

TROPICAL STORM FELICE APPROACHES GULF COAST

Steps Taken To Evacuate Sabine Pass

By The Associated Press
The Weather Bureau warned late this morning that tropical storm Felice was heading for a yet-undetermined point on the Upper Texas Coast or western Louisiana.

If Felice were to hit in the middle of the warned area, it would be in the vicinity of Sabine Pass, Tex., which began evacuation about dawn.

CRAZY GAL
Felice was acting strangely—breaking apart with one portion surviving. The Weather Bureau called the storm still poorly organized during the morning.

But she packed winds of 60 miles per hour with hurricane velocity blasts—75 m.p.h. or more—just north of the center.

Felice will move toward the west-northwest about 18 m.p.h. until about 10 p.m. tonight, the Weather Bureau reported. That presumably is the approximate time the center is expected to reach land.

The Weather Bureau said tides would be five feet above normal wherever the center crosses land, with two to three feet above normal elsewhere.

TAKE OFF
The storm brought heavy rain over a wide area, Weather Bureau radar indicated.

Percy Toups, Civil Defense director for Sabine Pass, set a noon deadline for evacuation of the 1,200 or so residents of the town on low, exposed ground near the mouth of the Sabine River and Lake.

Tides were expected to block the only highway out of Sabine Pass.

Gale winds struck the mouth of the Mississippi River during the morning but decreased as Felice moved westward.

GALE FORCE
Squalls carried winds of gale force 120 miles north and east and 50 miles to the southwest.

The Weather Bureau radar at Galveston by 9 a.m. indicated heavy and increasing thunderstorms affecting 40 to 50 per cent of an area extending from near Corpus Christi to New Orleans and southward 220 miles over the gulf.

At that time, it was low tide at Sabine Pass but the water was about a foot above normal.

Texas 87 from Sabine Pass southward was due to be blocked by tides. The only other route out of the Sabine Pass area is the north extension of Texas 87 to Port Arthur and it was blocked Sunday when a barge collision started a fire and damaged a drawbridge spanning the highway.

Jefferson County Judge Chester Young and the county commissioners decided at a special meeting Monday to urge evacuation of Sabine Pass.

WT SHOWERS
During darkness, the storm split, but one of its segments was expected to dissipate, the Weather Bureau said.

Elsewhere, there were showers at scattered points across the Texas Panhandle and parts of West Texas.

Widespread fog lowered visibility in early morning, meanwhile, to less than one mile in parts of Central and South Texas. Points in the fog belt included San Antonio, Houston, Cotulla and McAllen.

Skies were clear over North Central and Northeast Texas and mostly cloudy in other sections.

GM Strike Will Idle Thousands Of Workers

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers went on strike against General Motors Corp. today, choking off car production by the world's largest manufacturing firm and idling hundreds of thousands of workers in the United States and Canada.

Pickets were posted around GM facilities in 31 states and two Canadian provinces after last-minute negotiations failed to produce a new, pattern-setting contract for the auto industry.

Both GM and the union said they were far apart on reaching a new contract, but pledged talks to make the strike as short as possible. They said they would try for another meeting Wednesday.

STRIKE FUND
However, some union and industry sources predicted the strike would be lengthy, and might exhaust the UAW's $120 million strike fund. Union officials said the strike funds would last seven to eight weeks, with the 344,000 workers on strike drawing up to $40 weekly each.

The strike is the first national shutdown of GM since 1964, when failure to agree on a new contract closed the firm for 10 days.

The only other major strike against GM lasted 113 days in 1945-46. That was the longest national work stoppage ever in the industry.

The strike comes just as GM is introducing its 1971 models, including the subcompact Vega 2300, designed to help fight off the challenge of imported small cars.

NO CHOICE
GM's inventory of new cars is expected to last eight weeks.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock severely criticized the GM contract offer and said the automaker "held out no other choice" but to strike.

Earl Bramblett, GM vice president in charge of personnel and the firm's chief negotiator, said the UAW's action was a "strike against reason." He described the GM contract offer as an "economic proposal that is unprecedented in our history in the size and scope of its benefits."

Woodcock asserted that Chrysler was turned away from a settlement "by pressure exerted by GM."

But the UAW said Sunday Chrysler would not be an immediate strike target.

Ford Motor Co. was told two weeks ago it would not be struck.

Contracts covering 713,000 workers at the Big Three automakers expired at midnight Monday. The American Motors contract expires October 16.

Bramblett said GM conservatively estimated that the UAW's demands in costs and fringe benefits amounted to "more than $2.65 an hour, or an increase of over 45 per cent over a three-year period."

The UAW has not made public its cost estimate of requested fringes and wages over three years, but one union spokesman said the GM figure was "unrealistic."

An average autoworker earned $4.02 an hour under the old contracts. Automakers said it cost them an added $1.75 an hour per worker in fringe benefits.

Workers In Texas Join GM, Railroad Strikes

By The Associated Press
A nationwide strike against General Motors Corp. and a partial strike against the railroads spread quickly into Texas today.

Workers at two plants in the Dallas-Fort Worth area were affected by the big GM walkout.

Although a federal court order forbade a rail strike, union workers left their jobs and pickets appeared on the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and other states, and against two other railroads—the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio—elsewhere across the country.

Between 500 and 700 railroad workers at the SP yards in El Paso walked off the job, leaving pickets at the 18 entrances. They said they had not yet received word from the union of the court order halting the strike.

All 52 employes at General Motors El Paso parts plant came out, picketing four entrances. All are members of United Auto Workers local 605.

Officials reported 3,400 members of the United Auto Workers joined in the stoppage at the General Motors assembly plant in Arlington, between Fort Worth and Dallas, and 536 more at GM's parts center in Dallas.

Pickets appeared outside rail yards at a number of cities served by the Southern Pacific Railroad. An SP spokesman said the Los Angeles-to-New Orleans Sunset passenger train and a westbound Sunset both were stopped in San Antonio.

In Houston, a spokesman for the United Transportation Union, E. A. Thompson, said, "I don't know anything about an injunction." He added that picketing would continue until he received orders to the contrary from his union's national headquarters.

Similar comment came from other pickets at El Paso.

Drivers Seek Wage Increase

HOUSTON (AP) — Drivers for the rapid transit bus system have asked a cost of living wage clause which would add from 20 to 30 per cent of their present $3.25 hourly wage.

The contract between the privately-owned bus system and Transport Workers Union Local 260 expires Nov. 3.

He Shoots Skyjacker

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A male passenger demanding to go to North Korea attempted to hijack a Trans World Airlines jetliner today. He was shot by another passenger, a private guard for a shipment of securities, after being in control of the plane for a little more than an hour, deputy sheriff's said.

Robert E. De Nisco, 34, an employe of Brinks, Inc., stood up and shouted "police" and began struggling with the hijacker after the pilot announced the hijacker after the plane landed at San Francisco International Airport.

One shot was fired. The hijacker, described only as a young white man, was reported in serious condition at nearby Peninsula Hospital, where he was immediately taken to surgery.

Passengers said he boarded the plane in Los Angeles. The flight had started at New York, with a stop in Chicago.

Moments before the pilot's announcement to the passengers the hijacker had passed a note to him reading: "I have a gun and want to go to North Korea."

It was not known if the hijacker was actually armed.

De Nisco, Brinks said, was carrying an undetermined amount of securities from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

The plane, flight 15 from Los Angeles, had landed at 6:06 a.m. and the pilot advised the tower that a white male passenger had told him: "This plane is being hijacked. It will be going farther."

There were 55 passengers and seven crew members, TWA said.

MOWER MISHAP KILLS LAD, 8

EL PASO (AP) — Antonio Gomez, 8, died Monday after a lawn mower accident.

The boy was helping his sister pull weeds and grass in a bag as the father was running a power mower.

An inch- and a half long engine mount bolt fell on the spinning blade and was hurled out, striking the boy in the head.

BOY, THAT WAS CLOSE!

DALLAS (AP) — The pilot of a commercial jet airliner says two Boeing 707s, with a total of more than 200 persons aboard, narrowly missed an aerial collision over Tulsa Monday.

One plane was American Airlines flight 77 from Washington to Los Angeles, with 79 passengers, and the other was Braniff International Flight 51 from Kansas City to Dallas and Mexico City with 112 passengers.

The Braniff pilot, Capt. George Teskey of Dallas, told the Federal Aviation Agency he had to take quick evasive action to avoid the American Airlines plane at 31,000 feet.

Nixon Seeking Big Foreign Aid Overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon called today for a massive revamping of the U.S. foreign aid system, including setting up a new "international security assistance program" to help carry out the Nixon Doctrine abroad.

Under Nixon's aid reform plan, the aid-administering Agency for International Development (AID) would also be abolished and new institutions would be created to carry out its major functions.

Improved Airline Security 'Just Around The Corner'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has decreed "the holding of hostages by any nation or group" in a rebuke apparently aimed at Israel as well as the Palestinian guerrillas.

Meanwhile, Monday, the government rejected the commandos' claim that they had reason to regard their remaining hijack prisoners as Israelis, even though several may hold citizenship papers elsewhere.

The State Department said as many as 38 Americans could be among the group, thought to number around 55, still held by the guerrillas in the aftermath of four airliner hijackings.

Area Political Delegates Active In Conventions

Harmony appeared the order of the day for both Republican and Democratic delegates of the 24th Senatorial District at their state meetings.

In Fort Worth, Winston Wrinkle, Big Spring radio man, and Mrs. Jack McGlothlin, wife of an Abilene oilman, appeared to be uncontested for election as district committeeman and district committeewoman, although there were reports that their might be some rival candidates at the district caucus Tuesday morning. Wrinkle is serving his first term, and Mrs. McGlothlin would be a newcomer.

Wrinkle was named chairman of the state convention's committee on nominations and Gen. Dulaney, Snyder, was chosen to open the meeting in Fort Worth's new convention center as temporary chairman.

Frank Parker, industrial relations staff member at Cosden Oil & Chemical, was a leader in an unsuccessful bid to gain endorsement in a pre-caucus meeting of a resolution for permanent voter registration. Hubert Roach, Stonewall, moved that permanent registration be supported in principle, and Parker quickly seconded.

The motion lost 28-25 on a standing vote when several delegates said they thought the motion should include certain safeguards to annually purge the rolls of those who move or who have died.

W. D. Berry, one of the Howard County delegates, wanted a provision in the resolution for declaration of party affiliation at time of registration. He said he was in a voting precinct (Parkhill) where Republican voters frequently voted in the Democratic primary. "I just want to keep 'em honest," he said.

secretary Ronald L. Ziegler. But misstatement also was viewed as a slap at Israel's detention of 375 Arabs. Israeli forces originally took 450 Arabs into custody over the weekend, but later freed 75.

"We deplore and denounce the holding of hostages by any nation or group," Ziegler said. "The illegal detention of United States citizens in a dispute involving another nation is particularly reprehensible."

Ziegler also declared, "The bearer of a United States passport carries with him prima-facie evidence of United States citizenship."

And he added: "The United States rejects any attempt to establish distinctions among its citizens on any basis whatever."

In other developments, President Nixon formally asked Congress for an extra $28 million for the recruiting and training of 2,500 security guards to ride commercial airplanes.

At the same time, the Department of Transportation was shaping a bid for the legislative authority to provide such security "on United States flag air carriers."

In Congress, which so far has cooperated fully with the administration's handling of the issue, the House Foreign Affairs Committee scheduled hearings Thursday on the requests.

IN THE DARK
One White House spokesman said he didn't know whether 2,500 more guards would be enough, but he did confirm they would be in addition to military personnel who have been assigned to anti-hijack operations. Ziegler's original pronouncement to newsmen deplored the use of hostages "by any nation"—a reference which seemed inadvertently to omit the guerrilla forces.

He later included the word "group." Asked if his statement explicitly included Israel, he repeated the comment and added: "I cannot relate this specifically to the 450"—meaning the Arabs who were held.

The State Department, while noting some uncertainty about the exact number of hostages still held by the guerrillas, said it had confirmed at least 23 Americans.

And spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said 15 others could be Americans. Of the 38 possible, he said, there may be as many as 19 with citizenship ties, one way or another, to both the United States and Israel.

Six Found Guilty In Rink Incident

Six guilty verdicts, one not guilty verdict, and one dismissal of charges have been delivered so far in hearings of disorderly conduct charges resulting from the Skateland Roller Rink disturbance Aug. 29.

In addition six of the 17 persons originally charged entered guilty pleas and paid their fines prior to the hearings Friday in corporation court. Three cases remain, of which two have been reset for 10 a.m. Oct. 2 at the request of the defense attorney the other awaiting the outcome of a polygraph test.

Commenting on the possibility of further charges to be filed in connection with the incident, city attorney Herb Prouty said, "There is evidence of some of the participants committing more serious offenses including one or two felonies. Whether they are filed or not is up to the chief of police and the officers who witnessed the acts."

Egypt Says United States Nips Mideast Peace Talks

By The Associated Press
Egypt says the United States is blocking the Middle East peace talks by backing Israel but that Cairo will not let Palestinian hijackers "jeopardize the peace-seeking efforts of the Arabs."
Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad said in Cairo Monday that America's support of Israeli charges of Egyptian cease-fire violations is to blame for the current "political standstill" in the Middle East. He added that the charges were "baseless."
Israel issued its 14th complaint Monday that Egypt has violated the U.S.-sponsored agreement by moving Egyptian-manned SAM2 antiaircraft missiles and Russian-manned SAM3 missiles closer to the Suez Canal.
Riad also reiterated Egypt's charge that Washington has broken a promise to withhold Phantom jets and other arms from Israel during the cease-fire. American officials have denied there was any such promise and have maintained that the United States has a publicly declared obligation to maintain the Middle East arms balance by counteracting the flow of Soviet arms to Egypt.

POPS MAVERICKS
Cairo Radio said Monday that "Egypt will not allow a Palestinian maverick group to jeopardize the peace-seeking efforts of the Arabs and justify Israel's demand for additional arms to be used against the Arabs."
The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine is holding hostages from three hijacked airliners.
Cairo Radio also said the forthcoming talks between Israeli Premier Golda Meir and President Nixon will "sure the perils which the Israelis and the rest of the world face at the hands of the Palestinian commandos." Mrs. Meir is scheduled to meet with Nixon Friday in Washington.

Riad's office said he had postponed a visit to the United States. He had been scheduled to lead Egypt's delegation to the U.N. General Assembly's 25th anniversary session, which opens today. No explanation was given for the change. U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was also scheduled to attend the opening session, but postponed his arrival until the weekend because of Middle East developments, and the talks between Nixon and Mrs. Meir, the State Department said.

In northern Jordan, fighting between guerrillas and the Jordanian army broke out for the second day. The Popular Front said two guerrillas were killed.
Israeli sources reported that fighting also broke out Monday night in Lebanon between Arab guerrillas and Lebanese forces. Light arms and mortar fire was exchanged for about half an hour, and mortar and machine-gun fire was heard later across the central sector of the Israel-Lebanon border, the sources said.

They reported that one mortar shell landed harmlessly near an Israeli settlement.
SWAP BULLETS
Several exchanges of fire between the guerrillas and Lebanese army troops have been heard in the past few days, the sources said.

NO MORE 'HOUSE CARS' If City Code Amended
The City officials are entering the final stages of writing a new ordinance regulating mobile home park development. Nolen Chafin, public works director, said plans are shaping up for a comprehensive ordinance to replace outdated sections of the present city code.
Chapter 15 of the code deals with mobile homes as "house cars" and mobile home parks as "tourist courts." "It is an injustice to the mobile home owners as well as to the city when it is not clear to the owner what the law intends," Chafin said.
At present mobile home development is regulated by invoking the subdivision ordinance, and the city has been choosing which provisions to enforce with each mobile home developer.
There is a chance that the new ordinance could be written and passed by the commission before the third reading of the Harroll Jones annexation ordinance. Jones and Paul Shaffer plan a mobile home park on the property to be annexed north of IS 20.

Agnew Zaps 'Acid Queen' During Talk

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, warning that the influence of drugs "threatens to sap our national strength," says some of the popular songs adult America regards as good, clean, noisy fun are in fact "latent drug culture propaganda" that is brainwashing the young.

At a Republican fund-raising dinner amid the neon glitter of the Las Vegas gambling casinos, Agnew lectured Monday night against "creeping permissiveness" in American society. He said the administration needs Republicans in Congress to help put a stop to it.

LET'S VOTE
"Let's vote for the men with the backbone to turn back the tide of weakness and permissiveness in our national life and our personal life," the vice president told more than 1,200 persons at a $100-a-plate dinner at the Sahara Hotel.

Agnew said the nation must "move hard and fast" to control a drug culture that pervades the adult population and is spreading among the young. "We have arrived at this culture partly because society's natural resistance has been broken down by the pill popping of adults who fancy they need a pill to get to sleep and a pill to wake up," Agnew said.

ADULT BOOZERS
"This, coupled with growing adult alcoholism, was all that some of our younger citizens have needed to do some experimenting on their own."
Agnew said that in too many of the lyrics of popular songs "the message of the drug culture is purveyed... at its worst, it is blatant drug culture propaganda."
"I may be accused of advocating song censorship for pointing this out but have you really heard the words of some of these songs?" Agnew asked.

He offered as an example these lines from a hit tune: "I get by with a little help from my friends, I get by with a little help from my friends."
"It's a catchy tune, but until it was pointed out to me I never realized that the friends were assorted drugs," Agnew said.

STONED WOMAN
"There are scores of such songs," he titles themselves often whisper or shout the message. Listen to these: "Acid Queen," "Eight Miles High," "Couldn't Get High," "Don't Step on the Grass, Sam," and "Stoned Woman."
"These songs present the use of drugs in such an attractive light that for the impressionable, turning on becomes the natural and even the approved thing to do," Agnew said. "And all the while that this brainwashing has been going on, most of us have regarded it as good, clean, noisy fun."

Agnew said approval or at least indulgence of the drug culture also comes across in some motion pictures, books and the underground press.
"We can expect more of this for one good reason: There's money in it," the vice president said, "look at the exploitation of music festivals, run by men who use young people as props in pot smoking, acid dropping events."
"It's time we counter this propaganda with the truth," Agnew said. "This propaganda will wither under the light of pitiless publicity."

IT'S ABOUT TIME
The campaign of William Raggio, 43-year-old challenger to Democratic Sen. Howard W. Cannon, was the chief object of Agnew's visit to Nevada, and fund raising was one of his major services.

Rape-Slayings Trigger Anti-American Feeling

SAIGON (AP) — An official South Vietnamese report of the death of a 50-year-old woman and the rape and death of her prospective daughter-in-law near a U.S. base has triggered an upsurge in anti-American feeling in recent days, including calls by one group for the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

An official U.S. report says no American troops were involved in the incident Aug. 29 in Binh Tuy Province, 75 miles east of Saigon. However, an official South Vietnamese report, while drawing no conclusions, implies there was American involvement.

BODY FOUND
The Vietnamese report said the body of one of the women, Nguyen Thi Bac, 50, was found 50 yards from an American artillery base manned by troops of the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade.
The American report said the nearest U.S. fire base, Martinez, was 800 yards from where Mrs. Bac's body was found.
The South Vietnamese report said a doctor was appointed by a court to examine the body of Nguyen Thi Hong, fiancée of Mrs. Bac's son, and that he concluded she had been raped. There was no mention of Mrs. Bac's being raped.

U.S. investigators said three doctors—an American, a Korean and a Vietnamese—found no evidence that either woman had been raped.
CRAWLED HOME
The Vietnamese report said Miss Hong crawled back to her home and said she and Mrs. Bac were working in a rice field when four American soldiers came and raped them until Mrs. Bac died.

It quoted doctors as saying that Mrs. Bac had been beaten on the head and that she fell into the mud and suffocated. Miss Hong was raped and lost her strength and caught a cold while crawling back to her home, he report said. She died in a hospital the next day.
"It is very hard to find out the people who committed the crime because the victims were the only eyewitnesses," the Vietnamese report said.
However, it added that many footprints larger than those a Vietnamese would make were found near Mrs. Bac's body.

VIET CONG PLOT
American sources in Saigon say the incident appeared to be either a Viet Cong or Buddhist plot intended to embarrass Americans during the nationwide Vietnamese Senate elections on Aug. 30. Some Buddhists running for office oppose the U.S. presence in Vietnam.
The alleged incident has been given extensive coverage in all local Vietnamese and English-language newspapers, although there has been no public announcement of it from authorities either confirming it or denying it.
The U.S. Command has said only that the allegations are under investigation. But it was learned that the official American report had been completed and would be made public soon.
The English-language Saigon Post reported that a seminar held in Saigon Sunday by a group called the Vietnam Women's Association for the Right to Live approved a resolution denouncing the alleged rapes and calling for "foreign troops" to withdraw from Vietnam.

West muffed several opportunities to defeat South who was the declarer at five hearts doubled.

The auction was highly competitive and when North sacrificed at five hearts over five clubs, West chose to double. Altho his side could have made six clubs, losing only one spade trick, the partnerships' perfect fit could not be identified and he decided to try for a small profit.

West opened the king of clubs and East, to whom it was quite obvious that a second round of the suit would not go thru, signaled discouragingly with the three. It appeared desirable to establish a spade trick and he hoped to induce a shift from his partner while the defense still retained the initiative.

West chose to ignore East's signal and he continued woodenly with the ace of clubs which declarer ruffed. South proceeded to draw trumps with three pulls ending up in dummy, as West discarded a spade and two clubs.

In order to improve his chances in the event that the diamonds did not divide favorably, South resorted to a bit of guile. Two extra rounds of trumps were led from dummy on which the declarer discarded the six and seven of diamonds. Observe that he can spare these cards inasmuch as only two spade discards are required from the North hand.

On the fourth heart, West discarded a second spade but on the next round, he let go of a diamond. South led a diamond to the jack which West ducked. He took the king on the next lead and led a club to force out North's remaining trump as declarer discarded the ten of spades. A spade put South in with the ace and the queen and eight of diamonds took the last two tricks.

A spade shift by West at trick two, while he retained the ace of diamonds, would have assured declarer's defeat. West could have dispatched his opponent even more promptly by giving his partner a diamond ruff, however he is not chargeable for failing to diagnose that East had a singleton diamond. What is more to the point, is that West could have affected a late recovery by holding on to all of his diamonds.

When South leads a diamond from dummy, West covers the jack with his ace. The king of spades is returned dislodging declarer's ace. He cashes the king and queen of diamonds and discards one spade from North's hand. However, West retains a stopper in the suit and East eventually scores the setting trick with the queen of spades.

Cub-Parent Night Set Thursday At Area Schools

Every boy 8, 9, or 10 years of age who would like to have the fun of being a Cub Scout is urged to turn out Thursday evening — as well as those who already are Cubs — for the annual Cub-Parents night.

This is the big recruiting effort for Cubs, and it will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the elementary schools where the boys attend. Cubmasters of the pack to which the boys may be assigned, along with neighborhood Cub commissioners, and principals of schools will be on hand to sign up boys and answer any questions.

Three school areas will not have their sign ups until Sept. 24. They are Marcy and Coahoma — those east of Salem road going to the Coahoma elementary school and those west to Midway school on that date.

The fee is $1 for the year, and if a boy wants to take Boys Life, the official Scouting magazine, this is $2.

"Cubbing is a great experience for any youngster," said District Commissioner, Dean Lagerstrom, general chairman of the Cub-Parent night project.

"There will be weekly den meetings to work on projects, make stunts, play games, prepare stunts and skits, and get ready for the monthly pack meetings, and for the big district happenings like the exposition, Cub olympics, outings, etc."

Monty Stokes, district Scout executive, stressed the importance of parents coming with their boys Thursday evening, because Cubbing is essentially a parent-boy program designed to build character, train lads for citizenship, and help with physical fitness.

Last year, 248 boys signed up to be Cubs at this special night. At the gatherings, present Cubs as well as new ones will be assigned to dens.

Thursday evening, the schools, packs, and men to help are:

- Airport (Pack 71) Bob Smith, cubmaster; Dale Ditto, commissioner; Cleo Carlile, principal.
- Bauer (Pack 11) Ivory Harper, cubmaster; Neal Crossland, Bill Bradford, commissioners; Harlan Huijbregtse, principal.
- Boydston (Pack 14) Glen Hughes, cubmaster; James Balios, commissioner; Herman Smith, principal.

Actor's Son Hit With Heroin Rap

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The son of actor Ray Milland has been charged with possession of heroin.

Police said Daniel David Milland, 30, was charged after officers found four bags of a substance identified as the narcotic in his motel room.

Milland posted $500 bond and was released pending further court action.

In Los Angeles, actor Milland said, "I know nothing about it. I'd rather not talk about it." He said he did not know where his son lived and hadn't seen him for six or seven months.

Cities Demands Push Water Sales Higher

Despite cutbacks to oil companies, water revenues continued to mount during August for the Colorado River Municipal Water District. This was due to unprecedented municipal demands.

Revenues for August stood at $388,121, of which $299,437 came from the municipalities. Revenues from sales to oil companies were $16,000 less than for the previous month, and some $27,000 less than when the district reduced deliveries sharply in the early summer.

Operating expenses for the month amounted to $106,897, or $8,000 more than for July due to increased power costs for greater pumping. For the eight months period the operating costs amounted to $694,109, leaving a net of $1,667,766 which was transferred to debt service and other indebted funds.

The August revenues were based on 1,958,736,000 (July deliveries), which made 9,783,267,000 gallons for the eight-month period. This was almost a billion and a half gallons more than for the same period a year ago, the district's monthly operating report showed.

For the first eight months of the year, district revenues amounted to $2,465,010, a gain of $551,000, of which $471,000 was in increased municipal sales.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl with a problem. What is wrong with a girl hitchhiking a ride somewhere? It's cheaper and a lot quicker than bus and I really don't see anything wrong with it, yet I've had nice looking men pick me up in big air-conditioned late model cars and lecture me on the dangers of a girl hitchhiking. I can take care of myself as well as any boy my age who hitches a ride.

Lots of people will pick up boys, no matter how greasy and hoodly they look, but they shake their heads and pass up a couple of girls. Why?

MINNESOTA GIRL
DEAR MINN.: Because it's a common misconception that the female is physically weaker, and therefore more helpless than the male.

A girl should never get into a car with a stranger — no matter how "nice" the car or the driver looks. You can't tell anything by looking.

Also, a driver who picks up a hitchhiker, male or female, is taking a big chance. Nice looking kids have been known to rob, rape and murder drivers who have picked them up.

I cannot stress too strongly the risks of hitchhiking. It is against the law in many places, and I think it should be against the law everywhere.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a new one for you. My ex-husband passed away recently. We had been divorced for six years and didn't live together for two years before that. Neither of us married again if that makes any difference. Our relationship was far from cordial after we parted, and all our friends knew it.

We're Losing Our Highway Money

For the first time in 25 years (World War II period, October, 1945), the Texas Highway Commission in December will have no monthly highway contract lettings.

The reason? A holdback of part of the Texas apportionment of the Federal Highway Trust Fund.

This Trust Fund, created in 1956 by the Congress solely for the purpose of federal highway aid, brought into being the interstate highway system, which is now about 70 per cent open to traffic. The Fund has been a unique federal-state partnership which has been extremely successful in its stipulated mission.

The Fund generates about $5 billion a year from highway user taxes. It now has a surplus of substantially over $2 billion (some say as much as $3 billion). So what happens? A lot of people are wanting to get their hands into that inviting mass of money. Above and beyond that, both Gov. Preston Smith and Highway Chairman Dewitt Greer are contending that the Washington administration has been diverting Highway Trust money to other uses.

In any event, there is less money coming down to the states for the original purpose of the Fund. A 1968 federal highway act provided that the states should receive $5.4 billion for the 1971 fiscal year. This amount was reduced by the administration to $4.6 billion nationally, and resulted in a reduction of the Texas share from $275 million to $210 million, $65 million less than had been anticipated. So, the Texas allotment for the quarter after October and November contract lettings.

Back to the appeal of that big Trust Fund: Transportation Secretary Volpe proposes to build bus lanes; the railroads would like to have a share to improve their pitiful plight; some people want the money put into construction to improve congested traffic in urban areas. They want it for mass transit programs.

Admittedly, such projects need attention, and they call for money. But diversion of money from highway construction is not the proper source for such money. Texas has fared remarkably well with its interstate highway construction, and it would be a sad situation if the system now withers before completion.

Highway Chairman Greer put it this way: "The motor vehicle users of this country, who pay these dedicated taxes, have every right to expect that the federal government return to the highway system these revenues, in accordance with the agreements made 14 years ago."
 Mr. Greer is correct.

The High Cost Of Partners In War

WASHINGTON — Vice-President Spiro Agnew is a man of many parts. He has been out on the hustings blasting the Democrats in his inimitable style and he has only recently come back from Asia where he went to give cheering words to America's partners — limited partners — in the Vietnam war.

In his stop at Seoul, Korea, the harmony fell apart. The Vice-President found in Korea's President Chung Hee Park a very tough bargainer. The primary Agnew mission in Seoul was to reconcile Park to a cutback in the $3,000 American troops stationed in Korea nearly 20 years after the end of the Korean War.

OKAY, SAID the Koreans in effect, but you will have to pay for it. The price was modernization of the Korean armed forces. What was to have been a polite exchange on one of the hopscotch stops on the Agnew schedule lasted through eight hours of tough talk.

Various price tags — one billion, two billion — for the modernization were leaked out. In any event, a large sum of money is involved if the United States means to remove about one-fifth of the force stationed in Korea and still keep the good will of President Park.

AGNEW MIGHT have been helped in his tough bargaining session if he had with him an advance copy of a report just released. It is another chapter in the record being written by Sen. Stuart Symington's Foreign Relations Subcommittee on America's overseas commitments. Dredged out of the Pentagon and the Department of State through long and painstakingly prepared hearings this chapter dealing with Korea reveals startling facts hitherto kept a secret on what the Korean involvement in Vietnam has meant.

THE COST to the United States from 1965 to 1970 for a Korean force of 47,872 was just under $1 billion. Of that amount $130 million went on allowances to Korean military personnel. Thanks to this generous supplement to the low-paid Korean military, they were able to send home savings of $27 million.

Part of the price for committing the two Korean divisions was a commitment in American defense aid of $193 million that could be spent on "commercial consumables." This went for gasoline and other daily needs rather than for the long-term hardware to modernize the Korean military.

NO ONE questions the fighting ability of the Korean troops. In ruthless drive they match or exceed the Communist enemy. Their reputation for a Draconian use of force struck fear not only into the enemy but among the Vietnamese in the areas where they were stationed.

In question is the gloss of "free world" rhetoric sprayed over the participation of troops that were essentially mercenaries. They may not have fought, in the dictionary definition of mercenary, solely for pay. But they would never have gone to Vietnam if their government had not exacted a high price for their commitment.

WHY THE arrangement to foot most of the bill for the Korean troops was kept secret disturbed the committee. A letter from Gen. Hamilton H. Howze, then U.S. Army commander in Korea, was read into the record setting out the agreement to pay allowances for Vietnam service and concluding, "The United States Government attaches considerable importance to maintaining as confidential information the fact it is assuming these costs."

Was this not, Pentagon and State Department witnesses were asked, to keep the knowledge from Congress? They insisted that it was to prevent other nations sending troops from knowing the level of pay the Koreans were to receive.

Having completed the Asian hearings, the Symington committee turns to Europe. Secret testimony has already shown the way in which the United States is made to pay for fundamental services, plus taxes, to sustain forces in Europe dedicated to the common security of the west.

Zuni Indians

ZUNI, N.M. (AP) — The small Zuni Indian tribe of western New Mexico signed an agreement recently with the Interior Department which gives the tribe administration of their own reservation.

It was the first time such an agreement had been worked out between the federal agency and a tribe. The document was prepared under an 1834 law that never had been used before.

The agreement places the Zuni Tribal government in direct supervision of Bureau of Indian Affairs activities, programs and personnel on the reservation about 40 miles south of Gallup.

The agreement has a provision that can cause its cancellation by either party on 180 days written notice to the other if the experiment doesn't work out.

How Can Inflation Be Controlled?

NEW YORK (AP) — Even before it begins, economists fear that the next economic upturn will be accompanied by serious inflation, that old menace of prosperity.

One reason for the concern is that the present spate of inflation has proved to be unusually resistant to conventional remedies and is unlikely to be contained before a renewal of buying pressure from consumers and others.

Assuming that a recovery from the 1970 economic slump begins by the end of the year, it very likely will be accompanied by between 4 and 5 per cent inflation — left over from the previous boom.

The International Monetary Fund showed unusual concern about the problem in its annual report, suggesting that the United States must use additional measures to bring prices under control.

One of the chief problems encountered by government economists is the changing nature of the malady. While common through the economy, inflated prices have been especially prevalent in the service sector.

That makes a big difference. Industrial inflation can be lessened by the use of labor-saving machinery and methods. Output can be boosted or, to put it another way, the cost of manufacture can be lowered by the use of machinery.

But how can a doctor's output be increased? Or that of a painter or automobile serviceman or any other occupation in which human rather than machine skills are demanded?

The problem is made all the more critical because of the changing nature of the American economy which, in good times and bad, is becoming service-oriented.

But, when the economy expands, the demand for services rises even more sharply. People have money to spend on luxuries, and quite frequently these luxuries involve the purchase of human services rather than goods.

The problem of service inflation wouldn't be nearly so bad if it could be confined. But inflation, no matter where it begins, soon spreads. It envelops everything, using no more choice or judgment than does a fire.

If the garageman's bill goes up, or if the landlord raises the rent, then their customers must seek wage increases in order to retain their position in the economic scheme of things.

If this is the case then, how can inflation be controlled? That's the question that stumps even the experts. The I.M.F. suggested that perhaps "the broad instruments of financial policy," such as espoused by the Nixon administration, may not be enough in themselves.

It said that additional means might be necessary to counter wage and price increases and it named specifically an "incomes policy," which can mean many things, ranging from jawboning to direct controls on wages, prices and credit.

Man, the only animal on earth who vocally criticizes his work, is also the only one permitted to have a vacation from it — and to lie about that vacation. He feels impelled upon his return to brag about how wonderful it was, although it might not have been wonderful at all. He feels impelled to say that his step away from the job was more fun than staying on the job, which often it isn't at all. He is really only too happy to be back, although he'd rather die than admit it. The girl in the office who had the best vacation isn't the one who planned it vastly, or sent the most postcards, but she who greets every query about it later with a distant look and a smug smile.

The Kind Of Man To Know Better

There is a man I know that I would like to know much better, yet the urgency of his age warns that our friendship cannot be allowed to ripen leisurely on the vine. It must be gathered now — before sundown.

There are so many questions; so many stories I want to hear before vigor deserts his voice as the light has left his eyes.

This I know, and little more:

EDUARDO Coelha was born in Spain almost a century ago. The times were turbulent, and in the ensuing years, political violence made it expedient that his family separate and seek safety in other countries. They were never reunited.

As a boy, he wandered by the sea, eager ears listening for Lorelei's voice in the surf and sensing her challenge in every ebb and flow of the tide. At 14, he was a familiar figure on the docks, and on that day, he hoisted a bundle, containing the things that were his, and climbed aboard the biggest ship in the harbor.

ASSIGNED A berth as cabin boy, he set out to claim life as his legacy from God.

Fourteen. A tender age for a male to become a man. Can imagination tell you what the world's ports of call were like before the turn of the century? The bustle of the day — the brawling by night. How often he must have stretched his height before his body proved its manhood.

The years came quickly and were lived fully. He was part of everything he touched, and he laughingly reached for it all.

HE WAS A young officer in the Spanish-American War, and when it was over, he returned to sea. Surviving a mighty storm, he and his shipmates were miles from land when the floating bodies of bloated animals told them what might lie ahead at Galveston Island.

Later, after a thousand adventures, he bought land near Houston and put his vast knowledge to work building a home and developing soil that welcomed every seed. The lush grounds were his tribute, and he proudly grew fruit and flowers to share with any passer-by.

LIFE WAS GOOD, but soon daylight turned to an eternal dusk, and now the beloved garden stands neglected, begging for his hands on a hoe. Oh, he did not leave it easily. For a long time, he kept it alive by touch — feeling its dampness or dryness, letting his fingers examine each plant to find the unwanted weeds.

But now the sun is setting on his life.

"Is it another beautiful day, and is everything fine with you?" he asks.

He is not my father, but I reply, "Yes, papa." And he smiles.

Der Fuehrer's Catastrophe

WASHINGTON — It was the end of the 1970 fall fashion season, and the news on all fronts was bad. The Fuehrer, deep down in his bunker underneath the Seventh Avenue Subway, was reading reports from all parts of the country in rage and frustration.

"Mein Fuehrer," one of his aides told him, "Seventh Avenue is in ruins. The mid-length skirt has bombed. All is lost. We must surrender."

"Don't tell me we have lost the war," the Fuehrer screamed. "We will counterattack. We will punish all those who refuse to wear the mid-skirt!"

ANOTHER AIDE came in. "Good news, mein Fuehrer," he said. "Bonwit Teller reports it has just sold two midis today."

The Fuehrer started to dance a jig. "You see, swine. It is selling! The midi is selling! Today, Bonwit Teller . . . tomorrow the world."

The Fuehrer went over to his map and stuck two pins in it. "That makes 234 midis sold this year. I told you the women would go for it."

Another aide came in with a telegram. "Mein Fuehrer, Saks Fifth Avenue has surrendered to the mini forces. So has Macy's, Gimbels and Bloomingdale's. We cannot hold out much longer. Perhaps we should issue a communique saying that it makes no difference what length a woman's skirt is this year as long as she's happy."

"NEVER! NEVER!" screamed the Fuehrer, kicking over chairs and tables. "I decreed that women would wear midis and they will wear midis, whether they like them or not."

The aides looked at each other in hopelessness. The Fuehrer's mistress, who was playing solitaire, looked up from her game. "Perhaps it may be better, liebchen, to give in."

THE FUEHRER looked at his mistress and screamed, "Yes, and if I surrender I will be tried as a war criminal and they will hang me. They will say I brought ruin to all of them. The answer is, 'No.' My plan to bring order to the fashion world will triumph. If they do not listen to me, there will be anarchy in the land, What word from Sears, Roebuck?"

An aide came in with the new Sears, Roebuck catalogue.

"They've replaced the midi with pantsuits," the aide said.

"Traitors! They will pay for this," the Fuehrer yelled as he started tearing the catalogue to bits. "I made Sears, Roebuck and I will destroy them."

THE TELEPHONE rang and an aide grabbed it. "Yes, yes. Good, good." Then he turned to the Fuehrer. "It's Orbach's. They have a customer in the store and she's looking at midis."

The Fuehrer started to dance another jig. "The tide is turning," he cried.

"What's that?" the aide said. "Oh." He hung up the phone. "Her husband came in and dragged her out of the store."

The Fuehrer's mistress began to cry. His Alsatian dog, sleeping in the corner, whined.

The teleprinter rang.

AN AIDE WENT over to the machine. "I, Magnin's, Marshall Field, Lord & Taylor, and J.C. Penney have collapsed. They're all holding fire sales on the midi."

The Fuehrer sank down in his chair. "That does it. No more Mr. Nice Guy."

The Fuehrer's mistress took a bottle of cyanide capsules out of the drawer and placed one in each cupcake. Then she called over the dog and gave him a cupcake. He ate it eagerly and rolled over dead.

She poured out two cups of coffee. She handed the Fuehrer a cupcake. He looked at her and said, "Liebchen, you beloved in the midi, didn't you?"

The mistress took the other cupcake. "With my legs, what choice did I have?"

Teddy Heads For The Center

WASHINGTON — A delightful pachyderm of a man named Richard Scammon, who is known well only in a few select households, may have convinced Sen. Teddy Kennedy — by remote control, as it were — to run for President after all in 1972.

Scammon is not a politician, nor even a Kennedy intimate. He does not aspire to the role of kingmaker. He is a former director of the U. S. Census, who with a former Lyndon Johnson aide, Ben Wattenberg, has written a book on the psyche of the American voter titled "The Real Majority."

KENNEDY READ the book and found it fascinating. Discussing it with various people, including Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield he has expressed the conclusion that the book's findings constitute persuasive testimony that no potential Democratic candidate should be counted out of the 1972 race. In effect, he has been saying that he should be included among those potential candidates.

WHAT KENNEDY found particularly beguiling about the book was the authors' suggestion that if the Democrats nominate a moderate two years hence the contest could be decided on the basis of a candidate's personality. It is hardly news that Teddy felt he could have beaten Richard Nixon in 1968 on that basis. And after four years of presiding over a conflict-torn country, the Nixon personality will be put to its sternest test ever.

AMONG THE Kennedys, modesty has always yielded to realism. Obviously, then, Teddy Kennedy must figure that a Kennedy would win a contest of personalities with Richard Nixon, so long as he projected a moderate image. In the Kennedy camp, Teddy's task in building such an image is considered relatively easy. In the first place, except for the late Bobby, the Kennedys have never leaned to the left. In many ways, John Kennedy was more conservative than Richard Nixon.

TEDDY HIMSELF has flirted with assorted militant groups, white and black, but he has never committed himself in the fashion of say, New York's Sen. Charles Goodell or Sen. Gene McCarthy, or even Mayor John Lindsay.

Moreover, in recent months Teddy has started to cut even these tenuous ties with the way-out crowd. He has warned the Democratic party — as the Scammon-Wattenberg book does — to be leery of putting its political money on a coalition of the black, the poor, the intellectuals and the socially alienated. He wants the party to patch up its differences with the hard hats, meaning the labor unions. In careful modern, Kennedy language he has come out for law and order.

KENNEDY IS NOT building this image to give aid and comfort to his re-election campaign in Massachusetts this fall. He'll win in a breeze.

The Scammon-Wattenberg book produces awesome statistics which prove its conclusion that the "social issue" will decide that '72 election. It is an issue that embraces "racist problems, crime, student disruption, pot, pornography, morals, school integration and raucous dissent." Therefore, the book warns both Republicans and Democrats to make for the center.

Richard Nixon is already there, of course. And every indication now is that he will find it crowded with a Kennedy named Teddy long before the next Presidential campaign gets underway.

Billy Graham

I married when I was fifteen, and am the mother of a six-year-old son. My married life has been miserable, but I have stayed married because of the child. Please tell me what the Bible says about divorce and remarriage. I can't go to my own pastor because he is living with his second wife, and I feel this is wrong.

M. B. S.
 In the last sentence of your question you gave your own answer. What is wrong for your pastor would be wrong for you. I do not know the circumstances of your pastor's second marriage, so therefore cannot comment on it. But, the point is, you believe that divorce and remarriage are wrong, and if you took such a course you would be hounded by guilt all your life.

Divorce, with some people, is a disease. As in the case with you, they marry on impulse, or are forced to wed — and wedlock becomes an endurance contest, filled with misery and anxiety.

But, there is another answer. Begin by letting your marriage become a Christian marriage — at least, as far as you are concerned. Make a full commitment of your life to Christ, and let Him change your attitudes. I predict that you will become so winsome a woman that your husband will fall in love with you, and follow you in a full commitment to the Lord. Divorce is a symptom of self-centeredness, and when Christ becomes the center of the home, often tremendous changes take place. Even if the problem isn't completely solved, you will be better equipped to handle it.

Miss Rhine Wins Post In B&PW

Miss Moveida Rhine, president of Big Spring Business and Professional Women's Club, was named 1971-72 director for District 8, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, at a weekend conference in El Paso. She will be installed at the state convention in Fort Worth June 11-13, 1971.

The conference was held at Paso Del Norte Hotel with 81 members present from the district, which includes Lamesa, Seminole, Andrews, Midland, Odessa, Kermit, Monahan, Pecos and El Paso. Attending from Big Spring were Miss Rhine, Mrs. Cass Hill, Mrs. Willard Sullivan and Mrs. Bert Affleck.

Mrs. Eva Bauer, district director, presided and the welcome to the city was given by Sheriff Mike Sullivan. Mrs. Maude Arnold, second vice-president of the state federation of Business & Professional Women's Clubs, was speaker for the banquet Saturday. A musical program was presented by Freeman Harris, bass soloists, and by the Choraleers of El Paso Natural Gas Company, directed by James Guthrie.

On Sunday morning Mrs. Hill presented a workshop for the Big Spring Club in the area of "World Affairs" on the topic, "Ring Around the Globe". Each club presented workshops on different areas of club work on the theme, "Era of Responsibility". Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Affleck were evaluators of the workshops.

Mrs. Lucinda Chapman of Paso Del Norte Club of El Paso was elected a member of the state nominating committee and Mrs. Sullivan was named alternate.

Kermit Club received the attendance award for the second year in a row at the conference, which is held each fall.

Queen Agrees With Lib Aims

NEW YORK (AP) — Miss America 1971, Phyllis George, says she believes in some of the aims of women's liberation.

"I'm interested in finding out more about it," Miss George, from Denton, Tex., said Monday. "I would like to sit down and talk to the women's lib people."

The tall brown-haired Texas Christian University senior, wearing calf-length gaucho pants and boots, held a news conference at the Barclay Hotel. She did not feel exploited by the contest, she said, and got so excited about winning she had a mental blackout.

The swimsuit appearances, often a target of women's lib advocates, were fine with her, Miss George said.

"It didn't bother me too much," she said. "But thank goodness we didn't have to wear bikinis. I guess if you did away with the swimsuit parade you'd lose a lot of male viewers."

The forum's monthly project is to take children from Westside Center to the library for books and reading sessions.

EMOTIONAL REUNION — Mrs. George Reynolds of Menands, N.Y., wearing glasses, hugs her daughter, Marilla, back to camera, Monday night in an emotion-filled moment as Swissair Flight 102 disembarked at New York City's Kennedy International Airport. Marilla was a passenger on one of the airliners hijacked by Palestinian guerrillas and was among those held hostage at an airstrip in the Jordan desert. At right is tearful Mrs. James Cashman, daughter-in-law of school teacher Victoria Cashman (not shown), another of the guerrilla hostages who arrived on the Swissair flight.

Voters Snub School Tax

ST. LOUIS (AP) — School tax proposals were defeated again Monday in two area districts, St. Louis County's Ritenour and Wentzville in St. Charles County.

It was the sixth defeat for a tax levy in the Wentzville district and the fourth in the Ritenour district.

The Ritenour district has about 14,000 school-age children and Wentzville, about 22 miles west of St. Louis, has 2,800.

Both proposals received favorable votes but failed to get the two-thirds majority necessary for passage of school tax levies in excess of $3.75 per $100 assessed valuation.

The vote on a proposed $1.03 tax increase in Wentzville was 1,887 to 1,091, a 63.3 per cent majority.

Had the increase been approved, it would have raised the tax to $5.43 per $100 assessed valuation. Because of the failure, the levy drops to the $1.25 that can be levied by a school board without approval of voters. Up to three times that amount, $3.75, requires a simple majority for passage.

Classes were to begin at Ritenour today and in Wentzville Wednesday.

Hits Holding Of Hostages By Any Nation Or Group

By The Associated Press
With some 55 hostages from airline hijackings still in the hands of Arab guerrillas, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has proposed that hijackers "be prosecuted in the name of the peoples of the world" by a special international tribunal.

A U.N. spokesman said Thant was suggesting establishment of a court separate from the present World Court at The Hague.

SEEDS OF ANARCHY
Hijacking and abduction of foreign diplomats by extremist groups "sow the seeds of international anarchy," the secretary-general told about 2,000 persons at a $150-a-plate dinner on the eve of today's opening of the 25th General Assembly.

He said hijacking is a crime against an international service affecting many nations and individual citizens, and added: "This crime must be brought before an international tribunal defending the interests of all peoples and nations and not of any particular people or nation."

court might mean the surrender of some national sovereignty. "The world has no other choice... Nations and people must have the courage to resort to adequate new methods of international law and order."

He contended that the current rash of hijackings "is likely to change if hijackers are served notice by all nations that there will be no immunity or amnesty."

HIDING PLACES

The hostages are the last held of about 400 who spent most of last week in three hijacked airplanes in a Jordanian desert. The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine released the others earlier, and 145 joined 46 previous arrivals in New York Monday.

The Popular Front, which commandeered the Swissair DC8, the Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 and the British Overseas Airways Corp. VC10 last week, said Monday it would not release the remaining American passengers until Tel Aviv promised to release guerrillas jailed in Israel.

said the hostages, who include West Germans, Swiss and Britons, as well as Americans and Israelis, have been taken to various hideouts, "three in each place." He said an attack on any of the hiding places would endanger their lives.

They were herded off the planes Saturday morning, minutes before the guerrillas blew up the planes.

In Washington, the White House issued a strongly worded statement denouncing the detention of hostages, but presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the statement could not be considered groundwork for direct U.S. intervention to gain their release.

Observers said the statement—which deplored "the holding of hostages by any nation or group"—was aimed at Israel as well as the Popular Front. The Israelis rounded up 450 Palestinians and guerrilla sympathizers during the weekend, then released 75 of them Monday. The others, Israel reportedly told the Popular Front through three Arab emissaries, will be executed if the guerrillas harm any of their hostages.

Israeli Radio quoted one of the emissaries, Dr. Wazi Qamhawi as saying the three met with Popular Front officials for two minutes then were thrown out.

HUMILIATED
"We handed over the Israeli warning, the doctor said, "but we felt very humiliated."

Sources in London said Britain was undertaking a confidential effort to persuade the Israelis to join the prisoner exchange. There reportedly are about 3,000 Palestinian prisoners in Israeli jails.

The British appeal, sources said, was made by Foreign Secretary Alec Douglas-Home in a private audience with Israeli Ambassador Michael Comay. Informants said Sir Alec assured Comay that Britain would not bow to a guerrilla demand to free Leila Khaled, who attempted to hijack an El Al jetliner and was arrested when it landed in London.

Miss Khaled was described by a source in London, where she is being held, as "still a fanatic for the Palestinian cause." She "has been doing a lot of talking in jail," he said, but "has refused to say anything about her own hijacking attempt or the others."

Roddy Caffey, Vard Griffith Are Honored

Following is a list of players honored by The Daily Herald for performances in the season's opening football games last weekend:

BIG SPRING
Steer coaches think they may have found that back who will keep the opposition honest. He is RODDY CAFFEY, 155-pound senior, who took the Back of the Week honors. Roddy had been impressive on the junior varsity and below, but coaches couldn't quite decide if he was ready. Against Lubbock Monterey, he "ran with more desire than any back I've seen," said Coach Clovis Hale. He picked up 87 yards in 10 tries, and this included 20-yard and 35-yard scampers, either of which could have gone all the way. A couple of other times he was only a stride from breaking it open. Hale was particularly pleased with Roddy's consistency.

Stanford Is Fourth In AP Football Poll

By The Associated Press — Stanford's dramatic 34-28 victory over Arkansas last Saturday accounted for the only changes today in The Associated Press' first weekly poll of the regular season.

Ohio State and Texas, which the Indians jumped from 10th were idle, and Southern California, supplanting the Ramblers, a 42-21 victor over Alabama, who fell to 11th but retained the first three spots, but the Trojans are right on the heels of Texas, defending national champs.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: AL ATKINSON, linebacker for the New York Jets, discussing his celebrated team-mate:

"Joe Namath should get away from the crowd he's surrounded by, get out of the asphalt jungle. He has to face up to his responsibilities and not listen to those phonies who tell him he's a great actor. He's not an actor, he's a pro football player."

LETTY PHILLIPS, manager of the California Angels, discussing the difference between two of baseball's problem children, his team's Alex Johnson and Richie Allen of the St. Louis Cardinals:

"Once you get Allen on the field, your problems are just beginning."

JERRY KRAMER, former Green Bay player, discussing the time Mrs. Vince Lombardi joined the team for dinner before a game:

"The dessert was apple pie and Mrs. Lombardi asked the waiter if she could have a scoop of ice cream on her pie. Before the waiter could answer, Vince jumped up out of his seat and belted, 'When you travel with the team and you eat with the team, you eat what the team eats.'"

A. J. FOYT, after he had raced and crashed at the new Ontario track in California:

"The heat was awful but the track is all right, a little faster than Indianapolis, but just another 2 1/2 mile track. But I prefer the Indy track."

Trick shot golfer PAUL HAHN, after moving to Houston: "There are two cities that are moving forward and not backward — Houston and Atlanta."

BROOKS WEST, ET-El Paso's 230-pound defensive tackle: "I think my year of red-shirting helped me greatly. For one thing it helped me build myself up and to gain more knowledge of football."

LENNY DAWSON, quarterback for the Kansas City Chiefs: "I'm in pretty good shape for a 35-year old quarterback and in great shape for a 35-year old man."

Veteran horse trainer BUSTER MILLERICK: "When horses break down, you can't blame it all on the track as some people are inclined to do. I think trainers are as responsible as the track they run on. They break the horses down by running them too often and training them too hard. Doing that would break a thoroughbred down even if you ran him on cushions. . . . There will never be another horse like Native Dancer. He was the smartest horse I ever knew. He didn't need a jockey to help him win. All the rider had to do was sit on his back and he'd do the rest. When he lost, it was usually because the jockey was trying to take hold of him or rate him. Native Dancer was smarter than some of the boys who sat on his back."

JOHN MCKAY, football coach at USC: "Playing quarterback is not completing the most passes, it's winning the game. TV misses that point."

Defense Boosting Chance Of Mets

By The Associated Press — Defense, says Gil Hodges, could be the name of the game in the final stages of the National League's East Division title countdown.

To prove his point, the New York Mets kept digging in, holding the line . . . and scooping up everyone else's fumbles. "Our defense has picked up so much in recent games," the Mets' manager said before Monday night's game against the Montreal Expos. "A thing like that goes unnoticed, but it shows up in your pitching. The pitching looks so much stronger."

Then the Mets backed Danny Frisella's solid relief pitching with airtight play in the field before capitalizing on a Montreal defensive breakdown for four unearned runs in the 10th inning and a 9-5 victory that sent them into a virtual first-place deadlock with Pittsburgh.

Ex-Steer Has Part In Win

ABILENE — Little Mike Barnes went after the big game Saturday afternoon, and he got one.

The former Big Spring football and track star came in late in the second quarter and helped the McMurry College Indians hold off a rally by the Prairie View A&M Panthers.

Barnes picked off a pass intended for Sammy Lee, a 6-5, 235-pound tight end, at the goal line and returned it 40 yards. The score was tied 7-7 at the time.

McMurry eventually rolled to a convincing 30-13 upset victory over Prairie View.

Barnes and teammate Glen Nix, a little 150-pounder from Colorado City, picked off Prairie View passes as the Indians won their sixth straight season opener.

Barnes is 5-11 and 175 pounds. He was Big Spring's leading receiver in 1969 and ran on the mile relay team and placed in the 440 at the district meet last spring.

McMurry will be open this week, but tangles with defending NAIA champion Texas A&I in Kingsville Oct. 26.

Buff's May Take To Air Friday

STANTON — Storm signals are flying here this week as Coach Bill Young readies his Buffaloes for an invasion of Rotan.

The reason is Rotan's 38-12 triumph over Spur while Stanton was dropping a close one to Tahoka in the opener.

Rotan is big and fairly fast. Coach Young figures the Buffs may have to go to the air, and considerable work will be devoted to pass protection, which broke down several times last week.

Defensive pursuit also will be stressed to pick up runners after the initial charge.

Stanton came through its first game in good physical shape.

QBC Co-Captain

Tonight's Quarterback Club meeting will get under way at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

We had only a fair turnout at last week's meeting. Here's hoping many people will be able to make the later meeting.

We were hoping to have at least 80 people for the breakfast last Friday morning and we had close to 150. We have to admit it was very successful, though slightly disorganized due to the large turnout.

Our special thanks go to Rev. Caleb Hildebrand and the Wesley United Methodist Church for the use of their facilities. We will move to larger facilities for the coming Friday's breakfast at the First United Methodist Church. Serving will begin at 7 a.m.

How about the radio stations and their very fine, stimulating spots and coverage. Or thanks go to KBST for broadcasting the breakfast. We are indeed fortunate to have the finest radio coverage in the state for high school athletics and we want the KBST and KBYG management to know how much it is appreciated.

If this club will only follow their lead, we can easily attain our goal of becoming the state's champion booster club.

The Steers represented themselves well in Lubbock. We were outscored but certainly not outfought. Mistakes took their toll but mistakes can and will be corrected.

The Gold was much in evidence with a surprising number of 70 rushers making the trip. The cheerleaders and the Goldgidders were very noisy and our magnificent band gave Monterey a real lesson in their half time performance.

You had better believe Gold was mined this past week, but then we only scratched the surface. The Mother Lode still is to be reached, so be a swinner. Big Springer, and get with the Gold. See you at the arenas.

Gail Coyotes To Oppose Three Way Friday Night

GAIL — Coach Bobby Dyess, cheered by the 52-18 victory his Borden County Coyotes scored over Bula last weekend, sends his eight-man team against Three Way here Friday night.

The contest will be the final homecoming this year will be the visiting team.

Charley Bilbeck scored two touchdowns for Gail against Bula, one on a kickoff return of 80 yards. Joe Harding crossed the goal line twice and Jimmy Hodge, Henry Oliverrez and Roy Dale Hendley once each and Gail completely dominated play.

Harding, Hodge and Hendley each counted extra points. Coach Dyess suited out 32 boys and played them all. He went with his first unit for a half but flooded the field with substitutes after the intermission.

Borden County is seeking to improve upon an 8-2 record achieved last year. The 1969 Coyotes lost only to Wellman and Three-Way.

Seventeen of Gail's 32 boys reside in Howard County. Ed Huddleston is helping Dyess with coaching duties. Huddleston recently graduated from Howard Payne College.

Ten of Gail's boys are returning lettermen. Virgil Whitaker, whose father is in business in Big Spring, is a standout center for the Coyotes.

Rich Hendley quarterbacked the Gail team. He was honorable mention all-district last year.

The game with Sands will be an 11-man contest. Gail's schedule: Oct. 16 — Whitthorn here. Oct. 23 — Garden City here (C). Oct. 30 — Dawson here (C). Nov. 6 — Al Wetmore (C). Nov. 13 — Al Klondike (C). Nov. 20 — Loop here (C). (C) — denotes conference games.

YSLETA GAME DUCATS READY

A total of 782 season tickets have been sold locally. Last year, 1,016 such ducats were distributed.

Local sales for the Big Spring-Monterey game last week amounted to 268 adult and 344 student tickets.

Ex-Steer Has Part In Win

ABILENE — Little Mike Barnes went after the big game Saturday afternoon, and he got one.

The former Big Spring football and track star came in late in the second quarter and helped the McMurry College Indians hold off a rally by the Prairie View A&M Panthers.

Barnes picked off a pass intended for Sammy Lee, a 6-5, 235-pound tight end, at the goal line and returned it 40 yards. The score was tied 7-7 at the time.

McMurry eventually rolled to a convincing 30-13 upset victory over Prairie View.

Barnes and teammate Glen Nix, a little 150-pounder from Colorado City, picked off Prairie View passes as the Indians won their sixth straight season opener.

Barnes is 5-11 and 175 pounds. He was Big Spring's leading receiver in 1969 and ran on the mile relay team and placed in the 440 at the district meet last spring.

McMurry will be open this week, but tangles with defending NAIA champion Texas A&I in Kingsville Oct. 26.

Buff's May Take To Air Friday

STANTON — Storm signals are flying here this week as Coach Bill Young readies his Buffaloes for an invasion of Rotan.

The reason is Rotan's 38-12 triumph over Spur while Stanton was dropping a close one to Tahoka in the opener.

Rotan is big and fairly fast. Coach Young figures the Buffs may have to go to the air, and considerable work will be devoted to pass protection, which broke down several times last week.

Defensive pursuit also will be stressed to pick up runners after the initial charge.

Stanton came through its first game in good physical shape.

Shadow Of Disharmony Falls Over GOP Confab

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Under a faint shadow of disharmony, Texas Republicans assembled today for their state convention to hope of propelling their candidates to victory in November.

The threat of a floor fight loomed as the lone topic of controversy and platform writers, faced with the issue, were faced with a chance of averting an open squabble.

Among party leaders on hand to address the group, estimated in advance at 5,000, were Senate candidate George Bush, gubernatorial aspirant Paul Eggers and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

ADOPT PLATFORM

Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia, his state's first Republican governor, keynoted the convention.

Prior to adoption of a party platform, Mrs. Nancy Palm, chairwoman of the Harris County (Houston) delegation, ejected the singular note of controversy in an otherwise harmonious convention. She said she would take her fight to the convention floor if platform writers did not take "specific stands on the issues."

She said she was particularly concerned with the possibility the plank on narcotics would propose a reduction in the penalty for marijuana possession from a felony to a misdemeanor. Such a move, she said, would unequivocally provoke the convention hassle.

FLOOR FIGHT

"It is my hope," said Rep. Maurice Angly Jr. of Austin, chairman of the pre-convention platform committee, "that the plank submitted... will be of such a nature that we will not have a floor fight develop."

"I think there is a possibility that we will not have a floor fight on the issue. I think there is a possibility we will have a floor fight on the issue."

And, he said privately, "I've been on a hot grid for two weeks and they turned up the burners when we get here... but I still have control of my committee."

Holton, in prepared remarks, told the Republicans the Democrats no longer have the field to themselves in Texas.

"No longer is their primary tantamount to the winning touchdown. No more can one party expect to emerge the unchallenged, unbeaten winner of the political season."

NEW LOOKER

He called one party domination a "one-way street to stagnation" and asserted that Texans recognize "it is high time for a change, time to put a new look—and a new looker—into state government."

And, he added, "By electing George Bush, Texans will not only send to Washington a man in whom President Nixon has absolute faith... they will also... make Texas the first southern state to have two Republicans as its two Senators since Reconstruction days."

Bush, in his advance text, said his Democratic opponent, Lloyd Bentsen, must veer left in the national Democratic Party if he is to be effective.

"I don't believe Texans want a man in the Senate who for pure party politics will kick the President of the U.S. as he tries to solve our country's tough national problems."

WALKING WOUNDED — Two members of the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division making the wounded leg of their scout dog. The dog cut his paw while making his way through thick elephant grass in the Quang Tri area, in northern South Vietnam.

Enemy Troops Again Halt Try To Recapture Prize

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops again halted a general attempt to recapture an important part of Cambodia's heartland today, and in South Vietnam's northern quarter fighting broke out at five places.

As the new fighting was reported, the U.S. Command announced more troop withdrawals from Vietnam that will cut American strength by more than 3,000, and the South Vietnamese announced the withdrawal of 1,500 of their troops from Cambodian operations.

operation near Neak Luong, 40 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. A spokesman said 35 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed in the operation and that two South Vietnamese were killed. He said the end of the operation reduced South Vietnamese strength in Cambodia from 15,000 to 13,500 troops.

In the northern part of South Vietnam, North Vietnamese troops kept up their siege of Fire Base O'Reilly and clashed with government forces near artillery base Barnett, 10 miles to the northwest.

Chance To Answer My Lai Charges

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — The first enlisted man charged in the alleged My Lai massacre got his chance to fight back today. At his request newsmen will be present.

S.Sgt. David Mitchell, 31, of St. Francisville, La., is charged with assault with intent to murder.

An article 39A hearing—similar to a pretrial hearing in civilian courts—was the form of the session.

Only the first half hour or so were to be in secret, to handle "routine" matters such as seating for newsmen, an Army spokesman said.

vin Laird and Army Secretary Stanley Resor. He needs their testimony on the issue of command influence, he said.

The U.S. Supreme Court has reversed convictions where it was shown that someone in the chain of command above the officer who convened the court-martial influenced him to do so.

Brown said Nixon called My Lai a massacre three weeks before Mitchell's court-martial was ordered. He said the officer who convened the court-martial was influenced by his commander-in-chief's remark. He also contends that Laird and Resor influenced that officer.

Webb UF Drive Format Changed

Col. Anderson W. Atkinson, wing commander at Webb AFB, will change the concept of the annual United Fund drive on base, according to plans announced by him at a wing staff meeting.

The chain of command will be used rather than appointment of individuals as key workers to serve in this capacity. Each supervisor at every level will make contact with the people of his staff or in his shop. The base comptroller will serve as the base project officer.

Webb Sealcoating Bids Available

Invitations for bids to sealcoat the roads on Webb AFB are now being accepted, according to Floyd A. Henderson, base contracting officer.

Requests for bids must be received by the base procurement office, building 625, by Sept. 25, and bids must be received at the office by 3 p.m. Oct. 2.

The work will involve placing bituminous sealcoating on base roads, and the contractor must furnish all plant, labor, equipment and incidentals to place the sealcoat on approximately 47,200 square yards of roadway.

Air Piracy Nets Prison

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Ernest Guinn sentenced Joseph Crawford, 29, Monday to 50 years for hijacking a Continental Airlines airplane to Cuba in 1969.

The sentence was one of the heaviest given in the United States to a convicted hijacker.

The felony carries a minimum punishment of not less than 20 years. The government did not seek the death penalty, which is allowed under law.

Consultant Suggests New Sewage Plant For C-City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Replacement of the Colorado City sewage plant as soon as possible was recommended to city councilmen by master plan consultant Bennett Reeves of Lubbock during Monday night's meeting.

Reeves said the cost of the new sewage plant would be approximately $347,800, and other improvements to the system would bring the total to $631,000.

Councilmen also took steps Monday night toward moving the police department from the first floor of city hall to a building of its own by authorizing the purchase of the Greene Building adjoining city hall on the east. The city council voted to offer $4,500 for the building. J. A. Sadler, city manager, told the council the building can be used as a police department and for storage for the museum.

Abe Fortas Visits Tech

LUBBOCK — Former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas will come to Lubbock Thursday to deliver the first lecture in Texas Tech's University Speakers Series for the fall semester.

His address at 7:15 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium will be open to the public without charge.

Speaking on the topic "The Present Dangers to Liberty," the noted jurist is expected to discuss implications of today's legal revolution with particular reference to individual rights and the protection of human dignity in an increasingly complex society.

Justice Fortas expressed his philosophy and beliefs in a booklet, "Concerning Dissent and Civil Disobedience," published in 1968, which he emphasized the importance of dissent and the value of dissent as an alternative to violence.

His latest work "The Crisis in Individual Liberty," offers a comprehensive study on individual rights.

ACCUSED KIDNAPER

Boy Blurts:
'That's Him!'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Probing for clues after a small boy was kidnaped and released, police drove the youngster north to San Marcos Monday. Suddenly the boy blurts: "That's him!"

Seven-year-old Robert Lewis Dunn III pointed to a car as police Sgt. Dave Flores was about to pass it and identified the driver as his kidnaper, officers said.

Flores said he pulled the motorist over and told him to follow the squad car to San Marcos police headquarters. The man complied.

Young Robert, grandson of a department store executive, vanished Sunday night after accompanying his mother to a washateria.

CHICKEN CLUE
Helen Ormand, a housewife, said she found him about 15 hours later at a grocery store not far from the washateria. The blond second grader was trying to use a telephone to call home.

Mrs. Ormand also said Robert dropped a honey container bearing the name of a fried chicken firm.

The boy told police his abductor bought him chicken at a restaurant, and a check revealed the only one by that name in this area was at San Marcos.

Police phoned the restaurant, and learned a man and a boy matching young Robert's description ate there earlier Monday.

Officers then drove the boy and his father, Robert L. Dunn Jr., to San Marcos, about 50 miles north of here.

Robert spotted the motorist as they neared the edge of town, police said.

DINNER TALK — Former President Lyndon Johnson talks to Gov. Preston Smith, back to camera, at the Texas Democratic Banquet in Dallas last night. Mrs. Smith is to the right of Johnson and Mrs. Johnson is to the right of Gov. Smith. Johnson's hand is bandaged from minor surgery to remove a growth.

All They Have To Fear Is Democratic Default?

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith told Texas Democrats today that it would take a unified party to turn out the vote for a sweeping victory in November.

"The Democratic candidates will be out on the highways and byways 'pressing the flesh' and renewing their eye-to-eye, hand-to-hand, heart-to-heart ties with the voters they have served and will serve again," Smith said.

WORK FRINGES
"You will find that the platform and the campaign will stress working to help people and thereby help create in our state a better life style for us all. We will bypass the extremes and extremists, but we will not be afraid to work the fringes as well as the center."

PRESSING THE FLESH
"Some say the party name doesn't matter, as long as we have two," Smith said. "I say we have a two-party system in Texas, a majority party and a second-place party. And I am in favor of leaving it that way."

MAIN SPEAKER
"The party must be able to meet a new day . . . If not, the public is going to pass us by, and the public should pass us by," he said.

Johnson was main speaker at a $30-a-plate dinner attended by more than 2,000 of the 7,000 delegates and guests.

Other speakers also mentioned the challenge faced by the party, as did witnesses earlier before a subcommittee drafting platform recommendations for today's convention.

"There is still more that unites us than divides us," said Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic nominee for U.S. senator. "The Republicans can fulfill their boast of winning in November only if the Democrats fall over and play dead."

Johnson praised the governor as a "unifying force in the Texas Democratic party ever since he has been in it."

The former president drew his loudest applause when he predicted "the united party will rise up and elect Smith, Bentsen and every Democrat on the ticket this year."

Latin Group Breaks Up
School Meet

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston school board meeting was broken up Monday night by a group of Mexican-Americans who said they were protesting the board's refusal to hear them.

About 25 persons charged the board table as the meeting came to an end, climbed on the table, kicked off papers and forced the board members to flee.

Board President Leonard Robbins was struck on the head and his glasses were knocked off but he was not injured. Witnesses said, however, that he apparently was struck by an Anglo who was not part of the group.

The disturbance occurred after the board had voted to appeal an order of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals which paired predominantly Negro and Mexican-American elementary schools, prompting a boycott of classes by about 3,500 Mexican-Americans.

Members of the Mexican-American Education Council, which organized the boycott, had sent telegrams asking that they be allowed to speak.

As the public meeting drew to a close and they were not called on, Gregory Salazar, a member of the Mexican-American Youth Organization who had not requested to speak, rushed to the board table.

"You're going to have a mess if you don't sit down and listen," he shouted.

As electrically-operated folding doors started to cut off the board members from the audience, about 25 persons rushed the table.

After the board members fled, the group ran through the corridors, knocking over ash trays and potted plants, and caused some damage in the building's cafeteria.

It took police about 25 minutes to arrest all in the group. They were hauled outside and placed in prowler cars.

GIFT TO CHAPEL — William C. Phinney (right), president of Local 826, IUOE, hands a gift for the Big Spring State Hospital All Faith Chapel to Jack Y. Smith, treasurer of the chapel fund. The executive board of the local is contacting IUOE members throughout West Texas with a request for assistance so that the chapel can finance all needed items in furniture and equipment.

IUOE Members Informed On All Faith Chapel Aid

Members of various West Texas locals in the International Union of Operating Engineers are being circulated with information on the Big Spring State Hospital All Faith Chapel, in the hope they will add contributions to the chapel fund.

Action to contact fellow IUOE members was taken by the executive board of Local 826, whose members started off the campaign with contributions of $40.

Construction is under way on the chapel, and there is money on hand for the building proper; but if all planned items in furniture and equipment are provided, the chapel fund still needs some help. It was said by Jack Y. Smith, treasurer.

"We are pleased that members of the IUOE would recognize the chapel's needs and lend a hand in helping us meet our final goal," Smith said.

Immunization Drive Drags

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Worried health officials urged the public to heed their warnings today after slim crowds appeared for a second immunization drive despite a diphtheria epidemic.

"It may be worth the life of a child to go to a vaccination clinic today," warned Health Director William Ross after fewer than 5,000 persons received diphtheria and polio inoculations Monday.

Confirmed diphtheria cases totaled 89 for the year Monday, plus 20 unconfirmed cases. Two children have died.

The first meeting of the Big Spring Band Boosters will be at 8 p.m. today in the band hall at Big Spring High School. All parents of band students and other interested persons are invited to attend, according to Bertis Harris, president. Committee assignments will be made and Campus Review '71 will be discussed.

Calls Demands
'Fantastic'

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The La Vega School District Board met today after a walkout Monday by several hundred Negro pupils protesting the closing of formerly all-black Carver school, which they attended.

Supt. Henry Cranfill called the demands "fantastic." The pupils also objected to being bused to La Vega, and said they were dissatisfied with the school's dress rules and shorter lunch periods.

Most of the pupils returned to classes, but about 125 marched to the Carver school.

Carver was closed under a desegregation plan worked out between school district officials and Department of Health, Education and Welfare representatives.

EL PASO SOLDIER

Arraigned in the case before a San Marcos peace justice was Jose de la Luz Perez Jr., identified by police as an El Paso soldier stationed here at Ft. Sam Houston.

A warrant for his arrest on kidnaping charges was issued by a San Antonio peace justice and Perez, 24, was returned here, officers said.

Robert disappeared from the washateria after his mother sent him with some laundry to the family car.

He told police that a man who approached him said he had a convertible with something wrong with its seat. He said the man dragged him into the car when he went to see it, and drove away.

Robert became the object of a massive search.

He is the grandson of Robert L. Dunn Sr., vice president of a large department store. His father works for a machinery company.

The youngster was examined at a hospital. A doctor said he could find no injuries.

Warm, Fresh Air

... direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat — you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.

WRITING PLATFORM
The 5,515 voting delegates of the state convention were charged by law with:
— Certifying statewide candidates for the Nov. 3 election.
— Writing a platform of party policies for the next two years.
— Electing officers and members of the Democratic State Executive Committee for the next two years.

Actually, the main practical purpose of the convention was to give Democratic candidates a boost, both financially and publicity wise, for the final stages of their general election campaigns.

At Monday's hearing by the resolutions and platform subcommittee, Benton Musslewhite of Lufkin, a top assistant to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., predicted:
"If we don't have party purity by 1972 there will be a viable fourth party in Texas and that will draw most of its strength from the Democratic party."

Bentsen said a heavy vote for former Alabama Gov. George Wallace must be considered a third party now.

MAKE ROOM
"If the Democratic party is going to live, we've got to make room for those people who have largely been excluded in the past," said Yancy White, San Patricio County attorney.

Various witnesses urged that the party platform include:
— Repeal of the present annual voter registration system, registration by party affiliation, preservation of the neighborhood concept and freedom of choice in school desegregation, $3,000 exemption from local taxes for old folks, establishment of a state public utilities rate regulation agency, revision of auto insurance laws, a corporate profits tax to replace the franchise tax, and a ban on no-return bottles and cans.

MOPAC Ax Is Delayed

AUSTIN (AP) — Complaints against the proposed discontinuance of the Missouri-Pacific's Texas Eagle passenger train have delayed the Railroad Commission's decision at least 20 days.

The City of Austin, the Austin Chamber of Commerce, and the National Association of Railway Passengers filed formal letters of objection to the proposed order by the Monday deadline.

MOPAC has 20 days in which to respond to the protests before the commission issues its final order.

Examiner Wallace Nations recommended after hearings in several cities that the MOPAC request be granted. MOPAC claimed the Eagle, one of only three trans-Texas passenger trains, was losing money heavily.

The Eagle runs from St. Louis, Mo., to Laredo, via Palestine, Austin and San Antonio.
