

Heath Vows Strong Role

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath pledged Saturday to reassert

Britain's world influence beginning with active new roles in Southeast Asia, the Middle East, Africa and Europe.

"We are leaving behind the years of retreat," Heath told the windup session of the ruling Conservative party's annual convention. "We are determined to establish the reputation of Britain once again, a reputation as the firm defender of her own interests and the skillful and persistent partner of all those who are working for a lasting peace."

More than 5,000 of his followers, jam-packed in a garish amusement center, rose and cheered Heath's outline of foreign and home policy.

—First, cuts in state spending will be announced to Parliament late this month. These will involve curtailment of social services to all but the neediest and a drive to root out those who scrounge state benefits.

—Then, cuts in taxes will come in the next and subsequent national budgets, a bit at a time, to reintroduce incentives at all levels.

—Alongside these will be the new law designed to curb the powers of Britain's labor unions and to check strikes plaguing British society.

TEACHER DIES — Carl William Ackerman, former dean of the graduate school of journalism at Columbia University, died Friday of a heart attack in his New York City home. He was 80.

El Paso Candidate Asks Filing Fee Be Overturned

DALLAS (AP)—An El Paso man challenged Dallas County's filing fees requirement Friday saying that the fee does not fairly determine the seriousness of a candidacy.

A three judge federal panel heard separate motions from William Pate, who ran for El Paso County commissioner without paying a filing fee, and two others.

The filing fees have been touted as a good way to weed out candidates who are not serious about running for office.

But Pate countered that a man can be a "serious candidate" without having the funds to pay the filing fee.

The same three judges who heard Friday's motions allowed Pate to have his name on the ballot for El Paso County commissioner in the earlier primary without paying the $1,617 filing fee. Pate lost that race, but gathered 35 per cent of the vote. The panel, U.S. Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry of Austin and U.S. Dist. Judges Sarah T. Hughes and William M. Taylor Jr., took the motions under advisement and said they would rule on the constitutionality of Democratic filing fees in "a few weeks."

At Friday's hearing, attorney Stuart Abelson of the El Paso Legal Assistance Society attacked the imbalance of the fees.

He said candidates for local office in Democratic primaries in Texas can—in some counties—be required to pay as much as $8,999, while candidates for statewide offices pay only $1,000. Democratic party officials contended that filing fees are "fair" because a "serious candidate" for public office has traditionally attracted money for his candidacy.

Sen. Charles Herring, who represented the State Democratic Executive Committee, said, "Perhaps it is the reasonableness of the filing fees that should be attacked and not the constitutionality of the fees."

Christine Asks Apology

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Christine Jorgensen, the former GI whose sex was surgically changed in the early 1950s, is asking Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to apologize for what she calls his "disparaging" remark about her.

At a meeting with New Orleans newspaper editors during the week, Agnew called Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., the "Christine Jorgensen of the Republican party." Agnew has criticized Goodell, running for re-election, as politically akin to Democratic "radical liberals."

"It is with deep regret that a communication of this nature must be sent to the Vice President of the United States," said Miss Jorgensen, 44, in a telegram Friday to Agnew's Washington, D.C., office.

"But the blatant use of my name in connection with your political feud with Sen. Charles Goodell is not only unfair, but totally unjustified," the telegram said. "I request that some effort be made to correct the erroneous impression that has been given such wide publicity."

Trio Nabbed On Bank Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Police arrested three more men today in connection with Friday's stickup of a Manhattan bank in which a guard was killed and a holdup man critically wounded.

Arrested and charged with homicide and robbery were Kenneth Wales, 44; Gerard Keane, 34; and Robert Grenier, 31. All three live in Greenwich Village, police said.

Police said two of them were arrested in a Times Square hotel room registered to Joseph Murphy, 29 of Farmingdale, N.Y., who was wounded in the robbery. He was in critical condition at French Hospital.

The dead guard was Joseph Mingola, 38, of Brooklyn, a retired city policeman who had worked at the Drydock Savings Bank for 14 years.

Police said a second holdup man escaped with $5,800 from the bank at Seventh Avenue and 38th Street.

Agnew Sniffs Violence As Vote Issue

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew evidently has decided that violence—on and off campuses—is an emotional issue that can stir voters out of the apathy many frustrated campaigners for the Nov. 3 election have been complaining about.

Now resting at this California resort between forays into the South and Southwest, Agnew has been hitting repeatedly at the theme: "We see the beginning of terror."

He says leading Democrats in and out of Congress do not understand the issue and are not standing up as they should against student radicals and militant groups.

"It's not just campus violence I'll be discussing," he told a questioner in Phoenix, Ariz. "I'll be discussing the consequences of the permissive climate that I have described in the country of late."

In a later speech he said liberals like Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., are naive when they urge militants to moderate their tactics and thus avoid reaction and repression.

In the short run, Agnew argued, repression is just what radicals want:

"Their plan... is simply this—that their violence will lead us to repression, that our repression will then radicalize the moderates and this, in turn, will bring on revolution," he said.

TWO GUIDELINES
He asserted it is possible to "stop political violence without constricting the freedom of Americans."

Without going into details, he said two principles must be observed—no individual has the right to use physical force or threat to achieve political objectives, and each individual has a right to life, liberty and property.

And—perhaps launching a new phrase—Agnew said he believes a "young moral majority" would back an effort based on these principles.

Agnew made a surprise bid Friday to share his platform with envoys from about 200 youths who peacefully demonstrated against the Vietnam war outside his Phoenix hotel.

This spur-of-the-moment plan broke down, however, when security men halted the group at the hotel entrance and the main body of demonstrators indicated they did not want to send in spokesmen.

BLASTS DELLUMS
As he started his current campaign tactics and thus avoid paign swing in Fort Smith, Ark., Agnew said he has FBI information that leaders of the militant Black Panthers are dedicated to a violent course of action.

He accused Ronald Dellums,

AN AP NEWS ANALYSIS

(AP WIREPHOTO)
ANSWERS SPIRO — Ronald V. Dellums, congressional candidate, Saturday replied to Vice President Agnew's blast at him. He said that Agnew more accurately fits the description of a "political extremist" than he does.

Democratic candidate for Congress in California, of associating publicly with Panther leaders. Moreover, he said, a number of Democratic senators sponsored a campaign fundraising party for Dellums, described by Agnew as an out-and-out radical.

In Tulsa, Okla., Agnew brought into his discussion of campus violence the liberal organization, Americans for Democratic Action, saying ADA appears to like "the rock-throwing, bomb-planting, building-wrecking, obscenity-shouting, radical fringe."

Agnew attributed to other Democrats, such as two presidential candidate possibilities, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., statements on dissent which he said constitute "an immense disservice to the policeman on the beat and to communities rent by disorder." He compared students who disrupt university activities to Adolph Hitler's brown shirts.

But, just as Agnew emphasized his belief that student radicals constitute only a small fringe, Agnew said remarks in his speeches should not be construed as indicating he condemns all activist blacks and the entire Democratic Congress.

Texas Airports Remain Unshaken

By The Associated Press
Activity at Texas' major airports was slowed little if any Saturday and airport officials were generally tight-lipped about extra security precautions against bombings threatened by the radical Weatherman group.

Federal Aviation Administration facilities in Texas were alerted by FAA in Washington Friday, as were offices throughout the nation, to be on the alert.

Bomb threats had closed some airports in other parts of the nation, but normal airport traffic continued in Texas Saturday.

said it was "tightening up security." A spokesman said they were taking the names of callers who were inquiring about such matters and were just trying to be more aware of the situation.

However, no FAA personnel had been added to the normal staff.

The San Antonio International Airport Security Office said that so far no problems had developed but that "extra security precautions" were being taken.

Spokesmen at Dallas Love Field and at the El Paso FAA offices only said they had received precautionary instructions. They would not elaborate on what extra security measures might have been taken.

The FAA had warned of possible attack from the Weatherman faction of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) as part of the radical group's announced "fall offensive." The offensive was said to have begun with the bombing of a statue in Chicago in recent weeks.

Italians Pay Hefty Ransom

GENOA, Italy (AP) — The $320,000 ransom was handed over secretly to the kidnapers in a big bag of small denomination notes that weighed 110 pounds.

At midnight Friday the Italian radio broadcast a cryptic message in which the words "Il Svizzero"—the Swiss—were repeated three times.

That fulfilled the kidnapers' instructions. But Rosa Maggiolo Cadolla, the "golden widow" of Genoa, waited in mounting anxiety Saturday for the promised release of her 19-year-old son, Sergio.

He was spirited away last Tuesday from the door of the apartment of his mother, the richest woman in Genoa. She inherited a building and construction business and a chain of 51 movie theaters from her husband, Fausto, former president of the Genoa and Savona soccer clubs.

Mrs. Cadolla's attorney, Luca Clurio, said the kidnapers made their demands in "about 10, brief, cryptic, telephone calls." "They wrote no letters," he added. "They only telephoned."

Mrs. Cadolla agreed from the very start to pay the ransom. "I will pay anywhere, at any time," she said in a tearful television appeal to the kidnapers. "I only want my son back safe."

Bentsen Claims GOP Backs DRC

By The Associated Press
Former Rep. Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, Saturday told supporters in Port Arthur that the Democratic Rebuilding Committee is "paid and counseled by the Republican Party."
Bentsen leveled his charge at the formal opening of "Bentsen For Senate" headquarters in Port Arthur.
In referring to the DRC, Bentsen was speaking of a liberal element of the state Democratic Party that urges members to vote against Bentsen, Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.
Bentsen said the committee was a "tool of the Republican Party." He said that instead of urging Democrats to vote Republican, they should run their candidates as independents and not try to attach party labels to their activities.
Elsewhere on the political front Saturday, Senate candidates used space and spacemen as their topics.
Bentsen told supporters at his new Clear Lake headquarters near NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center that he wants the NASA research program to work on pollution problems.
He criticized budget cuts which "led to 900 of its employees being laid off recently" and said his opponent, Republican Rep. George Bush, voted in 1967 to cut NASA funds by $136 million a year.
"The same brainpower which solved the problems involved in taking us to the moon can help us solve the problem of making our own atmosphere safe for human beings," Bentsen said.
Bush's state headquarters in Austin announced that former astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. will attend the Bush appreciation dinner in Houston Oct. 16. Schirra commanded the crew that made the world's first space rendezvous, Dec. 15, 1965, and commanded the first American three-man crew on the flight test for the spacecraft trip around the moon, Oct. 11, 1968.
At Orange, Bentsen told a news conference Bush was "pushed" into the Senate race by President Nixon and "clearly is under his thumb."
"George Bush has been forced to embrace the Republican administration's fiscal policies, which are based on the belief that 5 per cent unemployment is healthy. I don't think it is—and neither does anyone else who has an ounce of compassion for those who cannot find jobs to support their families," Bentsen said.

CANDIDATES' SCHEDULE
By The Associated Press
Here is where Texas political candidates say they will be in the coming week:
U.S. Senate:
George Bush—Monday, Houston, Lubbock and Amarillo; Tuesday, El Paso; Wednesday, Brownsville; Thursday, Houston; Friday, Dallas and Houston; and Saturday, Houston.
Lloyd Bentsen—Monday, Houston; Tuesday, San Antonio; Wednesday, Austin; Thursday, Galveston, Alta Loma, La Marque and Beaumont; Friday, Dallas; and Saturday, Cuero and Yorktown.
Governor:
Gov. Preston Smith—Monday, Graham, Lamesa, Brady, Temple; Wednesday, Hallettsville, Bay City, Austin; Thursday, Arlington and Fort Worth; and Saturday, Austin.
Paul Eggers—Sunday, Pampa; Monday, Borger and Amarillo; Tuesday, Dallas and San Antonio; Wednesday, Fort Worth and Denton; Thursday, Port Arthur and Beaumont; Friday, Corpus Christi and Dallas; and Saturday, Pasadena and NASA-Clear Lake-LaPorte.
DALLAS (AP)—Dallas police said Friday they are investigating the disappearance of Deborah D. Palmer, a 19-year-old North Dallas model who they said vanished from her apartment 32 days ago.
One officer said he feared the young woman may have been the victim of foul play similar to the fate of another young woman in the Dallas area, Linda Phillips, a Richardson schoolteacher, was found murdered on a lonely road Aug. 16.
Police said that two suitcases belonging to Miss Palmer were found on a road north of Richardson, a Dallas suburb, 11 days ago.
A search turned up no further clues.
Police said they entered the case Sept. 22 at the request of the young woman's mother, actress Ann Palmer. Mrs. Palmer flew to Dallas from Germany when she learned of the discovery of her daughter's luggage, police said.
Police said Miss Palmer had only recently returned to Dallas from a vacation trip to California. She is described as quite attractive, about 5-8 and weighing 145 pounds, with long blonde hair.

Laird Blasts Defense Cut

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Warning that Russia is rapidly expanding its military forces, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird blasted the House Friday for slashing $2 billion from what he said already is a "rock-bottom" defense budget.
The House action, he charged in a speech here, represents "an imprudent risk as far as the safety and the security of the United States is concerned."
The House voted the $2 billion cut in the Nixon Administration's defense money proposal for this fiscal year on Thursday, leaving it at $66.8 billion.
Laird said the proposal "is a rock-bottom, bare-bones budget and it cannot take the substantial reductions which were voted in the Congress just yesterday." He expressed hope that the Senate will restore the cuts.
He asserted: "We in the United States must never close our eyes to the threat which our armed forces must be prepared to face. That threat has not diminished."
Laird spoke before a crowd of about 900 at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon.
In the past five years, he said, Russia has expanded its strategic offensive forces "with a rapid and persistent momentum. As a result, it has achieved a position of priority and in some cases superiority."
He also pointed out that the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks resume shortly. If the talks fail, he said, "We will face some hard, tough decisions that cannot be delayed much longer if we are to assure the nation's safety and survival."
HOUSTON (AP) — A record air shipment of 74 registered Brahman bulls is on its way to the Malagasy Republic off the coast of East Africa. The cattle came from the J. D. Hudgins, Inc., ranch at Hungerford, Malagasy, formerly Madagascar, is initiating a 40,000 acre cattle development project in the island republic.
The World Bank arranged the financing and is cooperating in the project. All the bulls are two years of age or older and will be put into service on native cows in an extensive upgrading program.
The 12,000-mile flight was expected to take 24 hours, stopping in Bangor, Maine; Shannon, Ireland; Athens, Greece; and Nairobi, Kenya.
In 1955, 94 registered Brahmans were shipped to the republic.

UP FOR A GAIN — Joe Wylie (22), University of Oklahoma back, goes end over David Richardson (34), University of Texas defensive end, to make a three yard gain in the first quarter of the game in Dallas Saturday. Texas Punishes Oklahoma, 41-9

Tech Slams By Aggies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Second-ranked Texas capitalized on a roughing the kicker penalty and numerous bobbles by mistake-prone Oklahoma to steam roller the Sooners 41-9 Saturday in a battle of sledge hammer triple options in the 64th meeting of the bitter rivals.

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas Tech churned out much of its yardage on the ground, but quarterback Charles Napper went to the air for touchdown passes of 12 and two yards to split-end Johnny Odom Saturday to give the Raiders an important 21-7 Southwest Conference victory over Texas A&M.

The victory evened the Raiders' SWC record at 1-1 and left the Aggies with an 0-1 record. Another loss by the Raiders almost certainly would have eliminated them from the conference chase. Napper, working the Tech option efficiently, slipped the 12 yarder to Odom early in the second quarter and later in the same period sent Miles Langehennig two yards into the end zone for a 14-0 halftime lead.

Ump Pulled Rock, Pictures Show

CINCINNATI (AP) — A sequence of photographs by The Associated Press shows that umpire Ken Burkhardt missed the call Saturday on the controversial sixth inning play at home plate that helped Baltimore to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the first World Series game.

Carbo: Ken Surprised

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bernie Carbo, called out at the plate in a controversial sixth-inning play Saturday in the World Series opener, thought his daring running surprised umpire Ken Burkhardt.

O's Backstop Says He Made Tag At Plate

CINCINNATI (AP) — Catcher Elrod Hendricks of the Baltimore Orioles insisted that he made the tag on Cincinnati's Bernie Carbo in a controversial play at the plate in the sixth inning of Saturday's World Series opener won 4-3 by the Orioles.

"I didn't expect Carbo to come in on a play like that," Hendricks said. "But then I heard Jim Palmer yell, 'tag him.'"

A Very Special Place

By JO BRIGHT

"This is just the beginning. When we have accomplished this, we will be seeking other programs."

The aim is expressed proudly and confidently by board members of the West Side Community Center, formerly known as West Side Recreation Center.

Due, in great part, to the enthusiasm of a concerned citizen, Mrs. Ben Boadle, new life is being breathed into a much-needed operation which was collapsing due to lack of support.

For those who are not familiar with the center, it was begun during the second World War to give low income families a place to leave their children while the mothers worked. Since that time, Church Women United and the United Fund have operated it as a recreation center for children who need a place to play in a healthy environment. The center has always operated on a minimum budget; therefore, all help must be volunteer, with the exception of a paid attendant, Mrs. Ernest Bauch, who lives on the premises.

Recently, Church Women United formed a separate board, both men and women, to govern the center, and that board is working very hard to provide the children with something more than just a play center.

Those accepting leadership positions on the board are Peter Stone, chairman; Mrs. Robert Sawyer, vice chairman; Mrs. Don Wiley, secretary and volunteer co-ordinator; and Don Morgan, treasurer. Other board members are Mrs. Boadle, public relations; Jim Bagwell, Wade Choate, Mrs. John Fort, Bill Reed, the Rev. and Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand, Morris Holmes, Mrs. M. B. McFall, Joy Wieland and Ben Bancroft, legal adviser.

The board feels that its efforts to establish regular activities at the center is beginning to pay off in increased participation by the youngsters. Some of the activities have leaders; others are in need of volunteers.

1.) Arts and Crafts — Monday and Wednesday afternoons for girls age 8 to 12. Already has leadership.

2.) Mothers Crafts Class — Friday, 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Needs leaders.

3.) Free play hour for children while mothers have crafts — Friday, 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Needs leaders.

4.) Children's Choir — probably Tuesday afternoon after school. Has director but will more than likely need pianist.

5.) Library Day — one Thursday a month after school children will be taken to library to check out books. Has leaders.

6.) Grooming and Health Education Classes for Children — remaining Thursday afternoons 4 to 5 p.m. Needs leaders.

7.) Supervised Playground Activities — Saturday, 1 to 4 p.m. Has leaders.

8.) Films from Library — shown Saturday nights by attendant.

9.) Pre-school Program — Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to noon. Needs help. Mrs. Carol Sawyer is director, so if you are interested, call her at 267-5439.

10.) Piano lessons. Needs teachers.

11.) Study Hall after school — 5 to 6 p.m. (Has some leaders but could use more. Call Mrs. Joy Wieland at 263-2097.)

12.) Sewing Classes — no date set. Needs leaders.

13.) Ballet, dancing, tumbling — no date set. Needs leaders.

14.) Every Thursday there will be a registered nurse on duty to check the children's health and make suggestions.

MAN TALK TAKES PLACE on the playground gym as Peter Stone, chairman of the board for West Side Community Center, stops to chat with young Tom Olague Jr., 7, a first-grader at Cedar Crest School who lives in the neighborhood served by the center. The gym and other equipment needs paint, but that doesn't bother a boy much when it is a sunny day and winter is just around the corner.

THE THRILL OF climbing up and sliding down is one of the joys of childhood, here enjoyed by Ricky Redwine, 9, left, and Carlos Ortega, 5,

You Can Be Involved

Volunteers at Westside Community Center hope that others will find it in their hearts to become involved in this worthwhile community cause. For those who would like to help without giving of their time, the board offers the following suggestions.

USED THINGS CAN BE DONATED

Footballs, baseballs, bats, gloves, children's records in good condition wooden puzzles with all the pieces, toys that are still useful, dolls and doll clothes, games that have all the pieces.

ITEMS NEEDED FOR CRAFTS

Pasteboard tubes from wrapping paper or foil, one pound coffee cans with lids, spools from thread, old or broken jewelry, bits of lace, ribbon, sequins, trims of any kind, scraps of felt, velveteen or flannel in bright colors, leftover knitting yarn, men's old shirts that can be used as painting smocks, old Ideals magazines.

ITEMS HAVING NOMINAL COSTS

Gesso from hobby stores, acrylic varnish for decoupage, mixed packages of construction paper, dry tempera paint, colored tissue paper, yardage or squares of felt, pencils straight pins and needles paper kitchen towels, sheets of styrofoam, Elmer's glue, liquid starch.

GIRLS AND GIGGLES go together, and Mrs. John Fort, a volunteer arts and crafts teacher at Westside Community Center, sees that her charges have lots of laughter. Holding colorful creatures created during their classes are, from left, Mary Ann Olague, 11, Gloria Aguilar, 10, Patsy Olague, 9, Debra Abreo, 9, and Elizabeth Abreo, 10.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Miss Rebecca Lynn Miller became the bride of Roger McCarty Saturday evening at the Marcy Drive Church of Christ. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Miller, 810 E. 18th St.; and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McCarty, Midland. The single ring ceremony was performed by Paul Keele, minister.

The bride was attired in an A-line gown of bridal satin accented with lace appliques and featuring a chapel train overlaid with Chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was attached to a pearl tiara.

MRS. ROGER McCARTY

Donald McCarty, Odessa, served his brother as best man. Following the marriage ceremony, the reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Receiving the guests with the wedding party was Mrs. E. L. Wilkerson, grandmother of the bride. The refreshment table was covered with an ecru lace cloth overlaid with blue and centered with a blue floral arrangement. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The tiered bridal cake was accented with pastel blue roses.

Mrs. Donald McCarty, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, registered the guests. Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. James B. Nixon.

The bride attended Big Spring High School. The bridegroom attended Edison High School in Midland and is employed by Foote Well Service of Odessa.

The bride wore a pale blue A-line double knit dress with black patent accessories and corsage for traveling. Following a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Odessa.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Gimea and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McGaffin, all of Midland; and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilkerson, Mesa, Ariz.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Howard Boren, 504 Westover Rd., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Larry Van Emerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Emerson of O'Donnell. The wedding will be performed Nov. 28 by the Rev. Harlan Birdwell in St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Couple Married In Irving Ceremony

Mrs. Modesta G. Simpson and Wade Simpson. Unable to attend were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Williams Jr. of Fort Stockton, who are presently in Alaska.

La Gallina Holds Club Championship

La Gallina Club Championship games were played Friday at Big Spring Country Club. The games attracted 4 1/2 tables. Winners were Mrs. Don Wiley and Mrs. Paschal Odum, first; Mrs. Paul Meek and Mrs. Ken Perry, second; and Mrs. Clarence Peters and Mrs. Pete Cook, third. Tied for fourth place were Mrs. Ken Gafford and Mrs. Monroe Gafford, and Mrs. Harold Davis and Mrs. Hank McDaniel.

Cedar Crest PTA Meets Teachers

Mrs. Iver Spencer presided at the Cedar Crest Parent-Teacher Association meeting Thursday. Tom Henry, principal, introduced the teachers. Mrs. Doris Mantooth spoke about the Girl Scout program and asked for women to volunteer as leaders for Brownie and Girl Scout troops.

The new safety patrol program, under the supervision of the Big Spring Police Department, was discussed. The room count prize was shared by Mrs. L. E. Rush's first grade and Mrs. V. L. Perkins' fourth grade. The next meeting will be Dec. 10.

Barrack's Units Plan Conference

A covered-dish dinner was held Thursday by Big Spring Barracks 1474 and the Ladies Auxiliary at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. E. L. Patton presided at the auxiliary meeting as new officers were elected. Taking office in January will be Mrs. W. E. Moren, president; Mrs. Mary Brown, treasurer; and Mrs. Bob Wren, secretary.

Guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Crabtree of the Plainview barracks.

Plans were made for the district meeting to be held in Big Spring Oct. 24. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. at the IOOF hall. More than 100 barracks officers and members are expected to attend.

The next regular meeting will be Nov. 12 when members will hold a Thanksgiving banquet and special program.

'ROUND TOWN

From this day forward I shall believe those who say that a thick covering of berries on pyracantha bushes is a harbinger of an early fall. This year fall was almost passed up for an early winter.

We had been admiring the bright orange berries on the bushes in the foreyard of MRS. O. M. WATERS' home, and it was then noted by some of the group that the berries were quite thick (and this was weeks ago).

Thursday's combination of wind, sand and cold made most of us think winter was at hand, especially so since the furnace was still in the air conditioning stage. . . I marvel at the endurance of the plumes atop the pampas grass when the wind blows so forcefully. The force may have the plumes slanting but I have yet to see the stems broken.

MRS. BOB KOUNTZ returned Tuesday from a trip to Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana where she mixed business with pleasure. She and her aunt, MRS. D. G. BARDWELL of Charleston, Miss., had a wonderful time together going 'antiquing' in that area. Mabel also saw a specialist in Memphis about an eye condition. Back in Texas, she attended the First Monday (we call them Flea Markets) in Canton and it was something to see the 900 dealers showing their wares according to Mrs. Kountz.

When MRS. SMITH SWORDS was in Washington D.C., recently for the meeting of the National League for Families of Missing in Action and Prisoners of War, she visited with several women whom she knew while their husbands were stationed here at Webb AFB. Among them were MRS. ANNE (FRANKS) FOBAIR and MRS. SHARON WHITE both of whom now live in the Florida area, and MRS. SANDRA STORZ who taught at St. Mary's Day School. She is residing in eastern New York.

This was Mrs. Sword's first trip to the national capital, and she was among the 600 who gathered to hear from psychiatrists and governmental leaders among them Sen. Ful-

Westside Center Needs Volunteers, Equipment

The need for volunteer workers and equipment for Westside Community Center were discussed during the board meeting Thursday. Pete Stone, president, and the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand led prayer.

Jim Bagwell, ways and means chairman, said his committee will meet this week to discuss fund-raising.

Don Morgan, treasurer, reported that the $50 charter fee has been raised and will be forwarded to Austin by Ben Bancroft. Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand, president of Church Women United, and Morgan discussed final arrangements for transferring the financial responsibilities of the center from the Church Women to the board of directors. The Church Women will continue contributing to the support of the center, using a monthly pledge system.

Mrs. Don Wiley, volunteer coordinator, discussed programs in progress, saying more volunteers are needed if the programs are to continue and new programs be added.

"There is a dire need for volunteers to work with the boys as well as with Mrs. Robert Sawyer in the pre-school program in the morning," Mrs. Wiley said. "Portable cribs are needed two mornings a week for the 'Mother's Morning Out' program." Anyone wishing more information may call Mrs. Sawyer at 267-5439.

Items such as children's clothing, shoes, games, study lamps and desks are needed according to Mrs. Ernest Bauch, center director. The supply of clothing, especially sweaters and shoes, is very low.

A Halloween party is planned from 4 to 5 p.m. Oct. 26. The next board of directors meeting will be Nov. 12.

don't knock it

Maybe you don't like rock and roll, but there's vibrancy to its beat that lets kids express themselves. Even if it isn't your kind of music it's their kind of music. Perhaps the "generation gap" may be narrowed slightly if you'll listen.

Life, remember, is a process of give and take. Adults and teenagers have to give a little if they are going to reach mutual understanding. If, in the beginning, you've given the basic things—like faith, love and respect, then you've nothing to worry about.

But it's never too late. For instance — have you gone with your teenager to church lately?

Marsha Lynn Heard Weds Paul Biffle Jr.

Miss Marsha Lynn Heard and the bridegroom is the son of Paul L. Biffle Jr. were married Mr. and Mrs. Paul Biffle Sr. Saturday evening in the 1205 Ridgeroad. Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ with Perry Cotham officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon P. Heard, 1808 Main and Wedding music was provided by church choral group conducted by Dan Conley. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a Princess-style peau de soie satin gown appliqued with embroidered lace on the bodice, front panel of the skirt and chapel train. The long petal-point sleeves were appliqued with lace at the cuff. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a large flat satin bow, and she carried a cascade of French carnations centered with a white orchid.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Leah Harris was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Clarinda Harris and Miss Debbie Harris. The bride was attired in Princess-style royal blue peau de soie satin gowns with headpieces of cascading sequined flowers entwined with satin streamers. Each attendant carried a single long-stemmed blue carnation.

Larry Russell served as best man, and groomsmen were Bruce Love and Steve Austin. Ushers were Jim Perrodin, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Wayne Sturm.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served at the reception in the fellowship hall. The all-white tiered cake was accented with confection roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The serving table was covered with a floor-length flounced skirt edged with Chantilly lace. Silver appointments were used, and the bride's bouquet was displayed as the centerpiece.

Serving were Miss Brenda Heard, sister of the bride, and Miss Denise Hicks. Miss Marilyn Biffle, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests. House party members were Mrs. D. W. Pierce, Mrs. Frank T. Parker, Mrs. Jimmy Jones, and Mrs. J. C. McWhorter.

LOCAL GRADUATES

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Big Spring High School. Following a wedding trip to Alpine and Big Bend, the couple will reside in Abilene where Biffle is employed by Bell Telephone Company. The bride wore a red tunic pantsuit with black accessories for her traveling ensemble.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Barbara Boardman, Fort Worth; Mrs. S. J. Porter and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Tatum, all of Grapevine; and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cunningham, Miles.

ANNIVERSARY TRIP — Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rubio, 113 NE 10th, are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary with a trip to Laredo Monterrey, Mexico, after which they will visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Tello, in Houston. Mr. and Mrs. Rubio, who were married Oct. 10, 1945, in Big Spring, left on the trip Saturday.

Bridge Players Set Tournament

Six tables were in play for duplicate bridge games Friday at Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow tied for first and second places with Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. R. H. Weaver. Other winners were Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. J. D. Robertson, third; and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Mrs. Jack Irons, fourth.

Wednesday winners were Mrs. Ray McMahan and Mrs. D. A. Brazel, first; and Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. Weaver, second.

It was announced that club tournament play will be held Wednesday.

Scale Steppers Crown New Queen

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Richard Payne was crowned queen for September at the Stanton Scale Steppers meeting in Martin County Library. New team captains chosen were Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Gordon Tunnell. Mrs. Calvin McKenzie presided, and the 10 members recorded a 10½-pound loss. The next meeting will be a salad supper provided by Mrs. C. W. Brumley's losing team.

A LOVELIER YOU Matching Stockings Flatter Midi-Look

By MARY SUE MILLER
Even a little leg goes a long way.

It seems that Lovelies are rediscovering that bit of fashion lore. And how a color-deep stocking, pantyhose or two-piecer is a most important part of the Long Look.

To elongate the line between hem and shoe, legwear comes in darkened reds, purple and red plums, pressed violets, slate and navy blues, earthy browns and russets, terrazzo taupe and misty taupe, olive and forest greens, shadow gray, black-black.

As for textures, opaques and semiopaques lead off and are slated for wear with our "tweedy" sort of clothes. Patterns run to ribs, dots, clocks and side stripes. Often decorated at the ankles, sheers are naturals for framing by slash, slit and sink.

Once you put it all together, you find ways to use stockings — all constructions from knee-highs to head-and-toes — with utmost effect.

To carry the main clothing shade — Deep purple suit and panty-socking, finely ribbed and semi-sheer for actionwear, in a pressed violet's shade.

To reflect a shoe's color — Dark olive suede shoes, opaque stretch nylons in true olive. (Have you noticed? Shoes have oval toes and less clunky heels.)

To pick up a smashing accessory — A necklace cascading with misty gray crystals, shadow gray sheers.

Great looks? You bet!

Bad Driving Habits Illustrated By Film

"The Final Factor," a film dealing with everyday faults of drivers, was shown by Officer Lee Justice of Big Spring Police Department at Thursday's meeting of Airport Parent-Teacher Association. The film showed bad habits in driving that lead to accidents. According to the speaker, there have been more deaths due to automobile accidents since 1900 than deaths caused during all the wars since 1775.

Mrs. Richard Smith presided, and the Rev. Arthur Thomas, Airport Baptist Church, worded the devotion. Mrs. Lee Justice, membership chairman reported 162 new members, announcing that the "Reach Our Goal" deadline for recruiting new members is Oct. 19.

The school carnival will begin with the crowning of a king and queen at 6 p.m., Oct. 17, according to Mrs. Roger Coffman, general chairman of the carnival. She said deadline for money for the contest is noon

Oct. 17. The kitchen will open at 5:30 p.m. for the carnival. There will be a Mexican dinner served, and homemade baked goods and hot dogs will be for sale.

Representing Airport PTA at the fall workshop at Westbrook School Oct. 22 will be Mrs. R. H. Carter, Mrs. Richard Grove, Mrs. Dale Ditto, Mrs. George Wanner and Mrs. Coffman.

A gift was presented on behalf of the football team to Bob Smith, recreation chairman, in appreciation of his raising money to supply the team with jerseys for the season. Mrs. Smith accepted the gift for her husband who was unable to be present.

The room count was won by Miss Shirley Osborn's first grade class. The pledge was given by Den 5, Pack 1 of the Cub Scouts. Refreshments were served in a Halloween motif with a bubbling "witches brew" punch. The next meeting, Nov. 12, will feature an unusual style show.

After 45 Years Oil Remains Economic Leaven In Area

Oil, after 45 years of contribution to Howard County, still is the chief economic leaven of this area.

Last year, the value of product in Howard County alone amounted to more than $45,000,000 for 15,546,215 barrels of oil. To this can be added the value of natural gas and its by-products of liquefied gas.

For Howard and contiguous counties, the total production was 49,818,845 barrels, yielding a gross value of around $150 million.

The local payroll impact is tremendously impressive. This figure, led by Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., Cabot Co., and Sid Richardson Carbon Black Co., amounted to approximately $10 million for the year in salaries and wages. Actually, the total may be nearer $11 million when all field and auxiliary workers are included.

The oil companies producing in Howard County paid in about $2 million in ad valorem taxes toward support of local government and schools.

The spin off from these activities is tremendous, although without any accurate estimate.

For instance, consignees and wholesale dealers distribute between a million and a half and a million three-quarters gallons of fuel monthly.

Big Spring is something of a trucking center because of the requirements of hauling this fuel, plus a great tonnage of asphalt from the Cosden plant. Several commercial oilfield trucking companies also are involved.

While there are no accurate figures, it is estimated that there are around 250 people employed in the service stations serving Big Spring and Howard County. This could mean a payroll in excess of a million dollars.

The companies which supply and service oil well operations can be added to these, along with those who make their living trading in oil properties, royalties, leases, etc. Two industries depending on the oil complex for raw materials — W. R. Grace's ammonia (fertilizer) and Intech's polystyrene moulding — are part of the total picture.

As mentioned, Cosden is the largest of the complex, processing well over 20,000,000 barrels of raw materials annually at its Big Spring plant. Last year the finished product value was in excess of $104 million. Cosden alone employed 835 people with a payroll just under $8 million. Carbon black producers required more than 150 people in turning out around 18,000,000 pounds of black. Natural gas processing furnished jobs for over three score persons drawing half a million a year.

Cosden's influence was not only here but around the world, where its polystyrene and other processes are licensed. Oct. 2 Cosden formally dedicated a new polystyrene facility at Calumet City, Ill., to produce 150 million pounds of the plastic annually. It is the first domestic P-plant Cosden has built, although it has a partnership in a styrene facility in Louisiana.

Half A Century Since First Infection HOWARD COUNTY STILL FEELS EFFECTS OF OIL FEVER

It has been half a century since Big Spring and this area got the first dose of oil fever.

Although the event which could have turned the city into the oil capital of West Texas turned out to be a flash in the pan, the inoculation proved to be with live virus. The city and area never got over the affinity for oil and oilmen.

S. E. J. Cox, a promoter who had parlayed a small oil venture into a sprawling enterprise, moved in on Big Spring in 1919 with a bit of razzle dazzle that sounds like fiction. Within a year he had an oil well in northern Glasscock County, sold multiplied thousands of shares of stock on the strength of promises for it.

COX IMPRISONED
The well, General Oil No. 1 McDowell, went bad, and in the space of a couple of years, Cox was in federal prison as a reward for his eloquence with a promotional pen.

At one time he had half a dozen wildcat rigs going in this vicinity, each of them on or in proximity to where fields were later developed. Essentially a dreamer, he closed his eyes as he proclaimed a vision of miles upon miles of derricks. The thousands upon thousands of oil wells in the Permian Basin have made his vision a timid one.

Cox so enthused the community leaders that when No. 1 McDowell encountered oil in the summer of 1920, a huge party was staged. Citizens raised $8,000 for a gigantic barbecue that drew an estimated 10,000 people into a city of 4,000 souls. Included in the influx were special trains which Cox financed from the West and East Coasts.

And then, in the effort to make a big well out of a tiny one, the casing collapsed in No. 1 McDowell and the hole was virtually ruined. Although it continued to furnish a small amount of oil used for fuel for other wildcats, it never made a commercial producer.

But what Cox did do in Big Spring was to stimulate action. There were some local enterprise, including Home Oil Co., which every week reported it was having trouble but things were looking good: Cushing Development Co. organized by the late Cap Cushing for exploration on his ranch in northern Glasscock County.

When Fred Hyer No. 1 Clay did find oil in November, 1925, followed by Owen and Sloan No. 1 Chalk the following spring and the lid-blaster Magnolia (Mobil) No. 1 Roberts the following year, Big Spring was ready to react.

SUPPLIES NEEDED
Machine and supply yards came quickly into being. Texas Electric Service rushed a big sub-station, a local natural gas company was formed, Southwestern Bell announced a new plant.

Business houses were springing up on every hand. Dr. G. T. Hall and Dr. M. H. Bennett built a 30-bed hospital, followed by the Bivings & Barcus (now Memorial Medical Center).

A. J. Crawford was induced to build a seven-story hotel, which was followed by a four-story hostelry J. C. Douglas Sr. built to replace the old Cole Hotel which had gone up in flames. Soon Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Settles announced the 15-story Settles Hotel, and the Read and State Hotels followed.

NO OFFICES
Local citizens, concerned about lack of office space, organized a company to build the Petroleum Building (which now houses Cosden offices). Bank deposits at first doubled in a year, and for a time jumped by half a million a month.

Big Spring Refinery, a local venture, was built to process 2,000 barrels per day. J. S. Cosden announced a 10,000 barrel refinery July 24, 1928, and it went into operation the following year. Great West (Moody and FHE) put in a refinery east of Cosden, and Cosden W. D. Richardson opened a 8,000-barrel per day plant. T&P Railway Company nested among these with a tank farm holding 1,000,000 barrels of oil.

Things were popping so fast that it was small wonder The Herald went daily in June, 1928, to stay abreast of the news.

Will we STRIKE OIL-

or STRIKE OUT?"

That's the question a drilling company — like ours — asks itself everytime it drills into the earth. Yes, drilling for oil is risky business.

Exploring and producing is the part we play in America's progressive oil industry. Like thousands of other independent companies — large and small — we compete to serve you, to be sure you have all the oil products you want. America's future growth — in both population and prosperity — will continue to be great and we in the oil industry will continue to do our share. When you consider that 4 out of every 5 wells drilled is a "dry hole", you can see the financial risks we take in order that the oil industry can continue to serve our country, and you.

Howard County, Neighbors Near Billion Barrel Mark

Within another two years, Howard and contiguous counties will have reached the billion barrel mark in cumulative production.

These and other figures prepared by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association reflect some of the economic impact of oil production on this immediate area.

Last year these counties yielded 49,818,845 barrels of oil valued at approximately $150 million. Their cumulative production total is 892,022,453 barrels.

Their daily oil output was 136,493 barrels, which means that each month this product created around $12.3 million in new wealth for the seven-county area alone.

On a state-wide basis, the 1969 production was 1,151,775,000 barrels of oil with an income of $3.6 billion for Texas among 198 producing counties out of the state's total of 254 counties.

Thirty-four counties in the state produced more than 25,000 barrels of oil per day, and Howard County is among them. In fact, Howard ranks 17th among all of the counties of Texas in daily oil production, and with 42,595, is among the 18 counties which produce more than 40,000 barrels per day.

Dawson County is forging upward as an oil county, turning out more than 10 million barrels last year, and Borden almost hit that level.

The accompanying tables show the record of Howard and its immediately surrounding counties of Dawson, Borden, Mitchell, Sterling, Glasscock and Martin, also some of the others within a 70-mile radius of Big Spring.

Fina Starts Truck Stop Construction

A new Fina truck stop and restaurant is under construction at the southwest corner of what is called the Big Spring Cosden refinery fronting IS 20.

The Tommy Gage Oil Co. will operate the facility, which is expected to be in operation by Jan. 1.

The restaurant will seat 72 persons, at tables, booths and a ten-stool bar. A vaulted ceiling and walnut veneer paneling will be used.

Major portions of the service-area drives are to be paved with asphalt, with concrete pads for fueling facilities.

Plans call for both the restaurant and the service station to be open 24 hours a day.

Eskimo Takes Easy Way Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sam Pookeo, an Eskimo whose 4,000-mile canoe trip from the Arctic Circle ended here, is taking the easy way out.

"I'm flying home," said Pookeo, who along with Barry Lane of Grand Rapids, Mich., paddled their fiberglass canoe into New Orleans.

The trip took four months and 18 days.

The first 150 miles was over a frozen route as sled dogs dragged the canoe over the sea ice into the waters of Repulse Bay.

"We made a point not to fall out of the canoe," said Lane, a college student.

Then they paddled into Hudson Bay and out into the Hayes River—traveling upstream all the way on the watery path which was once the only fur route of North America.

Finally, they made their way down the Mississippi River.

Why did they make the trip? A magazine said it couldn't be done, they explained.

.. with .. INDUSTRY

Natural gas has played an important part in the development of industry on the Plains of Texas. Companies seeking industrial sites have been attracted to this area by the large quantities of natural gas available, at such a low price, for use as fuel.

.. with ... AGRICULTURE

Natural gas powers over half of the irrigation wells on the Texas Plains ... and is steadily gaining a larger percentage. And, because of irrigation, this area that was once known as "The Great American Desert" now leads the state in the production of several important agricultural products.

.. with .. HOME BUILDERS .. and .. with .. HOME OWNERS

Natural gas is being put to work in ever increasing amounts in and outside of the homes of this area. All-GAS Blue Flame and Blue Star Homes are justly famous for their comfort, convenience and economy. Gas cooks, cools, heats and dries far below the cost of other fuels.

First Oil Well Still At Work

MARKER OF FIRST COUNTY WELL
... Reginald Hyer, grandson of Fred Hyer

By JOE PICKLE

Forty-five years ago, lacking almost one month, Howard County marked its first oil discovery.

That well, now known as the Conoco No. 1 H. R. Clay, is still plugging away. There are no accurate records as to its output, but probably its yield exceeds three-quarters of a million barrels.

Today, it ranks as a marginal well, but in its moment of glory it was the fuse that ignited an oil boom for Big Spring and eventually led to more than 4,000 wells over all parts of the county.

Fred Hyer, a transplanted Pennsylvanian, was the father of that well and kept alive the spark that became a flame the following spring with discovery of the Owens & Sloan No. 1 Chalk, which tapped the main body of the Queen sand and was a substantially more prolific well. Within a year after that operators drilled into the Clear Fork and got 4,000-barrel wells.

The boom was on, and the destiny of Big Spring was changed.

Hyer had been in the oil business almost from the time he was born virtually within the shadow of the nation's first oilwell at Titusville, Pa. His wildcatting adventures eventually led him to establish an office in Fort Worth in the same building where H. R. Clay, who had a ranch in southern Howard County, also had office space.

Clay kept Hyer to drill a well on his ranch, eventually agreeing to lease the seven-section spread to the oilman. This was the first element of chance which led to discovery of oil in the county.

The second was the precise location of the well, which, it turned out, was right on the south edge of the field. Hyer was cognizant of stories about oil wildcats, had they been drilled in a slightly different location, what would have been dry.

"Maybe there's oil out there," he said, motioning to the south, "but nobody's ever found it. Five or six hundred feet south and this probably would have been a dry hole, too."

He had picked the location, 990 feet from the west and 660 feet from the south lines of section 139-29, W&NW, partly on hunch and partly on logic. Five years before the S.E.J. Cox venture, General Oil No. 1 Bud Roberts, had tapped a section "crape," a shale tar substance. A couple of years later Cushing Development Company No. 1 Cushing had encountered the same substance to the south. This substantiated Hyer's acceptance of the theory that the spot was on a geological ridge.

With a twinkle, he added: "Besides, this was about the center of the lease spread."

He had a rig dismantled near Breckenridge and re-erected it in a draw miles from the nearest habitation. The doghouse stretched to the south, and beyond it were shacks for the cook and for the crew. A one-lung Franklin diesel was used for drilling power. All of this was hauled by wagon from Big Spring.

Try as he might, Hyer couldn't sell any leases surrounding his shot-in-the-dark exploration. When the hole was around 1,200 feet, he went to Houston and called on his friend, Wallace Pratt, who did the buying for Humble and whose opinion was highly valued.

Hyer spread his maps out and offered offsetting quarter sections to Pratt for $25 an acre. Shrewd trader Pratt studied it and countered with $12.50 an acre.

"Mr. Pratt," said Hyer. "You've got yourself a deal."

Recalling this, he said that if word had been broadcast, it couldn't have gotten around faster. By the time he got back to the Rice Hotel, Gulf was there to buy, and others followed quickly. When he got back home, landmen beat a path to the rig.

"Talk about sheep following the leader," he observed. "Before, I couldn't give it away."

There was some interest stirred when there was a show of oil in the Yates formation from 1,402-30, but no one got excited. On Nov. 9, 1926, at 1,508 feet, the formation changed and the bit pounded into what became known as the Hyer sand, actually a stringer from the Queen. Within the next four feet, oil began to come up. Operations were shut down until morning, and everyone agreed to say nothing about it.

Hyer was up early to take a look at the rig.

"It's a mighty thrill to look out on your lines and see oil when you're drilling way out from nowhere," he said.

If his word of the deal with Humble had spread like wildfire, the "secret" in south Howard County gained even quicker currency. By noon, there were around 100 jitneys and wagons clustered around the test. Hyer took it down and established the main pay zone from 1,542-62.

Hyer No. 1 Clay was rated at 25 barrels a day, but Hyer smilingly admitted that "it wouldn't make much more than 10. It was sort of the custom to exaggerate a little in those days."

The importance of this event, however, could hardly be exaggerated. At once it stimulated other activity. Steve Owens and Sam Sloan came over from Colorado City and made a deal with Otis Chalk to drill on his ranch, and on April 26, 1926, the test tapped the Queen sand and yielded a substantial gas volume, too.

With this, other operators moved in and soon there were rigs everywhere. The Yates, from 1,200 to 1,300 feet in another part of the field was productive. Then came much larger wells from the San Andres around 2,500. A year after Hyer's discovery, Magnolia (Mobil) was depending to shut off water in the San Andres and tapped the Clear Fork at 2,900. Reports said this was a 4,800-barrel well (indeed one well in that area did make 3,000 barrels a month.)

There was no stopping the oil play. Independents and majors alike jumped into the swim and the field sprawled almost from the Mitchell County line southwestward into the northern edge of Glasscock County.

Oil supply houses sprung up on every hand. Primitive trucks groaned and roared under heavy loads of casing. Pipelines were laid, four refineries came into being, and Big Spring threw off its mantle of sleepy ranch and railroad town and began to don a modest skyline as thousands flocked to get in on the bonanza.

Hyer sold off a lot of acreage and eventually let Marlan have the bulk of his acreage for a quarter of a million dollars. He held back 600 acres, which stood him in good stead when drilling ventures elsewhere did not turn out well. He eventually came back to Big Spring to establish his office and home.

On March 30, 1969, thanks to his close friend, G. H. Hayward, a historical marker, approved by the Texas Historical Commission, was erected where the road turns off US 87 toward the location of Conoco (Hyer) No. 1 to memorialize this historic well. Hyer didn't live to see it — he died unexpectedly Dec. 14, 1966.

Midwest Oil Corp. Completes Well

Midwest Oil Corp. completed, as a Mississippian discovery in Scurry County, No. 1 W. H. Jones, one mile southeast of Fluvanna and 2½ miles southeast of the Fluvanna multipay field.

On 24-hour potential test, it pumped 25 barrels of 39-gravity oil and 40 barrels of water, through perforations at 8,122-8,129 feet. The section had been acidized with 5,000 gallons and fractured with 20,000 gallons and 20,000 pounds.

It was drilled to 8,296 feet, and has 5½-inch pipe set on bottom. Well site is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 460, block 97, H&TC survey.

POWER & PEOPLE

Serving the Oil Industry in the Permian Basin

Providing dependable, economical electric energy to our customers in the oil industry is an important part of Texas Electric Service Company's job. So is helping these customers get maximum benefit from their uses of electricity. That's why we have oil field power specialists — informed and trained to provide accurate, helpful information about the applications of electric power. These men make cost studies, furnish estimates, and supply other information that is beneficial to our customers. This specialized service is just one of the ways Texas Electric Service Company works to help the oil industry — and the Permian Basin area.

DIGGING DEEPER AND DEEPER FOR NATURAL GAS

Well Costs Skyrocket To New Highs

By The Associated Press
As the demand for natural gas goes up, wells go deeper and it's taking astronomical amounts of money to drill almost unbelievable depths. That was the conclusion last week of the Oil & Gas Journal on the search for new gas. Robert Hefner III of Glover Hefner Kennedy Oil Co. was quoted as estimating a cost of at least $1 billion to $2 billion to explore the Anadarko basin in western Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle. The high pressures at great depths push equipment cost far above those met in drilling shallow holes. The pressures work in favor of large gas reserves, but they also cause problems which have expensive solutions. Tubular goods for wells below 20,000 feet cost $1 million and more, the Journal estimated. "A single piece of wellhead equipment to contain 15,000 pounds of pressure per square inch at the surface costs $125,000," it said. "That item by itself represents a capital requirement greater than the total average cost of a completed conventional gas well in Oklahoma." Operators hope for an initial price in the basin of 30 to 35 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas at the wellhead to help offset the costs, the Journal said. Reserves in the deep Anadarko Basin are believed to be the most likely place for the nation's next big gas domain, largely because it appears at this time to be a province that contains only gas. "Most operators feel the deep Anadarko holds the largest yet untapped domestic supply of natural gas," the Journal said. "It is criss-crossed by existing pipelines, and there are hopes and plans for more." Reserve estimates for future gas in the basin are 50 trillion cubic feet. More optimistic guesses range up to at least 100 trillion. The basin includes more than 3 1/2 million acres near the center of the Hugoton-Anadarko area. There are 19 wildcat and development wells searching for gas in the superdeep portion of the basin at present. Another 22 tests could spud during the next few months from Grady County, Okla., on the southeast north-westward along the deep basin-axis to Hemphill County, Tex., the Journal said. The well with the deepest announced target, 28,000 feet, is Lone Star Producing Co. — Glover Hefner Kennedy's 1 Baden. It is in Beckham County of Oklahoma and will cost an estimated $5 million to drill.

Of the 45 holes with 20,000 feet or more goals, 29 are in the Delaware Basin of west Texas and New Mexico, one in New Mexico and six in Oklahoma. The rest are scattered around the Texas Panhandle's Wheeler and Hemphill counties, south Texas and south Louisiana.

Mid-Continent Oilmen Begin Meeting Today In Dallas

DALLAS — Against the backdrop of a looming petroleum shortage and Texas straining to meet the present demand, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association begins its 51st annual meeting today.

Kenneth E. Montague, Houston, association president, will keynote the convention with a report on the economic and regulatory problems facing the oil industry in Texas. The meeting, which will continue through Tuesday, attracts the top leadership of the state's oil and gas industry. Included on the program are these topics:

"A Distributor Looks at Natural Gas Production," by H. D. Clay, Buffalo, N.Y., President of Iroquois Gas Corp.
"Energy and Environment — Are They Compatible?" by Kerryn King, New York, chairman of the American Petroleum

Institute's Committee for Air and Water Conservation and Vice President in charge of Texaco Inc.'s public relations and personnel.

"World Oil Problems and U.S. Supply," by Dr. Wilson M. Laird, Washington, D.C., director of the Oil and Gas Division, Department of the Interior.

A president's reception at 6:45 p.m. today will open the convention in the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel. A series of committee meetings beginning at 8:30 a.m. will be held Monday. The annual association golf activity will start at noon at the Preston Trail Golf Club. A reception and dinner dance will be held beginning at 7 p.m.

Tuesday morning will be devoted to a general session in which the above speakers will make their addresses, to be followed by a special luncheon in which oil men from throughout the Southwest will honor Jack H. Abernathy, president of Big Chief Drilling Co., Oklahoma City, and E. D. Brockett, chairman of Gulf Oil Corp., Pittsburgh, who will be presented the Association's Distinguished Service Awards.

Brockett, who rose from a roustabout to Gulf's chief executive officer, was born in the small town of Itasca, Tex. A 1934 graduate of Texas A&M, he interrupted his brilliant career with Gulf for an equally brilliant military career. Entering the U.S. Army in 1940 as a first lieutenant he was discharged as a colonel in 1945 — picking up almost every medal in the book while fighting in the Pacific area from Australia to Japan. He received the Silver Star with cluster, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star with cluster, Purple Heart, Air Medal, Distinguished Unit Citation and others.

Brockett is chairman of the National Petroleum Council, the officially established advisory body to the Secretary of the Interior which represents virtually all segments of the petroleum industry. He is a member of the board of directors of the American Petroleum Institute, Balance of Payments Advisory Committee of the Commerce Department and Urban Transportation Advisory Council of the Transportation Department.

Abernathy, president of Big Chief Drilling Co., is well known for several innovations used in drilling oil wells. He is author of nearly 100 published speeches, articles and reports dealing with subjects in petroleum engineering, reservoir engineering, drilling technology and petroleum economics.

A 1933 petroleum engineering graduate of the University of Oklahoma, Abernathy's career spans work in research, engineering and management with Sinclair Refining Co., Superior Oil Co. and Superior Oil Corp. He joined Big Chief in 1946 and became its president in 1958. He is also director of Shaft Drillers which has dug shafts up to 10 feet wide and 5,500 feet deep — the largest ever drilled.

He has served as president of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors and the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. and chairman of the National Petroleum Council. He presently is a director of the American Petroleum Institute and Oklahoma Independent Petroleum Association.

Deadline Is Nov. 14 For Tech ROTC

LUBBOCK — The deadline for making applications for Air Force ROTC four-year college scholarships is Nov. 14, 1970, Col. Haynes M. Baumgardner, professor of aerospace studies at Texas Tech, announced. The Air Force ROTC college scholarship program provides for full tuition, laboratory and associated fees, an allowance for textbooks, and includes a tax-free allowance of $50 each month during the period the student is in school and on scholarship status.

All applicants must be entering their freshman year of college during the 1971-72 school year and must be qualified and agreeable to entering the Air Force ROTC program in a flying (pilot or navigator) category and will be expected to enter an Air Force flying training program upon graduation from college. Only men who are qualified should apply for that program, Col. Baumgardner said.

Air Force ROTC college scholarships are also available to men and women students at the second, third, and fourth year levels of the Air Force ROTC program. Interested students should apply by writing to Air Force ROTC, Office of Information, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama 36112.

Producers Now Number 4,000

With more than 4,000 producing oil wells in the county, theoretically nearly 70,000 barrels a day could be produced.

"It doesn't work out that way," one oilman said. The allowable for various wells adds up to 69,744, but few wells ever produce the full allowable, local oilmen agree.

According to the latest production schedule, Howard County has 28 fields with producing oil wells totaling 4,375. The largest field remains the Howard-Glasscock, with 1,926 producing wells which are allotted 21,082 barrels per day. The next largest is the Snyder field with 579 producing wells and an allocation of 3,634 barrels per day.

The majority of the fields have under 10 producing wells and allocations range from 27 barrels per day for the two wells on the O'Daniel-Canyon field to 593 barrels per day for the nine wells on the Vincent, N-Pennsylvanian Reef field.

The number of wells is slightly higher than last year, when 4,165 were reported. Several one-well fields have been discontinued due to the impracticability of operating them. These include Bond-Spraberry, Coronet-Canyon, Gartner-Pennsylvanian Reef, Hutto, Knott-Pennsylvanian, Modesta N-Pennsylvanian, Moss Lake-Cisco, Sara Mag-Canyon Reef, Sara Mag-7515 Canyon, Snyder-San Andres and Vealmoor NE-Wolfcamp.

COWBOY'S WOES — Cody Barry, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lance Barry of Wichita Falls, Tex., might claim title to the world's smallest cowboy if he could figure how to get dad's saddle on his shetland pony. The youngster's dad, a high school teacher, is also a professional cutting horse trainer.

Forsan Has Wrong Name

Forsan, spawned in the boom of the late 20's when the Howard-Glasscock oilfield was burgeoning, is mis-named.

It drew its name from four producing zones, or "four sands." That was correct at the time it was named, for production was from the Hyer sand, the Queen, San Andrews and Clear Fork.

Today, that field produces for 10 zones starting with the Yates below 1,200 feet. These include the Hyer sand (a stringer of the Queen), the Queen, Grayburg, San Andres Clear Fork, Seven Rivers, Goriotta, Wichita-Albany, and Wolfcamp.

In all, there are 16 productive zones in the county.

Besides these, there are fields producing from the Spraberry, the Wolfcamp (upper and lower), the Leonard, three zones in the Pennsylvanian (Cisco, Strawn and Canyon), the Silurian - Devonian and the Fusselman.

The range of production is from 1,200 to 9,500 feet. At one time, Howard County had another productive zone — the Mississippian, probably the first completed in this horizon in the Permian Basin, but it long since has been depleted.

Over $200,000 In Local Oil Tax

Oil producers yield just over $200,000 in ad valorem taxes to governmental agencies within Howard County.

Actually, if production within the Sands (Ackerly-Knott) Independent School District and the Borden County Independent School District (which includes the Vealmoor, Oceanic and other fields in the north-central strip of the county) were included in these figures, it would considerably exceed the two million mark.

Here is the way the record stacks up:

Big Spring Indp. School Dist.	$483,000	$28,480,000
Forsan Indp. School Dist.	390,190	21,091,420
Coahoma Ind. School Dist.	326,972	19,057,790
Howard County	440,632	42,368,535
Howard County Junior College	254,211
State of Texas	156,764

Million Gallons A Month

Rough estimates from the oil and gasoline distributors in Howard County show that approximately 1,750,000 gallons of gasoline and other fuels are sold in the county each month. Based on these figures, county consumers spend $350,000 on fuel each month.

Weekly usage of fuel is approximately 437,500 gallons. Based on a population of 38,000 people or 9,000 families, who use an average of 20 gallons of gasoline a week — Howard County residents use an estimated 180,000 gallons of gasoline in their cars each week.

The remaining 257,500 gallons of fuel is diesel, kerosene, and butane consumed weekly by trucks, buses and cooking and heating systems.

Approximately 20,000 gallons of motor lubricant oil is used each month — or 5,000 gallons per week.

Phillips Finishes Discovery, Wells

Phillips Petroleum Co. has completed a discovery and two extension wells in Ector County in an area where the company holds full interest in 4,550 acres.

No. 1-E Edwards rated 446 barrels a day through 18-64th choke as a Cuth Field extension. Phillips No. 2-E Edwards flowed 1,314 barrels per day through the same size choke. A west extension, Phillips No. 3-E Edwards flowed 944 barrels a day through a 24-64th choke.

The wells were tested through perforations in the Pennsylvanian Canyon Reef formation below 8,948. The pay is four miles south of the nearest Canyon production in the South Cowden field. They are located in section 38-43, T&P. Two other wells are scheduled.

Check Tire Tread For Safety's Sake

Nearly one-third of the cars on the nation's highways today have at least one tire worn so thin it should be replaced for safety's sake, according to the Tire Industry Safety Council after analysis of the latest government study of passenger car tires in use all over the country.

As a result, the council is launching a big new drive to warn motorists against bald tires, particularly in those states which do not yet have their own tire safety laws.

"The greatest improvement in highway safety as it may relate to tires is removing from vehicles in use those tires that are no longer in safe operating condition," said Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the council.

The key findings of two private and a government study were these: About one-eighth of passenger car tires were bald. Two-thirds of the cars with one bald tire had another bald tire also. Mathematicians say this means that 30 per cent of all cars have one or more bald tires.

The government scientists define a "bald" tire as one with one-sixteenth inch of tread, or less, remaining. It's easy to tell when this point is reached because built-in tread wear indicators, required by federal safety standards, begin to appear across the tire in a solid line.

There also is another easy means of testing. Turn a Lincoln penny upside down and insert it into the tread groove of the tire. If you can see the top of Lincoln's head, you are in need of a tire with better tread.
