'Mad' Manson Takes Flying Leap At Judge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson has been ousted from the courtroom again after taking a flying leap at the judge in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

"In the name of Christian justice, someone should cut your head off!" Manson shouted as he wrestled with bailiffs at the foot of Judge Charles H. Older's bench Monday.

The bearded, long-haired leader of a hippie-type clan sprang at the judge after telling him: "The minute I see you are going to use this courtroom to kill me, you know what I'm going to do to you."

Manson, 35, is on trial with three women followers, charged with murdering Miss Tate and six others in August, 1969. Twice ejected last week for singing and shouting taunts at the judge, the defendants were readmitted Monday and given another chance to behave.

But as the session began, Manson spoke up, asking a chance to question witnesses. The judge refused.

"Are you going to use this courtroom to kill me? Do you want me to be dead?" Manson asked the judge, his voice rising with anger. The judge repeatedly told him to be silent. Then Manson asked, "Do you know what I'm going to do to you?"

The judge said, "What are you going to do to me?"

Manson mumbled, "You know," paused, then added: "You order me to be quiet while you kill me. I'm going to fight for my life one way or another. You should have let me do it with words... I'm going to have you removed. I have my own little system, you know."

The judge tried to proceed with testimony, but was interrupted by Manson who shouted, "Do you think I'm kidding?"

With that, the slim 5-foot-5 defendant, with a sharp pencil clenched in one hand, made a quick cat-like jump with one foot on the counsel table, launching himself into a dive at the judge. He plunged head first to the floor within two feet of the bench. Subdued by bailiffs, he was removed to an adjoining detention room.

Nixon Will Address Nation On Wednesday

New U.S. Peace Offer Shaped

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today he will deliver a major address to the nation on Vietnam Wednesday night and will have a U.S. negotiating proposal presented at the Paris peace talks Thursday.

Nixon gave no advance hint as to what the new U.S. peace talks offer might be.

The Nixons were greeted by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, congressional and administration leaders and members of the diplomatic corps.

Nixon said he had found in Europe a greater understanding of U.S. policy in Vietnam than on his previous tour last year. He said "events in the future will demonstrate" that the United States is making progress toward achieving its goals in Vietnam.

He reported a favorable sentiment for the U.S. attempt to win peace in the Middle East, and said the countries he visited consider it essential that the United States maintain its strength in the Mediterranean and in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

FAREWELL SPEECH
On the final stop of the tour, Ireland, Nixon conferred with U.S. negotiators at the Paris peace talks. In a farewell speech at Dublin Airport, he made note of meeting with Irish leaders and his Vietnam advisers.

"As I leave Ireland and as I look back on these meetings I am sure they will be regarded as a period when we made a significant contribution not only to relations between our two countries but for the great ideal we all desire, a peaceful world."

Nixon was greeted warmly throughout the tour. However, there were demonstrations in Rome, and in Dublin dissenters hurled eggs and other objects at his car. In both cities the acts were blamed on those opposed to U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Nixon repeated at the airport that his tour had been aimed at "strengthening the structure of peace in the Mediterranean and in the world. I think we made progress in strengthening that structure," he said.

Youngsters 'Hoggin' Spotlight This Week

By HOWARD SIMMS

Howard County 4-Hers and Future Farmers are already bringing their hogs to the show barns at the rodeo grounds for the 25th annual Howard County 4-H Barrow Show.

Members of the Knott, Coahoma, Lomax, North Ridge, Gav Hill, and Lucky Leaf 4-H clubs and the Sands, Coahoma, and Big Spring FFA chapters will finish bringing in the bacon Wednesday morning to start grooming their animals for the judging at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

About 100 youngsters are expected to enter, showing their hogs for the judge, Bill Scott, who is an agriculture instructor from Abilene.

AUCTION THURSDAY
The auction will begin Thursday at 7:30 p.m. under the bidding system used in the spring stock show. Instead of bidding by the pound, which for some inexperienced weight guessers is as tricky as buying a pig in a poke, bidders will bid in lump sums on the premium price.

That is, when each hog enters the auction ring the auctioneer will first "sell the floor" on a per-pound basis, usually to a packer. Then friends, relatives, and local businessmen will get into the act, but instead of raising the floor five cents a pound they will raise it $5 or $10.

PREMIUM BID
If the high premium price bidder wants to keep the pig, he pays the floor price plus his bid. If he just wants to support the youth in agriculture program he pays the premium price and the packer pays the floor price.

Committees have been canvassing local businessmen to line up as many bidders as there will be hogs for auction. If enough bidders are found, some of the youngsters will be spared the agonizing feeling of standing in the ring wondering if anyone is ever going to bid on his hog, said County Agent Paul Gross.

PAST PRICES
In past years the Grand Champion has gone for about $125 a pound, with the Reserve Grand Champion selling for about $1 a pound, Gross said.

Last year Johnny Peugh wound up with both the champion and the reserve champion, and since the rules prevented him from selling more than one hog he elected to sell the reserve champion.

Most of the young hog raisers get about a $40 premium, over and above the experience of feeding and caring for a prized possession, Gross said.

$2 BILLION Defense Money Bill Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slashing $2 billion from the Pentagon's annual money bill, the House Appropriations Committee approved $66.7 billion today and told the Defense Department it wants better management and "more defense for the dollar."

Criticizing the department's procurement practices for the second year in a row, the committee said increased Soviet competition and other military demands require the Pentagon to streamline its methods and not simply ask for more money. Such a request, the committee said, only aggravates inefficiency and mismanagement.

NO ROOM FOR BUNGLING
"There is no room for American bungling in the field of defense," the report said. "... the country has every right to expect that the appropriation of more than $66 billion will provide for formidable military forces."

The committee said "the tense situation in the Middle East is a matter of grave concern" but revised language suggesting there might be a need for military forces there sometime before next June.

MAHON EXPLAINS
Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said the initial language referred only to improvement of the U.S. 6th fleet in the Mediterranean and was not meant to suggest a new commitment of U.S. ground troops in that troubled area.

Some $1.5 billion of the cuts from President Nixon's $68.7 billion defense request for the fiscal year starting last July 1 is in weapons development and purchase money.

The House is expected to vote on the bill Thursday or Friday, which could put the House in a position to recess this week until after the Nov. 3 elections.

WIFE OF NEWS EXEC SLAIN BY BROTHERS

LONDON (AP) — Two West Indian brothers were found guilty today of kidnaping and murdering Muriel McKay, 55, wife of a wealthy newspaper executive.

The Old Bailey Court sentenced them to life imprisonment.

Arthur Hosein, 33, and his 21-year-old brother Nizomodeen had pleaded innocent to the kidnaping of the wife of Alex McKay, deputy chairman of the London Sunday newspaper, News of the World.

The prosecution had charged they seized the wrong woman last December, then demanded a ransom of $2.4 million.

Mrs. McKay disappeared over the Christmas — New Year's holiday. Her body was never found.

The prosecutor general, Sir Peter Rawlinson, had told the jury of nine men and three women that the brothers intended to seize the wife of McKay's boss, Publisher Rupert Murdoch.

Both the Murdochs and the McKays are Australians. The Murdochs were on vacation and McKay, left in charge of the newspaper, was driving Murdoch's Rolls-Royce limousine when Mrs. McKay disappeared.

McKay found his wife missing when he returned home on Dec. 29. The following morning he received the telephoned ransom demand.

Local Priest Dies In Car Accident

The Rev. William F. Meagher, 53, pastor of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, was killed at 8:50 p.m. Monday when his car flipped over two miles east of Midland on US 80.

State Patrol investigators said Meagher's car swerved off the highway, struck a guardrail, overturned four times and stopped on the median strip. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Midland Justice of the Peace John Diggs, who called for an autopsy to determine the exact cause of death.

Meagher was born in Chicago Sept. 7, 1917, and was ordained on June 9, 1945, in San Antonio. Before coming to Big Spring a year and a half ago, he had served in Harlingen, Laredo and Midland.

Meagher's body will lie in state from 6 to 10 p.m. today at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church in Midland. There will be a wake service at 7 p.m. at the church.

A funeral mass will be said at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church here, and a funeral mass will be said at 4 p.m. Thursday at the Oblate College in San Antonio, with burial in the Oblate Cemetery, San Antonio.

The Thomas Funeral Home of Midland is in charge of the arrangements.

Meagher is survived by four brothers, the Rev. James Meagher, San Benito; the Rev. Jerome Meagher, Alvin; and John Meagher and Thomas Meagher, both of Chicago; and one sister, Sister Ana Marie, Pompano Beach, Fla.

He Solves Plane Peril

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — A man who had no pilot training stole a small plane Monday, flew about 100 miles with a state trooper pursuing in another plane and returned for a perfect landing, police said.

Robert Dandrea, 30, of Altoona was arrested as he stepped foot on Peterson Memorial Airfield in nearby Tifton. His only previous flying experience had been as a passenger, police said.

Dandrea was charged with larceny and jailed on $5,000 bond.

Bank Robbers Escape In Boat

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) — Two masked robbers held up a bank today and escaped in a motorboat with an estimated $100,000.

The Marine Midland Trust Co. of Northern New York branch bank is on the waterfront of the St. Lawrence River.

Both the defense counsel and the prosecution rested their cases Monday afternoon, with defense attorney John R. Coffee presenting no witnesses. District Attorney Wayne Burns presented nine witnesses which included the station owner J. D. Phillips; Kurt Schweing, station customer, who was in the station restroom at the time of the robbery. Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders; Midland County Deputy Sheriff C. H. Wright; and Midland police officers Jimmy Cross, Larry Stroud and Roger Muerer. The seven lawmen figured in Blanchard's arrest.

Blanchard was arrested in Midland at a service station shortly after the robbery and murder.

After the attorneys rested their cases Monday 118th District Judge R. W. Caton recessed court until 9 a.m. today.

Blanchard Found Guilty In Stanton Robbery Trial

STANTON — Martin County jurors today found Steve Lewis Blanchard, 22, guilty of robbery of Stanton service station attendant Marcos Tarango. Jury foreman V. C. Bearden returned the jury's verdict at 9:30 a.m. after a 30-minute deliberation.

Deliberation on the penalty to be assessed Blanchard was still in progress shortly before noon. Blanchard can be assessed any term of years not less than five.

Blanchard and three others were charged with the July 10, 1969, robbery of a Stanton Enco Station on IS 20 and FM 137. Attendant Marcos Tarango, 35, was killed during the robbery.

GEN. ALFREDO O. CANDIA

RIGHT-WING MILITARY REBELLION Change In Bolivian Command

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia resigned as president today and two generals put in claims to succeed him.

Gen. Rogelio Miranda, army chief of staff who launched the revolt Sunday, announced that he was assuming the presidency of a military junta. He did not name other members.

Shortly thereafter, a group of officers of the air force who had remained loyal to Ovando reported Gen. Juan Jose Torres, retired commander of the armed forces, was declared "president of the revolutionary government."

DON'T FIGHT IT
Torres was quoted as saying he would be provisional president and would try to avoid "the consumption of the rightist coup, whose leader is Miranda."

In an attempt to avoid bloodshed, Ovando had asked military forces still loyal to him not to oppose Miranda's conservative rebellion.

Miranda said he formed the junta "to direct the destiny of the fatherland with justice."

Ovando celebrated his first anniversary as president just a week ago.

A statement by Ovando issued by Information Minister Carlos Carrasco said he decided to resign because "the confrontation within the armed forces, aside from dividing them and causing victims within their ranks, would also have resulted in bloodshed in the civil population."

NO BLOODSHED
Later Ovando emerged from his home with his wife and two children, Teresa and Alfredo, said "I hope there will be no bloodshed," and left for an unknown destination.

The president gave up after a meeting of army officers by a vote of 317-40 Monday called on both him and Miranda to resign.

OFFICIALS REVEAL FORMAL HEARINGS WILL BE HELD

Uncover Violations In Wichita State Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators say they have uncovered what appear to be a number of violations in the wake of a plane crash in the Colorado Rockies which resulted in the death of 30 persons bound for a football game last Friday.

"We'll hold a formal hearing and that's an indication it's a very serious case," said Edward E. Slattery Jr., information chief for the National Transportation Safety Board.

Two Martin 404 aircraft were ferrying the Wichita State University football team to Logan, Utah, for a game. One plane crashed and burned 52 miles west of Denver. The other landed safely at Logan.

AIR TAXI

The victims included 13 Wichita players, the head coach, athletic director and team boosters.

James R. Greenwood, chief of public affairs for the Federal Aviation Administration, said Monday Golden Eagle Aviation of Oklahoma City, which contracted to transport the football team this season, did not have FAA certification to operate the 45,000-pound Martin 404s.

"They were certified to operate aircraft in a smaller weight category and up to 12,300 pounds," Greenwood said. "In other words, they were an air taxi operator."

SEAL DOORS

However, Jack Richards, owner of Jack Richards Aircraft Co., Inc., which owned the planes, said, "I leased the airplane to the university and the university supplied its own crews."

Bruce Danielson, Golden Eagle vice president, said in Oklahoma City today that Wichita State contracted him to provide crews only and asked him to recommend where WSU could get a plane for charter service.

Danielson said he submitted a list, and Richards was chosen. Danielson said the contract provided that Golden Eagle should be responsible only for minor maintenance and repair, such as a blown tire. Richards confirmed that.

NOT AVAILABLE

"Our operation with WSU," Danielson said, "did not require us to have an FAA certification per the Greenwood charge. WSU was the operator, they were the carrier and had to provide a certificate."

University officials were not immediately available for comment.

The FAA seized the second plane at Logan, sealed its doors with tape and removed the door handles.

The seizure order said the 20-year-old plane "has been involved in various violations of the federal aviation regulations." Greenwood said the violations were "in the area of mechanical deficiencies."

Richards said of the second plane: "It's always been in excellent condition."

Greenwood said the pilot of the undamaged plane, identified as Leland T. Everette, was more than a month overdue for validating his medical certificate to fly.

However, the FAA official said the crew of the plane that crashed appeared to have had up-to-date medical certificates and commercial licenses to fly the Martin 404.

Arthur Dunbar, an investigator for the FAA, said the agency is having trouble determining whether Golden Eagle leased the two planes from Richards or only supplied the crews.

Richards acquired title to the two planes from Fairchild-Hiller Corp. only a day before the crash. He said he has been leasing planes to Wichita State for two years.

To the best of his knowledge, he said, both pilots from Golden Eagle were certified to fly loads of 12,500 pounds or more.

Greenwood said the FAA had advised the university earlier that it apparently was violating federal regulations by advertising for passengers on a charter flight to College Station, Tex.

"We're putting a lot of effort into this particular investigation to make sure this type of thing never happens again," he said.

Pontiac's Two Senior High Schools Shut

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Pontiac's two senior high schools were closed today as school, city and police officials worked to maintain peace and to investigate the shooting of four white Central High School students in a racial incident Monday.

The four, all of whom were reported in fair condition with bullet wounds Monday night, were shot near Central High following a verbal confrontation between groups of black and white youths outside the school Monday morning.

The shooting was followed by a rock-throwing showdown involving several hundred black and white students and by a series of running skirmishes between black students and police.

The rock-throwing resulted in seven minor injuries—four to policemen and three to civilians. All were either hit by rocks or cut by flying glass from bottles or broken car windshields.

Pontiac police were assisted in putting down the disorders by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Oakland County Tactical Mobile Police, Michigan State Police and men from a number of south Oakland County suburban police forces.

Pontiac Central has been the scene of frequent racial disorders in the past. It has 2,178 students, of whom between 35 and 40 per cent are black. Pontiac is an industrial city of 87,223 on the northern edge of the Detroit metropolitan area.

Monday's shootings and ensuing incidents apparently were the result of a fight following a football game Friday night between Central High and Arthur Hill. The fight, according to police, involved primarily black and white Pontiac students.

THAT'S WHERE IT HIT — Bystanders and rescue workers mill about Monday after a tornado hit Shawnee, Okla., a city of 25,000. The auto agency at left of picture was heavily damaged and two persons were killed in its falling rubble.

Hopscotching Tornado Kills Three, Hurts 40

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — A sudden autumn tornado which hopscotched across this central Oklahoma town of 25,000 has killed three persons and injured more than 40.

Mayor Pierre Taron estimated damage Monday, mainly in the business center, at $3.5 million to $4 million.

A twister, possibly the same one, killed one person in Prague, population 1,500 about 15 miles northeast of Shawnee.

In Shawnee, the storm cut a four-mile diagonal path across the city from southwest to northeast.

Ralph Coats and Roy Lee Coats, not related, died when the tornado ripped through a car agency where both worked. The third victim, Mrs. Allen Roberts, 25, lived in a trailer court which was smashed by the big wind.

Instances of looting were reported and 50 highway patrol troopers, 42 National Guardsmen and police and other helpers from a score of nearby communities were called in for rescue and guard duty.

Damage was concentrated in the downtown area, where Taron said at least 150 businesses were hit, and a northern section of the city where many residences were damaged or destroyed.

Police dispatcher Charles Knox said a woman called to report a tornado funnel approaching. The police operate a weather warning system and Knox said, "I managed to get the sirens turned on, but 'whammo' the windows came in and the electricity went off."

City Hall, where the police station is located, later was evacuated when engineers declared it unsafe.

Gov. Dewey Bartlett, who visited the scene, said he had reports of 55 injured. The Red Cross estimated 40 and a newspaper canvass of hospitals indicated 80.

East played his cards a little "too close to the chest" in today's hand, and thereby paved the way for a devastating loss which his side incurred on the deal.

West opened the bidding with three diamonds. North was tempted to overcall, however, his values did not quite warrant a vulnerable bid at the three level, so he passed. East chose to continue his partner's preemptive activities by offering a simple raise to four diamonds. This mild barricade did not prevent South from entering the auction, however, and the latter bid four hearts.

West and North passed and East now bid five diamonds, an action that he might well have considered on the previous round inasmuch as he had no intention of defending against the opponent's game contract. South persisted to five hearts and North suddenly sprang to life and bid a slam. He reasoned that inasmuch as his partner had gone to the five level single handed, then his fine spade suit and singleton diamond would produce some unexpected tricks — enough, he hoped, to make six hearts. East's double of slam bid is conventional and bars a player from making the normal lead, which, in the present case, would be a diamond.

Since only diamonds and hearts have been bid, West's choice is restricted to the unbid suits. East hoped that his partner would select a club.

West was confronted with a pure guess; however, he had nothing to lose. He finally decided to lead his singleton spade in the hope that East's high card strength was concentrated in that suit.

South played the ace of spades from dummy at trick one and promptly drew trumps by leading to the ace of hearts and then crossing back to North's jack. The two losing clubs were discarded on the king and queen of spades, and declarer graciously conceded one diamond trick and claimed his contract.

If East had raised his partner to five diamonds directly, his opponents might not have bid the slam and a considerable saving would be achieved. East can go one step further and bid four clubs as his initial response. This action would assure a club lead against any contract reached by the opposition.

Altho the bid of a new suit by responder is forcing for one round, East incurs slight risk, for even if West should raise clubs—East can always return to five diamonds.

Observe that East and West have a cheap sacrifice in five diamonds, losing only three tricks. A save at six diamonds cost only 300 points, and if the opponents persist to six hearts, West may be expected to find the killing club lead provided that East has bid that suit earlier.

Natural Gas Shortage Now Is Grim Reality?

HOUSTON (AP) — The natural gas, gasification of coal, nuclear stimulation, nuclear power, and synthetics from shale and tar sands, plus aggressive exploration programs onshore and offshore, offer solutions to spiraling energy requirements of the future but that economic incentives to carry out technological advances are essential.

Sampson said a general increase of 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, and preferable 10 cents, is needed for all well-head gas prices controlled by the Federal Power Commission.

"This would be enough, but not too much to encourage substantial new gas exploration and development," he said.

ENERGY GOALS

Dorsey said environment and energy scarcity have dramatically pointed out that the nation must define its national energy goals more carefully.

"We are going to have to have intelligent, firm and consistent long range national policies," Dorsey said. "Put bluntly, what we need are guidelines from the government that don't keep shifting on us. We need to encourage rather than inhibit the ingenuity that has long characterized the energy field in this country."

Sampson and Dorsey participated in a panel on "Supply Energy Requirements" at the 45th fall meeting of the 18,000-member Society of Petroleum Engineers.

Sampson said the FPC, in seeking to protect the consumer, has overprotected him.

GIG CONSUMERS

"The FPC has overcompensated in trying to protect the consumer from the standpoint of price — with the result they have failed to protect the consumer on supply," he said.

Dorsey said the nation is facing an energy shortage created in part by an energy backlash.

Sadat Will Succeed Nasser

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's only political party named Anwar Sadat Monday night to succeed the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser, assuring his election by the National Assembly Wednesday.

Some Western observers had predicted that Nasser would be replaced by a ruling body to avoid an internal power struggle. Sadat is confronted with the task of striking a balance between the Egyptian regime's left wing, led by Air Marshal Ali Sabry, and rightists led by former Interior Minister Zakaria Mohieddin.

Military Newspapers' Profit Probe Launched

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. comptroller general is probing arrangements under which hundreds of military newspapers are published for private profit with all editorial work done by servicemen.

The investigation was launched after disclosures that—Airmen at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., were ordered this summer to clip out a picture of a general from 10,000 copies of the base newspaper, the "Talespinner. The clip job was ordered because of complaints about the cropping of the general's picture.

First Concert Set Tonight

Dorothy Warenskjold noted, lyric soprano, and her ensemble of talented singers open the current season of the Big Spring Concert season at 8:15 p.m. today in the Municipal auditorium.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., urged the investigator by the comptroller general who heads the General Accounting Office. He said the Talespinner case raises the question: "Does the government lose revenue to which it is entitled because of arrangements under which private businessmen publish official newspapers with the labor of military personnel?"

Proxmire said the four airmen who do the editorial work on the Lackland Talespinner are paid a total of $159.98 weekly. He asked whether any other civilian publisher would be able to hire four editors and reporters at that pay to put out a similar publication.

Zone Changes On Agenda

Requests for two zoning changes and four specific use permits will come before Chairman Bill Sheppard and the planning and zoning commissioners at 5:15 p.m. today.

Proxmire said the four airmen who do the editorial work on the Lackland Talespinner are paid a total of $159.98 weekly. He asked whether any other civilian publisher would be able to hire four editors and reporters at that pay to put out a similar publication.

Carl Strom is also asking for a change from "SF-2" to "SF-3" with a specific use permit for a modular housing tract in the amended Central Park addition.

Electoral Reform Bill Is Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP) — After nearly a month of wrangling, the Senate has shelved a constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college and provide for the direct election of the president.

The move came abruptly Monday after the collapse of efforts to find a compromise. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the proposed amendment, said he hopes it will be given another chance if Congress holds a post-election session in November.

Not until Sept. 8, nearly a year after the House approved it, was the amendment brought up in the Senate. Two attempts to shut off debate fell short of the required two-thirds majority.

Steer Netters Prospering

Paced by Stewart Bunn, who went all the way to the finals in boys singles, Big Spring High School tennis players more than broke even in matches at Seminole Saturday.

Bunn overpowered three opponents before his game cooled and he fell victim to Mike Falls of Snyder in the finals, 6-1, 6-0.

Nancy Thompson dropped her first match but rallied to win her final three. Sandy Williams and Diane Hamilton broke even in four matches as did Dyer, Martin and Hill-Lewis in doubles. Steve Burnett also broke even in boys singles.

Results include:

- GIRLS SINGLES
 Karen King defeated McMillen (Snyder), 6-0, 6-0; lost to Brown (Seminole), 6-1, 6-1; defeated Badillo (El Paso Eastwood), 6-3, 6-0; lost to McGee (Seminole), 6-1, 6-1.

Atlanta Hawks May Contend For Flag

Will success spoil the New York Knicks? Probably not. But the Atlanta Hawks might.

With the Milwaukee Bucks departed to the Western Conference, the Knicks can look for the Hawks to supply the main opposition to a shot at their second consecutive National Basketball Association crown.

The Hawks, a rugged rebounding and tough defensive club coached by former New Yorker Richie Guerin, have always given the Knicks trouble, and with the addition of Pete Maravich, 1970-71 should be no different.

While Maravich battles Boston's Dave Cowens and Detroit's Bob Lanier for Rookie of the Year honors, the Knicks and Hawks should win the Atlantic and Central divisions, respectively, and then clash for the Eastern Conference title. New York, however, appears to have a bit too much for the Hawks.

PLAYERS OF WEEK Klahr, Schwartz Among Honorees

Here are the football players in the Big Spring area honored by the Daily Herald for their play in games last week:

BIG SPRING
 DAVID STANLEY came into his own Friday against the Abilene Eagles, and thus won the Back of the Week award for Big Spring. Before the evening was over, his No. 44 was a familiar figure. David accounted for 129 yards rushing, and most of it was through a crowd and some of it where he had to do it with power and balance. "He made a tremendous effort," said coach Clovis Hale. "He hit the stride we felt he was capable of hitting." David is a 170-pound junior fullback.

Picking a lineman was even more difficult because the entire offensive line seemed to jell. JAMES MILLER, a senior, sporting No. 85 and weighing in at 165 pounds, was so effective with his blocking that he got the nod. Despite his comparative light weight, he hits with the force of a 200-pounder on his blocks, both in the line and when pulling, his coaches said. At a defensive end, James also turned in a fine game.

he had 44 yards from his fullback slot to pace the Forsan ground gainers, it was his defensive work that won the award. Jacky was in on 17 tackles from his linebacker's post.

RICKY KLAHR was picked for the Lineman of the Week. Ricky played steady ball on offense, but it was his stubborn determination to defend that earned him the slot. He was in on nine tackles and balled up a number of plays for others. Ricky is a 180-pound senior who plays tackle both on offense and defense.

STANTON
 Back of the Week is ROY KELLY, a 120-pound halfback who goes both ways for the Buffaloes. Roy was assigned to Rankin's most dangerous pass receiver on defense and didn't allow the boy to catch an aerial. On offense, Roy gained 59 yards rushing the ball, tops for a Buffalo this year. A lot of his yardage came on key third-down situations.

DENNIS JONES is Lineman of the Week. Playing end on both offense and defense, Dennis caught a couple of passes that kept Stanton drives going. Jones also reaped the honor against Frenship last week.

Nittany Lions Are Unlisted In AP Poll

Ohio State is No. 1 and Texas is No. 2, so what's new? What's new is Penn State, which is nowhere at the moment.

"We're just not a very good football team right now," says Coach Joe Paterno, whose Nittany Lions dropped out of the Associated Press rankings—and out of sight—after losing their second straight game last week.

Penn State's 29-16 defeat by Wisconsin came a week after its 41-13 humiliation by Colorado and shattered a myth of invincibility built on 31 games without a loss.

Penn State dipped from No. 4 in the nation to No. 16 after the Colorado belting. Now they aren't even listed in Honorable Mention after the sandbagging by Wisconsin.

The Buckeyes widened their lead over the Longhorns after shellacking Duke 34-10. Ohio State received 27 of 38 first-place votes from sports writers and broadcasters around the country for 713 points to 610 for Texas, an uneasy 20-17 conquerer of UCLA.

- The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points tabulated on basis of 20-18-14-12:
1. Ohio State (27) 713
  2. Texas (25) 610
  3. Notre Dame 576
  4. South Calif. (15) 531
  5. Michigan (13) 479
  6. Nebraska 402
  7. Wisconsin (11) 378

Queens Win Consolation

Howard County Junior College co-eds captured consolation honors in the Texas Women's University volleyball tournament during the weekend.

Advancing on a forfeit to the second round, the HCJC Queens appeared on the way to one of the top spots when they turned back TWU 15-4 in the opening game. They faltered 13-15 in the second, and then went under 10-5 in the rubber game. Cathy McKnight was high server for the first game with five points, Juanita Oyerbides in the second with nine and Barbara Futrell and Henrietta Miller in the third with five each.

Then HCJC dispatched Dallas Baptist No. 1 by a 15-1 count with Futrell serving 12 points; 15-1 with Patty Spier and Terri Dawson leading the way. In the final round, they clipped Tarrant County North 15-6 with Futrell serving 13 and 15-4 with her 12 points.

Winner of the tournament was North Texas State University, which dispatched Stephen F. Austin. Christi Price, former HCJC star, was on the NTSU team.

The Queens, who now stand 3-1, played Texas Tech in Lubbock Wednesday evening, then return home to tangle Thursday at 7:30 p.m. with Wayland Baptist.

COAHOMA
 ROLAND BEAL was one of those lads who bring smiles of contemplation to a coach, for as a sophomore quarterback he did everything well Friday against Hamlin. Understandably, he was named Back of the Week. All this 160-pound under did was connect on 53 touchdown passes, one for 55 yards, another for 23 yards. Then, on the option play, he ran in a score from 37 yards out, and capped it all with a 9-yard scoring dash.

DAVID BRADY won the Lineman of the Week award, getting in on the amazing total of 25 tackles. This is his second year at the middle linebacker post, and this 170-pound senior has developed a sixth-sense about where plays are going. Added to this, he plays a hard-nosed brand of ball and is not afraid to stick it to the ball carriers.

GARDEN CITY
 FLOYD SCHWARTZ is Back of the Week for Garden City, judged off his play against Smyer. He carried 16 times for 70 yards net and made two touchdowns. Playing linebacker on defense, he came up with 14 tackles.

Lineman of the Week is EARL JANS, an end, who caught two passes for gains totaling 60 yards. He also blocked very well for Garden City ball carriers and was in on ten tackles on defense.

SANDS
 A one-man gang in the Sands backfield last week against Imperial proved to be REGGIE HAMBRIK, selected as Back of the Week. He carried the ball 25 times for 136 yards net. The 155-pound junior fullback made six tackles on defense, while performing at linebacker.

Lineman of the Week is EDWARD BARRAZA, left tackle on offense and nose guard on defense. He also made six tackles. He kept low and forced the Imperial backs to run the other way. On offense, he consistently opened holes for the Sands' backs. He is a 165-pound senior.

Detroit Lions' Second Half Comeback Pays Off

DETROIT (AP) — "I thought maybe they'd boo us off the field but they stayed with us," smiled Detroit Lions quarterback Bill Munson.

And in response to the confidence from the capacity crowd of 58,210 — plus a national television audience — the Lions put on a second half show for the viewers by overcoming a 7-0 deficit to maul the Chicago Bears 28-14 Monday night.

The victory gave Detroit sole possession of first in the Central Division of the National Football Conference with a 3-0 record. Chicago, Green Bay and Minnesota are all 2-1.

Munson, who completed 13 of 19 passes for 229 yards and a touchdown, indicated luck was a partial reason for the second half spurt.

The Bears continually adjusted their defense after Detroit broke its huddle to come to the line of scrimmage.

However, "We wound up calling the right plays more than not in the second half," Munson said. "In the first half they (Bears) shifted a little more and every time we seemed to run right into them."

Detroit's running game got bogged down to just 18 yards in the first half, plus only 72 passing on six completions. There was brief boozing of Munson and company until the final two quarters when things opened up and the Lions nailed Chicago for a 21-point third quarter. They ended up with 350 yards total offense.

Wide receiver Larry Walton caught four of his tosses for 70 yards, including a 13-yard touchdown. Tight end Charlie Sanders and halfback Altie Taylor each snared three for 77 and 59 yards respectively.

TWO FOR ONE — Ted Sizemore, center, rookie of the year in 1969, and catcher Bob Stinson, left, have been traded by the Los Angeles Dodgers to the St. Louis Cardinals for heavy-hitting Richie Allen, right. Both Sizemore and Allen, who was rookie of the year in 1964, ended the season on the sidelines — Allen with a pulled hamstring muscle and Sizemore with an injured wrist.

Peaking O's Awaiting Test With Redlegs

BALTIMORE (AP) — The biggest machine in Cincinnati "Now, it's for real. And we're not necessarily ready."

Robinson spoke of the Orioles' readiness after they proved it convincingly at Memorial Stadium behind the 12-strikeout pitcher of right-hander Jim Palmer, one of their trio of 20-game winning aces.

Palmer, who also won the finale of last year's three-game Twin killing in the first playoff of AL division champs, scattered seven hits — and possibly earned a series-opening start against the National League champion Reds.

Cincinnati capped a three-game sweep of the NL playoffs Monday with a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

While the Reds were taking their league apart from the outset, the Orioles shook off the spectre of a humiliating series setback at the hands of the New York Mets and rolled to 108 victories — tops in the majors.

They won their last 11 regular season games, then smacked the Twins 10-6 and 11-3 at Minnesota last weekend before closing out the set at home.

Manager Earl Weaver shrugged off the winning streak, however, while discussing his outlook on the upcoming confrontation.

"Sure, we've won 14 in a row," he said. "But they don't count now. It's not the winning streak I like, it's the type of people we have on this ball club. If we had lost 14 in a row I'd still think this team can beat Cincinnati."

"Cincinnati probably is the best hitting team in baseball, but I think our pitching and defense is better," said Brooks Robinson, who duplicated his 1969 playoff spree against the Twins by cracking seven hits in the series.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Not too many years ago Sparky Anderson was screwing legs into tables in a furniture factory, his baseball career apparently over.

Now he's the manager of the National League champion Cincinnati Reds preparing for Saturday's opening of the World Series against American League champion Baltimore.

Anderson recalled those lean days Monday as he stood dripping with champagne in the Cincinnati dressing room after his Reds had defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates for a three-game sweep of the National League playoffs.

The Reds took the payoff game on a play that characterizes their manager's philosophy of the game—aggressiveness and the willingness to gamble.

The score was tied 2-2 in the eighth at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium. Ty Cline was on second and Pete Rose at first. Bobby Toland lashed a single to left and Cline rounded third just beating Willie Stargell's throw to the plate with what turned out to be the winning run in a 3-2 game.

"We try to play aggressive baseball," said Anderson. "Sure we've had guys thrown out at the plate, but that's the chance you take," observed the guy who six years ago was fired by Toronto in the International League and turned to work in the furniture factory.

Cline, whose pinch triple started the Reds' winning three-run rally in the 10th inning of the playoff opener, was called upon in the eighth inning Monday with two out and the bases empty.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: ORVILLE HENRY, Arkansas Gazette sports writer:

"Looking like a classic Big Eight team, which it became last year under Floyd Gass, complete with power sweeps that looked like Student Body Right and Student Body Left, Oklahoma State controlled the football against Arkansas much of the night. They ran the most plays, 78 to 58, and they made the most first downs, 26 to 20. They gained 190 yards rushing and 183 passing, a classic balance. This was the best Oklahoma State team Arkansas has played since 1946 in any phase of football you can name. Believe it, Floyd Gass is a solid, sound, imaginative coach, and his players believe in him."

JEFF MEYERS, St. Louis sports writer:

"Joe Kapp (formerly of Minnesota, now of Boston) is not the greatest quarterback who ever flung a ball in the National Football League. But he may be the greatest quarterback who ever slung the ball."

DOUG HAWLEY in Basketball Weekly:

"Can any basketball rookie be worth the staggering amounts of money being thrown around in this day and time? On first thought, it hardly seems that any unproven player can be worth $2 million, $1.5 million, or $1 million or whatever. That's an awful lot of dough. Pete (Pistol) Maravich became the richest paid athlete in the history of sports by signing a $2 million contract over five years with the Atlanta Hawks. That amounts to approximately $5,000 per game. One basketball wag around the Atlanta area said with tongue in cheek that the Hawks' management would have to borrow money from Pete to keep above the red line."

TERRY BRADSHAW, rookie quarterback for the Pittsburgh Steelers:

"The way I feel, there isn't anyone in the world who can move this team like I can. Really, that's the way I feel. Pro football is just a bunch of college players who wanted to play a little longer. That's all. It's not complicated."

WALTER ALSTON, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers:

"The National League's most under-rated player is short-stop Freddy Patek of Pittsburgh."

ROSIE CASALS, tennis star, discussing netter Margaret Smith of Australia:

"Margaret is good enough to beat most of the men players who rank after the first ten in the United States. She definitely can beat those ranked in the 20s."

JOHN RALSTON, Stanford coach:

"I don't believe a coach has ever won a game. All a coach can do is guide his men. The winning comes on the field."

Coach DARRELL ROYAL of Texas, when asked to predict what would happen to football in the '70s:

"I don't know. We kinda live one day at a time. We scratch where it itches. I don't know where it's going to be fishing ten years from now. Other than recruiting, that is. That will predict what you're going to be doing four years from now. I still roll and tumble when I think of our game with Arkansas in 1965. We were down, 20-0, at halftime but we scrambled and went ahead, 24-20. They made only two yards in the second half, no first downs. They were 80 yards from our goal and it was second and 13. But they beat us. It was one of those deals where you've got a big lollipop in your mouth and the first thing you know there's nothing left but the stick."

JIM CARLEN, Texas Tech coach, after his team had been knocked off by Texas:

"I definitely believe Texas has a better offensive team than they had last year. Eddie Phillips makes it a great offense. They have two All-Americans in their backfield — Steve Worster and Jim Bertelson. And when it comes to running the triple option, I don't know if there's a better quarterback than Phillips. They deserve their rating, which is No. 1 in the nation."

LINEMAN OF THE WEEK — Bob Newton of the University of Nebraska has been named the best lineman of the week in Big Eight Conference action for the week. The 6-4, 248-pounder performed on offense to the delight of sports writers. Coach Bob Devaney described him as "the best aggressive lineman we've had at Nebraska."

Two San Antonio Men Guilty Of Corruption

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two San Antonio men lost Monday in appeals to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals over their conviction on charges of bribery and corruption.

They are Albert Fuentes Jr., formerly a special assistant to the head of the Small Business Administration in Washington, and Edward Montez, a San Antonio business man.

A jury in San Antonio found the two guilty last Nov. 25 and they received five-year prison terms Dec. 17.

The appellate court upheld their convictions of conspiring to obtain 49 per cent of a metal works firm owned by Emanuel Salaz in San Antonio in return for obtaining him a $100,000 SBA loan.

LONDON (AP) — Volunteer archeologists are working hard at a dig in Hertfordshire to beat the advance of a new motorway. Under a field they uncovered a Roman bath house, dating back to the 3rd century.

The dig has unearthed a 20 foot section of the hot room where patrician Romans lolled at leisure during their occupation of Britain.

San Angelo Shooting Incident Investigated

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — County grand jurors were expected to take up today the case of a shooting which involved John T. McNally, 17, who was wounded, and Police Chief Melvin James.

The incident occurred outside the police station Sept. 24.

James said the youth tried to seize his pistol, there was a struggle and the weapon discharged twice.

Bullets struck McNally in the right arm and right side, the chief said.

James requested that the grand jury investigate.

Bureau of Investigation said Sept. 29 it was inquiring into the occurrence at the request of an assistant attorney general, Jerris Leonard, in the Justice Department's civil rights division.

McNally had been arrested after a disturbance, police said, and was taken to the station from a San Angelo residence.

Officers charged he youth Sept. 25 with assault with intent to murder.

QUEEN FOR DAY — Gene McElroy, manager of Montgomery Ward and Company, presents an orchid corsage to Mrs. Timmie McCormick as she is congratulated by other employees, Mrs. Boo McPherson, Mrs. Lyla Cooper and Mrs. Lois Anderson. The four women have a combined total of 114 years' service with the company.

"Timmie's Day" Marks 35 Years With Store

By JO BRIGHT

It was "Timmie's Day" Monday at Montgomery Ward and Company, and the guest of honor, Mrs. Timmie McCormick, wore not one, but two, lovely corsages. On her right shoulder were red rosebuds and on the left was an orchid.

The flowers, as well as the mink-trimmed coat which Mrs. McCormick displayed, were gifts marking her 35th anniversary with the store. The coat was presented to the honoree by her fellow employees, and there was a telephone message from the district manager in Fort Worth as well as a congratulatory wire.

There was hot coffee and an appropriately-inscribed cake to share with friends and customers, but despite the holiday air, Mrs. McCormick never wandered far from her department as she kept an eye out for customers who needed assistance. Weighing less than a hundred pounds, Mrs. McCormick occasionally had to stretch her four feet, 11 inches of height to see that no one was left waiting for service.

Mrs. McCormick, widowed in 1964, is the former Timmie Hill, a long-time local resident who graduated from Big Spring High School and was married here in 1938. Her husband was employed by Saunders Wholesale Plumbing Company. Mrs. McCormick, who resides at 1518 E. 17th, has no children, but enjoys the company of her nieces and nephews, children of her sister Mrs. Ed Cordes, who lives next door.

When Mrs. McCormick first joined Montgomery Ward and Company in 1935, the store was located downtown, and her first sales were made in the piece goods department. From there, she went to the shoe department, then was made clerk over the service department and stock room. At one time, for only a week, she was given the responsibility of the men's department until someone else could take it over, after which she was put in charge of the children's department.

That was in 1943, and Mrs. McCormick has been happily managing the department since that time.

"I love children," she smiled, "and most all my little customers have been sweet ones."

Mrs. McCormick, as the store's senior employee, has been honored previously. The company presented her with a watch on her 25th anniversary. "Mr. McElroy, our manager, has been wonderful to work with and has given me lots of help," she said. "In fact, the entire management has been good to me." During the past 35 years, she has worked for nine or ten managers.

In her spare time, Mrs. McCormick likes to sew and fish and has been a member of East Fourth Baptist Church for many years.

Retirement?
"Not until I have to," she said.

Mother-Daughter Event Held Sunday Afternoon

A Mother-Daughter Recognition Tea was held Sunday afternoon by the Girls Auxiliary at Baptist Temple. Thirteen GA members spoke individually on "mission action and winning others" and "Laboring Together for God", which is the Women's Missionary Union watchword.

Mrs. A. W. Page, WMU director, presided during the program and the general theme was "Rise and Shine, The Light Has Come." Mrs. Joe Clark read the scripture, and Mrs. Gary Wiggins gave the invocation. Mrs. Richard McGee sang "Jesus, Light of the Panna Tindol, in Canadian World." The closing prayer was worded by Mrs. James Puckett, and the girls sang "A Story To Tell To The Nation."

Refreshments were served from a green-covered table centered with gold and white chrysanthemums with the green GA symbol. The fellowship hall was decorated in the GA colors of green, white and gold. Mrs. Veima Brown, Uvaide, was a guest.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Thou hast in love to my soul delivered it from the pit of corruption. (Isaiah 38:17)

PRAYER: O heavenly Father, may I ever realize that the only safe course is to shun sin with every power of my being. Grant me the willingness and the faith to do this. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Maybe A Tiny Sign

Congress has acted wisely in passing legislation to restrict growing political campaign expenditures on the broadcast media.

Without some limitation, political races — particularly on the national level — might soon become battles to be decided primarily by the size of a party's wallet, as the art of campaigning — by broadcast becomes more and more sophisticated and ever more effective.

The bill prescribing this limitation has drawn strong criticism from President Nixon and now awaits his signature (it will go into effect 30 days after he signs it — if he signs it). It limits the amount which can be spent by candidates for television and radio time to the equivalent of seven cents for each vote cast in the last election for the office for which a candidate is running. It applies to candidates for president, vice president, congressional seats, governor and lieutenant governor.

If we are to have fair and balanced representation of the electorate in government, we must do everything possible to see that political races are decided solely on the basis of the candidates' qualifications. The curbs on campaign spending embodied in this measure are an encouraging step in that direction.

One of the seemingly less palatable provisions of the bill would repeal the "equal time" clause of the Federal Communications Act — which requires the networks to provide equal air time for all candidates for an office. This clause is beneficial to the democratic electoral process in theory. But it has come under increasing attack recently, being batted back and forth in the controversy over President Nixon's frequent television appearances. It also has blocked televised debates between presidential candidates — since minority or splinter parties would be entitled to air time, equal to that set aside for any such debate, under the clause as it stands now. It should be replaced through congressional action with something more definitive and less prohibitive. A requirement that broadcasters charge political rates no higher than the lowest commercial rate seems to be government price-fixing.

Nor should the broadcast media be singled out for attention — for the whole spectrum of campaign expense is due a critical examination. It is folly for a poor man to even think of running.

Critical Campaign Expenses

The Viet Cong's representative at the Paris peace talks, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, recently offered a two-part proposal for an end to the Vietnam war which surprised most observers.

Though the basic Viet Cong demands of unilateral U.S. withdrawal and ousting the Thieu-Ky regime in Saigon still stand — as they seem to have stood forever — the proposal for a cease-fire, at least as far as American troops are concerned, appeared to be new. And in calling again for replacement of the Saigon government, Mrs. Binh directed her ire only at Thieu, Ky and Premier Tran Thieu Kiem, leaving open the possibility that other present officials could participate in a coalition government.

U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce characterized the offers as "old wine in new bottles," but did not turn them down, saying that they will be taken under consideration. Though Bruce's analysis of the Viet Cong initiative seems to be essentially accurate, the fact that "new bottles" were offered came as a major surprise.

In the past the Viet Cong have adhered pugnaciously to their two foremost demands, with the bulk of their contributions to the talks consisting of sharp invectives against U.S. "imperialism" and the dictatorial nature of the Saigon government.

Something, at least, is new, and it should not be ignored. The fact that we are committed to an alliance with the present Saigon government, of course, is the overriding factor blocking serious consideration of the Viet Cong proposals as they stand now.

And nothing in Mrs. Binh's proposals changes the facts as seen by those who subscribe to the "domino theory."

Nevertheless, Saigon and the United States now must formulate some reasonable response to Mrs. Binh's proposals. One robin does not make a Spring, but it might be a sign.

Art Buchwald Life On The Old Plantation

WASHINGTON — It's hard for people who do not live in Washington, D.C., to imagine what it is like to survive in a town where you are not permitted to govern yourself. Even the citizens of Saigon have more to say about their affairs than we do.

IN ORDER TO understand what it's like, you have to imagine Washington as a huge plantation with one million tenant farmers. Up on the hill are the plantation owners made up of congressmen from Virginia, Kentucky and South Carolina.

When the farmer wants something, a delegation of poor whites and blacks climb up the hill to the great marble house with their hats in their hands and a spokesman says, "Massuh, our people down there wants a subway. Can't get around any more without a subway, boss. Any chance us getting a subway, please?"

"Now what you all want a subway for? You been doing fine all these years without a subway."

"YASSUH BOSS, but things getting rough down there. It's hard for people to get to work without a subway. Plantation is getting bigger all the time, boss. We sure could use a subway mighty bad."

"You folk down there are never satisfied, are you? We been good to you, haven't we, boy?"

"Yassuh, boss, you treat us just fine. We is about the happiest tenant farmers in this here country. But we sure need that subway, boss."

"Subways cost money, boy. Money doesn't grow on trees. If we build a subway we're going to have to take profits from the plantation and tax you more for your land."

"THAT'S TRUE, BOSS. But since we been paying taxes anyway, we'd just as soon have a subway."

"Well, as you know, we plantation owners have the best interests of our tenant farmers at heart. We really don't see why you people need something as worthless as a subway, but if that's what you want, we'll try to get you one."

"That's mighty gracious of you, boss, mighty gracious. I was telling people down there in the cotton land, all we got to do is ask the owners and they'll give us a subway."

"Of course, we'll want something in return. This is a big favor we're doing you."

"DON'T HAVE TO tell us that, boss. What can we do for you?"

"We'll give you your subway, if you agree to us building a road to Maryland right through the northeast part of your land."

"But boss, you build a road through there and you're going to tear down everybody's home. People won't have any place to live."

"That's not our problem, boy. We need that road so folks can get out to Maryland. That road's a lot more important to us than your subway."

"IF IT WAS UP to us, boss, we'd let you have your road to Maryland. But those farmers down there are sick and tired of everyone pouring concrete on their homes."

"Now don't come back with any more talk about a subway until you're willing to talk about a road."

"Thank you, boss. God bless yuh, suhs. God bless yuh."

John Cuniff Cattle Feeding Hazards

NEW YORK (AP) — Notes on an economy in transition:

While the Republican administration has managed to force the economy to submit to direction, it still hasn't mastered the problem of discipline.

The administration thought its policies would have corrected excesses much earlier this year and that the recovery would be more advanced by now. Instead, it must face elections with joblessness at its worst in years.

The inflation rate also proved a bit more of a problem than expected. For months there was almost no response at all. Now there are indications that the drop in prices will be sharper than expected.

Some economists are becoming increasingly suspicious of old, reliable statistical measures of economic activity. The Gross National Product, one of the most popular gauges, is coming in for unusual criticism.

The chief contention is that the GNP is misleading in that it really doesn't measure all the output of goods and services but only those that pass through the marketplace and for which a price is paid.

It ignores the efforts of students, housewives, volunteer workers and others. Neither does it include productive work that a person does for himself or his family, such as painting or sculpting or building a lawn.

The most incongruous part of it, however, is that it fails to count negative aspects of economic activity, such as pollution or impairment of health.

Curiously, some obviously destructive processes lead to advances in GNP. A war, for example, can spur the hiring of workers and turn leisure time activities, which are not measured, into overtime work, which is measured.

Derail a train and there will follow an immediate spurt of economic activity involving doctors, hospitals, repair crews, lawyers and so on, all of which must be paid for and therefore contribute to the GNP.

The stock market slump, worst since the Great Depression of the 1930s, has left many discouraged investors seeking new outlets for their funds, such as in oil and gas drilling, real estate, art and commodities.

Among the more popular outlets that seem to be developing is cattle feeding, which may be engaged in from Wall Street or like streets in many other cities hundreds of miles from the ranges.

The investment mechanism is similar to that of a mutual fund or a limited partnership. The profits, if they are to be made, come from the increase in value of a herd through the addition of pounds.

However, a perusal of prospectuses suggests there are as many hazards in this market as in any other. Among them: cattle rustling, predators, accidental drowning and, as you might expect, price fluctuations by beef.

Weisenberger Financial Services quotes one cattle fund executive as saying a return of 38 per cent to 47 per cent before taxes is possible, but adds that it would be more realistic to consider a 20 per cent return.

Hal Boyle Use Of The Word 'Stupid'

NEW YORK (AP) — A list of things which may not bore you to sleep—but at least make you yawn:

Pet owners who think it is cute to make an elderly dog sit up and beg for a cookie.

Looking into the mouth of someone who insists on showing you exactly what the dentist did to him last, and pointing to what the dentist is going to do to him next.

All Wagnerian operas.

A lecture on Gertrude Stein and why she was a, why she was a, why she was an important literary figure.

Playing charades at a cocktail party with a group of trapped strangers who don't really like to play any game—not even knessies under the table.

Collections of the wit and humor of U.S. presidents who were never really witty and funny only unconsciously.

Anything sealed in plastic so strong that even Dracula couldn't open it with his teeth.

Canned spinach, frozen spinach, fresh spinach, wet spinach, dry spinach, hot spinach, luke-warm spinach, wide spinach, narrow spinach, tall spinach, short spinach, imitation spinach and spinach souffle.

The now it can be revealed memoirs of aging movie stars who can't act written by ghost writers who can't write.

Good advice.

Naughty films neutered for television presentation.

Guys who want to show off their strength at Indian hand wrestling after only two drinks.

Ringlets and forehead curls on any woman over 29.

Muttonchop whiskers on any man under 59.

Arguments over who was the greatest baseball player or heavyweight boxer of all time.

Neighbors' wives who like to flirt in order to make their husbands jealous.

Neighbors' wives who aren't flirting—but really mean it.

Suburbanites who regard their long battles against crabgrass as annual Armageddons.

Lush poetry which reads as if it had been turned out by a woman travel folder writer, and poetry so obscure it sounds like a code produced by an Armenian cryptographer.

Odd-shaped sunglasses worn by secretaries in the hope that this will make them mysterious and alluring.

Commercially made new deodorants, new toothpastes, new mouth washes, new shave lotions, or new dandruff cures, which supposedly will turn a wallflower into a femme fatale or a homely truckdriver into an irresistible Romeo.

The use by teen-agers of the word "stupid," as applied to their parents or anything else they don't understand or appreciate.

Around The Rim In Letters, The Real Self Comes Through

I hate to throw away letters. Even my desk gets full of bursting with them, and I stick more in other drawers and pigeon holes, thinking to read them more carefully at some future time.

THEY ARE OF interest only to me; no one else would care to read them, so ever so often I am forced to weed out the collection, sorting out those that seem most worth keeping, destroying those of little worth.

But it is a painful process; even the poorest of them breathe their writer's personality, so that burning them is like losing something of the ones who wrote them.

SOME PEOPLE have the gift of putting themselves into their letters in much greater degree than others. One does not have to see or meet such persons to know them. They often reveal their true selves in their written words more clearly than in their physical presence. They are part of all they have known — or rather, all they have known is part of them. They have really lived, extracting and absorbing nourishment from every experience.

IN A WAY, their letters are more heartwarming than their bodily selves; I get a sight of their finer selves, a feel of their heartbeats, a sense of the spirit moving within them. Like the perfume of a flower that brings to us what we cannot see, their letters reveal to us the intangible virtues which, when we are with them, are often hid by reticence about showing their real selves to others.

When they write, they forget about themselves. So those selves peep out in their own loveliness, slip unserved into their letters and reveal themselves to me.

SADLY, THERE are some people who seem to try to keep any hint of their real personalities out of their letters. They shut the door on themselves, write impersonally of events or "news" as though they were not part of those things. One might just as well read the newspaper as letters from them. It is easy to burn such compositions, or toss them into the waste basket. Their writers haven't discovered that the only true gift is to give of one's self.

AND SO I go through the bundles of correspondence and end by putting most of the letters back in their pigeonholes. Let someone who hasn't a sentimental heart burn them after I can no longer read them.

Marquis Childs Pitch For The Catholic Vote

WASHINGTON — Those of us fortunate enough to accompany President John F. Kennedy on his last European tour in the spring of 1963 can never forget the interlude in Ireland. With the relaxed ironic style that was his trademark, Kennedy made what might have been a weepy, sentimental excursion into a warmly humorous adventure in understanding.

HE HAD NO need to search for ancestors and distant kin. The kin came popping out of every doorway and barnyard. This was their boy who had gone so far.

Why President Nixon felt he should cap his successful Mediterranean tour with an Irish puzzle has been something of a puzzle. His quiet Quaker background hardly complements the wearing of the green, and Nixon ancestors are apparently as scarce as Methodists in a St. Patrick's Day parade. For the cynical, the explanation is the quest for votes among Irish-Americans, who will see their President of the tube celebrating their motherland whether with or without ancestors. A president waving and smiling at crowds in Italy, Yugoslavia and Spain in a prolonged television spectacular cannot but warm up the sons and daughters of one or two generations back from those lands.

A SUPPLEMENT to the Southern strategy, which seems to have developed a few leaky valves, is the pursuit of the Catholic blue-collar vote. In the current political shorthand, these are the ethnics who have made it out of the core cities to the white suburbs.

A sensitive issue with these voters is tax-paid support for religious schools. Here the Nixon Administration has come through with a big plus. With White House sanction, if not instigation, the Department of Justice has entered as "friend of the court" on the side of the defendant in a parochial school case soon to come before the highest tribunal. This is said to be the first time the federal government has taken such a stand.

THE STATE OF Pennsylvania in 1968 passed a law providing state aid for salaries and a wide range of instructional material for private schools. Most of these schools are Roman Catholic. A new law last year allocated aid up to $20,000,000 by assigning part of the cigarette tax to this end.

The law was challenged by militant Protestant, Jewish and Civil Liberties groups. They charged it was a violation of the First Amendment to the Constitution prohibiting government aid for any religious establishment. Separation of church and state is a principle, these groups insist, embedded in the Constitution. The case is now before the Supreme Court.

THE MILITANT opponents of Federal-state aid to private schools are convinced the Nixon Administration is seeking a way around the constitutional hurdle. The President's commission on how to finance education has a four-man panel considering non-public school aid. The members of this panel are said to lean toward the tuition-voucher system.

Under that system the individual would be given a voucher good for payment of tuition at a private school. The school would then turn in the voucher for compensation by the Federal government. Whether this would work with the private, white, segregated schools in the South — set up to avoid integration of blacks and whites under Federal law — is a large question.

THE OFFICE OF EDUCATION shied away from considering the tuition-voucher plan, which is opposed by the National Education Association.

Showing the flag in Ireland is one thing. But help for hard-pressed parents wanting private schools for their children is a strong pocketbook appeal.

Andrew Tully Story Of Other Side Good Medicine

WASHINGTON — While endorsing the conclusion of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest that Richard Nixon is duty-bound to exert "moral leadership" to rescue the country from youthful violence, I yet wonder what he could have done about certain circumstances involving the killing of a Boston cop.

OFFICER WALTER Schroeder, the father of nine children, was murdered during the $26,000 robbery of a Boston bank. Shortly thereafter, authorities took off in pursuit of four members of what they called a "radical, revolutionary" campus gang.

However, the point of this essay involves what the police found when they raided the empty apartment of one of the suspects, a 21-year-old girl student at Brandeis University. The haul included explosive detonators, two rifles, a shooter's manual, assorted rifle and handgun ammunition, a telescopic sight, gunpowder, radio transmitters and an Army field switchboard. Much of the equipment was identified as coming from a National Guard armory which was burned and robbed a few days earlier.

AS I READ the commission's report, there is the suggestion that student dissenters are misguided idealists, who could be persuaded to behave if the President gave them a chance. Oh, the commission did condemn students "who bomb and burn" as criminals.

I don't know whether that Brandeis girl helped rob the bank, and neither does anyone else, but the stuff found in her apartment is not the equipment of peaceful dissent. A young lady does not need firearms and explosives to demonstrate against the Vietnam War or the chow in the college dining room.

THERE IS ALSO the unchallengeable fact that dissent costs a lot of money these days, and robbing a bank has always been a splendid way to acquire cash. As Willie Sutton remarked when asked why he made a career of busting banks, "That's where the money is."

Moreover, it is not necessary to discover a Commie under every bed to consider soberly the assertion of Boston's Police Commissioner Edmund McNamara that a conspiracy is afoot. The New Left may be fragmented, but its splinters — notably the Students for a Democratic Society — are indisputably well organized. And when Jerry Rubin, straw boss of the Yippies, deposes that "The first part of the Yippie program is kill your parents," he speaks not as an individual but as the organizer of a rather illegal conspiracy.

IN THIS MESS, perhaps something called the Campus Studies Institute has the right idea. By "communicating" with students everywhere through weekly "educational" mailings, the CSI is challenging the kids to try on a few facts for size.

CSI takes the position that the reason some seemingly intelligent students spout and listen to garbage is that they don't get a chance to hear the other side. So CSI, with a team of educators, students and advisers, is giving it to them through its mailings, billboards and spot radio announcements featuring, among others, the cartoonist Al Capp. It seems to be working.

A polling outfit reported that before the mailings 52 per cent of the students were susceptible to New Left propaganda; after the mailings, only 36 per cent remained susceptible.

IT COULD BE that Richard Nixon lacks the power to influence student dissenters simply because he is the leader of the "system." From the same reason, any other President probably would fail — after all, the SDS and its ideological allies early in the game rejected Bobby Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey and Martin Luther King.

Billy Graham

One of the greatest gossips and critics in our church is known as one of the most "spiritual" members. Some of the members of the church are discouraged by this and don't want to become like her.

S.C. There is a difference between "seeming to be spiritual," and actual spirituality. The one is pretending, the other is real. It is interesting that the word hypocrites comes from the Greek HYPOCRITES which means, "one who plays a part, a pretender."

The person you refer to is evidently a "pretender," because she is playing two roles: that of a gossip, and that of a spiritual person, and these two do not actually exist in one person at the same time.

James wrote to those who made a pretense of being spiritual: "If any among you seem to be religious and brideth not his own tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this person's religion is in vain." James 1:26.

More Efficiency, Fewer Hours For City Crews

By HOWARD SIMMS
After returning from a six-day conference of the American Public Works Association at which he attended several talks on sanitation system problems, city Public Works Director Nolen Chafin has been studying plans for increased efficiency and shorter working hours within his departments.

Will Honor Apollo Crew

AUSTIN (AP) — The Apollo 11 crew, first to make a moon landing, will be honored Oct. 17 by the state of Texas with an elaborate ceremony in the Texas House of Representatives.

A specially designed Texas Medal of Valor, voted by the 1969 legislature, will be presented to astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins. The ceremony begins at 7 p.m.

Armstrong and Aldrin were the first men on the moon July 20, 1969, while Collins piloted the mother ship around the moon awaiting their return.

The medals will be presented by Gov. Preston Smith, assisted by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher.

One extra cast of the medal will be placed in the Texas archives then the original mold destroyed so there will never be any duplicates.

"The Texas legislature voted the special medal of valor because the astronauts of Apollo 11 spent many months at the Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston preparing for their mission—and in fact gave this state a big part in the historic first," said Secretary of State Martin Dies, chairman of the commission arranging for the medals and ceremony.

"A topic of discussion at the conference was the idea of incentive plans for sanitation crews, such as letting the crews go home as soon as they finish their route," Chafin said.

"Most of the experts agreed that this is usually not satisfactory, since you tend to lose control of the operation, and the people may hurry to finish when there is some reason they want to go home early."

Chafin said that before he left for the conference he sent out a memo aimed at getting away from the incentive plan in use by city sanitation department, and he was reassured to hear the experts back up his decision.

Asked about sanitation employ requests for shorter work weeks, Chafin said he plans to decrease the work week of street department employees from 44 to 40 hours as soon as possible, and added, "I will try to do the same with the sanitation department employees, presently on a 48-hour week, reducing their hours to 44 a week."

He said the hours would be spread over five days so that they could get Saturdays and Sundays off.

"This is not a change we can accomplish overnight, since it requires changes in the routes that will have to be made public," he said.

"Also, it will involve the addition of a residential route, and

Tickets are on sale for the Eighth Annual Policeman's Ball, featuring the entertainment of the Jimmy Heap Show Oct. 24 in the Cosden Country Club.

Capt. Jack Jones, president of the Police Association, has announced that due to unforeseen circumstances the event will not be held at Skateland as it was last year, and ticket sales will have to be limited to conform to the limited space.

Tickets will be sold on a first-come basis, and may be purchased from a Police Association member, or by calling the police station. None will be sold at the door. The price is $7 a couple, with no dress code specified, so that if the ball goes as last year people will come dressed in everything from formal to Levis, Mrs. Doris Smith said.

Profits from the ball will go to support the projects of the Police Association, which include sponsorship of four teenage league baseball teams and aid to crippled children.

Primitive Baptist Anniversary Held

A series of services this weekend will mark the 27th anniversary of the organization of a Primitive Baptist congregation in Big Spring.

Elder Alvin Brock, McAlester, Okla., will be the featured speaker, according to Elder B. R. Howze, who has served as pastor of the church since its establishment here. Several area ministers will also join in the services.

The initial worship will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday, followed by others at 10 a.m. Saturday, 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and at regular times Sunday.

Viet Cong Shells Kill Seven In Refugee Camp

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong mortars killed seven South Vietnamese and wounded 52 in a government refugee camp Monday night, an allied military spokesman reported, as intensified enemy attacks continued for the third day along the central coast.

Government spokesmen said 17 mortar rounds slammed into the cluster of houses at Phu My, in Binh Dinh province 285 miles northeast of Saigon.

The spokesman said the bombardment destroyed 40 houses.

The allied commander reported 23 other rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Monday and 8 a.m. today, raising the total to 84 since Saturday morning. Most have been in the coastal provinces of central and northern South Vietnam, and allied military sources call them a "regional high point" of enemy activity.

The big U.S. air base at Phu Cat, several miles south of Phu My, was hit by two big 122mm rockets, but one did not explode. Landing Zone Schueller, an artillery base of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division about 15 miles to the west, was the target of 25 to 30 mortar rounds. The U.S. Command said casualties and damage were light at both bases with no fatalities reported.

Eight hours before the devastating attack on the refugees at Phu My, militiamen operating eight miles northeast of the town clashed with an enemy force. The government rushed reinforcements to the battle; spokesmen said 20 of the enemy and one militiaman were killed in the three-hour fire fight, and four militiamen were wounded.

In Cambodia, Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops throughout the night attacked government positions at Taing Kauk, where the Cambodian army's drive to reopen the road between Phnom Penh and Kompong Thom has been stalled for nearly two weeks. Fighting was reported continuing today despite repeated air attacks.

Taung Kauk is 48 miles north of Phnom Penh and 50 miles south of Kompong Thom.

Enemy forces also made a heavy attack on a government battalion at Sway Phloeng, nearly two miles east of Taing Kauk. A government spokesman said the attacks were "quite serious," and the Taing Kauk commander reported his men were under attack from all sides.

Third Party Candidate Seeks To Get On Ballot

HOUSTON (AP) — A three-judge federal court will hear Friday the complaints of a third party candidate seeking to get on the Texas ballot for the U.S. Senate, the candidate's lawyer said Monday.

David Berg of Houston made the announcement at a news conference. He spoke at the headquarters of the New Party, a group formed in Texas after the defeat of liberal Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough by conservative Lloyd Bentsen Jr. in the May Democratic primary.

At the conference were Ben Russell, 40, of Houston, the party's general candidate and author Gene Vidal, co-founder of the national New Party.

Russell filed for his candidacy about three weeks ago. The Texas Election Code stipulates that all candidates must file before February of the election year and must hold precinct and county conventions to show popular support.

Berg said the provision protects the established parties because it does not allow new parties formed between February and November to get on the ballot. He said he will ask the court to hold the election code unconstitutional.

Russell said that Mexican-Americans in South Texas have filed for candidacies in local offices through La Raza Unida party and have held precinct conventions but the Texas courts have not approved a place for them on the November ballot. They too are seeking federal court intervention.

Berg said if the court here rules in favor of Russell's candidacy it would also apply to La Raza Unida.

'Raza Unida' Meet Called

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A conference of delegates from various Mexican-American groups in Texas will be held at the Municipal Auditorium in Lubbock Saturday, it was announced here.

The "Raza Unida" (United Race) meeting is the second of its type this year.

About 1,000 persons attended a similar conference at Austin in July to discuss future activities of the Texas Mexican-American movement.

Mario Compean, regional coordinator for the Mexican-American Youth Organization, said speakers will include Jose Angel Gutierrez, organizer of a Mexican-American third political party in Southwest Texas; Rudy Acuna, professor at San Fernando State College, Calif.; and Arlos Guerra, national MAYO chairman. Compean also will speak.

Motorist Dies, Three Men Hurt

SINTON, Tex. (AP) — A collision one mile northeast of here on U.S. 181 Monday night killed Alton L. Lawhorn, 51, of Corpus Christi.

Three other motorists suffered injuries and were reported in poor condition. They are Herma D. Rhyme, 70, and Carl A. Lindgreen, both of Corpus Christi, and Charles M. Ring, 53, of Sinton.

Officers said the accident occurred as the Ring car was making a left turn.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged widow in love with a divorced man, but I feel like "the other" woman in an impossible triangle. Not the usual triangle of husband, wife and other woman, but that of daughter, father and other woman.

Kenneth's daughter is 26 and unmarried, and I doubt if she will ever marry. Her father is her whole life. She doesn't work, and seems content to stay at home with him. She doesn't date. They go everywhere together — theater, concerts, vacation trips. Daughter suffered a nervous breakdown a few years ago, but seems all right now, but she still leans on "Daddy" for everything.

Kenneth wants me to marry him. He has assured me his daughter will not live with us, but I'm afraid if he leaves her she will go to pieces again. I would love to marry this man, but I have so many fears and doubts. Should I try to find happiness with someone else, or should I marry him anyway?

DEAR OTHER: Even though Kenneth probably meant well, by allowing his daughter to stay at home and play the "wife" role, instead of encouraging her to make a social life of her own, he's partly responsible for her unhealthy dependence on him. Obviously since he was able to fall in love with you and "assure" you that if you marry him he will leave his daughter, he apparently isn't as "sick" as she is. But he should consider how this will affect his daughter — whose stability is probably marginal to begin with. She will need psychotherapy to help her adjust to "losing" her whole life. Kenneth is entitled to a life of his own. So are you. And so is the daughter. The best advice I can offer you is to hold off marrying him until all your fears and doubts are resolved, which could take longer than you care to wait.

DEAR ABBY: Last January, my fiance and I decided on Nov. 21 for our wedding date. I told my best girl friend and asked her to be my maid of honor. She accepted. A few months later, I asked her to go shopping with me to price wedding gowns and she said she "thought" she could spare "a few hours" as she had other things to do. She went with me and didn't say much.

A few weeks later this girl friend told me that she was going to announce HER wedding plans — to take place two weeks before MINE! She also told me she wouldn't be able to be my maid of honor because she'd be on HER honeymoon.

We had known each other for many years and we were close as sisters. We have the same circle of friends, which will make it hard on them with wedding showers, bridesmaids, dresses and all. Tell me honestly, am I out of line for being DISGUSTED? Disgusted? Yes. Disappointed? No. Your friend obviously had some unthought plans of her own going for her when you told her about your wedding plans. But you can't blame her for not disclosing her plans until she was sure they would materialize. For you to have expected your friend to have put off her wedding until after yours would, I think, have been expecting too much. It's not as though she waited until the last moment to tell you.

Tower Cites West Texas Gas Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Power Commission authority to establish the wellhead price in new natural gas contracts would be abolished under legislation offered Monday by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

He was joined by Sen. Clifford P. Hansen as co-sponsor in introducing the bill.

It also would require that all prices and escalations be specified in per unit terms.

Tower also made public a letter from Power Commissioner Carl E. Bagge endorsing the measure.

Tower said industry and government specialists on natural gas will have time to study his proposal before the next session of Congress, when he will reintroduce it.

The maximum FPC-approved price paid to domestic producers in West Texas is 16.5 cents per thousand cubic feet, Tower said, yet the FPC has approved prices of 32 cents for gas imported from Canada and $1.72 for liquefied natural gas imported from Algeria. Gas produced and transported from Prudhoe Bay, Alaska, is estimated to cost a minimum of 60 to 65 cents per thousand cubic feet he said.

"This unrealistically low FPC regulated price is the primary reason for our present shortage of natural gas," Tower said. "This low price does not afford the economic stimulus necessary to encourage the exploration for new supplies of our vast but undiscovered reserves of gas."

He estimated 1,200 trillion cubic feet of natural gas remain undiscovered and recoverable — enough to supply our present national needs for about 50 years.

Guild Picketing New York Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Newspaper Guild struck The New York Post today, ringing the paper's building on the East River with pickets at 6 a.m. The paper said it would not attempt to publish.

The Post, the only Manhattan-based afternoon paper remaining, was struck by its 430 guildsmen after negotiations broke off a little more than an hour before the 6 a.m. strike deadline.

Representatives of the New York Times and The Daily News, the two Manhattan morning dailies, were expected to make known later whether they would suspend publication in sympathy with the Post. They had not previously indicated they would suspend.

The 4,500 editorial, commercial and other employees represented by the Guild at the three papers have been working without a contract since March 30.

The issues under negotiation by the union and the Post were never made public.

Top minimum for reporters and photographers at the Post under the expired Guild contract had been $239.55 weekly after four years of experience, plus a cost-of-living clause.

Guildsmen at the News are expected to vote later today on whether to authorize a strike. The Times Guild unit already has authorized a strike, but no date has been set.

Six of the nine craft unions at the three papers, plus The Long Island Press, have accepted three-year contracts calling for a 41.69 per cent raise, compounded from 15, 11 and 11 per cent annual increases.

With circulation near 700,000, the tabloid Post has advertised itself as the nation's largest evening paper.

A Revolutionary, Not A Criminal?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Stanley R. Bond, accused of robbery and murder in a Boston bank holdup-slaying, says he is a fighter in a revolution against this country — not a criminal.

Bond, 25, said he had "declared war" on the United States as leader of a combat group in an organization he called "Revolutionary Action Force—East."

The young ex-convict college student, who was captured and jailed last week in Grand Junction, Colo., was quoted as making his disclosures in a telephone interview with The Phoenix, a Cambridge-published weekly which caters to university-age readers.

A Boston policeman, Walter A. Schroeder, 42, was fatally shot during the $26,000 holdup by three men and two women Sept. 23.

City Editor Vin McLellan of The Phoenix, who conducted the telephone interview with Bond, quoted him as saying:

"I certainly think that anybody who is going to make the decisions that I've made, you know, they have got to get money somewhere, I'm sure.

"I would recommend that everyone go out and rob a bank if they want some . . .

WORKED TOGETHER "One thing I can say, they don't have to kill a cop though . . . to rob a bank."

Bond was a student at Brandeis University near Boston, where he enrolled after serving three years of a 6-to-12-year sentence in the Massachusetts state prison at Walpole for bank robbery.

At Brandeis he met Susan Saxe, 21, of Albany, N.Y., and Katherine A. Power, 21, of Denver, Colo., who are sought in the holdup-killing.

The three worked together in the National Student Strike Information Center, set up last spring after U.S. troops entered Cambodia and the Kent State shootings. An associate at the center was Michael Saul Fleischer, 23, under arrest as an accessory in the case.

I COULDN'T The Phoenix quoted Bond as saying criminals "are those people who are out for their own personal interests, who live in a world by themselves."

Once enrolled at Brandeis, the newspaper quoted Bond as saying, "again, almost by definition I was asked to become a criminal, I couldn't. None of the things I had worked for were really there. So I had to have some hand in changing them."

Bond continued, "A university today does nothing but teach young people how to make a basic affirmation of contemporary American values"

Height Question

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Police men usually are the tall, husky type and short fellows usually are out of the picture.

Well, there's room for short fellows, too.

Peoria soon will be hiring not-so-tall policemen and firemen. An annual average of 10 candidates are rejected because of the minimum height restriction of 5-feet-8, according to Reginald V. Sipfle, city personnel director.

Local Man Elected To District Post

Big Springer Gus Ochotorena was elected district chairman of the American GI Forum Sunday as the local Forum chapter played host to delegates from Midland-Odessa, Kermit, Seminole, and Lamesa gathering for the first district meeting since the formation of the Big Spring chapter.

At the meeting it was announced that Dr. Hector P. Garcia, founder of the American GI Forum, may visit Big Spring in the latter half of this month or the early part of November.

About 105 attended the Sunday afternoon meeting, including Forum, Junior Forum, and Women's Auxiliary members from Big Spring and other district chapters.

Discussion topics included the progress of the Big Spring scholarship fund and the formation of new chapter within the district. The scholarship fund is being set up to send at least two deserving high school students financially unable to further their educations to Howard County Junior College for a year. The goal is 100 per cent contribution from the chapter members.

In addition to the election of Ochotorena as district chairman, Eli Viera Jr., Lamesa, became the new district representative, Joe Viera, Lamesa, was elected secretary, and Ignacio Mendoza, Big Spring, became treasurer for the district.

Ex-Convict Is Dodging Five Murder Warrants

NEW PORT RICHEY, Fla. (AP) — A nationwide manhunt was on today for a drifting ex-convict from Virginia charged with robbery-slayings that left five persons dead in a tavern and on a Gulf Coast beach, police said.

Five first-degree murder warrants were issued Monday for Henry Thomas Ashley, 27, a six-foot, 170-pound itinerant who disappeared from this quiet retirement city after three men and two women were gunned down Saturday night, Pasco County Sheriff Basil Gaines said.

The car Ashley was allegedly driving was found abandoned in Dade City about 40 miles east of New Port Richey Monday night, Gaines said.

A waitress reporting for work at Dorn's Hideaway Sunday found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Dorn and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Valiana lying in the blood-spattered steakhouse.

A few hours earlier, fishermen at nearby Green Key Beach discovered the body of Richard La Plante, 20, half-submerged on some rocks at the water's edge.

His crumpled tee-shirt was pierced by seven to 10 holes from bullets fired at point-blank range. Ten expended .22 caliber pistol cartridges were found on the sand nearby, Gaines said.

Ten more expended shells from a .22 caliber pistol were scattered about the floor of Dorn's Hideaway, the sheriff said.

The empty wallets of Dorn and Valiana were on the floor, but small change on the bar had not been touched, Gaines said.

"We know robbery was the motive, but we can't say anything further," said Dennis J. Quilligan, chief investigator for

Ex-Editor Dies
