WARNS HE WOULD CARRY WAR TO U.S. AND ITS 'LACKEYS' IF CUBA INVADED

Castro Raps 'The Criminals In Power'

MIAMI (AP) - Cuban Premier Fidel Castro says a reported suggestion that the United States fake an attack on its big Navy base at Guantanamo Bay as a pretext for invading Cuba was an attempt to "give moral foundations to criminal aggres-

In a television-radio speech to the Cuban people Sunday night, Castro said news accounts in the United States attributed the suggestion to Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., during a conversation with former President John F. Kennedy.

ASSASSINATION Castro also blasted "the criminals in power in the United States" after saying reports indicated Smathers also talked with Kennedy about the possibility of assassinating the Cuban

The New York Times reported Smathers discussed the conversations with Kennedy in transcripts turned over to the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library at Harvard.

The ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion by Cuban exiles in 1961 was attempted after the reported Smathers - Kennedy conversa-

Castro also reaffirmed his ties with the Soviet Union and warned he would carry the war to the United States and its "lackeys" if Cuba were invad-

'ARE UNTOUCHABLE' Castro asserted he had no interest in improving relations with the United States and that his economic and military ties with Russia "are untouchable."

Castro's warning was seen as a reply to renewed talk of a Cuban invasion by the end of the year. A recently organized exile movement in Miami has launched a worldwide fund raising drive "to finance the war."

The prime minister, speaking in Havana at the 10th anniversary ceremony commemorating the founding of the Cuban Women's Federation, revealed that top Communist party members from throughout the island had just spent three days analyzing the country's economic failures. He said new efforts would be made in mechanizing sugar production and the mining of nickel and other minerals would receive new emphasis. Millions of dollars could be earned by exporting nickel Castro said, but its production would require enormous investments which can only be earned from sugar sales.

The premier accused his enemies of misinterpreting the problems of his regime. Any criticisms he has made in the past about economic deficiencies have been made because of the strength of the Cuban revolution, not because of its weakness, he said.

"When we speak of discontent, we speak of discontent within the revolution, not against the revolution," he declared to thunderous applause. "We do this to improve the revolution, not to destroy the revo-

In his last speech, Castro roundly criticized economic failures and indicated changes would be made. Several top officials have been replaced and the Communist party's threeday analysis of the problems indicates more radical changes may be forthcoming.

Aid To Texas 'Poor' Facing Giant Slash

AUSTIN (AP) - Benefits to the Texas poor will have to be cut unless voters remove the $80 million annual welfare ceiling next year, state Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney said

Hackney appeared before budget examiners for the governor's office and the Legislative Budget Board.

His department's budget request for the next two fiscal years totals $2.1 billion, counting federal money which pays for most of it. The compares with less than $1 billion currently.

Pointing to the present ceiling on state tax spending for welfare, Hackney said it would not be large enough to sustain current benefits in some programs if rolls continue to rise.

He said current appropriations for aid to the blind and old age assistance would be adequate. But the rolls for aid to the disabled and aid to families with dependent children are growing

Hackney urged that the legislature submit to the voters a constitutional amendment removing the $80 million ceiling.

"Unless the ceiling is removed the department will have no alternative to reducing the level of assistance payments in one or more of the categorical programs," he said.

Aid to families with dependent children has increased, he said, at an average of 2.500 families each month since last Septem-

Between 80 and 90 Southern districts, acting under court orders or voluntary agreements, open their doors today under plans which, for the first time in a century, eliminate dual systems for blacks and whites.

The administration last week said with 566 districts scheduled to desegregate this fall, more than 94 per cent of the school systems in the South would be in compliance with the Supreme Court's 1954 edict that separate schools are contrary to the law of the land.

In Austin, U.S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts instructed lawyers for the Justice Department and school districts in Austin, LaVega, Calvert, Hearne and Temple to sit down again today and discuss desegregation plans. THE TIME HAS COME

'It is incumbent on all of us to bow to the declared law as we know it and conduct our school systems accordingly," Roberts said.

"It is incumbent on all school districts to do all that is possible to effect integration without delay, immediately, now," the judge said. "The time has come for reasonable men to try to effect those purposes."

Roberts indicated he might take up the cases of Calvert and Hearne this afternoon if the lawyers were unable to agree. If not this afternoon, then at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, the judge said.

He suggested a 2 p.m. Tuesday hearing for Temple, and a 2 p.m. Wednesday or 9:30 a.m. Thursday for Austin. He did not set a tentative date for LaVega, but both sides indicated a new plan filed by that school district might be accepted.

Texas Schools Military Aid ls Promised South Korea

dent Spiro T. Agnew told South Korea today that the United States is transferring a wing of F4 Phantom jet fighters from Japan to Korea and will supply additional military assistance, including planes with special radar equipment to detect infiltrating North Korean boats.

Arriving in Seoul for a twoday visit to reaffirm U.S. intentions of helping South Korea's anti-Communist government, Agnew announced the new military aid in a speech at City Hall Plaza before paying a courtesy call on President Chung Hee

NO DETAILS

The new aid is intended to ease South Korean objections to the U.S. decision to withdraw by next June 30 some 20,000 of the 62,000 U.S. troops in Korea. The vice president did not go into details. A week ago, the New York Times reported that the arrival of the Phantom wingthree squadrons totaling 54 planes-would not increase American air strength in Korea greatly because at least two other Phantom squadrons which SEOUL (AP) - Vice Presi- have been in the country on rotational assignment from the United States will go home soon.

Following his courtesy call today, Agnew confers with President Park Tuesday to receive some details of the specific weapons and equipment the Koreans feel they need to make up for the 20,000 American troops to be withdrawn.

PROMISES, PROMISES American officials said the Koreans are seeking $3 billion worth of aid over five years. Launching a four-nation Asian trip, Agnew flew here from Guam, where he spent the night after the transpacific flight from California.

Talking with newsmen aboard his plane, the vice president declared that "we are going to do everything we can to help the Lon Nol government" in Cambodia because "the whole matter of Cambodia is related to the security of our troops in Viet-

It was the strongest support any top official of the Nixon administration has given the embattled Cambodian regime, but the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., said it represented no change in U.S. policy.

Discussing his visit to Korea, Agnew told the newsmen "there is little likelihood that as a result of my conversations any specific action will be proposed to the Congress."

AID PACKAGE

Although a figure of $200 million has been mentioned by American sources for the new U.S. military aid to Korea, aides with the vice presidential party said the U.S. government wanted to hear what South Korea thought it needed before settling on details of any aid pack-

U.S. military aid to South Korea totals about $140 million a year, and any new program would require approval from a Congress wary of stepped-up U.S. aid programs in Asia.

In his arrival speech, Agnew recalled U.S.-Korean cooperation over 20 years, praised the South Korean contribution to the war in Vietnam-some 50,000 troops-and reiterated the U.S. pledge to maintain its treaty obligations to South Korea.

Cooperative Fire Fighting Plan Urged On County Dads

A delegation of local businessmen who live in suburban developments outside the city limits appeared before Howard County Commissioners Court this morning to urge that the county work out a fire-protection plan with the city for those areas outside the corporate lim-

Most of those appearing today are Silver Heels Addition residents, who expressed concern over the length of time it takes volunteer fire departments from outlying county areas to reach fires in their neighborhood. They observed that city fire units could reach the scene much more quickly and efficiently. Paul Meek, Harold Davis, John Currie, Dr. Jack Burnett, L. K. Paul Meek, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that coordination of city and county fire-fighting resources is needed. Commissioner Ray Nichols had pointed out that the commissioners were particularly concerned with getting the city to cooperate in protecting the areas within a five-mile radius of the city limits, which has been the most serious problem area.

Meek pointed out that even if the city agreed to protect the five-mile area, there would be uncertainty as to the proper handling of a fire five and onehalf miles outside the city. Meek urged that a definite plan be devised for fire-fighting coordination between the two governmental agencies. L. K. Miller, business manager of the State Hospital, and Tom Yates, representing the Forsan school district, suggested that a central fire station to those areas where fire protection is now marginal. According to Miller, the hospital has a fire unit of its own, but it would be of little use in a serious fire and the hospital does not receive fire protection currently from the city.

The delegates pointed out the need for a trained personnel in fighting industrial fires. The nature of these fires might call for more training and experience than that of the volunteer fire departments, said one dele-

New Character For Red Skelton

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Red skelton, the man of many roles, s a new character in real life: A grandfather for the first time. Skelton, taping a fall television series for NBC television at nearby Burbank, stopped in the middle of work Saturday, associates said, and ran two blocks to St. Joseph Hospital to be among the first to see his granddaughter, Sabrina Maureen

The comedian had been told by an NBC security officer that his daughter, Valentina, had just given birth to the 8-pound,

A significant test involving 1964-1969 vehicles of two major makes reveals further new proof—Chevron gasoline with F-310 significantly reduces hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions from dirty engines.

Results showed an average reduction in hydrocarbon emissions of 12.4%. Carbon monoxide emissions were reduced an average of 27.5%.

Fifty cars and 3 trucks were selected by officials of the Orange County, Calif., Department of Transportation from its county fleet of over 1,000 cars and trucks, to represent a cross-section of high and low mileage vehicles of various model years—all well-maintained and previously using a major brand premium grade competitive gasoline.

All cars were switched from the competitive gasoline to Chevron with F-310 as they were, with no adjustments to the engines, carburetors or emission control devices.

The test was conducted between March and July, 1970, by Scott Research Laboratories, an independent research laboratory, with the cooperation of Orange County. Exhaust emission measurements were made on each of the 53 test vehicles before the change-over to Chevron Supreme with F-310, and again after approximately 2,000 miles of routine driving.

The results of this scientifically conducted test are highly significant—further dramatic proof that Chevron with F-310 reduces exhaust emissions of unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. Other tests are now in progress as part of a continuing series to demonstrate the contribution of Chevron with F-310 toward cleaner air.

F-310 also keeps clean engines clean.

F-310 Polybutene Amine Gasoline Additive was developed to reduce exhaust emissions from dirty engines. The degree of improvement, of course, depends on the condition of the car. In a new car or a car with a clean engine, F-310 will keep the clean engine clean-keep total exhaust emissions at a minimum. That, too, is a genuine contribution to cleaner air.

New Type Of Medical Program

The present advocacy by the American Medical Association and the National Medical Association of a medicredit program of national health insurance is not a switch in policy. U.S. medicine, now as always, opposes what it considers unworkable plans to extend health care and supports what in its wisdom and experience it believes to be workable

The country is finding that merely pouring out billions of dollars on health care schemes can in no way improve the quality or availability of medical care. The health insurance plan proposed by the Nixon Administration is similar to the proposal which has been urged upon Congress by principal medical spokesmen. The health plan offered by the latter includes a three-point program which "the medical profession hopes to see the nation pursue" in efforts to provide quality health care for everyone as economically as possible.

An AMA spokesman, in describing the medicredit health insurance proposal of the American Medical Association, says, "Under our plan, each low income person or family would receive a certificate for the purchase of a qualified and comprehensive health insurance plan. The protection would be theirs without expense or contribution since the cost of the program would be borne entirely by the federal government." A second phase of the plan, "... offers tax credits, on a sliding scale based on the tax liability of a family, for the purchase of qualified health benefits coverage . . . "A third phase of the plan, as proposed by the AMA, calls for a structured review mechanism to insure high quality of care and to prevent abuses of the medicare and medicaid programs." The doctors have given assurance of the medical profession's cooperation in solving the nation's health care problems. As the nation realizes the solution to these problems must be feasible — as well as liberal the health care picture will grow immeasurably brighter.

Caution — School Zone

caution flags, as schools get under way throughout the city and county. Thousands of young people are being concentrated in a few areas, and at those hours of the day when classes are beginning and ending, there's a great outpouring of pedestrians. In the city, it is imperative that school zone warnings and stop signs be observed. In the county, buses will be loading and unloading children along busy roadways. Motorists are reminded to observe that law which requires complete yielding to the buses as they make their stops. Even after the legal step is taken, a watchful eye is important. Youngsters,

It's time to put up the traffic no matter how much they have been cautioned, sometime have a way of darting suddenly across the road.

There will be traffic problems around our local schools, Policemen will be doing their best to keep congestion at a minimum and safety at a maximum, but there is still a strong call to the driver to use patience, forebearance and utmost

Officers, whether in the city or in the smaller communities and rural areas, can do only so much. In the last analysis it is the adult driver who must respond to every reasonable rule of caution, going even further, sometimes, than the law requires.

Andrew Tully Time To Reduce European Forces

Andrew Tully is on vacation. During his absence his column is being written by various national figures

By SEN. MIKE MANSFIELD Senate Democratic Leader

WASHINGTON - On Oct. 26, 1963. the late President Eisenhower said in an interview in the Saturday Evening Post:

"Though for eight years in the the White House I believed and announced to my associates that a reduction of American strength in Europe should be initiated as soon as European economies were restored, the matter was then considered too delicate a political question to raise. I believe the time has now come when we should start withdrawing some of those troops . . . One American division in Europe can 'show the flag' as definitely as can

IT IS NOW almost seven years since that statement was made, over 25 years since World War II ended

Billy Graham

I have done everything for my children, liberal allowances, summer camps and given them everything they wanted. But none of them show any respect or gratitude for all I've done for them. S.L.

It is interesting to notice that the things you have done for your children all are material in nature. You speak of indulging their every desire, liberal allowances, etc., but has it occurred to you that a child is entitled to more than this, from his parents. What of the gifts of faith, of hope, and love? Have you taught them the real values of life? Have they caught the spirit of reverence, of faith in God, and respect for their

Summer camps are good, but they can never take the place of parental understanding, and mature example and counsel. Personally, I think that will all you have given your children in a material way, you have cheated them out of many things of abiding value. You have shifted the responsibility to someone else rather than taking upon your own shoulders the sublime obligation of parenthood. Perhaps, unconsciously, you have lost respect for yourself, and as a result your children have lost respect for you. But, it is never too late to mend, and you can begin by putting first things first: by emphasizing the in Europe and over 21 years since the North Atlantic Treaty was signed. Yet we still have 300 000 U.S. military men in Western Europe, two-thirds of them in West Germany alone, and our forces in Western Europe are accompanied by some 200,000 dependents and 8,000 U.S. nationals employed by the Defense Department as civilians in related jobs. There are, thus, over 510,000 Americans in Western Europe either in our military forces or associated with those forces, a larger American presence than in Vietnam today.

THE COST of that overseas garrison is enormous. The current estimate is that the budgetary cost to the U.S. taxpayer is $14 billion a year, while the balance of payments drain resulting from our military deployment in Europe is currently about $1.5 billion a year or almost a third of our total balance of payments deficit on a liquidity basis.

UNLIKE THE SITUATION 20 years ago, the economies of the European countries are, of course, no longer ravaged by the effects of war, as anyone visiting Europe can easily see. Yet we continue to devote a larger share of our resources, our men and money to defense than our European allies, in part because we have continued to keep over a half-million Americans in Europe at government expense for two decades.

ONE OF MY colleagues in the Senate recently suggested that now that we have adopted a policy of "Vietnamization," designed to turn a progressively larger share of the defense of Vietnam over to the Vietnamese, we should put into effect a policy of "Europeanization" in NATO. With this aim in mind. I have submitted Senate Resolution 292 calling for "a substantial reduction of U.S. forces permanently stationed in Europe." A majority of the members of the Senate have expressed their support for this resolution.

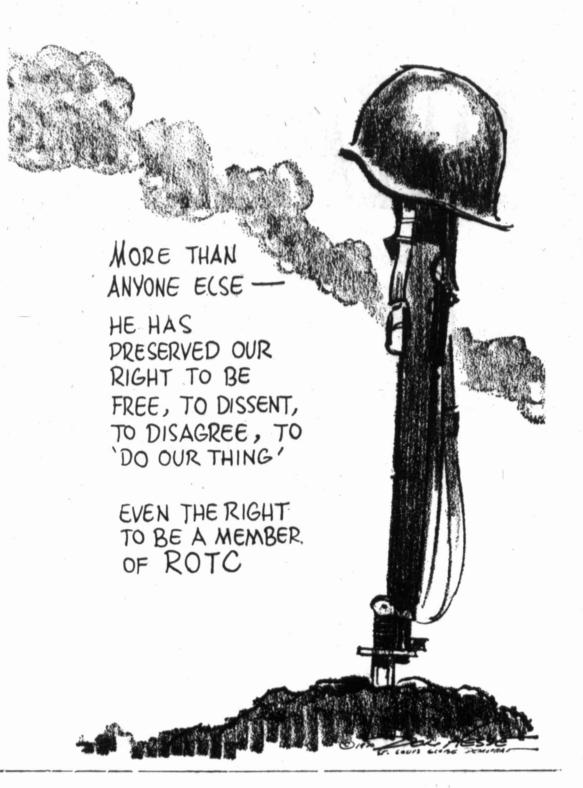

IT SHOULD BE emphasized that this resolution does not urge that all U.S. troops be brought home or that we should reduce our forces precipitately. Nor does the resolution imply that we will not continue to honor our solemn obligations to our NATO allies. On the contrary, it states that such a reduction could be made "without adversely affecting either our resolve or ability to meet our commitment under the North Altantic Treaty."

The policy of the present Administration, enunciated in the Guam Doctrine, is to help other Asian nations to help defend themselves. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

A List For Dishonesty

This and that: One of the largest retailers in the United States has assembled a list of about 250,000 names of confessed shoplifters and dishonest retailingemployes.

The corporation (Spartan Industries) is making the list available to other retailers as part of the services of a new loss-prevention subsidiary it calls Stores Pre-Vent Inc.

THE LIST is the only national file of its kind and the only one using computerized facilities. Stores all over the country cooperated in supplying information for the file.

One of every four names on the list were employes who, at one time or another, admitted being responsible for a dishonest incident. The external-internal rate of crime in stores has jumped to proportions that make inventory losses equal to, or greater than, the net profit of many chains. FROM WHAT I can learn, it's fairly easy to rate your share of billing on the roster. Stash something in your pocket the next time you go into a store and try to get by the cashier without paying for it - and your odds for having your name added to the file sharply go down.

Business is rather militant in its determination to curb shoplifting and stealing by employes — and it's high time. Our cost of living bids fair to go down, if such people are prosecuted and convicted. After all, society is paying for its sins. Business simply has to raise the price to everyone in order to justify such losses on its books.

I THINK THIS area should develop a tourist attraction, even if it has to move a volcano in from Hawaii or disassemble the Leaning Tower of Pisa and rebuild it.

The area catering to tourists prospers. To cite an example, the city of Florence, Italy, boasts a population of half a million buts plays hosts to a million and a half visitors yearly.

David Lawrence Nixon's Argument For A Majority

WASHINGTON - Anybody who doesn't understand the intricacies of American politics would have a hard time explaining what happened in the United States Senate last week when the President's veto of the $4.4 billion education appropriations bill was overridden by a vote of 77 to 16.

IN ADDITION to the 54 Democrats in favor of retaining the measure, 23 out of the 39 Republicans voting went along with them, while only 16 stood by the President. Thus, the actual majority was 15 votes more than the two thirds needed to override the veto. The President's position as the leader of the Republican party was certainly not enhanced by the way the Republican senators lined up with the opposition.

Mr. Nixon has been planning, of course, to tell the country that he wants a majority in Congress to sustain him in his efforts to curb spending. His veto of the education bill was due to the fact that Congress appropriated $453 million more than he had requested.

BACK OF IT ALL, to be sure, is the pressure of local politics. Most of the Republicans knew that in the forthcoming congressional elections in November they might be attacked for failing to support legislation that provides more funds for education. Presumably it would have been easy for opposing candidates to put Republicans on the spot if they had sustained the President. It is interesting to note that none of the 16 senators who voted to maintain the veto is running for re-election this year.

THE QUESTION then arises why Mr. Nixon vetoed the bill, as he must have known that it would embarrass a large number of members of his party, both in the Senate and in the House. The answer is that the administration is trying to mobilize public opinion behind the drive to cut down federal spending and thus help to keep inflation from growing.

When the House sustained the President's veto of the $18 billion bill for housing and other programs, more Republicans supported the President. They will be able to say that, while on certain issues they couldn't vote with the administration, they did help the President on some of the measures involving large expenditures which he had criticized as too big for this year's budget.

THE COUNTRY as a whole, however, has been given the impression that the Democratic party is bent on spending more money than really is necessary and that serious consequences can follow if this trend is not checked. The President undoubtedly will ask that the voters this autumn give thought to the importance of electing members who will support him in his major policies, and will point out that a chief executive who has a majority party in both houses of Congress can work out a better legislative program than when Congress is controlled by an opposition party.

THIS, AT ANY RATE, would seem to be the most likely argument that Mr. Nixon may use. It appears to be the only one left to him in view of the fact that his own party members seem to have been forced to support motions to override vetoes or face punishment at the polls in their own districts. The confusion is not helpful to the cause of good government.

Burleson Reports Rights Of The Majority

WASHINGTON - New organizations of one sort or another are formed about every day. One formed at Ohio State University recently is known as Students for Majority Rights. It may turn out to be a very significant group. They have filed a suit, the purpose of which is to affirm the right of students to pursue their education "free of intimidation and violence."

The court case has been filed by nine students against one professor, one non-student and seven regular students. If the case is brought to a final conclusion in the courts, it could serve a most valuable purpose and is certainly timely. SOON IT will be back to school for thousands of sincere and seriousminded students who want to pursue their education unmolested.

One might assume that the rights of the majority would be automatically protected. We have seen that they are not and there is a reason. The reason is that traditionally we have been long on protecting the rights of the minority and short on protecting those of the Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and freedom of assembly are needed primarily to protect the rights of the minority from being denied by the power of the majority.

IN RECENT YEARS, however, we have seen the denial of majority rights on campuses, in the streets and elsewhere, through the misuse of these rights by the few.

As an example, mobs of picketers have surrounded a meeting place to prevent people from entering to hear a speaker, with whom they disagreed. Time and again speakers holding prominent positions in business, labor and government have been harangued to the point that they have been unable to finish their addresses.

THIS PAST year many colleges and universities had to throw away weeks of education and to cancel entire semesters because of violence and threats of violence by militant minorities.

The acts denied the benefits of education to the vast majority of students who were there for the purpose it was intended - an education.

This is why the test suit brought by Ohio State University students is timely and crucial.

IT IS IMPORTANT because, as the Dr. Eisenhower Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence concluded, there is little law providing for the protection of the constitutional rights of the many when they are jeopardized by the few. The assumption that the majority can protect itself is seemingly no longer

IT IS PERFECTLY well to say that it is the fault of the majority when they permit a lesser number to disrupt and override the feelings of the more numerous of any group, whether it be on a campus, a labor union or a church. This would be true if the usual procedures and orderly processes were employed. The difference is that the orderly procedures are thrown aside by the militants. which is no more or less than anarchy, with which the majority would be unable to cope except by its own physical force.

Powerful Playmate

GALWAY, Ireland (AP) - Galway Bay has become a fun place for a playful porpoise, though divers working in the bay are not finding it amus-

The divers noticed that the animal, nicknamed Flipper, was watching everything they did closely as they laid the foundations of a new light-

Flipper then began to dive up and down with the men. He knocked over bags of cement from pontoons with his snout and mussed up lines mooring the divers' boats.

A local animal welfare official said underwater explosions would be tried to scare Flipper away. The porpoise weighs about one ton and moves at a speed of 12 knots. The results of a collision with a diver could be "very serious," the official said.

Red-Hot Clemente Takes National Batting Lead

If Roberto Clemente ever stops pulling his punches, he's liable to turn the National League race into a demolition derby.

Clemente staggered Los Angeles pitching Sunday with his second straight five-hit binge, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 11-0 triumph, lifting his league-leading batting average to .363 and setting a modern record of 10 hits in two successive games.

The 36-year-old superstar, who had vaulted past Atlanta's Rico Carty in the batting race with a 5-for-7 spree against the Dodgers Saturday night, came right back to drill three singles, a double and his 14th home run in six trips to the plate as the Pirates unleashed a 23-hit barrage-high in the NL this year. Clemente, however, can see room for self-improvement. "I feel I could hit even better," he said, "if I went out and just punched at the ball. But you can't do that. You have to look at the situation.

"Like when I came up today with the bases loaded. I tried to hit the ball out of the park (and flied out.) Most of the time, I'm trying to hit the ball hard, not just punch it."

Clemente's burst and the four-hit pitching of Steve Blass helped the Pirates increase their East Division lead to three games over the second place New York Mets, who divided a doubleheader with Cincinnati's runaway West Division pace-

The Mets won the first game 5-4 with a three-run rally in the ninth, but pinch-hitter Jimmy nod in the nightcap.

Elsewhere, San Francisco nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3; St. Louis outslugged San Diego 8-7 and Philadelphia trimmed

A little more than a week ago, enemy shelling inflicted heavy casualties on the South Vietnamese at the base. Fuller is one of more than a dozen allied artillery bases located along the DMZ and the northwest border with Laos to guard against infiltration into the populous coastal lowlands. Fuller is 22 miles east of the Laotian border and four miles south of the DMZ. Ground action in both South lietnam and Cambodia was reported light with only small skirmishes.

While no significant action was reported around Fire Base Fuller, the B52 bombers were sent into the region in an effort to prevent North Vietnamese troops from massing for assaults on the base.

Informed sources said there were also indications that elements of at least two North Vietnamese divisions trying to move from Cambodia closer to the South Vietnamese border in the region northwest of Saigon.

These sources said that depite heavy American bombing raids, North Vietnamese supply lines through Laos toward Cambodia and South Vietnam appeared to be "fairly open."

Informed sources in Saigon confirmed that American fighter-bombers carried out heavy raids Aug. 9-11 in the Parrot's Beak region of Cambodia about 75 miles northwest of Saigon. They were trying to prevent the return of the North Vietnamese ner return to diamonds. U.S. and South Vietnamese troops chased out when they
