

THE FESTIVAL drew crowds of fewer than 500 persons during the early days, despite the appearance of Mayor Sam Yorty and other officials.

The Watts Writers Theater, an outgrowth of novelist Budd Schulberg's post-riot workshop for aspiring writers — advises director Harry Dolan's latest play, "The Iron Hand of Nat Turner," a festival event.

But residents say underneath nothing much really has changed.

Man Looking For Trouble

WASHINGTON — A Philadelphia lawyer named Miles W. Kirkpatrick apparently wants to live dangerously. He is seeking confirmation by the Senate Commerce Committee of his nomination by President Nixon to be chairman of a governmental mess known as the Federal Trade Commission.

"Miles has rocks in his head," said an old friend. "He's asking for a job where the chances are 10 to 1 he'll wind up being called a bum by practically everybody who does business with the FTC."

KIRKPATRICK didn't want the job, and turned it down when it was offered by White House staffers last month. But the President twisted his arm, and Kirkpatrick capitulated only a few hours before Nixon, undoubtedly with a sigh of relief, announced his nomination. "The boss," said a White House aide, "didn't want to let this one get away. He's convinced Kirkpatrick is the only guy who can whip that agency into shape."

HE'LL NEED lots of luck, and could use some divine guidance. The FTC couldn't have picked a worse time to fall apart. ("Morale among the staff is the lowest in history," says one agency veteran.) For this is at once the Age of the Consumer and The Shoddy Age. The quality of goods and services is mostly lousy, and the consumer finally is getting some support from assorted politicians in his outraged and piteous campaign for relief from the legal crooks who are robbing him blind.

FORTUNATELY, Kirkpatrick has something good going for him. He was chairman of the American Bar Association's 1969 study of the FTC that recommended the agency be abolished if it could not be reformed. He has, friends say, every intention of taking the agency apart and putting it together in a form that makes sense to those it was intended to protect.

FOR EXAMPLE, Kirkpatrick has told friends he will push for implementation of the ABA study's recommendation that the commission emphasize prohibition and prosecution of frauds against consumers on the retail level. He is particularly determined to give more attention to the thieving that victimizes the poor and low-income consumers. This is the bloc that can't afford legal fees to fight fraud, and the FTC originally was intended to fill the role of the poor's friend in court.

SOME CRITICS of the Kirkpatrick report have claimed that emphasis on prosecution at the retail level would strike unfairly at local merchants and service companies, while bypassing sinners in the giant corporations. But Kirkpatrick's position is said to be that by attacking the problem at the retail level the FTC simultaneously would be uncovering shoddy products and misleading warranties peddled by the big corporations.

Apparently, after his initial reluctance, Miles Kirkpatrick is a man actually looking for trouble and afraid of the consequences of finding it.

Troubled Namath Is Far From Optimistic

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The young boy jammed a yearbook and a felt pen into Joe Namath's hand, and over his autograph, the New York Jets' quarterback wrote one word: "Peace."

Nothing may be more symbolic of Joe Namath's plight—for peace is something Joe Namath wishes he had.

Joe Namath has long hair, earthy good looks and a $100,000-a-year contract. Joe Namath has a brown Jaguar to bring him to practice. Joe Namath has the idolatry of countless fans of both sexes and all ages.

But Joe Namath does not have peace.

And Joe Namath said as much Tuesday as he rejoined the Jets, bringing with him not only his admitted talent for completing a pass but all the problems that have plagued him during this summer of his greatest unhappiness.

Group Hopeful For Title Go

ATLANTA (AP) — A group hoping to promote a heavyweight championship fight between Cassius Clay and Joe Frazier in Atlanta Oct. 26 planned to meet today in Philadelphia with Frazier's representatives, who still say they know nothing about the fight.

"My associate, Jesse Hill, and I are going up there to talk with Joe Frazier's people," State Sen. Leroy Johnson of the promoting group House of Sports Inc., said Tuesday.

"We are going to lend what helping hand we can in getting the contract signed," Johnson said. "We are hopeful of cementing all the plans for the fight here."

The manager of world heavyweight champion Frazier, Yank Durham, has said he has had no communication from anyone on a proposed Atlanta fight.

"I haven't received anything in the mail and I am not interested in a fight with Clay," the Atlanta Constitution quoted Durham as saying. "I would not fight Clay on Oct. 26 or any other time until I have fulfilled my verbal agreement with (light heavyweight champion) Bob Foster."

The fight, licensed by the city, has stirred considerable controversy because of Clay's conviction for draft evasion.

Gov. Lester Maddox, who first said he approved of the fight, changed his stand after his original remarks came under criticism from political candidates. Maddox, barred by law from succeeding himself, is running for lieutenant governor in the September Democratic primary.

In a statement released Tuesday, Maddox said, "If Clay is ready to publicly proclaim his readiness to fight for his country, then now is the time for him to be heard. Until he does this, or the conviction against him is removed, the City of Atlanta should not permit the proposed fight."

The governor has no direct power over the fight since local ordinances regulate such exhibitions. Mayor Sam Massell has declined to take sides, saying that whether or not the fight can be staged is a legal matter.

New Horseman's Club Is Taking Shape In Area

Several organizational meetings of a new horseman's group have been recently held in Midland.

The West Texas Horsemen's Association has been chartered by the state of Texas for the purpose of providing adequate facilities, broad organizational support and pleasant social surroundings for the staging of shows and competitions by West Texas horsemen's clubs.

Officers of the new association are Keith Somerville, president; Connie Mack Hood, vice president; Barbara McGruder, secretary; F. P. Tompkins, assistant secretary; Roy Minear, treasurer.

Directors in addition to officers are Willie B. Wilson, Robert B. Holt, John Wood, Buster Cole and Ed McGruder. A board of governors will be formed of area horsemen who will lend their knowledge and support but do not have the time to devote as officers. The Midland polo grounds and surrounding areas will be the site for the events, held under the sponsorship of the association. Construction of new facilities to accommodate arena events is scheduled to begin soon.

The outdoor arena will be of a size that will permit it to be used for indoor polo. In making the announcement of the formation of the new organization Somerville said: "It is our aim to bring together all types of West Texas horsemen and their breeds of

Not necessarily in order of importance, the problems are:

—Trouble with his knees that apparently present, at least in his own mind, enough problems to make him say: "I don't think I can play."

—Mental problems, possibly stemming from his knees but compounded by other factors, that prevent him from eating a meal or drinking a cup of coffee before a game and make him "wonder if it's worth it."

—"A business problem," defined only in those terms and a problem about which he would not elaborate.

Namath talked about all those problems in an unusual scene that took place outside the back door of the Jets' training room on the Hofstra University campus where Namath spoke to radio and television people with newspapermen barred.

On his arrival at camp, wearing striped bell bottoms with a blue shirt open at the neck, Namath had refused to talk to newspaper people because "Everything that's been written about me is a lie."

He began by explaining his absence, pointing out: "I was not in the right frame of mind mentally."

Then he talked about the final game of the 1969 season, a 13-6 playoff loss to Kansas City that eliminated the Jets from contention in the American Football League.

BAD EXPERIENCE
"That was a horrible experience — being humiliated like I felt we were because we scored six points," Namath explained. "It leaves a bad taste. I didn't know whether I wanted to do that again."

"I didn't know if I wanted to get up in the morning and be sick. Every time before a game, I can't even eat or drink a cup of coffee. I didn't like that feeling. You get chills in the morning and your stomach is upset. You wonder if it's worth it."

Have those kind of problems been getting worse in recent years?

"Physically and mentally it's gotten worse," he answered. "I used to look at the game differently. It used to be my whole life. It used to be everything I lived for. Logically, and realistically, it's not now."

"It is when I'm on the football field with the team—but I've got a lot of things I have to do other than football."

And physically?

"I don't think I can play," he said. "I'm going to find out in the next couple or three weeks."

Then he talked about relations with linebacker Al Atkinson, who had criticized Namath's lifestyle and pointed out: "I respect Al's opinion. Maybe I should have done some things differently in the past. I don't know."

Carbo Blunder Costs Cincy 7-4 Decision

By The Associated Press

Riverfront Stadium was three-deep in Montreal catchers — but the Cincinnati Reds were the ones who needed more big gloves.

The injury-riddled Expos, using three catchers in their starting lineup, capitalized on four Cincinnati errors to score five unearned runs Tuesday night and hung on for a 7-4 victory that ended the Reds' winning string at three games.

Rookie left fielder Bernie Carbo committed the most damaging miscue when he muffed Coco Laboy's bases-loaded liner in the fifth inning, allowing three Montreal runs to score.

Expos Manager Gene Mauch started John Bateman behind the plate and part-time receivers Ron Brand and John Boccabella at shortstop and first base respectively.

ERRORS HURT

Each contributed one hit, but it was the Reds' fielding lapses — by Carbo, third baseman Tony Perez, second baseman Tommy Helms and relief pitcher Wayne Granger — that made the difference.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh whipped San Francisco 6-2; the New York Mets slapped Houston 7-1; Atlanta nipped Philadelphia 3-2; Los Angeles beat St. Louis 7-2 and San Diego upended the Chicago Cubs 11-3.

Brand scored a tainted run in the second inning at Cincinnati, reaching first on Helms' error and scoring on Perez' wild throw. After Adolfo Phillips doubled home a run in the fifth against first-time starter Mel Behney, Carbo flubbed Laboy's two-out shot to give Expos' right-hander Steve Renko a 5-0 lead.

Renko then got into the juggling act, committing a pair of errors in the bottom of the fifth to help the Reds strike back for four runs. Another error, by Boccabella, and Bobby Tolan's two-run double kept the rally alive.

But Gary Sutherland doubled home a Montreal run in the sixth, then singled in the eighth and eventually scored the final marker on Granger's boot.

BUCS ON MOVE

The Pirates retained their 2½-game lead in the East Division by snapping a four-game San Francisco victory streak as Bob Robertson delivered three runs with a triple and his 19th homer. Steve Blass pitched seven strong innings for Pittsburgh and picked up his first triumph since July 4.

Gary Gentry, backed by a six-run Met explosion in the third, fired a four-hitter against Houston. Gentry also drilled a run-scoring double in the third as the Mets kayoed Larry Dierker with five straight hits before he could get a man out.

Cup Play May End This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Because of the possibility tennis' pros would compete, this may be the last year of the Davis Cup.

Dwight F. "Pete" Davis, Jr., whose father first donated the cup for amateur competition in 1900, said he would retire it after this year if contract pros are allowed to participate.

Davis' remarks were made in an interview with Murray Janoff in Tuesday's Long Island Press.

Davis said he has been approached by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association officials, trying to feel him out about allowing contract pros to compete for the cup.

"When my father donated the cup, there was a spirit of competition he was seeking," said Davis. "It was a spirit for nations to compete with each other and at least every other year to bring out the players and spread the game to all countries."

"But if the pros are allowed to participate, which country could get into the challenge round besides the U.S. and Australia? No other country has the contract pros capable of winning. "I can't see the acceptance of pros in this. It would definitely kill the spirit of the cup as it was given."

Detroit Will Make Waves On Defense

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions are "the most enthusiastic I've seen them since the championship days," claims general manager Russ Thomas. Enthusiasm may not be a guide to predicting the future, but this year's Lions have much more to appear strong candidates to capture the Central Division title of the National Football League.

A year ago that would have been a laughingly bold prediction, for in 1968 Detroit was last in the division with a 4-8-2 record. Last season the team's 9-4-1 mark was the fifth best in the 16-team NFL and the Lions finished second in their division behind powerful league champs Minnesota.

ONLY ONE BETTER
As it has been so many times in the past, defense is the key to the Lions' game. Only Minnesota and AFL-Super Bowl champion Kansas City allowed fewer points.

But only two teams in the NFL scored fewer points than Detroit.

"We're going to win, there's no question about it. We're to have a winning season," grinned coach Joe Schmidt without falling into the trap of predicting a championship.

Schmidt is in the fourth year of a five-year contract and during the first three seasons he has developed the team with numerous rookies. Many of them have come along fantastically and this year may show the fruit of the buildup.

Only eight of the 26 regulars or near-regulars are 30 or older. Most are about 24.

The defense front four and linebackers are the oldest group. It is comprised of ends Joe Robb (33) and Larry Hand (30); tackles Jerry Rush (27) and Alex Karras (35); plus linebackers Paul Naumoff (25), Mike Lucci (30), and Wayne Walker (32).

Grid Tickets Should Be Renewed By Week's End

Persons planning to watch Big Spring High School home football games who want the same seat locations they had last year have the remainder of this week to exercise their options.

The tickets, good for five games, sell for $10 each. The district executive committee, rather than each individual school, sets the price schedule.

By Tuesday, in response to letters of inquiry sent out by Don Green of the School Business Office, 330 had asked for seat renewals.

A total of 1,016 season tickets were distributed here last year.

The tickets unsold will be made available on a "first come, first serve" basis next Monday.

Big Spring opens its home season Sept. 18, at which time it opposes Ysleta Bel Air.

The Longhorns also meet Abilene High Oct. 2, Midland High Oct. 9, Midland Le Oct. 23 and San Angelo Nov. 13, all in the local park.

Road games will be against Lubbock Monterey, Snyder, Permian, Abilene Cooper and Odessa High.

Moody Is Winner

OKLAHOMA City (AP) — Orville Moody of Oklahoma City won the pro half of the American Pro-Youth Golf Tourney Tuesday. Steve Scrafford of Edinboro, Pa. took the junior top prize. Moody had a 36-hole total of 140, Scrafford a 151.

Shortage Of Hits No Deterrent To O's

By The Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins know what a slump is all about and now Earl Weaver of Baltimore claims his club is in one.

There's one big difference, though. While the Twins recently dropped nine straight games, the high-flying Orioles continue to win.

Tuesday night, the Twins came up with some ninth inning heroics, getting a clutch two-run single off the bat of pinch-hitter Jim Holt to nip the New York Yankees 8-7, giving Minnesota its second straight win after their near-disastrous skid.

And the Orioles, now leading the Yanks by 10 games in the American League East, downed Milwaukee 3-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Jim Hardin and the hitting and fielding of Merv Rettenmund.

WON LAST FOUR

"We're on a winning streak during a slump," said Weaver, the skipper of the Orioles. "We haven't been hitting the ball at all lately, but we've won our last four."

It was also Baltimore's seventh triumph in their last nine starts. However, what Weaver says might be true. The hard-hitting Birds only stroked three hits off Brewers' loser Marty Pattin. But one of them was Rettenmund's 15th homer of the season, a solo clout in the fourth inning. The center fielder also saved Hardin's shutout with two catches in the fourth, grabbing a sinking drive by Mike Walton and going to the fence for Mike Hegan's belt.

In other games, California stayed on the Twins' heels, 4½ games behind the West leaders, with a 12-1 trouncing of Cleveland. Detroit whipped Oakland 3-1, Boston clubbed Chicago 8-4 and Kansas City ripped Washington 12-8.

Holt's soft liner to center off reliever Lindy McDaniel, snapped the Yankee's winning string at four games.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

No wonder Rusty Staub resisted the proposal to return him to the Houston Astros from Montreal last year, after Donn Clendenin refused to report to Houston.

Only the New York Mets' Tom Seaver does better in endorsements than Rusty.

Way back in 1927, Redman Hume scored 109 points to set an SMU football scoring record that still stands.

He wasn't top man in the Southwest Conference that year, however. Joe Hunt of A&M led with 128.

Parents who prefer not to have a knee injury in their family should take their sons away from the television set and put them on bicycles. So says a medical authority.

"Although athletes are bigger and faster than they've ever been before," Dr. Fred L. Allman told a group in San Francisco recently, "they are less equipped to play a game like football (which has more knee injuries than other sports). Youngsters used to walk and ride bicycles all the time; now they ride in automobiles and watch TV. This doesn't do much to make them fit for football."

Dr. Jack C. Hughton, who was attending the same conclave, said that most injuries which result from lack of conditioning come on the high school level.

"Pro and college athletes have been exposed to sports for some time," he explains, "but high school athletes are often new to the team and haven't been through prior conditioning."

Texan George Foreman's recent ring victory over George Chuvalo went into the books as a knockout. In reality, he didn't even knock Chuvalo down. George simply couldn't continue.

In case you've wondered what ex-San Angeloan Emory Bellard's coaching assignment at the University of Texas is, he tutors the offensive backs.

Oldest individual mark in the Texas Tech football record book is held by Estill Carnes. He returned a punt 90 yards against New Mexico in 1932.

Larry Alford came within six yards of the record in 1968 when he went 84 yards against Texas for a TD.

The Odessa school system improved Ector's chances to field a winner by (1) naming Prentis Williams as head coach and (2) getting the school moved back to Class AAA — not necessarily in that order.

Williams faces problems he never knew he had when he was head man at Lubbock Dunbar but if anyone can unravel the Gordian knot created at Ector over the years, perhaps Williams can.

There's a hostility evident among some of the Ector students and so-called friends of the schools that is downright eerie at times.

Some of the mentors the school has had in recent years have beaten their heads against a wall in frustration.

The Ector athletes are talented but most unpredictable. Williams isn't sure whether his race will help him communicate better with Ector athletes than the previous coaches. It certainly can't hurt.

Game officials are especially hopeful Williams can bring order out of chaos. Some who have worked games there have come away feeling it wasn't worth the effort and the risk. They've had rocks thrown at them, been threatened and had their automobiles vandalized.

Dave Stockton Joins Golf's Who's Who

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Ex-hubert Dave Stockton makes his first start as the new PGA champion Thursday as one of the favorites in the $100,000 Avco Golf Classic.

Stockton, who held off Arnold Palmer in last week's PGA Championship to move, from the "who's he" class to membership in golf's who's who, has a precedent for being named the favorite.

He won the Cleveland and Milwaukee titles in consecutive appearances in 1968, his last previous victories before the PGA triumph.

The new champ will be making one of his last appearances. He said he planned to play only three more weeks, plus representing the United States in the World Cup competition in Argentina, before packing it in for the year.

Some other top candidates for the $32,000 first prize include multiple winners Billy Casper, Lee Trevino, Bruce Devlin and Dick Lotz.

The tournament and the long, hilly Pleasant Valley Country Club course offer particular challenges to Casper, the Masters Champion and the only three-time winner of the season.

He missed the cut for the final two rounds in this event last year, breaking a string of more than five years in which he had gone all the way in every start.

Trevino snapped a mild slump when he fired a brilliant, course record-matching 65 in the final round last week.

Split Campus Rule Remains In Effect

AUSTIN (AP) — There has been no official move to change a schoolboy rule which prevents a single high school with a split

Athletic Director, Bailey Marshall discussed the situation at Marshall, where the 9th and 10th grades will be on one campus and the 11th and 12th grades on another in meeting federal integration requirements.

Marshall said he knows of no other city which has the same setup.

He said the league has a "composite rule which states that a school cannot have a varsity squad with a combination of two campuses." He said the policy had been discussed but no recommendation had been made to change it because of "possible ills" resulting from eliminating the rule.

For example, he said, a school could have 2,000 pupils in each grade, freshman through senior, and the school "could draw on 8,000 pupils for the varsity squad."

CHILDREN GET BREAK Ducats Available At Door Thursday

Those who haven't received their Quarterback Club membership tickets through the mail shouldn't feel slighted.

They can pick them up when they pass through the gate at the Thursday evening barbecue in the Comanche Trail Park in the amphitheatre honoring members of the Big Spring Steers and their coaches. The meal will be served at 7 p.m.

The membership ducats, good for a man and his wife, sell for $5 and will admit such a couple to the barbecue. Each child in the family can gain admission for 50 cents. Food at that price is a bargain, since it's estimated each plate will cost the booster club 85 cents, at the minimum.

All coaches in the organization, and there are a lot of new ones, will be introduced as will players.

Chief speaker of the evening will be Grant Teaff, head coach at Angelo State University, who made a big impression in a speaking engagement here last year.

The barbecue is being held

Cowboys Hurting As Game Nears

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys will be hurting at tight end Saturday night when they play Green Bay in the Cotton Bowl in a National Football League pre-season game.

Pettis Norman is out with a strained groin muscle. Mike Ditka, who shared tight end duties with Norman last year, has a pulled hamstring muscle.

Coach Tom Landry said he will use either Ken Bailey or offensive tackle Rayfield Wright at the position if Ditka can't play. Wright has some experience at the post.

PROpane CAR CHECKED FOR CROSS COUNTRY RACE — Technician Richard Vanderberg makes last-minute check on Stanford University propane gas-powered entry in Clean Car Cross Country Race that starts in Cambridge next Monday. Near 50 colleges and high schools have entries in the low pollution vehicle race from Cambridge to Pasadena, Calif.

Husky Laborer Charged In Mutilation Murder

HOUSTON (AP) — Police accused a 300-pound laborer of murder Tuesday in the mutilation death of a woman whose nude, hacked-up body was found in a room at the plush Rice Hotel.

Bill Zarsky, 35, was charged before Justice of the Peace Richard Millard who ordered him held without bond.

Officers said he told them he saw the body of Dorothy Vinzant but he didn't kill her.

The body of Mrs. Vinzant, 35, a mother of six, was found Monday morning by a maid who entered with a pass key to clean the room.

Police arrested Zarsky at another hotel Tuesday after receiving a tip.

Officials at the Rice Hotel identified the laborer as a guest who checked into the Rice Friday.

Zarsky was quoted as saying he returned to his room Friday night with Mrs. Vinzant after meeting her on a downtown street. Officers said he told them she became ill Sunday night and he roamed the streets for three or four hours looking for a drug store.

Police gave these details: Zarsky said he returned and found Mrs. Vinzant slumped nude in the bathroom.

"I looked at her. Her lips were blue," he said. "I ran scared like anyone would do."

Mrs. Vinzant was identified through a telephone number in her purse.

An autopsy indicated she died of a broken neck. Her body was also slashed.

Officers found a bloody sheet, a razor blade, scissors and a pocket knife at Zarsky's hotel room.

A guest in a room near where the body was found reported hearing a scream and a thump about 10:15 p.m. Sunday. An autopsy indicated this was about the time the woman died.

Mrs. Vinzant reportedly was visiting friends in Houston. She was recently dismissed from a Mississippi hospital where she had spent months recovering from an automobile accident.

Sex Flexibly

NEW YORK (AP) — Ruth Lerner, councilwoman-at-large who coauthored the new city law barring sex discrimination in public places, says it must be interpreted flexibly. It's okay, she said, if women want women-only hotels and men want men-only steam baths.

U.S. Slated To Reassure Israel Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was expected today to publicly reassure Israel that it will not permit the military balance of power to shift during the Mideast ceasefire.

State Department officials said they hoped to issue a statement dealing with Israeli charges the Egyptians violated the ceasefire by strengthening anti-aircraft missile defenses along the Suez Canal.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has stated the United States does not have incontrovertible proof that Egyptians have been bolstering their missile buildups.

The United States has used both high-altitude U2 reconnaissance planes and spy-in-space satellites to watch for Egyptian or Israeli truce violations in the Suez Canal area, government sources say.

But whatever its far-seeing cameras have detected, the United States is considered likely to play down any alleged violations of the ceasefire and urge the Israelis and Egyptians to begin peace talks.

U.S. officials say they have been studying Israeli complaints on the basis of independent intelligence reports and information supplied by the Israelis.

Israeli ambassador Yitzhak Rabin met Tuesday with Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco before returning home for a vacation.

Sisco was reported to have given Rabin the gist of the proposed U.S. statement.

The State Department spokesman acknowledged Tuesday the United States was conducting "high-level reconnaissance flights to verify the situation and the observance of the standstill" in the area where the Israelis and Egyptians face each other.

Press Officer Robert McCloskey refused to go into detail about the flights which he said are being conducted with the knowledge of the Egyptian government.

McCloskey did not mention space satellites in his announcement.

But Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird hinted at the use of satellites last Sunday when he said "we have the best kind of intelligence techniques developed so that we can verify any movements" in the Middle East ceasefire sector.

No Political Significance

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Gov. Frank Farrar of South Dakota edged North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy by one stroke Monday with a 46-over-par 118 at the Governor's Cup golf match at the Fargo Country Club.

Both governors were beaten by hand leader Lawrence Welk, 67, a native of Strasburg, N.D., who shot an 89 in the annual amateur event.

Farrar, a Republican, displayed a slice while Guy, a Democrat, hit to the left. After a brief debate, both concluded their drives had no political significance.

Protest Rally

HOUSTON (AP) — A rally protesting pollution of the San Jacinto River was scheduled here today, sponsored by the Rio Villa and Banana Bend civic clubs.

Speakers included Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., and officials from the State Parks and Wildlife Department and the Harris County pollution control office.

West opened the king of spades and continued with the second trick with the six of hearts. Declarer began drawing trump by cashing the ace and then leading the ten of hearts. When West covered with the jack, he was permitted to hold the trick. East showed out discarding a spade.

A spade was returned forcing declarer to use up his remaining trump—the seven. South abandoned hearts temporarily and switched his attention to the side suits. The king, queen and ace of

Dump Denounced

HOUSTON (AP) — A proposal to establish a garbage dump in Northeast Harris County was denounced Tuesday by a State Health Department official, who said it would be too close to a public water supply system.

Jimmy Dickens of the health department said the dump would be less than 500 feet from five water wells supplying about 31 families. He said the law provides a dump must be at least 500 feet from public water supplies.
